Tourist Bureau In Operation, Centrally Situated on Main St.

Townsman Thos. Stewart Co-operating, To Give Direction and Information to Visitors

The new Tourist Bureau operated by Lachute Chamber of Commerce is now open to the public, in the premises of the Caisse Populaire, ideally situated opposite the central post-office. Already a number of tourists have called there for information and to sign the visitors' register; and even at this early stage, there are indications that the Bureau will prove valuable to visitors and will help to publicize the district.

It is requested by Miville Trickey, the Commerce committee chairman, that hotelmen and boarding house keepers in Lachute and throughout the county supply the Bureau with information concerning their establishments, to be handed along to enquirers.

In charge of this Bureau and other Chamber of Commerce business, is Miss Fernande Legault, who is available for assistance and information of the public in general; the telephone number is 1114.

Assisting in this work, especially in the matter of tourist guidance and advice, is a well-known townsman, Thomas Stewart, a veteran of World War I, twice wounded. Thos. (Tommy) Stewart is bilingual, and besides his broad acquaintance with this county, he counts among his recollections having personally met three reigning monarchs of the House of Windsor. . . On behalf of the Chamber of Commerce, Committeeman Miville Trickey voices public appreciation for this willing assistance in the work of the Tourist Bureau.

Montrealer Dies In Collision Near Calumet

Following a crash at 9 a.m. Saturday on Highway No. 8 near Calumet, 27-year-old Jean Paul Desrochers died less than four hours later in hospital at Hawkesbury.

Desrochers was driving alone to Montreal from Plaisance, when he met a truck and trailer-float, the property of T. P. Hall, Brownsburg, which was heading towards Avoca. The truck was in charge of Sylvester Hall, brother of the proprietor, who reported the eastbound car appeared to head directly towards him, then veer suddenly to avoid a crash. The car missed the truck but struck the trailer, which was carrying a massive bulldozer. The blade of this machine ripped the driver's side of the car, and the man was critically injured.

Dr. Irwin Smith, of Hawkesbury gave first aid, and the man was rushed to hospital by ambulance, but he died within a few hours after being admitted.

An inquest into the fatality will be held this Friday at Grenville, under Coroner Dr. Jules Lafleur. The case, investigated by Officer Albert Legault of the local traffic squad, was taken over by Det. J. Arsenault from Montreal headquarters.

June Meeting of Ayersville Council

Following the preparation of a financial report embracing Chatham and the new Ayersville Municipality, Mayor Gilbert E. Ayers and Secretary Armand Brisson were authorized at Council meeting Monday to sign an agreement on behalf of Ayersville with the parent municipality of Chatham. Financial details between the two bodies were ironed out and set forth in black and white by T. C. Corry, auditor, represented by G. Tabrett.

Accounts to the total of $1,900 were passed by the Council for immediate payment.

Permission was granted to the Bell Telephone Company to lay and maintain underground cable.

With regard to the continuation of Ayers Street to meet the Lachute - Grenville highway, it was decided that a clause making necessary provisions be included in the building code, which is under study for adoption.

Henri Legault, Omer Rhéaume and Edouard Lavoie were named as valuators for revision of the property roll for 1953.

The meeting was the regular assembly for June, held under chairmanship of Mayor Gilbert E. Ayers with all councillors present.

Safe Robbery at St. Andrews East

A strong-box at the St. Andrews East post-office was stolen during the night of last Thursday-Friday, by robbers who broke a side window to gain entry. It is believed they backed their car close to the building, and loaded the box on the top of their automobile, then driving to the C.N.R. gravel pit south of the village, where the box was found battered and empty next day. It is reported that cash and postage stamps to the value of $900 were taken.

The provincial police were notified, and investigation has been made by Det. A. Coulombe, from Montreal headquarters.

C-I-L Worker Fatally Injured In Explosion

Brownsburg — Lionel Pilon, 48, of Brownsburg, died in the Royal Victoria Hospital at Montreal last Thursday from injuries he had received a few hours earlier in an explosion at Brownsburg Works of Canadian Industries Limited.

A fellow employee working nearby was not injured, and damage to the immediate area was less than $50.

Pilon was engaged in a .22 calibre cartridge priming operation, when a small quantity of wet priming composition exploded, fracturing and lacerating his left arm. He was rushed to hospital, where the arm was amputated, and where it subsequently was determined he also had suffered internal injuries.

Lionel Pilon, who had been employed by C-I-L for 12 years, the last six of which had been on priming operations, is survived by his wife, formerly Rose Anne Cousineau, of Brownsburg, and three children, Francine, 9, Germaine, 4, and Gaetan, 3. The funeral was held Monday with Requiem Mass at St. Louis de France Church and burial was in the Catholic Cemetery at Brownsburg.

Canada's southernmost part — Pelee Island — is slightly south of the northern portion of California.

Perkins Glue Co. To Establish In Ayersville

To elaborate on a last minute news note last week, it is confirmed by Gerard Lefebvre, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce industrial promotion committee, that a new industry will be established shortly in this community — namely, the Perkins Glue Company, whose head-office is at Landsdale, Pennsylvania. Company officials have acquired a tract of land on the west side of Ayersville. The Perkins Glue Company has a wide reputation as specializing in vegetable and animal glues — and its products are in good demand among veneer and furniture manufacturers.

Mr. Lefebvre states further that this company, although already operating a plant at Kitchener, Ont., has found it desirable to establish here in order to meet its expanding business in Quebec Province and to provide better service to its customers — this situation being geographically central and convenient for Eastern Canada distribution.

The Canadian branch of Perkins Glue Co. is under management of R. C. Stock, residing at Kitchener, and the Ayersville plant will be directed by Fred Atkinson.

Chamber of Commerce officials had the pleasure of meeting Mr. Atkinson and — as quoted by Gerard Lefebvre — he gave assurance that within 12 months the local factory would be in operation and employing "a considerable number" of hands. (The present plant at Landsdale has 125 persons on its payroll.)

Construction of the factory, to occupy 20,000 sq. ft., will commence shortly. The work will be assigned as far as possible to local contractors. The structural labor will be engaged from this area.

The company has already leased a warehouse belonging to J. C. Wilson Paper Ltd. for the period of one year, and has entrusted its transportation needs to Boyd's Lachute Express Ltd. This will permit business operations immediately for the Ayersville branch.

Heavy Transport Overturned on Town Intersection

At the corner of Chatham Street and Brownsburg Road, an unusual sight met the eyes of many on their way to work last Saturday morning. During the night a big Hull-Montreal transport, westbound to Hull, had toppled on its side square into the Wilson Motors Ltd. yard, missing the gasoline tanks by only a couple of feet.

Little damage was done, and the driver and helper escaped unhurt. The accident happened around 2 a.m. During the night the trailer load was transferred to another van. A Marcoux truck equipped with a winch was despatched from headquarters, and by 9 a.m. the tractor and trailer were righted on the highway and proceeding on their way.

Town police officers investigated and gave assistance. Chief D. Villeneuve stated that a shifting of the load was largely responsible for the trailer overturning.

3-Year-Old Tot Killed by Auto

Returning With Parents After Holiday Visit to Relatives Here

Tragedy terminated an otherwise pleasant trip to Lachute for the parents of Denis Paul, three-year-old youngster, who was killed outside a service station near Hamilton, Ont.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Paul, former residents here, now of Hamilton, had motored to Lachute to visit their relatives over the holiday week-end. Stopping on their way home to buy gas at a service station, while the father was busy paying the attendant the parents failed to notice the child was playing around another car which had stopped at the station. This car started in motion, running over the child, who was so seriously injured that he died shortly afterwards in St. Joseph's Hospital, Hamilton.

The parents returned to Lachute with the body of their son, which was buried Tuesday afternoon in the family plot at the Catholic Cemetery.

Use More Hosiery

Canadian women are using more full fashioned hosiery than ever before. On a per capita basis, each woman over 15 years of age used 8.4 pairs in 1950.

SHELL OF SKATING RINK, NOW UNDER DEMOLITION, RECALLS LONG STORY

Sections of the Lachute Skating Rink are being torn down, due to deterioration — and the process is exposing to the public eye those massive rafters that have echoed to many a battle royal, to the yells of a packed house on many hockey play-offs and championship tilts, not to metion rodeos, carnivals, wrestle fests and political rallies.

Part of the rink is being torn down to the order of Lachute Motors Ltd., who acquired a large section of it for car storage purposes. John Dunne, the last owner, is also demolishing the section retained by him. The present demolition is in the hands of Omer Laurin & Fils, the same contractors who built the structure 19 years ago, in 1933. The big spliced beams contain some rare fine lumber, 2 x 6's and 2 x 8's, which cost the promoter, Jos. Raymond, the whole of $20 or $22 a thousand, and for which one would now pay $100 or $125.

There's a long and colorful story on the site of this familiar ironclad building. Its predecessor was also a building covered with corrugated iron, but it was semi-circular in shape, with no cross-beams, its arches being braced together with cables.

The original rink was built by the late James and Simon MacKimmie around the turn of the century, and it had the distinction at that time of being one of the largest covered rinks in Eastern Canada. Simon MacKimmie became the sole proprietor in 1907, purchasing his brother James' interest, and the MacKimmie "boys" (now the senior generation in this town) had much to do with winter sports and the operation of the rink in those days. It was rented during the winter of 1910 to the Lachute Amateur Athletic Association, after which Bill (Alderman William S.) MacKimmie bought it from his Uncle Simon in 1911, and operated it successfully until 1922. It was rented to three different promoters in three different years.

One incident during Bill's ownership is remembered with interest — when the proprietor filled a rush order for the late Mr. Jack Ayers — to install a wood floor throughout, put in a few windows, erect four large Quebec heaters, and to "fix the roof" (if it rained, he did not want the rain to drop on the distinguished visitor's bald head). . . The special occasion was the visit of Arthur Meighen, then Prime Minister, for a political rally in support of the late Sir George Perley, Conservative M.P. for Argenteuil during numerous terms of parliament.

The rink was then sold, and resold, to several purchasers in quick succession, until Jos. Raymond (now of the Tourist Inn) bought it in 1930. Joe rebuilt in 1933 — and this is the structure most familiar to the present citizenry of Lachute, which is now being demolished.

Going back still further to an earlier era, there was a predecessor even to the old MacKimmie rink. According to old-timers, this was erected in 1897, with lumber at $8 a thousand, next to the former Jones property on Meikle Street and at the rear of what is now Bill White's Restaurant. But its glory was short-lived; the roof caved in during a snowstorm, and the fire and fury of Lachute's most gory hockey seasons, the heyday of our sporting past, was witnessed in the fine new rink built by Jim and Simon MacKimmie in 1899-1900.

Lachute Alderman Critically Hurt in Freak Accident

Réal Morrissette, alderman of Lachute Town, met with critical injuries in an accident around 5.30 a.m. on Monday. In his business as a trucker, Morrissette, aged 37, has the job of hauling propane gas cylinders for T. McOuat & Son Ltd., suppliers of gas service. After loading empty cylinders on his truck at the storage depot on Lachute Road, to be taken to Montreal, Morrissette was heaving on a chain to secure the load; the chain gave way and he fell heavily on an upright spike projecting from the cement platform, which pierced his body, emerging through his abdomen. Bleeding profusely, he managed to crawl across the stretch of vacant land to the highway, where he was seen by a passing driver. Taken to the Providence Hospital, the victim was attended by Dr. R. Lavigne, and later was removed by ambulance to the St. Jerome Hospital for observation and treatment.

Cottingham Gives Radio Talk on Facts and Figures

Campaign Meetings Held At Different Points

Mr. Cottingham opened his speaking campaign last week, continuing at Grece's Point on Sunday, meetings at Harrington and Pte. au Chene on Monday, with specially large assemblies at Arundel School on Tuesday afternoon and at Morin Heights School that evening. On the latter occasion a group of lady supporters provided refreshments and there was an enjoyable social aspect to the visit.

At all these assemblies Mr. Cottingham was assisted on the platform by Linton W. Armstrong. Another speaker at Morin Heights was Mr. H. Bannon, an advocate now residing in that community.

Mr. Armstrong is scheduled to speak over the radio — from Station CBM on Friday, July 4, at 6.45 p.m. — on behalf of the Union Nationale campaign in the province.

Radio Talk

"Critics of the Union Nationale Government have taken great pains for some years now to discredit the efforts of the present administration in the field of industrial development", said W. M. Cottingham, Union Nationale candidate for Argenteuil, in his radio address last Friday evening.

One of their major charges was that Premier Duplessis had "allowed exploitation of our vast natural resources by foreign capital", which, they claim, draws the valuable raw material outside the Province for processing.

"However, during a recent press conference, Premier Maurice Duplessis issued a statement which has made his self-appointed critics eat their ill-fitting hats", continued the speaker.

Mr. Duplessis revealed that a gigantic zinc refinery would be established at Chicoutimi in the near future, whose products would be completely finished in the Province. The refinery itself is scheduled to cost more than $12,000,000 initially, while the organizers co-operatively will also guarantee to spend some $3,000,000 on hydro developments to supply the necessary power. The refinery, stated the Premier, is only the forerunner of a large-scale plan for finishing zinc products in the Province.

At the urging of the Union Nationale administration, several other such refineries will be set up in Quebec in the not-too-distant future, said Mr. Cottingham.

More than five thousand new industries have been established here in the seven post-war years, bringing lucrative employment to hundreds of thousands of Quebecers. The pulp and paper industry, hydraulic development, mining, manufactures, and all types of industry have spurted ahead to unknown prosperity.

From south to north, from east to west, the Province has literally grown. Abitibi, Chibougamou, Saguenay, the North Shore, Ungava, names and places almost unknown a few short years ago, today hit the headlines of the world at regular intervals.

Granted the wealth of resources was there since Canada began. In most places, they were known to exist. But it took the Union Nationale Government to nurture them, to open them up for the people, and to see that they were exploited in a rational way.

Canal Claims Second Victim; Carillon Drowning

Not far distant from a signboard to forbid swimming in the Carillon-Grenville canals, a 19-year-old Verdun youth, André Pitre, lost his life Saturday afternoon while bathing with friends at Carillon. The party of four were swimming from a barge moored in the canal, when Pitre dove into the deep water and failed to reappear. His body was recovered half an hour later.

Dr. Jules Lafleur, district coroner, conducted an inquiry and pronounced the death accidental. (This tragedy occurred within a week of a similar incident at Grenville, which claimed the life of a Vankleek Hill youth).

Det. Jules Arsenault, from Montreal, investigated on behalf of the provincial police.

INAUGURAL CEREMONIES FOR NEW SCHOOL AT ST. EUSTACHE-SUR-LE-LAC

A number of school officials from this district, members of the teaching staff and friends, attended the official inauguration of the new Lake of Two Mountains Protestant High School, which took place with fitting ceremony at St. Eustache-sur-le-Lac last Saturday.

The Hon. Paul Sauvé, Quebec Minister of Youth and Welfare and M.L.A. for the constituency, Dr. W. P. Percival, director of Protestant Education for Quebec, and W. M. Cottingham of Lachute, M.L.A. for Argenteuil and chairman of the Central School Board embracing the St. Eustache school unit, were present with other government officials.

The fine new school, completed with Provincial Government aid, will accommodate about 600 pupils by next September and will have a staff of 21 teachers and specialists.

Mr. Sauvé remarked at the outset of the ceremonies that "what is going on in this district, an extraordinary educational development, is taking place in practically every other riding of this province."

The Province of Quebec is spending more money on education than any other province of the Confederation, Mr. Sauvé added.

Mr. Cottingham congratulated members of the district school board. "Your board is indeed a very energetic one. Such an institution could not have materialized without hard work. When you stop to think of the expansion of this community and of your school, you have every reason to be proud."

Expansion Noted

Charles Turner, chairman of the local school board, recalled that one teacher had 20 pupils under his supervision in 1943. The enrolment will be about 600 for the next scholastic year.

Dr. W. P. Percival remarked that the prestige of the teaching profession has been given a great boost during the past few months because credits earned at Macdonald College are to be recognized by Bishop's University and Sir George Williams College towards the degrees of B.A. and B.Sc.

"That is to say that graduates of the School for Teachers who hold the elementary diploma will have about a year to their credit and will have to attend these institutions for one year less than if they had not graduated from the School for Teachers", he stated.

Among the guests were Dr. Paul Gagnier, Mayor of St. Eustache-sur-le-Lac, Mayor J. H. Laframboise of Laval West, and Mayor James McGibbon of Lachute.

Principal of the school is Dennis Staniforth, formerly principal at Brownsburg and well known in this section.

Music Degree With High Distinction

Miss Denise Chamaillard, of of Lachute, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henri Chamaillard and a pupil of Miss Juliette Rodrigue, has obtained her Laureate certificate in pianoforte, with High Distinction, from the Academy of Music of Quebec.

Perth, Ont. (CP) — Ernest Miller went to hospital with 14 broken ribs and various cuts and bruises after being gored by a bull on his farm at Otty Lake near here. His daughter-in-law heard his calls for help and called the collie dog, which drove the animal away.

Liberal Speakers Vent Criticism, State Program

Opening salvo of the Liberal campaign in this constituency was an oratory session, complete with loudspeakers, last Sunday afternoon at the Auditorium. It was the first Liberal meeting since the convention of June 23 which chose Bernard Gosselin as party candidate.

Speakers, besides Mr. Gosselin, were Jean-Marie Nadeau, chief party organizer for the Montreal district; Jean-Paul Gélinas, advocate, of Montreal; and Philippe Valois, M.P. for Argenteuil-Deux Montagnes. The star speaker scheduled for this occasion, Mayor J. A. Mongrain of Three Rivers, was prevented from filling the engagement by reason of motor trouble developed in his aircraft, it was announced.

All the speeches were in the French language — but it was promised the English would "have their day" this Friday when the Opposition leader, George Marler, will be principal orator. (The meeting is announced for 9 p.m. at the Auditorium.)

Jean-Marie Nadon insisted on the possibility of a Liberal victory in many ridings, and triumph for the Liberal leader, George Marler.

Bernard Gosselin referred to the "dicatatorial and corrupt" regime of the Duplessis administration, rubbing those sore spots now familiar on the Liberal platforms — contracts awarded without tenders; wholesale issuance of liquor licenses; persecution of labor leaders and protection of "recognized bandits" — to mention a few.

Jean-Paul Gelinas took the questioning role. "Why is Mr. Duplessis, who speaks and acts single-handed, not satisfied with 82 silent and inactive deputies?" he asked "How is it that Mr. Duplessis took four years to discover a 'barbotte' well known to everyone else — and which has now spread a little wider since it was closed on Cote de Liesse?"

Philippe Valois had words of commendation for George Lapalme, an associate of his academic and parliamentary career. "You may be assured that it will give me pleasure to introduce Mr. Gosselin, future deputy for Argenteuil, to Mr. Lapalme, the future Premier — and none will regret having voted for the Liberal cause", he said.

The speakers also made reference to the Liberal program — including collective forums on agriculture markets and prices, higher credits to farmers; labor relations commission representative of both workers and employers; re-establishment of free schooling and textbooks; maternity allowances; and improved administration of justice.

Returns Lag in Local Appeal for Blind Institute

It is reported by Miss Lulu Miller, treasurer of the local fund for the Canadian Institute for the Blind, that the response to the district appeal is falling short of expectations. A number of circular letters were mailed in connection with this campaign, but it is felt that many others realizing the worthiness of the cause may care to contribute. The work of the Institute extends to many cases of blindness and threatened blindness in this county, including visits from a sightless representative to restore self-confidence in the sufferers, to give direction in the proper care, and to instruct useful arts. This work deserves generous support, and cash donations will be gladly received and acknowledged by Miss Miller, at the Bank of Montreal, Lachute, or through the mail.

The urgent need for financial aid is stressed by Robt. Cairns, Lachute, who is chairman of the duly chartered branch in this area.

Following is a list of local donors to date:

J. R. Archer $2, L. W. Armstrong $2, Gerald Noble $1, Don Titman $1, Florence Howard $2, Anonymous $1, Edgar Cruise $1, Mrs. Ethel Young $1, R. J. Underhill $2, Mrs. Laura Cowan $2, Fred Stein Sr. $1, Mac E. Walker $2, Mrs. Eva Mason $1, Gilbert Demerse $1, Stanley Goldsworthy $2, J. S. Drew $2, E. B. Burrues $5.

Angus Taylor $2, Frank Brennan $2, Russell Carpenter $5, Thomas S. Box $1, W. S. Jones $2.50, Mrs. Mabel Wilson $25, H. E. Underhill $5, Mrs. Charlotte Griffith $1, Cecil R. Graham $1, Miss W. J. Cleary $1, Mrs. E. H. McCoy $1, W. J. Deacon $1, J. P. Jobin $5, J. A. Gordon $5, Archie R. Gordon $1.

Thomas Miller $2, A. E. MacLean $2, Horace Lamarche $5, Mrs. A. A. Hills $10, L. E. Hooker $1, Hugh McIntyre $1, Miss Maggie Walker $2.50, Miss Jessie Walker $2.50, Tag Day Brownsburg $65.37, E. R. Barrie $2, George Tattersfield $5, G. T. Deacon $5, Dr. W. M. Hooper $2, Ayers Ltd. $50, R. M. Cairns $20, George MacDougall $1, B. Arran $5, Miss Ruth McMahon $5.

KILLED BY BULL

Clear Lake, Man. (CP) — George Griffiths, elderly farmer, died in hospital from injuries received when attacked by a bull on his farm. His wife had rushed to his aid with a pitchfork, and stood over her husband all afternoon warding off the enraged animal, before she was able to drag her injured husband to safety.

AGRICULTURAL RELICS

Portage La Prairie, Man. (CP) — Lots on which to build a provincial agricultural memorial museum are being offered by Portage la Prairie. Machine companies offered to help exhibit early-model cars and machinery connected with the pioneer days of agriculture.

Animal Malady Tests May Benefit Humans

Calgary (CP) — Two Calgary scientists are conducting experiments on different projects which may lead to the same end.

Chemist William F. Allen is working on a cure for anaemia in cattle and sheep, often referred to as Burton's disease. Research scientist Dr. Joseph J. Dobry is trying to determine the cause of creeping paralysis in human beings, otherwise known as multiple sclerosis.

Because certain characteristics of both diseases are the same, the findings of the two scientists may prove of benefit in the eventual solution of both diseases.

Anaemia in cattle is believed to be caused by a lack of cobalt in pasture land. Ranchers have met this by moving sick cattle to different pasture. The task facing Dr. Allen is to work out a more reliable and quicker method of discovering minute quantities of cobalt in cattle liver.

Dr. Dobry, who has not yet announced the results of his own findings, is interested in Dr. Allen's research.

"We cannot consider the causes of the two diseases to be the same", he said. "However, the research relative to the treatment of animals may considerably help to determine the cause and therapy of sclerosis."

Protecting Crops

It is understandable that imeasiest ways of introducing into some memento of their homeland garden with them in the form of a corm, bulb, root or cutting. Unfortunately this may be one of the totalling nearly 40 pounds were re-Canada undesirable plant diseases which are either not native to this country or which the Plant Protection officials of the Department of Agriculture are striving to keep in check.

In an inspection at two ports of entry recently large quantities of plant cuttings, corms, roots and perennials were found in trunks and suitcases of immigrants arriving from Europe. As none of the material was certified for entry all of it had to be destroyed.

In three instances, potatoes totaling nearly 40 pounds were removed from baggage and destroyed. A particularly vigilant watch is kept for potatoes as the importation of these tubers from Europe is prohibited. This is because of the danger of introducing potato wart into the country, a disease which is unknown in Canada except in the new province of Newfoundland, from where the potatoes may not be shipped into other parts of Canada.

Gardiner Lauds Dairy Promotion Campaign

Ottawa — "Canada's daiary industry, and thus every Canadian, is bound to benefit by the information campaign being carried on throughout the year by the Dairy Farmers of Canada", declared Rt. Hon. James G. Gardiner, Minister of Agriculture, in Ottawa.

Commending the organization on its plan under which a cent-a-pound butterfat or milk equivalent is set aside during the month of June to finance a campaign to inform the general public of the advantages of using Canadian dairy products, Mr. Gardiner expressed the desire to see greater use made by Canadians of their native foods. "A major part of this nation's wealth", he said, "is its agricultural resources, and one of the most important branches is dairying — important not only to the national economy but to the individual consumer who, through it, has a most generous supply of healthful and attractive food items".

Mr. Gardiner added his and his Department's appreciation of the work of the organization in advancing the dairy industry and its products.

Soil Warming With Electricity

London — Soil-warming by electricity is being used increasingly in Britain, particularly for the production of tomatoes in greenhouses. Wires buried in the soil are electrically charged with a loading of between 5 - 10 watts per square foot, and the current is usually controlled by a thermostat, with a long stem which is inserted horizontally in the soil. Lettuce and other salad crops planted in frames under glass may be grown in a hot-bed warmed by electrically-charged wires in the soil. The cosumption of electricity for each lettuce produced is from 1¼ to 1¾ units. Wires can also be used to warm the soil before tomato plants are put in.

Agronomsits Meet In Quebec City

The Agronomists' Corporation of Quebec Province meeting at Quebec City for three days last week, devoted a major part of their talks to the dairy industry. The corporation plans to launch an educational program on the nutritive value of milk and other dairy products.

Gustave Toupin, of Oka, was re-elected president of the corporation.

During the convention he called for more co-operation between organizations concerned with the welfare of farmers. He said those organizations were wasting their energy by not operating under one executive body to co-ordinate their activities.

Keeping Men on Land Is Problem in Britain

Bury St. Edmunds (AP) — The local farm union asked its national headquarters how to keep its workers down on the farm after they've seen the United States airfields in Britain.

Good jobs on the U.S. bases are luring away local farm workers, the union was told.

The Suffolk branch of the N.F.U. said farms in the area of the big U.S. bases in East Anglia can't get enough workers any more.

Young Farmers Visit Scotland

London — Four Canadian young farmers and a leader arrived recently in Edinburgh for a stay in Scotland, where they will study farming and ways of life as guests of the Scottish Association of Young Farmers' Clubs, under an exchange scheme (four young Scottish farmers are at present visiting Canada). Miss Eleanor Saracuse, Miss Mary Carmichael, Mr. Harold Beatty and Mr. James W. Bennett are being accompanied by Miss Betty Boyle, who is a member of the Ontario Department of Agriculture and assistant editor of the "Junior Farming News" of Canada.

Rare Scottish Cattle Arrive

Montreal — A shipment of possibly the rarest cattle in Canada passed through here recently over Canadian National Railways lines, bound for Langley, B.C.

The animals, two heifers, a bull and two calves, are members of the hardy West Highland breed from Scotland. Only one other herd of this type is known to exist in Canada — that at Lloydminster, Sask. The new arrivals are shaggy-coated and smaller than more common Canadian breeds.

Party Leaders Propound Views

By Tom McCusker

Quebec (CP) — With the Quebec general elections two weeks away, political leaders Duplessis and LaPalme kept a hectic schedule and levied attacks at each other with a little more heat.

Premier Duplessis, in an open-air rally in lower-town Quebec, said last Thursday that the Liberals, in the 1939-44 administration, "sold" Quebec's rights in taxation matters. He said the administration of Senator Adelard Godbout had traded taxation rights worth $300,000,000 to the Federal Government for $22,000,000. He promised that his Union Nationale government would seek to "regain Quebec's taxation rights".

Liberal leader Georges Lapalme, who toured northern Quebec during the week, said Saturday night in Rouyn that his party, if elected, would act in co-operation with the Federal Government to end the housing shortage in Quebec Province.

He said the Quebec government had appointed a commission to study the housing problem, but all it had accomplished in two years was to 'submit a bill for expenses'.

He said he promised to establish a labor code for Quebec workers and added he had been often accused of leaning too far in the direction of the labor union. He said, "I am one of those who believes that a strong, united and contented labor class is one of the best safeguards we have against the threat of Communism."

The Economy of Using the Best

The economy of using the best possible materials is made apparent in the upkeep problem. A house or business building may be "thrown together" with cheap material, and it may "look all right," but after it has stood the shock of weather, the real test comes.

It is false economy to use poor materials — and we so advise everyone who buys from us. Our success is due to honesty in materials and prices.

It's A Hazardous Season

"THE PAPERS are full of accidents!" — We pin this remark so often on the city dailies; but alas, Lachute is becoming so populous and so active a centre that there is danger this comment might be applied occasionally to The Watchman, whose role by preference is the harbinger of steady progress and harmonious living.

This week's issue is a chapter of local deaths and mishaps. As we scan the paragraphs that spell tragedy in many families, it is perhaps natural to recriminate — to say, "He should have done this", or "He should not have done that". It is too true, most accidents are preventable; but with honest introspection, must we not admit that one and all "take chances"? Familiarity breeds contempt for the slip that may impale a tortured body, the dive that may cost a life, and the spurt of speed that may presage a ghastly crash. It is really a miracle that some of us survive so long!

This is the "open" season — the summer, which brings doubled hazards on the highways, dangers on the beach, lassitude on the job which normally requires incessant vigilance.

If we can learn anything from these grim stories of death and injury, it is the moral of unfailing caution, the safety consciousness that looks for and anticipates all dangers. We know no motto more simple yet more practical than that of the Boy Scout movement—"Be Prepared!"

Take It Easy

AS LONG as anyone can remember, people have been saying that the pace of life is getting too fast — that the human body wasn't built to stand the pressure of modern business, or the speed of modern traffic, or the intensity of mechanized farming or industry.

Well, one of the busiest men in the United States has come out with a key to longer life under present conditions. He is Dr. Morris Fishbein, editor, author, traveller, adviser and lecturer, who always has a half-dozen projects going at one time.

And he says the answer is "imperturbability", which means calmness. How do we develop imperturbability? Dr. Fishbein gives this advice, and it seems to make sense:

"Avoid raising your voice. Don't get angry and shout. All you do is raise your own blood pressure, not the other fellow's.

"Don't get crowded. Take things one at a time. Accept disturbances and annoyances as they are. Don't tear yourself apart because you are not succeeding in some given effort.

"Don't avoid trouble — but meet it with equanimity.

And Dr. Fishbein lists "five laws" for health and longer life in these trying times.

1. Low blood pressure 2. Low pulse rate; 3. Low basal metabolism, or rate of bodily processes; 4. Low diet, low in total calories; 5. Low threshold for humor — "Be able to laugh easily and recognize aspects of what humans take too seriously."

He says he doesn't mean everyone should slow his life to the speed of a turtle.

"I'm never happier than when I'm extremely active", he says. "But you can accomplish far more if you have equanimity and imperturbability."

"It's the guy who gets excited who raises his blood pressure", says the doctor. As for lowering the pulse rate, he has this suggestion:

"Reading is wonderful for those who want to cultivate calmness. Read before going to bed, and on awakening. No dull books; read something interesting. In 15 minutes to an hour, you can be ready to sleep, and go to sleep in a minute, relaxed."

Ideas and Ideals

AN APPEAL to let wisdom guide the use of our scientific knowledge to turn mechanical power to constructive purposes instead of destructive uses, was voiced recently by H. E. Carrier, past-District Governor, at the convention of District 171 of Rotary International in session at Jasper Park Lodge.

"Our best weapons in the present world situation are ideas and ideals", Mr. Carrier said, and he cited the value of an informed public opinion as a force for world peace. He urged the conference delegates to work to fulfil the Rotary platform, which is dedicated to the conviction that friendliness leads to understanding, which brings about good will and, in turn, peace.

Chemical Age

CHEMICALS represent Canada's fastest growing major industry. Today there's $1-billion in total plant investment, compared with a mere $176 millions in 1939. Across the country right now there is $200 millions in expansion under way.

However, there are problems. The biggest is that capital plant and equipment runs very high. To produce some products efficiently and at a favorable price, a plant often needs the whole Canadian market for itself. To produce at all, some plants must be built far beyond current Canadian needs. Yet they must be built now if we are to make best use of resources in years ahead when we will have larger home markets.

American and foreign chemicals enter Canada at low rates — or none at all. Sky high U.S. tariffs keep our chemicals out.

Lessons from the Indian

THE AMERICAN Indian had much to teach us about rearing children to live free, useful, well-adjusted lives — according to Marie Sandoz in a recent issue of Reader's Digest. Miss Sandoz grew up near a Sioux reservation in South Dakota, and is the author of two books on Indians. Her article is condensed from "Empire".

No punishing hand is raised against the Indian boy, yet he learns discipline early. Indian children do not cry, nor make more than a whimper at the greatest hurt. The reason: Indian mothers shut off the first cry of the newborn, and as often after that as necessary. This teaches the most important lesson of old Indian life: No person can be permitted to endanger the people; no cry must guide a skulking enemy to the village, nor spoil a hunt that might mean the winter's meat for a tribe.

Indians who have seen white parents whip their children in anger, consider the whites a brutal people who treat their children like enemies who must be bribed or punished or coddled. They believe that children will grow up dependent and immature, and subject to fits of uncontrolled anger within the family circle. They point to the increasing lawlessness and violence of our young people, so often against their elders, a thing unheard-of among the Indians.

The redskin has always avoided any overprotection of the young. When the Indian begins to crawl no one cries, "No, no!" and drags him back from the enticing red of the fire. "One must learn from the bite of the flame to let it alone."

The young Indian's attitude toward girls is established early. Over-familiarity has been discouraged since the days of the skin lodges, when perhaps seven or more lived about a winter fire. "See how the boy is with the women of his lodge, and you can know how the young man will be with your daughter", was an old Sheyenne saying.

Ain't That Corny !

It is most unlikely that you will find the word "corny" in any standard dictionary. Yet lots of people use the word to indicate their disapproval of a joke or a pun, especially one that they have heard before.

Yet not one in a thousand knows where the word comes from. It is really a corruption of the word "carney", meaning a carnival. A carnival, or travelling amusement park, is supposed to be the lowest form of show business. It is there that the patrons meet the grifters, grafters and gamblers and cheap showmen who give the least value for the money. Their sideshows exhibit fire eaters, sword swallowers and handcuff-escape artists, which can hardly be rated as high-class entertainment. So "carney" or "corny" means just that — something that is not so good. . . Like my latest poem, for instance. I think it's terrible, and hope you will too. Here it is!

Indian Corn

An Indian walked, in the days of yore,
On mocassined feet on the forest floor
As he sought wild herbs, wild rice, wild onions,
And never was troubled with corns or bunions.

But he wanted shoes like the white man wore,
So he bought a pair at the general store.
But he found them stiff as a buffalo horn,
And soon on his feet grew Indian Corn!

When Winter came, they were no more use.
So his squaw made earmuffs from his new shoes.
He refused to wear them and said,
"No fear!
Me no want gettum Corn in the Ear!"

There's a fat policeman on our street
Always in trouble with his feet —
Aw, never mind! I'd better stop
Before I say something 'bout Corn on the Cop!

Ain't that corny? When worse poety is written, I will write it.

Be seein' ya!

— Uncle Walt.

Have You A Question ON UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE OR EMPLOYMENT?

In this column we publish questions about unemployment insurance and employment, together with answers received from the Unemployment Insurance Commission.

If you are uncertain about any point do not hesitate to send your question to your district Unemployment Insurance office. We will obtain an answer and publish it in this column.

Following are some questions with answers which may be of interest to you: —

Q. Can an employer decrease the salary of his employee without notifying the Unemployment Insurance Commission, and purchase stamps on the new salary basis?

A. Yes.

Q. I work in the bush. My employer laid me off because I was not satisfied with the scaling of the wood and asked that it be checked. When I left my employer wrote as a reason for my leaving that I was unsatisfactory. This is a handicap to my getting any work elsewhere and also to drawing unemployment insurance benefits. Has an employers the right to do that with an employee? Can the Commission conduct an inquiry on the matter?

A. When an employee leaves a job and makes a claim the Commission always asks his last employers why he quit the job. The information given by the employer is confidential and cannot affect the employee's relations with another employer. If the employee does not agree with the employer's statements, he is asked by the Commission to give any additional information that he may have. If it is found that the employee was in fact discharged for misconduct he may be disqualified from receiving benefit for a period up to six weeks.

In spite of a record dollar volume of sales, the average profit margin in manufacturing across Canada took a decided drop in 1951, according to the Canadian Manufacturers Association. Higher operating costs and increased taxes were the reasons.

OBITUARY

Old Resident of Arundel Mourned

Funeral of the Late Matthew Jas. Craig

Arundel — On Saturday, June 21, the death occurred of Matthew James Craig, husband of Rachel Dubeau. Mr. Craig was born in Arundel in the year 1879, son of the late Thomas Craig and his wife Margaret Burns. He had lived in Arundel until 1945, leaving then to reside in Port Hope, Ont.

Mr. Craig's cheerfulness and courage during his lengthy illness were an inspiration to those who knew and loved him, and his annual visit to this community will be sadly missed.

Sincere sympathy is extended to those left to mourn his loss.

The late Mr. Craig is survived by his wife, two daughters, (Elsie) Mrs. R. Miller, Barkmere, Que., (Margaret) Mrs. Guy Laughren, Arundel, and two sons, Sterling J. (Wesley), of Arundel, and Leonard M., of Port Hope, Ont., also 15 grandchildren. He is survived by one sister, (Lillie) Mrs. C. O. Bennett, to whose home the body was brought on Monday from Port Hope.

The funeral took place from Arundel United Church at 2.30 p.m. the following day, Tuesday, and interment was made in the Arundel Memorial Cemetery. The service was conducted by Mr. Stern, acting minister of the United Church, and the Rev. P. Busing, of Grace Anglican Church.

Pall-bearers were — Messrs. Harold, Thomas and Victor Craig, John Mahon, John Smith and Geo. Arnold, all nephews of the deceased.

Beautiful floral tributes bore witness to the sympathy of many friends.

Lifelong Resident Dies at Harrington

Late Mrs. Peter Leroy

On Friday morning, June 27, Mrs. Peter Leroy passed quietly to her rest, in her 89th year. Mrs. Leroy had spent her lifetime in the Harrington district, and enjoyed good health until very recently.

She leaves to mourn her loss one daughter, (Edith) Mrs. A. Page, and four sons, Orrin, of Port Colborne, Wilfred, Peter and Arthur, also several grandchildren and great grandchildren. She was predeceased by her husband some 40 years ago.

The funeral service was held in the Harrington United Church on Sunday afternoon, and interment was made in the Calumet Protestant Cemetery. The service was conducted by the Rev. S. J. Pike of Brownsburg, assisted by Mr. Ted MacLeod, student pastor of the Harrington United Church.

A very large gathering showed the community's high esteem, numerous friends and relatives attending to pay final tribute to another old landmark removed from our county population.

Funeral of Late Mrs. A. Connell

The funeral of the late Mrs. Adelaide Connell, mother of Mrs. Wilfred Crooks, was held last Friday at the Anglican Church in Dunany, the Rev. C. W. P. Baugh conducting the service.

The late Mrs. Connell came from Gloucestershire, England. Her husband predeceased her many years ago, and she had resided for the past six years at the home of her daughter, where her death occurred on Wednesday of last week, in her 78th year. A daughter-in-law, Mrs. Thomas Connell, of Port Dalhousie, Ont., had been in attendance during her illness.

Left to mourn her passing are two daughters, Mrs. Crooks, and Mrs. N. A. Clark, residing at St. Catharines, and her son, Thomas, at Port Dalhousie.

Many friends and neighbors attended the funeral. Burial was made in the Dunany Cemetery. Pall-bearers were — Messrs. Oscar McDougall, Clarence Neill, Herbert Neill, Victor Woods, Dan Brown and Leonard Gain.

Aged Citizen Dies at Centerville

The Late Peter Bryce

At Centerville on Wednesday, June 25, the death occurred of Peter Bryce, in his 86th year.

The funeral service was held at his home in Centerville on Friday at 2 o'clock, service being conducted by the Rev. W. B. Rosborough. Interment took place in the St. Andrews East Cemetery.

Church Notes

Harrington United Church was the setting for a beautiful and impressive service last Sunday, when the Sunday School sponsored their annual flower service. Dr. J. I. MacKay, Superintendent of Missions for the Montreal and Ottawa Conference, was special minister for the occasion. Dr. MacKay spoke especially to the children, and the hymns were all children's hymns. A display was arranged with the Cross and Holy Bible — the cross being decorated with ferns and roses and banked with baskets of peonies of other flowers.

On Sunday, July 6, at 11 a.m., the Rev. Leonard Harbour will officiate at a communion service and baptism. The public are cordially invited to attend this service, in Harrington United Church.

The W.A. met at the Campbell Hall on Wednesday afternoon.

Marriage Vows At Lachine, Que.

Townsend - Williams

At a four o'clock ceremony held in the St. Andrew's United Church, Lachine, on Saturday, June 21, Miss Margaret Pearl Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Williams, became the bride of Mr. W. E. Ronald Townsend, son of Mrs. Thelma Townsend and the late Ross Townsend, of Brownsburg. Baskets of mixed spring flowers banked the altar for the ceremony, which was performed by the Rev. W. Patterson.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of traditional white satin and carried a bouquet of red roses and stephanotis.

Attending the bride was her sister, Miss Bernice Williams, while the groom was assisted by Mr. Geo. Williams, brother of the bride. Ushers were Mr. Mervin Townsend and Mr. Albt. Williams.

A reception was held at the Buffalo Hall. For the wedding trip the bride wore a suit of lilac gabardine and white accessories.

Mr. and Mrs. Townsend will take up residence in Lachine.

Wed Quietly at Brownsb'g Manse

Kelly - Touchett

A quiet but pretty wedding took place on Tuesday afternoon, June 17, at the United Church manse in Brownsburg, when Janet, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Felix Touchett, of East Settlement, and Ronald Harry Kelly, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Kelly, of Avoca, were united in marriage, the Rev. S. J. Pike performing the ceremony.

Mrs. James Chambers, sister of the bride, was matron of honor, while Mr. Donald Kelly, cousin of the groom, acted as best man. The bride was given in marriage by Mr. James Chambers.

Following the ceremony the wedding group proceeded to the bride's home, where supper was served, the couple then leaving for points in the United States. On their return they will reside in Avoca.

Apt for a province which boasts the Canadian Rockies, British Columbia has as its motto, "Splendor Without Diminishment".

Pretty Wedding At Weir Church

Johnson - Labrosse

The Church of the Redeemer at Weir, Que., was the scene of a pretty wedding on Saturday afternoon, June 28, at 2.30 o'clock, when Lorraine Olive Alice, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donat Labrosse, was united in marriage to Mr. Howard Darryl Johnson, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. Darryl Johnson, of Ste. Genevieve, Que., The church was prettily decorated with summer flowers and ferns.

The bride wore a floor-length dress of nylon lace over satin, cut on Princess lines, her veil being caught with a crown headdress set with rhinestones to match the collar of her dress, and also wearing a rhinestone wrist watch, the gift of the groom, and carrying a bouquet of white carnations. She was given away by her brother, Edgar, entering the church to the strains of the wedding march played by Mrs. W. D. Morrison.

The bride was attended by Miss Shirley Johnson as bridesmaid, who wore a dress of pale green net over nylon, with headdress to match, and carried pink carnations.

Mr. Ronald Johnson acted as best man for his brother, and the ushers were Mr. Raymond Labrosse and Mr. Claude Lefebvre.

The bride's mother was wearing a petal blue silk taffeta dress with white accessories and a corsage of deep pink roses, while the groom's mother wore navy blue crepe with white accessories and a corsage of American Beauty roses.

The Rev. P. W. L. Busing officiated at the ceremony and the hymns, "Gracious Spirit Holy Ghost", and "Lead Us, Heavenly Father, Lead Us" were sung, while "Oh, Perfect Love" was played during the signing of the register.

Immediately following the ceremony a buffet-luncheon was served in the church hall, where around 50 guests were present. Later Mr. and Mrs. Johnson left on a honeymoon trip to the White Mountains, Vermont.

Out-of-town guests included — Mr. and Mrs. D. Johnson, the Misses Beverley and Irene Johnson, also Mr. and Mrs. Parkinson, of Ste. Genevieve, Mr. and Mrs. A. Labrosse, Mr. and Mrs. G. Bazinet, of 16 Island Lake; Mr. and Mrs. E. Labrosse, Messrs. J. and F. Labrosse, of Barkmere; Mr. and Mrs. Lionel Labrosse and daughter, Joan, Mr. and Mrs. Delmar Rumbolt, Mr. Raymond Rumbolt, Mr. and Mrs. Seguin, Mrs. E. Lefebvre, Mrs. Chas. Quebec Taxes most burdensome in all Canada

HIGHER AND HIGHER
Since 1944 Duplessis has taken over a billion dollars from Quebec taxpayers.
In that time, the tax on every man, woman and child has climbed from $20.67 to $55.76.
Average tax has jumped by $9 this year alone.
Taxes this year — $223,000,000!

Under Duplessis, the Quebec taxpayer has become the most heavily burdened in Canada — and besides, the average wage in this Province is nearly five dollars per week less than in Ontario. The spendthrift Union Nationale collects more taxes in one year than the Liberals collected in the 15 years from 1914 to 1929. Nobody escapes . . . We pay sales tax, even on drugs . . . tax on meals . . . 4 cents more for a package of cigarettes and 2 cents a gallon more for gasoline than in Ontario . . . taxes on spirits, electricity . . . even higher taxes on estates. The Duplessis tax collectors continually dip into our pockets, making Quebec's living costs the highest in Canada.

Diversified Views On French Culture Aired at Congress

REVIEW OF SESSIONS HELD AT QUEBEC

Specially Written for The Watchman

By Tom McCusker

Quebec (CP) — More than 4,000 French-speaking Canadians sat for four days at the third French Language Congress here to size up the position of French culture in Canada. They heard one speaker say French was a dead language in the country and another say it was one of Canada's biggest unifying forces.

Prime Minister St. Laurent in a speech Sunday night, said existance of French and English in Canada contributed towards unity and guarded this unity against turning into uniformity.

He said French appeared to him as the most accurate instrument for the exchange of ideas and for diplomatic negotiation and urged its use by lawyers and parliamentarians.

Pierre Daviault of Ottawa, in a paper submitted to the congress, said French has become a "dead language", riddled with slang phrases and anglicisms.

He said since the growth of industrialism, city dwellers kept hacking away at their language and refused to speak better French for fear of being labelled "snobs".

"We now are at the point", he said, "where there are three languages in French Canada: the anglicized French of the cities; the Provincial French of the country; and the hackneyed French of the few whose only desire is to leave Canada."

A different opinion — but still critical — came out of another paper by Rev. Father L. J. Lefebvre of Bourget College in Rigaud, Que. He said French language was better spoken in Canada than 50 years ago but "our written language does not seem to improve. It remains poor, lacks precision and is incorrect."

Canon Lionel Groulx, 75-year-old Quebec historian and apostle of patriotic movements, told a mass rally of French-speaking youths they will soon have to make two choices: French and Roman Catholic culture or English culture.

He said he knew what choice they would hope to make but there were many obstacles in their way and the task was almost a superhuman one.

Then he said: We have been going our way (as French Canadians) for 300 years."

Reports on the more than 780,000 French-speaking Canadians outside Quebec province showed that with one exception, they faced the danger of English assimilation.

The exception was New Brunswick, where the French Canadian wasn't as widely dispersed and where French educational facilities were more accessible.

Rev. Thomas M. Landry of Fall River, Mass., said French life in the New England states was also on the downgrade.

"We now are in a whirlpool of English assimilation and rolling with it at an accelerated speed", he said.

The week-long congress tied in with St. John Baptist celebrations including the giant parade watched by 60,000 persons and Laval University centenery celebrations.

In a special ceremony, Laval University awarded its top honor — a university doctorate — to Premier Duplessis of Quebec.

Count Robert d'Harcourt of the French Academy, Paris, and Senator Cabot Lodge, Jr., of Boston, received doctorates of letters. French ambassador Hubert Guerin and Transport Minister Lionel Chevrier received honorary doctorates of law. Twenty-five other honorary doctorates were awarded.

to think that we now control the business cycle and that there will be no depression, there are others who hold divergent points of view. When wages are raised prices go up. Labor receives today approximately the same percentage of the product produced as it received sixty years ago. True, its capacity to produce, thanks to improved machinery, gives to the worker a higher earning power. This is, in part at least, offset by the high cost of living. The worker in the city, while he may have a so-called higher standard of living, soon finds that it adds little to the joy of life in urban conveniences.

What of the future? The population of our cities is growing rapidly. Congestion tends to increase the cost of living, lessens the comforts of normal existence. The man on the farm normally owns his own home, grows his own food, his cost of living is lower. The cost of the products he consumes reflects a wholesale, not a retail price. The automobile has removed the feeling of farm isoltion. There is still the old fear of a drop in the price of farm products, but the danger is not so pressing as it has been.

Builds Big Cabin On Northen Island

Sioux Lookout, Ont. (CP) — An American who likes plenty of room while he is on vacation, with all the comforts of home, is building his own idea of a "log cabin" near this northwestern Ontario town.

Dick Riss of Kansas City, Mo., is not the kind of man who is satisfied with something 20 by 30. A log cabin he is having built on an island he owns five miles from here is laid out in the form of a cross — 150 feet from end to end each way.

In the centre will be a huge, double-sided stone fireplace. Heat from it will help warm four 35-foot wings of spruce log construction. The great logs had to be hauled from some distance.

Views of the lake will be obtained through picture windows measuring five by nine feet. Floors will be 12-inch pegged oak planks.

Although the cabin is on an island, Mr. Riss will have the conveniences of electricity. An underwater electric cable costing about $10,000 will be laid to the mainland.

Riss also intends to look after his personal friends who decide to drop in for a week-end. At the other end of the lake he is building two 30 by 40 foot cabins. To make sure they are entertained properly he intends to equip the place with a $10,000 cruiser as well as five smaller outboard-motor boats.

But the most spectacular part of it all is a new DC-3 aircraft Riss bought to bring his friends in from Kansas City. He doesn't want them to waste time travelling. He has his own twin-engined plane to get from the island to the Sioux Lookout airport.

Riss figures his total investment will be about $250,000. Everything should be ready for use this summer.

Holberg, B.C., is a town built completely on rafts. It is composed of homes for lumberjacks.

The Farmer and The City

From time to time we hear expressions of regret that boys born on the farm move into the cities, and the place which once knew them now knows them no more — writes our good friend and observer in Ottawa, R. J. Deachman. Many of the chaps who write these stories were born on the farm. but wouldn't go back to it — not for anything in the world.

Throw sentiment to the winds — urges Mr. Deachman. Let us examine the facts. This country was populated first by the early early French settlers. Then came the Anglo-Saxon group, Scotland, then the English and Irish. They had been brought up where land was scarce and dear, where the landlord, rather than the man of millions, was the man of power and destiny. It was only natural that they should turn to farming in the new world. They are the real pioneers — the landlords in Canada were relatively unimportant. The life of the pioneer was hard and stern. He lacked modern equipment of the kind we now possess. With crude tools he cleared the land. It was a difficult task. If you doubt that statement find a big green stump, fresh-cut, then try digging it out by the roots.

Huge stones were removed by piling on top of them a load of old knots and limbs from the bush. They split the stones with fire, then carted them away. The work was arduous. They had little time for leisure. It took the youth and spirit out of the pioneers. They were old at fifty and the next generation — the youth of those days — made up their minds to leave the farm, get into the city. It meant lighter work, it was closer to educational facilities for the coming generation. They would find or make a job for themselves. They grew older, but their sons and daughters did not go back to the farm.

Came the change! The grain cradle is no more. It appears only in museums — the farm is a new place, modern machinery enables one man to do the work of many, but hired help is harder to get. The movement from the farm to the city seems to have tapered off a bit. The return movement is not making great progress but there is every reason to believe that it may take place.

Countervailing forces are at work. The cost of living has increased. Wage rates are high in the cities, but the thoughtful may wonder if the new rates will hold. In the past, wars have led to depressions, and though some seem

"He's made farming profitable for us, instead of a total failure. You city folks can be thankful, too, that he stepped in and saved the farmers from sure bankruptcy in 1936. Otherwise you wouldn't be eating and using the products we raise.

"Through his Farm Loan Plan, he helped thousands of us get out of crippling debt, obtain new equipment, and set up profitable operations. Through his Farm Electrification efforts, many thousands of us also have electricity for power and light. And, through his Farm Drainage programme, thousands also have good farming lands that were all waste swamps before.*

"He began this at the time our boys and girls were flocking to the city by every train because farming didn't pay. Now they're happy and prosperous here at home. Join us in our vote for DUPLESSIS on July 16."

*The DUPLESSIS administrations have:

1. Made Farm Loans of $96,000,000 with a total loss of just $195 in defaults, to 35,250 farmers.
2. Extended farm electric lines 15,000 miles to over 60,000 farms.

Crepe paper flowers may be cleaned by putting them in a large paper bag with either one-half cup of salt, cornmeal or cornstarch. Hold it tightly around the flowers' stems and shake the bag vigorously.

When making pie shells, chill the pastry for half an hour after rolling it out. The baked shell is more likely to hold its shape.

When removing washable ink from wool, be careful not to rub the fabric while it is soaking in soapsuds or detergent, the Shaeffer Pen Company warns. Wool is temporarily weakened when wet, and you may stretch it by such treatment.

Picnic Notions

When hot summer days come along, plan meals with an eye oh the weather. If the family is listless and appetites wane in the heat, why not move them outdoors at meal time? It is surprising how fresh air and the novelty of new surroundings will perk up faded appetites. If it is convenient, jaunt out to the beach or to a favorite picnic spot; but the backyard will do. The home economists of the Consumer Section, Canada Department of Agriculture, send a reminder to have plenty of filling and substantial food. If there is a fire the food will be no problem. Many mouth-watering dishes can be made on a wire grill or plain wire rack set on two stones. Young broilers, about two pounds dressed weight, are delicious split in half or quartered and grilled directly over the coals, or separate pieces like breasts or legs may be used. The pieces may be brushed with fat or sauce and grilled slowly, turning frequently, until tender — about 35 to 45 minutes. Spareribs, chops, luncheon meats and sausages may also be grilled successfully.

It is not necessary to have a fire, however, to enjoy delicious chicken or sausage. Chicken-in-a-basket is a wonderful way to serve chicken. This intriguing-sounding ing dish is really pieces of crisp, tender, golden-brown fried chicken and may be served either hot or cold. The name started when a restaurant specializing in chicken dishes observed that many of its patrons preferred to pick up the pieces with their fingers. They decided to make this a regular practice and served the chicken attractively piled in baskets, without forks. It was so popular that this method of serving became generally accepted. To prepare the chicken, ready-to-cook cut ups may be purchased. Wipe and coat with seasoned flour or egg and crumbs, then fry in one-half inch of hot fat allowing about five minutes for each side. Cover and allow to cook about 25-30 minutes until tender. Serve with a fresh green salad.

Sausage rolls are another cold picnic dish that is sure to please. They are made by rolling oblong strips of pastry, about one-eighth of an inch thick, around small pork sausages which have been parboiled for about five minutes. These rolls are then baked in a hot oven, 425°F., for about thirty minutes. Bake and serve cold.

A chicken salad is always good picnic fare — it is filling and pleases most palates; it can be made ahead of time so that there is no need for that last minute rush, and it is easy to handle. Another point is, it can be made from fowl which is in good supply right now and is less expensive than many other meats. A six-pound fowl will give about four cups of cooked diced meat. To prepare the salad, stew or steam the fowl, then remove the meat and dice enough to make two cups. This will give six average servings — although you may want to increase the size of servings to allow for those special giant-size picnic appetites. Combine the two cups of diced chicken with two cups of diced celery and enough mayonnaise to blend well. For extra flavor, add one-quarter cup of diced green pepper or almonds, blanched, then shredded and browned.

Some prefer to marinate the ingredients for a couple of hours before serving the salad. Marinate comes from an old Spanish word meaning "to pickle" and to do it, an acid dressing is added to the ingredients to give them new flavor and to soften tough fibres. French dressing is usally used as the marinade. For a specially brisk flavor, add parsley, pickles, olives, catsup, chili sauce or Roquefort-type blue cheese to the dressing. After the ingredients have stood in the marinade for an hour or so, the salad is mixed with a regular mayonnaise or salad dressing. The salad should be kept well-chilled until the last minute, then it can be packed in a plastic container or any suitable container with a close fitting lid.

One favorite perennial in the picnic line is eggs — other foods come and go in picnic popularity, but eggs are standard fare at every outing. They can be used as a delicious filling for sandwiches, to add extra food value to light salads, or they may be served plain or devilled with the main dish. In any case, they are always hard-cooked for picnics and it is important that they be cooked correctly. All too often the term "hard-cooked" is replaced by "hard-boiled" and as a result the eggs are tough and rubbery. The home economists tell us that eggs should never be boiled. They should be cooked slowly in water just below the boiling point, allowing at least 30 minutes to cook. Of course, no one wants to have eggs with dark rings around them, so cool them immediately in cold water as soon as they are cooked. This will make peeling easier too.

The eggs may be sliced or quartered to serve with a salad or they may be devilled. To make devilled eggs, cut the eggs in half, lengthwise or crosswise, scoop out the yolks and mash them while hot and season with salt, pepper, mustard and a litttle vinegar or mix them with salad dressing and seasonings. Then place the mixture back into the whites, heaping it attractively. Delicious devilled eggs are made too, by combining finely minced ham or bits of crisp bacon with the mashed yolks and dressing. A little chili sauce, catsup or relish may also be added.

Alaska Isolated But Fine Country

Juneau Housewife Debunks Stories of Severe Climate

Regina (CP) — A housewife whose home is in Juneau, Alaska, thinks her adopted country is getting a bad deal.

Mrs. Edmund Hinke, whose husband has worked for an oil company in Juneau since 1946, debunked stories of Alaska's reputation as a land of ice and snow when she came here for a visit.

Mrs. Hinke said that while Juneau is isolated, she found it an interesting place to live. Social life is much the same as in any other city. There are a number of service clubs, and Mrs. Hinke is a member of the Parent-Teachers' Association.

As for the climate, she said it is mild in both winter and summer and precipitation comes mostly in the form of rain. Mrs. Hinke found the scenery around Juneau superior to that of California, her former home.

High Living Costs

She is faced with the same bugbear as all modern housewives — the high cost of living. Fresh vegetables are flown in from Seattle. There are two income taxes — federal and territorial, all kinds of luxury taxes and a 15 per cent tax on travel.

But higher salaries help to compensate for the high prices. Government employees in Alaska are paid 25 per cent more than those in comparable positions in the United States.

Mrs. Hinke's two sons, Keith and Bruce, find an additional advantage in living at Juneau. Schools there close May 20 and don't reopen until after Labor Day, to give teachers extra time for travelling during their vacation.

As for the stories about people wearing mukluks and parkas all the time, Mrs. Hinke said only those with money enough to have them tailored ever wear them, and "just to show off".

Let's Eat

BY

IDA BAILEY ALLEN

"It is intriguing to watch the ladies' fashions," remarked the chef. "The time when they are most 'chic' is when the costumes present contrast. A bright feather on a dark hat, a glamorous scarf with gloves that match—"

"Why this great interest in women's costumes, chef?"

Flavor Contrast

"It points up my considered opinion that contrast plays an equally great part in the presentation of a successful meal. Contrast in flavor, in the color of the food selected, and in the temperatures. Par example, a dinner that had soup, meat and salad, all seasoned with bayleaf, would be monotonous. Or if it was made up entirely of white and light-colored dishes with no color accent, it would lack appetite appeal. If every dish including the dessert, was hot, the palate would not be stimulated. And if all the foods were soft, there would be no texture contrast."

"Chef, I'm sure any homemaker will understand and agree with your comparisons. Today let's season the liver with onion for flavor contrast. Use creamed potatoes dusted with paprika for color contrast. Serve celery crunch salad for texture and temperature contrast and suggest Honey-Raisin Pudding for that final lift in flavor that tops a meal as a success."

TOMORROW'S DINNER

All Measurements Are Level

Recipes Serve Four

Celery Crunch Salad

Wash and crisp ½ bunch celery, pascal preferred. Pull off any "strings" by inserting a knife in the end of each stalk and pulling the "strings" toward the tip. Thin-slice the celery crosswise. Mix with pimiento cream dressing. Serve in nests of lettuce. Garnish with pimiento or sweet red pepper.

Cream Dressing: Combine ½ tsp. salt, 1 tsp. sugar, ⅛ tsp. each pepper and paprika, ⅓ c. salad oil, 2 tbsp. vinegar and 4 tbsp. minced pimiento or sweet red pepper. Gradually beat in ½ c. sweet or soured cream, or undiluted evaporated milk.

Honey-Raisin Pudding

Toast 6 slices raisin bread. Spread with butter or margarine and honey. Arrange in a buttered or margarined quart-sized baking dish. Pour over honey-custard. Place the dish in a pan of hot water; bake in a moderate oven for 45 min. or until firm.

Honey-Custard: Slightly beat 2 eggs; add ⅓ c. honey, 1 tsp. vanilla, ⅛ tsp. salt and 2 c. scalded milk, either whole or reconstituted evaporated or dried skim milk.

SUGGESTION FROM THE CHEF

Before sauteeing liver, slowly fry ½ c. fine-chopped onions in the fat to be used. When yellowed, remove the onions and saute the liver. Garnish with the onions.

Home-Sewing Plastics For Summer Cottage

Want the fresh breeze to flatter the curtains in your summer cottage? Why not outfit every room with cool, inexpensive plastic curtains? The problem of sewing successfully with plastics is not hard to solve. Your sewing machine, properly handled, can help you. And there is an inviting array of new colors and patterns to choose from. Plastic curtains are handy to keep clean when hot water is scarce. Sewing your own curtains takes care of the problem of fitting oddly shaped or sized cottage-windows, too.

To smooth out your plastic fabric, hang it over a door, then gently loosen the folds. Watch out for fingernails. Use the palm of your hand. Don't iron — ever. Your curtains will dissolve like a dream if you do. Pin marks won't melt out of plastic as from cloth. So when cutting, use Scotch-tape or paper-clips. Or try one of those nice, smooth stones from the beach.

To get the prettiest effects with plastic, enquire how the attachments on your sewing machine can be called upon to make ruffles, to hem, bind, edge or do other finishing touches. They're just as handy to use on plastic as cloth. Only a little extra pressure is needed. Should there be a tendency for the ruffler blade to skip gathers, put a half-inch strip of fine emery cloth between the blades. Use No. 11 needles and mercerized cotton thread. If the summer heat makes your plastic hard to handle, just dust a little talcum on the edge before inserting in your machine.

Your own sewn and styled curtains should be the pride of the beach. Designs are varied and tasteful enough in the plastic fabrics to be made up to adorn cottage living room, bedrooms, kitchen or bathroom.

Adopted by Amundsen, Eskimo Girls in B.C.

Vancouver (CP) — Two adopted Eskimo daughters of Roald Amundsen, world famous Norwegian Arctic and Antarctic explorer, are living in British Columbia. They never returned to their far north native village.

Nita works as a cook in Vancouver and her sister, Miss Olav Amundsen, lives 80 miles north of here.

Nita was recently honored by the Sons of Norway who made her an honorary member and presented her with a lifebuoy from Amundsen's ship, The Maude.

After reaching the South Pole, Amundsen tried to reach the North Pole, but failed. Shortly thereafter he adopted the two girls from a little Eskimo village at East Cape, Siberia. He never married.

In 1928 he flew north to look for a fellow explorer who had become lost. He perished in the attempt.

"I did once want to go back to my own people, the Eskimos", said Nita. "But circumstances made it impossible."

A Weekly Feature of Helpful Hints on Child Training

"Send Me To Camp"

— By NANCY CLEAVER — (Copyright)

"You may think, my dear, when you grow quite old,
You have left camp days behind;
But I know the scent of wood smoke
Will always call to mind
Little fires at twilight
And trails you used to find."

— Mary S. Edgar in "To An Old Camper"

There is magic about camp which casts a spell over boys and their lives. Their loyalty to camp is deep. Camping can be a wonderful experience for them. Enthusiasm about camping is very contagious. Many a youngster, as summer approaches, pleads with parents — "Do send me to camp this holiday!"

But there are certain questions which mothers and fathers want to ask about any camp before they entrust their child to its care. Parents investigate a camp's record most easily by making inquiries from parents of campers of recent years. They can also tell a great deal about a camp from the personality of the director and the maturity and type of counsellors employed. Perhaps this measuring stick is evaluating the suitability of a camp in question form, will be useful to you in selecting a particular camp for your boy or girl.

The first question is "Will camp be a safe place for my child?" As a parent you want to know that a camp has an excellent health and safety rating. Is the food nourishing and is adequate provision for rest made? You want to be sure that the camp's record for the past seasons has been free from a serious accident on land or in the water. You will also discover the camp's regulations for an outbreak of polio or any other disease.

Is the Camp Director and are the counsellors the kind of people with whom I can entrust my child? You want to have no misgivings about the integrity, the training, and the suitability of the personnel of the camp staff. Are there enough counsellors for the number of campers? Are these counsellors keen about their job and fitted for their responsible positions?

Will my child learn more about getting along happily with other youngsters at camp? is another question you will want to ask. Camp can be a wonderful experience in democratic living. The Council Hour can give a child a fine introduction into thinking not just of his own wishes, but of the desires of the camp as a unit. A canoe trip, an over-night hike, a camp craft project provide a "learning" setting. Under the wise direction of an able counsellor, campers plan and carry out an activity where each camper must take turns and carry his own load.

Is it likely that my child will discover a new hobby at camp? This is still another question to which you want a satisfactory answer. You want to know whether there is a fairly good chance that your child will come home from camp full of enthusiasm for a fresh hobby — and with sufficient skill to continue his new interest by himself.

Will my child learn more about campcraft and nature lore? You will be particularly keen about your child learning to live comfortably out of doors. Building of fires safely and well, hiking, cooking out of doors, are all taught through activities in a good camp. Nature lore includes adventuring into any field — birds, flowers, trees, animals of the woods. A camp might as well be in the middle of a large city as a lake's edge, among the trees, if nature lore is not an integral part of the day's program.

Last, but not least, most parents want to know: Will my child learn to swim or make progress as a swimmer and diver and become more proficient handling boats? Boys and girls, most of them, are keen to excel in water sports. But mothers and fathers want to be reassured that as well as being careful about safety rules, the campers receive competent instruction. Swimming usually is one of the most outstanding and satisfying experiences of the camp day. Boating runs a close second.

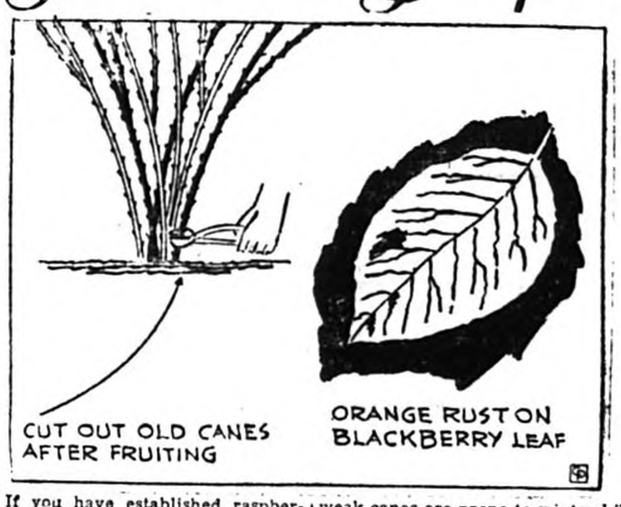

Camp — any good camp — is a marvellous investment! It pays big dividends in health, in growth, in skills and character. If at all possible, do plan to send your child to camp this summer! There is no finer way to spend the baby bonus! The years when he longs to go to camp pass so quickly and there is no good substitute for a creative, satisfying camp experience!

Take advantage of low prices to stretch your food dollar. For tender, flaky pastry, use lard. How much to use? One cup of lard with 3 cups of sifted pastry flour and 1½ teaspoons salt makes enough pastry for three large pie crusts.

Garden-Graph

If you have established raspberries in your home garden, their health and the quality of the fruit can be improved by observing certain cultural cautions. For example, after the bushes have finished fruiting they should be pruned, as shown in the accompanying Garden-Graph.

First cut out all the stalks which have fruited. This applies to red, black and purple raspberries. The old canes are of no further value to the plant. Their removal permits the new canes to grow without obstruction. Cutting out and burning the old canes also destroys any insects and diseases that they may harbor.

Next prune out the weakest of the new shoots, leaving only 5 or 6 of the sturdiest new canes. The weak canes are prone to winter kill. Therefore, pruning at the proper time will conserve much of the plant's energy, which can thus go toward a larger crop of fruit the next season.

Orange rust is the most serious disease which affects blackberries, and black and purple can raspberries. It infects the entire plant, including crown and roots. The plant, roots and all, must be removed and destroyed to stop the disease.

The blackberry leaf, illustrated, is infected with orange rust. The light areas almost covering it are deep orange color. Although found most commonly on wild species, this disease can cause serious losses in cultivated berry plantings. Watch for it!

Lachute Girl Is Bride in Pretty Church Ceremony

Gamble - Morrison

The marriage of Lois Anita, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred J. Morrison, of Lachute, to Mr. Warren Wm. Gamble, son of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Gamble, of St. Eustache-sur-le-Lac, took place Friday afternoon, June 27, at 5 o'clock in the Lachute United Church, the Rev. R. M. McMillan, of Montreal officiating, assisted by the Rev. W. B. Rosborough, of Lachute. Mrs. K. McOuat played the wedding music. White and pink peonies, roses and ferns were used to decorate.

The bride, who was given away by her father, wore an ankle-length gown of imported Guipure lace and tulle over satin, the tight-fitted lace jacket having a stand-up collar and short sleeves. Her shoulder-length veil was of tulle illusion and she carried a colonial bouquet of red roses and white sweet peas.

Miss Audrey Morrison, as maid of honor for her sister, wore an ankle-length gown of pale blue flocked tulle over taffeta, with stole and bandeau of the same material, and carried a colonial bouquet of pink carnations and mixed sweet peas.

Mr. Stewart Gamble acted as best man for his brother, and the ushers were Mr. Keith Morrison and Mr. Harold Blackwell.

Mrs. Morrison, the bride's mother, wore a gown of mauve nylon mesh, a matching hat, with navy accessories and a corsage of yellow roses. Mrs. Gamble, mother of the bridegroom, wore a gown of navy blue sheer, a hat of the same color, with navy and white accessories and a corsage of red roses.

The reception was held at the Legion Hall, where bowls of pansies were used to decorate. Later Mr. and Mrs. Gamble left for Maine, U.S.A., the bride travelling in a suit of yellow sharkskin, a matching hat of yellow straw, with white accessories and a knot of white carnations.

Following their wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Gamble will reside in Notre Dame de Grace.

Notable Decline in Quebec T.B. Rate

Ottawa (CP) — The death rate from tuberculosis in Quebes has fallen "markedly" since the start of the national health grants program in 1948, Hon. Paul Martin, Health Minister, said in a tabled reply to questions in the Commons.

He said the 1946 death rate of 72.4 per 100,000 had dropped to 39.3 by 1950. Since 1948, $7,000,000 had been spent under the grants for the control of tuberculosis in Quebec.

More than 50 per cent of all the drugs now dispensed regularly were unknown 10 years ago, conclusive proof that the huge sums of money devoted to research are well spent.

County Couple Wed Recenty

Bates - Smith

Lachute United Church was decorated with sweet peas, peonies and lily of the valley for the wedding of Miss Jean Smith, of Rivington, Que., and Mr. Samuel Bates, of Avoca, Que., which was solemnized by the Rev. W. B. Rosborough on Saturday, June 21, at 3 o'clock.

The bride wore a white gown with a lace bodice and a full nylon net skirt over taffeta; her fingertip veil was held in place with a seed pearl tiara and she carried a cascade bouquet of red roses, white carnations and sweet peas.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Gordon Smith, of Avoca, was attended by her only sister, Miss Patricia Smith, of London, Ont., who was gowned in a balerina-length gown of black and white flowered nylon net, with a confetti veil, cloche and white nylon mittens. Miss Smith carried a bouquet of red gladioli and white sweet peas.

Mr. Thomas Bates, brother of the groom, was best man. Mr. Herbert Smith and Mr. Jonathan Bates were ushers.

Mrs. Norman MacRae, mother of the bride, gowned in a navy blue two-piece dress with a lace bodice and a crepe skirt, wore a corsage of red and white carnations.

Women's Institutes Urge Reforms in Women's Jail

Once again, members of the Quebec Women's Institutes are focusing their attention on needed reforms in the Protestant Women's Jail at Montreal. A petition was made jointly with the Montreal Council of Women, over three years ago, that conditions be improved in this institution, following a thorough investigattion by Mrs. H. F. Reusing, chairman of Penal Reform for that organization. A few changes were made following that action but mental cases are still housed there under most deplorable conditions.

As these comprise roughly one-third of the jail population, it creates a well-nigh intolerable situation for the other inmates, as their nerve-wracking voices can be heard all over this small building, day and night.

Mrs. Reusing visited the recent Q.W.I. convention, where she again asked for the co-operation of rural women in urging the Provincial Government to clear up this sore spot in its administration by finding suitable accommodation for these mental cases. The cases are "under observation", and should be receiving regular treatment by doctors and nurses under proper conditions, which is not possible in the only space available in the jail — the punishment cells, narrow, black cubby holes, whose only furnishings are a cot and a pail.

Recent Wedding At Morin Heights

Thornton - Kilpatrick

In Morin Heights United Church on June 21, at 7 o'clock in the evening, the marriage took place of Miss Rose Marie Wilde Thornton, of Montreal, to Mr. Sydney James Kilpatrick, of Ville Emard, son of Mrs. Geo. Kilpatrick and the late Geo. Kilpatrick, of Mille Isles.

The Rev. C. R. Wood performed the ceremony, Mrs. Geo. Watchorn was the oroganist, while Mr. Albert Rutledge was voilinist. Spring flowers adorned the altar of the church.

Given in marriage by Mr. Freeman Kilpatrick, the bride was attended by Miss Doreen Neill, of Montreal. Miss Loraine Swail, of Arundel, was flower girl. Mr. Percy Black acted as best man, while Mr. Robin Thornton, of Montreal, and Mr. Keith Kilpatrick ushered.

The bride wore a floor-length gown of white lace, the bodice having a stand-up collar and sleeves ending in points over the hands. Her fingertip veil of tulle illusion was held by a coronet of seed pearls, while she carried a cascade bouquet of American Beauty roses. Her jewelry was a bracelet of pearls, the gift of the bridegroom.

The bridesmaid wore a long gown of ice-blue net over taffeta, with matching picture hat, and carried a nosegay of pink roses. The flower girl was dressed in pale yellow tulle nylon, with a bandeau to match, and carried a nosegay of yellow roses.

Following a reception at Victory Hall, Mille Isles, the bridal couple left on their wedding trip by motor to Hampton Beach and various points in the States. The bride travelled in a navy blue gabardine suit with grey accessories, wearing a corsage of pink roses. . . . The couple will reside in Montreal upon their return.

AROUND THE HOME

The old saying that there is nothing new under the sun might be refuted, for new ideas are constantly encountered during the course of a year. That man had something a little different from the ordinary run of things who formed his storm windows into a very serviceable green house. Having built a light framework of two by fours to support the weight, and using angle irons for joints, he placed eight storm windows in an upright position for sides and ends. The top was constructed with the small windows from the verandah.

One of the end windows served as a door. A centre window on the top was on hinges to permit the necessary ventilation. Two benches gave plenty of room for seed flats. When the garden was planted the windows were taken down, given a coat of fresh paint and stored until autumn.

It is only a step from the cradle to the bookcase. At least it seemed that way in a home I visited where I noted how small pieces of wood had been picked up from time to time, given a dressing, then turned into a magazine rack and a doll's cradle.

CONVENIENT TABLE

Tables are always in order, and easily constructed by the craftsman who is handy with tools. I was quite taken with one I came across recently. This man had gathered up broken billiard cues at his club, then cut them to the required length for table legs, small ends up. Pieces of plywood served as top and shelves, the edges being nicely sandpapered smooth. The holes to receive the legs were of varying sizes so that each one was tight in place. Glue was used for additional strength. The top and shelves were of ¼" B.C. plywood. The table was given a ground coat and then enamelled.

SERVICEABLE STOOLS

We sometimes admire good things and miss the obvious. That fine stool you saw in a neighbor's home can easily be duplicated without too much trouble. Examining such a stool it was apparent that taking old pipes they could be bent to almost any desired shape. On the other hand, to do away with bending, it would be simpler to use elbow joints just like the plumber does, and thus get the required angles. The arms on which the top rests must have four holes for screw nails, for strength. Staples might be used, but there is danger of these coming out in time. The top could be covered with oil-cloth such as used on pantry shelves, or artificial leather. The enamel is the secret for covering the pipes.

The Single Transferrable Vote

By M. V. Trayers

Now that elections are in the air and newspaper headlines have featured a mix-up in B.C. over the adoption of the system of voting employed there at the recent provincial election, it might be well if we just glanced at the cause of the supposed mix-up. Opinions ranging all the way from "an awful mess" to "no one knows where we are" have been quoted from political leaders and others in B.C. Days after the first counting of the votes, only three candidates were declared elected and no one seemed to know when the others would be elected or declared so. . . .

Here in Quebec, and up till very recently, we have elected our members to parliament and our provincial legislatures by a plurality vote throughout all Canada. Under this system voters had but one vote, which they signified for the candidate of their choice by placing an X after his or her name on the ballot paper. By this means some candidates rolled up huge majorities, and less favored candidates lost their deposits. For the purpose of utilizing this system of voting we arranged single seat constituencies, that is, small areas, generally of county size, electing one member to parliament or the legislature. If this small area or constituency contained a live, progressive farming community, a thriving busy industrial section, and a town or city of some size, thus embracing three distinct and different elements of Canadian life, one member or representative must endeavor to coordinate the different interests, sometimes diametrically opposite in outlook, and adopt a position on the floor of the house which is neither fish nor flesh, but a compromise to suit the most pressing need of his constituents. In this way the "squeaking wheel gets the most oil" and minorities suffer.

The Single Transferrable Vote was designed to correct this anomaly. This system of voting is not adaptable to single-member constituencies, such as we have at present. To adequately represent the various interests such as outlined above, the area is enlarged and two and three members are chosen to represent each constituency. By this means it is expected that representatives of the different interests will be elected and minorities will have a chance of placing their views and positions before the councils of the nation.

The ballot paper contains the names of the candidates nominated, as at present, but instead of marking an X after the name of his choice the voter marks number 1 after his first choice and 2 after his second choice, and so on, placing a number after each candidate till the list is exhausted. He can vote for every name on the ballot paper with the number of his choice. The voter is then secure in the knowledge that if the candidate which he desired to be elected secures sufficient votes, and his vote is not required, it will go to the second candidate of his choice and will not be lost, as happens in the present system of majorities.

The counting of the votes is more difficult than in the straight vote because the second choices of the voters have to be assessed, and if necessary the third and fourth choices, till the exact desires of the electorate are determined. In a short article such as this, it is difficult to convey how the system works down to the smallest proportional detail. Let's assume that for a two-member constituency, five candidates were nominated. Let's say the number of votes cast for all the five candidates was 1,000. To become elected a candidate must obtain what's called "the quota", that is, the number of votes cast divided by the number of seats plus one. In the case we are considering, the "quota" would be 501. Any candidate receiving 501 votes would be automatically elected. Suppose that after the first count of the votes we find that the standing is as follows: A 300, B 300, C 150, D 135, and E 115. No candidate having received the quota necessary to secure his election (that is, 501 votes) — no candidate has been elected in this first count. The returning officer now proceeds to distribute the 115 votes belonging to E, who being the lowest candidate on the list is eliminated. Now let's assume that E had run as Independent Conservative, and that B (who had 300 votes on the first count) was the official Conservative candidate. It is prettty certain that the majority, if not all of E's 115 votes, will go to B. Let's assume B received all of the 115 votes belonging to E, giving B 415; he still needs 86 votes to secure election. Candidate D now being the lowest, is eliminated, and his 135 votes are distributed according to choice 2 of those who voted for him. If out of those 135 second choices, 86 are marked for B, then B is declared elected, and any surplus over 86 distributed according to the 3rd choice marked by the voter. The same procedure is repeated till all the vacancies are filled.

If, with the same election figures for votes cast, and the same number of candidates as we considered in our example, A was a very popular choice and received 720 first preference votes — he would be elected on the first count and the distribution of his surplus might be sufficient to bring in one of those away down in the list, or advance them sufficiently so that the elemination of the lowest candidate would secure their election.

The advantages of this system of voting — and there are advantages over our straight vote system, despite the delays in counting the votes — are principally concerned with giving adequate representation to well organized minorities and representing more truly the desires and intentions of the voter, so that no vote is wasted or lost.

The Single Transferrable Vote system is in use in several countries throughout the world; its benefits are more readily recognized in the more thickly populated area of Europe than in a sparsely populated country such as ours, but it is nevertheless applicable to any country.

SCOTTISH HEIRLOOMS IN UNUSUAL DISPLAY

Edinburgh (CP) — Occupants of Scottish castles and mansions are on the look-out for attractive gowns worn by their ancestors. The gowns are needed for an unusual exhibition to be held in the National Portrait Gallery here during the International Festival of Music and Drama in the fall.

The exhibition is to combine 18th century Scottish portraits with clothes of the period, and the National Museum of Antiquities is collaborating with the gallery in organizing the exhibition, which will be under the auspices of the Arts Council.

Only clothes known to have been worn in Scotland are to be included, but in many of the ancient homes in Scotland dresses of the right period are laid away. A number of prominent families have already promised to lend these heirlooms.

Annual Patrol to Eastern Arctic

Ottawa — On June 27 the Canadian Government Steamship, the "C. D. Howe", sailed from Montreal on her third assignment to Arctic waters to carry out Canada's 30th annual patrol to the Eastern Arctic, which provides administration, law enforcement, health, welfare and other services to Canada's scattered populattion of Eskimos and post personnel in these regions.

Weather and ice conditions permitting, the "C. D. Howe" will proceed as far north as Cape Sabine on the east coast of Ellesmere Island. It is also intended to pay a courtesy visit to Thule, Greenland, and to call at Resolute Bay on Cornwallis Island, where the main Canadian - U.S. joint weather station is located.

The heavy passenger list of the "C. D. Howe" leaving Montreal is made up entirely of government officials and technicians. There is one passenger on the list who will be the guest of the Government during the entire trip. He is the Deputy Governor of Greenland, Neils Otto Christensen, who is making a study of Canadian administrative methods in the Eastern Arctic. His visit to the Canadian Arctic is part of the exchange of information on northern regions which is being carried on between Denmark and Canada. When the "C. D. Howe" makes its courtesy call at Thule, Greenland, early in August, it will give Canadian and Danish officials an opportunity to discuss some common problems in the administration of Arctic regions.

The itinerary of the Department of Transport's Arctic supply vessel provides for a 100-day journey of approximately 12,000 miles with visits to some 26 northern settlements. With the exception of the port of Churchill where the vessel will be refuelled and re-supplied and where additional cargo and passengers will be taken aboard, only the briefest stop-over will be possible at each of these many ports of call. Some 730 tons of cargo will be taken on at Montreal and an additional 525 tons at Churchill.

The post office aboard the "C. D. Howe" will be operated by a member of the Railway Mail Service of the Post Office Department. He will pick up mail at Canada's farthest north post office, Craig Harbour on the south coast of Ellesmere Island, and at such other far away places as Pond Inlet, Pangnirtung and Lake Harbour on Baffin Island, and Fort Chimo and Port Harrison in northern Quebec. On the other hand, some 320 lbs. of mail will be placed aboard at Montreal and 2,000 lbs. as Churchill.

Among the varied cargo proceeding north on the "C. D. Howe" to various northern settlements is a shipment of one ton of reindeer skins to help meet the skin clothing needs of the Eastern Arctic Eskimos. These skins have come from the herd at the Government Reindeer Station near Aklavik, Mackenzie River delta, which has been developed as an additional source of food and clothing for the Eskimo peoplé in the Western Arctic. This is the first shipment to the Eastern Arctic.

Oil for heating purposes and for operating diesel engines which supply power and light to the various government stations, constitutes the bulk of the cargo being carried by the "C. D. Howe". Lumber and pre-fabricated lumber also constitutes an important item on the ship's manifest. More than 5,700 lbs. of drugs and medicines will also be carried on the vessel, destined in small lots for the different stations in the Arctic.

A man wearing a hearing aid entered a taxi.

"Must be tough to be deaf", sympathized the loquacious driver. "But nearly all of us have something the matter. Take me for example, I can hardly see."

MORE PEOPLE BUY CHEVROLET TRUCKS THAN ANY OTHER MAKE

Stack up what you get for what you pay . . . and join the nation's largest group of truck buyers by choosing Chevrolet

Maybe you didn't know that by far the biggest number of truck users in Canada today are buying Chevrolet Trucks.

They are . . . and for good hard-headed reasons. Because what they're after in a truck can be set down about like this:

1) It's got to be low in cost. No use paying a lot of extra money for a truck that the truck will have to earn back. Chevrolet trucks give you more for your money.

2) Upkeep and operating costs must be low. A truck is money-making equipment. It can't be a money-waster. Chevrolet trucks work for rock-bottom "wages" on fuel and maintenance.

3) How well the truck does the job is all-important. It's got to have the capacity, power and rugged construction to get work done—efficiently and economically. Chevrolet trucks are engineered and built for your loads.

4) The truck must be rugged, long lasting. That's an important part of over-all economy. Chevrolet trucks traditionally bring more at trade-in, for what they cost, than any other truck.

If these considerations make sense to you, take a good long look at facts 1, 2, 3 and 4 below. Then come in and let's see how a Chevrolet truck can save you money in your business.

ON THE ROAD WITH THE GREATEST PAYLOAD

Fact No. 1
More truck for your money
Stack up a Chevrolet truck against any other truck, capable of handling the same payloads, and you'll see that Chevrolet gives you far more for your money. Chevrolet, for all its low price, brings you ruggedness, stamina, and exclusive truck features you won't find in many trucks costing a lot more.

Fact No. 2
Rock-bottom operating costs
Many thousands of truck users have proved to their own satisfaction that Chevrolet costs the least of all to own and maintain. Valve-in-Head economy, in the four great Chevrolet engines, saves on gas. Chevrolet's special 4-way engine lubrication system reduces friction and wear, keeps oil costs low.

Fact No. 3
Engineered and built for your loads
Chevrolet trucks are engineered to your payload requirements. You don't waste money by buying "too much truck" — you don't risk work interruption or slow-downs by buying "too little truck." Frame, axles, springs, body, brakes, and power are part of a well-balanced team.

Fact No. 4
Lower, slower depreciation
Records show that Chevrolet trucks traditionally bring more money at resale or trade-in than any other make. Chevrolet's market value stays up because the value stays in. Here is further evidence that Chevrolet is the best truck buy.

Can You Answer This One?

How often have you been asked a question on some Bible subject or some basic theme of Bible teaching and felt unable to answer it briefly and intelligently? You may not have had any answer at all; yet one should be able to give a reason for the hope he has in him or make a defense of important Bible truths. For exactly that purpose the book "Let God Be True" is published. It provides you with this basic information, which is so vitally necessary to truth-loving persons. Those who have right principles should be able to defend them. Why not send for a copy of this 320-page book now? It is complete with scripture index and subject index. You will then be in position to answer or discuss the many Bible questions that are thoroughly presented in its pages.

AMONG THE CHURCHES

United Church at St. Andrews Marks 25th Anniversary

(Our District Correspondent)

St. Andrews East — On Sunday, June 29, the United Church of St. Andrews East held special services to celebrate its 25th anniversary.

At the morning service the sermon was given by the Rev. G. W. Case, pastor of the church. Guest speaker in the evening was the Rev. J. A. Mowatt, of Hudson, Que. Large congregations included visitors from the surrounding communities.

Special music was rendered by the choir, the solists being Mr. H. W. Flower at the morning service and Mrs. Eric Stephens in the evening.

An anniversary dinner was served in the basement hall by the Women's Guild on Monday evening, June 30. After the dinner greetings from the Montreal Presbytery were extended by the Rev. Mr. Rose, and brief addresses were given by the neighboring clergy.

Two films on Forest Preservation were shown by Mr. Mansel Wilson, of Grenville, to an appreciative audience.

Grenville Confirmation

Grenville — St. Matthew's Church, Grenville, was filled to capacity for the confirmation on Sunday morning last, when the Lord Bishop of Montreal "laid hands" on 23 persons. Taking part in the service were the rector, the Rev. P. R. Stote, who presented the candidates to the Bishop and read the Preface to the confirmation service; the Rev. E. C. Royle, who presented a candidate from Hudson, and read one of the scripture passages; and the Rev. M. A. Stephens of Ogdensburg (whose son, George, was among the candidates), reading a scripture passage.

The Lord Bishop addressed the candidates on the meaning of "confirmation", stressing the fact of its bearing on their everyday lives.

Held Farewell Party For Departing Minister And Family at Morin

(Our District Correspondent)

Morin Heights — On Thursday, June 19, a pleasant surprise party was held in the school auditorium in honor of the Rev. and Mrs. C. R. Wood and son, David, who are leaving here — the Rev. Mr. Wood having accepted the charge of the United Church at Vankleek Hill.

Mr. Archie Hamilton, as chairman, introduced the speakers and announced the musical items. The Rev. David McCord, in a few brief remarks, expressed the sentiments of the audience, Au Revoir and Bon Voyage, also remarking what an energetic, enthusiastic and capable couple the Rev. and Mrs. Wood had been, and wished them every success in their new charge. Other interesting talks were given by the Rev. W. B. Rosborough of Lachute and the Rev. Mr. Norman of Ste. Therese. Solos were rendered by Mrs. Sims and Mrs. Carter, while the C.G.I.T. and choir sang several enjoyable numbers, all accompanied by Mrs. G. Watchorn at the organ.

Little Judy Watchorn presented Mrs. Wood with a bouquet of red roses. Mr. J. Brown presented the Rev. and Mrs. Wood with an engraved silver tea set and tray, while wee David was given a wrist watch, as farewell gifts from the congregation and friends.

Mrs. Wood, the Rev. Wood and David, all thanked the gathering for their gifts.

'Old Home Week-End' Atmosphere at Grenv'l Strawberry Festival

Grenville — The strawberry festival of the Parish of Grenville was well attended last Saturday evening. The weather was ideal for the occasion. The spacious rectory grounds were filled with guests and visitors from 5.30 p.m. to well after 11 p.m.

Over 550 persons enjoyed the luscious berries grown by Thomas McMichael of Grenville and Robert Hoare of Calumet, with ice cream to cap the servings.

The guest of honor, the Lord Bishop of Montreal, was presented with a fruit cake of welcome, specially decorated with the symbols of the Bishop's office, namely, the shepherd's crook and a lamb.

The festival was opened by Mr. W. M. Cottingham, who was accompanied by Mrs. Cottingham.

Other guests were the Rev. C. W. P. Baugh and Mrs. Baugh, of Lakefield, the Rev. Horace G. Baugh, of Morin Heights, the Rev. Father E. Therriault and the Rev. Father Vinette, of Grenville, the Rev. E. C. Royle and Mrs. Royle, of Hudson Heights.

Among those attending were noted people from Lachute and Brownsburg, Hawkesbury, Montreal, Toronto, Ottawa, Temiskaming and many other points. The atmosphere of an "old home week-end" was appreciated by many, including the Bishop, the guest of honor.

Four Bridal Attendants in Pretty Ceremony

Izzard - Ball

Brownsburg United Church was tastefully decorated with pew sprays of white garden flowers against a background of multi-colored peonies and draping ferns for the marriage ceremony of Margaret Dawn Ball, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ball, of Brownsburg, to David James Izzard, R.C.A.F., son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Izzard, also of Brownsburg, on Saturday, June 28.

The Rev. S. J. Pike officiated. Mrs. John Dewar played the wedding music, and Miss Shirley Gagné sang, "I'll Walk Beside You", during the signing of the register.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attended by her sister, Miss Lorraine Ball, as maid of honor, and by Miss Kay Taylor, of Montreal, Miss Guen Beavis, of Brownsburg, and Miss Joan Lindsay, also of Montreal, as bridesmaids.

Mr. Joseph Izzard acted as best man for his brother, and the ushers were Mr. Lorne Brewer, Mr. Stewart Taylor and Mr. Jerry Izzard, brother of the groom.

The bride wore a gown of embossed nylon tulle, the bodice fashioned with a boat-shaped neckline and long sleeves ending in points over the hands, the skirt being flared. Her train, which was embroidered with pearls and diamants, fell from the shoulders, while her viel of tulle was held by a bandeau of pearls with a wreath of orange blossom and lily-of-the valley headdress. She was carrying a cascade bouquet of American Beauty roses and baby's breath.

The attendants were dressed in full-skirted frocks of Bengaline taffeta with nylon net, the bodices having round, scalloped neck-lines and elbow-length sleeves. Their round bouquets of gerbera were entwined with twigs of sweet peas.

Mrs. Ball, mother of the bride, wore a gown of light blue with white accessories and a corsage of red carnations.

The reception was held in the church basement, where garden flowers arranged in lavish profuison decorated the long lines of tables for about 100 guests, who enjoyed a delightful repast. Toasts were offered to the bride and groom.

Leaving after the reception for a trip to West Virginia, the bride was attired in a white gabardine suit with red accessories. Upon their return Mr. and Mrs. Izzard will reside at Toronto.

Montreal — The retirement of Walter L. Payne of Montreal, who has been in Canadian Pacific Railway publicity work since 1907, has been announced here by J. H. Campbell, manager of the department of public relations.

He will be succeeded as director of the motion picture and speakers' bureau by E. W. Wakefield, chief clerk with the department since 1945.

A C.P.R. employee for 47 years, Mr. Payne joined the company's publicity department in London, England, after service in the traffic department there, and came to Montreal in 1929.

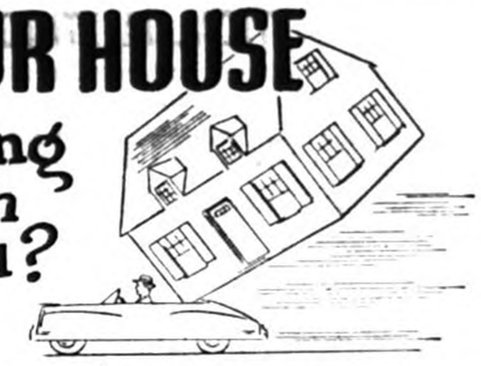

He was chief clerk in the publicity department from 1931 until 1945, when he became director of the motion picture and speakers' bureau. Since then, he has given hundreds of illustrated addresses before service clubs and other groups across Canada, in addition to handling the distribution of C.P.R. films and arranging for C.P.R. officers to address various organizations. He will reside in St. Andrews East, Que., after his retirement.

Mr. Wakefield has spent his entire railway service with the department in Montreal. Joining the company in 1921, he served in various accounting positions with the department, and has been chief clerk since 1945.

Work and Bread Come First

CORRESPONDENCE TO THE EDITOR

In the last 25 years many candidates have faced the public with thousands of attractive and illogical promises they never realized after the elections, except when their personal interests and those of their best friends were involved.

To the candidates and the future deputy of Argenteuil, we say — this time we wish to save you the perplexity of thinking day and night, "What shall I promise the people, to induce them to vote my way, on July 16?"

Workers, farmers and the majority of Argenteuil citizens know what they want this year. They want work, to provide bread, butter, meat and milk to feed their families 52 weeks a year, and to buy clothes and other necessities of life. Farmers want good markets for their products and facilities to buy from the West, wheat and other food for their cattle. The East has always paid indemnities to keep the West going, because the majority of Canada's population is concentrated in Quebec and Ontario. When we need something from the Prairies, we invariably pay full price.

All citizens want prosperity and harmony, and the ability to maintain them. To provide this, our next deputy must use his energy, his contacts and influence, to bring us good industries where people can work the year round at a decent salary.

Agriculture and Industry must be the base of every constructive program. To establish a solid economic structure we must follow the same rules as in building a good house. We start with the cellar and foundations, not with the roof and the curtains.

We are very proud of our commodious schools, and we are happy to drive our automobiles on wide, smooth roads. But when our poor-class children go to the big school every morning, on nice roads, without breakfast and without adequate shoes on their feet — when at night they must go to bed without bread in their stomachs and with tears in their eyes — are they in fit condition to benefit from their schooling?

What happens to these poor pupils and poor families when the wage-earner receives no salary, when their homes are sold for mounting taxes?

In Granby, they now have good schools for primary and secondary courses, for commercial, technical and artistic studies. They have a civic library, parks, zoological garden, artificial lake and splendid roads. But they started their program 20 years ago, by bringing industries and population. Now, with good waterworks, 65 industries, good salaries, building co-operatives and a population of 40,000, they are in a position to proceed with the "decoration" of the "building".

That is the logical and surest way to attain real prosperity. We want to achieve prosperity and maintain it.

Pharmacist.

Leading Songstress From Northern Quebec

Meet Constance Lambert, one of French Canada's leading singers, who is heard frequently in the broadcast series Gaieté Parisienne (Sunday nights at 8 on the CBC). She was born into a musical farm family in Northern Quebec, and ever since she was 14, her ambition has been to sing in opera. Towards this goal she has been studying in Montreal under well-known singers. She made her concert debut in Ottawa. Last year she was one of the winners of the CBC's "Nos Futures Etoiles" talent contest, and since then she has been starred many times in French and English network programs.

Bermuda Provides Many Attractions

Regina (CP) — Mrs. Beryl Willis of Toronto probably knows more about the island of Bermuda thaan the natives.

She is Canadian manager of the Bermuda trade development board and also is head of the Bermuda news bureau in Canada.

Mrs. Willis is on a tour of western points to see that travel agencies throughout the west have accurate information and up-to-date literature on this tourists' paradise. She herself has visited Bermuda some 15 or 16 times in her five years as public relations officer for the Bermuda government.

"Even though the island is only approximately 22 miles long and two miles across at the widest point, I still haven't seen everything," she said.

Bermuda's main industry is of course the tourist trade, with growing and exporting giant lilies in second place.

Mistaken Idea

Mrs. Willis said the idea that Bermuda is an exclusive haven for the rich is quite mistaken. She says there are hundreds of moderately priced hotels that provide excellent service. Since the island is so small, a bicycle, rented for $4,000 a week, will take you anywhere you care to go. There are a few small English cars permitted on the island, but they have to keep under the 15-mile-an-hour speed limit.

"It's funny to see a fellow and his girl arrive at a formal dance on a bicycle", Mrs. Willis said. "They're two seaters, and the boy does the pedalling, while the girl sits calmly behind".

Most of the white people on the island are descendants of English settlers shipwrecked on their way to Virginia about the 16th century, Mrs. Willis explained.

There are a lot of Canadians on the island, she said, "in fact the small radio station there is manned by five Canadians."

The shops are a show window for British goods, including fine cashmere and beautiful china. One product purchased frequently by Canadians is French perfume, which costs half as much as in Canada.

Thirty-four clubs compose the Royal Canadian Flying Clubs Association which plays a large part in training pilots in the Dominion's defence build-up.

Pat was thought to be dying. A friend at the bedside asked:

"Have you made peace with God and renounced the devil?"

"I've made peace with God", Pat answered, "but I'm in no position to antagonize anybody!"

Perkins Glue Co. To Establish In Ayersville

The importance of this new industry to the progress of both Lachute and Ayersville, is emphasized by Mr. Lefebvre; it indicates primarily that the two municipalities have undisputed advantages both from industrial and commercial standpoints, and that continued effort should be maintained to capitalize on these advantages.

It is recalled by Mr. Lefebvre, as Chamber of Commerce committeeman, that the Ghamber set its sights this year on "industrial expansion for Lachute". President Horace Lamarche has devoted tireless efforts to the materialization of this aim. The ice is now broken, a new industry is to be established here, and others will follow its example. It is up to each and every one — urges the Chamber spokesman — to impress the advantages of this centre, such as its geographic location, available sites, adequate labor, inter-racial amity and progressive spirit among civic, political and industrial leaders. . .

Gerard Lefebvre, in furnishing the details of this development, adds a note of appreciation to all who played an active part in its realization, and in particular to Gilbert E. Ayers, to whom considerable of the credit is due.

Labour Dispute Settled at B'burg

The talked-of strike at Brownsburg C-I-L was averted at an employees' meeting Tuesday evening by general agreement with concessions of the arbitration board. A general increase of 16% over rates existing in the previous contract had been rejected by a majority vote, largely comprised of female workers. The bone of contention was settled with an offer of straight 10 cents an hour increase to women workers. To this latest proposal the C-I-L employees voted in favor, with only 4 dissenting, while Canadian Safety Fuse voted unanimously.

Cottingham Gives Radio Address

Ungava was referred to by Mr. Cottingham as "the treasure pit of the New World". A few years ago all Ungava signified was a place, a story-book place, where a trapper entered, never to return. What is it today? The most vital centre of North America's steel industry.

The company concerned in Ungava will pay $100,000 per year, for exploitation rights, which run out in a short time. Meanwhile, the enterprise will have invested an estimated $225,000,000 at least, before a single ounce of iron ore is shipped. "The Liberals forgot to mention this", claimed the speaker.

A 360-mile railroad is being built at a cost of more than $100,000,000 from Seven Islands to Burnt Creek. And the Quebec government didn't have to pay a cent. Under former regimes, huge subsidies were made by Federal and provincial governments for railroad construction.

Highlighting the news these days is the discovery and development of vast copper mines in the Gaspé Peninsula, "long neglected by former administrations". The abandon into which Gaspé was thrown is now being corrected, as Premier Duplessis centres his attention on the peninsula. A mining company has begun exploitation of a 60-million-ton copper field there.

A few weeks ago, Mr. Duplessis announced that a submarine cable across the St. Lawrence River would bring vital power to Gaspé from the unlimited resources along the North Shore. "Gaspé has found justice at last, under an understanding and even-minded regime".

Another great industry which has prospered under the Union Nationale is, without doubt, the pulp and paper business. Today, one of every five newspaper pages in the world comes from Quebec.

Quebec's mineral production has risen sharply from the $90,000,000 it totalled in 1945, to $250,000,000 at the present time. This province has the richest asbestos mines in the world.

"Everywhere the watch-word is 'Progress'," said Mr. Cottingham. . . . "In the educational field, the Duplessis administration has solved a great problem and set a fine example, by granting minorities within this province, fair and just treatment."

"The Union Nationale deserves your confidence because it has had great confidence in you. . . Vote for the Union Nationale candidate in your riding", Mr. Cottingham concluded.

County Electioneering in High Gear, On Last Lap to Public Polls

Old-Time Joint Meeting Following Nomination Proceedings Yesterday

A semblance of the old-time elections, when enthusiasm ran high and halls were crowded, was evident Wednesday afternoon in Lachute Auditorium for the joint Nomination meeting in the coming contest.

There were only two candidates, Messrs. W. M. Cottingham, representing the Union Nationale, and Bernard L. Gosselin, for the Liberal party. These two names were presented to the large gathering by Mayor Jas. W. McGibbon, who acted as chairman.

The first speaker, Mr. Cottingham, dealt chiefly with the record of achievement of the Duplessis Government in its four years of power, and his own accomplishments for the welfare of the County, stressing the maintenance of roads and advancement in education through the building of new schools.

Mr. Gosselin, as the next speaker, stated he was disgusted with the Union Nationale regime, and condemned the methods used in granting of government contracts, which cost two and three times the expenditure for works done by local contractors, in order that money could be paid to the party funds. Terming Mr. Duplessis a "dictator" he urged the people not to sell their birthright.

Linton W. Armstrong followed on behalf of the Union Nationale candidate, outlining briefly the progress made in this County in the matter of education and new schools. He challenged Mr. Gosselin, to look over the records and see how fairly contracts were awarded. Stressing the fact that Mr. Cottingham had done more in four years than anyone previously in 50 years, he urged those present to work hard for his re-election.

Mr. K. McKay, of Montreal, speaking for Mr. Gosselin, referred to the unjust tax regulations, and to the Ungava iron ore developments, which he claimed were not giving people back their fair share of profits.

Gaston Laurier, of Huberdeau, contradicted in no uncertain terms the numerous accusations made against Mr. Cottingham and his party, and emphasized the benefits received by Argenteuil County during Mr. Cottingham's term of office.

Philippe Valois, M.P., referred to the long list of signatures presented to Mr. Duplessis regarding the issuing of permits for the sale of liquor in taverns and grills, also to the abuses and violation of the law in this regard.

Five minutes remaining, Rene Larivé, of Montreal, spoke briefly, declaring the past four years of the Union Nationale regime as "an era of corruption".

Mr. Cottingham, in order to reply to the numerous charges made by his opponents, was allowed ten minutes time, but merely stated that his past record was sufficient, thanking his adversaries for their untimely remarks, all of which had helped him in his stand.

Mr. McGibbon, as chairman, was thanked by Messrs. Cottingham and Gosselin for presiding over the meeting in such an efficient manner.

Plan Pilgrimage to Cap-Madeleine This Sunday

The first organized pilgrimage from the St. Jerome Diocese to the Catholic shrine at Cap-de-la-Madeleine will be personally conducted by His Excellency Archbishop Emilien Frenette on Sunday, July 13. All parishes of the diocese will participate.

Two special trains will be provided by the C.P.R. — one travelling from Calumet through Lachute and Ste. Therese, the other passing through St. Jerome from northern sections of the diocese. The Archbishop accompanying the pilgrims on the lengthy trip, will proceeed on one of these special trains and return on the other.

The event is planned regardless of weather, wet or fine — the program at Cap-de-la-Madeleine opening with a grand pontifical mass in open air at 10 a.m. The train leaving Calumet at 6 a.m. will stop at Lachute at 6.37.

HOURS OF VOTING

Election Day is next Wednesday, July 16. With the froth and fury of the hustings but an echo of a vigorous campaign — the electors will ring the final bell. . .

All good citizens will exercise their franchise, between the hours of 9 a.m. and 6.30 p.m. (D.S.T.), at their appointed polling places.

U.S. Champion To Star Here in Annual Invitation

Scoop Engagement For Big Golfing Event

Julius Boros, of Southern Pines, N.C., who won the United States Open Golf Championship at Dallas, Texas last month, dethroning Ben Hogan, has accepted an invitation to play in the Lachute Open tournament on Sunday, July 27.

The invitation to the newly crowned golfing sensation was made by Gilbert Ayers, who expects record galleries to witness this annual popular event in which most of the outstanding Eastern Canada professionals participate for cash awards.

Boros will be paired in a special foursome with Stanley Horne, Islesmere, Jules Huot, Laval-sur-le-Lac, and Jack Archer, the local pro.

Ch. of Commerce Submits Requests To C.P. Railway

Following complaints from neighboring residents of annoyance concerning the frequent and prolonged clanging of the bell at Bethany Street railway crossing, a request was forwarded to the Canadian Pacific Railway Company by the Chamber of Commerce, asking that the bell be discontinued and the flashing signal remain in operation at this danger point. Advice has been received from the C.P.R. that they will comply with this request, and the nuisance will be remedied within a short time.

Another petition was forwarded by the Chamber of Commerce, endorsed by 85 residents in the area of Chatham and Milway Streets, asking that a pedestrian crossing be established giving right-of-way across the track between these two thoroughfares, at the foot of Wilson Street. The need has been felt some time due to the lengthy distance between the two existing crossings.

Six Autos Won At Fiesta in Hawkesbury

Hawkesbury — A drawing for six 1952 automobiles ended the Dominion Day picnic and sports day sponsored by the Hawkesbury Social Centre.

More than 5,000 people crowded the school grounds to play games and watch the acrobatic show put on by students from St. Joseph's Industrial School at Alfred.

Winners of the six cars were: — Royal Lapensee, of Plantagenet; R. Lamarche, of Hawkesbury; R. Patterson and V. Patterson, both of Burlington, Ont.; W. J. Miller, of Bowmanville, Ont.; and J. Edwards, of Kingston.

The celebrations started at 10 a.m. with a 150-car parade headed by Mayor C. E. Lafrance, who was accompanied by Canon R. Guindon, parish priest, and R. Mondrie, president of the Social Centre.

Following them was the Dollard des Ormeaux bugle band, from Valleyfield, Que.

Boy Scout Officials And Sponsors Visit Camp Tamaracouta

View Site Allotted To Troops of Laurentian Division

A representative group from the Laurentian District of the Boy Scouts Association visited Camp Tamaracouta last Saturday, at the invitation of Mr. Earl T. Moore, president of the Metropolitan District of Montreal, under whose auspices the Camp is operated.

In addition to Mr. Moore and Mrs. Moore, the visitors were welcomed by Cyril J. Dendy, Provincial Executive Commissioner. Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Haynes, also of the Montreal District Council accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Moore.

The Camp factor, Leslie C. Houldworth, conducted the visitors on a tour of the property, which covers 450 acres around Lake Tamaracouta.

Camp officials advised that things were somewhat upset "due to Saturday being change-over day", but the visitors found everything quite shipshape. Seventeen buses had transported the incoming Scouts from Montreal and returned with the outgoing group.

Following the tour of the Camp, the visitors enjoyed a hearty dinner in the dining hall, along with the several hundred Boy Scouts.

Capt. C. G. Edgell of Ste. Therese, the District Scoutmaster, is in charge of Cumberland House at Camp Tamaracouta, where Scouts without a leader are accommodated.

The Laurentian District hopes to make use of a campsite on the Tamaracouta property. Several of the delegates visited the proposed site and were well pleased with the terrain, which rises rather abruptly from the lakeshore and has excellent slopes for camping on pasture land, generously dotted with evergreen trees.

The various units draw food supplies from the Trading Post, which is efficiently operated by W. J. C. Hewetson. Two meals a day are prepared by each unit on its own campsite. By so doing the cost of camping is reduced to a minimum, and at the same time boys are trained to be self-reliant.

The cost of operation is met partially by the boys and partially by the annual Boy Scouts Association financial campaign.

To see the mass of boys enjoying themselves during their afternoon swim, under the eyes of seven appointed life-guards, certainly makes supporters of the campaign feel that their money is well spent. The enthusiastic fellowship among the hundreds of boys in the dining hall, with their camp yells, was also a scene to remember.

Impressive too, was the flag-lowering ceremony, when the colors were lowered from a huge pole of B.C. fir mounted high on a hill overlooking the lake, while all Scouts, in full dress, stood at attention in a rectangle around the flag.

Fun, formality and the spiritual aspect, all play their part. A large recreation hall, with a massive fireplace, makes an ideal spot for evening programs, with sing-songs and skits.

Restful and quiet under the majestic trees and cool evergreens is the rustic chapel, with log seats and cedar furniture, complete with bell tower and bronze bell but open to the heavens, and beautiful they were on the sunny and warm July day of this visit.

Salary Increases and Police Expenses Stir Heated Debate at Council Session

At the regular Town Council session last week, notice was given by Ald. Ernest Provost for introduction of a by-law, authorizing the corporation to borrow $15,000 for a 10-year term to defray cost of water and sewerage installations on Sydney Street.

Mayor Jas. W. McGibbon presided at the meeting, all councillors being present with the exception of Ald. Réal Morrissette, who is hospitalized as the result of a critical accident.

Georges Marchand, of the Cinema Lachute, appeared before Council asking permission to install a two-inch water pipe from the main, for the operation of an air-conditioning unit. Applicant was requested by the Mayor to furnish information on the volume of water required by this system. Mr. Marchand came forth with the required figures, stating also that the unit would operate six hours a day during the week and 12 hours on Sundays. . . It was decided to confer with the town engineer before granting permission for this project.

Adelard Desjardins, quoting $6 a running foot for sidewalk construction on Isabella Street, and $3 and $1.75 on Robert Street, was the only bidder for this job. It was proposed by Ald. Provost, seconded by Ald. Alcidas Laurin, that the committee should enquire prices from other contractors for comparison, before awarding the contract.

For the supplying of a centrifugal pump, three tenders were received — one from Chas. Cusson Co., for $470; one from Construction Equipment Co., for $370; and one from R. McArthur & Son, for $493 — the latter also offering an alternative model on wheels, for $436. The tenders were tabled for study of the Water Committee.

A letter was presented by the secretary from the town auditors, with recommendations for the safeguarding of materials in storage and equipment in use. It was decided, on motion of Ald. W. S. MacKimmie, seconded by Ald. S. Holt, that these suggestions be acted upon immediately. Another report of the auditors, regarding adjustment between expenses of the Police and the Roads departments, was adopted on proposal of Ald. Dr. Jules Lafleur, seconded by Ald. Holt.

The Council adjourned at this point to the secretary's quarters.

As the business continued, building permits were granted for four structures on Bedard Boulevard, to be executed under surveillance of the Roads Committe. The applicant proprietors were — Robt. Marcil, Chas. McFaul, Denis Paquette and the Bank of Montreal.

A heated and lengthy discussion followed, on a request for salary increases of $10 a week from Police Chief D. Villeneuve and Cst. O. Sabourin. It was proposed forthwith, by Ald. S. Holt, supported by Ald. A. Laurin, that Sabourin recieve a $10 increase bringing his salary to $50, and similarly the Police Chief, bringing his salary to $55, with the same agreement in effect concerning the Chief's automobile, for which he receives a $25-a-week allowance.

School Contest in Avoca; B'burg Has Acclamation

In the School Municipality of Rouge River, where there have been strong differences of opinion this past year among the Protestant ratepayers, a contest for two school commission vacancies will be held next Monday, July 14. At nomination proceedings last Monday, four names were recorded with Secretary J. M. Doherty at Avoca for two seats on the commission — those vacated by S. E. Smith and James Trineer. Papers were handed in for these two retiring commissioners and for two other candidates, John Meyer and Roland McCullough.

At Brownsburg the two retiring schools commissioners were returned by acclamation, without contest — M. P. Reilly (chairman) and Wesley Mason being the only nominations filed with the secretary of this board, G. Scudamore.

Industry Promotion Chairman Reports Negotiation for Another New Enterprise

(Specially Contributed)

In last issue we had scarcely announced the advent of the Perkins Glue Company to boost the industrial assets of Lachute, when another manufacturer applied to the Chamber of Commerce for information regarding the establishment of a plant here.

While it is too soon to give details of this project, it may be mentioned that it pertains to an industry entirely new to this centre which would engage around 65 workers (about 45 of them male employees), and would reach a production of half-a-million dollars a year. It is a highly interesting proposition.

Twice during the past week the promoters of this venture have visited Lachute, and they appear completely sold on the idea of establishing here. Questions of location and financing remain to be settled before the materialization of their plans. As regards the question of a site, the company requires 5,000 square feet of floor-space, rectangular and preferably on one elevation, in order to operate to best advantage. We have given their requirements close study, and to our knowledge Lachute has no existing site to meet their particular needs. There remains therefore an alternative solution, to construct a plant to fill these conditions. And the promoters give assurance they would be in position to pay off the cost in monthly payments over a reasonably short period. They would require in addition a certain amount of invested capital to provide initial working funds. This investment would also be repaid, if desired, in monthly instalments, and would be guaranteed by the entire equipment of the plant, which would far exceed the investment.

This, in short, is the proposition now commanding our attention; and its solution to mutual satisfaction will mark an appreciable step in the industrial progress of Lachute. The solution depends on a reciprocal attitude and practical assistance, but it is a situation

Nominations for Council Seats in Dist. Municipalities

Nominations for Parish of St. Jerusalem Council vacancies, filed with the secretary, H. E. Carson, at Lachute Court House on Tuesday, resulted in the re-election by acclamation of the three retiring councillors — Allen Rodgers in Seat No. 2, Felix Touchette in Seat No. 3, and Ernest McOuat in Seat No. 4.

Secretary Wilfred Morrison received nominations for three seats in Wentworth Township Council — Russell Seale being returned to Seat No. 4, F. W. Dougherty returned to Seat No. 5, and Alric Charland elected by acclamation to replace K. Hartmann in Seat No. 6.

Nominations filed with the secretary, J. W. Green, at Morin Heights, found two candidates in the field for Seat No. 5 of Morin Heights Municipal Council. The two nominees in contest for this vacancy are Paul Baumel and Roy Courte.

Accident Verdicts In Two Inquests At Grenville

Two inquests were held last Friday at the Dansereau School in Grenville, with Coroner Dr. Jules Lafleur presiding and the same jury, under chairmanship of a veteran juror, Napoléon Tessier, empanelled for both cases.

In the case of Omer Bissonnettte, 18, of Grenville, whose body was found floating in the canal on June 6, following his disappearance from his home at Grenville since May 28, the verdict was one of accidental drowning.

Jean-Paul Desrochers, 27-year-old Montrealer, driving from Plaisance on June 28, who sustained injuries in collision with a westbound truck and trailer-float on Route 8, to which he succumbed a few hours later in hospital at Hawkesbury, met his death by accident, according to the verdict of the jury.

Roland Husereau Grand Knight of K.C. Council

At a general meeting of the Knights of Columbus Council 2752, Lachute, held recently in the Victoria Hall, Roland Husereau was elected Grand Knight of the Council for the ensuing year, July 1, 1952, to June 30, 1953. Other members of the executive elected were as follows, all appointments being by acclamation:

Deputy Grand Knight, Antonio Laurin.
Chancellor, Theodore Malette.
Master of Ceremonies, S. Church.
Advocate, H. St. Onge.
Rec. Secretary, Chas. E. Doris.
Sec. Treas., Notary Jacques Beaudoin.
Inner Guard, Rosario Lemay.
Outer Guard, Henri Trichard.
Trustees, L. J. Dumais, John MacDonald, Gaetan Leclaire.
Intendant, Nelson Lepage.

At a meeting to be held this evening, July 10, the members will hear decisions of the executive on the long-discussed building project.

Car Disappears In North River

Jean-Paul Gibeault of Foundry Street, an employee of the Lachute Creamery Limited, stopped his car outside the Creamery at the foot of Water Street last Friday, and entered the building. Returning a moment or two later, he found his car was missing, and thought someone had made away with it. A search however revealed it submerged on the bottom of the North River, which is only a short distance down an incline from the plant. The auto had been left with gear disengaged, and improperly braked. The top was visible three feet below the surface, in deep water. It was later removed by a tow-truck and soon restored in working order.

Canada's 800 primary textile mills produce a dollar value of goods exceeding that of the annual wheat crop.

Textile Depression

Canadians are one of the world's largest users of textiles and clothing, a fact very difficult to reconcile with the current difficulties in this country's vast textile industry. The rest of us are not buying less clothing than before, but we are buying less Canadian clothing.

Domestic textile workers, because of their much higher than average wages, have to depend on the Canadian market to sell the products of their labor. Even in normal times this is difficult when the chief competition comes from overseas countries with much lower living standards, but at a time of world textile depression it is almost impossible.

When imported goods can be sold on the Canadian market for less than it costs to produce the same goods in Canada, as is the case today, the only answer is that the Canadian worker becomes unemployed. Tariff duties are not sufficient to off-set the tremendous differences in wages, and naturally, the people with the highest wages suffer most.

It is difficult to convince Canadian buyers that a few cents saved today is not a good long-term investment. And unemployed textile workers have no money with which to buy the things produced by the rest of us.

Lachute Problems Reverberate in B'burg Taxi Insurance, Loudspeaker Nuisance

Brownsburg —

There was a leak on the main line at Mountain Street which continued over a period of a year and a half, wasted millions of gallons of water, and — more important — reduced the head at the reservoir so that the fire protection supply was endangered and fireside engineers had a field day blueprinting devious ways of conserving water. The escaping water ultimately burst through the roadway — and that was that.

During the time this underground passage of water was in operation, permission was given some householders to instal electric pumps to force water from the kitchen, where they had a meagre supply, to the upstairs bathroom, where they had none. One householder connected his electrically-driven pump to the line without benefit of reservoir or sump, and it made so much noise that all the subscribers in that section felt as if they had been transferred to a tenement under the New York City Elevated Railroad, with ghost trains rumbling by at all hours. . . An echo of the disturbance was heard at the Brownsburg Council meeting and the City Fathers ordered the pump removed from the line.

Taxi Insurance

Brownsburg Corporation adopted By-law 82, which decrees than anyone operating a taxi in Brownsburg after January, 1953, must carry passenger insurance. There was a petition from a number of taxi-owners, some part-time, some whole-time operators, protesting the adoption of the by-law.

The Mayor was insistent that his action in supporting the proposed law was for the public good. All his actions were directed for the best in public service, and he felt that insurance of passengers in taxis was a step in this direction.

Councillor Ball gave instances of ways such a by-law could be defeated and made null. He could offer an uninsured taximan the amount of the trip and thereby circumvent the driver being classed as a taximan.

Councillor Charbonheau, who had to retire during the discussion as an interested party, was of the opinion that the Council did not have authority to pass such a by-law, despite the fact the Council's legal advisor had drawn up the document.

Councillor Rose said he was for all cars being insured — which, of course, included taxis.

Councillor Lavoie proposed the by-law be adopted subject to approval by the Minister of Transport at Quebec. Councillor Carriere seconded and the adoption was unanimous.

To Keep the Sabbath

Under the theme "Remember to keep holy the Sabbath day", the Women's Institute protested the infringement of the third commandment by permitting the use of loudspeakers or public address systems on Sundays.

The Mayor informed the Council he had given permission to the president of Lachute Baseball Club. The other members wanted to tag along with the W.I. and prohibit broadcasting on Sundays. The means of doing so was another matter, so it was left to the Mayor and Secretary to consult the Council's legal advisor.

Another Petition

A number of residents on Durocher complained of the odor of exhausts from idling buses, the encroachment of buses on their properties, the blocking of public roads by parked buses, and the noise of racing motors around the bus-stop at Ouellette's on the French Hill.

Councillor Ball contended this is a public service, and like the trains passing through and serving Lachute, should be encouraged rather than hampered.

The Mayor, while admitting the service angle, saw no revenue to the Council for the damage buses do to our streets, so could not allow them to irritate residents paying taxes.

It was decided to make Ouellette's just a bus-stop and not allow prolonged parking, except at the C-I-L parking ground. Buses must turn at the corner of St. Joseph and Main, and not at Ouellette's. . . A motion to that effect was proposed by Councillor Charbonneau, seconded by Councillor Carriere.

Before the Council

Councillor Charbonneau applied for the erection of a gutter at Miss Gilmour's to prevent sand and silt being washed onto her property. "She tries to keep the place nice, and after every heavy rain she has a mess on her lawn". . . It was decided to have the gutter built.

Councillor Charbonneau also reported that a washout occurs along St. Joseph Street and washes under the newly-laid sidewalk. He had approached Mr. Wm. Cottingham, M.L.A., for some asphalt to pave the area from the roadway to the sidewalk, and Mr. Cottingham had given him authority to get the asphalt at Ste. Therese at no cost to the village. It was estimated that 15 loads would be required.

Councillor Ball urged acceptance of the asphalt offer promptly.

Coun. Charbonneau: "Whether we take it promptly or any other time, when Bill Cottingham promises something you can rely on it being made good or better than was promised."

The motion was proposed by Councillor Ball, seconded by Councillor Lafleur.

The monthly vouchers contained the usual wages to municipal employees — firemen's hats and coats from Pariseau's, with police coats, hardware, nails, etc., to the amount of $222.53; cement blocks from St. Jerome, and other necessities.

A sum of $2,683 was passed to Mr. Brisson for the laying of sidewalks in various parts of the municipality.

After an insistent sales talk by the Mayor, the Council decided to purchase the property and buildings thereon on Main, occupied by the old blacksmith's forge. It was decided that this area be used for parking and not to open a new street, as at first suggested. Reason — Mr. Paul Filion withdrew his offer of $1,000 to open onto his property.

Gasoline Truck Topples Over Bank

Returning to Lachute on the narrow road through North River Settlement on Friday afternoon, Melvin Noble, 26, of Lachute, driving Donald G. MacRae's Shell Oil truck, turned out to pass a car approaching in the opposite direction, and the heavy truck sank in the soft shoulder, overturning twice down a bank on the south side of the road. The truck was not badly damaged, but in the double somersault the driver was painfully hurt, suffering fractured ribs and injury to his spine.

Dr. Jules Lafleur was summoned to attend the injured man, who was taken to the Providence Hospital and later that night transferred to the Royal Victoria Hospital in Montreal. He has since been released from hospital and is recuperating at his home.

Traffic Officer Albert Legault made the investigation.

A Most Valuable Servant

In little more than 50 years since it first began to influence men's lives, electricity has become so essential to our civilization that today it is one of our most valuable servants.

Within the lifetime of many of us, electricity has become the thing we absolutely depend upon to give us light, to keep us supplied with water, to do many thousands of chores.

Above all, electricity has become the essential supplier of power to the countless factories which have brought a tremendous increase in prosperity and have raised our standard of living to the highest point in all history.

We in Quebec are indeed lucky that we have such a bountiful supply of electricity, one of the newest and most valuable of all man's servants.

Crop Report for Ottawa Valley

Quebec — Dry, cool weather that prevailed from June 9 to 23, held up vegetation in the counties of Argenteuil, Hull, Gatineau, Papineau and Pontiac; however, heavy rains June 24 and 26 were beneficial for all crops. Haying has commenced in the southern part of the district and the hay crop is very good in quantity and quality. Present prospects point to a normal yield of oats but to a little below average barley crop. Although backward, fodder corn looks well. The strawberry crop is only fair. Cows are milking very well under excellent pasture conditions.

Harvest of Green Peas Increased 35 Per Cent

Canada produced an estimated 91,462,000 pounds of green peas for canning last year, Dominion Bureau of Statistics reports show. The crop was 35 per cent larger than the 1950 production of about 70,228,000 pounds.

American Can Company, supplier of containers, explained that the jump in the size of the 1951 crop was the result not only of substantially larger yields per acre but also of a 22 per cent increase in planted acreage — from 37,260 acres in 1950 to 45,540 last year.

The company, whose pioneering in the development of improved containers and canning methods has stimulated demand for canned vegetables, pointed out that the greater portion of green peas grown in this country is processed.

Pasture for Poultry

Ottawa — Good pasture may save up to 20 per cent of feed for growing birds, but careful selection of suitable forage species is necessary. One of the main considerations is palatability. To make the maximum use of the pasture the birds must consume the largest possible amount of forage. Since palatability is connected with low fibre content it follows that the palatable species are also the most efficient as poultry pastures. Chickens do not have the digestive system to handle large amounts of fibre.

To evaluate some of Canada's common perennial grasses and legumes for poultry pasture, work was recently begun at the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa. Four grasses, brome, timothy, orchard grass, creeping red fescue and four legumes, alfalfa, Ladino, White Dutch clover and broadleaf birdsfoot trefoil, were provided for the birds' free choice in the same paddock.

Reporting on results, L. S. Donovan, Forage Plants Division, says orchard grass appeared to be somewhat more palatable than brome or timothy, and all three were much more palatable than creeping red fescue. Orchard grass and brome sods stood up to heavy grazing equally well and were much better than timothy in this respect. Orchard grass was slightly higher in protein and lower in fibre than brome and timothy.

Of the four legumes tested, Ladino appeared to be the best. While it had about the same palatability rating as alfalfa and birdsfoot trefoil, it was slightly higher in protein and lower in fibre. It stood up well under heavy grazing and produced more forage late in the fall than any of the others. White Dutch clover was the least palatable and least productive but did stand up fairly well under heavy grazing and produced more forage late in the fall than any of the others. Observations on these plots are being continued.

Britain Steps Up Food Production

London — A four-year plan to lessen Britain's dependence on overseas food supplies aims to boost farm output 60 per cent above pre-war. Main objectives are to:

Increase domestic meat production by an extra 250,000 (long) tons — mainly pig meat with later increases of beef and lamb.

Increase grass production and utilization by 15 per cent.

Increase the total number of grass-eating livestock up to 400,000 more calves a year.

Through better use of grassland to release one million acres for plowing and sowing with approved crops.

Raise the yield of tillage crops by 5 per cent.

Expand egg and pig production.

With a population of 50 million, Britain grows only enough food for 30 million. In 1951, home production accounted for only 24 per cent of Britain's wheat and flour consumption. Even if Britain succeeds in boosting her farm output, she will still remain the world's largest food importer.

Extend Borrowing Thro' Farm Loan Board

Mortgage loans to farmers up to $10,000 on first mortgage and up to $12,000 on combined first and second mortgage with chattel security may now be made by the Canadian Farm Loan Board as a result of amendments passed at the present session of Parliament, according to an announcement made by the Board. Previously the largest possible loan was $6,000.

The Board lends to farmers for all legitimate farm purposes taking as security a first mortgage on farm land. Formerly, when a combined first and second mortgage loan with chattel security was made, the second mortgage loan could not be used to buy land but this restriction has been dropped. Under the amendments the Board can lend up to 60 per cent of the appraised value of the land on first mortgage as compared with 50 per cent which was the limit before the recent amendments. Current interest rates are 5 per cent on first mortgage and 5½ per cent on second mortgage.

The Board anticipates a substantial increase in the demand for loans under the new set-up.

Preserve History Of Pioneer West

Calgary (CP)—A unique museum dedicated to preserving the history of the Old West is to be built here.

The building, to cost $50,000, will be erected on a height of land with a majestic view westward to the mountains and east to the plains.

In it will be placed historical records and articles of pioneer days when Alberta was populated largely by Indians and a few hardy ranchers.

In keeping with the historical atmosphere of the building is its architecture. The exterior will be of logs and the only concessions to modernity will be electricity and modern plumbing.

The Southern Alberta Pioneers' and Oldtimers' Association, sponsor of the project, has been given a helping hand toward the cost of the museum with donations from businessmen and other aid from the City of Calgary.

Going Up!

TORN BETWEEN courtesy, business acumen, and a certain sense of retaliation, many concerns catering to the tourist business have been accepting the American dollar at par — until the Montreal Tourist and Convention Bureau announced this week that its members, many of whom were "taking a beating" in large-scale trading with American funds, would henceforth accept the visitors' dollar at its current discount.

The Canadian dollar on Monday was rated at $1.04¼. But it is difficult to estimate in figures and fractions just what this means in added prestige to Canada among her tourist visitors. To our friends across the border, where the dollar "speaks" (and we do not say this unkindly), a few cents to the good is a boost which speaks subtly of confidence, stability and sound economics.

Canadians will watch the status of their dollar, not with greed and calculation, but with keen satisfaction as it continues on the uprise.

Premature Conclusion

THE SWAN-SONG of fabled Glengarry as a separate electoral entity in the House of Commons was sung on Dominion Day by Raymond Bruneau, Liberal member for Prescott, whose riding is being combined with Glengarry under the 1952 Redistribution.

To a point, one shares the sentiment of Mr. Bruneau in the relinquishing of Glengarry's parliamentary ties. Glengarry and Prescott, he said, had been united by an Act of Parliament as early as 1800 and the bonds between the two had been strengthened over the years. He spoke of the Scottish settlers who came to Glengarry after first settling in the Mohawk Valley at the invitation of Sir William Johnson. With the outbreak of the Revolutionary War, the clansmen came to Canada to take up arms for the English King. After the war, the Highlanders settled widely in Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry. In the first Parliament of Canada, Mr. Bruneau recalled, two Macdonnell brothers sat for Glengarry and one of them was elected Speaker.

With one statement by this champion of historic associations we hesitate however to agree. His own riding of Prescott, Mr. Bruneau said, was best known as the site of the historic struggle of Dollard des Ormeaux generations ago, against the Iroquois hordes.

We consider the honorable member perhaps misled by his own convictions, or perhaps jumping to premature conclusions. The association of Argenteuil with the Des Ormeaux exploit has long been undisputed. Only recently has it been challenged on the basis of new discoveries in Prescott, across the river, and subsequent deductions on the part of those who believe Ontario's claims well founded. . . But until such time as the true facts can be established (if that is possible), Argenteuil will quietly cherish the tradition of this historic highlight.

Convention-itis

CONVENTION time is here again. Men sporting lapel-pins and women in long dresses descend upon town hotels, setting maids and waiters scurrying, and providing Main Street merchants with a burst of unexpected business.

For three days, perhaps a week, delegates swim in a sea of parliamentary procedure and resolutions. Time-consuming speakers often are the order of the day, followed by rich foods and headaches.

Some delegates will insist on strict adherence to the rules and the amendment to the amendment. Some with pet resolutions must have a hearing 20 minutes after scheduled closing time.

Others won't be backward in confessing they came for a good time. And they will insist on having it.

But behind the fun, the backslapping among old friends and the din in hotel lobbies there is the serious side. Conventions put the stamp of approval on a year's hard work by executive councils, special committes and the rank and file generally. Whether political, humanitarian or business ends are served, the deliberations have the nation's welfare at heart.

Economically, the hotels and stores are given more business and the local chamber of commerce has an opportunity to boast that the Loyal Order of the Step-Ladder chose the hometown for its international convention.

Then again, conventions help more Canadians get acquainted with their country. Men and women who otherwise wouldn't stray more than a block from their own door-step will travel hundreds of miles without a qualm, just to attend a meeting of their pet organizations.

Why do so many Canadians flock to conventions? Perhaps man's innate hunger for companionship has much to do with it. Such gatherings seem to have a tighter grip on city residents than on rural folk. This may be because in rural areas community living and general neighborliness still remain at a high level.

But things are different in the cities. Life's swift pace leaves city folk little time for neighborly pleasantries. Thus they find themselves frequently travelling miles, just to get on a "first name" basis with their fellow humans.

Last Echoes of Parliament

PARLIAMENT finished its session's work last week and adjourned until November, after one of the longest — and at times the most bitter — debates of the session.

Progressive onservative members fought for 4½ days against the redistribution bill, charging the government with "bare-faced gerrymandering". The bill went through, however, increasing the number of Commons seats from 262 to 265, and altering the boundaries of 125 constituencies. It will take effect with the next general election.

The Progressive Conservatives charged that a committee, composed of a majority of Liberals, had redrawn the boundaries of ridings in such a way as to make it difficult for some opposition members to be re-elected. They argued that the details of changes in constituencies should be handed over to a special commission. The Liberal majority defeated that suggestion, together with eight specific Progressive Conservative motions covering detailed changes.

Parliament now stands adjourned until November 20, although Prime Minister St. Laurent said members could be recalled at any time to deal with any "momentous decision" which might arise. On November 20, the session will be immediately prorogued and a new session started — the regular 1953 session.

An important development affecting agriculture was seen during the closing days. The Supreme Court of Canada handed down a decision that clears the way for the resumption of farm marketing schemes by several provinces. In effect, the court held that the federal government can constitutionally give the provinces power to regulate the marketing of their farm products outside their borders.

The Ottawa judgment (reversing Supreme Court findings in Prince Edward Island) was welcomed by the Canadian Federation of Agriculture, representing some 400,000 farmers. President H. H. Hannam said it "establishes once and for all the right of producers to regulate the marketing of their own products, under suitable legislation passed by parliament."

Fire and Inflation

CANADIANS have been warned that fire is a silent partner of inflation, W. A. Mather, president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, pointed out in a public message to the Canadian Forestry Association. "This warning", Mr. Mather says, "is most pertinent in relation to destruction of our forests. Success in eliminating preventable forest fires can be assured through public co-operation. All must accept a proper share of responsibility in this vital matter.

"The necessity for universal support of aggressive forest fire prevention activities is fully recognized by this company. It is extending full co-operation to organizations which seek public understanding of the threat involved in any impairment of our forest wealth through fire.

"As a railway company, we are very much aware that protection of forest resources provides not only increased business generally to the railways, but it is a most important factor in meeting our requirements for ties, lumber, and timber of various kinds, the volume of which can be measured by the fact that our expenditures for these items are exceeded only by purchases for steel and fuel. Strict compliance with fire prevention laws respecting locomotive smoke stacks and ash pans, together with creation of fire guards and other installations designed to minimize hazards is, therefore, carefully observed throughout the company organization."

More About Indians

So you liked that Indian story? Here's another. . . It seems that two American tourists were motoring across Oklahoma. They passed an Indian reservation when one exclaimed, "Stop the car! I want to take a snapshot of one of those Indian tepees."

"You mean a wigwam", said the driver.

"No, I mean a tepee. That's what they call those things they live in."

"They're called wigwams. I ought to know."

"You ought, but you don't. They're called tepees."

"O.K. It's easy to decide who's right. Let's ask that big buck standing outside this one."

They got out of the car and approached the Indian.

"Ugh!"

"My friend here wants to know. You call this here tepee, or you callum wigwam?"

The Indian looked at them for a minute before replying. Then he said, "Say, are you two guys nuts? That's a tent."

Which reminds me of another. A moving picture company on location were filming a Western feature, and the scenario called for a scene showing two Indians sending up smoke signals. No one in the cast had any idea as to how this was done, so the director advertised for two Indians capable of enacting this scene, which was of vital importance to the story. Two Indians applied, were rehearsed as to what was required and supplied with costumes, plumes and warpaint. The scene, when shown, was a great success. When the director paid them off he thanked them profusely and said, "I don't know what we'd have done without you fellows. None of us knew anything about sending up smoke signals."

To which one of the Indians replied, "We didn't know either, until we saw it in the movies two years ago."

identical to those successfully overcome in other municipal centres. We may refer to similar instances in Granby, St. Johns, St. Jerome, Ste. Therese and many other towns, where progressive citizens have grouped to give such impetus to industries for the ultimate benefit of their communities.

The same co-operative elements exist in Lachute; they require only to be organized for effective action. A few days ago, on the news of this project, a citizen came forward with a free offer of 20,000 square feet of land, requiring only the assurance that it was a serious proposition.

We are thoroughly convinced of the seriousness of the project, and the promoters have satisfied our complete investigation with all the desired guarantees of integrity.

Your Chamber of Commerce has spared no effort to foster this venture, but it now needs the collaboration of all members to realize its completion. While our earnest efforts are being directed to aid such new industry, it goes without saying, our support will be even more vigorous towards a manufacture once established. We need not elaborate this point. Our motto is "Service", and your Chamber of Commerce is ready to "Serve".

While continuing to stress the desirability of new industries, we are by no means indifferent to the growth of our own established concerns. We are proud of the progressive spirit which motivates our industrialists in Lachute; they do not rest on their laurels content with their "status quo". This is well exemplified in several cases — in the immense expansion now under way at Dominion Shuttle Company; extensions to the Holt Manufacturing & Supply Co. premises; also to Brownsburg Lumber, subsidiary to Lachute Lumber & Millwork Ltd., where production has reached a surprising peak; the recent acquisition of a large roadside restaurant at Cartierville, by Lowe Bros. Dairy; the complete remodelling of J. C. Wilson Paper Company's mill — and so forth.

The development of our plants is well in stride with the new and prospective additions to our industrial picture — and the more diversified our manufactures, the brighter the economic outlook for this community.

— Gerard Lefebvre, LP.,
Chairman, Industrial Promotion Committee,
Chamber of Commerce.

Canada's governments collected over six billion dollars in taxes last year, more than a third of the national income; on the average a $50 a week earner paid $17.50 a week in direct and indirect taxes.

MASTER CRITICIZES "INNOCENT" RHYMES

Belfast (CP) — Nursery rhymes are not the innocent nonsense they appear to be, says J. W. Rawlings, master of Somerton House School.

"In them can be seen the germs of all the world's wickedness", said Rawlings.

He cited the following examples: Cock Robin, murder; the Knave of Hearts, thieving; Little Jack Horner, bad manners; and Little Boy Blue, laziness.

For cruelty, there's Ding Dong Bell and the Old Woman who lived in a Shoe. Fear, want and sudden death are found in Miss Muffat, old Mother Hubbard and Humpty Dumpty.

It was small wonder that children repeated these wicked rhymes with such obvious relish, said Rawlings.

Bereavement to Lachute Townsman

LATE MRS. S. GOLDSWORTHY WAS WIDELY RELATED

In declining health for the past two years, Mrs. Stanley Goldsworthy passed away suddenly in the Royal Victoria Hospital on Thursday, July 3.

The former Emma Warwick, eldest daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Archie Warwick, she was born in Mabel, seven miles west of Lachute, on July 1, 1888, and was married to Mr. Goldsworthy on June 11, 1913. They had resided in Lachute since that time.

From their union there were born two daughters, (Elizabeth) Mrs. Gibson W. Brown, wife of the Rev. G. W. Brown of Stouffville, Ont., and (Louise) Mrs. Geo. E. Helmer, of Brownsburg.

There also remain to mourn her passing six sisters, (Alice) Mrs. Eric Finch, of Montreal, (Kate) Mrs. Noe Themens, of Philadelphia, (Margaret) Mrs. Albert Cromp, of Montreal, (Beatrice) Mrs. J. L. Caverhill, of Montreal, (Viola) Mrs. Chas. Sauer, of Philadelphia, and (Gladys) Mrs. Frank Greenwood, of Westmount; also three brothers, William, of Regina, Russell, of Brownsburg, and Geo., of Ashton, Ont., together with five grandchildren.

The funeral service was held Sunday afternoon in the United Church, conducted by the Rev. W. H. Britton, of Lachute Baptist Church, assisted by the Rev. Wm. B. Glenn, of Renfrew Baptist Church. The message was delivered by the Rev. Harold Charlton, of Orangeville (Ont.) Baptist Church, a former pastor in Lachute. A vocal duet, "Good Night and Good Morning", was feelingly rendered by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kettyle.

Pall-bearers were Messrs. Leslie, Carson, James and William Tomalty, Raymond Warwick and Jas. C. Logan.

Many floral tributes bore silent testimony to the esteem in which the deceased was held, and to the sympathy felt for her bereaved husband and family. Interment was made in Lachute Cemetery.

Boy Saves Tot From Drowning

Special to The Watchman and L'Argenteuil

Brownsburg — Fourteen-year-old Jean-Marie Danis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Omer Danis, is credited with saving the life of a 17-month-old youngster, Daniel Carpenter, in the West River.

The child was visiting in Brownsburg with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Junior Carpenter, from Rhode Island, Illinois. Wading at the side of the river near the home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Emmanuel Racine, he lost his footing and fell into water beyond his depth.

Young Danis, who had returned to the house breathless after swimming 100 yards, heard the child's cries and ran to his assistance; plunging into the water again, he recovered the little victim who was now almost exhausted, and returned him to his mother's arms.

Electors of Argenteuil :

It is traditional for the candidate in an electoral campaign to address a message to the electors of the County.

My name is Bernard Gosselin, and I am 36 years of age. I have lived in Lachute for 27 years. I made my primary studies in Lachute and took my Arts course at l'Assomption College. Then I studied Science for two years at the University of Montreal, and also spent three years in the Royal Canadian Mounted Police. Since 1943 I have been working in the chemical laboratory of the Canadian Industries Limited in Brownsburg.

Some people say that I am not known, but that fact could be advantageously used in my favor, since there are different ways of being known.

The electors of Lachute and Brownsburg and of the neighboring towns know me, and I have the intention of meeting as many electors as possible during my campaign.

The daily papers and the radio have given you the program of the Liberal party, and the party leaders, Mr. Lapalme, Mr. Marler and Mr. Mongrain, in the present campaign have revealed the scandals and the abuses of the Union Nationale regime. In this letter I will briefly outline the policies which are at the base of social justice, namely: —

Agricultural Loan extended to $10,000; Health Insurance; Maternity Allowances; Syndicate Rights respected; Return of Free Textbooks, which the Union Nationale party have abolished; Relief for the Crippled; Relief for the Blind; Minimum Salary raised by 25 per cent; Municipal Autonomy respected; Riddance of profiteers of the regime during the last four years; Royal inquiry into the sudden wealth of certain Ministers and Members of the Union Nationale party; for this County, and particularly for the people of Harrington, the return of Subsidy on Cheese which was abolished by the Union Nationale; Construction of Route 31 and highway from Lachute to St. Adolphe.

The Union Nationale candidate and retiring member had promised the construction of these two routes and had promised not to seek re-election if these routes were not finished during his term of office. . . Mr. Cottingham, your term has expired, and you have finished only 2½ miles of Route 31. What are you waiting for to fulfill at least one of your promises — the best one — that of not seeking re-election? . . . He prefers to make roads through the northern section of the County leading, not to Lachute, according to the wishes and necessities of those electors, but towards Terrebonne and the City of St. Jerome.

Mr. Cottingham boasts of giving new schools. The majority of those schools were built without competitive and public tenders by the favorites of the regime at exorbitant costs.

The financing of these constructions at such a high cost has raised the school debt in the County of Argenteuil during Mr. Cottingham's term of office to a sum of $1,600,000. These figures are extracts from the official statistics published by the Government of the Province of Quebec. That amount which you owe, electors of Argenteuil, is not a gift, but constitutes, for years to come, a mortgage on your properties — in addition to the tuition fees that you have to pay for the schooling of your children.

If you let Mr. Cottingham continue his series of so-called gifts, the County of Argenteuil, and more particularly the municipalities and school boards, will in the next four years be in serious financial difficulties.

Electors of Argenteuil, you have known of the request made by the religious authorities of all denominations in regard to the non-observance of the Quebec Liquor Commission laws. It is the first time in the history of Quebec that a request had to be made, not to change a law, but to have an existing law respected. Your boys and girls are ruining their future in grills, open day and night with the complicity of the Union Nationale members, who no doubt find in this situation certain advantages that other people fail to see. In spite of the hue and cry raised by that request, the politicians of the Union Nationale in this County, as elsewhere, have done nothing about it, and this fatal tolerance is ruining our population.

Their electoral funds, made out of your money, are gigantic. Do not hesitate to accept money when offered, and even to ask for it from their organizers; it will be only a reimbursement anyway of what was extracted from your pockets during the last years. The province is overflowed with alcohol, the newspapers are plastered with their paid advertisements, the posts along the highway are covered with their posters, and the scenery is spoiled by their pictures. All these unnecessary expenses call for money. Ask the Union Nationale where they found their money. The answer is, in your pockets, through profiteering on an unheard-of scale.

Vote against Mr. Duplessis, the "Dictator", and his candidates. Duplessis is asking for no opposition; which is common for a dictator to ask. His next step, no doubt, will be to ask for the abolition of Parliament.

Whatever our esteem may be for Mr. Cottingham, one must not forget that he is following Mr. Duplessis, the "Dictator", and as such he has to share the consequences and be judged accordingly.

Do not sell your birthright for a few personal favors, or for a few miles of road. Do not let dictatorship take hold of this province.

A vote for Mr. Cottingham is a vote for Mr. Duplessis, and a vote for Duplessis is a vote for Dictatorship.

Vote for Lapalme, Marler and Mongrain, and you will vote to secure the future of this province and, in particular, that of your family.

I thank you in advance for your support on the 16th of July next. Duplessis' slogan is, "Let him finish his work". His work has been aimed at Dictatorship. Your vote will decide whether you wish dictatorship or freedom.

But — foremost — please go and exercise your right to vote, and vote according to your concience.

Thank you.

FOR PARENTS ONLY...

"I Can Swim Now!"

— By NANCY CLEAVER — (Copyright)

"Mother may I go out to swim?"
"Yes, my darling daughter.
Hang your clothes on the hickory limb,
But don't go near the water!"

This old rhyme has been repeated by countless parents. A child is not content to play long with a sand pail or toy boat. He wants to get right into the water and learn to swim! How important it is that every child should have this chance to be at home in the water and be safe in it is plainly shown by the tragic fact that in a recent year in Canada over one thousand men, women and children lost their lives from accidental drowning.

How about your child's swimming ability? As a parent are you seeing to it that your son or daughter, at a very early age, makes a beginning in learning how to swim?

If there are classes for little folk in swimming by an experienced instructor in a nearby park or at a community swimming pool, parents should see that their child attends these sessions. It is such fun to learn to swim with other youngsters! If necessary, mothers should co-operate on transportation and supervision of dressing. School age children who attend a summer camp have a marvellous opportunity not only to learn to swim, but also to improve their strokes.

The biggest hindrance to learning to swim is terror of drowning or ducking under the surface. A little child must overcome his fear of the water. Play-time wading, floating a celluloid fish, or pulling a wooden boat help him in this. When walking on all fours, pretending to be a bear or another animal in the shallow water, the child discovers, to his surprise, how buoyant he is. The well-padded, roly-poly child, with a little help from mother or daddy, may learn to float quite easily, and even the lean child who is unafraid can often turn into a surface fish!

Breathing correctly is vital in swimming. A child gains confidence with practice in inhaling through his mouth and blowing bubbles out through his nose. This can be done in a wash basin as well as in the lake or river, or pool.

Propelling oneself through the water is a matter of balance. A parent can show a child with a rubber doll, that if the shoulders rear up out of the water, the rest of the body sinks. Keep the shoulders under the water is a rule of first importance. The child who knows how to breathe when swimming, is less apt to sink. He is not likely to get into a panic and flounder about wildly.

An inflated inner tube is often used at a summer cottage for a child's play in the water. Care must be taken that he does not relax his hold and get a ducking in a deep part, or be blown out into the lake on a windy day. A wooden "kicking board" about 18 inches by 10 inches and 1½ inches thick is a better support for a child learning his kicking strokes.

A good swimmer is relaxed and unhurried. Many a parent makes the mistake of urging his child. Then the youngster tries too hard for too long a time. A swimming lesson should be short. Stop as soon as the child is fatigued or chilled. If mother or daddy can occasionally give the child a little support, (no more than necessary) by placing a hand under his chin or tummy, then the child can attempt co-ordinating arm and leg strokes.

Children love to repeat what is satisfying. A child will make much faster progress if his parents will show him how to make a stroke, or how to breathe, or how to float. Just talking about it is a poor substitute for illustrating a method. Getting into the water with him makes it much more fun than yelling instructions from the bank! Many a child delights in water play. Daddy can tow him through the water. Mother can show him how to take a deep breath, duck and grasp both ankles in the Jelly Fish Float.

What the child needs most of all is to overcome his fear and feel the water is a friend not a foe. Once he learns to float with his face down, one parent can "send" him to the other through a short space in the water. Then he can try to swim this small distance, by dog paddle, or any other stroke he finds easiest. The space between the parents can be gradually lengthened as the child becomes more expert. Then on one Red Letter Day he will exclaim, "I can swim now!"

BOYS IN KOREA

The public, generally untouched by the war in Korea, may seem too indifferent to the sacrifices which are being made. It may not seem a large-scale war, but to the individual soldier it is service transcending enlistment in an all-out popular war. It is his years which are being given to his country without fanfare, and can it be without thanks?

Central Press Canadian

How much? Or how little? Those are the questions being asked at Crystal Beach, Ontario summer resort, where the town council has ordered police to stop the practice of wearing bathing suits in town. The law isn't quite clear on how short a garment is when it becomes an offence, so, gathering statistics on the matter, is Arlene Conly measuring the shorts of Lois Hochreiter. Police say they are going to use common sense and not a ruler to arrest or not to arrest.

The Child You Save

The child you save may be your own! All across Canada, every year, children are stricken by the cruel crippler, Poliomyelitis. Some recover, others do not. Some seem destined to spend the rest of their lives as hopeless cripples. Canadian parents everywhere pray, "Please God, not to mine!"

Prayers are apparently not enough. Fortunately for Canadians, something further is now being done. The Canadian Legion March of Dimes has taken up the fight against this dread malady which strikes so terrifyingly at children — and adults too. With funds placed at its disposal by the public it has embarked upon a comprehensive "Fight Polio" program in the fields of Research, Treatment and Rehabilitation.

This great humanitarian work is going forward on an ever-widening front. But to continue this work, the Legion needs funds. It is the privilege, and responsibility of every Canadian in Quebec to help "Fight Polio". No contribution is too small, nor any too great, if it will save one life, help one polio victim back to a useful, happy life as a productive Canadian citizen. Remember! The child you save may be your own.

Sunnyacres — Flora of the Hilly Carpet — Respite from City Heat

"SUNNYACRES SKETCHES"
By Margaret Cook

Once more, Sunnyacres has its family within its walls — those stout log walls that have seen lives begin and end, alien shapes that make their entrances and vanish in due time. We suspect that in Sunnyacres annals, we are but an interlude, although, if our daughter has her way, it will be a long interlude. Being refused Sunnyacres as an immediate gift, she then tried to bargain for a wedding gift (Betty is not quite eleven), but finally settled for it as a legacy. Since then, we always fancy a calculating gleam in her eye, whenever we have even a slight indisposition!

Our first night here was a disturbed one with sound effects of rain and thunder, the wild scene lighted at intervals by quite vicious lightning; but we remained undisturbed by the show, being preoccupied by our attempts to keep dry. The roof of the porch in which we habitually sleep, needs attention, which we have deferred in the expectation of certain rather extensive work, so that leaks occur at unpredictable places. Last night, the drops came down just behind my head and squarely on one foot, so there was the usual comedy of ineffective motions by the light of flashlight and lightning. . . . The last has little terror for the writer, the feeling having been dispelled by our father, an Irish gentleman of some resource and wit. Annoyed by our whimperings at the age of five, he instructed us in the natural laws governing lightning and ended up the discourse with these words: "It is pure conceit to imagine you will be hit. You are neither big enough nor pretty enough to attract the lightning." I thought this eminently sensible and thus gained freedom from fear of electrical storms that haunts so many people for life. Quite apart from our personal reaction, there is a country superstition that where apples grow lightning does not strike. Certainly there is no sign of electrical damage in the old orchard, which must have seen innumerable storms.

This morning was pure Laurentian. A high, blue sky with scudding white clouds and, underfoot, a riot of color; in the thick timothy that threatens to engulf the house, daisies and paint-brush struggle upward to the sun; in the front yard, blue columbine and yellow Lysimachia (saffron flower, to the native) nod across to the Tiger Lily, while Fox-Glove in delicate mauve, pink and white is everywhere. Of the roses, only the delicate, white tea-roses are as yet out, but even without them, every breeze is perfumed; pine, tamarack, bracken, milk-weed, mosses, berries — all have joined to make a heady scent as typical of these hills as are gas, sewage, beer and tar of the city breezes. It is quite a change; Peter, the grey Persian's nose is in constant motion; probably he gets other scents as well — mice, rabbits, moles must smell sweetly to him. It is all too much, he hardly eats nor sleeps. Owing to frequent rains, the ferns are particularly lush this year and there are many kinds in this locality. The big Cinnamon fern generally gets the most plaudits and, indeed, its great spreading fronds are beautiful. It gets its name from the color of its fruiting-bodies. The Interrupted fern also is named from its reproductive cells, which appear half way up the stalk and look to the uninformed as if the fern were blighted in its middle section. The hay-scented fern is that small, fine-leaved fern so often found carpeting an open wood. Its name speaks for its main attribute, which is accentuated if dried. Along the road, especially near a marshy bit, we often find a fern that looks rather like a shrub. This is the Royal fern; its leaves are quite fine and the plant grows as high as 3 feet around here. We have left our pet until the last; it is the Grape Ternate fern, a little, lowly fern with a rather fine, dark green leaf; from the centre of a rosette of leaves its fruiting body rises looking exactly like a bunch of miniature, unripe grapes. We were quite elated to find this fern a few years ago on a sunny bank near Long Lake. It is generally supposed to be quite rare in this latitude and at this altitude. We see few Christmas ferns just here, although at Shrewsbury they are quite common, and we never see that loveliest of ferns, the maiden-hair.

Below the ferns are the different mosses, of which we know little, but Comstock advises that the commonest kind, the one with small, upright, furred stems is the Awned Hair-Cap moss; all we know about these low mosses from actual experience and observation is that to touch them is to call out myriads of black flies, and that the reddest and juicest strawberries live in the mosses, so that we are constantly being tempted by the one and harassed by the other.

Speaking of strawberries, let me remind the housewives to make their shortcakes of biscuit dough and crown the whole with whipped cream. That way, we have true shortcake, not the miserable imitation consisting of stale cake, cut through the middle and spread with some hard berries. The latter should be washed, hulled and put to sweeten in sugar a good hour before the meal, then all the juice begins to run and one has a juicy, fragrant morsel in the mouth.

There is not much more to report on the Laurentian scene, except that we have seen our first partridge, and that the swimming is wonderful, something we have so far taken on report; at present, we are content to lie on a couch much of the time and gulp in the clear, cool air. We contrast it with the air of Montreal and of Ottawa, and we are content. The Ottawa air last week was almost a tangible moist blanket, with the temperature in the high eighties, but we were pleased by the attitude of the natives; yes, they admitted, they had a very trying climate, hot in summer, cold in winter. Now, in Quebec City, everyone insists that the climate is ideal; if pressed, they will allow that the early spring months are trying. It must be the cosmopolitan population in the former.

Our daughter was pleased with her first trip to the Capital; she thought our money well spent on the Parliament Buildings, but was bored with the debate in the Lower House. It was about a proposed road to link the various defence works in the north-west. It seemed a sensible project, but what impressed the writer was the nonchalant way in which huge sums of money were mentioned. The smallest figure mentioned in connection with roads was $20 millions. It all comes back, as we mentioned before, to our woefully inadequate population. We are, in Canada, on the eve of unprecedented expansion and prosperity with a piffling 14 or 15 million to execute and enjoy it.

A last word for the movie fans — don't miss "The African Queen", subtle comedy with an authentic African background. If it is possible to take the younger members of the family, do so; they will enjoy the shots of wild animals in their natural haunts.

A happy marriage is a new beginning of life, a new starting point for happiness and usefulness.
— Arthur P. Stanley

Living north or south of the border between Canada and the United States means more differences than the words of the National Anthem or design of the flag. For instance, in 1950 the average United States citizen ate 389 eggs while the average Canadian, during the same year, ate 276 eggs. Our American cousins also consumed more poultry per person, 31 pounds during 1950, compared with 22 pounds for the average Canadian.

Leather Carving Lucrative Hobby

Montreal (CP) — The "boots and saddle" art of leather carving is being adapted to high fashion by two enterprising young Montreal women.

Pauline Sullivan and Peggy Quigley learned their art from western craftsmen who etch the rich designs on fancy cowboy trappings. They started decorating leather handbags as a hobby but their friends were so impressed with the work that they decided to go into business.

Now they believe they are the only commercial leather carvers east of the cattle country. Instead of decorating boots and saddles, however, they are turning out beautiful wallets, purses, belts and shoes.

Both Pauline and Peggy, who have been close friends since girlhood, ran the gamut of hobbies before starting the leather carving.

"We tried them all, weaving, book-binding, carpentry, felt work, clay modelling, photography and even painting on china", says Pauline.

"The leather carving was the hobby that really stuck", says Peggy. "Carving on leather is so much more effective than tooling it", she says.

The two girls are so busy in their Westmount studio these days that they employ two other people to help fill their many orders.

They hold regular afternoon and evening classes and also conduct classes for industrial and handicraft groups.

Summer Suppers

Summer days were meant to be enjoyed, so do not become a slave to your stove. There are many appetizing supper dishes that can be made as quick as you can blink your eye, and with as little effort. Some, like moulded salads or fried chicken, can be prepared in the cool of the morning and kept cold all day in the refrigerator. Then at supper time, it takes no effort at all to serve a delicious cold meal.

Jellied meats are ideal to use for appetizing supper dishes. They are easy to prepare and, attractively garnished, make a tantalizing dish. The home economists of the Consumer Section, Canada Department of Agriculture have a recipe for Jellied Veal Loaf which they say is ideal for these meals.

Jellied Veal Loaf

2½ Lbs. veal shank, 2 quarts boiling water, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon celery salt, 1 teaspoon chopped parsley, pinch of thyme, 1 teaspoon chopped onion, 1 hard-cooked egg.

Simmer veal shank in water with salt, celery salt, parsley and thyme until meat falls from the bone — about one and one-half hours. Strain liquid and save (there should be about two cups). Chop meat (there should be about two cups). Chill strained veal stock. When it begins to stiffen, add onion and chopped meat. Slice egg and place slices in bottom of greased mould. Pour meat mixture over egg. Chill until firm. Unmould and serve on lettuce. If a stiffer jellied loaf is desired, two tablespoons gelatine may be soaked in one-quarter cup cold water, then added to the hot strained veal stock. Stir until dissolved, then chill and finish as above. Yield: eight to ten servings.

If the family insists on a hot meal despite torrid weather, the home economists suggest an all-in-one supper dish which may be served hot right from the casserole. Arrange slices of ham or luncheon meat on top of a vegetable casserole to make it more substantial. Scalloped potatoes topped with bacon or other meats is one favorite. A savoury cheese ring or perhaps a noodle ring can be filled with creamed summer vegetables for delicious suppers. To make a noodle ring, cook and drain four ounces of broad noodles. Beat two eggs until thick and light, then add one cup of milk, the cooked noodles and the seasonings — two tablespoons chopped parsley, one-half teaspoon salt and a dash of pepper. Turn this mixture into a well-greased ring mould. A ring may be improvised by setting a small bowl in a casserole or baking dish. Place in a pan of hot water and oven-poach in a moderate oven, 350°F., until it is done — about one hour. Turn out into a serving dish and fill the centre with well-seasoned creamed vegetables. Fresh green peas, summer squash or a combination of green peas and celery are delicious to use at this time of the year. This recipe will make six servings.

Another idea for easy summer dishes is to take advantage of the many canned meats. These can be most uninteresting if they are served straight from the can to the platter, but if they are dressed up they can be a gourmet's delight. The canned ham which is available on the market can be used in many ways. It is good cubed for salads or Ham à la King. For special occasions, glaze the ham as it comes from the can with jelly or with mustard and brown sugar. Garnish with spiced peaches or pears and serve with a tossed green salad. It may also be sliced and served cold with either hot or cold summer vegetables. Other luncheon meats are delicious glazed with brown sugar and studded with cloves or spread with mustard and placed under the broiler to brown. They may also be sliced and attractively arranged on a plate with slices of cheese, cucumber and tomato.

SHOPKEEPERS AROUSED

Gt. Harwood, England (CP) — Shopkeepers in this Lancashire textile town are urging the blacklisting of textile mills which dispose of slow-moving stocks at bargain prices straight to the consumer.

One outfitter said that women were buying such material at less than half-price and then using it to make their own clothes. Such a practice cuts out the middle-man and reduces store profits.

Tasty Dishes

Chickken Sausage Bake

1 Lb. sausage meat, ¼ cup chopped onion, 1 10-ounce can cream of mushroom soup, ¼ cup diced cooked chicken, baking powder biscuits using 2 cups flour.

Sauté sausage meat until brown, remove from pan and drain. Add onions to pan and sauté until tender, then stir in mushroom soup and broth or milk. Line bottom of a greased 8-inch cake pan with chicken and cover with sausage meat. Pour soup mixture over sausage meat and top with biscuits cut in desired shape. Bake in a hot oven, 400°F., 25 to 30 minutes or until biscuits are done. Yield: 6-8 servings.

Devilled Egg Bake

4 Chicken livers, 2 tablespoons finely chopped onion, ¼ cup fat, 6 hard-cooked eggs, few drops of tabasco, ¼ cup grated Cheddar cheese, 1 10-ounce can cream of mushroom soup, ½ cup grated Cheddar cheese.

Sauté livers and onion in hot fat until tender. Remove from pan, drain and chop livers finely. Cut eggs in half lengthwise, remove yolks and rub through a sieve. Combine chopped livers, onions, sieved yolks, tabasco and the ½ cup grated cheese. Add sufficient soup to moisten (about 2 tablespoons). Refill whites with the yolk mixture and arrange in a deep 9-inch pie plate. Cover with remainder of soup and top with the ½ cup grated cheese. Bake in a moderately hot oven, 375°F., until cheese is melted, about 10 minutes. Yield: six servings.

Note: Chicken giblets and hearts may be used along with or in place of the livers. These should be simmered until tender, then finely chopped and sautéed with the onion.

Agriculture.

Chicken Chowder

¼ Cup chopped onion, 2 tablespoons fat, 1 cup diced celery, 2 cups cubed raw potatoes, 2 cups chicken broth, 1 cup diced cooked chicken, 1 up kernel corn, 2 tablespoons chopped parsley, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 cup milk, salt and pepper to taste.

Sauté onion in hot fat until lightly browned, about 5 minutes. Add celery, potatoes and broth and simmer, covered, until vegetables are tender, about 30 minutes. Add chicken, corn, parsley and flour which has been blended with milk. Cover and simmer about 15 minutes, stirring occasionally. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Yield: 5 cups. — Canadian Department of Agriculture.

Fashions

Two wonder synthetics are better than one, especially when the two are nylon or orlon. The result is a fabric that requires a minimum of care. This material is used for a summer dress in gray with a scattered white daisy print. It has a high placed collar and revers above the three-button closing. Horsehair at the hem helps the line of the amply flared skirt. This is a good vacation or town number.

Let's Eat

BY IDA BAILEY ALLEN

French words and phrases appear often on restaurant menus and in cook books. So here's the chef to do a translation job.

DINNER FROM THE CHEF'S MENU DICTIONARY

Hors d'Oeuvre Varieee
Ragout of Lamb
Potatoes Rissolees
Petits Pois
Lemon Souffle
Coffee Tea Milk

"Mesdames: All these phrases are derived from the French, and are often used on menus. 'Hors d'oeuvre varieee' means a variety of appetizers served on a plate. The phrase 'hors d'oeuvre' means 'outside the works,' or a special extra course served before the main course.

'Ragout' is the French word for stew. 'Potatoes rissolees' means browned whole potatoes. 'Petits pois' is just green peas! You all know about 'lemon souffle, but do you know that 'souffle' means 'breath,' like a sigh? And if a souffle is not served immediately, the steam will escape, with a little sighing sound, and, pouff!—the souffle is flat. So, Mesdames, when it is done, you must serve your souffle 'toute de suite, which means 'right away.'"

All Measurements Are Level

Ragout of Lamb

Order 3 lbs. stewing lamb, breast or neck. Remove as much fat as possible. Cut the meat in bite-sized pieces. (Save the bones for soup.) In a heavy 2-qt. kettle, melt 2 tbsp. butter or margarine; add 2 tbsp. minced onion, and 1 small, crushed peeled section garlic. Stir until the onion is coated. Then add the lamb; stir until it slightly changes color. Stir in 2 tbsp. enriched flour, 1½ tsp. salt, ⅛ tsp. pepper, ½ tsp monosodium glutamate and the grated rind ½ lemon.

Pour in 4 c. boiling water. Cover and simmer or bake 1¼ hrs. Then add 4 peeled potatoes cut in eighths lengthwise; 8 scraped small carrots cut in quarters; 1 c. cleaned young onions, with a few chopped tops; 1 c. shredded fresh or fresh-frozen green beans and 2 tbsp. tomato paste. Cover and simmer 45 min. longer. Serve spooned over large croutons made by toasting thick slices of French bread in the oven until very dry.

Lemon Souffle

When eggs are inside the budget, a quick lemon omelet souffle is a delicious dessert, or main dish for luncheon.

Measure ½ tbsp. butter into a 9 in. pie-plate and heat in the oven. When the butter melts, tip the plate so the sides will be thoroughly oiled. Separate 3 eggs. Beat the whites until stiff and yolks until lemon-colored. To the yolks add ½ tbsp. lemon juice and 3 tbsp. sugar. Fold into the egg whites. Heap into the pie-plate. Sprinkle over 1 tsp additional sugar, and bake 20 min. in a moderate oven, 350-375 F., or until puffy and brown. Serve at once.

Q.W.I's Concerned With Conservation

Conservation is again to be a project for the Quebec Women's Institutes. This has been announced by the provincial president, Mrs. G. E. LeBaron, North Hatley, in accordance with the the policy of the Associated Country Women of the World. Conservation in all aspects has been a topic of study for some time by all constituent societies of the international organization and W.I. members in this province are particularly concerned with the denuding of many areas of their forests and are looking for constructive advice as to what can be done to cope with this situation.

Mr. M. R. Wilson, of Grenville, resident manager for the Canadian International Paper Co., who was one of the speakers at the recent Q.W.I. convention, discussed the general management of the farmer's woodlot and assisted in the discussion that followed. Asked the question if there was any law to prevent the "stripping" of woodlots, he stated "none as yet". He suggested the members encourage a re-planting program on depleted areas, particularly those that were not suited to farming, enlisting the support of their "menfolk". He also said the Department of Lands and Forests, Quebec, should be contracted, as it stands ready to advise and assist groups seeking to put such a project into action.

ELECTRIC TEAPOT IS ENGLISH IDEA

London (CP) — Tea-drinkers will be interested in an electric tea-pot invented here which requires no boiling water to be poured into it before brewing a first-rate cup of tea.

This goes a step farther than the electric kettle. With the new device all the housewife need do is fill the pot with cold water, put the tea-leaves in a filter appliance and plug the pot into the electric socket. When the water boils, the tea is automatically brewed.

English motorists who like gadgets on their cars can make tea the easy way by plugging the tea-pot into the dashboard socket.

The main advantage claimed for the electric tea-pot however is that it requires less tea. With its use 1½ teaspoonfuls will yield a dozen cups of tea. It is also said to make it impossible to "stew" the tea because the water in the filter, in direct contact with the tea-leaves, is always four degrees below boiling point.

There are seven basic ways to prepare eggs — baked, boiled, cooked in the shell, fried, poached, scrambled and simple omelets. Ingenious Home Economists have devised hundreds of variations of these seven basic ways and because eggs are one hundred percent edible, there is no waste.

Rocky Mountain Diesels

A new era of mountain railroading in Canada is being unfolded as modern streamlined Canadian Pacific Railway diesels, the first to go into service in the Rocky Mountains, replace steam locomotives, long-time conquerers of the steep slopes and rugged mountain wilderness. Pictured are two of 48 new diesel units which the C.P.R. has acquired since last fall for operation in the Rockies and Alberta foothills between Revelstoke, B.C., and Calgary, Alta., as they pull a passenger train past towering peaks near Lake Louise. Passenger and freight trains on this run, one of the toughest in the world, are being given diesel power as part of the railway's five-year dieselization program. An additional 18 road and switch engines will be delivered before this fall to completely dieselize the area.

Fourteen ocen-going tankers of 1,000 or more gross tons fly the Canadian flag.

Have You A Question ON UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE OR EMPLOYMENT?

In this column we publish questions about unemployment insurance and employment, together with answers received from the Unemployment Insurance Commission.

If you are uncertain about any point do not hesitate to send your question to your district Unemployment Insurance office. We will obtain an answer and publish it in this column.

Following are some questions with answers which may be of interest to you: —

Q. Are employers required to make deductions from an employee's wages and pay the Commission the usual amounts for the sixth day of the week when it is not worked? In other words is it necessary to deduct and pay for six days per week when five days are worked under the Act?

A. If an employee works the full working week, whether it is five or six days, contributions are payable for six days. "Working week" means the number of hours, days or shifts that contribute the full week's work for that employee's grade or class or shift.

Q. Is it compulsory for cities to carry unemployment insurance on permanent employees working in publicly-owned utilities which are making a profit?

A. Both permanent and temporary employees of public utilities must be insured.

Q. Can an employer stamp an unemployment insurance book for one day if the employee worked on Sunday only?

A. Yes. The stamps must be affixed in the space provided for Monday.

POOR CENSORSHIP

How can justification be given to movie censorship and the same things be allowed to run through the newer type magazines? It's not censorship. It's an expensive way of fooling the public, making parents believe that the suggestiveness has been taken from everything. — Olds (Alta.) Gazette

Social Event in Mabel Community

(Our District Correspondent)

Mabel — A pleasant evening was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Tomalty recently, when nearly 100 of their relatives, friends and neighbors met to bid welcome to them and their sons, Kenneth and Nelson, to their new home.

The evening was spent playing games and renewing acquaintances, during which the Tomalty family were presented with a beautiful table lamp, a bed lamp and a sum of money.

Mrs. Perley Clark and Mr. John Black made the presentation on behalf of the gathering and expressed the good wishes of their friends, to which Mr. Tomalty very fittingly replied, stating that while the gifts were most sincerely appreciated, the gathering of so many friends in a social hour at their new home was appreciated more.

Forest Ranger Has Lonely But Vital Job

Timmins, Ont. (CP) — John Hull is one of the watch-dogs of Canada's forest wealth. Atop the McKeown tower, 30 miles from here, the forest ranger has a lonely job, but he likes it.

A Porcupine resident, he says: "It's a good life. It can be good or bad, depending on how you take it."

Hull's job is to scan the area in a 30-mile radius around his tower and report the first sign of fire to headquarters at Timmins. He is in constant contact with other rangers in this area. Immediately smoke is seen he and the others get a "fix" on the fire by locating it by angle from their towers. Then the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests takes over to check the blaze.

Sometimes fire overtakes the fire-watcher. Hull still remembers vividly being pulled from the path of a fire one hour before the tower where he was posted was razed.

Hull lives in a neat three-room cottage at the base of McKeown. A bachelor, he has acquired a talent for cooking that is the equal of any woman's.

He keeps no gun, maintaining that if a man doesn't bother the animals, they won't bother him. He recalls the night a bear peered in the window of his cottage. "I shooed him off by rapping my fist on the glass", he says.

Human company is a rare treat for him. Last year he had but one caller, a logger who was following the hydro towers to town.

Tower keepers are given one day a month leave. Rainy weather they consider good because it means they can sometimes squeeze in an extra day in town.

"Around the Country"

By Jim Greenblat

At Rossland, B.C., the work of the Council was likened to "blood, sweat and tears", when they decided to adjourn and attend the Blood Clinic in a body to give — that others might live. . . . Pete Barkman was driving his truck along the highway near Steinback, Man., when he saw a rabbit coming up the road full steam ahead; he tried to steer clear but the rabbit kept coming, jumped onto the hood, through the windshield and ended up in Pete's lap; and that was the end of rabbit.

At Zelma, Sask., the late Farmer Smith lost his watch while breaking with a plow on his homestead; that was 40 years ago; just recently his widow, Mrs. Helen Smith, related the watch was found while the same piece of land was being cultivated; a jeweller reported after examination that it could be again tuned up to function normally.

Mrs. F. E. Webster of Creemore, Ont., organizer of the first Women's Institutes in West Simcoe, and president 1903 to 1905, was present recently to see her daughter, Mrs. William Emmett, installed as president on the Institute's 50th anniversary.

The Powell River, B.C. News, reports: "Strain of seven weeks campaigning proved too much for the warhorse of the CCF party in B.C., and Harold Winch last night with his voice reduced to a whisper could only take a seat on the platform of Moose Hall while his father and 19-year legislative associate, Ernest Winch, took over to address the crowd."

Sale of Herefords at the Central Alberta Pavilion in Lacombe, Alta., was a big success; a total of 261 bulls and females grossed $139,885.

"We'll line up to vote for DUPLESSIS, too, BECAUSE..."

Every one of us is much better off today because of his marvelous help to labor. His Minimum Wage law stopped the exploitation of our most needy workers—the unskilled folks. Then he raised the workmen's compensation for industrial sickness and accident all around—the rates, the minimum and the maximum.

He gave us our biggest boost when he won us the right to unionize, and another mighty good one when he got overtime pay made obligatory. It was grand too when he got half a million of us vacations with pay, which we weren't getting before. Through his tremendous public works programme he created thousands of jobs at the time when jobs were scarce.*

He did a whole lot to make us happier and healthier in our work. He cut down the number of industrial disputes between us and our bosses, by conciliation and arbitration efforts—which saved thousands of us from idleness due to strikes. He's extended medical examinations for workers in mines—and throughout the Province—as well as establishing a clinic where we working people get free treatments to build up our health after accidents.

He's given thousands of apprentices skilled training through his fifteen apprenticeship centers; and thousands of our boys and girls vocational training in the trade and technical schools set up by the Department of Youth and Welfare.

YES, SIR! We're sure voting for DUPLESSIS on July 16.

Russia Entering In Olympic Games

"SPORTS CAMERA"

By Gerry Lougheed,
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Russia, for the first time in four decades, will participate in the Olympic Games at Helsinki, Finland, this summer. How powerful will the Soviet delegation shape up? Nobody seems to know.

Only about one thing seems certain: the Russians are sure to make at least a respectable showing or they would not be sending a team of some 300 athletes to the big international sports carnival July 19 to August 3.

If the Soviets follow their usual habits, they'll probably keep to themselves. There has even been talk that they will be flown to and from the games from some city inside the Russian border, only about 900 miles by air from Helsinki.

No details have been disclosed about the team's make-up. But the concensus of observers on this side of the Iron Curtain is that Russian women athletes probably will make the best showing. They are big and muscular and should do well in the field events.

Soccer is the big sport in the Soviet Union and their soccer representatives should make a good showing in that tournament, which has drawn entries from 28 countries. Among the rest of the men are believed some fair swimmers, good runners and field men.

Russia is entered in every title event except field hockey. Why they didn't challenge for that event hasn't been explained.

The Moscow announcement that Russia would compete came as no great surprise. The Russians have been training teams for some months in several sports. And the newspapers of Moscow and other large cities have been calling for athletes to exert extra efforts for coming international competitions.

Handy Alibis

Here's a golfing competition that's made to order for duffers: a tournament with built-in alibis.

It's called the Bourbon Open and takes place every summer in a whisky-producing section of Kentucky.

All the contestants tee off with a half-pint of bourbon. First prize is half a case of the stuff.

The tournament is a funfest first and contest second, but ther's a lot of serious golf too. It took a one-under-par to win last year.

Sponsored by a number of distilleries, the tournament is an 18-hole medal-play affair. The prizes are handed out in a dozen different ways.

For example, the golfer driving closest to a bottle hidden far down one of the fairways wins the target. There are jugs for the most putts, most strokes on one hole and for various other tipsy achievements.

Stiff competition is assured because each starter collects his half-pint on the first tee.

To Broadcast From Olympic Games

Daily radio reports on the Olympic Games at Helsinki will be broadcast for Canadians by Thom Benson (above), CBC International Service Representative in Toronto, who has gone to Finland with the Canadian contingent of 125 picked athletes. As commentator he played an important role in the CBC's coverage of the Royal Tour last year, and more recently he prepared and presented a Sunday night feature program about the Chalk River atomic energy plant. His reports from Helsinki will begin on Saturday, July 19, at 7.30 p.m. on the CBC. After that he'll be heard Sundays, July 20, 27 and August 3, at 6 p.m.; and weekdays and Saturdays, July 21-26, and July 28 - August 2, at 5.45 p.m.

Husky Bobby Williams, 20, front, former Hamilton Leander sculler, made a wise move to Winnipeg last fall, for he teamed up with Derek Riley, 29, to win the senior doubles in Canada's Olympic rowing trials held recently at Port Dalhousie, Ont. The classy Winnipeg pair, seen above, will fly to England soon to ra crack at the British Henley. Bill Jarvis last year won the U.S. national singles crown.

Recent Wedding At St. Simeon's

Cleghorn - Percival

The marriage of Joan Joyce, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Ralph Percival, of Lachute, to Mr. William Victor Cleghorn, son of Mr. and Mrs. William V. Cleghorn, of Montreal, took place recently in St. Simeon's Anglican Church, Lachute, the Rev. C. R. Lang officiating. Mrs. S. Pollock played the wedding music and Mr. Robert Cleghorn, brother of the bridegroom, sang during the signing of the register. Gladioli blossoms and baskets of carnations and peonies were used to decorate.

The bride, who was given away by her father, was in a gown of nylon net over satin, the bodice having long fitted sleeves and a peplum, embroidered with seed pearls and mother of pearl sequins, and the skirt falling into a long train. Her fingertip veil of tulle illusion was held by a bonnet covered with pin tucked nylon net and she carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations.

Miss Jean Moncrieff, of Ottawa, as maid of honor, wore a strapless frock of hyacinth blue, the bodice having a matching bolero. She wore a Juliet cap of the same color embroidered with blue and pink lily of the valley and carried a hyacinth blue tulle muff over taffeta with streamers of pink forget-me-nots.

Miss Jean Percival, sister of the bride, and Miss Margaret Cleghorn, the bridegroom's sister, of Montreal, were in frocks of hyacinth blue taffeta, the bodices having cape collars ending in points at the waist and bouffant skirts. They wore Mary Queen of Scots hats covered with pink and blue lily of the valley and carried tulle taffeta muffs.

Little Miss Nancy Maude Dobbie, of Lachute, as flower girl, wore a frock of yellow organza over taffeta, with a small coronet of spring flowers in her hair, and carried a nosegay of rosebuds.

Mr. Garnet C. Cleghorn acted as best man for his brother and the ushers were Mr. Warren Percival, of Sherbrooke, uncle of the bride, Mr. James Clark, of Montreal, cousin of the bride, Mr. William Cameron, of Montreal, cousin of the bridegroom, and Mr. John Banks, of St. Eustache-sur-le-Lac.

Mrs. Percival, the bride's mother, was gowned in brown and white crepe and wore a picture hat of white Milan straw, matching accessories with a corsage bouquet of yellow roses.

Mrs. Cleghorn, mother of the bridegroom, wore a cocktail length gown of coffee brown Alencon lace over taffeta with a Baku straw hat of the same color, blue accessories and a corsage bouquet of pink roses.

The reception was held in the Legion Hall, Lachute, where blue and white spring flowers were used as decorations.

FOLK MUSIC CONFERENCE

DUPLESSIS

Reduced the debt of the Province by

in 8 years

A sensational rise in provincial revenue since 1944 is the best index of Quebec's economic prosperity. With only 13% of the tax dollar the Quebec Government was able to execute projects which are an asset to the country.

Think of all the Provincial Government would have done had it received a just and equitable share of the tax dollar. In 8 years' administration the National Union produced 8 surpluses. In this as in all other respects Duplessis led the way.

W. Cottingham in Active Schedule

Linton W. Armstrong on Theme of Edueation

William M. Cottingham, the Union Nationale candidate, has been continuing his election campaign through the County during the past week with a meeting last Thursday evening in Ayersville and another at the Catholic School in Brownsburg on Friday evening. On Saturday afternoon, A. Gaston Munich, Mayor of Montcalm and County Warden, held a garden party at his residence in Weir as a tribute to Mr. Cottingham and the work he had done in the County.

Mr. Munich told the gathering that he had heard reports that his son was going to oppose Mr. Cottingham. He said that, although he always had been a staunch Liberal, he wanted to make it publicly known that he was solidly behind Mr. Cottingham. Mr. Cottingham thanked Mr. Munich, and said that it was gratifying to note how the electors of the County were rallying together, regardless of political affiliations, to show their appreciation for the work that has been done. He said that hardly a day went by in which there were not a number of private individuals or delegations of former Liberals calling on him to offer their support.

Very large meetings have been held at St. Adolphe and Montfort. On Sunday evening a parade of about 50 cars from Lachute and vicinity went to a big party rally in St. Jerome, when thousands gathered at the Arena to hear the Premier of the Province.

Advances in Education

Linton W. Armstrong gave a radio address last Friday evening over Station CBM. Mr. Armstrong dealt with the progress that had been made with Education during the last few years. He said that 15 or 20 years ago the lack of modern and adequate school facilities contributed to the making of this province the most backward in the Dominion. Teachers' salaries were a disgrace, school boards were handicapped by debts, and thousands of children were unable to continue their education after they had completed Grade VII in the rural elementary schools.

The speaker outlined what had been done to remedy this situation. The act to insure the progress of education provided legislation whereby school boards were relieved of debts of over one hundred million dollars. Aid to Protestant school boards had been increased from $40,000 a year to 1½-million dollars. It was this Government assistance which had enabled our local deputy to build over a million dollars' worth of Protestant schools in the County of Argenteuil alone, during the past three years.

Government aid to school boards to help towards the cost of administration had trebled during the last few years. The legislation permitting the formation of central school boards helped put educational matters on a business basis, and enabled thousands of children to obtain a high school education. Mention was also made of how the Government relieved the Montreal Central School Board of an administration deficit of 1½-million dollars last year.

Premier Speaks Highly Of Argenteuil Deputy

Subsequent meetings in behalf of Mr. Cottingham have been held in Brownsburg and other centres in the County.

Mr. Cottingham also spoke at two assemblies in neighboring constituencies — at St. Jerome and Rigaud. In the former place the occasion was the grand rally attended by Premier Duplessis, who praised the performance of Mr. Cottingham during his stewardship as government deputy in this riding.

Marler Speaks for Liberal Candidate

Philippe Valois, M.P., Is Loyal Supporter

George Marler, Liberal Opposition leader, was principal speaker here last Friday evening at a meeting in the Auditorium on behalf of Bernard Gosselin, candidate for the constituency in the approaching election. Mayor Jas. W. McGibbon acted as chairman, and other speakers besides Mr. Marler and Mr. Gosselin were Philippe Valois, M.P. for Argenteuil - Deux Montagnes, and Alban Flamand, of Montreal.

Mr. Marler cited numerous facts and figures to demonstrate that the Duplessis Government was not only "dictatorial and anti-democratic", but also "financially disastrous". . . The system of awarding contracts without tender, and obligatory contributions to the coffers of the Union Nationale party, were compared with the dictatorship of the Soviet regime. . . . "But this kind of administration is equally disastrous from the financial viewpoint", stated Mr. Marler. "The Union Nationale professes generosity. Yes, it is generous, indeed — with your money . . . but it has impoverished the province and plunged it into debt."

Everything constructed with the benefaction of government grants was costing dearly, he claimed, because part of the expenditure had to be turned back into the party fund and for friends of the administration. "That is why the government is spending more and more. Million-dollar bridges are being replaced with others costing 1½-millions!"

Contracts are awarded without tender, invariably to friends of the government. Practically all purchases by the provincial government are at the highest retail price. This applies in the construction of bridges, roads, schools, hospitals — said Mr. Marler — because they must keep the electoral fund well financed, and spend millions and millions to win their re-election. . . "If the government is as good as it claims, why does it need to spend so many million dollars?" asked the Liberal Opposition leader.

Provincial budgets of 90-millions in 1944 have now swelled to 300-millions, said Mr. Marler, elaborating also on the juggling of budgets to avoid deficits, and on the manner of indebting school and municipal bodies 10 or 15 years into the future so as to benefit by deferred government grants.

"The government claims to have reduced the provincial debt by 52-millions", continued Mr. Marler on the subject of finances, "but when one takes into account the various commitments here and there, the truth is that it has increased the debt by 68-millions. In this County of Argenteuil alone, school debts have multiplied nine-fold in five years — thanks to grants from the Duplessis Government. And meanwhile, the taxes collected by the province have risen from 65-millions in 1944 to 222-millions in 1951!"

Philippe Valois, M.P., deplored the apathy of the electors to their provincial administration. "Nevertheless, what goes on at Quebec affects each one of us. Duplessis' anti-labor policy affects all the workers. If needy mothers receive, in Quebec, half the benefits they receive in Ontario, this cannot leave us indifferent to the facts. Farm credits, although an excellent idea, have now become inadequate. The Liberal regime will remedy this need". Mr. Valois bespoke the support of Argenteuil to its Liberal candidate.

Bernard Gosselin cited examples to show how works contracts without tenders had doubled and tripled the cost, to the detriment of the taxpayers. The candidate accused Mr. Cottingham of neglecting his promise to complete the reconstruction of Route 31.

Alban Flamand paid homage to Mr. Marler, to whose efforts he attributed the revitalizing of the Liberal Party. "The trend to Liberalism is now so strong that it will beat the $20-million funds of the Union Nationale", he exclaimed.

Evolution Versus the New World

Jehovah God promises a new World to bring mankind to perfection. Scientists offer evolution as the means of man's ascent to new heights. The Bible declares that man was created perfect from dust, but sinned and degenerated, and that now his descendents can regain what he lost only through Christ's millennial reign.

"Prove all things; hold fast that which is good". Can you prove your faith? If it is in evolution can you found it on fact? If it is in the Bible, can you establish it in truth?

The booklet, "Evolution Versus the New World", weighs the case for the Bible's New World. The New World wherein dwelleth righteousness. 2nd Peter 3-13. The Earth abideth for ever. Ecclesiastes 1-4. Read Revelations 21, the whole chapter. It is good; but especially good from verses 1-8. . . Evolution booklets 5 cents each — write The Watch Tower, 40 Irwin Ave., Toronto 5, Ont.

Former Resident Dies In Montreal

Former friends regret to note the death of Mrs. David George Jaquest (Marjorie E. C. Martin), which occurred at the Royal Victoria Hospital in Montreal last Sunday. Mrs. Jaquest, in her 59th year, resided here for some time with her husband, who was engaged with the Cottingham building enterprises. He served as organist for a while at Lachute United Church, and Mrs. Jaquest, an accomplished singer, was active in the choir and in solo work. The couple enjoyed many friendships in their church life and in the community.

Mould Canadian Talent in Design Of Useful Articles

The production in Canada today of toys and tractors, salad bowls and sightseeing autobuses, cream separators and camera tripods, helps keep the wheels of Canadian industry moving. Nowadays, the men and women planning and working in industrial concerns from coast to coast are realizing that the design of the products they produce plays a front-ranking role in the acceptance of those products by fourteen million Canadian consumers. Today, the industrial designer is coming into prominence. Through his work, he is affecting the lives of people in cities, towns and rural areas, and the work of the Canadian industrial designer is not only being felt on the Canadian scene, but his designs are now developing goods which are finding their mark in other countries of the world.

But what is good industrial design in everyday objects? How many times has it been the experience of a Canadian housewife, in using a new sink strainer, to learn that while it's nice to look at, it won't strain properly, the legs being too short, or that it twists in hot water? Or perhaps it's the lot of the man of the house to put his hand on a neat little lamp table, only to find that it falls over at the least provocation. Although perhaps you've never thought of sink strainers or lamp tables just in those terms, the fact that they don't strain properly, or that they tip over easily, indicates faulty industrial design at the source of production.

The industrial designer today, in his daily work, is concerned not only with how things are made and how they will work when they are made, but whether they will sell! Just as the Canadian farmer in the working of his dairy or wheat farm or market garden concerns himself with certain feed supplements and fertilizers, so the Canadian industrial designer, in the designing of the multitude of everyday objects for home, industry, office and garden, concerns himself with the answers to these questions: Does the product look well? Is it comfortable to handle? Does it give pleasure in use? The Canadian consumer can be assured if the answer is "Yes", that creative talent in industrial design has been applied to the manufacture of the goods in question.

To record permanently the work done in Canada by Canadian industrial designers, a file of Canadian designs is maintained in Ottawa. This file is called the Canadian Design Index. Selections for it are made by an advisory group of architects and designers acting in co-operation with the Industrial Design Section of the National Gallery of Canada.

Good designs contained in the Index list come from large firms and small. And what is most remarkable to some people is that, in some instances, they come from Canadian branches of American corporations where it has been found that a design of an ice cube tray, automatic electric iron, arm chair or dining table, carefully thought out and prepared to meet Canadian needs, can often better serve the purpose than a product made from imported American or other foreign design blueprints.

A great number and variety of manufacturing firms exist in Canada today. Naturally, they compete, one with the other, in offering articles of diverse types and styles, made to sell at cheap, medium and luxury prices. As someone recently put it: "If you want to buy things that are good to look at and convenient to use, as well as being sturdy in construction, you will, if you're an enterprising consumer, keep on searching until you discover exactly what you want in products of good design to suit your needs and purse". And he added, "In so doing, you'll be encouraging the greater use of creative Canadian talent in design."

Base metal mines are adding more than $25,000,000 annualy to Quebec's mineral income.

From Toys to Tractors

Much of the recent improvement in the design of everyday articles ranging from toys to tractors came from the efforts of these talented Canadians whose job is to help make consumer goods better looking, easier to handle and more efficient in use. They belong to the new profession of industrial designers. To recognize Canadian talent in this field, a photographic index of Canadian product designs of merit is now maintained by the Industrial Design Information Services of the National Gallery at Ottawa.

Here's what DUPLESSIS has done for Quebec

and here's what it means to you!

You've heard and read many facts about the tremendous growth and progress of this Province under the National Union Government. But what does it all mean to you—what has it done for your income, for your family, for your health, for your happiness?

IN INCOME:
Surely, a goodly slice of the three quarters of a billion annual increase in salaries and wages must have gone into your pocketbook if you are a worker. If you own your business you must have profited mightily by the developments which have enabled Quebec to supply nearly one-half the nation's power, half the world's pulp and paper, one fifth of Canada's mining output; and which have brought over 5,000 new industries into the Province.

FARM PROFITS:
If you are a farmer, you have profited greatly by the Provincial farm loans which rescued Quebec farming from wholesale bankruptcy—the hundred millions of dollars which rehabilitated the land. And the fifteen thousand miles of new rural electric lines. And the six hundred thousand acres of land reclaimed by drainage.

IN EDUCATION:
Your children have benefited beyond any mere dollar-value, by the erection of 1846 new schools and the remodelling of 8,000 others. And by the hundreds of trade, technical and agricultural courses never available to them before the Duplessis Government made them possible.

IN YOUR HOME:
You and your family live in greater home comfort, and at less cost because the terrible housing crisis was greatly relieved by the Quebec housing loans of over twenty-five million dollars. Even if you are a tenant, this stimulation of new building (and the recent Provincial Rental Control) have kept your rent from skyrocketing.

IN HEALTH:
All of you enjoy much better health because of the 61 new hospitals, and 37 hospital modernizations, built with the aid of this administration. And you have been helped by the millions of dollars granted to health and hospital institutions, the twenty millions to fight tuberculosis, the establishment of 66 health centers—all reducing sickness and mortality. The infant mortality rate has been cut in half!

IN OPPORTUNITY:
You live and work and play in a Province that jealously insures that equal opportunity shall be given to all races, classes, creeds, languages and nations. It's the Province which most mightily upholds the doctrine of private enterprise. It is the Province where the facilities for travel have been tremendously increased and improved through more and better highways, airways, and many other transportation developments.

Yes, you live in a grown-up Province now — one that does not have to bow in any way to its neighbours. This Quebec of yours has come of age in industry, farming, education, health and social welfare. It grew up to manhood under DUPLESSIS. And that's why everybody will vote National Union on July 16.

Quebec Now Fastest Growing Industrial Province

QUEBEC RICH IN ORES, HYDRO COULD BE INDUSTRIAL HEART OF CANADA AS FIRMS EXPAND

By ELAND HONDERICH
Financial Editor

Quebec City, May 5 — Don't believe all you hear about "backward" Quebec. This province is moving from agriculture to industry with such speed and such success that it could become the industrial heart of future Canada.

If this surprises you, it's only because you still think of John Baptist as a peasant who wouldn't trade his quiet, simple life on the farm for all the conveniences of modern day life in industrial towns and cities.

This may have been the case one day. But John Baptist has changed. He has become the Quebec of 1952 is a wide awake, up-and-coming, industrial province. New industries are springing up faster than in any other part of Canada, you know, is expanding faster than ever before.

Show-Horse Breeder Loves Fine Animals

Regina (CP) — Horse breeders are few and far between these days, what with the horse-and-buggy replaced by the horseless carriage and the heavy work horse squeezed out by the tractor and truck.

But still there are men who love a good horse for its cleancut lines, graceful action, intelligence and faithfulness.

One is Gerrit Nyholt of North Battleford, Sask. He lives by the slogan: "What more can one ask of life than good friends and many ponies."

Nyholt, a show-horse breeder, specializes in Golden Palominos but breeds also American Saddlers, children's ponies and Shetlands.

Horse-Loving Family

In the Nyholt family are four horse lovers — Gerrit, his wife, his daughter, Audrey, and his 11-year-old son, Gary. Gary has already won his share of ribbons in the ring and plays a major role in breaking and quieting colts on the farm.

In building up his breeding stock Nyholt turned to the United States, home of the American Saddler, and chose registered stock from a show at Miles City, Mont.

The Nyholts now have eight head of registered American Saddlers, five of which are palomino colored, as well as several half-American Saddlers. Mr. Nyholt says the Saddler has the class and style of a Saddler and the beauty and common sense of the palomino.

The Nyholts started breeding Shetlands when their children were small. They now have a good herd, varying from solid colors to pintos and palominos.

Contest Monday, Lachute Catholic School Commission

For the first time in 15 years, next Monday will witness a contest in the Lachute Catholic School Commission — two seats being vacant as Dr. Roger Lavigne, physician, and Albert Legault, contractor, conclude their term of office. The two retiring commissioners have been renominated for office together with a third contender, Roland Labonté, personnel director at Dominion Shuttle Co. and a former teacher.

Other members of the Catholic Commission are Fernand Legault, Q.C. (chairman), Lionel Laurin, and Georges Beaulieu. Secretary-treasurer is Réal Urbain.

Voting takes place, 8 a.m. to 6 p.m., at l'Ecole Supérieure, Lachute.

At Brownsburg

U.S. Editors Tour Quebec

Montreal — Approximately 40 editors from leading American non-metropolitan daily and Class "A" weekly newspapers last week inspected Quebec's aluminum industry and the scenic attractions of the Gaspé Peninsula. They arrived here from Buffalo, where they attended the annual convention of the National Editorial Association.

Seventeen members of the group, led by Don Eck, general manager of the National Editorial Association, proceeded from the C.N.R. Central Station in Montreal to Arvida, to inspect the plant and power development of the Aluminum Company.

They rejoined the other members of the party at Levis and continued by train to Mont Joli, for a four-day motor tour of the Gaspé Peninsula.

The editors passed through Central Station again on the morning of July 8 while en route to Chicago.

Heated Debate at Town Council

Ald. Dr. Jules Lafleur took a vigorous stand for reduction of expenses in this department, to permit the desired salary increases. He favored the Chief's increase in salary, but demanded the immediate discontinuance of his car allowance, in the conviction that one conveyance, the town patrol truck, is sufficient. . . It was accordingly proposed by Ald. D. G. MacRae, seconded by Ald. Ludger Gibeault, that $10 increase be granted to the Police Chief, with discontinuance of the car allowance.

The question was put to a vote — three councillors (Gibeault, MacRae and Lafleur) voting for the amendment, and five (Holt, MacKimmie, Charlebois, Laurin and Provost) against, or in favor of the original motion. The main proposal was therefore adopted, 5 to 3, awarding salary increase and continuing the $25-a-week car allowance in the case of Chief Villeneuve.

Other employees also requested increases — Simard Larocque asking an additional 15 cents an hour, and Jos. Senecal, town officer, requesting a raise of $1 a day. Each was granted an increase of 50 cents a day, on motion of Ald. Judes Charlebois, supported by Ald. Provost.

The Council adjourned at 11.30 p.m.

PHEASANT SEASON

Vancouver (CP) — Pheasants will become legal game on the lower mainland from October 18 until November 2, it was decided at the zone convention of the B.C. fish and game protective association. The daily bag limit for cock pheasants is two, with a season total of ten.

The third largest telescope in the world is in use at Toronto's Dunlap Observatory.

Avoca Enthusiast Awarded Free Flying Course

During the past few months the members of the Hawkesbury Flying Club have been conducting a campaign for Associate Members. This campaign was to have terminated on May 24, the day of the annual spring re-opening party; however, for various reasons it was decided to continue the drive for membership throughout the month of June, terminating on the day of the sixth annual Air Show, June 29.

At the end of the Air Show program, all stubs of the tickets were placed in a barrel and an Air Cadet was asked to draw one stub.

Elden Bates, of Avoca, holding Associate Membership No. 45-L, was awarded the free Private Pilot's Course, which entitled him to a Flying Membership in the Club and a 30-hour course. Upon completing this course of training under the Government Subsidy Training Plan and successfully passing the necessary examinations, this student will receive the Government grant of $100.

JUNIOR ELGAR CHOIR LEAVES FOR BRITAIN

Montreal — Some 25 British Columbians, from the ages of 10 to 20 years, members of the Junior Elgar Choir, got their first glance of Montreal last week as they stepped off the C.N.R. "Continental Limited" at Central Station accompanied by their conductor, C. E. Findlater and his wife. They were en route to Liverpool for the Fourth British Tour.

Before boarding the S.S. Ascania here for the Atlantic crossing they made a half-hour transcription at the C.B.C. studios in Montreal. While overseas they will sing at Liverpool, Manchester, London, Glasgow and Edinburgh, where they will participate in the Edinburgh Festival, as well as 15 other English and Scottish centres.

TWINS IN HIS FOOTSTEPS

Veteran Canadian Pacific Airlines Captain Robert C. Randall (front) of Vancouver, shows his twin sons, Howard (left) and Robert, Jr., who have just started their careers as first officers on C.P.A. domestic routes, the route he follows on flights between Vancouver and Tokyo for the airline. The two boys are ready any time to listen to dad, who started flying five years before they were born. Captain Randall began commercial flying in 1928, and his service with the airline dates from 1937, when he flew with one of the smaller companies which amalgamated later to form Canadian Pacific Airlines.

Crashed Window Of Jewelry Store

Brownsburg — During Saturday night at Brownsburg, a 20-year-old resident was caught in the act of crashing the Larry Presseault jewelry store window. He was heard by a neighbor residing in the building, hurling a cement block through the window. The neighbor raised the alarm, and the proprietor of the store caught the miscreant not far from the scene, and handed him over to the police. The prisoner was released pending appearance before the court.

Wm. M. Cottingham, U.N., Returned With Sweeping Majority

Bernard Gosselin, Liberal Candidate, Is Loser in Unofficial Count—3,902-8,240

W. M. (Bill) Cottingham rode home to an easy victory in Argenteuil, clinching the Union Nationale seat against his opponent, Bernard Gosselin, Liberal. The victory was conceded before 8 p.m. — not long after closing of the polls at 6.30 last evening.

Mr. Cottingham is thus re-elected for his second term in the Quebec Legislature. He won the election here on the U.N. ticket in 1948 with a 400-odd majority against Georges E. Dansereau (Liberal). Clairoux (Union des Electeurs) was an also-ran in the three-way contest. The riding at that time had been consistently Liberal in provincial politics since 1927.

Figures at this hour give Mr. Cottingham a majority of 4,338 — although the returns are not final until the official count.

Excitement ran high as results were reported from the different polls last evening. A popular innovation was the posting of county and provincial results on blackboards on the Auditorium platform. At that spot an immense crowd gathered for the traditional salute to the successful candidate, and Mr. Cottingham appeared after the fray, to receive the plaudits of the crowd, to thank his supporters and to pledge his best endeavors.

The Union Nationale victory in Argenteuil was an echo of the triumph for J. Paul Sauvé in the next-door constituency of Deux Montagnes, where the government candidate polled 7,228 votes against Marcel (Liberal) 2,271 and Webster (C.C.F.) 227. . . It was consistent also with the plurality accorded to Maurice Duplessis and his followers across the province — although the Liberal opposition gained 15 seats. The parliamentary standing is now 68 Union Nationale; 23 Liberal; 1 Independent. (Previous standing, 81 Union Nationale, 8 Liberal.)

The fight in Argenteuil was good while it lasted. Despite their confidence of victory, there was no evidence of Union Nationale stalwarts resting on the laurels of complacency. Meanwhile Mr. Gosselin and his followers aroused new enthusiasm in the languishing ranks of provincial Liberalism hereabouts. There was a heated, sometimes abusive campaign, both candidates being supported by veteran orators and partisans. The platform schedules reached their climax with rousing meetings in Lachute and Ayersville, before the oratory subsided and organizers concentrated on ringside details of the election combat. There was a flurry of printed propaganda, a frenzy of road-building and the usual incidentals accompanying the peak of local elections. And election day saw the workers out in full force at every poll.

Mr. Gosselin won a majority in four polls, as follows: John, Lachute W. End, 9; Brownsburg Convent, 6; Grenville East, 8; Grenville West, 5. At the Riddell poll, Lachute Mills, the result was an equal 104 for each candidate.

1,000 Catholics On Pilgrimage to Cap-Madeleine

Approximately 1,000 people took part in a pilgrimage, the first of its kind from this Catholic diocese, last Sunday to Cap-de-la-Madeleine, under the personal direction of the Bishop of St. Jerome, Mgr. Emilien Frenette.

There were 600 or 700 pilgrims aboard the train on the north shore line from Calumet via Lachute, and upwards of 500 on the train from the northern sections passing through St. Jerome. The bishop, making the journey on one of these trains and returning by the other, passed from seat to seat in every coach, giving his blessing to the passengers, each of whom kissed the bishop's ring. All were much impressed with his kindly solicitation.

Confession, communion, pontifical mass and luncheon in the open air, the road to the cross and blessing of the sick, provided a full and inspiring session for the faithful.

W. M. Cottingham, Re-elected M.L.A. for Argenteuil

Two Women In Swimming Mishap At Brownsburg

Special to The Watchman and L'Argenteuil

Brownsburg — Two young women were injured in unusual circumstances while swimming in the West River at Brownsburg on Tuesday evening. The victims were Mrs. Jocelyn Mondoux, who suffered a fracture or severe sprain of the leg, and her sister, Huguette Belanger, who sustained contusions of the neck and shoulder.

Defective boards forming an opening in a dam, are given as cause of the accident. Mrs. Mondoux was caught in the current and swept against the boards. She called to her sister for help and the added weight sent the two hurtling in the rocks and the fast current.

Fortunately their predicament was seen by two men — Raoul Guimond and Omer Denault—who managed with some difficulty to bring the young women to safety. Their injuries were treated by Dr. Jacques Castagner, and they were brought by ambulance to the Providence Hospital, Lachute. Huguette Belanger was later removed to a Montreal hospital, while her sister was allowed to return home.

BEYOND RETIREMENT AGE

London — New ideas to enable elderly people to stay at work are being evolved by the Ministry of Labor. Part of the coal face in one colliery has been set aside for elderly miners. One British engineering firm has an "old folks' workshop" where light semi-skilled work is done, starting an hour later than the main factory.

Electrocuted by Live Wire in Farm Yard

Olivine Leveillé, 59-year-old spinster, was electrocuted at Chatboro last Wednesday when she touched a live electric wire. The fatality occurred at the farm of her brother, Joseph Leveillé, where she resides, on the north side of the Lachute-Grenville highway just east of Marelan.

According to Coroner Dr. Jules Lafleur, who made the inquiry, the woman was walking from the house to the poultry shed, at 4.30 in the afternoon, after heavy rains. Repairs were being made to the barn roof, and the electric wire lay in her path across the yard. The woman wore no rubbers on her feet, and the wet electric wire, although insulated, discharged its full voltage through her body as she picked it up. The woman died instantly.

The coroner pronounced her death accidental.

Elections for Catholic Board

Acclamations for Two Vacancies at Carillon

Successful candidates in the election for two commissioners on the Lachute Catholic School Board were Dr. Roger Lavigne, re-elected (290 votes), and Roland Labonté, personnel manager at Dominion Shuttle Co. and a former teacher (203) votes. Albert Legault, retiring commissioner who stood again for election, was defeated with 135 votes.

Number of ballots cast at the poll last Monday in l'Ecole Supérieure, was 338 — each elector voting for two names on the list of three.

At Carillon

Adélard Thibert and Napoléon Roy were elected commissioners at Carillon, by acclamation, to replace Omer Lefèbvre and Léopold Crévier, retiring. Antonio Lafleur was engaged as secretary-treasurer of the board.

At St. Philippe

E. Bertrand, 89 votes; W. Campeau, 79; Réal Demers, 78; Jos. Ranger, 73.

CARDIAC KITCHEN

A "Cardiac Kitchen" has been designed by the Chicago Heart Association, especially for women with heart conditions. The main features are a chair on castors and a table on wheels to enable the woman to move herself and her equipment with a minimum of effort. Tools and appliances are placed no more than 22 inches from work benches so the housewife can do all her work while seated.

Many Casualties in Local Highway Collisions

Just east of St. Philippe last Thursday at 9 p.m. Réal Laurin was waiting for two cars to pass before turning into his father's farm. His truck was facing westward, when a Montebello car driven by Claude Parisien, with three passengers, crashed into the rear with such impact that the windshield and top of the car were pushed down over the front seat, and all four occupants were severely hurt.

Parisien, 21 years of age, sustained cuts to the head and hands. Jean-Louis Descours, 38, suffered back and head injuries; Mrs. Descours, 34, had a fractured ankle; and Marie Bisson, 27, received head bruises. All four, from Montebello, were brought to Lachute by Traffic Officer Howard Jones, and received treatment at the Providence Hospital by Dr. Marc Papineau. They were later allowed to return home.

A party of district residents, and a summer camper and his daughter, were in collison near McFaul's Flats on Route 31 late Saturday night.

Leslie Russell, with his daughter Shirley, 19, and Herbert Gwinnel, 20, all of Lachine, were driving to their camp on Lake Louisa, via St. Michel. In a south-bound car were Laurence McKale, of Harrington, Percy Thompson and Russell Stewart, of Lachute, with two other passengers. The cars crashed on the highway, both being completely wrecked; the three men were hurled out of the Harrington car, and a total of four occupants were brought to Lachute for treatment at the Providence Hospital.

Miss Russell suffered a broken rib. Laurence McKale sustained a bad cut over the right eye, while Russell Stewart suffered facial injuries and Percy Thompson had rib fractures and multiple contusions. The three men were brought to Lachute by ambulance. The other two occupants in both cars escaped injury.

Both the above accidents were investigated by Cst. Howard Jones, of Lachute.

On Thursday last, a traffic accident occurred at Marelan, on Route 8 between St. Philippe and Grenville. Lewis A. Burpee, 65, of Ottawa, was proceeding east on a business trip to New Brunswick, when he was met head-on by another car driven by Jean L. Bertrand, of Cambridge, Mass. It was stated by police that the latter car skidded on the wet pavement when the driver, passing a truck in charge of Adelard Deschamps, Hawkesbury, saw the Ottawa car approaching and endeavored to slow down.

In the collision that resulted, Jean Bertrand, 41, suffered broken ribs; his wife, 27, was badly cut about the face, requiring seven stitches; their son Philippe, 3½, had a fractured thigh; and Miss Marguerite Arcand, 38, of St. Jerome, was hurt on the arms, legs and chest.

Lewis Burpee, in the other car, suffered a broken leg and chest injuries. The victims were treated by a physician in Grenville, Mr. Burpee then being taken by ambulance to Ottawa, while the injured in the Bertrand car were conveyed by a St. Jerome ambulance to the hospital in that town.

Traffic Officer Albert Legault investigated.

Annual Carnival By Rotary Club Successful Event

Brownsburg — The Brownsburg Rotary Club held its annual carnival at the Brownsburg Arena last Friday and Saturday evenings. There were several booths providing games of every description for young and old, and some sold souvenirs. A large floor area was laid for the bingo circle, which drew large crowds at all times. There was even a small merry-go-round, specially constructed by Mr. Arthur McOuat, of Lachute, for the pleasure of the little ones. Hot-dogs, potato chips and cold drinks were sold from the Arena refreshment room. Each evening a small table radio was given away as a door prize — on Friday to Roly Maxwell, of Lachute, and on Saturday to Doug Mason, of Brownsburg. As a climax on Saturday evening, Past-President Linton Armstrong, of Lachute, thanked the throng on behalf of the Rotary Club for supporting the carnival, and called on President Mac Walker to draw the winning ticket for the television set. Mrs. R. MacRae, of Calumet, R.R. 1, who was not present, was the lucky ticket-holder.

The success of the carnival was due largely to the strenuous work of Andrew Hardie and his committee, and also to the untiring work of President Mac Walker himself.

A large part of the proceeds of this event will be put to good use in paying for supervision and extending the facilities of the Community Swimming Pool and Playground for the children and grown-ups of Brownsburg, Lachute and district. This playground has gained increasing popularity this summer, and large crowds flock there daily to alleviate the heat of summer and enjoy a refreshing swim. The remainder of the proceeds will be spent on other deserving community works.

Many Regret Death Of Main Street Business Man

The Late Stuart H. Wilson

Friends and relatives were shocked to hear of the sudden passing a Stuart H. Wilson on Tuesday evening, after a comparatively short illness.

Born at North River Settlement in 1907, he spent his early years there, later working in Lachute. He served in the forces during World War II, and was married to Miss Janet MacKenzie, of Lachute Road.

In 1945 he entered the hardware business with Walter Gordon, and as partners they have conducted a progressive establishment on Main Street, and made many friends.

Mr. Wilson was a member of the Margaret Rodger Memorial Presbyterian Church. He also belonged to the local Masonic Order, Legion Branch 70, and was an enthusiastic curler.

Left to mourn his passing are his wife; one son, Jimmy; his mother, Mrs. Fred Wilson; seven brothers, Percy and Sidney, of North River, Ernest and Robert, in Brownsburg, Lawrence, of Lachute, George and Keith, of Brownsburg; also six sisters, (Pearl) Mrs. J. Dixon Smith, Brownsburg, Hazel and Grace, Montreal, (Beatrice), Mrs. Leonard Morrow, Gertrude and Rhoda, of Brownsburg.

The funeral service will be held Friday afternoon in the Margaret Rodger Memorial Church, conducted by his pastor, the Rev. Dr. W. H. Reid.

Rouge Municipality School Election

Acclamations in Gore Township

Avoca — In the election of school trustees for the Rouge River Municipality, held Monday at Harrington, the two retiring members, S. E. Smith and James Trineer, were re-elected. John Meyer and Roland McCullough, the two new candidates for office, were defeated.

In Gore Township

Nomination for school commissioners for the Township of Gore, held July 7, resulted in the re-election of Wm. Stanley Andrews, and the election of Lemuel Silverson to replace Wilbert Sherritt, by acclamation. The members of the school board are now — the Rev. C. W. P. Baugh, Messrs. Albert McDonald, Donald McDonald, L. Silverson, Chairman W. S. Andrews, and Secretary-Treasurer Mrs. Grace E. Shearsmith.

Truckman Burned To Death in Crash With Freight Train

A grim fatality occurred at 7.20 o'clock Monday evening at Deslauriers crossing on the C.P.R. just west of Pte. au Chene, when an elderly cattle-man, David Abracen, of Montreal, was burned to death in his 3-ton truck when hit by an east-bound freight train.

According to Traffic Officer Howard Jones, of Lachute, the man, 82 years of age, was driving westward and was directly in the path of the freight engine. There was clear visibility for a mile each side of the track, and it was stated by engineer Wm. Sherry, of Ottawa, and conductor René Labelle, of Montreal, that the whistle and bell were sounded in the regular manner. The speed of the train was given as 35 miles an hour.

The truck, unloaded, was hurled into the ditch and caught fire — the occupant and vehicle being burned almost completely. A tow-truck from McIntyre's Garage, Grenville, had difficulty in extricating the wreckage, the front wheels, engine and differential being torn completely from the chassis. There was some damage to the locomotive of the freight.

Coroner Dr. Jules Lafleur was summoned from Lachute, and Det. P. Therriault made a complete investigation. According to information available, Mr. Abracen, who bought cattle around the countryside, made his headquarters at Thurso during the week. He has a wife and three sons in Montreal.

The inquest will be held next Monday at Grenville.

Salary Increases For Canal Workers

Special to The Watchman and L'Argenteuil

Officers of Local 3445 of C.I.O., which includes employees of the Carillon-Grenville Canals, have secured salary increases after three personal representations to the Hon. Lionel Chevrier, Minister of Transport. The increases range from 11 to 13 cents an hour, retroactive from January 7 last.

Messrs. J. R. Lamoureux, Antonio Cardinal and R. Duquette are credited with efforts to obtain this concession for the canal workers.

Lot Cleared for Construction of K.of C. Building

The Knights of Columbus will shortly see the realization of their long-discussed plans for the erection of a hall and meeting place in Lachute. Preliminary work is already in hand for construction of the building (to be known as "Le Centre Colombien") on the south side of Foundry Street between Barron and the intersection with Main.

Plans of the building include a basement and ground floor, 90 feet by 32 feet, of cement-block construction with brick veneer. An appeal has been issued to members of the local K. of C. council, No. 2752, to give their time gratuitously for the various jobs of construction; volunteers are asked to communicate with R. Husereau (Grand Knight), tel. 1167-W; Theo Malette, tel. 503-J; or Henri Legault, tel. 912-2, between 6 and 7 p.m.

A number of tradesmen and others have already promised their services towards the speedy erection and completion of the building.

Pair Arrested For Theft of Car Accessories

Roger Couture, 36, of Lake Megantic, and Paul Paquette, 34, of Lambton, Frontenac County — described as two recidivists — were taken in charge by Cst. O. Sabourin last week and turned over to Det. Philippe Therriault to face a charge of theft, for which they will appear in court at St. Jerome on July 25.

The charge involves the theft of auto parts from a car belonging to Stanley Brown near Dalesville.

A call was received by Antonio Laurin, town secretary, from a local garageman, stating that the two strangers were trying to sell him used automobile parts. Cst. Sabourin, on duty at police headquarters, went to investigate, brought the pair to the town offices for questioning and found on their persons the incriminating evidence. It is stated the men made a verbal confession of guilt, and that Stanley Brown, the owner, came to Lachute and identified the stolen property.

Brown, who is employed by Mr. Dixon on the Dalesville Road, has made a habit of leaving his auto in the bushes near the highway. It appeared that Couture, one of the accused, had worked for the late Roland Lafleur, trucker, of Brownsburg, and knew where the car was customarily parked. The theft was committed at 5 o'clock one morning.

Lots of Water

People today use more water than ever before in history. Because there is a plentiful supply right at hand and obtainable without effort, we have found that we are healthier, happier, more productive and therefore more prosperous.

The less prosperous places of the world today are those where water is still used sparingly, because it is difficult to bring it to where it is needed. In our own province, there are still a few places where every drop of water must still be laboriously drawn or hand-pumped and carried to its place of use. For most of us, water is something that is right at hand — because it has been pumped to where we want it by electricity.

Making water available to us is one of the many services we receive from electricity — one of man's most valuable servants.

Here and There

When a pensioner at Chesley, Ont., used some of his money to make a $100 donation to the hospital, the Enterprise suggested that many who do not apply for pension because they do not need it, should do so and turn the money over to hospitals. . . . The people of Canada use about three times as much clothing and other textiles as the average country. This involves a spending of about $1,700,000,000 each year.

Grows Big Radishes

Ald. William S. MacKimmie is growing crops of big dimensions in his garden — as witness a radish 8½ inches in diameter which, contrary to expectations in a specimen of this size was tender and crisp like the first of the crop. Other vegetables in his Main Street plot are reported just as prolific — which (without unduly advertising the fertilizer companies) he attributes to a generous hand with the chemicals last year.

Sheet Materials For Farm Buildings

Sheet materials of different kinds are replacing the familiar 1-inch boards, "resawn", shiplap siding, and shingles in much construction work nowadays, says G. B. Harrison, Experimental Station, Swift Current, Sask. Special plywoods are often used for concrete forms, inside and outside wall surfaces, roofs, floors — to mention only a few of its uses. There are several other kinds of sheet materials in general use, such as fibre insulating boards, from ½ to 1 inch thick, 4 feet wide, and in lengths from 4 feet up, the most common length being 8 feet.

The fibre boards are of two types. The ½ to 1 inch thick soft boards 4 feet wide and most commonly sold in lengths of 8 feet are good insulating materials. The asphalted sheets may be used directly on the studs of small buildings instead of shiplap or common 1-inch boards. Stucco or siding may be used over this. When using these insulating boards, leave ⅛-inch space between the sheets to allow for expansion. Sheets nailed tightly together may buckle. The joints of inside work may be hidden by using a gummed tape over them.

The other types of fibre boards are heavier and harder. They have not as good an insulating value but are wind and draft proof. Thicknesses vary from ⅛ to ¼ inch. Like the first type discussed, these boards are usually 4 feet wide by 8 feet long, may be painted, and worked with ordinary carpenter's tools. Some dealers have sheets in various colors, some are made to look like tile for bathrooms, kitchens and laundry rooms.

Increasing in farm use is fir plywood. It is available in sheets of many grades, thicknesses, and sizes, the most common size being 4 by 8 feet.

Sheathing grade plywood 5/16 inch thick may be used on the outside of the studs for a wall that will be stronger than diagonally applied shiplap or common 1-inch boards. When comparing the price of shiplap and plywood sheating, remember shiplap is sold at so much for a thousand board feet which will not be eough to cover a wall 8 feet high by 125 feet long. A thousand square feet of plywood will cover this wall.

At the Experimental Station at Swift Current, a five-year old plywood wall of a cattle shed remains windproof and very strong. Equally satisfactory results have been obtained with poultry range shelters. The roofs of these are of the same 5/16-inch sheathing grade fir plywood applied in 8 feet by 16 inch sheets overlapping 1 inch, like long shingles.

Other sheet materials are asbestos-cement boards, which are useful for interior or exterior wall finish. For outside use, corrugated sheets may be used on the walls and roof. This gives a very pleasing appearance. It may be left unpainted.

The metal sheets of galvanized iron or aluminum are useful for shops, barns, hog houses, implement sheds, and other buildings. Special nails and washers should be used for best results. The sheets may be flat, corrugated, "V" crimped, or formed to look like wood siding.

The manufacturers of sheet building materials usually supply directions explaining how to use their products for best results.

Agriculture in Italy

Agriculture provides a living for about half the Italian population and accounts for one-quarter of the country's gross national production. Its basic problem is to improve production and lower costs, at the same time giving maximum employment to surplus labor and meeting other social needs.

Production varies considerably from one end of the country to the other because of differences in soil, climate, topography and cultural background. Conditions are most primitive in the south where the yield per acre is very low. They are best in the northern plain, the Po River Valley, where production is good and modern machinery is in general use.

In 1951, the output of the most important crops increased in comparison with 1950. The exception — an important one — was wheat. This crop was 10 per cent lower than in 1950 and in pre-war years. Unusual rains, particularly during normally dry months, were unfavorable to wheat although helpful to most spring-planted crops and forage. Particularly good crops of corn, sugar beets, potatoes, olives, pears and apples were harvested.

Good Horse Show for Ottawa Exhibition

Ottawa — Outstanding entries from leading Canadian and American stables will be entered in the Horse Show of the Central Canada Exhibition to be held at Lansdowne Park, August 18 - 22.

Many well known horsemen have indicated they will participate in the show, and a record entry list is anticipated by the July 28 closing date.

Of special interest is the donation of a new trophy for the Roadster Stake by S. H. Harrison, a well-known American horseman. Mr. Harrison, who specializes in three and five-gaited saddle horses, will be showing at the Ottawa Fair. His mounts will be handled by his daughter, Harriet Susan Harrison, who has appeared in many first-ranking Horse Shows in the Eastern United States.

The exciting jumping events will again be a feature of the Horse Show. In addition, there will be classes for harness horses, high steppers, sporting classes, roadsters, ponies, and saddle horses.

The Horse Show will be held nightly Monday through Friday of Exhibition Week. In addition, there will be a special matinee performance on Friday afternoon. There will be no charge for the matinee.

Exhibitors are reminded that the deadline for entries in the Horse Show is July 28. Entry forms and prize lists may be obtained from the CCEA offices, Lansdowne Park, in Ottawa.

SCALLOP INDUSTRY DECLINES IN N.S.

Digby, N.S. (CP) — Nova Scotia fishermen along the Bay of Fundy shore are concerned about the decline of the scallop industry.

They all agree that it's their own fault. But, so far the only good suggestion for solving the problem has developed into a controversial issue.

The controversy centres about a larger mesh for the scallop drag. Will a four-inch ring mesh do the trick?

Its supporters contend the ring would allow young scallops to pass through the drag and build up beds. Others claim the ring would result in smaller catches, making operations unprofitable.

Captain Roland Wormell, first commercial scallop fisherman in the Digby area, where he now is harbor master, says he can remember when 80 "scallopers" operated out of this fishing port.

Now it's a fine sight when you see a score headed out "the gut", he said. Digby Gut is a narrow, tide-tossed stretch of water that joins the Annapolis Basin and Bay of Fundy.

Livestock Farm A Family Affair

Parents and Children Run Profitable Enterprise

Westholme, B.C. (CP) — Mr. and Mrs. Carl Quist have formed a limited company with their two sons and daughter to operate their profitable livestock farm in this Vancouver Island community.

The company was formed two years ago and the parents with their sons Byrd and Norman and daughter Mary, in their late teens, are sole shareholders.

"We're a family company", Mrs. Quist said proudly, "the young people take more interest in the farm that way."

The Quists have applied the old incentive method of free enterprise to the growing problem of keeping the younger generation on the farm, and with marked success.

"A man will work harder for himself than for anybody else", said Carl Quist. "In a couple of hours my boys will do a job that would take hired hands all day."

This year they plan to switch from sheep production and concentrate on raising Holstein cattle. Although they have carried both grade and purebred Holsteins for about six years, they now intend to work toward a purebred herd.

Biggest job on the farm in past years has been shearing of their 400 to 500 head of sheep. They especially favor the black sheep, whose black wool is prized for weaving intricate designs on the famous Cowichan sweaters. Cowichan Indians shun dyed wools for their patterns.

The Quist boys last year took nine prizes in Holstein Calf Club classes at the Saanich Agricultural Fair.

"There's no reason why young people shouldn't take to farming these days", Carl Quist said. "With good land and plenty of machinery, it can be just as good as any other business."

Says No Need to "Live With Ants"

Chlordane used in a 2 per cent solution — if applied indoors — or as a wettable powder or a 40 per cent emulsion at the rate of 4 oz. in 50-75 gallons of water — if applied outdoors — will effectively combat infestations by ants, says C. G. MacNay of the Federal Department of Agriculture.

The treatment is equally effective against the large black carpenter ant which is common in eastern Canada, the small reddish-yellow pharaoh ant prevalent throughout the southern parts of Canada, or any other ant species that may decide to contest your right to a favorite spot on the lawn or a shaded terrace. In the case of the carpenter ant the chlordane treatment has been found more effective if applied in the form of dust or powder.

Chlordane kills insects by contact. Indoors the oil solution or emulsion is applied by brush or in the form of a coarse spray to areas frequented by ants, such as doorsteps, baseboard, underneath sinks, and around connecting pipes. Inaccessible wall spaces may be treated with 5 per cent chlordane dust by forcing it through cracks with the aid of a puffer or dust gun.

Outdoor ant nests may be treated with any form of chlordane, except the oil solution which may cause injury to foliage. A convenient practice is to place ⅛ teaspoon of a 40 per cent wettable powder into the entrance hole and then water it down into the nest.

If a lawn is infested, a complete treatment of the whole area is advisable. An application of 4 oz. chlordane in 50-75 gallons water to each 1,000 square feet of lawn should keep it free from ants for the entire summer season.

When using chlordane, care should be taken not to contaminate any food products with this highly toxic chemical. It is also imperative that children and pets be kept out of treated areas as long as the latter remain wet from the applied chemical.

CRIPPLED CHILDREN GIVEN SCHOOL TOYS

Edmonton (CP) — Christmas comes twice a year to the crippled children in Edmonton's cerebral palsy clinic.

Every June, students from south side schools present the children with the toys they have made during the year under the auspices of the South Edmonton Kiwanis Club.

More than 600 presents, including dolls and mechanical toys of every description, were made by students in household economics or manual training classes.

Besides the children at the clinic, the Kiwanas Club distributes them to needy children all over the province.

Awarded D.S.O. for War Service

Died at Country Home in St. Andrews East

Lt.-Col. William Barnard Evans, D.S.O., a prominent figure in the textile business, died suddenly last Friday night at St. Andrews East. He was in his 77th year. In business life he was president of Evans and Evans, Ltd.

He joined the 60th battalion of the Canadian Expeditionary Force during the First World War and was second in command of the Victoria Rifles. Later he was promoted to the rank of Lieutenant-Colonel and transferred to the 52nd battalion. He received his D.S.O. at Vimy Ridge and was mentioned three times in despatches.

He was a member of many clubs, and attended the Church of St. James the Apostle in Montreal.

Surviving besides his wife, the former Ethel Gooderham Munro, are three daughters, Mrs. A. C. Evans, Mrs. P. C. Davidson, of Montreal, and Mrs. A. D. Wingebach, of Bronxville, N.Y.; a brother, E. P. Evans, and seven grandchildren. His first wife, the former Jean Helen Blackader, predeceased him in 1941.

The Rev. Ralph Latimer officiated at a service in the Church of St. James the Apostle at 3 p.m. Tuesday. Burial was made in Mount Royal Cemetery.

Whew! The Heat!

THIS IS the weather we longed for — way back in February when we battled our way up-street in that icy blizzard — and in March, when the last vicious snowstorm coated the slush and puddles underfoot. This is the stuff we dreamed about — the warm sun, the cooling breeze, the hammock and the tinkling glass!

Call it the heat or the humidity, or both, by no stretch of imagination could we visualize the summer so unbearable. Visions of the hammock and the shady tree have vanished in the reality of sweat, gum-drops and muttered aspirations — angular torsos stripped of undershirts in the sweltering factory, and thin, knobby knees displayed in shorts.

Yes, brother, this is what we dreamed about!

Down to Earth Again

ELECTION campaigning has drilled our ears to astronomical figures. Platform speeches would be rated dull and uninformative were they not lavishly punctuated with zeros, to the tune of untold millions. Having heard, in glowing or accusing terms, the fabulous expenditures of administration, it might be well to come down to earth; for there's bad news where it hits us hardest — in the pocketbook. . . . The Bureau of Statistics' latest cost-of-living index rose three-fifths of a point, from 186.7 in April to 187.3 for the month of May. It wasn't a large increase, but it marked the end of a four-month decline in the index, which had dropped a total of 4.8 points since the record high of 191.5 last December.

The increase was due to higher costs of fresh vegetables — mainly potatoes — pork and rents. The increases offset lower prices for a long list of items ranging from beef and butter to electrical equipment, furniture and some clothing items.

— We're sorry about this, after all you've heard of welfare, prosperity and liquidated debts!

Across the Border

GENERAL Dwight D. Eisenhower, who appears equally adept at war and politics, won the Republican presidential nomination at Chicago after a blistering four-day convention that gave him victory on the first ballot.

Republicans — "The Grand Old Party" — picked the smiling Kansas soldier over the seasoned and formidable Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio, who in the last three conventions has seen his hopes of succeeding his father in the White House fail. He will not run again.

In his acceptance speech to the exhausted delegates, hoarse from shouting, Eisenhower pledged a fighting campaign against the Truman administration, which he accused of "corruption in high places".

Outside the United States, most newspapers express approval of the nomination. Eisenhower is the man they know best as liberator of Europe and military head of N.A.T.O. in the post-war years.

In a skilful reference to past victories, the general said: "I have stood before on the eve of battle. . . In this battle to which all of us are now committed, it will be my practice to meet and talk with Americans in every section of this land."

On That Vacation Trip

MOTORISTS are responsible for the safety of their fellow passengers, for occupants of other cars, and also for pedestrians on the road. This reminder from Col. A. Gaboury, of the Quebec Safety League, stresses the responsibilities incurred in vacation driving, as well as at all times on business or pleasure.

Remember, wherever you travel — on the highways, on the side roads, in towns and in cities — there are pedestrians crossing or walking on the road. Because of the natural distractions of unfamiliar surroundings, you must make a constant special effort to watch for pedestrians. Driving through crowded cities, the considerate driver always gives pedestrians a chance. He does not confuse them by blowing his horn. He resists the impulse to step on the gas the instant a traffic light becomes green. He recalls that some time or other he, too, has been caught by a changing light, and extends the same courtesy to pedestrians that he expects when he is afoot.

Be particularly careful to obey traffic regulations in strange localities. Such precautions will help prevent a tragic vacation.

Balanced Farming

IN BALANCED farming the emphasis is on brain-work, according to R. M. Putnam, Alberta Department of Agriculture. The farmer, his entire family, and an agricultural expert get together to draw up in writing a long-range plan that embraces and integrates every single operation on the farm and brings it into harmony with the farmer's family as a unit — taking into consideration their individual wants, aptitudes, preferences, and personalities. The idea of balanced farming has only recently taken root in Alberta, although it has been in operation in Missouri for some years.

Under this scheme each member of the family actively participates in drawing up the plan, which is literally tailor-made to the family's requirements. The farm is considered the unit and any single operation — be it gardening, wheat growing, sheep raising, cattle breeding, or marketing — is viewed in its proper perspective and co-ordinated with the whole planned effort. The plan will never permit any single project — no matter how attractive — to upset the balance of a well integrated unit. Moreover, should death or sickness remove the head of the unit, the plan is always there and the remaining members of the family have the knowledge and ability to carry on with it.

Balanced farming has been very successful in Missouri. Farms almost invariably start showing handsome profits after several years' operation under this scheme.

Still A Challenge

ONE OF the greatest challenges to Canadians has always been the problem of transportation, and it is a continuing challenge.

Probably no tasks in the history of the country were so full of romance and derring-do as the building of the railways. Then came the advent of aviation, and the exploits of bush pilots to give sparkle to the Canadian scene.

In later years, the vast job of transport seems to have lost some of its glamor, but the challenge remains.

Confederation between Canada and Newfoundland posed an enormous and urgent problem for Canadian National Railways, on which practically the whole load fell.

A great surge in freight and passenger volume found facilities lacking following union. The situation has eased gradually but the Cabot Strait is still a formidable hurdle.

Meshing of gears between the C.N.R. and the Newfoundland Railway, a 550-mile narrow-gauge outfit, meant inevitable grinding. An impossible load was placed on the smaller line.

With the abolition of customs and a record sales campaign in Newfoundland by mainland firms, Canadian goods poured into the island in such volume that the carriers creaked. Before Confederation, the Newfoundland Railway, which operated at a deficit, was sufficiently equipped to handle the smaller flow of traffic. Trade at the time was chiefly with the United States and Britain by steamships.

It has been conservatively estimated that the C.N.R. already has committed $50,000,000 to improve its Newfoundland facilities. A new car ferry, scheduled for delivery late in 1953, is being built for the run between North Sydney, N.S., and Port aux Basques, Nfld., at a cost of $9,000,000.

In addition, the C.N.R. has ordered two new ships to add to its coastal fleet of 14.

The possibility has been mentioned in the House of Commons of widening the Newfoundland railway to standard gauge to make possible bigger loads. Considering the cost that would be involved, it is unlikely this challenge will be met for many years.

THE BANK of Canada's suggestion that bank credit could be eased doesn't mean the boom is over. The Bank's action should be taken only to mean that inflation at least temporarily has been halted, and a free economy can get back a little closer to normal — says the Elmwood (Man.) Herald.

"THINGS AN' STUFF"

— By —
WALTER HENRY JACKSON

Civilization and Progress

On a recent visit to Montreal I was standing on a busy street corner waiting for a vacant space to go by, finally coming to the conclusion that the only way to get to the other side of the street was to have been born there.

While thus engaged, a man I had not seen for years approached me, and during our brief conversation he asked me what was my idea of civilization. I replied that it was a darn good idea, and that it was about time somebody started it.

I have a book at home entitled, "Life in Canada Fifty Years Ago", by one Canniff. It was published in 1890 and the period referred to was 1840. In those days our ancestors, when they missed the weekly coach from Bytown to York (Ottawa to Toronto), were content to wait a week for the next one. Today's generation gets mad if they miss one section of a revolving door.

I can remember my mother going out with a market basket on her arm and a two-dollar bill in her purse, and bringing home a basket full of groceries from the corner store. Then civilization set in, and today we have Supermarkets. Today's housewife starts out with a market basket full of two-dollar bills and brings home a purse full of groceries. Still, it's wonderful what you can buy for a dollar today, if you have enough of them.

Take roads, for instance. Just a few years back, the roads were so narrow that two cars could hardly pass without colliding. Now, thanks to progress and civilization, we have super-highways on which eighteen or twenty cars can collide at the same time.

And look at razor-blades. A famous old manufacturer used to guarantee 500 shaves out of a dozen blades. Times have changed. Today you get a dozen shaves out of 500 blades.

Look at the progress that medical science has made during the last fifty years. There were no old-age pensions then, because there were so few cases of old age. Now that the doctors have upset the balance of nature, we are stuck with a lot of senile old-timers who normally would have passed on. Had I been born thirty years sooner, I'd have been buried in 1910 . . and then you wouldn't have to read this junk.

The more I see of Montreal, the more I love Argenteuil County. I can cross the road in Lost River any time I like.

Be seein' ya!

— Uncle Walt.

Canada Shows How To Curb Inflation

Washington (AP) — The United States Chamber of Commerce cited Canada as an example of how a nation, without price control, can curb inflation, balance its budget and reduce its debt.

The Chamber issued a report which compared the economies of the bordering countries.

It said Canada has had a budget surplus "every year since the war". Between 1946 and 1952, it said, Canada cut its net national debt 17 per cent to $11,100,000,000. This compared with the U.S. debt of $260,000,000,000.

Higher sales and excise taxes, credit restrictions and increased interest rates were called the pay-as-you go tools with which Canada curbed inflation "in spite of a 50 per cent rise in government expenditures since Korea".

At the same time, the Chamber contended, "the U.S. has been hampered with all the uncertainties, confusion, costly red-tape procedures, discriminations and labor strife generated by price and so-called wage controls."

Immigration

BY R. J. DEACHMAN

The movement of new settlers into this country has been a somewhat slow and spotty performance. We put on a good show in the years 1910-13 as revealed by the following figures:

| Years | Immigrants |
|---|---|
| 1910 | 286,839 |
| 1911 | 331,288 |
| 1912 | 375,756 |
| 1913 | 400,870 |

This remains the record of the years. It has never been surpassed. These four years stand out like beacons. Will we reach the level again? Who knows what may happen in the future? Things impossible today become the realities of tomorrow. There are many barriers which check the free movement of humanity. Our population will increase — there is no doubt of that. Twenty years ago, in 1932, there were roughly 10,510,000 people in Canada. By 1941 this had risen to 11,506,655. For 1951 the estimate is 14,009,000. This is fairly good but not too good. We shall do better in the next few years.

The Magnet of Free Land

The magnet of free land brought the early settlers of 1910 and 1913. The West was filling up. In 1914-18 the war stimulated both industry and agriculture. Then in time came World War II, from 1939-45. Higher prices helped the farmer. It put a broad foundation under industry. It increased our industrial plants and equipment. When the war started in 1939 the total production of manufactured goods had reached $3,474,783,528. At the war's end in 1945 it stood at $8,250,368,866. The fear of war is a barrier to human progress but it must be admitted that industry and agriculture still go forward "even on a powder cart".

World War No. 1 broke out in 1914. Immigrants in that year numbered over 150,484, dropped to 36,665 the following year. There was a slow recovery after the close of the war, 138,824 in 1920 — 133,729 in 1923. The boom years returned and in the four years of 1926-29 inclusive, 624,644 immigrants arrived. They were scattered from one end of the country to the other, most of them west of the Great Lakes. 1930 to 1938 were years of semi-depression, then in 1939 came another war. Wars block migrations. It is natural that it should be so. From 1939 the growth of population was slow. War and the fear of war checked progress. Here is the record:

| Years | Population |
|---|---|
| 1939 | 11,267,000 |
| 1941 | 11,507,000 |
| 1943 | 11,812,000 |
| 1946 | 12,307,000 |
| 1947 | 12,582,000 |
| 1948 | 12,883,000 |
| 1949 | 13,549,000 |
| 1950 | 13,821,000 |
| 1951 | 14,009,000 |

This is an all too brief picture of what happened. We paid the price for two wars. Had it not been for these developments our population would have been greater, much greater than it is today. Where do the immigrants come from? The main figures for 1951 were as follows:

Main Source of our Immigrants for 1951

|---|---|
| United Kingdom | 34,790 |
| United States | 6,904 |
| Belgium | 3,086 |
| Czechoslovakia | 3,905 |
| Estonia | 4,748 |
| France | 6,811 |
| Hungary | 5,210 |
| Italy | 23,432 |
| Latvia | 2,830 |
| Netherlands | 19,137 |
| Poland | 20,408 |
| Russia | 3,744 |

We have dealt with the past and the present, what about the future? The movement of immigrants into Canada declined sharply. Look back to the year 1913 with the 400,870 immigrants, match that against a total of only 430,389 in the five years 1946-50.

Time repairs the ravages of war. There must be tens of thousands in Europe for whom the human conflict was too great a strain. They carry their wounds not on their bodies, but in their hearts and minds. Recovery is a slow and painful process.

The channels of trade have been obliterated. The people are no longer free. Each country has its towering mountain of debt. These debts may be repudiated but repudiation is costly. It does not satisfy an obligation — the bills remain unpaid. Slowly Europe will return to life. There are many thousands who would like to escape, come to Canada, raise their families under freedom. They will come in time. The heartbreak of two wars in one life-time is too much to bear. Let them rest for a time. Eventually they will come to a free land and learn to love freedom — if only they know what it means.

I opened this story with a record of 1,394,753 immigrants coming to Canada in the four years, 1910, 1911, 1912 and 1913. In the years 1946-50, 430,389 immigrants came to Canada. I am confident that the next few years will bring a great increase in the movement of European and American citizens to Canada with the purpose of making it their permanent residence. It offers the two great boons for which humanity hungers: Freedom and Opportunity.

Have You A Question ON UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE OR EMPLOYMENT?

In this column we publish questions about unemployment insurance and employment, together with answers received from the Unemployment Insurance Commission.

If you are uncertain about any point do not hesitate to send your question to your district Unemployment Insurance office. We will obtain an answer and publish it in this column.

Following are some questions with answers which may be of interest to you: —

Q. I paid contributions into the unemployment insurance fund from 1940 until 1949 when I was retired on pension by the company. I drew benefit for one year. Was this correct?

A. Yes. The maximum period for which benefit can be paid is one year, less the waiting period.

Q. I have two children and my wife has dependents. The man who works with me has only his wife to look after. How is it that I draw benefits at the same rate as he does?

A. The Act does not take account of the number of dependents. The only distinction is that a higher rate of benefit is paid to a person with one or more dependents than to a person who has no dependents.

The annual death rate in Canada averages less than 10 per 1,000 population, which is fairly low in comparison with other countries.

Late R. Lanctot Was Related Here

Romeo Lanctot, a well known business man of Montreal, who died Sunday on his way to the Notre Dame Hospital from Rimouski, was related in these parts — a brother-in-law of Mme J. A. Lanctot, of St. Andrews East, and uncle of Marcel Lanctot, Lachute, and Mrs. Robert Davidson, St. Andrews East. Born in Montreal, son of the late Charles B. Lanctot and Imelda Gauthier, he was 70 years of age.

Until his retirement in 1942, Mr. Lanctot was well known in the fur business and was the owner of a large store on St. Paul Street. He was an ardent golfer and a fish and game sportsman. He was a member of many clubs and organizations.

He is survived by his wife, the former Estelle Richards of New York, and a sister, Mrs. Albert Gregoire.

The funeral service was held Wednesday in St. James Cathedral. Burial was in Cote des Neiges Cemetery.

ACCOMPANIES QUEEN ON MORNING RIDES

Windsor, England (CP) — When the Queen stays at Windsor Castle, she likes to go for an early morning canter and usually chooses a girl groom to accompany her.

Nineteen-year-old Shirley Townsend of Brighton is the latest girl groom to be appointed to the Queen. She hopes to be asked to escort the Queen on the early morning rides.

Each mile of railway track in Quebec has more than 800 people to support it; in Saskatchewan there are fewer than 100 persons per mile of track.

SAFE IN FIELDS

Spy Hill, Sask. (CP) — Charles Dodd, a district farmer, was trucking grain across his farm when he spotted a shining object on the ground. It was the watch he had lost when summer-fallowing in 1940 — still in perfect condition.

Skipper Recalls Atlantic Rescues

Old Mariner Tells of Many Stirring Adventures off Maritimes Coast

Halifax (CP) — When old timers spin tales of the sea, Victor Brown can match them with the best.

Victor quit his active rescue role in 1940 when the government retired the Herring Cove Rescue Boat of which he was skipper.

During that time he took part in the rescue of men from some 25 wrecks along the rocky coastline near Halifax.

Victor went back to his fishing when they retired the old lifeboat, confident he could forget about life-saving. But he was wrong.

In March of 1942, during a howling winter storm, an ammunition-laden British ship piled ashore on jagged rocks. The Navy couldn't get its boats near the doomed ship and her crew.

Navy men came to Victor then and asked if the old boat could stand another trip. It couldn't, but Victor and two brothers set out in a motor boat.

Battle with Seas

It took them 50 minutes to battle four miles through the spitting seas, arriving just in time to grab three men from the water. One was seriously hurt with both legs and his back broken.

Nine more were pulled from the water, and sped back to Herring Cove and the shelter of Victor's home.

"I'll never forget that night", says Mrs. Brown, "the Lord was sure with Victor and the boys."

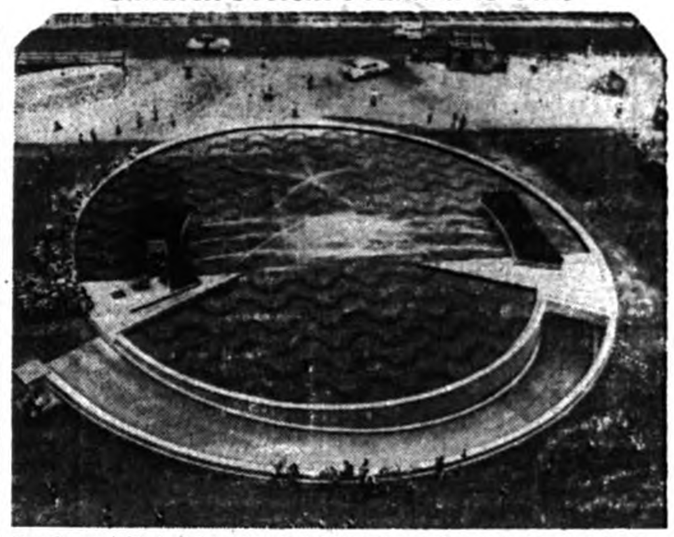

The Royal Canadian Humane Association thought so, too, and gave Victor a certificate for his heroic rescue.

There were other wrecks, too, like the three-master which foundered in heavy seas as Victor and his crew plucked the men to safety over ropes.

When the British man-of-war Dauntless rammed aground after the First World War, Victor and his men were there, too.

"I'm retired now", says Victor, "but I'd go out anytime if it meant a man's life."

Children Present Fountain to U.N.

Funds contributed by school children throughout the United States, Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands paid for this beautiful fountain in the plaza in front of the United Nations Secretariat Building. The highlight of the presentation made on June 26 was the unveiling of a plaque which notes that the gift was made as a gesture of friendship to children over the world and as a reminder of hope for peace through the United Nations.

Shriner's Message By Carrier Pigeon

A guest at a "motel" at June Beach discovered a pigeon carrying a message from the Shriners, who recently met at Miami, Florida. The visitor found the pigeon, whose number is PG-87, and the motel operators are caring for the carrier until proper authorities call for it.

The pigeon carried a capsuled message that read:

"May tyranny, oppression, prejudice, selfishness and hatred among the great nations of the earth and among all mankind, be put aside and may eternal peace, throughout the civilized world, be the prayer and hope of all Shrinedom. — Imperial Potentate Robert Gordon Wilson, Jr."

"Manitoulin Man" May Be Oldest American Found by Science

By The Canadian Press

The National Museum is excited over discovery of "quite unique" evidence that men lived in Canada 5,000 years ago and possibly even longer ago than the 7,000 years established by United States discoveries.

Dr. F. J. Alcock, chief curator of the Museum, making no effort to hide his enthusiasm, said that hundreds of ancient, crudely-worked stones have been shipped here for study, and called their discovery "one of the biggest things ever turned up in Canada" by achaeologists.

The stones were found over a 50-acre area on Manitoulin Island in Northwestern Ontario a year ago. The discovery was kept secret mainly because the stones were found near a main highway and it was felt wide publicity would interfere with the work.

It was made by Thomas Lee of the Museum staff, who now is directing the scientific recovery of any further traces of ancient man at the site at Sheduiandah Bay, near Little Current. Dr. Alcock intends to go to the site shortly to join the search.

More than 800 hand-worked stones taken off the surface of the land or down to a depth of six inches have been shipped here. Absence of arrow-heads or of pottery indicated very great age.

The New York State Museum has traced North American man back 7,000 years through discoveries that have extended into Southern Ontario. The Manitoulin Island rocks are different, however, and may go back even further into time, Dr. Alcock said.

Nobody knows as yet, he said just how far the discovery dates. That is what he and his staff are going to try and find out.

Oppose Lotteries For Hospitals

The Quebec delegates, led by Councilman Marcel Lefaille of Montreal, wanted lottery laws shifted from Federal to provincial control.

Another suggested change was that an act similar to the War Services Charities Act be implemented to permit lotteries for hospital aid.

Mayor Edward Sargent, of Owen Sound, said millions of dollars are being paid in sweepstakes tickets for overseas hospitals. That money, he said, should stay in Canada.

Councilman Lefaille said, "What exists in practice, should be confirmed in theory. Many service clubs and social agencies are already operating lotteries", he said.

An opposing voice was raised by Mayor Allan J. Rush of London, a former police officer.

"Almost everybody buys sweepstakes tickets", he said, "but I have to think what suckers we are. The chances are 50-50 the tickets are either counterfeit or for races run the year before.

"Our country was not built on gambling. It was built on hard work."

Delegate Daniel McCann, of Ottawa, said cities should not "have to stoop to lotteries" to pay for hospital costs.

"They should get the money in the right way and from the right place — the Federal Government," he said.

TEACHERS GATHER

Wolfville, N.S. (CP) — Representatives of many affiliated associations have been attending the 16th annual convention of Nova Scotia Federation of Home and School Associations at Acadia University July 8-11. A special program showed activities of the "workshop sessions".

Winnipeg (CP) — Thieves will steal anything these days. A local parking lot reported theft of spare wheels and tires from parked cars — and also stolen was the tiny door to a car's glove compartment.

Calgary (CP) — The Alberta Tuberculosis Association reported that the tuberculosis death rates among Indians in Alberta has been cut by 75 per cent within the last 10 years.

Illustrated — Chevrolet Styleline De Luxe 2-door Sedan

Lowest-priced in its field!
Chevrolet, the Leader, is the lowest-priced car in its field. It's Canada's most beautiful low-priced car—and Canada's most wonderful motor car value!

It'll pay you to buy Chevrolet
...the finest of low-priced cars!

CHEVROLET
The Only Fine Cars PRICED SO LOW!

See for yourself how brilliantly Chevrolet combines all these prize features of highest-priced cars . . . bringing you the new and finer standard of beauty, performance, comfort and safety . . . and yet it's the lowest-priced line in its field!

MORE PEOPLE BUY CHEVROLETS THAN ANY OTHER CAR

CENTREPOISE POWER
Engine vibration and power impulses are "screened out" — isolated from driver and passengers. Engine rides flexibly suspended between new high-side mountings . . . centred, poised, cushioned in rubber.

EXTRA LARGE BRAKES
Chevrolet's Jumbo-Drum brakes, with their big 11-inch brake drums, apply more leverage for more stopping power. Stops are smoother, safer, with less driver effort. Bonded linings last up to twice as long.

UNITIZED KNEE-ACTION RIDE
Chevrolet's famous Knee-Action ride is now even softer, smoother. New shock absorber action smothers bumps and jolts more quickly and effectively than ever. Spring control is immediate and continuous on all roads.

EXTRA WIDE TREAD
Chevrolet measures a full 58¾ inches between centres of rear wheels — providing a broader base to give you more stability on the road, less sway on the curves!

GORGEOUS NEW COLORS
Choose from a wide choice of colors and two-tone color combinations . . . the most wonderful array in Chevrolet's field. Distinctive new De Luxe interiors are color-matches to exterior body colors.

EXTRA-EASY CENTRE-POINT STEERING
Control is centred between the front wheels instead of behind the left front wheel. This advanced steering geometry makes Chevrolet surprisingly easy to steer, manoeuvre and park.

POWERFUL VALVE-IN-HEAD ENGINE
The trend in engines is all to valve-in-head! And Chevrolet has been building engines of this design for forty years! Teamed with Powerglide is the most powerful valve-in-head engine in Chevrolet's history, with hydraulic-hushed valve-lifters to give whisper-quiet power.

POWERGLIDE AUTOMATIC TRANSMISSION
It's an oil-smooth oil-cooled automatic transmission. It is simpler with fewer parts to wear. It's smoother because oil does it all without complicated intermediate gears. Optional on De Luxe models at extra cost.

July Vegetables

July is a vegeterian's delight, for it is the month when abundant vegetable crops start to pour into the shops. A few early products, like asparagus, have already come and gone but there are many others to take their place. The home economsts of the Consumer Section, Canada Department of Agriculture, believe there is no excuse for not having several vegetables every day. There are tender new carrots, peas, early cauliflower and tomatoes, yellow and green beans, beets and new potatoes, as well as many other vegetables from which to choose.

Everyone should take advantage of the abundance and variety of fresh summer vegetables. Canada's Food Rules say that each person should have at least three servings of vegetables every day — at least one serving of potatoes and two of other vegetables, preferably green, leafy or yellow. Whenever possible, serve vegetables raw to get the most food value. The crisp texture, bright color and fresh flavor of vegetable salads never lose their appeal.

The cooking of vegetables need never be monotonous. For greater cooking enjoyment and eating pleasure, vary the ways of serving vegetables. Probably the most common way to cook vegetables is to boil them — and the most common fault in this method is overcooking. Green vegetables, especially, develop disagreeable odors and flavors and lose their color when they are cooked too long. For best results use as little salted water as possible and have it at a full rolling boil before dropping the vegetables in. Then, cover the pot tightly and cook until just tender.

A favorite method is to bake the vegetables in a moderately hot to hot oven of 375 to 425°F. Much food value is retained if they are baked in their skins. Foods such as onion, squash, tomatoes and peppers are often baked stuffed for extra flavor.

Another way to prepare vegetables is to steam them. For this, the modern method is to use the heavy, so-called waterless utensils, but a tightly covered perforated steamer pan or a strainer over boiling water can also be used. Cooking vegetables under pressure saves time but be careful not to cook too long.

Broiling is becoming a very popular way to prepare vegetables. The vegetables are seasoned and brushed with butter or melted fat, then placed under the broiler and cooked until tender.

Early summer vegetables are fresh and tender but quite often they need a special something to "pick up" the flavor. This is probably because many of the vegetables are still young and immature and have not developed their full flavor. Sauces, spices or herbs add zest to these young vegetables. Vary them to suit the taste. Try adding nutmeg to carrots and marjoram to peas for a new and different flavor. Peas and carrots are often combined and served with a cream sauce or flavored with mint. Savoury is also an excellent spice to use with beets. Perk up cauliflower with a cheese sauce or a Hollandaise sauce. New potatoes sometimes have a slightly watery taste but the flavor is greatly improved if they are served with a cream sauce or a cheese sauce. Spices such as rosemary, parsley, chives, mint or paprika add a special touch to new potatoes.

Cabbage is a vegetable that is quite often disliked. This is probably due to the fact that it has long been the victim of improper cooking and nondescript seasoning. To give cabbage a winning appeal, cook it until just tender, never until it is mushy, and enhance the flavor with a tasty sauce. Try it with a spicy sauce made with equal quantities of water from the cooked cabbage and catsup.

Some vegetables, like potatoes, onions, parsnips and carrots, are delicious if they are glazed. When the vegetables are almost tender, drain and shake them briskly in a hot glaze until they are completely coated. To make the glaze, put four tablespoons sugar in a hot frying pan and cook until it is a caramel colored syrup. Add an equal amount of butter and cook for a few minutes, then add the vegetable. Stir until coated and cook until tender. This recipe will glaze about six servings of vegetables.

While the Chef and I were visiting Boston we were invited to a luncheon at the Women's City club. This progressive group recognizes the fact that the high cost of eating is a serious problem. So they invited me to present my solution at a unique luncheon.

The Chef and I gave our staged presentation an hour before the luncheon, and conducted a lively questionnaire on food costs and nutrition with the club members.

At the request of the committee, the menu was most unusual, for it was based on leftovers—to prove that food waste can be controlled, and that such a meal can even be glamorous. It was planned at a conference with the committee and myself, and carried out by the excellent club cooks. The oddments, or so-called leftovers, might be found in anyone's refrigerator, no single one sufficient to make a family dish.

Leftover fruit and fruit juices were transformed into frosted fruit cup. Oddments of veal and ham were heated together in Creole sauce, and served on rice. Outer lettuce and chicory leaves, radishes with their tender tops and some leftover cooked black beans and chick peas were made into a tossed salad. The dessert was lemon Bavarian pie, made with whipped dried skim milk instead of cream.

Did the club members enjoy this meal?

Here's the answer: They are discussing the possibility of sponsoring a series of demonstration cooking lectures for next season on the problem of solving the high cost of eating.

The following menu includes several of the dishes served at the Women's City club luncheon.

TOMORROW'S DINNER

Grapefruit Cup
Ham and Veal Creole or
Tuna Creole on Rice
Tossed Legume Salad
Lemon Ambrosia Pie
Hot or Iced Coffee or Tea Milk
All measurements are level; recipes serve four.

HAM AND VEAL CREOLE

Combine approximately 1 cup diced oddments ham and 1 cup diced oddments of veal with one recipe Creole sauce. Heat at least 10 minutes, preferably in a double boiler. If desired, ½ cup drained canned peas, or string beans, or cooked mixed vegetables may be added.

Quick Creole Sauce: Melt 1 tablespoon butter or margarine in a saucepan. Add 1 thin-sliced peeled onion, 1 crushed peeled section garlic, ½ diced seeded green pepper, ¼ cup minced celery (optional), 1 small bay leaf and 1 tablespoon water. Simmer five minutes, or until the water evaporates and the vegetables begin to cook. Then add 1½ (8-oz.) cans tomato sauce. When hot, remove the bay leaf. Stir in 4 sliced stuffed olives (optional).

TOSSED LEGUME SALAD

Prepare 1 quart shredded, crisp mixed salad greens including lettuce, cabbage, sliced radishes and the tender tops, and romaine or chicory. Add 1 cup chilled cooked red kidney beans, or use lentils or chick peas. Toss with curried French dressing.

LEMON AMBROSIA PIE

Prepare 1 baked nine-inch pie shell. While baking, make the filling. To do this, combine 1 envelope unflavored gelatin with ½ cup cold water; let stand five minutes. Then add ⅞ cup boiling water and stir until dissolved. Add the grated rind ½ lemon and 3 tablespoons lemon juice. Stir in ¾ cup granulated sugar and ⅛ teaspoon salt. Chill until the consistency of unbeaten egg whites. Then whip enough dried skim milk to make 1½ cups (see below). Fold into the gelatin mixture. Spoon into the pie-crust shell. Chill until firm, about four hours. Just before serving, top with orange sections and dust with shredded coconut or grated fresh coconut.

Whipped Dried Skim Milk (Unsweetened): Measure ⅓ cup lukewarm water in a small deep bowl. Add 1 tablespoon lemon juice and ⅓ cup dried skim milk. Whip steadily with a rotary or electric beater until stiff.

Now for a look ahead to the week-end.

WOMAN CRACK SHOT, HUBBY HER MENTOR

Moncton, N.B. (CP) — Mrs. W. R. Mitchell, wife of a reserve army sergeant, learned from her husband how to handle firearms but the pupil soon outshone the teacher.

Both were on the New Brunswick team taking part in the Maritime rifle meet in Charlottetown, won by the Nova Scotia team.

Mrs. Mitchell was one of the two women at the meet. Miss Elsie Strong, of Windsor, N.S., became the first woman to shoot in a Maritime meet when she made the Nova Scotia team last year.

The way her husband recalls it, Mrs. Mitchell becam a rifle enthusiast because he was away shooting so often she got tired of waiting at home and decided to take part in the sport herself. Soon she outshot him.

Her scores are consistently high. She has scored marks of 100 out of a possible 105 points, shooting at ranges of 200, 500 and 600 yards.

For A Happy Outdoor Vacation

— By NANCY CLEAVER — (Copyright)

"If you are sick on a holiday it sure can spoil your fun in a hurry!" exclaimed a small boy who developed a nettle rash the second day of a camping trip and ended his vacation unexpectedly when he sat in a poison ivy patch on a picnic. Parents will certainly agree with his sentiments and sympathize with his discomfort. At the same time mothers and fathers do want to see that the family observe sufficient precaution so that vacation days will not be clouded by sickness.

Nettles are irritating but the discomfort they cause to the skin can be lessened by bathing it with a baking soda or other soothing solution. Poison Ivy, however is much more serious, and children should be taught at an early age to avoid it.

Even a small youngster can learn to be on the lookout for poison ivy and keep away from it. The green shiny leaves grow in groups of three on a vine-like branch or in clusters shooting out of the ground. The poison ivy berry is white and the flower is greenish white. If in doubt be sure not to touch it.

A child who may have been in contact with the oily substance on the under side of the Ivy leaves should wash the affected parts immediately in running water with yellow soap, then dry thoroughly. Calamine lotion may be applied or a special ointment from the doctor. A skin rash from poison oak or poison sumac should be treated in the same way.

Mushrooms are a delicacy — the home grown variety. But it is much too big a risk to experiment with eating mushrooms found in the woods unless you are an expert. The morel and the giant puff ball can be identified. But mushrooms such as the deadly amanita can be fatal and others can cause violent nausea. Boiling them does not destroy their ill effects.

Insects, especially mosquitoes and black flies, can give a great deal of discomfort. A reliable insecet repellent is a necessary bit of camping equipment and care must be taken that this does not irritate the skin or get in the eyes. A DDT spray to be used on a camp site is also essential. If insects are very bad, a generous supply of netting can be very useful.

Every housewife knows that she cannot be too careful to see to it that food is not only refrigerated but also covered. Flies must be kept out of a tent or cottage living quarters. They are carriers of disease germs and are suspected of spreading polio. Burn all possible refuse from the kitchen, and bury the rest at once in a garbage pit. Be extra careful about proper camp sanitation precautions.

On a vacation the weather may be very warm and thus there is a big demand for cold drinks. Too much ice-cold fluid is not good for children, but they do need to drink an extra amount on a day on which they are perspiring freely.

The first essential of a good camping or cottage site is safe drinking water. The appearance of water is no test of its purity. Crystal clear water may contain harmful bacteria or typhoid germs. The one reliable rule to follow is to boil all drinking water for at least half an hour when in doubt or treat it with one of the commercial preperations which will chlorinate it.

The flat taste of boiled water is caused by its lack of air. It can be restored to its normal taste by pouring it from one container to another. Small bits of charcoal dropped into water absorb adours and make it more palatable.

The Public Health authorities in any area will co-operate in testing water from a well. Make inquiries about this and follow their directions. Many parents wisely check at the first of each summer on their cottage water supply.

Safe milk is also an absolute necessity when camping with small children. In many provinces it is against the law to sell "raw" or unpasteurized milk. A careful mother knows that this is a sensible regulation. Home pasteurizing by boiling is a rather tedious process.

It is little wonder than condensed milk in cans or in powdered form has become very popular. Many homemakers use it liberally in cooking to reduce their food bills all year round. But it can be a satisfactory and safe substitute for bottled milk, especially on a holiday. When it comes to either milk or water, it is always better to be safe than sorry!

Various small emergencies may crop up unexpectedly on a holiday. Junior may meet a skunk, a snake or even a porcupine on one of his hiking trips. Father may get great pride in fishing and unexpectedly run a fish hook into his hand. Mother may be picking blueberries and suddenly come across a mother bear with her cubs. Daughter may get a spider or a centipede bite when collecting firewood.

The important thing is to know what to do or be able to find out details quickly from a reliable guide such as Byron Dalrymple's "Fishing, Hunting and Camping" which may be found in the Pocket Book edition.

Keep your portable First Aid Kit properly stocked — and know where you can locate a doctor quickly if you should need him. The chances are that by using common sense and knowing how to act in the out of doors you will have healthy camping and a happy holiday!

Q.W.I.'s Give Special Study to Gt. Britain

Great Britain has been chosen as the country to be studied this year by members of the Quebec Women's Institutes. Representatives from Institutes there will be among those attending the 7th Triennial Conference of the Associated Country Women of the World, in Toronto, August 12-23, 1953, and it was felt further knowledge of the work carried on by Institutes in that country would create still closer ties between the two groups.

The last annual report of the National Federation of Women's Institutes has reached the Q.W.I. office. This Federation includes England, the Channel Islands and the Isle of Man, the latter joining last year. There are now 7,701 branches, with a membership of 446,500. The section of the report dealing with the work carried on at Denman College is of particular interest. "A" courses, open to any W.I. member, have numbered 51, and 20 "B" courses have been held, which are designed for members willing to pass on what they have learned to other Institutes. Several of the students have been W.I. members from other countries. Sales from the market garden operated in connection with the College totalled £1,855 for the year.

(The Warden, Miss Elizabeth Christmas, has been quite ill, but Q.W.I. members who met her when visiting in this province a few years ago will be glad to hear she is much improved. Miss Christmas is an honorary member of the Belvedere W.I. in Sherbrooke County).

Wife (looking at her wedding ring): "You know, dear, I think men should have to wear something to show that they're married, too."

Husband: "Ain't this hound-dog look enough?"

Beware Poison Ivy!

It's not much good getting irritated about Poison Ivy after it has irritated you. It's much better to recognize the plant before. Poison Ivy is the only Canadian plant with a three-parted leaf and white fruit. Don't mistake it for Virginia creeper which has five-parted leaves and blue fruit. Poison ivy grows almost anywhere and as a single plant, in patches, or as a trailing or climbing vine. So be on the lookout for it on fishing trips, picnics and holidays, and give it a wide berth.

Is Hell Fire A Bible Truth or A Pagan Scare ?

Centuries before Christianity was ever preached on earth, Buddhist priests in remote India were teaching hell-fire and eternal torture. In the Harvard Classics (vol. 45, pp. 701-704) you will find an English translation of the sacred writings of Buddha (called Anguttara-Nikaya) which gives a vivid description of this fiery place of torture, complete with all the trimmings. The ancient Hindus and the early Chaldeans also believed the hell-fire doctrine.

Egyptian priests of the first world power taught the torment-after-death theory sixteen centuries before the birth of Jesus. According to their papyrus scrolls, now deposited in the British Museum, daily spell-binding prayers were said for the dead, to protect them from the "underworld" devils. One finds similar torture doctrines also taught by the ancient Babylonians, Persians, and Phoenicians.

The doctrine of a burning hell where the wicked are tormented eternally after death cannot be true, mainly for four reasons: (1) Because it is wholly unscriptural. (2) Because it is unreasonable. (3) Because it is contrary to God's love. (4) Because it is repugnant to justice. . . The Bible clearly teaches, that hell or sheol or hades means the grave, the tomb, the condition where all good and bad go, awaiting the day of resurrection.

No Suffering After Death. — If persons suffer after death, they must be alive, but the Bible says that when a man dies, "his breath goeth forth, he returneth to his earth; in that very day his thoughts perish." Hence, "the dead know not anything", and "there is no work, nor device, nor knowledge, nor wisdom, in Sheol, wither thou goest". "In death there is no remembrance of thee: inScheol who shall give thee thanks?" — Psalm 6:5; 146:4; Ecclesiastes 9:5, 10.

On page 68 in the bound book, "Let God be True", you will find a complete study of this subject. It can be had for 50 cents from the Watch Tower, 40 Irwin Ave., Toronto 5. You can also help to dispel these misconceptions surrounding this subject by sending for 250 copies of the tract "Hell-Fire", for 25 cents. . . . Let's give praise to Jehovah and his son, Christ Jesus.

Leaves on Mission To Indo-China

Colleagues in the Ottawa-Hull Richelieu Club and in the Ontario Department of Education tendered a garden party recently in honor of Raymond Bériault, who, with his wife and three children, has since left Ottawa on a special mission to Indo-China as specialist in education.

Raymond—son of Ivan Bériault, station agent at Lachute — was chosen by the technical aid division of UNESCO to direct a mission for the Cambodia government. He is 36 years of age. Born at Fassett, he distinguished himself as a scholar, taking his advanced studies at the Dominican Institute of Philosophy and the University of Ottawa, and winning degrees as Bachelor of Arts, Master of Arts and Licentiate in Education. Following his career as educationist, he has served as co-director of Public Education for the Province of Ontario and in other notable capacities.

Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Bériault were present at the function in Ottawa in their son's honor, and also wished him "bon voyage" on his recent departure with his family from Dorval.

The family stop first at Paris, where Raymond Bériault receives final instructions from United Nations headquarters before proceeding to Cambodia. He will spend a year in that country, his mission being to establish a government organization to develop audio-visual instruction in the schools.

The monarchy of Cambodia, self-governing state in Indo-China, was formerly a French protectorate (1863-1947). Having gained independent status, in 1950 it was admitted to membership in the United Nations. The country has a population of four millions, and some of its temples, built in the 10th cenutry, are rated as architectural wonders. French is the language of the cultured classes, and is used exclusively in secondary education — which is one of the reasons why the United Nations sends French-language experts to assist in its technical aid program.

Girl Is Successful As Furniture Maker

Stranraer, Scotland (CP) — In an old barn on her father's farm at Burnultoch near here, Elizabeth McCaig makes high-class furniture that finds a wide market.

Two years ago, after a four-year course at the Central School of Arts and Crafts in London, she returned to set up a workshop. The barn was wired for electricity and a planing machine and other equipment was installed. Soon she was turning out gate-leg tables, chests of drawers, cocktail cabinets and various other pieces of furniture.

Miss McCaig specializes in individual pieces. She deals direct with customers. They select the wood sample, discuss production and leave the design to her.

Miss McCaig first showed her skill during her schooldays when she startled her teachers by making a violin. During the Second World War she was employed under Admirality contract making models of ships of United States, German, Italian, French, Russian and United Kingdom navies for identification purposes.

In addition to furniture-making, she is an expert in marquetry work. She also carries out repairs to antiques, and makes wooden fruit bowls, table and standard lamps, and coffee tables, all to her own design.

AMONG THE CHURCHES

Missioners Returning To North Africa, Will Speak at Baptist Church

The Rev. and Mrs. Kenneth O'Hare, of Brooklyn, N.Y., who are en route back to Algiers, North Africa, to labor among the Arabs, will be addressing the Bible School and Sunday services of the Lachute Baptist Church. An after-church service will be held at 8.30 following the evening devotions, when Mr. O'Hare will show colored and black-and-white slides of their work among the Algerian Arabs, and among the French and Spanish of Algeria. A cordial invitation is extended to all to hear Mr. and Mrs. O'Hare and to see these pictures.

French North Africa

Reaching across the Sahara Desert to the north and south of the Mediterranean, Christian Missions Inc. has undertaken this work among the Muslims, that is, the Arabs of North Africa. There is a great need of preaching the Gospel to these Arabs, whose fanaticism and hardness have caused comparatively little to be done among them throughout the years. Already four missionaries are in the Algiers district learning the language and preparing for this arduous task. They plan to reach the isolated towns and oases where the Gospel has never been preached before and establish stations and churches in these districts. Special prayer is requested that men and means may be forthcoming.

Airwomen Celebrate First Birthday

The first anniversary of the re-entry of women into the ranks of the R.C.A.F. was celebrated at No. 2 Manning Depot, St. Johns, Que., this month with a first anniversary birthday party. Top-ranking officers from Ottawa, Trenton and Toronto attended the affair, marked by a full-scale ceremonial parade composed solely of women, followed by a tea. Occupying the place of honor at the tea was a huge 65-pound five-layer birthday cake, topped by a single candle. In the above photo, Mrs. W. A. Curtis, wife of the Chief of the Air Staff (centre) is shown cutting the cake, while Pilot Officer Terry Heffernan, (left) of Peterborough, Ont., and Airwoman Joyce James, of Toronto, look on. P/O Heffernan represented the first course to graduate a year ago, while Airwoman James represented the last graduating class.

High Enthusiasm At Avoca, Annual 12th July Picnic

(Our District Correspondent)

Avoca — Members of the Loyal Orange Lodge 721 held their annual picnic on Saturday, July 12, in ideal weather. This was one of the best-attended picnics the Lodge had sponsored for years.

The L.O.B.A. served dinner on tables, and the interlude seemed to be greatly enjoyed by all present. Bagpipers from Montreal entertained, and little Miss Tooke from St. Eustache performed a number of Scottish dances, to the delight of the onlookers.

The members of this Lodge were more than pleased to welcome members from Louisa.

The parade during the afternoon, led by the pipe band, included members of the Louisa L.O.L. 721, L.O.B.A. 119, Harrington Lodge, the Juvenile Lodge of Harrington, and many visiting Orangemen. In conclusion the members stood at attention for "God Save the Queen".

Mrs. Howard Smith and Mrs. Elden Bates had an attractive table featuring guessing contests, the prizes being a well-filled basket of groceries, a beautiful cake and a box of rice. Proceeds were given to the Protestant Children's Orphanage at Rosemere.

The races were entered into by young and older participants alike, with great enthusiasm. Mr. and Mrs. J. Doherty kindly donated the prizes.

Mr. W. M. Cottingham, ex-M.L.A. and present candidate for the government party, was present for a short time during the afternoon, accompanied by Mr. L. Carriere and Mr. White, of Lachute. Others from a distance were Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Morrison, the former a Grand Lodge officer, of Lachute; Mrs. D. R. Bates, from Boston; Mr. and Mrs. Everett Bates, of Dalhart, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. David McNeil, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth McLean, of Humberstone, Ont.; Mr. and Mrs. Orin LeRoy, and many from Ottawa, Lachute, Vankleek Hill, Hawkesbury, Kilmar, Harrington, Calumet and other points.

Former Lachute Girl Is Bride in Toronto Ceremony

Shields - Blomquist

The Cosburn United Church in Toronto was the scene of a double-ring ceremony on Saturday, July 12, when Doris Pauline, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Blomquist, became the bride of Douglas H. Shields, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Shields, of Paisley, Scotland. The Rev. E. S. Sinclair performed the wedding ceremony. The church was decorated with pink and white summer flowers with ferns.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a strapless gown of white imported French lace over tulle and satin, with a matching lace jacket. The skirt featured a lace redingote over an accordian-pleated underskirt of tulle. Her finger-tip veil of tulle illusion and lace was held by a small satin half-hat, studded with pearls. She carried a lacelon of pink baby roses, white carnations and a sprig of baby's breath.

The bride was attended by Madeleine Swail of Arundel, as maid of honor, and by Florence Muhvick, of Toronto, and Dorothy Stuebelt of Edmonton, cousin of the bride, as bridesmaids. The attendants wore similar gowns of nylon marquisette over taffeta in pink, green and yellow, respectively, and carried harmonizing cascades of carnations. The flower girl, Valerie Pierpoint, of London, niece of the groom, wore a dress of pink angelskin and net, and carried a nosegay of mixed flowers.

Bruce Porter was best man, and the ushers were Ft./Lt. J. Pierpoint, of London, and Ted Scheniman.

The reception was held at Upland Golf Club. The bride's mother received in blush pink lace with white accessories, and a corsage of yellow Sweetheart roses. The groom's mother assisted, wearing navy sheer, with a corsage of pink Sweetheart roses.

For the wedding trip the bride wore a heavenly blue dress of cotton lace lined with taffeta. She wore white accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

Boy Scouts The World Over

QUEEN IS SCOUT PATRON

Imperial Headquarters of the Boy Scouts Association, in London, has announced that Her Majesty, Queen Elizabeth II, has graciously consented to become the Patron of the Boy Scouts.

3,600-MILE CYCLE TRIP

After cycling 1,800 miles from Windsor, Ontario, to Prince Albert to attend the Third Saskatchewan Scout Jamboree, two Windsor Scouts, Ben Kachmer, 15, and John Stevens, 17, are now pedalling their way homeward. With them on the trip is an American Boy Scout, Bob Fletcher, 13, of Detroit.

"ONE GOOD TURN DESERVES ANOTHER"

Grateful to residents of Bedford, N.S., for odd jobs to raise money for the improvement of their camp site, Boy Scouts of that community recently went back for more odd jobs, for which they refused payment, as a "thank you" gesture.

FOR CIVIL DEFENCE

After completing a special course of instruction, 53 Boy Scouts of London, Ontario, were recently presented with Fireman's Proficiency Badges and Civil Defence identification cards.

SCOUT TRAINING PAYS

When six-foot waves upset a rowboat containing four fishermen on Lake Blanche, Que., recently, Boy Scout David Perlman, 16, of Montreal, used his Scout knife to cut the anchor rope, then swam to shore towing the upturned craft and his three companions on it.

DRIVE AGAINST RAG-WEED

New Brunswick Boy Scouts will be active participants in the government-sponsored rag-weed eradication campaign this summer, it is announced by the Executive Committee of the N.B. Provincial Council of the Boy Scouts.

JAMBOREE CAMP CHIEF

Appointment of T.W.S. Parsons, O.B.E., O.St.J. of Victoria, B.C., as Camp Chief for the Second Canadian Boy Scout Jamboree at Connaught Camp, near Ottawa, in July, 1953, has been announced by Canada's Deputy Chief Scout, Jackson Dodds, C.B.E. of Montreal. Mr. Parsons is Provincial Commissioner of Boy Scouts in British Columbia.

Scorned $2 Tip

(St. Catharines Standard)

A St. Catharines business man on a visit to New York City last week had a story to relate about tipping. He put on a luncheon for four — nothing special at all about it — and when paying his bil tendered in addition a two-dollar tip to the waiter.

Whereupon the waiter remarked: "What's this for, the bus boy?" The answer to that was: "If you don't want it, it's all right with me." The money was taken back.

The cost of tipping has become a scandal to all who travel on business or pleasure. Here, there and everywhere, there is the hand out, and behind the hand, there is a lot of insufferable impudence.

News of Current SPORTS & Entertainment

Regatta Held at St. Andrews East

At Pointe Robillard, at the junction of the North River and the Ottawa, about 40 entrants took part in the events last Sunday at the St. Andrews East regatta.

Under auspices of the Chamber of Commerce, the occasion is described as the best yet in the summer seasons of this community. Contestants from distant points — New York State, Lévis, L'Islet, Grondines and Montreal — joined with local sportsmen in the various events, featuring motorboats, outboards, rowboats, etc.

Aquatic "daredevils" provided an interesting spectacle for the onlookers, who were estimated by one observer around 3,000 in number.

Another regatta, under organization of Marcel Dupré, is announced for Sunday afternoon, August 3. Mr. Dupré states many amateurs have already handed in their entries in the various competitions, the Brading and Pressault cups being among the awards, besides other cash prizes and trophies. Gaston Dupré (tel. 21) at the St. Andrews Inn, may be contacted for further information.

Little Major League Starts Schedule

In the first organized game of junior baseball, the opening of the Little Major League schedule under management of Al Fleming, the Pirates defeated the Dodgers 5-4.

Indians met Red Sox for the second encounter, the same day, the latter winning 10-5.

This league, designed to enlist young boys of the community in wholesome organized sport, is operating through generosity of Lachute Lions Club, with collaboration of the employee-management committe for Ayers Limited and Dominion Shuttle Co. Al Fleming, manager of the Laurentide League local Tigers, has the guiding hand in management and organization, and the boys are under competent instruction by the senior team players. . . As remarked by Jean-Jacques Dupré, sportswriter for L'Argenteuil: "Better to hear those youthful yells, 'Play ball', than 'Stick 'em up!'".

Striped bass have long frequented Nova Scotia's Cobequid Bay.

Around the Country

By Jim Greenblat

The Estevan (Sask.) Mercury wonders how sincere are the C.C.F. protestations that they are encouraging industry in Saskatchewan. Why? Well, The Mercury discovered that the party had their outdoor advertising cards printed in Winnipeg, Man., when "there are several shops in this province well enough equipped to do excellent work for outdoor display". . . . Coons had been raiding Lewis Pratt's chickens at Selmah, N.S. One night he heard a racket and went out with his dog and flushed a big coon, which the dog brought down; he stopped to turn the animal over when it grabbed his little finger and took part of it off.

At Orillia, Ont., the police chief has had so many enquiries for letters stating that the bearer has no criminal record that he has had to make a charge of $1 each for them. . . Something new added to the curriculum at Prince George, B.C. — a class in Car Driving, a spanking new Chevrolet having been put at the disposal of the schools by the Roger Motor Products Ltd. . . In the irrigation district of Big Bend, near Taber, Alta., a new experiment in growing tomatoes; some 10,000 plants put in by a machine behind a tractor at set intervals; a jet of water is shot into a trench and one of two men riding behind place a plant in the spot.

At Huttonville, Ont., Eleanor Burton, working in an asparagus patch, found a tiny mouse with fur the color of a red fox. . . The Punnichy (Sask.) Times reports that J. E. Warren the C.P.R. agent and "gladiolus king" at Lestock, had planted more than 6,000 glads this spring. . . Shades of Florida on the banks of the Highwood in Alberta, where Edward Lou On and Barry Sleeman caught a turtle 10 inches long.

C.B.C. Choral Group

Predicts Big Year For Niagara Falls

Niagara Falls, Ont. (CP) — Another record year is predicted for Ontario's Niagara parks system. The Niagara Parks Commission administers the 3,000-acre system which parallels the Niagara River from Lake Erie to Lake Ontario.

Despite prolonged wet and cool spells in the spring, travel in the parks system was comparable to the same period a year ago.

"Each year we feel that we have reached the peak, but the following year brings an increase", said Labor Minister Charles Daley, commission chairman, recently. He said that in a six-month period, May to October last year 1,485,668 vehicles had entered Queen Victoria Park. That was 106,000 more than the previous year.

To warrant and accommodate this increasing visitor influx, the commission is alert to develop new facilities and improve those already serving the public. Mr. Daley pointed to the improved traffic handling facilities at Mather Park adjacent to the Peace Bridge at Fort Erie. It provides an entirely new highway entrance to Old Fort Erie built on reclaimed swamp land. The Mather Park project completes a program launched in 1936.

Considerable improvement has been made in the Dufferin Island park facilities where grading and a general clean-up of the area will increase its usefulness for the public, the chairman reported.

Despite cancellation of the steamer service between Toronto and Niagara-on-the-Lake and Queenston, which normally brought thousands of holidayers from the Toronto area, picnic bookings for both Queenston Heights and Queen Victoria Park are greater than 1951. In June, scores of thousands of school children from many sections of Ontario and neighboring United States points visited Fort George at Niagara and Old Fort Erie in groups, free of charge, to inspect the restored forts, clothing, and other articles of more than a century ago preserved in historic museums.

Continuing improvement in the fairways and greens of the 18-hole Niagara Parks Golf Course was noted by Mr. Daley. Opened a year ago, the course attracted close to 25,000 players last year. More than 3,000 played the course during May, a gain over last year.

BACK IN LONDON — AFTER 371 YEARS

London, Eng. — Drake's drum is back in London. It was brought here from Drake's home-town of Plymouth, 210 miles away, for an exhibition of Drake relics, and the last time it was seen in the British capital was in 1581, when Sir Francis Drake was knighted by Queen Elizabeth I. With it is the wood with which the great British admiral played bowls on Plymouth Hoe. The drum was used by Drake to summon up his forces. It is still helping British seamen, for the exhibition is in aid of King George's Fund for Sailors.

To the question, "What make of garbage disposal unit do you use?, one woman wrote: "Four hogs".

Double Deckers to Arrive from London

Due to arrive in London, Ont., July 22, are three of London's famous double-decker buses. The three-week tour of Canada will be jointly sponsored by the London Transport Executive and the British Travel Association.

One of the three buses will arrive complete with car cards and Cockney crew, while another of the 26-foot diesel machines will serve as a mobile information centre, carrying displays of travel attractions in the British Isles. The third is a workshop to keep the caravan in running order.

Free Trips for Children On Railroads

Two of the American railroads have followed the lead of the airlines and adopted a Family Fare Travel Plan to operate until October. Children under 12 may ride free on coach round trips when accompanied by a parent, and youngsters 12 to 15 will be charged half-fare. When adopted by some airlines, the plan succeeded in taking them out of the red. — Marketing.

DISTRICT NEWS

Arundel

Mrs. Leslie Harding and family are spending a holiday with her mother, Mrs. Henvis.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Simons are occupying their cottage for the rest of the holiday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Lennon and family, of Quebec City, are the guests of Mrs. Alfred Staniforth.

Mr. W. E. Chaffey returned home to England by plane, after a visit with his sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Morrison, and friends in Arundel. Other recent guests at the Morrison home were Mr. and Mrs. Dobby and family, Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Allan and family, Miss Betty Morrison, Miss Joan Whelan, Mr. Phillip Holland and Mr. Alfred Morrison.

The Ladies' Union of the United Church held its monthly meeting on July 2, and during the business it was decided to hold the annual bazaar in the school auditorium on Friday, July 25, in the evening, instead of on the church grounds, as in former years. (Will all adherents and friends please note this change.) The president, Mrs. Roy Staniforth, presided at the meeting.

Women's Institute

The monthly meeting of the Women's Institute was held Wednesday evening, July 9, in the school auditorium. Due to the absence of the president, Mrs. P. Staniforth, the meeting was conducted by the first vice-president, Mrs. Alec Dewar. At the close of the business, the chairman turned the program over to the Publicity convener, Mrs. D. Williams, who had as her speaker of the evening Mr. Stern. The latter took as his subject "Publicity", giving a very interesting talk interspersed with witty satires. At the close of the address, Mrs. F. Davis tendered a vote of thanks to the speaker. Refreshments were served in conclusion.

Mabel

Master David Murdoch returned home Monday evening after spending a few days in Toronto in company with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. David McDonald, of Verdun.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Townsend, of Montreal, were week-end guests of the former's mother, Mrs. Ross Townsend.

Master Glenn Swail, of Lachute, is spending this week with John Clark, after returning from a four weeks' trip to British Columbia.

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. MacCullough, of N.D.G., spent the week-end with Mrs. George D. Murdoch.

Master Wayne and Miss Janet Clark are visiting their aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Jackson, at Brownsburg.

$220 Nest Egg At Foto-Nite!

Mr. Peter Todd, whose name was chosen, Friday, July 4, Foto-Nite, at the Cinema Lachute. The climax followed several weeks of anticipation for moviegoers, the amount increasing by $10 weekly as names were drawn but the lucky ones were not present to take advantage of their good fortune. Mr. Todd, who was present on this occasion, receives $220 from the theatre management in exchange for his portrait. . . $160 is the offer this Friday.

Charter Officers Elected, Morin Hts. Ch. of Commerce

(Our District Correspondent)

Morin Heights — Albert Basler, manager of the Bellevue Hotel, has been elected first president of the newly-formed Morin Heights Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Basler and his vice-president, Ellward Kneeland, were sworn into office by Mayor Charles Campbell at the organization's first formal meeting here, July 3.

In an address to the charter members Mayor Campbell welcomed the formation of the Morin Heights Chamber. "I have long felt", he said, "that an active Chamber of Commerce would contribute much to the progress of the municipality, both as a source of information about the town and as a common meeting ground for the local people, where problems of mutual interest might be met by action as a group".

Mr. Romeo Duford, Quebec manager of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, and Mr. Derek Griffin, Field Service Representative of the national organization, spoke to the meeting on the work of the Chamber of Commerce in Canada.

Elected to the executive council of the Chamber for the coming year are — Moore Bannon, William Bell, Colin Cameron, Henry Fitz-Patrick, Henry Gillingham, Herbert Lacken, Carl Seale and Paul St. Denis.

Child Injured On Tricycle

Frederic Rochon, seven-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Rochon, Grace Street, ran into the side of a light delivery with his tricycle, at the intersection of Elizabeth and Robert Streets last Saturday evening. It is stated by police that the youngster was coasting down Elizabeth, his feet free of the pedals, and could not stop. He ran into the rear fender of the truck, driven by Jos. Laurin, and was severely hurt in the impact. Dr. Jules Lafleur gave treatment at his parents' home, the boy having suffered possible fractured ribs and scratches about the legs.

Police Chief D. Villeneuve investigated and gave the necessary assistance.

ANCIENT TRICK

Winnipeg (CP) — Detective-Inspector George Blow warned business men that the old "Mexican letter" racket is appearing again. The letters purport to come from a prisoner in a Mexican jail, offering a share in a fortune.

EXPENSIVE HOLE

Bowness, Alta. (CP) — How much a hole in the ground is worth depends on its location, of course. Council of this town on the outskirts of Calgary has been asked to pay $500 for one if it wants to use it as a new garbage dump.

World Scholars and Unesco Officials Plan a History of Mankind

A six-volume history of mankind, from prehistoric times to 1957, the year of publication, is to be written by a team of 1000 leading world scholars. The sponsor of the program is the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (Unesco), which is advancing $400,000 for the work, which is estimated to cost $600,000. The project will take five years to complete and will assemble knowledge of all races, cultures and peoples, past and present. Here are Unesco officials and members of the International Commission for a Scientific and Cultural History of Mankind, which is in charge of the work: Left to right, seated: Dr. Constantine K. Zurayk, Syria; Dr. Julian S. Huxley, the United Kingdom; Dr. Paulo B. Carneiro, Brazil, President of the Commission; Dr. Jaime Torres Bodet, Mexico, Director-General of Unesco; Dr. Ralph E. Turner, the United States, chairman of the editorial committee, and Dr. Carl J. Burckhardt, Switzerland. Standing: Dr. Pedro Bosch-Gimpera, Mexico; Dr. Jean Thomas, France; Dr. Silvio Zavala, Mexico; Dr. Charles Moraze, France; Dr. Armando Cortesao, Portugal, Commission secretary-general, and Dr. Mario Praz, Italy.

Find Strange Jobs In Adopted Country

Newcomers Fill Unusual Posts While Learning Canadian Ways

Calgary (CP) — It isn't every day you see a veteran policeman stirring a pot of stew in the kitchen of a restaurant or a skilled scientist mending laundry for a living.

But in Calgary, as in most Canadian cities, are skilled workers from Europe who have resorted to unskilled labor to earn a living in their adopted home.

Guiseppe Dipalma, a 20-year-old former Italian policeman started work in Canada as a laborer. Soon he discovered latent culinary talents and now works in a Calgary restaurant.

Dipalma does not complain about this professional somersault, but he would prefer to be a policeman in Canada.

"I am handicapped on account of the language, neither speaking nor writing English", he said.

Sews for Living

Another skilled European working in strange surroundings is Mrs. H. A. Grichenko, 52-year-old scientist. Mrs. Grichenko was formerly a manager of a physo-pathologic research laboratory in Russia. Phytopathology is the study of plant diseases.

In Alberta she has found a job in the sewing room of the Centra Alberta Sanatorium, where she mends and checks laundry.

Although she might find a position in agronomical research, she does not want to leave Calgary where her married daughter lives.

"I have lost everything in life but my daughter and I would not be alive if not for her," said Mrs. Grichenko. "Now we live happily and yet we are sad that we cannot share happiness with those at home."

AFRICAN BASENJIS A BARKLESS BREED

Montreal (CP) — Bammba's bark is worse than his bite — matter of fact, this type of dog doesn't bark, he yodels.

Bammba is one of the barkless breed, the "Basenji of the Blue Nile". And while his vocal chords do not permit a bark, they do let him do what is described as "a chortling yodel".

Bammba and his brother, Brigadoon, are the only two Basenji in Montreal and they are owned by Spalding Black.

The Basenji's pedegree goes back no less than 6,000 years to the days when he was the favorite of the Pharoahs. His heritage from Central Africa, where the breed is used for hunting, enables him to pick a dog twice his weight.

The Basenjis are also tree climbers. Built like a fox terrier, the Basenji has short hair, varying from chestnut to tan and from black to white.

A safety engineer asked a group this question:

"What steps should be taken if you find your basement full of gas fumes?"

An answer came from the back of the room: "The basement steps . . . two at a time."

A personnel-minded little chap, when asked what he would like to have more than anything else, quickly replied, "A baby brother."

The father, being well versed in engineering, objected to the suggestion in a mild way by saying. "But it's only ten days until Christmas, and of course that doesn't give me enough time."

"I know", the boy said, but being ignorant of the labor situation, went on to suggest: "Can't you put more men on the job?"

Brownsburg Disfavors Idea Of Inter-Municipal Incinerator

Decide Installation and Upkeep Too Costly; Inadequate to Handle All Types of Garbage

(Our District Correspondent)

Gab over Garbage

Brownsburg — At the last meeting of Council that hardy repeater, "garbage collection", came up for an airing, because some of the business people complained that once-a-week removal was not sufficient in the summer months. A look at the by-law revealed that garbage from business houses was not collected, and any that had been taken up was as a convenience rather than a right. Some of the business members of the Council remarked that they disposed of their own garbage, and other business houses could do likewise.

Sewerage and Water

A letter was read from Dr. L. Turcotte, County Health Officer, which was a copy of one sent to some people who had not availed themselves of the sewerage and water facilities brought to their doors at considerable expense by the Corporation. The Council backed up the Health Unit, and called for a report of any others who were negligent in this matter; they would move to have the sanitary facilities condemned so that such houses would be compelled to connect to the system.

Incinerator Too Costly

While the erection of an incinerator in co-operation with other surrounding municipalities seemed a good idea, on investigation it was discovered that the cost of installation and upkeep would be somewhat high, and there would still have to be a dump maintained as the incinerator would not take all the garbage the Council was called upon to handle. Such things as ashes and lawn rakings were mentioned as not to be put in an incinerator. It was decided to drop the whole matter.

Hotels and Closing Hours

Every meeting of the Brownsburg Council is featured by a prophecy of ruin on account of the hours maintained by the hotels. No one seems to notice those things in the ordinary course of business, and the police have no trouble with peace requirements in this regard. Perhaps it's a matter of position rather than prohibition; anyway — like Mark Twain and the weather — or was in Tennyson's brook?

Pro-Mayor

Councillor Vincent Charbonneau was appointed pro-mayor, and Councillors Lafleur and Rose assigned to matters of Sewerage and Waterworks.

Worker Burned In Flash Fire At Safety Fuse

Incident Mars 12-Year Safety Record at Brownsburg Factory

(Our District Correspondent)

Brownsburg — A flash fire at the Canadian Safety Fuse Company's plant, caused by spontaneous ignition of a quantity of waste powder, resulted in considerable damage to a small mixing house last Wednesday. Unfortunately, an operator in the building at the time suffered severe burns about the upper portion of the body, and had to be removed to hospital at Montreal, where his condition is improving. The burns are all surface burns and no serious injury leading to a permanent disfigurement is expected. Maurice St. Denis, the young man injured, was known as a very careful worker and perhaps his safety precautions saved him from greater injury. The building was badly charred and the furniture burned. The plant fire brigade prevented the blaze from spreading.

Across the Country

By Jim Greenblat

From the Buckingham (Que.) Post: "We regret to announce that Mr. Romeo Chartrand, who has been for the past six years local correspondent for Le Droit of Ottawa, has resigned that position owing to a difference of opinion with the editorial staff of that paper." . . . Livestock volume handled by Blindman Valley Co-op in Alberta exceeded $2-million, it was disclosed at the annual meeting for the year. . . The town of Fort Frances, Ont., has been refused permission by the Ontario municipal board to construct a proposed warehouse for $15,000, without first submitting the issue to a vote of the ratepayers; result, ruckus.

Speaking to the Orillia Kiwanis Club, W. A. Robinson, M.P., said that if Canada is to achieve its destiny, she must make provision for increased immigration. . . According to writing found in an old shed torn down at Newmarket, Ont., (says the Era & Express), there was "snow in July, 1904". . . It took the small community of Morson, Ont., 38 years to attempt its second Dominion Day celebration, but it was so successful in 1952 that 1,000 attended.

Quebec Increase in Marriages and Births

Quebec Province had 35,200 marriages in 1951, an increase of 2,418 over the 1941 total of 32,782, the Quebec statistics bureau reported.

There were 119,000 births in 1951 compared with 89,563 in 1941 while 34,600 deaths were listed last year compared with 34,324 10 years before.

The population jumped from 3,332,000 in 1941 to 4,056,000 in 1951.

Week-End Toll — One Crash, Three Severely Injured

Three injured and two cars a total loss — was the toll in a head-on crash in the early hours of Sunday morning, west of Vachon's Corner on the Lachute-Grenville highway, at a spot near the crucifix beside the road, a grim reminder of a previous traffic tragedy. The collision occurred at 1.15 a.m.

Ross Keatley of Brownsburg, 40, was travelling eastward, when his car was crashed head-on by an auto driven by Bernard Foucault, 22, of St. Philippe. Foucault was accompanied by Roger Bertrand, 19, and Jean-Paul Bertrand, 16, both also of St. Philippe. The latter, although badly shocked, was the only one to escape injury.

Dr. F. W. FitzGerald was summoned from Lachute to give first aid — Ross Keatley having a broken rib, a badly cut chin and a gash in his left knee which required 10 stitches; Foucault suffering a compound fracture of the thigh and a broken shoulder; and Roger Bertrand with head injuries not immediately diagnosed, from which he remained unconscious.

Foucault was taken by car to a Hawkesbury hospital, where he is under the care of Dr. C. E. Lafrance. The other two victims were brought by ambulance to the Providence Hospital — Roger Bertrand being later removed to the Royal Victoria Hospital, Montreal.

Traffic Officer Albert Legault investigated.

Homicide Squad Probing Death of Hit-Run Victim

Det. Paul Coulombe of the provincial homicide squad is investigating the death of Rodrigue Durocher, young Hawkesbury cyclist whose body was found Tuesday night in the ditch at the south side of Route 8, opposite the farm of Polydore Guay just east of St. Philippe.

The victim, 23-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Hormidas Durocher, Hawkesbury, died of skull fracture and suffocation, his head being face-down in the ditch. The discovery was made by a young girl, the daughter of Athanase Laurin, passing the spot on her bicycle. She had noticed the young man at 8 p.m. Tuesday, thinking he was asleep at the side of the road. On her return around 10 p.m., he appeared in identically the same position, and the girl took steps to notify the police. The condition of the body, according to Dr. Jules Lafleur, coroner, suggested he had met his death only a short time before the girl first noticed him. He had been riding a bicycle, which was without lights, and was hit by a car whose driver failed to stop or to report the accident.

It is believed at the time of the accident he was on his way to Ayersville and Lachute to visit his two brothers, Marcel and Armand. His body was identified by his brother Marcel.

In their 92nd year in the undertaking business, this firm has also the longest-established ambulance service in town.

Duplessis Takes Stock After Election, Three Cabinet Vacancies To Be Filled

By Bernard Dufresne

Quebec, July 21 (CP) — Back at his Quebec Legislature office for a third straight term, Premier Duplessis this week called a cabinet meeting to deal with the formation of a new Union Nationale Government.

Topmost of the meeting agenda are the appointments within the next few weeks of replacements for three ministers without portfolio who lost out to Liberal opponents in last Wednesday's provincial election, which saw the Union Nationale returned to power with 68 seats.

The Liberals picked up 15 seats more than the eight they held in the last legislature, but the death of Henri Groulx, re-elected Liberal member for Montreal-Outremont, cut their total to 22 seats.

A by-election will probably be held soon, giving Liberal leader Georges Lapalme, defeated in Joliette by Labor Minister Barrette, an opportunity to gain a seat in the legislative assembly. One Independent was elected.

The three ministers defeated are Dr. Marc Trudel in St. Maurice, Hormisdas Delisle, in Montreal - St. Henry, and Patrice Tardif, in Frontenac.

Among the names talked about as possible replacements are Yves Prevost, re-elected in Montmorency, Francis Boudreau, re-elected in Quebec - St. Sauveur, Alexandre Taché, speaker of the house, re-elected in Hull, and Romulus Ducharme, re-elected in Laviolette.

There was no hint of major changes in the present cabinet, although some minor reshuffling of portfolios was considered a possibility.

In a brief interview last week, Premier Duplessis indicated he had no intention of taking a holiday until he has studied official voting results in detail and cleaned up government business which piled up during the month-long election campaign.

A vacancy in the Legislative Council caused by the death last December of J. C. E. Ouellet is also expected to be filled soon.

In his election night statement, Mr. Duplessis said the farmers of Quebec showed their confidence in a regime which applies the principle that agriculture is the basis of enduring progress.

Meanwhile, at least two judicial recounts of election returns will be held as a result of close battles.

In Quebec-West, Laval Couture, an organizer for Jean Saucier, Union Nationale candidate, defeated by Jules Savard, Liberal, by a 15-vote margin, obtained from Superior Court Justice Noel Belleau that a judicial tabulation be held.

In Levis, Jacques de Billy, lawyer representing Albert Samson, defeated Union Nationale candidate, said a judicial recount would be requested. Mr. Samson was defeated by Raynold Belanger, Liberal, by a 14-vote majority.

W. M. Cottingham Re-elected Head Of Central Board

Decide Full Publicity Desirable on Central School Board Meetings

The regular meeting of the Central School Board was held in Lachute High School on Monday evening of this week. As this was the first meeting of the new school year, a chairman had to be appointed. Mr. W. M. Cottingham was again elected to fill this position, one that he has held continuously since the Board was formed in 1946.

A motion was adopted tendering the congratulations of the Board to Mr. Cottingham on his recent re-election to the Quebec Legislature.

Considerable discussion took place regarding the construction of a proposed new school to serve the children of the local Boards of Rouge River and Harrington No. 2. It is now being suggested that this school be built in Harrington, in order to accommodate children from Kilmar and Lost River. Sketches of this school have already been submitted, and it is expected that definite action will be taken within the near future.

A request was submitted by the local school board of Gore that the Central Board lend its support to action being taken to have the hill at Lake Sir John improved, as it was considered to be in a dangerous condition at the present time.

It was decided at this meeting that all local school boards would proceed with the preparation of their school tax collection rolls at once, using the municipal rolls in effect as of July 1, and in accordance with legislation passed recently at Quebec. It is hoped that this will enable the school boards to obtain their revenues from taxes earlier than in previous years and thereby avoid the necessity of such large temporary borrowing at the bank. Should this prove effective, the Board should be able to effect substantial savings in bank interest.

The Central Board members decided they would make every possible effort to publicize their meetings as much as possible. It was their opinion that the public had every right to know what was taking place in school matters, and anything that could be done in this respect would be an advantage to the cause of education in general.

It was reported at this meeting that a number of local boards were somewhat lax in the collection of tax arrears. This presented a serious problem to the Central Board in the efficient administration of their financial affairs. A motion was adopted that every possible action be taken to see that the situation be remedied without delay.

Steps were taken to see that adequate transportation facilities would be available for all schools throughout the unit when classes begin in September, and that existing equipment be put into first-class condition.

Police Quell Hotel Fracas

Trouble brewing for a day or two among members of the local ball team and their friends, came to a head Friday night in what threatened to be a free-for-all in a local tavern. The town police had warning of the dispute, and were ready to act if interference was warranted. The climax broke just before midnight Saturday, and Chief Villeneuve and his officers stepped in to quell the disturbance and separate the belligerent factions. Despite rumors of extensive property damage, the brawl resulted only in broken glasses and bottles, and a few overturned tables.

W.I. Branches Report Meetings Month of July

Frontier W.I. reports 19 members, many visitors and 29 children present at the July meeting, which took the form of a picnic on the lawn of Mrs. T. Weir, Cushing. Plans were made for a trip to the Experimental Farm in August. An interesting report was read by Mrs. L. Gaston on the Q.W.I. convention at Macdonald College.

Pioneer W.I. meeting was attended by 14 members and five visitors. A report of the Macdonald College convention was given by Mrs. Geo. McGibbon. Plans made for a lawn social on July 26.

Brownsburg branch had an attendance of 22. Convention reports were given by the delegates. The roll-call was, "Name some interesting work done by a branch in the past year". A resolution is to be sent to Mr. W. M. Cottingham, M.L.A., on conditions at the Montreal Women's Jail (Protestant), asking to have mental patients removed; also a resolution to the Brownsburg Village Council requesting that loudspeakers announcing ball games, etc., be prohibited on Sundays. . . Two films were shown, "Library on Wheels" and "Does It Matter What You Think?"

Plans were made to charter a bus to the Ottawa Exhibition for the August meeting of this branch.

Arundel reports an attendance of 25 members and seven visitors. Two parcels were sent overseas. Mr. J. Stern was guest speaker, dealing with the subject of Publicity. The meeting was planned by the convener of Publicity, Mrs. J. D. Williams.

Lakefield meeting was held at the home of Mrs. W. Sherritt, with a good attendance of members and guests. Mrs. Leonard Westgate was welcomed at this meeting. Mrs. Westgate, now of Edmonton, Alberta, was the former Miss Myette Evans of Lakefield, and had always been a very keen W.I. member. Her many friends were therefore happy to meet her, after six years' absence. After hearing a report of the provincial convention, plans were made for a "military whist". The meeting was then adjourned and a social evening was enjoyed.

Happy Gathering At Farm Residence Of Deputy-Elect

A crowd estimated between 4,000 and 5,000 from all sections of the county gathered last Wednesday evening, on announcement of the Argenteuil election results, to congratulate Mr. W. M. Cottingham on his re-election. Following a post-election rally at Lachute Auditorium, the informal get-together took place at Mr. Cottingham's farm at Hill Head. The member-elect and Mrs. Cottingham were gracious hosts, serving refershments and meeting a large number of their friends and supporters. A public address system was set up, and Mr. Cottingham thanked the gathering from the steps of his residence. Young Paul Carrière, Jr., favored during the evening with a French recitation.

Summer Sunshine Can Be Dangerous

Bathing suit advertisements to the contrary, warns Health Magazine, all the sun that you can get is not all the sun that's good for you. Sunburn is what it says — an actual burn. And the tempting summer sun should be treated with just as much respect as a hot saucepan or a kettle full of scalding water. Sunburn can be dangerous!

The latest issue of the Health League of Canada magazine urges the use of common sense, protective clothing and a dependable suntan lotion with proven sun-screening properties, for summer comfort and health.

Here are six sun-health rules for everyone:

1—Don't let a hazy day fool you. Clouds do not necessarily stop the sun's burning rays.

2—Apply suntan lotion evenly all over before exposure, and pay special attention to forehead, cheekbones, nose, chin, shoulders and behind the knees. Some suntan lotions will completely prevent burning.

3—Reapply suntan lotion after each swim; and apply it periodically if you perspire heavily.

4—Watch your timing. Don't try to get your whole summer's tan the first day out, or even during the first several days.

5—Use a lip pomade to protect your lips against fever sores, chapping and cracking.

6—Wear sun glasses. Sun not only makes your eyes red and unattractive, but it also drastically reduces night vision and so contributes to many after-dark highway accidents.

Salute to Gilbert E. Ayers in Journal 'Commerce', July Issue

Lachute Industrialist Honored as "Man of Month", Town and Amenities Favorably Publicized

The July issue of "Commerce", Montreal publication, pays a generous tribute to Gilbert E. Ayers as "Man of the Month", his portrait occupying the front cover of this number. Several pages are devoted to Mr. Ayers' record of initiative, while other highlights of Lachute, its Chamber of Commerce and its industries are featured in word and illustration, with a number of local advertisers benefitting by publicity in the special issue of this journal.

The "Commerce" reporter has shown interest in the employee-welfare projects developed in the Ayers industries, including La Ruche co-operative; the Ayers caisse populaire; the industrial Co-operation Committee; the swimming pool and recreation centre; the band, choir, handicrafts, library, social welfare fund, touring club, group insurance, etc. — all in addition to happy working conditions. The article speaks glowingly of the attractive surroundings in which these industrial plants are situated — tracing the history of the Ayers ventures and the circumstances under which the late Thomas Henry Ayers and Felix Hamelin selected this site in 1876.

Of their successor he writes: "Gilbert Ayers is not merely a boss; he is the guiding light of a free-enterprise community. . ." enumerating also his multiple roles as Mayor of Ayersville, president and director of many business and social enterprises, and the philanthropic work and generosity of the Ayers family.

Accident Verdict In Pte. au Chene Crossing Tragedy

At an inquest in Grenville on Monday evening, under chairmanship of Coroner Dr. Jules Lafleur, a verdict of accidental death was returned in the case of David Abracen, 82-year-old cattle dealer who was burned to death after his truck was hit by a freight train Monday evening, July 14, at Pte. au Chene.

Witnesses included two of the trainmen and the conductor of the freight. The fireman and brakeman on the train had seen the 3-ton truck approaching the level-crossing. The bell and whistle of the engine were sounded in accordance with regulations. The train was proceeding at 35 miles an hour. There was clear visibility on both sides of the crossing, and the trainmen were under the impression the truck was slowing to a halt. At a point 15 yards from the track, however, they looked again and noted the driver was not visible — suggesting a possibility that he had slumped in a faint. The truck caught fire after being hurled into the ditch, and the victim was burned. Medical evidence afterwards showed a skull fracture and "complete carbonization" of the body.

A jury under chairmanship of C. A. Bell gave the verdict, exonerating the trainmen of all blame.

First Public Television Show Tomorrow Night

Tomorrow evening (Friday) will mark a special date in the progress of Canadian communications — the first public television broadcast originating in this country to be transmitted at 8.30 o'clock, from the Delorimier Stadium in Montreal. Three cameras will pick up the baseball game between Royals and Springfield Cubs.

For Montreal television this will be the first broadcast in a so-called "trial period" to continue until the inauguration of Canada's official network in September. To the baseball programs will be added daily broadcasts from the CBC studios.

CBFT will be the designation of the Montreal television station which goes on the air for public entertainment tomorrow.

Hotel Partner Dies Suddenly

The Late Oscar Cregheur

Brownsburg — Oscar Cregheur, of Plaisance, Que., died suddenly last Monday, at the untimely age of 44.

Co-proprietor of the Café Marquise at Brownsburg, he was a man of many business interests. He was former proprietor of the Patriot Hotel in Plaisance and the Continental Hotel in Papineauville. Mr. Cregheur was also a partner in the Papineau Construction Company at St. André Avellin, and associated with Rideau Distributors and General Farm Equipment, Ottawa. He was chairman of the Plaisance School Board and a fourth degree member of the Knights of Columbus.

Funeral rites were held yesterday morning at the parish church in Plaisance.

Celebrating This Week for Centenary St. Placide Parish

The Village of St. Placide is "en fête" this week celebrating the 100th anniversary of the founding of the parish. Under direction of the curé, the Rev. Donat Bourassa, the program is in charge of a citizen committee. The celebrations commenced last Saturday and will conclude this Sunday, on which day the bishop of St. Jerome diocese, Mgr. Emilien Frenette, will chant pontifical mass.

Swimming events were held last Saturday, and a regatta attracted keen interest the following day in ideal weather and perfect setting. This evening (Thursday) at 8.15, a physical culture demonstration will be given at the school, with gymnastics and acrobatics. These events will follow a supper in French-Canadian style, on the school grounds, and will conclude with square dancing.

A novel feature will be a fisherman's contest Saturday morning, leaving from the St. Placide wharf, and a parade of floats in the evening. The bishop will also officiate Saturday afternoon at a children's confirmation.

Following the pontifical mass on Sunday morning, there will be a choral concert and an outdoor banquet, with distribution of prizes and entertainment in the evening.

Comparison Shows Firefighting Costs Remarkably Low

In a recent issue of the Renfrew Mercury, the following item drew attention to costs of maintaining the town fire department, which have been mounting steadily in recent years:

Renfrew Firefighters Costing Over $11,000 More Than in 1948

Renfrew's Municipal Year Book for 1952 just completed reveals in statistics for last year that Renfrew's Fire Department under Chief Gordon Jack answered 137 calls and 10 major fires with loss from these on buildings of $7,255 and contents $4,540.

Cost of operation of the Fire Department continuing a steady climb from 1948 was quoted as $31,439.30 last year, up from $28,207.41 in 1950; $23,623.88 in 1949; and $20,356.20 in 1948; which means the department is costing over $11,000 more than five years ago.

After comparing the above with costs in this town, it may be realized Lachute is very fortunate under its present set-up, and due credit should be given Fire Chief Geo. Y. Deacon and his volunteer brigade for their efficient services. Losses in this town have been also comparatively low, and in all respects, even to its bearing on our taxes, Lachute is in a favored position.

Local firemen's salaries amount to $3,600; rent $900; incidentals $1,000 — making a total of $5,500. This works out at less than 1/5 the cost at Renfrew, which is a town of about the same population.

Injured in Fall From Scaffold

Brownsburg — Roland Girard, of Main Street, Brownsburg, suffered back injuries on Wednesday of last week when he fell 15 feet from a scaffold. He was at work on construction of a house on St. Paul Street, when the scaffolding gave way and he fell to the ground.

Gatineau LINES

Interruptions in Service

Sometimes we get so used to having electricity serve us in so many ways that it is only when something interrupts the flow of current that we remember how valuable a servant it really is.

Because electricity has to travel by wires which are exposed to the elements, it is inevitable that sometimes interruptions in service must occur. The power company tries to keep interruptions to a minimum and tries to restore service as quickly as possible, but no power company anywhere can give constantly uninterrupted service always.

At this time of year, for instance, this part of the country is subject to brief but violent storms which sometimes tear down wires and smash trees across them. That is Nature's way of reminding us that the electricity which we so often take for granted is indeed a valuable servant.

St. John's, Nfld. (CP) — More than 4,200 cattle owners now have signed agreements for tests for bovine tuberculosis, with about 50 objectors. The initial report covering about 6,000 animals showed only five cases, which were sent to Fredericton, N.B., for slaughter.

NOTABLE ANTIQUES SOLD BY AUCTION

Roches Point (CP) — Art-lovers were offered an unusual opportunity to buy antiques at an auction held on the McKinnon estate near this Lake Simcoe resort recently.

Such items as a Drambuie decanter, a Persian cigaret box, a gold lacquered Tibetan llama's cap and an Italian pottery tea set were quickly sold. Other sales varied from a 1790 Nailsea jug to a medieval carving in relief of a female figure.

Book lovers wasted no time in purchasing an eight-volume 1773 edition of the works of Shakespeare and a 12-volume collection of Samuel Johnson's writings, printed in 1793.

Constructed in 1925, the 28-room Tudor House with its 15 acres estate was sold recently to Ed. Smith, a Toronto stock broker. It is valued at $500,000.

Seasonal Farm Topics

Weeds in Pasture Flavor Milk

Many factors contribute to flavors in milk and, since objectionable flavors affect the grade of milk, cream and cheese, the dairy farmer must always be on guard. It is discouraging and unprofitable to produce inferior grade milk and the good dairyman will take every precaution to prevent it.

Perhaps the most common cause of off-flavor in milk is from feeds or weeds eaten by the cow. Turnips are the greatest offenders and should not be fed until after milking. Rape, alfalfa and sweet clover all have their characteristic flavor and must be fed with discretion. When putting cows on fresh sweet clover or alfalfa pasture, allow only a few hours grazing at first and break in gradually. Avoid feeding any strong feed previous to milking.

Many weeds will impart a foreign flavor to milk if the cows happen to eat them prior to milking. Leeks, garlic, toadflax and ragweed all give their peculiar flavors and should be considered as a menace in the pasture field.

Mouldy, yeasty, and bitter flavors are usually the result of bacterial growth. These organisms get into the milk from outside sources such as unwashed udders, contaminated stables, dirty utensils and carelessness of the milker. Since bacteria requires favorable temperature to grow and multiply, growth of these organisms will be checked by proper cooling methods. Milk should be cooled promptly to 50 degrees F or lower to check bacterial growth.

Some flavors, such as ensilage, turnips, manure, etc., are absorbed by the milk if stable ventilation is poor. Milk sometimes has a metallic flavor which is absorbed from the utensils used. Dust and dirt falling from the coat of the animal during milking operations may also be the source of many bad flavors found in milk and milk products.

Runs Chicken Farm From A Wheelchair

Paralyzed Prairie Farmer Happy on B.C. Ranch

Langley Lake, B.C. (CP) — Henry Oliver cannot walk, but has become so adept in handling his wheelchair that he operates a successful chicken farm here. His wife, a polio victim, can walk only with the aid of leg braces.

In 1930 Henry was struck by a loaded truck on his Saskatchewan farm and was paralyzed for life. He has used a wheel chair ever since.

Visiting his sister in Vancouver in 1940 he met Elsie Simcoff, attractive, dark-haired Winnipeg girl. They married and set up housekeeping in Victoria. Henry started a drygoods store in suburban Oak Bay, but his heart remained on the farm.

"I wanted to start a chicken ranch", he said, "but people kept talking me out of it. They all said the same thing — you can't farm from a wheelchair."

Wheelchair Runways

But the Olivers sold the store and bought a bit of woodland at Langley Lake, 15 miles west of Victoria, and started in the poultry business.

Provincial Poultry Inspector Harry Pope suggested they adopt the Stacey method of multiple bird-laying cages evolved in England.

Under his guidance wheelchair runways were built so Henry could feed the hens, pack eggs and do other chores.

Their trim, white bungalow is the meeting place for many of their friends.

"We don't feel we are any different from anybody else", Mrs. Oliver said. "Actually I was one of the lucky ones. I had a wonderful mother and father". She said she had to do her share of the work "so that I wouldn't feel different from other members of the family."

When 19 she became a furrier's apprentice and stayed with that trade until her marriage.

Your CBC. Friend, the Ontario Gardener

Bob Keith, the CBC's Ontario Gardener, shows his young friend, Cathy Mingay, how to fork up her garden without too much strain on muscles and temper. Keith has been telling radio listeners how to keep their gardens growing ever since 1944, in his Sunday morning broadcast at 10.20 on Ontario and Quebec stations of the CBC. He is a seedman by profession, who spent four years on the teaching staff of the Ontario Agricultural College in Guelph. He got some of his practical gardening experince when he worked for a year as a student gardener in the Royal Botanic Gardens at Kew, in England.

Use of Concrete for Repairing Trees

Concrete is perhaps one of the most useful materials which a farmer has at his disposal. It is easy to work with and can be used for a great number of different jobs. One of the less common usages to which it is put is in repairing of trees which have developed rotting, decayed holes through the action of insects or other causes.

The first step in the repairing of such spots in trees is to remove every last bit of decayed wood with a mallet and chisel, leaving an outer shell of living wood and bark.

The next operation is of the greatest importance if the repair is to be permanent and decay not set in again at a later date. This is the cutting of "watersheds" so as to prevent the entrance of moisture into the wound after it has been closed up. This watershed consists of a deep incision or groove which should be made about an inch back from the outer edge of the cut and open at the foot of the cut so as to lead the water outward and downward to the ground below. The cement being packed tightly into these grooves will form a channel down which the water flows to be led out at the base.

Before filling, the cavity should be painted with hot coal tar or liquid asphalt to stop the flow of sap. If this is not done there is danger of a small air space forming around the filling and the decay continuing.

Before the cement can be placed in the cavity, it is necessary that some reinforcement be provided. In the case of small holes this can be done by means of nails, while in a larger cavity it can be reinforced throughout with ordinary fence wire which is attached to nails driven into the wood. After the reinforcement has been arranged every crevice should be carefully filled with a mortar mixed one to three. After the concrete has set, it may be painted the natural color of the bark.

Spotlight on Cobalt

Cobalt is a constituent of vitamin B12, which plays such an important part in the health and nutrition of man and animal that most farmers are now familiar with the beneficial effects of this essential vitamin. Cobalt deficiencies in animal feeds reported from Australia, New Zealand and various parts of Europe also occur in Canada and the United States. They give rise to animal coast disease, bush sickness, marasmus, and pine — and many farmers are now using salt blocks containing added cobalt as a precautionary measure to insure good health conditions in their herds.

The soil - plant - animal cobalt cycle involves a remarkable system of co-operative effect on the part of plants, animals and micro-organisms, said Dr. J. C. Woodward, Chief of the Chemistry Division of the Federal Department of Agriculture. Although it has not yet been established whether the presence of cobalt is essential for normal plant growth, plants do absorb this element from the soil. Soils incidentally show cobalt contents that range from 2-100 parts per million, depending on their nature and geological origin. Animals feed on plants which have a cobalt content of 0.01-1.00 parts per million. Certain micro-organisms in the animal's digestive tracts then convert the cobalt present in the digesting plant tissue to a cobalt complex known as vitamin B12, in which form it is absorbed by the animal body and put to most excellent use.

The work on cobalt has been progressing slowly due to the absence of rapid and reliable methods of cobalt determination. The Chemistry Division of the Federal Department of Agriculture has been investigating various methods of cobalt analysis and has come out with a precedure which — although not yet fully perfected — shows great promise of general applicability, speed and accuracy, as reported by W. E. Nichol of the Chemistry Division.

Around the Country

By Jim Greenblat

Orillia, Ont., police are investigating theft of 80 feet of iron pipe, leading to a tourist camp, which was cut away with a hacksaw and carted off by some miscreants, resulting in a temporary stoppage of sewage disposal. . . What's the big attraction at Chinook tourist cabin No. 5, asks the Claresholm, Alta., News, as three clergymen, from widely separated points in Canada, occupied this cabin on three successive nights. . . 2,000 braved a steady downpour of rain at Camrose, Alta., as official ceremonies marked bringing in of the 101st oil well in that district.

Oldest living inhabitant of southwestern Ontario is Mrs. Rebecca Broom at Guelph, who at 106 spends most of her time eating, smoking a pipe and making trips to the local store some blocks distant; she is believed born in southern U.S.A., of Negro parentage. . . Orillia has more novel thefts; an unknown thief with a nice taste in lingerie succeeded in making off with 15 to 20 pairs of women's panties off clotheslines in town, police recovering nine pair strewn on various streets; one irate husband had time to throw a rock at the miscreants, who dashed away in an old car.

Fishing at the lake near Grenfell, Sask., Bill Bradley had the pleasure of seeing a nice big "jack" jump out of the water onto the pier, slither across it and fall into his boat; there were six witnesses. . . . The Kipling (Sask.) Citizen waxes lyrical; describing an egg laid by Mrs. Benny Szakac's hen: "It is shaped like the wind bag on a set of bagpipes, or like a Schmoo, with a sort of rakish shape that seems to say 'to heck with it', an egg that is thing-shaped. If it the shape of things to come it will revolutionize the world."

Piffle, observes the Carillon News of Steinbach, Man., "despite the fact that there is a continuous barrage of talk along the line that we're being held up by big manufacturers, storekeepers and others the average Canadian is better off today than ever before, so just get back and go to work and be happy."

Start Promptly, Keep Going

IF YOU are confronted with a drowning accident, get the victim out of the water as quickly as you can, make sure there is nothing blocking the air passage, and immediately start artificial respiration by the method you know. The only additional word of advice from the Health League of Canada is "Don't stop your efforts until the victim is breathing or until there is indisputable evidence that the victim is dead (i.e., rigor mortis has set in)."

In a discussion of methods of artificial respiration, Dr. R. W. I. Urquhart, medical director of the Hydro Electric Power Commission of Ontario, points out that there have been at least six different methods in vogue during the past hundred years; and all have saved lives — if applied soon enough and kept up long enough.

He adds that the Holger-Neilson method, which is currently reciving considerable attention in the United States, originated in the Scandinavian countries and has been used extensively in Europe for some 20 years. It is not news; and, in the opinion of Dr. Urquhart, it is not necessarily the best. . . The matter is up for discussion at the 18th International Red Cross Conference, now in progress at Toronto.

Watch That Match!

NOW THAT vacation-time is in full swing, hundreds of tourists are moving daily in and about the country's bushlands, lighting campfires, smoking cigarettes. This, together with dry and warm weather, will shove the forest-fire hazard up to the danger mark. Caution is necessary.

Forest rangers are on the alert in the wilds of Northern British Columbia, the forests of central and northern Ontario, and in the bush areas of this province. A little thought on the part of travellers would make their job easier. It also might save thousands of dollars worth of Canadian timber.

Carelessness with matches and cigarettes probably has caused as many forest fires as anything else. Forest protection officials frequently have condemned the habit of tossing cigarette butts from automobile and truck windows. This year, in Ontario, they're warning that all vehicles should have ash-trays and that these should be used.

Too often a smoker carelessly flicks hot ashes onto grass that is dry as tinder. Before pushing on, many a camper has neglected to cover his fire thoroughly with sand or with water from a nearby creek.

Forestry experts warn that in summer heat accumulations of pine and spruce needles and dried hardwood leaves on the forest floor become as inflammable as gunpowder. One vagrant spark can ignite the entire floor.

Another menace is the tidy cottage-owner who decides to clean up the place on his first week-end at the "shack". Cleaning-up may include making a bonfire of all the debris underneath the trees.

Thus many of Canada's forest-fires are "man-made". While bolts of lightning and sparks from passing trains undoubtedly are responsible for a fair percentage of the fires, man's carelessness probably is reason enough for the rest.

T'WAS GOOD while it lasted, like many other ingenious rackets. . . A Chicago Board of Health officer said some housewives may have been paying for as much as four pounds of ice in buying frozen turkeys and chickens. Inspectors checked 50,000 pounds of frozen poultry at a cold storage plant and found some turkeys and chickens had been pumped full of water before being frozen and sold.

SAYS one of our trade exchanges: If you get up earlier in the morning than your competitor, work harder, scheme more, and stay up later planning how to get ahead of him while he's snoozing, and cut out holidays, not only will you leave more money when you die than he will — but you'll leave it a lot sooner.

Road Engineering

ELECTIONS and roads are something of a synonym in this province, and it is not unnatural that the latter should command more than passing interest at this time.

The nation's 164-million dollar question, why roads become potholed, heaved and broken up, will soon get a thorough examination. The examiners will be a group of highway experts named by the Canadian Good Roads Association. Their job will be to find out how much punishment roads can take and how good road surfaces must be to carry present-day traffic.

The Association has been invited to participate in a test being conducted in the United States by the Highway Research Board, the the federal and state governments and industry. A specially-constructed bituminous road in Idaho will be subjected to a constant pounding by day and night of a fleet of giant trucks of varying weights up to 40,000 lbs. The result will be analyzed and from them will come answers to some of the nation's controversial questions on road wear.

The Good Roads Association group — whose findings, in the ultimate, may affect both you and me — will watch the construction of the Idaho road, the actual testing by truck, and will analyze the final results in terms of what they mean to Canada. The test will lack, however, what seems to be the major bugbear of road surfaces in this country — the havoc of winter frost and spring thaws. If this condition could be duplicated in the Idaho experiment, we might be more optimistic of results.

Views on U.S. Politics

HAVE Canadians anything to learn from the American system of choosing their presidential candidates? To a man, Canadians prefer our system of naming candidates for the office of Prime Minister over the U.S. method of choosing presidential candidates — according to those questioned on this subject by The Financial Post.

But that doesn't mean Canadians have nothing to learn from the U.S. political sideshow: we should be on guard against "cheap promotional ballyhoo" creeping into our own system, says one respondent.

Disadvantages Canadians see in the U.S. system are: that the size of the show, rather than personal ability, can set the standard; unnecessary animosities created within the parties; preliminary stumping tends to weaken ultimate election chances; political chicanery is made easier, as is powerful political machinery that reaches into all levels of government.

At the same time, it's pointed out, Canadians shouldn't get the idea that their own system has no weaknesses; we are open to "back-room choices" for one thing.

One big advantage seen in the American system is that the ballyhoo serves well to work up public interest in their own affairs.

Explanation Please

HON. Paul Martin should either explain or repudiate the statement he is said to have made, that "a social security program must be so arranged as to never encourage retrenchment" — says an exchange, "The Rural Scene".

This is another way of saying that, "a social security program must be so arranged that the need for it will never decrease."

If this is what our welfare program is leading us into, we are grateful to the Minister of Welfare for confessing the fact.

Canadians are a charitable and kindly people but we don't think they will consent to be muzzled while they tread out that kind of corn.

THE AVERAGE Canadian does not know enough about the United States to understand the problems of the people of our neighboring nation. The average American knows less about Canada than the average Canadian knows about the United States. Another 100 years will be required before real understanding can be implemented — observes the Elmwood (Man.) Herald.

Churchill Called 'Voice of Britain's Conscience'

"Winston Churchill will be devotedly remembered as one of the most exasperating figures in history. . The voice of Britain's conscience, the court of last appeal in time of danger, Churcill today remains impish, mischievous and remarkably boyish." So writes Robert Lewis Taylor, in a new book on the great Briton, condensed in The Reader's Digest for August.

Churchill's unorthodox attitudes, which have colored his personality, emerged in his early youth. When he was consigned to an expensive boarding school, his stand against education was incredibly fixed for one destined to become so great a scholar. He was, in fact, a favored guest in the headmaster's caning room. At the Military Academy of Sandhurst, however, his attitude switched abruptly and he came out eighth in a class of 150.

Churchill's first military assignment was with the Fourth Hussars, a cavalry regiment, and this one — like all that were to follow — alternately bored and satisfied him, depending if anything was going on. The best of his early service, from the respect of action, was in the Boer War. He was captured by the Boers, escaped, and after a series of adventures emerged as the leading hero of his decade.

His entry into politics was typically unorthodox. Dining one day with a friend of his father's, a Cabinet member, Churchill mentioned he was "considering politics".

"How long have you been thinking of it?" the minister inquired.

"Ever since I was so high", Churchill replied. Actually, the thought had just occurred to him. Next afternoon he strolled into the Conservative offices and announced he was available.

Churchill lost his first political campaign, in 1899, and told Runciman, the victor, that "I don't think the world has heard the last of either of us."

Despite his unorthodoxy—which in his career has earned him such varied honors (among a score of others) as a conservative statesman, liberal statesman, orator, wit, brandy drinker, soldier, artist and bricklayer, Churchill has been uniformly right before moments of British crisis. His one-man stand against the Fascists was perhaps his finest hour, Taylor believes.

He hasn't always been appreciated. When he lost his first election and unseated a fellow Conservative in the process, back in 1899, his party ascribed the defeat to his mishandling of things.

"Everybody threw the blame on me", Churchill wrote later. "I have since noticed that they nearly always do."

"THINGS AN' STUFF"

— By — WALTER HENRY JACKSON

Coat and Pants

I have a half-grown, long-haired kitten. I see him now from where I'm sittin' beneath a balsam tree. I am unable to explain what thoughts are in his feline brain, except more deviltry. He trips me up and tries to foul me — when he gets big he'll disembowel me with those sharp teeth and claws. He's always hungry, When in that mood he keeps me busy buying catfood for his rapacious jaws.

Despite his wicked ways I love him, but off my bed each night I shove him, so I can get some rest. While dozing off I hear him stirring — chewing my ear and loudly purring with vigor and with zest. In anger and despair I swat him and vainly spank his little bottom, but soon he's back again. Though panting from his mad exertion, he's cooking up some brand-new version of ways to cause me pain.

At last he sleeps. But in the morning he lies across my neck at dawning and gives me every chance to feel his coat so soft and silky, so clean and Rinso white and milky, and listen to his pants.

He romps all day midst hay and clover, then knocks a pile of dishes over and nearly wrecks the house. Next minute he'll be soundly sleeping, then up again and softly creeping as quiet as a mouse.

Altho' my hands are chewed and bitten I dearly love this precious kitten, who soon will be a cat. Next winter on my lap he'll snuggle, sedate and staid, without a struggle, to dream of this and that.

Be seein' ya!

— Uncle Walt.

More than four of ten Canadians have voluntary health protection: 5.1 million are insured against hospital expenses; 3.4 million against surgical expenses; 2.4 million against general medical expenses; 870,000 against temporary disability.

Recent surveys show that only 11.8% of radio listening in Canada is to CBC produced programs.

IN MEMORIAM

BENNETT — In loving memory of our dear son, Borden (Black Watch R.H.R. of Canada), who was killed in action at Caen, France, July 25, 1944. — Always remembered by Father and Mother.

"Greater love hath no man than this, That a man lay down his life for his friends."

BENNETT — In proud and loving memory of our dear brother, Borden, who gave his life in the Battle of Caen, July 25, 1944. His memory is always with us. — Mildred and John.

"Somewhere back of the sunset
Where loveliness never dies,
He lies in the land of glory
Midst the blue and gold of the skies:
And we who dearly love him,
Whose passing brought many tears,
Will cherish his memory always
To brighten the passing years."

HUMBLE HONORED

London (CP) — Among the recipients of Queen Elizabeth II's birthday honors were many little known persons as well as those with famous names. One of them was 74-year-old Mrs. Elsie Cassie, fishworker from Aberdeenshire, Scotland, who received the British Empire Medal for many years' work in the important industry. Mrs. Cassie has helped prepare fish for export since she was 14.

RECALLS EXCITING STAMPEDE STUNTS OF PIONEER DAYS

Modern Attractions at Calgary's Big Show Must Be Mild Compared With Thrills of Yesteryear

Calgary (CP) — The Calgary Stampede this year provided its share of thrills and excitement but it was a far cry from the days when people landed planes on merry-go-rounds or bulldogged the steers with their teeth.

But Stampede assistant manager W. L. Ross of Calgary can remember when things like that actually happened, and even more.

Mr. Ross recalls the time when Slim Morehouse navigated a 36-horse-mule wagon team described as the longest team in the world.

Morehouse had to have a voice as powerful as the set up, too, for when the team turned a corner, half the team was on one sttreet and the other half on another.

"Damndest looking outfit you ever saw", said Ross.

The Calgary Stampede once featured aviation events as main attractions. Included in the aggregation were stars like Miss Katherine Stinson, the "world's most famous girl aviator", fresh from flying in China and Japan.

Any Port In Storm

Aviation displays have been a thing of the past as far back as 1919, which was the year Capt. Fred R. McCall of Calgary, one of Canada's great fliers, landed his machine on top of the merry-go-round.

The plane developed engine trouble, tripped some telephone wires and landed smack on top of the ride.

Ross also remembers the 1922 winter carnival when a chinook melted all the snow on the ski jump and car loads of it had to be imported from Banff.

Ross's story collection dates back to 1912 when he worked at the first stampede as an usher. He was captain of the Calgary Tigers of 1911, when they won the western football title.

Mr. Ross has collected hundreds of posters from fair and exhibitions as far back as the 1908 dominion exhibition.

He says he never expects to see a fellow so quick as the Spaniard who appeared to bulldog steers with his teeth.

He actually flipped them by the horns, of course, but at the same time he grabbed the animal's nose with his teeth, raised his arms, shook his head and gave the illusion he brought down an 800-pound animal with his teeth.

WHERE HELP IS NEEDED

Medical science has been trying for many years to discover the true nature of poliomyelitis. So far, its efforts have met with partial success. New facts are constantly being added to the store of knowledge, but it may be many years before enough facts are known to enable the researchers to find a cure for the disease, or better still, a means of preventing the crippling paralysis that usually accompanies it.

Meanwhile periodic epidemics leave behind their toll of crippled limbs, blighted hopes and shaken morale.

Most people who are stricken by polio need help. Provincial and municipal government assistance ends when the patient leaves the hospital, but almost all polio patients must spend many years learning to regain the use of their limbs so that they can resume a nearly normal life.

During these years of rehabilitation, they require leg braces, special boots, crutches, physiotherapy, hydrotherapy, occupational therapy, transportation to the treatment centres, and, in many cases, training or retraining for employment.

Only too often also, economic aid is needed by families while the stricken one's earning power is temporarily lost.

Fortunately there is an organization that devotes all its resources to helping polio sufferers and aiding polio research and education within the Province of Quebec.

Since it began its work in 1946, the Canadian Legion Quebec Chapter of the Canadian Foundation for Poliomyelitis has spent more than $130,000 within the province, aiding patients with post-polio treatment, helping them to meet their medical bills, and assisting in training them for employment.

Nearly half the total disbursed by the Legion, which obtains funds through the Canadian Legion March of Dimes, has been given for research at universities and hospitals and for fellowships for physiotherapy training.

The Canadian Legion March of Dimes hopes to raise $60,000 in its current campaign. Part of its plan for this year is to set aside $10,000 as the first step in a five year program to establish a Canadian Legion Memorial Children's Clinic as part of an existing hospital in Montreal.

The remaining $50,000 will be spent on a six point program of post-polio treatment, rehabilitation, research, education, equipment and grants-in-aid.

Because the Legion's polio fund helps all sufferers without discrimination or exceptions, it is worthy of everyone's support at all times, but more especially at this time, when its annual appeal is before the public.

FORMS OF GOVERNMENT

Socialism — You have two cows, you give one to your neighbor.

Communism — You have two cows, you give both to the government which gives you part of the milk.

Fascism — You have two cows, you keep both cows, and give the milk to the government, which lets you buy part of it back.

American New Deal — You have two cows, the government shoots one, buys the milk from the other and pours it down the sewer.

Nazism — You have two cows, the government shoots you and takes both cows and sells the milk.

MAN BITES

London, Ont. (CP) — A bartender was taken to Victoria Hospital here after he was bitten by a customer who had glared broodingly at him for some time while lowering drink after drink. "Man bites bartender . . . doing as well as can be expected", said the hospital.

Tribute to A Former Resident Retiring From Poultry Division

In recognition of 30 years outstanding service to poultry breeders in Ontario, E. C. McMurtrie, of Owen Sound, was honored at Guelph by three separate organizations in the industry with which he has been associated as field supervisor with the Poultry Division of the Canadian Livestock Branch.

A native of Montreal, Ewan McMurtrie is a brother of Mrs. Lemuel Whinfield, of Stonefield. He moved to Stonefield at an early age, on the death of his parents — he and his sister residing with their aunt, the late Miss Kate Cameron. They took an active part in the social life of the river-front community.

Mr. McMurtrie joined the Department of Agriculture in 1922. At Macdonald College he had specialized in poultry and had served the Department as an R.O.P. inspector in the Maritimes and Western Canada before moving to Ontario. Mr. McMurtrie has made his home in Owen Sound for the last 20 years.

Mr. McMurtrie retired in April as fieldman in charge of Flock Approval and Record of Performance policies in Ontario because of his health. He was identified with R.O.P. work in poultry breeding since its earliest years.

Mr. McMurtrie was honored at the annual dinner meeting of the Ontario R.O.P. Poultry Breeders' Association, also at the annual meeting of the Ontario Approved Hatcheries' Association, and by the employees of the Poultry Division of the Canadian Livestock Branch. He received valuable presentations in recognition of his services.

THE BULK TEA, raisins and crackers in the old-time grocery store have been superseded by sanitary packaged goods backed by the good name of their maker. The sliced, wrapped loaf of bread and the can of soup or fruit have eliminated hours of kitchen drudgery. Modern bathrooms, furnaces, and electric appliances, have swept away inefficient, laborious methods. The motor car has revolutionized our way of life.

Advertising has played a part in these advances, because advertising has made mass production possible, and mass production has brought the can of soup, the electric washer and the motor car within every family's reach.

This newspaper looks on its display and classified advertising as an important part of its service to the community.

Variety at Sunnyacres – Elections And Roads; A Touch of Philosophy

"SUNNYACRES SKETCHES"
By Margaret Cook

A friend and I were comparing notes today on our pet aversion, the type of person who, having looked scornfully upon our dearest possessions — such as the old pottery, the huge wooden bowl, the iron muffin molds in the shape of assorted fruits — and having assayed mentally the market price of Sunnyacres, then looks pityingly at us and demands, "But what do you DO all the time?" We manfully repress the instinct to put out our tongue at them and manage to murmur something about a rest. Nothing could be further from the truth, if rest is to be interpreted as a surcease from all toil and excitement. We do not do as much in a place like this as in a city home, but every effort is attended with more difficulties, the greatest chore being the collecting and transporting of water. As for excitement, there is always something different. In the city, pleasure is generally stereotyped; in the country anything may happen.

For instance, never in the city does one meet one's intimate friends emerging from a side street, carrying in a washtub milk, butter, fish and meat; but that is what happened to some friends of ours last week. We emerged from a field and were about to begin a half-mile walk, Betty on one side of the tub and the writer on the other, when, in answer to prayer, our young friends were halted on their side of the bog in the road and so put us happily (with the tub) on the back of a most peculiar vehicle, which transported us to Sunnyacres. Meanwhile, the man-of-the-house and the Buick went ten miles around Long Lake in order to reach Sunnyacres, a half-mile from the point where we separated. . .

But why the hole in the road? Because the road is being improved. And why is the road being repaired? Because, primarily, it sadly needs it and has done so for some 25 years; but, in the second place, we suspect it is because this is election year. Anyway, there was a hole, and squarely in it, a large yellow truck. The truck was there for three hours to our knowledge; later, the bulldozer, which should have been making roads, was employed in pulling cars through the morass. The comments were many and salty, but, to our mind, the most comic aspect of the affair was the pictured face of one of the local election candidates looking down upon the scene. The poster, of course, bore the usual slogan and advice about how to vote. A scriptural text arose to our mind — "Prepare ye the way of the Lord; make His paths straight".

In all fairness to the powers that make roads hereabouts, there has been more effort to improve road conditions in the last three years than in the whole 30 of our previous acquaintance with this district. But everyone with whom we have talked has mentioned, with mirth, the quadrennial preoccupation with road work that seems to be the inevitable accompaniment of an election year. God bless elections, say we!

But the elections are over and while the roadmakers "silently steal away", the housewife returns to her preoccupation with the various fruits which will fill the cellar against the winter's inclemency. We have just made gooseberry jam, which only black currant surpasses in flavor and goodness. The red currants are ripening in the sun outside the porch where we are typing; but the black currants are no good here at Sunnyacres, and the raspberries are undependable, some bushes full, others barren, like the blueberries. Speaking of blueberries, pies sweetened with brown sugar surpass the ones with the ordinary white sugar, and maple sugar has an affinity of taste with gooseberries. We found that out during the war and the consequent shortage of sugar.

In the realm of pleasure, the swimming is delightful, although somewhat marred for small children by the disappearance of the beach on Long Lake due to the torrential rains of recent date. Betty has discovered the retreat of a family of partridges near the house, and we have both seen the tracks of some large beast, presumably a bear. Let the sceptical reader not snort; a bear was shot in this neighborhood two years ago, and evidence on the path to the well was identified last fall as belonging to a bear. The squirrels are about, though seldom seen. This morning one of them banged with a hard object on the porch roof just above our heads, but it was seven o'clock and we forgave him; immediately after, a woodpecker fiercely attacked the tin plating at the top of the flagpole. Since there is no nourishment in tin, this must be pure exhibitionism. Peter, the grey Persian, also likes to run on the roof, which he reaches by climbing the apple tree and then jumping, landing with a thud. This annoys the man-of-the-house, since Peter favors the early morning hours, but Betty and the writer merely murmur, "Dear Peter", and return to sleep. As you suspect, the cat is badly spoiled. One of our friends once said tartly that we had made a good job of the child but had failed with the cat. It is a nice question if one can fail what one does not attempt. The writer feels that everyone needs to spoil something, so, better the pet, whose life is presumably bounded by terrestial time, than the child whose home is the universe.

We seem, somehow, to have arrived at metaphysics and immortality — in connection with which we have to report the finding of a private cemetery near Long Lake. The writer has not had time to investigate this story, but rumor, in the shape of a young friend, avers that the bulldozer (aforementioned) turned up several skeletons. "One skull had hair on it", says Marjorie with relish, thereby upsetting the sensibilities of her hostess eating her dinner. Queer, that love of the bizarre and gory displayed by all young things! We can remember our own juvenile preference for Old Testament stories as opposed to the gentler tales of the New — a pattern faithfully repeated by our daughter. And now we are at theology, perhaps some reader will instruct us how to answer the questions of an 11-year-old about original sin, and the more direct one, "Are you saved, Mummy?". As a good Anglican we know the answers, but not how to capsule them into five or ten minutes and in a form intelligible to the developing intellect. But we do try to answer. If the child does not get answers at home, he seeks them abroad. . . Right now, the question is, "When is supper?" (Thank goodness the question is not "WHAT is supper?" We made bread this morning.). . .

"But my dear, what do you DO?" We seem to be back where we came in!

Oldest French-Language University on Continent To Celebrate Centennial

Observance at Laval
September 19-22

Quebec — Major events of Laval University's Centennial Year, set for September 19 to 22, will be attended by 381 delegates from 33 different countries. Georges Maheux, director-general of the celebrations of the oldest French-language university on the American Continent, added that the number might reach 500, when all replies to invitations are received.

UNESCO will be represented by Dr. Guillermo Frandovich, of Havana, director of its western hemisphere bureau. Foreign Minister Robert Schuman is expected to head the French delegation, while the delegation from France's universities will be led by Dr. Léon Binet, dean of Medicine at the University of Paris. In all, 173 universities and colleges will be represented, from various parts of the world, and 62 learned and scientific societies.

The international gathering will include statesmen, scholars, teachers, clergy, soldiers, and professional and business men. To date 261 civilians and soldiers and 120 members of the clergy are registered.

Among the national groups to be represented are — Canada, U.S.A., France, Belgium, the Vatican, Italy, Great Britain, Spain, Asia, Africa, Australia, Eire and Latin America.

Have You A Question
ON UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE OR EMPLOYMENT?

In this column we publish questions about unemployment insurance and employment, together with answers received from the Unemployment Insurance Commission.

If you are uncertain about any point do not hesitate to send your question to your district Unemployment Insurance office. We will obtain an answer and publish it in this column.

Following are some questions with answers which may be of interest to you: —

Q. What should one do when he is a claimant and then gets a job and starts to work?

A. Inform the local office that you have obtained work and of the date you started working. A postcard is provided for this purpose, attached to the booklet issued to claimants when they report at the local office. The local office will see that you receive the balance of any benefit due to you up to the last day of unemployment.

Q. I work in a hotel, earning $20.00 a week, board and room included. What class of stamp should I get in my insurance book?

A. A weekly rate of $6.00 has been fixed by regulations of the Commission as the valuation for room and board, except where a higher rate has been fixed by agreement between employer and employee. The total weekly remuneration is therefore valued at $26.00 in the present case and a 72c weekly stamp is required, 36c being payable by the employer and 36c being payable by the employee.

Q. My husband writes very badly. Can I write on his behalf and complete the forms which are sent to him by the unemployment insurance office?

A. Yes. Your husband should sign the forms.

"My wife's a wonder", bragged one man to another. "One winter she knitted me socks out of an old bathing suit, and now she's knitting a bathing suit for herself out of one of my old socks."

— The Reader's Digest.

POP'S DUTY

Strathmore, Alta. (CP) — George Freeman, project manager for Ducks Unlimited, says drakes of both pintail and mallard ducks are taking their fatherly duties seriously this year. In a good 50 per cent of the broods, the male was as energetic as the female in caring for the young.

Tossed Salads

"Sallett" is an old name for salad, a favorite dish hundreds of years ago. It is said that Roman Emperors were served dressed lettuce on plates of gold, with radishes sliced so thin that the gold gleamed through. The French and Spanish borrowed the custom of mixing greens with oil and herbs from the early Greeks and Italians and they, in turn, brought salads to America. Today, such salads are still favorites and quite often they are tossed or mixed right at the table.

It has been said that the aesthetic chef pours his heart and soul into a salad. Perhaps this is why it. A cautious, methodical personality of the person that makes it. A cautious, metthodical person will follow the recipe to the letter, but one with an adventurous spirit will experiment with everything and anything on hand. Some prefer to use simple, familiar ingredients, while others use an exotic mixture of herbs and spices.

There are two schools of thought in regard to the preparation of tossed salads. One claims only greens should be used, the other that practically any combination of vegetables is permissible. It is preferable that the vegetables should be raw, but cooked, canned or frozen ones may be combined with the fresh. Those who prefer only greens sometimes add onion or pepper rings and thin slices of raddish or cucumber for extra flavor.

Greens are the basis of any tossed salad. Use only fresh, crisp greens kept cold, clean and dry. As soon as they are brought into the kitchen, remove the outside damaged leaves and store in a tightly covered vegetable crisper or plastic bag in the refrigerator or other cold place. Wash the greens as they are needed; be sure to dry them thoroughly, for wet greens dilute the dressing and give the salad a watery taste and soggy appearance.

Several types of greens can be combined for delicate flavor and color contrast. Lettuce, both head and leaf, is probably the most common green. The fresh "peppery" flavor of watercress lends character to a salad, and curly endives give a different appearance and texture. Red, green or Chinese cabbage, spinach, Swiss chard, parsley, celery and nasturtium leaves are other greens that can go into the tossed salad bowl.

The home economists of the Consumer Section, Canada Department of Agriculture in Ottawa, point out that the rules for preparing salads are few and simple, but they make all the difference in the world between a fresh crisp salad and a soggy one. First, tear, rather than cut, the greens into medium sized pieces. A salad which has large, straggly lettuce leaves is most difficult to eat. On the other hand, pieces that are too small lose their identity so it is best to choose a happy medium. Always combine a tossed salad lightly, using two forks, to keep the green fresh and crisp — never mix or stir them. Use only a small amount of dressing and serve the salad as soon as the dressing is added to keep it from getting soggy and wilted.

Add interest to tossed salads by using the right seasonings and accompaniments. From the French we get the idea of rubbing the bowl with garlic although some prefer to add the garlic to the dressing. For those who do not like garlic, onion or onion juice can be used instead. Add other seasonings, like curry powder, cloves, nutmeg, horseradish, Tobasco or Worcestershire sauce to the dressing for extra flavor. Roquefort-type cheese or small pieces of bacon sprinkled over a tossed salad add that special "something". Another trick is to add salad croutons. To make them, add two garlic cloves to one-quarter cup of oil and let stand two or three hours until the oil is well flavored. Then marinate tiny bread cubes about three-eighths of an inch in size in the oil and place them on a cookie sheet. Toast them for about five minutes under the broiler, turning frequently.

If the salad is to be an appetizer at the beginning of a meal, bread sticks, cheese fingers or tiny crackers are good to serve as accompaniments. So are thin, crusty baking powder biscuits. When the salad is the main course, regular dinner rolls — the hard crusty kind — are delicious with it. The types of bread that can be used with salads are limitless. Dainty sandwiches are also often combined with the main dish salad. The spread or filling should be tasty and should harmonize in flavor with the salad it accompanies. Assorted pickles, olives or potato chips are also good with many salads.

Plan to serve one salad every day during Canadian Salad Week, from August 1st to 9th, either with the main course or as a whole meal in itself. This, of course, does not mean that salad-eating should be confined to only one week, but it should encourage you to form the salad habit all year 'round.

Looking Ahead to Assoc. Country Women's Triennial Conference

The 7th Triennial Conference of the Associated Country Women of the World is engaging the attention of Institute members in all provinces. This is to be held in Toronto, August 12-23, 1953, with the Federated Women's Institutes of Canada as hostess society.

All W.I. members in Canada are being assessed 20 cents each and in this province. Mrs. H. Ellard, Wright, Q.W.I. 2nd vice-president and Finance Officer for this district, is asking that this contribution be sent to the provincial treasurer, Mrs. George Parsons, Bury, not later than September this year. Mrs. Ellard has received a letter from Mrs. A. A. Shaw, Vancouver, national chairman of the Finance Committee, congratulating Quebec for setting this early deadline and expressing the hope that other provinces will follow this lead.

An approximate sum of $15,000 will be raised by this assessment and the fund is earmarked for general expenses connected with the conference. Entertainment of delegates on pre or post-conference tours in various parts of Canada will be the direct responsibility of the provinces concerned.

Vancouver's Juvenile Dope Addicts

Ottawa (CP) — A sordid story of corruption among teen-agers was unfolded in Vancouver with court testimony regarding juvenile dope addicts.

Patricia Findlay, a thin 18-year-old girl, the first of 16 persons charged in the city's juvenile drug traffic probe, was sent to prison for 18 months.

She admitted supplying drugs to a 17-year-old youth, who took 30 "fixes" during March when the pair stayed together in a downtown rooming house.

Meanwhile, R.C.M.P. moved closer into the probe with an announcement by Justice Minister Garson that the federal authorities will conduct the prosecution, hitherto handled by city authorities. About a dozen school children have been found to be dope addicts.

Dunany Woman Wins Third Prize in National Contest

Mrs. P. E. F. Wiele, of "Nanopa", Clear Lake, Dunany, is winner of the third prize in a recent nation-wide contest sponsored by Pyrofax Gas Company. Named 'Win-A-Kitchen' Contest, the prize is an automatic Magic Chef gas range. Announcement of the prize winner was made through T. McOuat & Son Ltd., Lachute Mills, the local distributor for "Pyrofax" bottled gas. Mrs. Wiele won her prize for completing the sentence, "I like using 'Pyrofax' gas because", and her entry was selected from many thousands submitted by "Pyrofax" gas customers throughout the United States and Canada.

Thirty-three other prizes were awarded — including a Lyon sink and cabinets, automatic Caloric and Magic Chef gas ranges, Bryant and Ruud water heaters, as well as a Whirlpool gas clothes dryer, an Incinor gas incinerator and a Magic Chef gas space-heater. Also given were 25 blankets made of Dynel, Union Carbide's new synthetic wonder fibre.

The contest, open only to users of "Pyrofax" bottled gas, was announced in the company's magazine "Modern Home News". Pyrofax Gas Company, sponsor of the contest, is a division of Union Carbide and Carbon Corporation. It is the pioneer of the bottled gas industry and has been serving customers for over 30 years.

The day after McWardlaw's wife presented him with offspring, the proud father was seen buying a baby bottle.

"Hoot, mon, that's scandalous extravagance", said a friend.

"No", sighed McWardlaw, "this time 'tis not — the woman's gone and had triplets."

The High Cost Of Eating

By Ida Bailey Allen

While the Chef and I were visiting Boston we were invited to luncheon at the Women's City Club. This progressive group recognizes the fact that the high cost of eating is a serious problem. So they invited me to present my solution at a unique luncheon.

The Chef and I gave our staged presentation an hour before the luncheon, and conducted a lively questionnaire on food costs and nutrition with the club members.

At the request of the committee, the menu was most unusual, for it was based on leftovers — to prove that food waste can be controlled, and that such a meal can even be glamorous. It was planned at a conference with the committee and myself, and carried out by the excellent club cooks. The addments, or so-called leftovers, might be found in anyone's refrigerator, no single one sufficient to make a family dish.

Leftover fruit and fruit juices were transformed into frosted fruit cup. Oddments of veal and ham were heated together in Creole sauce, and served on rice. Outer lettuce and chicory leaves, radishes with their tender tops and some leftover cooked black beans and chick peas were made into a tossed salad. The desert was lemon Bavarian pie, made with whipped dried skim milk instead of cream.

Did the club members enjoy this meal?

Here's the answer: They are discussing the possibility of sponsoring a series of demonstration cooking lectures for next season on the problem of solving the high cost of eating.

The following menu includes several of the dishes served at the Women's City Club luncheon.

Tomorrow's Dinner

Grapefruit Cup
Ham and Veal Creole or
Tuna Creole on Rice
Tossed Legume Salad
Lemon Ambrosia Pie
Hot or Iced Coffee or Tea, Milk

Ham and Veal Creole

Combine approximately 1 cup diced oddments ham and 1 cup diced oddments of veal with one recipe Creole sauce. Heat at least 10 minutes, preferably in a double boiler. If desired, ½ cup drained canned peas, or string beans, or cooked mixed vegetables may be added.

Quick Creole Sauce: Melt 1 tablespoon butter or margarine in a saucepan. Add 1 thin-sliced peeled onion. 1 crushed peeled section garlic, ½ diced seeded green pepper, ¼ cup minced celery (optional), 1 small bay leaf and 1 tablespoon water. Simmer five minutes, or until the water evaporates and the vegetables begin to cook. Then add 1½ (8 oz.) cans tomato sauce. When hot, remove the bay leaf. Stir in 4 sliced olives (optional).

Tossed Legume Salad

Prepare 1 quart shredded, crisp mixed salad greens, including lettuce, cabbage, sliced radishes and the tender tops, and romaine or chicory. Add 1 cup chilled cooked red kidney beans, or use lentils or chick peas. Toss with curried French dressing.

Lemon Ambrosia Pie

Prepare 1 baked nine-inch pie shell. While baking, make the filling. To do this. Combine 1 envelope unflavored gelatin with ½ cups cold water; let stand five minutes. Then add 7/8 cup boiling water and stir until dissolved. Add the grated rind of ½ lemon and 3 tablespoons lemon juice. Stir in ¾ cup granulated sugar and ⅛ teaspoon salt. Chill until the consistency of unbeaten egg whites. Then whip enough dried skim milk to make 1½ cups (see below). Fold into the gelatin mixture. Spoon into the piecrust shell. Chill until firm, about four hours. Just before serving top with orange sections and dust with shredded coconut or grated fresh coconut.

Whipped Dried Skim Milk (Unsweetened): Measure ⅓ cup lukewarm water in a small deep bowl. Add 1 tablespoon lemon juice and ⅓ cup dried skim milk. Whip steadily with a rotary or electric beater until stiff.

No salad should have a tired, limp look. Use crisp greens and do not drown the salad with dressing.

A Visit to the Country

— By NANCY CLEAVER — (Copyright)

Vacation time comes and parents plan holidays for their children to summer camps, to relatives, to cities and towns and far away places. Often they forget that one of the most fascinating spots in the world for a child is a farm.

Even half a day on the farm is a highlight for a city child, especially if he can watch the men at work in the fields haying or harvesting. If parents make arrangements with a farm home ahead of time where they have friends, and pack up a picnic supper, this kind of an observation trip should not be any trouble to the busy farmer's wife. But an adult or teen-ager should stay on deck and keep an eye all the time on Junior! He can very quickly make himself a nuisance, and endanger not only equipment, but his own life and limbs, through his ignorance of farm ways and farm animals.

Life on a farm is so different from the ordinary events of the day of a town child. A boy who had the choice of going to a senior boy's camp or helping on a farm, said enthusiastically, "The farm's the place for me! There's so much to see — and real work to do every day!"

Now I know that farmers are busy folk, up early and to bed late, in the summer season when the days are long and there is so much to do. I also realize that city and town people sometimes have been both thoughtless and selfish in imposing on the hospitality of their country relatives, particularly on week-end visits. I certainly am not suggesting that plan, nor am I urging parents to look around and do their best to leave their child with some farmer for a visit!

"Quid pro quo", which might roughly be translated: "you get something out of this and so do I" should be applied to any scheme for a child visiting in the country. In many cases, a country cousin can pay a return visit to the town or city home. Then the country child has all the fun of a new adventure too.

In other situations a farmer's wife is willing to accept payment or a generous gift for the responsibility of looking after an active youngster, as well as his board. Certainly any self-respecting parents will want to express their appreciation in some tangible form to the farm folk who have been kind enough to open their doors to their boy or girl. The schedule of medium-priced camp rates is a sort of standard for parents to figure out what is a fair amount to give in return for their child's care.

Some city children have pets, but in a large city where many families live in apartments there is little or no room for a cat or dog, and the owner of the building may have a ban on all animals. Owning and caring for a pet of his own, or several pets, is one of the greatest advantages of a country child has over a city youngster. A visit in the country opens the eyes of city children to all the fun farm children can have raising and caring for their own animals.

Such visits take place easily and naturally when relatives live in both city and the country. But what of the child with no cousins his age in other places? A plan like this might be sponsored by an urban and a rural Home and School organization, or by two Woman's Associations in a city and a country church.

To live away from home a short time in a distinctly different environment is a fine experience for any child. It forms an invaluable part in encouraging independence and initiative in the growing-up process from childhood to maturity. New comprehension of another person's way of life is fostered. The interesting thing is that such a visit also deepens a child's appreciation of his own surroundings. Both the city and the farm youngster enjoy the welcome back to their own folks and they both agree: "There's no place like home!"

Is Hell Fire A Bible Truth or A Pagan Scare ?

Centuries before Christianity was ever preached on earth, Buddhist priests in remote India were teaching hell-fire and eternal torture. In the Harvard Classics (vol. 45, pp. 701-704) you will find an English translation of the sacred writings of Buddha (called Anguttara-Nikaya) which gives a vivid description of this fiery place of torture, complete with all the trimmings. The ancient Hindus and the early Chaldeans also believed the hell-fire doctrine.

Egyptian priests of the first world power taught the torment-after-death theory sixteen centuries before the birth of Jesus. According to their papyrus scrolls, now deposited in the British Museum, daily spell-binding prayers were said for the dead, to protect them from the "underworld" devils. One finds similar torture doctrines also taught by the ancient Babylonians, Persians, and Phoenicians.

The doctrine of a burning hell where the wicked are tormented eternally after death cannot be true, mainly for four reasons: (1) Because it is wholly unscriptural. (2) Because it is unreasonable. (3) Because it is contrary to God's love. (4) Because it is repugnant to justice. . . The Bible clearly teaches, that hell or sheol or hades means the grave, the tomb, the condition where all good and bad go, awaiting the day of resurrection.

No Suffering After Death. — If persons suffer after death, they must be alive, but the Bible says that when a man dies, "his breath goeth forth, he returneth to his earth; in that very day his thoughts perish." Hence, "the dead know not anything", and "there is no work, nor device, nor knowledge, nor wisdom, in Sheol, wither thou goest". "In death there is no remembrance of thee: inSheol who shall give thee thanks?" — Psalm 6:5; 146:4; Ecclesiastes 9:5, 10.

On page 68 in the bound book, "Let God be True", you will find a complete study of this subject. It can be had for 50 cents from the Watch Tower, 40 Irwin Ave., Toronto 5. You can also help to dispel these misconceptions surrounding this subject by sending for 250 copies of the tract "Hell-Fire", for 25 cents. . . . Let's give praise to Jehovah and his son, Christ Jesus.

Watch For The "Sunday Driver"

Mark the "Sunday driver" well, and beware him.

This type of driver is a scenery gazer. He is usually looking everywhere but through the windshield and the rear vision mirror. He wanders from one side of the road to another and maintains an incredible lack of awareness of the movement of traffic around him. He is busy admiring the scenery and explaining the delights of the countryside to his passengers.

In fact, he is concentrating on just about everything except the trivial matter of driving his car. He thinks he is safe because he is usually a slow driver. But in fact he is much more of a menace than is the faster driver who is paying close attention to his own car and to traffic around him. The Sunday driver is dangerous because he is unpredictable.

AMONG THE CHURCHES

Lawn Social at East Settlement

A successful lawn social was held under auspices of the East Settlement Sunday School last Thursday evening, July 17, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. Erskine Rodger.

The Rev. W. B. Rosborough acted as chairman, and some 350 people attended to help make this annual event the largest yet held. The weather was also favorable, contributing to a very enjoyable occasion.

Those who took part in the program were heartily applauded, and the East Settlement people are grateful, both to those who helped with the program and to all who assisted in any way.

Appeal for Donations To Bible Society

Never before have so many in the world been able to read, and never before have so many wanted to read the Bible. What is to hinder them? Lack of resources on the part of the Bible Society, due to the fact that too many Christians have not heard the call, "Go ye into all the world and preach the Gospel to every creature.". . .

If you cannot go, won't you help send the Written Word, by giving to the Montreal Auxiliary British and Foreign Bible Society? Collectors will call at your home some time during the summer.

Canada Population Now Over 14 Million

Ottawa (CP) — Canada's population increased an estimated 421,000 in the year ended June 1, bringing the total to 14,430,000.

If the rate of increase could be maintained — indications are that it won't be — Canada's population would hit the 15,000,000-mark by late 1953.

The estimate of the increase in population was made by the Bureau of Statistics. It took the population total of 14,009,426 recorded June 1, 1951, in the decennial census. It added births and immigration and subtracted deaths and an estimate of emigration.

The increase of 421,000 compared with a gain of 297,000 in the previous 12 months, of 265,000 between June 1, 1949, and June 1, 1950, and of 279,000 between June 1, 1948 and 1949. The 1949 figure did not include the 345,000 population gained by Newfoundland's entry into confederation.

High Level of Births

The bureau said that the increase this year was due to a high level of births and the arival of 216,000 immigrants between June 1, 1951, and the corresponding date this year.

All provinces shared in the population increase. Largest increase was 168,000 for Ontario followed by 118,000 for Quebec, 33,000 for British Columbia, 31,000 for Alberta, 22,000 for Manitoba, 13,000 for Newfoundland and 111 for Saskatchewan.

Nova Scotia and New Brunswick each gained 10,000 and Prince Edward Island 5,000.

A decrease in the number of immigrants this year is expected to slow the rate of increase. Hon. Walter Harris, Immigration Minister, has said that immigration will be limited by employment opportunities. Immigrants will be discouraged from coming to Canada unless work is available.

Population estimates for the provinces, with 1951 figures in brackets:

Newfoundland 374,000 (361,000); Prince Edward Island 103,000 (98,000); Nova Scotia 653,000 (643,000); Quebec 4,174,000 (4,056,000); Ontario 4,766,000 (4,598,000); Manitoba 798,000 (766,000); Saskachewan 843,000 (832,000); Alberta 970,000 (939,000); British Columbia 1,198,000 (1,165,000).

Recitals Given By Piano Pupils

With Instrumental and Vocal Numbers

Pupils of Miss Juliette Rodrigue gave two piano recitals recently in the Lachute High School music room, to mark the close of their tuition season. Parents and teachers of the school staff attended, and Mr. Shirley McKyes was chairman.

Piano solos and duets were very creditably played by junior and senior pupils. The selections included works of Bach, Mozart, Beethoven, Chopin and Debussy.

Adding variety and interest to these programs were a number of vocal and clarinet selections.

W. Inst. Bazaar Held at Arundel

Arundel — On Friday evening the Women's Institute held their annual bazaar in the school auditorium, where a large attendance rewarded their efforts. The different booths were decorated with the Institute colors, royal blue and gold, and made a cheerful scene. The stage was decorated with baskets of blue delphiniums, tiger lilies and ferns, and made a pleasing setting for the program.

A highlight of the evening was the visit of the newly-elected representative for Argenteuil County, Mr. W. M. Cottingham, who was introduced from the platform by the president, Mrs. Percy Staniforth. Mr. Cottingham replied, thanking the Institute for inviting him to open the bazaar, and spoke of the good work this group is doing in helping the school of the community; he wished them all success in the evening's effort.

During the evening a short but entertaining program was held under convenership of Mrs. Gordon Cooke and Mrs. Frank Davis. Costume dancing, by the two daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Chris Pope, was much enjoyed. Mr. Edgar Davis sang two songs. Mr. Robert Allan burlesqued "I Belong to Glasgow", and Mrs. Walter McMahon sang "The Old Lamplighter". Singing and dancing of July Cooke and Jeannine Ward was much appreciated and the playing of "Au Clair de Lune", by Francis Kitta, brought a well-rounded program to a close. Mrs. Leslie Cooke and Mrs. Melvin Graham were accompanists.

The president welcomed the attending audience and thanked them on the Institute's behalf for their loyal support in this yearly effort. During the evening a doll was raffled, and won by Miss Judy Cooke; an old-fashioned patchwork quilt was won by Mr. Roy Staniforth, and a patchwork fan quilt by Mrs. Buchan.

Financial results of the night's entertainment fully repaid the members for the work involved, and the proceeds will help to carry on the W.I. community projects.

Thanks to Electors

The loyalty and sincerity of the Electors of Argenteuil is not soon to be forgotten. Your magnificent vote of thanks and confidence is highly appreciated.

Let us all continue to work together for the progress, the improvement, and the reputation of Argenteuil County.

I wish to publicly thank all the loyal and sincere supporters who have made this such a decisive victory, and I will look forward to meeting you soon, as I visit the County as in the past.

To the thousands who visited me at my farm on the night of the victory, Mrs. Cottingham joins me in thanking you all for the courteous and friendly way in which this gathering was conducted.

Is 20 years a long time?

A

It depends on your age.

A man of forty can look forward to many interesting years and in 20 years can build up, within his present means, an income to help him enjoy his later years. At the same time he can provide for the welfare of his family should the unexpected happen to him. # Tom Gard's Note Book

A few days ago I came across what might be called the Wonder House. This had been erected by an enterprising young man who carefully collected slats from packing boxes, cutting them to uniform lengths and storing away for future use. In course of time, he drew the plans for a humble cottage, then built it in sections and assembled the various units. The roof was made of used lumber from the local wreckers. The house was finally covered with insulated siding, and the roof covered with imitation shingles. His objective is to take it down and again assemble it as a summer cottage. I could not help but exclaim "more power to his elbow".

DRAIN BOARDS ARE HANDY

Entering one of the small homes constructed during the war years, I came across another item of interest. Space was at a premium, and many items had been left out of the general plan, including a drain board. The good lady of the house had complained on many occasions, especially when looking for a place to put clothing when run through the ringer. The matter was finally settled to her satisfaction by her husband. Collecting discarded pieces of boxes he built a board, supporting it against the wall with an upright piece of one-inch pine. A cleat against the wall gave added support. His intention is to rebuild with B.C. Fir Plywood. Masonite is also excellent for such purposes. Quarter inch moulding finished off the edges to prevent water leaking to the floor.

UTILITY TABLE

When visiting towns where sawmills are located it is always good policy to watch out for the local craftsman. One I met last summer was a worker from the shipyard. He had used pieces of 2" x 6" pine planks to make an exceptionally good coffee or utility table. Sanding down the edges gave good close joints on the top, and when painted these were hardly discernable. The legs and supports were constructed of the same material. I was more than interested to find two other articles made by the same hands, a table lamp of 2" x 4" scantling, and a flower pot which turned out to be a grapefruit juice tin, nicely painted to match the drapes and carpet.

OUTDOOR TABLES

When we think of outdoor tables we naturally have to think of rain and inclement weather. I was impressed by a touch of hospitality over the border when, passing a fine garden, I noticed a sign on the gate: "Enter here all those who love a little beauty" — and so I entered. In a shady nook I noticed a picnic table, and later learned it was made by the local plumber as a gift to a local service club. This man had constructed most of the table by using old water piping, joints and cape which had been discarded. It was painted in pearl gray and could easily grace garden, park or roadside. Seats and top were made of planks, but two by fours could be used instead. Asking if it might be copied the builder replied "Well copying is the sincerest type of flattery". So, here it is for you.

Two Triumphs, One Defeat for Local Tigers

Tigers beat the circuit-leading St. Eustache baseballers here last Sunday, in the Laurentide double-feature program, 11-1. Among spectators encouraging the visiting team was the deputy-elect for County of Deux Montagnes, the Hon. Jean-Paul Sauvé.

In the second encounter that day, at St. Eustache, the Tigers took a 5-3 defeat. Almost one-third of the fans witnessing this game were supporters from Lachute.

The previous evening, Saturday, the locals playing at the Lachute Staduim, defeated Lachine to the tune of 5-4 in a spectacular climax.

This evening (Thursday) Joliette — with numerous recent victories to their credit — will visit Lachute, intent on dislodging the locals from their now-leading position in the circuit. On Saturday and Sunday evenings next, Lachine will be visiting the local Tigers on the home stadium.

Ste. Therese Withdraws From Laurentide League

At a special meeting of the Laurentide Baseball League at St. Jerome on Monday evening, the Ste. Therese club withdrew as an active participant in the League.

Handicapped with no floodlights, the team management lacks the facilities for evening games, to attract the crowd and to defray expenses in the sponsorship of this club. The players have accordingly been assigned by the League directorate to weaker teams.

The change has necessitated a revision in the schedule, in consequence of which Lachute's engagements with Ste. Therese this Sunday have been replaced by two games with Lachine.

Schedule Advances In Argenteuil Softball League

Keen contest is being maintained for play-off positions for the Boyd Trophy in the Argenteuil Softball League. Last Sunday Lowe Bros. were defeated by Colford Lodge, 4-6, while the Carillon squad scored an easy victory of 14-6 against Lachute Lions.

Carillon holds a substantial lead among the teams, but the battle is strong among the other clubs for priority positions.

The Boyd Trophy will be presented to the winners at a gala affair in St. Andrews Inn, on conclusion of the season.

Ladies' Tourney At Golf Club

Mrs. J. C. E. Collette of the Seigniory Club won the ladies' golf tournament here last Thursday with a low gross of 85. Mrs. J. Simpson of Wentworth won the low net with a 78.

Other prize winners for low net were Miss J. Gossage, of Meadowbrook and Mrs. R. Lyle of Montreal with 81's. In the handicap of 15 and up, net prizes went to Mrs. F. Williams, Wentworth, Mrs. V. Hanson, Mount Royal, and Mrs. L. Tedford, Wentworth, and Mrs. J. Allen, La Salle.

NEW SEAFLEA RACER MAY DO 75 M.P.H.

Montreal (CP) — A Polish naval architect has built a new seaflea racer which he claims has a 20-per-cent increase in efficiency over other craft of its type, and plans to test it here soon.

Joe Stypinski, who was in charge of designing the sub-chaser Fairmile, widely used by Canada and England in the Second World War, says he expects the plywood-canvas racer to do 75 miles an hour, with a 22 horsepower outboard motor.

He says the 97-pound racer, which he designed in England, incorporates several features which will give it extra speed.

Mr. Stypinski, a graduate of the University of Warsaw and a member of the Institute of Naval Architects, now is employed by an aircraft company here.

In a resort night spot, we watched a group of college boys, each trying to pick up a pert, shapely blonde. She was playing the field, keeping them impartially as bay.

During an intermission the orchestra leader announced: "Will the owner of the yellow Cadillac convertible please move his car, as it is blocking the driveway."

We looked to see who the owner was. One of the boys detached himself from the group and strolled out the door with dignity. A few minutes after his return the girl was seated at a table with him, giving him her undivided attention.

We happened to leave at the same time they did, and saw them climb gaily into the yellow car — a much-decorated, ancient Model-A Ford roadster.

Colorful Spectacle, Helsinki Opening Of Olympic Games

By Joseph MacSween,
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The 15th Modern Olympic Games opened at Helsinki Saturday with matchless color despite a drenching rainstorm. They are the biggest in history and include for the first time athletes from Soviet Russia.

"We are glad to have the Olympics in Finland, a country where the East and West can meet without trouble", said Erik Von Frenckell, head of the Finnish Games organizing committee.

President Juho K. Paasikivi of Finland opened the games at the modernistic Olympic Stadium before 5,870 massed athletes from 70 countries and 70,000 spectators.

Bill Parnell of Vancouver, a runner, carried the Canadian flag in the parade of athletes. He was followed by Canadian officials and then the team, wearing natty blue uniforms.

As the Olympic Hymn finished, 3,500 pigeons whooshed into the sky to the roar of the crowd. Outside the stadium a 21-gun salute was fired.

The honor of carrying the sacred fire on its last lap from Mt. Olympus in Greece into the stadium was given to Paavo Nurmi, the famous Flying Finn of the 1920s.

It was Soviet Russia's first appearance in the Games and the Soviet Union put one of the biggest teams into the competition. Russia, the United States and Finland all entered about 400 athletes.

There was an odd diversion at the opening ceremonies when a beautiful girl in a flowing white robe ran around the track and then tried to harangue the crowd before she was hauled away.

Finnish Police said the tall, blond, blue-eyed girl was from West Germany but they did not identify her further immediately.

"She just suddenly went nuts", a policeman said.

She tried to speak to the vast assembly, first in German and then in English.

A year ago Pal Yong Um was fighting in the front line with the South Korean Army. Now, thanks to the generosity of Allied soldiers and to the fine spirit of his countrymen, he is in Helsinki competing in the Olympic Games.

Embattled South Korea sent a 21-athlete team to the Olympics. Six of them are on leave from the armed forces and two others, including Pal Yong Um, are combat veterans released from military service to resume their schooling.

Allied soldiers in Korea voluntarily contributed about $17,000 to help make their trip possible. The rest of the $80,000 Olympic bill was raised by contributions from Korean civilians and their government.

Paul Hyen, vice-president of the Korean Olympic committee, said his team didn't expect to win any gold medals, except perhaps in the marathon run.

"We just wanted to participate to show our spirit and out of desire for friendly relationships with the free nations of the world", he said.

Three Korean weight lifters and two boxers placed among the first six in the last Olympic Games and the Koreans hope to do well in those events again.

Their main hopes are pinned on their marathon ace, 23-year-old Yoon Chil Choi. He placed third in the Boston Marathon in 1950 and is generally considered a serious contender in the Games' 26-mile event.

Scenically Finland offers a colorful mixture of lakes, bays, forests and farmland. Helsinki, site of the games and the country's largest city, has a population of 365,000. The whole country has only 4,000,000 people.

There aren't nearly enough hotels in Helsinki to house all the foreign spectators for the Olympics. So every one with a spare room opens his home to the visitors. Many moved into their summer homes in the country and rented out their entire dwellings in the city.

MARRIAGEABLE AGE

London (CP) — Statistics suggest the most marriageable age for British women is between 21 and 24 and that two-thirds of today's brides are under 25. Although men also tend to marry mostly in the early 20s, figures for the second half of the 20s do not decline as steeply as in the case of women.

CANADIAN GIFTS MEAN HAPPINESS IN CREEK HOMES

Unitarian Service Committee Distributes Flour, Clothes, In Drought-Ridden Area

By John Van Dusen,
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Ottawa (CP) — Cheeks pinched with hunger and eyes bright with hope, 10,000 men, women and children trudged into the village of Megalo Chorio, nestled at the foot of Greece's barren Karpensi mountains.

It was a big day. Word had spread through the mountains that the red-haired Canadian woman with her food and clothing was in the "big village".

The woman was Dr. Lotta Hitschmanova, director of the Unitarian Service Committee of Canada.

Dr. Hitschmanova spent four days in drab, drought-ravaged Megalo Chorio. During that time she distributed 500,000 pounds of Canadian flour and supplies of cloth to 10,000 mountain dwellers from 27 villages in northern Greece.

Each man, woman and child, was given a 50-pound bag of flour. The bags were strapped on backs and carted to the 27 villages, some of them 12 hours away, where the cotton was used for clothing and the flour for bread.

"It sounds like enough", said Dr. Hitschmanova recently on her return from a 15,000-mile, 2½-month tour of Europe, "but that flour will only last three months."

Years of Misfortune

"Last year the people of the area starved because their crops could not grow in snow and sleet. This year it is drought. It seems hard for Canadians, who have all they need and more, to realize that 5,000 miles away more than 250,000 people are starving to death."

Dr. Hitschmanova also travelled through Italy, Austria, Switzerland and France during her seventh tour for the committee.

"But Greece is hardest hit by the aftermath of wars", she said.

The Unitarian committee, a relief organization aiding the countries that the doctor visited, is spending 80 per cent of its funds in Greece.

It was Dr. Hitschmanova's fourth visit to Greece. The Greek parliament voted special thanks to the blue-eyed international social worker. The archbishop of Greece presented her with the medal of St. Paul, expressing gratitude of the people.

"But the most heartening thanks was the look of hope in the faces of the villagers as they looked at the flour and clothes and said 'Kala, Kala'—beautiful, beautiful.."

Awarded George Medal

Cpl. Sterling Lloyd Sinnott, of Saint John, N.B., who won the George Medal for exceptional bravery in Korea, is convalescing from injuries at the Queen Mary Veterans' Hospital in Montreal. Last week he was allowed out of bed for the first time since he was severely burned and received a fracture of the right shoulder, in saving two sleeping comrades from a barracks fire. . . He is the first Canadian soldier to receive the George Medal in the Korean hostilities.

N.S. River Famed For Striped Bass

Truro, N.S. (CP) — Striped Bass, the stocky battler that puts tall stories into the mouths of fishermen, are populating the Stewiacke river to such an extent that it now ranks tops in Nova Scotia as an angler's paradise.

More than 400 stripers, averaging eight pounds each, have been taken from the river this year, considered a poor season because of high waters. Last year 600 were landed.

This river, along with the Shubenacadie, is at the head of Cobequid Bay and the run of bass begins about May 10, lasting for a month.

Bass weighing as much as 40 pounds are caught in the Stewiake river with both plug and fly. A local man who has been fishing in the river since boyhood, says the best bait to use is a "Hennon" river runt plug, with a four-foot steel casting rod, a 20 to 25-pound test line, and a six-inch fine steel, nylon-covered leader.

To Stop Drownings

An "unsinkable" bathing suit has been invented by a man in Morecambe, Lancashire. Made of buoyant material sandwiched between a double layer of water repellant fabric, the suit has been praised by expert swimmers, non-swimmers and children who have tested it. Expert divers say it causes quick levelling off, removing all fear of 'hitting the bottom'.

Britain is building the homes for U.S. Defence Forces in France. A British firm has just completed a half-million dollar contract for their lightweight prefabricated steel structures.

A wealthy matron was being complimented on the magnificent cactus display in her apartment window.

"They do well because we take care of them according to nature's plan", she explained. "The important thing is to water them at exactly the right intervals. These plants are from western Texas, and when my husband brought them home we subscribed to a Texas newspaper. When the paper says it has just rained in west Texas — that's when we water the cactus."

N.H.L. Gives Cold Shoulder to Cleveland Barons

SPORTS CAMERA
By Gerry Lougheed,
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The Cleveland Barons' bid for a berth in the National Hockey League has been turned down for at least a year.

The N.H.L. governors, meeting early this month in Toronto, took a long look at the club's finances and shook their heads.

It wasn't that the American Hockey League team didn't have enough money in the bank — namely $425,652, which the N.H.L. specified must be raised to step up into hockey's big time. The governors did not like the fact some of this money was borrowed capital.

Jim Hendy, general manager of the Cleveland Arena, said the club had borrowed about half the $425,652. The N.H.L. stipulated that $50,000 would be for a league franchise, $57,652 for the N.H.L. reserve fund in which Cleveland would have an equity and $318,000 working capital (to take care of possible player purchases, alterations to the team's arena, etc.)

"We borrowed the money on a two-year term from stockholders", Hendy told reporters after the governors' five-hour closed meeting. "There was no mention in the original motion made at the May 14 meeting to say how the money was to be raised.

"Now we're not getting in because the N.H.L. is being very technical."

"The N.H.L. didn't think the way we got the capital was sound. We say it was. And there's the difference of opinion."

It was reported Cleveland raised the money, in effect, from pawning their future proceeds from television, from concessions and from ticket sales. To pay back more than $200,000 over a two-year basis would mean the team would have to take in considerably more than double that amount — a real gamble for an untested team making a big jump.

Must Be Strong

Representatives of the present six N.H.L. clubs, with millions tied up in arenas, players and farm systems, didn't like to take a chance on a possibly weak sister.

League president Clarence Campbell said "there was a uniform declaration by every club in the league that they wanted Cleveland as a partner — but on a workable basis."

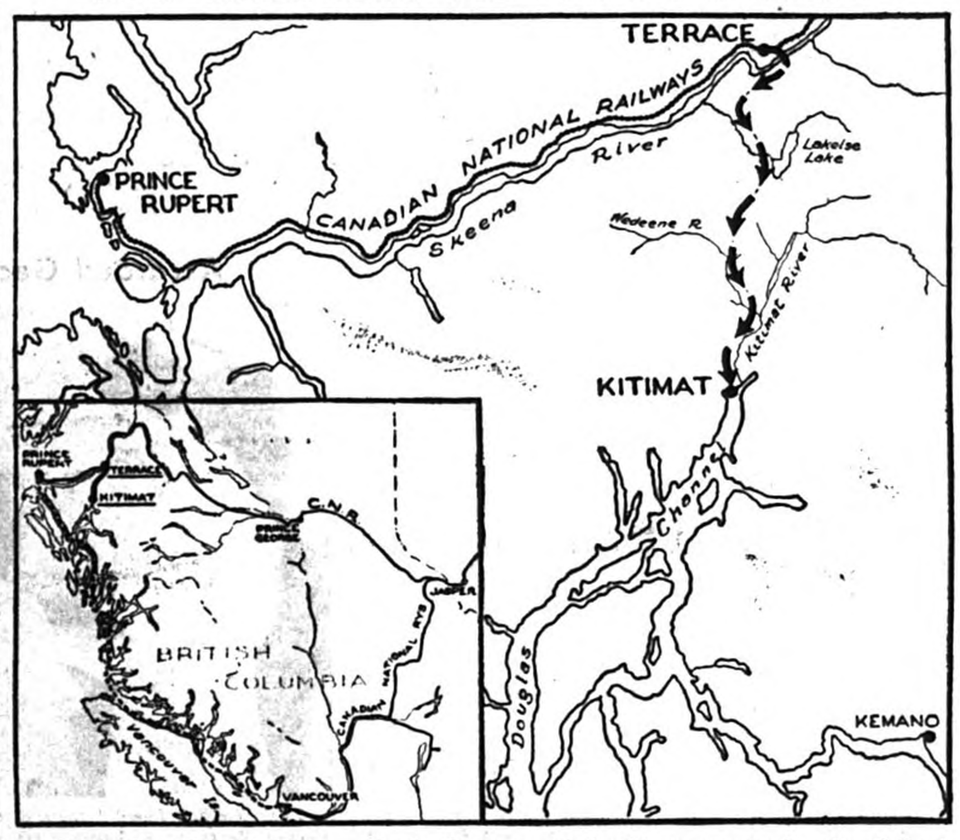

He said the Barons would be given first chance at an N.H.L. franchise and they were invited to apply again for membership in the 1953-54 season.

Despite Campbell's statement that each team wanted Cleveland to join them, there have been reports that some clubs didn't look too kindly on the Barons.

Just before last season Cleveland sold two of its best players — defenceman Hy Buller and forward Wally Hergesheimer — to New York Rangers. But Rangers finished out of the playoffs. What then, some clubs suggested, could be expected from Cleveland — minus its two best performers — in big league competition?

Harvard University celebrated its tercentenary in 1936.

NEW C.N.R. LINE WILL SERVE KITIMAT

THE Canadian National Railways, already the largest on the continent, is adding to its mileage. Parliament has passed a Bill authorizing the Company to build a new line from Terrace — east of Prince Rupert — to Kitimat where the Aluminum Company of Canada is building a huge water power and aluminum manufacturing industry.

To go from the Skeena River down to the sea at Kitimat, the new line will traverse some of the most rugged mountain country in British Columbia, and it is estimated that 2,300,000 cubic yards of material (enough to make a pile almost twice as big as New York's Empire State building) will have to be moved to provide for the right-of-way.

The first engineering problem to be encountered will be the crossing of the Skeena River near Terrace and, for this purpose, the Canadian National will have to build an eight-span bridge, 1,013 feet long. Four smaller bridges will have to be erected to cross the Lakelse, Wedeene, Little Wedeene and Coldwater Rivers, which will be met along the 43-mile route.

Assuming that there will be no delays in the delivery of essential building materials, it is hoped that the new C.N.R. line will be ready for operation about the end of 1954.

The sketch map shows the route that the new line will take from Terrace to Kitimat; and the insert charts the general area, including the famous C.N.R. triangle tour route from Vancouver to Jasper, to Prince Rupert and back to Vancouver.
