Civic 'Moving Day', New Personnel and Facilities

Vote on Awarding of Town Audit, Many Bids and Tenders Considered

The firm of Thos. C. Corry was appointed to audit the Town Corporation books for 1955, at an adjourned session of the Council at which Mayor Dr. F. Walter FitzGerald cast the deciding vote for this decision. Ald. Réal Morrissette was absent from the meeting, held in the new civic building. Numerous tenders were opened at this session, and Acting Secretary Jacques Poitras filled the secretarial role latterly vacated by A. Laurin.

Tenders for auditing were received from last year's auditor, Paul E. Bonnier, who quoted $1,100; Denis, Rouleau et Cie, $700 a year; Thos. C. Corry, $600 for the year; and W. T. J. Adamson, who quoted $950 less an unspecified credit for audit made prior to departure of retired Secretary-treasurer Antonio Laurin. The three-month audit was made by Paul E. Bonnier at a cost of $450. The Bonnier tender stipulated that this amount would be included in the above-mentioned tender, but Mayor Dr. FitzGerald stated that the amount would have to be paid to Bonnier no matter who received the new contract.

Ald. D. G. MacRae moved that the tender of Thos. C. Corry be accepted as read, for $600 per year. The motion was seconded by Ald. E. O. Pollock.

It was moved in amendment by Ald. Wilbrod Cousineau seconded by Ald. Judes Charlebois, that due to the three-month audit, new tenders be called for. The vote found Aldermen Cousineau, Charlebois, Desjardins and Laurin in favor of the amendment, Aldermen MacRae, Pollock, Muir and Church favoring the main motion. Mayor Dr. FitbGerald cast his vote for the main motion, which passed on a 5-4 count.

It was moved by Ald. E. O. Pollock, seconded by Ald. Stan Church, that the Mayor form a committee of four councillors to study applications for the position of secretary-treasurer. This committee, under chairmanship of Mayor FitzGerald, comprises Aldermen Cousineau, MacRae, Pollock and Church, who will meet and consider the 14 applications, reporting back to Council at a special meeting to be held early this month.

Ald. Ross Muir, chairman of the Police Committee, reported on applications for the position of night watchman and janitor for the Town Hall, and moved that Adelard Malette be engaged at a salary of $40 per week. The motion, seconded by Ald. Romain Desjardins, stipulated that Malette would come under the direct supervision of the police committee, and would commence his duties May 6, or when his services were required, from 8 p.m. to 8 a.m. with one night off a week.

Tenders were called to supply plants and look after flowers and walks in the Memorial Park; to supply and install lights for both memorial monuments in the park; and for taking of the civic census.

Aldege Filion agreed to sign a legal agreement with the corporation as to the opening of Francis Street, on the condition that his taxes remain the same until the property is sold. He also requested that Robert Street be widened from Taylor to Gilbert Streets. The matter was tabled for legal advice.

The Evelina Street question came under discussion again, and the Council was informed that Messrs. Gordon Cruise and Roland Audet have made an agreement for the property in question to straighten the street. Aldermen MacRae and Church reported Mr. Cruise had agreed to sell 28 feet of the property in question to the town, under the usual conditions, if he could take over the Audet commitment to pay for the sewers installed on the same basis. The mayor and secretary-treasurer were authorized to sign the deed with Mr. Cruise.

The acting secretary-treasurer, Jacques Poitras, was authorized to sign cheques and other necessary documents and was informed that the additional remuneration to Messrs. Jos. Senecal and Simard Larocque for snow-removal duties would cease April 29.

Disused Theatre Being Re-vamped For New Store

Repairs and renovations to the former Rex Theatre building, Main Street, are presently being made by the firm of H. M. Lavigne Inc. who recently purchased the building.

Details as to date of opening and the line of goods to be carried, are not certain to date, but it is expected the management of this local department store will make their plans known in the not too distant future. There is every indication of an attractive addition to the Main Street shopping section.

With other necessary alterations, a new and modern store front and interior decoration theme will be added to the building.

Stars of Ayers Ltd. TV Show Guests of Sponsors

Billy O'Conner and "Our Pet" Juliette, stars of the weekly Ayers-sponsored Billy O'Conner TV Show, were escorted through the Ayers Limited plant here by President Gilbert E. Ayers last Friday. A-Bomb and Civil Defence Discussed in Relation to Lachute and Brownsburg

Practical Survey of Local Possibilities In Address to Brownsburg Rotary Club

Brownsburg — At last week's meeting of the Rotary Club, the subject under consideration was Civil Defence.

Mickey Cowley, spokesman of the local ham radio club, made a few good points about the use of radio in an emergency.

He pointed out that while many people think Civil Defence would be useless in the event of a third war, this view is very narrow-minded. Civil Defence, after all, need not be confined to political enemies. Their activities could be directed towards less frightening emergencies.

Since 1913, the airwaves have been undoubtedly the best means of communication in emergencies of all kinds. Mr. Cowley offered the services of the club to any Civil Defence unit that may be formed, for use in war emergencies or weather disaster. "There is no part of the world too far away for even a home transmitter to reach." Naturally this service would be a great asset to Civil Defence.

Major Constantineau, of Arnprior, Ont., gave an interesting talk on the necessity of Civil Defence, which belied his claim that he had no intention to propagate the formation of a local unit. He said he merely wanted to present the facts, which he did in an eye-opening manner. But the facts were overpowering in their insistence that, without Civil Defence, a major catastrophe could snowball into the end of civilization.

The Major insisted though, that a Civil Defence based on fear was a negative quantity, and should be based instead on a common-sense appraisal of the probable sequence of events. He seemed fairly well convinced that a third world war would involve thermo-nuclear weapons. General Grunther stated recently with some authority, "In the event of a Russian attack we will retaliate with thermo-nuclear weapons."

North America's immunity to air attack is now a thing of the past, and it would be naive to say the least, for us to imagine that air attacks would not be directed at the U.S. and Canada. It is known that Russia has intercontinental aircraft based within a few hours' flying time of many U.S. cities, and an air attack directed at the U.S. Atlantic seaboard would pass over Montreal in transit.

Technical advances have placed the population on the front-line and made tremendous devastation inevitable, should war break out. These things, however, do not make Civil Defence a helpless waste. In fact, the seriousness only makes the necessity for preparedness more urgent.

Major Constantineau outlined the actual threat: There would be conventional weapons, of course, with the distinct possibility of bacteriological and chemical warfare. A and H bombs could not be overlooked.

The actual damage problem would not probably affect Brownsburg or Lachute, as even an H-bomb in Montreal would lose its blast and immediate radiation effect in 20 miles. The other big danger is the radio-active fallout, which would cause 100% casualties to the unsheltered, 50% to those who remained indoors, 10% to basement dwellers, and no effect on people who seek refuge in prescribed shelters. Although this fall-out hazard is remote because of the prevailing wind directions it cannot be overlooked, and preparations should be made. A cigar-shaped cloud 150 miles long 20-40 miles thick at a height of 8-16 miles would provide the destructive fall-out particles.

The main use of a Civil Defence in this area though, would be to minimize loss of life and property damage, but even more important to re-organize the surviving population. Our way of life may be completely destroyed, but our civilization need suffer no harmful effects if a properly-organized rehabilitation program were put into effect.

Local people would be required at an hour's notice to absorb an influx of new residents. Utilities and facilities would have to accommodate triple the population. The traffic problem would be beyond our wildest foreboding. Food, shelter, clothing and medical attention would have to be supplied to refugees, and our fire and law-enforcement departments would have to operate at triple effort. Communications would have to be maintained at all cost. . . In this respect the ham radio men may well be the key men in the community. The tremendous task of rebuilding would probably be the easiest accomplished if these more immediate problems were licked.

"To decide whether to organize or not," said Major Constantineau, "is up to the Mayor. But I would outline the necessary steps. A plan of disaster operation must be formulated, where one person would have full authority to say 'we must do this' or 'we must not do that.'

"Civil Defence is not a hobby for a few. It is not a dream. It is the duty of every member of the population to know how to re-organize. Economy may be later necessity. Industry must begin."

The Major ended on a hopeful note with the question: "May Peace forever be Our Lot?"

Anti-Mosquito Drive Staged at Rosemere

Rosemere — the annual anti-mosquito campaign at Rosemere began recently when powerful mechanical sprayers, mounted on a municipal truck, were used to spread a deadly mist of DDT over swampy areas in the hope of killing all mosquito larvae. The spraying of all areas along streets and roads continued for several days and this will be followed by a further attack with hand sprayers and "bombs" to cover all potential mosquito breeding spots which cannot be otherwise treated.

Stalwart Lion, Horace Lamarche, Named Deputy District Governor

Contacts in Wider Sphere Of Lionism Prove Lachute Definitely "On the Map"

Aid Extended in Various Local Needs; Events Planned For Public Participation

Highlight of the regular Lions Club meeting, Tuesday evening at the Legion Hall, was the unanimous pleasure expressed in Horace Lamarche's appointment as International Deputy District Governor. Lion Lamarche was elected to the office last Friday at a Zone Rally in Montreal West.

President Roger Regimbal, in the chair, extended warm congratulations, to which the D.D.G.-elect made fitting reply — claiming this as a tribute to Lachute's record in Lionism, rather than a personal honor.

A resumé of the report on Lachute's activities, as presented by Secretary Phil Tremblay to the rally, indeed reflected creditably on the local Lions — with an average attendance of 75.7% this season, a substantial increase in membership, and worthwhile contributions in many phases of community service. . . . President Regimbal thought the members might feel justly proud; and from impressions in the provincial sphere of Lionism, it was evident Lachute was definitely "on the map".

Lion Dr. F. W. FitzGerald reported satisfactorily on the Easter Seals campaign for cripples. Along this line of service, the Club voted to purchase a wheelchair for loan to a handicapped resident.

Lion Dr. Eric Mongeon accepted an assignment as Lions' representative to reorganize the "Little Major League" of baseball juveniles this season.

Assistance was voted towards equipment for the Loisirs Ste. Anastasie, now supervised by clerics of the Catholic High School staff.

The president cited a striking example of charity at work, when an appeal has been received for an out-of-town surgical case requiring a plastic eye. A meeting of the Lions directors was hastily summoned, a Health and Welfare committeeman sent to investigate, and a sum voted towards costs of the eye surgery — all within a few hours, under stress of urgency.

A ladies' night was tentatively arranged for May 19, when the New York official International Convention film will be shown. Lion Ernest Snadden is committee chairman for this program.

The usual fund-raising booth will be booked for Lachute Fair Week, and a tombola was agreed upon as a major project later this year.

It is hoped to receive a reciprocal visit from the Ile Bigras club on June 7 — Lion Leopold Carrière having charge of these inter-club contacts.

The lengthy session was replete with club affairs, and considerable business was discussed.

Co'y Anniversary Celebrated Here by Phone Employees

Some 60 Bell Telephone employees from Lachute gathered in Grenville last Friday night to celebrate the 75th anniversary of the company which was founded on April 29, 1880.

The banquet was organized by the J. E. Macpherson Council, Telephone Pioneers of America, as part of a company-wide observance of the anniversary by employees. Over 13,000 telephone workers attended similar gatherings held simultaneously at over 30 points throughout the Bell's Ontario-Quebec territory. Loudspeakers, linked by a telephone network, were set up at each point to carry a special program of speeches, greetings and music from various centres in both provinces.

Early in the evening, salutations from R. W. Brown, chairman of the event in Grenville, were heard in Belleville, Brockville, Cornwall, Kingston, Ottawa and Pembroke where similar celebrations were in progress. Local centres continued to exchange "best wishes" over regional hook-ups until all local groups joined the company-wide network.

Greetings were then heard from Montreal, Ottawa, Toronto, Hamilton and London, Ontario.

Frederick Johnson, chairman of the board, addressed the group over the company-wide network from Montreal. He said that when the Bell came into being 75 years ago, it had only 2,000 customers in its entire system, or as many as it now serves in either the town of Ste. Agathe, Quebec, or Midland, Ontario. Today, the company has 2,300,000 telephones in service in its Ontario-Quebec territory.

On behalf of the thousands of women employees, Miss Jacqueline Louise Martin, a Montreal long distance operator, proposed a toast to the company in French, followed by Gordon Boultbee, of Brantford, Ontario, a plant craftsman, who proposed a toast in English on behalf of all male employees.

Responding to the toasts, Thomas W. Eadie, president of the Bell Company, spoke from Ottawa. "Seventy-five years ago today, our company was born right here in Ottawa," he said. "An Act of Parliament creating our company received royal assent. That birth established a new family which today binds together some 34,000 employees and thousands of Bell pensioners.

"Today is a milestone on the road of service which telephone people over three quarters of a century have chosen to tread. A journey which demands diligence and effort and sacrifice too, but which offers in return great opportunities for lasting satisfaction. The road still lies ahead and the horizon becomes more inspiring all the time."

Observer Corps Field Exercise

Some 50 members of the local Ground Observer Corps met at the Legion Hall Sunday for the first exercise held by the local organization. Short wave radio sets were assembled and sent to the various posts in the area, along with radio crews and post staff members.

Preliminary difficulties were ascertained and cleared up through this exercise, and it is expected that better reception will be established in the next post-to-headquarters experiment.

Final details were discussed for the Saturday evening dance sponsored by the Corps, and a general invitation to all citizens was extended. (This first social event of the group is being held in the Legion Hall, Lachute, this Saturday, May 7, at 8 p.m.)

Bar Association Annual Meeting

The annual meting of the Laurentide Bar Association was held Monday at the Court House in Joliette, with members of the legal profession in attendance from Terrebonne and Joliette districts.

Officers elected for the ensuing year were as follows:

Batonnier, Raymond Raymond, St. Jerome.

Syndic, Fernand Legault, QC, Lachute.

Secretary, R. Majeau, Joliette.

Treasurer, Henri Prevost, St. Jerome.

Councillors, Paul Larose, St. Jerome; Claude Dugas and M. Hetu, Joliette.

Barn Meeting By 4-H Club

The Lachute 4-H Calf Club held a meeting at the farm of Arnold Parker, Lachute Road, last Thursday evening.

With the president, Donald Parker, and secretary-treasurer, Donald McOuat in charge, the members approved the minutes of the last meeting. They also approved the motion that the club continue as a member of the Argenteuil Film Circuit for another year.

Mr. Donald Robertson, Federal Livestock Fieldman, then gave a demonstration on the good qualities of a dairy-type cow. The members were divided into three groups, each group judging four cows and giving reasons for their placings. The leaders of the respective groups were Donald Robertson, John Oswald and Kenneth McOuat.

The Club Leader, Ross Oswald, thanked Mr. Parker for the use of his barn and his kind co-operation. The meeting was adjourned after a successful and interesting session.

Cancer Campaign, County-wide, Opens Next Week

The Canadian Cancer Society, Argenteuil Section, will hold its canvass for funds next week, under the Campaign chairmanship of Roger Lagarde. Campaign treasurer is W. J. Buckley, who reports the local objective has been set at $5,000.

Although the Argenteuil Section will be well organized for a personal canvass, any who are not personally approached are requested to mail or hand their contribution to the treasurer, Mr. Buckley, at the Bank of Nova Scotia, Lachute.

Statistics show that one out of every seven deaths in Canada is due to cancer, and 1955 will see the most extensive and diversified research program ever undertaken by the Canadian Cancer Society and the National Institute of Canada.

In 17 universities, hospitals and research centres from Prince Edward Island to the Pacific Coast, some of our most brilliant men and women are working to solve the riddle of what causes cancer. In 1954 more than $500,000 was spent in Canada on cancer research and of this amount nearly one-third went to universities and hospitals in the Province of Quebec.

The 1955 program while already in the blue-print stage, would depend largely on results of the nation-wide appeal by the Canadian Cancer Society now underway.

Dr. Lyman Duff of McGill University said that the interest in cancer research shown by graduating students was remarkable. "We are building up a fine group of research workers in every province. We must support their work so that they may go ahead unhampered by financial considerations."

Dr. Duff said that in the Province of Quebec the National Cancer Institute aided by funds from the Canadian Cancer Society was supporting four research fellowships and seventeen cancer research projects in three universities and three hospitals. The universities were McGill, the University of Montreal and Laval University in Quebec. Hospitals conducting these research projects were the Royal Victoria, the Montreal General and Notre Dame Hospital.

At McGill, Dr. Duff said, three doctors are studying lung cancer, a professor of surgery is also conducting experiments on the pituitary gland and its relation to cancer, and another doctor was studying leukemia (blood cancer) while a team of two other researchers were studying tumor cells.

Two University of Montreal doctors were conducting two other important cancer research projects.

The interesting nutritional problem of cancer cell growth was being studied at Laval. Laval was also the site of a series of experiments to determine blood changes of cancerous patients.

VISIT TO ISRAEL

Montreal (CP) — A shield bearing the Canadian coat of arms has left for Israel, where it will be placed in Canada Hall. Mrs. D. P. Gottlieb, national president of Canadian Hassah, before leaving for Israel was presented with the shield by Mrs. William Riven, national vice-president. More than 100 Canadians were to leave by special plane May 4 to attend at the official dedication.

VALUABLE COINS

Toronto (CP) — Pre-confederation coins and historic currency notes were among exhibits by the Toronto Coin Club for national coin week. Also included was old Hudson's Bay Company currency in sterling.

Death Removes Pioneer Citizen and Business Man

Late Wm. M. Scott Was Former Mayor, Active In Many Civic Spheres

An old and well known citizen, William M. Scott, member of one of this community's pioneer families, died at his home in the East Ward on April 27, in his 83rd year. Mr. Scott was proprietor of the Lachute Marble and Granite Works for the past 50 years.

Born in the Seigniory in 1872, he was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Scott. He spent all his life in the district, with the exception of seven years spent in Bozeman, Montana. He was married to Jeanie Rodger, who predeceased him 12 years ago.

The late Wm. ("Bill") Scott took an active part in public and church affairs. He served as alderman of the town, and was elected for a two-year term as mayor in 1923. He was a life member of the Masonic Order and acted as co-chairman of the War Loan Campaign during the last war. Ardent in the political affairs of the county, he was president of the Conservative party organization for a number of years.

Mr. Scott is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Angus Taylor, Mrs. D. D. McOuat, and Margaret; his son, Arnold Scott; a brother, John Scott; and five grandchildren.

The funeral service, held at Lachute United Church on Saturday was very largely attended. A profusion of flowers bore testimony of the community's esteem. The Rev. J. R. Watson, of Cushing, officiated, and pall-bearers were — Messrs. Erskine Rodger, Leonard Scott, Neal Moore, Ross Muir, Owen Riddell and Douglas Rodger. Burial was in Lachute Cemetery.

Brownsburg Council — Fire Hazards And Protest on Traffic Violation Ticket

Brownsburg — At the regular council meting Fire Chief A. Robbins reported a chimney fire at J. Lepage's house on March 8, no damage having resulted. On March 18, $15 damage was incurred at Guenette's Store, when the chimney cracked. Also $400 damage resulted when a mechanic at a service station was smoking while working on the transmission of the truck. Smart thinking saved the day, when they quickly towed the truck out of the garage. For the second visit in the month, a flooded oilstove brought the firemen to the home of J. Lepage.

The Fire Chief then brought to the Council's notice a paragraph from one of the city newspapers outlining the severe penalties being tailored to fit anyone responsible for forest fires. Any man between 18 and 55 who refuses to help in fighting a forest fire will be severely punished.

The Chief then asked for advice on how to apprehend local burning-ground beachcombers. This practice of picking and selling scrap is not only illegal at the burning-grounds, but also dangerous. The Company intends to prosecute the culprit.

The Mayor assured Mr. Robbins that if the C-I-L police catch the people involved, the problem is theirs insofar as the prosecution is concerned, but the town cell would be at their disposal, and the town policeman would escort them and their prisoners on the public streets.

Mr. Tom Hall was present to draw attention to the forest fire hazard created by burning at the dump. He suggested that a fire-break be built and that the garbage be covered weekly with sand and earth. The Council promised to survey the situation Tuesday evening and take action at the adjourned portion of the meeting.

Police Chief Parent reported issuing 25 warning tickets, 1 speed ticket, 2 for red light infringements and 2 for parking. Also 31 bicycle licenses were issued. From amusement tax returns, it is of interest to note that the average attendance Friday evenings at the square dances is still over 200.

The Chief urged the Council to have the white lines painted on the streets this week and put up the necessary road signs. He also suggested that the movie-theatre owners be given "No Parking" signs to put up outside the theatres at every performance, to keep the curb clear in case of an emergency.

Lachute Citizen Protests Traffic Ticket

Mr. Stewart Jones addressed the Council, complaining that he had been wrongfully given a ticket for failing to stop at the stop-sign on St. Joseph at Main. Mr. Jones pointed out that as an insurance salesman he had made it a point never to merit a traffic ticket, and it was a matter of principle rather than the $2 which prompted him to come from Lachute to fight the matter. The councillors were sympathetic and no doubt believing of Mr. Jones' story, but reluctant to reverse the relief policeman's judgment. But when Mr. Jones pointed out that the license number on the ticket differed from his in every numeral, there was no hesitation about cancelling the ticket. The Mayor concluded the matter by saying, "We think our policemen are correct in 99 per cent of cases. This one was the other one per cent."

The secretary, Emile Hebert, read a letter of resignation from Councillor Sam Rose, who had until May 1956 to sit in council. His position will be filled by someone appointed by the other councillors till the termination of Mr. Rose's office.

Wednesday, May 11, will be nomination day for the new slate of councillors, with election day set for May 16.

Supermarket For Hawkesbury

Construction of a new $100,000 IGA Foodliner began in Hawkesbury recently, the first of its kind to be established in this area.

Located at John and Main Streets on premises previously owned by Dr. H. Kirby, it will provide free parking facilities for 120 cars.

It is expected to be open for business on August 1.

Workmen have also started demolishing the Presbyterian manse and the St. Louis residence to make way for a modern store which will be occupied by Thrift Super-Market.

Sales Manager

Gatineau Lines

MORE ABOUT THE CAMPANY'S ANNUAL REPORT

To meet the increasing demand for power throughout the territory served by the Company, a new 47,000 h.p. hydro-electric generating unit will be installed during 1955 in the Paugan hydro-electric plant on the Gatineau River. Preparatory work on the project is already well under way.

A 60,000 kva. transformer and two 20,000 kw electric-steam boilers are being installed at the Canadian International Paper Company's Gatineau Mill, to increase the facilities for the manufacture of steam during periods when surplus power is available.

A double circuit 11,000 volt pole line was constructed in the City of Hull to provide electricity for the new Federal printing bureau, and to supply the north-eastern part of Hull through a new substation to be built in 1955.

Voltage was increased on the lines at Lacolle and St. Jacques le Mineur. Voltage regulators were installed at Ripon, Labelle, Ste. Julienne and St. Jacques le Mineur. Static capacitors were installed at 29 locations on the distribution system.

The single-phase 11,000 volt rural distribution system north-east of Chenneville was converted to three phase in order to provide more capacity for Namur, St. Emile and Lac des Plages.

Don't Kill Them All

Proper control of predatory animals and birds does not mean their complete destruction, advises F. M. McCormick, executive director of the Canadian Civilian Association of Marksmen.

Mr. McCormick says that all animals and birds have their place in nature and it is only when their population level gets out of all proportion that control is necessary. Pointing to starlings as an example, he says that this species of bird has become a nightmare with many urban civic authorities. Lacking a natural enemy and thriving in settled areas where shooting is forbidden, the starling quickly went out of control. Pigeons are a similar nuisance in many locations.

Coyotes, foxes and even skunks have become so numerous in many parts of Canada, they form a threat to farmers' livestock and poultry and have to be controlled. In other areas, gophers, groundhogs and jackrabbits are in the predator class which offer good off season hunting to varmint rifle enthusiasts. The crow and magpie are a couple of winged marauders which have been steadily getting out of hand in recent years and also provide good sport for nimrods. While admittedly these birds do eat harmful insects, their piracy far outweighs their virtues, Mr. McCormick says.

Feeding Value In Pasture

Ottawa — Pasture has long been regarded as a source of highly nutritious feed. It is not surprising that many studies have shown feed value of pasture to be high in the spring and lower as the pasture dries up in summer. However, recent studies made at the Experimental Farm, Nappan, N.S., Federal Department of Agriculture indicate that the feeding value of a pasture can be greatly influenced by the mixture used to seed the pasture.

Eighteen different pasture mixtures were compared over a three year period for yield and nutritive value as indicated by protein and fibre content of the forage. A straight timothy pasture averaged only 13.5 per cent crude protein and supplied approximately 150 pounds of crude protein per acre. The addition of red clover to the mixture raised the crude protein level to 16.2 per cent and more than doubled the per acre production of protein. One of the best mixtures considering both yield and protein content consisted of timothy, red clover, Rhizoma alfalfa, and alsike clover. The pasture from this mixture was 18.5 per cent crude protein on a dry matter basis and produced 428 pounds of crude protein to the acre.

Fibre content of the forage did not vary so much for the different seed mixtures. Those including approximately equal quantities of grass and legume seed were low in fibre compared with timothy.

For the most productive pasture in terms of both yield and nutrient value it is important to select a seed mixture containing a good proportion of adapted legumes.

Feed Seldom Cause Of Poultry Losses

Harmful ingredients in feeds are rarely the cause of serious declining performance or mortality in poultry flocks, states C. R. Philips of the Plant Products Division of the Federal Department of Agriculture. When losses occur, a few affected birds should be submitted to a poultry pathologist for laboratory examination, because the cause of death in nearly all cases is disease.

It is recognized that poultry diets are sometimes deficient in vitamins and minerals, which may affect the health of the birds. Such health changes, however, do not occur overnight, and an observant poultryman will notice these changes before they reach serious proportions.

A change of feed when an outbreak of disease has arisen in the flock, has often been credited for the control. Actually the disease has run its course as it would have done on the original feed and valuable time is lost when corrective action probably could have been taken had a poultry specialist been notified.

Old Steam Tractor Will Earn Its Keep

Dutton, Ont. (CP) — Dr. M. G. Graham, who admits a weakness for steam engines, recently bought a 31-year-old steam tractor for $600. The value as scrap is a lot less than that.

"It's value is almost 100 percent sentimental," says Dr. Graham.

He already has an old threshing machine built in 1924. "I thought it might be lonesome," he said.

The steam tractor is not going to wind up as a museum piece at the Graham farm.

"That machine's going to have to earn its keep, if only to pay for spare parts which will have to be made specially for it," said the doctor.

Runs Perfectly

On the morning the tractor was due to be transferred to his Lambton County farm Dr. Graham was on hand to supervise the loading on an eight-wheeled truck trailer.

The tractor runs perfectly but it had to be loaded on the truck with a winch because of ice on the ground. The tractor is one of the last machines turned out before the switch to internal combustion replaced the steam machine.

The former owner never used the machine for plowing. He hooked it up to his greenhouse and used it as a heating unit. When he installed a regular heating system he decided to part with the tractor.

GOOD CATTLE

Saskatoon (CP) — Good prices were realized at Saskatoon Exhibition's third annual cattle sale. Forty-three Grade A bulls brought a total of $26,305, an average of $612.

TWINS AGAIN

Chilliwack, B.C. (CP) — Twin calves were born for the fourth year in a row to the same Holstein cow on the farm of Aesoph Eckert. They were a bull and a heifer, the same as in 1952. Last year the twins were heifers.

There is said to be a Chinese proverb something like this: "If you plan for a year, sow grain; if you plan for ten years, plant trees; if you plan for 100 years, grow men."

'Moving Day' and Council Session

Authorization was granted to the Bell Telephone Company to install the recommended services for the new civic headquarters; the total monthly rental cost of this equipment not including long distance tolls, would be $78.05.

Many Bids and Tenders For Consideration

Numerous tenders were opened and considered — the first being for cast-iron water pipes. The tender from R. McArthur & Son to supply 1,000 feet of 6-inch pipe with mechanical joints for $2.05, was accepted. The tender stipulated that the pipe would be delivered when the roads were opened to heavy vehicles. Lucien St. Jacques also submitted a tender for the pipe.

Offers of $185 for the Victoria Hall furnace and $60 for the large steel Auditorium furnace were received from Ligouri Chevrier and J. H. Derouin, respectively, the prices including accessories, and the oilburner in the former case. It was moved that the furnaces be sold to these bidders.

No tenders were received for the sidewalk scrapers.

Four tenders to supply traffic paint were submitted, the lowest being from John McFaul & Son, who were awarded the order for their first-quality paint. Other bids were received from Farmers' Supply, T. McOuat & Son Ltd., and Arc Supply, and ranged from $3.50 quoted by John McFaul & Son, to $5.95 per gallon.

No tenders were received for the transfer of the police radio equipment, although a representative of Canadian Marconi Company was present and quoted a price of $271 to transfer the equipment to the new building and supply and install the necessary antenna, tower, and additional radio telephone extension. It was stipulated that an additional charge of $4 an hour would be made for any time spent in inspection and repairs of the mobile sets, if the Council thought this necessary.

The request for additional radio telephone extension, bringing the total to four instruments, provoked considerable discussion, and the Council was informed by Mr. Desisle, Canadian Marconi representative, that such addition would improve the efficiency of the police force considerably. He also tendered a price on new and more modern equipment. The tender to transfer present equipment, and to supply the additional equipment, was accepted on a motion by Ald. R. Desjardins, seconded by Ald. Ross Muir.

Five local firms quoted to supply Venetian blinds and drapes for the new Town Hall. Tenders were received from H. M. Lavigne Inc., J. W. Lefebvre Ltd., Lamarche Furniture Store, Lachute Flooring Reg., and Gaetan Blais — the prices ranging from $320.75 to as high as $683.70. The matter was left for study with the building committee, on a motion by Ald. D. G. MacRae, seconded by Ald. Romain Desjardins.

Tenders received from Walker-Kingsbury Inc., and Office Stationery, Montreal, to supply chairs for the offices in the new building, were also tabled for study by the building committee.

Mayor Dr. FitzGerald offered a suggestion that the corporation pay a monthly retainer fee to a lawyer who, thus retained by the corporation, could take no action against them for another party. Questions and discussion followed, and the suggestion was tabled for further study.

Building permits were granted to Phil Filion and Wilfrid Belair for houses on Sydney Street, under the supervision of the roads committee.

A letter from Legion Branch 70, Lachute, asking for a donation to assist in offsetting taxes, was tabled for study at next meeting when the amount of last year's donation would be available.

A letter signed jointly by W. Paul and R. Quesnel, requesting repairs to the sidewalks on Bedard Blvd., from Main Street to the Quesnel home, and from the Quesnel home to Evelina Street, was turned over to the roads committee chairman, Ald. D. G. MacRae.

A letter from Roland Menard requesting payment for a funeral a local family unable to meet the expense, was refused for the second time. In the previous instance, the request had come direct from the family. The amount was set at $199.77 by Mr. Menard.

The acting secretary-treasurer was authorized to hire additional help on a temporary basis, at 75 cents an hour, for office work.

A vote of sympathy was expressed to the family of the late H. Mossman Gall, who served as Mayor of Lachute from 1927-29, and on motion of Ald. Ross Muir and Ald. Edgar Pollock, it was moved a letter of sympathy and a floral tribute be sent from the Council.

The session was then adjourned.

In Police Court At L'Orignal

Hawkesbury — Z. Leblanc, of Brownsburg, paid a $10 fine and costs for reckless driving in L'Orignal County last week.

Leblanc was driving west on Regent Street, Hawkesbury, when he collided with a car driven by Roger Trottier, causing damage of $175 to his car and $550 to Trottier's

For having a slot machine, a Hawkesbury merchant paid a fine of $100 and costs and the slot machine was confiscated.

Needless Slaughter

FROM NOW until the end of September, more than 1,000 Canadians will die needlessly on the country's highways and streets.

Since 1945, more Canadians have been killed on the roads than were killed in all the land battles of the Second World War and in Korea.

The Canadian Good Roads Association is the authority for the road casualty estimates.

One Canadian dies in a traffic accident every three hours.

Fifty-six Canadians die on the roads every week, or about 225 every month.

In 1953 the traffic death toll was almost 3,000 — the highest since the Second World War.

Most of those deaths could have been avoided.

In an effort to cut the toll, the Association has called Canada's first highway safety conference in Ottawa May 24-26. Federal, provincial, municipal, business and industrial representatives will try to set up a national program of remedial action.

The program will be aimed at both motorists and pedestrians. Both groups are involved in the highway death and injury toll.

The amazing thing is that such a program should be necessary.

Every Canadian knows the traffic toll is heavy. The newspapers — particularly on Mondays and on days after statutory holidays — are full of accident stories.

But the normal reaction is "It won't happen to me."

That isn't safe or intelligent. Even the most careful driver can be involved in an accident through no fault of his own.

Now the Canadian Good Roads Association has set up five committees to study the safety factors in highway and vehicle design and traffic control; law and police practices; methods of vehicle inspection, licensing and accident records; education in and out of the schools; and public information and community safety education.

The two last-named probably can do the most to reduce highway accidents. When motorists and pedestrians are more safety-conscious, the number of accidents will automatically decrease.

Community Concerts Need Your Support

IF PERSONAL preference in entertainment is not enough to enlist your enthusiasm in Community Concerts, we commend the following thoughts as an impetus to your enrolment, and to your effort to induce newcomers in the approaching membership campaign. . .

In the abstract, a world without music would be unlovely to visualize, for music is a universal medium of pleasure and expression. And in its tangible implications, this very fact commands YOUR effort to promote its welfare. Community Concerts provide an easy and simple means of extending your encouragement.

Music is important not only for our own esthetic wellbeing, but also for our children. Indeed, if we fail to foster and encourage music today, it may deteriorate tomorrow, and in the unseen tomorrows may fall eventually into the discard — yes, in the future generations of Lachute and elsewhere.

Television is presented as a strong argument against Concert participation. To any who would compare the two (television and stage recitals) we might point out these facts:

(1) The TV program is chosen for a crosscut of audience-intelligence, whereas the stage artist, in the case of Community Concerts, is selected to YOUR choice.

(2) Similarly, as a televiewer you have no personal participation in the program. Lacking the least effort either to sponsor or to attend it, your interest is apathetic, to say the least.

(3) As a televiewer also, you experience no contact with the artist's personality. There is no vibrant, living communication such as was exemplified, for instance, in the spirit, the tempo, the depth of dimension in the performance of a Spanish dance team on the local stage this season.

(4) Any admiration or approval you may sense in listening to the concert artist, prompts the reasoning that he is there, climbing the ladder, because of public support. Community Concerts are a training ground for still greater achievements — in turn made possible by public sympathy. And the knowledge that you, too, are encouraging these fine artists, must add unconsciously to your enjoyment. . . Without such public understanding, incidentally, there would be no outstanding TV artists either!

So — if you have read thus far, the probability is that you need no convincing. But if you are sincere in your interest, and anxious for your friends to share Community Concerts, you will find no lack of argument to persuade the dubious.

Do your share — and here's anticipating a record membership for 1955-56.

Spring Song

ABOUT THE only unsightly things we see about us in spring, are man-made — drab houses; grey, weather-beaten barns; broken down fences; weed infested yards and roadways.

While such eyesores are more evident in large urban centres where buildings are tightly concentrated, they can also be seen in many rural areas — but spread over more square miles.

Man, however, is trying to do something about eliminating them. In Canada each spring an annual beautification campaign is conducted, urging citizens to clean up and paint up their properties. This year it officially starts on May 15. . . . Lachute for many years has had its Clean-Up Week promoted by the Chamber of Commerce, but we should not wait for special events to stir us into cleaning our surroundings. And if there is no official campaign here this spring, there's no reason why, individually, we cannot start one — get our neighbors infected and enthused — set an example for our fellow householders — and so help make Canada a beautiful place, not only for Canadians but for our guests and visitors too.

Boy, Some Country!

HERE'S A PACKAGE that'll do your heart good! Wrapped in the words of a contributor, its sentiments deserve publicizing — and only as we lay claim to the same self-scrutiny with consciousness of our shortcomings, do we feel justified in reproducing it in this column.

Recently (writes Ambrose Hills, "Of Many Things") I was lucky enough to travel across most of Canada. It left me with a good feeling. Perhaps the best way to describe the feeling I have about the country is to quote a tall and husky farmer who sat across from me in one of the CPR's thrilling new vistadome trains. He said, "Boy — she's some country!"

Yes, Canada is some country! In every city, homes seem to have sprung up by the thousands. I was told by a contractor that since the end of World War II, Canadians have built over three-quarters of a million homes, worth about eight billion dollars. They provide good living quarters for about three million people.

Almost everywhere I travelled there was an air of confidence, and an optimistic vision of the future. I suggested to one Manitoba farmer that things were not going quite so well. He came right back at me. He told me that the farm income of Canada last year was $2,408,589,000 compared with $2,741,252,000 the year before; but that there were increases in every province except Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta. He pointed out that these are the grain provinces, and the only reason for the lower cash income there was that the government was unable to sell the surpluses. He proudly told me that as far as the farmers were concerned, they could do their end of the job. He implied that with a little bit of vigorous salesmanship, surpluses could be disposed of.

I chatted with a businessman at the corner of Portage and Main in Winnipeg. He was optimistic too. He told me that the West was rapidly becoming industrialized, and that if they were not forced to compete with cheap overseas labor and an influx of distress merchandise, Western manufacturers could create plenty of jobs to put an end to the unemployment situation.

Only one thing remained just about the same in all the countryside. The wide open spaces are still there. Farmers are still finding it hard to get help. The immigration situation may have improved — but in this big country of ours it scarcely shows up at all.

Anyhow, all things considered, it's a land to be proud of. This year, spend your holidays in Canada and look about you. You'll come back home with a new pride in the greatness of your own nation.

According to the law, Canada's family allowance payments must be spent exclusively for the maintenance, care, training, education and advancement of children.

"EXIT PERCY"

Percy is dead!

The talkative and lovable parrot that has been my worthy companion for over a year left me last week as quickly as he arrived. And his departure was, I assure you, just as unexpected as his arrival.

You may recall that the old bird had a rather serious bout of laryngitis last summer. It was a lingering illness and he never really got over it. During this past winter, he brooded a great deal and he seldom spoke. When solicitous enquiries were made as to his general well-being, he merely cackled at the enquirer and went about his business. He lost all interest in the pleasures of life that he delighted in of old. In a word, he lost his old oomph!

On Thursday last, as I set out for the office, I went to attend to Percy and see that he was set for the day. He was sleeping when I uncovered the cage but had awakened by the time I had completed recharging his seed and water dishes. When that was done, I put on my coat and turned to give him my usual greeting.

"Ta-ta for now, Percy old boy!" I said.

"I wish it were," he replied, dreamily, "I wish it were."

"Wish it were what?"

"Just 'ta-ta for now.' I'm afraid it's going to be more than that, Geoff."

"More than that? How come?"

"I'm afraid it's going to be good-bye. I won't be around when you come home tonight."

This news rather rocked me and I hastened to open the door and bring Percy out of his cage to rest on my hand.

"What's the matter, old man? I hope I haven't neglected you or upset you in any way. If I have, I'm dreadfully sorry and I'll do anything you say to make it up again."

"No," Percy replied. "You've been the soul of hospitality and I've enjoyed every minute of my stay with you. I only wish I could stick around for many years to come."

"Well then, why don't you?"

"Can't old boy. Dreadfully sorry but it just can't be. I've got a date to do a spot of travelling in the next day or so. I tried to put it off as long as possible, but it can't be delayed any longer. And, once I set out, I'm afraid I won't be back. So, take care of yourself and have fun and . . ."

"And?"

". . . thanks for everything. You've been swell!"

Percy tucked his head under his wing at this point, so I returned him to his cage, shut the door, and tip-toed out of the room. During the day at the office, I pondered over Percy's proposed trip. Where would he go? Who would look after him? Why couldn't he come back after it was over? Since Percy was the only one who could answer these questions, I decided to forget about them, pro tem, and put them to the bird on my return home in the evening.

As I came in the door, Percy greeted me faintly.

"Hello, Geoff," he said, "come here quickly, will you?"

I hurried over to his cage.

"What is it?"

"I've only got a minute or two before they come to pick me up. I just wanted you to know that I'm not all you think I am," he wheezed. "Actually, I'm a fraud. You think I'm a young bird, don't you? Well, I'm far from it. Today, I celebrate my 107th birthday by passing from this world to the next."

He closed his eyes as he finished his speech.

"T.T.F.N.," he said weakly.

"T.T.F.N.? What do you mean by that?"

"Ta-ta for now! What else?"

So saying, he gave a slight shudder, and toppled from his perch.

I buried Percy the same evening. He lies under the rose bush in the little garden at the back of the apartment, where the poor lad had hoped to sun himself when summer rolled around. I rather imagine that the roses will be exceptionally beautiful this year.

A Seasonal Occurrence

It seems at this time each year there is a round of cat and dog poisoning, and already some news items have appeared of this happening in some districts. . .

We would like to take this opportunity of warning those who may seek the above method of getting rid of what they may term a nuisance, that it is a criminal offence. There are two sections of the Criminal Code of Canada dealing with this subject. One numbered Article 542 provides a maximum fine of $500 for anyone caught being cruel to animals in any way or of trying to cause death by any means. Another, Article 536, provides a prison term of up to 2 years for attempts to kill or poison animals, or of placing poison so that it can be taken by some animal or persons. In the latter case there is no fine. After the bout mentioned, the police are on the alert for any similar happenings in this area.

If an animal is a nuisance there are other means of abating the nuisance in a lawful manner and the law must not be taken into any one's own hands.

BUSINESS BOOSTER

Five-per-cent reduction in automobile taxes should give the car dealers a big shot in the arm. There still is plenty of tax on the auto but the recent move by Finance Minister Harris is a step in the right direction. Reduction in income tax also is an encouraging move.

OUTSTANDING TOWNS

Most of the downtown areas of our cities and many towns are badly congested just because the builders did not look ahead. There are few parks and often these are neglected. And to the casual motorist at least, the great majority of them look exactly alike. Towns and cities that are really different and attractive in Canada stand out like a peacock in a barnyard filled with Plymouth Rocks.

TREAT 'EM RIGHT

Just treat our tourists as we would like to be treated when visiting their country. If we do this it will not be too long before the word gets around that we not only have the most beautiful lakes and mountains to be found, but we also have the friendliest people.

TWO CATEGORIES

One characteristic of the present unemployment situation is that the untrained, under-educated worker has the most trouble. Then there are those whose skills have been cut into. It has been suggested that these groups need training to supply them with new skills.

ALL ABOARD
With G. E. Mortimore

Blessings come in bunches. As it happened, I received a new baby son and a new office desk, both on the same day.

I stood for some time in silent admiration. It weighs 100 pounds, and has two sets of drawers. Yes, it certainly is a fine desk. I only wish my wife were here to see it. But she's still loafing in hospital with that baby. The baby weighs six pounds 13 ounces.

As soon as I heard the news, I hurried to the hospital, where I found my wife looking remarkably pleased with herself.

"I've missed you," I said.

"But I've only been in here two or three hours," she protested.

"I know. But I had a tough time moving that new desk into place. I needed your help," I said.

"Are they going to bring in the baby?" my wife asked.

"Not a chance," I told her. "He's busy, standing in line for a shot of that Salk vaccine. If he keeps his place, he'll get some by the time he's ready to go to school."

But presently a nurse wearing a mask entered the room with a bundle wrapped in a blanket.

"He's a cute little fella," I said. "But why is he wearing a gold ring around his neck?"

"That's my finger you're looking at," the nurse said. "Your son is over here."

"Ah yes, so he is," I observed shame-facedly. "Are you sure he's big enough to keep?"

The nurse said he was, so we'll have to find a name for him.

I've been looking through my mail, and picking up some ideas from the envelopes I open. Right now I'm not sure whether to call the little fellow "Past Due," "Final Notice," or just plain Bill.

The way expenses keep piling up, I'll be able to get a dandy choice of names from the lawyers' letterheads. Some of those legal firms have about 12 partners, and one or two of that lot should have names that are fit to use.

A common fault is to try to treat the symptoms rather than the cause. It's true that Scours can be reduced by withholding feed, with a resulting decrease in water intake. But this approach does not correct the basic cause. It's also not advisable to dilute the ration with added grain, which may unbalance the ration and lower palatability.

There's nothing back of the idea that molasses causes Scours — say Purina livestock specialists. A 1954 report by Cornell University workers shows heifer calves were fed 0, 1½, 3 and 6 lbs. of molasses daily. The heifers were normal on all levels of molasses, and all groups produced good results.

Reducing the supplement intake is not the right approach either. Well balanced supplements used properly do not cause Scours. In fact, in recent Purina palatability tests, steers and pigs consumed much more than normal amounts of supplements without evidence of scouring. So in future, look for the cause of scouring elsewhere, don't blame the feed.

Feed PURINA CHOW for balance of proteins and palatability; they are made not to sell at a price but to produce best results at lowest cost. . . Won't you give us your order today. We deliver.

Late Dr. Ervin A. Center Of Local Pioneer Stock, Was Prominent U.S. Citizen

Concerning Dr. Ervin A. Center, member of a pioneer family here, whose death occurred April 24 in Steep Falls, Maine, a news clipping from that town refers fittingly to the many offices held by this prominent citizen.

The late Dr. Center was a Republican member of two Legislatures, elected to the State Senate for Cumberland County in 1953.

At the time of his death he was serving as a member of the Maine Milk Commission.

He was district governor of the New England District of Kiwanis Clubs in 1932 and had a record of 27 years of perfect attendance at the Standish Kiwanis Club.

Dr. Center, a McGill graduate, had practiced medicine in the Steep Falls area for 30 years. He was on the staff of several Portland hospitals.

He was owner and operator of Centerville Farms, where he raised registered Ayrshire cattle. He was a past president of the Maine State Ayrshire club and a director of the New England Ayrshire club.

Dr. Center was a charter member and first president of the Standish Kiwanis Club and served as Division 8 lieutenant governor in 1931. He was also a past master of Standish Lodge of Masons; a member of Maine Consistory 32nd degree; member of the Portland Lodge of Elks; a member of the Standish School Committee for ten years and a member of Trinity Episcopal Church of Portland.

'Red Tape' and 'Sawdust Caesars' Charged in Immigration Department

THE WEEK AT OTTAWA

By Don Peacock, Canadian Press Staff Writer

Ottawa (CP) — The immigration department has been accused of "arbitrary lawlessness" in its administration. John Diefenbaker (PC—Prince Albert) made the statement in the Commons and said the department is tangled in red tape which is "in some cases administered by sawdust Caesars who believe they are above the law."

He said fundamental rights are denied because unjustifiable regulations are "interpreted according to the whim and caprice of the individual official." His attack was based on the case of an American-born Toronto woman who recently won her legal fight against a deportation order.

The case was raised by Davie Fulton (PC—Kamloops) whose criticism of Immigration Minister Pickersgill's estimates also raised again the minister's "baby speech" at Victoria during the Easter recess, when Mr. Pickersgill was quoted as saying no immigrant is as good as a new Canadian baby.

Mr. Pickersgill said the quotation was "silly". The Victoria Times had reported him accurately but the report in the Victoria Colonist "and which was the basis of reports that were spread all over Canada by Canadian Press is, though I do not quarrel with the words, entirely misleading and erroneous. . . ."

Mr. Fulton said the speech itself was silly. He added that Mr. Pickersgill "said it all over again" when the minister told the Commons that what he had really said in Victoria was:

"We all want to increase the population of this country and for that purpose, if they are equally good people, I don't believe that any immigrant — no matter where he comes from or how good he is — is as good as another Canadian baby because the immigrant has to learn to be a Canadian and the baby is a Canadian to start with."

Mr. Pickersgill said Friday that his Victoria speech did not assert that Canadians are "inherently superior to anybody else or that there was any racial superiority or anything of that sort. I said none of these things. I repudiate them."

Bumper Crop in Scouts' Paper Salvage Collection

Brownsburg — The Boy Scouts and Group Committee staged a salvage paper collection April 16, which resulted in over nine tons of paper being collected.

N. E. Smillie, who was in charge of this drive, claims it is the largest amount of paper collected to date; also that in most instances the paper was well packaged.

The Guide-Brownie Organization will share the profits of this collection.

The Boy Scouts Association of Brownsburg wishes to thank all who helped to make this paper drive such a success.

Vaccine Available To Children Up to 10 Years

The Provincial government has enlarged its Salk polio inoculation campaign, according to an announcement made Tuesday, to include free serum to all children from the age of three months to ten years. Previous to this announcement, the inoculation program was restricted to those children born in the year 1953 only.

Dr. L. Turcotte, County Health Officer, reports this procedure will also be carried out throughout the County of Argenteuil, even though the local Unit has commenced its inoculations. The decision to extend the age limit resulted from the poor turnout at clinics throughout the province. In this county — at Arundel, Lost River, Weir, 16 Island Lake, and Barkmere clinics, less than 50 per cent of the registered children turned out to be inoculated.

Dr. Turcotte stated there would be no additional vaccine allotted to Argenteuil, but due to the lack of response in the age group of children born in 1953, the clinics would be opened to all children from three months to ten years, on a first-come-first-served basis until the vaccine set aside for that clinic has run out.

Dates and centres for the clinics were published in last week's issue of The Watchman.

Health Department Report

Dr. Jean Gregoire, Quebec deputy health minister, said the Health Department regretted the public reaction to publication of reports about outbreaks of polio following inoculation of some children in the U.S.

"Our population is maintaining a reserved attitude as a result of these reports," he said. "But the incident has no relation to the situation in Canada as there is not a drop of vaccine concerned in our country."

He said that the vaccine manufactured in Canada was harmless and effective and, "if this were not the case, the Health Department would not make it available."

Fear "Understood"

The fear of parents was, Dr. Gregoire said, "understandable but unjustified."

The Health Department had no intention of forcing anyone to accept the vaccine but under the circumstances could not deny protection to children in other age groups whose parents were prepared to bring them for inoculation.

Lake Winnipeg is larger in area than Lake Ontario.

The Bible Made Understandable
(PART 2)
Proof of Divine Inspiration

The Bible is of the greatest importance to people in this atomic age because it is God's inspired Word of truth. This fact though not believed by scoffers, can be proved beyond a question of doubt. Archaeology has dug up a host of ancient coins, monuments and clay tablets with inscriptions verifying the Bible accounts of events. Geology and its findings in the fossil deposits and rock strata have added an abundance of testimony in support of the Biblical record. And many other scientific facts known to man have likewise given credence and veracity to what is written in the Bible. Non-Christian writers of ancient times — men like Tacitus, Lucian, Suetonius, Josephus, Pliny the Younger, etc. — confirm many of the historical names, places and events mentioned in the Scriptures. All of which proves that the Bible is not a collection of fictitious folklore and mythical fairy tales, but rather is indisputably true.

But the Bible is more than just the writings of honest men; it is more than just an accurate history of ancient happenings. Much of it is prophecy, a predicting of events of the future. Now, no human imagination can foretell the future with any degree of accuracy or in any exact detail, but the Bible does. This therefore furnishes the most positive kind of proof that the Bible was written under divine inspiration, that its real Author is Jehovah God.

The Bible Made Understandable

If you want the thrill of proving the Bible is the truth, not fiction, get the "New World Translation of the Christian Greek Scriptures". Read, study and compare it with other versions. It is the most accurate translation yet produced. And besides, it is modern English. Sent postpaid on a contribution of $1.50.

Everything Jehovah God does is prompted by love (1 John 4: 16, Knox). Our very existence is an impression of his love. Everything in nature, being made for man's pleasure, reflects God's love. In these critical times God is displaying his love toward humankind by giving warnings of his coming wrath against wickedness in the earth, so that men who love him may escape. The preaching of the good news concerning God's provision for salvation increases daily; and those who love God show appreciation for this manifestation of His great love by taking part in preaching the good news to others.

To keep informed on matters of religious worship is the wise course for every person. This is far more important than keeping up with the progress of political affairs, social developments or financial trends, for the matter of worship has a direct bearing on the eternal destiny of every living person today.

Have You Divine Approval ?

Is there one of us who would not want to answer yes? And yet, how can one be sure? How is divine approval obtained? Paul told Timothy, "Study to shew thyself approved unto God." (2 Timothy 2: 15). The same rule applies today. There is no substitute for personal Bible study on the part of those who seek to be approved by God.

Have a Bible Study in Your Home

Those who are parents have the added responsibility of bringing up their children "in the nurture and admonition of the Lord". A home Bible study is the most effective way to teach the child; and adults learn much more that way, too. Are you carrying on a systematic Bible study program in your home for the benefit of yourself and your loved ones? If not, you will be interested in knowing that without any cost or obligation it can be arranged for a qualified minister of Jehovah's Witnesses to call at your home and assist you in getting your family Bible study started.

Any of Jehovah's Witnesses in your community will consider it a privilege to aid you in Bible study. If you do not know how to come in contact with them, kindly write to the address given below, and we shall be happy to arrange for some one to call. Remember, there is no cost to you, nor will you be obligated in any way. — Jehovah's Witnesses, 40 Irwin Ave., Toronto, Ont.

Interesting Items At W.I. Session

The May meeting of Lachute Women's Institute was held in the Legion Hall on Tuesday, with Mrs. Geo. Muir presiding.

Delegates were appointed for the annual County Convention, taking place in Lachute on May 14. Two names were also sent to Macdonald College for the "Leadership Course", being given during the last week in May.

The roll-call, "Prominent Women in the News", provided some interesting items, ranging from the Royal sister's recent race in Windsor Park, to the Mother of 13 Boys, in the headlines last week.

Arrangements were completed for the tour of Ottawa on May 17. Members are asked to be at Pollock & Graves, Main Street, at 8 a.m., where taxis will be waiting. Mr. Philippe Valois has kindly arranged for the ladies to visit the Speaker's Gallery during the Questions and Answers period in the Commons in the afternoon.

Dr. Jules Lafleur addressed the meeting on the forthcoming Cancer Campaign, to be held from May 9 to 15. The objective for this County is $5,000. Dr. Lafleur spoke of the great strides made in cancer research in the past years. It is hoped soon, with public financial support, to be able to announce that they, too, have found the cause of this disease, also a remedy — but it costs a lot of money for research. Mr. Roger Lagarde, campaign chairman, asked for the support of the W.I. in canvassing this district.

The W.I. Library is open every Friday afternoon in the Lachute High School. Many new books have been added.

The convener of Education, Mrs. F. Legault, exhibited a woven scarf in the new Nova Scotian Tartan, in beautiful shades of blue plaid.

The next meeting will be held at "Lazy River Ranch" in Dalesville, Tuesday, June 7, with Mrs. George McGibbon as convener. There will be a demonstration. Cars will be arranged for members. (Please phone Mrs. Geo. Muir.)

Auxiliary Card Party

Fourteen tables of military whist were played at the regular Auxiliary card party in the Legion Hall last Wednesday evening, with Mr. Tom Iddon in his usual role as m.c. Following were the prize-winners:

1st — Mrs. R. Hodge, Mrs. N. Maidens, Mrs. C. Ward, Mrs. R. Jackson.

2nd — Mrs. R. A. Giles, Miss Katie Giles, Mrs. E. M. Jones, Mrs. A. G. Leggett.

Booby — Mrs. W. Tabrett, Mrs. H. Haldimand, Mrs. R. Buckle, Mrs. D. Bourgouing.

Door Prize — Mrs. S. Sutton.

20,000 New Testaments for the Forces

Members of the Canadian Navy, Army and Air Force will get 20,000 copies of the New Testament this year from the British and Foreign Bible Society. Conferring with senior chaplains of the services at Defence Headquarters in Ottawa is the Rev. Dr. A. H. O'Neill, General Secretary of the organization. Left to right: Rev. I. R. Edwards, Assistant Chaplain of the Fleet, (Protestant); Col. J. W. Forth, Director of Chaplain Services (Protestant); Rev. Dr. O'Neill, and Sqn. Ldr. E. D. Stuart, Assistant Director of Religious Administration (Protestant) RCAF.

AMONG THE CHURCHES

Morning Devotions

The Rev. Horace G. Baugh is conducting the radio program "Morning Devotions" on CBM for three mornings, May 16, 17, 18, at 8.15 a.m.

Former Minister at St. Andrews East Honored With Degree

The Rev. Joseph A. Mowatt, who from 1937 to 1941 served as minister of the St. Andrews East United Church, will be honored for his distinguished contribution to the life of the Church, by the United Theological College at its annual convocation this evening in the Erskine and American United Church, Montreal.

The honorary degree of doctor of divinity will be conferred on the Rev. Joseph A. Mowatt, for 19 years a missionary in China and now minister at Hudson Heights, Que., and to the Rev. William E. Wright, a graduate of the college who has devoted the 40 years of his ministry to churches in rural areas.

Mr. Mowatt was a Presbyterian missionary in Honan, China, from 1904 to 1923, and was manager of famine relief there for the American Red Cross in 1921. In 1924 he returned to Canada and became manager of the Hwaiking Mission Shops in Montreal and Vancouver until this work was stopped by the Japanese invasion of China in 1936, which cut off supplies.

In 1937 he became minister at St. Andrews East, and five years later moved to Hudson Heights succeeding his son, the Rev. A. J. Mowatt, who had resigned to enlist as an army chaplain. His ministry spans 50 years.

SUNDAY EVENING SERVICES

A Toronto clergyman believes that ministers could get much closer to their congregations if they discontinued Sunday evening services and went out among the people. It is obvious that what goes on in the city doesn't necessarily hold in the country.

Who Was This?

By A.A.M.

Who was the Egyptian maid of Sarai, who became the second wife of Abraham, when Sarai, his first wife, was childless? In those early days a man often had several wives but this seldom produced a happy home. When the Egyptian woman knew that she was going to have a child she looked on Sarai with contempt.

Then when Sarai complained to Abram, he replied,

"Behold your maid is in your power; do to her as you please." Sarai dealt harshly with her and the Egyptian woman fled into the wilderness.

When she rested by a spring of water the angel of the Lord came upon her and asked,

"Where have you come from and where are you going?"

The second wife replied,

"I am fleeing from my mistress Sarai."

Then the angel commanded her, "Return to your mistress and submit to her." The angel told her,

"Your child will be a son and you will call his name Ishmael. The Lord will greatly multiply your descendents so that they cannot be numbered." He also warned her that her son would be a man at strife with his kinsmen, with his hand against every man and every man's hand against him.

The Egyptian woman replied to this revelation,

"Thou art a God of seeing" for she asked,

"Have I really seen God and remained alive after seeing him?" Therefore the well where she rsted was given a special name, "BEER-LAHAIROI".

The second wife obeyed the command of the angel and returned to Sarai. In time the Egyptian woman bore a son and called him Ishmael.

You will find this story and this Egyptian woman's name in the 16th Chapter of Genesis.

Over the Years with THE LACHUTE WATCHMAN

75 YEARS AGO

May 7, 1880 —

Our Episcopalian friends have advertised for tenders for the building of a new stone church in Lachute, which, when completed, will be an additional ornament to the architectural beauty of our village.

Th steamer Manitoba has commenced her regular trips between Carillon and Montreal.

Mr. Fillion, Crown Land Agent, has been collecting duties on shingles and saw logs from some of our dealers.

* * *

50 YEARS AGO

May 5, 1905 —

The Watchman is now completely housed in its new quarters, with a new gasoline engine and an adequately equipped building.

At the regular monthly meeting of the Lachute Town Council, a petition was received from the five hotelkeepers asking repeal of the by-law on early closing so that they might remain open until midnight every night of the week.

The Council adjourned until May 11, when the first meeting will be held in their new quarters, Victoria Hall.

* * *

25 YEARS AGO

May 9, 1930 —

Following an application submitted by Mr. Geo. Dansereau, M.L.A., on behalf of the Lachute Town Council, he received a letter from the Minister of Public Works, granting a subsidy of $10,500 to assist the town in improving its fire protective system.

Mr. Jack Skuffham has succeeded Kenneth Elliott as assistant manager of the local branch of the Bank of Nova Scotia — Mr. Elliott having been appointed manager of the branch at Masson.

Social and Personal

Mrs. G. H. Staniforth and Mrs. J. Millar arrived home Thursday evening after spending the winter months in Florida.

Miss Mabel Haynes, from Hampshire, England, arrived in Quebec City aboard the S.S. Scythia on Saturday, and is here in Canada for a three months' visit as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Crutcher, Lachute.

Misses Florence Copeland, Jean Muir and Mary Ruth MacKimmie, nurses-in-training at the Royal Victoria Hospital, spent some time at their respective homes over the week-end.

Miss Gladys Clark returned home after spending a week in Cornwall, Ont., working at Courtaulds Canada Ltd. for her firm, Price Waterhouse Company, chartered accountants.

Girl Guides Held Tea

Attendance was somewhat disappointing at the afternoon tea sponsored by the Lachute Company of Girl Guides on May 3, although the event proved enjoyable and financially successful.

The Guides take this opportunity to thank all those who helped with the work and gave donations, including Lowe Bros. Dairy, the A & P and Dominion Stores.

Miss Doris Wright, R.N., of the Royal Victoria Hospital staff, spent the week-end as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Gorman.

Cst. Tom Jamison, RCMP Traffic Division, Ottawa, spent the week-end here with his mother, Mrs. I. W. Jamison.

Christening Ceremony Held at Hawkesbury

At Trinity Anglican Church, Hawkesbury, on Sunday afternoon, a christening ceremony was held in which the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. James K. Watson received the names Kenneth Wickenden. The rector, the Rev. Canon Meakin, officiated. Godparents were Mr. and Mrs. Mansiel Wilson, of Cushing.

After the ceremony the guests were entertained at the home of the child's parents, at a buffet supper — guests including the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Wickenden, of Three Rivers, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Watson, of Maniwaki, also Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Watson and Mrs. A. E. Usher, of Cushing, Mrs. M. Akeson, of Ottawa, Mr. and Mrs. M. Wilson, of Cushing, Mr. and Mrs. J. Dixon, of Stonefield, Mr. and Mrs. James McKellar and Mr. J. Wickenden, of Montreal, also Cannon and Mrs. Meakin, of Hawkesbury.

Mr. Melchior Roby, of St. Jerome, spent two days in town, and was a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Stuart J. McFaul.

Misses Marjory and Margaret Acres, of Outremont, spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. John D. Giles, of Mountain View.

Mr. Lorne Payne has latterly been visiting here with Mrs. H. Sutton and Mr. D. J. Bates, and with Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Bates in Calumet.

Miss Marlene Murdoch and Miss Willa Murdoch, of Montreal, spent the week-end in Shawville and Ottawa with their sister, Miss Frances Murdoch.

Pretty Wedding At Weir, Que.

MacMillan - Williams

The Church of the Redeemer, Weir, was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Saturday evening, April 30, when Norma Eunice, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Williams, was united in marriage to Wenville Alexander, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. MacMillan, of Lost River, Que. The Rev. C. R. Lang, officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

The church was tastefully decorated with mauve and white tulips and other spring flowers, and the pews were decorated with bows of white satin ribbon and mauve flowers.

The bride — wearing a floor-length dress of white nylon net lace over taffeta, her fingertip veil of nylon net held in place by a crown headpiece studded with pearls, and carrying a bouquet of red roses — entered the church on the arm of her father to the strains of the Wedding March, played by her aunt, Mrs. Roy Staniforth, of Arundel.

She was attended by her sister, Mrs. Stanley Richer, as matron of honor, who wore a floor-length dress of embroidered blue nylon with a tiara of blue flowers, and carried a semi-cascade of pink carnations.

Miss Linda Williams, cousin of the bride, gowned in a pink embroidered floor-length nylon frock with headdress and mitts to match, and carrying a nosegay of white pom-poms with red roses, was junior bridesmaid.

The bride's mother wore a medium-blue frock with white hat and matching accessories and a corsage of red roses, while the groom's mother was attired in navy blue with hat and matching accessories, and also wore a corsage of red roses.

Mr. Wm. MacMillan acted as best man for his brother, and the ushers were Mr. Bruce Williams, of Montreal, and Mr. Guy Loughren, of Arundel.

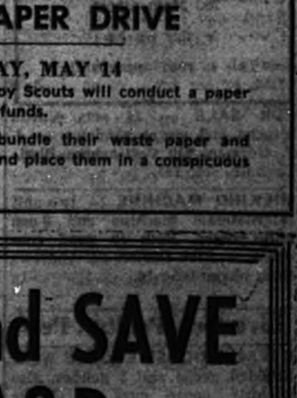

During the signing of the register, "O Perfect Love" was sung by Mrs. W. D. Morrison.

Pipers Jas. Woods and Wendell MacLean, of the RCAF Band, were on hand to pipe the bridal party out of the church, and again at the auditorium in Arundel, where a reception was held immediately following the ceremony. Around 500 guests were present to shower the happy couple with congratulations and wishes, and were entertained with music and dancing, also with several popular tunes played on the pipes.

Later Mr. and Mrs. MacMillan left on a motor trip to London, Ont., and other points in Southwestern Ont., the bride travelling in a grey suit with a pink hat and accessories and wearing a corsage bouquet of pink carnations. . . On their return they will reside in Montreal.

Relatives and friends from a distance were from Ottawa, Montreal, Kilmar, Lachute and Joliette.

Sports -- Juvenile Activities -- School

It is estimated by the Department of Lands and Forests that somewhere around 100,000 eager anglers of both sexes turned out for the opening of the speckled trout season in Ontario last Saturday, April 30. Just how many Lady Luck favored with full creels won't be known for a few days yet, although the prospects for pretty fair fishing looked good and certainly the weather on both Saturday and Sunday was just about ideal. Trout fishers in Quebec got a ten day start with opening day April 20, but according to all reports the earlier opening bestowed no particular advantage, many of the northern lakes still being ice-bound for the first few days.

Still Too Early

Sunday the wife and I loaded the car with a couple of the offspring and drove up to Carvel Hammond's camp in the Laurentians. There the ice had only been out four days a little too soon to expect very much action. In early spring lake fishing for speckles, it has been my experience that ten days after ice is out, is soon enough for fly fishing.

A Boy's First Trout

While we sat around with our hosts soaking up the noon day sun, Harry our thirteen year old, put his spinning rod together, tied on a "Turk" spinner with a quill body and wandered down to the boat dock to kill time while the older folks got through with the chit-chat and ready to get out on the lake. All of a sudden the peaceful stillness of this fabulous May 1st morning was shattered by a yell for me and to hurry with the landing net. With Harry fast to his first trout I needed no urging and a few minutes later we netted the fish, a colorful male, 14 inches long. The look on that boy's face as he held up his prize for the grown ups to admire is something I'll remember for many a day.

Perch Belly Did the Trick

I only had time for a couple of hours with the fly rod. Started off with a February Red Dazzler on the dropper and a white Maribou steamer on the leader tip. It wasn't long before I had a good strike on the Dazzler, a fly that has been very successful on this lake, and netted another 14-incher. Substituted a hair wing Perch Belly streamer in place of the Maribou and got four strikes on this fly, losing two and netting two. This Perch Belly streamer is, I am finding a more killing pattern than the old and reliable Mickey Finn. Although described in this column several weeks ago, here it is again for the benefit of any who might care to try it. Body, silver tinsel; Tail, none; Wing, sparse yellow overlaid with white and overlaid again with red, let the red predominate; Throat, bright red nashua; Shoulder eyes, cut of gold metallic paper.

Ontario Fishing Dates

Here's a quick run-down on Ontario opening dates and limits with particular reference to the Rideau District. Residents of Quebec shouldn't overlook the handiness of this excellent fishing area and that the non-resident license is only $6.50.

Black Bass, small and large mouth, July 1 to October 15; limit 6 in one day, not less than 11 inches in length.

Musky, July 1 to October 15; limit, 2 in one day, not less than 30 inches in length.

Speckled, Brown, Aurora, Kamloops and Raindow Trout, April 30 to September 15; limit, 5 in one day, not less than 7 inches in length — except speckled trout, the limit is one and an additional 14 in one day, provided the additional 14 in the aggregate weight not more than 10 pounds.

Walleyes, May 14 to December 31; limit, 6 in one day regardless of length. Exception the St. Lawrence River, May 14 to November 15.

Northern Pike, May 14 to March 31 next following; limit, 6 in one day regardless of length. Exception the St. Lawrence River, no closed season.

Lake Trout, November 6 to October 5 next following; limit, 5 in one day.

Perch limit — in the St. Lawrence River and tributaries east of Robideaux Bay in Cornwall Township, 35 per day, regardless of length. . .

"Tight lines" to one and all!

LHS Takes Honors In Speaking and Debating Contest

By Vincent Trayers

It was disappointing to see only two schools represented at the local Public Speaking and Debating Contest sponsored by the District Teachers Association.

The Lachute senior and junior debating teams were victorious, defeating Grenville; this is the fifth straight year that the senior team from Lachute has won the trophy.

Representing Lachute were Brian Gray and Scott Taylor, who convinced the judges that "High School Examinations Should be Abolished."

In the Junior section Jean Taylor and Beverly Hadley took the negative side of "Resolved that children under the age of 16 should be allowed to attend the movies." This is the second victory for the Junior team, since they defeated St. Eustache earlier this year.

Lois Silverson of Lachute won the Junior Public Speaking title as she spoke on "My Favorite Personality."

In the Senior section, Penny Foreman of Grenville was first and Beverly MacDonald of Lachute second. Penny Foreman's speech, on "I Believe in God", won her the Senior trophy. Beverly MacDonald of Lachute was in second place with her topic, "I Believe in Sports."

It is hoped next year that there will be entries from all the schools in the district, and that there will be more interest shown by parents and pupils.

A preliminary Junior Public Speaking contest was held in Lachute last Thursday afternoon to decide who was to represent Lachute. Five contestants took part, four of whom were from Grade VII. Lois Silverson, speaking on "My Favorite Personality", described the life and career of Winston Churchill. Frank Karsh gave a very amusing speech on his ideas of "School of Tomorrow". According to him, life at school would be very interesting and extremely easy. Other contestants were Eleanor Hay, Carol Parker and Ilene Price. Carol and Ilene spoke on "My Favorite Personality", which were Albert Einstein and the Duke of Edinburgh. Eleanor Hay spoke on "Changing Fashions in the Home." It was decided that Lois Silverson and Frank Karsh would represent Lachute.

Volleyball

The Hawkesbury girls and Ste. Agathe boys retained their titles last Saturday in the tournament held in Hawkesbury.

The Lachute boys lost out in the semi-final to Hawkesbury. In the other semi-final game, Hudson was eliminated by Ste. Agathe. The Ste. Agathe boys defeated Hawkesbury, thus winning the trophy. The Lachute girls lost to Hawkesbury in the final game.

1st Lachute Troop Boy Scout News

At the regular weekly Scout meeting on Tuesday evening work proceeded satisfactorily on Signalling for those boys engaged on 2nd Class tests, and on Knots for the Tenderfoot group. 17 Scouts and three leaders were in attendance. A well-played game of softball was the big event of the night. The present standing of the patrol point competition is as follows:

Bulldog 189; Fox 169; Eagle 160; Wolf 159.

This Saturday, all the Scouts will endeavor to pass the 2nd Class cooking test, on the Mountain.

On Saturday, May 14, all Scouts will be out to collect paper in the "Scout Paper Collection Day" for Lachute. Citizens who have paper they do not require are requested to have it tied in bundles and placed in some conspicuous spot.

Saturday, May 21, will see the local Scouts joining with other troops of the Laurentian District at the Annual Scout Rally, at Lachute Exhibition Grounds. The Scouts are hustling to get their uniforms complete for this big occasion.

Lions Club Boost to Juvenile Hockey

The hockey facilities of the Immaculate Conception "Loisirs" (youth recreation enterprise) received an appreciable boost from Lachute Lions Club with the gift of a complete goaler's outfit. Lion President Roger Regimbal, who presented this equipment to the west-end parish, is seen above handling a hockey stick; Jacques Lemay, goaler, models the new outfit; and Principal P. E. Barbeau of Ayersville school is the approving onlooker.

Anglicans Retain Bowling Trophy

The annual competition for the District Carpet Bowling League trophy was held in the basement of the Anglican Church on Thursday, April 20, with teams representing the United, Presbyterian and Anglican churches.

Each team played two games, with total points to count.

The Anglicans were the top scorers and successfully retained the cup they won last year. The final scores were — St. Simeon's 41; United 25; Presbyterians 20.

The Rev. C. R. Lang welcomed the visitors, and in presenting the cup remarked that the large and enthusiastic attendance proved the popularity of this winter pastime. Refreshments were served by the ladies of St. Simeon's Bowling League. Appreciation was expressed to the hosts by John Simon, of the Presbyterian league, and by Merlyn Evans, of the United league.

CURRENT SHOWS AND ENTERTAINMENT

Salute to Saskatchewan

On Tuesday "Trans-Canada Matinee" invites listeners across Canada to join in a salute to Saskatchewan, as that province celebrates its 50th anniversary. Master of ceremonies will be Jean Hinds, nationally known broadcaster and CBC morning commentator for Saskatchewan. Production will be Spencer Moore, talks and public affairs producer for the prairie region; and the announcer will be Norm Micklewright, popularly known as the "voice of Saskatchewan" after many years of broadcasting over station CBK in Watrous.

In the course of the hour-long salute, the spotlight will be on the people who have built the province — farmers, teachers, homemakers, missionaries, politicians and trappers. There will be stories about everything from the secret of the Shaginappi to the work of the Arts Council. Music of the prairies will be represented with echoes from Europe and the British Isles and songs originating in Canada such as the "Dust Bowl Song" and "Saskatchewan, My Home."

A special place will be reserved for the women who have pioneered and are still pioneering in the province — homesteaders, wives, suffragettes, "oil wives", and even a trapper. Among the voices to be heard — besides those of Jean Hindes and Norm Micklewright — are veteran pressmen, Violet McNaughton, Cal McGregor, Idabelle Melville-Ness, and Kay Kritzweiser. A new voice will be that of Jim Claggett, of Melford, who will sing the "Dust Bowl Song". Other singers to be heard on the program will be the Hughettes and the Saskatchewan Penitentiary Male Choir.

Film Series, Children Of Many Lands

"Children of Many Lands" is a new series of films for children seen every Wednesday at 4 p.m. on CBC-TV. They deal with children in lands the world over, showing how they live and how they dress, what they eat and what they believe, how they are educated and how they get along with one another. The intention is to let children see that though cultures and habits may be very different in other lands, basic needs and human relationships are the same everywhere.

Besides films about children, there will be some about various regions of the world, designed to give children an idea of the relation between the geography of a country and its agriculture, resources, industry and trade, by means of live photography, and animated maps and drawings.

On May 11 there will be three films. "French-Canadian Children" describes the daily life of a family in rural Quebec, showing children going to school in a horse-drawn sleigh, working with home handicrafts, helping to make maple sugar and going to church with the family. "Eskimo Children" presents a picture of life on an island off the Alaskan coast, showing how Eskimos get their food by hunting and fishing, and the activities of the children — drying fish, visiting the trader's store, gathering driftwood, playing games and telling stories. The third film is a study of the Prairie Provinces of Canada and the Northwest Territories. Wheat-growing has been the main factor in shaping the economy and character of this region, and its resources — mineral, water and oil — are its greatest asset.

Other lands to be visited in the series are Holland, England, Switzerland; Arabia, Mexico, China, Japan, Italy and Hawaii.

JOLSON NOTES

(Contributed)

Miss Eileen Barton, well-known young entertainer, will do her Jolson routine on TV's "Toast of the Town" on Sunday, May 8. In this district, this program is broadcast from 8 to 9 p.m. over CBMT.

Miss Barton is perhaps best known for her recording of "If I knew you were comin', I'd have baked a cake" of several years ago, which, if it didn't sell a million copies, must have come mighty close. Her star has been in the ascendant of late, with the assistance of new material, a somewhat different style, and tributes to Al Jolson and composer Harold Arlen. Eileen currently has a new "Cake" record. The words are the same as in the older version, but this one's done in the "blues" tempo. Personally, we prefer the older recording, but maybe that's just because we'd much rather have the ordinary kind of cake than the blue type!

Eileen Barton was made an honorary member of the Al Jolson Memorial Club in 1952, because of her admiration for Jolie. She is certainly to be commended for her voluntary assistance in helping to keep bright the memory of the World's Greatest Entertainer, by the inclusion of a Jolson imitation, complete with blackface.

* * *

The first issue of a new publication, "Who's Who in Music and Records", now at the newsstands, has many fine features, including a list of the records which have sold one million or more copies, from the earliest to the latest. Al Jolson's million-sellers are included, although one was omitted, namely, "Alexander's Ragtime Band", "The Spaniard that Blighted My Life", done with Bing Crosby. Also, on page 3 there is a big picture of Eddie Fisher which looks remarkably like Larry Parks in "The Jolson Story"!

* * *

Just for the record, the first dialogue ever heard in a motion picture, which was the victim of a typographical error in our last article, went as follows: "Wait a minute . . . wait a minute. You ain't heard nothin' yet!" These words, as you'll recall, were spoken by Al Jolson when he was being applauded for his singing of "Dirty Hands! Dirty Face!" The film was, of course, "The Jazz Singer".

"From Jolson On", the radio series in which the above dialogue was heard recently, continues this Saturday at 4.30 p.m., on CBM and other CBC stations, with its fourth broadcast, which will deal with the movies of 1936-37.

Also, it is quite possible that Ed Manning will devote one of his May broadcasts to Jolsongs, as he did so last year. Mr. Manning's program, "Roll Back the Years", is heard every Tuesday on CBM and other Trans-Canada stations, from 4.03 to 4.30 p.m.

London — Pat Hillyard, head of the BBC Radio Variety, sailed from Liverpool on April 29 for a tour of Canada and the United States. Mr. Hillyard's tour will start in Ottawa May 9.

Music Ancient But Modern

In more ways than one, the platter Babs Brown is holding reflects the culture of ancient Mexico, for it contains music of 1,500 or more years ago, played on the actual flutes, drums, and rattles seen in the drawing. In Mexico City recently scholars were set on their ears when a young musician, Samuel Marti, announced his discovery that Mexico had rich, complex music centuries before the conqueror Cortes came from Spain and even before the Aztecs descended on the Valley of Mexico. This music, ultra-modern in sound, is currently being broadcast in Mexico; Canada is the first outside country to get it, in a program of legends and ancient music Babs is presenting on the CBC Trans-Canada network every week. The series is called "Legends of Mexico."

Young Schoolgirl Promising Singer

London, Ont. (CP) — A 14-year-old high school student here is on her way to a career in modern "pops" singing.

Priscilla Wright, Grade X student, made her singing debut in a high school show. A few weeks ago she signed a contract with a Canadian recording company to cut two records.

Her father is Don Wright, well-known leader of the Don Wright radio chorus and author of books on choral teaching which have been adapted in schools across Canada.

Mr. Wright discovered Priscilla's singing talents some months ago, when he made a record and sent it to Toronto for audition. The company signed her on contract, saying she has something in her voice that should make her records popular.

Mr. Wright describes his daughter's voice as that of a 27-year-old pops singer, but with additional warmth and tone.

A note in the Smiths Falls Record-News says: A bride of eighteen faces the task of cooking 50,000 meals. Not if she can find a can-opener.

A man about to be electrocuted phoned his lawyer. "They are about to put me in the electric chair," he said. "What do I do now?"

The Aegean Islands

Last summer and fall Eric McLean of Montreal sailed through the Isles of Greece in the Aegean Sea and next Thursday evening at 8 o'clock on the CBC he will tell about the voyage, in the series "Footloose". He spent five months in Greece and among the adjacent islands on what started as a tour of the remains of the Byzantine Empire, in which he is interested. But he became so fascinated by the people of Greece, and especially of the Aegean Islands, that he gave up his original plan, rented a caique (45-foot Greek fishing boat) and with an interpreter and navigator toured the islands usually unvisited by tourists.

NEW CHEVROLET Task-Force TRUCKS with a whole truckload of new advantages for you!
Here's what happens when Canada's No. 1 truck builder pulls out all the stops! Here are some of the new advances ready to work for you right now.
These new Chevrolet Task-Force Trucks do more jobs. Do 'em faster. Do 'em better. And do 'em with new economy. If you've got a job for a truck, we've got the modern truck for your job! Look over the new features and advances highlighted here — no other line of truck offers so much that's new. Then come in and look over these Task-Force Trucks in person.
CHEVROLET
A General Motors Value

A new kind of truck styling
It's Work-Styling — an exclusive development in truck design with two distinctively different styling treatments. On the job, your truck "looks the part"—becomes a profitable advertisement on wheels for you and your business.
New 19,500 lb. G.V.W. capacity
New Chevrolet Task-Force Trucks are designed and built to handle loads of all kinds and sizes. Capacities now go all the way up to 19,500 pounds Gross Vehicle Weight—the highest ever for Chevrolet!

New "high-voltage" engines
All new engines feature a new 12-volt electrical system for faster, surer starts and increased generator capacity—plus many more exclusive advances. They're the last word in smooth, quiet and thrifty truck power!
The cab is as new as the view
New Sweep-Sight windshield — plus more glass all around — for a wider, safer view. New High-Level ventilation for cleaner, fresher air. New broader and softer seats—new stronger cab construction — new comforts and conveniences throughout!
A smoother, loud-steady ride
New springs front and rear provide a smoother, more stable ride for the driver and load alike. Chevrolet's new and exclusive concealed Safety Steps guard against accumulations of mud, snow, or ice on the running boards.
New stronger standard-width frames
These trucks are new from the drawing boards out! All models now have new ladder-type frames of standard width, with full-length parallel side members. This new design provides greater strength, rigidity and durability.

New Overdrive or Automatic
Now Chevrolet offers you new Overdrive as well as improved Synchro-Mesh and Automatic transmissions. Overdrive is now available as an extra-cost option on sedan deliveries and Automatic on ½-, ¾-, and 1-ton jobs.
New Power Brakes* and Tubeless Tires
Now you can get the extra ease and safety of Chevrolet Power Brakes available on the Heavy-Duty models! And you get new tubeless tires as standard equipment on all ½-ton models!
*Optional at extra cost
New handling ease with Power Steering
Driving's easier, safer and less tiring with Chevrolet Power Steering — and now it's available on Heavy Duty Chevrolet Task-Force Trucks. It's optional at extra cost.
New colors! New two-tone combinations
Take your choice of a longer-than-ever list of attractive new colors and combinations. They help you take full advantage of the advertising value of your Chevrolet Task-Force Truck.

A Golden Idea

Try this menu variation — a combination of Corn Bread, butter or spread, and a pitcher of syrup. Or try it with a bowl of fruit, blueberries, for instance, sprinkled with lemon juice and cinnamon.

This Custard Corn Bread can add color and sparkle to your main course, too — it's delicious with a tossed green salad and cold meat or with creamed chicken, ham or chipped beef.

And another thing . . this freshly-baked Corn Bread can be kept frozen for months. Just reheat the frozen cake in a 400 degree F. oven for 20 minutes and you'll have an extra-ordinarily delicious corn-meal bread to pick up even the most humdrum meal. The cup of milk poured over the cornbread in the baking dish forms little pockets of custard throughout the cake while it is baking.

Custard Corn Bread

2 Eggs, 1 cup sugar, 1 cup sweet milk, 1 cup sour milk, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon soda, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1½ cups cornmeal, 1 cup sifted all-purpose flour, 1 cup sweet milk.

Beat together the eggs and sugar until light and fluffy. Add 1 cup each of sweet milk and sour milk. Sift salt, soda, baking powder, cornmeal and flour together. Add all at once to the liquid ingredients, and stir just enough to mix. Melt 2 tablespons butter in a cast iron skillet. Pour in the corn bread. Then pour a cup of sweet milk over the middle of the corn bread. Do not stir. Bake in a 400 degree F. over for 40 minutes, or until a knife inserted in the cake comes out clean.

Nurses in Canada Always in Demand

Toronto (CP) — The shortage of nurses is nothing new — it has existed since the earliest days of the profession in Canada.

This is revealed in the golden jubilee number of The Canadian Nurse Magazine.

A chronic shortage was noted in Winnipeg during the typhoid epidemic of 1905. The result was that "doctors unfortunately added an untrained nurses list to the registry."

This and similar events probably led to the publication later the same year of an article on "The meaning and benefits of state registration." The article said "It is high time nurses of Canada began seriously thinking on this important subject," or they would "lag behind our sisters in other lands."

Another call for the establishment of a central nursing registry was sounded in 1906. A nurse wrote then: "some hospitals are endeavoring to have their nursing done as cheaply as possible, hence the increase in numbers of nurses-in-training which results in poor selection of students."

The writer added: "The time has come when the greatest part of nursing should be done by experienced, responsible graduates, and the smaller part only by nurses in training."

Caramel Coating

By Helen Rogers Bahen

Caramel-flavored sweet buns is a baking trick you can pull right out of your own oven. What a kick your family will get out of this special occasion Sunday treat when you serve these gooey goodies at breakfast. And you can be ever-so-off-handed in answering their compliments, for baking them is really quite simple. They smell heavenly when they're baking and coming out of the oven, and they look just as good as they taste. In fact we bet you'll hardly be able to wait till they're cooked, so that you can take a bite.

Caramel Buns

¼ Cup lukewarm water, 1 teaspoon sugar, 1 envelope active dry yeast, ½ cup scalded milk, 2 tablespoons shortening, 2 tablespoons sugar, 1 teaspon salt, 1 egg, 3¼ cups sifted all-purpose flour, 3 tablespoons melted butter, 3 tablespoons brown sugar, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1 cup brown sugar, 2 tablespons corn syrup, 1 tablespoon butter.

In ¼ cup lukewarm water thoroughly dissolve 1 teaspon sugar. Sprinkle yeast on top of water. Let stand in a warm place, free from draft, for 10 minutes. Then stir well. Add shortening, sugar and salt to scalded milk. Let cool to tepid and add the well stirred yeast. Beat the eggs lightly and add to yeast mixture, then gradually add the flour beating vigorously. Knead for a few minutes. Place in a bowl, cover with a clean cloth, and let rise in a warm place until double in bulk, about 1½ hours. Punch down the dough. Knead for a few seconds and roll to ¼ inch thickness. Spread the rolled dough with melted butter. Sprinkle with 3 tablespoons brown sugar and 1 teaspoon cinnamon, and roll like a jelly roll. Cut in slices, 1 inch thick. Make a syrup with the brown sugar, the corn syrup and the butter, heating the mixture just long enough to melt the sugar. Pour this syrup into a well greased cake pan 8 x 8 x 2 inches. Place slices of caramel rolls, cut side down, into the syrup, leaving a 1 inch space between each slice. Cover with a cloth and let rise in warm place until double in bulk. Bake in a 375°F. oven, 25 to 30 minutes. Unmold as soon as baked.

AVERAGE MARK

Saskatoon (CP) — A Saskatchewan education department official told the Saskatchewan teachers federation convention that average mark of all students writing Grade XII literature examination last year was 49.7 per cent.

MANY VISITORS

Sarnia, Ont. (CP) — Officials at the tourist reception centre here said travellers from 27 states of the U.S. made inquiries during March. They said that of the 1,700 tourists welcomed, most planned to visit points in Ontario, with others planning to visit Quebec or Western Canada.

Fashions

Cotton carries the material interest of a youthful two-piece frock for the warm season. The pale pink top contrasts nicely with the strawberry pink skirt. Rows of matching lace form tiny sleeves on the blouse and point up the hem of the skirt which is quite full and is marked by sunburst seaming which radiates from the waistline.

CHOOSE CREAMED CHICKEN FOR THE BRIDAL BANQUET

By Anne Marshall

When Sally sets the wedding date, a flurry of activity ensues. The starry-eyed bride-to-be is caught in a round of showers, shopping trips for the trousseau, and endless details connected with the wedding.

Planning the reception is a big job, and the menu, especially, presents a problem. For the food must look attractive and taste even better, regardless of interruptions and delays. A fool-proof recipe is a must!

How about creamed chicken in patty shells? Made with condensed cream of chicken soup, creamed chicken is ready in a jiffy and the flavor can't be beat. Patty shells can be made the day before. (Or use "pop-out-of-the-can" biscuits. When filled with velvety smooth creamed chicken, they present a pretty picture beside the wedding cake. And they're wonderfully easy to serve!

Keep this recipe in mind, too, for dinner parties and family meals. It's welcome anytime!

WEDDING DAY CREAMED CHICKEN

For 50

2½ cups (20 ounces) chopped green pepper
½ cup (4 ounces) butter or margarine
2 cans (48-ounce size) or 10 "family-size" cans condensed cream of chicken soup
2½ cups milk
5 cups (2 pounds) diced cooked chicken
50 patty shells or biscuits

For Family

¼ cup finely chopped green pepper
1 tablespoon butter, melted
1 can (1¼ cups) condensed cream of chicken soup
¼ cup milk
1 cup diced cooked chicken
6 patty shells or biscuits

Cook green pepper in butter until tender. Blend in cream of chicken soup and milk; fold in chicken; heat but do not boil. Pour into patty shells.

Here's to Mother's Day

(Copyright) — By NANCY CLEAVER —

"An oriole can make my heart
Turn upside down with sudden bliss,
But that is nothing, Johnny dear,
To what YOU do with one wet kiss!"

(Freda Newton Bunner)

These are lines which we like, written by a friend who has brought up three children. Perhaps you have your own favorite Mother's Day quotations or poem. This is a good time to read aloud in the family, the wise words of King Solomon about a virtuous woman. These are found in the last chapter of Proverbs, verses ten to thirty-one.

On the Second Sunday in May, countless mothers thank their children for gifts which express their love, from some quarters there is a loud protest about 'commercializing Mother's Day!" Of course, it is foolish to spend extravagantly! The present with the highest price tag is not necessarily the one which is appreciated the most. But in a selfish and materialistic age, does it not do any son or daughter good to sacrifice to give mother pleasure?

It is the time and thought, as well as the money, which make a gift "special". Little Bobby had overheard his mother saying how short she was of clothespegs every Monday. He took great pride in buying a dozen new non-rust spring type pegs which were more durable than ordinary ones. Sally sent away to a Seed House for an ounce of Heavenly Blue Morning Glory seeds which she knew her mother wanted to plant.

W. D. Howells once wrote: "A man never sees all that his mother has been to him till it's too late to let her know that he sees it." What a pity if this is so! If our mother has passed on to the "Great Beyond", let us recall all that she did for us, on her day. We can observe this occasion by making a special effort to do something she would delight to see us to — attend Divine Worship or help some poor mother who is having a hard struggle to bring up her children.

If we are fortunate enough to have our mothers still with us, Mother's Day is an occasion when we can use our imagination to give a gift which will express our love. Flowers, candy, a book, a picture, something for her to wear or for her home — what a wide variety of presents from which to select one which will give Mother real pleasure.

Strangely enough, the celebration of the date is not approved by some mothers who have not taken time to see its use in the character growth of their children. If a woman exclaims, (and means it!) "Oh, you shouldn't have wasted all that money on me!" it does tend to "take the shine off." Half the fun of preparing a present for a special occasion, is to see that it is acceptable! In terms of the encouragement of generosity, a rare enough virtue, money spent on a gift is never wasted!

Surely the value of Mother's Day for countless people far outweighs its abuse by a comparatively small group! Let us hold fast to any occasion which makes us more thoughtful, more kind and more generous to the one person in the world who never fails us!

Some detractors of Mother's Day scoff at it, saying that those who observe it forget their mothers the rest of the year. On the other three hundred and sixty-four days, they claim, these children take their mothers very much for granted. But has this been your observation? The majority of sons and daughters we know, who make a point of giving mother joy on the Second Sunday in May, are the very ones who give her happiness throughout the year. So we say, "Here's to Mother's Day! Long may it continue!

Tips on Touring

By Carol Lane
Women's Travel Authority

Join the "whisk-and-rinse" group of experienced travellers and you'll stay as cool as a cucumber and as fresh as a daisy in even the hottest of travelling weather this summer.

This business of looking fresh and pert despite long drives and crowded sight-seeing schedules is a relatively simple one — if you think about it before you start.

When you plan your Summer wardrobe concentrate on such items as nylon lingerie, slips, nightgowns and blouses (they "whisk-and-rinse" beautifully and need no ironing); simple two or three-piece "separates" in wrinkle-resistant cottons; dresses in non-crushable linen; a basic blouse with interchangeable accessories; pique hats, string gloves, detachable collar and cuff sets, etc.

And carry the idea over to the men in the family, too. Cotton jersey shirts, nylon shorts and socks, and seersucker slacks will do much to minimize the laundry problem and keep male spirits high.

With a "whisk-and-rinse" wardrobe, a box of soap flakes and a light-weight travel iron, you'll enjoy your vacation — and come home as fresh as the day you left.

A baby sitter service has a slogan which reads: "If your children won't mind you, please don't ask us to mind them."

Wife: "I've been asked for a reference for our last maid. I've said she's lazy, unpunctual and impertinent. Now, can I add anything in her favor?"

Husband: "You could say she has a good appetite and sleeps well."

"Let's make it this Sunday!"

A CASUAL phone call, and "this Sunday" suddenly becomes an extra special Sunday! Whether the call comes from miles away or just around the corner, the invitation seems so much more personal, more inviting, when you hear it over the telephone.

Old and young alike turn to the phone when they're in a hurry. A round-up of the gang, a family reunion, a holiday dinner, a big date — it's faster, more exciting to telephone! And even the blow of bad news can usually be softened by a sympathetic voice. Next to seeing the people you care about is hearing their warm, familiar voices.

Earthworm Hatchery Is Paying Business

Vancouver Man Has Stock of 14,000,000 Wrigglers

Vancouver (CP) — Tommy O'Brien is in the worm business and says that any other occupation "would bore me to death."

Reputed to be Canada's "worm king," he became interested in worm-growing when he read in a magazine the story of Bertha Baxter, an elderly woman, who turned $700 worth of garden worms into a million-dollar enterprise.

For the next five years, while employed as a sailor, he studied the wrigglers, heading for the nearest library at each port.

In 1950 he came ashore here and established the O'Brien Earthworm Hatchery — closed Sundays, holidays and St. Patrick's Day.

Within five months his original $1,000 investment showed a handsome profit and the business has been growing ever since.

Under good conditions, worms will mate all year round, reproducing themselves three to four thousand times. Although they are 89 per cent water and have no bones, they require large amounts of calcium and thrive on high-protein foods.

O'Brien's stock of 14,000,000 worms eat 40 pounds of food daily. His specially, dew worms, eat up to 400 pounds of corn monthly. The 10-inch dew worms are used as lures for big fish.

"I continually study new methods to improve the stock," he said. "The problem of billions of mites that arrived with a shipment of California red worms, threatening the entire stock was solved by drawing the pests away with wheat dust, to which they are partial."

Garden-Graph

Whether you plant potatoes by the hill or trench method, give them a hand in getting started. Care and cultivation are essential for a good crop.

Start with good seed potatoes. Discard seed potatoes which have too many sprouts as shown in the accompanying Garden - Graph. The competition of too many shoots will affect the yield. Also discard miniature tubers, such as the "runt" illustrated, for such potatoes when used for seed purposes cut yield.

If you plant potatoes in a trench the soil will be slightly rigid over the furrow. When it shows signs of crusting after rainfall, loosen it with an iron rake. The loosened soil enables the young sprouts to get their heads above the ground without too much of a struggle.

If potatoes are planted in hills, which means in holes scooped out of the ground, the seed pieces will have been covered with about an inch and a half of soil. When the sprouts come through the ground, pull the soil to them with a hoe until the ground is more or less level.

Keep the soil around potatoes well cultivated. This keeps weeds under control. Cultivation, however, should be shallow to avoid cutting roots near the surface.

As the plants mature soil should be hoed up around them to hold them upright and to protect the tubers from the sun. Any tubers exposed above the ground should be covered with soil immediately. Exposure to sunlight turns the tubers green and renders them unfit for eating purposes.

Mrs. R. T. Holmes and Miss Florence Holmes of Montreal were week-end guests of Mrs. H. Bailey of "Kingscot".

Miss F. M. Douglas spent several days in Montreal during the latter part of the week.

The W.M.S. of St. Mungo's Church will meet at Mrs. Roy Dobbie's Tuesday afternoon, May 10, at the usual hour.

Mrs. W. Y. King and Mrs. Archie Graham were in Montreal during the week for the annual Presbyterial meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of the United Church. They were first entertained to luncheon by Mrs. A. Stalker, of the Town of Mount Royal. At that time Mrs. King was the overnight guest of Mrs. R. Bickley, St. Laurent, and Mrs. Graham stayed with her daughter, Mrs. J. C. Dougall, at Cote St. Luke.

The Misses Violet and Myrtle Bryerton, of Verdun, motored to the home of their sister, Mrs. I. H. Fuller, on Wednesday, returning to the city Thursday. While in this vicinity they visited Mr. Wm. Bryerton, Sr., also Mr. and Mrs. Earl Bryerton.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Burton and son, John, were Sunday guests of Miss A. Cleland.

Mr. Lorne Martin and children, of St. Laurent, were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Coney.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Pitt, daughter Edith, and Mr. D. Taylor, of Montreal, were at the Pitt cottage over the week-end.

Mrs. Roy Dobbie was the guest of Mrs. Carson Tomalty on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Allan Caff, of Vankleek Hill, were guests Sunday evening of Miss Alberta Cleland and Mrs. Logan.

Residents Bereaved

The sincere sympathy of this community is extended to Mr. Wm. Bryerton, of Carillon, and his sister, Mrs. Villeneuve, in the passing on Sunday of their sister, Mrs. J. Fitzsimmons, of Black River, N.Y. She was the eldest daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. S. Bryerton, of Carillon.

Our sympathy is extended also to Mrs. I. H. Fuller in the recent passing of her uncle, Mr. Robert Barley, of Grande Prairie, Alberta, in hospital at Red Deer where he had been visiting relatives. Mr. Barley, a one-time resident of Calumet, leaves three daughters and one son. His wife, the former Jennie Boyd of Arundel, predeceased him some years ago. Mrs. Fuller is also a niece of the late Mrs. Fitzsimmons.

Sympathy is extended also to Mr. Percy T. Hall, of St. Andrews East, and his family, in the sudden passing of his wife last Friday night. Mrs. Hall, an active member of St. Andrews East United Church and W.M.S., had many friends in Cushing who mourn her loss.

OBITUARY

St. Andrews Resident Suddenly Bereaved

Late Mrs. Percy Hall

The sudden death of Mrs. Percy Hall, early Saturday morning, came as a great shock to the St. Andrews community.

During the seven years she had lived here, she had become greatly beloved by all who came in contact with her.

She was active in church and community life, holding office in the women's organizations of the United Church.

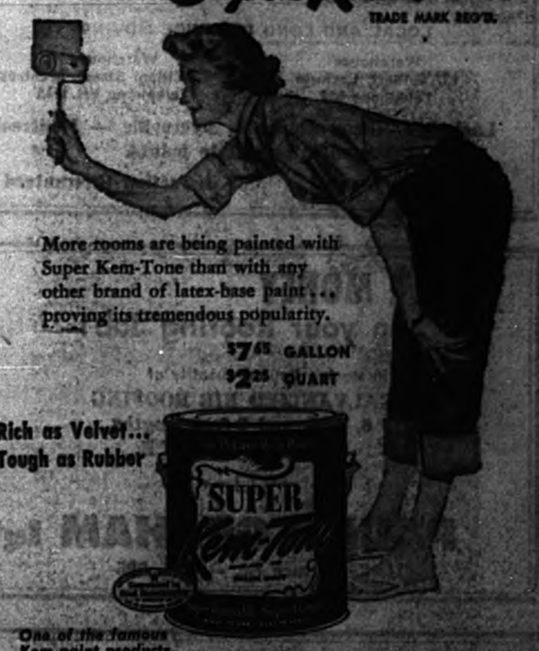

The funeral, held Monday, was attended by large numbers of people, both from St. Andrews and Lachine.

The service was conducted by the Rev. J. R. Watson, assisted by the Rev. Mr. Rivers of Grace United Church, Lachine, of which Mr. and Mrs. Hall were former members.

NO TWO WAYS ABOUT IT

Woodlots and cattle are two staple sources of revenue on your farm. Don't let one ruin the other. Remember these three rules:

- Cattle will not thrive on a forest pasture.
- A pastured woodlot is slow growing, unhealthy and produces poor quality wood.
- Fence cattle out of your woodlot. It will pay you in the long run, with fast-growing healthy trees and good quality wood.

These days most people work under pressure, worry more, sleep less. This strain on body and brain makes physical fitness easier to lose—harder to regain. Today's tense living lowered resistance, overwork, worry—any of these may affect normal kidney action. When kidneys get out of order, excess acids and wastes remain in the system. Then backache, disturbed rest, that "tired-out" hurry-headed feeling often follow. That's the time to take Dodd's Kidney Pills. Dodd's stimulate the kidneys to normal action. Conf'ce This Week, Quebec Federation Home and School

On May 6 and 7, representatives and delegates from about 150 associations throughout the Province of Quebec will gather in Montreal for the annual conference of the Quebec Federation of Home and School Associations. Sessions will be held in the Physical Sciences Centre of McGill, 3450 University Street.

The Parent Education Committee will hold a panel discussion on "Discipline in the Home" to be followed up by a short skit presented by the Grosvenor Players entitled "Random Target". The panel and skit will, no doubt, give rise to a very lively discussion period to follow. Honorary President Dr. W. P. Percival will be present on this occasion.

On Saturday morning the representatives and others will have a variety of "workshops" to attend, including among other subjects: Program Planning, Parent Education, School Education and Traffic Safety.

Many interesting and attractive exhibits will be on view all during the Conference. At these booths there is a great deal of printed material to be had on all phases of Home and School activities.

The early part of Saturday afternoon will be given over to those wishing to report on "Interesting and successful activities of our Association." Here, a wealth of good ideas is presented for the planning of future programs.

Saturday evening the closing dinner will be held at the Ritz-Carlton Hotel. Presentation will be made of the President's Award and the Buzzell Award. Guest speaker will be Dr. S. R. Laycock, who has devoted his life to the education and the study of children, young and old. At this time he will deal, very appropriately with the place of the Home and School movement in the development of today's Philosophy of Education.

A very sincere invitation is extended by the executive. One need not be an official representative or delegate to attend this conference — one needs only to be sincerely interested in Children, Home, School and Community.

Robinson had died and gone below. Hardly had he settled down when a hearty hand slapped him on the back, and into his ears boomed the familiar voice of a persistent traveller who had pestered him on earth.

Old Harness Maker Recalls Early West

Halbrite, Sask. (CP) — A touch of the old West still lingers in Bill Lafrentz's harness and saddle shop in this southeastern Saskatchewan town.

Western cow saddles and sturdy harness from Bill's shop have supplied cow punchers' ponies and plodding work horses with the latest in horse fashions for nearly half a century.

But a mechanized age has doomed the business to slow extinction. Bill firmly believes everyone concerned would be better off had tractors and cars never been invented.

In the days of horse-drawn implements, hundreds of outfits moved each year from the hooks in Bill's shop. Now his average order amounts to a repair job on a harness he made 20 years ago.

However, he has no intention of following the trend and closing up shop. Since almost every other harness maker in the country has gone out of business, he gets the trade from horse owners as far as 100 miles away. He supplements his business by repairing boots, leather mitts and a few bicycles.

Back in the boom days Bill worked until midnight many times sewing a breast strap or broken trace for some hard-pressed farmer who had to get his crop into the ground. At that time the saddle and harness trade kept eight major Canadian wholesale firms producing. Only one firm survives now.

More than a third of Canada's national income is taken in taxes each year by the three levels of government.

The Kindliness Of the Great

By G. E. Mortimore

The old gentleman came into the newsroom flourishing a letter. "Here's a story for you," he said triumphantly.

The letterhead was that of the Emergency Committee of Atomic Scientists. The signature: Albert Einstein.

I scarcely had time to absorb the contents of the letter before the old gentleman snatched it and waved it in the air again.

It was some time before I could cool the old gentleman down enough to get any sense out of him. And then he spun a tangled narrative about oil and atomic energy, and some fancied connection between the two.

Maybe he had something, but I doubt it. There didn't seem to be any solid base for his idea. Whenever I asked him a definite question, he buried me in a snowstorm of generalities.

His brainwave seemed to belong in the realm of astrology, witchcraft and horse-race hunches.

However, he had written to Professor Einstein about it. And Einstein had replied, in a few paragraphs, expressing polite interest.

A letter from Einstein himself! The old gentleman seemed to think that the letter confirmed his thesis and also gave him a half-interest in the Theory of Relativity.

I kept the old gentleman's letter, promising to guard it with my life, and wrote a small story which was buried somewhere inside the paper.

Then I filed the letter carefully among the debris on my desk. My friend was anxious to have it back later for his "records."

When he returned to claim the letter, it was nowhere in sight. A frantic search of my desk disclosed no trace of it. I managed to get rid of the old gentleman, and launched a full-scale search. It was a sizeable newspaper plant. I overturned every wastebasket, questioned every janitor I could find.

Then I plunged into the great bin where all the waste paper of the day was dumped, and tried to comb through it leaf by leaf. After a long time, I emerged from the bin, dirty and dispirited. There was no sign of it. Perhaps it was already at the waste paper warehouse, squeezed in a bale for pulping. Or perhaps someone had stolen it for the signature. Anyway — no letter.

So I sat down and wrote to Professor Einstein, explaining that this old man had entrusted me with a letter from himself, which I had foolishly lost. The old men set great store by the letter. Would Professor Einstein be good enough to write him another one to take its place?

Not long afterwards there came a reply from a secretary, saying that there was no need to worry. Professor Einstein had written my friend another letter.

When I saw the news of Einstein's death, I remembered how a scientist who probed the secrets of the universe could yet find time to write a letter twice over, so that an old men should not be disappointed.

SOMETHING NEW FOR GARDENERS

—Central Press Canadian

This may be the age of mechanical computers, jet airplanes and pop-up toasters, but inventors keep in mind that Mr. John Citizen still likes to putter in the garden. This gadget is one of many shown by the Canadian Inventive and Scientific associates in Toronto and, its originator says, it is a plant transplantor. Which means (we think) that you just aim it at a petunia, press the handle, and carry the petunia to another new spot in the garden.

Have You A Question on UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE OR EMPLOYMENT?

In this column we publish questions about unemployment insurance and employment, together with answers received from the Unemployment Insurance Commission.

If you are uncertain about any point do not hesitate to send your question to your district Unemployment Insurance office. We will obtain an answer and publish it in this column.

Q. Last year, until June, I was on unemployment insurance. In June they still owed me 24 days' benefit, but I was told I was not entitled to benefit any more. Passing through another town, I was offered employment that may last two to three months. How much time must I work to receive benefit once more, after these two or three months? Will I be entitled to benefit and for how long? Will my 24 days be lost? (The last day I worked in 1954 was at the beginning of March).

A. If you make a claim for benefit immediately after working two to three months in insurable employment, you may qualify for benefit once more provided you have 180 days' contributions over the past two years. On your new claim you may receive one day's benefit for every five days you contributed during the previous five years, but from that total will be deducted one-third of the number of days you received benefit in the last three years. The 24 days which were not payable at the time your claim ended (June of last year) are not payable at any time. Since you cannot receive benefit for the 24 days, they will not be taken into account in the deduction explained above.

Q. I work in a plant where there is a union and I belong to the union. If I am unemployed and there is a job available in a plant where there is not a union, would such a job be considered suitable employment for me?

A. If accepting a job in a plant where there is no union would jeopardize your rights in the union you belong to, then that job would not be considered suitable employment.

Epigram for the Week

Colorful Scene at L.H.S. Graduation and Dance

It was a happy occasion last Friday evening at Lachute High School, when the graduating class of 1955 held their formal dance, to which parents and friends were also invited.

The school gymnasium was attractively decorated with light-blue streamers, closely strung from the centre of the hall and extending to the walls.

As introduction to the evening's proceedings, Rodger MacAdam called upon Brian Gray to take over the duties of m.c. School Board Chairman Jas. W. McGibbon briefly welcomed all present, and congratulated the graduating class — hoping that the time spent in "Lachute High" would stand them in good stead, and wishing them godspeed in whatever direction their future might lead.

The "Life History" of the class was given by Malcolm Cairns, the graduates standing as their respective names were called.

Barbara Wilson and Ronald Neil presented the "Last Will and Testament," in a humorous vein which provoked mirth among the audience.

The "Class Prophecy" was expressed in rhyme by Miss Olive Pollock and Vincent Trayers, and the Valedictory was given by George Bennett.

Principal F. H. J. Royal, in his remarks to the gathering, compared the length of time required to graduate, which takes eleven years, with that of preparation for other vocations, taking only several years. These were years of training for the future, and all pupils must use them to good advantage if they are to be successful in a competitive world.

"Life", he said, "is something more than technical knowledge. One must be first a man and a good citizen." He emphasized that further education would be required, that there was no end to education, and that the final diploma in life was — a tombstone.

"We regret to say farewell to you graduates," said Principal Royal, "but we rejoice with you; we ask you to be precise and systematic; and we extend best wishes for your future success and prosperity. May the training you have received in Lachute High School serve you well."

The class, with young ladies in their white graduation gowns and youthful escorts in blue blazers, presented an appealing group, seated on the platform in view of the many who had come to celebrate with them.

Music was supplied by the "Westernaires" of Montreal, and the Grand March, led by Jean McOuat and Rodger MacAdam, was delightful to watch. Black silhouettes of all Grade XI pupils graced the walls, and the youthful charm, the music and soft lights created an atmosphere to remain long in the memory of Lachute High School's senior students.

Refreshments were served — and altogether this highlight of the school term was considered one of the best yet.

Vaccine Clinics Proceeding Here On Schedule

Anti-polio inoculations throughout the county are continuing on schedule, according to Dr. L. Turcotte, County Health Officer, who reports that all the allotted vaccine was used in the different municipalities in which clinics have been held to date.

A clinic is being held in Lachute today, Thursday, when the first inoculation for this area will take place, at the local Health Unit. Parents are requested to bring their children, born in 1953 and previous to this date, to the Health Unit from the hours of 10 a.m. to 12 noon and 2 to 4 p.m.

Dr. Turcotte reports that in the event the vaccine is not all used today, a clinic will be held in the Health Unit Saturday, commencing 10 a.m. Parents, however, are requested to check on the possible Saturday clinic before bringing their children to the Health Unit.

The Brownsburg Clinic will be held tomorrow, Friday, commencing at 3 p.m. in the Social Club.

Dates for the second inoculation are as follows, and parents who have had their children inoculated once are requested to be sure they are present at the clinics on the dates below:

Concerts Assocn. Member Campaign Opens on Monday

With Mrs. W. M. Cottingham as president-elect for the 1955-56 Community Concerts Association, and Dr. Marc Papineau as campaign chairman, a successful enrolment campaign is anticipated as the annual drive opens with an inaugural rally of workers next Monday.

It is the aim of Dr. Papineau and his committee to sign up a record number of members this year. Campaign headquarters will be established, as usual, at the Bedard Ltée store on Main Street, by courtesy of the management, and Albert Delorimier, Columbia Artists Corpn. representative in this territory, will be on hand to assist with the campaign.

The past season's concerts, under the enthusiastic presidency of Miss Juliette Rodrigue, are recalled with satisfaction by all who attended. These four recent recitals included: Joseph Battista, celebrated pianist, in October; Ray and Gomez, Spanish dance team, in November; the Becker Ensemble, instrumentalists, in February; and Jan Rubes, popular bass-baritone, last month. Each of these programs drew warm acclaim. It was felt the financial resources of the Association had been "invested" for the highest dividends in public entertainment.

It is pointed out, in the current campaign, that the more numerous the subscribers, the larger the budget — permitting, accordingly, bigger and better bookings from next season's list of artists.

Lt.-Col. V. Jekyll Leaves Ottawa for Local Assignment

Lieut-Col. Victor Henry Jekyll has retired from National Defence Headquarters to serve in this section, with which he has long been associated.

Col. Jekyll has been engaged in research at Ottawa since 1952. He leaves there the end of May to represent the Royal Canadian Dental Corps as Dental Consultant to the RCAF at the Lac St. Denis Radar Station, Morin Heights, and the Montreal Airport at Dorval.

Along with his new duties, Col. Jekyll will continue the project he began in Ottawa — operating from his home, "Unto the Hills", Cote Marcotte, on Route 11 midway between St. Jerome and Lesage. Col. and Mrs. Jekyll will be in residence there June 1.

Laurentian District 6th Scout Rally Planned May 21

Plans are being made for the 6th Annual Rally of the Boy Scouts Association, Laurentian District.

The Laehute Fair Grounds have again been selected for this district display of Scouting on Saturday afternoon, May 21. (However should unfavorable weather intervene, the event will be rescheduled for the 28th).

A chartered train will bring the Montreal Boy Scouts Band, as well as Scouts, Cubs, parents and friends from Ste. Rose, Rosemere and Ste. Therese. Others will travel by bus from such points as Laval West, St. Eustache, St. Eustache-sur-le-Lac, Shawbridge, Grenville, Lac St. Denis, Brownsburg and Lachute.

The guest of honor will be Mr. Fred J. Finlay, Chief Executive Commissioner of the Canadian Boy Scouts Association.

The special train is expected to arrive in Lachute about 10 a.m. and the usual parade will take place from the CPR Station to the Fair Grounds (weather permitting).

The Brownsburg Women's Institute will again operate the refreshment concession.

B. A. Jenkins of Lachute is Rally Chairman and R. B. Elliott of Brownsburg is Rally Marshal.

The program is scheduled to commence at 1 p.m. sharp, and to continue through the afternoon.

Hon. Cottingham Will Officiate at Lach. Spring Fair

The Hon. W. M. Cottingham, Quebec Minister of Mines and M.L.A. for Argenteuil, will officially open the Lachute Spring Fair on June 15, it was announced this week.

The four-day exhibition will feature the usual harness racing and various contests, with keen competition expected in livestock, crafts and other exhibits. All livestock entries must be forwared to S. G. Patterson, secretary-manager before May 20.

Entries and Theft At Morin Heights

Two break-ins were reported in the Morin Heights area last week, the total haul being around $35 in cash.

The CNR station was once again entered and although there were about 60 express packages in the building, it appears that none was opened, nor was anything reported missing by the station officials.

The money was reported stolen from the Bellevue Hotel, Morin Heights. Officers from the local provincial police detachment investigated.

Call Public Referendum on By-law Re Tax Assessment New Industries

Three-Year Term for Mayor and Aldermen Presently Under Study

By-law No. 196, pertaining to new industries in the Town of Lachute, was passed in two readings at the regular session of Council held in the Town Hall last Wednesday evening. Dates for the referendum to approve or reject this proposed by-law (published in full on page 2 of this issue) were set for Monday and Tuesday, June 6-7, with the vote continuing to Wednesday, June 8, if necessary. . . The meeting opened with the full council membership present. Mayor Dr. F. Walter FitzGerald, being called away on business after the opening of the session, was replaced by Pro-mayor Judes E. Charlebois until the mayor's return shortly afterwards.

Business with the Parish of St. Jerusalem Council concerning Henry Street water and sewer problems, was tabled pending a meeting of the two councils.

Notice of motion was given by Ald. Romain Desjardins that, at the next regular session of the Council, he would present for adoption a by-law proposing the change of date of the elections for mayor and aldermen. Details entailed in extending the mandates of the mayor and aldermen were discussed, and the matter was held over for further study. If and when the decision is made to extend the term of office to three years, it will not affect the Council sitting at that time.

It was moved by Ald. D. G. MacRae, seconded by Ald. E. O. Pollock, that Fernand Legault, Q.C., be appointed official legal advisor to the Corporation of the Town of Lachute. The appointment requires no retainer for the present year.

Tenders were called to complete the outside of the Town Hall, and it was unanimously adopted, on a suggestion by Romain Desjardins, that in future all tenders would be clearly marked "Tender for (article or position tendered for)" or else the letter would not be considered a tender.

Discussion concerning Evelina Street was resumed, with Gordon Cruise requesting that Council meet the cost of some 50 feet of sewer on Cruise Blvd. in return for his deeding the Council property to straighten Evelina Street for the sum of one dollar. The matter was left to the Roads Committee chairman, Ald. D. G. MacRae.

Several names were mentioned as prospective valuators for the town, and the Finance Committee was instructed to employ three assessors for the year 1955. Remuneration for this job is $1.25 an hour.

It was moved by Ald. Ross Muir that the list of urgent sidewalk repairs be attended to at once, and that in future any sidewalk to be built or repaired be brought before the Council. The motion, seconded by Ald. E. O. Pollock, was carried. Following discussion on the sidewalk situation, it was decided that public notice would be given that all sidewalks with the exception of those on private property must be built by the town.

TULIPS IN CANADA AND HOLLAND

Every spring a 25-square-mile stretch between Lisse and Haarlem in the Netherlands bursts into brilliant color so gorgeous its beauty surpasses the fanciest imagination. From its superb and massive tulip fields like this (right) near Lisse, Holland exports more than three billion bulbs each year. To Canada last year came 52,500,000 Dutch bulbs valued at more than $1,250,000, and more are coming this year. So plentiful are Dutch tulips becoming in Canada they are almost as symbolic of this country as of Holland. Already Ottawa, with justification, claims the title of Canada's Tulip Capital and times its mid-May Tulip Festival to coincide with the tulips' peak of magnificence. Verna Rousseau is pictured beside a vast border of Dutch tulips at the foot of the Peace Tower on Ottawa's Parliament Hill.

$150,000 Factory Blaze At Alexandria, Ont.

Alexandria — Two families were made homeless last Friday in a fire which destroyed two homes and a sash and door factory in this town. Damage was estimated at $150,000.

Municipal authorities granted $300 to the two families, who lost all their possessions. Arrangements also were made to start a fund to assist the fire victims.

Fifteen employees of the sash and door factory were put out of work by the blaze which broke out in the frame plant during the lunch hour. Dwellings directly across from the blazing plant caught fire. The factory was levelled in 15 minutes. Five other nearby dwellings were damaged.

Owner of the factory is Rolland Challette.

History of Local Rotary Reviewed On 10th Anniversary of Club, May 12

At its meeting tonight, the Rotary Club of Brownsburg passes its 10th milestone, with fitting observances. A number of distinguished guests will be present to mark the occasion, under chairmanship of President Fred Royal. Following is a resumé, in brief, of the local Club's inception, growth and activities:

Genesis

The proposal for a Rotary Club to embrace the areas of Brownsburg and Lachute was first mooted by the Rotary Club of Hawkesbury in the year 1944. Active steps were taken by its energetic president — Doug Silverson (later to become District Governor) — at the time, and much credit is due to him and his Club for the final success which crowned their efforts. Progress, however, would have been much slower were it not for the persistence and devotion of Sam Ross, then operating a clothing store in Brownsburg, who by the end of 1944 had attracted about 30 residents of the two towns who seemed sufficiently interested to consider forming a club.

An organizational meeting took place at Carrière's Hotel, Brownsburg, on January 18, 1945. Mayor Dorius Lepine of Brownsburg presided. The meeting was approached for a decision, and 26 of those present, almost unanimous approval, signified that they were willing to become members. Sam Ross was the overwhelming choice for first president of the Club. This was particularly gratifying as he had contributed so much towards the happy result. Harris Sherwood was elected vice-president Wes Freeland and Armand Bourgon secretary and treasurer, respectively, and Charlie Moseley Jim Houlden, Dorius Lepine and Dr. Ralph Percival were elected directors.

It was agreed that Club headquarters would be at Carrière's Hotel. (The Club subsequently moved to the Marquise Hotel, and finally to the Brownsburg Legion Memorial Hall.) The provisional club met for the first time on February 1, 1945, and members were appointed to committees.

The first speaker to address the club was Aurele Coté, a retired civil engineer who was at the time assisting the war effort in personnel work with C-I-L at Brownsburg.

Charter No. 5926 was granted on March 14, 1945, and the first meeting as a chartered club took place the next day. The occasion was celebrated by a photograph being taken of the members present. This picture is presently in the

Art Work Display By Pupils of Janine Leroux

Colorful crafts by young pupils of Miss Janine Leroux, and artwork by adult students, will be displayed at the Catholic High School here Friday and Saturday, May 20-21, both afternoon and evening. Besides giving a glimpse at creations which have captivated the interest and engaged the hands of many youngsters since Miss Leroux commenced her courses in Lachute the exhibits will also reveal development of expression in her older pupils, through experience with new subjects and new media of art.

Parents and all interested are cordially invited to this exhibition, on the afternoon and evening of May 20-21, at l'Ecole Supérieure. There will be a preview and reception, by invitation, at 8 o'clock the previous evening, May 19.

Jail-Breaker in Lachute Direction, Still At Large

Gordon Gardner, alias Gagnier, 43, of Hawkesbury, is still at large following his escape from St. Jerome jail two weeks ago — according to Det. M. Lamoureux. Gardner made good his escape with two other prisoners who were later captured.

Gardner, a native of Bathurst, N.B., was believed heading for the Lachute-Hawkesbury area following his escape. Det. Lamoureux, on whose charge Gardner was in jail, was called to St. Jerome when the escape was discovered. Meanwhile Traffic Officer Howard Jones stopped and searched all cars entering Lachute from the direction of St. Jerome.

The two officers spent some time at Gardner's house in Hawkesbury, where his wife and nine children are still living.

Provincial Police report that a house situated between St. Jerome and this district was broken into shortly after the escape; only clothing was reported stolen.

Gardner had served the majority of his year-long sentence for the theft of a truck in Grenville last summer, but was to be turned over to Ontario authorities, in whose charge he would have spent another three years in prison.

Jean Paul Bastien, 24, and Stanley Brown, 42, of Ste. Adele, were recaptured within a few hours of the escape. The bars of their cells had been sawn through.

Gardner is described by the local authorities as a man 5' 10" tall, 157 pounds, having a dark, thin face and brown hair. He has a scar on the palm of his right hand.

Charity Federation Asks Co-operation, September Appeal

The new Federation of Charities is advancing cautiously through the complexities involved in an enterprise of this kind — the directors making every effort to establish this body on a sound structure before coming before the public.

It is planned to hold the Federation's campaign during September next, and other charity organizations in the community are asked to co-operate, by withholding any fund appeal to the local public around that time.

The Lachute Federation of Charities will co-ordinate aid and welfare groups in the three parishes of "Greater Lachute", and its joint campaign will eliminate individual appeals for the various participating units. To ensure the success of this purpose and for the general welfare of all concerned, non-participating charities are respectfully urged to co-operate by reserving the month of September for this campaign.

Much Ado About Rumored Hold-Up At Local Bank

Reports of a hold-up early Tuesday afternoon at the Bank of Montreal in Lachute are completely unfounded, according to Donald M. Hay, branch manager.

Police Chief L. Ducharme, who answered the call along with Cst. Oscar Sabourin, states the hold-up rumor started when the police officers were called to the bank to check on a suspected party who had negotiated cheques which appeared to be fraudulent. A member of the staff followed the person as she left the bank after attempting to cash a fourth cheque.

The police received the impression from the employee outside that the bank had been held up, and that the would-be robbers had left town by way of the St. Jerome highway on a motor-scooter. Without checking at the bank, which they thought would cause undue delay, they immediately gave chase after notifying the Provincial Police.

On their return to the bank, having travelled about seven miles on the St. Jerome Highway, across Cote St. Louis Road and back to Lachute via St. Hermas, the mistake was discovered and the search called off — the provincial authorities being duly notified.

Widespread Alert

A province-wide hold-up alarm was sent out by police radio from Montreal, and Traffic Officer Howard Jones headed towards Lachute from the Milmar area, while Provincial Police cars came from St. Jerome, St. Eustache, Ste. Therese, Grenville, and even from Montreal where members of the hold-up squad were dispatched here. Traffic Officer Albert Chenelle was assigned to hold strategic spot at the Perley Bridge.

Traffic Officer Jones soon notified Montreal of the false alarm, after which the chase was called off.

Gatineau Power Lines

Adequate House Wiring

Inadequate or faulty circuits in your home can turn electricity into a dangerous enemy instead of a helpful friend..

This unfortunate situation is likely to arise in those homes which were wired many years ago, when few appliances were available and house circuits were designed merely to carry sufficient current to provide light.

The dimming of lights when appliances are turned on is an indication of inadequate wiring. Burned fuses are a positive sign of overloaded circuits.

Modern home wiring can pay for itself in increased comfort, efficiency and safety.

Your electrical contractor can contribute to your safety by his knowledge of what is unsafe in electrical work.

The steady swing to electrical living, with its many modern appliances, has placed upon old circuits loads which they were never intended to carry. The only permanent solution is a rewiring job to provide adequate circuits.

Committee This Week To Lay Groundwork For Farm Organization

A decision to organize an English-speaking organization in Quebec was made by 130 delegates at a recent meeting at Macdonald College. Farm leaders from 22 counties with sizeable numbers of English-speaking farm people, named a provisional committee with Keith Graig, a dairy farmer from Ormstown, as chairman.

The provisional committee is to meet at the college on May 13 to prepare a program, outline a constitution, and initiate a membership campaign.

Plans and proposals put forward at the initial meeting suggested that the new organization should be entirely farmer-controlled and financed. It was pointed out that such an organization would be free to take whatever steps it feels necessary to protect and promote the interest of the province's 10 to 15 thousand English-speaking farmers.

Quebec Farm Forum executive, which called the meeting, explained that public issues have now become so controversial that it was unwise for the Forums to continue to act as spokesman for all English-speaking farmers. A farmers' organization must be free to express its views on government affairs without involving Farm Forum which receives public support for its educational program.

Representatives from French-speaking Quebec's Catholic Farmers' Union (UCC) and the Co-operative Federee along with Floyd F. Griesbach, national secretary of National Farm Forum, and H. H. Hannam, president of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture helped the meeting in their deliberations.

Irrigation Aids Tobacco Farmers

Ottawa (CP) — Irrigation has proved a success on tobacco farms in the Delhi area of western Ontario, the agriculture department says.

Fourteen farms, about 30 miles south of Brantford, were studied last year. The department reports that average production was about one ton per acre. Farm operators attributed more than 400 pounds per acre to irrigation.

Annual irrigation costs averaged $1,700 per farm. The total value of the increased yield was about $9,000 leaving a net return of $7,300 per farm — or about $167 per acre.

Farmers also said that the quality of irrigated tobacco brought a premium of two to four cents a pound and that it matured about 10 days earlier, thus cutting frost losses.

BRITISH PEDIGREE LIVESTOCK

London — Canada is still one of Britain's best markets for pedigree livestock. The annual report of the U.K. Livestock Export Group just issued in London says Canada last year bought a total of 211 head of pedigree cattle, sheep, pigs, horses and ponies.

Saving Labor in Chore Routine

A saving of 256 hours of labor and 42 miles of walking in a year, resulted from changes in chore routine on a dairy farm at a cost of less than ten dollars. This new routine saved almost one month a year in chore time, reports the Economics Division, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, after a study of labor costs on over 1,000 Ontario dairy farms.

In 1949 the owner of this dairy farm became a member of the Dairy Herd Improvement Association of Ontario. Shortly after receiving some literature on the time and motion technique of studying dairy barn chores he decided to enlist the help of a friend who was in sympathy with his aims. While the farmer went about his tasks in the usual manner his friend recorded the time required for all jobs performed and the distance travelled.

On analyzing the results, it was revealed that the operator required only 61 minutes and 354 steps per cow per day to do the summer chores. A similar study during the winter months showed that 14 1/3 minutes and 636 steps were needed per cow per day to do the chores. The farmer was not satisfied, so with a very few minor alterations at little expense, increased his labor efficiency to the extent mentioned, and still maintained the high quality of milk that had always been produced.

Changes in chore routine such as those tried by this dairy farmer can be made on any farm. Usually it requires only a questioning attitude towards every part of the routine and recognition of the need for a change. For further information on this subject write to the Information Service, Canada Department of Agriculture in Ottawa and request Publication 913 — Labor Analysis of Dairy Barn Chores.

PUBLIC NOTICE

Town of Lachute — By-law No. 196

By-law 196 of the Corporation of the Town of Lachute is published in its entirety below. A referendum to approve or reject the said By-law, will be held on Monday and Tuesday, June 6 and 7, the polling booth being in the Town Office.

At a meeting of the Municipal Council of the Town of Lachute, at which were present the Mayor, Dr. F. Walter FitzGerald, and the Aldermen, Messrs. Ross R. Muir, Real Morrissette, Romain Desjardins, Alcidas Laurin, Stanley Church, Edgar Pollock, Judes E. Charlebois, Donald G. MacRae and Wilbrod Cousineau, forming a quorum.

WHEREAS the Town of Lachute, at the last session of the legislature has obtained additional powers and has thus modified its charter;

WHEREAS new industries are necessary for the Town of Lachute;

WHEREAS those new industries need nevertheless, before settling, to know for a limited time their financial obligation, namely, their municipal valuation;

WHEREAS it is advantageous that the valuation of the moveables necessary for the operations of new industries for the Town of Lachute including the land, constructions, plants, machineries and accessories which are immoveable by destination or which would be so if they belonged to the owners of the real properties, be set at an amount not less than 50% of their municipal valuation in force each year and that for a term not exceeding ten years, the whole in conformity with private bill No. 102 as sanctioned at the last session of the Provincial Legislature;

It is by the present By-law ordained and decreed as follows:

1. That the Municipal Council of the Town of Lachute be authorized to make private agreements with new industries for the Town of Lachute concerning their municipal valuation only and for a limited time as determined as such: —

(a) To establish, for municipal valuation only of new industries for the Town of Lachute, the valuation of the immoveables necessary for their operations including the land, construction, plants, machineries and accessories which are immoveable by destination or which would be so if they belonged to the owners of the real properties, as for all improvements which have been made thereto at a sum not less than 50% of their municipal valuation in force each year.

(b) No industry may benefit by such fixing of valuation for a period of more than ten years from the date of the coming into force of the said private agreement.

(c) This By-law must be approved by the property owners in number and in value.

This By-law will come into force according to law after its legal adoption by the property owners.

— F. Walter FitzGerald, Mayor;
Jacques Poitras, Acting Sec.-Treas.

MEMBER AUDIT BUREAU OF CIRCULATIONS

The Cancer Campaign

THE CANCER Campaign was officially launch-in Argenteuil Monday, and canvassers are on the job this week.

We feel the urgency and worthiness of this appeal needs no emphasis. Cancer is no respecter of rank, race or status. It comes so close as to affect our families, and our neighbors' families, with startling reality and alarming frequency. . .

It remains for this column, however, to jog the conscience of those too lackadaisical to subscribe. Argenteuil is a newly co-ordinated unit in the Canadian Cancer Society, embracing the two established groups at Brownsburg and Lachute with a still more extensive area. With this new organizational set-up, it is altogether probable many may be overlooked in the sectional canvass. Dr. Jules Lafleur, ex-Mayor of Lachute, is president, and Roger Lagarde, advocate, is the campaign chairman. And the treasurer, W. J. Buckley, manager of the Bank of Nova Scotia, Lachute, will be pleased to receive donations at his office or by mail.

Fishing Time

THE "gone fishing" sign is out once again across Canada. It's the time of year when men suddenly have to find a rippling brook where they can sit back against the trunk of a tree, dangle their lines in the water and wait for a bite.

The men forget troubles at home and the office, and boys race about in their imaginations from one adventure to another, school and chores forgotten. It's real living, they say.

Of course, the little woman may not think so. Fishing time always seems to come around just when there's spring cleaning to be done, lawns to cut, houses to paint and gardens to be planted.

But so far men have been able to preserve fishing as one of their freedoms.

Some folks say fishing has changed. They say there's no sport to fishing any more. What with restocking programs to make it easy. And they say the day of the barefoot boy with the pole and bent pin have long since gone and that boys now wear shoes and have expensive equipment.

They're only partly right. Provincial governments have been restocking lakes and streams for several years. They've set limits on size and takes, they've closed some areas to help fish develop and they've started clearing waters of pollution.

But they've been helped by the fishermen themselves. Members of fish and game clubs realize that unless streams are restocked there won't be enough fish left for everybody in a few years, and have urged governments to take steps to prevent this.

Fishing has become big business — the industry in Canada last year earned $200,000,000. And don't forget it's an integral part of the fast-growing tourist business which currently is netting the country about $200,000,000 annually.

But whether you go fishing with a $100 rod or the limb of a tree, the sport and relaxation are still the same.

No Intervention

BUSINESS MEN who complain about too much government interference should not bemoan a decision of the Restrictive Trade Practices Commission that Ottawa take no action to curb "bait advertisers" and "loss-leaders". It is a sound contention that business should be able to surmount less-ethical competition and curb its own offenders.

Here in the newspaper business we, too, contend with unfair practices — notably misstatements on circulation (upon which advertising revenue depends). But by honest policy and rigorous voluntary auditing, on our part, and by concerted effort among our colleagues in the trade, we are confident such malpractices will be overcome. Certainly we seek no government intervention on this score. Like most other business enterprises, the newspapers already are pestered with auditors, inspectors and questionnaires from far too many official departments.

There was agitation from many Canadian selling groups for government action in this matter of loss-leaders. The Restrictive Trade Practices Commission began its hearings a year ago, and in releasing its 4,000 page report to the government, concluded that (1) Loss-leader selling is neither prevalent nor serious enough to need shackling legislation. (2) The Resale Price Maintenance Act should not be re-instated. Its repeal has done much to lower prices and increase competition.

The Commission's comment, in brief: Any legislative interference with free competition requires substantial proof of the evil it is meant to correct. So far, we have not seen such proof.

The Commission suggested two ways business groups could remedy this form of competition: (1) By stronger support of such organizations as the Better Business Bureau, to help set higher advertising standards. (2) "In flagrant cases" by enforcing Section 306 of the new Criminal Code, which makes it an indictable offence for anyone "to publish or cause to be published an advertisement containing untrue, deceptive or misleading statements for the purpose of selling a product or service."

25 Per Cent Stay Home

ROAD MAPS and trans-continental tours may be your prime interest just now — if you are one of those travel-conscious souls whose annual vacation means far fields and distant vistas. It may surprise you, however, to know that Canadians, generally speaking, just aren't the travelling kind. About one-quarter of them have never left their native province, and another 25 per cent have visited only two provinces.

— That's hard to believe. Yet travelling brought Canada $278,000,000 last year — more than $25 per man, woman and child.

These and other facts were pointed out by Homer Robinson of the Canadian Government Travel Bureau at a Lions Club meeting in Ottawa last week. It was stressed also that the importance of the tourist industry meant that everyone should do something to help. The speaker suggested that courtesy and cleanliness came first. Cleaning up parks and service stations, and repairing roads and town thoroughfares, were considerations specially mentioned.

Attitude on Immigration

SOME TIME this year, Australia will receive its millionth post-war immigrant. Canada received its millionth such immigrant last year. But Canada's population is nearly twice as large as Australia's — 15.5 million against 9 million. Thus, Australia's immigration accomplishment outshines that of Canada.

Australia is currently taking about 135,000 immigrants annually, or 1.5 per cent of her population. Canada last year took 154,000 immigrants, or 1 per cent of her population.

Interesting is the point, brought out by Prime Minister Robert Menzies on his recent Ottawa visit, that immigration has the "full blessing" of Australia's powerful trade union movement. Canadian union leaders are less far-sighted — remarks the Fort Erie Letter-Review.

Civil Defence

UP TO NOW it's been difficult to get Canadians to take civil defence seriously, says The Financial Post, chiefly because of the wildly impractical mass evacuation schemes proposed for the big cities. It has seemed to most that civil defence against atomic war would be so formidable as to be almost impossible. But increasing information now suggests this view is inadequate. The best thing said on this subject so far comes from Canada's top scientific scientist, O. B. Solandt of the Defence Research Board. Here's what he said:

"It is quite obvious that a large proportion of the people who are likely to be injured by fall-out after the bomb explosion can be saved from death or injury by suitable guidance and instruction. I will not go into the details of such measures, but merely wish to assure you that from the point of view of the scientist the advent of the thermo-nuclear bomb has made civil defence more rather than less important."

Sales on the Wing

THERE'S A CATCH. Don't let your wife open a parcel in a closed room, just because a label bears those specific instructions.

Here's another of those ingenious sales approaches we've been telling you about. From wholesaler to retailer, it might, any time now, be sprung upon the unsuspecting consumer. . .

"A new sample girdle was sent to retail buyers in 60 cities. Outside the perforated box was a caution to open it in a closed room. Contents consisted of a woman's girdle, an order blank and a carrier pigeon. In most instances the urge to fill in the blank, attach it as directed to the bird's leg and send it homing, proved irresistible."

Assignment for Inventors

• Geoff's Journal •

"NE CEDE MALIS!"

The title for this article was snitched. It was taken, lock, stock and barrel, from "The Pigtail", a small, four-page paper that emanates from the hallowed halls of South Kent School, in South Kent, Connecticut, U.S.A. A student venture, it contains much of interest to the pupils and teachers of the school, and much of interest, too, for the journalist who finds himself facing a deadline with nothing to write about.

The volume of the "Pigtail" that came to me from one of the school's inmates, by a circuitous route, was published on Thursday, January 27th last. It stated that it was the fifth issue of Volume XXVIIII — which may mean XXVIII or XXIX. Take your pick! Nevertheless, if you chance upon that particular copy, you will find, on page four, a feature column called: "NE CEDE MALIS". Written by Peter K. Dyke — Class of '56 — the article is "the first in a series." Just how many such articles will comprise the series, the paper fails to state. It is reasonable to expect, however, that the series will continue until (a) Peter K. Dyke graduates in 1956 or (b) if Dyke fails his finals, until such time as he does graduate, or (c) until the columnist says something nasty about the school or faculty and brings his articles to an abrupt end.

After reading Dyke's first attempt, I felt as though I were watching the birth of a new humorous author. Unless this scribe is wrong, there lies within young Dyke the potential of a Benchley, a Woollcott or a Fred Allen. For my money, I feel he's worth keeping and eye on and, unless he changes his name — which would be a pity — we can expect to hear much more of Peter K. Dyke in years and books to come. Let me show you an example of his work.

". . . Uppermost on the importance list is a world-wide problem which has been with the human race for at least four centuries. This problem arose with the advent of pockets, ordinary everyday pants and coat pockets. Contained within these pockets is a substance (not money which, whenever in hand, is no problem) defined by some as dust, by others as lint and other more descriptive names as 'slough' (alt. 'sluff') and 'fliffle'. The problem arising is to decide what can be done with this substance. Discussing this problem with several educated sources, I have learned of several unique uses. In Los Angeles where the air is occasionally (as Los Angeles say) 'thick', one man ran a drive for collection of this 'material' and made filters out of it so he would be able to purify the air which came into his home. Incidentally, he reports that it takes approximately 450,000 gray flannel (Oxford) suitcoats to make one filter the size of one volume of the Encyclopedia Brittanica. A man in Chicago who suffered from acute insomnia discovered a pillow stuffed with sluff was just the solution to his problem. A doctor, however, reports that if you have asthma or other allergies — this is not the thing to use. Many other uses have come up, ranging from ice-box insulation to packing for marbles shipped to the poor, starving Korean children.

"It is my hope that in this item above, I have helped somebody in some way, solve one of his many problems.

"For this next item I have to thank my dear friend Omar Eckford who also runs a similar column for a fine paper with a small circulation. It seems he was riding on a bus one evening and fell into a conversation with the driver. In the course of the conversation the driver asked, 'College learnin' sure sticky fingers the green stuff, don't it?' To Omar's request of a repeat, the driver said, 'Higher education is certainly beneficial in obtaining a higher paying job, isn't it?'

"The next printing of NE CEDE MALIS will include some personal interviews with many highly interesting people, who were interviewed throughout the past vacation.

"Etaoin & Shrdlu."

I gather that Peter K. Dyke is in the 15-16 age bracket. If that is the case, and if his sense of humor increases with his years, then we should be able to enjoy some evenings of fun, in the not-too-distant future, reading through the books he writes. But perhaps I'm wrong. It may well be that young Dyke has plans for his future that are so far removed from writing as to be a cause for genuine sorrow.

I must check with my friend at court and urge him to urge Dyke into the writing field. It would be tragic if he took up ballet or something.

As of March 1954, an estimated 67,500 full-time students were enrolled in universities and colleges across Canada.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

A baseball umpire has a soft time compared to that lesser-known hero, the Household Referee.

The Household Referee is a man who happens to be visiting a married couple and finds himself drafted to call the shots and the fouls in a talking match between man and wife.

I got wedged into this position the other day. Here's a rough report of what happened. Details have been changed to protect guilty people. . .

"Don't you think it's too cold in here?" asked the lady of the house, fixing me with a stare of command.

But her husband was already unbuttoning his shirt collar and mopping his brow.

"Well," I said, "it's cooler than it was."

"Don't you think it's like an inferno in here, eh?" said the man of the house, unbuttoning his shirt to the waist and rolling up his sleeves. Maybe he was stripping because of the heat, but I didn't care for the way he flexed his biceps.

"Well, no, I wouldn't say it was like an INFERNO, exactly," I answered, with caution. "But it's a lot warmer than the last house I was in."

"What kind of a house was that?" the wife enquired, sweetly. "An igloo?"

"I like your new paint," I said, nervously trying to change the subject.

"What?" the husband exploded. "You like that mess? My wife painted the walls. That green and yellow — ouch! It reminds me of a cabbage salad with too much oil in it."

"Everyone to his taste," I remarked. "But I didn't say anything about the walls. I only said I liked the ceiling. A very attractive shade of gray."

"You must be kidding," the wife said coldly. "Of all the dreary colors I ever saw, that ceiling George painted is the worst. It looks like a coffin lid."

"It is sober," I admitted, "but it depends how the light falls on it."

Both husband and wife were now staring at me with thinly veiled hostility.

"Well," I said, fumbling for conversation, "that certainly is a nice little dog of yours. Smart, too."

"Don't talk to me about the beast," said the lady of the house. "It's the plague of my life. Sheds hairs. Scatters stale bones. And stupid! If ever there was an imbecile among dogs, here it is."

On the 29th, "Neighborly News" will dog in the world," I said, "but anyway, he's lovable."

"Whaddya mean, he isn't bright?" the man growled. "That's the sharpest hunting dog for miles around. Lovable, eh? That's a joke. He's got jaws like a steel trap, Buster."

"Bah!" the wife put in. "I've seen this dog run from a large mouse. Some watchdog, too. A burglar has only to scratch his ears, and he's a friend for life."

"Sure," I said, reaching down to scratch the dog's ears. "There's a good dog." He sank his teeth in the fleshy part of my hand.

When the fuss died down, I took my leave. "Thanks for a nice evening," I said.

"You had a lousy evening," the man said.

"I wouldn't exactly say it was lousy," I objected. But between you and me, it was.

Surplus Milk Problem — Pennies or Quarters?

I have been telling you that profits are made a penny at a time, which is very true. But there is also the possibility of being so busy grabbing at the pennies that you don't see the quarters rolling past!

I was telling a feeder that MILK CHOW was at the lowest price since November, 1953, and that the quality gave it a big value over competitive feeds. He said, "Yes, BUT if it weren't for so much surplus milk . . ."

We hear of surplus milk regularly. So long as you don't have surplus milk, there might be a reason for feeding so-called cheap feeds; but when surplus milk cuts your net return, then you should feed a feed that will produce milk at a lower cost. And the one way to do this is to produce MORE MILK PER COW.

Let's figure it out: Say MILK CHOW costs 25 cents a bag more, and your average price for all milk is $3.00 per cwt. If you feed 5 pounds at a feed, then Milk Chow will cost .01½ cents more per feed, or your cow will have to give an extra half-pound of milk to pay the extra cost, that will be 300 lbs. more milk during her lactation period. Not an impossibility, eh!

The PURINA COMPANY built up their herd average from 6,800 lbs. in 1928 to 14,000 lbs. in 1951 without buying any replacements, and never paid over $500 for a bull. They did it by good breeding and good feeding, and what they did can be done by any one of you. To do it you will have to watch the quarters that roll out of the milk, not the pennies you save on the cheap bag of feed. Call us, or write for your supply today, won't you! We deliver.

Mrs. E. F. Polson, of Montreal, was the guest on Friday of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Mortimer.

Town Council

The mayor and secretary-treasurer were authorized to sign a deed with the Tower Company concerning the park in Mountain View.

It was moved by Ald. Ross Muir, seconded by Ald. Stanley Church, that a light be installed on Upper Grace Street near the Scott-MacTavish property line.

The secretary was authorized to send a request to Bell Telephone Company to install dial phones in the Town of Lachute as soon as possible.

A request from Tony Brunet for a building permit and for the installation of sewers and waterworks to his property on the Brownsburg Road (100 feet past the Underhill house), was tabled until an estimate on the work was available.

Building permits were granted to Marcel Brisbois for the erection of a house on Hamford Street in front of the Dominion Prime Wood (1954) plant, and to the Sabourin Pool Room for repairs to the frontal of the building, both to be under supervision of the Roads Committee.

A request from the Canadian Cancer Society asking permission to use loudspeakers during their parade was granted, same to be under supervision of Police Chief L. Ducharme.

The Council authorized the mayor and secretary-treasurer to sign a deed with Aldege Filion for property on the extension of Robert Street from Taylor to Gilbert Streets, making the width of the street 60 feet. The street is to be widened at the Council's convenience. The two officials were also authorized to sign a deed with Mr. Filion for a strip of land 630 feet long by 50 feet wide on Francis Street for the prolongation of Paquin Street.

Accounts totalling $14,637.23 were approved for payment — authorizing the settlement of all accounts with exception of the telephone used by Father Manseau in his Social Service work, which was to be checked prior to payment.

There being no further business, the meeting was adjourned sine die.

Northern Grenville

Sunday visitors at Mr. and Mrs. Louis Carrière's were Mr. and Mrs. Donat Lemay, and Miss D. Carrière, all of Brownsburg.

Mr. Clifford Cooke, of Lowe, Que., spent the week-end with his wife and family here.

Sunday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Adelard Dinelle were Mr. and Mrs. Ovila Presseault and family, of Lachute, and Mrs. Napoléon Desjardins and daughter, Paulette, of Grenville.

Mrs. Bernard McCart accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Lowe, of Lachute, to Calumet Island for the week-end, and attended the christening of the baby daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eric Cahill.

Mr. and Mrs. Scott MacLean and family, Mr. and Mrs. Bazil Mott and family, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon McVicar and family, and little Miss Marlene and Master Graham Dewar, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Earl McIntyre.

Mrs. Wyman Young and family, accompanied by Mr. Asa Young and Mrs. Harry Young, of Avoca, motored to Cornwall on Saturday to visit Mr. Young's sister, Mrs. Wm. Waite, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Daniel McGillivray.

Friends who attended the Debating Contest held in Hawkesbury High School on Friday evening, wish to congratulate all who took part — especially Eunice McMichael and Penny Foreman, who brought honors to Grenville in the topic "Five thousand dollars is a better gift for a High School graduate than a College education."

The operetta presented by Grades VI and VII of Grenville High School on Saturday evening, was very well done, and gave indication of much work on the part of both the teachers and the pupils. All who attended reported the program a success.

Messrs. James Cooke, Sr., and James Cooke, Jr., visited friends in Grenville on Sunday.

Mrs. Fred Cousins, of Alfred, Ont., spent Monday afternoon with Mrs. Art Smith in Grenville Bay.

Friends wish a speedy recovery to Mr. Samuel Rainey, who is in the Royal Victoria Hospital as a result of a fall in which he fractured his leg; also to Mr. Henri Lessard, who is in a Montreal hospital following a serious illness.

Mrs. Roy Brooker, Mrs. P. S. Cooke and Mrs. E. O. Bennett, of Ottawa, called on Mr. and Mrs. Russell Owens recently. They were on their way to Montreal to get Mr. George A. Clearihue, who has been ill, to take him to Ottawa for a visit.

Adjourned Session Of B'burg Council

(Our District Correspondent)

Brownsburg — At a brief adjourned portion of this month's council meeting, it was decided to wait till after next week's elections to appoint the stand-in for resigning Councillor Sam Rose.

The outgoing Mayor, Jas. Donaldson, reported that he had arranged with Mr. Quenneville to repair the town roads this week.

The secretary reported that, after a consultation with Father Manseau, he would suggest the corporation discontinue support to certain invalids, so that Quebec would accept them under the new law providing for such cases.

The secretary-treasurer's salary was discussed at some length and the councillors rather reluctantly agreed that, even as a part-time job, the $2,400 salary was inadequate. It was unanimously agreed to raise it to $3,000.

Wildlife management

Good woodlot management and wildlife conservation go hand in hand. By surrounding your woodlot with a thick cover with such plants as hawthorne, wild grape or wild apple, you will protect the forest and provide a haven for animals and birds. Desirable species will find a refuge from their natural enemies in these hedges, yet they will not interfere with your plans for predator control.

Organ For An Orphanage

Organ music now rises over the farming community of Schwarzach, Germany, home of St. Francis Children's Orphanage. The Roman Catholic Chapel congregation of 4 Fighter Wing, Baden-Soellingen, of the RCAF took up a collection and presented a new electric organ to the nearby girls' orphanage on April 7. Seated at the organ is the Mother Superior. On the left is the RCAF Station Chaplain, F/L P. Charbonneau; standing beside him is orphanage rector Father Tropf.

FIRECRACKERS

It seems to us that the part of wisdom would be to refrain from selling firecrackers at all to young children. Merchants would be helping themselves and the community if they acceded to this request and sold fireworks only to adults, and make it perfectly clear that they should not be exploded until the date suggested.

ACADEMIC TARGET

In Alberta, serious doubts have arisen as to the manner in which the provincial department of education is operating. The trouble has come to a head through the rejection last summer by several Canadian universities of a number of Alberta high school graduates who had completed the matriculation requirements of the University of Alberta.

Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Allard, of Hawkesbury, Ontario, announce the engagement of their daughter, Margaret Anne Grace Stargratt, to John B. Doyle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Doyle, of Dalhousie, New Brunswick. The wedding will take place August 13 at 10 a.m. in the presbytery of St. Alphonse de Liguori in Hawkesbury.

AMONG THE CHURCHES

Anglican Diocesan Advance Appeal Has $550,000 Objective

Anglican clergy and laymen in nearly 200 parishes in the Diocese of Montreal are completing plans for the opening of the Diocesan Advance Appeal for $550,000 next Sunday, May 15.

The purpose of the Appeal is to provide $250,000 to complete the Diocesan Administrative Centre; $200,000 to increase pensions of the clergy in the Diocese, their widows and dependent children; and $100,000 for church extension work.

Each parish has been allotted a quota and has organized its own canvassing force to solicit cash subscriptions and pledges payable over a three-year period.

One Montreal parish, St. Aidan's, has already announced that it has obtained its full quota in pledges, and from some other city parishes reports have been received that they have already made considerable progress towards their quotas from advance donations in cash and pledges.

John J. F. Bancroft is general chairman of the Appeal; John B. Stirling, vice-chairman; Inglis Willis, secretary; S. C. Norsworthy, treasurer; and Robert P. Jellett, chairman of the Speakers' Committee.

C.G.I.T. To Conduct Sunday Morning Service At Lachute United

The local group of the Canadian Girls in Training, under direction of Miss J. Catterson, will conduct the morning service at Lachute United Church on Sunday next.

The guest speaker will be Miss Daisy MacNeill, who is a Provincial Leader in C.G.I.T. work, and director of Provincial Girls' Work Board, Council of Christian Education, Montreal.

Miss MacNeill is quite well known in these regions, having from time to time conducted courses in leadership training for church work, and is a qualified and captivating speaker who can give a real challenge to her listeners. Her topic will be, "The Life of Christ as seen by St. John."

Other Guest Speakers For This Month

On Sunday, May 22, the morning service will be taken by the Rev. R. C. Belbin, B.A., B.D., who is in charge of hospital visitation of Montreal hospitals for the United Church of Canada.

Sundays, May 29 and June 5, the Secretary of the Montreal Presbytery, the Rev. R. DeWitt Scott, M.A., D.D., will be the guest preacher.

WILL SOMEBODY GOOF?

To "goof" in the vernacular of the day is to make a stupid mistake. Now men have the overwhelming and incredible power to blow up a metropolis, or maybe change the earth. Despite all possible precaution, there is always and forever the human factor in setting off atomic or hydrogen-powered explosions. How long before somebody goofs?

Bible Briefs

By A.A.M.

The Bible is rich in stories, and the purpose of this series is to encourage readers to look up for themselves the Bible versions of these incidents. If there are children in the family it is suggested that the story, and the Bible verses on which it is based, be read aloud.

Who was the "forerunner of Jesus" who preached in the wilderness of Judea. "Repent, for the Kingdom of Heaven is at hand?" He quoted from the prophet Isaiah, "Prepare the way of the Lord, make his paths straight."

This young, vigorous man, dressed in a garment of camel's hair, with a leather girdle around his waist, must have been a striking figure. Four nourishment he ate locusts and wild honey.

His fame spread throughout the land. Great crowds from Jerusalem and Judea and all the region around came to him to be baptized in the River Jordan, and to confess their sins.

When he saw many of the religious leaders of the people, Pharisees and Sadducees, coming for baptism, he reproached them. His words were stinging ones which must have made them angry. He cried: "You brood of vipers! Who warned you to flee from the wrath to come? Do not presume to say "We have Abraham as our father." For I tell you God is able from these stones to raise up children to Abraham. Bear fruit that befits repentence. Every tree that does not bear good fruit is cut down and thrown into the fire."

Then this wilderness prophet went on the speak of his baptism. He said "I baptize you with water for repentence, but he who is coming is mightier than I. His sandals I am not worthy to carry. He was baptize you with the Holy Spirit and with fire."

Read the third chapter of Matthew to find this man's name and the account of Jesus' baptism in Jordan by him."

THE ANSWER TO THE VITAL QUESTION

Christendom or Christianity — Which One Is "The Light of the World"?

For many centuries Christendom has dominated this world, and now the world's fate is bound up with that of Christendom. Can you afford to share Christendom's fate with her? Regardless of your religion, or if you claim no religion of any kind — the true-to-fact answer to this question is one that concerns you. It is time for honest people to know the frank answer and determine what course is the proper one to follow.

The new 32-page booklet Christendom or Christianity — Which One Is 'the Light of the World?' gives straightforward information worthy of your careful consideration. Read it! Pass copies on to others. The publishers are making available to you 50 copies of it for only $1.

Millions of copies have already been distributed. Obtain a supply and share them with your friends and neighbors. Order today! Single copies will be mailed to any address for 5 cents.

Catholic Women's League Diocesan Council Organized at St. Jerome

Miss Mary M. Ramsay, president of the Quebec Provincial Council, Catholic Women's League of Canada, recently organized a St. Jerome Diocesan Council. In the absence of the provincial convener of organization, Mrs. W. J. Dundin, Miss Ramsay acted as chairman of the organization meeting, which took place in l'Ecole Supérieure, Lachute. This diocese comprises the subdivisions of Lachute, Brownsburg and Rosemere.

The provincial president welcomed the clergy and ladies present.

The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. Jean MacFarlane; 1st vice, Mrs. Russell Summers, 2nd vice, Mrs. C. Robinson; 3rd vice, Miss Lillian Harrison; recording secretary, Mrs. E. A. Aitken; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Bernard Lowe; treasurer, Mrs. F. McGowan.

Councillors, Mrs. A. Relecom, Miss Lydia Lowe, Mrs. Russell Summers.

Prime Minister Honored, 50 Years A Lawyer

Quebec (CP) — Some 200 Quebec judges and lawyers gathered here last week to honor Prime Minister St. Laurent on his 50th anniversary as a lawyer.

Mr. St. Laurent was guest of honor with six other prominent members of the legal profession at a dinner tendered by the Quebec City bar association.

In a brief address Mr. St. Laurent said French Canadians must remain as they are without severing the link that binds them with all Canadians.

He said he has tried to make co-operation with all Canadians the keynote of his career.

"We must remain what we are — the sons of our ancestors, but we must not sever the providential link that binds us to other Canadians."

CREATE OWN SAVINGS

Those who would seek greater welfare benefits for Canadians may be on the wrong track. Secret of a prosperous nation does not seem to lie in social welfare, but in enabling people to earn their own living and create their own savings and purchasing power.

Red Cross Meeting For Month of May

The regular monthly meeting of the Red Cross, Lachute Unit, was held in the United Church hall on Wednesday afternoon, May 4.

The president, Mrs. Bert McGibbon, announced that, as in previous years, no further meetings will be held until September.

Mrs. Fraser Morrison reported that another shipment of supplies was being prepared to be sent to headquarters. As result of three months' active work by the Women's Work Committee, and Red Cross sewers and knitters, over 120 articles ranging from quilts to baby garments will be included in the shipment. Mrs. Morrison also reported that Mrs. G. G. Mitchell and her committee has made over 3,500 swabs for the Blood Transfusion Service.

Mrs. McGibbon thanked all those who had given such generous assistance during the past winter.

75 YEARS AGO

May 14, 1880 —

A new butcher shop has opened in the West End.

Mr. Patenaude has shipped eight barrels of maple syrup from Lachute to Winnipeg.

The sidewalks are in a dangerous condition in several parts of the village.

50 YEARS AGO

May 12, 1905 —

The news of the resignation of Mr. Maboh from the principalship of Lachute Academy is accepted by that institution with much regret.

Lachute is soon to be favored with another confectionery store — Mr. G. Creswell presently being busily engaged in refitting his property adjoining that of his father's flour and feed store.

25 YEARS AGO

May 16, 1930 —

A bush-fire, started last week in the woods north of Grece's Point by an enterprising citizen with clean-up ideas, shortly assumed such proportions as threatened to wipe out that picturesque hamlet, and considerable alarm was felt until the fire was brought under control.

Rules for Contest In Square Dancing At Lachute Fair

Prize money of $500 will be offered in the first Square Dance Competition in the history of Lachute Spring Fair, according to Syd Patterson, manager of the local exhibition. Dates for the Fair are June 15, 16, 17 and 18. The square dance competitions will take place nightly, the final winners being declared Saturday evening.

The competition is open to any set in Canada or the U.S.A. and entry forms available from the General Manager must be fully completed, accompanied by a $4 fee for each senior team, and be in the hands of the manager not later than June 1.

In the event that the number of entries is large enough, additional sets will be called off in the afternoon as well as during the evening. Sets must consist of four ladies and four gentlemen (named on the entry forms), but provision for substitutes has been made, according to Mr. Patterson.

All sets will be called upon to dance to the caller provided by the Exhibition, to a change selected by the judges from the listed changes, as well as to a change of the set's own choosing other than those on the entry form. This change must take no longer than seven minutes to complete and the set must provide its own caller as well as four written copies of the music.

Scoring will be on a point basis as follows, for a possible total of 100:

Rhythmic accuracy; promptness, phrasing	20
Execution; style uniformity	10
Dress; neatness; suitability, uniformity	10
Ability; basic knowledge, accuracy and consistency	30
General Effectiveness; grace, deportment, and attitude, set pattern, entry and exit	30

Lady Golfers Commence Season

The golfing season for the Ladies' Section of the Lachute Golf and Country Club opened officially on Wednesday, May 4, with the general meeting. The president, Mrs. James MacKimmie, was in the chair.

It was decided that a White Elephant Tournament and opening tea be held Wednesday, May 25, with lady members playing in the tournament each bringing a prize and teeing off at 1 p.m.

Social members are cordially invited to join the playing members at tea, at 4.30 p.m.

Captain of the Ladies' Section, Mrs. Jack Archer, read a report of a meeting held by the Match Committee on April 28 at which time a fixtures list was drawn up of the season's tournaments. Members are especially asked to note the change in time of Wednesday tournaments — 10 a.m. instead of 9 a.m. as previously.

It was also decided to hold bridge games at the Golf Club on Thursday evenings during the spring, starting Thursday, May 12.

FRIGATE TRIP FOR JAMBOREE SCOUTS

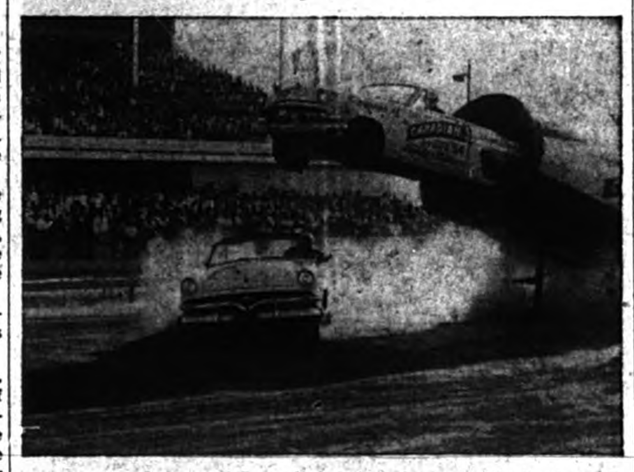

Nova Scotia Scouts bound for the 8th World Jamboree at Niagara-on-the-Lake next August will travel across the Bay of Fundy in a Canadian Navy frigate, it has been announced by Captain Paul B. Cross of Halifax, chairman of the Nova Scotia Jamboree Committee. The Nova Scotia Contingent of six troops will hold a pre-Jamboree camp at Wolfeville, N.S., from August 13 to 17.

SPORTS ENCOURAGEMENT

Clean, healthy sport is the best way in the world for the young boy to burn off his excess energy. But it needs adult support to run it.

— Kamloops (B.C.) Sentinel

Courtship of Death

A unique way of avoiding today's heavy traffic is pictured above as two of the world's most famous stuntmen perform the thrilling Cannon Shot. While one 1955 convertible is shot from the 4,000-pound solid steel cannon, another crosses dangerously close to the landing car as it contacts the earth some 80 feet away. This feat is the climax and feature attraction of the Congress of Canadian Dare Devils performance to be seen Thursday, May 19, at 8.30 p.m., at the Ste. Scholastique Race Track.

Heavyweight Title Defence, A Tottered Champion

SPORTS CAMERA
By Milt MacPhail,
Canadian Press Staff Writer

When world heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano was floored in his training camp at Calistoga, Calif., the other day the incident raised a pertinent question about his May 16 title defence against England's Don Cockell.

Some observers who witnessed the champion's brief trip to the canvas via a left hook came away asking themselves whether Marciano might have lost some of his toughness.

The knockdown was particularly significant because it was only the second suffered by Rocky in his career. The first person to dump Marciano was aging Jersey Joe Walcott who turned the trick in the first round of their September 23, 1952, title fight. Rocky won the title then with a knockout in the 13th round.

Nearly everybody agrees the champion is easy to hit, even Marciano. Everybody also agrees it is harder to floor the blockbuster from Brockton, Mas., for keeps. Marciano has never been knocked out.

The man who decked Marciano the other day, a 200-pound sparmate named Toxie Hall of Chicago, could hardly be classed with Walcott or challenger Cockell. But he did put Rocky on his pants.

Al Weill, the titleholder's manager, brushed off the knockdown thusly: "It only goes to show what can happen when two men are in there swinging." Sportswriters heard a trace of worry in the comment, remembering of course, that it is not a bit like Weill to worry about his champion.

Cockell also was knocked off his feet by a sparring partner at his San Rafael, Calif., camp a few days earlier. The pudgy Briton was delighted to hear the same thing happened to the man who is a solid favorite to keep the title.

"It looks as if he (Marciano) is as easy to hit as they tell me," said Don. "I think if I can knock him down I can keep him down."

Cockell may have some backers on that point come May 16 at San Francisco.

Hart Trophy for Kennedy

The announcement from National Hockey League headquarters that Ted Kennedy of Toronto Maple Leafs had won the Hart Trophy conceivably could change the star centreman's decision to retire from the game.

The 29-year-old Leaf sparkplug says no, that he is sticking to his plans to devote full time to selling building materials. Kennedy "retired" after the 1953-54 campaign only to be talked into playing last season by Leaf President Conn Smythe.

Many times during his 12 NHL seasons Kennedy has come close to winning the Hart Trophy awarded the player adjudged most valuable to his team.

Brownsburg Enters Valley League Junior Baseball

(Our District Correspondent)

Brownsburg — With no baseball in Lachute this year, the locals under Jimmy Murdoch's management have entered the nearby Ottawa Valley League. On Sunday first at 2.30 p.m., here at the picnic grounds, Papineauville will open the season against Brownsburg. Carl Gagné will get the opening day starting assignment on the mound, with probably Charlie Mosely behind the plate.

The team is strictly teen-age and strictly for local boys. Brent Steele is the first baseman, André Ouellette at second, and Jacques Racine on third. Keith Hazel will be at short and the outfield will probably be Mel Tomalty, Mel Stewart, and Mike Gratton. With fellows like Jacques Leveillé and Yves Raymond in the line-up, we should have a contending team.

It will be a six-team league — Lefaivre, Montebello, Fassett and Grenville being other combatants. The local team will be run by the kids themselves. The committee is — J. Murdoch, J. Racine, B. Steele, C. Gagné and "Zag" Cousineau.

Apart from the fact that this is a wonderful opportunity for local kids to take part in competitive sport, it's a great chance for the older folks to see some baseball around here. It will take a decent crowd at all the home games to pay the expenses.

It's funny how a winning team brings out the fans; yet, given a chance it's a proven fact that good crowds bring out a winning team! The Milwaukee crowds turned the seventh-place Braves into the second-place challengers in one year.

Adult admission will be 35 cents; children will be charged 15 cents.

8,500 Guides Depend On Forests for Livelihood

Montreal — "Without forests to protect our game and provide shade for our lakes and streams, Canada's 8,500 full-time and part-time guides would be out of a job", H. J. O'Connell, well-known industrialist and outdoorsman, said in a message today to the Canadian Forestry Association. "That is why good guides are naturally careful with fire," said Mr. O'Connell. "They never smoke while walking in the bush and when they build a fire for lunch they do so whenever possible beside a lake. After the fire has served its purpose, it is thoroughly doused with water and the coals are well raked over to make sure that no living ember remains."

Mr. O'Connell, who employs some 45 guides at his Quebec lodge, makes sure that his men get a thorough instruction not only in how to light a fire but also how to put a fire out before they are allowed to take a party into the woods. If individuals were as careful of fire in the bush as guides are, Mr. O'Connell contends that forest fires would be reduced by 75%, which is the percentage started by human carelessness.

Outdoor Roundup
with Joe Foster

To me, May is probably the most exciting month of the year, and Maytime the grandest time of all to be outdoors. Those annoying insects of June and July are not yet present, the vacationists (who may be perfectly nice people, but who clutter up the landscape in vacation months) are still in the cities, nearly all the spring flowers are out, racing north after the retreating snows. Maytime's only flaw is that it is also the one time of the year when there seems to be an overabundance of chores that should and must be done before summer. If a fellow isn't pretty cagey first thing he knows he's making passes at the garden furniture with a paint brush, when he could be much more profitably occupied wielding a fly or spinning rod on his favorite lake or wading some quiet stream in quest of the ever-wary trout.

Fisherman's Month

Ordinarily warm and pleasant as the beginning of summer, May can be a contrary month and sometimes turns disagreeable and makes itself obnoxious. However the important thing is that this is the month when the fish are striking as they invariably do in May, regardless of weather. May is preeminently the fishing month for everything but warm water fish such as bass and muskellunge. April starts the ball rolling but it really picks up speed in May. This last week-end the weather by turning cold played right into my hands and it wasn't too hard to convince the wife it was far too early to take down the double windows, dig up the garden or do any outside painting and that the whole family would benefit from a week-end up north.

Had to Work for Them

The lake we were fishing was not large, about three quarters of a mile long and a quarter of a mile wide at its widest point. On the Saturday we systematically worked the shoreline with streamer flies and small spinning wobblers to find out where the fish were, at what depth and on what they were feeding. Opening up the first few trout taken showed us they were feeding on minnows. In fact some were so gorged on minnows that they would spew up a couple or so during the process of being netted, which probably accounted for the fact that we really had to work for them.

Artificials Pay Off

Of 25 trout netted only one took live bait, and that one a worm that our 4½-year-old daughter, who gives every evidence of becoming as keen a fisherwoman as her mother, was drifting from the back of the boat as I worked-out a streamer fly. Streamer flies accounted for about two thirds of the week-end's catch, with the take equally divided over three patterns; the Perch Belly, described last week, the Spruce and the February Red Dazzler. The balance taken on spinning tackle, struck on a red and gold Stickling wobbler and the Dalphin Silver Smelt. There were no mosquitoes or black flies and over the entire week-end we didn't see more than two fish feeding on the surface.

Pop Is Joe Boy

Of course, as any family man will quickly appreciate, on a junket like this father is kept busier than a bee in a beer bottle, baiting hooks, retrieving lures fouled on bottom, giving casting lessons, fetching wood, lighting fires, bailing boats, even doing some of the cooking, that he's lucky to have time to wet a line himself. Just the same it's fun and there is the deep-down satisfaction of knowing that the kids are all the time storing up a fund of knowledge and experience that they can't get in any other way, all of which combining to an appreciation of a way of life that will, as they grow older, be a source of solace in a world that goes crazier with each passing day.

One-Week Scholarship For Piano Student to Otter Lake Music Centre

Messrs. Willis and Co., of Montreal, are offering a one-week piano scholarship at this season's Otter Lake Music Centre. This very generous award covers all fees at the Centre for one of the two weeks August 15-28. Any piano student may apply for this scholarship, and those interested should write for further details to the centre.

Pianists at the Centre will have an opportunity to learn more about other branches of music whilst on holiday there. They may learn to play a recorder, under Mario Duschenes, well known in Montreal for his flute playing, and direction of recorder groups; they will probably sing with George and Carl Little, and may learn the rudiments of solfege to help them in their vocal sight-reading. In their own field they will work with Walter Joachim, famous cellist, in small chamber groups, and will have opportunities for accompanying other instrumentalists or singers.

Otter Lake is a beautiful and secluded lake near Huberdeau, and is an ideal place for musical holiday making. It is not difficult to reach by car, train or bus. Forty five students can be accommodated in one week, and this number ensures that people get to know one another more quickly than is possible with larger groups.

Housewives, teachers, businessmen, stenographers and university staff and students have been among those who have visited the Centre in its past two seasons, both English and French speaking, since the Centre is bilingual.

Otter Lake Music Centre is organized under the auspices of the Montreal Bach Choir, and the following distinguished patrons: — Mr. Alexander Brott, M. Claude Champagne, Mrs. A. Chipman, Dr. D. M. Herbert, Mrs. D. M. Hodgson, Professor J. Launay, Mr. D. E. McGill, M. Wilfrid Pelletier and Mme Hector Perrier and is directed by the brothers George and Carl Little.

Magazine Has Bouquet For CBC-TV "Tabloid"

The New York weekly Variety recently had this to say about CBC-TV's "Tabloid" show: "It is one of CBC's finest, and, partly because it is aired at the dinner hour and followed by the news, but chiefly it is a top show in itself, it has one of the biggest audiences of any Canadian video session. . . CBC has four boffo people in "Tabloid". Saltzman, a government meteorologist with a natural talent for showmanship and comedy, has built what could have been an insipid weather segment into a top gab session and works easily with the rest of the show. Christie is "Tabloid's" "femme" interest, a good-looking lad with a flair for natural charm. Miss Grand, a non-pro before she opened in "Tabloid", fits the easy-going format perfectly and, like emcee MacDougal, handles interviews and other guest activities with an easy smoothness. MacDougall, also emcee of CBC's talent showcase "Pick the Stars", is a fleshy Heywood Broun type who, even in his most active moments, gives the impression of lolling." Of producer Ross McLean's work on the show Variety said: "He has displayed increasing ability in sustaining the relaxed atmosphere and builds dialer interest by seldom following a single idea line, allowing ad libs and cuing only where required for camera or web demands."

Lead-Footed Canadians

The lead-footed Canadians riding over rampways on the roofs of cars will be one of the 28 acts presented at the Ste. Scholastique Race Track Thursday, May 19, when the Congress of Canadian Dare Devils takes over. Included in the events is precision driving, the "Slide for Life", crash rolls, motorcycle acrobatics and the Marineau Brothers, clowns, who attempt to duplicate, with hilarious results, the dangerous feats of the Dare Devils.

Times have really speeded up. In the old days folks were content to wait three or four days for a stage coach — now they let out a squawk if they miss one section of a revolving door.

Politics on Television

Ottawa (CP) — Ontario voters likely will be the first Canadians in history to get their political campaigning over television. A CBC spokesman says the publicly-owned corporation is prepared to permit its own stations and those privately owned to be used for political purposes in the campaign for the June 9 Ontario election.

"The various political parties participating in the Ontario election will be given free time on the Ontario Television network for political speeches if they want it," the spokesman said.

He disclosed that CBC officials, including chairman A. D. Dunton, plan a Toronto meeting with officials of the Ontario Progressive Conservative, Liberal and CCF parties to discuss TV use in the campaign.

Federal political parties decided not to use television during the 1953 general election campaign. The Liberal, Progressive Conservative, CCF and Social Credit parties felt at that time the medium was too new and that such use of it requires further study.

"Isn't your husband doing anything to cure his deafness?"

"No — he's decided to wait until the children have finished their music lessons."

Cameraman Lassie

Lassie, who stars in her own TV show, made a trip to Canada recently. One of the first things she wanted to do when she came to Toronto was to visit the CBC Television studios so that she could see what the cameramen saw when their cameras were pointed at her during productions of "Lassie", on the CBC Television Network. Lassie stood for a while in front of the camera, then dashed madly to the other side and looked in the view-finder, but each time she was too late. Out of breath after several attempts, Lassie said philosophically: "I guess I won't try to combine an acting career with that of a cameraman."

Sales of radios by Canadian manufacturers dropped in 1954 to a post-war low of 487,237 sets, from 620,860 sets in 1953.

"Greater Than A Shakespeare Play"

Canadians are in each of the six casts of an unusual play which has been showing in eight countries during the past few weeks. This is "The Man With The Key", a Moral Re-Armament production drawing big audiences in England, France, Germany, Italy, Switzerland, South Africa, Rhodesia and Nigeria.

In Nigeria, where a young Toronto couple are playing leading parts, the official Government newspaper describes the play as "Greater than a Shakespeare play. It is a show of moral change that illumines the darkest motives and mobilises latent powers. It is a show that spells out a new world. That is what MRA is out for. Acceptance of its four basic principles and their practice are the key to the solution to world problems." The Opposition paper, "New Africa" has claimed that "A morally-rearmed England would not deny self-government for Nigeria, and a morally-rearmed Nigeria would use self-government for the benefit of all."

The Bishop of Niger conducted an informal commissioning service for the cast in Onitsha, home town of Dr. Azikiwe, Prime Minister of the Eastern Region of Nigeria. He prayed for the spread of the work of Moral Rearmament in the Region. Among those who saw the play were red-capped traditional chiefs, leading barristers, traders, teachers and Government officials.

Showing in Port Harcourt, second port of Nigeria, last week the play was revised by the Government newspaper, "The Eastern Nigerian Guardian" which carried a front-page headline, "Master Key to World Peace Now Discovered."

MAY is Safety Month

Modern 12-Volt electrical system
This 12-volt system, with its hotter, faster spark, is exclusive with Chevrolet in the low-priced three. It gives faster, surer starts on cold mornings, and provides a big supply of reserve power.

Controlled full-pressure lubrication
Controlled full-pressure lubrication results in greater oil economy and in finer engine protection. The oil is forced to every working part of the engine.

Better all-'round performance
Chevrolet's "Turbo-Fire" V8 makes use of General Motors' long experience in making unbeatable V8's for high-priced cars. That's why Chevrolet's V8 performance is unrivalled by comparable makes.

Highest horsepower per pound
In Chevrolet's "Turbo-Fire" V8, thorough engineering has eliminated all the deadweight and unnecessary bulk — both factors which drain the rated horsepowers of engines in comparable makes.

High compression economy
Chevrolet V8 has a compression ratio that is unsurpassed anywhere in its field. In fact, its compression ratio of 8 to 1 puts the "Turbo-Fire" V8 in the performance class of high priced cars. You can feel the result the instant you put your foot down on the accelerator. And, of course, high compression means high economy.

New, shorter piston stroke
In Chevrolet's "Turbo-Fire" V8, the piston moves only three inches — reducing cylinder wall friction, friction heat and making possible greater efficiency.

Saves 1 mile of engine wear in 12
Because the piston moves a shorter distance, it actually saves 1 mile of engine wear for every 12 you travel. This also puts lighter loads on the bearings!

Only Chevrolet offers you the choice of a V8 or 6 in All models and All series

Women's Interests -- The Homemaker's Section

Garden Treats — Asparagus And Rhubarb

Can you name a spring vegetable that is related to the orchid, the Easter lily, the narcissus and the gladiolus? The home economists of the Consumer Section say it certainly isn't rhubarb (although the botanists insist it too is a vegetable), so it must be asparagus. Both of these garden treats are springtime favorites and when we see them popping up in our gardens or plentiful at the market, we can be sure that summer is not far away.

Asparagus grew wild along the shores of the Mediterranean as long ago as 200 B.C. The Romans recognized it for the good food that it is and they took it along with them to England. There it was cultivated and prized as a delicacy and a luxury that only the wealthy could afford to enjoy. Today thanks to years of cultivation, we can all enjoy its fresh green goodness, some of us from our own asparagus patch.

When choosing asparagus remember that it is like a sprout and as the bud develops the stalk becomes woody. If you buy asparagus that has firm bright green stalks with compact tips you will generally find that the stems are tender and crisp. A wilted appearance or a spreading tip on the asparagus stalk is often an indication that it has been cut for sometime and the stalk may be tough and woody. Asparagus loses its eating quality very rapidly after it has been picked and once it is bought it should be used as soon as possible. If it must be held, it should be washed well and dried, then stored in an air-tight plastic bag or a covered dish in the refrigerator.

Rhubarb came to us from Europe too. Originally it lived in Asia and for many centuries the Chinese have used the roots of a larger, coarser rhubarb for medicine. Rhubarb also has been known by the name of pie plant, presumably because of its deliciousness in pies.

The young colorful stalks of rhubarb are apt to be more tender and juicy and have a better flavor than the late ones. And as the rhubarb season is quite short, two months at the most, the home economists suggest you freeze or can it early in the season.

If you are lucky enough to have a home freezer or locker you will want to freeze some asparagus to be used for dressing up meals and party lunches next winter. The young tender stalks are best for freezing and there should be as little time as possible elapsing between the picking and actual freezing of the finished product. Wash the asparagus thoroughly, being careful to remove any dirt which may be hidden under the scales found clustered on the stalks. Cut the stalks in uniform lengths to fit your moisture-vapour-proof freezer containers. The butt ends you trim off may be saved and frozen separately to be used later in soups and creamed dishes.

Blanch medium-sized stalks three minutes and large stalks four minutes in boiling water, to preserve the natural color and flavor. Cool quickly by placing the asparagus under cold running water or by plunging it into ice water. Drain thoroughly and then pack carefully into the containers, seal and freeze as quickly as possible.

When cooking asparagus wash and trim the stalks and tie them in a bunch and stand them upright in an inch or two of boiling salted water in a deep saucepan — or use the lower part of a double boiler with the top inverted over it. This will prevent the tender tips from becoming overcooked by the time the stems are tender.

Rhubarb is just about the simplest fruit (or vegetable) to freeze. All that is required is to remove the leaves and root ends, wash and drain the stalks, cut them up and freeze them in moisture-vapour-proof wrapping or containers. Some people prefer to freeze the stalks just cut in two or three pieces but if you cut them in 1-inch slices they will be all ready to use for stewing or in pies and puddings.

If you wish to sweeten the rhubarb at freezing time you may pack the 1-inch pieces in dry sugar using 5 pounds of prepared fruit (about 16 cups) to 1 pound of sugar (2 cups). The sugar is sprinkled over the rhubarb and stirred lightly to coat the pieces before packing into freezer containers. Or the cut up pieces of rhubarb may be packed into containers and covered with a cold medium syrup. The syrup is made by adding 1 cup of water then stirring to dissolve the sugar. This makes about 1¼ cups of syrup and it requires two-thirds to one cup syrup for pint containers and one to one-and-one-half cups for quart containers.

Stewed rhubarb or rhubarb sauce which is stewed rhubarb with the pieces broken up, may be frozen also. Use the same proportions of sugar as given above for dry pack frozen rhubarb, and cook the rhubarb slowly until tender in the top of a double boiler or in a covered casserole in the oven. Cool, pack in freezer containers leaving a one-half-inch head-space for expansion and freeze.

Gold Blush Costing $2,000

THE REFLECTION 18-year-old dancer Jacqueline Curtiss is seeing in the plate is golden and giving her a $2,000 blush—the cost of the plate which is part of a $42,000 solid gold dinner service to be seen at this year's British Industries Fair, May 2-13, London and Birmingham, England. The display will be guarded day and night.

Canteen Service Facility For Old People

Oshawa, Ont. (CP) — Mrs. C. S. Lee created a "new look" in service when she founded a Red Cross canteen service for a Whitby old people's home two years ago.

H. Holmestead of Toronto, vice-chairman of the Ontario Red Cross Welfare Committee, says the canteen has set a pattern for service in old people's homes which may be copied throughout the province.

Such canteens are not usually found in such homes — but now each new home built in Ontario will be equipped with one.

Many Volunteers

Mrs. Lee's canteen at Fairview Lodge in nearby Whitby drew assistance from many women's organizations. Volunteers from church groups, the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire, and the Eastern Star donate their services.

Two weekly visits are made to the home by canteen volunteers dispensing coffee, cookies, good cheer and little services for the residents.

Mrs. Lee also organized a shopping service. Residents listed articles they wanted each week and volunteers purchased and delivered them the following week.

"I've spent hours selecting cards, matching wool and embroidery thread, trying to fill the multitude of little requests so important to shut-ins," she said.

Swiss-Born Chef Plans Many Meals

Calgary (CP) — Adolf Haenni says "there is no end to the possibilities for the preparation or even the decoration of food."

Principal chef at the Palliser hotel here, he plans 2,000 meals a day.

Mr. Haenni does admit he and his staff once worked overtime preparing huge carved bowls of ice for fresh caviar and giant shrimp. They froze fresh flowers in the ice and set off their handiwork with red and green lights. He explained the red lights gave the impression that the shrimps were "actually cooking."

Only a culinary mind could have made a pair of boots from two ox tongues. Mr. Haenni used blanched green leeks for shoestrings and truffles as eyelets. He often prepares ducks or pheasants in his own special way for guests.

Chef Haenni was taught his vocation by French experts. After 2½ years of theory and practice while a young man, he cooked in Paris and Lyon, France, before coming to Canada.

Filmstrip Meets Warm Approval

"I wish that every society in the Associated Country Women of the World would make a filmstrip," says Miss Beryl Hearnden, chairman of Publicity and Publications for that organization, in the last newsflash to reach the office of the Quebec Women's Institutes. She goes on to say that if it depicted the life of the society, its members, its homes, its countryside, when people overseas asked questions they could get vivid answers through the medium of pictures. "I believe", Miss Hearnden continues, "a couple of filmstrips would do more to establish contact than all the literature their respective countries could turn out."

She goes on to speak, in humorous fashion, of some of the experiences of her staff when preparing the two ACWW filmstrips now in circulation; "Introducing ACWW" and "Getting to Know You". This is not hard to do, she states, and adds, "I can promise no one will have a dull moment in the making."

Both the ACWW filmstrips, with accompanying scripts, are in the QWI office and will be loaned to local Institutes on request, the only cost the return postage. It is planned to show them at the coming convention, June 21-24, and to quote Miss Hearnden again, "We only hope you will get half as much fun out of seeing them as we had in making them."

Tips on Touring

By Carol Lane
Women's Travel Authority

It takes a trick to beat a trickster, and the smart tourist will have a few up his sleeve when vacation time rolls around.

The out-and-out fraud doesn't happen too often, but the alert traveller will keep a few things in mind. The sightseeing guide who hops your running board with fast talk usually doesn't have credentials; the photographer who promises home-town publicity in return for a print order is no regular newspaperman; the slick money changers in amusement parks who manage to fumble bills while talking may be "slow change" artists; the man who jostles you in a crowd may be after your wallet.

Be on the watch for machine-made "local handcraft" souvenirs; restaurant checks with illegible words and figures; free-lance offers to watch your car or baggage; bogus C.O.D. packages delivered to neighbors during your absence.

Three precautions to remember: (1) Carry large sums of money in traveller's cheques. (2) Investigate before you pay. (3) A fraud usually offers something for nothing, is made as a special favor, and demands immediate action.

Two Sides to A Question

(Copyright) — By NANCY CLEAVER —

"Mummy, why would any person want a strike?" twelve year old Margaret asked impatiently as she tossed her school books on their shelf. Mrs. Johns put down her sewing and did her best to explain to Margaret that no one wanted the ill-effects of a strike. But Union officials hoped by means of a threat of a strike to bargain for higher wages, shorter hours, more satisfactory working conditions and other benefits. Margaret had a closed mind to much her Mother was saying.

"I hate the union!" Margaret exclaimed stubbornly.

Mrs. Johns reproved her daughter sharply. It's ridiculous to hate people you don't know — and anyway, hating never solves any problems — but Margaret, why have you come in all 'steamed up'?"

Margaret resented her mother's tone. She swallowed hard and winked back her tears. "Jeanie's mother is afraid there'll be a strike and they are expecting another baby," she answered. Jeanie was Margaret's best chum. Just at this point Bill came home from basketball practice at Collegiate and joined in the discussion. There was nothing he liked better than an argument.

He was quick to point out, "I heard Dad reading out loud from the newspaper a warning from one of the big Union bosses at their Convention last summer. This leader said that too much pressure by labor could force Canadian prices so high that we wouldn't be able to compete in world markets. If we can't sell our stuff that just swells the number of people out of work," he stated, with all the self-assurance of an adolescent on a debating team.

"Our Current Events teacher said the end of last February that Canadian unemployment has reached a post-war peak. Isn't it better to get a little less pay, but be sure of your job?" Margaret asked.

Mrs. Johns' head began to swim. . . Theoretically she believed in a parents discussing community questions . . . but it was hard to cope with two youngsters at one time! "Things aren't as simple as you and Bill try to make out," she protested. You see everything in black and white. But life isn't like that." She hurriedly went on, "Give the labor movement its due. For years as it has grown, it has insisted on better and safer working conditions. It's membership has continued to put more and more money into the pay envelopes of thousands of employees. Union action has been one of the biggest factors in raising the standard of living for thousands of manual laborers," Mrs. Johns said, flushing a little in her effort to be eloquent.

"But the catch is that the Unions are so powerful now! The two big Unions across the line are considering uniting. If they do, they can thumb their noses at anybody — ". Bill broke in, "At least that's what Tim says. His dad works at the plant. The Union organizer swells around in a big car. I'll bet his salary goes right on when there's a strike. He gets more than the head of the department in which Tim's dad works."

Margaret joined in, "Some of the Union Bosses make no secret of their Red sympathies. What do you think of that?"

"If it is true, it is too bad," Mrs. Johns answered, "but don't believe everything you hear!" she advised. "Most important of all . . I want you and Bill to remember that there are two sides to every question! No one in a dispute ever has all the right on his side!"

Bill and Margaret looked at their mother. They never said so, but she knew that they were glad that they could talk about contintious subjects with her. She didn't "shush" them up or "shout them down" like some other parents they knew!

* * *

What happens in your home when your adolescents want to argue about Capital and Labor, or some other subject? Do you help them realize that when there is a difference in opinions, both parties have their reasons? Will your children grow into adults who try to see both sides of a question?

Fashions

Black taffeta, light in weight, crisply rustling, is a good evening choice. It is used here for an attractive long torso dress made with melon neck and sleeveless. The low placed, pleated belt ties in a huge bow above the flare away skirt. It can be easily dressed up with brilliant crystal and pearl jewelry.

If your feet are tired, bathe them in hot, salty water.

BACKWARD CHILDREN

Newcastle, N.B. (CP) — S. B. Gavel, of Moncton, president of the New Brunswick Association of children's aid societies told a group here that institutional care is urgently needed for 300 backward children.

He said there were 7,500 mentally retarded people in New Brunswick 3,500 of them children. Eight per cent of the children were destitute and without training.

Earring Caution

Earrings had their beginnings in pre-historic times. The custom is known to be at least as old as Biblical history, for there is an Eastern legend that Sarah and Abraham originated the idea of wearing earrings.

An English physician recently described a disease of our present-day era, cleft ear lobes. The current fashion of wearing heavy earrings with powerful spring clips is causing the tissues of the ear lobe to deaden slowly and finally split. Doctors are seeing an increasing number of patients with this bizarre condition.

But modern medicine has a successful method of treatment for split ear lobes. Scar tissue is removed surgically and the split lobe sewn together, the physician reports.

The old danger of the lobe becoming infected after piercing and blood poisoning developing need no longer exist, according to one doctor. He reports that infections can be avoided by applying an ointment containing the antibiotic bacitracin to the pierced lobe. And of course he recommends that the ear lobes be pierced with a hypodermic needle by a qualified medical practitioner.

Men should be reminded that earrings have not always been a mark of purely feminine vanity. In fact, among the ancient Hebrews and Egyptians the wearing of earrings was the special privilege of men. This was true also of Julius Caesar, the first of the emperors, and other early Romans.

In the third century A.D. Emperor Alexander Severus thought that earrings had become too popular with men and forbade their use. This did not stop the practice, however. Records tell of the wearing of earrings by men into the Middle Ages, when it became fashionable for men to wear only one earring in the left ear.

Good Advice on Golden Wedding

Vancouver (CP) — A couple who celebrated their golden wedding anniversary here have this advice for newly-weds: "Keep from nagging each other."

The advice came from Mr. and Mrs. James Edge, who have lived here for nine years since moving from Winnipeg where they had resided for 35 years.

"You must try to pull together all the time," they said on the anniversary. "If either of you start nagging there will be trouble and you will never get along."

Mr. Edge, 72, and his wife Sarah, 73, also had some advice for parents. "More religion is what children need," they said.

80th Birthday — Pioneer Of Alberta Community, Born in Mille Isles District

Former County Lady Feted by Friends

Marking the occasion of her 80th birthday by an "open house" on April 11, some 125 friends of Mrs. Robert Pollock, of Brooks, Alberta, called in the afternoon and evening to offer congratulations. She was the recipient of many gifts and lovely flowers.

Born at Cambria, in this county, on April 11, 1875, Mrs. Pollock (the former Ida Strong) was married at Mille Isles on October 25, 1907, and with her husband went west to Brooks in 1909. They lived there the first winter, moving to the farm at Pollockville in the spring of 1910. They opened the post office and store the same year, Mr. Pollock starting the first mail route to the nearest railway, which was at Brooks, 50 miles away.

In 1919 the CNR line from Hanna was built, and the Pollocks moved post office, store and family a distance of one mile to the new and present location of Pollockville, and conducted their farming operations from there.

Robert Pollock made a hobby and business of raising Percheron horses, an occupation in which he took pride. In 1941 he shipped a carload of Percherons to the east and accompanied the shipment; he was accidentally killed in the Toronto stockyards.

Of their four children three are living: Mrs. W. (Frances) Featherstone of Brooks, Freeman of Vancouver and Earl of Calgary. A daughter Edith died in a drowning accident at Gregory Ferry in 1928.

For a woman of 80 years of age Mrs. Pollock is very active. Early this year in company with Mrs. G. Johansen she made a bus trip to California; she returned alone, flying to Vancouver to visit relatives and friends and returning to Brooks by train, thus using all three forms of transportation in her six-weeks' trip.

OBITUARY

Early Carillon Resident Was Born on Canada's First Dominion Day

Late Mrs. J. C. Fitzsimmons

An old-time resident of Carillon, Que., Mrs. John C. Fitzsimmons, the former Emma Bryerton and eldest daughter of the late Joseph and Theresa Mason Bryerton, died in the Carthage, N.Y., Convalescent Home on Sunday, May 1, at the age of 87.

Mrs. Fitzsimmons had been a patient at the Home for two weeks, and had previously been a patient in the Carthage Hospital for two weeks, after she had suffered a broken hip in a fall at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Norman Bush, Carthage, N.Y., on March 31.

Mrs. Fitzsimmons was born in Carillon on Canada's first Dominion Day, July 1, 1867. On February 5, 1890, she married John C. Fitzsimmons, and a year later went to live in Black River, N.Y. After nine years they moved to Carthage, N.Y., where her husband operated a farm, returning to Black River in 1921, where he died January 8, 1937.

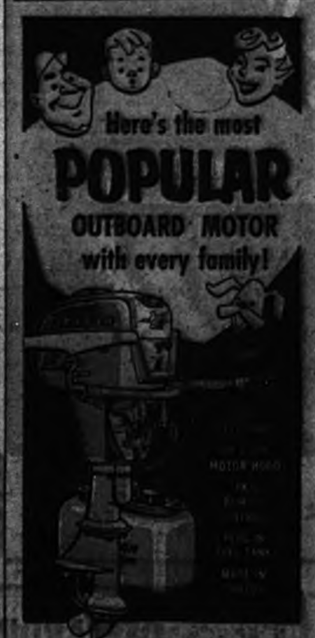

Mrs. Fitzsimmons is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Norman Bush (Flossie); a son, J. Bernard Fitzsimmons, Black River, N.Y.; four sisters, Mrs. Charles Chaufty (Carrie), Carthage, N.Y., Mrs. T. F. O'Reilly (Tessie), Toronto, Mrs. W. E. Villeneuve (Annie), Carillon, Que., and Mrs. E. G. Poole (Maidie), St. Laurent, Que.; four brothers, William Bryerton, Carillon, Harry Bryerton, Newark, N.J., George Bryerton, Sacramento, Cal., and Robert Bryerton, Black River, N.Y.; also seven grandchildren and four great grandchildren.

A short prayer service was held Wednesday morning, May 4, at the Clark Funeral Home, Black River, where the body was resting, followed by a funeral service at St. Paul's Roman Catholic Church at 9.30 a.m. The service was attended by Mrs. Fitzsimmons' four sisters, Carrie, Annie, Tessie and Maidie, and by her three brothers, William, Harry, and Robert. Burial took place in the Black River Cemetery.

Brownsb'g Councillors Give No Support To Petition on 'Queen Elizabeth' Hotel

Out-of-Town Hooligans Raise Aldermanic Eyebrows, Secretary's Salary Gives Rise to Comparisons

Brownsburg — Donation time again and the Council found its helping hand curtailed by a lower budget for donations. The Salvation Army, the Cancer Fund, St. Jean Baptiste each received $10. Fifty dollars was donated to the Rotary Club's community park, and an inherited payment of $100 on a $1,000 pledge to the University of Montreal was rather grudgingly met. The councillors felt they should not be bound by a council which had six years ago gone out of office.

A request by the Social Club to permit the Bowling Dance to continue till 1 a.m. May 27, was granted.

An order from the Health Department advising the Council to refuse business licenses to milk dealers who do not possess health certificates, was well received.

The councillors received a request to sign a petition to have the name of the proposed Queen Elizabeth Hotel changed to Chateau Maisonneuve. None of the councillors felt strongly enough about the matter to sign.

Mr. Hebert, the secretary-treasurer, in a bid for a salary raise, pointed out that after 20 years' service, the tax arrears in a $31,000 annual collection were only $1,000, and half of this was due to the long-time inactivity of the Café Marquise, whose tax bill of $500 would be paid in the near future. Mr. Hebert also noted that in Lachute the secretary receives $4,000 while his assistant receives $2,900. Although admitting that his job was a part-time job while theirs was office hours, he stressed that he is on 24-hour call, while in Lachute, business hours prevail.

The recent pay hikes to the other employees make the secretary, at $2,400, the town's poorest paid employee.

The Mayor in adjourning the meeting, drew attention to a carload of hooligans who are plaguing local residents late at night. Without doing any real damage, they are quite definitely disturbing the peace with their noisy habits, such as setting off firecrackers around midnight. The Mayor suggested that a night in the "cooler" may be a very effective remedy. One councillor stated that these youths were not Brownsburg boys.

"Dad, guess what? I've got my first part in a play," said the budding young actor. "I play the part of a man who's been married for 25 years."

NOVA SCOTIA OPENS HUGE BRIDGE

—Central Press Canadian

Second longest suspension-type bridge in the British Empire, this $10,000,000 span linking Halifax and Dartmouth, N.S., is now open for traffic. It is named after the late provincial premier, Angus L. Macdonald. Huge towers, 307 feet high, allow a clearance of 158 feet at high tide. Vancouver's Lion's Gate bridge is the only one in Canada or the British Empire that is longer.

History of B'burg Rotary Reviewed, 10th Anniversary Today, May 12th

Club's scrap book, which was meticulously compiled by Wes Freeland during the first years of the Club's existence. At this time the Club leaned heavily upon both President Sam Ross and Secretary Wes Freeland for advice and guidance. President Doug Silverson of the Hawkesbury Club was also a regular visitor, and was very helpful with his suggestions.

The first ladies' night took place on April 19, 1945, that coinciding with the Rotary founder's 77th birthday.

Charter Night was held at the Lachute Golf and Country Club on May 12, 1945, with representation by a large number of sister clubs in District 170 (now District 250). There were also many other distinguished guests, including the Honorable Georges E. Dansereau, Minister of Roads for Quebec, Jas. W. McGibbon, M.P., Mayor Leo Paul Carrière of Lachute, and members of the local clergy. The Rotary District Governor gave an inspiring address, and then presented the Charter to President Sam Ross.

Weaning and the First Steps

During the first months when the Club was taking the nourishment of Rotary, it naturally had to proceed very cautiously. There were few cases of crippled children in the neighborhood, but a survey established that many youngsters needed tonsillectomies, dental and eye care, and the Club undertook the expense of such treatments in those cases where parents could not afford to pay. Another phase of the welfare work handled at the time was the providing of milk for under-nourished children. The urgency for funds soon became demanding, and a drawing netted a few hundred dollars. This was followed by a "carnival" held in the basement of the new Catholic School in Brownsburg the same year — which produced sufficient funds to finance the Club's work for some time and established that carnivals were a substantial source of income.

It was in this field that Norm Somers (Carnival Chairman for three years) and the late George Zsombor exhibited their talents by designing a type of booth that was simple to erect and one which could be dismantled quickly. This equipment has endured to this day. George will be long remembered too for the excellent map he designed, showing the exact location of every Club in the District to which Brownsburg belonged. This map was circulated among sister clubs, eliciting high praise for the originator and establishing prestige for the local Club.

Adolescence

As the Club gained in confidence and experience it was able to branch out into other types of welfare work, and to assist local and national organizations. Underprivileged children were sent to summer camp, members providing transportation with their cars. Similarly assistance was given to the local Boy Scouts, in cases where boys were unable to pay to go to camp. Clothing and food were sent to various clubs in Britain, France, Norway and other devastated countries of the European continent. Educational tours of Ottawa for local children were arranged, help was given for the encouragement of local sport, the Legion Memorial Halls of Lachute and Brownsburg, skating rink, etc. Artificial limbs have been provided, and even a glass eye was obtained for one case.

Following the death of Paul Harris in 1947 the Club was asked for an average voluntary contribution of $10 per member to the Rotary Foundation, and by the fall of that year the objective of 100 per cent had been obtained.

The Club also sustained a heavy personal loss in this year due to Sam Ross moving the location of his business to Verdun, Que. However, Sam proceeded with his usual enthusiasm in his new field of operation, and it was not long before he had interested a number of businessmen there. The Verdun Club received its Charter in May, 1947, and while the Brownsburg Club cannot claim credit it did provide the emissary who was mainly instrumental in establishing the Club at Verdun.

Similarly the Brownsburg Club assisted with the formation of the St. Laurent - Mount Royal Club, which received its Charter in 1951. Bud Brash, who did the real spade work was, in the company of Stewart Jones, a constant visitor to this Club.

Maturity

By the year 1950 the Brownsburg Club had really hit its stride, and was equipped and prepared to tackle major projects. The need for a park, playground and swimming pool had been recognized. Stewart Jones was the sparkplug for action, and after investigating fully, a tract of land approximately 3.72 acres was acquired from Gerald Vowles through the Department of Veterans Affairs in 1951, for converting into a park with swimming facilities. Since then several thousand dollars and much voluntary labor have been expended in adapting, equipping, landscaping and other improvements. The beach has been enlarged to about 150 feet, a slide, swings and teeters have been installed for the children, and there are dressing rooms and picnic tables. There is also a canteen, and swimming is supervised during the summer months by Rotarians of the Club.

The Club accepted a further responsibility in 1952 by sponsoring the forming of an Argenteuil unit of the Canadian Tree Farm Association. The object is to encourage farmers to adopt scientific methods for tree farming, to ensure a perpetual crop. The Club has led in this field of endeavor throughout Canada and the United States, and to date approximately 28 tree farms have been certified in this area. Acknowledgment is extended to the Canadian International Paper Company of Hawkesbury for guidance in this field of work.

In 1953 the Club departed from its traditional carnival and sponsored a small-scale rodeo from the United States. The innovation received whole-hearted backing by the people of the area, and about $1,200 was raised by this effort the first year. The Rodeo was contracted for again in 1954. Approximately 1,000 seats were added, but despite advertising by radio and newspaper, attendance was not sufficient to ensure financial profit.

Inter-Club meetings have not been neglected, and there have been several each year either at home or away.

All administrations have paid particular attention to programs, and despite Brownsburg's distance from major centres, the Club has never lacked for outstanding speakers.

In conclusion it can be said that, with its record of determination and achievement in the service field, the Club can proceed to higher attainments with confidence, secure in the knowledge that its reputation will grow in the district and that its members will continue to develop and treasure the ideal of "Service above Self."

Money in the bank

Millions of Canadians know the value of a bank account—the security and comfort it brings, the peace of mind it assures, the enterprise it makes possible.

When you keep your money in a chartered bank you know it is safe. And you are dealing with friendly, experienced people, skilled in the management of money and anxious to share their knowledge with you.

There is a type of account to suit your purpose, some designed to help you accumulate funds, others featuring the convenience of chequing.

Your local branch bank provides these and many other services. It is much more than a handy, safe place to keep money. It is a banking service-centre where you can count on prompt and courteous attention to all your banking needs.

Only a chartered bank offers a full range of banking services, including:

SAVINGS ACCOUNTS
Keep your money safe; pay you steady interest; encourage the habit of thrift.

CURRENT ACCOUNTS
For individuals and companies who pay by cheque; your cancelled cheques serve as receipts.

BANKING BY MAIL
Convenient, and saves time. All your routine banking can be handled in this way.

JOINT ACCOUNTS
Savings or Current; for two or more people, any of whom can make deposits or withdrawals.

Community Concerts Campaign in Progress

Anticipate New High in Member Enrolment This Week; Chairman Dr. Marc Papineau Is Optimistic

After six years' existence in Lachute, the Community Concerts Association — exemplified by its campaign workers at their seventh organizational rally last Monday — shows every indication of optimism for another successful year. The rally and supper, held at the Legion Hall, was an enthusiastic affair with over 60 workers present, including a new contingent from St. Eustache.

Miss Juliette Rodrigue, retiring president, was in the chair, and cordially thanked the officers for their support during her year in charge. Mrs. W. M. Cottingham, president-elect, assumed office at this function, with the assurance of collaboration from all concerned. The new vice-president, Al Talbot, philosophically recalled the difficulties foreseen in previous campaigns — failing interest, "competition" from TV entertainment, and from the formation of a neighboring Association in Hawkesbury — all of which had cast unfounded gloom and Community Concerts have progressed to fuller enjoyment notwithstanding.

The new campaign chairman, Dr. Marc Papineau, climaxed the optimism by proclaiming an 800-member objective, and proceeded to show how this might be attained, through individual zeal on the part of every canvasser.

Willard M. Steeves, treasurer of the organization since its inception, cited a few interesting facts from the financial affairs of the Association. Last year there had been almost $1,000 adminstrative expenses, rentals, etc., and $2,450 paid for concert artists. There was a small balance in hand as proof of sound operation.

Representative from Community Concerts, New York, was Mr. J. Bernache, a newcomer to this field of service but, in fact, an artist in his own right — having sung with the "Carolers", a Community Concerts song quintet, for the past five years and consequently experienced in public taste and reaction. His knowledge promises valuable aid to the local group, not only in the present campaign but in its selection of recitals for next season. Many more Canadian artists will be available, Mr. Bernache stated to the gathering, and enumerated a number who will be on tour and convenient for this region.

At conclusion of the proceedings, Mr. Bernache responded to a request to sing, giving two classical numbers in a fine tenor voice, to piano accompaniment by Miss Juliette Rodrigue. Both were warmly applauded.

Messrs. Simon and Richard Valois, joint secretaries, contributed to the success of the proceedings and furnished campaign material to the canvassers.

Occupying the head-table, besides the president, were Dr. and Mrs. M. Papineau, Mr. Bernache; Miss Rodrigue, retiring president; Miss Anne David, Brownsburg; Messrs. Al Talbot, W. M. Steeves, Richard and Simon Valois — the latter serving as master of ceremonies.

The tables and stage were tastefully decorated with tulips graciously given by Mrs. Ernest Deslauriers and Anders Paulsen.

Grenv'l Motorist Near-Target for Flying Tree Stump

Rockland — A Grenville man miraculously escaped injury around 5 p.m. last Friday when his open convertible was struck by a flying tree stump that was being dynamited one mile east of Cumberland on the Trans-Canada Highway.

René Daviau, of Grenville, was sitting in his car at the head of a line of autos that had been stopped by police on the highway while the blasting was going on, when the 80-pound stump flew 200 feet through the air and struck the hood, narrowly missing him and Ontario Provincial Constable Don Wilson, of Rockland, who was standing beside the car.

Oka Companies Confident of Future of Columbium in Industry

—Central Press Canadian

Unconcerned about the spectacular dip in columbium companies' stock, drillers at the Oka area of Quebec continue their search for the metal, which, they hope will become as much in demand as nickel. Oka, made famous by the Trappist monks and their cheese, is the site of the largest columbium deposit in North America, and all companies operating there received a severe stock market setback when the U.S. government announced it would no longer pay the premium price for the metal. Confidence of the engineers and geologists that Oka will still become the "columbium capital of the world" is based on the fact that it is much in demand for jet engines, for rust-proofing steel and for hardening alumium. At present world prices, they believe that the open pit mining and relatively easy processing of the ore will allow for profit after production costs.

New Secretary - Treasurer Appointed By Town Council – P. Claude Daoust Selected Among Fourteen Applicants

P. Claude Daoust, 46, of Lachute, was engaged as secretary-treasurer for the Town of Lachute, at an adjourned Council meeting held in the Town Hall Monday evening. The full membership was in attendance, and a vote of 6-3 was cast to fill the vacancy.

Mr. Daoust was the unanimous choice of the committee appointed to select an incumbent to this position. Ald. W. Cousineau reported the reasons for recommending Mr. Daoust, and Mayor Dr. F. Walter FitzGerald read the list of tenders received. The committee informed the Council they had held three meetings — at the first of which all applications were studied; at the second, seven of the 14 were eliminated, five of the seven retained being Lachute residents. Following several interviews, it was decided that Mr. Daoust would be the most satisfactory. . . The report was accepted by the Council.

Considerable discussion followed, during which salary, office hours and policy of the secretary-treasurer were discussed. It was then moved by Ald. E. O. Pollock, seconded by Ald. Alcidas Laurin, that Mr. Daoust be engaged as secretary-treasurer at an annual salary of $4,000.

It was moved in amendment by Ald. Judes E. Charlebois, seconded by Ald. Stanley Church, that Mr. Jacques Bourgoin be employed for the position.

A vote on the amendment found Aldermen Charlebois, Church and Morrissette in favor and Ald. Muir, Desjardins, Laurin, Pollock, MacRae and Cousineau against. In a vote on the main motion the Aldermen lined up in the same manner, the latter six voting in favor of the main motion, which was carried.

Claude Daoust, who will commence his duties at the Town Hall June 1, will receive, in addition to the stipulated wage, extras awarded the position for additional work done, and he will be in line for a $200 raise for each of the next five years. This automatic advance in salary was decided at the meeting on a 7-2 vote, Ald. Morrissette and Laurin voting against the motion.

Three tenders were received for the census-taking, one each from Gaston Legault, Brownsburg, quoting $1 an hour; Lucien Lacoste, who offered to do the job for a total of $425 or by wards, the total being the same; and one from Charles Legris and Charles Emile Dorris, last year's census takers, who tendered a price of 15 cents per form and 5 cents per completed sheet.

It was moved by Ald. Réal Morrissette, seconded by Ald. Stanley Church, that the contract, to be finished by July 1, go to Mr. Lacoste. Ald. Romain Desjardins, seconded by Ald. Edgar Pollock, moved in amendment that the contract go to last year's census-takers, Legris and Dorris.

The vote on the amendment found Ald. Desjardins, Pollock, MacRae, Laurin and Muir in favor, while Ald. Morrissette, Church, Cousineau and Charlebois voted in favor of the main motion, which was defeated 5-4.

It was moved by Ald. D. G. MacRae, seconded by Ald. Réal Morrissette, that Jacques Poitras, the acting secretary-treasurer be appointed Returning Officer for the coming referendum, with the help of former secretary-treasurer, Antonio Laurin, who offered his assistance free of charge.

A tender from Anders Paulsen, gardener, for $350 to look after the Memorial Park for the year 1955 was accepted; also a bid from E. Gagné to install two lights at each monument in the park at a price of $280.50.

Ald. Judes E. Charlebois was appointed pro-mayor for the ensuing three months.

A building permit was granted to Cecil Graham for a house on Main Street West, under supervision of the Roads Committee.

It was decided to write the C.P.R. complaining as to the noise caused every year by night-time unloading of the midway paraphernalia for the local Fair, and requesting that they supply police to keep the situation in hand as the local police have no authority in such matters on C.P.R. property.

By-elections Seen Test of New Quebec Income Tax

By Shirley Morris

Quebec (CP) — Three urban centres will vote July 6 in the by-elections that observers regard as the first test of the new Quebec income tax.

Premier Duplessis last week called by-elections in the ridings of Westmount - St. George, Montreal Laurier and St. Hyacinthe.

Mr. Duplessis' Union Nationale party is expected to face stiff opposition in the balloting, the first in urban constituencies since the Provincial income tax was imposed last year. All three ridings are traditionally Liberal.

The vacancy in Westmount - St. George was created by the resignation of federal transport minister Marler when he accepted the federal portfolio last year. The death of Paul-Omer Provencal and Irenee Chartier left open the ridings of Montreal Laurier and St. Hyacinthe.

The Quebec Government has received no official request from the Polish Government in exile for transfer of the Polish art treasures from Quebec to Washington.

Premier Duplessis told his press conference last week that he has heard nothing on the matter other than published reports that Stanislas Mackiewicz, exiled polish premier, said the $60,000,000 collection is deteriorating in the Quebec Provincial Museum and should be moved to Washington.

"The treasures are in good condition and in perfect safety here," Mr. Duplessis said.

Guests, Notables, Join to Celebrate 10th Anniversary of Rotary Here

On the occasion of the tenth anniversary of their club the Rotarians of Brownsburg and Lachute and their guests last week were privileged to hear "Mr. Rotary" — Bill Cairns, of Ottawa, past-Director of R.I. and past-District Governor. Mr. Cairns, in his usual splendid manner, spoke on "Semantics". Mr. Cairns felt that there was an over-abundance of words, and quoted several statements taken from present-day writings to attest the fact that brevity is a lost art in correspondence. Mr. Cairns was introduced from the chair by President Fred Royal, and thanked by Wes Freeland.

Rotarian Sam Ross, no stranger to Brownsburg, and who was charter president of the local club, returned to former haunts to be present, and in a short address paid tribute to the work of the other charter members who are still with the club, namely Ira McFaul, Syd Stilwell, Wes Freeland, Dave Schwartz, Norm Somers and Edgar Pollock, and thanked them for the work they have done.

District Governor Wilf D'Amour, of Hull, spoke briefly, thanking the club for the co-operation throughout the year, and congratulating them for their Golden Aniversary Year efforts.

Golden Anniversary Chairman Stewart Jones outlined the program of his committee for the past year, and reviewed their accomplishments and those of the club.

Other guests in attendance were Messrs. Philippe Valois, M.P.; the Hon. W. M. Cottingham, M.L.A.; G. Towell, president of Brownsburg Legion; Mayor Dr. F. W. FitzGerald, of Lachute; Roger Regimbald, president of Lachute Lions; former Brownsburg Rotarians Herb Graves and Paul Courville; Armand Bourgon, president of Hull Rotary Club; and Robert A. Giles, Lachute.

This week's meeting took the form of a joint gathering with the Hawkesbury Club, on Tuesday evening.

Information for Square Dance Entries at Fair

The Square Dance Competition, an innovation at Lachute Spring Fair in which $500 in prizes is being offered, will be sponsored by Canada Packers — according to Syd Patterson, manager of the local exhibition. Fair dates are June 15, 16, 17 and 18, with the dance competitions to take place nightly, and final winners to be declared Saturday evening.

The competition is open to any team in Canada or the U.S.A., and entry forms are available from Mr. Patterson. Entry fee is $4 a set, and the forms must be in the hands of the manager prior to June 1.

Rules of the contest and details as to prizes are included on the entry forms.

Two Injured In Road Mishap

Two Dalkeith, Ont., men were treated in the Smiths' Clinic at Hawkesbury, following an accident on Route 29, west of St. Andrews East, on Sunday afternoon. The car, a 1950-model convertible, swerved out of control on a curve, taking a 14-foot drop into the ditch.

The driver of the car, Calum MacLeod, 34, was treated for injuries about the face and head, while Archie MacDonald, 21, was treated for a dislocated shoulder. The car was a total wreck.

The accident was investigated by Traffic Officer Howard Jones.

Glimpses of Past In Lachute W.M.S. 70th Anniversary

The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of the Margaret Rodger Memorial Presbyterian Church, Lachute, was held on Thursday, May 12. The meeting was in charge of Mrs. Alex Vessie, president, and the devotions were conducted by Mrs. R. Picken.

This meeting was also the 70th anniversary of the founding of the first W.M.S. in Lachute, which took place May 12, 1885, and the records show that the first officers were — Mrs. Wm. Forlong, president; Mrs. John Mackie, vice-president; Mrs. Lane, treasurer; Miss Cooke, corresponding secretary; Miss Clunie, recording secretary. Of all those present on that occasion only two are still living — Miss Jessie Drew and Mrs. Christie (formerly Miss Forlong).

On this anniversary occasion an illustrated address was given by the minister, the Rev. W. Harold Reid, M.A., D.D., outlining the history of the Presbyterian Church in this district from the time when the first services were held here by the Rev. Archibald Henderson, who came once a month from St. Andrews East, down to the present time. Reference was made to the first church building erected in 1833 — the Stone Church, afterwards called Mackie's Church because of the long pastorate of the Rev. John Mackie. Then in 1851 the second church was erected, when the Rev. Thos. Henry, who with his flock had worshipped in the Stone Church since 1842, decided to have their own separate place of worship, this was later often called Henry's Church. The coming together in 1875 of the four large branches of Presbyterians to form the Presbyterian Church in Canada led ultimately to the union of the two congregations and the erection of the third church in Lachute, in 1899.

A review of these events of long ago makes us realize how much the congregations that are here today owe to these sturdy and faithful pioneers who built so well and faithfully and handed on to us a goodly Christian heritage.

45 Teachers Visit Carillon Museum

(Our District Correspondent)

St. Andrews East — On Thursday, May 12, a group of 45 teachers from Lakeshore and Valois schools under the leadership of Dr. Munroe, visited the Museum at Carillon.

They were served lunch by the Women's Guild in the United Church hall, St. Andrews East.

Dr. Jourdoin, who is in charge of a training school for teachers in Transvaal, British South Africa, was the guest of Dr. and Mrs. Munroe on this occasion.

Cottingham To Address Chemical Institute

The Hon. W. M. Cottingham, M.L.A., Minister of Mines, will speak at the luncheon at the annual conference of the Chemical Institute of Canada, at the Chateau Frontenac, Quebec, at noon on Monday, May 30. The address will be broadcast.

Traffic Police Arrest Speeders, Reckless Drivers

Offenders Appear in Court, Sentences Imposed

Friday-the-13th proved tough for a Rosemount driver, Yvon Dabate, 26, who was arrested on a charge of wreckless driving by Det. Maurice Lamoureux and Traffic Officer Howard Jones while returning from Montreal on police business. The officers noticed a car some distance ahead, cutting in and out of traffic in the L'Abord à Plouffe area, and decided to follow the car instead of turning off at St. Martin.

The officers followed to the outskirts of Ste. Rose, approximately eight miles, when they attempted to pass the car. The more Det. Lamoureux accelerated, however, the faster went the car driven by Dabate, until the officers hit over 75 m.p.h. in attempting to pass. Det. Lamoureux then applied his siren and directed the speeding driver to the roadside.

While the officers were talking to the driver, two other motorists stopped and gave evidence against Dabate, offering their names as witnesses.

The officers laid a charge of reckless driving, the witnesses also alleging that the driver had blocked the highway and would not allow them to pass.

* * *

A charge of speeding was laid against Robert Sauvé, 30, of Hull, last Wednesday, following a chase of considerable distance, in which Traffic Officer Jones states he reached a speed of 95 m.p.h. before passing Sauvé.

The incident occurred on Route 8, west of Lachute, in a 50 m.p.h. zone. The charge was laid by Officer Jones and Det. Lamoureux.

Jail Fugitive Found Hiding in Chest of Drawers

Gordon Gardner, alias Gagnier, 43, of Hawkesbury, was captured by Hawkesbury police around 3 a.m. Friday morning and turned over to Det. Maurice Lamoureux and Traffic Officer Howard Jones. These local officers returned him to St. Jerome, where he had escaped from jail some three weeks ago. He was immediately sentenced to an additional two years in St. Vincent de Paul for breaking jail, and was taken to Montreal headquarters by the local officers.

Gardner's arrest followed an extensive search of his Hawkesbury home following a report the convict's four-year-old son who walked a mile to the police station to tell Chief Remi Lacot that "my daddy is home." Chief Lacot, Assistant Wilfrid Villeneuve, and two constables went to the house and made a thorough search, finding no sign of the fugitive. They were about to leave the premises when they heard a noise and headed towards a chest of drawers where the sound seemed to have originated.

The Chief opened the top drawer but saw nothing unusual. On opening the second drawer, however, he saw Gardner peeking out of the opening. Gardner stated he had taken a cramp in his leg, and in moving, had attracted attention and revealed his hiding place.

According to Det. Lamoureux and Traffic Officer Jones, who were summoned by the Hawkesbury police, Gardner had taken the bottoms out of all the drawers to make an adequate hiding place.

Gardner had served the majority of his year-long sentence for the theft of a truck in Grenville last summer, at the time of his jail break along with Jean Paul Basen, 24, and Stanley Brown, 42, of Ste. Adele. All three were sentenced to an additional two years for escaping jail.

WELFARE WORKERS

Delegates From All Branches At 35th Annual Convention County Women's Institutes

Women's Biggest Job To Be Good Homemakers, Says Guest Speaker; Topic 'Home Economics in Schools'

The Argenteuil Women's Institute held its 35th annual convention at Lachute High School on Saturday, with Mrs. M. Crosby, the County president, in the chair.

The meeting opened with the singing of the Ode and repeating the Mary Stewart Collect.

There were 104 delegates attending this convention, with every branch well represented. Total membership of the County now stands at 335.

The conveners of standing committees reported on their accomplishments for the past year; their reports told a story of a busy, interesting and instructive year for the members. The total amount raised by the branches was $2,972.41 and $2,920.12 was the total of disbursements.

The County treasurer reported a balance of $256.31.

Mrs. A. G. Leggett, of Lachute, the Provincial convener of Health and Welfare, gave a brief talk on the new Cancer Dressing Station at Lachute, which should soon be in operation. Each branch is asked to appoint a representative to meet at Lachute on certain dates, to make dressings and swabs.

Mrs. Leggett appealed for aid to the local hospitals, namely, at St. Jerome, Hawkesbury and Lachute.

Aid to the Youth Hostels of the County was recommended, Mrs. Warwick is to visit these hostels and list the requirements.

Mrs. Gordon Cooke, Provincial treasurer, urged the members to make certain their names are on the 1955 subscription list to the Macdonald College Journal.

The meeting was adjourned for the noon-hour, and a hearty and delicious luncheon was served in the cafeteria by the Lakefield W.I. Branch.

Among those seated at the head-table were Mrs. M. Crosby, County president; Mrs. R. Thomson, past Provincial president; Mrs. A. G. Leggett, Provincial convener of Health and Welfare; Mrs. Gordon Cooke, Provincial treasurer; Mrs. M. Wilson, 1st vice-president of the County; Mrs. G. McGibbon, 2nd vice-president of County; and Mrs. C. W. P. Baugh, a past-president of the County. Also the following guests and friends of the W.I. — Mr. P. Valois, M.P., Mr. and Mrs. J. McGibbon, Dr. and Mrs. L. Turcotte, Mr. J. S. Giles, Mr. Jean Pintal, Mayor Dr. F. W. FitzGerald and Mrs. FitzGerald.

The convention was reconvened at two p.m., with Mrs. Crosby in the chair.

Dr. Jules Lafleur, president of the Cancer Society, Argenteuil Section, and Mr. Roger Lagarde, campaign manager, appealed to the W.I. members for their support in the coming campaign to raise $5,000. Mrs. G. McGibbon solicited the names of canvassers for the different districts.

Mrs. C. W. P. Baugh conducted a short memorial service for six deceased members, also for Mr Alex Bothwell, a loyal friend of the W.I.

Mrs. G. McGibbon, 2nd vice-president of the County, introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. R. Thomson, from "The Townships". Mrs Thomson, besides being the past-president of the Q.W.I., is a member of the School Council of Education for the Province. . . "Home Economics in Our Schools" was the theme of Mrs. Thomson's address.

Juliette Rodrigue In Organ Recital At St. Eustache

For the benediction of the newly-restored organ at St. Eustache Parish Church, Miss Juliette Rodrigue, of Lachute, was guest organist, and gave a fine recital of classical and secular numbers. Miss Rodrigue's brother, the Rev. Canon Louis-Joseph Rodrigue, is curé of the parish and the recital by his talented sister was specially appropriate. Both are well and favorably known to the Lachute public.

Monsignor Percival Caza, Auxiliary Bishop of Valleyfield performed the dedication, and the church choir sang sacred selections.

The St. Eustache church organ has been completely made over and electrified by Casavant, the well known organ specialists, of St. Hyacinthe, Que.

Fire Chief Sparks Clean-Up Campaign

Fire Chief Geo. Y. Deacon is once again heading the local Clean-Up Campaign organized by the Dominion Fire Prevention Association, and at this point he stresses the motto, "Don't give FIRE a place to start."

The Forest Conservation and Spring Clean-Up Campaign is being held from May 14 to 28, and residents are requested to clean up attics and cellars in order to keep fire loss at a minimum.

Dorius Lepine Back in Office, Mayor of B'burg

Election Results From Harrington, Arundel And Chatham Twp.

Brownsburg — On Monday, Brownsburgers turned out in fairly good proportion to decide who would represent them on the Council, and who would be "first citizen" for the next two years. Three seats were bid for by six candidates.

Dorius ("Dorrie") Lepine won out over Vincent Charbonneau for the mayor's seat vacated by Jim Donaldson. Lepine's majority was a fairly convincing 190 votes — 519 to 329.

The candidates for council seats polled the following votes:

M. Pariseau 415, E. Ouellette 364, E. Lavoie 318, O. Legault 295, R. Raymond 291, N. Denis 228.

The first three will sit in Council with Mayor Lepine, Jack Golphin, René Lafleur, and a stand-in, yet-to be appointed for Sam Rose, who resigned for health reasons after only one year. Ex-Mayor Jim Donaldson is a likely candidate for the job, which will be filled at the discretion of the new council.

Arundel — Alfred B. Morrison was re-elected Mayor of Arundel in elections for this municipality last Monday. A councillor for 38 years, Mr. Morrison was returned to the mayoral office for his second consecutive two-year term.

Frank Craig and Harold McMahon were elected to council seats, while Councillor Hugh Boyd was re-elected by acclamation.

Election contest in the Township of Harrington stirred enthusiasm among the taxpayers Monday — the mayoralty being the only office in contest. Rory McRae, who had served three terms as mayor, was defeated by Wm. Dewar of Lost River with a 41-vote majority. The count was — Dewar 137, McRae 96.

For council vacancies, three candidates were appointed by acclamation — two being re-elected and one a newcomer. Re-elected were Rory MacTavish and Elijah Bigelow, both for their fourth term. Dave MacVicar was the third councillor by acclamation, replacing J. Labelle.

* * *

Fraser Watson, of Grece's Point, was elected Mayor of the Township of Chatham by acclamation, following the close of nominations last week. Councillors who retained their seats by acclamation are John D. Black and Gerry Collins.

Noel Lemay was re-elected to council in the only contest of the present term, defeating his opponent, Romeo Foucault, by a majority of 18 votes. Ballots cast were 324 in favor of Lemay and 306 for Foucault.

The municipal council of the Township of Chatham, now comprises Mayor Fraser Watson, Councillors Noel Lemay, Grant Beatty, Roland Desbiens, John D. Black, Adam Myers and Gerry Collins. The secretary-treasurer is R. Thériault.

THREE WIRES OR TWO WIRES

The first consideration in wiring a house is whether it should have a two wire or three wire service.

The difference in cost is practically all made up of the cost of the additional material and labor in the standpipe outside the house, and wires from the top of the pipe to the service box inside the house and in the service box itself. Beyond the service box, the wiring in the house is the same.

You may not plan to install heavy appliances immediately, but if you have installed a three wire service, new appliances can be added from time to time without any major changes in your wiring.

With a three wire service you will not notice any voltage drop or dimming of your lights when a hotplate, electric kettle or other appliances are turned on. The electric service from a three wire system is more satisfactory.

We advise all our customers who are considering building a new house or rewiring an old one, to wire for the future by installing a three wire service.

Farm Improvement Loan 10 Years of Operation

The 1954 annual report of operations under the Farm Improvement Loans Act was tabled in the House of Commons by the Hon. Walter Harris, Minister of Finance. The report discloses that the 1954 loans total $62,073,806. This is a decrease of 36% from 1953, although the lending for the year was still well above the long-term average of $51,000,000 per year.

Loans made in the Prairie Province accounted for 60% of the total as compared to 70% in 1953. In all the provinces except Quebec and Newfoundland, which showed slight increases, the loans were down.

The Report reviews the first ten years of operations and shows that since 1945, $513,606,648 has been borrowed by Canadian farmers. This period was one of rapid mechanization of farm operations, and this is reflected by the fact that 89.8% of all loans have been used to finance farm implements and machinery. A total of $461,100,000 was borrowed to finance as estimated 183,600 tractors; 68,300 trucks; 66,600 combines; 7,300 threshers and 138,300 pieces of miscellaneous equipment.

While the Act is still used principally for the financing of implements, there has been a trend in the past few years to the increased use of this medium for financing construction of new homes and farm buildings, and repairs and improvements to these buildings. Another trend has been the increased use of this Legislation in Eastern Canada, although the Prairie Provinces with their greater farming area and larger units still account for the largest percentage of all loans made.

Repayments and Claims

The Report discloses that since 1945, $383,184,852 or almost 75% of the total amount borrowed has been repaid. From 1945 to 1948 there were no losses. Since 1948, they have been increasing slowly. In 1954, 108 claims amounting to $59,043 were paid by the Government.

The total losses amount to only $149,814 for the 10 years, or just under $15,000 per year. These represent only .003% of the amount borrowed — with Saskatchewan, where the largest volume of loans have been made, showing the lowest loss ratio of any province.

1954 Farm Loans, Analysis

During 1954, slightly more than $52,000,000 or 84% of the total borrowed was used for the purchase of farm implements and trucks.

For the construction, repair and alteration of farm buildings a total of $5,861,520 was borrowed, of which approximately $1,208,000 was used to finance 576 new farm homes.

A total of $2,875,926 was borrowed in 1954 to purchase livestock, and $390,933 was obtained in order to clear and break some 32,000 acres of new land.

New Tomato Variety Given Test

Ottawa TO-17, a new tomato variety developed for canning purposes by the Horticulture Division, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, will be give a thorough trial in 1955. Fifteen pounds of seed of this variety have been distributed for preliminary commercial production and processing, mainly in western Ontario, the Niagara peninsula, central Ontario and the Belleville - Prince Edward county areas. Naming of the variety will follow successful production this year.

Rust Spore Traps In Operation

Due to the epidemic of cereal rusts in the Prairie provinces last season, the Plant Pathology Division, Canada Department of Agriculture, placed their rust spore traps in operation at Saskatoon on April 1, a month earlier than usual. The traps are designed to catch rust and other fungal spores carried by the wind. The early exposeures this season are an attempt to obtain all possible information on the spore content of the air before rust appears in the field.

Traffic Arrests And Convictions

Henri Leblanc, 54, of Ayersville, was sentenced to a fine of $50 plus costs and his driver's license was suspended for three months following conviction on a charge of driving in a dangerous manner, on the night of May 13. A fine of $25 plus costs was also imposed on a charge of impaired driving.

The arrest was made by Lachute Town officers, who transferred the case to Det. Maurice Lamoureux — the latter laying the charges.

Florian Laurin, 36, of Lachute, received a fine of $50 plus costs or one month in jail, and his driver's permit was suspended for three months when he appeared in St. Jerome court Tuesday.

The charge of impaired driving was laid by Det. Maurice Lamoureux following Laurin's arrest early Friday morning by Det. Lamoureux and Traffic Officer H. Jones. The two officers were returning from Montreal when they saw Laurin's truck parked crosswise on Route 41 some six miles east of Lachute. He was released on bail of $100 at the time of the incident.

• • •

Lach. Spring Fair Livestock Entries Close Tomorrow

Entries in the beef cattle classes are very promising to date — according to Syd Patterson, manager of the Lachute Spring Fair, who also reports that general entries at this stage are ahead of last year's figures. Registrations close tomorrow, Friday, while the entries for the Canada Packers-sponsored Square Dance Competition must be in by June 1.

Mr. Patterson reports that an attempt is being made to have a special bus running from Montreal to the Exhibition Grounds during the Fair, from June 15-18. It is anticipated this will be specially convenient for Square Dance teams from the Montreal area wishing to enter the local competition.

Inquest at St. Jovite in Death of Robert Hess

Inquest into the death of Robert Hess was held in St. Jovite Friday night under Dr. Jean Louis Taillon — a ruling of accidental death being handed down by the jury.

The late Robt. Hess was reported missing November 18 and his body was found in a small bush on the shores of Long Lake, April 25.

Mr. Hess, a councillor of Arundel Municipalty, operated a string of hunting lodges in the Laurentian area.

Womenfolk and Community Management

SOME CONSTRUCTIVE notions emerged from the Women's Institutes' annual county convention last Saturday — two of which deserve more prominence. From the day's deliberations we extract these notes of interest. . .

In her topic urging Home Economics on the school curriculum, Mrs. R. Thompson, past-provincial president, remarked that, as the housewife "spends 85% of money earned, she should be thoroughly trained in Home Economics so as to meet, wisely, the changing trend of modern living. She should always buy a Canadian-made product wherever possible, so as to raise the country's employment and also prevent inflation." . . . The maxim is self-sufficient and needs no further comment.

Another sidelight was a resolution adopted by the ladies, that there should be one W.I. member on each School Board and Council in this county. The resolution urged all branches to have a member ready when the opportunity arises to serve.

This might appear contradictory to a statement in Mrs. Thompson's address to the effect that "woman's biggest job is to be a good homemaker." And again, it may be argued that there are capabilities and leadership qualities in many womenfolk to equip them to do both jobs well — in the home and likewise in the community. The point of more striking concern, however, is that this idea has been advocated here and elsewhere many times before; but as the years advance, little has been done about women's representation in the civic and educational affairs of Argenteuil County. There have been rare exceptions — one of our northern communities being a notable example — but generally speaking, the good resolve has never been seriously acted upon. . . It is not too late.

Anglican Affairs

THE DIOCESAN Advance Appeal for $550,000 is being directed to Anglicans in 199 parishes in the Diocese, including those of this area, for the purpose of raising $250,000 to complete the Diocesan Administrative Centre in Montreal; $200,000 to increase pensions for the clergy, their widows and dependent children; and $100,000 for church extension work.

Members of the parishes are joining voluntarily in this effort, which will mean so much to the Anglican Church, its clergy and its members in the area concerned. At a time when there are so many appeals to the individual purse, this campaign proves that the Anglicans are aware of their responsibility to their church, in a financial sense, and that they welcome the opportunity to give practical evidence of their faith. For their self-imposed task, the Anglicans deserve the good wishes of fellow denominations.

Gardening Gamblers

IT'S EASY to spot a gardening man in any crowd these days. He's the fellow with the blistered palms, the backache and the sunburn.

He is also the one with the irrepressible gleam of optimism in his eye. For, along with the farmer, the gardener is probably one of Canada's biggest gamblers.

He should have more sense, of course. Anyone can tell him the time and labor he puts into his vegetable patch are worth far more than the produce he may harvest and that he would be better advised to buy flowers at the nearest florist's shop than try to grow his own.

That's the practical view, of course. But just try to convince your gardening friend! He's a gambler who'll risk a considerable sum on supplies and his summer's leisure at the drop of a seed catalogue.

Pin him right down to it, and he'll probably admit he's playing a long shot. The odds against him are overwhelming: a cold spring, a hot summer, drought, weeds, insect pests, early or late frost, and even the possibility he may be lured away from the job by less strenuous attractions.

Having conceded this much, however, he'll probably start defending his choice. Gardening gets him out into the open air, he'll say. It's cheaper than golf and just as good exercise. With luck, it provides him lovely flowers and a steady supply of fresh vegetables right at the kitchen door.

Maybe it didn't work out that way last year. Perhaps the peas dried up, or the borers got into the corn, or blight hit the delphiniums. But this year, the gambling gardener will insist, things will be different.

"Concerts" Membership

IN A COLUMN devoted to the public weal (especially in a local sense) we might profitably echo, for a wider audience, some sentiments expressed at the Community Concerts rally this week. The rally, of course, is an annual affair to promote membership, and any commendation The Watchman can extend to this movement, is well worthwhile.

One of the biggest arguments in support of Community Concerts is — as the name implies — that it is a community project. It is our responsibility as a community to put our young people on the path of good music, and to encourage new young artists to provide material for those community concert halls within the reach of all. There is no substitute for the "real live concert hall", either in radio, television or recorded music. Personalized music is something to "round off" community living. We have to carry and cultivate beauty within us, otherwise we shall never find it.

The availability of the nation's most promising talent to people in such places as Lachute and Granby and St. Johns, Que. — is a privilege to be duly appreciated. In this matter we are the envy of many music lovers abroad, where only in the large metropolitan centres are such concerts to be heard. (This fact was revealed in conversation with a New Canadian, comparing conditions with his homeland.)

If Community Concerts, Lachute, have an objective of 800 members, the target may be somewhat ambitious — but its attainment, we are sure, would be a good indication of the public ideals and a good omen for local posterity.

That 54-Corpse Holiday Toll

CANADIANS have been called upon by the Governor General to observe the Victoria Day holiday, May 21-22-23, as Highway Safety Week-end — and this issue of The Watchman is a timely medium to emphasize His Excellency's message. In an appeal to the nation Mr. Massey says:

"Over the holiday week-end just before the National Highway Safety Conference — the first long summer week-end — the traffic on our roads will be heavy. Let us all, in every part of Canada, now plan to observe this holiday by preventing accidents of every kind on streets and highways. Let us see if we can reduce them to the lowest figure in Canada's history for these three days.

"We can do this, and I believe will do so, if we realize that such accidents mean loss in life, in suffering and material damage. Let us then take care to see that none of us is the cause of such loss or injury anywhere in our great country."

In all ten provinces a similar appeal has been made by the Lieutenant-Governors and provincial governments to drive carefully during the busy holiday week-end. During the Victoria Day week-end of last year, 54 Canadians were killed in road accidents; on the same holiday of 1953, highway dead were 54; and in 1952 the total was 33.

Highway Safety Week-end immediately precedes the opening of the National Highway Safety Conference in Ottawa on May 24. The first national conference on highway safety, convened by the Canadian Good Roads Association, will attract delegates from every province.

BETWEEN WARS!

• Geoff's Journal •

"NOW, I SING FOR ME !"

A golden era is coming to its close. Beniamino Gigli is saying farewell to the concert stage and the millions who have idolized him. And when that farewell tour is complete, Gigli will have but one thing left to do — namely, return and say goodbye!

On Thursday, May 12, "Little Benny" — the world's greatest tenor — filled the Forum amphitheatre to capacity. Though he had a program to follow, the demand for encores was so great and he was so obliging, that it was often difficult to tell just what point had been reached in the proceedings. The enthusiastic audience called out again and again for the songs they wanted to hear and, in the main, Gigli obliged. Then, when he had sung his fill for the assembly, he stepped to the edge of the stage and peered into the darkness.

"Now," he said, grinning broadly, "I sing for me!"

Of that recital, Jacob Siskind of the Montreal Star had this to say:

"Beniamino Gigli gave a concert at the Forum last night. An audience of over 8,000 fans, who listened perhaps more with their hearts than with their ears, cheered the grand old man to the rafters. Gigli is still the possessor of that consummate vocal technique that set him above all tenors of his time, and is still completely aware of the possibilities of which his once glorious voice is yet capable.

". . . Gigli still loves singing — all the more when he has an appreciative and paying audience before him — and, farewell or no, I am certain that he will keep right on performing as long as he can find an audience somewhere to listen and applaud."

I'm afraid I can't go along all the way with the Star's critic in this matter. True, Gigli, in common with every other concert singer, likes to see a paying audience before him. But "Little Benny" has given so many impromptu and unpaid concerts in the more than 50 years that he has been singing, that I'm more inclined to believe he'd much prefer to have an appreciative group before him than one that has merely paid for the privilege of rubbing shoulders with a renowned artist. He loves singing far too much to be mercenary about it.

I will agree with Siskind when he says that, in all probability, Beniamino Gigli will continue to sing until the end of time. And he will sing whether or not there is anyone near him to listen and applaud. Now, as he says, he'll sing for himself. And he'll enjoy that just as much as he has enjoyed the half century spent before his adoring public.

It will be some time before the world sees or hears another such as Beniamino Gigli. It may well be that we never again enjoy his equal, for Beniamino is unique. The world's greatest tenor — yes, even greater than Enrico Caruso — will be remembered for all time because he never once used his voice alone. It was always coupled with his heart, and the combination of the two permitted him to interpret music as no other singer before him.

But that, you say, isn't important? Of course it is!

Beautiful song is the heart and soul of Italy. No Italian composer ever put just music alone on paper. Into each composition, he wrote a bit of himself, a portion of his heart. The music can be extracted by any singer but the song can only be interpreted by one who sings with his heart. That one is Gigli.

Too bad for us he's bidding us farewell!

Let's Have More Winding Dirt Roads

One of the needs of this age of super-highways is a few thousand miles of narrow, winding dirt roads that lead nowhere in particular — roads that just wander off across the countryside, up and down hills, across valleys — typical old country roads with all the natural hazards and charm left in.

"Such roads," says an article in Reader's Digest, "will be built for dawdling, for stopping on hilltops, for wild-flower admiring, for bird-watching — for all the things the prudent motorist shouldn't do on a four-lane highway."

The Digest recalls some springtime sights we used to witness on back roads: a family of Canada geese, a whitetail doe and her fawns, or merely a woodland hillside where dogwood blossoms were like "big white butterflies."

In this world of change, often violent and sudden, it is good for the soul to be aware of things that change only on their own terms and in their own time, the writer observes. "That's why the back-road driver persists, even in this days of wondrous superhighways. He has to know where he came from as well as where he is going."

Ancient Trees

A note from Dr. C. J. Bishop, Superintendent of the Kentville, N.S., Experimental Station, states: "Ring counts on windfall trees from the virgin timber growth of the Station ravine indicate that many of these trees date back to pre-Confederation days, and some to the time of the expulsion of the Acadians (1755) from this Land of Evangeline." One can even imagine that a real Evangeline wandered through this same primeval forest!

Current forecasts point to Canada, by 1965, being the world's fourth greatest iron ore producer.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

The soap opera is for women. It gives them something to dream about.

One soap opera deals with a supposed orphan girl named "Sunday," from a little mining town in the west, "who in young womanhood married England's richest, most handsome lord."

Another epic, entitled "The Romance of Helen Trent," is "the story of a woman who will not let life pass her by because she is over 35. Instead, she proves what so many women long to prove — that the romance of youth can endure into middle life and even beyond."

A long way beyond, too. The story has been running long enough to quality Helen for a pension.

The central character in another yarn is Laura, who runs a prosperous dress shop and "dares to follow the dictates of her heart." The last I remember of this one, Laura's heart wasn't dictating any too clearly. It told her to flutter through a succession of highly eligible boy friends, renouncing each beau after giving him a painful run-around. Some heart.

Eventually she married a man who turned out to be an invalid. Now she divides her time among caring for him, runing the business, protecting a feeble-minded family, and fending off old admirers.

These heroines are all women of uncertain age and sickening virtue. They are rich, attractive, sought-after by men, and capable, despite these advantages, they get tied in emotional knots of amazing complexity — but never through their own fault. Some evil man or woman is always trying to cheat them of the happiness which is rightfully theirs.

In the dream-world which these women inhabit, there is always a link with everyday life. Helen, for example, is a dress designer. She enters Hollywood through a skill which every woman knows something about — making clothes. So every woman can put herself in Helen's place. Soap opera is raw, blatant wish-fulfillment for housewives.

I don't blame the women for listening. This is a dull world sometimes. But why can't the radio give us men something to dream about, too? We're more interested in food than in cleansing agents, so our radio serials will probably be called "soup operas".

"The makers of Ghool Turnip Chowder present 'Kid Monday', the story that asks the question: 'Can a prize-fighter from a tank town in the Southeast come back to the ring in middle life and win the heavyweight title'?"

"Bloorp Spaghetti presents 'Henry's Heart', the program that proves what so many men long to prove — that a fellow can be a business success even though he is past 55, never was much good at figures, and is kind of stupid all round."

"This is the story of Henry, the shoeshine boy who rose to be vice-president of a great corporation — the story that asks the question: 'Can a business executive well advanced into old age attain happiness as the husband of a lovely young burlesque dancer, and still keep the boss's daughter on the string'?"

INSPECTOR BEAVER

Further evidence that the beavers are considering taking over the town was seen the other evening when two Little Currenters chased a beaver off the main street. Maybe someone told him about the potholes in the streets in town, and he was going to look them over with the idea of setting up a beaver house.

NATURAL GAS

There is every indication that natural gas will be available throughout the district east of Toronto towards the end of this year or during 1956 and council felt it would be wise for Napanee to be among those municipalities serviced by it. We feel it to be a good thing for Napanee to be on the natural gas bandwagon which is quickly sweeping the country.

Births, Marriages, Deaths, and In Memoriam, etc., 75c; 5 cents per type line extra for verses with In Memoriam, (estimate 6 words per type line).

(Payable in advance).

Deadline, Wednesday, 5 p.m.

BIRTH

RIDDELL—At the Catherine Booth Hospital, Montreal, on May 14, 1955, to Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Riddell (née Mildred Wilson), a daughter.

IN MEMORIAM

KELLY — In loving memory of our dear sister, Mrs. R. J. Kelly, who passed away May 18, 1949. — Inserted by her sisters.

"Dear God, please take a message
To our loved one up above,
Tell her how much we miss her
And give her all our love.
Silent her voice and vacant her chair,
Sweet are the memories that linger there."

MAXWELL — In loving memory of a dear daughter and sister, Frances, who passed away May 20, 1954. — Always remembered and sadly missed by Mother and sister, Norma.

"One sad and lonely year has passed
Since one we dearly loved
Was called away so quickly,
To rest with God above.
And though sometimes the loneliness
Seems more than we can bear,
We know some day we'll see her
When we join her over there."

MAXWELL — In loving memory of a dear cousin, Frances, who passed away on May 20, 1954. — Always remembered by Robert and Inez.

MAXWELL — In loving memory of our dear friend, Frances Maxwell, who passed away May 20, 1954. — Ever remembered by Fred and Hilda Barker.

"Memories are treasures no one can steal,
Death is a heartache no one can heal.
Some may forget you, now you are gone,
But we will remember, no matter how long."

MAXWELL — In loving memory of a dear niece, Frances G. Maxwell, who passed away May 20, 1954. Ever remembered by Aunt Gertie, Uncle Willie and cousin Elinor.

"Golden streets, pearly gates, mansions of splendor,
Wait for the faithful beyond the bright blue
And I will gladly exchange all that's earthly
Just for one glimpse of my Saviour so true."

MAXWELL — In loving memory of a dear niece, Frances G. Maxwell, who passed away May 20, 1954. — Always remembered by Aunt Mabel and Uncle Nelson.

"Many a thought and sometimes a tear, Remembering the days when you were here."

MAXWELL — In loving memory of a dear sister, Frances, who passed away on May 20, 1954. — Always remembered by her brother, Alvin, and sister-in-law, Rose.

"Deep in our hearts your memory is kept,
We smile with the world but never forget."

MAXWELL — In loving memory of a dear niece, Frances G. Maxwell, who passed away May 20, 1954. — Loved and remembered by Aunt Alma and Uncle George.

"Here, the darkest of day we must never,
Tears of sorrow we shed every day;
But, as sickness, as sighing, forever
When we've gone the last mile of the way."

MAXWELL — In loving memory of dear Frances, who passed away May 20, 1954. — Ever remembered by Grandma and Edith.

"In the land of Perfect Day
When the saints have rolled away
We'll understand it better by-and-by."

MAXWELL — In fond and loving memory of a dear niece, Frances Gladys, who passed away May 20, 1954. — Ever remembered by Aunt Gladys and Uncle Norval.

"In our hearts your memory lingers,
Sweetly tender, fond and true;
There is not a day, dear Frances,
That we do not think of you."

MAXWELL — In loving memory of our friend, Frances who passed away May 20, 1954. — Always remembered by David, Flo and Debra Rae Maitland.

"Time swiftly passes,
But memories remain."

MAXWELL — In loving memory of Frances, who passed away May 20, 1954. — Always remembered by the Robinsons.

Is gently turned today."

MAXWELL — In loving memory of our dear niece, Frances, who passed away May 20, 1954. — Remembered always by your aunt and uncle, Doris and Stanley.

"Sweet memories are the gifts we can keep from those we love so much and miss so deeply."

Women's Inst. Convention

be thoroughly trained in Home Economics so as to meet, wisely, the changing trend of modern living. She should always buy a Canadian-made product wherever possible, so as to raise the country's employment and also prevent inflation.

Mrs. Thomson contended that, with a competent Home Economics teacher in our school, this essential subject on the school curriculum, and "we parents doing our part at home" — we can rest assured that our children can travel the home-making path surely and safely.

A vote of thanks to Mrs. Thomson for her very inspiring talk was given by Mrs. M. Wilson, 1st vice-president of the County.

The Provincial Convention will be held at Macdonald College on June 21-24.

The president, Mrs. Crosby, thanked the executive and the members for their steady support during the past year.

A resolution was passed at this meeting that permission be requested of the Lachute Fair Committee to have a tent on the grounds to sell tea and cakes, and also to serve as a resting place.

Mrs. C. Campbell, chairman of the nominating committee, then presented the slate of officers, which was accepted as follows:

Past-president, Mrs. G. Cooke; president, Mrs. M. Crosby; 1st vice-president, Mrs. M. Wilson; 2nd vice-president, Mrs. G. McGibbon; secretary, Mrs. L. Armstrong; treasurer, Mrs. E. Rogers.

Conveners

Agriculture, Mrs. R. J. Seale, Education, Mrs. R. Patterson, Citizenship, Mrs. D. Rogers; Home Economics, Mrs. H. McOuat, Health & Welfare, Mrs. Hadden Macdonald, Publicity, Mrs. Percy Stanforth, Fair Work, Mrs. F. Campbell.

The installation of officers will be held at the fall semi-annual meeting.

The following resolutions were read by Mrs. A. Sicuso:

1. Whereas — we have present with us Mrs. R. Thomson, our past-Provincial president;

Be it resolved that we express our thanks to her and to the Provincial Board, for their co-operation in the work of the branches of this county.

2. Whereas the County of Argenteuil W.I. appreciate the use of the Lachute High School for their annual convention;

Be is resolved that we extend our thanks to the School Board for their kindness.

3. Whereas the Lakefield W.I. have so ably convened for our luncheon today;

Be it resolved that we extend to them and their helpers our thanks for the delicious meal served.

4. Whereas we are indebted to Mr. J. S. Giles and the staff of the Giles Publishing House for their kindness in giving free publicity to our W.I. work;

Be it resolved that we tender our hearty thanks and appreciation.

5. Whereas we believe that there should be at least one W.I. member on each School Board and Council in the County;

Be it resolved that each W.I. branch discuss this matter and be prepared to have a member ready when the opportunity arises to serve.

6. Whereas the W.I. of Arundel, of the County of Argenteuil, believe that Agriculture should be taught in rural schools;

Be it resolved that this subject be included in the school curriculum of rural, intermediate and high schools.

These resolutions were adopted by the members.

The 35th annual convention closed with the singing of the national anthem.

75 YEARS AGO

May 21, 1880 —

The Governor General and suite passed through here without stopping, in a special train last Thursday.

The O.R.N. Co.'s steamer "Queen Victoria", failing to find sufficient traffic between Ottawa and Grenville, has been moved to the St. Lawrence River.

50 YEARS AGO

May 19, 1905 —

The Great Northern Railway is to build a line from St. Jerome to Montreal. The construction of the new line will give Montrealers a direct service to 16 Island Lake and other districts in that locality.

In the now celebrated case of Wm. Berry vs. Lachute Town Council, which has been pending for some four years, the court, after fully hearing the evidence of some 20 witnesses, decided that Berry had suffered damages to the extent of $30, which the town was ordered to pay. In order to protect itself, the town must now remove an alleged aggravation of servitude.

* * *

25 YEARS AGO

May 23, 1930 —

Mr. W. H. Ayers was able to tell in realistic form of the big fish he caught, for his fish are on view in the butcher shop of Ald. Jos. Speight, who gives the official weight of the largest trout at 20 pounds, while others topped the scales at 10 and 8 pounds, respectively. The big fellow was brought in on a troll while the other two were caught with rod and line. The week-end catch was made in Fraser Lake.

Bible Briefs

By A.A.M.

Who was the fellow-laborer with Paul, who helped him for a time but finally deserted the great Apostle? His name is mentioned in three of Paul's letters, or "epistles", as they are called in the New Testament.

In writing to Philemon, Paul closed his letter by saying that a fellow prisoner, Epaphras, also sent greetings and so did Mark, Luke, Aristarchus and this disciple. He describes all these men as his "fellow workers."

In the last part of Paul's letter to Colossians, Paul very warmly commends a number of his friends. He describes two helpers as "beloved brothers and faithful ministers and fellow servants in the Lord." He speaks of another as "always remembering you earnestly in his prayers, that you may stand mature and fully assured in all the will of God." Luke, Paul terms, "the beloved physician." But the name of the disciple who later deserted him, is just mentioned as sending greetings. Paul makes no comment at all about him or his work.

The third place where this follower's name is found is in the second letter to Timothy (the young man for whom Paul had particular affection.) Timothy's grandmother, Lois, and his mother, Eunice, were Christians, Paul was sure that the same sincere faith dwelt in Timothy.

In this wonderful letter, Paul looks back on his own life and says, "The time of my departure has come. I have kept the faith." He urges Timothy, "Do your best to come to me soon," and then he adds, "for this disciple, of whom I am writing, in love with this present world, has deserted me and gone to Thessalonica. Luke alone is with me." Paul does not berate the disciple who became the deserter.

The great apostle must have felt very bad as he explained how it came about. This man put his delight in the material satisfactions of this life ahead of serving the spiritual interest of the Kingdom of God. Worldliness had quenched his flame of faith. He had had the wonderful privilege of being a companion and fellow laborer with Paul, but in the end he forsook him. The name of this deserter is found in Philemon 1,24; Colossians 4: 14; Timothy 4:10.

Social and Personal

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Noonan and family, of Costicook, Que., formerly of Lachute, visited friends here last week-end.

Mrs. Roy P. Fraser is visiting her sister and brother-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. H. C. Cassidy, at their home in Lewistown, P.A. — having accompanied them on their return from Lachute where they attended the funeral of their mother, the late Mrs. Jack Campbell.

Mr. Albini Lamarche is a patient in the Hotel Dieu at St. Jerome, and has recently undergone an operation. Friends and relatives wish him a speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Giles were in Ottawa last Friday and Saturday for the annual convention of the Ontario Division of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association.

Miss Helen Barker, of Lachute, received her diploma at the graduation exercises of the Catherine Booth Hospital nurses' training school, held last Friday evening at Wesley United Church, Montreal. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Barker, also Miss Gloria Cruise and Mr. Guy Urbain, attended the graduation ceremonies.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Sherritt, of Boston, Mass., accompanied by Mr. Robert Haldane and daughter, Jennifer, of Newray, Northern Ireland, were the guests last week of Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Dawson and Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Sherritt, Lakefield.

Mr. and Mrs. Bud Brash and family, of Ville St. Laurent, were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. L. Duncan on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Elliott and Mr. Russell Elliott attended the funeral of the late Mr. Robert Ryan, in Montreal last Friday.

Mr. Kenneth Trickey and Mr. Greg Armstrong spent a few days visiting Mrs. Arthur Trickey, Barron Avenue. Mr. Trickey left Monday morning for Edmonton, where he will take up his duties in the Anglican mission ministry for the summer.

Mrs. Robt. Hamilton and Miss Mary Evelyn Hamilton, R.N., were among guests from Lachute who attended the wedding of Miss Linda Evelyn Calder to Mr. Fotis Mavriplis, which took place at the home of the bride's parents in the Town of Mount Royal last Saturday.

Mrs. Albert Dew, of Montreal, spent the week-end visiting her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Elliott, and other relatives in town.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Buckley and family visited in Ottawa last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Royal and daughter, Heather, were in the Eastern Townships last week-end — Principal Royal attending a meeting Friday afternoon at Lennoxville, and later visiting relatives at Richmond.

Miss Ella Spriggs, R.N., returned to her duties at Harbour View Hospital, Sydney Mines, N.S., last Sunday, after spending her holidays with her sister, Mrs. J. F. Gorman.

Mr. Phil Prior, of Maidstone, Kent, England, was the guest of his cousin, Mrs. J. Gorman, on Tuesday, after an extended trip to the U.S.A., Alaska and Canada.

Engagement Announced

Mrs. Wyman MacRae, of Brownsburg, announces the engagement of her daughter, Mary Pearl, to Merwin Austin Young, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Young, Calumet, Que. The marriage will take place quietly on Saturday, May 28.

Week-end guests at the home of Dr. and Mrs. R. Percival were Mr. and Mrs. William Cleghorn and Mr. Greg Armstrong, of Montreal, and Mme Pierre St. Jacques and Mme Guindon, of Hudson.

Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Alex H. Barker announce the engagement of their older daughter, Frances Olive, to Mr. Clarence Bernard Pilon, of Notre Dame de Grace, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. Pilon, of Grenville, Que. — the marriage to take place in June. Miss Barker is a graduate of the Queen Elizabeth Hospital school of nursing, Montreal, 1954 class.

LOBA Card Party

One of the most successful card parties by the LOBA was held in the Orange Hall on Wednesday, May 11. Prize-winners on this occasion were:

1st Prize — Mrs. S. Sutton (captain), Mrs. J. A. Pollock, Mrs. R. Copeland, Mr. G. Dewar.

2nd Prize — Mrs. E. Strong (captain), Mrs. G. Silverson, Miss G. Davis, Miss E. Strong.

Novelty Prizes — 1st Mrs. M. McMichael, 2nd Mr. E. Ward.

At Insurance Company's Annual Convention

Mr. and Mrs. Lucien Savard were in Toronto last week for the three-day conference of Metropolitan Life Assurance agents. In the 17 years since he has represented this company, Mr. Savard has qualified for the agents' convention every consecutive year with one exception — when a lengthy sojourn in hospital interrupted his business. The couple proceeded from Toronto to Flint, Mich., to visit Mrs. Savard's sister, and to Detroit to attend the wedding of a nephew.

Quebec (CP) — Students at Protestant schools in the Province of Quebec will have a holiday on Victoria Day, May 23, it was announced by Dr. W. P. Percival, Provincial Director of Protestant Education.

Suburban Wedding Of Local Interest

Mavriplis - Calder

The marriage of Linda Evelyn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Calder, of the Town of Mount Royal, to Mr. Fotis Mavriplis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Demetrios Mavriplis, of Salonika, Greece, took place on Saturday afternoon at three o'clock at the residence of the bride's parents, 49 Balfour Avenue, Town of Mount Royal. The Rev. C. W. Coleman, of Mount Royal United Church, officiated, assisted by the Rev. W. B. Rosborough, of Hamilton, Ont., formerly of Lachute. This ceremony was followed by a wedding service at six o'clock at the Greek Orthodox Holy Trinity Church, the Rev. Nicholas Salamis officiating. Pink and white gladioli were used as decorations.

The bride, who was given away by her father, was in a street-length gown of white lace over azure blue taffeta. Her shoulder-length veil of blue tulle illusion was held by a lace headdress, and she carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations and hyacinth bells.

Miss Brenda Calder, as maid of honor for her sister, was in a frock of yellow pointe d'esprit over taffeta. She wore a headdress of the same color, and carried a bouquet of blue carnations and white hyacinth bells.

Mr. George Cavadias acted as best man for Mr. Mavriplis, and Mr. William Calder, cousin of the bride, was usher.

Following the reception, Mr. and Mrs. Mavriplis left by motor on their wedding trip. They will reside in Montreal.

A dollar won't do for people what it once did, maintains a writer. Perhaps because people won't do for a dollar what they once did.

AMONG THE CHURCHES

CGIT Group Leads Service of Praise

The CGIT Group of Lachute United Church conducted the devotions last Sunday morning and led in a very dignified manner the entire service. The group, under direction of Miss Jane Catterson, B.A., attended in a body, as did the Explorers and their leader, Miss E. Stanton, B.A.

The opening invocation and prayer was given by Miss Jean McOuat, and the scripture from St. John was read by Miss Betty Rowe. Prayer and announcements were given by Miss Jean Taylor, and introduction of the guest speaker by the leader, Miss Catterson.

For this CGIT service, the guest speaker was Miss Daisy MacNeill, M.A., Director of Girls' Work, Christian Education Council, Montreal, who is also provincial leader of the CGIT. Miss MacNeill took as her subject "The Life of Christ as seen by St. John", and gave a masterly portrayal of the gospel of St. John, a review of events prior to the Crucifixion and of the repercussions since.

Mr. Angus Taylor extended cordial greetings to Miss MacNeill and the leaders and members of the CGIT.

Confirmation Rites At St. Sauveur

The rapidly expanding Anglican Parish of Mille Isles grew even stronger on Wednesday evening when the Bishop of Montreal confirmed a large number at the Church of St. Francis in St. Sauveur. Assisting in the service were the Venerable Archdeacon J. F. Morris, the Rev. Raymond Stote, the Rev. C. W. P. Baugh, R.D., and the Rev. Robert Blair, while the rector, the Rev. Horace Baugh, officiated.

Earlier in the evening a banquet was held at Nymark's Lodge, and a number of the assisting clergy spoke, also the Rev. Dr. G. Basil Jones, of Ste. Agathe. The banquet, sponsored by the Guild of St. Francis, was to give an opportunity to the candidates, their parents and friends, to meet the Bishop.

At the beginning of the service Rural Dean the Rev. C. Baugh presented for Confirmation — Mrs. Cyrus J. Baugh, her three children, Charles, Jane and Margaret, and also Miss Marlena Baugh, daughter of the rector. Twenty-two other candidates were then presented by the rector. Mrs. C. W. P. Baugh was special organist for the occasion. Candidates from Sorel, Que., were Misses Sylvia and Karen Wynot. Mrs. Louise Potter, from Montreal, was confirmed with her son, Walter. Mrs. Joan Patterson, of the RCAF Station, Lac St. Denis, was confirmed with her daughter, Gwyneth, and four others from the Station.

The Bishop expressed his pleasure at the increasing strength of the parish, and congratulated the people on their support.

* * *

The Rev. and Mrs. W. C. LeCras, of Montreal, and Mrs. G. G. Kirby, of St. Jerome, were guests at the Parish House on Thursday afternoon last week.

Change of Speaker

The Rev. J. C. Downing, B.A., of Crawford Park, will be guest preacher at Lachute United Church, this coming Sunday morning, due to the inability of the Rev. Belbin to attend, as planned.

An Ascension Hymn

Tune - "When the Roll is Called."

When the Saviour was departing, leaving friends He dearly loved,
And was gliding slowly upward in the air,
He was showing His disciples that His death had been approved
And that some time in His glory they would share.

Chorus —
We shall share our Saviour's glory,
So declares His gospel story;
If with Him we meekly suffer,
In His universal glory we shall share.

By His glorious ascension, Jesus all the realms informed,
He was victor and had kingship everywhere,
From His message of assurance now our hearts are strangely warmed
When we know that in His glory we shall share.

Seated now upon His Father's throne,
Jesus, our great High Priest,
Is our Advocate and for us offers prayer,
And to all who suffer with Him, from the greatest to the least,
He assures them that they shall His glory share.

Some day soon He may come back again beneath the starry skies,
And will call to us to come to meet Him there,
Then the dead in Christ shall be brought forth and with the living rise,
And together with Him shall His glory share.

— Arch. Penman, Avoca, Que.

Outdoor Roundup
with Joe Foster

Most folks when they go fishing are well equipped with what it takes to catch them, but are, as a general rule, seldom prepared to keep those fish that they do catch. More often than not several or many hours pass by between catching and eating time, hours when the catch is at the mercy of temperatures, at this time of the year running anywhere from 60 to 75 degrees.

First Half-Hour Counts

Anglers in the know are seldom agreed on one point, and that is the importance of pampering your fish in the first half-hour after catching, if you want to enjoy that right-off-the-hook taste when cooking time arrives. Just in case you land a whopper and want a record of your trophy, take your camera along with you — don't leave it at camp or back in the car. Get that snapshot right after your fish has been netted and before the natural colors and markings begin to fade and deteriorate. This is almost as important for good black and white pictures as it is for color.

Clean Immediately

Clean as soon as possible. Simple, if you carry a sharp knife — slit from vent to throat and be sure to scrape out the blood tract that runs along the backbone. I usually go a step further and cut out the gills as well, it's not necessary to remove the head. So far so good. Now the trick is to keep the fish dry, cool and reasonably well aired. A cloth bag to keep them in after cleaning and rinsing off will, when the open end is tied, serve the purpose adequately, allow the fish to drain and air and keep out the flies as well. A better dodge and one which I prefer, is to have along several of those plastic bags that so many fruits and vegetables are put up in by the supermarkets, or you can buy them for a few cents at the notion counter of your handies department or general store. I put just one fish in each bag, roll up, put them in the creel if I'm stream fishing, or in the shadiest spot in the boat or canoe if fishing a lake. This gimmick will keep your catch fresh until you can get it onto ice.

Liquid Ice — Good Bet

If you have a drive of several hours before you get home one of those insulated coolers can be a real asset. Although these are equipped with a compartment to contain the ice and although they will keep cold for as long as 48 hours or so, the melting ice may slosh around a bit and some water get into the food compartment. This you can overcome by using any one of several brands of "liquid ice" that are now on the market. These products usually consist of a sealed quart can which you place in the freezing compartment of your frig for as long as it takes the contents to freeze solid. No muss, no fuss, but the cost per can is anywhere from $1.25 to $2.00.

And you can too — here's how. Go to your garage or service station and get yourself a couple or so empty quart size outboard motor oil tins. These are an ideal size and shape. Rinse out, fill with boiling water, almost but not quite to the top. Leaving the cap off, place on the stove and bring to a boil. Now put the cap back on and stand aside to cool. A department store buyer, also a fisherman and who must for obvious reasons remain anonymous told me that these liquid ice products are nothing much else but with with coloring added and vacuum packed. Bill Derry, another fisherman and a walking encyclopedia told me how to vacuum pack the tins and I've just told you. When the tins cool off, into the freezer with them and presto — liquid ice. It works!

15 lb. Grey Trout, Lac Commandant

A Montreal fisherman had a prize 15-pound grey trout on exhibit on Main Street yesterday afternoon, having caught the fish in deep water in Lac Commandant, some 25 miles distant from Lachute.

The catch was made earlier in the day on a Williams Wobbler, a noted fish lure for this area.

CARELESS CAMPERS

Thirty-one per cent of the forest fires in B.C. last year were caused by careless smokers and campers. Millions of feet of lumber, millions of dollars, and an inestimable sum in pleasure were lost through someone's thoughtlessness. This year citizens can reduce this figure by being careful with cigarettes, matches, campfires and refuse.

Tommy Burns might not be classed as a great fighter, but he was the only Canadian ever to hold the world's heavyweight boxing title.

A memory of a fading fistic era, Burns also was a man who in later years termed boxing "vicious". He "hated" it.

His death recently, of a heart attack at 74, closed a colorful chapter in ring history, and a life of varied success outside the squared circle.

Burns was born Noah Brusso in the small Western Ontario town of Hanover. He fought professionaly from 1900 to 1920, starting when the heavyweight roost was ruled by such men as John L. Sullivan, Jim Corbett and Bob Fitzsimmons.

They were the days when a bout was considered short at 20 rounds and a man was not beaten until he was a bloody pulp. A small heavyweight — in his prime Burns stood only five feet, seven inches and weighed 175 pounds — his success was all the more remarkable.

He combined fierce determination, an unusually long reach and a rugged physique to reach the top.

Fought the Best

Burns met and beat the best and in February, 1906, he defeated Marvin Hart at San Francisco in 20 rounds to claim the world title.

He consolidated his claim later by beating Philadelphia Jack O'Brien, another title claimant.

In all, Burns met and defeated 10 challengers, eight of them in the first year he held the title.

Then along came a man with dynamite in his fists and anger in his heart. His name was Jack Johnson.

Johnson had chased Burns for months, finally catching the champion in Australia. Burns decided to stand and fight, but not until receiving a then unheard guarantee of $30,000.

The fight in Sydney was a gory battle. Burns took a fearful beating, and when police stopped the masscre in the 14th round Burns was standing on sheer courage.

Burns tried the second of two brief comebacks in 1920 when he was 39, calling it quits for good after being knocked out by Bill Beckley in London, England.

Unlike many fighters, Burns did not fade from public view. He became a pub owner in London, later operated a speakeasy in New York, and then worked in a burlesque show.

Religion entered Tommy Burns' life in later years in California, and he pursued it as fervently as he stalked a ring opponent. It was then he began speaking out against what he called butchery in the ring.

Perhaps Tommy was thinking of Jack Johnson. He often said that "hate" was his undoing against Johnson.

"Hate nearly cost me my life in that fight," he said.

TAKES "DO-IT-YOURSELF" FAD SERIOUSLY

—Central Press Canadian

Co-owner with her husband of 11 thoroughbreds, Mrs. Dan Kennedy, a Winnipeg horsewoman, is taking the current "do-it-yourself" trend to heart. This means training her horses herself. Every morning she is up with the chickens at Long Branch track, near Toronto, for three or four hours of solid work. Her current ambition? To win the Queen's Plate on June 11. Here she poses with Paragon, one of her four candidates in the Run for the Guineas.

Boy Scout Rally This Saturday At Fair Grounds

1ST LACHUTE TROOP
BOY SCOUT NEWS

Excitement is high this week. The big Boy Scout Rally is to be held, weather permitting, at 1 p.m. Saturday, May 21, at the Exhibition Grounds. The boys hope that their parents and friends will swarm to the Rally to encourage them in their Scout work. The Lachute Scouts will take part in the March Past — the Trek Cart Competition — the Tug-of-War — and building of an Emergency Overnight Shelter.

• • •

On May 7, the Troop held the fire-building and cooking test for 2nd Class Scout work, on the Mountain. The following Scouts were present, and all successfully passed the test: Leroy McRae, Brian Noble, Harold Barker, Tommy Dwyer, Sandy Jones, Angus McDonald, Malcolm MacDonald, Randolph Noble, Tony Holt, Wayne Laurin, Earl McCaskill, Glen Swail, Bobby Gilbert and Jackie Lavis.

On May 14 the Scouts conducted a very successful Waste Paper Drive. A full semi-trailer load is being taken to Montreal through the kindness of Boyd's Lachute Express. The Scouts wish to thank all the citizens who contributed paper to this drive, and Mr. Geo. Y. Deacon and Pollock & Graves Motors Ltd. for use of pick-up trucks.

The weekly Troop point competition stands as follows: Bulldog Patrol 235, Fox Patrol 207, Eagle Patrol 202, Wolf Patrol 196.

New B'burg Team Loses First Tilt In Baseball Series

(Our District Correspondent)

Brownsburg — The local ball club made its debut on Sunday, with tragic results. Not that our boys need feel badly about it. They made a few mistakes in three innings which snowballed on them for 10 runs and the ball game. There's no lack of ability on the club, but there is some lack of experience. This was accentuated by the fact that the Hawkesbury club is quite a bit older. This may be the big snag we run into. While the local club is all on the young side, the other teams are all loaded with old pros.

The boys were unlucky to lose the 10 runs especially since an umpiring error obviously caused two of them.

But offensively, the boys were weak getting only 2 runs on 3 hits. Manager Jimmy Murdock was disappointed at this end of the business, but is not a bit disappointed at the team as a whole. He figures a bit more practice is all that's needed.

This week's game is at Grenville, with the next home game scheduled for the following Sunday, against Lefaivre.

HONORS TO B.C.

Penticton V's won the world's championship (hockey) and Port Alberni A's became champions in senior amateur basketball. Behind every small town team that makes big time headlines there's a manager or playing coach who is really outstanding.

FOREST FIRE PROTECTION

- It is illegal to smoke in the woods unless you come to a full stop, whether on foot, horseback or in a car.
- A permit is required to burn brush.
- A permit is required to travel through government forest land.

These regulations are necessary because of the tremendous forest fire losses each year. Why not observe the smoking rule in your own woodlot, for your own protection and that of your neighbours. May is one of the most dangerous months for fire, but any dry period spells danger. Revenue, both immediate and for many years to come, can be destroyed in a few hours by fire resulting from carelessness.

Steward Busy Man On Luxury Liner

Vancouver (CP) — Passenger steward Mac McCarthy sails in one of the most modern vessels at sea — but it would suit him if someone would build one just a little more luxurious.

Even when they are unoccupied, he has to keep the cabins aboard the Royal Mail Lines' 10,000-ton Loch Gowan in showroom condition, because that's just what they are.

At every port, ship agents come aboard to show people over the vessel which third officer Richard Sutton described as surpassed in luxury only by the Queen Mary and Queen Elizabeth and the cruise ship Caronia.

"Right now she's the showboat," Mac says of the only vessel of its type to boast a tiled swimming pool on deck.

CURRENT SHOWS AND ENTERTAINMENT

New Drama Series Starts Sunday on CBC

"Summer Stage," the new series of radio dramas which begins Sunday at 9 p.m. on CBC Trans-Canada, will stress originial scripts rather than adaptations, will engage new writers, will repeat two or more popular half-hour plays of past seasons, and will present a great variety of stories including comedies, historical dramas, fantasies, folk tales, psychological dramas, farces and mysteries.

Esse Ljungh will produce the first 12 programs; the next four will be produced in Montreal (two), Vancouver and Winnipeg; and Frank Willis will produce the remaining three programs, in September. Music will be composed and conducted by Lucio Agostini until May 29; Agostini's place will be taken by Morris Surdin for an indefinite period after that.

Here is the schedule up to the end of June; May 22 — "My Roommate", a psychological drama by Len Peterson; May 29 — "The Last Reckoning", by Geoffrey Bush, adapted by Morna Scott Stoddart (historical drama); June 5 — "When the World Was New", a fantasy fable by Ray Darby; June 12 — "Qui mal y pense", a farce by Tod Greenaway; June 19 — "Maeva and the Prince", a folk legend dramatized by Charles E. Israel; and June 26 — "A Souvenir That Looked Like Something", a comedy by Len Peterson.

JOLSON NOTES

(Contributed)

Two anniversaries of interest to Jolson fans occur this month. One is Jolson's birthday, on May 26, and the other is the 5th anniversary of the Jolsonairs. At the end of this column is a list of the radio programs to which we have written requesting Jolson tributes to commemorate the former and in observance of the latter we are reprinting an excerpt from president Dolores Kaczynshi's special message in the 5th anniversary issue of The Jolson Journal, published recently.

Jolsonairs' History — Dolores Kaczynski

"This being the 5th anniversary of The Jolsonairs, I thought it only fitting to give a brief history of the club, how things are run, and just what we've been doing during the past five years.

"The club name, 'Jolsonairs', was passed on to us from the original for club under that title which became inactive in May 1950. At that time I asked to use the name and start the club afresh. In October 1950, Al Jolson died — we had approximately a dozen members.

"At first it was thought wise to disband — our membership was small and our motivation was gone. After much deliberation and growing enthusiasm, we became The Jolsonairs Memorial Club.

"And, here we are, five years later, ever enthusiastic and growing in number. From a mere handful we rose to over 130 . . . someday we may double that with everyone's co-operation. I personally want to thank the following Jolsonairs who have been with us from three to five years and without whose loyalty we could never have swung it: Dick Bonstel, Ina Boyne, Don Burke, Chris Burr, Don Culp, Caryl Dietz, Mordell Helleseth, Charleen Herring, Larry Kiner, Betty Laws, Clarence Martin, Virgina Picoulas, Eleanor St. Germain, Ray Saari, Judy Tartakowsky, Irvin Warwick, Geoffrey Whiers, Dave Wigransky, and Earl Wolverton (as well as sister Lorry). (This does not include honoraries.)

"Many have asked how we get our journals out, etc. My sis and I own a mimeograph machine on which I run off all the copies. First, a "dummy" copy of each journal is made (this is a typewritten copy from which the stencil sheet is copied). I do most of the Jolson sketches as the older members know; but I've had help from Dave Wigransky, Don Culp, and Pat J. Phillips . . for which I'm grateful. Other sketches are usually traced from various pictures to "liven up" journals. The stencils are then attached to the mimeo, inked, and run off on clean impression paper. Then the pages are sorted, snaps put in, stapled together with the covers, put into envelopes already addressed and stamped, taken to the post office and mailed. You can understand this involves a lot of time, energy, and work. If it wasn't for the help of my family (who pitch in once in a while), and our loyal secretary, Carol Post, I'd never be able to do it. . . Of course, I know that if all your members lived in Milwaukee we could get the work done in no time, but that is impossible so we do it the hard way. Believe me, however, any article, sketch, info' that you do send in for journals is very much appreciated!

"What's been done during the past five years? We've issued 13 Jolson Journals. We've more than doubled our membership. We've contacted and brought into the club various foreign countries: Australia, New Zealand, England, Scotland, Wales, Ireland, and Canada. We've issued our own "Memories of Jolson" on our own Jolsonairs' Label. We've donated $30 to the Jolson Serviceman's Canteen. We've donated $10 to the Heart Fund just this year. We've got the different recording firms interested in Jolsongs. We've kept Al's name before the public if the many imitations of Al on TV and radio, disc jockey mentions, and record spinnings are any indication. Has our first five years been a success? We think so; but 'you ain't seen nothin' yet'!"

Theatrical Touch

Art Exhibition At Hawkesbury Friday, May 27

There will be an exhibition of paintings by Mrs. P. L. Walker, of Montreal, (the former Vivian Knox of Hawkesbury), on Friday, May 27, both afternoon and evening, in the Hawkesbury Town Hall.

Mrs. Walker is a well known Canadian artist who has won several awards. She also teaches art to a group of members of the Notre Dame de Grace Women's Club.

Tea will be served by the Ladies' Society of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, Hawkesbury. -1c

Tips on Touring

A $3 scratch on the fender can increase in importance until it hits the law courts, or it can remain as simple as — well a three-dollar accident. In most cases it depends upon you.

If you have an accident, no matter how large or small, do these things:

(1) Remain at the scene. Leaving, for any reason, immediately puts you in the wrong.

(2) Check occupants of each car for possible injuries. If anyone is injured, the law requires that even the most minor accident be reported to the police!

(3) Exchange license number, name and address with the other driver. Get the names of a witness or two, if possible.

(4) Inspect both cars and jot down the exact nature of the damage. Note exactly where the accident took place, the time, the weather.

(5) Report by telephone or letter to the nearest office of your insurance company.

A final word: if you leap out of your car hot under the collar looking for trouble, you'll find it. But 9 out of 10 minor accident cases can be settled simply and easily with a cool head and a sense of fair play.

In 1752, men and women in Halifax were reading the first Canadian newspaper, The Halifax Gazette. Anthony Henry was its publisher from 1761 on.

The Gazette had depended on government support. When this patronage shifted, The Gazette died. But Henry was determined. In 1769 he launched The Nova Scotia Chronicle and Weekly Advertiser, first Canadian newspaper entirely dependent on the support of the general public.

Meanwhile, other newspapers were rising—meeting the growing public demand for news, opinion, entertainment.

Soon, newspapers were everywhere. Government support was no longer necessary, for newspapers attracted private financial backing.

A modern newspaper is a costly enterprise, but as Henry attempted to prove, it can exist independent of government financing.

Today there are over 1,800 newspapers in Canada—in English, French, and many other languages! Some, though, are Canadian still, they owe much to pioneers like Anthony Henry.

Men like Anthony Henry depended upon their all-important associates—the far-sighted lending institutions and banks of Canada. W. Inst. Programs Give Prominence To Garden Topics

At Arundel W.I. meeting, 31 members answered the roll-call by naming an artist. Mr. John Macaulay, with the help of slides and movies, unfolded the story of Art. A visual test for color blindness and a color comparison test were also given. This program was fully enjoyed by the members. . . Two quilts are being made for the July bazaar.

Frontier members, by way of a roll-call, imitated an animal. Plans were made to celebrate the 25th anniversary of the branch. An auction sale of plants, slips and roots netted the sum of $15. Mr. Albert Ogilvie gave a lecture on the preparation of the seed beds and the care of tulip bulbs.

At Lachute, the roll-call was, "Name a prominent woman in the news". Arrangements were completed for the tour of Ottawa (May 17). Dr. Jules Lafleur addressed the meeting on the coming Cancer Campaign. The objective of the County is $5,000, and support of the W.I. in the canvassing is requested. . . . A woven scarf in the Nova Scotia tartan (blue plaid) was on display.

At Millle Isles, donations were made towards the School Prizes and Scholarship Fund. Plans were made to attend the County Convention.

Lakefield had 10 members and one visitor present. The roll-call was, "Name a vegetable beginning with your initial." A box of groceries was sent to a needy family, also a basket of fruit to a sick family. This Branch arranged to act as hostess group at the County Convention.

Pioneer. — A life membership certificate was presented in April to Mrs. H. McOuat. An Easter plant was given to Miss Jessie Drew, oldest charter member. A tour of Ayers Limited mills proved very interesting. . . At the May meeting a talk entitled, "Give Individual Touch to the Rural Home Garden," proved very instructive A sale of plants and garden slips was held.

Upper Lachute - East End had 22 members and one guest present. Mrs. T. Bishop gave a talk on the planting of bulbs, flowers and shrubs. A demonstration on flower arrangements followed. Both these items were very interesting to the members. A contest, "Jumbled gardens," was held, Mrs. W. D. Hume winning first prize. . . Two quilts are being made to raise money. A donation of $15 was given to the School Fair.

Meat Inspection And Grading

The handling of meat in ancient civilizations was considered to be so important that it was regarded almost as a sacred rite. There were religious food laws governing this and only the priests were allowed to engage in its selection and preparation for use.

Today we still have food laws covering the handling of meat. The Consumer Section o fthe Marketing Service, Ottawa, tell us that meat in Canada may be subject to both health inspection and grading regulations by the Department. Inspection assures the consumer that the meat is wholesome and fit to eat while grading is a guide to quality in buying.

Canadian meat inspection is a guarantee that the meat which has ben inspected and passed by Federal Government Inspectors has been slaughtered and handled under sanitary conditions an dis wholesome and fit for human consumption. It is compulsory that all meat for interprovincial, foreign or import trade be health inspected. Meat sold within the province in which it is produced may or may not be federally inspected. Some provinces and municipalities however, have regulations requiring the inspection of meat sold in certain areas. It is estimated that about three-quarter of Canada's meat supply is federally inspected.

All animals entering federally inspected plants are inspected before and after slaughter. This is done unde rthe constant supervision of the inspectors, all veterinarians who examine the internal organs and glands for any signs of disease.

Once a carcass passes inspection it is stamped with a health inspection stamp in several places. This stamp does not indicate quality or grade but indicates that the meat is fit for human consumption. The stamp is round and purple in color and bears the words "Canada Approved". In the centre there is an authorized pattern of the crown. A vegetable dye is used for stamping which is absolutely harmelss and need not be cut off when cookthe meat.

Through its inspectors, the Canada Department of Agriculture also closely controls sanitation and falilities which will ensure the sanitary preparation, handling and storing of meat and meat products. This same supervision is carried out during processing and packaging of meat products in the plant.

At the present time beef is the only meat that can be purchased by grade. Grading of beef can take place only after the meat has passed health inspection in federally inspected plants. It is graded according to certain standards of quality by Federal Graders.

In the grading of beef certain points are considered. These include the proportion of meat to bone; the amount of fat covering and the distribution of fat through the lean; texture and color of the lean and the character of the bones and fat.

Top quality beef will have a high proportion of meat to bone and will be well-marbled with fat. It will have firm, velvety fine-grained meat of a rich red color. The fat will be firm and white or creamy-white in color. The bones will be red, soft and porous except in the case of meat from heavier animals where bones will show a slightly bleached appearance.

The grades of beef established on the basis of these points are Grade A (Choice), Grade B (Good), Grade C (Commercial) and Grade D (Utility). After inspection, the meat is stamped A, B, C or D and then using edible ink, a colored ribbon-like band is drawn on the carcass in such a way that both wholesale and retail cuts are grade marked. The color o fthe band indicates the grade, that is, red for Grade A, blue for Brade B, and brown for Grades C and D. The packers are allowed to print their brand names in the ribbon band but it is always the color that indicates the grade.

The grading of beef is compulsory in the area of greater Vancouver, in British Columbia and it soon will be in the area of greater St. John's Newfoundland.

Let's Eat

BY IDA BAILEY ALLEN

"Eggs are constantly getting better in quality and flavor," remarked the Chef. "The refrigeration of eggs in transportation, in the warehouses and in all up-to-date stores and supermarkets keeps them fresh longer than in the past."

Test Eggs for Freshness

"It is a good point in economy to know that it is now possible to use grade B eggs and even grade C eggs in cooking, Madame. Even grade B eggs usually meet a simple home test for freshness. When broken into a saucer, the egg holds together; that is, the centre is high and curved, the white is still thick and does not run all over the dish.

"Poached eggs are good combined with other substantial foods into quick and easy dinner dishes. Since many persons find it difficult to poach eggs, let's give a recipe and several good poached egg brunch or dinner combinations."

Plain Poached Eggs: Half fill a rather deep large frying pan with hot water. Add ½ tsp. salt and bring to a rapid boil. Break grade A or B eggs, one at a time, into a saucer and slide these into the water. Do not crowd them. When the eggs are all in, reduce the heat so the water merely bubbles. Then cover, so the yolks will cook by steam. In 3 minutes turn off the heat, and let the eggs continue to poach 3 minutes more. Remove with a perforated spoon.

Poached Eggs with Cheese Sauce: Place grilled sliced tomato on buttered toast; top with poached eggs. Spoon over cheese sauce, which can be bought or homemade.

Poached Eggs a la King: Spoon chicken, ham or turkey a la king onto sliced buttered toast. Top with poached eggs. Dust with snipped parsley or chives.

Poached Eggs Benedict Tabasco: Toast and butter halved English muffins. Top with broiled sliced ham, poached eggs and spoonfuls of Tabasco Hollandaise. Garnish each egg with a dot of canned pimiento.

Tabasco Hollandaise Type Sauce From the Chef

To be used on eggs Benedict instead of true Hollandaise.

Into a pt. double boiler measure 2 tbsp. each water and vinegar, 1 tbsp. lemon juice, ¼ c. butter and ½ c. chicken stock (or ½ c. water and 1 chicken bouillon cube). Bring to boiling point.

Beat 4 egg yolks slightly. Stir in the boiling liquid. Return to the double boiler; cook and stir over hot water until the consistency of heavy cream. Season with ¼ tsp. salt and 4 drops tabasco.

Darning the Tissue

A new method of combatting cancer by weaving a radio-active thread into diseased tissues is reported by psysicians. The thread consists of a hollow, flexible plastic tube, about the diameter of a big darning needle; it is packed with radium or some other material whose radiations are capable of destroying cancers. According to the doctors, many threads can be placed into one tumour, in much the same way as in darning a sock. The cancer-killing threads are usually left in place for a week, and then pulled out. The new technique is especially useful in the treatment of malignancies of the neck, tongue and cheek.

They were telling the family's problem child that he should eat his spinach.

"It makes good, strong teeth, Junior," declared his mom.

"Huh!" snorted the little dear, "Feed it to grandma then."

One girl to another: "He says he always wants to remember me just as I am now, so he broke off our engagement."

Latvian Newcomer Has Many Talents

Toronto (CP) — A handsome young Latvian mother has proved her ability in diverse roles during the three years she has lived in Canada.

Mrs. Juris Benjamin and her husband left Latvia for England because, she said, "unless you're a Communist Latvia is no place for you now."

Her husband was a pioneer in color photography in Latvia before the Second World War. He is a research chemist by profession and in England continued research in color photography.

Designed Buildings

After the couple with their daughter and two sons came to Canada, Mrs. Benjamin became president of a building company while her husband planned a color photography business. She designed split-level houses and also designed the two-storey building which houses her husband's business. The interior decoration of these projects also came under her capable hands.

When her husband's business started, Mrs. Benjamin, a graduate pharmacist, sold her interest in the building company and worked in the chemical mixing room until expansion called for more employees.

Now the company employs 18 workers, and Mrs. Benjamin has turned her talents to the firm's business administration.

Classical music, skiing and travel are among her recreations. "It's an interesting life — and an interesting business," she said.

FOR PARENTS ONLY...

A Weekly Feature of Helpful Hints on Child Training

Pattern of Perfection

(Copyright) — By NANCY CLEAVER —

A father or a mother who has a "Perfection Pattern" for a son or daughter to strive to follow is hard to live with. Such a person is likely to be inflexible and irritable. The child growing up in a home with too high a standard of behaviour is apt to be nervous or sullen.

How can there be a relaxed, happy atmosphere if a youngster is always being prodded to excel or being nagged if he acts in an undesirable way?

"Junior is no star student like you . . . and why can't he get on the baseball team?" father asks irritably, "When I was a boy I pitched on our school team!"

* * *

"Can't you cure Margaret of her horrible habit of biting her nails?" another man asks his wife.

"Helen doesn't seem able to play happily with other children. She just won't take turns or share her playthings with other little girls. I am ashamed of her when she snatches her doll from her little chums," a mother complains.

* * *

"John just won't keep clean. I dress him in clean clothes every morning and every afternoon after he sleeps, and still he seems to be dirty all the time," another mother says regretfully.

* * *

Have you listened to remarks like these? They are often made by parents who expect perfect behaviour of their children — sometimes far beyond the child's ability at the stage he is at. These "perfectionist parents" are more apt to be mothers than fathers. They create a discontented, upset family circle. They would likely be surprised if they were told that it is a mistake for parents to set up a standard of perfection for a child, or expect a youngster to excel in athletics or school work because they did.

Children go through various stages of development. Habits, such as biting nails are outgrown in time by most children. It takes practice and patience for a little child to learn how to get along with other children, and share possessions happily. An active child is not naturally concerned about cleanliness, and a mother who expects her son to keep his hands and clothes clean while he plays is doomed to disappointment.

A child needs encouragement in order to succeed in the formation of habits which are possible and desirable for him at his age. Praise is a great stimulus for successful effort. If provision is made for the basic needs of a child, he is likely to be successful in learning new ideas and skills and in developing a happy relationship with his playmates and odler people.

Failure is part of life as well as success, for a child as well as for an adult, and both young and old can learn from their mistakes if they are willing to do so. A child who accepts the fact that he cannot always be the winner in the game, that he will not always come first in his class, that he will not always succeed in what he attempts, will not be crushed by disappointments and failures in later life.

Frequently adults are not able to achieve what they would like to accomplish! It is strange that so often they expect so much from their children! So seldom are they willing to make allowances for youngsters when they do not measure up to a "perfect pattern"!

OBITUARY

Died in Saskatchewan

Late Geo. R. McFarlane

George Redpath McFarlane passed away at Hoosier, Sask., on May 2 at the age of 80 years. He was predeceased by his wife in 1909.

Left to mourn his passing are his daughter, Mrs. J. Hawkins, of Hoosier, and his two sisters, Mrs. Jeanette Thompson, Hoosier, and Mrs. J. A. Hyslop, Saskatoon.

'Facts, Fingers, Fun !' QWI-Sponsored Five Day Course

"Facts! Fingers! Fun!" is on next week, May 23-27, at Macdonald College. This title, always used for the annual five-day course sponsored by the Quebec Women's Institutes, indicates its objective; the increasing of the skill of its members in these three facets of Institute work.

The program follows, with slight variations, that of previous years. This is always arranged from the findings of the evaluation session which closes each course, and thus reflects the wishes and needs of the members themselves.

Mrs. A. Cameron, Sawyerville, formerly of the Adult Education Service, Macdonald College, again leads the class in New Life for your Programs. Mrs. R. MacLeod, Counsellor Bury Junior W.I., and a "graduate" of this course, is directing the class in Recreation, and Mrs. D. L. MacFarlane of the College is once more in charge of the period, Music in Your Program.

The craft taught this year is simple costume jewellry, Miss Janet McOuat, Q.W.I. Handicraft Technician, instructor, and a few members will be learning to operate a projector, supervised by Miss M. Chapman, Adult Education Service.

A series of talks and demonstrations on Color in Your Home, Choice, Finish and Care of Floors, and Your Kitchen and its Electrical Appliances are planned. These are taken respectively by Miss F. E. Campbell, School of Household Science, Macdonald College, Mr. A. Ross Crafton, Manager A. Ross Crafton Co., Montreal, and Prof. A. Banting, Chairman, Agricultural Engineering, Macdonald College.

"Running the Organization" is the over-all title for the evening sessions when group discussion techniques and the conduct of the business portion of the meeting are to be discussed in that order, with Mr. Jas. Davidson, Farm Editor, Macdonald Farm Journal, and Prof. H. H. C. Avison, Director, Adult Education Service. One evening will be devoted to a discussion of problems encountered by the members themselves in their own localities. It is hoped some member of the Q.W.I. executive can be present as resource person for this session.

The maximum number at this course is limited to 40 and applications to date would indicate it will be filled to capacity.

An intricate model of a British iron ore handling plant will be on display at the Canadian International Trade Fair in Toronto, from May 30 to June 10. The model has been built by a team of Tyneside craftsmen.

Garden-Graph

Wait until all danger of frost is past before setting out tomato plants. Curb your impatience and play safe. In fact, you'll probably harvest a better crop if you wait until the weather is warm before setting out tomatoes.

Here are a few additional safety measures:

After planting, cover each seedling with a flowerpot, as shown in the Garden-Graph. The pot will protect the plant from the sun until danger of wilting is past. Take off the pots at night and on cloudy days.

Protect the plants against cutworms by wrapping a paper collar around each plant, as illustrated. The collar should extend at least two inches above ground and two inches below the soil surface.

Space tomato plants well apart from each other. Early ones, if not to be staked, should be set at least 36 inches apart each way, as illustrated. If you intend to stake them, 24 inches apart will be enough.

Place each young plant in a hole filled with water and press the loose soil firmly about the roots. A balanced fertilizer mixed in the water will hasten growth.

When you stake tomatoes use stout stakes some six feet long. Set them 18 inches into the ground. When fastening the plants to the stakes tie with strips of soft cloth.

WHERE DOES THE DOLLAR GO ?

Everyone likes to keep track of the money he earns.

At Imperial Oil, accountants keep close tab on every dollar the company receives. Auditors and government tax people double check. Of every dollar of Imperial's income last year...

About 52 cents went to purchase raw materials including crude oil (we pay freight charges out of this too).

Roughly 30 cents went in operating and administrative costs, including the wages of Imperial's 13,000 employees.

10 cents went in taxes to federal, provincial and municipal governments. (This did not include provincial road taxes.)

About 4 cents went back into the business to help replace worn-out equipment and provide for future needs.

About 4 cents went in dividends to the company's shareholders.

"Racial Balance" Immigration Denied

Ottawa (CP) —

Immigration Minister Pickersgill told the Commons that maintenance of a racial balance in Canada plays no part in government immigration policy. He was replying to the concern expressed by Gordon Churchill (PC—Winnipeg South Centre) over the declining share of Britons in the inflow of immigrants. Mr. Churchill said there had been an apparent change in immigration policy since 1949.

"To the best of my knowledge," said Mr. Pickersgill, "this department does not now, and never has, paid any attention to keeping a racial balance. And I hope it never will."

He said the department would like to see more immigrants coming from the British Isles and is concerned about their falling numbers. It gave preference to them because they fit quickly and more easily into Canadian life.

But the policy of preference and selection is not based on race or creed, he said. "It is based upon a conception of adaptability to the kind of society we have tried to build in this country in the last 300 years."

RE-LIVE EXPULSION OF ACADIANS

—Central Press Canadian

Centre of the celebrations marking the 200th anniversary of the expulsion of the Acadians from Nova Scotia is the village of Grand Pre. And focal point there is the statue of "Evangeline," shown here, immortalized by the U.S. poet, William Longfellow. In 1775, over 6,000 French-speaking settlers in the area were deported by the British to Louisiana where today 50,000 of their descendants live. This summer thousands of the "Cajuns," as the Louisiana Acadians are called, will visit the lands in Nova Scotia once owned by their forefathers, and will join thousands of other Nova Scotians in making the bicentennial year the greatest since the expulsion of the Acadians. The celebrations will continue for the year, climaxing on Aug. 15 at Grand Pre where Longfellow's poem will be dramatized.

Tale of County Pioneer Descendants Who Settled on California Coast

By devious contacts of old-timers associated with Lachute, this narrative from a West Coast newspaper has been handed in for publication. It was sent from the coast by Mrs. Geo. Matthews (formerly Mary Rodgers, of Centerville) to Mrs. R. McGibbon in Calgary, and the latter passing here en route to England, relayed it to The Watchman. The column, entitled "Old Timers" by Betty Ford (in a California newspaper, identity unknown), describes the adventures of the MacKerrichers, members of an old Scottish family of Argenteuil pioneers. (The name, in local annals, is generally spelled "MacKerracher").

THE MacKERRICHER STORY

This is the story of Duncan and Jessie MacKerricher, a story that is as much a part of the Mendocino coast as the high cliffs that guard the majestic redwood forests along her rockbound shores.

Jessie MacKerricher was a descendant of the House of Stuart once the rulers of Scotland, and the forebears of Duncan MacKerricher can be found in the pages of Scottish history. He was born April 12, 1836, on his father's farm near Dalesville, Quebec, Canada.

Duncan was 18 years of age and Jessie was 17 when they fell in love and plighted their troth. But the outlook for the young Scotsman was none too good, the United States became embroiled in the Civil War, and the years slipped away. Suddenly they realized that a decade had passed since they had been promised in marriage.

Tales of the wealth to be gained along the Pacific coast reached through friends who had preceded them here. So, on October 14, 1864, they were married. They left at once by train for New York City from whence they set sail aboard the liner Ocean Queen, bound for the Isthmus of Panama.

The Ocean Queen carried the United States mail in addition to her cargo and passengers. For that reason she was convoyed through the danger zone by the U.S.S. Constitution.

They crossed the Isthmus by rail and there boarded a ship bound for San Francisco, where they landed in the latter part of November, 1864.

Their destination was the City of Mendocino where their friends awaited them. They boarded one of the small schooners that plied up and down the coast, expecting to join their friends in a few days, but it was three weeks before the MacKerrichers disembarked and climbed the rocky cliffs at Mendocino.

Rough waters prevented the schooner from putting in there during her northerly voyage, and she continued on to Eureka. Several of the passengers demanded that they be put ashore then and there, they had had quite enough of the sea. "Would you rather be killed by the Indians, or drown?", the captain asked them calmly. Not a passenger left the ship.

After two years of work in the mill at Mendocino, Duncan went to work under E. J. Whipple who was in charge of the Indian Reservation at Kibesillah near Ten Mile River where he taught the Indians the fine points of agriculture. He began the first dairy on this coast north of Point Arena, and within two years had broken 69 cows to milking with the aid of Indian boys.

The butter from the dairy was sold to help purchase food for the Indians. It was shipped regularly by schooner to San Francisco.

In 1868 the Indians were sent to Round Valley and the MacKerrichers purchased El Rancho de la Laguna, the present site of MacKerricher State Park.

Jessie was a perfect wife for a pioneer. She had been the only woman living on the Indian Reservation, and had worked side by side with her husband with the Indians. About half of them refused to go to Round Valley, preferring to follow the MacKerrichers. With their help Duncan cleared his land as fast as he could and planted his crops. He sold much of his produce in Mendocino. Later he raised the finest draft horses in the county there.

There were no bridges across Pudding Creek and the Noyo River then. The Noyo was crossed by means of a lighter, and Pudding Creek had to be forded at low tide. There were times when Duncan had to wait for hours for the tide to go out before he could get home. It was one of those occasions that his brave little wife had one of her most dangerous moments.

Her adventure with an outlaw who met more than his match in Jessie is a tale that is still remembered. She was industriously scrubbing her kitchen one morning when she looked up to see a man standing in her doorway.

He was carrying a rifle, six guns hung at his belt, and a long knife protruded from one boot. He ordered her to prepare him a meal when she finished her work.

As he was leaving the man tossed Jessie a dime for her trouble, and she with all the dignity she could muster picked up that dime and threw it after him and told him with contemptuous scorn in her voice that she did not need a paltry dime that badly.

Two days later he with two others set fire to the mill at Mendocino hoping to rob the bank there during the confusion. The three were caught by a posse, but not before several of them died under the guns of the outlaws.

Jessie and Duncan became the parents of eight children, Edwin Daniel, Margaret Stuart, Miriam Jean, Russell Arthur, William Winfield, Evelyn Annie and Edith May. In 1908 they built a home at the corner of Fir and Harold streets in Fort Bragg which remained the family residence for 15 years. In 1913 Duncan MacKerricher disposed of all of his holdings other than the land now occupied by the park and the family home. Jessie died in 1923, and Duncan followed her in 1926.

Mrs. J. S. Cotton, the former Evelyn Annie MacKerricher, who told us this story, described the home of her childhood as one of the most beautiful spots she has ever seen. The family home stood about where the park office is located. The lake was ever so much larger, and the water was crystal clear. Fish abounded there and people used to come all the way from San Francisco to fish in it. No one planted fish in those days, mother nature did a fine job keeping the lake stocked.

What better purpose could El Rancho de la Laguna serve than the one the heirs of Jessie and Duncan MacKerricher chose. Their childhood home is now a joy to all as a State Park visited by thousands annually.

A Passenger Named Death

Death will ride as a passenger at the Ste. Scholastique Race Track tonight (Thursday), when the Congress of Canadian Dare Devils take over. Among main events during the two-hour show commencing at 8.30 p.m., will be motorcycle trick and fancy riding, leapfrog, ramp-to-ramp leaps on two-wheel machines, crash rollovers, head-on collisions and the dangerous feat pictured above, when one of the "Dare Devils" takes a ramp on two wheels while driving at break-neck speed, requiring the utmost in skill and courage.

Enthusiasm at 6th Annual District Boy Scout Rally

Pennant Winners Scattered Throughout Area

Lachute — The Sixth Annual Rally of the Boy Scouts Association, Laurentian District was held at the Lachute Fair Grounds, Saturday afternoon under perfect weather conditions.

Guest of honor F. J. Finlay, Chief Executive Commissioner of the Canadian Boy Scouts Association was introduced by District Commissioner Linton W. Armstrong.

In the course of his brief address, Mr. Finlay stated that "the receivers of today should be the givers of tomorrow" also that service is one of the principal aims of Scouting. He mentioned that the boy needs encouragement from his parents in his Cubbing and Scouting activities.

The March Past was led by Vic Taylor and his Sea Scouts from St. Eustache Sur-le-Lac, followed by the Montreal Boy Scouts Band under the direction of Alex Fleming, followed by Wolf Cub Packs and Boy Scout Troops from such points as Brownsburg, Ste. Therese, 1st St. Eustache Sur-le-Lac, Laval West, Rosemere, Ste. Therese, Grenville, Lachute, 1st Rosemere, 2nd St. Eustache Sur-le-Lac, Ste. Rose, St. Eustache, R.C.A.F. Lac St. Denis, Morin Heights and Boys Farm and Training School, Shawbridge. The salute was taken by Commissioner Finlay attended by Provincial Executive Commissioner C. J. Dendy and District Commissioner L. W. Armstrong.

There was a fairly large number of spectators in the grand stand and they were well entertained throughout the afternoon. Rally Marshall R. B. Elliott and Chairman B. A. Jenkins deserve credit for a fine achievement.

The Girl Guides and Brownies did not participate in this Rally and their absence was noted by many of the spectators.

The following is a list of events and prize winners: —

Truck Kills Worker

Alexandria, Ont. (CP) — Alan Raymond Macdonald, 55-year-old Ontario Department of highways worker, was killed last Saturday when struck by a truck as he stepped from a departmental truck on a highway a mile south of here. Driver of the truck which struck him was Alex Quesnel, Green Valley farmer.

"OUTSIDE" INCOME

London, Ont. (CP) — Mayor Geo. Beedle thinks the city's "outside work" by-law should apply to city-paid doctors who are also keeping up private practise, as well as to laborers. The law prohibits civic employees from engaging in any other work "for hire or gain" without council consent.

Huberdeau Mayor Serving Fourth Term

Electors of the municipality of Huberdeau turned out to the polls on May 16 to re-elect Mayor Gaston Laurier by a 69 vote majority. This is Mr. Laurier's fourth consecutive term in this office.

In the aldermanic contests, there were two acclamations, with Councillor Alfred Tougas being unopposed, and Francoise Laurin replacing Zephir Provost, who withdrew in favor of his opponent.

Baby Boy Burned to Death At Templeton

A 13-month-old baby boy was burned to death, and his father suffered multiple burns in a vain attempt to rescue him, in a fire which destroyed the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Chiasson at Templeton, early Tuesday morning.

Dead is Richard Chiasson, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Chiasson. His mother, his seven-year-old brother, Terry, and a visitor at the Chiasson home, Aime Carrière, escaped without injury.

The fire, which broke out shortly after 2 a.m., raged through the Chiasson home for nearly three hours, causing damage estimated at $5,000, and spread to the adjacent house, owned by Don Stanyar.

Firemen from the Canadian International Paper Company, and volunteer helpers from nearby homes, were able to bring the flames under control before it caused serious damage to the Stanyar home. Only the adjacent wall was damaged.

Cushing West Fire Battled by Residents

Late Saturday afternoon, many neighbors and passersby helped fight a bush fire at Mr. Armand Menard's. The blaze was making quick headway with quite a strong wind in its favor.

Colorful Scene at 'Klondyke Night' By Lions Club

A novel form of entertainment for Lachute Lions, their ladies and guests, was the "Klondyke Night" cooked up by committeeman Ernest Snadden and his helpers, last Thursday evening at the Legion Hall.

A Dawson City night-spot might well have been the setting, with characters from the lines of Robert Service, and values at the fabulous pitch of Gold Rush days. The forty-odd couples were mostly in costume — the bejewelled satins and ostrich feathers of the Yukon nineties, and lurid shirts and whiskers of the panhandlers. The storied Dan McGrew and "Lady known as Lou" added contemporary drama, both collapsing in a heap at the appointed time, as a six-shooter blazed in the darkness.

All comers at this unusual affair staked a claim in the turf covering a potential fortune, and the door prize, a $10,000 "find" (negotiable at $10 in sane currency) went to J. Clermont, a guest of Lion Jos. Dumais. Gold Rush prices prevailed for other commodities and delights of the patrons — $500 for a dance, $500 for a quencher, etc., all payable in phoney money purchased at the door.

Ian Gordon was m.c. for carpet horse-racing, staged with equipment from a Great Lakes cruise steamer. Mme Mozart Carrière won a dance popularity contest. Mme Roger Gravel and Ed Jones won the costume prizes for ladies and gentlemen, respectively. Dangerous Dan McGrew was enacted by Lion Snadden, while Gordon McOuat took the perilous role of Lou, to narration from the sidelines by Roger Regimbal.

Lion Regimbal, president of the club, paid tribute to all who had assisted in the successful evening or given their services gratuitously, including Wayne Riddell who accompanied for the dancing throughout.

Dollard Memorial Ceremonies Held at Long Sault Monument

District Clergy and Officials Participated in Program

The Dollard Monument Site in Carillon was the scene of a "Remembrance Service" for the heroes of a famous and significant battle in early Canadian history. Within sight of the Long Sault rapids on the Ottawa River, the bravery and sacrifice of Dollard des Ormeaux and his companions was recalled. The ceremony held on Monday evening was organized under the direction of the Chamber of Commerce in St. Andrews East, which was represented by President Paul Labreche, vice-president Stanley Rodger, and director Henri Labreche.

On the steps of the monument commemorating the battle of the Long Sault, Rev. Father St. Martin of the Parish of St. Joseph de Carillon, recounted the valour of Dollard and those who fought with him and then read the documents concerning the erection of the monument in 1919. Following this, the Rev. J. Ralph Watson of the United Church of Canada, St. Andrews East, spoke in English to those assembled, telling of the circumstances of the battle for the defense of Montreal on the shores of the Ottawa River. A military parade of Highland Cadets from Lachute, under the command of Capt. Gordon Tabrett, was present for the occasion.

In past years various religious organizations have been in charge of the commemorative services at Carillon, however, in the last few years the celebrations have been increasingly centered in the City of Montreal. The program for this year's celebrations did not include a visit to Carillon, so the St. Andrews East Chamber of Commerce, being aware of the historic significance of the event for all Canadians, organized the program for 1955.

It was in the spring of 1660 that the recently founded settlement of Ville Marie (now Montreal), was threatened with an attack by the Iroquois. Dollard, a young man of twenty-five, volunteered along with sixteen companions to seek out the Iroquois along the Ottawa and attempt to forestall them. They knew well the risk involved in such a venture, so before they set out they drew up their wills and received the Blessed Sacrament of their Church.

When they arrived at the foot of the Long Sault early in May they found an old abandoned barricade, and with the assistance of forty-four Huron and Algonquin Indians who had joined them restored the barricade as best they could. Almost immediately, the Iroquois appeared some two hundred strong, and the famous battle began. The fighting continued for days and the Iroquois were joined by more than five hundred additional warriors. There could be no rest for Dollard and his companions as day and night they were constantly harrassed by their numerically superior foe. Finally, hungry and thirsty, exhausted by battle, and weakened by casualties, the heroic defenders within the fort were overpowered in a concentrated attack by the Iroquois.

All the Frenchmen involved lost their lives — which they knew to be the cost when they set out from Montreal — and only a few of their Indian allies were captured alive. Of these Indians a few were able to escape from the hands of the Iroquois, and through them, as well as the Iroquois in later years, the French in Ville Marie learned of the bravery and sacrifice of their compatriots.

Because of the stubborn resistance of Dollard and his companions and the courage they revealed in the face of such overwhelming odds, the Iroquois were discouraged from carrying out their attack on Montreal as well as their other plans for the destruction of Three Rivers and Quebec. Through the heroism displayed by this small band of volunteers New France was saved from impending disaster.

An estimated 2,419,000 families had children 24 years of age and under living at home at the start of June, 1954.

Graduate in Agriculture

Robert Thomas McMahon, a graduate of Lachute High School, received his B.Sc.Ag. (in absentia) at the McGill Spring Convocation. The son of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Community Concerts Campaign Week Ends With Tentative Choice of Recitals

On nominal closing of the Community Concerts campaign Saturday night, the number of subscribers approximated 428 and on the basis of this membership a budget prepared by J. Bernache, representative from New York, provided $1,750 for artists' bookings.

The post-campaign business was discussed by a few representative officials of the local Association and a tentative selection was made of three concerts (four being beyond the resources of the public subscription)—which will likely include a Canadian piano duo in October, a well-known dance team in February, and a female singer in April.

Dr. Marc Papineau, campaign chairman, thanked those who had contributed their efforts in the campaign. Others present were Mrs. W. M. Cottingham, president; Miss Juliette Rodrigue, ex-president; Al Talbot, vice-president; Simon Valois, secretary; Don Titman, publicity; and Mr. Bernache.

Two Local Cars Involved in Mishap, Freak Coincidence

A costly coincidence involved two Lachute residents near St. Jerome last week. When J. Roger Lamarche discovered his car stolen from a parking lot in that city, he took his complaint directly to the police who recovered the stolen automobile about an hour later in a ditch near St. Janvier, some seven miles from St. Jerome. Previous to taking the ditch, the stolen 1954-model car had crashed into the rear of a 1950 sedan owned and driven by Martin Albright, also of Lachute. Mr. Albright and his passenger were severely shaken up but not seriously injured.

Albright told Provincial Police that two persons took to the field after the Lamarche car hurtled into the ditch. Damage to the Lamarche car was estimated at $2,100, while the Albright car was damaged to the extent of $600.

Roger Lamarche — accompanied by Laurent and Claude Lamarche who were visiting the former's father in the Hotel Dieu Hospital — returned to Lachute by taxi.

Car Stolen and Wrecked

The remains of a car owned by J. Roger Lamarche, Lachute merchant, who reported his car stolen last Monday in St. Jerome, only to find that it had been demolished in an accident. By coincidence another Lachute auto, owned and driven by Martin Albright, was involved in the accident, which occurred at St. Janvier, on the Laurentian highway.

Liberal Legislature Member Resigns; Arraigned in Court on Receiving Charge

By George Frajkor

Quebec (CP) — Gaston Ledoux, a Liberal member of the Quebec legislature for Shefford riding, resigned his seat last week in a surprising move that stirred the Quebec political scene on the eve of the July by-elections.

Mr. Ledoux, of Granby, who won his seat in 1952, was arraigned in court Tuesday of this week on a charge of receiving stolen goods. No plea was entered and no date was set for the hearing, neither was the question of bail raised.

The M.L.A., whose resignation is still awaiting official word from Quebec, was arrested at his summer home on the shores of Lake Memphremagog, a few miles south of Sherbrooke.

Premier Duplessis commented at his weekly press conference prior to the arraignment that the circumstances of the resignation were "at least peculiar."

He said it appeared the Liberals didn't trust the post office service. The resignation, instead of being mailed, was turned into speaker Alexandre Tache by two other Liberal members — Yvon Dupuis, of Montreal - St. Mary riding and Dr. Gerard Lemieux, of Wolfe.

Georges Lapalme, Quebec Liberal leader, reported next day: "It's not the postal service but Mr. Duplessis that we have no confidence in."

He said George Marler, former member of the legislature for Westmount - St. Georges resigned by mail July 1, 1954, on becoming Federal transport minister, but a month later Mr. Duplessis still was saying he hadn't received the official resignation.

Mr. Ledoux in his notification said his reasons for resigning were personal. They had nothing to do with the Liberal party or the party leader.

Canada's process cheese industry shipped a record $27,271,289 worth of products in 1953.

Rigaud Boy Wins High Standing

Hon. Ralph Campney, Minister of National Defence, presents the Governor General's Gold Medal to Cadet Section Commander Joseph Herman Gregg Howard, of Rigaud, Que., at graduation ceremonies of the Royal Military College at Kingston, Ont. The Gold Medal is awarded to the cadet obtaining the highest average of marks in his graduating year.

Public See Work Of Embryo Artists

Gratifying interest was shown by parents and friends last week in Miss Janine Leroux' exhibition of art work by her pupils. The display gave practical evidence that this young instructor, since establishing classes here last fall, has stimulated imaginative creation in her young pupils, and cultivated dormant talents in a number of adult followers.

The premiere on Thursday evening was attended by about 100 invited guests, and during the afternoon and evening of the following two days, a considerable number inspected the display. The exhibits, very creditably arranged in the auditorium of the Catholic High School, showed pictures of various subjects in charcoal, gouache, pastels and oils, and a colorful array of handwork and modelling by the children. These were further illustrated by photographs displayed on a special panel.

Miss Janine Leroux is to be commended on this tasteful display and the progress achieved in her art courses.

Laurentian Region Ch. of Commerce Annual Conference

The annual conference of the Laurentides Region Chamber of Commerce will be held in the Alpine Inn, Ste. Marguerite, on Sunday, June 12 — according to Gerard Lefebvre, the regional president.

The general theme of the gathering will centre on industrial and tourist development throughout the region, as well as the question of the through highway from the Laurentian area to Montreal. The latter project has been under discussion for several years but has not as yet materialized.

Special guests of the convention will be the Hon. W. M. Cottingham (L.A.; Messrs. Georges Leveillé director of the Quebec Publicity and Tourist Bureau; Gerard Deage, administrator of the Quebec Hotel Association; Valmore Gratton, Montreal director of tourism. Also to be present will be officers of the provincial organization of the Chamber of Commerce.

A special program of films has been prepared for the ladies attending the congress, which will commence at 1.30 p.m.

Canada TB Death-rate Now Fourth Lowest

Toronto (CP) — Canada now has the fourth lowest tuberculosis death rate in the world, but despite great advances the disease remains one of the country's major health problems, Health Minister Martin said recently.

The TB death rate has fallen dramatically, he said, but "we cannot afford to fall into the error of thinking that tuberculosis is conquored." It was still the greatest single cause of lost man-hours among young people.

Addressing the anual meeting of the Ontario Tuberculosis Association, Mr. Martin said Canada's aim should be to have the lowest TB death rate in the world and "to work towards the eventual elimination of tuberculosis as a threa to human health and life."

"The cost of driving tuberculosis from Canada will be high," he said. "But the cost of failure — in lost time, lost productivity and human suffering — would be immeasurably higher."

Mr. Martin said widespread use of new drugs and improved surgical techniques cut Canada's TB death rate by 66 percent, between 1948 and 1953 to 12.3 deaths per 100,000 population. Indications were that the 1954 rate will not be more than 10 per 100,000. The Ontario rate for that year would likely be between six and seven.

Accidental Death in Valcartier Blast

Quebec May 24 (CP) —

A coroner's jury absolved the Army of any blame in the death of three civilians who were killed when a live rocket exploded at nearby Valcartier Army camp.

The jury said enough warning signs had been posted around the rocket range and the deaths of Paul Odilon Daigle, Adrien Labranche, 21, and Marie Claire Daigle, 16, were accidental.

Mrs. Paul Odilon Daigle, only survivor of the blast, said she and the others had sneaked onto the range at night to collect used rockets for sale as scrap. They overloaded their car and the vehicle wouldn't start so they began throwing out surplus rockets.

The live one went off.

Gatineau Power Lines

Kites and Sling-Shots!

Our customers are asked to impress upon their children that flying kites near power lines is a dangerous practice!

When a kite tangles with electric lines it is lost — and more than likely electric service is interrupted.

As well, there is always the danger of falling wires!

Sling-shots, too, contribute at this season of the year to interrupted electric service, when insulators are broken by stones. Such interruptions are most annoying to those who depend on electrical power to perform many functions around the home and the farm.

This inconvenience can be decreased considerably if parents will kindly caution their children against using pole line insulators at targets!

Remember — it may be your service which will be interrupted!

Grass Silage vs. Corn Silage

Ottawa — Is grass silage a good feed for beef cattle? This is a common question asked among beef cattle men. If the answer to this query is "Yes", how does grass silage compare with the old reliable succulent roughage, corn silage?

Considerable work has been done at the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, says W. A. Jordan of the Animal Husbandry Division, testing the value of grass silage in the ration of beef cattle. To date, it appears that this feed will play an important role in the beef cattle industry.

Two years' results of an experiment with beef calves being wintered, show that grass silage compared very favorably with corn silage, when each was fed along with a small amount of hay and grain. There was no significant difference in the gain made by the calves on either ration or in the cost of the rations. Calves on each ration showed equally good bloom and development.

From these results it appears that good grass silage is about equal to corn silage when fed with hay and grain to beef calves during the winter. If properly harvested and ensiled, either roughage is palatable and will give good results.

Chemical Control of Weeds in Potatoes

Ottawa — Chemical control of weeds in potatoes can be effective and cause no apparent injury to yield or quality of the crop if applied properly. This is one of the greatest labor saving advances since mechanization in potato production. Out of the large number of weed killing chemicals available at the present time two groups have been most thoroughly investigated for potato crops. They are the Dinitro's and 2,4-D Compounds.

N. M. Parks of the Horticultural Division at the Central Experimental Farm in Ottawa, reports that both compounds were effective in controlling annual weeds and some grasses. However, 2,4-D caused certain distortion and abnormal growth in the potato plants. This is undesirable particularly in fields grown for seed production and certification.

Dinitro compounds are considered very effective used strictly as a pre-emergence treatment. The recommended practice is to apply Dinitro spray about twelve days after planting the potatoes. A couple of days prior to the chemical application the field should be levelled with a weeder or drag harrow. This will also destroy any young weeds that have germinated. Mr. Parks advises that pre-emergence Dinitro should be distributed over the field at a concentration of 4 to 5 pounds in 40 imperial gallons of water per acre. A regular potato sprayer can be used and uniform coverage at moderately high pressure is important. Weed control results will be best if sprays are applied during warm sunny weather. Under normal weather conditions, the recommended treatment with pre-emergence Dinitro will control annual weeds for approximately five weeks or longer in dry weather. This is usually about the time cultivation begins.

Annual Report On Operations Of Blue Cross

Montreal — The average Blue Cross payment per hospital case in 1954 was 20.7% higher than in 1953, governors of Quebec Hospital Service Association were told at the 13th annual meeting.

E. Duncan Millican, re-elected president, said that the Association in 1954 paid $12,220,100.90 — the highest yet — for the 95,740 subscribers who received hospital care and the 93,330 who received surgical-medical care.

139 Subscribers per 1,000 Hospitalized

The proportion of subscribers admitted to hospital during the year was 139 per 1,000. Their stay in hospital averaged 10 days, the subscribers using 845,000 days of hospitalization in all during the year. So far as maternity is concerned, the Association provided benefits towards 17,257 cases during the year; since 1942, the Association has helped 103,047 families pay their hospital expenses for maternity care.

Service Contract

In commenting on the increased Blue Cross payments for hospital care, Mr. Millican explained that under the type of contract issued by Blue Cross, i.e., a service contract, which provides full payment of the semi-private room and practically all of the ancillary service, increases in hospital charges such as in the daily room rate and the special services are absorbed by Blue Cross when paying hospital bills on 1 half of subscribers.

Operating Expenses

A. S. McNichols, chairman of the Board of Governors, pointed out that the proportion of earned income used for administrative expenses, of 7.8%, was the lowest since inception.

Mr. McNichols noted that health care is more and more becoming an accepted part of the family budget, and that Blue Cross had played an important part in making many people aware that is is a person's duty to provide for health care as one provides for other necessities.

Injured on Vacation Near Lake Anne

Morin Heights — Jack Legallee had a most unfortunate experience recently while home on vacation. He was working on the road near Lake Anne, as he and two companions were putting a drag on a truck which slipped off and fell on him. On being rushed to hospital in Montreal, it was discovered that two vertebrae had been broken. After a few days in hospital he was allowed to return home and is now spending six weeks in a walking cast. His friends wish him a speedy recovery.

Progress Report from the President

A picture of the potential profit from production has been roughly sketched by a report on early milling tests on samples of the Arizona-type iron-free asbestos rock from the Company property in Portland West Township, Papineau County, 24 miles from Buckingham, Que.

Denovan Limited, an engineering firm famous in the asbestos industry, is examining the ore preliminary to designing a mill and milling equipment to process the ore of the unique discovery on the Portland property.

Excerpts from a Denovan technical report just received highlight the story:

"The first sample was felt to contain too much contact material to be reasonably representative of this high fibre content rock. Therefore the processing was not completed, and a second sample was requested. We roughly approximated the value of this first sample . . . The second sample was quite different and, as expected, contained vastly more fibre.

"The value obtained from the first sample, which we considered poor, was still on the order of $7.00 per ton of ore. This value, even in a small mill of 50 tons per hour, should leave a net profit of more than $3.00 per ton or $150.00 per ton-hour equalling $1,500.00 per 10-hr. day.

"The second sample, with a value of $17.74, is about $3.00 per ton above the best of the Quebec industry, and would yield a profit of about $14.00 per ton or, again at 50 tons per hour, $700.00 per hour on a ten-hour day equals $7,000.00 per day.

"Let us suppose the average of these two values to be closer to the real value, then there is still $4,000.00 per day of profit, which would pay for the mill and leave a profit the first year of operation.

"It has been a pleasure to process ore of such high value, and we look forward to an opportunity to design a mill for this ore."

J. P. EMILE COLLETTE,
President.

"Everything to Build Anything"

Rapid-Stop Black-Eyes

One of the shortest — and most daring — of medical experiments recently took place on the flat sands of New Mexico in the U.S.A. A rocket-driven sled, mounted on rails, roared to a speed of over 630 miles per hour within a few seconds after take-off — then, in less than 2 seconds, braked to a shattering stop. In the sled, tied to a seat with nylon straps, was Colonel John F. Stapp of the U.S. Air Force. The colonel, an expert on aviation medicine, volunteered for the test designed to duplicate the windblast, and other physical forces which buffet pilots attempting to bail out from supersonic jet aircraft.

Though exposed to a deceleration 35 times the force of gravity, and a wind pressure of more than two tons, Colonel Stapp suffered only minor ill effects from his supersonic voyage: two black eyes as a result of pressure on the eyelids during the incredibly rapid stop, and a small skin blister from dust particles in the air. MEMBER AUDIT BUREAU OF CIRCULATIONS

Perennial Pointers

WE ARE sorry we missed this one — "Save A Life Week" (May 16-21) — but, as we remarked, there are so many "weeks" to be observed that it is pardonable if one or two really good ones are squeezed out.

Publicity on this observance, sponsored by the St. John Ambulance, brought out a timely summary of the rules of rescuscitation, including one or two precautions not usually mentioned. The preliminary warning, however, is still more timely:

"At this season, although the sun is warm, the water in lakes and rivers is still too cold for swimming. The temptation to swim may be great, but it's better to wait until June. A person can develop cramps from the cold water."

The points to remember in artificial respiration are as follows. Clip them and refer to them occasionally, do! . .

Practice all phases of artificial respiration until you know them perfectly.

Use artificial respiration in any case where a person has stopped breathing because of drowning, hanging, choking, strangulation, gas, poison, electricity, exposure or smoke.

Be sure the victim is lying face down and that his air passages are clear.

Start artificial respiration immediately.

Apply pressure compatible with the build of the victim.

If someone else is taking over when you get tired, don't allow any break in the rhythm.

Don't stop artificial respiration until breathing has been restored, or a doctor pronounces the patient dead.

Have someone remove the wet clothes; loosen tight clothing; keep the patient warm with blankets and massage the limbs toward the heart.

Have someone call police, doctor, fire or ambulance immediately.

The Farm's New Look

THE OLD-TYPE farm barn is going the same way as the little red school house, outdated by progress.

Folks travelling around the country this summer will still see many picturesque old barns. But nowadays when these burn down or become worn out, a newer type replaces them.

There are various reasons for the change. Baled hay for instance takes less space than hay mows. Instead of stables for work horses, modern farms have a well-built shed housing mechanized equipment. On American farms, the trend now is against a stall for every cow; the cows are given "roaming" quarters instead.

Among the new barns are some highly-functional aluminum structures. One of these, about 20 miles west of Montreal, has been mistaken by airplane pilots for a flying saucer. Silvery fibre-glass sections are fixed in a wooden framework, forming a dome 32 feet high and 83 feet across, glinting in the sun.

Beneath this particular roof the diaryman shelters about 23 Ayrshire cattle, a year-round feeding lot, milking stalls, several score of chickens and turkeys, and his implements.

On one mixed farm in Prince Edward Island the sheds and barns gradually grew up to make a solid wall around a small barnyard. In the interests of efficiency the farmer, with hired carpenters, built a huge new barn of timber framework to handle all his varied operations and tore down the old sheds.

This structure near North Rustico, cost more than an entire farm was worth some years ago, but it will pay for itself in the long run. It is big enough for trucks and wagons to drive in one end and out the other.

New barns are kept painted. The main idea is to preserve the structure, but some farmers try to make the barn and farmhouse colors harmonize. Nowadays you will see more well-painted barns — showing the owner's pride in buildings that reflect the efficiency of his operations.

Free Enterprise

THERE IS commonplace but startling logic in a scrutiny of the "economic balance" contained in the current issue of "Industry". The viewpoint is pretty well expressed in these brief extracts which we take liberty to publish:

The late Samuel Gompers, founder of the American Federation of Labor, warned that the greatest wrong an employer can perpetrate on his employees is to fail to make a profit. . .

If this duty of ending each fiscal year with a profit falls on the shoulders of the employer, it must be remembered that he alone is not in control of how much trickles into company coffers. . . Neither "capital" nor "labor" is supreme. Ultimately, the consumer is king.

The days of wartime shortages are a decade behind us now and business has become a "buyers' market". Neither manufacturer, wholesaler nor retailer can set his own price and keep pace with competition. And so, business bends to the buyer — usually the housewife. . . The hand that rocks the cradle indisputably rules the economic world.

While the consumer is the prime factor in setting prices, it is not the only one, for the housewife's income originates with the wages her husband's employer supplies. This, of course, provides a check on prices, since if competition were to force the manufacturer to sell at a loss, hubby would soon be out of work. . .

Left to themselves, the consumer and manufacturer could carry on their tug-of-war ad infinitum, without disaster to either team. But when a third factor enters, forcing wages to rise, pushing up manufacturers' production costs and throwing the scales out of balance, the battle becomes lopsided. When manufacturing costs rise, yet prices remain constant (the alternative is inflation), and the employer must still end the year with a profit, there is cause for some serious head-scratching.

The problem is more than one for the employer alone. It is one that threatens the very existence of free enterprise, for once profits diminish to the danger point, expansion goes out the window. And this, of course, is of the very essence of free enterprise.

To the whole nation, free enterprise means just this: it has nothing to do with how much money you have, nor what your job is or not; it means the right to be yourself instead of some nameless number in a horde bossed by a few despots; it is the sum of many things called liberties, and you would be pretty miserable if it were stolen from you.

Hope He's Right

IN HIS first major speech since assuming the governorship of the Bank of Canada, James E. Coyne predicted that Canadians will amass more and more savings and will gradually buy back the domestic enterprises now owned abroad. Along with this will go, he says, a lesser dependence on foreign trade and a greater development of secondary industry in Canada. This, as he said, will mean "a greater measure of autonomy and independence on the part of Canadian management, the continued development of communications in Canada, and . . . growing national strength."

Mr. Coyne, comments The Financial Post, has dared to prophesy the kind of national development which the overwhelming majority of Canadians want.

"ONE THING IN COMMON"

I've just been searching through "The Portable Woollcott" for a quotation. I thought I should find it there, for I was certain that Woollcott told the story about Dorothy Parker or Mrs. Patrick Campbell. However, despite all my search and research, I cannot find what I'm seeking. At all events, I'll relay the story to you as I recall it from whatever source it may have come.

Sometime, somewhere, I read of someone saying of two friends: "They have nothing in common, except that they both are!" I'm sure it was Dorothy Parker who said it, and I was reasonably sure that Woollcott wrote it into one of his stories. But whoever gave tongue to it in whatever location matters little. What does matter is that it's a neat way of describing one's friends — erstwhile or otherwise.

This quote came to my mind on a recent Sunday afternoon as I stood within the walls of St. Cuthbert's Anglican Church. If you are not familiar with St. Cuthbert's, I hope this article will prepare you for the shock you will likely experience if ever you chance to pay the edifice a visit. If you are expecting to see the standard style of ecclesiastical architecture, you're all wrong. St. Cuthbert's is built in a style of its own, and I know of only two other places like it. One is St. Mark's Church, in Burlington, Vermont, and the second — or third, as the case may be — is the proposed new Cathedral for Coventry, in England.

Since I cannot provide an illustration, I'll try to describe the architecture to you. Try to visualize a cross — similar in shape to the familiar cross of the Red Cross Society — in which each of the arms is the same length and width. Right! Now, in the centre of that cross, place a modernistic altar, surrounded by a modernistic altar rail. In three of the cross-arms, place double rows of pews for the congregation, and wherever they will fit in, add odds and ends of ecclesiastical furniture, such as a lectern, prayer desk and pulpit. In the fourth cross arm, place more seats for the congregation, and draw a curtain in front of the chairs. At the top of the curtain, place a modernistic picture of Christ at the Last Supper. There, in short, is the plan of St. Cuthbert's.

It is a wonderful idea in the main. The plan allows everyone in the congregation to see the altar which, in Anglican churches, is the focal point. And, if the treatment of the interior architecture is Gothic, I can well imagine that it might be very beautiful and lend itself to inducing a sense of reverence in those that behold it. Well, I may be old-fashioned and it may be that I can't see our houses of worship going modernistic, but if I live to be a thousand, I don't suppose I'll never appreciate the architectural treatment of St. Cuthbert's Church.

After my visit to this church, I returned to my own little parish church for the evening service. There, I ran in to our former Rector and asked him what he thought of St. Cuthbert's.

"That's what I thought."

"You know," the Canon continued, "I was never in that church until last winter. I got a terrible shock when I saw it."

The old fellow was pensive a moment, and then he smiled.

"The Rector showed me all around the building when I visited it, and then he asked me what I thought of it."

"I hope you told him, in no uncertain terms."

"Well, I told him that although I didn't think very much of St. Cuthbert's, I had to admit that there was one thing it had in common with others.

" 'And that is . . . ?' he asked, expectantly.

"Duplex envelopes!"

The Canon rose to go and put on his vestments for the service. Then he turned back and caught me by the arm.

"Do you know," he whispered, "that fellow hasn't spoken to me since? He was most insulted. Most insulted!"

Business Corporations Join 4-H Club Council

The Mutual Life Assurance Company of Canada and the Toronto-Dominion Bank have recently become members of the Canadian Council on 4-H Clubs. The former is the first insurance company to join the National 4-H Council.

Mr. J. R. Racine, branch manager of the Mutual Life Assurance Company, Brampton, Ont., will represent his company on the Council. Mr. Racine was formerly a member of the Extension Service, Manitoba Department of Agriculture.

This brings to 34 the number of business companies who, along with the Departments of Agriculture and National Agricultural Associations, comprise the membership of the Canadian Council on 4-H Clubs.

This may cause a chuckle, but it contains more than a grain of truth: "These days there are too many people in too many cars in too much of a hurry going in too many directions to nowhere for nothing."

ALL ABOARD
With G. E. Mortimore

The wood duck is so brightly colored that he doesn't look real. He sits in the water as though carved from a piece of cedar and painted with a careful brush, green, blue, white, purple, fawn and speckled red-brown.

He lives among trees and quiet waters, and even there he is not common. The wood duck is retreating — like so many other waterfowl — before the advance of civilization.

My father told me that he once shot a wood duck by mistake in the twilight, and when he saw it lying in his hand like a feathered rainbow, smeared with blood, he wished he had left his gun at home.

The true wood duck appears in southeastern and southwestern parts of Canada; scarcely at all in the prairie provinces. Although the wild wood duck is dwindling in numbers, you may see him as an imported guest with shorn wings in the parks of some cities.

Recently we saw a wood duck in a park pond — the brightly-plumed male. The sober-colored female of the species swam nearby, but the wood drake wasn't interested in her. Instead, he escorted a female mallard about one third larger than himself.

Wherever the mallard duck swam, the wood drake followed, making small piping cries. He fiercely drove off mallard drakes much larger than himself, and remained at the side of his oddly-chosen lady with a comical and touching devotion, like a prince who insists on marrying a commoner.

I spoke to a friend by the name of Charlie Guiguet, who is a biologist. Charlie couldn't see much future for a wood duck-mallard love affair. In the unlikely event that they raised any young, the young would be sterile.

So all that talk about the wisdom of the wild isn't necessarily true. Here we have a bird of a dwindling species, shirking his duty to hatch more wood ducks, and mooning around the wrong female like any lovesick human lad.

"You see a lot of goofy courtships in nature," said Charlie. He mentioned some hybrids: birds that were half pintail and half mallard, and crosses between ducks as far apart as the hooded merganser and the American goldeneye. None of these "mules" of the bird world can produce young.

Talking about bird courtships reminded Charlie of another odd fact: some birds breed much earlier if they are bothered by noise and fuss than they do if left in peace. Dr. William Rowan of the University of Alberta experimented by placing birds in moving cages, keeping them on the jump with revolving paddles, and generally giving them a bad time.

In this ulcer-making environment — a kind of avian New York — the birds began mating much earlier. And an English bird expert found that London sparrows bred earlier than country sparrows.

Perhaps this is also true of people. Girls! Head for a big noisy town, study your solunar tables for the best time to go hunting, and you may catch a husband. Here's bad luck to you.

How Fast Is Fast?

Formula:

Read the speedometer speed, and divide by two, and add the result to actual speed. The result is the number of feet your car is travelling in one second.

Example:

Speedometer reading is 32 miles. Half of that is 16 miles. 16 plus 32 is 48, which is 48 feet a second that your car is travelling at 32 miles an hour.

How fast is fast?

During the second you have reacted to a road hazard, your car has travelled 48 feet. If the car coming towards you also travels 48 feet in one second, you are nearing each other at the rate of 96 feet a second. At 60 miles, it is 90 feet a second, and the other car added to that makes it 180 feet per second.

Slow down and live longer.

Gilding the Lily

The ancient Meramec caverns at Staunton, Mo., have long been an attraction for tourists. In some respects they have not been the orthodox type of caves most tourists expect to see, many visitors being critical of the dry rocks and formations. The best organized caves, it was claimed, are agleam with moisture. As a result, the owner has installed an elaborate sprinkling system that sprays the rocks. — Marketing

"Want some help with your homework, Dad?"

It's a good thing young Ted is only joking.

If his Dad took him up on that offer, Ted would soon find himself floundering in a sea of facts about family income management, succession duties, taxes, wills, trusts, business insurance and other related subjects!

You see, Ted's father is a typical life underwriter — a man who has not only been trained for his job, but keeps up-to-date by constant study. For the uses of life insurance are more extensive today than they used to be. And the men who represent companies in this business now advise you with increased skill.

Doing this calls for more than study. It takes real understanding of people's needs. And since each family's needs are different, the company representative offers valuable guidance in making plans to fit these needs — individually.

All in all, the life insurance man you deal with today is a very good man to know! And his progress is another reflection of the many ways in which the life insurance business has developed with the times to meet your changing needs!

Graduation Exercises At Grenville School

Friday evening last, many of the parents and invited guests from here attended the graduating exercises and dance for the students of Grenville Consolidated School. It was a brilliant affair, under the supervision of the principal and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. McGerrigle, assisted by the teaching staff and pupils themselves.

A banquet preceded the exercises at which the chief speaker was Mr. Lang, secretary of the Protestant School Board of the Province of Quebec, who gave valuable counsel to the class. The Grand March and Circle carried out by the pupils opened the dancing which was enjoyed by all who wished to participate.

Refreshments were served at 12 o'clock and upon departing, one felt a few more good and clever citizens would be added to this corner of Argenteuil.

AMONG THE CHURCHES

Rev. Dr. DeWitt Scott Preaches Here Sunday

Guest preacher at the Lachute United Church this Sunday morning is to be the Rev. DeWitt Scott, M.A., D.D., secretary of the Montreal-Ottawa Conference of the United Church of Canada.

Dr. Scott is no stranger in these regions, having participated several times in church services and assemblies. He is a forceful speaker, with a message that will reach the mind and heart.

Junior Choir at This Service

The organist, Wayne Riddell, will be at the console and will have his junior choir in the chancel to lead the singing. Several anthems will be sung by the choir.

Trinity Church Guild Hold Successful Supper

Morin Heights — The Chicken-pot-pie supper held on Saturday by the Guild of Trinity Church was a decided success, being the first venture of its kind by the Ladies' Guild.

The auditorium of the Intermediate School was decorated with ribbons and Spring flowers. Mr. Douglas Reid supplied piano music throughout the evening.

Proceeds go towards the Church Hall Building Fund.

Ottawa Valley Assocn. Of Baptist Churches Held Rally in Lachute

Lachute Baptist Church was crowded for afternoon and evening meetings on Victoria Day. This was the annual rally of the Ottawa Valley Association of Evangelical Baptist Churches. About 125 dinners were served by the ladies of the church.

The meetings were characterized by enthusiasm and interest. The speaker for the occasion, the Rev. D. A. Loveday, of Brantford, Ont., brought helpful addresses. In the afternoon he spoke on "Ezekial", the Soul-Winner," and in the evening on "The Christian Conquest." Musical numbers were given by the choir and by violinist Mr. Maurice Boillat, of Switzerland.

Mr. and Mrs. Eddy Jull were week-end visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Carpenter, of Marelan.

Mr. Ted Houston, of Lachine, Que., is the guest this week of his mother, Mrs. J. S. Houston.

Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Dixon, of Dalesville, Que., announce the engagement of their daughter, Marion Ruth, to Mr. Donald B. Griffiths, son of Mrs. John Reid, and the late George A. Griffiths, of Montreal. The marriage has been arranged to take place July 1.

Pilgrimage Planned To Local Shrine By C.W.L. Members

The monthly meeting of the Lachute sub-division of the Catholic Women's League was held Wednesday evening at the Health Clinic. The president, Miss L. Lowe, was in the chair and there were 18 members present.

The secretary, Mrs. C. McGill read the minutes of the previous meeting and Miss L. Harrison gave the treasurer's report. The conveners gave their monthly reports. The ladies planned a pilgrimage for the coming Wednesday evening to the Grotto.

At the close of the business meeting refreshments were served and a social hour was enjoyed by all.

Sixth Scout Rally Held Here Saturday

The Rally Committee wishes to thank all who helped to make the Rally a success, especially:

The Imperial Tobacco Co. Ltd., for furnishing a sound equipment truck, free of charge.

The St. John Ambulance Brigade who were present with an ambulance and staff.

Radio Station CFCF and announcer Charlie Fair for broadcasting this event which was also broadcast by Reg Groom over Station CJAD.

Alex Fleming and the Montreal Boy Scouts Band.

Geo. Y. Deacon and Pollock & Graves, Lachute, who supplied trucks.

Gatineau Power Co. and H. S. Church, Lachute for power supply.

George Helmer Radio Service for supplying flag mast.

The Lachute Police and Provincial Traffic Police who escorted the parade from the CPR Station to the Fair Grounds.

Quebec Girl Artist Has Colorful Touch

Montreal (CP) — Suzanne Bergeron, 25-year-old blonde from the village of Causapscal, in Matapedia County, down Gaspé way, had her big moment in Montreal when a collection of her paintings went on exhibition at the Lefort Galleries.

"Her painting has a truly individual touch in her use of color," said Agnes Lefort at the opening. "That is something an artist is born with. You may or may not like her style, but her colors are beautiful."

Suzanne, who has never been out of Canada, said she makes no conscious effort to follow any particular style or school.

"I paint spontaneously," she said. "When I start a picture I don't stop until I have finished. Other days I don't paint at all."

Studied At Quebec

She has been interested in painting as long as she can remember. Her parents didn't like the idea at first — "they didn't think it was a suitable occupation for a young girl." Eventually Suzanne went to l'Ecole des Beaux Arts in Quebec where she studied under Jean-Paul Lemieux.

That has been the extent of her formal studies. This summer she plans her first trip abroad, with her husband, Paris-born Jean-Claude Suhit. He is an architect.

"We have no definite plans outside of visiting friends," said Suzanne. "I hope to visit some artists' studies but I don't expect to do any formal studying. We may stay there a year or so, then come back to Canada."

Her exhibit of 25 paintings included a section of oils done on paper. Most were done within the last year although some were painted three years ago. Pieces Miss Bergeron has sold were taken by the provincial museum in Quebec.

Canada may not be the easiest place for an artist to make a living but it has much to offer, she said.

"Perhaps it is because we are a young country seeking to express ourselves. At any rate, we have something to say."

CHEF ON LINER COOKS AT HOME

Quebec (CP) — The best-liked hobby of Nino Ambrosiano, maitre d'hotel of the liner Homeric, is cooking his favorite dishes at home.

Preparation of food has been Nino's work since he graduated from a hotel school in 1934 in Europe. His first job was at a big hotel in Geneva, then he switched to the sea, working aboard several liners. In 1940 he was engaged at the New York World's Fair Italian Pavilion. Following that he was maitre d'hotel at several top-notch New York clubs and hotels, then back again to sea.

Over the Years with THE LACHUTE WATCHMAN

75 YEARS AGO

May 28, 1880 —

There has been a busy time at the court sitting here this week.

Messrs. Fish and Ireland are about putting up a new building at the mills suitable for store, telegraph office and post office, as well as general mill offices.

Mr. Peter Campbell, our genial neighbor, has had great luck and sport fishing at Lake Louisa, and returned yesterday with 16 fine large trout.

In the annual Victoria Day festivities celebrating Queen Victoria's 61st birthday, much amusement was created at the field day by the addition of the wheelbarrow race, sack race, and the climbing of a greased pole. . . Mr. A. Boa offered a special prize of a pair of leather slippers for throwing the hammer and putting the stone, in the men's class, and himself outdid all competitors, throwing the stone 21 feet 4 inches, and the hammer 52 feet 9½ inches.

50 YEARS AGO

May 25, 1905 —

Mr. J. T. Ayers has purchased the mill and water powers of the Earl Bros.

A fire took place Wednesday afternoon in the barn of the old Henry property, now owned by Mr. J. W. McOuat.

The local baseball team staged a walk-over in their match Wednesday with the Hawkesburyites, defeating their Ontario opponents 24-0.

One of the neatest and best-equipped mills in this province has just been erected by A. McFaul & Bros. The whistle was blown Monday when the sawing was started in earnest, and the busy staff of 25 workers are now hustling to rush out their cut of some 25,000 logs.

25 YEARS AGO

May 30, 1930 —

The proprietors of The Watchman have acquired a magazine of considerable import, "The Municipal Review of Canada", which is the official organ of the Canadian Municipalities.

According to a letter to The Watchman publisher, Sir George H. Perley reports that after 25 years of effort he has managed to obtain sufficient grants to assure the erection of a bridge between Grenville and Hawkesbury.

NEW INDUSTRIES

Prescott, Ont. (CP) — Nine new industries have come to this St. Lawrence valley town of 4,000 since 1940. They include a chemical process plant and a radio-television factory.

Who Was This?

Bible Briefs

By A.A.M.

The Bible is rich in stories, and the purpose of this series is to encourage readers to look up for themselves the Bible versions of these incidents. If there are children in the family it is suggested that the story, and the Bible verses on which it is based, be read aloud.

What was the name, of the centurion of the Italian band and of the apostle who both saw a vision from God which directed them to each other? The centurion was a Gentile living at Caesarea and he was a devout man, liberal to the poor. The angel of the Lord directed him to send to Joppa and ask the apostle to come to him. This apostle was living with a tanner beside the sea. The house had a flat roof and the apostle went up on it to pray. While he was there he became hungry. He would have eaten but just then he saw a vision.

It appeared to him as in a dream that a great sheet, knit at the four corners, was being let down from Heaven. Inside it were all kinds of animals and birds and reptiles. A voice commanded, "Rise, kill and eat."

But the apostle, an orthodox Jew protested, "Not so, Lord, for I have never eaten anything that is common or unclean."

A second time the voice spoke: "What God has cleaned, do not call that common." Three times this was repeated, and then the vision faded.

The apostle wondered what this could all mean. Just then there was a knocking at the door. The men sent by the centurion had come to ask the apostle to come to Caesarea with them.

When they arrived there the centurion and all his kinsmen and friends were waiting for them. All of them fell down and worshipped the apostle when he entered the centurion's house.

But the apostle said, "Stand up, I myself also am a man." He told them that through a vision it had been revealed to him that God is no respector of persons. In this way began the spread of Christianity among the Gentiles.

You will find both the apostle's and the centurion's names and this story in the tenth chapter of Acts.

Quick Canadian Quiz

(Material supplied by the editors of Quick Canadian Facts, the handbook of facts about Canada.)

1. What Canadian lake yields North America's largest annual catch of trout and whitefish?
2. What percentage of Canada's waterpower resources have been developed to date?
3. Does revenue from individual income taxes represent two-thirds, one-half or one-quarter of Ottawa's total annual tax revenues?
4. What are the highest and lowest temperatures on record in Canada?
5. Do Canadian railways receive more revenue from freight or from passenger traffic?

ANSWERS: 5. Passenger traffic earns less than 10 per cent of railway income. 3. Personal income taxes produce about one-quarter of federal tax revenues. 1. Great Slave Lake. 4. High temperature record is 113 degrees, on the southern prairies; low temperature is 87 degrees below zero, in the Yukon. 2. Only about one-fifth of waterpower resources have been developed to date.

LOCK THEM UP

Prince George, B.C. (CP) — Complaints by mailmen of numerous biting dogs running at large have resulted in action by city council. In future all unlicensed dogs will be held in the city pound until they are either claimed or destroyed.

FARM HAZARDS

Vancouver (CP) — Farming hazards now are almost as high as those of semi-skilled industrial workers due to the use of insecticides and other poisonous chemicals, Dr. T. H. Patterson said in an address. He said arsenic and nicotine were chiefly responsible.

Outdoor Roundup
with Joe Foster

Most fishing folk will tell you that the fun of fishing is not just in catching fish. With this philosophic outlook I couldn't agree more, yet no one can deny that catching fish surely adds to the enjoyment of angling and of all the other things that go with it. I like too, to think that Allah does not deduct from man's allotted span those hours spent in fishing. These things I pondered recently during several days of almost fishless fishing. I also became more and more convinced that there must be considerable truth in a statement I heard made somewhere, sometime by some piscatorial authority, that in any body of water you can count on there being no fish in at least eighty per cent of it, which is probably as good a reason as any for hiring a guide when you fish strange waters.

Where Had the Fish Gone?

The lake where I was so nearly skunked is a trout lake and my only guide (and then for only an hour or so) was the friend who had lent me his camp to use. Not a large lake, it didn't take him long to tour me around the better spots as he knew them, and the first couple of week-ends I could get away, these spots paid off. Then the bottom fell out of the fishing, the hot spots quit producing, despite the fact that I threw everything I had in the tackle box at them and even resorted to digging worms and trapping minnows. These I trolled, cast and still-fished with scarcely a strike to reward my effort. The fish were either off their feed completely or had ceased feeding in the accustomed places and moved off somewhere else.

Sun Glasses Catch Fish

How? By wearing glasses that have been made with Polaroid lenses I have found that you can tremendously increase your chances of locating the fish or perhaps more accurately, the places where the fish are likely to be. I had a pair of Polaroid glasses along with me this trip and one day at noon-time as I rowed back to camp with nary a fish to my stringer, I noticed that there was a rocky shoal about three to four feet beneath the surface and that it extended for some little way — I was well off shore. Just for laughs I took up my spinning rod rod and threw out a small Delphin "smorgasbord" wobbler. On the third cast I was rewarded with a strike and a few minutes later netted a nice fish. For the remainder of the time I had left for fishing I searched that lake for other shoals and big boulders just under the surface. With the aid of the Polaroid glasses I found several such places and took a fish here and there.

Not Just for Trout

Pike, bass and musky fishermen would do well to have a pair of these glasses in the tackle box and will find them a very real aid to locating those sunken weed beds, rocky drop-offs and other feeding places that are so hard to find without someone along who knows the waters to guide you to them.

Scientifically Sound

There's a simple but scientifically sound reason for using Polaroid glasses for fishing. Water is an almost perfect reflective surface. Sunlight — even light from a cloudy sky — can turn the surface into what approximates a mirror. The fisherman, necessarily close to the water, cannot see below the surface because of the glare. Polaroid lenses are made in such a way that reflected light is filtered out. The molecules of the lens material are arranged in parallel lines. Direct rays pass through these pickets, but reflected rays can't. With the glare removed you can see into the water, see where to fish and aim your casts where they'll do the most good. Glasses with Polaroid lenses are available at different prices, if you want to go fancy on the frames you can pay a fancy price. My Polaroids set me back only a dollar ninety-eight. The important thing is the Polaroid lens.

BOOSTS RECEPTION

Grand Falls, N.B. (CP) — Telegraph and radio have been combined to give better reception of coast-to-coast English language programs to this town on the U.S. border. A 25-watt automatic repeater radio transmitter has been hooked to CNT lines which carry the programs.

B'burg Baseball Team Has Second Defeat, Losing to Grenville

Brownsburg — The local baseball team again fell victim of an umpiring indiscretion and went down to its second defeat. The first base umpire judged that Brent Steele, on a stretch at first, had stepped off the bag, and went to the Grenville bench to advise the retired batter to take first. Brent Steele seeing the move went back to step on first as the batter had gone from the plate to the bench.

However the boys' inexperience was the main reason for the defeat. The boys who couldn't buy a hit last week exploded for fifteen hits and ten runs. Six of the hits were for extra bases and the fine offensive play was highlighted by a triple steal. Jacques Leveille, with a triple and two singles and Mel Tomalty, with a beautiful sacrifice bunt, single and triple, were Brownsburg's hitting stars.

But on defense the boys made several costly mistakes, and the pitching was too patchy. Some innings were just great but the Grenville team put seventeen hits, three walks and several Brownsburg errors together for thirteen runs and the ball game.

A little practice should polish up the fielding and if these booming bats keep on rapping out the solid hits, the team can't fail to click. One thing anyway, it's exciting baseball. Next Sunday, May 29, Lefaivre will visit Brownsburg. The game starts at 2.30 p.m., so come along and root for the locals.

Temperamental Star Falls from Firmament

SPORTS CAMERA
By Gerry Lougheed,
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Reece (Goose) Tatum, whose clowning antics with a basketball returned him a reported $53,000 a year, is out of a job after 13 years with the fabulous Harlem Globetrotters.

The loose, long-armed centre was suspended from the team in March by owner-coach Abe Saperstein for repeated violations of team rules and not showing up for seven advertised appearances. Saperstein gave his top box-office attraction a month to think things over, then told Goose he was through with the team.

Saperstein discovered basketball's most famous player in 1942 while Tatum was at a spring training camp with the Birmingham Black Barons, a Negro semi-professional basketball team. Goose didn't make the team and was talked into learning basketball under Saperstein's coaching and became the highest salaried player in the game's history.

Not Always Wealthy

The Globetrotters weren't always able to pay such whopping salaries as Tatum collected. In the late 1920's, the team used to travel from Chicago or Detroit, their home bases, and play a basketball game for a total purse of $75.

They made the trips in jalopies stayed at third-rate hotels and built up their energy with hamburgers, in those days a nickel apiece.

Today the Globetrotters, operating three units, play before an estimated 4,000,000 fans in many parts of the world. Their annual gross income is $4,000,000 and they have been featured in two motion pictures.

Saperstein, a fat little man in his 40's, is the driving force behind the gigantic enterprise. Years ago he became interested in Negro baseball leagues and is credited with uncovering such stars as Satchel Paige, Larry Doby, Minnie Minoso and Luke Easter.

But basketball was his first love. The Globetrotters found the going tough at first, but in the late 1930's their popularity grew and so did their incomes.

Saperstein says his teams draw well in the United States and Canada but their popularity is fantastic overseas.

At Madrid, Spain, 25,000 turned out to see the Globetrotters play an exhibition game in a bull ring. At Melbourne, Australia, their court wasn't built in time for a scheduled appearance. The team performed on a tarpaulin stretched over a tennis court and drew more people than the Davis Cup tennis final.

They played on concrete at Bangkok, Thailand, and on dirt at other places.

Saperstein says he has taken basketball all over the world and found interest in the game booming.

"What do we give 'em? We give 'em a show. Fancy ball-handling, a few tricks and good basketball."

Surgeon: "But, my dear sir, surely you do not set the same low value on your life as your wife does."

Once-Over on Local Harness and Saddle Stock

Things are moving at the race tracks, with better weather and all local horses training in about 2.30 and under.

Leon St. Jacques has had "Mr. King" at Richelieu since March, and this horse has been doing very well under the handling of Marc Gingras; he was second last week.

"Joe Forbes B", who was laid up part of last year with a foot injury, has shown excellent training form and is a trotter to watch. "Danny Forbes" under the handling of Mrs. St. Jacques is also training well.

"Monte Cristo", a pacer owned by Wilfrid Arcand of Caledonia Springs, Ont., and trained by Bill Hewitt, Jr., has come back from his injuries in surprising form, racing at Alfred, Ont., last week he won both heats in easy fashion. The Hewitts also have "Lizabeth Peters", on the trot and she learns easily.

Ernie Kennedy is a busy person with three horses at the track this year. He is assisted by Alwyn Stewart driving "Senator Bars", and Dale MacAdam as stable boy. Both "Bars" and "Lady Van B" will be ready for the races in a couple of weeks. Ernie also has a new mare in "Princess Vanette", a pacer. "Miss Senator Volo" is heavy in foal to "Royal Bars B' 'and so another "Senator Bars" is looked for here.

The Jolys are also busy with their horses. "Gilbert Forbes", a two-year-old, is learning his lessons well for Georges Joly. "Jean Proximity" is just about ready for the races also, for Henri (Punch) Joly.

Paul Joly has his two younger daughters busy with "Gordie Forbes", who also suffered a setback last year but seems okay this season. "Piche" Joly and Paul worked with "Ethel Bars". Ethel is a man's horse and a tough one. Rigaud track is opening on May 29 and many of the horses will go there for a pre-Fair race.

Wilmer Stevens and son are busy over in Vankleek Hill with several which they will be starting soon. They have their own good little mare "Eden of Ohio" 2.10 1/5, and some new purchases "Abu Bekr" 2.10, "Ima Fingo" 2.10 3/5; "Diabolo" 2.09, "Lassie Girl" 2.14 4/5, along with the young unraced trotter "Spencer Creed".

We hear that Jim MacKimmie, is once again a horse-owner, having purchased "Callie G Lee" 2.08 2/5 and "Gallant Lady". We hope to see them in action at the Fair. "Callie G Lee" is a 17 class pacer.

Besides the harness horses, saddle horses seem a little more popular around Lachute; the writer has had several requests for riding lessons.

We understand Mrs. Mac Walker is a great lover of the sport and a strong supporter, she owns the good little gelding "Buttons and Bows".

The Hewitts have still "Saludos" and "Rambling Ace". While Rolland Lacelles has "Topper", his trick horse, which we understand is becoming a top jumper. Rolland also cares for a couple of horses belonging to young Ernie Ayers, who is a great enthusiast. Young Ernie has a young registered American Saddle Bred colt from the farm of John Braken. Rolland and his charges are showing at Ormstown in the palomino and western classes.

Philip and Gail Ayers are on the look-out for some good saddle stock also. So, all in all the horse is not a thing of the past around Lachute and Brownsburg.

We almost omitted Art Billingham, who always has horses, and has some for the show ring. He has a good Hackney stallion with Albert Stewart, and Twilla Thompson is riding the jumper "Prince".

— To know a horse is to love a horse.

NOT FOR BULL RING

Ottawa (CP) — Canadian Holstein bulls are fine for improving farm herds in Spain, but not much good for bull-fighting, said Spanish agriculture minister de Anduaga on a visit here. He explained Canadian breeding bulls don't have the same instincts as Spanish fighting bulls.

National Golf Day June 4, for Charity

Many local golf enthusiasts will be competing with the U.S. Men's and Women's Open Champions for "Beat the Champ" medals on Saturday, June 4. The fourth annual National Golf Day is sponsored by Life Magazine, all proceeds being turned over to the Canadian Red Cross and Junior Golfers in Canada. In the past three years, this venture has raised more than $35,000, for these two organizations.

The competition, which is played on every golf course in the country, will for the first time be in two classes, the women golfers having a champion of their own whom they will attempt to defeat. Mildred "Babe" Zaharias and Ed Furgol will play their National Golf Day rounds at San Francisco's Olympic Club — the course toughened for the 1955 U.S. Open Championship.

Every golfer paying $1 entry fee to the starter at the course participating, will be elegible to compete.

National Day rounds may be played any day of the week preceding the event. Participating clubs will be supplied with official score sheets; players will sign up for the tournament on these. Score cards will be turned in to the club captain or professional at the end of each round. Contestants may play as many rounds as they wish with the payment of an additional, fee for each 18-hole round played.

Old-Time Smugglers Kept Border Lively

Rock Island, Que. (CP) — Records found recently in a safe in the customs office here show 19th century Canadians tried to sneak items ranging from hoop skirts to houses in from the United States without paying customs duty.

Prices were different, however. An 1861 entry records the seizure of six hoop skirts — total value $1.

In 1880, a two-storey house valued at $4,000 was entered on the list of items seized. The entry gave no explanation.

Horses were a popular item with smugglers and equally unpopular with customs officials. The 1882 list includes "one old kicking mare — $15.00" and in 1904 an item was devoted to "one old brown kicking mare — $15.00."

In 1865, officials took "one double-barreled rifle gun — $7.00, from a deserter from the United States army."

A year later, an official seized "one highly-finished and valuable sword from a passenger on board the stage from Newport, Vt., who said he was from Port Hudson, N.Y."

CBC Coverage Tonight Of British Election

CBC radio and television coverage of the British election will begin early this evening (Thursday) and continue until after midnight.

Radio coverage will start at 7 p.m. EDT on the Trans-Canada network, with five-minute bulletins every half-hour through to 10 o'clock, when the National News Bulletin will carry a review of results to that time. Directly following the news, from 10.15 until 10.30, Matthew Halton and other Canadians will be heard direct from London discussing the latest party standings. The five-minute bulletins will then continue half-hourly until 12.30 a.m.

Maxville Fair — 65th Annual Event

Plans are progressing for the staging of the 65th annual exhibition of the Kenyon Agricultural Society at Maxville. This fair of Class "B" rating will be held on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, June 23-24-25.

During the past years the directorate of the Society has attempted to broaden its program, particularly in the entertainment field. A first-class midway has been engaged for the three day show. The final night's performance will feature a square dance competition between farm groups from the surrounding district. The sum of $50 will be awarded to the first prize winners.

The board of directors is composed of men from all parts of Kenyon Township and from the Village of Maxville. Dr. D. M. Gamble and E. S. Winter are president and secretary of the fair, respectively.

PIONEER RELICS

Goderich, Ont. (CP) — Among items in a new section of the Huron County pioneer museum here are a horse-drawn hearse, a hearse for children and a carriage on sleds that was used years ago for winter funerals.

"Country Calendar" Hosts

Two regulars on CBC Television's weekly "Country Calendar" are Norn Garriock (left) and Earle Cox (right); both are veterans of long standing in the broadcasting field. Before moving to television, Garriock had one of the widest audiences in farm radio commentating. In addition to "Country Calendar", Earle Cox is continuing his radio show which has been running for many years.

SCOUTS TO MAKE COLOR FILM

London — A film in color of the Boy Scouts Jamboree, to be held at Niagara-on-the-Lake this summer, will be made by a group of Scouts from West Yorkshire, England, so that those unable to travel to Canada will be able to share in the adventure of this major event. The Yorkshire contingent will be part of a group of 1,000 British Scouts who will fly to Canada for the celebrations.

In a speech to a group of journalists in London, the famed British cartoonist, David Low, stated that every time he had to make a speech he felt as if he had a block of ice, nine inches by nine inches, right in the pit of his stomach.

After his speech he was approached by one of the audience, a Mr. Winston Churchill. "Mr. Low," said Churchill, "how large did you say that block of ice is?"

"What an amazing coincidence," replied Churchill. "Exactly the same size as mine."

MOVIETONE NEWS

Radio Salute to Macdonald College

The Ontario-Quebec edition of "Neighborly News" with Don Fairbairn goes visiting again on May 29, this time saluting Macdonald College at Ste. Anne de Bellevue on the occasion of its 50th anniversary. From 9.45 - 10 a.m. Fairbairn will present a salute to the College, with short messages from a number of faculty members and from the Mayor of Ste. Anne. After the short news bulletin at 10, "Neighborly News" will continue the story with interviews with the mayors of Baie d'Urfe and Pointe Claire and the editors of the Baie d'Urfe News and Views, and the Lakeshore News.

The broadcast will anticipate the celebration at the College. On June 3, at a special convocation, honorary degrees will be presented to Sir Philip Robert Morris, principal of the University of Bristol in England; Malcolm B. Davis, a member of the second graduating class at the college and formerly chief of the division of horticulture in the Federal Experimental Farms Service; and Dr. W. H. Brittain, the first graduate of Macdonald College to obtain the bachelor of science degree in agriculture — in 1911.

After the convocation a garden party will be held, and then class reunions for hundreds of graduates who will be revisiting their alma mater. On Saturday there will be a symposium on "The Next 50 Years", with distinguished speakers, followed by an "open house" featuring tours of special exhibits around the campus.

The convocation address will be by Dr. Brittain, who retires this year, having been dean of the faculty of agriculture and vice-principal since 1934. Dr. Brittain will remain at the College as curator of the Morgan Arboretum, an experimental tree farm established a few years ago.

Quick Canadian Quiz

1. In total number are their more foxes, mink or chinchillas on Canadian fur farms?

2. On the average do Canadian men or women have the longest life expectancy?

3. What percentage of Canadian workers are eligible for unemployment insurance benefits?

4. Lord Tweedsmuir was appointed Governor-General of Canada in what year?

5. Last year did the CBC receive from the special 15 per cent tax on radio and television sets $2 million, $12 million, $22 million?

ANSWERS: 5. The CBC received $22 million from this source. 3. About two-thirds are eligible for unemployment benefits, although all workers pay into the fund since it is partly supported from tax revenues. 1. Mink rank first, chinchillas second. 4. In 1935. 2. Women have the longest life expectancy.

Delights of the Country — Flowers, Flies, and the Perplexed Porcupine

"SUNNYACRES SKETCHES"

By Margaret Cook

Here am I and the faithful typewriter, reporting from Sunnyacres. The country is alive with black flies and city people; the roads are filled with cautious urban drivers, gallantly trying to stay at the right hand side of a road that has no sides, only a middle. The one sure test of a driver is the way he takes the necessity to turn out. If he becomes unduly pale or brick red, and evinces a desire to keep three-quarters of the road, he's a city driver. On the other hand, if he gallantly jumps the shallow ditch and essays to climb the stone fence, at the same time waving amiably to you with the free hand, then, he's a local driver. Naturally, he's the easier man to meet.

Speaking of roads — some authority, in the name of progress, has felled a fine row of trees on our little road, thus spoiling a cathedral-like approach! "Poems are made by fools like me," says Joyce Kilmar in a bit of verse unexcelled for mixed metaphor and repulsive thought, then adds the only good line, "but only God can make a tree." Now, someone write indignantly to the editor on my comments about the Kilmar poem. But, honestly, do you like that bit about "a nest of robins in her hair"? Some years ago there was a fad for wearing the female hair pulled straight up and shaped into an untidy mass of curls at the crown. I was always reminded of Kilmar's robins.

There was another poet who, long ago when England was young and another Elizabeth ruled the land, sang, "I know a bank whereon the wild thyme grows," and we wish he might see our banks of primulas. "The Garden of Flowers" by McKenny and Johnston has a delightful picture of these flowers in their books, but they seem undecided as to whether they are the English primrose or the cowslip. Either way, that eight feet of bloom is a lovesome sight; the blooms vary from palest yellow to a reddish plum. That last shade, I invented. If designers and decorators, why not I? Lately, we had out interior decorator friend staying in the house, so we dragged her into the city to help us choose new drapes for the newly-decorated dining-room. Remember, the choice was confused by the red ceiling? I had in mind a pale yellow, or even a chartreuse, with a sober grey to match the wallpaper, if nothing else was available. But our friend averred that a dusty pink was the thing. "The pink," she said "is 1/8 the red of the ceiling." The saleslady agreed with her, and it took all my Irish stubbornness to avoid giving the order for the pink then and there. Fortunately, two things intervened to save us; my friend went back to Toronto and a rival shop had a sale of draperies; so I ordered 11 yards of a rough cream material and it is even now being made up.

Returning to flowers, we have also a few late daffodils, a lot of narcissi, also grape hyacinths, pansies, apple, cherry and strawberry blossoms; but the forget-me-nots have forgotten to get up, and the lilacs are tight little spires. The air smells of all these flowers, and the bees work like mad. May was meant to be a lovely month, but in these latitudes something does not quite click, and we get house-cleaning and black flies along with the above delights. Even as I write in the screened porch, the little black things are seeking an opening; but I look up and out at the pink and white glory that is normally the old orchard, and I think, "Pooh to the flies!" "Yes," says Betty's voice, "they have a very sentimental bull, this year." I prick my ears — or rather, I would if I could. What a title for a short story, "The Sentimental Bull." I listen avidly, but it is only a long tale (a pun?) about rubbing the bull's head and how he could not bear to have her leave the stable. . . The adolescent mind is fascinating.

We have also the Perplexed Porcupine. He came out of the currant plot at dusk and shaped his course for the shed; Betty, who is short-sighted, mistook him for the cat, and leaning down to bring her face on the level of his, called coaxingly, "Peter, Peter!" Never agine their mutual dismay! Never before had the porcupine heard the human voice in such dulcet tones, nor seen a human face so close. He appeared to be puzzled and embarrassed; the quills erected and the face looked coy, then the bristling beast changed course and made good time to the grove, panting with the speed of his retreat. Think of the story he had to tell his mate when he finally achieved shelter!

It was an OLD porcupine, Betty is sure; so we wonder if this can be the same creature which we have seen from time to time in the last twenty years, always in or around the shed. There is no reference book handy, but doubtless some of our readers will know about the life span of porcupines, the only wild creature which is perpetually protected by the government, not for its own sake but for man's, the theory being that since a porcupine can be killed with nothing more complicated than a hefty stick, he should be allowed to multiply for the unlucky man who loses himself in the woods. The flesh is reported to be delicious. Yet, in the yearly accounts of people lost in the autumn never have we seen mention of roast porcupine. In truth, the wrong people get lost. Most of these unfortunates are city dwellers to whom both the creature and the government's paternal care is unknown.

The man of the house says to pack up; he wishes to avoid the traffic, by leaving early. We shall leave early, but methinks the traffic will be there just the same. Perhaps not just the same. We have a friend who reports the trip from Morin Heights took five hours early this spring. Hasten the day when there is a straight road from the city to the heart of the Laurentians. The sun has unfortunately come out, after a sprinkle. The farmers about here are anxiously awaiting a real rain; the nasturtium seeds we have just planted would like some, too. In the city, life awaits the bells — telephone and door. In the country, everything depends on the weather. . . Until the end of June, then.

Tips on Touring

By Carol Lane

Women's Travel Authority

A family I know plans regular "collecting" trips for their four children. As a result, the children never lack for rainy-day or sick-bed entertainment.

On seashore trips, for instance, the children forage for shells or seaweed. When they go to a park, the loot consists of grasses, wild-flowers, stones or leaves.

En route, they collect menus, maps, postcards, recipes and even car and luggage stickers. This miscellany, which would seem like junk to most people, is transformed into gay and useful gadgets.

Pretty pebbles fill a bowl to make a pencil holder for the desk. Others make bean bags, decorate their aquarium or fill pots for ivy and philodendron. Larger smooth stones are painted with designs to form paperweights and still larger ones are used as doorstops.

Grasses, leaves, flowers and seaweed have been dried and pressed, pasted on colored paper and framed to make pictures.

The day I saw them, the children were making a jig-saw puzzle from picture postcards, reinforced in back with cardboard and pasted together to form a complete picture of Niagara's wonders. It was pouring outside, but there was plenty of sunshine in that house.

Questions About Canadian Cheese

For more than 80 years Cheddar cheese made in Canada has been world famous for its quality. Yet we Canadians eat very little cheese in comparison with the people of some other countries. Improvements have been made continually in the industry and today many of the so-called foreign cheese are even made here. The home economists of the Consumer Section are often asked questions about cheese and they decided you might like to know some of the answers, too. So here are the questions most frequently asked, and the answers.

Is cheese graded?

Under the Dairy Products Act the Department of Agriculture is responsible for the standard of composition and grades of cheese. Inspections are continually being made by Departmental Inspectors wherever cheese is sold.

Cheddar is the only cheese which is graded and the grades are Canada First Grade, Canada Second Grade, Canada Third Grade and Below Canada Third Grade. In grading cheese it is scored on the following points: flavor, texture, closeness, color and finish with flavor being considered the most important. Although as yet very little Canadian Cheddar cheese is sold according to grade in the stores, consumers can rest assured that they are buying cheese of good quality for most of it comes up to the Canada First Grade standard.

How does cheese acquire color?

The natural color of cheese is a deep rich cream color but under Canadian Food and Drugs Regulations certain edible vegetable colorings may be added. The amount of coloring is not stipulated, but if the cheese were too brightly colored it would not be as appealing.

To many of us Cheddar cheese is known simply as Canadian cheese. Why is this?

The home economists suggest that Cheddar has always been the principal cheese made in Canada and was probably called Canadian cheese by way of distinction from the cheese of other countries.

Is all Cheddar cheese aged? And why is "Old" Cheddar cheese more expensive than either "Medium" or "Mild" Cheddar?

Canadian Food and Drugs Regulations stipulate that cheese made from unpasteurized milk must be stored a minimum of 60 days before it is sold. To eliminate the necessity for holding the cheese this length of time, a considerable amount of Cheddar is now being made from pasteurized milk. It is used in making process cheese and is also sold as "Mild" Cheddar cheese. "Medium" and "Old" or "Nippy" cheese are made from unpasteurized milk and are aged to develop the desired flavor. "Medium" cheese is aged for several months and "Old" cheese for a year or more. The care required in aging cheese, the cost of storing it and the natural shrinkage, that is loss of weight during storage, are reasons for the higher price of "Old" cheese.

Cream chese is a snowy-white, soft-textured, delicately-flavored cheese which contains more moisture and more fat than other cheese. The moisture content cannot be more than 60%. It is an unripened cheese, that is, sold as soon as it is made. In making it the milk is enriched by adding cream. Cream chese is pasteurized but it is perishable and must be kept refrigerated the same as milk and cream.

What is process cheese?

There are two types of process cheese. The one that is most commonly known as process is made from Cheddar or other hard cheese. It may contain not more than 43% moisture which is about 10% more than Cheddar cheese. To make this cheese, Cheddar or other hard cheese is ground, blended and pasteurized, then poured into the package to harden. This cheese is softer in texture than Cheddar cheese and can be either sliced or spread. The other type of process cheese is made from a cream cheese base and has the same moisture and fat composition as cream cheese.

Some process cheese sold in glass or plastic containers spreads very easily. This softer cheese, sometimes called a spread, has the same amount of water and fat in it as firmer process cheese. The label tells whether it is a process cheddar or process cream cheese.

Is skim-milk cheese available?

Formerly skim milk cheese could be made from partially skimmed milk but the regulation has been changed and now skim milk cheese must be made from skim milk. There is not much skim milk cheese available but what is sold is in the form of a process cheese.

What are standards for cottage cheese?

There are no government standards of composition for cottage cheese or creamed cottage cheese. It is made from pasteurized skim milk with varying amounts of cream added to the curd. Cottage cheese is perishable and will stay moist and fresh longer if refrigerated in a tightly covered dish. It is best to use cottage cheese within two or three days after buying to be assured of the best quality in texture and flavor.

Cheese should be kept in a covered container or wrapped in a heavy waxed or parchment paper and stored in a cool place. It left uncovered it will dry out through evaporation of the water in it and if stored at room temperature some of the fat is likely to melt and escape from the cheese.

Picnic Tips

Once more the picnic season is in full swing. Whether you and your family belong to the "let's eat in the garden club", the barbecue fans or the "quiet shady picnic spot" addicts, there is food and equipment to fill your every need and desire.

Poultry Products Institute offers a couple of picnic tips which should prove useful as well as practical. For example, their Home Economics Director, Dorothy Batcheller, suggests freezing cans of tomato or fruit juice to use to keep picnic foods cool on hot days. Simply put unopened cans of juice in the freezing compartment of your mechanical refrigerator and leave them until the contents are frozen solid, then wrap cans in waxed paper or plastic refrigerator bags. This protects the food from the moisture which will condense on the cans. Pack the well-chilled perishable foods, such as roast chicken, egg sandwiches and other protein foods around the cans in the picnic basket and you'll find you have a simple refrigerator. The cans will keep the food cool for four to six hours, unless of course, the basket is left in the hot sun. Incidentally, the juice makes a refreshingly cool beverage when thawed.

Another suggestion is for the camp-fire enthusiasts. What could be easier and quicker to cook than Bacon-and-Eggs-in-Holes? Cut circles or squares out of the centres of the required number of slices of bread after the bacon has been cooked. Drain most of the fat from the pan, place bread and cut-out pieces in pan and brown on one side. Turn and carefully break an egg into the hole in each bread slice. Cook until egg is set and bread browned. Serve sunny-side up or if desired, bread and egg may be turned over for a minute to cook top of egg more thoroughly. Toast, eggs and bacon are all ready in "jig time."

QUEEN OF LONDON FOR A MONTH

Lot of Nutrition Inside Egg Shell

If hot days take your appetite away, don't forget there is a lot of nutrition packed inside the egg shell. So if you don't feel like eating, make a refreshing cold egg nog by beating a raw egg in a glass of chilled milk, seasoning with a dash of salt, nutmeg, a little vanilla and sugar to taste. Flavors may be varied to suit you . . . try chocolate with a sprinkling of nutmeg or stir in a little instant coffee. Granted orange rind gives a plain egg nog a lift too. If you prefer a thicker consistency, separate the egg, beat the yolk into the milk, then beat the egg white until stiff, adding a little sugar to it and fold it into the egg-milk mixture.

Orange or pineapple juice beaten with an egg and served well chilled is delicious. Beyond the fact that the egg gives a frothy texture, there is no evidence of the raw egg in the flavor of the beverage. However, like the egg nog, it does add additional food value for the light eater in hot weather.

For the fourth year in a row Canadian travellers in 1954 spent more in other countries than foreign travellers spent in Canada — $380,000,000 against $300,000,000.

Fine Weavers

Fredericton (CP) — The director of handicrafts for the province reports that New Brunswick exhibitors of weaving captured four prizes at the national exhibition of weavers at London, Ont.

Mrs. Adele Ilves took top honors for her curtain and scatter-rug entries and Mrs. Asta Onno captured a prize for her linen table runner. In a special section for men weavers, Prof. Ellis Rouiston of Mount Allison University topped his division with a skirt.

The New Brunswick weavers were requested to take part in a special showing in Alberta, and the Halifax Weavers Guild has asked that the winning entries be shown in Nova Scotia.

The middle-aged matron returned to her car after shopping and found a traffic officer writing out a ticket for overtime parking. Quite miffed when her dissuading tactics were of no avail, she snapped, "Young man, what procedure do you use when you find someone who is really guilty?"

"I don't know, ma'am," he replied respectfully as he handed her the ticket, "all I ever catch are the innocent ones."

FLY RARE BLOOD TO SAVE U.S. BABY —

A congratulatory kiss is bestowed by Susann Robertson on her mother, Mrs. Nadene Robertson of Redwood City, Calif., on hearing the news that a supply of rare blood had been obtained from Cree Indians in Alberta to save the life of her expected baby. Mrs. Robertson is expected by doctors to give birth to a child whose blood factors are almost certain to result in death a few hours after birth. Only 25 persons in the world are known to have the blood-type that can save the child and 21 of them are on an Indian reservation in Alberta. The Indians willingly donated enough blood to save the child.

—Central Press Canadian Photos

Lt.-Cmdr. Allan Wood, RCN, and F/L Howard Robertson, RCAF, flew the Cree blood to California in an RCAF jet training plane. Francis J. Castle, Red Cross field director, right, directed handling of the blood. The plane was forced down by bad weather in Calgary, then continued its flight to California.

He: "Well, I suppose you're plenty angry because I came home with this black eye last night."

She: "Not at all, dear. You may not remember it, but when you came home, you didn't have that black eye."

After the tiff Mary calmed down a little. "But how can you love me, Joe?" she said. "The doctor says I must have a fifty-dollar course of slimming, and now you won't let me."

"Darling," replied her husband, "I love you so much that I can't bear to lose an ounce of you."

Noah would have saved a lot of trouble if he had swatted those two mosquitoes as they went aboard the ark.

Bedtime Story

(Copyright) — By NANCY CLEAVER —

"I would rather be the children's storyteller than the queen's favorite or the king's counsellor," Kate Douglas Wiggin, the famous author of "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch," once declared. Today, there are so many stories which children can listen to on the radio, on TV, at the public library, at school! But there is still one special story, the Bedtime Story, which belongs especially to parents. Mother and Dad can take tips on how to tell this last story of the day to little folk from their child's favorite story teller. They should never make the mistake of concluding that the Bedtime Story has lost its charm!

There should be a special place on the bookshelf for these stories. A very little child loves Picture Book Stories, Nursery Rhymes and the old favorites such as the Three Little Pigs or Goldilocks and the Three Bears. Kipling's Just So Stories, Hans Christian Andersen's Fairy Tales and The Tar Baby Stories by Uncle Remus are loved by older children.

The childrens' librarian at the public library is a great help in suggesting suitable stories. Bible Stories should not be forgotten and Hurlburt's Stories of the Bible contains a fine selection. Nature Legends are another source of stories and they form part of our heritage from "The First Canadians."

This is the Red Indians' story of How the Chipmunk Got His Stripes. Read this aloud or tell it from memory to your small son or daughter — or have your school age child read it aloud to you!

Once there were no chipmunks, only squirrels, and the squirrels were the same bright, merry little animals they are now. Unfortunately, a strange disease broke out among a certain tribe of Indians. As they had no Medicine Man, they were in a very sad plight. Day by day, more fell sick, and although they tried all the remedies they knew, none of them seemed to do any good.

The animals in that district heard about this sickness and they held a council to discuss it. The big council-ring of all the animals was not at all friendly to the poor Indians, for, as the bear said, "Why should we worry about his troubles? He never does us any good, and he even kills some of us for food with his bow and arrow."

There was only one animal who dared to speak up in favor of the Indians and that was the small Red Squirrel. Glancing a little nervously at the big animals near him, when it came his turn he said bravely, "Well, this sickness is pretty tough luck on the tribe. If we can do something to help them — I think that we should!"

The Bear glowered at him. "Who are you to oppose me?" he asked.

The Bear became frightfully angry and in a gust of passion he leaped at the Squirrel and grabbed him in his two front paws. He would teach this impudent little fellow a lesson!

The Squirrel was terribly frightened, but he struggled hard to get away. The Bear's claws dug into his sides. With a last frantic effort the Squirrel scrambled out of his clutches and ran away as fast as he could. The Bear followed him for a short distance. But he soon gave up the chase and grumbling to himself, he returned to the council ring.

The little Squirrel ran on and on until he was out of breath. He was afraid to hide in the forest for fear one of the animals should catch him in the dark. His scratches were hurting. In desperation he went to the door of a wigwam and sought refuge.

The Indian asked him in and took care of him. They became good friends. The great god, Manitou, gave to the Squirrel, as a reward for his courage at the council-ring, the gift of knowledge and the ability to use the Indian's language.

So the Squirrel was able to tell his host how to make medicines from the gums of pine, spruce and balsam and the bark of the slippery elm. The sick Indians were gradually healed by taking the medicine. At the same time the Squirrel's sides got better, but the scars remained.

Next year, the Squirrel built his home beside the wigwam. The new little family of squirrel had stripes on their sides just like their father's. The Indians named them "Chipmunks." Ever since that time both the squirrel and chipmunks have been the friends of man and like to live near his home.

QWI To Urge Knowledge Of Both Languages

The executive of the Quebec Women's Institutes is meeting next week in Montreal. The final draft of a provincial brief to be submitted at the coming biennial board meeting of the Federated Women's Institutes of Canada, in Winnipeg, June 9-16, will be completed and items discussed for inclusion in the provincial report.

The provincial president, Mrs. C. E. LeBaron, North Hatley, will be attending the national meeting, with the other QWI representative, Mrs. H. Ellard, Ottawa, 2nd vice-president.

One of the recommendations being made by the QWI is that all Canadian citizens should have a working knowledge of the two official languages, French and English. The QWI believes that while it is the duty of everyone to have a thorough understanding of his own mother tongue, there should also be some knowledge of the other official language.

Plans for the QWI provincial convention, June 21-24 at Macdonald College, are also on the agenda for the executive meeting.

90th Birthday Greeting

(Tune, Loch Lomond)

To Mother MacConnachie, the family, now say —
We are glad you are so lively, hale and hearty;
Ninety changeful years have gone, since the sun first on you shone,
So we all thought we should have a little party.

Chorus —
On your Ninetieth Birthday, from sincere hearts we will say,
We are grateful for the Mother who was given,
Wisdom, diligence and love,
From the One Who reigns above
To direct and wisely train her God-given children.

Throughout the passing years you have shared joys and shed tears,
Always your children's welfare you were yearning;
And so now they understand that the Mother's loving hand,
Was the one that kept the home fire brightly burning.

As the years have passed away you have had good cause to say,
Many new things now are coming into being,
Folks we cannot see we hear, and they always seem quite near,
For by Tele's we are hearing now, and seeing.

Now at ninety years of age you can still scan every page
Of the Bible or the Hymn Book so alluring
And in them you still can find thoughts that stimulate the mind,
For they tell about the life which is enduring.

Have You A Question on UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE OR EMPLOYMENT?

In this column we publish questions about unemployment insurance and employment, together with answers received from the Unemployment Insurance Commission.

If you are uncertain about any point do not hesitate to send your question to your district Unemployment Insurance office. We will obtain an answer and publish it in this column.

Q. If I do laundry work at home for a hotel at a rate of $10.00 per week, may I have stamps put in my insurance book?

A. It has generally been considered that persons working in their homes for an employer are not insurable even though they may do the same type of work as those who work on the employer's premises. The reason for this is that there is usually no supervision or control over the persons who work at home. However, since there is not enough information to say definitely whether you should be insured and have stamps in your unemployment insurance book, further details of your conditions of employment given to the nearest local office will enable them to give you a definite ruling.

Q. Is a farmer who owns a wood lot required to pay unemployment insurance for the workers he employs and pays more than the minimum wages?

A. If your wood lot is operated in connection with your farm and not considered a separate business, the workers whom you employ are not insurable even though they are employed exclusively on the wood lot.

At latest count there were 299,000 mink, 16,000 chinchillas and 5,300 foxes on Canadian fur farms.

N.Y. City Hospitals Directed by M.D. Associated Here

The world's largest municipal hospital system in New York City has relied on Dr. Basil C. MacLean (Canadian-born husband of the former Caroline Davis, of Morin Heights) for its administration in the past year.

The six-foot-two, 204-pound ex-Canadian was born in Oshawa 60 years ago and is a former medical superintendent of the Montreal General Hospital, being the present New York Commissioner of Hospitals.

Thirty-five thousand departmental employees call him boss as the administrator of an annual budget of $125,000,000. He is completing a $200,000,000 building program.

A big man whose robust appearance belies the fact that he was once laid low by tuberculosis, Dr. MacLean describes his role at the top of the huge organization as "a sort of glorified shepherd."

"All the work here is done by the sheep dogs," he said in an interview. But he conceded that he's so busy that it has taken him almost a year to get out to visit all 34 of the hospitals, containing some 20,000 beds, under his jurisdiction.

Dr. MacLean took over his $25,000-a-year job from Rochester, N.Y., where for 19 years he was director of Strong Memorial Hospital. A U.S. citizen since 1938, he has kept in touch with Canada through hospital consultative services in many main Canadian cities.

ONE DUCK WHO WOULDN'T LIKE FARM LIFE

—Central Press Canadian

Man's best friend in the case of Charles Sesso is a pet duck called "Pete." Sesso, who shines shoes for a living in Philadelphia, takes "Pete" everywhere with him, for the duck is wise to the ways of the city and its people. At top Pete quacks away on the shoe-shine stand to his boss as he works on an oxford. Below: While adventuring, he takes advantage of a break in traffic to cross the street. Used to fast times in the city, Pete probably wouldn't like the quiet life down on a farm.

DEFENCE ARGUMENT

A Legion-promoted "Greater Defence of Canada Week" could settle the age-old conscription question and at the same time increase the quota of recruits to Canada's armed forces. The arguments for conscription and greater defence of our country advocated by the numerous branches of the Canadian Legion would fall on the most receptive ears in the history of the country.

— Innisfail (Alta.) Province

When the new 22,500-ton Canadian Pacific liner, Empress of Britain, has been launched this June, she will give employment to some 300 - 350 (including subcontractors) joiners on board during her fitting out.

The glue that sticks United States postage stamps is made of a hybrid-corn and casava mixture. It is not only palatable but also slightly nutritious. Do you suppose Canadians also enjoy similar light lunches?

"If Only" Has Changed History

They would probably have survived had they received treatment with modern drugs and if they had been nursed in accordance with present day methods.

Had modern drugs, such as penicillin, cortisone, or polycycline been available not so long ago, history might have been quite different!

Princess Charlotte, the only child of George IV, died in childbirth. Her son was stillborn. It is said that her obstetrician, Sir Robert Croft, over-bled her during pregnancy. As a result, she was exhausted even before her long and fruitless confinement began. Such a catastrophe would not occur today. Croft later shot himself for his mistake. This loss of two people in direct succession to the British throne meant that George IV was succeeded by his brother William, and he in turn by Queen Victoria. Is it too fantastic to claim that a doctor's error changed not merely a great dynasty, but also influenced the world's history?

Three celebrated composers died of infectious fevers — typhus carried off Schubert, typhoid fever killed Mozart, and cholera Tschaikowsky. Antibiotics now are often effective against the first two diseases, and although cholera is much more difficult to treat, it has been more or less wiped out in many countries by the purification of water supplies, and by immunization.

Another famous composer who died of a disease that can now always be cured in all but its last stages, and which may respond even then, was Schumann. His affliction was paresis, a late manifestation of syphilis in the brain and nervous system. Today, this is treated by deliberately infecting the patient with malaria. The malaria parasite and the syphilis bacteria fight each other, and when penicillin is also given, this treatment usually saves the patient's life, although he is not cured of the damage which the disease may have already caused.

The French short-story writer, Guy de Maupassant, was another victim of paresis. There seems little doubt that Henry VIII died of syphilis. Penicillin, or even the earlier salvarsan, would probably have saved him.

Alexander the Great was carried off by malaria at the height of his power and in the prime of life. The English statesman, Oliver Cromwell, may have been another victim of malaria. He certainly died of a fever closely resembling that illness. His great enemy, Charles II, was cured of the disease by quinine, which was introduced to Western Europe after Cromwell's death. He and Louis XIV of France were among the first notable Europeans to receive the drug, which still remains the best treatment for many types of malaria.

Another famous victim of a now-curable infection was the poet, Byron, who fell ill in Greece of what doctors think was rheumatic fever complicated by pneumonia. Treatment with the derivatives of salicyclic acid and with penicillin would probably have saved this great romantic poet. Like Byron, the French painter Gaugin died a tragic death far from home. He caught leprosy during his sojourn on Tahiti, in the South Pacific. Drugs of the sulphone group might have produced a complete clearance of the disease.

All these people died from disease or conditions which medical science has since learned to deal with. Other well-known persons died of complaints that modern surgeons frequently conquer. Napoleon died of cancer — probably of the stomach. This is now often eradicated by an early operation.

The successful treatment of the Emperor Frederick III of Germany might have had important consequences. He died of cancer of the larynx only a few months after ascending the throne. His principal doctor was Sir Morrell Mackenzie, the leading throat specialist of the day.

Mackenzie is criticized for not having removed the emperor's larynx. He was perhaps justified in not doing so, since it would have left his royal patient dumb. In any case, this operation was usually fatal 70 years ago. Nowadays it often succeeds, and the patient can be supplied with an artificial larynx, or taught to speak by resonating a column of air brought up from the stomach.

Another royal victim of cancer was Mary Tudor, Queen of England, who died of an ovarian growth. An operation to remove this is now fairly common and successful. Hers was a most tragic case, for the growth led at least twice to the production of false symptoms of pregnancy. Had she given birth to an heir, would the Roman Catholic faith that she restored in England have remained the national religion?

These are some of the fascinating IF questions of history posed by the absence of a scalpel, a hypodermic needle, or a dose of some drug. (ISPS)
