Addresses Ch. of Commerce On 'Attracting New Industries'

Authoritative Speaker Heard by Gathering At Monthly Meet

Lachute Chamber of Commerce, at its monthly dinner-meeting held last Thursday at the Tessier Hotel, wished a "Bon Voyage" to the newly-formed Municipality of Ayersville. The meeting was under chairmanship of President Horace Lamarche, who voiced good wishes in this new civic venture. These sentiments were echoed also by Leopold Carrière, former mayor of Lachute, and Philippe Valois, M.P., who came from Ottawa specially to attend this function. All extended good wishes to the new corporation and council, and warmly commended the civic spirit of Mayor Gilbert E. Ayers.

Replying on behalf of his municipality, Mayor Gilbert E. Ayers stated that the corporation faced many problems, but he was confident that with co-operation from all participants, including the Chamber of Commerce, these questions would soon be solved to the general satisfaction. Ayersville had ample space, and within its limits one might anticipate future expansion. Inasmuch as the population spent much of its money in Lachute, the progress of these two municipalities is inevitably interlinked.

Committee reports were heard, after which the principal speaker, Jean Kempnich, chief engineer of Franco-Canadian Dyers, also of St. Johns Textile Mills Ltd., and Demetre, Sault & Ciriez (Canada), was introduced to the audience.

On the subject of Attracting New Industries, Mr. Kempnich revealed himself as a well qualified speaker. There are various requirements to fulfill this aim, he stated, but it is the human factor which swings the balance, and which may therefore be estimated as the most important consideration. There are assets and liabilities in a community seeking new industries, and it is up to the promoters to capitalize on the advantages — to make the most of them.

Impressions are also important; the personal impressions made upon company representatives may influence many decisions. Other factors being equal, the town which has created a friendly impression will have preference as the choice for an industrial site. The speaker recommended a select committee of leading citizens — municipal, industrial, commercial, financial, ecclesiastical and educational leaders — to represent the town and meet representatives of prospective industries.

Physical and cultural assets may be rated as important — churches of different denominations; elementary, secondary and technical schools for pupils of both languages. In these details, and with its bilingual population in perfect harmony and accord, Lachute appears well favored, observed the speaker — who finally enumerated details of special importance to industry; suitable sites; transportation facilities; good water supply at reasonable cost; possibility of sinking artesian wells; sewerage; garbage disposal; electric power; telephone service; fire protection.

The speaker was introduced by Gerard Lefebvre and thanked by Philippe Roy.

Curé Léo Clément, of Immaculate Conception, said a few words in conclusion. Creation of the new Ayersville Municipality, he stated, would greatly facilitate his work and give opportunity for closer devotion to the needs of his pastoral charge.

Among others seated at the head table were the Councillors of Ayersville; Ovila Raymond and Bernard Lalonde, mayor and secretary-treasurer of St. Placide; Romeo Legault and Horace Deslauriers, of the Chamber of Commerce; R. A. Giles, of Giles Publishing House Ltd.

On Chamber of Commerce Visit to Dominion Shuttle Company

OFFICERS APPOINTED, COMMUNITY CONCERTS

New York Representative Meets Membership at Annual Re-organization

At the general meeting of the Community Concerts Association, held in the town hall last Monday, Linton Armstrong was re-elected president. Mr. Armstrong tendered his resignation, but the members declined to accept it and persuaded him to remain in office for another year.

Other officers elected were — 1st vice-president, Mrs. W. H. Ayers; 2nd vice-president, Wes Freeland, Brownsburg; 3rd vice-president, Richard Ayers; 4th vice-president and campaign chairman, Jacques Bedard; assistant to the general chairman, Miss Juliette Rodrigue; secretary, R. Beaulieu; treasurer, Willard M. Steeves; headquarters secretary, Miss Janet McOuat; joint chairmen for the campaign dinner, Mrs. Marc Papineau and Mrs. W. M. Cottingham; publicity, Don Titman and C. Langlois. All existing members of the Board of Directors were re-elected, and Miss Lucille Papineau and Mrs. George McGibbon were added.

An unexpected visitor attended this meeting, in the person of Mr. Albert Delormier, representing Community Concerts Incorporated, of New York. Mr. Delormier is a native of Montreal and is presently engaged in arranging for concerts throughout the Province of Quebec.

Some discussion took place regarding the campaign for the coming season. It was decided that this would be held on the week beginning May 5 with the campaign dinner taking place that evening.

Mr. Delormier was able to advise the meeting of those artists available for next year. All members were pleased to learn that they could have a choice from among a lengthy list of some of the most prominent artists on the Continent. No definite decisions, however, were made in this respect. This will not be done until the end of the campaign week, when the total budget is known.

ANNUAL MEETING OF LACHUTE W.I. BRANCH

Fire Report to Brownsb'g Council Shows Amazingly Low Property Loss, $285.

(Our District Correspondent)

Brownsburg — The regular meeting of Brownsburg Council was held on Monday night, with Mayor H. Pariseau presiding, and Councillors Carriere, Ball, Ouellette and Somers forming a quorum.

Secretary Emile Hebert read the minutes of the previous meeting which were approved and adopted.

The annual report of Fire Chief Robbins was submitted to the meeting, showing:

The fire brigade, comprising the Chief and 12 firemen, responded to 17 alarms in Brownsburg, and none out-of-town. They held eight practices and five meetings.

Fire loss in Brownsburg was only $285 — a decrease of $9,915 from 1950 ($10,200). There was no injury or loss of life.

Analysis of alarms—10 chimney fires, 1 automobile, 2 major fires, 2 outbreaks at municipal dump, 1 false alarm, and 1 "misinformed".

The fire brigade acknowledged the Council's expression of appreciation for their efforts during the year.

Mayor Pariseau: "We were lucky we had no heavy fires or losses."

Councillor Ouellette: "The brigade is working well now, and people have confidence in its ability. It was a bad year in other places."

Councillor Somers: "Yes, every other day you can read of a fire taking lives and causing damage — quite a lot of them in our own province."

Mayor Pariseau: "People have a bad habit of leaving children in homes unattended. Several disasters have overtaken families on account of this, and yet it persists."

Commenting on the recent acquisition of a snowloader, the Mayor remarked: "It's a wonderful machine; if we had had it early in the season, we would have no snowbanks now." Other councillors expressed satisfaction with the work of the loader.

Authorization to pay the monthly vouchers was given on motion of Councillor Carriere, seconded by Councillor Ball.

The Mayor informed the Council that the bank manager had requested that the police surveillance be resumed around the bank on pay days. The Police Chief was so instructed.

The Secretary submitted a bill for $1,205.28, being the amount of

Fire Calls, Same Street, In Quick Succession

The fire brigade responded to a call at 1.30 p.m. last Friday for a chimney fire on Evelina Street, and at 2.50 p.m. were summoned again to an outbreak in a house only a short distance away on the same street — Jos. Larocque's. There was considerable damage in the latter dwelling, in which there had been no occupant for several hours previous to the alarm. There was no connection between causes of the two fires.

Damage was caused also at another recent fire, at the home of Omer Laurin on Bethany Street, where an outbreak occurred in a stairway.

Two other calls for chimney fires were entered on the Fire Chief's docket — one between Elizabeth Street and Barron Ave. on Saturday, and another in the noonhour Monday, at a place not specified.

CIVIC AFFAIRS BEFORE AYERSVILLE COUNCIL

At the regular Ayersville Council meeting for February, all members were present, Mayor Gilbert E. Ayers presiding. Discussion was open to the public, both before and after the business proceedings.

Among suggestions forthcoming from the ratepayers was one to the effect that the Quebec Department of Roads be approached, to have Ayers Street connected up with Highway No. 8; also a suggestion that the religious authorities be asked to initiate the formation of a branch of the Société St. Vincent de Paul, to aid the poor of the municipality.

Council decided to make representations to Gatineau Power for a favorable revision of rates, in view of the increasing subscribers and the incorporation of this centre of population.

Secretary Armand Brisson was instructed to contact Paul Laliberté, consulting engineer, with a view to procuring any existing plan of Ayersville. The secretary was also requested to enquire and report on special, business and other tax levies prevailing in Lachute.

It was resolved that all prospective builders be required to consult the appropriate council committee, pending the establishing of a building code at a later date.

The valuation roll will be revised for this municipality in the near future.

Council has approached the Federal Postal Department to establish a post-office within the municipality — the request being now under study.

The municipality is also making request to the Quebec Municipal Commission for authority to float a $10,000 loan.

It was decided to take steps to procure additional street-lights on Hammond, Malette and Tessier Streets.

Many Attend Funeral For Member of Pioneer Industrial Family

A prominent and well-known citizen of this town passed away last Sunday, in the person of Edwin Kilgour Wilson. Mr. Wilson was a lifelong resident of the community. He was educated at Lachute Academy, and at Ashbury College in Ottawa. On completion of his course at the latter institution he became identified with the J. C. Wilson Paper Company. After serving for 20 years with that important firm, he went into farming on an extensive scale, and, later on, became the owner and operator of "Wilson Motors Ltd.", one of the largest concerns of its kind in this part of the country.

Like his father and his grandfather before him, he was deeply interested in the cause of Education. Like them, he served as a member of the local Protestant School Commission, and was for several years chairman of that Board.

Like his forbears, also, he was a generous supporter of the church and of every worthy cause, and was, for a considerable period of time, a member of the Board of Stewards of the Lachute United Church.

Mr. Wilson was also an honorary member of the Quebec Shorthorn Association, a life member of the Lachute Agricultural Society, and of the Seigniory Club; a member of the Dunany Golf and Country Club, of the Mattawin Fish and Game Club, and of Lachute Curling Club. He was also a well-known figure in the horse show ring throughout Quebec and Eastern Canada.

A largely attended funeral service was held Tuesday afternoon in Lachute United Church. This was conducted by his minister, the Rev. W. B. Rosborough, who spoke of Mr. Wilson's work in the Business, Agricultural and Educational fields, and also gave a message of comfort for his bereaved friends and loved ones. The hymns sung were, "Unto the Hills Around" and "The Lord is My Shepherd". Honorary pall-bearers were — Messrs. Herbert H. Higgens, Kingsley Cousins, Graham Mayburry, Frank A. Brennian, Norman McGeorge and Roland Dallaire. A great profusion of flowers bore silent testimony to the esteem in which Mr. Wilson was held.

Mr. Wilson is survived by his wife, the former Winnifred Gee; three daughters, Jocelyn, Barbara, and Elaine; his mother, Mrs. E. H. Wilson (all of Lachute); and a brother, Mr. James C. Wilson, of Montreal — to whom the sympathy of the entire community is extended in their loss.

Naturalists say lichens, growing on rocks across Canada, may be the oldest living things on earth. Their annual growth is microscopic.

"L'Argenteuil" Name of New French Weekly

At a meeting of the directors of the Lachute Chamber of Commerce on Monday evening, the name "L'Argenteuil" was selected for the new French-language weekly newspaper which makes its appearance next Thursday.

The selection of a name proved something of a problem, as there were more than 200 different ideas submitted. In these, however, the word "Argenteuil" seemed to predominate, with the result that "L'Argenteuil" was chosen in the judges' final vote as the title of the new journal.

As far as is known there is no other newspaper bearing this name, and it is felt that it will be truly representative of this county and surrounding district.

The publishers extend cordial thanks to the judges, who acted most conscientiously and in the best interests of this new venture.

SCHOOL SERVICE SUNDAY FOR EDUCATION WEEK

In conclusion of the Education Week observance, a public church service under auspices of Lachute High School is being held Sunday evening at 7.30 in the school auditorium. Protestant ministers of the town will take part in the devotions. The Junior Choir will render a hymn, and the Glee Club will sing a choral selection, in addition to which, two senior pupils of the school will participate in the exercises.

REPORT ON DRAINAGE, TESSIER SUBDIVISION

And Other Business of Seasonal Concern at St. Jerusalem Council

At the regular meeting of St. Jerusalem Parish Council — held Monday at the Court House in Lachute, with Mayor Wm. M. Cottingham, M.L.A., presiding — Paul Laliberté, engineer commissioned to work out plans and suggestions of J. A. Tessier for drainage and sewerage in his subdivision, brought in a report including estimated costs. Copies of the plan and report are to be submitted to the Municipal Commission and Provincial Health Department for further study and recommendations.

The secretary reported good progress in disposal of the corporation's recent bond issue.

A few complaints on damage to fences caused by snowplow operations, were brought before the council, but in view of the unusual depth of snow and the narrow roads, it was agreed there was no immediate remedy.

The possibility of flooding in the Copeland Bridge area — anticipated by some as a result of road-filling on this montée — was duly discussed. However, government engineers had surveyed the width and capacity of the North River at this point, and assured the council that any flooding would be due to natural and other causes rather than by the road elevation, which would have no appreciable effect on the water level.

RADIO ADAPTATION TO BELL TELEPHONE SYSTEM DESCRIBED BY SPEAKER

Interesting Topic Heard By Rotary Members At Brownsburg

Guest speaker at the Rotary Club meeting last Thursday was Murph Chamberlain (who bears no connection with the Murph of hockey fame). Mr. Chamberlain, Bell Telephone Company engineer, spoke on "The Application of Radio in the Bell Telephone".

The speaker explained that in ordinary telephone systems, the lines and poles represent the most expensive part of a telephone company's equipment. Between centres where "traffic" is heavy, Bell Telephone engineers have found that the service can be carried on more easily by radio. The use of radio has also proven to be advantageous over rocky terrain and bodies of water, and in cases of emergency. For instance, radio is used when lines are down after sleet storms. At Three Rivers, when the bridge collapsed cutting off telephone conections, contact was established by radio to Cap de la Madeleine. In cases such as these, two trailers are used, each one equipped with a transmitting and receiving antenna. One is hooked up at each end of the break, and the messages are relayed across by radio.

Radio telephone is also in use in some cities and larger towns by police forces and taxi companies. This presents some special technical problems. The transmitting and receiving apparatus in the automobile is powered by the battery, and is therefore not strong enough to carry very far. To offset this difficulty, receivers are placed around the city to carry the messages to the central station.

In Ontario, the Bell Telephone Company is planning a system at the present time to have radio-telephone coverage along provincial highways. Stations will be set up at convenient points in the province. Each transmission station will have a coverage of 20 miles. There will be some gaps, of course, but the service will be sufficient for trucking companies and other organizations that will be using it.

Another Bell Telephone project has to do with the development of television in Canada. The programs from the United States, and programs originating in Canada, will be carried to Canadian TV. stations by Bell Telephone microwave systems.

Mr. Chamberlain was introduced by Keith Rutherford and thanked by Beresford Bourne.

During the brief business session, President John Chalmers informed the club members that the playground will be opened to the local children again this year. Arrangements for this recreation centre will be handled by a committee headed by Wes Freeland.

Unsolicited Testimonial For Education Week —

Meeting of Protestant School Commission

One of the more interesting highlights of the Lachute Protestant School Commission meeting was the reading of a report from C. E. Ployart, inspector of superior schools for the Quebec Department of Education.

The regular meeting was held at the High School Tuesday evening. Commissioner Alex Bothwell presided in the absence of Chairman Jas. W. McGibbon. Commissioner D. G. Bradford was unavoidably absent through icy and impassable conditions of the rural roads.

In a report on his visit to the school, Inspector Ployart affirmed that the teaching staff of this school was "second to none in the central board areas of the province". Reporting on the High School building, the inspector had found everything in satisfactory condition. His report included certain recommendations concerning the maintenance services.

New Stamp to Depict Forest Resources

The Post Office department has announced that the first of a series of postage stamps portraying the resources of Canada will be issued April 1.

It will be a steel-blue 20-cent stamp symbolizing the wealth of forestry products manufactured from Canada's great timber resources.

The stamp, designed by A. L. Pollock, Toronto industrial artist, shows a broad strip of wood cut on one side to form a simple coniferous tree shape and on the other curved into a curl of paper. Incorporated in the centre is a newsprint mill.

Estimate Loss $45,000 In Hawkesbury Blaze

Hawkesbury — Damage estimated at about $45,000 was caused Monday evening when fire swept the garage building of Allen Motor Sales on Main Street, Hawkesbury.

The fire broke out in the stockroom near the front of the garage and was first noticed by a service station attendant. The alarm was given to the Fire Department, just across the street.

Firemen finally managed to quell the flames after a three-hour fight, which saw the stockroom gutted. Two cars which had been in for repairs were badly damaged, and other equipment scorched.

Gatineau LINES

Contributors to Prosperity -- VIII

Over the past several weeks we have discussed in these columns the various industrial firms which have contributed so much to the progress and prosperity of the area served by Gatineau Power. It has not been possible to mention all the companies but all are important to the district's economy — and to the country as a whole when one remembers that many of these companies ship their products all over the world.

Companies such as those we have mentioned make a direct contribution to the prosperity of the district. This contribution comes through wages and salaries to the local people they employ, and through their many purchases from the local merchants and farmers. But they also make an important, indirect contribution.

In order to keep these wheels of industry turning, great quantities of electric power are needed. This power must not only be plentiful but it must be cheap. To supply its industrial customers, Gatineau Power has built great dams and a vast, intricate network of power lines so that electricity can be produced and distributed economically. Gatineau's domestic consumers have also been able to benefit from this distribution of cheap power.

The power company, industry and the citizens are all dependent upon one another. Without the power, industry could not function. Without industry there would be no jobs and no encouragement to build the Gatineau district to even greater prosperity. Without industries, there could not be cheap power for domestic customers. By keeping all rates as low as possible, Gatineau helps to attract more firms into the area, to give further employment and help boost the economy to even higher levels.

Symptoms of Dread Livestock Disease

Regina (CP)—Federal veterinary officials state that there are seven major symptoms of foot-and-mouth disease:

1. The animal will go off its feed.
2. Its temperature will rise.
3. It will froth from the mouth and later, in a day or two, may begin slobbering white, foamy matter.
4. Blisters form on the tongue, sometimes as large as two inches in diameter. The blisters contain a highly infectious yellowish fluid. Dairy cattle also may develop blisters on the teats and udder and all animals may get them along the flesh band above the hoof.
5. The skin may begin to drop off these blistered areas.
6. The animals may develop lameness and the hoof may drop off.
7. As the animal goes off its feed, it will begin to lose weight.

They said that none of the advanced symptoms such as hooves dropping off, have occurred in the Saskatchewan outbreak.

Cattle Disease "Could Be A Major Disaster"

There is not much use trying to minimize the extent of the disaster that has struck the livestock industry, in fact agriculture in general, in Canada. At the same time there is no sense in panic or making drastic decisions at this stage. We will simply have to wait out a period of uncertainty as best we can, wait until the whole extent of the disaster comes in true focus and a course of action can be charted.

That this is a disaster for Canadian agriculture there is now no doubt. If anyone is inclined to argue the point let him just remember the 130 million dollars worth of live stock and meats that crossed over to the U.S. last year. Or let him remember all the boasting in all the speeches about our great trade in purebreds and how we were fast becoming the great centre for purebred dairy cattle. That export is now at a standstill. . . . It affects Eastern Ontario and Western Quebec.

WASHER BECOMES BUTTER CHURN

One of the leading makers of washing machines is offering a model which can be transformed into a butter churn. After finishing the family washing, the woman of the house can make a small adjustment on her washing machine and begin to churn the butter for the family's supper, reports the Aluminum News. According to the company's literature, the aluminum butter maker is . . easy to clean, does not absorb odours, and will not warp, rust or corrode.

Security of Farm Appeals to Youth

Montreal (CP) — The financial security of farm life has stopped the tendency of farm youths to go to the city, says novelist, lecturer and agriculture expert Louis Bromfield.

Mr. Bromfield, who describes himself as a farmer who writes novels rather than a novelist who turned farmer, says the difficulty for a young man wanting to start farming today is that he has to pay hard cash for his land.

The day of the section, purchased from the government for $1.00 an acre, is over in the United States and almost over in Canada, he says. A young man has to pay about $25,000 for land and equipment if he wants to make farming profitable.

The author says that although this is difficult he doesn't think it is impossible. The young prospective farmer could save his down payment or he could take his farm on a rental basis with an option to buy.

Mr. Bromfield criticizes inefficient farm methods. He says many farmers are inefficient, and to back up his point he gives these figures:

Ten per cent of American farmers — the good ones — produce the food for 50 per cent of the U.S. population. The other 50 per cent are fed by another 30 per cent of the farmers, the fairly good ones.

But 60 per cent of the American farmers produce only what they can themselves consume, he said.

Mr. Bromfield says between 150,000 and 200,000 inefficient farmers in the United States are being eliminated annually.

The author feels the appeal of the farm to the youth of today lies in its security. "But nobody's going to make a Henry Foord or Rockefeller fortune again", he says. "Those days are over".

Conservationist on CBC Farm Broadcast

When Louis Bromfield, noted American conservationist and author, was in Toronto recently he was interviewed by Norn Garriock, CBC farm commentator for Ontario and Quebec. The recorded interview will be heard on the CBC Farm Broadcast, Wednesday, March 12 (12.30 p.m. EST, on stations CBL, Toronto; CBM, Montreal; and various Ontario stations).

Louis Bromfield believes every farmer can and should practice conservation ("it can be done, even on 100 acres", he says). Unlike many farmers he encourages wildlife on his Malabar Farms in Ohio, and has some arguments for this practice, too, which Norn Garriock brings out in the interview.

Malabar Farms are showplaces, besides being a working enterprise. Bromfield says that between April 1 and November 1 last year, more than 3,500 Canadians visited them. Most of the visitors were from Ontario and Quebec.

OBITUARY

Late Chateauguay Resident Was Member of Old Lachute Family

Late Mrs. Kenneth McKay

The death occurred suddenly on Saturday, March 1, of Mrs. Kenneth McKay, at her home at St. Urbain, Que. Mrs. McKay was born in Lachute on May 15, 1883, the eldest daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Richard Muir. At an early age she entered the teaching profession, and went to St. Urbain to teach. She married Kenneth McKay, of St. Urbain, where she has since resided.

The funeral service was held on Monday, March 3, at Beach Ridge Presbyterian Church, conducted by the Rev. J. H. Marshall, assisted by the Rev. J. S. McBride and the Rev. Mr. Andrews. Pall-bearers were Messrs. John McCoomb, Wesley McCoomb, Alex McKay, Kenneth Parker, Frank Maidens and Chas. Bennett.

Besides a loving husband, she leaves to mourn her loss one son, Stuart; four sisters, Mrs. Richard McAdam and Mrs. Allan McLean, of Lachute, Mrs. Thos. Nicoll, of Port Arthur, Ont., and Mrs. Geo. McDonald, of Flint, Mich.; and two brothers, Ross and George, of Lachute.

Industry and Commerce in Lachute

Contributed by
Lachute Chamber of Commerce

Among the various committee reports given at the Chamber's monthly meeting, we present the following:

Commercial Promotion (Chairman, J. R. Brown)

The public was sincerely grieved by the sudden passing of His Majesty the King. He had been an excellent and irreproachable monarch. The commercial committee arranged to have posters printed and displayed by every store in Lachute. We are most thankful to Ald. Stanley Holt, Police Chief D. Villeneuve and John Assad, who assisted in distributing these posters.

Seals advertising the Lachute Fair are now being printed. These seals will be stuck on the lower left-hand corner of correspondence envelopes leaving Lachute. Gavin Walker, S. Patterson and Geo. McGibbon have approved of this idea, and there is a possibility that the Exhibition will pay half cost of these seals.

Place-mats with a map of Lachute and pictures of plants of interest are to be distributed to hotels and restaurants. Postcards of Lachute will be distributed to stores. Pamphlets will be published describing Lachute and giving information to tourists, on places to eat, hotels at which to stay, where to go fishing, etc. These pamphlets will be published in English and French.

Plans have been made, and will be put into effect very shortly, for Lachute to have its own Tourist Bureau. The exact location of the bureau is not certain yet, but details of this interesting project will be given in the near future.

Industrial Promotion Committee (Chairman, Gerard Lefebvre)

This Committee although appointed only a week ago, has already been active, having contacted Mr. Collins and Mr. Dunly, manager and assistant-manager, respectively, of the Industrial Development Department for the C.P.R. We understand that they have on hand one project for Lachute. They prefer not to mention any name for the time being. However, we intend to follow up this prospect very closely.

We have also contacted Henri Turcot, president of the Industrial Commission for the Province of Quebec. We have an appointment with Mr. Turcot this week, when we will learn from him the prospects of new industries in our town, discussing at the same time the present advantages and disadvantages of the community for this purpose.

Good Publicity

The February issue of "Commerce", businessman's journal, gives favorable mention of Lachute, as follows:

"Lachute Up Front — Construction of a new distribution line between Beauharnois and Lachute is progressing rapidly. Gatineau Power Company commenced last summer the construction of this 110,000-volt line which will link Quebec Hydro to the Gatineau supply. What does this power reserve imply? 'Commerce' foresees considerable industrial development in Lachute in the not far distant future.

"And to Stay Up-Front. — The publishers of The Watchman will launch a French-language weekly paper in March. . . The Chamber of Commerce is giving its support to the publishing of this journal, with a vigorous publicity campaign and popularity contest."

Convenience to Advertisers

An efficient casting service has been installed by Giles Publishing House Ltd., which will prove a convenience to advertisers in The Watchman and its associate French-language weekly, "L'Argenteuil" — enabling merchants and dealers to have printing-plates cast from mats issued by national brands and distributors.

"Two heads are better than one."

"If you have a dollar and I have a dollar, and we swap dollars, we still each have only a dollar. But if you have an idea and I have an idea, and we swap ideas — then we each have two ideas."

Who wants to farm wheat? J. Holt, farmer of the Strathcona municipal district, sold his 300 acres of farm land to the City of Edmonton for $245,000; it is less than a mile east of the city limits.

"The farmer is covetous of his dollar, and with reason. . . He knows how many strokes of labor it represents. His bones ache with the day's work that earned it."

Canadian Education Week

ALTHOUGH this is officially Education Week, we may consider with some gratification that every week is virtually Education Week in this community. Indeed, the educating of our children is never far removed from our thoughts; no brief period of the year commands our attention more than any other to the mental and physical progress of our youngsters.

This is true for many reasons: That Education has become a matter affecting family life in far more aspects than a generation ago. That Education has become, shall we say, "publicity conscious" — its reverberations (if not by plan, then by current trend) reaching us through channels of the press, the radio, and through its contact with the various organizations to which we, as adults, belong; through its inter-relation with public health, community art and culture, organized sport, industrial placement, and many other spheres with which we are daily associated. Last, but not least, under the encouragement of a benign government regime, Education in Quebec Province has come home in a more emphatic manner by the very immensity of its material adjuncts — its extensive buildings, costly equipment, qualified and specialized personnel — all of which spell a fabulous amount in taxpaying investment. Which is one sound reason, even disregarding all others, why Education (as the week's slogan emphasizes) is "Everybody's Business".

If you count the expense of Education in cold figures, you may be interested to know that costs at the three levels of government climbed from 118-million dollars in 1939 to 219-million dollars in 1948.

But happily, the cost is not the only yardstick by which we measure the importance of Education in our national economy and domestic society. To right-thinking Canadians the dividends present a more convincing picture. The future of our children and of Canada is far more vital.

The aim of Education Week in this community may best be served, perhaps, by appraising our attitude in relation to these facts. The intricate system of Education surrounds one crystal-clear objective, namely, the moral, mental and physical development of the child. It casts a grave responsibility upon the parents, to realize that it is within their power to frustrate the whole purpose for which the machine operates. For in the final analysis, a child's attitudes to discipline and perseverance are shaped in the home. It is the teacher's lot to build upon the foundation of these attitudes. It is the teacher's unhappy task, sometimes, to combat imposing obstacles implanted in a child's mind by unsympathetic, unco-operative parents.

Truly, Education is an attribute to our daily thinking. But Education Week may well provoke a little honest self-scrutiny — an appraisal of our moral support, as distinct from our monetary contribution.

THERE WAS one advantage to the old style wall telephones. The gals had to stop talking when their legs gave out.

The Welcome Marauder

IT'S THE one time of the year they're welcome!

It's just about the season for those noisy, black marauders — the crows — to make their annual reappearance on the Canadian farm scene.

The time approaches when the farm lad will startle the first of the newcomers into cawing, ungainly flight. It's as though the canny crows are well aware that they're conspicuous against the snowy pastures or along the snow-covered fences.

But for all their noise and ugliness, how we welcome them. Their arrival is one of the earliest signs that spring is almost here. It seems to set a black seal on the pact that Nature makes with us in the sunshine's steadily-growing strength.

The farmer, who in the fall would look for crows only with a gun in his hand and blood in his eye, is understandably mellow over the same bird in the spring.

Then he has nothing to attract a hungry and rapacious crow. All his grain is in storage or feed bins. Under the circumstances, he can afford to take a kindly attitude. But the farmer's patience vanishes as the season advances. In almost no time at all, with his fields in grain, he's gunning for crows again.

Next Stop, Monte Carlo

THE ALBERTA government has introduced legislation permitting the use of coin-operated machines, provided there is no element of chance in their operation.

The government's bill is simply designed to legalize pay telephones, parking meters, cigarette vending machines and similar gadgets which have been operating in technical violation of Alberta law for years.

Well, if the legislature wants to sanctify these tantalizing machines with the blessing of legality, it can go ahead. But let none of its members kid himself that the element of chance is absent from their operations!

Pay telephones? Did anyone ever walk away from one after completing a call without sliding his finger into the coin-return slot to see if there was a nickel there? Granted, it only happens once or twice in a lifetime, but then, how often does a slot machine pay off?

Cigarette machines? We once inserted the price of one pack and two packs came out, with an extra box of matches to boot. We've been squandering out small change on the things ever since in hope of a repeat performance.

Parking meters? Show us a man who puts a coin into a parking meter and we'll show you a born gambler. He's naturally going to overstay his limit. Maybe only by a few seconds, maybe five minutes, even by a quarter of an hour. And that's where the gamble comes in. Who's going to get to that car first — the motorist or the traffic officer on duty?

Just give us something shiny containing a place to insert a coin, and the promise of gain and our sporting blood is fatally roused.

Have You A Question ON UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE OR EMPLOYMENT?

In this column we publish questions about unemployment insurance and employment, together with answers received from the Unemployment Insurance Commission.

If you are uncertain about any point do not hesitate to send your question to your district Unemployment Insurance office. We will obtain an answer and publish it in this column.

Following are some questions with answers which may be of interest to you: —

Q. Why do you have to sign so many forms to get benefit? There seems to be too much red tape about the whole thing.

A. Payment of benefit is subject to certain conditions laid down by law. It is, therefore, necessary in every case to determine that a claimant is properly entitled to the benefit applied for, and this can only be accomplished by having him answer certain questions and make pertinent statements and declarations. Hence the various forms. The forms provide safeguards without which some persons would get benefit when not entitled to it.

* * *

Q. I had to quit my job because I cannot work. I had an operation and am unable to work for a couple of months. I paid into the unemployment insurance for years. Now I need it and cannot get it. Why can't I draw my unemployment insurance?

A. Unemployment insurance is not sickness insurance. To qualify for unemployment insurance benefit, a person must be, among other things, capable of work. If payment were to be made for unemployment due to sickness, contributions considerably higher than those now payable, would be required.

TRY OUR BLUE-PLATE SPECIAL

I dreamed I drove my car to Heaven
(By starting out on Route Eleven).
Saint Peter, at the Pearly Gates,
Stared hard at my new license plates
And said, "Where are you from, by heck?
I see it now. You're from Quebec!
No other place on earth would dream
Of turning out that color-scheme.
You can't come in, old boy. I fear
They would conflict with colors here
And clash with all Celestial things
As halos, harps, and angels' wings.
Go back to earth and try to find
The culprit who these plates designed.
And when you find him, let him know
Of some hot place where he can go."

These plates are frightful, but I fear
We must endure them for a year,
For if I paint mine from a jar
Of paint to match my motor car
There is no doubt that I'd be pinched,
Arrested, fined, or maybe lynched.
I'd really like to catch the guy
Responsible, and black his eye
And lock him in a colored cell
Of tints he likes to think so swell,
And let him out in '53
To see some plates designed by ME!

— Be seein' ya!

Autumn always brings a number of tasks to the home owner, especially if he is a gardener. A few days ago I noticed such a man preparing for winter. He had already constructed a reel for his garden hose, impressing upon me the need to drain it after use, then to store it dry in order to prevent the rubber from rotting. Well, his idea is worth copying.

HAMPERS FOR CLOTHES

His wife was just as handy, in fact she had converted a bushel basket into a clothes-basket by enamelling the outside white, and the inside lined with colourful chintz. This seemed to be the envy of her neighbours.

DOOR-MAT FROM BOTTLE TOPS

There was a youngster in the home, the kind that thoughtlessly ran in after school without wiping his feet. Dad soon corrected this by collecting bottle tops, then in a few minutes he made a door-mat by nailing the tops in even rows on two pieces of pine joined with a pair of cleats. I noticed that the tops were nailed closely together.

ORANGE CRATES FOR SHELVES

This chap turned out to be quite an amateur craftsman, and he liked everything in order. He was very proud of two shelves he had constructed from orange crates, one to serve his purposes in the basement, and the second one, nicely finished, for the living room.

LATE JAS. H. MURDOCH WAS LIFELONG AND RESPECTED RESIDENT

Was Active in Civic and Agricultural Affairs, Loyal Churchman

Until his retirement about five years ago, Mr. Murdoch was a well known farmer at Mabel, in the Township of Chatham. He served as councillor of the Township for many years and as a director of the Argenteuil Agriculture Society for 25 years or more, also as a deacon of the Lachute Baptist Church.

There are 22 surviving grandchildren.

The funeral was held from the Lachute United Church, conducted by his pastor, the Rev. W. H. Britton, who also preached the sermon. Assisting in the service were the Rev. George Hicks, of Dalesville Baptist Church, and the Rev. W. H. Reid, D.D., of the Presbyterian Church. The funeral was attended by a great number of relatives, friends and fellow residents. Interment was made in the Lachute Protestant Cemetery.

J. Loynachan, California, Was Native Here, Spent Early Years in St. Andrews

The death of a former resident, John Loynachan, occurred recently in Los Angeles, California.

The late Mr. Loynachan was born at Beech Ridge, July 15, 1865. His parents, John and Margaret Cowan Loynachan, had come to Canada from Scotland. There were six sisters, one of whom — Mrs. Jessie Ferguson, of Montreal — survives him.

In 1893 John Loynachan moved to California and was married to Jeannette McAdam, who had preceded him from Canada. Traveling by stage coach they settled in the Lompoc Valley in Santa Barbara County, which was a famous temperance colony. There Mr. Loynachan pioneered in farming and ranching, engaging in dairying and raising cattle and horses. When the horse was in its heyday he prided himself on having the best span of driving horses in the Valley, and throughout his life retained his love and appreciation of fine horses.

In Lompoc Valley, the Loynachans built their home, and two daughters and a son, were born. There Mr. Loynachan took an active part in the development of a sterling pioneer community. In 1900 he became a naturalized citizen, and took active part in civic and political affairs as a member of the City Council, School Board, Chamber of Commerce and Library Board. For several years he was a Deputy County Assessor.

In 1917 Mr. Loynachan moved his family to Pasadena, where he affiliated himself with a real estate firm in Los Angeles and also did some farming in the San Fernando Valley.

In 1926 Mrs. Loynachan passed away, and a few years later Mr. Loynachan moved to Brentwood to make his home with his daughter, Mrs. Woolard.

At the age of 18 he had joined the Presbyterian Church of St. Andrews East. While in Lompoc, Calif., he attended the Baptist Church, where Mrs. Loynachan had her membership, and his children received a fine religious training. After moving to Brentwood he joined the Presbyterian Church there in 1936.

In January 1951 his only son, Dean, passed away in Arcadia. Besides his sister, he is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Gertrude Learned, of Los Angeles, and Mrs. Bernice Woolard, of Brentwood, nine grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

He was affectionately known as "Gramp", not only by his grandchildren and great-grandchildren, but by all of the neighborhood children and grown-ups as well. His ever widening family circle was his pride and joy, and he retained an alert interest in community and world affairs.

Passing in his 87th year, his life had been long and full and interesting.

Finds Fifty Degrees Too Hot for Comfort

Eskimo Gets First Taste of Civilization on Trip to Churchill Hospital

Churchill, Man. (CP) — An Eskimo received his first taste of civilization recently when he was flown into this Hudson Bay port for hospital treatment.

His only contact with the ways of the white man were two large safety pins which he wore as earrings. An interpreter learned the pins had been placed in the Eskimo's ears by his grandfather, who instructed him never to remove them.

Upon death the pins were to be passed on to a son. How the grandfather got the pins was never learned.

The Eskimo had never seen a trading post before and enjoyed his brief stay at Churchill. Every gadget interested him and he asked innumerable questions.

At home, his whole economy is based on the caribou. The animal furnishes food, clothing, tools and sewing thread.

While in Churchill the Eskimo slept in the basement of a mission house. The temperature was about 50 degrees above zero but he found it warm.

He tasted everything offered, but none of the white man's food appealed to him. Meat, raw or slightly boiled, was acceptable but a frozen fish, barely thawed, made the best meal.

His only thought while in the port was "Who will feed my wife? Who will feed my dogs?"

He left wearing a big smile and carrying a bundle of whiteman's clothes, a present for his wife.

FOR PARENTS ONLY...

A Weekly Feature of Helpful Hints on Child Training

Letting Off Steam

— By NANCY CLEAVER — (Copyright)

It is the surplus physical energy of children, small and large, which presents quite a problem to parents. Children in normal health seem to possess spurts of amazing vitality. Boys and girls in excellent condition have a seemingly inexhaustible supply of "pep". Youngsters love activity. They enjoy a noise — the louder the better!

Grownups are often weary after their day's work and they long for a restful atmosphere and quiet. Because children are so different from adults, parents have a tough time renting an apartment or competing with childless couples for living quarters.

What can parents do about the tendency of their children to "let off steam"? It is useless to try to repress it completely. The "heavy hand" tactics result in an angry, rebellious child. Too strict prohibitions are only successful for short periods of time.

Neither can parents completely ignore their child's surplus physical energy. They realize that he is like a young colt eager to gallop around a field. The boy or girl needs to find expression for his pent-up spirits — but mother and dad also need a certain amount of relaxation and peace at the end of the day under the home roof.

If parents could see school children rushing out of school at recess they would realize that this "yen" for noise and activity is found in most youngsters. The scholars come bursting out of the school doors as if they were shot out of guns. They are so glad to be free from adult supervision and restraint that they yell and jump in the air and jostle against each other and run like deer.

Indoors is a poor place for children to "let off steam" unless they have a "rumpus room" or a play area of their own. If because of very bad weather or ill-health a child must play inside, mother must provide material for play and some supervision to prevent "mad house". The out-of-doors is an excellent setting for children's shouting and play. Quite apart from the benefits of physical exercise in the fresh air and sunshine, play time out of doors gives children the chance to use some of their stored up vitality. The opportuntity to call out and laugh, without incurring the wrath of their parents or other adults, gives them a marvellous feeling of release.

Every boy or girl should have an outdoor play space and some durable play equipment. The child on the farm or the youngster living in a village is fortunate in his comparative freedom. Even a little yard at home is a great boon to children and parents alike.

"A place for the children to play outdoors is more important to me than a lovely view!" one mother who was house-hunting said frankly. Children who are cooped up indoors are bound to get into mischief and wear out their mother's patience.

In large towns and cities, parks, school and district playgrounds, swimming pools and skating rinks under other responsible sponsorship fill a very great need. In the movement of population from the farms into the industrial centres the necessity for children to have room in which to run and play has far too often been forgotten.

Lack of housing facilities and crowding of families into small quarters has had a serious effect on home life. It is almost impossible for the average family on a small or a medium income, to provide adequate play space for their children, especially as they reach the older public school age and enter adolescence.

It is not good for a child to feel that he is a nuisance or in the road when he is playing. If homes have insufficient play area, parents should co-operate with other parents and public minded citizens to see to it that outdoor recreation is provided for.

The chance to "let off steam" in a legitimate way at any age level is one way to secure good emotional health. Some families living in a crowded area cultivate a walking hobby. Mother and dad and the children all delight in going on hikes. Adventuring in the out-of-doors is a satisfying experience.

Skating, skiing, tobogganing, sleighriding, swimming and boating, roller-skating, tricycle and bicycle riding — the varied outdoors sports of modern youngsters present quite an array. Equipment sometimes seems rather expensive to parents harried by the high cost of living. But supervised athletics is one of the finest channels for physical energy. They build strong physiques and attitudes of good sportsmanship under the direction of trained leaders.

"The busy child is the happy child" is quite true — and it also follows that "the idle adolescent may easily become a recruit for the juvenile delinquent group". The Germans have an old saying "You can do anything with children if you play with them". In terms of growth and of "letting off steam" the chance for outdoor play is an important part of a child's heritage.

MUSHING RECORD

The Pas, Man. (CP) — Another dog mushing record was shattered as the fifth annual Manitoba Trappers' Festival concluded here. John Pranteau of Cormorant Lake won the 20-mile freight dog race in the fast time of 2 hours, 13 minutes, 29 seconds.

'Valley Notebook' Figure On European Tour

Your Valley Notebook man, Frank Ryan of CFRA, has left for Ireland, Scotland, England and France, but he will be sending along items for his Valley Notebook for the next month. He says that he will be back in time for spring plowing at Kilreen Farm, Ottawa, where he broadcasts news from the Valley weekly papers at 12.15 Sundays. During his absence, Tom Foley, Sports Director, will be broadcasting Valley Notebook.

A giant Douglas fir tree recently felled on Vancouver Island for lumber had a circumference of 15 feet, was 1,106 years old, and must have been a large tree when the Magna Carta was signed in 1215.

Discusses Economics Of Seaway Project

Ottawa — Economists, statisticians and actuaries in the Government service recently took a busman's holiday and heard all about the economics of the proposed St. Lawrence Seaway project. These Government officials were members of the Professional Institute of the Public Service of Canada. G. Gordon McLeod, economist-secretary to the Minister of Transport, told them at their monthly luncheon meeting in Ottawa that "far too little attention" had been given to the fact that, without cheap and voluminous transportation which only the Seaway could provide, "wo on this continent face considerably higher prices for iron and steel".

"Removal of the 14-foot bottleneck between Prescott and Cornwall would save millions of dollars a year in costs of moving grain, coal and other goods that now use the small canals or follow alternative routes to market", said Mr. McLeod. He anticipated that construction of the Seaway would enable iron ores from northern Quebec and Labrador "to reach the interior steel mills in maximum volume", but that "without the Seaway, the mills further inland from the coast would find imports more costly than present ores".

Mr. McLeod told his brother economists and statisticians that transportation economies as a result of the completion of the Seaway "would be great enough if it were only a matter of allowing large vessels to carry cargoes through the Seaway without transhipment". The economies promise to be all the greater because the ore boats would be able to pick up grain after cleaning ship, for the downbound trip.

Mr. McLeod did not anticipate that ocean vessels would "play a major role in Seaway traffic as a whole. At the competitive rates likely to become established, an ocean vessel would not likely enter for a cargo unless it also carried a pay load inbound". He thought most ocean vessels would find it "more profitable to pick up their cargoes at Montreal or some other transfer point".

Outlining the hydro-electric benefits that would derive from a completed Seaway, Mr. McLeod said that the 1,100,000 horsepower of low-cost electricity which would be available to Canada from the international power development, would provide ample reserve supplies for south-eastern Ontario. A power development at Lachine would make ample supplies of energy available in all south-western Quebec where the "demand has been growing rapidly".

Elected Vice-President Of Food Lockers Ass'n

At the first general annual meeting of the Quebec Frosted Food Locker Association, held in the Mount Royal Hotel on February 27, L. G. Creswell, of Food Lockers Ltd., Lachute, was elected first vice-president.

The Association reported great progress during the past year, and the preparation and distribution of instructive information in French has been vigorously pursued.

An instructive program, which included meat cutting, Cry-O-Vac wrapping and ham and bacon curing, was followed by a banquet. The speaker was John W. Scott, secretary of the Ontario Frosted Food Locker Association, who gave much useful information in his address, "The Locker Industry of Ontario".

During the next year a program to raise the standards of all locker plants in the province will be the main effort of the Association.

"THE TRAIN ISN'T RACING YOU!"

Locomotive Engineer Writes of Heavy Odds Against the Car Driver Who Tries to Beat a 1,200-ton Machine to the Crossing.

(By Joe Bell in the Missouri-Pacific Line Magazine)

I am a locomotive engineer on one of the leading trunk railway systems of the U.S.A. I operate both steam and diesel locomotives in both fast and local passenger service.

Let me say to the train racers where the highway parallels the railway, "I am not racing you". I am making a speed set for me by company rules and schedules, and which is limited by the I.C.C.

I make speed because the public demands it and the railway requires it of me.

You are driving at a high rate of speed, in most cases, because of the thrill you get and it affords you something to tell about at the next service station, café, hotel lobby or beer joint at which you may stop.

I have a good roadbed, heavy ballast and heavy steel rails, all on a fenced right of way. My way is lined with the latest and most efficient electric automatic block signals which tell me the way is clear; they warn me and give me plenty of time and space in which to reduce speed or bring my train to a stop.

They give me the location and movement of any other trains for miles ahead in order that I may govern the movement of my train accordingly.

I know personally most of the engineers on the other trains and I know that, in order to remain in the service, all of them are periodically closely examined on operating rules and machinery; also, that they must undergo a physical examination covering vision, hearing and color perception at regular intervals.

When I am to meet or pass a train I know by block signals and rules just what the other man is going to do, and vice versa.

Don't race a train, for you have no private right of way and, in many cases, you know little or nothing of the condition of the highway. You have no signals to tell you the movement of other cars or trucks — one can pop out in front of you anywhere, any time, without any warning at all.

You haven't the least idea who is driving the cars coming toward you or moving around you; nothing at all to tell you whether it is man, woman or child; a cripple, a drunk, a fool; a half wit or a normal person. You see them coming or moving and nothing but your guess tells you what they are going to do or that they even see your car.

My passengers are strangers to me. I doubt if I ever saw one of them. They climb into their berths and go to sleep, confident of their safety.

Now, about your passengers. They are those whom you know and love; or others who are close to you. Remember, they are depending on you to drive safely. I hope you will afford them the same protection which I give to a number of strangers — they are due it.

To the drivers who try to beat the train over the crossing, I have this to say. Don't do it. For a fast passenger train to clear, you would have to wait only 8 to 12 seconds and for a long freight train to go by only 50 to 80 seconds.

If you try to beat a train over a crossing you are betting eternity against those few seconds of time you might save.

Modern mechanical engineering has given us the most modern and powerful electric brakes for our trains and engines, but it is impossible to stop an 800 to 1,200-ton train moving 75 miles per hour in less than several thousand feet.

We can't stop in time to avoid crossing accidents — but, Mr. Car Driver, you can.

Her Majesty's First Overseas Representative Takes Oath of Office As Governor-General of Canada

When his Excellency the Right Honorable Vincent Massey took the oath of office as Governor-General of Canada at swearing-in ceremonies in Ottawa last week, he added two chapters to the chronicle of current history. He became the first native-born Canadian to assume the vice-regal post, and he also became the first overseas representative of Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth II. The new governor-general is seen above in several poses which portray his career as a captain of industry, a politician, a diplomat, an educationist and an architect of Canadian culture. He is most widely known in all parts of Canada for the monumental royal commission on arts, letters and science, which he wrote almost single-handed, and which has been hailed both in Canada and elsewhere as the greatest blueprint ever produced anywhere for the development of a national culture. Few Canadians have received more honors, both at home and abroad. Mr. Massey is a Companion of Honor, an order limited to 65 persons who have made an important contribution to the life of the empire and commonwealth. He is a Knight of Grace of St. John of Jerusalem. He is a member of the British privy council, which entitles him to the prefix of Right Honorable. He has more degrees and honorary degrees than probably anybody else in the British Commonwealth. He is an honorary LL.D. of 12 universities, an honorary doctor of civil laws of one, an honorary fellow of another. He has a bachelor of arts degree from two universities, and a master of arts from one. He also has the unique distinction of having been the only overseas chairman of the committee of the British National Gallery in London, and is still a committee member. His 400-acre estate, Batterwood, near Port Hope, Ontario, has probably the largest collection of Canadian paintings.

Education Week

By M. V. Trayers

This is Education Week. The slogan of this event — "Education is Everybody's Business" — is more of a hope than a reality. Everybody is not in the business of education, and if we judge by the publicity given to educators in Nova Scotia and Montreal, to mention just two areas, the reason is not hard to find. It is true that everyone is interested in education, but mostly for selfish reasons. The parent wants his child to be educated because it is good business in this seething strife. The teacher wants his pupil to pass because it marks his advance along the road to success. The employer wants his worker to be educated so that he can get more results for his outlay in wages. Industry today takes no account of what education a worker possesses but of the amount his job requires. What he knows or the extent of his education may help his advance, but he is not paid for his potential ability nor for anything beyond the requirements of his job.

When you come down to the requirements of education, or what constitutes an education, no two persons have the same view; the answer becomes as diversified as what constitutes religion, or peace or war, or foreign exchange, any of the dozens of things man can never decide and possibly never will.

Some people regard education as a means to a job and others regard education as a completion of personality. That we are almost unanimous in attaching primary importance to a solid grounding in the basic fundamentals of arithmetic, and in oral and written expressions, is not surprising when we realize that those basic skills are essential in all jobs and all activities of everyday life. What is needed is, not more school time devoted to those subjects, nor more advanced work in them, but a stronger emphasis on thoroughness. A revision of those subjects in objectives and content, and possibly in methods of presentation.

Most parents decide the education course for their child — like adolescent girls widow-shopping or trying on fur coats for size. They do not fit the course to the ability or potentiality of the boy or girl, but to the foolish ambition of their desires. Students go ahead on a matriculation course without the slightest hope of ever going to university, chiefly because of the prestige of this course. To rectify this sad frustration, school authorities should undertake a well planned program of public relations to make known the objectives and opportunities offered in local schools and to impress upon parents, pupils and the community the benefits to be derived from better education and the possibility of obtaining it.

Agriculture is a major industry in this country, yet the secondary schools are very slow in developing courses in this subject, and it is becoming more and more a business in which a person needs a technical training as well as a good general education.

One of the most serious needs of our educational system, and particularly applicable to this district, is to have a core of common subjects that will assist in developing those understandings, attitudes and habits and skills, that make for well-integrated, socially responsible citizens who can think critically and independently.

The means of obtaining a good education is second to none in this district. Everything necessary, and then some, has been placed at the disposal of both the parents and the teachers in the matter of schools and equipment. Facilities are away ahead of our present needs. Nothing has been stinted to put all the opportunities for obtaining a good education before those desiring it. This government has been overly generous in this respect, and our local representatives are fully alive to the benefits to be derived from utilizing them. Parents and pupils reading the slogan epigramatic of this Education Week—"Education is Everybody's Business", shouldn't neglect to avail themselves of the implication because, in after-years, it can bring nothing but regret.

AMONG THE CHURCHES

World Day of Prayer Service Held in Lachute

The World Day of Prayer service was held last Friday afternoon at the Margaret Rodger Memorial Presbyterian Church. Mrs. Geo. McGibbon, assisted by Mrs. E. Morrow, Mrs. A. Titley and Mrs. Geo. Y. Deacon, conducted the service.

Mrs. McGibbon gave a short address on "How Our Money Is Spent". She told of the crying need for Christian literature outside China proper, and of the great work being done in Africa to promote literacy. As a closing remark she stated her belief that the only way to restore peace and order in the world today was a return to Christian living, and asked that the women use prayer as their "secret weapon".

Mrs. Eric Stephens sang a solo, "When I Remember Calvary". The offering amounted to $26.70.

Is Religion A Good Thing ?

Millions of sincere persons practice religion. These maintain that religion is beneficial and aids them to live and work for a better and happier life. Others assert that because of the vast number of religions on earth today, and the variety of viewpoints on the subject, many persons are confused and perplexed as to just what good religion has accomplished and thus are unable to determine whether it is worth having or not. Also, religion's part in world conditions, causes many to question religion's value today. Here, however, is an opportunity to find a satisfactory answer to a vital question. The 352-page book "What Has Religion Done for Mankind?" brings to the reader's attention an enlightening treatise on the world's leading religions. With the aid of this absorbing book you will be able to determine for yourself what religion has done and to decide which religion is good and true. Send for this book today, remitting 50 cents, and it will be mailed to you postpaid. . . Write The Watch Tower Publishing Co., 40 Irwin Avenue, Toronto.

INDUSTRIAL FILM AT LIONS CLUB MEETING

Snadden Hails the Heather in Biographic Masterpiece

An epigram from Henry Ford I, and the manufacture of an automobile in the vast organization which he founded, were the theme of a film presented before the Lions Club at their meeting Tuesday evening in the Joly Hotel. René LeBlanc was the company representative, who spoke briefly in explanation of the film. He was introduced by George Y. Deacon, and thanked by Jos. Dumais.

"Mankind passes from old to new over a human bridge formed by those who labor in the three principal arts, Agriculture, Manufacture and Transportation", quoth Henry Ford. . . The film, entitled "The Human Bridge", depicted in graphic color and action the production of a new model automobile, from the drawing board to the road, which occupies a two-year period of progressive transition. The presentation proved highly interesting to the audience. It is notable that this film cost $125,000 to produce, according to René LeBlanc; the musical score is by a Toronto composer.

President George Tattersfield chaired the meeting, at which Stuart S. Campbell was feted as Lion of the Day. Biographer for the occasion was Ernest Snadden, who made much of the Scottish lineage shared by Mr. Campbell's pioneer parents — adding that his brief research in the Campbell associations had virtually developed into a history of Argenteuil County.

Roger Regimbal gave a gratifying report on the Lions' barn dance for the raising of charity funds, and Ian Gordon energetically outlined the next big venture for this purpose—the District Lions' Clubs' pro golf tournament to be held here August 23-24, and for which tickets will be sold in an intensive campaign.

Secretary Don Hay presented a letter from the Rev. Fernand Briard in appreciation of the Lions' contribution to the Ecole Supérieure hockey team.

A vote of sincere sympathy was recorded to the wife and family of the late E. Kilgour Wilson, a member of this club and generous supporter of many community efforts.

assessed contribution to the County Council. This was the second largest of any municipality in Argenteuil. The County Council expenses were read as $9,046.

Councillor Somers inquired the rate on which this was based.

Secretary: ".0506 on the hundred."

Councillor Somers advanced his pet theory of uniformity of municipal rates within the county, but felt that nothing in this direction could be accomplished until the Minister of Municipal Affairs set a date for all to initiate the change-over. He was proxy to a county meeting where he heard of Morin Heights council advancing the tax to 100% of the valuation and receiving a very large bill from the County, based on the higher valuation; Morin Heights reverted to the lower tax shortly afterwards. He felt that there should be a uniform rate throughout, and a move was under way to have this done.

Secretary: "The County valuators have already been around for this purpose."

The Secretary reported he had received a cheque for $150 from Chatham Council for assistance to outside fires.

On the motion of Councillor Ouellette, seconded by Councillor Somers, 50 per cent was awarded to the fire brigade.

Correspondence

Notification of exemption from Amusement Tax for a basketball game at the school auditorium on March 1, was received from the director of provincial tax.

Appeals for assistance by the Boy Scouts Association and the Students' Council of the Protestant School were held over to next meeting, when the budget would be passed.

A letter was received from J. Racine objecting to the alleged practice of councillors selling merchandise to the corporation, contrary to the provisions of the Municipal Code.

The Rev. Paul Manseau notified the Council of the formation of a club for the purpose of showing pictures to juveniles, for which an exemption from Amusement Tax was claimed. Mr. Lagarde, solicitor, had drawn up the necessary papers, which were forwarded to Quebec.

Councillor Somers: "If that is a loop-hole in the Amusement Tax law, the tax authorities will soon plug it."

The Secretary read his budget for the coming year, providing for an expenditure of $29,015.00 on a tax rate of 105, the same as last year.

Councillor Somers commented on the item of $500 for donations. He didn't think it was adequate in the light of the tight restrictions on games of chance, such as "bingo", by the Duplessis administration.

Councillor Ouellette suggested the amount be advanced by $200 when giving notice of motion to move the budget at next meeting.

Councillor Ball enquired if anything had been done about installing the siren. The Secretary submitted a report from Hector Steele, electrician. After some discussion Councillor Somers put forward a motion that the tender of Hydr-Oil-Electric be accepted. Councillor Ball seconded, and the motion was carried.

The Secretary said he had had some trouble collecting the tax on pin-ball machines. The mayor thought they should be abolished. The matter was left to the discretion of the Secretary.

Foods for Springtime

It's time for hot breads to be back on the table. It's almost maple syrup time and what could be better than hot muffins dripping with maple syrup? . . Or every day is honey day, so your muffins can be dripping with honey.

Homemakers today do not serve some of the good things that our mothers did. At this time of year they frequently made a graham flour cake. It was made the same as an ordinary one or two egg cake except that graham flour was substituted for white. It was just perfect served hot with maple syrup or honey.

Hot coffee cake is another dessert which can be eaten with butter and maple syrup, and hot popovers and honey certainly need no build-up. Everyone loves corn bread, so serve it often. It's easy to make, easy to serve and oh! so good. Farina may be used in place of corn meal. If your luncheon menus are sometimes a little on the scanty side why not whip up a Johnny cake, and be sure to serve lots of Canadian maple syrup or honey with it.

About Maple Syrup

All Quebec maple syrup sold in the province must now be graded. There are four grades; Canada Fancy AA which is a light amber in color and is of the highest quality; Canada Light A; Canada Medium B and Canada Dark C. If sold out of the province it must be graded according to Canada Department of Agriculture grades which are Canada Fancy, Canada Light, Canada Medium or Canada Dark. Any syrup which does not come up to the grade standards must be sold as ungraded maple syrup. As with other graded foods, it is most important that the consumer know this.

Consumer Section Information

The home economists of the Consumer Section, Ottawa, have some new information to pass on. In the past, maple syrup was sold in a gallon can or glass bottle. The bottle was attractive but costly, and a gallon can was a lot of syrup to use. The Quebec producers are for the first time this year selling small cans of maple syrup. These small cans contain 26 ounces by weight of syrup. Maple syrup, which must be sold by weight, must weigh not less than 13.2 pounds per gallon. These small cans should be handy; just punch two holes in the top and pour out the luscious syrup. There is little waste.

Honey — Different Flavors

Now let us turn to honey. Canadian honey is a luscious food which sunshine, flowers and bees together produce. The colors and flavors vary with the source of the nectar. Just like ice cream, honey comes in different flavors. White honeys are obtained from clover, basswood, raspberry and fireweed; amber from dandelion, fruit bloom and golden rod, and the dark honey chiefly from buckwheat. Most everyone likes light, mild honey, such as clover honey but some are partial to a dark, strong-flavored honey such as light buckwheat.

Any honey shipped from one province to another must be graded according to Federal Government regulations as No. 1, 2 or 3. Along with this grade honey is graded according to color as white, golden and dark.

Pasteurized honey may be preferred because it never becomes granular. Pasteurizing the honey gives it a creamy, smooth texture. This honey should not be heated to reliquify it. Special liquid honey may be bought if it is preferred.

Jenny Cake

¾ Cup sifted all-purpose flour (or 7/8 cup sifted pastry flour), 4 teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ cup sugar, 1 cup farina (uncooked), 2 eggs, 1 cup milk, 3 tablespoons mild flavored fat (melted).

Mix and sift flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. Add farina and stir well. Add beaten eggs to milk. Add melted fat to liquid and quickly combine with dry ingredients. Stir well and immediately pour into a greased 8" x 8" cake pan or muffin tins. Bake in moderately hot oven, 375°F., allowing 25 to 30 minutes for cake and 20 minutes for muffins. Serve hot with honey or maple syrup. Yield: One cake 8" x 8".

Spiced Coffee Cakes

¼ Cup sugar, 1½ cups sifted pastry flour (or 1½ cups less 3 tablespoons of sifted all-purpose flour), ¼ teaspoon salt, 3 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1 egg, ½ cup milk, ¼ cup shortening (melted).

Mix and sift sugar, flour, salt, baking powder and cinnamon. Combine beaten egg, milk and melted shortening and add at once to dry ingredients. Stir vigorously just long enough to mix. Half fill greased muffin tins. Bake in a moderately hot oven, 375°F., for 20 to 25 minutes. Serve hot with butter and honey or maple syrup. Yield: 12 medium cakes.

Graham Cake

½ Cup shortening, ¾ cup sugar, 2 eggs, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 3 teaspoons baking powder, ¼ teaspoon salt, 2 cups Graham flour, ¾ cup milk.

Cream fat until fluffy; gradually cream in sugar. Add beaten eggs and vanilla and beat thoroughly until light and creamy. Add baking powder and salt to flour, mixing thoroughly, and add a third at a time alternately with milk, combining lightly. Bake in a greased 8" x 8" cake pan in a moderate oven, 350°F., for 40 to 45 minutes. Serve hot with butter and honey or maple syrup. Yield: one cake 8" x 8".

Education Week —

Women's Institutes And Education

Education Week finds the Quebec Women's Institutes taking stock of the work done in this active department of that organization. Annual scholarships are an important item. In addition to the three provincial awards of $50 each given at Macdonald College, two in the School of Household Science and one in the Diploma Course in Agriculture, many branch and county units give annual scholarships of varying amounts in their local schools. In the past year these totalled $500, with two counties not mentioning the size of their contributions.

Individual prizes for progress are frequently noted also, but more and more branches are getting away from this competitive idea and are adopting projects that will benefit all students in the school, such as money given for the purchase of books for the school library or for radios, and in a few instances assistance has been given in procuring a projector for the school. Hot lunch projects could also be mentioned here.

In the last directive for work, issued by the provincial convener of Education, Mrs. Earl Gardiner, Dundee, she says in part, "Let us continue to co-operate with our teachers and, may I add, our school boards, and may we ever strive for a fuller understanding of the part the Q.W.I. can play in the education of our youth and ourselves."

THE CHALLENGE

This year again the Red Cross Appeal presents us with a challenge . . . and an opportunity. New victims of war wounds, greater need of lifesaving blood transfusion services, the inevitability of great disasters of fire and flood . . . all must find the Red Cross ready. League Finals Draw High Attendance at Brownsburg Arena

Brownsburg Victors In Exhibition Game With Belle Riviere

(Our District Correspondent)

Brownsburg — The finals between Chute à Blondeau and L'Orignal being played at the Brownsburg arena are attracting large crowds of enthusiastic supporters, with the addition of Brownsburg hockey fans who are chiefly interested in the game alone.

The second game of the series, with L'Orignal one-up, was a much better tilt than the first one. The game opened with end-to-end play. L'Orignal attacked and held the play at their opponents' end but were unable to get through for a score. Both defences were tried and found effective. No score in this period.

Resuming, Chute à Blondeau pressed around the goal and one minute of play found them ahead for the first score. From the face-off, the Chute again attacked, and again scored, on a rebound. L'Orignal were unable to get possession with any effect and during the period were disorganized by the fast play of their opponents. At the end of the period Chute à Blondeau were six goals up, without a reply from L'Orignal.

In the last period, more even play was on tap; L'Orignal settled down to press around the goal, and about half way through denied the Chute a shut-out. Chute à Blondeau replied with a tally in a spurt of activity from resting on their long lead, but lapsed again while L'Orignal put two more behind the custodian. — Chute à Blondeau 7, L'Orignal 3.

Brownsburg Bombers vs. Belle Riviere

A challenge match between the above teams drew a fair crowd on Wednesday night of last week. There were some fast, efficient plays on view but the visitors were out of their class and unable to hold their more experienced and faster opponents. The first period saw Brownsburg sink five goals behind the hapless goalie, with a solitary single for reply. Both teams scored singles in the next period, and in the final Brownsburg added four, to one in reply. — Brownsburg 9, Belle Riviere 3.

L'Orignal Reclaims Lead

The third game in the play-off series between L'Orignal and Chute à Blondeau again attracted a large crowd, Sunday afternoon. This was one of the largest turn-outs of the season, the arena being filled three deep around the boards. There was some pretty good defensive hockey for the first two periods. In the last period Chute à Blondeau seemed to tire and had a lot of bad breaks in defence. The goaler was beaten again by soft shots, and his opposite had not much better luck.

In the first period, Chute à Blondeau scored the only tally to be registered. L'Orignal reversed the count in the next period and added one for good measure. In the final, L'Orignal put in six more, while Chute à Blondeau had to be satisfied with four. The final score — L'Orignal 8, Chute à Blondeau 5.

Lachute vs. Brownsburg Schools

There has been so much hockey during the season in which Brownsburg senior and junior teams have been engaged, and then the series in the final of the league, that your reporter has been obliged to miss out on the school games. We have been informed that there was some very good hockey during the many games played, and are promised that the new series between the above schools will equal in excitement anything that has gone before. It goes without saying that rivalry will be keen, and the local interest should make for high interest as well. There is a nominal charge of 25 cents for each game, the receipts to go to the Students' Council, who at the moment are holding a depleted if not empty chest.

Brownsburg Juniors View Montreal Game

Brownsburg — Last Sunday the Brownsburg Junior Bombers team went to Montreal to see the game between the Montreal Royals and the Quebec Aces, in which the Aces won 3-1.

Though the first period was slow, the second and third periods produced some fast hockey. The Juniors were able to see top-rate goal-tending and some really neat plays that were successfully stopped. Beliveau did not play an outstanding game, but Douglas for the Royals was exerting his very best to tally those three points he needed.

The Brownsburg Juniors have ended their regular season and are now playing a few exhibition games, the first of which is this week, when they meet the Brownsburg Legion.

Plan Inter-Scholastic Basketball Tourney

On Saturday, February 23, the representatives of several schools met at Brownsburg and arranged an inter-scholastic basketball tournament, to take place in the school gym at Brownsburg on Saturday, April 5. Altogether, six schools will send their boys to represent them in the tournament, namely, Buckingham, Ste. Agathe, Hudson, Lachute, Grenville and Brownsburg.

Seven games will be played in a double elimination. The winners of the first round will then play for the championship and the losers will play for the consolation. This ensures each team at least two games during the tournament.

Although this is the first basketball tournament to be held in this district, it is hoped by the players and supporters that the event will be held annually, and that in the near future an inter-scholastic basketball association will be formed, with cups to be awarded to the winning teams.

It was also suggested at the meeting that a girls' tournament be held after Easter. Several school have agreed to this, and Hudson High School offered to act as hosts for this event. April 26 was set as the tentative date.

The draw for the boys' tournament is as follows:

10.00 a.m. A
Brownsburg vs. Grenville.
11.00 a.m. B
Lachute vs. Ste. Agathe.
12.00 a.m. C
Hudson vs. Buckingham.
1.30 p.m. D
Loser of A vs. Loser of B.
2.30 p.m. E
Winner of A vs. Winner of B.
3.30 p.m. F
Winner of D vs. Loser of C.
(Consolation final).
4.30 p.m. G
Winner of C vs. Winner of E.
(Championship Final).

Sports and Activities At Lachute High School

By Anne Dwyer

This past week at school has been "Twerpsies' Week" — the girls being called upon to do anything the boys requested them, whether they liked it or not. The girls escorted the boys to the Sadie Hawkins Dance on Friday night, held in the cafeteria. Audrey Veil won first prize for her corsage, and Francis Robertson for the funniest one on exhibit. After judging of the corsages, the couples danced to recorded music; Miss B. Vrooman and Mr. B. Wyse were chaperons. At midnight the party broke up, all well satisfied with the pleasant evening.

There is to be a Public Speaking Contest in the school with Grades VII - IX competing in one class, and Grades X - XI in another. Each pupil is to write his own speech and deliver it, in not more than three minutes. The try-outs will be held March 12, and the pupils chosen to compete against Arundel, Morin Heights and Grenville, will speak on March 14.

Basketball

Saturday, March 1, Lachute High was at home to the Grenville team. Lachute won both games.

The final score for the girls was 49-14. . . In the first quarter the baskets for Lachute were scored in quick succession. First, M. Mitchell scored, then E. Welden caught the ball and again scored. After this fast play M. Mason threw one in. B. Bradford then put in one basket; next a foul shot, and again a basket. Grenville started their scoring with a tally by E. Fowler. The Lachute coach then switched his players, putting the guards as forwards, and vice versa. Guard Myrna Gaston promptly scored two baskets, one right after the other, and the bell rang to sound the end of the first quarter. There was no scoring for Grenville in the second quarter. E. Welden sank one for Lachute, then M. Mitchell, followed by B. Bradford with four baskets in a row. In the second half of the game Grenville showed better form. Coach A. Bond again switched his guards and forwards. Guard Myrna Gaston scored again, followed by her twin sister, Myrtle, with two in a row. E. Welden scored and later M. Mitchell "split the mesh" once again. E. Fowler shot in two quick ones for Grenville, and M. Mitchell did the same for Lachute. B. McCullough tallied the last two points in the third quarter with a neat shot for Lachute.

Play-offs Commence in United Church Bowling

The first play-off games of the Lachute United Church Bowling League were held Tuesday evening, and some keen bowling was witnessed. The boys' team, skipped by D. McGibbon, defeated the W.M.S. Reds (Mrs. A. Blute) by a score of 15-6. St. David's team (Les Thompson) came through with a win of 12-5 against the Young Women's Auxiliary (Miss C. Laurin). The Ladies' Aid foursome (Mrs. Harry Scott) made a remarkable comeback when losing at the 8th end 10-5, to defeat Connie Laurin's Bluebells team 14-10. The two Red Cross teams, skipped by Mrs. J. G. Lamontagne and Mrs. W. Watson, were all even at the end of the regular 10-ends, 7-7, and had to play an extra end — the former team winning 9-7. The four winning teams will meet next week.

In the two games for total-points-to-count, the league winning Raps were thoroughly routed, 11 to 5, by the Young People's Union, while the W.M.S. Blues (Mrs. H. Riddell) came through with a commanding lead against the Sunday School team (Herbert Graham), 15 to 5. These teams will conclude their games next week — again with total scores to count.

Scoop for Arena Fans At Brownsburg!

Elmer Lach, Geoffrion and Dicky Moore — Star Visitors Next Tuesday

Junior Bombers Beat Legion Line-Up

Brownsburg — The elements acted up on Tuesday night, preventing many hockey fans from seeing a game of keen home-town rivalry, when the Junior Bombers met the Brownsburg Legion. The Juniors won, with a score of 7-3.

The first period was fast, with Legault making the first tally for the Juniors, followed in quick succession by goals from Charlebois, Hewitt, Ouellette and Legault again. The Legion boys showed some great style, but were unable to beat goaler Ouellette.

The second period saw Roberts, goaler for the Legion, more in stride, and able to hold off all the Juniors' attacks, while G. Gagné beat Ouellette for one tally and Russ Summers followed with two.

The third period was again fast, as the Legion strived to gain and the Juniors increased their lead by two goals, both by André Ouellette. Three penalties were handed out by referee Duncan to Racine, Brewer and Moseley of the Juniors; but still the Legion were unable to catch up. Roberts, who was a goalie some years ago, showed that he could still handle himself in the nets, while many other players of yesteryear proved they still know a few tricks, and they executed many neat plays.

Another game between these two teams will take place Saturday night. Ouellette will be goaltender for the Legion, as Roberts will be out of town, and the Juniors will have Joly in the nets.

Juniors
Goal — R. Ouellette.
Forwards — Bill Hewitt, Jacques Racine, André Ouellette, Yvon Legault, Lorne Brewer, Jacques Leveille, Joly, Clement, Charlebois.
Defence — Moseley, Cousineau and Goyette.

Legion
Goal — L. Roberts.
Forwards — Dave MacCulloch, Bill Campbell, Bill Tessier, Russ Summers, Geo. Gagne, Noel Racine.
Defence — Tomalty, Wilson, Tessier, Brisbois, Wheatley, Martin.
Referee — John Duncan.

The News!

Next week should be a good one for the Juniors, who will be playing the team of the Pennsylvania Hotel, Montreal, sponsored by A. Nolin, former hotelman of Brownsburg. The big news is, that the famed Canadiens, Boom-Boom Geoffrion, Dickie Moore and perhaps Elmer Lach, will be on hand to referee and to coach. The visiting team have a few former pro players.

* * *

Another informant advises the sports editor that Tuesday, March 11 at 8.30, is the date and time; that Elmer Lach and Fernand "B.-B." Geoffrion will referee, while Dicky Moore will coach the local Junior play; and that one or two members of the Royals may line up with Brownsburg.

L'Association Sportive Launches Campaign For 1952 Membership

"L'Association de la Jeunesse Sportive" held its annual meeting Monday evening at the Hotel Laurentien, under the joint presidency of Lionel Laurin, president of the Association, and Pat Carrière, president of the current membership campaign.

Mr. Laurin thanked the members for their past co-operation and gave an outline of the work accomplished by the board of directors during the winter months.

The headquarters of the recruiting campaign are at the Tessier Hotel, where all those interested may get information by phoning 109. Salesmen were appointed, the group captains being Philippe Joly, Gaétan Robinson, Edouard Vivarais, Georges Proulx, Royal Carrière, Omer Tessier, Jacques Dupré. In Brownsburg, supporters will procure their tickets from Ronald Hébert or Roger Chamaillard.

The campaign officially opened March 3, and will continue until March 24. Sports enthusiasts who do not procure season tickets now will have to buy regular tickets to attend the games. Reasonable terms may be obtained. All interested are urged to see their local salesman, who will be glad to give all information. The Lachute baseball team is YOUR team and it needs your support NOW.

It has just been confirmed that Joliette will enter its team in the Laurentide Baseball League this coming season.

Producer-Director of CBC Dramas

After many months in England, CBC drama producer Andrew Allan has taken over direction of the Sunday night "Stage" series, which he has produced for eight seasons. Here he is giving the "go ahead" signal to a member of the cast during rehearsal for "Stage 52", broadcast at 9 p.m. on the CBC. Among the plays he hopes to do in the series during the next three months are "The Painted Veil" by Somerset Maugham; "The Night of the Fourth", a psychological thriller translated from the German; and three comedies of manners which he has adapted himself, one from each of three centuries of English life.

Sports and Activities At Lachute High School

By Anne Dwyer

B. Bradford started off the last quarter with a basket, and E. Fowler and N. Mott for Grenville put in the next four points. Myrna Gaston, changed from guard to forward again, scored for Lachute, followed by E. Fowler for Grenville a few minutes later. In the last few seconds of play one of her team mates, H. Prophet, scored the last basket of the game.

The boys' final score was 36-4. In the first quarter the scorers were B. Golphin, scoring twice, T. Boyd and V. Pattee both tallying one basket each. B. McMahon, B. Duncan (two baskets) and W. Andrews scored the points in the second quarter.

The second half was more exciting, as the Grenville boys put on more presure. Three baskets made by B. Cook, B. Golphin and B. Duncan were the only action in the third quarter. B. Duncan started off the last quarter with a neat shot and two points for Lachute. B. Cook then put in two in a row. B. Lummis shot his first basket of the game shortly after. D. Brigden started the Grenville fans cheering when he scored their first two points. During the din B. McMahon, B. Cook and B. Duncan each tallied for Lachute. In the last moment of play, K. Smith shot a neat one. This was the last basket of the game.

JUNIOR POLICE CADETS IN WEST-END PARISHES

A group of 24 boys and girls of St. Julien and Immaculate Conception parishes have enrolled in a junior cadet unit ("petits brigadiers"). The new movement, formed at the regular Loisirs gathering on Sunday, is aimed to instruct the young members in safe practices, road-crossing patrol and other assistance to police duties. It is possible the group will later link up with the Scouts organization.

Curé Léo Clement, Mayor Gilbert E. Ayers, Police Chief D. Villeneuve and Roger Regimbal, personnel manager at Ayers Ltd., addressed the young brigadiers, and Chief Villenuve presented a $10 cheque from the police fund, to meet half-cost of the neckerchiefs which will serve as uniforms to distinguish the members.

Armand Allie, president of Les Loisirs (St. Julien), was chairman of the meeting.

FINE BARN AND SILO DESTROYED BY FIRE

A large barn and silo at the farm of F. O. Peterson, on the Lachute - St. Andrews road, was destroyed by fire of unknown origin last Sunday afternoon. Lachute Fire Department despatched its auxiliary truck and men, but nothing could be done to check the blaze since there was no available water supply.

The outbreak started apparently overhead and at the rear of the barn, near the silo. Robt. Simon and his family, who occupy the farmhouse, were unaware of the fire when neighbors and passing motorists rushed to give the alarm and to release the livestock. The 15 head of cattle, four horses and a pig were safely herded to a neighbor's buildings.

Bories Arran, of Lachute, called to the residents and turned in the alarm to Lachute Fire Brigade, while other passers-by gave valuable aid in saving the livestock.

ONE YEAR IN JAIL FOR NON-SUPPORT

Before Justice Herman Barrette at the District Magistrate's Court in St. Jerome last Friday, André Plouffe, Lachute Mills, was sentenced to one year in jail for non-support. Plouffe has a wife and four children. The charge was laid by Det. Philippe Therriault of the Provincial Police.

It is stated by provincial and Crown authorities here that there have been too frequent instances of irresponsibility similar to this case, and it is hoped the sentence will serve as an example to curb such family neglect.

N.H.L. CELEBRITIES HAILED AT BROWNSB'G

Small-Fry Give Vent To Hero Worship at Gala Hockey Night

(Our District Correspondent)

Brownsburg — It was celebrity night at the Brownsburg Arena—and it was a wet night too — but that didn't deter a large crowd from pouring through the turnstiles Tuesday evening.

The children's section was alive with color — Les Canadiens' colors, flags, bunting and sweaters. This section was alive with movement too; autograph books, programs and rink souvenirs; and when Bernie "Boom-Boom" Geoffrion and Dollard St. Laurent skated out on the ice it was really alive and for all to hear!

There was some delay before the game, which was a tilt between Brownsburg Juniors and a selection from the Pennsylvania Hotel team from Montreal. During this interval the two Canadiens stars took occasion to meet their many admirers, and so tumultuous did this welcome become that the ice was invaded in an effort to secure a better view. After the introductions, Mr. Bill Cottingham, our sport-minded and genial M.L.A., faced off the puck in a glare of light from photographers' flash-bulbs. Bill had now to run and gauntlet of handshakes all the way to his box!

As Jimmy Durante says, "everyone wants to get into the act", so the teams posed for more photos. The children roared and shouted, and Geoffrion and St. Laurent applied their pens to hundreds of autographs.

At last the game got under way (reported on page 10), . . Between periods Mr. John Duncan, who was referee during the regular season for the Long Sault League games, was called to the ice, to receive a very beautiful clock. The captain of the junior team, Lorne Brewer, made the presentation and lauded John's high qualities in sportsmanship and his genuine endeavor to promote hockey. René Ouellette handled the French plaudits offered to John in very feeling terms. John, being taken completely unawares, was almost at a loss for words, but managed to express his heartfelt appreciation.

Agriculture on Business Principles, Practical Subject for Club Audience

Keith Russell Steps from Classroom Role, Addresses Fellow Rotarians at Brownsburg

Last week the Brownsburg Rotary Club heard an address from one of its own members. Keith Russell, Agriculture teacher at the Lachute, Brownsburg and Grenville schools, spoke on "Agriculture and Agricultural Education".

Mr. Russell pointed out that although farming is a hard life, and the farmers themselves are generally inclined to disparage their lot, it has several attractive features. Although tied down by farm work, farmers do have a large degree of independence, and enjoy the satisfaction that comes to those who help to create things. On the practical side, the farmer can raise enough food to keep himself and his family from going hungry — indeed, they seem to live as comfortably as their urban counterparts. In addition to this, the farmer can see the tangible results of his life's work, a condition often not possible to those in other professions.

Dealing at length with the economic aspects of farming, the speaker showed that the turnover in the farm business is small, and slow. The value of the annual output of a successful business should be four times the value of the business. But the annual output of the farm seldom amounts to more than half the value of the business. This means that the margin of profit must be larger to allow for the living expenses of the farm family. Very often this large margin of profit is difficult to secure.

The farmer, while a producer, is also a heavy consumer. Since all taxes are passed along to the consumer, the farmer carries a heavy tax burden.

Mr. Russell stated that in some cases the farmer himself is to blame for his economic plight. He believes that the underlying cause in these cases is a lack, on the part of the farmer, of the appreciation and use of sound business principles.

As an example, it can be quite readily proven that a dairy cow producing less than 6,000 pounds of milk a year is not a paying proposition. Yet throughout the country there are scores of cattle producing much less than this quantity annually.

Touching briefly on Agricultural Education, the speaker explained that the need for teaching Agriculture in secondary schools was brought about by the fact that many boys were going back to the farms untrained for their progressively more technical profession. He believes that in time the beneficial effects of an Agriculture course in the High Schools will be felt in the communities to which these boys return.

The speaker was introduced by King Amos, and thanked by Gordon Tabrett. A guest at the club meeting was Rotarian Harry Greenspon, of Hawkesbury.

TRAINMAN DIES AFTER FREIGHT-YARD MISHAP

Edouard Legaré, 32-year-old C.P.R. freight trainman, who sustained a fractured skull in an accident at the Lachute freight yards at 2 p.m. last Friday, succumbed to his injuries Monday morning in a Montreal hospital.

During the daily shunting operations, three box cars in a siding started rolling westward down the grade. The brakeman immediately climbed aboard to the roof of one of the cars and applied the handbrake. He was unable to halt the cars, however, before they were struck by a locomotive — the engineer being unaware that anything was amiss. Legaré was thrown off-balance, his head striking the box-car, or the icy ground, and fracturing his skull. The steam-connection at the rear of the locomotive was broken, and clouds of escaping steam enveloped the scene of the collision.

Dr. F. W. FitzGerald, the C.P.R. physician, was called. The semi-conscious man was removed to the Providence Hospital, later being taken by ambulance to the Neurological Institute in Montreal. Det. Perreault, of the Provincial Police, Montreal headquarters, investigated.

An inquest was held Tuesday in Montreal.

PARENTS, CITIZENS AT MASSED SERVICE FOR EDUCATION WEEK

A representative gathering of the Protestant community attended an Education Week service last Sunday evening at Lachute High School, in which the Rev. Dr. W. H. Reid gave an appropriate sermon, expressing some very definite, if controversial, views on Education. The Rev. C. R. Lang, the Rev. W. H. Britton and the Rev. W. B. Rosborough also took part in the devotions, and a senior L.H.S. pupil, Kenneth Trickey, read the scripture lessons.

The 23rd Psalm to Brother James' Air was beautifully harmonized by the Junior Choir, and a choral selection by Flemming was rendered by the Glee Club — both conducted by Shirley McKyes, music instructor, and accompanied by Wayne Riddell at the piano.

Text of the Rev. Dr. Reid's discourse was the query of Job: "Whence then cometh wisdom?" Contention of the speaker was that Education is learning for living, the prime essential of which is the ability to think and discriminate for oneself. In this regard he deplored the decline of so-called classical or impractical subjects in the school curriculum, citing the study of Latin as an example. "These subjects", he said, addressing the pupils in particular, "are important to the purpose for which you are going to school—the purpose of Education, which is 'learning to think'. There is nothing better for mental discipline than the study of Latin". Elsewhere in his address he remarked, "You will not learn to think for yourself by listening to the radio, by playing the juke box or by watching the movies". There was reference to an illogical trend in the logic of an old-timer, who had said, "In my day, we walked three miles to school; when we got there, we needed no exercise. Today they supply a $3,000 bus so the children will not have to walk — and at the school, a $50,000 gymnasium to give them exercise!" . . . Replete with quotations from many sources, and personal conclusions, Dr. Reid's sermon was both thought-provoking and timely to the theme of this occasion.

Southern portions of Saskatchewan and Alberta, lacking waterpower resources, have large fuel reserves.

Restaurant Co-operates, Police Find Missing Boy

10-Year-Old Disappeared From Home in St. Laurent

Following a radio announcement Tuesday night concerning the disappearance of 10-year-old Raymond Asselin, of Ville St. Laurent, police in neighboring suburbs and communities were on the look-out for this young adventurer with his bicycle, reported missing Tuesday by his parents. The search was centred in Lachute when a milk deliveryman, A. Poirier, believed he had seen the boy here. The local police were notified, and Chief D. Villeneuve alerted store and restaurant-keepers — with the result that young Raymond was found at Bill's Restaurant on Main Street Wednesday morning. Bill Blakely, the proprietor, seeing the youngster outside his premises, called him inside for a cup of coffee, and meanwhile notified the police.

Young Asselin had spent the night in an open shed adjoining a local hotel. He was substantially dressed, but his clothes were wet with mud and rain from his long bike-ride. He stated he was heading north to visit his uncle, an employee at Carling Lake — who arrived at the police offices here later that morning.

The boy's mother expressed her gratitude over the radio to all who had aided in his recovery.

County Hospital Incorporated to Build

Contributed by Lachute Chamber of Commerce

News of the new county hospital to be erected here at a cost exceeding half-a-million dollars is now more specific in detail, and it is opportune to publish this information simultaneously in the two weekly newspapers.

The institution, to be called Argenteuil Hospital, will be erected on a site off the Brownsburg Road, between Chatham Street and the Mountain View development. The hospital will have a total capacity of 60 beds. The provincial deputy, W. M. Cottingham, M.L.A., fully recognizing the need of this hospital, has successfully exerted his efforts to procure a substantial grant from Quebec Government towards its construction.

The building and administration committee for this project will comprise: Mayor Gilbert E. Ayers of Ayersville; the Rev. Léo. Clement, parish priest of the Immaculate Conception; Wm. M. Cottingham, M.L.A.; Roger Regimbal, personnel manager of Ayers Ltd., who will serve as secretary.

To these citizens who, despite their fully occupied interests, have displayed civic spirit towards the materialization of this hospital, the Chamber of Commerce expresses warm commendation.

Following are extracts from the text of Private Bill No. 142 passed in Quebec Legislature to provide for incorporation of the Argenteuil Hospital:

An Act to incorporate the "Argenteuil Hospital"

WHEREAS Abbé Léo Clement, parish priest, of the Municipality of Chatham, Gilbert Ayers, industrialist, of Lachute, and Roger E. Regimbal, personnel manager, of Lachute, have, by their petition, represented:

That due to the considerable increase of the population in the judicial district of Terrebonne, and more especially in the electoral district of Argenteuil, the existing hospitals in such territory are insufficient in number to meet requirements, and it is expedient to found a hospital to secure the necessary medical and surgical care for the said population;

That it is expedient to provide for the founding of a new hospital in the judicial district of Terrebonne and to grant the prayer contained in the said petition;

Therefore, His Majesty, with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council and of the Legislative Assembly of Quebec, enacts as follows:

1. Léo Clement, parish priest, of the Municipality of Chatham, Gilbert Ayers, industrialist, of Lachute, Roger E. Regimbal, personnel manager, of Lachute, and such other persons as may hereafter become members of the corporation, in accordance with its rules and by-laws, are hereby incorporated under the name of "Argenteuil Hospital" in English and "L'Hôpital d'Argenteuil", in French.

2. The Corporate seat of the corporation shall be in the town of Lachute, in the electoral district of Argenteuil.

Public Invited to School Oratory Contest Friday

Pupils from Grenville, Brownsburg, Arundel and Lachute will be taking part in a public-speaking contest here tomorrow evening, sponsored by the Argenteuil-Two Mountains Teachers' Association. The event will be held in the local High School auditorium at 8 p.m., and the teachers extend a cordial invitation to the public to attend and hear the speeches.

$160,000 Benefits Paid in Unemployment Insurance From Local Office in 1951

Assistance Rated in Terms of 'Social Security' To This Locality

Most Canadians will recall that the Unemployment Insurance Act of 1940 and Amendments became effective on July 1, 1941, at which time Canada, to keep abreast of the times, inaugurated an Employment Service and set up a chain of offices across Canada, for the placing of persons in jobs and the paying of Unemployment benefits as required under the Unemployment Insurance Act.

In September, 1942, an office was opened here to serve the Town of Lachute and surrounding rural district. The territory administered by the Lachute office consists of the County of Argenteuil, less a small area which falls under jurisdiction of the Ste. Agathe office, plus a small part of Two Mountains and a small part of Papineau County.

J. G. Lamontagne, manager of the local office of the Unemployment Insurance Commission, states that for the 12-month period from January 1 to December 31, 1951, approximately $160,000. was paid out in Unemployment Insurance benefits through the Lachute office; also, during that period, 945 persons were placed in jobs.

One ruling that is not fully understood by many people is that, to qualify for Unemployment Insurance benefits, a person must register for employment at a local office of the Commission. This does not fully relieve the applicant of his responsibility to seek employment for himself, however. Unemployment Insurance is not a pension, and moneys paid out in benefits are for the purpose of tiding over an unemployed person during a period of unemployment.

Many persons, particularly during the winter months, would be forced to go to the municipality for relief if the Unemployment Insurance Act were not in force in Canada today, and, consequently, municipal taxes, already too high, would be further raised.

Merchants and proprietors should particularly note that the sum of approximately $160,000. was paid out through the local office of Commission in Lachute — the majority of which goes, of necessity, to the merchants and landlords of this district. It is felt that this is one "Social Security" measure which is good for the community as a whole.

(Mr. J. G. Lamontagne, manager, advises that in future the Lachute office will be closed daily between 12 noon and 1.30 o'clock).

Aldermen Enact Revisions on Parking, Sanitary Inspection of Potato Wagons

Tropical Khaki Uniforms Sanctioned for Police For Summer Wear

Pro-Mayor Judes Charlebois presided at the regular March council session in the absence of Mayor J. W. McGibbon — all councillors being present.

L. Jos. Dumais appeared before Council to advance suggestions on behalf of the Chamber of Commerce. Several of these pertained to parking. It was suggested that parking be prohibited on one side of Bethany Street from Main to the C.P.R. track; similarly on one side of Water Street, and of Foundry Street from Bethany to Elizabeth. These improvements were voted upon, and carried.

Another suggestion from the Chamber of Commerce was that garbage collection on Main Street be changed from Monday to Tuesday. It was felt that the placing of garbage at entrances on Sunday evenings, which is common practice, gave an unfavorable impression to week-end tourists and visitors. This change being agreeable to the contractor, the Council readily gave approval.

Gaetan Laforest, of Veterans' Taxi, asked Council to repeal the by-law just passed to enforce passenger and property-damage insurance upon taxi operators. It was contended the high rates ($200 to $250 a year) would impose severe hardship on the business, necessitating an increase in rates and loss of custom. The request was tabled for future consideration, in the absence of the Mayor.

Police Chief D. Villeneuve asked permission for his force to wear khaki tropical uniforms during the summer months, same to be purchased from the police fund. Council voted its approval.

Gatineau LINES

The Good Old Days (?)

Those "Good Old Days" weren't so good when you compare them with modern standards and conveniences. In fact, today people generally live longer, have more leisure time, greater facilities for sports and hobbies and enjoy a greater degree of independence from the drudgery of everyday chores than their grandfathers would have ever dreamed was possible.

Take the housewife. The vacuum cleaner has replaced the carpet beater; hot water is always available through electricity; the washing machine has replaced the back-breaking scrubbing board — in fact there is virtually no end to the list, from the sterilizer for baby's bottle to the radio which brings the pick of the world's great artists.

No matter what business father is in electricity is also working for him, from the secretary's electric typewriter to the huge stamping machines; from the newspaper's linotypes to the farmer's electric milker.

Just over a quarter of a century ago when Gatineau Power Company came into being, many of the electrical appliances and conveniences which we take for granted today were still in the novelty stage and far from satisfactory. Increasing use has encouraged manufacturers to improve these appliances and has brought them down in price until they are within the reach of virtually everyone. At the same time, electricity itself is much cheaper than ever before.

At the turn of this century when electricity was still in its infancy, in terms of present day usage, many everyday articles were still being made or processed by hand. Mass production was almost unknown. Then new machines were introduced, powered by electricity, with the net result that mass production enabled the average family to possess things that previously had been reserved largely for the wealthy.

Electricity, the cheapest form of power so far known, can take a lot of credit for releasing mankind from the servitude in which it was held for so many centuries.

DID YOU KNOW?

That it would take 8 men, working steadily for an hour, to create the same amount of energy as an electric iron or toaster uses in that same hour?

In the year 1951, Canada counted more than 2,500,000 automobiles on the road, including 600,000 trucks.

Canada's 10 commercial banks operate under licenses granted by Parliament; thus the name "chartered banks".

Clifford Oswald Named To Committee Organizing Quebec Hog Producers

A three-way program to stabilize Quebec's hog industry was endorsed at a recent meeting of livestock producers associated with Quebec Farm Forums Association. The meeting, attended by 50 Farm Forum delegates representing 35 Forums, met at the Coopérative Fédérée in Montreal last Friday.

Noting that periods of low hog prices and high hog marketings are always followed by periods of low hog marketings and high prices, the delegates affirmed the stand that fluctuations in supply were neither beneficial to consumer or producer. The three-way program endorsed by the livestock men would seek to assure consumers that pork products would always be available at reasonable prices and assure producers of more stable returns.

Here is the program the delegates endorsed: (a) The Quebec Farm Forums, in co-operation with the Union Catholique des Cultivateurs and the Coopérative Fédérée de Québec, seek to organize a Quebec Hog Producers Association; (b) That such an association, when organized, seek legislative assistance for the establishment of a Hog Marketing Board for the purpose of assuring producers in all parts of the province that they will receive market prices for their hogs; and (c) That such an association would aim to provide accurate market forecasting services to all hog producers in the province in order that they might plan production in closer relation to supply and demand factors. The main function of the association would be to persuade its farmer members to produce efficiently the quality of pork preferred by consumers, in continuous supply at a fair price.

The meeting was chaired by P. D. McArthur, of Howick, Que., chairman of the Livestock Producers Committee of Quebec Farm Forums Association.

The five-man drafting committee that brought in the stabilizing proposal at the close of the meeting, was in charge of E. S. Bradley, of Mansonville, Que. Other members of the committee were Walter Hodgman, Birchton, Que.; Clifford Oswald, Ste. Scholastique, Que.; P. C. Chapman, Waterloo, Que.; and Walter Kilgour, Shawville, Que.

Liquid Fertilizer Seed-Treatment Fails

Liquid fertilizer as a seed treatment has failed to give increases in the yield of cereal grains in 32 experiments conducted by Federal Experimental Farms across Canada, it is reported from Ottawa. A 3-18-9 liquid fertilizer was used on wheat, oats or barley in all of these tests. It was applied at the rate of one gallon of liquid for each 5 to 8 bushels of grain, according to the manufacturers' instructions. This treatment was compared with plots seeded with grain which received no treatment. It was compared, also, with grain treated with an equivalent amount of pure, clear water. In no single instance did the liquid fertilizer treatment show a significant increase in yield over one or other of these check treatments.

It has been implied that this small amount of liquid fertilizer may be as effective in increasing yields, as standard commercial fertilizers, at recommended rates. It has been stated, too, that liquid fertilizer applied as a seed treatment, supplementing standard fertilizers, will increase yields considerably. In the above experiments, standard fertilizers gave significant and in fact outstanding increases in yields in 20 out of 32 tests. As already pointed out liquid fertilizer, alone, gave no significant increase in any test. Neither was there any significant response from this material applied in these small amounts, as a supplement to standard commercial fertilizer.

A product called Micro Dust, applied as a seed treatment, in similar small amounts, showed no beneficial effect in any of 31 tests.

The results of these experiments indicate that the treatments of the seed of cereal grains with these small amounts of fertilizer, approximately one pound of nutrients per acre, is neither economical nor useful.

Forage Seeds Project

Ottawa — Nelson Young, Director, Production Service, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, announces that at a meeting held at Winnipeg recently — representatives of federal and provincial Departments of Agriculture, Canadian Seed Growers' Association, Canadian Seed Trade Association and plant breeding institutions discussed the production of improved varieties of forage crop seeds in Canada. The meeting implemented the plans which had been approved by the agencies referred to and which provided for allocation and multiplication of Foundation Seed in approved production areas under suitable arrangements. The chief purpose of the plan is to make available to Canadian farmers, in volume, seed certified as to purity and quality and identified as to variety. Growers will be selected in approved seed production areas to multiply the Foundation Seed under contracts that will ensure a satisfactory return and provide an incentive that will result in a rapid multiplication of the seed.

To commence with, three crops considered important to Canadian agriculture have been selected — alfalfa, red clover and timothy. After careful study of variety performance under Canadian conditions for forage production purposes, the Committee chose the well-known and well-adapted Grimm as the alfalfa variety. Two varities of timothy were selected, namely, Medon, an origination of the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph, and Climax, originating from the Division of Forage Plants, Experimental Farms Service, Ottawa. In so far as red clover is concerned, it was decided to blend two well-known varieties of the popular double-cut type and introduce it as a new variety licensed under the name Lasalle. The Lasalle variety will combine the good qualities of Dollard, a Macdonald College origination, and Ottawa, an Experimental Farms Service variety.

Breeders Debate Future of Horse

Montreal (CP) — The question on survival of the horse in Quebec slipped into a lively discussion recently.

Horse breeders at the annual meeting of the Quebec Purebred Livestock Breeders Society deplored the changing pattern of farm life and the fact that their sons preferred the tractor to the horse. All agreed the horse population is dwindling.

Belgian and Percheron breeders said something should be done about their class of horse. They estimated there are less than 500 licensed stallions in Quebec and it would be difficult to continue to improve the breeds, unless they are granted some aid.

"A tractor will do the work of four Percherons", commented a breeder, "and the trend in Quebec now seems to be towards the tractor."

Freight rates in Canada, despite the long hauls through unsettled country, are among the lowest in the world.

Salut à "L'Argenteuil"!

TO BE GREETING the new French-language weekly, an offspring of our own organization, may appear like wishing ourselves Good Luck. However, the advent of "L'Argenteuil" is more a community achievement than a business triumph. A publisher's name-plate is no sign-post to riches; nor do we expect to wax wealthy on this new journalistic venture. But in the satisfaction of enlisting new friends — of further bonding the unity between our two cultures, French and English — and of providing a long-felt need in this district — through these accomplishments our labor and investment will be happily rewarded.

It is the aim of "L'Argenteuil" to completely represent the French-speaking, Catholic majority of this district. Several previous and current weeklies, bearing some reference to Argenteuil in their title, have made little pretence at exclusive coverage. Printed and published elsewhere, they have had no share in local interests, no link with the roots and progress of this countryside — such as we, the publishers of "L'Argenteuil", enjoy through long association and participation. French-speaking in its production personnel, "L'Argenteuil" is pledged to follow the ideals of The Watchman towards community betterment, and the two weekly newspapers together should make a constructive team.

The Watchman pays tribute to the supporters who have expressed good wishes in the introductory issue of "L'Argenteuil". Warm appreciation is extended to the Chamber of Commerce, for the laborious groundwork essential to its circulation and to its advertising "ballast". Without this incentive, "L'Argenteuil" would still be far from a reality. Such collaboration augurs well; and we trust the future will hold no problem of apathy or indifference, for only continued co-operation can ensure the success of this venture.

A Grave Menace

ONE OF the gravest threats in recent years to the prosperity of Canada's $200,000,000 livestock industry has appeared in southern Saskatchewan; an outbreak of foot-and-mouth disease.

Effects of the outbreak, unless it is controlled immediately, will extend beyond agriculture to every Canadian. Loss of the $130,000,000-a-year American market is bad enough. But there would be most serious domestic problems to counter if the disease spreads — loss of valuable breeding stock, interruption to the free flow of business throughout the country, damage to commercial and industrial concerns because of the farmers' reduced buying power.

Hundreds of cattle, sheep and swine already have been slaughtered by R.C.M.P. armed with rifles at mass graves dug in the frozen prairie. Teams of veterinarians are at work in the Regina area, working against time to trace down every possible source of the infection which strikes against all animals with cloven hooves.

Even if no new outbreaks occur, it will be weeks before there is assurance that the livestock epidemic is licked. Meantime there will be many arguments: Is it really necessary to slaughter livestock not actually stricken with foot-and-mouth disease? Is the federal government doing as much as it should to control spread of the epidemic? Was there unnecessary delay in making the first diagnosis? Are farmers being paid enough to compensate them for their losses?

The main thing right now is to make sure that the argument doesn't interfere with utmost effort to stamp out this livestock killer. Everyone concerned must keep his head — particularly farmers, who are most concerned.

Foot-and-mouth disease will not be licked by panic action.

Canadians everywhere must be calm and co-operate fully in all necessary control measures.

Above all, farmers must keep a close watch on the health of their animals. All suspicious ailments should be reported at once to the proper authorities. Nothing is to be gained by hiding the news of possible spread of the disease — and great harm may be done to one's neighbors by such secrecy.

Why Not, Ladies?

IT IS some thirty-five years since Canadian women first voted in a federal election. During the years that the ladies fought for the franchise their leaders promised great things for the nation if the women received the right to vote. That promise, somehow, has not been fulfilled.

Women have not taken the part in local, provincial and federal affairs that they might have. In this country there are several million women. Few have ever served on municipal councils, on school boards, in the legislature or in parliament. Why?

We think that women should get into public life, for they have much good common sense, much organizational ability, much executive ability that the country needs.

Why not women on our school boards and our town and rural councils? There are many ladies in our community who would be real assets to any board or council.

We wonder why the ladies of the nation have not been more active in public life. In their own organizations they do a wonderful job; why should they not focus their abilities on larger spheres of action?

Women are no longer tied to their homes, burdened with housekeeping toil—modern science and invention has released them from that. They have taken their place in business, in industry, in the professions, but to only a minor degree in public life.

The welfare of Canada demands the interest and active participation of women in local and national affairs. How about it, ladies?

Another Improvement

APROPOS the influence of our womenfolk (above referred to) — out of a recent meeting on civic topics, the Lachute Women's Institute advanced a list of suggestions for town improvement. A few weeks later, to illustrate the effect of this influence, we enumerated several of the suggestions which had been acted upon by the authorities. The Watchman is now gratified to note one more, appearing in the council news this week:

In order to avoid the placing of unsightly garbage Sunday evenings for the Monday collection on Main Street, the collection day is being set back to Tuesday. Householders will be duly notified of this change.

The improvement was effected through representations of the Chamber of Commerce at last week's council session; but as far as we can ascertain, the suggestion originated in the Lachute Women's Institute's "magna carta" for civic betterment.

WE ARE pleased that there are some educators who bluntly tell us the teaching of the "three R's" is just as vital today as when we were kids at school. We didn't learn anything about child psychology and other subjects with long-sounding names, but we knew enough to write a decent letter when the occasion demanded — says an editorial paragraph in the MacLeod (Alta.) Gazette.

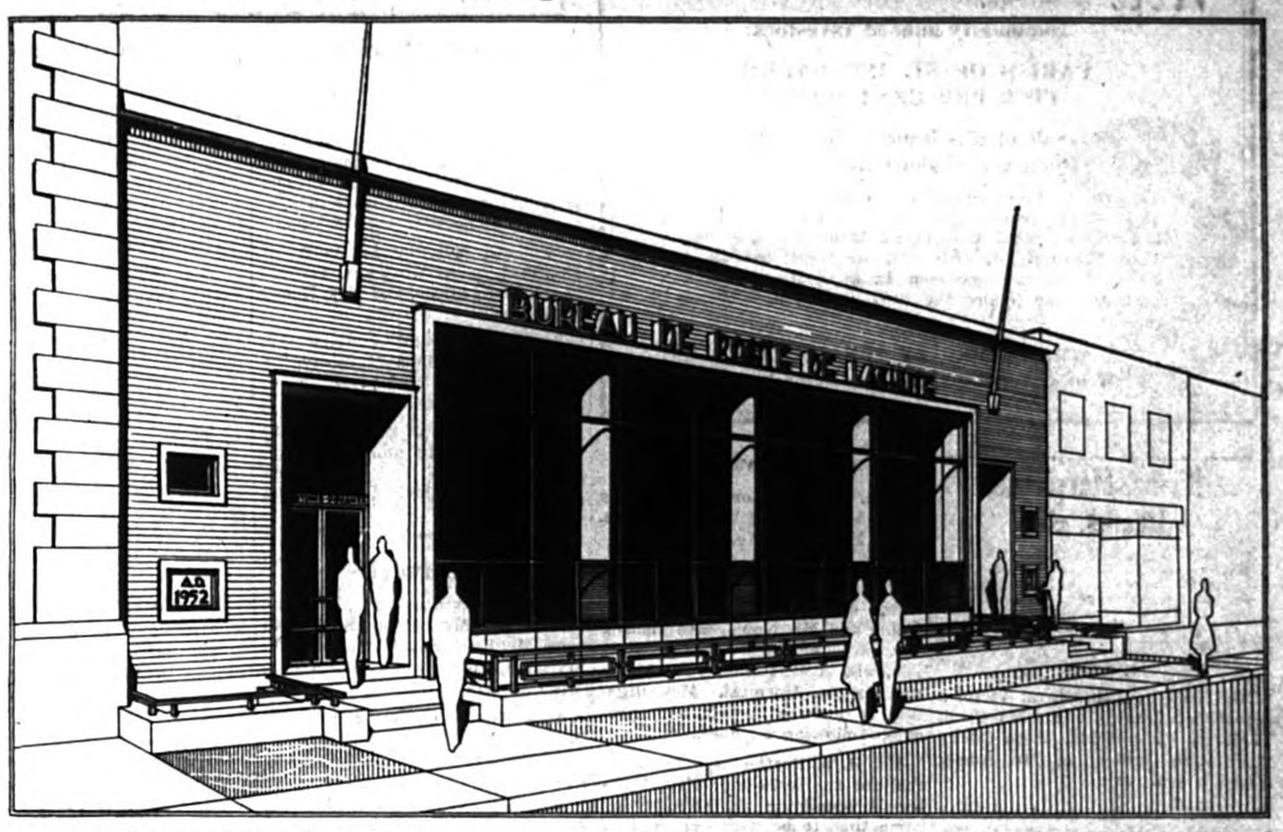

◇ ◆ ◇

THE MOST important cause of inefficiency in the civil service is defined as lack of competition by the Wetaskiwin (Alta.) Times — arguing that without competition there is no need for the little extra services that make one business more popular than its competitor.

Architect's Drawing of New Lachute Post Office

Tentative plan showing front elevation of Lachute's new post-office, to be erected to the west and adjoining the present building — with construction to commence this summer. This reproduction of the architect's drawing, procured for The Watchman by courtesy of Philippe Valois, M.P., shows the single-storey public office almost at street level, well lighted with plate-glass windows. (The sign above the windows will be bi-lingual, however, according to Mr. Valois). The Customs and Excise Department and the National Employment Service will be housed in the present post-office structure. The new building, modern in every detail of construction and utility, will occupy the site of the Notary Beaudoin block, formerly the Cosy Inn, which will be demolished in the near future.

It Won't Be Long Now

The Winter now is dying fast, and soon (I hope) will breathe its last. We will rejoice at its last breath releasing us from living death. I still remember how I felt last Spring while watching snow-banks melt, and gave the sun the thanks that's due her as each one trickled down the sewer.

A few more days and you will see a sap-can on each maple tree and little girls with skipping-ropes at play out on the sunny slopes, and little boys with muddy feet playing with marbles in the street.

Then warmer winds and welcome showers will pave the way for first spring flowers, and red-winged blackbirds in the marsh mingle their sounds with grackles harsh, and in the evening little frogs will chirp from all surrounding bogs.

And on the roads the asphaltic-ians will soon resume their old positions, filling each hole with sand and gravel to make things safe for those who travel. Then I'll put my car on the road as soon as I can get it towed.

Excuse me, folks! I've got to get. I haven't bought my license yet!

Be seein' ya!

— Uncle Walt.

Juniors Lose Trophy in Schoolgirl Ski Meet

At the schoolgirls' ski meet sponsored by the Penguin Club on Saturday at St. Sauveur, the Morin Heights junior girls' team lost the cup after bringing it home for the last five years. However, when it came to individual honors, Corinne Watchorn, a senior, and Beverley Bell, a junior, both came first in Slalom, Downhill and Combined. Anne Brown finished 5th in the Combined. (Barbara Brown had the misfortune to dislocate a cartilage in her knee, and as a result is spending this week at her home here, instead of attending Montreal High School, where she is taking Grade XI).

BANK OF MONTREAL'S MODERNIZED INTERIOR TO PROVIDE UP-TO-THE-MINUTE BANKING FACILITIES

With the completion of major alterations at the Bank of Montreal's Lachute office, B of M customers here now have completely up-to-the-minute banking facilities at their disposal. Underway for the past six months, the improvements have already caused much favorable comment, according to Donald Hay, manager of the branch. The work, done by the Tower Construction Company Limited, was under the direction of B of M architects.

Planned from the first to provide better banking facilities for Lachute and district residents, the renovated office now boasts facilities as modern as it is possible to make them. Pleasing to the eye, the banking room is finished in light oak and equipped with fluorescent lighting and rubber tiled flooring. The new, low type, counter-line, with bronze and glass screening, is fitted with four tellers' wickets for fast and efficient service. A coupon booth is located conveniently nearby.

A new feature of the remodelled office is the "Interview Room". This room, believed to be the first of its kind in Lachute, was designed for customers wishing to confer privately on financial matters with any officer of the bank.

These outstanding features combine with other up-to-the-minute details in the renovated office to provide the last word in banking facilities.

Bank Has Grown With Lachute

The local office first opened for business on March 22nd, 1917, as a branch of the Molsons Bank, which later became part of the Bank of Montreal. The following year, to keep pace with the growing demand for banking service, the bank moved to larger quarters in the building now occupied by F. E. Earle, jeweller, where it remained until 1931. That year, the branch moved into the familiar red brick building it still occupies today.

Prominent Banker Serving Here

Born and educated in Lachute, manager Donald Hay began his banking career at the local office 28 years ago. He acquired his early experience here and at branches in Montreal, Cornwall and Ottawa, before receiving his first appointment as accountant at Cowansville in 1940. The following year, he was transferred to Sherbrooke in a similar capacity and, four years later, was named accountant at Quebec. Prior to his return to Lachute in 1949, he served as manager of the Grand Falls, N.B., branch.

Donald M. Hay, Manager

Capable and well regarded as a member of the community, Mr. Hay has always taken an active part in local affairs wherever he has been stationed.

Handicraft Exhibit At Macdonald College

The annual handicraft exhibit of the Quebec Women's Institutes will be held again this year at Macdonald College, in conjunction with the provincial convention the last week in June.

In addition to articles of various types of handwork entered by individual members the public will be given an opportunity of seeing samples of the work done at courses given in various districts by the technicians, Miss Ida R. Bruneau and Miss F. Elizabeth Campbell. Branches select the form of craft they wish taught and figures released by Miss Bruneau show rug-making has been leading this past season, while slippers and gloves are the form of leather work most in demand.

A large and varied collection of articles will be assured at this exhibit, which is held for display purposes only, not as a competition.

A new course, "Painting for Pleasure", has been received with favor. Art classes have been formed in many communities by Miss Campbell and a section of the exhibit will feature this work.

Opera Broadcast

Le Théâtre Lyrique, sponsored by Molson's, will present "Mignon" by Ambroise Thomas over CBF and the French network on Monday evening, March 17, from 9 to 10 p.m.

Principal roles will be entrusted to Jacques Gerard, Nelly Mathot, Fernande Chiochio and Gaston Gagnon. Jean Deslauriers will direct the orchestra, Albert Duquesne will be the narrator, and Roger Baulu the announcer.

FOR PARENTS ONLY...

A Weekly Feature of Helpful Hints on Child Training

Deal Gently with the Green-Eyed Monster

— By NANCY CLEAVER — (Copyright)

"Jealousy is cruel as the grave: the coals thereof are coals of fire, which hath a most vehement flame."

Centuries ago, Solomon wrote these words, and how many countless people have been tortured by envious pangs! How many children have experienced the bitter apprehension that they are being displaced in the love and affection of their parents! Jealousy is not just a problem which parents may expect to find when a new baby is born. It is a violent emotion which may occur at any stage in life.

There are many situations where jealousy rears its head. The younger child may be jealous of the older child's extra privileges, such as a later bed time. The brother may be jealous of all the clothes his sister has. The girl may be jealous of the boy's greater freedom in making his way about alone. The child with average capacity may be jealous of a brilliant brother or sister who makes much higher grades at school. The rather plain little girl may envy her pretty sister's good looks.

What is the best way to treat jealousy? Certainly it should not be severely punished, nor should it be ignored. The very jealous child is a sick child emotionally and needs help in the form of understanding and love and guidance.

One of the very worst ways to deal with a jealous child is to insist that he "love" the object of his jealousy. Human beings cannot be commanded to love automatically as a soldier springs to attention.

An older child should not be burdened with too great responsibility for a younger member of the family because everyone is supposed to help in a home. Nor should parents ever spur their children to greater efforts by comparing one child's failure to another child's success.

The plight of the jealous child is made worse if he is forced to feel ashamed of his feelings. He gets all mixed up inside. Instead, mother can say, "Yes, I know you may feel we love the new baby (or the other young brother or sister) more than we love you, but that is not so, Mother and Daddy have lots of love for both of you." Even if he exclaims, "I hate Junior!" Mother need not get excited. She can answer, "Lots of brothers and sisters occasionally dislike each other. But as they grow older they usually become good friends. Mother loves you just as much as she ever did, and she loves you just as much as anyone else."

Parents can help by re-assuring the child who is fearful that he is being replaced in his parent's hearts by another child. Fairness and consistent discipline also prevent jealousy between older children. Most of all, parents need, throughout the years, to give enough affection to all of their children so that each of them feels secure. Schiller has called jealousy a "magnifier of trifles". But this unhappy emotion, if dealt with wisely, can be a transitory one. Deal gently with "the green-eyed monster!"

Red Cross Manual on Disaster Preparedness

Incorporating the lessons learned and experience gained in recent Canadian and American disasters, a new publication, The Disaster Services Manual, has just been issued by the Canadian Red Cross Society and is intended to be a pattern or model for the guidance of Red Cross workers interested in disaster services.

The chapters on sub-committees will be of particular interest to those groups who would naturally collaborate with the Red Cross either in a natural disaster or in civil defence, in such fields as transport, medical and nursing care, communications, emergency housing, clothing, food, etc.

The manual outlines the responsibilities of government and the Red Cross in disaster operations and the role of the Society in civil defence. While intended principally for Red Cross Disaster workers, the manual has found wide acceptance among other groups. Copies may be obtained without charge from the National Headquarters of the Red Cross at 95 Wellesley Street East, Toronto.

Casual purchase...

SHE'S REACHING for some small change — perhaps to pay for a cup of coffee, or some candy, or her favorite magazine. It's the kind of casual purchase we all make every day.

You may not think of your telephone bill in just the same way. Yet the daily cost of telephone service is a "small change" purchase too. The most anybody pays for a home telephone is 18¢ a day; most people pay considerably less.

Measure this cost against the value of your telephone's round-the-clock convenience . . . the way it saves you steps, time, money. Think, too, how its usefulness has grown. You can reach twice as many people as ten years ago; and more telephones are going in all the time.

Few home necessities mean as much as your telephone, or match it for all-round value.

Graduates Find Jobs All Over Continent

Haileybury, Ont. (CP) — The Ontario government operates a school here whose pupils are practically assured of a good job, perhaps even an adventurous job, on graduation.

Graduates of the school now are scattered from Peru to the Yukon.

The school is the Provincial Institute of Mining, which provides practical training in all phases of mining at the sub-university level. Many "big names" in Ontario mining serve on the advisory committee of the school.

They look to it as a source of supply for surveyors, draftsmen, shift bosses, assayers and all the other technical supervisory help.

The big square building on a hill overlooking Lake Temiskaming is an offshoot of mining classes which began in the Haileybury High School in 1912. It was built in 1931 but the school was forced to give it up in 1943 because of expense. The Ontario government re-opened the school in 1945.

Tuition costs about $50 a year and students usually earn enough in summer jobs arranged for them by the mining industry to support themselves during terms. Many work week-ends in the mines.

Have You A Question ON UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE OR EMPLOYMENT?

In this column we publish questions about unemployment insurance and employment, together with answers received from the Unemployment Insurance Commission.

If you are uncertain about any point do not hesitate to send your question to your district Unemployment Insurance office. We will obtain an answer and publish it in this column.

Following are some questions with answers which may be of interest to you: —

Q. I am a retired railway conductor and draw benefits. I plan to spend a winter vacation in Florida. Can I draw benefits while I am there on vacation?

A. You cannot draw benefit in Florida unless you are seeking work and have a U.S. visa entitling you to work there.

* * *

Q. When do you pay us for the nine waiting days?

A. Payment is not made for waiting days at any time. The waiting period may be likened to the $50. or $100. deductible clause in a car insurance policy whereby repairs not exceeding these amounts are absorbed by the car-owner himself. But for this clause there would be a far greater number of claims made with the result that the premium would be much higher. So it is with unemployment insurance. It is reckoned that many persons suffer short periods of unemployment in the course of a year and withstand them without undue disturbance to their standards of living. The waiting days are, therefore, considered in the same light as the $50. or $100. deductible clause. Without this the cost of unemployment insurance to the contributors would be much higher than it is.

* * *

Q. Why do I lose a full day's benefit if I am recalled to the factory and then laid off after two hours work and my earnings for that day are less than my rate of benefit?

A. Because you are not unemployed. You have a job and the fact that your earnings are less than the amount of benefit does not affect the situation. Unemployment insurance is not for the purpose of subsidizing employment when the earnings are low.

From a single steel ingot of 30,000 pounds it is theoretically possible to make 35,000 miles of wire and 200 million small tacks.

Ready for St. Patrick's

Here's Toronto radio tenor Jimmie Shields all togged up for the "wearin' o' the green" on March 17. There'll be a touch of the shamrock in his songs on Sunday night, March 16, when he turns up on his regular page in "Bod's Scrapbook", heard at 10 o'clock on the CBC network. Besides his job with Bod, he has two other weekly programs. He's one of the stars of "Musical Comedy Time", a new Sunday-night show on the CBC at 8; and on Wednesday evenings he has his own show at 7. He is a frequent guest on other programs, too. Irish ballads and modern love songs are only part of his repertoire — he rounds it out with arias and classics.

Lachute Town Council

A building permit for a cement-block residence on Sydney Street was granted to Amedée Normand. Permission was also granted to Bell Telephone Company for the erection of an aerial cable and an underground cable at Brownsburg Road to service the new apartment building in Mountain View.

A donation of $25 was voted to the Boy Scouts' financial appeal.

It was decided, on motion of Ald. Dr. Jules Lafleur, seconded by Ald. W. S. MacKimmie, that all permanent personnel of the town corporation, both present and new employees, be required to undergo examination for tuberculosis once a year at the County Health Unit, and that the Unit submit its report to the Council.

A motion was presented to raise the business tax on potato chip wagons from $25 to $75 per annum, and to order such businesses inspected by the Health Unit once a month and a report returned to Council. Since there could be no revision of the tax until January 1 next, the first part of this motion was withdrawn. The clause referring to inspection of chip wagons was adopted.

A relief case, that of Paul Emile Blais, Filion Street, was brought to attention by the secretary-treasurer, Antonio Laurin, who explained circumstances justifying a reduction in allocations to this family. The secretary stated the budget for this purpose was limited, and this case required revision. It was voted that the relief be reduced to $10 a month in goods, with no extras, until May 1 next, and that Blais be requested to appear before next regular meeting of Council, failing which the grant would be cancelled completely.

The Council adjourned on completion of this full agenda.

Antiques

How to Use Them

"Mommy", said Johnny, "Do we have to go there, it's so stuffy, and it looks too much like a museum".

Johnny gets a "crack" across his posterior section, and off trots "mommy", dragging an outspoken youngster on a visit.

Antiques can be overdone. It is best — unless, of course, you are furnishing your house in an antique design — to keep antiques down to a minimum, because it makes that much less to get broken. Place those that you have in a conspicuous spot so that they will be seen and admired. Do not hide them out of sight; they then become dust-collectors. But give them a new setting, so that they will be admired. This pertains more to what I have called minor furnishings, than major (nick-nacks, figurines, etc.). Every house should have something like that in it, because it will break up the new and contrast it with the old. Naturally you can do this with "modern antiques", which include good china pieces which will become the antiques of the future. Give them a prominent place in your home; they are colorful, attractive and pleasing. Also, put them in a safe place so that small children won't break them.

There is no safe number of antiques. With too many, they become 'cluttery'; with just enough they are attractive. It all depends upon the space which you have at your disposal. One very attractive place for them is a "nick-nack" shelf in the living room. Others might like to create a setting, and hence, plan their home around one figure or piece, and harmonize the rest of the room to that object. Others want to create a dramatic setting and use it for a table-setting piece, then put the piece away.

Next week I will talk about planning a room around a central object.

What Has Religion Done for Mankind ?

THAT question is in the minds of many thinking persons. World conditions today serve to underscore it. Just what has it accomplished? The book entitled "What Has Religion Done for Mankind?" in clear, easy-to-understand language, traces religion from its start many centuries ago down to this very day. The origin, history and development of the various religions, ancient and modern, and their influence upon mankind are discussed. The 352-page book is complete with a subject and Scripture index and illustrations. Available on a contribution of 50 cents. — Write The Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society, 40 Irwin Avenue, Toronto.

Appreciation

That "The Watchman" and "L'Argenteuil" are published this week approximately on schedule, is due to the generous co-operation of Eugene MacDonald and friends of the newspaper fraternity at Alexandria, Ont., to whom we extend warm appreciation.

Following a major mechanical breakdown, two members of our staff transported portions of our two newspapers, and worked all through Wednesday night printing eight pages on the press of "The Glengarry News".

Appreciation is also voiced to local machinists and helpers who worked till 2 o'clock this morning effecting repairs; and to a good neighbor who loaned his truck to transport type and newsprint to Alexandria.

Law Permits No Business Deal Between Corporation And Mayor or Councillor

(Brownsburg — Contributed)

Mr. Justice Paul Casey in the Court of Appeals, when handing down a ruling in which ex-Mayor Fortin of Farnham was disqualified from holding municipal office for five years, commented: "It is no excuse for a member of a municipal council, including a mayor, faced with a law which says he must not have any dealings with the council, to plead he acted with the highest motives or that he made no money out of the transaction."

The law in question was "an effort to assure disinterestedness and to prevent abuses of position", said His Lordship. "I am of the opinion that the existence of a personal interest on the part of a municipal council member, no matter how slight and no matter in what field it operates, is sufficient to affect the detached and objective thinking the member is meant to bring to the solution of the municipality's problems.

"It is no excuse to say that the municipality did not lose anything but actually profited, and that the council member acted in good faith. The moment a council member's activities are brought within the four corners of the statute, no explanation is permitted and no alternative is given to the application of the penalty."

In his plea, ex-Mayor Fortin said that it was a matter of great urgency to insure that a new industry be induced to locate in the town, that a firm in which he was interested had some business dealings with the council.

Be sure that God directs your way; then, hasten to follow under every circumstance.

New Stitching Technique For Home Seamstress

Decorative embroidery touches seen in the New York spring collections and which promise to be high-fashion for spring and summer, can now be duplicated by the home-seamstress. Singer Sewing Centers throughout Canada are offering women who like to sew at home, free instruction on new fashion stitches which can be achieved on the sewing machine without the use of any attachment.

The new stitches being featured include the Heel and Toe design, or Metallic Stitch, the Etching or Ornamental Stitch, the Spiral or Cable Stitch; the Cordonnet, Spark, Boucle and Signature Stitches.

In addition to offering this service, sewing centers throughout Canada offer a complete line of varied colors and different types of thread for creating unusual designs, including a new metallic thread which can be used on the sewing machine.

Sewing center experts explain that to do the new fashion stitches, the home seamstress, using a modern sewing machine merely drops the feed of the machine and removes the presser foot from the sewing machine head. Then the machine is threaded with various types of thread recommended for the different stitches. An ordinary embroidery hoop will hold fabric taut while the machine is stitching.

With the Cordonnet Stitch, for example, Cordonnet thread is used on the machine bobbin and silk thread for upper threading. Then by working on the wrong side of the fabric a running stitch design can be followed. This is particularly effective on sheers since it gives a frosty effect. The Heel and Toe Design when done with metallic thread in gold or silver gives an expensive look to almost any garment. The metallic thread is used on machine bobbin and silk thread in matching color is used for upper threading. This is an especially good design for use without the help of a transfer pattern since the rapid running stitches of the design give an overall decorative effect.

The Spiral or Cable Stitch worked with pearl cotton is used commonly for filling in designs and circles. The Boucle Stitch can be worked with pearl cotton, woollen sock yarn or lace twist on the bobbin and matching-color mercerized or silk for upper threading. The design is filled in by using a continous motion. It is particularly good on terry cloth, woollen, linen and denim fabrics.

The Etching Stitch is very well-suited for use with a transfer design and can be used on both firm fabrics such as linen, and sheer fabrics like nylon and chiffon.

St. Paddy's Day — The Finishing Touch

Begorrah, if it isn't Saint-Paddy's Day again, and it's sure you'll be wantin' to add some Irish charm to your menu. Whether it's a children's party, a bridge tea or just plain family dinner, ten chances to one, desserts will take the spotlight.

The home economists of the Consumer Section suggest using green vegetable coloring to keep the food in the spirit of the day. Petit-fours and cup cakes covered with icing tinted a delicate green are appropriate for any type of menu. Colored or plain cocoanut, green candies and cherries are also effective in decorating. Children will love plain sugar cookies cut in Shamrock design and covered with green icing. Try tinting Blanc Mange or Lemon Snow pale green and top with a rhubarb sauce. This makes an attractive dish which isn't too heavy to serve after a hearty dinner.

Moulded desserts with plenty of eye appeal can be made with lime gelatine. Green sherbets or ice cream may also be served. To give an added party air, top with whipped cream flowers made by beating the cream stiffly and putting it through a decorator's tube. For a very special dessert, why not make a meringue pie crust and fill it with tinted pears or other fruits, or a graham crust with fruited lime jelly topped with whipped cream.

Puddings make a wonderful climax to any meal, any day of the year. They were once considered cold weather fare, but now we have such a variety that many are suitable for warm weather as well. For winter, the heavy puddings are more appropriate, while the lighter, dainty ones are better for summer.

Basic pudding recipes give much scope for imagination and originality. For example, a basic Spanish Cream recipe is very good in its own right but it is also delicious when coffee or orange juice is substituted for half of the liquid. This is a gelatine dessert, incidentally, and does not use cream as the name would imply.

Tapioca Cream is another good dessert, either plain or varied. Honey Tapioca Cream, made by substituting honey for sugar and adding half a cup of cocoanut, is delicious. A little extra tapioca may be needed to make up for the liquid in the honey. Maple, coffee, chocolate and butterscotch are a few of the other interesting flavors.

Custards are a cook's delight! The variations that can be made to the basic recipe are practically endless. To name a few, there are cocoanut, chocolate, marshmallow, rice, caramel, honey, maple, and spice custards. Baked custards are desserts in themselves; soft custards are really sauces to be served with fruits and other desserts.

One of our most inexpensive desserts is Blanc Mange, or Cornstarch Pudding, as it is often called. Made correctly, this dessert is unrivalled in appearance and flavor, and is nutritious as well. It makes a tempting looking dish, moulded and served with colorful fruit garnishes. The amount of cornstarch may be increased slightly to make it thicker for moulding. There will be no difficulty in unmoulding the Blanc Mange, if the mould is rinsed with cold water just before filling.

The perfectly made Blanc Mange should be quivery and jelly-like in consistency. To avoid lumpiness, the milk in the top of the double boiler should be scalding hot when the other ingredients are added. Always make the cornstarch and sugar into a paste with a little cold milk before adding slowly to the hot milk.

Blanc Mange need never be monotonous for here again there are many variations of the basic recipe. For that delicious chocolate flavor, increase the sugar slightly and add cocoa. Cocoanut pudding is good too. A stiffly beaten egg white may be folded in with the shredded cocoanut. It is superb served with crushed fruit or fruit sauce. For a change, use maple syrup instead of sugar or serve a plain Blanc Mange with a maple syrup sauce.

Morrison, followed by the business proceedings, after which an interesting summary of a few chapters of the Study Book was given by Mrs. W. Dubeau. The meeting was closed with prayer by the Rev. P. Busing, after which refreshments were served by the hostess, Mrs. J. D. Sobey.

L'ORIGNAL OUSTS CHUTE-A-BLONDEAU IN FINAL FOR THE LONG SAULT HOCKEY LEAGUE TITLE

Packed House for Exciting Climax

(Our District Correspondent)

Brownsburg — Over 1,200 fans saw L'Orignal take the sixth and final game of the Long Sault League, at the Brownsburg arena on Sunday. This was the largest crowd to date to attend a game at the new rink, pointing up the necessity for further seating accommodation and, when finances permit, an artificial ice-making plant.

The game opened with L'Orignal one game up in their best of seven closing series with Chute à Blondeau. The last two games played on Vankleek Hill ice were split, leaving the count 3 to 2 in favor of L'Orignal.

Chute à Blondeau attacked from the face-off but were held. The play remained in L'Orignal's territory, but the defence was sound and no score resulted. Now down the ice the Chute saved a determined rush, at the expense of a penalty. L'Orignal were soon attacking and after a prolonged siege they got through for a score. A penalty for tripping to L'Orignal — and Chute à Blondeau tried hard to equalize, but were wide — several shots going wide of the nets and becoming a feature of the game, a foretaste of the other periods. Chute à Blondeau attacking — always attacking — but shooting wide again and again. The period ended ragged, with L'Orignal 2, Chute à Blondeau 1.

The second period was slow, with the Chute again all around the goal and shooting the puck behind it. Referee Shore, from Montreal, had difficulty meting out a penalty but at length determined who was the culprit. The officiating was first-class, severe but extremely fair. L'Orignal had the better forwards, but not the better of the play. Shots on goal were in Chute à Blondeau's favor. L'Orignal scored twice in this period without reply.

The last period was fast and some good hockey was on tap. The Chute continued to finish ineptly around the goal, L'Orignal making better use of their opportunities, which were fewer. Chute à Blondeau, with two men off, were forced to concede a score but soon recovered by a neat passing play. The Chute again scored a few minutes later, on a long shot which had the goalie beaten all the way. In the last few minutes of play the Chute goalie saved a hard drive and then dropped the puck into the net, to make L'Orignal easy winners, 6 to 3.

The trophy, a beautiful cup presented in 1949 and won that season by L'Orignal, was presented to L'Orignal for the second time on the ice. Chute à Blondeau won the cup last season. Brownsburg and Calumet, the other teams comprising the league, were beaten in the semi-finals.

Education Week Service

A church service was held in the gymnasium Sunday evening, in conclusion of Education Week. Several hymns were sung by the congregation, but the Glee Club and the Junior Choir each sang a selection as features of the program. The Protestant clergy of Lachute led in the devotions and T. Jamison and K. Trickey read the selections chosen for the evening. The service ended with the benediction by the Rev. W. B. Rosborough.

Lachute vs. Ste. Agathe At Basketball

On Saturday the L.H.S. basketball teams played against Ste. Agathe — Lachute winning both games.

The final score was 51-18 in the girls' game. Ste. Agathe did not show much action in the first quarter. The game started off with B. Bradford scoring, followed by F. Laurin. Soon after B. Bradford tallied again. M. Mitchell "split the mesh" twice, then F. Laurin, and B. Bradford scoring a few minutes later. S. Haylor then broke away from the Lachute guards and tallied Ste. Agathe's first two points of the game. B. Bradford followed her up with a counter for Lachute.

The second quarter was a little more exciting. B. Bell shot in a neat foul, and right after her came P. O'Neil — both scoring for Ste. Agathe. E. Welden put in another shot for Lachute before S. Haylor shot in Ste. Agathe's fourth tally. M. Mitchell scored, followed by B. Bradford with a foul and three baskets in a row. B. Bell ended the first half with a foul shot for Ste. Agathe.

At the beginning of the third quarter M. Mitchell threw the ball, which encircled the ring before it fell in, relieving the tension of the team. J. Sloan and B. Bell scored right after, for Ste. Agathe. J. Goldthorpe then tallied for Lachute — M. Mitchell, E. Welden and M. Mason each scoring, to raise the points still higher. B. Bradford shot two baskets in succession and S. Haylor ended the third quarter with a basket for Ste. Agathe.

S. Haylor also started off the last quarter with a shot. B. Bradford tallied for Lachute right after, and J. Goldthorpe sank the ball four times in a row before S. Haylor ended the game with a basket for Ste. Agathe.

The Lachute boys won by a score of 38-21. Bill Steeves got the game off to a good start for Lachute with two baskets. B. Golphin, B. Duncan and B. Golphin, again, set the score still higher, with two points each. L. Kyle put in Ste. Agathe's first basket. One of their players had a foul, which was

Grenville Consolidated School News

By Willis Young

A successful concert was held in the school on Friday evening, March 7, when the Kilmar Home and School Association presented a three-act comedy entitled "Lena Rivers". While we do not wish to single out any one actor, we make mention in particular of Marvin Moncrieff and June MacLeod, pupils of this school. As the actors portrayed their parts extremely well, there were no dull moments for the audience. This was among the better concerts seen in this community, and congratulations are extended to those who participated. The cast included:

Mrs. Livingstone (Pearl Comba); Mr. Livingstone (James Bates); John Junior (Marvin Moncrieff); Caroline Livingstone (Glenna MacLeod); Anna Livingstone (Mary Reid); Mrs. Graham (Violet Pudden); Mr. Graham (K. Schieffer); Durward Belmont (Victor Thorburn); Malcolm Everett (Omar Smith); Granny Nichols (Gert Brown); Aunt Milly (Flo Kirby); Old Caesar (Fred Gauley); and Lena Rivers (June MacLeod).

taken by B. Cook who raised Lachute's score by a point. J. Sioui ended the first quarter with a basket for Ste. Agathe.

B. Cook shot the first basket of the second quarter for Lachute. A little later A. Liboiron threw in a foul shot and J. Tang tallied for Ste. Agathe. B. Duncan broke up their scoring with a good shot, followed by Steeves. T. Cole ended the second quarter with a basket, bringing Ste. Agathe's score to 9.

Lachute was not very busy in the third quarter. A. Liboiron put in a basket first and then two foul shots. B. McMahon followed with a foul shot for Lachute. B. Cook got Lachute's only basket. A. Liboiron broke away from the centre line and scored for Ste. Agathe, followed by P. Tang, who made the last basket for that quarter.

Ste. Agathe was catching up, so Lachute put on a spurt and did most of the scoring in the last quarter. B. Duncan started off right with a score, but M. Cloutier shot one in on a jump, before Lachute guards could halt him. After hectic passing in front of the basket, B. Duncan finally put the ball in the mesh. B. Golphin was next scorer for Lachute. B. Duncan put in a neat shot from the quarter line. Soon after B. Golphin scored two baskets, followed by B. McMahon and V. Pattee. In the last-minute scramble of the game, B. McMahon scored a basket and A. Liboiron got Ste. Agathe's last two points.

Lachute hopes to go to Ste. Agathe soon to enjoy another exciting game.

Legion and Auxiliaries Stage Bowling Contest

Bowling was a highlight of the Legion program Saturday night, when Brownsburg were the guests of Lachute, with the two branch Auxiliaries taking part.

There were two men's and two ladies' teams from each branch — Lachute men taking the lead with a gross score of 6948 against 6933, making it a very exciting finish.

The Brownsburg ladies won with a big lead of 588 points, the score being 5884 pins to 5296.

The Brownsburg Legion and Auxiliary were later entertained at the Lachute Memorial Hall, where dancing and a social evening was enjoyed.

The Lachute branch have been invited by the Brownsburg Legion to play a broomball match next Friday at the Brownsburg Arena.

Church Bowling League Reaches Semi-Finals

Down-the-stretch games of the Lachute United Church Bowling League are now under way. Two very close and well-played contests were witnessed Tuesday night, when the Ladies' Aid and Red Cross B, skipped by Mrs. H. Scott and Mrs. J. G. Lamontagne respectively, played to a neck-and-neck climax, when the former team just came through with a 6-5 victory. The boys' team (Thistles), skipped by Bobby Armstrong, gave Les Thompson's foursome quite a battle, being all tied up at the end of the regular games, only to be defeated by 2 points in the extra end, making a win of 11 to 9 for St. David's.

The first four teams in the league standing concluded their play-offs, total scores counting, when the Y.P.U. team (Catherine Gauley) had a commanding lead of 18 to 13 against The Raps (L. W. Hammond). The W.M.S. Blues (Mrs. Olive Riddell) also came through with honors, defeating Herb Graham's S.S. Teachers 26 to 9.

The semi-finals will be held next Tuesday at 7.30 p.m., with the line-up as follows:

W.M.S. Blues vs. St. David's.
Ladies' Aid vs. Y.P.U.

On Tuesday, March 25, the finals will be played, after the closing annual dinner. All members are urged to keep this date in mind.

How little do they see what really is, who frame their hasty judgment upon that which seems.

"Kiddies' Night" at Brownsburg Arena

Youngsters Acclaim N.H.L. Star Visitors. 'Burg Jrs. Beat Montreal Team

Brownsburg — It was "kids' night" in Brownsburg on Tuesday, when Boom-Boom Geoffrion and Dollard St. Laurent, of the N.H.L. Canadiens line-up, refereed the game between the Brownsburg Junior Bombers and the Pennsylvania Hotel, which Brownsburg won, 10-6.

Boom-Boom and Dollard endeared themselves to the crowd by signing autographs and talking to the children. Miss Marlene Morenz, daughter of Howie Morenz, who will be marrying Boom-Boom in May, and Miss Jessie Fitzpatrick, who becomes the bride of Dollard in April, were also busy with the pen. Both boys said this was one of the finest crowds they had been in this year, and that they would be more than pleased to return again next year.

René Ouellette is carrying a rather painful memento of Geoffrion; when this sharp Rookie took a stick between periods and was making a few shots at René, one slapshot hit him on the arm — and he knows now why Boom-Boom is rated one of the most dangerous shots of the N.H.L.

A real welcome was tendered to R. Nolin, former hotelman here, who in a few words after the game congratulated Brownsburg on their fine rink and sportsmanship.

The Brownsburg Junior Bombers made a surprise presentation to John Duncan, who had given much time, gratis, to refereeing their games in and outside of Brownsburg. The small token consisted of an ornamental electric clock. The occasion found John without words — which in itself was significant.

R. Gervais, of Brownsburg Hotel, kindly provided supper for the players at his establishment after the game. Gerry Ouellette and Bill Tessier deserve recognition for their time and effort to make this evening a success.

Dickie Moore was unable to come as advertised, because of knee injuries which landed him in hospital.

Juniors Triumph Over Montreal Line-Up

The game itself opened with Jacques Racine scoring the first goal on a pass from Bill Hewitt; a few seconds later Jacques again scored. Following a change of lines, M. Charlebois scored on a solo effort, followed by another, assisted by Clement. The line changed again, and André Ouellette scored on a play from Racine and Hewitt, while Hewitt made the next tally, a solo. The final play saw a goal by Clement while André Ouellette was in the penalty box for boarding. Pennsylvania Hotel could not score in the first period against the Juniors, who really showed some nice style and speed considering the softness of the ice.

The second period saw two more goals scored for Brownsburg, Clement on a pass from Robitaille, and Racine on a play by Hewitt and Ouellette. Clement also received a penalty. The visitors scored twice in this period.

In the third period, which was played without rest, René Ouellette left his nets to change places with the spare goalie, E. Joly. While this was going on Cousineau covered the nets, and even at this time the visitors could not score against the Juniors. Joly came into the nets; the play became a little keener, and the visitors were able to beat him for four goals before the period ended.

Nearly 900 fans attended the game. In two weeks' time the Juniors will be playing a return match at the Forum.

Electricity Rate Reduction for Ayersville; Ch.of Commerce Plans Visit to Paper Mills

"Industry and Commerce in Lachute"

Contributed by Lachute Chamber of Commerce

Power Rates Reduced for Ayersville Customers

Ayersville residents will learn with satisfaction that their Council have secured an appreciable reduction in electricity rates for residential, commercial and industrial purposes. The new rates become effective April 1. . . This is one advantage, among many others, directly attributable to the recent incorporation of this community.

The Chamber of Commerce warmly commends the efforts of the Ayersville mayor and council, who with the co-operation of Rod Carreau, manager of Gatineau Power (and a valuable member of the Chamber) have effected this benefit for Ayersville consumers.

Lachute Represented at Television Trade Show

At the Eastern Canada All-Electric Show, a trade exhibit of electric and radio appliances held last week in the Commerce Building in Montreal — Lachute was well represented with a display by Messrs. Lacoste and Ampleman who have the sales franchise in Eastern Canada for J. H. Keeney Inc. television equipment.

This Chicago firm arranged an attractive booth (see photograph in this issue) displaying television cabinet and table models, with the company's chief engineer, John Jellen, Messrs. Gaston Ampleman (of L'Abord à Plouffe, formerly of Lachute), Germain Lacoste and their installation technician, Jos. Berniquer, both of Lachute.

On a tip from one of our members, Geo. Beaulieu, two representatives of the Lachute Chamber of Commerce took occasion to visit this show and to congratulate the new dealers on their enterprising venture. Mr. Jellen, the company engineer, informd our representatives that approximately 65,000 circulars on the Keeney television equipment had already been distributed during the exhibition, with the Lachute address clearly printed on this literature.

It is now a question — and a possibility—whether our two local businessmen in due course may persuade the Keeny Company to operate an assembly plant this side of the border — even to establish such a plant in Lachute!

Publicity in Toronto And Vancouver

Léopold Carrière, ex-Mayor of Lachute, is at present attending a conference of the Ontario Lumber Dealers Association, as a delegate in his capacity as president of the National Retail Lumbermen's Council of Canada.

On March 24-25 Mr. Carrière will be in Vancouver, in this same capacity, to address the 1952 convention of the B.C. Lumber Survey Ltd.

These representations are all to the advantage of Lachute, bringing this community into wider prominence; and we are confident that Mr. Carrière, whose loyalty and civic pride are a by-word among his friends, will make good use of the opportunity to publicize this town for its industrial progress and its attractions as a tourist centre.

Other speakers with Léopold Carrière at this convention will be Dr. C. D. Orchard, Deputy Minister of Lands and Forests for B.C., and Howard T. Mitchell, publisher, author and former president of the Vancouver Board of Trade. Mr. Carrière will therefore be in distinguished company.

Coming Events

The next industrial tour, monthly event arranged for Chamber members and friends, will be a visit to the J. C. Wilson Ltd. Paper Mills, on Wednesday next, March 26, at 3 p.m.

The following day, March 27 at 7 p.m., the monthly dinner meeting will be held at Hotel Laurentien; speaker will be Mr. Nolin Trudeau.

BANK OF MONTREAL 'AT HOME' TO PUBLIC; PREMISES MODERNIZED

A large number of customers and friends were guests last Saturday afternoon of the Bank of Montreal, to view the renovations just completed in its premises, with facilities for greater satisfaction and efficiency in its public contacts. The interior of the Bank building on Main Street is bright and attractive. A large extension to the rear affords space and height suggestive of a metropolitan branch, and this expansion may be rated with some pride as an indication of Lachute's growing importance.

Manager Donald M. Hay, with Mrs. Hay and the staff, welcomed the many visitors. Two officials from the Bank's head office were also on hand to meet the public — Mr. T. C. Bowen, assistant general manager, with Mrs. Bowen, also Mr. F. S. Harrison, superintendent of the Quebec Division, and Mrs. Harrison.

Flowers decorated the premises, and refreshments were served to the large gathering which visited the Bank between the hours of three and five p.m. — ladies of the Legion Auxiliary being responsible for the catering.

Mr. and Mrs. Hay were host and hostess at a reception in the Legion Hall later in the afternoon.

Notary Valois Speaker At Genealogical Society

Notary Gaetan Valois was a speaker recently at the French-Canadian Genealogical Society, at its 87th general meeting held in the Montreal municipal library.

In a humorous vein, Mr. Valois entertained the large audience with impressions of a rural "family notary". He compared the role of the rural and the urban notary, and remarked that notarial records fall short of historical value until they reach back into a "forgotten century". Beyond that age they become a documentary treasure — a wealth of great depth, at the bottom of which there is a headache of research.

Mr. Valois was introduced by J.-Alfred Perreault, president of the Genealogical Society.

Regular Meeting of Central School Board

The March meeting of the Central School Board was held last week in Lachute High School, with W. M. Cottingham, M.L.A., occupying the chair.

The local board of Rouge River attended this meeting for the purpose of obtaining approval of the Central Board for construction of a six-classroom school to be located near Bell Falls. It was explained that they must necessarily obtain the approval of the Superintendent of Education. This was of first importance and had precedence over such approval as was necessary from the Central Board.

Geo. Y. Deacon, who was present at this session, reported that he had attended the last meeting of the Protestant Committee of he Council of Education, and that no action had been taken with regard to the recommendation of the Legislative Sub-Committee regarding the reduction of the tax-rate for the local Board of Montcalm for the year 1950-51.

The committee for the engagement of teachers reported that the work of re-engaging teaching staffs for the coming year was progressing satisfactorily.

FOOLED AGAIN !

No sooner had we printed our inside pages, with an editorial on the evils of mud-splashing, than the heavens deluged the landscape Wednesday night with a heavy snowfall — and there was no more mud in sight!

We got caught the same way last year, and resolved thereafter to avoid all editorial reference to the weather.

It seems, however, that our plea to slap-happy motorists will be still more appropriate when this snow turns to slush (if it hasn't already!).

Music and Charms at Lions Club Meeting

The members of Lachute Lions Club were entertained at their regular meeting Tuesday evening by the "teachers' quartet" of Lachute and Brownsburg, a well balanced vocal group who sang four selections in rich harmony. The various moods of their songs were well interpreted, drawing warm applause. The quartet comprises Mrs. Leonard Armstrong, contralto; Miss Jocelyn Wickenden, soprano; King Amos, tenor; Shirley E. McKyes, baritone.

Mr. McKyes led the community singing in a spirited version of "Old McDonald", of his own invention, and altogether this musical evening was a pleasant variation from the regular program routine.

President George Tattersfield occupied the chair, and the visiting entertainers were thanked by Gaetan Valois.

Lion Tattersfield and Lion E. Snadden reported on a Zone 12 meeting which they had attended at St. Lambert, Que. — one gratifying observation being that Lachute stands highest in its percentage of attendance at club meetings. Three new branches of the club have been inaugurated in this Zone, at Granby, Farnham and Ville LaSalle.

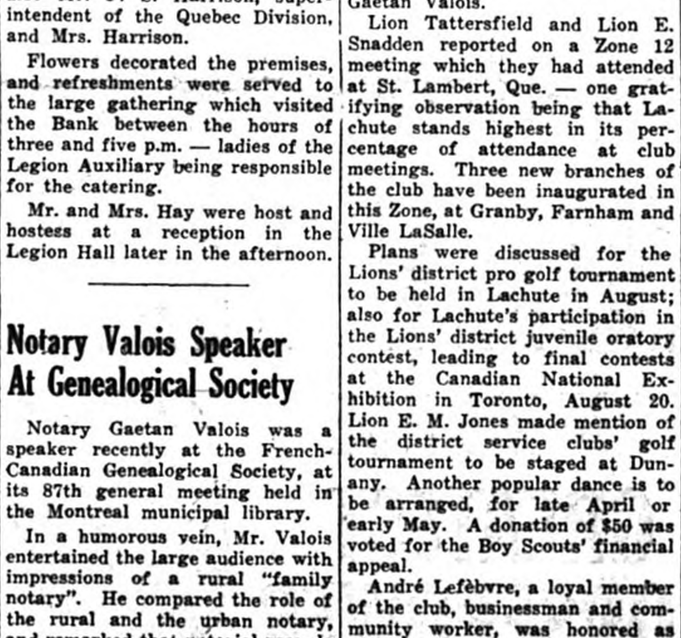

Plans were discussed for the Lions' district pro golf tournament to be held in Lachute in August; also for Lachute's participation in the Lions' district juvenile oratory contest, leading to final contests at the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto, August 20. Lion E. M. Jones made mention of the district service clubs' golf tournament to be staged at Dunany. Another popular dance is to be arranged, for late April or early May. A donation of $50 was voted for the Boy Scouts' financial appeal.

André Lefèbvre, a loyal member of the club, businessman and community worker, was honored as Lion of the Day — Ian Gordon doing the honors as biographer.

The meeting was held as usual at the former Joly Hotel — now the Hotel Laval.

Detectives Investigate Week-end Crime at R. A. Beamish Store

Town police officers were called Monday morning on discovery of a safe robbery at the R. A. Beamish Store on Main Street.

It was found on opening the store that the premises had been broken into by way of a window in the basement. The intruders had reached the safe, which is kept in a stockroom at the back of the new store extension, and had rolled it to the rear of the premises. There they had chiselled open the steel safe and emptied it of its cash contents. Police Chief D. Villeneuve expressed the opinion that the robbery was the work of "professionals", and that footprints in the snow indicated the job had been done during Sunday night.

The case was handed over to detectives of the Provincial Police.

YOUNG SPEAKERS EXCEL IN SCHOOL DISTRICT ORATORY COMPETITION

Contestants from four county schools — Brownsburg, Arundel, Grenville and Lachute — were heard in a public speaking competition Friday evening in Lachute High School. This was the first such event sponsored by the Argenteuil-Two Mountains Teachers' Association. Eleven pupils gave a creditable account of themselves in an adventure which, to many far older in years and experience, would have proved a major ordeal.

The Rev. Horace G. Baugh, of Morin Heights, was chairman — introduced by Principal A. McGerrigle, of Grenville, committeeman of the Teachers' Association. The audience, not large in numbers, was nevertheless representative of the youth, parents and teachers of the district. Judges were Mrs. A. Taylor, W. M. Steeves and Wesley Freeland, who ranked the competitors on points of Modulation, Enunciation, Voice, Impressiveness and Stance.

The eleven competitors, classed in two sections, junior and senior, were given a choice of subjects. All the speeches showed careful preparation, and in no case was there evidence of stage-fright or undue nervousness. They displayed keen memorizing, in some cases delivering their three-minute talks without reference to notes. An outstanding asset was the self-confidence displayed by these young speakers; while their most notable detriment (in our reporter's opinion) was lack of expression — their rigid posture and unbroken narration making for a monotony which detracted somewhat from the force of their remarks. The performance, however, was highly creditable.

Juniors

1st, Olive Pollock (Lachute); 2nd, Judy Langille (Lachute); 3rd, Lenora Eastwood (Grenville).

Seniors

1st, Helen McMahon (Lachute); 2nd, Paul Zsombor (Brownsburg); 3rd Willis Young (Grenville).

The other competitors received merit awards. The complete list of entrants, and their topics, was as follows:

Junior Section

Sandra Waters ("What Every Girl Should Know").
Lenora Eastwood (ditto).
Judy Langille (ditto).
Lorna Clark ("Alberta, the Texas of Canada").
Ethel Saxbourg (ditto).
Olive Pollock (ditto).
Morris Rathwell ("The First Canadian Governor General").
Jean Beaven ("Girl Guiding").

Senior Section

Paul Zsombor ("Modern Dairy Farming").
Helen McMahon ("The First Canadian Governor-General").
Willis Young (ditto).

Chairman the Rev. Horace Baugh, and Mr. Wesley Freeland speaking on behalf of the judges, gave some enlightening remarks on the art of public speaking. "Never has so much been said by so many in such short time", said the former, pharaphrasing an immortal contemporary quotation. Mr. Freeland highly commended this new venture as an encouragement to self-confidence in our future young citizens. "Knowledge without action is useless. And it is essential to develop confidence, for without self-confidence there can be no action". Miss Elizabeth Stanton, of the L.H.S. teaching staff, presented the trophies and prizes — the Rev. Baugh being the donor of a handsome trophy for the senior section.

TWO LOCAL MISHAPS YOUNGSTERS CRASHED THROUGH RIVER ICE

Incidents Impress Seasonal Danger Of Thawing Ice

At the rear of a house on the North River bank, near Joly's Hotel, the four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Brown broke through the ice on Monday afternoon. The child was seen clutching to the jagged ice by Phileas Mallette, who was crossing the west-end bridge. Mallette rushed to the spot, but the boy had meanwhile dragged himself to safety.

Two young east-enders, Ian Vessie and Peter Riddell, were out skiing, unaccompanied, on the James property across the river east of Lachute, last Saturday afternoon. The boys, both eight years of age, were to be joined by Ian's parents, but had been instructed to await them before crossing the river. Young Ian and Peter started to ski up the frozen creek, but at a point where the creek joins the river, Ian crashed through thin ice and was up to his armpits in deep water, in a hole four feet across. Mr. and Mrs. Vessie arrived later on the scene and saw evidence of the narrow escape, from which Peter Riddell had helped his young companion to safety. Young Vessie was taken home and put to bed, suffering no ill effects from his misadventure.

Art Exhibition Planned at St. Eustache, April 4-6

Open to Amateurs And Professionals In This District

The Art Guild of the County of Two Mountains is staging its first annual exhibition, April 4-5-6, in the town hall at St. Eustache-sur-le-Lac.

Miss Irene Adshead, who has conducted art sessions here at Lachute High School, visited Lachute this week and expressed a hope that amateurs from this district, both school-children and adults, will be well represented with exhibits at the show — of which Miss Adshead is one of the active organizers. She stated that Philippe Valois, M.P., is an honorary patron of the Art Guild, which includes a membership of professionals and amateurs in art, and commercial artists.

Admission to the exhibition is free; it is also understood there is no fee for entry of exhibits, which may include drawings, paintings, sculptures, etc. There will be prizes for juvenile exhibitors, awarded on the merit of their entries.

It is hoped that further details will be available for publication next week, as this project will doubtless interest many art-minded residents in Lachute, Brownsburg, St. Andrews and district.

The Canadian birth rate is 26.9 per 1,000 persons. The death rate is 9.2.

Looking Back Over 60 Years

with J. S. GILES Our Veteran Publisher and Proprietor

With the inauguration of "L'Argenteuil", so cordially received by the French-speaking community last week, and marking another milestone — the 55th anniversary of his proprietorship of The Watchman — Mr. J. S. Giles has penned the following article for our readers.

MANY YEARS AGO the inhabitants of a village in this good old County took upon themselves the responsibility of becoming an incorporated town — and today Lachute, that well founded community, is on its way to becoming a city. . .

Through the past 60 years we have seen its steady growth, from the village to a town of distinction; and as we shortly will be passing our 60th year since settling in this country, we feel it an appropriate time to pause for a backward look at some of the men who gave color and vitality to our good Town of Lachute.

Most of these columns are concerned with the history of the institutions and businesses that comprise Lachute and its environs. The function of a newspaper, as we see it, is a trust to the whole community, imposing a high obligation to lend itself to the public service. And we hope therefore that these reminiscences may bring into focus, a period of life here that is of inspiring value. But we look beyond that — to a service that is more difficult to define, to the hope that out of this will come a sharper realization of your affection, loyalty and duty to this little corner of Canada, in the fair Province of Quebec.

When our ancestors came to Lachute in the latter part of last century they came to an almost trackless wilderness. The forest had to be cleared for planting grain, and the grain ground into flour for food and carried into market. This necessitated living on or near a navigable stream or river — the first settlements being built along the Ottawa River. As with other towns in this section of the province, the story of Lachute is a story of faith and sacrifice on the part of its people — faith that impelled men in the early days to journey to the then distant centres and hew out of the dense forest their future homes.

There are many thought associations which may be called upon at will, and which carry with them a mellowing influence as we reflect upon the early days of struggle and hardship. Happy is he who fosters, within his inner being, memories which enable him to enjoy what these thoughts and recollections have to offer; and my only tinge of regret is that my helpmate through the 52 years of sunshine and showers was not here to participate in this our Jubilee. I know that I could not have made the grade had it not been for her gracious and kindly encouragement all along the line. And now, in retiring years, it is a great pleasure to me to know that the business, which started with very modest beginnings, has so far progressed that we have been privileged to launch a new paper called "L'Argenteuil", serving specially the French-Canadian interests of our citizenry.

With the recent completion of our new plant, in which to better serve the public, we cannot refrain from taking a backward look to the time of our first arrival in Lachute, whose population then numbered around 2,000. No paved streets, just wooden, uneven sidewalks; oil lamps and lanterns, which were then the order of the day; but it was not long after that waterworks and electric lights made their appearance; in more recent years the old stores have undergone a complete change, and there have been steady improvements all along the line.

Enlarging somewhat on the story told in my 50th anniversary number, I take this opportunity of referring to our French-Canadian citizenry, who have always worked in kindly interest with myself. Especially do I remember the many kindnesses extended by the Bedard family, who assisted me greatly in my early struggles, and gave me great encouragement. Mr. Bedard was among the first French-Canadians to settle in Lachute. It was in 1861 that he came as a young lad to learn the trade of shoe-making. He boarded with Alex McGibbon, who ran a tanning factory on the property now occupied by the Bank of Nova Scotia.

Major Power Break Follows Snowstorm

Heavy snowfall during Wednesday night and Thursday morning caused a break in Gatineau Power Company's main transmission lines between Farmer's Falls and Calumet, which interrupted the electric supply in this area around 10.30 a.m. Many industries, restaurants and other businesses were paralyzed without light or power to continue their operations. The circuit was restored at 1 p.m.

(Any delay in delivery of the Gilles newspapers may be attributed to this unfortunate circumstance on publication day).

NF'D HISTORY RECALLED, 10th PROVINCE SEEN AS LAND OF "FIRSTS"

Rev. S. J. Pike, Native Newfoundlander, Gives Topic at Rotary Club

The Rev. S. J. Pike addressed the Rotary Club at its meeting last week in Brownsburg, speaking on "Canada's Newest Province — Britain's Oldest Colony".

Himself a native of Newfoundland, the Rev. Mr. Pike mentioned with pride the fact that he is a direct descendant of the first white person born in the province. Further tracing the history of his native Newfoundland, the speaker recalled that the island was discovered by John Cabot in 1497, sailing from Bristol in his ship the "Matthew" and landing at what is now Bonavista. Annexed by Britain in 1583, the ownership of the island was disputed for the next hundred years, till it was ceded to Britain by the Treaty of Utrecht in 1713.

Originally, the settlement in Newfoundland consisted of a collection of widely scattered fishing villages where there was little law and order, till a judicial system was established by the British government in 1615. The speaker noted that in the 350 years of the island's history, it has never produced a native criminal, and there have been no divorces. The population is predominantly of English, Scottish, Irish and Welsh origin. There are no native Indians.

Recently, Newfoundland has undergone great change. The war and confederation have drawn it closer to Canada and the United States. Having had its prosperity curbed by unfortunate legislation prior to confederation, the province is now "coming into its own", with more industry and a higher standard of living.

Commenting on the odd place names, Mr. Pike explained that such names as Heart's Desire, Horse Chops, Topsail, and Misery Point, reflect the moods and the life of the inhabitants.

Due partly to its geographic position, Newfoundland is a land of "firsts". It was Britain's first colony; it enjoyed the first courts of justice to be established in the New World in 1516. It stood at one end of the first trans-Atlantic cable, the first wireless message, and the first non-stop trans-Atlantic flight. The first book written in the New World was written in Newfoundland; the institution of Daylight Saving Time was first used in North America in Newfoundland, in 1917. More recently, the Atlantic Charter was signed on a ship in Newfoundland waters.

The Rev. Mr. Pike was introduced by Beresford Bourne and thanked by Donald Steen. One guest, Jack MacKimmie, attended the weekly meeting.

Hawkesb'y Flying Club Had Successful Year

Hawkesbury—The annual meeting of the Hawkesbury Flying Club was held last Friday, at which the financial statement for the year 1951 showed the Club to be in a sound position.

During the past year 12 pilots were trained, among whom was Miss Claire Vinette, of Alfred, Ont., who recently received her private pilot's license — this being the first pilot's license under the Government Subsidy Training Plan to be issued to a lady in the Hawkesbury district.

Although the Club has been kept open during the winter months for recreational flying, training was suspended since last November. It is expected that flying training will be resumed as soon as airfield conditions permit, following the usual break-up. Several new students are expected to enroll for courses which will begin on or about May 1, and it is hoped that at least 30 new members will be enrolled as training gets into full swing.

The Club is planning to hold the Sixth Annual Air Show early in the summer; June 29 has been set as a tentative date. The program has not been planned as yet, but there are good prospects of obtaining assistance from other flying clubs, in addition to the R.C.A.F. Every effort will be made to improve the show this year. It is also possible that a demonstration of a mass parachute jump may be put on by a paratroop detachment.

That Electricity Bill

Electricity is a unique commodity in that it is always ready for us to use at the flick of a switch and yet we have to pay only for the exact amount we use, be it large or small. Furthermore, electricity is paid for after it is used — in other words it is bought on credit.

True, many things are bought on credit these days. A farmer may buy his feed and pay for it later. A housewife may shop in a department store and pay the bill at the end of the month. A car driver may have a credit card from an oil company so that he gets his gas when he needs it and pays for it later. In each case, however, once the purchase is made, the bill comes in even if the material isn't actually used until long after.

The only difference between electricity and these and many other items purchased on credit is that with electricity a substantial quantity has to be made available to reach the customer in case he needs it and yet he pays only for what he actually uses. He never pays one month for power he isn't going to use until the next month.

One thing that is exactly the same in the purchase of electricity and in the purchase of anything else on credit is that the power company must be paid for the service it provides or else, inevitably, it has to go out of business. The faster bills are paid when they become due, the better the service which the electricity company can give to its customers because the electricity company has to pay its bills too — and its bills run into millions of dollars a year.

By law an electricty bill is supposed to be paid within 15 days from the date it is sent to the customer. By law, if it is not paid within that time, the power company is supposed to wait another six days of grace and then disconnect the service. No power company likes to go around cutting off the service of late paying customers; but the fact remains that every power company — like every other company or individual — must be paid for its product or it can no longer exist.

"LOOKING BACK OVER 60 YEARS"
with J. S. Giles, Our Veteran Publisher

In those days there were only a few families, the Rodrigues, Brunettes, Belairs, Mayers, Belangers, Giroulx, Gagniers, Paquettes, Poiriers and St. Jacques. Their religious life was a visit once a month from Vicaire Dubois of St. André. Their meeting place was in the old Walker school-house in the East Ward, which was built in 1810 by order of the Lieutenant-Governor and situated about 1½ miles above the falls. There in 1856 the new school (later known as the armoury) was erected, in rear of Mr. Geo. Creswell's present home in the East Ward. The teacher was John B. Ely, of Beech Ridge. He had 40 pupils and a salary of £50 a year (with washing and mending). The little school-house was rented by Mr. Walker to the French for Sunday service. Having no pews, it was learned that a number were for sale at a church across the river, and Mr. Bedard, with Messrs. Desjardins and Laurin of Vide Sac, drove over and purchased the pews for $1.00 each. These served for a while, but later came the urge to build a church of their own. The pews were auctioned to the highest bidder and a nucleus of $300 was raised. This was quite a big project for about 14 families — but the present generation knows little of the hardships of those earlier days.

The only road to St. Andrews, in the forties, was by way of Beech Ridge, and in reading over the diary of Mr. James Henderson, who lived near the McGibbon saw-mill, he stated the only buildings where Lachute is now situated were the grist and saw mill, two or three houses — one occupying the site of Dr. Christie's home, one at Rev. John Mackie's and another at Walker's. Mr. Henderson gave a rather graphic description of an election that occurred in the early forties (as recorded in Thomas' History of Argenteuil). Among the incidents he relates that one of the candidates had a barrel of whiskey rolled to the place of polling, the liquor being served in a wooden pail, supplied with a tin cup, and carried around so that everyone could help themselves.

Those of the younger folk know little of the struggles with which the early pioneers of this country were faced in the settlement of this thriving community; and so, in reminiscent mood, I wish to recall its early history and portray a brief picture of its development.

It is but natural that the younger generation of this town take pride in the attainment of modernized stores and factories, fine highways and up-to-the-minute improvements; but we are now living in an age in which there has been a greater material development than has taken place in any similar space of time in past ages. This, however, must not let us feel conceited, for we never know just how much we owe to those who laid the foundation, moral and otherwise, and who have since passed on.

In 1796, the earliest period from which we may date this settlement, Hezekiah Clark emigrated from Jericho, Vt., and settled in the parish with a family of five (3 sons and 2 daughters). At this time Lachute was an entire wilderness, and it was not until after two years that he was joined by a further six families from the same place. He was obliged to convey his wife on an Indian sled from St. Andrews to Lachute, and they had to sleep under a cover of branches until they made themselves a hut to provide shelter.

It was in the year 1800 that the first day-school was started, with some 20 to 35 scholars, the school house being built down by the falls in the West End. In 1803 emigration had increased, but the settlers suffered great privations. To get their grain to St. Andrews mill, they had to build their own boats at each portion of the North River which was then navigable, and on reaching the rapids, had to portage and carry the grain on their backs, and use the same expedient on their return. At this early period, their nearest market place was St. Eustache, to which there was no direct road — until one Uriah McNeil, one of the early settlers, having lost his cows, a search party later reached a French settlement at Cote St. Louis, and found a new road to Montreal. By 1809 the first Scotch settler, Lieut.-Col. Thos. Barron, arrived and the Americans gave way to making potash, which was sold in Montreal.

The first bridge to be erected over the North River was White's Bridge, in the year 1825, when the first post-office was established. In 1836 Mr. Barron built the second bridge, at his own expense, and later Fish's Bridge was built in the West End. In 1843 the parish bore the name of Lachute, and Governor-General Sir Charles Metcalfe had it changed to St. Jerusalem.

This is a brief background in order that you may derive a sense of appreciation of the early struggles. The story of how the modest little acorn grows in to the sturdy oak has been brought forcibly home to our community through the splendid development of our farming and industrial activity that has taken place during the last 60 years.

Perhaps the most outstanding example of our industrial growth has been that of Ayers Limited. In 1870 Messrs. Felix Hamelin and Thomas Ayers established a little carding and woollen mill on the banks of the North River for the manufacture of tweeds and yarns, where now has grown the massive blocks of buildings, that are still being added to in order to keep pace with the ever-growing demand of their business.

A little incident worth recording, was told me by the late H. Hammond some years ago. At the time of selling power rights to Messrs. Hamelin & Ayers, he also had a visit from Col. Bye, of Bytown (Ottawa) and together they tramped the bush for suitable locations and returned to the house about noon. Mrs. Hammond having no butter on hand, secured a large bottle and filled it with good rich milk and it was not long before there was sufficient butter to fill their needs.

In the early days their trading was largely of a local nature, blankets and etoffes being their principal product, the yarns and tweeds becoming a large part of their expanding business. Quality has always been the distinctive pride of their products and the name of Ayers Limited is now known most favorably in the world markets.

Another firm which has done much to build up our community is that of the J. C. Wilson Paper Company, which has been established in Lachute since 1880. It was in June of that year that the first excavations were made and the fall of the year found them well established.

The Dominion Shuttle Company is another industry that has grown from very small beginnings, dating back to its founder John Hope, afterwards being taken over by the late E. F. Ayers and later by his son, Gilbert. This firm, while still providing shuttles, cross-arms and insulator pins, etc., is also turning out vast quantities of plywood and veneer for the ever-growing trade.

Another of our earlier businesses was that known as the Victoria Foundry, operated by T. McOuat and John McRae. With the mills of Ayers and Wilson's, they were given the opportunity to work out new mechanical improvements and to design new machinery, so that their name is known far and wide. The foundry and extensive machine shop is now operated by Arthur McOuat and his son, Gordon.

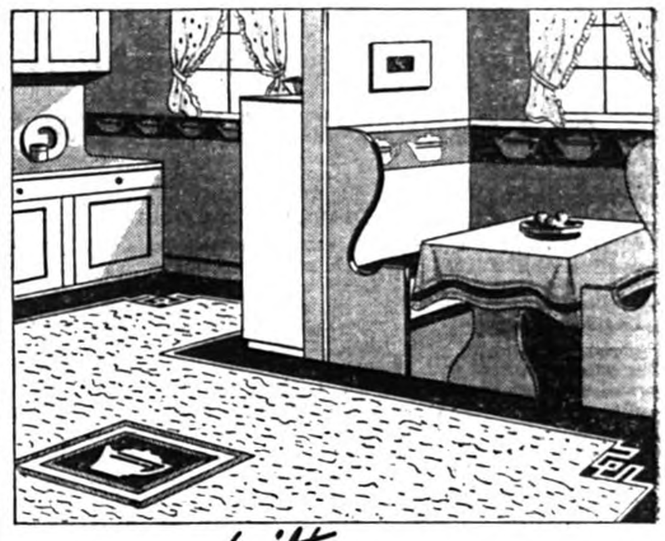

The lumber firm of P. and A. McGibbon is also one of long standing, and a number of our younger business men in all branches are carrying on in a manner to reflect the business acumen of their forebears. . . One such firm is that of Lachute Lumber & Millwork Ltd., and another, Lachute Creamery Ltd. which, starting in a very modest way years ago, has extended and modernized its premises to cope with a large and increasing business. The Lamarche sons are emulating the progressive example of their late father. . . Also among the older-established businesses, John McFaul is still active in the John McFaul & Son store, which is transformed beyond recognition from its early beginnings. . . And there are others, whose early business activities are interwoven with the very roots of this community.

During the breakdown experienced by The Watchman and L'Argenteuil last week, we were reminded of a somewhat similar incident some 59 years before, when working for Calder Bros. It too, was Wednesday night, and the last form was being brought downstairs; but it had been soaked with water, and it was taken out on the street, and papers were burned to dry it out. A sudden gust of wind blew the fire onto Ken Davidson's trousers — a frantic yell, and the forms fell in the sandy road, spilling the scrambled type in a discouraging mess. . . The paper did not come out till the following day!

Mud-Splashing Mania

PASSING up and down Main Street in our day's routine, we are alarmed these days at a variety of mania which seems to grip so many motorists, taxi and truck drivers. These otherwise law-abiding and conventional citizens may be seen splashing slush with blissful disregard for the clothing and the dignity of man, woman and child. While this abuse is obviously unintentional, it seems there must be something definitely lacking in kindly grace and consideration.

To splash mud on passing pedestrians betrays an unchivalry paramount to tripping a passer-by, or spitting in his face; the only difference in the insult is that the motorist does not wait to face the consequences!

Our appeal to common decency is not impelled by perennial habit — although it has become a springtime habit with this column. This note is inspired by painful observation, and if good manners fail to influence offenders, at least it is high time for them to "have a heart" and treat their fellows like human beings.

We Should Be Proud

CANADIANS, as a people, are tinged with an over-abundance of humility, modesty or plain inferiority complex when they consider their own achievements.

They tend to apologize for conditions and developments here and to regard accomplishments in Britain and the United States as something beyond the capabilities of this nation. Too often they take the attitude that nothing good can come out of Canada.

Humility is doubtless good in its place, but so is pride, and Canadians have much of which they should be proud.

While still retaining the right of constructive criticism, Canadians should be proud of their democratic government which, in a world tending to extremes, has trod a middle-of-the-road path. They should be proud of the freedom that is theirs, of the rights and privileges that have been handed down in trust from previous generations. They should be proud of their place (a prominent one) in the British Commonwealth under the sovereignty of their Liege Lady, Queen Elizabeth II.

Canadians are living in an expansionist age, a period in the nation's history when great developments are taking place in the country. Canada, for instance, produces half of the world's supply of newsprint, the second largest export wheat crop, 90% of the free world's supply of nickel and an important part of the zinc, copper, aluminum and other materials needed for the defence of the west. Vast developments are under way in oil, iron, uranium, industry, electrical power. Last year Canadians invested some 22% of their national income in new developments. Foreign capital is flowing into the country and more Canadian capital is being utilized to develop the natural resources and industry of the nation.

Canadians may well be proud, too, of awakened interest in the arts. Across the land music festivals, drama festivals, art exhibits, ballet festivals show that this new nation is not neglecting the finer things of life. More and more Canadians are aware of the fact that "culture" is not something for highbrows but may be enjoyed by everyone. Good music via the radio and performances of symphonies, choirs and soloists is becoming part of the daily living of millions of Canadians. Canadians are writing books, plays and poetry, are painting and composing as never before.

The second half of the 20th Century belongs to Canada. As Churchill said just recently in Ottawa, "Upon the whole surface of the globe, there is no more spacious and splendid domain than Canada open to the activity and genius of free men." Let us then be proud of what our nation of 14 million souls has accomplished, is accomplishing and will accomplish. We should be proud of Canada.

Do We Need More Immigrants?

CANADA needs more immigrants, but they should be more carefully screened as to experience and suitability for Canadian citizenship. This was the consensus of opinion expressed by the 913 Farm Forum groups that discussed the question "Do We Need More Immigrants?", in a recent program which evoked considerable interest among listening-groups of this district.

On this occasion, 14,500 people met in farm homes and country schools in all provinces except Newfoundland. Group discussions were preceded by the National Farm Radio Forum broadcast on a CBC network. Taking part on the broadcast were: W. Davidson, Employmeent Adviser for Agriculture, Canadian Department of Labour, Toronto; J. L. Dewar, Secretary of P.E.I. Federation of Agriculture, Charlottetown, and Henry Seyward, Canadian Citizenship Council, Ottawa.

A number of the Farm Forum groups indicated a preference for British and Northern European immigrants. They also stressed the importance of preparing prospective immigrants for life in Canada by giving them instruction in Canadian history and citizenship, and in the English language. The number of immigrants admitted should not exceed the number of jobs available, in the opinion of many Forums.

On the question of why a large percentage of immigrant labor has quit farming in recent years, most of the Forums agreed that it was because wages and opportunities for advancement are better in the city. It was also stated that many immigrants had never intended to stay on the farm and had no desire to farm in the first place. Shorter hours, holidays with pay, unemployment insurance and workmen's compensation were also suggested as reasons why immigrants prefer other occupations to farming.

Do these reasons correspond with the reasons why native-born farm young people leave the farms? In the main they do, 68 per cent of the Forums said. It was pointed out that an additional factor operating in the case of the native-born, is the difficulty in getting established on a farm of one's own.

What responsibility should farm employers take towards immigrant labor to help them get adjusted to living and working in Canada? Discussion on this question led to the following suggestions: Apply the Golden Rule — treat the newcomers as neighbors, have patience and understanding with them, include them in the social life; help them learn English; teach them Canadian ways of life and Canadian methods of farming; give them, year-round employment, adequate pay, and good working conditions; supply suitable living accommodation, especially for married couples.

Winter Harvest

IN NORTHERN resort areas and in sections of the country still to be invaded by the electric refrigerator, cutting ice continues as a late-winter rite.

It is the sort of job that gives a man an excuse to get out into the winter sunshine on a crisp afternoon. And it is strictly a good weather chore; you can't cut ice during a blizzard.

But the ice must still be at the peak of its winter thickness, with none of the potholes that mar it early in the season nor with any of the soft spots that appear when the spring breakup approaches.

So the ice-cutters drive their team and sleigh out onto the lake. They clear the snow away and expose the smooth dark surface of the ice. The most experienced man in the crew marks off what looks like the start of a giant checkerboard; these are the lines for cutting.

Then a hole is chopped at the starting point, saws go down and the workers slowly cut along the lines marked on the ice. Before very long, the ice blocks bob gently on the surface of the water.

The horses, which have been resting in the sunshine, are brought up. The giant ice cubes, blue-green and shot through with reflections of the sunbeams, are seized with tongs and loaded on to the sleigh to be hauled away to the ice-house.

There, buried under an insulating layer of sweet-smelling sawdust, the ice remains until summer. Finally it will go from the coolness of the icehouse to serve its purpose of protecting milk and butter against warmth or of becoming a tinkling accompaniment to a cold beverage.

But midsummer days are far off at the time of ice-harvest. The ice-cutters can only make the most of a pleasant break in the winter routine and, perhaps, dream of the uses to which they will put the cold blocks they garner.

These Quiz Programs

How is your intelligence? If you have any at all, don't try to answer any of these questions. Because if I were asked to conduct a quiz program, it would probably be something like this. Here are the questions. You'll find the answers on page 6:

1. Name three things eaten at Christmastime beginning with N.
2. What is it that you sit on, sleep on, and brush your teeth with?
3. A farmer has in one corner of his field, one and one quarter haystacks. In another corner he has three and three quarter haystacks. If he put them all together in the centre, how many hay stacks would he have?
4. Why do Chinese laundrymen not go in for skiing?
5. True or false? In the Province of Quebec a man is not allowed by law to marry his widow's sister.
6. We are what we eat. What does Uncle Walt eat?
7. In the good old days, a pound of butter cost 26 cents. At this price how much butter would you get for a cent and a quarter?

Give each question careful consideration before turning to page 6 for the answers. And by the way, what good does the letter W do in the word "answer"? If they spelt it "anser" it would still sound the same and convey the same meaning. Think of all the printers' ink that has been wasted through the years printing unnecessary W's!

Be seein' ya!

Have You A Question ON UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE OR EMPLOYMENT?

In this column we publish questions about unemployment insurance and employment, together with answers received from the Unemployment Insurance Commission.

If you are uncertain about any point do not hesitate to send your question to your district Unemployment Insurance office. We will obtain an answer and publish it in this column.

Following are some questions with answers which may be of interest to you: —

Q. Why can't the employment office tell me whether or not I can get benefits as soon as I am laid off and file my claim?

A. Because your eligibility depends mainly on the contributions you have made in the past. The records of past contributions are kept at a central point where it is determined if you have sufficient contributions to qualify. It must be remembered that many persons make claims at offices other than in the area where they last worked and this makes it necessary to keep the records in a central place.

• • •

Q. I am an employer. What am I supposed to do about employees who won't bring in their books to be stamped?

A. Find out from the employee the reason for not delivering his book to you and report the matter to your local office. They will ensure that you are provided with a means to record contributions. If the employee is having difficulty in getting the book from a former employer, have him (the employee) report the matter to the local office.

Happiness is the legitimate fruitage of love and service.

Metropolitan Life Reports New High Records for 1951

Ottawa, March 13 — "New high records were made in 1951 when the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company paid over $47,000,000 in benefits to policyholders and beneficiaries in Canada," said Mr. Glen J. Spahn, Second Vice President in charge of the company's Canadian operations.

These benefit payments, made under individual and group life insurance and accident and health insurance contracts, include death claim payments, matured policies, accident and health and disability benefits, annuity payments, surrender values and dividends.

Other high lights of Canadian business as revealed by the annual report to policyholders published today, include an increase in total life insurance in force, an increase in new business issued during 1951, and an increase in the company's investments in Canada.

The increases in the purchase of personal life insurance are seen by Mr. Spahn as showing a widespread desire to make provision for the future of the family through life insurance designed to fit individual needs.

It was pointed out that Canadian investments now amounting to more than $632,000,000 are playing an important part in the economy of the country with substantial totals in Federal, Provincial and Municipal Bonds, and with sizeable totals in the obligations of steel and paper companies, the oil industry, railroads, electric light and power companies.

Mr. Spahn called attention to the fact that the total amount that the Metropolitan has paid to Canadians since it entered the country in 1872, plus the amount now invested in Canada, exceeded the premiums received from Canadians by more than $424,000,000. "This gives some idea of the significant contribution that the company has made to Canada in its 79 years of operation here," he commented.

For the entire company it was reported that payments to policyholders or beneficiaries amounted to $924 millions, an increase of $69 millions over 1950, and the largest total for any year in the company's 84-year history. In the last 10 years the company has paid over six and a half billions in benefits — substantially more than its assets at the start of the 10-year period.

The 1951 payments included $312,000,000 in death claim payments, $147,000,000 in matured endowments, $141,000,000 in accident and health and disability benefits, and $34,000,000 in annuity payments.

More than $3,500,000 of the death claims were under policies which had been purchased less than a year before. Up to the end of 1951, beneficiaries of 2,372 service men who died in Korea received $2,236,000.

Special attention was directed to the total of $141,000,000 paid in accident and health and disability benefits, which include hospital, surgical, or medical expense benefits and which is five times as large as ten years ago.

The company was serving 33,373,000 life insurance policyholders in Canada and the United States at the end of the year. The life insurance in force was $48,512,000,000 — an increase of $3,087,000,000 during the year — and it was made up of $23,188,000,000 of ordinary insurance, $10,694,000,000 of industrial, and $14,630,000,000 of group.

The issue of ordinary insurance by the company was 11 percent higher and that of industrial insurance more than 4 percent higher in 1951 than in 1950. The ordinary issue was $1,996,000,000, as compared with $1,798,000,000 in 1950; and the industrial issue $751,000,000, compared with the previous year's $719,000,000. All life insurance issued by the company in 1951 totaled $3,500,000,000.

GLEN J. SPAHN

Second Vice President in charge of Canadian operations of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, who reports increases in new life insurance, in total life insurance in force and in investments in Canada during 1951.

There were outstanding, in addition to life insurance, 3,270,000 individual policies or group certificates providing weekly indemnity and principal sum accident and health benefits. Hospital, surgical, or medical expense benefits were provided by 2,744,000 policies or certificates.

There also were 502,000 individual annuity contracts or group certificates in force for a total annual income of $184 millions, including $34 millions of annuity income now payable.

The termination rate continued at a low level, and the mortality experience continued to be very favourable.

Amounts reserved for dividend payments to policyholders during 1952 total $170,405,000. Of this, $81,120,000 is for ordinary policyholders, $50,166,000 for industrial policyholders, $30,400,000 for group policyholders (excluding accident and health), and $8,719,000 for accident and health policyholders.

At the year's end, 48 percent of the assets were in the securities of commerce and industry, 23 percent in Canadian and United States government obligations, 18 percent in city and farm mortgages and real estate and the balance in housing, policy loans, etc.

At the close of 1951 the company's assets stood at $10,901,000,000. The statutory reserve — determined according to legal requirements — for future payments to policyholders was $9,285,000,000, and other obligations amounted to $983 millions. A surplus of $633 millions — 6.2 percent of the total liabilities — was held for contingencies.

Model With A Model

Pretty Ann Martin, of Montreal, takes time out to pose with a 7' 9" model of a deHavilland jet aircraft which will start on the Canadian Pacific Airlines' trans-Pacific service this year. Recently displayed at Windsor Station, Montreal, the $15,000-model will go on tour to Winnipeg, Vancouver and Honolulu, in addition to appearing at the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto this year. Of plastic and metal construction, it has a wingspan of 9' 7", with rubber-tired wheels on a retractable undercarriage which can be operated by hand to fold into the belly of the aircraft. A removeable panel in the side displays the interior of the model, which consists of crew compartment, showing pilot and co-pilot seat in front of a detailed control panel. The wireless operator's dials and range sets are aligned in one corner, while the navigator's working table is shown in the other. The next section shows the lounge room. The lounge section has tables with folding leaves, while the body contains 28 reclining chairs, with the hand luggage rack overhead. The sectional view of the rear compartments discloses ladies' and men's washrooms and the service compartment of the stewardesses, which is located at the rear of the aircraft.

FOR PARENTS ONLY...

Safeguarding Your Child's Eyesight

— By NANCY CLEAVER — (Copyright)

What value do you place on your child's eyes? Do you think that is a silly question? Why, a child's sight is priceless! But as a parent are you doing all you should to safeguard your child's sight?

No one can estimate how many babies have their eyesight saved by the medical practice of dropping a one percent solution of silver nitrate into each eye at the time of birth. Doctors follow this procedure with care and in many areas there is a law directing a midwife or nurse attending a new mother to carry out this treatment.

If a mother notices that her baby has swollen or red eyelids and a pus discharge is oozing out the corners, she should not try to treat them herself. Phone a doctor immediately. Let him decide whether the child should be taken to him or whether he can make a house call. If it is impossible to contact a doctor, and the eyes are in a serious condition, take the baby at once to the nearest hospital. A delay might mean partial blindness.

Only a doctor can determine whether a baby needs the attention of a specialist. Sometimes a baby's tear ducts do not open, or some other condition persists which will not clear up without expert help.

Sunshine, taken in moderation in a sun bath, is a friend and not a foe of baby's health. But the child's eyes must be protected from the sun shining directly into them, and from too bright reflected glare. A tiny infant will squirm and shut his eyes in bright sunlight, but baby relies on mother to save his eyes from too much sunshine. The carriage top, or a sunbonnet or cap with a peak provide the essential barrier to too strong sunlight.

Sharp knives, scissors with points, toys with sharp edges, are all dangerous to the eyes in the hands of an active small child. Even an older boy or girl playing ball, or shooting arrows, or throwing darts, or participating in quite a number of games, must always keep a sharp look-out for fear an object strikes the eye.

Children should have a general physical check-up, including an eye examination, before starting to school. It is not rare for a child to be judged stupid or inattentive, when he is quite bright but suffering from poor vision.

If a child, even a young child, needs glasses for poor vision, or to correct a cross-eyed defect, it is folly not to have the child fitted by a competent doctor.

What are some of the distress signals a parent should be able to interpret as a child's eyes needing extra attention? The condition of the eyes "crossing", squinting, frowning, rubbing the eyes or holding a book close to the face may be noticed.

Sometimes a child whose sight is poor, stumbles over small objects or has a hard time playing catch.

The school teachers do try to do a good job in health education, including instruction in care of the eyes. But the teacher has a whole class room of children, while the parent has only her own little family. Don't leave it to the school to educate your child in eye care!

There should be proper lighting in the room in which a child is playing, working or reading. If possible, the light should come from behind the child. If the light is from the side there is some glare. But the child's eyes receive both direct and indirect glare from light coming from the front.

Mothers should provide the school age child with a quiet, well-lighted table for home work. Encourage the child to sit in a comfortable position, not stiffly, and not slouching or bending over his books. Lying down and reading is hard on the eyes, even when the reader is propped up on pillows. A child should form the habit of glancing up from his work, looking out the window, to a far corner of the room, and focussing his eyes on a distant object every half hour.

Children sometimes copy their chums in their posture and bring books closer to their eyes than they need to be. Even a tiny tot should not keep his eyes fixed on an object nearer than a foot. For the older child, about seventeen inches between the eyes and the book is a good distance.

Because of faulty posture, myopia or shortsightedness increases from a small percent of the five year old applicants for kindergarten to about thirty percent of boys and girls entering most collegiate or high schools.

Children get satisfaction out of doing useful work—but they must be taught to handle tools with care. Each year children damage their eyes by falling on a rake or fork which has been left on the ground with the prongs pointing upward. Sometimes a child runs and falls while carrying a sharp tool, thus hurting his eyes. If a child's eyes have been injured, even slightly in an accident, don't take any chances that they will soon be alright. See a doctor at once, and follow his advice to the letter! A child has only one pair of eyes to last him all his life!

Officers Issue Warning, Dogs Preying on Deer

Following numerous instances of dogs preying on deer in this district, Fernando Lamarche, local game warden, appeals to all farmers and dog owners for co-operation with the Department in order to conserve the deer population of Argenteuil's hunting grounds.

All farmers and dog owners are requested to curb the straying of dogs in bush-country frequented by deer at this season. Any dog found pursuing or preying upon game animals will be destroyed, and its owner is subject to penalty under the law.

C.P.R.'s New Restaurant Cars

An artist's impression of the interior of the Canadian Pacific Railway's new restaurant counter cars which will go into service soon to feed over 50,000 immigrants which the railways expects to carry from eastern Canadian ports to points across the country during 1952. The new cars follow a design conceived by the C.P.R.'s sleeping and dining, colonization, and mechanical departments after tests conducted last year with stripped-down standard dining cars proved the need for newly designed equipment. Their aim is to provide less costly meals more quickly in a setting which will make the traveller feel at ease.

The average Canadian factory worker earns the price of a loaf of bread from 8 minutes work; in 1939 it took 12 minutes work.

In the ten year period from 1941 to 1951 five persons emigrated from Canada for every six persons who immigrated to Canada.

Dramatic Setting

"Where can I place this picture? Just where will it fit in? Oh dear, no not there... Here? No... Oh, why did I buy this in the first place! Oh, here is a crack — it has to fit here!"

Supper-time, and husband comes home. "What is this doing here! It ought to be there — I like the picture. — Oh yes, there."

Wife comes in. "Who moved that picture — and after all the time and trouble that I had placing it."

Objects can create an atmosphere, if they are placed in the centre of attraction, where they have a spotlight of their own. How to create that impression is one of the most perplexing problems, and the hardest to answer. It might first be well to decide on what feeling you are trying to create. It might be one of warmth — warm colors, such as yellow, orange, reddish brown, red, or any color that has red or yellow in it. You might be able to agree on an object to decorate the room around. One which isn't too expensive, and yet attractive. You may be surprised at the effect which the room will take on.

Let me give you an example. You go to an antique shop, and see an attractive plate, or better, a pair, that can be suspended from a hanging in the wall. You take these and match fabric, with the colors, drapes, furniture, and then literally build around it. Pictures also do this admirably. It creates a dramatic setting, and yet a liveable one.

Next week my subject will be Pictures and Paintings.

The South African diamond industry got its start, says E. W. Kenworthy in the current Reader's Digest, on a day in 1867 when a child picked up a "pretty white pebble" on the banks of the Orange River at Hope Town, South Africa. In 1884 the French novelist, Huysmans, saw the diamond becoming "notoriously common" and predicted its end as a precious stone. Now commoner than ever, more in demand and higher in price, South African diamonds are sold to the tune of $150,000,000 a year.

More Protection for More People

Report to Metropolitan Policyholders for 1951

The importance of Life insurance and its relationship to the lives of the people of the United States and Canada cannot effectively be portrayed by figures in a balance sheet. Cold figures can never adequately show human needs and their fulfillment. It is important, therefore, to try to interpret these figures in terms of the millions of people they represent and the millions who benefit by the use of the services rendered by the Company and its Agents. The Metropolitan was serving 33,373,000 Life insurance policyholders at the close of the year.

The personal phases of Life insurance — for it is a highly personal business — are highlighted daily by dramatic instances. Sometimes they are so unusual as to give special emphasis to the part our business plays in the life of the United States and Canada. The following quotation from a letter from the son of a deceased policyholder, requesting the return of a policy on which claim had been paid, tells with simple sincerity a moving story of a Life insurance policy, of the son's relationship with his father, and of a sound process of economic and social education:

"This policy . . . has for me possibly a greater sentimental value than it would have cash value . . . For you to understand this, you would have to know the years of close relationship and confidence that existed between my father and me. When I was a small boy, he would take me with him to his safety deposit vault . . . Always he stressed to me the importance of his insurance policy, how this piece of paper would some day have a cash value that might tide the family over in an emergency . . . Time has passed . . . but the sentimental worth of this piece of paper is constant in my thinking . . . I have always been told that business, especially Big Business, is hard and cold and rigid, but I know that this is not so, because business is made up of people. People with hearts and souls and loved ones, and people who have lost loved ones, and some who possibly think and feel the same way that I do."

We were, of course, pleased to grant this unusual request.

The record sum of $924,000,000 was paid in benefits to policyholders and beneficiaries during 1951. This included payments of $141,000,000 on more than 1,250,000 claims (five times ten years ago) for Accident and Health and Disability benefits. A new high was also reached in Life insurance in force — $48,512,000,000, a gain of more than $3,000,000,000 over 1950.

More people than ever were protected last year by Metropolitan Accident and Health insurance. As the year closed, the Company had in force 3,270,000 policies or certificates providing weekly indemnity for disability of $86,000,000 per week. Hospital, Surgical or Medical Expense benefits were provided by 2,744,000 policies or certificates.

Another significant development during the year was the introduction of Extended Medical Coverage through Group insurance to protect people against abnormal hospital, surgical, and medical expense that might exhaust a family's entire savings.

METROPOLITAN OPERATIONS IN CANADA

These high lights of the Company's business in Canada during 1951, our 79th year in this country, will be of particular interest to Metropolitan's Canadian policyholders and their beneficiaries.

Payments to Policyholders and Beneficiaries

Metropolitan paid in 1951 to its Canadian policyholders and their beneficiaries $47,042,393 in death claims — matured policies — accident and health and disability benefits — dividends and other payments. Of this amount, 70% was paid to living policyholders.

The total amount the Metropolitan has paid to Canadians since it entered Canada in 1872, plus the amount now invested in Canada, exceeds the total premiums received from Canadians by more than $424,000,000.

Life Insurance in Force

In 1951, Canadians bought $233,659,426 of new Life insurance protection in the Metropolitan, and at the year's end the Company was serving 2,500,000 Life insurance policyholders in Canada insured for $2,658,301,557. Of this amount, 56% was Ordinary business, 28% was Industrial and 16% was Group.

Total Investments in Canada

Metropolitan investments in Canada amounted to $632,999,420 at the end of 1951. These investments are playing an important part in the economy of Canada with substantial totals of Federal, Provincial, and Municipal bonds and with sizeable totals in the obligations of steel and paper companies, the oil industry, railroads, electric light and power companies, and others.

Health and Welfare Work

Since 1909 Metropolitan has conducted a continuous health education campaign in Canada and during 1951 participated in numerous activities. More than 2,100,000 pamphlets on a variety of health and safety topics were distributed — monthly health advertisements appeared in national publications — "Good Hints for Good Health" was a daily feature on many radio stations.

Q.W.I. Annual Course, Leadership Training

The annual leadership training course sponsored by the Quebec Women's Institutes will be held May 26-30 at Macdonald College. Branches will shortly be receiving complete details, but tentative plans for the agenda follow closely the pattern of previous years, with classes in the various crafts, workshops on "Running the Organization", and a practical course in Gardening, all with periods continuing for the entire week.

A new course in training leaders in group recreation for meetings and community events has been added, and following the same theme is another entitled, "New Life for Programs". This incorporates the former popular class in learning to operate a 16 mm. projector but goes on to teach how to use films and other helps in a program that will make this part of W.I. meetings more educational and stimulating.

Figures show that progress has already been made in the number of films used by branches as members learn to operate projectors. An increase this past year of over 50% has been reported by the Information Centre, Macdonald College, where the films are obtained on loan, in the number of W.I. branches requesting this service.

Opera Broadcast

Verdi's opera, "Il Trovatore", will be offered on Le Théâtre Lyrique, sponsored by Molson's, over CBF and the French network on Monday evening, March 24, from 9 to 10 p.m.

The leading roles will be sung by Louise Roy, André Turp, Napoleon Bisson and Gaston Gagnon. The orchestra will be directed by Jean Deslauriers; the narrator will be Albert Duquesne; the announcer, Roger Baulu.

March Council Meeting, Morin Hts. Municipality

(Our District Correspondent)

Morin Heights — The regular monthly meeting of Morin Heights Town Council was held, with Mayor Chas. D. Campbell in the chair and all councillors present.

After the opening prayer and the reading of the minutes of last meeting, the secretary-treasurer presented the year's report from the auditor, which made very interesting reading and proved that having exercised close supervision of expenditures the Council could compliment itself upon a very good showing for 1951. All accounts showed a small surplus, and this brought forth commendation from those assembled.

Councillor R. E. Jamison commented favorably on the report, remarking that arrears of taxes had very much improved, but that there was still room for betterment, as the Council could not be expected to finance property holders and the 5% interest charged on overdue accounts did not help to pay for the expenditures which had to be met.

The monthly reports of the fire Chief and the Police Chief were read and adopted. The Fire Chief reported that there had been no calls during the month.

A petition was received by the Council for the closing of a road, and after discussion a resolution was adopted authorizing the secretary to follow the rulings of the Municipal Code in this matter. and call all interested parties to the next session of the Council, on April 7.

Accounts for the month were approved and the usual letter from the Chief Engineer of the Provincial Roads Department was read by Road Commissioner Paul Baumel, regarding cutting through the snowbanks to allow the water to drain away. Councillor Baumel, also requested the Council to forward a letter to the Roads Engineer, to arrange for oiling the roads now that there was to be much hauling of gravel; calcium did not serve the purpose, as the grader scraped it all off the first time it passed along the highway. The Council authorized the secretary the write this request.

Among General Eisenhower's talents, one that is little-known to most people is his ability as a writer. John Gunther reports in the current Reader's Digest that Eisenhower excelled in English throughout high school and at West Point. For years, in the War Department, he was "a kind of sublimated ghost writer". Conciseness in writing is his ideal. — he wrote his "Crusade in Europe" in seven weeks.

His Whole Pay-Cheque to Cancer Society!

The Story of A Stirring Example

By M. V. Trayers

Sugar Ray Robinson laid his world's middle-weight title on the line in a fight with Carl Olson at San Francisco last week, and fought 15 strenuous rounds to beat Olson. The crowd that went to see that fight paid $80,000 at the wickets.

Fighting is Sugar Ray's only business, and not like a lot of businesses, the period of life in which he is able to stay in business is very short. So he has to make his money while the going is good.

For his part in accumulating that $80,000 he received just $1; the balance of his purse he gave to the American Cancer Society.

He must think that the Cancer Society is a very important organization and that it carries on a most important work, otherwise he wouldn't give his whole pay-cheque as a contribution; and more especially when you consider that those pay cheques do not come every week, or every two weeks, or even every month. He gets just two or three a year. Before he gets one he has to risk his reputation, his earning power, perhaps his life, and even mortgage his future in the effort he makes.

The Canadian Cancer Society, which unfortunately has no Sugar Ray Robinsons to help them out, must depend on you and me to come to their aid so that they can distribute the required amount of $220.000 to the National Cancer Institute of Canada, for the purpose of carrying on the work of research to meet and beat this cruel disease.

The Canadian Cancer Society is predominantly a layman's organization. It carries cancer education to the general public and it raises public funds to fight the disease. A fund-raising campaign will be conducted in Argenteuil during the next few weeks. There is a centre in Lachute and a centre in Brownsburg which will conduct those campaigns. These are permanent centres which are born of the people to assist the people. Leopold Carriere looks after the centre in Lachute; Les Thompson in Brownsburg. They have committees to assist them which are in existence 24 hours a day, and fund-raising is only a small part of their chores. The big business of those committees is to supply dressings and assistance to cancer patients in the area of Argenteuil. You can't shrug that off and say, "Oh let those patients go to the hospital". The hospital can't do anything for them, and no matter how well they are fixed financially, they couldn't supply all the dressings and attention necessary for a cancer patient. Make no mistake about it, there are several cancer patients in these two centres, and statistics show that 12 new cancer patients will need treatment in the average town of 5,000 population before this year has passed.

No age is free from cancer. It strikes children as well as men and women. Cancer is curable if you discover it in time, but only about two out of every five know that, and only about half of us adults know even one of the signs of cancer.

For our own good and the welfare of our loved ones, we should try and learn as much as possible about detecting this disease, and one of the best ways to do this is to remember when the collector calls — that Sugar Ray Robinson gave his whole pay-cheque without the collector even calling on him!

Brownsburg — The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Canadian Legion Branch 71 held their monthly meeting on March 13, with Mrs. Sally Cocksedge presiding.

Mrs. Bertha Enlow announced that she is directing a one-act play and variety show, planned for the end of April

Morin Hts. Ski Club Competitions Terminate Season's Official Events

(Our District Correspondent)

Morin Heights — The ski competitions held last week-end at Morin Heights, brought to a successful conclusion all activities in this line for another year, and it only remains now for the prize-giving, which will take place at the annual meeting of the Morin Heights Ski Club. With weather conditions perfect and the hills in excellent condition, a large turn-out of enthusiasts gathered before the officials for the final events of the season — the officials being Paul Baumel, Bunny Basler, Bill Bell, with recorders Mrs. Bell and Miss Ruth Hall.

A glance at the picture on the sports page of the Montreal Star of Monday, 17th, will convince even the most skeptical, that the youngsters of Morin Heights are in the vanguard of the future skiing fraternity. The Cross-Country trail was in good condition and the "Kicking Horse" for the Downhill and Slalom was very fast; and there were no accidents to report, showing that the activities were under complete control at all times.

Grant Seale and Ross Gillingham, who were running neck and neck for a long while, fought it out to a bitter finish, with Seale finally outpointing Gillingham in the Slalom to win the 1952 Club Championship and the much envied "Commons Trophy" for 1952. Ross Gillingham won it for two years in succession, 1950 and 1951.

Little Ernie Woods was again in the limelight and made a remarkable showing for the Junior Class, particularly in the Cross-Country. Ted Pope was a consistent contender throughout. Beverley Bell managed to capture the Ladies' Junior titles for the Downhill and Slalom, and her brother, Skippy Bell, made a good showing in the Slalom despite running all gates backwards.

Following are the results:

In conclusion, let us remind all skiiers that their equipment should receive that proper attention given by all good sportsmen. With co-operation of the weatherman and all those who have taken part in the ski events, we say cheerio for the successful season just finished, and the bright hope for the future of the Morin Heights Ski Club.

As regards news stories, we can guaranttee no insertion, excepting the "big breaks", after Wednesday p.m. Correspondents of sports and district news are therefore asked to submit their news early in the week.

A Saucy Story

"Saucily served", even the most prosaic food becomes a dish of artistry and glamour. Both flavor and appearance of foods are greatly enhanced when served with the right sauce. The home economists of the Consumer Section, Ottawa, say that a good sauce is smooth, glossy to the eye and appealing to the taste. Although there are exceptions, it should be thin enough to flow readily, but thick enough not to soak into the food. Seasoning or flavoring are used cautiously, but should be strong enough to make the sauce distinctive. It is important that the sauce compliment the food. Serve an acid food with a bland sauce but a bland food needs a sauce with character. Rich foods are best served with a simple rather plain sauce.

Most vegetables blend well with a mild flavored sauce or one with a little more character such as a cheese or mustard sauce.

A sauce with a piquant tang gives pleasing contrast in flavor to most meats. On stewed or baked fruit or fruit jellies, custard sauce is good.

The wise housewife will choose the simple but ever popular cream sauce, or white sauce as it is often known, as the mainstay for much of her cooking. It has more uses than a silver dollar and it can be made in quantity and kept in a covered jar in the refrigerator. This sauce can be easily reheated in a double boiler either to use with meats or vegetables or as a base for soups or cream dishes.

Cream sauce may be of a thin, medium or thick consistency, depending on the amount of thickener used. The thin sauce is used as a base for cream soups; medium for pudding sauces, creamed vegetables and meats, and the thick as a binder in croquettes and soufflés.

For cream soups, add puréed or chopped vegetables or strained tomatoes to the thin sauce to make an appetizing and nourishing dish. An endless variety of luncheon or supper dishes to be served on toast or as a casserole may be prepared by adding hard-cooked eggs, mushrooms or vegetables, chopped cooked meats or poultry to a basic medium sauce. When using cream sauce as a topping for vegetables, add a little chopped parsley or grated cheese for extra color and flavor.

The crowning glory for a perfect dessert is a perfect sauce. With desserts such as steamed fruit puddings and hot gingerbread, the home economists suggest this Apple Butterscotch Sauce:

¼ Cup butter (melted) ¾ cup brown sugar, 3 tablespoons cornstarch, pinch of salt, 2½ cups apple juice (20 oz. can).

Melt the butter. Blend in the brown sugar, cornstarch and salt. Cook this mixture until slightly brown. Add the apple juice, stirring constantly and cook until it thickens. Allow to cook 5 minutes more and serve.

Red Cross Instruction in Water Safety Reduces Deaths by Drowning

Each year, over 300 persons drown in the Province of Quebec, but this tragic toll is gradually being reduced — largely through the efforts of Red Cross.

During the past six years, over 42,000 children and adults have received Red Cross swimming and water safety certificates. They have learned not only to swim safely and employ the proper methods of rescuing others, but they set a good example for safety.

Instruction is carried on by an army of 1,237 volunteers (trained by Red Cross) with the co-operation of colleges, schools, camps and private organizations throughout the province.

Saving lives is the job of Red Cross, but the Swimming and Water Safety Program is doubly beneficial since it promotes healthful, body-building recreation. This program is made possible by the public's contributions to Red Cross. When the Red Cross canvasser calls this month, citizens are asked to remember their part and give generously to "Help Us Help Others".

Junior Bombers Beat Brownsburg Legion

Brownsburg — Thursday last saw the second game between the Junior Bombers and the Legion, which the Juniors won in easy fashion.

Roberts was again in the nets for the Legion, but was unable to stop 11 shots, well played by the Juniors, while Ouellette let 4 of the Legion shots get by him. The game was refereed by John Duncan.

This game was more seriously played than the previous encounter, and the Juniors showed they were well able to outskate the Legion boys. It is said that the Juniors are now hitting their stride, and had they played as well in the semi-finals, they might have gone on to the finals in the Long Sault League.

Bill Tessier, who plays for the Legion, scored the opening goal in a nice play. This was followed several minutes later by the Juniors —Racine on a pass from Ouellette. Before the lines were again changed, Hewitt scored in a solo effort, followed in quick time with another by Hewitt, on a pass from Ouellette. Play became keen, and before the period was over Hewitt again scored alone.

In the second period the play tightened up, became a little rougher. Brewer scored on a pass from Leveillé for the Juniors, while Noel Racine made a tally for the Legion on a pass from Tessier. André Ouellette came back to score on a pass from J. Racine, and Yvon Legault scored on a pass from Leveillé, ending the period. One penalty was handed out to the Juniors in this period — to Harry Moseley, for boarding.

In the third period the play stayed pretty much in the Legion area, but on a break-away Bill Campbell scored for the Legion, while the Juniors came back with a tally by Racine from Hewitt, followed closely by Leveillé, from Cousineau. Dave McCulloch scored for the Legion, and as the period neared the close, it became a little rough and Moseley and Racine each received a penalty. Legault also spent two minutes in the box. But the play ended with a solo by Jacques Racine, followed by another by Ouellette from Hewitt.

Though the score was high, it was a good game. A fair crowd attended.

Senior Bombers Trim Long Sault All-Stars

Benefit Game for Injured Referee

Brownsburg — A crowd of over 300 turned out Sunday to see the Brownsburg Senior Bombers play a team of All-Stars from the Long Sault League. The Bombers won by a score of 9-7. This game was a benefit performance to aid a referee of the Ottawa circuit who was seriously injured in the eye, earlier this season.

The first period was the All-Stars', who scored four goals to one by the Bombers. The play was fast and clean. G. Larocque tallied the first goal for the Stars in the opening minutes. A. Huneault, on a pass from C. Parisien, made it 2-0. André Ouellette scored the next two goals, on plays set up by Bill Hewitt, passing to Jacques Racine, who passed them on to Ouellette. F. Parisien, All-Stars, received a penalty, and while he was in the box, F. Boileau scored on a solo effort, a very neat play which fooled the All-Star goalie, J. P. Lamarche. The Bombers received two penalties — to C. Gagné and J. M. Gagné.

The second period became a little rougher though only one penalty was handed out, to Boileau of the Bombers. C. Latour, F. Boileau, J. M. Gagné and R. Bourgeois all tallied on solo efforts for Bombers, while All-Stars' only goal was by C. Parisien. All-Stars failed to maintain their action of the first period. The session ended in a tie.

The third stanza was played with the same gusto as the first, and the boarding became a little rough. Ouellette was the first in the penalty box, and the Bombers capitalized by marking up two more goals — R. Charbonneau on a pass from N. Racine, and R. Gervais scoring again a few minutes later. C. Bertrand came back with a goal for the All-Stars. A. Huneault (All-Stars) and Y. Piché went to the penalty box together for roughing. J. M. Gagné scored another for the Bombers. R. Villeneuve (All-Stars) received a penalty for tripping, and the Bombers were allowed a penalty shot. F. Boileau took the shot but failed to beat Lamarche.

The game ended with one more penalty, to R. Gervais of the Bombers. H. Belisle, on a play from D. Demers and R. Villeneuve, brought the count to 7 for All-Stars, while as the period neared its end, R. Gervais scored for the Bombers, making a total of 9.

In the first and second periods more shots on goal were stopped by the Bombers' goalie, C. Groulx, while in the third stanza Lamarche made some spectacular saves while his defence were playing up and the Bombers made some great getaways.

This event was considered by the crowd as one of the better games played in Brownsburg this year; the game just about winds it up for the season.

By Anne Dwyer

School Activities

Friday evening, March 14, 11 pupils from schools in this area participated in the Public Speaking Contest. Mr. W. Freeland, Mrs. A. Taylor and Mr. W. M. Steeves acted as judges, and the Rev. C. W. Baugh as the chairman. Winners of the cups were Olive Jane Pollock, speaking on 'Alberta, the Texas of Canada', for the Juniors, and Helen McMahon, speaking on 'Canada's First Canadian Governor-General', for the Seniors. Both of these girls are from Lachute. In the Junior section, Judy Langille, of Lachute, received second place for her speech on 'What Every Young Girl Should Know', and Lenora Eastwood, of Grenville, won third prize for her speech on the same subject. Second prize in the Senior section went to Paul Zombor, of Brownsburg, for his talk on 'Modern Dairy Farming'. Willis Young won third place for Grenville with his speech on 'Canada's First Canadian Governor-General'.

Lachute High School extends its congratulations to the successful pupils of this contest.

Hockey

Wednesday afternoon, March 12, Lachute hockey team played against the Brownsburg team in their arena. The final score was 9-6 for Lachute.

D. McRae and T. Jamison got off to a good start with a goal each, the latter tally being assisted by J. Watson. M. Tomalty and K. Hazel evened up the score with two tallies for Brownsburg. A little later in the period K. Fletcher put Brownsburg ahead by a point, but J. Watson soon tied it up again.

The second period was a stalemate as far as scores were concerned. However, there was some excitement when Referee D. Duncan was cut above the eye with a flying puck.

The third period was by no means lacking in action. K. Fletcher put the score up 4-3 for Brownsburg. Lachute tied it up a moment later. G. Albright tallied on a pass from Copeland and Watson. Jamison and Copeland each got a goal with only a few minutes between them, raising the score to 7-4. B. Warwick was waiting in front of the nets when J. Campbell shot, and he knocked it in, as if he were playing baseball. K. Hazel tallied for Brownsburg soon after. B. Morrow and T. Jamison made the last two goals for Lachute. M. Tomalty, with an assist from R. Zimmer, shot in the last goal of the game.

Foto-Nite Total Now $170 at Cinema Lachute

Called to receive $160 for her photograph at the Cinema Lachute weekly Foto-Nite last Friday, a Lachute resident, Mrs. D. Schwartz (644 Main Street) was not present among the audience, and therefore missed this stroke of luck.

Good fortune to the tune of $170 awaits some lucky patron whose name will be drawn this Friday, March 21, on the Cinema stage. All who register their names, either by phone or at the box office, are eligible for this weekly feature.

Wheelchair Purchased by Local Subscriptions

Mrs. A. McPhee wishes to thank all who so generously subscribed towards the wheelchair, through The Lachute Watchman. No canvassing was done apart from this medium, and the response was most encouraging.

A good wheelchair has been purchased for the sum of $65 — the exact amount which was subscribed. The chair can be seen at the post-office for a few days. At a later date Mrs. McPhee hopes to start a fund towards a hospital bed.

Please be kind enough to send donations for the Red Cross, with cards, as soon as possible.

VAST POTENTIAL

Montreal (CP) — Labrador, shunned as barren by Jacques Cartier in 1534, has been found to contain more potential electric power than all the rest of Canada, plus "huge" iron ore deposits, a meeting here was told by Prof. Kenneth Hare, chairman of the geography department of McGill University.

With A Touch of Philosophy

"A song is more lasting than the riches of the world" — and with this bit of philosophy CBC troubadour Tony Stecheson opens his program every Tuesday evening at 6.40 on the Trans-Canada network. Blending voice with guitar, Tony's melodious songs of romance appeal to listeners of all ages. When not entertaining, his interest extends to collecting antique curios. A most prized possession is a number of miniature guitars; none of these is more than five inches long, and they are complete with strings and key pegs. The curios date back 200 years and are overlaid with tortoise shells and inlaid in ivory and mother-of-pearl.

Lachute-Alexandria Even In Basketball Play-Offs

Lachute basketball team took a one-game lead in the best-of-three semi-final series with Alexandria last Friday night, when they edged out the Ontario team 36-34 in overtime play.

The game opened with Lachute taking a quick lead, and at half-time the Lachute squad were ahead 24-14. This lead diminished rapidly under a fast third-quarter attack by Alexandria, and at the three-quarter mark the score was 26-24 in favor of Lachute. The Ontario team forged ahead in the last quarter and at one time the score was 32-26 in their favor. During the dying minutes of the game, Lachute closed the gap, and with less than a minute to play the score was 34-32 for Alexandria. F. Bradford was fouled and, with only seconds to go, missed the foul shot. The rebound was captured by Bond, who sank the tying basket just as the game ended. . . In the overtime period, Lachute took a quick lead on a basket by A. Bond, and managed to hold off the Alexandria attack until the whistle blew.

During this overtime period, Floyd Bradford of Lachute received a bad cut over the eye, which required two stitches.

Leading scorer of the game was R. Burton, of Lachute, who sank 18 points; he was closely followed by D. Laporte, of Alexandria, with 16. Bond, of Lachute, contributed 10 points to his team's score.

The second game of the series was played at Lachute High School on Tuesday, when Alexandria defeated Lachute, 51-41. The third and final game will be played at Lachute on Friday night at 9.15.

The winner of this series meets Brownsburg next week.

To prove the relative efficacy of various methods of artificial respiration, 50 volunteers submitted to paralysis of the motor nerves by curare, the "poison arrow" drug. Describing these tests in the current Reader's Digest, Lois Mattox Miller says these heroes hovered between life and death while the different methods of respiration were applied. Eventually their normal muscular activity was restored with an oxygen mixture. None had after-effects more serious than a sore throat.

Good Progress in Sale Of Season Tickets for Baseball at Stadium

On Monday evening a meeting of the Baseball Club directors and season ticket salesmen of "l'Association de la Jeunesse Sportive" was held in the Bouchard Hotel. The results of the campaign work appeared highly encouraging. The board of directors states that the Laurentide Baseball League will be composed of at least eight teams, and probably 10. Applications to enter the Laurentide League — incidentally, the best-organized league in the record of district baseball — are coming in from all directions, and obviously many clubs will have to be refused entry. The directors are also receiving numerous applications from players from all parts of Canada and the United States who wish to play for Lachute. It is evident that the work of Lionel Laurin and his directorate is bearing fruit.

The ticket salesmen reported results beyond expectations. The tickets are selling at a speedy pace, indicating that good seats will be scarce on the grandstand for those not in possession of season tickets. The members' subscription campaign ends Monday, March 24. No season tickets will be sold after that date. It is therefore urgent that all sports-fans who have not procured tickets should do so immediately. (For further information please phone 109, Lachute).

Following is a partial list of subscribers to date. However, as all salesmen have not yet reported, this list is not complete; more names will be published later. . .

Two Keen Contests In Semi-Finals of Church Bowling League

Two really 'championship' games were played last Tuesday in the Lachute United Church Bowling League, when both semi-finals ended with scores of 8-7, and the last ball played in each contest proved the winner.

The W.M.S. Blues team (Mrs. H. Riddell) came from a deficit of 6-1 to win against St. David's (Lester Thompson) 8-7, while the Ladies' Aid were defeated by the same score by Y.P.U., skipped by Mrs. Geo. Deacon and Catherine Gauley respectively.

The finals will be played next Tuesday between the W.M.S. and Y.P.U. teams. The closing dinner will also be held next Tuesday, at 6.30 sharp. All members of the league are asked to be present. The nominal cost will be 50 cents. Presentation of prizes will follow the final game.

Basketball

Ste. Agathe was at home to the Lachute basketball teams Saturday afternoon, March 15. Lachute won both games.

In the girls' contest the first quarter was not very active. When the final bell rang the score was only 4-2 for L.H.S. S. Hayes did Ste. Agathe's scoring, and E. Welden and B. Bradford scored the Lachute points. However, at the end of the half-time the score was 16-5. B. Bradford got four baskets, and E. Welden and M. Mitchell sank one each for Lachute. The Ste. Agathe scoring was by P. Beattie and J. Sloan.

There was a good deal more action in the second half. E. Welden (4), J. Goldthorpe (2 and 1 foul), M. Mitchell (1), and B. Bradford (2), were the scorers for Lachute, while S. Hayes (3), P. O'Neil (2), C. O'Neil (1), and J. Sloan made the tallies for Ste. Agathe. The final score was 35-19 for Lachute.

The boys' game also brought a victory for Lachute, 37-28. There was far more activity in this game than in the previous one. Scorers in the first half for Lachute were — B. Duncan (4), W. Steeves (1), W. Andrews (foul) and B. Golphin (4 and 2 fouls). This brought their points to 21. Ste. Agathe's 18 points were scored by P. Tang (2), J. Tang (1), A. Liboirin (2), L. Kyle (2), and B. Wong (2).

The last half was still more exciting. B. Duncan scored three long shots, plus two close up, for Lachute. Also for Lachute, B. Golphin scored 1, W. Riddell 1, and B. McMahon 1. L. Kyle 1, B. Wong 2, A. Liboirin 1, and P. Tang 1, shot Ste. Agathe's score up to 28. P. Tang and B. Duncan were the last to make plays in this exciting game.

J.C.Wilson Paper Products Sold From Coast to Coast

Visitors See Efficient Machinery and Plant In One of Lachute's Time-Honored Pioneer Industries

"Industry and Commerce in Lachute"
Contributed by Lachute Chamber of Commerce

The J. C. Wilson Ltd. paper mills were inspected yesterday by members of the Chamber of Commerce and their friends, in the third of a series of monthly visits to industrial establishments. This feature promises to be a highlight of interest in the Chamber's 1952 program. The following review of the paper mill in its past and present operations, makes another notable chapter in the story of Lachute's industrial growth:

The firm J. C. Wilson Ltd. is named after its founder, who first started the manufacture of paper bags by hand in 1870, in Montreal. The business expanded to the extent that Mr. Wilson started making bags by machinery — being the first manufacturer in Canada to introduce this mechanical operation.

By 1879 the business had grown to such proportions that it became essential to have a paper mill, and after inspecting various locations, Lachute, a thriving village of 650 inhabitants at that time, was the spot selected.

In 1881 the first machine went into operation, and the paper produced was bag paper. Not the bag as we think of it today, but one made from jute. This required a rag room, where girls sorted the rags; boilers to cook them in; washers; drainers to allow the rags to season — quite an involved process, which gives some idea of the problems surmounted by our pioneer manufacturers, and the planning which went into the building of our industrial Canada.

The leadership of the company is now in the third generation, with one grandson, J. C. Wilson, as president, and another, F. H. Wilson, as vice-president.

The head-office and a converting plant are located in Montreal, a ground-wood mill at St. Jerome, and distribution warehouses at Toronto, Windsor, Winnipeg and Vancouver, with salesmen covering Canada from coast to coast.

The paper mill here has undergone extensive changes in the past five years, about 70% of the main building having been rebuilt and considerable improvements made to the machines.

There are now three paper-making machines, which produce over 10,000 tons of paper a year; a modern bag factory with 22 machines capable of producing 500,000,000 bags of assorted types, from a quarter-pound to a quarter-barrel sack, and including hat and notion bags, bread, bottle, shoe, potato or hardware bags, either printed or plain. There is also one of the most modern towelling machines, which makes roll-type towel, and can produce 75,000 cases a year without difficulty.

The mill has about 150 employees with an annual payroll in excess of $400,000.

Employees' welfare has been carefully considered, each worker having his own locker, with clean adequate washroom facilities. A doctor visits the plant twice a week to take care of any minor ailments; he also gives every employee an annual checkup. In addition employees and their families are protected by a health insurance plan.

The Chamber of Commerce party, split up into several groups, were escorted by guides, who explained the various processes of production. The efficiency of operations in this mill was considered a distinct credit to the management and personnel.

Mr. W. R. Pollock is secretary of the J. C. Wilson Paper Ltd., and director in charge of production. Robt. Cairns is mill manager; Angus Taylor, office manager; Ian Gordon, production superintendent; and Elton Rice, plant engineer.

Correction

Attention has been drawn to an error in reporting a recent conviction at St. Jerome, in a case of illegal possession of a deer carcass almost a year ago at St. Michel de Wentworth. Apprehended by county game officers, and fined $50 each and costs in this case, were Georges Lebeau and Alexandre Baril, of St. Michel. (A Watchman report of February 15 misstated the latter name by error as François Baril.)

END OF TRIP

Montreal (CP) — When the icebreaker N.B. McLean crunched her way into the inner harbor, it ended winter's almost four-month grip on the port. A long narrow opening now extends from Montreal to the sea, but icebreakers have to widen the channel and keep the ice moving.

Fourth Annual Invitation Bonspiel at Curling Club

A record attendance is expected during the 4th Annual Bonspiel here, which started Wednesday. There are 118 entries, comprising rinks from St. Johns, Sherbrooke, Lacolle, and points up to and including Ottawa. Buckingham and Cumberland are among the newer entries, with 11 teams coming from Heather Club.

This highlight is growing in popularity and makes a pleasant climax to the season's local activities. The contests will last until April 5, and there will be numerous prizes awarded. The ladies will again serve regular meals during this event.

B'burg Scout Committee Reports on Fund Appeal

Brownsburg— The campaign for funds by the Boy Scouts Association has resulted in $539.50 being raised to date in Brownsburg, and additional returns are expected. The present total almost equals the amount obtained last year, $543.75. The Group Committee appreciates the support extended by the community and the canvassers.

Waste Paper Canvass

At a recent meeting of the Group Committee, another waste paper collection was tentatively scheduled for Saturday, April 26, so all residents are requested to save newspapers, magazines, etc., until the drive takes place.

Changes Noted in 1952 Fishing Regulations

Quebec — Hon. Dr. C. E. Pouliot, Minister of Game and Fisheries, announces to sport fishermen in Quebec that the 1952 resumé of fishing laws and regulations is available at Fish and Game Department offices. The summary, which is a convenient pocket size, shows some new regulations designed to give efficient protection to game fish in Quebec waters.

An important change regarding trout fishing reads: "It is unlawful to use minnows as bait in waters frequented by Speckled Trout, save when such minnows were taken in these same waters." Another new regulation increases the minimum legal length for maskinonge to 30 inches with a daily limit of 3 fish or 30 pounds, plus the weight of one fish. A third gives Quebec anglers a new species of protected game fish in the Striped Bass, referred to as "Striped Bar", which are a popular fish in the lower St. Lawrence. The open season for these fish is from June 1 to November 30, with a minimum length of 12 inches and no daily bag limit.

The legal fishing season for Speckled and Sea Trout, Brown, Quebec Red and Lake Trout is from April 16 to September 30, and for Rainbow Trout, generally, from June 16 to September 30. Fishing for any species of trout through ice is prohibited.

Angling permit fees are $1.10 for residents of the province. For non-residents — all fish except salmon, $5.25; Atlantic salmon and other fish, 3-day license, $5.25; season license, $15.50.

Anglers are asked to secure copies of the official summary, free of cost, when buying their licenses.

Family of Seven Escape from Burning Home, Boy Hurt in Leap from Third-Floor Window

The residence of Dr. Roger A. Dumais, dentist — a modern three-storey home on Bedard Boulevard — was the scene of a costly fire early Monday morning, and the seven members of the family escaped in their night attire from upstairs windows, as smoke and rapidly-spreading flames engulfed the ground floor.

The alarm was turned in to Lachute Fire Brigade at 6.30 a.m. from the home of G. Joanette, next-door neighbor. Within less than half an hour the fire crew had poured water from two hose lines and quelled the blaze. The entire downstairs, however, was gutted and everything exposed on the second and third floors was either scorched or blistered with heat; contents of the upstairs drawers and cupboards were affected only by smoke.

Dr. Dumais was aroused by one of his children, who cried out that the house was full of smoke. Dr. Dumais hurriedly donned slippers and trousers, but on discovering the extent of the blaze, which blocked the stairway, he hurried his wife, two daughters and baby from a second-floor door and onto the garage roof, where assisted by neighbors they were able to reach the ground. All were in their night-clothes. Two young sons, Jacques and Gilles, who were sleeping on the third floor, started downstairs but were driven back by smoke. Their father persuaded them to jump from a window, catching them in his arms to break the fall. Jacques, aged 12, suffered a broken arm, and was later taken to the Providence Hospital. The luckless family found refuge in Mr. Joanette's home, but later Dr. Dumais drove them to his camp on the North River, east of Lachute, where arrangements were made for their warmth and comfort. Two of the daughters remained with friends in Lachute. The Dumais' eldest son is attending school at Ville St. Laurent.

The fire originated in the sunporch. The furnace was operating normally even after the blaze, and the cause of the outbreak is unknown. Dr. Dumais had only recently completed the installation of a modern kitchen, but everything on the ground floor was literally reduced to ashes. The firemen halted the blaze before damage spread to the second floor.

DIRECT MAIL APPEAL, ANNUAL EASTER SEALS

The annual campaign for the sale of Easter Seals — those now-familiar stickers signifying aid to crippled children and adult sufferers — is now under way. Letters are in the mail presenting the facts of this campaign, which is sponsored here by Lachute Lions Club, and committeeman Dr. F. W. FitzGerald is confident of the public sympathy and support, as in previous years.

The sum of $700 was subscribed in this district last year. The proceeds are devoted entirely to the medical aid and the rehabilitation of crippled residents of Quebec — enabling handicapped citizens to take their place in active society and opening bright prospects for children denied the activities and pursuits of normal youngsters.

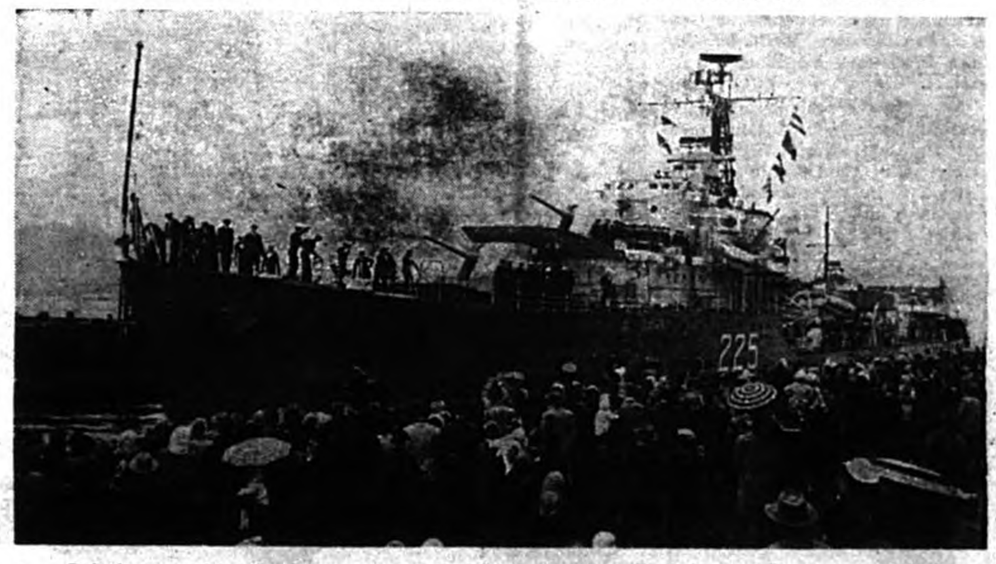

Fifty per cent of the sum collected is retained in the community sponsoring the appeal; and a very recent instance of good work accomplished by the Lions Club in this respect was the granting of $150 towards the cost of an artificial limb, for a Lachute man unable to continue work through defects in a worn-out appliance.

The Lions Club has also been privileged to extend financial aid in other cases of local need.

SIOUX HOME AFTER SECOND ROUND IN KOREAN WATERS

Relatives and friends of the crew of H.M.C.S. Sioux gather on the dock at Esquimault, B.C., as the destroyer docked there after a second round of duty in Korean waters. The Sioux' latest assignment lasted 11 months. She is reported to be reassigned for duty April 15.

Report Preliminary Work For Carillon Development

(Special to The Watchman and L'Argenteuil)

St. Andrews East — News that Quebec Hydro is commencing development of the Carillon power site in the near future, is learned with satisfaction in this district.

T. E. Larocque Ltd., diamond drilling contractors, have been at the site for the past week or so, and approximately 20 laborers from the Carillon district are engaged in laying a road to the scene of operations.

The development of Carillon power has been discussed over the past 50 years and it is hoped that this is a definite step in its materialization. The St. Andrews East Chamber of Commerce has confidence in the future growth of this area, and is active to publicize the municipality throughout the province. It is their hope to attract small staple industries to give assurance of prosperity to the community.

Oldster's Philosophy

Mrs. John Beggs of Arcola, Sask., at 104 is one of Canada's oldest women; has been dwelling on the prairies since 1882, resides with her only living son on the original family homestead, and says, "When you work you're ready for your meals and it's good to have a hearty appetite".

Theft of Sap Spouts Reported at B'burg

(Special to The Watchman and L'Argenteuil)

Brownsburg — Police Chief Marcel Parent was called upon to solve the disappearance of several hundred sap spouts, taken from maple trees in the sugar bush of Georges Lacasse. It is believed the miscreants were young boys of 12 to 15 years of age. Chief Parent is said to have a good idea of the offenders in this case, and is on their trail.

Plan Third Annual Music Festival Here for May 2-3

The third annual Spring Music Festival, sponsored and organized by the Argenteuil - Two Mountains Teachers' Association, will be held this year on Friday and Saturday, May 2 and 3. Among the schools attending will be Lachute High School, the Intermediate Schools at Brownsburg, Grenville, Kilmar, Morin Heights and Arundel, and the Lake of Two Mountains High School at St. Eustache.

Interest seems to be steadily increasing in this worthwhile enterprise. In 1951, 1,200 pupils took part; however it is expected that there will be at least 1,300 entries this year. This festival program will include massed singing, class singing, small vocal ensembles, vocal solos and duets for boys and girls of all age groups, as well as piano solos and duets, and violin ensembles and solos. Pupils who play trumpets, clarinets, saxophones, trombones, guitars, mandolins, or any other musical instrument, will also participate.

It may be interesting to note that there will be more emphasis this year on combined effort, rather than on individual school performance. Massed choirs, both junior and senior, representing all the schools in the district, will perform at a concert on Saturday evening, May 3.

Standards will be higher than ever, under the very capable adjudication of Dr. D. M. Herbert, Supervisor of Music in the Montreal Protestant Schools, and Mr. Harry Norris of D'Oyle Carte fame, the well-known composer, director and adjudicator. Dr. Herbert will be acting in this capacity for the second time, and Mr. Norris for the third.

The Festival will take place once again in the Lachute High School, which is particularly well adapted to such a performance with the spacious Music Room as well as the Auditorium, possessing an excellent stage and grand piano and providing ample space for spectators. Meals will be served in the cafeteria to those entering the Festival.

A strong committee, headed by S. E. McKyes, chairman, F. H. J. Royal and Dennis Staniforth, has been named to take charge of this third annual Spring Music Festival.

W. M. Cottingham Named To Protestant Committee Of Public Education

Quebec (CP) — William M. Cottingham, M.L.A. for Argenteuil, has been appointed a member of the Protestant Committee of Public Education, it was announced by Premier Duplessis.

Mr. Cottingham, who is chairman of the Argenteuil-Two Mountains Central School Board, will replace John G. Rennie, member of the Assembly for Huntingdon, who died recently.

"Arts Guild" Sponsoring Exhibition at St. Eustache

Further information concerning the 1st annual exhibition of the Lake of Two Mountains "Arts Guild", to be held at the town hall in St. Eustache-sur-le-Lac next week-end, April 5-6, is given in a prospectus received here from Miss Irene Adshead, of the organizing committee.

All age groups of the district will be represented in this exhibition — children, teen-agers, adult artists, beginners, advanced students and a few works by professional artists. The event, which is sponsored and organized by the newly formed "Arts Guild", will be open to the public from 10 a.m. till 10 p.m. on Saturday, and from 10 a.m. till 9 p.m. on Sunday. Prizes will be awarded to the winning juvenile exhibitors on Saturday evening at 9 o'clock.

"Send in your work", says a paragraph in the leaflet. "If you paint or draw and have one of your sketches, pictures or pieces of sculpture which you would like to exhibit, please send it in. This is a community art exhibit by amateurs like yourself. No entry fee is required". Further information is available from Miss I. Adshead (tel. St. Eustache 3095).

All interested are cordially invited to attend this exhibition. Admission is free, and there will be artistic door prizes each evening.

Red Cross Canvass in B'burg Starts Friday

Brownsburg — A committee has again been organized in Brownsburg to handle this year's campaign for funds in aid of the Canadian Red Cross Society. The members of the committee have been drawn from various local organizations to ensure adequate representation. Mr. H. M. Sherwood and Mrs. N. E. Smillie have again agreed to act as co-chairmen, and Mr. A. G. Talbot will be the treasurer.

Canvassers will endeavor to call at all homes in Brownsburg and vicinity between March 28 and April 12.

Last year the Province of Quebec, with an objective of $850,000, was approximately $400,000 below the target — while Brownsburg, with a quota of $1,500, attained only $1,174.30. The Committee has advised that it is imperative that Quebec raise at least $1,000,000 this year. Brownsburg's objective is again $1,500.

For such a worthy cause, surely Brownsburg can over-subscribe such a modest quota. Please be generous when the canvasser calls!

Elections "Before or After, But Not in June", Says Premier Duplessis

By Bernard Dufresne

Quebec, March 25 (CP) — The Quebec electorate will go to the polls for a provincial general election sometime next summer, but, "barring unforeseen developments" it will not be in June.

That is the word from Premier Duplessis, who played a guessing game with newspaper men at his press conference last week.

"Elections will be before or after, but not in June", he said.

The Premier asked reporters to guess the date of the forthcoming elections. Most guesses were for July elections; in 1948 elections were held July 28.

The premier, who once mentioned a date as remote as September, told newspaper men, "frankly, I haven't picked the date yet."

Possibility of an election before June was considered remote for two reasons. One reason is that the premier is still fitted in a plaster cast as a result of a spinal injury suffered in a fall in Montreal last month, and might not feel up to treading the hustings.

The second reason is that activities which usually precede an election in Quebec Province have not yet started.

The premier eliminated June because of elaborate celebrations in connection with the third French-language congress to be held in Montreal, Quebec, Three Rivers and St. Hyacinthe.

FORUMS HEAR TALK ON FOREST MANAGEMENT

The "fourth night" gathering of Argenteuil Farm Forums was held in Lachute High School on Monday evening, attended by approximately 100 persons.

Following the regular Farm Forum broadcast, Stuart Armstrong, the district Forums' secretary, introduced the guest speaker, Mr. Mansel Wilson, of Canadian International Paper Company, who gave a short talk on forest management. This was followed by films on the same subject, which showed that on poor soil good trees will provide a fair return per acre, which is lost otherwise.

Following the films 15 or 18 tables of "500" were played, refreshments were served and a very enjoyable evening was spent.

During the proceedings Stuart Armstrong passed along information gleaned at a Quebec Farm Forums executive meeting in Montreal. Resultant from the recent foot-and-mouth disease scare, one authority (he stated) had strongly urged farmers to guard against dumping of livestock and produce — to maintain a high quality of product and rely upon supply and demand for fair prices.

M.L.A. on Visit to Northern Municipalities

Mr. W. M. Cottingham, M.L.A., is on a three-days' visit to Morin Heights, St. Adolphe and 16 Island Lake, for the purpose of discussing current problems and needs of that district. During his visit Mr. Cottingham will meet with members of the various school and council bodies.

MANY QUIT EARLY

Dayspring, N.S. (CP) — Rev. S. J. Armstrong told a recent Home and School meeting here that only about 55 per cent of Canadian youngsters have as much as eight years of schooling.

Gatineau LINES

Waste Not, Want Not

When you were a youngster your elders probably tried to impress upon you the importance and virtues of being thrifty. No doubt, to give emphasis to their teaching, they frequently quoted the old saying, "Waste Not, Want Not".

In a country of great abundance like Canada we are too apt to think of our natural resources as virtually inexhaustible, and as a consequence, we are likely to waste far more than we should. A certain amount of waste is almost unavoidable, but it must always be borne in mind that some of our natural resources are irreplaceable while others must be rebuilt or replenished over a period of many years. Ore taken out of the ground cannot be replaced and forests which are wantonly destroyed by fire, will take decades to grow to full growth again.

One of the things we are apt to waste, quite unconsciously, is electricity. Electric power is so convenient and so cheap that we waste it by misuse without realizing that it is being squandered. Lights are left on in unoccupied rooms; radios play when people aren't listening; electrical appliances aren't turned off immediately when a task is done.

Another way in which electricity is really wasted is when it is used to do a job which could be done more economically some other way — and therefore cannot be used to do a job for which it was really intended. Take house heating for instance. Houses can be heated by electricity but to do so requires tremendous amounts of power which could be better used in factories to produce more wealth for the community. When a few people heat their houses with electricity the situation is not too serious, but if everybody started doing that, there just wouldn't be enough electricity left for anything else and factories would have to close because they had no means of turning their machines.

Electricity is wasted when it is used for the comfort and convenience of a single person or family when it could be better used providing employment and service for hundreds.

A KINDLY WORD FOR FAMILY PHYSICIANS; COSMOPOLITA – THOSE NEW CANADIANS

"EXILE FROM SUNNYACRES"
— By Margaret Cook —

"Spring is what Winter gazinta", carols Ogden Nash, and goes on to elaborate —

"I do not like the signs of Spring,
The fever and the chills,
The icy mud, the puny bud,
The frozen daffodils.
Let other poets gaily sing;
I do not like the signs of Spring."

You're dead right, Mr. Nash, Spring is greatly over-rated, or, rather, the advance notices are deceptive. In our suburb, Spring is slush and two-inch crocuses cowering close to the warm brick wall. Only the crows are really convinced that things are better.

This slightly jaundiced view may be influenced by the fact that we have just returned from a "rest" at a hospital, whither we went for what is understated as an "Investigation". Twenty years ago, this rite was termed "Observation", and some reticences were allowed the victim; but now, when the unwary and trustful patient agrees with the doctor that perhaps it would be as well to have a "check-up", he delivers himself body and soul to the examining specialists, who begin with the teeth and progress in an orderly and leisurely manner to the toes. From all this we learned that it is practically indecent to have one's natural teeth after the age of 40; that the mental age of the average movie-goer may be 13, but is a good two years above that of the average patient, according to the doctors; that not to relish ice-water is deplorable; that not to bow the knee to the great god Routine, is to brand one as a social outcast; and, lastly, that one should always be kind to the poor young interne, who is hourly ground between the nether stones of the aforementioned Routine and that other even greater god, his immediate superior in the medical profession.

Having suffered the ministrations of five specialists and one interne and having come out with a confirmation of the treatment suggested by the local doctor, we yearn for the pen of a Nash with which we might eulogize the General Practitioner. Methinks that in a few years his kind will be extinct.

All people of middle age have grateful memories of some medical figure that was a rock of refuge for the people of his district. He superintended their entrance into this world and cushioned the shock of their exit; and in between, shared the life of the community as no other public figure has ever done, with the exception of a good curé of a rural parish. Lachute readers will remember with affection one notable example, and the writer knew such another in Shefford County; while, in our own town we have currently two G.P.'s, who have labored faithfully among us for over 20 years, but the breed is inexorably being superseded by the specialist, who knows his diseases thoroughly and his patients not at all.

We were much interested by the new Canadians in the world of the hospital; the doctors, head nurses and most of the graduate nurses, were native-born, but about 75% of the maintenance staff were Europeans. As it is one of our hobbies to try to guess a person's country from his appearance, we had a field day. "Are you from Lithuania?", we asked a plump little maid with her hair tied back in the popular "horse's tail" mode. "No, madame, from Poland". Then, with a broad smile showing excellent teeth, "But you vass near!" The nurse who asked if I wanted my face "vashed", indignantly repelled the suggestion that she was German; she was Dutch, from a small town near Amsterdam. When told that we still remembered a delicious porridge cooked in milk that we had had for breakfast there, and the dark beer at lunch, she beamed. Then there were two window-cleaners, one at least six feet, the other diminutive, both swarthy and probably Italian, whose only English was "Excussspliss!" They trailed around all day, harried by a monster of a white-clad orderly, who was always referring to the way things are done in the "armed forces". He sported a regimental moustache and so did two of the doctors — well, regimental is hardly the name for theirs, almost handle-bars. Maybe the things are coming into style again.

To return to the new Canadians, we are all for them, although we know that several of our readers have had unfortunate experiences with them. The chief complaints seem to be that they have no idea of the sanctity of a contract and that they take jobs that good Canadians should get. There is little defence for the first, although there is some reason to believe that our representatives abroad do leave a false impression about Canada in the minds of enquirers. Rumor has it that some of these semi-officials have not been in Canada since before 1939. Everybody will agree that the Canadian scene has changed greatly since then and that such persons cannot present an accurate picture of Canadian conditions at present. As to taking a Canadian's job, that is often due to the character of the work. Learning one or several trades is a commonplace in Europe; in Canada, a rarity. Readers will perhaps remember the example mentioned in this column last Autumn, of the Swiss who arrived as an embroiderer and remained to become a chef, and finally, a builder and property owner. Such versatility is uncommon among our people. The prizes in life are, as in school, mostly handed out to those who earn them; let us remember that when we find a coveted job held by a "foreigner". Let us also remember that the great country to the south is made up of just such people as we are now welcoming or cold-shouldering in Canada. This is a huge country and the one, we think, with the greatest future in the world; do not let us retard that future by a narrow, selfish outlook.

"Heavy going", sigh our faithful readers. "Can't she write just one amusing thing?". . . Well, we thought this story funny:

Voice on the 'phone to the Salvation Army — "You save bad girls, don't you?"

"We certainly try to, Sir."

"In that case please try to save me two for Saturday night."

No, it was not a naughty nurse who contributed that, but the elderly mother-in-law of a friend of ours.

All Work – No Pay

FRANKLY, we feel it's just about time that Ottawa started contributing to the payroll of our staff, particularly the office end of it.

As a matter of fact, the amount of work done for the government, and the time involved, makes us feel that we're already on the government's payroll; it's simply someone has merely forgotten to send us the weekly cheque.

Many, many hours are spent on behalf of the government each month, and not only do we not get paid for it, it invariably comes out that we have to pay them more.

There's the matter of sales tax, for example. Nearly every bit of printing done requires sales tax. We figure it out, record it, take the dirty looks as a result of someone being asked to pay it, and use up our cheques and our stamps, and letterhead, to send the money in to Ottawa. And to crown it all, we have to pay for a license to act as Ottawa's collecting agency.

Then there's the matter of unemployment insurance, and the hours of figuring and stamp-licking and what-not that goes into that. No thanks, mind you, or a slight cut for our efforts. Merely a blast if the thing isn't done correctly. And, of course, there's income tax, and innumerable reports required now and then.

Our staff is probably doing all this because the paid civil servants are now working on a 35-hour week, or is it 30? We'd like that, too — before we qualify for that new pension that begins for everyone at 70 — if we make it.

Dollar's Comeback

RIB-TICKLING is the word for those signs going up these days reading: "American money accepted at par".

After years of watching Americans turn up their noses at good Bank of Canada currency and listening to them call our shining coins funny money, we can be forgiven a chuckle or two at their expense.

Time was when we had to pay 10 cents or more on every dollar we changed into U.S. currency. Using Canadian bills over the border was difficult, particularly at a distance from Canada. Many a Canadian had to taxi to a bank before the driver would accept his fare.

Worse still was the fact that Americans here could get a premium for every dollar they brought. Back in the days when it was 20 per cent they could offer a $20 bill for a $4 purchase and get back $20 in Canadian bills as well as the article they bought.

That Canadians were able to stand the sight of a jovial, well-heeled American getting a $4 bottle of whisky for nothing and not commit mayhem was a tribute to their self-control.

With our dollar now often at par and sometimes at a premium, those days are gone — forever we hope. The Canadian dollar is standing on its own feet, the only currency in the world that can do that in the company of the American dollar.

It's going to be difficult this tourist season but Canadians should restrain themselves in dealing with visitors who haven't heard about the change.

Don't call their bills funny money. Don't ask them why they didn't bring along some "real Canadian dough". Don't bite their nickels and ask them who that fellow Jefferson is.

When there's a premium it will be slight and there's no use irking our visitors by working out what 19/32nds of a cent amounts to on a five-dollar bill. Charge it up to goodwill.

The signs should give them the idea. Without our saying it right out, they'll hint that Canada is doing pretty well financially. However, if the point comes up it's all right to mention that we're self-supporting and haven't taken a nickel of foreign aid during the war or after it. That will be news to many of them.

The Reason-Why

ALTHOUGH here in the rural districts we can advance many sound points to the contrary, the appeal of urban employment continues to attract many farm dwellers to more lucrative fields. The following letter to the editor of a daily newspaper crystallizes the attraction of the city, and — right or wrong — it will do no harm to peruse these arguments:

Sir — I was a farmer up till 1951. I used to get up at 5 a.m. seven days a week.
I had 20 dairy cows.
I produced milk.
I had to go outdoors to get my water, chilly in the winter time.
I had to go outdoors to my bathroom, cold in the winter time.
I did not make any money.
I did not pay any income tax.
I existed.

But today —

Now I work in the city and live in it. I pay income tax 200 dollars and I am very glad to do it.
I start work at 9 a.m. and finish at 5 p.m.
I sleep in on Saturday and Sunday mornings.
I turn a tap and have hot or cold water indoors.
I open a door and have a heated bathroom with hot and cold water.
It is grand to live in the city and pay income tax.

P.S. I now get paid for my work.

Soothingly on the Grease-Mud

HERE'S AN excerpt from an old Japanese digest of traffic laws and ordinances (which comes to our desk in a lively little trade leaflet issued by Edison Ediphone):

"At the rise of the hand of policeman, stop rapidly. Do not pass him by or otherwise disrespect him.

"When a passenger of the foot hove in sight, tootle the horn trumpet to him melodiously at first. If he still obstacles your passage, tootle him with more vigor and express by word of mouth the warning 'Hi, Hi!'

"Beware of the wandering horse that he shall not take fright as you pass him. Do not explode the exhaust box at him. Go soothingly by, or stop at the roadside till he pass away. Give big space to the festive dogs that make sport on the roadway. Avoid tanglement of the dog with your wheel-spokes. Go soothingly on the grease-mud, as there lurk the skid-demon. Press the brake of the foot as you roll around the corner to save the collapse and the tie-up."

LIFE'S RENEWAL

By M. V. Trayers

April has always had a special significance for the woman of the house. Bulbs are being planted, the children's heavy winter things go back in the mothballs, and the annual marathon of soap, water and skinned knuckles — spring-cleaning is with us again. That's April. But April in the last few years has taken on an added meaning. . . April is "Cancer Month" in Canada.

Now, I know cancer is not a pleasant subject, but I think it is worth while to face up to the facts. As with so many things, if we take a long, hard look at a problem we reduce it to a manageable size.

Some of us will be able to remember when tuberculosis wasn't talked about openly. A few years back it was mental disease. It is only recently that we have come around to accept alcoholism as a curable disease. Now, slowly but surely, we are facing up to cancer.

Cancer, to reduce it to its simplest language, is an abnormal malignant growth — cells growing out of control. By surgery, or by radium or X-ray treatment, doctors remove and arrest the growth. And many cases of cancer are curable. Sometimes a cancerous growth is a tiny lump on the skin, no larger than a match-head. It is removed quickly and simply and then may never return again, although the patient is given periodic check-ups to make sure this is so. Other times cancer is more deeply rooted.

The important thing to remember is that doctors can cure many cases of cancer if they are caught early enough. That's the essential rule: early diagnosis and immediate treatment.

Everyone should be able to recognize cancer's warning signals. You should ask your doctor about them, or you can get the information absolutely free from the Cancer Campaign secretary in your own district. In Brownsburg, address your letter to Miss Ann David, Secretary, Cancer Campaign, Brownsburg. In Lachute, a letter to Mrs. A. George Leggett will provide you with the material. And don't forget that this great national program of research, education and cancer control needs your help. Make a contribution to the local Cancer Campaign too, won't you? The life you assist in saving may be your own, or one of your loved ones.

We are apt to grow weary of campaigns for money, for this and for that. We are also apt to apply this thought to good causes like the Cancer Campaign, as to more dubious ones. Unthinkingly we say, "Why doesn't the Government take over those activities? Since the Government is taking such a thick slice of everyone's income already, why shouldn't it take those added duties and put the bill on the cuff?" Given the proper authority, the Government could take over the Cancer Society, and like pensions means tests, annuities, and car insurance, kick it around as a political football; or maybe it could be done without such log rolling. But instead of the boy or girl from next door asking you for a contribution to the Cancer Society, you would have some paid carpetbagger tell you what your assessment was. You would lose that friendly, confidential touch of help where it is most needed, that voluntary service which makes you feel you have done a good deed and carried out God's commandments, "at least you my friends, for the hand of the Lord hath touched me". You wouldn't be part of a dedicated and enthusiastic voluntary service which never could be matched by bureaucracy.

WALTER HENRY JACKSON

The Trail of '98

Just listen to me, and I'll relate
What happened to me in '98
When the great Gold Rush brought thousands forth
To try their luck in the Frozen North.
My old pal, Tom, was a friend indeed,
He knew the trail, so I let him lead
On those dreadful nights on the Yukon Trail
With our tent, our grub, and an old tin pail.
A rifle, a gun, and our blankets rolled.
A pick and a spade to dig for gold.
One night we camped by a rushing stream
When out of the night came a muffled scream;
I grabbed the rifle and started out
To find what the noise was all about.
When suddenly, out of the frosty air
Came the angry snarl of a grizzly bear!
I fired twice as he made a rush
Past a big pine tree in the underbrush.
Then the rifle jammed and I turned to flee
But I tripped and fell, and the bear got me.
A blizzard raged through the Arctic night
And buried the camp in a blanket white.
Bob Moore, a prospector, found Tom there.
No sign of me, nor the grizzly bear.

• • •

Spring came at last and the winter went.
Bob Moore had gambled his last red cent.
So he started North in search for gold —
Asked Tom to join him. Tom cut him cold.
So he went alone, and one night he
Had pitched his camp by that same pine tree.
Bob was a strong man, brave and bold.
But the sight that he saw made his blood run cold.
I heard him afterwards tell a friend
That his hair all actually stood on end.
For there, at the foot of the lonesome pine
Lay a clean-picked skeleton —
IT WAS MINE!

Be seein' ya!

— Uncle Walt.

GOOD VOTER

Raymond, Alta. (CP) — One of Raymond's pioneer settlers, G. W. Lamb, claims he has voted every time there's been an election in this town in the Lethbridge district. And Raymond was named in 1902, so that's 50 times.

STUBBORN HUNTER

Picton, Ont. (CP) — After a nine-hour chase using three dogs in relays, Kenneth McConnell, light-house keeper on the False Ducks Island, bagged a 40-pound wolf. Many sheep had been victims of wolves in this district.

Look, Mister!

You want your wife to stay looking young — the best beauty treatment a thoughtful husband like you can give her is a break — a break from the drudgery of doing the weekly wash. Sending her flowers won't do a thing for her looks. Just tell her to call 1009 next wash day.

DO YOU KNOW THE ANSWER TO THIS $40 QUESTION?

How does the universal old age pension at 70 affect your retirement plan?

The main consideration quickly realized by most people is that something must be done about the years between normal retirement age and age 70 when the Government Pension is payable.

The Great-West Life has the answer to this problem— a special new "Bridge the Gap" pension plan to enable you to enjoy adequate income beginning at the more desirable age of 60 or 65.

Without obligation you can find out how easy it is to tie in your personal plans with the new Government Pension at 70.

FOR PARENTS ONLY...

A Weekly Feature of Helpful Hints on Child Training

Through Your Child's Eyes

— By NANCY CLEAVER — (Copyright)

In one of the most popular of new non-fiction books "White Man Returns", Agnes Newton Keith tells of going back to Borneo with her husband and her seven year old son George. In it she comments: "When George came back to Borneo with us, we reckoned it was not a matter of ourselves showing Borneo to him, but of Borneo seen anew by us, through George". She mentioned special experiences such as the taste of tropical food, the effect of a tropical climate, speaking other languages, Oriental pastimes and the companionship with Asian children.

Parents do not need to travel to a far-away corner to experience the thrill of catching a glimpse of the world through the eyes of their child. This is one of the delights of parenthood which compensates for the many disciplines which life brings to a father or mother.

Young children have a quick and natural response to the beauty of the world out-of-doors. Arthur Thompson, the great British scientist, said once that wonder was the true beginning of the search for knowledge, the quest for origins, the compilation of facts in scientific research. The "little people" of the earth have not lost their capacity for wonder.

Fathers and mothers are preoccupied with earning a living or looking after a home. Every day is crowded with tasks. They find it hard to take their eyes off the immediate job before them and look out on the world or up at the sky.

Gregory Clark in "So What?", that delightful collection of fishing yarns and adventure tales, has a striking little piece, "Night and the Stars". In it he relates his two year old's reactions in the autumn when daylight saving had ended. One evening he went outside with his dad just before bedtime. The lad was amazed that the bright world which he had been accustomed to see had been swallowed by the darkness. Then suddenly he saw the stars — "First one, then another, and then in all their countless millions. His little face raised and still, he turned slowly on his heel and gazed at this luminous inspiration of countless ages of human hearts."

Not in many words, but nevertheless quite clearly, all the same, Gregory Clark implies that for a father to be with a little lad on a moment like this is indeed a high occasion. Gregory Clark was suddenly seeing the dark curtain of the night pierced by the blazing stars through the eyes of his little son.

Agnes Newton Keith and Gregory Clark, two very different parents, as well as two very different writers, both experienced this sensation of glimpsing what their child saw. How did they do this?

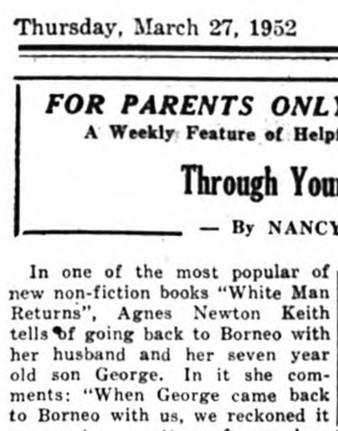

For one thing, they both spent time with their son. They shared their precious leisure with the little chap who had come into their home. How many parents, especially fathers, fail to do this! They have other interests to occupy their spare moments — clubs, politics, golf, hunting — adult pursuits all very important but activities in which there is no place for a youngster.

Another thing they had in common was the ease with which they identified themselves with their child. They recalled their own childhood — they knew what it was like to be small and inexperienced. They were like Thomas Hood, the early nineteenth century poet, who had a vivid memory of the zest with which a child greets the morning. This is reflected in the lines beginning:

"I remember, I remember
The house where I was born
The little window where the sun
Came peeping in at morn;
He never came a wink too soon
Nor brought too long a day."

The years of childhood pass so swiftly. When boys and girls reach adolescence they are busy at school, at part time work and off with their own chums, in their leisure hours. This is part of growing up — of the natural urge to shake off the direction of their parents.

But while they are still small, a little child's fingers slip easily and trustingly into a parent's large hand. For such a short time, mothers and fathers have the privilege of seeing the world through their child's eyes. What a pity if they miss this opportunity — because there are few experiences in life which match it!

Have your car or truck checked regularly. With our 4-way service we can save you time and money!

March Meetings of Argenteuil County Women's Institutes

The County W.I. publicity convener commends the various branches on prompt reporting of their meetings this month. Following is a resumé of March activities among the district groups:

Arundel W.I. had 34 members for the branch annual meeting, which included the election of officers and presentation of conveners' reports. A cheque for $100 was donated to the Corporation of Arundel towards the purchase of a fire alarm siren. The W.I. was also successful in persuading the council to have two more street-lights installed on Highway 31 leading north from the village.

Brownsburg had 41 ladies in attendance. A children's party was held on February 16; films were shown and refreshments served. Some members are taking the Home Nursing course under direction of Mrs. S. Istvanffy. Parcels were sent to sick members during the month. The Scout and Guide Committees each received a $5 donation. A parcel was sent overseas, and it was decided to continue with these monthly parcels during the coming year. An Art course was started on March 10, given by Miss Elizabeth Campbell, of Macdonald College. The election of officers was held, and refreshments were served.

Frontier branch had 19 present, the meeting being held at the Orange Hall in Lachute, with Mrs. B. Clark, Mrs. D. MacDonald and Mrs. N. Morrison as joint hostesses. The installation of officers was directed by Mrs. C. W. P. Baugh, county president. A quilt was pieced for the Red Cross work by Mrs. I. Fuller. Two new members joined the branch. A floral spray was sent to a bereaved member.

Lachute had 39 ladies in attendance. The roll-call was answered by payment of fees. Yearly reports were given by the conveners, showing an active year in every department. The library has increased in scope and attracted wider interest. Miss Ida R. Bruneau, Macdonald College handicraft technician, will give a demonstration in April on felt-work. Mrs. Geo. Muir and Mrs. Geo. Tattersfield were appointed delegates to the June convention. The nominating committee's slate of officers was read by Mrs. L. Armstrong and accepted. Mrs. Geo. Y. Deacon thanked the outgoing officers, stressing the interesting programs presented each month.

Lakefield had 10 members for the annual meeting, at the home of Mrs. A. Kyle. A box was sent to a needy family overseas; $5 was voted to the Red Cross; and a box of clothing sent to the Save the Children fund. In the election of officers, Mrs. Haddon MacDonald was appointed president and and Mrs. H. Neill vice-president. The retiring president thanked all members for their support. The financial statement showed a very successful year.

Mille Isles reports an attendance of six. Contributions were voted to the Service Fund and to the Boy Scouts Association. Plans were made to send a food parcel to England. Reports were given by officers and conveners on the year's work. All officers and conveners were re-elected. A quilt was on display, which had been made for the Red Cross. The roll-call was the payment of fees. One new member was welcomed to the branch.

Morin Heights had 18 present, and plans were made for Miss E. Campbell to give a Sewing course, May 12 - 16. Miss Ida Bruneau gave a course in glove and slipper making during February; this was well attended, and 11 pairs of gloves were completed. Members were canvassed for the Farmers' Magazine and the W.I. funds benefitted by a discount on the order. The Institute attended, in a body, a service held in the Protestant School upon the death of the late King George VI — the service being conducted by ministers of the Anglican and United churches in Morin Heights.

Pioneer branch had 16 members present. Officers were elected and a suggested program was read and adopted. A Home Economics questionnaire was read by the convener of this department. A rose-pattern quilt-top was pieced.

Jerusalem - Bethany reports 16 ladies in attendance. Mrs. H. Todd was elected president, with Mrs. G. Hay 1st vice-president. The sum of $10 was voted to the Red Cross appeal.

At Upper Lachute - East End, there were 24 present. Officers were installed and reports presented by the various conveners. An appliquéd quilt was made and quilted. Donations were voted to Lachute High School, also to the School Fair. . . A parcel was sent overseas.

Tweedsmuir Competitions For Federated W.I.'s

Members of the Quebec Women's Institutes are expressing interest in the current Tweedsmuir Competition. This follows the same pattern as those held in previous biennial terms of the Federated Women's Institutes of Canada, continuing with the three sections; village history, craft and essay.

Entries in the last named had to be in by the first of March of this year but a closing date for the other two sections has not yet been announced. It is expected this will not be until the first of next year.

The rules governing the preparation of the village history are unchanged from those of former competions, but this term the craft section features an appliqued quilt instead of the usual hooked rug. Original design is still stressed and the quilt must be 80 or 90 inches in width and 108 inches long. It is to be light in weight, more in the nature of a spread.

Complete details for preparing entries in both sections may be obtained by writing the Q.W.I. office, Macdonald College.

Tom Gard's Note Book

I suppose we have all been reminded that it is good to store for a rainy day, and of course that means winter as well. This was brought very much to mind when travelling through the country recently, and inspecting equipment in a farm home.

Storage Bin

This farmer did not agree with the old type bin in the corner of the cellar, he had built an airy one for better results. The framework of the bin was out from the wall about three inches, firmly constructed with sliding shelves or trays for fruit, bulbs, and vegetables. Plenty of air worked up through the trays as each had a slat bottom. It is well to keep in mind that the room should be cool and dry for best results, and free from frost.

Stove-pipes for Stakes

Over in another corner of the basement I spied a storage place for stakes. These had been used for dahlias and tomatoes, some of bamboo and others of cedar. Stove-pipes had been fastened to the wall with heavy wire, and the stakes stood upright to prevent them from falling all over the place.

Protection for Cheese

Invited to partake of a little hospitality I was interested to note how the folks protected the cheese. A new flower-pot had been soaked in water, then placed over the cheese to keep it from drying out, and to protect it from flies.

Small Tool Chest

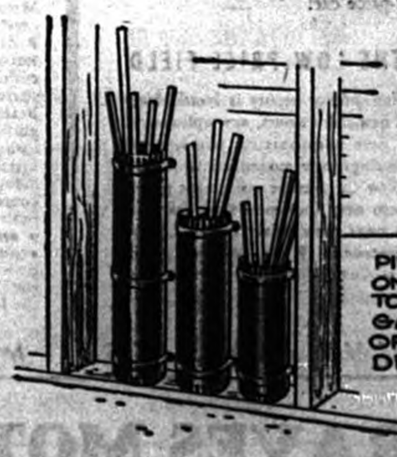

The principal of a school nearby invited me into the manual training room. One of the junior pupils had constructed a very neat tool box from pieces of lath. Given a little extra touch this could have been converted into a fine box for gloves, ties or handkerchiefs.

NEW RESIDENT PASTOR OF PEOPLE'S CHURCH WELCOMED HERE AT SERVICES LAST SUNDAY

Rev. Bob Klemm and Wife, Former Eileen Tuttle, Were Wed in Casa Loma, Toronto, at Bob Jones University Graduates' Reunion

The Rev. Bob Klemm, of Toronto, was welcomed to the pastorate of The People's Church, Lachute, at services last Sunday in McArthur's Hall, meeting place of this congregation. This earnest young Canadian preacher and his wife are optimistic for the growth of their ministry in Lachute, where under direction of the Rev. R. M. MacMillan, B.Th., of The People's Church in Montreal, and with the assistance of young Christian campaigners, enthusiastic gatherings have been held during the past few months.

The Chatelaine of November, 1951, told an unusual story of this young minister and his wife, a fellow graduate of the Bob Jones University, South Carolina, which is here reproduced in part:

When handsome young Bob Klemm of Toronto was named program convener for his American university's annual reunion dinner he knew just the place to hold it — Toronto's famous Casa Loma. And he knew just what was needed for a grand climax to the program—a surprise wedding. Most important of all, he knew just where to find a bride and groom for the occasion.

He invited his college girl friend, Eileen Tuttle of Casey, Illinois, to come to Toronto, to help him arrange the program. Then, when the big moment arrived, master of ceremonies Klemm left the mike, picked his pretty assistant out of the college quartet and led her before the founder of their university to be married.

An unusual wedding like this is quite to be expected of two graduates of an institution that calls itself the most unusual university in the world. Bob Jones University at Greenville, South Carolina, has 3,000 students from 47 American states and 26 foreign countries, including Bob Klemm and 49 other Canadians. Bob Jones University teaches all the traditional arts courses, plus such extremely modern arts as the production of moving pictures, radio and television programs in its own elaborate studios. But Bob Jones also conducts the largest preacher training school on the continent (1,100 divinity students of 54 denominations) and the revivalist flavor of old-time religion dominates every campus activity. This provided Bob Klemm and Eileen Tuttle with a courtship as unusual as their surprise wedding in a castle. . .

For while Bob Jones University is co-educational, dating is a highly formalized and circumspect affair.

While training to be a preacher, earnest Bob Klemm from Canada was required to speak to at least one person daily about the state of his spiritual health, and turn in a written report on the interview. He and the other divinity students spent their vacations and weekends at Bible conferences and camp meetings, sometimes winning a thousand religious converts on a single week-end.

Bob was won by Eileen's lively attraction and admired her musical ability. They came to know each other better at a Youth for Christ Conference, off campus. By the time he graduated last June Bob Klemm had made up his mind he wanted Eileen to share his ministry with him as his wife. Then came the bright idea to be married as a surprise for the 250 students and graduates who were to attend the reunion in Casa Loma.

A surprise wedding at a college reunion seemed entirely decorous and fitting to Bob Jones alumnae, who don't smoke, dance or drink and who conduct their reunions with singsongs, spiritual music, prayer and personal testimony of religious conviction. . .

Bob and Eileen were married by the Rev. Dr. Bob Jones, the genial founder of their college.

Missionary from China For Mid-Week Service

The Rev. J. Elmore Morrison, a veteran missionary from Hong Kong, South China, will conduct a one night "missionary convention" service at 8 p.m. Wednesday, April 2, in the Faith Pentecostal Tabernacle, near Calumet. The Rev. Maurice Almey is the pastor of the church.

The Rev. Mr. Morrison has served more than 20 years in China as a missionary of the Pentecostal Assemblies of Canada. Three times he has been forced to leave the Chinese mainland — in 1926 because of the Communist uprising, in 1940 because of the Japanese occupation, and in 1950 because of the Chinese Communists taking over and forcing all foreigners out.

Along with his evangelistic and administrative duties as the senior missionary in that field, he also founded the Ecclesia Bible College in Hong Kong on British territory, for the training of native pastors. He is now on leave of absence, but expects to return to Hong Kong this coming summer.

Mr. Morrison will show recent pictures at his Wednesday meeting, and will tell of recent letters from faithful Christians behind the "bamboo curtain", who are remaining true to Christ in spite of Communist pressure and increasing persecution. He has many bona fide reports of native pastors who have been tortured to death by the Chinese Reds.

Mr. Morrison is a native of St. Jacobs, Ont., near Kitchener, and during furlough from the missionary field, was pastor of a Montreal church in 1928 and 1929.

The general public are cordially invited to hear this missionary who comes with fresh information from China, having returned to Canada in 1951.

Ministerial Association

The Argenteuil Protestant Ministerial Association will meet on Monday, March 31, at 10 a.m. in St. Simeon's Church hall, Lachute. Guest speaker will be Rev. Dr. J. E. Purdie, of Winnipeg. All ministers of the county are invited to attend.

Bible College Principal Here Next Sunday for Pentecostal Services

Dr. J. Eustache Purdie, of Winnipeg, will be heard by three Argenteuil County congregations this Sunday, March 30. At 11 a.m. he will preach in the Faith Pentecostal Church, Calumet; at 3 p.m. at the Harrington Pentecostal Church; and Sunday night at 7.30 he will address the Brownsburg Pentecostal congregation, which holds its services in the Legion Hall. The Rev. Maurice Almey is pastor of the Calumet and Harrington congregations, and Mr. Laverne Poirier is pastor of the Brownsburg church.

Dr. Purdie is a native of Charlettetown, P.E.I., where his maternal grandfather was a member of the Prince Edward Island Legislature for 28 years consecutively. Dr. Purdie holds degrees in Arts, Divinity and Sacred Theology from the University of Toronto, Wycliffe College, Toronto, and two U.S. theological colleges. He was ordained in St. John's Cathedral, Winnipeg, in 1906, and served Anglican pastorates at Roland, Man., Saint John and Campbellton, N.B., Saskatoon, Sask., and Philadelphia.

In 1925 he accepted the invitation to become principal of the Western Bible College, Winnipeg, holding that post until he retired in 1950.

In Canada there is a branch bank for every 3,700 Canadians.

Child-Study Authority to Address Conf'ce of Quebec Home-School Associations

Dr. Ernest G. Osborne

Doctor Ernest G. Osborne, Professor of Education at Teachers' College, Columbia University, and one of America's best known authorities in child study and family relations, will visit Montreal in May to address the fifth annual conference of Quebec Home and School Associations, L. M. Clark, president of the Quebec Home and School Federation announced this week. Dr. Osborne, who specializes in child development and parent education, is now associated with Columbia's program of Education for Marriage and Family Life. He is advisory editor of Parents' Magazine, and has just completed a three-year term as president of the National Council on Family Relations. He writes a daily column, the "Family Scrap Book", which is syndicated throughout the United States.

Doctor Osborne has been consultant to several national organizations, including the Y.M.C.A. and the Girl Scouts of America. For two years, he and Mrs. Osborne, a Public Health nurse, were child welfare consultants overseas.

The 1952 conference of the 115 Home and School Associations affiliated with the Quebec Federation is being held at the Windsor Hotel on May 9 and 10. More than 450 delegates are expected, representing some 15,000 parent and teacher members of the local Associations.

Curler Bill Hepburn, 70, at Melville, Sask., curled seven games in two days at Yorkton and two more when he returned home the next day.

At Victoria, B.C., Dr. Arthur J. Garesche, 91, a dentist, has put in 70 years with a drill and forceps; he says, "The greatest punishment a man can have is to stop work, and I won't retire as long as I can work". . . Phil Wyman, Yarmouth, N.S., postal employee, startled folks as he drove down Main Street with a live deer in the back seat — humanitarian Wyman came upon a weary deer chased down the highway by two dogs, stopped, opened the door and the deer was glad to get it.

Builders of Churches

God builds no churches! By his plan
That labour has been left to man.
No spires miraculously arise,
No little mission from the skies
Falls on a bleak and barren place
To be a source of strength and grace;
The church demands its price
In human toil and sacrifice.
The humblest spire in mortal ken,
Where God abides, was built by men,
And if the church is still to grow,
Is still the light of hope to throw
Across the valleys of despair,
Man still must build God's house of prayer.
God sends no churches from the skies
Out of our hearts they must arise.

"The Word of God Is Alive" -

SO STATES the inspired writer in his letter to the Hebrews. Truer words were never recorded! Powerful, sharper than any two-edged sword, the Word of God lives forever. Preserved through the centuries, this source of life-giving knowledge outlasts man-made provisions and promises, which fade into oblivion. God's Word cuts through lies and errors of false religion, strengthens the faint and enlivens the despondent. The use of an up-to-date translation like the "New World Translation of the Christian Greek Scriptures" heightens the effect. Read it and prove this for yourself. Its modern speech, along with the advantages of many wonderful helps provided in this 800-page volume, will be a real stimulus to you in your search for life. Lachute Man Takes Bride at Halifax, N.S.

Muir - Wade

A quiet wedding took place at St. David's Presbyterian Church, Halifax, N.S., on Friday, March 14, at seven o'clock, when Joan Elizabeth, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester A. Wade, of Tupperville, N.S., was united in marriage to Richard Emerson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Muir, of Lachute, the Rev. Frank Lawson officiating.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attended by her sister, Mrs. Shirley Giesbrecht, as matron of honor, and the best man was Cst. Roger Shorey, of the R.C.M.P.

A reception was held following the ceremony at the Nova Scotian Hotel, Halifax, after which the bridal couple left on a short wedding trip. They will reside in Halifax.

Mrs. R. Muir and Mr. Wm. Muir attended the wedding, also Mr. Grant Wade, of Kipling, Sask., brother of the bride.

Psychiatrist on 'Movie Delinquency'

Declaring that the "idea that movies encourage juvenile delinquency is a lot of tripe", Dr. Hudson Just, professor of psychiatry at the University of Tennessee, has gone on record that the oft-repeated statement that movies affect children is not correct.

Over Their Heads

"The influence of motion pictures on children has been grossly overestimated", Dr. Just told a luncheon of Mid-South Allied in Memphis, adding:

"Most movies go over the heads of children. They simply do not absorb what they are not interested in. Besides, they come out of a movie theatre with pretty much the same attitudes they had when they went in, and the same is generally true of adults. I think the movies have been given an undeserved black eye in regard to their influence on children. . . . Actually, a child is far more influenced by his family or his gang, with whom he spends 24 hours of the day."

Fowl for Good Value

Advice to young chicks: "Don't get in a stew — you'll be an old hen yet!" Fowl has an honored position on the markets today. There is an excellent supply and the prices are down where they will fit into the average budget. Too, these birds are likely to be plump and meaty, so the homemaker will find them a good buy.

The home economists of the Department of Agriculture say that it's wise to buy fowl by grade to get the best value. Different colored tags designate the grades and these tags are placed on the breast or wing of the bird where they can be easily seen. The tag can be easily removed by slipping the end of a knife between the two parts and lifting. Most of the fowl on the market at present is Grade A which is tagged in red. It has a good proportion of meat to bone, is well shaped and has been fattened for tenderness and flavor.

A fowl is not only economical but, if cooked correctly, makes tasty, appetizing meals. The traditional "Chicken every Sunday" need never get monotonous, for stewed fowl is just the beginning of an infinite number of delectable dishes. An average sized fowl weighing about 6 pounds should give about 4 cups of chopped cooked meat. This can be used for two or three different meals for a small family, if the broth is used for soup, and vegetables are added to extend it.

To begin with, the fowl should be slowly cooked in moist heat to make it tender. If it's stewed, the meat will be juicy and tender. The broth may be used as a soup stock for one meal. Incidentally, a little dusting of nutmeg gives chicken soup an intriguing flavor.

For the second meal, fried fillets are sure to please. To prepare, remove the cooked breast meat from the bone, taking care not to tear or shred it. If the pieces are very large, they may be cut in thick cross-sections. Dip in egg and crumbs or in a batter, and brown in deep fat or in shallow fat. Incidentally, new Canadian hothouse vegetables are coming on the market. Why not serve a tossed spring salad of lettuce, radishes and cucumber with the fried fillets? For the finishing touch, have some colorful pink spring rhubarb sauce for dessert.

The remaining meat could be chopped and made into an appetizing casserole with celery and peas. This will make a hearty and filling dish for the third meal.

These are other suggestions from the home economists for ways of serving fowl. Instead of stewing the fowl, it may be steamed or cooked under pressure to tenderize it. Use part of the chicken and broth to make a jellied chicken loaf or mousee. For added eye appeal, attractive designs can be made by arranging slices of egg along the bottom of the mould. When it is turned over, these designs show up and look very colorful. Garnish with carrot and celery curls. For a complimentary vegetable, serve frozen asparagus topped with a cream sauce.

Any family will enjoy chicken turnovers. To make the turnovers, cut rolled out pastry into squares and place, in the centre, a large spoonful of chicken filling, made with finely diced chicken and celery in thick cream sauce. Fold the pastry over in a triangular shape and bake in a hot oven.

For a party, chickenburgers make a good snack. Shape ground fowl into patties and broil. Serve on toasted buns with jelly, pickles, mayonnaise or other suitable accompaniments. Your guests will love them.

WHAT'S IN A NAME

Brass Corner, N.S. (CP) — Eight families were snowbound here for about 10 days because the name of the road had been changed. A provincial snowplow operator declined to clear the road because it was not on his list. After investigation it was found the district road office had not been notified of the new name.

FASHION HINT

Shown is a dancing dress that sports its own cover-up jacket for restaurant dining or theatre. Fashioned in mauve lace and nylon tulle, although frothy, it is nicely restrained. The strapless bodice is beautifully molded at the bust and fits snugly at the midriff. The lace continues down in handkerchief points on the skirt where it joins the tulle and bells outward, over the taffeta petticoat that forms the skirt foundation. The jacket is of lace over tulle.

Sports and Activities At Lachute High School

By Anne Dwyer

On Wednesday afternoon, March 19, the girls of Grades IX to XI heard another of the vocational talks arranged for the benefit of the pupils by Mr. J. C. Hawes.

The speaker was Miss D. Atkinson, from the Child Welfare Association of Montreal, who came to Lachute to speak on Nursing. Besides giving the material requirements, she stated many others such as self-confidence, tolerance, sense of humor, and sympathy. "These", she stated, "are most important to a girl who wishes to be successful in the nursing profession."

After viewing a film on Nursing entitled "The Girls in White", the pupils asked questions, to which Miss Atkinson readily supplied the answers. On their departure, the pupils, represented by Ruth Clark, thanked Miss Atkinson for her instructive talk.

Basketball

Saturday, March 22, a few players from the basketball teams of Lachute went to compete against the school team in Grenville. The Lachute girls won their match, but the Grenville team proved too strong for the small number of Lachute boys participating.

The Lachute girls won by a score of 11-9. N. Mott started the game off with a foul shot for Grenville. Later J. Goldthorpe got a basket for Lachute. Grenville put themselves ahead when E. Fowler sank the ball in the net. Goldthorpe quickly "split the mesh" again for Lachute and put them in front. H. Prophet put in the first two in the second quarter in Grenville's favor. F. Laurin made the last in that quarter, bringing Lachute's points to 6. At the end of the first half the score was 7-6 for Grenville.

There was not much action in the third quarter. Two foul shots were made. M. Mason got the first one for Lachute, and Grenville's basket was made by N. Mott. There were three foul shots in the last quarter. These were made by R. Hammond and J. Goldthorpe for Lachute and E. Fowler for Grenville. The only basket of this quarter was sunk in by J. Goldthorpe, who pushed Lachute's score up to 11, thus winning the game.

The final score for the boys was 15-10 for Grenville. Each side got two points in the first quarter, B. Cook for Lachute and K. Smith for Grenville. B. Lummis hit the loop for Lachute in the second quarter. E. Beauchamp shot a foul for Grenville. Thus, at the end of the first half the score was 4-3 for Lachute.

The third and fourth quarters saw the most action. B. McMahon and M. Cairns each put in a basket for Lachute. H. Brazeau and A. McVicar were the Grenville scorers. Lachute was still ahead at the end of the third quarter, with a score of 8-7. B. Cook was the only Lachute scorer in the last quarter. K. Smith sank one, and A. McVicar hit the loop three times in a row for Grenville, thus clinching the game.

Lachute basketball team will be pitting their skill against Macdonald High School in the next engagement.

Basketball and School Events at Grenville

By Willis Young

Boys' Basketball

Last Friday evening the boys' basketball team were hosts to a group of men from the surrounding district. This was an excellent game, considering that the adults were slightly out of practice. Scores were made by the following players — Kent Smith (8 points), Marvin Moncrieff (6), Alvin McVicar (6), Harris Brazeau (4), David Foreman (2), and Donald Brigden (2). The final score was 28-23 for the boys.

On Saturday the Grenville "Globe-Trotters" were hosts to Lachute in another basketball game. This match was a very fast one, with several fouls being called. The final score was 17-10 for the local team. Scores were made by — Alvin McVicar (8), Kent Smith (4), Harris Brazeau (4), and Eric Beauchamp (1 foul shot).

The next game is scheduled for Saturday, March 29, when it is hoped that Hawkesbury will visit the Grenville School.

The following Saturday, April 5, Grenville will participate in a basketball tournament to be held in Brownsburg. Players on the team are — Berkley Mack, Eric Beauchamp, Kent Smith, Marvin Moncrieff, Alvin McVicar, Donald Brigden, Harris Brazeau, David Foreman, Harvey Hoare and Gary Beaven.

Girls' Basketball

On Friday evening last, a basketball game was played in this school between the girls' school team and the senior women of the district. The final score was 24-10 for the girls. The scores for the women were made by — M. Matthews, M. Swail and E. Meredith, while the scores for the girls were by — N. Mott, E. Fowler, E. Flood, B. Dewar and J. McMichael. After the game, lunch was served by the school girls.

On Saturday afternoon, March 22, another basketball game was held in the school between Lachute and Grenville. The final score was 11 to 9 for Lachute. It was a very exciting game, and all members of the team hope that this type of play can be duplicated in the near future. The following are members of the team — Jean Beaven, Shirley Cameron, Glenys Crookes, Rosemary Whinfield, Penny Foreman, Norma Mott, Elva Fowler, Heather Prophet, Barbara Dewar, Eileen Flood and Helen Kennedy.

A "military whist", under auspices of the School Fair, will be held in the school on Saturday evening, March 29. The proceeds from this venture will be used in buying seeds and chicks, to be distributed among the pupils later this spring.

The next big event is Examination Week, to which everyone is looking forward either with trepidation or with high hopes. However, the Easter vacation, which follows shortly, will be something more thrilling to anticipate.

B'burg Scout Hockeyists Beat Lachute Troop Team

Brownsburg — The Brownsburg Boy Scouts played host to Lachute Boy Scouts last Thursday in the second game of a home-and-home hockey series, and gained their second win by a 6-2 score.

André Pilon opened the scoring for Brownsburg in the first minute of play, assisted by Tomalty and Brewer. This was followed by Fletcher's goal from Steele, and then Tomalty's from Brewer and Pilon, making the score 3-0 at the end of the first period. Fletcher again scored from Tomalty, before Ken McTavish made it 4-1 on a play from McAllister. Pilon got his second goal, assisted by Tomalty and Cruise, in the third period, and Stewart scored the final Brownsburg marker unassisted. Taylor scored Lachute's last goal when he shot D. McTavish's rebound behind goaler Golphin.

Both teams were slowed down by the late-season ice which, however, was excellent considering the time of the year. Numerous tripping penalties were called by referees Jim Murdoch and Bobby Duncan, which were attributable to the ice condition.

After the game refreshments were served in the school lunch room.

Lachute — Elliott, McGibbon, Alexander, W. Stansfield, R. Stansfield.

Brownsburg — Johnston, McGibbon, Connelly, Trayers, MacDonald.

Timekeeper — Stephens.

And How!

Come, gentle spring; ethereal mildness, come. — James Thomson

Closing Dinner Held by Church Bowling League

Sixty members and friends of the Lachute United Church Bowling League enjoyed a dinner last Tuesday evening, for the closing meeting of the season. A splendid meal was planned and prepared by the committee, under direction of Mrs. H. Riddell. The president of the league, Merlin Evans, was chairman of proceedings, and called upon Jack Gorman to voice appreciation to the ladies for their fine effort. A sing-song was then enjoyed, with Wayne Riddell at the piano.

The final game for the championship was then played, with the W.M.S. Blues against the Y.P.U., skipped by Mrs. H. Riddell and Miss Catherine Gauley, respectively. Excitement was evident among both the players and spectators, and a good game was staged. The Y.P.U. went into a 3-0 lead with a counter in each of the first three ends, but the W.M.S. came through with a couple of two-enders to take a slight lead. In the sixth end, the Y.P.U. again gained a three-ender, but the W.M.S. were not discouraged, and came through with three in the next. From then on, the W.M.S. Blues were well up front, gaining two points in each of the last three ends, to win the championship 13-5. Congratulations were exchanged between the two teams.

President Merlin Evans then called upon the Rev. W. B. Rosborough to present the prizes. Mr. Rosborough commended the fine spirit and fellowship of the bowling league, and congratulated the teams. The championship prizes were presented to the W.M.S. team, composed of Mrs. H. Riddell, Mrs. Mae Tillotson, Mrs. Stan Boyd and Mrs. L. Nymark. Prizes were also given to the league leaders, The Raps, skipped by L. W. Hammond, with J. F. Gorman, Stan Boyd and Bert Mitchell. Appreciation of the good times held in the church association was voiced ov Mr. Hammond. Runners-up, the Y.P.U. team, included Catherine Gauley, Stan Alexander, Annabel McRae and Mrs. N. McRae.

40 League Games For Local Ball Park

The weekly meeting of "l'Association de la Jeunesse Sportive" was held Monday evening in the Bouchard Hotel under chairmanship of Lionel Laurin. Ted Vachon reported on a meeting of the Laurentide Baseball League, held last week-end at St. Jerome, at which the directors decided on a schedule of 70 games for each of the member clubs — 35 "home" and 35 "away" fixtures. Lachute, however, will be an exception to this arrangement, with 40 games scheduled for the local ball-grounds.

Results beyond expectations were reported in the sale of season's membership tickets, and it was decided to extend the sales campaign for a while longer. Additional subscribers since the list published last week are as follows:

Curling Club Concludes Saturday Mixed Games

The Saturday mixed curling games ended last week after a very successful season. There was a large attendance for the social evening, which took the form of dancing and card-playing, and refreshments were served by the ladies.

At Bridge, Mrs. R. Cairns and Mrs. M. Boa tied with Mrs. V. Walker and Mrs. D. Fraser. In a play-off, the former ladies won. Mrs. F. Barnes and Miss J. McOuat also received prizes, their score being 310.

On the ice, Mrs. L. Carriere, L. Carriere, Mrs. A. Ogilvie and J. Steeves (skip) captured the high-plus.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Lacasse took the spot dance prize, while Miss Pauline Chapman, of Hawkesbury, held the lucky number for the door prize.

President E. M. Jones welcomed all present and thanked Mr. Ian Gordon for the splendid way in which he had handled the Saturday bonspiels. Appreciation was also expressed to the ladies and all who had taken part in the activities.

Twilight Competition

Numerous teams from local manufacturers ended their games on Tuesday evening — J. Seary, H. Tomalty, H. Johnston and B. Colback winning over H. Steele, K. McGibbon, H. Kerr and F. Barnes, 14 to 6.

Junior Mackie Competition

In this 'spiel the younger members had a good chance of showing their skill with teams more evenly matched. Messrs. J. K. Campbell, R. Hadley, F. Stein and P. Roy (skip) were victors over W. S. Jones, J. Johnston, T. Hall and Hub Tomalty (skip).

Senior Mackie

Of equal interest were the games among the seniors — S. Wilson, H. Kerr, J. McGibbon and F. A. Brennian (skip) winning against J. McOuat, L. Ayers, W. Deacon and L. Bedard (skip), in a score of 11-5.

Visit Huntingdon

A cordial reception was given to Messrs. R. Cairns, Geo. Calder, G. Muir, and Albt. Ogilvie (skip), on their visit to Huntingdon's annual bonspiel. Although they made a good showing, their plus score was not sufficiently high for competition.

Pollock-Graves and Muir Bros. Prizes

One of the outstanding games of the season and most interesting to watch, was that of the above teams. There was very keen competition with splendid play, particularly in the semi-finals and last game. Special mention should be made of the accurate shots of both skips, an extra end having to be played, in which Mrs. Kerr won.

Teams were as follows — R. Wyse, Mrs. N. Rogers, D. Hay, Mrs. H. Kerr (skip), vs. S. Jones, E. Earle, D. Bates, Mrs. G. McGibbon (skip).

Mess Sergeant: "Why don't you eat your fish? Something wrong with it?"
Private: "Long time no sea!"
