Marked Drop in Unemployment Here Compared With Same Season 1955

The number of persons presently drawing Unemployment Insurance benefits is much less than at the same date last year.

According to G. A. Downing, manager of the Unemployment Insurance Office in Lachute, there are approximately 200 fewer claimants than last year. Figures at the end of March show 730 persons drawing benefit, and this represents the lowest figure for this season of the year, for some time past.

The most notable decrease shows that men living in rural centres enjoyed better chances of obtaining employment in wood-cutting. A higher rate of production by local manufacturers also helped to keep the majority of the working force at work throughout the seasonal unemployment period. It is possible also that the construction projects which continued throughout the winter months also helped to maintain a low number of unemployed.

Mr. Downing informs us that many men were referred to work as wood-cutters in the St. Jovite area, where a scarcity of such workers was felt. The majority refused these jobs and some lost their right to Unemployment Insurance benefits for a part of the winter. A request was made to the Unemployment Insurance Commission to reconsider these cases of disqualification, and Mr. Downing advises us that instructions to this effect have now been received.

The local office of the Unemployment Insurance Commission and its other offices are presently reviewing the claims of persons who were deprived of their right to benefit for this reason, and these people will be reinstated if — (1) the distant job would not have afforded them the opportunity of earning at least ten times their fare both ways; (2) if the salary offered was not equal to the current rate offered in the district for similar work.

This review represents a considerable amount of work, and as each case is studied, the amounts are forwarded to the claimants who have right, according to one or the other of the above conditions, providing all other conditions are observed.

Campaign Time Approaching in Community Concerts Movement; Hawkesbury and Lachute Active

A report on activities of the Community Concerts Association in Hawkesbury shows this organization to be in a healthy condition, with optimism the keynote for enrolment of many new subscribers this year. Dr. D. H. Hamly, of the Industrial Research Cellulose Ltd., is president for 1956-57, succeeding J. Edmond Woods. A local concert is being planned for May in connection with the Association. Also it is announced that the first concert has been selected in the series of three next season, with the enagagement of the Beaux Arts Trio, a highly acclaimed instrumental group.

Here in Lachute there is promise of equal enthusiasm in the coming membership campaign — the president, Mrs. W. M. Cottingham, and campaign chairman, Dr. Marc Papineau, anticipating the co-operation of a keen executive and energetic canvassers.

The membership canvass starts next week with the general meeting and workers' rally at the Legion Hall on Tuesday (April 10) — the intention being to canvass for renewals during that week. The meeting will also elect new officers and committees, and a full attendance is therefore urged.

Official opening of the campaign, however, will be the annual supper the following Monday (April 16), also in the Legion Hall; in attendance will be the Columbia Artists' representative, Mr. Maltais, with interesting films and promotional ideas. The drive for new subscribers will be intensified during this entire week, with campaign headquarters as usual at the store of Bedard Ltée, by courtesy of the proprietor, Mr. Léonard.

Beverly Bower

An entertainment highlight during the same week will be the recital (Wednesday, April 18) by Beverly Bower, talented and attractive soprano singer. New subscribers for the 1956-57 season will be privileged to attend this program at the High School, which is otherwise restricted to subscribing members of the current season.

On the success of the campaign will depend the budget for next year's concert selection, and it is hoped by the executive that there will be an enrolment even greater than in previous years.

1956 Fishing Regulations Place Restriction on Transporting Minnows

The fishing season for Speckled Trout, Sea Trout, Brown Trout, Grey Trout, Lake Trout, Rainbow Trout (in Lake Memphremagog only), as well as for Ouananiche, Landlocked Atlantic Salmon and Sebago will begin, as in the past, on the third Wednesday of April. This information is given in the 1956 Summary of the Fishing Laws and regulations, just released by the Department of Fish and Game. As in the past years, Speckled Trout and Sea Trout fishing in Salmon rivers is prohibited until May 5. The regular fishing season for Rainbow Trout (except in Lake Memphremagog) is unchanged from May 16 to September 30. The minimum size of 7" is no longer enforced, so fishermen may keep Speckled Trout, Sea Trout and Quebec Red Trout of less than 7 inches.

The regulations prohibit fishing with minnows in waters containing Speckled Trout, Grey Trout, Rainbow Trout and Quebec Red Trout, except when minnows come from these waters. This year it is permitted to transport minnows in a 500 foot territory, north of the Ottawa River, as well as of Lake Temiscamingue at Shenboro, along Route 8, to its intersection with Route 29, from Grenville to Repentigny and to Quebec by Route 2, then to St. Joachim by Route 15.

This year, in all the lakes north of the Ottawa and the St. Lawrence rivers, there will be no restriction for Black Bass fishing. Sturgeon fishing, which was permitted in 1955, from the 1st of June to the 30th of April, will be permitted this year from the 15th of June to the 14th of May. As in the past years, sturgeon fishing is allowed the year round in Abitibi.

The scheduled merger of the Trades and Labor Congress and the Canadian Congress of Labor will result in the greatest concentration in Canada's history of potential power and wealth in the hands of a single group.

Geese Bound Northward

Quebec (CP) — About 200 Greater Snow Geese landed last week on the shores of the St. Lawrence River, near the town of St. Joachim. The birds were an advance group of a flock estimated at 70,000, which every year makes the 2,000-mile migration journey from Ellesmere Island in Canada's frozen northland to the southern hemisphere, and back again.

The entire flock is expected to have arrived within 15 days. They will rest and feed until the weather warms up and then undertake the final lap of their long journey northward.

U.S. Leaders Express Concern Over Tax On Cdn. Editions of Foreign Periodicals

THE WEEK AT OTTAWA
By Roy LaBerge, Canadian Press Staff Writer

Ottawa, April 2 (CP) — Prime Minister St. Laurent, returning from a three-day visit with President Eisenhower and President Cortines of Mexico, told reporters that Mr. Eisenhower and U.S. State Secretary Dulles expressed concern over the proposed new tax on Canadian editions of United States magazines.

The tax was mentioned in the March 20 budget as planned to begin next January 1. It would be a 20 percent levy on advertising revenues of Canadian editions of foreign periodicals. It would apply to those containing special Canadian advertisements not printed in the magazines' domestic editions.

Mr. St. Laurent said the U.S. leaders were "worried lest this tax interfere with the free flow of ideas across the border." However, they had not asked for its removal.

"I explained to the president and Mr. Dulles the tax was not as represented to them," Mr. St. Laurent said.

Another Extension

The Board of Transport Commissioners has approved a six-month franchise extension to November 1 for Trans-Canada Pipe Lines Ltd.

Mr. Justice John Kearney, Chief Commissioner, who announced the fourth extension granted to the company by the board in two years, suggested the company try to round up more Canadian capital to make an immediate start if possible of the controversial Alberta-to-Quebec natural gas pipeline.

The extension will not preclude the Board from changing its decision should there be indications of undue protracted delays or serious modification of Canadian views on how the line should be built, the Chief Commissioner said.

The $375,000,000 project has hit snags on both sides of the border. They could force it to seek still further extensions of time to show financial ability to build the line.

The company has stated this financial ability depends on the export of surplus gas at Emerson, Man. A mountain of opposition has sprung up before the Federal Power Commission in Washington which is considering whether to grant an import permit.

The line also depends on Ontario-federal financing of the northern Ontario leg by the crown company. The Ontario legislature has approved the province's participation in the crown effort but opposition forces in Parliament are digging in for a long debate.

Commuter Fares Up

Increases in commuter fares affecting thousands of Canadians were granted by the Board of Transport Commissioners to go into effect May 1.

Commuters in the Toronto area will not be affected by the present increases which are aimed mainly at the heavy commuter traffic to and from Montreal. However, a further rise affecting the Toronto area goes into effect May 1, 1957.

The two will bring the level of tolls to double what they were in 1954-55. The 100-per-cent increases was requested by the railways in May, 1954.

But the rate increases on the routes, which the companies say are money losers, are being brought in more gradually than the railways had anticipated.

They wanted the full 100-per-cent rise made operative in two stages over a six-month period. They are getting it in three stages over a period of more than two years.

The first half of the boost was allowed for the Toronto area in September, 1954, and for other areas in March, 1955. That same month, the 50-per-cent Toronto increase was raised to 75.

Assemble Guided Missiles

Canadair Limited of Montreal will co-ordinate production of the United States air-to-air guided missile, the Sparrow, for the RCAF.

Canadair's role in the multi-million dollar job was learned following announcement by Production Minister Howe that the company had bought out the crown-owned portions of its operations for $11,500,000.

The purchase covers two plants and machinery in a third, forming part of the aircraft company's huge operations at Cartierville on the northern outskirts of Montreal.

Mr. Howe said the price is slightly more than the government's original cost, less normal depreciation reported to amount to about $10,000,000.

Informants said it will be some time before work begins on the Sparrow. The missile will be used as the main armament for Canada's CF-100 jet fighters. They intimated the plants Canadair purchased for the government will be used for assembly of the missile.

Now Four-Man Police Force

The Town of Lachute will be policed by a four-man force commencing May 1 — following a decision at the regular Council meeting last evening. The move to engage two additional men, one to replace Wm. Lepine, now employed as Chief in Brownsburg, was agreed upon after considerable discussion. The two new men, Marcil Therrien, 22 of Calumet, and Jeannot Laurin 23, of Lachute Road, were chosen out of 14 applications received. They will be trained by Police Chief Fernand Trepanier while on the job.

Lachute 4-H Club Hears Talk by Local Agronome

A good turn-out of boys and girls attended a meeting of the Lachute 4-H Calf Club last Thursday evening, held in the Science lecture room of the Lachute High School. The president, Donald Parker, and secretary-treasurer, Donald McOuat, conducted the proceedings.

Ross Oswald, the club leader, announced changes in the regulations for the club members showing calves in the 4-H inter-club competition on Saturday, June 16, at Lachute Spring Fair. The Federal Department of Agriculture has increased its grant from $500 to $1,000, with a result that the prize list will be increased. The club leader said he hoped the members had chosen their club calves and that they were training and preparing them for show. He also asked that the members showing calves in June inform him accordingly and give the age of their calves before May 11.

Jean Pintal, the local agronome, then gave an interesting talk on the growing of grain crops in Quebec. He told of the importance of sowing first-quality seed grain. He said that, in experiments made in three counties in Quebec with seed grain samples taken from the seeder as the farmer was sowing the grain; 55% of the samples were rejected as being poor quality and poor germination, and only 25% were No. 1 seed grain. He also said that 28 million bushels of grain were brought into Quebec from the west last year, and if every farmer was to sow No. 1 seed, this amount could be cut in half; the farmer would have more of his own grain and less to buy to feed his livestock. This would leave him with more money to buy fertilizer, etc., to increase the productivity of his farm. . . Ross Oswald thanked Mr. Pintal for his most instructive and interesting talk.

Plans for a taffy-party were discussed.

Provincial Secretary Omer Côté Appointed Magistrate of St. Jerome

Quebec (CP) — Provincial Secretary Omer Cote resigned his post in the Quebec cabinet last week to accept a provincial bench appointment.

The 50-year-old Montreal lawyer, since 1944 representative of Montreal - St. James in the Quebec legislature, has been appointed magistrate for the District of St. Jerome.

Mr. Cote's appointment came as a surprise because Premier Duplessis has rarely appointed a cabinet minister to a government post prior to an election. A provincial election is expected in June.

Mr. Cote's appointment increased to four the vacancies in the legislative assembly.

Easter Seals Campaign

Any who have not so far contributed to Easter Seals, and who wish to support this project for the benefit of crippled children, are asked to mail their return envelopes and remittances without delay, so that the campaign may be concluded.

The names of contributing firms will be published next week.

Montreal Motorist Charged With Reckless Driving

Three cars suffered damage exceeding $2,000 Saturday evening in an accident on Route 8, near Marelan. Five persons were treated in hospital and released later that evening. A charge was laid against the driver of one of the cars.

The main accident occurred shortly after 10 p.m. when a 1955-model coach, owned and driven by Roland Laurin, 22, of Lachute, collided with a 1952-model car owned and driven by André Louis-Seize, 33, of Grenville.

The driver of the latter vehicle was returning to his home, which was a distance of only 500 feet from where he was visiting. Louis-Seize stated that he was turning into his driveway when Laurin passed him, hitting the car and knocking it into the ditch, where it rolled over.

Five occupants in the ditched car, all relatives of the driver André Louis-Seize, were treated in the Smith Clinic at Hawkesbury for shock and minor injuries, all later being released.

Roland Laurin, driver of the other vehicle, suffered stomach and chest injuries. Two other occupants of the Laurin car, Jeannette Demers, 19, and her 21-year-old sister, Madeleine, both of Lachute, were treated by Dr. Jules Lafleur.

At 11.15 a.m., the Laurin car was still in the centre of the road awaiting a service truck, when Traffic Officer Howard Jones noticed another car headed towards him at a high speed. Officer Jones stated that a highway flare was placed 148 feet from the scene of the accident, the police-car flasher which could be seen for almost a mile away, was in operation, and three flashlights were visible at the scene — nevertheless the driver of the oncoming car failed to slow down.

Officer Jones, Roland Laurin and Victor Gauley, of Grenville, jumped out of the path of the car, which struck Laurin's vehicle on the side, careened 127 feet on the right shoulder, severed five guard-rail posts and piled into the ditch head-first. The 54-model car was driven by Ernest Stevens, 36, of Montreal, who has been charged with reckless driving. Stevens and his passengers were unhurt.

Ottawa (CP) — A $25,000 dream home will be the main prize raffled off at the 1956 Central Canada exhibition here. The winner will have to supply only the lot for the house, as all modern conveniences will be installed.

In 1955 the number of families in Canada increased by 90,000 while the number of new homes built in the year totalled 127,000.

Mtl. and Suburban Clubs Guests at Lachute Lions, Visit of District Governor

The occasion of the District Governor's visit to Lachute Lions Club was a rousing gathering at the Legion Hall on Tuesday evening, with around 80 visitors from Montreal and suburban clubs, and a total attendance of almost 130. The guest of honor, District Governor F. W. (Bill) Shields, gave an inspiring address which highlighted the more serious aspect of the proceedings.

Two busloads of the Montreal delegation were serenaded into the hall by pipers and a drummer from the Black Watch, and Ed McLean, district inter-club chairman, led an enthusiastic song session.

At the head-table, with President Ian Gordon who chaired the proceedings, were the guest speaker, Deputy District Governor Horace Lamarche, International Councillors Alf Cadman and J. S. Giles, with presidents of the visiting clubs and other zone and district officers.

The District Governor of Lions International District A-8 was fittingly introduced by J. S. Giles. . . The visitor first paid tribute to the Lachute club and some of the notables it had produced, not the least of whom was his Deputy and "tower of strength", Horace Lamarche. He enumerated a few of the qualities which motivated good Lions, and the impetus to their works given by the actual evidence of things achieved — in charity, welfare and the betterment of those less fortunate. Yet Lions clubs and other clubs have no monopoly on Service, he asserted. On every hand there are people with the same ideals, and Lionism can attain still nobler heights by tapping this great potential, by inviting new members to the movement, or others to assist in helping the underprivileged and promoting good works.

Beautiful Ayers blankets were presented as a token from the Lachute Lions, by Fernand Legault, Q.C., who officially thanked the District Governor for his address and for his loyalty to the cause of Lionism.

Deputy District Governor H. Lamarche also spoke briefly — his remarks revealing the sincerity with which the visiting official had filled his term of office; and no less obvious to his associates, how Mr. Lamarche himself had given himself devotedly to his role.

Key awards to Lions who had enrolled new members were presented by the District Governor to — Nat Boyd, Herb Graves, Horace Lamarche, Fernand Legault, Jim Lowe, Gordon McOuat, Geo. Tattersfield and Gabriel Valois.

Incidental to this meeting was the initial distribution of tickets for this year's major fund-raising effort by the Lachute club, namely, the drawing for a Nash Metropolitan automobile to culminate at the Exhibition Grounds on the last day of Lachute Spring Fair. A preliminary drawing was held for the visitors on this occasion, first prize being a child's-size automobile, with numerous surprise awards donated by local Lions business men.

Medical Topics At Lachute W.I.

The monthly meeting of the Lachute Women's Institute was held in the Legion Hall on Tuesday, with Mrs. G. McGibbon in the chair.

Arrangements are being made to forward donations of books to the armed forces stationed in Germany.

Dr. Suzanne MacKimmie introduced Dr. E. Mongeon, who talked on fluoridation and the value of its injection into drinking water. He gave some interesting statistics regarding benefits achieved in dental health, especially in children, and stressed the importance that the public be informed of the true facts about fluoridation. Dr. Mongeon stated that the adoption of fluoridation would prevent approximately 60% of dental trouble, including extractions and fillings. Mrs. L. Armstrong moved a vote of thanks to Dr. Mongeon.

Dr. S. MacKimmie gave a brief talk on Cancer Education, and cited some statistics regarding progress being made in treating this disease — which proved to be of interest to her listeners. Mrs. C. L. Duncan expressed thanks to Dr. MacKimmie.

The next meeting will be held in the Legion Hall, May 1, when the roll-call will be answered by giving a Household Hint.

Easter Highway Fatality Near Hawkesbury

An Easter week-end trip ended in tragedy nine miles west of Hawkesbury on Friday, when Mrs. Graham Dunlop, 38, of Beachburg, Ont., died in a two-car collision which seriously injured her husband and five-year-old daughter.

The family had been driving from their home near Renfrew to Montreal, to spend the week-end. A passenger, Harold Moore, also of Beachburg, was uninjured.

Mr. Dunlop was taken to the Smiths' Clinic, Hawkesbury, with facial and internal injuries. His daughter Joan suffered a broken leg and severe bruises.

Driver of the other car, Michel Peter Breton, of Ville St. Laurent, suffered a broken leg and bruises.

OPP Constable Allan C. Eng, of Hawkesbury, said Mr. Dunlop was passing another car when it went out of control on the icy highway.

Start Paving Trans-Canada Pte. Fortune to L'Orignal

Paving of the 15-mile link of the Trans-Canada Highway from L'Orignal to the Quebec boundary will start early this summer so that the new road from Pointe Fortune to Ottawa — 74 miles — will be completed by the end of July.

Work began this week on pouring of concrete on the cloverleaf at Hawkesbury which will take the Trans-Canada over the top of Highway 34. It will be the first cloverleaf in the lower Ottawa Valley area.

Charged in Theft From Fuel Office

Leo Rivest, 19, of St. Vincent de Paul, will appear in St. Jerome court tomorrow on two charges of breaking and entering and three charges of theft. An elder brother was released after questioning.

The two were arrested yesterday by Traffic Officers Roger Massie and Gerard Loyer at the Lachute Fuel Oil yard.

R. O. (Dick) MacLean, proprietor of the agency, reported he had noticed money missing from the establishment several times during the past month, the dates coinciding with oil deliveries from Montreal. On his guard for the past two weeks, he set a trap for the thieves last Saturday, but this failed.

Yesterday, he took the serial numbers of all bills in the cash box, and upon his return from lunch, he checked the money and found $14 missing. Police were notified and the missing money was found in the possession of Rivest.

Entry to the office was twice gained by means of a window, while on the other three occasions it happened that the accused was left alone in the office for a short period of time.

According to the police, Clement Rivest, the driver of the Montreal truck, and his brother, who is not an employee, both gave information indicating that the former was in no way involved.

Leo Rivest was held in the local cells last night, being charged and transferred to St. Jerome this morning. He will appear in court tomorrow.

Eastern Ontario Legion Convention at Hawkesbury

More than 500 delegates from 60 Eastern Ontario branches of the Canadian Legion will meet in Hawkesbury April 7-8 for the annual Canadian Legion District Convention.

Henry Harvey, Legion provincial president, will speak at the annual banquet Sunday afternoon at Christ the King School, Hawkesbury. Among the guests will be Hon. L. P. Cecile, Ontario Minister for Travel and Publicity, and Raymond Bruneau, M.P. for Glengarry-Prescott.

Business sessions will commence Sunday at 10 a.m. in the Regent Theatre, and continue in the afternoon after a memorial service at the Hawkesbury Cenotaph. The Montgomery Branch bugle and drum band and the Cornwall Branch pipe band will take part in the service.

Gatineau LINES

LIGHTS OUT?

WHAT SHOULD YOU DO? . . . FOLLOW THESE STEPS EACH TIME:

1. Find out if your neighbors' lights are out too. If they are not, it is quite likely that the trouble is in your own wiring.

2. Pull the main switch and examine the fuses. If a fuse is burned, look for the cause. It may be due to too many appliances on the same circuit or due to defective appliances or short circuit in the wiring. Be sure to find out the cause as a burned fuse indicates trouble somewhere.

3. If there is lightning or heavy wind in the district and your neighbors' lights are out, it is probably due to trouble on the Power Company lines.

Wait for a few minutes to see if the power is restored; if not, call the local office of the Power Company and report the trouble.

4. If it is a clear day, the Power Company may be working on the lines, a car may have struck a pole or someone may have felled a tree over the lines. Wait for a reasonable time to see if service is restored. If it is not, please report your trouble to the local office of the Power Company.

By reporting directly to the Power Company you are taking the most effective method of correcting the trouble.

Farm Topics

Less Wheat Acreage

Results of a March 1 survey announced by the Bureau of Statistics indicated farmers in the prairie provinces intended to cut wheat plantings to a 13-year low of 20,848,100 acres from 21,505,800 last year.

They planned to boost oats seeding and double flaxseed acreage. Flaxseed is drawing big prices on world markets, but farmers face the prospects of a continuing wheat glut.

Contemplated oats seeding was 11,851,200 acres against 11,178,200 in 1955 and flaxseed acreage 3,811,600 against 1,959,000.

Potato acreage was expected to drop to 304,000 from 308,300, soybeans to 205,000 from 214,000 and summerfallow to 22,944,933 from 23,965,000.

Rye and barley plantings also would be reduced. However, plans may change before seeding time.

Poultry Fertility And Hatchability

Low fertility and hatchability results in a considerable loss to poultry breeders and hatcherymen, since incubated eggs that are infertile and those that fail to hatch have no salvage value. There are many factors affecting fertility and hatchability, and many of them are under control of the poultry breeder.

A. P. Piloski, poultryman at the Indian Head Experimental Farm, Saskatchewan, states that the age of chickens seems to have some effect on hatchability. There is a slight decrease in hatchability in the second year and a more pronounced difference in succeeding years. Males do not seem to be affected to the same extent by age and males exhibiting good vigor may be used for several years. Frozen combs will make a male inactive for several weeks so that dubbing is a good practice wherever there is danger of the comb freezing. Dubbing, however, should be done early in the fall when the weather is still mild.

Rations that hens receive prior to and during the breeding season have a great effect on hatchability. A hatching ration should be fed at least a month prior to the time that eggs are to be collected for hatching. It is not desirable to change rations during the breeding season.

Hatching eggs should be set as soon after laying as possible, as the time that these eggs can be held is relatively short, depending on the temperature at which they are stored. Best temperatures are between 45 degrees and 60 degrees F. At these temperatures eggs can be held a week without hatchability being affected significantly. Up to two weeks the decrease in hatchability is small, but beyond this time, hatchability decreases very rapidly while the hatching time increases. This factor is important in hatcheries where a rigid schedule is maintained.

In order to maintain a high level of fertility it is usual to mate one male to 15 females. Under a system of pen-mating where several males are used in one pen this ratio should be maintained. Too many males in one pen may actually result in decreased fertility because of excessive fighting. Once a pen has been made up it is undesirable to introduce a strange male into the pen because the fighting which will follow usually results in fewer fertile eggs.

Males should be placed in the breeding pen at least one week before eggs are to be saved, to assure a high level of fertility. Under some conditions such as individual breeding, cross-breeding, or where time is an element, it will be found that artificial insemination is of great value.

Marquis Wheat Served Its Purpose

It was Marquis Wheat, developed by Charles Saunders of Ottawa, which opened the Canadian West and large areas elsewhere to grain growing nearly half a century ago, says The Financial Post, but there are only a few pockets of this variety grown today.

Marquis opened new wheat country, but it took other varieties to keep it open. Chief weakness of Marquis was its suspectibility to rust which in bad years wiped out the crop. So improvements came along like Thatcher, Selkirk and Saunders, some developed in Canada, some in the United States.

Grain growing, at least so far as Canada is concerned, has been a partnership. In the centre, of course, is the farmer, but furnishing vital support has been the scientist with his constant stream of new improved varieties, and the implement manufacturer with mechanization.

Lady Dies in California, Member of An Old Argenteuil Family

Late Miss M. E. Rowe

There passed away on March 25 at the Alta Vista Hospital, Pasadena, Calif., a member of one of the oldest families in this county, in the person of Miss M. E. Rowe.

The deceased lady, who was in her 86th year, was one of a large family; she was born in Louisa, Que., the third daughter of the late Robert Rowe and his wife Margaret Miller. She spent the early years of her life in these parts and in Montreal. Moving to Pasadena in November 1918, she resided there until the time of her death.

W. M. Cottingham Speaker at Mtl. Lions Club

Speaker at the Montreal Lions Club meeting last Thursday noon in the Mount Royal Hotel, was the Hon. W. M. Cottingham, Minister of Mines. Mr. Cottingham, a charter member and past-president of the local Lions Club, recalled that the Lachute branch was an offspring of the Montreal club. The latter will celebrate its 40th anniversary next year. . . Deputy District Governor Horace Lamarche and a group of 10 members from Lachute attended this meeting.

Speaking on the progress of the mining industry in Quebec, Mr. Cottingham added a note on the ideal of free enterprise. "The Quebec Government believes in free enterprise and encourages companies as much as possible," he said. "The Government does not operate any mine. Sir Winston Churchill once said, 'It is a Socialist idea that making profits is a vice. I consider the real vice is making losses.' We share the same ideal. It is also our duty to develop our natural resources, as it is our duty to develop our personal abilities. Quebec is merely at the dawn of a new mineral and industrial age. Quebec, once again, is in the pioneering stage, with amazing opportunities to offer and immense new fields to conquer. It is up to us to make Quebec the coming province of the 20th century. It would be a foolish thing to rely on the Government to do everything. Canadians have enough pride, drive, energy, vision, and patriotism to face the facts and get together for a better country."

April 8, 1881 —

The Lachute Paper Mills are now running day and night. Just a year ago there were many here so skeptical that they said the enterprise would never start. Let these prophets of evil come along and see the beautiful paper, miles in length, now being turned out.

Vennor is right this time. Sharp frost in the beginning of April, with snowfall several days later. The country roads are bad here, and the supply of produce brought into Lachute is very scarce and dear. We cannot get beef or mutton, and pork is out of all buying, the only things that are plentiful being maple syrup and sugar.

Something is wrong about the way Lachute College is supplied with water. It will be remembered that last summer an effort was made to get the water into the College, but an objection was raised that the water was not fit to drink. It now seems that the children are being supplied water by some generous neighbors at the expense of the proprietor of the waterworks, and lo and behold, it is the same water which was not fit to use.

We Grow Old Listening

OH, FOR AN alderman to live on Centre Main Street, to enjoy the sylvan quietude that hovers over the stopping-place of umpteen road transports, trucks, buses and assorted vehicles whose drivers choose the haunting period between midnight and 2 a.m. as the most convenient — to stop their trucks and trailers, and run their engines while satisfying their personal hunger — to change tires — to change loads — to exchange conversation in loud tones — and to grind again to a running start through four thunderous changes of gear. . . Oh for a City Father to dwell on Main Street (say between the Anglican Church and the shopping section) and share the enjoyment of these wakeful hours!

We might retell the thrills of Main Street Nights in another blistering front-page editorial; but besides wasting valuable space, we have found such devices futile, in a democracy where municipal authority is a mockery of terms and truck-drivers may raise cain when Main Street is concurrent with a provincial highway. A year or two ago our neighbors circulated a petition, but Council could apparently achieve nothing but temporarily curb the interminable running of motors on stationary trucks. (Temporarily, we said.)

So we live and endure . . . we grow old listening at nights . . . to the roar, the shop talk, and the clank of heavy industry entailed in changing tires, removing stalled vehicles, adjusting engines and generally disturbing the peace.

World Health Day

THEME of this year's World Health Day (April 7), is, "Destroy Disease-Carrying Insects"; and the message of this campaign provokes some serious thought for the coming season.

The affinity of the common house-fly for both filthy and clean foods, and its habit of moving rapidly back and forth between them, makes it a deadly enemy of man. House-flies are proven vectors of human diseases such as dysentery, diarrhoea, severe eye inflammations, typhoid fever and cholera, and have been shown under laboratory conditions to be capable of the mechanical transmission of many others.

This fact has considerable significance when one considers that in some parts of the world these intestinal diseases are the leading causes of death among infants and very young children.

The tragedy of this situation is that it is absolutely unnecessary. We know that flies are wholly or partly responsible for the transmission of a number of important diseases; we also know that they can be controlled effectively by sanitation, supplemented by the judicious use of chemicals. Yet it may safely be said that we are making very little progress in the control of fly-borne diseases in the greater part of the world. We seem to be unable to place the fly in its perspective and then to act emphatically and specifically.

In any battle a variety of armaments is usually needed; yet man in his struggle against flies has been guilty of failing to observe this rule and in failing to use his most effective weapon — sanitation. One can never be sure of success when complete dependence is placed on insecticides — sanitary measures on the other hand, when properly applied, have never been known to fail in bringing about effective fly control. It is the one measure to which flies have never developed resistance.

"Fringe Benefits"

IT IS NOT known who thought up the phrase "fringe benefits" to cover the hundred and one benefits enjoyed by some workers in addition to their wages — writes Joseph Lister Rutledge.

Other workers, the farmer, the small merchant, the housewife, the salesman, the office workers and indeed the majority of all workers recognize that if they want the things that come under the headings of fringe benefits they must pay for them themselves. Therefore if in some favored groups these are provided free they are a very tangible addition to their earnings.

Some time ago Mr. J. E. Trainor, executive vice-president of the Firestone Tire and Rubber Company in the United States, made the plain statement that these benefits represented an average cost of $739 for each employee or 35.6 cents an hour over regular pay. These figures are for American employees but are also true with minor differences for the Canadian worker.

It might give a fairer picture if the workers, both those who enjoy such so-called fringe benefits and those who don't, and the public as well, were made to realize that such benefits are an actual part of wages and should be so stated in any mention of wages received. To do otherwise means that certain favored groups are getting more than the public and other workers might feel just and reasonable if they realized what the wages actually were.

WORK is not usually considered highly desirable these days. Without stirring up the troubled waters of curriculum planning, it might not be out of place to point out that it is essential that school pupils learn something about work by doing it—suggests the Red Deer (Alta.) Advocate.

Trials of An Editor

A DEAR old lady among our county readers will not mind this story, told to illustrate the hazards of editing a newspaper.

It seems our reader, an avid TV fan and follower of our entertainment page, was attracted by a CBC program on a historical theme, to the extent that she invited her friends on the specified evening at the specified hour, to share her enjoyment of the television. The feature, however, did not appear, despite The Watchman's announcement.

The lady subsequently telephoned The Watchman (Long Distance) asking us for information and telling us the sorry circumstances. . . While collecting our wits and turning up our references, the editor had visions of the lady's living room in semi-darkness — an expectant audience awaiting the drama of one of Canada's earlier political figures in an era entwined with the nation's history. It was a fevered moment . . and for a few moments in our fevered imagination, we too may have dramatized that situation! Had we misled our readers? Had we caused unnecessary embarrassment to the lady and her guests in the hushed atmosphere of that living room? . . .

It was only an incident, one of the many which cause occupational misgivings from time to time, and to which no editor becomes really toughened to the point of immunity. Responsibility to the public is a weighty thing.

We found those references of the week before — the official program schedule of the CBC. And no, we had not erred; our information was correct, but it had been mis-read. The program was, as stated, a feature on the radio network — not on television at all!

Perversion of History

ONCE AGAIN the history books used in Communist countries are being revised and re-edited. It may be noted, this is not the first time the Soviet leaders have decided to rewrite the events of the past to provide support for current policy. In a series of startling addresses at the 20th Party Congress in Moscow it was made clear that Stalin is to be toppled from his throne as a major successor to Lenin. There will be a reassessment of the purged trials of the 1930s and the reputations of many of those sent to the firing squads by Stalin will be rehabilitated.

How the citizens of Russia and the satellite countries can accept the abrupt about-face of the present leaders of Communism is difficult to understand. When Stalin was alive these leaders were boot-licking sycophants who could scarcely make a public utterance without paying tribute to Stalin "the glorious leader" in almost every sentence. In every picture that appeared in the public press behind the Iron Curtain there was to be found, prominently displayed, a huge picture of Stalin. Within three weeks of Stalin's death, three years ago, his name virtually disappeared from the Russian press. Stalin's version of history prepared in 1938 as the "Short Course History of the Communist Party" is now to be supplanted. The angels of that history will now become the devils, and vice versa.

If there is one thing more than any other which will prove to be the downfall of Communism it will surely be this perversion of history. Even the Russian peasant and factory worker must feel some uncertainty when unanimous praise becomes unanimous vilification.

Rewriting history is like painting over a structural flaw. The paint conceals but does not repair the defect. Sooner or later the damage will be revealed.

Bigger Towns, Bigger Debt

FOR THE CIVIC fathers of Canada's cities and towns, the boom of the 'fifties may be a matter of great pride, but it's also creating headaches in the form of a much greater debt load, reports The Financial Post.

New schools for the bumper crop of post-war children, new roads and services for the new suburbs are among the factors which have made debt rise twice as fast as revenue.

In 1952 municipal debt totalled $1,611.9 millions. By the end of 1955 this burden of debt outstanding reached $2,411.8 millions, 50% higher than three years earlier.

Current revenues, meanwhile, amounted to $764.4 millions in 1952; at the end of 1955 total municipal income reached $956.5 millions, or 25% more than in 1952.

Over 90% of the municipalities' indebtedness is funded debt (debentures). Bank loans make up the rest. Schools, public utilities and "other" expenditures each account for 25% to 32% of all funded debt while road building debt makes up the remaining 17% of the total.

WE DON'T KNOW where the custom started but the practice of playing "The Queen" as a means of stopping a disturbance at an athletic contest has come into fairly general use. We doubt that the practice has much to commend it; it detracts from the respect due our national anthem and subjects it to ridicule.

"THE HUMAN TOUCH"

Recently, I have been submitting applications to various industrial concerns in the fond hope that I might land a worthwhile job. My present occupation offers little hope of advancement and the road to executive status seems, from this vantage point, to be paved with a thousand pitfalls. Not least of these is the chance that I may be carried away to the nuthouse at any minute if I continue to work with and among the people who infest this field of endeavor. The mere fact that my incarceration in a mental home might be a good idea is quite beside the point. The fact is that I'd much rather retain my sanity. For that reason, therefore, I am looking for other employment.

A few of the applications I have submitted have resulted in personal interviews. None, I regret to say, has yet resulted in a new job. However, I share with Dickens' Macawber the happy philosophy that, in time, something will turn up. Hence, I'm not unduly worried.

From the personal interviews I have had with prospective employers of late, I have gained no end of education. If ever I am called upon to interview an applicant in future, the experience I have gained these past few months will stand me in excellent stead. There are, you see, personal interviews and there are personal interviews.

The worst type of interview that any applicant can suffer is that conducted by the personnel manager of an establishment that is steeped in antiquity and tradition. Right off the bat, the personnel man feels it is his bounden duty to assume a patronizing air.

"Oh yes," he says without looking up from his desk, "you're here about the job. Sit down. Be with you in a minute."

He then proceeds to dictate a score of letters into his soundscriber, files his nails, phones his wife, has an intercom talk with J.B. — whoever he is — and smokes a half dozen cigarettes without pushing the box in the direction of the waiting one. When at long last he gets around to the interview, he conveys the impression that the applicant has been most inconsiderate to upset him when he's so terribly busy.

This type of command performance lasts about ten minutes, when his nibs finally gets around to it, which is just about nine-and-a-half minutes too long. He never comes out and says it but you can tell from his voice that he doesn't like your ancestry, you, your apparent ability, or the materials you have brought as a presentation folder. He ends the session as coldly as it began.

"Don't call us," he says, "we'll call you."

And in the pure air on the street you thank your lucky stars that his closing quote means you haven't the hope of a snowball in hades.

The alternative to this type of interview is, as might be expected, quite the reverse. The session begins on time and the personnel manager comes to the reception room to greet you. He allows you to share his coat rack and proffers you hosts of cigarettes before bidding you to sit in the choicest arm chair.

His first act is to ask his secretary to see that he isn't disturbed. His second is to sit back and ask you to start at the beginning. His last act is to set a time when you can see the top brass, before helping you into your coat and giving you your presentation folder. His cheery goodbye from the reception-room door is genuine and you know he will be happy to see you when you come back next day to see the top man.

I've had two interviews of the latter type and more than I can stomach of the former. The results of one of the human sessions are still unknown, but I expect to hear something soon.

The personnel manager of the second human outfit telephoned me to say that, unfortunately, they had decided to take another fellow with additional qualifications. He was sorry.

He was sorry; I was heartbroken. Not because I had been outclassed and lost the job, mind you, but because I had missed a rare opportunity to work in an organization where human relations are of prime importance.

In firms like that you'll search a long time to find a discontented employee.

OF MANY THINGS

By Ambrose Hills

Kindness

I have been reading about the lives of the saints, and I notice one quality common to them all, and source of their greatest happiness. Without exception, they were kindly. An infinite tenderness seemed to have opened their hearts to all — even to their enemies. In the midst of personal difficulties, they were still filled with love for others.

Reading these things, I began to realize that I know a few saintly people after all. At least they have this quality of kindness in abundance, and that is a sure sign of saintliness. This has come as a great surprise to me, because the men and women I refer to have a trace of what is often referred to as "diviltry" in them; but they were kindly folk, often over-generous, the kind that would give you their shirt, if you were in real need.

I wonder if the saints would have gotten such inner peace from their kindliness, if it had been forced on them as a civic duty. I doubt it. I think they'd have felt the way the free-lance writer, Don Herold felt when he wrote: "I'd like to have enough money to give some of it away to the right people and causes — of my own choosing. I'm tired of having politicians being so thoughtful and generous with my dough."

Kindliness is a human passion of great worth, according to William James, the dean of psychology. He says: "Given a certain amount of love, generosity, magnanimity, the result is always the same. Cowardly obstructions, which in tame persons and dull moods are sovereign impediments to action, sink away at once. Our conventionality, our shyness, laziness and stinginess, our demands for precedent and permission, for guarantee and surety, our small suspicions, timidities, despairs, where are they now? Severed like cobwebs, broken like bubbles in the sun! The flood we are borne on rolls them so lightly under that their very contact is unfelt. Set free of them, we float and soar and sing. This auroral openness and uplift gives to all creative ideal levels a bright and caroling quality, which is nowhere more marked than where the controlling emotion is religious."

Yes, kindliness is a passion with delightful fruits, particularly when it has a religious connotation. Surely, it is too precious a passion to be relinquished to politicians. Churchmen, I think, make a mistake — a grave mistake, indeed — when they ask governments to administer kindliness.

Urges Closer Links Between East, West

No stranger to these parts, he has been here on six previous occasions to address service clubs on the progress of the western provinces.

He served as judge of horse and cattle shows on his earlier visits to the Maritimes and feels that the westerner knows more about eastern Canada than the easterner knows about the west.

His talks here dealt with the early pioneer days, of how the fur trade gave way to wheat and cattle, and exploitation of great petroleum and mining developments, including uranium.

Those are the things he feels easterners should know about the west if they are to understand each other better.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

People who feel nostalgic for the mournful wail of the steam locomotive can take heart.

At present, steam appears to be losing the fight for survival. That raw upstart the diesel, with the tin-box shape and the honk of a half-witted cow, has already shunted the steam locomotive near to oblivion.

However, there is hope that steam will come back stronger than ever.

I watched an old movie which contained a train sequence, and there was that far-away cry of the steam whistle. "Canada is poorer without that sound," I said. And then I was struck by a wonderful thought: When the scientists harness atomic power on the railway, we might see and hear the steam locomotive again.

Grasping at this hope, I asked Dr. G. M. Shrum, head of the department of physics at the University of British Columbia. They do some nuclear research at U.B.C., and of course Dr. Shrum is well-informed about these matters. He replied as follows:

"Unfortunately, atomic energy is not so easily used in small units. However, I expect that in a few years, some of the shielding problems will be overcome and we will be thinking of locomotives powered by atomic energy.

"Certainly if it can be used in a submarine one would think that the difficulties would not be too great for a steam locomotive.

"According to present thinking, atomic power is converted into mechanical power through the medium of steam. I know of no other method of conversion unless somebody finds a way of using hot gases.

"I would say that if atomic energy is used for locomotives it should be possible to preserve the steam whistle."

Thank you, Dr. Shrum. Maybe science will also give us back the chuff-chuff, puff-puff noise that reminds us of childhood journeys; and the white fountain of steam spilling across the sky.

National Research Council, get busy! Already I can hear the Nuclear Fission Limited, a-blowin' round the bend.

BLOOD AND MEAT SPOTS — YEAR-ROUND PROBLEM

More blood and meat spots show up as pullets mature; until they are about one year old. The problem seems to decrease during the second and third laying year. It has been observed that birds in confinement produce eggs with more blood and meat spots than those on grass or clover range... The largest percentage of spots are found in the yolks. Inheritance plays an important part in the problem. Through breeding, it is possible to reduce the number, but it seems impossible to entirely eliminate them.

Heavy birds lay more eggs with noticeable meat spots than Leghorns. The reason is that the meat spots in brown eggs are brown, and show up, while the white eggs have white meat spots.

It is also true that blood spots can be detected more readily in white eggs, therefore helping the breeder eliminate this undesirable trait from his strain.

An estimated 4% of all eggs laid contain blood spots. A high percentage also contain meat spots, many of them so small they cannot be detected by the candler. Until more is known about these problems, producers should be very careful to candle their eggs thoroughly. They should follow the Purina Plan for highest egg production.

AMONG THE CHURCHES

Gospel Film April 6 at St. Andrews Presbyterian

The sound film "Which Will Ye Have?", produced by J. Arthur Rank, England, will be shown in the Presbyterian Church at St. Andrews East on Friday, April 6, at 8.30 p.m.

This is one of the best religious films. It treats the Gospel story with reverence and shows, from the life of Barabbas, the power of the Gospel and the true nature of Christ's atoning work.

Everyone is welcome to attend. An offering will be received.

Easter Services at Morin Heights United

(Our District Correspondent)

Morin Heights — The Good Friday service held in Morin Heights United Church was conducted by the Rev. Robert Blair, B.A., B.D. This service was well attended and Holy Communion was observed. The anthem, "The Man on the Cross", was rendered by the choir.

The Easter Sunday service was also conducted by the pastor, the Rev. Mr. Blair. The church was crowded, and a number listened to the service in the church hall over the loudspeaker system. The chancel was adorned with beautiful flowers, placed there by members of the congregation in memory of "Loved Ones".

The Rev. Mr. Blair took for his subject "The Touch of the Master's Hand". The choir rendered the anthems, "The Easter Song" and "Joyous Easter Morning".

Anglican Vesper Service With Juvenile Choir

The Rev. C. R. Lang conducted an interesting service Sunday evening at St. Simeon's Church, when the children's choir, under direction of Mr. Walter Payne, alternated in song passages with the reading of scriptural narrative on the Easter theme. With the showing of a film on Resurrection scenes, this was virtually a children's service, most impressive to the younger element by the fact of their participation. A good attendance of parents and adults joined in the service.

Rev. Arnold Mathews To Winnipeg Pastorate

The Rev. Arnold A. Mathews, formerly of Lachute and Montreal, who has been minister of George Street United in Peterborough, Ont., since 1950, is leaving to take up a new charge in Winnipeg. He will be inducted as minister of Winnipeg's St. Stephen's-Broadway Church on April 20.

The son of a former Methodist minister here in Lachute, Arnold Mathews attended the local Academy, later graduating in Arts and Theology from McGill University. He has also lived in Montreal, Ormstown and Drummondville.

Easter Theme in Worship and Praise At Lachute United

The spirit of Easter Day was very manifest in the Lachute United Church, when hearty singing, Easter hymns and anthems, and appropriate messages were special features of the services. The crowded congregation overflowed into the gallery, and many worshippers had to be accommodated on chairs downstairs.

Mr. Wayne Riddell presided at the organ, and the choir, under the direction of Mr. E. Callicott, rendered the anthems "Why Seek Ye the Living Among the Dead?" (S. Cooke) and "Thanks Be to God" (William Smallwood). Mrs. Angus Taylor was the soloist.

On Sunday evening of this week, the Rev. Wilson Bridge, minister of the church, is to continue his sermon-talks on modern religious cults and movements. Previous talks on Jehovah's Witnesses, and Spiritualism, were well-received by appreciative audiences. This week he will deal with Christian Science.

Educational Film To Be Shown Here by Jehovah's Witnesses

Mr. T. R. Jones of Toronto, District Representative of Jehovah's Witnesses and the Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society, will be showing the popular educational film "The New World Society in Action" at McArthur's Hall, 360 Main Street, Lachute, April 11, at 7.30 p.m. This is a prelude to the Semi-Annual Assembly of the Quebec Circuit Q-1 to convene at the Caiserman Hall, 5101 Esplanade Avenue, Montreal, on April 13-15.

Mr. Jones has just recently returned from a tour of Europe, where he attended six different conventions of Jehovah's Witnesses, in London, Paris, Rome, Nurenberg, Stockholm, Berlin. These were six of a series of 13 conventions of which six were held in North America and had a total of 396,000 in attendance. Mr. Jones was recently a principal organizer of one of these conventions in Vancouver, B.C., which was widely publicized throughout Western Canada as one of the largest religious gatherings in recent years — 21,877 attending that convention at Empire Stadium.

The purpose of Mr. Jones' visit and the showing of the film in Lachute is to unfold the work done by the missionaries in various parts of the world and to show the activities of Jehovah's Witnesses conducted in 160 different countries.

Ministerial Association

The Argenteuil Protestant Ministerial Association will convene in the Lachute United Church hall on April 9 at 10 a.m. The president, the Rev. J. R. Watson, will lead the devotional period.

Who Was This?

By A.A.M.

The Bible is rich in stories, and the purpose of this series is to encourage readers to look up for themselves the Bible versions of these incidents. If there are children in the family it is suggested that the story, and the Bible verses on which it is based, be read aloud.

What was the name of the Israelite, a member who was described as "more honorable than his brethren"? This man was one of the many members of the tribe of Judah, a descendent of Caleb, son of Hur.

His mother when he was born said of his name, "I call you this because with sorrow I bore you."

This man prayed thus to God, "Oh, bless me indeed, enlarge the borders of my land. May Thine hand be with me, and keep me from evil, that it may not grieve me!" God granted him these requests.

You will find this man's name and story in 1 Chronicles, Chapter 4, Verses 9 and 10.

County Couple Married Saturday in United Church

Miller - Gray

Pink and white gladioli decorated the Lachute United Church for the wedding of Miss Frances Maude Gray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Gray, of Gray Valley, Que., and Mr. Edward Rosario Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rosario Miller, of Barkmere, Que. The Rev. Wilson Bridge officiated at the ceremony, solemnized last Saturday at 3 p.m.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white gown of rayon and nylon lace. Her long sleeves ended in points over the hands, and her full-length veil was held in place by a nylon tulle tiara with dainty iridescent sequin trim. She carried a bouquet of white Easter lilies.

The bridesmaid, Miss Viola Miller, wore a blue cocktail-length dress of nylon net and lace. She also carried Easter lilies.

The best man was Mr. Roland Gray, and the ushers were Messrs. Gordon Miller, Reginald Sherratt, David Carqell and Harold Gordon.

Mrs. Gray, mother of the bride, wore a green suit with mink fur-piece and yellow accessories. Her corsage was of yellow rose buds.

Mrs. Miller, mother of the groom wore a charcoal grey suit with pink accessories, and a corsage of pink roses.

Following the ceremony the wedding party attended a supper at Barkmere, Que., given by the groom's parents, and in the evening a reception was held in the Arundel School auditorium.

Following the reception the bridal couple left for a motor trip. For travelling the bride chose a navy blue suit, grey fur jacket and pink accessories.

Mr. and Mrs. Miller will reside in Arundel, Que.

Laurentian Zone Ski Committee Reviews Season

Morin Heights — The Laurentian Zone Ski Committee news-letter to members indicates a highly successful season, despite the necessity of cancelling several races at the beginning of the winter due to adverse weather. Time and favorable conditions were found for these races later in the season.

The letter points out that the 1955-56 skiing season will stand out in everyone's minds as the year Lucille Wheeler won Canada's first Olympic medal in skiing. Miss Wheeler and Carlyn Kruger, who both competed in the Winter Olympics at Cortina, are members of the Laurentian Zone.

The Ladies' International races saw the eight Canadian girls selected unable to stand up to the stiff American competition, Canada's top racers being at the Olympics. In an effort to overcome this superiority, two factors were strongly emphasized in the season's review — namely, an effort should be made to initiate an organized training program, as well as to find someone who would be willing to coach and assist the girls throughout the ski season; and secondly, entry in a greater number of International meets.

The committee of the local governing body of the C.A.S.A. is responsible for the promotion of all phases of skiing, in spite of the fact that Zone Committee members are from clubs who are mainly interested in Downhill and Slalom. It is pointed out that the Olympics Committee consider Jumping and Cross-Country as well, and the letter states that perhaps a little more realistic approach to this problem in the past would have given the local competitors the opportunity of learning more about skiing than is attained from Downhill and Slalom alone.

The Zone finances show a slight deficit which, it is hoped, will be cleared up by the member clubs at the end of the season.

We are happy to report that the three local Ski Clubs have amalgamated, forming one group, the Viking Ski Club of Morin Heights — the Morin Heights Ski Club and the Alpino Ski Club having joined with the Viking.

Application has been made by the Viking Club for the Canadian Championship jumping and cross-country competition to be held here here in 1957. Mr. B. Kvemdbo, president of the club, said that Jacque Charland of Three Rivers, who jumped at Cortina in the 1956 Olympics was very pleased with the hill and place, and felt sure there were good hopes of the Canadian Championships being held here next year. The Club also plan to make more improvements on the hill for next year.

High School Wins Ottawa Valley Hockey Trophy

Hockey

The hockey season for Lachute High School ended March 24 at the Brownsburg Arena with Lachute High playing an exhibition game. The final score was 6-0 in favor of Lachute. Scoring for Lachute were Mervin O'Brien and Duncan MacTavish with 2 goals each. The final tallies were scored by Bob Campbell and Kenneth Underhill.

An additional game may be played against the "Grads", but this will take place during the Easter vacation.

O.V.S.A.A. Champions

For the second year in succesion the Senior hockey team won the O.V.S.A.A. league title, defeating a strong Macdonald High aggregation in a two-game total-goal series. At Brownsburg Lachute High won 5-4, with the deciding game played in Rigaud on March 15. The final game was really a battle, but Lachute won by a score of 4-2, thus winning the round 9-6. The game was very close and tight all the way through, the score being tied with only approximately two minutes to play. Then, Duncan MacTavish scored the winner, with Mervin O'Brien adding an insurance marker seconds later. Scorers for Lachute were O'Brien and MacTavish with 2 goals each.

This marked the conclusion of a fairly successful season, with Lachute losing only one game — to Macdonald, early in the season. This final game was really a team effort.

From Carl Rodger in goals, David Bates, Brent Laurin, and Jacques Labreche on defence, to the forward lines, all played strong games. Throughout the season, O'Brien, MacTavish, and Campbell were the scoring punch, with Wayne Berry, Terry Anderson and Kenneth Underhill making up a checking line. All players received crests, and the trophy will arrive later. The object now will be to win the award next year, which will then make three years in succession. Many of this year's team will graduate, and so it will be left to a great extent, to the junior players coming up.

Social

Starting at 9 p.m. on Friday, April 13, and following through till 12, the High School auditorium will be the scene of a dance. As this will probably be the last of the current session, it is hoped that many will be present. (Adm. 30c.)

Leonard Named To Canadian Intern'l Golf Team

Stan Leonard was named Tuesday as a member of the seven-man Canadian team for the International PGA matches with the United States at Fort Worth, Texas, on May 7 and 8.

S. Scott Teel, president of the Colonial Country Club, has extended invitations for the members of the Canadian team to participate in the Colonial National Invitation on May 3-6.

This is the fifth annual International PGA team match between the United States and Canada. The United States has won the previous four matches. Last year the tournament was played for the first time in the United States at La Jolla, California. In 1952 and 1953 play was at Montreal and in 1954 at Ontario.

Leonard finished seventh in the $12,500 Azalea Open, with a score of 279 which brought him $640. Starting the third round of the tournament, the local club professional was tied for second position, just one stroke behind Gene Littler who did not end up in the big money.

The first section is now completed with two winners, W. H. Gilbert of Royal Montreal, 87.5%, and Art Wilson of Vankleek Hill, 84.6%.

Excellent refreshments are being served by the ladies.

Torch Symbol of Olympic Games

By Milt MacPhail,

Tin Pan Alley occasionally grinds out a tune about "Carrying the Torch." But it never came close to what's planned for next November.

It will start early in the month, in ancient Greece. A torch — the Olympic torch — will be lighted by the sun's rays as caught in a magnifying glass.

The torch will be carried from Greece to Australia. The most ancient form of transportation — Shanks' mare — will be used; and so will the most modern, the jet plane.

The first lap of the long journey will be the 217 miles to the airport at Athens. Greek relay runners will take care of that. Before it goes on the plane at Athens, the torch will be relighted in a miner's lamp. It will then travel 8,545 miles by air from Athens to Darwin, via Cairo, Karachi, Calcutta, Bankok and Singapore.

At Darwin in Northern Australia each athlete will run about one mile. That's going to take a lot of runners.

Finally, at 4.32 p.m. Melbourne time on November 2 a runner will trot into the big Olympic stadium. He will transfer the flame to a cauldron and the Olympic games will be opened officially.

SCOOT RACING FEATURES WINTER CARNIVAL

—Central Press Canadian

Scoot racing was a feature of the winter carnival of Penetanguishene, Ont., held on March 3. The craft, a sled powered by an airplane motor in the rear, raches speeds of 120 mph on ice and snow and they gave spectators a thrill as they bounced and turned on the race course. Though Katherine and Elaine Mundy are posing in a scoot, it is no sport for girls. They could ski-jor behind one, though, and that's exciting enough for anyone.

Glamorous Soprano For Community Concert, Appearing April 18

The concluding program of Community Concerts this season will feature the glamorous young American soprano, Beverly Bower, at the Lachute High School on Wednesday, April 18.

Blonde and beautiful, Beverly Bower is the rising young soprano star of the concert and opera world.

Since she adorns the stage visually as well as vocally, the young soprano has been much in demand for both opera and concert appearances ever since her first public performances a few seasons ago in Philadelphia. A regular star of the Philadelphia Civic Opera Company, she has also made guest appearances with the various opera companies. Her operatic roles have included such glamorous heroines as Rosalinda in "Die Fledermaus", Susanna in "The Marriage of Figaro", Marguerite in "Faust" and Pamina in "The Magic Flute". She has also performed in Menotti's "The Telephone", Pergolesi's "La Serva Padrona" and in the premiere of a new short American opera by Robert Elmore, "It Began at Breakfast".

Television was quick to train its cameras on this photogenic young artist, who had already established herself as a favorite on radio; Beverly Bower has filled long-term engagements for different TV network outlets.

Miss Bower has also been soloist with symphony orchestras and in oratorio with leading choral societies such as the Bach Festival Society and the Mendelssohn Club of Philadelphia. She has appeared extensively in recital throughout the East.

A protege of the famous Metropolitan Opera star, Helen Jepson, Miss Bower has been training her naturally beautiful voice almost since she was old enough to talk. After early private studies in Olean, N.Y., where she was born, the soprano continued with outstanding teachers in Philadelphia, where she moved when she was sixteen. She has also been a summer scholarship pupil at Chautauqua. Her singing awards include finalist in Voice of Tomorrow Contest and winner of the Pennsylvania Federation of Music Clubs Auditions.

MOVIE TAX CUT

There is some merit in the Maritime movie houses asking discontinuance of the amusement tax, because other distractions like TV are cutting down their income so drastically. A theatre is an important business to any community; many times its facilities are thrown open to the public for community gatherings.

Radio for Music Lovers

Sir Ernest MacMillan To Conduct Oratorio, Radio Presentation

A work that has been called the crowning achievement of a man who ranks among the highest as a composer of choral works will be heard on CBC Wednesday Night of next week. The oratorio "Elijah", by Felix Mendelssohn - Bartholdy, is of such stature that it has never been neglected, though Mendelssohn was quite forgotten for some time after his death. "Elijah" will be presented from Winnipeg, from 8.30 - 10 p.m.

The hour before the performance of "Elijah" will be occupied by a documentary on the life and reputation of the composer. The program will originate in Vancouver, with a script by Mary McAlpine and production by Peter Garvie, and will be based on original documents — letters, reminiscences, conversations and music criticisms.

Also included will be a talk by the British baritone Dalton Baker (who leads Vancouver's Eventide choir, Thursday nights on CBC Trans-Canada). Baker studied the role of Elijah with a musician who had worked closely with Mendelssohn on the first performance of the oratorio at the Birmingham Festival in England in 1946; and when Elijah was presented there in 1909 to mark the centenary of Mendolssohn's birth Baker was chosen to sing the title role.

The documentary will begin with an explanation of the remarkable changes in Mendelssohn's reputation. The prince consort, Albert, spoke of him as a "second Elijah", critics spoke of the "holiness of tone" of his music as its chief virtue, and when he died in 1847 Victorian England mourned him as it mourned departed royalty. By the end of the century, however, with England's own musical composition reviving, Mendelssohn's reputation came under severe criticism. Such men as Bernard Shaw sharply attacked the "piety" which the Victorians had rejoiced to find in Mendelssohn's music. Others characterized his style as banal, his harmonies as those of the mouth organ.

In recent decades the balance has been restored, so justly that at the centenary of his death in 1947 his place in musical history seemed to have been firmly established. It is significant that it is the lighter and more elegant aspects of his music that are now most highly esteemed — aspects that were overlooked by the Victorians who set "Elijah" beside "Messiah" and revered it for reasons that were more moral than musical.

Mendelssohn's life is at the opposite pole to the familiar case-history of the romantic composer. He was born into a famous and wealthy family (his father Abraham was a successful banker and his grandfather Moses, son of Mendel, was the famous German philosopher and scholar of the 18th century), and he never knew poverty or acute lack of recognition of his talent. His parents both concerned themselves actively in their children's education, and all the children had musical talent. Some curious questions raised by a study of his life will be considered: his relations with his family, and particularly with his sister Fanny, an accomplished pianist and composer whose works were published under her brother's name; his work on behalf of the then almost forgotten Johann Sebastian Bach, his early death (at 38), and the comparatively slight development of his music from the brilliant works he wrote in his 'teens and early twenties.

Top Singing Stars

THE SEIGNIORY CLUB AS IT IS TODAY

Part V : Back to Beginnings of A Famed Resort

By Ethel Kettyle

With some reluctance, we retrace our steps to the Log Chateau of the Seigniory Club. The old Manor House has left an impression not easily forgotten. However, approaching the Chateau we feel that it would be interesting to learn something of its origin; so let us go back to the year 1930 and the construction of this unusual hostelry, which aroused some curiosity and made news for reporters far and near. To those who lived in the Province of Quebec and nearby, it was exciting to know that the largest resort in the province to that date was to be situated here on the north shore of the Ottawa River, between Ottawa and Montreal. More astonishing was the speed with which the buildings were constructed, and crowds of people were attracted by curiosity over this new enterprise.

Evacuation for the Log Chateau had begun March 15th, 1930, and skeleton drawings only were available at the beginning. The first log was set on April 7th of the same year, and all the log construction was completed by the following June 7th. All logs (which were western red cedar) had first been placed on rows of skids, to keep them clean and for orderly assembly-line cutting, grooving, etc., and loggers were recruited from lumber camps all over the country. There were hundreds of these loggers, who were mostly French Canadians, but there were also many Scandinavian craftsmen who had learned their trade in the old country.

Ten thousand western red cedar logs were used on the first three buildings — which, if placed end to end, would reach from Montebello to Ottawa. The quantity of materials used in the building was also staggering to the imagination; there were 55 miles of plumbing and heating pipes, 843 toilet fixtures, 700 radiators, 7,600 sprinkler-heads installed, and miles and miles of water pipe, 40 miles of conduit and electric wiring, as well as 2,100 special hand-wrought fixtures. There were thousands of yards of building-board, 1,400 doors, 18,000 square feet of tile dado, and numerous other incidentals.

The reader will appreciate the fact that this was all for the original building in the year of 1930, and no doubt, since then, much more material has been used.

The men worked at high tempo, and whenever extra shifts were needed they were available. When daylight failed, thousands of electric lights were used to illuminate every corner. The lights, the buildings and the moving figures at night gave the impression of some huge, moving drama. The construction proceeded rapidly; three huge buildings contained altogether at that date 4,000,000 cubic feet of space — and was finally completed in a period of four months, July 1st, 1930. . .

More than a quarter century has passed . . . and now a comfortable scene awaits as we return to the hospitality of the huge Chateau; a bellboy appears in the guest room with hot refreshments, which taste delicious after a long walk.

It has been a most enjoyable day, thanks to the Editor of "The Seigneur." New sights and old traditions have blended like a chapter in a Fairy Tale Book, nevertheless true. And now a taxi takes us back to the log railway station, and home, while we dwell pensively on the grandeurs of our great Dominion.

Tips on Touring

By Carol Lane
Women's Travel Authority

"Don't litter the highways with cleansing tissues, paper and other trash. Carry a paper bag for such things and dispose of the bag when you stop."

"An oversize, deep ash tray attached to the dashboard by suction cup is excellent for heavy smokers."

"If you travel with youngsters, and eat in restaurants, a good trick is for one parent to enter the eat-place and order for the whole family. Then, when the table is set, the youngsters come in and eat quickly without too much muss, fuss and bother."

"Never pack soiled clothes with clean ones. Carry a cardboard box or old suitcase in the trunk compartment for laundry."

"Carry a few envelopes of instant coffee or hot chocolate for brewing with hot water the first thing on arising. It puts everybody in good mood for the day's travelling."

"An old army or navy blanket, carried in the trunk compartment, is excellent for impromptu picnics and other stops along the way."

Written Specially for The Lachute Watchman

By Oli Daum, Canadian Press Staff Writer

There's nothing new under spring's sun when it comes to hats, girls. What designers have given us this season is just a modern version of what was all the rage before the First World War.

But hold on before you pull last year's hatbox off the shelf. With the new "more hat" look we have for the first time in years, the chance to wear the flower-laden, floppy brims and yards of demurely-swathed organza from which memories and legends are woven.

When it first appeared in European showings last fall, when we were wearing small tailored dots perched on short hair-dos, the "new look" seemed unwearable — and what new fashion doesn't? But a closer look at the elegant ribbons and deep-crowned broad brim, recalled the compliments grandmother said she reaped from grandfather the day she wore her elaborate Merry Widow, laden with misty tulle and fragrant roses.

But in grandmother's day large hats were heavy and hot. If she was uncomfortable she had to console herself with the thought that her hat was a gorgeous creation and under its shadows her face was alluring and mysterious.

This season's hats are supposed to give the same effect, but they are designed from light and airy materials. Sometimes they're nothing but veiling swirled in and out of wire frames. You should look for all the world like a full-petalled rose above a slender stem, say the designers.

One male designer says men, although they hesitate to admit it prefer large hats.

"They look more feminine and almost all women can wear them," he said. "Most women prefer them too because they think they are getting more for their money."

Dream Comes True

Somewhere on the Pacific ocean, sailing for Japan is a young British Columbia miss who is happy beyond words. Canadian-born Aiko Hori, a University of British Columbia science graduate, set sail at the beginning of the month after she won a Japanese government post-graduate scholarship to study in the country for one year.

Before her departure Miss Hori said she was "happy beyond words to be chosen" for the scholarship. A former student of Kamloops high school, she said she's been yearning to see Japan since her childhood when her parents told her stories of Japan's beauty and traditions.

The scholarship was awarded to promote cultural exchange and international understanding.

Italian Idea

PIZZA

Long before France rose to great heights in the art of cooking, Italian cookery had reached a high degree of perfection. Predominant items in Italian cookery include pasta, cheese, tomatoes, veal, fish and pastry. It is little surprise, therefore, that today Italian cookery is influencing food habits in many countries of the world. Recently Canadians have heard a lot about the famous Italian dish, Pizza. Those who have visited Italy may have seen Pizza bakers working in front of their "pizzeria", tossing and whirling the dough into a round disk and garnishing it according to the customer's order. Here's how you can prepare this famous Italian dish in your own home with the skill of the famous Italian pizza bakers. This Pizza which consists of a yeast shell and a filling of melted cheese, tomato and herbs can be served plain or topped with plump coral shrimp, anchovies, sliced olives, frankfurters or whatever pleases your fancy and your family's taste. Served with a tossed green salad made with a sharp dressing, Pizza is company or family fare that's easy on the budget and deightful to eat.

Pizza

(Recipe makes four 8-inch pies)

½ Cup milk (scalded), ½ cup granulated sugar, 2½ teaspoons salt, 4½ tablespoons shortening, ½ cup lukewarm water, 1 teaspoon granulated sugar, 1 envelope active dry yeast, 3½ cups sifted all-purpose flour, 1 15-ounce can solid-pack peeled tomatoes (drained and chopped), 1 to 2 tablespoons canned tomato paste, 1 cups grated sharp Canadian processed cheddar cheese, 1 teaspoon garlic salt, ½ teaspoon pepper, ½ teaspoon oregano.

Combine scalded milk, ½ cup granulated sugar, salt and shortening in a large bowl, stirring well, and cool to lukewarm. Meanwhile in ½ cup lukewarm water thoroughly dissolve 1 teaspoon granulated sugar. Sprinkle yeast on top of water. Let stand 10 minutes. Then stir well. Add well-stirred yeast to lukewarm mixture. Mix well. Beat in half the sifted flour. Beat until smooth. Add remaining sifted flour and when dough is stiff enough to be easily handled turn onto a lightly floured board and knead until smooth and elastic, about 8 minutes. An additional ½ cup sifted all-purpose flour may be used in kneading. Place dough in a greased bowl and brush lightly with olive or salad oil. Cover with a clean towel and let rise in a warm place free from draft for about 1½ hours or until doubled in bulk.

To prepare pizza filling, combine drained and chopped canned tomatoes, tomato paste, grated cheese, garlic, salt, pepper and oregano and mix well. Punch down risen dough and pull sides into centre. Turn onto a lightly floured board and knead about 3 minutes. Divide dough into four equal portions and knead each portion into a ball. Cover with a clean towel and let stand 10 minutes. Meanwhile, grease four pie tins 8-inches in diameter. Preheat oven to 450°F. (hot).

Roll each ball of dough into a very thin circle to fit inside greased pie tins. Trim excess dough from around edges. If desired, add a fancy edging by cutting ½ inch strips of dough with a pastry wheel, and cutting through the strips about every ½ inch. Moisten edge and top with extra strip. Brush dough with olive or salad oil. Place ¼ of the cheese and tomato filling in each pie shell. Bake immediately in preheated oven, without further rising, for 20 minutes.

A prim little old lady was telling her friend about her awful shock upon finding two empty whiskey bottles in her garbage can. "You can imagine my ambarrassment," she said. "I got them out fast because I didn't want the garbage man to think I drink."

"What did you do with them?" asked her friend.

"Well, the minister lives next door," was the reply, "so I put them in his garbage can; everybody knows he doesn't drink."

Let's Eat

BY

IDA BAILEY ALLEN

The chef stood by the test-kitchen table looking down at some link sausages, a can of sweet potatoes, a few mushrooms and four slices of bacon.

"Not very glamorous-looking," he remarked. "But adding two apples will help. Just because you're working with everyday foods is no reason why you can't use inventiveness and turn out a fine-looking meal."

He went to work. Here is the result.

Place on an oiled broiler together with one can sliced drained sweet potatoes and two cored apples sliced ¼" thick.

Brush both apples and sweet potatoes with melted margarine or oil. Dust the apples with sugar, the sweet potatoes with salt.

Slow-grill four inches from the heat until all foods are brown on one side; turn to brown the other.

Brush the turned apples and sweet potatoes with melted margarine or oil; dust respectively with sugar and salt.

Brush a few fresh or canned mushroom caps with melted margarine or oil; dust with salt and pepper.

Place on the broiler.

Place on the sweet potatoes.

Continue to slow-grill until all foods are browned and the bacon crisp.

Tomorrow's Dinner

Bake 25 minutes in a hot oven, 400 degrees F.

Serve hot with cream or the lemon-butter sauce already given in this column.

Drop Baking Powder Biscuit Batter: Use biscuit mix; or sift together two cups already-sifted enriched flour, four teaspoons baking powder, one teaspoon sugar and ½ teaspoon salt.

With a pastry blender chop in four tablespoons shortening until the mixture resembles cornflakes.

Mix in one cup milk. Use as directed.

Roast Veal for Springtime Dishes

by the Consumer Section, Canada Dept. of Agriculture Marketing Service

Fresh veal, delicate, tender and juicy, is plentiful in butcher shops now. Although some veal is usually available the year round, this is the season when it is best in quality and most economical to buy. It is not sold by grade in the shops but good quality veal has certain characteristics which the consumer should learn to recognize.

Similar cuts of veal may vary greatly in color and size for they come from animals of different maturity and weights. The meat from younger animals is greyish-pink and is less firm than the pinkish-brown meat of the more mature veal. The bones in young veal are more porous and more reddish in color than those from older animals.

All good quality veal is fine-textured and velvety. It has much less fat than other meats but what there is may be white, creamy-white or tinged with pink. Although it comes from young animals veal has a considerable amount of connective tissue and requires long, slow cooking to make it tender. It is a mild-flavored meat which combines well with many foods and seasonings and its delicate flavor is enhanced by cooking in well-seasoned sauces.

Most cuts of veal are tender enough to be roasted and the mild flavor of this spring favorite is a superb contrast to the season's sprightly tasting fruits and vegetables. Because veal contains little fat a roast will be juicier if it is covered with slices of bacon, salt pork or other fat strips during cooking. The fat should be removed during the last hour of roasting so that the meat will brown evenly.

Like other meats, veal shrinks less and has a better flavor when cooked at a low temperature. The roast should be placed on a rack in an uncovered pan with no water added and cooked in a moderately slow, 325°F. oven until it is well done. The meat is cooked when it is fork tender and greyish in color, with no trace of pink remaining, or, if a meat thermometer is used, the internal temperature of the roast is 180°F.

Fashions

The puritan look of this acetate print frock is distinguished by the deeply cut collar which closes in front with a bow and streamers. Because the fabric won't wrinkle, the bouffant skirt stays crisp and crease-resistant through countless wearings. An original design by René, it's fashioned from taffeta woven in Canada.

FOR PARENTS ONLY...

A Weekly Feature of Helpful Hints on Child Training

Young Performer

(Copyright) — By NANCY CLEAVER —

"Children should be seen and not heard." How often this used to be said and how seldom it is heard now! Perhaps there has been too great a swing in the other direction! Nevertheless, if a parent is not too insistent, a child can give real pleasure to others if he occasionally recites or plays a musical instrument or does something else to provide entertainment. If he is making a serious effort he should not be laughed at, or told that he is "cute"! What self respecting child wants to be "cute"? Anyone enjoys well earned applause . . . and praise which is deserved never hurt anyone.

The Music Festivals sponsored by Service Clubs in many centres have demonstrated this. These events have not only raised the cultural level in many communities. They have encouraged the appreciation of music, and also given boys and girls a fine opportunity to perform in public. The emphasis the adjudicators have placed on high standards for each individual on the program, rather than on the award of prizes, is all to the good.

A mother of a small child urges her child to perform for a visitor. But what happens to Junior if being showed off is a fairly regular routine when company calls? Mother often cannot understand why he is so stubborn in his refusal to "do his stuff." It never seems to occur to her that repeating a Nursery Rhyme to his father in the relaxed, happy atmosphere of his after supper time with his dad, is rather different from being interrupted in his play to recite to his aunt. It is even more trying for Mother to expect him to recite to a whole roomful of strange ladies whom she has invited to afternoon tea! All those unfamiliar eyes fixed on him may throw Junior into a panic.

The child who is asked by a parent to perform for an outsider either makes a failure or a success of it. If he is so unsure of himself that he refuses, or if, under pressure he makes a feeble attempt but cannot get through with his task, it destroys some of his self-confidence. Parents want their children to have this necessary faith in themselves, without always seeking the lime light.

It is very important that a child should learn to be at ease with other people both his own age and grown-ups too. With some children the chance to show some skill is a help to them if they do it willingly and well. But if there is a feeling of strain for the sensitive child who is forced to be the centre of attention this is not a good thing. Mothers should question carefully whether their own feeling of pride at their child being admired balances the child's emotions during this performing time.

There is the possibility that the child may enjoy showing off, and look eagerly forward to other opportunities to show how clever he is. He may want to recite every Nursery Rhyme he knows. Mother may relish this but the visitor is apt to be a bit bored before the recital is completed. Adult exchange of ideas is out of the question while a child is bidding for the centre of the stage. A child "actor" because he is a child, can be very sweet and charming. But what happens when the "show-off" child grows up? He is likely to continue to want to be "the whole show".

Many adolescents come to grief doing foolhardy athletic stunts in an effort to outshine their companions. Every year tragic accidents are reported in the press telling of some young person who took too great a risk in doing some intricate stunt. Taking a chance and trying to impress others is particularly hazardous on the part of a driver of a car. Parents can pomote traffic safety by discussing this problem with their adolescent children.

Special Classes Help in Schools

Edmonton (CP) — A child is considered educable if he can be taught to support himself by the time he leaves school at 15 or 16, says Deputy Superintendent T. D. Baker of the Edmonton public school board.

Mr. Baker said that in schools under the board's jurisdiction all children are taken as far as possible in academic work despite their personal handicaps.

Children with poor hearing are placed in classes where each can have earphones and the teacher speaks into microphones scattered around the room.

If the hearing of the child is not poor enough to warrant such aid, he may be put into a "lip reading" class where he can supplement his hearing by watching the lips and expressions of those speaking to him.

Special classes are also provided for those whose sight is too poor to be corrected by glasses. The children are first taught touch-system typing even if they are only six years old, so they do not have to use their eyes on writing assignments.

Books with raised type that cost $14 to $18 each are also provided and the rooms used are equipped with about twice as much light as ordinary classrooms, without glare.

Mr. Baker said the board prefers to have not more than 15 students in a class for slow learners, nor more than 12 in a special sight or hearing class.

PLAQUE IS MEMORIAL TO MISSION HELPERS

London, Ont. (CP) Engraved on a plaque unveiled recently at Cronyn Memorial Church here are the names of three London women who initiated the formation on a country-wide basis of the woman's auxiliary to the Missionary Society of the Anglican Church of Canada.

Mrs. Harrison Tilley, Mrs. James Banning Richardson and Mrs. Michael Boomer sponsored in 1886 the resolution that women's auxiliaries to the Church of England in Canada should unite.

The three began women's missionary work at Cronyn Memorial Church in 1874.

Rome's first finishing school for young ladies has been started by a Canadian, Miss Louise Fleury D'Eschambault, stepdaughter of W. Ft. A. Turgeon, Canadian ambassador to Portugal. Miss D'Eschambault originally intended to set up her school in Paris, but fell in love with the Eternal City during a visit. Two of her pupils, Susie Patterson from Australia, seen at right, and Princess Etty Zu Hohenlohe Bartenstein from Germany, at left, are seen being taught the finer points of table-setting by teacher in the Madri Pie de Ovada convent, located in the shadow of St. Peter's dome.

INOCULATIONS CHECK SPREAD OF RABIES

—Central Press Canadian

We know how you feel, sport, but it's good for you. With the threat of an epidemic of rabies in Southern Ontario, thousands of dogs have been inoculated, still thousands more will receive injections. Though several dogs have been found to have rabies, which spread from Northern Ontario, they have been infected by bites of racoons or foxes and not of other dogs. Authorities are satisfied that the threatened epidemic will not materialize.

FOOD PLAN SALES

Canada's oldest FOOD PLAN needs additional (bilingual) salesmen . . . We have a good, sound story to tell, and the products to back it up.

We alone in this field OWN our plant, operate only freezer truck delivery, carry nothing but Red and Blue Western Steer Beef, Fancy Quality Pictsweet Fruits and Vegetables (guaranteed by Good Housekeeping), a full line of Admiral, Frigidaire and Quickfrez freezers with financing by GMAC. Recently our revolutionary E-Z-PART packaging was acclaimed an outstanding advance by the "Frozen Food Centre" — North America's leading frozen food magazine.

To help this new method of food purchasing through its growing stages, we alone have taken on the hapless food customers of the "Phoney Food Plans", who have already gone bankrupt or have failed to live up to their promises.

Remuneration and details will be discussed during an interview. Write giving full details of what you have to offer in the way of sales experience and background, to:

Civil Defence in a Target City

(Eighth of a series of 24 articles)

The mechanization of war has made cities, where factories and industrial plants are most densely concentrated, the likeliest targets in a nuclear war. Federal civil defence officials estimate that one H-bomb, with the desructive force of 5,000,000 tons of TNT, would obliterate everything in an area of about 27 square miles.

That wouldn't leave much of any Canadian city and there is, therefore, only one sure means of survival for the people living in such a city; nor to be there when the bomb goes off. A basic plan of evacuation that can be adapted to any Canadian city has been worked out by federal civil defence experts. Briefly, it is this:

Phase A — Enough warning of an attack is expected so that about a third of the population can be taken out to communities up to 100 miles away. This would include children up to high school age, mothers with small children, patients and staff of hospitals and others who have key work to do.

Phase B — Planned withdrawal of the rest of the population when attack appears certain. Every available means of transportation would be used. This requires a carefully worked out plan, for which the provinces and municipalities are responsible. A city must be divided into sectors, each with its exit route. No traffic would be allowed to cross exit routes and incoming traffic would be stopped at least 25 miles out of the city. Police and civil defence volunteers must provide the vast amount of supervision required for carrying out the evacuation.

Phase C — Civil defence authorities must instruct the public on whatever additional survival action should be taken as the bomb explodes. Everyone must remain in shelters or, if on an evacuation route, keep going until directed to

To carry out such an immensely detailed plan these essential steps are recommended:

A well-organized civil defence shelter. These directions would be given by radio through traffic officers and civil defence wardens.

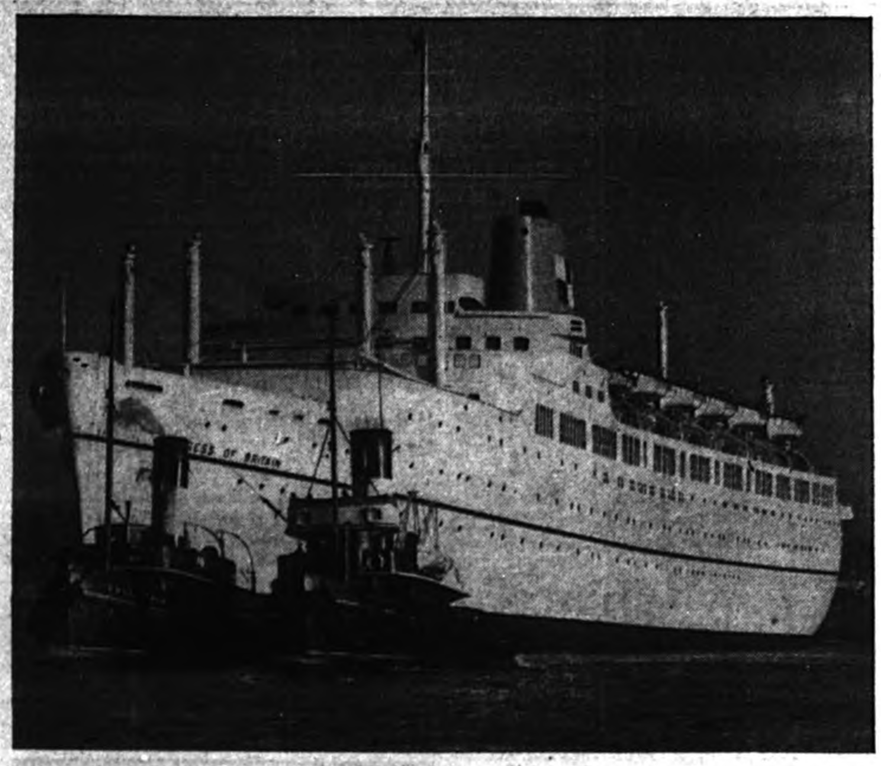

Phase D — In this post-bomb period, hundreds of thousands of people will be scattered outside the city in small communities. People may be separated from families and must be brought together again. They must be kept informed, given food, shelter and clothing and protection again radioactive fall-out, the dangerous dust from the pulverized city sifting down from the sky an hour or so after the blast.

The rehabilitation period that followed would not be handled by civil defence alone but by all government agencies and all the people of Canada.

force, including auxiliary personnel for police and fire duties and wardens, about one to every 150 families to supply the vital link between the people and the city's main C.D. organization.

Development of an operational plan for evacuation. The city civil defence director should set up working teams to find solutions to every problem. Then the plan must be tried out.

F. F. Worthington, federal civil defence co-ordinator, was not exaggerating when he said: "Evacuation of a large city will work well only when a great deal of planning and testing has been done."

Party Politics

By Lewis Milligan

I often think it's comical
How nature always does contrive
That every boy and every gal,
That's born into this world alive,
Is either a little Liberal,
Or else a little Conservative.

— So wrote W. S. Gilbert in the Victorian period, and Arthur Sullivan set it to music in his opera Iolanthe. There is more truth than poetry in that rhyme. As one born in England, I have seen it confirmed repeatedly. Younger members of a family usually accepted the political views of their parents, particularly those of the father. The mother, in those days, took little interest in politics. She didn't have a vote any way. As the family dispersed and its members began to think for themselves they gravitated to the party for which nature had contrived them.

Gladstone was an outstanding example. He was not only born into a strong Tory family, but he entered Parliament and held several cabinet positions in Conservative governments before he realized that he was a born Liberal. Churchill's father, Lord Randolph, was a staunch Conservative and his son followed in his sire's footsteps. But Winston was too much of an individualist with a mind of his own. In his early twenties he transferred to the Liberal Party. During the First World War his native Tory instinct revived and he re-entered the Conservative Party in a fighting spirit. But, like his father, he was always inclined to kick over the party traces. Neither party trusted him and he spent a long time in the political wilderness between the two world wars.

In that period politics got mixed up with coalitions. The then little Labor Party took advantage of the situation and slipped into office by minority votes drawn mostly from the leftist Liberals. During the Second World War, British party politics were suspended in a united effort to resist a powerful enemy and save the life of the nation itself. Although it eventually succeeded, that united effort with its great sacrifices left the country in a state of bankruptcy and the people in poverty. The Liberals and Conservatives were willing to continue in coalition for a period of reconstruction, but the Labor leaders saw an opportunity to capitalize on the national distress. They went all out for Socialism with Communist Russia as their ideal. They fooled the war-tired and poverty-stricken people with promises of eternal peace and plenty under social and economic planning and nationalized industries, with a "brotherly" attitude toward Soviet Russia. Churchill, who had led the nation and the Western World to victory, was deposed and forgotten.

The fragments of the Conservative and Liberal parties in Parliament were helpless in the face of Labor's overwhelming majority. The Socialists had an open and free field in which to fulfil their utopian promises. After seven years of Labor Government the last state of the country was worse than the first. The majority of the British people had had more than enough of Socialism, and the Conservative Party, with a remnant of Liberals, was returned to power with Churchill at the head. The Conservatives have in a few years put the nation on its feet economically and the people of Britain are now more prosperous than they had been for fifty years.

It is doubtful whether the Liberal Party can ever be revived sufficiently to compete in an election. Britain is now back in the two-party system with Liberalized Conservatives on the one hand and Conservatized Labor on the other. The country has survived a political revolution and is fortunate in having avoided the sad fate of France with its multiple parties and instability of government. Henceforth nature will have to contrive to have every boy and every gal born little Laborites or little Conservatives. What she will do about the little Bevanites is another question. They should be still-born.

RIDGEBACK DOG FINE SPECIMEN

Toronto (CP) — Sol, a Rhodesian ridgeback dog of a species noted in Africa for hunting lions, is faced with a future of dog shows and resting on his laurels.

The wheat-colored prize-winning hound was shipped from South Africa to Dr. and Mrs. H. Hethrington, who plan to show it in Ontario dog shows.

The ridgeback does not kill lions, but brings them to bay and harasses the king of the jungle while the human hunter gets set for a shot. Its name comes from a ridge along the centre of the back growing in a different slant from the rest of the body.

Have You A Question on UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE OR EMPLOYMENT?

In this column we publish questions about unemployment insurance and employment, together with answers received from the Unemployment Insurance Commission.

If you are uncertain about any point do not hesitate to send your question to your district Unemployment Insurance office. We will obtain an answer and publish it in this column.

Q. I am a woman and have been working for over ten years. I have never drawn unemployment insurance benefit. Now I am married and will have to stop work definitely soon. Am I entitled to benefit for a certain time, or have I paid all these years for nothing?

A. Unemployment insurance benefit is only paid to a person who is ready, able and willing to work. It appears you are withdrawing from the labor market and therefore would not be able to fulfill these conditions in which case benefit cannot be paid to you. You have not, however, been paying all these years "for nothing". Had you become unemployed during these years benefit would have been paid. Unemployment insurance is like fire insurance in this respect. Fire insurance premiums are paid year by year, and if no loss occurs no compensation is payable and no return of premiums is, or can be made.

Q. If a person receives $200 in insurance benefit is it taxable?

A. No. Uuemployment insurance benefit received is not taxable.

TOUPEE BUSINESS BOOMS

(St. Catharines Standard)

The bald look, in the entertainment field at any rate, is out. Television apart from producing a boom in TV dinners and glasses to ease eye strain, has reportedly done wonders for the toupee business.

Apparently the TV stars have discovered that they look better and younger, on the picture tubes, if they have some hair on top.

Now it's got to the point where even musicians in a band decide that they need a toupee so they don't stand out too prominently under the lights and cameras.

Since the end of World War II the Canadian textile industry has bought about $400 million worth of new machinery and equipment.

ORGANIZED FOR COMMUNITY CONCERTS DRIVE

Concentrate This Week on Renewal Memberships, Campaign April 16 - 21 to Enroll New Subscribers

Officers and Directors Elected at Annual Meeting

The annual meeting of Lachute Community Concerts Association was held Tuesday evening in the Legion Hall. In the unavoidable absence of the president, Mrs. W. M. Cottingham, the business was expeditiously handled by Dr. Marc Papineau, 1st vice-president. Mr. Maltais, Columbia Artists representative, was present to assure his energetic collaboration in the coming campaign.

Chief item of concern was the approval of officers and directors proposed by the nominating committee. These were duly elected. The slate, while retaining most of the key officers, includes several new names on the directorate, giving promise of representative opinion from the membership in different areas.

Preliminaries for the campaign were dealt with. Assistants to Dr. Papineau as chief organizer are Dr. John C. MacKimmie and Jean-Guy Joannette. In the current week the canvassers are renewing former memberships, and with the official campaign opening next Monday, the subsequent week will be devoted to soliciting new memberships. The opening will be marked by the annual supper and campaigners' rally, at 6.30 o'clock, April 16 in the Legion Hall. Canvassers' reports to that date will be turned in. Campaign headquarters will be situated as usual in the Bedard Ltée store on Main Street, by kind collaboration of Mr. J. E. Léonard, proprietor, and the spot will be a hub of activity throughout the week.

It is also of interest to note that Campaign Week coincides with the last performance of this season, featuring the glamorous Beverly Bower, soprano, next Wednesday evening at the High School. New subscribers will be extended the privilege of attending this recital, in addition to the 1956-57 series in both Lachute and Hawkesbury.

The chairman sounded an optimistic note, and his enthusiasm for a successful membership drive was shared throughout the gathering.

DUPLESSIS IN TRIM

Looking sun-tanned after his vacation in the Bahamas, the Premier quickly climbed back into the political arena. In a telephone interview from his Trois-Rivieres home, where he spent Easter, he described as an "utterly ridiculous canard" a report that he is in poor health and may retire from political life."

Mr. Duplessis, who will be 66 April 20, said he has "never thought of retiring."

Argent'l Celebrity 100 Years Old On TV Tabloid

Dr. Wm. McClure, China Missionary, Is Oldest Living Graduate of McGill

Dr. William McClure of Toronto, whose longevity is no less notable for distinction than his career as a medical missionary, was honored on the CBC Television "Tabloid" feature Monday evening.

It reflects honor on this county that Dr. McClure first saw the light of day at East Settlement. (His mother was a Rodger, of local pioneer stock, and he was born on the property presently operated by David John Rodger.) He was a pupil at Lachute Academy before proceeding to McGill for degrees in Arts and Medicine, and today — 100 years of age — he is the oldest living graduate of McGill University, having taken his Arts in 1879.

Dr. McClure spent practically his whole life in China, becoming Dean of Medicine in Shantung University teaching in the Chinese tongue, and serving notably in the medical field under auspices of the Presbyterian and the United Church. He was predeceased by his wife some years ago.

Appearing with him on the TV news program was his son, Dr. Robert McClure, who shares a measure of his father's distinction as a missionary doctor. The son is a graduate of Toronto University. He came home from India at this time to join in tribute to his illustrious parent.

All organizations affiliated with the agency were represented, with the exception of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind.

Following the president's opening address, Raymond Beaulieu, treasurer, presented the financial report. This indicated that a total of $20,035.10 had been donated, subscribed or pledged in the campaign, of which $18,742.60 had been received to date — the remaining $1,292.50 being turned in to the Federation in periodical instalments. Disbursements to date total $11,379.77, including administrative expenses, $1,648.27 and charity donations $9,731.50.

The election of officers took place, with Messrs. Lucien Savard, Gerard Lefebvre, Thomas Ayers and Ronald Hebert being returned to office, Roland Menard replacing Richard Valois (who continues as secretary), and Roger Gagné replacing Paul-Emile Barbeau.

Child Injured On Main Street

Elaine Walker, three-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Walker, suffered severe facial cuts and bruises early Monday evening when struck by a car driven by a local youth. She was unconscious for more than four hours following the accident.

The little girl was crossing Main Street with her mother, who went to their car in the centre parking area. Leaving the car at this point the mother returned again to the sidewalk, followed unknowingly by the little girl, who ran into the path of an oncoming automobile.

Dr. F. W. FitzGerald was called to the scene and treated the little victim for facial and head injuries, as well as severe shock.

Ch. Commerce Proposes Civic Committee to Confer On Industrial Prospects

Routine Affairs Occupy Council Meeting

The president of Lachute Chamber of Commerce, Paul Laliberté, along with directors Gerald Walker and André Lefebvre, were in attendance at the regular monthly meeting of the Lachute Town Council, and requested the Council to study the possibilities of creating an Industrial Committee for Greater Lachute. . . The meeting was held under the chairmanship of Mayor Dr. F. W. FitzGerald, with Ald. Romain Desjardins the only councillor absent.

Mr. Laliberté, acting as spokesman for the local Chamber, suggested the formation of such a committee to comprise two members from Lachute, one from both St. Jerusalem and Ayersville municipalities, and one from the Chamber of Commerce.

He explained, as reason behind the suggestion, that at the present time the Chamber of Commerce has nine requests from various types of industry interested in locating in this area, but they want information that the Chamber members cannot give them without due authority. Mr. Laliberté was requested to present any further plans to the Council in writing, at which time they would be studied and acted upon.

Two additional police constables were hired at the meeting, held last Wednesday evening, April 4, bringing the strength of the local force to four — Chief Fernand Trepanier, Assistant Chief Oscar Sabourin, and the newly-hired constables, Marcel Therrien, 22, of Calumet, and Jeannot Laurin, 23, of Lachute Road, area. Therrien, who commences his police duties this morning, is a former employee of Canadian Refractories Limited. Laurin will commence work for the town on May 1.

The notice of motion relative to the McGibbon sub-division was rescinded, due to the proposal not being ready at the present time.

Ald. Ross Muir reported that the master-meter in the chlorination plant could be repaired in the plant, so that it would not have to be sent to the factory.

Mrs. Yvette Raymond was hired for office help, at a salary of $30 per week. She will replace Miss Bertrand, who leaves shortly.

Mr. Gordon Silverson was once again in attendance requesting that a decision be made on the possibility of extending Foundry Street past Gilbert Street. It was decided that, since the Council did not own the land, and as they had no present plans for such an extension, the Roads Committee give Mr. Silverson a line for a planned extension of his Quinn Street house.

Secretary Jacques Poitras was instructed to write Mr. E. W. Albright informing him that a building permit was not necessary for alterations to a building — Mr. Albright having requested such on behalf of the A & P Company, who recently leased the Albright block. A

Rotary Club To Sponsor Traffic Safety Campaign

Active and Participating Effort Includes Garages and Drivers

Constable Howard Jones, Guest Speaker, Gives Practical Talk at Club Meeting

Brownsburg — For some years the number of highway accidents in the Argenteuil area has been steadily increasing. Loss of life has been heavy, and many more people have been painfully injured. Yet most of these accidents could have been avoided by the exercise of common sense, and by the drivers assuring themselves that their cars were in safe driving condition. A few minutes gained through excessive speeding or the ignoring of traffic rules is senseless if it brings with it the risk of a premature journey into "kingdom come" for the occupants of a car or to innocent people.

The police of the locality have done wonderful work in trying to keep accidents to a minimum, by addressing various organization and schools on the hazards of the road, but unless the public co-operates, their work is in vain. Thus the Rotary Club of Brownsburg and Lachute proposes to align itself with the authorities by means of a planned campaign to enlist serious-minded citizens in the observance of all measures tending towards safety on the highway. The plan has been endorsed by the Mayors and Police Chiefs of Brownsburg and Lachute, respectively.

The campaign will start officially on May 1. The Rotary Club believes that the first fundamental rule is for the car to be in safe driving condition, i.e., brakes should be in good order, steering wheels in alignment, etc. The garages in the area are being called upon to assist by volunteering to check cars free of charge. Their names will be published in the local papers, and citizens willing to join the crusade are to be asked to take their cars to any of these garages. Upon certification that the car is in safe condition, they will be asked to sign a pledge that they will —

1—Know and willingly obey all traffic laws.
3—Courteously and decently observe the accepted rules of the road,

They will then be given a Safety Bumper Sticker to affix to their cars as an indication that they have associated themselves with the cause. (Note: Garages not yet approached and wishing to co-operate may obtain details by telephoning King Amos, Brownsburg 2617.)

The opening guns of the campaign were fired at the Rotary Club meeting held on April 5, at which Police Chiefs Fernand Trepanier and Willie Lepine were present and the clubmen listened to an address by Traffic Officer Howard Jones on causes of traffic accidents and their remedy. The speaker himself was a near victim of an irresponsible driver recently, at a time he was investigating another accident. The highlights from his very instructive talk may be summed up as follows:

1. Pedestrians should walk on the extreme left of highways to face oncoming traffic. Bunching should be avoided.

2. Be persistent in teaching children not to play on streets or to hitchhike with unknown drivers of cars. Parents should encourage children to realize the police are their friends and are seeking to protect them.

3. Bicycles are in effect comparable to motor cars as vehicles of the road, and should be in safe condition and observe the same rules.

4. Drive carefully at all times; observe speed zones and all signs, etc. Do not try to pass cars on hills or curves, and in no case try to pass other cars unless absolutely certain that the highway is clear of oncoming traffic. (90% of accidents are due to misjudging distances.)

5. Keep sober and at a safe distance behind other cars. Stop behind buses, and even when they move on make sure that passengers (and particularly schoolchildren) are clear before restarting the car.

6. If you are witness to an accident, notify the police. If first on the scene, help the injured and call a doctor. Do not attempt to move seriously-injured persons; their injuries may be aggravated. Do not impede officers by congregating at scene of the accident. If involved personally, do not move your car until police have been able to get details.

These and many more sound principles to follow were advanced by Traffic Officer Jones, who provided many examples of the consequences which might follow if they were not obeyed. He also appealed to members of the Rotary Club (and indirectly to the public) to co-operate by taking the numbers of cars whose drivers have been observed driving carelessly or dangerously, and inform any of the following officers who would then arrange to have such cars carefully watched:

PROVINCIAL POLICE OFFICE LACHUTE 981
Sgt. R. Allen — Lachute 1669
Cst. H. Jones — Lachute 952
Cst. A. Legault — Brownsburg 4425
Cst. R. Massie — Brownsburg 2224
Cst. G. Loyer — Brownsburg 2285

The speaker was introduced by Mac E. Walker and thanked by Dave Schwartz. The meeting concluded with Police Chiefs Trepanier and Lepine being first to sign the Traffic Safety Pledges.

MIDNIGHT BLAZE ABOVE STORE, BUSINESS MAN BADLY BURNED

Ernest Bertrand, 45, well known Foundry Street photographer, was rushed to the Hotel Dieu at St. Jerome early Wednesday morning following a fire which gutted his residence above the Lachute Photo Studio. Treated for second-degree burns by Drs. Jules Lafleur and Roger Lavigne, Mr. Bertrand is expected to be in hospital for several weeks. Other members of the family were not seriously injured.

The fire was discovered at one a.m. by Mr. and Mrs. René Decoste, who had just returned home from Brownsburg. Neighbors of the Bertrands, the couple had parked their car in the back yard when they noticed the flames. Mr. Decoste awoke the sleeping residents, while his wife notified the fire department, who several minutes later were on the scene fighting the flames in the smoke-filled dwelling.

Mrs. Bertrand reports that she was awakened by her husband, who heard Mr. Decoste outside. They in turn awakened their two children, Lucien, 17, and six-year-old Jeannette, who was carried to safety by her older brother; also as the maid, Jeannette Lefebvre, 37, of Carillon. All made good their escape by the back door, clad only in their night-clothes. Nothing was saved from the building at this time, although Mr. Bertrand returned a few minutes later believing that his daughter was trapped; it was at this time that the victim suffered his severe burns. Some photographic equipment was later saved from the building.

Although suffering badly from burns and shock, Mr. Bertrand told attendants in the ambulance that the oil space-heater at the top of the stairs exploded as he passed near it on his return to the building. He was given first-aid treatment for severe burns to the face, neck, chest, arms and back, as well as both sides of his hands.

Eyewitnesses and residents of the house report that the upstairs apartment was a mass of flames before the family escaped. Mrs. Bertrand stated that she awoke surrounded by flames, and for an instant she thought she was dreaming, until she realized the seriousness of the situation.

The firemen laid hose from a hydrant at the Foundry - Bethany intersection. A second hose was laid across the back-yard from a hydrant on Robert Street, and the fire crew fought the blaze from the rear and the front stairs of the building. While they were on the stairs, clogged with burning debris, another explosion rocked the upstairs of the building, blowing out the upstairs windows and allowing the flames to eat at the wooden structure of the verandah and the front. A smoke explosion rocked the camera shop and scattered photographic supplies throughout, some being blown through the door and onto the sidewalk.

The flames on the stairway having been subdued, the hose was carried up a ladder to the front-verandah, where firemen battled the blaze gutting the interior of the apartment. A similar move was made at the rear. With all visible flames extinguished, sections of the ceiling and attic were opened and all remaining signs of fire put out, after which the smouldering furniture and mattresses were carried from the building. The fire vehicles returned to the station a little more than an hour and a half after the call.

The building and contents, all owned by Mr. Bertrand, are only partially covered by insurance. The loss was not immediately estimated.

New Vigor Apparent in Police Dept.

Police Chief Fernand Trepanier stated the local officers answered a total of 50 calls and investigated 20 automobile accidents during the month of March, in making his report to Council last Wednesday evening.

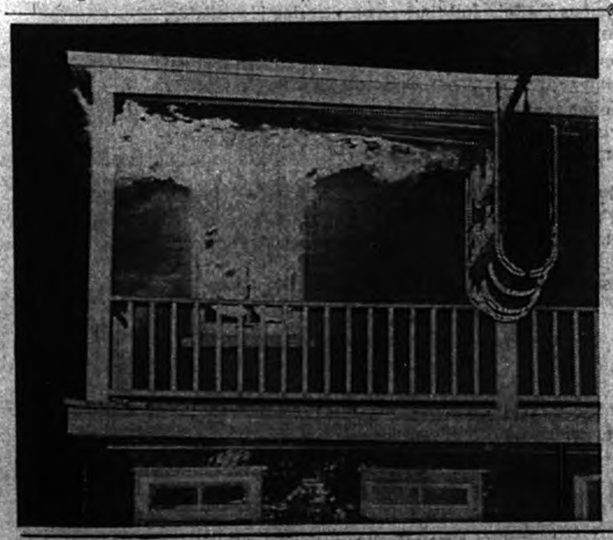

There were no arrests made; five persons were held for protection, and one detained; 42 warning tickets and 30 fines were handed out for traffic infractions. Three animals were destroyed.

A total distance of 787 miles was covered in the police vehicle, and numerous parking and traffic signs were repaired or replaced.

Water is played on the fire through a side window of the flame-filled building. Tongues of flame are in evidence along the front roof, and a heavy layer of smoke can be seen several feet from the ceiling through the main door.

Picture on the left shows flames belching from the verandah window minutes later, while firemen were on the stairs leading up to the apartment. This picture was taken seconds after an upstairs explosion rocked the building, showering glass over the street.

To Manufacture from Wood Wastes in Lumbering Operations

Quebec — Premier Duplessis announced at his weekly conference last Friday that the Thurso Pulp and Paper Company plans the construction of a $17,000,000 plant at Thurso in Gatineau County.

The new plant, he added, will produce craft-paper and containers. Work on the project will begin as soon as weather conditions permit.

Mr. Duplessis said the company would have 230 permanent employees when operations begin.

The new industry had been brought to Quebec as the result of efforts by Lands and Forests Minister J. S. Bourque and Public Works Minister Romeo Lorrain, who is MPP for Papineau County.

The premier said he was visited by Paul Bourget, president of the Thurso Pulp and Paper Company, this week and the latter outlined plans for the plant construction.

The new process employed by the Thurso Pulp and Paper Company marks the first time it has been used in Canada on a large scale.

Mr. Bourget said the new plant would be completed in about a year and would use scrap from timber operations in the Papineau County area.

The Thurso Pulp and Paper Company is made up of the Singer Sewing Machine Company, who control the timber limits, and Perkins, Goodwin of New York, who will handle the financing.

Always Play It Safe With Electricity

Electricity can be dangerous if handled improperly or carelessly.

Complete control of this force, at all times, is the way to insure safety, keeping in mind that it is NOT the electricity which may cause an accident, but rather the way in which it is used.

Here are a few electrical safety rules to follow:

When renewing fuses, pull the switch FIRST; always stand on a dry board or other insulating material, and, if possible, replace the fuses during daylight.

Replace fuses with fuses — not coins. This latter practice might allow overload on the circuits which could cause a fire.

Use correctly rated fuses for the wiring.

Replace frayed cords.

A Feed Additive For Fattening Cattle

Ottawa — Following the announcement that diethylstilbestrol, a synthetic estrogen or hormone, is licensed for sale and use in the fattening of beef cattle under specific controls, Animal Husbandmen of the Experimental Farms Service have issued a report on its value as a feed additive for fattening cattle.

They state that a summary of 15 beef cattle feeding experiments recently completed in the United States, showed an increase of 16 per cent in the average daily gain of cattle over 600 pounds. These gains were obtained on both heavy grain rations and high-roughage rations containing 10 mg. per head per day of DES. The corresponding feed saving was 12 per cent for the high-grain ration groups, and 17 percent for the high-roughage ration groups.

The results from 16 experiments on the effect of DES on carcass quality showed no difference in United States federal grades of carcass from treated and untreated cattle. Dressing percentages were about the same for each lot. The results of carcass composition studies conducted by Iowa and Michigan State Colleges showed no appreciable difference in the amount of fat, lean, bone, or moisture percentage between the rib-eye sections of control cattle and cattle fed DES.

It is well to point out that in the use of DES, miracles should not be expected. Nothing can take the place of good feeding and management. The proper use of the hormone simply gives an added boost to well-fed animals. It makes it possible for the animals to utilize more of the nutrients fed for productive purposes.

While experimental evidence to date indicates that the feeding of DES to beef cattle over 600 pounds in the dry lot at the 10 mg. level is a safe and economical practice, sufficient data are not available to show the effect of DES on animals under 600 pounds and on other classes and ages of farm livestock.

Financial Report Issued By J. C. Wilson Ltd.

Net operating loss of $81,041, after tax adjustments, is reported by J. C. Wilson Limited for the year ended December 31 last. This compares with a net profit of $48,430 recorded in the previous period.

Difficulties encountered in moving the company from Montreal to new premises in Lachute, along with lower profit margins, are listed as the main reason for the earnings decline. President F. Howard Wilson says that the benefits derived from the new location and other changes are expected to be reflected in future years.

In 1955 the amount remitted to the federal government by the Canadian automobile industry as sales and excise taxes on new cars exceeded the industry's payroll for the year. The figures were: sales and excise taxes, $172 million; payroll, $154 million.

For Artificial Lake at Shrine, Brownsburg Road

The ground was broken here by courtesy of John Deere farm equipment, excavating to form an artificial lake planned by the Franciscan Fathers at the Notre Dame de Lourdes Shrine, Brownsburg Road. A dam is planned for the easterly end of the lake, which will be of considerable size and terraced all around. The work will be done by the members of this religious order, who plan to purchase the necessary equipment and complete the project over a period of several years.

When completed the scenic lake will be from five to six feet deep and will be the habitat for swans, ducks and other fowl.

Subdivision Plan Submitted to Ayersv'l Council

Salary changes and a subdivision project were discussed among other business at the regular monthly meeting of Ayersville Council, held under chairmanship of pro-mayor Douglas Simon in the absence of Mayor Gaetan Paquette.

Messrs. W. E. and J. A. Hammond presented a subdivision scheme to the Council, the land in question being located south of the westerly extension of Ayers Street. The Council was requested to give the property a farm valuation, this to be in effect until such time as the property is sold. It was decided to consult Roger Lagarde, the municipality's legal advisor, in connection with the proposal.

A 5-1 vote decided salary changes for the three municipal employees, with the exception of Secretary Conrad Legault, who commencing April 9 will be paid $50 a week. The revisions include a decrease of $10 per week for Ernest Carrière, foreman and part-time policeman, and increases of $5 a week for the other two men.

Accounts totalling $486.37 were approved for payment. The Bell Telephone Company was granted permission to erect a pole on Corbeil Street, and building permits were granted to Edgar Cyr for a garage, Omer Tassé for a house, and Jean Paul Larocque for the construction of a shed.

It was decided that all necessary work and purchases on municipal equipment for the months of April and May, would be made at the Gibeau Garage.

A letter from Alderic Tessier concerning the municipal building by-law was turned over to the committee for study.

Business tax estimates for 1956 totalling $1,953, was accepted and it was decided that seven days' notice would be given to delinquent tax debtors.

Of the 60,414 Canadian corporations liable for federal income tax in 1953, 22,869 operated at a loss that year and 37,545 operated at a profit.

building permit was granted to Willie Poulin, for a house on George Street, under supervision of the Roads Committee.

Ald. Dr. Roger Lavigne reported that his Relief budget would be exceeded within several weeks at the present rate of spending, as more than $400 had been spent on direct relief to date. He added that he wanted Police Chief Fernand Trepanier in charge of all investigations connected with his department.

The subject of Police and Fire Department radio equipment was once again brought to the fore, and Mayor Dr. FitzGerald stated that the rental fee for equipment requested by the Bell Telephone Company would be approximately $8,000 in a five-year period, and the corporation would have no equipment to show for this money spent. It was then decided to purchase the Pye equipment presently installed in the local vehicles on a temporary basis, and to pay the remaining $2,030 still owed to the company. The money is to be paid on a 50-50 basis from the Police and Fire Department budget. The apportionment was decided on a casting-vote by the Mayor — the vote being split four aside both on the main motion and the amendment, which would have taken ⅔ of the cost from the Police Department budget and the remainder from the Fire Department.

Ald. Mozart Carrière stated that at present the Auditorium janitors were costing the corporation $82.50 a week, and suggested that one man be released. It was decided to keep Mr. Malette and to release Henri Larocque, effective April 6, at which time his Social Service card would be accepted and signed. (Mr. Larocque was formerly being paid $37.50 and was unable to do any heavy work due to injuries he received several years ago when he was involved in a dynamite explosion.)

Dr. Roger Lavigne suggested that the Bell Telephone and Gatineau Power Companies be contacted and requested to string their wires on one line of poles on Chatham Street, due to the street being so narrow.

Mayor Dr. FitzGerald nominated two committees to study local matters, the Business Tax By-law committee, which comprises Aldermen Mozart Carrière, Ross Muir, Romain Desjardins and Dr. Roger Lavigne, is to report at the regular May meeting, while the Zoning By-law committee (Aldermen Romain Desjardins, Edgar Pollock and Dr. Lavigne) is to report at a later date.

Accounts totalling $24,669.55 were approved for payment, after which the meeting was adjourned to the call of the chair.

Join Community Concerts!

THE SPADEWORK of Lachute's Community Concerts Campaign was handled expeditiously at a meeting Tuesday evening. Workers this week are canvassing for renewals, while the drive for new members will open officially next Monday. The public will either show their apathy and miss an opportunity — or they will subscribe and share in the enjoyment of next season's concerts.

There are arguments FOR; we know of none AGAINST, to withstand the test of logic. . . The contention, for instance, that television now adequately substitutes for "live" music, drama or entertainment is an argument only on behalf of MORE DIRECT contact between the public and the stage or concert artist. TV, despite its benefits and advantages, is still a dispenser of relayed entertainment, also a medium in which the viewer has no say or choice; his entertainers are chosen for him — a trend which, in other things, is deplored as symptomatic of "control". Moreover, concert artists need this public contact to the same degree — they need live audiences, if they are to attain the heights of poised and confident performance.

Apart from the pleasure derived from uplifting entertainment, Lachute as a community benefits intrinsically from this movement. It brings all elements of the population together in a common interest. It spreads favorable publicity for Lachute, not only among the many centres affiliated with Community Concerts, but also in the immediate territory from which the Association draws its members, reaching from St. Jerome to Montebello. It gives the town a certain prestige as a place where materialism does not supersede the better things of life — "a good place to live in", such as we frequently boast of.

That Community Concerts are practical outside the metropolitan centres is evidenced by their popularity in comparable places, such as Hawkesbury, Rouyn, Noranda, St. John's and Chicoutimi, Que.

Objections? . . . The instinctive reaction on the part of too many people is that "concerts are not for me — they're too highbrow." We urge everyone to forget instincts and to subscribe. The concerts are not intended for the enjoyment of a few music students; they are intended for everyone, and can be enjoyed by everyone. All that is needed to enjoy them is one's presence and an attentive ear.

Expense? . . . In New York, a ticket to one of these concerts would cost about five dollars — yet for a six-dollar membership fee one may attend three concerts in Lachute plus three in Hawkesbury, during the season.

It's only because of misconceptions and false impressions that the public shies away from concerts or anything that smacks of culture.

Anything we do not understand, we do not appreciate or enjoy. No foreigner enjoys American football, because he does not know anything about it. No one ever learns to understand something or to appreciate it until he exposes himself to it. Checkers remains a dull game until we try it a few times. And concerts remain strange and forbidding, until we begin attending.

No one need be a so-called highbrow to enjoy a concert. The fact that one does not know the difference between a concerto and an opus should cause no worry. It is not necessary to know the year Bach was born to enjoy his music, nor is it necessary to know the language of music and musicians.

Prospective subscribers need fear no disappointments. The only disappointment felt so far among perennial concert-goers is, possibly, that their numbers have not grown by leaps and bounds to permit the local Association to secure even more and better artists. . . More enrolments in the coming campaign can reap still greater benefits.

Commandments for Junior

THERE'S HOPE for our juveniles! A Montreal columnist reports an illuminating document found in a teen-ager's wallet, along with a collection of movie stars, personal snapshots and whatnot. On the folded paper were written these Teen-Age Commandments:

1—Stop and think before you drink. 2—Don't let your parents down, they brought you up. 3—Be smart. Obey. You'll give the orders some day. 4—Ditch dirty thoughts before they ditch you. 5—Show-off driving is juvenile. Don't act your age. 6—Pick the right friends to be picked for a friend. 7—Choose a date fit for a mate. 8—Don't go steady unless you're ready. 9—Go to church to pray, not to play. 10—Live carefully. The soul you save may be your own.

Rotary Takes A Hand

WE SUPPORT wholeheartedly the traffic campaign inaugurated last week by Brownsburg-Lachute Rotary Club — concerning which the public will hear more as this effort gains momentum.

During the past year or two it has been a matter of concern to some, that Lachute has been in the spotlight of unfavorable publicity as the hub of a high accident frequency. That fact has captivated the attention of one of our active service clubs, and the Rotary campaign, planned on a principle of active driver-participation, should reap practical results.

This is the season when fine weather begins to attract motorists to the open road.

Unfortunately, it is also the season when highway accidents begin to increase. Despite more stringent policing in almost every province, the toll of death, injuries and property damage this spring and summer will be staggering.

While official figures are not yet available, more than 2,600 persons lost their lives in traffic accidents last year. Fatalities have increased sharply since the end of the Second World War.

There were 1,663 traffic deaths in 1946, and 2,906 in the peak year, 1954.

Attorneys-general in most provinces have said they feel that stricter enforcement of provincial traffic laws may be the answer to Canada's traffic problems.

A speedup in the campaign for safety was made last year in almost every province. In some places the motor vehicles legislation has been changed and toughened. In others, stiffer driving tests have been instituted.

Accident records show that mechanical failure and road conditions account for comparatively few highway mishaps.

But in the long run the answer to the accident toll lies in an attitude of mind — a desire on the part of drivers generally to abide by highway laws imposed not only for the public safety but also for their own.

If every motorist vowed as he slid behind the wheel, "I will do everything I can to avoid an accident today," the traffic record for 1956 would be a matter of national, provincial and local pride.

The Land and the Scribes

RECENTLY in western and eastern Canada, a select group of professionals formed an organization which is expected to have a profound effect on the future of Canadian agriculture. The new body is known as the Canadian Farm Writers Association and includes in its membership editorial staffs of farm journals, farm editors of newspapers and farm commentators of radio and television stations.

The farm writer already has done a great deal to enhance the lot of the farmers in this country. By reporting the findings of agricultural scientists, he has helped to revolutionize crop growing, stock raising, land conservation and farm management generally. Conversely, he has continuously championed the farmer's cause by bringing light to bear on his ever-present problems and difficulties and, directly and indirectly, has been responsible for legislation of direct benefit to farmers.

The farm writer's news beat is wide indeed. He covers the farm experimental stations, agricultural colleges, various farm organizations. He is constantly ferreting out new facts from industries, the existence of which is dependent on the farmer's prosperity. He has his fingers constantly on the pulse of the rural community in his own area and usually serves as an unpaid public relations man for local rural organizations.

He is found at small and large conventions, farm shows and plowing matches. You could see him at the country fairs quietly poking around the cow barns or the machinery displays. Short-sighted is the person who does not welcome the presence of the man with the notebook, camera or tape recorder.

One of the primary objectives laid down in the constitution of the Canadian Farm Writers Association is "to promote better understanding between agriculture and all other groups through the medium of radio broadcasting, telecasting and the printed word."

This is truly a worthwhile aim, as there is an abysmal lack of understanding of farm problems among the millions of consumers of farm produce in the larger urban centres. If, in the next few years, the Canadian Farm Writers Association succeeds in penetrating through this hard crust of urban indifference, its existence will have been more than justified.

Over the Years with THE LACHUTE WATCHMAN

75 YEARS AGO

April 15, 1881 —

Garden work has now commenced.

Mr. A. B. MacKimmie, of this place, has opened a furniture store next door to Victoria Hall.

We hear of maple syrup from this place that sold in Montreal last week at 67 cents per gallon. (Ed. Note: The current price is $6 per gallon.)

Brownsburg — Immense quantities of maple syrup and sugar have been made here this spring. A slight sprinkling of snow fell Monday, but soon disappeared. The powder trade is booming at the Pacific Powder Mills.

April 13, 1906 —

The annual exhibition of stallions is to be held on the permanent exhibition grounds.

Messrs. Ralph, Campbell and Stuart McOuat, sons of Jas. McOuat, Brownsburg, left on Monday to try their fortunes at Indian Head, Sask.

Mr. George Bailey, who was formerly baker for Mr. Law, has returned to town and will open a bakery in the West End at McFaul's flour store.

Genoa — Mr. Robt. Gordon has now got his gasoline engine in working order.

Carillon — It seems as though Jack Frost would like to creep into our midst again; nevertheless it is hoped that the hateful storm of a few days ago is only a preliminary to the warm spring weather expected.

25 YEARS AGO

April 17, 1931 —

Our local fire brigade members were called out recently for a small fire at Antoine Desforges', and also to a couple of chimney fires, all of which were quickly extinguished.

St. Andrews East — The C.N.R. gravel pit is in operation and giving considerable work to our unemployed.

OF MANY THINGS

By Ambrose Hills

Life's Fabric

He told me about it as we rode together on the train from the small town where he was born to the big city where he worked. He'd been called out home because his mother, at 81, suffered a severe stroke, and he had watched her fighting for her life.

"As I watched her," he said, "I kept thinking of her as a little girl, Sally May Jones, walking miles and miles to school, then home to milk the cows and do so many chores. It is only when the end seems near that one becomes so concerned about the beginnings. I thought of her marriage, and the struggle to raise a family, and all the dreams she must have had in those days. And I wondered what regrets must be in her mind now, with the end threatening and many of the dreams unfulfilled.

"We were at her bedside at the little hospital — her three sons — and I suppose we were all wondering the same thing. Then we noticed that she was trying to tell us something, although paralysis had made speech difficult for her. We leaned forward anxiously, and finally we were able to understand.

"She was trying desperately hard to tell us that at home we would find oatmeal cookies in the earthenware crock in the cupboard, and that there was meat cooked and ready to eat. 'Bring up a sealer of fruit from the basement . . . anything you like', she said."

He told me that it took them back somewhat to think that at this hour, when they thought her every energy was devoted to her fight for life, that instead, her mind was on supper for her boys. Her life had taught her that the mind is best occupied with the small everyday things that form the fabric of a good life — the oatmeal cookies and suppers for the boys. The dreams lose substance, but these daily things are real and immediate and important.

She is recovering from her stroke, he says, and should still have some summers in the sun, to sit and look back. Not to dream of what might have been, but to savour the countless things that really were. Gardens planted, meals served, a useful life fully lived, and many sorrows and difficulties met courageously. Little Sally May Jones had much that was worthwhile to look back upon.

Chats About Chickens . . .

Cockerels for Killing

Most wives will tell you that the most useless thing about the house is a husband — generally speaking. The same is true of a flock of chickens in the hen house. Unless you want to hatch the eggs, cockerels do nothing but confuse the issue.

But there is a real place for cockerels in growing a flock of pullets. They can be of immense help — if you kill two cockerels a week. Here's what I mean. . .

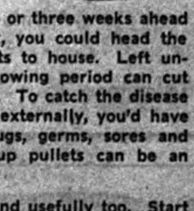

Growing chicks are pretty healthy and rugged, believe it or not. They usually carry disease organisms, bugs, and the like for two or three weeks before the culprits make the birds sick enough to notice. So if you could tell two or three weeks ahead of time if the bird was going to be sick, you could head the trouble off and have more healthy pullets to house. Left untreated, intestinal diseases during the growing period can cut your future egg production by nearly half. To catch the disease several weeks before it becomes obvious externally, you'd have to open up birds and investigate for bugs, germs, sores and abnormal conditions. However, cutting up pullets can be an expensive proposition.

Here's where the cockerels come in, and usefully too. Start 25 to 50 cockerels along with your pullets. Cockerels are cheap. Raise these cockerels along with your pullets. After about three weeks or so, open up cockerels at the rate of two a week. At first they should be normal — and it would be nice if they always were. But open them up to see what is the normal appearance for the insides of a chicken. .

This article will be continued next week. WATCH FOR IT. . .

But in the meantime, won't you give us your chick order today. The quicker you order, the better for all; and also order your CHICK STARTENA, CHEK-R-TABS, feeds and founts, along with your disinfectant at the same time. We deliver.

ALL ABOARD
With G. E. Mortimore

A Tennessee professor announced that he has written a book called "Abusive Words", which presents "a scientific grouping of 77 different ways to cuss."

Dr. Clyde Crobaugh, the author (plague take him) gets off to a bad start with a weak half-word like "cuss". He is a word expert, and he should know better. A murrain on him for a mealy-mouthed scamp. If he means "curse", he should say so.

However, the book may be better than its advance notice. It contains some 800 specific terms of abuse. Dr. Crobaugh does not say whether it is to be published for general distribution. If so, it may be useful to parents for identifying some of the new words the children bring home from school, and deciding whether to rinse their little mouths with soap.

Adults might also use the book to increase their word-power after the children had gone to bed. Cursing is a nasty habit, but it is a valuable weapon against hostile and stubborn inanimate objects and humans who cannot be reached through logical argument.

The effectiveness of abuse against wayward golf balls is widely known. Even ministers of the gospel have been heard to address a few short words to the universe after hitting their thumbs with a hammer. Dr. Crobaugh's book may help golfers, amateur carpenters and sergeant-majors to choose their words with more care and reverence.

And the book may give us a richer assortment of words to use against party-line telephone hogs, car drivers who thrust two fingers out the window for a turn signal, and other varied pests.

"Hey Mac, that pile of scrap metal you call a truck is double-parked right in my way. Move it, you big dim-witted hairy ape . . . Yeow! Why did you hit me? I was only quoting a passage from a college book. Ow! I guess I should have paid more attention to the instructions. The book said I had to smile when I said that."

Sirens, Duly Sanctioned, Call for Right of Way

A special permit is required to install a siren or fog horn on a vehicle. Only ambulances, police, firemen, and other public service cars are allowed their use in cases of emergencies. Whenever a siren is heard the first duty of a vehicle driver of any kind, or a pedestrian, is to quickly give it the right of way — notes the Province of Quebec Safety League. In such emergencies even green lights do not justify a driver to proceed on his course. The right of way must be given and all vehicles driven towards the curb or roadside. The same rule applies to buses. To ignore this rule may result in very serious accidents.

Auto Driver: "Have you some of that gasoline that prevents knocking?"

Station Attendant: "Yes, sir."

Driver: "Fine, give my wife a glassful of it, will you please?"

New Secretary Takes Over for B'burg Council

(Our District Correspondent)

Brownsburg — At the April session of Council Vincent Charbonneau was sworn in as secretary-treasurer and a motion was adopted authorizing him to sign cheques. He then read the minutes of the last meeting, and with ex-Secretary Emile Hebert's advice, he took over the reins.

Mr. M. E. Cowley asked if any action has been taken about installing sewerage on Woodbine Avenue. The mayor pointed out that no real work could be started for at least a month. He confessed, however, that the preliminaries such as obtaining a right of way could be undertaken now. The present intention is to go through McVicar's field and connect with the existing sewerage behind Wartime Housing. The Mayor promised to see about the right of way next day. The 2,400 foot connection is expected to cost about $5 a foot. Although the government will not give a grant, they will, however, make a no-interest loan, which is just as good.

(The Mayor met with the McVicar family the following day, and he is optimistic that the necessary right of way will be obtained this month.)

While on the talk of government grants, it was suggested that an approach be made to the province to repair the concrete bridge over the river on Main Street. The calcium treatment caused quite an erosion, and the bridge will have to be asphalted.

Fire Chief Arthur Robbins made his report for the month. There were four alarms — three chimney fires and the first false alarm in Brownsburg fire history.

The new secretary read a letter from a Montreal manufacturing firm — Pedigree Ladies' Wear — saying they are interested in renting or building a factory here to employ 80 - 150 women. They inquired about taxes. The Mayor and councillors asked Secretary Charbonneau to invite them to send a representative to the next meeting and assure them of favorable tax rates.

The Mayor reported that a street reconstruction would be undertaken this spring to provide better parking at the Social Club.

Two letters were received about the town's proposal to purchase a new truck. Pollock & Graves Motors and Lacasse Automobiles, both of Lachute, submitted prices on comparative vehicles. Someone suggested that further quotations be invited, but the Council felt that, since both of these concerns pay taxes in Brownsburg, on stock items these only should be considered. The 3-ton Mercury with dump equipped, and less discount, would cost the village $4,300, while the competitive Chevrolet truck was quoted at $4,600.

Northern Grenville

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Stewart, of Ottawa, Mr. Fred Woodbury and two sons, of Temiskaming, and Mr. and Mrs. Robt. MacRae, of Kilmar, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Brazeau.

A number from the vicinity attended the military whist in Cushing on Monday night; all report a good time.

More Precious than the CHOICEST GEM Is Counsel from GOD'S WORD.

So also with Israel's history. How so? The history of the rise of these people of God to national splendor, their decline, captivity and restoration is more than a dramatic and fascinating account. It is for our learning today at the end of the world! So wrote Paul, the apostle, at 1 Corinthians 10: 11. Heed Paul's friendly warning!

Report on Que. Constitutional Problems, Three-Year Study by Royal Commission

By Brian Selwood

Quebec (CP) — Five volumes containing 1,500,000 words provided the most important news items from the provincial capital during the week.

They contained the report of the Quebec Royal Commission on constitutional problems, appointed three years ago by Premier Duplessis' Union Nationale government. The six-man commission, headed by Chief Judge Thomas Tremblay of the Quebec court of sessions of the peace, based its report on 470 briefs presented at 97 public hearings throughout the province.

So many important matters are mentioned in the lengthy documents that at least one Quebec newspaper is to publish a summary in serial form.

Main point made in the commission's finding was a call for "a frank return to the constitution" through drastic redistribution of taxation fields. If recommended the provinces eventually be given all revenue from direct taxation, like those on personal incomes, corporations and inheritances. Federal taxation would be restricted to indirect fields — such as taxes on sales, amusements, gasoline and tobacco.

In return for the increased revenues, the provinces would assume responsibility for all social security measures, the commission suggested.

However, the commission realized "such radical departures from practice cannot be effected promptly," so it suggested two other plans.

One of these plans was termed "temporary" and the other "intermediate".

The temporary plan called for the provinces and the Federal government to operate concurrently in the income tax field. The provinces would have the exclusive rights to succession duties and the Federal authority would provide equalization payments to the provinces.

Under the intermediate plan the Federal government would receive half the corporation collections made by the provinces and would be responsible for certain social security measures.

By refusing all post-war Federal-Provincial taxation agreements and various subsidies, Quebec had lost about $300,000,000 since 1947, the commission said. It suggested steps might be taken to recover the money.

Another suggestion made was that a permanent federal-provincial secretariat and a permanent council of state governments be established. The board also recommended that the financial responsibilities of municipalities and school boards be overhauled.

When the report, which is not binding on the government, was made public, Premier Duplessis told a press conference it will be studied "in the light of facts."

CIVIC PAYROLL

Quebec (CP) — Quebec City, with about 1,760 employees on the municipal payroll, paid out more than $5,000,000 in wages during 1955, reports city personnel manager Paul Simard.

Honor Accorded to Loyal Red Cross Worker

The regular monthly meeting of the Lachute Red Cross group was held in the United Church hall last Wednesday afternoon with the president, Mrs. Linton Armstrong, in the chair.

It was reported that four articles had been given out from the Loan Cupboard. The name of Police Chief Trepanier was added to the committee in charge of this loan supply.

The dates of September 18-19 were announced as Blood Donor Clinic days.

Mrs. George McGibbon, convener of Swimming and Water Safety, suggested that the Red Cross cooperate with the Rotary Club in encouraging youth to learn to swim. It was agreed to spend up to $25 and the matter was left with the convener.

The treasurer's resignation was received with regret. The president, on behalf of the branch, thanked Miss McOuat and extended very best wishes, and welcomed Mrs. W. FitzGerald as the treasurer.

The Campaign treasurer, Mrs. H. Rigg, reported that $1,800 was now in the treasury and a complete report would be given just as soon as all returns had been made.

At the close of the business session, the president, Mrs. Armstrong, announced she had a pleasant duty to perform in according honor to Mrs. J. R. Charron, convener of Supplies and Packing, who had carried on so faithfully and efficiently for many years. She then called on Mrs. E. H. Wilson, who has set a notable example of loyal service in this branch. (It has been faithful members like these who have kept the branch operating in times of peace as well as during the years of war.) Mrs. Wilson then expressed her pleasure in presenting the honorary membership pin and certificate to Mrs. Charron. Mrs. Charron thanked the branch and all those with whom she had worked.

Tea was served and the continuous work of sewing, knitting and quilting went on.

(Lady readers are asked to participate, and turn up next Wednesday to help those who are carrying on such worthwhile effort)

Plans Progressing for Local Art Exhibition

Preparations are going forward for the exhibition of local art to be held in the United Church hall, St. Andrews East, on May 26.

The committee hopes that all artists wishing to exhibit will send their pictures in not later than May 16, to give ample time for arrangement and hanging. Paintings of landscapes, still life, figures (draped) or portraits, will be acceptable.

It is, of course, understood that though every care will be taken by the committee, the pictures will be loaned at the owner's risk.

Cleric from Ireland For Presbyt'n Charge

A call to the Rev. James Armour, of Kilbride Presbyterian Church, Doagh, Ireland, by the congregations of the Margaret Rodger Memorial and Brownsburg Presbyterian Churches, was duly approved at a meeting of the Montreal presbytery of the Presbyterian Church of Canada.

A joint meeting of the two local congregations was held last week, at which time the unanimous decision was made. The Rev. Armour is expected in Lachute to take over his new charge early this summer.

Brownsburg Bows To Kemptville for Citizen Shield

Brownsburg — The hockey season is over, and the Bombers have to be content with the cup which they won so meritoriously. They could have had the Ottawa Citizen Shield to go along with it, but they didn't reach their cup-winning form in the final, and in such a short series you cannot afford to have a "bad night".

On Monday of last week they squared the series at 1-1.

On Saturday night after the long jaunt to Brockville the boys took a period to find themselves — the ice was bigger, the rink bigger, and the boards higher than anything our boys are used to — and it was 3-1 at the end of the frame. Only Willis McAdam played in top form, and his bulldog fenacity earned him a poke-shot goal.

In the second period our boys were a little better, but still were fortunate to match Kemptville's goal. Bombers' goal, however, was a lovely solo effort by Honoré Norbonne, on a pass way back from Gerry Tremblay.

In the third period Brownsburg started to play their best hockey and when Willis McAdam's 20-footer blinked the light, it looked as if Brownsburg would skate the tiring Kemptville team into the ice. Half-way through the period, with the equalizer due anytime, it was Kemptville which scored, on a break-away. Just over a minute later they tallied again, on a nicely executed three-on-one play — and the shield was Kemptville property.

In the last minutes goaler Buddy Racine was unfortunate for the umpteenth time this season, when the puck deflected to his mouth; both lips had to be stitched and he lost several teeth. André Ouellette filled in very ably for the rest of the game.

Despite their loss the town can be justly proud of its hockey club — the 1956 Q.O.H.L. champs.

The victory dance will be held at the Flamingo Grill, on Friday evening, April 13.

LACHUTE HIGH SCHOOL SPORTS AND ACTIVITIES

By Eileen Dwyer

Further distinction in the sports field was won for Lachute High School last Saturday by Reggie Stansfield. The scene of the championship tournament was McGill University. Reggie was virtually unknown at the start of the tournament — this being his first competitive gymnastic event, and therefore his first time to partake in the Provincial Tournament.

Reggie won his championship in the rings, for he was superior to any juniors there. Only 15 years old, he started in the Junior class, that is, for persons 19 or younger. He scored 212 points in the rings, and the runner-up scored only 177 points. Because of this easy victory, he was given permission to start in the Senior Men's rings. Reggie was again terrific. He came second — something never before attained by a junior. Proof of his prowess — he defeated a Swedish gymnast who was a member of Sweden's Olympics team in 1952.

Reggie also started in the parallel bar, long horse, and free-hand calisthenics. The parallel bar was the first event on the program, and unfortunately Reggie headed the list of competitors. He was very nervous, and when he began his routine, he forgot what to do. His instructor, Mr. A. Petersen, told him to jump down and asked for permission to let him make a second effort. This was allowed, but as in such cases, 10% of his score was deducted. After a short pep-talk, Reggie did his routine again. This time, he was more successful. His initial score was 202. The deduction left him 181 points, two below the score of Ohlich of Noranda, who received 183 points.

In the long horse, Reggie came second with 205 points. The winner scored 207 points, so the contest was very close. Reggie was somewhat handicapped in this event. He had to use a "betboard" while jumping, and the local school does not have one of these in its array of equipment.

Reggie, in his start in the free-hand calisthenics, came third with a score of 188 points.

Now, Reggie Stansfield is looking forward to the Dominion Championship, which will be held in Toronto. The High School will have a good chance for that championship.

Mr. Petersen believes that if the school gets a high bar in time for Reggie to become adept on it, the young man will be a good contender for the next Canadian Olympics team.

Congratulations to Reg Stanfield and Coach Petersen for past achievements! Good luck for future attempts!

United Bowling Finals And Banquet Next Week

The annual turkey banquet and final game of the United Church Bowling League will be held next Monday evening. The banquet, for members and invited guests only, will start at 6.30 p.m. sharp.

The semi-finals were played on Monday of this week. The Lachute Road team (Mrs. E. Barker) defeated the Red Cross foursome (Mrs. F. McGill) with total scores of 7-13, 20 to 8-4, 12 — the former team entering the final.

The other semi-final was played between W.M.S. Reds (Miss G. Rosser) and W.M.S. Blues (Mrs. H. Riddell). This was a very keen and close battle all the way. With the score even at the end of the ninth end, the Blues were placed with a three count, when the very last ball by Miss Rosser came into count, giving them a win of 7-6.

The final game between W.M.S. Reds and Lachute Road will commence around 8 p.m. Presentation of prizes will follow the game.

Clancy Climbs to Management Niche

By Peter Maitland
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Toronto (CP) — Francis Michael (King) Clancy, who inherited the "King" title from his football-playing father and then earned it as one of the National Hockey League's most colorful players, has moved to another vantage point from which to watch his beloved Toronto Maple Leafs.

Clancy's appointment last week as assistant manager after three years as coach of the Toronto team is the latest addition to the patchwork career of the lantern-jawed Ottawa Irishman who broke into professional hockey with the old Ottawa Senators in 1921.

For Clancy, who saw the Leafs squeak into the NHL semi-finals this year in the final game, the promotion was a happy one, although Leafs were eliminated in the Stanley Cup playoffs by Detroit Red Wings.

"I'm tickled to death to get out from behind the bench. Coaching is the toughest job in the world," he remarked.

Always Aggressive

Although only five feet seven inches and weighing about 157 in his best playing years, Clancy is remembered as one of the most aggressive players in the NHL during his years as a Toronto defenceman.

One story tells how he talked the Leafs into a win over Boston Bruins in a Stanley Cup semi-final.

Leafs were trailing Bruins 3-0 in a two-game total goal series in 1934. In the first period of the second game, Toronto's Red Horner deflected a shot in to the Boston goal for Leaf's first tally.

Clancy skated over to Shore.

"You're not gonna let that bum (the referee) get away with it, are you?" he asked sympathetically. "That's a terrible decision. You're being robbed. . . "

Shore, incensed, fired the puck at the referee. When he was given a two-minute penalty, the Boston player hurled the puck into the crowd. A 10-minute misconduct penalty was added and the spark-plug of the Bruins was in the cooler for 12 minutes. Leafs scored four goals to win that game 8-3.

Born in Ottawa in 1903, Clancy was a Stanley Cup winner before joining Leafs in 1930. In his nine years with Ottawa, the Senators won the Stanley Cup three times.

Grass Fire Causes Property Damage

For several hours yesterday afternoon, Lachute volunteer firemen battled a grass fire on the St. Andrews Road which ignited a shed and garage belonging to Lindsay Demerse. Considerable loss was caused to equipment and furniture burned in the garage, and approximately 1½ acres of grass was burned.

The fire was inadvertently set by a neighbor to the south and got out of hand, the wind sweeping it past two houses.

The fire crew laid over 1,000 feet of hose, one line being laid from the hydrant in front of the Catholic cemetery, and one from a creek that runs behind the property.

Anglican Bowlers Stage Final Games

The Anglicans concluded their regular bowling season with a best-two-out-of-three match between Detroit and the Stars to determine second place in the league standing — with Detroit taking the honors.

Following the serving of refreshments by the ladies, the chairman, Wyman Strong, made a few well chosen remarks and then called upon the Rev. C. R. Lang to present the prizes to the following winning teams —

League Champions

Dawstrel — Geo. Leggett (skip), Mrs. Comba, Mrs. Jenkins, Mrs. Evans.

Runners-Up

Detroit — Wyman Strong (skip), Mrs. H. Neil, Miss R. Dawson, Mrs. G. Silverson.

Third Place

Stars — G. Silverson (skip), E. Strong, Mrs. L. Dawson, D. Brown.

A presentation was made to Miss Elizabeth Strong, chairman of the match committee, for her painstaking work in arranging the weekly schedules and posting scores.

Arrangements were also completed for the military whist, in aid of the Building Fund, to be held in the church hall on April 19 commencing at 8.30 p.m. sharp.

It DOES matter which Oil Burner you buy!

If you're in the market for an oil burner, there are dozens for you to choose from. They all look very much alike. They all burn oil. Some are pretty efficient, others less so. But, unless you're an engineer, there's no way for you to decide which burner is best for your needs, except by insisting on one made by a reputable, long-established manufacturer. Like Smart's, for example. We recommend Smart's series "A" oil burners because when we sell one we know that the customer is going to be satisfied with the deal, for a long time. If that seems to you to be a good reason for buying a Smart's oil burner, let us show you the complete range, and tell you all about them.

Cars ARE MY Line

by ARMAND DESROSIERS

The fact that highway speed laws aren't really set by any scientific study of safety, but just seem to be numbers pulled from a hat, becomes especially apparent when you drive through the U.S. You may cross two or three states in a day and find the speed limit jumping up and down between 50, 55 and 60.

The American Automobile Association recently proposed a new method for setting highway speed limits. The idea is to let motorists themselves decide what a safe speed is.

It's done, like so many things these days, with radar. The AAA has found that a safe speed is usually the speed travelled by 85 per cent of drivers on any particular road. So the AAA has asked that state-wide or province-wide speed laws, many of them unrealistically low, be abolished in favor of the speed that radar devices show is the usual speed of 85 per cent of motorists.

Figures I noticed recently showed that, contrary to what I always believed, most highway accidents don't happen at high speeds. A study in Nebraska established that 73 per cent of all accidents occurred at less than 30 miles an hour. When speed limits were raised in Nebraska accidents were reduced and the average speed of the cars on the highway didn't change at all, which only went to prove drivers were ignoring old speed limits anyway and driving at what they thought was a safe speed.

You just have to conclude that most drivers are ordinary people with good horse sense. We think so, so we have built our good name in the used car business by giving year-in, year-out value and satisfaction. Our best advertisement is the number of people who've come back time after time to buy cars from us.

Spring in Canada

"The Thawing Wind" Wed. Night Feature

By Harry J. Boyle

What does spring mean? Is it the sound of the crows in a cawing chorus? Is it the symphony of frog sounds from a pond nearby?

Perhaps you feel the rebirth and reawakening of nature when you hear the first sound of a robin. On the other hand spring may come into your heart when the wind lays velvet fingers on your cheek.

"The Thawing Wind" rides into Canada across Vancouver Island and the Niagara Peninsula in Ontario. It comes later to the rest of Canada. You go to bed one night and winter's cold breath is still around you, and then overnight a miracle of weather has happened.

The inch of open window brings a warm breath. You look outside and the sun is shining. You hear the geese honking on their northward flight and when you go out on the verandah you have that tremendous sense of a miracle. The world, after its winter sleep, is coming to life again.

There is a sense of the stirring of pulses and the brook chuckles and the horses stamp in their stalls, anxious to be out and sharing in the wonderment of a spring morning.

The farmer feels it. The merchant comes out and rubs his palms on his white apron and starts piling seed grain, formaldehyde and garden seeds on the sidewalk and all the accoutrements necessary for the man who tills the soil.

"The Thawing Wind" has come! On April 18 from 8 to 10 CBC Wednesday Night will attempt to portray the arrival of Spring in Canada, with words written by Jimmy James, spoken by J. Frank Willis and accompanied by the music of Louis Applebaum, and the voices of many Canadians.

Norman Hollingshead will produce "The Thawing Wind."

Tips on Touring

By Carol Lane
Women's Travel Authority

You don't have to travel far to find fascinating facets of Canadian life to explore. Chances are, unusual and entertaining adventures lie only a few moments' drive from your doorstep in your own home town.

For instance, have you ever been behind the scenes of the creamery, the bakery, the newspaper plant in your community? They're as amazing as they are educational — even though their products are as familiar as breathing. An advance telephone call to the plant is usually enough to insure that you and your party will receive a royal welcome — and free samples, too.

Saturdays in some nearby town, the wholesale produce section is probably a beehive of bustling activity. Here's where fruits, vegetables, spices — and sometimes meats and fresh fish — mingle shapes, colors and aromas.

Perhaps some unusual industries are located nearby. Could be a chair-caning factory or an iron foundry. Or you might plan a visit to a local handicraft class to observe amateur artisans produce work of art. It might give you inspiration for a highly productive hobby.

Adventures like these are only a short drive from your front door. Why not pack the kids into the car for a trip treat just a little way from Main Street?

BOOK WEEK IN CANADA

(April 17 at 11 p.m. on CBC)

For a special Book Week program on "Anthology", three speakers will take a look at the past decade in Canadian writing. The poet A. J. M. Smith, who is also editor of "The Book of Canadian Poetry" and other anthologies, talks about what has been happening in poetry since 1945. Malcolm Ross, editor of the "Queen's Quarterly", makes a survey of the novel in the last ten years. And Morley Callaghan gives a working writer's impressions of the decade.

For Community Concert Here April 18

Blonde and beautiful, Beverly Bower is the rising young soprano star of the concert and opera world who will appear here next Wednesday at Lachute High School, under the auspices of Community Concerts. Opening her first tour for Columbia Artists Management by appearing with the Cleveland Summer Pops Orchestra in July 1954, she was the subject of a special letter from conductor Louis Lane, who wrote that "all of our soloists were good, but it was a special pleasure to work with Miss Bower, both because of her lovely voice and fine musicianship. It is rare to hear young singers who sing as musically, and I am sure she will go far." Miss Bower's singing awards include finalist in the Voice of Tomorrow Contest and winner of the Pennsylvania Federation of Music Clubs auditions.

Danny Vaughan

Denny Vaughan, star of his own Monday night television show, whose latest hit recording, "Walk Hand In Hand" is now sweeping the United States.

English Folklore

Wallace House, a versatile performer who is noted especially for his mastery of various English dialects, will be the guest on TV "Folk Songs" on Wednesday, April 18, in a program of music and folk lore from the British Isles. Born in Guernsey, Channel Islands, he moved to Toronto at the age of nine with his parents, developed an interest in theatre work and later took an active part in drama productions in Toronto, on the stage and the radio. He went to New York and worked in a great many Broadway plays as actor, director, stage manager and music consultant. Then he joined the faculties of New York University and Columbia University, teaching theatre and folk songs. At present he is on the staff of both these universities as an assistant professor of speech. At New York University he also coordinates courses in radio, stage and television. On "Folk Songs" he plans to do some English country songs in dialect and give a reading of the well-known story, "Albert and the Lion." He will provide his own accompaniment on a Spanish lute.

Written Specially for The Lachute Watchman

By Oli Daum, Canadian Press Staff Writer

Seed catalogues aren't the only literature women are poring over these days. Everyone from career girls to wives is thumbing through travel folders, dreaming of the long-awaited holiday that comes but once a year.

Glorious vacation time — it's everyone's opportunity to throw responsibilities to the winds. But a word of caution — it won't be as carefree as supposed if you haven't chosen the proper wardrobe and luggage.

Before departure you press your clothes so you'll look your best. You take great pains to pack them, hoping nothing will be crushed when you reach your destination. And when you open the bag, a mess of wrinkles greets the eye. Out goes the holiday and in comes the iron again — if you're lucky enough to have one available.

The careful tripper makes sure of a wardrobe of costumes in lightweight, crease-resistant fabrics, preferably those that can be dipped and donned without ironing. But new lines in luggage are tall and slim which means less folding for dresses and suits. Luggage is so light you needn't bother checking it and one new dress carrier is designed to let clothes hang up on an overnight train.

Three sides of the bag can be "unzipped", letting the lid fold down and clothes hang freely. They'll take the journey just as comfortably as if they were back home in the closet. Even for hotel stops there's no need to take things out — no unpacking today and re-packing tomorrow.

Baggage departments of Canadian stores, incidentally, report that everyone has itchy feet. Well, happy holiday!

No Cooking

If the way to his heart is through his stomach, try this recipe for lemon pie filling, made without cooking:

1½ cups (15-ounce tin) sweetened condensed milk; ½ cup lemon juice; 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind or ½ teaspoon lemon extract; 2 eggs, separated; ½ teaspoon cream of tartar; 4 tablespoons sugar.

Blend milk, lemon juice, grated lemon or lemon extract and egg yolks. Pour into chilled 8-inch crumb crust or cooled pastry shell. Add cream of tartar to egg whites and beat until almost stiff. Then add sugar gradually, beating until stiff but not dry. Pile lightly on pie filling and bake in slow oven (325°F) for 15 minutes or until lightly browned. Cool and serve.

A Tasty Bridge-Time Snack

CHOCOLATE-PRALINE NUGGETS

What would a friendly game of bridge be like without lots of coffee, a heaping plateful of cookies, coffee and time out for a chat? One thing is sure. It wouldn't be half as much fun as it is with them!

High on the list of favorite between-rubber snacks are all bar-type cookies. Chocolate-Praline Nuggets are a perfect example. Their spicy flavor has a natural affinity for a cup of steaming coffee and they have that "chewey" texture which is so popular. You'll find that they keep quite fresh and moist through the next day, if you should happen to have any left over. Don't worry about them being around for longer than that. They're high on husbands' and children's favorite cooky lists, too.

Have enough coffee brewed at the beginning of the evening to carry you through and remember that coffee must be kept hot, not re-heated. Stand the coffee server on an asbestos mat or stove pad over a low flame after the "firsts" have been poured.

Chocolate-Praline Nuggets

½ Cup shortening, 2 cups brown sugar (firmly packed), 1 teaspoon vanilla, ½ cup broken walnuts, ½ cup semi-sweet chocolate pieces, 1½ cups sifted enriched flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, 2 eggs (well-beaten).

Melt shortening in large saucepan. Remove from heat; add brown sugar, eggs, vanilla, walnuts and chocolate. Mix and sift remaining ingredients; add. Bake in greased shallow pan about 12 x 8 x 1 inches, lined with waxed paper. Bake in moderate oven, 350°F., 30 to 35 minutes. Cool. Invert pan; remove waxed paper. Cut diagonally in 2 directions to make diamond-shaped pieces. Makes about 24.

Veal, Plain or Fancy

by the Consumer Section, Canada Dept. of Agriculture Marketing Service

Whether it is to be served plain or dressed up with a special sauce or seasoning, fresh veal is a treat we can all enjoy. It is a mild-flavored meat but, if combined with just the right seasonings, it perks up and becomes one of the tastiest of meat dishes.

Some of the herbs and spices good with veal, are savoury, thyme, garlic, marjoram, oregano, curry, paprika, parsley and mustard. These may be used alone or in combinations such as garlic and ginger, mustard and grated cheese, or savoury and chopped onion. The seasonings can be sprinkled on a roast or added to the crumb mixture to be used in breading veal chops or cutlets.

While basting is not necessary for a plain roast, if some special seasoning is desired it can be added to a little broth and poured over the roast several times during cooking. For example, a little minced garlic or onion along with rosemary and a dash of nutmeg might be used in the basting liquid.

Sour cream is another food used often in veal cookery for it gives the meat a delightful flavor and seems to make it more tender, too. It is generally used with the smaller cuts of veal but it can be used in the gravy to serve with a roast or in a sauce to dress up slices of left-over roast veal. It is also used with stewing veal, as in this Consumer Section recipe for delicious Hungarian Goulash:

Hungarian Goulash

1 Pound stewing veal, 1 pound stewing beef, 6 tablespoons flour, 2 teaspoons salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 1 teaspoon caraway seeds, 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce, 1 medium onion, sliced 3½ cups water or vegetable liquid, ½ cup sour cream, 1 teaspoon paprica.

Cut meat into 1-inch cubes and brown on all sides in hot fat. Sprinkle flour over meat and brown again slightly. Add seasonings, onion and water or vegetable liquid. Cover and simmer 2 hours. Just before serving add the sour cream. Serve over cooked noodles and garnish with parsley. Serves 6.

Remedy Fire Hazards At Spring Cleaning Time

Every home can be a potential fire trap — a fact proved each year by more than 40,000 residential fires costing Canadians an estimated $20,000,000 — according to the All Canada Insurance Federation.

Warning that fire hazards in the average home are numerous, officials of the Federation recommended the following precautions for spring-cleaning time:

2—Clean out attics, garages, sheds and other areas where inflammable rubbish accumulates.

3—Inflammable heating and cleaning fluids should be stored in well-marked safety cans.

4—Oily rags or clothing soaked with paint, cleaning fluid or wax should be cleaned immediately or destroyed.

5—Clean up old leaves and rubbish around the house, particularly from leaves and shrubbery.

7—Chimneys and furnaces should be given a thorough cleaning.

8—Have electric circuits thoroughly checked by qualified electricians.

When waxing your dining room table, make sure to include the extra leaves of the table to avoid embarrassment the next time they are used.

"THERE GOES BICYCLE"

(U.S. Representative Keating in radio speech)

In these prosperous days, youngsters are really getting married early. Reminds me of a family I know. The son is 17 and he'd been threatening to elope if they didn't okay his marriage to a 16 year old. So finally they gave in. At the wedding, when they got to the part of the ceremony where the boy repeats after the minister "With all my worldly goods, I thee endow", the mother turned to the father and whispered, "There goes junior's bicycle."

Lindsay, Ont. (CP) — Mrs. Mary Curtin lost her cat last August. Tabby, a bit bedraggled, returned to home comforts recently.

Keep Costume Simple Under Big New Hats

The big question this spring is what to wear with the new gorgeously bulky, really "hatty" hats? You may have splurged on a hat topped with tiers of tulle, without giving a thought to what you could wear under it. You face no problem if you can sew.

Your choice of costume should be dressy enough to do justice to the hat, but you would do well to choose a classic fabric and pattern. In this way, attention will be centred on the hat and you will have a costume you can wear with other more modest hats as well.

Silk or a silk blend is one of the fabrics in favor this season which suits these requirements beautifully. All kinds of silks are being featured this year at reasonable prices and, what is more — they are washable.

To avoid over-doing the dressy effect, you should choose a plain colored silk rather than a print. If you cannot resist a touch of print, confine it to the lining of a plain suit jacket or put a print dress beneath a plain coat. Choose a pattern cut on slim lines to offset the width and bulk of the hat.

Fashions

A synthetic fabric normally used for home furnishing, is shown here in a sheer weave translated into afternoon wear. The material is pleated at the neckline to give an interesting collar effect, while the full skirt falls from a dropped waistline. Fabric and design are all-Canadian.

FOR PARENTS ONLY...

A Weekly Feature of Helpful Hints on Chad Training

Your Child's Hearing

(Copyright) — By NANCY CLEAVER —

A child's ability to hear is of great importance to him all through his life. It is true that hearing devices and the use of lipreading help the individual who is handicapped by some degree of deafness. Nevertheless, any impairment of this faculty is a very real handicap. It is small comfort for the deaf person to be told, "Well, after all, your trouble is not so bad as blindness!"

Most babies are born with a normal sense of hearing. It is the parents task to guard this precious heritage. What are the threats to health which may result in deafness?

Ear trouble often accompanies or follows one of the infectious diseases such as scarlet fever or measles. Severe and continuous colds, sinus infection, tonsilitis, diseased adenoids, may produce swelling or an abcess in the middle ear and cause much pain. Unless a doctor is consulted and his instructions followed to the letter, a child's hearing may be damaged.

Small children sometimes put tiny objects such as a wooden bead or a bean into their ear. If mother can see the object, it can usually be taken out easily. But if it has disappeared, or if it is stuck, never use force or poke at it.

Whenever in doubt about ear complications, phone the doctor's office. Once in a while a small insect may enter a child's ear. A drop or two of warmed (not hot) sweet oil, or easter oil may be dropped into the ear, if medical help is not available.

Wax should never be removed from the ear by a child poking in a match, bobby pin, or sharp object. There is too great a possibility of the ear drum being pierced or the ear harmed in some other way. Mother should remove the wax very gently from the outer ear. If it is hard, impacted or troublesome, check with the doctor.

Swimming in polluted water can sometimes be blamed for ear infection. Some people cannot dive from a high place without protecting their ears from possible rupture of the eardrum. A beginner should learn how to dive properly. Swimming under water and diving affect some youngsters adversely. If they seem to be a risk to a child's health they should be avoided or the ears protected with rubber plugs.

If there is pain in the child's ear, noises of any kind, or a discharge, take the youngster to the doctor at once. Quite a number of children have poor hearing. This defect is not detected because they do not actually complain of discomfort.

If a little child is frequently inattentive when called, if he is very slow to talk, and when he starts his articulation is poor or he mispronounces quite a number of words, parents should have the child's hearing tested carefully by a specialist or a physician. Irritability and fatigue are results of partial deafness on the part of both children and adults.

The child who is starting to school usually is required to have a medical check-up. Should his hearing be poor the doctor will likely discover this. If mother is in doubt, she should speak to the doctor of his symptoms. Some modern schools are now using a machine which can find if a child's hearing is even slightly below par.

Not a few children have been considered dull, or have made very poor school grades simply because they could not hear properly. Truancy presents a problem when a boy hates the schoolroom. There he is always near the bottom of the class. Neither teacher nor parents have realized that the reason for his actions may be traced to his partial deafness.

No parent wants her child to do anything but his best at school. If you suspect your child is handicapped, consult a doctor without delay. Give him every possible chance to overcome his difficulty. Ears are precious — they deserve the best of care!

Interesting Program At Frontier W. Inst.

An interesting meeting of Frontier W.I. was held in Elliott's Hall on Tuesday afternoon, much business being discussed. After the business session, a discussion of Facts and Fancies was held in dialogue form by the different conveners, the script having been prepared by Mrs. A. Graham as Publicity convener.

The end of the discussion was a lovely legend in connection with the Dogwood tree, which at the time of Christ was a stout tree much like the oak, and was used for various purposes. According to the legend, the Dogwood tree was chosen for wood to construct the cross upon which our Saviour was crucified. Sorrowfully the tree asked His forgiveness, and heard His whisper, "Because of your sorrow, never again shall the Dogwood tree grow large enough to make a cross. Instead it shall be slender and twisted; its petals shall be in the form of a cross, with nails red and rust on one side, and all who look will remember."

During the roll-call, "Something of interest from the newspapers, especially The Lachute Watchman," brought many interesting views concerning our home-town paper. Only two answered otherwise, and their minds wandered to the Frozen North with Governor-General Sir Vincent Massey. Regarding The Watchman, one member said, "I like the news items from the different places, and especially from my own corner. I would not know what my neighbors were doing if it was not for The Watchman." Another favored the special feature "Through the Years"; and "Sunny Acres" by Mrs. Cook, a former teacher in the Lachute Academy, whom some of the mothers present remembered as "Iva M. Neil", the signature on the report cards. Ethel Kettyle's Seigniory Club articles received mention. In fact, many of The Watchman features were roll-call replies.

Winners in the jumbled letters contest, naming different papers and magazines, were Mrs. M. Wilson and Mrs. P. Clark.

The group was pleased to welcome Mrs. L. Wilson as a new member, and Mrs. H. Bailey at a previous meeting.

Laying Plans for Home-School Fedn. Quebec Convention

Montreal — The 12th annual convention of the Quebec Federation of Home and School Associations to be held at McGill University (Physical Sciences Building) on May 4-5, promises to set a new attendance record — according to Douglas Walkington, president.

Registrations received to date indicate that there will be more than 500 delegates and representatives from 152 local associations connected to schools situated throughout the province, from the Gaspé peninsula to the northern mining area.

Featured on the two-day program will be the president's reception, workshop discussions, association highlights and reports of standing committees.

Main event at the president's reception will be a "Fighting Words" panel discussion on quotations related to current curriculum problems. L. Mowbray Clark will be moderator, with teachers and parents having equal representation on the panel.

The Buzzell Award for outstanding contribution to "Home and School" will be presented at the closing dinner on Saturday evening at the Ritz-Carlton Hotel.

Plans for the annual May convention of Quebec Home and School members are discussed by Douglas Walkington (centre), president; Miss M. Van Vliet (left), director; Mrs. P. J. Dow, vice-president, conference committee; and F. W. Price (right), committee chairman. Discussions and workshops of special interest to parents will be featured on the convention agenda.

Language Classes Show Encouraging Success

Saint John, N.B. (CP) — One evening each week the Saint John Vocational School looks like a miniature United Nations building — but there are no dissenting votes.

Natives of Germany, Norway, Denmark, Greece and China congregate in the building every week in an attempt to solve one common problem — the language barrier.

I. Newton Fanjoy, of the school staff, points out objects and gets the class to say their name. Then he tells them to step forward or step backward. And it's only a matter of time before the English language begins to make sense to the New Canadians.

The classes were started in 1947 shortly after the first group of displaced persons arrived in Saint John, and have carried on ever since with remarkable success.

Ruth Christopher, the school's English teacher, was the first to instruct the class and she said the first lesson drew a gathering of students who sat apart, nervous and watchful. Because of different education standards and the many native languages involved, it was a major task. But after eight years, she said there is no question about its success.

The program was first instituted at the request of the Unemployment Insurance Commission which had difficulty placing immigrants who couldn't speak English. Since then some students have gone on to high school, most to better jobs and many to trade schools.

School principal W. B. Mann said that when classes were started "we were very dubious about it . . . but now with the excellent textbooks and help provided by the federal department of immigration, we consider it one of our most successful classes."

Andrew Mellon, collecting paintings for the National Gallery of Art in Washington in 1930-31, paid $544,000 for Titian's "Venus with a Mirror"; $745,000 for Raphael's "St. George and the Dragon"; $838,000 for Botticelli's "Adoration of the Magi". Mellon's top payment, according to the current Reader's Digest, was $1,166,000 for Raphael's "Alba Madonna."

How Have the Mighty Fallen

By Lewis Milligan

When I read the reports of Nikita Khrushchev's debunking of his former hero and master, Stalin, the address of Mark Anthony over the body of Caesar came to mind, and it might be transposed thus: "But yesterday the word of Stalin might have stood against the world; now he lies there, and none so poor to do him reverence." If Stalin could have spoken, he might have exclaim, "Et tu, Khrushchev!"

Of all the derogatory things we have said or thought about the late Soviet dictator while he was alive, none was so sweepingly defamatory as those uttered by his former friend and accomplice over the dead body. It took some courage for Brutus to stab the living Caesar in a public place, but it was easy for Khrushchev to stab and re-stab the dead body of Stalin — to whom he was afraid to say "Boo!" when he was alive.

Nothing in Greek tragedies, or in history, can match that which has befallen the mighty potentates who have strutted their little hour on the world's stage in recent times. The historical facts of the last seventeen years are stranger, more exaggerated than any fiction. And this latest gymnastic performance by the new Communist Party boss was so strange and unexpected as to be incredible at first. Khrushchev performed so many sommersaults at so marvelous a speed that he became unrecognizable in the process. We could hardly believe it was the same man. Compared with his feats, the transformation of Dr. Jeckyl into Mr. Hyde was child's play.

Could this really be the same brutal Khrushchev who ruled the Ukraine with an iron hand, who aided and abetted Stalin in murders and banishments to Siberian labor camps? Yes, he was the same man, but he was now reformed — transformed like Stalin into an angel of light. No, he was not humble and repentent, nor did he confess himself a sinner. He was the innocent victim of a bloodthirsty tyrant and if he had taken a leading part in the murders and banishments of his own friends he had done so merely to save his own skin.

It has been suggested that perhaps he did shoot him eventually, but I doubt it, for he would have been shot in return and that would have eliminated him from the race to succeed Stalin. He and the other big bosses already knew that Malenkov had been chosen by the chief for that position, and they ganged-up to divide the spoils of office. Beria was next in line of power and they disposed of him at once.

Then came the scramble for the dictatorship, as was predicted by Winston Churchill seven years ago. The aspirants could not agree on priority. Each wanted the big job, but realized that it would be foolish to shoot one another. One pointed out that they could not all be dictators, whereat Nikita Khrushchev exclaimed: "Why not? Let's all be dictators, collectively, and I'll be the interlocutor." — And it was so. Like the little cock-sparrow that sat on a tree in the nursery rhyme, Malenkov said to himself. "I'll be shot if I stay, so he flapped his wings and flew away."

That is the inside story as received from a reliable source, and if you should insist upon my revealing the source, I would refer you to the scripture: "Curse not the king, no, not in thy bedchamber; for a bird of the air shall carry the voice, and that which hath wings shall tell the matter."

SAFETY RECORD

Fredericton (CP) — The New Brunswick Power Commission's plant at Grand Lake is the first to reach a commission safety goal of 250,000 accident-free working hours. The plant employs 100 men.

One question on an examination given to Royal Australian Air Force trainees posed this problem: "What is the first thing you would do if you were piloting an aircraft and the Queen of England fell out of the back seat?"

The answers varied a good deal. "I'd swoop down and try to catch her," said one hopeful.

"Commit suicide," said another.

"Disappear," said a third.

Why HFC customers are satisfied

IF YOU would inquire in your community—or in any community from coast to coast—you would find thousands of satisfied customers who, like the person who wrote the letter above, are glad to recommend HFC. Why? Simply because when they needed money help most, our business—making small cash loans—helped most to keep their family a going concern.

Are all our customers completely satisfied? No, not all. No company pleases all its customers all the time. But for every one dissatisfied HFC customer, you will find thousands of satisfied ones.

These customers respect Household Finance for advising them that a loan should be made only for constructive purposes. This is one of the reasons why more people borrow from HFC—and recommend HFC—than any other consumer finance company.

Canadian Wildlife Week —

Scouts Adopt 'Conservation' for National Good Turn

During Canadian Wildlife Week (April 8 to 14) Canadian Boy Scouts are staging their national good turn for 1956, "Conservation" —every member of the Association, from the youngest Wolf Cub to the Chief Commissioner, having an opportunity to participate.

Typical of the Canada-wide ceremonies marking the start of the Good Turn was a rally of several thousand Scouts in City Hall Square in Toronto. There a 12-foot sign featuring the slogan "Serve by Conserving" was unveiled and the Scouts made the Conservation Pledge. A symbolic tree was planted. This week the Scouts will re-enact the ceremony in their home communities.

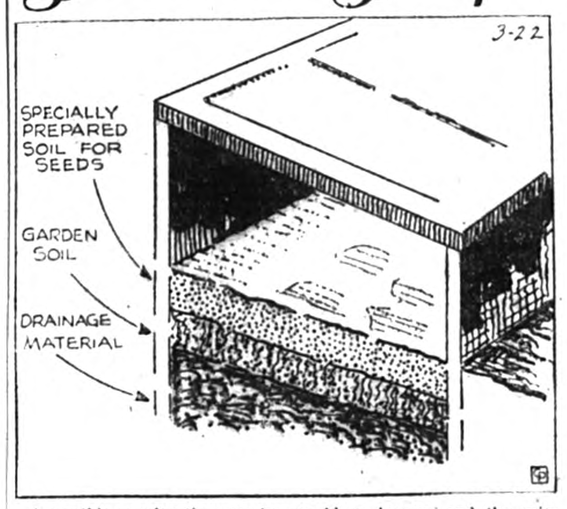

This National Good Turn, which has been selected as the theme of Scouting in Canada for 1956, is Conservation in its widest sense. Perhaps the greatest benefit from it will lie in the lessons which the boys themselves learn; lessons which will help the next generation to overcome carelessness in handling our natural resources.

Quebec has its own particular problems of conservation. Reforestation, fire protection, and the problems of water pollution and soil erosion rank high among them. Scouts from individual districts will carry out programs based on the vital needs of their own areas, and, it is hoped, in collaboration with local Fish and Game Associations and similar groups who are interested in the wise use of our natural resources.

Canadian Scouts have served their country well in war and peace. Their 1956 project is a job that needs doing. We are sure they will do it well.

Garden-Graph

A month's growing time can be gained for your garden by the use of a cold frame. All the hardy vegetables such as lettuce, cauliflower and cabbage can be sown as early as desired in a cold frame. The more tender varieties, however, such as tomatoes and peppers, should not be sown until after the danger of freezing weather is past.

When seeds are to be planted directly into the soil in a cold frame, the soil should be of a light, friable nature which will not become soggy and heavy when wet.

As shown in the accompanying garden-graph, place a top layer of especially prepared soil in the cold frame. This soil should be composed of two parts of good top soil and one part of leaf mould or humus, and the mixture finely sifted.

To assure good drainage in the cold frame, first remove some eight inches of soil at the bottom of the frame, then break up the bottom soil. Next fill in with a four-inch layer of small stones, cinders or other drainage material, as indicated in the garden-graph. On top of this place a four-inch layer of good garden soil, which should bring the soil level of the cold frame back to the height of the original soil surface. On top of this place several inches of the seed soil mentioned above.

To give the newly placed soil time to warm up before seeds are planted, keep the frame tightly covered with sash for several days.

Chrysler Corporation Re-enters Commonwealth Export Trade

Windsor — Chrysler Corporation of Canada will shortly commence to ship automobiles to five parts of the British Commonwealth — according to E. C. Row, president and general manager. The company is currently working on orders to supply vehicles to New Zealand, Hong Kong, Jamaica, British Guiana and Singapore.

The cars will be Plymouths and Dodges, most of which will be equipped with right-hand drive.

Shipments to New Zealand will consist of knocked-down components for assembly in that country. Completely Canadian-built vehicles are being shipped to the other destinations.

"These shipments represent our first step in re-entering the export field since the war," Mr. Row said. "Except for a few shipments of components to New Zealand, this market has been cut off to us since 1939.

Scholarships for Science Teachers

The Institute of Education of McGill University has announced that applications will be received until May 15 for two scholarships under the Aid to Education Program of the Du Pont Company of Canada Limited. These are intended to prepare teachers of science for the secondary schools and they are being offered by the Du Pont Company in 10 Canadian Universities. Each scholarship is valued at $1,500 ($2,100 for a married man) and is tenable during the academic session 1956-57. The program is designed to help attract competent science students into the teaching profession and to encourage teachers in secondary schools to improve their competency. Both men and woman students may apply.

One of the scholarships at McGill will be offered to the student in the fourth year of the Bachelor of Education course or a graduate in an honors course in science who will qualify for the High School Diploma in 1957. The second scholarship will be awarded to a teacher in service, having at least two years teaching experience, who will proceed to the degree of M.A. (Education).

Application forms may be obtained from the Institute of Education, Macdonald College, and should be submitted before May 15. Graduates of any recognized university may apply.

Quebec MAKES NEWS

Even from outside the Province an overwhelming new victory is predicted in Quebec for the National Union Government and its leader, the Hon. Maurice L. Duplessis.

"Quebec held its last provincial election in July, 1952. This province which traditionally sends an overwhelming majority of Liberals to Ottawa, gave the National Union of Premier Maurice Duplessis sixty-eight of the ninety-two seats in the Provincial Legislature. There is every indication that Mr. Duplessis will do as well or better this summer."

Raymond Daniell,
New York Times, February 26, 1956.

"We would still prophesy that if or when Mr. Duplessis holds his election he will come back with a bigger majority than he has now."

The Ottawa Journal, January 21, 1956.

"Duplessis' return is a virtual Fait Accompli. Who can doubt that Premier Duplessis will do it again when the provincial elections come next spring? There is nothing in sight which would indicate that Maurice can be beaten by any combination... Duplessis has now been in power since 1944, longer than most other premiers...

Have You A Question on UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE OR EMPLOYMENT?

In this column we publish questions about unemployment insurance and employment, together with answers received from the Unemployment Insurance Commission.

If you are uncertain about any point do not hesitate to send your question to your district Unemployment Insurance office. We will obtain an answer and publish it in this column.

Q. I will be moving to Montreal in the spring. I will undoubtedly have to leave my employment. I would like to know whether it would be possible to draw unemployment benefit until I find another job. If not, would you tell me how to go about finding employment.

A. Whether you will be entitled to draw benefit will depend entirely on the reason for leaving your job. Leaving to go to Montreal may not in itself be sufficient reason — the circumstances bringing about your moving will have to be disclosed. However, the maximum period of disqualification that could be imposed would be for six weeks. If you are looking for employment on your arrival in Montreal you should register with your nearest National Employment Office.

Q. Will you please advise me whether I am eligible to draw unemployment benefit. I worked for ten weeks in 1954, thirteen weeks in 1955 and two weeks this year (1956). At present I am unemployed. Between the working periods of 1954 to 1955 I was farming rented land but due to crop failures I was unable to continue farming.

A. To qualify for regular unemployment insurance benefit, one must have at least 30 weekly contributions in the past two years. You say you have worked for only 25 weeks since the beginning of 1954 and if this was all in insured employment, the maximum number of weekly contributions you could have would be 25 against the 30 required. You, therefore, cannot qualify for regular benefit.

It is noted, however, that you worked 13 weeks in 1955 and two weeks in 1956. If all of this work was in insured employment and all done after March 26, 1955, then you may qualify for seasonal benefit from the date of your claim (but not before the 1st of January) for the period to which you may be entitled (but not after April 21, 1956). It is suggested that if these 15 contributions are all after March 26, 1956, you make application at your local office as soon as possible.

The question of whether you are still engaged in farming will have to be considered also in determining whether you are eligible for benefit.

TOUGH WINTER

Grenv'l, Harrington Fish-Game Assn. Elects Officers

The annual meeting of the Grenville - Harrington Fish and Game Protective Association was held recently in Kilmar Community Hall.

The main point of business was the election of officers for the forthcoming year. Following is the committee elected:

President, Lieut. Col. H. White; vice-president, James Noble; sec.-treas., Orten MacLeod.

District Representatives:

Avoca — Shoddy Young.
Bell Falls — Thomas McNeil.
Harrington — Scot MacLean.
Kilmar — Thoms Fox.
Lost River — Manly Chisholm.
Pointe-au-Chene — Percy Young.
Calumet — Robert Whinfield.
Grenville — Henri Lessard.

A motion was passed which was to be forwarded to the Provincial Department of Fisheries requesting that the opening dates for Trout fishing in the province should be made uniform. The purpose of the request is to protect Rainbow Trout (opening date May 16) which might be hooked during the earlier season of Speckled and Red Trout (opening date April 18). The consensus of the members was that a Rainbow which was hooked and then returned to the water had little chance of surviving.

Once the election of officers and the discussion on opening dates was completed, the president suggested, in view of the lateness of the hour, that he outline the other items on the agenda and that discussion and action on them be delayed until the next meeting, which would be called prior to the opening of the fishing season. This suggestion was followed.

The agenda as outlined by the president, included:

1. A local Sportsmen's Show — a display in a local hall of fishing and outdoor equipment.
2. Rights-of-way to district lakes — the acquisition and maintenance of trails.
3 Stocking of lakes — decision as to which lakes should be stocked this year.
4. Fire Protection Equipment and Training — the purchase of forest fire-fighting equipment and the training of a voluntary brigade.
5. Membership Drive — to increase the membership so that more people will become conservation-conscious.

Two fine colored films were shown through the kindness of Leonard Bedard, Molson's representative in Lachute. These were entitled "Bait Casting for Pike" and "Spinning for Trout".

Canadian Indians have invaded Paris, on a friendly mission, that is. The Redskins, from Banff, Alta., are in the French capital for the rodeo. Here, a Paris policeman is extending a cordial welcome to a chief and a papoose.

Characters in Sport

Any coach, any athletic director, or any Scoutmaster will tell you that the road to success is paved with good living habits.

But there may be one dissenter, a jut-jawed, weatherbeaten old smoothie named Casey Stengel.

The manager of the New York Yankees was holding forth on that subject the other day. "I have two pitchers who are as different as night and day. One is the cleanest living guy I ever saw. He doesn't even smoke. But he couldn't find home plate with a radar screen. The other guy gets home every morning with the milkman. But he has dandy control. How can you figure it?"

No one has ever really solved that question. Of course the best way to train for anything is to live as cleanly as possible.

But there have been a few big-name athletes over the years who had a whimsical approach to training rules.

Without mentioning any names, — there was a first-class boxer some years back who often did his training with some vigorous elbow-bending. He was pretty good, too. People used to wonder, however, if he might not have been a champion with a proper regard to training rules.

The Broklyn Dodgers of the late 1920's used to have much more fun away from the ball park than they did on the field. They even had a fraternity which had as its primary requirement for membership the ability to carouse until dawn.

The Dodgers weren't winning penants in those days. They have been lately. The moral is obvious.

Indian Fish Wheel Still Shows Value

Hope, B.C. (CP) — The old Indian fish wheel idea has been adopted by the federal fisheries department for tagging salmon.

Such a wheel was installed on the Fraser river near here this fall, and was pronounced an immediate success by R. McLaren, biologist, and K. Lucas, engineer, who got the idea during a survey trip to the Yukon.

Basically, the fish wheel consists of two basket-type nets made from seine mesh stretched on steel pipe frames. The frames are attached to a steel shaft at opposite angles and motivation is aided by two paddles also set in steel frames, at a 90 degree angle. Paddles and baskets thus form a four-spoked wheel which revolves on bearings at each end of the shaft.

The entire rig is mounted on four pontoons, each 22 feet long. Each basket net is 10 feet deep and forms a "J" at the extremity.

As the wheel revolves by force of the river current, fish are trapped in the basket net and slide gently into a live box. Salmon can remain in the live box for long periods without harm. After tagging, the fish are returned to the river above the wheel.

Fisheries men say the wheel, used by northern Indians many years ago to catch fish, permit a more constant fishing effort of greater scientific value than the former method of hand dip-netting. It requires fewer operators and does minimum damage to the fish.

Lions Deputy Dist. Governor 'Comes Home' to Visit Lachute

Local Club Honors Horace Lamarche At Gala Assembly and Ladies' Night

The official visit of the Deputy District Governor to Lachute Lions Club was virtually a happy homecoming for Horace Lamarche, a service-minded citizen who has creditably filled that office during the past year and covered a strenuous itinerary of 4,130 miles in visiting the clubs of District A-8. The occasion was also a ladies' night, with a number of Lions from other clubs also in attandance, some accompanied by their wives, swelling the crowd to well over 100 in the Legion Hall on Tuesday night.

Horace Lamarche, Lachute, Lions Deputy District Governor

Among the Lions notables were District Governor Bill Shields, International Councillors Alf Cadman and J. S. Giles, O. M. Trudel, president of the Montreal Club, and others from St. John's and Granby — several of whom spoke briefly during the proceedings. Lion Ian Gordon again proved his capacity as an efficient host and chairman.

The president, in welcoming the gathering, paid special tribute to the ladies for their collaboration and support, and symbolized this appreciation by presenting a handsome bouquet of roses to Mrs. Horace Lamarche, wife of the Deputy District Governor.

Dr. F. W. FitzGerald, committeeman in charge of the Easter Seals effort, reported the results were approaching the previous year's total, with anticipation this would be exceeded when returns were complete. The total to date is $1,250.

Col. Ernest Emmett, in charge of the car raffle, gave a boost to this major fund raising effort. Col. Emmett, incidentally, was awarded a prize as the year's best inter-club traveller, given by Phil Tremblay, who has successfully organized inter-club relations on behalf of Lachute throughout the season.

Mr. Claude Maltais, representative of the Community Concerts movement, was present as a guest and spoke a few words concerning the membership campaign in progress here this week.

Deputy District Governor H. Lamarche, introduced by Lion Gordon McOuat, expressed a pardonable pride in his home club. He enumerated the key positions and activities of the year's office-holders, in a manner which revealed close contact with Lachute despite his enforced absence in a wider field of Lionism. There was mingled sentiment and sincerity in his appreciation for the support extended by his fellow clubmen. . . The esteem of the home club was fittingly shown in the gift of an engraved silver tray, presented by Lion Miville Trickey in thanking the speaker.

Additional key awards for Lions having enrolled new members, were presented by District Governor Bill Shields to Don Hay, Ed. Jones, Phil Tremblay, Roger Regimbal, also to Nat Boyd and Ralph FitzGerald in absentia.

Winners of booster prizes for the ladies were Mrs. Mozart Carriere and Mrs. Jos. Dumais.

Work Progressing At Cath. Convent

Construction work on the extension to l'Ecole St. Alexandre by the Catholic School Commission, is progressing steadily. Work is now completed on the first floor of the building, on Grace Street near the Barron Avenue intersection.

Contractors for the $350,000 addition are F. J. Labrosse Inc., and it is expected the building will be completed for the opening term this autumn.

The former Calder residence has been re-located, and redecorated inside. Similar renovation is also being undertaken at the St. Alexandre school. An addition will also be necessary in the staff living quarters on Mary Street opposite the l'Ecole Superieure.

Work on these three projects is expected to cost between $75,000 and $80,000.

Good Send-off for 'Concerts' Membership Drive

The Quebec Scene

Quebec (CP) — A Quebec Department of Mines geologist, Jacques Beland, has expressed the opinion that the main cause of the Nicolet landslide last November 12, was infiltration of water beneath the clay which forms the banks of the Nicolet river.

Mr. Beland made his remarks at the convention of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy.

The Nicolet landslide claimed three lives and caused an estimated $5,000,000 damage.

An important stage was reached in the long legal battle between the religious sect, the Jehovah's Witnesses, and provincial authorities. A Quebec Appeals Court majority decision has upheld a Superior Court judgment giving the Jehovah's Witnesses the right to contest a provincial law in court.

The law in question forbids distribution of literature or abusive attacks against any religious organization in the province. The Jehovah's Witnesses want this legislation declared invalid and unconstitutional.

Canvassers Bid for New Subscribers, Hope to Equal or Exceed Previous Year

Community Concerts launched their 1956-57 membership drive with the annual rally and supper for campaign workers, Monday evening in the Legion Hall. There were approximately 40 in attendance, with the president, Mrs. W. M. Cottingham, in the chair.

Also at the head-table were the vice-presidents, Dr. Marc Papineau, Mrs. Angus Taylor and Walter Hlibchuk; Linton W. Armstrong, past-president; and Claude Maltais, representative from Toronto headquarters of the Community Concerts movement.

The president welcomed the workers representing different sections of the Association's membership, and Dr. Marc Papineau, as campaign chairman, directed the canvassers' objective to at least 100 new members — citing good selling points to enlist memberships, and arguments to counteract the prevalent obstacles. Altogether there was a spirit of optimism in the meeting; this was sparked by the canvassers' reports indicating 161 former members re-subscribed, and by a report from the treasurer, Willard M. Steeves, showing a balance of $300 on hand towards the coming season's operations.

Headquarters are established at the Bedard Ltée store, by courtesy of J. E. Léonard, proprietor, where an attractive window display has been arranged by Victor Lavoie. Helpers have been on duty all week to enter the enrolments, and the Toronto representative is on hand to assist the local organizers.

There was general discussion, and a poll of opinions on the types of program most popular with local audiences.

Claude Maltais gave information on the groups available for next season, and stated that at least 50 attractions would be available to this section of the country. A wide variety would therefore be open for local choice.

It was stressed again that newly-enlisted members would be privileged to attend the recital Wednesday evening by Beverly Bower, soprano — this being the final program of the 1955-56 season.

Concluding the brief speeches, Linton Armstrong, who was the first president of this organization (now in its ninth season) gave an enlightening review of its formative stages. The story re-emphasized and illustrated just what could be achieved by enthusiasm, in a verdant and unexplored field — and stressed that enthusiasm was the answer to any doubt or discouragement in the present canvass.

An interlude of entertainment was provided by two notable pianists among the gathering, Miss Juliette Rodrigue and Miss Denise Chamaillard.

Start Addition to Bouchard School In Brownsburg

The Brownsburg Catholic School Commission recently commenced construction on an extension to l'Ecole Bouchard, which will bring the number of classrooms to 13, as well as a manual training room and gymnasium which will be provided in the extension.

The new construction will form an "L" adjoining the present building, and will be a one-storey brick addition. The school is under the direction of the religious order of the Sacred Heart, presently numbering six clerics as well as two lay teachers.

Contractor for the building is J. D. Lepine, Brownsburg — the cost being $144,000, of which $115,000 has been obtained in Provincial Government grants through the Hon. W. M. Cottingham, M.P.P. It is expected that work will be completed for the commencement of classes next September.

At present, a total of 184 pupils attend the school, which has facilities for the first nine grades of education.

False Cheque and Theft Cases Heard, Sentences Given

Stolen Montreal Taxi Recovered, Arrest Made In St. Andrews Cottage

Leo Rivest, 19, of St. Vincent de Paul, was sentenced to five months in jail — terms to be served concurrently — when he appeared in St. Jerome court recently on two charges of breaking and entering and three charges of theft.

Rivest and an elder brother were arrested April 4 by Traffic Officers Roger Massie and Gerard Loyer at the Lachute Fuel Oils yard, following a complaint by R. O. (Dick) MacLean, proprietor of the agency. The brothers were held in the local cells and questioned by Det. Ralph Allen, who later released the elder brother and laid charges against the younger, Leo. The day of his arrest, $14 in marked bills were found on the person of the accused.

Paul Emile Leblanc, 37, of Montreal, appeared in St. Jerome court last Tuesday and was sentenced to two months in jail on a charge of issuing a false cheque. Leblanc was picked up in Quebec City.

Charges were laid by Det. Ralph Allen following his arrest in connection with the cashing of a cheque for $49.50 at a local garage where Leblanc purchased gas and oil, taking the remainder of the cheque in cash.

The cheque was cashed without question, being made out to the accused by an order of religious sisters at St. Eustache.

Jacques Laroche, 25, of Montreal, was arrested in St. Andrews East by Det. Allen and Traffic Officer Albert Legault, and turned over to Montreal police following the theft of a taxi from that city.

The missing taxi was found in a ditch in the Grenville vicinity, and the driver later was traced to St Andrews, where he was found by the officers in a summer cottage.

David Bennett, 18, of the Calumet district, was sentenced to time spent in jail when found guilty of the theft of six blankets from the Canadian International Paper Company property in that village. The theft occurred in November of last year, and charges were laid by Det. Allen.

Five Arrested For Rowdiness, Fines Imposed

Five St. Hermas men appeared in Lachute police court last Thursday evening on charges of "disturbing the peace while under the influence of liquor, and fighting in a public place." The five were arrested by Lieut. Oscar Sabourin early Monday morning, April 9, and pleaded guilty to the charges before Henri St. Onge, J.P.

Bruno Charles, 26, Richard Charles, 23, Denis Charles, 18, and Denis Chenier, 22, all were fined $40 plus court costs, which amounted to $7, while Sylvio Lafond, 33, pleaded guilty with explanation and was fined $25 plus costs, the alternative being 30 days in St. Jerome jail. All elected to pay the fines which had been covered by a bail deposit, following their release from the local cells the Monday morning following their arrest.

Lieut. Sabourin was called to the scene of the disturbance and picked up four of the men; he lodged these in the cells while returning for the remaining member of the party. Lafond and one of the Charles brothers stated they had not started the fracas but were merely acting in self-defence.

Playground Project At Buckingham

Buckingham, April 12. — The Town of Buckingham and the Buckingham Lions Club will purchase playground equipment and landscape properties which at present contain two wading pools.

The project is expected to cost some $2,000, with each group paying half. Some equipment has been installed at one of the sites, and tenders have been called for the remaining equipment and landscaping.

Junior School Fair Organized Under County W. Inst.

A meeting for the purpose of organizing the Junior School Fair under sponsorship of the County W.I., was held Wednesday evening, April 11, at the office of Jean Pintal, County Agronomist.

The following committee was nominated: convener, Mrs. M. Wilson; co-convener, Mrs. M. McGeorge; secretary, Mrs. S. Doig; treasurer, Mrs. Geo. McGibbon. Also serving on the committee are Mrs. A. Bothwell, Mrs. T. Zimmer, Mrs. L. Plumber, Mrs. A. Parker and Mrs. L. Boyd.

The prize list was drawn up, with assistance of the men in attendance, who showed a keen interest in this project.

Several contributions have already been received. The organizers also appreciate Mr. Pintal's assistance and suggestions, with which it is hoped the 1956 Junior School Fair will prove a successful venture.

Business Changes On Main Street

Dupré Sport Shop is now situated in the old Bedard residence formerly occupied by the late Mrs. Aquila Bedard. Mr. Dupré states that the site is only temporary, due to his having to vacate the premises he occupied in the former Campbell store. The latter building, an old Lachute landmark, is now under demolition to make way for the Beaton Pharmacy project planned by Donat Saulnier, proprietor.

Clem's Sport Shop, located a few doors from the Bedard residence, has been closed for the past two weeks, but is expected to re-open for business shortly.

Contract Given For Phone Building At Brownsburg

Contract for the construction of a one-storey building to house Brownsburg's dial telephone exchange has been awarded to Robert Miller Construction Company Ltd., of Montreal — Roland Dupuy, Bell Telephone manager for this region, announced this week.

Work on the Northcliff Street site is expected to get under way before the end of April. The new building will house the complex switching equipment now located in leased premises on Main Street. These premises are now becoming too small to permit installation of additional equipment and, in order to allow for future growth of the local telephone system, it was decided a new building was needed.

The new building will be 72 feet wide and 33 feet deep. Provision will be made for future extension to the rear.

Banquet in Honor Of Prov. Schools Basketball Champs

As a token of appreciation to the Lachute High School girls' basketball team, which recently won the provincial championship, and the boys' team which made a most creditable showing, a banquet was tendered to these young athletes in the High School on Friday evening.

The function was a preliminary to a pleasant and successful dance which followed, at which other pupils and friends of the school were in attendance.

A tasty turkey dinner was supplied by the Women's Association of the Lachute United Church.

Mr. Stewart Jones acted as m.c. and kindly ramarks were expressed by the principal, Mr. Fred Royal and Mr. Jas. W. McGibbon, recognizing the honor which had been brought to Lachute and the High School by the recent triumph at Lennoxville in the inter-scholastic basketball finals.

Mr. Robt. Bailly and Mr. Arne Peterson, of the school teaching staff and athletic coaches, were presented with gifts from their respective teams in appreciation for their tireless efforts.

Guests included many of the parents, who were happy to share in this honor accorded to their children.

For Safety on the Highways —

Federal and Prov'l Deputies Voice Approval of Rotary's Campaign for Traffic Safety

Following are letters of commendation addressed to Mr. Sid Stiwell, president of the Brownsburg-Lachute Rotary Club, publicly voicing the support of Argenteuil's two parliamentary representatives in the Rotary-sponsored drive for traffic safety . . . .

Ottawa, April 16, 1956

May I congratulate you and the members of your club for your initiative in launching a campaign to promote safe driving and public safety.

Highway fatalities and accidents are now a major problem, and the laws seem unable to cope with this situation: the co-operation of every one has to be enlisted. . . I am sure that, with your help, driving on our highways can be as it is intended — an esset in convenience, not a liability in human casualties.

Convey my thanks to all participating in this campaign, and my best regards.

Yours truly,

— Philippe Valois, M.P.

From the Hon. W. M. Cottingham, Minister of Mines, M.P.P. for Argenteuil County :

Lachute, Que., April 11, 1956

It has come to my attention that your club is sponsoring a campaign for safe-driving and highway courtesy during the month of May.

I trust and hope that all residents of the county, and those using our roads, will appreciate your efforts in the spirit in which they are being given: namely, to safeguard themselves and our children by constantly using safe driving habits and courtesy while at the wheel of their car.

May I add my personal best wishes to you and all members of your club, for seeing the need of such a campaign and doing your best to bring it to the attention of the public.

Yours very truly,

— W. M. Cottingham, M.P.P.

Foreign Capital and Quebec Resources Indicated as Election Campaign Keynote

By Brian Selwood

Quebec (CP) — In the face of a growing political campaign urging that Canadians maintain financial control of the development of their natural resources, Premier Duplessis has expressed an open-armed welcome to foreign capital investments.

Addressing delegates at the 58th annual convention of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy last week, Mr. Duplessis said that capital is absolutely essential to the province's economic development.

"Foreign capital, whether it comes from France, Great Britain or the United States, will always be welcome," he said. "Capital means investment without progress is impossible."

"The mining industry constitutes one of the most important factors in the economic life of Quebec province."

American industrialist C. Eaton, also a guest speaker at the convention, declared: "However much money pours into Canadian enterprises, the United States has neither the desire nor the power to reduce Canada to the status of a small and dependent crown colony . . . "

Canadian-born Mr. Eaton, president of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway, also stated that American capital may not be so easy to find in the years immediately ahead, unless it continues to receive a cordial welcome from Canada.

Of Canada's situation, he said: "Money is simply not available in adequate amounts from private and public sources in Canada to meet the gargantuan demands of the many mines to open, factories to erect, oil wells to drill, roads to build, railroads to extend, airports to construct, harbors to improve, rivers to make navigable, telephone lines to string and water power to harness.

"Certainly Canadian investors should be encouraged to put their funds in Canadian enterprises, and Canadian wage earners should be educated to the advantage of stock ownership in the companies in whose success they play a vital role."

The same evening, at another meeting in the provincial capital, a very different point of view was expressed by J. Ernest Laforce, president of Quebec Province's Civil Service Commission. He denounced what he called "our mania for delivering our country to any foreigner."

Asked to comment on this speech at this weekly press conference, Mr. Duplessis said each person has the right to his own opinions, but Quebec's policy is established by the people's elected representatives.

Provincial Liberal party leader Georges Lapalme made it clear that this question of natural resources will be a key platform in the forthcoming election campaign.

At nearby Lorettaville, the Liberal chief said he would refer often during the campaign to what he termed "the sale of our natural riches to foreigners." He said the "whole economic future of Quebec depends on the settlement of that question."

Mr. Lapalme claimed the Duplessis government, in allowing Quebec iron to go to the United States "where metallurgists earn big salaries which should go to our own people," had not given thought to the future.

Gatineau Lines

T.V. Antenna

Safety should be a prime consideration in the installation of a TV antenna.

Many of these antennae are of a complicated design and manufactured from a variety of materials, some of suitable weight and strength and others of questionable quality.

When erected close to an electric transmission or distribution line they can be a real source of danger. If an antenna is blown over, which is usually due to improper installation, it may fall onto the line.

In this event, if the line is of high voltage, there is risk of fire and almost certainly of heavy damage and costly repairs or total destruction of the set is very real.

Furthermore, it is more than likely that a whole distribution circuit may be put out of commission for a time, with great inconvenience to a considerable number of householders and possibly to industrial establishments as well.

The recent high winds have emphasized the importance of using right materials and proper installation of a TV antenna.

FARM TOPICS

Farm Share of Consumer's Dollar

In 1955, farmers received 46 cents of each consumer's dollar spent on food of Canadian farm origin; this figure is unchanged from 1954. The farm share was 47 cents in 1953, 51 cents in 1951 and 50 cents in 1949. The average for the period 1949 to 1955 was 48 cents. These calculations are based on fixed quantities of food as determined by Dominion Bureau of Statistics food expenditure surveys.

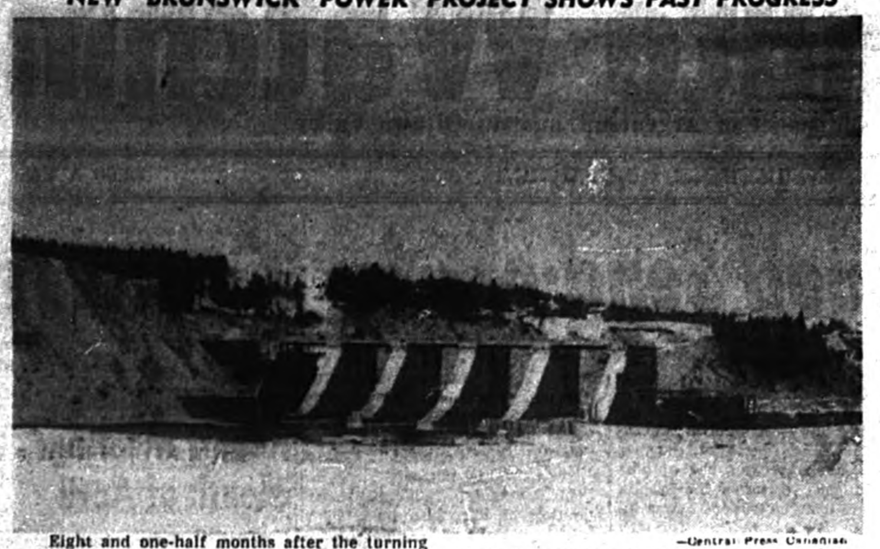

In 1955, the farmer received a larger share of the consumer's dollar spent on flour, bread, beef, chicken, eggs and potatoes, but received a smaller portion for pork, butter, cheese and some canned fruits and vegetables.

Based on 15 food items, which account for about 75 per cent of consumers' expenditure on Canadian farm foods, 1955 retail prices were almost 11 per cent above 1949; for the farm equivalents of the same 15 commodities, farm prices were about 3 per cent below 1949. Marketing costs increased almost 25 per cent between these two periods while the farm share was lower by almost 9 per cent.

Retail prices of the same 15 food items were highest in 1952 when they were 18 per cent above 1949. These items in terms of the farm equivalent of the retail product, were highest in 1951 when they were 15 per cent above 1949. Marketing costs for these products were highest in 1952, being above the 1949 figure by 27 per cent.

Total length of the Columbia River is 1,150 miles, of which 459 miles are within Canada.

NEW BRUNSWICK POWER PROJECT SHOWS FAST PROGRESS

Insect Pests and The Dairy Industry

Each year dairy profits in Canada are reduced considerably by insect pests. In a survey of losses completed this year by Dr. A. W. A. Brown, Head, Department of Zoology, University of Western Ontario, the annual loss due to livestock pests is valued at $100 million. Seventy million of this loss can be attributed to pests of cattle. Obviously there is a need for improving modern control methods and any steps leading to a reduction of these losses must be encouraged.

During fly time, horn flies alone can cut milk production as much as 10-20 per cent, and heel flies cause such annoyance when they are laying eggs that milk flow suffers. In certain areas black flies have killed many valuable cattle. During the winter months warbles and lice may cause unthriftiness and disease in dairy herds, resulting in poorer returns to the producer. Considerable sums have to be spent each year to control household pests, such as house flies in dairy processing plants. Also additional costs are incurred to prevent losses by cheese mites, cheese skippers and other pests in storage rooms.

Canadian entomologists have done a good deal of work to reduce losses to the dairy industry but they still have a long way to go. The 1956 World Congress of Entomology to be held in Montreal this coming August will give scientists in this field from all over the world an opportunity to discuss the problems of insect control in this branch of agriculture.

SACK OF SPRAY

An entirely new type of garden sprayer employs a soft plastic portable pressure spray container, instead of cumbersome tank, reports The Financial Post. The wand-type pump has finger-tip control to change from spraying a rose to spraying a 30-foot fruit tree. Easily and comfortably carried, the one and three-gallon sizes are shoulder-strap models, the five-gallon is a vest type.

Stolen Bonds Loan Collateral, Banks Testify

Henry Martin Charlebois, 74, a former elevator operator, was ordered for voluntary statement by Judge Gerald Almond in Criminal Court last Monday on six charges arising out of a $200,000 burglary in Grenville, Que. December 23, 1953.

Charlebois, alias John McKay, who was arrested in Winnipeg, February 7, faces six charges of receiving stolen bonds worth $6,000, plus charges of obtaining bank loans under false pretences with the bonds. He is serving a nine-month term imposed in Winnipeg for obtaining loans on bonds stolen in Hamilton, Ont.

Gordon Higginson, now manager of the Lachute branch, Bank of Nova Scotia, and former manager of the Grenville branch, identified bonds produced in court as Ontario Hydro Electric Commission issues. They were stolen from a safety deposit box rented by a widow, Mrs. John Constance Arnold, 27, of Grenville, who appeared at the preliminary hearing and identified $8,000 worth of bonds that were among the $200,000 loot.

Representatives of six branches of different banks in Snowdon and Town of Mount Royal told the court they had loaned a "John McKay" sums of money varying from $850 to $900, on the strength of bonds.

The loans were never repaid.

VERSATILE SOYBEANS

Because of the many end uses it could be put to, the soybean is probably the most amazing crop grown in Canada. It is used in the manufacture of plastics, synthetic fibres, paints, salad oils, candy and cosmetics. It is a valuable livestock feed supplement. A soybean derivative, lecithin, is used to prevent sediment formation in lubricating oils and gasolines, and as a wetting agent in ink and paint manufacture. Its oil is used in the tanning of leather, dyeing of textiles and in making soaps and water-proofing agents.

Penitentiary Term For J. K. McDonald, Long Wanted Man

John Keith MacDonald, 48, was sentenced to four years in penitentiary on a charge of theft of $44,500 from the post office at Britannia Beach, B.C., last Thursday.

MacDonald (alias John Cleland, Wallace Black and John Larson), pleaded guilty to the charge, and as soon as the theft sentence was passed, RCMP detective sergeant John Knox laid a charge of bigamy.

MacDonald was arrested early in February near the little farming community of Horning's Mills, some 65 miles northwest of Toronto. He was born at Shawbridge in 1908 and several years ago moved to the West Coast from this vicinity, where he was an insurance salesman in Montreal, at the same time living on Rural Route 5, Lachute — in the Carillon - St. Andrews area — where he deserted his wife and three children.

Subsequently, he went through a form of marriage on the West Coast and deserted his second wife, abandoning a six-months-old child at the time of the theft.

When arrested he was living under the name John L. Larson on a farm 25 miles north of the town of Orangeville. RCMP officers making the arrest recovered more than $25,000, believed part of the loot.

Last August MacDonald told neighbors he was getting married to a girl named Rene Martin, who lived near Stayner. He was away for two weeks and returned with his 28-year-old wife, the third in as many years.

Free Trade Discussed By Farm Forums

Canadian farmers are generally in favor of freer trade, judging by the reports of 600 Farm Forums after their discussions on March 5.

More than three-quarters of the Forums expressed the opinion that Canadian farmers should support the type of program advanced by the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade (GATT). Said the Waskawa Forum in Alberta, "We find this to be one of the fairest systems for all exporting and importing nations."

From New Brunswick the Scotch Settlement Forum commented, "GATT seems to be to the economic world what the United Nations is to the political world."

Another New Brunswick Forum, Anagance Ridge, however, expressed a different point of view: "This group feels that we, being in a dairying and mixed farming area, should not support the present program advanced by GATT. The wheat farmer probably would support it wholeheartedly because he is not worried about imports too greatly, but we want protection against imports."

The Forums saw a number of problems in regard to the General Agreement. One-fifth of the groups stated that farmers deserve the same protection as industry. Others pointed out the danger of importing cheap goods from countries with more favorable growing conditions and cheap labor. According to the East Bolton Road Forum in Quebec, "Free trade is all very well in principle but would harm the Canadian farmer, e.g., floods of butter from New Zealand."

The GATT makes no provision for the disposal of surpluses, the Forums pointed out, and products might be imported which are already surplus in Canada. The Moore Centre West Forum in Ontario put it this way, "We see surplus disposal as our biggest problem. Why import products of which we have a surplus and on which our government is paying our producers price support?"

It's not unusual for repair bills to catch a family unprepared — and borrowing the necessary money is often a common and sensible solution.

In fact, nearly three quarters of a million families borrow money from Household Finance every year to pay overdue bills, repair bills, travel expenses . . . the kind of expenses you may face yourself right now.

HFC loans are prompt and convenient. You can get $50 to $1000 with little or no delay, usually in just one day. If you have a steady income, and can make regular monthly payments, you may borrow without endorsers at HFC. If you have a money problem, why not phone or drop in today?

TV and Reading

IN ANY current discussion of reading, the question of the influence of television on reading, particularly that of younger people, is bound to come up.

Television is comparatively new, and by no means blankets Canada, so that the inter-relation of the two media of communication is still in the discussion stage. Opinions are varied.

Surveys in the United States have shown that reading falls off, both magazine and book reading, when television comes into the living-room. In fact some parents say that their younger children do not read as well as their older children did at the same age.

Librarians say that where book borrowers read for pure escape and light entertainment, circulation drops off with the advent of TV. In other fields, such as the "do-it-yourself", fluctuating demands for material can at times be bound up with current trends in TV programming. Serious readers keep on reading, and find that their interests and reading habits are broadened by selective viewing on TV.

Perhaps the most significant trend discovered in analysis of TV and reading relationships is that, although children for a time are taken away from reading by the attractions of TV, those who have been well and progressively guided in choosing books and enlarging their interests turn back to books and take TV in their stride. They are able to come to a satisfying personal compromise between the stimuli of pictures and the printed word.

On the whole librarians view television favorably, pointing out that reading survived any threat that may have been levelled at it by radio in the past. However, they are concerned about the influence of standardized mass entertainment from both radio and TV on the development of young people as individuals, commenting that participation in listening and viewing is passive. Selection and reading of books calls for the active exercise of personal preference and purpose.

Vital Northland

THE CANADIAN northland, to southerners' eyes, has a split personality. To some it's an almost unreal place of colorful history, full of the romance of the unknown. To others the north is real and vital, stirring with the development of its mineral resources and bustling with construction of the Arctic radar sentry posts known as the DEW (Distant Early Warning) line.

However they look at it, Canadians are more and more turning their thoughts and aspirations north to a hinterland vaster than in any other country except Russia. Recent events have given impetus to that interest.

Governor-General Massey returned recently from an unprecedented vice-regal visit to the Arctic archipelago and a flight over the North Pole. He was followed to the north by a group of Canadian and United States cabinet ministers inspecting the vital radar defence line. Background to these events has been the steady development of the north's mineral wealth.

The Yukon and the Northwest Territories cover 1,511,979 square miles — nearly 39.3 per cent of Canada's total area. Yet their population, counted at 25,100 in the 1951 census, is a tiny .17 per cent of the country's total. Among these are 14,400 Indians and Eskimos.

The north's minerals are considered by many experts to be an incalculable storehouse of treasure whose surface has hardly been scratched yet.

Mr. Massey, returning to Ottawa from his trip, stopped off at The Pas in northern Manitoba and in a speech expressed his confidence that the huge area can be developed and lived in despite its cold and menacing aspects.

"Increasingly we from the south are being invited and encouraged to realize the infinite economic and social possibilities of this land," he said.

"Like other parts of our great country, at first sight mysterious and sometimes forbidding, it now is revealing itself as a region where it needs only energy, determination and ingenuity to build large and thriving communities."

New Traffic Markings

THE SAFETY CAMPAIGN to be inaugurated by Brownsburg - Lachute Rotary Club received our warm commendation in this column last week. The effort also has the endorsement of our parliamentary representatives, as publicly expressed on page 1 of this issue.

It is now timely to realize that an all-out drive for traffic safety requires strict observance of the parking and traffic regulations provided in our town's by-laws. Not so essential perhaps in the preservation of life and limb, but in the interests of safe driving and the minimizing of vehicle damage — the town stop-signs, the parking signs and other unposted regulations must definitely be observed.

It is encouraging, in this detail, to find the police chiefs of Lachute and Brownsburg prime participants in the safety campaign, and to note here in Lachute that neglected traffic restrictions are being politely but firmly impressed, to command the respect which they deserve.

A factor of importance right now, however, is that Lachute's revamped police force should have the undisputed authority of clear traffic-markings to regulate parking — especially on Main Street, near fire-plugs and intersections, outside public halls, and at private driveways. Many of the traffic lines are obliterated, and we urge our City Fathers to lose no time in having them repainted.

CONFUSION over the real meaning of liberty and freedom is due to misunderstanding of what "individual freedom" really is. While freedom certainly concerns the individual it does so only in the sense that it defines a relationship between two or more persons. Freedom, therefore, is a relationship. In the words of Dean Russell, it is "a condition of non-molestation." Accordingly, a free society is based on the idea that no one has the right to molest anyone else. And so it follows that those who accept this definition of freedom should be particularly careful to avoid molestation of others.

Rustic Delights

"AT THIS TIME of year, living in the country, I always feel a surge of sympathy for most of my fellow citizens, who live in cities," writes Bruce Hutchison in The Financial Post. But the city man escapes certain heavy seasonal responsibilities.

"He has no tractor to fix, no apple trees to spray with fiery chemicals corroding to the human skin, no early potatoes to plant in the cold earth, no wood to cut for next winter and, to tell the truth, no idea how the nation's basic labor is done.

"Nevertheless, I pity him. A man who looks forward this spring to nothing more than a new car, who must travel on upholstery when he might be riding a tractor across a field of shiny furrows, who never feels the manly sting of lime and sulphur spray or comes home smelling exactly like a case of decaying eggs to be avoided by his family for a week afterward — such a man is in need of compassion and a spring tonic."

"SUNDAY OR FUNDAY? Is it Lord's Day or Lost Day?" This heading appeared in a recent issue of the Yorkton (Sask.) Enterprise. . . Such conditions are not confined to Yorkton, but have become common practice across the Dominion — says a fellow editor — people building houses and doing other manual work, as well as sports activities, which if carried on in years gone by would have been considered a downright sin.

"SEBASTIAN"

Sorry if, last week, I disappointed any who may follow the weekly wanderings of this scribe. However, in the whirl of job hunting, I got myself so entangled that I didn't notice the deadline approach, bow politely and pass on to that limbo reserved for days that have gone beyond recall.

The results of my search for employment finally bore fruit this week with startling rapidity. I saw an advertisement in the paper answered it, had an interview and got under way to its location in the Maritimes, all in less than 48 hours. So, today finds me penning these lines from a choice location overlooking the thriving city of Saint John. And, until further notice, these weekly missives will bear the flavor of salt sea air and the ever-abundant cod.

As my train rolled into the suburbs of Saint John this morning, I was amused to notice a group of sea-gulls on the prowl for food. Ranged in two rows, on opposite sides of a refuse creek which empties into the river near one of the city's large mills, the gulls looked for all the world like the guard of honor at a fashionable wedding. Each bird stood stock still, its beady eyes intensely fixed on the swiftly flowing creek. And, as morsels of food hove into view, they would dart after them, hastily devour same, and return to their places in line to await the next item on the menu.

Later in the morning, when I reached my destination, I asked my employer if the birds always waited there to carry out their scavenger duties.

"Oh yes," he roported, "day in and day out. That's the best sea-gull restaurant in town. They'd be lost without it."

The talk then turned to the habits of sea-gulls and the boss trotted out his happiest sea-gull story. It concerned Sebastian, a gull of superior intellect and of definite British leanings.

"Sebastian used to be a regular visitor at a large home in St. Andrew's. Every day at noon, he would come to the estate and perch himself on the massive flagpole erected in the front drive. Never missed a day, and he was always on time, almost to the second. Food, naturally, was the drawing card and Sebastian was daily rewarded with a free lunch."

The boss took time out to light his pipe and heighten the suspense.

"Well, one day the Governor General came to stay at the estate for a two-week visit. And, as is customary, the Union Jack was hauled down while the Vice-Regal standard was hoisted to the top of the mast. It being the witching hour of noon, Sebastian was, of course, on hand to watch proceedings.

"The gull gazed intently as the Jack descended and stuck around long enough to get a close look at the GG's standard. Then, with a piercing shriek, he flew off and disappeared from view. And, on the next day, when twelve o'clock struck, Sebastian was missing from his perch.

"The Governor-General stayed the full two weeks," the boss added, smiling, "and not once did Sebastian put in an appearance. Then came the day for the great man to depart. With all due ceremony his standard was lowered and the Union Jack was sent up to replace it.

"As the flag reached the top of the mast, Sebastian alighted on top of the flag pole. Peering earthward, the bird examined the bunting beneath his feet. Then, finding everything to his satisfaction, he folded his wings and waited for lunch to be served.

"There are strong suspicions 'round St. Andrew's that Sebastian comes of United Empire Loyalist stock . . . even if he is disrespectful of the Crown's representative."

OF MANY THINGS

By Ambrose Hills

Good Samaritans

I'm having a bit of trouble with my conscience today. This morning, I saw a fellow drive his car down a road where he obviously would get struck. He did it deliberately. I had by-passed the same road and driven around the block to get to the same destination.

Reasoning thus, I said to myself, "The darn fool got himself into that jam, let him get out of it himself. I've got important things to do right now, and I can't take time to help him."

Well, I'm still sore at the man for being mulish enough to get himself stuck in such a tomfool way; but I'm wishing, too, that I'd given him a hand.

Not that he deserved it. But I'd have felt better right now — nice and virtuous and pleasant and warm. Instead, I feel correct and right and proper and cold as the drift he was stuck in. My reasoning was proper; my reaction was that of a self-righteous stinker!

Driving home this afternoon, I stopped to visit a friend. I pulled over a bit too far on the road. When I'd finished chatting with my friend, the right hind wheel was up to the hub cap. I was stuck!

It would make a good story to say that the fellow I'd failed to help came to my rescue. He didn't, but two other men did. And I suppose they must have wondered at a darn nut crazy enough to park where I had parked. But they pushed me out just the same, and they must have felt good about it, even if they arrived home late for dinner.

Tonight at bedtime I propose to read again the parable of the Good Samaritan and take it to heart. Who knows — winter may not be over, and I may be stuck again one day! I hope somebody will take time out to give me a push.

But the real reason, of course, is this: the best feeling in the world comes to those who give the other fellow a push along the way. I want more of that feeling. Next time you drive down a road where you've no business to drive, and get yourself stuck, just holler and I'll be there! I've some penance to do!

People can now go to a clinic and get oxygen treatments that are supposedly as good as a month's holiday.

At an "oxygen centre" in Paris, jaded Frenchmen will pay $37 for 10 sessions of 25 minutes each in a transparent oxygen tent. There will be red rooms for a brisk mountain holiday; green rooms for a rest in the country; and blue rooms for the seaside.

Each room has artificial windows that overlook giant pictures of soothing landscapes. Temperatures and oxygen are regulated to give the feeling of mountains, beach or meadow.

In this age of capsules and substitutes, the announcement of an ersatz holiday is no surprise. Already we have wallpaper that looks like wood and wood that looks like wallpaper. Whiskey can be aged by chemicals in minutes instead of years. (It ages the consumer at equal speed, no doubt).

There are vitamin capsules that are nearly as good as food; book capsules that are better than books; and easy-to-digest capsule religions, prepared by experts and guaranteed not to ruffle the intellect or disturb the conscience.

In some towns we can dial a prayer by telephone. We can switch on TV and get other people to do our living and loving for us. So the capsule holiday comes as a matter of course.

A few refinements may be added to it, in the shape of synthetic poison ivy, clockwork flies and mosquitoes and a bruising machine to give the holidaymaker sore muscles.

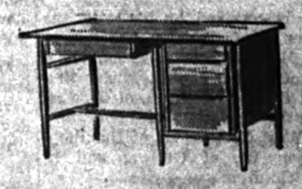

We can be sure of one thing, however. The management won't accept any plastic imitation bank-notes, no matter how crisp or smooth. They'll demand real money.

Chats About Chickens . . .

We were telling you last week to open up two cockerels a week and note the normal appearance of a chicken's insides.

Keep this up. Sooner or later you'll probably find something abnormal — such as inflamed intestines, funny spots on the organs, or something else not according to Hoyle. If you do, call your service man right away. Have him open up a cockerel or two to see what he finds. He can recommend treatment that will stop the trouble before it makes much headway.

Stopping disease early is important, especially where the growing pullets' intestines are involved. Coccidiosis may scar the intestines so that the bird doesn't get all the good out of the feed. Therefore, if she eventually grows up, she won't lay as well as she might, and will take more feed to produce a dozen eggs.

A "sound gut" will stand the bird in good stead when she starts to lay. And expendable cockerels will help you get sound intestines in your pullets.

There's not much cost involved in killing these males, a few cents for the cockerel chicks and a few cents for feed. And after 10 weeks or so the healthy cockerels will make good eating.

So — spend a little, save a lot. Put some cockerel chicks with your flock this year. Open up two a week until you house them. You'll house a healthier, more profitable flock of pullets if you let the insides of cheap cockerels guide you in averting trouble in the pullets.

OBITUARY

Death of Well Known Lady Resident

Late Mrs. J. Alex Rochon

Mrs. J. Alexandre Rochon (the former Marie Berniquer) passed away at her Meikle Street home last Friday. In her 68th year, she was well known by local residents, having for many years been a music teacher in this town.

Funeral services were held at the Ste. Anastasie Parish Church on Monday morning.

Surviving are two sons, Eugene of Lachute, and Alexandre of British Columbia, a brother, Frederic, of Lachute, and numerous other relatives. Her husband predeceased her some years ago.

Retired Resident Was Formerly of Hamilton, Ont.

The Late Thomas Swan

On Sunday, April 15, Thomas Swan passed away at his residence here after a lengthy illness, aged 69 years.

Mr. Swan moved to the Lachute district in 1949 soon after his retirement from active business in Hamilton, Ont. For many years he was a member of the 16 Island Lake Fishing Club, and an ardent fisherman.

He is survived by his wife, the former Annie Ainslie; two daughters, Mrs. Herbert Adamson (Peggy) of Grand Rapids, Mich., Mrs. K. B. Bourne (Audrey), of Brownsburg; three sons, David A., of Montreal West, Thomas N., of Hamilton, Norman W., of Ottawa; and 16 grandchildren.

Blind Volunteer Worker Honored by Red Cross At Brownsburg

Brownsburg — At a Red Cross gathering held Monday night in the Legion Hall, Mrs. Fred Jordan was presented with the Badge of Service and Certificate for Meritorious Service by the Red Cross Society. Over 50 people attended and special guests were Mr. A. Zaplaski and Mayor D. Lepine. The president of the Brownsburg Red Cross, Mrs. N. E. Smillie, spoke eloquently of Mrs. Jordan's work over the past 12 years on behalf of the Red Cross. Mrs. Jordan is blind and has knitted 318 pairs of socks in three years time, which she completed and pressed ready for shipping — and no one, said the president, could find a more cheerful disposition at any time. "She is an inspiration to us all," as Mrs. G. Bruce also aptly put it, in her very few chosen words. Mayor Lepine remarked that it was an honor to have such a devoted citizen in the town. Mr. A. Zaplaski congratulated Mrs. Jordan for being a "good soldier" and dedicated the "Military Polonaise," which he played on the piano along with other selections.

Mrs. D. Lepine presented Mrs. Jordan with a corsage and Mrs. F. Barker made the presentation of both Badge and Certificate.

A delicious lunch was served afterwards by the ladies of the executive committee, with Mrs. Charles Low in charge. In the hall was a fine display of some of Mrs. Jordan's knitting and articles made by the women workers.

Mrs. H. Graham thanked the committee in the name of all the guests, for the pleasant reception accorded them on this occasion.

It's his birthday, but it's your present!

The birthday — The Bank of Nova Scotia's Personal Security Program now 2 years old!

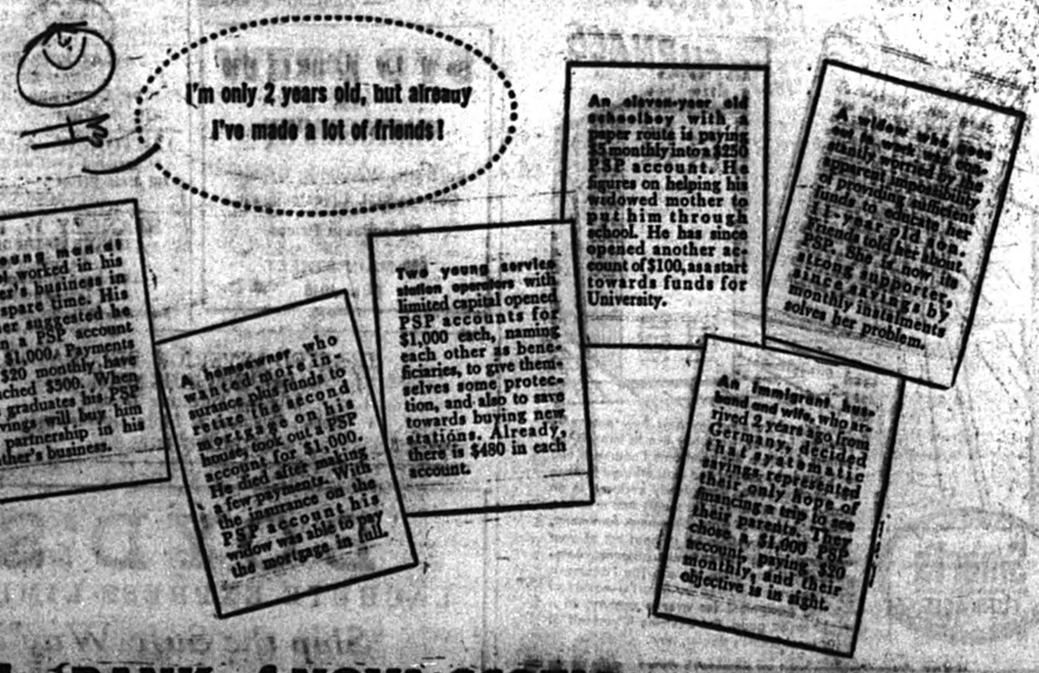

The present — P.S.P. broadens coverage to bring its benefits to even more Canadians!

TWO YEARS AGO, the fellow who couldn't save a nickel, whose bank book was flatter than a sliced dime discovered PSP—and told other Canadians about it. Since then, more and more Canadians have come to The Bank of Nova Scotia to take advantage of this exclusive program that makes saving so much easier, surer, more regular.

You just decide to make a small monthly instalment in your PSP account. And here's the real pay-off. There's a guarantee. If you were to die the beneficiary would get the full amount of your savings-goal—even if you'd only made one payment.

And now, PSP broadens its scope. The age limit for participants in the program goes up from 46 to 51.

Cancer Film Friday At Brownsburg

Any who unfortunately missed this program are urged to see the English-language film on Cancer, to be shown at 7.30 p.m. this Friday in the Legion Hall at Brownsburg.

Bible Briefs

Who Was This?

By A.A.M.

The Bible is rich in stories, and the purpose of this series is to encourage readers to look up for themselves the Bible versions of these incidents. If there are children in the family it is suggested that the story, and the Bible verses on which it is based, be read aloud.

What was the name of the notorious prisoner who was released just prior to the feast of the Passover, rather than Jesus, who was crucified?

It was the custom at that time for the governor to give the prisoner whom the crowd chose his freedom. Pilate the governor, knew that many Jews were filled with envy against Jesus, but he asked the assembled crowd, "Whom do you want me to release for you, Jesus, who is called Christ or this other man?"

The chief priests and elders persuaded the mob to ask for the release of this notorious prisoner, so that Jesus would be destroyed. Thus, they cried out the notorious prisoner's name. Pilate answered, "Then what shall I do with Jesus who is called Christ?" They all cried, "Let him be crucified." Pilate's wife had had a dream and she had warned her husband not to harm Jesus, whom she called "A righteous Man." Thus Pilate made a faint protest, by asking this question, "Why, what evil has he done?" But the crowd shouted all the more no reason for the death of Jesus, but just the demand, "Let him be crucified!"

You will find this notorious prisoner's name and read the story of Matthew, Chapter 27, verses 15-23.

Wartime Padre Speaks At Auxiliary Supper

The sixth anniversary supper of the Ladies' Auxiliary of Legion Branch 70 was held on Saturday. The president, Mrs. Gordon Tabrett, welcomed the guests, including the Rev. and Mrs. Wilson Bridge, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Iddon, and Mr. Howard Ward, president of the Legion Branch. Mrs. Bruce Bradford introduced the Rev. Mr. Bridge as guest speaker, who spoke of his experiences as padre of an air-raid shelter in World War II. Mrs. J. Coney extended a vote of thanks on behalf of the audience.

Amateur Art Show Planned in St. Andrews Literally "Open to All"

St. Andrews East — "First annual amateur art exhibition in Argenteuil County"—truly, this announcement rings a bell. Open to everybody — the artistic boy or girl, the busy mother finding a free moment to take up her brushes again, and the "Grandma Moses" in our midst — here is a community of interest — of delight in making a picture, in exchange of ideas, in sharing information on techniques and materials. In a painting group no effort is lost. If a picture is not a success, you have still had the fun of doing it; if it is good, then you have the fun of trying something newer and harder. The vista always beckons; oils, pastels, wash drawings, charcoal, pen, pencil, water color, gouache, still life, flowers, portraits, non-subjective paintings, landscape, interiors, activities on the farm and in the home.

There is nothing to stop you from sending in two of your original productions. Be one of the first to exhibit in the "First Annual" on May 26, at St. Andrews East. Anyone wishing for further information may write to Mrs. Stuart Forbes, St. Andrews East, Que.

— Jehovah's Witnesses —
So also with Israel's history. How so? The history of the rise of these people of God to national splendor, their decline, captivity and restoration is more than a dramatic and fascinating account. It is for our learning today at the end of the world! So wrote Paul, the apostle, at I Corinthians 10: 11. Heed Paul's friendly warning!
Read the account from I Samuel to Esther, in modern English, in the "New World Translation of the Hebrew Scriptures," Vol. II. It is $1.50; or the DeLuxe edition in genuine leather for $5.00. Finals in Curling Bonspiel Draw Large Spectatorship

United Ch. Bowling Finals, Banquet And Presentation

The annual turkey banquet and finale of the Lachute United Church Bowling League was held Monday evening in the church hall. President Margaret Gordon greeted members and guests at the door, and 85 sat down at the banquet table for a full-course turkey dinner. The minister, the Rev. Wilson Bridge, asked the blessing.

Miss Gordon made an excellent m.c. as she introduced her program. The Rev. Mr. Bridge spoke on behalf of Mrs. Bridge and himself, expressing their pleasure in being present. Mr. Jack Gorman extended a word of appreciation to Mrs. Foster Campbell and her excellent refreshment committee, who had planned the banquet. Mr. Stuart Armstrong, who was the projectionist for the evening, also gave some masterly publicity for the coming turkey dinner next Wednesday. Mr. Merlyn Evans, past-president of the bowling league, also was called upon to say a few words.

The president then reviewed the steady progress of the league since 1944, and expressed the appreciation of the bowlers to past-president Jack Gorman, who has been games convener since that time. On behalf of the league, Mrs. Wilson Bridge then made a presentation of a set of cuff-links to Mr. Gorman, who responded in a fitting manner.

There were many honored guests at the banquet table. Mrs. Ed. Jackson, representing the Margaret Rodger Memorial Bowling League; Wyman Strong, of the St. Simeon's Bowling League; and numerous officers of organizations in the United Church. Following the speeches, Mr. Stuart Armstrong showed three animated song-films — the vice-president, Mrs. M. McFaul, thanking Mr. Armstrong for his contribution.

The bowling final then got underway, with two old rivals of the league and finalists of last year's battle also — the W.M.S. Reds (Miss Grace Rosser) and Lachute Road, skipped by Mrs. E. Barker. The two teams were even 2-2 after the first two ends, but the W.M.S. team came through with several good ends, and the final score was quite one-sided, though the play itself did not indicate such a margin. The final score was W.M.S. 18 Lachute Road 3.

The Rev. Wilson Bridge then presented the prizes. Calling upon the league champions, East Settlement, prizes were presented to Mr. and Mrs. Les Gordon and Mr. and Mrs. Doug Smith, the foursome who led the league all season. The play-off winners — Miss Grace Rosser, Mrs. A. Blute, Mrs. F. Roberts and Miss Gertrude McMahon — received first prizes; and the runners-up, Mrs. E. Barker, Mrs. E. Cruise, Miss Lois McCullough and Mrs. Albert Stewart, received corresponding awards.

Miss Gordon and her helpers were complimented on the success and completeness of this pleasant event.

The East Settlement and W.M.S. Reds teams will represent the United Church in the coming inter-church contest, to be held soon.

"How long have you been playing golf?"

"About two months."

"You play a very good game."

"I ought to. It took me four years to learn."

Pointe Claire Ousts Outremont for Trophy

A large and enthusiastic crowd of Curling Club members and visitors were on hand Saturday evening to witness the final games of the annual Invitation Bonspiel, which this year proved more popular than ever.

There was a record entry of 156 teams in this event, and with the hospitality and splendid meals served by the Ladies' Club the annual "Invitation" has become probably the most popular of any bonspiel in Eastern Canada.

In the play-offs which started Saturday morning, the contesting winners were:

Section 1 — G. Lacompte, Pte. Claire, and D. Campbell, Montebello.

Section 2 — W. H. Gilbert, Royal Montreal, and J. Holtby, Hawkesbury.

Section 3 — A. MacDonald, St. George, and J. S. Bowden, Montreal West.

Section 4 — D. C. Orr, Outremont, and A. Wilson, Vankleek Hill.

The final elimination found R. W. Matthews, R. McKenzie, T. C. Urquhart and W. Lacompte (skip), of Pte. Claire, winning the Quent Miller Trophy by a small margin on an extra end over their opponents from Outremont, W. Ott, R. Chevrier, F. Gruer and C. Ott (skip).

This was a close and hard-fought battle, with Pte. Claire one point up at the start of the 10th end. Still ahead at last rock, Carl Ott played an excellent shot which tied the game and called for an extra end. Still in keen competition, Carl, playing blue, came in on his last stone to lay shot with one red against. Its position, however, was not quite good enough; Lacompte forced his red stone in, to win 9 points to 7. . .

One of the best and closest games seen here, it was anyone's win to the last.

Runners-up in the Consolation were — F. Shaughnessy, H. Muir, W. Orr, J. Bowden (skip), of Montreal West, who defeated P. G. Way, D. Brown, J. G. Clark, W. H. Gilbert (skip), of Royal Montreal.

President Douglas McGibbon extended a hearty welcome to all, and expressed his appreciation to the ladies and to the Bonspiel Committee, Jas. MacKimmie, Geo. Muir and Robt. Cairns.

The Hon. W. M. Cottingham further complimented the ladies for their excellent services, and commended the Club for the success of this bonspiel.

Mrs. R. P. Fraser, president of the Ladies' Club, replied stating that it was a pleasure on their part to assist.

Mr. Quent Miller, donor of the Miller Trophy, in making the presentation to the Pte. Claire winners, also congratulated the Lachute Club on the success of this annual event and commented on the spirit of co-operation and hospitality which always exists here.

The prizes, which were most attractive, were taken by each player according to his position among the winners.

It was a busy but most pleasant two weeks' round of activity, which concluded Saturday night in dancing and a pleasurable social gathering.

Admiral Arleigh Burke tells about the time during World War II when he received a frantic radio message from another ship saying that the flagship was shelling it. Burke radioed back: "We are stopping fire. Please excuse last four salvos, which are now on their way. I hope they miss."

Brownsb'g Tribute To Title-Winning Puck-Chasers

Plans Afoot for Coming Baseball Season

(Our District Correspondent)

Brownsburg — The victory dance on Friday night closed out the 1955-56 hockey season. It was a gala affair with over 200 fans gathered to fête the heroes. Each of the players received a reversible windbreaker — from themselves, that is, the Brownsburg Hockey Club. Mr. Georges Duhamel, who has donned the mantle of "Patron of Sports", collaborated with Larry Pressault, local jeweller, to present each of the players with a silver trophy. The Brownsburg Community Rink Association joined in the parade of tribute-payers, giving each a lovely lighter.

The affair was held at Mr. Duhamel's Flamingo Hotel, and there was no doubt that Brownsburg is truly proud of and grateful to its young puck-chasers.

On Sunday the first meeting of the Dollard Baseball League was held in Montebello. Neither of the Ontario teams (Hawkesbury and Lefaivre) will participate this year, and Grenville too has withdrawn from the league. There will again be six teams, however — Brownsburg (the reigning and defending champions) Montebello, Fassett, Papineauville, Buckingham and Thurso.

There is talk of Lachute entering the league, and although the league members are not anxious to have seven clubs, they would like to see eight, and possibly another could be forthcoming. If anyone in Lachute is considering organizing, a telephone call to Jimmy Murdoch, Brownsburg's coach (2580), will be a contact with the league.

Baseball seems to be on the way back hereabouts, and an old rivalry such as Brownsburg - Lachute would do nothing to hinder the revival.

Social

Friday evening, April 13, was a big night for the members of the basketball teams. The parents started the night off with a bang when they put on a banquet for the teams. Mr. S. Jones was chairman for the evening, and introduced the various speakers, also the special guests. Mr. Underhill proposed a toast to the girls' team, naming each member of the team, and the coach, Mr. Bailly. Joyce Davis replied to the toast. Mr. R. Cairns then introduced the members of the boys' team and their coach, Mr. Petersen. Mr. Cairns also proposed a toast to the team. His son, Bruce, responded to the toast. Wayne Berry and Jean McOuat made presentations to the coaches; Wayne, and Jean Taylor thanked the parents for the banquet. Mr. J. McGibbon and Mr. Royal, principal, made short speeches.

Thanks for this pleasant occasion go to the parents, and to the members of the United Church ladies' group, who served the banquet.

The dance later in the evening was highly successful. Many were present and all enjoyed themselves. The music of Edgar Jackson, Wayne Riddell, Frank Boyd and the Silver String Trio was very enjoyable.

Badminton

The O.V.S.A.A. badminton tournament was held in the high school on Saturday, April 14. Hudson won the girls' and boys' singles, and boys' and mixed doubles. Lachute won the girls' doubles. With all their wins, Hudson won the trophy, and according to reports, the Hudson representatives highly deserved the title.

Other teams at the tournament were Hawkesbury and Macdonald.

"Reggie For Champ" Let's Give A Hand!

Last week The Watchman carried a report on the excellent showing made by Reggie Stansfield in the provincial class for Gymnastics.

On Friday in talking with Mr. Peterson, the gymnastic instructor at the High School, he expressed confidence that Reggie could win a Dominion championship.

To do so, however, means going to Windsor on May 12, and to Toronto on June 9. The boys at school are endeavoring to raise part of the funds required but cannot possibly collect the full $200.

Reggie has worked hard and earned the right to try for top laurels, and as this would be an honor to the school and also to the community we feel that others would like to assure him this right.

Anyone caring to contribute, can do so by sending their donation, either to Mr. Fred Royal at the Lachute High School or to R. A. Giles at The Watchman, Lachute. Mark your envelope "Reggie for Champ", and all donations will be acknowledged.

Let's do our part in helping this young and enthusiastic athlete to further achievements!

Exporting Canada's Story

Twelve French-language radio organizations abroad, including the Belgian and Swiss national systems, are relaying each week a 15-minute program in a series called "Images du Canada", sent by transcription from the CBC International Service in Montreal. The programs draw on correspondents in Moncton, Quebec City, Montreal, Toronto, Edmonton and Vancouver. It's all part of the new French transcription service the International Service of the CBC set up in December, 1954. Another series consists of 24 programs dealing with various aspects of life in Canada and describing phases of Canadian history, as well as institutions, literature, music and art; during 1955 these programs were broadcast in 23 different French-speaking areas abroad, including France, Belgium and Switzerland. Another series of 38 half-hours is nearly complete and distribution will start soon.

Episode from Novel Retold on Radio

Several years have passed since the mutiny on the Bounty in 1789 and how a young midshipman who had been serving on the ship was to stand trial at Portsmouth, England. After the mutiny he had sailed away with the mutineers to Tahiti. But had this sailor been taken away against his will or was he, too, a mutineer?

This is the setting for "The Trial of Peter Heywood," a BBC production scheduled for Wednesday, April 25, at 7.30 p.m. on the Trans-Canada network. A dramatic reconstruction of history's most famous mutiny, it includes details of the uprising and of Peter Heywood's subsequent adventures preceding his trial. Thus, into the plot comes the notorious Captain Bligh, the old sea salt who had been cast adrift from the Bounty in a cutter.

Written and produced by Arthur Swinson, "The Trial of Peter Heywood" features music composed by Thomas Pitfield and played by the BBC Northern Orchestra under the baton of Vilem Tausky. Peter is played by Michael Partridge.

New Radio Serial of Sir Walter Scott Novel

Set against the picturesque background of early 17th-century London, "The Fortunes of Nigel", written by Sir Walter Scott in 1822 in the middle period of his writing life, is one of the greatest of the Waverley novels. On Tuesday, April 24, 10.00 - 10.30 p.m., CBC Dominion begins a new eight-part serial adaptation produced by the CBC.

Lest any Scotsman question its authenticity, this radio version by R. J. B. Sellar, a director of the Gateway Theatre, Edinburgh, is entirely Scottish — adapter, producer and cast — and the programs were produced in the BBC's Glasgow studios.

Sellar suggests that James I, "the wisest fool in Christendom," is the real hero. Certainly, this is one of Sir Walter's most massive full-length portraits, and he is the character on whom the author has lavished his creative affections.

The tale is peopled by some 30 principal characters, half of them English, half Scots, with a mass of adhesions to the main plot. But lovers of Scott need not expect to hear all the well-remembered characters and incidents. As Sellar explains, "one could no more put the whole of 'Nigel' into a radio serial than one could pour the Mediterranean into the crater of Vesuvius".

But despite this shedding of subplots, we are assured listeners will find that a great deal remains of Scott's accurate picture of life in London and at Court in the early days of James I. The fortune-hunting Scots who followed James to England come in for humorous portraiture.

Oscar Wilde Comedy On Television

After a three-week absence brought about by schedule adjustments for hockey broadcasts, CBC Folio returns on Sunday, April 2nd, at its accustomed time — 10.00 p.m. — with an 80-minute production of Oscar Wilde's classic comedy of manners, "The Importance of Being Earnest."

Andrew Allan will direct this first performance of the play on Canadian TV, with production by Robert Allen and sets by Nikolai Soloviov.

One of the most delectable comedies in the theatrical repertoire, the play deals with the aspirations of John Worthing to the hand of Gwendolen Fairfax, daughter of Lady Bracknell, and the objections raised to the proposed marriage because he was found in Victoria Station (left there by an absent-minded governess) and has no information as to his parentage. Upon this farcial framework Wilde has woven a glittering fabric of dialogue and epigram satirizing with devastating humor the manners and morals of his day.

Joan Blackman

Only 19 years old, Joan Blackman has already carved out a place for herself in the top ranks of Canadian acting. She is seen frequently on any of a dozen CBC radio and television drama shows but in spite of this she finds time for stage appearances in both Canada and the U.S.

From Latin America

Chicho Valle brings you music from Latin America twice a week via the CBC radio networks. Himself a Cuban, he leads a 12-piece orchestra in his own authentic arrangements. Behind him is Danny Berni with one of the more unusual instruments they use in the group — a gourd. Shaped like a limp bowling pin, it is hollow and hard, and is played by running a pencil or comb along its ridged side.

Campaign Report, Community Concert Assn. at Hawkesb'y

Hawkesbury — The final meeting of the executive and directors of the Hawkesbury Community Concerts Association was held April 10 at the Bridge Inn, with the president, Dr. D. H. Hamly, in the chair.

A very fine response has been received, showing that Hawkesbury and its environs possess their share of music lovers; 314 adults and 68 students had taken out memberships and some 45 more memberships were expected. In addition some 10 honorary patrons are donating assistance, and the Association is assured of sufficient funds to carry on.

Contracts for three splendid concerts totalling $1,950 in artists' fees were signed as follows:

John McCallum (lyric tenor).

The Beaux Arts Trio (piano, violin and 'cello).

All these artists give good balanced programs of classical and lighter compositions to suit all tastes. The first concert will be in October or November, 1956.

A vote of thanks was passed to the campaign co-chairman, Gill Greenway and Mrs. J. A. Dixon, and to all the canvassers for their splendid effort.

The faithful work of Lionel Parisien, secretary, and W. T. Williamson, treasurer, was much appreciated.

Leo Bernash, of the Community Concerts Association, was present at the meeting.

Tips on Touring

By Carol Lane
Women's Travel Authority

Two friends recently came to me with identical problems — should they buy a trailer house? — and I helped each make up his mind with this advice:

Don't actually buy a trailer until you've had a chance to discover if you will really like trailer life.

I advised both friends either to borrow a trailer from a friend or rent one from a trailer agency and take an actual "shakedown" trip to find the answer. They did, and this is what they discovered.

Alex M—— took off with his wife and youngster on a three-week trip through the West, while Richard R —— and his wife made a swing through Ontario.

At the end of 10 days Alex and his family called a halt to the trailer experiment, and couldn't get home fast enough. They were sick and tired of trailer living and everything that went with it. But Richard and his wife made an exactly different discovery. They loved the free vagabond life, they were crazy about it, they had discovered a new life.

The trick of taking a "shakedown" trip before buying paid off for both these couples. One couple had definite proof they really wanted a trailer, the other couple had equally positive proof that buying a trailer would have been a major mistake. Both couples thanked me warmly.

Written Specially for The Lachute Watchman

By Oli Daum, Canadian Press Staff Writer

Canadian Press Staff Writer

Women have one of spring's most colorful stories right at their fingertips.

This year, gloves burst forth in an array of shades that rival nature's prettiest blooms. The whole galaxy of spring colors, are reflected in glove shades but yellow, ranging in tone from light daffodil to deep golds and delicate champagne tones, seems to be most versatile.

Then there are muted greens with the color quality of budding leaves and clear, bright blues that reflect the spring skies.

As exciting as the trend toward more color is the style story which has discarded the tailored look for a more feminine and dramatic design in longer lengths.

The shortie for the season is about an inch longer than last year and covers the wrist bone. Rhinestone, seed pearl and pearlized button trim is often used to focus attention on the new length.

In the mid-length and elbow-length glove, draping or embroidery gives a softer effect and, because it is achieved with elasticized thread, provides a snugger fit.

On the March

Manitoba's United Church women are busy these days. Mrs. David Conly, spokesman for the Woman's Association and the Women's Missionary Society, said they are sending 18,000 letters to United Church members in the province, suggesting they ask their legislature members to adopt three new amendments to the province's new liquor bill.

The amendments the women want in the bill, now before the Manitoba house, are: a scientific test for drivers involved in accidents, uniform closing of beer parlors and three-man full-time membership on the Liquor Control Commission.

Recently, the women mailed 6,000 copies of a sermon entitled "The Challenge of Voluntary Abstinence," which Mrs. Conly's husband, the Rev. David Conly, delivered at Winnipeg's Greenwood United Church.

Mrs. Conly said their purpose is not to interpret the proposed legislation but just to point out to Manitobans where they are heading.

Let's Eat

BY IDA BAILEY ALLEN

Fresh vegetables and fruits are primary foods, in raw, cooked and juice form, they are essential to the diet for they provide vitamins that act as catalysts in the body, activating other foods to full nutrition. They also contain assorted organic minerals without which life cannot exist.

But if vegetables are wilted or of poor quality, the vitalizing principles become less potent or they are lost.

Vegetables and Fruits

We go to the market, see displays of appetizing fresh vegetables and fruits and take them home. There they must be as carefully protected as at the market: that is, refrigerated, and kept slightly moist, either in a hydrator or in tightly closed polyethelene bags.

"If bought loose by the pound instead of in package form, the homemaker should wash and dry the vegetable, then put it into a polyethelene bag. Be sure that one or two holes about 4/8" in diameter are cut in it, so the vegetable can 'breathe' suggests the Chef.

Vitalizing Qualities

"This method of keeping vegetables cool and therefore fresh, also applies to root vegetables such as potatoes, turnips, rutabagas, onions and carrots. Potatoes and other root vegetables that feel flabby, and onions that have begun to sprout, have lost part of their vitalizing qualities.

"If they are purchased in large quantities, they should be kept in a cool basement, in slatted boxes, standing on racks to permit circulation of air. Only enough for each day's use should be brought to the kitchen," advises the Chef.

Never Soak Them

"And, I must add, never, never, soak vegetables in water to 'restore' them or soak them in water until cooking time. In either case, most of the vitamins, minerals and soluble proteins are lost.

"Why pay money for necessary food elements, then wash them away?"

Radishes Crisp Young Onions
Sweet-Sour Spareribs
Cornmeal Bread Stuffing

All Measurements Are Level
Recipes Proportioned To Serve 4 to 6

Sweet-Sour Spareribs: Order 2 strips pork spareribs cracked in 3 places each. Dust with 1 tsp. each salt and monosodium glutamate, ¼ tsp. pepper and ½ tsp. thyme.

Place 1 strip in a baking pan. Pack on 1 recipe cornbread stuffing in mound shape. Cover with the second strip of spareribs; dust with enriched flour.

Place in a hot oven, 425 deg. F. bake until the flour and spareribs begin to brown. Reduce the heat to 250 deg. F. Roast 1½ hrs. basting 3 times with ½ c. hot water containing 1 tbsp. melted butter or margarine and 1 tsp. gravy seasoning.

Trick of the Chef

Roll into an oblong ½" thick. Cut in fingerlengths. Fry in deep fat hot enough to brown a ½" cube of bread in 1 min., 350 deg. F. Drain on crumpled paper towels.

When almost cold, roll in 1 c. granulated sugar mixed with 1 tsp. cinnamon.

Serve while still warm. Or if cold, heat in the oven and dust with extra cinnamon and sugar.

Meat Bargains

Lamb-in-a-basket, 21 cents lb.; pork roast, 30 cents; T-bone steak, 59 cents. . . Meat prices recently have been plumbing levels as low as these. Now — with Lent and the Easter season over — consumers' hopes for continued rock-bottom meat prices rest with developments in the upcoming spring marketing season.

Some factors have appeared which lend firmness to the meat-price picture. But, says The Financial Post, currently it seems they will be no more than sufficient to balance the depressing effect of heavy supplies.

In fact, there's still no assurance that heavy hog marketings in the near future won't push prices below the federal floor of $23 cwt. in Toronto and Montreal. It's been hovering at or close to the floor for months.

For a different omelet, add ¼ cup drained, canned peas to the omelet mixture before cooking or spread peas on top of the omelet just before it is folded. Canned peas are good in scrambled eggs, too.

Q.W.I. Display At June Convention

An exhibition of handwork will again be featured at the annual provincial convention of the Quebec Women's Institutes, held the end of June at Macdonald College.

Directives for the entries are now out. Each branch may show three articles of any form of craft, made since the last convention. In addition, those branches who have had a Q.W.I. course during the year may enter four articles made either during or after the course. It is hoped the painting section will be well supported, also, that there will be a good showing of the more unusual types of crafts.

This is not a competition. It is designed to show the work being done at courses given by the Q.W.I. Technicians, and to publicize this aspect of the Institute program to the many visitors who attend the convention.

Veal Variations

by the Consumer Section, Canada Dept. of Agriculture Marketing Service

These smaller cuts of veal — chops, steaks and cutlets — may be cooked by dry heat in the oven, or panfried on top of the stove, but for real perfection the Consumer Section suggests braising them. This means browning the meat in a small amount of fat, then cooking it slowly either in juices from the meat or in added liquid, in a covered utensil. Braising is one of the cooking methods recommended for tenderizing meat. It is also used when special seasonings are to be cooked with the meat for it allows the flavor to penetrate more thoroughly.

To braise veal chops, steaks or cutlets, brown the meat in 2 to 4 tablespoons fat over moderate heat, allowing 4 to 5 minutes each side. Season with salt and pepper. Sprinkle both sides with flour and brown again slightly. Add liquid (water, tomato juice or vegetable liquid) to a depth of one-quarter inch. Stir well and turn meat. Cover and simmer on top of stove or cook in moderately slow, 325° F. oven:

Loin and rib chops — 1-inch, 10 to 12 minutes each side; 1-inch, 20 to 22 minutes each side.

Shoulder chops and steaks — 1-inch, 18 to 20 minutes each side; 1-inch 28 to 30 minutes each side.

Variations of Braised Veal Chops, Steaks and Cutlets

Veal Paprika — Brown and season 1-inch veal chops generously with paprika, salt and pepper. Braise in sour cream diluted with an equal amount of milk. (Condensed cream soup may be substituted for the sour cream). Cook 18 to 20 minutes each side.

Wiener Schnitzel — Brown small pieces of 1-inch veal steak and sliced onion. Season with salt and pepper. Add 1 to 2 tablespoons chopped parsley. Braise in diluted sour cream for 18 to 20 minutes each side.

Veal Scallopini — "French" (flatten) veal cutlets. Coat with French dressing and let stand 15 minutes. Brown cutlets and sliced onion. Add salt, pepper and 1 to 2 tablespoons chopped green pepper. Sprinkle both sides with flour and brown again slightly. Braise in chicken broth or consommé for 18 to 20 minutes each side. Sliced olives and fried, sliced mushrooms may be added before serving.

Veal Risotto — Brown 1-inch shoulder chops or steaks and sliced onion. Add 1 to 2 tablespoons chopped parsley, a dash of oregano, basil, salt and pepper. Sprinkle both sides of meat with flour and brown again slightly. Braise in stewed or canned tomatoes and beef broth for 18 to 20 minutes each side. Serve on cooked rice or noodles.

Drive for Membership In Consumers' Assocn.

A member of the Canadian Association of Consumers in every branch: that is the objective of the Quebec Women's Institutes during the current membership campaign being carried on by the CAC. The Institute, as a participating organization at national and provincial levels, is co-operating in this drive to double the membership, which opened on April 9 and is continuing for two weeks.

Ever since the CAC was organized the Q.W.I. has followed a policy advocating that every branch should have a membership in the CAC for its convener of Home Economics. If this objective were attained the Institute representation in the CAC would be more than doubled, as far as this province is concerned, as only about 30 branches have done this every year. In addition there are five branches with a CAC group membership.

The Institute supports the CAC policy of consumer education for the housewife and is glad to assist in this way with the present campaign.

Fashions

Lou Larry of Toronto plotted this spring suit on long, lean lines from a silky acetate gabardine. The slim item of a skirt is complimented by the snug fitting jacket which closes with two oversized buttons and is gently rounded over the hips. The fabric is Canadian.

Irish linen in a soft tone of gray or cafe au lait does up smartly into a striking sheath, a good number from now right through summer. The dress is neatly defined by slot-seamed darts finished with white arrows. It has a small collar, little sleeves and buttons in back for an uninterrupted front line.

A Weekly Feature of Helpful Hints on Child Training

(Copyright) — By NANCY CLEAVER —

"I owe my love of flowers to a teacher who was a garden enthusiast," a woman told a friend she met at the Flower Show.". I attended a rural school and each of us had a wonderful time with our tiny plots in the school garden. Our teacher certainly had "a green thumb"! We learned how to prepare the soil, sow the seed and care for the plants. In the autumn many of us won prizes for our bouquets at the Fall Fair."

"I never had a school garden but my parents both enjoyed gardening. So I learned to love growing flowers too" her friend answered.

A gardening hobby is one which may be begun in very early years and can be enjoyed for a whole lifetime. The seed catalogue's arrival is a real event in many homes. The lovely colored pictures of vegetables and flowers are most attractive, even if they are almost too optimistic! A little child can learn the names of many favorite flowers and also the different colors by playing a little game of finding flowers or colors with an older member of the family.

When mother and dad are making plans on paper for the garden, if there is a small boy or girl in the family, do include the child in the discussion! If at all possible promise the child a small piece of land for his very own garden. Let him draw his own outline of what he wants to plant, making a few suggestions of vegetables and flowers which are easy to grow. If seeds are started early indoors, let the youngster help in caring for them, turning the boxes toward the light and watering the plants.

Flowers make a very special appeal to girls, but boys, too, may be quite proud of the flowers they have grown themselves. Lessons of finishing up on a task which is begun, carefulness and patience are all learned by a gardener, whether he is young or old. It is good, too, for a child to feel that he has his own share in a family enterprise or any kind. The sense of "belonging" and pride in doing a good piece of work are fostered in gardening or any project which members of one home carry out together.

Arranging flowers in an artistic way is a real art. Many people made the mistake of crowding too many flowers into one vase. A mother who has a knowledge of flower arrangements can teach her daughter how to make a pretty table centre. From time to time magazine articles, pamphlets and books are printed dealing with this subject. Anyone who wants to learn more about flower decorations may find further information at a public library. Pretty vases and bowls of different shapes and sizes may be gradually purchased so that just the right vase may be quickly found for a special bouquet.

On birthdays and other special occasions, a bouquet of flowers, a rose bud, or a plant will find its way to many homes with a little note from a sweetheart, a friend or a member of the family. The gift of flowers gives pleasure to everyone in the house.

In the months when flowers are blooming in the garden, a child will enjoy helping to pick a bouquet and arrange it for a sick or shut-in friend, or for someone who has shown special kindness. A small boy or girl should have the opportunity to discover the joy which comes from giving others pleasure. A mother, who had sent her little girl to an invalid with a bouquet or sweet peas from the garden, said to her daughter when she returned home.

"Smell your fingers." The small girl immediately noticed the faint, but lovely perfume of the sweet peas. The mother said to her:

"A kind act done to another person, whether it is giving flowers or anything else, always leaves some fragrance on the fingers of the giver."

STORE CLOSING HOURS

When the city fathers of Calgary finally decided that the regulating of store hours was none of their concern, there were dire predictions of ruin and chaos. If municipal restrictions were abandoned, said the critics, all sorts of merchants would be forced to the wall, and store clerks worked to death.

Well, says The Financial Post, after almost 40 years of more or less successful operation, the municipal restrictions have been lifted and, so far, both the store clerk and store owner seem to have survived. Some stores have decided to stay open on certain evenings, some have not.

Calgary municipal authorities have finally decided to leave this complicated matter to the parties most concerned.

Miss Hodgson although living in Montreal and Hudson, never lost interest in this district, and especially in the Women's Missionary Society and its work. Every year a donation of knitting was sent, to be sold for the funds of this Society.

Her name will be a cherished memory not only in Cushing but in the homes of many of her former pupils.

DOG SAVES TOTS FROM RABID FOX

—Central Press Canadian

Eugene and Armand Blake, and several other children of Mattawa, Ont., can thank their two-year-old collie-huskie dog, Teddy, for saving them from the bite of a rabid fox which attacked them as they walked home from school. The fox circled the frightened children, then lunged at them to be met in mid-air by the dog. One bite killed the fox, whose carcass showed he had rabies.

To View Resources Of Teaching Profession

Montreal — Teacher recruitment will be under discussion during the Saturday morning workshop sessions of the annual provincial conference of the Quebec Federation of Home and School Association. "The effect of salaries, professional status and working conditions on teacher recruitment is particularly pertinent", president Douglas Walkington said, "in view of the present crisis in Montreal."

The conference, to be held at McGill University, Physical Sciences Building, on May 4-5, will also focus attention through workshop sessions on other important topics including parent education, traffic safety, school education and audio-visual aids.

The special workshop on school education to be conducted by Dr. Harold Grant will feature three demonstration classes in reading and subsequent discussion will deal with current reading practices.

Mr. Walkington pointed out that with the increasing number of cars on the road, traffic safety is becoming a major concern and this will be the subject of a separate workshop at which two motion pictures will be screened.

The importance of program planning, the role of regional councils and their relationship to the Federation will also be explored by the delegates.

The seven workshops will give representatives and delegates an opportunity, Mr. Walkington states, to recommend appropriate action in the form of resolutions.

Q. Some little time ago I was told to have an X-ray made of my lungs. The report was that I had a spot on one of my lungs, but I was ordered to undergo other X-ray examinations. I was in the hospital for some time and finally it was found that I had no spot on my lungs. During the time I was in the hospital I was unable to draw benefit. With a medical certificate would I be able to draw the benefit I was unable to receive during my stay in the hospital? As a matter of fact I was not sick at all, since a mistake has been made.

A. Benefit is paid during illness only if the person concerned was already receiving benefit when the illness began and if he did not lose his employment, or cease to work, because of illness.

To be eligible for benefit (outside of the circumstance recited above) a claimant must be available for work. You would have been unable to fulfill this condition for the period of your stay in hospital.

Q. I am a student and I work during the summer holidays. Must I pay contribtuions during such employment?

A. Yes. If you work in insurable employment contributions must be paid.

LAWS DON'T HELP

All the government needs to do to create an undesirable situation is to pass legislation prohibiting it. The matter of racial discrimination will not be helped by this (recent) piece of legislation.

INJURED DEER HAS NICE HOME

Bathurst, N.B. (CP) — A three-legged deer has found a soft billet after an amazing winter of survival in the woods surrounding this area.

Mr. Carl carried the 75-pound deer to his farm where it rests comfortably in a barn, eating three square meals a day.

Game Warden Ted Melanson said the animal is in "surprisingly good condition." He expects it will be moved to a game preserve, since it cannot run fast enough to get through another hunting season in the bush.

PRISON POPULATION

New Westminster, B.C. (CP) — Built to accommodate 550 prisoners, the B.C. penitentiary now holds a record total of 683, and more are to be transferred from Oakalla jail.

Local Garages Co-operating In Rotary Safety Campaign

President Syd Stilwell of the Brownsburg-Lachute Rotary Club announces that further progress has been made in the Safe Driving Campaign sponsored by this group. The co-operation of a number of garages in Lachute and Brownsburg had been enlisted with a view to giving a free check-up on the steering, brakes, lights and tires. If each of these items are found to be in order, then the driver and owner will be required to sign the safe-driving pledge and an appropriate sticker will be affixed to the car.

If it were found that certain repairs were necessary in order for a car to be in first-class shape, the car owner would be expected to have work done without delay, at his own expense.

This service on the part of the garages will continue throughout the month of May, and it is hoped that everyone will take an active interest in the campaign.

In Brownsburg — Garage Carrière, and Leon Landry.

St. Philippe — Rodrigue Desforges.

The mayors of Lachute and Brownsburg, Dr. F. W. FitzGerald and J. Dorius Lepine, respectively, were guests at the Rotary Club last week and signed safety pledges to signify their approval and support of the campaign. Another appreciated endorsement has come from the Quebec Solicitor General and Minister of Transport, the Hon. Antoine Rivard, whose letter is published on page 2 of this issue.

Change of Time Saturday Midnight

Lachute and surrounding communities will conform with the general change to Daylight Saving Time, to become effective at midnight Saturday. The usual reminder is given to Watchman readers, to advance their clocks one hour and avoid the embarrassment of arriving late for church on Sunday morning. The change of local rail schedules also becomes effective on Sunday.

Two Mayors Sign for Safety

Boys Involved In Missing Cash And Bicycle Parts

Working on a slim clue, Police Chief Fernand Trépanier located and rounded up for questioning 11 Ayersville youths in connection with the theft of numerous bicycle parts from Gerard Denis, St. Julien Street. The boys were all later released.

Mr. Denis reported irregular goings-on last Thursday evening. He stated to the police that, on entering a shed leading from his garage, a youth had made a fast exit by darting between his legs. In making his escape, however, he lost his cap, which was turned over to Chief Trépanier.

Two youths were subsequently questioned, but were found to know nothing of the affair. The following morning enquiries were made, the cap was identified, and its 11-year-old owner was questioned. Additional names were added to the suspect list, until seven youths, ranging in age from 10 to 14, admitted being connected with the theft.

New and used bicycle parts and some cash totalling approximately $125 was recovered along the bank of the North River near Princess Street, and under sheds in the area — the owner's loss being totally recovered.

On completion of the investigation by the Lachute police, the case will be transferred to Det. Ralph Allen, Provincial Police officer here, for further action if any.

The real measure of our wealth is how much we should be worth if we lost our money.

Cottingham Speaks On Provincial Affairs

The Hon. W. M. Cottingham, M.P.P., Minister of Mines, gave an enlightening address Monday evening over the English Montreal network of the CBC.

Speaking on "Provincial Affairs", he presented a broad and objective review of the most important achievements of the Quebec Government and the Department of Mines, explaining that, to date, only 15 per cent of the province's mineral resources have been exploited, although the total value of Quebec's mineral production for 1955 was $385 millions, an increase of $97 millions over the previous year.

The Hon. Mr. Cottingham added that, during the past year, 178 new bridges had been built and these, along with new roads, increased the tourist industry for the province. He mentioned also the fields of public health, social welfare and general education, and assistance that had been given these institutions by the government in the way of grants.

Ayers Landing Field Licensed As An International Airport

With Port-of-Entry Customs Facilities Provided Through Lachute Office

Permission for the Lachute airfield, Ayersville, to operate as an International Airport, was announced Friday by Roger Regimbal, personnel manager of Ayers Limited, owners of the landing strip. As such, the airfield, situated west of the Bradford Montée, will have customs and immigration facilities whenever needed.

Construction of the landing field got underway last summer, and since the preliminary work was completed last fall, 19 official landings have been logged, including the emergency landing of an RCAF DC-3 early last January.

Georges H. Beaulieu, chief officer of Customs and Excise here, stated that, for the time being, international traffic over which his office has any jurisdiction as a customs port of entry, will be handled by customs officers from the Lachute Office. Office space is being made available at the Ayers plant until such time as facilities can be provided at the airstrip. Until sufficient traffic necessitates the presence of a man on duty all the time, the customs officers will travel to the airport for each arrival to inspect the planes before the passengers disembark.

Ayers Limited have agreed to supply a vehicle and driver for this running back and forth.

As regards the airport facilities, Mr. Regimbal stated that the beacon and landing lights would be installed as soon as weather permits. An "air soc" has been flying over the field for some time. In addition, plans have been made for the erection of a large hangar approximately 120 feet by 200 feet, capable of housing about nine planes of the type presently owned by Ayers Limited, or over 20 craft of much smaller size.

The airport is a gravel strip 4,300 in length running east and west. The hangar will be erected at the easterly end, near the montée. Although plans have been made, the tarmac covering will not be laid on the strip this year.

To date, the Shell Oil Company have installed two 5,000-gallon tanks for high octane gasoline, and the pumps will be erected shortly.

It is anticipated that this innovation will make Lachute a hub for private and commercial plane landings for the lower Laurentian and Montebello regions, both Canadian and International craft, and in this manner increase the tourist industry for the area.

The granting of a license to the Lachute Airport brings the total to 18 airports in this province, 10 being equipped for regular landings and the remaining eight for seaplanes as well. It is believed that there are only two other privately-owned airstrips in Canada classified as International Airports.

Plans Progressing for New Iron Ore Development

Quebec (CP) — At his weekly press conference, Premier Maurice Duplessis announced that plans are proceeding rapidly for the establishment of a proposed new iron ore mining development north of Shelter Bay, on the north shore of the St. Lawrence River.

He said the Cartier Mining Company, a subsidiary of United States Steel, has submitted a plan for the mining of ore in the Mount Reed and Mount Wright area, 125 miles north of the St. Lawrence. The plans include construction of a railway or tramway and an iron ore processing plant.

Exploration of this area, added the premier, has so far uncovered 700,000,000 tons of iron ore reserves. Present indications now are that Quebec's mining development has a "fantastic future," he declared.

Recently the government had authorized the building of several new mining towns, the premier said.

One of these will be built in northwestern Abitibi, following construction of a road from Bachelor Lake. The new town is to be named Desmaraisville, after Bishop Aldee Desmarais of Amos.

Appointed Gen. Manager C-I-L Ammunition

S. J. Smart, who has been appointed general manager, ammunition division, Canadian Industries Limited. The designation of this division as a separate administrative unit in the C-I-L organization came as a result of increased management responsibilities due to the growth of the division's operations and investment. A native of King's Point, Newfoundland, Mr. Smart received his B.Sc. degree in electrical egineering from the University of Maine. Works manager of the C-I-L ammunition works at Brownsburg from 1944, Mr. Smart was named divisional manager in 1947.

Fatally Injured As Truck Plunges Into Gulley

Augustin Roy, 36-year-old St. Philippe resident, succumbed Wednesday morning to injuries received when his truck swerved out of control on the Brownsburg - St. Philippe road on Tuesday afternoon. Omer and Roger Roy, two brothers, received minor injuries in the accident.

According to the investigating traffic officers, Albert Legault and Roger Massie, the ½-ton truck was headed towards St. Philippe when it swerved out of control near the farm of Delphis Leclair, about a mile south of Brownsburg. The vehicle crashed the bridge railing and fell some 23 feet to the creek below. There was little water in the creek at the time.

The three occupants were treated by Dr. Jacques Castagner, of Brownsburg, the driver and Omer Roy being taken to St. Jerome hospital, where the former died at 6 a.m. Wednesday.

No date has been set for the inquest.

Catholic School Cleric Injured in Road Mishap

Father Aurele Levac, 40-year-old chaplain at l'Ecole Supérieure, suffered a fractured collar-bone and other injuries when the car in which he was driving was in collision with a truck owned by Dominion Prime Woods Ltd. and driven by Francois Chabot, 28, of Ayersville.

According to the investigating traffic officer, Albert Legault, the truck, heading towards St. Andrews East, took the ditch on the left-hand side of the road, veered back onto the highway and hit and upset the car, which was driven by André Lemay, 19, and owned by his father, Albert.

Father Levac was a passenger in the back seat at the time of the mishap. The driver, and Brother Jacques Gauthier, 28, a teacher at the local school, were not injured in the crash, which occurred last Saturday afternoon.

New Pharmacy Replacing Old Main Street Premises

Nostalgic memories among old citizens and many now removed from Lachute, will be stirred by the accompanying picture of the old Campbell Store, which in its final years boasted this much-modernized storefront. (By present standards, however, the front is distinctly antiquated.)

The old Campbell Store, taken over by Harold C. Carson as a general grocery (1945-1950), was virtually the last momento of pioneer merchandising in this town. The back-shop, complete with its substantial box-stove, was the assembly place of evening gossips and arm-chair politicians, and up to the time of its final transition, there were very few local affairs and developments which escaped the discussion of toe-warming veterans in the old, dimly lighted shop. In the summer evenings they smoked their pipes and exchanged their views on the front step, which extended the entire width of the structure.

The grocery shelves, partitions and box-stove were finally removed, and the last occupant, Jean-Jacques Dupré, moved out last week with his sporting goods, games, toys and novelties, to make way for the demolition squad and a Big Future in Lachute's rapidly advancing business section. . . For the building was acquired in late 1954 by Donat Saulnier, proprietor of Beaton's Pharmacy, who has plans for a large and modern drugstore to replace the present cramped quarters of this business next door.

There are a diminishing few who can recall the story of this once-pretentious business block.

— Constructed by one Robert Evans in the late 1870's, the place was occupied by the late Hugh Fraser, Jr., as a General Store around 1882. Shortly before the turn of the century, he changed his location to the other side of Main Street and the late Jim Campbell occupied the General Store. Mr. Campbell was later joined in the enterprise by his brother, the late Stuart Campbell, who in 1945 sold the business to H. E. Carson, retaining the building, which was then sold to S. Greenspon & Son and finally to Donat Saulnier.

In its early days, the building was twice gutted by fire and later repaired and renovated. The Argenteuil Rangers armories were at one time located in the upstairs portion of the building.

Plans for New Building

It is the intention of Donat Saulnier to start construction of the new pharmacy building in May. The plans provide for a 35 x 75 foot building, modern in every respect. The drugstore will have a well equipped laboratory with refrigeration, to permit the retaining of perishable drugs which otherwise have to be ordered from the wholesalers as needed; this will permit valuable service in the line of prescriptions. The display will provide for semi-self-service merchandising. There will be a showcase devoted to veterinary products and an up-to-the-minute cosmetics counter. Mr. Saulnier states there are only six drugstores in Montreal with establishments comparable in terms of modern retailing.

There will be offices in the second storey, for three of which there are already prospective tenants. These quarters will be ventilated with "climatized" circulation, and window lighting has been carefully studied in the planning.

The work of construction will be given to a local contractor.

Last Hang-Out of "Hot Stove League"

Just before the extinction of this landmark, the photographer recorded for posterity the old Campbell Store on Main Street, which was levelled by a demolition crew last week. The building, of solid double brick construction, housed the last example of the cracker-barrel era in Lachute. One peculiarity apparent to the passer-by, was the tie-rod running through the front of this structure — in which circular-saw blades were used to replace the customary flanges. One of these may be seen in the above picture, at the corner near the verandah roof. This was doubtless an association with its long-time owners, the late Jim and Stewart Campbell, members of the pioneer lumbering and saw-mill family of Dalesville. — Photo by Syd Drew

Scouts' Paper Canvass This Saturday, April 28

Householders are reminded of the annual spring paper salvage drive, to be conducted by the Lachute Boy Scouts this Saturday, April 28. Trucks will circulate in Lachute, Lachute Mills and Ayersville, and it will be appreciated if residents and business houses will have paper bundled and placed in view to be collected. All donations of old papers and periodicals will be acceptable, to be disposed of in aid of the Scout funds.

Another Wolf Bites the Dust, Upper Lachute

Wolf No. 3 for the Clark family, Upper Lachute, was brought down Sunday morning on the upper end of the Pring property. The 35-pound male was shot by Kenneth Clark after an hour-long pursuit.

Four local residents headed out Sunday morning with several dogs and rounded up the wolf, which led them on a merry chase before it was finally killed. As in most cases of grey wolves shot in the area this winter, its fangs were badly worn down and broken.

The first reported sign of a deer being molested by wolves was discovered by the Clarks several weeks ago, when a large doe was found dead in the water. Signs indicated a struggle, although the deer had not been eaten by the wolves, who were apparently afraid of the cold water.

Complete Ban On Fishing With Live Minnows

Ottawa River Is Only Exception

Maximum $1,000 Fine Under New Regulation

Quebec (CP) — Minnows and other fish have been banned as live bait in Quebec fishing waters north of the St. Lawrence and Ottawa Rivers, the Provincial Department of Game and Fisheries announced last Friday.

The department said it was imposing the ban for the first time because of damage, including parasitic diseases, which minnows cause in fishing waters. The measure was taken following requests from the Quebec Federation of Fish and Game Associations and the Outfitters Association of Quebec.

The department said the use of minnows in the same waters as they are caught could not cause any harm, but this would provide a convenient loophole in the new law and therefore the ban must be complete.

The new law also forbids the sale, possession or transportation of live fish destined for bait.

Dr. Gustave Prevost, director of the biology department at the University of Montreal, said minnows are a dangerous menace because they multiply quickly once they are introduced to new waters where there is a lack of natural enemies to keep them in check. This sometimes causes trout and other game fish to disappear, he said. Even dead, minows could carry harmful diseases and parisites.

The provincial department emphasized that the new restriction is not intended to reduce the fisherman's catch, but is meant solely to safeguard fishing waters from contamination.

The use of minnows as bait in the stipulated area, as well as their sale, possession or transportation, now becomes a violation of the Quebec Fisheries Act, which provides for a fine of "not more than $1,000." The maximum fine is only demanded in extreme cases, however.

Minnows may be transported in Quebec for use in the Ottawa River provided the carrier uses the roads closest to the river as far as Sheenboro, Que., and then remains within 500 feet of the River from Sheenboro to Lake Temiscamingue.

It was not felt necessary to impose the ban in the regions south of the Ottawa and St. Lawrence Rivers, as game wardens there are better able to enforce existing laws in those areas.

Newborn Infant Found in Ottawa River

The body of a newborn child was discovered in the Ottawa River near Grece's Point on Tuesday, by Leo Bertrand, 43, of that village.

Traffic Officers Roger Massie and Albert Legault were called to the scene and made preliminary investigations, the body later being brought to the local morgue and then transferred to Montreal, where an autopsy was ordered.

Hope for Revival Of Ice Arena At Hawkesbury

Meeting at a joint assembly, the members of the Hawkesbury Municipal Council decided to purchase the burnt-out Hawkesbury arena and grounds from the shareholders of the Hawkesbury Promoting Company, on the condition that they can borrow sufficient funds to reconstruct the building.

Selling price of the transfer is a nominal one dollar ($1) and when the transaction is culminated, repairs are to commence at once. The shareholders voted 50-47 in favor of the sale, which will materialize on the passing of a referendum, to authorize the municipality to borrow funds for reconstruction and installation of an artificial ice plant.

Fertilized and Re-seeded Pastures for Beef Profits

That the carrying capacity of old pastures could be doubled by re-seeding and fertilization, was demonstrated by the Ontario Department of Agriculture in a series of experiments spread over a four-year period in the counties of Kent, Middlesex, Bruce, Victoria and Lanark.

In their experiments, the department men took five widely scattered farms of about 100 acres each and divided each farm into three parts. The first part was a check plot which was left untouched. The second plot was fertilized and the third plowed up, fertilized and re-seeded with a good pasture mixture.

After four years, reports C-I-L Agricultural News, the check plots (untouched) averaged a gross return of $77.79 per acre. Gross return on the plots that were fertilized only was $114.45 per acre and on the plowed up, fertilized and re-seeded plots the return was $150.92 per acre.

Average weight gain per acre on check plots was 80.3 pounds, on fertilized plots 114.2 pounds and on re-seeded and fertilized plots 167.5 pounds.

The seed mixture used included Brome, Timothy, Alfalfa and Orchard grass as well as Ladino, White Dutch, Meadow Fescue, Kentucky Blue and perennial rye grass. A nurse crop of Roxton oats was also grown.

WEEK IN OTTAWA

By Roy LaBerge,
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Ottawa, April 23 (CP) — External Affairs Minister Pearson in the Commons external affairs committee defended U.S. ambassador Douglas Stuart against Progressive Conservative and CCF criticism last week.

Mr. Pearson said he doesn't believe Mr. Stuart had any intention of interfering in Canadian domestic affairs in a speech he made at Vancouver. He added, however, there were "one or two passages which seemed to me, in the context in which they appeared, and coming from a diplomatic rather than a political or private personage, to have been unfortunately of a character likely to provoke controversy."

He declined to identify these passages. He said a minister at the Canadian embassy in Washington visited the U.S. state department the day after Mr. Stuart's speech and pointed out the passages in question. This was not a protest or even a representation to the U.S. government, he added.

Mr. Stuart at the Vancouver Canadian Club had chided Canadians who have expressed alarm over the increasing flow of U.S. capital into Canada, and described a previous speech on the subject by Progressive Conservative leader George Drew as emotional rather than logical. He did not name Mr. Drew.

The Progressive Conservatives have charged that Mr. Stuart's address was "unwarranted intrusion" into Canadian domestic affairs and had cast "unwarranted reflections" on Mr. Drew.

Need Right Decisions

Mr. Drew, speaking on the CBC's free-time political broadcast "The Nation's Business" on Friday night, said Canada has everything to become a great industrial nation and a world power if the right decisions are taken now. He said the government should take steps to encourage industrial processing of a larger proportion of Canadian raw materials in Canada for the employment of more Canadians.

Mr. Drew, without naming anyone, said there have been suggestions he is opposed to U.S. investment in Canada. Nothing could be further from reality.

Canadian-U.S. friendship was of supreme importance. But it could be kept in good repair only if problems were faced with complete frankness.

Financial control of most of Canada's mineral raw materials was held outside Canada. It was only natural that those extracting the raw materials should direct the supply to the mills and factories of the U.S.

"The fact that a great part of that new development has been the direct result of American investment and American initiative does not change the situation," Mr. Drew said. "As we consider the beneficial results of that investement we must also examine the consequences which flow from it . . .

"We have no right to permit our resources or our industries to be used in any way that will be to the disadvantage of Canadians themselves. We must not be satisfied with quick cash returns which will in any way endanger that future."

U.S. Globemaster

As far as Defence Minister Campney is concerned, the incident in which a United States serviceman drew his revolver on a Canadian news photographer is closed.

He reported to Commons on the incident at the RCAF Mount Hope base near Hamilton after a giant U.S. Globemaster made a forced landing there. He said he could find nothing to criticize "except possibly the judgment of the USAF lieutenant in drawing his revolver."

Mr. Campney added that the lieutenant had just miraculously survived a crash-landing and was aware of the danger of fire and explosion that any spark — or flashbulb — might set off. He had been posted to guard the plane against further accident.

"Anyone under all these circumstances might have been guilty of an error in judgment, if such it was," Mr. Campney said.

Telephone Apology

His report on the affair, which previously stirred up opposition questions and brought a phoned apology to the minister from U.S. Air Secretary Quarles, seemed to satisfy members.

Some of the 96 U.S. airmen carried by the Globemaster were posted as guards over the big plane, which dripped gasoline after it came down, because there were not enough RCAF personnel available.

They kept everyone at least 50 yards away for 2½ hours. But one photographer, Godfrey Scott (of the Toronto Globe and Mail) came closer, ignoring a guard's request that he move back. The officer drew his revolver and, although not pointing it an anyone, warned the photographer not to come closer.

Russian Trade Pact

The Commons has unanimously approved the first formal trade agreement ever signed between Canada and Russia.

Members took less than three hours to ratify the three-year tariff agreement that opens up the first commercial market for Canadian wheat in the Soviet since before the Second World War.

The agreement stipulated Russia will buy a minimum 44,000,000 bushels in three years — worth about $60,000,000 at current prices.

The agreement, still to be ratified by the Senate, provides that the two countries exchange "most-favored-nation" tariff treatment. This puts imports from the Soviet Union on the same basis as those from the United States and other countries with similar agreements.

FARMERS CASH IN ON LAND PRICES

—Central Press Canadian

Many farmers who own land in such booming areas as Toronto and Hamilton are cashing in on their properties now at prices that seemed fantastic a few years ago. Gus Plitz, shown with sons Gus and Edward, sold a plot of land, bought for a few thousand dollars during the depression, for $120,000, and neighbors are being offered equally high prices. His land is near Frenchman's Bay, between Oshawa and Toronto, and it is considered one of the most valuable industrial areas in Ontario.

Farm Marketing Board to Promote Quebec Agriculture; Judge G. H. Héon, Former Argent'l M.P., Named Chairman

Premier Maurice Duplessis has announced the appointment of the four members of the Farm Marketing Board set up during the last session of the Quebec Legislature.

Georges H. Héon, District Judge of Montreal and former chairman of the Héon Commission which investigated farm marketing problems, is the board's chairman. Vice-president is Abel Marion, one-time president of the 40,000-member Catholic Farmers' Union.

The two other members of the board are Alfred Dubé, National Union Member of the Legislative Assembly for Rimouski, and Dan G. Murphy, of Stanbridge, Missisquoi County.

The four nominations become effective May 1.

As chairman of the Farm Marketing Board, Judge Héon will get an $11,000 annual salary. The vice-chairman's salary is set at $9,000 and that of the other two members at $8,500 each. The appointments are valid for a 10-year period, but the term of office of all four members continues indefinitely unless new appointments are made.

The board's functions are to assist in co-ordinating farm marketing operations, to find new markets and improve existing markets, to assist in directing farm production and to promote marketing of farm products generally.

The formation of the Farm Marketing Board was one of the main recommendations of the Héon Commission on farm marketing problems.

The farm marketing law stipulates that the legislation is not intended to compete with the operation of co-operatives. Furthermore, in order that a marketing plan be recognized, it must be approved by 75 per cent of the producers of any given product in any given region.

Justice Georges H. Héon

The law applies to all farm products and includes pulpwood cut by farmers on their lots.

The four-man board will be empowered to approve or reject farm marketing plans. It also has authority to settle disputes brought about by the application of farm marketing plans.

Minister of Transport Commends Rotary Club Road Safety Campaign

Another official endorsement of the highway safety campaign sponsored by the Rotary Club in this county, is conveyed in a letter from the Hon. Antoine Rivard, Quebec Solicitor General and Minister of Transport and Communications. The letter, addressed to Mr. Syd G. Patterson, Rotary member and committeeman on this project, reads as follows:

Quebec, April 16th, 1956.

Dear Mr. Patterson:

It was a great pleasure for me, to learn that the Brownsburg - Lachute Rotary Club is about to launch a road safety campaign in the County of Argenteuil.

The gratifying results obtained in the Province during the last two years, are undoubtedly due to the keen co-operation given my department and the Provincial Safety Committee, by such important social organizations as yours.

Permit me to express my most sincere thanks to all the officers and members of your Club, for having accepted to bring to the attention of the general public, the great need for safe driving at all times.

I am convinced that your campaign will be a success, and that the population of Argenteuil will co-operate entirely to its success.

With my best personal regards, I remain,

Yours sincerely,

— Antoine Rivard,
Solicitor General and Minister of Transportation and Communications

R.E.C. Wherry, QC, Re-elected President Of Children's Home

Stanley Holt, Lachute, Is Vice-President

At the annual meeting of the Orange and Protestant Children's Home at Rosemere, Que., R. E. C. Werry, QC, was re-elected president, and Mrs. Ethel Erskine and A. Stanley Holt, vice-presidents. Treasurer is R. H. Butler, Secretary Miss Ellen Helm, Executive Secretary W. J. Robinson, Publicity Mrs. Edna Toyston, Auditors G. N. Argue and W. J. Robinson. Twenty-three directors, representative of all parts of the province, were also elected. A period of silence was observed in memory of the late J. Wilfred Shaw, director and most ardent worker in the interests of the Home.

Royal E. C. Werry, QC, conducted the business meeting, while W. H. Brady conducted the election of officers.

During the six and one-half years of operation, 52 children have been admitted to the Home, some of whom have spent most of their young lives in the tender care of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Durning. This year is the first time any child has lost more than two days of schooling, but they will return to school this week following an outbreak of measles.

Thanks for continued support were extended to St. George's and St. Eustache Kiwanis Clubs, Montreal Boys' Association, Masonic Club, True Kindred Club, Church and Brownie Groups, all branches of L.O.A. and L.O.B.A., Ladies' Auxiliary and Orange Social Club. Miss Mabel Chapman, of Ottawa, conveyed greetings from, and pledged continued support of friends outside the Province.

Financial reports showed continued success with donations received from all over Canada and U.S.A., and food bills kept very low due to the huge quantities brought in on "Pound Day". Another cottage will be completed for occupation on May 1 to permit of the admission of more children to the Home.

CONTEMPORARY reading is alive with the lilt of Spring. The advertising pages are full of hats and fashions, lawn mowers and seed onions. Topical topics in the magazines are vegetable plots and backyard swimming pools — in the newspapers, the latest drastic regulations on fishing.

But last week-end we awakened to find the earth white with snow. Our hands were numb as we half-heartedly tackled the backyard debris of Winter. Cold winds continue, and we are loath to discard our windbreakers and topcoats.

Well anyway, we can read, and dream. The calendar says the thrills of Spring await us on the threshold.

Cancer — A Challenge

TO DWELL on the heartache and tragedy of cancer seems unnecessarily melancholic — for in almost every adult life, its cost has been both real and personal. In almost every family, its sorrow has already been intimately experienced.

Beyond the circle of family and relationship, however, they reckon with this human scourge in test-tubes and laboratory cultures; in vital statistics; in life expectancy and insurance risks. Even in the cold terms of industrial production, they reckon with cancer in their own calculating way. . .

According to the Canadian Cancer Society, for instance, annual loss because of this great unsolved medical mystery totals 55,000 man-years!

There is no real way of estimating the loss due to time off for cancer illness and the treatments involved, but, according to the National Cancer Institute of Canada, it would add considerably to the total man years lost. It is also impossible to estimate the millions of dollars lost in wages and the suffering and hardships caused to families stricken by the disease. The most tragic part of the story, however, is that many of these lives could have been saved if the persons involved had recognized the early symptoms of cancer and reported to their doctor for proper diagnosis and treatment.

It is a fact that many types of cancer can be successfully treated by radiation or by surgery if treatment is begun early. For this reason, the Canadian Cancer Society is carrying its educational program right into the factories and workshops of the nation to reach people at their place of work.

This educational activity includes visits by volunteers to the factories and plants. They show cancer films, speak to groups and distribute pamphlets. This program, which is growing each year, will undoubtedly help to reduce needless delays between recognition of the disease and treatment.

At the same time, the Society is battling cancer by supporting research aimed at solving the cancer riddle. It recognizes that only through research can the problem be solved and the day hastened when this disease will have been conquered through science. . . The opportunity is at hand, in the Cancer Society's annual appeal, to aid materially in tackling and overcoming this greatest challenge of our day.

Doctors, scientists and volunteers are working tirelessly to find effective means of preventing and curing cancer. The United Cancer Campaign is appealing this year for $500,000 to finance its important task, which includes research, education and welfare.

Wishful Calculation

WE HOPE this reasoning is not typical of union adherents among the nation's labor force. The attitude towards strikes expressed by an Oshawa trade unionist in a letter to the communist weekly "Canadain Tribune", is illuminating — if not reassuring. This correspondent notes that during the recent General Motors strike he lost $990 in wages but received $448 strike pay from his union, thus reducing his actual pay loss to $542.

Writes this trade union member, "So in 127 days of rush-and-trouble-free life, I could have made $4.50 a day by working. Instead, I have had a vacation I could never afford before. It may take me a year to make up for this, but I am sure it has added another year to my life as far as health is concerned."

Good Eating

ALL PARTS of Canada have their special attraction for tourists, who will soon be thronging lakes and countryside, mountains and seashores.

The visitors will have different interests and varied ideas of how they want to spend their holiday. But they will have one thing in common: all want good meals.

From the plush city hotel dining-room to the roadside snack bar, the thing they will remember most is the food they had on their holidays. Tea and coffee that's hot; bread that's fresh; meats and fish that are properly cooked and vegetables that aren't soggy — these are elementary rules along with cleanliness and courtesy.

The resort boarding house that provides a bedtime snack will be remembered with pleasure. The tourist home that serves a good breakfast — and leaves a full coffee-pot on the table for extra cups — will find its name passed along to friends of the tourist back home.

And most tourist accommodations now recognize that they must be ready to serve the specialty of the area, whether it's salmon on the Pacific, cheese in Quebec or lobsters in the Maritimes. It might be something that's eaten with careless familiarity by residents, but it may be a treat for the visitor.

Apart from the obligation to be a good host to the tourist, there's the important question of monetary return. Federal and provincial campaigns in recent years are convincing the most reactionary resort owner that poor meals don't save money; they lose it.

At the convention of the Canadian Restaurant Association in Toronto last week it was stressed that the three essentials are still good food, absolute cleanliness and courteous service.

The association was concerned mainly with the larger dining-rooms, but the smaller dining spot at many a resort and the tourist home in cities and small towns alike must also remember these rules.

The Ninth Commandment

THERE IS NO quirk of human nature so common or so malicious as that of sitting in judgment on others. A prominent minister says, "I have heard people confess to breaking every one of the Ten Commandments except the ninth: 'Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbor.' Yet this is the one we all break most often."

This common vice does irreparable damage to innocent people — says a commendable article in the current Reader's Digest. "Lack of compassion in judging others arises from not knowing what lies behind their actions. We can halt hasty judgment by asking ourselves: might I not be as bad, or worse, if I'd been faced with that person's troubles and temptations?"

The habit of judging others reveals our own unattractive sense of self-righteousness. Our very attitude seems to say: I must be good, for look at all the bad I'm finding in others. Christ's classic rebuke to self-appointed judges was, "Let him who is without sin among you be the first to cast a stone."

First: Be sure you know ALL the facts before you form an opinion of others.

Second: Remember that, however certain another's guilt may seem, there may be extenuating circumstances.

Third: Give your habit of judging others a "reverse twist" by focusing on their good points instead of their faults.

Fourth: Leave all judgments of others' sins to God. Arrogating to ourselves the functions of the Deity is as presumptuous as it is irreverent.

"PUBLIC VERSUS PRIVATE"

Ever ask yourself the question, "Would a private school do anything for my youngster?" Almost every parent has asked this question of himself or herself at some time or another. Usually, it is popped about the time Junior starts asserting himself and appears too hard to handle. Depending on the degree of Junior's aggressiveness depends the answer. If mother or father admits defeat in handling the problem, the young lad gets packed off to some obscure spot where it is hoped that, in addition to a sound education, he will get a few ideas knocked out of him and some manners knocked in.

Then there is the other side of the matter where, long before the little menace gets out of control, the parents weigh the pros and cons of public versus private schools in the forming of their youngster's character. Not driven to a hasty decision, these parents are only concerned with what is best for their child. And they usually take time to discuss it with the offspring before investing in the project.

It is not an easy matter to decide, this business of sending youngsters away to boarding school. So, for the benefit of those who may be contemplating private schooling for their children, old Geoff will attempt to tell you what to expect from the institution.

What the boy or girl will glean from private school life depends first upon the child and secondly upon the school. The youngster who is a consistent failure in his hometown seat of learning is not going to become a Rhodes Scholar overnight at boarding school. Because the masters observe set study periods and are ruthless about switching off television sets at the appropriate times, the student may do better than at home where discipline is often less severe. Certainly, he will be exposed to more textbooks than the day-school lad. Whether he will absorb any more depends entirely upon his ability to learn.

Whether the student will enjoy himself in his new surroundings depends, in great part, on the school itself. If its policy is to provide a home away from home for each boarder, and to treat all men as equal, then his chances are good. If, however, the institution favors the excessively rich and looks askance at the less wealthy, or if it labors hard and long with the scholarly and leaves the less able to tag along as they may, then the kid's chances of enjoying life are poor indeed.

But, in the final analysis, whether a child does well in a private school and whether he likes or detests it, depends entirely on the parents. It is, I know, difficult for any father or mother to send a child away from home and more or less forget about him until holiday time. Naturally such parents are expected to think about their offspring and take a lively interest in them. But if mother and dad are always appearing on the school doorstep and embarrassing the son and heir before his masters and his fellows, then he will begin to loathe the place — and with a hatred that will not easily be shaken.

Well, there briefly are a few hints for those that may be thinking of loading sonny onto some unfortunate boarding school. Luckily for the schools, they retain the right to accept or reject an applicant, and long years of selection have made them pretty good at guessing who will and who will not fit in. So, all you have to worry about now is to find the school that offers the most for the needs of the young one. Having done that, write for a prospectus and when it arrives, look through it with your child. Then, assuming you can handle the fees, apply for admission.

Don't feel too badly if the school regrets that it is unable to accept your kid. You really didn't want him to go in the first place, did you? And look at the money you'll save! Why, with all those fees in pocket, you can buy that new television set, and really wreck his chances of ever getting farther than the seventh grade at home!

Workmen's Compensation For Agriculture

Farm people are in favor of workmen's compensation for agriculture. This was the conclusion reached by a majority of the 675 Farm Forums, which discussed the question.

"It should be as much a part of everyone's budget as fire and automobile insurance", said the Mountain View Forum in British Columbia. Almost three-quarters of the groups stressed the security and protection which it provides for both farmer and worker. "All medical expenses and part of wages paid, lawsuits prevented — these were considered the chief advantages", the Durham Forum in Nova Scotia stated, supported by the majority of the groups across Canada.

The Milby Farm Forum in Quebec added, "Possibly employees would be easier to find if farming would offer equal compensation with other employments."

The disadvantages of workmen's compensation were not overlooked however. Over one-third of the Forums mentioned high costs. "Farm costs are heavy now with a shrinking income, and this is one more expense. Then too, the cost to the farmer is high owing to the fact that very few farmers are protected."

The Forums pointed out that farmers cannot be covered unless they are employing help. Exchange of work among neighbors might not be covered, it was suggested, and there is also the problem of providing protection for temporary help. In addition, "There is too much paper work," the Fireside Forum in Ontario commented.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

Many a man has been spoiled by taking an intelligence test in a magazine and learning that he is a genius.

Outwardly he remains his old modest self, but deep inside he knows that he is too good for his wife, his job and his neighborhood. (His wife disqualified herself by reading the answers before she read the test.)

When he is a homeless tramp squandering his last dollar in a seedy tavern, he confides to another homeless tramp across the table that he wasn't always like this.

"I could have gone a long way," he says. "I took an intelligence test in a magazine and found that I am a genius."

"Was that test in the April, 1956, issue of 'Leer' magazine?"

"Why, yes. How did you know?"

"Because I took that test myself. And you know something? I'm a genius myself. You see old Joe Jukes over there — the fellow who has gone to sleep with his ear in a coffee cup? He took the test in the same magazine, and he's a genius, too."

"It sure is a tough world, eh? Three of us geniuses, and we all wind up in the same crumby joint. Anyway, that should be good for a drink on the house."

Pitiful scenes like that are enacted every day, as a result of the intelligence tests in the magazines. The tests are figured out so that everyone who takes them is a genius.

Another soul-destroying feature is the "test-your-marriage" gimmick, which shows that you and your mate are unsuited to one another. It debunks your choice of a spouse so thoroughly that it leaves you with a lingering doubt as to whether you really ARE married.

A lady in our neighborhood was unlucky enough to pick up a magazine with a formula for calculating how big a child is going to be when it grows up. (This is a true case.)

She took her little girl's height and multiplied it by something and divided it by something else, according to instructions.

Then she blinked with surprise and handed the thing over to the little girl's father. He got the same result. When the little girl is 21 years old, she is going to be 14 feet tall.

She is now four feet tall, and growing fast. All of us are watching her with interest.

"What would I get," inquired a man who had just insured his property against fire, "if this building should burn down tonight?"

"About ten years," replied the insurance agent.

Feed for farm stock has been purchased so long by the price tag that it has reached the pernicious habit stage! Too many buyers see only the price tag; instead of one tag there should be THREE tags. . .

The smallest tag should be the PRICE tag, for after all, what does the price mean anyway! You could probably buy sawdust for 25 cents a bag. Useful for bedding, but expensive to make pork, eggs or milk.

The INGREDIENT tag should be a little bigger, for it is supposed to list the different ingredients that the bag contains. But here again, it isn't so valuable, for it may contain all the ingredients listed but in so small quantities that they are useless. To illustrate this: At one time I sold a laying mash for a competitive company that had 12 or 15 ingredients listed on the bag, and in addition they added a calf meal of theirs that had 32 ingredients. The ingredient list covered about half the size of the bag! How much calf meal was added, or how much of any of the 32 ingredients it contained were in the laying mash, I will leave to your imagination.

Then again, the proportions in which the different ingredients are mixed, has a lot more to do with your profits than the amounts. Too much of some ingredients will cause waste, and too little will result also in waste.

The RESULT tag should be the biggest, because it should show you whether you are making or losing, and how much. Unfortunately, it is impossible for a feed company to attach this tag, for many reasons. None would be in business long if they told you you would lose, or that Purina would make you more profit; although they usually claim their feed is "just as good but cheaper." There goes the price tag song again.

Feed manufacturers can know, and the Purina Company does know, what profits you can expect when using their Chows under proper feeding conditions. But because there are so many other limiting factors that can come in, the only way for you to get the result tag is for you to keep records of your costs and your sales.

Now don't throw up your hands and balk! It isn't hard, it doesn't take up much time, and the best of it is, IT PAYS; and you know making money with your farm poultry and animals is YOUR business. Helping you make money with them is OUR business.

We will be glad to help with either your feed or record problems. Won't you let us? . . . And remember the old saying, "There's none so blind as those who won't see."

Advertising

The editor of a fine little weekly paper wasn't having too much luck. Merchants in his town were pretty conservative about advertising, especially when business was slow. Apparently, the bank manager in that town gave a lot of advice. He'd been telling those merchants, who were short of cash, to cut expenses particularly their advertising. Quite a few merchants followed the advice.

Then the bank manager got instructions from head office to put up a sign they sent to him about money orders and traveller's cheques. They also sent an advertisement to the paper. The bank manager thought it foolish, because "there's not much call for those services here."

Much to his surprise, the sign and the advertisement increased business. Farmers who had been going to the city with cash in their pockets started using traveller's cheques instead.

Next time a merchant found business slow the banker changed his advice. "Why not run a sale," he suggested. "Put an ad in the paper and a sign in your window." His advice was followed and business picked up.

Today that weekly is no longer little. It has plenty of circulation and much more business. It is enlarging the trading area of the town, and it's bringing shoppers in to the point where parking is a problem.

Not all bank managers reform as fast as this one. I'd suggest to the head offices of all banks that they educate their branch managers on the subject. Many small towns lose trade to nearby cities because the merchants aren't advertising. Bankers contribute to this decline when they include advertising in their "cut expense" advice!

Talk, Films on Cancer To Brownsburg Audience

A talk on Cancer was given at the Legion Hall, Brownsburg, to an interested group of ladies on Friday night by Dr. Suzanne MacKimmie and Mrs. Roger Regimbal, of the Education Committee of the Ladies' Branch of the Argenteuil County Cancer Society.

Three short films were shown, and after the talk a discussion period brought out many questions regarding clinical care.

It was stressed that anyone who desires an examination for Cancer at one of the free Cancer clinics in Montreal, has to be sent by a doctor.

Pamphlets on Cancer as affecting both men and women, were given out at the meeting.

It seems that children are never so dependent upon their parents as after they become self-supporting.

Comrade Curlers Feted at Legion Local Branch

As a token of appreciation for honors brought to the local branch by winning the Provincial Legion Curling Competition, Comrades R. Gravel, S. Jones, H. Morrison and S. Drew were feted as guests at a dinner in the Legion Hall recently.

Comrade Aussie Thompson, Provincial sports director, gave a brief outline of the various activities that are now being followed among Legion branches, which include organized competition in swimming, curling, darts, cribbage and golf.

The curling sport started just three years ago with eight rinks, growing in the second season to 21 entries, while this year there were 37 Legion teams in competition.

The idea is taking hold all over the Dominion for a coast-to-coast playdown, and will likely be approved at the next annual Legion convention. If it goes through, Winnipeg will likely be the scene of the play-offs.

In the provincial field, it is expected that Lachute will be honored as the site of the final games. These were played in Huntingdon this year.

Legion golf competitions will be held at Three Rivers this year; some 200 are expected to participate.

Skip Syd Drew, on behalf of his team, thanked the Legion for their kindly gesture, also giving assurance that they would do their best to win again next year.

B'burg Section Organized For Cancer Campaign

Brownsburg — A meeting was held with the team captains on Thursday evening to discuss the organization for the 1956 Cancer Campaign in Brownsburg. The following are the team captains:

O. Danis, J. Lemay, R. Johnson, Linton Tomalty, A. Dewar, O. Todd, O. Findlay, O. Carriere, K. Ball, C. Prosser, Miss A. David, H. Barber.

Everyone is asked to contribute to this worthwhile effort, and to give as much help as possible to make the campaign a success.

UNUSUAL VISITOR

North Bay, Ont. (CP) — A full-grown black fox, fairly strange in this part of Northern Ontario, was shot two miles east of here by Roland Blondin, 19. The fox was chewing at a wire mesh fence protecting goats.

PIONEER MAIL

Victoria (CP) — When British Columbia's first post office was opened here by the Hudson's Bay Company in 1842 few letters were posted. At that time postal rates west of the Rockies were $1 for the first ounce and 22 cents for each additional ounce.

One of life's great unsolved mysteries is why they put such big holes in Swiss cheese when it's Limburger that needs the ventilation.

"REGGIE FOR CHAMP" —

Citizen-Support Solicited for Promising High School Athlete

Last week our Sports Page featured an appeal for financial help to send one of the Lachute High School boys, Reggie Stansfield, to compete in Windsor and Toronto for the Dominion gymnastics championships early in May.

At McGill recently, Stansfield made a remarkable showing, winning the provincial championship and bringing honor to his school, and to Lachute. His score was 212 points, against 177 scored by the runner-up.

Mr. Arne Petersen, his coach, is confident that Stansfield has a good chance in the Dominion competitions — BUT, funds for this trip are necessary. The cost will be $200. His school-mates are endeavoring to raise this amount, which is quite a sum for the youngsters, and they are having difficulty.

Surely there are enough older citizens interested in this young athlete to see that his chance to compete in the Dominion games is not lost for the sake of a few dollars.

Several have contributed, but more cash is needed. Don't let this young champ down! Send in your contribution to Principal Fred Royal, Robt. Cairns or R. A. Giles, and let's help a promising athlete on his way.

Temperance Films Shown In Three High Schools

With kind co-operation of principals of the High Schools at Grenville, Brownsburg and Lachute, the Argenteuil Protestant Ministerial Association has shown two films recently, entitled, "The Choice is Yours" and "Where Does It Get You". The Quebec Temperance League kindly loaned these films as part of their program on temperance education. The students of all schools showed keen interest in the subjects.

Rev. C.W.P. Baugh Named Canon of Angl. Church

The Rev. C. W. P. Baugh, who on Tuesday was appointed Canon of the Cathedral of the Anglican Diocese of Montreal. In announcing the appointment, the Rt. Rev. John Dixon, Lord Bishop of Montreal, remarked that it was a very special year for Mr. Baugh as it marks his 50th anniversary in the ministry and in the Montreal Diocese. The appointment was made at the opening business session of the 97th Diocesan Synod.

Farewell Party Held For Departing Minister At Brownsburg

Brownsburg — A large number of the members and friends of the Maple Avenue Baptist Church gathered in the church rooms Tuesday evening, April 17, to honor the Rev. and Mrs. N. H. Brock, who are leaving this community shortly to reside in Middleville, Ont.

Tre Rev. Mr. Brock has been pastor of this field for over five years, during which time both he and Mrs. Brock, by their acts of kindness, have endeared themselves not only to their own church people but to the citizens of the community. Upon their retirement now as active workers in church work, best wishes are extended to these kind friends. Suitable gifts and money were presented to both the Rev. and Mrs. Brock, in appreciation for all they have done for so many people. Refreshments and the singing of "Blest be the Tie that Binds" brought the evening's program to a close.

Karn Shield Won By United Church Junior Choir

The Junior Choir Festival, sponsored by the United Church Sunday Schools Association, was held Friday evening in the Westmount Park United Church, Montreal. Over 280 children — 12 choirs from Montreal and district — entered in the competition, and an impressive processional and recessional of these massed choirs singing "Praise My Soul the King of Heaven", created a memorable and colorful scene, as some of the choirs were robed in vestments of contrasting tones.

The Junior Choir of Lachute United Church, under the direction of its leader and founder, Mr. Wayne Riddell, journeyed to Montreal for this Festival, and entered with three other choirs in Class "E". The test piece was "Ye Servants of God", and a second selection of the choir's own choice, "Brother James' Air."

The Lachute choir, directed by Wayne Riddell and accompanied by Mr. Gian Lyman, sang their two selections creditably. The adjudicator, Mr. Morley Calvert, L.Mus., L.R.S.M., paid high tribute to this choir, and warmly complimented them on their diction and general proficiency. In his general remarks he offered several interesting and helpful criticisms to the directors and accompanists.

Along with the choir of over 40 members from Lachute, there were many parents and well-wishers on hand at the Westmount Church to encourage them in the Festival, and their elation was evident when the Karn Shield was awarded to Mr. Riddell and his choir.

On their return to Lachute, plans were promptly made for the Junior Choir to sing at their own church on Sunday morning, when they rendered their two test pieces, accompanied by their director at the organ. The minister, the Rev. Wilson Bridge, who had also accompanied them to Montreal on Friday, warmly congratulated the young singers, and expressed good wishes to the choir.

Over the Years with THE LACHUTE WATCHMAN

75 YEARS AGO

April 29, 1881 —

The North River has risen considerably during the past week.

This has been an extremely dry spring to date.

St. Andrews East — A large sale of livestock took place on the premises of the late John Harrington on Wednesday, comprising the fine herds of Ayrshires and Alderneys belonging to the Harringtons. The animals brought good prices, particularly the blooded ones, some yearlings bringing as high as $12 and $13 a head.

St. Andrews East — We observe that James Johnson, contractor for building the St. Andrews town hall, has commenced laying the foundation wall.

50 YEARS AGO

April 27, 1906 —

Messrs. Hay Bros. have met with a severe loss by fire of four valuable horses, including the famous "Knockinlaw Squire" which they were to exhibit on Wednesday. The horses were aboard a C.P.R. train and two local men, Brazey and Denneault, left in charge. Both lads were asleep at the time of the fire, and the latter was badly burned.

The School Commissioners of Lachute Town have secured the services of Principal McBurney, of Granby, one of the best teachers in the Province of Quebec, who comes to us with an excellent reputation.

See Future Possibilities in Amateur Art Exhibition

The proposed "First Amateur Art Exhibition of Argenteuil County" opens up stimulating possibilities. Painting is a creative pastime and hobby that may become a rewarding interest of great importance to the individual and the group.

For this exhibition there is no judge and no jury. All are free to enter original productions.

Already people are saying:

We may have crafts next time. . .
We may form a permanent county committee. . .
We may rotate the periodical exhibition through different centres in the county.
We may be able to get a puppetry group going.
We might do a series of fabric printing experiments.

This exhibition may lead to larger ones requiring a jury of selection.

We may be able sometime to arrange a loan exhibition from local residents who own fine paintings.

Many ideas are in the air. And don't forget, the entry date is May 16 — for this event scheduled for May 26 at St. Andrews East. Further information available from Mrs. Stuart Forbes, in that community.

Prov'l School Title Basketball Team Feted by Rotary

The Lachute High School senior girls' basketball team and their coach, Mr. Bob Bailly, were guests of honor at the regular dinner meeting of the Rotary Club last Thursday evening, in recognition of their winning the provincial championship at Lennoxville a short while ago.

The mayors of Lachute and Brownsburg, Dr. F. W. FitzGerald and Mr. J. D. Lepine, were also guests at the meeting, together with Mr. Claude Maltais, representing Columbia Artists Management, Inc., who spoke briefly in support of the current campaign for members in the Lachute Community Concerts Association.

The speaker of the evening was Rotarian Phil Grant, a member on the teaching staff of Brownsburg Consolidated School and coach of the basketball teams in that school. Mr. Grant reviewed the progress of basketball in the area during the last few years. Prior to 1950 this game was practically unknown in this part of the province, for the reason that there were no gymnasiums in any of the schools of sufficient size to play the game. The extension to Lachute High School was built that year, and a start was made at playing basketball. Brownsburg pupils used to practice in the Social Club, where one of the baskets was on a side wall and the other at the end. As time went on the extension was built to the Brownsburg school, and they had a gym of their own, as well as Grenville, Morin Heights and Arundel. The game had already been played at Ste. Agathe, Hudson and Buckingham, but up to that time there had been no attempt to organize inter-scholastic basketball. During the school year 1953-54 the Ottawa Valley Schools Athletic Association was formed and set up a league in basketball and hockey for juniors and seniors. This league consisted largely of the schools at Lachute, Brownsburg, Grenville, Hawkesbury, Hudson, Buckingham, Macdonald College, Vankleek Hill, Ste. Agathe and St. Eustache-sur-le-Lac. Largely since then Mr. Bob Bailly has been the coach for the Lachute High School senior girls, and this team has been practically unbeatable since then. This team won the provincial championship for the first time that year, and the Brownsburg boys reached the finals. Both the girls' team and the boys' team went to Lennoxville from Lachute High School, but were unsuccessful in the year 1954-55. However, this year saw the girls return to Lennoxville and regain their crown as the champions of the province. Basketball has indeed come a long way in this area since it first started four years ago.

Photographs of the basketball team were on hand at the table for each girl, with the compliments of Giles Publishing House Ltd.

Rotarian King Amos introduced the speaker, and the latter was thanked by Cliff Armstrong.

SMALL-FRY LOOP

Play Ball! . . Major Leaguers To Curtail Delays

SPORTS CAMERA

By Ken Romain,
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Stage directions from major league owners this year call for baseball Barrymores to start preparing their exit lines.

Concerned by the growing length of games, club owners and major league officials are ready to ring down the curtain on pondering pitchers, wandering batsmen and infield conferences that spell delay.

This season with the introduction of a number of new regulations — and some behind the scenes suggestion from the owners — stage waits are on the way out.

In the American League this year, for instance, a manager is permitted only one mound conference with his pitcher. The second time a manager heads for the mound it also means waving to the bull pen for a new hurler.

The changes have been brought about in great measure as the result of a major league survey conducted among the fans. The survey revealed that wasted time on the playing field was one of the main reasons for losses at the box office. The fan was getting impatient at the ad lib scenes that were delaying the games.

Long Night Games

Baseball Commissioner Ford C. Frick, a former sports writer, had some pointed remarks recently on the lateness of games.

"I think we have lost fans with night games running too late for the fan who has to get up and go to work in the morning," he said.

"But the fans don't complain so much about the length of games. They will be happy with a two-and-a-half hour game if it keeps moving. When you have an interesting ball game going, no one looks at his watch.

"The fans do complain of the dullness of eternal conferences on the field; the pitcher who gets off the mound; the batter who steps out of the box; the managers and coaches running out on the field repeatedly. If we can eliminate needless delays, baseball as a game sells itself."

Records back up his statement that modern baseball has been taking more and more time as the years go on.

Steadily Lengthen

Taking the American League, as an example, the records show that there was an average game length of two hours and 31 minutes last year. The same is generally applicable to the National League.

The shortest game on record is held by the National League. That was a 51-minute contest in 1919 when New York Giants defeated Philadelphia Phillies 6-1.

The longest game record is also held by the National League, a 20 inning game in 1940 which lasted five hours and 19 minutes as Brooklyn Dodgers dumped Boston Braves 6-2. The same two teams also hold the record for the number of innings played. A 26-inning contest that lasted three hours and 50 minutes in 1920.

The longest nine-inning game — three hours and 52 minutes — was recorded by Boston Red Sox and New York Yankees in 1953. Red Sox won 14-10.

A CONSERVATION GIFT

Each guest at the annual meeting dinner of the Canadian General Council of the Boy Scouts Association in Ottawa on April 27, will receive a quarter-pound gift package of annual and perennial wildflower seeds as a symbol of Canadian Scouting's national conservation good turn for 1956. The seeds are for planting on Scout campsites or other Scouting areas.

Guest speaker at the dinner will be the Hon. Jean Lesage, Minister or Northern Affairs and National Resources. At the annual meeting, preceding the dinner, conservation displays by provincial Scout Councils and by selected Ottawa Scout groups, will be featured.

Cars ARE MY Line

by ARMAND DESROSIERS

Have you ever wondered who makes up those stories that flash around the club or at work. Since one delightful yarn I heard recently concerned cars, I hunted back to its source. Here is the story and, as far as I know, the way it started.

A man in New York stalled on a busy street and while most of the motorists who were stuck behind him just blared their horns, one kind lady offered to give him a push.

It was a thoughful gesture and he was extremely pleased. But before the lady got back in her car the stalled motorist explained that he had an automatic transmission and they would have to be going 35 miles an hour before he could start.

The lady nodded wisely and climbed into her car. Whereupon she circled the block and came racing down the street at him — plowing into his rear end at exactly 35 miles an hour. . . The repair bill was $300.

The story got big play in a New York newspaper. The paper, it turned out, had lifted it from a Boston paper. And the Boston paper had borrowed it from a college paper which had run the whole thing in the first place as a gag.

Personally, I hope the story is true. It will make me think the world is a little brighter, a little funnier, if it's true. I don't need to add, of course, that if you REALLY want to know about the automatic transmissions that are on some of our used cars we have the people with the know-how to tell you how. The great advantage in buying a used car is the tremendous range of choice that you get, all kinds of colors, styles, models and optional features.

Our used car lot is a good example of this, and you're welcome to browse around and have a look at these top used cars:

Young Soprano Fills Expectations Of Concert-Goers

"Last but not least" was the category of Miss Beverly Bower's concert recital, according to listeners at the final program of this season's series, last Wednesday evening at Lachute High School.

Recognized as one of the most brilliant of the younger sopranos both in concert and opera, Miss Bower exemplified her quality in the latter sphere by interpreting a difficult scene in Gounod's "Faust". The "Air des Bijoux" in this scene present dazzling trills and swift-flying scales, which the young singer executed with ease, drawing excited applause from her audience.

Two series of songs in contrasting settings were enthusiastically received: firstly three selections on French poem themes, "Automne" by Sylvestre, "Dans les ruines d'une abbaye" by Victor Hugo, and "Ici-bas" by S. Prud'homme; and secondly, three songs of the American Lyric Theatre, an aria from "Down in the Valley", "Mr. Snow" from "Carousel" and "Hello, Hello!" from "The Telephone".

There was pleasing variety in mood and tempo throughout the program.

To her French-speaking listeners Miss Bower betrayed a somewhat laborious pronunciation, making her lyrics a trifle difficult to understand. While not detracting notably from her performance, this did suggest just one of the obstacles she is surmounting in her climb to success.

Miss Bower was ably accompanied by Nathan Price, pianist, who was appreciated both for his sympathetic collaboration and for his several classical extracts played as piano solos.

In Beverly Bower's future there are indications she will soar to the pinnacles of opera, and that a promising career awaits this talented and charming artist.

After the recital, the artists and a few directors of the Community Concerts Society were entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Beaulieu.

Quebec Golden Gloves On Television Monday

The Quebec Golden Gloves boxing finals will be telecast direct from Montreal Forum on Monday, April 30. The commentators will be Doug Smith and Fred Roberts for the English CBC-TV network (pick-up starts at 11.15 p.m.) and Michel Normandin and Roger Meloche for the French CBC-TV network (pick-up starts at 10.30 p.m.).

The event is arranged by the Y.M.H.A. and the Y.W.H.A. on behalf of the Quebec branch (boxing section) of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada. The first Quebec Golden Gloves tournament was held in Montreal in 1937.

This year there were some 260 entrants competing in the novice and the open classes.

On May 2 CBC Trans-Canada radio opens a new series called "Legends of the Scottish Castles", written by Babs Brown. The series of 10 broadcasts starts with a visit to Edinburgh. Other places to be visited include Kildrummy, Stirling, and Castle Moy near Inverness.

"Silly, letting a child play with a hook."

"H.M.S. Pinafore" A Special for Schools

Gilbert and Sullivan's operetta, "H.M.S. Pinafore", will be introduced to Canadian students throughout the country during May. Full of melody and fun, the ever-popular satire of British naval traditions will be presented in a four-part music-appreciation series, arranged by the National Advisory Council on School Broadcasting and the CBC.

The series has been planned for senior elementary and junior high-school grades. It starts May 4, with a song-teaching broadcast from Winnipeg, featuring James Duncan as the instructor. He is a teacher of Music in Gordon Bell High School in the Manitoba capital and under his direction students will learn three of the songs from the operetta — "Little Buttercup", "A British Tar Is a Soaring Soul," "He is an Englishman."

In the remaining broadcasts, students will be invited to join in the singing as "H.M.S. Pinafore" sails over the (air) waves, and the students meet such improbable characters as Captain Corcoran, who commands the "Pinafore"; Ralph Rackstraw, a seaman; Dick Deadeye, the villian; and Josephine, the Captain's daughter and heroine.

In the programs to be heard on May 11, 18 and 25 from Toronto, the singing parts will be woven together by a commentator who will carry the thread of the plot and explain musical forms such as the aria, the duet and the recitative, when examples arise in the operetta.

To mark Mental Health Week in Canada, Dr. D. G. McKerracher, chief of psychiatry at University Hospital, University of Saskatchewan in Saskatoon, will broadcast at 1.15 p.m. Saturday, May 5, on Trans-Canada radio network. He will outline a new plan for mental hospitals.

JOLSON NOTES

(Contributed)

Just as the current April showers refresh the earth, so they also refresh our memories of Al Jolson through his great song hit, "April Showers". Apparently the publishers of "Songs That Will Live Forever" are well aware of this, because in their April issue they have given us the words to this song plus a cute little picture of Al and several Jolson mentions. The words to many other million-selling records are also given.

It was with a great deal of pleasure that the writer witnessed the recent revival of "Le Roman d'Al Jolson", French version of "The Jolson Story", at Lachute's Rio Theatre. Having studied (and enjoyed) French at school, I was able to understand much of the dubbed-in French dialogue. Because of this and previous dubbing, we have an extraordinary situation wherein three people combine to complete the personality of Al Jolson in the picture: Al himself does the singing (in English, of course), Larry Parks supplies the body, and René Marc, I believe, does the talking in French. There are exceptions, though. For example, the ad libs during the Jolson songs were spoken by Al; and few people know that it is actually Al we see belting out "Swanee". This scene is photographed from a distance, making it impossible to tell the difference.

Although "The Jolson Story" was first released a decade ago, it is just as fresh, just as fascinating today. The early signs of age I spotted from a technical viewpoint were a slightly scratchy sound-track during the "April Showers" finale, and a poster outside the theatre which had been used so many times it was practically falling apart. Both attest to the popularity of the movie, and are easily remedied.

One is impressed by the ability of the actors: Larry Parks, Evelyn Keyes, William Demarest, etc., and the French-speaking actors whose voices have been dubbed in; by the gaiety of the dialogue; by the excellence of the plot; but most of all one is impressed by the magnificent Jolson voice and personality. One realizes anew why Al Jolson is known as "the greatest of 'em all"

Women's Travel Authority

Are women safer drivers than men? My answer is Yes — and furthermore, I think most men will agree with me.

And it shows in the way women drive: they observe speed limits, because they respect the law's authority; they don't zig-zag through traffic, because they are naturally more cautious; women seldom race through amber lights like the impatient male, because women always subconsciously remember the children in the back seat.

Oh, women have their faults, I agree. We know that our sex is sometimes TOO conservative: we poke around too much at intersections, and occasionally dent a fender because we're not bold enough to forge ahead when we should.

Written Specially for The Lachute Watchman

By Oli Daum, Canadian Press Staff Writer

Almost all women's groups have, at one time or another, put out a cookbook of selected recipes. It's a well used method of raising funds for club activities.

Now these women throughout the country have a chance to publish the best recipes from their books in one national edition. They could get their reward in the satisfaction that they had done a good turn for less privileged cooks — those without sight.

Twelve Toronto women, led by Mrs. E. H. Dickinson, are preparing to publish a Braille cookbook to be aptly entitled "Light in the Kitchen."

They do not want simple recipes but rather, scrumptuous dishes regardless of complicated procedures involved, which will make the blind housewives' menus more appetizing.

"We are no judges of what a blind housewife can accomplish," says Mrs. Dickinson, an ardent recipe collector for 19 years. "I have a cookbook (one of 25) written by a blind Mexican housewife. The dishes are delicious and certainly not easy to make. They can do a lot more than we think."

Mrs. Dickinson, a volunteer social worker for the blind for many years, says her group has tested 2,000 recipes during the last year.

"We've selected 1,000 but haven't enough choice dishes," she said. "We would like notnotch recipes from every province — apple dishes from British Columbia, for instance, or fish preparations from Nova Scotia. And we need a mouth-watering recipe for blueberry pie."

The only requirements are the recipes state the exact oven temperatures, measurements and size and shapes of pans to be used. Everything must be exact for those who can only feel, not see.

Horses and Horsepower

Anna Mourant, of Winnipeg, is giving up her taxicab business to devote more time to her race horses.

"Driving is fine but you can't get to love a car," she said. She has been driving a cab since last August but with her husband, Casey, she has been breeding horses for 15 years.

Anna says she dreads horse sale time.

"I've seen my husband with tears in his eyes saying goodbye to a colt we've raised," she said. "I love it best of all when foaling time comes."

Anne says she used to be a regular cowboy when she was a kid in Saskatchewan.

"Now I can do just about anything with horses, though we breed but don't train them, and it's been some time since I did any riding," she said.

Chit Chat

Her son and youngest of a large family, Eugene, 59, said his mother has been in good health but he had one complaint — she gets up too early. He said she hasn't been taking her meals at regular hours for some time now.

The Golden Touch

When homemakers set a platter of French toast on the family table, it's doubtful if anyone realizes that this simple dish has been a favorite for more than 300 years. In Elizabethan literatures there are many references to "fried bread". In France too a popular dessert for years has been "Pain Perdu", which translated literally is "lost bread". This is what is known as French Toast in Canada. We're told this dish was originally developed in France as a tempting way to serve stale bread. However, it isn't necessary to wait until you have dry bread on hand to serve this tasty dish for dessert or as a breakfast treat. Here's a recipe which is closely related to "Pain Perdu" and the "fried bread" to which Shakespeare and other famous authors referred.

Since the maple sugar season is but past its height in some parts of Canada we've suggested that these Bread Doughnuts be served with maple syrup. However, they're equally delicious served piping hot with any kind of syrup, jam, jelly or your favorite preserves. Or if you prefer they can be served sprinkled with brown sugar or a cinnamon-sugar mixture.

To prepare soft bread crumbs Crumble slices of bread with fingers or place two slices together at a time, cutting into tiny cubes with a sharp knife.

To prepare dry bread crumbs The bread should be very dry — either naturally dry from standing at room temperature for a period of time or from being placed in a slow oven. Naturally-dry bread can be put through a food chopper with a fine blade, the crumbs being retained in a paper bag fastened to the end of the grinder. If you prefer, you can grate dry bread on a vegetable grater. If the bread has been toasted in a slow oven it can be rolled into crumbs with a rolling pin.

Bread Doughnuts

2 Eggs, 1 cup milk, 1 teaspoon grated orange rind, ½ cup fine cracker crumbs, 12 slices enriched white bread, 3 tablespons butter or margaine.

Beat together eggs, milk and grated orange rind. Place biscuit crumbs in a large plate. Cut enriched white bread slices with a doughnut cutter. Dip bread circles in milk mixture and then in the fine crumbs. Melt butter or margarine in skillet and pan fry dipped bread circles over medium low heat, like French toast, turning only once. Serve with maple syrup. Makes 12 bread doughnuts.

Spiced for Variety

With a dash of inspiration it's possible to arrive at an extra-ordinarily delicious hot bread for breakfast, luncheon, diner or snack-time. Here's a muffin recipe that calls for 1 cup finely chopped apples and to make them specially tempting they're sprinkled with a cinnamon-sugar mixture just before they're popped into the oven to bake. These two variations to a favorite muffin recipe produce a quick bread that adds sparkle and pick-up to the lunch-box or even the most humdrum menu.

Apple Muffins

1 Cup granulated sugar, 1 egg (well-beaten), 4 tablespoons melted butter or margarine, 2 cups sifted all-purpose flour, 4 teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 cup milk, 1 cup finely chopped apples, 2 tablespoons sugar mixed with ½ teaspoon cinnamon.

Preheat oven to 400 deg. F. (hot). Grease approximately 12 muffin pans. Blend sugar, beaten egg and melted butter or margarine. Sift together flour, baking powder and salt and sift into a large bowl. Make a well in the centre and add sugar and egg mixture. Add milk and apples. Stir just enough to mix ingredients. Pour batter into greased muffin pans, filling each two-thirds full. Sprinkle top with cinnamon and sugar mixture. Bake in preheated oven, about 25 minutes or until golden brown.

County Conventions Order of the Day In Quebec W.I.'s

County annual meetings of the Quebec Women's Institutes start next week. Sherbrooke is the first, Wednesday, May 2, with Stanstead, Compton, and Richmond following on consecutive days, and in that order. Mrs. G. D. Harvey, Stanbridge East, 1st vice-president, will be the member of the Q.W.I. executive attending these meetings.

The president, Mrs. G. E. LeBarron, of North Hatley, will be at meetings in Vaudreuil and in Chateauguay-Huntingdon Counties during that same period, and the following week will be visiting the Counties along the Ottawa River; Pontiac, Gatineau, Papineau and Argenteuil.

The Counties of Missisquoi, Brome, Rouville and Shefford are also scheduled for this second week in May, with Mrs. Gordon Cooke, of Arundel, Q.W.I. treasurer, as the visitor. Mrs. Harvey goes to Rawdon, Montcalm County, at this time.

The remainder of the 20 counties represented in the Q.W.I. will also be visited. Mrs. LeBarron goes to Quebec and Megantic later in May and Mrs. Harvey to the Gaspé Peninsula during the summer — after the provincial convention.

It has been the practice, over a period of years, for a member of the provincial executive to attend these annual meetings. It has proved its value as a two-way channel of communication between the members at large and the governing body.

A thin film of paste wax will provide stairway banisters with protection against the marks and stains of hand traffic, and keep it polished for weeks.

Fashions

The fabric in this coat, "barkcloth", is well named for it is a blend of acetate and viscose yarns which both begin their existence in this country's giant forests. Modern science transforms pulpwood into modern yarns with many qualities. This style is in citron yellow with the fashion interest concentrated on the wide V-belt and giant pockets in the back.

APRIL 30 IS IT-DAY FOR CANADIANS

—Central Press Canadian

To the employees of the department of internal revenue, 19 out of 20 tax-paying Canadians are acceptable persons. But that 20th person is something else again. He, or she, doesn't fill out his income tax form correctly, usually through laziness in reading the tax form, and then the department has to enter into correspondence to keep the record straight. With the deadline for income tax on April 30, the department employees are busy as beavers, and Toronto assessors John O'Connor and Dorothy Develano show the form most popular with taxpayers: the receipt.

NEW STRETCHER HAS MANY USES

St. John's, Nfld. (CP) — The department of health has introduced a versatile new plywood stretcher into its ambulance service.

The 10-pound unit can be used as a fracture board, traction splint and resuscitator, and folds into a satchel-like bag. Long, sturdy straps keep injured limbs straight, eliminating the use of splints in transit.

Aluminum legs fold out under the stretcher and make it resemble a see-saw. A patient strapped to it can be rocked back and forth for artificial respiration.

Injured ankles can be strapped comfortably to foot extensions with special harnesses. A patient can be placed under an X-ray machine without being moved from the stretcher. The unit can support 1,500 pounds.

"Quacks" and Cancer

Montreal — Although a drug has not yet been found which will cure cancer, "quacks" are causing untold harm by professing to have magic "cures".

The charge was levelled in Montreal by Dr. R. M. Taylor, executive director of the Canadian Cancer Society.

One of the aims of the United Cancer Campaign is to raise money for public education on the dread disease to prevent such practices by shady individuals. A total of $500,000 is being sought in the Montreal area.

Dr. Taylor said that in addition to being victimized financially, the gullible patient may also suffer physically through application of pastes and salves which are handed out supposedly to kill skin-type malignancies.

The only possible hope for a patient with cancer, he said, lies in early detection, proper diagnosis and speedy treatment. Each year many cancer patients who apply for treatment early have their disease completely cured.

The executive director said that anyone who claims he's being persecuted by the "medical trusts" and anyone who claims "cured" patients is an obvious fraud and must be avoided.

CAT ON PAYROLL

Barrie, Ont. (CP) — Patty the mouser has turned professional. The once-stray cat now works a 24-hour shift at a local manufacturing company which put it on the payroll after it showed its prowess in catching mice.

Patty wandered into the plant one day "looking for a job", officials said, and was given a trial because the building was bothered with mice. At first the cat was fed from employees' lunches, but Patty showed results and the company authorized "cat expenses". Now her food is an official expense item — and there isn't a mouse in the place.

Painting Is Fun

(Copyright) — By NANCY CLEAVER —

"Finger painting is fun! This is the first day we did it at school. Couldn't I paint a picture at home?" Johnny Black asked eagerly. "Isn't it awfully messy?" his mother asked doubtfully. "Teacher told us to spread old newspapers on the table and the floor before we begin. She wore a big apron and said that all we needed to do it at home was smooth shiny paper and a finger paint mixture," Johnny answered. "You could wear one of my aprons. I suppose we could get a page from an old wall paper sample book, or there may be some pantry shelf paper which would do —. But aren't the paints expensive?" Mrs. Black objected. "No! I've got the recipe right here! You can make it like a pudding on top of the stove." Johnny replied producing a crumpled sheet of paper. On it appeared the following directions: Cook over direct heat, four cups of water and one cup of corn starch stirring constantly until thickened. Place in double boiler. Cook ten minutes longer. Continue to stir to avoid lumps. Divide the thickened mass into four parts, cool and mix in vegetable coloring."

Mrs. Black was relieved that the finger painting mixture could be made in her own kitchen. She planned to put the finished product in four large empty cold cream jars with covers.

Johnny was so enthusiastic about finger painting, that she tried her hand at it too. To her surprise she discovered that it was fun for a grown-up too! She and Johnny hung some of their finger paint pictures on the wall, others they used as place mats on the dinner table. When they became more expert they pasted a finger painting design on a large discarded cardboard ice-cream carton. This made an attractive waste paper basket.

The origin of finger painting is interesting. A small school-boy in the English speaking colony in Rome, thirty-five years ago, cut his hand. His teacher, was Miss Ruth Faison Shaw, an American girl, who had gone overseas during World War I to serve as a "canteen" worker under the YMCA. At its conclusion she had opened a private school in Rome. Miss Shaw told the boy to go and put iodine on his cut.

A little while later she found her young pupil having a marvellous time daubing brown iodine on the wall with his fingers. From this beginning Miss Shaw has developed finger painting as a simple art form for children, and in recent years for wounded veterans and patients suffering from nervous tensions.

Parents of young children usually prefer crayoning to painting, (with fingers or brushes) because they consider crayons so much cleaner. But even a mother needs imagination and understanding of a child's gradual growth in artistic skill to appreciate his pictures! One mother exclaimed, "My children love to draw. Paints or crayons seem to fascinate them. They have a marvellous time making pictures!" The other mother objected, "But their painting makes such a muss. Crayons are always getting lost and stepped on! If their drawings ever looked like anything I could recognize, perhaps I could put up with the bother of letting them paint. If my children were very artistic it would be different. But really I don't see much value in letting them dabble with paints."

Art for children should not be confined to those who are very gifted — and it is very difficult for an adult to judge whether or not her child is artistic! Children's art is very different from grown-ups' art. A little child from the time he first makes short verticle strokes, goes through different stages in drawing. He passes from the rough circles or scrawls, the 'scribbling' stage, to a "naming stage" when his pictures are accidental, but to his mind his marks on a paper resemble various objects.

Towards his third birthday he begins to try to control his pencil and before long he is making crude drawings. The young child's drawing are graphic descriptions of objects as he sees them, with only the most important details appearing. Often as he draws, a small child will explain, "This is a choo choo train. See the smoke going chug-chug!" In his pictures a shy child can express his feelings.

Children draw or paint for sheer enjoyment and they should not be hampered by adult suggestions. Neither should their pictures ever be ridiculed. A child is sensitive and rather than run the risk of being laughed at a second time he will refrain from painting. He should be given large sheets of paper, wrapping paper or newsprint may be used, at least eighteen by twenty-four inches. It is a good plan to hang the child's drawing up in his own room. He has put time and effort into its creation and so it is of value to him. If mother immediately throws it into the stove he thinks it is of no use in her opinion.

Large size crayons, small jars of poster paint and colored chalk (if care is taken with the dust from the chalk) are all good art material for a child. But whether they use finger paints, other paints or crayons almost all children agree "Painting is Fun!"

Daylight saving time was first adopted in Canada in 1918.

SCIENCE IN YOUR LIFE

World Champion

What makes a world champion—is he really much different from the average man? Scientists throughout the world have studied athletes and generally have found that the champion is not very much different at all.

The athlete, of course, is in peak physical condition. His reflexes and his stamina may be better than yours — but as a rule, he is not endowed with an extra-large heart, superior blood, or an additional set of muscles.

"Athlete's heart" is a fallacy. Sir Adolphe Abrahams, honorary medical officer of the British Olympic Athletic Teams, found there was no valid evidence of "athlete's heart" in Olympic contestants and they were certainly accustomed to violent exercise.

Other physicians have determined that the healthy heart can withstand the load placed upon it by the most strenuous of sports. The body appears to modify certain functions during periods of physical stress and subsequently returns to normal.

Yet, it's smart to base your participation in sports upon your physical limitations. Sports activities should be tailored to the individual and be selected in consultation with your physician.

But, if you are sports-minded, go right ahead; you won't burn yourself out. In a study at Cambridge University, it was discovered that participants lived as long as spectators.

Too, counting the pleasure and fun you can get from athletics, sportsmen appear to be living a far happier and rewarding life than those who merely sit on the sidelines.

Flowers Recommended For Home Decoration

Canadians can afford to use flowers in their homes, if they watch the quality, size, and seasonal supply of what they buy.

Good quality flowers and plants are fresh, hard, and undamaged. A fresh flower is not too far open, is not wilted or faded, and has not been cut for too long. The tenderest flowers stay fresh only for one or two days after cutting, while others can be kept fresh for five or more days.

A hard flower has stems, leaves and petals that are firm and sturdy, not weak and flabby, although what is hard quality for one type may be soft for another. Roses and carnations, for example, differ in natural hardness, the rose being more tender and succulent. Other flowers, too, differ widely in hardness. The hardest flowers of all usually keep best in the home, sometimes for many weeks. They can be good bargains even at prices much above those for softer kinds.

Florists charge a premium for the longest stems, biggest flowers and largest potted plants. Therefore, flower buyers who will take shorter stemmed, smaller flowers and less massive plants can often get more for their money, in sizes suited to the average home.

Canadian flower lovers can also economize by buying each kind of flower at the season it is cheapest. Although most flower crops are available for much of the year, they are usually in peak supply at lowest prices for a shorter time. Here are some of the best bargains for each season:

Winter: azalea, begonias, cyclamen, kalanchoe, poinseettia.

Just For Today

Just for today I will try to live through this day only, and not tackle my whole life problem at once. I can do something for twelve hours that would appal me if I felt that I had to keep it up for a lifetime.

Just for today I will be happy. This assumes to be true what Abraham Lincoln said, that "Most folks are as happy as they make up their minds to be."

Just for today I will adjust myself to what is, and not try to adjust everything to my own desires. I will take my "luck" as it comes, and fit myself to it.

Just for today I will try to strengthen my mind. I will study. I will learn something useful, I will not be a mental loafer. I will read something that requires effort, thought and concentration.

Just for today I will exercise my soul in three ways: I will do somebody a good turn, and not get found out; if anybody knows of it, it will not count. I will do at least two things I don't want to do — just for exercise. I will not show anyone that my feelings are hurt: they may be hurt, but today I will not show it.

Just for today I will have a program. I may not follow it exactly, but I will have it. I will save myself from two pests: hurry and indecision.

Just for today I will be agreeable. I will look as well as I can, dress becomingly, talk low, act courteously, criticize not one bit, not find fault with anything, and not try to improve or regulate anybody except myself.

Just for today I will have a quiet half hour all by myself, and relax. During this half hour, sometime, I will try to get a better perspective of my life.

Just for today I will be unafraid. Especially I will not be afraid to enjoy what is beautiful, and to believe that as I give to the world, so the world will give to me.

— The Pacific Sentry.

Scouts' Paper Canvass This Saturday, April 28

Householders are reminded of the annual spring paper salvage drive, to be conducted by the Lachute Boy Scouts this Saturday, April 28. Trucks will circulate in Lachute, Lachute Mills and Ayersville, and it will be appreciated if residents and business houses will have paper bundled and placed in view to be collected. All donations of old papers and periodicals will be acceptable, to be disposed of in aid of the Scout funds.

AIR AMBULANCE NURSES COVER 100,000 SQUARE MILES

Over an area of 100,000 square miles this Saskatchewan government plane picks up patients for delivery to hospitals for medical attention. Usually the distress call comes from isolated communities and the plane picks up the patient from a wagon or sleigh. Heroines of these mercy flights are the four nurses who answer calls day or night, regardless of weather.

OBSTINATE FACT

Two hundred million people cannot be ignored in these days of air travel and radio communication. The Russians are an obstinate fact. The more Russians who come to the west, and the more Westerners who go to Russia, the better all nations will be. It could be that the trade agreement signed in Ottawa might help that process.

Stalin the Terrible

By Lewis Milligan

Malenkov, the Soviet ex-premier is plump and fat — and there is an old saying that "Everybody loves a fat man." Stalin probably picked him as his lackey for that reason. He may have remembered those words of Julius Caesar: "Let me have men about me that are fat: — yon Cassius has a lean and hungry look; he thinks too much: such men are dangerous." Stalin himself was lean for a Russian. He had the sinister look of one who was preoccupied with left-hand thinking and scheming when he was shaking hands with the right at Yalta.

It is all very well for Khrushchev and his fellow collective dictators to denounce Stalin personally, but what about his double-dealings with Churchill and Roosevelt at the close of the war? If the new rulers of Soviet Russia are sincere in their hatred of Stalin and all his works, let them show it by withdrawing from the occupied countries in Europe as was mutually agreed upon. Let them renounce the Stalin policy of spreading propaganda of hatred and stirring up strife in the Far and Middle East against the Western World. The evil that Stalin has done is living after him, and while his successors are perpetuating it their smiles are false and treacherous.

Stalin was not the first man to wield despotic power over the Russian people. There have been many revolutions in Russia and history has repeated itself in that of Communism. Russia was overrun by the Tartars under Genghis Khan and the people lived for centuries in a state of serfdom. The revolution under Ivan the Terrible in the 16th century was very similar to that under Lenin and Stalin. Ivan was the first Tsar and he took over the government himself. With systematic terrorism and "levelling" he killed off five thousand boyars (nobles) and did much to improve the lot of the common people. It was he who instituted the idea of a Messianic Holy Russia which was the rule the world. That idea has been revived in Soviet Russia with the objective of communist world revolution under the control of Moscow.

Viewed against that historic background, we can well understand the rise of Stalin to absolute personal power and the serf-like submission of the Russian people. They have for so long lived under despotism that they do not know what freedom means; it is an utterly foreign idea to them and communism is just another form of the tyranny they have been used to, only more plausible and promising.

Socialism is a very plausible economic system because it promises the people security. But, as Sir David Kelly, the British diplomat who served in Soviet Russia, puts it: "There seems to be an eternal tendency to lapse into servitude in return for security. . . A strong case can be made out for State Socialism, or for personal dictatorship, but not for the belief that either of them can be reconciled with personal freedom and the rule of common law for everyone." Socialism, in order to be workable, must continually expand its regulations and controls of the lives and even the thinking of ordinary citizens. That explains the need for dictatorship and the rise of Stalin to absolute personal power.

Dorothy Difillian was an army nurse in Korea before she became an air ambulance nurse in Saskatchewan. Since the service started in 1946, there have been 2,000,000 miles of mercy flights logged without a fatality.

—Central Press Canadian Photos

Hardest part of their work, according to the nurses, is getting a patient aboard the plane, an operation performed here by Nurse Jean Kidd and Pilot Art Davis. Miss Kidd is stationed in Saskatoon, three others in Regina. They average nearly three calls a day, which doesn't leave them much time for leisure.

This and That, From Toronto Subway To Shakespeare and A Civic Uproar

"Exile from Sunnyacres"

By Margaret Cook

We hope everybody had a pleasant Easter. In our beleaguered suburb, the sun shone brightly, so the new hats were out in force. As all our female readers know, this year hats are different; anything goes, inverted plant pots, upturned dish-pans, hats like a rampant corsage, and some like the whole flower-garden. Then there is the sugar-scoop type; with a certain kind of female underneath, the illusion of a witch is perfect. Personally, I rather like the bird's nest version, and was pleased to note that Mrs. Kelly of Philadelphia appeared to be wearing one at the famous wedding. While on the subject of hats, note the chapeau in the film of Richard III. I prophesy that some alert designer will copy the handsome headgear of the Duke of Clarence. . .

However did we get on to the frivolous subject of hats? To return to Easter Day, the sun shone through the stained-glass windows; air happily came through the same, so that no one fainted; the choir sang lustily and tunefully; the church was packed with the faithful, so much so that chairs were placed in the aisles. Easter lilies, daffodils and other spring flowers were banked around the altar, and hung in cone-shaped receptacles from the beams. Everybody was good, and presumably happy — so much so that the rector was moved to remark in the leaflet of the next week, "As you may have surmised, Easter Sunday's attendance broke all records. It is a pity that this spirit cannot be carried through to other Sundays." A certain crispness in this comment is due to the Lenten fatigue of all good fathers of a flock.

Easter over, we set out appropriately for Toronto, erstwhile the Good. Toronto is, as you have doubtlessly been told, growing enormously. It was always a spread-out city, now it stretches for miles. Coming into Toronto from the west on Route 401, one has a view of the new development on the north of the city. Nearly all the houses are of the bungalow type, so that, with the vari-colored roofs, seemingly lying close to the ground, the impression is vaguely Chinese. The day we saw it, the sun was watery, adding to the illusion. There are miles of these small homes. If you are a widow, or a bachelor girl, in Toronto, you do not hole up in an apartment; instead, you buy one of these dollhouses. We have a friend living in one, in the part of Toronto called Leaside, so we know whereof we write. Hers has a tiny living-room and dining-room, a larger bedroom, a smaller room used as a den, and a miniature kitchen. The basement in this particular house is finished and rented to an Air Force fellow and his wife. So, there they all are as snug as can be. They do have privacy and quiet two things hard to come by in an apartment. On the other hand, because everybody goes home and bars the door, at least figuratively, the city itself lacks the gaiety and sparkle of other cities. People in the street go severely about their business, the air is not shattered by voices speaking many tongues, and, because of the subway, there are no surface street-cars, so no clanging of doors and sounds of fury between the conductor and passenger. Somehow, we missed the aliveness of our cosmopolitan city.

For the subway, we have nothing but praise. It is clean, quiet, slow and economical. When we say slow, we mean only by comparison with other subways we have known, notably those of London and New York. There is none of that mole-on-a-velocipede feeling, that we generally experience when we travel in the bowels of the earth — the reason being, as Alice would say, that we are not in the bowels of the earth. From time to time the Toronto subway emerges into sunlight, and ambles along endearingly in the backyards of the city's innumerable homes. Since there is only one line, it is impossible to get lost; so, for ten cents, one can ride ten minutes on the bus, transfer without ticket to the subway, and in less than ten more minutes be downtown. 'Tis wonderful, 'tis inspiring, and why cannot Montreal do this? Because, the engineers tell us, we in Montreal live on a rock. It is not a question of digging an enormous hole, but of blasting and drilling through igneous rock; the cost would be enormous. Anyway, who knows if our volatile population would take kindly to a subway? I have a sister-in-law who will not go from Mount Royal to Montreal by the tunnel, because she feels it will collapse on her!

"I suppose she rode on the subway all the time", mutters one of our cynical friends. Well, we did have dinner at the Town and Country, one of the local popular eateries, recently written up in Maclean's. It is one of those places that, with a huge smorgasbord spread all the width of the room, one has only to walk along and choose "A little of this, a lot of that, please", and the smiling server heaps your plate. One may go back as often as one wishes. Thus, Betty had two huge slices of beef with accompanying vegetables, and the writer, a large plate of salad after the meat course. A choice of French pastries is brought to the table; otherwise, everything is self-serve. All this is in the usual smoke-filled, dimly-lighted atmosphere that is considered necessary in snazzy eating-places. It is good, and we shall go back next time.

We did not have time for Richard III, so we saw it on our return. It is superbly done, but noisy — probably the fault of the sound mechanism, rather than of the actors. It is a pleasure to hear Shakespeare's English from the lips of men like Oliver and Gielgud, and the glimpse of the England of the Civil Wars is fascinating. But, to the writer, the most startling of all was to see the lights declaiming, "Richard III — William Shakespeare, Laurence Olivier". The Bard has been dead some 450 years, at least his body has, but here was his spirit as gay, as invincible as ever. Truly, the pen IS mightier than the sword. We have also seen recently the Court Jester, a lively bit of Hollywood nonsense.

On the home-front, it is house-cleaning and trying to keep up with local politics. We are threatened with a railroad spur at one end of town and a shopping-center at the other. This suburb dearly loves a row, so all blood-pressures are rocketing. I'm a fatalist. I feel that we shall inevitably have both, wail we never so loudly, so I refuse to punish my arteries. I feel sorry for the poor old St. Lawrence; Jacques Cartier would never recognize his discovery now. The noon-tide blastings continue, so we often wonder if the whole thing will be settled by the collapse of the bridge. Next week, both sides will be opened for vehicular traffic. That will help. But I shall continue to travel by train, as being cheapest and least strain on the nerves.

Our space is nearly used up — Thank you, Frontier W.I., for the kind words. It is always gratifying and surprising to find one's column is being read instead of being used to light the fire. Sometimes one feels as if writing to a vacuum — which is an unkind thing to call the editor! I trust that anything untoward that was written above that formidable signature on the report card is long since forgiven — or, better still, forgotten. I remember me as a brash, young, and not too efficient teacher. I got quite good before matrimony snatched me away from teaching. Teaching was always fascinating and fun, although sometimes exasperating The best of all was the enduring friends one made. Some of our best-loved friends are the pupils of yesteryear.

The teacher wrote on the blackboard: "I ain't had no fun all summer." Then she asked a small boy in the front row, "William, what should I do to correct that?"

"Maybe get a boy friend," he suggested helpfully.

Applying for a position in a London office, a young woman readily filled in the first questions on the blank. But when she reached "Marital Status," she paused for a moment, then wrote: "Hopeful."

The Argenteuil Rangers

County's Pioneer Militia Regiment

A suggestion has been made by interested descendants that the centennial anniversary of the formation of the Argenteuil Rangers should be in some way commemorated, in March 1962. While the suggestion may appear somewhat premature, The Watchman is prepared to publish any records or viewpoints which may be submitted concerning this military organization wholly identified with Argenteuil County and its pioneers.

The Rangers in 1876 had eight Companies, located respectively as follows:

St. Andrews — Headquarters and No. 1 Company.
West Gore, Nos. 2 and 3 Companies. Mille Isles, No. 6 Company.
East Gore, No. 5 Company. Chatham, No. 8 Company.

The emblem reproduced above is photographed from a hat badge (4¼ inches in height) used on the straw hats which formed part of a distinctive summer uniform worn by the Rangers at annual camp.

Readers interested in the idea of a centennial tribute (in a brochure or whatever form may appear appropriate) may kindly express their views to: Col. V. Henry Jekyll, P.O. Box 22, St. Jerome, Que. The following document (a reasonably exact copy of the original) is of historical interest. . . .

Record prepared by Mayor Wm. Hoy, March 6, 1905, for the late father of Col. V. H. Jekyll as propaganda material in an effort to bring the Rangers back into their former prominence.

11th Regiment Argenteuil Rangers — Headquarters St. Andrews, P.Q.

Was formed March 14th, 1862 by the late Lt. Col. Sir J. J. C. Abbott, Majors J. C. K. Houghton and Allan Macdonald, Adjt. Hy Curren; Paymaster, Arch. Macdonald; Quarter Master, Robt. A. Bethune; Surgeon W. H. Mayrand, M.D.; Asst. Surg. Patk. Robertson, M.D. — Captains, Saml. Macdonald, Jas. Smith, Geo. McKnight, John Simpson, Saml. Rogers, Geo. Shirrit, Rich. Pridham, John Pollock, W. B. Forbes, Jas. B. Cushing; Lieutenants, H. W. Kempley, Andrew O. Taylor, Robt. McKnight, Phineas Lane, Jno. Arnott, Thos. Evans, Fred Neve, Wm. Evans, H. T. Lonsdale, Wm. Owens; Ensigns E. J. C. Abbott, J. Curran, John McKnight, Mathew Strong, John Hambly, Jas. Davidson, Wm. Hoy, Adam Douglas.

Participated in Red River Rebellion (Mr. Palliser Advocate Lachute can give particulars he has medal for it.)

Argenteuil Rangers took part in Fenian Raids, Cornwall Aug. 10th. to Nov. 6th. 1866 — Montreal April 14th. to 23rd. 1870 — St. Andrews, P.Q. May 26th. to 29th. 1870 — and Montreal during Hackett trouble, Stationed at G. T. Ry. Works, Pt. St. Charles; July 11 to 13th. 1878 — Camp Laprairie June 21st. 1871.

Camps of Exercise River Rouge, St. Andrews, June 25th. 1872: Carillon Hill June 1875: St. Johns June 1883.

In 1884 following were the officers of the Regiment: — Lt. Col. J. B. Cushing; Major Wm. Hoy, Paymaster, Major Thos. Lamb, Quarter Master, Wm. B. McArthur; Surgeon W. H. Mayrand; Asst. Surgeon Wm. Smith, M.D.; Captains, Thos. Weightman, Jas. Smith, Isaac Jekill, Geo. D. Walker, Thos. Evans, John Pollock, Ed. A. Hodgson, Geo. B. Martin; Lieutenants, Jno. McMartin, Wm. Good, Wm. Morrison, Wm. Watchorn, Wm. Burns, L. C. Barron, John Rogers, Wm. Pollock, W. J. Wanless, John Sittlington.

It was at this period that this fine old Regiment through the exertions of its Staff Officers and Company Officers were the means of supplying the Regiment with necessary equipment not furnished by Government. During early summer 1886, a large excursion to Lachute with games &c. were the means of securing funds for the purchase of White Helmets and fittings for the whole Regiment, private subscriptions among friends of the 11th. bought a set of pioneers tools and equipment for the pioneer corps; while the ladies of Argenteuil and friends in Montreal hobly responded to the solicitation of Mrs. Wm. Hoy the Senior Majors wife and a magnificent set of Regimential Colours were subscribed for and ordered from England and were presented to the Regiment by Mrs. Wm. Hoy, while in camp at Richmond, Que. July 1st. 1886, at same time were consecrated by Rev. Mr. Dewey of that place — The Regiment at this time was in its most prosperous condition and its element was composed of a very fine class of men — The whole of the Officers vieing with each other to serve the interest of the Regiment.

The 11th. Regiment at different periods camped at Laprairie, St. John, Sherbrooke, Richmond, Farnham, Compton, Lachute, Carillon and St. Andrews.

While in camp July 1893 at Laprairie — it won the Sir. Donald Smith (now Lord Strathcona and Mount Royal) Cup, beating the 50th. 51st. and 85th. Regiments —

In July 1898 Lt. Col. J. B. Cushing, Majors Hoy and Martin and Adjt. Capt. Williamson resigned — when Capt. E. A. Hodgson was recommended for the command of the 11st, and held the position till his death in 1904 — when Feby 25th. 1905 Major Henry Jekill was promoted to commanding Officer. The state of affairs in the old Regiment is not very encouraging to this very popular Officer and great exertions will be necessary to bring up the strength and Esprit de Corps that it once possessed and it is hoped that all friends of this Regiment will give their assistance to fill the ranks with some of old Argenteuil sturdy Rangers.

May: "What color dress are you going to wear to the party tomorrow night?"

Faye: "Each lady is supposed to wear something to match her husband's hair, so I guess I'll wear my grey dress. What are you going to wear?"

May: "I guess I'd better not go."

After church service in a neighboring town, I heard a member and a visitor discussing the new minister.

"Why did you let the other pastor go?" the visitor asked.

"Oh, he was always preaching that if we didn't mend our ways we'd go straight to hell."

"But that's just what this new minister said today!"

"Yes," replied the member, "but the other one acted as if he was glad!" — The Reader's Digest

Have You A Question on UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE OR EMPLOYMENT?

In this column we publish questions about unemployment insurance and employment, together with answers received from the Unemployment Insurance Commission.

If you are uncertain about any point do not hesitate to send your question to your district Unemployment Insurance office. We will obtain an answer and publish it in this column.

Q. We are two brothers and both of us are unemployed at present. We both contribute to the upkeep of our mother, a widow. Can we both draw benefit as persons with a dependent?

A. No. An unemployed person can claim his mother as a dependent only if (a) he maintains a self-contained domestic establishment in which he supports his mother, and (b) he is the person who wholly or mainly supports her. These conditions may apply to one of you but obviously cannot apply to both of you.

Q. Why can't we draw benefit when unemployed if we leave our district in order to travel, without permission of the Commission's local office?

A. The reason for this rule is that unemployment benefit is payable only for periods in which you are in a position to take any suitable employment that becomes available. Therefore if you go away and want to continue receiving benefit, you must let the local office know where you can be reached and be prepared to curtail your trip immediately if a job becomes available.

Q. I have just been married, but previous to my marriage I worked for three years. I suppose I will lose my right to benefit if I do not work. As I am able to work I applied for a job in a factory but, on account of the low wages offered, I left after one month. I cannot find any suitable employment. Can I file a benefit claim?

A. You may file a claim. If you are a woman who has been married within the 104 weeks before filing you claim you will not be entitled to benefit unless you are able to meet the conditions imposed by the Married Women Regulations. There may also be some question of your having left your employment voluntarily without just cause. If you make a claim, give full particulars so that a proper decision may be made.

WIDER RESPONSIBILITY

In modern society the life of the public servant is seldom a happy one. Due to the changing processes of democracy, his responsibility now seems extended from the elected representatives who hired him to the public at large.

Civil Defence in a Small Town

The small town will have to come to the rescue of the cities if Canada is ever involved in a nuclear war. In the civil defence plan, the small town would assume the role of relief and rehabilitation.

The only effective defence against the H-Bomb, with its massive destructive power, is evacuation of likely target areas before the bomb falls. The population of strategic cities, therefore, would have to be absorbed in small towns and villages up to 100 miles away. That brings practically every community in the country a vital role in the over-all plan.

But evacuation is still the most effective defence. In event of a heavy bomb blast, leaving a whole city dangerously radioactive, and contaminating large areas outside it, the refugees would have only one safe course; to keep going until they got as far away as possible.

So no small town or community can consider itself too isolated to be of use in reducing the effects of nuclear attack on the larger and less fortunate communities.

"Having regard to the magnitude of the problems before us," F. F. Worthington, Federal Civil Defence Co-ordinator, has said, "it must be obvious to all that our safety depends on nationwide unity of purpose."

Towns close to cities may be required to provide many types of assistance. Transportation, most vital element in evacuation planing, may be required to help carry away the city population. Assistance from the closer towns' fire departments would be needed since no city is equipped to battle the fires expected to follow a nuclear-attack.

But the big job would be to care for the fleeing refugees. Many would have nothing with them but the clothes they were wearing. The small towns would have to provide them with clothing, food, and shelter. Emergency hospitals would have to be set up outside the stricken cities.

The first thing necessary for a small town's civil defence planning is to determine how its present facilities and layout can best be used. How many refugees could it care for? What help could it spare for a target city? Has it any large buildings that could serve as emergency hospitals? How many feeding establishments has it and what capacity could it handle in an emergency?

Then it must have a plan through which its facilities can be put into use. The need of volunteers trained to supplement all of a town's regular services — police, fire, health and welfare — is obvious considering the increased demands a large influx of refugees would make on them.

No community, however small or isolated, can consider itself outside these responsibilities. The vast area that would be affected by just one H-bomb blast refuses to relieve any town of these obligations.

It is estimated, for example, that the area contaminated by radioactivity downwind from one exploded bomb might be 200 miles long, and 40 miles wide. The size of this area would vary according to the power of the bomb, the height at which it burst, the nature of the ground under the burst and the weather at the time. It is possible to survive this fall-out radiation in proper shelter, for such radioactivity decays rapidly.

"Every organization and all the people have to carry some share of responsibility if we are to survive in the event of nuclear attack."

In the last 10 years through Quebec's financial aid

3,023 new schools were built, with 11,676 modern classrooms, which means

6 NEW SCHOOLS PER WEEK or
ONE NEW SCHOOL FOR EVERY WORKING DAY

Today our Province is proud that pupils attend classes in schools of ultra-modern design and equipment —well lighted, properly ventilated, adequately heated—and spacious.

This is only part of what the Duplessis government has done for ten solid years in education—a tremendous benefit in which every group and every area had its share.
