Reg Stansfield Ranks Second In Eastern Canadian Juniors

To Aim for Canadian Championship Junior Men's Gymnastics, in August

The Eastern Canadian junior men's gymnastics championship was held last Saturday at Windsor, Ont. Reggie Stansfield from Lachute High School participated as one of the three gymnasts from the Province of Quebec, and won a silver medal.

Eighteen gymnasts paraticipated — three each from the Province of Quebec, Toronto, Michigan State, U.S.A., Germany, Windsor, and Ontario.

Results of the different events were as follows:

Long Horse: Winner D. Dominato, with 90 points; second, R. Stansfield, Lachute, with 89 points.

Still Rings: H. Bauer, Windsor, with 94 points; R. Stansfield, with 90 points.

Parallel Bars: Winner, a tie between Horst Preuss, Germany, and P. Rose, Michigan, with 91 points; second, Reggie Stansfield with 89 points.

As the marks indicate, Reggie was close to the winners all the time. His lowest mark was 84 points, which is exceptionally good. On an average base in the four events he started in, he was by far the best all-round, but as he did not start in the High Bars (there are none installed as yet in the Lachute High School) he could not participate for the all-round championship.

Each routine was covered by five judges, with 100 points as a maximum; the average marks given were 74 points.

Winners of each event and all-round, received gold medals; seconds, silver medals; thirds, bronze medals.

Stansfield showed great improvement over his appearance at the Provincial meet and carried out his routines much better, only the competition was considerably harder and his competitiors more experienced.

Reggie was the youngest participant at 16 years — no others were younger than 20 years — and the winner of the Free Hand Calisthenics was 34 years of age. (A Canadian junior championship meet is for any person who has not won any championship in any previous year.)

Leaving Montreal airport at 7 a.m. on Saturday, Coach Arne Petersen and Reg Stansfield arrived at Windsor at 11 o'clock, after a not-too enjoyable plane trip as there was quite a storm over Toronto.

The next event which is being looked forward to is the Dominion Championship Competition, being held in Toronto on August 17-18. Here, compulsory routines will be held on one day and the free routine on the following day.

Reggie is now working very hard at the compulsory routines, which are very exacting, and with continued practice it is hoped that further honors will be brought to the local High School and to Lachute Town, through this high-ranking performer.

New Bridge at Avoca Dedicated to Hon. W. M. Cottingham

On Friday afternoon, June 1, the Hon. W. M. Cottingham officially opened the new bridge crossing the Rouge River.

Through Gilbert Arnold, Sr., County Warden, the citizens of Avoca, Kilmar, Grenville, Calumet and Pointe-au-Chene dedicated this new bridge to the Hon. Mr. Cottingham as a gesture of appreciation for another achievement in Argenteuil County.

Feast of Oratory Heard, Joint Meeting Following Nomination Proceedings

The old-time election tradition was re-enacted in Lachute yesterday at the civic auditorium, where a joint nomination for the June 20 provincial elections was held, under the co-chairmanship of Mayor Dr. F. Walter FitzGerald and the Hon. Georges E. Dansereau. The names of three candidates — the Hon. W. M. Cottingham, Minister of Mines, Union Nationale; Bernard Gosselin, Liberal; and Georges Duhamel, Independent Union Nationale — were presented to the capacity crowd in the auditorium.

The Hon. W. M. Cottingham based his address at some length on his numerous past accomplishments in Argenteuil County. "Every four or five years, you, the electorate, have the opportunity to choose your representative for the Quebec legislature. You placed your confidence in me in 1948, then re-elected me with a large majority four years later, renewing my mandate.

"It is a great deal of pleasure for me to represent you and, when I was made Minister of Mines in 1954, the honor was conferred on you, not on me." He added that people complained when he could not personally be located to attend to their problems — explaining that he felt that his competent staff looked after that end of his business, leaving him in a position to deal with the problems in Quebec, where he was elected to do so.

He spoke on land drainage in the lower section of Argenteuil and how it had aided the farmer; of farm loans and grants; he mentioned many bridges that had been repaired or re-built by the Union Nationale Government at no cost to the local taxpayer, who formerly had to pay the cost of construction.

"All have benefitted from the new educational facilities in this County, the majority and minority alike. Almost two million dollars has been spent in this field in Lachute alone, and it is a pleasure for me to get you your money which you pay in taxes to do this work."

In the roads department, he stated that all main streets in all the County municipalities had been paved, the work on the highways in the north completed, and at present, the provincial road equipment was at work, as it would be, both before and after the elections.

In closing, the Hon. Cottingham said: "I will try to carry on with dignity as in the past. This is the opening of another campaign. Get out and vote, and vote for the man who can do the most for you."

Bernard Gosselin, official Liberal candidate, opened his speech by condemning the "one-man government." "One must have courage to admit that the people in the province are afraid, but this feeling of fear can be explained and justified. Freedom of thought, speech and liberty is threatened and this is the reason why a surge of indignation on the part of the people is going to return the province to democracy. People are getting tired of being told what and what not to do and say."

In condemning the Duplessis and Cottingham regimes, he stated that "only in Quebec does the province not participate in the Trans-Canada highway; keep such a strong grip on municipalities and school boards; impose double taxation; not give the people in the province the Hospitalization Insurance Plan; give contracts without tenders" . . . and he mentioned many other causes for complaint.

Liberal Candidate Bernard Gosselin Opens County Campaign in Lachute

"If this opening of the Liberal campaign is held in Lachute, it is because I want it so, and also because Lachute is where the victory will be celebrated on June 20," stated Bernard Gosselin, in augurating his campaign for the June 20 provincial elections, last Friday evening before an enthusiastic meeting at the civic auditorium.

During his speech, Mr. Gosselin declared: "We might find the acrobatics of Mr. Duplessis funny if it were not going to be fatal to our province." Attacking his opponent, Mr. Gosselin asked what he had accomplished since 1948. "Has he asked Quebec to favor Social Service measures offered by the Federal Government? Has he asked for free school books for students? Has he asked for maternity allowances? Has he done anything in Argenteuil to remedy the manner in which the hotels are controlled in this county?"

"After June 20, when you elect the Liberal candidate, I assure you that the voice from Argenteuil will be heard in Quebec. When Mr. Lapalme proposes to bring back the system of free books, maternity allowances, and when he demands that hotel laws be respected, the voice from Argenteuil will not remain mute."

Turning to roads in this county, Mr. Gosselin demanded where the seven million dollars was spent, as Mr. Cottingham had claimed, on "Roads, construction, summer and winter maintenance." . . . "Since 1948," he said, "you have been promised Route 31. In 1952, he said that he had not had time to complete it; and now, in 1956, it is still not completed. . . I solemnly swear, as Liberal candidate, that if I do not complete this highway within a reasonable delay following my election, I will withdraw my candidature from the next elections. Mr. Cottingham has mocked the population of Argenteuil, those of Arundel and Weir, and those of the entire county.

"It has taken him eight years to complete six miles of Route 31 and I now ask how many miles will be completed from now until June 20. Due to bad roads, our county has suffered from loss of tourist trade.

"Concerning grants to students, Mr. Cottingham announced that he has spent $46,459. When one realizes there are only 14 students in our county who can have benefitted from scholarship grants, which are in the vicinity of $500-$600, I ask where all the money has gone. According to the figures of Mr. Cottingham published in The Watchman and L'Argenteuil, these students have received around $3,000 each!

Passing to "health and hospitals", Mr. Gosselin declared it was past time that we should have a hospital for the immediate needs of the county population. "After June 20, I assure you that the project that has been buried for so long will be revived, and I pledge myself to agitate for a hospital, which is a necessity here and not a luxury."

Mr. Gosselin then discussed grants made to municipalities and school commissions. . . Later, he said, "When Duplessis speaks, none of his deputies or ministers oppose him in any manner, not even the deputy from Argenteuil— or should I say the deputy from Chibougamau or elsewhere, for we do not see him in Argenteuil. I am certain that the answer you will give Mr. Cottingham on June 20 will not be the one he is expecting."

Supporting the Liberal candidate on the platform were Maurice Champagne, Sr., John Long, of Montreal; the Hon. Georges E. Dansereau and William S. MacKimmie, co-chairmen of the meeting; the Hon. Senator Sarto Fournier; Philippe Valois, M.P.; Fernand Legault; Gaetan Paquette, Mayor of Ayersville; Dr. Roger Lavigne, and Paul Trudeau, of Montreal, many of whom spoke on behalf of Mr. Gosselin.

BM Clock Proves Useful Adjunct To Main Street

The illuminated clock which appeared this week in full view of the shopping centre, provides a useful addition to Main Street and is a credit to the initiative of the Bank of Montreal, from whose building it is suspended. The clock faces in both directions, east and west, with hands and figures easily discernible for some distance.

It was felt, by some local residents, that this convenience was overlooked in the erection of the new post office. It is therefore gratifying to note a business institution now filling a long-felt need.

Canada, with less than one per cent of the world's population, ranks sixth in the world as a producer of manufactured goods. Manufacturing provides about one dollar out of three of Canada's national income.

Large Attendance At Induction Of New Pastor

The Margaret Rodger Memorial Presbyterian Church was the scene on Monday last of a very impressive service when the Rev. Jas. Armour, recently arrived from Ireland, was inducted and welcomed as the new pastor of Lachute and Brownsburg churches.

The church was filled to capacity with a congregation that joined heartily in the singing of several familiar hymns. During the offertory Mrs. R. Blakely rendered a solo, Mrs. W. M. Cottingham officiating at the organ. Rev. Jas. Grant, of Huntingdon, preached the sermon.

Steps leading up to the evenings procedure were given by the Rev. W. Isaacs, who has acted as interim moderator since the resignation of Rev. Dr. W. H. Reid. Several candidates had been heard, but it was on April 3, at a congregational meeting that the present pastor was chosen.

The Act of Obligations, consisting of numerous and varied questions, was then presented to the pastor elect and having answered them satisfactorily, he was declared duly inducted into his new charge by the Rev. C. J. MacKay.

Rev. Wm. McLean, of the Sailors Institute then congratulated both Mr. Armour and the congregation, the former for the courage and faith he had in pulling up stakes and bringing his wife and family to a

2-Year-Old Child Drowning Victim At Fraser Lake

Robert Lemire, 21-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Lemire, Hamford Street, Ayersville, met a tragic death by drowning in Fraser Lake last Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Lemire, along with friends, had spent the week-end at Ayers staff camp, and when loading the car for their return home, noticed the child was missing. An immediate search was commenced and the body was discovered in about 18 inches of water, where it is believed the child had been lying for only five minutes or so, since he had opened a door on the verandah and run towards the water.

The little victim was rushed to the Providence Hospital and treated by Dr. Jules Lafleur, but he failed to revive.

Detective Ralph Allen investigated the incident.

Funeral service was held Tuesday morning from the St. Julien Parish Church, Lachute Mills.

In addition to his parents (Mr. Lemire is assistant Personnel Manager at Ayers Limited), the child is survived by a 3½-year-old sister, his grandparents, and numerous other relatives.

County Well Represented in Amateur Art Show

At the recent art exhibition in St. Andrews East — the first such venture supported by enthusiasts throughout the county — professional and amateur talent in all grades and age groups contributed to a well-balanced and interesting gallery. Of generally high-quality workmanship, the pictures also exemplified various media and techniques. Above is a small group of the amateur showings, taken from the collection of 94 works as representing different communities of the district. The exhibition, held in the St. Andrews East United Church hall, was attended by a gratifying number of people and was voted a worthwhile success.

Lions in Liaison With International And District Affairs

A welcome sidelight of the Lions Club session, Tuesday evening in the Legion Hall, was the informal attendance of District Governor Bill Shields and Inter-Club Chairman Ed MacLean, for the purpose of presenting a citation to Horace Lamarche, terminating his outstanding year of service as Deputy District Governor.

Other guests were Mr. Arne Peterson, High School physical training instructor, and his protégé, young Reg Stansfield, who has just ranked second in Junior gymnastics Eastern Canada competition at Windsor, Ont. President Ian Gordon took pleasure in presenting a cheque from the Lions Club towards expenses incurred in this venture, also wishing the young athlete good luck in his entry for the Dominion championships at Toronto.

There was discussion on the car raffle, which is to culminate next week at Lachute Spring Fair. Col. Ernest Emmett is committeeman in charge. The president reported $1,421 disbursed by the club so far this year, in charity, welfare, health and educational efforts.

Lion Armand Desrosiers won a guessing contest in connection with the car ticket sales.

Lion Don Titman reported for the delegates on the recent Niagara Falls convention, describing some impressive aspects of this big gathering. Lion Horace Lamarche added a word on the judging of club bulletins at this convention — the Lachute bulletin, although not eligible for competition, having nevertheless been informally acclaimed by the committee as the best in the entire District A.

Lion Miville Trickey similarly described meeting with the International President, Humberto Valenzuela, on the recent visit of this dignitary to Montreal. Having resided six years in Cuba and speaking Spanish fluently, Lion Trickey had a priority role in greeting the president in Montreal, in company with other Lachute and Montreal Lions.

There was lengthy discussion on the club-sponsored traffic signals and Lions highway signs at the approaches to town, and it was agreed to transfer the Route 8 blinker signal from St. Jerusalem to the Lachute boundary line, for purposes of maintenance and supervision.

The slate of 1956-57 officers, as recommended by the Nominations Committee, was read from the chair and approved. The new officers will be installed at next meeting.

There were 40-odd members and guests in attendance, with Keith Clark in his customary role as secretary.

Trickey recently completed his first-year Divinity course at McGill University where he obtained the Bishop's Prize, the Birks Entrance Scholarship and the St. Philip's Barsary. He received his commission as 2nd Lieut. in the McGill contingent of the C.O.T.C. early last fall.

Hon. Cottingham Speaks at Rally In St. Laurent

At an election campaign meeting Tuesday night, at Ville St. Laurent the Hon. W. M. Cottingham said that when "Opposition Leader Georges Lapalme claims the government sold the iron ore resources of Ungava for a cent a ton, he does not know what he is talking about, or else he is deliberately misrepresenting the facts."

The Minister of Mines and deputy for Argenteuil made the statement at the opening rally of the campaign for Robert Hodge, National Union candidate in Jacques Cartier.

Mr. Cottingham told voters of the district that "everyone in his right mind, with the exception of Mr. Lapalme, has hailed the Ungava development as one of the greatest things that has happened in Quebec in the past 50 years."

The Mines Minister said that in mining taxes alone, the Iron Ore Company of Canada paid Quebec nearly one million dollars in 1955 and 1956. In 1955, he added, this amount represented .05¢ cents a ton and in 1956, .10¢ cents a ton.

Furthermore, Mr. Cottingham said, the company paid three million dollars in provincial and municipal taxes, excluding property taxes.

"Mr. Lapalme and his associates fail to realize what this development has meant to the province. The company built a railway at a cost of some $160,000,000, without any government assistance. This railway will remain there and will help open up this undeveloped territory," said Mr. Cottingham.

Dies in Bush Near Montfort

Adrien Marcotte, 49, of St. Jerome, died suddenly Saturday evening while making a portage between two lakes in the Montfort area. No inquest will be held.

Marcotte, who was accompanied by his 19-year-old son Jacques, Maurice Bouvrette, 29, and Paul Emile Lessard, 26, all of St. Jerome, was helping portage a canoe and other equipment between Lac Notre Dame and Lac Victoire, when he collapsed.

Detective Ralph Allen investigated the fatality.

Two Fines Imposed License Suspended

Maurice Lortie, of R.R. 1, St. Philippe, was sentenced to a fine of $40 plus costs last week when he appeared before Justice of the Peace Georges Brunelle on a charge of operating his motor vehicle while his ability was impaired by alcohol.

Lortier was arrested May 26 by Lieutenant Oscar Sabourin and Cst. Marcel Therrien, and was released on $40 bail. He appeared in local police court May 29, pleaded guilty and was sentenced.

Walter St. Louis, 55, of Montreal on May 29 appeared before Judge Omer Coté at St. Jerome on a charge of hit-and-run. Sentence was postponed until Tuesday of this week, when he was assessed a fine of $50 plus costs, his driving permit being suspended for three months.

St. Louis was arrested by Traffic Officer Albert Legault on May 26, following an accident in which the accused hit the car of Thomas Fournier, St. Andrews East, and failed to stop. He was released on bail following his arrest.

Gatineau LINES

Please Report Changes

Gatineau Power supplies electricity to world-famous vacation areas, so naturally the demand for electric connections is exceptionally high in the summer months.

When the summer visitor makes normal, planned-for use of electricity, there is no problem. Sometime, however, heavy electrical equipment is brought to summer cottages, without advice to the power company.

In their own interest, customers should advise the company when about to install such items as a stove or a water heater.

Such advice enables the company to take steps to avoid the annoyance of low voltage by checking the size of the transformer serving your premises and those of your neighbors.

As well, it is important to make sure that your wiring will carry the electricity to the new appliances efficiently — that it is adequate to handle any new demands to be placed upon it.

OBITUARY

North Bay Citizen Was Born in Avoca, Related in This County

The Late Hugh McGalliard

Hugh McGalliard, a prominent citizen and a pioneer employee of the Bell Telephone Company in North Bay, Ont., died Friday, June 1, at Beamsville. He was 81 years old.

Mr. McGalliard devoted his life to his home, his work and civic affairs.

He served on the public school board, the Civic Hospital board and the Arena commission. For many years he had been an elder at St. Andrew's United Church and belonged to the Nipissing Lodge and the Scottish Rite of the Masons.

Mr. McGalliard joined the Bell Telephone Company of Canada in 1902 and travelled extensively throughout Quebec, Ontario, Manitoba and Saskatchewan, before settling in North Bay in 1909. He participated in the remarkable progress in telephone construction in Northern Ontario, becoming District Plant Superintendent. He held this position until his retirement in 1939.

He was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. G. McGalliard, of Avoca, Que. His marriage to the former Lillie Cook took place at Sprague, Ont., June 1, 1914. Mrs. McGalliard predeceased him in 1943.

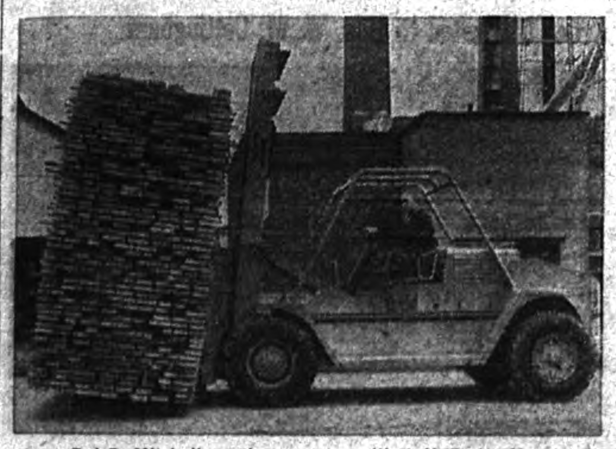

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. J. R. Shepherd (Jean), of North Bay, and Mrs. R. H. Gale (Frances), of Grimsby. There are five grandchildren. A brother, John, lives in Lachute.

Induction of New Pastor

strange land, and the latter for the excellent choice they had made. He mentioned to Mr. Armour that he had come at a very important time — when the Church and Presbytery is in the midst of a great forward movement and when the Church of Jesus Christ is on the move.

In a somewhat lighter vein the speaker warned the new pastor that there would be a "settling down period", during which time he would become acquainted with new and perhaps strange customs and also learn another vocabulary of words and sayings of different meaning to those of which he was presently accustomed.

He requested that in his new position, he be temperate in all things; not to be in too much of a hurry but to earn the confidence of those whom he was to lead.

The congregation was urged to give their new pastor their greatest encouragement and support. A large attendance, it was pointed out is always emblematic of joy and appreciation, the pastoral tie being the basic condition for the success of the Church.

In closing Rev. McLean said "You, the Church, can make or break a minister. The more you know him, the more you will know of his problems. Have faith in his mission and let him know that you have faith in his ministry. You are all in it together. May God bless you and prosper you abundantly."

After the benediction the gathering proceeded to the Church Hall where refreshments were served and all present had the opportunity of meeting and welcoming the newcomers.

Rev. Mr. Isaacs who presided, was presented with a cheque by Mr. Mac Walker as a token of appreciation for his services as interim moderator.

Rev. Wilson Bridge brought greetings from the Argenteuil Ministrial Association and Mr. R. Cairns thanked the congregation for their splendid co-operation.

Dr. Ritchie Bell complimented the ladies on the dainty refreshments while the Hon. W. M. Cottingham gave the official welcome to Rev. Mr. Armour and family. Mrs. Armour was the recipient of beautiful flowers presented by Mrs. Ross Muir.

Rev. Mr. Armour acknowledged with thanks the kindnesses that had been shown him and in stating that he would give of his best appealed to his congregation for their support and co-operation.

Mr. Amour's last charge was in Doheh, County Antrim, near Belfast in Northern Ireland where he had 350 families in his parish.

Citizens of Lachute we are sure will welcome Rev. Mr. Armour and his family to this district.

Cornwall-Halifax Echo Of Grenv'l Bond Robbery

Cornwall, Ont. (CP) — Hector Duhamel was held in a city jail cell awaiting a police escort which will return him to Halifax for a court revival of an eight-year-old unsolved bank theft of $250,000 in bonds.

Duhamel, 47, is wanted under a Halifax police warrant which charges him with cashing $6,000 worth of stolen bonds in banks there. Halifax Police Chief Verdun Mitchell said the bonds were part of $250,000 in loot from the night-time robbery of a Bank of Nova Scotia at Maxville, Ont., in 1948.

The suspect was rearrested on behalf of Halifax police last Monday only moments after he was to go free on $5,000 bail while awaiting a June 20 hearing on a separate charge by Cornwall police of possessing $4,000 worth of other stolen bonds.

Those securities, police said, were believed part of $100,000 taken in a 1953 holdup of a bank at Grenville, Que.

Approach to Safety

IT IS gratfying to note a more positive approach to accident prevention on the part of highway authorities. We refer to the trend towards education, rather than punitive action. Commercial companies and safety organizations have generally taken the initiative along these constructive lines; but in Argenteuil County just recently, we had evidence of the trend in a series of informal talks by traffic and police officers to the children of numerous schools. (We commented at the time, with optimism for results.)

Following is a recent news item from Saint John, N.B.: Senior traffic inspectors in New Brunswick have started a campaign to educate the province's drivers under the slogan, "Mr. Public, we would rather prevent your accident than try to identify you afterward." The inspectors recently completed an advanced course in driving skill tests with a long-range aim to cutting down highway accidents. The course, said to be the first of its kind in Canada, stressed education rather than enforcement. The police officers heard lectures and took part in tests covering driving habits, adverse weather conditions and emergency reactions.

Counting Human Resources

IN 1906 — just 50 years ago — it was predicted that there would never be enough people with sufficient money to buy cars to warrant the establishment of an automobile manufacturing industry in this country. Yet in 1953 a record total of 475,000 motor vehicles were made in Canada, and last year over 460,000. Registrations of motor vehicles of all kinds now exceed 3,600,000, or nearly equal to one for every four persons, with enough passenger cars alone for three out of every four families.

Canada's development has been a mighty achievement for so young a country. With the people's co-operation, the most important part of its growth — its human resources — will be freshly and accurately measured this June by the first nation-wide five-year census in Canada's history. Canadians need this information for further progress, and successful management of their private business and public affairs. . . Be ready with quick and accurate answers to the few questions your census-taker will ask when he or she calls. Be prepared to help in this new five-year count!

Hail to You — and You!

MUCH OF the world's knowledge in meteorology has been arrived at in the last ten years. McGill University's so-called Stormy Weather Group, in particular, has contributed to this progress. This is but a good beginning. The more violent weather demonstrations — thunderstorms, lightning, sudden squalls and hail — are still shrouded in mystery. Fortunately, such things are not too severe in the St. Lawrence Valley, so that the McGill scientists do not have much to work with. . .

But they have a plan. Taking hail as the next link in their chain of evidence, they have noted that there is more hail than statistics suggest, and they are concentrating on information regarding hail.

One hundred miles is the total distance to which the McGill radar at Dorval can analyze thunderstorms, and the rain pattern generally, in great detail. Its "constant-altitude storm maps" provide a way of looking at storms that is available nowhere else in the world. The research group want to tie this picture to the pattern of hail arriving at the ground. They estimate that there is enough hail to give such a pattern several times each summer. They need hail reports from every square mile where hail occurs, in order to draw up such a map,

There are 30,000 square miles of country within the radar range, in Quebec, in Ontario, and in the States of New York and Vermont. The only way to cover this large area is for the public to report when and where it hails, to the nearest two minutes and to the nearest mile. (For good measure, informants might tell too the approximate size of the larger hail stones. Were they the size of shot, peas, grapes, walnuts or golf-balls?)

There are other violent aspects of thunderstorms that the research men could usefully plot on their maps too: lightning strikes, winds violent enough to blow down trees or damage buildings, funnel-clouds and water spouts. These last items, that can be seen from a distance are good subjects for pictures.

A thousand hail reports, when combined with the daily radar records, may provide the clue that will break the "hail case". McGill has the men that can interpret the clues. Canada's Defence Research Board and the United States Air Force have provided them with the best radar tools for the job. The surrounding public — yes, readers of The Watchman — are invited to be the ground-observing corps that is essential to this picture.

In Retrospect

IN SOUTHERN Ontario last week, quite a distance away, we were questioned on that disturbance which occurred here almost a year ago, and from which this town derived widespread and unpleasant publicity. We refer, of course, to the "flag incident". . . We have no desire, however, to revive memories of that episode — only to adjust the perspective over a reasonable lapse of time.

We replied, in effect, that the difference here was inspired by a few hotheads and fanatics, and should not be interpreted elsewhere as a serious breach of inter-racial bonne entente for which this section is noted. . .

We felt this way, less convincingly, at the time. Now, almost a year has passed, and our faith in the neighborliness bred of deep-rooted common interests, seems to have been well justified.

This Freedom

SURELY readers of a Montreal newspaper must have rubbed their eyes when they came across an item which stated that a farmer's son had been fined for doing carpentry work without a license — says The Financial Post. In court the father said it was true that his son had no competency papers from the Provincial Joint Committee on the Building Trades. "They caught him on a school building with a hammer in his hands," he confessed.

Professionalism is being carried pretty far indeed when the law steps in and prevents anyone from working with common tools. There is more work waiting to be done in this country than there are people available to do it. We need all the help we can get and anyone with gumption and push who wants to pitch in, should be encouraged, not penalized. There are only a very few jobs where the state is justified in barring the eager amateur. The more competition the better for all of us.

Bring Back the Porch

WHETHER they know it or not, architects and builders of the modern home we see so much of these days are tampering with Canada's birth rate.

The older generation should make it clear to them that the new type of house with its straight front, picture windows and a patio in the rear is going to have an effect on the number of marriages a score or so years from now. And, consequently, on the birth rate.

We're talking, of course, about the lack of verandahs on the new homes. Gone are the long, wide porches with their easy chairs and hammock that did so much to promote romance. What remains, if anything, is a pokey little appendage with hardly enough room on it for a boy to kiss a girl goodnight.

Now, a generation ago things were different. A young man could spend a long evening on the front porch, sip lemonade, and even get in a little of what now is called smooching when the old folks went to bed. If he couldn't make up his mind about marriage on one of those verandahs with large trees shading it he's probably still a bachelor.

But who can make love on a modern patio with her folks probably gaping out the picture window and the neighbors just over the hedge?

There are cars, of course, and the drive-in movies, but it's getting harder every year to find a quiet place to park and it's harder still at a drive-in to keep a girl's attention away from the handsome actors on the screen.

Yes, bring back the old verandah and we wouldn't have to worry so much about immigrants to fill the country.

Nature's Screechers

We were talking, Bob Garfat and I, about superstitions. Bob had come in to listen to some hi-fi recordings but spent most of his time gassing. I was trying to keep my attention on the music so that I missed much of what he had to say. But I perked up my ears when he got onto superstitions and quoted the old supplication:

"From ghosties and ghoulies, and long-legged beasties,
And things that gae bump i' the nicht,
Guid Laird deliver us!"

"There's reason to believe that little gem once formed part of an old Scottish litany," he said, sucking on his juicy briar pipe.

"But you won't find it in any of the old prayer books," I told him. "And you won't find it listed in Bartlett's Quotations, either. I wonder where it did come from?"

"I wouldn't be at all surprised if it didn't originate with my ancestors." Bob put in. "They were all nervous wrecks, as I recall. If they weren't afraid of the dark, they were scared by their own shadows. Worst of all, they had so many phobias they couldn't control them by themselves and had to pass them on to future generations. My mother was the most jittery woman I ever knew, and she tried her utmost to make A-1 neurotics of all us children."

He fell silent for a moment and we listened to the soothing strains of piano music by Carmen Cavallaro. Then he started again.

"It's funny how frightened we are of the unseen; funnier still how we recoil from the known. Take my sister Ruth, for example. She used to be terrified of dew worms. Dreamed horrible nightmares about them and woke up night after night screaming that she was being pursued by masses of them. And no matter how hard we tried, we couldn't shake her fears."

"Well," I said, "some of Nature's creatures are a bit terrifying. Take the . . . "

Bob cut me short by holding up his hand and leaning forward.

"Hush a minute. There goes the fire siren!"

We listened intently. Sure enough, far in the distance we heard the high-pitched scream of the banshee that tells of fires in the village.

"Three short and one long," Bob mused. "That means it's somewhere in this area. What say we go and see what's up?"

Shutting off the hi-fi set, we gathered our coats and turned out the lights. We were just on the point of leaving when the nurse burst through the door and shot past me.

"Bats, bats, bats! ! " she shrilled. "Oh don't let them come in here after me!"

She crouched behind me and tried to recover her faculties.

"Now what's all the fuss?" I asked. "Where are the bats and how many are there?"

"I don't know," she puffed. "I was sitting in the living-room with the matron and it swooshed right behind us and . . . "

Here she produced another ear-splitting shriek and ducked down behind me.

"Oh, merciful heavens, he's in here now!"

And sure enough, one poor little thing was busily flapping about, trying desperately to get out of my cluttered kitchen. He contrived to escape from that quarter and disappeared into my bedroom. Mrs. Green made the best of the opportunity and scuttled down the hall to her bedroom. Slamming the door behind her, she called back:

"Don't you dare let that monster out again till I get this fanlight closed."

While she wrestled with the transom, I batted a short innings with the flittermouse in my bedroom. The fourth swing with the kitchen mop felled him and with Mrs. Green watching from a safe distance, I disposed of the lifeless body in the bathroom plumbing.

"Guess I was wrong," Bob murmured as he rose to go when quiet reigned once more. "Seems as though the known is far more terrifying than the unseen."

At the door, Bob paused to light his pipe.

"Lucky those gals didn't see the bat during working hours," he said. "They would have had every workman from here to Halifax downing tools for lunch with those whistle blasts. Good night!"

Gardener Suggests Revised Calendar to Re-adjust Seasons

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

St. Andrews East, Que.

Dear Mr. Editor:

I wonder if I could encroach a little on your time to give you an idea which has recently occurred to me. I have not talked about it (maybe I was afraid of being laughed at for a crank) — I am not a professor of Mathemtical Calculus, therefore I am unable to go into all the scientific problems involved.

The Calendar seems to have got ahead of the seasons, and we amateur gardeners mostly sow our seeds by the calendar — this year, with woeful results! Well, here is my idea. In the year 1958 we have two Februarys for that year only, and then revert back to the 12 months on the calendar as at present; this would bring the calendar, which is man-made, more in line with the seasons, which are God-made. I might say I have had a letter from Percy Saltzman (Tabloid weather-man) to whom I confided my idea, and he seems to be quite intrigued.

Thanking you for at least reading this,

Yours truly,
— G. Percy Hall

SALMON ENDANGERED

Concern is being felt over the effects on the salmon of the spruce budworm spraying operations. Fishery and forestry officials have been trying to find a solution. It is obviously impossible to spray an area as big as New Brunswick and keep away from the rivers and streams.

WOULD LIMIT ACCESS TO BIG NEW HIGHWAY

Halifax (CP) — A new phase — ribbon development — has been injected into trans-Canada highway development and it's an evil to guard against, said E. G. Allen, New Brunswick planning board chairman.

Indiscriminate diversion roads to suburban sub-divisions can be expected along the trans-Canada route unless they are controlled, he said "without some protection, ribbon developments will only breed more ribbon developments, and money spent on the diversions will be wasted." New sub-divisions should have properly-designed access to the highway, he said.

CHATS ABOUT CHICKENS

Dilute the Disease Dose

If you should happen to toss off a glass of straight strychnine sometime, your heirs would find out that straight poison made you pretty sick. Just one little drink will put you in and out of misery.

However, you could throw several gallons of strychnine in the Ottawa River and it wouldn't kill many fish. Unless you drank several million gallons of this water you wouldn't get enough strychnine to even make you sick.

Dilution is one reason why we recommend clean range and deep litter. Ranging chickens on clean ground dilutes the disease germs and bugs so that a bird won't pick up very many at a time. If raised in small places, there gets to be quite a crowd of bugs and germs. One good mouthful can hold enough bugs and germs to kill or seriously injure the bird. . . And that doesn't sound like a very good way to make money to me.

When your birds start the summer on a clean, widespread range, they'll circulate around. If a bird is carrying bugs, she'll not deposit too many in any one spot. Moving the range shelters occasionally, helps dilute the bugs too.

Feeding PURINA CHOWS and using PURINA SANITATION PRODUCTS also helps to keep down disease with faster, more economical growth. Better order a supply today. We deliver.

NEW WHOOPERS

North America's Whooping Crane No. 32 popped out of its egg at the Audubon Park Zoo at New Orleans last week. No. 31 was hatched three days earlier — first ever hatched at a zoo. The parents, Josephine and Crip, are the only whooping cranes in captivity.

A MESSAGE FOR FARMERS

If you have lived in two or three different farming communities, you've made an interesting discovery about Massey-Harris-Ferguson dealers. All of them know, as we do, that an efficient service department will bring them a lot of customers. To the farmer, once he's bought a GOOD piece of machinery, nothing is more important than the care it gets. Haying, planting and harvesting just can't wait for machines that are in the repair shop. So we've taken the trouble to build our business around the idea of service. Come to us with ALL your farm machinery problems. We'll make sure they get the fastest, most efficient attention possible.

Feast of Oratory At Joint Meeting

He asked the Hon. W. M. Cottingham to answer the following questions for the citizens of the County: "By what law do you substitute a non-elected deputy here to represent you while you are absent from the County? . . . For a long time we have needed a hospital; what have you done about it?" He then mentioned a letter received by Omer Boudreau, local contractor, stating that his tender for the construction of a gymnasium in Huberdeau was not accepted, adding evidence to the fact that the local contractor had not submitted such a tender, and that he had not been able to find out who had forged his name in submitting the document.

Georges Duhamel, Independent Union Nationale candidate, opened by stating: "You all know I am a victim of Mr. Cottingham," and enquired of the Minister of Mines why he demanded money for the electoral fund and why local schools and roads were constructed by strangers from outside the county.

"Before coming to Argenteuil," he said, "I knew nothing of the electoral fund, and I worked for the Union Nationale Government. I am not talking against Premier Duplessis or the Hon. Paul Sauvé, both of whom are friends of mine, but I am taking up the fight against the 'two deputies' of this County. They say, ladies and gentlemen, that they give you roads, schools, bridges; they give you nothing, it is all money that you have paid in taxes. Ask the municipalities in the County, and the School Commissions, how much they have received from the local deputy. We pay taxes because things cost too much."

In closing his brief address he stated that he had considerable more to say, but that Mr. Gosselin had said it all for him; he added a humorous note that he was "supporting himself and did not have sufficient money to pay other orators" to talk for him.

Speaking in favor of the Union Nationale party and the Hon. W. M. Cottingham were Dr. G. E. Turgeon; Gilbert Arnold, County Warden; and Gaston Laurier, Mayor of Huberdeau, who made the rebuttal on behalf of the Minister of Mines.

John Long, Montreal advocate, and Philippe Valois, M.P. for Argenteuil-Deux Montagnes, spoke on behalf of the Liberal candidate, Bernard Gosselin.

Mr. Duhamel exercised his privilege in briefly reviewing his platform and declaring that he was not being paid by any party.

Pretty Wedding At St. Simeon's

McKiddie - Welden

On Saturday, June 2, at St. Simeon's Anglican Church, Lachute, Miss Joyce Hester Dorothy Welden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Welden, of Lachute, was married to Kenneth William John McKiddie, son of Stanley McKiddie, of Lachute, and of the late Mrs. McKiddie.

The Rev. Cyrus Lang performed the ceremony. Mrs. James Pollock was organist and Mrs. Arnold Parker was soloist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a model gown of tulle lace, with fitted bodice and Queen Anne neckline, appliqued with lace roses and embroidered in tiny seed pearls and irridescent sequins. The full skirt had a front panel of nylon and lace, with tiers of scalloped lace over tulle around the sides. An irridescent sequin cap held her fingertip veil, and she carried a cascade bouquet of red roses and white carnations.

Miss Shirley Welden, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and the attendants were the Misses Evelyn, Roseann and Lona Welden, all sisters of the bride. They were dressed alike in ankle-length nylon lace and tulle dresses. They wore matching caps. The maid of honor was in aqua and carried a cascade bouquet of gladioli. The other attendants, Evelyn in yellow, Roseann in lilac, and Lona in pink, also carried cascade bouquets of yellow gladioli.

Mrs. Welden, mother of the bride, wore a gown of navy blue crystalette with a navy Milan hat and navy blue accessories. A corsage of red roses completed her ensemble. Mrs. Filoon, grandmother of the bride, was attired in navy blue taffeta, with a matching embroidered taffeta duster coat. Her corsage was of yellow roses.

Mr. Mason McAdam was the best man, and the ushers were Mr. Maynard McKiddie, brother of the groom, and Messrs. James and John Welden, brothers of the bride.

Following the ceremony, a dinner was served in the Lachute Legion Hall, during which telegrams were read from the groom's aunt in England and friends of the bride in Saskatchewan. A toast was also proposed by Mr. McAdam to the bride's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dixon — Saturday being the occasion of their fifth wedding anniversary. After the dinner the guests proceeded to the Welden home, where the many gifts were viewed and a pleasant evening was enjoyed in visiting for the older folks and dancing for the younger guests.

Out-of-town guests included the groom's sister, Mr. and Mrs. Phillips, of Calgary, others from New York City, Rutland, Mendon, Vt., Hawkesbury, Vankleek Hill, Calumet, Arundel and Pte. au Chene.

Ontario Wedding Of Interest Here

Menendez - Wishart

Bridge Street United Church, at Belleville, was the scene of a wedding, of interest in these parts, on Saturday, May 26, when the Rev. H. M. Davis, B.A., B.D., united in marriage Elspeth Ann Wishart, of Belleville, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Wishart, to Charles James Menendez, of Cornwall, Ont., son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cambier Menendez. Baskets of pink and white gladioli and Canterbury bells and lighted candlebra formed a beautiful background for the ceremony. Mr. S. Alec Gordon played the organ.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was charming in her bridal gown of blush pink silk organza and taffeta, fashioned with bodice of Chantilly lace from her mother's wedding gown. The full length bouffant skirt of silk organza over taffeta was accented by Chantilly lace paniers. She wore a lace cap and waist-length veil and carried a cascade bouquet of white gladioli, stephanotis and Sweetheart roses.

Miss Carol Wishart, of Belleville, sister of the bride, as maid of honor; Mrs. Allen Kelley of Montreal, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Patricia Curry, of Nassau, cousin of the bridegroom, as bridesmaids, were gowned alike in street length organza over taffeta in harmonizing shades of mauve and rose, with matching headdresses and carrying matching cascade bouquets of 'mums, Canterbury bells and trailing ivy.

Dr. Walter Waddell, of Ottawa, attended the bridegroom and Mr. Donald Beavis, Ottawa, Mr. Allen Kelley, of Montreal, Mr. John Graham, of Toronto, and Mr. Murdock McPhaden, of Ottawa, were ushers.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church parlors.

For the wedding trip to Nassau, Bahamas, the bride chose a printed silk dress of blue and pink with fitted plain blue silk coat, pink accesories, and cluster corsage of roses and lemon leaves. Upon their return, Mr. and Mrs. Menendez will reside in Cornwall.

Guests were present from Toronto, Ottawa, Whitby, Cushing, Quebec; Washington, Penna, Arnprior, Montreal, Hawkesbury, Midland, Nassau and Deep River.

The bride is a granddaughter of Mrs. Wm. Usher, Cushing. Prior to her marriage she was entertained in Ottawa and Belleville at several functions tendered by relatives and friends.

AMONG THE CHURCHES

Lachute Baptist Church Celebrates Its 70th Anniversary

Fine crowds attended the celebration held in Lachute Baptist Church to commemorate the beginning of its work in this district.

The Rev. G. W. Searle, of Lindsay, Ont., was speaker for the occasion. On Sunday evening he spoke from the familiar parable of the Lost Sheep. On Monday evening a challenge was brought from the text, "Who then is willing to consecrate his service this day unto the Lord?" Special music was provided by local talent, and as an extra, the singing of Mrs. G. W. Searle.

An excellent supper was served to the members and friends on Monday evening, by the ladies of the congregation. After the supper a service was conducted in the church. At that service a special offering of nearly $300 was received to help in the building of a church hall.

Luncheon was served by the Arundel Ladies' Aid. Mr. J. Stern, minister of Arundel United Church, gave a short address regarding "Confusion in our present-day world, and the solution." Three ladies from Lachute took part in a skit on "Stewardship".

The guest speaker for the day was Miss Bessie French, W.M.S. worker at Colombo House, Montreal. Her topic was "Impact and Outreach of Home Missions," telling about her experience in the work to which she is dedicated.

The rally for 1957 is to be held at Cushing.

New Pastor Here for People's Church

The Rev. C. W. Sorley, who commenced his ministry here last Sunday with the People's Church, following a lengthy service of 23 years at the Missionary Tabernacle in Kitchener, Ont.

Challenging Appraisal by Dr. Florence Murray Of South Korea

Those privileged to hear Dr. Florence Murray at Lachute, Grenville or Brownsburg on Sunday last, could not have been otherwise than thrilled, and in turn concerned, with what she said at these United Church services. — Thrilled to know that missionary work is still foremost in the thoughts of some dedicated people; and concerned, to realize that financial resources are lacking and support meagre from the average church member. — Thrilled to know there are men and women like Dr. Murray, who, after spending 35 valuable years in missionary fields, can still find sufficient energy to "sell" missions to fellow church people; concerned to find comforts in our own midst, and destitution in far-off, needy lands.

At Lachute on Sunday, Dr. Murray spoke to the Sunday School children, to the younger members at the service, and then again during the sermon-talk. She told of her earlier work in North Korea before the North-South war, and of enormous problems in the land today. With the government faced with using 80% of its income for defence, there is little left for social services, schools and education, or hospitals.

Christian churches are naturally interested in bettering conditions for these unfortunate people, and are using their buildings for these purposes day and night. With the shortage of water and power, her own hospital staff in Seule are compelled to do the washing by 4 a.m. so as to conserve these commodities.

Faced with a multitude of problems, the churches at the moment are concentrating on three major enterprises — TB. Assistance, Children's Feeding Centres, and Rehabilitation Help. With regard to the former, Dr. Murray said there were 400,000 cases of tuberculosis in South Korea, with practically no sanatorium facilities, so that nurses and aids are being trained to cope with the problem by home-helping service. Due to low nutritional conditions, mothers are faced with grim prospects in the feeding of their children, so again, Christian enterprise is to the fore, providing children's feeding centres.

Citing many heart-breaking true stories of post-war Korea, Dr. Murray spoke of the important work of rehabilitating the sufferers who have lost sight and limbs during the conflict, and of the renewed faith of people who have been helped with artificial arms and legs, and training they have had for self-employment.

A challenge was issued to her hearers, as she contrasted the comforts of our homes and churches in Canada, and the contrasting standard of living between Canadians and millions of people of other lands. She said it was hard to reconcile beautifully decorated churches with the need of the people in missionary-helped lands, and of the many homes that have electrical accessories of all kinds, while its occupants give possibly less than 25 cents a week to missions.

Of particular challenge to the United Church, she observed this was often called a strong and progressive church; but sometimes, Dr. Murray thought that there was room for concern. After 35 years in the missionary field, she had seen the number of missionary workers in her church depleted from over 600 to around 400 at the present time. This final challenge was directed to the younger members among her hearers.

The service was conducted by the minister, the Rev. Wilson Bridge, who introduced the missionary-speaker.

Brownsb'g Regains Top Position in Baseball League

(Our District Correspondent)

Brownsburg Tigers clambered into top spot in the league again as they trounced Montebello, the erstwhile leaders, 8-2 behind the 5-hit pitching of Ronald Cousineau. Zag gave up two hits in the first inning, which cost him two runs, then blanked Montebello on three more hits the rest of the way.

On the ball, Yves Raymond continued to star, hitting three for three and crossing the plate three times. He is now hitting a fantastic .643. Mel Tomalty and Buddy Racine had two hits apiece and all but Edgar Joly hit safely. Edgar managed to score one run in the three times he got on base.

Afield, Keith Hazel, Mel Tomalty and Jacques Racine put up their usual iron curtain, and Yves Raymond sparkled in the outfield. André Ouellette turned in a fine job behind the plate, and although hitting only one for four, batted in three runs.

Besides topping the league, Yves Raymond is the league's top batsman and Ronald Cousineau leads in won-lost (3-0) and earned-run average (0.67).

This week the Tigers journey to Papineauville in quest of victory number 4, but on Friday night the Café Marquise is holding a benefit dance to raise funds for new uniforms.

Colford Lodge Defeats Hotel Hebert 10-1

Last Sunday Colford Lodge started off the new season right by giving Hotel Hebert a sound beating. Jean Guy Larocque struck out eleven and pitched a three hitter for his first win. Trevor Holmes and Arthur Denault were both outstanding for the winners. Colford scored all their runs in the second and fourth innings, five in each as Hebert's infield made error after error. Larocque was in trouble once and that being in the last inning. He loaded the bases with nobody out, but then worked himself out of it nicely, allowing Hebert's only run. Nap Tessier was the losing pitcher.

Next Sunday Colford Lodge plays host to 131 Battery, Royal Canadian Artillery of Lachute. Game time 2 p.m.

Lachute High School Sports and Social News

By Eileen Dwyer

On Friday morning, June 1, the annual assembly was held to distribute athletic badges and trophies, and activities badges. Mr. R. Bailly was emcee, and presented the Senior and Intermediate girls' basketball teams with their badges. Mr. A. Petersen handed badges to the Senior and Intermediate boys' teams, and to the Midget teams. Mr. Dixon gave the hockey teams their badges, and Mr. Robinson gave some to the boys' softball team. The Senior girls' softball team also received badges as did the members of the Students' Council.

Audrey Copeland received the trophy for the girl most valuable on the Senior basketball team. Betty Underhill was presented with the Best Girl Athlete trophy. Mr. J. MacGibbon gave each of the girls a trophy by which they may remember Lennoxville and their championship games there. Mr. R. A. Giles presented Duncan MacTavish with the trophy for the most valuable player in Senior hockey. Reggie Stansfield was congratulated on his fine gymnastic feats. Duncan MacTavish was selected best boy athlete of the year. Cups were also presented to the winners of track-and-field. These were — A. Copeland, D. Holt, A. FitzGerald, M. O'Brien, W. Laurin and W. McDonald.

On Saturday, at Brownsburg, the Senior boys' softball team came second in the O.V.S.A.A. league tournament. Hawkesbury won the tournament.

At the same time, in Windsor, Reggie Stansfield (15) came second in the Eastern Canada gymnastics tournament, in which he was the only teen-ager. The winner was 34 years of age — proof of Reggie's ability. This was good work, and with a summer of practice he hopes to compete in the Dominian tournament which will be held next fall. His fellow pupils are all proud of him!

Chicago Black Hawks are at it again. National Hockey League doormat for eight of the last 10 seasons, the Windy City club has unravelled its bankroll in another attempt to produce a winning combination.

The Hawks' owners are making an annual event out of their efforts to present a balanced hockey team which can battle it out with the leaders. This off-season is no different. Hawks recently paid $100,000 to Toronto Maple Leafs and Montreal Canadiens for seven players. The "name" player among the newcomers is goalie Harry Lumley of Owen Sound, Ont., who was with Chicago for two seasons before his four-year stint with Leafs.

The circumstances in which Lumley joins the Hawks this time, however, are very different to 1950 when he went to Chicago as a star goalkeeper. The experts around the NHL figure purchased Lumley this time mainly for trading bait.

They say that he'll be wearing a New York Rangers sweater before next season rolls around.

Chicago coach Dick Irvin, however, won't go for that report. He says Lumley will be given a fair chance to become the regular Chicago goal-tender.

Battle for Goal

"It should be a darned good battle between Lumley and Al Rollins to see who gets the job," Irvin said after the deal with Leafs had been completed. Rollins went to Chicago at the start of the 1952-53 campaign after serving with Leafs for three seasons. While with Hawks he won the Hart Trophy as the most valuable player to his team in 1953-54.

Rollins and Lumley will both be 30 next fall. "I know they're the two oldest goalies in the league," Irvin said. "But there is a lot of good hockey left in them. Their reflexes might not be as fast and they might not be as keen, but they are cooler than some of the younger goalers.

"They definitely have a good year left in them and it's going to be hard to choose between them."

Irvin said whichever goalkeeper showed the most potential in fall training would be retained and the other would be used for trading material.

Besides Lumley, Hawks bought five forwards and a defenceman to strengthen the team. Eric Nesterenko was included in the $40,000-deal which sent Lumley to Chicago. The right-winger jumped to Leafs from Toronto Mariboros of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A Series late in the season of 1952-53. He remained there until midway through last term when he was farmed out to Winnipeg Warriors of the Western Hockey League.

Golf This Sunday, TV from Palm Beach

CBC-TV will carry the NBC telecast of the 15th annual Palm Beach Golf Tournament on Sunday, June 10, from 4.00 - 5.30 p.m. Sam Snead, defending champion, will head a field of 16 golfers. The telecast will cover the last four holes of the match.

Snead won the inaugural Palm Beach tourney in 1938 and carried off the title again in 1952, 1954 and 1955. He is the only golfer who has competed in all 14 of the round-robin events. The only other former winner in this year's field is Lloyd Mangrum, the 1950 victor.

The other participants are P.G.A. champion Doug Ford, Masters champion Jackie Burke, British Open champion Peter Thomson, of Australia, English veteran Henry Cotton, Tommy Bolt, Bob Rosburg, Gene Littler, Mike Souchak, Ted Kroll, Billy Maxwell, Fred Haas, Fred Hawkins, Dow Finsterwald and Art Wall.

Electors of Argenteuil:

BERNARD GOSSELIN,
Liberal Candidate

Once again, I am the Liberal Candidate for Argenteuil and will in all liberty permit you to judge those who have administered the County of Argenteuil since 1952, and to judge Mr. Duplessis, the despot, who thinks he is almighty and who isolates our province from the rest of Canada.

Why do Messrs. Duplessis and Cottingham:

- Direct their appeals to foreign capital in the development of our mines and natural resources instead of encouraging our industrial growth thus bringing prosperity to the people of Quebec?
- Why do they keep a strong grip on the municipalities and school boards?
- Not want to give to the people of our Province the Hospitalization Insurance Plan, thus helping the ordinary man in case of sickness?
- Impose heavy taxes and difficult conditions that prevent many industries from establishing themselves in our Province and County, so bringing work and ease to our people?
- Why have they neglected to improve our road conditions? The design and quality of our highways and country roads do not compare favorably with our neighbors, thus discouraging tourists, local trade and industrial growth?
- Have imposed laws that are not observed, like the one concerning margarine. Are they trying to pull the wool over the eyes of our farmers?
- Why do they not help the farmer by providing a much needed Farm Credit Bureau and Marketing Board which would permit them to dispose of their products and help them buy their grain and fertilizers at a reasonable price?
- Why do they oppose the construction of the Trans-Canada Highway?
- Impose new taxes upon the taxpayers of Quebec thus increasing the cost of living in Quebec which is higher than anywhere else in Canada?
- Preach Provincial Autonomy but in the same breath take over absolute control of our municipalities and school boards?
- Degrade themselves by voting Bill 34, thus permitting them to control the counties which they cannot win honestly?
- Spend millions of dollars on the eve of elections on poor construction, jobs that will have to be rebuilt the following year, always with the money of the taxpayers?
- Spread a reign of terror all over our Province and County? Does it mean that they are afraid of losing the battle?
- It is against all these abuses that I ask you to vote and I solicit your vote so that the County of Argenteuil will join the rest of the Province in the Liberal Victory of June 20th.

Cars ARE MY Line

by ARMAND DESROSIERS

Gas and oil are two items of car care most people look after religiously. People still seem to run out of gas occasionally (I guess a lot of girls still haven't caught on), and sometimes pass the 1000 miles and the oil is still sticking around (and I do mean sticking).

Of the simple things, though, I think the battery gets over-looked more than anything else.

In hot weather, it's a good idea to have the generator output adjusted before starting on long trips. Overcharging is harmful to the battery. In winter, on the other hand, you should recharge the battery frequently because an undercharged battery may freeze and crack.

The water level, of course, should always be over the plates of the battery. Which reminds me of a little trick that might prove useful. If you know the battery needs water and you can't find any distilled water break some of the frost off your refrigerator freezing unit and thaw it out. It's perfect for the job.

It's pretty obvious that good care is important in keeping the value in a car. Just as important is the selection of a sound automobile in the first place; do that and half the battle is over. We're particularly well equipped to win that battle for you, with a lot of thoroughly tested cars and experienced men to help get the most miles and most service out of them.

Varied Topics for Radio Matinee Program

Co-Educational Camping — A Good Idea?

Should a child who is an individualist be sent to camp? Is Co-educational camping a good idea? Betty Shapiro attended a recent conference on camping in Montreal and next Monday, on "Trans-Canada Matinee", she will be heard interviewing some of the experts who were there, including O. N. H. Owens, president of the Quebec Camping Association, and Dr. Taylor Statten, psychiatrist at the Montreal Children's Hospital and director of a well-known summer camp in Ontario.

On Tuesday, Ronald Hambleton will give the first of a series of reports prepared after his recent visit to England with a tape-recorder. One of the first persons he met in London was a "clippie", a woman bus conductor, and he makes her the subject of his program, playing back a conversation recorded with her on board a big double-decker bus while it was moving along. In a later program Hambleton will describe his experiences when he went along with a guide who was showing the sights of London to a group of American tourists.

Another new series starts on "Matinee" on Wednesday afternoon. The speaker is Watson Thomson, an English lecturer at the University of British Columbia who has had practical experience in the business of home-making. His first talk called "Father Keeps House". The title of next week's is "Equality Begins at Home."

A short-story writer who lives in Victoria, Floris McLaren, has arranged and will read sections of a book called "Two Women of the Klondike," on "Matinee" starting June 11. The book was written at the turn of the century, by Mrs. Mary Hitchcock, widow of an American admiral. It records her experiences with a companion during a trip to the Klondike in 1898.

The "Matinee" music on Tuesdays and Thursdays is being provided currently by contralto Jean Macleod, daughter of a once-famous interpreter of Scottish songs and herself a singer of note. Accompanied by her husband, who is Lorne Betts, principal of the Hamilton Conservatory of Music, she sings mainly Scottish songs of the Hebrides and Cape Breton and Maori songs of New Zealand where she was born.

Koster and Son

Not all of Wally Koster's singing is heard by CBC Television viewers; sometimes he croons for the sole benefit of his son, Wally, Jr. The little gaffer, we are told, will make his first plunge into the world of singing on June 17, by way of surprising his pop on Father's Day.

Bersimis Development Featured on Television

Eighty-five miles inland from Forestville on the north shore of the St. Lawrence, Quebec Hydro is completing a massive construction project which will harness 1,200,000 horse-power of electricity from the turbulent waters of the Bersimis River. As part of the project, a seven-mile tunnel over 30 feet has been driven right through the heart of the mountains to the generating station, which also has been excavated out of solid rock. Eight giant turbines, said to be the most powerful generating units in existence, will produce the much-needed power for the homes and industries of Montreal. On June 10, "Here and There" on CBC-TV will present a filmed history of the Bersimis project, watching the men at work on its various phases and visiting their centres of social life and recreation in the Town of Labrieville which has been established for the people who are building the installation and for those who will man it in operation.

Juvenile Art-and-Craft Display Seen on Television

Youthful pupils of Miss Janine Leroux exhibited their season's efforts recently in the basement of the Knights of Columbus Hall. The display was drawn to the attention of Montreal TV Station CBFT, which sent a crew to film the exhibit; the feature was viewed with interest on the local TV screens the following evening.

Free Power

Windmill-driven generators in Swedish villages can keep as many as 1,000 60-watt lights burning.

An old man dropped something in the theatre and began making a great fuss hunting about on the floor.

"What did you drop?" asked the usher.

"A caramel," replied the old man.

"What?" cried the usher. "You're making all this fuss over a caramel?"

"Yes," snapped the old man. "My teeth are in it!"

THE BOULEVARD OF BROKEN PROMISES

Duplessis promised to abolish the provincial sales tax, but instead of that he increased it.
As a result, it costs more to drive a car in Quebec than in any other part of Canada. A two-door Chevrolet 1956 sedan costs:

In Montreal: $2,380	In Toronto: $2,380
Sales tax 119	Sales tax Nil
$2,499	$2,380

If you take into account the purchase price of normal accessories, the car buyer in Quebec pays $200 more than in Ontario.

The gasoline tax was increased by Duplessis in 1947 from 8 to 13 cents per gallon. It is only 11 cents in Ontario, 9 cents in Manitoba, 11 cents in Saskatchewan, 10 cents in British Columbia.

The automobile driver therefore pays 2 cents a gallon more for his gasoline than in Ontario.

By the same token, it costs more for license plates and drivers' licenses in Quebec.

Plates for the Chevrolet described above.

QUEBEC	ONTARIO
$24.10	$10.00

Driver's license.

QUEBEC	ONTARIO
$2.50	$1.00

And while the automobile owner is being fleeced in this manner, the roads upon which he must drive are in disgraceful condition. Where and for what purpose has the money gone which the Highways Department has spent?

Teatime Topics

Written Specially for The Lachute Watchman

By Oli Daum, Canadian Press Staff Writer

Perhaps women who claim they can forecast the weather by the way their corns ache can do just that.

Certainly just about any predictions they made this spring would be as accurate as those of the weatherman, whom the elements did their best to confuse.

But if the women's predictions ever proved accurate their methods are not to be lauded.

A Toronto shoe expert says women shouldn't have foot ailments, but that 90 per cent of Canadian women suffer because they are unreasonable.

Gordon Clapp, who has been in the shoe business for nearly 40 years, says they usually insist that shoes fit as snugly as a glove.

He said vanity leads 75 per cent of women to buy dress shoes rather than a sensible walking shoe. The dainty shoe is ideal for special occasions but worn continually causes foot ailments of varying degrees.

He said properly fitted shoes are slightly larger than the foot, exerting no pressure on joints and allowing free circulation.

Full House

A Roberval, Que., mother has given birth to her seventh set of twins in nine years. Doctors believe Mrs. Paul-Emile Tremblay, 33, has set a record.

She had two sets of twin boys two sets of twin girls and three sets of a boy and a girl each. There were also two single births.

No doubt every day is washday at the Tremblay household.

Person to Person

Mrs. J. E. Houck, Brampton, Ont., mother of five, has been appointed to a three-year term as governor of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation.

A native of Wisconsin, she became a naturalized Canadian 19 years ago and has been active in public affairs ever since.

Last year Mrs. Houck, a Women's Institute member for 30 years, was Canada's only woman delegate to the United Nations Assembly.

New Combination With Halibut

Almost anyone can give a good description of a trout, a bass or a herring but it takes someone living close to the sea to give a good description of a halibut. The reason for this is the halibut's large size which varies anywhere from ten pounds to several hundred pounds, making a show case display of the whole fish unusual. For the most part the halibut's firm, white meat is marketed as cross section slices of the fish, referred to as steaks.

Halibut are caught in both the North Pacific and North Atlantic Oceans. The largest percentage of the catch, however, comes from the North Pacific where the fishery is regulated by an International Commission. Most of the Pacific halibut is caught in the month of June. Good hauls of Atlantic halibut are also made at this time. So, now is the time to enjoy those succulent, fresh halibut steaks. Bake, broil, or fry them. Serve them with or without sauces.

Here's a new suggestion from the home economists of Canada's Department of Fisheries. Give the steaks a topping of chopped, green onions and thick, sour cream. Then, "poach" them in a moderate oven. The flavor combination of the steaks, onion and sour cream is delicious. Incidentally the sour cream does two things for the fish — adds a desirable tartness and the necessary fat for baking. Dairies supply it in ½-pint containers.

Country Style Halibut

2 Pounds of halibut, sliced 1-inch thick; salt and pepper; ½ cup finely chopped green onions and their tops; ½ pint thick sour cream.

Season the steaks and place them in a shallow, greased, baking dish. Cover them with finely chopped green onions and tops. Spread with thick, sour cream. Bake uncovered in a moderate oven at 350°F., for 30 minutes. — Makes 6 servings.

COUNTRY STYLE HALIBUT — A snow-white blanket of sour cream with green onion tops peeping through makes a most attractive and flavorful topping for these halibut steaks.

Sandwiches for Teas And Receptions

No need to consult the calendar to be reminded that June is here, with all of the teas, receptions and garden parties that are going on around us! Many of the activities are honoring new brides or brides-to-be and of course the food that is served must be dainty and attractive, like the bride herself.

Sandwiches are a very important part of the food at most of these social affairs and they need not be extravagant to be good. Three or four simple kinds of sandwiches are usually enough when served with a few fancy ones to dress up the plates and brown and rye breads used along with white add interest to the assortment. Sweet loaves like date, nut and fruit bread, all good with cheese or sweet fillings, are also very tasty when thinly sliced and simply spread with butter.

Serving Sandwiches

In serving dainty sandwiches, several kinds are usually put on the same plate but it is best to group all the same kind together. They may be separated by sprigs or parsley, olives or small pickles which make an edible garnish. Fancy sandwiches show up to better advantage if they are placed not too close together on the plate or tray — they should never be stacked on top of one another as plain sandwiches sometimes are. Very often a centrepiece appears on a tray of sandwiches. It might be a head of lettuce or cabbage, cantaloupe, grapefruit or manufactured pick holder studded with toothpicks which hold colored pickled onions, stuffed olives, black olives, carrot curls, small pieces of celery stuffed with cheese, or other colorful and tasty pickles or vegetables.

For a Consumer Section leaflet telling how to make several kinds of fancy sandwiches and giving suggestions for fillings and quantities of food required for serving 50 people, write to the Information Service, Canada Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, and ask for a copy of "The Art of Making Sandwiches."

PEAS

Here are suggestions from the Consumer Section, Canada Department of Agriculture for using Canned Peas:

1. Head drained canned peas in a little cream. Season with salt and pepper and serve garnished with crisp bacon bits. Save the vegetable liquid to use in gravy or soup.

2. Serve hot canned peas with butter and chopped pimento — attractive and tasty, too!

3. Add canned peas to creamed potatoes, onions or cauliflower as well as to casseroles and creamed meat dishes.

4. Heat well-drained canned peas in mashed potato cups to serve with a roast.

These may be made up ahead of time, then popped from refrigerator to oven just in time to brown before serving.

Kippers for Canada

A smell is earning dollars for Britain — the smell of kippers. Canada has developed a taste for kippers but it seems that fish curers there have not been able to produce the same strong tang. So, large consignments are being shipped from this country.

Lithe Line

Cool and comfortable and ever so right for pleasant summer dancing is this dress of pin-tucked sheer cotton. The bodice has a halter neckline and buttons to the waist in a neatly snug line. FOR PARENTS ONLY...

A Weekly Feature of Helpful Hints on Child Training

Satisfactory Baby Sitter

(Copyright) — By NANCY CLEAVER —

Mothers of small children are among the hardest working people in a Canadian community. Their hours are long and strenuous. For the sake of their health and mental poise, they must from time to time employ a sitter, and thus have a brief holiday from their tasks.

When mother delegates her responsibility for a short time to someone else, she must feel confident that the sitter is a suitable person. What should a mother look for in the person of a satisfactory helper to mind her children in her absence? What are the qualifications for a baby sitter?

Parents want to know that their children are safe and they would like to feel that they are also happy. But the first requirement of a sitter is certainly that the child or children be kept from danger.

Careful parents are constantly checking to make sure that the home environment of babies and children is as free as possible from accident hazards. At the same time a sitter must be an alert person. No one can foresee what may happen to a baby or an active child! Always leave your phone number where you may be reached by your sitter.

The medicine cabinet should be out of reach and locked. But a sitter should not bury herself in a magazine and be quite oblivious to small Junior's attempt to climb up and pry open the forbidden door!

Mothers appreciate a baby sitter who acts like a responsible person — and takes the same care of the house as she would of her own. A sitter brings her own careless or careful habits with her. Marks of a well brought-up adolescent are unmistakable and are valued!

What about the minimum age level of a sitter? A very young girl should not have to act in an emergency. For that reason in some places age fourteen is suggested as the youngest age for a sitter. Age is not always a reliable standard because a fifteen-year-old, with several younger brothers and sisters, is likely to be more experienced in handling youngsters than many eighteen-year-old "only" girls.

It takes time and energy and good judgment to find a sitter who suits any particular home or family. One mother often recommends a sitter to another mother. A church group leader of adolescents sometimes mentions the names of possible sitters. Occasionally the "ad" section of the daily paper carries notices of people eager to offer their services to care for children, or parents searching for sitters.

An interview with a sitter and a check on at least two of her references, and on her health are essential before a sitter is engaged. By her promptness, her appearance, her voice and language, a mother can gain a fairly accurate picture of the prospective sitter's home background. The relationship between a mother and sitter is an intimate one. If the two are attracted to each other when they first meet, arrangements are more likely to work out in a satisfactory way for both employer and employee.

People, whether young or old, who are not keen about children, even if they are hard-pressed for money, should not be sitters. If they dislike their work they will not do it well. Children know instinctively whether or not another person is interested in them. They respond to kindness and affection as a flower turns to the sunshine.

A mother may fail to realize at once that a sitter is not genuinely fond of her child. But if the child's comments later reveal that he does not matter to the sitter, if he shows no desire to see her again, better part with the sitter at once and look for another one!

Sitters are expensive enough that it is worth while taking time to locate a satisfactory one. Then she must be treated with consideration, paid well and promptly so that she will want to continue being a "mother substitute" when needed.

"Pimiento Peas in Potato Nests" — makes nests of fluffy mashed potatoes, one or two for each person, depending on appetites. Fill the centres with creamed canned peas mixed with a little chopped pimiento.

June Is Dairy Month

For many years the slogan "June Is Dairy Month" has been seen by consumers of dairy products.

Dairy processors and distributors are constantly increasing their advertising and sales promotion expenditures in order to expand the domestic market for the milk production of Canada's 450,000 dairy farms.

A survey by the National Dairy Council of Canada reveals that this year dairy processors will spend nearly $5,000,000 to boost the consumption of all products. A further $300,000 is being spent by the Dairy Farmers of Canada in advertising and promoting the sale of dairy foods.

Milk production has increased by two billion pounds during the past five years and it is expected that this year will establish an all-time production record.

Fluid milk sales this year are running at more than twice the rate of population growth.

Sales of butter, process cheese, ice cream, evaporated milk and skim milk powder during the first quarter also exceed those of the same period a year ago.

Nearly one-half of Canada's milk production is used in the manufacture of butter. According to the Federal Department of Agriculture, the farmer receives 77 per cent of the retail price of butter, the highest pecentage return from any farm commodity.

Fluid milk accounts for 30 per cent of total production, cheese takes 6 per cent, evaporated milk and powdered milk 5 per cent and ice cream about 3 per cent.

The Dairy Industry contributes $900,000,000 a year to the Canadian economy.

TRIMMING HEDGES

According to nurserymen, any hedge should be trimmed on the top and sides at least once a year, from the time of planting until maturity. A hedge should be trimmed so that it's wider at the base than at the top, otherwise the lower branches will lose their foliage and become straggly because of reduced light.

Hedges may be trimmed at almost any time of year, except when the wood is frozen, or during a hot, dry spell in midsummer. Generally, trimming of hedges is done when active growth for the season is almost finished. Evergreen hedges complete their growth later than deciduous hedges.

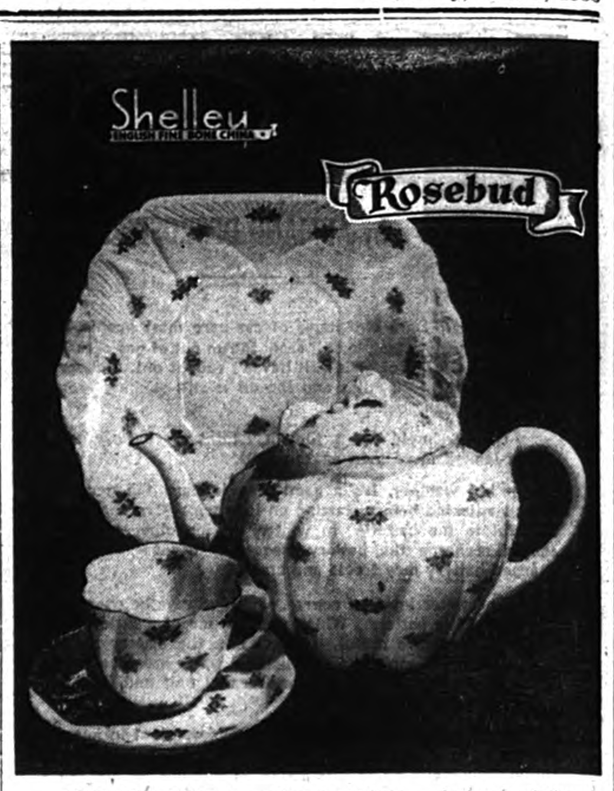

From the Winnipeg Tribune: "Winnipeg needs a completed TV network, so that viewers can get live TV from hither and yawn."

From the Martinsburg, W. Va. Journal: "With 23½ pints, the two ladies were high players in four tables of duplicate bridge."

Brighter Stars for Drive-in-Viewers

Your favorite movie star's smile beams three times as clear and bright from an aluminum screen recently developed for outdoor theatres.

The new screen has won the praise of both audiences and owners. Little wonder the latter like it: one operator found his receipts increased by $40,000 in two months after he replaced his conventional screen with the highly reflective, weather-proof aluminum job.

And so it goes . . . Still another improved product, still another use for this versatile modern metal. The result: everybody gains by production from Canadian smelters that already account for a quarter of the world's primary aluminum.

Salute to C.G.I.T.

Verses composed and presented by the Rev. Wilson Bridge at a recent C.G.I.T. banquet at Lachute United Church — published in response to several requests.

The time has come, as Jean has said,
To have a word from me,
As I reply to Janet's toast
For our C.G.I.T.

The reason I've been asked to speak
(I have good cause to fear)
Is all because, as you can see,
I am the parson here.

And at the banquet in this hall,
You've given me a place,
Because you'd like a word from me,
And have me say the grace.

To be your guest with Mrs. B.
In Spring or in the Fall,
Will always be a joy to me,
With you girls in this hall.

Our Janet, in a timely toast
To Church and Sunday School,
Has made us see — C.G.I.T.
Do love their Church and School.

Oh, you can search from north to south,
And search from east to west,
You'll never find a finer set,
For these girls are the best.

Their leaders, Annie — yes, and Jean,
Their praises oft are sung,
And this is carolled everywhere
By voices old and young.

The hours they spend, the work they do,
To help these girls to train,
The service they are rendering
Will be the Church's gain.

And when in sailor uniform
I see you two appear,
I feel like crying out to each
"How swell you look, my dear!"

Your uniforms of blue and white
Which we can plainly see,
Do serve but to enhance your charm,
And personality.

I thank you for the banquet here,
Upon this night of nights,
And for the pleasure we shall have
Beneath these shining lights.

So "Thank you! Annie," "Thank you! Jean"
And "Thank you! Janet dear,"
And "Thank you! C.G.I.T. girls,"
For all you've done this year.

— Rev. Wilson Bridge, Lachute

It's not unusual for repair bills to catch a family unprepared — and borrowing the necessary money is often a common and sensible solution.

In fact, nearly three quarters of a million families borrow money from Household Finance every year to pay overdue bills, repair bills, travel expenses . . . the kind of expenses you may face yourself right now.

HFC loans are prompt and convenient. You can get $50 to $1000 with little or no delay, usually in just one day. If you have a steady income, and can make regular monthly payments, you may borrow without endorsers at HFC. If you have a money problem, why not phone or drop in today?

School Graduation Exercises

Amongst those who attended the recent graduation exercises in Grenville Consolidated High School were Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Bates, Mrs. Alexander Bates and Mr. and Mrs. Allan McPhee. The young lady graduates and one lone young man all did justice to the training they had received under Principal A. J. McGerrigle and his staff of teachers. All were agreed that this fine group of graduating students were a credit to their parents, their teachers and their community.

Duplessis has improved

THE FARMERS' LOT

When the National Union Government came to power in 1936, farming was in the doldrums. Farmers were having their property seized for debt. The situation was alarming. Duplessis tackled the problem and brought forth a whole program of farm legislation inspired by a sincere determination to rescue Quebec farmers. He provided them with the stability that saved them from bankruptcy. Among the beneficent laws that made Quebec farming more profitable, let us mention:

Farm credits — Rural electrification
Land drainage
Improvement through mechanization
Farm education
Superior Research Council
Aid to municipalities
Abolition of school board duties
Rural roads
Rural waterworks law
Needy mothers' allowances, pensions to the blind, pensions to disabled persons, old age pensions
Help to farmers' sons

Teacher Shortage In Argenteuil and Neighbor Counties

"The teacher shortage in Protestant schools in Quebec is progressively worsening," according to William Munroe, regional inspector of schools for Western Quebec.

Mr. Munroe's inspectorship covers the counties of Pontiac, Hull, Gatineau, Papineau and Argenteuil and embraces high schools at Aylmer, Shawville, Hull, Buckingham and Lachute, together with 16 intermediate schools. School boards are struggling with the problem in this area, as elsewhere, but the situation is grim.

"It is just so bad," Mr. Munroe said, "that our institutes are training now scarcely enough teachers to replace retirements. The Protestant school population in Quebec is increasing by about 6,000 pupils each year. It means we need 200 new teachers each year and we aren't getting them. And I don't know where we're going to get them."

"School boards in my district have been advertising for some time for teachers for next year. Many of them haven't even received a nibble."

Can Hire Partially Trained

Permission has been granted to school boards to engage untrained or partly trained persons when it has been impossible to engage qualified teachers. Quebec is not unique here, Mr. Munroe pointed out, since other provinces have had to do the same thing but it makes for a far from satisfactory situation. Teachers have been imported from the Maritimes and Ontario but that was "robbing Peter to pay Paul."

The province is assisting students who wish to become teachers by providing scholarships, bursaries and other aid. A vigorous recruitment policy is also being pursued by such groups as the Provincial Association of Protestant Teachers and the Home and School Associations.

Statistics released on schools can mislead the public. They can show all schools open and all classes manned.

Overcrowded Classes

"But what they don't show," Mr. Munroe said, "is that in some cases one teacher is striving to take care of overcrowded classes. And many persons teaching haven't had training for their work, an obvious handicap regardless of how industrious and earnest they may be about it."

Orange Gr. Lodge Affairs Reported In Healthy State

L.O.L. and L.O.B.A. sessions of Quebec Provincial Grand Lodge were held recently at Pine Lodge, Bristol. This was the 107th meeting, to which R.Wor. Bro. W. J. Atkins, of Bury, welcomed the delegates. Divine service was held in Bristol Presbyterian Church, conducted by R.W. Bro. Jacques Smith, and R.W. Bro. L. Emard preached the sermon.

In his opening address the G.M. pledged loyalty to the Crown and our beloved Queen Elizabeth II. R. Wor. G. Secretary, Bro. G. Argue gave an encouraging report. Most W. Bro. J. E. Hammond spoke on Orange Insurance and the Grand Secretary gave an encouraging report. There has been an increase in membership during the past year. R. H. Butler, Grand Treasurer, reported the funds of the L.O.L. in the best condition for a number of years past. J. E. Hammond, of the Orange Insurance Department, reported that the company ranks fourth among all companies in Canada.

There were many visitors, among whom were noted the Rev. Canon J. L. Hodgson, J. E. Magladrey and J. Heaney, all of Ottawa, and others holding prominent offices in the Orange Association.

The election of officers resulted in the following appointments:

L. Emard, Grand Master; G. Crowbar, Deputy Grand Master; J. J. Morgan, Junior Deputy Grand Master; Rev. J. Smith, Grand Chaplain; W. J. Robinson, Grand Secretary; R. M. Butler, Grand Treasurer; E. Burke, G. Marshall, N. Reside and J. Rock, Grand Lecturers; A. Lough, Deputy Grand Lecturer; W. J. Cooper and N. Morrison, Grand Auditors.

R. E. C. Werry, Q.C., President of the Orange and Protestant Children's Home, gave to the joint session of the L.O.L. and L.O.B.A. an excellent account of the home, which is presently full to capacity and has a waiting list. The public and members of the order are rendering wonderful support; it has been truly said, "They stand straightest who stoop to help a little child."

SUCCEEDS TO TITLE OF OLDEST RESIDENT

St. John's, Nfld. (CP) — Peter Patrick, 103, of Cox's Cove, now lays claim to the title of Newfoundland's oldest resident. The title was vacated by the death of Thomas Suggs at age 110 — believed the oldest white man in the British Commonwealth.

Mr. Patrick, a west coast farmer, doesn't let age interfere with his chores or merry-making. Each summer he helps his neighbors get in their hay. During the winter he attended several parties and dances.

Unlike his predecessor, Mr. Patrick has been married twice. His second wife is 78. He has a son in his early 40s.

GOOD SWIMMER

Vancouver (CP) — Laurie McGowan, 14, is Vancouver's youngest lifeguard. Though still more than a year away from lifeguard certificate age, he was put to work early because of his ability.

Tips on Touring

By Carol Lane
Women's Travel Authority

Since virtually every car in the nation will soon be getting prevacation attention, the owner should know if he or she is getting his money's worth.

You don't have to be a graduate mechanic to recognize when your car is being lubricated properly. Here's how you can spot a first-rate attendant:

1—He follows a chart showing correct lubrication for your particular model. As more than 100 points may need lubricating, the conscientious mechanic won't trust his memory.

2—He spreads clean protective covers over the car's front fenders and over the seat to avoid scratches or grease smears.

3—He carefully wipes old grease or dirt from each fitting before he applies his grease gun.

4—He leaves all the dashboard fittings, wheel, brake and gear handles spotlessly clean.

If he's the kind of a fellow who'll be annoyed at any of your questions, especially because he can't answer them — then take your business elsewhere!

Historic Articles For N.S. Archives

Halifax (CP) — Valuable items marking milestones in the career of the late Edgar N. Rhodes, Progressive Conservative premier of Nova Scotia from 1925 to 1930, have been presented to the Nova Scotia archives by his son, E. N. Rhodes, of Ottawa.

The gifts include two handsomely-bound Bibles, used at the swearing-in of Mr. Rhodes as federal fisheries minister in 1930 and as minister of finance and receiver-general in 1932.

Other articles include a brass clock complete with electric button with the inscription: "The pressing of this electric button by Honorable Nelson Rhodes, Premier of Nova Scotia, at 11.20 a.m. December 14, 1929, started machinery in the pulp and paper mills of the Mersey Paper Company Limited, Liverpool, N.S."

Another gift is a silver tray presented to Mr. Rhodes, then minister of finance, "on the 25th anniversary of his entry into public life," by the Cumberland County Progressive Conservative Association.

The name of the Bow River in Alberta originated from the presence on the river's banks of Douglas fir trees, from which local Indians made hunting bows.

A VOTE FOR GEORGES DUHAMEL, INDEPENDENT UNION NATIONALE CANDIDATE, IS A VOTE FOR ALL CITIZENS OF THE COUNTY

Georges Duhamel attacks the Cottingham Administration

Mr. Cottingham gets out the electoral machinery!

Following a long, four-year rest, the big road machines have been despatched to all parts of Argenteuil County in order to "throw dust in citizens' eyes and win their favor—the same way as a guilty husband returns home with a bouquet of flowers."

Mr. Cottingham is in the soup!

An employee of the Provincial Roads Department was seen Sunday surveying land adjacent to the St. Andrews Catholic Church and near the school of that village. This took place during the Corpus Christi procession (it was a very pressing matter!) . . .

These people will be pleased to have the asphalt that they have been requesting for such a long period; the time is past due. But the eve of an election is no time to be coercing the people in this way. They know full well that, if returned to power, their representative will forget them for another four years.

They will thank him in their own chosen manner, this June 20!

SAY RESERVE SYSTEM HOLDS INDIANS BACK

Victoria (CP) — The provincial advisory committee on Indian affairs is studying plans to do away with the present reserve system.

The reserve system, says Labor Minister Lyle Wicks, under whose jurisdiction the committee comes, is one of the big stumbling blocks to successful integration.

"We will never achieve integration while the Indians separate themselves on the reserves," he said.

"For too long the Indians have thought of themselves as people apart, inferior and unwanted. Now they must accept a challenge with the knowledge that the chance for improvement devolves upon themselves."

Mr. Wicks says Indians are making the initial move towards integration and the white residents are faced with the duty and responsibility of making the way to full citizenship easier for them.

"No longer are the Indians content to live inertly and separately on their reserves while the standards of living and economy rise outside their boundaries with increasing momentum," he said.

Competition and War

By Lewis Milligan

"Disregard of economic laws is one of the most fruitful sources of war, industrial war as well as wars of nations. The faithful fulfilment of obligations is one of the great safeguards against such wars."

The above quotation is taken from an article by Arthur Caspersz which appeared in that high-class British journal, The Nineteenth Century and After, of April, 1923, under the title, "Competition and War." Yes, it is a back number, but truth is eternal and economic laws are basic and do not change with the flight of years.

Mr. Caspersz admits that the competitive spirit has played its part in driving nations into war, but he believes that wars, international or industrial, can be avoided by keeping that spirit within channels of constructive effort. The true merchant and labor leader alike should look well to the ways of their common household, and consider how their actions and conduct will affect the position of the people in general. Economic laws override human plans, and disobedience of those laws can lead to confusion and disaster. Mr. Caspersz gives the following examples:

The confiscation of people's savings saps the development of business. Money readily transfers itself to other countries, and human enterprise follows its own star.

A man will buy the best article he can in the cheapest market, but if he has no money he cannot buy, and if he is not producing he will have no money.

All your acts have consequences and, if you destroy initiative and potential or dynamic wealth, your competitor ousts you.

No laws ever made trade; it makes or mars itself, and no State aid or interference can ever take the place of private effort.

You cannot take a business out of the hands of those who know how to work it.

Willing production competes successfully against half-hearted production.

These are hard laws and they apply as much to organized labor as to industry, commerce and government. Any breach of those laws is followed by penalties to all concerned. Excessive taxation and extreme demands by labor can kill enterprise by rendering industry and business unable to compete in world markets. "No well-managed business," says Mr. Caspersz, "distributes all its profits. These have to be conserved for the sustenance and extension of the business, otherwise it is ruled out and is no longer competitive."

Mr. Caspersz contends that competition is the essence of modern society, and without it there can be no progress. The question is how open competition can be controlled or regulated so as to limit or prevent wars. He points out that "the duel was killed by ridicule and lethal weapons, but that it does not appear that war will be killed by either of those means." That was written over thirty years ago, and the lethal weapons referred to were the pistol for duelling and artillery for war of nations. They were mere play-toys compared with the atomic bombs and guided rockets which could instantly wipe-out both combatants and their populations in another world war. That would be a war to end all wars.

How is such a war to be prevented? Can it be prevented by the present competition in devising and manufacturing hydrogen bombs? So far neither of the competititors has a monopoly in atomic weapons, and there is some hope for peace in the stalemate. The very fact that neither could win and all life might be destroyed in an atomic war, should be sufficient to prevent another world conflict. Since competition is the essence of society, and economic laws override all plans to evade them, the only safeguard against wars is the faithful fulfilment of social and international obligations.

MAYORS MEETING

St. Hyacinthe, Que. (CP) — Mayor Ernest O. Picard will represent St. Hyacinthe at the annual meeting of the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities at Hamilton in August. The city also plans a delegation to the union of municipalities meeting at Bretton Woods, N.H., September 12-16.

NEHRU ACCEPTS CANADIAN ATOM PLANT

—Central Press Canadian

At a ceremony in New Delhi, Jawaharlal Nehru, prime minister of India, and Escott Reid, the Canadian high commissioner, signed an inter-governmental agreement on the Canada-India atomic reactor project, whereby Canada will erect, under the Colombo Plan, a high-powered atomic research and experimental reactor at Trombay, India. Here Prime Minister Nehru, obviously enjoying the occasion, shakes hands with Mr. Reid after the signing.

German Skipper Escaped Wartime POW Camps

Montreal (CP) — A German sea captain who during the Second World War did everything he could to get out of Canada has just sailed back into Montreal.

Middle-aged Captain Jochim Haag explained in an interview: "During my last visit here in the war I was confined to prisoner-of-war camps, apart from three occasions when I managed to escape."

Captain Haag now is skipper of the German motorship Santa Rita, and his home is at Montevideo, Uruguay, where he emigrated before the Second World War.

In November, 1939, he was second officer aboard a German liner plying between Germany and South America when the ship was seized by HMS Glasgow.

He was sent to a POW camp at Trois-Rivieres and later transferred to other camps at Kingston, Fort Henry, Mimico and Monteith, Ont. Meanwhile, his wife and son, who were visiting relatives in Germany when war broke out, had to stay there.

Captain Haag had his first escape in June, 1943, and spent six months working as a bellhop in Toronto. "I sometimes earned $20 a day," he recalled.

He was caught by the FBI when he tried to enter the United States and was sent back to Monteith. He managed two more escapes but each time was free only a few days.

Captain Haag returned to Germany after the war to join his wife and son and got work as a carpenter.

When Germany was allowed once again to build large ships he returned to the sea career he began in 1929. He became master of the Santa Rita when she came out of the shipyards in 1954.

He moved his family, which now included an infant daughter, back to Montevideo and once again he made the Europe-South American run.

Natural Disaster, A Vital Rural Problem

(Fifteenth in a series of 24 articles)

As far as natural disaster is concerned, civil defence can possibly prove more important to the small town or rural area than to the city.

Disaster can come in many forms. Possibly its most frequent and familiar form is fire.

Fire can sweep a whole block, or two or three blocks, of a city without wiping it out. Disastrous as such a blaze would be to any community, however large, it would hardly put the whole city out of jobs if, for example, the flames destroyed a factory. There are hotels, YMCA centres, Salvation Army shelters and dozens of other similar places in a city in which people driven by fire from their homes can take temporary shelter.

But the small town can't always withstand such a blow. Its whole existence sometimes depends largely on one industry. Let disaster in the form of fire — or flood or tornado, for that matter — strike it and the town has suffered a serious if not fatal injury to its chief source of income.

In combatting such natural disasters, the city has other advantages over the rural area. There are usually many more firemen and more and better fire equipment to battle the flames. There are large numbers of police to call on for assistance in these and other emergencies if the need is great enough.

And if more help is still required, the city can provide far more volunteers from its own population than the small town or the farming area.

It is especially important, therefore, that the small community make the best of what it has. Even though spurred primarily by the threat of possible war, a civil defence organization can help a community to combat natural disaster.

The federal civil defence organization has worked out plans flexible enough to fit the local needs of every section of the country. All they require is a willingness on the part of each community to put these plans into use.

Through civil defence planning, the town with a two-man police force and a volunteer fire brigade can recruit and train other residents to help make the best of these facilities in whatever unexpected disaster comes.

It is only by effective planning that the maximum use can be made of the lighter manpower available in the smaller areas.

And through civil defence coordination, several small communities can work out a system of mutual aid; that is, they can be prepared beforehand to help each other when the unexpected situation makes such co-operation urgent.

The farmer has not been forgotten, either, in Canada's civil defence plans. The planners have worked out means of warning him, too, of approaching disaster and of bringing him aid when he needs it.

The plans are there and in most communities a nucleus, at least, of the services to put them into action already exists. All that remains is for the residents of the community to ask for them and then learn how to apply them to the particular needs of their part of the country.

Civil defence seeks only to help people help themselves.

Federal and provincial spending on social security, health and welfare currently totals about $2,468,000,000 annually.

36 Members Enjoyed Q.W.I. Leadership Course

"When we cease to learn, we cease to grow," said Mrs. R. A. Cameron, summing up at the closing session of the five-day course, "Facts! Fingers! Fun!", held last week at Macdonald College by the Quebec Women's Institutes.

It certainly must have been strong bait that could lure 36 women away from their homes at this busy time of the year; but come they did, to study new and exciting ways of implementing the aims and objectives of the Q.W.I.

Special attention was given to the role of the convenors of the six standing committees: Agriculture, Education, Home Economics, Citizenship, Welfare and Health, and Publicity. Methods and tools to aid the convenors in planning programs engaged the attention of the class, "New Life for Your Programs, which was led by Mrs. Cameron. Films, singing and recreation to add "sparkle" , these programs were topics studied at other classes and "Fingers" came into play in the class making stuffed toy animals. These marched across the mantel at the festivities of the last night. Each evening the entire group looked at the W.I. from all angles and discussed problems of administration and what makes a good officer.

This year the summing up at the last period took the form of panel discussions, with three members from each class taking this in turn followed by comments and questions from the rest of the group. How the benefits of the course could be best passed on to those "back home" was then threshed out in small groups.

"Stimulating", "challenging", "Relaxing", are some of the comments overheard at this last period, and all endorsed Mrs. Cameron's statement that the W.I. must continue to open doors to new and exciting vistas if it is to continue to fulfil its function of adult education. She spoke of the founder of the W.I., Mrs. Hoodless, "a woman with a vision," and concluded by saying, "It is up to us to keep that vision and work together to make it come true."

Things look bright to Murray Dwan

As a professional photographer, Murray Dwan is glad he can capitalize on all the modern advances in his chosen field.

"Today's demand for more and better photography — especially in colour — keeps us on our toes," says Mr. Dwan "But we're well equipped to meet it, thanks to recent developments like electronic flash, faster films and more versatile cameras."

As a family man, Mr. Dwan also benefits by the progress which has been made in another field — life insurance. Policies today are more flexible than ever before. As a result, each family can now have a security plan that fits its own special needs more effectively — and can prepare for future changes in those needs.

Modern times have also brought the advantages of group insurance protection on a greatly broadened scale. Moreover, many restrictions on obtaining life insurance have been removed. And, life underwriters are better trained, better able to help people make the best use of their life insurance dollars.

In these and other ways, the life insurance companies in Canada are in step with progress . . . bringing benefits to people in all walks of life!

Lachute Fair 1956, Official Opening This Afternoon

Full Program of Entertainment And Full Complement of Exhibits Ensure High All-Round Standard

The 131st annual Lachute Spring Fair will be officially opened this afternoon at 3 o'clock by the Hon. William M. Cottingham, M.P.P. for this constituency and Minister of Mines for the Province of Quebec. The official ceremonies this afternoon will take place in front of the grandstand. Other notables will be in attendance for this auspicious opening.

As in past years, the afternoon horse-racing program gets underway this afternoon, and although the 1956 Fair will not feature a County Race, all local competitors will be entered in other harness classes. The horse-racing program, this year as full of top-notch entries as ever, is under the stewardship of Georges Larocque.

The Bernard & Barry Shows are in attendance with the old reliable rides, fun provokers and a few innovations for the midway patrons.

Among the entertainment attractions of the 1956 Spring Fair will be the Square Dance competition which was so well received as an initial venture last year! A time limit has held to four entries the number acceptable for competition.

All previous entries have been broken in the heavy horse classes, this year numbering 160 head. This afternoon will mark the first time in the lengthy history of the Fair that all three recognized breeds of heavy draft animals have been represented in the four-horse hitch. Clydesdales will be shown by A. T. Cleland, St. Hermas, and Chas. Liberman, Wyman, Ont.; a Belgian hitch by Ken Pritchard, Manotick, Ont.; and a hitch of Percherons by the Stittsville Lumber Company, Stittsville, Ont.

Cattle, horse breeding classes, sheep, swine and poultry will be judged each morning and afternoon.

Heavy horses will be judged daily, while Thursday, both morning and afternoon, is set aside for Beef Cattle, Holsteins, Sheep and Poultry. Jersey, Guernsey, French Canadian and Ayrshire cattle and swine will be judged Friday, both morning and afternoon, while Saturday, as in past years, is Calf Club day.

Harness racing will take place as usual Thursday, Friday and Saturday afternoons and Saturday evening will feature a Square Dance Competition as well as a much improved Horse Show.

The farm equipment area has been filled to overflowing for some time, necessitating a fair-sized addition to this increasingly popular display at the Fair. Numerous booths occupied by local firms and dealers will also display a complete line of appliances, while local boat manufacturers will also have their products on show.

A cattle parade will be held in front of the grandstand tonight, and Friday evening, while Saturday afternoon will see another first in the local show when a "Parade of Champions", both horses and cattle, will be displayed to grandstand and other patrons.

The Argenteuil Anti-Tuberculosis League have their free X-ray clinic equipment on hand in the Main Building; this will be in operation from 1 to 10 p.m. today and Friday, and from 1 to 5 p.m. on Saturday. A large display of handicrafts and home-cooking is on exhibit, the judging for this, along with the students' exhibits, having taken place yesterday. A huge display by the Quebec Department of Mines is also to be seen in the Main Building.

The Lachute Lions Club, sponsors of the local car raffle, and the Canadian Legion, who are also selling tickets on a similar event, are occupying booths, and the Farm Forums have a refreshment stand in operation near the machinery display.

Resident Injured Near Joliette

Maurice Coulombe, an executive of Lachute Lumber and Millwork Ltd., was taken to the Notre Dame Hospital, Montreal, following an accident near Joliette last Friday evening.

Accompanied by his wife, two children and a brother from Grenville, Mr. Coulombe was on his way to Louiseville to visit his mother, when he lost control on the slippery pavement, his car taking the ditch and severing a number of posts.

Mr. Coulombe suffered severe head injuries, for which he was operated on. His children were unhurt, and Mrs. Coulombe received minor cuts and bruises. The victim's brother was treated for a dislocated shoulder and fractured ribs.

Mr. Coulombe has been connected with the local lumber firm since last autumn, serving as treasurer-controller.

Duhamel Withdraws Candidature, Two-Way Contest on Party Lines

Georges Duhamel, entered as an Independent Union Nationale candidate in the coming elections, withdrew his name from the race late Tuesday evening, pledged his support to the Union Nationale party and the Hon. William M. Cottingham, the official U.N. candidate.

Next Wednesday's elections will be contested by the Hon. W. M. Cottingham, Union Nationale, and Bernard Gosselin, the official Liberal candidate.

The news of Mr. Duhamel's withdrawal was officially announced Tuesday at 10.15 p.m. by Notary Jacques Beaudoin, the Official Returning Officer for this constituency.

Brownsburg Boy Lost Life While Swimming at Dam

Bruce Wayne Hazel, 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Wyman Hazel, Brownsburg, was accidentally killed while swimming near the C-I-L dam in that village, late Tuesday afternoon. Police worked on the young victim for some time following their recovery of his body from the swift water, but their efforts were unavailing.

Det. Ralph Allen reports that the youth was swimming with a friend near the dam, when he was caught in the swift current and dragged towards the sluce door in the dam. It is believed this is where the youth was crushed, as there was found to be insufficient water in his lungs to cause drowning.

Attempts to recover the body, which could be seen part-way through the sluce opening, were made by George Goyette, 23, and Réal Joly, 24, both of whom were swimming in the area at the time of the mishap. Traffic Officer Gerard Loyer was called to the scene, and he in turn notified the Brownsburg police force, Chief Lepine and Cst. Roland Lepine, as well as Dr. A. R. Coté.

Failing other attemps, ropes were tied to the victims legs, which had gone through the sluce opening, and the door was opened, releasing the body. Attempts to revive the victim were continued for some 45 minutes but to no avail.

Dr. Coté attributed death due to crushing of the boy's body. No inquest will be held.

Funeral service will be held this afternoon (Thursday) at 2.30 o'clock from the Brownsburg United Church, followed by interment in Lachute.

Information Sought On Car Involved In Hit-and-Run

Sgt.-Det. Ralph Allen, officer in charge of the local Provincial Police detachment, has appealed to all residents to be on the look-out for a grey 1948 DeSoto or Chrysler automobile following a hit-and-run accident on Route 8 near Marelan last Sunday around 10.30 p.m. Any person having knowledge of a car of this date and description is asked to contact the police immediately.

Laurina Dewar, 15-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. Dewar, of Cushing, was walking on the side of the highway when she was struck a glancing blow by a car, which continued on and ran into the rear-end of a vehicle driven by Palma Landreault, of Montreal. Occupants of the car, which was damaged to the extent of $300, were not seriously injured.

The driver of the offending auto, identified as a 1948 DeSoto or Chrysler, failed to stop.

The young Dewar victim was taken to the Smith Clinic at Hawkesbury, where she was thoroughly examined and later released, having sustained no serious injuries.

Damage to the car would be mainly around the right front fender and side, according to Det. Allen, and the police have in their possession a strip of chrome trim missing from the car involved. Traffic Officer Gerard Loyer investigated the accident.

Changes Effected in Main Street Traffic

Result of Study by Police Committee

Special Council Meeting to Confer On Servicing McGibbon Subdivision, New "Riverview" Residential Site

A change in Main Street parking regulations, limiting centre parking to 60 minutes and curbside parking to 30 minutes, was approved at the regular June meeting of Town Council, held last Wednesday in the Council Chambers. The full membership was in attendance; the meeting got underway at 8.25 following a caucus session.

Police Chief Fernand Trépanier recommended that the double parallel parking found between Harriet Street and Bedard Store be changed to single diagonal parking; this would allow approximately a dozen additional autos, besides facilitating the parking of cars. The Police Chief then suggested that parking be limited to specific hours, and that a flasher and other warning devices be installed at the commencement of the centre parking area.

Ald. H. Stanley Church, chairman of the Police and Fire Committee, stated that his committee endorsed the suggestions and moved that they be accepted. The motion was seconded by Ald. Romain Desjardins, also a member of the committee, and passed on an 8-1 vote — with Ald. Edgar O. Pollock, Roads Committee chairman, against, following considerable discussion and the setting of hours when parking would be restricted.

It was decided that, between the hours of 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, and 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. on Friday and Saturday, the parking limit would be imposed, there being no limit on Sunday or legal holidays.

Ald. E. O. Pollock voiced his displeasure at this motion, pointing out the Cinema Lachute as an example of establishments where business might incur a setback. It was felt that no exceptions could be made, however, and the vote was taken with a count of 8-1.

The discussion then turned to the pros and cons of parking meters — a representative of the Mi-Co Meter Company, Montreal, being in attendance and answering various questions asked by the alderman. He stated that, to do the job properly, it would require 268 meters, any or all of which could be set or changed to operate for from one to ten hours for a certain sum of money. The company prefers to receive 75 per cent of the revenue until the meters are paid for, the remainder going to the corporation. Approximate figures per meter were estimated at $60 per year, this being calculated on an average over-all figure supplied by the company. The meters would be set at 1 cent for 12 minutes or five coppers for an hour.

Following further discussion, the matter was tabled for further study pending the results of the new parking regulations.

In discussing the problems of the municipal dump, Ald. Romain Desjardins moved that: (1) The Corporation continue to use the present dumpsite. (2) The burning of garbage be discontinued. (3) The garbage be covered with lime and earth. (4) Mr. Jos. Bellefeuille be appointed in charge of the dump location from 8 a.m. until 6 p.m. daily, his salary being increased $25 to the present $140 a week, and that he be instructed to cover the garbage in his truck with a tarpaulin. (5) That a rate of fifty cents per load, payable to the Town of Lachute, be charged to any non-ratepayer wishing to use the dump. (6) That the dump be enclosed within a fence. . . The motion was seconded by Ald. Mozart Carrière and passed unanimously.

Ald. Desjardins then gave notice of motion that, at the next regular meeting, he would present for adoption a by-law governing the garbage dump and enabling the Council to enforce the following and any other regulations concerned.

Jas. W. McGibbon, partner in the firm of A. D. McGibbon & Sons, was in attendance at the session and explained various aspects of his company's Riverview sub-division. He asked Council to consider the installation of water and sewer facilities for the project, located on the former Wilson farm-site, pointing out that the only cost to the town would be one-half of the cost of the water installation. In addition, he requested the town to accept responsibility for the outlet, a distance of approximately 1,100 feet, as it had done in other similar projects.

He offered an alternative to the Council, stating that his company would do all the work, the town paying its share; or else the corporation could do the work, the company paying its share.

Paul Laliberté, consulting engineer, gave the Council members the recommended size of pipes required for this project, both for water main and sewers; he added that it was only a question of one-half of the project at the present time, this being all that would be opened and serviced.

It was decided to hold a special meeting on Thursday, June 21, at 8 p.m., at which time further information would be available; the Riverview project would be the only subject on the agenda for this meeting.

Ald. Judes E. Charlebois gave notice of motion that, at next regular meeting, he would present a by-law to govern zoning and building on this sub-division.

Ald. Dr. Roger Lavigne, seconded by Ald. Mozart Carrière, moved that Mr. Laliberté be hired to present the Council with a preliminary report and estimate on future water and sewer needs for the Riverview, Hay, Ayersville and any similar developments planned for that area.

Returning to police business, Ald. H. S. Church moved, seconded by Ald. J. H. Mallette, that the stop-signs at the corner of Barron Avenue and Foundry Street be relocated so as to halt the traffic on Foundry Street; the vote passed unanimously.

It was decided that Lieut. Oscar Sabourin be given a week's pay in lieu of eight days' overtime he worked when the police force was short-handed and Cst. Jeannot Laurin's salary was raised $5 per week, bringing him on an equal basis with Cst. Marcel Therrien.

Tenders for a new police car, from three garages, were received and opened — Lacasse Automobile, quoting $1,353.25 (two-door Chevrolet); Pollock & Graves, $1,200 (two-door Meteor); and Desrosiers Automobiles, $1,200 (two-door Pontiac). These figures are based on a trade-in of the present police car, a 1954 Plymouth, and the tax is extra in all cases. The tenders were turned over to the Police Committee for study.

Following a recommendation by Police Chief Trépanier, the Police Committee was authorized to designate three bus stops on each side of Main Street, in order to prevent the local town bus from stopping too frequently on the main thoroughfare.

A grant of $250 was made to the Argenteuil Agricultural Society, following a request from Donald M. Hay. It was pointed out that this was an annual grant, being the same amount as was donated last year.

Engineer Paul Laliberté stated that he had prepared four tenders relative to the valuation roll, these being:

Hospital Up to People, Says Cottingham Grant Secured, Need Effort to Proceed

Rousing Rally Hears Hon. Minister of Mines And Speakers in U.N. Election Campaign

"The Town of Lachute, as well as Argenteuil County as a whole, has benefitted to the extent of almost two million dollars in provincial grants towards schools and education, divided proportionately between Catholics and Protestants — and I am pleased to note the presence of three members of the local Catholic School Commission on the platform with me on this occasion" — stated the Hon. William "Bill" Cottingham in his opening remarks at an election rally held Monday in Lachute Auditorium. "I am ready to continue to collaborate with the School Commissions of the County, and it will always be a pleasure for me to get them these and similar grants."

Moving on to matters of health, Mr. Cottingham declared that "for some years now, a grant has been approved by the provincial government for the construction of a hospital in Lachute. In order to obtain this grant, however, it is necessary for a local group to organize and take the matter in hand. It is not up to me to build the hospital or hire the necessary staff, and those that feel the need of such an institution have nothing more to do than put their shoulders to the wheel."

Talking on the Department of Mines, the Hon. Mr. Cottingham declared that the government opponents had accused him and his government of "selling the riches of the province" — especially those of Ungava — whereas in reality 60 per cent of the shares belonged to the Province of Quebec, the remaining 40 per cent to strangers. On this subject, Mr. Cottingham stated that he had never negotiated with persons of this sort and (he added) "had never regretted it."

Mr. Cottingham entered into the spirit of the campaign, declaring that hundreds of thousands of dollars had been spent in Argenteuil by the Minister of Agriculture. In the sphere of Public Works, he mentioned bridges that had been built and repaired, the paving of numerous streets within the towns, and Lachute in particular, that had been attended to by the government at no cost to the towns — stating, in addition, that Route 31 and others would be all but completed within a year.

Police Report for Month of May

Police Chief Fernand Trépanier informed the members of Lachute Town Council that his department had answered a total of 97 general calls within the month of May — in presenting his monthly report at the regular meeting last Wednesday.

Eleven accidents were reported, a total of six persons being injured and approximately $2,500 damage resulting. The chief stated that 3 arrests had been made; 5 persons detained for the Provincial Police; 11 persons held for protection; 6 persons appeared in local Police Court; 36 traffic tickets were handed out; 5 animals destroyed; in addition, the usual Social Service investigations were made.

Mileage logged on the police car was 2,100 miles in the month, bringing the total mileage to 53,025. The Chief reported that the painting of traffic lines on Main Street was almost completed, and the remaining work was scheduled for completion within a week.

Quotas Exceeded, Red Cross Drive

A recent release by the Quebec Section of the Canadian Red Cross indicated that several municipalities in this province surpassed their objectives following the recent campaign for funds.

In this region, the following communities exceeded their objectives by the indicated amounts; Lachute 11%; Brownsburg and St. Andrews East 7%; Ste. Adele, Ste. Marguerite and Mont Rolland, 80%; St. Jovite 32%; St. Martin, 224%; St. Rose de Laval 238% and St. Therese 98%.

Local Residents in Crash at Hawkesbury

Mr. and Mrs. R. N. Wyse and the latter's mother, Mrs. Vrooman, of Lindsay, Ont., escaped serious injury Saturday evening when they were involved in an accident on a highway detour a short distance south of Hawkesbury. (Mr. Wyse is a member of Lachute High School teaching staff.)

The local residents were returning to Lachute following a day visiting the St. Lawrence Seaway project, and with the highway under repair, were on a detour when Mr. Wyse noticed a truck headed towards him. He stopped his new 1956 model car on the side of the road but the truck continued towards him, smashing into the stationary automobile and causing damage estimated at $550.

The driver of the truck was charged by the Ontario Provincial Police with impaired driving.

On Tuesday, the president signed three official documents and sent a plea to Congress in connection with his foreign aid program. Pipeline Conflict Most Recent Uproar in the Nation's Capital

THE WEEK AT OTTAWA

By Roy LaBerge, Canadian Press Staff Writer

Ottawa, June 11 (CP) — The gas pipeline bill became law last Thursday on the Government's deadline.

Progressive Conservative and CCF party members — with the sole exception of John Diefenbaker (PC—Prince Albert) — boycotted the Senate ceremony in which the pipeline bill was given royal assent and became law.

The legislation provides for temporary government financing of two major parts of the $375,000,000 project of Trans-Canada Pipe Lines Ltd. for a 2,000-mile line to carry Alberta natural gas to Ontario and Quebec.

Commons passage of the bill took more than three full weeks as opposition parties used a variety of procedural weapons to delay or block it. The Senate, however, with its seven-man Conservative minority, took only two relatively quiet days to deal with it.

Construction Starting

The legislation authorizes a loan of up to $80,000,000 to Trans-Canada to cover 90 per cent of the cost of building the 575-mile Prairie section of the 2,200-mile line, the world's longest.

Its approval by the June 7 deadline holds the company to its agreement to build the section by December 31. Company officials said tenders for the job were being called immediately and work will start this month.

The loan, due to be repaid by next April 2, will be made by a new crown company which will also build and lease to Trans-Canada a 675-mile section through Northern Ontario. The Ontario government will finance up to $35,000,000 of the section's estimated $113,000,000 cost.

Pilot Delivering New Jet to France — Log Reads Like Supersonic Odyssey

With Flying Officer Willis Morrison, Lachute, On Ferry Unit Assignment from Goose Bay

Goose Bay, Labrador, May 29 — Flying Officer Willis N. Morrison, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Morrison, Lachute, is returning to his squadron in France via super-sonic Sabre Jet. F/O Morrison, a pilot with 439 Fighter Squadron, came over to Canada recently for a Flight Safety Course. Now he is flying a new Sabre back to Europe with the Overseas Ferry Unit.

F/O Morrison joined the RCAF in February, 1952, and took his pilot training at Centralia, Ont. After receiving his wings, he was sent to Portage la Prairie, Manitoba, to start jet flying in T-33 Silver Star trainers. On completing this course, he went to the Operational Training Unit at Chatham, N.B., where he converted to Sabre jets. From the OTU he was sent directly overseas to join 439 (F) Squadron, which was then stationed in England.

As one of the 25 pilots flying this "Random Operation" with the Overseas Ferry Unit, F/O Morrison will make four stops along the North Atlantic Jet Route to Europe. Goose Bay is the stepping-off point as the swept-wing fighters start out on the over-water legs crossing the Davis Straits to the USAF base at Narsarssuak, Greenland.

This lonely base is a unique and difficult strip of concrete to land one of the speedy jets. Lying 50 miles inland from the western coast of Greenland, it is built beside a range of mountains with an icy fjord at one end of the runway. Every approach to land must be made over this stretch of water. Additionally, the runway is built uphill and faces-out on the glacier-covered mountains of the interior. Each pilot knows that he has to make his first landing a successful one.

The next refuelling stop is Keflavik, Iceland. This American base is situated on the weather-swept southern coast of Iceland. It is a flat, barren land of volcanic rock and few trees. From here the jets turn southward to the last stop en route, the RAF base of Kinloss, Scotland. Spirits improve as the heavy canvas-and-rubber immersion suits that are worn on the over-ocean hops are stripped-off for the last time. At Kinloss, a flight plan for one of the four Canadian bases in Europe is drawn-up. On this trip the new Sabres are being delivered to 2 Fighter Wing at Gros Tenquin, France.

The Overseas Ferry Unit, based at Montreal's St. Hubert air base and under the command of Squadron Leader R. G. Middlemiss, has delivered over 600 jet aircraft to Canadian fighter squadrons in Europe. Presently the OFU is re-equipping these squadrons with the Canadian-built Sabre Six, considered to be the finest operational jet fighter in the world.

Brownsburg Boy in First Blind Scout Unit

William Richardson, of Brownsburg, is one of the five members of Quebec's first Blind Scout Patrol, who all recently received Tenderfoot badges. Scoutmaster Gilbert Williams is also blind.

"The Wood Pigeon Patrol" at the Montreal Association for the Blind, has developed a Morse-code whistling system which may well surpass conventional flag signalling methods used by other Scouts.

Other boys in the patrol are Robert Hebert, Hemmingford; Raymond Quesnel, Hawkesbury; Stanley Dunning, Manlwaki and Arthur Burgess, Springfield Park.

Treated in Hospital Following Accident

Maurice Marier, 29, of Hawkesbury, required 50 stitches to repair injuries he sustained when the car in which he was driving crashed into the cement wall at the foot of Foundry Street. Three other occupants of the car were not seriously injured.

According to Lieut. Oscar Sabourin, who investigated, the 1951 sedan driven by Léopold Vermette, 26, of Hawkesbury, went through the Foundry Street stop-sign, crashing into the wall. The accident occurred around 2.45 Monday a.m., at which time there was considerable fog.

In the car at the time were Philippe Fauteux, 27, and Jean Perron, 28, both of Hawkesbury.

Marier was taken to the Providence Hospital, Lachute, where he was treated by Dr. Marc Papineau.

Gatineau LINES

Please Report Changes

Gatineau Power supplies electricity to world-famous vacation areas, so naturally the demand for electric connections is exceptionally high in the summer months.

When the summer visitor makes normal, planned-for use of electricity, there is no problem. Sometime, however, heavy electrical equipment is brought to summer cottages, without advice to the power company.

In their own interest, customers should advise the company when about to install such items as a stove or a water heater.

Such advice enables the company to take steps to avoid the annoyance of low voltage by checking the size of the transformer serving your premises and those of your neighbors.

As well, it is important to make sure that your wiring will carry the electricity to the new appliances efficiently — that it is adequate to handle any new demands to be placed upon it.

Seasonal Farm Topics

Rates of Seeding Oats and Barley

Ottawa — Moderate rates of seeding for oats and barley give the most profitable yields when these cereals are sown on fertile soil.

Information on rates of seeding has been obtained from tests at the Experimental Farm, Canada Department of Agriculture, Nappan, N.S. L. P. Jackson reports that in the experiments a four year rotation of turnips, oats, and two crops of hay was followed. Manure at the rate of sixteen tons per acre supplied the fertility for the rotation and this was ploughed down before planting the turnips. The grain was seeded as a nurse crop for the grass seed mixture.

In one test oats were seeded at 2, 2½ and 3½ bushels per acre while in another trial barley was seeded at rates of 1½, 2½, and 3 bushels per acre. The average yields obtained over a fifteen year period indicated little difference in yield of either oats or barley between the three rates of seeding. The 2 bushel rate of seeding oats and the 1½ bushel rate of seeding barley produced as much grain as the highest rate. Hay yields following the lowest rate of seeding were higher than for any other rate.

Pasturing of Market Hogs

Ottawa — "Will there be any saving of feed by raising the market hogs on pasture?" This is a common question of swine producers who already know that it is economical to pasture the brood sows and that less labor would be involved in pasture feeding of their market hogs.

A study was made at the Central Experimental Farm, Canada Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, in which groups of pigs self fed a balanced ration indoors were compared with pigs self fed the same ration on pasture. There was no apparent difference in the amount of grain mixture required in the two methods. Further, while the pigs on pasture required an extra week to reach market weight, there was no noticeable difference in type, condition, or carcass quality between the pigs fed indoors and on pasture.

From these results it might not pay to use pasture for market hogs where land is valuable and can be used advantageously for the growing of other crops. On the other hand, where pasture is plentiful and barn space is limited, pasture raising of hogs may be the answer. Less labor will be required in pasture feeding, particularly the labor of cleaning out the barns. However, careful attention to the pigs is just as important on pasture as with feeding indoors and a full meal ration is essential for rapid development of the pigs.

Open Letter to the Mayor and Councillors of Parish of St. Jerusalem

Lachute, Que., June 12, 1956.

To the Mayor and Municipal Councillors,
The Parish of St. Jerusalem.

Gentlemen:

In view of the constant demands that I have made to your council in the last two years and in view of your refusal to consider my demands, I am obliged to send you this open letter, hoping that this time you will take notice of it and answer me.

A committee had been formed some time ago to go and interview the Mayor and the Councillors in order to obtain certain information concerning works which seem to be endless and to know the amount of the additional sums that are voted every six months; this contract which was for the amount of $250,000.00 would now cost at least $100,000.00 more, and even this amount would not complete the plan made by Paul Laliberté.

This committee has had an interview with the former Mayor, Mr. W. M. Cottingham, but he created a new citizens' committee out of those citizens and has granted them two interviews, which did not seem to bring any satisfactory answer, at least for those who were left out of this committee.

Who had the authority to form this committee, and for what reasons were those who were most interest not called therein? I would like to know.

I would like to know, also:

(1) Why the streets and roads that were previously passable in our section were torn up for sewerage and waterworks and for the last two years have not been rendered again passable for those who have lots on the main boulevard and elsewhere?

(2) For what reasons, when those road works would have cost slightly over $2,000.00 were they not done sooner when the absence of these repairs prevent building alongside the streets and diminish the valuation of St. Jerusalem? This amount of $2,000.00 was set by Paul Laliberté, Civil Engineer, at a meeting of your council.

(3) The quarry was to be emptied, and this according to a notarial deed — and has not been done.

(4) How is it that when, in the original contract with the firm of H. J. O'CONNELL LTD., certain streets were not included, namely Stewart Street — this street was one of the first streets on which work was done, and that other streets included in the original contract have not been made and do not seem likely to be made in a near future?

(5) Why are the ratepayers of St. Jerusalem called upon to pay for the Dunany and Gore roads when the roads of our urban section are paid or are to be paid by those interested therein?

(6) Why was the original contract of H. J. O'CONNELL LTD. not executed, paid for, and why was not a separate price asked for the surplus work done and paid with the loan appropriated on the original contract; otherwise would seem to be contrary to the law.

I would appreciate receiving an answer within six days.

Yours very truly,

Rousing Rally In U.N. Campaign

"An asphalt plant is now in operation in Pine Hill and it will remain there before and after the elections. These things are not election promises as I am not in the habit of making such promises." In closing, he thanked the speakers who had preceded him and stated that he felt that the County had benifitted in numerous ways since he had been appointed Minister of Mines.

Opening exponent of the evening's oratory was Camille DeMartigny, lawyer and ex-Mayor of St. Jerome. "A firm and sound government does not wait the full five years to go to the country as the Godbout government did between 1939 and 1944," he said, in effect.

He spoke on agricultural loans, urban credit, workman's compensation, and other subjects as well as the Ministry of Mines. He asked if people could believe the Liberals and their promises when they had not kept similar promises in the past.

John P. Boyle, Montreal businessman and former Union Nationale candidate stated that "Premier Duplessis and his government had set an example for the remainder of Canada. We have no racial problems, no color line, and the mild differences that have to be expected have always been ironed out with little difficulty. All this has been fostered under the Duplessis government, and we see monuments to them in schools and hospitals throughout the province.

"Premier Duplessis has stated that 'the rights of minorities will be respected, regardless'; I have my language and my faith, and these I cherish.

"The provincial Liberals have invited their Federal members to take part in these elections. In taking up this invitation, they have left themselves open to attack — and I am going to attack them. Just last week, they gave U.S. interests $80 million dollars, but they can't come to an agreement with Quebec on taxation; they purchased 60 thousand dozen eggs from a communist country, eggs that will affect this province and this county — and with these undesirables and others, Mr. Lapalme and all his candidates are married!

Pierre Desrosiers, ex-president of La Ligue des Patriotes, of Montreal, stated that he had seen Lachute citizens in the same hall in previous campaigns . . . "but then, you did not have the same smile of satisfaction on your faces as you have tonight.

"In 1936, a saviour was given to us in the person of Mr. Duplessis. He brought justice to the aged, to needy mothers, to the poor, and to the farmers. . . Think back to the starvation wages earned in 1936 under an administration that called itself 'liberal' but was not.

"In 1936, there were communists threatening our province, and then came the padlock law, a law which protects us — and this, Mr. Lapalme says he will abolish.

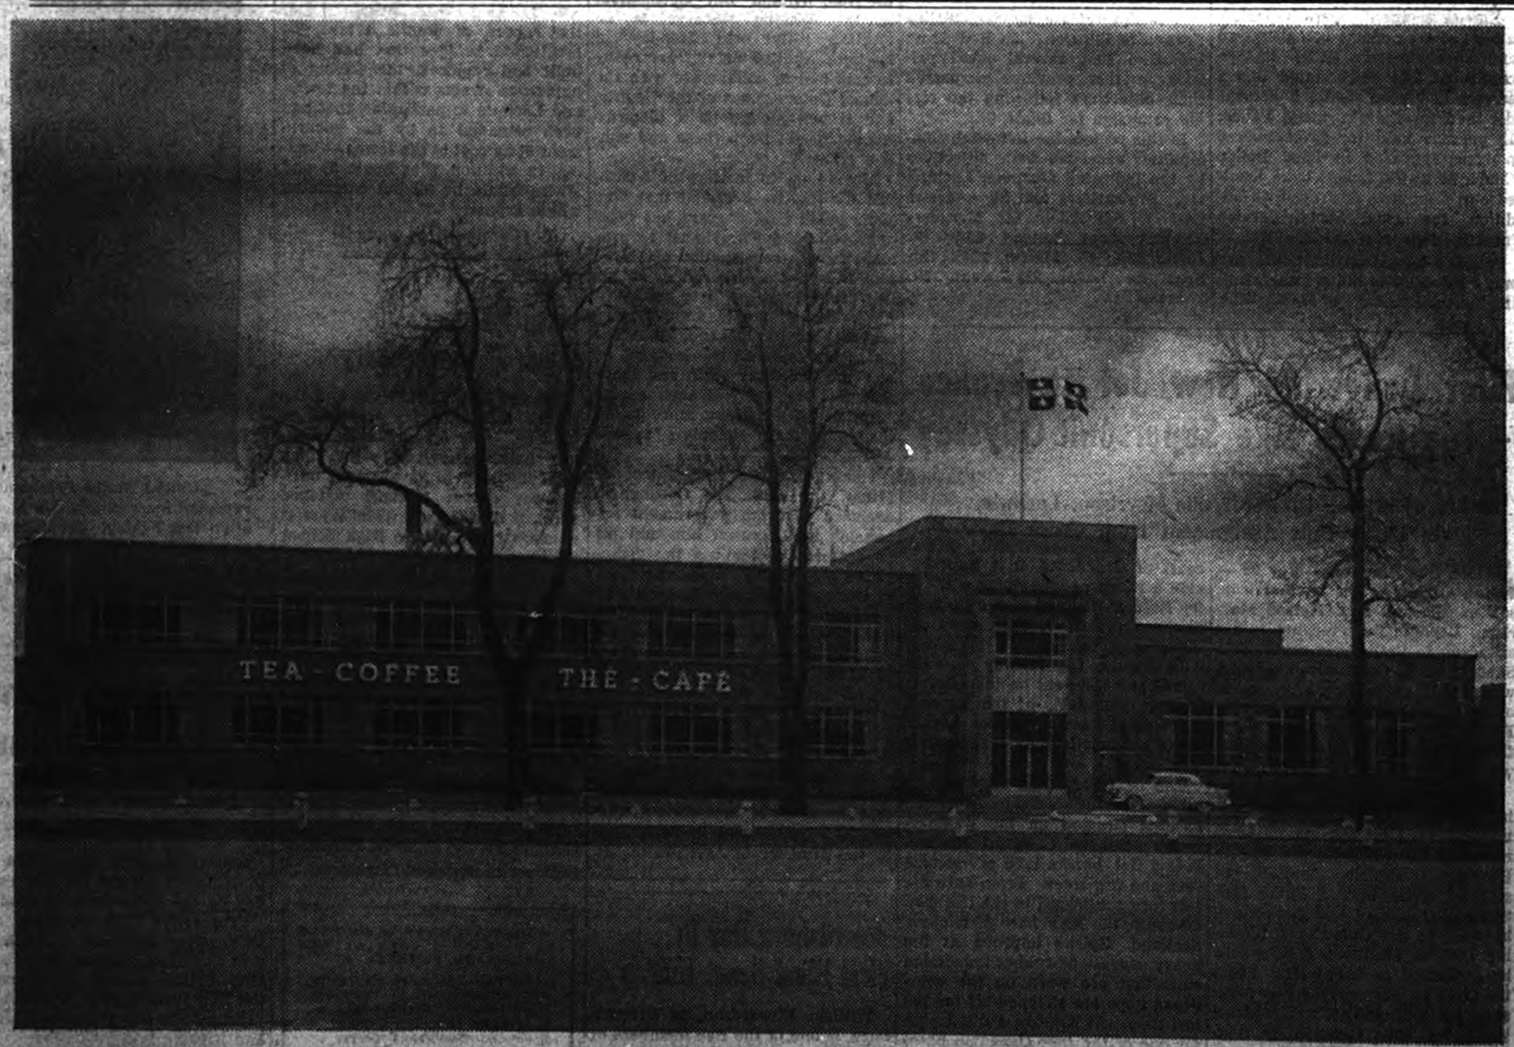

"Our lumbermen today earn $65 a week, they are well housed and well fed; they sing the praises of Mr. Duplessis, who has loaned $140,000,000 to farmers, saved the people of the Gaspé from a bleak misery, electrified the farms, and paid the debts of the school boards. Are we going to change this government for a Lapalme and his band? I predict that on June 20, the Union Nationale will take 88 counties and beat their record of 82 held in 1948 — and I appeal to your generosity to give Mr. Cottingham a greater majority than he has ever had before."

At this point in the meeting, Mr. Cottingham left for Rosemere where his presence was required. Mr. N. Saylor, Q.C., spoke briefly covering many subjects. Lapalme, he contended, had proved he was not a just leader for the Province when he lined up with men like Jean-Louis Gagnon, the Social Democrats, Independents and Social Credit members.

Gaston Laurier, Mayor of Huberdeau, predicted a brilliant victory for Mr. Cottingham and the Union Nationale Government, and stated that the present electoral campaign was but to prepare for the triumph of 1960.

Prior to the meeting, Mr. Cottingham toured Lachute and Ayersville accompanied by a large cavalcade of automobiles and supporters.

Those supporting Mr. Cottingham on the platform in addition to the speakers were — the co-chairmen of the meeting, Judes. E. Charlebois, pro-Mayor of Lachute, and Jos. Bourbonniere, Mayor of St. Jerusalem; other representatives of the local Council were Aldermen Edgar O. Pollock, Romain Desjardins and Mozart Carrière, while the Catholic School Commission was represented by Messrs. Albert Legault, Gerard Lefebvre and Gaetan Leclair; Messrs. Roger Lajeunesse and Thomas, of Montreal, as well as Paul Laliberté, who acted as master of ceremonies.

Duplessis has helped establish

6,000 new industrial firms since 1944

With its forests, its mines, its electric power, Quebec, as with Ontario, is the most bountiful province in Canada.

The presence in Quebec of a far-seeing government, a social stability that subversive demagogues have been unable to shake, an honest and a hard-working population have attracted capital and industry.

In the last twelve years, 6,000 plants, factories and workshops of all kinds were opened throughout the Province.

The value of Quebec's industrial output last year grossed $7,714,600,000.

MEMBER AUDIT BUREAU OF CIRCULATIONS

Ordeal by Air

THOSE of our readers who were "back fishing" last week-end will heartily concur with a recent Department of Agriculture report, which listed 80,000 species of insects in Canada's national insect collection. . . Black flies, in fact, are the major affliction in the countryside to date, with mosquitoes joining the fray more enthusiastically as the weather improves. But with these two pests in full onslaught, the average fisherman will vow he has encountered all of the 80,000 species of pests, no less.

The report adds, by way of encouragement, that new species are being discovered each day. . .

While many Canadians consider insects as bothersome creatures of interest only to bug collectors, the fact is they pose a great economic problem to the nation. Admittedly, there are many useful insects which should be protected, but there is a vast number which cause incalculable damage to the country's rural economy.

According to current statistics the annual loss in livestock and field crop production in Canada attributed directly to insects is in the neighborhood of $312,000,000. This sum is staggering indeed and undoubtedly would have been much greater had it not been for various agricultural chemicals developed over the past few years.

In 1951 in Alberta, for example, 296,000 acres of grasshopper-infested grain land were sprayed by insecticides which saved a crop valued at $6,000,000. This was done at a cost of $50,000 and represents a return of 120 to 1 on expenditures. Last year the prairie barley crop was rescued from destruction by a severe outbreak of barley aphids when a blitz-like aerial and ground counter-attack soaked the infested fields with chemical spray.

These are not isolated cases and many more could be cited which emphasize that modern pesticides can help to curb our annual farm losses.

Significant Anniversary

A 60-YEAR-OLD dream is well on the way to becoming a reality.

Twelve months ago construction began on a project destined to provide both a new mercantile artery of commerce and a vital source of electric power. We know it as the St. Lawrence Seaway.

Canadians have every right to feel a sense of pride in the fact. For long enough, due to the pressures of private interests in the United States, it looked as though Canada would have to "go-it-alone" if the undertaking was ever to be started at all.

But all came right in the end, and today's operations are symbolic of the determination of both countries to co-operate closely for their mutual progress.

The first year's work has prepared the way for the building of locks along a stretch 114 miles long with a 27-foot channel. For eight months of every year this will allow ocean-going ships to skirt the rapids and proceed unimpeded as far west as Duluth.

So far as Canadian industry is concerned, completion of the Seaway and availability of an abundance of cheap power will open up a whole new vista of possibilities. Reduced dependence on road and rail transportation and the accessibility of deep-sea vessels to such cities as Toronto and Hamilton will give them a new importance as ports.

It will also offer manufacturers the prospect of improved and expanded facilities. New opportunities, too. This and the huge spurt in the direct carrying of freight by sea may be expected to give added stimulus to industrial development in the region.

The work of the past year has brought us nearer the day when all this will be possible.

Lesson by Rhetoric

BEFORE THE ROW in Parliament not one Canadian in a hundred knew what the pipeline dispute was about, writes Bruce Hutchison, in The Financial Post. . . Now, one may suspect that there should be some method of educating the public better than the method of filling its ears with sound, its eyes with headlines and its mind with a melange of truth and fable. In theory, no doubt, there are better methods but in fact a political row is the only effective or at least the only quick method we have yet devised, whether you dignify it by the name of debate or call it a dog-fight.

Like any other product, a political issue must be advertised in broad simplicities and gaudy abbreviations. Like any abstract idea, it must be dramatized if it is to reach the audience. Like any dramatic production, a political row in Parliament is bound to contain a great deal of exaggeration, probably some sloppy sentiment and a flood of crocodile tears.

The politician acting on the Ottawa stage at a moment of denouement is always inclined to tear a passion to tatters, to split the ears of the groundlings and out-herod Herod. It may be indifferent debate but it compels the public attention and starts the nation thinking (often in fashions highly inconvenient, later on, to the actors).

Industry and Education

SOMETHING is going to be done about education, apparently.

Education, in this instance, means particularly the training of engineers and technical personnel to help man the vast developments taking place in Canada and the growth expected in the coming years.

At present there is a definite shortage of such personnel — to the extent that it is threatening the well-being of the economy — and the situation threatens to become worse.

Apparently the something to be done won't be left entirely to traditional avenues.

At virtually every industrial gathering these days — and particularly at the recent national conventions of the Engineering Institute of Canada and the Canadian Manufacturers' Association — the topic has overshadowed all other themes.

If what is being said means anything, then business and industry may be expected to take a greater responsibility in the educational field than ever before.

Many businesses have made contributions over the years in various ways, especially through scholarships. What they have been doing, however, has been far short of what is needed to meet today's situation.

Crawford Gordon Jr., president of A. V. Roe Canada Limited, said at the CMA meeting:

"The income tax act provides that corporations may deduct up to five per cent for gifts to charitable and educational institutions. In recent years the average has been less than one per cent. In 1952 this amounted to about $26,000,000. Of this, less than 11 per cent — or $2,800,000 — went for education.

"This is just a drop in the bucket when you consider that Canadian universities are talking about expansion of between $250,000,000 and $300,000,000 in the next 10 years."

Mr. Gordon announced that a national conference on scientific and engineering manpower will be held September 10-11, with the blessing of the Dominion Council of the Association of Professional Engineers and the support of business and industry.

Opinion

A CHANGING situation in rural communities is confronting farm organizations and adult education movements with a real challenge, according to Charles W. Gibbings, vice-president of the Saskatchewan Wheat Pool (— in a statement which is not entirely applicable to Quebec, however, if we appraise things accurately from where we sit.)

Addressing the annual meeting of the National Farm Radio Forum at Gananoque, Mr. Gibbings said the trend towards mechanization on farms was largely responsible for these changes in community life which are "causing farmers concern".

The old self-sufficiency of the farm is fast disappearing, the Pool official said. Fewer young people are staying on the farm today because there are fewer farms for them to operate. Machines have made larger farms necessary for economical operation, and this has resulted in a decline in the number of farms. This in turn is having a detrimental effect on the rural community, with farmers turning beyond their local districts for recreation and entertainment.

Mr. Gibbings cited the declining influence of small individual groups as a change in the community. The farmer's interest, he contended, is no longer farm-centred. New and town-centred interests often are not related to agriculture. "This situation has the tendency to leave the active farmers on the outside."

"Status quo ante"

Let's get back to the state in which things found themselves formerly — especially in matters military. By that, I mean that we should return to the days when we based our service drill books on those of the British Army and not on the American.

Two days ago, we held our annual Cadet Inspection. All things considered, it went fairly well. There were, naturally, one or two upsets which might easily have been avoided. But nobody can hope to expect perfection — not even the Queen, it seems, from her Grenadier Guards. Certainly, there are few cadet corps in our schools that can turn out a professional job. They can try, of course, and for their labors they can receive words of high commendation from the inspecting officers.

If you were to ask me what I considered the worst feature of the inspection, I should be forced to say the opening words of command. In the days when I was a seasoned artilleryman doing my bit to win the Second World War, we founded our drills on the British pattern. Thus, when we were bidden to cluster up the parade square in some semblance of order, our leather-lunged sergeant-major stood before us and, in a voice that could be heard for miles, bellowed:

"Fifth Medium Regiment! Onnn . . . PRADE!"

So ordered, we snapped smartly to attention and wasted no time in arranging ourselves in neat rows upon the burning square. But that was before our pals south of the border started infiltrating their ideas into our drills and words of commands.

I gather from the latest official sheet of military commands that some southern gentleman, a Kentucky colonel, perhaps, has had a hand in the re-arrangement. Certainly, the crispness of the British method has disappeared and it seems somewhat sloppy to hear the RSM call out:

"Ninety-first Battalion! Get on . . . PA-RADE!"

See what I mean?

When I heard the sergeant-major going through this grisly business the other afternoon, my thoughts went back a dozen years to the days gun layers, loaders, ammo carriers, and all knew exactly what was coming next — and could be prepared for it. Thus, a single gun or a complete regiment could be brought onto a target in the shortest possible time, and effective fire could be brought to bear upon the enemy.

The Americans, needless to say, had their own method. I well remember one radio call that came from an observation post near Cassino to a regiment of American guns just on our right. It went roughly, as follows:

JOE: (presumably at the Observation Post) "Hullo, Clem? You there?"

CLEM: "Yup!"

JOE: "There's some Jerry tanks forming up just ahead. Guess maybe we should bop 'em, huh?"

CLEM: "Could be. Where are they!"

JOE: "Got your map, Clem?"

CLEM: "Yup!"

JOE: "Well, ya see that house near the road about a mile to our left. They're just back of that about 75 yards."

CLEM: "O.K., Joe, I got it. What do ya want us to do?"

JOE: "Oh, poop a couple up the valley when you're ready, boy!"

And, in due course, the Long Toms near by thundered forth to cough a volley up the valley. But whether they hit anything or not we never did learn.

Informality may be all right in military matters in some cases. But on ceremonial parades, never! So, Mr. Campney, lend me an ear, when we found ourselves pursuing the German paratroops, panzer divisions, and support units through the vineyards, olive groves and mud of Italy. At that time, our guns were fired according to a rigid set of fire orders which had been devised by some British artilleryman long years ago. There was a definite pattern to the orders so that (Either one will do, thanks, I'm not going to take a photograph.)

For the sake of appearing smart and fooling people into thinking we are soldiers, let's get back to the British form of commands. They are short and to the point and they get things done in a minimum of time.

Know what I mean, Honorable you-all?

Over the Years with THE LACHUTE WATCHMAN

75 YEARS AGO

June 17, 1881 —

Lachute has four telegraph offices.

We understand Captain Smith has orders to embark with his company of militia on Tuesday, June 21. Young men desirous of joining his company had best see him immediately.

We hear of the sale to W.A. Leggo, Esq., of the Clunie Farm and mountain, for $6,500. This place is decidedly one of the finest views here and by the building of a fine residence on the great sloping plateau, will make one of the most pleasant residences in Canada.

We are sorry to learn that our young friend, Duncan Paul, of Bethany Road, met with a serious accident on Tuesday last. He and another young man had gone into the country to purchase some pigs and on crossing a bridge the horse took fright and the cart turned over, young Paul's leg getting caught in the wheel.

50 YEARS AGO

June 15, 1906 —

Dalesville — The farmers are all through seeding around this vicinity.

Messrs. George Bennett and Jas. Carpenter were appointed by the Council to examine the West River Bridge, and if they find it necessary, to close it at once.

All local schools closed on Friday last, after a successful year.

25 YEARS AGO

June 12, 1931 —

Among those who successfully passed their musical examination at McGill University, we are pleased to note the names of the Misses Betty Clunie, Anna Rosborough, Edith McOuat, Edith Gall and Ruth Brennian. They are all pupils of Miss Pauline Paquette.

The two men arrested by Town Constable L. Gagné and Det. Gauthier, of Montreal, were brought up for trial at St. Jerome on Friday last and were sentenced to four years each for the theft of a pig from Wm. Hume, Thomas' Gore.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

We cowards don't like to think of death. Like men sunk in comfortable chairs at the home of a friend, enjoying drinks and some pleasant conversation, we know we will have to go out in the darkness some time or another.

As for when and how, we're content to leave that to the host. He'll have to do more than yawn to send us on our way. We're not going until we're thrown out.

But there are people of tough moral fibre who think about their exit and prepare for it in advance. Some go so far as to arrange and pay for the funeral.

Yesterday a man who looked good for 40 years told me cheerfully that he had been down to the funeral home and made arrangements for his last public appearance.

He didn't think there was anything morbid about it. His motive was to leave all his affairs shipshape and save his relatives from undue worry.

I asked an undertaker whether many people did this. Oh yes, he said. Quite a number did. Some of them insisted upon paying in advance. The firm preferred not to accept advance payment, because it meant setting up a trust fund, and some extra bookkeeping; but if the customer really wanted to deposit money, they let him.

"One gentleman paid in advance," the undertaker said. "Then he came back a year or two later and asked: 'Can I have $50 on account?'

"I said, 'well, I'm not running a bank, sir, but I'll be glad to let you have the money.' He came back once again for another sum, and then he took it all out — he was getting married again."

"Another gentleman bought a nice mahogany casket. After some time he was back again to have his money refunded. He had got married, too. His wife said she would rather have a piano."

ANONYMOUS "THEY"

Hardly a conversation is complete without some reference to "they". "They" should do this or that to improve the community. This "they" business is symptomatic of the "leave it to George" attitude. Instead of "they" we should say "we" and then go ahead and get things done.

Those of you who are already customers of ours won't need to read this. You'll have discovered that we don't just sell machinery and then forget about it. We want to know what happens to it after it leaves our establishment.

STEAM TAXABLE?

Vancouver (CP) — Supreme court here had been asked to decide if steam is a property subject to social services tax. The question arises from a $1,136 sales tax levy on steam supplied to a building by a large hotel's boiler system. Building owners claim steam is merely water, and not taxable.

BULKY LAS as a Silage Preservative

Colleges are recommending as possibly the most efficient practice the use of Beet Pulp in grass silage as it is put into the silo. Their recommendations run from a minimum of 100 lbs. to 200 lbs. per ton in order to "cure the silage".

BULKY LAS at the same level will do everything that Beet Pulp will do in the curing and preserving of grass silage; and in addition, Bulky Las has many more values than Beet Pulp.

For example:

1—Molasses. Bulky Las carries molasses, which everyone knows, is an excellent ingredient for curing grass silage.

2—Minerals. Bulky Las has a wider range and greater abundance of minerals than does Beet Pulp.

3—Proteins. Bulky Las has 13% proteins, whereas beet pulp has only 6% — an extra 7 pounds proteins in every 100 pounds Bulky Las.

4—Volume. Bulky Las has about the same volume as Beet Pulp, and water-absorbing properties.

5—Price. Best of all, Bulky Las is today about the same price as Beet Pulp, and is easier to get. Comes in 50 pound bags and is more easily handled, also the bags have a resale value.

Order your requirements of BULKY LAS for your grass silage, and see the difference it will make. Won't you give us your order today? We deliver.

Says Analysis Proves River Water Safe in Upper Lachute Area

TO THE EDITOR

Lachute, Que., June 12, 1956

Editor, The Watchman.

Dear Sir:

Four years ago, in 1952, there were warnings in different papers regarding swimming in the North River, stating that it was polluted throughout its course. This publicity surprised me, as it causes an injustice to proprietors of boarding houses and summer cottages in the region.

It was in 1913, 43 years ago, that my father purchased a large lot where I now have two buildings. Later, Messrs. Bourbonniere, Fassio, Hoffman, Wilson and others moved to this area, and there are now some 40 families who spend the summer months and swim in the river, without having suffered any malady or polio.

Last summer was extremely warm, the beaches in our region being frequented as never before. I myself swam in the river quite often and drank the water from the river without suffering inconvenience or ill effect.

July 30, 1952, following the requests of several residents of this area after this publicity concerning the water, I had our Department of Health make an analysis of the river water, in the immediate area of my camps where the largest number of people were bathing. The report given to me by Col. Ernest Emmett, Health Inspector, ended with these two words: "Bonne, Satisfactory."

I then went to Montreal to consult the doctor in charge of the laboratories there, and he confirmed all this for the region concerned — that is, around two miles east of the Lachute Post Office.

It is, in my opinion, only fair to my neighbors and in the interest of the district, to offer for publication these true facts as I know them.

Yours sincerely,

— Romeo G. Raymond; Priest

Week at Ottawa

Defeat Censure Motion

As the week ended, a Commons vote on party lines defeated the censure motion against Speaker René Beaudoin. The vote was 109 to 35 against an unprecedented motion by Opposition leader Drew to censure Speaker Beaudoin on a charge of "subordinating the rights of the House to the will of the government."

The motion, which arose during the stormy pipeline battle, was defeated by the combined votes of Liberal and Social Credit members and Ross Thatcher (Ind.—Moose Jaw-Lake Centre). Progressive Conservative and CCF members, who fought the pipeline bill and on June 1 revolted against the Speaker's actions on the debate proceeding, voted to censure the 44-year-old Speaker.

Mr. Drew, closing debate on the censure motion, said that a vote would not restore "that easy relationship and mutual understanding" necessary for conduct of parliamentary business. Only election of a new parliament would restore that. "Something ugly has come into this House," he said. "This parliament cannot be the same again." Health Minister Martin said the opposition was trying to attack the government through its attempted censure. "No matter what the government has done it is no justification for pulling down the authority and the reputation of the Speaker," said the minister.

New Trade Agreement

Canadians last week learned the results of four months' negotiations at Geneva under the 36-country General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade.

Canada agreed to cut or remove duties on a great variety of goods ranging from seafood to beer, fire engines and newsprint, in exchange for the first major tariff concessions she has received from the United States and other countries in four years.

Trade Minister Howe hailed the new GATT agreement in the Commons and called on the U.S. and other countries to approve creation of the Organization for Trade Co-operation to administer the GATT and make it "more effective."

The OTC was proposed at an earlier GATT conference as a means of policing tariff pledges and imposing penalties on countries that break their promises. Britain has already indicated willingnes sto join but the U.S. Congress has not yet given its approval.

Reduce Barriers

Mr. Howe said the tariff reductions negotiated will reduce Canada-U.S. trade barriers and provide "useful, practical" gains for Canadian exporters.

Canada negotiated with the U.S. and 12 other European and Latin American countries. She obtained reductions on more than $300,000,000 worth of goods, about two thirds applicable to the U.S. market.

Officials said they tried to get the U.S. to negotiate on the more important Canadian fram and fish exports but the overtures were rejected.

The U.S. cuts, which will be spread over a two-year period, will cover about 650 products of which 150 will interest Canadian exporters. They include such items as synthetic rubber, various chemicals, aluminum, steel ingots, some paper products, a group of highly-processed goods and a few minor farm products.

MR. LAPALME'S STRANGE ALLIES!

(Editorial from The Montreal Gazette, June 6 ,1956)

It might perhaps have been better if Mr. Georges Lapalme had seen fit to fight his political campaign in the provincial elections more, as it were, in his own right.

His decision to associate himself with such strange allies must present a confusing pattern. If he is prepared to accept such support, he must, in all fairness, be prepared to give something in return. The prospect of Mr. Lapalme rewarding, by whatever policies or services, these odd-assorted allies, is perplexing. His own position as the leader of a party has been considerably confused, as it is no longer quite clear what he is leading, or where.

The working alliance he has formed in the campaign with Quebec's Social Creditors — known as the Union des Electeurs — is particularly disturbing. Social Credit might seem a strange doctrine in any case. But the group in this province has proved indigestible even to the Social Creditors elsewhere in the country.

An alliance originally existed between the two Social Credit groups. But it has ended. Mr. Solon Low, the federal Social Credit leader, has branded the Union des Electeurs as dangerously extreme.

But it is with this disowned group that Mr. Lapalme, as leader of the Quebec Liberal Party, has seen fit to establish relations in this provincial election. In fact a "principle" submitted to the Liberal Party by the Union des Electeurs — a principle regarding the place of capital — has been accepted by Mr. Lapalme. However admirable this principle of economics may sound, there is surely some reason to question the source whence it springs.

But Mr. Lapalme has made an appeal to all opposition forces to unite to defeat the Government. To promote this interesting unity, Mr. Lapalme announced that the Quebec Liberal Federation had adopted this principle of economics "submitted to us by the leaders of Social Credit, and our candidates have told us how satisfied they are with our attitude in this matter."

Mr. Lapalme, of course, must know with whom he is dealing. For this reason, it is all the more strange that he should deal with them nevertheless, and that his party should be satisfied with having accommodated so dubious a political group.

Among other allies, Mr. Lapalme has a working agreement with two extreme Nationalist candidates. One of them is Mr. Rene Chalout, a Nationalist extremist looking for a political camp in which to pitch his lonely tent. It is hard to see how Nationalism could take more vehement forms and expressions than it has in Mr. Chalout's career. But such Nationalism, it seems, is no barrier to Mr. Lapalme's arrangements.

Also in Mr. Lapalme's alliance is Mr. Pierre Laporte, another extremist in the Nationalist line, and until very recently the parliamentary correspondent of Le Devoir.

Mr. Lapalme has looked for assistance in another direction and has welcomed the active support of members of the Liberal Cabinet in Ottawa.

What the purpose of this assistance may be is hard to understand, and it is hard to see that Mr. Lapalme has not compromised himself by accepting it. For, on the one hand, if these Federal Cabinet ministers were to exercise some direction upon Mr. Lapalme if he were elected, they would compromise his position as provincial premier, and to have no business to be here in election time. If on the other hand, they are completely detached, their presence in the campaign becomes anomalous.

Nor would it seem that Mr. Lapalme is aided in consistency, when he is vehemently attacking the alleged influence of American capital in Quebec, while his allies from Ottawa are defending themselves from similar attacks in Ottawa.

With sufficient confidence in his cause, and with confidence that the issues were clear, Mr. Lapalme would scarcely have needed so many ill-assorted companions, or given so many political hostages to so many questionable or incompatible influences.

Duplessis has increased

hydro electric power CONSIDERABLY in every Quebec area

Hydro electric capacity had to be increased to keep pace with Quebec's growing industrial development. Premier Maurice Duplessis faced up to the task in 1944 and in the subsequent decade boosted hydro electric energy from 5,800,000 to 8,000,000 horsepower. We now have an additional 2,400,000 horsepower under construction in the province and total output will soon exceed 10,000,000 horsepower.
Quebec's hydro electric potential is known to be 26,000,000 horsepower.

Mrs. Geo. Fraser, sister of the bride, was matron of honor, wearing a dress of nylon net over taffeta, with lace bodice extending into the skirt and banded with taffeta, with matching lace bolero, and carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

Mr. Milton Titley, of Montreal, brother of the groom, was best man.

Mrs. P. W. MacCulloch, mother of the bride, wore a street-length dress of powder blue crepe and white accessories, and a shoulder spray of red roses. Mrs. Albert Titley, mother of the groom, wore a street-length dress of navy blue with pink accessories, and a shoulder spray of pink roses.

Spring flowers were used to decorate the bride's home for the reception. Later the happy couple left by auto for an extensive tour of the White Mountains, N.H., also New York — the bride travelling in a powder blue gabardine suit, with white accessories and a corsage of red roses. . . Interesting Travelogue

A travelogue on the West Indies was presented by Mrs. A. O. Ponder, convener of Education. Mrs. Ponder visited Antigua, Leeward Islands, during the winter, and in speaking gave a vivid picture of the Island, its history, people, customs and way of living, and exhibited articles of handicraft.

Mrs. Ponder cited the fact that the population of this small island numbers approximately 50,000 — 98% being of colored origin and only 2% of white — living in rather tightly-packed communities.

Antigua was discovered by Columbus. Slavery was abolished in 1806. Industry is mainly carried on by sugar growing. Fresh water is very scarce and rain water is carefully caught and stored for use.

The old harbour, made famous by Lord Horatio Nelson and known as Nelson's Dockyard, is of great interest, also the house which he occupied.

Tourists will not find any night clubs or such entertainment on the island, but for those who enjoy swimming, there are beautiful beaches. The climate is ideal — sunny and warm — and the brilliant flowers and water provide color.

The continual warmth and sunshine can become very monotonous, the speaker said, and after several weeks it is refreshing to return to Canada — where the climate is anything but monotonous!

Mrs. Taylor moved a vote of thanks to Mrs. Ponder for her interesting talk and hospitality in entertaining the members of the Institute.

Afternoon tea was then served.

The next meeting will be held in September.

Womanless Fashionrama Coming to Lachute

The well-known Montreal production "Womanless Fashionrama" will be shown here in Lachute Thursday, June 28, at 8.30 p.m. in the Auditorium, under auspices of the St. Simeon's Women's Guild.

This talented group of "would-be gals" have made quite a name for themselves in Montreal and surrounding districts. They put on this production in their own church hall back in April and it went over so well with the general public that they have presented it on five occasions since then. Such places as Verdun, Longueuil, Rosemount, and Ville LaSalle have been graced by their presence for charitable purposes.

The cast is made up of men of Grace Church (Anglican) in Montreal and the production is under the direction of Mr. C. Gordon Hynes, well known around these parts, being a summer resident at Lake Macdonald.

Fashions for young and old are shown as well as "The Wedding of Tomorrow" which is something everyone should see in case they have the same trouble some day.

Tickets may be secured from any member of St. Simeon's Guild.

Previous to the service of dedication Mr. Bridge expressed the thanks of the church session, members and adherents, to the Rummage Sale Committee for their beautiful and practical gift.

The service of dedication was followed by the reception of new members, and the sacrament of the Lord's Supper.

Bible Briefs

Who Was This?

By A.A.M.

The Bible is rich in stories, and the purpose of this series is to encourage readers to look up for themselves the Bible versions of these incidents. If there are children in the family it is suggested that the story, and the Bible verses on which it is based, be read aloud.

What was the name of the Syrian an older man, to whom God appeared in a dream, and warned him "Take heed to thyself, that thou speak not to Jacob, either good or bad?"

Jacob was his son-in-law who had served him for twenty years — six for his flocks and seven for each of his wives. But the Syrian had changed his wages ten times and become unfriendly to Jacob. When his father-in-law was absent shearing sheep, it was in obedience to God's command that Jacob ran away, with his family, mounted on camels, with all his possessions. Their destination was Jacob's native land.

The Syrian did not hear of their departure for three days. Then he pursued them hotly for seven days. At Mishap he caught up with them. In great anger he chided his son-in-law, reminding him that he was in a position to harm them. But he feared to do this because of God's warning.

Jacob justified his leaving and the two men agreed to make a covenant of peace. They gathered a heap of stones and ate beside it. Then said the Syrian, "Jehovah watch between me and thee, when we are absent one from another." They gave their word not to harm each other. Early the next morning, after the Syrian had kissed his daughters and blessed them, Jacob departed to return to his own place.

Find his father-in-law's name and this story in Genesis, Chapter 31.

Careers in Canada Urged on Students

Sydney, N.S. (CP) — C. M. Anson, vice-president of the Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation, predicts it won't be too many years before the company's big steel mills will be run "entirely by local men" if the "export" of Maritimes brains can be stopped.

He told a group of high school students "it will be a living disgrace if someone among you 20 years from now is not standing here in the position I now occupy."

Mr. Anson said the advantages of remaining in one's own community "with your friends, associates and neighbors" outweigh higher pay offered elsewhere.

"Stop exporting the brains of the Maritimes," he said.

"The ability and brains are here. Let us make use of both for the progress and development of our community, industrial and economic welfare."

Mr. Anson's audience was attending the annual Dosco-Academy Day luncheon. Dosco-Academy was launched in 1948 by the firm to provide a supplementary industrial education for Sydney Academy students. It has about 150 members.

Evacuation--Its Effect on a City Dweller

Sixteenth in a series of 24 articles

The only really sure way to save the lives of persons living in a city threatened by attack with hydrogen bombs is to evacuate them to areas out of the blast's long reach. This is easier said than done, for it creates many problems. Civil defence planners are certain, however, that none of these problems is impossible.

If an H-Bomb attack was on its way to North America, there would be time only to clear out. Civil defence officials emphasize that people would have to flee from wherever they happened to be in a city when the warning came.

There would be no time to return home from the office and rejoin the family. Even those at home would have time only to grab what necessities were handy.

The chief problem of evacuation, of course, is keeping the traffic moving. Civil defence organizers plan to divide cities into sections, each one with its own exit route and destination in the country.

But as soon as he gets into the rural area, the small town or village, the city dweller who fled with scarcely more than his life would have a whole new set of problems to face.

First in the view of civil defence planners is that of reuniting families. They feel that the first thing a man who had to leave by one route for one destination while his wife and children left by another route to another destination will want to know once he escaped the immediate danger is: "Where are the wife and kids?"

Civil defence officials believe they are solving the problem of at least arranging for families to learn where each member is once they've left the city. But it can only be done by setting up a nationwide network of civil defence organizations, built around existing services and facilities, which include trained volunteers who know how to count and identify heads in a hurry.

The displaced city dweller will also need clothing, food, a place to sleep, and money. Civil defence aims to develop means in every community so that these essentials could be provided if war ever makes them necessary.

The H-Bomb would wipe out whole cities and make them uninhabitable for months, years or possibly even a century or two through deadly radiation. That means many city dwellers would have to be evacuated on a permanent basis. They would have to find new homes, new jobs; in short, the whole population of some of Canada's biggest cities might have to be relocated. This would be a tremendous job, but if it were thrust upon the country by an enemy aggressor, it would have to be done. Death would be the only alternative for hundreds of thousands of city residents.

"In my opinion," says F. F. Worthington, Federal Civil Defence Co-ordinator, "the day of the great city with its population density is ended."

"Or certainly will be ended if and when nuclear weapons are used in warfare."

"So far as we are able to determine, the best defence against nuclear weapons is space. Once a great city, such as Montreal, has been laid low by a thermonuclear weapon . . . a large area of 100 to 200 square miles in that city will be rendered uninhabitable for a very long time."

"Survivors from these areas must necessarily be distributed over small communities and newly planned and built towns. I do not think that great cities will be allowed to grow again in the haphazard way of the past."

Trade Is Booming In Foothill Town

Pincher Creek, Alta. (CP) — This cattle-ranching town in the foothills 60 miles southwest of Lethbridge is looking towards its greatest expansion of recent times in 1956, after a prosperous Golden Jubilee year.

An estimated 220,000 bushels of wheat were delivered to elevators here along with 40,000 bushels of barley, 10,000 bushels of oats and 8,000 bushels of rye. This gave an estimated monetary value of $242,000 to farmers in the area.

In comparison, the 1954 crop yielded approximately the same amount of wheat delivered, 8,000 bushels of barley, 2,000 bushels of oats and 14,000 bushels of rye.

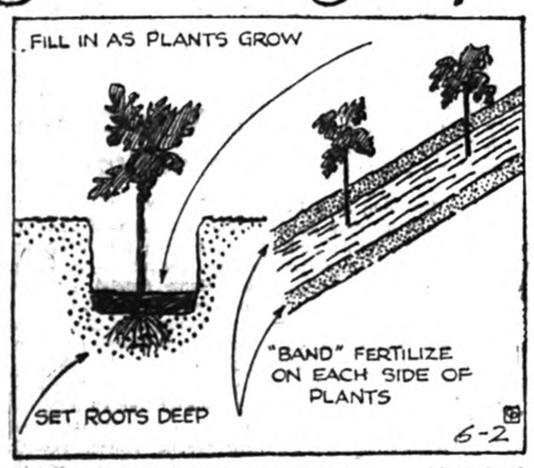

Livestock entered the winter in prime condition and cattle marketed here were of good quality, 10,859 head selling for $1,194,754 during 1955, slightly less than 1954 when 11,518 head brought $1,226,446.

Thousands of bushels of wheat still are stored on farms but sale of livestock and coarse grains helped keep ready cash in the hands of most district farmers and ranchers.

The town looks forward to increased population this year, prompted by anticipated development of a huge wet-gas field south of the townsite. A proposed $4,000,000 separation plant along with the gas is expected to give Pincher Creek great expansion.

Garden-Graph

Make haste slowly in setting out early tomatoes. Wait until all danger of frost is past. In northern areas this generally means from May 20 to June 10. Unseasonable weather may upset this time schedule. Many home gardeners play safe and wait until the end of May.

Proper method of setting out tomato plants is shown in the accompanying Garden-Graph. Dig a hole or trench, as illustrated. Set the roots deep with enough earth to hold the plants firm, then fill up as the plants grow.

A method of "band" fertilizing tomatoes is shown in the Garden-Graph. The fertilizer should be "banded" in a trench 2½ inches on either side of the plants. Trenches should be 3 to 4 inches deep. After the fertilizer has been placed in them, the trenches should be covered with soil.

Tomato plants, once firmly rooted, should be tied securely to supporting stakes with soft cotton tape. This type of tape will not break the skin of the plant and, even when firmly tied, will permit plenty of freedom for plant growth.

To avoid end-rot do not plant tomatoes in dry locations and mulch the plants with clean straw two or three inches deep.

The most effective way to apply the mulch is to scratch up the soil so it is loose around each plant. Then place the mulch material on the loosened soil around each plant and along the row.

Statement by Georges Duhamel

on withdrawal as U.N. Independent candidate

After serious reflection, it gives me pleasure to announce that I have withdrawn as a candidate in the coming election in the County of Argenteuil.

Following the action I have taken, certain friends of mine and electors of the county have doubted my sincerity towards the Union Nationale Party.

It is to show clearly my political convictions and the admiration I have for the leader of the Union Nationale Party, the Hon. Maurice Duplessis, that I have decided to withdraw from the campaign and give my full support to the Hon. Wm. Cottingham, Minister of Mines, who is well able to serve the best interests of the County of Argenteuil with efficiency and devotion.

I feel that personal ideas should be forgotten in face of the great cause which we all desire to serve, and I would like to be the first to wish the Union Nationale Party an overwhelming victory, not only through the province, but particularly in Argenteuil County.

AFFIDAVIT

I, the undersigned, Georges Duhamel, autobus proprietor, residing at St. Andrews East, in the County of Argenteuil, being duly sworn, do solemnly declare:

1—Regarding the declarations which I made at the joint meeting held at Lachute, on June 6, 1956, relative to certain amounts of money which had been paid to Mr. Léopold Carrière — my friends have informed me that after my speech the impression left was that these amounts had been paid for obtaining political favors, and more specifically for the recommendation of the transfer of the license of the Rivest Hotel;

2—If such is the case, and to clarify the situation, I declare that it was not my intention to mislead the public or to make any false accusations. It was due to my tenseness and inexperience in public speaking at joint sessions that I was misunderstood.

3—The facts are simply that I paid to Mr. Léopold Carrière the amounts of money as interest on the mortgage which he personally held on the hotel building of which I was proprietor, and which I was obligated to pay before the transfer of the property was made, as well as the transfer of the license.

4—I have never given any sum of money to Léopold Carrière, of Lachute Mills, to recommend the transfer of a license to the Rivest Hotel, Lachute.

And I have signed —

Sworn before me at Lachute, this 12th day of June 1956.
— PHILIPPE J. DEPOCAS, C.C.S.,
Commissioner of the Superior Court, District of Montreal.

During the march-past the salute was taken by Mrs. Barnett, Montreal commissioner. The inspection was then taken by the visiting commissioners. The 1st Rosemere Brownie Pack was presented with a Toadstool for neatness, and the Ste. Agathe Girl Guides with the large Trefoil, also for neatness. Games were then enjoyed, followed by a handicraft period. During this period the Brownies made Indian headdresses and the Guides made beaded stoles. Baseball Tilt — Brownsburg 9, Papineauville 2

(Our District Correspondent)

Brownsburg — It seems there are two distinct classes in the league. Brownsburg, Montebello and Buckingham, who play a fine class of ball, are all tied for the league lead, although Brownsburg, by virtue of their much better scoring, sit in top spot. The other three clubs are not in the same league, so to speak, and can only beat each other!

On Sunday, Brownsburg, in their worst showing of the season, thrashed a listless Papineauville team 9-2, behind the solid pitching of Karl Gagné. Montebello and Buckingham won too and now they have each lost only a game.

The Papineauville game was a sloppy affair, with 12 stolen bases and seven errors. Some of the hits, too, were unworthy of our class of ball. There were some encouraging aspects though, besides the extent of the local win. Billy Cribb batted four for five in the lead-off spot scoring two and batting in one run. Buddy Racine batted two for five with a healthy double and a solid single. Gilles Diotte hit two singles in his four times at bat and walked once. So our batting slumps are ended. The only player hitting below form now is Jacques Racine who is normally our best man. Jacques' fielding at second base is tops in the league (he already has fourteen assists and thirteen put-outs) and his batting has been productive — 5 runs scored, 3 batted-in — but his hits are less frequent than usual.

Yves Raymond with a triple, a single and two walks, and Mel Tomalty with a double, single walk and sacrifice were the other big bats in the Brownsburg line-up.

Afield, although allowing six stolen bases and making two errors, our team turned in two lovely double plays, one of them the round-the-clock play — third to second to first with Jacques Racine making the pivot play like a seasoned veteran.

Brownsburg plays away again this week, at Hawkesbury. But the club coffers were helped considerably by a benefit dance held last week by the Café Marquise. Next week though, with the rival Buckingham club as guest you will get a chance to support your club.

Lady Golfers In the Swing

Despite weather hold-ups, ladies' golf is now in full swing at the Lachute Golf and Country Club. Miss Rita Gilbert won the first 18-hole tournament Medal Round for "A" Class, and Mrs. Norma Rogers for "B" Class.

Mrs. A. R. Coté won 3rd low gross at Summerlea C.L.G.U. Bronze Field Day on Friday, with Miss Cecile Ethier winning 5th.

Eight ladies have been invited to paly at Hawkesbury golf club next week.

Mrs. R. Vernandel, of Montreal, was the only lady member from Lachute to beat Fay Crocker in National Golf Day.

There was a good turnout for the regular monthly June meeting, and plans are being made for an Invitation Day Tournament in July, when members from 10 Montreal and district clubs will be invited to golf and buffet at Lachute.

Tennis Schedule Announced for District League

The directors of the Ayers Recreation Centre are pleased to inform local tennis players that the official opening of the courts will take place this Saturday, June 16. Those interested may obtain their membership cards at the Ayers mill office or at the club itself.

Activities in the Quebec-Ontario League commence June 21, when the Ayers Club meets Brownsburg. The Ayers Trophy, which will be the objective of clubs entered from Lachute, Brownsburg, Alexandria, Hawkesbury, Rigaud and l'Orignal, is now on display at the Ducharme Sport Store.

Members interested in the various games are requested to commence training as soon as possible.

The executive of the tennis section is composed of Roger Regimbal and Hubert Lemire, with the aid of Jacques Bourgoing, who is acting as captain-coach.

(The schedule, which opens June 21, Thursday, will be published in next issue of this journal.)

For Top-Flight Stardom, Major League Baseball

Mickey Mantle, setting a blistering pace in his sixth season in major league baseball, appears ready to reach the super-stardom predicted for him since he joined the New York Yankees at the tender age of 19 years.

The Oklahoma strong-boy is tearing the American League apart this summer with his blundgeoning bat.

The way he's sizzling right now it would be no surprise if the centre fielder captured the triple crown consisting of the batting, home run and runs-batted-in titles, as well as the league's most-valuable-player honor.

As this is written, Mantle is his league's top batsman with a remarkable .407 average. He has scored more runs than anyone else, 46; driven in more runs than anyone else, 52; has the most hits, 70, and the most home runs, 21.

Veteran fans around the American League circuit — those who 20-odd years ago witnessed the exploits of Babe Ruth in his prime — watch with excited anticipation as Mickey strides to the plate and look with wonder as he rifles home runs over the distant fences.

Terrific Slugger

Buddy Lewis, a catcher with the old Boston Braves, saw Mantle for the first time in Florida spring training this year and could scarcely believe some of the drives Mickey hit. "He ought to be the greatest player who ever lived," Lewis said.

Terry Moore, who for years was regarded as the top centre-fielder in the National League when he was a member of the St. Louis Cardinals, is another Mantle fan.

"Mantle has more power than anybody I've ever seen," he said, "and that includes Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig of the Yankees. I played against Ruth and Gehrig and I never say either of them hit a ball as hard as Mickey has hit this spring."

And batting isn't the youngster's only strong point. He is a topnotch fielder, a good base runner and has a fine throwing arm.

At 24, it looks as if Mantle finally has matured. He is creating the same furore that he did as a rookie in spring training at Phoenix, Ariz., when people began comparing him with another great Yankee outfielder, Joe DiMaggio, even before Mantle had played a big league game.

Colford Lodge Outshoots Artillery Squad 16-4

Last Sunday it was Colford Lodge who had the big guns — giving the Artillery of Lachute a decisive beating.

Arthur Denault and Marcel Chartrand smashed four hits each for the winners, Denault blasting three triples and a double, while Jean Guy Larocque helped win his second game with a grand slam home-run and also struck out 12 batters.

Bob St. Laurent played a strong game at first base for the losers. Howard Ward was the losing pitcher.

Next Sunday Colford's play host to Vankleek Hill; this game should be a real thriller. Last year the two teams met twice, Colford's winning the first game 3-2 and then dropping the second 1-10. . . Game time will be 2 p.m.

ARTS, SHOWS AND ENTERTAINMENT

A Victorian Novel In Radio Serial

An innocent heiress, a missing will, a selfish society beauty with a secret past, an eccentric American millionaire, a young hero — these are the ingredients of a new drama serial to be heard on the Dominion network. Entitled "The Golden Butterfly" and taken from the novel of the same name which appeared in 1877, the 10-episode serial has been transcribed by the BBC.

The title is taken from a treasured luck-bringer which an American oil king keeps in a glass box bearing the inscription: "If this golden butterfly fall and break, farewell the luck of Gilead P. Beck." Beck, played by James McKechnie, is a magnanimous, egostistical man who tries to hide behind a mask of friendliness.

"The Golden Butterfly" begins on June 19 at 10 p.m. on CBC Dominion and the first episode is called "Fair Prisoner". It introduces a woman, Miss Phillis Fleming, who falls heir to a large sum of money upon the death of her guardian. The guardian had held strict views on feminine education and as a consequence the young woman is unable to read or write. Through her lawyer she is gradually introduced to the glittering world of society and in this way she meets the rich American, Gilead P. Beck.

Favorites to Appear On "Shower of Stars"

Jack Benny, Bob Crosby, dancers Marge and Gower Champion, child movie player Babette Bain and young Leonard Ross who won $100,000 on a quiz program will be among the guests on "Shower of Stars", 4.00-5.00 p.m., June 17 on CBC-TV.

Benny will be the host and will do an act or two of his own. He will take dancing lessons from the Champions in advance of the show and will do a dance for the first time on TV. With Leonard Ross, the 10-year-old stock market wizard, he will take part in a comedy sketch in which the boy will act as his financial adviser.

Benny will also do one of his famous monologues, especially prepared for the show; he will get some pointers on crooning from Crosby, with an eye to a vocal career, and will accompany himself on the violin.

Crosby will sing several numbers and the Champions, one of the top U.S. dance teams, will do several numbers with Babette Bain, who appears in several upcoming movies and was the youngest of "Seven Little Foys."

There are seven standard time zones in Canada and the difference in time between the Newfoundland and Yukon zones is five and one-half hours.

Parent and Child

What responsibility has a parent for the actions of his child? CBC-TV explains and illustrates this in "It's the Law", on June 19. Host Frank Peddie and a guest legal expert will delve into aspects of this facet of the law, following a drama in which a father constantly talks of guns to his two young boys, one of whom goes out and buys a gun with which he injures a playmate. The program will also reveal how a storekeeper can become involved by selling a gun to a minor.

FOLK SCHOOL

Taymouth, N.B. (CP) — Nashwaak Resources Development Centre's first annual folk school opened here was a six-day event in which members studied such subjects as community singing, dramatics, public speaking, health and community programs.

Football Preview

Swimming and football will be the main topics on the "Vic Obeck Show" June 20, at 8 p.m. on CBC-TV (June 21, at 8.30 p.m. on station CBMT).

In the swimming department, films of Marilyn Bell, Gus Ryder and others at the Lakeshore Swimming Club in Toronto will be used to illustrate the basic rules of safe swimming, stressing where and when to swim.

As a preview of the 1956 football season, a panel of eastern Big Four coaches will discuss the prospects of the various teams. The coaches are Doug Walker of Montreal Alouettes, Jim Tremble of Hamilton Tiger Cats, Frank Clair of Ottawa Rough Riders and Bill Swiaki of Toronto Argonauts. Practices for most of the teams will be starting around July 1st.

That "Sleeper Hold"

Sportscaster Dave Price, who does the commentary on wrestling each week on CBC Television, wanted to find out for himself just how mean Hard-Boiled Haggarty could be. The number one villain of wrestling made no bones about it. Quick like a bunny, he applied a Sleeper Hold, and Price went out like a light — he didn't stand a chance! He is going to stay out of the ring after this, but will still be on hand at the wrestling matches to bring CBC viewers his groan-by-groan account.

Written Specially for The Lachute Watchman

By Oli Daum, Canadian Press Staff Writer

The news that Marilyn Bell will tackle the treacherous Strait of Juan de Fuca this summer didn't really surprise anyone.

Rumors to that effect started circulating almost before the young swimmer wrung the salt water from her bathing suit after conquering the turbulent English channel last year.

But Marilyn's fans are excited as all get-out about her latest announcement. Although the Pacific coast strait is shorter than either Lake Ontario or the channel, it's said to be the most forbidding. Indeed, it's been called the "Mount Everest of Swims."

The freckle-faced girl's admirers would, no doubt, like to convince themselves that she'll swim the strait. She's accomplished the near-impossible before and that after two years she's still Lake Ontario's only conqueror bears this out. And for the books, she's the channel's youngest conqueror.

But the strait's record prevents any feeling of confidence — for anyone but 18-year-old Marilyn, that is.

After many tried and failed, the strait was finally crossed last year by burly Bert Thomas, a Tacoma, Wash., logger. The ex-frogman swam from Port Angeles, Wash. to Victoria.

The 18-mile stretch of water has never been swum from the Canadian to the United States shore. That's what Marilyn hopes to do.

"I think it'll be tougher than the channel but you can't tell till you try," she said. "I'm not overconfident but you've got to have a bit of confidence in yourself. I know I'll go out and do my best."

What more can Canadians ask of the game little swimmer?

No Mere Walkathon

A silver-haired woman recently visited Canada during a 10,000-mile pilgrimage she started 3½ years ago.

United States-born, the woman calls her self, Peace Pilgrimage. Her mission is to walk 10,000 miles — at least 100 miles through every state and another 100 each in Mexico and Canada — promoting disarmament and peace along the way.

Passing through Toronto en route to Ottawa, Peace Pilgrimage declined to disclose her real identity, place of origin and personal background, saying it would take attention from her mission.

"I don't belong to any organization," she said. "I heard a call from heaven to dedicate my life to be of as much service as possible to others."

Penniless, the middle-aged woman wanders around on foot and faith urging all whom she meets to press for world disarmament.

"I shall remain a wanderer, walking until I am given shelter, and fasting until I am given food, until mankind has learned the way of peace," she said. "I never ask for help. It must be offered to me."

Peace Pilgrimage said she has never missed more than four consecutive meals and had a bed three-quarters of the time.

"My strength has been given to me — I couldn't do this on my own," she said. "I couldn't have done it 20 or even 10 years ago, but after I received my call I walked 50 miles one day and I wasn't tired. I talked to eight different organizations without stopping for lunch and I wasn't hungry."

Queen of Tarts -- Come Strawberry Time

Strawberry Bread Slices Tartlets

Here's a quick and easy way for homemakers to reign as "Queen of Tarts" and at the same time by-pass the pastry problem. The shell for these tarts consists of nothing more or less than a slice of enriched bread spread with butter or margarine, sprinkled with sugar and then tucked into a muffin cup and baked that way to hold its cup-like shape. We've suggested that these tartlets be filled with sweetened strawberry slices and topped with whipped cream and whole berries. However, you can go fancy free if you like and fill the tartlets with apple sauce, instant pudding or any kind of fresh fruit your family prefers. Whatever filling you choose, those tempting tarts will have one great advantage — they can be made in a flash. You can use a bevy of toppings to provide eye appeal and variety — chocolate curls, hard sauce or whipped cream. If you have a few extra moments on your hands you can even play with a pastry tube and achieve an effect of extreme elegance. It's a party trick to keep in mind for the day and bridge tea is shifted to your house at the last minute, or your maiden aunt drops in for an unexpected chat. It's a festive offering that can be made quickly from ingredients that are almost sure to be staples in your kitchen.

Strawberry Bread Slices Tartlets

12 Slices enriched white bread, 4 tablespoons butter or margarine, ¼ cup granulated sugar, 1 pint basket of strawberries, ¼ cup granulated sugar, ½ pint whipping cream.

Preheat oven to 350 degrees F. (moderate). Trim crusts from slices of enriched white bread with kitchen scissors. Spread both sides with butter or margarine and sprinkle with granulated sugar. Fit slices of bread into muffin cups. Bake in preheated oven until lightly browned. Fill bottoms of tartlets with strawberry sweetened with whipped cream and whole berries. Makes 12 tartlets.

Tips on Touring

I call it a "headache box", and I keep it in the glove compartment of my car. It is my answer to nearly every little annoyance, bother, nuisance or minor accident that could happen to me on the road.

I shopped in a 5-and-10 and here's what I have:

1—A small, but complete, first-aid kit of bandages, adhesive tape, disinfectant, salve, and scissors to take care of any minor accident such as a cut or burn.

2—Small bottles of aspirin, soda tablets, heat pills, and my favorite indigestion remedy.

3—A bottle of sun lotion, an inexpensive pair of sun glasses for use when I misplace my regular ones, and an insect bite preventive.

4—A tiny sewing kit, an extra pair of hose, a spare compact, a few bobby pins, one or two costume jewellery items, and a comb.

Try the "headache box" idea — it'll help keep headaches in the box, where they belong.

Needed — A Father

(Copyright) — By NANCY CLEAVER —

"There was something truly pathetic about a boy who was not in a position to yell, "I'll tell my Pop on you and my Pop can lick your Pop!" wrote Anna Perrott Rose, a widow who adopted a Latvian boy, orphaned by the Second World War. Her book, which all parents will enjoy, is called "The Gentle House." She added this remark about her adopted twelve-year-old:

"There was no man to fight his battles for him, but Tinchy did the best he could with the poor material at hand. Flattened out on the playground one day with an enemy knee on his chest he bawled, 'You come home with me and my Missis will beat you with a broomstick and pick you up and throw you out the window and you will be killed'."

"The father in most homes on this continent is not much more than an animated pay check," an outstanding commentator said recently.

Is that an accurate description of the "head of the house?" Is dad just the man who "foots the bills?" If there is truth in this statement, it is about time that all thoughtful citizens spend some time considering a father's place in the family.

Being an effective father is not a simple matter in the modern world. The domineering figure of a tyrant presented in "Barrets of Wimpole Street" or the lovable hot-tempered dictator in Clarence Day's "Life With Father" are types of a life gone by. Perhaps the pendulum has swung too far in the other direction! Father has become almost too self effacing as far as being a vital force in the life of the household.

Visitors from the Continent are amazed at the dominant role played by women in American and Canadian families. The spending of the larger part of the family budget, the running of the home, the training of the children are all considered to be a mother's responsibility. Quite unconsciously, many mothers give their husbands little or no part in the education of their children.

The pressure of earning a living in a competitive business world keeps many fathers away from home from early morning till dusk. When they do return they are tired, their nerves on edge.

Mother whisks the small fry to bed as soon as possible — as for teen-age boys and girls — most of their interest centres outside the home with their own gang. They are eager to be away about their own affairs shortly after father gets home for his evening meal.

The adolescent boy or girl is longing for complete independence. Father may be the backbone of the family's economy and the source of a generous allowance, but the average teen ager hasn't too much respect for the "Old Man."

Their attitude is not so very different from Mark Twain's description of himself in his middle teens — "When I was a boy of fourteen, my father was so ignorant I could hardly stand him around." But it is to the great novelist's credit, that approaching maturity, he, too, grew in discernment. Because he added, "But I got to be twenty-one and I was astonished at how much the old man had learned in seven years!"

Father's job is first of all to see that no one, not even mother, can fill his shoes in his share of the job of bringing up children. How often a youngster quotes his father — "My dad says this '—'," or "My dad does that!" How often a child is absorbing his parents' standards of good and evil!

In a review of Arthur Miller's "Death of a Salesman," Herbert Whittaker makes this estimation: "This might also be labelled 'Failure of a Father'. Being of our time, Willy Loman has substituted for the pride of workmanship the salesman's eagerness to please, the reliance on popularity, the appreciation of face value. These things he has instilled in his two sons. Honesty and the rewards of solemn labor he has laughed out of countenance before them."

When he dies, his sons rail against the old man — and the tragic story points up the false values of a modern family. Willy Loman failed his two lads with his lack of moral standards, with his cynicism towards the things of the spirit. The job of a father is much more than instilling the technique and the importance of material success. What ideals are the children in your home learning from you?

Let's Have A Picnic

There are almost as many kinds of picnics as there are people to go on them, places to go and means of getting there. And always, the food is the thing! Nothing ever tastes so good as picnic food and it does not have to be fancy — in fact, the plainer, the better, so long as there is enough to satisfy hearty, outdoor appetites. But, however you plan it, remember a picnic means fun and everyone, including mother, should be able to relax and have a good time.

The parks which provide tables, fireplaces and playgrounds for the children make ideal spots for wonderful family picnics. Sometimes two or three families picnic together, each bringing a share of the food, most of which can be the kind that is prepared at home and carried along. Dutch ovens, casseroles or roasting pans with tight-fitting covers will keep hot foods warm for as much as two hours if the containners have been wrapped in several layers of newspaper. Such ordinary foods as home baked beans or beef stew with vegetables never have quite as much appeal at home as they do on a picnic.

Of course, if there are cooking facilities at the picnic spot most people like to take foods that can be cooked and then eaten hot off the grill. Frankfurthers, sausages, steaks, hamburgers or chicken cut-ups, fried potatoes, sliced onions and bacon and eggs all smell wonderful and taste delicious when cooked outdoors.

If no one feels like cooking before or at the picnic, however, it is still possible to have a splendid array of food with no work involved! Foods like canned or packaged luncheon meats, jars or peanut butter, pickles and spreads, a package of cheese, bread or rolls, butter, crackers, potato chips, canned apple or tomato juice, an assortment of fresh fruits or canned ones, vegetables such as cucumbers and packaged cookies, cake or pie — any or all of these foods from your pantry shelves can go along in the picnic basket. And don't forget salt and pepper, a thermos of milk and last but not least, the can opener!

To keep a recipe card or clipping from being splattered slip it between the tines of a fork and invert the fork in a glass.

It DOES matter which Oil Burner you buy!

If you're in the market for an oil burner, there are dozens for you to choose from. They all look very much alike. They all burn oil. Some are pretty efficient, others less so. But, unless you're an engineer, there's no way for you to decide which burner is best for your needs, except by insisting on one made by a reputable, long-established manufacturer. Like Smart's, for example. We recommend Smart's series "A" oil burners because when we sell one we know that the customer is going to be satisfied with the deal, for a long time. Let's Eat

BY IDA BAILEY ALLEN

"I find it strange," said the chef, "that North Americans do not eat more lamb.

"In France it is a most popular meat. Lamb roast and cutlets, lamb ragout, and lamb printaniere, that is, with spring vegetables, are regularly served in homes and restaurants.

"In my opinion, madame," he continued, "the reason that lamb is not popular in many parts of this country is because the homemakers do not know how to cook it without the 'baa'."

"And how is that, chef?" I laughed.

Herbs and Spices

"Just cut off the excess fat before cooking and season the lamb with herbs and spices.

"Garlic is an excellent seasoning for lamb, just a soupcon, or trace, obtained by rubbing a cut section of garlic over chops or a roast before cooking. The heat should be high in the beginning, to drain off the fat, then lowered to permit cooking through to the centre."

"Lemon juice also has a real affinity for lamb," I remarked.

"If cooking a lamb roast, I usually pour over a fourth cup of lemon juice when it is almost done. A few thin slices of lemon improve the flavor of a lamb casserole or stew and lemon wedges are a perfect garnish-accompaniment to lamb chops or lamb cutlets or steaks."

Reptilian DOG-TAGS

We are often amazed how aluminum gets around to unusual places. Who would think of looking for aluminum in the stomach of a Zululand crocodile! . . .

It seems when this croc was emptied, no less than 32 aluminum dog licenses were found in its stomach, which suggests that Zulu dogs are mighty careless. But it proves that aluminum is immune even to the formidable digestive juices in this reptile's insides.

Industry capitalizes on this resistant quality of aluminum when industrial fumes and other corrosive conditions present a problem: one of several reasons why this modern metal is in such heavy demand—and why Alcan is again increasing its already large smelting capacity.

Former Morin Heights Postmaster To Receive Award This Saturday For Record of Worthwhile Service

Specially Contributed by Col. V. Henry Jekyll

Dalhousie University recently recognized a life of devotion to humanitarian service in conferring upon a Canadian Medical Missionary an honorary degree. In the accepted tradition the new Doctor of Laws addressed the convocation and, in her remarks, warned the some three hundred graduates present of the prevalence in Canada of a perversion in moral and physical values. She cited, by way of illustration, the sickening adulation currently paid Hollywood, its stars, big business and the professional sportsman, disregarding entirely their morals or the lack of them. She proceeded in declaring that "with the advent of television, deep freezers, a new car a year (all on the installment plan) something went out of Canadian life." She said, "People don't seem to sing anymore; they are too busy listening, and watching television. Friends and neighbors used to help one another, out of sheer joy and a stricter devotion to duty; now, however, such consideration and kindliness is replaced by the paid baby sitting racket."

She emphasized the vital need to cherish independence of thought and action in the promotion of good judgment and development of a right sense of values; and to achieve, through their possession, the greatest of all possible earthly rewards.

Few of us, I am sure, who have grown up and known life in earlier times, especially in rural Canada, will dispute this Canadian missionary's contention. Nevertheless, we are bound to confess that living today is a fascinating experience, so attractive that despite our best intentions, nay even our possible resentment, we stand impotent against the forces that literally wrench the old ways from us and encompass their sure and complete obsolescence.

A fuller enjoyment of the arts and sciences, and man's ingenuity to harness them to the daily tasks, so common a characteristic of our mode of living today, robs us of our arguments, of the power, or even of the will to impede the rapid disappearance of all vestiges of the good old days.

The evolution, productive of our modern times, lists in lightning succession, one miracle after another. In the past century, or even since the turn of the present century, machines have been produced and propelled by steam, gas, petrol, electricity, atomic power, and yet a new variation by sundry other means of nuclear fission, all have been harnessed in their turn and place, towards labour and time-saving, and naturally are fantastically popular. The commonest applications so far of the newest forms of power, regrettably, have been directed towards man's destruction, promoting the art of waging war, and so effective are they at extermination that their heinousness beggars all comprehension or speculation.

The motor car, and the ever-narrowing of horizons in consequence of its use and popularity, lends ever fresh possibilities to our way of living. We could go on and on, endlessly enumerating the marvels and wonders that this strange age of genius of ours has produced. But then, with such powerful mechanical slaves to do our bidding, why is parting with the old ways so often tinged with regret, and surrender of the irksome chores accompanied by sighs seldom solely of relief. Reckon for a moment the cost to us of this new-found and universal prosperity, with toil and hours of labor on the decrease, and new and extended leisure for all so easily and rapidly grained.

Stables converted to garages are a common enough sight in the country still, but may we fairly say, the tenancy of the motor car is a full compensation for the nuzzle of Old Dobbin? This question the rising generation cannot answer as the automobile has occupied their stable from their earliest acquaintance with it.

Are our movies, radio and television a fair substitute for the community effort that, till the turn of the century, was almost the sole source of local entertainment? Does Hollywood compensate us in any measure for the current dearth of local talent? Some forty years ago every community boasted its quota of musical groups or families that are today (off stage, set or screen), indeed a total rarity.

The sick or maimed today no longer endure delay; nor because of isolation, pecuniary or other circumstances, depend upon the tender ministrations of neighbors and lay workers. Our wonderful hospitals and the efficient means of expeditious transportation for all casualties have rendered even the parable of the Good Samaritan out of date, except in its highly organized and professional application.

Such changes as I have indicated, though by no means the lot, have come about so rapidly and been accepted so readily that the rising generation see them as "fait accompli" and, lacking the intimate means of comparison we possess, are incapable of fairly assessing their virtues and their evils.

It is with contemplation such as this, on transition, and its influences of obliteration affecting singularly that quality that belonged to the pioneers, that Morin Heights addresses itself, on the afternoon of June 16, to the award of one whose humanitarian services rank with the best in the community and link Jim Syvret, long-time postmaster of this village, with the names of Emma Davis, Dolly Seale, Abie Stapleton, Edgar Boyd and others now deceased but still fondly remembered for their manifold missions of mercy and hope.

The Most Venerable Order of the Hospital of St. John of Jerusalem will be represented tomorrow by Major Ian Morgan, Councillor for the Quebec Council of the Priory, who will make the presentation to James E. Syvret of an official award in recognition of his works in perpetuation of a tradition that has formed the foundation of the St. John Ambulance and the cornerstone of the Venerable Order.

HOPE FOR HONEYMOON AROUND WORLD

A honeymoon trip around the world in a sailing ship they built themselves is the destination of Toronto newlyweds Edgar and Joan Wilson, seen above taking movies of their schooner, the Kondor. The young couple have spent the past year working on the 34-foot boat, which has taken five years to finish. Its interior features a cabin that is 12 feet long, two bunks and a folding table and a galley at the after end reached through a hatch on deck. The Kondor's first stop across the Atlantic some time this year will be the Azores. Then England, South America and Australia.

278 Candidates Entered To Contest 93 Seats

By Brian Selwood

Quebec (CP) — With the advent of Nomination Day, a total of 278 candidates to contest the Quebec Legislature's 93 seats at the Provincial Election, handed in their papers to the various returning officers.

Each candidate was required to pay a $200 deposit. This deposit is forfeited if a candidate fails to obtain at least half the number of votes cast for the winning candidate.

Seven of the candidates are women. There have, of course, been women candidates at previous elections, but none has ever been elected to the Legislature.

The Union Nationale place candidates in each of the 93 constituencies. The Liberals nominated 91, and announced their support of the Independent candidates in the other two ridings.

The Social Democratic Party has 26 candidates and the Labor Progressive Party 33. In addition there are 15 Independent Union Nationale Candidates, eight Independent, two Labor and one Union Nationale Labor, and one Independent Nationalist.

NOT CIVIC MINDED?

Canadians aren't very interested in the activities of their municipal governments, despite the fact that civic legislators handle budgets totaling more than $850 millions a year. That's the main finding of a survey by the Citizens' Research Institute of Canada on voting turnout in 21 major Canadian cities, and published in The Financial Post.

The survey showed an average 43.5% vote for the chief elective office in the cities ranging from a low of 23.7% in Regina to a high of 81.5% in Ottawa. Of a total of 1.7 million eligible voters, only 754,113 voted in the municipal elections surveyed.

B'burg Council to Impose Head Tax On Outsiders Employed in Village

Delegation Requests Attention to Roads

(Our District Correspondent)

Brownsburg — Mr. Sid Stilwell of the Rotary Club asked the Council, as the authoritative body to make the war memorial truly commemorative of all war dead by adding the names of the fallen in World War II.

A delegation of taxpayers asked the Council to make real roads out of the bumpy thoroughfares between Bank Street and Elmwood. Mayor D. Lepine announced that the work would start shortly and a 16-foot asphalt road would be made from Main Street at Bank, north to the last house. Another 16-foot road would connect this Bank Street extension with Elmwood, and a third road would connect this Elmwood extension with Hillcrest. The Council accepted the necessary parts of road from Mr. Paul Filion.

Mr. John R. Golphin asked Council if any action had been taken on the project to extend the sewerage and waterworks to the most northerly part of Maple Avenue. The Mayor answered that unfortunately no progress had been made, and worse still, no real progress had been made on the Woodbine project. However, there was some good news in this respect. It has been established that an 840-foot section of eight-inch pipe already is installed in MacVicar's field, and if the Health Department approves the use of this smaller pipe, the Village will save more than 500 feet at 35 per foot.

Mr. Roland Hebert inquired about how the Council intended to tax him for his swimming pool. The councillors felt that, since each change of water would involve over 2,000 gallons, a special rate should be set. They deferred judgment till next meeting.

The mayor appointed his new committees as follows:

Roads — Councillors Ernest (Bill) Ouellette and Maurice Pariseau.

Water and Sewerage — Réal Ouellette and Stanley Harris.

Police and Fire — René Lafleur.

Social Welfare — Ernest Lavoie.

Councillor Ernest Lavoie was unanimously accepted as pro-mayor.

Police Chief W. Lepine reported eight traffic tickets, two arrests, 18 calls and five accidents. The tax returns show that the movie theatres are having a rough time. The councillors asked the policeman to erect "No Parking" signs wherever needed, and Mayor Lepine made a point of telling the Police Chief to buy in Brownsburg whenever possible. (The paint for the traffic lines was bought in Lachute.)

Fire Chief Arthur Robbins reported a fire May 12 at one of Mr. Hector Pariseau's Maple Avenue apartments — a chimney fire resulting in $5 damage, and a stove-pipe fire on the same day which proved to be rather irritating as the fire was out before the brigade arrived and the affair was kept so secret that no one could find out where it was!

On May 14 there was a fire at the Flamingo Grill resulting in $25 damage. Chief Robbins attributed the fire to spontaneous combustion in Oakum being used in reconstruction. Next day, on May 15, there was a fire in Mr. Josaphat Lacasse's bush, which caused a lot of work but no real danger.

The councillors reluctantly carried a motion to pay the ninth of 10 payments ($100 a year) pledged to the University of Montreal.

It was decided to impose a head-tax of $5 on all outsiders working in Brownsburg. These people earn their money in town, make use of the police, roads and other services, and never spend anything here. Method of collection will be set by the legal advisors, and notice of motion of the by-law will be made at the next meeting.

It was decided that, in order to cut costs, future nominations and municipal voting will be at the town office rather than the Social Club.

The Council moved that Kent Street will be re-named Fletcher Avenue, in keeping with a promise made by a previous council to Mrs. Fletcher in return for a corner of land she handed over to the corporation.

Have You A Question on UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE OR EMPLOYMENT?

In this column we publish questions about unemployment insurance and employment, together with answers received from the Unemployment Insurance Commission.

If you are uncertain about any point do not hesitate to send your question to your district Unemployment Insurance office. We will obtain an answer and publish it in this column.

Q. It sometimes happens that payment of benefit is delayed because the employer has not returned the insurance book. Why should the insured person suffer in such cases?

A. It is the worker's responsibility to obtain his book from his employer, on separation. However, if, after having taken reasonable steps to obtain the book and these have failed, the local office will assist him. In the meantime a claim for benefit may be proceeded with on the basis of previous contributions to avoid delay in payment. It sometimes happens, however, that a claimant cannot qualify without the contributions in the current book, and this does incur unavoidable delay. Workers should always get their books on separating when this is at all possible.

Q. My husband has just died and left me only his insurance benefits. What am I entitled to draw?

A. Unfortunately, no benefit is payable to you in respect of your late husband's claim except if he was on benefit at the time of his decease. Any benefit that was due to him up to the time of his death may be paid to you on application. You should see your local office regarding this.

Q. I left my employment of my own free will because I wished to find other employment. I was unable to do this, and so presented a claim for benefit. This has been refused for six weeks. Why?

A. You were disqualified for having voluntarily left your employment without just cause because you should not have given up the one job until you had secured another.

Q. How is it that my brother who is married pays the same contribution as I, who am single, and yet draws higher benefits?

A. The cost is spread over all but because this is social insurance, it takes account of the need of an unemployed person with a dependent. Moreover, usually persons who are single when they first start to pay contributions get married eventually and they reap the advantage at that time.

In Russia, when a kid follows in his father's footsteps, he's probably trailing him for the secret police.

EFFORT DISCOURAGED?

The principal objection we have to education in this province is that the theory is that children stop learning and their interest wanes when a proposition or exercise becomes even a little difficult. In order to keep up interest then and to cut pupil-resistance to school work, effort is discouraged by the school curriculum.

Wheat farming has become mechanized to a remarkable extent through the pressure of self-preservation, yet is finding itself under still greater need to operate more efficiently. Ayersville Meeting Deals Mostly With Finances

Conrad Legault, Ayersville municipal secretary-treasurer, acknowledged receipt of a $5,000 grant for fire protection from the Department of Public Works, at the regular session of the Council Monday evening, held under the chairmanship of Mayor Gaetan Paquette. The full membership was in attendance.

The financial statement, presented by Roland A. Morin, was accepted on a motion by Ald. D. G. Simon, seconded by Ald. Seguin; the statement showed a deficit of $537 in the general fund, with a surplus of $1,615 in the sewer and waterworks budget. In the revenue department, general taxes, business and other taxes totalled $54,905, while revenue from the waterworks system was $31,204 — these figures being derived from a general tax rate of $1.20 and a water tax rate of double that amount.

Due to evaluation indicating from 80-85 per cent of the true property value, this year's taxes will be 43 cents and 84 cents, respectively, for a total of $1.27 per $100 valuation. The municipal valuation was set at $1,182,000 in 1955, while the current year's valuation is $3,409,955.

As of May 15 last, tax arrears for the years 1953-55 were $6,875.80.

Councillor Maurice Champagne, Sr., was named pro-mayor for the next three months. Hermas Leroux was engaged as sidewalk construction foreman, at $1.10 an hour.

Accounts totalling $2,892.19 were approved for payment and tenders for stone and cement for sidewalks were called for, as was a tender for a 4-ton special truck.

Philian Levis was engaged as municipal constable replacing Ernest Carrière, at a salary of $50 a week, and numerous building permits were granted.

A letter was received from Dr. L. Turcotte, County Health Officer, recommending that the municipality co-operate with Lachute in the installation of sewers and waterworks in both the Laurin and Legault sub-divisions on Brownsburg Road, stating that due to the small size of the lots, it would not be permissible to install septic tanks.

There being no further business, the meeting was adjourned.

June Session Of Town Council

1—To establish a base for calculations, including all costs of checking prices, getting measurements of all properties, directing and checking the work, etc; amount $700.

2—To assume all costs incurred in gathering information on replacement, locality, monthly rental, census of population; to supply all necessary cards with information on them, and give a plan showing the outside dimensions; amount $2,860.

3—To assume the cost of research at the Registry Office, $250.

4—Two valuators to be named by the town, at $2.50 per hour; assuming all cost and giving the town a copy of the roll, $2,600.

Mr. Lalïberté gave the total figure of $6,510 for the complete job. It was pointed out that the men appointed by the town would have the legal right to enter all buildings.

Ald. Church stated that he thought it would be best to continue in the same manner for this year, using Ald. Laurin's suggestion for coming to a more accurate valuation. Ald. Romain Desjardins stated he was "of the opinion that we should do a perfect job, but as we do not have the necessary funds, we will have to continue as in past years."

It was decided to name Jos. Constantineau, William Heatlie and Romeo Charron as corporation valuators, with Jos. Daoust named as substitute. The men were hired at a salary of $1.25 per hour, to start June 15, and it was recommended that they follow instructions submitted by the Council.

Ald. E. O. Pollock stated that he had more than 2,820 feet of sidewalk repairs to attend to, adding that the average cost for the work would be $1.40 per foot. He suggested that, for the present, $3,000 be authorized for this work, to be spent on the sections in most urgent need of replacement, and the money to be spent evenly in all three wards. This was authorized, leaving $1,412 remaining in the committee's budget for the remainder of the year.

Building permits were granted to George W. Deacon, for a house in the McGibbon Riverview subdivision; William Wilson for a house on Robert Street; Albini Carrière, for a house on Foundry Street; Archille Guay, for a house on Hamford Street; Guy Belanger, for store alterations on Main Street; Maurice Syndicate, store alterations on Main Street; and the J. C. Wilson Company were given permission to build a cement ramp in front of their stone warehouse on Princess Street, to allow vehicles to unload without blocking the street — all under supervision of the Roads Committee.

Chairmen from the various committees gave their reports, Ald. Dr. Lavigne, Relief Committee indicating that a $390 refund from the Social Service would supplement his funds for some time.

Ald. Romain Desjardins, chairman of the Finance Committee, reported that finances were in order, although some budgets were running close to the line.

Ald. Ross R. Muir stated that, in his opinion, some of the men in the employ of the town were not necessary all the time, and at slack periods the number of employees should be reduced in an effort to save funds.

Accounts totalling $9,408.59 were approved for payment. Moving to new business, a letter from J. Alderic Tessier was read suggesting the Council study the annexation of part of the Parish of St. Jerusalem to Lachute. It was decided to acknowledge the letter, filing it for future reference.

St. Jean Baptiste Day (June 24) and Dominion Day (July 1) both falling on Sunday, Mayor Dr. F. Walter FitzGerald proclaimed the following Mondays as civic holidays.

There being no further business, the meeting was adjourned.

"BIRDS OF A FEATHER FLY TOGETHER"

—Central Press Canadian

McMASTER'S DIVINITY CONVOCATION IS "A FAMILY AFFAIR"

—Central Press Canadian

As far as these two couples are concerned, McMaster university's divinity convocation in Hamilton, Ont., was "a family affair." For in the graduating class were Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Pousett, at left, of Vancouver, who will be leaving shortly for a post in Edmonton and Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Thomson of Montreal, who have been called to a church in that city. All received bachelor of divinity degrees and will serve in Baptist churches.

SAYS SPACE TRAVEL FOR HUMAN BEINGS STILL YEARS AWAY

Halifax (CP) — Robert L. Baglow, member of the Defence Research Board staff here, gave a glimpse of man's future in space to a meeting of the Royal Astronomical Society.

He outlined calculated predictions by scientists who have spent years studying the hard-headed facts about space travel.

Nobody is going to reach the moon in the next 10 years, said Mr. Baglow, but men may penetrate space to altitudes of 200 miles within the next two generations.

Satellites Invisible

He described the artificial satellites which the United States is planning to shoot into earth's solar orbit. They will not be visible to the ordinary person but can be followed by the telescopes of astronomers, he said.

"Some will fail," said Mr. Baglow. "All, we expect, will simply burn up, never to return to earth. Nothing will fall on us."

While the United States and Russia were the only two nations planning artificial satellites, the purpose of the experiments was not to prove who could first get a rocket into space. The real reason for the projects was to obtain data about outer atmosphere.

He said the satellite could shed much light on the nature of the earth's core.

"But," he warned, "the nation that can put up a satellite first can also be the first to send up vehicles that will fall where they are wanted to fall. We don't like to think of that."

Fluoride Element In Ordinary Food

Toronto (CP) — A person's daily consumption of fluoride naturally contained in food is up to one-third of the concentration of fluoride artificially introduced into water supplies, says the Health League of Canada.

The average person's daily intake of fluoride from sources other than water ranges between 0.19 and 1.32 parts in 1,000,000. An optimum concentration of 1.0 parts in 1,000,000 is generally sought in artificially-fluoridated water. The maximum concentration is 1.5.

Quoting statistics from the American Dental Association, the Health League said almost all foods contain traces of fluoride, but most contain a negligible amount.

Tea contains between 30 and 60 parts fluoride in 1,000,000; canned mackerel 26.89 parts; canned salmon 8.50-9; canned sardine 7.30-12.5; rye bread 5.30; canned shrimp 4.40; smoked herring 3.50 ginger biscuits 2.0; whole buckwheat 1.70; oats 1.30 and rice 1.0.

The occurrence of fluoride in edible food was widespread and variable. The differences were due to the quantity of fluoride in the soil or water of origin.

Studies of human beings and laboratory animals, however, had given no reason to believe the consumption of fluoride-bearing foods has either beneficial or ill effects.

The League said the effect of fluoride on teeth enamel, which it hardened against decay, depends on daily intake of fluoride almost from birth.

Criticism on Air Policy and Air Strength

Dew Line Airlift

Ottawa (CP) — Transport Minister Marler recently replied to charges by the Canadian Air Line Pilots Association that lack of government aviation policy has resulted in a "fiasco" in the Canadian airlift for the DEW (Distant Early Warning) radar line in the Arctic.

The Association said, among other things, that Canadian participation in the airlift was deplorable, that a fixed rate charged eliminated competitive bidding and opened the way for inept carriers with unsuitable equipment, and that the department failed to impose any realistic performance restrictions on some airlift planes.

Mr. Marler, in his reply issued in the capital, said the brief "is likely to have the effect of harming the reputation and record of Canadian aviation rather than promoting its welfare."

His statement said: "Inaccurate information, incomplete knowledge, apparent reliance on hearsay and a mistaken tendency to compare northern airlift operations with inter-city scheduled operations account for erroneous statements and conclusions throughout the report."

Mr. Marler stated that Canadian carriers carried 70,518,000 ton miles at March 31, 1956, compared with 16,860,000 ton miles flown by American carriers. The flat rate of 80 cents per ton-mile was set initially because it was known the operation would be costly. It has since been lowered to 52 cents in some regions.

Speed of Jets

Possibility has arisen that Canada's jet interceptor planes would not be fast enough to catch the latest Russian bombers if they appeared over North America.

General Earle Partridge, chief of the United States Air Force's Continental Air Defence Command, recently testified before a U.S. congressional committee that present day American interceptors can't fly as fast or as high as the latest Soviet bombers.

RCAF officers said in Ottawa that Canadian CF-100 interceptors fly about as fast as the principal U.S. air force interceptors — the Scorpion and Lockheed F-94C — or about 600 miles an hour. However, they said the Canadian jet climbs faster and has a higher ceiling.

The nine air defence squadrons are to be equipped with the Mark V version of the CF-100. Only one has received any so far. It can climb some 5,000 feet higher than the Mark IV now in use. One defence official said the speed gap between RCAF interceptors and the bombers the Russians are believed to have won't be closed until the Air Force gets the supersonic CF-105. But this plane likely won't be in the air for another two years. General Partridge says the U.S. expects to have supersonic interceptors in quantity by 1958.

Officials have admitted they were startled by the new bombers displayed by the Russians last year. The vital question is whether the Russians have them in quantity or were merely exhibiting a prototype showpiece for western eyes.

What's the score under Duplessis?

NEW INDUSTRIES IN CANADA IN 1955

ONTARIO	260
QUEBEC	33

In 1955, out of a total of 346 new industries (Canadian, American, British and European) in Canada, 260 established in Ontario whereas only 33 located in Quebec.

According to Canada Gazette, published weekly by the Queen's Printer, Ottawa, since 1952, 120 companies situated in Quebec have requested to transfer their head offices to other provinces, the majority of them relocating in Ontario.

From 1952 to 1955, capital investments in the Province of Quebec increased to only $7,547,000 or $1,790 per person as compared to $11,324,000 (or $2,360 per person) in Ontario.

here's the PROOF that Duplessis has discouraged new industries from establishing in Quebec

- Statement by Mr. Fred Gardiner, president of the Toronto Metropolitan Commission (February 17, 1956):

"Metropolitan Toronto would be foolish not to take advantage of Premier Maurice Duplessis' restrictions on industry in Quebec . . . It is most important to attract industry and since Duplessis — sometimes called "Do-as-he-pleases" — has been making the climate uncomfortable for industry in Quebec . . . "(On January 24, 1956, Metro Chairman Gardiner speaking to a dinner meeting of the Ontario Forest Industries said) ". . . the Quebec premier is double taxing, insulting and penalizing industry".

- Statement by Lands and Forests Minister M. Maple-doram (Fort William) published in the Toronto Globe & Mail, Feb. 24, 1956:

"Firms which have been operating in that province for upwards to three quarters of a century are now interested in Ontario forests. The Duplessis policies are driving them to us."

- Gordon Mines in "The Financial Post" (March 27, 1954):

"Quebec is definitely harder to sell as plant location. Industrial development men say prospects fear further tax troubles.

"Many of those concerned with industrial development in Quebec report that the tax has definitely affected the attitude of firms considering Quebec as a location for new plants or an expansion program."

ASSURE QUEBEC'S FUTURE ECONOMY
CHASE DUPLESSIS FROM POWER

LAPALME SAYS:

"The economy of the province rises and falls according to whether the government is good or bad. The present Quebec administration has, out of all ten provinces, the greatest number of nuisance taxes. These only serve to encourage capital investors and industries to move to other provinces. At the same time new business is discouraged from establishing in Quebec."

COTTINGHAM RETAINS SEAT, NOTABLY LOWER MAJORITY

Two Car Mishaps— One Driver Fined, Permit Suspended

Jean Lalande, 30, of Lachute, escaped serious injury when the taxi which he was driving swerved out of control on Route 41, slamming into a pole and coming to a stop upside down with its four wheels in the air. The 1946-model sedan, owned by René Laurin, Lachute Mills, was demolished. Laurin, who was in the car at the time of the accident, was not injured. The mishap occurred last Saturday.

Maurice Charlebois, 32, of St. Michel de Wentworth, was sentenced to a fine of $50 plus costs, his driver's license being suspended for three months, when he appeared in St. Jerome court on Tuesday. He was charged with driving while his ability was impaired with alcohol.

Charlebois was arrested by Det. Ralph Allen last Sunday following an accident, in which Charlebois' car took the ditch. The case was investigated by Traffic Officer Albert Legault.

U.N. Winner for Third Time in Succession Gosselin Gains Strength as Liberal Apponent

HON. W. M. COTTINGHAM, Official U.N. Candidate, Re-elected for Argenteuil.

The Honorable Wm. M. "Bill" Cottingham, Minister of Mines, rode home to a clear victory in Argenteuil, clinching the Union Nationale seat against his opponent, Bernard Gosselin, the official Liberal contender, in yesterday's provincial elections. The victory, which saw a considerable cut in Mr. Cottingham's majority, was conceded at 8.20 p.m., when all but the final few polls had reported. The polls closed at 6.30 p.m.

Final figures for the night gave Mr. Cottingham a majority of 1,446 votes, although these figures are not official until today's recount by Notary Jacques Beaudoin, Official Returning Officer for the constituency. Until Tuesday of last week, the fight was a three-way battle — Georges Duhamel having entered his name as an Independent Union Nationale candidate. He later withdrew, pledging his support to the Hon. Mr. Cottingham.

The Hon. Mr. Cottingham is thus re-elected for his third consecutive term in the Quebec Legislature. He won the election here on the U.N. ticket in 1948 with a 433-vote majority against the Hon. Georges E. Dansereau, then Minister of Roads in the Liberal Cabinet. The riding at that time had been consistently Liberal in provincial politics since 1927.

Mr. Cottingham was re-elected in the 1952 contest, when he polled a majority of 4,352 votes over Bernard Gosselin, who was the Liberal candidate in that contest also. It was two years later, on June 2, 1954, that he was honored with the appointment as Minister of Mines.

Excitement ran high around the local polls as the results were reported early last evening. Of the total of 15,245 eligible to vote at the 90 polls, over 13,105 exercised their franchise.

Trend

Mr. Cottingham's victory, although decisive, was not quite consistent with the U.N.'s third landslide triumph across this province. The Duplessis party has gained four seats — 72 to 19, as compared with 68 to 23 in 1952. . .

In that time, however, Mr. Cottingham's majority has taken a slide from 4,352 votes to 1,446, and Mr. Gosselin has added 1,818 votes in his favor, taking 30 polls in this election as compared to four in 1952.

Fund-Raising Effort Climaxed at Lachute Fair Nets Sum of $1,923 for Community Activities

Attendance at the season's last meeting of Lachute Lions Club, Tuesday at the Legion Hall, was over 40. The occasion was the concluding session under Ian Gordon as president — the office being assumed by Jos. Dumais, in-coming president for 1956-57.

In a practical, unemotional review of his term, and of the Club's status, the president gave a satisfactory account of finances, with a headstart for some worthwhile community project. Lion Ian Gordon made specific reference to several stalwart committeemen whose services had added a valuable contribution, also to the successful term of Horace Lamarche as Deputy District Governor. Lion Lamarche had brought wholesome recognition to District A-8 through his enthusiastic efforts. The president made gratifying reference also to the high attendance average at this season's meetings, namely, 86%.

In this connection, Past-President Phil Roy was called upon to present a number of 100% attendance badges.

A highlight of the business was a summary of the car raffle results, showing net proceeds of $1,923 for the club's Activities Fund. Col. Ernest Emmett, who had charge of this effort, received warm commendation. (A report on this drawing is included elsewhere, in the Lachute Fair proceedings.)

Dr. Eric Mongeon outlined plans to re-organize the Little Major League this season. Financial support was approved by the club, and individual co-operation was pledged by several members.

Royal Carrière, who will be the club's delegate to the Lions International Convention in Miami this month, received good wishes and "bon voyage".

Lachute Lions will be well represented again at the district service clubs' golf tournament, to be held Wednesday, July 18, at Dunany.

Guests of honor at this meeting were three young rural citizens — Ross Oswald, president of the Lachute 4-H Calf Club, Miss Carol Parker and Ronald Bain. The latter two received recognition in the form of individual engraved trophies, as winners of the Calf Club competitions in connection with Lachute Fair — Miss Parker receiving the trophy for 1956 and Ronald Bain for 1955. The awards were presented by Lion Gordon McOuat, chairman of the club's Agricultural Committee.

A cordial vote of thanks to the retiring president, Ian Gordon, for loyal devotion to the duties of his office, was moved by Horace Lamarche.

Assuming the chair for the next year in local Lionism, Jos. Dumais, president-elect, pledged his utmost effort and looked confidently to another chapter of progress and achievement.

$89-Million In Extra Income Taxes, Opposition Members Protest Sleuthing

Ottawa, June 18 (CP) — Members of the Commons have been told how income tax sleuths collected $89,000,000 last year which otherwise would have been missed.

Revenue Minister McCann read from a yellow-bound document — a confidential report of investigations made. He disclosed no names but cited a list of tax return offences including falsification of business sales, inventories, expenses and donation receipts, and fictitious bookkeeping records.

The $89,000,000 in extra taxes, interest and fines was about three times the cost of administering the revenue department's taxation division, estimated at $27,488,000 in the current fiscal year.

Stand-out Spectacle in Horse Show, Notable Enthusiasm in Junior Judging

Operations were well in hand, exhibits were placed, and judging was in progress — everything in fact was in order for another highly successful exhibition, except the crowds, which for some reason or other were reticent almost until Friday evening. . . That was the situation at 3 p.m. Thursday, hour of the official opening, when the Hon. W. M. Cottingham cut the ribbon and declared Lachute Spring Fair on the record for another year — the 131st in the history of its sponsors, the Argenteuil Agricultural Society.

There was, however, a medium attendance on the grandstand to witness these proceedings. Present on the platform, with the Hon. Minister of Mines and Mrs. Cottingham, were Jas. MacKimmie, Agricultural Society president, and Mrs. MacKimmie; Gilbert E. Arnold, County Warden; Clement Tremblay, O.B.E., past-president; Jack Black, past-president, also a number of veteran officials, key figures and directors of the Agricultural Society active in the Fair organization.

President Jas. MacKimmie welcomed the guests and Mr. Clement Tremblay eloquently introduced the Hon. Mr. Cottingham. The latter expressed his gratification in being present again to perform the opening ceremony — "in the presence of a former schoolmate, President MacKimmie, a former president, Mr. Tremblay, and former colleagues in the Society" of which he had been proud to serve as director in the past. As a farmer and a citizen of Argenteuil, the speaker counted it a distinction to be invited to open this time-honored exhibition.

Mr. G. E. Arnold, County Warden, expressed the thanks of the Agricultural Society, both for this gesture and for the consistent support of the Quebec Government, of which Mr. Cottingham was a representative. He hinted there would be need of, and requests for, still greater financial aid from this source.

Mrs. Cottingham was presented with a bouquet of roses, which she happily shared with the president's wife as a symbol of interest and cooperation in affairs of the Agricultural Society. . . The Hon. Minister of Mines then cut the ribbon to signify the 1956 Spring Fair was officially in progress.

In Main Building

A perennial drawing card in the Main Building was the Argenteuil Health Unit's free X-ray clinic. Examinations were down 83 from last year, when 934 took advantage of the tests. This year, a total of 851 people will receive their reports for 1956 within a month or so. (The record year for examinations was set in 1953 — the decrease in applicants since this time being doubtless due to the more complete coverage by the X-ray mobile units throughout the district.)

Before the Grandstand

This year's horse show, one of the main attractions of the Fair, will go down in the records as one of the best ever, an excellent display having been presented at all competitions. Main attractions here, besides the heavy horses, jumpers, hunters and saddle horses, were the four and six-horse teams — there being teams of three breeds; Clydesdales, Belgians and Percherons, shown in the four-horse hitch.

The Square Dance competition, held Saturday night, was won by an Ormstown team headed by Jasper Lamb. Last year's champions, the Lachute team headed by Clifton Berry, placed second, with Robert Leslie's St. Angus de Dundee team coming third.

Calf Show

Saturday forenoon, the bleachers near the cattle barns were filled to overflowing for the juvenile farmers' special events. All interested in the youngsters' progress were on hand to do justice to the calf show and judging contest.

There were a large number of animals exhibited in the Inter-Club calf classes, the results of which will be found on page 10.

Women's Handicrafts

Excellent displays of Women's Handicrafts were also on exhibit in the Main Building, with all local branches of the Women's Institutes, as well as the Cercle des Fermières from Brownsburg. Similar exhibits from Lachute High School were also shown, featuring an excellent display of wood and metal work, furniture and cabinet making. Winners of these competitions are published on pages 8 and 10.

The well-rounded livestock show provided plenty for all to see, besides offering excellent competition for all exhibitors. The fact that entries in some breeds were a little lower than previous years was contrasted by instances of several breeds, including Beef Cattle, French Canadians and Holsteins, which featured larger entries.

Law and Order

Members of Lt.-Col. Ernest Emmett's Imperial Frontiersmen were out in numbers patrolling the grounds and keeping traffic in the area under as orderly control as possible. The Lachute Police Force handled their own patrol work without engaging Frontiersmen as special constables; there being 12 Frontiersmen on duty at the Fair Grounds.

Lions Club Drawing

The Lions Club car drawing at 6 o'clock Saturday climaxed some concentrated effort for a few keymen of the club, and several weeks of sales campaigning by other committeemen and members, ardent for the success of this annual charity drive. Col. Ernest Emmett was responsible for the overall organization; President Ian Gordon kept a finger on the pulse of the proceedings during the final days of sales; Jas. MacKimmie, Agricultural Society president, signified official approval by drawing the lucky ticket, and the winner was — J. S. Daigneault, 4396 Marcel Avenue, Montreal (No. 15077).

Graduates Listed at Quebec Textile School

Among graduates of the Province of Quebec Textile School, St. Hyacinthe, who received their diplomas last Friday, were Claude de Bellefeuille, son of Mrs. J. Albert and the late Mr. de Bellefeuille, of Lachute, and Norman H. Moore, Cornwall, Ont., who spent last summer employed at the Ayers Limited mills.

In Horse Show at Lachute Fair

The appeal of the Horse Show is typified by this action picture of one of the many events witnessed by interested crowds on the grandstand. Driver's Test Clinic Due Here July 11-12

The mobile unit for driver's tests will return here on Wednesday and Thursday, July 11 and 12 — according to Mrs. Chas. Bedard, local license registrar.

The "clinic" will be situated in front of the Municipal Garage, and all residents who have to pass their driver's tests are urged to be on hand, as it is not expected that the unit will return again for some months.

Fashion Show Sponsored by Social Group

The Women's Social Club (Cercle Social Féminin d'Argenteuil) held a very successful fashion show in the Lachute Auditorium on Monday evening. The show was opened with the presentation of flowers by little Claire Lavigne and Daniel Navion to Mrs. F. Walter FitzGerald, wife of the Mayor of Lachute, and to Mrs. W. M. Cottingham, wife of Argenteuil's deputy and Minister of Mines in the Provincial Government. Mrs. L. Armstrong and Miss Therese Savard, who were joint commentators, expressed great pleasure in having these two ladies among the audience.

There were 83 costumes exhibited by local and Montreal models — including lingerie, bathing suits, afternoon dresses, cocktail dresses, evening wear and bridal ensembles. Ten local stores participated in the show. Mr. R. Lamarche, assisted by Mr. Roland Menard, attended to the stage furnishings and decorations.

Door prizes were donated and won as follows:

The first three awards donated by Mrs. Miles Copeland, representative of Avon Products, won by Mme Gaetan Cousineau, Mme Philippe Joly and Mme G. Masson.

Mme Gervais' prize, won by Mme C. Seguin.

Mlle Fauteux' prize, won by Mme René Matte.

Tessier Store prize, won by Mme Paquette.

Miss Y. Malacket's prize, won by Mlle Jeannette Tessier.

H. M. Lavigne Store prize, won by Mme C. Desjardins.

Mme Richard Beauregard and her committee take occasion to thank all those who assisted, in any way, in making this venture a success.

Benjamin Kane, 35, of Cote St. Luc, Montreal, escaped serious injury last Friday morning when the rented car which he was driving flipped over, striking a pole on Route 41, a short distance from the Sharman Doig Farm. Kane, who was connected with the midway at the local exhibition, was taken to the Providence Hospital and received medical treatment from Dr. John C. MacKimmie. Gatineau LINES

Summer Storms

At this time of the year brief but violent storms sometimes tear down trees and branches and smash them across the electric lines.

The power company tries to keep such interruptions to a minimum, and when power failures occur the line crews are sent out immediately to find and repair the damage, thus restoring service as quickly as possible.

While it is inevitable that sometimes interruptions in service must occur, these are not as numerous as formerly. This is largely due to the many customers who have co-operated in spotting and reporting trees and branches which overhang the power lines.

This struggle of the power company against the trouble caused by trees is a never ending one, in which the help of the customer frequently means improved service to that customer.

Recent Marriage At Morin Heights

McCone - Seale

Miss Joyce Isabel Seale, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Seale, of Morin Heights, and Mr. James Edward McCone, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John A. McCone, were married, June 2, in Trinity Church, the Rev. Horace G. Baugh officiating.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a ballerina-length gown of aquamarine crystalette embossed with orchids and lily-of-the-valley, carrying a cascade bouquet of pink and white carnations. She also wore a gold and pearl pendant, the gift of her late maternal grandmother.

Mrs. Clarence Good, sister of the bridegroom, was matron of honor, wearing yellow taffeta, with an inset of pleated nylon net adding fullness to the back of the skirt. She wore a tiny yellow hat to match and silver slippers, and carried a cascade bouquet of pale pink carnations.

The flower girl was little Karen-Fee Stocker, wearing coral nylon net over taffeta, tiny white headdress trimmed with pearls, and carrying a nosegay of pink carnations and yellow baby mums.

The best man was Mr. Clarence Good, of Shrewsbury, brother-in-law of the bridegroom.

The bride's mother wore a gown of Copenhagen blue lace over taffeta with navy blue accessories, and a corsage of yellow roses.

Mr. Carl Elder of Morin Heights played the wedding music.

For their wedding trip the bride and groom motored through the New England States, the bride travelling in a turquoise suit with white blouse and hat, shoes and gloves to match. She wore a corsage of white carnations.

Upon their return a reception was given by the parents of the bride at the New Alpino Lodge, Morin Heights, on June 16.

Summer Vacation Time

PROPER preparations for summer holidays can effectively save lives.

Officials of the All Canada Insurance Federation, which represents more than 200 fire, casualty and automobile insurance companies, quote from their records that half of all drownings occur in June, July and August.

The average summer cottage, the Federation asserts, contains more fire hazards than most other locations.

Most summer tragedies are the fault of carelessness and inadequate safety measures. The following precautions are recommended for the holiday season:

(1) Adequate fire fighting equipment should be kept on hand at all vacation sites.

(2) Cottage chimneys should be thoroughly cleaned at the beginning of the season, and equipped with spark screens and deflectors.

(3) Floors and walls near heaters and stoves should be re-inforced with galvanized iron, concrete or brickwork.

(4) Pipes passing through partitions or walls should be fitted with metal guards or collars.

(5) Grass, brush and small trees near the cottage should be trimmed frequently.

(6) Clear out rubbish and inflammable materials from woodsheds and other outbuildings.

(7) Never leave oil lanterns on tables or floors; always shut lanterns off when leaving the cottage.

(8) Consult the local health department for information on artificial respiration, water purification, garbage disposal and other safety measures.

(9) Never swim alone.

Destroy Insects

ARE FLIES bothersome around the house? Mosquitoes making things uncomfortable around the cottage?

Well, it could be worse, and it is a lot worse in many less-favored lands than Canada. Flies and skeeters are only two of the insect species that spread disease and damage on a vast scale in many parts of the world.

The constant battle against disease-carrying insects is yielding more and more success in recent years.

"We have made progress, spectacular progress," says Prof. Macdonald, professor of tropical medicine at the University of London. But, he warned in a recent BBC summing-up, "it has been the fruit of a vast amount of fascinating original work — and there is plenty more to come before we can look back on it as something ended and done with."

The most recent successes are in the field of malaria. New insecticides, discovered and proved in recent years, have led the World Health Assembly to adopt the ambitious target of total elimination, not merely control, of malaria from entire countries and indeed from a large part of the world.

The effort is not without its setbacks. One grievous disappointment was the discovery in Africa that a particular insecticide in frequent use did not kill the most common malaria-carrier. This led to more intensive research in the field and the laboratory, in Africa and Europe, before the cause of the failure could be learned and the desired effect could be obtained. This one instance is said to have put Africa five years behind the rest of the world in this respect.

There was also a setback in South America, where the first brilliant results had been achieved in British Guiana and Venezuela. Another disease in that continent — Chaga's disease — is carried by a bug which lives in the cracks of mud-walled houses.

Insecticide killed the mosquitoes in these homes, but the bug was unharmed and actually increased by removal of the mosquitoes. Further studies produced an insecticide equally effective against both.

And malaria is only one of the many diseases carried by insects. A lot is known about the tsetse fly, which carries sleeping sickness in Africa, for example, but it is difficult and expensive to control and a fresh approach to the problem is needed.

Here in Canada the problem may not be so grave, but it is a problem nevertheless to public health. And the World Health Assembly's motto, "Destroy Insects", is equally applicable.

CENSUS-TAKING has a long history. Censuses were taken by the Babylonians about 3800 B.C., in China about 3000 B.C., and in Egypt about 2200 B.C. In the 15th Century — at the time of the Exodus — Moses numbered all males 20 years old and over in Israel "able to go forth to war", and King David took a census in 1017 B.C. The Athenians and Romans both took censuses, and the Breviary of Charlemagne (A.D. 808) and William the Conqueror's Domesday Book (1086) were medieval censuses.

Case of the Railways

WHETHER we like it or not, pretty soon we are going to be forced to take a hard and a long look at this whole railway business. We're simply not going to be able to continue passing increased costs along. . . Warning to this effect was voiced in a recent issue of The Financial Post.

Long ago, the railways discovered that there is a limit as to what the consumer will pay for moving freight by rail. Already a lot of stuff that used to be moved entirely by rail now goes by truck or ship or though a pipeline. And the higher rail freight rates are hoisted, the more business will go to competitors.

The railways know all about this but under the present setup they can't do much about it. They are not free agents, not by any means. In effect they are told what they must pay for labor and their freight rates, minimum and maximum, are controlled by a government board. Some of them in fact, like grain, are controlled by a rigid agreement that goes back to our grandfathers' time, when wages were a fraction of those that must be paid today and when the cost of a whole train was little more that what a good box car costs now.

Times have changed and changed greatly in the railway business. Once these carriers had almost an absolute monopoly of the transportation business. They haven't anything like a monopoly today. But we are still trying to run the railways in the same old straightjacket of 25 or 50 years ago. We can't continue to much longer.

Hush-Hush!

PROBABLY the silliest moment in the 89 years of the House of Commons (says our contemporary "The Printed Word", in an issue dated before the Pipeline) took place some weeks ago when a member rose to direct the attention of the defence authorities to the fact that Murray's Restaurant, of good repute, was using paper placemats on which some views of Canadian life were delineated, including the draftman's imagination of the location of the Distant Early Warning line. (The DEW line is being built with U.S. money, and it is understood that there are not enough Canadians to man it.)

This map, especially after it had a bit of gravy spilled on it, was probably the most inaccurate map that anyone ever produced. In any event, the vastness of the country and the smallness of the scale suggested that, if the Russians bombed the exact location as shown on the map, no one within a thousand miles of the real line would likely be injured.

Amazingly no one thought it worth while to suggest that the honorable member making the complaint should stop being so silly. If that member is truly representative of the Canadian voter and his constituency is typical of the country at large, democracy has no future — concludes the writer.

Appreciative Practice

IT REMAINS essentially true — that it is the unusual event rather than the commonplace which is NEWSworthy.

A good illustration of this came out of New Jersey recently. There, a tinsmith with brains and an interest in his job devised a method of greatly increasing his rate of hourly production. It was adopted by his employers at a substantial saving. They promptly rewarded him with a wage cut and the dismissal of several of his fellow-employees.

Since his idea was conceived in company time and carried into effect with company material, the enterprising worker ultimately lost his claim for compensation. However, correct though the company position may be in law, there can be few people who would not agree that it was contrary to accepted practice. What's more, the remaining employees will hardly feel encouraged to make any further experiments in increased efficiency.

Even worse, an exceptional incident of this kind always has wider repercussions. Those, within and without, who have nothing good to say about our free society will seize upon it avidly as evidence of the mercenary, selfish and inhuman side of industry. And trumpet it far and wide as such.

Yet an example like this is as rare as snow in August. And that's the whole point of the story. It is news precisely because it is so contrary to general industrial practice today.

The "Suggestions Box" is an institution in hundreds of companies. The great majority of employers today encourage their workers to contibute their ideas for improving efficiency and cutting costs. Regular awards are made for the best suggestions submitted. Employers, employees and the consumer have all gained as a result.

All this is routine — but because it is, it is not NEWS. It is only the blot on the industrial escutcheon that hits the headlines.

"One for the Book"

Callow youth speaks mainly through its collective hat. If you doubt my word, ask any mentor in any hall of learning. He or she will be only too glad to tell you that more tripe spills out of the child brain during the latter days of June than at any other time in the year. And when young Bertie comes home from school and tells you tearfully that Miss Snodgrass flunked him in three subjects, don't rush over to the school intent on beating up the poor dear. If you want to beat anybody up, start on your Bertie, and then kick yourself around the lot a few times. After all, you are his best teacher!

To those young people who may give this copy a casual glance, I would say that writing papers in school is infinitely easier than correcting them. To begin with, the poor instructor has to adjust his or her failing eyesight to a different set of squiggles with each paper. Then there are endless moments to be wasted in wondering whether that number is a 1, a 4 or a 7, and if that oddment in the lower left hand corner represents ", :, @, *, %, $,, or is merely a fly speck and shouldn't be counted at all.

But correcting papers has its rewards, too. The long-suffering teacher can always count on some bright spark to pull an uproarious boner which causes a laugh to ring from the silence of the den. And it gives the reader a chance to enjoy a well-earned break while the paper is trotted out and shown to the wife or close friends, so the joke may be shared.

I don't quite know where some of our young people get their quaint ideas. Certainly, they are not to be found in any of the set textbooks, nor in the proferred notes on the course. But one thing is certain. If they are not in the book, they are indeed for it.

And that leads me to ask, at this point: "Just what do we mean when we say that a thing is 'one for the book'?" It's a favorite quotation among that windy fraternity known as the Sportswriters. They use it in describing almost every game, whether it be tennis or chess. Do they mean only one book or several? And if it is only one book, isn't it sadly cluttered by now with things that, through the ages, have been one for it?

Are you confused? No more than I am!

Well, the kids around here have been penning a great many for the book these days. I don't know if they are any funnier than the ones to be found in Argenteuil, but they're just as good. Try a few on for size and see what you think.

"The Methodists in Canada today are known as the Pennie Gospel Assembly."

"Gainsborough was a fierce battle!"

"Sir John A. Macdonald invented a new road with ditches."

"Dr. Samuel Johnson invented laughing gas."

"Edward Jenner invented polio vaccine in the 1800's.'

"Sir Wilfred Laurier was a great German leader."

"The Mayflower carried thousands of troops around the world during the last war and was named after Columbus."

"Sir John Macdonald was a member of the CONSIDERATE government." (Liberals, please note!)

"Macdonald was a confederate father."

"Emmiline Pankhurst invented pail pills for pink people!"

"The Suffragettes were so-named because they sure got to suffer and they were a dizzy bunch of dames."

And finally, to round it all off, I feel I should mention one young fellow who comes of wealthy parents. In his Divinity paper he informed the Padre that the opening sentence of the Lord's Prayer reads: "Our Father, we charge in heaven."

And now you'll have to excuse me as I must look over little Benny Hart's paper again. It's in French, so I'm told. But, so far, it's all Greek to me!

Over the Years with THE LACHUTE WATCHMAN

June 24, 1881 —

Avoca — The late frost did considerable damage. To say nothing of the beans, corn and potatoes, in some places so severe it was that oats, clover, ferns, even the leaves of the young maple show evidence of its biting blast. . . It was even more severe in Harrington than here, but the fine showers of this morning have given a freshening look to the country.

We are pleased to hear that the Lachute Road Butter Factory is in full working order and has already turned out over 2,000 pounds of excellent butter.

A fire was observed on Wednesday evening in the neighborhood of our village, to the west, which on enquiry was found to be on the property of James Paul, Chatham. The wind for the past two days has been very strong and this considerably increased the flames, and fears were at one time that it would make its way into the village. Considerable damage was sustained from the burning of buildings and woods.

A man under the influence of liquor jumped into the North River on Wednesday with the intention of drowning himself, but was seen and rescued by Dr. Smith.

In 1871, the number of families in Argenteuil was 2,135 and this year has increased to 2,864, being an increase of 729 families. We have as yet been unable to learn the total population.

50 YEARS AGO

June 22, 1906 —

A letter from the Laurentian Waterworks Co. in which they offered the Town Council the present waterworks system for the sum of $55,000, was read at an adjourned meeting. A committee was appointed to study the matter and have all necessary information available at the next meeting.

A meeting of the Board of Directors of the Agricultural Society was held on Saturday last, at which judges for the Fall Exhibition were nominated.

As we go to press, we learn of an accident which happened this morning shortly after eleven o'clock. An explosion occurred in the Primary store-room, and Mr. Fisher was seriously injured.

Carillon — It is reported that weird-looking objects which might be called ghosts have been seen in the Pine Bush between here and St. Andrews.

The many friends of Ralph Percival will be pleased to know that he has been very successful in his medical career, having obtained the degrees of Doctor of Medicine and Master of Surgery from Dalhousie University, Halifax, N.S., this spring.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

The small boy carries a pear-shaped yellow bundle. Grown-ups often bend over and ask what it is.

"That's my bunny," he declares in the scornful tone of someone who delivers a rebuke to the ignorant.

Three years ago, any crass adult counld have identified the bundle as a rabbit. It was a plump, clean beast with ears that stood up. Fresh from the kindly hands of the woman who knitted its skin and stuffed it with cotton wool, the rabbit was placed in the baby's crib.

The baby saw the rabbit as a large, soft punching-bag. Then he recognized it as a creature his own size. Finally he learned to call it "Bunny", and accepted it as a friend.

Hugged, bitten, rolled in the dirt and slept on, Bunny began to show signs of age and fatigue. His ears flopped, his chest fell to his stomach.

The boy didn't care. He treasured the rabbit. When his parents went visiting, and put him to bed in a strange room, his rabbit and his blanket consoled him.

When he moved to a new house, and when he was sick, he wailed for "blankie and bunny." They were things from his own little world, and as long as he had them, changes and shocks didn't matter so much.

Bunny, weathered several crises. He was given new sponge rubber insides. Once he was left at grandmother's place, and had to return by mail. There was no peace in the house until the parcel came.

"Do you think it's healthy, the way the child clings to that rabbit?" the child's father inquired. Mother said it might mean that he felt insecure, but she hoped not.

Then one day in the park the child threw bunny down and said he didn't want him any more. His mother picked up the object, and the child ran off with it again, apparently repenting of this disloyal tantrum; but on the way home bunny was found to be missing from the car.

"He doesn't seem to mind," mother said. "I suppose he has outgrown his bunny."

"You'll never see your bunny again," said the child's father, and drove home in angry silence. But in the evening the parents drove down town again and began glumly combing the park.

As the child's father trudged past the swings, he heard a small voice piping: "Look what Beverly found." And a moppet ran out with a yellow bundle.

The battered and grubby rabbit was restored to the child while he slept. Next day the bunny was his pal again. "My bunny's back," he announced, and ran along the street clutching it in a stranglehold. His mother and father exchanged glances of relief. They didn't want him to grow up so soon.

AMONG THE CHURCHES

Rev. D. Merritt Resigns After Acceptable Ministry To Baptist Churches

Following a short but active ministry in the district, as pastor of the Dalesville and Lachute Baptist Churches over the past three years, the Rev. Donald C. Merrett has resigned to enter the missionary field in suburban Montreal.

The two churches accepted his resignation with expressions of deep regret, having felt that his ministry had only commenced, particularly in the field of Religious Education.

However, inasmuch as the Rev. Merrett felt the challenge of unreached people in a new area, and regarded the call as a "must" in the way of Providence, the local churches released him from his duties with good will.

The final services of his pastorate here will be held on July 15.

Recent Activities At B'burg United

The recent talk and showing of colored slides by Dr. Florence Murray, home on furlough from Korea, has undoubtedly made all Canadians attending her lectures, realize how fortunate the people of Canada are — with their cars, modernly furnished homes and other conveniences. It is difficult for one living in this country, to realize the squalor and poverty in which many of the Koreans are living.

The United Church Mission Band has closed for the summer, after a concluding party with an attendance of 32. The children have done good work during the year.

The Young People's Group has also discontinued for the summer months.

A harvest supper, to be held on September 19, is now being planned for.

Sincere sympathy is extended to one of the families of this church, in the passing of young Bruce Hazel. Bruce, although only 11 years old, had attended church and Sunday School regularly, and his accidental death came as a great shock to the entire congregation and membership.

St. Mungo's Church 120th Anniversary, This Week-End

This week-end the congregation of St. Mungo's Church, Cushing, will celebrate the 120th anniversary of the erection of their church.

St. Mungo's had its beginnings in the early years of the 19th Century, and in 1833 called the Rev. William Mair, of Glasgow, Scotland, to be the first minister.

Land was purchased and the present church was erected thereon in 1836, and stands today essentially as it appeared 120 years ago. Many changes and improvements have, of course, been made down through the years, but were not such as to detract significantly from the original architectural design.

On Saturday, June 23, at 3 p.m. the anniversary celebrations will begin with a Memorial Service to be held in the church and conducted by the minister, the Rev. J. Ralph Watson. The Rev. Norman A. McMurray, D.D. (minister of Wesley United Church, Montreal), who is president of the Montreal and Ottawa Conference, and ministers of neighboring congregations will be present for this service.

Following the Memorial Service, from 5 to 7 o'clock, an anniversary supper will be served by the ladies of the congregation at the residence of Mrs. W. Y. King, Cushing. A few items of historical interest will be on display there.

The anniversary will be marked at the Sunday morning service, at 11, when the Rev. Charles Donald, D.D., of Southminster Church, Ottawa, will be guest speaker. The regular Sunday services of the United Church in St. Andrews East, Grenville and Calumet will be withdrawn to allow the members of these sister congregations to attend St. Mungo's Church.

St. Mungo's Church has many friends throughout the county, and a cordial invitation is extended to them to join with the congregation on this anniversary occasion.

Bible Briefs

Who Was This?

By A.A.M.

The Bible is rich in stories, and the purpose of this series is to encourage readers to look up for themselves the Bible versions of these incidents. If there are children in the family it is suggested that the story, and the Bible verses on which it is based, be read aloud.

What was the name of the disciple who, when he saw someone walking on the sea, cried, "Lord, if it be thou, bid me come unto thee upon the waters."?

Jesus had been preaching to five thousand people gathered on the hillside, and after they were fed, the Master commanded the disciples to enter a boat and go ahead of him to the other side of the lake of Galilee. Jesus wanted to be alone, praying in the mountains. That evening, a great wind arose. The large waves tossed the disciples' boat, but in the fourth watch Jesus approached them.

When his followers saw him walking on the sea, they were afraid, thinking he was a ghost. Jesus reassured them, saying, "Be of good cheer; it is I; be not afraid." Immediately this disciple was eager to go to meet him. Jesus said, "Come." The disciple climbed out of the boat, starting toward the Master. But when he saw the wind he was afraid. Beginning to sink, he cried, "Lord, save me." At once Jesus stretched out his hand, rebuking him, "O thou of little faith, wherefore didst thou doubt?"

When Jesus and this disciple entered the boat the wind ceased. Then the disciples exclaimed to Jesus, "Of a truth, Thou art the Son of God."

Find the name of this disciple and read this story in Matthew, Chapter 14, Verses 22 to 33.

EYE BANK RESTORES SIGHT TO SIGHTLESS

—Central Press Canadian

Canada's first "eye-bank" is in operation in Toronto, under the administration of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind. Six or more transplants of corneas, or windows of the eyes, are being made each month and, as people donate their corneas so that others may see, they are stored in containers and used to restore sight in others. The technique of corneal transplant has given vision to hundreds of blind or nearly blind persons and surgeons hope that with greater skill and knowledge many now considered hopelessly sightless will see again. Mrs. Ingrid Fielding is one of the many researchers at the Banting Institute. She is investigating the changes in protein structure during storage.

B'burg Clinches Play-off Berth in Baseball League

(Our District Correspondent)

Brownsburg Tigers continued on their winning way last Sunday, but this time they did it the hard way. In the first inning they had their worst frame of the season, allowing seven Hawkesbury runners to cross the plate. They whittled away at it, and took a 10-7 lead in the fourth. In the fifth they had another bad one, losing four runs to trail 11-10. Apart from those two awful innings, when they lost more runs than in the previous five games, the boys allowed only one hit. In the seventh inning Brownsburg tied it up, and in the ninth they scored twice to secure their fifth win and nail down a play-off spot.

Hero of the game was Jacques Racine, who made three brilliant fielding plays, batted three for four, scored three runs and batted in the winning run with a tremendous drive good for three bases. Keith Hazel and Buddy Racine both hit three for five, and Mel Tomalty and Yves Raymond each had two hits. Mel had a two-run double and singled in the tying run. Yves tripled, to keep intact his record of hitting an extra-base blow in every game.

Karl Gagné, who has pitched two fine games this year, just didn't have it this week, and had to be replaced by Ronald Cousineau. Ronald took over and pitched a fine game, though he had a bad inning when he gave up four runs, the same number he had given up in three previous entire games.

The league is still a three-way tie, with Brownsburg, Montebello and Buckingham all assured of play-off berths and sparring for the championship. Brownsburg on account of their sluggfest relinquished the lead to Buckingham.

This week Buckingham visits Brownsburg in a game which could decide who tops the league. Buckingham, by virtue of a late home-run, holds the only decision over Brownsburg this year, and the local boys are anxious to square matters. It should be quite a battle — so come out at 2.30 and support the team!

Harness Racing At Lachute Fair

The harness races at Lachute Spring Fair last week were keenly contested, with two photo-finishes, but the track record of 2.08 set some years ago, was not broken. Local winners are mentioned hereunder:

In the 2.20 class, Leon St. Jacques, of Lachute, had a first and second in the two heats with "Mr. King" — R. G. Sanford's "Major Hanley", of Bryron, Ont., also racking up the same number of points.

"Ethel Bars", owned by Alex Joly, of Lachute, split the double heat honors with Jack Goodwin, owned by Mrs. A. Chevrier, Rigaud, each taking one first and one second.

"Joe Forbes B", owned by P. St. Jacques, won the first heat and was runner-up in the second heat of the 2.25 class, second — the alternative two honor positions going to different Ontario-owned horses.

In the 2.30 class, Alex Joly's "Ethel Bars" placed second and first in the two heats, "Monte Cristo", owned by Wilfrid Armand, Caledonia Springs, and driven by Bill Hewitt, Brownsburg, reversing the honors in the heats.

Leon St. Jacques' "Mr. King" took third-place honors in both heats of the 2.18 class, while both heats of the Free-For-All were won by "Professor Mac", owned by Gilles Filion, Angus, Que. Second-place honors in the first heat were taken by "Thor Gratton", owned by C. Hie and J. Gordon, Cobourg, Ont., while the second heat, second position, was taken by "Sparky Hanover", owned by R. G. Sanford, Bryon, Ont. These two horses reversed heats for second and third positions.

Quirks on the Race Tracks

SPORTS CAMERA

Ever hear of a horse race won by a nanny goat? Or a Shetland pony?

In the bowlegged world back of the horsebarns at any race track, they'll tell you it happens.

They'll tell you about the goats, chickens, donkeys, roosters, even monkeys — drab little animals which contribute to the success of the glossy, glamorous thoroughbreds.

The most famous was Exterminator. That great horse had a little Shetland in his stall for companionship through the lonely hours before dawn when the silence of a strange barn can unravel the taut nerves of the racehorse.

Nanny Goat Companion

At Exhibition Park here there's an eight-year-old bay gelding named Militant in the stable of Al McLennan. His companion is a little white nanny goat named Josephine who has shared his stall for more than three years — one of two on the grounds at the five-furlong layout.

Cats are popular. They're company for the owners as well as the horses and they keep down the mouse population.

However, horsemen watched in agony here a few years ago when a black feline horsebarn pet, eye on an infield robin, stalked across the finish line 50 feet ahead of the thundering pack.

The story had a happy ending because the skittish horses didn't see the cat and their hammering hooves scared away the robin.

Nick Melisko of Edmonton, who is running eight horses at Exhibition this year, bought a rooster as companionship for his mare Zackwiskaya. Then he bought a hen as company for the rooster.

The horses along Zackwiskaya's row step warily these days to keep from flattening either of the bantams or one of their 10-chick brood which have the run of the barns.

Dogs Not Popular

Dogs are not seen much around west coast tracks. Horsemen are afraid they might break from the rail and head for the running horses, causing a pile-up.

Last season a Chihuahua, having his picture taken with a racehorse, lashed out and sank his teeth in the thoroughbred's nose.

The picture was a classic hit, but the victim of the dog's unpredictability was a very pained animal.

Probably the most legendary of the birds and beasts around the Vancouver tracks is a lone crane which has been visiting Lansdowne park in suburban Richmond for the last 10 years.

Just before racing season each year, it takes up residence in the park-like Lansdowne infield and lives there alone.

It's still there in the fall as the horse trailers pull away for other tracks.

The horsemen, a superstitious, sentimental crew, believe its mate was killed there years ago.

Leonard Cops Dow Trophy

Stan Leonard, right, Lachute pro and Canada's undisputed golf king, is shown receiving the Dow Trophy from J. Armand Desrochers, vice-president and general manager of Dow Brewery, after his brilliant victory in the recent Quebec Professional Golf Championship at Montreal's Marlborough course. Leonard's win also netted him $700, top prize in the $3,500 purse put up by Dow in the tourney open to Quebec pros and class "A" assistants.

Colford Lodge Defeats Vankleek Hill, 6-2

Last Sunday, Colford Lodge softball squad won their third straight game. Marcel Chartrand again was the big hitter for Colford's, as he banged out two triples and a single for four times at bat. In the sixth inning the Colford boys pulled off a beautiful double play. Frank Poirier picked up a grounder, threw it to Chartrand at second base and he whipped it over to Jacques Leveillé at first. It was done so well the batter did not reach half way to first base. Jean-Guy Larocque pitched another outstanding game for the winners as he struck out eleven on base in every inning, but could not get the big hits to score. John (Jean) Louis was the losing pitcher.

Next Sunday Colford's Lodge will play host to C.I.P. of Hawkesbury.

interest — $29,000, $225,000, $411,000 — but gave no indication of the number of such cases.

Dr. McCann rose with his report after hearing a lengthy list of opposition complaints about the way in which tax inspectors and assessors do their work. The complaints were made as the Commons reviewed the spending plans of his department.

Many of the complaints were about the way tax inspectors deal with farmers.

"In this whole thing there was not a farmer who was prosecuted," Dr. McCann said.

Members Complain

Among the complaints:

Harry O. White (PC—Middlesex East) said that a few years ago in Europe the greatest thing to fear was a knock on the door by the Gestapo. "These men don't even wait for night," he said of tax inspectors. "They don't even knock at the door sometimes." They didn't take away people. But they took away financial records and sometimes a taxpayer was lucky to get them back.

Victor Quelch (SC—Acadia) said that in dealing with farmers some inspectors seem too anxious to collect more money and not anxious enough to help the farmer get his rights. By friendly chatting they would lead a farmer to "put his foot into it" and perhaps commit "certain indiscretions" in conversation.

Wallace Nesbitt (PC—Oxford) said some department employees, in succession duty cases, seem to think that promotions "are the result of getting all you can."

J. Wilfrid Dufresne (PC—Quebec West) said tax investigators use "rude methods" in examining records of taxpayers who are late in filing returns. Late filers are not "notorious criminals," he said.

Ontario-Quebec Season's Schedule Tennis League

Delegates of the Quebec-Ontario Tennis League teams met recently in the parish hall at L'Orignal — all six member teams being represented.

It was decided that the League retain the services of a professional player from the O.D.L.T.A. for the month of July, and that four clubs would compete in the finals; the first and third, second and fourth. In the event that two clubs finish equal at the end of the season, the number of matches won will decide the final position. In the event of a tie in this instance, a single tournament will be played on a neutral tennis court.

The semi-finals and finals will consist of two contests, one on the tennis court of each of the clubs, and opening on the court of the team with the highest score. The five-point score will be accepted in these events.

It was pointed out that, this year, the League would be classified as "C". The Molson Trophy will be awarded to the League champion while the Ayers Trophy will go to the club winning the finals.

Members of the local Ayers Recreation Centre interested in entering the tournaments are requested to contact Jacques Bourgoing, the captain-coach, as soon as possible, as the schedule opens this evening.

Cars ARE MY Line

by ARMAND DESROSIERS

Not long ago, before the TV people cleaned it up themselves, the Battle of the Necklines was raging. Just as furious, but not nearly so fascinating a controversy is the automobile Horsepower Race. On one side of the fence you have people saying it's scandalous tooling-up to put a 100-mile-an-hour car in the hands of every half-wit. Or, on the other side, added horsepower is a safety factor, a reserve of quick power the value of which you can only appreciate when you're in a tight highway spot and suddenly need it.

Before we can judge, we need a few facts. Fifteen of the 18 new cars boosted their top horsepower rating in 1954. The average increase over 1953 was 17 horsepower.

The most powerful engine in each manufacturer's line averages 160.8 horsepower, which is a higher rating than any single automobile had in 1950. In 1954 for the first time, every standard make of car had at least one engine topping 100 horsepower. Some develop more than 200 horsepower and experimental engines have been run that develop 400 horsepower.

The important thing to remember, I think, is this: when a car is on the highway, it's a lot safer if highway speed is not also its maximum speed. It's more comfortable, and that flexible reserve will pull you out of tight spots.

It's a point for debate and that's briefly the pro-horsepower side. The strong competition of the last few years has meant one good thing: a goodly supply of above-average used cars, lots of top performers at amazingly reasonable prices.

CURRENT SHOWS, ENTERTAINMENT, TRAVEL

"Cinerama Holiday" — Spectators Become Participants in Tour

If you're one of those people who glance yearningly at the cruise fashions in department store windows, and sigh over the travel ads in the Sunday papers, here's good news for you. You're going abroad.

When you see Louis de Rochemont's new production, "Cinerama Holiday" which is now showing at the Imperial Theatre, in Montreal, you will find yourself flown to Europe where you will take part in a breathless adventure that will open magic doors to the highlights of Paris; you will also take a ride in a jet plane, make a whirlwind tour of America's New Orleans, San Francisco, Las Vegas, Arizona and New York.

This is only a smattering of "Cinerama Holiday", one of the most unusual expeditions ever undertaken since Prince Husain sailed off on his legendary magic carpet. In this case, the magic is supplied by Cinerama, the new movie medium that employs a three-eyed camera, a seven-voiced sound-track and a huge enveloping screen to achieve its embracing effect. The result is to put its audiences "in the picture", making them actual participants in the action on the screen.

Cinerama's second picture, titled 'Cinerama Holiday', records the adventure of two young couples — one American, the Marshes, one Swiss, the Trollers — who change places and discover the beauty and excitement on each other's continent.

But the real star of "Cinerama Holiday" is none of these young people. It's you! Because of Cinerama's ability to make every member of its audience believe that what is happening on the screen is happening to them personally, the adventures that befall the Marshes and Trollers in the course of "Cinerama Holiday" will be experienced by everyone who sees the picture.

New Panel Program Proves Popular

"Who's the Guest?", a new panel-variety show, starts on Monday, June 25th, at 9.30 p.m. on CBC-TV, replacing the "Denny Vaughan Show" for the summer months. Each week a regular panel will be asked to identify two mystery guests from the Canadian entertainment world. They will receive clues and additional help from caricatures drawn by Gerald Bern of Toronto. Once identified, the guest-stars will be invited to visit with the panel and to entertain. Rudy Toth is the musical director. He will have an 18-piece orchestra.

Legal Topic in CBC-TV Talk

In the legal world a slow change is taking place in the procedure for settling civil court cases. This is the abandonment of the jury system — fewer than five per cent of civil cases now go to a jury for verdicts. Ontario appears to be the last stronghold of the jury system, for in that province there are more jury trials than in the rest of Canada and England combined. "It's the Law" focuses on this impotant change in legal procedure this Tuesday at 10 p.m. on CBC-TV. Two guest experts will debate the pros and cons of the jury system, and a short drama will illustrate the heightened position of a quiet, unpretentious man who finds prestige when he accepts jury duty.

Betty Jean Ferguson

Toronto columnist Alex Barris heads a new CBC Television variety show, "The Barris Beat", every week. Handling the vocal chores is Betty Jean Ferguson, the lovely former "Miss Canada." The orchestra is under the direction of pianist Bill Isbister.

Letter Describes Visit To A Healing Spring

By Ethel Kettyle

During the busy spring season we have neglected to follow the travels of our Canadian nurse in Europe. By now, she is most likely to be, either on the ocean returning to Canada or else planning to do so. However, here are a few of the excerpts from the interesting letters of Nurse Barberie.

"On Monday evening I am going to show more of my slides to the Young Wives' Club at the church, and have chosen Denmark as the country to which we shall 'travel by armchair'. I am practising on the people of England, with the hope that I shall be quite proficient by the time I get home; and I have also promised to give another talk on Holland.

"One of our numerous trips took us to the Shakespeare country, via Oxford, Woodstock, Stratford-on-Avon, Warwick, Kenilworth, Banbury Cross, touching various picturesque little old English villages along the way.

"At Woodstock, we had a glimpse of Blenheim Palace, the birthplace of Winston Churchill. Near the lower gateway to the palace — is a little old house, said to have been the home of the poet Chaucer. We have since then returned to admire the beauty and majesty of Blenheim Palace, and saw the room where Sir Winston was born.

"We spent several hours in Stratford, and had plenty of time to visit Shakespeare's birthplace, and to admire the many beautiful shops and homes. We also visited Ann Hathaway's cottage, a mile or so away.

"After viewing the ruins of Kenilworth Castle and enjoying 'tea' in a delightful old English garden, we continued on to 'Banbury Cross' This name, which delighted us as children, has a history which dates back to Roman days.

"Most interesting in our journeys was the visit to the 'healing springs'. Eighteen hundred years ago, the Romans, who appreciated the virtue of water, saw the hot springs bubbling up from the ground at Bath; so they tasted them, bathed in them, and henceforth — founded a city around them. For untold centuries, the springs have poured forth their healing waters, and their volume of one-half million gallons daily. They have never varied, nor has their temperature of 117° changed even by a fraction of a degree. Scientists say that such consistency of supply and temperature, uninfluenced by wet or dry seasons, hot or cold weather, offers proof beyond question that the source must be of very great depth, and the area a vast one, which has fed through the ages these springs at Bath.

"There are many legends of their healing power. The water is rich in many minerals, and also contains radium. Because we now know and appreciate the value of radium in the treatment of certain diseases, the waters of the springs are used for medical purposes, under supervision.

"Visitors to the Pump Room are also given a drink of the tepid, peculiar-tasting water. H_2O, with radium added! — I jokingly now say that I am now radio active!

"The Great Roman Bath is now situated in the centre of a hall 110 feet long, and 68 feet wide. The floor of the bath is still covered with the lead laid down by the Romans. Encircling it is a stone platform nearly 14 feet wide, with six steps leading to the water.

"Bath Abbey is lovely. Its beautiful stained glass windows have won for it the name 'The Lantern of England'. During the 18th century Bath was a pleasure resort for the wealthy Lords and Ladies of England, but it is now a permanent residential place, with well-built houses, and Generals and Admirals of renown have settled there.

"I felt that it was my duty to pay a visit to No. 5 Trim Street, because it was from this house that General Wolfe started on his expedition, which ended in his death, in his hour of victory, on the Plains of Abraham in Canada. The house is now used as a training school for the deaf and dumb.

"Sir Isaac Pitman, the inventor of the widely-used system of shorthand, died here in 1897, in his 85th year. The Crescent Apartment occupied by him is clearly marked. Many are the interesting places to which one may travel."

A Holiday That's Hard to Beat

There is a holiday indeed in Louis de Rochemont's newest production "Cinerama Holiday", not only for the young Swiss couple who came to see America via the three-eyed camera and the American couple who took a Cinerama tour of Europe, but for audiences, too! In our scene above, at the Lido on Paris' Champs Elysees, can-can girls perform for the fabulous Cinerama production, which is now showing at the Imperial Theatre in Montreal.

OMISSION

Attention of the editor has been drawn to an omission in the list of entries shown at the recent Art Show in St. Andrews East. Among the exhibits was one not mentioned, a Still Life canvas by Mrs. Lila Coombes.

Teatime Topics

Written Specially for The Lachute Watchman

By Oli Daum, Canadian Press Staff Writer

Spirits a little wilted in the heat? Perhaps the children seem unusually mischievous lately and the housework just plain drudgery.

Hardly seems a fitting state of affairs for the beginning of summer. But a change of season often affects one's morale. Makes you wish there was a magic potion to perk you up — and beauty counsellors say there is.

Their prescription is perfume — lots of it. The feminin. ritual o' dabbing a bit of fragrance here anc there is a marvelous morale builder

A refreshing morning shower will awaken the mind and body to the brightness of a new day. And here is the ideal time to begin a fragran beauty campaign.

Before stepping under the warm spray, smooth bath oil across the shoulders. Then lather with a cake of sweet-smelling soap. After rinsing and towelling dry, smooth colloghe or toilet water over the body and dust with scented bath powder

Are you fully dressed? Then take your perfume bottle in hand and apply the fragrance to the pulse spots — wrists, inside crook of the arms, throat, tmples, behind the ears — where heat of your pulse will warm the scent. Follow that with an atomized spray of perfume so that a fine mist settles on your clothes.

If the fragrance evaporates during the day, dot perfume again or the pulse spots and if you fee' weary in the evening, repeat your luxury shower.

There's just one thing to watch Scents of the bath oil, cologne, soap and powder should be the same o at least, complement each other Too many different scents are not likely to be pleasing.

Handicapped Graduates

Of all the accounts of handicapped persons who managed to overcome their afflictions that of Edna Achtymichuk is outstanding

The pretty Vancouver co-ed is studying psychology and criminology at the University of British Columbia. She hopes to graduate next fall.

Four years ago the 25-year-old co-ed was severely injured in an automobile accident. She was unconscious for 96 days and in a coma for another 35 days, doctors said she would never walk or talk again

By some miracle she returned to classes a year later. University officials say she works as hard as her classmates and has never asked special favors.

A Summer Special

ROYAL FROSTED PIE

When the temperature goes up and thoughts turn to delectable desserts, you can literally padlock the oven door. Yes, it isn't necessary to heat up the kitchen to turn out extra-special desserts for company or family meals. This simple, uncomplicated recipe for Royal Frosted Pie turns out a sophisticated dessert that's as refreshing on a warm day as a sea breeze. The crust and topping are made of sugar frosted cereal flakes and the filling is made of milk, cream or undiluted evaporated milk and instant pudding. The pie, which can be made in an ordinary 9-inch pie plate or a refrigerator ice-cube tray, is then fast-frozen for approximately 4 hours. It's a glamorous way to include the nutrients of milk in the diet. To add interest this dessert can be made with instant pudding mixes in a variety of flavors. And for a "different" effect you can go finger loose and fancy free and garnish the pie wedges with blanched almonds, maraschino cherries, mint leaves, or whole strawberries.

Royal Frosted Pie

4½ Cups sugar frosted cereal flakes, ½ cup soft butter or margarine, 1½ cups cold milk, 1 cup cream or undiluted evaporated milk, ½ teaspoon almond flavoring, 1 package instant pudding.

Crush sugar frosted cereal flakes into fine crumbs; combine well with soft butter or margarine. Press ⅔ crumb mixture firmly on sides and bottom of a refrigerator tray. Chill.

Pour milk and cream into bowl. Add almond flavoring and instant pudding. Beat until smooth, about 1 minute. Pour into tray. Top with remaining crumb mixture. Fast freeze about 4 hours. Cut crosswise into wedge-shaped pieces. Serves 6.

Fashions

By GRACE THORNCLIFFE

Turquoise blue is used for this cotton daytime dress with a midriff sash of dark green plaided in blue. It ties in a bow in back. A buttoned band rises high on the bodice and low on the skirt which is of released, unpressed knife pleats. It is a many-occasion dress.

Travel Tips

When packing a suitcase, don't overlook the space inside shoes. You'll be surprised at the quantity of belts, brushes, and other small tems they'll hold. And dirty soles won't soil clothes if each pair of shoes is put into a polythene bag. You can buy them in many sizes, but if you want to be thrifty, the bags that carrots come in are ideal!

Clothes take the journey better if packed systematically. Shoes and heavy articles should be at the bottom of the case so their weight doesn't crush other clothing. Lingerie and sweaters can be tucked into corners. Suits and dresses travel smoothly if folded flat just under the lid.

BACKACHE May be Warning

Backache is often caused by lazy kidney action. When kidneys get out of order, excess acids and wastes remain in the system. Then backache, disturbed rest or that tired-out and heavy-headed feeling may soon follow. That's the time to take Dodd's Kidney Pills. Dodd's stimulate the kidneys to normal action. Then you feel better—sleep better—work better. Get Dodd's Kidney Pills now. 51

This Woman's Job Is Testing Soils

Suzanne St. Gelais is a city girl, but she's helping grow oats and carrots all over the Province of Quebec.

From miles around farmers send samples of their soil to the C-I-L soils laboratory in Montreal and there petite Mrs. St. Gelais takes over. As a soil-tester, her job is to analyse the soil to see how the farmer can improve his crops by the use of fertilizer.

Through chemical tests, she determines the percentage of organic matter in the soil, the content of calcium, magnesium and potash, and whether it is alkaline or acidic.

When all results are compiled, a qualified agronomist sends the farmer a fertilizer "prescription" to correct his soil's deficiencies.

This young laboratory farmer started out in the business world as a stenographer. When an opening came in the soils laboratory three years ago, she jumped at the opportunity to try something new. Although she didn't have any previous training in chemistry, in two months Mrs. St. Gelais was at home amid test tubes and chemicals.

When asked if she missed the secretarial work, Mrs. St. Gelais said that she still uses her secretarial training for writing up the final reports. "Actually my time now is divided between the technical work of testing soil, and the more clerical work connected with the reports," she explained. "It is much more interesting because I'm not doing the same thing all the time."

Mrs. St. Gelais estimates that in one year she analyzes approximately 4,000 samples of soil. "Most of the samples are sent in to us by farmers," she said, "but occasionally there is a flower gardener who wants to know what type of fertilizer he needs in his garden."

Whether the land is to grow turnips or tulips, this girl with the test tubes is always ready to find out what ails the soil.

"Wedding of Tomorrow" in Womanless Fashionrama

Final plans have been completed for the Womanless Fashionrama which will be presented here in the Auditorium next Thursday, June 28, at 8.30 p.m. Indications point to a capacity audience, and those attending are advised to arrive early; with this type of show, with a ramp down the centre of the hall seating capacity is limited.

The "models" are all male members of the staff of Grace Church Sunday School in Montreal, with the assistance of male members of the parish. The names of those taking part cannot be made known, for various reasons which are best known to the models themselves. Fashions of the past, present and future will be shown, as well as "The Wedding of Tomorrow", which will put present-day weddings in the background.

Sponsors of this interesting event are the St. Simeon's Church Guild.

Features at QWI Annual Convention, June 26-29

"Asia and the Free World" will be the subject of an address by "Nik" Cavell, Administrator for the Colombo Plan for Canada, Ottawa, on Thursday, June 28, at 2 p.m., in the Assembly Hall, of Macdonald College. This is an open session of the annual Provincial Convention of the Quebec Women's Institutes, and the public is invited to hear one who can speak from first hand knowledge of conditions in the Far East.

Mr. Cavell was born in England. He saw 17 years service in the Indian Army (not British Army in India). Invalided out, he returned to England and became managing director of Automatic Electric Co. He left the British end of this company to go to China and Japan as president, simultaneously, of the branches in those two countries — living roughly six months of each year in each country, with operations carrying him over all countries of the Far East.

When the Japanese aggression brought the business to a close Mr. Cavell came to Canada, and is proud of the fact that his naturalization certificate is one of the first 100 ever issued. He makes many speaking tours across Canada, writes under the name "Nik Cavell" and was for some years chairman of the Canadian Institute of International Affairs.

In 1951 he was asked by the Government of Canada to undertake the administration of Canada's participation in the Colombo Plan. He joined the Department of Trade and Commerce to found a new division called the International Economic & Technical Co-operation Division, with the title of "Administrator". This Division is responsible both for the Technical Assistance side concerned with training people for serving under the Colombo Plan and the UN Specialized Agencies, and the Capital Expenditure which Canada is making under the Plan in South East Asia. Mr. Cavell annually travels extensively in those countries in the carrying on of his work.

He is a forceful and dynamic speaker and with such a background can talk with authority on his subject.

Another open session of the Convention will be held Thursday evening. The speaker then will be Mrs. A. M. Berry, O.B.E., J.P., Queensland, Australia, president of the Associated Country Women of the World. Mrs. Berry is on her way to a meeting of the ACWW Executive Committee in London and will tell of her experiences in the many countries which she has visited since her appointment as president in 1953. Her talk is scheduled for 8 a.m., also in the Assembly Hall of the College. The "Harwood Singers," will give a few selections on this program.

Other meetings open to the public will feature a demonstration on the use and care of the new fibres and textiles in interior decoration, by the Canadian Fabrics Foundation, Wednesday afternoon, at 2.30, and the formal opening of the Convention at 8 p.m. Mrs. H. R. Murray will be the guest soloist on this occasion.

Convention dates, including the Annual Board Meeting on the first day, are June 26-29.

Tips on Touring

By Carol Lane

Women's Travel Authority

Experts on the "inner man" agree that the two necessary ingredients for a successful vacation are: Change of scene and change of pace.

In other words, if you live at a quiet pace amid green fields, then the city's excitement and clamour will refresh and stimulate you. But if you live surrounded by cement towers and honking horns, then only the open spaces will relieve your tensions.

Some people even take on a different job during their two-week respite to fulfill their vacation needs. An accountant I know, for instance, becomes a temporary member of a small town's fire department. He loves chasing after the real and phony alarms, and polishing brass or hosing down the firehouse gives him exercise he doesn't get all year.

Then there's the farm family I know who advertises every year to change homes with a city family for a few weeks. Each family benefits by the change, sacrifices no comfort, and gets a plus value from the arrangement by planning some sightseeing on their way to and from their destination.

Faded Peony Blooms

All faded peony blooms should be removed from the plants immediately after flowering to prevent the needless formation of seed.

It's not unusual for repair bills to catch a family unprepared — and borrowing the necessary money is often a common and sensible solution.

In fact, nearly three quarters of a million families borrow money from Household Finance every year to pay overdue bills, repair bills, travel expenses . . . the kind of expenses you may face yourself right now.

HFC loans are prompt and convenient. You can get $50 to $1000 with little or no delay, usually in just one day. If you have a steady income, and can make regular monthly payments, you may borrow without endorsers at HFC. If you have a money problem, why not phone or drop in today?

A Weekly Feature of Helpful Hints on Child Training

Neighbors

(Copyright) — By NANCY CLEAVER —

"There doesn't seem time any more to do the little things which make a 'good neighbor'," a mother of several children said wistfully. She was calling to say "Good-bye" to our family. We were moving over a thousand miles away to Winnipeg, and I did appreciate her taking time to visit me.

I regretted that I didn't know my neighbor better. It was my own fault, because she was younger than I and more tied to her house with small youngsters. Several times I had wondered about offering to mind her baby so she would be free to shop or see a movie . . . but somehow I had failed to phone her, to see if this would be a help. Now it was too late . . . I resolved to be a better neighbor in the next community which was to be our home.

I remembered what a friendly street I had lived on as a child in a small town where everyone knew everyone else. "When we were quarantined with various childish diseases what delicious broth, what tasty custards and crunchy cookies were handed in the door by our neighbors!"

In times of sickness and sorrow, peoples' hearts are touched and they are moved to express their sympathy in practical ways. So often a widow, left alone to raise her children without her husband's financial help and moral support, has declared years later, "I don't know how I ever would have managed if I hadn't had such marvellous neighbors!" "Better is a neighbor that is near than a brother far off." That is just as true today as it was centuries ago in Bible times.

When our paths are smooth, small vexations frequently become magnified in a neighborhood. Ellis Parker Butler, who wrote the delightful nonsense story, "Pigs is Pigs", once observed, "It is other folks' dogs and children that make most of the bad feelin's between neighbors." Observing the property rights of the folks who live beside us by doing our best to keep our "small fry" — (both two and four legged) off their lawn is one good way to maintain a happy relationship.

In pioneer days, when neighbors lived long distances apart, homemakers, weary with the demands of feeding and clothing and keeping a family clean, looked up with delight when they caught a glimpse of a neighbor coming to call. Neighbors helped each other in workbees of various sorts — to raise a new barn or thresh the harvest.

Willa Cather, in her word-picture of early times in Quebec, wrote: "Only solitary men know the full joys of friendship." She also once made this comment, "Sometimes a neighbor whom we have disliked a lifetime for his arrogance and conceit lets fall a single commonplace remark that shows us another side, another man, really; a man uncertain, and puzzled, and in the dark like ourselves." Life teaches most of us sympathy. We discover how dependent we are on each other!

In every community in which we have lived, we have been blessed with wonderful neighbors. Words fail to describe the welcome which has greeted us in this "Gateway to the West"! The threat of a flood draws people together. The vital importance of the old slogan "Each for all and all for each" is once again in the spot-light.

We are filled with admiration for the spirit of mutual helpfulness which is the core of real neighborliness. The other night we watched a gang of men and older boys filling sand bags, carrying them and placing them in line, three-deep on the top of the permanent dyke wall. We asked one worker, who pased to warm his stiff fingers at the embers of the camp-fire, "Which is your home?" He answered with a grin, "Oh, I don't live out here! But I did in 1950 — so I volunteered at once to help each night after work."

District Couple Wed In Pretty Ceremony

Hume - Bigelow

A quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized in Lachute United Church on Saturday, June 9, where Margaret Alice, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Bigelow, became the bride of Donald David Hume, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. D. Hume, of Hill Head.

The Rev. Wilson Bridge officiated in the double-ring ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a ballerina-length gown of white Chantilly-type lace and nylon tulle over acetate satin. The lace bodice was topped with a tulle yoke edged with iridescent sequins. Her headpiece of matching lace, sequins and seed pearls, with shoulder-length veil of tulle illusion, completed her costume, while she carried deep pink roses and lily-of-the-valley.

The bride was attended by Miss Teresa Lavis, niece of the groom, who wore heavenly blue nylon over acetate satin, in off-the-shoulder style, also in ballerina length, and wore a coronet halo of lace to match her dress. She carried yellow pompoms.

Mr. Thomas Armstrong, Jr., nephew of the groom, was best man, while Mr. Harold Hume was usher.

After the ceremony a wedding supper was served in the church hall, then the guests followed the bridal pair to the Hume farm home at Hill Head, where the bride and groom were given a happy send-off on their honeymoon in the Eastern States and New Brunswick.

For travelling the bride chose a beige suit, beige and brown hat and brown accessories, and wore a corsage of yellow carnations.

On their return Mr. and Mrs. Hume will reside at Lachute East.

Out of town guests from Fredericton, N.B.; Toronto and South Mountain, Ont.; Pointe Claire, Verdun and Lachine, Que., attended the wedding.

THE WEATHER

A meteorologist says that over the next half-century the weather is going to become moister and colder, with lots of snow and ice. However, there will be fewer hurricanes in the East, and no draughts in the West.

Community Joins in Warm Tribute To Former Morin Heights Citizen

Morin Heights — A large number of Morin Heights residents gathered at the Bellevue Hotel last Saturday afternoon to honor Mr. James Syvret, a former resident of this municipality. Major I. Morgan, a councillor of the Quebec Council of the Most Venerable Order of the Hospital of Saint John of Jerusalem, presented Mr. Syvret on this occasion with a diploma of merit on behalf of the Quebec Council of the Order and of the Priory of Canada.

The Rev. Robert Blair, minister of Morin Heights United Church, as master of ceremonies for the occasion, opened the meeting with a prayer of invocation. In his remarks he observed that the meeting was unique because of the spirit of unanimity which was so evident. There were no "contrary minded' votes recorded concerning the desire to honor a well deserving and greatly respected former member of the municipality. The Rev. H. G. Baugh, rector of Trinity Church, closed the meeting with a prayer of benediction.

Mayor Charles Campbell, who spoke on behalf of the municipal council and the citizens, expressed the sincere gratitude of all who had benefitted through "Pop" Syvret's services.

Comrade Colin Cameron, president of the Morin Heights Legion Branch 171, expressed felicitations of the Legion members.

Mr. Harold Millard presented Mrs. Gerald Boyd, Mr. Syvret's daughter, with a bouquet of red carnations for her mother, who was unable to be present.

Several residents of St. Eustache were present to add their good wishes and demonstrate their appreciation of Mr. Syvret's work in their community where he has lived for the past four years. Mr. Brault, representing the St. Eustache Athletic Association, presented Mr. Syvret with a radio.

The Rev. Father Allan McDonald, of St. Eustache, telegraphed a message of thanks and congratulations to his fellow-worker in community welfare.

Refreshments were served through the kindness of Mr. John Basler, proprietor of the Bellevue Hotel. During the interval Mr. Syvret could be seen receiving the good wishes of his many friends and enjoying reminiscences of former days.

Recognition for outstanding public service is not too common, and the award given to Mr. Syvret is well merited. Indeed, further recognition of his work would be welcomed and heartily endorsed by the grateful residents of the Municipality of Morin Heights.

Have You A Question on UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE OR EMPLOYMENT?

In this column we publish questions about unemployment insurance and employment, together with answers received from the Unemployment Insurance Commission.

If you are uncertain about any point do not hesitate to send your question to your district Unemployment Insurance office. We will obtain an answer and publish it in this column.

Q. My husband is an old man now, but has paid into unemployment insurance since it first started. Is there anything in it for him when he retires or if he should get sick?

A. The Unemployment Insurance Act insures your husband against loss of work if he is available for work but for industrial or economic reasons cannot obtain it. To qualify for benefit he must therefore show that he is unemployed, ready and willing to take work if it is available, and unable to obtain suitable employment. If when he retires he is not interested in obtaining other employment, he will not be eligible for benefit.

The Act does not insure him against loss of work because of illness. However, if he were unemployed and receiving benefit and happened to become sick, his benefit would not be stopped on that account.

Q. When was unemployment insurance inaugurated in Canada?

A. The Unemployment Insurance Act was passed in 1940 and came into operation on July 1, 1941.

Evacuation--Its Effect on the Rural Dweller

(Seventeenth in series of 24)

If nuclear warfare ever comes to Canada, the most permanent effects of evacuation of the large cities likely to be bombed will be felt by the smaller cities, towns and villages and even the farmers.

For the city resident can save himself from the destruction of a hydrogen bomb only by fleeing to the country. If his city were wiped out and made uninhabitable by the blast, he would have to remain in the smaller centre. He could not go home again; he would have no home to go to.

Under Canada's civil defence plan it is the responsibility of the rural dwellers to be prepared to cope with the problems evacuation of the cities would bring them. And these problems are many and varied.

Besides the necessity of people who live in the country and the small towns and cities to help their less fortunate city dwellers in event nuclear war requires mass evacuation, there is the possibility that rural dwellers themselves may have to evacuate.

Under certain circumstances the rural residents must be prepared to move to safer territory themselves. The chief cause of this would be fall-out.

If the weather conditions were such that heavy concentrations of this dangerous and quite possibly deadly dust were likely to sift down on a town or village after a city had been blasted by an H-bomb, then the inhabitants would have to seek shelter elsewhere.

The immediate demand the evacuees would make on the country folk would be for shelter, not only from the elements and the weather but also from the threat of the blast's aftermath; radioactive fall-out. The fall-out of pulverized cities from one H-bomb could contaminate areas more than 100 miles long and 20 miles wide with radioactive dust that might remain dangerous for from 48 hours up.

Where would a small town or village shelter up to five times its normal population for 48 hours or more? How would it feed them for that time? Supply them with water?

These are only a few of the problems a local civil defence organization can work out in advance and it is only by advance preparedness and training and practice that the tremendous demands a nuclear emergency would make on rural dwellers could be met.

Since civil defence planners expect the whole country eventually to be divided into evacuation zones — with persons from predetermined sections of the rural areas — any community, no matter how small, must be prepared to care for the injured almost certain to turn up among the evacuees.

There would be extra demands on a small town's water supply and sanitation capacity. The town engineer, who would know what these facilities could take and how best to expand them, is therefore an important part of any town's civil defence setup. Civil defence volunteers might be needed to help him.

The evacuees might outnumber the town's normal residents by as many as five to one. That poses the problem of law enforcement. No town police force can by itself provide the necessary protection from the criminal element that accompanies any such crowd. With trained civil defence volunteers, however, it would have a better chance of doing so.

How would such people know where to go? Or when the danger was such that they must go?

That is another of the many reasons why Canada seeks to organize civil defense in every community. For it is the purpose of civil defence to work out these problems and allow every individual to learn and be trained, if necessary, in the surest and swiftest method of putting the solutions into action.

The Many-Splendored Thing...

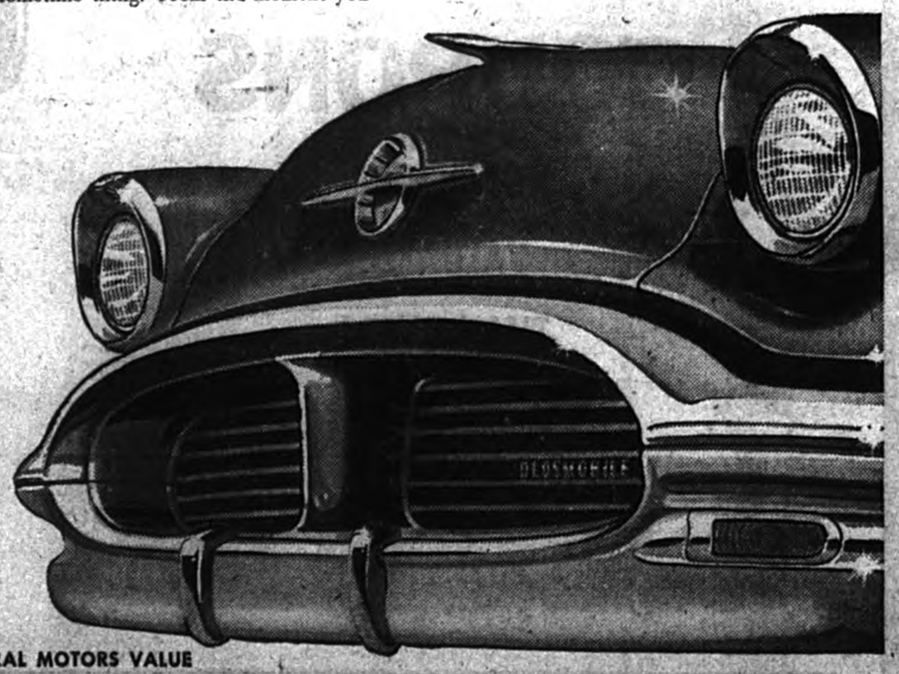

Splendor is everywhere in Oldsmobile.

There's the splendor of distinctive Starfire styling—fresh, dignified, but so alive. There's the splendor of rich, custom-tailored interiors—luxurious, gracious and so comfortable. And there's the splendor of mighty power, tamed to go quietly about its task of producing swift, smooth motion.

And this Oldsmobile splendor is not a sometime thing. From the moment you proudly take possession until that distant day when you decide to trade it in on an even more exciting Olds of the future, you'll keep discovering new splendors in this unusual car. And you'll keep reflecting all the while how wise you were in 1956 to step up from the ordinary into an Oldsmobile.

Company Demonstrating Sanitary-Fill Method at Town's Dumping Ground

During the past few days the Town of Lachute has been trying a new machine to make sanitary fills — in other words to get rid of its garbage.

The Town Council has accepted the offer made by Chas. Cusson Limited of Montreal to demonstrate the latest method of burying garbage, the method employed today by more than 500 of the most progressive municipalities in the United States and Canada. The sanitary fills are approved by the Department of Sanitation.

By using this machine, the Drott Bullclam, in the proper way, it is possible to obtain expected results. It is not necessary to bury the garbage with soil, as with this new method very little earth is necessary.

The sanitary fill method consists of spreading the refuse, to compact same to one quarter its volume, and spreading soil over to bury it. This method can be used without inconvenience near public buildings.

One has only to see this method once, to realize its exceptional advantage. It is understandable that a garbage dump is a source of contamination, and to remedy this situation, the only adequate method is to compact and bury the refuse, thus eliminating the odor, as well as the vermin.

Last week, after having examined all the possible sites for this new application, the Cusson representative picked out the actual site of the dump as the ideal spot for the sanitary fill operation. The smoke, the odors, and the vermin are now being definitely eliminated.

With this new sanitary fill method of garbage disposal, there is for a period of 8 to 14 days following the operation, a fermentation which develops heat to approximately 140°, destroying all living cells as well as vermin.

Each night a temporary cover for the refuse is practical, as it leaves the area free from exposed garbage.

The sanitary fill method has proved itself much more economical to the taxpayers than the incineration process, as such a method would cost in the neighborhood of $75,000 in this case, besides the expensive cost of operation — plus the fact that it is impossible to burn everything with the incinerator, while it is easy to get rid of all refuse with the burying method.

The above method is now being practiced in this province by the municipalities of Chicoutimi, Lauzon, Sept Iles, Montreal and others.

Citizens of Lachute are invited to visit the site and see the improvements which have taken place during the last few days at the old municipal dump.

Lions Club Car Winner

In the presence of Lions Club officials — J. S. Daigneault of 4396 Marcil Ave., Montreal, came last week to take possession of the Nash Metropolitan car which he won in the recent drawing at Lachute Fair Grounds. In appreciation of his good luck, Mr. Daigneault handed over a generous cash donation to the Lions Club... An insurance adjuster, he had purchased the lucky ticket (No. 15077) from Robt. Marcil, local insurance broker.

Mr. Daigneault is seen here receiving the keys of the 1956 automobile from Ian Gordon (right), Lions Club president. In the background are Lions active in this annual drawing — left to right, Herb Graves, Robt. Marcil, Gordon Davidson and Col. Ernest Emmett (raffle chairman).

Complex Plans for Water and Sewerage to McGibbon Site

Special Meeting of Town Council

Engineer Paul Laliberté was engaged by Lachute Town at a special Council meeting Tuesday evening, with duties to prepare a plan for water and sewerage installations for the A. D. McGibbon & Sons' "Riverview" subdivision, as well as for the complete area around this subdivision. The plan is to be submitted to the Board of Health for approval and a fee of $500 to Mr. Laliberté was agreed upon — the plans to be in the hands of the Council on or before July 4.

Mr. Laliberté, accompanied by Jas. W. McGibbon, partner in the local firm promoting this site, presented facts and figures relative to the project.

Four alternative plans were submitted, members of the Council adding a possible fifth. Each of the proposed plans was explained and discussed, after which it was decided to hire Mr. Laliberté to prepare two plans in detail, to be submitted for approval.

To clarify the break-down, the plans will be referred to as Plan A and Plan B. The cost of both projects will be approximately the same, namily, in the vicinity of $21,000.

Both sewers will be used to drain the complete vicinity, including the McGibbon "Riverview" subdivision, which is on the former Wilson Farm north of the Brownsburg Road.

Plan A may be summed up as follows: the installation of an 18-inch sewer on Brownsburg Road, commencing where the present pipe now ends and leading to the Riverview Subdivision entrance; from this point the pipe is increased to 21 inches in diameter, and continues along the present road leading to the mountain (Riverview Blvd.) to a cut-off into the North River, a distance of some 1,100 feet, where the sewer empties. In Plan A, the main trunk sewer will be located on what is now the McGibbon property.

In this plan, all sewage from the Mountain View area, as well as Brownsburg Road, the McGibbon and other subdivisions, will enter the river near the foot of the mountain.

Plan B will follow approximately the same route: a 21-inch sewer pipe will be laid on Brownsburg Road from a point where the road to the mountain (Riverview Blvd.) joins the highway to the former C.N.R. right-of-way leading from Brownsburg Road to the North River. Sewage from the Mountain View area is now deposited in the river at this point, and the present pipe would be replaced by the larger 21-inch pipe, to empty at the same place.

The sewer serving the subdivision in question, along with surrounding lands, would be laid on the road to the mountain (Riverview Blvd.), but would be smaller in size (approximately 15 inches), as this area will not carry a heavy load, and will join into the 21-inch pipe on the Brownsburg Road.

The cost for both Plan A and Plan B, as mentioned above, has been estimated at $14,000, with an additional $7,000 estimate to increase the size of the sewers serving the Mountain View area.

In addition to this proposed outlay of $21,000 for sewers, part of which will be repaid by the property-owners concerned, an estimate of $22,000 has been made for the installation of waterworks. This latter figure is payable entirely by the corporation.

In the event that either plan is approved and put into use, the present 2-inch water main now serving part of the area will have to be replaced with an 8-inch pipe from Mountain View to the road to the mountain (Riverview Blvd.).

A total of 1,377 feet of 8-inch pipe — 1,030 feet of 6-inch pipe — and 1,020 feet of 4-inch pipe — will have to be laid in the McGibbon subdivision. This will service three streets and a portion of the fourth street. The cost of purchasing and laying this main, as well as that from Mountain View to the subdivision, will be approximately $22,000.

The total cost to the Town of Lachute will be in the vicinity of $43,000 — a portion of which, unascertained, will be paid by the proprietors concerned.

In addition to this, the McGibbon interests will have to spend in the vicinity of $18,000 for sewers on the subdivision.

If and when the proposed plans are approved by the Board of Health, both a By-law and a referendum will be necessary to obtain the necessary funds to commence work on the project.

Municipal Dump

Three tenders were received for the necessary 30-inch pipe to drain the municipal dump. Prices for the 416 feet varied from $3.96 per foot, plus provincial tax, up to $4.35, tax included.

It was decided to purchase the pipe from Lavigne & Freres, St. Placide, for the price of $3.96 a foot, to be delivered promptly, and town foreman Jos. Senecal was authorized to proceed with the work immediately.

Following some discusion relative to the valuation and census, the meeting was adjourned. Ald. Dr. Roger Lavigne was absent from the assembly.

Four Fined for Breaches of Law And Order

Four district residents appeared before Georges Brunelle, J.P., in Police Court here Tuesday evening, and on pleading guilty were sentenced according to their various offences.

Gilles Decarie, of St. Placide, and Charles Henri Logier, of St. Andrews East, were arrested by Lieut. Oscar Sabourin and Cst. Marcel Therrien around midnight, June 15, and charged with refusing to obey a police officer and resisting arrest. Fines were levied at $20 each, plus costs, with Decarie having to pay damages of $6.50.

Jean-Paul Renaud, of Brownsburg, pleaded guilty to a charge of using abusive language and disturbing the peace, and was sentenced to a fine of $33 plus $7 costs. Renaud was arrested at 9 p.m. last Saturday, June 23, in a Main Street restaurant by Police Chief Trépanier and Cst. Marcel Therrien.

Charged with driving while his ability was impaired, Réal Periard, Bedard Blvd., Lachute, was fined $33 plus $7 costs, after pleading guilty to the charge. Periard was arrested Sunday evening, June 24, by Constables Marcel Therrien and Jeannot Laurin.

All four were released on a deposit of $40, respectively, following their arrests.

Changes Noted In Central School Board

At a meeting of the Argenteuil and Two Mountains County Central School Board, held June 23, the following members resigned — Hon. W. M. Cottingham, Mr. G. M. Strong; also Mr. D. E. F. Watts, through a letter from the Lake of Two Mountains School Commission advising that it is the desire of that Board to withdraw further representation.

The resignations were tendered with a recommendation that it is considered advisable that the Central Board Act should be altered with the result that Central Boards be composed of the chairmen of Boards operating schools, as members, and of Boards not operating schools, as associate members. It was deemed advisable that the Lake of Two Mountains School District should be a separate entity as far as the local Central School Board is concerned.

It is considered in the best interests of education in this County that steps in this direction be taken as promptly as possible.

Youngster Killed Playing Beneath Dairy Truck

The instant death of two-year-old Mario Lemay, of Brownsburg, last Monday, sounded an ominous warning of local traffic fatalities this summer. The victim was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Emile Lemay — Mr. Lemay being employed by his father at the Lemay Dairy.

Det. Ralph Allen and Traffic Officer Albert Legault, investigating the fatality, report that the youngster had been playing under one of the dairy trucks. Germain Doth, 25, also of Brownsburg, an employee of the dairy, started the vehicle and drove off without knowing the child was there.

The fatality occurred around 12.15 p.m. Monday in the dairy yard, on the Brownsburg - St. Philippe Road.

Fire at St. Canut

A fire which started in the farm buildings owned by Jean Bourgeois, of St. Canut, razed the barn, silo and chicken house last Wednesday. The blaze was battled by firemen from St. Jerome and numerous volunteers.

Maurice Power, of that village, discovered the flames and notified his two brothers as well as the owner of the farm, Mr. Bourgeois. A successful effort to save the house and outbuildings was made by the volunteers and firemen, who were hampered by strong winds.

A&P Opens New Super-Market Spacious and Modern Premises

The new A & P Super-market was officially opened by Mayor Dr. F. Walter FitzGerald at 9 o'clock this morning. A feature of the opening was a variety of free gifts to the first 1,000 customers, and new products available to shoppers.

Complete with a staff of 26 employees under manager Don Streich, this modern store situated at 440 Main Street carries a line of more than 4,000 items — the extent and variety of stock being considerably larger than in the previous quarters near the post office.

The numerous improvements on general lines are less conspicuous in the background, but such features as a complete self-service meat department featuring top grade Red and Blue Brand beef, an enlarged refrigerated produce department, a self-service dairy centre, a large frozen food department, bakery and large grocery departments, are immediately evident to shoppers. Five check-out cashiers, as well as an express cashier, will speed the serving of customers.

The self-service meat department will be operated under the well-known A & P policy, providing top-grade meat at city prices, and has qualified butchers in charge. All meat is pre-cut, wrapped and priced, but special attention will be paid any specific requests of customers. A large below-zero freezer is situated in the rear of the store for storage of frozen foods. All minced beef is ground under refrigeration, thus keeping it in top condition prior to sale.

The modern refrigerated produce department will feature a full assortment of domestic and imported fruits and vegetables, while the self-service dairy department features a full line of pre-cut cheddar cheese plus a wide variety of packaged brands.

The wide aisles in the new store will facilitate shopping, and apart from a few key personnel, the familiar faces of employees at the former store, along with new additions, will be on hand to serve all customers.

An increase in staff of 15 employees was necessary in this move to larger premises.

Big Uptrend in National Production Indicates Canada's Growing Economy

Defence Policy Debated at Ottawa

THE WEEK AT OTTAWA

By Roy LaBerge, Canadian Press Staff Writer

Ottawa, June 25 (CP) — Canada's gross national product — the value of all goods and services — is mounting at a record annual rate of $28,332,000,000.

That figure, a rise of six per cent over the 1955 average of $26,769,000,000, was indicated in the first three months of the year as the country's economy continued to spiral.

Meanwhile, in the January-March period Canadians saved slightly less than in the corresponding period last year, but earned and spent more.

Higher Tax Yield

The swelling economy may mean a higher tax yield and consequently a larger budgetary surplus than the anticipated $113,000,000 forecast in Finance Minister Harris' budget for 1956-57.

In turn, a large surplus undoubtedly will mean tax cuts for 1957, generally regarded as a federal election year.

In the first three months of the year, labor income rose to an annual rate of $13,440,000,000, an increase from the 1955 average of $12,810,000,000 and the $12,240,000,000 in the first quarter of last year.

The net national income rose to $21,760,000,000 from last year's first quarter of $19,468,000,000. Personal direct taxes increased to an annual rate of $1,616,000,000, up from $1,464,000,000 in the first quarter of 1955.

Turn To Defence

The Commons turned to a debate on the government's defence policies.

Defence Minister Campney launched the debate on his 1956-57 estimates of about $1,775,000,000 with an announcement the RCAF will increase to 12 from nine the number of CF-100 jet interceptor squadrons serving with NATO forces in Europe.

To provide a reserve of jet fighters, six of the 10 auxiliary fighter squadrons — two each at Montreal, Toronto and Vancouver — will be equipped with Sabres. The other four will get new jobs.

Officials estimated it will take about a year to form the new jet fighter squadrons for the air defence command.

Notable Visitor Here Friday

Mrs. Alice M. Berry, of Brisbane, Australia, will visit Lachute tomorrow for the purpose of inspecting the Ayers Limited mills. The visitor holds a notable position, as president of the Associated Country Women of the World, an organization familiar to Women's Institute members since it extends over 30 countries and numbers over six million members.

Mrs. Berry is attending the provincial Women's Institute conference at Macdonald College this week. Her particular interest in the local woollen industry is explained by the fact that she hails from a wool-producing country and, specifically, comes from a ranch which maintains 700 head of sheep and 150 beef Shorthorn cattle. She has therefore a practical interest in woollen manufacturing, and will doubtless find satisfaction in finished products from the local industry.

Mrs. Berry's visit to the Ayers plant was arranged by the County W.I. president, Mrs. Mansel Wilson.

OBITUARY

Late Resident Member of Old Argent'l Family

The Late John H. McFaul

After being confined to bed for only a few days, an old county resident, John Henry McFaul, passed away at his home here early Sunday morning.

Born in Chatham, a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Archibald McFaul, the late John Henry McFaul, in his 82nd year, was one of a family of five boys — Archie, William and Vincent, who predeceased him and Ira, still active in business at Brownsburg.

Mr. McFaul was married in 1900 to Miss Harriet Cox, who also predeceased him, in 1950. Two children, Elsie, at home, and Kenneth, now of St. Catharines, Ont., comprised their family.

Service was held Tuesday afternoon from his late residence and was conducted by the Rev. J. H. Olmstead, of Brownsburg.

Pall-bearers were Messrs. Gordon McFaul, Ste. Adele; Archie McFaul, Valleyfield; H. White, Brownsburg; John MacDonald, Danville; Geo. Gordon and Donald Beers, Lachute.

Welcome to New "Super-Market"

TIMES have changed, in this locality as elsewhere, since chain stores came to town and were considered as interlopers by the old guard — and by independent merchants in particular. That was two decades ago, or more, when the advent of these nationally operated centres was rated as a serious threat to private merchandising. . .

What has happened since? True, some of the older-established provisioners have closed, but in their place are more and still more groceries, restaurants, meat markets and beer vendors. All continue to do a prosperous business, while the chain stores also flourish and expand. In these the public have found a wider variety of foods; fresh produce, dairy and bakery products; competitive prices; and general good service. The chain stores, indeed, have contributed their share to the housewife's convenience and pleasure. And what is more, they have become as integral a part of community living as any other agency or dealership (whether in cars, machinery or clothing) which takes money out of town in large proportions. For the truth remains, that a community cannot live unto itself; the days of self-sufficiency passed long ago, with the hand loom, the pork barrel and barter by trade.

Chain stores pay rents, taxes, salaries. They advertise, and they support the local enterprises. But more than that, their employees are citizens of the town; they also pay rents, buy clothing and furniture, attend the churches, support the charities and the recreational endeavors. In short, they are "town folks", just as you and I.

Today a brand new super-market opens under the old familiar banner of "A & P". Lachute has every cause to greet this ambitious venture on Main Street, and to wish the company success in this growing town.

Plug for Canada !

CANADIANS are turning into the "travelling-est" people. According to the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, we created a new record in outside-the-country jaunts in 1955 and, as far as trips to the United States alone were concerned, we crossed the border a mere 24,800,000 times.

This gadabout boom is educationally sound; our gallivanters are learning all about lilies in Bermuda, skin-diving in Florida, mermaids at Jones Beach, castles in Spain, double-decker buses on the Strand, and Gracie Fields' cottage in Capri. We are becoming a knowledgeable, educated sort of tribe. We are the Kilroys of the Fifties.

But, say the Ottawa statisticians, for the fifth straight year, Canadian travellers spent more in other countries, than foreign travellers spent in Canada. We laid out the record sum of $441,000,000 in other countries ($361,000,000 in the United States); and, although the visitors' spending, too, was at a new peak, the debit on travel account with all countries was a fat $112,000,000. And that (to put it mildly) is not good.

Probably part of the solution to a better-balanced book would be intensified plugging of our own magnificent resorts — our Jaspers, Banffs and Murray Bays; our typical scenery, our Cape Bretons and Muskokas, our rolling prairies and towering Rockies, our untamed wilds and forests with their hunting and fishing. . . Let's sing their praises consistently!

Birthrate Picture

WHAT FRANCE lost on the Plains of Abraham on a balmy September morning in 1759, the French-Canadian was supposed to win back again through early marriage and big families. The battle of the cradle, it was called; and the stakes, of course, the control of Canada — or what was then the joint colonies of Lower and Upper Canada, now Quebec and Ontario.

For years Quebec won steadily and easily, and only the much heavier immigration into Ontario made it a population race at all. But recently, comments The Financial Post, something seems to have changed. For the last three years, reports George Gathercole, Ontario provincial economist, total births in Ontario have exceeded those in Quebec, and while the actual birth rate still favors Quebec, the gap is narrowing. Quebec's birth rate, he says, has increased only moderately over the last decade, while Ontario's has soared.

Fight Against Cancer

CANCER kills an average of 55 Canadians daily — almost seven times the rate of death in the country's auto accidents.

A group of Canadian scientists have been meeting at Honey Harbor, Ont., on Georgian Bay, to pool the knowledge they have gleaned in the war on cancer. The results of their meeting may speed up the unravelling of cancer's mystery — why it begins and how it may be destroyed.

Scores of researchers are working in this country to add to the knowledge man has about the disease. They work sometimes thousands of miles apart in diverse fields. Some specialize in the chemistry of the body cells, some study the effect of radiation on cancer, others are looking for the possible role of viruses in cancer.

The Honey Harbor meeting brought these researchers together and enabled some of them to gain access to research material which they would have needed a year to obtain had they depended on medical literature.

The importance of their talks and panel discussions stems from the fact that some glimmer of light shed on the problem by one scientist may stimulate research by others along new lines.

It was the second such conference to be held under sponsorship of the National Cancer Institute of Canada. Chief function of the NCI is to sponsor cancer research in this country. This year, it is spending more than $500,000 in the war on cancer through research grants and fellowships.

So successful was the first cancer conference held at Honey Harbor in 1954, that the 415-page record of the discussions has become a standard work on cancer research throughout the world.

While the total amount spent in all Canada on cancer research is less than the expenditure of one of the big research institutes in the United States, the work of Canadians looms large in the world-wide research picture.

After two scientists from the University of Western Ontario, Dr. Murray L. Barr and Dr. Keith L. Moore, told the conference of their study of body cells, a prominent British scientist paid a tribute to them. Dr. A. Haddow, a leading specialist from the Royal Cancer Hospital in London, said their paper alone made his trip from Britain worth while.

Election Review

PREMIER Duplessis and his Union Nationale party are back in power after sweeping the provincial election with a strength that surprised even some of the party supporters.

Mr. Duplessis, who has banked on rural areas to elect him in previous elections, showed surprising strength in urban ridings. His re-election was assured from the time the first ballots were tabulated. It was only a matter of by how many seats he would increase his majority.

For Mr. Duplessis it was the fourth successive mandate and the fifth since the U.N. party was first swept into power in 1936.

The premier's platform throughout the election campaign had been based on his demands for a redistribution of Federal-Provincial taxation rights. If re-elected, he said during the campaign, he would interpret the verdict as approval of the fight he has been carrying on with the Federal Government since 1944 for a greater share of the tax dollar.

The Union Nationale party won 72 of 93 seats this year, compared with 68 of 92 seats in 1952. The Liberal opposition won 20 this year against 23 in 1952. The odd seat in each election went to an independent.

The premier's somewhat surprising strength at the polls brought a number of developments.

1. Liberal leader Georges Lapalme, dejected by the outcome and tired after a strenuous campaign, told close associates he is ready to resign the leadership.

2. Rumors circulated in Montreal that Mayor Jean Drapeau is contemplating formation of a party to contest the next provincial election.

In a free-swinging exchange of seats, the Union Nationale won 13 seats from the Liberals, while the opposition won 10 from the Union Nationale. The Union Nationale also won Jonquiere - Kenogami, a new seat in the Lake St. John district.

A total of 96 of the 273 candidates in the running lost deposits of $200 each by failing to get half the votes cast for the winning candidate. The group included all seven women candidates.

". . On Good Authority"

Beware the man who sidles up to tell you something — "on good authority!" Ten chances to one he has made the whole thing up and, in the frequent telling of it, has got himself as well as others believing it is true.

For years now, I've been telling a story with great relish concerning a kindly old professor in one of our theological colleges. Needless to say, I got the tale from a fellow who in turn got it poured into his ear by the best authority. As I had no reason to doubt my pal, I saw no reason to doubt the story as he got it from his informant.

The narrative, as it came to me, concerned the professor's enforced retirement from active duty. He had been at the teaching game for many a long, long year. He, himself felt that he was just beginning despite his advancing years. He was still in possession of all his faculties; he could still lecture with the best of them, and he didn't want to give up till the last gasp. Why, then, shuffle offstage so soon to hopeless inactivity?

But the august board of directors, better-known as the Senate, had other ideas.

"It's high time Dr. John retired," they decreed. "He's been at it a long time and deserves a well-earned rest. The only hitch is that he doesn't want to retire? How can we force him into it?

The Senate debated the problem at some length and many ideas were introduced only to be discarded as being far too heartless. Then a bright spark among the number hit upon the ideal solution.

"I propose," he declared with great foresight, "that we buy Dr. John and his wife a ticket to their native Scotland. He's always said that when retirement came, he wanted to go and live in his old home town. Well, to cap it all, we can purchase a little cottage for them over there where they can spend their twilight years in complete happiness."

"Capital idea," the senate agreed in a body, "and we'll give them a rousing send off by way of a testimonial dinner. Let's get the scheme moving right away!"

So, without further ado, the plan was put into effect. And when all things were in readiness, the Senate called on Dr. John to explain, as diplomatically as possible, that they were giving him the old heave-ho!

On the night of the testimonial dinner, the ancient dining-hall was jammed to the doors. Dr. John and his wife occupied the places of honor, flanked on either side by the self-satisfied members of the Senate. Speeches were tendered by anyone and everyone until the great moment came for the chancellor to stand up and make the presentations. This accomplished, the moment came for the old professor to tender his thanks. Slowly rising to his feet, placing the deed to his new property and the tickets for the journey on the table before him, he faced the expectant student body. With tears streaming down his wrinkled cheeks, he gave his classic speech.

"Gentlemen," he wavered, "I am not retiring. I am being retired!"

The students rose to their feet and cheered their beloved professor to the echo. The Senate coughed, sputtered and tried to think of something to say while legions of students pressed upon the doctor and his wife to shake their hands and bid them fond farewell.

So there passed from the campus a great man and a great woman whose memory will always be hallowed by those who knew them best.

It's a happy story, despite its pathos, because it is typical of old Doctor John. Maybe that is why I swallowed it hook, line and sinker. Perhaps that explains why I was so chagrined to discover it was a complete fabrication of some fertile imagination. Falsehood it is and falsehood it ever shall be!

I got the true story just the other day. Dr. John's name came up in the course of conversation and I trotted out this tale in all innocence. But I won't bore you with the true chronicle of the old fellow's retirement. It doesn't make any sort of story. The truth rarely does, unfortunately. But, much as I hate to, I believe I must credit the real story. You see, I got it on the best authority.

I got it from Dr. John's brother!

The Problem of Cyprus

By Lewis Milligan

What do the people of Cyprus expect to gain by a withdrawal of the British from that island and their union with Greece?

That is a question to which I have yet to find a sensible answer. After studying the long history of Cyprus and particularly the recent history and present political, social and economic conditions of Greece, it seems to me that the Greek Cypriots have everything to lose by what they call "independence" and "union". In the first place, Greece itself has no real independence or national unity. Before the Second World War, Greece was in a constant state of political upheaval, and after that war the Greeks were engaged in a civil war while the British were trying to re-establish government and redeem the country from famine and bankruptcy.

Even when the United States assumed that job under the Truman Doctrine, guerrilla war continued in the mountains for three years until General Van Fleet took over military control and brought the civil war to an end. The rebels, who were communists, fled over the frontiers into Albania and Bulgaria where they had been encouraged and armed by Soviet Russia. Since then the United States has poured millions of dollars and goods into Greece and the country is still virtually under American occupation. To that extent Greece is no more independent than Cyprus, so what have the Cypriots to gain by the desertion of their island by the British? If they had been united to Greece in the last world war they would have looked in vain to the mainland for protection. They should be grateful that they were and still are a fortified British colony, none of which suffered invasion in the two world wars. Greece itself owes its national independence to the British strongholds of Cyprus, Malta and Gibraltar, which are the guardians of the freedom of the Mediterranean.

As for the Greek claim to Cyprus, it is without foundation. Historically the island has never been a possession of any Greek State except for eight centuries when it was a part of the Byzanti Empire which covered all Mediterranean countries. The Byzanti period was followed by two centuries under the Lusignans, nearly a century under the Venetians (1489-1571), and from 1571-1878 the island was under Turkish rule.

Cyprus was transferred to British occupation and administration while part of the Ottoman Empire, under the Anglo-Turkish Convention of 1878. By this Convention Britain undertook to defend Turkey against Russian aggression. A careful examination had been made of all possible bases for defensive action, and it was decided that Cyprus was the best, not only for the defence of Turkey but also of British communications with India through the Suez Canal, which Russia was menacing at the time. It was not until the declaration of war between Britain and Turkey in 1914 that Cyprus was formally annexed by Britain, and it did not become a crown colony till 1925.

The present agitation for union with Greece is an old story, and its recent revival has received additional strength as a result of a change in the policy of the Communist Party, which abandoned its demand for self-government and began to support union with Greece instead. This Russian interest in the question did not ease matters, and in reply to a parliamentary question on January 21, 1950, the British Colonial Office stated that "no change in the sovereignty of the island was contemplated." In April of the same year Turkey submitted a memorandum to the United Nations demanding that if Britain "abandoned" Cyprus, it should be returned to Turkey. The Greek Cypriots themselves may well ask what they would have to gain if Britain abandoned them to the Turks and an eventual occupation by Communist Russia.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

Since President Eisenhower's recent surgical session, millions of newspaper readers and television watchers are well acquainted with the inside story of the U.S. President.

The Chicago Daily News (which averaged eight Eisenhower stories daily) published on its front page a small road map of the presidential digestive tract, with danger points and detours clearly marked.

This niggardly coverage was bettered by some other papers, which showed a panoramic view of ALL the president's insides.

I understand that Associated Press tried to send a man down to file a special report from near the appendix, but the internal security bureau wouldn't give him clearance.

Nevertheless, the man in the street knows more about the president's alimentary canal than he does about the St. Lawrence Seaway.

American reporters, forgetting their grammar, are ending every sentence with a colon.

We Canadians are an old-fashioned lot. Only the outsides of our statesmen have been pictured in the newspapers so far. The minister of trade and commerce may have gas on the stomach; and the leader of the opposition (as his critics suggest) may have an enlarged spleen, but nobody has yet photographed these features of the political landscape.

Diagrams of the Trans-Canada pipeline have appeared in the press, but the internal tubes of our politicians have never been publicly mapped.

Are they trying to hide something from us?

We do not mean to be disrespectful, but if any changes are proposed in the route of a politician's inner highway, the people should be informed, and tenders called in the correct manner.

Week at Ottawa

Mr. Campney also sketched a "new look" for the army to train and equip it more and more as an air-portable force. It was intended to form a third armored regiment, thus enabling the three infantry brigades of the 1st division to operate independently.

The navy was pushing ahead as rapidly as possible the fleet's anti-submarine capabilities, with the defence research board in the final stages of the development of new sub-detection equipment.

As the debate advanced, Opposition leader Drew demanded that the government establish immediately a Commons defence committee to investigate charges by Lt.-Gen. Guy Simonds, former army chief of staff, against the defence department.

The charges were in a recent magazine (Maclean's) article written by General Simonds.

Freight Rates Up

Freight rates will rise by seven per cent July 3, a move that is to bring the railways an estimated $7,500,000 in the four months of July to October. There are indications that the railways may get another boost towards meeting their original request of a 15-per-cent increase.

The recent rates increase, authorized by the Board of Transport Commissioners, was described by the board as an "irreducible minimum" which still would not enable the railways to recoup all of the wage increases granted or under negotiation with their employees.

Butter For Sale

The government has placed on the retail market some 25,000,000 pounds of surplus storage butter from the 1955 production at two cents less a pound than the 58-cent support price it paid dairy farmers.

The disposal reduces the government-held surplus by about half at a cost to the federal treasury of $1,250,000, including the storage and handling costs incurred while the butter was in storage.

Robert McCubbin, parliamentary assistant to Agriculture Minister Gardiner, said in the Commons the reduction in price was necessary to allow retailers to package the storage butter and still meet current competitive prices for 1956 butter.

He said he hopes the two-cent reduction will be passed on to consumers but gave no clear reply to questions as to whether 1955 butter will be so marked on retailers' packages. There was some difference between storage and fresh butter.

Pupils Give Recitals

English and French-speaking pupils of Miss Juliette Rodrigue were stars in three pianoforte recitals, concluding their courses under this popular teacher, held on two afternoons in the music room of Lachute High School and on another occasion at l'Ecole Superieure.

The programs were divided into two parts, namely, the works of Mozart and those of miscellaneous composers. In the Mozart festival, a commentary on the life of this composer preceded the interpretation of his selections, and as an added feature a guest artist, Miss Pauline Bocque, of St. Eustache, sang two extracts from Mozart operas.

These programs were enjoyed by their respective audiences, including parents and friends of Miss Rodrigue's pupils.

Carrière - Lavigne

At the Ste. Anastasie Parish Church at 10 o'clock Saturday morning Miss Marcelle Lavigne, daughter of the late Notary J. Felicien Lavigne and of Mrs. Lavigne, Lachute, was united in marriage to Mr. Royal Carrière, son of the late Louis Carrière and of Mrs. Carrière, Brownsburg.

The church was prettily decorated with chrysanthemums, gladioli and spring flowers.

The Rev. Father Carmel Corbeil, cousin of the bride, officiated, and during the mass Mr. and Mrs. Roger Regimbal and Mr. Oswald Carrière sang impressively to the organ accompaniment of Mrs. Isabelle L. Provost. The bride was given away by her cousin, Dr. Roger Lavigne, while Mr. Omer Carrière was groomsman for his brother.

The bride wore a gown of organza nylon in figured motif, the ample skirt forming a bustle and train. Her veil was of tulle illusion and she carried a bouquet of white marguerite daisies.

Messrs. Patrick and Raymond Carrière, brothers of the groom, were ushers.

Mrs. Lavigne, mother of the bride, was gowned in dusty rose silk trimmed with pearls and sequins, with small hat to match and with a mink stole; she wore a corsage of orchids. Mrs. Carrière, mother of the groom, was gowned in printed silk, a blue Milan straw hat and accessories to match, a mink stole and an orchid corsage.

After the ceremony a reception was held at Lachute Golf Club, where the rooms were brightly decorated with flowers. The newly-wed couple then left for New York by automobile, to proceed thence by plane to Miami. For travelling the bride chose an emerald green costume of English satin, honey-toned hat and accessories, a wool coat with fox collar in matching canary tone.

Bible Briefs

Who Was This?

By A.A.M.

The Bible is rich in stories, and the purpose of this series is to encourage readers to look up for themselves the Bible versions of these incidents. If there are children in the family it is suggested that the story, and the Bible verses on which it is based, be read aloud.

Who thanked the Philippians for all their kindness and advised them to think about the things which were true, honorable, just, pure, lovely and of good report? He called his friends his joy and crown and exhorted them to stand fast in the Lord. He also asked these true yokefellows to help the women workers, along with the other laborers, whose names, like Clement, were in the book of life.

He rejoiced in the Lord greatly that they had remembered him in his want not once, but twice. Their gifts were as a sweet smell, a sacrifice acceptable, well-pleasing to God. This early Christian admitted that he was not thinking of his own needs because he had learned in whatesoever state he was, to be content. He knew how to be abased; how to abound. The secret of being content in any affliction was his, because he could do all things in God's strength.

But the Philippians did well to have fellowship in his affliction and he reminded them, "My God shall supply every need of yours according to His riches in glory in Jesus Christ."

Last of all, greetings were sent from the brethren and Philippians were urged to greet every saint in Christ Jesus, especially those of Caesar's household. This simple benediction ended the message, "The grace of the Lord Jesus be with your spirit."

Find this man's name in Philippians, Chapter 1, Verse 1, and read this message in Philippians, Chapter 4.

Colford Tackles Easy Assignment

Due to the fact that C.I.P. of Hawkesbury could not play at Colford Lodge last Sunday, "The Guests" tried their hand at beating the powerful Colford team. They soon discovered, however, that they had quite a job on their hands. The score could easily have been 20-1.

Jean Guy Larocque pitched the first two and last innings, winning his fourth straight game. Mel Stewart pitched fine ball in the other four innings, allowing the one run in the fifth frame. Mell will be a big help to the team as a relief pitcher, and he also swings a big bat. Paul Paquette was the losing pitcher.

Next Sunday Colford Lodge plays host to Vankleek Hill; game time 2 p.m.

Leonard Drops From Lead in Canada Cup

Finishes Sixth in International Golf Tilt

Virginia Water, Surrey, England (CP) — Canada's Stan Leonard and Al Balding faded in the stretch Tuesday and the American team of Ben Hogan and Sam Snead rallied to win all the honors in the Canada Cup international golf competition.

Hogan brushing aside a challenge by Leonard, captured the individual honors, and with Snead, retained the huge silver trophy that in its four years existence has been Canadian in name only.

The Canadian team of Leonard, 41-year-old shotmaker of Lachute, and Balding, 32-year-old pro at Toronto's Credit Valley, faded badly in the final 18 holes of the tough course to wind up in third place with a two-man total for the 72 holes of 583 — 16 behind the winning American duo.

South Africa was second with 581 and England fourth with 586.

Leonard, at the top throughout the three rounds of play on the 6,936-yard course, wound up with 286 and finished in sixth place among 58 players from 29 countries.

Brighter Outlook In Ontario Football

SPORTS CAMERA
By Ken Romain,
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The Ontario Rugby Football Union, which was coming to be regarded as a relic of the past, faces a resurrection and face-lifting this year that promises to restore that loop to its former prominence.

Fortune of the ORFU, one of the oldest fotball leagues in Canada, reached its lowest ebb last season. Only three teams kept the league alive — Kitchener-Waterloo, Sarnia Imperials, and Toronto Beaches. They had also been denied the right to compete for the Grey Cup by the more powerful Big Four and the Western Inter-provincial Football Unions. This cut off a major source of revenue for the struggling loop.

Rumors of Fold

Adding to the injury of being relegated to a minor league classification, the Big Four and WIFU went after ORFU players. There was strong talk that the circuit might fold.

But this spring a fresh breeze of interest stirred and has since blown up a gale of enthusiasm. Two new teams have been added to the ORFU and the clubs are reaching out to better their own lot.

Along with Kitchener-Waterloo, Sarnia, and Toronto Beaches have been added entries from London, Ont., and from Rochester, N.Y.

Rochester, which regards its entry as a major sports venture, will be the first United States Club to join a Canadian league on a permanent basis under Canadian rules — which means they will be using a 12-man team as opposed to the 11-man club under U.S. regulations.

Others Interested

The U.S. entry has also created a mental climate among other football - minded municipalities in U.S. border states. Buffalo, N.Y., is the latest to express interest in an ORFU entry.

Beaches, when known as Balmy Beach, was one of the most renowned names in Canadian football, but have seen their former glory fade away as emphasis shifted to the Toronto Argonauts in the Big Four.

This year a group of businessmen are out to make the club a community project. Their initial efforts have received encouragement although the team was the league doormat last season.

In London, Ont., another group of business men have formed the London Lords. And to show that they weren't fooling they hired Indian Jack Jacobs as coach. The former Winnipeg Blue Bomber throwing artist, native of Oklahoma, immediately began lining up player propects.

Sarnia Changes Name

Sarnia decided to change its name to lend more color. They are now called the Golden Bears following a name-choosing contest. Kitchener Waterloo, who won the league championship last year, have also been doing heavy spadework preparing for the coming season.

The activity has led ORFU president Frank Cummins to speak optimistically of the future. He said that there is more enthusiasm being shown in the ORFU than at any time in the last five years.

The same sentiment was echoed by Jack Rayner, Toronto construction man who heads the Beaches entry.

"We are out to make this team interesting for Toronto sports fans. We are going to sell ORFU football here again."

Brownsburg on Inside Track for League Title

(Our District Correspondent)

Brownsburg made a big stride towards the league championship last week as they knocked off Buckingham, their only conquerors to date. The local team played like champions for eight innings, during which none of the visiting batters had reached third base safely. Ronald Cousineau was coasting to his second shut-out when the bottom dropped out. Brownsburg, after eight errorless innings made three costly boots and with two smashing home-runs the visitors cashed in for six runs. "Zag" Cousineau was greatly relieved to grab the last out and preserve his fifth straight win.

The visitors were weak in the field, but all the batters had power and Brownsburg's infield had an easy day. There were 11 long outfield outs, besides the two track-clearing home-runs.

Brownsburg's batters did not show their power at all, Buddy Racine's double being the only extra-base hit. Billy Cribb continued to hit a hot pace at bat, with three hits in four trips, and Jacques and Buddy Racine had two hits apiece. There were four other singles, by Ouellete, Lepine, Murdoch and Cousineau; and by bunching these eleven hits around several Buckingham errors, Brownsburg had a fat eight-run lead starting the last inning.

Brownsburg's other competitor, Montebello, lost to Hawkesbury on Sunday, so the locals are now all alone at the top of the league by one game. We now have the inside track on the league championship, with only three games remaining.

This week will be the last home game of the regular season, with Thurso providing the opposition. This will be Brownsburg's first clash with the Thurso club, who despite their lowly position must not be regarded too lightly. They have been unfortunate, in losing most of their games by small margins. The game starts at 2.30, and it will be three weeks before the play-offs start and we can see the Tigers at home again.

MANY CAMPAIGNS

People are just becoming tired of being asked to contribute so very frequently. They are beginning to wonder why so many campaigns are needed. If all the mental and physical energy now spent on 40 or 50 campaigns was pooled for one large campaign the results could well be astonishing.

Brownsburg Legion Drawing and Dance

Brownsburg — The prize drawing for the Saguenay Cruise, sponsored by Brownsburg Branch of the Canadian Legion, was held Friday evening.

There was an excellent turn-out for the evening of dancing, to the music of Gordon Anderson, B. L'Heureux, Jacques Lemay and Denis Leduc.

Guests of honor were Mayor J. D. Lepine and Mrs. Lepine.

President Hector Steele welcomed these guests and introduced their visitors, Miss Kathleen McKenzie and Mr. Henry McKenzie, cousins of Mrs. Lepine from California, and Mrs. Lucille Bouchard, of Montreal, also a guest of Mayor and Mrs. Lepine.

Comrade Steele expressed appreciation for the attendance of members from Hawkesbury and Lachute, and said it was hoped to make this cruise and dance an annual event.

Mayor Lepine then drew the winning ticket. The winner was R. Giroux, of Brownsburg. It is understood that the winner is planning to be married this week; and the members of Brownsburg Legion are happy to realize how appropriately Mayor Lepine drew the winning ticket.

Cartridge pens were given as prizes to Bernard Therrien, for selling the winning ticket; to Harry Miller, who sold the most tickets — 72 complete books; and to Bill Morrow, as sellers' prize.

Novelty dance prizes were won by Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Wilson, and Mr. Irwin Martin and Miss Shirley Monday.

Comrade Stanley Seary (Ways & Means Committee) expresses thanks on behalf of the Legion to Giles Publishing House, for their co-operation, to the orchestra, to out-of-town branches for their encouragement, to Mayor and Mrs. Lepine, and all those who assisted in any way; also to the public who supported the ticket sales and made this drawing a complete success.

The last of the monthly meetings for this season was held in the Legion Hall, on Thursday, June 21, with Comrade Hector Steele presiding.

Two more by-laws presented by Comrade Gordon Towel were put into effect.

One associate member, Sylvio Clement, R.C.N., was welcomed to the meeting.

Following reports of all committees, Comrade Steele adjourned the sessions until September 11 next.

CURRENT SHOWS, ENTERTAINMENT, TRAVEL

The Nation's Capital In Television Series

The room is which Sir Wilfrid Laurier died in 1919, Tom Thomson's painting "The Jackpine", the famous tapestries of the French Embassy, the calculating machines working out Canada's 1956 census figures and a 324-square-foot model of the Ottawa of the future — these are some of the things to be seen during July on "This Is Ottawa", a series of six documentaries from the nation's capital.

The would-be tourist who has to stay at home will be conducted around Ottawa by emcee Robert McKeown of Weekend Magazine. With the aid of the mobile unit of station CBOT, he will be able to see some of the things, and meet some of the people he might encounter in the course of a holiday visit. The programs will be produced live and on-the-spot by Michael Hind-Smith each Tuesday 10.00 - 10.30 p.m., from July 3 to August 7.

Ottawa will be shown in some of its varied roles — as the seat of government, a cultural centre, the home of the diplomatic corps, a research centre and a place of historical interest. The six programs will take viewers to the National Capital Plan, Laurier House, the National Gallery, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, the French Embassy and the Parliament Buildings.

The first show will open in the Supreme Court Building, and it will survey the old and the new in Ottawa. The old will be shown by means of prints from the National Archives; the new by the Federal District Commission's big-scale model of the National Capital Plan; using the model, Major-General Howard Kennedy, Commission chairman, will explain what the Ottawa of the future will look like.

Next week: a visit to Laurier House, the home of two Prime Ministers, Sir Wilfrid Laurier and William Lyon Mackenzie King.

Radio Coverage of The V.C. Centenary

Thirty-six Canadian holders of the Victoria Cross, the Commonwealth's highest award for bravery on the field of battle, will gather in London June 25 - July 2 with V.C. holders from other parts of the Commonwealth for celebrations marking the centenary of the inauguration by Queen Victoria of this method of rewarding her most courageous soldiers.

For "Canadian Scene" on July 1, 5.30 - 6.00 p.m. on CBC Trans-Canada, the BBC will prepare a documentary report covering all the main events of the gathering, including the Centenary Parade in Hyde Park, in the presence of Her Majesty the Queen. The distinguished company will include Captain Charles Upham of New Zealand, one of the three men who in the century have won the V.C. and Bar.

The voices of Lord Freyburg, V.C., commander of the Centenary Parade, and of Lord de L'Isle and Dudley, V.C., will be heard. Other highlights will be Marlborough House which will be attended by the Queen Mother and interviews with some of the Canadian V.C. winners by General Sir Brian Horrocks. The various events will be described by Stanley Maxted of the BBC.

One of the veterans in England for the occasion is Colin Barron, a commissionaire employed by the CBC in Toronto.

Owners of Quebec City's single TV station — CFCM-TV — announced they are asking the CBC to allow establishment of an English-language TV station in the provincial capital. At present CFCM-TV features programs in both English and French, but the owners said they will only be able to use few English-language programs as from next fall. City council, the next day adopted a resolution asking the CBC to allow the new station to be set up here.

HOUSES ON THE MOVE

By Ethel Kettyle

PART I

"Have you Ever Seen a Dream Walking" — say the words of an old song. Perhaps you haven't; but — today, we hear considerable talk about houses moving.

When one builds a house, logically a suitable location has first been chosen on which to build it, and the builder and owner expect it to remain there for all time, unless destroyed by fire, cyclone, or otherwise. . . But not so with this particular group of houses. They have been shuffled about like a deck of cards.

A year has elapsed since we last visited the little town of Iroquois, (population 1,100) situated on the banks of the St. Lawrence River. At that time, among the inhabitants there was a feeling of uncertainty and wonder about what would happen to the homes when eventually, the time of flooding the town to widen the St. Lawrence Seaway approached. Today this wonder is a reality, which has been well accomplished, for the job of moving the houses and setting them up in a new townsite is almost completed.

Visiting the town again this year, 1956, it is found that a complete change has taken place. The householder, who last year may have had the Browns for next-door neighbors, this year find that they are living beside the Blacks or the Smiths, as the case may be. However, surprising as it may seem, the "House of Treasures" with its china, brass, fine linen and other gifts, and the same friendly proprietors, still remains in the same place near the waterway. What will happen to it eventually, remains to be seen. However, some suitable plan will no doubt be made.

William Hartshorne, with his huge "house mover" which has tires standing taller than a man's head, has really been busy, and on June 14, 1956, had only eight more houses to move. Up to that date, the Ontario Hydro had moved 133 houses in the town of Iroquois since August 18, 1955. What appeared to many to have been an impossibility, has apparently been carried out in a very successful way, and almost 50 per cent of the sidewalks in the new town have been laid. Although the homes have not been moved a great distance, they are at least safe from the flooding.

The Iroquois Nursing Home and other houses, after being moved with furnishings intact.

As one looks at a large Nursing Home, which apparently has been moved with furnishings intact, and turns to view another dwelling on top of the "mover", it seems that the wonders of modern machinery and the ingenuity of man will never cease to surprise the present and future generation. The powerful mover, which picks up buildings and carries them away, seems almost human.

Steel has also been brought in, in sufficient quantities to permit building of a new "shopping centre", which the town merchants expect to occupy before the end of 1956. There will also be new schools, churches and public buildings, and generally speaking there will be a "new look".

(To be continued next week)

Holiday Tip

Here's a tip from Jack McArthur, in The Financial Post, to people who have a choice of holidays:

If you must take holidays in July or August, make it the first half of July, preferably; take the last half of August as a second choice. Chances are beaches, resorts, golf courses, trains, planes and highways will be less crowded.

Best of all from this point-of-view is the June or September holiday. And tourist operators will bless you. Why? Because given good weather, a record rain of holiday dollars will flood into Canada's travel and tourist industry in four frantic weeks beginning in mid-July.

Two things will aid the holiday boom:

The increasing tendency for industrial plants to shut down for two weeks in the summer rather than stagger holidays among their employees.

The fact that the last two weeks in July and the first two in August are the most popular choices for plant shutdowns. The major exception: The big auto makers.

JOLSON NOTES

(Contributed)

Of the eight radio programs listed in last month's "Jolson Notes", at least five answered our requests for tributes to Al Jolson on his birthdate, or a percentage of 62.5 (which, encouragingly, is 2½% better than on any other occasion.)

CJAD'S Make Believe Ballroom started things rolling with a 15-minute tribute, starting at 10.15 a.m. on Friday, May 25. This was at an unexpected time, as the writer is at work during the day and had accordingly asked for a eulogy during the evening section, which apparently was inconvenient. However, a neighbor informed us of this very fine tribute.

The same thing may have happened with Gord Atkinson's Show Bill (CFRA), which also has daytime and evening sections. And we were unable to hear Musical Merry-Go-Round from CFRB, Toronto, because of poor reception on Friday night.

However, we were privileged to enjoy "April Showers", "Swanee", and "California, Here I Come", presented by Current and Choice, CFCF (6.10 - 7.30 p.m.). Later that night, another CFCF show, Steve's Place, gave us "My Mammy", "Ma Blushin' Rosie" and "Waitin' for the Robert E. Lee", accompanied by Steve Woodland's intriguing impersonations and shenanigans. (Program time is approximately 10 p.m. to 1.30 a.m.)

On Saturday morning, May 26, CFRA's Open House (12.05 - 6.30 a.m.) had "Avalon", "Anniversary Song", "All My Love", and a song which, according to announcer Don Douglas, was a picture of Al himself, "Keep Smilin' at Trouble". The program which follows this one on CFRA, the Sunny Jim Show, continued their wonderful assistance by playing "I'm Sittin' on Top of the World" and "Waitin' for the Robert E. Lee."

On behalf of the Al Jolson Memorial Club and the writer, sincere thanks to all these fine programs for their splendid co-operation.

At the beginning of the year the Al Jolson Memorial Club made the first appeal to its members for donations to the Heart Fund, the total amount being forwarded to the Heart Association by the president in the club's name. The following is a letter, in part, from the Wisconsin Heart Association:

"Sincere thanks to you and the Jolsonairs Memorial Club for your cheque of $46.36 which you contributed to the Heart Fund.

"As your organization is no doubt aware, the Heart Association is dedicated to research into the possible causes, treatment and cures of heart and blood-vessel diseases, physician education and public education, and community service activities. . .

Al will be pleased, we think. And we think he'll also be pleased at being featured prominently in "This Was Showbusiness", a magazine on sale at the newsstands.

Appreciation for Support

I wish to thank most sincerely the electors of Argenteuil, for the loyal and sincere support they have given me during the election campaign, and more particularly on June 20th.

To achieve success in this campaign was a difficult task — and I accept the contrary verdict. However, it is interesting and encouraging to note the improvement and advancement which was accomplished by the Liberal Party in Argenteuil since the 1952 provincial election; the majority which the Union Nationale obtained at that time has decreased considerably, to the extent of almost 70%.

I am very pleased and satisfied that the most populated centres, besides many others in which I am known, gave me majorities and at the same time expressed a sentiment of esteem — notably in Lachute, Brownsburg, Ayersville and St. Andrews East.

My most sincere thanks to all the organizers, supporters and friends of the Liberal Party, who worked so tirelessly and gave me their utmost support.

I wish Mr. Cottingham health and courage to work for the greatest welfare of Argenteuil.

Teatime Topics

Written Specially for The Lachute Watchman

By Oli Daum, Canadian Press Staff Writer

Push-button stoves and automatic washing machines aren't the only modern inventions this year's June bride has to cope with. She'll also be entrusted with the care of her husband's precious no-iron shirts.

Probably he himself has been managing adequately with the drip-dry techniques, and from now on he'll be expecting his shirts to be whiter and the collars smoother than ever before.

The newest thing in men's shirts are those of terylene. A new Canadian synthetic fibre, experts say terylene needs little or no ironing and won't turn yellow in detergents. They say it's easy to keep the shirts looking fresh.

But the bride who is particular about her husband's appearance might like to hear the shirt-maker's instructions for maintaining that band-box look.

Terylene shirts are best washed by hand because the machine may put creases in the fabric which would need ironing. But if a machine is used shirts should not be put through the wringer. They should be lifted from hot rinse water and hung on a wooden hanger to dry.

Fasten the top button and smooth the collar and cuffs between the thumb and forefinger. Don't expect miracles — any wrinkle in the wet fabric will likely still be there when it's dry.

If you're extra fussy — a common characteristic of brides — you can touch up the shirt with an iron. But make sure the iron is relatively cool. A rayon setting provides all the heat necessary to make terylene immaculate.

Speak Up

Some women may shake their heads and moan that designers dictate fashion to them.

"We have a choice but only what designers give us," is an oft-heard complaint. That's true to some extent but consumers do influence designers' creations.

Designers and manufacturers, too, often take their cues from the little woman's shopping habits. What she demands one season is usually on the market the next.

For instance, 100 manufacturers meeting at London, Ont., said they are producing blouses to match their skirts. This started after retailers reported their customers were asking for it.

Manufacturers are also putting belts back on dresses and taking them off coats at milady's request. Evening dresses are featuring detachable net skirts and jackets. Mothers who wanted ensembles for their children are getting sweaters and detachable cuffs to match cotton dresses.

So you see women don't always have to take what they get — but they do have to let manufacturers know what they want.

Travelling Tip

Travel accessories are catering to the easy washability of today's wardrobes. This year stores are offering lightweight plastic clothes pegs, little envelopes of detergents for the nightly wash and even travelling clotheslines for hotel room use.

Wash old powder puffs and keep them with your cleaning equipment to use in applying wax polish to furniture and kitchen surfaces.

Dessert to Whet Summer Appetites

On warm nights, why not adjourn to the porch or terrace for dessert? It isn't always practical to serve an entire meal in the open, but you can put dessert and iced coffee on a tray and top off your meal with a fresh evening breeze. You'll find it's just such thoughtful touches that keep summer appetites healthy.

One dessert that's good for summer eating is Mocha Shiffon Pie. There'll be no lackadaisical approach to this one — even on the hottest night.

Mocha Chiffon Pie

1 Envelope unflavored gelatine, ¼ cup cold water, 1 package semi-sweet chocolate, ½ cup sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt, ¼ cup strong coffee, 3 eggs, separated, 1 cup cream (whipped), 1 baked 9-inch pie shell.

Soften gelatine in cold water. In top of double boiler put semi-sweet chocolate, ¼ cup sugar, salt and coffee; cook over hot water until blended. Beat egg yolks; add hot mixture slowly, stirring rapidly. Return to double boiler; cook over hot water stirring constantly, until thickened. Remove from heat; add gelatine; stir until dissolved. Chill until thickened. Beat egg whites until stiff; add gradually remaining ¼ cup sugar; beat very stiff. Fold in chocolate mixture and whipped cream. Turn into baked pie shell. Chill until firm. Top with whipped cream if desired.

If you really want to feel refreshed after a summer's day, serve dessert on the porch or terrace. Mocha Chiffon Pie and rich iced coffee will hearten even the dullest appetite, and serving outdoors is just the change of pace the family needs after an enervating day.

Juicy Strawberries —Now and Later

by the Consumer Section, Canada Dept. of Agriculture Marketing Service

Strawberries Now

Practically everyone loves fresh strawberries whether they are served just as they come, with cream or dressed up in a shortcake topped with a mountain of whipped cream. And just as tempting are delicious strawberry tarts or pie served with ice cream or creamed cheese, refreshing strawberry sundaes and a host of other frozen or moulded strawberry desserts. All of these are old standbys looked forward to each year by strawberry lovers everywhere.

The home economists of the Consumer Section have their favorite ways of preparing fresh strawberries, too. They like these plump, luscious berries simply washed and served whole with the stems left on so they can be picked up in the fingers. Strawberries like these are good with crackers and cheese for a snack or, when served for dessert with a bowl of fruit sugar. Another of their favorite strawberry desserts is made like a jelly roll. Instead of using jelly they use crushed strawberries sweetened with a little sugar, then they ice the roll lavishly with whipped cream and decorate it with a few whole berries.

Strawberries Later

While fresh strawberries are plentiful everyone will want to serve them as often as possible but it would be too bad to let the season slip by without preserving some for the winter. Lucky freezer owners will be prolonging their strawberry season by freezing perfect berries that are sure to retain their sweet, fresh flavor for many months. Some folks will be canning strawberries the same way their mothers used to do and for everyone strawberry jam time is here! And what could be better than a batch or two of rich, red strawberry jam or strawberry preserves to use in tarts, puddings or on hot buttered toast or muffins.

For the Consumer Section recipe, Strawberry Preserves, write to Information Service, Canada Department of Agriculture, Ottawa and ask for a copy of the leaflet — Conserves, Pickles and Relishes. And here is their recipe for Strawberry Jam:

Strawberry Jam

8 Cups washed, hulled strawberries, 8 cups sugar, ¼ cup lemon juice.

Place berries and sugar in alternate layers in preserving kettle. Let stand 2 to 3 hours. Bring to boil and boil, uncovered, for 5 minutes. Add lemon juice and boil to jam stage, about 5 minutes. Remove from heat. Skim and stir for 5 minutes to prevent fruit floating. Pour into hot, sterilized jars. Cool slightly and seal. Yield: about 7 cups.

Q.W.I. Prov. Convention Now In Progress

Recommendations made by the Executive of the Qubece Women's Institutes were discussed at the annual board meeting, held Tuesday, June 26, at Macdonald College. These were drawn up as a result of the usual visits made by the Executive to all W.I. Counties at the time of their annual meetings in May and an entire evening was spent in studying the items connected with the more efficient functioning of the Institute in this Province.

Recommendations framed at this year's Leadership Course, "Facts! Fingers! Fun!" were on the agenda at an earlier session and items from the recent Sub-Executive meeting of the Federated Women's Institutes of Canada. A National Foundation Fund is to be set up to create a central office in Ottawa. It is hoped to have this established when the FWIC meets next year in that city to celebrate the 60th anniversary of the founding of the Women's Institute, which originated in Ontario in 1897.

The provincial president, Mrs. G. E. LeBaron, of North Hatley, presided at this Q.W.I. Board meeting and opened the Provincial Convention the following day. This is still in session, closing at noon Friday.

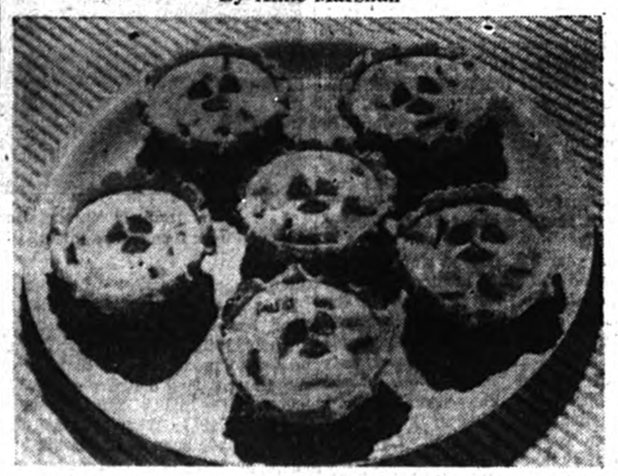

Guard painted areas around door knobs and jambs frequently soiled by children by coating them with paste wax, or a creamy clean-up wax.

Party Foods In Minutes

— By Anne Marshall —

There's a party in the air when you see these hearty looking pastry shells filled with Chicken a la King.

And it takes only 20 minutes—just long enough to heat. Yes, Chicken a la King is a new comer to the ranks of frozen foods. And this freezing magic seals in all the fresh-made flavor.

This a la king takes its place amongst convenience foods like a bee to honey. It features a real cream base temptingly flavoured with the faint fragrance of spices. Plump juicy mushrooms, red and green flashes of sweet peppers and lots and lots of tender chicken.

It can be served many ways as an entré. Especially good are these hot chicken sandwiches . . . made in minutes.

CHICKEN A LA KINGBURGERS

1 can (10 ounce) frozen chicken a la king
4 hamburger rolls
4 thin slices ham or canned luncheon meat
1 package (12 ounce size) frozen asparagus cooked

Heat chicken a la king. Meanwhile broil ham and rolls on both sides (under broiler). Arrange a piece of ham and a few hot asparagus spears on each toasted roll. Pour steaming a la king over top of each.

HOME STYLE CHICKEN A LA KING

1 can (10 ounce) frozen chicken a la king
1 cup drained cooked green peas
Dash ground thyme
1 cup uncooked spaghetti or macaroni
¼ cup butter or margarine
2 tablespoons chopped parsley

Heat a la king, peas and thyme together over low heat. Meanwhile cook macaroni or spaghetti in boiling salted water. Add melted butter and chopped parsley. Arrange in a ring on platter. Pour a la king in centre. 4 servings.

INDIAN YOUNGSTERS DO FINE HANDIWORK

Sept-Iles, Que. (CP) — Several of the 700 exhibits in a craft and cooking display held by children of the nearby Maliotenam Indian reserve near here are to be included in an international exhibition in Switzerland later this year.

The articles, made by children aged 7 to 16, included wood sculptures, needlework and Indian dishes and the rain beating down on the cabin roof in torrents. For a few minutes she felt very desolate and homesick. Then she resolutely snapped her flashlight on, and when she saw the other campers fast asleep, she rolled over and decided to sleep.

The next morning the world had such a fresh, washed look and the lake was sparkling blue in the sunshine. Alice laughed at the memory of her fears the night before.

Alice found camp a friendly place where artificial barriers were swept away. She enjoyed not only the fun of camp, but also the discussion groups on the more serious side of life. It gave her a new feeling of courage, to know that other girls were facing the same kind of problems that were puzzling her.

Alice's letters home were full of descriptions of good times — campfire in the evening with sing songs, dramatic skits, poetry and stories, hiking in the woods, swimming in the golden sunshine, studying the stars on a clear night. All these she tried to share with her mother. She wrote a glowing account of a very lovely Sunday at camp when all the girls attended morning church service in the little camp chapel under the trees with the lake gleaming through the pine trunks.

In her last letter she ended with a quotation from a poem of Mary S. Edgar's.

"For once you have been a camper,
Something has come to stay
Deep in your heart forever,
Which nothing can take away;
And Heaven can only be Heaven
With a camp in which to play."

Tips on Touring

By Carol Lane
Women's Travel Authority

A kitchen in your car trunk is easy to assemble — makes it possible to have truly sumptuous picnic fare and eleminates "homework".

You can cook simply over a collapsible comb-sized stove with a heat pellet, or elaborately over a two-burner affair that stores its own liquid fuel in a compact metal case.

Perishables can be kept cold with inexpensive plastic covered chemical "pillows" which are refrigerated beforehand; or food can be kept hot with fiberglass containers. For travelling families there are portable ice-chests large enough to keep a day's food supply plus all baby's bottles. (Incidentally, to protect bottles from breakage, insert them in old wool socks.)

There's a set of six-in-one aluminum pots and pans all nested together, including four plates and cups. Boy Scout stores carry hinged knife-fork-and-spoon sets that are the most compact utensils I've seen. Add collapsible seats and tray-tables and you'll dine antfree.

Place your staples in a wicker basket, include your favorite spices, and in no time at all — "soup's on!"

Groom: "Do you know what a vacuum is?"

Bride: "No, but it must be very dirty stuff with all the cleaners they have for it."

Alice in Campland

(Copyright) — By NANCY CLEAVER —

"Are you sure you want to visit Campland?" the Wishing Fairy asked Alice.

"Absolutely sure! More than anything else in the world!" Alice answered emphatically.

"Alice — Alice" — faintly, then louder, Alice could hear her mother's voice calling. She rubbed her eyes, stretched and found herself in her own little bed!

"How silly of me to be dreaming — but I do want to go to camp!" Alice said to herself. "Perhaps my dream will come true."

There were only two girls from the C.G.I.T. group Alice attended who were chosen to go to camp — and Alice was one of them. So her dream did come true and C.G.I.T. Camp proved to be a real wonderland.

Alice found at camp all kinds of treasure — perhaps she found more treasure than some of the campers who were naturally very reserved or sophisticated. Her letters home were full of descriptions of friendly girls, helpful leaders, stimulating interest groups and satisfying activities. She loved the lake, and the swimming instructor helped her to perfect a "jacknife" which she had started to learn the summer before. She learned the newest life saving methods too.

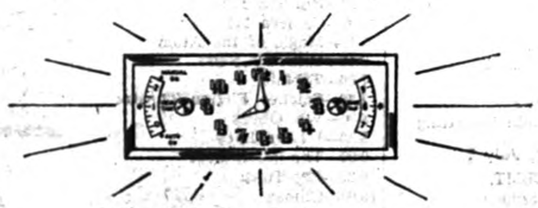

The morning dip was terrifyingly cold, and Alice did long for a warm shower some mornings, especially the windy ones. Of course there were mosquitoes and not a few black flies, and some of the campers did reek of the protecting smell of citronella, but Alice tried not to be too fastidious.

She slept soundly on the rather lumpy little straw mattress. But one night a thunder clap wakened her, and she lay in the darkness listening to the wind lashing the

A GENERAL MOTORS VALUE
Cadillac

Go On In and Get It!

Almost every hour of every day, someone stands for a moment in front of our showroom window —and gazes longingly at a Cadillac.

Some of these people come on in, of course, and get the facts—and let their dreams come true. But a great many walk away—and it is to them that we would address these sincere words of friendly counsel.

You ought to open the door and walk in and talk with us—because the economic truth about Cadillac ownership will very likely amaze you.

The first cost of the lowest-priced Cadillac is modest indeed, comparatively speaking. Numerous models of other makes of cars actually cost more —and every Cadillac represents an outstanding investment in terms of value received.

And, most certainly, Cadillac owners pay no penalty once the car is in their hands.

Upkeep and maintenance expenses are unusually reasonable. And the car's long life lowers depreciation to an unbelievable degree. In fact, Cadillac traditionally returns—at resale time—a greater percentage of the owner's original investment than any other car built today.

Such is the economy of Cadillac ownership. But the great reason for owning it is the pleasure and satisfaction it provides. In fact, the car is a never-ending joy to possess and to utilize.

So if you should find yourself standing in front of our showroom window some day—come on in for a friendly talk.

We will be happy to give you the wonderful facts about how quickly you can have delivery of your favourite model—and to tell you how much your present car will be worth in trade.

Why not make it today!

A cow's best friend

Any self-respecting cow likes to know that the precious food product she supplies is handled with greatest care so it will reach her customers fresh and pure.

From the dairy farm to your doorstep, aluminum is aiding the hygienic handling and processing of dairy products. Milk pails, cans and churns . . . tank trucks and dairy equipment . . . hoods for milk bottles and foil for butter and cheese . . . all are of aluminum. This modern metal's smooth surface prevents contamination, is easily kept shiny-clean. And it does not "pick up" foreign flavors or odors. As one European authority has said, aluminum and milk are made for each other.

The Panorama of Suburbia in Seasons Betwixt and Between

"Exile from Sunnyacres"

By Margaret Cook

Here it is nearly the end of June, and we are still exiles in suburbia. But next week — next week — NEXT WEEK — we shall be at Sunnyacres and at one with Nature. For Nature, read mosquitoes and black flies, according to all reports. We hear that one of the leading cosmetic firms has put out a product neither sticky nor oily, that firmly keeps at bay these winged nuisances. Business ethics forbid the mention of the name, but if any reader is sufficiently interested, a line to Sunnyacres will get him, or her, the name.

June has been full of the usual goings-on — school closings, weddings, garden parties. . . We see we have omitted Father's Day. Truth to tell, we find Mother's Day and its male counterpart a little funny. So many parents are in that state simply by accident, and so many others hardly ever give the fact a thought, that to celebrate special days is simply silly. Anyway, as we point out to daughter, every day should be mother's day; as for father, on this continent he has largely chosen to abdicate to mother, so he has only himself to blame if he is ignored. Our philosophy of parenthood includes the proper bringing up of the little dears, and then hands off. Animals unimpeded by higher education do just that and it seems to work out quite well. The teenager's favorite grumble, "I didn't ask to be born," and the implication that some kindly outside influence should perpetually hover over them, and the parental retort, "You owe us life," are both ungracious and, in part, untrue. Certainly there is nothing in Scripture to uphold the implications of either cliché.

Which brings us to, or near to, the problem of the sick and aged. We have racently visited one of these homes for the old and ailing in a nearby town, so the problem has obtruded itself on our minds. This particular one was the best we have ever seen, the rooms large, bright and airy, a sufficient number of trained nurses, a kind and capable management, yet it was still an institution for unwanted persons. We wondered, along with the patient we were visiting, what had become of the loved, honored and happy grandmother and grandfather of yesteryear. We have in mind two such old people, who within the last five years have ended long and useful lives at the homes of their relatives. Except for their last illnesses, they gave as much as they took, and were a blessing in the family. We feel that the modern craze for small houses and large families is probably much to blame. Three generations tucked up in six rooms might be a bit thick, but we do not feel that these "homes" are the answer. "Just sitting around and waiting to die" observes the man of the house, morosely, and that's about it. Our friend tells us that her first morning in the new surroundings, the nurse came in, spoke politely, and, on not being answered, opined loudly, "Another of those loonies!" Our friend thereupon wrote upon her pad, "I have had a thrombosis and am unable to speak, but I am neither deaf nor loony." Obviously, the nurse may have been trained in a hospital, but never in manners at home. When one has been a "grande dame" for many years, as has our friend, this kind of thing is hard to bear.

Now let us think of the other end of the adventure, the bright little things, who make up in cruelty and forthrightness, what they lack in kindness and tact. We overheard this on the street:

One little girl to the other: "We learn MANNERS at our school." Indistinguishable comment from the other. "Well, maybe you know more, but we learn to say, 'No Sister. Yes, Sir'. You just say 'No, Yes'. 'Tisn't polite."

Other little girl: "When you say you're in Grade Three, you wouldn't be in Grade Two in our school."

First Little Girl, "Maybe, but we've got manners." . . .

And, do you know, I think they were right. A pity our two separate systems in the province could not pool their good points and throw away the rubbish in both. Maybe then, our little Protestants could write a legible hand, could spell and say "yes, sir" and "no, sir," and the little Roman Catholics would learn a modicum of science so that they would not fear that every fork of lightning was aimed directly at them.

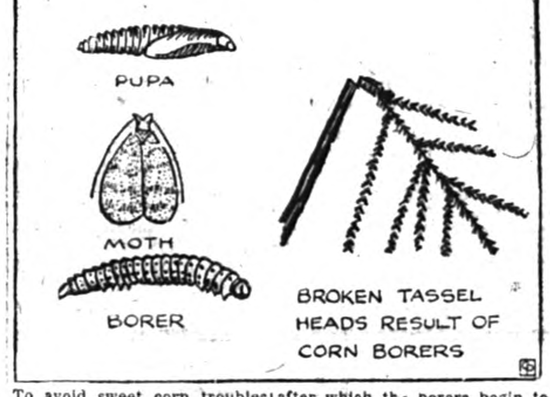

Now we come to school closings. Owing to circumstances over which we have no control, we are happily released from the necessity of attending a series of them each year, and go only to the one in which the daughter of the house is concerned. Since she attends an English-type private school, we have the added bonus of tea in the garden, and the ceremony itself, due to an efficient headmistress, lasted only an hour and a half. But that was long enough, for it was one of those sweltering days. The fathers suffered visibly, and the mammas just as much, but more suavely. The tea was good and abundant and the garden beautiful, but oh, the joy of the garden at home, and the shedding of formal clothes. We envied the lady ahead of us in the auditorium, in an off-the-shoulder dress, who had forgotten to zipper the back, so that her costume threatened at any minute to become an off-the-bust dress. It was the one refreshing note in a proper occasion.

To those of you who may be interested, the private school has been not only satisfactory, it has been a blessing. The pupil has acquired not only some knowledge but also a bit of wisdom about many things, and, as the poet so sagely noted, the two have often little in common. We can all think of people with a great fund of knowledge, yet who come perilously near being fools. On the other hand, we all know people with little formal education, who are founts of wisdom.

Speaking of founts, this one seems to have run dry. Seldom do we find ourselves at a loss for words, but this intermediate state (we refer to our bodies being in the suburbs and our souls in the country) is not conducive to fluency of composing. Or can one have only fluency of speech? At any rate "fluency" is a lovely word, making one think of running water, thence by a direct route, of the Richard brook. Oh that we were there dabbling our feet in its frigid waters! It is fun to follow the brook's tumultuous way to Long Lake. Surprisingly enough, about two-thirds the way down, it loses itself in a marsh and winds sullenly about, but suddenly finds its way again and leaps into the quiet lake over a series of rocks. I remind myself firmly that this little jaunt would undoubtedly be accompanied by hordes of buzzing insects, but still we dream of the green coverts and white waters. Tell you about them next time.

Garden-Graph

To avoid sweet corn troubles home gardeners have been advised for many years to grow only midseason varieties, because midseason corn comes at a time when both the European corn borer and the corn ear worm are not flying. However, this advice is rarely followed because each gardener wants to have the first sweet corn in the neighborhood.

For guidance, the life cycle of the Europeaen corn borer from pupa to moth is shown in the accompanying Garden-Graph.

The borer lives over winter in the corn plant, either in harvested stalks or in stubble left in the garden. In the spring over-wintering borers change to the resting stage (pupae). Later the borers pupate and change to moths. The moths then lay eggs after which the borers begin to hatch ready to attack the corn again.

At this time destroy the borers before they can damage the young corn. Spray or dust with a 5 per cent. DDT powder, available at all seed or garden supply shops.

If you have missed the borers at hatching stage, prepare to dust with DDT 10 days or two weeks before the tassels show. By this time the corn is usually waist high. Follow this with three additional applications at five-day intervals.

If you don't keep after the borers with DDT, they will bore into the corn stalks, as well as the tassels and ears. Corn tassels bent over at "half mast" mean that borers are busy.

BIG HEATING PLANT FOR GAGETOWN CAMP

Oromocto, N.B. (CP) — Camp Gagetown's heating plant in the headquarters area near here is called the largest on the continent.

Officially known as a high temperature hot water heating plant, it has a distribution capacity of 200,000 gallons of hot water, which can heat 106 buildings in the camp headquarters area.

Chief source of fuel for the plant is coal from the fields of Minto, N.B. To prevent combustion of coal in storage, an automatic conveyor belt has been installed to remove coal to outside areas to allow cooling.

The plant is equipped with vacuum cleaning facilities to remove dirt from various floor levels, a machine shop, repair room, and a blower system for carrying away fly ash, the waste from burning coal.

Of Canada's 44,240 miles of railway line, nearly one-fifth is in the province of Saskatchewan.

Most modern truck V8's ...and the pounds prove it!

Pound for pound, the most powerful truck V8's today are Chevrolets. That's one way you can tell they're the most modern V8's going!

Any engineer will tell you that horsepower-per-pound is a good indication of efficient engine design. And Chevrolet's modern short-stroke V8 truck engines do more work for their weight than any other V8 in any truck today.

That means they carry around fewer pounds for power they develop. (They weigh up to 200 pounds less than other comparable engines!) It means, too, that less of the maximum truck G.V.W. consists of engine weight — and more is devoted to payload. So, you not only can haul bigger loads — you have more usable power to move them!

The ultra, short-stroke design of Chevrolet's truck V8's makes possible a rugged yet compact cylinder block. Modern multiple-purpose components save weight and increase engine efficiency.

Since less power is used up in moving engine weight, a bigger proportion is available for moving your payloads. You get hour-saving performance on the job. And modern V8 power saves dollars, too!

There's a modern V8 for every Chevrolet Task-Force truck!

There's a powerful, deep-breathing V8 — either standard, or optional at extra cost — in every Chevrolet truck model. Horsepower ranges as high as 195 for fast, efficient high-tonnage hauling.
