Mayor Discusses Pressing Questions, Waterworks, Civic Quarters, Fire Hall

Invites Views and Suggestions in Solving Current Civic Problems. Mayor Jas. W. McGibbon and Council Guests at Chamber of Commerce Assembly

The monthly meeting of the Lachute Chamber of Commerce was held last Thursday evening at the Laurentian Hotel, with over 100 members and guests present.

Guests of the evening, among whom were members of the Lachute Town Council, were welcomed by President Horace Lamarche and after a brief introduction by Me. Fernand Legault, Mayor Jas. McGibbon proceeded to address the gathering, expressing in both French and English his appreciation for this opportunity of letting them know something of what he and his council were trying to accomplish for the good of the town.

Briefly, the Mayor spoke of the early history of Lachute, its incorporation in 1885, at which time Mr. Patrick Dunbar was its head, and its steady growth up to the present. His talk, however, was devoted largely to the question of water supply — a matter which is causing considerable concern. He stated that a foundation company had been engaged to sound the river-bed at the site of the proposed new dam, and a plan was procured of the area which would be flooded if such procedure were followed. Most of this land, however, belonged to W. M. Cottingham, M.L.A., and could be bought for the nominal sum of one dollar. Mr. Lafresnière, government engineer and specialist on water systems, was also interviewed and expressed the opinion that if the town wished to have good, clear, pure water, it must be filtered, no matter where it came from. It was also pointed out that Ayersville and St. Jerusalem would be customers of this town, and they also would require good clean water. A 15-foot dam, with water pumped through a filter, would also give much more pressure; and the pressure now is inadequate. Meanwhile, however, the Mayor stated that a plan had been drawn up by the town engineer, Paul Laliberté, which was being sent to Mr. Lafresnière, and his report would be awaited with interest.

Another important question was that of the present town hall, which does not compare very favorably with those of other centres. Its facilities are inadequate, with no space for storage of vehicles and machinery, while the building itself is badly in need of repair. A suggestion has been made that the basement of the Auditorium be used for the town offices, and that suitable buildings be erected in the rear to house the town machinery and a Fire Station; this latter would also be a necessity before very long, as Fire Chief Geo. Y. Deacon had stated that he would soon be giving up this important post. It was also felt that the Civic Auditorium was not being maintained as it was originally intended, namely, as a memorial hall, but with this change there would be a greater possibility of keeping it in good order. The Chamber of Commerce were asked to visit the premises and express their opinion. A stipulation in the sale of the property some 30 years ago might give rise to some difficulty, but times have changed since then, and it is hoped that this may be overcome.

The town dump was also mentioned. The Mayor stated that sooner or later Lachute must have either an incinerator or a more extensive dump. The former naturally would be preferable, but would cost about $30,000; in this project, however, Brownsburg and St. Jerusalem might possibly participate and share the expense. Again the Chamber was asked to investigate and make some recommendation.

There are numerous other projects to be carried out, such as a new structure at Barron's Bridge, and location of the proposed Trans-Canada Highway; in these questions the Mayor stated that the views of the Chamber of Commerce would be greatly appreciated.

In closing, Mayor McGibbon thanked his audience, and expressed the hope that the long established custom of two-year terms alternately for French and English-speaking mayors, would continue, and so help to maintain the spirit of bonne entente which presently exists.

Fire Chief Geo. Y. Deacon joined with President Lamarche in thanking Mayor McGibbon for his fine address, and also emphasized what had been said regarding the inadequacy of the town's water supply. "Up to the present we have been most fortunate, but should there be a large conflagration, we certainly would be up against it with our present low supply", he said.

OVER 120 TEAMS IN LACHUTE'S ANNUAL INVITATION BONSPIEL

The fourth annual Invitation Bonspiel of Lachute Curling Club started off with high enthusiasm on Wednesday of last week, March 26. There are 120 teams entered in this event, which is becoming increasingly popular each year; the entry list is 25 per cent higher than that of last season. The ladies of the club are again catering for meals during the bonspiel.

At time of going to press, the standing of the eight highest-plus rinks is as follows:

	High-Plus
E. G. Hunt, Lachine	17
A. Weir, Montreal West	16
A. H. Templeman, Montreal West	15
J. Watson, Heather	15
J. C. Lorden, St. Johns	14
H. J. McDonald, Montreal West	13
R. Phair, Russell	13

Special to The Watchman and L'Argenteuil

A Laurel resident, Albert Paradis, suffered critical burns to the arm, leg and shoulder in a mishap which occurred while lighting an oil lamp. He was attended by Dr. Jacques Champagne, of St. Sauveur, later being removed to hospital in St. Jerome, where he was reported to be in a serious condition.

AYERSVILLE FINANCIAL SET-UP AWAITS FLOTATION OF LOAN — PROV'L APPROVAL AWAITS BUDGET

Finances appear to be the most immediate concern in the new Corporation of Ayersville Municipality. Taxes cannot be collected, or even levied, until the year's budget is adopted; and until the budget is established, the Quebec Municipal Commission cannot give formal authorization to the municipality's temporary $10,000 loan issue.

Meanwhile, accounts are being submitted for settlement. These were duly passed at the regular council meeting last Monday — payment of same to be deferred, with exception of bills for street-lighting, for which Dominion Shuttle Company Ltd. has advanced payment, in order to take advantage of the 10 per cent discount on behalf of the municipality. A new contract with Gatineau Power Company for street-lighting service will be signed in the near future.

Despite this temporary financial embarrassment, the councillors have every confidence in the future and are inviting tenders with a view to purchasing a 2½ or 3-ton truck for municipal work.

Armand Brisson, secretary-treasurer, was asked to supply information on all by-laws effective in the Township of Chatham, which presently apply in Ayersville. It appears that the majority of these by-laws will be adopted for the municipality until revisions are made to meet its particular needs.

A special constable is to be appointed to serve in the lack of regular police officials; duties of this appointee are to be confined, however, only to the Tessier Hotel.

A bid of $75 per year for use of space for a garbage dump, submitted by M. Proulx, was accepted by the council.

Representations to W. M. Cottingham, M.L.A., will be made requesting that Ayers Street be extended through to Highway No. 8.

Notice of motion was given for a by-law establishing the time and place of regular council meetings — specifying the hour of 7.30 p.m. on the last Monday of each month, in the hall of the Immaculate Conception School.

Mayor Gilbert E. Ayers presided over the assembly.

Seed Oats Contest by Agricultural Society

Contrary to the rumors which followed the foot-and-mouth disease scare, there is no change in plans of the Argenteuil Agricultural Society directorate, and the Lachute Spring Fair 1952 will be held as announced, on June 11-12-13-14.

An innovation by the Society this year will be a field contest quite apart from the exhibition and livestock show. This competition is for the growing of seed oats, to be judged in the field before harvesting. Farmers wishing to compete are asked to notify the secretary-manager, Syd Patterson. There is no entry fee for this contest.

Committee Reports

At the regular monthly supper meeting of Lachute Chamber of Commerce, held last Thursday at the Laurentian Hotel, reports were heard from the respective chairmen on Membership, Group Insurance, Commercial Promotion, Local Problems and Improvement, Industrial Promotion, and Publicity.

It was reported that the "C.C.C." sales campaign was making good progress, and will begin as soon as possible. The Gatineau Power Co. office on Main Street will be the new temporary location of the Chamber's tourist bureau and exchange office for sales premiums. If all goes well, a government grant will be applied for in connection with the tourist bureau. A bilingual typist will be engaged to take charge of this bureau.

President Horace Lamarche commended the committee chairmen and members for their constructive work. Space does not permit a detailed report on the efforts of these groups, all of which are working actively in their respective departments to the ultimate objective of the Chamber of Commerce, namely, the progress and growth of this community.

A welcome visitor at this assembly was Mons. Jean Loevenbruck, representative of an industrial group in France. Mons. Loevenbruck was the guest of President H. Lamarche.

Tribute to Laurentian Hotel

This seems an opportune occasion for a bouquet to the Laurentian Hotel, whose meals and hospitality have contributed to the success of assemblies held by the Chamber of Commerce on various occasions.

Of the various business spots in Lachute, the present Laurentian Hotel is one of the oldest, if not the oldest, local establishment. It was previously called Desjardins Hotel, and formerly known for generations under the name of "Rodrigue House", though originally it was the "Argenteuil House".

According to information supplied by the late Dr. Alexandre Rodrigue, the location occupied by the Laurentian Hotel has been the site of a hotel for over a century, the first inn being in existence there in 1846 or 1847. The business was carried on for 25 years by owners not recorded to the present generation.

In 1870 the father of the late Dr. Rodrigue purchased the place and gave it the name of "Rodrigue House", by which it was known for many decades.

Incidentally, it is of interest in local history that, when the railroad came to Lachute, there was

LT. EDWIN GAULEY LED RECONNAISSANCE PATROL THROUGH 'NO MAN'S LAND' ON KOREAN FRONT

A special story to the Montreal Star last week told the adventures of a Canadian patrol on a hazardous exploration into enemy lines in Korea. The 10-man patrol was in charge of Lieut. Edwin Gauley, of Lachute.

(Edwin Gauley, son of Mrs. Howard Gauley, Main Street East, enlisted in 1940 with the Black Watch, serving in France and on the European fronts in World War II. After the war he continued in military service, transferring to the 1st Battalion, Princess Pat's.)

Following is the report from a Star correspondent:

This is the story of a Canadian patrol — one of the many which nightly cross through barbed wire and minefields to reconnoitre Communist positions.

It began as a routine assignment. The "old man" (Colonel) wanted to know what was in front of his troops and he also wanted his men to become familiar with the territory.

He picked "Baker" Company, commanded by Major Charles Huggard, Saint John, N.B., to supply the patrol, and Lieut. Edwin Gauley, of Lachute, Que., drew the assignment with 10 men.

Supporting Fire

That afternoon Lieut. Gauley plotted supporting fire with the mortar platoon commander, 2/Lt. William Jones, Calgary, and machine gun platoon Sgt. "Tiny" Beacon of Princeton, B.C. Tanks from "C" Squadron, Lord Strathcona's Horse, were also preparing for action.

Then, two hours before moving off, the officer carefully checked each man's equipment, making sure no personal papers or identification were carried and that hands and face were blackened. Dress was rubber boots, sweaters and battledress trousers.

COMMUNISM ACTIVITY TOLD IN ADDRESS TO B'BURG ROTARY CLUB

And Lighter Fare for "Ladies' Night" Program

The Brownsburg Rotarians entertained their wives and guests at an enjoyable Ladies' Night program last Thursday.

Following dinner at the usual hour, Rotarian Linton Armstrong introduced Captain "X" (who dare not disclose his real name). The Captain spoke on the Communist activity in Europe and Asia.

The speaker explained that the Capitalist system is completely incompatible with Communism; sooner or later one or the other must prevail. He went on to show how the Communist works by infiltrating and undermining morale. According to the speaker, the revolution has started already, in Korea, and it has taken the Korean war to show the Communist intentions to those who tend to minimize the threat.

The speaker revealed that the Communist "empire" is controlled by 42 dictators. These dictators get their orders from Moscow and remain in power as long as they remain in favor at headquarters. If one is disobedient, he is sent to Moscow for further education. If agreeable to this education, all goes well with him; if he is still "at odds" with Moscow, that is the last that is heard of him. Already 24 of these dictators have been recalled to Moscow for good.

The man in charge of a particular country is a foreigner to that country. In this way, he will have no ties there.

Following the Nazi policy, the children are taught to inform on their parents, the latter being sent to slave labor camps in Siberia.

The children are taught that Christianity is a myth. They are taught to pray to Stalin, and are rewarded with food and other delicacies.

The speaker pointed out that all the Communists are not contained in Russia. They are everywhere — in apartment houses, factories, in every walk of life. He stressed that we Canadians should be alert, that the Communists in our country are silent and underground, yet active.

The speaker was thanked by Rotarian Philip Grant.

Following the address, the evening took on a lighter aspect. A committee headed by Keith Rutherford had an excellent program of dancing and singing for the enjoyment of those present. The Teachers' Quartet (Miss Jocelyn Wickenden, Mrs. Elva Armstrong, Shirley McKyes and King Amos) offered several selections. Round and square dancing, and several novelty numbers completed the program.

Maple syrup is flowing clear and plentiful this season, and while it is not expected that quantity records will be broken, there is no cause for complaint. Prices ranging from $3 to $4.50 are being asked, mostly from local sources.

Winter Roads

A determined effort is being made each fall to have the government open as many roads as possible for winter use. Come spring, a greater number of roads show signs of the effect of frost by breaking up on the surface, caused by the removal of the protecting snow. If the present demand for winter roads is to continue, some better road-making technique, to withstand open frosts, must be discovered. Until then, an earlier maintenance and repair program will have to be carried out if we are to meet the needs of increasing spring traffic.

"PAYS TO ADVERTISE" MORAL OF CLUB TALK TO LACHUTE LIONS

Terry M. Fortune, speaker at the Lions Club meeting Tuesday evening in the Laval Hotel (formerly Joly's), met with a comprehending audience — for besides being a fellow Lion, a member of the Montreal branch, he is associated with publicity of the pulp and paper business, an industry with which this community is closely linked.

On the advertising staff of the Pulp and Paper Magazine of Canada, Mr. Fortune dealt with the subject of "National and Industrial Advertising"... Sales are literally the "raison d'être" of advertising, whose three main functions the speaker defined as: (1) to contact, and hold contact; (2) to arouse and hold interest; (3) to create and hold preference. The two principal methods of advertising are: (1) the spoken word (radio) and (2) the written word. The latter, in turn, is conveyed through various media — newspapers, magazines, business papers, streetcar plaques, outdoor billboards, displays, and direct mail.

The speaker's specialty being business papers, he spoke at some length upon this medium, exemplifying the particular journal with which he is associated. Business publications were termed "industry's lines of communication", assembling information and delivering it where it is needed. The business press is providing sterling service to Canadian industry, he stated.

Advertising is big business in Canada today, involving the expenditure of millions of dollars. Mr. Fortune elaborated on the functions of an advertising agency, and included in his remarks the axiom (oft' repeated in these columns) — that one "cannot do business without advertising."

The speaker was introduced by Ernest Snadden and thanked by Gordon McOuat.

Chairman of the meeting was President Geo. Tattersfield. Dr. F. W. FitzGerald, committeeman on the Easter Seals project, spoke briefly on this campaign. He foresaw greater scope and need for assistance to crippled members of society, both throughout the province and in this community. A generous response to the Easter Seals drive, is a means by which the local Lions can aid in this work. . . . The sum of $60 was voted to the Red Cross appeal.

Ian Gordon, biographer, paid tribute to George Muir, "Lion of the Day", as a well known and progressive business man.

Recent Hockey Scenes at Brownsburg

W. M. Cottingham, M.L.A., was invited by supporters of the Brownsburg Junior Bombers to attend the recent game between the Juniors and Pennsylvania Hotel, Montreal, when Boom Boom Geoffrion and Dollard St. Laurent visited Brownsburg. The Deputy was asked to pose for a photo on a face-off, which included the guests of the evening.

On two visits to the Brownsburg Arena within a month, Mr. Cottingham noted the high enthusiasm for sports in that community — having seen the Senior Bombers in action and (on the above occasion) the Junior Bombers, a completely local group, who created high excitement in bringing from Montreal two N.H.L. players. . . . The Brownsburg Junior Bombers keenly appreciate the M.L.A.'s participation in this event.

A new Canadian Ayrshire milk and butterfat record has been made by John P. Bradley and Son, Lachute. Gatineau LINES

Folks, We Are Sorry!

A short time ago we had one of the worst interruptions we have experienced in several years. Customers in the Counties of Argenteuil, Papineau, Deux Montagnes, Terrebonne, Labelle, Montcalm and part of L'Assomption were without power for three hours.

The heavy wet snow storm which preceded the interruption did not seem to be too bad, but that snow stuck like glue to the wires of a short sheltered section of our main transmission line and was heavy enough to cause the conductors to sag to the ground.

This is the first case of its kind that we have had in over 20 years operation of this line.

The delay in restoring service was due partly to the time required to establish telephone connection with the various switching points, the time required to isolate and test various sections of the line in order to establish the locality of the trouble, and the time required for our men to patrol the section of line where the trouble had developed. It took two and a half hours to locate the trouble. Then crews converged on it from three directions and cleared it in a half hour.

We want to thank our customers for their patience in this instance. We believe that you understand, that when the power goes off, our men do not stop working until it has been restored.

Beans for Processing And for Market

Ottawa — During 1951 nearly 5,000 acres of beans were sown in Eastern Canada under contract for processing. This was about 68 per cent of the acreage sown in Canada for this purpose during the same period. In addition a considerable acreage was grown in home and market gardens. To bring the producer the maximum return per acre and the consumer the highest quality product only good varieties should be grown.

Yellow Podded Bush Type

This class, once the most popular, is slowly giving away to the green podded varieties. Although many new varieties have been introduced in this class, such as Cherokee Wax, Cooper Wax, Kinghorn Special Wax, the Round Pod Kidney Wax still remains the best for yield, quality and earliness according to tests made at the Division of Horticulture, Central Experimtal Farm, Ottawa, during the past few years.

Green Podded Bush Type

Much improvement has been made in this class in recent years and more may be expected in the future. Stringless Green Pod, formerly the best green podded variety, has been replaced by superior varieties. Among these are:

"Contender": an early variety requiring 52 to 53 days from seed to reach marketable stage. Pods are dark to medium green in color, averaging 5.5 inches in length, oval in cross section and very attractive. This variety is recommended for home and market garden especially. It is a heavy yielder and has a wide range of adaptation.

"Logan": This variety is not very early, averaging 62 days from seed to marketable stage at Ottawa. It is not a heavy yielder, but is recommended for home garden use because of its high quality.

"Rival": Slightly later than Contender, taking from 55 to 58 days from seed to marketable stage at Ottawa. Pods are straight, averaging 5.1 inches in length, round in cross section and very attractive. This variety is well adapted for home garden, market garden, canning and freezing. In tests conducted at Ottawa this variety yielded double that of Stringless Green Pod.

"Topcrop": An early variety requiring 52 days from seed to marketable stage. Pods are medium green in color, averaging five inches in length, round in cross section and very attractive. It is especially adapted for processing since its yield is concentrated in the first few pickings. It was found to be a heavy yielder at Ottawa and is highly recommended.

These varieties are all stringless. Growers and contractors who have not tried these varieties should do so. Seed is available from most seed companies.

In areas where bean mosaic has been a problem in the past, these varieties should be helpful since they are resistant to this virus disease. In addition, Topcrop and Contender show a high degree of resistance to powdery mildew.

Manure, Lime, Fertilizers Increase Crop Yields

Ottawa — Soil fertility investigations are an important part of Illustration Station work in Northern Ontario and in Northwestern Quebec. They are designed to find the inherent fertility requirements of the various soil types of the ten Station farms located throughout the Kapuskasing district of supervision, says R. Bernier of the Kapuskasing Experimental Station, Ont.

A fertility study was laid down ten years ago at the Makamik Experiment Substation to determine the value of chemical fertilizer as a supplement to farm manure where the normal supply of manure is insufficient to maintain a satisfactory level of soil fertility and crop production. The test is conducted on a five-year rotation consisting of hoed crops, cereal seeded down and three years of hay. All fertilizers are applied prior to planting the hoed crop.

Eight-year average results have shown that application of farm manure at the rate of 15 tons per acre, has increased the yield of turnips from 1,42 tons on the unmanured area, to 5,20 tons per acre on the treated area. Supplementing the manure with 500 lb. of superphosphate brought the yield of turnips to 9.25 tons. When farm manure was supplemented with superphosphate and potash, the average yield was 11.21 tons, which meant an increase of 115.5 per cent over the yield from manure applied alone.

The residual effect of manure and chemical fertilizers which are applied to the turnip crop in the first year of the rotation is more apparent on hay yields. Results recorded on ten crops of first and second year hay show an increase from manure of 0.61 tons per acre. When 500 lb. of superphosphate was added to 15 tons of manure, a further increase of 0.21 tons was obtained. Lime which does not increase the yields of hoed and cereal crops, is quite beneficial on hay crops.

Two tons of limestone applied in addition to manure, provided 0.62 tons over manure alone, on the basis of the average of ten crops of first and second year hay. When superphosphate was combined with manure and lime, the increase in hay yields over superphosphate alone moved to 1.29 tons or 97.7 per cent. This increase in hay yields recorded on the limed area is explained by the fact that alfalfa usually accounts for 45 to 50 per cent of the hay on this area, while the percentage alfalfa on these plots treated only with chemical fertilizers and farm manure was negligible. Furthermore, it is almost always possible to harvest two crops of hay every year from the limed area.

In summing up, it should be pointed out that:

1. Superhposphate has been the most important fertilizer element in the test.
2. Higher yields are obtained on root crops when potash is added to superphosphate and manure.
3. Lime has provided large increases in hay yields.

Chicken Mash In Pastel Bags

While at dinner in a restaurant, the president of a bag company noticed that the chair backs were slip-covered in print cretonne. As soon as the colored sacks hit the food stores, the National Cotton Council reports, "rural housewives scrambled to buy a new supply of chicken mash, whipped the bags into pretty frocks, and whooped for more."

Prepare Horses for Spring Work

If the farm horses have not been heavily worked during the winter months it is important that they be put into good shape before the spring work is ready to begin.

A few minutes spent in getting horses ready for Spring work will often save hours and maybe days later on. During the winter if the horse has been idle it is liable to have become soft and the feet sometimes become broken to such an extent that lameness develops when they are put to work. The feet should be trimmed and straightened up early so that when the time comes for heavy work they will be ready for it.

Horses should be broken into heavy work gradually if they have had a winter lay-off. Feed should be gradually increased to put on extra flesh and tone the horse up generally.

The Mighty Mite

IN THE business world, a new maxim has evolved in the somewhat skeptical minds of personnel managers and others. It is: "Never underestimate the power of the office boys."

Nature, it would seem, has provided for the office boy as she has for all things. The apparently defenceless being, who regards everyone as his boss, has attained a curious position of independence and power.

If you ask how and why, one is able only to guess, to speculate.

One fact leaps to the mind: the office boy does jobs that nobody else wants to do. Eventually, everyone but the office boy forgets how to do these jobs and he becomes indispensable.

Then again, the office boy is in charge of the thousand and one little things that mean the difference between smooth operation and chaos.

A business magnate may forgive a vice-president if he can't remember how many tons of steel were exported in the last three months of 1936. But if the office boy can't find the boss's hat, the big shot is liable to lose control of himself for hours.

This is taking only one view of the office boy. Actually, there's no end to the influence he may wield. As a matter of fact, he will like as not wind up running the business.

Take the case of the tycoon who, retiring recently, was asked the inevitable question about the reasons for his success. The tycoon confessed he hadn't made a serious decision for many years. He had left all that to the experts. But, he added with a sly grin:

"I have personally hired every office boy to come into this organization for the last 25 years."

Population Unbalance

CLIPPED comment on the decennial census returns, which have been subjected to analysis and shown some interesting facts. . .

Canada is suffering from a lop-sided boy-meets-girl situation. At any rate, her women just aren't spread around right, according to the latest census figures from the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

With a total population of 14,009,429, the country now has 7,088,873 males to 6,920,556 females, but the ladies outnumber the gents in the cities while the balance is the other way in the smaller towns and countryside.

If someone should publish a ready-reckoner for date-hungry men in the rural districts, small towns, northwoods and Western frontiers, where women are outnumbered sometimes 50 to one, Montreal would top the list of female prospects.

The Quebec metropolis reported a surplus of 31,000 women. Men in Montreal numbered 494,279 and women 527,241.

Toronto was next with 22,200 more women than men.

Quebec City had a girl-margin of 12,000 and Winnipeg of 11,000.

The same was true across the land. St. John's, Newfoundland, had 32,278 men and 35,471 women, a margin of about 3,200. On the other coast, the extra women in the Vancouver - Howe Sound area numbered 6,500, at New Westminster a scant 400 and in Victoria approximately 3,200.

Quebec, however, was the only province which showed more women residents than men on the census records.

THE STRONGER sex is usually the weaker sex because of the strength the weaker sex has over the stronger sex; or is it because of the weakness of the stronger sex for the weaker sex?

Out Hunting

NOVA SCOTIANS may soon have to pass an eye test when applying for a hunting license. Noting the increase in hunting accidents, Lands and Forests Minister A. W. Mackenzie says stricter regulations may have to be introduced. The eye test may be one of them.

"Many people with poor eyesight hunt and possibly some of the hunting accidents result from persons with faulty eyesight being permitted to carry firearms", he said.

— Have we been too hasty? Most of the past accidents in this area we had attributed to another kind of deficiency, not in the eyes but back of them — under-developed grey matter.

Era of Controls

IN SOME Canadian cities, it is illegal for a man to fix a leaking tap in his own bathroom. In almost every city of the country there are all sorts of restrictions which tend to channel various services into the hands of a favored few, to keep down competition, to spawn more and more regulations and rules which all add to costs. The latest goal is television aerials. Pressure is being put on the Ontario legislature to give municipalities control over the sale and erection of these aerials.

"This craze for municipal licensing and regulations", comments The Financial Post, "has been spreading like a plague in recent years, and with it the cost of all services. If we don't draw the line somewhere, soon a man won't be able to hang his own picture on his own wall."

The Farm Beautiful?

THERE IS no denying that startling changes have taken place on the farm in the last 25 years. The horse is making its last stand against the never-tiring tractor. The kerosene lantern is being replaced by the electric bulb as hydro wires are being strung across the rural countryside like huge spiderwebs. The automobile has become an essential form of farm transport. But modern as they are, many Canadian farms require one highly essential thing to bring them up-to-date — a huge paint job.

Go anywhere in the rural scene and evidence will be there in abundance: weather-beaten houses and barns which too often haven't been touched by a paint brush for years — if at all; valuable implements brown with rust; dingy home and barn interiors.

A farmer wouldn't think twice of providing a shelter for his poultry and livestock, but protection for an investment of thousands of dollars is too often overlooked. Such thinking is difficult to understand.

There is another way to look at a good paint job. In recent years paint scientists have discovered that color has a definite psychological effect on human beings. Some colors will create an atmosphere of coolness and relaxation; others warmth and excitement, while some will set a depressive mood. Hospitals have recognized these facts and are decorating their operating rooms and wards with colors that help patients to get well more quickly.

In a farm home with its dozen and one daily problems, it is necessary for the setting to be as relaxing as possible. It should exude cheerfulness, optimism and well-being. Paint could go a long way towards achieving this end.

Have You A Question ON UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE OR EMPLOYMENT?

In this column we publish questions about unemployment insurance and employment, together with answers received from the Unemployment Insurance Commission.

If you are uncertain about any point do not hesitate to send your question to your district Unemployment Insurance office. We will obtain an answer and publish it in this column.

Following are some questions with answers which may be of interest to you: —

Q. Does an employee lose his right to benefit if, after contributing for some time, he becomes not insurable because he is over the ceiling?

A. No. Contributions made previous to the employee becoming non-insurable are good for four years.

Q. I have been looking for work in another city. Can I draw benefit for days when I am out of town?

A. You may draw benefit when out of town only if you notify your local office, before you leave, of your intention to go; make arrangements for the local office to get in touch with you promptly should a suitable job turn up; are prepared to abandon your visit in order to accept suitable employment offered; and there is nothing connected with your visit that will prevent you from accepting suitable employment offered to you. It is pointed out, however, that the facilities of the employment service, extending from coast to coast, are available to everyone free of charge. An unemployed person should avail himself of this service rather than incur unnecessary expense to himself.

Caws for Complaint

'I've caws for complaint", said the Carrion Crow,
As he silently flew o'er the vast fields of snow.
Fed up, but not fed, and quite down in the mouth,
Though black, he felt blue as he longed for the South.

"I've caws for complaint", said his sorrowful mate,
Our eggs will not hatch, for the season is late.
We can't keep them warm in this Nor'easter blow",
"Nor Easter Eggs either", retorted the Crow.

"We've caws for complaint", said the Carrion Crow,
As the April nor-easter continued to blow,
"We daily grow weaker when we should grow stronger —
We can't Carrion in this way any longer."

"We've caws for complaint", said the Carrion Crow —
When out came the warm sun and out went the snow.
So quickly they flew to a Crow-Bar to dine,
Their Cro-cussing stopped, and they're now doing fine.

An Arab Chief, no longer young,
Who only spoke his native tongue,
Became a famous circus freak
By posing as a Desert Sheik.
His health was failing rapidly.
The circus Doc could not agree
Upon the cause that lay beneath
And so extracted all his teeth.
Just notice when the circus comes —
The Desert Sheik with toothless gums.
The old boy is no longer sick
And now he speaks Gum Arabic!

"Voice of Youth" to Visit Shawbridge Farm

Some time ago, radio station CFCF in Montreal instituted a program series titled, "Voice of Youth". The broadcast is presented from a different school each week, and highlights the accomplishments of the youth in each school. This Sunday, "Voice of Youth" will bring to the air the staff and students of the Boys' Farm and Training School at Shawbridge. The youngsters will be heard in debates, group discussions and many highlights of interest to parents and the students themselves. A visit to the carpentry shop, interviews with some of the youngsters by Frank Edwards, the P.O.M. Weather Reporter, and a review of the school's history and development, will also provide material for the 45-minute broadcast. The program will be heard this Sunday at 2.15 p.m. on CFCF.

Brandon, Man. (CP) — Manitoba industry, as well as agriculture, will be represented for the first time this year at the annual provincial exhibition in Brandon, from June 30 to July 4.

Led Reconnaissance Thro' No Man's Land On Korea Front

Sgt. Signaller Ed Hansen, Winnipeg, fussed with his "300" radio set, completing the final preparations.

At 9 p.m., in pitch black darkness, the patrol began moving out through the company lines. Weapons were cocked and ready to fire. Moving in single file, the figures were just dim, dark blurs. The only contact between each man was ear-to-mouth whispers and hand signs.

Feared Making Sound

Guided by Col. "Rocky" Prentice, Calgary, the men carefully plodded through muddy paddy fields, between minefields and through barbed wire entanglements. Each held his weapon at the ready, conscious of the slightest sound, dreading the thought of an enemy ambush, or, even worse, to be caught in a deadly, iron curtain of machine gun, artillery and mortar fire.

Upon reaching the first objective, a well-used footpath, right against the enemy-held ridges, a small "recce" party of four men, Lieut. Gauley, Cpl. Prentice, Pte. William Bolen, Kaleden, B.C., and Pte. Thomas Thoveson, Nut Mountain, Sask., moved carefully up the valley, while the rest, acting as a "firm base", covered the small footpath.

Minutes later the moon climbed over a nearby hill, bathing the whole area in almost daylight brilliance. Cpl. Edward Zwalak, of Meadow Lake, Sask., looked at his watch. It had taken nearly two hours to cover the one mile of "no man's land".

Meanwhile, the mortar platoon opened harassing fire to muffle any possible noise the small "recce" party might make, now well into the enemy lines.

No Enemy Seen

Fifteen minutes later the whole patrol was moving quickly along the footpath, heading for the next objective. So far no enemy had been seen or heard.

Again the party split up, the same four heading between two ridges while the rest — Pte. John Stuber, Maple Creek, Sask.; Pte. James Westwood, Windsor, Ont.; Pte. Herbert Henry, Charlottetown, and Pte. William Fields, Waterdown, Ont., all riflemen — faded into the ground.

As the men settled in for the 20-minute wait, mortars again came down on the enemy hills. Then there was silence, broken only by the gobbling of a stray Korean pheasant.

The recce party returned. It was the same as before, nothing seen or heard.

Tension Broken

It was as if someone had pulled a string. The terrific strain and tension was broken and now near-exhaustion set in. There would be a rum issue when the patrol returned.

Within minutes the men were clambering back through their regiment's positions. Aided by the moon, they could see where they were going.

Operation "Zulu" was over.

A GHOST STORY

By M. V. Trayers

One of the cardinal virtues of a newspaperman — if the tribe can be said to have any virtues — is brevity. The knack of putting all the facts in the smallest possible compass. Whatever else you may think of this story, you will find it a model of brevity! . .

Two strangers came face to face at the end of a winter's day in the shadowy corridor of an old English picture gallery. The light was dim. The air was chill. One of them shivered. "Rather spooky, isn't it?" "Oh," said the other, "so you believe in ghosts!" The first speaker laughed. "I do not", he said, "do you?" To that lighthearted question the second answered, "Yes" — and vanished into air!

Thinking of ghosts reminds me of death, of how people become ghosts . . . and no matter how much we try to dodge it, Death moves around pretty freely among us. It takes several forms, and, of course, sometimes takes a human form. It was in this form we met him in our next story. . .

It was in the Sultan's palace in Damascus. To the Sultan one day long ago there came running in terror a favorite of his — a handsome lad, who threw himself on his knees and begged leave to borrow the swiftest of his master's horses. With all speed he must take the road to Baghdad. The Sultan asked him, "Why all the haste?" He explained that just a moment before, as he was crossing the garden on his way to the palace, he encountered there walking along the path, none other than Death — Death himself. This unexpected visitor had, at sight of the boy, made threatening gestures. The boy's teeth were still chattering as he begged now for a chance to put as many miles as he could between himself and this dread apparition. So the Sultan furnished the horse, off went the boy to Baghdad, and down the garden went the Sultan himself . . . What was all this? Death in his garden! . . . Sure enough, when he got down in the shade of his most cherished trees, there was Death. The Sultan was furious. What did Death mean by threatening the Sultan's favorite? Death was very apologetic. Why, he'd done no such thing. He made gestures, yes. But no threat. Just astonishment. "What surprised me", Death explained, "was to find the boy here in Damascus. You see, though of course he didn't know it, I've an appointment with that boy. For this evening. . . In Baghdad."

Much as we would like to forget it, everyone of us has an appointment with death. It may be today, next week or next year; but like the boy rushing off to Baghdad, none of us can be sure of the time or the place. Most of us try to avoid meeting death as long as we can, but there are some of us who welcome death.

It was said of our late beloved monarch that he had walked with death so long that he knew death well. We who are in perfect health may wonder how anyone could be so morbid as to welcome death; but there are some indeed to whom life seems no longer bearable.

One of the greatest dramas of all time is being played out in the present fight against Cancer. It is a legitimate drama with real tragedy and great pathos, and though the audience is world-wide, there is little fanfare. The actors are numerous, one of every eight of us here in Canada is a member of the cast. This fact shatters our illusion of being onlookers. We are all involved in a grim and terrible struggle. What can we do about Cancer? There are eight signals which we should learn to recognize.

1. Any sore that does not heal.
2. A lump or thickening in the breast or elsewhere.
3. Unusual bleeding or discharge.
4. Any change in a wart or mole.
5. Persistent indigestion or difficulty in swallowing.
6. Persistent hoarseness or cough.
7. Any change in normal bowel habits.

A generous contribution to the 1952 Cancer Crusade now is a sound investment in the future health of Canada. Help the Canadian Cancer Society to save lives. The life it saves may be that of your child!

When Magistrate Jermyn at Brockville, Ont., sentenced a man to five months for bigamy, it was disclosed that the R. R. Tamworth resident had both marriage certificates hanging in his living room, where he was living with his second wife, at the time of his arrest. . . The Picton, Ont., Gazette reports a tombstone in the cemetery at the old Church of St. Mary Magdelene, the inscription reading, "Wm. Pearce died February 31, 1860, aged 73 years".

Farthest north fortress built in Canada, was Fort Prince of Wales, at Churchill, Man.

Canada Joins With U.S., Britain to Build Jets For NATO Forces

AT CANADAIR F-86 PRODUCTION LINE IS SEEN IN FULL FORCE

Canada will join in a three-way arrangement with the U.S. and Britain to build, equip and man squadrons of F-86 Sabre jet fighters for the North Atlantic Treaty defence force. The announcement, made simultaneously in Ottawa, Washington and London, said Canada will build the planes at the big Canadair plant in Montreal, the U.S. will supply the engines and other equipment and the fighters will be manned by British fliers. Although the number and production schedules was not disclosed in the announcement, it is believed the arrangement will involve "some hundreds" of planes.

Plants Need A Balanced Diet

A plant uses at least fourteen foods in its growth. They are nitrogen, phosphorus, potash, calcium, oxygen, hydrogen, carbon, magnesium, iron, sulphur, boron, manganese, copper and zinc. Soils generally are most frequently deficient in the first three.

It is for that reason that commercial fertilizers are generally used to supply these three foods either singly or in combination. Those containing all three ingredients are known as complete fertilizers.

To most experienced farmers the numerical formula used in selling a complete fertilizer is well understood. To the amateur gardener or those less familiar with fertilizers, it is often something of a mystery.

The figures represent the percentage of nitrogen, phosphoric acid and potash (always in that order) in each one hundred pounds of fertilizer. Thus a 100-lb. bag of 10-5-10 fertilizer contains ten pounds of nitrogen, five pounds of available phosphoric acid and ten pounds of water soluable potash in the elemental form.

What effect do these chemicals have on the growth of a plant?

Nitrogen promotes particularly the development of stem and leaf and is required during the early stages of growth. Too little nitrogen results in stunted growth with yellowish foliage; too much may induce rank growth, delay seed formation and ripening, tend to make plants subject to disease, and cause lodging of grain crops.

Phosphorus stimulates the root growth in the early stages and promotes seed or fruit formation in the later stages of growth. It promotes fruitfulness and in some measure bastens maturity. It is therefore specially important when early ripening of a crop is required.

Potash is essential to the formation of the starches of potatoes and grains, the sugars of fruits and vegetables, and the fibrous matter of plants. It promotes increased yields of better quality and is particularly required by clovers and other legumes. An ample supply of available potash in the soil helps to prevent disease and to lessen the effect of excessive nitrogen.

As each ingredient has an important function in the growth of the plant and must be in balance one with the other, the analysis of the mixed fertilizer needs careful consideration and should be suited best to the plant's need. Help in the choice of fertilizer mixtures can be obtained from district representatives, experimental farms and agricultural colleges.

Where's Harvey?

The leading question among all Farm Forum associates these days is, "Has anybody here seen Harvey?" The question has circulated among town and country folk alike, but, generally speaking, everyone is mystified. Some say it's the name of a lodge, while others say it must be some kind of animal, and one particularly intellectual individual described Harvey as being a "pooka" (whatever that is!)

However, we are assured of a logical explanation by none other than the Ascension Players when they will present "Harvey" in the High School auditorium on April 5.

Keith Armstrong, playing the role of Elwood P. Dowd, together with his widowed sister, Veta Simmons (played by May Ryan) and his charming little niece, Myrtle Mae Simmons (Margaret Hogan) have lived in the same house with Harvey for years!

These three leading characters will be supported by a splendid cast, all of whom will supply an evening of fun and entertainment as the story of Harvey is portrayed. Those who have already seen the movie are urged not to reveal the identity of Harvey. Keep 'em guessing! Join the crowd at the school on the 5th — so we may all laugh together!

Sandy had a pain in his stomach and he pounded on the druggist's door at 2.00 a.m., and when he appeared, asked him for five cents' worth of soda.

"Five cents' worth of soda at this hour of the night, when a glass of hot water would have helped you just as much", said the indignant druggist.

"Well, well", said Sandy, "I thank you for the advice. I won't bother you after all. Good night!"

FOR PARENTS ONLY...

A Weekly Feature of Helpful Hints on Child Training

Welcoming Junior's Friends

— By NANCY CLEAVER — (Copyright)

"Johnny wants to play in my sand-pile. Have you another old spoon to dig with?"

"Susan and I are going to pretend the doll house is a store. What can we use for money?"

"Mum, Bill is coming home with me after school to help with my new model plane."

"Could Jean go on the family picnic with us next Saturday?"

What happens in your home when Junior wants you to make his friends welcome? What is your reaction?

Some mothers are irritated by the mere suggestion that they have any responsibility for their child's companions. When Paul was tiny Mrs. Black announced —

"One small boy's noise and untidiness is all I can stand! I just can't put up with the neighbor's kids under foot!"

Paul was disappointed and angry. "I got to have somebody to play with!" was his theme song.

Yes, children do crave the companionship of other youngsters. When they ask mother if they can bring a chum home they are not being perverse — they are just "doing what comes naturally."

If you do not welcome your children's friends at your house they are going to disappear down the street, around the block. In other people's homes in search of friends they are sure to go!

Parents might as well face up to the fact that either they must be glad to see their children's chums "on the home ground", or accept the consequences of absentee youngsters. If your son's or daughter's friends never feel "at home" under your roof, don't be surprised if your child always seems to be straying away!

In their leisure time activities, children do make a terrible noise at times and create a lot of confusion — but what a marvellous time they have together! They play with an abandon which somehow most grown-ups lose.

They also seem to need a lot of "props". A yard where children have been playing has a distinct look about it. Not only is the grass worn, or the snow well tramped, but bits of play equipment are likely to be scattered about.

Mother may weary in her attempt to keep the yard presentable. Here is one place where Dad can be a big help. He can give son a little hand in helping him put away his playthings.

Then, too, father can provide a place in the garage for play material. Because he is not at home so much of the time, and because he is a man, he can impress the neighbor's youngsters (as well as his own) with the rule:

"If you play here you must take care of playthings and put them back where they belong before going indoors."

Weather conditions sometimes make outdoor fun out of the question. Play in the house of active children is rather hard on mother's nerves. The racket, as well as the clutter and occasional quarrel, are all "hard to take."

If at all possible boys and girls should have a corner of the attic or a part of the basement, or any one place in the house which is their own for play time. They don't enjoy getting in mother's way! Have you not overheard a child making a remark like this?—

"Don't let's play at Andy's house — his mother is too tidy. Do you remember what a fierce time we had last Saturday keeping out of her hair?"

A very different atmosphere is found is another home when the mother said:

"When my daughter was quite young I decided that I might as well enjoy her friends who dropped in. Together we have planned a tea party every other week. It didn't cost very much. My little girl always helped to get it ready and to wash up afterwards.

"When my child was tiny we used a gay picnic set of unbreakable dishes. I do believe my daughter's interest in cooking can be traced in part to her enjoyment in making sandwiches and cookies or drop cakes for those tea parties."

Friendship is an essential part of happy living. When mother and dad are sympathetic to their child's desire for companionship, they are in a position to point out that they expect to see their own friends too!

Daddy isn't "selfish" or Mummy "mean" when occasionally they go on an adult leisure time expedition, without a child "at their heels". If you welcome Junior's chums for an unexpected tea party, then he can make an effort to be civil when a friend of yours calls and you serve afternoon tea!

For groceries Canadians spent three times as much in 1951 as in 1941 — $1,608 million compared to $567 million; independent merchants did 62.8 per cent of the total business, chain operators the remainder.

The Easter Ham

On any Saturday shopping trip one of the most important stops is at the butcher's. It will pay to study the supplies and prices in his cases, for then you will know which meat and which cut to buy. The home economists of the Consumer Section have been shopping early, not for Christmas, but for Easter. For several weeks they have been visiting butcher shops, looking at all the types of hams on the market and buying some of each to use in their cooking tests. When the home economists refer to ham, they mean, of course, a smoked leg of pork, which is a real ham, not a picnic shoulder or a cottage roll.

Modern hams are easy to cook and many wrappers give the directions. There are two main types of ham on the market, the partially cooked, tenderized ham, and the ready-to-serve ham. The tenderized ham sold today is given a mild cure and is smoked to a higher temperature than used to be the case. For this reason it does not require soaking or parboiling before baking. Bake ham slowly in an uncovered pan in a moderately slow oven, 325°F. In baking, there is no water added to dilute the flavor and draw out the juice. If a meat thermometer is used the ham is cooked when it registers 170°F. A whole ham, with bone in, weighing 12 to 15 pounds, takes about 25 minutes to the pound to bake; for a half ham or a boneless ham, allow 30 to 40 minutes to the pound.

It is a good idea to wrap ham in parchment paper or aluminum foil before putting it in the oven to keep it from drying out. Boneless hams are usually bought wrapped in a thick casing. This casing may be either left on or removed before cooking. If it is left on, it is sometimes difficult to remove after the ham is cooked, because the casing seems to stick and tear the meat away with it, particularly if the ham is a very lean one.

In the cooking tests, the home economists tried a different glaze on each ham. What a variety of colors and flavors! What an array of gleaming hams, almost as perky as new spring chapeaux! One of the most attractive glazes, and one that adds good flavor too, is made by simply covering the ham with a red currant or tart apple jelly. Another suggestion is to baste the ham with apple juice or maple syrup; the finished flavor is very, very good. Then there is the paste-type of glaze. The old standby made with brown sugar, mustard, flour and vinegar is a favorite with most everyone. To make this glaze, for a half ham combine 1 cup brown sugar with 2 teaspoons dry mustard, 3 tablespoons flour, and moisten with 3 tablespoons vinegar. To give the ham a really shiny surface, baste it occasionally with the fat in the pan while it is glazing in a hot oven 425°F. This will take about 15 minutes.

There are very intriguing garnishes for ham, such as broiled peach-halves. Place a dab of green or red jelly in the centre of each half and arrange them around the platter of ham — they look most attractive. Broiled tomatoes, onion rings or apple slices also add colorful eye-appeal to the Easter "pièce de résistance". Raw vegetable slices shaped into daisies or lillies are interesting to make and different to serve.

Just visualize the Easter ham, colorful and shiny, with a rich glaze on its gaily decorated platter, all ready for carving.

Chicken and Fowl in Interesting Variations

Chicken Casserole with Curry Topping

2 Cups diced cooked fowl, 1 cup sliced carrots (cooked) 1 10-ounce tin cream of celery soup (or cream of mushroom soup), ¼ cup milk, 1 tablespoon chopped onion, 1 tablespoon chopped parsley, salt and pepper to taste, biscuit topping using 1 cup flour; add ⅛ teaspoon curry powder to dry ingredients.

Toss together chicken and carrots and place in a greased 9-inch pie plate. Combine soup, milk, onion, parsley, salt and pepper and heat. Pour hot soup mixture over chicken and carrots. Top with biscuit topping and bake in a hot oven, 400°F., 25 to 30 minutes or until topping is done. Yield: six servings.

Fowl Fricassee

¼ Cut fat, ¼ cup finely chopped onion, 2 cups diced cooked fowl, 2 cups diced potatoes (raw or cooked), 1 cup diced raw vegetables (celery or carrots), 1½ cups stock, seasonings to taste.

Melt fat, add onion and sauté until lightly browned. Add fowl, potatoes, vegetables and stock. Cover and simmer until vegetables are cooked, about 30 minutes, adding more stock if necessary. There should be just enough liquid to prevent scorching. Serve hot in a large casserole or individual casseroles garnished with parsley. Yield: 5 cups.

Variations:

1. When vegetables are cooked thicken stock by shaking 2 teaspoons of flour over the fricassee and continue cooking for about 5 minutes, stirring constantly.
2. Pour fricassee into casserole, top with tea biscuits or pastry and bake in a hot oven, 300°F., until topping is done, about 30 minutes.
3. When vegetables are cooked, remove cover from pan and continue cooking until stock has evaporated and fowl mixture is brown similar to hash.
4. When vegetables are cooked, remove cover from pan and continue cooking until stock has evaporated. Then add to 4 beaten eggs, return mixture to hot frying pan. Reduce heat and cook slowly until firm and brown on the bottom, about 5 minutes. Crease through centre, with spatula, fold over and serve on a hot platter. If desired serve with a tomato or mushroom sauce.

"STORY BOOK" GOOD TURN

Wolf Cubs of St. Luke's Pack in Woodstock, N.B., are keeping the Carleton Memorial Hospital supplied with story and picture books for young patients. It all started recently when two Cubs took books to a young friend in the hospital and were astonished at the happy results.

Art and the Home
— By D. C. Muller

Value of Pictures

In a recent article published by one of the Art magazines, it was stated that a picture drawn and painted by one of the great masters brought, at an auction, several hundred thousand dollars. Why?

Art has long been a standard of wealth (or if you care to call it, an investment) — which in time accumulates more wealth as it increases with age and people are willing to pay the price for it. That is the reason why some people purchase a picture. Others, as I have repeatedly remarked, buy them because their social prestige is at stake — they have to show off the money which they have at their disposal. Others like the picture for what it conveys. This is the most important factor in buying a picture.

A picture is only worth what you pay for it. If you pay $35 for one, to you it is worth $35 or perhaps more; but in money you were willing to pay $35 for it. However, in time it might increase in value to you, so that it rises in your appreciation, and hence you wouldn't part with it for $100.

If no one wanted Rembrandt's pictures, then they wouldn't be worth the canvas that they were painted on. If, however, they are worth the hundred thousand dollars paid, as in the first example, then to that person they are worth that amount. To someone else, not as much maybe — but to the holder, it may mean an investment, an object of beauty, something to admire.

This does not mean that pictures depend upon their monetary value for appreciation. Appreciation cannot be bought; it can be acquired, cultivated, increased, decreased and inborn — but not bought.

This perhaps is one of the most important features of Art. No matter how much money you have, or time for leisure, art is an expression, a dream made into a reality; but it is not a gift which money will buy. Before the appreciation will come, you have to acquire the attitude towards it.

GIRL PIANO STUDENT GETS PERFECT MARKS

Prince Albert, Sask. (CP) — Hope of gaining that fabulous mark of 100 per cent in musical examinations is pretty far removed for most young musicians.

But 15-year-old Patricia Noreen (Patsy) Hagen of Prince Albert, received this honor for Grade II Theory from the Royal Conservatory of Music, Toronto.

Patsy, who has been taking piano lessons since she was 6, now is working on her Grade VIII piano and is starting on harmony.

Chairman on School Broadcasting

New "principal" of Canada's biggest "school" is Dr. R. O. MacFarlane of Winnipeg, who is also Deputy Minister of Education for Manitoba. As chairman of the National Advisory Council on School Broadcasting, he now helps coordinate the work of the CBC and the provincial departments of education in planning National School Broadcasts which, supplemented by provincially-organized programs, reach an estimated 600,000 pupils in one third of the country's schools. Dr. MacFarlane was named chairman of the advisory body to replace Dr. W. P. Percival, director of Protestant education in Quebec, who had occupied the post for a number of years.

Planning Exhibits for Country Women's Conf'ce

Plans are taking shape for the Triennial Conference of the Associated Country Women of the World, to be held in the Royal York Hotel, Toronto, August 12-23, 1953. A meeting of the Main Planning Committee is arranged for the end of April in Ottawa, and it is expected Mrs. Raymond Sayre, of Ackworth, Iowa, A.C.W.W. president, will be attending to assist in the discussions.

Mrs. G. E. LeBarron, North Hatley, president of the Quebec Women's Institutes, who is in charge of exhibits for this conference, states the over-all plan of her committee is to present a picture of typical Canadian life. The exhibit is to be divided into four distinct sections, corresponding to the four national conenerships: Agriculture and Canadian Industries; Home Economics and Health; Citizenship; and Cultural Arts. Special emphasis will be placed on various aspects of these sub-divisions, such as types of farming, nutrition, housing, educational systems, arts and crafts, etc., in an effort to create an authentic portrayal of the Canadian scene.

B. of M. Makes "Balanced Appraisal" of Canada's Economic Trends

Montreal — Canada, in the past 12 years, increased the real volume of her over-all annual production by 90 per cent. She expanded her working force by 30 per cent, doubling the proportion of industrial to farm workers. She developed one of the world's strongest currencies. And, "in the most striking feature of the growth pattern", she invested her new capital in new industries, processes and resources.

This sums up the main positive points made by the Bank of Montreal's current Business Review, devoted to discussion of Canada's economic trends in the past 12 years. On the negative side, the report emphasizes that one basic resource, population, remains in short supply; that the country depends heavily on a few leading exports to increasingly concentrated markets; and that danger of further inflation continues.

Noting that Canada's economic future has lately occasioned "profuse comment", much of it radiating unrestrained optimism, the B of M proposes "an attempt at a balanced appraisal of Canada's position and prospects as seen from the inside."

The market value of Canadian output in 1951, at $21,217 millions, was nearly four times as large as in 1939; much of this reflected a doubling of the price level, yet, after eliminating the price factor, the volume of the nation's annual production has grown by 90 per cent during the 12-year period.

Needs Many More People

Most of this real gain represents a greater output per employed person since the working force was only 30 per cent larger in 1951 than in 1939. "Indeed, the relatively moderate rise of the working force serves to emphasize the fact that in one of its basic resources — population — Canada is far from adequately supplied."

The bank says that "The most striking feature of the growth pattern has been the extent of new capital investment both during the war and in the post-war period." Some of this was to be explained by the low investment of the depression and wartime postponement of housing and public works. "But the three dynamics of expansion have been new industries, new processes and new resources."

After reviewing the dramatic growth of Canada's metal, automotive, oil, pulp and paper and chemical industries, the B of M notes that rapid industrialization changed the ratio of industrial workers to farmers from one to one in 1939 to more than two to one last year. But, although farm employment has fallen by one quarter, agricultural output has increased.

Canadian Dollar Comes of Age

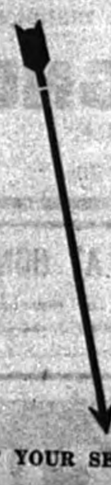

Commenting upon Canada's discovery and development of important new resources, the review points out that this attracted enough foreign capital to finance a deficit in external trade and build exchange reserves. In consequence, the Canadian dollar was set free to find its own level last September, and "it is now one of the strongest of currencies."

The United States received 59 per cent of Canada's exports in 1951, while the United Kingdom's share was only 16 per cent, a sharp fall from the 40 per cent it took in pre-war days.

Both export and import prices have acted as inflationary pressures in Canada, the B of M remarks. But much of her inflation has been "home-brewed". It resulted from the wartime increase in the money supply, the high level of capital outlays in relation to the volume of available saving, and official "easy-money" policy maintained until late 1950. Since then, various governmental restrictions, aided by the chartered banks voluntarily trimming credit, have combined with a consumer reaction against the earlier buying spree to produce "a moderate disinflation".

In all, however, even the most cautious appraisal of Canadian prospects must give weight to the dynamic forces of expansion, the bank emphasizes. Industrial development plans project a three-fold increase in the production of crude petroleum and five-fold in iron ore, before 1955, with large gains forecast for other metals. Concluding on a note of sober optimism, the report adds that, besides these specific expectations, Canada has a diversified industry, a well-established agriculture, political maturity, social stability and a place in what is now the non-communist world's economic centre of gravity. Her position is, in many respects, unique.

Says Toronto Hotel 'Mighty Big Tepee'

Toronto (CP) — The Royal York hotel here is the biggest teepee Xavier Patrick of Winisk has ever seen.

Xavier, an Indian chief whose home is near Cape Henrietta Maria on the lonely western shore of Hudson Bay, came to Toronto to attend an annual trappers' conference. He had never before seen an automobile or a train, although he was familiar with the airplane.

Of celery, served in a banquet he said: "This good muskrat food."

Of the lofty Bank of Nova Scotia building: "Humph, like plenty tall spruce."

Of the city as a place to live, he said: "City no good for traps. Catch only people. Everywhere people. Too many people. Maybe come back some day for a visit. Tonight I go home."

Teen-Age Clinic Solves Problem of Freak Growth

Find Many Troubles May Be Traced to Abnormality of Human Endocrine Glands

Winnipeg (CP) — Typical of the problems presented to a Winnipeg clinic catering to adolescents, is that of a 14-year-old girl worried because she towers over boys of her own age at high school dances.

The Adolescent Endocrine Clinic says it can help such a girl, who may reach the stately height of five feet eight inches with every indication of growing taller.

With a history of the girl's previous growth, doctors can estimate how much she will grow in the future. With her parents' consent, the girl's height can be checked "almost instantly" if examination shows she will aproach or surpass the six-foot mark.

The clinic studies the actions of the endocrine glands of the body; pituitary, thyroid and reproductive glands, adrenals and pancreas. All produce hormones which affect the growth and development of young people.

A 13-year-old boy was brought to the clinic to find out why he was only the size of an eight-year-old. Doctors found he had no general disease and his glands were working correctly.

The trouble was an extremely unhappy home. The boy was suffering from malnutrition and simply wasn't eating enough. The solution was a happy foster home.

Other problems the clinic tackles are those of the young girl who has excessive hair; the teen-ager, usually a girl, who has recently developed a goitre, or diabetes, the most common disease encountered.

The clinic is open every Saturday morning at the Children's Hospital. Doctors and specialists donate their services.

"The Word of God Is Alive"

SO STATES the inspired writer in his letter to the Hebrews. Truer words were never recorded! Powerful, sharper than any two-edged sword, the Word of God lives forever. Preserved through the centuries, this source of life-giving knowledge outlasts man-made provisions and promises, which fade into oblivion. God's Word cuts through lies and errors of false religion, strengthens the faint and enlivens the despondent. The use of an up-to-date translation like the "New World Translation of the Christian Greek Scriptures" heightens the effect. Read it and prove this for yourself. Its modern speech, along with the advantages of many wonderful helps provided in this 800-page volume, will be a real stimulus to you in your search for life. AMONG THE CHURCHES

Returned Missionary From B.W.I. to Address Pentecostal Assembly

The Rev. Frank J. Meyer, a returned missionary from the British West Indies, will address a missionary meeting on Sunday night, April 6, at 7.30 in the Brownsburg Canadian Legion Hall, under auspices of the Brownsburg Pentecostal Church. (Mr. Laverne Poirier is the pastor of the congregation).

Born in Amsterdam, Holland, his parents emigrated to Canada when he was six weeks old, settling in Oshawa, Ont., where Mr. Meyer lived until he attended the Eastern Pentecostal Bible College in Toronto, to prepare for missionary work.

Mr. and Mrs. Meyer spent five and a half years in the West Indies, being engaged in evangelistic missionary work on the islands of Trinidad, Antigua, Grenada and St. Vincent. They will sail from Montreal on April 29 next, to begin their second term.

The missionary's Sunday night address will be illustrated by curios and pictures of the West Indies. The public are invited to attend.

Ministerial Association

The Argenteuil Protestant Ministerial Association met on Monday in St. Simeon's Church hall. All members were present, together with some welcome visitors. Final arrangements were made for the joint meeting with the Ontario East Ministerial Association on May 27, when it is expected the guest speaker will be Magistrate Labrosse, of Prescott County.

The Rev. Dr. J. E. Purdie, of Winnipeg, delivered a very inspiring lecture on "The Atonement". The speaker traced the subject graphically through the Old and New Testaments, and showed how fundamental the doctrine is to the Protestant Church.

Laurentian Hotel . . .

quite a scramble among the various merchants of Lachute to have the station in their own back-yard. This is quite understandable if one takes into account all the trade that a railway station meant to the local business.

Pierre Rodrigue, who was the proprietor of the hotel, and of the land at the rear of the hotel extending to Foundry Street, donated the land to the Quebec, Montreal, Ottawa and Occidental Railway, predecessors of Canadian Pacific Railway Company, on the condition that the station be located on the land so given, and the hotel and Meikle's store (now the A & P Store) have access to a spring that existed on the C.P.R. grounds in front of Leger's Garage.

The first railway station was erected at the rear of the hotel, and this is the origin of the road on the east side of this establishment that connects Main Street with the station yard. Berry Street was opened as a thoroughfare only as late as the year 1943. This road east of the hotel, is the private property of the Laurentian Hotel, and it is only through the courtesy of the owners that the public has always been permitted to use it. It is to be appreciated that the owners grant the population such access, since in addition to paying for the maintenance of this right of way, they also pay the taxes levied according to the rate. This facility also deserves greater appreciation since two former connecting links are no more in use, namely, at Campbell's Store and the A & P Store, which was managed for years by the late Philias Rodrigue, an almost legendary figure who is still the subject of several anecdotes.

The property is now the property of three Lachute townsmen, the Lefebvre brothers, Paul and Louis, and Germain Filion. Under their management the Laurentian Hotel has continued its tradition as a landmark of Main Street, and the proprietors have maintained the good service of their predecessors.

Although not apparent from the exterior, the building has been renovated to quite an extent. All the rooms have been remodeled and today the accommodation offered to the travelling public is equal to any that may be expected in large hotels. Just recently, telephones have been installed in every room. The proprietors have plans on the drawing board for further improvements, both inside and out, which they hope will materialize with time — and the necessary finances.

(Intended for last issue)

Miss E. Hanson was in Montreal recently attending the annual meeting of the Quebec Council of the Girl Guides Association, which was held in St. Peter's Anglican Church.

Sympathy is extended to Mr. Wm. Gadreau in his bereavement — Mrs. Gadreau having passed away suddenly. Her funeral was held from the Maple Avenue Baptist Church on March 25, with the Rev. N. H. Brock officiating.

This is a very worthy object and we in Arundel can help in this effort to obtain funds for their good works, by leaving old plates at Staniforth's or Gordon's filling stations, and at any garage, where they will be picked up by the local Legion.

A correction from last week: It was erroneously reported that moving pictures were shown under auspices of the A.A.A.A., whereas this program was under auspices of the Farm Forums. (Correspondent extends apologies).

Farm Forums

Bevan Lake branch held their last meeting of the season on Monday evening, March 24, at the home of Mr. J. T. Stuart; the lady members cooked and served a turkey supper, which was greatly enjoyed. After listening to the questionnaire and filling in the information required, the rest of the evening was given over to social activities, which took the form of a "500" party. Winners were Mr. S. Swail, Jr., with the gentlemen's highest score, and Mrs. Wm. Owens, ladies' highest score.

Forum Group No. 4 met at the Maplewood Inn on Monday evening last, where they enjoyed a turkey supper. This was followed by discussion on the week's radio program, and a pleasant social period.

Group No. 2 met at Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Graham's for a bean supper. There were 14 members present. After the discussion, cards were played, Mrs. S. Swail, Sr., having the highest score for for ladies and Owen Rathwell the highest for men.

God's Kingdom on Earth A Sure Thing

Peace is as sure as tomorrow's sunrise, and just as independent of man. — Read Isaiah 9: verses 6-7, and Daniel 2:44.

For the cause of earth's troubles — read Revelations 12: 7-12.

V. 7. There was war in heaven. Michael and his angels fought against the dragon, and the dragon fought, and his angels. . . (8) And prevailed not. Neither was there peace found anymore in heaven. . . (9) And the great dragon was cast out, that old serpent, called the Devil, and Satan, which deceiveth the whole world. . . He was cast out into the earth: and his angels were cast out with him.

V. 10. And I heard a loud voice saying in heaven, "Now is come Salvation, and strength, and the Kingdom of our God, and the power of his Christ, for the accuser of our brethren is cast down, which accused them before our God day and night. (11) And they overcame him by the blood of the Lamb, and by the word of their testimony; and they loved not their lives unto death. (12) (But) "woe" to the inhabitors of the earth, and of the sea: for the Devil has come down onto you, having great wrath; because he knoweth, that he hath but a short time.

From the light of the above scriptures, might we not believe that Satan, the Devil, is responsible for the hurricanes, tornadoes, twisters, cyclones, freak blizzards, floods and avalanches, and even the abnormal tidal waves of the sea!

Sports and Activities At Lachute High School

By Anne Dwyer

Next week the pupils of L.H.S. will write the rest of their exams. "All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy", so after all the hard work of studying for these tests, the pupils have their annual Easter holiday. Everyone is looking forward to having fun at Eastertime.

Basketball

Last Saturday, Lachute played host to the three Macdonald High School teams. Macdonald High won the Junior game and the boys' game, while Lachute won the girls' game.

The final score in the Junior match was 54-11 for Macdonald. In the first half, Coad sank three baskets; Swales, two fouls and three baskets; and A. Baker, three baskets, before Lachute's M. Cairns managed to hit the loop. Before the first half was over he scored again. Thompson put one in for Lachute, also. A. Baker put in two more for Macdonald, before the whistle blew with a score of 24-6 on the board.

Coad and Baker really went to work in the last half. Coad made a total of nine baskets for Macdonald, while Baker shot four. Also for Macdonald was a basket made by Triggs. The Lachute scores were made by B. Todd, R. Rogers and Thompson. Coad was the last one to hit the loop in this game. The high score for Macdonald is attributable to their more experienced play — they have played a total of eight games, while this was the first game for the Lachute Juniors.

The boys' game was much closer. The final score was 42-26 for Macdonald. The scorers who made Lachute's 12 points in the first half were B. Golphin, scoring four times, D. Duncan and B. Steeves once. Wells (three baskets and a foul), Hamilton (three baskets) and Spicer (one) were the players accounting for Macdonald's score of 23.

The second half was far more exciting than the first one. Duncan scored five neat shots for Lachute. B. Golphin and B. McMahon were the only other Lachute scorers. Spicer (2), Duane (3), Hamilton (1), Logan (1), Mack (2), and Wesland (1) split the mesh for Macdonald. . . It just wasn't the Lachute boys' day for basketball!

The final score in the girls' match was 33-17 for Lachute. Macdonald started off well with a basket by F. Watson, but they did not stay in the lead long. In the first half, those scoring Lachute's 12 points were J. Goldthorpe, B. Bradford (3), Myrna Gaston and E. Welden. Macdonald made two foul shots — one by E. Cole and the other by J. Cornett. J. Barnes scored a neat basket for Macdonald, and by the time the half-time whistle blew the count was 12-6.

The second half was fast. B. Bradford (4), E. Welden (two fouls and one basket), J. Goldthorpe, M. Mason, A. McGibbon and Myrna Gaston shot Lachute's score up to 33. F. Watson was Macdonald's top scorer, with a total of four baskets to her credit. E. Cole was the only other Macdonald scorer, hitting the hoop once in a neat foul shot and once in a clean-cut throw.

The annual Bolodrome tournament will commence at 3 p.m. Sunday, April 6, at this Main Street establishment. All local league members, friends and the general public are invited to the opening event.

The committee in charge of this tournament comprises — Messrs. Jim Duncan, Laurier Carriere, Tom Lewis, Marcel Brunette and Paul Desnoyers.

B'burg Junior Bombers Play at Forum

Brownsburg — Hockey has definitely ended for the Brownsburg Junior Bombers, who went to Montreal on Sunday morning to play the return game with the Pennsylvania Hotel team at the Forum.

The game was fast and clean, with only two penalties, one to Goyette for tripping and one to the Montreal team. The latter played a much better game than they staged in Brownsburg, with several new players, and the score was a close 5-4, in favor of the Pennsylvania Hotel squad.

The Junior Bombers showed lack of practice, as there has been no hockey ice latterly in Brownsburg. The ice surface was not in N.H.L. shape, consequently the puck was slow, and the Juniors were often overskating it.

The first period saw the Hotel team score the first two goals, followed by the Juniors, Carriere getting a pass from Goyette and Charlebois, to hit the twine. The Montrealers followed with a goal on a break-away.

In the second period Pennsylvania Hotel again scored, and Hewitt followed with another for the Juniors, on a pass from Brewer and Leveillé while their opponents were serving their only penalty. The Juniors outshot the other team 2 to 1 on goals, but just couldn't get inside.

With the score 4-2, the third period opened with a burst by the Juniors. Racine scored on a pass from Hewitt and Ouellette. The Hotel squad scored again on another break-away while Juniors were serving a penalty. Play coming back to the Montrealers' area, the Juniors' first line tried for a good two minutes at goal-mouth to net the puck, but without success. However, before the period ended and with this type of play continuing, defenceman Cousineau scored on a pass from Ouellette.

Gerry Ouellette assisted in refereeing the game.

The team later boarded their bus to the Pennsylvania Hotel, and after attending mass at a nearby church, the players and their friends were guests of the Hotel for lunch.

After lunch, the team returned to the Forum to see the Junior Canadiens play the Quebec Citadels in the sixth game of their series. As this was an important game to the Canadiens, the Brownsburg contingent saw an excellent brand of hockey from seats close to the ice.

The Juniors ended the day by accepting an invitation from Mr. Longtin, former hotel owner in Brownsburg and sponsor of the Brownsburg team a couple of years ago, to go to his Savoy Club in downtown Montreal as his guests. Mr. Longtin had part of his floor-show perform especially for the team. Refreshments were served and the visitors then left for home.

The Brownsburg Junior Bombers have ended a very good season and will be looking forward to the 1952-53 hockey. However, readers may hear more from this group during the summer, if future plans materialize.

The team, comprising all local members, wish to thank their followers for their support during the past season.

The local line-up at the Forum included: R. Ouellette, J. Racine, A. Ouellette, B. Hewitt, L. Brewer, Y. Legault, R. Carriere, M. Charlebois, C. Clement, G. Goyette, J. Leveillé, R. Cousineau, R. Lepine and E. Joly.

HEADS YOUTH COUNCIL

Odd Reaction to A Crime Film

A crime film was recently shown to the inmates of Kingston Penitentiary and their rather odd reaction was reported in the KP Tele-Scope, which some of them get out monthly:

"One might expect that this audience, many of whom serve outlandishly long sentences and are already labelled 'incorrigibles', would show loyalty to the movie villain and his attempts to put it over the law. Yet the opposite is the truth. Whenever it looked as though the various villains were getting the upper hand, the audience became tense and worried. Whenever one of the gangsters met his just reward the tension in the audience relaxed and actual murmurs of satisfaction could be heard in the crowd."

The Daily Times-Gazette of Oshawa, Ontario, made this the subject of an editorial called "Films For Convincts", in which it concluded:

"This is an interesting and significant comment, one that might possibly be unexpected. But it fully justifies the showing of pictures in penitentiaries, not only as a great medium for relaxation, but also because it seems obvious that these movies do help to bring to the surface the inherent qualities of decency to be found in every human being. It might even be the case that some of the inmates of the penitentiary might be started on the right road to reformation by this means."

Camera's Increasing Role In Sports Decisions

By Gerry Lougheed, Canadian Press Staff Writer

It hasn't reached the point where a fighter knocked cold will refuse to concede defeat until he has seen the pictures, but more and more the camera is becoming the supreme court of sports decisions.

An episode in which a photo uncovered a mistake occurred at New York's Madison Square Garden in February. The verdict of the judges giving Don Gehrmann a victory over Fred Wilt in the Baxter Mile was reversed when the picture of the finish was studied.

It wasn't the first time the camera has detected an error by officials in a track event. In the 1948 Olympic Games in London a United States relay team was disqualified when it was ruled that the baton had not been passed between the required markers on the track. Motion pictures showed the pass had been perfectly legal, and the judge had been looking at the wrong marker. The American team was awarded the championship.

Naturally track, or any other race for that matter, is a set-up for cameras because they can be placed to catch the finish of the events. But photos have played major roles in other sports also.

All National Hockey League games at Maple Leaf Gardens in Toronto are filmed. The Leafs management uses the pictures as a means of learning to avoid mistakes, also for spotting possible flaws in the play of their opponents.

During one of the games this winter defenceman Gus Mortson was given a match misconduct penalty for allegedly attempting to injure Hy Buller of New York Rangers. This meant his attempt automatically went to N.H.L. president Clarence Campbell to decide whether further action would be taken, such as suspension.

The film was run for the officials in the hope it would show all stages of the incident. It showed only part of the affair for the camera was following the puck, which rolled away from where Mortson and Buller were jousting. However, the pictures did show sufficient, combined with testimony from the referee and the players themselves, that Mortson was freed of any further punishment.

Detroit's Gordie Howe N.H.L. Scoring Champion

By Gerry Lougheed, Canadian Press Staff Writer

Big Gordin Howe of the Detroit Red Wings, who won the N.H.L. scoring championship this year for the second straight season, joined a select circle. Only three other players have turned the trick since the league's inception in 1917.

The others were Max Bentley, with Chicago Black Hawks in 1946 and 1947; Dave (Sweeney) Schriner with the old New York Americans exactly 10 years earlier and Charlie Conacher of Toronto in 1934 and 1935.

Howe, a 24-year-old right winger born in Floral, Sask., won this year with 86 points from 47 goals and 39 assists. By coincidence he garnered the same point total last season, but had 43 goals and a like number of assists.

schoolchildren with a continuing treatment of sulfa. Since its first administration some fresh outbreaks have been reported, but nothing on the scale of an uncontrolled epidemic.

Segregation has not been resorted to, because its effect was defeated by non-reporting of the first cases. Parents and others are prone to — and some did — adopt a very shortsighted policy in endeavoring to hide the first incidence of the fever, thereby spreading it among the other children with whom those affected came in contact. This is exactly an a par with the current outbreak of foot-and-mouth disease, which has cost Canada so dearly.

Lachine Curlers Win Trophy Here in Fourth Annual Invitation Bonspiel

Occasion Produces An Eight-End Score; Appreciation to Lachute Club for Hospitality And Compliments to Efficient Organizers

Growing in popularity each year, the fourth annual invitation bonspiel of Lachute Curling Club had an increase of 25% of entries over that of last year, with 34 clubs represented and 124 teams taking part.

To add interest to the competition, which had been in progress for over a week, the first eight high-plus scores were considered with the elimination and finals, all taking place on Saturday. From this play J. Watson, of Heather Club, had as his opponent, E. G. Hunt, of Lachine, for the trophy contest, with G. Lacompte, of Pointe Claire, and R. Phair, of Russell, in the consolations.

Keen ice made the competition sharp, with steady play on both sides and an occasional outstanding shot. The first end was taken by Heather with two points, but on the second Lachine pulled a sixer and broke the ice for a lead, which continued, ending in a 14-6 point victory.

In the consolation game, points kept somewhat even until the last two ends — Pointe Claire pulling ahead to win 9-6 over Russell.

The Quent Miller Trophy is the coveted prize in this bonspiel, which now ranks among the largest invitation events, and in the absence of the donor, Mr. Doug Whittaker, a past-president, of Caledonia Club, made the presentation, congratulating the winners and expressing appreciation to the members of Lachute Curling Club for their welcome and hospitality.

All players in the finals were given individual prizes of considerable value as a token of René Trepanier, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, Oka, Que., has purchased the imported Ayrshire bull Knockterra Sundial from J. H. Black, Lachute. Sundial was first prize junior yearling and reserve junior champion at the 1951 Royal Winter Fair, Toronto, in very keen competition.

'Industrial Caravan' to Granby on Ch. of Commerce Program for May

Tribute This Week to Curling Club — A Social And Sporting Adjunct to Lachute

"Industry and Commerce in Lachute"
Contributed by Lachute Chamber of Commerce

Following their recent monthly dinner meeting, many members of the Chamber of Commerce accepted an invitation to visit the Lachute Curling Club, and those previously unfamiliar with this club and its facilities were favorably impressed with its attractions as one of the community's major sporting centres. The Chamber, whose members were warmly welcomed, gives the spotlight this week to Lachute Curling Club, concerning which the following information is recorded in this column:

Lachute Curling Club Inc. was organized in 1919, and has enjoyed the pleasure and activity of each successive curling season, counting among its officers and members many of the town's leading citizens and lady residents. There are two sheets of artificial ice, providing for a full program of sport during the season.

The male membership is now 145. During the year numerous club bonspiels are played for trophies and individual prizes.

The ladies' branch is operated under the title, Lachute Ladies' Curling Club, with 125 members.

A pleasant feature of the season is the successful mixed bonspiels, played weekly on Saturday afternoon and evening. The members take part in curling, and also enjoy cards and dancing.

Both clubs frequently entertain outside clubs, and are also entertained by clubs in different centres — the Lachute teams having won several important trophies in Quebec, Ontario and U.S.A.

Lachute is well known to the curling fraternity for its fine hospitality. The Fall Mixed Bonspiel and Men's Spring Bonspiel are very well patronized. This year's invitation event had 122 entries (496 men), including representatives from 34 individual clubs. This is considered one of the largest bonspiels held outside the Island of Montreal.

Officers of the club for 1951-52 have been—President, E. M. Jones; vice-president, Leonard Bedard; secretary, C. E. Richardson; treasurer, F. A. Brennian.

Board — E. M. Jones, James W. McGibbon, Ross Muir, F. A. Brennian, Leonard Bedard, R. A. Giles, Robert Cairns, C. E. Richardson.

The Chamber of Commerce pays tribute to this organization as a distinct asset to the social life and recreation of Lachute community.

"Industrial Caravan" On Future Program

Towards the end of May, Lachute Chamber of Commerce is planning a group visit to Granby, Que. In a letter to Horace Boivin, Mayor of that progressive industrial centre, President Horace Lamarche suggested the idea of organizing a "caravan" to Granby, comprising 25 or 30 cars with a delegation of around 100 members. The cars will bear placards inscribed, "Industrial Caravan, Lachute to Granby".

In reply to this communication, Mr. Lamarche received a cordial letter from Mayor Boivin, suggesting May 28 as a preferable date, and inviting President Lamarche to address a luncheon gathering in one of the hotels at Granby. Mayor Boivin also proposed to hold an official reception for the party, at the city hall; and, with co-operation of the Granby Chamber of Commerce, to conduct the visiting group on a tour of two or three of the city's leading industries and the zoological gardens.

This is a much appreciated invitation, to which the local Chamber members will look forward with keen anticipation. There will be more information later on the plans for this "caravan".

Attended Zone Gathering of Lions Clubs in Montreal

Representing the Lachute Lions Club, Messrs. Geo. Tattersfield (president), J. S. Giles (International counsellor), Bertrand L'Heureux and Ernest Snadden were in Montreal last Sunday to attend a Zone gathering of Quebec and Eastern Ontario branches. There was a record attendance of 200 delegates at the meeting, held in the Mount Royal Hotel.

Herbert J. Petrie, of Texas, immediate past-president of Lions International, reviewed his last year's tour of countries to which the movement has spread. Clubs were established in two new countries last year — Japan and Belgium. Lionism, spread through 36 countries, is a strong bulwark against Communism, said Mr. Petrie.

At this session a charter was accepted on behalf of the new Ville LaSalle club by its president, Arnold Slade. (Lachute branch donated an American national flag to the regalia and equipment of this new club).

Lawrence Sheasgreen, of the St. Lambert club, was nominated for district governor. Election will be at the district convention in London, Ont., June 8-10.

MANY PAY TRIBUTE TO LOCAL TRADESMAN

The Late Albt. de Bellefeuille

Many fellow townsmen and associates paid final tribute last Saturday to the late Albert de Bellefeuille, whose death occurred at the age of 62, after several weeks of ill health. Well and favorably known in the business of this town, Mr. de Bellefeuille was the example of a master tradesman (in brick and cement construction) who commanded respect through obvious pride in his craft.

Funeral rites were held at Ste. Anastasie Parish Church, attended by various members of the district clergy, besides a host of friends and fellow citizens. The Knights of Columbus and the Ligue du Sacré-Coeur paid honor to the departed, who was a loyal member of these orders.

The late Albert de Bellefeuille is mourned by his wife, the former Rosa Sabourin; four sons, Gilles, Gerard and Claude, of Lachute, and Paul, of Ottawa; and four daughters, Mrs. Wilfrid Joly (Laura-Anna) and Mrs. Médard Héroux (Therese), of Lachute, Mrs. Réal Moncion (Denise), of Masson, and Mrs. Dollard Seguin (Jermaine), of Montreal. He is survived also by a brother and two sisters, in Ontario, and 12 grandchildren.

"He Is Risen"

THE STORY of the Resurrection of Christ as told in St. Matthew's Gospel is the basis for the Christian celebration of Easter — the most joyful festival of the church. It is, indeed, the basis of Christian faith.

In the end of the Sabbath, as it began to dawn toward the first day of the week, came Mary Magdalene and the other Mary to see the sepulchre.

And, behold, there was a great earthquake: for the angel of the Lord descended from heaven, and came and rolled back the stone from the door, and sat upon it. His countenance was like lightning, and his raiment white as snow: and for fear of him the keepers did shake, and became as dead men.

And the angel answered and said unto the women, "Fear not ye: for I know that ye seek Jesus, which was crucified. He is not here: for he is risen, as he said. Come, and see the place where the Lord lay. And go quickly, and tell his disciples that he has risen from the dead."

The world today needs the promise of new life given to mankind on that first Easter morn. In this hour of threatening world war, this hour of broken dreams of world peace, this hour of misery and fear throughout so much of the world — the hope that Easter brings of a better world not only in the hereafter but on this earth, gives the free men of the world courage to carry on.

Through the ages Easter and springtime have become closely associated in the minds of people everywhere. The eternal mystery of the renewal of life in nature in the spring, and the story of the Resurrection, both bring hope to man that ultimately good will conquer evil. The message of Easter is a triumphant one.

People of our community, like those of thousands of communities all over the Christian world, will gather next Sunday in their churches to worship the Risen Christ, to pray for peace, to seek the inspiration of the beautiful music of Easter and the comfort and challenge of the Easter message. The churches here should be too small to accommodate all those who wish to take part in the Easter services.

Study Plans For Hospital

The directorate of the proposed Argenteuil Hospital held meetings Tuesday, both morning and afternoon, to discuss plans from the incorporation of this institution to its actual construction — which is a complex procedure involving many details.

The directors—Gilbert E. Ayers, Rev. Leo. Clement and Wm. M. Cottingham, M.L.A., with the secretary, Roger Regimbal — met at the Dominion Shuttle Co. offices, where they elected Mr. Ayers as president, Mr. Cottingham as vice-president, and the Rev. Fr. Clement as director.

The group conferred during the afternoon with architect Grattan D. Thompson, also Dr. Harvey Agnew, of Neergard, Agnew & Craig, hospital consultants of New York and Toronto, and the Rev. Fr. Bertrand, of Montreal, who is vice-president of the Canadian Hospital Association. In attendance were representatives of the Argenteuil Medical Association, which group is deeply concerned with the hospital project. President of this body is Dr. A. Pager; vice-president, Dr. F. W. FitzGerald; secretary, Dr. R. Lavigne.

Dr. Jules Lafleur represented Dr. Pager at the meeting, and the Sisters of Providence were also represented from the local hospital.

Possible sites for the new institution were discussed, but in view of its central location and convenience, the tract of land just east of Mountain View, which was offered by Ayers Limited for this purpose, was duly decided upon. Plans prepared by Grattan Thompson in collaboration with the Toronto firm of consultants, were discussed, and it was agreed to incorporate certain suggestions advanced by the doctors present.

GRENV'L SCHOOL SENIOR WINS ORATORY-FEST AT HAWKSB'Y ROTARY

(Our District Correspondent)

Grenville — In a public speaking contest for district school pupils, held at the Rotary Club meeting in Hawkesbury last week, David Foreman, of Grade IX, Grenville Consolidated School, took the honors among five contestants. The successful young orator will represent this section in a contest between district winners, to be held later at Montreal Rotary Club, sponsors of the event.

The five participants at Hawkesbury were — Ira Sutherland, Hawkesbury English High School; Kenneth Trickey, Lachute High School; David Foreman, Grenville Consolidated School; Bernard Ryan, Plantagenet High School; and Françoise Daignault, Hawkesbury French High School.

The Rouyn-Noranda Press comments that with 1952 being Leap Year, the North seems to be the logical place for women to look for their men, for here men outnumber women. . . At MacLeod, Alta., at Aunt Alice's Kintergarten, George Bowes answered the teacher's question: "and where do we get butter?" by saying, "from butterflies".

2 CHILDREN DROWN THROUGH RIVER ICE NEAR PTE. FORTUNE

Hawkesbury — Claudette, four, and Gilles, five years old, two of the seven children of an unemployed laborer, Josephat Berniquer, plunged through the ice of the Ottawa River near their home between Pte. Fortune and Chute à Blondeau on Sunday afternoon and drowned.

The children were missed at 4.20 p.m. Sunday. Their bodies had been recovered by 7 o'clock. Coroner Dr. Arcade Perrier of Hawkesbury pronounced the deaths accidental.

There were no witnesses to the tragedy but events leading up to the fatality were pieced together by the coroner and Ontario Provincial Police.

The children were last seen alive at 4 o'clock playing on the ice near shore.

According to members of the family, it was not considered dangerous for the two youngsters to be out on the ice. The water had been so low recently in the mid-river channel that in near shore under the ice it was only three feet deep. Recent rains had raised the level, however, and when the ice gave way under them the boy and his sister slipped into six feet of water.

They were missed at 4.20. A search was immediately begun, and one-way tracks leading to a hole in the ice were discovered. The bodies were recovered around 7 p.m.

B'BURG COUNCIL DEALS WITH ROUTINE AFFAIRS AT APRIL SESSION

(Our District Correspondent)

Brownsburg—The usual monthly meeting of the Brownsburg Council was held on Monday evening. All members were present. There will be one more regular meeting of the present membership till the election of three new councillors takes place.

The applications of some householders for water and sewerage were discussed. . . The Mayor stated he would like to see the street concerned in the applications opened out into Main at the blacksmith's forge.

Councillor Somers felt that nothing could be done about providing sewerage in this area as the street in question had not been taken over by Council, and this could not be done as it was under the required width, being only 16 feet wide. Property would have to be expropriated, or an entirely new street opened into Main.

Mayor H. Pariseau suggested leaving the matter over till after Mr. P. Laliberté, engineer, had supplied the Council with the estimate of cost — which the engineer was at present working on.

Police

Councillors Lavoie and Ball listed an inventory of articles in the police department, and reported that the cell required painting and cleaning. They also suggested that some building be provided for storage of winter equipment, machinery, plows and tools. There were also some matters requiring attention in the fire department, which were discussed and sanction given to have them corrected.

Councillor Ouellette felt that a larger building for storage is becoming a necessity. Councillor Somers agreed, and it was decided to look into the matter of cost.

Bicycles

A complaint was received about the congregation of a number of cyclists on Bank Street. Some councillors agreed that it was a nuisance and must be controlled. Councillor Somers mentioned a by-law which authorized the police to

HAPPY OCCASION ON CANADIAN SAFETY FUSE CO.'S PRESENTATION OF LONG-RECORD SAFETY PRIZES

(Our District Correspondent)

Brownsburg — It would take one man 1,272 years working without a lost time accident to reach the enviable record compiled by the employees of Canadian Safety Fuse Company, Brownsburg. The word "safety" as denoting part of the company's product title, applies to the ease and safety with which Safety Fuse can be used, even in the hands of a tyro, rather than to its manufacture. Nevertheless the employees of the Safety Fuse Company practice what they preach, and for the past 12 years have worked day in and day out without once letting down the safeguards that prevent loss of time through accident.

Since the inception of the No-Accident Record Plan by the parent company, C-I-L, the Canadian Safety Fuse has won the General Manager's Prize three times, the President's Prize twice, the Board of Directors' Prize twice and the top jack-pot, the C.S.F. Prize, four times. For the past 10 years, that is during the time of its being in force, the company's employees have captured annually the National Safety Council's Chemical Section Safety Contest, and have 10 plaques to decorate their trophy room. When you consider that the National Safety Council is an all-American organization, such records take some doing.

During the past four years the National Industrial Frequency Rates have been gradually falling. In 1948 the figure for All Industry was 11.49; for the Chemical Section it was 7.51. In 1949 the figures were All Industry, 10.14; Chemical 5.72. In 1950 it was 9.30 for All Industry; 5.82 for Chemical. The C.S.F.'s figure for all those years was zero. The Industrial Accident Frequency Rates during those same years have been gradually increasing. In the Fuses and Detonators in 1948 it was 2.79, in 1949 5.40, in 1950 6.67; the figure for 1951 is not yet available — but whatever it is, the Canadian Safety Fuse figure is still zero.

The manager, Mr. J. B. Chalmers, is naturally quite proud of his plant's achievement, and at an informal get-together last week for the presentation of the latest prizes, he jubilantly referred to the record of working 4,052 days without a lost-time accident. His hope was that the splendid co-operation on the part of everyone concerned would continue, with similarly happy results, and that the employees would be saved the pain and suffering caused by accidents in the future as in the past. The prize was in recognition of the achievement, but the achievement was something to be proud of.

There were some beautiful prizes on display, but a large number of them were selected for their utility rather than their beauty. Some of the selections were an indication of the man — as the older employees, whose blood was becoming colder with the advancing years, taking to their home electric blankets and pads; the man who on occasion wears an apron over his pants, taking home kitchen utensils and home appliances; and the would-be craftsman selecting a level, or a square, or some other working tool. Some of the women went for cigarette lighters, either for a present or for use, but boudoir accessories were also in some demand. It was a happy occasion and a spirit of good humor prevailed throughout.

PARKING REVISION; COUNCIL TO CONSIDER COLLEGE ST. WIDENING

Answer Request by Taxi Men to Repeal Insurance By-Law

Even if Council decides to repeal or modify its recent by-law compelling taxi operators to carry liability insurance — no change can be enacted until one year hence. Such was the pronouncement at regular council session last Wednesday, to Ernest Gagné, who appeared on behalf of taxi-men seeking to abolish compulsory insurance.

The Council, under chairmanship of Mayor Jas. W. McGibbon, amended a recent regulation to control parking of vehicles on certain streets. Contrary to original ruling, it was decided to permit parking on both sides of Foundry Street in that section between Raymond and Elizabeth.

Building permits were granted to the town secretary - treasurer, Antonio Laurin, for a one-and-a-half storey dwelling on Fraser Street, and to Wilfrid Chenier, for a residential construction on Main Street, both under supervision of the roads committee.

Request for sewerage installation on Isabella Street was tabled for study of the Mayor and roads committee.

The Mayor and secretary-treasurer were authorized to sign an agreement with Ayersville, concerning use of the Lachute dumpsite, or any other means of garbage disposal decided upon for the new municipality.

The roads committee and Ald. Stanley Holt were commissioned to study the possibility of acquiring land for the widening of College Street.

Permission was granted to Legion Branch 70 for the holding of a "peanut day" on August 27 next.

The town corporation was requested by County Council to have representatives at a meeting to establish proces-verbal of a water course passing through the town.

The sum of $50 was voted for a page advertisement in the Spring Fair manual.

Accounts totalling $11,939.83 were passed for payment; and Jos. Senecal, town officer, was authorized to purchase an electric battery for blasting purposes.

The Council then adjourned for private session. Unanimous decision was given to the prohibiting of parking on the east side of Harriet Street, effective from October 1, 1952; also to the calling of tenders for repairs to the floor of Lachute Auditorium.

The meeting was then adjourned till April 10.

Aldermen Wm. S. MacKimmie and D. G. MacRae were absent from this assembly.

At the same time, the offer of $100 is announced for Foto-Nite this week; anyone present in the audience is eligible, providing he or she has registered at the box office.

Teen-Agers Steal Cash, Tickets from Milk Bottles

Asst. Police Chief Catches Up With Young Miscreants

Two teen-age milk-bottle raiders — the kind who have victimized most householders here at one time or another — were caught red-handed by Cst. W. Lepine of the town police force, around 11 p.m. last Friday at Mountain View. The boys, 12 and 13 years of age, respectively, were from Brownsburg.

A Mountain View resident, C. Desjardins, notified Police Chief D. Villeneuve when he saw what the boys were up to. Cst. Lepine being out on patrol, the Chief issued a call over the radio-telephone. Lepine picked up the message and drove to Mountain View; he caught the two boys some distance from the spot indicated, where tickets and cash had been taken from milk bottles placed outside two different homes. The officer took the young miscreants to headquarters, and they were searched — without success, until finally the coins were found hidden in their boots; 38 cents had been taken in each case. The milk tickets were later found on the floor of the patrol wagon.

The two boys, reported to have neither mother nor father to supervise them, were turned over to the police chief at Brownsburg.

Barbers and Hairdressers Follow Organizing Trend

Ste. Anastasie parish hall was the meeting place, last Wednesday, of the Association of Master Barbers and Hairdressers (Argenteuil, Deux Montagnes, Laval and Terrebonne). Chairman was the president, G. Gadoury, of St. Eustache, and other officers attending were P. Elmer Leger, Lachute, 2nd vice-president; L. Lord, St. Eustache, secretary; and M. Langevin, treasurer and inspector for the four counties represented in the Association.

The latter was charged to visit hairdressing establishments in the area to ensure that no unqualified operators are practicing the trade. It is the intention to see that all hairdressers have competence cards; among requirements for this qualification are a seventh-grade education and three years' apprenticeship.

The parity committee for this group comprises — G. Gadoury, and L. Lord (for Deux Montagnes); M. Carriere, St. Jerome (for Terrebonne); M. Leblanc (for Laval); Elmer Leger (for Argenteuil). The examining committee includes eight members from each county.

Assiniboia, Sask. (CP) — Construction will start soon on a new building for the Assiniboia Times, weekly newspaper, to replace the one destroyed by fire last February.

Gatineau LINES

Our Favorite Season

Everybody has his or her favorite season. Some like winter for skiing or skating; others prefer the golden glories of autumn with the crisp, clear days. Many would choose the hot days of summer and vacations at the beach or in the mountains.

The favorite season of the power company is spring. Then it is that the lakes and rivers thaw and preparations are taken to ensure that there will be plenty of water available to produce electric power in other seasons of the year when the water supply is lower.

Aiding in this is the intricate system of control dams built by Gatineau Power, without which our customers would be deprived of electricity for part of the year because there would not be enough water available to enable the turbines to deliver a full load.

In the spring thaw, hundreds of millions of gallons of water are trapped and stored in giant reservoirs far up the Gatineau River. This assures that land along the river farther down will not be flooded by the great volume of water trying to reach the sea. It also assures that enough water will be saved to produce electricity right through next winter when normally the river would be almost dry.

Check Harness Before Spring Work

When checking over the equipment in preparation for getting on to the land, it is a good idea also to check on the harness which may not have had too much use. For despite mechanization, horses are still used to do a lot of Spring work.

The harness should be washed, oiled and mended. But there is more to handling harness than repairing it — its proper use is necessary to get the most out of it, and the most out of the horse. A collar should not be so small as to throttle the horse, nor so large as to put too much strain on any part of the shoulder. A properly adjusted collar distributes evenly the weight of the pull on the shoulders.

An ill-fitting collar can do more damage during the first few days of strenuous Spring work than almost anything else, as it can cause the shoulders to scald and blister. It is a good plan to give the horse an occasional rest and to lift the collar forward somewhat so as to give the shoulders a chance to cool and dry off.

New Barley, "Fort"

Ottawa — The recently introduced variety of barley named Fort was originated at the Cereal Division at the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa. It is derived from a series of crosses, the first of which was made in 1933 between Velvet and Olli. Velvet is a smooth-awned variety which at that time was popular in some parts of Eastern Canada. Olli is a very early variety which was imported from Finland and today is a popular malting variety in the parklands area of central and northern Alberta. In 1937 a selection from this hybrid was crossed with O.A.C. 21. From this hybrid many selections were made and many discarded throughout the years because they did not measure up to the requirements of a good barley. There was one selection, however, which stood out in all tests because of its outstanding strength of straw. This selection was designated 3092A and later named "Fort". In French or English the name of this variety suggests a vigorous and robust barley, sturdy enough to withstand lodging better under most conditions.

Mr. P. R. Cowan of the Cereal Division says that Fort is a smooth-awned six-rowed variety with a compact erect head. It is not subject to neck-breaking and while the straw is reasonably long it has the highest resistance to lodging of any variety tested or grown in Eastern Canada. For this reason it is recommended for use under conditions where barley is liable to lodge. This variety has been tested for the past five years at all the Experimental Stations in Eastern Canada as well as in a number of local tests in Eastern Ontario and Quebec. It has been found to yield about the same as Montcalm and better than O.A.C. 21. In Western Canada, where this variety was tested for two years, it was found to be the lowest yielding variety of the ten in the test for this period. Fort does not do well under dry conditions.

Fort is a feed barley and not suitable for malting purposes. It is considerably lower in malt extract than Montcalm or O.A.C. 21. The percentage extract of a barley is one of the most important qualifications in a good malting barley. As a feed barley, Fort may be expected to fill an important place on the average eastern farm, as it will give a satisfactory yield, and its good resistance to lodging will make for easier harvesting and a safer nurse crop for seeding down to grasses and clovers.

There is a very limited quantity available this spring for distribution in Eastern Ontario, Quebec and the Maritime Provinces. The amount to any one grower will be limited to eight bushels.

Import Permits Halted

Ottawa, April 7 — Permits for the importation of cattle, other ruminants, and swine from England and Scotland will not be issued until further notice.

This additional barricade to keep the virus of foot and mouth disease out of Canada was announced Monday by the federal Department of Agriculture from the office of the Veterinary Director General, Dr. Thomas Childs.

There have been no cases of foot and mouth disease reported since March 3, and by March 13 all infected animals and contacts had been destroyed.

Farmers Can Test Their Own Seed

To harvest good field crops, good seed must be sown. Often seed is obtained from the local dealer, but many farmers use their own homegrown seed. The quality of seed is important, and a seed test will show any undesirable conditions which may result in a crop failure, or introduce and spread troublesome weeds.

There are two main seed tests; for purity and germination. In a purity test the seed is examined to determine the kinds and number of weed and other cultivated seeds. The germination test shows the proportion of crop seeds that may be expected to produce normal plants.

In making a purity test the seed should be thoroughly mixed so that it is representative of the whole quantity and a pound should be used for the actual analysis. This should be spread on a clean surface in a good light, and be carefully picked over and all foreign seeds removed. These should be named and the number of each kind recorded. If identification of some is impossible they may be sent to the nearest Seed Laboratory of the Plant Products Division, Canada Department of Agriculture.

In checking the sample the general quality of the seed and the uniformity and size of the kernels should be noted to decide whether the seed should be re-cleaned. If any noxious weed seeds are found, it is advisable to use other seed.

In a germination test, seed may be germinated in clean sand, soil, or on blotting-paper, absorbent paper-towelling or canton flannel. Generally two hundred seeds are germinated. They should be well spaced if in sand or soil, and rolled up if in cloth or paper-towelling and wrapped in waxed paper to keep them moist. Ordinary room temperature is suitable for most kinds of seed and they should be kept moistened throughout the test. Clovers are counted in five days, corn and peas in eight days, and cereals in twelve days, and only strong, healthy sprouts should be included. Many seeds, especially those which are injured or frosted, may grow a small sprout which would not produce a normal healthy plant. Seed should germinate over 80 per cent if it is to be used for planting.

Ease Cheese Marketing

Ottawa, April 7 — The Right Hon. C. D. Howe, Minister of Trade and Commerce has announced that the New Zealand Dairy Products Marketing Commission and the Canadian importers concerned have voluntarily agreed to cancel orders for the balance of the New Zealand cheese sold to Canada some months ago. Out of 1200 long tons of cheese yet to arrive in Canada, 800 long tons have been cancelled.

The Canadian Government is grateful for the co-operation of the New Zealand Dairy Products Marketing Commission and the Canadian trade is thus minimizing the already difficult marketing problem that has arisen as a result of the non-renewal of the British cheese contract, the severe quota restrictions on imports of cheese into the United States, and the indirect effect of the embargo imposed by the United States on dairy cattle as a result of the recent outbreak of hoof and mouth disease.

The Challenge of Easter

THE CENTRAL story of the Christian world is being reviewed for us these days. It is the story of Easter — the foundation upon which the Christian gospel is based. But does the story of Easter have a practical significance for us? Where does it fit into the hard, desperate struggle of ideologies for the minds of men today?

Easter, first of all, is the story of the initial, apparent triumph of evil. Powerful men motivated by evil designs — strange bedfellows, many of them — combined to send Christ to the Cross. It looked like the finish of His small team of faithful men, and for the new ideas they were bringing to the world.

Indeed, a large part of the opposition was aroused by their ideas — for instance, the new thought of the brotherhood of man, with the development of right relationships and real caring for other people, as the basis of lasting peace. Then there was the stirring call for honesty in all affairs — even for the handling of money in the temple. There was the unfurling of the banner of clean living, with a new standard of purity.

Above all, there was the call to build a new world, as different from the world of the day as that age was different from barbarism. It would mean that every man and woman would take a new kind of responsibility for affairs — and that every man and woman would achieve a new dignity and freedom, and a new kind of life.

To those who would not face the moral challenge of Christ's call, there seemed only one answer — liquidate Him and His followers. But those who accepted the challenge and the personal change involved, went ahead joyously to take the new message to the world, and to work it out for themselves. They have been represented by a minority in every generation since.

Today, when the forces of evil are powerfully organized as never before, the challenge of the ideology of Christian Democracy is insistent. The ringing promise of Easter is this — if enough of us accept the challenge and live by it, there can be a new world in this generation.

Urge "Tax Index"

FROM TWO sources this week we note a suggestion that it's about time somebody started an agitation for a tax index.

The government's statisticians are so busy turning out current figures on the cost of living and all the other trends of modern economic life that they have overloked the most important and expensive item of all, rising taxes — says one of these supporters, the publication "Industry", issued by the Canadian Manufacturers' Association.

A tax index, it is argued, would "help put the finger on the real villain in the piece, as higher taxes certainly help explain a substantial part of the increase in costs and prices which always bring extra wage demands in their wake."

The Male of the Species

AMONG birds, the male of the species is usually the glamor boy, adorned with plumage far more brightly hued than the more sober-toned female.

Once this was the case with humans too. Until England's civil war when King Charles I was beheaded, men wore clothes that had the rainbow faded! Cromwell and his Puritan friends made it unlawful for men to wear colors other than black and dark brown. Through the centuries since, men have never succeeded in throwing off the influence of the solemn-minded Puritans, and so have cheerfully worn drab-colored clothes.

Of late years there seems to have been something of a revolt. The war, when so many men of the country were for years garbed in khaki, blue or grey, may be partly responsible. Anyway, ties and socks have been getting brighter and bolder; sports clothing has been running the gamut of gay hues. Not so many years ago no man working in a big city office would dare appear in anything but a dark blue suit, a white shirt, black tie and probably a bowler. Today anything goes.

Mr. Man is even getting bolder in his dress wear. Suits have gone sky blue, bright green, rust, as well as brighter fawns, greys and browns.

Certainly the trend in men's clothing is toward bolder, brighter colors; and certainly the movement is in the right direction, for anything that adds a note of cheerfulness to the frightened world we live in is not out of place.

Glamor of 70 Miles An Hour

THE MOTOR CAR is here to stay. The question is . . are we?

In 1951, in Ontario alone, motor vehicle accidents killed 945 people, while more than 22,000 people suffered non-fatal injuries. The 1951 death toll, the highest on record, took 154 lives more than in 1950; an average of three more people were killed each week in the year. The worst increases were during February, March and April.

No, it's not pretty reading. It would be much easier to write in this column about the joys of the open road that beckon alluringly now that spring is here. But death likes a jaunt on the highway and he hitches a ride with rich and poor, in rattling jallopy and luxurious convertible.

Have you seen an accident lately? We did recently . . and we can't forget the man who choked out his life on the cement, or that forlorn lunch-pail in the ditch, or that heap of twisted metal that had once been a car. A memory like that takes a lot of the glamor out of 70 miles an hour.

Take it easy, friend; death is so permanent.

"What's the Matter With Lachute Residents?"

(TO THE EDITOR)

We wish to express our appreciation to the many Farm Forum members who constituted our audience on Saturday evening, April 5, when we presented our three-act comedy, "Harvey", in the High School auditorium.

We remain somewhat puzzled though, as to just why so few town folk were present; and for this reason only, we express our disappointment.

We all encountered inclement weather, and we do not like to mention the fact that the cast members drove 50 miles before and after the show, but it does seem to us that, if many of the farmers could drive for miles through a blinding rain, the Lachute residents could at least drive a few blocks, especially having since learned that various farmers, determined to see our play, not only weathered the storm but surmounted difficulties, such as bad travelling conditions, in order to attend. To these faithful admirers we are most grateful.

The event in question was in support of, and sponsored by, the Argenteuil Farm Forums Association, perhaps one of the most important and worthy organizations in existence in rural areas today.

We are by no means impressed by the obvious non-support, and the apparent disinterested attitude among Lachute residents regarding this Association and its activities.

Hoping our supporters received as much enjoyment from the play as we did in presenting it, we are —

Sincerely,
The Ascension Players

Oh, Those Easter Bonnets!

A sure sign of Spring!: Those hats that will bring great joy to the Milliners' hearts. New shapes and new shades for the matrons and maids, as soon as the nice weather starts.

If you think that your wife would wear one hat for life, she would soon let you know where you're wrong, and you soon would be told that a hat two months old has lasted a whole month too long. When the lady next door gets a new one, she's sore and starts on a long shopping spree — comes home at 6.30 all tired out and dirty, not only with one hat, but three! You give her advice like: "Your old one's still nice. I don't like the new ones at all. The old one's becoming". (While mentally summing the price of the three in the hall). "See that there new bonnet!" (the price tag's still on it) "would make you look twenty years older. And then those two others look like your grandmother's." (She looks at you colder and colder). "Two years from now, Honey, those hats will look funny. In fact, they look funny right now. I'll grab them and burn them if you don't return them, or feed the whole lot to the cow!"

But on Easter morning (she gives you no warning) in spite of the threatening weather, she has a new bonnet (the price tag's still on it) worth more than those three put together!

These dames! You can't beat 'em. And if you ill-treat 'em they're apt to put tacks in your stew. So just sign the check and say, "What the Heck! Dunno what I'd do without YOU!"

Be seein' ya!

National Wildlife Week, April 6-12

Statement by Prime Minister St. Laurent

From April 6 to 12, Canada will observe National Wildlife Week. Established by Parliament in 1947 to remind Canadians of the value of our wildlife resources and the importance of conserving them, National Wildlife Week is timed to include the tenth day of April, the birthday of the late Jack Miner, who made a notable contribution to the cause of conservation in Canada, and on the North American Continent.

There was a time when wildlife was Canada's most valuable product, when a large section of the population depended on hunting and trapping for a livelihood. As we became first an agricultural and then an industrial nation those days passed into history. Today more than half of our people live in towns and cities, and many spectacular and interesting species of wildlife have either disappeared or withdrawn to the wilderness, where few of us may see them. There is therefore a danger that many may forget that we still have the privilege of deriving both material and aesthetic benefits from our wild creatures.

We in Canada are particularly fortunate in having extensive National and Provincial Park areas set aside where we may freely enjoy the sight of wild birds and animals, often in surroundings little changed from their primitive state. Elsewhere wildlife contributes to the well-being of Canadians by providing furs, meat, and healthy sport; and our many birds help to protect our farms and forests from damage by insects.

With the privilege of deriving both profit and pleasure from our wildlife, there is an accompanying responsibility. It is our duty to conserve the stocks of wild creatures in Canada for the continued use and enjoyment of Canadians of this and of future generations. This is the significance of National Wildlife Week.

"It makes such a difference"

Mrs. Helen V.... was so pleased by the courteous treatment she received from a bank teller during a holiday trip that on her return home she wrote:

"It was really a pleasure to transact my modest banking affairs with you and I think the bank is very lucky to have such a charming and welcoming young woman with them. It makes such a difference when one is travelling to feel so at home."

At your own local branch, at any branch of any bank, you will find bank people going out of their way to look after you, efficiently and courteously. That is the way the chartered banks compete with each other for your business.

seize bicycles being used on the sidewalk. The police department was instructed to look into the complaint.

A householder named Robillard asked permission to install an electric pump in his premises in the Chatham Council area, for the purpose of raising water to the higher level of his house. Previously he had obtained Council permission to tap the Brownsburg water system to supply his house, but pressure was not sufficient to force water to the upstairs rooms.

Councillor Somers: "There is no reason to refuse him, this is at his own expense. But if the pressure is so low, he will have difficulty getting sufficient service."

Permission was granted, the Mayor however remarking that those people outside the municipality who obtained water did so on the understanding that it was surplus to the needs of the area.

Mr. Wilson is manager of the Canadian International Paper Company's branch at Grenville, and is now well known throughout this area.

Red Cross Services Significant in Peace As In Wartime

The annual dinner of the Canadian Red Cross Society, Quebec Provincial Division, was held in the Windsor Hotel, Montreal, February 27, and was addressed by the Honorable Antoine Rivard, Q.C., Solicitor General of the Province of Quebec.

Mr. Rivard expressed appreciation for the opportunity to thank the Red Cross Society "for the splendid work done in the past and presently carried on by the Society in our province."

Referring to the work performed, he said, "I wonder if you are not too 'discreet' about it. Too many people in this province still think that the Red Cross work is done only in wartime."

Of the Blood Transfusion Service, the National Commissioner stated in 1949; "This contribution to Canada and to suffering humanity, represented by this Red Cross service, cannot be measured in dollars and cents. Its medical significance is obvious, but its sociological implication is shattering — justifying, in spite of early discouragement, our faith in the Canadian people; for almost 200,000 of our fellow citizens have given blood and given it freely. It is gratifying to those believing that 'it is more blessed to give than to receive', who will always be the ardent supporters of Red Cross, even more so than those who have benefitted by their bounty."

The founder of the Red Cross Society, Henri Dunant, was born at Geneva on May 8, 1828. He died at Heidan, and a celebration was held there in 1948 to commemorate his birth.

Brownsburg — The April meeting of the Brownsburg W.I. was held in the school on Thursday evening, April 3. Mrs. Mason Crosby, the newly elected president, was in the chair, and there were 50 attending this meeting.

After the usual business, the installation of the new officers took place. Mrs. Archie Murdoch, a member of the Frontier W.I., conducted the ceremony.

Mrs. N. E. Smillie, convener of Citizenship, then took charge of the program, which was quite unique since there were representatives from six nations present, who gave very interesting accounts of customs of their native lands. Guests from several other nations were unavoidably absent and have expressed their desire to attend a meeting at a later date.

The paintings executed in the recent art class, conducted by Miss Elizabeth Campbell of Macdonald College, were on display, showing that there is remarkable talent in Brownsburg and vicinity.

The Nursing class also finished last week, with the final meeting and examinations on Friday evening. Refreshments were served and gifts presented to Mrs. S. M. Istvanffy, who was in charge of the course, also to the other two nurses who assisted her, Mrs. Harold Barber and Mrs. Robert Sugden.

The next activity of this branch will be a course in Weaving, given by Miss Ida Bruneau, of Macdonald College; this will commence on April 21.

Six new members joined the branch.

FOR PARENTS ONLY...

Your Child and Easter

— By NANCY CLEAVER — (Copyright)

"In this brown seed, so dry and hard,
I see a flower in my door yard.
You, chrysalis in winding sheet,
Are butterfly all dainty sweet,
All life is warmed by
Spring's sweet breath,
And Christ our Lord has conquered death."
— Agnes W. Storer

Little children are puzzled by long words like "Resurrection" and "Immortality". But they can watch with wonder and delight and sprouting of a seed; the butterfly coming out of his cocoon.

Parents know that some time during their childhood, their son or daughter will be confronted by the death of a loved older relative or some one he knows. Easter can help prepare a child for this difficult experience.

Any thoughtful father or mother finds it hard to explain the mystery of the passing of an individual from this world to the next. But it is the wise parent, who at one of the delightful little folk simple words the Christian's faith in immortality.

To the early Christians the egg was symbolic of life after death. They rejoiced in the Resurrection.

For centuries peoples of many lands — Egyptians, Romans, Persians, Greeks — have practised the art of coloring designs on eggs. Some of these patterns were very ornate. This year many New Canadians will recall childhood scenes in far away countries as they color the traditional designs of their race on Easter eggs.

Boys and girls of juhior age love handcraft. Do let them either blow eggs or hard boil them and color them. The sets of vegetable dyes which may be purchased at a grocery store for icing, etc., are useful.

Junior can use his paint box or set of poster paints. Special packages of dyes for Easter eggs have detailed directions. Spread out newspapers on the kitchen table and floor, and keep an eye on the dying process, so you can come to the rescue if needed.

Ask your librarian for a copy of one of the delightful little folk tales about the Easter Rabbit. This legend can be traced to an old German superstition that White Hares laid eggs on Easter Eve as a special gift. Good children looked for colored eggs or candies from this mythical Easter Bunny.

Making candy is a big thrill for either a boy or a girl. There are some very simple recipes in every cook book. Some busy mothers even resort to the "Icing Mix" packages which have recently appeared on the grocery shelves. Why not plan to let your child make his own candy treat during the Easter holidays? If you dampen an enthusiasm for cooking at an early age, it may not reappear later!

New clothes as an Easter custom go away back to the reign of Emperor Constantine in Rome. He arranged Easter religious processions and decreed that everyone should join in, dressed in new garments.

With the high cost of living, new clothes for Easter are a bit of a problem in a home with several children. This is a good time to point out at a family council that the money for clothes in the family budget must stretch to meet the needs of ALL the members of the family. Parents as well as children must have their wardrobes replenished from time to time.

Jokes are made about a child's "Sunday best". But this custom is part of making Sunday a special day, set apart from week-ends. It does children, as well as adults, good to dress up to attend church.

"Man looketh on the outward appearance, but God looketh upon the heart", the Bible says. Both are important in a child's anticipation of attendance at morning worship with his parents as a happy, satisfying experience.

Easter is one time when all thoughtful people are grateful for the witness of the church to things spiritual in a materialistic world. It lies with parents to see to it that it is a festival with a real meaning for their children.

At Easter Christians rejoice, not only at the return of Spring, but at the belief in life after death. Even as Christ rose from the dead on that first Easter morning, we know that we too and those we love, will live on after this life is over. We echo Charles Hanson Towne's "Easter Prayer":

"Show me that Thou art April, Lord.
And thou the flowers and the grass,
Then, when awake the soft spring winds,
I'll hear Thee pass!"

POSTMASTER WANTED

Coronation, Alta. (CP) — The Puffer post office, 20 miles north of here, has been closed because no one wants the job. The Puffer office had been in operation since 1911.

EVERYBODY HAS PROBLEMS these days, but to pretty Mary Mason, shown with a firm grip on her new Canadian National Railways gift certificate, none as enjoyable or important as where to go for a vacation. Helping Mary choose a trip from a map of North America is her equally pretty chum, Joan Snyder. The gift certificate for rail travel anywhere was designed and introduced by the C.N.R. and is available at ticket offices across the system. Senders may also have the certificates cover sleeping accommodation and meals on trains and include pocket money as well as railway fare. They are readily exchangeable at ticket offices as full or part payment for rail travel anywhere.

Prairie Housewife Enjoys Novel Hobby

Sends Unusual Christmas Folders To Armed Forces and Children

Cudworth, Sask. (CP) — Mrs. C. E. Clare, busy small-town housewife, has an unusual hobby — making Christmas cards, by the hundreds.

She designs and fashions hundreds of novel and entertaining Christmas folders to be sent to men on active service and to Sunday school children.

During the last war Mrs. Clare, through the Navy League of Canada, sent 1,600 of her attractive folders to men on corvettes, minesweepers and other small ships. Another 539 were received last Christmas by sailors in Korean waters.

She used old Christmas folders which she gathered from her friends, filled the centre with cartoons, poetry, short stories, jokes and amusing editorials from newspapers and magazines.

Bedtime stories and colorful pictures went into those cards intended for small children. They were like miniature books, cheery and entertaining.

Mrs. Clare did the work all alone. She collected the clippings and bought dozens of balls of red and green cord with which to tie them to the old Christmas folders.

She came by the hobby naturally. Her grandfather once operated a valentine and greeting card factory in Liverpool, England. Mrs. Clare believes it was from him she inherited the creative urge to make things with pictures.

Besides her hobby, she has found time to help in her husband's office, be active in the Ladies' Aid, secretary of the town hospital guild, treasurer of the rural unit of the Salvation Army, chairman of women war workers and founder and teacher of the town's only Protestant Sunday school.

County Couple Wed at United Church Manse

Arthurs - Nixon

Lachute United Church manse was the scene of a pretty double-ring wedding on Saturday, March 29, when Rita Mary Nixon, daughter of Mr. Edward Nixon and the late Mrs. Nixon, of Kilmar, became the bride of Irwin Hillier Arthurs, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Arthurs, Avoca. The ceremony took place at 3 p.m., with the Rev. W. B. Rosborough officiating. Immediate relatives of the couple were present.

The bride was charming in a floor-length gown of rich white slipper satin with finger-point sleeves. The tunic collar, sleeve points and skirt were trimmed with points of imported French lace. Her silk net bordered veil was floor-length, and she carried a crescent bouquet of red roses and fern.

Miss Ramona Farrara, bridesmaid, was dressed in a floor-length gown of sky blue Swiss embroidered organdy over matching satin, and wore a shoulder-length blue veil and gloves. She carried a bouquet of pink gladioli and fern.

The groom was supported by his brother, Grant Arthurs.

Supper was served at the home of Mrs. Ethel Young, Lachute Mills, after which the couple left for a wedding trip to Niagara and district. They arrived home the following Saturday to be present at a reception held in their honor at Kilmar. There they were the recipients of many lovely gifts and good wishes from their numerous friends in the district.

How many car passengers died last year because they were hurled from their seats and either struck the dash or went through a window? U.S. estimates run as high as 10,000. At least one car already has an airline-type safety belt to protect the occupant of a reclining seat beside the driver. One car maker is reported to be investigating the installation of safety belts.

ON THE BEACH AT WAI-KI-KI

By M. V. Trayers

Sometimes when we sit in quiet reverie, watching the dashing waves spraying their foam along the sands of some beach flashed on the screen at our favorite movie house, we are prone to picture ourselves among the actors or actresses, and perhaps feel a pang of regret that we didn't take up some other line of business so that we could spend our lives closer to the hub of things rather than squander it amidst the prosiac and mundane surroundings we have chosen to live in. Maybe a lot of us didn't start out in life with our possessions in a handkerchief over our shoulder on the end of a stick, but we started just as unencumbered, and no matter what tricks fate played in directing our footsteps, we tagged along and took responsibility for the decisions we made. Most of us found that the homeland was too crabbed and lean to feed us all, so — like the Vikings who shot an arrow into the air when they came of age, and followed its direction — youth had to go forth. Only one son could hope to stay at home. . . Thus it has ever been.

During the time we play the cards which life has dealt us, we may find ourselves in surroundings so very different from those indigenous to our nature that we view the changing seasons with a cynical smile, and we sigh like the Irish for the cleaner, greener land from which we have let ourselves be driven. Like some prosperous Canadian watching the New Year's Day carnival at Pasadena — "Roses in January! — Good God!" You may note an expression of pity mixed with contempt on his face. Behind that inpenetrable smile his mind reaches out through the years to the sleigh-bells on the road that winds from Lachute to Brownsburg. . . Or consider the Jamaican in Montreal on a cold November's day; he has that far-away look in his eye as if he is seeing Kingston under the turquoise of a winter's sky.

In looking at that beach in Waiki-ki, with perhaps Bing Crosby, or Dorothy Lamour, or Ava Gardiner traipsing around, and observing how life begins somewhere but is spent elsewhere—or as some of us think, is wasted or squandered elsewhere — by some quirk of memory a speculative wonder directs my thoughts to two men on another island, and what twisting road of destiny directed their footsteps and their lives to that bleak and desolate island of misery and pain, the isle of Molokai. It was here that Father Damien endured his martyrdom. He had come out to this forsaken colony to minister to the lepers who were doomed to spend their days away from contact with their fellowmen, because of the dread contagion of the disease which they had contracted. Father Damien built a little rude church, assisted by the rotting hands of his congregation, and every Sunday he preached to his parishioners ("My Dearly Beloved Brethren") of the God who, when all others had forsaken and dispised them, reached out to comfort and console them; and who, when life under the beautiful Hawaiian skies had mercifully departed from their suffering bodies, welcomed them into the eternal home which He had prepared for them. Thus Father Damien administered to his brethren, till one Sunday he changed the usual salutation as he began his sermon. No longer did he say "My Dearly Beloved Brethren"; instead his first words were, "We lepers". . .

The story of that laughing, strong-minded peasant with the burning eyes, and now with the leprous body, soon spread to the ends of the earth. His contribution towards helping to overcome this cancer of the body, was his life. All that he possessed. He had nothing else to give. What a price to pay! What a contribution to give! . . Yet he was not alone.

During the time our story thus far was playing its changing scene on life's screen, a dark brooding man was performing his appointed task in a Trappist monastery at the significant name of Gethsemane, in Kentucky. Like the Trappist monastery at Oka, the fathers had retreated from the world and lived a life of silence; and this man, whose given name was Dutton, was a member of the order. He was a young man, this Ira Dutton, but on entering the monastery he buried his name with his past life under the name of Brother Joseph. No one knew his story, or what was enclosed in his heart, for he, like the other brothers, had given himself to a life of silence. What motives inspired Brother Joseph, or what powers directed his footsteps, is not our purpose to inquire in this little story, but suffice to say, we meet him next on the shores of Molokai. . . Father Damien, who was no longer able to walk, was taken by wheeled cart to meet the boat from Honolulu on the occasion of its visits to the island. One day the dying priest beheld a tall figure cross the gangplank with considerable luggage, as if his stay was to be of more than short duration. "This was Brother Joseph, who nursed Father Damien through his last hours, buried him with his own hands, administered his estate, and then dedicated the rest of his own life — 44 years — to taking Father Damien's place among the lepers of Molokai".

A good deal more could be written of Brother Joseph. We could trace his birth into a good Baptist family; his unhappy life; his flight from the scandals and sins of the world. . .

But that is not the purpose of this article. Its purpose is to tell you about the sacrifices made by others to help those suffering from the dread disease of cancer. Its purpose is to ask you to contribute even a little towards this cause. The men and women who wage the unceasing battle against cancer, need your help. You can take your place in the crusade against cancer by giving generously to the campaign starting this month in Lachute and Brownsburg. Remember, the life you help to save may be that of a loved one. If you desire to remit ahead, note the secretaries — Miss Ann David, in Brownsburg; Mrs. H. Rigg, in Lachute.

ELIZABETH II TO PRESIDE OVER 690-ROOM HOUSEHOLD

Moving from Clarence House, left, to Buckingham Palace, shortly after Easter, Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip have a major job of renovation. The Queen has a number of improvements under way in the 690-room palace, ordering the installation of steam heating in many of the rooms, supervising the color schemes for rooms in which she will spend most of her time. Seven rooms on the second floor have been redecorated in pastel shades at her order. The beauty of many of the rooms and fixtures as shown, right, is breathtaking, but much of the electrical and heating system is old fashioned and inadequate.

Princess Margaret will keep the rooms she now occupies, and Queen Mother Elizabeth (right) will live with her daughters, thus breaking a Royal tradition; in the past a widowed queen has moved out when the new monarch took over. Queen Mary, for instance, moved to Marlborough House after King George V died.

Summer Course in Pottery Weaving, Leatherwork

A summer school in pottery, weaving and leatherwork will be held at Macdonald College from July 2 to August 13 — it is announced by H. R. C. Avison, Director of the Adult Education Service, Macdonald College.

The pottery course under the guidance of Grant W. Wylie is primarily for those who have had some experience and wish to continue their study. It will include the study and preparation of clays and the making of moulds and models.

The courses in leatherwork and weaving under the direction of Miss Frances Wren and Miss Elizabeth Meikle respectively will be divided into two units of two weeks. Practical work by the students will be stressed. This will include tooling, embossing and carving of leather, the setting up and operation of a loom, and the use of as many types of weaves as possible.

Further information and application forms may be secured from the Adult Education Service, Macdonald College.

Farm Wife Is Happy With Big Menagerie

Markham, Ont. (CP) — When Mrs. Joan Durrant was a little girl, she liked to be around animals. On her husband's farm near this suburban Toronto community she is happy now with a big collection.

There are 35 goats, 31 hens, 15 rabbits, two pigs, a horse, three kittens and two dogs. She looks after the "livestock" and her three small children, while her husband, Morgan, works as a ceramic engineer with a refrigerator firm.

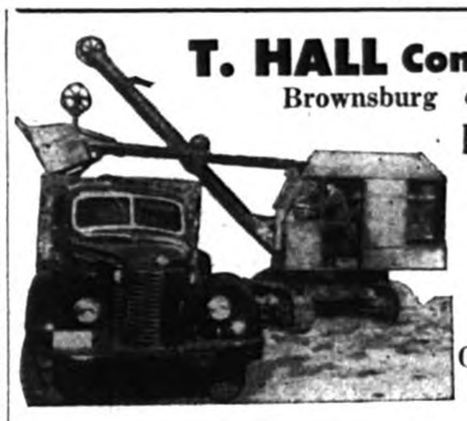

Her family, the pigs and rabbits all thrive on goat milk.

Mrs. Durrant credits the goat milk with keeping her family free of colds all winter. Besides drinking the milk straight, she makes it into cheese — called Swedish Gjedost — fudge, ice cream and yogurt. The goats are fed vitamins to make their milk more healthful.

Her two oldest sons, Bruce, 6, and Dick, 5, are big and strong. Jackie, 2, is too young to talk about it; he just likes to drink it.

More of Enrico Caruso's phonograph records were sold in 1951 than in any year since the noted tenor died in 1921, according to Frank M. Folsom, president of the Radio Corporation of America.

Fine Presentation by Ascension Players

The comedy "Harvey" was very efficiently presented by the Ascension Players of Montreal, at a performance last Saturday evening in the High School auditorium, under auspices of the Farm Forums. All members of the cast portrayed their parts well, holding the interest of their audience to the climax. The attitude exemplified by Elwood P. Dowd, of politeness at all times, was considered not such a bad idea, and there were some very good lines to liven the theme throughout.

Due to the highly unfavorable weather, the audience was small in numbers. The Farm Forum Association nevertheless extend their appreciation to all who contributed to the enjoyment of this occasion.

Successful Art Show at St. Eustache-sur-le-Lac

The Lake of Two Mountains "Arts Guild" held a successful exhibition last week-end in the town hall at St. Eustache-sur-le-Lac. In the juvenile section there were several articles of handicraft and pictures by school children in Lachute and Brownsburg, also many exhibits by children tutored by Miss Irene Adshead at St. Eustache. The display also included four oil paintings by artists of this community.

Visitors who attended from Lachute and Brownsburg commented very favorably on the quality of this show and the effort involved in its organization.

April Meeting of Lachute W. Inst.

The regular monthly meeting of Lachute Women's Institute was held in the Legion Hall on Tuesday afternoon of last week.

The meeting opened with the president, Mrs. A. Taylor, in the chair, with all the members repeating the "Club Woman's Creed".

Mrs. C. W. P. Baugh, county president, addressed the meeting, and was thanked by Mrs. Taylor.

Members were reminded once more of the Felt Work Course to be given by Miss Bruneau shortly.

Reference was made to an article written by a member of Lachute Women's Institute, Mrs. A. George Leggett, in the March issue of the Macdonald College Journal.

The meeting was turned over to Miss Janet McOuat, convener of Home Economics, who gave another of her interesting and appreciated demonstrations, this time on the making of salads. Mrs. George McGibbon moved a vote of thanks on behalf of all present.

The May meeting will be under the convenership of Mrs. M. Tillotson, Health and Welfare convener.

Sampling the Intangible

A hint to those who find it difficult to sample the intangible is provided by a Scottish preacher who heard that one of the United churches in Vancouver was seeking a pastor. He had a record made of one of his sermons and sent it to the church. The record was played and the congregation liked it. The Scottish burr came through distinctly and the words rang loud and clear. The Scottish preacher was invited to the pastorate and accepted. According to the Windsor Daily Star, he is doing well.

AMONG THE CHURCHES

Mission Band Concert

The Easter Thank-Offering concert of the United Church Mission Band was held April 5.

Judy Jones and Bryant Graves gave the greeting, followed by both groups of the Band singing "Peter Cottontail". The Easter Story was told by Jean Taylor, and dramatized on the "flannelgraph" by Robin Fraser. Recitations were given by Wendy Tabrett, Dianne and Grant Boa. Songs including "I'm Just A Little Teapot" and "The Easter Parade" were sung by the older children. Twelve boys and girls dressed in their Easter clothes, the girls with bonnets, and boys with high hats, marched to the music, and were much admired. A piano solo was given by Beverley Hadley, and a dance by Linda and Bonnie MacKimmie. An action song, "It's Easter", was sung by the older group, and Linda MacKimmie gave the farewell greeting.

The concert was well attended despite the unfavorable weather. The collection amounted to $21.75, which goes to help the Mission Band funds.

"The Word of God Is Alive"

SO STATES the inspired writer in his letter to the Hebrews. Truer words were never recorded! Powerful, sharper than any two-edged sword, the Word of God lives forever. Preserved through the centuries, this source of life-giving knowledge outlasts man-made provisions and promises, which fade into oblivion. God's Word cuts through lies and errors of false religion, strengthens the faint and enlivens the despondent. The use of an up-to-date translation like the "New World Translation of the Christian Greek Scriptures" heightens the effect. Read it and prove this for yourself. Its modern speech, along with the advantages of many wonderful helps provided in this 800-page volume, will be a real stimulus to you in your search for life. Salad-Making Demonstration at Lachute W. Inst.

— By Janet McOuat —

The following description and recipes were given by Miss Janet McOuat at a salad-making demonstration before the April meeting of Lachute Women's Institute.

Salads are refreshing, lovely — like coming upon a woodland spring, clear and cool. Beauty will be the reward of your understanding touch. And health benefits will abundantly bless your table through the precious vitamins and minerals of crisp, sparkling salad ingredients.

Salads are the delightful way to ensure those prescribed raw vegetables and fruits every day.

Salads originated many, many years ago. Roman emperors dined on dressed lettuce, and ordered, served on plates of gold, radishes so thin that the gold gleamed through. From Italy and early Greece, the custom of mixing greens with oils and herbs travelled to Spain and France, where the people lovingly adopted it. When Catharine of Aragon went to England as the bride of Henry VIII, it was necessary for the royal household to send abroad to get greens to please her accustomed taste. In time, the French and Spaniards introduced salads to America.

Salads have become increasingly popular throughout the years until now they occupy a place of prominence in our menus. They appear in dinners and luncheons, and as smart party refreshments. They are important for balanced meals.

Salads may be classified according to the place they occupy in a meal:

1. Appetizer salads — served as first course.
2. Dinner or with-the-meal salads — served as an accompaniment to, or just after, the meat course.
3. Main dish or salad plates — served as the main course for luncheon or supper, or as the main dish at parties.
4. Dessert salads — served as the dessert course, and often accompanied by cheese and crackers.

Secrets in Salad Making

1. Have a "salad centre" for speed and ease in making salads. An ideal spot is near the refrigerator. Have ingredients such as salad oil, vinegar, salt, dry mustard, sugar, pepper, onion, garlic, etc.

For equipment at your "salad centre" have salad bowls, a small sharp knife, scissors, wooden fork and spoon, rotary beater, can opener, gelatine molds, cutting board, grater, colander, measuring cups and spoons, etc.

Choosing Combinations

Importance of Dressing

Use a light, delicate dressing on a salad that accompanies a substantial meal — a more substantial dressing on a salad that forms the main dish. The oil in the dressing may be olive oil, or any mild vegetable oil. Choose a mild cider or wine vinegar. Lemon juice is sometimes used in place of vinegar.

Toss ingredients lightly.

A "casual" look is the right look. Avoid a fixed appearance.

"The plate a frame". — Use a large enough plate when arranging salads. Don't let any part of salad extend over edge of plate. Serve salads from a large bowl or deep platter; or arrange them on individual plates, or in little salad bowls.

Cold - Crisp - Cold. — Take the salads and salad dressings from refrigerator just before they are to be eaten. Chill plates or bowls before using.

As soon as salad greens are delivered from market or gathered from the garden, trim off inedible leaves. Store unwashed in tightly covered receptacle in refrigerator, and wash as needed (to avoid "rusting").

Head Lettuce. — Hold cavity under cold, running water until leaves are easily separated by water and fingers. Swish in water, wash each leaf separately and lift out. Shake and pat gently in clean towel or absorbent paper. Place in hydrator, or in plastic bag or cloth in refrigerator.

Amounts for Green Salads

For six — 1 head lettuce (or equivalent of other salad greens), ½ cucumber, thinly sliced, 6 radishes, thinly sliced, 2 stalks celery, diced, 3 ripe tomatoes, sectioned.

(For three people, halve these quantities).

French Dressing

Shake well in tighly covered jar — 1 tbsp. sugar, 1 tsp. salt, 1 tsp. mustard, ¼ tsp. pepper, ¼ cup mild vinegar or lemon juice, ¾ cup salad oil, few drops onion juice or clove garlic. Amount, 1 cup dressing.

Keep in covered jar in refrigerator. Shake again to mix well before using.

Oil-less Salad Dressing

Combine ½ cup tomato juice, ½ tsp. salt, ¼ tsp. Worcestershire sauce, 1 tsp. onion juice, 2 tbsp. lemon juice.

Beat well. Make up and store in refrigerator.

Jellied Salmon Salad

Remove skin and bones from 1 small can salmon, add 1 cup celery cut in fine pieces, 1 tbsp. lemon juice and ¾ cup salad dressing. Soak ¾ tbsp. gelatine in 3 tbsp. cold water, dissolve over hot water, add to salmon mixture, and when it begins to stiffen, add ½ cup heavy cream, beaten stiffly. Turn into mold.

Molded Tuna Fish Salad
(Make beforehand)

1 tbsp. unflavored gelatine, ¼ cup cold water, ¾ cup hot water, 1½ tsp. salt, 1½ tbsp. sugar, 1 tbsp. enriched flour, 1 tsp. dry mustard, few grains cayenne, 2 beaten egg yolks, 2 tbsp. butter, ¾ cup milk, ½ cup vinegar, 1 7-ounce can tuna (flaked), 1 cup chopped celery.

Soften gelatine in cold water; dissolve in hot water. Chill until partially set. Mix salt, sugar, flour, mustard and cayenne. Add egg yolks, butter, milk and vinegar. Cook until smooth and thick, stirring constantly. Cool. Add tuna and celery; fold into gelatine mixture. Turn into well-oiled 1 qt. mold. Chill until set. Unmold on watercress or lettuce. Garnish with lemon wedges or parsley.

Cucumber dressing is delicious with this salad.

Cucumber Dressing

Combine 1 cup heavy cream (whipped), ½ tsp. salt and ¼ tsp. paprika.

Gradually fold in 2 tbsp. lemon juice. Add ¼ cup mayonnaise and 1 cup chopped, pared cucumber, drained. Serve at once. — Makes about 2½ cups.

Tomato Ham Loaf Salad
(Serves eight)

Basic Tomato Aspic:

Soak 2 tbsp. gelatin in ¼ cup cold water, dissolve in ½ cup boiling water.

Cook for 15 minutes 4 cups tomatoes (fresh or canned), 1 tbsp. chopped onion, ½ tsp. celery seed, 2 or 3 whole cloves, 1 tsp. salt, 1 tsp. sugar.

Strain through fine strainer or cheese cloth. Add 2 tsp. lemon juice and dissolved gelatin. — Makes about 3 cups aspic.

This may be molded at once, or it may be kept in covered jar in refrigerator until needed. To use, take out what is needed and melt over hot water.

1. Prepare tomato aspic.
2. Divide into 3 parts. Pour ⅓ of mixture into a well oiled mold. Chill until firm.
3. Mix 2 pkgs. cream cheese, 1 cup cottage cheese.
4. Season with salt and pepper.
5. Spread over aspic layer in mold.
6. Pour second portion of aspic over cheese.
7. Chill in refrigerator until firm.
8. Soak 1 tbsp. gelatin —
9. In ¼ cup cold water.
10. Dissolve gelatin over low heat.
11. Grind 3 cups ham.
12. Add and mix — ½ cup mayonnaise, 2 tbsp. minced celery, 2 tbsp. green pepper, 1 tsp. mustard.
13. Season with salt and pepper.
14. Spread ham mixture over aspic.
15. Cover ham with last portion of aspic. Chill until firm.

Jiffy Mayonnaise

3 Eggs (unbeaten), 6 tbsp. sugar, 1½ tbsp. salt, 2 tbsp. dry mustard, ⅛ tsp. paprika, ¾ cup cider vinegar, 2¼ cups mazola, ¾ cup cornstarch, ¾ cup cold water, 2¼ cups boiling water.

Put eggs, sugar, seasonings, vinegar and mazola in a large bowl, but do not stir. Make a paste by mixing cornstarch with cold water, then add boiling water, stirring constantly till thick. Cook in double boiler till clear. Add hot mixture to ingredients in mixing bowl. Beat with electric beater.

Raspberry Tomato Jelly

Heat 1 cup tomato juice. Dissolve 1 pkge. raspberry jelly in hot tomato juice.

Sunshine Salad
(Serves six)

Dissolve 2 pkgs. lemon jello in 2 cups boiling water. Add 1 cup pineapple juice, 2 cups crushed pineapple, 1 cup grated raw carrot.

Pour into well greased mold, and place in refrigerator to congeal. Turn out on bed of lettuce. Garnish with canned pear halves.

American Beauty Salad

In a deep round pan, make a circle of asparagus tips. Between the tips, arrange chopped pickled beets. (Cranberries, put through the meat chopper can be used instead of beets). Soak 3 tbsp. gelatine in cold water, dissolve in 1 cup boiling water. Add 2 cups cold water, 6 tbsp. vinegar, 4 tbsp. lemon juice, 2 tsp. salt, ⅓ cup sugar.

Cover vegetable thinly with gelatine. When stiff, add 3 cups shredded cabbage in remainder of gelatine. Chill. — (Serves eight).

Chili Cheese Salad
(Serves six)

Soften 1 tbsp. unflavored gelatine in ¼ cup cold water; dissolve over hot water. Combine 1 cup chili sauce, 1 cup dry cottage cheese, ½ cup mayonnaise, and ½ tsp. salt. Add dissolved gelatine; fold in 1 cup heavy cream (whipped). Chill in mold until firm. Unmold on lettuce. Garnish with tomato wedges.

Match this salad with this oven dinner:

Surround a beef roast with tiny whole carrots and onions. Serve with brown gravy, corn-bread sticks, and apple jelly.

Strawberry Salad Glacé

First prepare gelatine. Pour 2 cups hot water over pkge. raspberry or strawberry flavored gelatine. Stir well to completely dissolve the gelatine.

Prepare the garnish: Shape into 12 balls, 2 3-oz. pkgs. cream cheese (softened with cream). Roll in ½ cup finely chopped nuts.

1. Brush mold with salad oil to prevent sticking, or rinse with cold water.
2. Place cheese balls evenly spaced in 10" ring mold.
3. Cover with layer of lightly sugared strawberries or raspberries.
4. Pour the cooled raspberry or strawberry flavored gelatin over the cheese balls and strawberries. Chill until the gelatin is set. Unmold on large serving plate. Tip to let in air at one side; loosen with spatula thrust in around edge.

Serve with pineapple sherbet in centre for dessert.

Serve with dish of mayonnaise in centre.

Fruit Salad Dressing

½ Cup orange juice, 2 beaten egg yolks, ½ tsp. cornstarch.

Before serving, add 1 cup whipped cream.

Frosted Honeydew

Peel a medium-size honeydew melon. Cut slice from one end; remove seeds. Fill cavity with water, then use that water, brought to a boil, for dissolving a package of raspberry gelatin dessert. Drain melon well. When gelatin is somewhat thick, fold in well-drained canned fruit cocktail, or cut up fresh fruit. Fill the melon; place it in your refrigerator till the gelatine is firm.

Soften one 8 oz. pkge. of cream cheese with a little milk, and whip it fluffy. Frost the melon; place on plate with crisp lettuce leaves. Cool, colorful slices topped with mayonnaise make grand salads. Omit the dressing, and you have a luscious dessert.

Cottage Cheese Fruit Salad Platter

6 Slices orange, 6 slices pineapple, lettuce or other greens, 1 to 1½ cups cottage cheese, strawberries.

Arrange orange and pineapple slices on lettuce or other greens, on a platter. Pile cottage cheese in the centre and garnish with strawberries. Serve with mayonnaise or French dressing if desired. Cheese may be served with the salad. Six servings.

Art and the Home

More About Pictures

In last week's article I tried to show you that art appreciation could not be bought. This week I'm going to discuss the different types of pictures that you are apt to find on display. There are certain stores called "art galleries" which just specialize in pictures. Some "dealers" unfortunately are more dishonest than honest, and will try to sell an original, when it is only a fair imitation. The more reputable the dealer, the less chance of this happening.

When you walk into a gallery, you will find confronting you hundreds of pictures, of all types and sizes, framed and unframed, but they generally may be classified in the following divisions:

1. Portraits — which are character studies of people.
2. Landscapes — which are scenes of the land, farms, mountains, valleys, etc.; this group can be subdivided into street scenes too.
3. Seascapes — pictures of the sea, as the main theme.
4. Still life — studies of flowers in a vase, or pictures of figurines, statues, plates, etc.
5. Modern Art abstractions, which I will discuss later.

Next week we will consider the different mediums of painting.

Canadians produced almost a quarter of a million tons of fine paper last year; despite war and depression, the fine paper mills have set a new high in production almost every year over the past twenty.

Owing to bad road conditions in the Avoca area, the bus from there is unable to travel. The older pupils (from Grades VII - X) are staying with friends "out front" so that they will be able to complete their examinations.

Everyone is happily looking forward to the Easter holidays, which start Friday, April 11, and end Monday, April 21. At present, the pupils are busy writing their Easter examinations.

LACHINE RINK WINS TROPHY; ANNUAL 'INVITATION'

good-will, each skip in turn saying a few words of appreciation.

Mr. René Raguin, honorary secretary of the Canadian Branch of the Royal Caledonia Curling Association, complimented the Club on the success of this bonspiel, referring to it as the "cream of curling".

Mr. Geo. F. Calder, a Lachute Club member and vice-president of the Branch, spoke a few words of appreciation, stating that the success of the Branch depended largely on the success of these bonspiels.

"Mainly responsible for the success of this fourth annual event", said the club president, E. M. Jones, "are the various men's committees, and the ladies who have served such wonderful meals. To all of these we owe a debt of gratitude."

The committee in charge of this event comprised Messrs. A. Ogilvie, J. MacKimmie, Jas. McGibbon, G. Muir and L. Bedard, together with Mrs. G. Muir, president of the Ladies' Club, and her assistants.

To each player of the Lachute rink obtaining the highest-plus, Mr. Clarey Walker presented a gift of "Harwood's Special". Winners were D. MacKimmie, F. Stein, F. Pring and H. Dion (skip), who came near the finals with a 12-point plus. Robt. Cairns also had a 12-plus score, but lost in a toss to his opponent.

The curlers' dream of an "eight-end" was a reality on Friday evening in the closing game of the 'spiel, when on the fifth end, Montreal West, skipped by V. Hornsborough, placed all their stones for a perfect count, defeating Caledonia, skipped by A. Hutchingame. Only once previously has this occurred in the invitation bonspiels here, when in the first year of operation D. MacTavish (skip), H. Scott, Arnold Scott and W. Watson, defeated Skip MacLean, of Lachine. It is understood that Mr. Clarey Walker will donate a "Harwood's Special" to this year's team for their accomplishment.

Dancing and music, graciously supplied by friends from Valleyfield, combined to make this fourth annual invitation bonspiel a very successful and happy one.

Teams in the concluding events were as follows:

Semi-Finals, 3.30 p.m. Saturday

J. Watson, Heather 15
vs.
R. Phair, Russell 7

E. G. Hunt, Lachine 14
vs.
G. Lacompte, Pte. Claire 4

The Curler

"Who's the stranger, mother dear?
Look, he knows us — ain't he queer!"
"Hush, my own, don't talk so wild;
He's your father, dearest child."
"He's my father? Not at all,
Father died away last fall."
"Father didn't die, you dub,
Father joined the curling club.
But they've closed the club, so he Has no place to go, you see —
No place left for him to roam —
That is why he's coming home.
Kiss him — he won't bite you, child;
All them curling guys look wild."

There were 133,000 highway accidents in Canada in 1950, resulting in death for 2,200 persons and injury to 50,000 others, reports the Canadian Good Roads Association. "Stricter provincial licensing and vehicle inspections are imperative", says the Association.

Radio Songstress

This young miss with a flair for odd jewelry is Joyce Sullivan. Her rich mezzo-soprano voice can be heard as featured soloist with the Leslie Bell Singers each Sunday night at 8.30 and in the new musical show "Souvenir of Sometime", with the Jack Groob Sextet on the Dominion network Monday at 9.30 p.m. Joyce has been with the Bell Singers for five years. Every day she commutes by early bus to Toronto from her home near Dunbarton, Ont., for a busy schedule of voice and language lessons, radio, concert and broadcast rehearsals. And believe it or not, she manages time for reading, sports and lots of fun.

The various committees were thanked for the part they had played, and mention was made of the two main bonspiels, in which 90 and 124 rinks had taken part, respectively.

Mayor Jas. W. McGibbon paid tribute to the Club, and felt that its success was a help towards the progress and prestige of our town.

Sales Promotion Plan to Increase Retail Business

Contributed by Lachute Chamber of Commerce

Shop-at-Home Campaign

Future issues of this column will enlarge upon the retail sales promotion campaign, which is one of the major interests of the Chamber of Commerce at this time, engaging the detailed attention of its Business Promotion committee. It will suffice for the present to emphasize the aims of this campaign, which is designed to make Lachute the "Shopping Centre of the Lower Ottawa Valley". It is hoped to achieve the following objectives:

1. To discourage and to reduce purchases by local shoppers in other centres, particularly in Montreal.
2. To create publicity favoring the local merchant and ensure customer-satisfaction in dealings with Lachute merchants.
3. To offer householders additional value, by way of premiums which they would not benefit by in shopping elsewhere.
4. To enable retailers to reduce prices through a larger volume of business.
5. To interest outsiders to the extent that they will patronize Lachute merchants, and thus augment local sales.

Future Activities

On the program of industrial tours for next Wednesday, at 3 p.m., is a visit to two neighboring plants on Foundry Street — the J. P. MacKimmie & Sons Bottling Works, and Giles Publishing House Ltd. Members and their guests will have an opportunity to learn the intricacies of these two diversified industries during the afternoon — viewing the production of that popular national beverage, Coca-Cola, and the printing of newspapers in the Giles enterprise, publishers of the two local weeklies, The Lachute Watchman and L'Argenteuil.

This idea of industrial visits has drawn favorable comment both from the producers and the consumers, giving a clearer understanding of methods and equipment, and a better appreciation of local products. As it was observed in the Chamber's last bulletin, "These monthly tours provide not only pleasure but also instructive diversion. They fulfill a certain obligation, in recognition of the capital invested and the initiative displayed by local industry. For this reason — even if some of our visitors are already familiar with certain plants, their personnel and their methods — it is evidence of good will and co-operation to join in such visits and to demonstrate our wholehearted interest."

Social Evening

For the following evening (on Thursday, April 24) at 8 o'clock, the Chamber of Commerce has planned a social evening and demonstration, to which all members and guests are invited — particularly the ladies. The program, sponsored by Kraft Foods Ltd. dealers in co-operation with the Chamber, will include:

1. A review of Chamber of Commerce activities.
2. Distribution of prizes to winners of the popularity contest among subscription canvassers for the new French-language newspaper, L'Argenteuil.
3. Presentation of special Certificates of Merit to two local citizens.
4. Motion pictures showing the "Kraft Parade in Lachute", and "The Cheese Album".
5. Refreshments, by courtesy of Kraft Foods Ltd.
6. Awarding of door prizes.

MASSED CHOIRS FOR MAY MUSIC FESTIVAL

Featured at the forthcoming Music Festival sponsored by the Argenteuil and Two Mountains Teachers Association, will be Massed Choirs, both Junior and Senior. These choirs will sing at the final concert, to be held on Saturday night, May 3.

It is estimated that the Junior Choir will consist of more than 300 singers, and the Senior, over 150, representing the Protestant schools of the two counties.

Keen anticipation has been evident in preparations for the event. There are many more solo entries than there were last year, and in Lachute it has become necessary to hold preliminaries in some sections, because of too many entries.

Mr. S. E. McKyes, chairman of the Festival and Supervisor of Music for the Argenteuil and Two Mountains Protestant Schools, reports that the standard of performance — not only choral, but solo as well — is markedly higher than it was a year ago, interest is keener and enthusiasm greater.

This may be due to many things — the Annual Music Festival itself has quickened the musical pulse in our schools; the coming of Mr. McKyes as Supervisor of Music, has established music in the schools on a sound and permanent basis; and the Music School for Teachers, which he conducted last August, and which was attended by 22 of the district teachers, helped in no small degree.

The Third Annual Music Festival will be held in the Lachute High School on Friday and Saturday, May 2 and 3. Tickets are now on sale throughout the two counties, and may be obtained from the pupils or at the Protestant schools. Tickets are 50c, and entitle the holder to attend any and all sessions of the Festival, including the Saturday night concert.

Floods Wash Out Temporary Bridge

On the St. Jerome highway six miles east of Lachute, a temporary bridge by-passes a new cement structure uncompleted over a creek flowing to the North River. The water-course, known as Calder's Creek, flows beneath the highway at Robertson's farm. Traffic has passed over a gravel fill with two 36-inch tile pipes forming a culvert. The volume of water in the creek however overflowed the pipes and washed out the gravel, making it impassable last week-end, and traffic was detoured over a considerable distance to reach either St. Jerome or Lachute. The route was made passable again on Tuesday, when road workers laid a gravel covering over the new bridge.

PARKING, GRILL HOURS, PERPETUAL PROBLEM AT B'BURG COUNCIL

With Variation, Council Business Dealings

(Our District Correspondent)

Nameless Brain-Child

A letter received at the Council meeting this month caused considerable discussion and gave rise to an explanation of grill hours by the owner of the "Flamingo", Mr. R. Gervais. Councillor Lavoie objected to the secretary reading an unsigned letter. The subject of the letter was not revealed and there was no dissent when the letter was not read.

The Mayor commented on the laxity of grill hours and felt that it was a matter for the Council to exercise greater control, especially in regard to Sunday drinking.

Mr. Gervais intervened to protest the inference that his grill was operating outside of legal hours. When he came to Brownsburg and took over, the custom was to remain open much longer than at the present time. He had done everything possible to co-operate with the Council and he held strictly to the 1 to 9 restriction on Sundays. In all his efforts he is guided by a desire to keep clean, respectable premises and, short of closing down completely, he couldn't do more to control unruly transients or trouble-makers. Hotels must open certain hours according to law to aid or assist travellers, and people renting rooms can use them as they would their private house to consume drinks bought within the legal hours. He wants to co-operate, but he wants to live too. He wants to observe the law, but he wants the freedom which the law allows him.

Mayor H. Pariseau inquired if there was a signed letter on this question. The secretary replied he hadn't received it. . . The matter was dropped.

Mr. Nat Cohen, proprietor of the Crown Theatre, appeared before the meeting to announce the showing of a religious picture, and offered his theatre any time it was not in operation, for the use of the Council, for public meetings or other public events.

The Mayor, on behalf of the Council, thanked Mr. Cohen for his considerate offer and civic co-operation.

Crocus Carpet on Parliament Hill

—Central Press Canadian

When crosuses come to bloom on the lawn of Parliament Hill and the National Memorial, Ottawans revel in the beauty of these spring flowers even while chill winds continue to drive in from the Gatineau. Above is a perennial scene near the Parliament Buildings. Young art students are seen capitalizing on the floral surroundings.

Local "Section" Organizing For Cancer Campaign

Plans Progressing for Active Participation

A meeting preliminary to the local drive on behalf of the Canadian Cancer Society was held in the Victoria Hall, Lachute, last Saturday afternoon. The small group of townsfolk was addressed by Miss Madeline Taylor of Montreal, district organizer, on methods and activities of the Society's local "sections" (such as are now established both in Lachute and Brownsburg), and the pressing need for funds in the work of the Society.

Assistance given by the Canadian Cancer Society to sufferers in Argenteuil, may be noted with interest. A total of 16,993 dressings have been supplied — the Society having given $812.32 in welfare and cost of dressings to patients in this county.

The importance of the fight against this disease right here in Argenteuil is apparent in the fact that there have been 171 recorded deaths in the county from cancer since 1944.

Argenteuil has never contributed, to date, to the efforts of the Society in this area or elsewhere.

It was planned at this informal gathering to select representative members from different organizations in town with a view to conducting the campaign for local contributions. It was decided that 17 per cent of the collection would be allocated to Lachute district for the benefit of patients in this area.

Letters in French and English have been sent to all local industries explaining the work of the Society. Newspaper advertising will also be available, and it was suggested that a window display be arranged in conection with the fund campaign.

It is intended in the near future to establish a dressing centre in Lachute, with the collaboration of Brownsburg Section, for sufferers in this district.

Mr. Leopold Carriere occupied the chair, and Mr. A. Ord Anderson accepted the office of presidency for the Section. Mrs. H. Rigg will fill the secretarial role.

School Boy Meets Hard Luck Again!

While playing baseball in a back lot last week-end, Bobby Hay, 13-year-old pupil at Lachute High School, suffered a broken leg.

Last summer while at camp, young Bobby (the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald G. Hay, Bedard Boulevard) broke his leg while playing football — the same leg — and endured several weeks in a plaster cast. He lost no ground in school progress, however, and then steadily got back into the swing of things, playing hockey and other sports through the winter season. . . He now faces another long convalescence with the same stoicism.

Bobby was taken to the Providence Hospital and attended by Drs. F. W. FitzGerald and Jules Lafleur. He is now at his home, confined to bed.

Caretaker Locks Door, Five Girls in Church

Five girls in Lachute Mills narrowly escaped spending the night in St. Julien parish church last week when, during their evening devotions in the church on Tuesday, the caretaker, unaware of their presence, locked the doors. It was just before 6 o'clock when the girls — Noella Desormeaux, Gertrude Joly, Clara Bilodeau, Denyse St. Jacques and Madeleine Patry, pupils of St. Julien School — were locked in. Discovering their predicament as they were about to leave the building, they knocked frantically on the windows but were unable to attract attention. Finally they succeeded in opening one of the windows, and were seen by a passer-by, who informed the occupants of the presbytery and the girls were released.

Judge Georges Heon Named Chairman Of Commission on Agriculture Inquiry

An important assignment has been given to Justice Georges H. Héon, of Montreal, former M.P. for this constituency, with his appointment as chairman of a public inquiry into agricultural products, prices and marketing, in this province.

The committee, which includes also Mr. Abel Marion, president of the Farmers' Union, and Mr. Antonio Larue, prefect of Portneuf County, is established under a special Act of the Legislature at Quebec. The inquiry will cover a wide field, from farmer to consumer, and information will be assembled from many sources and authorities. The commission has wide powers, including the right to call witnesses and fyle such documents as the Board may consider necessary.

Farmers' and consumers' interests are the prime concern of this inquiry, and dairy production ranking high in the agricultural pursuits of Quebec Province, particular study will be given to the welfare of milk producers. Sittings of the Commission will be public, at such centres as the Board will decide, and all interested will be given an opportunity to express their views.

The Quebec Official Gazette (February 5, 1952) outlines the following purposes of the Act:

Whereas it is in the interest of all classes of society and necessary to the economic stability of the Province to be able to rely on steady and progressive farming, supplying the needs of the urban population and assuring to the tillers of the soil a suitable subsistence and the possibility of establishing their sons thereon;

Whereas, in consequence, it is convenient to perfect, in the fullest measure possible, the 'methods of production, sales and distribution of farm products, so that the farmer may derive therefrom an equitable return . . ;

Whereas it is expedient to obtain all essential information — on such problems and to study the numerous aspects thereof with a view to appropriate, effective and equitable legislation;

this Commission; the following clauses may be quoted:

(a) the selection and development of the agricultural products best suited to the requirements of consumers and the needs of the market;

(b) the classification of such products acording to commercial requirements, so as to facilitate the disposal thereof and to safeguard their due place on the market;

(c) the methods of organising the sale of agricultural products most appropriate and most likely to ensure to farmers a fair price for their produce, without encroaching on the rights of consumers;

(d) outside competition affecting the markets of the Province to the detriment of our farmers and the best means of obviating the same;

(e) the obtaining of new outlets for the agricultural produce of Quebec;

(f) the elimination of needlessly costly methods of distributing agricultural commodities and improper practices in weighing and measuring such commodities, and others having the same effect, particularly as regards dairy products;

(g) the situation of the dairy industry and the problems with which it is faced;

(h) generally, the measures to be taken to promote the establishment, in respect of agricultural commodities, of prices fair to farmers and consumers alike.

Mildred Dilling Termed 'Foremost Woman Harpist'

To be Heard April 21 In Community Concert At School Auditorium

Mildred Dilling, who plays here next Monday, April 21, in the concluding program of this season's Community Concerts, has received world recognition as one of the outstanding harpists of our time. Born in America, her early musical studies were begun in that country; later she continued them in Europe under Henriette Renie, the great French harpist.

Her European debut took place at the Salle Erard in Paris. Such was the success of this initial appearance that she was immediately engaged for gala concerts throughout the Continent and the British Isles. While in Europe, the American artist had the distinction to be the first solo harpist to broadcast over the radio in Ireland, the land of the harp; and the first harp recitalist to appear before the television cameras of the British Broadcasting Company.

6-YEAR-OLD DROWNS IN CREEK AT HARRINGTON

A tragic incident occurred Wednesday, April 9, at Harrington, when Wayne McKale, the six-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. McKale, was drowned in a creek behind the farm buildings at his home.

According to Coroner Dr. Jules Lafleur and Det. Philippe Therriault, who made the inquiry, young Wayne had been following his father, who was working on the farm. Mr. McKale missed the youngster, who failed to answer when he called, and a search revealed that the boy had walked out over the snow which concealed a half-frozen creek and had fallen through into the water. The boy was recovered from the creek, and the father drove with his tragic burden to Hawkesbury, but the little victim had been long since dead.

Employment Officer Tells Work of District Bureau

J. G. Lamontagne, Speaker at Lions Club, Shows Human Interest Factor in Labor Placement

Speaking at the Lions Club meeting Tuesday evening in the Laval Hotel (Joly's), Mr. J. G. Lamontagne, district manager of the National Employment and Unemployment Insurance office, revealed this project as something more human than a mere administrative "machine", and more versatile than a government "department" hidebound by regulations and restrictions.

Mr. Lamontagne recalled that, as early as 1789, there was an enterprise in Switzerland for mutual insurance against the hardships of unemployment. The venture failed, for it was not based on actuarial data, as the present schemes. In 1911 the first national insurance was introduced in Great Britain, but it was not until 1933 that it was extended to include agriculture in the trades and vocations covered. Since 1937 there has been an unemployment system operating independently in each State of the U.S.A. However, Mr. Lamontagne is (pardonably) convinced that the Canadian system is superior to these. Social legislation for Unemployment Insurance was enacted here in 1935, but it was only in 1940 that, with amendments to the B.N.A. Act, it became wholly a matter of federal jurisdiction. . . Russia, stated the speaker, is one country which has tried and discarded Unemployment Insurance, with the corollary that under its system of "labor for the state", no unemployment exists.

The local aspects of labor placement were a matter of particular interest to the Lions audience, as Mr. Lamontagne described how large employers of this county, entrusting their labor needs to his office, found suitable applicants from this region, from the province, or if need be (in the case of special qualifications) from nation-wide labor resources. However, while all major industries here have dealings with his office, Mr. Lamontagne appealed also for the collaboration of the smaller enterprises, of which he estimated there were at least 400 in the area. If each could be provided with two employees during a year, this would mean 800 placements — an effective contribution to the satisfaction of local requirements. The Lachute office placed 1,000 persons in vacancies during the past calendar year. It was hoped this number might be doubled in the current year.

Mr. Lamontagne stressed the aims of his department, to place an applicant in a suitable job, and in social and communal surroundings suited to his desires; likewise to provide the employer with a type filling the requirements of skill, honesty, dependability, or other special qualifications.

Mr. Lamontagne had 20 years of banking experience, and served in two of Argenteuil's larger enterprises, before his appointment as Employment officer to the district. He was introduced to his audience by Bertrand L'Heureux, and thanked by Ed Rowe.

President George Tattersfield was chairman of the proceedings, and Edward Jones was honored as "Lion of the Day" — Ian Gordon, as biographer, paying tribute to his long business record, to his war service, and to his very valuable contribution to many community efforts and organizations.

During the meeting it was voted to tender gifts to two newly formed clubs within this Zone. In the same generous spirit, Lion Fernand Legault, as a "birthday gift" and in lieu of cigars, tendered to the home club a framed portrait of Her Majesty the Queen.

ST. ANDREWS MERCHANT ESTABLISHED 50 YEARS

Through the medium of "L'Argenteuil" and The Watchman today, a good friend and genial county resident, A. E. Ladouceur, gives recognition to all those who through the passing years have supported him in business — for Mr. Ladouceur marks on this occasion the 50th milestone of his career as a general merchant in St. Andrews East.

It was in April, 1902, that A. E. Ladouceur opened a place of business — his father, a resident of St. Placide, having taken over the affairs of the late Mons. Mallette and entrusted the administration of the business to his son, then 22 years of age. In 1904 A. E. Ladouceur purchased a property of the Johnson Seigniory, on the corner facing the bridge. In the past 50 years many surrounding structures have been erected, the Catholic Church, the present United Church and the post office. The grist mill, which was owned by Mr. Walsh, later became a paper mill, then a woollen mill. The Canadian National Railways laid their local line; electricity, the telephone and waterworks came to the little community, and a fine new structure was built to replace the old bridge — all in the half-century of Mr. Ladouceur's experience in St. Andrews.

Offices held by Mr. Ladouceur in this time include the mayoralty, which he occupied for two periods, of six years and one year, respectively; he was a former church warden, school commissioner, manager of the Banque Canadienne Nationale for many years, manager of the local Bell Telephone office for 30 years, in which capacity he has been succeeded by his daughter, Miss Léonie Ladouceur. He has also conducted an undertaking business since 1917 — and through these multiple roles has made a wide friendship and acquaintance.

Mr. and Mrs. Ladouceur have two sons at the Ste. Therese Seminary, one at Laval University, and two at St. Andrews in the parental business; there are also four daughters, one in a religious order, one a nurse (both at the Hotel Dieu, Montreal) and two at home.

Propose Gift from Canada To Viscountess Alexander

The following letter, received here by Mrs. W. M. Cottingham, has been forwarded to The Watchman for publication:

Government House, Quebec.

Mrs. Wm. M. Cottingham,
Lachute, Que.

Dear Madam:

As you are probably aware, it has been the custom, when a Governor General relinquishes his office at the end of his term, to present a gift to his wife as a testimony of esteem and appreciation. For that purpose, a committee known as "Lady Alexander Souvenir Committee" has been organized.

Honorary patrons: Mrs. La. St-Laurent, Mrs. Thibaudeau Rinfret, the Hon. Cairine Wilson, Mrs. George Drew; honorary president, Mrs. C. D. Howe; president, Mrs. D. C. Abbott; secretaries, Mrs. Robert H. Winters and Mrs. Hughes Lapointe; treasurers, Mrs. Milton F. Gregg and Mrs. Ellen Fairclough, M.P. for Hamilton West. Other members of the Committee are: Mrs. Elie Beauregard, wife of the Speaker of the Senate, Mrs. Ross Macdonald, wife of the Speaker of the House of Commons, the wives of the Federal Ministers, Judges of the Supreme Court and representatives of special groups.

Madame Fauteux has accepted the office of president for the Province of Quebec. She has requested me to write you to find out if you would be willing to organise a committee among the ladies of Lachute with a view of collecting subscriptions for this gift (from 25 cents to $5), each subscription not to exceed $5.

As you know, the Governor General and Lady Alexander have lost most of their belongings during the last war and it was thought that a gift of electrical accessories made in Canada would be greatly appreciated in their new house in England.

Hoping to hear favorably from you in the near future, please accept my anticipated thanks and believe me

Yours sincerely,
— D. R. Pagineau,
Lt.-Colonel, A.D.C.,
Executive Secretary.

In preference to forming a committee as suggested, Mrs. Cottingham will be pleased to receive gifts from any in this district who wish to contribute, and will forward same to the Quebec organizers of this fund.

Gatineau LINES

Look Before You Leap

A concerted effort is being made to induce customers to install electric heating in their homes to replace the conventional hot air or hot water systems heated by coal or oil.

The low cost of operation is being used as a major sales argument, based on one installation made at Ste. Adele, Que.

The domestic rate was NOT designed for house heating.

Hydro Quebec, operating in the City of Montreal, has a rate designed for house heating. It is higher than the rate for ordinary domestic use.

We, and three other large Companies in the Province, have applied to the Provincial Electricity Board for a similar rate.

Make haste slowly—wait until the new rate is published before you commit yourself to the purchase of an electric heating system.

Did You Know?
That one kilowatt-hour of electricity could do the work of a man working eight hours.

Gatineau Power Company

Says "Hairy Horde" to Visit Western Quebec

Montreal — A hairy brown-grey horde is expected to invade the western part of Quebec province early in May.

It will consist of billions of leaf-hungry forest tent caterpillars which, if not halted, will denude thousands of square miles of the province's deciduous forest. An egg count made last fall by a forest insect survey team from the Department of Lands and Forests indicated that the heaviest infestation will occur in a large section of the Gatineau and Laurentian mountains east of the Ottawa river to as far as La Tuque. Evergreen trees will not be affected.

While it will be too costly to halt entirely the march of caterpillars in every infested section of the province, it is possible to curb drastically their destructive activities in summer resort districts and privately-owned woodlots, says J. A. Oakley, entomologist of the agricultural chemicals department of Canadian Industries Limited.

He suggests that DDT is still the most potent weapon to deal with these pests. This may be applied as a wettable powder spray with ground equipment or in oil solution from the air. Suitable ground equipment may consist of hand-operated stirrup pumps, small tank sprayers or power sprayers, the latter able to reach the tops of most tees. To prevent migrating caterpillars from swarming over homes and summer cottages, the lower part of verandas and the outside walls should be drenched with wettable DDT.

For large-scale control of tent caterpillars, aerial spraying is by far the most effective measure. For best results, aerial application should not begin until most of the leaves are at least partially open. Otherwise much of the rapidly expanding foliage will not receive any spray coverage.

Mr. Oakley warns that aerial spraying should not be undertaken when the wind is more than eight miles per hour as spray may drift to neighboring gardens and cause injury to bees. Sprayers should be cut off when trout streams are being approached as speckled trout are highly sensitive to DDT.

The tent caterpillar usually hatches when buds of poplar trees are bursting. Young caterpillars feed on the adjacent leaves and rest between feeds in a mass on the trunk or larger branches. From 20,000 to 100,000 caterpillars are often found on a single tree.

When caterpillars are approaching full growth and the trees on which they are feeding become defoliated, migration from tree to tree begins. At the end of June, larvae are fully grown — about one and one-half inches long. After spending ten days to two weeks in the pupal stage rolled up in yellow cocoons, they emerge as rusty-brown moths with an average wing spread of one and one-quarter inches. The female moth has a life span of about five days and lays her eggs shortly after breaking out of her cocoon.

Organized community effort is required for a successful campaign against the tent caterpillar, Mr. Oakley says. Last year in the Midland-Muskoka area where infestation was particularly heavy, district newspaper editors, mayors, chambers of commerce, school children and other residents joined the fight against the pests. This year's assault is expected to be on a much larger scale.

Macdonald Diploma Agriculture Course

The 44 students who enrolled in the Macdonald College two-year Diploma course during November 1951, graduated last month. The breakdown between the years showed that 23 boys entered the first year, and 21 the second.

While the course is slanted toward the agriculture or rural Quebec and Eastern Ontario, the origin of many of the students exhibited considerable diversity. They hailed from France, England, Switzerland, British West Indies, United States, South and Central America, Mauritius, Ontario, Quebec, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia.

The work of the first year is taken by all students in common, during the second year the students may choose to specialize in either fruit growing or livestock raising. This second year specialization accounts for the presence of so many foreign students at Macdonald College. The basic concepts which must be learned before a student can become a successful livestock man, for instance, are the same the world over; furthermore many of the tropical and semi-tropical countries are awakening to the importance of livestock in their national economies, hence the presence of these students at Macdonald College.

The course is intensely practical in character and is designed to give the largest amount of information and training in practical agriculture in the shortest possible time; to equip the student for solving his future problems, to awaken him to many opportunities on the farm and to enable him to fill a more useful place in rural citizenship.

Warns of Danger From Sick Animals

Vancouver (CP) — Scarlet fever sufferers may have contracted the disease from house pets or the neighbor's cow. Dr. H. L. Bryson, chief food and dairy inspector here, told a meeting of the Metropolitan Health Committee recently that of 62 communicable diseases listed by the American Public Health Association, 23 may be disseminated by animals.

These include parasitic diseases such as tapeworm, roundworm and others from cows, hogs and fish. Parrots and household budgies may transmit psitticosis, and fungus diseases may be contracted from cats and dogs. Pasteurization is essential for cows, he said, to combat the spread of viruses.

Some Safety Rules For Farm Tractors

Fire insurance figures continue to show that tractors are one of the main causes of farm fires. With greater attention to a few details much of this risk can be reduced. Some of the things to which attention should be given include:

1. Keep the tractor well serviced. The chief fire hazards are mufflers, gasoline lines and the ignition system.

2. Under no circumstances should repair work be done in a building where fire could do extensive damage. Distance is the greatest protection and the cheapest. A minimum distance is 80 feet from any main building. Flaming gasoline spreads rapidly and much material around the farm is often dry and combustible.

3. Combustible material on the tractor or nearby can be a serious fire risk. Chaff can accumulate on the engine, pile up on the muffler or get sufficiently in contact with heated parts to cause a flash fire. In starting the engine it may back-fire and ignite inflammable material nearby.

4. Care in driving is necessary at all times, with it being given the same attention as when driving a car on a busy highway.

To sum up the experts' advice: Use good judgment at all times and the farm tractor will no longer be such a serious farm fire hazard.

SLUMP HURTS EVERYONE

Floor prices for agricultural products is a policy that has been incorporated in the platforms of every political party in Canada. If livestock prices hit the skids, not only the farmers suffer. Everyone is adversely affected.

Record-Breaking Holstein Passes to Her Reward

Bred and owned by Macdonald College, Macdonald Oleana Supreme, a 17-year-old Holstein cow, died on March 21 last. Until her death she had the distinction of producing the greatest number of pounds of butterfat of any living Holstein in Canada. Now that she is dead she ranks second in lifetime fat production. Her senior three year old R.O.P. record of 848 pounds of butterfat produced in 305 days, milked three times per day, remains the high fat record for that class.

She has produced five sons and seven daughters. One son is in England, two are used in the artificial breeding unit at Waterloo, Ont., and a third is herd sire at Macdonald College.

Different – But We Like It

"IF QUEBEC should lose its character, Canadian civilization would lose its significance and prestige", said Vincent Massey, Canada's new Governor-General, during his recent official visit to Quebec City.

This thought commands some meditation. Canada's new vice-regal representative is a man of considerable scholarship and culture. His statements are well considered; nor is it conceivable that his public office might lead him to the easy oratory of platitudes and flattery.

For all its simplicity, this thought may well stir pride in those who love this good old province, while conscious of its inconsistencies and shortcomings. The character of Quebec is something intrinsically valuable. The scenic charm, the mineral wealth, the vast potential of water power and natural resources — these can be appraised in terms of material value; but our "character" is something quite apart, something immeasurable, almost indefinable. If we could, for instance, picture Quebec without its dual culture; its French and Anglo-Saxon origins; the intriguing problems of their blending; and the triumph of our inter-racial friendship and understanding — if we could visualize our province without all these, alas, we would lose the picture of Quebec, and behold a mere territory of minerals and scenery and material assets.

"If Quebec should lose its character. . . " It is unthinkable, for Quebecers love too well the things that make their province "different".

The Maple Moves On

BACK IN the days when people built three-storey houses, the family pride was usually a towering Canadian maple on the broad front lawn. Often the father had planted it himself and he took pride in watching it grow and flourish while the family increased and prospered.

Nowadays, however, the lordly maple on the lawn, in city and suburban homes at least, is a thing of the past, especially where the family is just getting established.

The other day a landscape architect, Edward Wood, gave the Ottawa Horticultural Society some of the reasons for the change.

Wonderful as a big tree looks beside one of the mansions of the horse-and-buggy age, it is simply out of place beside today's five-room bungalow. The modern lot is so small that no space could be found for anything much larger than a lilac bush. Besides, a tree that stretched to the sky as the old-time ones did would make a bungalow look like a doll's house.

Mr. Wood suggested the time has come to get away from sentimental attachment to the tree of Canada's national emblem as a landscaping fixture.

A squat, Russian-developed variety of maple is better than the Canadian one because it does not grow high, he said. Another tree known as Russian olive was another good bet. The Japanese lilac shrub filled in a corner and made a good showing.

But did that mean Canada's magnificent maple, for so many years her pride and joy, was to be banished from the scene of its former triumphs?

Far from it, said Mr. Wood. The place for the native maple should be along the highways, around the pathways where its leafy greenness can offer privacy for the whispered confidences of young lovers and on the hillsides where its foliage can flame in autumn glory.

There, in all its time-honored majesty, long may it flourish!

We're Not So Good

CRIME in the U.S. has come in for much publicity lately, and here in Canada we're very busy hanging over the backyard fence playing scandalized Peeping Tom. It might pay to look behind us, says The Financial Post, into our own bailiwick.

We haven't so much to boast about. Recently there's been a rash of arrests by the R.C.M.P. attempting to break up gold-smuggling and stolen-car rackets. In the midst of a protracted and not very impressive vice probe, Montreal discovered it had nurtured in its bosom a thriving international racket in black-market babies. Toronto's had its race-fixing troubles and now, in the very words of officials, is on its way to out-do Chicago in gun play. In Vancouver various charges involving dope peddling and bookmaking are under investigation. Windsor took only a peek at a very nasty situation last year. The Federal Government has had to do some hasty firing of officials involved in illegal passport rackets.

Certainly our own backyard isn't a picture of purity. Canadian businessmen might do themselves and the community a lot of good by getting together and seeing what they can do to prevent the disease before they're compelled to cure it.

WHEN President Phelps of Saskatchewan Farmers Union suggested that the problems of the large absentee landowner might be met by a system of licensing farmers and possibly restricting the acreage which one man might control, the Mossbank Weekly News wrote: "The idea of controlling people's movements, in however indirect a manner, smacks of the hateful arbitrary dictatorship which is alien to this continent, and Saskatchewan farmers, and all Canadians, will be alarmed at such a thought and must resist all attempts to push them around in this manner."

THE KIND soul who left the shrubs and pussy-willows on our desk may be rushing the season — they were all in leaf. The only sensible ones in the collection were the pussy-willows — they still had their fur coats on — writes the editor of The Stanstead Journal.

WITH LITTLE more than two months before final exams, students would do well to return, following their Easter vacation, with a determination to settle down and pass their year. If the average student could, but once, realize the true value of education today, there would be little doubt as to the number of graduates.

Have You A Question ON UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE OR EMPLOYMENT?

In this column we publish questions about unemployment insurance and employment, together with answers received from the Unemployment Insurance Commission.

If you are uncertain about any point do not hesitate to send your question to your district Unemployment Insurance office. We will obtain an answer and publish it in this column.

Following are some questions with answers which may be of interest to you: —

Q. A woman, who was insured during employment, has married and is now unable to accept employment outside her home. She has been told that she can obtain a refund of contributions. What claim, if any, has she?

A. No refund can be made in the circumstances. Nor is she eligible for benefit. She has enjoyed the protection afforded by unemployment insurance in that, had she been unemployed at any time previous to her marriage, she would have been able to claim benefit, or if she becomes again available for work, and is unable to find it, she may be eligible for benefit. It is for this reason that a refund cannot be made. Unemployment may be likened to fire insurance in this regard. You insure property against fire loss for some years and are fortunate never to have a fire. You dispose of the property, but at that time you don't claim, and don't expect, a return of premiums, because you have had full protection for the money paid.

Q. Why can't my benefit cheque be mailed to me instead of my lining up and waiting in the office?

A. Because your reporting in person provides a check on your capability and availability — two of the requirements for the receipt of benefit. It also enables the local office to interview you, if necessary, regarding your application for employment, for the purpose of finding you a job.

Q. Does an employee, who is on leave of absence pending retirement and who receives a gift payment for the period, become eligible to draw benefit from the date he is granted leave?

A. Provided the payment made to the employee on leaving is clearly a gratuity and is not a continuation of wages, and provided also that the employee is not subject to being called back by the employer and the employee is willing and ready to accept suitable employment when offered, he is eligible for benefit from the date the leave starts.

Insurance agent — Now, sir, here's your policy, premium only $6.90 a month on a straight life. All O.K.?"

Insured (wistfully) — I guess so, but I still would have liked to fool around a little on Saturday nights.

How to Learn English

When I first arrived in Canada, I didn't have a rag on my back. (Now I'm covered with 'em.) I couldn't speak a word of English, couldn't write my own name, and I had no shoes. In other words, I was born here. And just two days after my mother arrived from England. That's the only time I was never seasick during a voyage.

I often think how difficult it must be for a foreigner who has reached maturity in Europe, to try to learn English on arrival in Canada, especially when encountering words like Slough, Plough, Tough, and Cough, which are pronounced respectively as Slew, Plow, Tuff and Coff. Four different pronunciations for the same word except the initial letter! And then, Laughter is pronounced Lafter. Put an "S" in front and it is pronounced Slawter. Pity the poor Polack who takes lessons in English!

Let's do a little reversal and see what happens.

I could tell that the tuff-looking man was only bloughing when he said he had driven the snough-plow threw the slew near the slawter-house.

His ruff-looking companion coffed and took a snough-box from his pocket. His woman companion pulled a powder-pough from her mough and said in a grough voice: "That's enuff! That stough won't cure your coff. Try some cold water from the troff."

He laffed and said, "You can't blough me with that stough. I have enuff snough to snease with eese."

That's enuff of that stough. It's too tuff. I'm threw!

Be seein' ya!

St. George's Day, April 23

St. George's Day Message from Lord Rowallan, Chief Scout of Commonwealth

"On St. George's Day, Scouts gather together to give thanks for the life of our Founder, and to re-affirm the promise they made at their investiture. Let each of us, therefore, resolve to pay more attention to our duty to help other people. Remember always what our Founder told us in his last message — that the only way of gaining happiness for ourselves, is to try and give it away to other people."

Junior — Gee, whatcha standing here for, Jimmy? This is the place that fired you last week.

Jimmy — Aw, just wanted to see if they're still in business.

Last year Canada exported $68,000,000 worth of raw wood to be manufactured abroad into wood pulp, twice the value of the 1950 export.

On the average Canadians went to the movies 18 times during 1949 and paid about 40 cents per time.

GIFTS THAT BRING JOY TO THE GIVER

By M. V. Trayers

There is a story told about an old shoemaker who lived in the city of Marseilles in France. One Christmas eve as he sat alone in his little shop, reading of the visit of the Wise Men to the Infant Jesus and of the gifts they brought, he said to himself: "If Jesus were to be born in Marseilles tonight, I know what I would give Him". He rose and took from a shelf two little shoes of the finest snow-white leather, with bright silver buckles. "I would give Him these, my finest work. How pleased his Mother would be. . . . But I'm only a foolish old man." he thought, smiling. "The Master has no need of my poor gifts." He replaced the shoes and retired to rest. Hardly had he closed his eyes, it seemed, when he heard a voice call his name, "Martin". Almost intuitively he felt aware of the identity of the speaker:: "Martin, you have longed to see me. Tomorrow I shall pass by your window. If you see me and bid me enter, I shall be your guest and sit at your table."

Martin did not sleep that night for joy. Before it was yet daybreak he rose and swept and tidied up his little shop. When all was in readiness he took up his vigil at the window. He was sure he would recognize the Master. Presently he saw an old street-sweeper pass by, blowing upon his thin, gnarled hands to warm them. Opening the door he called out to him: "Come in, my friend, and drink a cup of hot coffee." Another hour passed, and Martin next saw a poor, miserably clothed woman, carrying a baby. She paused wearily, to rest in the shelter of his doorway. Quickly he flung the door open. "Come in and warm while you rest", he said to her. "You must eat something while you are getting warm. Let me give you a cup of milk for the baby. What a bright little fellow he is. But you have no shoes on him!" . . . "I have no shoes for him", sighed the mother.

"Then he shall have this lovely pair I finished yesterday". And Martin took down the soft little snow-white shoes he had looked at the evening before, and slipped them on the child's feet. The young mother went her way full of gratitude, and Martin went back to his post at the window. Hour after hour went by, and many needy souls shared the meagre hospitality of the old cobbler — but the expected Guest did not appear. "It was only a dream", he sighed, as he lay down to sleep that night.

Suddenly (so it seemed to his weary eyes) the room was flooded with a glorious light. And to the cobbler's astonishment there appeared before him, one by one, the poor sweeper, the sick mother and baby, and all the others he had been kind to that day. And it seemed that each smiled and said: "Have you not seen me?" "Did I not sit at your table?" and softly out of the silence he heard the gentle voice, repeating the words: "Whosoever shall receive one of these little ones, receiveth me. I was hungry, and you gave me to eat; I was a stranger and you took me in".

The story of Martin the shoemaker is only a story, of course. But sometime this month an appeal will be made to you to contribute towards the fight to overcome cancer. The story of Christmas goes back two thousand years. The fight against cancer goes back nearly four thousand years, according to an article lately released by the Canadian Cancer Society. But it is only since the beginning of the present century that medical science has been able to develop more effective methods for fighting the disease. The outlook for the eventual complete control of this disease becomes increasingly more hopeful. Officials of the Canadian Cancer Society, directing this month's campaign to raise funds to fight the disease, have called upon the people of Lachute and Brownsburg, with all Canada, to join in the battle to support the Cancer Campaign. Never forget that you have no means of knowing what friend or loved one is to be attacked by this fell disease. One out of every eight of us in Canada has the disease. Like Martin the shoemaker, when you give you don't know whom you may be helping. But you have the joy of knowing that by helping you are doing a noble work. You are aiding suffering humanity.

Tom Gard's Note Book

Some months ago I handed out a tip as to how one might antique an old picture frame. This must have aroused considerable interest for the matter has continued to pop up from time to time. It is a pleasure to repeat the formula.

TO ANTIQUE A PICTURE FRAME

Old picture frames, heavily ornamented with deep carvings are ideal for the purpose. In applying the glazing fluid the trick is to brush it on evenly, then wipe off immediately by working from the centre towards the edges, or removing it from the high points of the carvings. A light coat of varnish gives the finishing touch.

BEDROOM SCREEN

We have a new neighbour on our street. He turns out to be quite handy with tools. His first job after moving in was to construct a fine bedroom screen using B.C. Fir Plywood, and when finished he started to construct a second one for his sister, but this time he utilized scrap wood from packing cases. It is a question which is most attractive.

BIRD FEEDING STATION

A naturalist friend has constructed a bird feeding station from an old piano seat, the top being of glass to permit full view of the birds. An old coffee table might serve the same purpose. He endeavoured to impress upon his visitors that the closed end should always face the prevailing wind as this prevented the feed from being blown away.

STRETCHER FOR SOCKS

Necessity is the mother of invention, so my friend George turned a coat-hanger into a stretcher for socks. To make it more attractive he gave it a coat of enamel by simply dipping it in the can and then hanging it up to dry.

Entertaining Ideas

Some people like spur-of-the-moment entertaining; others find it quite upsetting. As far as food is concerned, it isn't hard to have some easy-to-fix snacks ready for impromptu occasions. Make a habit of keeping a supply of cheese, crackers and wafers, canned meat and fresh fruits on hand. They will be most useful when unexpected company drops in to see you. For the sweet touch, a full cookie jar will be a blessing. Ice box cookies will take some of the strain off a crowded schedule, for the dough can be kept in the refrigerator and the cookies baked as they are needed.

It isn't necessary to always have cake or cookies for something sweet. The home economists of the Consumer Section, Canada Department of Agriculture, have two suggestions that come out of the bread box instead of the cookie jar. The first is called "Toasted Cinnamon Squares". To make these, cut very fresh bread in cubes about one and one-half inches in size. Spread each cube on all sides with butter and roll in a mixture made of equal amounts of fruit and brown sugar, with cinnamon to taste. Place the cubes on a buttered cookie sheet and bake in a hot oven, 400°F., until they are well browned, about 5 minutes. They are delicious served with afternoon tea or coffee.

The other suggestion is for "Bread Fingers". They are also easy to make and can substitute for cake. Slice day-old white bread three-quarters of an inch thick. Trim off the crusts and cut into strips, making them about three-quarters of an inch wide and two inches long. Spread the strips on all sides with condensed milk, covering well. Then roll in shredded cocoanut and brown under a broiler.

A type of entertaining that often poses a food problem is Dad's stag party when he entertains "the boys". They will not appreciate all the fuss and frills that the wives delight in, so everyday linens and dishes should be used.

In the food line, the home economists say that "make-your-own sandwiches" are just the thing for such a party. Thick slices of assorted breads and meats such as corned beef, salami, ham, head-cheese or bologna, may be set on the table. Cheese spreads or strong cheese are favorites too. Don't forget the extras—mustard, chili sauce, dressings and relishes — no Dagwood-type sandwich is complete without them.

A pot of beans, piping hot, is still another favorite with the menfolk. Set it in the middle of the table with a big plate of rye bread beside it and let each one help himself. One can never go wrong with desserts, for most men have a sweet tooth and how they do enjoy doughnuts, chocolate cake or apple pie. They like apples and other fresh fruits too. Top off the snack with good strong coffee, making sure there's enough to go around twice.

Whatever the type of entertaining, everyone likes attractive food. It's true that we "eat with our eyes", at least to some extent. With the number of garnishes available today, it isn't hard to make food look appetizing. Usually all that is needed to prepare most garnishes is a sharp paring knife, a pair of scissors and a little imagination.

Everyone loves flowers, so why not decorate food with edible ones? The punch bowl will take on an added party air if marachino cherry roses are floated in it. They are simple to make. Just cut a green cherry and a red cherry into eighths, making the cut only half-way down. Spread the cherries open, then put the red one inside the green one and fasten the two together with a toothpick. Don't forget to break off the end of the toothpick. These cherry roses can also be used to garnish fruit salads or cocktails and many desserts.

Cheese is wonderful for many garnishes. Finely grated Cheddar, process or cream cheese that can be easily moulded is best to use. You don't have to be an artist to make tiny pumpkins, carrots, strawberries or apples out of cheese. To give a realistic touch, use parsley for the stems and roll the tiny cheese strawberries and apples in paprika. The pumpkin garnishes are particularly intriguing on pumpkin or two-crust pies and the others add much to a salad plate.

Here's a frosted fruit garnish to use later on in the season. Dip grapes, cherries or small plums into slightly beaten egg white, then into fruit sugar. Allow them to dry on a wire rack just long enough to crisp.

HOW NOT TO GET WORN TO FRAZZLE DOING HOUSEWORK

Says Better Posture Big Factor in Avoiding Fatigue

By Ovid A. Martin

Washington (AP) — If the woman in your home is nervous and irritable, suffers from fatigue or just plain 'doesn't look good', perhaps it's because of the way she stands.

The U.S. Agriculture Department has just published a 24-page illustrated booklet, "Posture in Housework", in which it offers many suggestions for attaining better posture.

"Using your body correctly helps you to get your work done more efficiently", the pamphlet says.

"Good posture in housework will help you to (1) eliminate fatigue, (2) improve your looks and (3) get rid of nervous tensions and irritability."

The department says the housewife can attain good posture by using her body correctly, having the correct working heights, using the correct tools and eating foods that build healthy muscle.

In standing, it says, the head, neck, chest and abdomen should be balanced vertically, with the weight borne by body framework and a minimum strain on muscles and ligaments. In sitting, it explains, the body should be straight from hips to the neck, with no flexing or bending at the waistline. In bending, it adds, the body should bend at the knees or hips and not at the back.

Good Suggestions

Illustrations in the booklet show how and how not to scrub and wax floors, pick up clothes baskets, wash clothes at tubs, move furniture and pick up the baby.

It emphasizes that the correct heights of kitchen tables, cabinets and ironing boards are vital.

It advises the housewife to use long-handled equipment to avoid bending, to use racks in sinks and on tables if work surfaces are too low and footstools if too high, and to use trays, carts or tables on casters to move heavy objects.

Above all, the department advises, take plenty of rest 10 minutes after each hour's work.

"The United States army has discovered by repeated tests that men can march better and hold up longer if they throw down their packs and rest 10 minutes out of every hour", it says. "To rest often and rest before you get tired are as important to you, a homemaker, as to a soldier."

To Stress Handicrafts

Crafts will again be a prominent feature of the coming annual Leadership Training Course, sponsored by the Quebec Women's Institutes, at Macdonald College, May 26-30. Members who have had some instruction at classes conducted by the Q.W.I. technicians in the various districts of the province, will have an opportunity to obtain further training which will fit them to lead in this work when they return to their respective branches.

Following a policy adopted last year, the instructor for the rug-making class will be a W.I. member, chosen from among those skilled in that craft. This year it will be Mrs. T. B. Vincent, of Sutton, Que., a prize-winner at many fairs. Miss Elizabeth Meikle, of the Handicraft Staff, Macdonald College, will be in charge of leatherwork, and advanced weaving and sewing will be taught by the Q.W.I. technicians, Miss Ida R. Bruneau and Miss F. Elizabeth Campbell, respectively.

Every afternoon of the course has been assigned to this work in crafts and the various classes will be kept to a number that will enable the participants to get individual attention and a maximum of instruction.

MYSTERIOUS FELINE

Central Press Canadian

This baby cougar, donated by Mayor Fred Hume, Vancouver, is enroute to North Luffenham, Eng., for mascot duty with the RCAF's 410 Cougar Squadron. The three-month-old cougar, called "Rosie" although its sex is still uncertain, is now the size of a big alley cat, but when full grown will tip the scales at 450 pounds.

ALL HELPED

Colonsay, Sask. — The newly-opened Colonsay Memorial skating rink was built at a cost of $150,000, not including labor. The work was all done by town and district residents.

Between December 1, 1950, and December 1, 1951, average hours worked by hourly-rated wage earners in Canadian factories declined from 43.1 hours to 41.9, while average weekly wages climbed from $46.46 to $52.17.

Refugee Calls Reds Organized Fanatics

Montreal (CP) — Maria Jerabek, a young Czechoslovakian girl who escaped from her Communist-dominated homeland by calmly walking across the border to freedom, says she's "terrified" of Communists.

"They are organized, disciplined fanatics. Human life means nothing to them", Maria says.

She was an airline stewardess. She was forced to do a year's manual labor in Germany. She knew nothing of politics and she wasn't interested.

Maria was in Rome when she heard that the Comunists assumed power in 1948.

Within a few weeks a purge relieved the airline of much of its personnel, including Maria Jerabek. Planes and their crews flew out of the country and never returned. "My passport went with my job and I was questioned by police. Anyone who had been in touch with foreigners was suspected", she said.

"With the Comunists what is 'true' today is a lie tomorrow, and the people pay the price." Maria is now secretary to Eric Koch, area supervisor of central Europe, CBC international service.

A Weekly Feature of Helpful Hints on Child Training

Let Them Grow Up!

— By NANCY CLEAVER — (Copyright)

"I wish parents would give their children the chance to make their own choice in a whole lot of little things from the time they are small! Then they would be prepared to make important decisions when they are out on their own!" a collegiate teacher with long experience said recently.

"How do you know they don't?" her friend asked.

"By their hesitation, their unwillingness to take responsibility when they come to us in First Form and all through their years here. Today the Household Sience teacher was laughing about a Freshie who asked her "which match will I use?" — but it's really no laughing matter.

As I get to know my scholars better, I can see that this refusal of parents to let them grow up is perhaps the one thing which irks adolescents most of all. Frequently there is bitter conflict between a boy or girl and one or both parents over the choice of a vocation. The same thing is true in picking out a "girl friend" or a "boy friend". Why, oh why, don't parents help their children grow up by encouraging them to make their own choices?

Do you think this is a fair criticism? It was a sincere one and it was made by a teacher who had the good of her scholars at heart. It was her conclusion from observing not one or two adolescents, but many teen agers over a number of years.

This plea to parents that they should allow their youngsters to grow up and make their own decisions was also voiced by a girl who was chosen to represent her classmates at a large youth gathering recently in one of our main Canadian cities. She was quite eloquent as she said: "We wish our fathers and mothers would trust us to do the right thing. How can we become responsible citizens, if we do not feel free to pick out our own special friends or discover what vocation we really want to follow?"

Perhaps this refusal to let a teen ager grow up does not apply to you — but it is quite apparent in far too many families. Why does it happen? Is it true that parents do not have sufficient confidence in their own youngsters? Or do they feel sure that their generation is so much wiser than the younger one?

One of the fundamental reasons for this undesirable situation is that all through their child's growing years they have been sure that "Mother knows best!" or "Father will tell you the right thing to do!" They have not seen clearly enough that a child must be given the chance to decide — sometimes he will make a poor — or even a wrong choice. But he can only become accustomed to thinking through a problem, reaching a solution and acting on it through his own experience. He must have first-hand knowledge of life — not second-hand. A child must learn from failure as well as from success.

In the one matter of selecting their child's life work parents have committed so many blunders, that one would think that the thoughtful parent would hesitate to rush in! There are scores of biographies which tell of unhappy men and women who were forced by a father's domination to follow a profession for which they were ill-fitted. Zane Grey's father absolutely insisted that he become a dentist. He obeyed, but was miserable in his years as a dentist. Finally he abandoned this profession and turned to the writing profession, in which he became famous.

Mothers may not be so strong-minded about their child's life work, but they do have a hard time in the field of human relations. It is difficult for most mothers to accept the definition of a good parent as "one who becomes progressively dispensable". Because they are so fond of their little son it is hard for them to see that by nature the companionship of his peers, his own age group, becomes increasingly important to him.

A little later on, how rare it is for a mother to look for the good points in her son's best girl! An outstanding psychologist has pointed out in this matter that "It is love that let's him go, not the possessive love that keeps him dependent, that makes a boy's healthy growth to manhood possible."

Mothers and fathers — are you making your children's "healthy growth to maturity" possible by giving them chances throughout the years to make their own choices? Do let them grow up!

Hash – Can Be Tasty And Attractive Too

Planning breakfast or dinner is no problem for most homemakers — but the third meal of the day may be a different matter. The home economists of the Consumer Section suggest that hash be put on your list of supper or luncheon dishes. Well-made hash can be so good, certainly not something which the family has to eat out of sufferance on busy washdays. Decorated with a colorful garnish and served on a brightly colored platter, hash can hold its own with any food in looking attractive.

Generally, hash is associated with beef but an equally good hash may be made with leftover ham or lamb. The hash is usually prepared by sauté-ing chopped onions in fat until tender and then adding chopped or ground meat, diced or mashed cooked potatoes, leftover gravy or soup, and seasonings. Then it is either panfried or baked until thoroughly heated.

The omelette type of hash is made by adding a beaten egg or two to the mixture and then cooking it slowly until the eggs are set. The addition of any one of the many canned soups can change the flavor as well as the appearance of a hash, while a combination of vegetables will give a plain hash a new look as well as a new taste.

One of the most important points in making good hash is to use a good seasoning. The home economists suggest that you season, taste, then season again until the flavor seems just right. A wise use of salt and pepper plus a little onion and a single herb or several of them can be used successfully. If the hash is to be made with beef, some of the best herbs include savory, thyme, basil and rosemary. There are, too, many excellent prepared seasonings on the market today such as meat sauce, catsup and so on. Some like to use a little homemade chili sauce or homemade pickles. A hash may be varied by adding barbecue sauce instead of the usual leftover gravy or a savoury hash may be made by adding catsup, a little vinegar and a little prepared mustard to the mixture. This may be served topped with grated cheese.

Fried hash with a poached egg is often seen on restaurant menus and many people order it. If this dish is so popular in the restaurant, why not try it in the home? The family are sure to ask for a re-order. The eggs do not have to be poached; they may be baked right with the hash. Just before the hash is done, make small depressions in it and drop a whole egg in each one. Then put it back into the oven until the eggs are cooked.

If your family likes onions, for a change serve them filled with hash. Boil the onions until they are almost tender, remove a slice from the top of each and scoop out the centre leaving the shell intact. Fill the shells with hot baked hash topped with bread crumbs and bake in a moderate oven until the onions are completely tender, about 10 minutes. The chopped onion centres can be used in a creole sauce to serve with the hash-filled onions.

Hash served sandwich-style is another favorite. Place slices of fried hash on toast and top with catsup and dill pickles. The ways with hash are endless. These ideas should start some experimenting in your kitchen:

Hash

¼ Cup chopped onion, 1 tablespoon fat, 2 cups cooked ground meat, 2 cups cooked potatoes (diced or mashed), salt, pepper and other seasonings to taste.

Sauté onion in fat until lightly browned. Add meat, potatoes, salt and pepper to taste and combine thoroughly. Pan fry until brown, stirring occasionally, or place in a greased casserole and bake in a hot oven, 400°F., about 30 minutes or until brown. Yield: about 3 cups.

Variations:

1. Add a little gravy, condensed cream soups or barbecue sauce to make hash more moist.

2. Vary seasonings, using herbs (savoury, thyme, basil, rosemary), meat sauce, catsup, chili sauce, prepared mustard, vinegar, pickle relish.

3. Add browned hash to 3 or 4 beaten eggs and return mixture to hot frying pan. Reduce heat and cook slowly until firm and brown on the bottom, about 5 minutes. Grease through centre, with spatula, fold over and serve on a hot platter. Serve with a tomato or mushroom sauce.

4. Prepare half the recipe of hash using mashed potatoes and seasoning as suggested. Separate 2 eggs, beat yolks slightly and add to hash, mixing thoroughly. Beat egg whites until stiff and fold into hash mixture. Drop by spoonfuls onto greased cookie sheet and broil until brown, about 5 minutes. Top with tomato slices or slices of cheese and broil until tomatoes are cooked or cheese melted, about 5 minutes, or serve with tomato or mushroom sauce.

5. Top cooked hash with poached egg before serving, or place hash in individual casseroles, make a depression in the centre and drop in an egg. Bake in a moderately hot oven, 375°F., about 15-20 minutes or until egg is baked to desired degree of doneness. Grated cheese may be sprinkled over egg before baking.

6. Place slices of cooked hash on toast and top with catsup, chili sauce, tomato sauce, or dill pickles.

7. Cook medium-sized onions in boiling salted water until almost tender, 15-20 minutes. Drain. Cut a thin slice from the top of onion and scoop out centre, leaving shell intact. Fill shells with hot hash, top with buttered crumbs or grated cheese and bake in a moderately hot oven, 375°F., until top is brown and onions are tender, about 15 minutes. The chopped onion centres may be used for Creole Sauce to serve with the stuffed onions. Green pepper shells which have been parboiled in boiling salted water for 5 minutes, may be substituted for the onion shells.

8. Top the pan fried hash with grated cheese and place under the broiler until cheese is melted. Serve immediately.

"Healthy Surroundings Make Healthy People"

"Healthy Surroundings Make Healthy People"—the theme suggested for World Health Day in 1952—points to a goal shared by all nations. The World Health Organization (WHO), is helping man to conquer his disease breeding environment in many parts of the world. During one of WHO's anti-malaria drives in India (above) it was found that the number of plague cases fell rapidly. Investigations showed that DDT sprayed to kill mosquitoes had also killed the rat fleas and thus cut down the plague.

Today Miss Dilling's annual tours of North America comprise upwards of 70 performances. She has appeared in all 48 States and in Canada, Mexico, Cuba and the Caribbean area, Central and South America and Hawaii. She has appeared as soloist with many leading orchestras. Her New York recitals are brilliant events in the music calendar of the metropolis. She has had the honor to give seven invitation concerts at the White House. Since the war Miss Dilling has resumed her summer tours in Europe and Britain.

Mildred Dilling's unrivaled position as the foremost woman harpist has been acknowledged by the critics and by her vast public. Her rare gift of interpretation coupled with a complete mastery of technique, has aroused new interest in the harp as a solo instrument and has won her world-wide renown.

When Mildred Dilling made a concert tour of the Hawaiian Islands, shortly before Pearl Harbour, she was presented with a gorgeous all-orchid lei. Several of the members of the committee in charge of the concert were orchid fanciers, and they each contributed their choicest bloom, so that the lei consisted of 22 rare specimens of the flower. Another such tribute to the harpist was in Havana, when she played as soloist with the Havana Philharmonic Orchestra. Admirers gave her a harp made entirely of gardenias. The following day she gave her second performance there, and other fans, not to be outdone, gave her a great golden lyre, some seven feet tall, made of black-eyed Susans.

When Artists Films had the idea of a series of 24 shorts, featuring the great musicians of our time, Miss Dilling was chosen to represent the harp. Louis Biancolli, of the New York World-Telegram, said: "Mildred Dilling's fleet fingers were shown flying over harp strings with wonderful bell-like effects in split-second accord. Photography and sound blended to fresh magic."

While in Hollywood, Miss Dilling gave lessons to two of her famous neighbors, Deanna Durbin and Harpo Marx.

Ont. Hydro to Take Over Gatineau Power Sites

Toronto (CP) — The last major private power company operating in Ontario will shortly be taken over by the Hydro-Electric Power Commission.

The Ontario Legislature was told last week by the Hon. G. H. Challies, Hydro vice-chairman, that an agreement is nearly complete to take over the Gatineau Power Company sites on the Ontario side of the lower Ottawa River, below the City of Ottawa.

Immediate utilization of the power from the company's Carillon plant involves merely hooking up transmission lines.

"Around the Country"

By J. Greenblat

The Wetaskiwin (Alta.) ladies of the Red Cross were hampered in their welfare work when a mean thief entered their workroom, stole the treadle sewing machine, loaned to them free by a company. . . When friends dropped in at High River, Alta., to congratulate Mrs. McBee, Sr., on her 93rd birthday, she said: "It would be wonderful if I could be as happy as all these kind people would like me to be, but there is really no reason why I shouldn't be, except that I don't like being waited on and looked after so much."

W. H. McKinley, of Utopia, Ont., woke to unusual sounds, went out to find two wolves attacking a deer, and beat them off with a club. . . Law and order prevail these days in Reston, Man., muses the editor of The Recorder, who observed that, with seven R.C.M.P. officers in town, even parking regulations are being observed!

Philip Day, 14, of Cochin, Sask., has stamina; out hunting habbits, he accidentally shot himself with a .410 gauge shotgun as he slipped on his skiis; a mile from home, he managed to ski back and was rushed to hospital. . . His salary was $10 a month when he first became caretaker of the town dump, says the Bowmanville, Ont., Statesman, but 20 years later, February 29, 1952, when he resigned due to ill health, John Mohun's salary had reached an all-time high of $55 a month.

Take A Boy Fishing

Believing that the strength and future of the nation lies in its boys and girls and that the activity of fishing offers tremendous possibilities for character building, the Paw Paw Bait Company, of Paw Paw, Michigan, is instituting a national campaign urging parents to "Take a Boy Fishing."

"On a lake or stream", said C. C. Sinclair, president of the concern, the outside world, for the time, is forgotten, and fathers and sons get closer together. There is an opportunity for the teaching of sportsmanship . . . strong character . . the love for our country —its beauties and possibilities. It lets the fathers and sons become pals and have a greater understanding of each other and affection for each other. We believe we'll have a better world if we can get more fathers to take their boys fishing.

Fishing tackle stores are carrying the first of a series of appeals to the parents.

THE PURPOSE OF "THE WATCHTOWER"

Literal towers in Bible times were elevated vantage points from which watchmen could observe happenings, warn of danger, or announce good news. Our magazine figuratively occupies such a vantage point, for it is founded on the very pinnacle of wisdom, God's Word. That elevates it above racial, national and political propagandas and prejudices, frees it from selfish bias. It is not bound by any traditional creed, but its message advances as the light on God's purposes and works increases.
— Habakkuk 2:1-3.

It sees things Scripturally. When it observes this generation afflicted with greed, delinquency, hypocrisy, atheism, war, famine, pestilence, perplexity and fear, and persecution of unpopular minorities, it does not parrot the old fable about history repeating itself. Informed by Bible prophecy, it sees in these things the sign of the world's time of the end. But with bright hope it also sees opening up for us just beyond these woes the portals of a new world.

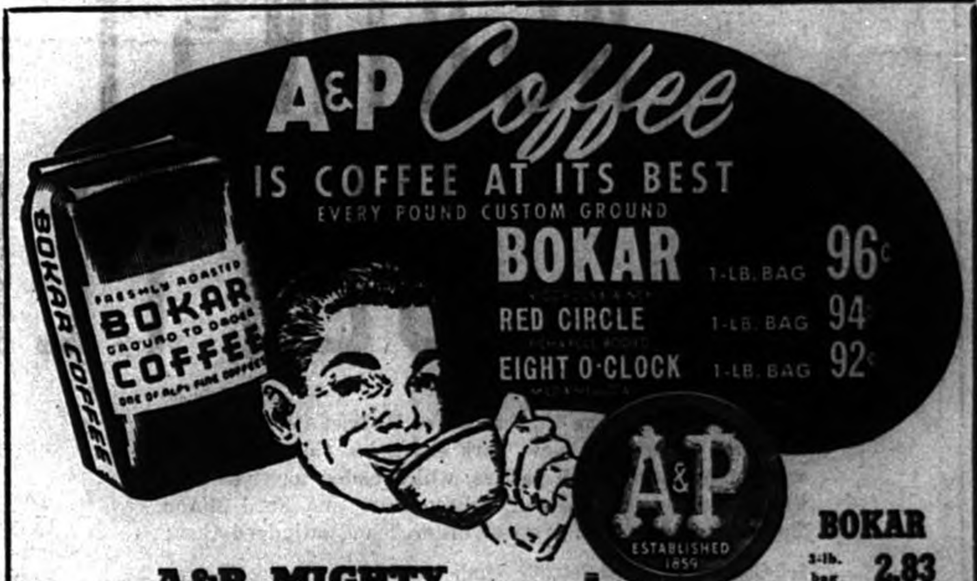

Thus viewed, "The Watchtower" stands as a watchman atop a tower, alert to what is going on, awake to note signs of danger, faithful to point out the way of escape. It announces Jehovah's kingdom established by Christ's enthronement in Heaven, feeds his kingdom joint-heirs with spiritual food, cheers men of good will with glorious prospects of eternal life in a paradise earth, comforts us with the resurrection promise for the dead.

It is not dogmatic, but has a confident ring in its voice, because it is based on God's Word. It does not privately interpret prophecy, but calls attention to physical facts, sets them alongside prophecy, and you see for yourself how well the two match, how accurately Jehovah interprets his own prophecy. In the interest of our salvation, it keeps sharp and faithful focus on Bible truth, and views religious news generally.

'Be watchful in these perilous times', God admonishes. So keep on the watch by regularly reading "The Watchtower".

The Watch Tower costs only one dollar per year; it comes to you twice each month. — Write 40 Irwin Ave., Toronto, Ont.

FERGUSON SUIT AGAINST FORD SETTLED!

On April 9, 1952, the United States District Court for the Southern District of New York entered a final judgment, with the consent of all parties, which ended four years of litigation between Harry Ferguson, Inc., and Ford Motor Company and others. It was ordered and adjudged that:

1. The sum of $9,250,000 shall be paid to Harry Ferguson, Inc. as royalties on Patents Numbers 1,916,945; 21,118,180; 2,223,002 and 2,486,257.
2. Ford Motor Company shall not manufacture, after December 31, 1952, such tractors, and Dearborn Motors Corporation shall not sell any such tractors manufactured after December 31, 1952, as have
   (a) A pump having a valve on its suction side, as for example in the present Ford 8N tractor, arranged to be automatically controlled in accordance with the draft of an implement, or
   (b) a pump for a hydraulically operated draft control system for implement control and a power take-off shaft both driven by the lay shaft of the transmission, as for example in the present Ford 8N tractor, or
   (c) a coupling mechanism on the upper portion of the center housing, of the form employed in Ford 8N tractors manufactured prior to November 22, 1949; and Ford Motor Company and Dearborn Motors Corporation must affix a notice on any long coupling pins, manufactured by them, to the effect that the pin is sold only for replacement on 8N tractors made by Ford prior to November 22, 1949. This notice will continue to be affixed until October 25, 1966.
3. The Ford Motor Company and Dearborn Motors Corporation shall have a period of time, expiring not later than December 31, 1952, in which to make these changes.
4. All other claims and counter claims are dismissed and withdrawn on the merits.

A copy of the consent judgment is available to anyone interested in reading it.

This settlement between Harry Ferguson, Inc. and The Ford Motor Company resolves the issues. The inventions in their entirety with which this action was concerned will be found only in the Ferguson Tractor and in the Ferguson System in the future.

It is fitting that farmers all over the world . . . and especially in the Americas . . . shall continue to look to Ferguson for fulfillment of all that these inventions contribute to a greater and more prosperous agriculture. Better implements, better farming practices, more abundant production, and lower farming costs have resulted from the Ferguson System as employed in the Ferguson Tractor.

Now, indeed, the Ferguson with the one and only complete Ferguson System is the tractor that meets more of the needs of more of the farmers more of the time. This can be proved to you at a demonstration on your own farm. Such a demonstration can be quickly arranged by telephone. Won't you call us about it?

Pictures — Water-Colors

Last week we discussed oil paintings and this week I would like to talk about water-colors.

I have been asked by many people what is the difference between oil and water-colors. Some think oil paintings are the more valuable of the two, others that they are harder to execute, and some that they won't last as long. In other words there are many speculative wrong assumptions upon the merits or demerits of the two. I personally think that there is no difference between the two, with the exception that the colors are mixed with water, and so there is a different technique of painting. You handle the medium in a different manner, and so the paintings are unique. The one danger of water-colors is that many do not know the permanency of the pigments (colors). There are many beautiful colors, with the one trouble that in bright light they have a tendency to fade. However, if you purchase a picture from a reputable artist, he probably knows the colors and so counteracts the fading with permanent colors. (This danger is also present in oil colors).

Some people think that a water-color should not be as expensive as an oil, because you use cheaper materials. That is not so. Water-color pigments come in two different sets, Pan and Tube. Pan colors are flat tins, where the colors are already set out, tube colors are where the colors are put into tubes, and you can squeeze out the amount you require. These colors are not cheap, nor is the paper which is used. The paper comes in different weights, the weight depends upon the thickness of the paper. The heavier the paper the more it costs. The best paper is about 100 pounds, but it also comes in 200 and 300 pounds. Naturally the heavier the paper, the more costly it is. The paper generally comes in a set size; 22 inches by 28 inches is about the average size.

A water-color should have a piece of glass over it in order to protect its surface; this, too, raises the price of the picture. The glass protects it from dust and dirt, and you shouldn't wash its surface.

At Brownsburg Council

Restricted Parking

Mr. G. Tomalty protested a parking ticket, explaining that he parked his car on the sidewalk close to Mr. I. McFaul's store. He saw Mr. McFaul's truck constantly parked in the same area. There was no sign at the point to indicate "no parking".

Mayor Pariseau said that Mr. McFaul claimed ownership to some property extending on the public street and always parked his truck in front close to his store window. It would have to be looked up to decide the right claimed, but it hardly meant that everyone could park there.

Councillor Lavoie: "If it is private property the council can't fine a man for parking there."

The matter was put off for investigation.

The number of monthly vouchers were read and, arising out of an item for $233.16 from Pariseau & Sons, Mayor Pariseau remarked that "Pariseau & Sons Ltd." have a right to sell anything they like to the Council. "This is for the information of the Council."

(At a previous meeting a letter was read threatening to inform the Minister of Municipal Affairs of some councillors doing business with the corporation.)

Fire Report

Fire Chief A. Robbins reported on one fire (chimney) in the Malacket block. There were four cooking inlets to one flue. There was no damage. A request was made for additional remuneration for the cleaning of chimneys by the Fire Brigade members. The Chief said that the number of chimneys had increased but no increase was made in the amount for cleaning. There were 638 houses having 930 chimneys. The amount of $630 was increased to $700, on the motion of Councillor Ouellette.

The council decided, on the motion of Councillor Charbonneau seconded by Councillor Ball, to pay the balance of $1,598 due on cost of snow-loader.

Councillor Somers seconded a notice of motion handed in at a previous meeting by Councillor Ouellette, that By-law 81 be enacted — a budgetary amount of $29,015 to be provided by a tax rate of $1.05 for the coming year.

Valuators

Messrs. A. Brunelle, J. S. Thompson and J. Lacasse were appointed valuators for the next three years — Councillor Ouellette substituting J. Lacasse for J. D. Lepine, the former valuator. . . Councillor Lavoie proposed, seconded by Councillor Charbonneau, that the appointments be made.

The Secretary brought up the question of business tax in connection with the re-opening of a store by M. Rosenthal.

Councillor Ouellette doubted if Council had authority to charge $100 for the first year on new establishments opening business. He had asked the Minister at a recent conference and he understood this amount could not be claimed as deposit.

Secretary Hebert said the amount was entered in the by-law by their legal advisor, and he felt it must be legally sound.

Councillor Lavoie said he had complaints from old established business firms, that some newcomers were not paying any tax.

Secretary: "Give us the names and we will soon collect."

Councillor Lavoie said a survey should be made. Councillor Somers wanted every business to apply to Council for a permit, and Councillor Ouellette wanted a license plate issued.

Sugar Ray Robinson An Ambitious Fighter

By Gerry Lougheed,
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Sugar Ray Robinson wants to rack up one more record before he hangs up his gloves. The sleek middleweight king wants to join Bob Fitzsimmons and Hammerin' Henry Armstrong among the ultra elite of triple champions. Unless plans go awry, the New York negro will go after his third crown against light-heavyweight champion Joey Maxim in June.

Fitzsimmons captured the middleweight titles in that order, but he never held them simultaneously as Armstrong did.

Armstrong won the featherweight title in 1937 and then swept the lightweight and welterweight division in 1938. Because he monopolized three of boxing's most active divisions, boxing commissions decreed that a fighter couldn't hold more than one title at a time. That meant that Robinson forfeited his welterweight crown when he lifted the middleweight title from Jake LaMotta last year.

Keen Competition in Bowling Eliminations

Annual Tournament in Progress at Bolodrome

Eliminations in the Bolodrome annual tournament are showing some keen competition. The three teams eliminated are Hotel Bouchard, Brading's and Dow—Albert Malacket having ousted, after three supplementary games, the Brading's team, piloted by A. Ouellet, who was dogged by misfortune to the end.

The Dow team, defeated in the previous week, rolled a 4-4 tie against the Legion — the latter winning in a deciding game. The Jos. Malacket (Brownsburg) squad, played three extras for a decision after an even 1-1 count with Hotel Bouchard — the latter being deprived of the Joly boys due to unavoidable circumstances. Lowe Bros. carried two successive victories to eliminate Tessier Hotel, and Lowe's now appear promising opponents against Albert Malacket's team.

A report on Class B entries will be available for next week. The set-up is as follows:

H. M. Lavigne vs. Western Pool Room
Pollock & Graves vs. Seven-Up
Rockets vs. North River Motors
Dominion Shuttle vs. Ayers Ltd.

The total of 1012 points for three games, scored by the tournament president and local champion, Jim Duncan, will be a difficult score to beat.

Tour of Interest Through Two Busy Establishments

Giles Publishers and MacKimmie Bottlers Share Enjoyment as Hosts to Chamber of Commerce

Contributed by Lachute Chamber of Commerce

The Chamber of Commerce schedule of monthly industrial tours included, yesterday, a visit to two old-established businesses on Foundry Street — the Giles Publishing House Ltd., and its neighboring enterprise, the J. P. MacKimmie & Sons bottling works, both of which have undergone considerable modernization in their buildings and equipment in recent years.

The visitors numbered a gathering of about 75. The Chamber of Commerce members and guests were escorted in groups, first through the publishing plant, where they were enlightened on the process of publishing a newspaper — from the editing of assorted news "copy" and ad writing, through its composition in type, assembly in the page forms, and finally its reproduction on the press. Incidental to this process is considerable book-work in maintaining the circulation list — an audited and authentic record of paid subscribers on which national advertisers may depend as a criterion of advertising value. Also incidental to the type composition are the complex linotype machines; and to the advertising, a metal casting machine for the making of stereo plates. There is considerable work entailed in these various departments to meet the deadlines of two weekly editions, The Watchman and L'Argenteuil, in two languages, and to ensure that readers receive their papers with dependable regularity in the mails and on the news-stands.

Another department of production at Giles Publishing House is devoted to commercial printing, which requires specialized attention in ruling, color, numbering, assembly, and various details according to the customer and his needs. . . The visitors were shown the operation of two new automatic presses, which are time and labor savers replacing the old-style hand-fed job presses.

Mr. J. S. Giles, veteran publisher, is president and patriarch of this establishment, which dates back 75 years — 55 years under its present ownership. Mr. R. A. Giles is general manager; J. F. Gorman, the printing production foreman; Conrad Langlois, French editor; Don Titman, English editor.

Following their tour of the new Giles plant, the visitors proceeded to the MacKimmie establishment, whose major output is the nationally favored Coca-Cola — besides which, however, the popular MacKimmie recipes are used in the production of "Jamaica Dry" and other beverages in good demand over a wide district.

This enterprise was taken over by the MacKimmie family in 1916, and is under the present ownership of William and James A. MacKimmie. Previous to this, the business, on a very small scale, was founded in 1910 by A. G. Larue, of Three Rivers. The equipment at that time consisted of one small pedal machine and a large vat in which the bottles were laboriously washed by hand. Delivery of the soft-drinks was made with a chain-drive Ford truck, and in winter with sleighs and a team of horses. The next move was in 1926, when a semi-automatic bottler was installed with a 35-case per hour bottling and washing output. During that year the now famous Coca-Cola drink was introduced into Lachute, with J. P. MacKimmie & Sons holding the franchise. With the increasing demand for soft-drinks, further enlargement was necessary, and a 60-case per hour machine was installed in 1936. Four years later this was found inadequate, and a further addition was made totalling a production of 90 cases per hour.

This supposedly ideal set-up sufficed until the demand for Coca-Cola became so great that, in 1949, a complete new plant was erected, modern in every respect, with further new machinery, which at the present time is capable of producing 160 cases per hour, and completely automatic.

Such a large volume of business requires an efficient distribution system, and the continuous use of seven large trucks for delivery purposes is required.

The firm of J. P. MacKimmie & Sons is one of the many franchise bottlers across Canada, and with a staff of 15 loyal employees, the company is to be congratulated on its steady progress, with as fine a plant as can be found anywhere.

After inspection of these neighboring plants, refreshments were served jointly, in the form of sandwiches and Coca-Cola.

Door prizes at Giles Publishing House Ltd. were won by Mrs. Laurent Lamarche and Mr. Lionel Plouffe, while Mrs. Horace Lamarche was the winner of a miniature Coca-Cola cooler at the MacKimmie plant.

Appreciation was expressed by Horace Lamarche, president of the Lachute Chamber of Commerce, to both firms, for the instructive and sociable period, to which Messrs. Jas. MacKimmie and R. A. Giles replied briefly.

ARGENTEUIL HEALTH UNIT ESTABLISHED 22 YEARS

1951 Report Shows Unit's Widespread Program To Promote and Safeguard Public Health

Argenteuil County Health Unit was established in the year 1930, almost 22 years ago, and with the growing population and activities of the area, the duties of the staff have vastly increased. Anti-tuberculosis X-Ray examinations, dental clinics, sanitary surveillance and public health education programs are branches of the work in which the Unit has made most notable gains.

First medical officer in charge of this Unit was Dr. E. Lalande, D.P.H., and the staff then included the late Dr. J. O. Touchette, V.S., inspector; Miss Lillian Harrison, R.N., and Miss Vic LaRose, R.N., public health nurses; and Miss Cecile Laurin (now Mrs. Horace Lamarche) as secretary. During the years, this staff has undergone many changes and augmentations, Miss Harrison being the only original member remaining. Various officers and nurses of the Quebec Health Department have received periods of training here for a similar line of duty in other centres, and the Argenteuil Unit assisted considerably in the establishment of a branch at St. Eustache for the neighboring County of Deux Montagnes.

The present staff comprises Dr. L. Turcotte, D.P.H., medical officer; Miss L. Harrison, R.N., Miss Mariette Guilbeault, R.N., Miss Lucille Massie, R.N., and Miss Marguerite Robin, R.N. — the latter being stationed at Morin Heights as public health nurse for the northern section of the county; Ernest Emmett, V.S., inspector; and Miss Therese Filion, secretary. Dr. J. P. Dorion, V.S., serves part-time as inspector of abbatoirs and butcher establishments, and Dr. Florent Therriault, D.D.S., as dentist. Linton W. Armstrong, C.S.I., was also long associated with this unit, having served 14 years as county inspector.

Offices of the Unit since its inauguration have been situated in the local Court House, where practically all the Quebec Government services for this locality are now located under one roof.

From a detailed report of the Argenteuil Health Unit's activities for 1951, the following examples will give some idea of the present extent of this work:

CAMPSITE MAJOR TOPIC AT DIVISIONAL MEET OF SCOUTS ASSOC'N

Fourth Annual District Rally Set for May 31, Lachute Fair Grounds

Laurentian District Council of the Boy Scouts Association held a meeting at St. Eustache-sur-le-Lac last Saturday afternoon.

The meeting was opened by Linton W. Armstrong, District Commissioner. The secretary, W. W. Freeland, of Brownsburg, was absent owing to sickness.

In view of the fact that C. E. Richardson had moved to Nitro, Que., and had resigned as president of the Council, W. W. Freeland was appointed to fill the vacancy, and G. H. Quinn, also of Brownsburg, was appointed secretary.

Commissioner Armstrong announced the appointment of G. S. Edgell, of Ste. Therese, as District Scoutmaster; also the appointment of Paul Villard, of Brownsburg, as District Cubmaster.

The fourth annual District Rally was planned for May 31, at the Lachute Fair Grounds. Guides and Brownies have declined to participate in this year's rally.

In connection with the contemplated purchase of a district campsite, it was announced that, whereas the Montreal Council had been considering the purchase of additional land at Camp Tamaracouta, a good friend of the Scouts purchased land and donated it to the Council.

Commissioner Cyril J. Dendy was present at the meeting. He stated that a campsite would be made available to the Laurentian District, subject to certain of the camp regulations. He suggested that the matter should be considered a co-operative venture. A Camp Committee was appointed to consider this proposal.

A motion was passed, voting $1,000 to Provincial Headquarters to help with the deficit incurred last year.

Angus Taylor, of Lachute, was appointed chairman of the Rally Committee, with D. N. Atkins, of Brownsburg, as secretary. They will be assisted by three Group Committee members from Brownsburg and three from Lachute; also by the District Cubmaster and Scoutmaster.

The resignation of R. A. Giles, Lachute, as vice-president of the Laurentian District, was announced, and J. E. Reid, of Rosemere, was appointed to fill the vacancy.

Colleagues Are Guests of Local Employment Staff

The local staff of the National Employment and Unemployment Insurance office were visited last Saturday by colleagues from the neighboring branches at Ste. Therese, St. Jerome, Ste. Agathe and Hawkesbury. The occasion was the monthly gathering of district employees in the national association of this service.

Following the meeting, the visitors were escorted to Hercule Legault's sugar camp, on the Lakefield highway, where they enjoyed a sugaring session and a meal of the traditional pork-and-beans. The visitors expressed appreciation to those in Lachute who had extended such cordial hospitality.

Child Suffers Burns From Electric Wire

Special to The Watchman and L'Argenteuil

Réal Leduc, one-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Leduc at Ste. Monique, County of Deux Montagnes, suffered second degree burns about the mouth and tongue when he placed his lips on a live electric wire.

The misadventure, which occurred at his grandmother's home, was serious but might easily have proved fatal. The child's frantic cries attracted the grandmother's attention, and after medical treatment he was taken to Ste. Justine Hospital in Montreal for observation.

SAWMILL FATALITY AT BARKMERE, QUE.

Accidental death was the verdict given at an inquest in Montreal, in the case of Marcel Contant, 24, who succumbed last Monday to injuries sustained April 3 in a sawmill where he was employed at Barkmere.

The mishap occurred when the mill worker, a resident of Barkmere, was working on a conveyor feeding lumber into the saw. In some manner he tripped, and was struck in the face by a flying board. He sustained a fractured skull and was removed to the Notre Dame Hospital in Montreal, where his death occurred as a result of haemorrhage and effects of the fracture.

Det. P. Archambault, of provincial police headquarters in Montreal, investigated, and details of the fatality were reported here to the district coroner, Dr. Jules Lafleur.

MAC E. WALKER TO HEAD ROTARY CLUB

The main event of last week's meeting of the Brownsburg Rotary Club was the election of officers and executive for the new year. The new slate stands as follows:

President, Mac E. Walker; vice-president, Keith Rutherford; secretary, Sidney Stillwell; treasurer, Dudley Boal.

Directors—Jean Belanger, Ozzie Blouin, Art Lapp.

Besides the election of officers, two new members, Jack MacKimmie and Leslie Thompson, were inducted into the club, in a ceremony fittingly conducted by Past-president Norm Somers.

One guest, G. Kilgour Hardie, attended the meeting.

AYERS LTD. HAS NEW EMPLOYEE BULLETIN "SPINNING WHEEL"

Ayers Limited has produced this month the first issue of its new employee-bulletin, a mimeographed bilingual publication in an attractively designed cover, entitled "Le Rouet" (The Spinning Wheel).

Among current employee interests, the bulletin makes reference to the plant library, and also to handicrafts, which have been encouraged under capable instruction. In this connection, a handicrafts contest and fashion show is announced for the near future, to be held in St. Julien parish hall. Another event announced for May is the Quarter Century Club celebration, with presentations to mill workers newly qualified with 25 years of service. This function takes place at the Golf Club.

Introducing this new social bulletin produced by the employees, is an editorial by the company president, Mr. Gilbert E. Ayers, which says, in part:

"The Directors of this Company have endeavored to make of Ayers Limited an agreeable place to work in. Time, money, attention, understanding and supervision have not been spared to make this possible. That alone, however, is not sufficient.

"Hard work and honest effort have been the essential, basic ingredient of our formula to date, and must remain our major preoccupation at all times.

"With Hard Work and Honest Effort as our guiding light, each one of us, whether he may be a part of management, supervision, staff, production line or maintenance, each one of us must consider the other as an important link in the long chain of people which constitutes Ayers Limited.

"We hope that the creation of the 'Spinning Wheel' will help to complete this pattern of unity and solidarity between us all, as well as a pleasant means of establishing contacts in all corners of the mill. . .

"Let's get that family spirit into us, right down the line."

RECITAL BY HARPIST, NEW EXPERIENCE IN COMMUNITY CONCERTS

Concluding Program In Season's Series Of Entertainments

A new treat in musical entertainment was the experience of Community Concert-goers when Mildred Dilling gave a recital on the harp—the final concert of this season's series — at Lachute High School auditorium last Monday. Miss Dilling is rated as the leading feminine exponent of this art in contemporary times, and her performance revealed a technique which produced the old masterpieces in a pleasing and entirely novel medium to her audience.

An instructive interlude to this program was Miss Dilling's talk on the history, the construction and peculiar qualities of her instrument. Speaking in both English and French, she proved herself a keen humorist. Various examples of primitive harps were exhibited, besides the traditional instrument of Ireland, on which she played a native air. The harp dates far back into the pre-Christian era. Two examples, now in the British Museum, were discovered in a tomb of 3,700 B.C.; they are of solid gold. The origin of the instrument, according to Miss Dilling, might be credited to some primitive hunter plucking a note on the string of his bow — then adding a second string for varied effect. . . By contrast, Mildred Dilling's $3,300 harp is an immense affair regulated by seven pedals, each with three positions, to produce notes in natural, sharp and flat. Many among the audience examined this remarkable instrument on conclusion of the program.

To depict the skill and dexterity of this artist is not within the limitations of our report. The harp, described by Miss Dilling as the "grandmother of the piano", is comparable in its effects to that more familiar instrument. However, while producing the same staccato and distinct notes of the piano treble, the base strings of the harp afford a certain subdued resonance unobtainable in its more sophisticated offspring — thus lending themselves more aptly to certain moods of expression.

The recital was varied and enjoyable throughout. Most of Miss Dilling's classics were familiar numbers. An interesting addition to these selections was a "Danse Orientale", composed by a colleague and contemporary, upon impressions of San Francisco's Chinatown. The harpist played several popular melodies and well-loved ballads as encores.

Membership Campaign

President Linton W. Armstrong addressed the audience on the coming campaign for Community Concerts membership, soliciting the co-operation of a ready response when the canvassers enrol members for the 1952-53 season. Raymond Beaulieu, secretary of the Association, expressed similar sentiments in the French language.

St. Andrews to Vote on Civic Building

Council Seeks Taxpayers' Opinion on Borrowing For New Public Hall and Service Structure

The Council of the Municipality of the Parish of St. Andrews, faced with a matter which also looms large in the future needs of Lachute, have to decide upon providing a suitable town hall and civic quarters — this problem being particularly acute in St. Andrews through the loss of its town hall by fire, and also through its acquisition of new fire equipment in the immediate future.

The situation, and the costs involved, are outlined in a circular addressed to all municipal ratepayers, requesting their opinion on projected plans and their views on a loan issue to meet the outlay. The circular reads in part as follows:

Whereas public opinion in this municipality is discussing the idea to . . provide . . a municipal hall, garage or fire station, for the needs of the corporation.

And . . petitions have been laid before Council asking for the construction, on the site of the old Town Hall, of a new Town Hall, municipal hall, garage, or fire station, measuring 30' x 90' and 25' x 30', involving the corporation in a disbursement of at least $35,000;

The said Council at its last special session, April 18, 1952, has passed a resolution to hold a referendum, to learn the opinion of the majority of electors, property-owners, on this . . construction, and of the disbursement, putting before the people the following facts:

The Municipal Council does not possess any plan and specifications whatsoever for which an expense or disbursement of $35,000 has been fixed. No grant or subsidy from the Provincial Government has been promised or given to the municipal corporation.

Consequently, notice is hereby given that a public meeting of the electors, property-owners, residing or not in the municipality, will be held at the office of the corporation on Tuesday, May 6, 1952, where a poll will be held between 9 a.m. and 8 p.m., by open ballot, to receive the opinion of each elector, who will . . answer the following questions, by a "Yes" or "No":

"Are you in favor of spending $35,000 for the construction on the site of the old Town Hall, of a new Town Hall, 30' x 90', with a contiguous building of 25' x 30', 2 storey, for the tenement of the policeman, office of the secretary-treasurer, municipal hall, garage or fire station, without plan or specifications and without grant or subsidy from the Provincial Government, and to have to borrow the sum of $35,000 to pay the costs of these constructions?"

The vote will be by open ballot and the decision will be by the majority in number and in value of taxable properties based on the valuation roll in force for the electors voting.

CANCER SOCIETY – WORK OF LOCAL 'SECTIONS'

April is cancer month. It is the month set aside for the Canadian Cancer Society to replenish its treasury and strike its budget for the coming year. It might be well if we consider for a moment — what is the Canadian Cancer Society? What is its budget for?

The Canadian Cancer Society is a charter body of men and women working together for three primary purposes:

1. To inform the people of Canada how to recognize and fight cancer, by its Educational Division.
2. To organize and aid medical research in finding a cure or reducing the incidence of cancer, by its Research Division.
3. To bring some measure of comfort and assistance to those having cancer, by its Welfare Division.

Its educational activities include the distribution of pamphlets and bulletins. Films are shown in several languages demonstrating the causes and signs of cancer, and newspaper articles, literature and radio scripts are prepared to inform the Canadian people, so that their knowledge will place a power at their disposal to fight cancer.

Its research activities take the form of funds allocated to the National Cancer Institute of Canada to be disbursed by them as Grants-in-Aid and Fellowships to our medical schools and laboratories.

Its welfare division supplies dressings to cancer patients, nursing care, transportation to and from clinics and the provision of special drugs.

Within the past year two sections of the Cancer Society have been organized in Argenteuil County — one in Brownsburg and one in Lachute. These sections are staffed by voluntary workers under the general direction and control of the National Society and take care of all matters relating to the Society's activities in their particular areas.

The purpose of these organizations is two-fold but their activities are manifold. They exhibit films showing the latest methods of detecting cancer in its early stages, depict the experiences of cancer victims whose early detection led to eradication of the disease. They also supply literature and articles of information on cancer and generally seek to inform and educate the people most concerned on all aspects of this dread disease.

Their second purpose is to supply dressings to cancer patients, assist

Lachute Group Holding Membership Drive

The committee for the Canadian Cancer Society recently organized in Lachute have not, as yet, made sufficient headway to conduct a door-to-door canvass, but are anxious to start a Membership Campaign.

A donation of $1 (or more) is sufficient to become a member of this worthwhile organization.

Although very little publicity has been given to the Cancer Society here until recently, this organization has been helping various residents of this community in supplying dressings, medical attention and educational information.

Readers are urged to give their wholehearted support, and anyone wishing to make a donation should forward remittance to Mr. W. M. Steeves, treasurer, % Bank of Nova Scotia, Lachute.

Winner of L'Argenteuil Subscription Contest

Miss Réjeanne Vivarais, Lachute Mills, winner of the Chamber of Commerce contest for subscription canvassers in connection with the new French weekly, "L'Argenteuil". At a Chamber of Commerce social gathering this evening, Miss Vivarais will be awarded the $100 cash prize.

Other prize-winners in this contest are — Miss Léonie Ladouceur, St. Andrews, who receives $50; Miss Jeannine Ouimet, Lachute, $25; Miss Ghislaine Racine, Brownsburg, $15; Mrs. Camille Brisson, Lachute Mills, $10.

Scouts' Canvass Saturday For Paper Salvage

Lachute residents are reminded of the waste paper collection this Saturday, April 26, by the local Boy Scout Troop. Householders and business proprietors can contribute to the success of this canvass by having papers and cartons bundled, in readiness at their premises when the truck crews make their calls.

Ste. Scholastique to Form Chamber of Commerce

Special to The Watchman and L'Argenteuil

Next Thursday evening, May 1, at Ste. Scholastique, citizens and business men of that town will meet at 8.30 p.m. to organize a Chamber of Commerce. Mr. L. Bergeron, liaison officer of the Quebec Provincial Chambers of Commerce, will be the guest speaker.

LEGION FAVORS USE OF AUDITORIUM BASEMENT FOR CIVIC QUARTERS

Providing Memorial Aspect Preserved in Adjoining Park

Lachute Branch of the Canadian Legion held its regular monthly meeting last Wednesday, April 16, in the Memorial Hall. Comrade Lucien Hamel, president of the branch, was in the chair, taking over from Comrade Erle McMartin, who was obliged to relinquish the presidency for reasons of health. Doug Ogilvie took over as 1st vice-president, and Jas. Clarke was elected and duly installed as 2nd vice-president, Comrade Charles L. Duncan officiating for the ceremony.

Mayor Jas. W. McGibbon was guest of honor at this meeting, and after addressing the members, requested their opinion on the idea of the Town using the basement of the civic auditorium as a town hall. He explained that in the near future it would be necessary for Lachute to either build a new town hall, or to utilize the auditorium basement, which presently is used only occasionally and under the present circumstances is more of a liability than an asset to the town.

After considerable discussion, the Legion formally voted their opinion in favor of the Town using the Auditorium basement as a town hall, providing that the Memorial Park remain as it is, and that it be respected as a memorial to servicemen of the two World Wars.

JOINT DISCUSSION BY COUNCIL, TAXPAYERS, ON WATER PROJECTS

A special meeting of Lachute Town Council was held last Thursday evening, to which all ratepayers were invited, for the purpose of discussing the town waterworks system, and to hear all necessary information from the engineer, so that a suitable by-law may later be prepared for public referendum.

Mayor Jas. W. McGibbon presided, with the following aldermen present — S. Holt, D. G. McRae, E. Provost, Dr. J. Lafleur, O. Laurin and L. Gibeault.

The Mayor welcomed those present — among whom were representatives of the Lachute Chamber of Commerce. He stated that the Council was facing this very important and pressing problem with an open mind. There were, he stated, three alternatives as a source of water supply — firstly, at the present intake; secondly, at Pollock Falls; thirdly, at Lake Sir John.

Whether or not a filtration plant is essential, was the first question dealt with, and after due discussion it was generally agreed that this was necessary if the town is to be assured of "good, clear, pure water". The cost of such a plant would be approximately $175,000, regardless of its location.

As regards the water intake — in the first case, at the existing

Waste Not – Want Not

When you see a man throw his money around foolishly or punish himself to the point that he injures his health, what is your reaction? He is wasting his health and wealth.

Manufacturers have research departments constantly trying to utilize even the waste products from their factories. It is said that packing companies use every part of the pig but the squeal.

They are trying to be economical and get the most out of their raw material. That is common sense.

Why shouldn't we do the same with electricity. Use what you need in the household for labour saving appliances, but do not waste electricity by doing a job of heating which can be done just as well by either a coal or oil fired furnace and at a lower cost.

The electricity required to heat an ordinary house is sufficient to run a small factory employing a large number of people. If it is used for heating, it is not available for industry.

DID YOU KNOW?
That the electricity to heat one house would do the same amount of work as an army of men.

Table Stock and Seed Potatoes

About this time of year farmers and others advertise potatoes for sale for seeding. Unwittingly some may be breaking the law by offering table stock as seed.

This is contrary to a Regulation under the Destructive Insect and Pest Act which reads: "The production, advertising and sale of potatoes and potato eyes as seed is prohibited except in accordance with the provisions and restrictions set forth". In effect this means that only certified seed with official tags attached, can be legally sold as seed.

Officials of the Canada Department of Agriculture Division of Plant Protection point out that this regulation was established not only to assure good seed to potato growers, but as a protection for the certified seed potato industry. It tends to prevent the spread of serious diseases such as bacterial ring rot to areas where it is not now known to exist.

Travel, the Great Educator. 'Currency Prestige' New Experience on U.S. Tour

"EXILE FROM SUNNYACRES"
— By Margaret Cook —

April, the month of daffodils and income tax! Take your choice. Some people take both, and they, of course, are the best citizens. There is, for instance, the bridge-toll collector, who replied to the mild grousing of the man-of-the-house that he would rather pay our taxes and live in a free country than be pushed around as people are in "them foreign countries". He had a large, red Irish face and his blue eyes seemed to regard the world with a faint astonishment, but his thinking was straight and we felt a warm glow of pride and thankfulness. Maybe there is something to Democracy other than the name.

There is also something to be reckoned with in the word Culture. It seems to conjure up a vague idea of music, painting and high-brow literature in the minds of most people; but being forced to define culture because of a question from Betty, I said it was the accumulated ideas of morals and habits of a nation; and incidentally, Webster does not think that too far from the truth. The discussion arose on a recent trip to New York — Betty's first one, and therefore the occasion for innumerable queries. Even a ten-year-old senses the difference in the culture of the two nations. There is the over-emphasis in the Republic on Youth, with the paradox of the "forcing" of the young, to use a horticulturist's word. One must stay young but at the same time have a precocious idea of the world before the age of twelve. For example, the grateful owner of a children's shop rewarded his young customer with a "comic", featuring romantic interludes in the life of pre-adolescents. To our relief, this merely bored our offspring. He also asked her about the baseball series, to which she had no answer, having never heard of them. There was also the matter of skirt lengths — our ten-year-olds wear them above the knee; in mid-state New York, they are worn below the knee, and it is not modesty but a desire to appear grown-up. Evidently the first fifteen years are spent in a frantic effort to grow up quickly, and the next sixty-five in an equally frantic effort to remain fifteen!

One thing emerged clearly on this trip — and that is that money talks. We have always found the American people kind and open-hearted, but this time, with Canadian money above par, there was respect added. We have always provided ourselves with the currency of the country in which we were travelling, thinking that is the sensible as well as the courteous thing to do; but something in our voice or manner always gives us away, and we find ourselves in fascinating conversations with all kinds of citizens. The owner of a small leather shop on Broadway informed us, with awe, that our money was that day at 10% premium, and, surprisingly, he gave the credit to our government. "Things are better run, not so much corruption", he said sadly. When I ventured that recent development of mines and oil wells had much to do with it, he would have none of it, but insisted our money was good because WE were, so to speak. "A Britisher and a Canadian, you can trust them", he summed up. It is a simple and intriguing theory and I hope we can live up to it. Incidentally, the 10% must have been a figment of a gallant imagination; 3% was the highest we saw in the papers.

New York was, as usual, busy, preoccupied, and dirty. To the ten-year-old, it was amazing. For the benefit of our younger readers (we know we have one, in Oshawa) we shall mention the trip to the Zoo. We saw peacocks, goats, bears, penguins, snakes, cockroaches, elephants, rhinoceroses, hippopotami, monkeys, apes, orang-outangs, lions, tigers, panthers, sea-lions, otters, raccoons, giraffes, buffaloes and bisons, in that order. Betty liked best the penguins, lions and bears, although a huge boa constrictor took her fancy also. I preferred the penguins, although the polar bear, sprawled on his back sunning his stomach, was quite a sight. Most of all, we remember the smell in the lion house. Several women had to leave their offspring to breathe the mingled odors while they sought a little oxygen; the writer was one. The other two members of the party did not seem to have any favorites — unless it was the man who collected the car pass on the way out.

An Interlude.— The handmaiden who kept house while we were away has just 'phoned to explain where are the missing bread and carving knives. They are behind the molding and a large mixing bowl in the kitchen. Reason: she was afraid someone would come through the locked doors and murder her! Asked why she feared such an improbable thing, she said it was because of the awful things one reads in newspapers. We have felt like committing a murder ourselves after reading some papers, but never have we imagined ourselves the prey of a demented wanderer. . Evidently this explains why, after a short shopping interval, I return to find the house barricaded like a citadel. Readers of Margery Sharpe will recall the housekeeper in whose mind the Education Act loomed like a large, black animal always crouching in front of the mild pleasures otherwise open to her twelve-year-old daughter. WE thought at the time that Miss Sharpe was exaggerating the fears of that type of mind, but maybe she knew whereof she wrote.

American food prices, always a fascinating subject to housewives, were, on the whole, much on our level, with such things as shortening, coffee and condiments much lower. We got a three-pound bag of coffee for $2.83 and a three-pound tin of shortening for 85 cents, while salad dressing, etc., were about 2/3 their value here.

So finally, we saw the Canadian Ensign rather than the Stars and Stripes. (Why don't we just legalize the ensign we are all so accustomed to, instead of worrying about the design of a new flag?) and again went through the Immigration. We complimented them on their manners, which are much better than those of their American colleagues. Instead of the brusque tone and abrupt questions common as one passes to the U.S.A., our visitors meet low-voiced and courteous officials, who nevertheless get the required information. Again, a different culture.

So, we are home — and housecleaning looms up — and difficulty in fractions for the daughter — with much driving for the man-of-the-house; but as we go our separate ways we have much to think about, and life has perhaps whittled out a curve where before was an angle. We have always thought travel the great educator. . . It is one of our pet theories that, had Hitler been a married man and a traveller, the world would have been saved much misery

Premier Duplessis Tells Aims of Commission for Marketing Legislation

And Operations of Farm Credit Bureau

By Bernard Dufresne

Quebec (CP) — A three-man commission created at the last session of the Quebec Legislature to look into the distribution and sale of farm products has been appointed and will set to work immediately.

The commission is made up of Magistrate Georges Héon, of Montreal, chairman; Abel Marion, president of the Catholic Farmers' Union, and Antonio Larue, of Neuville, Portneuf county prefect.

Premier Duplessis, announcing formation of the commission, said at a recent press conference: "Many persons complain that the producer — that is, the farmer — does not get a just and adequate price and that on the other hand, the consumer is obliged to pay too high a price for farm products. . . These problems are very complicated and it is necessary to study them and gather all the information necessary to find a solution."

The Premier said the government will apply the commission's recommendations "if they are found to be in the interest of the province."

At the same time, Mr. Duplessis announced new appointments in the farm credit office. Eloi St. Germain, a member of the office, becomes vice-president, a new post. Rodolphe Laplante, named a member of the office, will continue as secretary.

The premier said the farm credit office's work has been increasing steadily. Almost $86,000,000 has been loaned to farmers in the province by the office since 1936, the premier said.

A Dangerous Fly Spray

That the manufacture and sale of pesticides needs close supervision was shown recently when a conviction under the Pest Control Act was registered in an Ottawa court.

R. C. Mullen, of Hull, Que., was convicted under Section 19(a) of the Act for the false use of a registration number, and also convicted of a violation of the regulations in selling a fly spray with a flash-point of less than 125 degrees F. A fine of $500, with costs, was imposed for the first offence and $10, with costs, for the second offence, or 60 days in jail if the fines are not paid within 60 days.

Officials of the Plant Products Division, Canada Department of Agriculture, point out that the regulation covering the flash-point of an insecticide spray is a most important one. Any preparation with a flash-point of less than 125 degrees is dangerous as a potential cause of fire. Obviously such a spray cannot be approved, or sale permitted, if the users are to be safeguarded.

Planting Rate for Husking Corn

Ottawa — From results of tests conducted by the Division of Forage Plants, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, the most satisfactory yields of grain corn may be expected from planting rates that will give a stand averaging a single plant every 9 to 12 inches in the rows.

Taking into consideration both the yield and quality the best corn came from the 9 and 12 inch spacings. The lighter rates of planting, (15 and 18 inch spacings) reduced the number of ears to such an extent that the yields were much lower than for the higher planting rates.

Watch That Cigarette

THE CRITICAL season in forests and bush will soon be here. Along with other signs of approaching warmer weather, it is timely to take warning against the danger of forest fires. There can never be too many reminders that carelessness costs lives and vast damage every year in Canada's forests.

From May until the end of September, settlers and travellers, woods workers and all who visit the timbered areas on business or pleasure have the duty to guard against starting a fire. The smallest patch of embers left lying with a few red sparks may be whipped by the wind into a roaring conflagration menacing homes and timber stands.

Apart from the loss of valuable timber, and the property loss in destroyed cabins and settlements, forest fires every year pile up a toll that can only be guessed at in its effects on the future of large areas. Fires damage the soil itself and the quality of countless woodland sites. They affect the regulation of stream flow and may have great consequences upon all wildlife. From the point of view of tourist resources alone, fires cause losses that can only vaguely be estimated against the potential income of future years.

Strict precautions went into effect this month in most provinces in the annual battle against forest fires. In Ontario, for instance, permits are required to work or travel in the bush. Woods operators must prohibit the use of tailor-made cigarettes and matches; the latter are replaced by cigarette lighters.

But the time to think about forest fires is before they start. In every hunting, fishing or just plain vacationing party there should be at least one person who will make sure that the camp fire is extinguished before leaving it. In every motoring party there should be at least one person who makes sure nobody is fool enough to toss a lighted match or cigarette out of the car window.

The smoker is the leading cause of forest blazes. The cigarette stub or match carelessly tossed aside can start a conflagration. Don't be the one to commit this fault yourself; and make sure your friends don't do it.

Short Life -- Short Story

THE FLAG at school fluttered dismally at half mast. At recess, the teachers quietly removed one of the desks and took it away to the basement. Pretty Mary Lou would never come back to school, and her playmates knew it.

The previous afternoon when school was out, she started across the street towards her home, where she knew her parents would be waiting. A screeching of brakes — a swerve of tires on pavement — and Mary Lou lay on the mud at the side of the road, moaning faintly.

Tender arms picked her up. A distracted father drove madly to hospital. And at 10 that night Mary Lou died, the season's first school-child sacrifice to the God of Traffic.

We have often heard that statistics are lifeless facts, and they have no breath — no pulse, but when we hear of a youngster's death by this ever-growing problem of automobile fatalities, we are forced to face these facts and ask — who's to blame?

This is not just a fiction story — this actually happened. All motorists are urged to drive more carefully in school zones and areas where children are at play. They may be your own!

Celebrate on Monday

PARLIAMENT should back the present bill to have the May 24 and July 1 holidays celebrated on the nearest Monday, states The Financial Post. Apart from enabling millions of Canadians to enjoy a long week-end, the bill would save untold thousands of dollars for business and industry. It's not a loss of one day's production only that is involved. There is further loss in the delay of getting going after a mid-week break.

Clean Up!

IT IS timely to urge the annual clean-up around town properties. Since the snow lost its unblemished whiteness, and thawed into cinder-and-soot-scarred spots upon the landscape, eyes have grown sore with the debris of winter. Lawns and vacant lots are ready to burst forth in the fresh verdure of spring, and it seems up to us — and no one else — to clear the way for Nature's perennial spectacle.

Spring is in the air — our remarks, though perhaps a trifle highfalutin, mean one thing: The ads are full of paints and brooms and rakes and garden seeds; it's time to get going! . . .

It's not safe to stay indoors, anyway; the wife's housecleaning!

Promising Discoveries

TWO MEDICAL discoveries that may presage elimination of one of the scourges of mankind have been announced in the United States.

First, 20 human volunteers have consumed polio virus and thereby were made immune to the disease. The virus had been weakened beforehand, but it still could prompt the human body to make antibodies or natural disease-fighters against it.

Second, it has been learned that the polio virus apparently gets into the blood first, before it enters nerves and destroys them to cause paralysis. And while the virus still is in the blood, it can be killed by giving antibodies by injection. The antibodies will come from human blood. Many people have had polio without even knowing it, because they made their own antibodies to destroy the virus.

What do these discoveries mean? They may mean control of polio, in the long run — or they may be merely two more steps in medicine's gradual collection of information that will lead at some later time to a means of control.

The consensus is that the discoveries brighten the hopes for a real vaccine against infantile paralysis. Protection developed from vaccination with real polio virus — treated so it can't cause sickness but still is able to make antibodies — would last a lifetime.

So far it is not possible for Canadians to go to their family doctors and ask for vaccination against polio. But the outlook now is brighter that in this generation medical research workers will have the means almost to wipe out the killer polio as they have previously eliminated smallpox and other grave scourges of past ages.

In 2,000 A.D. historians may list this month's polio discoveries as among the great medical events of the current century. And there are indications, too, that measurable progress is being made against two other killer diseases — tuberculosis and cancer. Neither is beaten yet — any more than polio is beaten yet — but there is ground for optimism that medical science is on the threshold of startling advances.

EVER SINCE the end of the war when the cost of living began to soar rapidly (says the Dauphin, Man., Herald), officials repeatedly urged Canadians to reduce their spending and said again and again it was the only way to fight inflation and prevent further rises in prices. They even put some-anti-inflationary policies in force to see that they did spend less. But these same Canadians are disturbed by the fact the government has not played the game by the same rules and shown reductions in the civilian expenditure to offset the cost of defence. Rather it has proceeded on the assumption that we can defend ourselves and at the same time continually expand civilian spending without becoming overburdened taxpayers."

Have You A Question ON UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE OR EMPLOYMENT?

In this column we publish questions about unemployment insurance and employment, together with answers received from the Unemployment Insurance Commission.

If you are uncertain about any point do not hesitate to send your question to your district Unemployment Insurance office. We will obtain an answer and publish it in this column.

Following are some questions with answers which may be of interest to you: —

Q. I have a 10-year-old daughter in boarding school. I am a widower and she is my only child. Can I draw benefit at the rate of a person with a dependent?

A. Yes. So long as you are wholly or mainly maintaining the child.

Q. I am a municipal employee and, since I started paying into the city's superannuation fund, I have not paid unemployment insurance contributions. I would like to continue but have been told I cannot. Why is this, when there are employees, in the electrical and parks departments, also paying superannuation, who continue to be insured?

A. Under the Unemployment Insurance Act, municipal employees certified as permanent by the municipal authority are excepted. Employees of all public utilities, whether or not municipally-owned, are insurable regardless of the permanency of their employment. This is the reason for the employees in the electrical department of your city being insured. It will be realized that if employees of municipally-owned utilities were excepted while those of privately-owned utilities were not, employees of one would be more favored than those of the other, although both are doing the same type of work under substantially the same conditions.

Q. What does the Commission do with the fund? Is it used for running the offices? Is it invested and used entirely for paying benefits?

A. No expenses in running the Commission's business are paid from the unemployment insurance fund, which is invested and used solely for the payment of benefit.

Q. I have paid contributions ever since 1941 up until three years ago. For the past three years I was over the ceiling and did not pay. Now I have lost my job. Can I draw benefits?

A. No. You have not been insured for three years. If you had not been insured for any period in the two years before becoming unemployed, however, an extension of the qualifying period would be granted.

SERVES PUBLIC INTEREST

It seems that too many people fail to realize or understand why press representatives attend meetings. There is a tendency on the part of some to hamstring the press by prefacing their remarks with "This is not for the press". There is a danger of forgetting that the press is serving the public interest.

VALUABLE ASSET

On two recent occasions the value to this community of having its own band has been well demonstrated. There will be other times through the year when this organization (Humboldt Lions Club Band) will be called on for services which only a band can supply and we will come to appreciate it more fully as time goes by.

EASTER

St. Sauveur des Monts

The chimes rang out on Easter morn
From a little church I know,
It's nestled neath a snow-clad hill
Beside a big ski tow.

It's built of logs,
Its copper spire
Points to the sky so blue,
Its name — "St. Francis of the Birds",
It calls to me and to you.

The church was packed on Easter,
They were sitting on the floor,
They were standing in the doorway,
And outside were many more.

And there, they wear their ski clothes
To worship and to sing,
The old and young together,
In Hallelujahs to their King.

The Fireman's Romance

She was a Siren and a Belle In Eighteen-Ninety-Five —
He was a Daring Fireman
From Station Twenty-Five.

She spurned his love when they were young,
But he, with great devotion
Declared he'd claim her for his bride
When he'd received promotion.

"The Helmet you", the Siren cried.
"You're just a False Alarm.
The man I marry must have wealth,
Position, grace, and charm."

"You have Extinguished all my hope!"
He told her to her face.
"I've no position, wealth or charm,
But I can marry Grace."

And so he did. The years passed by
And there could be no doubt
The Siren, who was his old Flame,
Was very much Put Out.

We met her just the other day,
And what do you suppose?
She'd a Hatchet Face and Lantern Jaws
And Ladders in her Hose!

in procuring nursing aid, and transport to and from clinics and supply drugs specially recommended for the patient. This medical service is, of course, supplied through the medical profession and on its recommendation. The doctor procures the dressings or other articles from the section for his patients, using or directing their use at his discretion.

There is no charge made for those dressings, which are prepared to special designs by the members of the local cancer section under the direction of the National Cancer Society. Before the establishment of the Brownsburg and Lachute sections cancer patients in this district had to purchase those dressings from the Montreal units. The cost was in some instances very heavy. One family reporting on the cost of obtaining dressings for the father during his illness had an outlay of $400 — an amount they could ill afford.

When you consider that at the present rate one out of every eight of us will die with cancer, it's time we sat up and took notice. It's no use saying it can't happen here — it is here. That it can be cured if detected in its early stages has been proven, therefore it's our responsibility to ourselves and to our children to provide the know-how to prevent and cure it. There is no better way of doing just that than by enlisting in the membership campaign and contributing for that purpose. We may not be in the front line ourselves, but it is up to us to provide ammunition for those who are. This is the only way we can win the fight and if we are determined we can win it. Have your subscription ready when the canvasser calls or send direct to Miss Ann David, secretary at Brownsburg, or Mrs. H. Rigg, Lachute.

Persistent Poet to Eccentric Editor

By J. M. Brown

A two-verse poem? Yes, but this
Is most eccentric, is it not?
I fancy therefore that he is Himself eccentric who has got
To sit in judgment on this lot
Of varied poems. . . Oh well, mine's,
Although eccentric, fairly hot —
A poem of but twenty lines!

Two wheels, pray mark my emphasis,
We to a bicycle allot;
A two-wheeled bicycle, I wot,
Might suit a verbal hottentot.
But though it matters not a lot,
Your poet sickens and repines
When faced with this eccentric plot,
A poem of but twenty lines!

Great Judge, I hear you murmur "Rot!"
A judge may rule as he inclines,
But here I put you on the spot —
A poem of but twenty lines!

ED. NOTE: To two earlier effusions by this contributor we offered an amiable but firm rejection, suggesting that they might be improved with both simplicity and brevity. Above is the outcome of these recommendations.

At a general meeting of the Brownsburg Section of the Canadian Cancer Society held at the Social Club, the president, Mr. Les Thompson, reviewed the activities of the section since its inception last fall and read the report submitted to the parent body, the Canadian Cancer Society. In accordance with instructions contained in the Charter of the Society the annual election of officers for the coming year was held. Mr. Thompson was again elected president, with Miss Ann David elected secretary. The chairmen of the various divisions are as follows: Mr. King Amos, Education (Mr. G. Proulx, French); Mr. O. Blouin, treasurer; Mrs. Istvanffy, welfare; Mr. M. V. Trayers and Mr. F. Guitard, publicity; vice-presidents, Mr. Adrien Lacasse and Mrs. Harold Barber. Arrangements were made for the campaign now in progress all over Canada to collect funds to finance the operations of the Society. Medical doctors are ex officio members of the local section. The meeting concluded with the showing of two interesting films on the work of detecting cancer in its early stages.

French Citizen Here No 'Mystery Man'; Keen Observer of Old World Problems

Recurrent Cabinet Crises Seen Essential to Operation of Democracy — Visitor Ardently Affirms Determination of France to Solve her Difficulties

François Guillaume Seguin, a native French-Canadian, is visiting in Lachute after 30 years spent in Europe. He is a man of many experiences. Born in Saint Henri, he was educated in Montreal, then was sent for two or three years to complete his studies in California. On his return, his parents had the idea of sending their son to France and Italy for a few weeks. That was in 1924 — a trip from which he never returned until last fall, when he came to Lachute to visit his ailing father. Now in the real estate business, Mr. Seguin expects to return shortly to Cannes, and offers his services to any having business with establishments in France or who anticapte visiting or settling in that country.

Mr. Seguin has kindly penned the following impressions for Watchman readers:

While visiting "The Lachute Watchman", I was asked to give some impressions on my travels, to which I readily consented, as this gives me an opportunity to enlighten some people who have regarded me as somewhat of a "mystery man" since my sojourn in Lachute.

My name is François Guillaume Seguin, and I am here to visit my aged father after travelling extensively in Europe and Asia for 30 years.

For a number of years I was honorary consul in Southern France for Sweden during the reign of H.M. King Gustav V of Sweden. During the years of the Second World War, I served in England as a volunteer in the Anglo-French Ambulance Corps. I have done some writing which has been published (although you may hardly believe so, after reading what follows).

When I landed here in Canada in the late autumn I was breathless on seeing the great changes that Canada had undergone. It is now a great country, and its people are most friendly and hospitable. Montreal — a city now densely populated, highly sophisticated, with lovely homes, and with chic women — is nearer in spirit to the cosmopolitan cities of Europe. To one accustomed to semi-tropical climate, and unheated, draughty winter interiors, central heating is an abomination. It produces a splitting head and congested membranes. I have enjoyed very much the good old winter, reminiscent of my youth, but I did not like the idea of getting back to wearing long woollen underpants!

What is most interesting to me is the history of this land — that two races laid the foundation of Canada and reconciled themselves to one ideal. The saga of Canada's economic progress, with the energy and resourcefulness of the Canadian people and the wealth of their land, appears enormous. I have no doubt that Canada will, in the near future, become one of the great industrial countries of the world, having the raw material and industrial capacity justifying its evaluation as one of the major arsenals of freedom. Under Canada's soil, it is evident, lie some of the richest deposits of iron ore, petroleum, uranium, nickel and many of the other vital minerals. These have been developed in recent years by Canadian industry, aided in large measure with U.S. capital, which is no doubt the reason for the strength of the Canadian currency. Geography has linked us with the U.S. History shows a record of friendship, harmony and understanding. To preserve freedom of economy we must be inter-dependent partners in the huge effort to provide sinews for defence, together with common progress and hope for the future. . .

Now the spring comes — and I have witnessed again those "sugaring" fiestas which were the joy of my youth.

Regarding my impressions of France — I have noted here that people are prone, whenever there is a French cabinet crisis, to regard it as evidence of an unaccountable French taste for interference with the work of the world. Some have said that the French governments are changed as often as they change shirts here. I would only surmise that shirts are not often changed here, for it is well known that governments in France have held office for a number of years at a time. It should be remembered that for every country's idiosyncracies there are good and sufficient reasons, which may however be difficult to explain. The ministerial crisis is in fact an essential piece of mechanism in the operation of democracy in France. In an old country such as France, it is impossible to hope to achieve the simplicity of action found in the Anglo-Saxon two-party system of government. There are, in France, too many points of view inherited from history, ancient and recent, and derived from fundamental differences of opinion over religion, over the economic system, and even over its regime. France faces the question now whether to try to defend her position in both Europe and Asia, or to cut losses in Asia and concentrate on Europe. This same dilemma faces the western world in Korea, where it is very difficult to "pull out". It faces France in Indo-China, where a costly and apparently hopeless stalemate causes many in influential circles to suggest that holding Indo-China is not worth the price in men and money. If the French would abandon Indo-China, their budget problem would be easy to solve. Therefore, in staying there, they are making a very large sacrifice in the interest of western defence, and mostly at their own expense. France spends over one milliard and a half francs per day in Indo-China against Communism, and the loss of such territory would constitute a catastrophe to the free nations of the world. I find it a benevolent trust that France is fulfilling in Indo-China, at an enormous sacrifice in manpower and money. Each year thousands of soldiers, the elite of its young officers, fall on the battlefield, in a most inhospitable climate. Those who are tempted to pass such severe judgment on France, might well evaluate this sacrifice and everlasting bloodshed.

It is also well to recall that France lost one and a half million of her sons in the First World War, and over 800,000 in the last, in the interest of the common cause of the free nations. In this perspective, the present reconstruction of France appears more admirable. The nation, nevertheless, shows impressive gains in its industries, output, and reconstruction of national facilities devastated by the war.

The economic and political difficulties of France result from both internal and external causes. Her weaknesses appear dramatically magnified since her ordeal coincides with the present tension gripping the whole western world. However, having been a close observer for many years, I assure you that the inexhaustible vitality of France goes on with the march of time. The oars are pulled steadily, faithfully, even though the shore is nowhere in sight, to meet this continuing trial of adjusting her own difficulties.

Let us all hope that she will survive, outwardly and inwardly, and history's record will reveal that the Mother of Western Civilization shines along gloriously with the best.

— François G. Seguin

Late Harry Wood, O.B.E., Prominent in Lumbering And Aviation Circles

Grenville — Widely known in the lumbering industry and in aviation circles, Harry B. Wood, O.B.E., who had been in the employ of Geo. Dansereau & Fils Ltée for the past three years, died suddenly at his home in Grenville, April 12. He was 54 years of age.

Mr. Wood was an R.C.A.F. group captain in World War II, and a member of a pioneer Ottawa family. He graduated from the Royal Military College in 1916 and served in the Royal Artillery in the First World War. Wounded in action, he joined the Royal Flying Corps upon his convalescence with the rank of captain. He was awarded the O.B.E. for his services with the R.C.A.F. in World War II.

Long identified with the lumbering trade, he joined the firm of Geo. Dansereau & Fils Ltée three years ago and moved to Grenville with his family last fall. He was a former president of the wholesale bureau of the Canadian Lumbermen's Association and had surrounded himself with a host of friends in business and aviation circles, who were greatly shocked to learn of his sudden passing.

Mr. Wood was born in Ottawa, the son of Charles Wood, now of Montreal, who survives, and the late Beatrice Batram. He was educated in Ottawa and at R.M.C.

He is mourned by his wife, the former Rauha-Sunila; his father; two sons, John and David; and two brothers, Osborne, of Montreal, and Gordon, a vice-president of Trans-Canada Airlines, also of Montreal.

The funeral service was held April 15 in Ottawa, the Rev. Wilfred Bradley, of Trinity Anglican Church, officiating, and interment took place in Beechwood Cemetery.

The only tire that protects you from all three driving hazards... blowouts, punctures and dangerous skids

A DREAM COME TRUE

Ever since B. F. Goodrich built tires for the first automobile manufactured on this continent, the dream of tire engineers has been a pneumatic tire that would need no inner tube. During World War II, B. F. Goodrich research made such a tire possible. It was used on combat vehicles under the most difficult driving conditions. Later the Tubeless Tire was perfected for use on automobiles. In 1946 tests were made on police cars and taxi fleets. It was a complete success . . . a dream come true . . . the B. F. Goodrich Tubeless Tire that protects against punctures, blowouts and dangerous skids.

PROVEN ON THE ROAD

The B. F. Goodrich Tubeless Tire has been used for over four years in the U.S.A. by thousands of motorists. Their acceptance and exceptional mileage reports are your guarantee that this is the finest tire you can buy.

B. F. Goodrich Tubeless Tires fit your present rims. No special fittings are needed. The scientifically designed rim-seal ridges form an air-tight pressure lock against the rim. It can't come off . . . doesn't lose air.

See this revolutionary tire now at your neighbourhood B. F. Goodrich dealer.

PROTECTS AGAINST PUNCTURES

A layer of sealant rubber, under the tread, sticks to any puncturing object preventing loss of air. When the object is removed, the puncture seals itself instantly and permanently.

PROTECTS AGAINST BLOWOUTS

Most blowouts start when a tire is bruised. The damaged casing pinches and chafes the inner tube until it blows.

The B.F.G. Tubeless Tire has no inner tube to blow out. Damage to the tire can only cause pinhole leaks that lose air so slowly you have miles in which to make a safe, easy stop.

PROTECTS AGAINST DANGEROUS SKIDS

The Tubeless Tire has an amazing new tread with thousands of flexible rubber "grip-blocks". These tiny blocks grip like a tank tread, giving greater traction than conventional tires . . . up to 40% more on wet roads . . . up to 100% more on ice. The flexibility of this new tread increases tire mileage 10 to 15%.

Happiness in the Home

— By NANCY CLEAVER — (Copyright)

"Are there Happinesses in his home! . . Why you little wretch, it is crammed with Happinesses in every nook and cranny! We laugh, we sing, we create enough joy to knock down the walls and lift the roof; but do what we may, you see nothing and hear nothing."

This is what the chief fairy of the Troupe of Happinesses exclaims to Tyltyl and Mytyl, the woodcutter's children in "The Blue Bird" by Maurice Maeterlinck.

This lovely symbolic drama is in every public library. If there are school age children in the family, it is an excellent book to borrow and read aloud. It is fun to give the different members of the family the different parts. The dialogue is so much more interesting with the contrast of voices. In many homes there is a "Family Fun Night" once a week or once every other week. Instead of going out to a movie, or playing games, reading aloud is another activity which is enjoyed by quite a number of families.

The speeches in "The Blue Bird" are short, there is plenty of action, and without overstressing the theme of the book, it teaches a lesson. Maeterlinck wanted his readers to realize that happiness lies in the search and not in the possession. Although people frequently seek for happiness in far away places, to their surprise they often discover that it can be found close by. The path of the loving, generous person is lighted by unexpected happiness.

Grown-ups often lose their zest for life and their gratitude for everyday blessings. But the world of wonder and make-believe is not hard for a child to enter and small boys and girls take delight in new experiences. Here are some of the fairies which "The Blue Bird" mentions — the Happinesses of Being Well, of Pure Air, of Loving One's Parents, of the Blue Sky, of the Forest, of Sunny Hours, of the Spring, of the Sunsets, of Seeing the Stars Rise, of the Rain, of Winter Fire, of Innocent Thoughts, of Running Barefoot in the Dew.

In these days of the high cost of living, it is difficult for parents to remember that there are many things which give a child joy which are not purchased in a store or paid for by an admission ticket. If mothers and fathers will take time to enjoy simple pleasures such as the bright sunshine, and the beauty of the changing seasons, they add much to family life. "One of the nicest things which happens is when Daddy takes me for a walk in the woods", a small girl told her chum.

Happy times together increase the parent's understanding of the child and his problems. In the process of growing up there are bound to be times when a boy or girl is torn by his loyalty to his parents and to his chums.

Mother may consider Junior, an eleven year old school boy, must be indoors and ready to begin his homework at seven o'clock. The other boys in the gang don't have to come home till eight or later. Junior will be more co-operative if Mother is willing to listen to his side of the story.

Sometimes a small compromise will satisfy Junior. At eleven he is old enough to see that his hour of settling down to homework must be early enough so that he can complete his school assignments and still get to bed at a definite time. Getting sufficient sleep is much more important in Mother's eyes, than in Junior's. But homework and bed time should not be a continual source of friction.

Difficult hours and trying days come to every family. No home has fair weather all the time. It is the mother who to a great extent determines the atmosphere in the household. One of the finest things she can do is to cultivate the old-fashioned virtue of cheerfulness.

Moderns laugh at "Pollyanna". — But in a home where boys and girls are growing up they should not suffer from the depression of adults. The world news may be dark, and mother and dad may be having a struggle not to go into debt, but the optimistic parent is much easier to live with than the pessimistic one.

Cheerfulness adds greatly to home happiness. The light-hearted mother gets through her day with much less nervous strain than the serious-minded mother who is overwhelmed by all her duties. Shakespeare knew there was a practical philosophy of happiness when he wrote in "The Winter's Tale":

And merrily hent the stile-a;
A merry heart goes all the day,
Your sad tires in a mile-a".

Radio Stars, Still Juveniles

April showers do not seem to dampen the spirits of these two young Vancouver radio actresses, Shannon Fowler (left) and Olive Sturgess. They shine through all sorts of weather in network programs such as Vancouver Theatre, CBC school broadcasts, serial stories for children, and in CBC Wednesday Night plays. Although they're already radio "veterans", the girls still have three or four years to go before they reach voting age. Shannon's mother, Dorothy Fowler, is a radio actress, too, and sometimes they appear together in CBC programs.

Women's Institute Branch Meetings for Month of April

Brownsburg had an attendance of 50, answering the roll-call with the name of a distinguished woman. Six new members were enrolled. The new officers were installed by Mrs. A. Murdoch. This meeting was on the topic of Citizenship, under the convenership of Mrs. N. E. Smillie. Residents from various European countries were present and spoke of customs in their native lands, also exhibited flags, pictures, carvings, wooden shoes and other items of interest. The "Painting for Pleasure" course ended with a fine display of oil-color exhibits at the W.I. meeting. Miss Campbell, who gave this course, was presented with a purse by the president, Mrs. M. Crosbie. The Home Nursing course concluded April 4; those taking this course had a written examination. Mrs. S. Istvanffy, R.N., and her assistants, Mrs. H. Barber and Mrs. P. Sugden, were each presented with a gift.

Frontier branch had 28 ladies present. A discussion paper prepared by the Publicity convener, Mrs. A. Graham, was read and enjoyed. The county president, Mrs. C. W. P. Baugh, attended the meeting.

Lachute had an attendance of 44. A thank-you letter for a parcel sent overseas was read to the meeting, and another from the Red Cross, for a quilt. The budget for the year was read and accepted. Mrs. C. W. P. Baugh, county president, gave an interesting talk. A demonstration was given by Miss Janet McOuat, graduate of Fanny Farmer School of Cookery, Boston, on "sandwich making".

Morin Heights branch had 20 ladies in attendance; the meeting was held in the school, and similar arrangements have been made for future meetings. A $25 scholarship has been established, to be given to a pupil graduating from Grade X and continuing to Grade XI. Plans were made for a banquet to celebrate the 25th anniversary of the Morin Heights W.I. It was arranged to hold a free evening in the school auditorium, April 22, for a demonstration on Interior Decorating.

Pioneer branch meeting was attended by 14 members, who heard an address by Mr. J. S. Giles, telling impressions of his trips home to England.

Upper Lachute - East End had 17 members present. A food parcel was sent overseas. The branch was visited by Mrs. C. W. P. Baugh, county president. The roll-call was "Your Favorite Recipe using Maple Syrup". Mr. Keith Russell, Agriculture teacher at Lachute High School, gave a talk on Agriculture and School Fair work.

Jerusalem - Bethany had 16 members in attendance. The sum of $10 was voted to the Red Cross, and the roll-call was answered by imitating a bird or animal. A talk was given by Mr. Keith Russell.

Social Evening and Presentation at Grenville Rectory

(Our District Correspondent)

Grenville — Thursday evening last, at the home of the Rev. and Mrs. P. R. Stote, friends gathered for a social evening in honor of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Pratley and Mr. and Mrs. James Oakman, who are leaving here to make their homes in Montreal. The two families have been active workers and taken great interest in St. Matthew's (Anglican) Parish Church. Mr. Pratley was rector's warden and Mrs. Oakman was secretary-treasurer of this church, while Mrs. Pratley and Mrs. Oakman were members of St. Matthew's branch of the W.A.

The Rev. Mr. Stote spoke a few words, saying how greatly these two families would be missed in the parish, and by the friends they had made during their residence here.

The Rev. Stote made a presentation to Mr. and Mrs. Pratley and Mr. and Mrs. Oakman, of a tea set of bone china in floral design, on behalf of all present, as a token of appreciation for their loyalty and service in the administration of the church and the W.A. Mr. Pratley and Mr. Oakman expressed their warm appreciation.

A social evening was enjoyed, after which refreshments were served by the ladies of the W.A.

One of the duties of the old sexton of the church was to pump the organ. The man was deaf, and had the embarrassing habit of abruptly quitting his task before a hymn was ended. One Sunday a new minister was coming, and the young lady at the organ wanted to appear at the best advantage. As soon as the service had started, she wrote a note to the sexton, telling him to read it at once. But the old man didn't hear her correctly, and thought it was for the minister, and to her horror, she saw him go to the minister and hand him the note.

The minister opened it and read: "Keep blowing steadily away until I tell you to stop."

Joint Discussion on Waterworks Projects

site, an additional depth of 15 feet would have to be provided at the present dam, with a 12-foot excavation and 92-foot frontage. A pump to raise the water to the filtration plant would also be required and these requisites, with labor and incidentals, would bring the total cost to $265,000.

In the second case (at Pollock's Farm), there would be a natural flow, but extra piping would be required and, with the filtration plant, the cost would be approximately the same as in the first-mentioned project, namely, $265,000. In both cases some money would have to be spent for expropriation of land.

The third proposal, for an intake at Lake Sir John, would mean the laying of 16,000 feet of pipe from the present intake, which would be rather more costly. But with a very big reserve of water in case of an emergency, and a much purer quality than the present supply, it was suggested that the installation of a filter plant might be left until a later date. Total cost in this case, with filtration, would be $485,000; without filtration, and using chlorine purifier as at present, $310,000.

Paul Laliberté, the town engineer, showed plans of the various proposed sites, and very frankly presented the pros and cons of each. Seraphin Ouimet, the surveyor, was also present and gave the meeting much helpful information.

Mayor McGibbon thanked those present for helping in the discussion, and it was decided that pamphlets outlining the three different plans would be circulated, so that the public could give still further study to this problem.

Can You Live Forever in Happiness on Earth?

Modern medical science has made great strides forward in its effort to extend the life span of man upon this earth. Yet few among the men of renown in the field of medicine would care, or dare, to say that life without end could actually be gained on this earth, and, much less, to promise life in happiness. However impossible this may seem to be, there is such a hope before men today, and that hope is set out in the Holy Bible.

Just how this is made possible for those who set their desires upon this hope and yearn to see such a thing come about is plainly and satisfactorily presented in the publication entitled "Can You Live Forever in Happiness on Earth?" In this absorbing booklet the reader will find a reasonable answer to this important and interesting question. Do you want to have a positive answer to this question for yourself? Every intelligent creature would normally want to say yes, especially if life and the full possession of it in perpetual youth on a beautiful paradise earth without sickness, disease or death to trouble one would be theirs, and happiness without end could be had and enjoyed. Learn how you may enjoy this life and how to take a wise course to get in line to receive the benefits of such an arrangement.

This 32-page booklet "Can You Live Forever in Happiness on Earth?" will be sent to you for a contribution of 5 cents. You may want to have additional copies for your friends and neighbors: these can be had at 8 for 25 cents. Send for these now. — Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society, 40 Irwin Ave., Toronto.

A man who started a new business a few years ago recently wrote to pay tribute to the bank's part in helping to make it a success:

"We were fortunate in having, as our banker, a man who could combine with experience the willingness to find a way that called not for experience alone but for imagination as well."

The chartered banks are forever alert to the fresh problems, the changing needs of their customers. At all times, in all your banking problems, you can depend on your local bank to bring experience and imagination to the task of helping you to "find a way".

Canned Foods for Variety Cooking

The use of canned foods has greatly widened the horizons of modern cooking. What a variety of out-of-season food we can have, and at such reasonable prices, too. The ingenious homemaker knows how easy it is to transform a can of food into something new and exciting.

The home economists of the Consumer Section say that canned corn is ideal for appealing and thrifty dishes. Standard Quality is satisfactory to use in many cases and it is cheaper than either Choice or Fancy. Many people think that the proportion of solids to liquid is smaller in Standard Quality vegetables. This is not true. There is the same amount of drained vegetables in a can of Standard Quality as there is in the same can of Fancy or Choice Quality.

Scalloped corn is an old but still a favorite way to serve canned corn. It can be prepared with a can of cream style or whole kernel corn as the only vegetable or combined with some other vegetable, potatoes for example. Either tomato juice or milk can be used in the sauce. Strips of bacon or cheese add flavor and color as a garnish.

Why not try pork chops stuffed with a savoury corn stuffing? They are most delicious and extend your food pennies as well. To make the stuffing, mix equal quantities of corn and soft bread crumbs, add onion and salt and pepper to taste. Appetizing cornburgers make a quick and easy supper dish. To prepare the patties, mix a can of whole kernel corn with ground beef and some tomato sauce or condensed tomato soup. Season and place under the broiler, then serve on toasted buns.

Another suggestion for using canned corn is this recipe from the home economists for Baked Corn Ring.

Baked Corn Ring

3 Eggs, ½ cup evaporated milk (undiluted), 1 14-ounce can whole kernel corn, ½ cup soft bread crumbs, ½ teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, 2 tablespoons melted butter.

Beat eggs slightly, add evaporated milk, corn, bread crumbs, salt, pepper and melted butter. Stir until well blended. Pour into a buttered ring mould and oven-poach in a moderate oven, 350°F., until done, about 30 minutes. Fill ring with creamed pork, ham, chopped beef or chicken before serving. Yield, six servings. Fluid milk may be used in this recipe, but evaporated milk makes it richer.

Canned fruit should not be overlooked as a way to add variety to meals. Here again precious pennies may be saved by using Standard Quality in many desserts. Use canned peach or apricot halves to make up-side-down cakes and cobblers, or dress up custards and other milk desserts with drained canned berries. The syrup from canned fruit should be saved to use in pudding sauces and gelatine desserts or with fruit juices. For a special treat, serve the family cherry or peach pie. It's a distinguished dessert that is simple to make with canned fruit.

Colorful fruit salads, either plain or moulded, are favorites with everyone. Canned pears can be colored with fruit coloring for an interesting note and the hollows filled with cottage cheese, jelly and other fruits. Salads allow much scope for imagination as practically any combination of canned or fresh fruits can be used.

Good Report on B'burg Red Cross Appeal

Brownsburg — The committee organized to conduct the annual campaign for funds for the Canadian Red Cross Society, met in the Social Club on Tuesday, April 15. The treasurer, Mr. A. G. Talbot, advised that the sum of $958.75 was already assured; and with further returns expected, an amount exceeding last year's total ($1,100) was anticipated. A target of $1,500 was established for Brownsburg and district, which includes the surrounding territory, including Dalesville and Roussillon.

Mr. H. M. Sherwood, who is co-chairman of the committee with Mrs. N. E. Smillie, thanked the committee for another fine achievement.

Quebec Women's Inst. and Association of Consumers

"Can you double your membership in the Canadian Assoociation of Consumers?" This was the question asked by the president of the Quebec Women's Institutes, Mrs. G. E. LeBarron, of North Hatley, at the last meeting of the provincial board.

Many Q.W.I. branches have made the practice of taking out a C.A.C. membership for their convener of Home Economics, thus placing her name on the mailing list, and the material received is discussed at the regular monthly meetings. As the educational program of the C.A.C. is of equal value to the rural as to the urban housewife, it is suggested that each branch raise this number to two, as increased support is necessary if this work is to be continued and intensified.

In the last national C.A.C. bulletin the statement is made, "We are by no means certain that we will be able to afford to do this for long unless we have more financial support from the women of Canada". The Federated Women's Institutes, which is affiliated with the National C.A.C., is asking for this support and all provincial units are co-operating.

The Q.W.I. office reports progress is being made with this objective and all C.A.C. fees, new or renewals, from branches of the Q.W.I. may be sent to the latter office at Macdonald College.

Fresher Than Springtime is Salad

FETCHING as a spring bouquet is a big bowlful of crisp green salad. Dress it with a tantalizing French dressing and you have something truly mouth-watering for an Easter meal or any other.

To add a dash of the unusual to a tossed salad, give yourself a free hand in choosing the greens. Generally the base will be curly, cool lettuce. Contrast it by adding snips of perky-flavored parsley or watercress. Crinkly leaves of spinach are fine salad-food too. And top it all with a liberal portion of cucumbers and tomatoes.

In the dressing department, start with a can of condensed tomato soup, and you start on the right track. It's such a simple matter of addition to make French dressing with the soup. Just shake together one can of the rosy red blend with half a can each of oil and vinegar. Then sprinkle in the seasonings.

Tomato French Dressing

1 tablespoons sugar
1 teaspoons dry mustard
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon paprika
½ teaspoon pepper
1 can (1¼ cups) condensed tomato soup
½ soup can vinegar (⅓ cup plus 2 tablespoons)
½ soup can salad oil (⅓ cup plus 2 tablespoons)
2 tablespoons minced onion

Combine dry ingredients in order given in a 1-quart jar; add remaining ingredients and shake well. Store in refrigerator until needed; shake well before using. Makes about 2⅔ cups dressing.

SOUP SCOOPS

Easter-Style Soup: Garnish a cream soup with croutons cut like Easter eggs for a pretty touch at this season. Nice for a party, the children's lunch—or the first course on Easter day. Cut bread in inch-long oval shapes for these. Spread with melted butter; toast slightly. Decorate some with strips of pimiento, some with chopped green pepper, some with cheese. Place on top of cream of chicken or mushroom soup just before serving.

Spaghetti Dried Beef Dinner: When you want to doll up a can or so of spaghetti, frizzle some dried beef in butter to go with it. Mix it with the hot tomato-sauced spaghetti, and it's a dish that's "delish." Use about ¼ pound of dried beef to 2 cans of spaghetti. Have it for lunch with a salad of sliced oranges and cottage cheese. If it's dinner time have a vegetable dish of succotash (green beans and corn) along with the spaghetti and salad.

Shortcut Cheese Sauce: For spring vegetables like asparagus and green beans, cheese sauce is a luxury touch. Make sauce the quick way—with condensed cream of mushroom or celery soup as the base. Just stir together one can (1¼ cups) of the soup and ½ cup of shredded cheddar cheese, heat over low heat, stirring constantly until blended. Pour over the cooked vegetables. This is enough sauce for about 3 cups of cooked vegetables.

PAINTINGS

In this series of articles I have tried to show the details to look for when you are purchasing a picture, and the qualities needed for a setting. Today I am continuing this topic with an article on Oil Paintings.

Most of the same things that I have said about water-colors pertain to oils. The only difference is that they are two different mediums of expression, but the lines are similar. You can have very dramatic pictures in water-colors or casein. Oil, however, is one of the oldest mediums, since it was used (it is claimed) by the Egyptians, and known to have been used by the Grecians in the days before Alexander the Great. The "Old Masters" used it continually in their finished works, but they did use other mediums too, which we will discuss in a later article. This however seems to be the principal claim for everyone desiring to own an oil painting.

Yet many of the contemporary artists do fine work in water-colors, and this should not be overlooked in your desire to own a picture. Also, as I have shown, the permanancy of the picture is not affected.

Oils can be painted on practically anything, but the commonest surface is canvas, either linen or cotton. Linen as a backing costs more than cotton, and I think that it gives a better surface, but that is a debatable point. Also, not always can artists afford it. Cotton therefore is used probably in a greater proportion than linen. They will both last a long time; with proper care taken of the picture, it will enjoy a longer life than the purchaser, thus it can be handed down from generation to generation, till someone seeing the beauty of it, declares it to be painted by a master, and a museum receives it. The canvas can be either a board type, or placed upon a stretcher frame. This frame consists of four interlocking wooden strips, with canvas front tacked tightly over it. There are eight wooden triangular pegs in the corners to draw it tight, and should the canvas loosen, all you have to do is to tighten the pegs.

Most artists are very fussy about the canvas that they buy, and so imperfections are cut down; occasionally, one will slip. An imperfection of the commonest type is two strands of thread woven too tightly and creating a high ridge along an even surface. There are others too, but that is the commonest, as I have said.

Take your time in buying a picture; look around and be sure that you are satisfied with the picture before you buy it. There, of course, is the other story, of a person who waited too long and someone else purchased it. But scout about and be satisfied with the picture.

Next week I shall discuss care of a picture.

The car stopped suddenly in a dark country lane. "Out of gas", our hero said. The girl friend pulled a flask out of her handbag. "Wow", said he. "What's that? Bourbon?" "No", she retorted, "gasoline".

"Mary, did anybody telephone while I was out?"

"Yes, sir, but I couldn't make out the name. To be on the safe side, I said you would let him have something on account tomorrow."

SO THEY SAY ...

— VICTIM of a nagging wife. But maybe she had reason, with kitchen plumbing outdated and inefficient; bathroom and toilet fixtures discolored, chipped, hard to keep clean. Who wouldn't nag!

RE-ESTABLISH yourself in her good graces! Consult your plumber on modern designs in efficient sanitation, and ask for a check-up of those unseen evils — corroded pipes and inadequate pressures.

Betty-Jean Hagen, Violinist Heard on Local Stage, Named 'Woman of Year'

Successes in Europe Followed Early-Season Appearance at Lachute

(Specially Contributed)

As another Community Concert season draws to a close, it might be interesting to review the career of the young violinst who, as a member of the Columbia Canadian Trio, took part in the first concert of the season here last fall.

Betty-Jean Hagen, who is very tall and slender, with brown eyes and dark brown hair, was born in Edmonton, Alberta, 21 years ago. Her father, who also plays the violin, is Norwegian, and her mother (formerly Ada Lancey) is a Canadian. Betty-Jean's grandfather was born in Montreal. She had only one brother, who was killed overseas while serving with the R.C.A.F. during World War II. The family lived in Edmonton until Betty-Jean was 15, when they moved to Calgary in order for Betty-Jean to have more advanced instruction in the violin. Her parents had always recognized her special musical talent and they started her at piano lessons at the age of three. They often would find her hiding behind the living-room doors during her brother's singing lessons, imitating the teacher and swaying in time to the music. Betty-Jean was a child prodigy, but not the horrible, precocious kind, because her family saw that she had a perfectly normal childhood. She entered the home-town Musical Festival in Edmonton at four and took the Royal Conservatory Grade VI piano examinations at the age of six — a test of merit usually never tackled until twice that age. Not only did she pass, but she stood highest in Canada. Her parents offered her either dancing or violin lessons as a reward. Without hesitation Betty-Jean chose the violin. She liked singing too, and often used to make up operas — both the music and the languages, to sing for her mother.

In 1945 Miss Betty-Jean Hagen came east to Toronto, to the Senior School of the Royal Conservatory, and studied under Gèza de Kresz. Then she began winning more scholarships. In 1950 her big break came, when she won the Naumburg Award. This was won in a long, grueling contest in New York against 130 top concert artists. Even to be accepted as an entrant in this contest is considered an honor. The judges were amazed to learn that she was a Canadian and only 20. Almost a year ago in Paris Miss Hagen won another coveted award, the Pathé-Marconi Prize of 100,000 francs. She was the first Canadian to do so, amid plenty of competition. Entrants came from all over the world and the contest was keen. Betty-Jean found the French audiences very alert and quick to show whether or not they like a performer.

Last fall Miss Hagen joined the Columbia Canadian Trio and toured Eastern Canada and the U.S.A. Soon after her visit here in Lachute she flew to Europe to make eight guest appearances in London (concert and BBC), Paris, Lausanne, the Hague, Amsterdam and Birmingham. Her most important engagement on this trip was in Birmingham, where she played a concerto with the famous orchestra there. Her London manager would like her to keep three months free next season for concerts in Britain, and her success in Holland and Switzerland was such that she will be in demand there when she can spare the time. At present she is touring in the U.S.A., and is expected home in May.

In spite of the fact that Miss Betty-Jean Hagen has behind her more successful concerts than many a musician twice her age, success has not "gone to her head". She is a poised, friendly, intelligent young woman, possessed of a quiet charm which captivates her concert audiences, and endears her to her friends and relatives. Miss Hagen also has that rare thing — a personality that comes right over the footlights the moment she steps on the stage. One can see that she loves to play the violin, and she says herself, that she cannot remember when music wasn't "a part of my life".

There are not enough hours in a day for Betty-Jean to do all the things she would like to do. She likes dancing and painting. Riding is a favorite sport and she hopes to have a little time this summer for that diversion. Her parents are now living in a suburb of Toronto, where Miss Hagen makes her headquarters. In musical circles Betty-Jean was named "woman of the year" in Canada for 1951.

Miss Hagen expected many more years of apprenticeship before she became a concert artist. "When I was 16, I figured it would be ten years before I would have a career", she says, "and now I've got it in half the time." Music lovers in Lachute will remember her fine performance here, and are gratified with her success. Friends wish her good luck in the future.

Lachute High School News

By Anne Dwyer

After ten days of holidays, the pupils returned to school to learn the results of the past term's work, and to work even harder for the next term. Reports will be given out at the end of the week.

Measles are still keeping many pupils away from school. It is hoped the epidemic will soon have run its course.

Music enthusiasts are busy rehearsing for the Music Festival, to be held on May 2-3. Not all of the pupils will be singing; some will be playing instruments. Both require constant practice to attain the honors they are working for.

Parents may mark the progress made by Argenteuil and Two Mountains Counties in music study, by attending these sessions. The tickets are available to the public at the price of 50c. The judging by Adjudicators Mr. Harry Norris and Dr. D. Herbert, and the final concert in the evening, can both be attended with the one ticket. The proceedings will be interesting and entertaining to all who attend.

There are about 12,000 Indians and Eskimos living in the Yukon and Northwest Territories and an equal number of white persons.

H.S. Students Holding Salesmanship Campaign

The students of Lachute High School, under the direction of their Students' Council, are launching a "Salesmanship Week" through the district during the next few days.

This plan, which is sponsored by the Maclean-Hunter Publishing Company, and which has proven immensely successful in schools throughout Canada, enables the students to obtain money for many extra-curricular activities, at the school, as well as providing funds for athletic equipment, movie projectors, educational tours, and many other worthwhile activities.

Citizens of this community are being given the opportunity through this plan to assist the high school students, and at the same time subscribe to Canada's leading magazines, as well as a fine selection of other publications.

Federal government spending this year, exclusive of defence, will be about $2,400,000,000; Ottawa's total spending in 1939 was $553 million.
