Remembrance Day Ceremonies Next Thursday at Cenotaph

Canvassers Will Conduct Poppy Sales In Town and District This Week-End

Residents of Lachute and district are reminded that the annual Remembrance Day service will be held at the Cenotaph in the Memorial Park at 10.45 a.m. sharp next Thursday, November 11.

Veterans will assemble at 10.15 at the Legion Hall, where they will line up with members of the Scouts, Cubs, Girl Guides and Brownies—to be joined en route by the school children — for the parade to the Cenotaph.

Poppy Campaign

Canvassers for the sale of Remembrance Poppies will be working on Friday and Saturday of this week, November 5-6, and it is sincerely hoped that every business firm and household in town will support this drive 100 per cent.

The need this year is very great, and while this fund does not provide a regular source of assistance, it enables help to be given quickly in cases of emergency.

All money collected from the sale of these emblems is used to help build up a reserve fund for needy local veterans.

This, however, is only one aspect of the Legion's national Poppy campaign. The other objective is equally, if not more, important. It is desired to have every citizen in town and district wear a poppy on Remembrance Day as a mark of honor and tribute to those who gave their lives in two world wars.

PROCLAMATION

The two days, Friday and Saturday, November 5 and 6, have been set aside as Poppy Days in Lachute, in a proclamation issued by Mayor Jules Lafleur. The proclamation urges all citizens to observe Armistice Day by wearing Memorial Poppies in honor of those who gave their lives in the two world wars. The formal proclamation is as follows:

WHEREAS the men and women gave their lives in defence of Canada and the democratic world in World War I and in World War II;

AND WHEREAS the memory of their services and sacrifice is a source of inspiration to all citizens;

AND WHEREAS this memory is kept ever bright by the annual wearing of Memorial Poppies in their honor, and the honor of all other Canadians who died in World War service;

NOW THEREFORE, as Mayor of this town, I do hereby proclaim November 5 and 6 to be Peppy Days in Lachute, and urge all citizens to observe Remembrance Day by wearing a Poppy.

Deficit Looms In Federal Finances

THE WEEK IN OTTAWA

By Alan Donnelly, Canadian Press Staff Writer

Ottawa, Nov. 2 (CP) — The federal government is expected to wind up its fiscal year next March 31 with its first deficit in nine years. Current indications, officials say, point to a deficit of possibly $80,000,000 to $100,000,000.

With that picture in mind, government departments now are preparing estimates for the next fiscal year and policy-makers are beginning to think about the tax policy which will be presented next spring by Finance Minister Harris in his first budget.

Reports last week said the experts are considering the possibility of reducing taxes in the 1955-56 budget, despite the likelihood the move would result in a large deficit.

If that decision is taken, informants said, cuts would be directed towards corporations and business generally rather than to the individual taxpayer. The idea would be to encourage greater economic activity and employment which would lift the entire economy.

The government is reportedly not worrying about the effects of a $100,000,000 deficit this year and would be prepared to consider a deficit next year of two or three times that amount if, in the process business conditions were improved.

The need for improvement was pointed up by the following indications of future trends:

1. A third consecutive drop in 1954 in annual farm income — perhaps by as much as $450,000,000 — to a level of $1,200,000,000.
2. A decline in the 1954 gross national product — value of all goods and services produced — possibly to $23,900,000,000 from the peak of $24,300,000,000 last year.
3. Reductions in retail sales and a decrease in Canada's foreign trade.

Lachute Club to Boost Lions' Hurricane Disaster Fund

Emergency Brought Immediate Action from Headquarters Of Lions Clubs in Toronto; Response from Branches

At their regular meeting Tuesday evening in the Legion Hall, Lachute Lions members were informed of the Lions Clubs' collective aid to the Ontario Hurricane Relief Fund — a participation which was signified immediately the extent of the disaster became known, and which at the present time, has swelled to an appreciable amount. The Lachute club voted wholeheartedly to support this effort, and it is hoped to make a worthwhile profit from the 20th anniversary celebration this month to enhance the club's donation.

It was mentioned by one member that, shortly after hearing the hurricane report by radio, he had also heard the Lions' executive secretary in Toronto, Bruce Malcolm, voicing the appeal — evidencing that the Lions had been among the earliest, if not the first organized group to volunteer financial aid. Donations have since been rolling in from Lions Clubs throughout Ontario and Quebec.

Other business of the meeting concerned attendance at a Zone Rally in Verdun next Monday, adequate representation of the club at the Cenotaph ceremonies next Thursday, and plans for the anniversary dance at Lachute Golf Club on November 13.

President Roger Regimbal was in the chair. The speaker of the evening was Lucien Moise, public relations representative of Bell Telephone Company (whose interesting topic and demonstration are reported in this issue). Mr. Moise was introduced by Rod Carreau and cordially thanked by George Tattersfield.

Mark of Tribute

In honor of the Lions Club's 20th anniversary and in tribute to the role of this organization as a community factor, The Watchman with support of a number of regular advertisers will feature a special four-page supplement next issue.

Rural Sidelights On Main Street

Lachute's wide Main Street has received favorable comment from time to time — the Toronto Telegram's Thomas Richard Henry recently giving it honorable mention in his daily column. Among the things noted by this columnist was a threshing machine parked in the middle of the street.

Lachute has sometimes been referred to as a "country town" — residents nodding full approval after a sleepless night with cattle drovers and noisy livestock parked on Main Street. Just a little over a year ago, we noted a goat parading down Grace Street. Last fall, a lady resident cooked a partridge which had committed suicide by flying into the side of her house. And just this week a live hen was seen parading on the grounds and sidewalks adjoining the Bank of Nova Scotia. (We hope the citizen who fell face-down in the mud while capturing the fowl enjoys a free meal which was offered).

Winter Employment Prospects Good In This District

Woodcutting operations have already commenced to some degree in the district, and the nearly 600 farmers expect that the cut will equal last winter's production of some $300,000 worth of lumber and pulpwood.

Manufacturing in the area — according to G. A. Downing, manager of the local office of the National Employment Service — is holding a steadier pace than in the past two years. Information on hand shows that only sawmills in the rural area have laid off some workers.

At the end of October, only 266 persons were claiming unemployment insurance benefit. This figure is very encouraging in consideration of the fact that October 1953 saw 304 claimants and the same month in 1952 there were 460 drawing benefit.

Some automobile dealers have been back-logging due to the strike at Windsor, Ont. Trade in general continues to be a challenge.

Prospects for construction trades during the winter months are good, with building already started on a sawmill, school, convent and town hall.

The number claiming unemployment insurance will increase during the month of December, due to the fact that relaxed conditions exist for persons not capable of meeting those ordinarily required. These supplementary benefits may be applied for during the month of December and become payable as of the first of each year until April 15.

Railway Express Business Topic At Rotary Club

Last week's Rotary Club meeting, held in the Legion Hall at Brownsburg, was highlighted by an address by G. E. Begley, superintendent, Atlantic Division, of Canadian Pacific Express Company. Mr. Begley's topic, entitled "Out of the Carpet Bag", dealt with the past, present and future of the railways express service; its methods of endeavor, its purposes and aims. The colorful days of the Pony Express riders were recalled by the speaker, as he enlarged on the contrast of modern methods employed today.

He left food for thought with those present, with the suggestion that steeping new employees in the traditions of the company in which they are engaged, might go a long way in quelling the restlessness of the younger generation.

Mr. Begley was introduced by Keith Hickson and thanked by Don McFaul.

A new member of the club, Bob Wyse of Lachute, was inducted by Past-President Linton Armstrong; a member's induction is always an impressive ceremony to witness, as the newcomer is instilled with the ideals of Rotary and accepted into the club. Rotarian Bob Wyse is doubly proud, since to become a member in Rotary's Golden Anniversary year is an event in itself.

Don McFaul had a few words to say regarding the forthcoming Turkey Bingo, on November 12 in Lachute Legion Hall. Tickets were distributed to the members, and are now available to the public.

Stewart Jones informed the club that the Golden Anniversary issue of The Rotarian would soon be out, and from descriptions it should be the finest edition yet.

President Fred Royal was in the chair.

Improvement to Town Firefighting Equipment

The recently purchased 1½-inch hose and nozzles, with the exception of the Siamese coupling, have been installed on the auxiliary fire truck, and following the shipment of the one missing piece, will be ready for use.

In the event that the fire brigade have need for the smaller hose, a temporary cut-down from the 2½-inch to the 1½-inch hose has been installed.

Noted Canadian Violinist at "Jeunesses Musicales"

A brilliant Canadian violinist, Arthur LeBlanc, accompanied at the piano by Charles Reiner, was heard at the Jeunesses Musicales concert held in the Catholic High School here last Sunday evening. Mr. LeBlanc is touring all JMC centres in Canada.

Well known and appreciated among his somewhat small audience, Mr. LeBlanc was warmly received, and he delivered his repertoire of wide variety as if playing to a large concert audience.

Notable selections in the program were by Vitali, Beethoven, Paganini-Kreisler, Stravinsky and Wieniawski. Interesting commentary on certain selections, was made by the young orchestra leader and pianist, Jacques Beaudry.

It is interesting to note that Mr. LeBlanc possesses and performs on a Stradivarius - Desrosiers violin, which was played in Lyons by the master, Paganini; also the bow which he used for this concert had belonged to Wieniaski himself.

Following several encores, this distinguished artist was thanked by Roger Regimbal, president of the local JMC organization.

Bell Telephone Developments Play Part In Radio and Television Transmission

Communications in the telephone business means, basically, local and long distance service with all the modern refinements. . . But on Tuesday evening Lucien Moise, Bell Telephone representative, described some of the other communications facilities provided by the Bell — teletype, mobile telephone service, wirephoto transmission, the carrying of radio programs by wire, and the latest, the carrying of television network programs.

Mr. Moise addressed the Lions Club at the Legion Hall, and the subject of his talk was "Your Telephone Company and Television."

Whenever you speak, Mr. Moise explained, your voice vibrates in the air to act upon the eardrums of those listening to you. The mechanism in a telephone mouthpiece transforms these vibrations into electrical impulses which vary with the different sounds and tones of your speech. These electrical impulses travel along wires to the receiver at the other end, where they are translated back into speech vibrations, which your ear can hear and your brain can understand.

"Just as we carry speech so we can carry photographs, printed messages, and television pictures," he said. "You see, all of them can be transformed into electrical impulses. It's just a logical development of the telephone business."

In television, however, another factor enters the story, he said. Television is too complicated over ordinary telephone lines. The Bell's microwave radio relay equipment, which was developed to carry long distance conversations, was therefore designed to carry television. "Our experience shows that the joint use of a radio relay system for telephone and television is advantageous for all concerned."

Television impulses differ from sound impulses though they follow the same principle, Mr. Moise pointed out.

In 1884 a German scientist named Paul Nipkow, being a medical doctor as well, turned his knowledge in both fields to the problem of transmitting a picture. Knowing the peculiarities of the human eye, Nipkow reasoned that if you took a picture and shone a light on it in small units or spots and translated those spots of light into electrical impulses you would have the way to a solution.

This German doctor invented the Nipkow disc, with a series of small holes through which a light from a picture could be translated in "spots" to a photo-electric cell. The picture was transformed by the cell into electric impulses and an apparatus was invented to reassemble the impulses at the receiving end fast enough so that you could not see the change from one spot to another. Thus the accumulation of "spot" lights from the original picture was translated into a composite picture at the receiving end.

Mr. Moise assured his audience that "even today with all our modern inventions and developments it is still this basic principle that is used to give you the clear picture on your modern television receiver."

However, he said it was not until 1915 when the vacuum tube was developed and electronic tubes were brought into play and improved that the television camera

Life Insurance Men Gathered in Lachute

The Laurentian Association of Life Insurance Agents met here last Thursday evening, under the chairmanship of Eugene Waddell of St. Jerome. Organization for this get-together was undertaken by Robert Marcil.

The guest speaker, Georges Girard, was introduced by Gabriel Valois and thanked by Gaston Laurier, of Huberdeau.

Also present were Messrs. Lucien Savard, Jean-Louis Blais, Marcel Gratton and Jean Bourduas, all of Lachute, Florien Richer, of Brownsburg, Raymond Martel, of Lesage, and Louis Pellerin, of Ste. Agathe.

Wear a Poppy for Remembrance Day

Plans for Armistice Parade Sunday at St. Andrews East

St. Andrews East — There will be a parade on Sunday, November 7, to honor those who gave their lives for their country.

All those marching in this parade are asked to fall in at the wharf before 2.15 p.m.; service at the post-office to start at 2.30 p.m.

Group Captain David Anderson, DFC, AFC, RAF, will be Marshal of the parade, which will be headed by buglers and drummers of the Canadian Grenadier Guards.

The following will be present at the cenotaph: the Mayor of St. Andrews East, the Mayor of Carillon, the Rev. Father Dulude, the Rev. Father St. Martin, the Rev. J. Stanley Kennedy, BA, BD, (Capt. Royal Canadian Army Chaplain Service), Mrs. Robin and others.

All members of the forces, active and retired, are requested to attend.

Truckload of Hogs In Impact With Tree

A truckload of 60 hogs met up with a tree on the roadside near St. Canut last Thursday morning, when Roland Lebeillé, of St. Lin, driver for the Lucien Leclerc general transport, fell asleep at the wheel. The accident occurred on the St. Jerome highway two miles from St. Canut. Net casualties were one porker killed, one injured, and $400 damage to the truck.

Legislative Session Reopens Wednesday

Quebec — Premier Duplessis returned from a two-week vacation in Bermuda and started work on the government's legislation program for the session of the legislature opening November 17.

One of the things Mr. Duplessis is believed to be discussing with his ministers is the Quebec income tax. Mr. Duplessis and Prime Minister St. Laurent met in Montreal on October 5 and indicated some broad understanding had been reached to settle the double-taxation problem arising from the Quebec tax.

Quebec taxpayers pay a provincial income tax equivalent to 15 per cent of their federal income tax. The federal government allows them to apply five per cent of the federal tax toward the provincial tax. The Quebec taxpayer pays the other 10 per cent.

Jean Pintal Appointed To Agronome's Office

Jean Pintal, former agronomist for Quebec County, has been appointed by the Department of Agriculture as agronomist for Argenteuil, filling the position occupied by the late Alex Bothwell.

Mr. Pintal expresses his pleasure to be working (in co-operation with Irenée Paré) with the farmers of Argenteuil County, and he assures them that nothing will be neglected in his endeavor to assist farmers to solve their problems, in any matters which fall within the activities of an agronome.

Brownsburg Councillors To View Demonstration of Sewer Cleaner

Assorted Civic Business Dealt With at Regular November Council Session

(Our District Correspondent)

Brownsburg — At the regular Council meeting — after routine adoption of the minutes — a request was heard from the Legion to continue playing music till 1 a.m. on New Year's Day. Councillors Golphin and Lafleur moved and seconded that they be granted this privilege and the resolution was carried.

A request for a donation from St. Justine's Hospital was turned down. Requests for donations by the Salvation Army and Canadian National Institute for the Blind were each answered by $15 donations, on a resolution moved by Councillor Ouellette, seconded by Councillor Golphin.

The Union of Quebec Municipalities notified the Council that the treatise they had been preparing was now ready for the Commission and could be purchased in five volumes for $17.50 a set.

Councillor Rose stated that a 25-foot length of ¾-inch copper pipe was required for the waterworks to connect the pipe with the chlorinator, and would cost about $20. He also pointed out that there was evidence of a big leak in the water system, which would be checked by inspecting all manholes.

Councillor Lafleur moved that Mrs. J. Gagné, Mr. Desforges, Mr. Binet and Mr. Hebert be granted flat rates of $12 for five years on their self-installed water lines. Councillor Ouellette seconded, and the resolution was carried.

Secretary Emile Hebert reported that, as regards signing a contract with Gatineau Power Company, the legal advisor advised against it, since these cases will go before a judge at Hull in the near future. He said, further, that the utility could not refuse to install lights as a letter to the Service Commission in Ottawa would be effective.

It was decided that a committee should check around town and order eight new streetlights.

Police Chief Parent reported 14 speeders, one traffic-light offence and one parking ticket. He also reported 11 complaints, four accidents and one accidental death (Jean Lemay, of Lachute.).

From the hillbilly show at the school auditorium he reported 506 admissions at $1 and 164 at 50c. The Vic Theatre had 2,199 patrons and the Crown 2,128 for the month. At the Knights of Columbus dance there were 75 admissions at 75c each.

Secretary Hebert read the vouchers for approval. Councillors Ouellette and Golphin made the resolution, which was carried. Mr. Hebert noted that 254 yards of gravel had been hauled for road sanding. He then proposed to donate about $200 to the Mayor's cement fund for the rink. This sum constitutes approximately the town's share of the rink's entertainment tax.

A sewer cleaner was discussed, and as the cost of renting such a service was found to be prohibitive, it was decided that a delegation go next week to see a $2,000 cleaner demonstrated with a view to purchasing one. It was felt that this seemingly large outlay would be small compared to possible damages resulting from not having cleaned certain sewers.

It was decided that, while the delegation is in the city, it should purchase a fence for the hazardous drop at Bill King's property.

The Red Cross thanked the Council, police, fire and town workers for their help at the recent Blood Clinic.

An approach is to be made to the Provincial Government to have the Maple Avenue South, from Terrace Hill to the river bridge, widened. This could be done by excavating the west shoulder to fill in the east shoulder.

Local exhibitors and winners at the Ottawa Winter Fair were J. P. Bradley and Son, in the Ayrshire cattle classes, and A. T. Cléland in Clydesdale horses.

Masquerades and Parties Popular On Hallowe'en

One of the quietest Hallowe'en evenings on record was experienced here this year, the local police receiving only one call for pranks throughout Saturday evening. Several citizens reported a good turnout of young visitors for "mat night", the evening before Hallowe'en when doormats mysteriously disappear.

Numerous dances and parties kept the older fry occupied and all dance hall owners, as well as the Legion Hall and Golf Club, reported excellent crowds for their masquerades and dances.

Police Chief Laurent Ducharme reports he had only four extra policemen on duty patrolling the streets, a far cry from a few years ago when there seemed to be a cop on every corner, and every one of them needed.

Weekly Publishers See Plant, Facilities Of Canadair Ltd.

Members of Quebec's newly established Quebec Weekly Newspapers Association (of which R. A. Giles is secretary-treasurer) were guests of Canadair Limited in Montreal last Friday, at which time the company's newly-erected silencers, modern aircraft and manufacturing equipment were demonstrated.

Representing The Lachute Watchman and L'Argenteuil were Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Giles, and Bob Giles, Jr.

Of unusual interest besides the aircraft, all of which were jets, were the three newly erected silencers in which the jets are now tested — minimizing the noise nuisance to surrounding residents.

If the communities surrounding Canadair's sprawling aircraft plant on the outskirts of Montreal are experiencing a new sense of quiet, it is because Canadair has so reduced the noise level of its aircraft and engine run-ups as to compare favorably with the other disturbing noises of daily life.

For example, the noise level at the corner of Peel and St. Catherine Streets at rush hour would be rated by a sound engineer as 85 decibels, or units of sound measurement. Since the installation of Canadair's run-up stands for completed aircraft, the sound at Norgate Shopping Centre, formerly a source of complaint, has dropped to only 65 decibels.

Canadair officials have been highly conscious of the noise problem when testing aircraft engines, and have carried on research which would lead to a noise reduction in the areas affected. Now Canadair has been able to supply a partial answer to the problem.

All un-installed engines that require testing are set up on special stands enclosed in a "jet-cell" and this has proved so effective that engine running is practically inaudible at a short distance.

The ground running stands for completed aircraft have proved equally effective. In addition to the Peel - St. Catherine figure, other comparisons would be: street car passing 15 feet away, 80

Prompt Payment

Under the regulations of the Provincial Electricity Board, an electricity bill is required to be paid within 15 days from the date it is sent to the customer.

The great majority of the Company's customers take advantage of the liberal discount of 10% offered for payment within this 15 days.

It is suggested to those who do not take advantage of this discount that they should endeavor to secure this saving for themselves.

Following this 15 day period the Power Company is authorized to disconnect the service.

The Power Company would be delighted if everyone paid up promptly and no one had to be disconnected for being in arrears.

Seasonal Farm Topics

Self Feeding Silage

Self feeding of silage is another step in saving labor in cattle production. Several problems are involved in this procedure, but with the use of horizontal or surface silos, the difficulties appear to be decreased. The Animal Husbandry, and Field Husbandry Divisions of the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, have been giving attention to the problem, and the first experiment with beef cattle was conducted during the winter of 1953-54.

One lot of 20 steers was given access to grass silage in a horizontal silo 18 feet wide. Feeding was done by a movable stanchion-type feeder gate, suspended from the side walls of the silo by a roller bar. The other lot of 20 steers was hand fed similar silage from the other end of the silo.

At first the self fed cattle were allowed to move the feeder gate forward at will, but it was found that they had a tendency to pull down more silage than they would eat during the day. Once the silage was exposed to the air and chilled it became unpalatable and a considerable waste occurred. As a remedy, the feeder gate was fastened so that the cattle could not move it. It was then moved forward every two days so that a depth of seven to eight inches of fresh silage came within reach of the cattle. This provided ample feed for the number of cattle involved, and reduced wastage to a minimum.

The silo was open to the weather and this created a problem with snow and frost. This was overcome by suspending jute bags over the opening of the gate, and spreading a tarpaulin above the feeding area.

Stormy weather or temperatures which ranged from 47 degree to 19 degrees below zero did not seem to impede the willingness of either group to feed. The total gain of both lots was the same, indicating that both methods of feeding had equal effect on gain.

In the latter part of the experiment, when the gate was functioning properly, approximately 75 per cent less labor was required by the self fed group. Providing wastage is kept to a minimum by proper adjustment of the feeder gate, it appears that self feeding surface silos are a practical and important lobaur saving device for fintering beef cattle. This experiment will be repeated.

Experiment Proves Tree-Farming Pays

The woodland development project operated by Macdonald College on its 375-acre woodlot has proved that tree farming pays. Taken over by the College six years ago, the square mile area known as Morgan Arboretum is being developed as a study and demonstration centre to encourage better farm woodlot management. Projects already carried out in the Macdonald College woodlot show that most of our presently low value woodlots can be made into paying propositions.

Release cutting is practised in even-aged sections of the College woodlot if the trees are commercially valuable. This practice consists of slashing back vigorous stump spouts and removing less desirable tree species. Areas grown over with poor quality trees are being cleared and replanted with economic species.

Improvement cutting is practised in the main part of the woodlot where trees are of uneven age. Cutting operations are concentrated on small areas at a time to assure a good job being done. A period of years is allowed to cover the whole woodlot. Diseased or crooked trees, those with wide spreading branches or short trunks, low grade, and mature trees are removed first. Care is taken not to open up the stand too much. Never more than 40 per cent of the stand is cut at one time. There should always be plenty of younger vigorous trees coming on.

At Macdonald College, a lecture and practical demonstration course in farm woodlot management, is being given for the first time to students taking the 2-year diploma course in agriculture. An extended educational campaign among rural groups is also planned.

AS MODERN AS TOMORROW — This is the newest passenger train in Canada. It is composed of seven types of spanking new equipment built this year for the Canadian National Railways, part of a 359-unit order, and heralds a new era of rail travel luxury and comfort. The train is powered by the first of 38 passenger road diesel locomotives to be delivered to the C.N.R. Dressed in the CNR's new colors of green, black and gold, this train is made up of a deluxe coach, dinette, diner, parlor-grill, bedroom-buffet lounge and sleeping cars — new units now in service on all main line CNR passenger trains in Canada.

St. Justine's Campaign Objective Is $9,600,000; Appeal Opens Here Nov. 15

Within the coming week the St. Justine Hospital building fund campaign will be officially promoted in this county. The campaign here is under the gracious patronage of the Hon. W. M. Cottingham, Minister of Mines, and Philippe Valois, M.P.

Gerard Lefebvre, chairman of the campaign in Argenteuil, outlines the progress of construction and the reasons for this public appeal — pointing out that race, color or creed have no bearing in regard to those receiving treatment at the hospital, founded 47 years ago. Its facilities are available to everyone in the province, and to date 180,000 days of hospitalization, or one-third of the total hospitalization, have been devoted to children off the Island of Montreal.

In 1951 St. Justine's Hospital raised a total of $9,717,821. Today it needs $9,600,000 to finish and open to child patients the new hospital on Cote St. Catherine, Montreal.

The new hospital, with 800 beds and 60 bassinettes, will be able to care for more than 20,000 patients a year. At the St. Denis Street building, 12,000 patients can be handled in 600 beds, but only by crowding the wards. In the new building there will be not more than four beds to a room and every child will have sufficient space. Each room will be a complete unit, with every convenience for the patient's comfort and treatment.

The congestion which exists at St. Denis Street building will be eliminated entirely. In the new hospital each child will be admitted individually. Once received, the patient will be immediately directed to the appropriate department for his case. Each department will have its own quarters, attractive, well-lighted and with all the necessary equipment.

The most up-to-date diagnostic and treatment centres at the new hospital, with their enlarged and improved services, will be able to study patients' cases to advance medical knowledge.

The operating centre at the Cote St. Catherine Hospital will have 17 operating rooms and a large recovery room. (The St. Denis Street building has only five operating rooms.)

Rehabilitation services now are located outside the hospital. All these departments will be centralized when the new building is completed.

There will be double the number of incubators, about 100, in the new building.

That is why St. Justine's needs $9,600,000. The need is urgent; the new hospital must be finished.

Dates of the campaign in this area are November 15 to 30 and Gerard Lefebvre, as local chairman, urges the generous support of individuals and corporations in this worthy cause.

HELP OVERSEAS SCOUTS

Currency restrictions make it practically impossible for Scouts from several overseas countries to bring dollars with them when they come to the Eighth World Jamboree at Niagara-on-the-Lake next August.

For this reason, Canadian Scout groups are being asked by F. J. Finlay, Chief Executive Commissioner of Canada's Boy Scouts, to raise $50 each, to provide the $30 Jamboree fee and $20 spending money for at least 1,000 Scouts from overseas countries anxious to come to the big Jamboree, the first of its kind ever held in North America.

Because of the size of the task, service clubs and other organizations are being asked to share in the effort to help Scouts from other lands to enjoy the Jamboree in Canada.

president of the government's Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation, stepped out of the government's employ last week to enter private business in Toronto.

He was CMHC's first president at its founding in 1946, after wartime jobs as assistant chairman of the Foreign Exchange Control Board and the National War Finance Committee. He built CMHC up until last year its assets reached a record $607,000,000.

During the last eight years, under the National Housing Act, CMHC has extended more than 150,000 loans to finance more than 200,000 new homes.

By-Elections

It's election time again in six federal constituencies where by-elections will be held November 8 to fill vacancies in the House of Commons.

Last week 21 candidates filed nominations. Liberals and Progressive Conservatives will contest each riding. The CCF and Labor-Progressive (Communist) party each have entered four candidates. An independent is also running.

The by-elections are in Montreal's St. Antoine-Westmount and St. Lawrence - St. George, Ontario's York West, Toronto Trinity and Stormont, and Manitoba's Selkirk.

The results will have no appreciable effect on the party strengths in the Commons where Liberals hold 168 of 265 seats. Progressive Conservatives 50; CCF 23, Social Credit 15, and Independents 3.

Arctic Scene

From the far north came news of two developments — one modern and the other thousands of years old.

At Whitehorse in the Yukon the government plans to span the Yukon river with a 300-foot bridge to open the way for new development of that old settlement. Across the river a $3,000,000 hospital will be built, and plans laid out for residential sub-divisions.

The government said it plans to make Whitehorse the hub of the Northwest. It began as a mining town in the Klondike gold rush of 1898. Present-day mining developments have given it new economic importance and the city is likely to benefit from the big hydro-electric possibilities of the Yukon watershed.

Farther east in the Arctic, a Danish archaeologist has turned up remanants of three ancient civilizations north of Hudson Bay, 200 miles inside the Arctic circle. The oldest may date back 4,000 years.

Jorgen Meldgaar of the University of Copenhagen went north looking for relics of Dorset man — a forerunner of the Eskimo — who lived 1,200 to 2,000 years ago. Meldgaard and two companions found a treasure trove of relics from the Dorset culture at the northern end of Melville Peninsula.

But along with the Dorset relics, Meldgaard found traces of a more recent civilization — the Thule culture — and of a more ancient one, which probably settled there 2,000 years before the Dorset people.

Dr. F. J. Alcock, curator of Canada's National Museum, said that likely all three groups of people were part of ancient asiatic migration.

HOLSTEIN IS WORLD CHAMPION MILK COW

—Central Press Canadian

Calm in the face of her new-found fame, Snowball, poses with her owner Gordon Smith, of Milverton, Ont. after becoming the new world champion milk cow. In the past year, the 18-year-old Holstein produced 226,353 pounds of milk, of which 9,199 pounds was butterfat. That eclipses by over 19,000 pounds the previous record set in the 1930's by another Canadian cow, Springback Snow Countess. Termed a "natural leader" by Mr. Smith, Snowball eats plenty of rich Perth county grass, plus a high-protein diet of linseed meal.

$125 ZENITH HEARING AID BETTER BUY THAN AIDS AVERAGING $268!

SCIENTIFIC TESTS PROVE that the Zenith—priced at less than ½ as much—offers equivalent performance for ½ the average operating and upkeep cost!

United States Testing Company, Inc.
(America's foremost private, independent testing laboratory)
Reveals Significant Facts About Hearing Aid Quality and Prices!

BRAND "A" | BRAND "B" | BRAND "C" | BRAND "D" | BRAND "E"

ZENITH "ROYAL-T"® $125.00

$268.00 average price of these other five makes. Individual prices range from $229.50 to $295.00!

ZENITH has always said you can pay up to $300 or more but you can't buy a finer hearing aid than a Zenith. To support this statement, Zenith requested the United States Testing Company to purchase on the open market two Zenith Hearing Aids and two of each of America's five foremost competitive brands of transistor hearing aids, and to test them thoroughly.

Each of the instruments was subjected to a series of rigorous tests for quality, performance and economy. The results, contained in Report No. E-9158, dated September 13, 1954, tell us:

1. Despite the huge difference in price, U. S. Testing Company reported, "The Zenith 'Royal-T' was equal to the other 5 brands in design, choice of materials and components, and in workmanship."
2. Here's how Zenith compared with the average of the other five brands in bringing you a full measure of acoustic power performance:

Acoustic output
ZENITH 135.5 db.
OTHERS 132 db.

Maximum acoustic gain
ZENITH 64 db.
OTHERS 60.8 db.

Earphone acoustic output
ZENITH 131 db.
OTHERS 131.1 db.

3. The 3-transistor Zenith "Royal-T" cost $18.93 less to operate per year than the average of the other aids tested.
4. The Zenith "Royal-T" registered less objectionable noise due to clothing rub than any of the other five brands.
5. Based on a five-year overall cost projection—involving initial price, battery replacements, etc.—the $125 Zenith "Royal-T" will serve you for substantially less than ½ the cost of the average competitive aid.

You can try the "Royal-T" at home, work, church, theatre, anywhere, on Zenith's famous 10-Day Money-Back Guarantee. One tiny 18¢ battery operates the "Royal-T" for 30 days.

And here's important news! Zenith has recently introduced the smallest, lightest hearing aid in its history—the tiny, tubeless, 3-transistor "Royal-M." Only $100! Same power and performance as the "Royal-T." Prices include air conduction receiver and stock earmold.

Buy Canadian Books

MOST Canadians are readers rather than writers and in that sense consumers rather than producers of the printed word.

But once a year the writer has his innings during Book Week, October 30 to November 6, when attention is focused on books, authors and the pleasures of reading.

In National Book Week readers hear more about native books and authors than at any other time of the year.

This is probably a good thing, for while good books know no political boundaries, we are perhaps not as familiar with our own writers as we should be. And while it is true that readers do not need to know anything about an author in order to enjoy his writing, at the same time it adds to the satisfaction of reading to have some of the background filled in.

Middle men between writer and reader are publisher and book-seller. To these the public library should be added, for Canadian readers are book-borrowers rather than book-buyers. It would be interesting to have the statistics on the amount we spend per capita on books for relaxation as compared with other types of pleasure spending.

There are few authors in Canada who are able to write only for a living without some supplementary employment, yet book sales are far from saturation point. There is an obvious connection. The more interest created in books, the better for everybody from author to reader.

Population increases alone in the last 10 years mean more Canadian readers, and the future of books is promising.

Just the same it might be an idea to buy a Canadian book during National Book Week.

Hurricane Relief Fund

SINCE the initial shock of the recent hurricane disaster in Ontario, Canadians by the tens of thousands have demonstrated their sympathy in the most practical way possible — by contributions to the Ontario Hurricane Relief Fund.

The purpose of this fund, launched with the official sanction of the Ontario Government, is to avoid duplication of effort by bringing all relief appeals under one banner. Chairman is Col. Eric Phillips, prominent Toronto industrialist, and honorary treasurer is N. J. McKinnon, vice-president of the Canadian Bank of Commerce. These appointments were made by Premier Leslie Frost.

The Ontario Hurricane Relief Fund is designed to bring immediate financial aid to the homeless, orphans and other dependents and the needy. Officials of the Fund have surveyed the damaged areas, depots have been set up for the distribution of immediate financial aid, and plans have been laid for the restoration of household furnishing, food, clothing and other necessities of life which were lost in the floods.

Col. Phillips stresses that there is an urgent need for contributions. Property loss has exceeded all early expectations, and the problem of rehabilitating thousands of flood survivors is an immediate one. The Fund will warmly welcome individual and corporate donations, large and small. All Canadian banks have been authorized to receive contributions, or they may be mailed to the Ontario Hurricane Relief Fund, 37 King Street East, Toronto. The fund is operated on a voluntary basis; there are no paid officials.

DON'T LAUGH at the fellow who is an eccentric or screwball . . . a right of democracy is the right to be different, so when you see somebody doing something in an odd or startling manner, don't laugh at him, watch him." — Sackville (N.B.) Tribune-Post.

The Poppy Emblem

THE ANNUAL Poppy Fund campaign — prelude to the Remembrance Day observances — will be brought to the public attention this Friday and Saturday; and The Watchman is happy to lend its editorial support. This is no high-pressure approach for tax-exempt donations; it is but a personal appeal, in all humility, to buy and wear a poppy. As simple as that. . . But that little emblem will signify the wearer's consciousness of great sacrifice, his memory of two awesome periods in living recollection when tragedy, which stalked abroad, might also strike in one's immediate family or near at hand.

The Poppy Fund still performs its worthy task, perpetuating that memory in terms of practical aid to veterans and their dependents. YOUR participation, YOUR generosity, is a demonstration of co-operative understanding.

A Queen Returns

MANY WHO see the Queen Mother on her visit to Canada's capital will recall a heart-warming incident there in May, 1939, when the King and Queen threw protocol to the winds and walked unescorted into the midst of thousands of cheering veterans.

It occurred after the ceremony in which King George unveiled the National War Memorial in the heart of Ottawa. The royal couple were supposed to enter their automobile and drive off. Instead, they responded to the roaring cheers of 2,000 First World War veterans massed beside the memorial and walked into the throng. The veterans cleared their own laneways for the King and Queen to pass among them, and proudly became the royal guard. (A Lachute ex-serviceman, Thos. Stewart, will specially recall the incident; he was among those greeted by Their Majesties on this occasion.)

On Saturday, November 13, the widowed Queen Mother, during her visit to Canada's capital, will place a wreath at that memorial, in the midst of the massed floral tributes which will have been placed there two days earlier on Remembrance Day.

Milder, Mostly Quiet

MAYBE we stay more at home, and see accordingly less, with our advancing years. It does seem, however, that Hallowe'en becomes less rowdy year by year, than in the days of yore. True, signposts and farmers' gates are built more substantially; plumbing has moved indoors; picket fences no longer surround the average garden. But there also must be a moderating zeal, or some compensating outlet of expression, which spares town-dwellers from mischievous depredations. . . Anyway, WE got off easily, and we're grateful.

IT'S QUITE a contrast between public feeling in Britain and in the U.S., according to Napier Moore writing recently from London in Financial Post. "We drove down to New York and at several points on the way passed huge signs announcing that in the event of an enemy attack this or that road or bridge would be closed to traffic. And in the cities, signs pointed to the location of air raid shelters."

"Here, in London, everybody we have met is radiant with optimism. Settlement of the nine-year-old dispute between Italy and Yugo-Slavia over Trieste; the signing of the nine power agreement for the control of German armament; and Chancellor Butler's surprise upping of the basic travel allowance for Britons to £100, are taken as good reasons for good cheer. Even the defeat of the Arsenal soccer team by Russia's Dynamos at the Moscow Stadium caused no depression at all." all."

DAIRY PROFITS?

AT YOUR SERVICE

Dairymen today are faced with the challenge of making a reasonable net profit in the face of mounting surpluses and low prices.

We are here to help all aggressive dairymen meet this challenge with Purina's sound breeding, feeding, management and sanitation program — a program geared to get the most efficient, and the highest milk PRODUCTION PER COW. Your road to profits is clear-cut and plain. You must get two things. First — you have to get lots of milk PER COW, not lots of cows to get milk. And second — you must get long life for the cow that gives you lots of milk.

To get lots of milk you first have to have a cow bred in milk capacity; second, you must feed her to get out the milk that she has bred into her without damaging her for her future lactations — third, and probably the most important of the four, is YOU, or management. You have to get this good cow, get the milk out of her and keep her milking, and recognize the cows that are not making the grade. Fourth, you must have a sanitation program that will keep these cows healthy and milking and raising a calf per year, year after year.

WHAT IS YOUR PLAN for more dairy profits in the next year? . . . CHEATING THE COW? — or MORE MILK AND PROFIT PER COW?

It's up to you. It is a management problem. If it is more profits, get in touch with us at once, and we will help you find out the cows that will make profits and show you the ones you should discard. Purina dealers are the only feed men who are in a position to help you this way. — See us.

A Flash-back to Wartime; The Hour of Remembrance

(Remembrance Day Theme)
Specially Contributed — by James A. Pillage

Nine years after the end of the second world war we again will be observing Armistice Day, in memory of those who died in two world wars. We will remember those who died and will also think back of our victories over those who have tried to enslave our democracy and our rights of religion. We will remember those who gave their lives and also those who were left maimed and without limbs. We also remember those heroes who fought and were able to return to their loved ones. Widows, mothers, fathers and children will remember, in two minutes' silence, their loved ones who will never again be with them.

Some of us will remember their debt to those who failed to return, and will renew our efforts to make the world a better place in which to live. We will endeavor to make our homes a happy and safe place for our children, we will keep our schools available to educate our young ones, and our hospitals open to heal the sick in mind and body, we will also support the many organizations which help to relieve distress and personal privation in homes all over Canada and across the oceans.

However, although we remember all these things and promise to do all the things we know are right and just, there are also other things to consider on Remembrance Day. One of these things is the necessity to be prepared at all times to fight for our rights; and by being prepared for evil-doers we may end the necessity of ever going into battle again and sacrificing the lives of young Canadians in the prime of manhood.

We should remember the large forces of men who were trained in combined operations. Of the work, equipment and practice involved in fighting a war. The needless waste of millions of much-needed dollars which could be used to educate, heal and improve mankind.

* * *

A combined operation is planned and checked on paper, drilled over and over again, and finally when the elements are right the operation actually takes place. After the long preparation and conferences, vast masses of men and equipment go into action — and it is hard to realize that there will be shooting and people will be killed and wounded, that the manoeuvre isn't being ruled by umpires with white arm-bands, and that the enemy is up ahead. . . Embarkation takes place in the tiny invasion barges, and you move away in the darkness; and when your eyes become accustomed to the darkness you can discern the other little craft, and the sea is glossy with starlight.

The boats plunge along and you are a few miles from your objective when the first alarm shakes you. To your left there is a streak of tracer bullets — light blue and white dots in the night, and the angry clatter of an automatic gun.

You blow up your lifebelt a little more. A few more blasts of tracer whistle by and then there is a great flash and a bang of gunfire behind you. Our destroyers speed up wide-open to our assistance.

The small boats disperse and the landing takes place. And the few commandos who went ashore when they knew nobody else would be with them, snip at the enemy while the landings takes place.

Bombers fly overhead and begin the bombing. They fly high, and in a few minutes flak begins to spout from the anti-aircraft. From the sea it is a spectacular sight, with this flaming chandelier of colored lights and flashes over the town.

Not all goes according to plan, and your flotilla is off course; there is some confusion, and from the pile of mortar bombs piled in the boat you watch the flaming main beach. It is still dark, although the dawn we feared before landing is coming up fast. The destroyers are pumping shells into the buildings along the shore. Several squadrons of fighter-bombers, with cannons blazing, dive into the inferno just over the landing craft nearing the main beach. Brave men, these boys in the pilot seats, for some have lowered their wheels to slow them up and give them a better aim at their targets.

The scene on the blood-stained beach is a nightmare. Your boat is the last to make the beach. The coxswain tried to take you up into one section of the beach and it proved the wrong spot.

The men in your boat crouch low, their faces tense and grim. You are awed by the unexpected blast of enemy fire and it is your initiation to frightening battle noises. Your boat fumbles through spotty smoke for awhile then bumps on the beach and down goes the ramp and out pour the first infantrymen. They plunge into about two feet of water and machine gun bullets lace into them. Bodies pile up on the ramp. Some stagger to the beach and fall. Bullets are spattering into the boat itself, wounding your men.

There is one young lad crouching six feet away from you. He had made several attempts to rush down the ramp to the beach, but each time a hail of fire has driven him back. He has been wounded in the arm but is determined to try again. He lunges forward and a streak of red-white tracer slashes through his stomach.

Into the terrible enemy fire run the men from the boats, and finally a landing is made and gradually fortified positions are taken over. We are victorious, but not without the loss of many brave young men.

* * *

Yes, when we remember the dead, let us also remember to keep prepared — never to let ourselves be forced into a fight in which our sons will be needlessly killed and maimed in battle.

"THE ANNUAL BAZAAR"

This past week has been a humdinger. Every night has found me up to my ears in preparations for that yearly Christian wrangle known as "the annual bazaar". And if I never see another such event for the rest of my life, I'll be more than satisfied.

Being a publicity hound, the ladies — bless 'em — decided I was just the man they needed to write solicitation letters and arrange for free publicity in the local papers. Being partial to the female of the species, I readily agreed and began immediately to prepare the necessary letters and news items. That was when I started to run into trouble. The newspaper publicity ran smoothly enough; it was the letters that created the furore.

There are two mimeograph machines in the possession of our little church. One works and the other doesn't. As might be expected, the one that does work is kept by the president of one of the ladies' organizations for the exclusive use of that society. As they grind out one small notice per year, the wear and tear on the machine is next to nothing. Of course, other organizations are welcome to use the mimeograph, at any time, but to obtain permission results in so much patronage and dust-licking, that I, for one, haven't got the time to observe the protocol.

When, therefore, I had the letter of solicitation duly prepared on a mimeograph stencil, I farmed it out, at my own expense, to a firm which does that sort of work. And, since I was paying for the job, I signed the letters myself. Then the fun began.

"What right had you to sign those letters on my behalf?" I was asked by the president of the Ladies' Aid.

"If I have to pay for them, I'll sign them."

"Well, you certainly didn't have to pay for them. Why didn't you bring them to me? I would have been glad to do them on the WMS machine."

"Because I understood that the letters were urgent and I didn't have the time to waste chasing the church's mimeograph machine all over the Island of Montreal. Now if you'll excuse me, I'm busy."

So ended round one. Round two began immediately when several other ladies hopped in to enquire why the letters weren't sent to them. Their sons and husbands and brothers-in-law, et cetera, would have been delighted to sign them. In fact, up till the bazaar I never knew there were so many people on this island who enjoyed putting their signatures on letters.

Well, that little fracas died a natural death as soon as the next bone of contention cropped up. And it appeared immediately the construction of the booths began.

The president, bursting with a desire to grind the mimeograph, showed a distinct disinclination towards doing anything about building the booths and stalls. Superintending the construction was a different matter and, in that department, she got her oar in early.

"Is that all the decorating you're going to do here?" she asked the organist. And before he could answer, she continued with an enquiry about the wood he was using.

"That's the wood for the home cooking stall. Why are you using it?"

"Because I am," he snarled. "Look, Mrs. W., Hallowe'en is two days that'a'way. Why don't you get out your broom and fly home?"

That innocent remark started a real dust-up and before it was settled there were about sixteen pending resignations and a complete lack of interest in the whole project by everyone connected with it. However, it all came right in the end and, by some queer quirk of fate, the church made a fairly tidy sum out of the do.

As I was in charge of the soft drink dispensary, I wasn't able to spend much time or money at any of the other booths. Still, at the last gasp, I was able to make a fast dicker with the people running the grocery stall. I got four tins of Dustbane sink cleaner, a large package of paint cleaner, a cook-book, a packet of laundry starch and a tin of ice-cream mix, all for one dollar.

When I got home, my landlady lit into me.

"What the heck are you doing with that stuff," she said, holding aloft the tin of ice-cream mix.

"I got it with the other junk for a mere dollar."

"A fine thing," she countered. "I had that blasted tin in my cupboard for over a year and gave it to the bazaar to get rid of it. Now you have to bring it back again!"

* * *

You know, bazaars could be fun if only we men could learn the art of keeping our peace with the godly women!

ALL ABOARD
With G. E. Mortimore

The human nose is the nearest thing to a time machine that has yet been devised.

Let me smell a whiff of steam, and I am transported back over the years to a creamery where I was employed for a while as a youth.

Once again in the mind's eye (or should I say the mind's nose) I am at work absently leaving pieces of paper in the churn to be shredded through 1,000 pounds of butter, and turning a jet of steam on my own leg.

The mere smell of steam gives me the whole feeling of my life as it was then. That is why I say the nose if a time machine. At least, my nose is. I can't speak for yours. It is an established fact that some people remember sounds most clearly, and other remember sights. I am one of those who remember smells.

For us human bird-dogs (or kennel-dogs, take your choice) Hollywood conceived the idea of films that you could smell as well as see and hear. Apparently "smellies" have never passed the experimental stage; but according to whiffs of rumour that reach us from time to time, the experiments were a success. So why aren't smell-movies brought into general use?

There will be technical difficulties, of course. To bring us in quick succession the odors of a wheat field, a cattle corral, gun-smoke and the heroine's rose-garden would pose a challenge to the smell-effects man.

Double features would be tricky, too. Suppose the action of the first movie takes place in the sewers of Paris, and the second in the pine woods. Wouldn't this olefactory mish-mash give the movie-smeller indigestion of the nose?

The best remedy would be an air-conditioning system of hurricane strength — and if a few of the lighter patrons were sucked through the stale-air vents, and strained into spaghetti, it would be well worth the sacrifice.

In a love-scene, women will expect to smell pipe tobacco, leather and after-shave lotion; men will expect to smell perfume. Well, they had individual pairs of glasses for 3-D. Why shouldn't they have individual gas-masks for the smellies?

There is also talk of "smellivision" as well as television. A delivery man may come to the door with a package under his arm, and say:

"Morning, ma'am. Here are your Channel Four smells for this week. Just insert them in your set, and the heat of the picture tube will do the rest."

"No thank you. I get all my smells delivered by the Channel Five man now. I don't like your deodorant commercial. And those drama shows — phee-yoo! 'Love in a Pulp Mill'. 'The Sewage Farm Murder Mystery'. Who handles your program selection? Confidentially, it stinks."

Quality Counts in the long run!

DISTRICT NEWS FROM OUR COUNTY CORRESPONDENTS

Cushing

Mr. and Mrs. L. R. McGain, of "Twynwald", spent Thursday and Friday in Montreal. Week-end guests at their home were Mr. and Mrs. J. Brown, of Montreal.

Miss Alberta Cleland spent the week-end in Montreal.

Miss Elsie M. Graham was a week-end guest of her aunt, Mrs. A. J. Scott, at Lachute.

Mr. and Mrs. Yuedall, of Pointe Claire, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. L. R. McGain on Monday.

Mr. Lorne Martin and children, of Montreal, spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Coney, "Stonehaven".

Mr. and Mrs. Lemuel Cushing, of Montreal, were guests of Mrs. W. Y. King at "Ingleside" on Friday and Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Pitt, of Montreal, occupied their Cushing cottage over the week-end.

Miss Edith Robertson, of Montreal and St. Andrews East, was the week-end guest of Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Elliott.

Masonic Service

On Sunday, the Free Masons' annual divine service was held in St. Mungo's Church, Cushing, with a large attendance. Bro. Neal Moore had the Bible reading. The Rev. Wm. MacMillan, chaplain of the Argenteuil Lodge, gave the pastoral prayer and closing benediction, with the Rev. J. R. Watson, pastor of the church, giving the address, which was based on a study of Calvin, due to the fact that it was Reformation Sunday. (At present the Rev. Watson is giving a series of sermons on that subject.)

Historical Society Executive Meeting

Mrs. Archie Graham attended the first executive meeting of the Historical Society of Argenteuil, held at the home of the president, Mrs. Geo. McGibbon, Dalesville, last Thursday evening. There was a good attendance, 14 in all, also Mr. Lund, the caretaker of the Museum, by Mrs. McGibbon's special invitation. Considerable business was transacted and the new treasurer, Mr. L. W. Yorke of St. Andrews, was given full authority to transact any affairs connected with the treasurership. Members in arrears are requested to send their fees and contributions to Mr. Yorke at St. Andrews East.

W.I. Hallowe'en Party And Seasonal Events

Cushing as a community had a number of interesting events during the week. . .

First, the Mission Band business and social evening held Tuesday night in Elliott's Hall, with Miss Bonnie Gain as leader and Marion Elliott as secretary. After the business was completed, a film was shown entitled, "Precious Flowers of Thibet", which was bright and interesting. A social hour followed and refreshments were served.

On Friday night the Frontier W.I. entertained at their annual Hallowe'en party. The costumes were interesting and some of them very original, especially the first-prize costume worn by Mrs. I. H. Fuller, who appeared as a robot completely clothed in pasteboard cartons, answering to the name of "Miss Carton". Among others were the dainty and tiny little pair — the bride being John Heatlie the third, and the groom being the small son of Mrs. I. Plummer. Another three-year-old carrying her costume until the unveiling with the demureness of an old hand, was Little Nancy Black of Mabel, as an old fashioned lady with hoop skirt. It was interesting to note the way in which these very small competitors kept their identity hidden until it was time to unmask. A dainty Barbara Ann Scott was also present, complete with skates, in the person of Miss Patricia Warwick of Brownsburg.

The evening of fun was much enjoyed by all, as was the Saturday evening Club meeting also, in Elliott's Hall, when Mr. and Mrs. Donald Clarke were presented with a case of White Orchid pattern flat silver, by the community. (Mr. and Mrs. Clarke, whose marriage was recorded some time ago, were up until this time unable to be present together, due to Donald's duties as an LAC. with the Airforce in Aylmer West, Ont.). The Rev. J. R. Watson made the presentation.

IN MEMORIAM

CUNNINGHAM — In loving memory of a dear father and grandfather, who passed away Nov. 2, 1953. — Always remembered by Gertie, Paul, John, Patsy and Judy.

CUNNINGHAM — In loving memory of a dear father and grandfather, who departed Nov. 2, 1953. —Ever remembered by Beatrice, Jim and family, of Flint, Mich.

"Your smiles are not forgotten,
Or your gentle kindly ways,
And we remember you, dear Father,
As it dawns one year today."

GARDINER — In loving memory of my dearest friend, Sarah Gardiner, who passed away Nov. 7, 1953. Forever in my thoughts. — Mrs. E. White, Brownsburg.

Northern Grenville

Mr. and Mrs. R. Clark, of Orillia, Ont., visited Mr. and Mrs. Russell Owens on Sunday.

Congratulations are extended to Mr. and Mrs. V. Labelle, who were married Saturday in Grenville; the bride was the former Miss Hilda Trineer.

Mr. Fraser Carson, of Ste. Agathe, visited Mr. and Mrs. Louis Carrière on Monday.

Mrs. Enid Stone, with Mr. Guy Moncrieff, spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Sam McCaren in Ottawa.

Sunday visitors at Mr. and Mrs. Earl McIntyre's were Mr. and Mrs. Scott MacLean and Brucie, of Harrington.

Mr. and Mrs. Bazil Mott visited Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hanlon in Montreal last Saturday, and attended the wedding of their nephew, Mr. Peter Mott, to Miss Joyce Grainge. Friends wish the newlywed couple success and happiness.

Misses Ethel and Mary Keyes motored to Vankleek Hill on Sunday.

Mrs. Jas. Stonehouse and Mrs. J. Christie, of Hawkesbury, visited with Mrs. Wyman Young last Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Rolland Brazeau and family, with Mr. Brian and Miss Barbara Rogers, of Ottawa, visited Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Brazeau on Sunday. Mr. Brazeau is now much improved in health.

Everyone is invited to attend the Box Social, advertised in the "Coming Events' column last week, to be held in Grenville High School Friday evening, November 12.

At Avoca United Church

On Sunday evening, November 7, at 7.30 p.m. the Girls' Choir will present a Cantata which has recently been written by the Rev. Arch. Penman, pastor of the United Church. The piece is a presentation of the Teachings of Jesus regarding the way of entrance into the Kingdom of God. . . Come and hear new hymns set to familiar tunes.

Bell Falls

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Bennett last week-end were Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McMahon, of Ottawa, Mr. and Mrs. James McMahon, of Lachute, Mrs. Ogilvie, of Lachute, Mrs. C. Bigelow, of Kilmar, also Miss Shirley Thomas, of Aylmer.

Mr. and Mrs. Neil MacCallum called on friends in Arundel on Tuesday.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. Paige last week-end were Mr. and Mrs. S. Carruthers, Mr. Gerald Paige, Miss Beverley McRae and Miss Maisie Paige, all of Montreal.

Mr. and Mrs. Loughie Page, of Hawkesbury, were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Page.

Mrs. J. McRae, Mrs. N. Kelly and Mrs. E. McLeod spent Friday in Montreal — Mrs. McRae and Mrs. Kelly visiting their brother, who is ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Tomalty, of Lachute, called on Mr. and Mrs. J. Fox on Sunday.

Mr. W. H. Warren spent the week-end at his home here. On his return to the city Sunday night he was accompanied by Mrs. Warren, who is now spending some time in the Hamilton Nursing Home, for medical treatment.

Pte. William Smith, stationed at Calgary, is spending a few days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Young have returned to their home in Port Colborne, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. John Campbell of Kilmar.

Women's Association

On Thursday evening of last week the Women's Association met at the home of Mrs. Neil MacCallum. Mrs. Joseph Stewart, a former resident of the district, was presented with an electric clock. Mrs. Stewart is now living in Vankleek Hill. . . Mr. Stewart and son, Bennett, were also guests.

Mr. William McRae of Brownsburg spent a few days with his brother Mr. John McRae here.

Sympathy of this district is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Walter Young in their recent bereavement.

Service will be held at 11 a.m. Sunday in the Harrington United Church; Sunday School at 10 a.m.

The Women's Association held their regular monthly meeting at Mrs. John McRae's on Wednesday afternoon.

Funeral of Infant Child

Funeral rites were held on Friday for the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Young, of Port Colborne. The service was held at the home of the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Campbell, conducted by the Rev. J. R. Watson, of Cushing.

Two hymns were sung, "Safe in the Arms of Jesus" and "When He Cometh".

Pall-bearers were Messrs. John, Leslie and Charles Campbell, uncles of the deceased child, and Mr. Lloyd Young. Interment was in the Avoca Protestant Cemetery.

Lakefield

The Rev. C. W. P. Baugh and son, Horace, spent several days last week visiting relatives in Buffalo, N.Y.

SWIMMER PARK, "TIRED OF FLOATERS," SETS CATALINA RECORD

—Central Press Canadian

Tom Park of Hamilton, Ont., centre, says he swam Catalina channel in California because he was tired of hearing of "floaters" who tried and failed. In swimming the 22-mile current-ridden channel, Park set a new record of 13 hours, 31 seconds. First Canadian to conquer the channel was George Young, Toronto, in 1927. Park, shown as he was wrapped in blankets after coming ashore at Palos Verdes, Calif., made no announcement of his swim beforehand.

Red Cross Appeal In St. Andrews East

St. Andrews East — After various attempts to inaugurate the 1954 appeal for funds, at request of Red Cross Headquarters the St. Andrews East Chamber of Commerce took the matter in hand, and at the September meeting Mrs. W. R. Jeffrey was appointed chairman of the campaign committee. The campaign is now concluded, with the following results:

District	Amount
Beech Ridge	$31.35
Carillon	96.75
Centreville & Isle aux Chats	17.65
Cote du Midi and La Baie	14.65
Lachute Road	28.00
River Rouge & Brown's Gore	70.00
St. Andrews Village (East Side)	92.15
St. Andrews Village (West Side)	120.00
Special Names	88.00
	$558.55

The canvassers in this district were as follows:

Mrs. F. W. Allmen, Mrs. George McDougall, Mrs. P. A. G. Mellers, Mrs. Ed Leedham, Mrs. Alfred Laroque, Mrs. Rita Decoste, Miss Leonie Ledouceur, Messrs. George Rodger, S. W. Rodger, Paul Giroux, Leopold Fournier, Stewart Forbes.

FORMER COMMISSIONER DIES

Canadian Scouting lost a strong supporter in the recent death, at his home in Toronto, of Mr. J. F. M. Stewart. A former vice-president of the Canadian General Council of the Boy Scouts Association, Mr. Stewart was Dominion Commissioner from 1943-1947. Holder of one of Scouting's top awards, the Silver Wolf, Mr. Stewart was chairman of the British Empire Scout Conference in Holland in 1937.

as we know it came into being. It picks up more than 250,000 spots of light as it scans or views an entire picture.

A model of the early Nipkow disc and of the later developments from it were on display to illustrate what Mr. Moise was saying.

Television and voice transmission via microwave was illustrated both by radio and telephone, using two miniature microwave towers set up on the stage.

Microwaves, Mr. Moise explained, travel in straight lines and that is why microwave towers are mounted on hilltops in line of sight with each other. As many as 500 long distance conversations can be carried simultaneously through the Bell's microwave facilities, which also carry CBC television programs between Montreal, Ottawa, and Toronto and link with United States television network programs from Buffalo.

"Your telephone company covers a wide field," the speaker concluded. "It has the facilities and the know-how to handle all kinds of communication jobs, to meet the needs of business and industry and to play its part in the country's defence program."

decibels, inside large quiet business office, 65; average factory noise, 75; inside empty church, 60. Other sound comparisons show that at Marlborough Golf Club, northwest of the plant, the sound level before the new installation was 94. Now it is 64.

There are two types of Maxim silencers used, each containing a series of baffles which absorb and break up sound waves, distributing them overhead where they are dissipated into the atmosphere.

As an example of the size of the installations, there is an exhaust silencer, only part of the system, which is 10 feet in diameter outside, 43 feet long, and weighs 25 tons. The entire system has cost more than $100,000.

The fact that the noise of the jet engine is being effectively subdued at Canadair means that the communities around the plant will enjoy better health, and community activities can be carried on in a normal manner. Canadair's research and the use of the Maxim silencers are an example of how the snarl of a jet engine can be reduced to a purr.

God's Kingdom on Earth A Sure Thing

Peace is as sure as tomorrow's sunrise, and just as independent of man. — Read Isaiah 9: verses 6-7, and Daniel 2: 44.

For the cause of earth's troubles — read Revelations 12: 7-12.

V. 7. There was war in heaven. Michael and his angels fought against the dragon, and the dragon fought, and his angels. . . (8) And prevailed not. Neither was there peace found anywhere in heaven. . . (9) And the great dragon was cast out, that old serpent, called the Devil, and Satan, which deceiveth the whole world. . . He was cast out into the earth; and his angels were cast out with him.

V. 10. And I heard a loud voice saying in heaven. "Now is come Salvation, and strength, and the Kingdom of our God, and the power of his Christ, for the accuser of our brethren is cast down, which accused them before our God day and night. (11) And they overcame him by the blood of the lamb, and by the word of their testimony; and they loved not their lives unto death. (12) (But) "woe" to the inhabitors of the earth, and of the sea: for the Devil has come down onto you, having great wrath; because he knoweth that he hath but a short time.

* * *

From the light of the above scriptures, might we not believe that Satan, the Devil, is responsible for the hurricanes, tornadoes, twisters, cyclones, freak blizzards, floods and avalanches, and even the abnormal tidal waves of the sea! Note: At Ephesians 2, verse 2, the Devil is called, "The prince of the power of the air."

District Deputy Visits Masonic Lodge Here

On Wednesday evening of last week Argenteuil Lodge No. 67, A.F. & A.M. was favored with an official visit from the District Deputy Grand Master, Rt. Wor. Bro. A. J. Barton, who hails from Noranda, Que., and was accompanied by several distinguished brethren.

The work of the Second Degree was exemplified by Worshipful Master Neal Moore and his officers in an efficient manner, congratulations being extended by the representative of the Grand Master, who at the Fourth Degree outlined in a short and interesting address "how to run" and "what makes" a good Lodge.

Church Service

On Sunday there was a large attendance at Cushing, when the Rev. Bro. J. R. Watson preached to members of Argenteuil Lodge and other visiting Masons.

Next Meeting

On November 8, Past Masters will conduct the meeting of this Lodge, with Wor. Bro. C. R. Cunningham occupying the chair.

A retired British colonel worked for the oil company in Abadan, Iran. The American officers admired him because he was so very proud of being so very British, but for months they tried unsuccessfully to get him to admit that something American was better or at least as good as the British counterpart.

At last one American said, "Look, colonel, you've heard of the American Revolution. You've got to admit the Americans won."

After a slight pause the Englishman replied, with studied bewilderment: "Americans? What Americans? They hadn't been there long enough. They were still British."

AMONG THE CHURCHES

Teen-Age Girls To Sponsor Program

The newly-organized teen-age girls' group of the Margaret Rodger Memorial Presbyterian Church will sponsor an illustrated travelogue with natural color slides of a trip across Western Canada to the Pacific coast, to be given by the Rev. W. Harold Reid on Monday, November 8, at 8 o'clock in the church hall.

The offering will be used for the project which the girls have adopted, of helping to supply Christian literature for villages in India.

Everyone will be welcome.

Girls' Junior Auxiliary Held Rally at Grenville

Grenville — Over 30 Junior Auxiliary girls and their leaders from Grenville and Kilmar enjoyed a beef-pie lunch last Saturday at the rectory.

Following the lunch the girls took part enthusiastically in a treasure hunt.

At the meeting afterwards, Mrs. F. Pennington, Diocesan secretary for Juniors, reported on the last Diocesan Rally, held in the Church of St. James the Apostle, Montreal. The main object of her visit was to get to know the girls and to create interest in the study book on India. A number of colored slides of the personalities in this work were shown.

Mrs. Pennington was introduced by Miss Heather Ann Lessard, president of the Grenville group, and thanked by Miss Linda Noble, president of the group from Kilmar.

Appreciation was expressed to Miss May Matthew, Mrs. P. R. Stote, Mrs. John Purcell, leaders, and to Miss Pearl Dawson, Miss Barbara Dewar, Miss Hanna Keatley and Mrs. A. Mimee, who helped with the lunch, also to Mr. A. McPhee for supplying and operating the slide projector.

Miss Norma Hall, regional supervisor of Diocesan Girls' Work, was also a guest at the Rally.

Children's Choir At Lachute United

In the presence of a large congregation, the Children's Choir of the Lachute United Church made their first official appearance Sunday evening, and during the service rendered the following anthems: "I Heard the Voice of Jesus Say" (Old English); "God That Madest Earth and Heaven" (Old Welsh); and "He Chose the Cross" (Old Irish).

The Rev. Wilson Bridge, minister of the church, paid high tribute to the 36 singers for the admirable way in which they had assisted. He also congratulated Wayne Riddell, organist, for his work in training the choir and bringing them to such a high standard.

The introduction of this Children's Choir is a new page in the musical history of Lachute United Church.

Civil Code Topic at Ministerial Meeting

The Argenteuil Protestant Ministerial Association met in the Presbyterian Church at Brownsburg last Monday. The president the Rev. Dr. W. H. Reid was in the chair.

The president conducted the devotions, after which he gave a brief outline of suggestions for the meetings for the next few months. It is hoped the Rev. E. G. McNutt will be able to give the devotional address on December 6.

The Rev. Dr. Reid introduced Mr. George Calder, of Lachute, as guest speaker. Mr. Calder discussed certain parts of the Quebec Civil Code. His remarks explained many details of legal matters pertaining to ministers, such as marriage contracts, etc. A very profitable discussion period was enjoyed by those present.

Who Was This?

By A.A.M.

The Bible is rich in stories, and the purpose of this series is to encourage readers to look up for themselves the Bible versions of these incidents. If there are children in the family it is suggested that the story, and the Bible verses on which it is based, be read aloud.

Who was the blind beggar of Jericho who shouted out to Jesus asking for help although the crowd rebuked him and told him to keep quiet? This poor man was seated by the roadside begging when he heard the tramp of many more feet than was usual. He asked why so many people were gathering. Then he was told, "Jesus of Nazareth is passing by."

The beggar must have known of Jesus' fame as a healer for at once he cried out, "Jesus, Son of David, have mercy on me!" Those in front of him were annoyed and told him to be silent. But he completely ignored their orders. This was his one chance. So he shouted all the harder.

Jesus heard his cries, stopped and commanded that the beggar be brought to Him. When the poor man came near, the Master asked "What do you want me to do for you?" The blind man answered simply, "Lord, let me receive my sight."

Jesus looked into his heart and answered, "Receive your sight; your faith has made you well."

Immediately he received his sight. He followed Jesus, glorifying God. All the crowd around about who saw this miracle gave praise to God too. Find this man's name and read this story in Luke, Chapter 18, verses 35 to 43.

Sorrows and Joys Of Autumn

There is something lonely about the Fall,
When leaves are shed and the wild geese call;
When the boats are stored in a hiding place,
The trees are bare and have lost their grace;
When the wind is blowing so cold and shrill,
And the ground looks grey beneath the hill.

But there is warmth and joy we find inside
Where the flames leap high at the old fireside;
There is coziness by the hearth within.
— Then idleness seems not a sin,
After labors spent in the days gone past —
So to present joys we now hold fast.

We sit and we rest — we read and dream,
While the North Wind blows and we hear it scream,
As it spends its fury on hill and dale
And lashes deep waters within the gale;
We open our books and sigh with content
At the end of the day which seems well spent.

Science-Minded Tips In Duck Hunting

Even the best sportsman is convinced that wildfowl hunting is the most exciting and satisfying of all shooting sports. Come misses or hits, he's probably the first to admit that ballistics is his short suit.

Perhaps it's a rare instinct or long hunting experience that places his shot where it means dinner on the table, but he will also probably admit that there is a fine science to bagging a Mallard or a Pintail as it wings by. So, for the thousands of glaze-eyed enthusiasts whose blank expression is never completely banished during the next few weeks except by a day with the webfoots, Continental Casualty's Sportsman's Guide Service offers a few science-minded tips to help grace the table.

Ducks and geese are known to be capable of very fast flight. The Canvas-back can get up and move at from 90-100 miles an hour. The Pintail can move at from 60-80 miles in 60 minutes, while the Mallard, Spoonbill and Black Duck are good for 50 to perhaps 90 miles an hour.

Let's take a Mallard winging along at 60 miles an hour and take a shot at him at the convenient distance of 20 yards. The duck is pushing along at 88-feet per second as the hunter fires a load of shot from a high velocity shell at about 1400 feet per second. Reaction-time plus shot travel-time equal about one-half second, so, from the time the hunter spots his duck, has his gun lined up, pulls the trigger, and gets his shot out to the 20-yard line, the duck has streaked about 44 feet. Now, reaction-time varies according to the individual, so perhaps shot travel-time is the most important element.

According to shot-load flight-time figures, a number 6 duck load travels the first 20 yards in about .052 seconds and 40 yards in about .122 second. The mathematical lead would be approximately 3½ feet at 20 yards and about 7½ feet at 40 yards — which means seeing plenty of daylight between the gun muzzle and the duck.

Now that we have an idea how much to lead this certain duck flying at a certain speed how do we go about accomplishing such a feat?

Well here is the unknown that puts the thrill into wildfowl hunting. This is a question of reaction-time which not only varies with every gunner but varies sometimes from day to day with the individual shooter. It probably boils down to this: that no one can tell exactly how to make most of the shots connect — you just have to get out and learn by experience.

Lachute Canadiens In Hockey Try-Out

The first practice session for the Lachute Canadiens hockey team took the form of a game with a team from the H. J. O'Connell Co. in Ste. Therese, on Monday evening. An excellent turn-out of players was present, although several of last year's team were not in evidence.

The Canadiens were defeated 7-5 — Martin, Desjardins, Corbeil and Bouvrette (2), scoring for the locals.

Positively missing from last year's ranks will be Greg Albright, now with the RCMP in Regina, Maurice Giroux, playing in the Laurentian League, and Alain Contant, who has moved from Lachute.

While all the other players are not certain, it is hoped that the majority of last year's line-up, along with a few newcomers, will appear under Lachute's colors.

THE RIFLE IS LOADED WITH TALENT

—Central Press Canadian

Versatility is the key to the phenomenal success of Montreal Alouettes' talent-loaded quarterback, Sam Etcheverry. Passing leader of the Big Four, Sam, "The Rifle," also is a dangerous runner. A typical example of his opportunist style occurred in a recent game when the league-leading Alouettes shellacked second-place Hamilton Ticats, 46-11. In the fourth quarter, Sam was chased behind his own goal-line, but by artful weaving and dodging he managed a 40-yard pass to Floyd Patterson, who raced all the way for a T.D. Etcheverry, a former Denver university pivot-man, appears certain to retain the all-star quarterback slot in Big Four he won last season.

Basketball

Two Intermediate basketball games were played at L.H.S. last week-end. The Intermediate boys won their first game by defeating Hudson, 23-10. Top scorers for Lachute were Bobby Todd, with 6 points, and Bruce Macdonald with 9. Top scorer for Hudson was G. Read, with 6 points.

The Intermediate girls suffered their first defeat of the season to Hudson, 26-27. Top scorers for Hudson were N. Johnson, 10, and C. Craig, 9. Top scorer for Lachute was Pat Stansfield, with 18 points.

This Friday night the Senior girls' and boys' basketball teams will play against Hudson at L.H.S., commencing at 7 o'clock.

Junior Football

Last Saturday afternoon the Junior footballers journeyed to Montreal to play against Dunrae Gardens, a school in the Town of Mount Royal. The game was very well played, Lachute winning by a score of 20-11. All of the Lachute boys played well, but the line play of Goodwin, Duncan, Noble and Gauley was particularly impressive. McCaskill was the leading point-getter, catching two touchdown passes thrown by Underhill, who passed and ran the ball well. The other points were registered by Goodwin, who kicked a single point, and two safety touches by Lachute's linemen.

A return games will be played this Saturday at 2 p.m. on the Lachute playground. It is hoped that the students will support these younger boys who are trying to make football one of the school's organized sports.

Centres — Sandy Jones, Bryan Noble.

Ends — Earl McCaskill, Tyrone Basinet, Reggie Beers, Glenn Swail.

Half-Backs — Wayne Laurin, Ronny Cairns, Del MacTavish, Teddy Houston.

School Basketball At Brownsburg

By Margaret Dixon

On Saturday, the Ste. Agathe basketball teams visited Brownsburg for the first game of the Junior League. The girls' game was an exciting contest. At the end of the first quarter Ste. Agathe had a lead of six points. Half-time still gave Ste. Agathe a lead with a score of 19-12. In the third quarter the Brownsburg girls played well and brought the score up to 23-19. The fourth quarter was well played with both teams evenly matched. The game ended with Ste. Agathe winning, 29-24.

Top scores for Brownsburg were Joanna Steele, 9; Jeanette Gagne, 6; and Marlene Hebert, 4. S. O'Neill, 10; B. Hoyer, 8; and M. Singer, 8; scored for Ste. Agathe.

The boys' game was a very fast encounter, with Brownsburg in the lead all the way. At the end of the first quarter the score was 9-4. In the second quarter the Brownsburg boys increased their lead to 20-10.

At the end of the third quarter Brownsburg were ahead 17 points. The Ste. Agathe boys played well during the last quarter but could not score enough points to catch up. The game ended with Brownsburg victorious, 47-32.

Top scorers for Brownsburg were Tommy Williams, 17, Alex MacGibbon, 13, and Melvyn Stewart, 10. Teddy Cole, 16, and Donald Beattie, 11, were star scorers for Ste. Agathe.

Scoring Record in National Hockey League

SPORTS CAMERA
By Gerry Lougheed,
Canadian Press Staff Writer

How long does it take a player to score 200 goals in the National Hockey League? That depends of course on the player.

Maurice (Rocket) Richard, of Montreal Canadiens did it in five seasons. For big Harry Watson of Toronto Maple Leafs, newest member of the 200-goal club, it took a little over 11 seasons.

Watson at 31 was playing his 638th NHL contest October 21 at Montreal when he reached the exclusive 200 class. Only five other men now playing have hit that mark — Richard (who is nearing the 390-mark), Ted Lindsay and Gordie Howe of Detroit Red Wings, Milt Schmidt of Boston Bruins and Toronto's Teeder Kennedy.

In the 27 years since the NHL was founded, only 28 marksmen have attained 200 or more. The record until Richard shattered it two seasons ago was 324, piled up by the old-time great Nels Stewart.

Hefty Performer

Watson, a six-foot-one 200-pound left winger, got a kick out of No. 200. But he says he got a bigger boost out of the first NHL goal he scored as a member of the now-defunct New York Americans back in 1941.

"Like every player in the league I get a thrill every time that red light flashes, signalling a goal for myself or a team-mate," Harry said.

"But I'll always remember the first one. I was just out of junior hockey (in his hometown of Saskatoon) and it was something to know that I had scored a big league goal."

Kenny Mosdell, now with Montreal, was Watson's centreman with the Americans. Harry joined Detroit the next year and played on a line with right winger Murray Armstrong and pivot Les Douglas. After two years in the Canadian army, he rejoined the Red Wings in 1945 and played with Armstrong and Sid Howe, one of Detroit's all-time greats and no relation to Detroit's present idol, Gord Howe.

When Leaf boss Conn Smythe swapped Billy Taylor to the Red Wings for Watson in 1945, Smythe had tagged the big winger as a future defenceman. Watson chuckles about his brief training camp fling behind the blue line.

"Syl Apps ended my defence career before it got started," Watson related. "He faked me right out of the St. Catharines rink. And the next day I was right alongside him on left wing and the happiest guy in the Leaf camp."

Despite his size and weight, Watson doesn't push smaller players around.

"My job is to check my wing and score as many goals as I can. I never look for trouble."

But when trouble comes after him, he doesn't step back. He has had about five fights in the NHL — and won them all.

CORRECT WORD FOR THIS FISH IS "GIGANTIC"

—Central Press Canadian

"Whoo-o-o! He's big!" That's the verdict of Douglas Rawson, age three, of Barrie, Ont., as he takes a close look at the muskie caught near Port Severn, and weighing 44 pounds. It's the biggest fish landed in the area in 15 years and it took Elwood Tharp of Cleveland, Ohio, an hour and half to subdue.

Iron Out Final Details Of Hockey League

(Our District Correspondent)

Brownsburg — An active league meeting took place at the Windsor Hotel, Vankleek Hill, last Thursday night. Alexandria and Rigaud both asked for eight or ten imports, but eventually agreed to enter the league with a 10-mile territorial radius plus six imports.

At last the formation of the league has been determined, with the first game scheduled to take place at Alexandria December 4; Rigaud will be opening-day visitors. The following day, Sunday, December 5, will be the big day in Brownsburg, when Hawkesbury will visit the Bombers.

Hawkesbury, Brownsburg and Lachute will use Brownsburg ice, and Rigaud, Alexandria and Vankleek Hill will call Alexandria "home" until the clubs have their own ice — courtesy of Mother Nature. The schedule calls for a 20-game-per-team league to be capped by two best-of-seven semi-finals and a best-of-seven final, as per NHL.

Brownsburg, Lachute and Hawkesbury will probably play a round-robin in late November for a trophy donated by J. J. Dupré of Lachute.

Mr. Dupré in passing mentioned that Maurice Giroux, last year's star defenceman, had made outlandish financial demands and would not therefore be on this year's squad. It could be, there will be some new faces in the ranks of Les Canadiens.

OUTSTANDING NAVAL CADET

A Hamilton Scoutmaster, Morrison W. Hewitt, was honored recently when he was presented with a sword by H.R.H. the Duke of Edinburgh, at Victoria, as the outstanding Canadian Naval Cadet with executive ability.

As Scoutmaster of the 52nd Hamilton (Trinity Baptist) Troop, Mr. Hewitt has a fine Scouting record in that city. He was a Wolf Cub, Scout, Patrol Leader, and Queen's Scout.

Russ Summers to Coach Brownsburg Bombers

Angles on the Sports Scene

(Our District Correspondent)

Brownsburg — In Social Club bowling in the past two weeks, the René Laurin merchandise prizes were won by Alex McCulloch (316), Germaine Brisebois (296), Frank Steere (315), and Patsy Menard (251).

The refrigeration pipes have now been installed at the rink, the pump-house is coming along, and the concrete floor will be laid this week-end. Committee members are afraid to name the day in case they put the hoodoo on it, but you get the general impression that the more optimistic are thinking in terms of two weeks from Saturday.

At the hockey club meeting, the coach problem was ended when Russ Summers was appointed and consented to take over the arduous task. Next week he will call a meeting of all the players in the district, junior or senior. Early returns in the sale of advertising indicate that local merchants are well aware of the program's possibilities as a publicity medium.

(By the way, about that concrete floor — if you like to be able to say, "I helped install that ice", come out on Saturday and help!)

"No Age In Which We Can Live So Richly", Says Book Week Patron

Arthur Lismer, R.C.A., LL.D., the celebrated Canadian artist and the Educational Supervisor of the Montreal Museum of Fine Arts, is the patron of the 1954 Young Canada's Book Week. Mr. Lismer has penned a message for Young Canada's Book Week, as follows:

I am greatly honored to become the Patron of Young Canada's Book Week, and now I am perplexed about what an artist should say about books for children of all ages. The pressing problem, as always, is to bring the right kind of books to children, at the time they need them, and of the kind they need at that time. As this commendable task is the foundation and dedication of the Canadian Library Association there is little further to be said about it.

Books are keys — keys to treasure houses; the price of admission is curiosity and the will to adventure. The promotors of spurious fiction offer escapes from reality by vulgarisms of word and picture. They are active, as never before, enticing the spirit of growing youth into impossible and fictitious realms of space and time, and into the lower realms of crime and subhuman trivialities. It is no use protesting and legislating against such invasions unless we have something to put in their place. There is no protection against it. They come unhidden over the air, into the printed word, onto the television screen. The worst effect is the viciousness of the attack on taste and selectivity, on decency and survival of higher standards. The only defence is to arm youth with weapons and keys. Weapons — the cultural presentation of books and pictures that reveal the hidden world of beauty and marvels of design in nature, of stories and adventures of real people into the sustaining things of the spirit and amid the wonders of science and art. Keys — these are hidden also but come to hand and mind through a child's reading and his dreams of vistas opening into a future, a world that will require his hands, eyes, and mind, to bring about the experience of a higher reality, a quality of living revealed through the minds and through the arts of man, through books and through looking with awe, wonder, and delight at a world always renewing itself to those with eyes to see, with ears to listen, to sights and sounds of beauty and significance.

There is no age in which we can live so richly as in our own day.

TO REVIVE OLD-TIME WINTER CARNIVALS

Quebec — A. F. Mercier, general manager of Le Soleil Limitée, was appointed head of a group of businessmen seeking to revive the old-time Quebec winter carnivals.

The group said the carnival this year will start January 6 and last until Mardi Gras, the day before Ash Wednesday. It is scheduled to feature snow castles, winter sports, parades, at least two all-night celebrations and the crowning of a Quebec beauty as Carnival Queen.

Program for Canada's Book-Loving Youth

Every week is "Young Canada Book Week" on a number of private Canadian radio stations across Canada. Once a week, announcers across Canada say, "Yes, the Teen-Age Book Parade!" And what wonderful adventures are in store for you — adventures in the gay, thrilling, funny, stimulating world of books! We have asked a well-known Canadian author to tell you about such books — books he thinks you young Canadians will get a real kick out of reading. The Canadian author is Charles Clay, who has himself written books for young Canadians. Have you read his novels like "Young Voyageur" and "Phantom Fur Thieves", and his story of our Queen called "Long Live the Queen"? Each week Mr. Clay gives you an entertaining and challenging report about some great book, or about some author and his work, or about some worthwhile subject which several authors discuss dramatically. Young Canadians are finding Mr. Clay's ideas both exciting and inspiring.

For two years now, Mr. Clay has been telling young Canadians about books on his weekly 15-minute program. In those two years, he has introduced Canadian 'teen-agers to almost five hundred books, and to more than two hundred authors. The subjects of the books have ranged from adventure in the arctic to nursing to the RCMP. However, 20% of the books reviewed are by Canadians and 25% about Canada.

Books reviewed are selected to appeal to both boys and girls. For example, Mr. Clay's review of "The Mystery Horse", a novel by the Calgary author Louise Riley, appealed to boys more than girls, judging by the mail response. However, girls were most interested in the review of Labrador Nurse", B. J. Banfill's story of nursing in the sub-arctic Labrador. Other books, such as Grey Owl's Half Breed" and James Ulman's "High Conquest" were of equal interest to boys and girls.

The member stations of the Canadian Association of Radio and Television Broadcasters launched the Teen Age Book Parade in an earnest attempt to divert the attention of 'teen-agers from cheap literature to worthwhile books and to do this with a positive approach, rather than through the negative angle of censorship with all its attendant dangers. Emphasis is placed on reading for pleasure and enjoyment in a manner designed to stimulate reading of good books by 'teen-agers'

PREPARED AND WILLING

Faced with the problem of distributing 350,000 Red Feather News Sheets on the eve of a campaign to raise $3,575,000, the Toronto Community Chest called on the Toronto Metropolitan Area Council of the Boy Scouts Association for help.

Between Septmber 29 and October 2, some 5,000 Toronto Scouts delivered the 350,000 news sheets in a service project that entailed a visit to every private residence in Toronto.

The Plouffe Family

Here they are, those happy-go-lucky French-Canadians who are winning friends wherever there are TV sets in Canada. Based on Roger Lemelin's best-seller "Les Plouffe", the family became an institution in Quebec when it was introduced on the CBC French radio and TV networks. In view of the enthusiastic public response which set new fan-mail records, the humorous and tender stories of the Plouffes are being presented on the CBC-TV network in English, using the same cast. Above, are Mama and Papa Plouffe, with their four grown-up children, Cecile, Napoleon, Ovide and Guillaume. The CBC-produced "Plouffe Family" may be seen on all TV stations in Canada.

Theme Tonight, "How Different Is Quebec"

How different is Quebec? Recent speeches by Prime Minister St. Laurent and Premier Duplessis have raised this question in the minds of many Canadians. The CBC's Citizens' Forum program, in the first of its monthly "in the news" features, has decided to use this question as a basis for discussion for its broadcast this evening (Thursday).

Panelists for the program will be: Gerard Pelletier, editor of Le Travail, chairman of Les Idées en Marche, and union organizer of the Canadian and Catholic Confederation of Labour; M. Marcel Faribault, secretary-general of the University of Montreal; and J. B. McGeachy, editorial writer, Toronto Globe and Mail. Neil Morrison of the CBC will be the chairman.

Broadcast time is 7.45 p.m. EST.

People who use sarcasm deserve to get a comeuppance, so we liked the story of the father who was wheeling his new son's carriage. He was asked by a passerby, "That your baby?"

"No," said the father. "I borrowed it from a neighbor."

"Hmm," replied the other, taking a closer look, "ugly little beast, isn't he?" — The Reader's Digest

Apples are now selling in this market at $3 a barrel.

Mr. Poitras informs us that he will have the Lachute Woollen and Carding Mills in full operation on Monday next. The cloth mill has two spinning jacks and the carding mill contains three sets of cards.

The protested judging in a certain class at the plowing match will in all probability amount to nil — as on Hallowe'en night someone harrowed the ground down!

The farmers of this vicinity are almost through with their plowing.

The official recount gives Mr. G. H. Perley, Conservative, a majority of 176 over Mr. Thos. Christie. The vote this year was the largest ever polled in this country, there being a total, counting the 20 rejected ballots, of 2,876 votes polled.

25 YEARS AGO

November 8, 1929 —

While motoring from Dalesville to attend church in Lachute last Sunday, Lorne Tomalty had the misfortune to be run into by Mr. Carrière, of Pine Hill. Mrs. Tomalty and Mr. and Mrs. Godfrey Dixon were badly bruised, and Mr. Dixon is suffering from two cracked ribs. Jim Calder, who was also in the car, escaped unhurt.

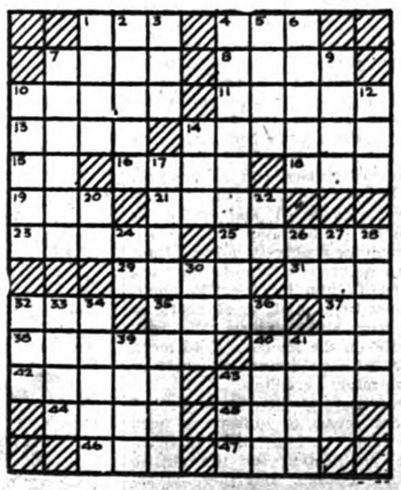

Mr. Donald Colquhoun, of Weir, while hunting deer a few days ago just a mile from the Lachute - St. Jovite highway in the Glen of Harrington, met five bears, of which he killed three and wounded the fourth — also killing a fine buck the same day.

Some moths and butterflies can detect the presence of sugar when it is one part in 300,000 parts of water, the November Reader's Digest reports. One part sugar to 200 water is the extreme limit at which human taste can detect sweetness. As to the sense of smell — some male moths can catch the scent of a female nine miles away.

HIGHLAND DANCER HAS MANY MEDALS

Amherst, N.S. (CP) — Cairine Fillmore has been a highland dancer since she was 11 years old. She's 18 now, and the medals she has won almost hide her black velvet doublet.

She won three gold medals a year after she started dancing, in competitions at the Gaelic Mod at St. Ann's, N.S., and has added to them year by year. Cairine is Nova Scotia's grand champion of Highland dancing and has won senior and intermediate titles of Eastern Canada and the New England states.

Favorite among her trophies is the rose bowl, a coveted award donated by Dame Flora MacLeod, chief of the clan MacLeod. She won the bowl two years in succession.

Women's Interests -- The Homemaker's Section

Freezing Meat And Poultry

Just at this time you may be thinking of freezing meat and poultry for winter use, in your home freezer or at your local locker plant. If you have room for storing a considerable quantity of meat you will probably buy a hind or front quarter of beef and perhaps a side of pork. In this case it is best to have the butchering, chilling, aging and wrapping done by a butcher or locker plant operator and if possible have the meat quick frozen at the locker before storing.

You will find that beef, pork and fowl are in good supply now and are good buys for freezing. The home economists of the Consumer Section tell us that good quality meat and poultry will freeze well if it is carefully handled and wrapped for freezing. A carcass should be chilled at least 24 hours before freezing at a temperature of 34°F. to 38°F. Beef is usually aged five to seven days and pork frozen immediately after thorough chilling. It is considered best to age beef for freezing for less time if it is to be sold as fresh since longer aging will hasten the development of rancidity.

If you haven't room to freeze much meat or poultry at a time, you might take advantage of the "specials" at your butcher shop and buy several roasts or birds the size and weight suitable for the family dinner. Remember not to overload your freezer or locker since the more food that is piled into the freezer at one time, the longer it will take to freeze. It should be frozen as quickly as possible in the coldest part of your freezer and should be placed so that one side of the food has contact with the cold plates or wall of the freezer. To save freezer space it is best to have meat boned before wrapping, and excess fat removed. Stewing meat may be boned and cubed.

Cuts of meat may be packaged individually in freezer wrappings or bags and the type of meat, weight and date should be marked on the package. Steaks, chops or ground meat patties may be packaged together in freezer wrappings or bags. It is best to place a double layer of moisture-proof paper between the pieces of meat so that they are more easily separated. Poultry should be drawn, washed, dried and thoroughly cooled before freezing. The whole birds should be trussed and carefully wrapped. It is best to draw the birds before freezing and wrap the neck and giblets separately in freezer bags or cartons. The birds may also be disjointed, cut in pieces and packaged according to the desired number of servings. Broilers may be left whole or cut in halves and wrapped.

Special freezing material should be available from your local locker plant, paper company, department store or mail order office. Metal foil, moisture-vapour-proof cellophane, locker paper, laminated paper and plastic films may all be used. Moisture-vapour-proof cellophane or plastic films may be heat sealed, loeker paper taped or tied with string and metal foil simply shaped around the food. If freezer bags are used they should be heat sealed or tied.

The drugstore method of wrapping meat or poultry is best to use as it ensures the tightest possible closing. The food is placed in the centre of the wrapping paper and the two edges are brought together over the top. The edges are folded over two or three times until the wrapping fits closely around the food forming a tight seal and leaving as little air space as possible. The air should be forced out of the ends of the parcel by pressing the hand outward to the edges of the paper.

There are certain time limits for holding meat and poultry successfully in frozen storage. In general, large cuts of meat can be held considerably longer in storage than small pieces. For example, stewing meat, particularly if it is very fat, is best stored for only one month. After this time it may develop off-flavors. Sausages and weiners should not be stored longer than one month. Chops may be stored from three to four months before developing off-flavors. Steaks may be held about six months. It is best to freeze one-inch thick steaks since thinner ones are apt to dry out. Cuts of beef may be stored eight to twelve months, lamb six to eight months and pork and veal four to six months. Minced or ground meat does not freeze as well for the same length of time.

It is not practical to store poultry for long periods when freezer space is limited. Chicken, fowl and turkey may be stored up to one year if desired but cut-up poultry should be stored only six months. Geese and ducks should not be stored longer than three months because the fat may develop off-flavors.

Meat may be thawed at room temperature or in the refrigerator or it may be put on to cook while still frozen. Thawing times will vary depending on the size, shape and thickness of the meat. If you wish to thaw a roast or steak at room temperature allow one and a half to two hours per pound, that is, a four pound roast of meat will require up to eight hours to thaw at room temperature. To thaw the same roast in the refrigerator will take six to eight hours per pound or approximately 32 hours. If you wish to cook the roast frozen, it will take ten to fifteen minutes longer per pound than it would take for fresh meat. For example, a four pound rolled rib roast which would normally take 35 to 40 minutes per pound in a 325°F. oven would take at least forty-five to fifty minutes per pound to cook frozen. So, ladies, just remember the next time you have a roast for dinner, be sure and do some mental arithmetic first so that the roast will be ready on time.

Steaks and chops may be cooked thawed or frozen. Thawed steaks will take the same time to cook as fresh. Frozen steaks are more difficult to cook than thawed, particularly if they are thick ones for it is hard to brown them properly on the outside and still have the centre cooked. Genarally, one-inch frozen steaks will take about twice as long to panfry, as the fresh or thawed steaks and chops cut one-half inch thick will also take about twice as long to panfry.

Poultry is best eviscerated, that is, drawn before freezing. It may then be thawed before cooking, stuffed with freshly prepared dressing and cooked as fresh poultry allowing the same cooking time. Thawing times will vary depending on the size and shape of the bird. As a general rule, poultry requires about six hours per pound to thaw in the refrigerator or one and one-half hours per pound at room temperature.

Broiler halves may be thawed and cooked as fresh broilers or cooked frozen. Chicken cut-ups may be thawed and panfried as fresh pieces or cooked frozen. Frozen pieces are a little more difficult to fry since the fat has a tendency to spatter. For this reason you should use a covered pan to brown and fry the frozen pieces. They may also be oven baked either thawed or frozen. If you wish to cook broiler halves or cut-up chicken while still frozen, you must increase the cooking time by approximately one-half.

A mosquito's wings can beat more than 300 times a second, the November Digest says. The high thin whine of a midge is the sound of wings beating 1,000 times a second.

Indian Pudding

By Betty Barclay

Autumn — chilly, invigorating, appetite stimulating! Time to make a hearty dessert. That traditional American dish, Indian Pudding, rounds off a real October meal to which every American family ought to treat itself in the fall.

Indian Pudding

3 Tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca, 4 cups milk, scalded, 1 egg, well beaten, ¼ cup corn meal, 1/3 cup sugar, ½ cup molasses, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon vanilla, 2 tablespoons butter.

Add quick-cooking tapioca to milk in double boiler. Combine egg, corn meal, sugar, molasses, and salt. Add to tapioca mixture and cook 2 minutes, stirring constantly. Add vanilla and butter. Pour into greased 1½-quart baking dish and bake in slow oven (300°) about 1 hour. (Pudding will whey.) Serve warm with cream or ice cream. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

Lunch-Packing Hints

When packing the daily lunch box, wrap similar sandwiches together to prevent mingling of flavors. Lettuce and other fresh vegetables should not be included in the sandwiches, but wrapped separately to ensure crispness and freshness.

* * *

An attractive paper place-mat and paper napkin packed just under the cover of the lunch box will make lunchtime eating more pleasant and home-like.

* * *

Especially for children, a daily surprise package tucked into the corner of the lunch box will be an appetite tempter. A favorite cookie, several juicy dates stuffed with peanut butter, neatly wrapped packages of raisins or nuts, or a tiny puzzle, will make lunchtime a happy time, when the daily mystery package can be opened and enjoyed.

* * *

SNACKING

Although it seems right as rain to us, our North American eating set-up of "three squares a day" must seem extremely odd to a great many people in the world who take four, five or even six meals a day as a matter of course. Actually it must seem odd even to us, unconsciously, since few of us actually do eat three square meals a day. Some of us eat only one, a large number of us eat two, and probably most of us eat at least four.

The eating routine of the average urban worker is something like this. A.M.: Butterflies in the stomach. That extra half hour of sleep was nice but now he's in a terrible rush to get to work on time. He believes in big breakfasts, tells other people they should start off the day with a good meal, but all he can get down with any assurance of retention is a cup of coffee, and maybe a little fruit juice. No conversation. Noon: A big lunch, heavy on the meat and potatoes; pie for dessert, coffee. 5 P.M.: If possible a sandwich and coffee, or peanuts or a candy bar. If not possible he drools till quitting time, when he grabs a bite of something to fortify him for the trip home. Supper time: A big meal, heavy on the meat and potatoes. Midnight: A raid on the ice-box. Cold meat, cake, left-over dessert, or whatever there might be. Finis.

Our natural tendency toward snacks seems to indicate a need for them. Perhaps there is scientific justification for the British teatime custom. But there is another side to the snacking picture, as shown by the following question and answer.

* * *

Question:

"My children are in the seventh and eighth grades. Both feel they should have at least 25 cents a day for afternoon snacks at the corner store. They claim most of the older children receive at least this much, just for snacks. I know they are hungry when they come home from school, and it has been my practice to give them at least a glass of milk and some apples and oranges, and on cold days a bowl of soup and buttered toast. What will happen if they buy their own snacks?"

* * *

Answer:

Your policy has been wise. Try to resist the pressure as long as you can. Most children are ravenous after school, and there is no harm in giving them wholesome food such as milk, cheese, fruit, etc., provided you do not give them enough to spoil their supper appetites. However, it is rather unlikely that any spending money you give them for "snacking" at the corner store will be spent on such foods. Customarily, youngsters spend their snacking money on such things as ice cream, candy or soft drinks.

Certainly you should be stubborn about mid-morning recess-time snacks. A good lunch is important to a growing child, and how many children are able to eat properly at noon after filling up on sweets at 10 or 10.30 in the morning. It might be practical to give your children a limited amount of spending money under very strict conditions. Put them on their honor not to snack during mid-morning recess, find out what sort of snacks are available at the corner store and impress on your children the importance of sticking to the proper foods, in moderation, and cut off the spending money immediately when they show that their afternoon snacking is interfering with their zest for supper.

High Voltage

ALUMINUM CABLE from Canada was used in a Peruvian high-voltage power line, installed at altitudes of from 13,000 to 15,000 feet—the world's highest. Canada supplied not only the cable but also the technical assistance required on this record job. We imagine that aluminum's light weight was particularly appreciated by the llamas or whatever other beasts of burden were used to get the cable to the top.

In the rugged mountain country of British Columbia where Alcan's own huge Kitimat development is going on, the aluminum transmission lines used represent another record: they are the largest-diameter overhead power lines in the world. Aluminum Company of Canada, Ltd. (Alcan).

Fashions

Glowing satin in a rich copper color is a good choice for late day and small dinner wear. Self trimming adds the proper touch since the rich fabric and color require no extraneous accent. The dress has narrow bowed bands in double rows at the neck, sleeves and hips where they define a yoke. The bodice buttons snugly. The skirt is umbrella-gored and the whole dress is lined. Satin is growing in popularity as is the self-trimmed dress with fine detail.

FOR PARENTS ONLY...

A Weekly Feature of Helpful Hints on Child Training

Books and Your Child

(Copyright) — By NANCY CLEAVER —

"We have a new TV set and our two children haven't looked at a book for two months. They used to go to the library every week." Have you heard a parent saying this?

"All my boy will read is the funnies — and he wastes his time reading every comic book he can lay his hands on. He just doesn't seem interested in good books," one mother said regretfully.

"Well, at least he's reading something," her friend replied, "Ever since my daughter reached her teens she wants to spend all her leisure time and money on going to the movies. The only books she reads all year round are the supplementary reading ones. Her teacher insists the class must hand in written reviews on these.

"We are going to celebrate Book Week in our family by visiting a Book Store and each of us buying one new book," a third mother said. "We think budgeting for books is the best way to show our children we value them."

How can a parent encourage a child to love books? The indirect influence of a father or mother who enjoys reading is bound to have an effect on a boy or girl sooner or later. If books find a place in the family budget, if reading is enjoyed by grown ups and the volumes in the bookcase are taken from their places and read, a child will naturally think that reading is an enjoyable activity. Surely reading should be a real delight — not a hard duty!

Reading aloud at bed time is a custom in many homes before children start to school. What a pity this good habit is so often dropped! A family can have such fun reading aloud a book which they all enjoy, or short selections from a favorite volume or brief poems.

Once a boy or girl has learned to read, do give him the opportunity to read aloud from time to time in the home circle — let your child chose the story he would like to share with the family. Give him your individed attention while he is reading. Enter into his enjoyment of the scenes which the writer pictures and praise him for reading well.

A little bookshelf in a child's room is an excellent idea. An orange crate may be sandpapered and painted by a youngster with a little help from father and this forms a satisfactory book case which costs only a few cents. At Christmas and on birthdays, good books should be among a boy's or girl's gifts — and by good is meant books which are well-written, suitable for his age level, of real interest to a lively youngster.

The child finds in books, treasures from every corner of the globe. From Sweden comes Selma Lagerlof's The Wonderful Adventures of Nils, from France, the Three Musketeers, from Italy Pinochio, from Switzerland Heidi. How many lovely books have come from British writers — from Beatrix Potter's tale of Peter Rabbit for tiny tots to Charles Kingsley's The Water Babies, Robert Louis Stevenson's Treasure Island and Daniel Dafoe's Robinson Crusoe. The Wizard of Oz by L. Frank Baum and many other series are by U.S. writers. The School Train by Helen Archer has a Canadian north woods setting while Breastplate and Buckskin by George E. Tait, a Canadian is a story of the outstanding explorers of the Americas.

Why do certain children become book enthusiasts? Some enjoy the escape from their world into the Never-Never Land of Peter Pan or Alice in Wonderland or Grimm's Tales or Barbarb, the Elephant's adventures. Others delight in the magic of poetry in A. A. Milne's Now We Are Six, or Robert Louis Stevenson's A Child's Garden of Verses, or Walter de la Mare's Rhymes and Verses. Rudyard Kipling's Just So Stories and Kenneth Grahame's The Wind in the Willows have charmed countless children and so have Booth Tarkington's Penrod tales, and Mark Twain's Adventure of Tom Sawyer. Lassie Comes Home by Eric Knight and My Friend Flicka by Mary O'Hara are among the most prized books with the story of dog or a horse as its theme.

A taste for biography is shown in odler boys and girls who appreciate such stories as The Great Houdini by Beryl Williams, and Samuel Epstein, Leonardo da Vinci Ripley or Corneilia Meig's Invincible Louisa, (the story of Louisa May Alcott who wrote Little Women) and Little Giant, the story of Henry Kelsey the great Canadian Prairie Explorer by Olive Knox.

In a recent book by Josette Franks, "Your Child's Reading Today" the writer says "books are still the background of our accumulated knowledge and culture." This is true — but whether or not a boy or girl claims this treasure depends very much on parents. Are you helping your child to love reading?

DUTIES FOR WOMEN IN MINEWATCHING SERVICE

London — Women can now volunteer for duty afloat in the Royal Naval Minewatching Service. In time of war the Service will be responsible for spotting and reporting the position of aerial mines laid around the coasts of the United Kingdom. The women will operate instruments which record the time and bearing of mines dropped by enemy aircraft, and the communication equipment by which information is transmitted to a reporting centre.

"Mean Trick" at Hallowe'en

Contrary to the considerate behavior reported in other sections over Hallowe'en, one incident here has aroused indignation among those informed of the case. A local resident writes this correspondent as follows:

"It has come to my notice that the aerial of a TV, used by an invalid as almost the only diversion, was cut on Saturday evening by pranksters (so called). Treats were provided for all who came to the door, so it was not lack of kindly reception that led to this "trick". . . All right-thinking folk will condemn the meanness of such acts — and it is hoped that this expression of opinion will reach the malicious jokesters responsible."

Lessons From History

By Lewis Milligan

Politicians, economists, and labor leaders in particular can learn much from even an elementary study of history, ancient and modern. One of the most instructive periods is that of the first two centuries A.D. of the Roman Empire. The Romans had gained their empire by military conquest, followed by liberal treatment of the conquered peoples. In their wars with Carthage they had released the Mediterranean from the control of Carthaginian merchants who were trade monopolists and claimed exclusive rights in those waters, sinking foreign trading ships on sight. In Rome itself, however, there was constant intrigue and often open battles between political groups for power. As in Soviet Russia today, the Roman emperors thought nothing of their rivals on trumped-up charges, and several emperors were assassinated by their guards.

Many and varied were the types of emperors, and they resorted to a variety of means of appalling or pleasing the populace. Nero, the most brazen and cruel of the despots, posed as a patron of the arts. To empress his subjects he built an enormous palace, garnished with gold and precious stones, in the portal of which was a statue of himself one hundred feet high. He over-played the part, however, and was forced to commit suicide.

In the following year there were three emperors, one after the other, all of whom died violent deaths. The next emperor, Vespasian, was the very opposite in type to that of Nero. He was the typical modern glad-hander who wise-cracked in public and considered himself one of the people. He commenced the building of the famous Coleseum to providde thrilling diversion for the populace. He restored the state from bankruptcy and died a natural death after ten years of efficient administration.

Seventeen years later, Domitian, another autocrat, came to power. He was very efficient, but ruthless — a mixture of Stalin and Hitler. He employed a host of informers and one never knew who would be the next victim of the emperor's suspicion. He enjoyed terrorizing his friends with hints of their impending doom. The tables were turned and he himself was murdered. He was followed by Nerva who dismissed the informers and sought to placate the people with policies familiar in our own times: state loans to farmers at moderate interest, and "mothers" allowances" to help pay the cost of bringing up a family. Naturally, such paternal policies were popular, but they called for more and more state aid and higher taxes.

Gradually there was a slowing-down of industry and trade. As a remedy, farm laborers were compelled to work on the fields, were bound to the land and sank to the condition of serfs. Skilled workmen were compelled to join guilds (closed shops) and the guilds were compelled to produce commodities according to government planning. Business was placed under similar restrictions. The Emperior Diocletian issued an edict setting the maximum price at which goods might be sold, and denonced "unrestrictel profiteering" and "rampant individualism" as the causes that made the regulations necessary.

Things went from bad to worse. Merchants went out of business to avoid excessive taxation, and guild workers tried to escape forced labor by enlisting in the army. Municipal councils of towns and cities were compelled to raise taxes, and when the money could not be obtained from others, the councillors themselves had to pay over everything they owned. The final result was that the value or "purchasing power" of money was debased and it ceased to be widely used. Industry and commerce all but vanished, and the standard of living became very low. Imperial authority collapsed.

Thus the decline of the Roman Empire began before the barbarian nations invaded Italy without resistance. As one historian puts it: "A general decline of trade caused unemployment in the cities. At the same time there came a drift from the country into the cities. The result was an idle, shiftless mob which politicians kept quiet by free distribution of bread, oil, wine, and free shows." Yes, we can learn much from history.

Guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Whinfield this week were Mr. and Mrs. Steve Arnold, of Halifax, Mr. and Mrs. L. Jorgensen, of Three Rivers, and Mr. Gordon Arnold, of Ottawa.

Miss Joyce Welden has opened a clothing store on Main Street. Her many friends wish her success in this business venture.

Mr. Clarence Smith is at present a patient in hospital in Montreal; friends wish him a quick recovery to health.

Among those from here who attended the Mott-Grainge wedding in St. Andrew's Anglican Church, Montreal, were Mrs. T. G. Foreman, grandmother of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Foreman, Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Foreman, Mr. David Foreman, Miss Penny Foreman, Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Murphy, Mr. and Mrs. R. G. White and Mrs. Harry Druce.

90th Birthday Party

Mr. and Mrs. Harry White entertained at a family dinner party at "Whiteacres" on Sunday in honor of Miss Emily White, who celebrated her 90th birthday. Four generations of the White family were present, and 20 guests sat down to the turkey dinner. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. John White and family, Mr. and Mrs. Bob White and family, Mr. and Mrs. Art White and little son, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Whinfield and daughter, Rosemary, Mr. and Mrs. L. Jorgensen, of Three Rivers, and Mr. Gordon Arnold, of Ottawa.

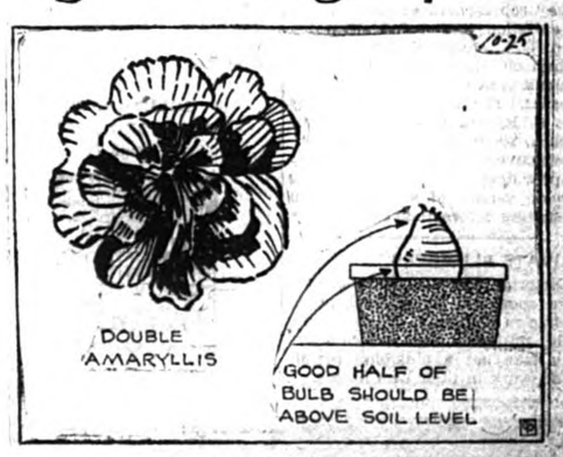

50 Household Servants

There are more than 50 different household electrical appliances in use in Canada today, compared to only 19 in 1930.

Garden-Graph

No bulb for use indoors can compete with the magnificent amaryllis for flower size and beauty. And now, to add glamor, a new and rare, double-flowered amaryllis has been introduced.

The "new look" of the flower of this double amaryllis is shown in the accompanying Garden-Graph.

Since the amaryllis bulb differs in its culture habits from many other bulbs, its own special requirements should be observed.

The bulb should not be potted until growth begins. Meanwhile, it should be kept dry and warm.

The bulb will do better when planted in a pot that allows only an inch or so of space between the widest part of the bulb and the sides of the container. A good half of the bulb should be above soil level, as illustrated.

Store the potted bulb in a dark and slightly warm room and water only occasionally. When the flower stalk is about four inches high, bring the plant out into the light and water more frequently.

As the flower buds develop weak liquid manure water is helpful, but should be applied, only after the regular watering, for fear of burning the bulb. With the buds developing, the plant likes sunlight and a temperature of at least 72 degrees.

After the bulb blooms it takes quite a while for the foliage to complete its growth and on a healthy, vigorous leaf growth depends next year's flowers.

Have You A Question ON UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE OR EMPLOYMENT?

In this column we publish questions about unemployment insurance and employment, together with answers received from the Unemployment Insurance Commission.

If you are uncertain about any point do not hesitate to send your question to your district Unemployment Insurance office. We will obtain an answer and publish it in this column.

Q. I have been out of work for some time and drawing unemployment insurance benefits. My neighbor who is ill has offered me $10.00 a week to do some light work in his cellar. If I take that job can I still draw my benefits?

A. Whether or not you will be able to draw benefit while working for your neighbor will depend on the hours worked, nature of the work, and so on. It is suggested that you consult your local office, giving full particulars. In any event, be sure to report to your local office any work that you do while on benefit.

* * *

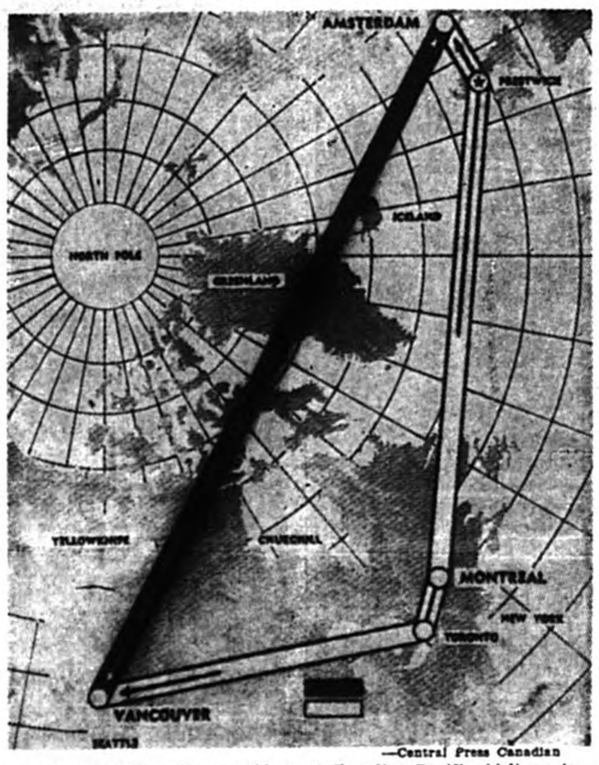

Q. For ten years I have been a carpenter and I have my card. Last winter I worked for two months as a lumberjack. If I refuse to perform a similar job next winter will I be refused benefit?

A. If work as a lumberjack is considered by the insurance officer as suitable employment for you having regard to your physical condition, age, past work history, etc., and you refuse such a job, you may be disqualified for a period up to six weeks.

POLAR ROUTE FOR CANADIAN AIRLINE?

—Central Press Canadian

Grant McConachie, president of Canadian Pacific Airlines, is asking the government's permission to authorize him to pioneer a new Polar route between Vancouver, B.C., and Amsterdam. Travelling in a great circle over Canada's northwest and sub-Polar regions, over Greenland and Iceland, the route flight plan cuts the distance from the west coast to Europe by 1,000 miles against existing across-Canada and trans-Atlantic air lanes. CPA's passenger planes can make the trip in 17 hours with only one stop for refuelling. This is a diagram outlining the proposed Polar route.

Wildlife Course Unique in Canada

Broad Training Given Students At Ontario Agricultural College

Guelph, Ont. (CP) — The Ontario Agricultural College this fall starts its second term for students whose ambition is a career in conservation of Canada's wildlife.

The college, first in Canada to offer a Bachelor of Arts degree in wildlife management, is continuing the class although enrolment is below capacity.

For the first two years students take regular arts subjects with particular emphasis on science and agriculture. During the last two terms of the four-year course they specialize in wildlife management, one of 14 advanced optional courses. The wildlife course is unique in Canada.

Before entering the fourth and final year students must spend a summer in the field at practical work.

Course director is Dr. A. de Vos, a biologist with the fish and wildlife division of the department of lands and forests.

"An agricultural college is a logical place for training in wildlife management because the wildlife biologist should be well indoctrinated in the multiple principle of land use," says Dr. de Vos.

Well-Rounded Course

"This course in wildlife management is not aiming to train technolobists with a narrow outlook, but rather it will try to train well-rounded conservationists and field biologists with a sound understanding of modern approaches in multiple land use."

Students in OAC's wildlife course receive practical training by plenty of foot slogging through open fields to observe the ways of nature.

They learn to know Canada's song birds, the good hawks and the bad ones, the relationship between the birds, mammals and the land on which they live.

Training is given in fish management principles, diseases and life hitsories of game animals and fish, rearing and care of game girds, studies in field ornithology and mamalogy and biology of fresh water fish.

In October and November during bird migration days, students will study at two game farms near the college and the Migratory Bird Sanctuary within hailing distance of the campus.

Observes Increasing Exaltation of Man In Modern Education

(TO THE EDITOR)

The present educational drift is anti-supernaturalistic, anti-Biblical and anti-theistic. Harvard has long since bowed out religion as unimportant for this atomic age. Massachusetts Institute of Technology leaders ridicule the dogmas of our Christian faith, where two thousand scientists are being trained to go forth and proclaim their new "wisdom". A leading scientist of the California Institute of Technology flies back from Paris to introduce the Red Dean of Canterbury at Los Angeles. The Supreme Court of the U.S.A. has all but ruled the Bible out of public schools so as not to offend anti-Christian citizens of other faiths. Totalitarianism states increasingly need the education to control men's minds and thereby their bodies. This "dictatorship over the spirit" brings to mind two pharses of the New Testament, "the spirit of the world" and "the spirit of error." Prominent educationalists admit our present-day young people as a lost generation spiritually.

Here we provide the precise situation for authoritarianism to take over. . . Just what is our godless, Bible-less, Christian secular education preparing for? An educational system of falsehood has dismissed God and is still correct in science, but dismisses the history of Incarnation, the greatest event of all times. In true science all things originate in God. In correct ethics faith in God comes first, otherwise man is left to nature's laws and a worship of himself. Herein was the tragedy of Greek intellectualism. Paul long ago warned of this our great way of modern thought: "In whom the God of this world hath blinded the minds of the unbelieving, that the light of the gospel of the glory of Christ, who is the image of God, should not dawn upon us." (2 Cor. 4.) Loss of the knowledge of the true God, of necessity opens the way to a false god, as found in Rev. 13.

Some religion, true or false, is a human necessity. The present drive is for world government, a world religion, world textbooks and a world university preparing our age for Rev. 17.13.17.

With God eliminated, as revealed in Jesus Christ, will follow desertion of ethical standards, even now in evidence. Our beautiful phrases of liberty, freedom, independence, personality, etc., eventually mean lawlessness. This very thing happened long ago in Athens when war followed by plague ended all their greatness.

"Education for Modern Man" claims moral ideals do not rest on supernatural foundations. When this philosophy dominates us the stage will be set for the Revelation judgments. The state in Protestism has usurped education; the true church's answer is "We ought to obey God rather than man." (Extracts are from W. M. Smith, D.D.)

Manufacturers Told Canadian Woollen Industry Unexcelled

Henry Brown, OBE, former Wool Administrator of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board told the 32nd annual convention of the Canadian Woollen and Knit Goods Manufacturers Association in Ottawa last week that the Canadian wool industry can claim "knowledge, skill and resourcefulness" equal to that of any other country and "we are equally well equipped."

More than 200 members of the Association meeting in the Chateau Laurier were welcomed to Ottawa by Mayor Whitton at a luncheon. The association presented her with two woollen blankets made by an Ottawa Valley mill, symbolic of the industry's importance to the Ottawa Valley.

In honor of the two-day convention of Ottawa department stores co-operated by featuring window and counter displays of Canadian-made wool fabrics and knitted goods set off by display cards carrying the slogan, "Canadian Textiles — Designed for You."

Allan L. Code, of Perth, president of the Association, presided at the annual dinner in the Chateau Laurier Tuesday night, after which the Association of Canadian Couturiers presented a collection of 50 suits, coats, dresses and evening gowns made exclusively of Canadian wool fabrics. The display included after-ski creations made from local Ayers blankets.

"Fifty Years in Canadian Wool Textiles" was the subject of Mr. Brown's address. Fifty years ago Canada's infant wool textile industry was facing conditions strikingly similar to those which the industry faces today. "We had, and have, a depressed industry in the midst of a fast-expanding economy," he said. "We had, and have, to compete with the knowledge, skill and advantageous trading position of seasoned rivals."

Army Benevolent Fund To Assist Dependents

Montreal — J. G. Watier, secretary of the Provincial Committee of the Army Benevolent Fund, states that arrangements have now been made under which the dependents of Canadian Army Regulars can receive assistance for medical or other unexpected problems which are creating financial distress.

Application to the Fund is made in the first instance by the serviceman through his Unit, and a dependent who is faced with financial difficulties should ask the serviceman through his Unit, and a dependent who is faced with financial difficulties should ask the serviceman to take up the matter with his Commanding Officer. In cases of extreme urgency, the dependent can apply direct to a representative of the Department of Veterans' Affairs.

The provision of assistance to dependents is just one phase of the Army Benevolent Fund program which makes financial assistance available to World War II veterans of the Canadian Army and to servicemen of the Regular Force and their dependents. The funds are provided from the profits of canteens and messes of the Canadian Army.

Since its inception in 1948 to the end of September 1954, the Fund has rendered total financial assistance to $3,226,149 on behalf of veterans and servicemen in Canada and overseas. Last year alone, the assistance in Quebec was $122,344, and again this year, grants and other services in this province are running at $10,200 a month.

Colonel J. Redmond Roche, QC, MLA, who served during World War II and has now retired to private practice, is a resident of Montreal and has served in a voluntary capacity with the Quebec Committee since 1948.

Affairs of Quebec Fed'n of Home-School Associations

Membership in Quebec Federation of Home and School Associations totals 21,000 members in 132 associations throughout Quebec Province, representatives were told at the first meeting of the Council of Representatives held recently in Macdonald High School. Reuben Resin, Quebec Federation president, stated that efforts are being continued to obtain representation on the Protestant Committee of the Council of Education and a series of letters to the members of the Protestant Committee is being planned giving information concerning the Federation and its activities.

In the absence of Mrs. F. E. Brydon, chairman of the Music Festival Committee, it was announced that a Festival will be held April 29, 1955. Participants in the festival, the first of annual festivals to be sponsored by Quebec Federation will be limited this year to bands and choirs of the High Schools of Greater Montreal. Dr. W. P. Percival, Director of Protestant Education of the province, and Mr. T. Somerville, Director of Education of the Greater Montreal Board, have endorsed the undertaking and Principals are working with the committee in carrying out the project.

Miss Ruth Low, Executive Director of the YWCA., is chairman of a committee set up to study Family Welfare problems off the Island of Montreal. Family Courts only function after delinquency occurs, the meeting was told, whereas the aim of Quebec Federation is to prevent juvenile deliquency from occurring.

Representatives discussed recent "letters to the editor" appearing in the Montreal Star concerning children's dance classes held in the schools sponsored by Home and School Associations. Some of these letters give a distorted picture of the matter. While Quebec Federation in previous years has published a reply to such letters, the Federation was urged to do so again in order that the public may be fully informed.

Details of the campaign to raise funds to purchase a national headquarters were given by Mrs. Isobel Shuster, chairman of the Headquarters Campaign Committee. The National Home and School Headquarters is at 370 Dundas St., Toronto, and Quebec Federation's share of the cost is $5,000. The campaign to collect a quarter from each of Quebec Federation's 21,000 members will be held during the first three months of 1955 and campaign plans are now being made.

LOCATE TUNA SCHOOL FAR OUT IN PACIFIC

Vancouver (CP) — Tuna fish which four years ago yielded British Columbia fishermen a rich harvest, have again been locatel 500 miles off the west coast on the Pacific ocean, but too far offshore.

British Columbia tuna fishing boats are hardly suitable for a trip so far away.

Migratory habits of tuna still mystify scientists. For years they appeared off the B.C. coast and fishermen prospererd. Then they suddenly disappeared.

Three big fisheries patrol boats make regular tuna patrols each year searching for the valuable schools, covering a wide area in off-shore waters as far west as 200 miles.

Throughout the patrols this season, they found the water too cold and conditions generally unsatisfactory for tuna.

OTTAWA GARDENS TOPS WITH U.S. TOURISTS

Ottawa (CP) — To the United States tourist, flowers — not Parliament Hill with its scarlet-coated RCMP guard — are the most striking thing in the capital. That's the finding of a questionnaire sent out by the city tourist bureau.

First in interest for Americans are the begonias — giant blossoms massed in multi-colored beds beside the Rideau canal driveways.

Dairy Judging Team To Toronto "Royal"

The Provincial Champion Dairy Judging team, John Oswald and Kenneth McOuat, of the Lachute 4-H Calf Club, will be leaving for Toronto by train late Saturday night to compete in the National 4-H Club Judging Contest at the Royal Winter Fair. They will compete with the Dairy Judging teams of the other provinces, and will have a full week of activities.

Donald Robertson, Federal livestock fieldman, will accompany the team, and Ross Oswald, the club leader, will follow by plane.

City Fathers Inspect and Approve, Subject to Taxpayer Referendum

The purchase of the Bourbonniere property (the former Lachute Motor Sales garage) adjacent to the present town hall was approved, subject to a public referendum, at the regular monthly meeting of Lachute Town Council. The session was held in the Victoria Hall last Wednesday, with a full membership in attendance.

A motion to purchase the building, including the car hoist, for $22,500, was made by Ald. R. Desjardins, seconded by Ald. Alcidas Laurin. (The price asked by Mr. Bourbonniere was $500 higher than this amount.)

The Council meeting was adjourned before the vote was taken, and the Council inspected the building as a group, discussing its possibilities as a much-needed municipal garage, police station and future fire station. With the reopening of the meeting, it was moved in amendment by Ald. W. Cousineau, seconded by Ald. L. Gibeault, that the building be purchased for $20,000.

A letter from Mrs. John H. Dunne, offering the property of the former skating rink to the town for the sum of $12,500, was read as a comparison to the Bourbonniere property. Little interest on the part of the Council was shown in this offer.

Going to a vote, the main motion passed, subject to the referendum and approval of the Department of Municipal Affairs in Quebec; all councillors voted for the main motion with the exception of Ald. Cousineau and Ald. Gibeault.

Florian Laurin, electrical contractor, was instructed to have his plans approved by the board of electrical examiners immediately, as the Town Hall is a public building, and as such, it is necessary to have this done.

After comparing prices on traffic lights from the various companies, it was decided to purchase two 3-color, 4-way traffic lights to be installed at the corners of Millway and Princess Streets (McOuat corner), and Main and Millway Streets (Harbour corner), to replace those demonstrated by the Municipal Signal and Supply Co.

The lights, which will be purchased from the General Electric Company, will be installed by a local contractor, and although the price is slightly higher than that submitted for similar lights by the Municipal Signal Co., it is considerably lower than their first two prices on the lights temporarily installed. The total price for the lights and separate control will be $1,444.50, plus installation costs of $225.

Ald. D. G. MacRae was elected pro-mayor for the ensuing three months.

It was decided to enforce the by-law to prohibit night-time parking on streets from December 1 to April 1, so as to facilitate snow removal.

A request from town foreman Jos. Senecal, and assistant foreman Simard Larocque, for an increase in wages of $1 a day during the snow removal period, was duly granted.

Mr. Senecal informed the Council that the Charles Street crossing was now open to traffic.

It was moved by Ald. Réal Morrissette, seconded by Ald. D. G. MacRae, that a caboose be purchased for the tractor snow-blower — tenders to be in the hands of the secretary not later than November 15, at 5 o'clock.

A letter from the Gatineau Power Company requesting permission to re-locate a power pole, was left to the Roads Committee.

Woods Management New Subject In Macdonald Agriculture Course First Session at Harrington Farm

Forestry Teaching Urged by 1953 Resolution Of Argenteuil County Women's Institutes

A new series of lectures in farm woodlot management for McGill University students taking the two-year diploma course in Agriculture was launched last Saturday by Macdonald College. The first lecture took the form of a visit to the Forest Farm of Canadian International Paper Company, located at Harrington in Argenteuil County.

It is significant that the course was launched in this area — for, as Mrs. Gordon E. Cooke, of Arundel, aptly pointed out to The Watchman, the Argenteuil Board of the Quebec Women's Institute has agitated for some form of Forestry teaching in the Agricultural course at Macdonald. Mrs. Cooke was president of the County W.I. in May, 1953, when a resolution to that effect was adopted and relayed to the Provincial Board of Q.W.I. and subsequently submitted to McGill University authorities. (Mrs. Mason Crosby is currently president of the Argenteuil County W.I.)

Thirty students are enlisted for the course this year, which consists of lectures and practical demonstrations at the Morgan Arboretum and Certified Tree Farm of Macdonald College at Ste. Anne de Bellevue.

Leif Holt, of the Pulp and Paper Research Institute (Woodlands Division) of McGill University, has agreed to conduct the courses until a permanent lecturer is chosen.

Dr. W. H. Brittain, vice-principal of Macdonald College, accompanied the group to Harrington, where Mansel R. Wilson, resident woodlands manager, was host on behalf of Canadian International Paper. Morning and afternoon periods were taken up with field courses on the forest farm, where practical and experimental woodlot management is practiced on some 4,000 acres of land.

The new course, according to Dr. Brittain, recognizes the growing importance of farm woodlots both from the standpoint of conservation and of profit to farm owners.

Mrs. Geo. Y. Deacon Receives Tribute For 25 Years of Service to Red Cross, Honorary Life Membership Presented

Ten Lachute Branch Members Receive Pins For Meritorious Voluntary Service

The monthly meeting of Lachute Red Cross Unit, held November 4, was highlighted by a talk by Mrs. Gerard Boudrias, chairman of the Provincial Women's Work Committee, who also presented awards to several ladies in recognition of their long and faithful service to Red Cross work.

At the meeting, held in the United Church hall, Mrs. Boudrias expressed her appreciation of the large number of staunch Red Cross supporters in this district, and stated she was proud to have the privilege of presenting an Honorary Membership award to Mrs. George Y. Deacon, who for 25 years had been an active worker in the Lachute Branch. Mrs. Deacon's long and devoted service in Red Cross and other organization work had been a real inspiration to others, she said; under her leadership the Lachute Branch started the Sick Room Supply service long before this became a Divisional department of activity.

Only one other Honorary Membership has been awarded in this district, to Miss Alice Riddell, who until a few years ago, was for 25 years treasurer of the Branch. Although only one of these awards

Recognition to Loyal Red Cross Workers

Mrs. George Y. Deacon receives the Honorary Membership, highest award of Red Cross, presented by Mrs. Gerard Boudrias, chairman of the Women's Work Committee, Quebec Division of the Canadian Red Cross, in recognition of 25 years' service. Mrs. Howard Watson (right), president of the Lachute Branch, presided at the meeting last week and read the citations while Badges of Service for meritorious voluntary work for the Society were also awarded to 10 other faithful workers of the Lachute Branch. Those shown above (left to right) are: Mrs. F. Roberts, Mrs. Mae Tillotson, Mrs. J. T. Griffith, Mrs. Harry Scott, Miss Lily Hampton and Mrs. G. G. Mitchell.

Due to ill health, four other members receiving awards could not be present: Mrs. E. Lalanne, Mrs. Robt. McGibbon, Mrs. John Falconer and Mrs. G. A. Massé.

"Lachute Branch is one of the oldest branches of Red Cross in Quebec and in honoring the members here today we are recognizing the splendid work that all the members of this Branch have been doing for the past 25 years," Mrs. Boudrias said.

Concrete Floor Community Effort At B'burg Rink

By John Molloy

Brownsburg — Lay Brownsburg's civic pride on the line, and you'll see something really worthwhile. When the Mayor's campaign for cement showed such good progress, the Rink Committee decided to go ahead and lay the concrete floor.

It's sure no contractor around would have undertaken the job in one day, but the Rink Committee figured that they could do it with volunteer labor. So the call went out, and at 7 a.m. Saturday the project got underway.

Coming and going, 150 volunteers must have taken part for a total of not less than 600 man-hours. From 10 to 11, the Women's Institute served coffee and doughnuts. From 11.30 to 1.30 they served soup, sandwiches, coffee and doughnuts, and at 3 o'clock thirst quenchers were served, compliments of René Laurin.

The work never stopped, never even slackened, as the workers skipped out in 2's and 3's to grab a lunch and come back fortified. The zeal of everyone was typified by two kids who refused to go for lunch in case their jobs would be taken when they came back!

As the day wore on, zero hour was steadily reduced by the legion of forecasters, from 8 p.m. to 6 to 4 to 3. When at 11 the first blue line was reached and the organization improved, enthusiasm started to grow. At 12 the centre line was under concrete and the work developed into a race to see just how soon it could be completed.

It's a wonder no one received speeding tickets as the buggies whizzed in and out. At 3.10, the last load was dumped on the ice surface and "operation concrete" was over. Of course there was still a handful engaged in mopping up operations hours later, but the task was over and the bone-weary throng had gone home shortly after four o'clock, after a last admiring look at their rink.

And truly it is their rink. A $100,000 project belongs to 1,000 Brownsburg families, because they paid for it and they worked for it.

On Saturday, the meals were donated by Brownsburgers, the work was done free by 'Burgers, and the total cost of some $1,400 will almost certainly be met by Mayor Donaldson's Cement Fund. That's the story of the rink. On Saturday a $2,500 job was accomplished in the same way that the $100,000 rink has materialized, from a crazy dream into a monument to the Brownsburgers of the 1950's.

Lions Club Anniversary Guest Speaker

Stanley G. Fowler, a charter member of the Timmins Lions Club, will be guest speaker at the Lachute Lions' 20th Anniversary supper at the Legion Hall this Saturday, preceding a public dance at Lachute Golf Club in celebration of this event.

Stanley Fowler was elected to the position of Lions' International Director in July, 1953. He is a Key member and will complete 20 years' perfect attendance in May, 1955. He has served his club as president, vice-president and treasurer. In addition, he has completed terms as Deputy District Governor of Zone 15, District Governor of District A-5, and President of the International Association of Lions Clubs of Canada.

Lion Fowler was born in England, and received his education there. He served six years in the British Army during World War I, and moved to Canada in 1923. He is a Certified Public Accountant, and has operated his own business in Timmins for nearly 30 years. He has travelled extensively throughout Europe, Africa, India and North America.

Wartime "Shelter Padre" Addresses Legion At Branch 70 Annual Armistice Supper

Argenteuil Branch 70 (Lachute) Canadian Legion, held their annual Armistice Dinner in the Memorial Hall, Foundry Street, last Saturday evening, with an attendance of over 100 members and guests.

With President James Clark at the head-table were seated several notable guests, the Hon. W. M. Cottingham, M.L.A., Philippe Valois, M.P., Mayor Dr. Jules Lafleur, and the speaker of the evening, the Rev. Wilson Bridge.

A turkey dinner was served by the Women's Auxiliary of the branch, and the ladies were given a hearty vote of thanks from all present.

A toast to the Queen was proposed by Comrade Larry Paquette, and Comrade R. Giles voiced fitting tribute to those who had paid the supreme sacrifice, while all stood with bowed heads for a moment's silence.

The speaker of the evening was introduced by Comrade Clark, who referred briefly to the Rev. Bridge's extensive work among all classes in World War II, during the time England was so heavily and disastrously bombed.

Back to the "Home Front"

Taking as his subject "A Glimpse Across the Years", the Rev. Wilson Bridge observed this gathering had met together to cement old friendships and to revere and honor those who laid down their lives in two world wars. He took his hearers back across the years to the opening days of the second world war in 1939, and showed how members of the civilian population shared their baptism of fire and bombardment with members of the armed forces. He described his work as Honorary Chaplain to the public air raid shelters and told of the way in which he was appointed to that position by the Romford Borough Council, at the request of the citizens of the town. It was the first such appointment in Great Britain, and he was proud of the fact that he had been permitted to serve in that capacity. He also served as a contact for the Ministry of Information and had to report to London Headquarters each week on the way in which the civilian population were re-acting to the bombing and food rationing. Mr. Bridge paid a very high tribute to the Salvation Army for the magnificent work they did in providing food and drink for the people who were bombed out of their homes. He hoped the members would always give generously to appeals made by the Salvation Army.

The demonstration of applause during, and at the close of the address showed how much the audience had appreciated hearing from one who had served with them in a common cause.

Comrade C. L. Duncan expressed sincere thanks of the Legion to the Rev. Mr. Bridge for his address, which again had vividly impressed the realization of the many sufferings and hardships experienced by both the civil and military population of Britain.

Lighter Celebrations

Master of ceremonies for the occasion was Comrade Stewart Jones.

During the evening the Legion's regular Saturday night dance was held, music being supplied by Mrs. R. Blakely on the piano and organ attachment. The attendance was also large at this event, and all appeared to enjoy the evening's entertainment.

Lions Club Anniversary Supplement

A four-page supplement with this issue honors the Lachute Lions Club on its 20th Anniversary. Presenting, in picture and narrative, a fine record of achievement for the welfare of those less privileged and less fortunate — the Lions Club story is an inspiring chapter in the annals of this town. The Watchman acknowledges the kind co-operation of advertisers in extending this tribute.

Accident Verdict In B'burg Fatality

A verdict of accidental death was delivered after a 15-minute deliberation of the jury, at the inquest into the recent death of Jean (John) Lemay, local contractor. The inquest, held in the Court House last Thursday, was under the direction of District Coroner Dr. Jules Lafleur.

Main witnesses were Miss Rita Fortier, of Brownsburg, a passenger in the taxi, and taxi driver Roger Thibault, of Lachute, who were in the car with which Mr. Lemay's auto collided. Clodomir Therriault, Romuald Thibodeau and Conrad Poirier also testified. The latter two reported passing the taxi which was proceeding at a moderate speed on the Brownsburg Road, and were the first witnesses to reach the scene of the accident. Provincial Det. Maurice Lamoureux and Traffic Officer Howard Jones also testified.

The different testimonies indicated that the Lemay car was on the left-hand side of the road and that Thibeault, the taxi-man, who was driving at a reasonable speed, could have done nothing to prevent the accident.

Quebec, Ottawa Appear Closer on Tax Agreement

By George Frajkor

Quebec, Nov. 8 (CP) — Quebec and Ottawa seemed closer to agreement than ever this week on the settlement of the 10-year Federal-Provincial tax dispute.

Premier Duplessis announced he has sent to Prime Minister St. Laurent his proposals to settle Quebec's double-taxation problem. He said he could not immediately disclose the contents of the letter, the outcome of a meeting with Mr. St. Laurent in Montreal October 5.

Mr. St. Laurent announced later the Federal Government may soon put new Federal-Provincial tax proposals before the provinces. Mr. Duplessis said he is willing to go to Ottawa if the Prime Minister calls a meeting of Provincial premiers to discuss the proposals.

All provinces except Quebec have accepted Federal subsidies in return for giving the Federal government exclusive rights in the income, corporation and inheritance tax fields. Quebec rejected Federal subsidies in 1944 when Mr. Duplessis' Union Nationale party swept into power and this year a Provincial income tax equal to 15 per cent of the Federal tax was imposed.

Since Federal law allows Quebec taxpayers to deduct only five per cent of their Federal tax as relief from the Provincial, some 300,000 Quebecers are paying 10 per cent more tax than other Canadian taxpayers. It amounts to some $22,000,000 a year.

Mr. Duplessis also announced this week that a two-month plumbers' strike in Montreal had been settled when officials of one of the striking unions and their employers agreed on a wage-settlement.

He said that at a meeting held in his office, the corporation of plumbing contractors and local 144 of the International Union of Plumbers and Pipefitters (AFL) agreed on a wage increase of five cents an hour, bringing basic wages to $2.05, and other increases later. The union had struck for a 25-cent increase.

The National Plumbers Syndicate (CCCL), also on strike but not represented at the meeting, later announced its 2,000 members will accept the settlement.

Local Resident Wins 1954 Automobile Prize

Mrs. Imelda Laurin, wife of René Laurin, 210 Evelina Street, Lachute Mills, was the winner of a 1954 Chevrolet in a contest sponsored by the Kik-Cola Company. A total of 39 persons won prizes amounting to $12,000. Other prizes were won by Maurice Trudel, of Mont Rolland, Réal Denis, of St. Jerome, Noel St.-Michel, of Terrebonne Heights, Mrs. Sylvio Lauzon, of Ste. Therese, Mrs. Jeanne Legris, of Terrebonne, and Donat Delongchamp, of Ste. Therese.

Police Report for Month of October

The police report for the month of October, presented at the regular meeting of Lachute Town Council, lists a total of 46 calls for police assistance — only one arrest being made during the month.

Fourteen car accidents were reported, with an estimated damage of $1,035. Only two thefts were reported, while four traffic tickets were handed out. Four animals were destroyed.

Customary Remembrance Day Rites Observed This Morning at Cenotaph

Canadian Legion Branch 70 led the parade of different organizations from the Legion Hall on Foundry Street to observe the Armistice Day rites, held in the Memorial Park at 10.45 this morning. Heading the parade was president Jas. Clark and Parade Marshal Bob St. Laurent, along with a Legion color party.

Delegations of the Women's Auxiliary, Lachute Lions Club, Brownsburg-Lachute Rotary Club, Richelieu Club and Knights of Columbus, along with the school children junior groups and a fair gathering of citizens, assembled around the cenotaph at the memorial service, at which Mayor Dr. Jules Lafleur was chairman.

Philippe Valois, M.P., and Léopold Carrière, representing the Hon. W. M. Cottingham, were among those joining in the ceremonies.

Following the speeches and the laying of the wreaths by various families, clubs, churches and organizations, "Last Post" was sounded, followed by the observance of two minutes' solemn silence, and "Reveille". The gathering dismissed with the singing of the national anthem.

REMINDER OF PAST

Cupids, Nfld. (CP) — A bulldozer widening a road near this Conception bay town uncovered a skeleton which may have belonged to an Englishman who settled in the region in 1610. A party of settlers landed in that district more than 300 years ago under the leadership of John Guy.

November Session, Ayersv'l Council

The regular session of the Ayersville Council was held Tuesday evening of last week, under the chairmanship of Mayor Gaetan Paquette.

Minutes of the October meeting were read and adopted, and accounts totalling $1,663.50 were approved for payment.

It was moved and seconded that By-law 16, relative to traffic and public safety, be accepted and enforced 15 days after posting of a public notice to this effect. A copy of the regulation is to be sent to the Department of Municipal Affairs by the legal advisor of the municipality.

By-law 17, authorizing the municipality to name all streets in the limits of its territory, and to number all houses and establishments, was accepted to be in effect 15 days following the posting of a public notice.

Messrs. O'Neil and Eugene L'Heureux requested Council for street lights on Brownsburg Road, which is in the municipality of Ayersville. Ald. Albert Seguin was appointed to study the matter and make his report to the Council.

A list of taxes in arrears was presented by Secretary-Treasurer Conrad H. Legault. It was decided to notify by letter all persons whose 1952 taxes have not been paid.

Who's brightening your future these 4 ways?

1

Some people are helping to bring your community a new shopping centre, highway, school, power plant or other useful projects. Who are they? Life insurance policyholders! Money from the premiums they pay is invested for them in ways that help finance improvements like these.

2

A longer, healthier life may be yours, thanks in part to life insurance policyholders. Life insurance companies contribute funds to medical research studies designed to free Canadians from the threat of many dread disease

3

Everybody shares in the prosperity which expanding industries bring to a community. Some industry in your community may have built a new plant and employed more workers because life insurance companies invested money in it on behalf of their policyholders.

4

Some day—perhaps soon—you may want a new home. If so, you may find yourself living happily in one of the thousands of new houses which have been built from coast to coast with the aid of money invested for policyholders by life insurance companies.

So, if you are a life insurance policyholder, remember—while you're providing security for your family and yourself, you're also helping to make Canada a better land to live in!

P.S. From your life insurance man

"Invested life insurance dollars earn interest that makes it possible for you and your family to enjoy the benefits of life insurance at such low cost. If you have any questions about how to make life insurance fit your own special needs, give me a call. I'll be glad to help you!"

Farm Forums Report Competitive Interests

We sometimes hear the comment, "It's hard to get people out for Forum meetings. There are so many other things happening on Monday nights." To find out just how common a problem this is, the Forums were asked in their annual Questionnaire this spring to list the activities competing for the time of their members on Monday nights.

About one-half of the Forums reported a wide variety of activities. Sports head the list all across Canada. In the west, curling is the important game — in the east, competition comes from hockey. This poses a problem for some three hundred Forums, but a few groups are working on it.

In Nova Scotia the executive of a county Federation of Agriculture is asking the rink commission to shift hockey games from Monday nights. A Forum in western Canchanged to another night.

Lodge and church members find their meetings conflicting with Farm Forum, according to over two hundred groups.

Other farm meetings on Monday nights were listed by 41 Forums. British Columbia in particular mentioned meetings of farm organizations. In Ontario several groups mentioned attendance at community auction barns, which are in increasingly common feature in rural areas.

Then there are the miscellaneous activities — school meetings, Canadian Legion, community concerts.

Some of these conflict with Forum meetings only occasionally, like the St. Andrews annual 'haggis' dinner. Others are on a regular basis.

Forums in different provinces report that community activities have been changed to other nights in order not to interfere with Forum meetings. In Nova Scotia 'Monday night is farmers' night." The Dunkin Forum in Quebec says that the Reserve Army has changed its meetings to Wednesday. From Prairieville, Alberta: "Nothing is allowed to interfere. Prairieville is Farm Forum."

The East Tremont Forum in New Brunswick does some good publicity by placing a sign, "Farm Forum here Monday night," outside the house where the next meeting is to be held. — Farm Forum Guide

London — A total of 100 head of British livestock was exported to Canada in the first six months of 1954, according to figures made available in London by the Livestock Export Group. Of this number 75 were cattle and 25 sheep.

thanking the Council for the cheque for $1,000 on account, but enquiring why the remainder was not paid as his work was complete, was read by Secretary Antonio Laurin. After considerable discussion, it was decided to pay the balance of $938.84 immediately.

It was decided that several complaints regarding low sidewalks be placed on the agenda for the 1955 budget.

A letter of complaint was received concerning the condition of what remains of the Government Garage, and it was decided to notify the Government and request immediate attention to the matter.

Accounts totalling $20,926.23 were approved for payment, after being signed by the chairmen of the respective committees.

The truck committee, under chairmanship of Ald. W. Cousineau, reported that, following their study and investigation, they recommended the purchase of the 4-ton International truck from C & L Garage at a price of $6,094.35. Motion for the purchase of this vehicle was made by Ald. Réal Morrissette, seconded by Ald. L. Gibeault. After considerable discussion the vote was taken, with all in favor. The truck will be delivered sometime next week.

Ald. R. Desjardins gave notice of motion that at next meeting he will present a by-law to borrow money to purchase the Bourbonniere property, a plow for the newly-purchased truck, and other municipal requirements.

Ald. W. Cousineau gave notice of motion that at the next regular meeting he would set the tax rate for the year 1955.

The meeting was adjourned sine die.

B.M. Highest Standard Financial Advertiser On the Continent

Montreal, Nov. 8 — Rated top financial advertiser on the North American continent, the Bank of Montreal has been awarded the "Socrates High Award of the Year" for its advertising during the past twelve months. The award has come to Canada only once before, in 1946, and it was the B of M also which gained the distinction on that occasion.

Announcement of the award is made by "Bank Ad-views," a monthly publication which evaluates thousands of bank advertisements in daily newspapers all over the continent, scoring messages on three counts: ideas which sell bank services; layout and illustrative techniques; and general effect on the bank's relations with the public.

In paying tribute to the B of M, "Bank Ad-views" comments: "In its ads, the Bank of Montreal has recognized the needs of its potential customers: farmers, businessmen, industrial groups and the general public are all reached with promotions of specific interest and value to them. In addition, the bank has cultivated good will through institutional messages of importance to the community and enterprise.

Confirmed by Public Opinion

In a survey recently conducted by an independent authority, it was revealed that B of M advertising had made a greater impression on the public than that of any other bank. The survey showed that B of M advertising was preponderantly remembered in street-cars and buses, and that readers of newspapers and magazines noticed and remembered B of M advertisements more than twice as much as those of any other bank.

For the past two years, the Socrates High Award has been won by the Bank of America, the largest bank in the world, while the Bank of Montreal ranked in sixth place in 1953 and second place in 1952. During 1954, the B of M received numerous honorable mentions for its advertising in Canada and the United States.

St. Justine's Hospital Important Centre for Research and Training

St. Justine's Hospital, a recognized medical centre specializing in child diseases, is also an outstanding reasearch and training institution.

Every year about 12,000 children are admitted to St. Justine's. Thousands and thousands of others come to it for consultations and examinations. As many more cases have been studied and statistics compiled on them. This information is not pigeon-holed. Every day doctors refer to them in their studies and observations of the courses of all types of disease and all kinds of handicaps.

Since St. Justine's was founded in 1907 thousands of physicians have received their training at this institution in diseases of children. In addition to medical faculty students, many young doctors have spent a year or more at the hospital to complete their studies with the object of specializing in pediatrics.

To provide the necessary personnel for the future, St. Justine's inaugurated in 1939 a post-graduate training program under which each candidate spends four years at the hospital and a year abroad.

The scientific standing of a hospital depends in large part on the study and research by doctors attached to it. Each year St. Justine's doctors and surgeons hold courses and conferences at which outstanding results on new medical techniques are described. These gatherings contribute to the knowledge of the whole medical staff and are a valuable source of information for other psysicians. . .

St. Justine's annually gives a series of week-long refresher courses which bring doctors from all parts of the province to the hospital. Hundreds of doctors, wishing to broaden their knowledge of pediatrics, attend these courses on various subjects given by specially qualified lecturers chosen from the hospital's medical staff.

But nursing training receives just as much attention at the hospital. St. Justine's School of Nursing has awarded 866 nursing diplomas during its existence. More than 2,000 student nurses from affiliated schools have studied at the hospital, coming from institutions all over the province and from foreign countries, to complete their studies in pediatric nursing.

St. Justine's wants to continue this work. It wants to expand its programs of research and of training. To do so it needs more space. The new St. Justine's hospital on Cote St. Catherine will have all the facilities necessary to carry through this objective. . . That is one of the reasons why St. Justine's is appealing for $9,600,000 to finish this indispensable new building.

Nearly 750,000 species of insects have been classified, says Alan Devoe in the November Reader's Digest. About 4,000 new varieties are found every year. Some are so tiny and so specialized that they live on the tongues of horse flies. One type of beetle thrives in red pepper. Certain insects have neither mouths nor stomachs and never eat at all.

C.I.P. Announces Tree Farm Award

To give added impetus to its wood procurement program and to encourage farmers within an area of 50 miles from its Hawkesbury Mill to give sound forestry management to their woodlots, the Canadian International Paper Company is offering a prize of $250 to be awarded to the best Certified Tree Farm in July, 1956.

"Since the award was originally announced at ceremonies which took place at our Harrington Forest Farm last summer to mark the distribution of Tree Farm certificates, many farmers in Argenteuil and neighboring counties have come to us for information and advice," said Manny Wilson, resident manager of the Grenville Woods Office.

The award will be made on a point system, to be devised later, but which will be based on the improvement work done to the woodlot, on forest protection and on the best utilization of all saleable parts of the trees.

Improvements will be judged on selective cuttings, replanting, drainage and road construction; forest protection; on measures taken against grazing, insects, disease, fire, rodents and erosion.

Mr. Wilson emphasized that Canadian International Paper Company welcomes inquiries from farmers and woodlot owners. The experience gained at the Company's Harrington farm is at their disposal to make more effective this new, productive and profitable partnership between the Hawkesbury Mill and the farmers of the area.

"This year we will spend close to $2,000,000 on wood purchases in Argenteuil County and adjoining areas" Mr. Wilson stated. "We believe this is a big factor in the economic life of the whole region and we hope that all farmers who have woodlots will want to profit from our wood procurement program."

To qualify for the $250 prize, the Certified Tree Farm must be at least 10 acres in area and have been under sound management for at least two years.

Remembrance

ONCE AGAIN Remembrance Day is at hand, with its poignant glimpses of glory and of grieving — to remind the people of Canada of the two world wars in which a million and a half of their fellow-citizens fought and bled, and from which more than a hundred thousand did not return.

The stark toll of war may have dimmed in the memories of those still living. And to the younger generation, it may appear far from the grim reality it actually was. Let us look back briefly in review. Canadian service casualties in the six years of the Second Great War totalled 104,925, including 41,371 dead. Canadian casualties were 190,092, including 62,817 dead in the four years of the First Great War, 1914-18. These are heart-rending figures, as we look back upon them today.

The years do pass, but time must not dim the memories of those inspiring chapters written into the history of our country, nor the great host of gallant men who made the supreme sacrifice that their loved ones at home and all their countrymen might be free from tyranny and oppression.

What more sacred duty is there for all Canadians on November 11 than Remembrance, solemnly and reverently expressed, of those immortal heroes who sleep their last long sleep in foreign fields over the sea — those sons of Canada who gave up life itself for the things in which they believed?

But the occasion should not only be a time for spiritual remembrance of the Glorious Dead. It should, as well, be the season for practical remembrance of the living — the disabled veterans and the widows and dependents of the fallen who are in need of a helping hand. That is a responsibility which war has bequeathed us, a duty which must never be shirked.

Command — Plea — Supplication

A RESAURANT patron once waited so long for his meal that he almost fell asleep. The waitress aroused him with a jolt: "May I have your order, sir?" To which the unhappy one replied, "I ordered long ago — please change it to a supplication."

We are reminded of this anecdote in penning a petition to our contributors. We have begged repeatedly that news contributions and club reports be sent in early, but our pleas have been so fruitless that once more we scratch the editorial pate to find some stronger means of persuasion. There are notable cases of meetings occurring on Thursday or Friday, and sports events happening during the week-end, which are reported to this office as late as the following Wednesday, when time is at a premium and typesetting facilities overloaded. The same applies to advertising, despite the frequent announcing of our deadline dates. In this case, however, except in rare imperative cases, we issue a peremptory "Too late" . . . But in the matter of news, we're not so tough. The order indeed becomes a supplication, for in a spirit of public service we still endeavor to give our readers all the interesting news that's available, even to items arriving up until Wednesday afternoon. The strain, however, is great, and could be remedied by all those secretaries and correspondents who needlessly, and by force of habit, leave things until the last minute.

This means you, dear reader, and you, and YOU. May we have your consideration and co-operation on this point?

A Missing Link

IT IS important to have the Trans-Canada Highway completed as soon as possible, according to opinion expressed by The Financial Post.

The loss in tourist revenue — by Canadians forced to detour through the United States when motoring between Eastern and Western Canada, and by U.S. visitors who would spend more time here if there were a good east-west road in this country — is impossible to assess. There is also the Canadian east-west trucking that now must go through the U.S.

Equally important to loss of revenue is the effect on national prestige of having to depend on another country, no matter how friendly, to provide us with a usable east-west traffic artery.

There are good reasons why Canada hasn't yet built a modern highway from coast to coast. There is no reason, however, why the utmost energy should not be expended in providing this very necessary item as soon as humanly possible.

Tribute to the Lions Club

HAVING two active members among our personnel — we naturally feel a sentimental attachment to the Lions Club; nevertheless for editorial purposes we try to look at this sort of thing impersonally. Yet somehow we cannot assume a disinterested viewpoint, for the editorial heart and soul is essentially tied up with the community in which we live. And so, obviously, is the Lions Club.

It has been the privilege of this journal, through the years, to give the impetus of publicity to all worthwhile ventures undertaken by the Lions, and they have been numerous. Indeed, we believe we have given impartial support to all such service and charitable groups, without bias or discrimination.

A friend visiting in these parts, on reading a recent report of some of this club's activities, spontaneously exclaimed, "But the Lions do a lot of good in this community!" Now comes the 20th Anniversary of the Lions in Lachute, so The Watchman, with a number of its loyal advertisers, devotes a section of this issue to the Club's splendid record of activity — a record to be proud of.

Our purpose in this tribute is two-fold: firstly, to express on behalf of our readers a sense of appreciation, and secondly to enlist the public's understanding of these good works and support in future endeavors. If, after perusing these graphic pages, other readers may be moved to exclaim, "But the Lions do a lot of good in this community!" — that conviction will ring a happy note in the Lions' Anniversary celebration, and will well justify our telling of their achievements.

Forests Are Invaluable

CANADA, among the nations possessing great forest industries, will take part in the fourth World Forestry Congress in India December 11 to 22, when government specialists of many nations will discuss developments in the world's major forest areas.

This congress is only the fourth of its kind in nearly 30 years. Previous meetings were at Rome in 1926, Budapest, 1936, and Helsinki, 1949. It now is linked with the United Nations through the Food and Agricultural Organization (FAO).

Canada's representatives are expected to be Dr. D. A. MacDonald, head of the forestry division of the federal resources department, and Col. H. H. Jenkins, director of the federal forestry products laboratories.

But trees are not just the business of the specialist. They concern everyone, for without them the world could not survive. They not only provide the world's most widely-used raw materials; they protect the soil, conserve natural resources and contribute to the general well-being of mankind.

The coming congress at Dehra Dun, site of the Indian forest research institute, differs from previous meetings. This time, it is hoped, it will provide an opportunity to show people everywhere the vital part that forestry plays in their lives.

Some people believe the world has enough trees, but that they are unevenly distributed. Others hold that the forests of great timber have been diminished over the years to a point where forest conservation becomes a simple matter of self-preservation.

There is one great area of forest land — in the tropics — which despite modern progress still yields only a small economic return compared with the forests of the temperate zones. Tropical silviculture therefore will be an important theme at Dehra Dun.

But the congress will demonstrate to everyone that forests are invaluable. Scientific timber-cutting whereby a forest area can be made to yield a "crop" indefinitely has spread widely in recent years. The fight against destructive forest fires has been organized more intensely each year.

By now, everyone should realize that needless waste of forest assets is a portent of disaster.

In Flanders Fields

In Flanders Fields the poppies blow
Between the crosses row on row,
That mark our place; and in the sky
The larks, still bravely singing, fly,
Scarce heard amid the guns below.

We are the dead. Short days ago
We lived, felt dawn, saw sunset glow,
Loved and were loved, and now we lie
In Flanders Fields.

Take up our quarrel with the foe,
To you, from failing hands, we throw
The torch; be yours to hold it high.
If ye break faith with us who die
In Flanders Fields.

"A POINT OF DECENCY"

In "An Almanac for Moderns", under the date of April 22, Donald Culross Peattie writes:

"The time to hear bird music is between four and six in the morning. Seven o'clock is not too late, but by eight the fine rapture is over, due, I suspect, to the contentment of the inner man that comes with breakfast; a poet should always be hungry or have a lost love."

It's a very interesting statement and I rather imagine that it was penned long before the advent of radio and television. Certainly, it was not written after those demons of modern living became part and parcel of our souls and minds and bodies. There is very little contentment that comes with the breakfast of 1954. Let me illustrate.

With the dawn, there comes to the average man not the song of the bird in the hedgerow but rather, the blatant wailing of some male or female so-called singer. Piped into his home by the miracle of radio, homo sapiens is daily subjected to a gruelling course of musical depreciation. Then follows the news.

The news is a wonderful thing. It reviews, first off, the international situation — always tense —and sets a pattern of anxiety neurosis in the mind of every listener. Then comes the local news, all disaster, loss of life, fire and theft, governmental fiddling and propaganda, plus a few thousand words under the guise of "a word from our sponsor". Hard on the heels of these catastrophes come the sport scores, all gloomy, and the weather is even moreso. Before John Q. Public has had a chance to roll out of bed, the radio has turned him into a nervous wreck.

As the listener sets himself up before the bathroom mirror, preparatory to the daily business of shaving, a strident voice demands: "Do you wake up feeling dull and listless? Do your eyes seem glassy and cloudy, all at once? Is your complexion sallow and your tongue coated? If so, you've had it and there's only one way to save yourself from approaching death. Stock up NOW with a year's supply of Dr. Schaffer's GLOP, containing that miracle ingredient K2, the wonder vitamin that makes mountains out of molehills. Get some today — before it's too late."

The listener, already mentally ill as a result of four hit-parade tunes and the news, has entered the bathroom feeling that, with luck, he may last out the day. Dr. Glop's advertisement, however makes him look at himself more closely. And, in so doing, the poor fish firmly establishes in his mind that he will be a candidate for some collector of corpses before the day is out.

With his orange juice, Johnnie Q. is impertinently asked if he knows that he never knows when he is offending and that even his best friend won't tell him. He's got it, though, and got it badly. He must have because he isn't using the announcer's brand of toothpaste. Then, with his cereal, the poor fellow finds out that he's even more obnoxious than ever because he doesn't use the announcer's brand of soap.

"Phew! Let's face it, my boy. You've got B.O.!"

The hardy breakfaster who can then pass on to his bacon, eggs, toast and coffee discovers that, in addition to being offensive, his liver is out of whack, Cleopatra poisoned herself because she could not buy a certain brand of nylons, and that by writing to "Department Z" he can cure his children of congenital rickets.

If the listener is still lucid after these recitals, interspersed with caterwauling of so-called singers and the discordant blaring of modern musicians, he is depressed even further by the next edition of the news, sport scores and weather, which turn out to be more gloomy than the first. So, duly primed for the day's work, he staggers forth to meet the new dawn and tries to reach the office without committing suicide. And if the birds are still singing, the modern man never hears their plaintive notes for his mind is on a host of other problems — all of them bad.

We have nobody to blame for this state of affairs but ourselves. We have allowed the radio and television hucksters to enter our homes and spoil our breakfasts. We have of course the right to switch off the set and keep them out, but we never exercise that right. We're afraid we may miss something that our neighbors will hear and none of us wants to appear ignorant even about the cures for bromidrosis and halitosis.

* * *

We've come a long, long way from that sad day — not so very long ago — when an innocent young cleric very nearly got himself unfrocked for daring to mention the legs of a piano in the presence of a young lady. Mightn't be a bad idea to push common decency back a few years to a point midway between that awful day and this.

Committee Grateful For Community Effort At Brownsburg Rink

Brownsburg, Que.
November 8, 1954

The Editor,
Lachute Watchman.

Dear Sir:

I should like to express to the citizens of Brownsburg, through the medium of your paper, the sincere thanks of the Rink Committee for the wonderful effort put forth last Saturday in pouring a concrete floor in the Community Rink. The spirit and enthusiasm which prevailed throughout the day was actually more in keeping with a community picnic than with a work party. There is no doubt, however, that it is just this community spirit which is responsible for getting such work done.

Our sincere thanks goes also to Mayor Jim Donaldson who single-handedly spearheaded the decision to go ahead with the concrete this year, and moreover, made this decision possible by his personal campaign for cement money. Seeing approximately 900 bags of cement mixed and poured by 3.30 p.m. we are sure must have been very gratifying to Mr. Donaldson.

We also would like to thank our many other friends who contributed, either financially or by the loan of construction equipment, without which the work could not have been successfully undertaken.

Yours very truly,

— R. B. Elliott, Chairman,
Brownsburg Community
Rink Committee.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

Silence is a hard thing to achieve in this world. The two minutes on Remembrance Day are pierced with pinholes of sound: coughs and rustles, and the drumming of the rain.

A dog sniffs from one to another of these oddly-behaved humans, hoping for some fun. What does a dog know of the lost armies? Nothing, except that his master went away and never came back to pat his head and take him for a walk.

He was a pup then, and now he is very old. And yet if his master were to stride across the square at this moment, the dog might jump toward him, barking and wagging. Certain smells and memories are stored in that dim brain, close to the ground.

The humans have clearer memories. Theirs are superior minds, able to reason and assign causes. But some of the people keep their minds frozen, afraid to think.

Through the half-silence of the November morning, faint remembered sounds reach the ears that are tuned for them: voices raised in feeble shouts, oaths, songs and in rough, homely talk; far-off armies voices cutting through the ghostly drone of engines; soldiers' and sailors' voices drowned in the roar of guns.

Shapes flicker on the inner screen. Images of distant countries, hover there, partly out of focus: palms, desert, a rural countryside all chopped and mangled. Friends' faces blaze up and vanish into the darkness of the mind.

As the half-silence nears its close, some of the people wonder about this Remembrance Day ritual. Is it too far from real life and death? Should it be prefaced by a brutal documentary film of the war, with smells of flesh, earth, smoke and gasoline?

The bugle sets the dog howling. He is only a poor ignorant beast with no respect for human folkways.

And yet how much more do these higher intellects know of the world? They can only resign themselves to a limited life in the prison of the senses, or look up at the clouds with an inward cry.

He's writing his initials in the dust and he'd better be careful. His wife won't like it. But his old, dust-making furnace is the one to blame. By installing a new SMART'S dustless furnace (coal or oil) he could end the dust, save money on fuel and get more heat. And the first cost is low, too. See your SMART'S dealer for particulars.

"Would you like to earn Hundreds of Dollars for a little study?"

"Years ago when I was buying my first life insurance I looked only at the size of the premiums I would have to pay . . . until a friend said:

'The real cost of life insurance consists of the premiums you pay, less the dividends the company pays you over the years!'

"I studied the dividend record of The Mutual Life of Canada and quickly saw the advantage of buying insurance from that Company. After all these years I am ahead hundreds of dollars because of that decision."

Listen for Sneezes!

Some people sense poultry trouble three days before it's ready to break, and take prompt action to head it off completely! One good way to acquire this faculty is to go to the laying house about 9 p.m. and listen a few minutes from the doorway without turning on the lights or disturbing the birds in any way; also to watch birds carefully whenever you are feeding or gathering eggs.

The first few months in the laying house are most critical for the pullet, for she has to finish her body growth at the time she is laying her heaviest.

That's why we're recommending a proven Purina laying ration that's designed to help with both these big jobs. That's also the reason we're urging our friends to top-feed PURINA BOOSTER CHECKERS — just 4-6 lbs. per day for 100 birds. Sure pays to give pullets what they need.

Order your supply of Purina laying ration today, also PURINA CHLORENA and dust-gun for the sneezes. We deliver.

Gatineau LINES

Winter Is Coming

Ice and snow falling from the roof across service wires cause interruptions to a number of individual customers each winter.

Service wires should be located where snow and ice will not slide onto them from the roof.

Heavy wet snow causes branches to sag under its weight. Cut down all branches which are overhanging the wires leading to your house. It is much easier to do it now.

Unusually severe winter weather may occasionally damage power lines. When this occurs skilled repair crews will be out doing all that is humanly possible to make interruptions as brief as possible.

Give your Most Valuable Servant a fair chance to work for you.

"Dieback" Disease In Quebec Birch Trees

Quebec (CP) — Dr. René Pomerleau, director of the Federal Government's forest pathology laboratory at Laval University, said this week that increasing temperatures are killing off yellow and white birch trees in Quebec, the Maritime provinces and the State of Maine.

He said the disease called "Dieback", which dries up the birches from the top down, already has killed about 25,000,000,000 cubic feet of birch in the areas.

It has been noticed since 1875 that the weather is getting warmer each year, he said. Experiment with electric wires heating the soil around birch roots created Dieback artificially and proved the disease is caused by temperature and not by a mysterious virus or parasite, he said.

Dr. Pomerleau spoke at the convention of the Quebec Province Forestry Engineers Association.

NEW CARGO STEAMER FOR U.K. CANADA ROUTE

London — A new cargo steamer, the "Manchester", destined for trade between Canada and Manchester, England, was launched last week at the Birkenhead shipyard of Cammell Laird & Co. Ltd. A single-screw type of 9,500-tons, the vessel is of the closed shelter-deck type and will have accommodation for 12 passengers in a large deckhouse on the promenade deck. The new ship is the fourth built by the Birkenhead firm for the Manchester Lines Ltd.

Square Dance Contest Held at Plowmen's Frolic

A turnout of nearly 300 people at the annual Plowmen's Dance helped to make it one of the most successful ever held by the Association. Everyone had a good time, besides witnessing some very fine dancing in the square dance competition, held this year for the first time.

Six teams entered this competition and all did very well. Although the committee were sorry that no teams from outside Lachute entered, all are in hopes that next year will see several outside teams competing.

The following were the top three teams and received prizes for their efforts.

1—Ruth Hammond, Clifton Berry, Pat McOuat, Wayne Berry, Glenna Kennedy, Kenny Wilson, Frances Robertson, Dougie Thompson.

3—Mr. and Mrs. Keith Gordon, Mr. and Mrs. E. Robertson, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Keith Boa.

The members of the dance committee express appreciation to all who helped in any way to put this dance over, and especially to the firms who donated the prizes.

Prizes for the winning team (ladies) were donated by Lloyd Hume, Jim Duncan, Kerr's Diner, Dr. R. McMahon, Dr. J. Dorion and Don Boa. Farmers' Supply Company donated four prizes for the men on this team. Ladies on the second team received their prizes from Doug Hay, R. Hadley, Welden Motors, Ernest Rodgers, Ernest Gordon, Lachute Fuel Oils (D. MacLean) and the Henry Morgan Co. The T. Eaton Co. Ltd. donated the four men's prizes to the second-place team. The Plowmen's Association donated the third prize. The ladies' door prize was donated by Wilson & Gordon Reg., and was won by Mrs. Gordon Silverson, Lachute. The men's door prize was donated by Bill Davis, and was won by Harry Todd, also of Lachute.

All Wool — From Ayers Blankets

Wool blankets, in all colors, shapes and styles were a feature of a presentation of Canadian fashions made from Canadian fabrics at the recent 32nd annual dinner of the Canadian Woollen and Knit Goods Manufacturers' Association. Eight members of the Association of Canadian Couturiers demonstrated what could be made in after-ski wear from an Ayers wool blanket. Here eight variations on one theme of skis and blankets are seen.

Remembrance Rites Observed at St. Andrews

The laying of wreaths at the St. Andrews East memorial was carried out with dignity on Sunday afternoon — a large number of Lachute Branch 70 Legion members attending.

Organization of the ceremony was arranged by the ladies of the village, to whom appreciation was duly expressed.

Among those who addressed the gathering were Mayor L. Charlebois of St. Andrews, Mayor F. Allmen of Carillon, the Rev. J. A. Dulude, the Rev. J. St. Martin, of Carillon, Maj.-Gen. F. P. Phelan, Mrs. F. Robin, Mrs. H. A. Peverley, the Rev. Capt. Kennedy, of St. Eustache.

J. L. Pilon, president of the Chamber of Commerce, expressed appreciation to all who had taken part and helped to make the ceremony a success.

Wreaths from various organizations and individuals were respectfully laid on the memorial plaque.

"Last Post" and "Reveille" were sounded by Montreal buglers while all stood reverently at attention.

The parade was under direction of Group Captain David Anderson, with Lt.-Col. W. Scott in charge of the public address system. The Hon. W. M. Cottingham, Minister of Mines, was noted among those attending.

Impressive Scenes At St. Sauveur Remembrance Rites

Morin Heights — On Sunday afternoon a large representation from Morin Heights Legion joined with members of St. Sauveur Branch No. 193 in laying a wreath at the Sir Arthur Currie Memorial at Hill 70, St. Sauveur des Monts. Over 500 persons participated in the ceremony.

Heading the parade was the smartly-uniformed band and cadet troop from the Shawbridge Boys' Farm. A jeep conveyed Cmdr. N. Bannantyne to the mountain-top, and the wreath was placed by him as all stood in silence. "Last Post" was sounded by L. Whiteway, and words of Remembrance were spoken by Rev. Capt. Horace G. Baugh and Father Charles Toupin.

Taking the salute in front of the Church of St. Francis were Cmdr. N. Bannantyne, Mayor L. Cyr, Capt. T. Durocher, the Rev. G. Coulombe, the Rev. C. Toupin and the Rev. H. G. Baugh.

Planted near the church was a little oak, with a plaque at the base, bearing the words "In Remembrance" and the years of the past two wars. This was done especially for this first Remembrance Day observance by the recently formed St. Sauveur Legion.

The parade was in charge of W. A. Gaugh, South African War veteran.

"THIS GOOD NEWS OF THE KINGDOM"

We need good news today, especially good news about a righteous government. Men's schemes for governing themselves multiply, and their failures multiply at the same rate. But there is good news about a perfect government that will never fail, that will bring peace eternal. It is the news of Jehovah God's government, of its establishment, how it will eliminate sin and death and the Devil, and how by dedication to Jehovah persons can be ransomed to everlasting earthly life under it, surviving the approaching end of this present sorrowful system of things. This is news that is good and timely and vital. It is stated clearly, in the simplest of language, in the new 32-page booklet entitled "This Good News of the Kingdom". You will thrill to receive this good news, and give it to others, and even study it with others. To facilitate both private and group study, questions on each paragraph appear in the booklet. Individual copies are 5 cents, or to supply your friends and neighbors get 7 for 25 cents or 30 for $1. Congregations of Jehovah's witnesses anywhere on this beautiful earth will be glad to serve you. Just enquire of any of them you may meet; or write — The Watch Tower, 40 Irwin Ave., Toronto.

Alternating shafts of shadow and sunlight fall across the huge, specially woven tapestry which Belgium recently presented to the United Nations as an expression of its people's "profound attachment to the work of the world Organization." Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld admires the many-hued work of art after accepting it for the United Nations from Belgium's permanent representative, Ambassador Fernand van Langenhove (right). Measuring 43½ by 28½ feet, the tapestry contains 94,000 miles of yarn, enough to circle the equator four times. The tapestry, representing Peace, Prosperity and Equality, was designed by Antwerp artist, Peter Colfs, and was executed by 14 expert weavers under the direction of Gaspard de Wit. It will grace the wall of the delegates lobby in the United Nations General Assembly Building.

Red Cross Session At Brownsburg

(Our District Correspondent)

Brownsburg — A meeting of the Red Cross on Monday night at the Social Club saw little business covered.

S. A. Seary, chairman of the Blood Donor Committee, gave his report on that recent clinic, and since there was only one this year, this constituted his annual report. In the absence of the chairman, there was no report from the Financial Campaign committee.

Mrs. Barker reported that there are still too few volunteers at the work cupboard on Friday afternoons. So come along ladies to the Social Club, and donate some of your time for a worthy cause.

A nominating committee was picked for the forthcoming election of officers.

Bible Briefs

By A.A.M.

The Bible is rich in stories, and the purpose of this series is to encourage readers to look up for themselves the Bible versions of these incidents. If there are children in the family it is suggested that the story, and the Bible verses on which it is based, be read aloud.

Who was one of the first Christian deacons who was directed to go on a journey along the desert road between Jerusalem and Gaza? The early church was having a difficult time. Stephen, the first Christian martyr had been stoned. But this deacon obeyed the heavenly command.

On this road he met an Ethiopian, a colored man, riding a chariot. He was a man of importance, the treasurer of Queen Candace of the Ethiopians. As he rode he was reading from the scroll of the prophet of Isaiah.

The deacon was guided to run alongside the chariot and ask the Ethiopian, "Do you understand what you are reading?"

The man answered, "How can I, unless someone explains this passage to me?"

Now the verses which he read were, "As a sheep led to the slaughter or a lamb before its shearers is dumb, so he opens not his mouth. In his humiliation, justice was denied him. Who can describe his generation? For his life is taken up from the earth?"

When the deacon was invited to ride in the chariot and explain the prophecy to the Ethiopian, he did so. Eagerly he told him the good news of Jesus.

The Ethiopian believed the deacon's words. Looking up he saw a little stream beside the road. He said to the deacon. "See, here is water! What is to prevent my being baptized?" The chariot was halted and the two men went down into the water. This was the first colored man to be baptized as a Christian, so far as is known from the Gospel record.

When they came out of the water the Spirit of the Lord caught up the deacon. The Ethiopian saw him no more. But this new Christian's heart was filled with happiness from his belief in Jesus.

Find this deacon's name and read this story in Chapter 8, Acts of the Apostles, verses 26-40.

While cleaning a gun last Saturday, Gordon Marshall experienced a narrow escape. It appears that the lad had the gun between his knees and was preparing to clean it when the gun slipped to the floor. The shot passed through the tips of his fingers and out through the thumb of his left hand.

At an adjourned meeting of the Lachute Town Council, it was moved by Ald. McCoy, seconded by Ald. Lafleur, that the Mayor be authorized to purchase Victoria Hall at once, at a price not to exceed $1,300. Ald. Mrs. James MacKimmie and Mrs. Jack Archer were nominated to represent Lachute Golf Club at the C.L.G.U. meeting to be held at the Mount Royal Hotel in Montreal on Tuesday of this week.

Miss Scott thanked all members for their co-operation during the year, and especially the members of the various committees whose work was responsible for making the 1954 golf season one of the most successful in the history of the club.

Firms Participating In Payroll Savings

Industries reporting in the Joliette - St. Jerome - Lachute district show this area as sixth highest among 33 Quebec districts participating in payroll savings, in the latest (9th Series) Canada Savings Bond issue.

According to information reported by S. H. Robitaille, regional representative, the results are highly gratifying.

J. C. Wilson, Lachute, is among new industries reporting this week — with 36% employee participation, as compared with 19.1% in the 8th Bond issue in 1953.

OVERSEAS SCOTS REUNION

London — The eighth overseas Scots reunion is now being organized for July 1, 1955. It is expected that several hundred Canadians will meet in Edinburgh, and J. Arthur of Winnipeg is now at work on the arrangements. The reunion will include an extensive tour of Scotland, as well as visits to Oban and the Trossachs. The seventh reunion was held at Aberdeen in July of this year.

Recent Weddings At Lachute Manse

Bradford - Nicoll

At the Lachute United Church manse at 5.30 o'clock on Saturday afternoon, November 6, Mildred Alice Nicoll became the bride of Floyd Reginald Bradford — the Rev. Wilson Bridge officiating. The bride is the daughter of the late Howard Nicoll and Mrs. Nicoll, of Lachute, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Bradford, of Ayersville.

Miss Marjorie Calder was bridesmaid, and the groom's brother, Rogers Bradford, acted as best man.

The bride wore a navy tucked taffeta dress with a white feather hat and a corsage of white carnations. The bridesmaid wore a green corded silk dress with a gold hat and corsage of pink carnations.

Cox - Gauley

A very quiet but pretty wedding took place at the United Church manse in Lachute on Saturday, October 30, at 2.30 p.m., when Mrs. Flossie K. Gauley became the bride of Mr. Harold Cox, of Montreal, the ceremony being performed by the Rev. Wilson Bridge.

The bride was dressed in a grey worsted suit with navy accessories and wore a corsage of red roses. She was attended by Mrs. Alvin Campbell as matron of honor. Mrs. Campbell wore a grey suit with red accessories and a corsage of red carnations.

Mr. Alvin Campbell acted as best man for the groom.

After the marriage a wedding supper and reception was held at McArthur's Hall, where around 50 guests attended. Decorations were carried out in white and pink streamers and bells. The bride's table was decorated with a lovely wedding cake, white candles and carnations.

The bride and groom received several telegrams during the reception, including good wishes from the bride's son and daughter-in-law, Sgt. Major Edwin Gauley and Mrs. Gauley, at Edmonton.

Guests were from Montreal, Ottawa, Kilmar, Harrington, St. Eustache and Mount Maple.

Past-Masters' Night At Masonic Lodge

Once every year the Masonic past-masters conduct the workings of the local Lodge, and the honor of so doing was in charge this year of Bro. Cliff Cunningham.

The work of the evening comprised the conferring of the Second Degree, and Wor. Bro. Neal Moore, sitting master of the Lodge, expressed his thanks for this exemplification. A short talk on Masonry was given by Wor. Bro. Talbot, to which several others added constructive comment.

Refreshments were served in conclusion.

Cabbage Family

Most prominent among the fall vegetables are the members of the cabbage family. This family includes many well known cousins — broccoli, brussels sprouts, cauliflower and chinese cabbage — but cabbage itself is probably king of them all. These vegetables are all in good supply right now. Cabbage in particular is one which will be with us for several months. It is one vegetable which can be produced early in the season and by means of winter storage may be available the greater part of the year.

The home economists of the Department of Agriculture tell us that cabbages may be grouped into three classes — early summer, fall and winter varieties according to the leaves and is mild in flavor. The green, summer cabbage has a loose head which, in some varieties, is pointed or conical in shape. It may have either plain or curly leaves and is mild in flavour. The fall cabbage is mostly of the Savoy type. It has a loose, round head and crinkled leaves. The Danish Ballheaded type matures late in the fall and is widely used for winter storage. The heads are hard and compact with smooth, tight leaves. It is green this time of year but looses color during storage. Red cabbage is similar in shape to the Danish type, has characteristic reddish purple leaves and is available in early fall. It is usually used for salads or for pickles.

When buying cabbage, look for a head which is solid and hard and fairly heavy for its size. Cabbage with yellow leaves or other discoloration is generally wasteful. If you have a cool, dry place to store it, you may keep cabbage one week or more. If cabbage is to be kept longer, the outer leaves should be removed and the cabbage stored in the refrigerator in a tightly closed plastic bag. When preparing cabbage for the table, the course rib ends of the leaves should be removed and the core at the base of the head cut out.

Cabbages vary greatly in size. A medium sized head will weigh from two to three pounds. If you are shredding this for salads, it will measure about 14 cups finely shredded or 18 cups coarsely shredded. This same amount will shrink during cooking to seven or nine cups or there will be about half as much cooked cabbage as raw shredded.

Cabbage is really a versatile vegetable and can be fitted into any course at dinner except dessert. Cabbage soup can start a meal, stuffed cabbage rolls can be a main dish, cole slaw the salad, and of course boiled cabbage one of the vegetables. As with most vegetables, there is a right and wrong way to cook cabbage. The preferred method is to cook it quickly in a small amount of boiling salted water to a depth of about one-half inch in the saucepan. The cabbage may be shredded or cut into wedges. Wedges will take about 10 to 12 minutes to cook depending on the compactness of the head, coarsely shredded cabbage 8 to 10 minutes and finely shredded cabbage 3 to 4 minutes. If you have a pressure cooker, allow one to one and a half minutes at 15 pounds pressure for the wedges and one minute for the coarsely shredded cabbage. You must remember that cabbage, cooked beyond the point where it is just tender, will loose its green color, and the flavor will become strong. The cooked cabbage may be seasoned with salt, pepper and served with butter or with cream sauce, cheese sauce or grated cheese sprinkled on top.

Brussels Sprouts

Brussels sprouts are sometimes called Tom Thumb cabbages because they are "cabbage that never grow up". They grow on a long stalk close to the stem at the base of the leaves and are green, firm, miniature cabbages each about one inch in diameter. They are on the market during the fall and early part of the winter. This vegetable is and always has been a great favorite in England and other parts of Europe, but, for some unknown reason, people here in Canada are really just beginning to take to this vegetable in a big way. Here are some tips on brussels sprouts from the home economists.

When you are buying sprouts, select those with heads that are firm, compact and have a fresh, bright green color with no yellowish leaves. If you are not planning to use them the same day you buy them, just slip them into a plastic bag and store them in the refrigerator. Tie the end of the bag with string or twist and fasten with an elestic band to keep out the air. Be sure to use the sprouts before any leaves show sings of yellowing.

And now to get them ready for cooking! Wash the sprouts well and take off any loose or spotted leaves. This is one vegetable that is usually soaked for a short time in salted lukewarm water. For one quart of sprouts, use one quart of water and one teaspoon of salt and soak for about 15 minutes. Rinse the sprouts in fresh water and put them on to cook in a small amount of boiling salted water — just enough to keep steam forming and prevent scorching — about half an inch in the bottom of the saucepan. Cover them tightly and keep at an easy boil until the sprouts are just tender. Don't overcook them or they will turn a sickly green and unravel in a maddening way. Small ones will take from 10 to 12 minutes to cook and the larger ones from 12 to 15 minutes. Drain them thoroughly, season with pepper and add some butter. To make a quick tart sauce, try serving them with a little mayonnaise, cheese sauce or Hollandaise sauce can be approved by the central committee in any one year, citations of Mrs. J. Romeo Charron, convener of supplies during the war and since that time, and also of Mrs. Fraser Morrison, chairman of Women's Work Committee, were also read, and these ladies will be recommended for Honorary Membership in the future.

Service badges awarded for Meritorious Voluntary Service were presented to: Miss L. Hampton, Mrs. F. Roberts, Mrs. Harry Scott, Mrs. Mae Tillotson, Mrs. John Falconer, Mrs. J. T. Griffith, Mrs. E. Lalanne, Mrs. G. A. Massé, Mrs. Robert McGibbon and Mrs. G. Mitchell. (It is interesting to note a mother-and-daughter combination in this group, namely Mrs. Lalanne and Mrs. Tillotson. The former is 90 years of age and has a fine record of knitting to her credit.)

The services recognized in this award included organization and secretarial wbrk, quilt making, knitting and sewing. These women were congratulated on their excellent work and encouraged to continue in their noble efforts.

The president, Mrs. H. Watson, stated that there were several others who were equally worthy of receiving this honor, and their names would now be recommended for Service badges.

Mrs. Boudrias explained how the voluntary work at the Montreal Headquarters is carried out, and appealed for all to lend a helping hand to replenish the empty bins, caused by the large donations sent out to the devastated Toronto suburb. The donations to the hurricane area included: 620 towels, 3,546 layettes (160), 635 articles of children's clothing, 283 sheets and pillow cases, 48 quilts and afghans, a total of 5,112 articles representing a value of $2,273.

Mrs. Boudrias enumerated the articles shipped for Overseas relief during October, 1954 — a total of 489 to Korea and 1,914 to Egypt. Articles consigned to different points in Canada for the same month, were — Veterans' Relief, 629; Loan Cupboard, 24; Blood Donor Depot Dressings, 7,429; Disaster Department, 5,213.

The speaker also cited the speedy aid provided by Red Cross in the Algeria disaster last September. "The disaster took place at 1 a.m. (September 9) and the Red Cross was alerted at 4.30. Plans for action were made in agreement with the Prefect of the Department of Algiers and the Governor General of Algeria. By 1 p.m. the first convoy of nurses, first-aiders and committee members had arrived in Orleansville with the first consignment of supplies — milk, semolina, flour and blankets. A second convoy made possible by the Army Medical Transport services arrived in Orleansville during the night of September 9-10, conveying crates of milk, canned foods, clothing and layettes. A third convoy of civilian vehicles provided by volunteers were loaded with semolina and biscuits, and set out at 11.30 a.m. Volunteers were also responsible for the fourth convoy which, laden with bread, milk and candy for the children, left at 3 p.m. A regular daily Red Cross convoy service was started at 6 a.m. (September 11), functioning until further notice."

The president thanked Mrs. Boudrais for this interesting account of Red Cross work and expressed an opinion that Mrs. Boudrias' unfailing enthusiasm had counted considerably in making Quebec's effort second to none in the Dominion

German Girl Makes Career With Camera

Calgary (CP) — Elizabeth Frey came from Germany to Canada 2½ years ago with little knowledge of the English language and only about $30 in her possession.

Since then the attractive, dark-haired girl, a skilled photographer, has replaced camera equipment she lost on a trip to the East zone of Germany, has crossed Canada three times and is writing a book about this country.

Elizabeth said in an interview here that when she landed in Canada she started as a darkroom assistant in Toronto, saving enough money in six months to buy a press camera. Then she went on the staff of her company as an industrial press photographer.

Goodwill Ambassador

Last November Elizabeth flew back to Germany, where she spoke on the radio and told of her experiences in Canada. She received so many inquiries about Canada, she decided to write a book about her newly-adopted country and illustrate it with her own pictures.

Back in Toronto her decision to write a book about Canada for German consumption made the newspapers, and Trans-Canada Air Lines offered her a trip from Toronto to Victoria and back. She spent two weeks at Victoria, Vancouver and Calgary and then headed back to Toronto. Later she took three months leave of absence from her job to cover the country with her camera.

As for settling down in one spot, Elizabeth says she has been spoiled by her travels and thinks travel is the best life.

She recalls that "it took me a while to feel at home here but when I went back and saw Germany again last year I suddenly felt very thankful for the chances I have been given in Canada, and I wanted to come back."

"Exchange Programs" Popular W.I. Innovation

Branches of the Quebec Women's Institutes are showing an increasing interest in the Exchange Programs project of the Associated Country Women of the World. Leaflets have been issued by the London office and the plan has been approved by the Federated Women's Institutes of Canada. Mrs. H. Ellard, O.W.I. 2nd vice-president, and Mrs. J. Ossington, provincial convener of Citizenship, are in charge of the project in this province.

Songs, recipes, pictures, samples of handicrafts, details of competitions and games used at meetings, how you run meetings, personal letters, local newspapers, illustrated women's magazines and catalogues, shopping lists with prices, are some suggestions made by the ACWW in connection with the exchanges, and ideas are given on how best to utilize the material received in return.

"During our exchanges we have gone into strange homes in foreign lands and have been welcomed", says the closing paragraph of this leaflet. "We have talked of farm problems, child care and family entertainment. We have traded and tested food recipes and flower seeds, have exchanged simple little gifts and greatest of all, have found an experience in friendship."

Tips on Public Speaking

(Copyright) — By NANCY CLEAVER —

"I've got to give an oral next week on helicopters. Could you give me some help?" How many parents of school age children receive a request like this?

Sometimes a scholar will say frankly, "I would love to be able to make a good speech, but I just don't know how to go about it. I'll be scared to death when I get on my feet to talk. What if I can't say a word?"

No pupil should take such a pessimistic view of his own ability. There is no magic to making a good speech. Anyone who is eager to learn can master the fundamental rules.

A very successful public speaker once gave this advice to would-be orators. "There are five directions to follow in the making of any good speech; have something to say, forget yourself, look at your audience, make your speech, and then sit down. Test any effective speech by these five rules, and it is altogether likely that the speaker is following them."

Perhaps the advice "have something to say" seems a little strange. But a speaker must have something to say which is of vital interest if he is to interest others. He must speak on a subject on which he has made sufficient preparation and done enough thinking that his material will hold the interest of his listeners. Colorful illustrations which are well chosen and an occasional striking, accurate, statistical fact add to a speech. A speaker should choose the most interesting and essential pieces of information about a topic, and never attempt to say all he knows at one time. A dictionary should be consulted in case of doubt about the exact meaning or pronunciation of a word.

Poise and self-confidence are two characteristics of a good speaker who is able to forget himself. Good grooming and suitable clothes are a great asset. An audience, even a school room, takes a moment or two to thoroughly examine a speaker's appearance and decide whether or not the total effect is pleasing.

Psychologists state that the desire to be important is one of the fundamental human needs. Perhaps that accounts for the fact that the most winning public speakers are those who are keenly aware of those who are listening to them. The advice to "look at your audience" is sound, not at one person or at one section of the audience but at the audience as a whole.

It is worthwhile to take a minute or two at the first of a speech to make a friendly, happy contact by telling a story. An audience falls in love with a speaker who can poke a little fun at himself because he seems human and approachable.

Once introductory remarks are over, without apology or delays, plunge right into the speech. State clearly and consisely what is to be said, avoiding roundabout expressions like "it seems to me" or annoying hesitating "er-r-r-s". Do not worry about an occasional pause. Likely the audience will be glad of the chance to catch up with the thought. Most speakers go much too fast.

Be sure that everyone can hear what is being said. There is a tendency to pitch one's voice too high in the excitement of making a speech. The "middle register" is most restful, with some variety in pitch and in rate of speaking.

The importance of clear enunciation and distinct articulation cannot be over-stressed. Mrs. Macy, the famous teacher of Helen Keller, was a much sought-after speaker. She had learned the vital importance of giving each word its full value. If a few natural gestures come easily, use them. But do not use an artificial motion or one gesture over and over.

The final piece of advice to "sit down" once the speech is completed may seem foolish. But countless good speeches have been ruined by speakers who failed to do just that. Even after they have finished their remarks they have gone on and on, past several excellent stopping places, until their audience was weary and bored.

Every speaker should find out the exact length of speech which is wanted by the group to whom he is speaking. Then keep well within that time limit. It is better to be too brief than to be too long!

POLIO DETECTOR

Whooping Cough is still almost as serious a killer of children as polio, but it has never generated the same amount of hysteria. For one thing most mothers can be secure in the knowledge that their children have either had whooping cough or have been artificially immunized against it; in either case they are no longer susceptible and there is no need for worry. With polio, however, one feels helpless. Thousands of mothers who suffer tortures of anxiety every summer, do so needlessly; their children are, for one reason or another, immune to polio, but they have no way of knowing it. Gamma globulin, which is still the best short-term medium of prevention pending satisfactory proof of the effectiveness of the new Salk vaccine, is in such short supply that it must be held in reserve for use in emergency areas. Yet even when it is used in those areas a good deal of it is bound to be wasted on young people who do not need it, because they have somehow or other acquired a natural immunity to polio.

* * *

Question:

"I understand that a great many children get polio and throw it off without any serious effects and without their parents or doctor being any the wiser. I presume that when a child has one of these light, and unknown cases of polio, he becomes immune to it. It seems to me that if parents had any way of knowing whether their children were immune to polio there would be considerably less panic in the summers, and the limited supplies of gamma globulin could stretch considerably further, among those who were not immune. Have they discovered a way to detect immunity to polio?"

Answer:

(From the September-October, 1954 issue of Health magazine, published by the Health League of Canada.)

"From Paris it is announced that it is now possible to know within 48 hours if a person is susceptible to polio. This important development was made at a recent meeting of the Society of Microbialogy by Doctors E. Barski and Pierre Lepine, both of the world-famous Pasteur Institute. The technique developed by them consists essentially in discovering whether the individual possesses antibodies in his bloodstream which give him a natural immunity to polio."

Mr. Wright travelled light

WHEN THE Wright Brothers first took off at Kitty Hawk fifty years ago, weight-saving aluminum was already in on the act. Their tiny engine had a single cast aluminum crank-case and cylinder block. Aluminum has been growing with the aircraft industry ever since. Now strong aluminum alloys are helping to combat the heats and stresses of supersonic flight, and Alcan is busier than ever supplying aluminum for Canada's busy aircraft plants and other metals users looking for lightness and strength . . . at a fraction of the price that the Wright Brothers paid. Farm Forum Programs Resumed This Week

The opening broadcast of Farm Forum on Monday evening was entitled "Farm Forum in the Community." Questions which were brought up in the discussion included: What is necessary for a successful Forum, and what contribution should it make in the community? What is its role in relation to community organizations, to other neighborhood activities?

The discussion was led by W. B. Baker of Regina, who is chairman of the Royal Commission on Agriculture and Rural Life.

Participants were Olaf Turnbull, a farmer from Kindersley, Saskatchewan; Lincoln Dewar, a farmer from Charlottetown, who is secretary of the P.E.I. Federation of Agriculture and P.E.I. Farm Forum secretary; and Leonard Harmon of the United Co-operatives of Ontario.

Religious Program Draws Radio Listeners

Many people will be surprised to learn that religious radio programs have a listening audience comparable to those of any other program.

According to the Elliott-Haynes Rating Report for the month of August "The Church In Action" promoted by the Ottawa Kiwanis Clubs has a program rating higher than that of football matches. The report shows that 40.6% of all the people in Ottawa listening to their radios at that hour are listening to that program and its ratings is designated as 14.5. Out of 150 daytime programs heard over Ottawa stations during the week, this program rates among the 15 highest. The highest rating of any program heard in Ottawa is 19.3, and that is a newscast which comes over the same station.

The program is edited and arranged by the Rev. R. W. Armstrong, and during the short time it has been on the air, 32 people, besides himself, have taken part in the broadcasts either in person or by transcription. They were divided into denominations as follows:

Anglican — 11 (six clergy, four laymen and one woman).

Baptist — 6 (one minister, two laymen, and three lady missionaries).

Catholic — 3 (two laymen and one woman).

Jewish — 1 (one rabbi).

SPORTS AND JUVENILE ACTIVITIES

On Sports Front At Brownsburg

(Our District Correspondent)

Brownsburg — Gaston Leroux was this week's winner of the men's bowling award, with 292. Mrs. Colin Martin's 262 assured her of the women's prize. Both prizes are donated by Dow Breweries.

In hockey, at a meeeting of the local committee the new coach was inducted, and the talking point was of course the opening of the schedule three weeks from Saturday. It was decided that a players' meeting should be called for this Monday evening, November 15, at 8 o'clock at the Social Club.

So don't forget, all you prospective players, don't classify yourself. Come out Monday night, whether you consider yourself a junior or a senior. The officials must see just what material they have, and whether they have the makings of a senior team. It's certain that there's room on the senior team for new faces.

The schedule reveals that the Bombers will play eight Tuesday games, and that only Wednesday is completely free from games.

After last Saturday's great work on the rink, it's certain that the ice-making will start within the next two weeks, and probably skating and hockey practice will get underway some time during the week of the 22nd.

Perfect Score at Local Alleys

Miss Grace McMahon, of Lachute High School teaching staff, became the second member of Lachute's bowling sorority to mark up a perfect five-pin score of 450 points. This notable feat was achieved at the local Bolodrome, while Grace was playing October 28 during a social evening of bowling with Miss Margaret McVittee, Miss P. A. Vickery, Miss Ruth McMahon and Mrs. Kay Noble. . . Although an above-average bowler, this is the first time Miss McMahon has come close to the "Select Bowling Group". Miss Monique Charlebois preformed this same feat here in January, 1950.

Lachute High School Sports and Social News

By Jackie Murdoch

Basketball

Friday night two Senior exhibition games were played with the Hudson teams at Lachute High School. The senior girls played a very strenuous game with the tall Hudson girls coached by Mr. R. Burton, a former teacher and coach at Lachute High. The game was very close and evenly matched — Lachute coming out on top with a score of 36-18. Top scorers of L.H.S. were Elsie Touchette, 13, Joyce Davis, 8, and Janine Stettler, with 6.

The boys' game was very fast. Lachute took an early lead, and at the end of the first half were out in front 20-10. This first half was evenly contested, making the game especially enjoyable to the many spectators. The outstanding player in this half was Melvin Tomalty, who sank 6 baskets for a total of 12 points. Lachute quickly increased their lead in the second half. Duncan McTavish, like Marcus Haines, captivated the audience with his fancy dribbling. Lachute finished well out in front, with 46-32. Melvin Tomalty was top scorer with 18 points. Vincent Trayers, 10, Brent Steele and Duncan MacTavish, 8. The game was refereed by Mr. Burton.

The Intermediate teams played Hawkesbury on Saturday in the latter's High School. The girls' game was fast and exciting, with Lachute guards playing exceptionally well and limiting the Hawkesbury girls to 9 points. On the Lachute forward line Pat Stansfield and Shirley Pollock were top scorers, with 10 and 7 points respectively. The game ended 21-9 for Lachute.

The Intermediate boys played very hard but were outclassed by their opponents. The final score was 22-14 in favor of the Hawkesbury boys. Arthur Gauley was highest scorer for Lachute with 9 points, Bobby Todd and Bruce McDonald scoring the remaining 5 points.

Next Saturday the Intermediate teams will play host to Vankleek Hill.

There are no games scheduled for the Senior teams, but the boys will be practicing for one of the more important games, an engagement with St. Lambert which will be held here in two weeks' time.

Football

Last Saturday, the L.H.S. Junior football team were hosts to Dunrae Gardens, a Montreal school. The weather was perfect and an enthusiastic group turned out to cheer the younger boys on to victory. The final score read 32-1 for Lachute. All the home players staged a strong game; quarterback Kenneth Underhill let his team to victory scoring two touchdowns on end runs. Ronny Cairns played very well, and also scored two touchdowns. Del MacTavish and Wayne Laurin both scored a touchdown on excellent plays. Two converts were added by Wayne Laurin and Glenn Swail. Again the line play of Duncan, Goodwin, Gauley and Noble was impressive. . . This victory was a very fitting closing to the Junior football season.

Lachute Line-up —

Ends — McCaskill, Swail, Basinet and Beers.

Middles — Duncan, Goodwin, Gauley.

Centres — Jones, Noble.

Halfbacks — Laurin, Cairns, MacTavish.

Quarterback — Underhill.

Brownsburg School Basketball Games

By Margaret Dixon

On Saturday the Brownsburg basketball teams visited Grenville for their first games together this year.

Grenville held the edge on the girls' game all the way. They scored seven points to Brownsburg's two in the first quarter. During the second quarter, Grenville increased their lead and the session ended 14-3 for Grenville. . . Neither team scored notably in the third quarter and Grenville kept their lead, 17-8. . . Brownsburg played well in the last quarter and seemed more evenly matched with their opponents. The final score was 28-16, with Grenville victorious.

Top scorers for Brownsburg were Margaret Dixon, 6; Jeanette Gagné, 5; Joanna Steele, 2; and Ruth Dixon, 2. J. McMichael, 18, W. Beauchamp, 5, and C. Barclay, 4, were Grenville stars.

The boys' game was a fast and exciting one, the score swaying back and forth in the first quarter, which ended with Grenville in the lead 14-10. . . The Brownsburg boys played well in the second, taking over the lead with a score of 26-18. . . . Grenville narrowed the Brownsburg boys' margin in the third quarter to five points. . . Brownsburg rallied in the last quarter, increasing their lead to 15 points. The final score was 54-39 for Brownsburg boys.

Brownsburg's scoring stars were Tommy Williams, 26; Stanley Parisien, 10; and Allan Johnson, 6. D. Cowan, 17; O. Trineer, 14; and W. Rainey, 8, were Grenville's top scorers.

On Saturday, Brownsburg will be playing in St. Eustache.

LACHUTE LIONS CLUB 20th ANNIVERSARY

The Lachute Watchman, November 11, 1954 — Lions Club 20th Anniversary Supplement

Club Organized Here October, 1934; Charter Granted December 11th, 1934

It was in October 1934 that a group of 26 local citizens organized themselves into a club and became affiliated with Lions International. Records of the earliest establishment of Lachute Lions Club have gone astray in the intervening years, but the secretary retains a cherished document in the original charter of incorporation, which is reproduced in facsimile on this page.

Charter members inscribed on this scroll are as follows:

Angelo Fassio	Thomas K. Haller
Hugh P. Johnson	Henri M. Lavigne
J. Dorius Lepine	John A. MacKimmie
W. George Rodger	Dr. L. P. Sauvé
Herbert E. Underhill	Philippe Valois
Germain Filion	S. Stuart Campbell
Albini Lamarche	Paul Courville
George G. Mitchell	Ernest Deslauriers
Philippe G. Roy	Frank K. Hind
Gaetan Valois	Rev. Winter LeCras
Thomas H. Ayers	Kenneth A. McOuat
William M. Cottingham	Clement Tremblay
Rev. Henry Cousens	J. Ernest Walker

The list recalls to readers several good citizens since passed to their reward, and several who have moved on to other places of residence. The few charter members remaining on the roll (now only four in number, namely Maj. G. G. Mitchell, Philippe G. Roy, William M. Cottingham and Clement Tremblay) can look back upon two decades of active Lionism.

Like most established social or service organizations, the Lions in Lachute have experienced periods of desultory enthusiasm, but have invariably climbed to a higher niche in the community prestige, a phase of keener activity, and a more aggressive program. The biographic review of Lions in Lachute therefore presents a picture of steady, healthy progress. When the members, in regular session, give vent to the Lions' Roar, or join with gusto in a Lions' song, one may detect the pride and determination of their participation in a world-wide service movement " — "five hundred thousand strong."

Retracing the steps of memory with those few loyal charter members, it is recalled how Lachute Lions Club held its bi-weekly meetings successively in the Cosy Inn, the Desjardins (now Laurentien) Hotel, the High School cafeteria, the Golf Club Chalet, Joly's (now Duhamel's) Hotel, and finally the Legion Hall — where the club now meets each first and third Tuesday of the month, and Rolland Paquette is caterer-par-excellence.

Various worthy presidents have chaired these meetings through the years. Numerous programs and projects have germinated and materialized from these suppertable deliberations. Discussions have been sometimes heated — usually productive of concrete conclusions — invariably amicable, for Lions are fellow townsmen bonded by friendship and a common pledge. Many notable speakers have attended these assemblies, too. If a volume were compiled from the most outstanding topics heard, the collection would make a gem of worthwhile and inspiring literature.

So, through 20 years, Lions of Lachute have progressed on a sound social basis. Members on the roster have derived the keen pleasures of fellowship, and the satisfaction of service — sharing their ideas, their energy and their material resources for the welfare of their town.

Lachute Is Unit In World's Largest Service Group

One of 11,022 Branches Pledged to Ideals Of Lionism

A "comfortable" little group operating on the ideals of Service — its members not too numerous to call each other by their Christian names — its roll not too unwieldy to direct as a co-ordinated, active force — its committeemen in personal touch with team and committee members: that is a true picture and appraisal of Lachute Lions Club.

But it has not been the privilege of all local members to attend one of those big Lions International Conventions. To do so is a truly impressive experience. . . "I was a 'parochial' Lion; in a limited sense a 'provincial' Lion — but at the Chicago convention I received a jolt. The full breadth of our organization impressed me as never before"; thus wrote a local delegate in 1953, reporting his reactions.

How big? . . It is difficult to convey the full scope of this great movement today. Director-General Roy Keaton reported (July 1, 1954): "A total of 1,001 new Lions Clubs organized during the 365 days of the past fiscal year. . . Our present total of 11,022 clubs is, by far, the largest number of active clubs in our Association's history, and according to the published figures for June, it is 2,867 clubs more than the second largest service club organization, and 7,222 more than the third largest. . . On May 31, the membership of Lions International was 501,525, which is by far our Association's highest membership. This represents a net gain of 26,506 members for the first 11 months of this fiscal year."

Mr. Keaton, in his report, noted the addition of six new countries and geographical locations during the past year, and credited the success of 1953-54 to the efforts of those able leaders of Lions International who have made this the organization's "Greatest year of growth and accomplishment."

* * *

So, Lachute, 20 years young in the order of Lionism, marches on — worthily practicing the ideals and contributing to the ultimate aim of, Peace among all men and nations, which is the objective of this GREATEST MEN'S SERVICE CLUB ORGANIZATION IN THE WORLD.

Ayers Ltd. Band Represented Quebec Lions Clubs

The Lions Clubs of Quebec were able to register a very definite "first" in their annals this summer when, on July 7, 50 scarlet-clad bandsmen, whose gold and blue hatbands identified them as the "Quebec Lions", figured prominently in the monster parade held in conjunction with the Lions International Convention in New York City. It was the first time that the Province of Quebec Lions ever appeared as a group in the International Parade.

Fifty thousand people weathered drenching downpours and cheered heartily as some 60-odd musical aggregations tramped rhythmically through countless puddles along New York's glamorous Fifth Avenue, and all agreed that the Quebec band stood up as well as any other.

For Lachute, this was of particular interest and importance, because this was the Ayers Employees' Band and represented the climax of many months of intensive training. Its presence in New York was the result of a remarkable cooperative effort on the part of Ayers Limited, sponsors of the Band, all the Lions Clubs of Quebec, the Lachute Lions in particular, the director, Chas. Del Venne, the drum major, Robert St. Laurent, and each of the band members who adjusted holiday plans to make the trip.

The Ayers Band, which started four years ago with a handful of musicians, now has 60 members and with each weekly rehearsal (held in one of the Mill departments) is progressing steadily. Guests at the 20th Anniversary Dance at the Lachute Golf Club this Saturday night will hear the Band during the Cocktail Hour at 9 p.m. . . At this time, the Lions Club will also present to the Band and bandsmen a memento of their trip to New York.

GREETING

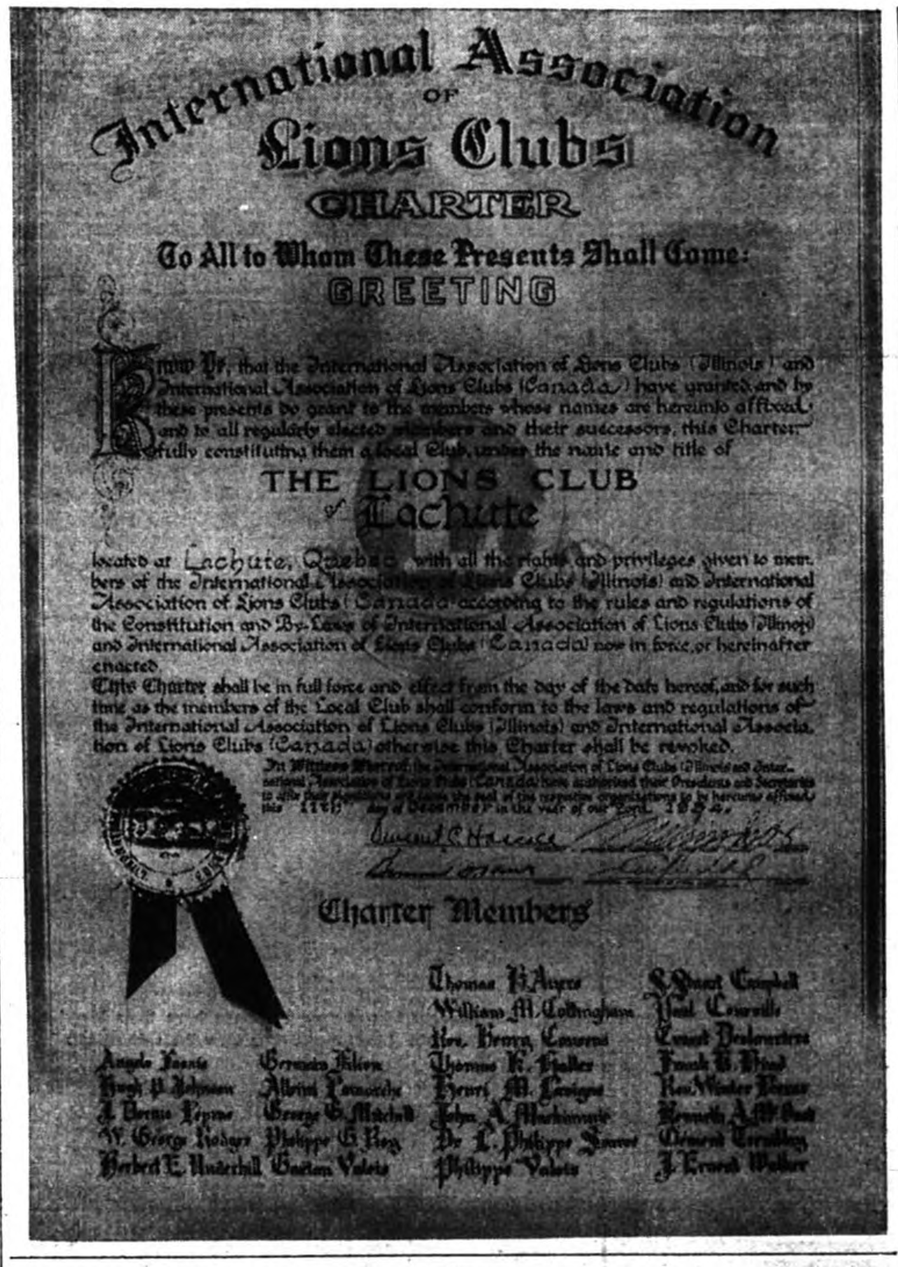

THE LACHUTE LIONS CLUB has just completed twenty years of service in our community, and as we look back on our modest accomplishments, we have a great feeling of pride in our club. By the same token, however, we also fully appreciate that, without public support, we could have done nothing.

In acknowledging this gesture of tribute from The Watchman and its advertisers, may I therefore take this opportunity to offer my heartiest greetings to all the fine citizens of our community who have helped to make Lachute such a wonderful place in which to live, and also to thank one and all for the public support which Lions have found in all their undertakings.

A special tribute is in line for all past-presidents and directors of the Lachute Lions Club, as well as for our charter members, whose vision and devotion have, in the final account, made this 20th Anniversary possible.

On behalf of our directors and members, and members of future years, I wish to pledge the Lions Club of Lachute to continued efforts on behalf of welfare, progress and civic-mindedness in our community.

Roger E. Regimbal,
PRESIDENT,
LACHUTE LIONS CLUB

Amity Between French-English Matter of Pride

One aspect of local Lionism most appreciated by the members, is the inter-racial amity which has prevailed ever since its inauguration. The esprit-de-corps of the organization is immeasurably strengthened by this understanding, which pays off materially in the ability to work together and get things done.

How much this spirit has achieved in terms of community accord cannot be readily assessed, but the statement stands unchallenged, that Lachute has offered no better example of French-English harmony in recent years than the Lions Club. It has counted undeniably in the bonne entente of social and commercial life.

Through the years, the roll of presidents shows a spontaneous participation by members of both racial extractions. The fact that proceedings are conducted and records maintained in the English tongue, is attributable to the affiliations of this great club in an immense national and international movement. And the English-speaking members, less adept in bilingualism, sincerely appreciate the initiative of their French-Canadian confrères, in battling English syntax and grammar to hurdle a potential obstacle. The language barrier in Lachute Lions, in fact, is nonexistent.

Yule Incomplete Without Lions Club Treat for Kiddies

To the children of this town, and many now graduated to youthful citizenship, Christmas recalls the charitable activity of the Lions Club.

Some may remember a turkey dinner in Lachute Auditorium, where 250 children were seated around tables of wholesome food.

Later, over many years, the theatre party was held in pre-Christmas seasons, when school children, supervised by their teachers, flocked to the Rio Theatre for song, laughter, entertainment and a Christmas treat. A valiant Lion of those days, Angelo Fassio, proprietor of the theatre, collaborated generously in this effort, and also performed the perennial role of Santa Claus, in which he was past-master.

But school enrolment increased — even the schools increased in number — and the crowd of children became too formidable to handle. So, in more recent years, Santa with his loyal escort of Lions has visited each school in succession, in Lachute, Lachute Mills and Ayersville, bringing good cheer to the youngsters there assembled — plus a message of safety from the Fire Chief, a message of caution from the Police Chief, and a handout of Christmas goodies from good St. Nick himself.

Records Show Notable Contributions To Welfare, Health, Recreation, etc.

From the secretary's records, one is impressed by the long list of creditable works initiated by Lachute Lions Club for the betterment of this district. Pertaining particularly to organized sport — and to welfare, health and recreation, both individual and on a public scale — one finds many inspiring examples. It may be noted, for instance, that the Lions Club has:

- √ Contributed to school skating rinks.
- √ Subscribed for swimming pool admissions for underprivileged children.
- √ Aided a youth orchestra.
- √ Supplied equipment for junior baseball teams.
- √ Sponsored oratory contests, assisted art pupils, young athletes and university students.
- √ Subscribed for students' admissions to Community Concerts.
- √ Awarded Agriculture trophies, for plowing and livestock breeding.
- √ Provided annual Christmas treats for school children, hampers for poor families.
- √ Provided school zone safety signs, street garbage receptacles, police radio-telephone equipment, inhalator for drowning emergencies, luminous tape for bicycles, traffic lights and other civic safety aids.
- √ Assisted financially in cases requiring dental and optical care, glasses, orthopedic aids, artificial limbs, medical and surgical treatment (including tonsilectomies), etc.
- √ Contributed in cash and clothing to l'Ouvroir Ste. Elizabeth.

* * *

This is but a brief and incomplete review of charity works affecting Lachute community. Wartime and patriotic gestures, while of national importance, have also been directed specifically to the benefit of this community in many cases. To include all such instances of participation in organized campaigns and relief appeals, would require more space than is here available. One or two more notable examples may be mentioned, however:

- √ Consignments of over two million cigarettes to Argenteuil servicemen during the Second World War.
- √ Food parcels to British war victims.
- √ Organization of a Blood Donor Service for Argenteuil servicemen.
- √ Contributions to Children's Fund in France and Great Britain.
- √ Relief to Rimouski and Cabano fire disaster victims.
- √ Relief to Netherlands flood victims.
- √ Sponsorship of Easter Seals in this district for aid and rehabilitation of cripples.
- √ Donations to all national charity appeals, etc., etc.

The Wherewithal

This impressive list of good works has been made possible with funds raised in various ways. The local public, attending functions organized by Lachute Lions, or subscribing to annual drawings, may rest assured that their contributions are directed into worthy channels. Incidentally, the pleasure they derive from their attendance at Lions' dances and other events, is another source of satisfaction to the club, in fulfilling its social and communal purpose.

Lachute On Map, Well Regarded in Lions Organization

Members Prominent In Public Relations For Lionism

(Contributed)

The Lachute Lions Club has been active not only in the limits of its own territory, but many of its members have co-operated to show the International officers that Quebec is really progressing in Lionism.

It would require too much space to enumerate those of the local members who have served in different outside activities — such as members in the Federal and Provincial Governments, mayors and councillors of this town, presidents and members of school boards, presidents of social and welfare bodies, Chamber of Commerce, etc.

It is only fair, however, to bring to the fore those who have served Lionism in a larger scope; and one who assuredly deserves mention is that venerable Lion, J. S. Giles, who has served as Deputy District Governor and District Governor for Quebec and Ontario, and who has been appointed to the lifetime honorary title of International Counsellor. Lion Jack is known and beloved throughout the great International Organization. At the age of 86, Lion Jack is still spreading the good spirit of Lionism.

Second mention goes to three active and civic-minded Lions who, in 1943, composed and wrote the only Lion song ever written by Lions, and for Lions, in the Province of Quebec, "The Lions of The North." Lion Angelo Fassio, a charter member of this club, composed the music. The late Lion Gaetan Valois, charter president, wrote the French lyrics while Lion Don Titman wrote the English version. This song is now adopted by all the Lions Clubs of the Province of Quebec as their theme song, and is also included in the recent edition of the Lions International song book.

Lion Horace Lamarche served last year as Zone Chairman for Zone 12, which comprises 13 clubs including the Eastern Townships, Greater Montreal and the Lachute club. Lion Léopold Carrière served as Inter-Club chairman during the same period, and the local club is proud to state that these two Lions have done their share to stimulate Lionism and create a spirit of good understanding among the 1,000 members in this region.

Lachute Lions Club, now celebrating its 20th anniversary, can be justly proud of its achievements not only in Lachute and the County of Argenteuil but also for the contributions it has given, through its active members, to Lionism in general.

Good Wishes

Opinions Show Lions Organization In High Esteem

Newspaper clippings culled during the 1954 International Convention at New York afford a revelation in the immense scope and influence of Lionism, and a warm-hearted public appraisal of its record. Following are a few extracts from the press around that time:

New York Daily Mirror

"It is good to see old friends again, especially those about whom we have only the happiest memories. That accounts for our glow today as we open our arms to the thousands of Lions who have done us honor by once again picking this city for their annual convention.

"As we dig back into our files and read the nice things we've said in previous years about the Lions, we can't help noting the news stories of those times. It strikes us how this country has never really been able to relax in recent years. Crises, domestic and foreign, seem to beset us constantly. Blood pressure soars, tempers grow short, worries mount up, strain begins to tell.

"And then something happens that lets the excess steam escape and reminds us that there is more to living than worry, suspicion and distemper. Something like the visit of these wonderful Lions, who exemplify selfless good will and service to humanity.

"As we look upon the thousands of Lions sightseeing in our own bailiwick, and as we cheer their parade and delight in their obvious enjoyment of New York City during our summer festival, the meaning of love for one's fellow man becomes that much clearer.

"These are people who seek good for the whole world. Their noble works on behalf of the blind, the sick and the stricken and the homeless, the enrichment of community life and the ennoblement of family ties are inspiration for mankind everywhere.

"Proof of the universal appeal of these precepts is that Lions clubs are now established in 58 nations.

"When we reflect on the international acceptance of these ideas, we find renewed courage for the good fight for freedom, justice and the dignity of the individual."

Drew Pearson
(Washington Merry-Go-Round)

"Meeting in New York right now is the International Convention of one of the livest service clubs in America. As a matter of fact, the Lions have not come from the U.S.A. alone but from 58 different countries, not to discuss business and political problems, but how to make the world a better place to live in and achieve the great goal of peace."

New York World-Telegram

"Ten thousand members of the great family of Lions International roared into town today and Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, hailing them as members of the 'Fraternity of Freedom', wished them a whale of a good time.

"The Governor greeted the delegates of the 500,000-member service organization at their opening session. He said it was tragic that some nations could not send delegates because of the fear that they might be infected by the idea of human freedom. But, he added, the Lions fraternity of freedom 'must inevitably grow because slavery carries the seeds of its own destruction.'

"Mayor Robert F. Wagner then proclaimed all 10,000 honorary citizens of the city and declared: 'So long as there are Lions who believe that each man is his brother's keeper, so long will the beacon of hope and faith shine upon the world.'

"The Mayor, himself a Lion, asserted that 'in the fields of child care, aid to the needy, social welfare, fraternity and patriotism, your work and your efforts exemplify the noblest calling of man'."

Belgium Presents Mammoth Tapestry Gift to United Nations

United Nations, N.Y. — The principles on which the United Nations Charter is based — Peace, Prosperity and Equality — are vividly represented in a huge, specially designed and woven tapestry that will hang from the north wall of the delegates' lobby of the General Assembly building here. It is a gift presented by Belgium to the U.N. and it represents the work of 14 Belgian artist craftsmen who put together 94,000 miles of yarn to create this work of art.

The huge tapestry — the largest ever woven — was presented recently to Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold, by Ambassador Fernand van Langenhove, Permanent Representative of Belgium to the United Nations. In presenting the work of art toMr. Hammarskjold, Ambassador van Langenhove said the gift was "an expression of the profound attachment of the Belgian people to the ideals and work of the international Organization."

Remembrance

On Memorial Day the stores, shops, some industries and the banks are closed. Bands will play; mayors and others will make speeches on how our citizens have defended our country for us in the past and present.

But are parades, flowers on some forgotten soldier's grave and a prayer enough? I don't think so. Think of that child growing up who lost his father, of the D.P. boy in Europe who has no hope for a normal home life, or the orphaned child in Korea. This day should be in memory of what caused these situations and devoted to efforts to stop the forces causing these conditions. The way to remember our dead heroes is to do something for our future generations — a community swimming pool, a park, neighborhood playgrounds. Would it not be better to work this day and give our day's wages toward these things to be enjoyed by the living, than to just have a big ballyhoo and place flowers on the graves of our war dead.

It is our job, as citizens, to see that we are a living memorial here in our community. Let us dedicate ourselves as that living memorial and make this community and country a better place for those left behind and those yet to come.

— The Lions' Roar (Tiffin, Ohio)

Lessons Worth Learning

Learn to live; a good life is better than medicine.

Learn to tend strictly to your own business.

Learn the art of doing kind and encouraging things.

Learn to keep your troubles to yourself; the world is too busy to care for your ills and your sorrows.

Learn to greet your friends with a smile; they carry too many frowns on their hearts to be burdened with yours.

Learn to tell a story; a well-told story is as welcome as sunshine in a sick room.

Lions Club Code of Ethics

TO SHOW my faith in the worthiness of my vocation by industrious application to the end that I may merit a reputation for quality of service.

TO SEEK SUCCESS and to demand all fair remuneration or profit as my just due, but to accept no profit or success at the price of my own self respect lost because of unfair advantage taken or because of questionable acts on my part.

TO REMEMBER that in building up my business it is not necessary to tear down another's; to be loyal to my clients or customers and true to myself.

WHENEVER a doubt arises as to the right or ethics of my position or action towards my fellow men, to resolve such doubt against myself.

TO HOLD friendship as an end and not a means. To hold that true friendship exists not on account of the service performed by one to another, but that true friendship demands nothing, but accepts service in the spirit in which it is given.

ALWAYS to bear in mind my obligations as a citizen to my nation, my state and my community, and to give to them my unswerving loyalty, in word, act and deed. To give them freely of my time, labor and means.

TO AID my fellow men by giving my sympathy to those in distress, my aid to the weak, and my substance to the needy.

TO BE CAREFUL with my criticisms and liberal with my praise; to build up and not destroy.

Dreams That Materialize

Psychologists tell us that dreams are always made up of actual experiences combined in certain combinations in our sub-conscious mind. They do not appear real at the time we have a dream, and the time we have a dream and again

Most dreams appear to us to be a fantasy of some kind, either pleasing or terrifying. These dreams being made up of our thoughts in the past, stored in our sub-conscious mind — are telling us what we think in our real, everyday life. Our everyday experience is accumulated in our sub-conscious mind and makes dream pictures to us that we are hardly able to recognize when flashed across our mind while asleep.

We would not attempt to explain dreams — but would suggest that we continue our thoughts in the right channel so that the pictures that make up our dreams will not terrify us but make pleasant, happy pictures for us to remember.

The dreams that we have in our waking hours are those desires and ambitions that come from wishful thinking — the things we want to do and the person we want to be. These dreams can be made real only by our own effort.

All of the worthwhile things that are done, are the fruit of dreams that have been dreamed by some great musician, artist, engineer, architect or builder of dreams that have become realities. Dream your own dreams and make them become an accomplishment in reality — a real part of you.

Lions International was the result of the dreams of its founders, and is continued only by the dreams of all Lions all over the world.

Medical Trend to 'Over-Specialization'

Quebec (CP) — A Quebec doctor said recently that the trend by doctors towards over-specialization is threatening the very basis of the medical system — the general practitioner.

Dr. Armand Rioux urged Quebec general practitioners to join the Canadian College of Practitioners, which was trying to raise medical standards among non-specializing doctors. He said the organization, backed by the Canadian Medical Association since it was founded last June, will help make general practice a more attractive field for medical students.

Any neighbor who insists upon exercising all his rights is a nuisance.

What They're Doing Around the World

Random Extracts from Month's Report of Lions' World-Wide Activities

The sort of things these Lions Clubs are doing around the globe, may be gleaned from a typical report occupying several pages in the monthly "Lion" Magazine. Following are just one or two brief extracts from the summary in June, 1954:

AUSTRALIA

COFF'S HARBOUR installed the first of six drinking water bubblers at the convent school in the club's plan to improve all school facilities.

MELBOURNE launched an appeal for clothing and other essential items to alleviate flood victims' suffering. Members assisted in collecting and depositing the donations at a central distribution depot.

BERMUDA

SANDYS created a work party of 12 members that spent an entire morning redecorating the wards of the Children's Hospital. Furniture, lockers and the office were painted and the front hall was also given a fresh coat of paint.

BOLIVIA

ORURO presented the local home for the aged with an automatic washing machine the cost of which was partly covered by 133,250 bolivianos collected by Lions ladies.

CHILE

OVALLE is building a home for the aged, having already spent 900,000 pesos on its construction.

CUBA

JAGUEY GRANDE paved two blocks of a street named in memory of the national hero, Jose Marti. The total cost was $3,500.

CANADA

ABBOTSFORD, B.C., restored ambulance service in the Matsqui, Sumas and Abbotsford area by presenting a fully equipped ambulance to the community bought with activity funds and special donations.

KEOMA, Alta. purchased chairs for the community hall with funds raised in a scrap drive. A total of $312 was expended for this project.

GLENWOOD, Nfld., participated in a health round-up which saw 215 children of the community vaccinated and 95% of the population X-rayed for possible T.B. When 16 people were recalled for second X-rays, the Lions furnished transportation to Gander where the mobile unit had been moved.

CALGARY, Alta., presented the Holy Cross Hospital with a check for $2,000 to help with the purchase of a new sterilizer for the operating room and an instrument washer.

KING CITY, Ont. — The city commissioners asked the Lions Club to take on the job of conducting a census in the community and the job has been completed under the direction of a special committee.

ITALY

BERGAMO exhibited 30 photographic panels pointing up the abandonment into which 15 buildings of great historical and architectural importance to the Province have fallen, with comment and concrete propositions including a budget for its restoration and conservation.

JAPAN

TOKYO is conducting weekly broadcasts on Lionism throughout Japan. One of these, "From my Study", is broadcast through 21 stations, and another, "Tokyo Cultural Information," is issued through 14.

MEXICO

PUEBLA is building a home and school for the blind on a site donated by a local commercial company.

PERU

PUNO is co-sponsoring a campaign to pave certain streets of the town and to construct a circumvallating avenue.

PHILIPPINES

MANILA, Phil., provided free transportation for some 400 indigent children of various charitable institutions to enable them to attend a free show of "Holiday On Ice!"

SWEDEN

HARNOSAND arranged an art exhibition of 76 paintings from private homes in the community, to raise funds for the club's welfare purposes.

UNITED STATES

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., purchased an electric water cooler for the Salvation Army Home for Women.

LOS GATOS, Cal., has completed the youth centre which is now in active operation. The club has donated an additional $200 toward one month's salary for the adult director of the centre.

NEWTOWN, Conn., made a dual control automobile available to the Newtown High School for use in a driver-training course.

BRIDGEVILLE, Del., bought two merry-go-rounds and two dozen soccer balls for the school playground.

RHINE, Ga., held an eyesight clinic for students, testing 355 pupils. Sixty found to have defective vision were taken to a doctor, who prescribed glasses immediately for 21 of them. The club supplied nine pairs for needy cases.

VIDALIA, Ga., purchased and installed an electric scoreboard and time clock for the high school athletic program at a cost to the club of $407. Funds for the equipment were raised by sponsoring a circus.

CHICAGO (Chatham), Ill., prepares tape recordings of a blind law student's lessons, devoting 12 hours a week to the project. The club provides his clothing, books, spending money and a tape recorder to play back the recordings.

PONETO, In., is purchasing two outdoor bulletin boards for the town's churches with the proceeds from the Community Sale Night.

JEFFERSONVILLE, Ind., donated seven portable traffic control lights to the city schools, at a cost of $160 each.

CUMBERLAND, Ky., turned over $355 to the high school band for uniforms, the sum representing the entire profit of the club's annual community birthday calendar project.

LEWISTOWN, Mont., collected $5,600 for the March of Dimes. Old folks at the County Poor Farm were supplied with magazines, rocking chairs, theatre tickets and sewing materials.

Harmony the Recipe For Well-Rounded Lives

— ROY KEATON,
Director-General of Lions International
(in The Lion Magazine)

Astronomers sweeping the firmament with their powerful telescopes tell us that there are over 150 million suns in the arch of the heavens. All are as large as or larger than the sun that furnishes our earth with light, energy and radiation. Astronomers also say there is a precise system of laws governing all the heavenly bodies. It is only through unalterable observance of all the laws that the heavenly bodies are able to operate harmoniously within their respective spheres or orbits. Should any one planet or sun show disrespect for its prescribed laws of operation, we are told that it would immediately bring, not only universal disharmony, but a cataclysmic solar commotion which would likely mean the end of all living things. The gigantic solar systems must work harmoniously. They must respect the laws of orbit rotation or collide in space.

Your body consists of countless millions of tiny cells and by uniting they form the tissues, glands, organs and various systems of the body. Definite laws govern their operations. And when all function in unison according to their own prescribed natural laws, there is physical harmony and perfect body health. But when disturbed or interfered with so as not to be allowed to function harmoniously, the result is sickness, pain, suffering or even death.

Harmony is a universally needed quality, whether it be in the functioning of our bodies or in the laws of gravity. Harmony is necessary for growth and development. It is needed everywhere in everything. Harmony is positively essential for happiness. In fact, happiness is the result of harmonious right thinking. The thoughts you develop and encourage in your mind determine the degree to which you harmonize yourself with people, events and things about you. Harmony must first begin with the individual. The kingdom of harmony is first within you. So, the amount of harmony in your outer life must first start within your inner mind.

During the International Convention held in New York in July, several hundred people listened to the splendid Lions Clubs' quartet contests. It is superfluous to say that every quartet has exactly four different voices, as it would not be a quartet unless it did. All of the entries this year were splendid as usual, and the judges had a difficult time deciding on the winners. Their task as judges was to listen ultra carefully through their well-trained musical ears to decide which quartet were best able to harmonize and blend their different voices into a more perfect melody. The judges selected the Parkersburg, West Virginia, Quartet as the one they believed produced the most perfect harmony. There has always been a high reward for harmony.

Beginning painters must first learn the art of blending the various colors on the canvas so as to harmonize them into natural images. Likewise, the successful Lion club leaders are those who have learned the delicate art of blending the various individual personality traits of the different members into a harmonious club or unit whereby the members are able to serve and work together in a harmonious symphony or service.

There are many miserable individuals in the world today who could easily transform their drab lives if they would only learn to harmonize them and get them in tune with the music of the universe!

Harmony is the product of right thinking. Friction, disunity and unhappiness are the opposite of harmony but they can be changed by the right adjustment of thought. Nothing can come into your mind or dominate your thinking without your consent. Your thoughts are your exclusive possessions — and many thoughts are sacred. If your life isn't as happy as you think it should be — if there is discord, depressing and destructive thinking — if there is disharmony, remember that it is within your power and yours alone to change it. You merely replace your destructive thoughts with constructive thinking.

As a leader, harmony is one of your greatest assets. It is the secret of health and happiness; it is a solace to the aged and an inspiration to youth. It can eradicate despair and despotism. It is an antidote for fear and failure. Harmony is a builder of castles and cathedrals in the heart. It is a guide for successful homes and hearthsides. It is a recipe for happy, useful, well-rounded successful lives. It is the key to the door of a more abundant living.

Harmony is yours for the effort. It is at your fingertips — always available.

Lions Club Celebration For 20th Anniversary

Visiting Club Officials, Guests and Friends Join in Observance of Auspicious Occasion

At the Lions Club 20th anniversary supper, the keynote was humility rather than hilarity — a deep appreciation that Lionism had been privileged to prosper and to serve so long in this community. The birthday milestone was less a monument of pride than a memorial to founders and past members who had left their mark, and a tribute to charter members still active in the club.

The occasion was held last Saturday in the Legion Hall, with members, visiting Lions, ladies and guests representing other clubs and local organizations, numbering altogether 130.

With President Roger Regimbal at the head-table were the Hon. (Lion) W. M. Cottingham, Minister of Mines, Mayor Dr. Jules Lafleur, Lions International Director Stanley G. Fowler, of Timmins (guest speaker), District Governor Larry Sheasgreen, District Deputy Governor Cy Costello, Zone Chairman Tris Coffin, officers of the local club and the four charter members still active. All were accompanied by their wives or lady guests. It is notable that the Hon. Mr. Cottingham had flown direct from Toronto to be present at this gathering.

The proceedings were dignified in keeping with the ideals of the world's greatest service club organization, of which the Lachute Lions form a part.

The president opened on this impressive note with the "necrology", reading the names of deceased members while the gathering stood in silent tribute.

Mayor Dr. Lafleur brought greetings in his civic capacity. He cordially recognized the public role of the Lions Club, and drew applause in mentioning that the new town hall premises would include accommodation for the business of Lions and similar social service organizations. A presentation of flowers to Mrs. Regimbal was made by the mayoress, Mrs. Jules Lafleur.

Many telegrams of congratulations were read by the chairman, who in his presidential address did fitting justice to this great occasion.

District Governor Larry Sheasgreen proposed a toast to the ladies, and Lion Ian Gordon paid fine tribute to the club's founders and charter members, whose foresight and determination had made this anniversary possible. For special honor he cited the four surviving charter members still active, and who were seated at the head-table, namely, Phil Roy, Clement Tremblay, W. M. Cottingham and Geo. G. Mitchell; to each, Lion Gordon presented souvenir cuff-links.

Director's Address

In 20 years a club does not grow without effort, remarked the speaker of the evening, International Director Stanley G. Fowler, in paying tribute to the enthusiasm of Lachute's present membership. The "greatest" men's service club in the world is not so important in point of numbers as in the effort of its individual members.

"Friendship is an end, not a means", he quoted from the Code of Ethics, emphasizing that the spirit of good will, typified at Christmas time, should be perpetuated at all times, in all places. . . Stanley Fowler's address, in short, was a plea for clubmen to "stay in character" — to carry their Lions' ideals wherever they go, in the home, in the office and elsewhere — to be known as consistent persons under all circumstances.

"How important it is, how easy it is, to live together in harmony and peace. This is our ideal in Lionism; and the world, unconsciously, has waited a long time for what the Lions Club has to offer. Spreading this gospel far and wide, a service club cannot help but leave its mark and make a worthwhile contribution to the peace of the world." — To this the speaker added one essential requirement, namely, to prove that as a clubman one can "stay in character".

International Director Stanley Fowler was very ably introduced by Horace Lamarche, and was afterwards thanked by W. M. Cottingham, who tendered the gift of a handsome Ayers blanket in appreciation. Mr. Cottingham, adding his thanks on behalf of the charter members, paid particular tribute to the late Gaetan Valois, the charter president and a staunch enthusiast to whom this club owed much for its survival and progress.

Mrs. Robt. Blakely, at the piano-organ, played during the supper, and also accompanied two Lions' community songs led by versatile Léopold Carrière.

* * *

As the gathering reassembled with numerous friends for the lighter diversions of the anniversary — a dance at the Lachute Golf Club chalet — the only other formalities were presentations to the Ayers Band. This smartly uniformed and efficient group directed by Chas. Del Venne, which had represented all Quebec Lions Clubs at the International Convention in New York, were present to entertain the crowd during the cocktail hour. On behalf of the Lachute club, Zone Chairman Tris Coffin presented an engraved plaque to Mr. Del Venne, and engraved medallions for his individual bandsmen. Mr. Leonard Ayers, an enthusiastic member of the group suitably replied.

Finally, John Madden, president of Montreal Lions Club which had sponsored the Lachute branch 20 years ago, presented a token of goodwill to President Roger Regimbal.

Following these proceedings the evening of dancing, to Russ Meredith's musicians, was enjoyed by an exceptionally large gathering until the early hours.

Gasoline Truck Collides With Freight

A fully loaded B.A. gasoline truck driven by Lucien Meilleur, of Brownsburg, collided recently with a C.P.R. freight train at the Staynerville crossing, causing estimated damage of $400 to the truck.

The train consisted of four fully-loaded cars and six empty ones, the truck crashing into the caboose of the train, which was backing up. There were no injuries, and damage to the railway car was nil.

Traffic Officer Howard Jones investigated.

Fire Brigade Subdues Extensive Grass Blaze

Lachute's volunteer firemen answered a summons to help combat a blaze in the re-forestation area at the rear of Clark's farm, a short distance from Lachute on the St. Jerome Highway, last Friday afternoon.

The fire consumed approximately two acres of grassland and trees before being extinguished. The smoke was first noticed by a neighbor, William Gunson, who sounded the alarm.

The auxiliary fire-truck was taken into the field over a fence, where the booster pump and hose were used. The blaze, which was impossible to control with shovels, was subdued only a matter of seconds before the water supply was exhausted.

Grenville Cyclist Killed on Highway

A Grenville resident, Mr. Harlow Hoare, 51, was killed when struck by a car while cycling home from work about 6.35 p.m. Friday, near MacIntyre's Hall.

According to investigating officers, Howard H. Acres, of Buckingham, was approaching the cyclist from the rear, and struck the cycle, killing the rider instantly. The body was taken to the Desforges funeral parlors in Grenville.

Det. Maurice Lamoureux and Traffic Officer Albert Legault investigated.

CNIB Committee Hears Progress In Fund Campaign

A meeting of the Argenteuil committee of the Canadian National Institute of the Blind was held last week at the J. C. Wilson Company office. Those present were Messrs. J. B. Chalmers, chairman, A. O. Anderson, W. G. Richardson, F. Royal, S. Milnes, A. Taylor, Miss L. Miller, treasurer, and Miss A. David, secretary.

Campaign

The treasurer reported a net total of $1,520.81 collected to date, with one more district to report. Letters sent to the municipalities in the area resulted in contributions from Brownsburg $15, St. Andrews East $25, St. Adolphe $10, and it was understood that Lachute had issued a cheque for $100.

Mr. Milnes reported approximately 10 per cent of recipients had responded to the letters written by Mr. Cairns and himself.

Case Calls

Mr. A. Zaplaski reported on various cases and their requirements in this vicinity — sightless residents requiring financial assistance and radio sets. Three specific cases were in St. Andrews East and Dunany. Measures were taken to provide for their needs.

Talking Books

Mr. Zaplaski also stated he would like two more "talking books" for sightless residents. The different service clubs will be approached in this matter. These talking books cost approximately $27 each through C.N.I.B. in Montreal.

Next meeting of the local committee is to be held in January.

Dairy Judging Team, Dominion Champions

Now Dominion champions, the Lachute 4-H Club dairy judging team, Ken McOuat and John Oswald, are seen here with the trophy they received earlier this season for winning the Provincial judging contest at Sherbrooke. The boys copped the National championship Monday at the Royal Winter Fair in Toronto. In the centre is Lachute 4-H Club Leader Ross Oswald.

Buckingham Man Dies from Gunshot

A young Buckingham man, German Lefebvre, 25, was fatally injured in a shooting accident Monday night at his home.

Lefebvre died almost instantly when he was accidentally shot in the head while cleaning a rifle in preparation for a hunting trip.

No inquest will be held, District Coronor Dr. Jean Lorrain said. He declared Lefebvre's death was accidental.

The victim is survived by his wife and two children.

Taxpayers Meet Tonight to Approve Or Reject By-law for $38,500 Loan

By a trick of time and fate, a copy of the first paper published in Moosomin, Sask. (The World-Spectator), found in the basement of the Connor farm, was handed in to the newspaper office exactly seventy years to the day it was published.

By-law 194, to authorize the Corporation of the Town of Lachute to effect a loan of $38,500 by issue of debentures to pay for the purchase of a municipal garage, the installation of sewerage and waterworks, and urgent snow-clearing equipment, was passed in three readings at an adjourned meeting of Town Council, held in the Victoria Hall last Wednesday evening. Ald. D. G. MacRae was absent from the assembly.

Date for a public meeting of all ratepayers and proprietors was set for tonight, Thursday, in the Victoria Hall at 8 o'clock, at which time the by-law will be accepted or rejected by those present.

Other Civic Business

A St. Philippe merchant, James Derouin, requested Council to reconsider his business-tax bill of $200 a year for the years 1951 to 1954. Mr. Derouin, who has been selling meat from door to door since 1951, has never received a statement, and said that, while he was willing to pay his tax this year, he thought it unfair that he should have to pay it for past years. Mayor Lafleur said that the Council would study the matter and pronounce their decision at next meeting.

H. S. Church, electrician, was authorized to install the traffic lights at Harbour's and McOuat's corners in the safest manner and to the best efficiency possible.

Willie Poulin made application to work for the town as a mechanic whenever the Council decided to hire one.

Two Lachute Mills residents, Alex and Eddie Barker, requested higher water pressure at their residences (across from the Catholic Cemetery) where water is supplied by only a one-inch pipe. The mayor, in answering this request, as well as one for a fire hydrant, stated that it would be impossible to do the work this fall, but that it would be looked after first thing in the spring. Mayor Lafleur added, "If you have no water this winter, as you say has happened in the past, notify us at once and we will do all we can to rectify the situation."

Building permit for a house on Robert Street was granted to Z. Belair, subject to approval of the Roads Committee.

A dance hall permit was granted to Hervé Fournier, proprietor of the "Pavillon" dance hall, following a statement by Mayor Dr. Jules Lafleur that he and Police Chief Ducharme had found the building entirely satisfactory under the town's dance hall by-law.

A letter was read from Gerard Lefèbvre, expressing his thanks to the police force for their efficiency and courtesy following his recent automobile accident on Hamford Street.

Upon receipt of two tenders for identical windows, sashes and doors, it was decided to purchase all necessary items from Lachute Lumber & Millwork Ltd., whose tender was $268 lower than that of L. St. Jacques Ltée.

It was moved by Ald. W. Cousineau, seconded by Ald. Réal Morrissette, that an air-conditioner be installed in the new truck in preference to a standard heater, at an additional cost of $32.

It was moved by Ald. Romain Desjardins, seconded by Ald. E. O. Pollock, that Council study the possibility of changing the election date from the first of February to the suggested first day of June. Following considerable discussion on the subject, during which all Councillors seemed to be in favor, the matter was tabled and the meeting adjourned.

Fire Drill Inspection, Six Local Schools, Now Sizeable Job for Chief Geo. Deacon

The Lachute and Ayersville schools — now six in all — were vacated in excellent order, as Fire Chief Geo. Y. Deacon staged his annual round of fire drills last week. All the schools have been drilled in emergency exit for this once-a-year practice, at which Fire Chief Deacon and Police Chief Ducharme are present to witness the children's performance.

The time for vacating the school buildings was counted from the commencement of the sounding of the second fire bell, until the teachers reported the schools empty. Times recorded, as compared with last year's times, are as follows:

Lachute High School, with an enrolment of 648, was vacated by way of five exits in 1 minute 54 seconds — 19 seconds longer than last year, when the enrolment was slightly smaller.

The Convent, which comprises two schools (Pensionnat Ste. Anastasie and Ecole St. Alexandre) with a total enrolment of 425 girls, was cleared of all occupants in 1 minute 10 seconds — three seconds longer than last year, when there were 14 more students.

The 660 students at l'Ecole Supérieure cleared their building in 1 minute 48 seconds — a much speedier time than last year's 2 minutes 11 seconds when there were 25 fewer pupils. Four exits were used in this building.

St. Julien, the Catholic school in the west-end of town, was cleared of 241 pupils in 41 seconds. Last year, 137 students took 51 seconds to vacate the building.

Both the boys' and girls' schools of the Immaculate Conception were tested this year; last year there was no official visit or timing on fire drill. The boys' section of the school was emptied of 242 students in 51 seconds, while the 223 girls took only 45 seconds. Both groups were in one building last year.

Police Chief Laurent Ducharme took the opportunity to give a brief talk to the students on safety. Alderman Ross R. Muir, chairman of the Police and Fire Committee, was also on the inspection tour.

Natural Death in Rawcliffe Coroner Case

Lucien Crete, 43, of Hawkesbury, was found dead by a cousin and niece last Sunday, in a house he was occupying in Rawcliffe, North of Grenville. Mr. Crete was an employee of Gilbert Arnold, and was residing with his cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Adilas Crete, Jr., and a niece, Marguerite Demers.

The incident was reported to Traffic Officer Howard Jones; the officer and District Coroner Dr. Jules Lafleur went to the scene, where the coroner reported the case as natural death, due to coronary thrombosis. No inquest will be held.

Legally separated from his wife 10 years ago, the late Mr. Crete is survived by three sons and a daughter.

Big Triumph for Lachute 4-H Pair, Junior Farmers

The Lachute 4-H Club dairy judging team comprising Ken McOuat, St. Andrews East, and John Oswald, Ste. Scholastique, came out on top of the 4-H Club Dairy Judging Contest at the Toronto Royal Winter Fair, where they competed against teams from all other provinces. The local 4-H leader is Ross Oswald, also of Ste. Scholastique.

The Canadian Council of 4-H Clubs last Monday night announced winners of eight national 4-H competitions, of which the Lachute team was one.

The competitions are held annually in conjunction with National 4-H Club Week. Competing were 116 members between the ages of 16 and 21, from clubs in 10 provinces with a total membership of 68,713.

All teams were selected in regional and provincial competitions to go to Toronto and spend a week in an extensive educational program, including trips to the Royal Agricultural Winter Fair.

Competitions included oral interviews and demonstrations of ability, such as judging of livestock at the Royal.

During the balance of the week the group will hear prominent speakers including Dr. Sidney Smith, president of the University of Toronto, participate in discussions, tour Niagara Falls, and visit Ottawa as guests of the Department of Agriculture.

The Rt. Hon. J. G. Gardiner, Minister of Agriculture, will address the group in Ottawa.

A banded homing pigeon landed on the doorstep of Gordon Cleal, public relations officer for the R.C. Power Commission at Campbell River, B.C., in a state of exhaustion; it was taken in and fed, and now, though released, won't leave the family; keeps pecking at the glass panel in the door to be let in.

Concert Stars This Evening

Rey and Gomez, one of the foremost Latin dance teams of the day, will entertain this evening at the Community Concert in the auditorium of Lachute High School.

Choosy is the town council of Claresholm, Alta., judging by the headline in the Weekly Press: "Town Council won't assist town band until asked."

Must Speed Gift Mail For Servicemen Overseas

There's precious little time left to send Christmas parcels to Canadian servicemen overseas. Parcel post and ordinary letters for troops still serving in the Far East should reach Vancouver this week by mail, or by airmail in time to reach Vancouver not later than December 7.

Postal addresses for soldiers in the Far East are:

Korea:

Catholic Commissioners Seek to Impose Sales Tax – Lachute and St. Jerusalem

The Catholic School Commission of the Town of Lachute is requesting authorization from Quebec Legislature to impose a 1 per cent tax on merchandise sold in its municipal jurisdiction.

The Catholic School Commissioners state they are in full agreement that a tax of any sort is not popular, but they find it necessary to place the education of the children above a dollar-and-cent value. It is also pointed out that the standard of education available at l'Ecole Supérieure in Lachute is better than that of any other Catholic school in the diocese.

Reasons for the proposed tax are the increase in price of materials and construction, the necessary increase in teaching staff, the semi-free school books, etc. They therefore find it necessary, if they are to meet all obligations, to levy this tax.

The anticipated deficit of the School Board this year is $25,000, which it is hoped will be covered by the 1 per cent sales tax. The Catholic Commissioners anticipate from this source a revenue of $44,000 for the year, in round figures, to be divided between the Catholic School Commission and the Protestant School Board on a pro rata basis of student population. With this additional revenue, the Catholic School Commissioners expect to be able to balance their budget. The tax, if and when sanctioned, will be applicable in Lachute, Lachute Mills and St. Jerusalem, but will not be chargeable on the commonplace necessities of food and clothing.

The Catholic School Commission has under its charge 55 teachers and approximately 1300 pupils, while total enrolment in the Protestant school is 648, with 26 teachers. A large number of students in both schools are from out of town, however.

On the basis of Lachute alone, the Catholic School Commission will collect approximately 80 per cent of the tax, but if St. Jerusalem is included, the Catholic portion of the tax will be slightly lower.

Speech to Renaissance Club By Hon. W. M. Cottingham To Be Radio Broadcast

The opening session of the Renaissance Club of Quebec on November 24, will be honored by the presence of the Provincial Minister of Mines, W. M. Cottingham, who will address the gathering in both French and English. Speakers invited for these occasions are usually men of prominent position and broad knowledge, and Mr Cottingham's talk will refer mainly to the mining industry, with which he is now so closely linked. His speech will be broadcast, from 1.30 to 2 p.m., over Station CHRC, Quebec, and rebroadcast the following day.

Ottawa (CP) — Lower prices for some women's clothing, including fur coats, were offset by higher shelter and household costs, leaving the consumer price index unchanged at 116.8 in September. The decline in fur coat prices was described as substantial by the Bureau of Statistics in reporting that the September index stood at the same figure as in August.

Three Vehicles In Smash-up At Chatboro

Three Occupants Admitted To Providence Hospital With Minor Injuries

A car and two trucks, scattered over Route 8 near Chatboro shortly before 7 p.m. Tuesday, sent three persons to the Providence Hospital, where they received treatment from Dr. Jules Lafleur.

The accident occurred when a car driven by Jacques Mosse, of Ville St. Laurent; headed towards Grenville, slid out of control while attempting to halt behind a parked truck. The truck, loaded with four cords of pulp, had been parked on the side of the highway by Elwood Kirkpatrick, of Morin Heights, who, having just experienced two blow-outs, was on his way to telephone a garage.

Mosse, who was accompanied by H. P. Duchesneau, of Montreal, stated that he didn't see the truck until he was immediately on top of it. He applied the brakes when he saw another vehicle approaching, and the car went into a slide. In attempting to get his car under control while passing between the two trucks, he hit the left front fender of the oncoming truck, driven by Albert Berniquer of Ayersville, glanced off and hit the left rear tandem wheels, tearing the axle and all four rear wheels off the truck, which continued down the highway a considerable distance.

The car then swung into the back of Kirkpatrick's parked truck, causing an estimated $50 damage. Both Mosse and Duchesneau were hurled out of the car onto the pavement.

Mosse was treated at the Providence Hospital for cuts, bruises, injuries to the right leg and shock, while his passenger, Duchesneau, was treated for various lacerations and shock. The driver of the oncoming truck, Albert Berniquer, was treated for torn muscles in the right arm. All were released from hospital following treatment.

Both the car and truck were total wrecks, the estimated damage being $2,000.

Traffic Officer Howard Jones, assisted by Det. Maurice Lamoureux, investigated.

Late Henry Trineer, Sr., Was 77 Years An Orangeman

The funeral service for the late Henry Trineer, Sr., who died at his home in Calumet Saturday evening following a lengthy illness, was held in Trinity Anglican Church on Tuesday, with rites of the Orange Order.

Mr. Trineer, a member of the Orange Lodge for 77 years, was in his 96th year. He is survived by numerous relatives, who mourn his loss with a host of friends and neighboring residents.

Truck Operator Sentenced, Had No Driver Permit

Réjean Roy, of Tessier Street, Ayersville, was found guilty of driving without a permit, in St. Jerome Court last week, and was sentenced to a fine of $50 plus costs or 30 days in jail.

Roy pleaded not guilty to the charge laid by Traffic Officer Howard Jones, following an accident on Route 41 on September 22, when the truck he was driving ended up in John Robertson's cornpatch. The sentence was imposed by Judge Eugene Lafontaine.

Provincial Regulations

It would be unreasonable to expect each of our customers to know all the regulations regarding the use of electricity.

For your information, the following extracts are taken from General Order No. 11 of the Provincial Electricity Board:

"The Consumer shall notify the Supplier in writing before making any installation on his premises or in the use made thereof which may affect the service or the charge therefor."

"No Supplier may discontinue service to the Consumer save in the following cases:

"(a) When the Consumer is caught in the act of stealing gas or electricity or when there is prima facie evidence of tampering with the Supplier's equipment."

"When the cause of discontinuance of service is attributable to the Consumer the cost of reconnection shall be chargeable to him."

By-passing the meter and taking electricity directly from the lines of the Company without permission is illegal.

If you intend to re-wire your premises or make additions to your installation, it is the responsibility of the Consumer himself to advise the Company.

Your co-operation in following the Provincial Regulations will enable the Company to serve you to the best of its ability.

Quebec Farm Income Increased 550% In Fifteen Years

A monthly farm magazine of French Canada, Le Bulletin des Agriculteurs, has published a market survey of French farms in Quebec for 1953.

The booklet compares Quebec farm produce and revenues with that of other provinces. It also lines up figures on Quebec farming today with those of a few years ago. Information was compiled by Le Bulletin from Dominion and Quebec bureaus of statistics and regular Canadian Facts surveys.

The result disclosed that 22% of all Canadian farms are French. Of the country's 623,000 farms, 134,000, or 21% are in Quebec, although Quebec has only 9% of Canada's cultivated land. Only Ontario has more farms (150,000 in 1951).

During 1953, Quebec farms earned a total of $512,000,000. The average per farm income was $3,800, an average increase of 550% from the $580-average of 1938.

Of Quebec farmer's total earnings, 39% comes from dairy products, 27% from livestock, and the remainder from poultry, forest products and grains, in that order.

A Quebec farm averages 125 acres, on which the farmer engages in mixed farming. He raises cattle, hogs and sheep, in that order, and his production of all three in the first half of 1954 was increased over 1953. Hay was his principal seeded crop this year, and ate up a total of 3,640,000 acres. However, he had nearly as much land in pasture. It exceeded his oats acreage by about 150% and was 15 times as great as his mixed grain production.

Of farm equipment in use across the country, 31% of the threshing machines and a quarter of all the mowing and milking machines are in Quebec. French Canada's rural home averages 6.3 rooms, compared to an over-all Canadian figure of 5.6. It also contains six people. The Canadian figure is 4.5 per house. Nearly all (97%) of Quebec farm families own their land, compared to 90% of Canadian farmers as a whole. Electricity serves 70% of Quebec farms, and running water penetrates into 62%. The average Canadian totals are 51% and 33%, respectively.

Fire Hazards Greater With Farm Mechanization

Every farmer knows the disaster a farm fire can bring. This is particularly true with the replacement value of farm buildings at an all-time high. Moreover, the hazards are greater. Increased mechanization and more extensive use of electricity mean that the chances of fire are just that much greater.

Most farmers carry some fire insurance. The real question is — do they carry enough?

In Canada, in 1952, only 47 per cent of the total farm property losses by fire were covered by fire insurance paid out by the companies. Yet in 1949, 92 per cent of the more than 9,000 Farm Forum families who discussed insurance said that they carried fire insurance. Is their coverage adequate?

This is not something that can be decided once and for all time. The value of farm buildings can change quickly. In the last few years values have been going up, and farmers have been buying larger policies. If values drop, some farmers may need to adjust their insurance accordingly. How much insurance to carry can only be decided in the light of current conditions.

Worth remembering too is the fact that an insurance policy can be useless if you forget certain requirements. It pays to read the fine print — and to notify your insurance company if your building is vacant for more than a month. That is a part of making sure that fire risks are covered.

Can The World Feed Itself ?

At an evening meeting of the Agricultural Institute of Canada held recently at Macdonald College, Professor H. G. Dion, formerly with the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations in Rome, discussed the question "Can the World Feed Itself?" In developing the idea that the various countries of the earth have just begun to exploit their agricultural potentialities, the speaker indicated that while there are great expanses of potentially productive land that will be developed when suitable soil management practices have been worked out, these areas will not usually be developed cheaply or easily, as has so much of our presently cultivated land. The greatest possibilities exist in the humid tropics, and in some of the tropical and semi-tropical grasslands with alternating wet and dry seasons. The easily developed land is restricted to certain temperate grassland areas of Australia and South America, where the traditional grazing practices have delayed a transition to cultivated crops.

It is apparent, said Dr. Dion, that the greatest increases in production are possible by using each acre more efficiently, rather than to rely for our extra food on newly developed areas. The development of new varieties of cultivated crops, the greater use of fertilizers, the improvement of the cultivator's implements, the control of plant and animal diseases, and the prevention of losses in storage can, if applied in all of the agricultural areas of the world, approximately double our available food supplies. As examples, it was indicated that if the improvement in corn production in the U.S., resulting from hybrid maize, were repeated in the other corn producing countries, about 100 million tons of additional grain would be produced. Similarly, the use in India alone, of five million tons of nitrogenous fertilizers on her 75 million acres of rice would produce an extra 10 million tons of rice per year, and even a small increase in the use of fertilizers alone would make a major contribution to her food problems.

The food dilemma that the world faces, concluded the speaker, is not caused by a lack of natural resources, but is the result of insufficient recognition of the important role that governments must play in tackling the problems of raising production levels.

Store and Home, Chute à Blondeau, Razed by Fire

Conway Bros. of Chute à Blondeau, suffered loss estimated at $75,000 over a week ago, when fire destroyed their general store and the home of Cecil Conway above. The blaze was discovered shortly before midnight and had gained such headway that only a few household furnishings could be removed to safety.

This store is the establishment previously owned and operated by Chas. McFaul — now in business with his son on Main Street, Lachute.)

The loss included Mr. Conway's car stored outside under a shed, where the fire is thought to have originated. Mr. Conway was alone at home at the time.

Conway Bros., Cecil and Leo, who operate the business jointly, are reopening for business immediately — having rented a nearby store building where they will conduct the business at least temporarily.

The loss was partially covered by insurance.

Wide Program of Study And Research Behind St. Justine Hospital Appeal

Space and Facilities Needed To Permit Progress of Prevention and Treatment

St. Justine Hospital, Montreal, launched a general campaign this week to complete its new building. Gerard Lefebvre is chairman for Argenteuil division, and is pressing the appeal in this area.

Combatting Infant Mortality

For almost half a century St. Justine's has devoted a large part of its resources to the fight against infant mortality. To attain its first objective, that is to reduce the infant mortality rate, St. Justine's has had to pay special attention to childbirth; pre-natal, natal and post-natal clinics at St. Justine's have established an enviable reputation.

The maternity department (excluding premature births) last year registered 221 births and only eight infant deaths.

Premature births demand special attention but the results obtained at St. Justine's are very encouraging. St. Justine's has a special nursery for premature babies. It has 54 incubators which were used last year for 428 premature infants.

St. Justine's pre-natal and post-natal clinics prepare expectant mothers for healthy childbirth and assure proper care for the mother and child after birth. These two services are of major importance in improving the welfare of newly-born children.

The post-natal service has two divisions: one for the mother and one for the infant. Thirty seven mothers came to the clinic after childbirth. It gave 110 consultations. Seventy eight premature babies were cared for in their division and 183 other babies. It gave 832 consultations.

There is a third section in the post-natal department — that is the BCG clinic. It vaccinated 1,181 children, 1,036 at the hospital and 145 at their homes. Workers of this section visited 342 homes during last year.

Social Service

A social service department is indispensable for a program of preventive child medicine in the home. It is most important to know the economic and social condition of the patient's family to determine whether he will receive proper care after he leaves the hospital for his home. If he does not get it he may have a relapse and have to return to hospital. It is equally important to control, through a social service, the results of treatment given at the hospital.

The social workers at St. Justine's last year made 13,459 visits on behalf of the various services of the hospital.

Psychiatry

Since 1949 St. Justine's hospital has had a psychiatry service for children. Psychiatry is a specialized branch of medicine and child psychiatry is a special branch of this specialization.

Last year the psychiatric clinic at St. Justine's dealt with 234 cases. This clinic, which handles all cases responsive to treatment, last year gave 169 children, 2,164 interviews.

Lack of Space

The present outpatient service will be augmented in the new hospital by a clinic which can give hospital care to cases which need it.

The present St. Justine's has been hampered for some time by lack of hospital facilities and adequate quarters for the outpatient service. It cannot meet the demands of the growing populations in Montreal and the province.

In the new hospital on Cote St. Catherine all these services will have the room they need.

That is why St. Justine's is appealing for $9,600,000 to finish its new hospital.

To List Donors

To inform readers on the progress of this campaign in his division, Gerard Lefebvre, Argenteuil campaign chairman, will submit the lists of subscribers for publication weekly during the drive. Objective for the region of Terrebonne, Argenteuil and Deux Montagnes — with approximate population of 122,950 in the three counties — is $47,300.

BORDER SURVEY

Victoria (CP) — British Columbia's border survey may be completed next year except for a short inaccessible area in the province's northwest corner. This is in the vicinity of the Yukon's Mount Logan, 19,850-foot peak.

4-H Club Week Special at Toronto

Each of the ten provinces is represented at this year's 24th National 4-H Club Week, November 14-19, sponsored annually by the Canadian Council on 4-H Clubs and organized to coincide with the Royal Agricultural Winter Fair. In all, 118 members of Canada's 4-H Clubs are presently in Toronto to take part in a week-long program of events.

Every opportunity is being provided for the 4-H delegates themselves to take part in each day's program. Highly selected as they are, and all between the ages of 16 and 21, these young people will participate in discussion period, compete in national competitions, be conducted on educational tours, visit Niagara Falls, Hamilton and Ottawa and listen to prominent speakers, including Dr. Sidney Smith, President of the University of Toronto.

For many of the delegates, National 4-H Club Week means one or more "first" — perhaps a first overnight trip on a train, a first visit to a large city or a first stay in a large hotel. Nevertheless, through their experience and training in 4-H work, they will be confident, well-poised and reassuring young people. On the other hand, with the inspiration gained from mingling and exchanging helpful suggestions with fellow 4-H members from across Canada they will take back to their home communities renewed enthusiasm for 4-H club work and for community citizenship.

PEDIGREE HEREFORD CATTLE FOR REGINA

London — About 30 of the best British pedigree Hereford cattle will be shipped to Canada to take part in an international show and sale which will be held in Regina, Saskatchewan, in July 1955, as part of Saskatchewan's centenary celebrations. This was announced last week by Jack Gibson, President of the Hereford Herd Book Society, at the Society's annual meeting at Hereford, England. Mr. Gibson said that the world-wide demand for pedigree Hereford cattle has never been greater than it is today.

LOSS OF LAMBS

Ottawa (CP) — More lambs are lost at birth than from all other causes combined, according to an agriculture department report of a survey conducted in Ontario. The report said 53 per cent of deaths was at birth, 17 per cent from dogs and wolves, 16 per cent from disease, 9 per cent from unknown causes and 5 per cent from natural causes.

MEMBER AUDIT BUREAU OF CIRCULATIONS

A Fine Demonstration

ALTHOUGH seven days late from a news standpoint, the Cenotaph ceremonies here last Thursday should not pass unmentioned — for the organizers, a committee of Legion Branch 70, deserve credit which we accord unstintingly in this column.

The strength of the veterans' force — however static or dynamic in the year's activities of the local group — was certainly not lacking in this demonstration of tribute to their fallen comrades. The vets presented a creditable turnout; the drum and pipe band, the color party, the marshalling of the parade, the deportment of the men, and the smooth operation of a program involving many uneo-ordinated groups of children and adults, showed an efficiency that was a distinct credit to the Legion.

We were gratified to note so many uniformed companies, so many children from the schools and convent, clergy of both faiths, and parliamentary representatives taking part. We were impressed by the number of clubs, business firms and families offering their gesture of homage. And there were innovations — such as the well-drilled color party, the four Highland Cadets forming a guard of honor at the Cenotaph, and the Bed of Poppies on which the school children deposited their poppy emblems — all indicating that the Legion had exerted every effort to make the occasion impressive.

Remembrance — Explicit

THE CANADIAN Legion wants November 11 to continue to be known as Remembrance Day. In its monthly magazine, the Legionary, it opposes any move to change the name to Veterans' Day as was done last month in the United States. In an editorial it says:

"Flattering as the new designation is to veterans, we believe the vast majority of Canadian ex-service men and women prefer that the original and primary concept of November 11 as a national "day" be preserved — namely, to pay solemn tribute to the memory of our fallen.

" 'Remembrance Day' conveys the exact meaning of that concept, and we hope it will always be known by that name in Canada."

A Campaigner for Safety

JUSTICE Eugene Lafontaine, who died last Saturday, had presided at the bench for only about three and a half years; yet, in that comparatively short time, he performed an excellent job. It is a safe remark that many living today in this area owe their lives to his firm conviction, that the fearless application of justice can promote safety on the highways.

Year after year, the Laurentian Highway exemplified itself as a "holiday deathtrap". Appalled at the number of deaths and injuries, and spurred on by one particular accident to which he was a witness, Judge Lafontaine decided on his way to court in St. Jerome, to see what severe but fitting sentences he could levy. He dealt out heavy fines, suspended driving permits and imposed prison terms.

The effect was soon apparent. Word went around that it was just as well to drive carefully in the Laurentian district. The important thing was not only that accidents became far fewer: it was, rather, that fewer arrests were made. In other words, there was less lawbreaking.

Early last July, Judge Lafontaine had the satisfaction of noting that the number of motorists being brought before him in his court at St. Jerome had fallen to fewer than 10 a week from 30 a week, in 1953. And during May and June not a single life had been lost on Route 11.

Judge Lafontaine was not only strict: he was fair. He was against "silly" speed laws, which only seemed set to trap responsible motorists. But when speeding was "flagrant", he showed no mercy, knowing that death on the highway is far from merciful.

Judge Lafontaine proved that it can be done. Though he himself is gone, it may be hoped that his example will be followed for many years to come.

Peace and Goodwill

WHIRLING autumn leaves and nippy north winds have given Canadians more than a casual reminder that Christmas and midwinter are just around the corner.

In towns and cities across the country preparations are being made to play host to Santa Claus. In fact, in many places well-upholstered, rosy-cheeked and bewhiskered gentlemen have already arrived with a retinue of reindeer, colorful floats and other eye-catching gear to charm the youngsters.

Parents don't mind frequent radio reminders that there are only so many days to Christmas. For weeks they have had it in mind even if they haven't actually bought Johnny's electric train and cached it in the attic or the linen cupboard. Johnny, of course, is dropping daily hints about the presents he expects the good St. Nick to bring.

But in the modern hurly-burly of Christmas preliminaries — and they are not all kill-joys who take a crack at the seeming commercialization of Christmas — a few reflections might not be out of place.

Peace and goodwill are inherent in the true celebrations of Yuletide and the customs and traditions of the festival call up all that is best in family life.

In all probability Christmas this year will come to a world at peace for the first time in years. The dove may be fluttering with a good deal of hesitation over some lands, but, officially at least, arms have been set aside and world leaders are doing their utmost to make the peace last.

Prime Minister Churchill hopes that the world may enjoy peace and plenty in a few years "instead of roaming and peering round on the rim of hell."

Let's pray this Christmas that his hopes will be fulfilled.

Seasonal Danger

IT'S NOT unusual to find the surface of small pools and creeks frozen over these cool autumn mornings. And adults realize that the ice is thin and unable to hold their weight. But youngsters aren't aware of this, and it is timely for parents to tell children the dangers of playing on frozen bodies of water. Later in the season kiddies may attempt to skate on lakes or brooks, and results often are tragic if their weight should break the surface of the ice.

Every winter a few of these accidents are reported. Warn the children now and they won't take any chances.

Tax Cuts?

LOGICALLY, there should be some hope for tax reductions when the next Canadian budget rolls around, thinks The Financial Post.

Mr. Abbott, in his former role as finance minister, justified the government's surplus each year on the grounds that a wise government should, if anything, overtax in prosperous times, in order to be able to give tax relief to the citizens when there are clouds on the economic horizon.

The Canadian people have accepted the logic of these arguments, judging by the returns at the last three general elections. Now, however, taxpayers will be expecting to see the other side of the coin — a willingness on the part of the government to give tax relief if earnings of individuals and corporations seem likely to turn downward.

IT IS to be hoped that if the way is opened for a new federal-provincial conference, its agenda will not be restricted to details, but that a new attempt will be made to embody in the British North America Act constitutional arrangements in keeping with modern economic and political conditions — states the Cochrane (Ont.) Northland Post.

Says Handicapped Doing Good Work

Edmonton (CP) — Most important factor in guiding handicapped persons is convincing them that they and their work can compete on an open market, says Mrs. Alizon Lamb, executive secretary of Edmonton Rehabilitation Society.

Mrs. Lamb says it's vital that a product is bought "for itself" and not because it is made by a handicapped person. It is equally important for the worker to realize this — it gives him confidence to use his physical capabilities to their fullest extent.

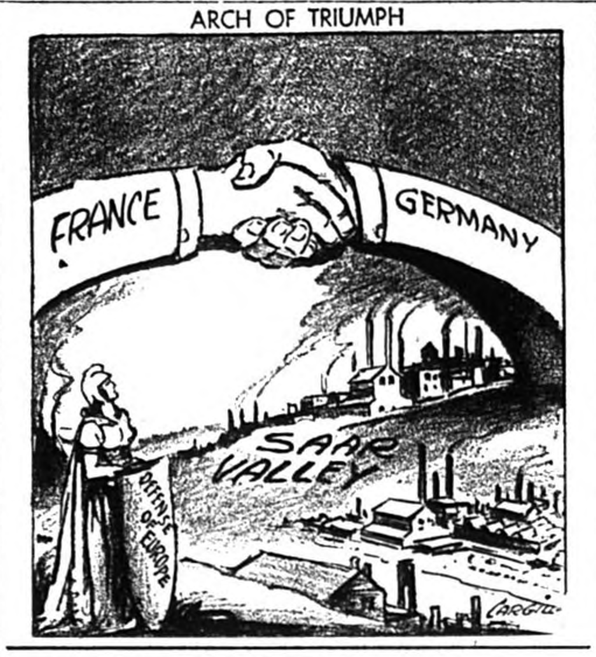

The purpose of the Edmonton society is to help the physically handicapped obtain employment. Mrs. Lamb has worked for the last 10 years in welfare service, first in Vancouver canteens during the war and more recently in entertainment work in veterans' hospitals and recreation work in mental hospitals.

A hard lesson for most parents to learn is that other parents have perfect children too.

"WITH APOLOGY TO NONE"

There are times when a fellow can't constrain himself. This is one of those times, and the following is offered with malice toward and apologies to no one.

* * *

Dear Sir,

In answer to your advertisement in the Gazette for Tuesday, November 9, I should like to make application on behalf of my great-great grandmother, Eliza Ingraham, for the position of flight stewardess with your good airline.

I notice in the advertisement, that you require the services of a woman having "128 years formal academic education". It is to be regretted that granny does not quite match up to this requirement by virtue of having only completed 120 years at university. However, in this time, Eliza has managed to take doctorates in the following faculties — Medicine, Philosophy, Paediatrics, Letters, Civil Law, Architecture, Engineering, Dental Surgery, Osteopathy, Music, Public Health, Pharmacy, Political Science, and Theology. (With regard to the latter, or last-named degree, I should point out that this amazing woman has just been nominated for the post of bishop with a new sect at Little Rock, Arkansas.) For some unaccountable reason, my great-great grandmother flunked her exams this spring for her doctorate in library science but hopes to pass the supplemental examinations to be held next week.

A woman of great energy and fortitude, Eliza Ingraham was one of Canada's foremost women. The first woman to attend McGill university, she was also instrumental in assisting Papineau to get out of the country during the Rebellion of 1837. She took as active part in the confederation of the country and was personal nurse to Louis Riel during the Red River insurrection of 1869. Her personal exploits read like the history of Canada and, during the last war, she received a mention-in-despatches for driving an ambulance during the blitz in London. Last year, she was awarded the Coronation medal by the government for graciously consenting to retire from public life. Accordingly, she returned to university to begin her studies in the few fields left to her.

While Eliza is not overly anxious to quit college for a job, she feels —and quite rightly so — that one can stay at a university "just so long. Then one tends to stagnate". When she caught sight of your advertisement, she decided that she was, perhaps, the only person eligible for the occupation and insisted that I write you. She would gladly have done this herself but is incapable of writing just now because she unfortunately broke her wrist yesterday while operating a large metal lathe at the Montreal Industrial Tool and Equipment Show, "just to see if I could."

Sound of wind and limb, granny's eyesight is 20/20 which is, I understand, better than the 20/50 you ask for in your ad. Besides being able to cook and sew, she can, if required, take speed dictation and can type 160 words per minute with unerring accuracy. Being a widow with no dependents — her husband predeceased her in 1888 — she is ready, willing and able to travel anywhere the company may choose to send her.

I trust that the information contained in this letter will result in a personal interview and I have been instructed to say that Mrs. Ingraham will be available at any time. She asks only that, if possible, the interview be scheduled for the afternoon since she is now residing in St. Eustache-sur-le-Lac and finds that with present-day traffic she can't operate her pedal bicycle at top speed. If a morning interview is absolutely necessary, however, she is quite prepared to come to Montreal on the preceding day and spend the night at the Y.W.C.A.

Trusting we shall have the pleasure of an early and favorable reply, I remain,

Yours faithfully,
— Geoffrey Jeffris

MORE GERMAN CARS

The German automobile industry is making determined efforts to increase sales in Canada, reports Ian Macdonald, Assistant Commercial Secretary for Canada at Bonn. West Germany's car exports are running at approximately 75 per cent above last year.

Several German manufacturers have made price cuts in recent months. Volkswagen has kept costs low by concentrating on the production of a single design, with technical improvements only from time to time.

German manufacturers believe that exports to Canada and the United States will increase.

Crossing the farm yard, the rooster came upon a football. "Ladies", he crowed, "I don't want to complain, but look what's being done in other yards."

Over the Years with THE LACHUTE WATCHMAN

75 YEARS AGO

November 21, 1879 —

Ste. Scholastique — On Tuesday evening, a most diabolical attempt to wreck the train going west was perpetrated here. Ties were placed across the rails; and it was only for the vigilance of the engineer, and that the patent air brakes were in use, that the train was not wrecked — it coming to a stop only a foot from the blockage.

Fully eight inches of snow fell during Wednesday night; there is good sleighing now.

The Episcopalians are preparing to build their new church in the centre of the village.

An old trapper reports that the muskrats are building cheap houses, and he therefore predicts an open winter; but it does not look like it now.

A generous donation of vegetables, pickles and canned fruit was sent to the Grace Dart Home in Montreal, by members of the Upper Lachute and East End Women's Institute.

On Tuesday evening, the male members of the Lachute Presbyterian Church gathered in the church hall to a men's supper, and by unanimous consent they launched a men's club.

Charges Plans Haphazard In Public Building

TO THE EDITOR

146 Main St., Lachute

To the Publishers,
Lachute Watchman.

Gentlemen:

As a Lachute taxpayer, I wish to draw the attention of fellow citizens to the manner of administration presently in force at our Town Hall.

We are undertaking the construction of new headquarters for local government purposes. To the present time, however, this construction seems to be a family business affair. A contract was recently given without requiring beforehand that the job, be guaranteed by plan. On this sort of procedure, how can the City Fathers be assured that the contract will be completely fulfilled, when there is no blueprint on file?

Taxpayers, since it is YOUR money being spent, you have a right to demand more satisfactory administration from those in authority.

ALL ABOARD
With G. E. Mortimore

When you get talking to some people, you are lucky to escape with a fractured rib.

They are the people who use elbows and fists as an aid to friendly conversation. One of them came at me the other day around a blind corner before I had time to dodge.

"Well, it's great to meet you again, you old rascal," he roared, knocking my shoulder out of joint with a roundhouse left and catching me over the heart with a right hook.

"Oof," I said. "It's good to see you, too. Fairly good, anyway."

"How've you been, eh?" he bellowed, and landed a crippling blow to the solar plexus.

"Ooff. All right, except that I haven't the wind I used to have. Can't take the punishment."

"When was it I last saw you — that time you had to rush off to work?"

"Last Friday," I said. "I hope you don't mind my mentioning it, pal, but you seem to have punctured my chest wall by jabbing it with your thumb."

"Ha, ha! Well, I'm glad to see you looking so fit, you old dog," he said, beating a mambo rhythm on my collar-bone with his knuckles.

"Thanks, you old ape," I replied. "Or perhaps it would be better to say 'you old ourang-utang'. You look darned near human yourself, although not quite. Now, I'll have to be getting along."

"Give my regards to that wife and those four children of yours," he said, administering a farewell thump to the kidneys.

"I have only one child, but thanks anyway, you old baboon," I said. With that, I drew a revolver and playfully shot a hole in his sloping forehead.

No, I'm lying. I only shot him in my imagination. But I think I'll limp down to the hardware store and buy a suit of light armour to wear under my vest, in case I ever meet that man again.

HAVE YOUR HENS GOT CAT'S EYES?

Daylight is very short now, and cloudy days are making them still shorter. Hens are often on the roost till 7.30 in the morning and back there again by 4 or 4.30 in the evening — about 9 or 10 hours of eating time. If your hens depend solely on daylight they will only have time to eat very little more than enough to supply their body needs; you get what is left — a few eggs.

Hens need from 12 to 14 hours of light per day. And they need it at exactly the same time every day, not just when you feel like or think of giving it to them. Also they need a dim light period at night to get them on the roosts before the lights go off altogether.

According to experiments of the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture over a four-year period, hens with lights laid from $20.00 to $50.00 more eggs, per 100 birds, per year, than birds with no lights.

OBITUARY

Many Friends Mourn Brownsburg Citizen

Late Wyman D. McRae

The funeral service of the late Wyman D. McRae, of Brownsburg, was held on November 12 in the Brownsburg Regular Baptist Church. The service was conducted by the Rev. Geo. B. Hicks, assisted by Rev. G. Bruce and Pastor E. McNutt.

Mr. McRae passed away suddenly at his home on Tuesday, November 9, in his 43rd year. He was born at Bell Falls in 1912, and was the son of John McRae and the late Mrs. McRae.

Left to mourn are his wife, the former Hazel Gunn, and daughters, Pearl and Judy, and son Ian, all of Brownsburg; also his father, John McRae, and stepmother, Mrs. McRae of Bell Falls, one sister, Beatrice (Mrs. Gordon Smith), of Vankleek Hill, Ont., and one brother, Lauder, of Port Colborne, Ont.

The high esteem in which he was held was evident by the many floral tributes, expressions of sympathy and the large number who gathered to pay their last respects.

Pall-bearers were Calvin McAndrew, Ernest McRae, Harvey Wilson, Willis Kennedy, Walter Dewar and J. A. Murdoch.

Interment was made in Lachute Protestant Cemetery.

Births, Marriages, Deaths, etc.

Births, Marriages, Deaths, and In Memoriam, etc., 75c; 5 cents per type line extra for verses with In Memoriam (estimate 6 words per type line).

Deadline, Wednesday, 5 p.m.

(Payable in advance)

BIRTHS

TODD — Mr. and Mrs. Robert Todd, formerly of Brownsburg, Que., announce the birth of David Henry, at Grace Hospital, Winnipeg, Nov. 4, 1954. Both well.

WHITE — At the Royal Victoria Hospital, Montreal, on Nov. 15, 1954, to Mr. and Mrs. Wm. (Bill) White, of Lachute — a son.

MARRIAGE

WALKER - McOUAT — Mr. and Mrs. A. Erskine McOuat, of Brownsburg, announce the marriage of their daughter, Marjorie Davidson, to Mr. Robert Allan Walker, son of Mr. John Walker and the late Mrs. Walker, of Bethany Road, on Friday, November 12, 1954. The Rev. Garfield Bruce officiated.

DEATHS

McOUAT — At the Montreal General Hospital on Nov. 11, 1954, Mrs. Thomas McOuat (the former Jessie McFarlane), in her 83rd year, sister of John McFarlane, Lachute, Que.

RUTHERFORD — At the Ross Memorial Pavilion on Saturday, Nov. 13, 1954, Edna L. McOuat, beloved wife of Dr. Arthur P. Rutherford, of Hawkesbury, Ont., and dear sister of Gladys (Mr. J. R. Charron). Interment at Lachute, Que., on Tuesday, Nov. 16.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

McFARLANE — Thanks are tendered by Mr. John McFarlane, brother of the late Mrs. T. McOuat, to the many who attended her funeral, and to all friends who in other ways expressed their tribute and sympathy.

McRAE — Mrs. Wyman D. McRae and family wish to extend their heartfelt thanks and appreciation for the acts of kindness, messages of sympathy and beautiful floral offerings received from their kind relatives, friends and neighbors, during their recent bereavement in the loss of a beloved husband and father.

IN MEMORIAM

CROOKS — In loving memory of Willis C. Crooks, who left us on Nov. 19, 1949. — Ever remembered by his family.

CUNNINGHAM — In loving memory of a dear son and brother, John Raymond (Jock), who passed away Nov. 20, 1946. — Always remembered by Mother, sisters and brother.

"Somewhere back of the sunset,
Where loveliness never dies,
He dwells in the land of glory,
Midst the blue and gold of the skies.
And we who dearly love him,
Whose passing brought many tears,
Will cherish his memory always —
To brighten the passing years."

MARTIN — In loving memory of a dear sister, Charlotte, who passed away Nov. 18, 1950. — Lovingly remembered by Dad, Margaret, Maude, Elizabeth and Winnifred.

"Those we love we never lose, for always they will be Forever near, forever dear, in cherished memory.
We often think of bygone days
When we were all together,
The family chain is broken now,
But memories live forever."

MARTIN — In loving memory of a dear wife and mother, who passed away four years ago, Nov. 18, 1950. — Always in our thoughts; sadly missed by her husband, Percy, her daughter, Beverley, sons Donald and Jimmy.

DISTRICT NEWS FROM OUR COUNTY CORRESPONDENTS

Northern Grenville

Recent visitors at Mr. and Mrs. Wyman Young's were Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Gunn, of Winchester, Miss Aileen Gunn, of Ottawa, and Mrs. Herbert Smith with little Irwin, of Rivington.

Friends in this community extend heartfelt sympathy to the family of the late Mr. Harlowe Hoare, who was struck and fatally injured by an auto near his home last Friday evening. . . Sympathy is also extended to the family of the late Mr. Henry Trineer, Sr., of Calumet, who passed away Saturday night, in his 96th year.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Fife, of Ottawa, attended the funeral of the latter's brother, Mr. Harlowe Hoare. Mrs. Fife is remaining with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Hoare, Sr., this week. Another daughter, Mrs. Jack Cook, of Netherhill, Sask., is also with her family this week.

Mrs. Jean Laflamme, of Montreal, is spending a few days with her daughter, Mrs. Joseph Mallette.

Mr. Willis Young spent Saturday in Ottawa.

Mrs. Ernest Nunnally, of Birmingham, Alabama, spent a few days recently with her brother, Mr. Cliff Cooke, and sister, Mrs. Otto Tomkiewicz, and their respective families. On her return she took her two nephews, Masters Gordon and Grant Tomiewicz, with her for a few weeks' holiday.

Military Funeral at Morin For World War I Veteran

The Late Richard Connelly

Morin Heights — There passed away on Friday, November 12, 1954, at the Queen Mary Veterans' Hospital, a former resident of Morin Heights, Richard Connelly.

The late Mr. Connelly, who was in his 82nd year, was the son of the late John Connelly and Jane Seale. He was a veteran of World War I.

For the past five years he has been in Ste. Anne's Military Hospital and the Queen Mary Hospital.

The funeral was held Sunday afternoon from Watchorn's Farm to the United Church with military rites conducted by Chaplain Robt. Blair.

Pall-bearers were Comrades E. Kneeland, Peter Walley, Wm. R. Bell, A. Vaillancourt, G. Seale and H. Lacken.

Those attending the funeral from a distance were Mr. and Mrs. George Connelly, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Connelly, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Connelly, Mr. Lester Connelly, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Taggart, Mr. J. Taggart, Sr., all of Montreal, and Mr. and Mrs. H. Bennett, of Harrington.

IN MEMORIAM

MacRAE — In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Malcolm R. MacRae, who passed away Nov. 11, 1948. — Ever remembered by his loving wife, Catherine, daughters, Ethel and Dorothy, and son, Russell.

"Dear God, please take a message
To our loved one up above,
Tell him how much we miss him
And give him all our love."

MacRAE — Loving memories of a dear father and grandfather, Malcolm R. MacRae, whom God took home to rest Nov. 11, 1948. — Remembered always by his loving daughter, Maude, son-in-law, Joe, grandchildren, Virginia, Brenda, Brian and Malcolm.

"Our lips cannot tell how much we
miss him,
Our hearts cannot tell what to say,
God alone knows how much we
miss him
In a home that is lonesome today."

NIXON — In memory of my dear wife, Rhoda, who passed away Nov. 18, 1949. — Lovingly remembered by her husband, Eddie.

"What would I give to clasp her hand,
Her happy face to see,
To hear her voice and see her smile
That meant so much to me."

NIXON — In loving memory of my dear mother, Rhoda Nixon, who passed away Nov. 18, 1949. — Always remembered by her daughter, Rita, Irwin and Wendy.

"It's lonesome here without you, Mom,
And sad the weary way,
For life is not the same to me
Since you were called away.
We still remember the way you looked,
The way you spoke and smiled,
And all the things you said and did
Are with us all the while.
Just how much I miss you, Mom,
Only God will ever know,
For the ache in my heart is here today,
As it was five years ago."

NIXON — In loving memory of a dear mother and grandmother, who passed away Nov. 18, 1949. — Always remembered by her son, Alton, Ethel and grandchildren.

"We are thinking of you today, dear
Mother,
But then, it's nothing new,
We thought about you yesterday,
And the day before that too.
We will think of you tomorrow
And each day through the year,
We will think of you forever,
For to us you were so dear."

Grenville

Field Day for Foresters at Harrington

Last week a group of 80 members of the Quebec and Ottawa Valley sections of the Canadian Institute of Forestry held a one-day field meeting at the Harrington Forest Farm of Canadian International Paper in Argenteuil County, some 20 miles north of Grenville. The day was spent in witnessing field demonstrations of cutting, thinning, skidding and loading methods (as shown in photo above) on the 4,000 acre farm. Following the outdoor program the foresters were guests of the Harrington Farm at a buffet dinner, which was followed by an open forum and general discussion of the objectives of the experimental forestry centre. S. C. Cunningham, chairman of the Ottawa Valley section, headed the Ontario group, while R. George Ray, chairman of the Quebec section, headed the Quebec contingent. J. L. Van Camp, General Manager of the Canadian Forestry Association, was present, as were several representatives of the Forestry Branch of the Department of Northern Affairs and Natural Resources. M. R. Wilson was official host on behalf of C.I.F.

Weir

Mrs. Chas. Mountain and son, John, are spending the next fortnight at their cottage here, and had as their guests for the week-end the Misses Irene Clifford and Mary Kelley, also Messrs. Clifford Mountain and Gordon Stone, all of Montreal.

SWEEPING CHANGES in meal service are announced by the Canadian National Railways, made possible by the introduction of its new passenger rolling stock. Dinette cars, parlor-grill, buffet-parlor and sleeper-grills will offer budget priced meals to travellers on many of the CNR's main line trains. For the first time since pre-war years, meals costing less than a dollar will be featured regularly in these cars. The innovations mark another step in the CNR's aim to provide the public, in addition to new and smartly designed passenger equipment, a type of dining car service at prices suitable to the budgets of coach as well as sleeping car travellers. Service in the grill class cars, or "coffee shops on wheels", and the dinettes will be operated continuously throughout the day and evening. Four new dinette cars, shown upper picture, are in trains 1 and 2 between Montreal and Winnipeg in place of the customary dining cars. In addition to regular dining cars, buffet cars offer coffee shop privileges on the second leg of the trip between Winnipeg and Vancouver. Regular dining cars remain on trains 3 and 4, between Toronto and Vancouver, but these are supplemented by new sleeper-grill cars, shown lower left. Two dinette cars are also in daily pool train service between Montreal and Toronto, attached to the morning trains leaving each city.

Pretty Wedding Ceremony In Ahuntsic Church

Mott - Grainge

The wedding was solemnized recently in St. Andrew's Anglican Church, Ahuntsic, of Joy Rose, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Grainge, and Mr. Peter Mott, only son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Mott and grandson of Mrs. T. G. Foreman, Calumet. The Rev. S. L. Pollard officiated at the ceremony.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a model gown of imported French Chantilly lace over ivory satin with a front panel of perma-pleated tulle. Her fingertip veil was held by a coronet of seed pearls, and she carried a cascade bouquet of pink carnations and white chrysanthemums.

Miss Marilyn Robertson, as maid of honor, Miss Faye Allen and Mrs. George Foreman, of Sherbrooke, attended the bride. They were attired similarly in floor-length gowns of yellow, pink and midnight blue tulle over Alice blue taffeta, with matching feather headdresses. They carried nosegays of blue cornflowers and pink and yellow baby roses.

Mr. Stuart Robertson was best man for Mr. Mott, and the ushers were Mr. Richard Dickson and Mr. Stuart Taylor.

Mrs. Grainge, mother of the bride, was gowned in beige with brown accessories, and wore a muskrat jacket. Her corsage was of red roses. Mrs. Mott, mother of the groom, wore a midnight blue suit, matching accessories, and a short fur jacket, with a corsage of pink roses.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the Armoury of the 17th Duke of York Royal Canadian Hussars.

Later, the newly-married couple left on their wedding trip to Florida, the bride travelling in a coral knitted suit with navy blue accessories, and wearing a corsage of white chrysanthmums. On their return they will reside in Montreal.

"THIS GOOD NEWS OF THE KINGDOM"

We need good news today, especially good news about a righteous government. Men's schemes for governing themselves multiply, and their failures multiply at the same rate. But there is good news about a perfect government that will never fail, that will bring peace eternal. It is the news of Jehovah God's government, of its establishment, how it will eliminate sin and death and the Devil, and how by dedication to Jehovah persons can be ransomed to everlasting earthly life under it, surviving the approaching end of this present sorrowful system of things. This is news that is good and timely and vital. It is stated clearly, in the simplest of language, in the new 32-page booklet entitled "This Good News of the Kingdom". You will thrill to receive this good news, and give it to others, and even study it with others. To facilitate both private and group study, questions on each paragraph appear in the booklet. Individual copies are 5 cents, or to supply your friends and neighbors get 7 for 25 cents or 30 for $1. Congregations of Jehovah's witnesses anywhere on this beautiful earth will be glad to serve you. Just enquire of any of them you may meet; or write — The Watch Tower, 40 Irwin Ave., Toronto.

Speaks on Canada's New Citizens

Brownsburg — At last week's Rotary Club meeting, held in the Brownsburg Legion Hall, Mr. G. Makash, a member of the Montreal Rotary Club, was guest speaker, Mr. Makash, a speaker of note in the Montreal area, had as his topic "Canada, My Country", and dealt with our new immigrants, impressing on those present that these people, as new citizens of Canada, are in fact there to establish themselves and their families in the freedom of Canadian citizenship, and that it is our duty, as it should also be our desire, to assist them in any way possible in their quest for a better life in this, their new land.

In keeping with his subject, the speaker related some of the incidents in his own life which had influenced his emigration from the land of his birth, to this, his country. He was through the Armenian Massacre, and his account of the cruelty of man would be unbelievable were it not related by one who was there to see it. He left a deep impression on all present.

Since there is such an increase of immigration to this country at the present time, this topic by Mr. Makash was timely, and assuredly his address will go a long way in promoting kindness and understanding.

President Fred Royal was in the chair, and Fellowship Chairman Les Thompson introduced the guests.

Dedication of Drapes At Lachute United

A special feature of the morning service at the Lachute United Church was the dedication of new drapes for the pulpit and lectern. These are in a rich wine-colored velvet, worked in gilt lettering.

The drape on the lectern bears the letters IHS, signifying Jesus, Saviour of Men, and was presented by Mr. and Mrs. Russell Carpenter in memory of their parents. The one on the pulpit bears the seal of the United Church of Canada, and represents the three churches which entered the United Church of Canada at the time of church union in 1925. Methodism is signified by a dove, Presbyterianism by the symbol of the burning bush, and Congregationalism by the open Bible. This was presented by Mr. and Mrs. Albert Giles in memory of their parents.

Federal-Prov'l Conference Likely Before Adjustment Of Quebec-Ottawa Dispute

By Don Peacock,
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Ottawa (CP) — The federal government may confer with the provinces before the end of the year over the terms of a proposed tax agreement with Quebec.

Premier Duplessis of Quebec last week sent Prime Minister St. Laurent a letter outlining the Quebec position on its provincial income tax. After discussing the letter at a cabinet meeting, Mr. St. Laurent said Mr. Duplessis' new proposals for solving the Ottawa-Quebec income tax dispute will be studied by federal tax officials.

He said the terms of any tax settlement with Quebec, however, will first be referred to the premiers of the nine other provinces. He hoped to have something to present to the premiers before the end of the year and indicated that a federal-provincial conference likely will be held for that purpose.

He said he does not want an agreement with Quebec presented to the other provinces without giving them an opportunity to study it.

Such a conference likely would end with an adjournment pending a later full-dress conference on federal-provincial fiscal relations before the present tax agreements with the nine provinces — all but Quebec — expires at the end of 1956.

Mr. Duplessis' proposals grew from the October 5 meeting in Montreal between himself and Mr. St. Laurent.

The issue centres on Quebec's provincial income tax imposed last spring. It amounts to about 15 per cent of federal collections in Quebec. The province wanted the tax fully deductible; federal law permits only a five-per-cent deduction.

The problem hasn't arisen in other provinces because instead of their own income tax they have a tax rental agreement with Ottawa. In return for sole use of their personal and corporation income tax fields, Ottawa gives them annual payments. The federal government says this system spreads the national wealth more evenly.

Quebec says the agreements endanger provincial rights and autonomy and has refused to sign.

Benjamin Franklin once said: "A Bible and a newspaper in every house, a good school in every district — and all studied and appreciated as they merit — are the principal support of virtue, morality and civil liberty."

The funeral is being held today (Thursday) in St. Jerome.

Two Ontario Plowmen To Compete in Sweden

Two Ontario farmers will travel to Sweden next year to represent Canada in the third annual tractor plowing match.

They are Joe Tran, 37, of Claremont, and Ivan McLaughlin, 50, of Stouffville, winner and runner-up in the annual Canadian plowing championship, which was held at Ballantrae, 30 miles northeast of Toronto, after bad weather forced its postponement at the 41st International Plowing Match at Breslau, near Kitchener, Ont.

In addition to the trip abroad, Tran won the Esso Silver Plow, symbol of Canadian plowing supremacy, which will be held for a year by his provincial group, the Ontario Plowmen's Association.

This year's Canadian championship was contested by two plowmen from each of the provinces of Ontario, Manitoba and British Columbia.

Tran's Canadian championship victory comes after 22 years of competitive plowing, during which time he has amassed a large array of trophies, medals and other prizes, including two silver medals and one gold medal from Imperial Oil for prowess in the Esso class competitions. With the gold medal he captured at the 1953 international, Tran also won a trip to Portage la Prairie, Man., where he took part in the provincial competition. A Holstein farmer, he lives with his wife and four children on the Claremont farm where he was born.

The runner-up, Ivan McLaughlin, who is reeve of Whitchurch, Ont., has been a friendly rival of Tran's in plowing competition for many years. He defeated Tran in the Ontario championship class only a few days before the Canadian championship contest.

Tran, McLaughlin and W. C. Barrie of Galt, a director of the Ontario Plowmen's Association who has been chosen their team manager, will make the trip overseas as guests of Imperial Oil.

Crack plowmen from more than a dozen nations are expected to compete in Sweden for the Esso Golden Plow, a perpetual trophy awarded each year to the world's best tractor plowmon.

Bible Briefs

By A.A.M.

The Bible is rich in stories, and the purpose of this series is to encourage readers to look up for themselves the Bible versions of these incidents. If there are children in the family it is suggested that the story, and the Bible verses on which it is based, be read aloud.

Who was the "forerunner of Jesus" who preached in the wilderness of Judea, "Repent, for the Kingdom of Heaven is at hand?" He quoted from the prophet Isaiah, "Prepare the way of the Lord, make his paths straight."

This young, vigorous man, dressed in a garment of camel's hair, with a leather girdle around his waist, must have been a striking figure. For nourishment he ate locusts and wild honey.

His fame spread throughout the land. Great crowds from Jerusalem and Judea and all the region around came to him to be baptized in the river Jordan, and to confess their sin.

When he saw many of the religious leaders of the people, Pharisees and Sadducess, coming for baptism, he reproached them. His words were stinging ones which must have made them angry. He cried: "You brood of vipers! Who warned you to flee from the wrath to come? Do not presume to say "We have Abraham as our father." For I tell you God is able from these stones to raise up children to Abraham. Bear fruit that befits repentence. Every tree that does not bear good fruit is cut down and thrown into the fire."

Then this wilderness prophet went on to speak of his baptism. He said "I baptize you with water for repentence, but he who is coming is mightier than I. His sandals I am not worthy to carry. He will baptize you with the Holy Spirit and with fire."

Read the third chapter of Matthew to find this man's name and the account of Jesus' baptism in Jordan by him.

EMBARRASSMENT OF GRAIN RICHES

—Central Press Canadian

There was no space left to put this mountain of U.S. grain when deliveries filled the elevators, so operator Joe Pitman started dumping the foodstuff along the railroad siding at Liberal, Kansas. When some 90,000 bushels piled up, two telegraph poles were snapped, bringing a promise of boxcars to move the grain.

Millions of Dollars Await Unknown Owners

An estimated four billion dollars in unclaimed funds await unsuspecting owners in Canada and the United States, says the November Reader's Digest. This hidden treasure is supposedly worthless stocks and bonds, old bank accounts, and legacies left to heirs who cannot be located.

One "fortune-hunter" has produced 172 million of these hidden dollars for lucky beneficiaries. He is Dan Eisenberg, a New York private investigator who has 300 agents in various cities.

Eisenberg's services are used by two kind of clients. Individuals ask if old securities they possess have any value, or inquire about legacies to which they may be heir. Corporations, banks and lawyers engage him to find missing stockholders, depositors or heirs. He finds nine out of ten of all the stockholders and heirs he seeks.

One client had bought a few thousand dollars' worth of stock before the 1929 panic. Then dividend cheques ceased. Reader's Digest says he thought the stock worthless and ironically papered his bedroom wall with the certificates. Eisenberg had the pleasure of telling him his wallpaper was worth $36,000.

The Digest offers this advice to stock-owners: "Never destroy a stock certificate. If dividend cheques stop coming, be sure the company has your right address. If your stock ceases to be quoted in its accustomed place in the newspaper, perhaps the company has merged with another. Write the company for information. Though it may be bankrupt, you may get a share of some left-over assets."

Around the Country

Families at Cawston near Penticton, B.C., are breathing easier about the menace of rattlesnakes now that Carlton McNaughton, of Oliver, is on the warpath again; so far this year he has accounted for 194 rattlers.

A Hartland, N.B., lady has written to The Observer that skunks (not rats) have become a major nuisance in some sections of town and she feels that quicker disposal of garbage might help eliminate this problem.

SPORTS AND JUVENILE ACTIVITIES

Grey Cup

There is an obvious friendship here between two of Toronto's Argonaut football stars, Cass Krol and Dick Shatto, and singer Terry Dale. Terry has her roots in British Columbia but this feeling of friendship between east and west will definitely not exist on the football field on November 27 when the Canadian Grey Cup classic takes place. The games will be seen on all Canadian television stations, either "live" or delayed through the CBC-TV network, as well as the Dominion network.

Basketball

Last Saturday Lachute played host to the Vankleek Hill Intermediate teams. The Lachute girls overpowered their opponents from the opening whistle as they took a quick lead of 8-1 in the first quarter. In the second quarter Lachute doubled the score, making it 16-2. With the game well in hand, the Lachute girls easily went on to win by a one-sided score of 31-8. It was due to good guarding by Lachute players that the Vankleek Hill girls were kept from scoring. Shirley Pollock, Vivian Laurin and Pat Stansfield were the top scorers for Lachute, with 10, 8 and 8 points respectively.

The boys' game was not half as interesting as the girls', since the score at the end of the first quarter was 1-0 in favor of Vankleek Hill. The ball-handling and guarding were very poor for both teams. At half-time, Vankleek Hill were out in front by a score of 5-0. In the last half Lachute surprised themselves by getting two baskets. The final score was 9-4 in favor of the visiting team, making this the lowest-scoring game of the season so far.

Both games were refereed by Mr. Bailly.

Friday night, Lachute Senior boys will play host to the St. Lambert team. Last year this team proved to be extremely good; therefore this game should be quite spectacular. Also on Friday night, the L.H.S. Senior girls will play an exhibition game with L.H.S. Intermediate girls.

Salesmanship Week

Students of Lachute High School will launch their own salesmanship week within the next few days throughout the district. This activity is sponsored by the Student Council, under the supervision of Jean Taylor.

This plan, presented by Maclean-Hunter Publishing Company and sponsored by the school, has proven immensely successful throughout Canada. It enables the school to obtain money for many extra-curricular activities not always provided for in the annual school budget. Hundreds of schools across Canada have earned much needed money to buy athletic equipment, movie projectors, band equipment and to finance educational tours through this program.

Citizens of this community are being offered the opportunity to assist and encourage the High School students, and at the same time subscribe by subscription to Canada's leading magazines, as well as the best of American publications.

Sports Review In Brownsburg

(Our District Correspondent)

Brownsburg — Lloyd Roberts won the Dow bowling prize last week with 306. Joan Ouellette, with 253, took the ladies' equivalent.

The hockey players met their new coach on Monday night, and it certainly was encouraging to see so many big, husky boys rarin' to go. More than 20 prospects turned up to serve notice that competition for the team this year will be pretty stiff. Another half-dozen, out of town, sent word that they, too, were itching to melt that brand-new artificial ice.

If the enthusiasm of the league officials, who turn out in great numbers, and our local players, is typical of the average fan — then this should be a good year for everyone.

Brownsburg School Basketball Notes

By Margaret Dixon

On Saturday the Brownsburg basketball teams visited St. Eustache. The girls' game was rough and exciting with Brownsburg in the lead most of the way and 3 points ahead at the end of the first quarter — 11-8. The second quarter ended in the same way, Brownsburg leading 20-17.

In the second half of the game many fouls were handed out by the referees and before the game was over many players were fouled off the floor. Brownsburg increased their lead in the third session to 7 points, 30-23. The last quarter was hard fought by both teams, with Brownsburg proving themselves the better outfit. The game ended with Brownsburg victorious 44-37.

Brownsburg's scoring stars were Margaret Dixon 17, Jackie Mills 8, Jeanette Gagné 5, and Joanna Steele 8. S. Rowland 18, M. Lane 9, and B. Stephens 6, were top scorers for St. Eustache. The Brownsburg guards also played an outstanding game.

The boys' game was fast and closely matched. The first quarter ended with Brownsburg in the lead by only one point. They played better in the second quarter and increased their lead to seven, 21-14. The St. Eustache boys took over in the second half, retained their lead until the final whistle. They led 26-23 at the end of the third session. In the final count St. Eustache won by only one basket, the score being 30-28.

Top scorers for Brownsburg were Melvyn Stewart 11, Douglas Mason 6, Tommy Williams 4, and Alex McGibbon 3. K. Brewin 12, C. Fraggatt 10, and F. Howard 6, were scoring stars for St. Eustache.

Next week Brownsburg will be playing at Ste. Agathe.

Arena Committee Discusses Prices And Ice Schedules

(Our District Correspondent)

Brownsburg — The Community Rink Association meeting opened on a happy note: Mayor Jim Donaldson called in to pay $835 for the cement used in the recent concrete job. He said his total to date is $1,021, but he intends to keep going, so that in the spring maybe they can proceed with the $2,000 job of finishing the rink with a layer of polished concrete for roller-skating.

Chairman Barry Elliott reported with decided disappointment that only Lachute High School, of the four schools notified, had shown any interest in the free hockey facilities the Rink Committee had offered to put at their disposal.

The sub-committee on prices submitted their suggestions for this season. There were minor objections about the hockey admission prices, spear-headed by the two members of the hockey club. However, after a little discussion, the differences were ironed out and the suggestions accepted by the committee as follows:

Skating — 40c for adults, 15c for children; $4.00 for children's season tickets.

Hockey — Senior, 60c, and 25c children. Junior, 40c, and 15c children.

Rent will be at $10 an hour for local outfits, $12.50 for strangers.

A rate of $5.00 an hour was set for broomball.

The committee accepted the league's proposal to issue 20 player passes to each team, and also decided to award each player who makes the Bombers team a pass for free skating throughout the season.

After studying the league schedule, the committee decided that Monday, Wednesday, Friday nights and Saturday afternoons will be regular skating sessions.

Sunday evenings may also see some skating.

Sessions this year will be longer, starting at 7.30 and finishing for under 14's at 9.00; grown-ups can skate till 10.00.

Rink Officials Remark Apathy from Schools

(Our District Correspondent)

Brownsburg — It would seem impossible, but right here in our own locality hockey is not the national sport! In fact, it isn't any kind of sport. It looks like it might not exist. . . Can you imagine an American college without football? An American school where baseball is ignored? A British school where soccer and cricket are unknown?

Well, the Rink Association, which now and again is the target of some criticism or another, made a noteworthy gesture about six weeks ago when letters were sent to the four Brownsburg and Lachute schools telling them that every Friday good ice would be provided for them, free of charge, from 4 to 6.30 p.m. — and would they like to set up a hockey schedule?

The letter was recieved enthusiastically by L.H.S. B.C.S. gave an answer too — "Not interested". The other two schools have not made any reply.

It's gratifying to Brownsburgers to have such a strong basketball team as the local school sported last year, but it was more gratifying the previous year to see the strong hockey team.

But surely in a school with over 30 boys there's room for a basketball squad and a hockey crew too. Anyway, most of the local students, being keen cagers, are, nevertheless reluctant to miss out on hockey. In fact, one or two have gone as far as to say they would rather drop basketball if absolutely necessary.

One thing is sure, that a hockey team even of the calibre of our local Bombers, must have a rearing-ground; and if the kids are deprived of hockey now, we must look for a good trade-in for our rink and build a gymnasium big enough to entertain the Harlem Globetrotters.

Farm Teams for Future Canadian Footballers

SPORTS CAMERA

By Gerry Lougheed, Canadian Press Staff Writer

With an eye to the future, the heads of several Big Four and Western Canada football teams have started to build up farm systems for the development of more and better Canadian players. They have taken a leaf from the production methods of major league baseball and hockey teams.

In hockey and baseball, a player is channelled up through the various farm teams until he reaches the top. But in football a professional pilot has had to scour the countryside for Canadian talent. Most of his material comes from college teams.

Unlike in the United States where there are hundreds of college teams to pick from, only a half dozen or so Canadian colleges produce worthwhile football players. And that's not enough to fill the big league professional teams.

That means a coach has to keep using veteran players past their prime and pick up the rest from high school and junior teams.

Scientific System

Putting the production of Canadian grid talent on a more scientific basis, Winnipeg, Edmonton, Hamilton and Toronto Argonauts have jumped into the farm system business with both feet.,

Edmonton Eskimos this year signed a working agreement with Kitchener Waterloo Dutchmen of the Senior Ontario Rugby Football Union and should start collecting dividends next season. The Eskimos sent a half dozen ployars to the Dutchmen for seasoning and the Kitchener coach was schooled before this fall's campaign in Edmonton tactics.

Winnipeg Blue Bombers' farm system has already paid fat returns. They have several junior clubs in Manitoba which have produced such fine players as Lorne Benson, Len Meltzer and Keith Pierce. Other prospects are with Sarnia Imperials of the ORFU.

Hamilton Tiger-Cats are old hands at the farm system and their Canadian bench strength last November was one of the reasons they won the Grey Cup. The Tiger-Cats support intermediate and junior teams and many of the Hamilton regulars worked their way up through the ranks.

Argonauts purchased the Toronto Balmy Beach club of the ORFU four years ago and later took over Parkdale Lions, a junior outfit.

"It costs a lot of money to support Beaches and the Lions," says Argo coach Frank Clair, "but it is paying off for us."

A number of Beaches players graduated to Argos this season. "And every year from now on, I expect to bring up two or three more." Clair said. "This will give us a never-ending supply of top-notch Canadian ball players. And the thought that there are kids with the Beaches just waiting and fighting for a place with the Argos keeps our regulars on their toes."

Now a youngster who can't afford to go to college but yearns for a football career has a chance. He can learn the game in high school ranks, play for one of the many sponsored junior teams and work his way up from there if he has the talent.

ARTS, BOOKS, SHOWS AND ENTERTAINMENT

Canadian Fine Art Finds Inspiring Subject In Woods Industry

"With Palette and Brush", a booklet published by the Canadian Pulp and Paper Association, employs a selected cross-section of Canada's fine art to illustrate a compact text on the intimacy of pulp and paper operations and the health of the economy.

Featuring color reproductions of paintings in the collections of the National Gallery of Canada, the Art Gallery of Toronto, and of others, the booklet points out the dependence of every Canadian on our forests, a relationship artists have ever indicated by portraying forests in the Canadian scene.

Each of the 24 reproductions contained in the booklet is an outstanding study in composition, style and color. Here are representative works of such eminent Canadians as Tom Thomson, Lawren Harris, and Clarence Gagnon; A. J. Casson, Emily Carr, and A. Y. Jackson; and others, all masters of expression and interpretation with palette and brush. Their work should help to develop a wider interest in the forests on which is based our most valuable industry and on which Canada so largely depends for her daily bread, her welfare, and her future in the world.

Pulp and paper products and their end use and consumption are profoundly affected by the work of the artist. He designs the format of books and magazines; he produces advertisements and provides the decorations and illustrations; and he conceives the colors, lettering and pictures that adorn the vast array of modern paperboard packages. It is fitting that fine art should be used to illustrate the importance of the pulp and paper industry, Canada's first industry in value of production, employment, and capital investment.

Grads of Old World Dance Academies In Community Concert Program Tonight

One of the foremost Spanish and Latin dance teams of the day, Federico Rey and Pilar Gomez, have long been entrancing audiences with their exhilarating talent.

When these dancers appear tonight at Lachute High School, you may expect to experience the thrills of pulsating castanets, astonishing leaps, throbbing rhythms, swirls of gorgeous color, and clicking heelbeats, all to haunting Spanish melodies and exotic gypsy airs. From an extensive repertoire of authentic Basque, Flamenco, Gypsy, Mexican, and South American dances, Malaguenas, classic Boleros, and ballets, including a condensed version of Falla's dramatic "El Amor Brujo," these dancers present a spectacle as dazzling to the eye as the music is bewitching to the ear.

Soundly trained in technique at leading academies of the Old World and the New, Federico Rey and Pilar Gomez have gone straight to the people for traditional folk rhythms, steps and movements. Their music is taken from original folk tunes and from the masterworks of the great composers in the Spanish idiom. Federico Rey, a noted stage and costume designer, has dressed each number appropriately, using many original costumes and some reproductions authentic in design, color, fabric and ornamentation.

This performance is anticipated with keen pleasure by Community Concert-goers. It will be the second recital in the local 1954-55 series of programs.

Council to Encourage Canadian Arts, Letters

Recommendation of Massey Commisson May Materialize If Legislation Adopted

(By The Canadian Press)

The long-awaited Canada Council, to encourage Canadian painters, actors, social scientists and university research men with financial grants, may be established next year.

But the proposed major role of the council, to launch a system of scholarships to cover eventually 10,000 students at a time, may have to be shelved temporarily because of a lack of Federal funds.

Officials said that a three-man Cabinet committee, composed of External Affairs Minister Pearson, Finance Minister Harris and Immigration Minister Pickersgill, is currently studying council legislation and will report to the full Cabinet in the next few weeks. If the move is found feasible, legislation will be introduced at the next session of Parliament.

The council idea was the key recommendation of the Massey arts commission in 1951 following a two-year survey of Canadian cultural achievement and requirements.

Headed by Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey, now Governor General, the commission recommended that the Government establish a 15-member body and arm it with funds to stimulate efforts in the development of Canadian arts, letters, humanities and social sciences.

Though it was to receive Federal funds, the council was to be a non-political organ, run independently of the Government, but with power to call in representatives of such government agencies as the National Film Board and the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation.

Prime Minister St. Laurent is understood to have several prospective council members in mind, including university men. It appears likely a university chieftian may be invivted to become council chairman if legislation is launched and approved. All provinces likely will have membership representation.

If established, the council would not only act to promote internal culture, including music, drama and ballet, but would become Canada's national commission to link forces with the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization and help promote greater knowledge of Canadian cultural achievements abroad.

But its major role, to provide large-scale aid for university students, may have to be shelved for some time. The aid proposed by the Massey commission: 100 annual scholarships of $1,000 each, tenable for four years, to be known as Canada scholarships; 200 national scholarships annually of $500 each; and 2,000 bursaries of $500 a year tenable for four years.

In full operation, this would give aid to 10,000 Canadian students, or about 20 per cent of the university population.

With indications the Federal Government may have to undertake deficit financing in the next budget, it appears unlikely that it could finance the scholarship undertaking. But informants said there would be some university student aid, though not on the grand scale of the scholarship plan.

Dance Champion, 84, A Perennial Winner

Amherst, N.S. (CP) — Life begins at 84 as far as O. B. Lewis of Lower Maccan, N.S., is concerned.

And just to prove it he walked, or rather danced, off with the senior dancing championship at the Maritime Winter Fair here this year.

Known as Grandad around his home village, he started dancing when he was 18. He appeared on the stage for the first time when he was 35.

"Before that I just did it for fun, at barn dances and places like that."

And as for his championship winning dance, he told a by-stander: "I hope you noticed I put five different kinds of steps in there when I really got going."

It was his fifth fair competition and he has never done worse than second. He won the other four times.

QUEST FOR RARE BIRD

London — Sponsored jointly by the British Broadcasting Corporation's Television Service and the Zoological Society of London, an expedition is searching in the Sierra Leone hinterland for a rare bird which has never been seen in captivity. The bird — the Picathartes — was first seen alive by J. W. Lester, of the London Zoo, in 1949. He discovered a colony in Sierra Leone and managed to procure several specimens, but they all died soon after capture.

"We were surrounded by natives," related the explorer. "They uttered savage cries, danced madly, and beat the earth with their clubs . . ."

Music Festival to Mark 50th Anniversary of McGill Conservatorum

The first festival of the McGill Conservatory of Music, marking its 50th anniversary, will be held during the four weeks starting on November 15 and ending on December 8.

The festival is under the direction of Douglas Clarke, Dean of the Faculty of Music of McGill University, and will be presented by the staff and students of the faculty and some guest artists.

Tickets and information can be obtained from the Faculty of Music at 3450 Drummond Street. All concerts start at 8.30 p.m. and end at approximately 10 p.m. The program will consist of:

December 6, Moyse Hall. — Chamber Music concert or original works, composed specially for the festival by Istvan Anhalt. These works are performed for the first time in public.

December 8, Sir Arthur Currie Gymnasium. — Orchestral Concert. Douglas Clarke, Conductor; Ellen Ballon, Pianist. Works by Delius Saint-Saens, Douglas Clarke and Vaughan Williams.

RCAF MUSICIANS TO RETURN TO CANADA

London — Four members of the Royal Canadian Air Force will sail for Canada early in January, after two years of study at the Royal Air Force School of Music at Uxbridge, England. All four are enthusiastic about the excellent training they received in Britain and the amount of instruction they were given in such a comparatively short period.

IMPROVED PRODUCT

An increase in sales following a distinct improvement in product is almost inevitable. Once again this has been proven in the case of a well-known make of long-playing phonograph records. A slight change in design, known as the "Gruve-Guard", makes the outer rim of the records slightly thicker than the playing surface, assuring longer disc life. When stacked, there is no contact between the playing areas, thus lessening the risk of nicks and scratches that spoil the performance.

Women's Interests -- The Homemaker's Section

Dissertation on Pork By Home Economists

According to statistics, Canadians are eating about 40 per cent more pork per person now than they did 15 years ago. Although pork is usually available all year round, the supply is greatest and the price most economical during the fall and winter months. It also happens to be the time of year when appetites are hearty and it seems natural to serve more pork.

The home economists of the Consumer Section tell us that, when buying pork you should look for meat that is firm, fine textured and light, greyish-pink in color. The lean will be deeper rose color in the more mature animals. The fat should be well distributed through the lean and the pork covered with a layer of firm snowy white fat. The bones are coarse and slightly pink in color.

There are several cuts of pork sold for roasting. Shoulder roasts have a fair amount of bone which may be removed to make a pocket for stuffing and for ease in carving. The leg of pork or fresh ham is divided into shank and butt end. One or two slices are sometimes cut off the shank end and cooked at fresh ham steaks. Loins are not often sold as roasts but, if they are, they are divided into the ham end, the centre and the rid end. The loin is usually cut into rib or loin chops. The rib chops contain more bone than the loin and cost less per pound.

Keep fresh pork as you do other fresh meat. If you buy a roast already cellophane wrapped, be sure and remove the wrap when you get it home. Wipe it well with a damp cloth, wrap it again loosely in wax paper and store it in the coldest part of your refrigerator. If you are going to keep the roast for more than two or three days, it is best to freeze it.

Any cut of fresh pork may be roasted. It should be placed on a rack in an uncovered pan with the fat side up. It is fat enough to be self-basting and no water need be added. For pork and other meats a moderately slow, 325°F. oven is best. Allow 30 to 35 minutes per pound for a shoulder roast and 45 to 50 minutes per pound for leg roast. For a five pound shoulder roast you should allow about two and one-half to three hours roasting time. Pork is one meat that must be well cooked. It is a good idea to use a meat thermometer and cook the meat to an internal temperature of 185°F. or until the pork has completely lost its pink color and is greyish white throughout. The meat should be juicy and tender and the outer fat well-browned and crisp.

There is always some favorite food which we like to eat with pork. It may be currant or apple jelly or even cranberry sauce. To most people, however, the sweetness of pork and the tartness of apple make a perfect flavor combination. Apples may be baked around the roast by putting them in the pan about three-quarters of an hour before the roast is done. Core the apples, cut them in half leaving the skins on. Spread each half with a little fat and brown sugar mixed together. Then, of course, there is the ever-popular applesauce which is most often served with pork.

When you are using your oven for the roast, it is a good idea and a pracical one as well to cook the rest of your dinner in the oven. For the vegetable course, you may serve baked, oven-browned or scalloped potatoes or baked squash. In the French Canadian homes, browned potatoes roasted with roast pork are more common than with roast beef. Onions and carrots may be roasted too. These should be put around the roast one and one-half hours before it is done. Baked potatoes and squash will take about the same time and scalloped potatoes about one hour. A scalloped vegetable dish such as tomatoes, cabbage or celery will take about one-half hour.

If there is room in the oven for a dessert, you might make a baked custard or sponge-type pudding or a gingerbread.

For a quick, simple meat dish for the small family, pork chops are the answer. They may be served plain or dressed up with a stuffing and perhaps a tart sauce or well-seasoned gravy.

The home economists have found in their test kitchen that panfried pork chops are best covered after browning. They brown the chops in a hot pan two to three minutes on each side over moderate heat and they suggest pouring off any extra fat. They then reduce the heat, cover the pan and cook the chops slowly. They find that, after browning, a one-half inch chop will take four to six minutes to cook on each side and a one-inch chop eight to ten minutes on each side either on top of the stove or in a 325°F. oven. Chops one-inch thick may be stuffed with a well-seasoned bread stuffing. Make a slit along the outer edge of the chop cutting into the meat almost to the bone, fill with the stuffing and skewer.

Chops may also be broiled. One-inch thick chops are best for broiling since they do not dry out as quickly as the thinner ones. They should be placed on the cold grid in a preheated broiler and broiled three inches from the heat for eight to ten minutes on each side.

If you have not tried apple or onion rings cooked with the chops, you might do so next time you cook chops.

IDA BAILEY ALLEN

The chef interrupted the little ditty he was singing as he whirred the egg beater. He tapped the bowl smartly with the beater and announced:

"Something new for Hallowe'en debut! Frozen Hallowe'en puddings! All our homemakers can enjoy them. They are so-oo-o easy to make!

A Special Suggestion

"And here is a special suggestion from the chef: Homemakers can freeze these little Hallowe'en puddings in paper cups, and they will look just like yellow and black biscuit tortonis. Then, arrange them in a row on a big tray edged with autumn leaves and yellow button chrysanthemums, and you have a gastronomic picture artistique!"

Frozen Hallowe'en Puddings

Orange cream: Pour 1 cup fresh or reconstituted orange juice and ½ cup cold milk into a deep quart mixing bowl. Add ½ cup heavy cream and 1 package homogenized instant coconut pudding. Beat with a rotary egg beater about 1 minute, or until well mixed. Spoon into 4-oz. paper cups.

Spread with fine-minced candied orange peel. Place in the freezing compartment of a refrigerator with the control set for fast freezing, or in the food freezer. Freeze 1½ hours, or until firm. Makes 8 servings.

Chocolate cream: Pour 1 cup cold milk and ½ cup cold water into a deep mixing bowl. Add ½ cup heavy cream and 1 package homogenized instant chocolate pudding. Beat until well mixed, about 1 minute.

Spoon into 4-oz. paper cups. Top with chocolate sprinkles. Freeze according to preceding directions. Makes 8 servings.

"Now the ladies have my Hallowe'en dessert recipe, madame, how about giving them your molasses doughnuts? They make such a beautiful 'dunk' in coffee."

Molasses Doughnuts

Sift together 4½ cups already-sifted enriched flour, ½ cup soybean flour, ½ cup powdered dry skim milk, 4 tsp. baking powder, ½ tsp. salt and ½ tsp. each nutmeg and cinnamon. Add 2 tbsp. wheat germ.

Beat 2 eggs; add ¾ cup molasses and 1 tsp. vanilla. Stir into the flour mixture alternately with ¾ cup water; mix thoroughly. The dough will be very thick. Let it rest 10 minutes.

Then turn on to a well-floured board or pastry cloth. Dust with 3 tbsp. flour; roll to ½-inch thickness. Shape with a floured 3-inch doughnut cutter. Again let stand 10 minutes.

Fry until golden brown in deep fat, hot enough to brown a 1-inch cube of bread in 1½ minutes, or 325-350 F. Drain on absorbent paper towels. Sift over 1 cup confectioner's sugar with 1 tsp. powdered cinnamon. Makes 3 dozen.

County W.I.'s Report Meetings For November

Arundel W.I. reports 21 members and six visitors attended the meeting for November. A report of the semi-annual meeting was held. Donations included $25 to the Quebec Service Fund, and $10 to the Poppy Fund. A few chapters of the Village History were read. Dr. R. B. Henry gave a very interesting talk entitled, "Is peace possible?" and films on this topic were shown.

At Frontier branch there was a discussion on the proposed School for Retarded Children. A quiz was held, "The Where, How, and Why of the Women's Institute", also contests, "Know Your Calories", and "Scrambled Letters on Home Economics", for which prizes were given.

Morin Heights members heard a report on the semi-annual meeting. Representatives attended both the school board and the council meetings last month. The Home and School Association were guests at the W.I. On October 20 this group had a very pleasant outing, driving to Rosemere via St. Eustache, visited Ayers Woollen Mills and Recreation Centre at Lachute, and after afternoon tea, returning to Morin Heights.

Upper Lachute - East End had 27 members and four guests. Mrs. Geo. McGibbon gave an interesting talk about the duties, as well as the privileges, of a citizen, and what one could do to be a good citizen. A report on Fair Articles was given by Mrs. Alan Boa. Home Economics convener. It was voted that $50 be given to aid the work of teaching retarded children. Poppies were sold at the meeting, the money realized to be given to the Legion. Gifts for a needy family are to be collected at the Christmas party, instead of exchange of gifts among members. Plans were made to entertain the Brownsburg Branch on November 9.

Lakefield had 14 members and two guests present. A report of the semi-annual convention was heard. Helps to be given a needy family for the winter months. The roll-call was, "Name a flower beginning with the initial of your name." This branch was invited to the Christmas meeting at Brownsburg.

At Jerusalem - Bethany, the Rev. Wilson Bridge gave an interesting talk on the life of Dr. Albert Schweitzer, one of the world's greatest musicians, a theologian, philosopher and missionary, who, although now 80 years old, is still actively working in the Belgian Congo. $5 was voted to the Educational Fund.

A social evening was held November 9 in the Legion Hall, Lachute, to entertain the Brownsburg Women's Institute.

NEW APPROACH

Vancouver (CP) — "We look forward to the day when mental illness and mental hospitals will be accepted by the people in the same light as physical illness and general hospitals are accepted today," says Dr. I. M. Gee, B.C., mental health director, in his annual report.

Provincial W.I. Treasurer, Mrs. G. E. Cooke, Arundel, Reports on Delegate Plan

Details of the proposed pooling of fares were discussed by the executive of the Quebec Women's Institutes at a meeting held last week. A motion authorizing this method of meeting travelling expenses of official delegates attending the annual provincial convention, one per branch, was passed at this year's convention, after exhaustive study by all members of the Q.W.I. with the understanding that it be tried first for an initial period of three years.

Mrs. Gordon E. Cooke, Arundel, provincial treasurer, is chairman of the committee to set up a system suitable for this province and her progress report was presented at this executive meeting. The pool will cover transportation by rail or bus from all points in Quebec. Figures had been obtained and suggestions for its administration had been outlined by the committee. A final report will be ready for the provincial board at the semi-annual meeting in January, as the plan is to be in force for the 1955 convention.

Acting with Mrs. Cooke on this committe are Mrs. H. Ellard, Q.W.I. 2nd vice-president, Ottawa, who was prevented by illness from attending the meeting, and Mrs. A. E. Abercrombie, Lennoxville.

Institutes in other provinces, where similar systems are in operation, have found they lead to fuller representation at provincial gatherings. It is hoped Quebec will have the same result, in which case, the system will be put on a permanent basis at the end of the trial period.

THE MUCH-TOUTED VITAMIN

Vitamins are nutritionally important, there is no doubt about it, but one wishes they would learn their place. They have been over-publicized and over-praised to the point where a large section of the public is already half persuaded that they (and antibiotics) will cure everything, and doctors are no longer necessary. Here are a few examples of what over-eager vitamin palaver has done to confuse the public.

* * *

Question:

"How about vitamins for psychoneurosis? A neighbor of mine has periodic fits of deep depression in which he behaves irrationally. What would be the proper vitamins to give, and where would they be obtainable? His family cannot afford to send him to a psychiatrist."

* * *

Answer:

No known vitamin or combination of vitamins is an accepted treatment for psychoneurosis, according to Paul Williamson, M.D., writing in the Journal of the Canadian Medical Association. Some preparations are ideally suited to give while waiting for the patient to recover by himself, but it is bad when the physician himself begins to believe that the vitamins and not nature did the trick. There are certain nervous symptoms seen in connection with pellagra, which is a disease caused by a deficiency of niacin in the diet. It is not a true psycho-neurosis, and is very rare except among extremely poor people in the southern states. It is becoming rarer there too. If your neighbor has pellagra, which is rather dubious, the chances are that he can correct his condition by improving his diet. The best sources of niacin are green and yellow vegetables, notably carrots. It is also found in whole grain cereal, whole wheat bread, hog liver, pork, beef, salmon, milk, egg yolk and peanuts. At least some of these items are included in almost all diets except in extraordinarily depressed areas, which is why a diagnosis of pellagra is unlikely. If your neighbor is truly psychoneurotic, which seems more likely, experimentation with vitamins would be costly and futile.

Question:

"My doctor tells me that my three-year-old child has a mild form of rickets. I was horrified when he told me, and I have been thinking of going to another doctor. We are not rich people, but we are not poor either. We feed our child properly, according to Canada's Food Rules, and it seems impossible that she could have a vitamin deficiency. I am almost afraid to tell my husband, and I am certainly too embarrassed to tell my friends."

* * *

Answer:

You shouldn't be embarrassed. Actually minor rickets is very common, even in well-to-do families. This is particularly true in areas where the winters are long and cold, and children spend a great deal of time indoors. Rickets is a form of vitamin D deficiency. Vitamin D is manufactured in the skin by the action of certain wavelengths of ultra violet light. Hardy people, who get out into the sunlight on every possible occasion in hot or cold weather, are not subject to rickets. However in our more refined civilization infants are not subjected to sunlight or very cold weather, and therefore artificial sources of the vitamin should be found. Fish liver oils are particularly good sources. In most places it is possible to obtain milk which has been "irradiated" with vitamin D. Because of certain undesirable results of irradiation (such as slight alteration of the taste of the milk and possible destruction of riboflavin under certain condition) it has recently become the practice of many dairies in the United States to add a tasteless vitamin D concentrate. There is still some argument about this practice in Canada. Vitamin D in some form should be given to children in northerly climates at least until they are 3 years old. At about age 4 the diet of the child usually widens sufficiently in scope and his exposure to sunlight increases so that no further supplementation is necessary, though the possibility of rickets should not be completely ruled out at any time during the entire period of bony growth.

One-two-three—HUP!

EVER GIVE a "leg up" to a knight in full armour? In a recent film about Joan of Arc the movie makers got over this weighty problem by dressing the actress who played the title part in a suit of armour made of aluminum. Result: shooting, including scenes showing Joan mounting her horse, proceeded on schedule.

Canadian manufacturers use a lot of weight-saving aluminum not only because it makes things lighter to handle and cheaper to ship but because it makes up into more products per pound. Helps them market their products for less. Aluminum Company of Canada, Ltd. (Alcan).

AMATEUR ARTISTS

New Liskeard, Ont. (CP) — Members of Milberta Women's Institute have created a new hobby for themselves — oil painting. Six members decided to enter a W.I. painting contest last spring and although they won no prizes have turned their weekly painting get-together into a social as well as an educational gathering.

A loose knob on a chest of drawers is an annoyance which can easily be eliminated. Probably the screw has worn a hole too large to grip the wood. A simple remedy is to fill the hole with plastic wood, let it harden for a few hours, then screw the knob in place. Plastic wood handles like putty and hardens into wood.

"I Want A Pussy"

(Copyright) — By NANCY CLEAVER —

"I'd love to have a pussy! The Short's cat has kittens and they said I could have my pick. I want my own pet!"

* * *

How many mothers have listened to urgent requests for a pussy, or a puppy or some other animal? Any pet must be well looked after, as well as loved! Some families do not seem to realize that if a child is going to have a pussy, that cat must have a bed and the right food and sufficient grooming. A healthy cat is the result of good care. Owning a pet is apt to be a long time arrangement. It is cruel for both the child and the cat to rush into allowing a youngster to bring home a pussy and later discovering that you don't want to be bothered with the animal!

Cats love comfort — and they need their own bed in a quiet corner. A wooden box where a cat can retire and have a undisturbed nap without fear of a small owner suddenly pouncing on her is a good idea. It will help prevent pussy from becoming irritable and may save Junior from being scratched.

A shelf in the box, raised several inches off the floor for the bed, keeps drafts from pussy. Cats love cleanliness and the cat's bed must be kept clean. Use a folded piece of cloth or a cover over pussy's pillow which can be washed often. In the hot weather, a cat can sleep with comfort on a newspaper which can be changed often. Don't let pussy go night prowling — insist that she sleep in her own bed!

A kitten can be fed from a medicine dropper the first week of life and can learn to lap milk the second week. However, it is best to have a kitten fed by the mother cat the first two or three weeks and gradually encourage it to take its milk from a saucer. Kittens have at least three or four meals a day. A cat is full grown before a year is up and a mature cat should be fed twice a day — and not allowed to "piece" all day long.

Fresh water should be available at any time for a pet. A cat is a flesh eating animal and must have a certain amount of meat (as well as the mice she catches). Serve meat scraps with vegetables in a stew or pussy will pick out the meat and leave the rest. Feed salmon or liver sparingly or the cat may want only these delicacies. Milk, a raw egg and table scraps, or reliable cat food, and also cat nip are all enjoyed by pussy.

A child may be eager to feed his pet, but mother must see to it that the cat is not forgotten. No animal should be teased when eating, and a child must learn never to annoy pussy at her meal.

A cat spends hours grooming herself, and takes pride in a shiny coat. Long haired cats need careful brushing and combing with a dull-toothed comb. This too must be done under an adult's supervision or pussy may scratch if treated too roughly. Cats seldom need a bath, and they can be "dry cleaned" with corn meal. However, if a tub bath is necessary, use warm water and dry pussy right after with a towel so she will not catch cold. Flea soap or powder should be used at intervals to keep her from these pests.

A cat is a creature of habit and with patience even a small pussy can be house broken in a short time. The cat's box of sand or earth should be kept in the same place and changed each day.

A child sometimes inflicts pain on a pet without intending to be cruel. Consideration of animals is learned by loving and caring for a pet. Father or mother may forget how much a pet means to a child — but they can see how much happiness pussy gives to a son or daughter.

You can't go "ALL-OUT" If you feel "ALL-IN"

These days most people work under pressure, worry more, sleep less. This strain on body and brain makes physical fitness easier to lose—harder to regain. Today's tense living, lowered resistance, overwork, worry—any of these may affect normal kidney action. When kidneys get out of order, excess acids and wastes remain in the system. Then backache, disturbed rest, that "tired-out" heavy-headed feeling often follow. That's the time to take Dodd's Kidney Pills. Dodd's stimulate the kidneys to normal action. Then you feel better—sleep better—work better. Ask for Dodd's Kidney Pills at any drug counter. 53

Commonwealth "Family" Fetes Queen Mother

—Central Press Canadian

Attending a "family party" as guest of honor at Waldorf-Astoria in New York, Queen Mother Elizabeth greets Lieut.-Col. J. G. Bourne, kilted commander of the Black Watch of Canada, a contingent of the Royal Highland Regiment of which the Queen Mother is colonel-in-chief. The "family" included between 4,000 and 5,000 members of 52 member groups that make up the Associated Commonwealth Societies of New York, among them a number of Canadians. The dinner for touring member of the royal family who will soon be visiting Canada climaxed a day of activities sponsored by Commonwealth organizations.

Mrs. L. D. Smith spent several days in Montreal during the week.

Mr. and Mrs. John Galley, of Montreal, have been guests of Mrs. Jas. Heatlie, of Chatboro, during the week.

Women's Institute Meeting At Vankleek Hill

Mrs. Archie Graham was guest speaker on Friday for the Ever-Ready Branch of the Women's Institute in Vankleek Hill, Ont. Her subject was, by request, a historical review of that particular district.

Other members of the party attending from this province included Mrs. Geo. McGibbon, president of the Historical Society of Argenteuil, who also gave a brief message regarding history. Mrs. McGibbon claimed that we in Quebec were behind United States in advertising our places of interest. Wherever you went in the United States there were large signs telling of the historic event that had taken place there, but not in Quebec. We could copy our neighbors in that way.

The Argenteuil W.I. county president and 1st vice-president, Mrs. Crosbie and Mrs. Wilson, also Mrs. L. M. Gaston, made up the party visiting this Ontario Institute. Mrs. Crosbie carried off the contest prize in "Naming My Girl".

PICK OWN LUMBER

Hull, Que. (CP) — A Hull supplier of building materials, Pilon Ltd., plans to open a self-service lumber yard. Harrington Couple Feted Recently on Golden Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Walter MacLean, lifelong residents of Harrington, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary recently.

Mrs. McLean, the former Mary MacRae, was born in 1885, and Mr. MacLean was born in 1876. They have seven daughters, four sons, 24 grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

A supper was served in their honor at Kilmar Community Hall, a three-tiered wedding cake decorating the table.

Mr. and Mrs. MacLean were presented with an electric washer from their family, a trilight lamp from the members of Harrington Ladies' Aid, of which Mrs. MacLean is a member, and many other lovely gifts from friends.

The happy couple were piped into the hall by Wendell MacLean, their grandson; relatives and friends greeted them with hearty wishes, for health and happiness in the future.

County Couple Wed In Avoca Church

Graham - Crawford

The marriage of Miss Marilyn Margaret Crawford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Crawford, of Avoca, Que., to Edward John Graham, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Graham, of Huberdeau, Que., took place Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the Church of St. Andrew at Avoca — the Rev. A. Penman officiating.

Miss Joan Vaillancourt played the wedding music, and the choir sang "God who creates all" during the signing of the register.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length dress of white taffeta with tulle overdress and cut lace top. Her dress was princess-styled, her veil being of finger-tip length. She also wore a pearl necklace and earrings, the gift of the groom, and carried pink roses.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Keith Cameron, sister of the bride, was dressed in yellow taffeta with full overdress of net, and carried bronze mums.

Mr. Keith Cameron acted as best man. The ushers were Mr. Hugh Graham, brother of the groom, and Mr. Arnold Simpson, of Montreal, uncle of the bride.

The mother of the bride was in navy blue with red accessories, and the mother of the groom was in navy blue — both wearing corsages of red roses.

After the ceremony a buffet supper was served at the home of the bride's parents. For travelling, the bride wore a grey suit with a corsage of red carnations. Upon their return from a short wedding trip, the couple will reside in Montreal.

Among the guests present were Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Jones, Mr. and Mrs. John Bussey, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Simpson, all of Montreal; Miss Laura Crawford, of St. Eugene, Ont.; Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Johnston, Mrs. Ethel Rutherford, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Neild, all of L'Orignal; Mrs. Thomas McMichael and daughter, Laura; of Grenville; Mrs. Hugh Cameron and family, of Vankleek Hill; Mr. and Mrs. Calvin McAndrew, of Brownsburg; Mrs. Raymond Beasage, of Ottawa; Mr. and Mrs. Jos. E. Provencal and son, James, and the Rev. Mr. Penman, all of Avoca.

The Kamloops, B.C., JayCees were shocked when they went up Turtle Hill to connect a generator to the 200-bulb cross laid out to mark the Red Cross blood donor drive; they found 180 bulbs broken by rifle or air gun; vandalism of the worst kind.

Grenv'l Man Takes Bride, Ceremony in E. Townships

Paige - Weston

The marriage of Ruth C. J. Weston, only daughter of Mrs. Herbert V. Weston and the late Mr. Weston, of Bulwer, to Carl L. Paige, of Grenville, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Lyman W. Paige of Lennoxville, took place in St. George's Anglican Church, Lennoxville, at 2 p.m. on October 23, the Ven. Archdeacon Albert Jones officiating.

The bride was given in marriage by Mr. Arthur R. Merrill, of Sawyerville, a close friend of the family. She wore a street-length dress of white Bucille with navy trim, white gloves, blue hat and shoes, and carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses tied with white satin ribbon.

The matron of honor, Mrs. C. M. Winget, sister of the groom, wore a brown velvet street-length dress with matching hat and accessories.

Mr. C. M. Winget, brother-in-law of the groom, acted as best man.

Mrs. Weston, the bride's mother, wore a green street-length dress with matching accessories, while Mrs. Paige, the groom's mother, wore a blue street-length dress with matching accessories.

Those attending the wedding were from Lennoxville, Moulton Hill, North Dakota, North Conway, Waterville, Eustis, Sawyerville, Grenville and Bulwer.

Later the happy couple left for their home in Grenville, Que., the bride travelling in a grey suit with blue hat and shoes and white gloves. On their honeymoon they visited Ottawa and the Ottawa Winter Fair.

SECURITY AND PEACE OF MIND

Chief of Police declares

Brockville's popular chief knows from experience the tremendous reassurance people feel, just knowing that any hour of the day or night they can depend on the telephone in case of need.

You may never have to call the police. Yet the fact remains that you and your family feel more secure — are more secure — because of your telephone.

Peace of mind is an extra value that is part of your telephone service; a value that cannot be measured.

Have You A Question ON UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE OR EMPLOYMENT?

In this column we publish questions about unemployment insurance and employment, together with answers received from the Unemployment Insurance Commission.

If you are uncertain about any point do not hesitate to send your question to your district Unemployment Insurance office. We will obtain an answer and publish it in this column.

Q. I would like to know how much money there is to the credit of a person who has paid the maximum contributions since unemployment insurance was started until April 1st, 1952, and how long that person could collect insurance benefit at the maximum rate for a married man which I believe is $24 a week.

A. You must have paid at least 180 daily contributions in the two years immediately preceding the date of your claim for benefit. In some circumstances the two-year period may be extended up to a maximum of four years. Should you be able to qualify with such extension, the number of days for which benefit would be paid you would be one-fifth of the number of days for which contributions had been made in the five years preceding the date of your claim. Therefore, if you filed a claim at October 1st, 1954, and had made no contribution since April 1st, 1952, the maximum period for which you could draw benefit would be approximately 26 weeks.

Q. Why is an employee not credited with a stamp if he or she works on a Sunday? It seems quite unfair that a person should be denied benefit if they are lacking as little as one day when they have been working on Sunday.

A. Where circumstances required an employed person to work on Sunday instead of one of the other days of the week his contribution is recorded in his insurance book for the idle day. Once a person has worked the full working week, whether his working week consists of five, six or seven days, he cannot receive more than a full weekly stamp representing six working days, since benefit is not payable for more than six days in a week.

"Operation Concrete" at Brownsburg Rink

Shown at work are some of the many volunteers who turned out at the Brownsburg Rink recently to pour a concrete floor over the piping for the new artificial ice plant. The floor, covering a surface 80 by 180 feet, was installed between the hours of 7 a.m. and 3.30 p.m. and required approximately 860 bags of cement.

A few of the many who shared in the work: (Left to right) Les Thompson, Harry Fletcher with back to camera, Dave Golphin, Noel Racine, Leonard Wilson. All in this group are employees of Brownsburg Works of C-I-L except Leonard Wilson, who retired from the Company in October 1952 after more than 50 years of service.

The Case of Mr. Starling Versus the State

Contributed by Norman Thorburn

The accused, Mr. Starling, appeared before Chief Justice Owl in the Ornithic Court recently, on a charge of being a general nuisance.

The crown prosecutor was Mr. Crow, and his chief witness was Mr. City Dweller. Attorney for the defence was Mr. Sparrow, and Mr. Farmer acted as witness for him.

Judge Owl: "We will now hear the testimony of Mr. Crow."

Mr. Crow: "Your honor, Mr. Starling is a useless, slovenly member of the bird family or avifauna. He is a dowdy fellow that steals other birds' nests. He makes his nests where I can't see them, under the eaves of houses, deep in hollow posts, and when I come to examine them he drives me off, insignificant creature though he be. Compared to him I am an elegant fellow in my fine black clothes; I am a dandy. I demand, your honor, the death penalty for Mr. Starling and all his ilk."

Judge Owl: "We will now hear from the defence."

Mr. Sparrow: "I came from the same island, Britain, as Mr. Starling about a hundred years ago — fifty years or so before Mr. Starling. Therefore, your honor, it is with some compassion that I plead on his behalf. Once I, too, was considered a nuisance, an unpleasant little fellow with untidy habits. Today my numbers have been diminished and people no longer consider me unbecoming. If Mr. Starling steals other birds' nests, Mr. Crow eats other birds' eggs. Of the two I much prefer Mr. Starling."

Judge Owl: "We will now hear from Mr. City Dweller, witness for the prosecution."

Mr. City Dweller: "In the City of New York where I reside, Mr. Starling is a general nuisance. He nests in the cornices of skyscrapers, and people passing below have to use umbrellas, fair weather or foul. I think the death penalty is too good for Mr. Starling, your honor."

Judge Owl: "We will now hear from Mr. Farmer."

Mr. Farmer: "Your honor, I am well aware that Mr. Starling is regarded as a nuisance and a renegade in many cities. Against him, the hand of man has been turned in wrath. Against him, man has employed his terrible 'fire-stick' in organized 'shoots', to slaughter countless starlings. His squawking awakens me in the morning; he has no voice, and when he attempts to sing, he emits only a raucous croaking sound. Nothwithstanding, I believe he has some good qualities. This cold November day, when all the birds that aestivate with us, have gone, I saw three starlings huddled together with ruffled feathers on our barn in the cold November blast. Even that tough old robber, Mr. Crow, has left us, and we have no regrets, for he stole our corn and causes us no end of heartbreak; and if he did not at this moment enjoy legal immunity, I would shoot his head off!"

Judge Owl: "Keep those thoughts to yourself, Mr. Farmer."

Mr. Farmer: "Your honor, this summer we noticed the departure of Mr. Starling for a protracted period. People say he went to Ontario. There he devoured countless battalions of army worms. Against them, General Starling deployed his troops to right and to left, fighting a last ditch rearguard action against this the most terrible scourge that ever infested the fields of the husbandman. . .

"But alas and alack, the army worms infiltrated his lines, they made their appearance felt in the rich oat fields of the Lachute district in late summer. That there was only a minor infestation was due in no small way, your honor, to Mr. Starling.

"Although personally I did not see an army worm, I saw the damage they had done. I saw their cocoon, and the moth that hatches from the army worm's cocoon. The brownish moth has a strange zig-zag flight, boding ill for the fields of Argenteuil in the future. Your honor, considering these facts and the fact that we depend on food to live, I think Mr. Starling should be declared innocent."

Judge Owl: "We will now have the jury's verdict."

Foreman of the jury: "Not guilty."

Tips on Touring

By Carol Lane
Women's Travel Authority

The car and camera are our most popular tools for winter "sports". No other season enables you to record the pleasures of your family, friends, neighborhood or trip with such dramatic contrasts.

In the coming months of clear air and white fields, there'll be a picture scene everywhere you drive. Here are some tips for capturing and keeping those winter scenes.

Increase the scope of your winter camera work with a lens hood. It enables yo uto take advantage of subtle back or side-lighting or snow scenes that show off the flaky grain and textures of the snow's surface. To prevent the shadows of trees, building or frosty noses from going so black that all detail is lost, allow one-half to one full stop extra exposure.

"Framing" the landscape by aiming the camera between snow-laden trees or the branches of a twisted pine can give the picture a three-dimensional effect.

Many a day's picture taking pleasure has been ruined by improper handling of the camera or film. Stray snow-flakes should be wiped off the camera as soon as possible. Film, which is apt to stiffen in cold weather, should be wound slowly to avoid tearing or creating static electricity that may spot the negative. Have exposed film processed as soon as possible.

And when you get home, keep the loaded camera off radiators or mantles. Heat can turn all your wonderful snow scenes into "slush"!

Hockey Brothers Go Rural to Relax

By Ethel Kettyle

About thirty-five miles from the City of Ottawa is located the village of Mountain, Ont. Why is it called "Mountain"? From the geographical appearance of the place, one would never know — for looking north, south, east and west as far as the eye can see, there is not a mountain, or even a hill in sight. Nothing but flat, productive land and a scattering of trees around the village. However, we are told that the name originated long ago in honor of a Bishop Mountain, after whom the place was named.

Driving along one of the country roads, tree-flanked and seemingly rather lonely in the Autumn of the year, one comes to a comfortable-looking grey, stone house, located among a little grove of trees. How cosy and homey it looks! Even at the time of year when the trees are void of leaves, and the green grass is dying, everything looks in apple-pie order around the house, barns and outbuildings. On the other side of the road is the traditional rural mail box, with a name printed on it in bright letters.

And the owner's name? "Frank Boucher". . . Does that name mean anything to you? If you are a lover of the most popular of Canadian sports, hockey, I am sure it does, for Frank Boucher is the manager of the well-known New York Rangers hockey team.

Have you heard and seen Gil Christie interviewing Mr. Boucher on TV? If you have, you may form your own opinion of this reserved, well-liked personage. Ask any of the people around his home district about him, and the answer is, "A man of integrity, popular and respected by all."

Travelling with his team during the hockey season, his life is no doubt a hectic one. Playing in New York, Detroit, Boston, Chicago, Toronto, Montreal — excitement, tenseness, victory or loss.

However, in the summer he settles down on his little farm at Mountain, and gets close to the land that he loves. Raising beef cattle is apparently one of his pet hobbies, and there, in that quiet place, he mixes with his fellow men and lives in contentment, for at least a part of the year.

Still along the tree-lined lane, and on to another concession, not far away, stands another farm home, the house resting on the top of a small knoll, white and trim against a background of evergreens and surrounded by apple trees. And here is the summer abode of his brother, George Boucher, coach for the Ottawa Senators, going in winter to such places as Ottawa, Quebec City, Valleyfield, Chicoutimi, Shawinigan and various places, and in the summer returning to the land.

Both of these brothers have been outstanding hockey players themselves — Frank having held the Byng Trophy for many years.

BRITISH MONARCH HONORED IN NAMING OF CNR HOTEL

Montreal — The newest link in the CNR's hotel chain, a $20,000,000 structure now under construction in Montreal, will be named The Queen Elizabeth.

CNR President Donald Gordon made the annnouncement following receipt of a letter from Governor-General Vincent Massey informing that "Her Majesty the Queen has ben graciously pleased that the new Canadian National Railways hotel in Montreal should be called 'The Queen Elizabeth'."

Mr. Gordon said a large number of both French and English-speaking citizens had submitted suggestions for the hotel naming, and the majority wished it to be identified, in some form, with the Crown.

Work on The Queen Elizabeth, which will contain more than 1,200 rooms and the largest, most modern convention facilities in Canada, is proceeding on schedule.

The foundation and other work necessary for the erection of steel and to tie the hotel to Central Station, is keeping pace with plans. Contracts have been placed for the steel and stone and if nothing occurs to interfere with the present rate of progress, the intention of having the hotel ready for occupancy in 1957 will be realized.

Council Voices Formal Disapproval On Proposed 1 per cent Education Tax

Minority Vote on Remuneration To Mayor and Town Councillors

An adjourned meeting of the Lachute Town Council was held in Victoria Hall Thursday evening — following a meeting of the public, at which By-law 193 was approved, authorizing the Council to effect a loan of $38,500. The public meeting was an hour in duration, and in closing the meeting, Mayor Dr. Jules Lafleur as chairman stated, "As the hour has elapsed and as no proprietor has requested a vote, the By-law is declared approved."

Protest on Suggested One Per-Cent Tax

In opening the Council meeting, Mayor Dr. Jules Lafleur told 37 local proprietors that "if it took a one per-cent tax to get the citizens out to the Council meeting, a similar tax should be imposed every month!"

Mr. J. U. Nadon, representing those present and many more storekeepers, addressed the Council as follows:

"May I, representing a group of merchants from Lachute, point out to the local council that, owing to the fact that the Lachute Catholic School Commission is petitioning the Quebec Legislature to levy a 1 per cent sales tax on Lachute and St. Jerusalem, according to provisions of the Quebec Statute enacted to that effect . . .

"I ask that this council view such with alarm, since such a tax would present an impediment to local trade inasmuch as such a tax would not apply to Ayersville or Brownsburg;

"And that respectful representations be expressed to the Catholic School Commission and to the Honorable W. M. Cottingham, to explore together other possibilities of revenue in order to correct the financial distress of said school board without having to penalize an important section of the county."

Mayor Dr. Jules Lafleur replied to the request in an official role as Mayor, and later as a citizen.

Mayor's Opinion

As Mayor, he pointed out that, no matter what might be said to the contrary, the Council had not been officially notified of the proposed tax. "Due to the proximity of the Ontario border, the Council, except for one member, who happens to be absent at this time, believes that the tax will do damage to the trade of local merchants; and as it is necessary for the Catholic School Commission to go to Quebec for the necessary Private Bill, the place to fight the proposed tax is at the Private Bill sitting, not at the Council meeting."

From Mayor to Citizen

Moving from his customary position at the Council meeting, Mayor Lafleur then spoke to the Council and other proprietors present, as a private citizen. He pointed out that, although the Lachute Catholic School Commission has approximately 1,400 students and 54 teachers under its charge, and the Lachute Protestant School Board has only 648 students and 26 teachers, the latter gets a 50 per cent grant on the teacher salaries, but the Catholic Commission gets only 26 per cent.

"We must admit that the deficit this year will be approximately $25,000," he said, "due mainly to a large influx of students from the Parish of St. Jerusalem." He pointed out that these students were put on the local roll by the Public School Commission of Quebec.

In offering a possible solution to the problem, Mayor Lafleur suggested that both schools be given the same percentage of grant or, let the Parish of St. Jerusalem form a School Commission of their own in order to meet their own debts.

Dr. Lafleur indicated his opinion that it was very unjust to impose the additional sales tax, especially as Lachute is situated so close to Ontario.

Council Disapproves

After further discussion, Ald. Ross Muir, seconded by Ald, W. Cousineau, proposed "That this Council disapprove the levying of a one per-cent sales tax in the Town of Lachute, as the levying of said tax would be of detriment to our merchants, due to the fact that we are so close to the Ontario border. We hope and pray that the difficulties can be solved in any way other than that of a sales tax." It was decided that copies of the motion be sent to the Attorney General of the province and to Mr. O. J. Desaulniers, Superintendent of Education, as well as to the Hon. W. M. Cottingham and the Lachute Catholic School Commission.

Regular Business

A letter from S. Ouimet, requesting approval of a subdivision of part of Lot 1683 on a lane 18 feet wide behind the Ayers houses on Brownsburg Road, was tabled, with Her five-day visit in Canada's capital at an end, Queen Mother Elizabeth bids good-by to Hon. Lester Pearson, Secretary of State, while Gov.-General Vincent Massey looks on. Then with the cheers and good wishes of an entire city ringing in her ears, she boarded a RCAF plane for New York, where she boarded the Queen Elizabeth for a return trip to England. During her 23-day stay in the U.S. and Canada, the Queen Mother made easy conquests in both countries with her charm and informal manner.

Home-School Speaker Sees Standards Of Living and Education Closely Related

(Our District Correspondent)

Brownsburg — At last week's Home and School meeting there was little business covered, the only point of interest being the suggestion that a "skate exchange" be set up again this winter, so that parents could bring skates which are too big or too small for their children, and obtain skates the right size.

Mr. Brash, however, made the evening very interesting and entertaining with an excellent, well-prepared speech on, "Schools in Quebec — their equipment, the assembly-line of education, and the finished product."

He pointed out the great advances which have been made in recent years in school equipment. "It is only natural to suppose that the hard mental effort so necessary in education can best be accomplished in a brightly-lit, perfectly clean, colorful and warm classroom with up-to-date equipment. Youth should be given every incentive to stay on and complete their education.

He noted too that schools not only teach the regular subjects that constitute the timetable, but also join with parents in moulding the characters of our citizens of tomorrow. Restraint, respect for the rights of others, and religion, are just a few of the abstracts most kids pick up at school.

"Briefly", he said, "the responsibility of the school is to encourage youth to learn; and the duty of the teachers, to teach each pupil to the limit of that pupil's ability. We must do our best for even the dullest children."

An interesting point he made was that the standard of education is directly proportional to the standard of living enjoyed by a country, and by providing our kids and those of our fellow-countrymen with the best schools, education and colleges we can afford, we are not just doing our duty to them from a Christian motive, but also ensuring ourselves of an even better life for ourselves in the future than we at present enjoy.

Progress Toward Classes For Retarded Children

The recently formed "Lachute Association for Retarded Children" has received welcome assistance from various sources, including a women's group and a dance hall proprietor, and anticipates further support in its project. At a board meeting of the Margaret Rodger Presbyterian Church last Sunday the board voted the use of the church hall to this organization for daily classes, at a minimum fee.

Further progress will be reported to the public as plans materialize.

The committee in charge of this enterprise includes Col. E. Emmett, chairman, Robt. Cairns and Mrs. A. Geo. Leggett.

Ch. of Commerce Takes Dim View Of 1 p.c. Tax

Regular Supper Meetings Resumed for Season

The opening supper meeting of the 1954-55 season for the Lachute Chamber of Commerce was held in the Legion Hall Tuesday evening, under chairmanship of President André Lefebvre. At the head-table along with the president were Valmore Gratton, guest speaker; R. A. Giles and J. Romeo Charron, past-presidents; Paul Laliberté, 1st vice-president; Gerald Walker, 2nd vice-president; Richard Valois, secretary; Bernard Massicotte, treasurer; Lucien St. Jacques and Albt. Malacket, directors.

The subject of the proposed 1 per cent sales tax to help the Catholic School Commission meet their budget was discussed — all present voicing disapproval of the said tax. A number of possible solutions were suggested. Several merchants made known their views, on both sides of the story, and it was decided in closing the debate that the Commission be requested to delay the presentation of the private bill.

The guest speaker, Mr. Valmore Gratton, B.A., L.S.C., was introduced by Paul Laliberté. Following an instructive and interesting talk on the various aspects of his work as an economist and publicist, Mr. Gratton offered several suggestions for securing new industries.

Gerald Walker thanked the speaker on behalf of all present; he trusted these new ideas would be acted upon by the local chamber.

Plane Crash Killing Five Shocks Countryside

Tragedy Near St. Andrews East Claims Toll of Four Airmen and Nursing Sister

Five RCAF personnel, one of them a nursing sister, were instantly killed in the River Rouge - Cote du Midi section of the Parish of St. Andrews late Saturday morning, when their twin-engine communications aircraft ran into difficulties, exploding and crashing in a densely wooded section of the Lalonde farm, approximately four miles from St. Andrews East. The tragedy — the worst aircraft mishap recorded in these immediate parts — sent a shock of horror through the rural countryside.

Dead are Nursing Sister P/O Frances Hogg, 22, of Norwood, Ont.; F/O Robert Frank Sinclair, 30, of Medicine Hat, Alta.; F/O Kenneth Bertram Kester, 32, of Calgary, Alta.; Cpl. Joseph Francois Alloire, 34, of St. Johns, Que.; and Cpl. Peter Junior Mill, 24, of Truro, N.S. All were stationed at the RCAF airbase at St. Johns, where the plane took off at 10.30 a.m. on a rountine training flight to Cornwall and Toronto.

The crash occurred in bad weather, and there were indications the aircraft, which was several miles off its direct course, may have been lost.

The plane is believed to have exploded at an elevation of about 100 feet, and again on contact with the ground, the debris being spread over a large area.

RCAF officials could give no immediate reason for the accident, which caused the plane to crash into the bush some distance from the nearest farmhouse. Witnesses first on the scene said there was "nothing left of it."

The explosions and smell of smoke guided district residents to a scene of utter destruction, where the still smouldering wreckage was strewn over 300 to 400 feet, mostly in small fragments. According to witnesses who were the first to find the doomed aircraft, clothing and parachutes hung from the sheared-off branches of small trees and brush, and the dismembered bodies, all burned but one, were 20 to 30 feet apart in the immediate area of the crash, which made a crater five feet deep and 25 feet square.

All the occupants were dead when witnesses arrived on the scene.

The news rapidly circulated, and when the crash was reported to local authorities, Fire Chief Edgar Monette of St. Andrews East and four firemen were assigned to guard the wreckage until Provincial and RCAF officials arrived.

Local police officers called to the scene were Det. Maurice Lamoureux, Traffic Officers Albert Legault and Roger Massie. Det. Mike Deltorquio of the Montreal Provincial Police was also despatched to the scene.

Permission to move the bodies to Montreal was granted by District Coroner Dr. Jules Lafleur, rendering a verdict of accidental death due to explosion.

50th Anniversary Of Rotary Observed By Local Club

At last week's meeting of the Rotary Club, in the Brownsburg Legion Hall, two guests — Don Boa, of Lachute and Mr. W. Freeland from Toronto — witnessed the impressive Induction ceremony as another new member was received into the club. . . Jess Humphries was welcomed as a newcomer by Past-President John Chalmers, who made him conscious of the principles and purposes of Rotary.

Rotarian Chalmers also thanked the club on behalf of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, for their prompt response to an appeal for "Talking Books" for use by the blind. These are special machines of the record-player type, and several are needed.

Don McFaul reported on the success of the recent Bingo in Lachute, and was thanked by President Fred Royal for the work of his committee.

The program was the first Golden Anniversary program, and was under the direction of the Golden Anniversary chairman, Stewart Jones. It was in the nature of an informative program, with Keith Hickson speaking on the international aspect of Golden Anniversary Year, and Don Wilson voicing his views on the first 50 years of Rotary, as seen by a newcomer. Keith and Don were thanked by Stewart Jones.

Guests were introduced by Jack MacKimmie.

This week's meeting will be a Ladies' Night, when members will entertain their wives and guests. Arrangements are under the direction of Fellowship Chairman Les Thompson.

Warm Acclaim for Dance Team in Community Concert

Perfectly sympathetic, perfectly synchronized, were the dance team, Federico Rey and Pilar Gomez, who provided one of the most popular Community Concert programs here to date — last Thursday in the High School auditorium. As much by their personal charm as by their performance, this talented pair completely won their audience. The semi-classical recital of Spanish and Latin dance themes was something new and untried in Lachute; and if any were dubious as to the popular reception, all doubts were dispelled by the warm acclaim accorded to this pair.

Federico Rey is a native of the Basque country of France — whose folk themes were represented in a series of dances. Glamorous Pilar Gomez was born in Mexico City; she became choreographer and prima ballerina for New York City Opera Company for three years, before teaming up with Rey in extensive concert tours on this continent and abroad. Their pianist, Silvio Mascierelli, a native of Buenos Aires, is an accomplished composer, arranger and conductor.

To the unique talent of the two dancers, lavish costumes and stage lighting contributed the impression of atmosphere, ranging from classical Spanish of the 18th century, to French Basque peasantry, Mexico and the Paris ballroom.

Their pièce de résistance was a ballet, "Serenata del Espectro", in the spirit of the famous Goya. The characters might well have stepped out of the etchings of this master. The ballet and music were created specially for Rey and his lithe partner; and it was a spectacular tableau of lurid costumes and lighting, in which the actors lived the drama.

Stepping out of character, they also presented a hilarious departure from these themes, in a Paris ballroom setting. Suitably attired for the period around 1910, they enacted a satire on the fashionable dances of the time — their antics provoking much merriment.

The dances were interspersed with piano solos by Mr. Masciarelli, who played, among other selections Franz Liszt's "Spanish Rhapsody" and Debussy's "Jardins sous la pluie", with "Arabesque", by the same composer, as an encore.

The hall was well filled for this excellent program.

Calumet Man, 27, Victim of Crash Near St. Eustache

Patrick Dinelle, 27-year-old Calumet resident, succumbed to injuries received in an automobile accident last Wednesday a short distance from St. Eustache.

Two other men received minor injuries in the accident — Frederick McKale, 21, of Calumet, the driver of the car, and Eddy Provencal, of Hamilton, Ont. All were taken to the Sacré Coeur Hospital at Cartierville, where Provencal was held for medical observation.

According to Provincial Police, who investigated, the automobile in which the three men were travelling went a distance of 225 feet in a ditch beside the highway before crashing into a gate-post.

Dr. Paul Grignon, of St. Eustache, gave first-aid at the scene before the injured were transferred to hospital. According to St. Eustache Police Sergeant Bob Casavant, the automobile passed at a high rate of speed and it appears that the driver lost control of the car. The body was transferred to the morgue in Montreal.

W. M. Cottingham Opens New School At St. Lambert

The Hon. W. M. Cottingham, Minister of Mines, officially opened the new $750,000 Chambly County High School in St. Lambert Monday night at a meeting attended by more than 500 parents.

Mr. Cottingham officiated at a cornerstone ceremony before the meeting. He placed a copper box in the stone which will be engraved with the date of the school opening.

The box contained lists of members of the school's teaching staff, the St. Lambert Protestant School Board and the Chambly County Protestant Central School Board as well as some 1954 currency.

Presentations, including a piano, flagpole and record player, were made to the school by officials of the local Canadian Legion, the Women's Club, Teachers' Association, I.O.D.E. Home and School Association and Lions Club.

Following the meeting parents were taken on a tour of the new 23-classroom school which has a gymnasium and auditorium and indoor recreation area.

Typical Opinion From Farm Forums' Debate

(Our District Correspondent)

Mabel — The regular Farm Forum meeting was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carson Tomalty here on Monday evening.

Discussing the question, "Should farmers carry more insurance?" it was thought that they should, considering the many risks entailed in the farming industry — such as fire in various buildings, loss of crops by hail, loss of buildings through windstorm, and injury to the farmer, his family or employees. The farmer also runs the risk of automobile accident and sickness.

Most people realize the importance of life insurance as well as all other insurance. However, farm income does not allow payment of all such policies, so a decision has to be made as to which is more important — and this group decided that fire and automobile are a "must".

Town Police Arrest Transport Driver After 40m. Chase

Faces Charges of Speeding Through Towns Lachute to Papineauville

Pierre Doyon, 36-year-old express transport driver, of Hull, Que., was arrested in Papineauville early Saturday morning after a 40-mile chase in dense fog, by local police officers. During the chase, five shots were fired at the speeding transport, but these failed to slow or stop the driver.

Police Chief Laurent Ducharme and Cst. Oscar Sabourin clocked the transport driving down Main Street at 45 m.p.h. shortly before 11 o'clock and gave chase, twice passing the driver and flagging him with the red flashing lights while still in the town limits. Both times, however, Doyon pulled around the halting police car and made his get-away.

Chief Ducharme asserts that the semi-trailer held the centre of Route 8 all the way to Papineauville, the driver knowing the police were following him, and kept a string of more than 20 cars tagging behind his big vehicle. The Chief reports that one car attempting to pass the fast-moving transport was almost forced off the road into a deep ditch.

Reaching Papineauville's wide main street, the local officers managed to pass and slow Doyon, who once again attempted to leave the officers behind. He was brought to a halt and arrested at gun point by Chief Ducharme, who after summoning a relief driver, brought Doyon to Lachute, arriving here an hour after the pursuit commenced.

Taken to St. Jerome at 3.30 p.m. Saturday, the accused was transferred to the Provincial authorities who laid charges of driving 45 m.p.h. in Lachute; 50 m.p.h. in Ayersville; 60 m.p.h. in St. Philippe; 55 m.p.h. in Pte. au Chene; 50 m.p.h. in Montebello; and 50 m.p.h. in Papineauville. The speed limit for such vehicles is 25 m.p.h. in all towns throughout the province.

Doyon is slated to apear in court in St. Jerome this week, when the local police officers will testify on behalf of the Provincial Police.

BEAUTIFY TOWN

Acton Vale, Que. (CP) — A committee of the chamber of commerce will study ways to beautify this Eastern Townships town 71 miles east of Montreal. One of the first projects will be to convert a swamp on the town limits into an artificial lake.

Spectacular Blaze, Barn Destroyed East of Lachute

Lachute firemen, hampered by numerous cars and spectators, battled a stubborn blaze in the barn of J. A. Pollock, Purina dealer, a short distance east of Lachute. The fire was discovered about 10.45 last night, and while considerable feed was saved, 25 chickens and the winter's hay supply went up in smoke and flames.

Two streams of water were applied to the blazing hay from shortly after 11 o'clock, continuing until 4.15 a.m., when the auxiliary fire truck returned to town, leaving a line of hose laid for the possibility of another call.

The blaze, one of the most spectacular in this vicinity recently, could be seen clearly from all sections of town. Many citizens thought "half of Main Street was on fire", the glare appeared so close to town.

The loss of the building and its contents is estimated at approximately $5,000, none of which was covered by insurance.

8 Countries Represented At Local Forum Meeting

The St. Jerusalem-Bethany Farm Forum on Monday night began to look like the League of Nations as members and visitors of various nationalities joined in the session — according to Ernest McOuat, Bethany Road, who is also secretary of the County Forums. Four students from Macdonald College, from two different countries, were among the group that evening. The countries represented were Denmark, Germany, Switzerland, Guatemala, Jamaica (B.W.I.), Great Britain (England and Scotland), and Canada.

The meeting was held at the home of Ed Kettyle.

Agricultural Soc'y Reviews Year, Names Directors

The 130th annual meeting of the Argenteuil Agricultural Society was held in the Court House, Lachute, on Tuesday afternoon under the chairmanship of James MacKimmie, president.

A large proportion of the membership was present at the meeting, at which the following directors were elected for the 1954-55 fiscal year:

Gilbert Arnold, J. H. Black, Donald Bradley, Ben Hammond, James MacKimmie, George McGibbon, Forbes McOuat, W. H. Robert, W. E. Rodger, Albert Stewart, Carson Tomalty, Clement Tremblay, O.B.E., Gavin Walker, and Willie Wilson.

Chairman MacKimmie declared the above mentioned, receiving the largest number of votes, elected along with the County Warden, the Mayor of Lachute and the Mayor of Ayersville, all of whom were elected by acclamation.

Turning to other business, the auditor's report and financial statement were read by the secretary and discussed and analyzed by Mr. Clement Tremblay, who — viewing reasons why the year financially had been "not so good" — remarked that the Society is now competing with all present outdoor activities and sports, along with TV, with which the people can sit at home and watch better entertainment than the Society can bring before them. The Exhibition gate receipts have accordingly fallen off about 25 per cent.

Syd Patterson, manager, reported, however, after checking, that this drop in admissions is general throughout the province and the country.

Messrs. H. E. Carson and F. A. Brennian were appointed auditors.

Next meeting of the new directors will be held December 7, at which time the officers for the 1954-55 season will be elected and the budget drawn up.

HIGHWAY HAZARD

Port Arthur, Ont. (CP) — A buck deer ran onto the Nipigon highway near here and was killed by a passing car. Damage to R. Steele's auto amounted to $50.

Accidents Blamed On Contempt of Traffic Laws

Municipal Judge Roger Lacoste of Outremont, president of the Province of Quebec Safety League, blamed a great number of highway accidents on those who take an above-the-law attitude.

Addressing the Richelieu Club of Lachute last Thursday, Judge Lacoste pointed out that "as long as our elite continues to treat traffic laws with contempt, ignore stop signs, cross street intersections on red lights and exceed speed limits, our highways will remain danger zones and the scene of appalling dramas."

He emphasized that police were seeking to enforce traffic regulations. He was "well aware" that everything is being done to educate motorists on proper driving, he said.

"But that is as far as the police and safety groups can go. From then on, it is up to the public."

Judge Lafontaine Praised

The speaker paid a warm tribute to Judge Eugene Lafontaine who died recently, for his "sincere efforts to make roads safer for motorists."

"Judge Lafontaine will go down in history as a safety apostle."

Judge Lacoste also warned against the idea that highway accidents are unavoidable.

"This attitude is ridiculous," he said. "And the best proof is to be found in Quebec last summer when provincial traffic regulations were enforced with greater severity, with the result that the accident frequency dropped."

Gatineau LINES

Please Report Changes

Gatineau Power supplies electricity to world-famous vacation areas, so naturally the demand for electric connections is exceptionally high, both in summer and winter.

When fall and winter visitors make normal, planned-for use of electricity, there is no problem. Sometimes, however, heavy electrical equipment is brought to cottages and semi-permanent winter homes, without advice to the power company.

In their own interests, customers should advise the company when about to install such items as a stove or a water heater.

Such advice enables the company to take steps to avoid the annoyance of low voltage, by checking the size of the transformer serving the premises and those of neighbors.

As well, it is important to make sure that the wiring will carry the electricity to the new appliances efficiently — that it is adequate to handle any new demands to be placed upon it.

Impressive Tributes to Late Hny. Trineer, 'Grand Old Man', Veteran Orangeman

Deep regard for the memory of Henry Trineer, greatly esteemed lifelong resident of Calumet, was shown by the attendance at his funeral, held Tuesday afternoon, November 16, from his residence to Trinity Anglican Church. The Rev. Raymond Stote officiated, assisted by the Rev. Mark Beaufoy, of Montebello, Que.

Born at Calumet in May, 1859, he was the son of the late Thomas Trineer and Mary Ann Coey. He was married in 1888 to Alexa MacTavish of Harrington East, who died in May, 1952.

A very impressive and largely attended service of the L.O.B.A., Grenville No. 210, of which he was an honorary member, was conducted at his residence Monday evening. Sister lodges represented were Barb, Cassburn, Lachute, Harrington and Avoca.

Preceding the casket to the church was a guard of honor composed of Grand Lodge officers of the L.O.L. of the Province of Quebec, and John Mahon, Master of his own primary lodge, Grenville No. 58, who with the honorary pall-bearers and Grand Lodge officers of the L.O.B.A. Provincial Grand Lodge, accompanied by scores of sisters and brethren of the various lodges of Quebec and Ontario, led the lengthy cortege to the local cemetery. At the graveside, the last rites of the order were conducted by the Rt. Wor. Bro. Wm. Cooper, Grand Master, and the Rev. G. T. Spriggs, Grand Chaplain of the Grand Lodge of Quebec.

Surviving are six sons, Henry, of Kilmar, Jim, of Rivington, Robert, of Rawcliffe, Tom, Dougal and Edward, of Calumet, five daughters, Mrs. V. MacVicar (Laura), of Rivington, Mrs. Bond MacLeod (Nellie), of Kilmar, Mrs. A. Comba (Pearl), of Lachute, Mrs. Clifford Cooke (Elsie), of Grenville, and Miss Dora Trineer at home; also 40 grandchildren, 30 great-grandchildren, and many nieces and nephews.

Pall-bearers and honorary pall-bearers were grandsons of the deceased: Alvin MacVicar, Allan Trineer, Robert Trineer, Wendell Trineer, Russell Comba and Ross Trineer. Honorary pall-bearers: Lochart Urquhart, Gerald Trineer, Orton MacLeod, Gordon MacVicar, George MacLeod, Oron Trineer, Marshall Trineer and Arthur White.

The floral offerings were numerous and beautiful, a fitting tribute to the memory of this "grand old man", as he was happily known, and expressed the high esteem in which he was held.

Among those from a distance were: Alvin McVicar, RCAF, of Aylmer, Ont.; Robert Trineer, of Oshawa, Ont.; Percy MacLeod, Kingston, Ont.; Mrs. W. A. Comba, Mr. and Mrs. John Wallingford, Mrs. Ted Bate and Miss Beverley Ann Comba, of Ottawa; Mrs. Inez Cooke, Mrs. Mary Davidson, Mr. and Mrs. L. Urquhart, Miss Heather Urquhart, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Trineer, Mr. Russ Comba, Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Trineer, Miss Stella MacVicar, Mrs. Gordon Bankley and son, Ronald, Mrs. Arthur McHardy and Mr. Burton Prophet, of Montreal; Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Roberts, of Ste. Rose, Que.; Mr. Corl Swail, Mr. and Mrs Jack Smith, Mr. Lorne Moore, Mrs. Margaret Boyd and Mrs. Wilfred Morrison, of Arundel. Mrs. J. L. Kennedy, of Pine Hill; Mr. Nelson Morrison, of Dunany; and Col. Ernest Emmett, of Lachute, representing the Hon. W. M. Cottingham, Minister of Mines.

Large Attendance At Funeral of the Late Mrs. Stewart Boyd

Sympathy and tribute of a wide circle of friends was expressed at the funeral of the late Mrs. Stewart Boyd, last Sunday afternoon at St. Simeon's Church — the church building proving totally inadequate to accommodate the large gathering.

Mrs. Boyd died Friday, November 19, at the venerable age of 90, at the residence of her son in St. Jerusalem.

The former Isabella Morrison, she was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Morrison, pioneer farming couple of The Glen, where she was born in 1864. She was married to Stewart Boyd of Dunany; her husband predeceased her 22 years ago, and Mrs. Boyd remained at the farm homestead with her son Melvin until nine years ago, when she came to reside on Robert Street, Lachute. She was a regular attendant at the Anglican Church until a few months ago. She was latterly visiting with her son Melvin, now of St. Jerusalem, when she suffered a heart attack, a week prior to her passing.

She is mourned by her sons, Nat, president of Boyd's Lachute Express Ltd., and Melvin; also by her sister, Miss Sarah Morrison (who had resided with her in Lachute), and her brother, Edward Morrison, also of Lachute.

Funeral rites were conducted by the rector, the Rev. C. R. Lang, assisted by the Rev. G. T. Spriggs. The cortege proceeded to Louisa Cemetery, where the Rev. C. W. P. Baugh officiated at the committal. There was a profusion of flowers in testimony of esteem, and of widespread sympathy for the family. An impressive tribute was the guard of honor formed spontaneously at the church, also at the graveside, by 38 employees of Boyd's Express.

Pall-bearers were three nephews, Leonard Rothwell, Edward Morrison, Jr., and Stanley Morrison, with David Brown, Leonard Gain and Coral Swail.

Those from a distance included friends, relatives and neighbors, with many from Montreal who had spent summer seasons in the surroundings of Dunany and Boyd's Lake, also from Harrington and Arundel. Others from Sherbrooke included Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Rogers, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Murphy, Mr. and Mrs. Hny. Ward, Miss Bertha Boyd and Mrs. L. Crosby; from Ottawa, Mr. and Mrs. John Barthe, Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Cosgrove, Mr. and Mrs. Gus Laroche, Miss C. Laroche, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Barnabee; and Miss L. F. McLaurin from Buckingham.

In Memory of My Uncle:

"THEY MUST HAVE SEEN YOU"

God said to his angels,
"We need someone up here
Who is always understanding,
With a heart that is sincere,
Someone who is tender
And when his day is done
Thanks his God for everything —
A true and noble one."

I guess they must have seen you
When you'd walk along the street,
And saw the friendly handclasps
Of all the folks you'd meet.

I guess they even saw you,
When you'd stop along the way
To caress a rose, or pet a dog,
Or watch the children play.

I guess they must have seen you
When your eyes with love would shine
And found just what they wanted,
So they took you, Uncle mine.

Christmas Short Course At Macdonald College

The future for dairy farming will be one of the main topics up for consideration at this year's Christman Short Course at Macdonald College. The course, which is held annually at the College, is open to all men, women and young people with a serious interest in rural community welfare. It starts December 27 and ends Friday, December 31.

Another main emphasis at the five-day short course will be the part played by community organizations in the solution of the real problems people are concerned with. Sessions each day are organized to give those attending practice in conducting meetings, organizing discussions and using films in their programs. Participants will also learn how to lead group recreation and music.

Evening programs planned completely by the short course members is an annual feature. This helps everyone learn how to do a better job in their organizations when they get home.

Other topics of interest this year will be "The Farmer and his Bank" and an open Forum on farm kitchen planning entitled "The Heart of the Home".

Straight lectures are kept to a minimum at the Macdonald Short Course. Those in charge of planning aim for the active participation of those who attend. In all parts of the program, everyone's contribution counts — in the serious side as well as in the good times together.

Announcements are going out soon to all kinds of rural community organizations. Anyone interested in further information should write to the Adult Education Service, Macdonald College.

Minority Vote On Remuneration For Councillors

The Mayor and secretary-treasurer were authorized to sign a deed and all necessary papers to acquire Street 1683-33, Lot 1683-112, belonging to A. D. McGibbon and Sons, the length of the lot purchased to be approximately 150 feet, and the width as that appearing on the original plan and book of reference, for the purchase sum of one dollar.

The new street runs east of Cottingham Blvd. in to McGibbon's new mill. Foreman Jos. Senecal was authorized to move the hydrant on the corner of the new street, and to connect the two dead ends of a certain section of water pipe on Wilson Street.

It was moved by Ald. Réal Morrissette, seconded by Ald. L. Gibeault, that the caboose for tractor and snow-blower be purchased from Murdoch Bros. Garage, for the price of $100, installed.

The proces-verbal report of the general meeting held previously, was delivered by Secretary Laurin, after which it was moved and seconded that By-law 193 be accepted.

By-law 194, providing remuneration for the Mayor and Councillors, was given its first reading by Ald. W. Cousineau, who moved that it be accepted. His motion was seconded by Ald. L. Gibeault. It was stipulated in the By-law that the motion would require a two-thirds majority vote of the Council, before it would be presented to the public for a vote. The vote was accordingly taken, with Aldermen Cousineau, Gibeault, Morrissette, Desjardins and Laurin in favor, Aldermen Muir and Pollock opposed, and Alderman D. G. MacRae abstaining. Alderman Judes Charlebois was absent from the assembly.

As a two-thirds majority vote was not rendered, the By-law was dropped. (The proposed remuneration was to be paid in 12 monthly instalments, based on the regular monthly meetings. The Mayor was to receive $500 a year and each of the aldermen $300.)

It was decided that, as the police fund was exhausted, new uniforms would be re-considered in January.

Ald. Réal Morrissette moved that Willie Poulin be hired as a truck driver at $50 a week, receiving an additional $10 weekly when employed as a mechanic. Ald. L. Gibeault seconded the motion.

It was moved in amendment by Ald. R. Desjardins, seconded by Ald. D. G. MacRae, that the matter of a truck driver be left in the hands of the town foreman, Jos. Senecal, who then would be free to "hire and fire" as he sees fit. It was pointed out that this had been the policy for some years.

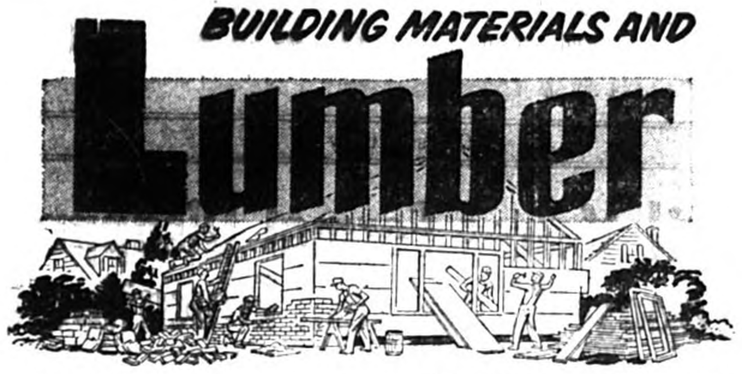

The vote was taken, with Ald. Morrissette and Gibeault in favor of the motion, and Desjardins, MacRae, Laurin, Cousineau, Muir and Pollock in favor of the amendment.

The water and sewer situation on Henry Street was once again brought forward. It was pointed out that, although the Parish of St. Jerusalem had been ordered to install the facilities Lachute had received no copy of the ordinance. This proves difficult as the St. Jerusalem - Lachute boundary runs along the middle of the street. A price for the installation of the facilities was set at $13,486.30, to be divided evenly between the two municipalities. It was decided that, prior to forming any agreement, the local Council would have to see a copy of the ordinance, after which the necessary action would be taken.

The meeting was adjourned sine die.

Getting down to Brass Tacks...

I wish I had a dollar for every time someone asked what we bankers do with the money we hold on deposit. Actually, it's quite a simple question to answer — there's no mystery attached to it.

The money that the B of M has on deposit is kept at work, because — except for the reserves — no dollar is allowed to lie idle. It is either loaned to individuals and enterprises or is invested in Canada's future.

Without adequate financial resources, expansion and progress of most Canadian businesses would be impossible. And, it is the Bank's job to supply a good part of these resources in the form of loans and investments. Quite simply then, it is your money that turns the wheels of enterprise — your savings that contribute so largely to Canada's progress.

Getting down to brass tacks, let's see the facts behind the figures in the B of M's 1954 annual report:

THE MONEY YOU DEPOSIT: At the end of the Bank's year, October 31st, 1954, you and two million other Canadians had $2,365,669,857 in deposits with the B of M — the highest on record. Although much of this money belongs to institutions and business firms, well over half of these deposits represent the savings of everyday Canadians — savings that, day by day, are working for you . . . and for Canada.

THE MONEY WE LEND: Your savings are playing an important role in our expanding economy in the form of loans to Canadians of every calling — farmers, miners, fishermen, oil men, lumbermen, ranchers — to industrial and business enterprises and to Provincial and Municipal Governments. As of October 31st, B of M loans totalled $903,148,964 — the highest figure in the history of the Bank. In a thousand ways, these dollars played their part in sustaining our standard of living.

THE MONEY WE INVEST: At the close of the year the B of M had $952,522,945 invested in high-grade government bonds and other public securities which have a ready market. This money is helping to finance government projects for the betterment of the country and the welfare of Canadians at large. Other securities held by the Bank — which include many short-term credits to industry — bring total investments to $1,170,406,863.

When you open an account at the B of M, you are not only putting your savings in a safe place but you are also investing in Canada's future. Every dollar you deposit is put to work in some Canadian endeavour that contributes to the steady progress of this great country of ours.

The Mystery Men who do you favours

There are millions of them all over the country.

You pass them every day in the street without realizing who they are and how much they help you. In fact, even they don't usually know that they're doing anything important for all their fellow-citizens.

Yet, together, they pour more than 200 million dollars every year into a wide variety of projects that promote progress. They may help build new homes and schools, or roads, bridges and other public works.

Are all these people rich? Far from it! They are people in all walks of life, who are life insurance policyholders! And the money they lend for these purposes comes from their life insurance premiums. This money, invested by their life insurance companies, helps finance many projects that benefit one and all.

And they're helpful citizens in another way. Because they own life insurance, their families will never be completely dependent on others.

So if you are a life insurance policyholder, remember — in all these ways you're helping to make Canada a better land to live in!

P.S. FROM YOUR LIFE INSURANCE MAN — "All these investments earn interest that makes it possible for you and your family to enjoy the benefits of life insurance at such low cost. If you have any questions about how to make life insurance fit your own special needs, give me a call. I'll be glad to help you!"

4-H Club Work

ONE HUNDRED and sixteen boys and girls aged from 16 to 21 left farms in the ten provinces of Canada recently to visit the nation's capital, Ottawa, and the Royal Winter Fair in Toronto, for their National 4-H Club Week. Because of their proficiency in Club Work they were selected for this trip sponsored annually by the Canadian Council on 4-H Clubs. One day of the week is set aside for national competitions (in which the Lachute 4-H Club had two headline winners). The trip also includes varied activities, and more — the experience of meeting young people from every part of Canada, and discussions which have given them something to take home that will improve their own clubs, their own farms and their own lives.

This annual National 4-H Club Week is made possible by donations made to the Canadian Council on 4-H Clubs by its members, which include 32 business organizations, 12 national agricultural associations and the federal and provincial departments of agriculture.

Any rural boy or girl up to the age of 21 who is able to carry out a demonstration of some better farm or home activity may become a member of a 4-H Club. Generally speaking there is no membership fee, as such. Regular meetings are held and conducted according to parliamentary procedure, so that the young people learn how to discharge the functions of a public or group meeting by actually doing it themselves. In all their activities, in fact, the young members learn by doing; and it may be said that the great membership in 4-H Clubs and their wide recognition by young and old indicate the way in which Canadian rural youth is planning its future. The 4-H Clubs encourage co-operative community effort for the common good, and by helping to build a finer rural life they contribute substantially to the development of a more satisfying Canadian culture.

It is encouraging to know that Lachute district has energetic leadership and is creditably represented in this movement — to the extent that two of our local members, who participated in the "Week", came home with a coveted national trophy for livestock judging.

The government has decided to hold a nation-wide census every five years, instead of 10, and the first five-year count will be taken in June, 1956. In previous years Canada relied on the 10-year count for main statistical guidance, but held a five-year count on the prairies. For purposes of parliamentary redistribution only the 10-year counts will be used.

Reminiscence on the Woodbox

AS WINTER approaches, people everywhere make preparations for a long, cold season. In these times, however, few really dread the cold.

Modern heating devices, such as oil furnaces in the electrically-equipped rural home, provide wintertime comfort undreamed of in grandfather's day. Coal also is widely available, and in the west the prospect of piping Alberta natural gas for vast distances, holds promise of still another means of beating off the frost's attack.

While some Canadian homes still depend on wood as their main winter fuel, in general the growing popularity of other sources of heat has spelled the steady decline of the old-fashioned woodbox.

What memories the woodbox gathered about it, as it sat just back of the range in the farm kitchen!

Its career might span an entire generation, for a woodbox never really wore out, no matter how splintered or battered it became with the passing years. A young couple setting up housekeeping usually started with a new one and, given reasonable care, it sometimes served them throughout their married lives.

Ideally, a woodbox was just large enough to hold a day's supply of maple or birch for the kitchen range and the pot-bellied stove in the parlor. To the boy assigned to split the wood to fill it night and morning, its size always seemed tremendous.

It was a handy place, too, for drying mitts, socks, boots and other articles of clothing that had a way of becoming wet in outdoor use. They were piled on top of the woodbox and would dry during the night without any danger of burning.

Throughout the day, the family cat found it a warm place to sleep, especially if the housewife were kind-hearted enough to toss an old cushion on top of the sticks. A cat could nap there in peace until the fire burned low.

Themostatic controls on heating equipment represent progress, no doubt, and help to keep the warmth of a home steady and constant; yet they lack the vanished charm of the roaring kitchen fire and the good old-time woodbox.

"Recession" — Weak Talk

DO CANADIANS understand sufficiently the mighty march of Canada — grasp adequately the tale of dramatic growth that unfolds before them? Or are they mesmerized into little faith by a word — the word "recession" — which in the light of continuing discoveries and developments is pitifully unrelated to reality? . . These are queries in an editorial from The Ottawa Farm Journal.

Look at the true picture, the writer continues. No sooner does the Labrador - New Quebec railway start hauling out iron ore, and the vast Kitimat enterprise in British Columbia get under way, than we have word of a projected railway to the south shore of Great Slave Lake, where there have been amazing discoveries of lead and zinc, and of the coming development of a great mining-fertilizer - chemical industry along the fringes of the Bay of Chaleur.

These things are facts; not dreams. . . This is Canada; a fortunate, fabulous land, blessed in the present, assured of the future; one of the lands which, in the possession of metals, have been from the dawn of history the strong, rich, vigorous lands.

Yet riches, with potential power, bring responsibilities, not the least of which is courage, a spirit of adventure. The Canadian of this hour who weakly talks "recession", whose imagination is not challenged by the glorious vista opening before Canada, has lost the touch of his breed, become unworthy of the heritage which Providence has vouchsafed him.

Evolution in Soil Tilling Methods

WHILE THE recent decades in agriculture have been adapting tillage practices to the tractor, the next few years will see greater emphasis on the adaptation of tillage to specific crops and soils.

This forecast comes from C. S. Slater, of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, who says that present day tillage — plowing, harrowing, packing and cultivating — has been applied too extensively. From the standpoint of soil structure maintenance, tillage is apt to be more harmful than beneficial, in that it sets up erosion hazards and exposes the soil to deterioration by freezing and other climatic factors.

Mr. Slater foresees an overall decrease in total tillage to protect the soil. Minimum tillage requirements will be established for different crops. Weed control with chemicals will be more widespread to reduce total tillage.

Greater use of chemical nitrogen will help reduce the need for tillage merely to increase soil nitrification. Increased use of mixed fertilizers for higher crop yields, will call for better utilization of rainfall in non-irrigated regions. Tillage will have to go deeper in shallow soils to enlarge the root zone and provide increased water storage capacity. Problems of compaction caused by heavy machinery will also call for development of deeper tillage practices.

To meet the food and fibre needs of an increasing population, more intensive use of land is impending. The future will see more short rotations with summer cash crops. Developments will take place in tillage practices and equipment to solve the problems of growing two or more crops in one year — maintaining the soil at the same time.

THERE is much more news of Canada in the American press, according to the Canadian Embassy at Washington. For one two-week period recently, it found that 10 leading papers scattered well across the country devoted from 135 to 275 column-inches each to current happenings in Canada. This increased interest in Canada and things Canadian, remarks The Financial Post, is very much to the good. The more Americans and Canadians know about each other, the better their formal relations and their respect.

Britons Unconvincing

There is currently a group of British wool textile experts in this country trying to persuade the Canadian government not to correct what our domestic mills insist is a mistake in the present British preferential tariff system.

The Britishers do not agree that domestic mills are being ruined because the products of higher-paid Canadian workers cannot compete on the Canadian market with British goods. What right the British have to offer a voice in deciding this Canadian matter is not too clear, but the visitors' attitude is most evident.

That they (and not Canadians) are best suited to serve the Canadian market is one of the startling statements made by these experts from overseas. More amazing is their insistence that they be allowed to continue to supply what they insist is a "traditional" English market — the Canadian consumer.

These visitors might realize that the welfare of Canadians is more important to us than continued British cloth exports to this country; and that Canada is no longer a colony in the "traditional" manner.

In value of production, manufacturing leads agriculture in the province of Manitoba.

"MENS SANA IN CORPORE SANO"

"A sound mind in a healthy body" — what greater ideal can man hope to strive for? This simple quotation sums up all the thunderings of doctors, teachers, preachers and sportsmen the world over since time began. Even when age has worked its havoc upon him, man, in his senility, still shouts this ideal to those who follow after. We all want a sound mind in a sound and healthy body. The great pity is, however, that few of us possess it.

One of the sanest minds I know of, encased in a reasonably healthy body, belongs to my old friend Pogo Fox. I call him by that name solely because he is a fan of Walt Kelly and because his last name doesn't happen to be Fox. Be that as it may, Pogo is a clear, level-headed, lucid and deep thinker — a philosopher of sorts. Where most of us skim over the surface of things, Pogo delves into them with heart and soul and mind. He weighs them carefully, attacks them with cold logic and comes up with a completely sensible answer to any complex problem. He's the perfect example of the sound mind in the healthy body, but he has one bad fault. He is entirely unpredictable.

It was just about a year ago that Pogo pulled the prize fantasy out of his staid old hat. Why he did so, not even he can suggest, but did it he did. Perhaps these quiet pools that run deep occasionally have to bubble a bit just to let a little light and air into the depths. If so, Pogo's flight to fancy certainly punched a big hole into proceedings and left a host of other deep thinkers bubbling for a long time.

It transpired, a year ago, that Pogo received an invitation to attend a cocktail party cum birthday party. The cocktail party was for the direct edification of the grown-up element while the birthday proceedings were in honor of the host's youngest son. Pogo, it should be pointed out, is a near relative of the youngest but, owing to a number of circumstances, rarely sees him or his parents. So, duly bidden, Pogo set out for the party.

It was while he was riding the MTC en route to the do that he suddenly realized he was setting forth empty handed. Quickly deciding that he could hardly disappoint the child, and aware of the fact that it was almost store-closing time, Pogo leapt from his seat and quit the trolley at its next stop. Dashing into the first store he came to — which happened to be Steinberg's — he raced through it in a frantic search for something to delight the heart of a child. He only found a coconut. Racing out of Steinberg's, he dived into the next store, Woolworth's, and there hastily purchased some small plastic spacemen and a rocket ship.

With his purchases thus secured, Pogo tore back to his office to wrap up his presents, and it was then the spirit of deviltry overtook him. Fishing in his desk, he removed a roll of Scotch tape and, with as much care as possible, affixed the ship and spacemen to the face of the coconut. Then, binding the whole weird arrangement with wrapping paper, he set out anew for the party.

Being a trifle late in getting to the house, Pogo found the place seething with guests, most of whom he did not know. After the usual salutations, he dropped into a chair and feverishly removed the drapes from the present he had brought. Then, rising to his feet and facing his astonished host, Pogo thrust the coconut cum spacemen in his face and loudly announced:

"As one spaceman said to the other when they landed on a fur-clad satellite: 'A living stone Dr. Zoom, I pray'."

There was a deathly silence throughout the room, broken only by the nervous titters of a few distraught guests. The deed done, Pogo proceeded solemnly to the nearest waiter and equipped himself with a cocktail. There, he waited for the shock to wear off and for the assemblage to resume its idle chit-chat.

I saw Pogo some few weeks after this episode and listened incredulously as he told it to me. I wondered just what the guests had thought of this strange outburst from one so intellectual and erudite, and I asked him the burning question.

"What did they think?" he responded dreamily. "Well, what could they think? They thought I was bats!"

And so, for the moment, did I.

"Poem Messages" by Local Pastor Provide Inspiring Reading

The Watchman heartily recommends to its readers the book written by the Rev. Arch. Penman, entitled "Poem Messages".

It comprises "The Christmas Story"; "Events in the Life of Jesus"; "Paul's Epistle to the Ephesians"; "Teachings of Jesus", and a number of individual pieces.

"The Christmas Story" has been presented in several churches and last year, by a choir of 120 voices, it was presented on two successive Sunday evening in the greatest missionary church in the world, the People's Church of Toronto, and is being repeated in that church this year.

The "Events in the Life of Jesus" briefly refers to the temptation period, the demonstration of divine power, the rejection by the people, the Crucifixion, the Resurrection and the Ascension. This piece is very suitable for an Easter service. The "Teachings of Jesus" emphasize His requirements for entrance into the Kingdom of God, and can be profitably adapted for any church or mission service.

"Paul's Epistle to the Ephesians" sets forth in four-line verse form the various truths contained in the different sections. There are also a number of individual pieces, and altogether the book is the first of its kind ever to have been published. We highly recommend it to ministers, Sunday School teachers and also to the general public for profitable and pleasant reading.

The price is only one dollar — and on this book of poetry it will be a dollar well spent.

Resident Deplores Inaccuracies on Name 'St. Andrews'

The following letter from a well-known resident appeared this week in The Monfreal Gazette:

ST. ANDREW'S EAST AND ITS NAME

Sir — Owing to a series of unfortunate circumstances, the village of St. Andrew's East has made news headlines — the latest being the tragic airplane crash on Saturday which took five lives. Last year when the St. Andrew's East CNR Station was robbed and the identity of the culprit made front page news, the incident was announced as having taken place in St. André d'Argenteuil; when a month ago the Bank of Nova Scotia was robbed and it was again called St. André d'Argenteuil, one could shrug and let the errors pass as a misnomer. However, it was too much on Saturday when the radio announcers flashed the plane accident in, first "St. Jean d'Argenteuil," then "St. André d'Argenteuil", and last but not least "St. André d'Argentweel"!

May I state that there is no such place as St. André d'Argenteuil. The roads are marked St. André Est and the CNR Station is marked St. Andrew's East. The chief reason for writing this letter is that one wonders if the families of the crash victims know where their loved ones met their death.

St. Andrew's East, formerly seat of the Judiciary of the County of York (pre-Confederation days), was a centre of commerce as well as culture during the latter part of the last century and is, today, in the County of Argenteuil, named after a seigniory which was part of the present county. It was mostly settled by Empire Loyalists as well as Scottish and Irish immigrants.

The name of St. Andrew's East will go down in history as the birthplace of many famous people in the development of Canada in politics, science and agriculture. Birthplace of the Canadian-born Prime Minister, Sir John C. Abbott, of Dr. Maud Abbott, world renowned for her medical contribution in the study of congenital heart disease, and of the present day Senator Center of the Massachusetts Legislature, who learned the "three R's" in St. Andrew's East school. There are many others worthy of mention but space does not permit.

Out of a population of approximately fifteen hundred, the English-speaking people are still able to maintain actively three churches, namely, Christ Church (Anglican), St. Andrew's East Presbyterian and a United Church.

Admitting that today the majority of the population is of French-Canadian descent whose history is not to be discounted — surely they too should be proud of the history and allow the minority to keep their heritage and the original name of St. Andrew's East so well-known in North America.

In the Province of Quebec there is more than one St. André, such as St. André d'Avelin, St. André d'Kamouraska, etc., whereas St. Andrew's East will stay in one's mind as belonging to the County of Argenteuil at the junction of the North and Ottawa Rivers.

— Mrs. F. A. Hungerbuhler.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

Doctors are a stubborn crew. You call them in, diagnose your own case for them, and advise them about the best treatment. Are they grateful? No.

Do they take your advice? They do not. They go right ahead and follow their own whims.

I have seen veteran invalids with experience of every patent medicine on the market, and seasoned hypochondriacs with years of malingering behind them, rudely brushed aside — and by whom?

By some college kid who thinks that just because he went through medical school and practiced medicine for 20 years, he knows everything.

Let me tell you about one case, that of Hippocrates Smith, who was sent to hospital for observation. The moment the doctor entered the ward, Smith issued his advice. That's what I like about Smith. He doesn't mince words.

"The incision will have to be made here, doctor," he said briskly, indicating the spot with his forefinger. "Of course, you'll have to operate at once."

Don't imagine Smith was any ordinary patient. I happen to know that he has advised some of the best physicians and surgeons in the country. In fact, I overheard one prominent doctor admit his debt to Smith.

"Look here, Smith," this doctor said. "I honestly don't think I'm capable of learning any more from you. Please offer your advice to some other doctor who needs it more than I do."

Now there was high praise. That doctor couldn't be persuaded to waste any more of Smith's time. He wanted to make sure that other doctors beside himself got the benefit of all that wisdom.

Smith had a brilliant record as a patient. And yet, how did that obstinate surgeon in the hospital respond? He merely grunted, patted the afflicted part and walked away without making any comment.

There's professional arrogance for you.

Even when Smith called in a visitor (a retired road foreman who suffered from exactly the same ailment) for a consultation, the doctor did not take the slightest notice.

As it happens, Smith is alive and well today, but in view of the way his advice was flouted, he regards is as nothing short of a miracle.

However, Smith did not lose heart. When I last saw him, he had a new doctor under instruction. Smith was not only issuing some advice in his own case, but prescribing a scalp massage for a headache that the doctor had.

More recently the doctor suffered a breakdown and had to fly south for a rest. That will teach him to disregard Smith's advice.

Purina Calf Nursing Chow

This is milk quota time again, and the time to ship all the milk you can produce. Don't sell that calf from your good cow just because your quota needs the milk. Give it its mother's milk for the first three days, then switch to CALF NURSING CHOW, and CALF STARTENA on the fourth day. You may have raised good calves for years, but READ and FOLLOW the directions on the bag of Nursing Chow, then if you don't have a better calf, tell us. A bag of Nursing Chow will save you 20 gallons of milk, raise a better calf at less cost, and leave you 20 gallons of milk more on your quota. It takes 400 lbs. Calf Startena to put this calf to four months of age. You have to teach the calf to eat just as you have to teach it to drink. Put some Calf Startena in its mouth after its Nursing Chow, and every time you pass the calf, and it will shortly be eating and growing and look like your future dairy cow. Also keep Calf Startena in a feeder before the calf all the time till it is four months of age. Put the feeder well up off the floor.

You should get a supply of these chows today. Call, phone or see us; we deliver.

Many Attend Funeral of Grenville Accident Victim

The Late Harlow Hoare

This community was shocked and saddened by the death of Mr. Harlow Hoare, second eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Hoare, Sr., Grenville — who was the victim of a fatal accident near his home Friday evening, November 12, when he was returning from work on his bicycle. Living his entire life in this community, Mr. Hoare was 57 years of age.

The funeral service, conducted by the Rev. P. R. Stote, was held in the Grenville Anglican Church.

Left to mourn his passing are his wife, the former Ethel Smith; a daughter, Vivian, of Ottawa; a son, Leonard, at home; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Hoare, Sr.; two brothers, Thomas, of Calumet, and George, at home; and four sisters, Mrs. J. Cook (Myrtle), of Netherhill, Sask., Mrs. Wm. Bigelow (Ruby), of Grenville, Mrs. Ernest Fife (Doris), of Ottawa, and Miss Pearl, at home.

Pall-bearers were Messrs. Earl McIntyre, Fred Murray, Lawrence Gauley, Hugh Cameron, William Gill and Arthur Beauchamp. Interment was in the Calumet Protestant Cemetery.

The high esteem in which the late Mr. Hoare was held, was evidenced by the many beautiful floral offerings and expressions of sympathy, as well as the large number of friends and relatives who gathered from far and near to pay their last respects.

Births, Marriages, Deaths, etc.

24th Legislature Opens With Optimistic Outlook On Taxation Agreement

THIS WEEK IN QUEBEC
By Tom McCusker

Quebec, Nov. 22 (CP) — The third session of the 24th Quebec legislature opened last Wednesday with expression of government optimism that a settlement will be reached in a long Ottawa-Quebec fight on taxation matters.

The speech from the throne read by Lieutenant-Governor Gaspard Fauteux in the gold-trimmed legislative council chamber expressed confidence that negotiations actually underway between the Federal and Provincial governments "will be crowned with success."

The 1,300-word speech said the legislature will be asked to "cooperate" in the negotiations to end the 10-year wrangle between the two governments.

"My government recognizes the rights and the obligations of the Federal authority," the speech said

More than 500 guests from Quebec's social elite crowded the provincial upper house chamber for the afternoon ceremony in which a heavy program of legislation was outlined.

It included rent controls extension until May 1, 1956, with a measure of decontrol for municipalities which so wish; appointment of parliamentary assistants; and abolition of the Quebec streams commission whose powers will be taken over by the department of hydraulic resources.

Colonization Minister J. D. Begin announced on the eve of the legislature opening he intends to carry on as minister "as long as I can."

That ended rumors he would be appointed to the Quebec Upper House.

Death of Hon. J. T. Larochelle last month created a vacancy in the Legislative Council. It now is expected to be filled by Albert Bouchard, vice-president of the Quebec rural electrication commission.

French Premier Pierre Mendes-France launched his visit to Canada and the United States last week with a 20-hour stop-over in Quebec City. It was highlighted by a 30-minute conference with Premier Duplessis Monday morning.

The talk was in private, but it is believed the Quebec premier outlined business opportunities for French capital in the province.

The short, husky French statesman and his beautiful Egyptian-born wife flew across the Atlantic in an Air Force Super-Constellation.

Prime Minister St. Laurent unveiled a monument to Sir Wilfrid Laurier at a busy lower town Quebec City intersection on Sunday.

A small crowd of 300 gathered at the monument in a steady drizzle to witness the unveiling, attended by Premier Duplessis, Lieutenant-Governor Gaspard Fauteux, Archbishop Maurice Roy of Quebec and other religious and civic dignitaries.

Sir Wilfrid represented Quebec East riding in the House of Commons for more than 40 years, 15 as Canada's first French-speaking Prime Minister. Prime Minister St. Laurent, who represents the same riding, said at a meeting following the unveiling, Canadians must strengthen national unity while "carefully" preserving the basic characteristics of the nation.

At Hanover, Ont., the Trinity Lutheran congregation honored Louis Demerling who had completed 78 years of attendance and service in that church; his 11 sons and a daughter were present for the occasion, on his 88th birthday.

A Saskatchewan news item: Miss Karen Knapp was hostess at a social evening in honor of Howard Friesen, who is being transferred to Gull Lake by the Co-op. As he will be doing light housekeeping, he was showered with gifts to be used in the kitchen.

AMONG THE CHURCHES

Junior Choir Proves Asset to Evening Services

The Junior Choir of the Lachute United Church made their second appearance at this church last Sunday evening. The impressive and dignified service opened with a processional hymn, "Praise, my soul, the King of Heaven." During the evening the choir gave a most effective rendering of the following anthems: "Saviour Hear Us In Prayer" by Brahms, "Sun of My Soul", and "The Voice of Jesus" by Mendelssohn.

The size of the congregation, despite the inclement weather, gave ample proof of the high esteem this choir is winning for itself in the community.

The Rev. Wilson Bridge, minister of the church, expressed the thanks of the congregation, both to the choir and to Wayne Riddell, who is responsible for their training.

Services to Celebrate 100th Anniversary of Grenville United Church

The 100th anniversary services of the United Church in Grenville will be held this Sunday, November 28.

In 1854 an ordained minister of the Wesleyan Methodist Church was settled in Grenville, and with the Grenville congregation as head of the circuit, a wide region beyond the town was also served. Methodist work continued through the years from that date, and in 1925 the congregation and circuit entered the United Church of Canada.

The services of worship on Sunday will be held at 11.30 a.m., when the minister, the Rev. J. R. Watson, will conduct the devotions, and also at 7.30 in the evening when the Rev. Wm. T. Eddy, of St. Mark's United Church, Montreal, will be guest speaker.

As a result of the anniversary, services at Grenville, St. Mungo's Church, Cushing and the United Church at Calumet will withdraw their regular Sunday services and worship with the Grenville church.

Special Music and Guest Soloist for United Anniversary

Lachute United Church is celebrating its 16th anniversary of the re-building of the present church, with appropriate services morning and evening next Sunday. The minister, the Rev. Wilson Bridge, will speak on "The Threefold Task of a Witnessing Church" during the morning and "A Whole-Time Religion" will be his topic for the evening.

Special music has been prepared by the choir for the morning devotions, when César Franck's "Panis Angelicus" (O Lord Most Holy) will be rendered, with Mr. Syd Drew singing the tenor solo. The second anthem by the choir will be the very fine composition of H. H. Woodward, "The Spendors of Thy Glory, Lord."

Prior to both services the church organist, Wayne Riddell, will give a recital of four compositions. In the morning, "Morning Mood" (Greig), "Introduction and Fugue" (Handel), and two Preludes by Bach, and in the evening, two "Sarabande" pieces by Bach, "Allegro" (Handel) and "Toccattina" (Lardelli).

Mrs. W. S. Weaver, of Westmount Baptist Church, will be guest soloist during the evening service. She has chosen for her renditions, "He that Dwelleth in the Secret Place" (McDermid), and "Come Ye Blessed" (John Prindle Scott).

Artists Joan Maxwell And Guy Lafond for Jeunesses Musicales

The second concert in the Jeunesses Musicales series this season will feature two popular Canadian artists — next Monday, November 29, in the assembly hall of l'Ecole Supérieure, Lachute. The recital of the evening will be presented by Joan Maxwell, contralto, with Guy Lafond as piano accompanist.

Joan Maxwell, 23, was born in Winnipeg and resides presently in Toronto, where she is soloist at Bloor St. United Church. In her climb to prominence as a Canadian vocalist she has won various scholarships and competitions, and has made many creditable appearances before the public, radio and TV.

Her accompanist in this recital, Guy Lafond, has had a wide and varied experience rewarded by popular acclaim at every public performance.

Over the Years with THE LACHUTE WATCHMAN

75 YEARS AGO

There is now fully one foot of snow on the ground, and the past week has been a real wintery one.

Already there have been several narrow escapes from accidents owing to so many persons driving without sleigh bells. The bells are not only pleasant but safe company when driving in the winter.

A loaded gun is kept near a certain pile of cord wood which has been lately getting smaller than usual by reason of some nocturnal visitors. We hope there will be no one hurt!

Mr. and Mrs. James Hay received a pleasant surprise Wednesday afternoon when opening a parcel. Being of rather a bulky nature, they wondered as to its contents, and upon opening it there was revealed the skin of a beautiful lioness which their son, Stuart, had shot in Northern Rhodesia.

Jumping into the water of icy Sixteen Island Lake to save the lives of two comrades who could not swim, Charles Edey, of Rosemere, Que., and A. Only a few hairs on his head were disturbed and he didn't know a thing about it — sound asleep, and intoxicated.

Charged With Illegally Killing Moose, St. Eugene

Charges of illegally killing a moose have been laid against Raymond Ranger and René Lanthier, both of R.R. 2, St. Eugene, by Ontario conservation officers this week.

The charges arose after the moose was killed in East Hawkesbury Township at a point half-way between St. Eugene and Ste. Anne de Prescott. The men will appear in court in L'Orignal next Monday.

An official said the animal was one of two known to be roaming that section of the country since last summer. They were the first moose to be seen in the region in a great many years and their comings and goings had been followed with interest by farmers. On occasion, the animals had been seen mingling with farm horses in pasture land.

It was thought the moose had crossed the Ottawa River from the Laurentians on the Quebec shore.

Canadian Woman Represents Paris Modes

Montreal (CP) — A Canadian woman who went to Paris for a brief visit in 1921 stayed there to become a leading fashion expert. Mrs. Marjorie Dunton, formerly of Oshawa, Ont., visited here recently as official press attache of the Chambre Syndicale of Paris Couture.

On her arrival in Paris 23 years ago, she had a job as model in one of the big fashion establishments and after six months sold her return ticket and decided to stay.

"Before the war I had by own dress establishment," she explained, "I started it on the money I got for my return ticket. But I lost my business in the war and since then I've had a radio program from Paris and took my present job eight months ago."

It is part of Mrs. Dunton's job to make things easier for English-speaking buyers and newspaper representatives who attend Paris fashion openings.

Claims Paris Leads

She believes that Paris is still the fashion capital of the world. Mrs. Dunton gave credit to the creative elements which are encouraged there and to the couture schools sponsored by the French government. Another reason for French pre-eminence in the field of dress design is the close tie up between fabric houses and the designers, she says.

"Many French designers like Dior have financial backing from fabric houses," she says. She believes the number of women leaders in the field has lessened because they have more difficulty in getting financial backing.

Mrs. Dunton declared the high point of her Canadian visit was her return to Oshawa where she met many people she had known as a girl. "Someday I'll come back to Canada for good," she said, "but meanwhile there is lots for me to do in France."

MAKES FIRST AND LAST TRIP TO CITY

Citizens of Port Arthur, Ont., thought they were in the wrong location when they saw this 1,000-pound moose ambling through their backyards, ripping clotheslines and fences and charging at individuals in his path. Mr. Moose apparently became lost in the six inches of snow that covered the area and at daybreak found himself inside the city limits. He did the only sensible thing to do under the circumstances — he tried to find a way out. Being a stranger in town, he just wandered from one street to another, via backyards and lawns. Then department of lands and forests officers caught up with him, and Mr. Moose became steak on the plates of youngsters at the city's underprivileged children's shelter.

Who Was This?

By A.A.M.

The Bible is rich in stories, and the purpose of this series is to encourage readers to look up for themselves the Bible versions of these incidents. If there are children in the family it is suggested that the story, and the Bible verses on which it is based, be read aloud.

Who was the Israelite whom God told to go and preach to the wicked City of Nineveh, but instead he went down to the harbour at Joppa and paid his fare to Tarshnish, in the opposite direction? Thus he planned to escape from the presence of the Lord.

But God did not forget his disobedient servant. God hurled a great wind upon the sea against his ship so that it was in danger of breaking up. The sailors were all afraid. They threw their cargo into the water to make the ship lighter, and at the same time they prayed to their gods.

But the Israelite, was fast asleep in the inner part of the ship. Angrily the captain roused him, saying, "What do you mean, you sleeper? Arise, call upon your God! Perhaps He will not let us perish."

As the danger continued, all those on board ship gathered together. They felt that some one person must be responsible for the storm. So they cast lots to discover who was the guilty person. The lot fell on the Israelite.

When he was questioned he said, "I am a Hebrew, and I fear the Lord, the God of Heaven, who made the sea and the dry land."

As the wind and rain grew still worse, the sailors asked the Israelite, "What shall we do to you, that the sea may quiet down for us?" He answered, "Take me up and throw me into the water, for I know I am the cause of this tempest."

The men did not want to be blamed for his death so they rowed harder than ever. But it was no use. As a last resort, the sailors cast the Israelite into the sea. They prayed, "Lay not on us innocent blood." Then they made vows and offered sacrifice.

But the Lord preserved the life of this Israelite. Read his name in the Chapter of the Book of Jonah.

"Let Your Kingdom Come"

The threatening ruin of this old world makes these words of the Lord's prayer all the more significant. Why so? Because the Bible foretells a great final conflict before this prayer's complete answer will be realized. Fulfillment of Bible prophecy shows that it is within this generation that the great final conflict, Armageddon, will be fought. Following it will be an unending time of blessing under God's loving arrangements of the "new heavens and a new earth." Learn about God's new world, now at hand, by obtaining the 384-page book "New Heavens and a New Earth" and the modern New World Translation of the Christian Greek Scriptures (Matthew to Revelation). These outstanding publications are available to you for only $2. — Write The Watch Tower, 40 Irwin Avenue, Toronto 5, Ont.

Tips on Touring

By Carol Lane
Women's Travel Authority

Not one car owner in three can tell you, with any degree of accuracy, the number of miles to a gallon he makes with the family car — yet there is a method of determining that figure within a tenth of a mile, and it's a simple one.

Follow these steps for an accurate mileage check:

(1) Fill the gasoline tank to the very top — until it won't accept another drop. Make certain the car is on a flat and level space.

(2) Record the exact speedometer reading.

(3) Drive the car in normal, day-to-day use, until the fuel gauge registers about a quarter full.

(4) Refill the tank and note the exact gallonage required, with the car again on a flat and level surface. Check the distance travelled during the test.

(5) Divide the gasoline consumed into the distance covered — and you have the exact miles-per-gallon figure for your car.

6th Annual 'Spiel Now In Progress

Fall bonspiels would seem to be more popular than ever among curling organizations, and this fact has lessened somewhat the attendance of as many outside rinks as generally visit Lachute for our similar event.

There are, however, some 50 rinks taking part here, in Lachute's 6th Annual Mixed Bonspiel, and some excellent scores have been registered.

Among those with a present high standing are E. H. Barscheli, of Lachine, 100%; and K. MacGibbon, 85%; G. Muir 78.9%; J. A. MacKimmie, 78.2%.

Games will continue until Saturday when the finals will be played at 3 p.m., and at 8 p.m. the consolations.

The ladies are again serving meals and will welcome local members who care to patronize them and later watch the games.

On Saturday, supper will be served from 6 to 8 p.m. only.

Distribution of prizes will take place at the close of the finals, when there will also be dancing and a social evening.

At Fredericton Centennial

Messrs. R. Hadley, L. Armstrong, L. Bedard and A. Ogilvie motored to Fredericton to take part in their Centennial Bonspiel which is now in progress. They are assured of five games, and have so far won one and lost one.

Brownsburg School Basketball Notes

By Margaret Dixon

On Saturday, the Brownsburg basketball teams played in Ste. Agathe. The girls' game swayed back and forth during the first half. The first quarter ended in a tie; 10-10. The second quarter was an exciting one with both teams fighting for the lead. Ste. Agathe led by one point at half-time. The Ste. Agathe team went on to increase their lead during the last half of the game; they had an edge of 7 points at the end of the third session — 22-15. The game ended with Ste. Agathe ahead, 30-17.

Top-scorers for Brownsburg were Margaret Dixon, 6, and Jeannette Gagné, 4. M. Singer, 12, B. Hoyer, 10, and S. O'Neill, 6, were Ste. Agathe's scoring stars.

The boys' game was one of the most exciting played so far this year. The Ste. Agathe boys took an early lead. The score at the end of the first quarter was 12-6 for Ste. Agathe. The Brownsburg boys narrowed their opponents' priority to 3 points in the second. In the second half the Brownsburg boys played well and took over the lead, and the third session ended with B.C.S. ahead only one basket. The Brownsburg boys finally won the game, 42-38.

Scoring stars for Brownsburg were Melvyn Stewart, 20, Tommy Williams, 10, and Alex MacGibbon 8. K. Hourland, 12, T. Cole, 10, and M. Prevost, 8, were Ste. Agathe's top scorers.

Next Friday Grenville will be playing in Brownsburg.

Bad news from the rink officials. Seems they knew what they were talking about when they were pessimistic about opening date. It won't be before the next issue of this paper.

The hockey club, of course, is greatly disappointed at the prospect of starting the schedule with probably only one practice. Fortunately, though, they have a week between the first and second games.

Here's a chance to win your Christmas turkey, and at the same time help the hockey club balance its finances. On Friday night, under auspices of the local Canadian Legion branch, a turkey bingo will be held at the Legion Hall for the benefit of the hockey club. For $1 you have 10 tries for a turkey.

From the local schoolboys comes news — not official — that the school will, after all, have a hockey club this year. This will be a relief to hockey officials in the district, to know that the kids will get the training they need. Let's hope that this year we have a champion hockey team as well as a top basketball squad at our school.

Royal Montreal Was First Cd'n Curling Club, 1807

By Jim Peacock,
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Canada's first curling club was formed in Montreal back in 1807, and written records of its progress from that time remain in the files of the Royal Montreal Curling Club today.

A group of Scottish natives "who wished to introduce their favorite national game on the St. Lawrence, "formed the club 147 years ago. Membership then was limted to 20 persons.

More Than 100,000

Today it is a safe bet that more than 100,000 persons will have thrown rocks and swept the ice before the current season ends next spring.

Latest complete figures from the Dominion Curling Association, compiled at the end of last season, show that Canada's 10 provinces now have 79,920 registered curlers.

The Association does not include in this figure about 6,000 members of the Canadian branch of the Royal Caledonian Curling Club of Scotland, so the combined total amounts to about 85,000.

W. E. McMurtry, secretary of the Ontario Curling Association, which has a registered membership of 11,566, says this figure probably will be close to 13,000 at the end of this season.

If similar growth appears in other Canadian provinces — and this seems especially likely in the west where every small town has its own curling rink, even if it is only a make-shift outdoor affair — then the registered total next spring is likely to be almost 100,000. And a good many who play the game are not registered with a recognized club.

By provinces, Saskatchewan has the largest number of curlers, with a total of 18,973. Ontario ranks second with 14,935, this being split in three divisions: Ontario 11,566; Northwestern Ontario 1,848, and Northern Ontario 1,521.

Manitoba has 13,385 registered members, Alberta 6,841, British Columbia 5,030, Nova Scotia 2,975, New Brunswick 2,750, Quebec 1,398, with another 440 registered in Northwestern Quebec, Prince Edward Island 346 and Newfoundland 339. Even the Northwest Territories has taken the game seriously. Six hundred and thirty curlers are registered for that area with the Dominion Association. To complete the total, the Peace River Block in Northern Alberta and B.C. has 8,199.

Among countless reasons for the growth of the game in Canada, John A. Stevenson in his book "Curling in Ontario" mentions the close ties of Canada with Scotland, and Canada's long hard winters, which have made this country the only one to which curling has been transplanted so successfully from its original home that it has acquired nationwide popularity.

GREY CUP AT END OF THEIR RAINBOW

Jackie Parker, the flat-footed Edmonton speedboy who is carrying on where Billy Vessels left off last season, is the current toast of Eskimo-town. The 22-year-old Parker can play quarterback and on defence as well as starring in the halfback role. This season, he led the Western Conference with 13 touchdowns—three more than the famed Vessels scored last year. After sparking Edmonton to the WIFU title, Jackie and his teammates are hoping to make their journey east for the Grey Cup game a successful one.

—Central Press Canadian Photos

Two of Coach Frank Ivy's Eskimos who spelled "poison" to Winnipeg Blue Bombers' Grey Cup hopes were Normie Kwong, left, and Frank Anderson, right. Little Normie bulled his way for 144 yards along the ground in Edmonton's 10-3 victory over Winnipeg, which brought the WIFU title to the Eskimos. Big Frank Anderson, playing his first game of the series, was the big reason why Bomber quarterback Jack Jacobs was able to complete only five of 18 passes, for the husky end broke in on Jacobs consistently.

Grey Cup-itis Is Current Epidemic

SPORTS CAMERA

By Jim Bastabie,
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The late-autumn sports frenzy surrounding football's Grey Cup has rolled around again.

Grey Cup-itis spreads in varying degrees into cities, towns and villages across the country, but the big blowup hits Toronto on the fourth Saturday in November, when the staid old Ontario capital goes slightly whacky.

Thousands assemble in a gay holiday mood for the most colorful spectacle in Canadian sports. Essentially, it involves the football champion of the West against the champion of the East, but you don't have to be a football player to take part in the high-jinks.

At least 100,000 fans pour into Toronto every year around cup time. Everybody talks football. They blather away in hotel lobbies, on the streets, in barber shops and beauty parlors. Betting money changes hands thick and fast.

Sports Classic

Everything about the Grey Cup is big-time. There is a big parade with bands and beautiful girls. A $10-a-plate dinner and a big ball. And train loads of football-crazy, cowboy-hatted fans from the west.

The fun-loving Westerners hit the city like a bombshell, complete with bands and parade floats. Most hotel rooms are sold out long before the classic.

The Grey Cup dinner and the 2½-mile parade, which costs about $250,000 dollars to put over, are the highlights. The dinner is held Friday night, followed by the ball at which Miss Grey Cup is chosen from among 12 beauties representing teams in the Big Four, Western Interprovincial football union and the Ontario Rugby Football Union.

The parade is staged Saturday morning and is reviewed by the Mayor of Toronto and the Mayor of the Western city whose team is in the classic.

Thousands line the route of the parade, which starts in downtown Toronto and ends up at Varsity Stadium in the central part of the city. There are 30-odd floats and a dozen bands. The 12 beauties, including Miss Grey Cup, ride in new convertibles to the stadium.

Then comes the game itself. This year the West is bidding for its first national football title since Calgary Stampeders beat Ottawa Rough Riders 12-7 in 1948. Previous western victories were in 1939 and 1941.

About 27,500 can cram into the stadium but an estimated 5,000,000 are able to see the game on television or follow it by radio in Canada's biggest TV-radio coast-to-coast hookup. Tickets run about $5 apiece, but scalpers get up to $25 for a single.

The football players don't get into the pre-game antics. They usually go into hiding a week before the game, polishing up their plays.

The classic runs for about 2½ hours. But it gives grandstand quarterbacks enough to talk about until the next Grey Cup rolls around.

Lachute High School Sports and Social News

By Vincent Trayers

The most exciting basketball game of the season was played Friday night, when the St. Lambert Senior boys, a Montreal team, fought from the opening whistle to a 39-all tie with Lachute Senior boys. The match was one of the fastest and hardest-played games seen this year. A three-minute overtime was required to decide a winner. During these minutes it was almost impossible to hear the referees above the shouts and wild cheers from the spectators. A foul was called on Lachute, and when the free shots were missed, the crowd went wild. Due to the excitement of the spectators during the foul shots, a technical foul was called on the Lachute team. Still St. Lambert failed to score. The Lachute team, filled with enthusiasm and excitement, were called for a foul with a minute to play. Bill Gram, who had missed on his previous attempts, scored the 2 points. The game ended with St. Lambert out on top by a score of 41-39.

The pace in the first half was terrific, the boys fighting all the way. Lachute's lead at half-time was only a close margin of 3 points, the score being 21-18.

The pace was slower in the third quarter, but the scoring did not slacken. St. Lambert pulled out in front this quarter with a score of 31-27.

Lachute started out slowly in the last quarter and it seemed that St. Lambert was in control of the game. With 3 minutes to play and 6 points behind, the Lachute coach, Mr. Bailly, switched his team to man-to-man defence, confusing their opponents. The audience burst with excitement as the Lachute boys tied up the score just as the siren blew. Then started the thrilling overtime, in which St. Lambert managed to get 2 points, thus winning the most exciting game this year.

It is hoped that a re-match will be scheduled for the near future. High-scorers for L.H.S. were Vincent Trayers with 12 points, Duncan MacTavish, 10; Brent Steele, 9; and Melvin Tomalty, 6.

An exhibition game was also played between the Senior girls and the Intermediate girls on Friday night. The Senior girls won, 38-7.

Last Saturday morning the Intermediate team travelled to Hudson. The girls' game was played slowly and defensively; thus the scoring was low. The Hudson girls got off to a quick start by taking a lead of 6 points in the first half. The score at half-time was 12-6 in their favor. In the second half the scoring was lower, with the teams evenly matched. The game ended with Hudson out in front, 17-10. Top-scorer for Lachute was Shirley Pollock, with 6 points.

The Intermediate boys, strengthened by Wayne Berry and Duncan MacTavish, showed improvement as they trounced the Hudson team 38-19. The game was fast, and few fouls were handed out by the referees, Mr. Bailly and Mr. Burton. In the first half Lachute commanded a lead of 19-8. In the second they doubled their score for an easy victory. The final score was 38-19 in favor of Lachute.

Top scorers for Lachute were Arthur Gauley, 10, Wayne Bradford and Duncan MacTavish, 8 points each.

This Friday night a triple-header will be played with Hawkesbury, in the Lachute gym. The teams participating will be the Intermediate girls, Intermediate boys, and Senior boys.

On Saturday the Senior teams will travel to Macdonald.

NO NUMBER 6 ON DETROIT

NHL fans may have wondered why there is no Number 6 in the Detroit line-up. The number was first worn by the late Larry Aurie, one of the finest right wingers of all time. When Larry left the Red Wings at the end of a long and illustrious career with the Red Wings to coach at Pittsburgh, the number was retired. If it is brought out of retirement it will be for a young wingman playing with Detroit's sponsored junior club in Hamilton. His name is Cummy Burton, a nephew of Aurie's.

JOLSON NOTES

(Specially Contributed)

As mentioned in last month's article, each October members of the Al Jolson Memorial Club write to radio and television programs requesting tributes to Al Jolson, to mark the anniversary of the death of one of the "greats" of showbusiness, who virtually gave his life to entertain the troops in Korea. The local results this year were gratifying; of the 12 programs listed last month, seven answered our requests. This means a percentage of 58%, just 2% below the highest previously attained.

The first tribute was given by the Happy Gang on Friday, October 22 (program time, 1.15 to 1.45 p.m.) M.C. Bert Pearl spoke a few kind words, then called on Jimmy Namaro for a medley of songs from "Jolson Sings Again", played on the marimba. This was probably the most important tribute secured, from the point of view of audience size and number of communities in which it was heard, as the program is carried by the Trans-Canada network of the CBC. This is the third consecutive year that the Happy Gang has thus honored Al.

"Yours For the Asking" (CKVL, 3.00 to 3.50 p.m.) featured our request prominently and played "The Old Piano Roll Blues", by Al and the Andrews Sisters — the radio announcer afterwards remarking, "Say, that's a little bit of all right, isn't it? You can't beat that style." Mike Stevens of CJAD's Club 800 (4.05 to 4.45 p.m.) read part of our letter and played "I'm Sittin' on Top of de World", again as suggested.

Saturday, October 23, the actual anniversary of Al's death, saw three more eulogies given, by the morning (6 to 9 a.m.) disc jockey shows. Gord Sinclair (CFCF, 600) came through with three of the greatest Jolson hits, "Rock-a-bye Your Baby with a Dixie Melody", "You Made Me Love You", and "California, Here I come". The Sunny Jim Show on CFRA (560) co-operated with "Swanee", a transcription of "April Showers" from "The Jolson Story", "Just for you, just for you!" and "You Made Me Love You". CKOY's (1310) Musical Clock had "On Top of the World" and "It All Depends on You."

The remaining tribute was presented by the Good Old Days on Sunday, October 24. The m.c. mentioned the significance of the occasion, and played "Give My Regards to Broadway", "April Showers", and "Is It True What They Say About Dixie?" Incidentally, we highly recommend this CJAD program to Jolson fans and anyone else interested in the music of the distant and not-so-distant past. Art Leonard, the m.c., happens to be a Jolson admirer himself, and will keep Al's records in mind when making up his programs. This, together with a good demand from his listeners for Jolson songs, ensures that Jolson records will be played fairly regularly. The Good Old Days, heard from 12.05 to 12.30 p.m. every Sunday, has something to please just about everybody. For those who like to hear the big-timers doing the songs they make famous, there are records by Jolie, Eddie Cantor, Sophie Tucker, Jimmy Durante, Ted Lewis, etc. Others may prefer the old songs done by new artists, and they, too, are featured. Like instrumentals, the Good Old Days has them — in short, a program well worth listening to.

If anyone would like to write a line or two to one or more of the above-mentioned programs, thanking them for saluting Al, it would be of great assistance to us, helping to ensure their co-operation in the future.

Late news from Jolsonair headquarters advises us that, generally speaking, members of the club in other parts of the world have had equally good success in securing Jolson tributes in October. This is encouraging news to Jolson fans everywhere.

Twelve Movies A Week

More Canadians follow Clyde Gilmour's reviews of movies than any other film critic in the country. Like a baseball umpire, his opinions are not always shared by the public, but "he calls them as he sees them"; if a movie is bad he says so, and if it's good, he's the first to admit it. His views are aired every Sunday on CBC Trans-Canada's "Critically Speaking", the only serious film review being carried by any network on this continent. They also appear in Maclean's magazine twice a month, thus giving Gilmour one of the largest audiences of any Canadian critic. The toughest part of being a reviewer, he says, is having to put up with noisy children and talkative adults while he's watching a movie. However, that's tough on all movie-goers, whether they're critics or not.

Travels and Adventures of A Canadian Nurse in Europe

— By Ethel Kettyle —

As told by Nurse Muriel Barberie (with permission to publish)

PART I

Statistics tell us that the arrival of immigrants from overseas, in a seven-month period ending July 31, 1954, was 101,604, and many more have arrived since that time.

We read and hear of so many people from Europe coming to our country, and of their trying to learn our customs and language. But we hear very little about those who go from Canada to Europe, and of their handicaps.

Here is the interesting account of a Canadian nurse, who did her bit during World War II in Canadian Industries, in this locality, afterwards graduating as a nurse from the Montreal General Hospital, after which she nursed in a Hamilton, Ontario, hospital for some time, and is now nursing and travelling in Europe. She writes from Rotterdam, the Netherlands, as follows:

"As you can see by my address (Liekenhuis, Beezembarakken, Boezembocht 20, Rotterdam), I am nursing, even though I said that I would take a rest while in Europe. I am gradually beginning to pick up the language here, and have already made many very good friends, who have been very kind and helpful in many ways.

Now to tell you about my travels — as I probably told you in my last letter, we landed in Rotterdam, and found ourselves parked in a tiny room, at the top of a Salvation Army Hotel. The weather was cold and damp, most of the first week, and nothing but cold running water in our room. We wondered how we were going to stand it for nine months.

Rotterdam is Holland's second largest city, and is the largest inland port in the world. The entire centre of the city was laid flat (and I do mean flat) during the war. Although most of the areas have been, or are being, built up again with beautiful ultra-modern stores, offices and apartments, the scars are still quite obvious and depressing to look at.

The people are very hard workers and very serious minded, and as a result Rotterdam seems to have very little city life, as I knew about city life. The people live in their homes, rather than at night clubs — which is admirable, I think.

While in Rotterdam, we made arrangements for work on our return, and also went to Triesland (in Northern Holland) for a couple of days. Life in the country is quite primitive, and what keeps them from freezing to death in the winter, I do not know. The house at which we visited did not have any stoves or furnace, apparently, and the cooking was done on two or three petrol burners, and really was very light. The people, in general, eat much potatoes and bread, very little meat, and next to no fruit. Of course, cheese is always available, and is excellent. The food in the hospital leaves much to be desired — a far-cry from our menu on board ship.

We left Rotterdam for Koln (or Cologne, as we spell it.) As you probably remember, Dusseldorf and Koln were very bady bombed during the war. Fortunately, Koln's old Cathedral was only slightly damaged, and is in the process of being restored. The people are a very friendly people, and they have a way of making one feel quite at home. One soon forgets the charred buildings, and chooses rather to study the personality of the people in general, who have been given such a beating but are still able to smile and enjoy life.

Progress seems slower in Germany, but they seem to be restoring rather than replacing, their buildings of historical interest. However, in many cases, only a small portion of the original will be in the new. Still, the appearance will be as nearly similar as possible.

From Koln we went to Aachen (also known as Aix-la-Chapelle). It was also badly damaged, but the Cathedral and town hall built by Charlemagne around 800 A.D. were untouched. They are considered to be outstanding monuments of his creative power. Charlemagne is buried under the altar of the Cathedral, which was built as his chapel and became the place of coronation of German Kings.

Bonn was the most southerly part of our journey, and in that quiet University town (now the capital of free Germany) we visited the birthplace of Ludwig Van Beethoven, also visited the Cathedral, where he was second organist.

We then travelled from Bonn to Hamburg by bus, stopped overnight and then went on to Copenhagen. All buses are equipped with radios, and there was much lovely music (no commercials, thank goodness).

Denmark is a delightful country. Probably that was the reason that Hans Christian Anderson was inspired to write so many charming stories about his native land. Everything there is fresh and clean. Norway and Sweden are also exceptionally clean. If I had to live in Europe and had to make a choice where to live, I think that I would choose Denmark. (I have not seen Switzerland yet, though.)

Kobenhavn (Copenhagen) is certainly a most wonderful town. It has so much to offer a visitor. Rosenburg Palace (now a museum), built in 1612 by King Christian IV, as a pleasure house, contains the chronological private collections of the Danish Kings, consisting of 10,000 items; it also contains the Crown Jewels. We saw only some of the outstanding things.

We had a day's tour to North Lealand, the island on which Kobenhaven is situated. We saw a stork's nest, but Mr. Stork was out on deliveries; and visited Frederiksborg Castle, which is now a national museum, containing sculpture and art treasures. The Royal Chapel contains the coat-of-arms of Field Marshal Lord Montgomery, and also Churchill's, along with many others. The Chapel was built about 1620, and was for some time the King's residence, but now is government-owned. The Chapel organ is 350 years old and is still played, on every Christmas and New Year's. We strolled around the grounds of the Fredensborg Palace, where the present Royal family spend a part of the summer season.

We then visited Kronborg Castle, where, according to Shakespeare, Hamlet was supposed to have lived.

We went on to Gothenborg, in Sweden, the centre of Sweden's shipbuilding industry, and later took the canal cruise to Stockholm, and passed many interesting little villages and castles en route. We were allowed to leave the boat and take pictures of her, making her way through the locks. Stockholm dates back over 700 years. The city is built on 15 islands and the Swedes call it — "Venice of the North." Forty bridges connect the islands with each other. The city is very modern, except for a part of it, which is called "The Old Town."

(To be continued next week.)

THE CHILDREN RELY ON US
LET'S FINISH
ST. JUSTINE'S HOSPITAL

"Mayday" is the spoken-word international distress call : : : equivalent to the morse "SOS":
Here's a local distress call . : : one which can equally be a matter of life or death. The whole Province is desperately in need of more hospital beds for children. We can have more beds quickly, if we can get on with the vital and urgent job of finishing St. Justine's Hospital on Cote St. Catherine Road, in Montreal. Half finished already, thanks to your generosity in the 1951 campaign, St. Justine's needs $9,600,000 to open its doors. We can reach this objective only with the support of many thousands of donations . . . large and small. Even if you may never have to use St. Justine's magnificent facilities, we ask you earnestly to search your heart and think of the children who count on your help.

The new St. Justine's will provide up to 314,000 patient days per year!

With 800 beds and 60 bassinets, the new hospital can care for an estimated 20,000 patients, or almost 314,000 patient days each year.

We must complete the job so well started and open the doors of the new hospital to our sick children as soon as possible!

GIVE GENEROUSLY!
From November 15 to 30
Objective:
$9,600,000.

French Cookery Terms

Quite a number of food dishes are described in thier native tongue so to speak. You know how often you find items printed in French on restaurant and hotel menus, yes, and in cook books too. And by the same token you would find such items as Plum Pudding, Mincemeat, Welsh Rarebit, Porridge, Irish Stew and Yorkshire Pudding on French menus and in French cook books. Here are a few French expressions which we perhaps come across most frequently and which perhaps may confuse some of us a little.

A la mode: literally translated means "following the fashion" but in cookery this expression applies to two different types of dishes: (1) Boeuf à la mode — means beef braised with vegetables; (2) Dessert, usually pie served with a scoop of ice cream.

Sautéed onions with calf liver and sautéed apples with sausages are both delicious.

Au gratin: means covered with bread crumbs or grated cheese or a mixture of both cheese and crumbs or with a cheese sauce, then browned in the oven or under the broiler.

What could be better than good quality beef roasted at low temperature and served "au jus".

The makings of many a bowl of piping hot soup — a vegetable purée and a well seasoned thin cream sauce.

Bouquet garni: two or three sprigs of parsley, a small bay leaf and a pinch of thyme tied together with string or tied in a cheese cloth bag and cooked with the dish it is to season.

Lyonnaise potatoes: fried until browned with chopped onions.

Fondantes potatoes: cooked and served with a thin cream sauce.

Potatoes like to be served different ways and the family will like them too.

Beurre noir: butter heated until it is well browned and mixed with vinegar which has been boiled to concentrate it to half the original amount.

Usually served with steamed meats and fish.

Beurre (butter) maitre d'hôtel: a mixture of ¼ cup of butter well creamed to which is added 1 tablespoon of minced parsley and finally 1 tablespoon of lemon juice with salt and pepper to taste is worked into the butter.

Chill and serve cold with broiled meat.

A la meunière: to serve "à la meunière" pour over the dish a few drops of lemon juice, sprinkle generously with chopped parsley and pour piping hot browned butter over all.

Soufflé: This name usually applies to a dessert although there are also fish, meat, poultry, cheese and vegetable soufflés. The basic foundation of a soufflé is a very thick cream sauce (sweetened or unsweetened) in which egg yolks are thoroughly mixed. The lightness depends on the addition of beaten egg whites gently folded into the mixture.

Bouchées: Tiny patty shells or cream puffs filled with a mixture of meat or fish. Make delectable appetizers.

Dainty little cakes to serve on special occasions such as wedding receptions and trousseau teas.

SHORN SHEEP:

OUR OVINE FRIENDS will be glad to know that in future they may be spared the undignified and chilly experience of being sheared of their wool to keep us warm. A new lightweight lining material for men's and women's clothes combines fabric and aluminum to give more than three times the insulating value of a similar weight of wool cloth.

Humans, too, will be glad if this hastens the end of heavy, bulky winter wear. The material can be dry-cleaned, drapes well and is sufficiently porous to let the body "breathe"... Just one more example of the way Canadian manufacturers are combining aluminum and imagination for better, easier living. Aluminum Company of Canada, Ltd. (Alcan).

Prov. W.I. Convener Describes Local Venture To Aid Retarded Children

The problem of the rural mentally retarded child is still of concern to the Quebec Women's Institutes. County presidents are being urged to continue with the survey as to the number of children falling into this classification in their districts and of teachers interested in obtaining training to fit them for specialized instruction to those who are educable. Retired teachers were mentioned specifically in the recommendation passed at the provincial convention a year ago. This item will appear again on the agenda for the semi-annual board meeting to be held in January.

Mrs. George Leggett, of Lachute, provincial convener of Welfare and Health, tells the provincial organization of what is being accomplished here. As a result of a meeting of interested parents a small group of such children have been brought together and offers of volunteer help to assist in their training have been received. Institutes and other organizations are giving financial aid and the local School Board is being approached. Mrs. Leggett is asking other Institutes to do the same, and in a circular letter going out to local members of her committee she says in part, "We have been amazed at the help that has been forthcoming since we started our own little 'Association for Retarded Children'. I know you, too, will find the same kindness and willingness if you do your best to help with this work."

When choosing a color to paint walls, be sure to pick a lighter hue on the color card than the finished effect you desire. A color that seems just right on a small sample will seem much darker when used on a large area and when reflected by three other walls in the room.

Breath of Familiar Countryside In Suburbia's Seasonal Routine

"EXILE FROM SUNNYACRES"

By Margaret Cook

This is really a report from Sunnyacres, as it is only a few hours since we returned from a jaunt to the Laurentians — on one of the worst days of the year! The object of this trek was to deposit in front of the back door a flat piece of rock, measuring approximately 3'4" x 2'3". Our young mining engineer friend classifies it as Devonian sandstone with ripple marks. It weighs about 200 lbs. and was lifted into the back of the patient Buick by four men. It came out on a principle of Physics — gravity and the inclined plane. The ancient Egyptians have nothing on us when it comes to construction work, and our methods are much the same. But the Egyptians never used to wrestle with the problem of how to get a heavy automobile out of a narrow trench its own wheels had dug in the soft earth. If it had not been for the neighborly help of our friends Lloyd and Jimmie, we should have had to spend the winter at Sunnyacres. (I can think of worse fates.)

The writer, being built for speed rather than draft work, merely watched from the window the earnest efforts of the muscular males. In fact, the day has been one of the most leisurely to come our way in many a moon. Going along at 4 m.p.h. this morning, because of the tortured springs of the car, we had time to observe and to philosophize, and this afternoon, while an interested spectator of the above rural drama, we made a rough draft of this article. I hasten to admit, before a candid reader points it out, that this is still not so smooth, but it is at least less rough than it would have been without the episode of the bemired Buick. What a title for Mr. Earl Stanley Gardner! He may have it for free.

November is often labelled as the worst month in the year, so dull, so lifeless, so dreary; but we feel that it is slandered. Preparations for Christmas should lighten the heart of the urban dweller, and beauty awaits the keen eye in the country. As we ambled along, we noted the pure umber of the harvested fields and the mauvish-brown of the ploughed ones. Young beech trees tend to keep their leaves well into winter and these are a pink-yellow. The white birch are etched against the black of the road and the blue-grey of the sky; while the different fir trees make a symphony of green, of which the young pines are the lightest and the black spruce the darkest. The occasional hemlock is mid-green chenille as contrast to the dark green velvet moss. All the while, one is conscious of the background of rock, the old earth's very bones; long croppings lie alongside the road, great banks of it make castles against the sky, while smooth clumps, as big as a dining-room table, have coverings of moss. Often these table rocks are crowned with masses of polypody, or rock ferns, the most prolific area being about two miles from the Mille Isles turn. Near Long Lake and Scottlands, the quick eye can see the Canadian holly. We have a basket of it in the hall, and four out of five people exclaim in delight, "Oh, look at the bittersweet!"

All this leisurely observation was most welcome after a hectic week composed in about equal proportion of luncheon party, church Bazaar Supper (Jeff, I read your column), and Operation Cat. I see I have inadvertently made a pun, for the cat, Peter, has had an operation. Poor Peter developed an abscess as big as a robin's egg, on his right fore elbow, so we took him down to our newly-opened Veterinary Hospital. Betty and I were thrilled by the cleanliness, order and decoration of the place, and left Peter quite happily about 9.30 in his little wire cage. Below him was a dainty female tiger awaiting an operation, and beside him a disconsolate Siamese recovering from pneumonia. The Doctor said he would open the abcess and return our pet about noon. At eleven, the Doctor telephoned that the cat was not co-operating about his sedative pill. This turned out to be the understatement of the year. Betty, hastening down to the office, found the cat is hysterics, and the Doctor worriedly taking off a pair of gloves bearing the marks of Peter's highly efficient teeth and claws. The Doctor's assistant was frankly afraid. By dint of a mixture of coaxing and firm handling, Peter's mistress got the tablet into him, concealed in a piece of beef, thoughtfully brought from home — he having refused any food having its origin in the hospital. At six o'clock, a groggy Peter was returned, reeking of ether, which veterinaries are loath to use on animals because of its excitant properties. These were demonstrated by our feline. Between stretches of uneasy sleep, he leapt from his basket and scuttled about the house on three legs, finally collapsing in a panting heap. Then he had to be scooped up from the floor, held tightly and assured that he was home and that the nasty man in the white coat was nowhere around. He was also much dehydrated and lapped water eagerly. Then we began the cycle all over again. At one a.m. the writer signed off for the night and at breakfast-time Peter seemed more sane and consented to eat a little Pablum in warm milk. He looked wan and he swayed on his legs, but his spirit was indomitable, for he went to the door and asked out. We indicated the indoor facilities, which he abhors. At time of writing, the cat is progressing nicely, although one leg is considerably larger than its mate.

As for the lunch, it was as other lunches except for the centrepiece. Our teen-age daughter having nastily referred to said gathering as a "hen-party", we seized upon the epithet and proceeded to make a decoration having the Waterford glass-hen as its theme. We put her in a nest of moss and stuck bits of holly around as a thicket. The hen itself had candy inside. Everybody was kind and said nice things. For eats we had cheese soufflé and a punch of fruit juices and Sauterne. There were home-made rolls and pineapple preserves and a tossed green salad, although not in that order. Afterwards we played Scrabble. How nice to have a hen-party once in awhile. The Bazaar Supper also ran true to type. We fed about 250, and were feeling quite complacent until the head of the house informed us that in Huntingdon they often cater for 600 at such affairs. We can remember similar feasts when we were a young thing in the Townships. Nowhere else in Canada do they eat as they do in the Townships! Not to be a good cook is to be poor white trash, and not to be able to eat hugely is to be a weakling. Around Montreal, there is no such tradition, so everyone seemed pleased with our modest effort. Because we were so busy with the turkey dinner, we could not see much of the Bazaar — which was fine with us.

Now that is over, we can turn our attention to Christmas preparations. Everybody got their cake baked? The Christmas list made out, some presents ready? As we finish ours, they are laid out on the guest-room bed till presently there is no place for a guest, but it is fun to go in and poke about. Quite often, tags fall off and one has panic-stricken moments lest Aunt Jennie get a pipe and little Cousin Willie a bottle of cologne. But somehow, everything is straightened out and we proudly bear the packages to the post-office, early, but not too early, for there is nothing so aggravating as an unopened Christmas present.

"And so," as Pepys says, "to bed". Betty is just now making his acquaintance and finds him funny. Certainly a change from the characters in the comics.

Fashions

Wool velour, in a deep beige, shade that goes with everything, makes up well into a handsome and practical winter overcoat. There is a collar inset of paler beige velvet, also used in the slot seams. The coat is double breasted with six small buttons. It pyramids gently to a moderate fullness, just taking the medium between the full and the slim lines. Slit pockets are set in on the slant and the generous cuffs are notched. There is an inverted pleat in back from crossed over flaps.

"A lovely coat you're wearing, Mrs. D."

"Thank you, Mrs. F.; my husband gave it to me for my 35th birthday."

"And it's back in style again — how divine!"

African Violet Gift

(Copyright) — By NANCY CLEAVER —

"Look, Mother! Aunt Sally left a purple African Violet as a present for you and a white one for me. They look so pretty! But are they real violets?"

* * *

African Violets do make a lovely present but they do not belong to the violet family. With their heart-shaped leaves they look like violets. But they are members of the Gesneria family to which the gay red gloxinias belong. In recent decades they have become the favorite house plant of thousands of people all over the world. But it is only 60 years since they first flowered in Europe.

A father in Silesia received the gift of either seeds or more likely plants of "das violette Usambra" from his son who was a planter of rubber and vanilla trees in Usambra, Tanganyika, East Africa. The young man had discovered these in two very different places — a shady primeval forest where they grew on granite rocks, and also in limestone rock crevices in wooded spots near Tanga. When they were shown to the Director of the Royal Botanical Gardens in Herrenhausen, he named them. He chose the name of the Saint Paul family and a Latin word "ionantha", which means "with violet-like flowers."

Specialists in the culture of African Violets often disagree hotly about the best way to treat it. However, most of them point out that as it is a tropical plant, it does not prosper in draughts or sudden changes of temperature. Beware of the leaves being too near the window pane in winter time. If the temperature drops below 60 degrees it will often result in a falling off of the bloom. A temperature around 70 degrees at night seems to agree with it. The north windows and also the east ones are often used for African Violets.

They need a fair amount of moisture but should not have perpetually "wet feet." If they are watered from the top, care should be taken not to wet the leaves, and then let drops of moisture stay on the foliage in the sunshine. Fertilizer should be added to the water or to the soil.

Experts warn against re-potting too often and against using too large pots. If the roots are a bit cramped, the plant is more likely to bloom. Soil can be baked in the oven at 180 degrees for an hour to insure freedom from pests. Camphor flakes below the pot will scare away the little mites. A mixture of sand, leaf mold and rich dark loam from the woods makes an excellent potting earth.

New plants can easily be started by rooting a leaf in water. Slip a wax paper over a jar of rain water, or snow that has been melted. Make several holes and insert the healthy leaves cut from the crown of the plant in the holes. Transplant in a sandy soil when the leaves are well rooted.

So much satisfaction can be obtained from watching a plant develop, that the gift of an African Violet is a particularly happy one. People of all ages are African Violet enthusiasts. But a school age child or an older person can receive special pleasure from caring for an African Violet, keeping it healthy and watching the buds form.

Best luck to you or to any member of your family who makes growing African Violets a fascinating hobby. John Keats once said that "A thing of beauty is a joy forever"... African Violet plants which are flowering are indeed beautiful... They may not last "forever" but they do live for many months, giving pleasure to all who see them.

A young man and his girl were riding out in the country on horseback. As they stopped for a rest, the two horses rubbed noses affectionately.

"Ah, me," said the young man, "that is what I'd like to do."

"Well, go ahead," said the girl, "it's your horse."

WOOL FROM VOLCANO

Lava from Mount Etna, Sicily, is being transformed into wool, reports the Canadian Commercial Counsellor at Rome. Using German machinery, the ingenious Italian workers melt and pass the lava through a special process, the end product of which is a sort of felt. This felt wears well, has a neutral reaction, is non-corrosive, and does not shrink or stretch. The plant is the first of its kind in the world.

I'M TALKING TRUDY
THE DOLL THAT TALKS ... in RHYME!
•ROCK A BYE BABY
•MARY HAD A LITTLE LAMB
•OH WHERE HAS MY LITTLE DOG GONE
•PUSSY CAT, PUSSY

Yes, Talking Trudy is always ready to say her piece! "Mary had a Little Lamb," "Rock-a-Bye Baby," "Pussy Cat, Pussy Cat" or "Oh, where has My Little Dog Gone" . . . ask your little girl which of these four famous nursery rhymes she likes best. Trudy will recite that rhyme as often as you want. Trudy is a big, beautiful cuddly doll, all decked out in a sweet plaid pinafore and cute hooded bonnet to match. She's 24 inches tall and sturdily built to take all sorts of punishment and still talk in rhyme. There's no complicated machinery, no delicate settings to go wrong. Just turn the sturdy handle at Trudy's back and she talks in rhyme . . . every time!

HURRY! HURRY!
Don't disappoint your little girl. Make sure that she gets her "Talking Trudy" doll. ORDER NOW. Supplies are limited so don't delay and be sure to state your first, second, third and fourth choice of nursery rhymes by numbering the squares in the attached coupon.

B of M Report Sets New High in Banking Figures

Revealing the highest capital figures in Canadian banking history, the 137th annual report of the Bank of Montreal shows record levels for deposits and loans, with resources at a new high for the bank, at $2,548,508,239. The report was released this week by Donald Hay, B of M manager at Lachute.

Paid-up capital, which for many years stood at $36,000,000, is now shown at $43,927,912, following the recent offering of new B of M stock, while the rest account stands at $87,855,824. When the new issue of stock is completed, the figures will reach $45,000,000 and $90,000,000 respectively — a total in shareholders' funds, exclusive of undivided profits, of $135,000,000 — the highest figure for any of the chartered banks.

Beyond this, the most notable change in the balance-sheet figures is the substantial enlargement of $139-million in deposits — now $2,365 million, compared with $2,226 million a year ago.

Strong Liquid Position

The bank's traditionally strong liquid position is seen in increases in the holdings of government and other securities, now totalling $1,170 million ($982 million in 1953). These holdings comprise the large part of the bank's liquid resources totalling $1,694,056,090, which equal 70.17 per cent of the bank's public liabilities.

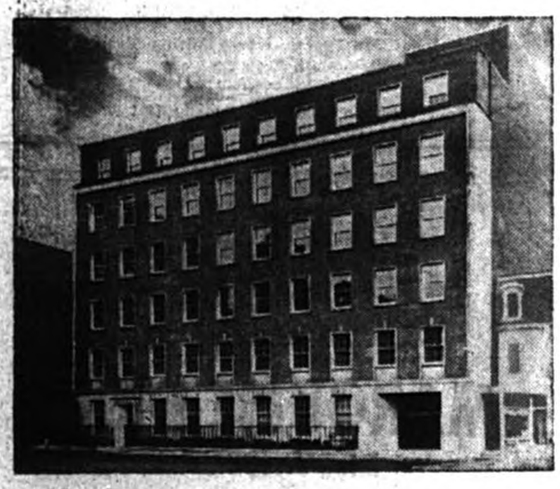

"Commercial and other loans" are up from $787 million to $794 million, while call loans at $97 million compare with $70 million a year ago. A new item in the statement this year is "Mortgages and hypothecs insured under the National Housing Act, 1954" at $10,880,652.

Increase in Earnings

The statement shows that, after provision was made for income taxes of $6,925,000, net profits amounted to $7,344,274, compared with $7,042,676 in 1953.

Dividend payments to shareholders were $5,436,395 — about a million and a half less than the bank's tax-bill — and represented the same rate of return as in 1953.

Household Finance Corporation of Canada Head Office Building

A significant indication of the growth of the Canadian economy occurred with the opening of the new head office building of Household Finance Corporation of Canada, on Bloor Street, Toronto.

Household Finance is the largest consumer loan organization in Canada with 170 branch offices from coast to coast. At the present time it has over $105,000,000 outstanding in nearly half a million customers' notes.

Evidence of the need for this service is in the record of its growth. In 1933 Household Finance had two branch offices with 16 employees concentrated in Toronto. By 1939 it had expanded to a total of 15 branch offices, all in Ontario. With the passage of the Canada Small Loans Act in 1940, it expanded into the West and into Quebec, and today employs over twelve hundred people in its branches and its head office.

The new head office building allows it to bring all its departments under one roof and, at the same time, it provides the maximum in modern service with air conditioning, sound proofing, recessed lighting, automatic heating and the latest in automatic elevators.

A reception in conjunction with the formal opening on November 12, was attended by business leaders and by executives of the company from all parts of Canada and the United States.

Modification to Decree, Barber and Hairdressing Trades — Counties of Argenteuil Deux Montagnes and Terrebonne

Extract from Quebec Official Gazette of November 1954

The Honourable Antonio Barrette, Minister of Labour, hereby gives notice, pursuant to the provisions of the Collective Agreement Act (Revised Statutes of Quebec, 1941, chapter 163 and amendments., that the contracting parties to the collective labour agreement relating to the barber and hairdressing trades in the counties of Argenteuil, Deux-Montagnes and Terrebonne and in Jesus Island, rendered obligatory by the decree No. 140 of February 27, 1952 have petitioned him to submit to the consideration and decision of the Lieutenant Governor in Council the following amendments to the said decree, as amended:

1. Subsection "a-1" of the section IV:

That the working hours in barber shops be changed as follows:

(a) For barbers in the County of Terrebonne:

"In the Municipality of Ste. Adèle:

Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday: from 8.00 a.m. to 7.00 p.m.;

Friday, Saturday and holiday eves: from 8.00 a.m. to 9.00 p.m."

"However, at Saint Sauveur des Monts, work must cease at noon on Monday.

That the following paragraph "iv." be added:

"iv. Notwithstanding the foregoing provisions, in the Town of St. Jerome, the working hours shall be as follows:

Monday, Tuesday and Thursday: from 8.30 a.m. to 6.00 p.m.

Wednesday: from 8.30 a.m. to noon.

Friday: from 8.30 a.m. to 10.00 p.m.

Saturday: from 8.00 a.m. to 6.00 p.m.

Holiday eves: from 8.00 a.m. to 9.00 p.m."

(b) For barbers, in the County of Laval:

That the following words be added at the end of the second to last paragraph:

"However, in the Town of Sainte Rose, work must cease at noon on Monday."

"In the limits of Sainte Vincent de Paul, the weekly lay-off must be taken on Monday instead of Wednesday."

(c) In the County of Deux-Montagnes: That the following words be added at the end of this sub-paragraph.

"In the Town of St. Eustache and the Municipalities of St. Eustache and St. Eustache-sur-le-Lac, work shall cease at 6.00 p.m. on Saturday.

2. In subsection "b" of section IV:

3. Subsection "a" and "b" of section VI shall be replaced by the following:

"(a) Men's journeymen barbers or hairdressers shall receive $40.00 per week plus 50% of the receipts of their work exceeding $50.00 in the course of the week.

(b) The ladies male and female hairdressers shall receive $30.00 per week."

4. In subsection "a" of section VII:

That the municipalities of Brownsburg, St. Jovite and Ste. Adele be added to the territory where the highest minimum prices schedule for barbers' services is applicable.

That the minimum prices presently in force for each one of the services hereafter mentioned be replaced by the new prices indicated opposite each one of those in schedule No. 1, only and that the following additions also be made:

Friday Saturday and holiday eves	.75
Shave, every day	.50
Brushcut, adults	1.00
Brushcut, children under 14 years: Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday	.50
Friday, Saturday and Holiday Eves	.70
Hollywood brushcut, adults	1.00

5. In subsection "b" of section VII:

The item "Retouching haircut" shall be replaced by "Neck trimming" and the following items shall be added:

Finger wave	1.00
Haircut for girls under 15 years	1.00

6. In subsection "a" of section VII, the words "the seventh year of the primary course" shall be replaced by the "ninth year of the primary course."

7. Subsection "e" of section VIII shall be replaced by the following:

"(e) Wages: The minimum wages of apprentices shall be as follows:

	per week
First six months	$4.00
Second six months	10.00
Third six months	18.00
Fourth six months	25.00
Fifth six months	28.00
Sixth six months	30.00

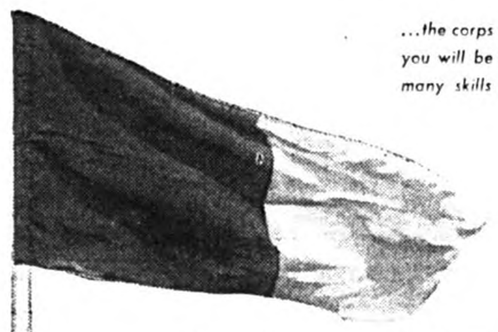

8. That the following new subsection "i" be added to section VIII:

"(i) To facilitate the checking of working and closing hours, any barber shop, beauty parlor or hairdressing parlor shall be separated from any other commerce, such as restaurant, billards or pool rooms, or others.

During the thirty days following the date of publication of this notice, in the Quebec Official Gazette, the Honourable Minister of Labour will consider the objections which the interested parties may wish to set forth.

— Gérard Tremblay, Deputy Minister of Labour.
Department of Labour, Quebec, November 13, 1954. -1c

Serve Canada and Yourself in the ARTILLERY

...the corps of specialists. Join and you will be trained in one of the many skills and trades required.

The crack gunners of the Royal Canadian Artillery are rightly proud of their many skills. They specialize in a wide range of technical skills and trades that include radio and telephone operators, driver mechanics, surveyors, meteorologists and even pilots. The Canadian gunner is a highly trained soldier.

The Artillery is the place for the young man who wants specialized training and a chance to get ahead in a military career. You enjoy financial security, good pay, liberal pension. You can qualify for advanced training and rapid promotion. You get 30 days annual holiday with pay. Best of all, you serve Canada as a soldier skilled in a worthwhile trade.

To be eligible you must be 17 to 40, killed tradesmen to 45. When applying bring birth certificate or other proof of age.

Listen to "Voice of the Army" — Tuesday and Thursday evenings over the Dominion Network.
