Ayers Employees Taken on Flights In Company Plane

A large majority of the 410 Ayers Limited employees enjoyed their first airplane trip over the past two week-ends, a total of 29 flights having been made from the Lachute Airport.

Both day and early-evening flights were enjoyed, the daylight trips being made over the Laurentians, including several of the local lake resorts. Passengers on the evening flights saw the City of Montreal "lit-up", as well as other points of interest more visible at night-time.

These trips have been graciously provided by courtesy of the president and directors of the company.

Landing lights have been installed on the local paved strip and materials for the necessary hangers have started to arrive in readiness for spring construction.

The Canadair Employees' Recreational Association Glider Club is presently operating out of the local strip, where they will fly for several week-ends more before terminating their season's activities.

This club, which until recently flew out of Templeton, is trying out the local strip for possible permanent use next season. At present they fly a Piper Club plane and two gliders.

Elected Vice-President, Intn'l College of Surgeons

Dr. Jean Paul Legault was elected national vice-president of the International College of Surgeons at their recent meeting in Chicago. This organization comprises over 10,000 surgeons distributed over 60 different countries.

Dr. Jean Paul Legault is a native of Lachute, son of the late Mr. L. L. Legault and of Mrs. Legault and a brother of Guy and Fernand Legault, lawyers, and of Mrs. Gisèle Cangardel.

Dr. Jean Paul Legault is a surgeon in Urology at the Hotel Dieu Hospital in Montreal.

County Man Injured In Montreal Brawl

Jean Louis Auger, a 21-year-old Montreal resident and former provincial weight-lifting champion, pleaded not guilty in Criminal Court Tuesday to a charge of common assault. Judge René Theberge set bail at $200, with trial on October 9.

The 320-pound Auger, who is headwaiter at the Monte Carlo Café, Montreal, is charged with assaulting a customer, Claude Legault, also of Montreal, last Friday.

Taxi-driver Gerard Pilon, 29, of nearby Mareian, was seriously injured during the same brawl and is still in St. Luke Hospital with head injuries. Police stated that Legault was drinking with Pilon and two others when the fracas occurred, and added that Pilon apparently quarrelled with a waiter and was taken to a washroom, where he was attacked. After being conveyed to hospital in a police car, Pilon was found to be suffering from a fractured skull and numerous facial cuts and bruises. No charge has been laid in connection with the case as far as the assault on Pilon is concerned, as the victim has not yet been able to make a statement.

Auger's lawyer, Cyril Gagnon, told the court the accused had no record, he lived with his parents, and would undoubtedly appear for his trial scheduled for next Tuesday.

Dist. Correspondent In Radio Interview

Mrs. Archie Graham, of Cushing, an author of several literary works and veteran correspondent of this newspaper, received good wishes on her 76th birthday last Friday in an unusual and happy manner — being interviewed by Miss Kay O'Neil on Station CJAD in an afternoon program "All In the Day's Work." Many friends and listeners in this vicinity heard the program.

Mrs. Graham was questioned on her literary work, especially the volume of children's stories she published as a Christmas attraction, and which is to be promoted in Canada, entitled, "The Enchanted Wood," and another collection of juvenile stories she is presently working on. Her contribution as editor of Quebec section of the temperance journal, "White Ribbon Tidings," and her long years as district social correspondent for The Watchman, were also mentioned — all these occupations, with her community work and domestic routine, adding up to a busy life.

Incidentally, in recognition of her editorial work in the temperance journal Mrs. Graham has received honorary life memberships in the Quebec Provincial, the Dominion and the World W.C.T.U.

Friends join in congratulations and good wishes to Mrs. Graham on this occasion.

Military Show Postponed, Recital of Band Music

The Regular Army personnel of the Royal Canadian Ordnance Corps gave a program of military marches and popular music last Tuesday in the Lachute Auditorium. The demonstration of weapons and ceremonial retreat scheduled by the Canadian Guards, was postponed due to a misunderstanding on the use of the hall. The band was greatly appreciated by a fair gathering of townsfolk, and the Auditorium rang to March Past and Ceremonial music played by the 35-man band.

Lachute Battery No. 131 of the 37th Field Regiment of the Royal Canadian Artillery, and the Lachute Detachment of Cadets, paraded in a body to the military display by the bandsmen.

Historical Society Annual Meeting This Saturday

Another pleasant reunion of members and friends is anticipated by the Argenteuil Historical Society this Saturday, at the Society's 22nd annual meeting in the Carillon Museum. The colorful surroundings of the Ottawa Valley and the Museum grounds add much to the enjoyment of this annual event each autumn, and it is hoped mild, sunny weather will favor the occasion and ensure an enthusiastic attendance.

As a lighter diversion to the proceedings, to be held in the library of the Museum, a new monologue on the Canadian heroine, Madeleine de Vercheres, will be presented by that talented elocutionist, Phoebe Erskine MacKellar. Tea will be served at a nominal charge in conclusion.

The business of the meeting and annual reports, under chairmanship of Mrs. Geo. McGibbon, president, will include the election of officers and also various amendments to the constitution of the Society. One revision of special interest is an amendment to Article VI relative to the election of directors, which suggests that all directors be elected annually.

It is felt, however, by many of the members, that in one year a director has hardly time to get to know the working of the Society; he needs at least two years to function fully. It is a vital matter to insure some continuity in the personnel of the Board of Directors, and the only way to make sure of this is to have some degree of rotation. The point has also been made that if all the directors are elected annually they would, for any one year, represent the choice of only one nominating committee; whereas, if six are elected annually, the choice of two committees would be represented.

This matter and other items will be debated at the meeting.

No one is useless in this world who lightens the burden of it for anyone else. — Charles Dickens

Summer Cottage Destroyed by Fire

A summer residence in Upper Lachute owned by Paul Mauger, of Montreal, was razed by fire Sunday afternoon despite efforts by a small crew of volunteer fireman from Lachute. The log-siding structure situated near the River in the vicinity of MacLean's Service Station, is seen here, a mass of flames seconds after water was turned on the building. Only the walls remained standing after three hours of fighting the fire.

Endorsement by Prime Minister

Office of the Prime Minister
Ottawa, 1956

"National Newspaper Week" provides us with an opportunity to reflect on the importance of our press to our national life and to each one of us as individuals.

A free, vigorous press is essential to the working of our Canadian democracy. It is not mere coincidence that the development of responsible government in Canada has closely paralleled the growth of a daily and weekly press in which the issues of the day have been debated and recorded.

I am convinced that true freedom of the press, and the practice of responsible journalism, are among the best forms of insurance against international hatreds and all their evil consequences.

I send my best wishes to the press of Canada and particularly to the weeklies, who work so faithfully to keep the residents of the smaller centres and of the countryside informed on matters of public interest.

Prime Minister

Hunter Found Accidentally Shot Near Calumet

A Beaconsfield hunter, Maxwell A. Wawcett, aged 50, was found dead near the Riviere Rouge bridge at Calumet on Thursday afternoon, last. Det. Ralph Allen, who investigated the fatality, reported that the victim apparently discharged his shotgun and accidentally killed himself as he struggled to pull on his hunting boots.

The body was discovered by Wyman Young, 30, of Calumet, around 3.45 p.m. Thursday. Young notified Dr. A. Perrier, of Hawkesbury, and the local Provincial police. A nearby woman resident reported having heard a single shot about an hour prior to the discovery.

Det. Allen reports that the victim was found a short distance from his car, and was headed towards the highway. The accident apparently occurred behind the car, where the 12-gauge pump shotgun and other articles were found, and evidence indicated that the victim walked a few steps after being shot, then crawling a short distance farther before he succumbed.

When discovered, the man was wearing only one hunting boot, and clothing surrounding the wound was severely burnt from the blast. There was no evidence of foul play, and no inquest will be held. Traffic Officer Roger Massie assisted with the preliminary investigation.

Charged With Theft Of Fishing Equipment

Gerard Côté, 25, and Paul Emile Boucher, 27, both of Montreal, were arrested Sunday and charged with the theft of fishing equipment from a car owned by Conrad Parent, of Brownsburg, which had been parked at Lost River.

The pair were arrested by Det. Ralph Allen, and will appear in St. Jerome Court tomorrow (Friday).

Sunday Blaze Destroys Cottage On North River

A small crew of volunteer firemen headed by Chief Geo. Y. Deacon were called to a summer camp in Upper Lachute Sunday afternoon, and after laying some 800 fet of hose, managed to douse the blaze and save adjoining buildings.

The log camp, owned by Paul Mauger, of Montreal, was a complete loss. It had been rented for the summer season and the tenant had left only a short time before flames were noticed coming from the attic of the one-storey building.

Although only a short distance from the river, more than 800 feet of hose had to laid, due to the steep banks, which prevented the crew from taking the auxiliary fire truck close enough to the water to allow the pump to operate.

The alarm was sounded around 3 p.m. Sunday, the firemen returning to the local station about three hours later.

District Governor Visits Lions Club

Robt. E. White,
Lions' District Governor

Highlight of the regular Lions Club meeting, Tuesday evening in the Legion Hall, was the official visit of the District Governor, Robt. E. White, of Magog, Que. There was an attendance of over 45, including four guests, with President Jos. Dumais in the chair.

Routine business of the club was dealt with. Cleighton Robinson led a lively song session, and Dr. F. W. FitzGerald presented a past-president's pin to Ian Gordon, paying tribute to his energetic leadership of the club in the past year.

The guest speaker was ably introduced by past-District Deputy Horace Lamarche. . . The District Governor, a much-travelled man with a successful military and business record, confined his remarks to the practical aspects of Lionism in District A-8. He proved himself well informed on the activities of clubs under his jurisdiction, and his enthusiasm is evidenced in the increasing number of groups to which he has given initial encouragement. . . The Magog club, he reminded his listeners, shares a bond of special sentiment with this community, since it was the Lachute Lions who sponsored the formation of the Magog group in 1940. (The local club was then under the presidency of the Rev. Henry Cousens.) There are a number of charter members still active in Magog who remember the inaugural occasion, said the speaker.

District Governor Bob White stressed particularly, among service projects of the Lions Clubs, the promotion of public speaking contests and work on behalf of the blind. He complimented the Lachute members on their bulletin and many creditable achievements.

The visitor was thanked by Jack Giles, International Councillor, who made the presentation of an Ayers blanket as a goodwill token and memento of this visit.

The president annouced, for the near future, a public bingo on November 9 and a ladies' night on November 13.

St. Simeon's Anglican Church To Mark 75th Anniversary

Thanksgiving will be a season of genuine gratitude among the Anglican parishioners of this community, since it coincides with the 75th anniversary of founding of St. Simeon's Church, which is to be fittingly celebrated in a special service next Sunday morning. Preacher will be the Rev. W. C. LeCras of St. Paul's Church, Montreal, a former rector here.

A social evening the following Thursday, to be attended by the Rt. Rev. John Dixon, Bishop of Montreal, will also be auspicious from a material viewpoint, since the mortgage on the present church building is to be officially burned on this occasion.

The rector of the parish, the Rev. Cyrus R. Lang, has delved lengthily into local records to set down the history of this church, which has been presented to the congregation in a leaflet distributed this week. Following is an abridged version of this interesting narrative:

History of St. Simeon's

John S. Hutchins, the second settler in Lachute, relates in his account of the "Rise and Progress of Religion" in the Lachute district, that during the War of 1812 the Rev. Richard Bradford, situated in the front of Chatham, visited Lachute on several occasions to minister to the people and to celebrate the Holy Communion. This he did until his death in 1816.

The Rev. Joseph Abbott, who became rector of St. Andrews in 1818, continued this work visiting Lakefield and Lachute, in the latter place holding services in John Hutchins' barn.

The Rev. Francis Codd in 1968 was appointed "minister of the United Church of England and Ireland in Lachute and surrounding places." He remained only one year, and the nine years following saw the parish without a minister. Occasional services were held by the Rev. L. O. Armstrong, of Lakefield, and by students of the Diocesan College in Montreal.

Real parish life began in 1878 with the appointment of the Rev. H. J. Evans as incumbent. Services were held by him at Louise, New Ireland (now Laurel), Glen of Harrington, Arundel, Rockway and Ponsonby. His mode of travel was on foot. After some time, money was collected by Mr. Thomas Pollock in Arundel and by Mr. Robert Evans in Lachute, with which they purchased a driving outfit for the Rev. Mr. Evans.

Charge Cigarettes Brought to Quebec From Vankl. Hill

Montreal (CP) — A Trois-Rivieres man was arrested recently in connection with a new provincial regulation prohobiting bulk movement of cigarettes into Quebec from Ontario.

Detective Lieut. Marcel Patenaude, head of a special squad of provincial police, identified the man as Emmanuel Griffin and said he will appear in Court later. The detective said 200,000 cigarettes purchased in Vankleek Hill, Ont., were brought into Quebec.

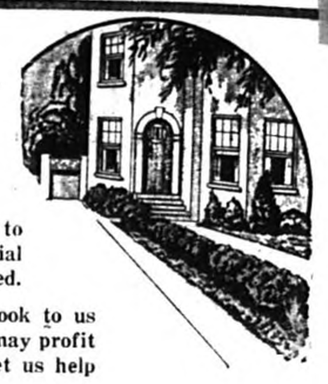

Lieut. Patenaude said Griffin was arrested near Ste. Rose, Que.

Under the new Quebec Order-in-Council decree, a first violation is punishable by seizure of the transporting vehicle and merchandise and cancellation of the motorist's driving licence. The offender, in addition, must pay the Quebec provincial sales tax not levied on the Ontario cigarettes and is liable to a minimum fine of $10 and a maximum fine of $1,000.

The new legislation is designed to halt wholesale purchasing of cigarettes in Ontario to avoid payment of a Quebec sales tax. Cigarettes retail in Quebec for 37 cents a 20-cigarette pack, several cents per pack more than in Ontario.

Darland Ever Ready Challenge, a two-year-old bull owned by J. H. Black, won his own class and then went on to win the Senior and Grand Championship. This bull was also a prize winner at the 1955 Royal Winter Fair, Toronto, also a local Champion and at several district fairs.

In the senior yearling heifer class, which consisted of over 40 entries, W. Erskine Rodger placed eighth with Woodlea Evergreen Ella.

This is the first time a provincial exhibit from Quebec has competed at Springfield although individual exhibitors have shown there on previous occasions to 1947.

National Newspaper Week

October 1st to 8th

Continuing Service

WHILE THE NUMBER of daily newspapers diminshes, by reason of amalgamation and rising costs, weekly newspapers across Canada hold a place of increasing importance. This is not only through their local news coverage, which is almost exclusive, but by their ability to offer advertisers a local market at a more intimate level than any other medium can hope to do.

The small weekly papers have a neighborliness which is denied to the metropolitan dailies. Here even routine news is worthwhile, and even GOOD news deserves a headline. If John Smith is robbed, he gets a special mention not only on his own account but because his neighbor may stand to lose to the same offender, and a warning is in line. If Bill Jones talks to the Rotary Club, his speech is recorded as worth reporting. Names carry news, and names are news not only to the immediate locality but to the many and far-flung subscribers who will read the home-town paper till they die.

But if you read the weeklies more carefully, you will find an editorial policy which supports all the causes which tie themselves in with better living in communities large and small — Safety Campaigns, National Fire Protection, Save the Forests, Prevention of Drowning, to name a few. All these are national in scope, and all are local in immediate application. Some 700 weekly newspapers carry these, and are read in their own community and its immediate environs. Sometimes their editorials are copied in the daily papers, but even without this, their collective voice reaches across the width and breadth of Canada and is worthy of mention in this Newspaper Week.

Quotation Requoted

APTLY illustrating the role of the local newspaper as a chronicle of events in its community — a leaflet circulated this week among the parishioners of St. Simeon's announces the 75th anniversary observances of that church, and quotes at length from a copy of The Lachute Watchman dated October 1881.

Apart from the coincidence that this is National Newspaper Week (in which period the editors modestly emphasize the merits of their enterprise) it is interesting to note there was no lack of length, breadth or color in the news narratives of that day. The excerpt in the Anglican leaflet amply proves this fact, and we quote (or rather, re-quote) the following passages as an example:

"Tuesday, the 11th inst., was a day much to be remembered in Lachute. It was a day of rejoicing by our friends of the Anglican communion in this locality, and their Episcopal friends from St. Andrews and Carillon, and many belonging to other churches in Lachute and elsewhere, who joined for the nonce and took part in the impressive service of the Consecration of St. Simeon's Church. . .

"Space will not permit us to enter into any lengthy description of the service. . .

"The sermon by the Rev. Canon Baldwin was one not soon to be forgotten. His thrilling eloquence, his impassioned oratory, his earnest exhortation to lead a sanctified life, made a deep impression on his hearers. . . We trust His Lordship's words of love and wisdom may in their fruits be proportionate to the affection and esteem in which he is held by all.

"The ladies and gentlemen of the congregation — and other kind friends had provided for a sumptuous collation in Victoria Hall which was partaken of (after service) by many friends from a distance and others."

Speaking of Integrity

AT THE HEAD of this column we proudly display the insignia of the Audit Bureau of Circulations — the bureau of circulation standards for the advertising and publishing industry.

The privilege of displaying this symbol means that our circulation practices have measured up to A.B.C. requirements and standards.

Circulation figures shown in A.B.C. reports are much more than a series of digits. They are an exact measurement of our circulation.

To our readers, this symbol is a measure of service. By knowing, through the continuing picture presented in our A.B.C. reports, exactly how large our circulation is and where our subscribers live, we can arrange our editorial coverage to best serve the interests of our readers.

For our advertisers, this symbol means both measure of service and a mark of integrity. As a measure of service to our advertisers, the A.B.C. report offers an audited breakdown of where every copy of an average issue goes, so that he might know the exact distribution of his sales message.

The open book of A.B.C. facts allows no self-satisfying claims — it admits only fact. The advertising audience we offer is precisely presented without opinion. The figures are there for each advertiser to evaluate, in accordance with his own needs.

Since A.B.C. audits only publications with paid circulation, our membership in the Bureau assures advertisers that The Watchman stays in business by the voluntary support of its readers.

In order to maintain that voluntary support, we must demonstrate our responsiveness and responsibility to our readers. The A.B.C. audit tells both the advertiser and the editor the extent to which our newspaper is performing a service to our readers.

Not all newspapers are members of the Audit Bureau of Circulations — those that are have to earn the right to use this membership symbol. And, not all media can offer audited data about their circulation audiences — only A.B.C. members can.

The Lachute Watchman is proud to display this hallmark of circulation value — the symbol of membership in the Audit Bureau of Circulations — which has become synonymous with the words "service" and "integrity" in the protection of both the advertiser and the reader.

Autumn Thanksgiving

THIS IS the season of the year that inspired Canadian poet Bliss Carmen to write:

"The scarlet of the maples can shake me like a cry
Of bugles going by."

A season of scarlets and golds, crimsons and yellows and other autumn hues with which nature paints her woods.

To many persons October is the loveliest month of the year. Days are sharp and clear. The mists of cool nights and the dew of the dawn wash away the dust, giving a crisp cleanliness to the countryside that is matched at no other time.

The colors of the autumn leaves, the freshness of the earth and sky are just part of autumn's splendor. For this is a time, too, of the harvest, the reward of labors of the spring and summer.

Crops are garnered from the fields and stored away for winter's use. Because, for all its loveliness, autumn is a harbinger of months to follow when the sun will lose its warmth and the winds will bite with sharper edge.

It is fitting that Canadians should have chosen this fall season to give thanks to God for their many blessings.

It was in the autumn of 1621, after their first harvest, that the Pilgrims of Plymouth observed North America's first day of thanksgiving linked directly to the soil.

Such observance spread through other parts of the American colonies, but in Canada's early history thanksgiving days were usually proclaimed only for victories in war, though once, in 1850, a day was set aside to give thanks for cessation of an epidemic.

Not until 1879 did Thanksgiving Day in Canada become an annual expression of "gratiude for abundant harvest and other blessings" — words used by the governor-general of that day, the Marquess of Lorne, in his first proclamation.

From 1918 when the First World War ended until 1931 Thanksgiving Day was linked again with militant observances and was proclaimed annually to coincide with the November 11 Armistice Day. Since then, however, it has been restored as a separate celebration.

All Canadians join in the observance of this day but to many city dwellers the nature of the harvest festival means little, although thousands from the cities will travel to the country and, like the poet, be shaken by the scarlet of the maples.

This day, though, always will hold more significance for country folk. They too will look up to the turning leaves and gain inspiration from them, but, more, they will look down to the earth that provides their living.

A Twitchy Policy

CANADA SHOULD revise its immigration policy, according to The Financial Post. It is utter delusion for smug Canadians to think there are millions pounding at our gates for admission. But with our Tap Theory of immigration we aren't by any means making the best of the limited opportunities that we have.

"Canada's on-and-off immigration scheme presupposes that the family that was refused entrance a year ago because somebody thought that at that time Canada had enough plumbers or electrical engineers may now, a year later, still be serious applicants.

"That is just total blindness to the realities of how human beings function. An immigration turn-down once will, in the great majority of cases, mean that the family closes the question of migrating to Canada with finality.

"The fact is, Canada needs a big flow of new people just as much as it needs a big flow of new capital and big export markets. This need has got to be recognized, and our twitchy immigration policy needs to be replaced with something realistic and courageous."

"CAPTIVE AUDIENCE"

When I first came to the school, was left so little time for packing hat I included only the things I vould absolutely need. Added to hat, I signed up only for the spring erm — with an option to stay on permanently if both parties were satisfied at the end of June. As a esult, it seemed stupid to cart along loads of gear that might only have to be shipped home again in two or three months' time. For that reason, I toted my hi-fi portable with me and left my radio behind.

During that term at the school, I sadly missed my little radio. Without it, I was completely dependent upon other people and tardy newspapers for any news I got. Then, too, I had a very limited repertoire of music for my hi-fi and the same old stuff day after day soon palled. So when I left Montreal this autumn, to take up residence at the school once more, I included my radio in the duffle. But now I wish I'd left it where it was for, beyond the newscasts and weather summaries, it brings me very little worth hearing.

In time past, I have often wondered what it might be like to have only CBC outlets to listen to. How ghastly, I thought! Nothing but culture; hours and hours of inescapable culture dished up by the unimaginative hirelings of a governmental octopus. The thought was unbearable. And it's even more unbearable than I ever imagined.

Except during the late hours of the night and the wee small hours of the morning, radios hereabouts can't get much else except CHSJ and CFBC. The one is linked up with Trans-Canada and the other gets stuff piped in from the Dominion network. Much of the material is locally produced and most of the programs leave much to be desired, from the hill-billy music that starts the day to the contrapuntal saxophones that bring it to its weary close.

Just for fun one day, I tried to listen to as many local programs as possible. The fare I got was grim, to say the least, though parts of it, like the curate's egg, were palatable. To begin with, I was treated to a do-si-do and promenade all from sign-on time until seven. Next, both stations featured half-hour programs by fire-and-brimstone revivalists. I then got a brief summary of the latest news, together with a forecast of weather, followed by the kiddies' section. This done, I was cast upon the turbulent seas of Tin-Pan Alley with innumerable spot announcements interspersed.

Later in the morning, we reached the penny-ante contest hours, where lazy housewives are encouraged to answer simple questions for miserable stakes. Then, with the afternoon, we got the bane of life — the soap operas. Late afternoon was devoted to talks on such inspiring subjects as how to trap seagulls, catch cod with four-inch nylon mesh nets, instead of the three-and-a-half or three inch variety, and how to cultivate fiddleheads in a hot house.

The evening, after Rawhide came on, was turned over to the culture experts. Talks were the order of the night and ranged from discussions on the theatre in Lower Mongolia to lectures by retired professors on how to catch pelicans without bait.

The late programs — the only ones that a person could switch away from — were devoted to that brand of music which features saxophones wailing mournful variations of every note on the scale. (Any similarity between the ghastly cacophony produced by these instruments and music as we know it is entirely accidental, incidentally.) Then there was peace as the stations tottered off the air to remain silent until western swing set them going again early next dawn.

And now arise, ye native Maritimers, to wring my neck for maligning your beloved country. Before you do, however, let me say just this. I love your provinces and I like your people. I'm as happy as a clam in chowder about being a part of these sea-swept lands. And I hope to be a part of this land for many moons to come. But I still think your radio and television stinks. Maybe your best friends won't tell you. So do you mind if I do?

What About Lights!

The daylight hours are growing shorter, and when it is cloudy they are still less. Shortly we will have only 8-10 hours of light in which your hens can eat. That means they are on the roost 14-16 hours a day. Now a hen has some storage capacity, but not enough for this length of time. Consequently she looks after herself and keeps warm first, and you get what's left in eggs. 100 Hens require 19 lbs. feed daily to keep up body and heat, and if the hen house is cold and drafty, they will need more.

Many times we are called to task, and have lost customers over it too, due to hens not laying and directly or indirectly blaming the feed. We tell them they need lights, but the customers seem to think we are only trying to pass the buck! REMEMBER other things being equal, the more feed you can get into your bird, the more eggs you will get out.

Now this sounds like a good sales argument, and it is, but nevertheless it is straight facts.

Why "board" hens when some light and extra feed will give you lots of eggs!

Sure it will cost you to put in lights, but it will pay you big dividends. For proof of what I'm telling you look over any large poultry plant and you will find every last one equipped with lights.

Get the light in and then get in a supply of Purina Poultry Chow whichever one suits your conditions. We deliver.

OF MANY THINGS

Today

This morning my daughter, Kathy, greeted me at the breakfast table with this question: "Daddy, is today tomorrow? If it is you've got to take me to the slides."

I suppose, yesterday, that she'd caught me in a busy moment and asked me to walk her over to the slides at a nearby playground, and I had put her off until tomorrow.

Kathy, with her amusing question, was pointing out the old truth that tomorrow never comes. Today is the day we live!

There is an old Chinese proverb I like to remember when work piles up, or when I am attacking a long writing job. It reads: "The man who moved the mountain was he who began carrying away the small stones!"

Isn't it the truth? That great long novel, "Gone With The Wind," was written one word at a time. All the great accomplishments of art and literature and life were achieved, not in single quick strokes of pen, or brush, or in one great act — but in small portions, one upon the other.

I think that is why we are urged by philosophers to live our lives one day at a time. From out all the ages, no greater wisdom has been distilled than this: that sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof. No greater recipe for happiness or accomplishment has ever been written than this: that we cast off the burdens of the past and our anxiety for the future, and live now, to the best of our ability.

For the past is over and done with and tomorrow never comes. Today is the day we live . . . the only day we ever live in. It deserves all our attention and all the warmth and beauty and achievement we can bring to it.

We are a lucky generation, brought up in Canada, where there is so much freedom of opportunity. There is no one to say: "You must keep your place." You are free, today, to strike out on new ventures, accept new responsibilities, change employment, try new methods. It is true that you are also free to succeed or fail, according to your abilities — but that's where the thrill and challenge of life is found.

Have you some new resolve, some big idea, some project you plan sometime? I'll make a bet with you. The only day you'll ever start it will be named just like this one, as my daughter, Kathy discovered. It will be called — TODAY!

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

Ever alert to guard the morals of the public, Hollywood has grafted yet another Pollyanna ending upon an honest story.

The subject this time is "The Bad Seed," a spine-chilling yarn about a little girl who murders people she doesn't like. In the book and the stage play, she gets away with it.

But the movie is different. In the movies, nobody gets away with murder. Nobody gets away with anything. The good guys must be rewarded or avenged. The bad guys must be punished.

So what happens to the little murderer in the movie version of "The Bad Seed?" She gets what's coming to her. Right at the end of the movie, she is struck dead by lightning.

A chronicle of violence becames a Story with a Message. And the message is this: Don't kill people, kiddies. If you do, a thunderbolt will descend from the clouds and fry you medium rare.

Nobody wants the movies to offer a short course in practical crime, with advice on dodging arrest. The more gruesome films should be labelled "Adults Only." But there is something fatuous in the idea of calling down the power of Nature to beat an evil character at the last minute when human agencies have failed. It is a corny old device of fifth-rate dramatists.

No device is too corny for Hollywood to use in its campaign to convince us that we inhabit a beautiful world where crime is always punishable and troubles end happily if we live right.

A 20-century Shakespear, employed by Warner Brothers, might have rewritten his script so that Romeo wasn't really poisoned to death but only groggy from an overdose of sleeping pills, and Juliet sustained a minor flesh wound.

Hollywood's world is unreal. In the real world, crimes and injustices often go unpunished and good people come to a tragic end.

Hollywood is committed by a self-imposed code of morals to keep its huge audience thinking that Everything is Going to Be All Right. If you hear this pleasant lie repeated often enough, you begin to believe it. You want more. It's like a drug. And while you are dreaming the cheerful Hollywood dreams, the real world may collapse in ruins on your head.

The Helping Hands

No doubt they helped
To tie her baby shoes,
To hold the skein for Mother,
To serve her sister's wants,
To smooth the brow of her dear brother.

'Tis certain that, in later years, these hands, directed by a generous heart
Were ever open!
Were busy when distress oppressed a neighbor,
Were busy bringing help,
Were furnishing supplies of food, and warmth, and clothes, and currency.

And now these hands are still,
Or so we think,
And yet, it may be, other hands,
As yet unborn,
May follow patterns set by these "dear hands."

— Written September 21, 1936, by Hugh Simon, of Lachine, Que., in memory of his aunt, the late Mrs. Joseph Boyd, of Arundel, Que.

Incident Shows Counter-Espionage Methods Effective

THE WEEK AT OTTAWA

By Alan Donnelly,
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Ottawa, Oct. 2 (CP) — Prime Minister St. Laurent says the expelled Russian diplomat Gennadi Popov was a suspected NKVD espionage agent trying to set up spy links in Canada.

But, he indicated at a press conference, he wished the story of the Popov-Staples affair had not become public. He would have wanted to keep it under wraps to protect James Stanley Staples' name and to prevent the possibility of the affair being blown up into an international incident.

The Prime Minister said he would not be surprised if all foreign government represented in Canada had spy systems, though not necessarily operating in this country. In any case Canada had a "pretty efficient" counter-espionage organization.

Popov, Russian embassy second secretary, was ordered out of Canada July 12 for attempting to get military secrets out of Staples, a civilian clerk at the Rockcliffe air station. He left August 12. Staples was fired June 29 after a civil service security panel decided he was a doubtful security risk.

No Appeal

Mr. St. Laurent, facing about 40 newspaper men in his first press conference in 14 months, said there was no appeal from the panel's decision and he would not recommend that Parliament set up an appeal system. But he denied there was any "McCarthyism" in the government as charged in a newspaper editorial.

Staples has said he has been "blacklisted" from the civil service because of his association with Popov. Mr. St. Laurent said Staples was not blacklisted but the civil service had to be careful of the persons it hired. Staples, 30, had not been a traitor and did not have access to secret documents, but he had been a "little too indiscreet" in his association with the Russians.

The ousting of Popov was not announced by the government until September 24, following publication of charges by the Pan-Canadian Anti-Communist League that Popov and Victor Selivanov, another Russian Embassy secretary, had tried to worm out information on the new CF-105 jet-fighter from a civilian.

Began At Chess

Staples, 30-year-old father of two children, said it all began last year at a civil service chess club where he directed tournaments.

He said Russian embassy people, with Popov as the apparent key man, attended the club. They had learned he was in debt; made friends; wined and dined him and tried unsuccessfully to convert him to communism.

Then they asked questions, including queries about the CF-105. Once while they were drinking, Popov gave him $50 which he later returned. Popov once mentioned giving him a camera, apparently to take pictures of secret equipment at Rockcliffe, but the camera never materialized.

Staples said he was in no position to give the Reds any secret information, and had reported all conversations with them to an RCMP friend.

Last week, in the glare of publicity, Staples gave up the apprentice accountant job he had taken after leaving Rockcliffe and made plans to leave the city. His wife and children had already left — she had dropped out of a secretarial job at Rockcliffe which she took last summer after the Air Force fired her husband. She said she was ignorant at the time she was hired of the circumstances of his dismissal.

Melvin A. Graham, principal of the Arundel High School for the past nine years, will this week-end be awarded the first degree of the Quebec Department of Education's "Order of Scholastic Merit." The award, to be presented to 13 teachers, is for their contribution to education in this province.

The awards will be given during the Provincial Association of Protestant Teachers' annual convention, which opens in Montreal today.

Record Crowd Attend Major League Football

SPORTS CAMERA

By Ron Andrews,
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Football fans are turning out in record numbers for games in Canada's two major leagues this season.

At the half-way point of the Big Four schedule in eastern Canada and a little past midway in the Western Interprovincial Football Union, almost 700,000 fans had paid their way into a total of 36 games — 14 in the East and 22 in the West.

That averages out to 19,000 fans a game in Canada, and no other sport attraction is able to boast of such attendance figures. Not even the National Hockey League, whose two Canadian teams, Toronto and Montreal, draw about 14,000 a game at capacity.

Probably more than 1,000,000 people will withess league contests in the WIFU and Big Four this fall. And that's not counting the playoffs in both leagues and the Grey Cup spectacle, which itself will draw 27,000 fans into Toronto's Varsity Stadium November 24.

Famous Stadium

British Columbia Lions, Canada's newest major league team which entered the WIFU in 1954, led all teams in attendance at the halfway mark. One reason for their crowd record is the huge Empire Stadium at Vancouver, the largest in the country.

A total of 39,413 people pushed their way into the Stadium last November 26 to watch Edmonton Eskimos wallop Montreal Alouettes 34-19, in the cup final.

Vancouver's attendance was 138,500 fans for the Lions' first five home games this year. More than 30,300 fans watched Edmonton blank Lions 18-0 August 27 in Lions' second home game. That was the second largest crowd to see a football game in Canada.

Toronto Argonauts are the second-best crowd drawers in the country. A total of 90,700 fans watched Argos' first four games, an average of 22,671 a game.

When Argos defeated Hamilton Tiger-Cats 41-19 September 14, there were 24,118 fans, the largest football crowd in Toronto since 1952. Hamilton had a record crowd — 20,725 — for that city when the Ticats defeated Toronto in a night game earlier.

Gain is General

Other teams which have drawn record attendances for home games this season are Ottawa Rough Riders and Edmonton Eskimos. But the crowd picture in all nine cities is improved.

C.P.R. Scholarship Winners

Recent results disclosed by G. A. Smyth, superintendent of pensions and staff registrar for the Canadian Pacific Railway, show that Walter A. Dutton, left, of Montreal, Thomas J. O'Shea, centre, of Vanguard, Sask., and Joel Clenman, right, of Montreal, have won CPR scholarships to attend McGill University.

This brings to 102 the number of scholarships awarded by the CPR since they were inaugurated in 1905. The schofarships are open to employees who are under the age of 21 and to minor sons and daughters of company employees.

Philippe Valois, M.P. Addresses W. Inst. On United Nations

The monthly meeting of the Women's Institute was held in the Legion Hall Tuesday afternoon with an attendance smaller than usual on account of rain.

In dealing with various items of business the president, Mrs. G. McGibbon, brought to attention the Emergency Loan Fund, established to grant loans of up to $100 to needy students.

Mrs. F. W. FitzGerald, convener of Citizenship, reported information received, showing how children and adults could help in raising funds in aid of United Nations "Help the Children Fund" and still have fun celebrating Hallowe'en. This suggested that, instead of requesting candies, apples and the usual sweets, special tags be sold and the collections be sent to help in this important work. . . Christmas cards and note cards in boxes of 10 for $1 may also be ordered to support the fund.

Mrs. A. G. Leggett, delegate to the Provincial Convention, reported that 98 branches were represented, 186 delegates attending. Mrs. Leggett gave the highlights of the meetings, and in covering matters of interest, urged the support of UNESCO by each branch donating $10.

Those wishing to attend the handicraft course were asked to contact Mrs. A. Bothwell.

Mrs. F. W. FitzGerald introduced the speaker, Mr. Philippe Valois, M.P., and delegate to the United Nations. Mr. Valois explained briefly the work and organization of the U.N. and its six committees. Meetings are carried on in five languages through interpretation — French and English being used mostly. The aim of this organization, the speaker said, is to settle international differences without resorting to war; also to solve the many problems concerning economic conditions and rights of women in the different countries of the world.

In closing, Mr. Valois urged all citizens to be aware of their responsibilities in supporting the United Nations, and offered to supply information to anyone wishing to visit the offices of this organization in New York.

Mrs. A. Taylor expressed appreciation to Mr. Valois for his very interesting and helpful address, after which tea was served.

Members are reminded that the semi-annual county meeting will take place in the Lachute High School on Saturday, October 13, at 2 p.m. Delegates are Mrs. F. W. FitzGerald, Mrs. Ponder, Mrs. G. McGibbon and Mrs. E. Snadden.

The next meeting will be held November 6. Roll-call, "Name a product made in our county." (Further information to be announced later.)

Quebec (CP) — Sir Francis and Lady Ibiam from Nigeria, West Africa, arrived here to begin a two-month tour of Canada under the auspices of the Presbyterian Church. They were received by the Governor-General during their stay here. Sir Francis is a doctor and director of one of Nigeria's principal newspapers.

AMONG THE CHURCHES

People's Church Occupies New Site This Sunday, With Special Services

For more than five years the People's Church has been worshipping in public halls in this community. But this will not be necessary any longer, as the congregation has purchased the Stewart Campbell property at 753 Main Street East, Lachute. This beautiful old house is ideally suited for a church and parsonage for the small congregation and its pastor.

Sunday, October 7, will be the opening day for the church services, and the public are cordially invited to join in the worship, and during the week, to inspect the property. The Rev. A. R. Yielding, chairman of Home Extension for the Associated Gospel Churches, will be guest speaker for the day. He is a real friend of the congregation here and has given much encouragement and help. His ministry has been richly blessed wherever he has gone, and in the last five years he has built a large and beautiful church in Newmarket, Ont., where he is highly respected and admired as an aggressive Christian statesman. On Monday, October 8, he will assist in the service of dedication, and will be assisted by the Rev. John Dempster, of the People's Church, Montreal, also the Rev. James Vold, of Metropolitan Tabernacle, Ottawa. Mr. Vold will remain for the remainder of the week for a series of Bible lectures. He is a young man but a gifted teacher of the Word of God. In this field, he has majored with distinction.

It is planned, as the church prospers, to build an edifice on the corner lot of the present property, where there is ample room to build whatever-sized church may be necessary.

Thanksgiving Services At Lachute United

Friends from far and near participated in the Thanksgiving services at Lachute United Church, harvest hymns and Thanksgiving messages being special features of both services.

At the morning service, the choir, under the direction of Mr. Wayne Riddell (who is also organist), rendered the anthem "Thou, O God, Art Praised in Zion," Mr. Syd Drew being the soloist. A Thanksgiving service was also held at East Settlement in the afternoon when the Rev. Wilson Bridge was again the speaker. The gifts of fruit, harvest produce and canned goods donated by the worshippers in both churches were afterwards taken to the Children's Home at Rosemere. The floral decorations were distributed to sick members of the Lachute United Church congregation.

The Thanksgiving services which would normally have been held this week-end, were brought forward in view of the fact that Sunday, October 7, will be world-wide Communion Sunday. Lachute United will celebrate the Communion and will receive new members at the morning service at 11 a.m.

Mille Isles Anglican Church Demolition

Morin Heights — A dramatic moment occurred at Christ Church, Mille Isles, on Monday afternoon, when the complete tower on the 97-year-old building fell gracefully to the ground, torn by cable from the church itself. The original work on the building had all been done with wooden pegs.

It is expected the demolition will be completed this week. Anglican services will be held in the Mille Isles Presbyterian Church.

Missionary Speaker Heard at Baptist Thank-Offering

The annual thank-offering service of the Lachute Baptist W.M.S. was held on Tuesday of last week.

Mrs. Lawrence Plummer presided, and the scripture lesson was read by Mrs. Norman Silverson.

Speaker for the evening was Mr. Lloyd Thompson, who with his wife and young son, Leslie, is on furlough from the Sudan Interior Mission. Many interesting slides, depicting the domestic routine, medical aspects and the religious life of this field in Northern Nigeria, were shown. The jeep which the Sunday School of this church helped to provide for Mr. and Mrs. Thompson was shown in action. In thanking the W.M.S., Mr. Thompson spoke of the need of continued support in the great work of the Sudan Interior Mission.

During the service Mrs. Gordon Cruise sang, "Here Am I, Send Me."

A surprise party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Strong on Friday evening, when many friends and neighbors gathered to bid farewell to them as they are leaving shortly to take up residence in town.

The presentation of a purse of money was made by Mr. Dougall Leishman, on behalf of the gathering. Mr. Strong replied in a few well chosen words, thanking the friends for their kindness.

The evening was spent in singing and dancing, after which refreshments were served by the ladies. The enjoyable evening was brought to a close by the singing of "For they are jolly good fellows" and Auld Lang Syne.

Pharmacist Plays Host To Arg. Medical Group

Physicians from Lachute, Brownsburg, St. Andrews, St. Hermas and St. Benoit—members of the Argenteuil Medical Board — met in Lachute with their wives last Thursday and were entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Donat Saulnier at the Golf Club for luncheon. The gathering numbered 24 and the occasion proved a pleasant social interlude, among these members of a fraternity who rub shoulders more customarily in matters of their daily routine and profession.

Mr. Saulnier extended the invitation to mark the opening of his new and modern drugstore, Beaton's Pharmacy — many of the local physicians having inspected the facilities and the dispensary of this store, and commended the proprietor on his initiative.

Mrs. Saulnier was presented with a bouquet in token of appreciation from the guests.

Presentation of Season's Awards To Winning Golfers

The distribution of season's tournament prizes and trophies in the Lachute Golf and Country Club events was held Saturday evening, with a large number of members present for this annual function. Master of ceremonies for the evening was Ernest Snadden, Match Committee captain, while the prizes were distributed by Manager Roger Gravel.

Low net winner of the mixed closing two-ball tournament held Saturday was the team of Mrs. A. Lamond and Paul Lefebvre, with a 71 score. The low gross of 86 was registered by Miss C. Ethier and Laurier Carrière.

Winners of the opening mixed two-ball tournament, held May 20, were Mrs. R. Vermandel and Gordon Higginson with a low net of 73, while the low gross of 102 was taken by Mrs. Peta Sheehan and Mozart Carrière.

Although there were more than 100 entries in the June 9 National Golf Day competitions, Mrs. R. Vermandel, of Montreal, was the only lady member to beat Fay Crocker, with a net score of 76. Local men in the competition who bettered Jack Fleck's score were Jules Lamarche, with a 65, and Paul Laliberté, with a 67. All three winners were presented with medals.

In the July 15 mixed two-ball event, the low net was won by Miss D. Perkins and Royal Carrière, with a 69, while a low gross of 96 was scored by Mrs. Jean Stein and Georges Leroux.

The husband-and-wife tournament July 22 was won by Mr. and Mrs. Phil Tremblay; the President's Prize by Stuart Gordon; the Vice-President's Prize by Laurier Carrière; the men's best-ball competition by Rudy Vermandel and Bob Hamilton; the club handicap champion by B. A. T. Watson; and the club championships as follows: Class "A", W. G. Thompson; Class "B", Ralph Allen; Class "C", Wayne Laurin, who also copped the junior championship for the club.

A special "hole-in-one" prize was awarded to Leo-Paul Lavoie, the only member this year to score an "ace" on the local course.

Football Phantasy

By G. E. Mortimore, "All Aboard Columnist

A Cleveland man has perfected a radio that fits in a football helmet and keeps the quarterback in communication with the coach.

And so modern technology catches up with football, which until now has been a cumbersome and old-fashioned form of warfare.

When field radio comes to the Canadian gridiron, the rules may be changed to allow a 13-man team — 12 players and a radio operator.

But why stop at that? We shouldn't let mawkish sentimentality about a few dead and wounded block our march toward a livelier game. The next step will be to equip each uniform with a two-man crew — a pilot to carry the ball and a midget rear-gunner in a turret mounted on a papoose sling.

"Quarterback to coach. We are running into heavy flak. Battery of fans throwing cushions and whiskey bottles. Taking evasive action. Over."

"Coach to quarterback. Stay in formation. Stay in formation. Over."

"Quarterback to coach. Struck amidships by 26-ounce bottle. Radar unserviceable. Left leg hit, dragging badly. Losing altitude. Face now only two feet from ground. Mayday. Abandoning helmet and uniform on enemy 30-yard line. Am bailing out. Roger and out."

Stan Leonard Fractures Foot

Vancouver (CP) — Stan Leonard playing professional at Lachute Golf Club, will be hobbled for at least a month with a quadruple fracture of the foot suffered in a fall from a ladder.

The accident happened last Tuesday. Leonard has been at his Vancouver home since late August.

Leonard said he had planned to leave last week-end to play in tournaments in San Diego and San Francisco. "But now I'll be out of commission for three or four weeks at least," he said.

CURRENT SHOWS, ENTERTAINMENT, TRAVEL

With Mike and Camera

Several old-time farmers on the Prairies will be heard October 7 on CBC Trans-Canada when "Canadian Scene" features reminiscences of harvest-time in years gone by and compares old methods with the mechanized procedures of today; the same show brings a description of the Western Development Museum at Saskatoon and the relics to be found there of the early days on the Prairies. . . . CBC-TV's documentary series "Here and There" on October 7 deals with the Rideau Canal system, its early history and its present-day aspect as one of Ontario's great summer playgrounds. The camera will follow a pleasure boat through the entire waterway.

Violinist for Community Concert Is Rated "An Illustrious Musician"

Robert Rudié To Perform in Lachute, Opening Recital of 1956-57 Season

Robert Rudié, due to appear October 11 at the Community Concert in Lachute High School, is considered one of the most "exciting" violinists now appearing on the American concert stage.

His stature as an artist and his versatility as a musician have won him a variety of important engagements both at home and abroad. Twice he has been invited to join world-renowned artists at the famous Casals Festivals at Perpignan and Prades, France. He has appeared as soloist with leading symphonies under many distinguished conductors and has himself conducted many orchestral concerts and international broadcasts. He was the founder and conductor of the Oklahoma City Symphony Chorale which gave numerous performances of major works with the Symphony and whose recording of Debussy's "Martyrdom of St. Sebastian" was singled out for special praise by critics across the continent.

On his annual recital tours, Rudie's winning personality and easy charm have instantly endeared him to a wide audience. In addition to a program of great violin music played by a master, his recitals offer a unique feature. Rudié tours with three violins. A Stradivarius, a Guadagnini, and a modern American instrument. His witty and illuminating comments together with a demonstration of the tonal qualities of the three instruments has never failed to meet with unbounded enthusiasm. The artist is also an accomplished performer on the viola and frequently includes a number for this instrument on his programs. A charming and amusing speaker as well as an outstanding virtuoso, Rudié delights his audience with his commentary as thoroughly as he capitivates them with his music-making.

The American-born son of French musicians, Robert Rudié received all of his musical training in the United States. He made his first appearance as a guest artist with a symphony orchestra at the age of ten and has been appearing in public with mounting prestige ever since. He is the winner of many coveted prizes, including the New York Philharmonic-Symphony Society Scholarship, a fellowship at the Juilliard Graduate School, the National Federation of Music Clubs Award, and many others.

Plouffe Family Back For Another Season

"I feel like a lion let loose," exulted author Roger Lemelin when he began work on another season of scripts for "The Plouffe Family," due to start on CBC-TV this Friday, October 5, 8.30-9 p.m. After a summer spent yachting on the St. Lawrence with his wife and children he declared himself more than eager to plunge back into the complex affairs of the Plouffes and their friends.

Lemelin will be serving up his usual blend of pathos and humor, but with new complications, plenty of surprises and some new characters for additional color and interest. Character viewers are likely to meet for the first time this year include a tenor who has lost his voice; Pete dans le Trefle, a neighbor of the Plouffes' fun-loving relative, Uncle Gedeon; and a psychiatrist who may find that his hands are full if he tries to help members of the family with their problems.

The opening episode finds Theophile Plouffe in a stir over his friend Narcisse Vallerand's 25th wedding anniversary; a bang-up celebration is planned. The boys pitch in with a will to help their father, but not everyone is happy. While the men are hard at work Josephine (Maman) Plouffe is standing by, silently fuming. In all the bustle and excitement over Narcisse, her own 35th wedding anniversary appears to have been completely overlooked.

"The Plouffe Family" will have a new producer this season — Guy Beaulne — but the principal players will remain the same.

CONFESSION

"In my visual symphonies I distort and deform everything. It is pointless to distort people when I can distort a staircase or a landscape." — Soviet Film Producer Eugene Deslaw.

On Television

A Moving Drama Of Rural Quebec

The old and the new Quebec clash in a dramatic story entitled "The Visit" to be seen on CBC-TV's Perspective this Sunday at 5.30 p.m. The old is represented by Robert Desmarais, aging and ill and no longer able to carry on with the building of boats, for which his name has become famous along the St. Lawrence. The new is symbolized by big Paul, returning from lucrative constructive work in Ontario and not minded to settle down in the little river-side town of Vercheres.

The result, reports one who has previewed this NFB film, is a moving little drama which nicely sidesteps the pitfalls of maudlin sentiment by virtue of Bernard Devlin's skilful direction — and with it a keen glance into a problem in contemporary Quebec life which threatens to grow more acute.

"The Visit" is reported to bring some pleasant and often touching glimpses of the inner qualities which give life in the ancient province its peculiarly fascinating character. Perspective's camera at times develops a sincerity reminiscent of Lemelin at his Plouffe-family best — for instance, in an almost loving portrayal of that Quebec familiar institution, the family dinner, and it powerful pull upon young Paul's affection.

The struggle between the two ways of life resolves itself with a certain amount of hurt to both parties, but under the circumstances the answer to Paul's problem, although only an individual one, is completely inevitable.

The script is by Gordon Burwash.

Subsequent programs on "Perspective" will be "Morning Incident," a film about an air-sea rescue operation off the Pacific Coast; "Night Children," about the work of the Children's Aid Society in Toronto; "The Barrier," a film in two parts dealing with the difficulties of communication between management and workers; "Sable Island," a film-story of a visit to this famed island off Canada's Atlantic coast; "The Longer Trail" about a young Indian lad in Alberta; and "The Nativity Cycle," scheduled for presentation in Christmas week.

NATIONAL WEEKLY NEWSPAPER WEEK, OCT. 1 - 8

JOLSON NOTES

(Contributed)

A most outstanding tribute to the greatness of Al Jolson was recently issued by Milt Larsen of Los Angeles. It is a 12-inch L.P. recording entitled "A Legend Named Jolson", which truly "has everything." The narration, written by Mr. Larsen and ably presented by Frank Bresee, traces Al's career from his early days in Washington, D.C., to his death in San Francisco, and has the added interest of Al's own voice doing some of the narraion, taken from a previous recording.

There are lots of Jolson songs along the way, many of them the old familiar favorites, but different versions from his Decca recordings. Included is "Swannee" as sung by Al at a George Gershwin memorial concert; a speech he made at a testimonial dinner given him by the American Vets; and hilarious duets with Bing Crosby and Eddie Cantor on their radio shows.

The record is in hi-fi, and nicely packaged in a double cover with a dramatic picture of Al's statue at the Jolson Memorial in California, on the front; and inside are several other fine pictures. This is a limited, private edition, and therefore not available through stores nor broadcast on radio or TV. Anyone wishing one of the remaining copies may write Milt Larsen for further information (929 S. Longwood Ave., Los Angeles 19, Cal.).

Did you notice that, during his recent speech accepting the presidential nomination, President Eisenhower used a phrase originated by Al Jolson, namely, "You Ain't Seen Nothin' Yet!" Maybe the Al Jolson Memorial Club should give Ike a medal or somethin'!

A recent item in "Variety" stated that Norman Brooks will play Al Jolson in 20th Fox "The Best Things in Life Are Free." More about this later.

Teatime Topics

Written Specially for The Lachute Watchman

By Gillian Pritchard, Canadian Press Staff Writer

The question of whether growers may be sacrificing quality and taste for the sake of attractive appearance in food is posed by the Canadian Association of Consumers in its current monthly bulletin.

It says agricultural technicians have been encouraged by consumer buying habits to try experimenting even further with foods that are tempting to the eye if not so tempting to the palate.

Some housewives think the attractively displayed, cellophane-wrapped goods in the supermarket don't taste as good as the items they used to select years ago at the corner store.

The consumer association suggests the decrease in consumption of flour may be due to the lack of flavor in a product which has to compete with the fondly remembered homespun variety of yesterday.

It mentions strawberries unequalled in size and color — but whose aroma and taste cannot equal those smaller berries grown purely with the aid of Nature; milk-fed poultry which doesn't quite come up to the standard of the country chicken, or a ruddy eye-tempting apple that lacks the tang of the old runty ones.

The association also suggests that perhaps consumers need to make new demands for flavor to become as fashionable as appearance.

Success Secrets

Unless you are an experienced cook or one of those who seem to triumph by instinct, follow instructions carefully for good results with cooking.

It's essential with cake-baking to use the right-sized tin, otherwise it's likely that your cake won't rise because there will be either too much or too little batter.

Dull, used tins and glass pans absorb more heat than shiny new cake tins, so lower the oven temperature about 25 degrees or reduce baking time slightly.

A quick, easy-to-make layer-cake filling can be made from ready-mixed pie fillings. Try lemon or vanilla flavor.

1 Pkt. pie filling, ¼ cup sugar, 2¼ cups water, 1 egg.

Combine pudding mix, sugar and ¼ cup water in saucepan. Add egg and blend well. Add remaining 2 cups water. Cook and stir until mixture comes to full boil and thickens — about five minutes. Cool five minutes, stirring once or twice, then place waxed paper directly on surface of filling. Cool to room temperature. Remove paper and spread between cake layers. Fills two cakes.

Check Thread

Dressmakers should be careful to choose the appropriate thread for the type of fabrics if they want the stitches to last the life of the garment.

A 6-cord thread is needed for draperies and a lighter, mercerized one about 50 weight for most dress fabrics. Use silk thread on stretchy fabrics like knit jersey and synthetic threads for synthetic materials.

An elderly lady at a picnic had trouble with her corset. She thought if she could pad it she wouldn't have to leave, so finding a comic book, she went behind a bush and stuffed the corset.

Coming out, she patted her stomach and said, "There, let's see Dick Tracy get out of that situation."

"Look here," said the worried householder to the new maid, "why did you tell your mistress what time I came home last night, when I asked you not to?"

"I didn't," replied the maid. "She asked me what time you got in, and I told her I was too busy cooking breakfast to look at the clock."

Something To Gobble

TURKEY TWISTS

As Thanksgiving Day approaches, homemakers' thoughts turn to turkey dinners. To keep the Thanksgiving Day dinner in a gay mood we suggest you add the gobbler motif to your bread basket. Just a few extra twists of the wrist will give your rolls an unusual outline. After only a few minutes practice you'll be able to shape the light egg-rich dough into Turkey Twists. They're sure to bring compliments to the cook and create interest at any dinner table.

If your family has a sweet tooth, Turkey Twists can be dressed up with a sweet icing. Just combine icing sugar with a little water, flavor it with a drop of lemon extract and brush the icing on the rolls while they're still warm. Then sprinkle with chopped nuts for a festive touch. These dressed-up Turkey Twists are delicious at tea time or as an evening snack when served with fresh butter and brightly colored fruit jam.

However, if time is at a premium you can stick to a simple shape. Divide dough into 24 equal portions and shape into small balls. Place on greased baking sheets and let rise about 20 minutes or until doubled in bulk. Bake at same temperature as for Turkey Twists and allow about the same baking time.

Turkey Twists

¼ Cup milk (scalded), ¼ cup granulated sugar, 1½ teaspoons butter or margarine, 1 cup lukewarm water, 1 teaspoon granulated sugar, 3 envelopes active dry yeast, 3 eggs, 6 cups sifted all-purpose flour.

Combine scalded milk, ¼ cup granulated sugar, salt and butter or margarine in a large bowl. Stir well and cool to lukewarm. Meanwhile in 1 cup lukewarm water thoroughly dissolve 1 teaspoon granulated sugar. Sprinkle yeast on top of water. Let stand 10 minutes. Then stir well. Beat eggs until light and lemon-colored. Add well-stirred yeast and beaten eggs to lukewarm milk mixture. Stir in 3 cups of the flour and beat until smooth. Add remaining sifted flour and when dough is stiff enough to be easily handled turn onto a well-floured board and knead until smooth and elastic — about 5 minutes. Place dough in greased bowl and brush top with melted shortening. Cover with a clean cloth and let rise in a warm place free from draft for 2 hours or until doubled in bulk. Grease two 17x11-inch baking sheets. Punch down dough and pull sides into centre. Turn onto floured board. Knead into a ball and then divide dough into four equal portions. Divide each portion into six equal pieces. Knead each piece into a small ball. Cover with a clean towel and let stand 10 minutes. Form each ball into a strip 15 inches long and ¼ inch thick by rolling dough with palms on floured board. Cut off 1-inch of dough from each strip. (These 1-inch pieces form the tails). Shape "turkeys" on baking sheet. With long strips of dough, make a clockwise circle, leaving pointed end of dough loose at the top to form beak. Curve dough up then down to shape neck, and continue down to begin body. Make counter-clockwise circle four time as big as first, winding dough in spiral toward centre. Attach the 1-inch piece of dough along upper right of circle to form tail feathers. Brush turkey twists with melted shortening. Cover with a clean towel and let rise in a warm place free from draft for 20 to 30 minutes or until doubled in bulk. Meanwhile preheat oven to 425°F. (hot). When dough has risen bake in preheated oven 12 to 15 minutes. Makes 24

Thanksgiving Favorites

by the Consumer Section, Canada Dept. of Agriculture Marketing Service

Why not plan your Thanksgiving meal this year around one of those majestic birds, a golden, succulent turkey. Whether you choose a whole or half turkey, make sure it is a large one and there will be a wealth of eating pleasure ahead for you. To enhance the turkey you'll want to use some of the other traditional Thanksgiving foods suggested in this menu from Canada's kitchen:

Hot Spiced Apple Juice
Stuffed Roast Turkey
Giblet Gravy Cranberry Sauce
Fluffy Mashed Potatoes
Golden-Glazed Baked Squash
3 C's Salad
(cabbage, celery, carrots)
Hot Rolls with Butter
Pumpkin Pie
Milk Tea Coffee

Ideas for Serving Thanksgiving Favorites

Hot, spiced apple juice fits perfectly into any Thanksgiving menu and here is how you make it. To one 20-ounce can of apple juice add ½ teaspoon cider vinegar, 6 cloves, a stick of cinnamon and one teaspoon of sugar. Bring to the boil, then remove from the heat and let cool. Strain and store in the refrigerator. Reheat just before serving.

As a crisp complement to your turkey, toss cabbage, celery and carrots together with dressing. If you prefer a jellied salad combine these three vegetables in a ready-mix jelly powder with a little vinegar and salt added for zip. You may use a large mould or individual ones and the salad will be particularly attractive if served with cress.

Squash and pumpkin have become Thanksgiving traditions for many Canadian families. To make golden-glazed baked squash, bake individual serving size pieces of squash skin-side-up; when they are nearly baked turn them over and sprinkle with brown sugar, salt and pepper, dot with butter and finish baking. The pumpkin will be served, of course, in pumpkin pie with whipped cream to which either ginger or cinnamon has been added; or the top of the pie may be spread with currant jelly and then with whipped cream.

VOLUNTEERS BUILD FOR 57 CHILDREN

The White family of Bowmanville, Ont., just keeps growing and growing and now there are 57 children. The children do not all belong to Mr. and Mrs. White but have been adopted or just given a home by the couple, who refuse to turn a child away. Accommodation at the White farm has been enlarged but not fast enough to keep pace with the additions to the family, so carpenters of the union local at nearby Oshawa staged a fast attack on the problem. Here they are at work on a new dormitory—and it's evident they have many superintendents helping them with the sawing and hammering.

NEW-TYPE OPERATION AIDS HEART PATIENT

St. Boniface, Man. (CP) — To most people, plastic is a helpful but not essential part of their daily routine, but for Michael Day, 32, it's the difference between life and death.

Mr. Day, an Indian from Red Lake, Ont., underwent what is believed the first heart operation in Western Canada using plastic valves. It was performed here by Dr. Morley Cohen of Winnipeg.

The operation left a ticking in his chest, which will disappear in time, doctors say, but Mr. Day laughingly commented, "it doesn't keep me awake at night."

He was referred to the cardiac unit at St. Boniface hospital eight month ago. He experienced difficulty in breathing and some swelling of the lower limbs. It was found that the valve leading to the main outlet passage of the heart had been damaged from a rheumatic heart condition 12 years before.

Doctors decided on the operation. Similar ones produced good results in the United States.

Plastic valves for the operation were purchased for the hospital by the Federal Indian Health and Welfare service, at a cost of $750.

The operation took three hours to perform, but the installation of the new valve took only seconds. The remainder of the time was used to reach the heart and "sew up" again. The operation constructed "a completely new type of circulation", said Dr. P. L'Heureux, hospital superintendent.

Thanksgiving

(Copyright) — By NANCY CLEAVER —

"Dear the people coming home,
Dear glad faces long away,
Dear the merry cries, and dear
All the glad and happy play,
Dear the thanksgiving too, we give
For all this, Thanksgiving Day."

An American poet, H. P. Spofford wrote these descriptive lines of Thanksgiving Day:

Thanksgiving Day is held in Canada, around the middle of October and in United States late in November. It is an American festival, dating back to Governor Bradford and the Pilgrim Fathers' expression of gratitude for their harvest of 1621. A re-action to the excess in the observance of Christmas in England at that time had caused the Puritans to put a ban on the keeping of Christ's birthday. In a sense Thanksgiving was their substitute for this other celebration.

At the first harvest festival there was feasting and fellowship with their Indian visitors, target practice and other recreation. Edward Winslow, writing to a friend in England, described the preparation for this Thanksgiving. He mentioned particularly the men who went out hunting at the order of the governor for fowl, "So that we might after a more special manner rejoice together, after we had gathered the fruit of our labors. For three days we entertained and feasted."

Thus wild fowl was the forerunner of the Thanksgiving turkey of today. Venison, vegetable, fruits and pumpkin pie were also part of this first harvest feast. Early in the eighteenth century, one year, Thanksgiving had to be postponed a week because the necessary supply of molasses had not arrived to make the pumpkin pies!

This story of the origin of Thanksgiving is of interest to boys and girls. Wise are the parents who "make a lot of" these special days in the calendar of the year. They give their children happy memories they will cherish all their lives.

Food provides not only nourishment but pleasure for young and old, especially on Festival Days. Mothers should share the fun (and the work) of the preparation of the good things for Thanksgiving dinner with the girls (and the boys too) in the family. There are no pies quite like mother's pies in the opinion of most families. But if there is a teen age daughter in the home, why not let her try her hand at baking for this occasion? If she has had some experience, let her have the satisfaction of making the pumpkin pie all herself — and be lavish with your praise of her "production!"

Sometimes parents complain that thankfulness, like sympathy is not easy to teach to children. There is some truth in this because youngsters often take their blessings for granted and they find it difficult to put themselves in another's place. But so do many adults!

E. V. Lucas tells of an interesting experiment in an English school aimed at training scholars in these two virtues. In the course of a term, each child has a blind day, a lame day, a deaf day and one when he cannot speak. The night before the blind day his eyes are bandaged. He awakens blind. He needs help and other children lead him about. By this method a child imagines vividly what it is like to be really without vision, and his chums receive practice in thinking of the need for guidance of another.

After an experience like this, surely a child would not use his gift of sight without a feeling of thankfulness. Sometimes a child exclaims when he sees different colors or combinations of colors! Just watch a young artist at work with paints or crayons! Let us encourage our children to be grateful for all five senses!

Special Mention for W.I. Souvenir from Morin Hts

Judging has been completed on the souvenirs going from the Quebec Women's Institutes to the delegates attending the Ceylon Conference of the Associated Country Women of the World, this coming December. Haldimand W.I. won first prize with a set of five felt needle cases in Institute colors, with appliqued maple leaf and embroidered "Canada." Small, light in weight, easily packed, useful and practical, this was the unanimous choice of the judges. Second prize went to Mrs. Guy Patterson, Sandy Beech W.I. This was a small doily of outstanding workmanship, attractively packaged, with colored prints of local scenes and a friendly message with return address.

Special mention was made of three articles. One was a hand-carved plaque of maple wood, made by a member of Morin Heights W.I. This will be reserved as a special gift for Mrs. Berry, the ACWW president (design, the Q.W.I. crest). Another was a doily from Lochaber W.I. with members' names and maple leaves forming an attractive pattern. The third article was a pot holder, crocheted in W.I. colors and made by a 90 year old member of Sawyerville W.I., Mrs. Cora Austin.

The Q.W.I. executive was delighted with the variety and quality of the articles sent in for this purpose. They are now on the way to Ceylon and will be distributed at the Conference when the president, Mrs. G. D. Harvey, the Q.W.I. delegate, arrives in that country early in December.

It takes money to make good gasoline

Gasoline quality has risen tremendously in the past few years. Two gallons of today's gasoline do the work of three in the '20s.

Finding new techniques to make these improved gasolines, and new equipment to put these techniques to work, has cost a lot of money

Imperial, with by far Canada's most extensive oil research facilities, has spent 20 million dollars over the past ten years on research alone.

Imperial spent 65 million in the same period directly on new equipment to improve gasoline quality.

It's costing more and more money to make the gasolines required by today's more powerful cars.

B of M Again Tops for Bank Advertising Appeal

Montreal, Oct. 1 —First place in Canadian bank advertising has again been won by the Bank of Montreal in the "Bank Ad-views" continuing study of financial advertising in North America during the past 12 months.

The B of M has won top rating for Canada in all but one of the last 11 years, and in two years — 1946 and 1954 — it ranked first for the continent, receiving the Socrates High Award for North America.

The "Bank Ad-views" award to the B of M for 1956 is in line with a recent survey of Canadian transportation advertising covering a wide variety of national advertisers in which the B of M's message led all other advertisements with a public readership of 62 per cent.

High Readership Consistent

This survey was the fifth in a series of studies undertaken by the Canadian Advertising Research Foundation over the past eight years, with the B of M previously rated third, fourth, second and first respectively.

Another award from the U.S. for the B of M is the "merit award" from the Financial World, of New York, "for distinguished achievement in annual reporting for six consecutive years and in recognition of the excellence of its 1955 annual report to shareholders."

This citation states that the B of M's financial statement was judged as among the most modern from the standpoint of content, typography and format of the 5,000 annual reports examined during 1956.

East Coast Extremity Band Leader's Choice

Halifax (CP) — Chicago band leader Al Carter likes Canada, so much he's missed only one vacation in the last 10, travelling the provinces.

This year he sought to reach North America's eastern-most point directly accessible by automobile without resorting to a ferry.

Cape Bretoners, he said, assured him the small fishing village of Bauleine was the spot. Carter and his wife proceeded from the fortress settlement of Louisebourg, N.S. along a dark, winding country road to the settlement of friendly fisher folk.

The farthest point he could reach, Carter said, was the front yard of Alex Burke, a kindly and hospitable Irish gentleman of 78 years.

On the way back with photographic proof of his explorations, the Chicago orchestra man was told by non-Cape Bretoners that the Department of Transport's radio station at Glasgow Head, near Canso, was the most eastern point directly accessible by auto.

"My curiosity has been aroused again. I'm going to find out," said Carter as he prepared to make the 200-mile scouting tour.

He's convinced, however, that Bauleine is geographically the easternmost spot on the North American continent.

Cape Breton, he avers, can no longer be considered "an island", thanks to the Canso causeway.

"After all, the southernmost part of the United States is Key West, Florida and to reach Key West Florida proper you have to travel more than 100 miles by causeway."

Regional pride is a part of the things that make Canada a great country, the visitor felt.

"I like Canada and every place I've been in it. There's a difference to be noted once you step across the border. You can feel it and hear it growing around you."

FEW BOY SCOUT GUESTS OF CANADA

at the 1955 Jamboree had a chance to see the great dams and smelters that make Canada a world supplier of aluminum.

But some did see a Canadian use of the light metal: outdoor cooking with aluminum foil. One Canadian troop showed how they used this handy material for doing potatoes, steaks and other foods over the campfire; how they kept food fresh in summer heat by protecting it with aluminum. If this missionary work carries the idea back to distant lands, Canada may have to turn out still more aluminum foil—even though last year her output, if laid in a 12-inch strip, would reach 382,000 miles.

"Why no," he said, "How on earth could I know what I think about a thing until I've heard what I have to say on the subject."

Anglican Church To Observe 75th Anniversary

During his ministry, the original St. Simeon's Church was built. The deed for the church lot, which cost $300, was signed on November 19, 1879, and the consecration of the church by Bishop Bond took place on October 11, 1881. The incumbent and his successors in chronological order to the present day, are enumerated as follows:

Rev. H. J. Evans	1878-1883
Rev. R. Wyndham Brown	1884-
Rev. W. Sanders	1885-1892
Rev. Alex Boyd-Given	1892-1903
Rev. Herbert Charters	1903-1912
Rev. G. H. Gagnon	1912-
Rev. J. A. Lackey	1913-1932
Rev. W. C. LeCras	1932-1941
Rev. B. J. Thorpe	1942-1944
Rev. C. R. Lang	1944-

In the pastorate of the present rector, it became evident that progress in the parish could only be attained by securing a Sunday School hall and a place for midweek activities. The church was showing signs of decay and was not comfortable in winter. It was evident that a new church must be built, or the old one completely remodelled. The congregation, after lengthy consideration, decided on the latter course.

Dr. F. W. FitzGerald gave energetic leadership to the building committee. Plans for a new church were obtained, a canvass of the parish in the interests of the Building Fund was carried out, and the raising of funds was the subject of many meetings.

A loan of $15,000 was procured from the Diocesan Extension Fund, on condition that the parish raise an equal amount.

Tenders for the construction were called for in the autumn of 1946, and the contract was awarded to James H. Pollock, of Lachute, for $23,500.

The last service was held in the old church on Sunday, April 22, 1947. Demolition began on May 5 and was completed the following week. Permission was secured from the Town Council to use the civic auditorium for services until the church was rebuilt.

The ceremony of "turning the first sod" was held on Saturday, May 17, and was performed by Major S. E. Smith, the only member of the congregation who had been present at the opening of the first church.

Throughout the summer the work progressed, though greatly delayed by acute shortage of material, especially cement. . . However, the first service in the new church was held on Sunday, March 2, 1948, and the service of dedication took place on Thursday, April 8. This impressive service was conducted by the Bishop of Montreal and was attended by 256 persons.

The final payment on the contract was made in January 1949. The first payment of $1,700 on the building loan was made in December of the same year. A legacy of the late Mrs. T. A. Patterson, of $4,886.90, was applied to the church debt. Since that time, repayments on the loan have been made annually due largely to the splendid help of the Ladies' Guild.

In the intervening years the church basement has been completed and the kitchen furnished, all at considerable cost.

In May 1951 an Organ Fund was opened, and in November of the following year, the congregation purchased a new Minshall electronic organ at a cost of $2,845.

"We are most grateful to those who have given of their services and who have labored to make this building worthy as the House of God," is the fitting conclusion to this report.

Tips on Touring

By Carol Lane
Women's Travel Authority

Safety begins at home, but don't leave it there. Even though you're a good driver, constant adherence to these six safety steps will reduce your chances of highway accidents.

1. Check Your Car. — Many accidents could be avoided by good car maintenance. Be sure the lights, brakes, horn and wiper are working right. Local service station experts will be glad to check these things, as well as tires, gasoline, oil and water and to make any needed repairs.

2. Check Yourself. — Be in the right frame of mind for driving. Don't drive when you're tired, in an emotional stew, or over-excited. Let someone else take the wheel if you're not perfectly sure you should drive.

3. Know Driving Conditions. — Keep aware of the hazards of wet, icy, or fog-bound roads. Exercise more care during the rush hours, in the tricky light around dawn and dusk and on week-ends, when the traffic is heaviest.

4. Watch Road Signs. — Road markers are placed on highways to aid you — take advantage of them. They'll warn you of approaching hills, curves, crossroads and other hazards.

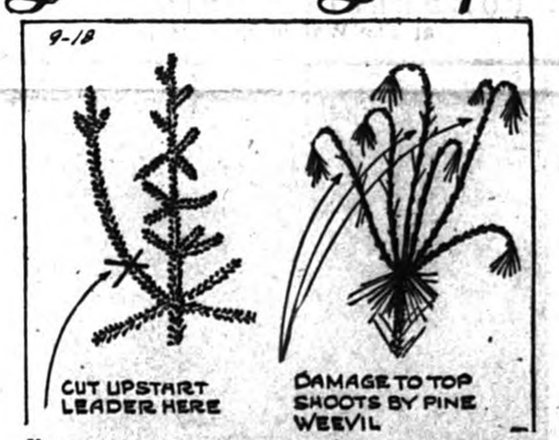

5. Pay Attention. — Don't forget that you're driving the car. Someone else can point out the interesting sites, dial the radio or adjust the ventilation. Wait until you've stopped before you light a cigarette or fix your make-up.

6. Obey The Laws. — Violation may prove fatal. Speed limits are safety limits to get you to your destination alive. Never try to beat a red light, and slow down for amber lights — don't try to squeeze through. Always signal for a turn.

There's a friendly undertaker in Washington, D.C., who closes all his correspondence with "Eventually yours." Another in Los Angeles advertises: "Use our lay-away plan. Pay now. Go later."

Garden-Graph

If your evergreens have made extra heavy growth since their spring pruning, prune them again. Trim and shape them just before they "throw" their second growth late in September.

The worst treatment for evergreens is to neglect their pruning until they are all out of shape, and then try to bring them back to size and form by heavy shearing or pruning. This too often results in harsh, irregular forms, stub ends, discolored foliage and sometimes in permanent injury.

As happens not infrequently, spruce or pine trees will develop two leaders, as shown in the accompanying Garden-Graph. Since two leaders spoil any ornamental tree, trim out the upstart leader, as marked in the Garden-Graph.

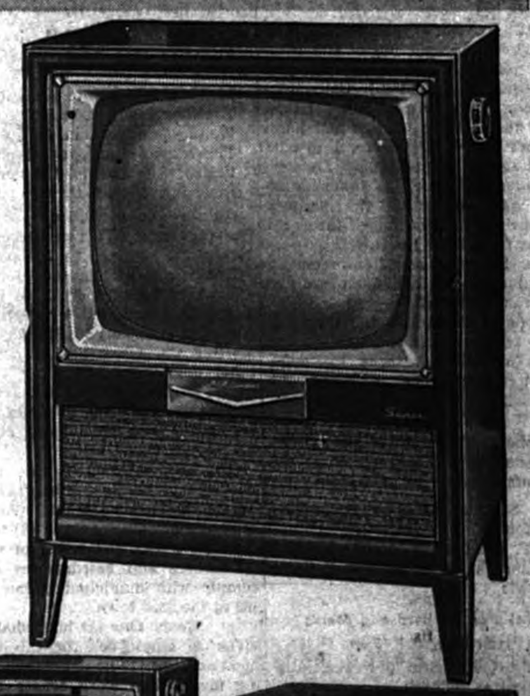

When checking over pines and spruces, look for telltale signs of weevil damage. If there is evidence that weevils are working in your trees, spray them immediately with DDT. Direct the spray at the terminal twigs. This will discourage the female weevils from laying their eggs there.

If the top shoots have already been badly damaged by the weevils, as shown in the Garden-Graph, cut them out and burn them. This will also destroy any grubs that may be developing under the bark and will lessen the extent of tree injury next year.

When pruning the "Christmas-Tree" group—firs and spruces — remember that their beauty is best shown by a perfect cone formed of soft masses of needles not too obviously barbered. Cut branches projecting beyond the pyramid back into line and prune all side growth in general to overcome patchiness.

OUT ON A LIMB

By Stumpy McCulloch

The beautiful city gal entered the office of our local dog kennels and tripped up to Young Fred's desk.

"I want a pet." she cooed.

"Gosh, I'd love to, ma'am," Young Fred said sadly, "but the boss is mighty strict!"

• • •

Back in 1941, there was just one tree farm. Yep, that's right. At least, there was just one woodland enrolled in the American Tree Farm System in 1941 — the year the system was adopted by the lumber industry. Today there are more than 7500 tree farms, and they cover a total area of 38 million acres. That's a lot of trees, all being raised as a crop!

• • •

If it's managed right, a tree farm — big or small — can earn good money, too. One feller up in Wisconsin figures he can make at least five dollars an hour for his work at logging time! That's assuming he harvests mature timber at frequent intervals, and never cuts more than the natural growth between harvests.

• • •

I was jottin' down some safety rules for tree farmers the other day. Want to hear them? 1) I always cut dangerous trees and snags within reach of work areas or roads before I begin my regular day's cutting. 2) 'Course, a feller ought to work where he won't endanger himself or anybody else from falling trees or rolling logs! 3) It's best not to work if the wind is blowin' strong enough to affect the direction a tree may fall. 4) I always try to clear away brush, beforehand, from the area adjacent to a tree I aim to cut — 'cause this provides more room for my saw and axe, and permits a quick get-away!

• • •

5) Before I cut a tree, I figger out a way of escape — well back and to one side, and at least 20 feet away. 6) And if there's anybody else in the area, I give plenty of warning before I cut a tree! 'Course, most of these rules mean: Use common sense when you're cuttin' trees!

• • •

"I wish to marry your daughter, sir," the young feller said.

"Do you drink, young man?" the father asked.

"Well, thanks a lot sir," the feller said. "But let's settle this other thing first."

• • •

So long, folks. See you soon!

A NEW KIND OF HALLOWE'EN

By Rev. A. Geo. Moore, B.A., B.D.

Girls and Boys All Over Canada !

Let's have double the fun this Hallowe'en! Instead of apples and candies and nuts — although I know how much you like them — we are going to collect nickles and dimes and quarters, and even dollars. Here's how it works.

When we are all dressed up on October 31, we will go out and shout "Shell Out For UNICEF!" This means that we are a part of a big party of 900,000,000 girls and boys. UNICEF is the world organization that helps all the children in this party who are sick or hungry or in need. And there are 600,000,000 of them. The money that we collect on Hallowe'en will be sent to these children all over the world. Five cents will buy 10 bowls of rice, and 10 cents will buy six glasses of milk.

Did I say "double the fun?" It will be 10 times the fun we have ever had before!

Of course, we must get together on this. Grown-ups must give leadership to the children's groups, provide them with UNICEF tags and collection boxes, and go with them on their rounds on October 31. Churches and clubs and schools will form committees to plan the parties, the costumes, the games and the refreshments. Parents may organize smaller groups in their own neighborhood. Every group or committe may obtain help from the leadership that will be available on the local level.

So, let's get off to the good start. We will have loads of fun ourselves as we say, "Shell Out For UNICEF!", and when we send our boxes full of Hallowe'en money to millions of boys and girls all over the world, they will have more fun than we; and some of them will have milk and rice and medicine and clothes for the first time in their lives!

The Scouts would like to take this opportunity to thank the residents of this area for their co-operation. O4.2x

Have You A Question on UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE OR EMPLOYMENT?

In this column we publish questions about unemployment insurance and employment, together with answers received from the Unemployment Insurance Commission.

If you are uncertain about any point do not hesitate to send your question to your district Unemployment Insurance office. We will obtain an answer and publish it in this column.

Q. I am an insured worker who pays contributions regularly. I know that if I lose my job I can draw benefits. What I want to know is how the rates of benefit are determined. Can you tell me?

A. The rates of benefit are set out in a schedule in the Act and the rate applicable to a particular claimant is determined by reference to the average rate of his weekly contributions during the most recent 30 contribution weeks. The contributions in turn are directly related to his weekly earnings, ranging from 16 cents a week for earnings of less than $15 to 60 cents a week for earnings of $57 or more. Hence the benefit rates are related to the claimant's recent rate of earnings.

• • •

Q. I have paid unemployment insurance contributions ever since it started. While I am now employed steadily, I will be retired in a couple of years. Will I receive proportionate benefits after retirement?

A. If on retirement you are ready, able and willing to work and are unable to find other employment, and can meet the qualifying conditions, you will be entitled to benefit.

Building a seaway

Hour after hour, day after day...GMC trucks slug it out on Canada's biggest construction job

Swinging out of the pit with a 12-ton load in the dump, this GMC 500 has a two-mile run ahead of it. And what a run it is . . . littered with boulders—rutted with rains—it's a bone-breaking, torturing trip for any truck. But these big GMC's have mastered it!

There's a roar as twelve tons of rock and gravel spew out of the truck bed. Now it's the bulldozer's turn. And the job goes on in every extreme of heat and cold. These GMC's have to keep up with the schedule whether the temperature is 30 or 130. Make no mistake, they're doing it!

Building a seaway means building roads—moving towns—relocating railroads. For Sir Robert McAlpine and Sons (Canada) Limited, building a seaway means long hours on the run, hauling 12-ton loads on the railroad-building job—and keeping at it until the schedule is met.

Building a seaway means the toughest test yet for any truck . . . but these big GMC's are proving that they're the ruggedest, go-gettingest trucks on the job. Prove it on your job.

There's a GMC truck made to match it!

When it comes to rugged trucks come to

Charities Federation Year Reviewed As Annual Campaign Opens Oct. 14

The initial fund campaign by the Lachute Federation of Charities, last year, was highly successful, the $16,300 objective being surpassed through the efforts of around 250 solicitors who collected a total of $19,596.45 — as reported by Raymond Beaulieu, the 1955 campaign treasurer, at a recent meeting of the executive committee.

Mr. Beaulieu presented a detailed financial report on all activities of the Federation which recently ended its first year of operations. The report indicated that $17,532.20 had left the coffers of the Federation either in grants to its member organizations or as administration expenses.

Following is a break-down of expenditures for the year ended:

Social Service	$5,000.00
Canadian National Institute for the Blind	1,500.00
Retarded Children	800.00
Ste. Anastasie Playground	1,500.00
Ayersville Playground	1,800.00
St. Julien Playground	1,500.00
Ste. Elisabeth Workshop	1,935.00
Marguerite Bourgeois Workshop	1,694.00
Administration Costs	1,803.20
	$17,532.20
Lamarche Hospitalization Fund	$539.75
Reserve	392.00
	$18,463.95
Subscriptions pledged	$19,596.45
Expenses	$18,463.95
Surplus	$1,132.50

The Lamarche Hospitalization Fund is a special donation account formed with the nucleus of a legacy of the late Hector Lamarche. This money is to be used exclusively to aid persons in need of hospitalization.

This year, the objective has been established at $18,400 and the campaign commences this Sunday, October 14, continuing to October 24. The initial campaign demonstrated that the population of Greater Lachute approved of making one donation instead of numerous smaller ones, and the executive members of the Federation are urging local residents to be as generous as they were last year.

The person who calls on you receives no remuneration from the organization. Receive and welcome him as a friend.

St. Simeon's Church 75th Anniversary Fittingly Observed

Last Sunday was an auspicious day in the history of St. Simeon's Church, Lachute, and an occasion that will long be remembered.

The morning service was held in commemoration of the 75th anniversary of the consecration of the first church on October 11, 1881 This church was demolished in 1947 to make way for the present edifice which was built the same year.

The church was filled with members of the parish and visitors from far and near.

The service, led by the rector and a large choir, was an inspiring one. Scripture lessons, psalms and two of the hymns were those used at the consecration of the original church. The appropriate anthem, "Except the Lord Build the House", by James Moodie, was well rendered by the choir, under leadership of the organist, Mrs. James Pollock.

The sermon preached by Rev. W. C. LeCras, a former rector of the parish, was both reminiscent and instructive. His joy at being present on this important milestone in the history of the parish was shared equally by the congregation, to whom he had formerly ministered for nine years.

The note of Thanksgiving throughout the service for God's blessings through 75 years of parish life, was quickened by the fact that the debt on the new church had been completely paid off. The congregation are grateful that they have been able to liquidate, in eight years, a debt of $15,000.

The Rev. C. R. Lang and his parishioners take this opportunity to thank the many friends in Lachute for kind donations given to assist them nine years ago, when they undertook to rebuild the church.

This evening (Thursday) an appropriate ceremony will be held in the church hall, at which the mortgage will be burned. This gathering will be attended by the Bishop of Montreal, Archdeacon J. F. Morris, the Rev. Stanley Andrews and several other clergymen.

Canon Manseau Addresses K of C On Social Service

Civic councillors, representatives of various clubs and parish organizations were guests at a Knights of Columbus breakfast gathering last Sunday morning, in the K of C Hall on Foundry Street, where an audience in the neighborhood of 100 heard a discourse by Canon Paul Manseau, director of the Social Service for this diocese of the Catholic populace. Notary Richd. Valois was chairman, and the speaker was introduced by Dr. Marc Papineau, president of the Lachute Federation of Charities.

Speaking on Social Service in this district, and its rising costs, Canon Manseau observed by way of explanation that in 1931 Lachute and district, including Brownsburg, numbered from 3,000 to 4,000 population, whereas the inhabitants of this same area today exceed 14,000.

The St. Jerome division of Social Service now expends almost half-a-million dollars annually throughout the diocese. Various Charity Federations contribute towards the operating expenses of this Service — Lachute contributing the sum of $5,000.

In addition to material aid where needed, Canon Manseau stressed the factors of adjustment, guidance and encouragement extended by trained workers in the Social Service field.

Some areas of Newfoundland are "over-populated with moose" despite the annual kill — says Harry Walters, director of wild life.

Two Fire Calls At Outset of 'Prevention Week'

Fire Prevention Week got off to a bad start in Ayersville on Tuesday, when members of the Lachute firemen answered two calls within several hours.

The first summons was turned in around 4.45 p.m., when fire was discovered in a shed owned by a Mr. Filiatrault on Ayers Street. The shed was being used for the storage of a large amount of furniture and oil, one tank of which ignited, stimulating the flames in their damaging work.

Police Chief F. Trepanier reported that investigation following the fire indicated it had been started by children playing with matches.

The Paquette residence, also on Ayers Street, was the scene of the second fire around 9.20 p.m., when a large pot of grease ignited. No serious damage resulted, and the fire was quickly extinguished.

Annual District Appeal For Salvation Army

Geo. Y. Deacon, chairman of the Salvation Army campaign for this district, reports that many local residents have been contacted by letter advising them of the annual appeal, and that contributions have already started to come in.

It is hoped that the objective of $1,000 will be topped, as it was last year. Contributions may be made either by mail or in person to president, Geo. Y. Deacon, or to Donald M. Hay, treasurer, at the Bank of Montreal, Lachute.

Car Dives Into Gulley

A 1951-model car, driven by John Lafortune, 22, of Lachute, and owned by Jacques Leblanc, of St. Philippe, was demolished Sunday evening as it swerved out of control in the North River Settlement.

The accident occurred around 9.45 p.m. Sunday, when the auto left the road and followed the Wilson gulley, dropping some 30 feet, to end upside down in the water-filled ditch.

Neither the driver nor his passenger was injured.

Traffic Officers Albert Legault and Lawrence Cruise investigated.

Historical Society Year's Highlight, Annual Meeting at Carillon Museum

The annual meeting of the Historical Society of Argenteuil County was held Saturday at the Carillon Museum, an unusually large number of members attending.

The meeting, ably chaired by the president, Mrs. G. McGibbon, put through a large amount of business. The report of the custodian, Mr. T. Lund, showed a continued increase in the number of visitors during the season, over 2,700 being recorded in the guest book, including visitors from all parts of this continent and overseas.

Many donations were added to the collections in the Museum.

In accordance with notice of motion of last year, a committee headed by the vice-president, Mrs. N. Holland, presented a report on the amendment of the constitution, which, after discussion, was adopted together with a number of amendments to the amendment.

The slate for the annual election was presented by the chairman of the nominating committee, Miss Mildred Douglas, and adopted: The officers were returned to office, with the exception of the following additions or changes:

Honorary president, Mr. Mac Walker; second vice-president, Mr. Russell Graham; new directors, Mr. L. T. Porter and Mr. Fraser Watson; legal secretary, Mr. Fernand Legault, Q.C.

Dr. V. Jekyll, of St. Jerome, spoke briefly on the history of the Argenteuil Rangers. A motion was passed instructing the executive to take up the matter of a special committee to have charge of the military collection.

After the business meeting, Mrs. Phoebe MacKellar gave an original dramatic monologue on Madeleine de Verchères. In 17th-century French costume, Mrs. MacKellar, with her vivacity and charm, as usual delighted her audience.

The ladies of the Margaret Rodger Memorial W.M.S. then served tea.

The beautiful autumn weather contributed to the success and enjoyment of this occasion.

Robbery at Restaurant

The theft of money from another Main Street establishment was reported Tuesday morning by Gaetan Laforest, proprietor of the "Buffet au Gai Temps." Police report that the building was apparently entered around 3.20 a.m, Tuesday — an estimated sum of $124 cash, also a considerable quantity of cigarettes, and chocolate bars, being stolen.

There were no apparent signs of forcible entry into the building.

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK, OCTOBER 7 - 13

Special Postage Stamps Issued

Traditionally Fire Prevention Week is the full calendar week including October 9, anniversary of the Great Chicago Fire of 1871. It is observed at the same time in Canada and the United States by proclamation of the Governor General of Canada and by the President of the United States.

This year, in further commemoration of its observance, the Canadian Post Office Department during this week has issued its first special Fire Prevention Stamp.

The 5-cent stamp is in two colors, black and red. It was first suggested by the Association of Canadian Fire Marshals — representing the fire authority of each of the 10 provinces — with the support of the Canadian Association of Fire Chiefs, and other fire service organizations.

As the Postmaster-General, Hon. Hughes Lapointe, said in announcing the issue, it will "emphasize the importance of reducing the needless waste caused by preventable fires" . . . DON'T GIVE FIRE A PLACE TO START!

Brownsburg To Re-name Its Streets; Serious Move to Adopt Town Status

Brownsburg — The big news in Council is that, after talking about it for years, the Council is moving along in its bid to be erected to a "town". As a first measure the Council passed a motion to re-name all streets and number all dwellings. . . Mayor Dorius Lepine called for a special meeting this month to execute the deed, and it is felt that in the very near future only Main Street and Maple Avenue will retain their present names. Bank Street will be 1st Avenue S.W., and the extension to Bank Street will be 1st Avenue N.W. The Legion Hall Road would be 1st Street S.E. similarly, all other streets will be named "Avenues" if they run north to south and "streets" if east to west.

This much will be done, whether or not the more decisive steps will follow. Secretary-Treasurer Charbonneau wrote to the Ministry of Municipal Affairs and the advantages and disadvantages of erection to a town, are outlined in a brief which they sent for the Council's perusal. The Mayor suggested that, before discussing the matter, the brief should be published in the local newspapers and that councillors should discuss the matter with the townsfolk (sorry, "villagers") before any official discussion. It is understood that the local newspapers will carry the outline next week.

Fire Chief Arthur Robbins reported one fire at the home of Mr. Y. Laurin and a recurrence an hour later, on September 23. Chief Robbins said that the fires were caused by a very bad chimney arrangement, but he was pleased to relate that the owner had since built a new one. Mr. Robbins estimated the property damage at $400, but the Mayor added that water and smoke damage to clothes and furniture sent the total to over $2,000. The Fire Chief reminded the Council that for next year's budget the Fire Department would need 600 feet of 1½-inch 200-lb. test fire-hose. He asked that on this week, October 7-13 (Fire Prevention Week) the councillors should spread the gospel of fire prevention.

Police Chief W. Lepine reported four arrests, 17 calls, nine traffic violations, and one car accident, in which the damage amounted to $1,500.

The Council passed a motion taking some of the authority from the foreman and giving it to the secretary. In future only the secretary will hire help or authorize purchases.

Another motion was passed authorizing the payment of large sums — $758.25 to the Fire Department and $917.08 to the Provincial Health Department.

A letter from the Rotary Club asked the Council to study the matter of fluoridation. Mayor Lepine asked the Waterworks Committe and Secretary-Treasurer Charbonneau to dig into the matter so that it may be intelligently discussed at a future meeting.

Windstorm Casualty on Main Street

Shortly before noon on Monday a heavy gale of brief duration toppled trees and branches in areas surrounding Lachute. On Main Street East, these limbs from an immense elm on the property of Mrs. Robt. Miller crashed down on a car belonging to her daughter, Miss Lulu Miller, which was fortunately unoccupied — the owner having parked it at the curb only a few minutes previously.

Variety of Civic Business In Council Deliberations

Grant to Charities Federation, Valuation Roll Homologated

Having discussed a motion, an amendment, proposals from aldermen and suggestions from executive members of the Lachute Federation of Charities, it was passed on a 4-3 vote of the Council that the Federation be granted a $1,000 donation for their current financial campaign. Ald. Mozart Carriere abstained from the vote, and Ald. H. Stanley Church was absent from the session, presided over by Mayor Dr. F. Walter FitzGerald.

Mayor Dr. F. W. FitzGerald read a letter from Bernard L. Gosselin, chairman of the financial campaign of the Federation of Charities, outlining the work of that organization and stating, in part: "Last year, a request was made to the Town of Lachute, and the officers of the Federation noted with regret that the town ignored the appeal. The public is well aware of the substantial aid that the Town of Lachute has brought to its citizens in need; but only one of the agencies among the seven of the Federation has benefitted from this help, which means that the town as such has done nothing for the 'Loisirs', the blind people, the 'Ouvroirs' and the mentally retarded."

Mr. Gosselin was in attendance, as was Dr. Marc Papineau — the latter stating that this year the needs are greater, and "we hope that the Council will see fit to give $2,000 as an example for the citizens to follow."

Ald. Romain Desjardins stated that "the Council should give something," but thought that $2,000 was much too high for the budget. To this Ald. Dr. Roger Lavigne replied that it was the duty of the Lachute Council to give a substantial amount, as in the past year; the Federation has aided both French and English-speaking citizens, Catholics and Protestants alike, Dr. Lavigne accordingly moved that Lachute Town Council give a grant of $1,500 for the current campaign. The motion was seconded by Ald. Jules E. Charlebois and Ald. Desjardins once again voiced his approval, adding, "but we cannot exceed the limited funds available."

Donations Budget Exceeded

Ald. Desjardins then moved in amendment, seconded by Ald. Edgar Pollock, that the sum of $1,000 be donated. Mayor Dr. FitzGerald here voiced his approval at making a donation, but stated it was his duty to emphasize that this section of the budget had but a few dollars remaining for the year.

Mr. Gosselin pointed out that the donation could be voted, to be paid next year when funds could be allotted for it; but this was found to be at variance with the law on municipal finances.

The vote on the amendment found Aldermen Desjardins, Pollock, Laurin and Muir in favor, with Aldermen Dr. Lavigne, Charlebois and Mallette against, while Alderman Mozart Carriere voiced his displeasure at both the motion and amendment and refrained from the vote.

Mr. Gosselin and Dr. Papineau thanked the Council in the name of the Federation and the citizens of Lachute.

Roll Homologated

The discussion relative to valuations held at an adjourned meeting Friday evening, September 28, was continued, and two more figures were changed, after which Ald. Dr. Roger Lavigne moved that the roll be homologated as amended and presented to the Council for the year 1957. This was seconded by Ald. Mozart Carriere, and the motion passed unanimously.

Bond Issue

It was then moved by Ald. Romain Desjardins, supported by Ald. Mozart Carriere, than an interest rate of 4½ per cent per annum be set for the authorized By-law 202, and that the secretary-treasurer be authorized to sell the debentures over the counter at $100 plus accrued interest, as the case may be, in conformity with said by-law, and that he also be authorized to issue a temporary receipt, to be exchanged for bonds when printed and available.

Various Matters

It was decided that the necessary pipe required for waterworks on Evelina Street and Cruise Blvd. be purchased from R. McArthur & Son Ltd. at the price of $1.95 per foot, F.O.B. Lachute. The work will require some 450 feet of 6-inch pipe.

It was decided that a new recorder for the chlorination plant be purchased for the sum of $708, F.O.B. Lachute.

Several matters relative to the Police Department were tabled for further study.

Monday, October 8, was declared a civic holiday.

Caretaker Aledard Mallette was granted an increase in salary of $5 per week, retroactive for the past two weeks.

Church Anniversary Noted

It was then moved by Ald. Ross Muir, seconded by Ald. Romain Desjardins, and unanimously passed, that;

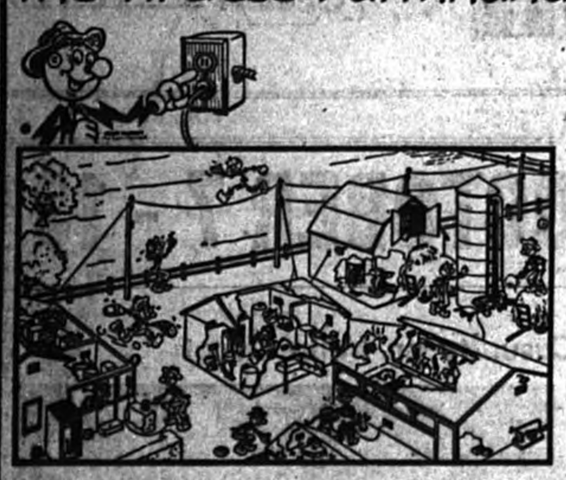

"Whereas on October 11, 1956, St. Simeon's Anglican Church is celebrating the 75th anniversary of the consecration of the first St. Simeon's Church in Lachute.

"Whereas this Council is deeply conscious of the many spiritual, cultural and material benefits that have accrued to the Town of Lachute throughout the past 75 years from the ministry of this church;

"Be It Resolved that the Corporation of the Town of Lachute offer its sincere congratulations to the rector, wardens, and congregation of St. Simeon's Anglican Church on the occasion of their 75th Anniversary."

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK — OCTOBER 7-13

An Alarming Record

IN THE LAST ten years, fires in Canada have taken a toll of 4,856 lives and have seriously injured 16,000 persons. The financial loss of 623,223 fires in the decade has been $800,000,000.

No less shocking is the picture of Canada's fire loss position in relation to other civilized nations. The latest available comparative international record of per capita fire losses, according to the office of the Dominion Fire Commissioner is as follows:

1.	Canada	$5.86	7.	France	1.06
2.	U.S.A.	4.56	8.	West Germany	.84
3.	Norway	2.44	9.	Ireland	.83
4.	Denmark	2.34	10.	Austria	.70
5.	Switzerland	1.70	11.	Netherlands	.69
6.	U.K.	1.10	12.	Puerto Rico	.48
			13.	Italy	.32

This was the unenviable record published in 1952 by a U.N. committee. Unfortunately, as the Joint Fire Prevention Committee of the Association of Canadian Fire Marshals and the Canadian Association of Fire Chiefs points out, Canada's record is worsening.

Figures for 1954 show our per capita loss to be $6.01.

Because most fires — and most deaths — are the result of human carelessness, public education is deemed the most effective way of combatting the menace, especially in the home, where most deaths tragically involve women and children — lives that might have been spared had the simplest rules of safety been followed.

Bringing the story directly to the public is the great army of Canada's 25,000 firefighters, professional and volunteer, who night and day must stand ready to face the tragedy of fire. The banner they bear reads: DON'T GIVE FIRE A PLACE TO START.

In the main, the hazards are carelessness and thoughtlessness. Who, for instance, striking a match, stops to think that it may destroy a whole community? Or who, inserting a 30-ampere fuse into an over-worked electrical circuit, considers that a family may be wiped out? . . . Of such can be the terrible price of somebody's carelessness.

That the battle of public education can eventually prevail, is the belief of the firefighters and many organizations which contribute unstintingly to the cause — this newspaper among them.

Question Mark on Fire Department

OCTOBER is rapidly passing, and with it passes an era of fire protection under Chief George Y. Deacon, whose resignation has been before the Council for more than three years. Several months ago, Fire Chief Deacon once again rendered his withdrawal, this time setting October 1 as a final date of acceptance.

The Council moved fast in deciding that the Police and Fire Departments would be combined as one, and then apparently left the problem in suspension. True, plans have been made for conversion of the Municipal Garage into a Fire Station, but work has not yet commenced. If the Fire Department is to work with any efficiency — whether we like it or not, at least three more men will have to be hired as policemen-firemen to ensure that a sufficient number will be on duty at all times for the trucks to answer a call. These men have to be trained, as have the present policemen, but as yet the Council's special committee has not made any recommendation as to who the new Fire Chief will be, to enable him to start training both himself and his men before October 31 rolls around.

The new Chief will have a big responsibility on his shoulders, especially if the job falls to Police Chief Fernand Trépanier, who will need to instruct his men in two jobs while learning one himself. At the same time, a number of the volunteer firemen presented a list of requests to this Special Committee — on which they have heard nothing and received no information, though the meeting took place a month ago.

Fire Chief Deacon has rendered invaluable service to the town and district of Lachute for more than 38 years, and the Council appears to be playing on the fact that Mr. Deacon and his men will not leave the town without adequate fire protection. We too are confident this will not happen, but we do not feel that the fact should be taken for granted. Over the many years Chief Deacon has been at the helm of the department, expenditures have never exceeded $8,000, but the estimated figure for next year is in the neighborhood of $35,000. Council is faced with the responsibility of getting this new department in operation before October 31, else they will be taking advantage of a man who has already done far more than his civic share.

Fast and decisive action is called for, in order to give the new men a chance. Other important matters have been decided by the present and past Councils, and it is time to accelerate dealings in the administration of our Fire Department.

Federation of Charities Starts Second Mile

WITH A YEAR in retrospect, and a firmer grasp on the charity needs of this community, the Lachute Federation of Charities embarks this week-end on its second annual campaign for funds.

The financial facts are interesting: In its initial appeal in 1955, the newly-formed Federation set a target of $16,300, but so loyal were the canvassers, and so enthusiastic the response, that the total subscribed was $19,596.45. During the year's experience, amounts expended on charity works from this fund were $17,532.20 — including minimal costs of operation and administration.

The objective this year has been increased to $18,400, and we are confident — with the public-spirited Charities executive — that this amount will be well over-subscribed.

The major campaign advertisement carried in The Watchman last year featured the illustration of a needy mother and two children. In a similar advertisement this week, the appeal is little changed, but the picture portrays a youth with cigarette dangling from his lips; and an unwritten tag of "potential delinquent" might hang from his lapel.

To the readers of these columns, one picture speaks as eloquently as the other. For in this youth one recognizes a possible neighbor, who, but for the constructive influences which command his thoughts might collectively present an unsavory segment in our community — in ANY community — a threat to property, peace and morals. . . The support of parish playgrounds and recreational activities is only one phase of charity in which the Federation plays a part. Need it be emphasized that — whatever our religion, social status, or place of residence in this town — we are very personally concerned with the character and conduct of our younger citizenry?

This and other considerations may well direct our generous response to the Federation of Charities campaign.

A Fragrant Garden

IN THE LONG, still, autumn days a Canadian garden of scent, sound and touch is giving pleasure to hundreds to whom the brilliance of fall on gold and scarlet-clad hills means nothing.

Beside whispering pines and rustling aspens the guests and residents of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind in Toronto walk on specially-textured paths amid the scent of nicotine, stocks and thyme. They reach into raised beds and touch petunias, geraniums and velvet-leaved kitten's paw.

Their feet follow tile walks to benches near the fountain with its abstract design in white Italian marble, whose waters, fed in from a height, drop with the sound of a waterfall. A small model of the fountain is mounted nearby on a pedestal so that the blind may feel it and know what the fountain is like.

Two years of work went into this garden, unique in Canada, planned and executed by the Garden Club of Toronto. The Fragrant Garden with its 10,000 plants was made possible by donations from more than 500 persons.

The first Fragrant Garden was planted in Bristol, England, and since then similar gardens have been built in Britain and the United States. For Toronto's beds, gift bulbs from Holland and roses from Britain were planted by some 200 sighted persons who worked on the garden.

For those to whom the appeal of gardens and gardening is primarily visual, it is revealing to wander along the raised, sun-warmed beds where tags in braille and in print give the scientific and common name of the plant near at hand. Their beauties are for more than the eye, and many a sighted gardener goes away with a fresh approach.

Thousands of visitors from all over the world have visited this garden, which was officially opened in early September. Many of Canada's sightless who love plants and flowers do not live in Toronto, and it is to be hoped that similar gardens will be planned for other parts of Canada.

A FEW DAYS of warm Indian Summer when the leaves are at the peak of color is without a doubt the most beautiful season of the year. It is as if Nature had made a special effort to give us everything possible in the way of beauty and warmth before the cold winter sets in — states the Stanstead (Que.) Journal.

A GOOD HUNTER is always on the alert to the signs and sounds of the wildlife for which he is hunting. He should also be alert against the shortcomings of human nature that are brought on by the excitement of the chase, not only in other hunters but also in himself; and he should never allow that sense of alertness to become dulled by the use of alcohol.

Then, if we don't look to awful, they let us go and get our brekfast. The meals are very good and Im putting on wait I think cause Im having a hard time to do up my pants. I dont spose that will make you and dad very happy sinse you just got me new pants to come down here with and Ive grone out of them alreddy .

"After brekfast, we go back to our rooms and make our beds. I guess that will come as a shock to you. I need hardly tell you it came as a shock to me to. But I can make my bed a lot better than Stinky Gates so thats something. Then we go to chaple for the morning servise which is taken by the school chaplin. He also teeches divinity and latin and so I get him for a teecher to sometimes.

"As you mite expect we have school all day till happast 3 and then we have sports. After sports we get a shower and then go to supper. This afternoon I had a shower after socker and its also my night to have a bath. I asked the moniter if I had to have a bath sinse Id had a shower and all he said was yes it doesnt matter if youve had 50 showers and a duzzen baths if its your turn for a bath you have to have it. So I spose Ill have to have it cause hell be standing right over me with a stick to see that I do and a swat on the rear with a stick when its wet hurts more than when it isnt.

"Well, after supper we have study and then we get sent to baths and bed. Youll be glad to know we get shoved in bed at 9 wether we like it or not. Need less to say we don't think much of that idea.

"So thats what school is like and as I have run out of news I guess Ill stop. Added to that Mr. J. said we only had to write a page and a half and Ive done to which is more than I should.

"Goodbye for now with lots of love and kisses, your son

"P.S. — Mr. J. says my spelling and writing are attroshush. I wonder what he means by that?"

Deplores Callous Practice Campers Abandoning Pets

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Gouin Blvd. W.,
Saraguay, Que.

Editor, The Watchman:

Dear Sir,

Last fall I was told of several instances of cats and kittens being abandoned on the Dunany Road at the end of the summer season. This is an extremely cruel and callous practice. It is absurd for people to say some kindly farmer will take these animals in and give them a good home, practically every farm owns more cats than they can properly feed. People should realize when they take an animal they are responsible for it and if they cannot keep it should see it is humanely destroyed, not left to a probable slow death from cold and starvation.

Could you bring this matter to the attention of the public in The Watchman? If enough public opinion were aroused it would go a long way towards stopping these cowardly and selfish acts.

Thanking you for any assistance you can give towards preventing this cruelty.

Yours very truly,

(Signed) Observer

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

When the atomic bomb first swaggered on the world scene, everybody shrank away in horror.

Now some people are beginning to treat the bomb like an old friend that may have uncouth manners, but is really a good creature at heart, and doesn't mean any harm.

Britain set off the big bang recently at her Australian proving-ground. The display did not impress Major-General Ivan Dougherty, New South Wales chief of civil defence, who said that an underground shelter with three feet of earth or concrete in the roof would give ample protection.

Panic is the chief danger, he said.

• • •

Major-General Dougherty reminds me of the sort of man who keeps assuring people that his large, grim-looking dog is the gentlest beast alive, and wouldn't hurt a flea.

As the man speaks, his old pal charges at you with jungle ferocity and clamps a death-grip on the fat part of your leg.

"That's strange," the man says, "I never knew him to do that before. I'm very sorry."

You may accept his apology, but it is too late to get your leg back.

We feel the same about Maj.-Gen. Dougherty and the atom-tamers who have learned to know and love the nuclear bomb.

• • •

We're just a bunch of poor old laymen, but a lot of us still believe that the bomb can bite.

Even if we accept the assertion that a dugout with a three-foot roof is a safe haven — which is probably wrong — there is still room for grave doubts.

Few shelters exist. And if they did exist, how many people would be in them when the bomb burst? The atom may hit a nation without warning, either from an intercontinental missile that goes thousands of miles an hour, or from a box planted in a ship, or a suitcase.

Thanks all the same, General. With due respect to your knowledge, some of us would rather take the word of Professor Einstein, who warned that atomic war meant race suicide.

It DOES matter which Oil Burner you buy!
If you're in the market for an oil burner, there are dozens for you to choose from. They all look very much alike. They all burn oil. Some are pretty efficient, others less so. But, unless you're an engineer, there's no way for you to decide which burner is best for your needs, except by insisting on one made by a reputable, long-established manufacturer. Like Smart's, for example. We recommend Smart's series "A" oil burners because when we sell one we know that the customer is going to be satisfied with the deal, for a long time. If that seems to you to be a good reason for buying a Smart's oil burner, let us show you the complete range, and tell you all about them.

Dry Cows

Ever hear of a top-notch boxer or runner who didn't build up for a match with the right diet and exercise? Your cows that will calve this fall and winter need the right kind of diet, too, if they are to do their best.

The first step is to dry them off two months before due. Take off their silage and milking feed for a few days. Stop milking and don't milk again for 7 days, unless the udder shows painful swelling. Pressure in the udder causes the system to "turn off the milk". At the end of 7 days, milk out clean, and your cow is dry.

Now put her on PURINA DRY COW FEED. Either DRY & FRESHENING straight, or if you have grain, use Dry & Freshening Mixer with the grain. Feed one pound for every 100 lbs. of cow per day, more if she is thin.

This special dry cow ration puts on solid milk-making flesh — builds her up. This extra flesh will make more milk after freshening. The extra milk should pay you back 3 or 4 times the cost of the feed.

Try a few of your freshening cows on this plan, and see the difference!

Won't you give us an order today for a supply? We deliver.

Contract Given, Work Started On River View Water, Sewers

A contract for excavating earth and the laying of sewer pipes needed to complete the McGibbon "River View" subdivision was granted to T. P. Hall, of Brownsburg, at an adjourned meeting of the Lachute Town Council held last Friday evening. The contract connected with the accepted part of the tender totalling $23,137.87, was signed by Mayor Dr. F. Walter FitzGerald and Secretary Treasurer Jacques Poitras on Tuesday, and the preliminary work commenced yesterday.

A partial break-down of the two tenders received from Mr. Hall and the firm of H. J. O'Connell Ltd., is as follows:

H. J. O'Connell Ltd.

(1) Trunk sewer on Brownsburg Road and discharge into North River:

Labor, machinery, tools, etc.	$9,402.40
Pipes and all materials needed	$4,940.00

(2) Sewer on McGibbon "River View" subdivision:

Labor, machinery, tools, etc.	$9,953.25
Pipes and all materials needed	$4,812.32

(3) Waterworks on Brownsburg Road and in McGibbon "River View" subdivision:

Labor, machinery, tools ,etc.	$11,912.00
Pipes and all materials needed	$8,719.14
TOTAL	$49,739.11

In the event that both sewer and water pipes are laid in the same trench, a rebate of $2,000 will be cut from this tender and a clause was added that a charge of $7 per cubic yard would be made for rock, stipulating that any boulder bigger than 1-cubic yard will be considered as rock. The tender was accompanied by a certified cheque for $5,000.

T. P. Hall

The tender with the same breakdown submitted by T. P. Hall, Brownsburg, reads as follows:

(1) Labor, machinery, etc.	$7,770.95
Pipes and all materials needed	$4,695.87
(2) Labor, machinery, etc.	$5,128.93
Pipes and all materials needed	$3,542.12
(3) Labor, machinery, etc.	$4,905.97
Pipes and all materials needed	$12,483.42
TOTAL	$37,527.28

A clause stated that in the event that both pipes were laid in the same trench, $515.20 would be subtracted from the tender, and a certified cheque for $3,760 accompanied the tender.

Mr. Jas. W. McGibbon was in attendance at the session and suggested that the Council consider putting in the sewers using the Corporation employees, adding that his company would pay cash as the work progressed.

Tenders were then read on pipe prices, including all pipe and fixtures (fire hydrants not included) necessary for the completion of the work:

R. McArthur & Son Ltd.	$12,780.30
Anthes Imperial, Winnipeg	$12,770.00
Vaughan-Shaw	$9,926.08

The various prices were considered, and it was decided to hold the matter over until Friday evening, when, after further discussion, the contract was awarded to Mr. Hall, agreeing that the Corporation employees lay the water pipe, which is to be purchased from R. McArthur & Son Ltd. It was pointed out that the lower tender was for a different type of pipe and did not include the special joints necessary, which would bring the cost higher than the other prices submitted.

At the adjourned meeting, it was moved by Ald. Dr. Roger Lavigne, seconded by Ald. Ross Muir, that the deposit cheque of $5,000 in connection with the tender for waterworks and sewer installation on Brownsburg Road be returned to the firm of H. J. O'Connell Ltd.

Ald. Edgar O. Pollock, seconded by Ald. Judes E. Charlebois, moved that the Council accept from the firm of A. D. McGibbon & Sons Ltd. the sum of $8,671.05 and that the secretary-treasurer be instructed to have such monies deposited in a special account to be used exclusively to pay for the sewer to be built in the McGibbon "River View" subdivision.

Ald. Mozart Carriere moved, seconded by Ald. Ross Muir, that the Council acknowledge receipt from A. D. McGibbon & Sons Ltd. the sum of $2,493.36, this being their contribution of 20% towards cost of the trunk sewer on Brownsburg Road — all three motions being unanimously passed.

Ald. Mozart Carriere then moved that the following contract be granted Mr. Hall:

(1) The complete installation, including labor, use of tools and machinery, and the supplying of all pipes and material for the trunk sewer on Brownsburg Road and the discharge into the North River, for the price of $12,466.82.

(2) The complete installation including labor, use of tools and machinery, and the supplying of all pipes and materials, for the sewer line on the McGibbon subdivision, for the price of $8,671.05 — both contracts to be according to plans prepared by Engineer Paul Laliberté.

(3) The evacuation of a side ledge or shoulder to be made three feet wide and seven feet deep, and also the necessary evacuation for waterworks fittings such as hydrants, etc., for the sum of $2,000 — the work to proceed immediately but only after the signing of a contract;

That the Mayor and secretary-treasurer be authorized to sign such a contract with T. P. Hall. It was stipulated in the contract also that the work was to be completed on or before December 8, 1956.

Rink Affairs At Brownsburg

Brownsburg — The new skating season opened in Brownsburg on Thanksgiving week-end, and all sessions were very well attended. The new season tickets are on sale now and the slight increase in price is unlikely to reduce the number of holders. The new prices are $5 for a child, $8 for an adult, $12 for several children in the same family, and $15 for a family ticket. When it is considered these tickets are good for six months, the prices certainly are not out of line.

The rink committee is planning something special for Hallowe'en. It is intended to award prizes for the best costumes in the evening skating session, which will make it masquerade skating, and when the normal session ends, a mocassin dance will be held on the ice surface. An orchestra will be hired and for the teen-agers the music is expected to be "real cool"!

The refreshment concession this year will be leased again to André Pilon, and on the same basis as last year — a 50-50 split of net profits.

There is no news as yet from the hockey teams. There was even a report flying that last year's Quebec-Ontario Hockey League will not re-convene. This puts a question mark on hockey plans, but it is certain that Brownsburg at least will have a team, of a calibre at least equal to last year's, perhaps better.

AMONG THE CHURCHES

Ottawa Valley Rally Held at Lachute Baptist

The churches of the Ottawa Valley Association were well represented when over 200 people met in Lachute Baptist Church for their Fall Rally last Monday. Nineteen pastors were in attendance.

Present to lead the meetings in song was Mr. Jacques Daccord, of Montreal, president of the district F.B.Y.P.A., while the Rev. E. S. Kerr, of Snowdon, Montreal, was the chairman.

The Rev. Lorne Heron, of Val d'Or, as main speaker, brought challenging messages in the afternoon and evening. The Rev. Wm. Frey, of Verdun, recently from Switzerland, spoke briefly. Messages in song were ably rendered by the Rev. John Coyle, of Orangeville, Ont. Dr. Alfred Weiner, concert pianist, gave his own renditions of several well-known hymns. The Rev. John Coyle, regional president of the F.B.Y.P.A., brought a brief message to the young people.

Altogether a very enjoyable time of fellowship and blessing was experienced by all who had gathered together for the day.

September Activities At Brownsburg United Church

On Sunday, September 29, the annual Rally Day service was held at Brownsburg United, with Mr. C. J. Wheeler, the Sunday School superintendent, presiding, and the scholars taking part as usual. The reading was given by Judy Seary, and the offering taken by Linda Murdoch, Brenda Seary, Garth Hazel and Leslie Murdoch.

On September 19, the annual Harvest Supper took place, with an especially large attendance, despite the inclement weather. The ladies of the Senior W.A., with Mrs. B. Enlow as president, and all others who assisted, were kept busy for several hours, and the event proved a success.

On September 24, a travelogue was given by Nurse M. Barberie, of Dalhousie, N.B., under auspices of the Young People's Group. The duties of admission and ushering were attended to by Everett Clausen, Willow Dixon-Smith, Paul Villard, and Brent Ball, Linda Silverson and Louise Cyr. The event was opened by the Rev. Garfield Bruce, who made mention of the officers, namely, the president, Marlene Hebert; vice-president, Garth Hazel; treasurer, Linda Murdoch; and secretary, Jimmy Martin.

The speaker was introduced by Mrs. F. S. Kettyle. Miss Baberie, who has recently returned from a two-year stay in Europe — in her spare time, while nursing in various places, having travelled through 12 European countries, taking over 500 pictures — had many interesting things to tell. Due to the shortage of time, she was able to show only a part of the pictures taken in each country, which included many war-torn cities, now being rebuilt. Outstanding in colored photographs were the home of Robert Burns, the famous Scottish poet; Scottish highlanders; the Shakespearian country; Ann Hathaway's cottage, and many other interesting places. The evening proved a financial success, as well as being worthy of the many pleasing remarks voiced afterwards for the speaker. Mrs. C. J. Wheeler kindly provided the music for the evening, and Mrs. G. Bruce also deserves much credit for her untiring work with the young people. Mr. Dave Atkins proved of great assistance in loaning the projector and screen and running through the pictures.

A vote of thanks to all who had assisted was extended by the president, Marlene Hebert.

Illustrated Lecture Of High Local Interest

Under auspieces of the Women's Missionary Society of the Margaret Rodger Memorial Presbyterian Church, the Rev. Harold Reid, of St. Andrews East, will give an illustrated lecture on "The Early History of Presbyterianism in Lachute." This interesting program is arranged for Tuesday, October 16, at 8 p.m. in the Sunday School hall. Dr. Reid has gathered some interesting pictures dating back to approximately the year 1830, which should prove most interesting to the people of this district. All are welcome.

Confirmation Rites And Dedication at Trinity, Morin Heights

Morin Heights — Trinity Anglican Church was the scene of an impressive and inspiring service on Sunday morning when the Rt. Rev. John Dixon, Bishop of Montreal, conducted a Dedication and Confirmation service, assisted by the rector, the Rev. Horace G. Baugh.

A stained-glass window depicting the Last Supper was dedicated "to the glory of God and in memory of Mr. Reginald Minshall," a gift of the Minshall family, and C.N.R. associates. Two sanctuary chairs were in memory of Elizabeth Speake. The sanctuary, a splendid addition to the old structure, was dedicated as a gift from the members of the congregaton.

Eleven candidates were presented for Confirmation.

Following this service, a luncheon was held at the Bellevue Hotel, with the Bishop presiding as guest of honor.

Marriage Vows At Dunany

Nadeau - Crooks

A pretty wedding was solemnized on Saturday, October 6, at 3 o'clock, in the St. Paul's Church, Dunany, when Mr. Marcel Nadeau, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerard Nadeau, of Quebec City, took as his bride Miss Rhoda Joyce Crooks, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Crooks, of Dunany. The Rev. Canon C. W. P. Baugh officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a cocktail-length dress of white brocaded nylon over white satin, with short veil, and carried a bouquet of red Sweetheart roses.

Miss Marjorie Crooks, sister of the bride, was maid-of-honor, wearing a dress of turquoise nylon net. Miss Brenda Crooks, also a sister of the bride, was dressed in mauve nylon net. Both carried nosegays of yellow baby mums.

Mr. John Nadeau, brother of the groom, acted as best man, and the ushers were Mr. Sterling Woods and Mr. George Crooks, cousin and brother of the bride, respectively.

Mrs. C. W. P. Baugh played the wedding music, and during the signing of the register rendered two traditional selections, "O Perfect Love" and "I Love You Truly."

The bride's mother wore a street-length dress of blue crystalette, with white hat and accessories. The groom's mother was dressed in steel-grey with a blue hat and accessories.

A reception was held at the Golf Club in Dunany.

For their wedding trip Mrs. Nadeau wore a Winter-white suit with copper-colored accessories and a corsage of yellow roses. On their return the couple will reside in Montreal.

Reptilian DOG-TAGS

We are often amazed how aluminum gets around to unusual places. Who would think of looking for aluminum in the stomach of a Zululand crocodile! . . .

It seems when this croc was emptied, no less than 32 aluminum dog licenses were found in its stomach, which suggests that Zulu dogs are mighty careless. But it proves that aluminum is immune even to the formidable digestive juices in this reptile's insides.

Industry capitalizes on this resistant quality of aluminum when industrial fumes and other corrosive conditions present a problem: one of several reasons why this modern metal is in such heavy demand—and why Alcan is again increasing its already large smelting capacity.

Extracts of Condensed History to 1851 Revive Early Picture of Lachute, at W.I. "Publicity for County" Meeting

The meeting of Frontier Women's Institute, held last Tuesday night at the home of Mrs. J. Coney, Cushing, had a "Publicity for the County" theme, and the following article was read — furnished by Mrs. A. U. Meikle, of Ottawa, whose husband was born and lived the first few years of his life in Lachute. The several other articles presented were clipped from "The Free Press Weekly Farmer" — one regarding farmers in the Arundel district feeding calves for church funds, the other recording the statues for the Crucifixion scene being brought to Huberdeau for safety during the war years, and the beauties of Lost River. Sketches from the booklet, "The Water Highway of Argenteuil," by Mrs. Archie Graham, were also read.

HISTORY OF LACHUTE UP TO 1851

Extracts from document compiled by Mr. John Meikle and deposited in the Corner Stone of Henry's Church in 1851 — being a condensed history of Lachute from the arrival of the first settler in 1796 up to the year 1851, the year in which the said foundation stone was laid.

In the year 1796 a settler named Hezekiah Clarke, from Jericho in the State of Vermont, arrived in Lachute and was the first settler. He brought with him his wife and five children, three sons and two daughters. At that time Lachute was a complete wilderness, and Mr. Clarke had to transport his family on an Indian sled from St. Andrews, there being no road or track of any kind. During the first night they slept under some branches of trees hastily gathered together by Mr. Clarke to shelter his family from the night air. The next day, however, owing to Mr. Clarke's energy, they rejoiced in the shelter of a hut. Mr. Clarke remained the sole inhabitant of Lachute for two years, when he was joined by six families from the same place.

In a very short time these settlers were able to subsist on the products of the soil. It was about this time that Mr. Lane made the purchase from the Seignior of the Lands, known since as Lane's Purchase.

In the year 1800 the first day-school was opened with an attendance of from 30 to 35 scholars. This school house was built near the waterfall. It was in this year also that a Sunday School was established by the Rev. Thaddeus Osgoode from Boston, who is still living (1851) in Montreal and abundant in good works. From the arrival of Mr. Clarke, in 1796, up to 1801, the settlers were without any minister or missionary, yet to their praise be it recorded they were in the habit of meeting together every Sabbath for devotional exercises in prayer, and praise and the reading of a sermon by some orthodox Divine.

In 1801 the Rev. Mr. Quval ? (a question mark in the original manuscript seems to throw some doubt on that name) of the Methodist Church paid them a visit and administered the Lord's Supper in a barn. He expressed himself as well pleased with the attention and apparent piety and devotion of the settlers. No other clergyman of any other denomination than the Methodists visited Lachute until the year 1815, when the Rev. Mr. Bradford, an Episcopalian clergyman from the Front of Chatham, made them two visits.

In the year 1801 the first grave was opened, and the wife of Mr. John Hutchins interred.

The prices of provisions at this period were — for pork 7 dollars, beef 4 dollars, butter 1s/3d, cheese 7½d, Indian corn 1s/8d and wheat 5s/-.

The number of settlers had increased in 1803 to 30 families, of whom at this present time only one individual remains, viz., Mr. John Hutchins. During these early times in the history of Lachute the settlers had to endure great hardships and privations, having no roads, bridges, mills or stores. In conveying their grain to the nearest mill, which was at St. Andrews, they had to construct canoes, passing over what parts of the river were navigable and then carrying their canoes and their grain on their backs past the numerous obstructions caused by the rapids. They of course had the same fatigue to undergo in returning with their flour.

Their nearest market at which they could sell their produce or purchase their necessaries was St. Eustache, to which they had no direct road as we now have, but had to travel round by Grand Brulé to get to Belle Rivière and from there to St. Eustache. The present road by Cote St. Louis was discovered accidentally some time after, through one of the settlers, Uriah McNeil, having lost his cow, in searching for which after having travelled through the woods for miles they came across some cattle grazing. Towards night they followed the cattle and thus came out of the bush at the French Settlement in Cote St. Louis. On inquiring of the inhabitants if they knew where the North River was they replied that they did, and led them back by an Indian track, north four miles till they reached the North River, which they descended and thus reached their homes. They then continued to use this track as a much shorter road to St. Eustache than their former circuitous route by Grand Brulé.

In the year 1804 a mill constructed of wood was built on the north side of the river, nearly opposite to the present mills. In the year 1807 the Censitaires on Lane's Purchase were sued for rents by the Seignior, which action remained in court for seven years, then a decision was given in favor of the Seignior. The Censitaires, nothing daunted, appealed to the higher court and after five years more of litigation succeeded in having the former decision reversed.

About this time the roads were so far improved that wheel carriages were in general use in going to market.

In 1810 the first Scotch settler, Thomas Barron, Esq., arrived.

The best potash timber soon became exhausted and the new land beginning to fail in its productiveness, the American settlers gradually moved to other parts and their places were taken up, principally by emigrants from Scotland.

In 1809 a new grist mill and saw mill was erected on the south side of the river. In the years 1810 - 1811 the land was visited by a severe famine — provisions became scarce and very dear — pork 30 dollars per barrel. Had it not been that potash, which the settlers used to make in large quantities, fortunately advanced during the same years to from 17 to 18 dollars per 100 pounds, the people would have suffered more than they did.

In 1812, the year of the American War, the Militia roll numbered 150 able-bodied men. These were formed into three companies, two of which being regular militia and the other a company of Rifle Volunteers commanded by Mr. Phineas Hutchins — the other two companies were commanded by Captains Bixby and McNeil. These were all escorted to Point St. Claire by their Adjutant, Thos. Barron, Esq., and placed under charge of Colonel Kell, who commanded the division of Chatham, Grenville, Petite Nation and Lachute.

The first store was opened in Lachute by Mr. Robertson in 1813. In 1816 our school was established under the Royal Institution, with a government grant of 60 pounds per year for the support of its teachers. In 1813 and 1814 the Rev. Mr. Osgoode again visited the settlement and established a Sabbath School. In the year 1825 the first bridge was

PICTURES HELP

Vancouver (CP) — The "picture-while-you-wait" business has been adopted in forest fire-fighting in British Columbia. Aerial photographs are taken and developed aloft, the prints being parachuted to firefighters on the ground to help them plan their strategy. The pilots use cameras which produce finished photos in one minute.

Tips on Touring
By Carol Lane
Women's Travel Authority

More car radiators boil over in the winter than in the summer. Whenever I see this sorry sight, I'm willing to wager the car owner was penny-wise and pound foolish.

You can be sure your car's cooling system will be nice instead of neurotic during the coming months if:

1. You don't try to save pennies by having your radiator merely hosed out if it needs thorough flushing with a cooling system cleaner to loosen accumulated grease and scale deposits.
2. You don't try to get another year's use out of last winter's anti-freeze. (Last year's anti-freeze may eat away the cooling system this year.)
3. You don't scrimp on the amount of anti-freeze you order.
4. You choose a permanent instead of volatile anti-freeze. It's cheaper in the long run because it won't boil away during the first warm spell.
5. You heed your service station operator's warning to replace a weak rubber hose which has deteriorated on the inside. (If it bursts and your anti-freeze leaks out, you may have a major engine repair bill.)
6. You replace a slipping or worn fan belt immediately.

If you have been trying to "save" in any of these ways, be prepared to "boil over". Because your car's radiator no doubt will!

Interesting Venture, Farm Forum Sponsored

A debate "Resolved that the duties of a chairman are more difficult than the duties of a secretary," highlighted the program of the Quebec Folk School held recently at Ways' Mills, Stanstead County, in the Davidson-Pedersen home. Seven members of the folk school took part. The debate was judged by the visitors attending the nearby community hall, where a public program was arranged for the fifth evening of the school. The decision was very close. However, the affirmative side, led by Corinne McCallum of Cookshire, gained two votes, while the negative side headed by Rowena Sutton of Barnston drew only one vote. The debate chairman, Pete Pedersen, divided the audience into four groups for the judging, and one group declared it a draw.

Sponsors of the Folk School were local Farm Forums, community organizations and the Quebec Farm Radio Forum. Leslie Young, provincial Farm Forum secretary, was leader of the folk school and was assisted by Arch Jones of Macdonald College, who dealt with forestry.

Woodlot management was one of the main topics. Arch Jones, a forester and lecturer on woodlot practices, gave some pointers on the care of the farm bush, and conducted a tour of a local woodlot. Tuesday evening he showed colored slides depicting the Borgan Arboretum and logging practices in different areas.

Program planning and preparation for the Thursday evening debate took much of the remaining time. Participants were responsible for two public meetings during the week. In this way they gained first hand experience in conducting business meetings and providing entertainment for community gatherings.

A tour of the Lake Lyster fish hatchery provided an opportunity for the group to relax during the folk school.

By Gillian Pritchard, Canadian Press Staff Writer

Although Canadian buyers, wholesalers and manufacturers have been quick off the mark to bring us the newest styles in dresses and hats as soon as the fashion pace has been set in London, Paris and New York, we've always lagged when it comes to hair styles.

This state of affairs, however, is being remedied by the initiative of 18 Ontario hairdressers who have formed a Guild of Hair Design. It aims to show Canadian hairdressers what's new in hair artistry immediately the latest in cut, length and color are seen in the world's fashion centres.

Says Guild president William Snider, of Toronto: "At the moment we are lagging three months behind New York hair stylists. We're just picking up the bouffant look — and it's almost passé everywhere else."

The Guild, which hopes to become representative of the whole Canadian hairdressing trade, plans to hold a clinic for professional hairdressers at least once a year. New styles and techniques will be demonstrated by master hairdressers.

Wider Look

If you've studied the fashion magazines you'll already know about the wider look in hair styling. But Canadian stylists have modified the bouffant effect and we shall be wearing what they call "the slightly wider look."

There are no longer frills, fuzz and fussiness in hair styles today. A smoother, sleeker and more elegant look, which matches the mood of the Edwardian fashions now in vogue, is the order of the day.

Length of hair may be medium or slightly longer. Waves are blends rather than hard crests and curls are "pouffe" rather than slightly coiled.

Cold silver and platinum hair colors are out. Warmer shades of beige, ash-blonde and auburn are high fashion.

The new wide look is achieved by combing each strand of hair vertically and winding it round a roll stuffed with absorbent cotton. Incidentally, this method of setting dries much faster than the old pin-curl way.

Rainbow Choice

You can name your color when it comes to choosing new fall sweaters. One manufacturer is showing classic styles in 26 shades and dressmaker sweaters in 14.

Even the palest shades are practical in synthetic fabrics because of the ease with which they can be washed.

This year there is a noticeable trend towards dressmaker styles, with most of the detail in necklines. You can choose a deep V, shawl or turtle collar. Glittering with rhinestone, pearl and sequin embroidery, sweaters now go to all but the most formal parties.

Remember to buy the correct size with sweaters made from synthetics — they won't shrink. Press with a damp cloth after laundering and use the iron at rayon setting. Too much heat may glaze the fibre.

New, twin-thread nylons promise freedom from runs. If one thread breaks, the other will hold.

Fish Sticks at All Hours

Fish Stick Oven Dinner. — Golden brown fish sticks served with colorful fall vegetables will reap a harvest of compliments.

Fish sticks, those finger-length, oblong chunks of fish with the golden-brown crumb coating, make delicious eating anytime of day. Here are a few suggestions from the home economists of Canada's Department of Fisheries on when and how to serve these tasty morsels.

Serve fish sticks as the main course of a hearty breakfast.

For luncheon serve hot fish sticks accompanied by crisp potato chips and sliced tomatoes or a tossed salad.

Spread hot fish sticks with a little chili sauce and serve in toasted buttered rolls, as a snack.

Make fish stick hors d'oeuvres by cutting each stick into three pieces, heating, then spearing each piece with a colored toothpick. Accompany these tidbits with a choice of dips.

Serve fish sticks with baked vegetables as the main course of an oven dinner.

If you like added zip to your sticks, try one of the following sauces.

Apple Curry Sauce

1 Tart apple, chopped (about 1 cup), 1 medium onion, chopped (about ½ cup), 2 tablespoons butter, 1 teaspoon curry powder, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon flour, ½ cup milk.

Sauté the apple and onion in the butter for about 5 minutes or until soft. Blend seasonings with flour and sprinkle over the mixture. Add the milk slowly and stir constantly until sauce has thickened. Serve hot. Makes 1 cup sauce.

Piquant Mustard Sauce

2 Tablespoons butter, 1 tablespoon flour, 4 tablespoons prepared mustard, ½ cup commercial sour cream.

Melt the butter in the top of a double boiler. Blend in the flour. Stir in the prepared mustard and then the sour cream. Stir constantly until thickened. Serve hot. Makes ½ cup of sauce.

You can't go ALL-OUT If you feel ALL-IN

These days most people work under pressure, worry more, sleep less. This strain on body and brain makes physical fitness easier to lose—harder to regain. Today's tense living, lowered resistance, overwork, worry—any of these may affect normal kidney action. When kidneys get out of order, excess acids and wastes remain in the system. Then backache, disturbed rest, that "tired-out" heavy-headed feeling often follow. That's the time to take Dodd's Kidney Pills. Dodd's stimulate the kidneys to normal action. Then you feel better—sleep better—work better. Ask for Dodd's Kidney Pills at any drug counter. 53

Fashions

In a season dedicated to color it is surprising to see how black has taken hold and how the black suit is the winning suit in every category. Black waffle weave woollen is used in this model. It fastens with bright brass buttons and the buttons appear at the flaps of the high-placed pockets on the short, semi-fitted jacket. Seaming from under the arms converges toward the vertical slit pockets placed low on either side and there is a black velvet bow beneath the small rolled collar.

...or Hallowe'en

By Nancy Cleaver
"For Parents Only"

"The scarlet of the maples can shake me like a cry of bugles going by," wrote Bliss Carman in his "A Vagabond Song," while Joyce Kilmer once made this comment: "Main Street bordered with Autumn leaves, it was a pleasant sight."

As soon as the leaves begin to turn color, in countless homes small children are asking:

"When will Hallowe'en be here?"

This festival is not such a special day as Christmas or a birthday, but in the eyes of boys and girls it is very important.

Like Christmas it may be traced to a religious origin, although its special significance has been almost lost with the passing of time. The ancient Romans and the Druids in Britain, centuries ago, had an Autumn festival which had some likeness to Hallowe'en.

Then in the Middle Ages the Britishers believed that the spirits of the dead returned to this earth and visited their homes at this time. The word "hallow" means "holy" and "All Hallow E'en" was the holy or sacred night of this festival.

Witches and spirits don't cut a very big figure in our land except on October 31. Perhaps it is just as well. Threatening a child with a "Boogie Man" or "an old witch" who will "get you" is a pretty poor way to make him behave. The motive of strong fear controlling behaviour may have a bad effect not only on the child's nervous system today, but on the mental health of the adult tomorrow.

Families can have a lot of fun getting ready for Hallowe'en. Carving a Jack O'Lantern gives children pleasure far exceeding its cost. Care must be taken that the candle inside the lantern cannot set fire to clothing or curtains. If a child is carrying a small lighted pumpkin, it is just as well to substitute a flashlight for a candle in the interests of safety.

A large sheet of paper and colored chalk, crayons or paints, or a blackboard and colored chalk are excellent play material. Let your child draw his own Hallowe'en scene without interruptions or suggestions from you. The picture of the young artist may be rather weird in the effect, but the important thing is not the finished product but the good time the child has had carrying out this activity.

Dressing up and visiting neighbors' and friends' homes on Hallowe'en after dark is a custom followed by boys and girls in most communities. Children love to dress up. Here is an occasion when even grown ups can enter into the fun of impromptu dramatics.

A new kind of Hallowe'en is being celebrated in an increasing number of Canadian communities each year, where a "Shell Out!" for UNICEF project is being carried out. Instead of asking for a treat of candy, nuts or fruit for themselves on the evening of October 31, boys and girls dress up and collect money for the United Nations Children's Fund. Our two daughters, Rosemary and Nancy, were proud and happy to help in this activity in Peterborough and as a parent I warmly commend this idea. Further information will be supplied to interested individuals by UNICEF provincial representatives or by the Canadian UNICEF Executive Secretary, Miss Mary P. Carter, Room 4, 113 St. George Street, Toronto 5, Ont.

Since it began its work in 1947 UNICEF has helped children and mothers in one hundred territories and countries. Areas where assistance has been given have matched the value of money gifts to UNICEF with local goods and services. It is wonderful to know that among a wide variety of vital services, 120 plants for milk drying and pasteurizing have been equipped; over 43 million children have been vaccinated against TB with BCG; transport and insecticide have been provided to protect over five million people from malaria in Kenya.

When mother sees what fun the children have getting into their Hallowe'en outfits, she may resolve to keep a Costume Box for just such occasions. This is a marvellous resource for rainy day occupation and a great help to amateur dramatics. Then, too, if the contents of a Costume Box are added to from time to time, why, dressing up Junior on October 31 wouldn't be such a chore!

Q.W.I's Respond to Voluntary Services Need

Women's Institutes in Quebec are making a ready response to the current project of the Women's Voluntary Services, making up school uniforms for six-year-old boys and girls in camps in the Middle East.

A circular letter was distributed from the Q.W.I. office, to all branches, timed to reach them for October meetings. This explained the need for the clothing and explained the uniforms are ready cut, simply made and accompanied with clear instructions.

The W.V.S. is sending this appeal to various women's groups. It is evident by the orders already coming in from the Institutes that it is the practical type of project that appeals to country women.

Fire Prevention Week

Be absolutely certain your baby-sitter is capable of protecting your children in the face of an emergency. That's the warning to parents in Fire Prevention Week. And it goes without saying, young children should not be left alone. Scores of youngsters die each year in Canada because parents "just went next door for a minute," or "we knew they'd be all right; we've left them for a couple of hours before."

A few minutes' chat with the baby-sitter may save her life and that of your children. This may be difficult; parents may be rushed and "haven't time to stop right now." . . . But the lives of your children are more important than a slight delay in your arrival at the party.

Baby-sitters should be thoroughly fire conscious. Be sure they have the telephone numbers of the fire and police departments. Be sure, too, that the sitter knows the location of front and back exits, stairs and porches, and the most direct route from the children's rooms to the outside. If you're in a one-storey bungalow, explain to the sitter that in an emergency, it's quite all right for her to break windows, using chairs or other objects, to get the children out.

If the sitter seems sleepy when she arrives, it's better to send her home and get someone else — or to stay home yourself. A sitter who is fast asleep when fire breaks out is worthless.

If your home is heated by oil, coal or wood stoves, make sure the fires are made up before you leave. Don't leave it to the baby-sitter unless she is an adult.

She should know that at the first whiff of gas or smoke, she shouldn't waste time investigating. The best and safest thing she can do is get the children out of the house first of all. Tell her not to waste time dressing them but to wrap them up in a blanket or coat and get them out at once.

If she cannot reach your telephone safely and easily, then tell her to call the fire department by using the telephone in a neighboring house.

Be sure the baby-sitter knows where you are going, and how you may be reached in an emergency. Even if you are going to the theatre, the box office there will reach you.

Last winter, more than 50 Canadian children died in home fires, when their parents were out. In some cases, baby-sitters died too. In one case, parents had left four children in the care of a 15-year-old who was mentally defective. In several others, parents were charged and convicted of criminal negligence when it was proved they had spent hours in beverage rooms, leaving the children to fend for themselves.

But most bereaved parents sorrowfully reported, "We just left the house for a minute . . . "

A father called in his six-year-old daughter and explained to her that the gardener had found a lovely little sister for her early that morning in the cabbage patch, and asked her to write her older brother at boarding school and tell him the news.

Curiosity overtook the father and he read the letter before the postman picked it up. It read: "Dear Jack, you owe me a buck. It's a girl."

FOR PARENTS ONLY...

A Weekly Feature of Helpful Hints on Child Training

Long Live the Newspapers!

(Copyright) — By NANCY CLEAVER —

"All I know is what I read in the paper," Will Rogers once said with a smile. The regular arrival of a newspaper is taken for granted in today's world. Many parents seldom pause to think how much their family life is enriched by reading it and how the home horizons are extended to the farthest corners of the globe.

From time to time a special issue of a paper marks a historical event in the community and should be carefully kept with other family records. Most of the editors using our feature have been kind enough to place our name on their mailing list and these special editions have been a pleasure to read. The Barrie Examiner Centenary issue reflected a world where grandfather Craw served in the pioneer days as a Presbyterian minister. The Red Deer Advocate's historical issue was a delight to any Canadian. This year we join with many others in wishing the Grand River Sachem of Caledonia good wishes as it begins its second century of service.

Interest in a newspaper can begin at an early age. The little child is attracted by the pictures in a paper. He acquires information by the questioning method and it is amazing how many different questions he can ask! "The Chinese have an old saying about a picture being equal to a thousand words; it sometimes seems to me that our Junior can ask a thousand questions about one picture!" one weary mother exclaimed impatiently. Her friend suggested that she provide her small son with blunt scissors, a scrap book and paste so he could make his own picture book from old newspaper photos.

This is a worth-while activity for the child starting to school. When he learns to print, he can write his own captions under the pictures. Crayons can be used for borders. Color adds greatly to the attractiveness of pictures in a small child's eyes. Pictures of animals have a special appeal. H. I. Phillips once wrote of the reason why pictures of polar bears appear in the summer in these lines,

"When heat waves come to scorch the streets
And humid is the long-drawn day. .
Then editors in huddles go
And to the cameramen declare
Quick! To the zoo, for we must show
Some pictures of a polar bear!"

It is to the comic picture strips which most children turn at once in the paper. They want to laugh or thrill over the mishaps or adventures of their favorite characters. Unless they are encouraged to take a little more time, some boys and girls grow up reading little else in the press, except comics.

In the senior grades in elementary school, the scholars often compile a scrap book on Current Events. Many teachers give one pupil a turn each day describing one such happening. At the present time there is a ten year old and a twelve year old in our home. The younger girl's clippings are all on local events and the older girl's on world news. This is sound procedure because what is happening in the place in which a child lives is more vivid and easier to depict than far away events in other lands.

W. A. White once pointed out that the country newspaper rests entirely on the dignity of the human spirit. Because it emphasizes the individual, he called it "democracy embodied." Another writer, R. C. Holliday made a thought-provoking comment. "There is not in the press any reading so improving as the 'obits'. . . I doubt very much indeed whether any one could read obituaries every day for a year and remain a bad man or woman."

One of the fundamental psychological needs is to be assured of one's own value. The newspapers serve the community in giving men and women prominence who voluntarily contribute generously of their time and energy to the welfare of their fellow men.

Thus we say "Long live the local newspapers!" It was in a weekly column on High School News in the Fergus News Record that we received our first training in reporting. We knew the discipline of meeting a "deadline" — and we were confirmed in our belief that for us here was the most challenging and exciting work in the world. We owe far more than we can ever repay to editors who by their suggestions have helped us. Would that every aspiring adolescent journalist could have the experience, not just of visiting a newspaper, but of writing for it!

When lard or other greasy substances catch fire on the stove, smother the flames with a cushion, rug or anything which will keep air away from the blaze. Don't grab the hot pan and try to carry it out doors.

The tables were tastefully decorated with autumn leaves and small crysanthemums, which added a glow of color to the scene. A bountiful supper was served of the time-honored Thanksgiving menu, to which everybody did full justice. Those in charge, and their various committees, are to be congratulated on the success of this venture, which entailed much hard work. A substantial sum will be cleared; this will go towards the fund for new pews, which has now reached the sum of $400. The objective of the committee is $1,000 and the thermometer is going up slowly but surely.

Invest in the future...

THE LACHUTE FEDERATION OF CHARITIES, in its second annual campaign, comes to you as the corporate spokesman for FIVE well organized charities — each one of which has a record of achievement in AIDING the less fortunate and in BUILDING the future character of this community.

Here are those five enterprises; you are invited to study the Federation's prospectus on the nature and the extent of their works. . .

- SOCIAL SERVICE (Lachute Unit)
- LES OUVROIRS (Clothing for poor families)
- LES LOISIRS (Organized recreation)
- PLAYGROUNDS (Three local parishes)
- CANADIAN NATIONAL INSTITUTE OF THE BLIND (Argenteuil Section)

THE PROTESTANT community of Greater Lachute is solicited for support only in proportion to the Protestant beneficiaries from these funds . . .

The Federation does not expect your contributions to carry the burden of its wholly Catholic enterprises

THE FEDERATION OF CHARITIES combines the appeal of these five organizations in one plea for public support — one Campaign, which is launched annually in this community. The Federation approves the budgets, supervises the funds, and co-ordinates the functions of these charities. It keeps administrative costs and campaign expenses to a minimum — for this is a Public Trust of YOUR INVESTMENT in the future.

NEW POST FOR DREW?

Ottawa (CP) —

Hon. George Drew, forced by illness to drop the leadership of the Progressive Conservative party, has been urged by Prime Minister St. Laurent to continue in public life as a senator or in some other post.

Mr. St. Laurent told reporters last week he telephoned Mr. Drew, in hospital in Toronto, and expressed that wish to him.

He said he had not specifically offered Mr. Drew a Senate seat but indicated that was what he had in mind.

The prime minister, who is 74, said it would be a tragedy for Mr. Drew to be debarred from public service. He did not consider Mr. Drew's age — 62 — "is more than just ripe manhood."

One report here said Mr. Drew may be offered the job of Lieutenant - Governor of Ontario. The term of Lieutenant - Governor Breithauph expires next year.

The prime minister's statements were made a few days before last week's meeting of the Progressive Conservative Association national executive to plan a convention which will elect Mr. Drew's successor.

ELECTION AHEAD

Speculation that the next federal election will be next June — regarded by many as almost a sure thing — was given added weight by a few words from the prime minister in a press interview.

Mr. St. Laurent said there is "apt" to be the necessity for an election next year and June is the "best" month to hold one.

He also said the next session of Parliament won't start until after the New Year and is "apt" to be short. He emphasized that he wasn't announcing a June election — but in order to have one then the session would have to be over early.

Some observers believe the session may open in mid-January with the budget brought down in February and the session ending in late March or early April. Speculation on election dates has centred on June 10 and June 17.

UNDERSEA PHONING

Communications history was made here recently with the opening of the first trans-Atlantic telephone cable between North America and Britain. Some 200 guests at a ceremony listened in on the first conversation between high officials in London, New York and Ottawa in a three-way hook-up.

The cable was hailed as a big advance over present trans-ocean radio telephone, which is subject to atmospheric disturbance and enemy jamming in wartime. The cable conversations were said to be as clear as phone calls made across the street. The cost: $12 for three minutes, the same as radio - telephone charges to Britain.

The $42,000,000 cable was a joint venture by the British Post Office, American Telephone and Telegraph of the United States and the crown-owned Canadian Overseas Telecommunication Corporation.

Thirty-five voice channels are available — six of them to Canada, which also has 11 telegraph circuits through the cable.

"Want some help with your homework, Dad?"

It's a good thing young Ted is only joking. His dad is studying the needs of families like yours for financial protection. If he took Ted up on his offer, the boy would be overwhelmed by problems about managing family incomes, succession duties, protecting a business against losses caused by the death of the owner, and other matters.

Ted's father is a modern life underwriter. Today, life insurance representatives not only study better ways to provide life insurance protection — they seek a real understanding of people's needs, and shape plans to meet these needs, which differ with every family.

You'll find today's life insurance man a good man to know. His progress reflects the many ways in which the life insurance business has developed with the times to meet your changing needs!

MUSIC PUPILS READY AS SCHOOL REOPENED

Victoria (CP) — More than 100 Victoria junior high school pupils were all set when the school term reopened — they had been taking music lessons during the vacation.

These pupils, 110 wind instrument players and 45 string players, attended morning classes five days a week provided by the Greater Victoria school board.

To a large degree, the summer band and orchestra school provides the solution to a problem troubling school music teachers in most parts of Canada. It enables pupils to consolidate progress made during the regular school term and also encourages them to keep up regular practices.

The program, launched 10 years ago, has improved the quality of school music in Victoria. Two years ago the Victoria junior high school band topped the famous Vancouver Kitsilano Boys' Band at the Vancouver music festival.

During the summer the S. J. Willis junior high school band travelled to Waterloo, Ont., where they topped five Ontario bands at a music festival.

"Face Facts" — and Assure Forest's Future

Trees and Tree Farming Provide A Cash Crop

WINNIPEG—Right now the forest industries are Canada's biggest business. The woods Operations, the pulp and paper companies, and the lumber mills together produce goods valued at some $4 billion a year. They employ close to 400,000 people and they annually pay out some $1¼ billion in wages, more than any other Canadian producer. In addition, they account for a third of the nation's exports.

To do all this, the forest industries annually harvest a whopping 40 million cords of wood and purchase another $500 million of mill supplies and agricultural products. Yet within the next 25 years it is estimated that the wood harvest will increase to some 65 or 70 million cords. Forestry is big business now, but it's going to get a lot bigger.

These were the forest facts revealed at a National Forestry Conference held in Winnipeg this month. The Conference, attended by 150 representatives of leading national organizations studied the future of Canada's forests, especially how they should be used, managed, and conserved.

The conference was sponsored by the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, the Canadian Forestry Association, the Engineering Institute of Canada, and the Canadian Institute of Forestry. Its purpose was to bring together forestry experts, business men, government officials, and civic representatives to discuss ways and means of improving forest farming in Canada. The principal speaker was the Hon. Jean Lesage, Minister of Northern Affairs and National Resources, Ottawa.

J. L. Van Camp, secretary of the Conference and general manager of the Canadian Forestry Association called upon the Conference to frame a new forward-looking forest policy that will encourage forest management.

"Forest conservation should never mean forest preservation," said Mr. Van Camp, "there is no point in permitting trees to grow, mature, die, and then rot. The best kind of conservation is firmly rooted in management, that is the growing and harvesting of trees on a perpetual yield basis, just like a farm crop. In this way we can keep our forests green forever, and yet reap a valuable harvest from them—a harvest that generates wealth for every Canadian."

Speaking on the Tree Farm Movement, Mr. Van Camp said it is the most important single step that individual Canadians have taken in active forest management. Hundreds of small and large private woodlot owners now display the Tree Farm sign as certification that they are growing trees on a managed basis to provide continuous crops, and that they are protecting their woodlots against fire, insects, and disease.

The Tree Farm Movement was initiated and sponsored by the pulp and paper industry and is administered by the Canadian Forestry Association. Anyone with a woodlot they are prepared to manage can apply for certification as a tree farmer.

About this time Thos. Barron, Esq., was appointed a Magistrate.

The settlers were supplied with gospel ordinances by the ministers of the Methodist Church and by the Rev. Mr. Henderson of St. Andrews, and in 1831 the Rev. Brunton was inducted into the pastoral charge of the congregation of Lachute in connexion with the United Session Church.

About this time also the first doctor arrived in the settlement — Dr. McDowell — who, however, did not remain long. Previous to his coming the settlers had enjoyed the services of a Mr. Ellis, who though not a regular M.D., had considerable skill in medicine.

In 1833 a Fair was established in Lachute, by and on the premises of John Meikle, for the sale of cattle, etc.

In 1833 the government established a Post Office in Lachute.

In 1834 the Congregation of the United Secession Church built the first church in the settlement — the present stone church.

In 1836 another bridge was erected, commonly known as Barron's Bridge and mostly built at Mr. Barron's own expense.

In 1837 a third bridge was built, that usually known as Hutchin's Bridge.

The 12th day of August, 1839, the Rev. Mr. Brunton died, having labored diligently for the space of eight years — deeply and sincerely regretted by all classes of the community. In the year 1840 the Rev. Mr. Blood was inducted by the Presbytery of Montreal as pastor in connexion with the Established Church of Scotland. He, however, vacated his charge in the year following, and in 1842 the Rev. Thos. Henry was inducted as pastor in connexion with the Church of Scotland, who continued as such until August 1844, when by the general concurrence of the congregation and the expressed desire of their minister, the connexion of this congregation with the Established Church of Scotland, and united with the United Presbyterian Church of Canada.

In 1843 the name of the parish was changed by the authority of the Governor General, Sir C. Metcalfe, from Lachute to that of St. Jerusalem d'Argenteuil, but as Protestants do not entertain any great love for sainted places, it has not been generally acknowledged by its new name.

The settlement at this date, August 1851, is in a flourishing condition. The farmers are all comfortable and owners of the farms they occupy. The land is all cleared excepting that which is necessary to retain for fuel. Its privileges are numerous for a country place, having 4 stores, 2 hotels, 1 mill with 4 run of stones, 3 saw mills, 1 carding mill, 1 tannery, 3 places of worship (viz. Free Church, Seceders and Methodists), 1 daily post-office, 5 magistrates (viz., Messrs. Thos. Barron, Andrew Boa, John Meikle, Sam Hill and John Doig), 3 ministers (viz., Rev. Thos. Henry, of Free Church, Rev. Mr. Scott of the Seceders Church, and Rev. Coleman of the Methodist Church), 1 doctor (Thos. Christie), 1 Colonel (Thomas Barron), 4 Captains (Messrs. Andrew Boa, Paul Doig, U. Jones and Thos. Pollock), besides nearly a company of cavalry in connexion with the St. Andrews troops, and an annual Fair, being the first of its kind established in Canada East, and a fair supply of mechanics.

Though the majority of the inhabitants are emigrants from Scotland and the place generally known as a Scotch settlement, yet there are a number of Americans, English and Irish, all Protestants — unanimous in politics — loyal to their Queen and friendly on all religious subjects.

Successful Semi-Annual Meet Of Argenteuil W.I. Branches

The semi-annual convention of the Argenteuil County Women's Institutes was held in the Lachute High School last Saturday afternoon.

The president, Mrs. M. Wilson, presided over the meeting, which opened with the singing of "O Canada".

The president extended a welcome to all present and called upon Mrs. M. Crosby to conduct the installation of new officers and conveners, at the close of which the new president was conducted to the chair.

The minutes of the annual convention and the board meeting were read and approved, followed by the treasurer's report.

Mrs. Geo. McGibbon introduced the guest speaker, Mr. Jarret, of Courtauld's (Canada) Ltd., who gave an interesting and informative talk on Viscose, a man-made fibre produced by processing cellulose (wood-pulp). This fibre can be woven or knitted into all-Viscose fabrics; or it may be used in combination with other natural or man-made fibres, to make blended fabrics.

Mr. Jarret stressed the fact that in the old days, silk, wool and cotton were the chief materials used. Nowadays they are multiple and no one knows the difference. The speaker also said that most manufacturers identify their merchandise with labels or tags that describe the nature and content of the fabric, and offer suggestions for care and cleaning, and that it is wise to choose merchandise that carries this identification.

At the close of the meeting many samples of various articles were shown. . . The speaker was thanked by Mrs. C. W. P. Baugh.

Business was resumed. The President asked for the report on Fair Work. All branches were in favor of contributing 25 cents per member and to continue exhibiting handicrafts at the Lachute Fair as long as the space in the building is available. Mrs. Campbell is to contact the Agricultural Society on this matter. Some members thought it should be compulsory, that every branch should have exhibits.

School Fair work was reported on by Mrs. McGeorge. As all branches do not participate in this venture, the W.I. would be pleased if some other organization or W.I. member or members, would sponsor this worthwhile project.

Two applications have been made for the Educational Emergency Fund and branches were reminded to send in their dues.

Branches were asked to give their full support to the Service Fund, and to send in their contributions in November.

A wreath is to be bought and placed on the Cenotaph for Armistice Day.

Morin Heights Branch was congratulated on receiving special mention on a hand-carved plaque of maple-wood made by a W.I. member. This is to be reserved as a special gift for Mrs. Berry, the A.C.W.W. president. It carries a design of the Q.W.I. crest.

Three Institute members had the distinction of being heard on the radio recently. Mrs. M. Wilson, Miss Davidson and Mrs. A. Graham.

The president spoke on the term of officers in branches. These are to be elected for one year and not more than two consecutive years — three years in all. She was sorry not to have the Dorset feather-stitching exhibit at this meeting, but hopes to have it on display at the annual convention.

Mrs. A. G. Leggett distributed "Cancer Warning Signals" and stated that over 36,000 dressings had gone out from the clinic recently.

Mrs. Cooke had W.I. and A.C.W.W. motto pins for sale.

There being no further business the meeting closed with the singing of the national anthem.

New Postmaster Appointed to Lachute Office

Florient Guitard, former postmaster at Brownsburg, on Tuesday commenced duties as postmaster in Lachute, replacing Eric Stephens, who for the past several months has been absent due to illness. Mr. Guitard was appointed to Lachute following a competitive examination of 25 applicants.

The new Lachute postmaster is 36 years of age, and has almost ten years' service in the Canadian Postal Department; all this period he has served in Brownsburg. Previous to this he was employed with the Bell Telephone Company in Montreal.

Married, with two children, he served in the RCAF as a telegraph operator and was a member of No. 309 Squadron, Coastal Command, in Scotland, where he served from 1940-45.

The local post-office staff now comprises of Mr. Guitard, postmaster, Roland Pilon, assistant; Frank MacLean, Claude Mayrand, Claude Dionne, Jacques Pharand, and Andre Leroux, clerks.

In the current year Canadian families will pay in taxation an average of $270 to their municipal governments, $400 to their provincial government and $1,360 to the federal government.

Of Special Concern To Brownsburg Readers

For the interest of Brownsburg residents, a special article is published on page 10 of this issue. Presenting authentic advice on the status of a Village and of a Town in the Province of Quebec, the information is provided by the Quebec Department of Municipal Affairs as a guide to such communities as Brownsburg, which is presently concerned with the pros and cons of a prospective change.

LIONS CLUB TO SPONSOR CONSTRUCTION OF ARENA

Debate and Study Crystallized in Major Decision on Major Venture

Will Look for Support from Various Community Sources

Big news to the small fry and teen-agers of Lachute comes out of this week's proceedings at the Lions Club — with a decision Tuesday evening to concentrate the club's service efforts in the construction of a covered skating rink — thus filling a long-felt want in this community.

The decision, long pending, has been pushed to a conclusion by the presidential, enthusiasm of Lion Jos. Dumais, himself a former hockeyist — ably encouraged by Ian Gordon, past-president, Dr. Eric Mongeon, noted local sports campaigner, and other stalwarts of the club.

The motion, sponsored by Dr. F. W. FitzGerald (Mayor) and supported by Dr. Mongeon, was carried unanimously. The resolution provides, in effect:

"That this club adopt a major service project;

"That it be agreed said project shall take the form of a community arena;

"And that a committee be appointed to study and report to the club within a month."

Named to the committee were Lions Ian Gordon, Bert Rigg, Horace Lamarche, Leopold Carrière, Donald M. Hay, Romain Desjardins, Geo. Y. Deacon, Dr. Eric Mongeon, Gerard Lefebvre and the president, Jos. Dumais.

It was made clear that the club will look for practical assistance from fellow organizations, to make this a truly community affair. Any expressions of support from town groups will be welcomed accordingly.

Tentative plans and drawings were circulated for perusal of the members, and Dr. Mongeon, in urging the adoption of this projec brought reports on similar ventures undertaken in towns he had visited on a recent holiday trip. "I do not think there is a town on the map which offers its children so little," he remarked, in viewing the meagre facilities available to Lachute's younger citizens.

There was a large attendance of members and guests, including L. A. McClintock, Canadian Institute for the Blind field service supervisor, who was guest speaker, and his colleague, Anthony Zaplaski, secretary for the Laurentian District. Also Dr. Marc Papineau (president) and Bernard Gosselin (campaign chairman) of the Lachute Federation of Charities, who spoke on behalf of the Federation's annual financial appeal.

Fire Chief to the Fore

Specially honored was Fire Chief Geo. Y. Deacon, who spoke on the theme of Fire Prevention. He cited "good housekeeping" as a deterrent to the spread of fire, as illustrated in the case of an outbreak this week at the woodworking shop of Roland Paquette (present in the hall on this occasion). Chief Deacon also spoke highly of the value of a short-wave radio donated to the Fire and Police Departments some years ago by the Lions Club.

In view of Chief Deacon's retirement, scheduled for the end of this month, a sincere vote of appreciation for his 38 years of community service was voiced by Dr. F. W. FitzGerald on behalf of the Lions Club — the sentiment being emphasized with hearty applause.

This successful and constructive meeting was chaired by the president, Jos. Dumais.

Other business was dealt with, which — with a resumé of Mr. McClintock's address — will be reported in next issue.

Linton Armstrong New Dis. Governor Of Rotary Club

At the annual conference of Rotary District 250, held in Kingston last Monday and Tuesday, Linton W. Armstrong, a member of the Brownsburg - Lachute Rotary Club, was unanimously chosen District Governor for the year 1957-58. He succeeds Governor W. B. George, of Kemptville, Ont.

Having served as director, vice-president and president of the local club, Mr. Armstrong is well versed in Rotary affairs. Moreover, he has had seven and a half years of 100 percent attendance. Locally he is well known as an insurance broker, and has been active in numerous community projects. For five years he served as president of the Lachute Community Concerts Association and the same period as Commissioner of the Laurentian District of the Boy Scouts Association. For six years he was secretary of the Argenteuil - Two Mountains County Central School Board. During the past two years he has been chairman of the Blood Donor Clinic of the Canadian Red Cross Society. He is an active member of the Lachute Curling Club and the Golf Club. A long-standing member of the Lachute United Church, he has been congregational secretary for 18 years and secretary of the Official Board for two years.

Rotary District 250 is a very large district, comprising more than 50 clubs. It is unique in that it embraces Western Quebec, Eastern Ontario and Northern New York State, being both inter-provincial and international. The District Governor has the task of visiting each club in his district during his tenure of office and of keeping all clubs in his district informed on all phases of Rotary.

Mr. Armstrong will take over his duties on July 1, 1957, the beginning of the next Rotary year. All members of the Brownsburg - Lachute club and many other friends will wish him every success.

Violinist Scores In Opening Recital Of Concerts Season

Opening the Community Concerts season for 1956-57, Robert Rudié, a deservedly popular violinist on the Columbia Artists personnel, was greeted with an enthusiastic reception at the High School auditorium here last Thursday.

The attendance at this concert might effectively demonstrate the continuing public favor for "live" music; it dispelled any suggestion that television is displacing this demand — a contention which enters annually into the job of membership campaigning for Community Concerts.

This artist proved an exception to the many performers whose personality appears spellbound in their craft. For besides his unquestioned artistry with the violin, Robert Rudié is gifted as a raconteur, is fluent in both English and French, and lightens his performance with a spice of humor.

Rudié's recital included compositions by that genius of the strings, Fritz Kreisler, by Mozart, Dvorak, Paganini, and the Spanish composer Manuel de Falla — most numbers being more or less familiar. Especially well known were three encore selections, Chopin's Nocturne in C Sharp Minor, Kreisler's Caprice Viennois (with those well loved phrases in two-string harmony, and a dexterous rendition of The Flight of the Bumble Bee (Rimsky Korsakoff).

Mr. Rudie's accompanist was William Dresden, whose collaboration gave finest effect to the violinist's performance. As a solo, Mr. Dresden played Chopin's Scherzo in C Sharp Minor (Opus 39), proving himself a master pianist. All numbers were warmly applauded.

The discourse which interspersed these musical treats pertained to the three violins which Mr. Rudié customarily uses—a Stradivarius (17th century), a Guadagnini (Italian) instrument of 1747, and a contemporary violin of American manufacture. The artist gave interesting comment on the work and fame of Stradivarius, and intrigued his audience with comparisons of these three instruments. . . In conclusion Mr. Rudié thanked Miss Juliette Rodrigue, of the Community Concerts directorate, for her assistance on the stage.

Six Schools Tested, Fire Evacuation Found Satisfactory

The Lachute and Ayersville schools — now totalling six — were vacated in quick order, as retiring Fire Chief Geo. Y. Deacon staged his final annual round of fire drills during the past two weeks. All the schools have been drilled in making an emergency exit for this once-a-year practice, at which Fire Chief Deacon and Police Chief Fernand Trépanier were in attendance to witness the children's performance.

The time for vacating the school buildings was counted from commencement of the sounding of the fire bell, until the teachers reported the schools empty. Times recorded, as compared to last year's times, are as follows:

Lachute High School (enrolment 656) was vacated by way of seven exits in 1 minute 49 seconds, several seconds faster than last year with the same number of students. The orderly procedure was the most noticeable, everyone apparently knowing where to go and not rushing to get there.

The Convent, which comprises two schools (Pensionnat Ste. Anastasie and Ecole St. Alexandre) with a total enrolment of 342 girls, was cleared of all occupants in 1 minute 7 seconds, using three exits.

The 730-odd students at l'Ecole Supérieure cleared their building in 2 minutes 52 seconds, considerably longer than in past years when there were fewer students. Four exits were used in this case.

St. Julien, the west-end Catholic School, was cleared of 246 students in 47 seconds, using three exits. Last year, a similar number of students took 51 seconds.

The Ayersville Immaculate Conception School (girls), with 261 students, vacated their building in 43 seconds using three exits. This time is identical to last year, with the same number of students.

L'Ecole Clément, the boys' section, cleared their building slightly under the minute mark; this school has 258 students.

Irregularities were noted in two of the schools, reports on which are to be submitted to the Catholic School Commission for their investigation. Any questions as to conduct and the drills themselves, were minor, however, and both Chief Deacon and Chief Trépanier expressed their satisfaction with the way the drills were carried out.

Fed'n of Charities Launches Canvass

The financial campaign of the Lachute Federation of Charities, launched last Monday, is now well under way, with but six days remaining to the official closing. The opening of the campaign was actually signalized last Saturday, when local and religious authorities met in front of the Town Hall. Here Mayor Dr. F. Walter FitzGerald presented Dr. Marc Papineau the civic contribution of $1,000, and the Rev. Dalma Brisebois, representing His Excellency Mgr. Emilien Frenette, presented Bernard Gosselin with the Bishop's personal cheque of $100.

Since that time, workers have been canvassing their districts, while the respective committees — school, special names, commercial and industrial — have been at work, and the campaign is well in progress.

At the moment of going to press, Bernard Gosselin, chairman of this the second annual campaign for funds, reports the total subscribed is $2,300, which represents approximately 12.5 per cent of the $18,400 objective.

While satisfied with returns to date, Dr. Papineau and Mr. Gosselin wish to emphasize the need, to those who have not already contributed. "It is necessary that the workers intensify their efforts, and present the facts to our citizens, who must give generously if we are to meet our objective. The aim of $18,400 is the absolute minimum we must obtain if we are to meet our commitments to our member organizations," stated Mr. Gosselin.

For his part, Dr. Papineau added that he was confident of reaching the objective, though confessing to certain misgivings at the close of the fourth day. "The population," he stated, "responded magnificiently to our appeal last year, and although there has been a certain tardiness in subscriptions to date this year, we all hope to reach our objective."

Brownsburg Hotelman In Spectacular Crash, Wife Seriously Injured

Marcel Primeau, 36, Brownsburg hotelkeeper, and his wife were victims of an accident Monday evening which might easily have proved fatal to both — judging by the shattered remains of their recent-model car.

The auto, heading towards Montreal early Monday evening at around 7.15 o'clock, smashed into the rear of a tractor-drawn trailer loaded with logs a short distance from Belle Riviere. The accident occurred on a stretch of the newly-paved highway; it is reported the trailer was not equipped with tail-lights.

The passenger car apparently swerved to the left side of the road when the driver lost control, hit a tree near the roadside and overturned in the ditch.

Mr. Primeau, the driver, was not seriously injured, but his wife is suffering from a fracture of the pelvis and a broken leg, as well as various cuts and shock. The driver of the tractor, Jean Godin, 28, of Ste. Scholastique, was unhurt.

Mr. and Mrs. Primeau were treated at the scene by Dr. Pager, of Ste. Scholastique, then being brought to the Lachute Providence Hospital. Following examination by Dr. Jacques Castagner, of Brownsburg, Mrs. Primeau was transferred to the Hotel Dieu at St. Jerome.

The accident was investigated by Traffic Officer Jean-Paul Labelle, of St. Eustache. The Primeau car was demolished.

Burn Mortgage On Church Building At St. Simeon's

Last Thursday evening the congregation of St. Simeon's Anglican Church enjoyed a pleasurable evening as they commemorated the 75th anniversary of the consecration of their first church, and burned the mortgage on the present church building.

The program for this occasion consisted of congratulations and short addresses by the Bishop of Montreal, the Ven. Archdeacon Morris and Mayor Dr. F. W. FitzGerald, who also read the motion of congratulations to St. Simeon's Church, passed at the recent Town Council meeting. The main address was given by the Rev. Stanley Andrews, rector of St. Matthew's Church, Montreal, as special speaker.

An interesting sketch of the town and parish was read by Mr. A. G. Leggett. Mr. Bories Arran, treasurer, gave the financial report, showing that the Building Fund Loan had been repaid in eight years.

The burning of the mortgage was performed by Major S. E. Smith, the only member of the congregation who saw the construction of the first church. Mr. Smith was assisted in the burning of the mortgage by Miss L. M. Hampton and Mrs. Stanley Holt.

The serving of refreshments provided a pleasant period of social intercourse.

Among visitors present, besides those already mentioned, were — the Rev. W. Bridge, the Rev. Jas. Armour, of Lachute; the Rev. Canon C. W. P. Baugh and Mrs. Baugh, of Lakefield; the Rev. P. R. Stote, of Grenville; the Rev. W. C. LeCras and Mrs. LeCras, the Rev. D. Andrews, Mrs. B. Hewitt, Miss Hannah Smith, of Montreal; Mr. and Mrs. F. Whitehead, Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Burwash, Mrs. J. Simpson, Mr. Driver, Mrs. D. Morrison, Miss Anne Simpson, and Mrs. B. Howell, of St. Andrews East; Mr. and Mrs. B. Jackson, and Mr. G. H. Quinn, of Brownsburg.

THE WEEK AT OTTAWA
by the Canadian Press

By Don Attfield

Ottawa, Oct. 15 (CP) — The trade department has sent a "strong" note to the U.S. state department protesting a method the United States seemed to be using to corner foreign markets for wheat.

A trade department spokesman said the U.S., in selling wheat for local currencies, apparently was forcing importers to agree to buy additional fixed quantities of American wheat at some future date.

The U.S. is attempting to tie up the importing country for a long period of time, he said. This could prove extremely damaging to Canada's export program.

Trade Minister Howe expressed confidence that as a result of the protest the U.S. will eventually modify the principle of her wheat-selling scheme.

Unofficial dispatches from Washington, however, said the Canadian protest had little impact. One report quoted Canadian embassy officials as saying the protest was unproductive.

Big U.S. Shipments

Mr. Howe was more optimistic, saying that although there might not be immediate drastic changes in American policy, the protest will influence the general principle of the American scheme.

Aided by huge sums voted by Congress, the U.S. government, to rid itself of surplus wheat, has given some away, bartered other amounts and has made sales for local currencies used mainly for defence and American development in the importing countries.

Canada sells wheat for dollars and short-term credit only. The federal government has rejected suggestions by some Prairie producers that Canada compete against the U.S. by selling for local currency which could not be converted into dollars.

Canada's treasury was not fat enough to allow competition with the U.S. where huge sums are available for export subsidy.

Canada has been at odds with the U.S. over wheat policy since America began giving away wheat. She argued that the giveaway program would eat into traditional Canadian markets.

Experts' Committee

The U.S. agreed to the establishment of a joint committee of experts to allow Canada to watch over American sales negotiations. Apparently, it was at one of these relatively recent committee meetings that Canada learned of a big deal under which Brazil would commit itself to buy fixed amounts from the U.S. in the future for a current local - currency purchase.

It appeared clear that the protest would have no influence on the Brazil deal, involving sale of some 66,000,000 bushels of wheat over a three-year period. This was to be sold for Brazilian currency and the belief was that Brazil in return would agree to buy additional amounts from the U.S. for dollars at some future time.

Canadian grain men said the deal would shut the Brazilian market to Canadian wheat. A few years ago Brazil bought large quantities from Canada. Now, with the American deal to be closed, there would be no hope of Canada selling wheat to Brazil for at least the next three years.

CAMPAIGN FOR BLIND INSTITUTE IN HUBERDEAU

Mr. Gaston Laurier, Mayor of Huberdeau, was recently named financial chairman to the C.N.I.B for the area of Huberdeau. The campaign will be held from October 22 to November 5. The team captains have been selected by Mr. Laurier as follows: Messrs. Henri Provost, Cyprien Brosseau, Alex Deslauriers, Albert Pilon, Alfred Tougas, Francois Laurin and Roland Fortier.

These workers are appealing to the residents to be as generous as possible and make the drive a success. The cost of home teaching, visits of the field secretary to all the blind people, welfare relief, medical supplies, emergency eye examinations to the needy, library loans of Braille books and talking book records, etc., requires a tremendous amount of money to carry on this humanitarian work. Your money assists 41 blind citizens in the County of Argenteuil, and aids the Institute in carrying out a blindness preventative program which is growing in proportions annually.

If you should know of anyone who is suffering with their eyes, please submit their names to the canvasser. The financial workers wish to thank you in advance for your generosity and your kind courteous reception.

Two Fire Calls Last Week-End

Lachute's volunteer firemen responded to two calls within a few hours early this week. In the first case, an over-excited neighbor summoned the crew to the Tower Company, on Henry Street, early Sunday evening. In the second instance an outbreak occurred on the premises of Jacques Paquette's cabinet shop, Hope Street, around 5 a.m. Monday. The latter fire was in the floor of the building, and was extinguished without trouble.

Cadillac

A GENERAL MOTORS VALUE

To the Man Who is Hesitating...

There are many motorists here in this community who have given serious consideration to the purchase of a new Cadillac car this year—and yet, for one reason or another, have not made the move.

Ordinarily, when a man hesitates to make the move to Cadillac, it is because he is not familiar with the practical aspects of Cadillac ownership.

Original cost? A Cadillac is eminently practical. Several models are actually priced competitively with the so-called "medium-priced" makes.

Operating and maintenance costs are also remarkably low. And as for resale value—well, Cadillac traditionally retains a greater share of its worth through the years than any other car in the land.

And consider all the wonderful things that would be yours with the "car of cars"—Cadillac's great performance . . . its magnificent luxury and comfort . . . its brilliant beauty . . . and the marvellous pride and satisfaction that come with ownership of the Standard of the World.

That's a lot to deny yourself . . . especially when it could be yours so easily. We have a selection of new Cadillacs on hand—and we can promise you both prompt delivery and a generous trade-in allowance.

Soliloquy in Smoke

SMOKE in the rays of the dying sun — smoke from a pile of burning leaves, 'neath streetlights gilding the last copper fragments of autumn. . . It's a romantic time of year, with sweet aromas in the still, damp air — and wistful longing in the heart for something lost, intangible, irretrievable. .

But, Brother, quit dreaming! While burning leaves is no time for flights of reverie. The fire sirens are wailing to too many calls — too many bonfires left untended, too many hazards left unguarded.

See that those smouldering leaves are not fanned by mischievous breezes, to drift under sheds and woodpiles, to lick at tinder-dry fence posts, and otherwise endanger surrounding properties. See that fascinated youngsters, poking with sticks, do not run with lighted torches held aloft, whose embers fall — but who knows where!

Yes, it's a romantic pastime, this tangy season of the year. But, Brother, watch out!

The Accident Problem

THE VIOLATOR of traffic regulations is gambling with his own life and the lives of innocent citizens. The suspension of more than 4,000 drivers' permits during the current crackdown on Quebec traffic offenders, is enough to make anyone realize the size of the accident problem. The ultimate objective of enforcement is to create a deterrent effect on the potential violator who, without this summary correction, would be liable to cause some irretrievable damage. That is the reason why legal authorities recommend rigorous action to get traffic offenders off the road before they have a chance of killing anyone — "without doing it on purpose", of course.

Law-abiding motorists, who do realize the odds they are up against in present-day traffic, are playing safe when they adjust their speed to prevailing conditions of traffic, weather, visibility, as well as their physical and mental abilities.

Chaining the Atom

COMMERCIAL production of power from atomic energy — promising a new industrial era — is in the near future.

A history-making point in this development is the opening of the Calder Hall nuclear station in England by the Queen on October 17. Calder Hall will serve as the model for the first nuclear power stations to be planned in any country as part of a program for generating electricity by atomic power.

The United States, Russia and Canada are among the other leaders in atomic research, but Britain is the first to lay down an official program by which 12 power stations, built on the experience with Calder Hall, should be producing electricity from nuclear energy on a commercial basis by 1965.

By the early 1970's, the British planners hope to meet all the increased requirements for electricity from nuclear power stations. By 1975, they figure the electricity so produced will equal that obtainable by burning about 40,000,000 tons of coal a year in steam generating plants.

Trade Minister Howe has said that Canada is not lagging behind other countries in efforts to develop industrial power from the atom. Canada's first atomic power plant now is being built on the Ottawa River about 20 miles north of Chalk River, where Canada has had a big atomic research establishment working since the last war.

The experimental Canadian plant is expected to be in operation in 1959, to give scientists information for building large stations for the economic production of power from atomic energy. It will not itself produce electricity on an economic basis. It is a joint project of the Ontario Hydro Commission, the crown-owned Atomic Energy of Canada, Ltd., and Canadian General Electric, and it is costing $14,000,000.

Some atomic products already are used in industrial and scientific ways. When commercial production of electricity from atomic power is bolstering industry, the atom, despite its grim war history, may be seen as one of the greatest boons mankind has ever developed.

The Neighborly Duty

OUR CO-CITIZENS are energetically engaged in that big annual effort, the campaign of the Lachute Federation of Charities, and we wish them success commensurate with the enthusiasm of their endeavors.

While the proceeds of this effort are, to a large extent, devoted to the Catholic enterprises of our town — the organized recreations for parish children, and clothing centres for the parish poor — it should be noted particularly there are two strictly non-denominational participants, namely, the Social Service and the Canadian Institute of the Blind, both of which draw no line of discrimination in their public services. (In the case of the Social Service, we understand the Charities Federation contributes only a share to the administrative costs.) In addition, it should be recalled that last year, after the Federation's inaugural campaign had been oversubscribed, the Lachute School for Retarded Children (a Protestant enterprise), was aided to the extent of wiping out its operational deficit, $800. (The school, incidentally, was not a signatory to the Federation; nor is it affiliated this year.)

We mention these instances to reassure any who may feel that their donations reach only a limited segment of the population.

These, of course, are material considerations. We feel impelled to add, however, that Charity is the motivating force, the keynote, of this appeal. And Charity confines itself to no race or creed; it is a communal sprit which, seeing a neighborly need, acknowledges a neighborly duty.

The appeal of the Lachute Federation of Charities is commended to the generous support of our readers.

Crocodile Tears

BROADLY SPEAKING, the cost of living for most Canadians has risen by nearly 20 per cent since 1949. That is the meaning of the most recent figures of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, which shows that the Cost of Living Index stood at 119.1 on the first of August.

The index provides a reliable guide to the increase since 1949 in the average prices of food, shelter, clothing, fuel, lighting, furniture and a host of other commodities and services. Over the past six years the cost of all these things has risen, to a greater or lesser extent, so that today nearly $120 is needed to buy what $100 would pay for in 1949.

This is all very terrible, of course, until you take a look at wages and salaries. Here (as reviewed in the bulletin, "Industry") the increases in the brief space of six years are little short of sensational! D.B.S. figures show that on June first this year the average hourly wage of the million-and-a-quarter Canadians who work in manufacturing was better than $1.51, compared with just over 98 cents in June, 1949. The increase here thus exceeds 53 per cent!

The story doesn't end there, however. The weekly manufacturing wage has risen over the same period from $41.71 to $62.24, while the working week has been reduced by an hour and 20 minutes (42.3 to 41.0). Add to this the sweeping gains made in "fringe" benefits, and it will be seen that total earnings in manufacturing have risen nearly three times as much as prices. Put another way, manufacturing pay increases have been 300 percent greater than the increase in prices.

What is true of manufacturing is, of course, largely true of other industries. We have yet to meet the wage earner who can fairly claim to be worse off than he was in 1949. On the other hand, pensioners and others who live on fixed incomes not easily supplemented, are decidedly the poorer.

These apart, candour compels us to admit that the tears currently being shed over higher living costs are strictly of the crocodile variety.

UNDER SUPPORT prices, Canadians are eating less butter per person than before the price support. The people who have really gained from the Canadian policy are consumers in Czechoslovakia and Poland, who get our butter at a bargain — says the Fraser Valley (B.C.) Record.

HIRING OLDER men for simple jobs may be the answer to your problem of getting them done well, says The Financial Post. In 1947, National Employment Service found 45% of men seeking jobs were over 45 and most employers wouldn't touch them. They started a special Counseling Service, resulting in the adoption by hundreds of employers of a policy of hiring older persons as clerks, messengers, etc.

Of the 265 seats in the House of Commons, the four Atlantic provinces have 33, Quebec has 75, Ontario 85, the three prairie provinces have 48, British Columbia has 22 and the Territories have 2.

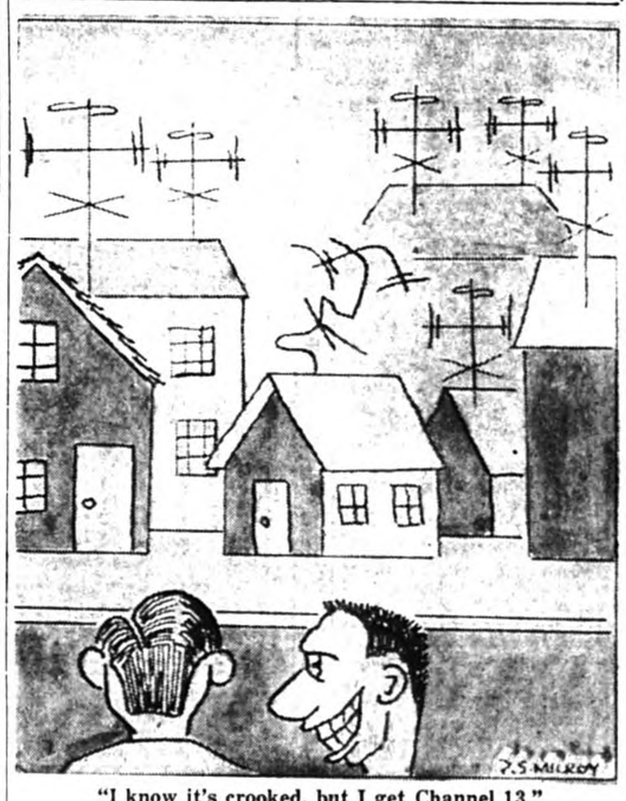

Name of the province of Saskatchewan comes from the Cree Indian word Kisiskatchewan, meaning "swiftly flowing water," the Cree's name for the Saskatchewan River, longest river on the prairies.

Now-maybe you'll give that rock-and-roll a rest.

An Ounce of Prevention

"We must have more fire drills this year!"

There were a few nods of assent to the headmaster's opening sally at last week's staff meeting. There was also one very audible sigh.

"What's the matter, O'Brien?" the head asked. "Don't you think we're rather casual about the question of fire drills?"

O'Brien yanked the pipe out of his mouth and took a deep breath.

"Oh, don't get me wrong. I'm great on the subject of fire drills, but I do think you can have too much of a good thing!"

"There was a day, not so very long ago," the chaplain murmured, "when fire drills took place about once every three years."

"We could hardly be accused of that now," O'Brien continued. "The pendulum has definitely swung the other way!"

He fished in his coat pocket and withdrew the tattered old diary that backs up his every contention. Quickly, he thumbed through its pages and then, holding up his hand to command our attention, announced that we had suffered no less than 22 day drills 30 night drills during the course of the previous school year.

"By my count," he snorted, "that amounted to exactly one night drill per week. And that adds up to a terrific amount of lost sleep!"

"Well," the head cut in, "I don't propose that we should do the same as last year by any means. Personally, I think that five of each per term — or a yearly total of 15 — would be sufficient. Is everyone agreed?"

All, with the exception of O'Brien, nodded assent and waited to hear when the next drill would be held.

"To begin with, we had better have an early evening drill, after study, say. That will given the new pupils a chance to learn what's expected of them. Then, later, we can pull a drill some night when everyone is asleep. Agreed?"

Again, we murmured our agreement.

"Good! Then I suggest that we have the early drill tomorrow night and follow it three nights later with the midnight run."

On the following evening, the early drill ran like a charm. Everyone turned out in proper fashion and the headmaster computed that had we been enjoying the real thing, the lives of everyone would have been saved in less than 90 seconds. But it was the midnight drill three days later that proved difficult.

It took the boys an extra 30 seconds to wake up and collect their wits but everyone was out of the house and accounted for in just two minutes. And as soon as the roll was called, the chaplain announced that everybody could return to bed.

"Would you shut off the bell switch, please, Mr. Green," he called out to the new master as the boys tropped up the stairs.

Green flicked the switch, but nothing happened. He flicked it back again and not only did the building alarm continue but the bell connected with the sprinkling system started to ring, setting up a fierce din outside the buildings.

"You see that the lads get back to bed," the padre shouted over the clatter. "I'll go and shut off the bells. It won't take me a minute."

And it didn't take him a minute either. By my watch, it took him exactly five hours and twenty-five minutes. In fact, it took the combined efforts of three electricians, a dozen volunteer firemen from the village, two maintenance men and the headmaster, as well as a number of boys who were in rooms just above the thundering sprinkler bell.

When we met at the master's meeting the following week, the headmaster reported that the entire bell system had been repaired and was working satisfactorily.

"But I'm falling in with O'Brien's suggestion," he added. "There will only be one day and one night fire drill per term."

As we left the meeting, O'Brien drew me aside.

"I figured they'd forget that sprinkler bell switch in my cupboard," he chuckled. "Quite effective, wasn't it?"

75 YEARS AGO

October 14, 1881 —

Somewhat earlier than usual, the frost has tinted the leaves of the mountain and adjoining woods with autumnal hues.

Negotiations are going on about a butter-tub factory at Lachute. The cotton factory is also progressing in its arrangements. There is but one large powder factory in the Dominion, at Hamilton, and there is a rumor that a joint stock company will be formed by a gentleman here, whose hobby is to encourage manufacturing enterprises, to join with Mr. Smith, of Brownsburg, to put the powder factory there on a larger basis.

Tuesday, the 11th instant, was a day much to be remembered in Lachute, as a day of rejoicing by our friends of the Anglican communion in this locality, and their Episcopalian friends from St. Andrews and Carillon. Many belonging to other churches in Lachute and elsewhere also joined for the nonce and took part in the impressive service of the consecration of St. Simeon's Church.

October 19, 1906 —

Mr. Charles Hunter, of St. Andrews, dropped dead while feeding his cattle on Tuesday evening.

A meeting of the Lachute Civilian Rifle Association was held in Blair's Hall on Monday evening last, when it was decided to hold the annual rifle matches at Lachute on Tuesday next.

25 YEARS AGO

October 20, 1931 —

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

The madmen of Detroit have tightened the noose again. Cars will be longer and lower in 1957. Cities that are panting for breath in a tangle of traffic will be loaded with thousands more tons of metal, their arteries clogged by another load of chrome-and-enamel garbage.

Designed in the United States to suit the childish whims of jerks who want to make a show of power and wealth on the easy-payment plan, today's cars are equally useless in town and country.

Some of them clear the ground by a bare seven inches, which makes them wholly impractical for driving on rural by-ways where ruts and stones exist.

Their enormous power plants — larger each year — make them a threat to life on the highways, where excessive speed is a factor in 90 per cent of serious accidents.

Their huge size swells the parking and traffic congestion that seems likely to strangle and kill the cities.

City motorists will soon tire of plugging around in circles for half an hour or more in search of a parking place. They'll drive to a shopping centre or supermarket at the outskirts, where they can park and get all their supplies in one bundle without trying to thread their way through a jungle of double-parked trucks and red lights, and herds of doddering pedestrians who seem bent on suicide.

The number of vehicle registrations is soaring. The cars are getting bigger. Where are we going to put them? Downtown merchants in all cities had better start pondering that question today. If they fail to apply a remedy, they are going to lose a fortune as their customers fade away to the suburbs.

A survey in the town of Anaheim, California (population 30,000) showed that downtown property values declined by 18.4 per cent in 15 years, because of traffic congestion Downtown Los Angeles values fell by 50 per cent in 10 years for the same reason.

People are less and less willing to hump a weighty bag of goods from a store to their cars parked several blocks away. What's the answer? Maybe, co-operative parking lots; merchants providing a jitney or handcar service to wheel purchases from store to car. Maybe, a ban on cars in the downtown area, as some cities have imposed.

It would help, too, if the American car designers could shake off their obsession with size and power. To encourage their return to sanity, vehicle authorities should tax cars on a sliding scale; the larger and more powerful they are, the more they pay.

CARRYING YOUR EGGS IN ONE BASKET

Today seems to be an age of specializing — which in the dairy business, I believe, has gone too far. Many dairymen around have only cows, not even a pig or a hen, and with quotas and surplus days, are feeling the pinch quite severely. This is "carrying all your eggs in one basket." . . . Fine, if you don't let it drop!

I know well the city rules make it harder to keep pigs and hens, but IF THERE IS A WILL THERE IS A WAY, and handled right, neither of them take much time; and they certainly pay better than cows in consideration to the capital invested and the labor used.

The time when the hens roosted on the farm machinery and rigs, and the pigs rooted up the front lawn, should be gone forever! Have a proper place for them, and see to it that they stay there. Moreover, if you will make a proper place and equip it with feed and labor-saving equipment, many a wife would gladly take over the hens to earn herself some pin money, some labor-saving gadgets for the house, and take care of a big part of the grocery bill.

Do the same for the pigs, but look after them yourself, with self-feeders and automatic waterers. The only big chore is to keep them clean. . .

Both are extra baskets to carry the eggs! . . . Start today on one or both projects, and be a bit more independent of the milk companies.

Feed your cows in the meantime by the PURINA PLAN, and start making some extra money to finance one or both of these projects. See us about the Purina Plan and a supply of PURINA CHOWS to do it with. We deliver.

First Donations to Charities Federation

Following the erection of the Charities Federation campaign thermometer in front of the Lachute Town Hall, Mayor Dr. F. Walter FitzGerald and the Rev. Mayor Dr. FitzGerald tendered a cheque to Dr. Marc Papineau, Federation president, who received the Lachute grant of $1,000, while the Rev. Brisebois presented to Bernard Gosselin, campaign chairman, a personal cheque from His Excellency Mgr. Emilien Frenette, bishop of the diocese. Fed'l University Grants In Quebec News

Quebec (CP) — Msgr. Alphonse-Marie Parent, rector of Laval University, says Prime Minister St. Laurent's proposed formula for distributing federal grants to universities "deserved to be studied."

The Prime Minister in a speech at Sherbrooke, Que., said that grants would be handled by the national conference of Canadian universities, a non-political group.

"However," Msgr. Parent added, "The point of view of the provincial government must be taken into account." Quebec Province has refused to accept federal grants to universities since 1952, describing them as an encroachment on the provincial field of education.

Msgr. Parent said he was happy to hear Mr. St. Laurent would propose doubling the grants. The proposal would be studied seriously.

Three-Day Feature, Military and Historical Display

An elaborate military and historical exhibition which is scheduled to visit some 60 towns and villages of the Province of Quebec, will have its formal Lachute opening under the presidence of His Honor the Mayor, Dr. F. W. FitzGerald, at 8 p.m. Saturday, October 20, at the Lachute Legion Hall, 634 Foundry Street, where it will be on display for three days.

The exhibtion, sponsored by Headquarters, Quebec Command, has been enthusiastically described as the most educative of its kind, when seen by over 25,000 in St. Hubert, Val d'Or, Noranda and Maniwaki. It is now showing in Hull.

AMONG THE CHURCHES

Pastor Inducted In People's Church

The Rev. C. W. Sorley

An impressive service was held last Thursday when the Rev. C. W. Sorley was inducted into the pastorate of the local associated Gospel Church.

The Rev. Alex. B. Steen, president of the Associated Gospel Churches of Canada, was chairman, and impressed upon the pastor and congregation the importance and sacredness of the induction service.

Mr. John Kettyle escorted the pastor to the platform, and on behalf of the congregation recommended him to the officials for induction into the People's Church at Lachute.

The Rev. Harold Lambshead, in the absence of the Rev. A. F. Robins of Weston, Secretary of the Associated Gospel Churches, read the recommendations from the Committee of Education and Ministry. Mr. Lambshead is from the Grace Gospel Church, Ville LaSalle, and secretary of the Quebec committee.

The Rev. James Vold, pastor of the Metropolitan Tabernacle, Ottawa, brought the charge to the pastor, basing his remarks on I Cor., 13: "Though I speak with the tongues of men, and of angels, and have not love, I am become as sounding brass or a tinkling symbol." stating that the greatest orator cannot be a success in the ministry unless he "ministers in love."

The Rev. A. R. Fielding, chairman of the Home Extension Committee, brought the charge to the congregation, using Gal. 6:9 as his text: "Be ye not weary in well-doing, for in due season ye shall reap if ye faint not." He warned the people that trials and testings were the lot of every congregation, but if they continued in faith they would reap a great harvest. He admonished them to labor together for the furtherance of the gospel in this community.

The Rev. John Dempster, of the People's Church, Montreal, led in the dedicatory prayer, as the pastor knelt at the altar.

Mrs. Frank Kettyle, of Montreal, was guest soloist.

The new pastor was given a purse of money, and Mrs. Sorley received a beautiful bouquet of carnations, Miss Sandra Stansfield making the presentation. Mr. Ernie Kettyle made the presentation to the pastor. The Rev. Arnold H. Olson, pastor of the Onward Gospel Church, Verdun, chairman of the Quebec Committee, led in prayer. The ladies served refreshments and a pleasant evening was brought to a conclusion.

The new place of worship was filled for the occasion.

Never absent from your post, never off guard, never ill-humored, never unready to work for God — is obedience; being "faithful over a few things." - Mary Baker Eddy

Outstanding Speaker to Visit Lachute United

The Rev. Norman Rawson, minister of St. James United Church, Montreal, will be the special speaker at a meeting following the Men's Supper (on Wednesday evening, October 24, at 6.30 p.m.) Mr. Rawson who is in great demand as a speaker both in Canada and the United States, visited the church last October, and since then, many men who had an opportunity of hearing him have requested a return visit.

The supper will be provided by the ladies of the W.M.S. of the church. The gathering is for men only, and is in connection with the Home and Overseas Mission work of the United Church of Canada.

In connection with this work, a religious film entitled "The Hidden Heart" will be shown in the church hall on Sunday evening, October 21, at 7 o'clock, and members of the public are cordially invited.

Rev. H.G. Baugh Elected Ministerial President

At the monthly meeting of the Argenteuil Protestant Ministerial Association, held in the Lachute Baptist Church, the Rev. H. G. Baugh of Morin Heights was elected president for the 1956-57 term, and the Rev. G. T. Spriggs was re-elected secretary-treasurer. The latter was also appointed to represent Argenteuil County on the Quebec Temperance League.

The Rev. H. A. A. Rose, of Ste. Adele gave an interesting address on the subject, "The Task of the Church" — dealing with the time of the apostolic ministry, and its function today to proclaim the gospel of Revelation and Redemption; also the Church's pastoral function.

W.M.S. Speakers

For the W.M.S. thank-offering at Lachute United Church on Wednesday, October 31, at 3 p.m., Mrs. Lovell Baker, president of the Montreal Presbyterial, and Miss Ada Sandell, of Korea, will be the guest speakers.

New Offertory Plates Dedicated at Lachute United Church

At a recent service held in Lachute United Church, two brass offertory plates, suitably inscribed, were dedicated by the minister, the Rev. Wilson Bridge.

One bears the inscription, "In Memory of John A. and Jessie Smith, of East Settlement, donated by the Smith family."; the other, "In Memory of Charles R. Rodger, donated by his wife and family, East Settlement." The offertory plates, will be used along with the other four which have been used for many years.

The late John A. and Jessie Smith, and the late Charles R. Rodger, had a long and useful connection with the East Settlement church which is part of the Lachute pastoral charge.

The Rev. and Mrs. H. G. Baugh attended the induction of the Rev. Dudley Kemp as rector of St. George's Church in Montreal, and the reception following, last Friday evening.

Engagement Announced

The engagement is announced of Miss Irene Mary Lawlor, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. A. Lawlor, of Montreal, to Mr. John Percival Mason MacAdam, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. E. MacAdam, of Brownsburg — the marriage to take place Saturday, November 10, in St. George's Anglican Church, Brownsburg.

Autumn Setting For Ceremony In United Church

Barker - Houghton

Baskets of yellow and white gladioli and autumn leaves formed the decorations in Lachute United Church last Saturday for the marriage of Helen Doris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Edward Barker, of Lachute, to Desmond John, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Houghton, of London, Ont. — the Rev. Wilson Bridge officiating.

The wedding music was played by Mr. Wayne Riddell, and Mr. Sydney Drew, as solist, sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "O Promise Me."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a strapless gown of white Chantilly lace over satin in cocktail length, and matching bolero with sleeves coming to points over the wrists. Her veil of tulle illusion was held by a halo of pearls and she carried a cascade bouquet of red roses and white carnations.

Mrs. Douglas Valentine, sister of the bride, as matron of honor, and Mrs. Cecil Bigelow and Miss Maureen Houghton, sister of the groom, as bridesmaids, wore cocktail-length dresses of chromspun taffeta, with fitted bodices and full skirts, and matching hats and mittts — the matron of honor in emerald green and the bridesmaids alike in apple green. They carried bouquets of bronze and yellow mums and autumn leaves.

Acting as best man was Mr. Ian Guilbert, of Montreal, while Mr. Donald Loynachen and Mr. John Clements, also of Montreal, were ushers.

Mrs. Barker, mother of the bride, wore a street-length dress of brown crepe with pink accessories and a corsage of deep pink roses.

The groom's mother, Mrs. Houghton, wore a dress of black velvet with white accessories and a corsage of red roses.

Following the reception, which was held in the church hall, the bridal couple left on a short wedding trip to New York City, the bride travelling in a brown tweed suit with moss green accessories and wearing a corsage of white carnations.

Out-of-town guests were from London, Toronto, Hamilton, New Jersey, Ottawa, Montreal and Noranda.

Mr. and Mrs. Houghton will reside in Montreal.

B'burg Home and School Opening Meeting Oct. 24; Lachute Friends Invited

(Our District Correspondent)

Brownsburg — The first meeting of the 1956-57 Home and School season will be held in the school cafeteria on Wednesday evening, October 24, at 8 o'clock. Guest speaker will be Mr. Douglas Walkington, president of the Quebec Federation of Home and School Associations.

The executive felt that, with such an expert on Home and Schools as Mr. Walkinton for a guest speaker, now might be the ideal time to invite friends from Lachute. Everyone is welcome at all meetings, of course, but the more domestic type of meetings would be less attractive for non-Brownsburgers.

It is hoped that there will be no drop in last year's record attendances.

Dick Irvin In Retrospect

By Gerry Lougheed,
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Dick Irvin, whose career in the National Hockey League dates back to 1926 when the loop blossomed into a 10-club circuit, recently resigned as coach of the Chicago Black Hawks because of ill health.

An astute student of the game and a great handler of youthful talent, Irvin was born near Hamilton in 1892 and moved with his family to Winnipeg seven years later. He played as an amateur around the Manitoba capital for several years and in 1915 accepted $700 to turn professional with Portland (Ore.) Rosebuds of the Pacific Coast Hockey League. Two years later he joined the army. He returned to amateur hockey after the First World War with Regina Capitals for three seasons.

At the ripe old hockey age of 29, Irvin entered the pro game again in 1921 and joined Regina Capitals of the old Western Canada Hockey League. He switched back to Portland in 1925 and ended up in Chicago the following season when the Rosebuds were transferred there to become the Black Hawks.

The Hawks were one of three new U.S. teams that year, the others being Detroit Cougars (now Red Wings) and New York Rangers. Others in the American division were Boston and Pittsburgh. The Canadian section had Toronto Maple Leafs, Ottawa Senators, Montreal Maroons, (Montreal Canadiens and New York Americans (to round out the five-team group).

Dick finished second in scoring in his first NHL season and was up with the leaders his second term when a skull fracture sidelined him. He never completely recovered and though he tried to play the following season (1928-29), his playing career was finished and he became assistant coach.

Appointed coach the following year, Irvin led the Hawks into the playoffs for two straight seasons and then for some reason never disclosed was fired. The Maple Leafs snapped him up shortly afterwards and won the Stanley Cup. In eight succeeding years under the canny Irvin the Leafs finished first four times and never lower than third.

In 1940 when Montreal Canadiens were at their lowest point, Irvin switched to Montreal. Sourrounding himself with youthful players, Dick built Canadiens into a great machine.

Last month he entered hospital in Montreal — he lives at nearby Mount Royal during the off-season —and missed the early weeks of the Hawks' training camp at St. Catharines, Ont. Dick, now 64, showed up later for a few days but found he couldn't shoulder the burden. The coaching job will be shouldered by Hawks' general manager Tommy Ivan.

Aside from winning three Stanley Cups during his 15 seasons at the Canadiens' helm, he led them home in first place four consecutive years.

At his pinnacle as a coach, Irvin was enticed back to Chicago last season to what he termed his "greatest challenge" with a lack-lustre club. It finished out of the playoffs but Dick — with the addition of some new players — looked forward to better things this year.

Irvin, altogether had four Stanley Cup triumphs in his coaching career, winning the first with Toronto Maple Leafs in 1932 over New York Rangers. His cup-winning Canadien teams were in 1944, 1946 and 1953. That first Irvin cup-winning combination shows the span of years in the NHL — the Leafs who captured the Stanley Cup in 1932 included Conacher, Jackson and Primeau, King Clancy, Andy Blair and Red Horner, Hal Cotton, Ace Bailey and Hap Day (now general manager.)

HAS FORMULA FOR USING MINE WASTE

A formula that may render useful the mountains of mine tailings surrounding Canada's mines has been submitted to the National Research council in Ottawa by Dr. Frank Smolarezyk of Timmins. He developed the formula after working underground and the research council, believing it has possibilities, has asked for 50-pound samples from several mines. The formula would make use of the finely crushed rock, considered useless after the original ore has been extracted, to make cement.

Lachute High School Sports and Social News

By Bev. Sanford

With the resumption of school activities, the 1956-57 basketball season opened at Lachute High School last Friday evening, when the Junior and Senior teams from Grenville were the visitors.

The first game played was that of the Junior Girls. This proved too one-sided to be of interest, as it was obviously a victory for Grenville from the beginning, with the score ending 34-6. The three scorers for the home players were — Carol Parker with 3 points, Marilyn Underhill 2, and Patty Mitchell sinking a foul shot.

This year a Three-Star Selection is also being offered to the Junior team, and for this game, the selection is as follows: The first star is awarded to Joan Girling, second star to Carol Parker, and the third to Marilyn Underhill. Referees for this game were Frances Laurin and Mr. Bailly.

The Senior Girls' game was a victory for Lachute with the score of 30-17. This encounter proved to be more exciting, with the points fairly well distributed throughout the game. Those who excelled in basket-throwing for the home team were Shirley Pollock, accounting for 10 points; Joyce Davis 9; Marjorie Hay 6; and finally Pat Stansfield with 5. The three stars of this game were, respectively, Jean Taylor, Heather Jones and Shirley Pollock. Mr. Bailly and Mr. Petersen were the referees.

Bad Weather Delays "Radisson" Filming

Inordinately bad weather has set back the filming of outdoor sequences in "Radisson" — a CBC television series about the 17th-century Canadian explorer and adventurer, Pierre Esprit Radisson.

In making the announcement, Jean Yves Bigras of CBC Montreal — director of the series — said that because of the weather situation it will be impossible to meet the original October 26 target date. The series may not begin before the end of the year.

Outdoor action is being filmed on Ile Perrot, an island near Montreal Island in the mouth of the Ottawa River. Interior shooting is being done in the Cote des Neiges studio in Montreal.

The producer, Pierre Gauvreau of CBC, Montreal, says interior footage is well ahead of schedule, but that unsettled weather has plagued outdoor shooting from the beginning.

"We start out under a clear sky and get rolling nicely when the wind comes out of nowhere to kick up the lake, clouds spread overhead and the next minute down comes the rain. Everything must be rushed under canvas and all our work of setting up goes for nothing. If it doesn't let up we just have to load the boats and barges and start back to the mainland. Another precious day lost!"

According to Bigras, the footage taken so far has turned out well. "We know the stuff we've got is good and we're straining at the bit to get on with the job. But the weather is something you just can't do anything about."

Bigras said that outdoor filming is about a month behind schedule but that a definite starting date for the series cannot be determined until completion of film editing and cutting now underway.

On the Radio

Jazz from Britain On Saturday Nights

Jazz from Britain now comes to Dominion radio listeners on Saturday at 7 p.m. via the transcribed "BBC Jazz Club." Top groups of musicians will be featured, those whose light, swinging treatment has been mainly responsible for the upsurge in the popularity of jazz in Britain.

In "BBC Jazz Club" both the "traditionalists" and the "modernists" will be represented, traditional jazz being defined as that which attempts to recreate the improvised music of the 1920's and modern jazz as springing from ideas and innovations in the music. On October 20 "traditional jazz" will be presented by the Alex Welsh Dixielanders, with George Melly.

Several of the future programs will be contributed by collections of star musicians assembled for each session just as they often get together in the various basement clubs dotted around London's west end.

"Flight Into Danger" Scores in U.K.

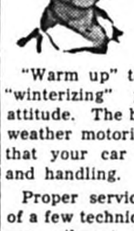

The CBC's production of "Flight Into Danger", sold to the BBC on film and presented September 25th for British audiences, received sweeping commendations from viewers and press alike. The BBC's switchboard in London was swamped with calls, many from viewers asking for a repeat performance. Newspaper critics were exceptionally excited about the play.

Some of their comments follow: News Chronicle: "At only rare intervals do we get outstanding TV plays such as "Flight Into Danger", a CBC production given on the BBC last night." Express: "Play was just unashamed excitement, but was put over with punch and sense. The terrifying emergency had me forgetting I was watching a TV screen." Daily Telegraph: "One of the most exciting dramas television has yet shown." Daily Mirror: "It was a smasher. If the CBC has any more like this I hope BBC will continue to show them." Daily Herald: "Flight Into Danger" brought a new kind of drama to British TV, more exciting than a documentary, more real than 99 per cent of TV plays."

"Flight Into Danger" was written by Arthur Hailey and starred James Doohan, Corinne Conley, Cec Linder, and Alexander Webster. David Greene produced the drama which was presented twice on CBC television and also performed by an American cast in the United States earlier this fall. Playwright Arthur Hailey goes to Hollywood this month to write a film version.

Tips on Touring

By Carol Lane
Women's Travel Authority

"Warm up" to winter driving by "winterizing" your own mental attitude. The best approach to cold weather motoring is the realization that your car needs special care and handling.

Proper servicing and knowledge of a few techniques will avoid many car ailments common to cold weather, according to automotive experts. They say that the "ounce of prevention" you take now will measure up to more than a "pound of cure" later.

Prepare your car for Winter driving by having your serviceman check oil, tires, brakes, radiator, battery and windshield wipers. Start the season off right with a good lubrication job, the proper Winter grade oil and cold-tested lubricants. Since brakes take a beating in the Wintertime, periodic checks are doubly important. Avoid the expense and bother of a frozen radiator by having your service station dealer "fill her up" with anti-freeze. Insure yourself against a frozen battery by making sure it's fully charged at all times. Badly worn tires are doubly dangerous in ice and snow, so replace them.

Since some cold weather car ailments cannot be anticipated, knowledge of a few cures will help. For instance, if your door locks should freeze, it's easy to thaw them out. Just heat your key with a match and insert the hot key into the lock. If the inside of your windshield suffers from a chronic case of steaming-up, wipe it off with an old windshield-wiper blade.

Remember, your car reacts to cold much as you do, so it needs special protection and even a change of diet.

PRAISES ADVANTAGES OF GARDEN PROVINCE

Charlottetown (CP) — The glories of Prince Edward Island were praised by D. Leo Dolan, director of the Dominion Travel Bureau, at the recent Canadian Tourist Association convention here.

"For relaxation and comfort, there is no other place in the world that can give these things better than Prince Edward Island," he said.

Apart from its rich products, he mentioned Island harness racing as "the finest sport north of Kentucky."

He declared that Col. Dan McKinnon, a native of P.E.I., ranks with the best sulky drivers on the North American continent, and referred also to Joe O'Brien, who has earned fame as a race driver in the U.S. "Wherever you go, you will find Islanders making names for themselves," he said.

British Paintings Coming to Canada

London — An exhibition of 18th century British paintings is being staged in three Canadian cities next year.

The openings will be at the National Gallery of Canada, Ottawa, where it will be the first exhibition of any kind held in the new buildings. The paintings will then be shown in Toronto and Montreal, after which they will then go to Toledo, Ohio.

The exhibition is being arranged by the British Council at the request of the Canadian art galleries. Mrs. Lilian Somerville, Director of the Fine Arts department of the British Council, left last week for Canada at the invitation of the directors of the galleries.

The National Gallery and the Tate Gallery, in London, have agreed to lend pictures for the exhibition and they will be chosen by a selection committee of eminent Canadian, British and American experts.

About 100 works will make up the exhibition. The majority of them are being drawn from collections in Great Britain. Artists who will be represented include Copley, Cotes, Devis, Gainsborough, Hayman, Highmore, Hogarth, Marlowe, Morland, Opie, Bath, Ramsey, Reynolds, Romney, Scott, Stubbs, Walton, West, Wheatley, Wilson, Wootton, Wright and Zoffany. The catalogue, which will be prepared in London, will include an illustration of every painting in the exhibition.

Koster and Hahn Return

Wally Koster and Joyce Hahn have returned to CBC-TV's weekly spectacular "Cross-Canada Hit Parade." The two vocalists had a busy and interesting summer, touring many parts of the country making guest appearances and filling night club engagements.

Wise birds wait!

They don't go out on a limb for the first new car they see. That figures. Because it just naturally takes a little longer to bring out a car that's sweet, smooth and sassy. Like the new '57 Chevrolet. It's new right down to the wheels it rolls on — with a daring new design, a new nothing-like-it automatic drive and a new V8 besides. Longer and lower, too. No wonder wise birds are waiting. Are you one?

Written Specially for The Lachute Watchman

By Oli Daum, Canadian Press Staff Writer

Here's some food for thought — regardless of all the emphasis nowadays on waist-whittling, Canadians are eating more bread today than they did in the lean 30's.

This, says the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, contradicts a common thinking that Canadians "fill up" on the staff of life when times are bad. On the contrary, consumption rises when money is more plentiful.

The experts say the upswing is due partly to a growing demand for specialty-loaves — pumpernickel, egg, raisin, salt-free and cinnamon to name a few—which the shopper shuns during the depression.

Twenty years ago when 85 per cent of the bread was delivered to the door even a large-city housewife had a choice of fewer than a half-dozen different kinds. Today there are about 30 varieties and 500 different brands.

The statisticians say that in 1933 bread consumption in Canada averaged 82.2 pounds a person compared with 111.9 pounds in 1946—an increase of almost 30 pounds, or about 30 loaves.

Those who are overweight do not, however, need to be alarmed. The figures do not mean that the average person today is heavier than in 1933.

It should be kept in mind that if the output of energy exceeds its intake a person does not gain weight. And there is more opportunity today to expend energy than there was during the depression.

Hallowe'en Treat

If you want to entrance the children at Hallowe'en try this bit of magic called prophecy cake:

3 Cups sifted cake flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ cup butter or shortening, 1½ cups sugar, 3 egg yolks, unbeaten, 1½ cups milk plus 1 teaspoon vanilla, 3 egg whites, ½ teaspoon cinnamon, ½ teaspoon cloves, ½ teaspoon each mace and nutmegs, 1½ teaspons molasses, ½ cup each finely cut raisins and figs.

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt; sift three times. Cream butter, add sugar and cream together until light. Add egg yolks one at a time, beating well. Add flour alternately with milk in small amounts; beat after each addition.

Beat egg whites until stiff and stir quickly into batter. Fill two greased 9-inch layer pans with two-thirds of mixture. To remaining mixture add spices, molasses and fruit and turn into one greased 9-inch layer pan. Bake layers in moderate oven (375 degrees) 20 to 25 minutes. Arrange spice layer between light layers. Cut slits in cake and insert cake favors.

Spread chocolate frosting between lower layers and lemon frosting tinted orange between upper layers. Spread the chocolate on top and sides. Allow it to set. With the orange-tinted frosting draw a pumpkin face on the top, tracing eyes, nose and mouth in chocolate with pastry tube.

Let's Eat

BY IDA BAILEY ALLEN

The Chef and I spent a fascinating day visiting poultry farms in New Jersey with Professor John Taylor, poultry specialist from Rutgers University, as our guide.

Few poultrymen produce both hatching eggs and baby chicks.

Nello Melini, at his huge hatchery farms (13 million chicks per year) near Vineland, New Jersey, uses only eggs from pedigreed chickens, in New Hampshire, that produce heavy meaty birds.

Poultry Pioneer

We visited Herman Demme, of Dembro Poultry Farm, who pioneered in raising better poultry and specializes in raising only white leghorns. He has won many prizes for his scientific and careful breeding program and the fine quality of the eggs he sells to hatcheries.

We stopped in the packing house to watch the eggs being sorted for size and perfection. If they were too small or overlarge, they were put on sale; if cracked, they were sold at less than the price of fresh eggs; and if badly cracked, they were broken into containers, covered refrigerated and sold at a low price.

Food Budget

A steady stream of customers came to buy these money-savers —encouraging proof that, in spite of increased incomes, millions of homemakers still keep a watchful eye on the food budget.

Eggs can be used occasionally as a main dish at dinner.

A Unique Bird

Cape Cod turkey is a unique creature. It has no drumsticks, no wings and no wishbone. It doesn't gobble, has no tail feathers and is never found in a barnyard. In fact it isn't a bird at all but a fish . . . a salt codfish.

Cape Cod turkey can be used to make a variety of hearty luncheon or supper dishes. The home economists of Canada's Department of Fisheries tell us that one of the most satisfying and flavorful dishes of this type which they have tested recently is a casserole in which salt cod is teamed with fluffy white rice, green pepper and onion. Directions for making this dish are simple, as you will see.

Cape Cod "Turkey" Casserole

1 Pound of boneless salt cod, 1½ cups cooked rice, 1½ cups medium white sauce, ½ cup chopped onion, ½ cup chopped green pepper, 1 cup soft bread crumbs, 1 tablespoon butter.

Freshen the salt cod by rinsing it and then soaking in cold water to cover for 6 to 8 hours or overnight, changing the water once or twice. Drain, cover with fresh cold water and bring to simmering temperature but do not let boil. Pour off the water and taste the fish. If too salty, repeat the heating operation. Drain and flake the fish.

Place half of the cooked rice in the bottom of a greased casserole and add the cod. Sprinkle with half of the chopped onion and green pepper and pour half of the white sauce over top. Add in layers the remainder of the rice, green pepper, onion and sauce, then top with the bread crumbs. Dot with butter and bake in a moderate oven (350°F.) till heated through and the crumbs are browned. This will take about 30 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

Your Child's Career

Competition for brainpower is terrific. This is a result of spectacular advances in science having paid revolutionary returns. For example, new chemical controls for grasshoppers in Alberta in 1950 paid the farmer a return of 120 to 1 on his expenditure.

Agriculture, the basic industry that feeds the world is crying aloud for trained men. The United States Department of Agriculture estimates its annual need at 15,000 new trained men in agriculture annually. Only 8,500 will get the necessary degrees in 1956. The situation in Canada is similar.

The shortage of trained teachers has been driven home to all of us in the last few years.

If we are to maintain our standard of living we must know more and more about what people need in food and clothing, and what gaps exist between these needs and the supply available. Only trained household economists can carry on the necessary research. These graduates supply, as well, our ever-increasing need for hospital and restaurant dietitians and certain types of social workers.

FOLLOWS MOTHER

Lethbridge (CP) — Mrs. Winnifred Goodland and her daughter, Dorothy, claim they are the first mother and daughter both to graduate from the Galt Hospital of Nursing here. Mrs. Godland graduated in 1927 and her daughter this year.

Q.W.I. Executive Meeting This Week

The executive of the Quebec Women's Institutes is meeting this week in Montreal. The president, Mrs. G. D. Harvey, Stanbridge East, will preside and it is expected all members will be present.

Final checking will be given on a manual which is being compiled for the use of Q.W.I. members. This will be entitled, "Do's and Don't for Quebec Women's Institutes" and, when completed, will form a companion piece for the Handbook.

The final report on the UNESCO Gift Coupon Scheme will be received. This is now closed, around $100 coming in during the last few days. This will also be used for training centres in Ceylon, a similar amount had ben sent earlier, in addition to the sewing machines for Mysore, India.

Approval will be given to a new project, the making of school uniforms for six-year-old boys and girls in camps of the Middle East. This is being undertaken at the request of the Women's Voluntary Services and promises to be well supported by Q.W.I. members.

MIXED DRINK

Your children will be able to drink their fruit juice and milk simultaneously, The Financial Post reports. Normally, if you mix fruit juice and milk, the juice curdles the milk. A new process involving the addition of pectin prevents this; "fruit milk" can be pasteurized and kept like the standard variety.

Looking Ahead

Old age pensioners at Haney, B.C., held a sale of home sewing and set aside $10 from the proceeds for Christmas hampers for the needy. The remainder goes toward their own Christmas dinner.

Fashions

Soft woolen does nicely for this slim dress of the sheath type but with a little more ease. It closes in back with a zipper and has a round, high neckline, ideal for costume jewelry. With it is a wool tweed coat in green flecked with black and white. The coat has a small stand-up collar of black wool. Side belts button above slit pockets. The sleeves taper to a narrow forearm. Together it is a good ensemble and each piece on its own has many virtues.

HAD CHANCE TO JOIN SHEIK'S HAREM

—Central Press Canadian

Nassa Raels of Vancouver, B.C., claims to be one of the few Canadians ever given an opportunity to join the harem of an Arab sheik. Travelling in Galil, Asia Minor, under the sponsorship of the Zionist Association of Canada, she was spotted by a nomadic Bedouin chief, who offered $1,000 for her. "He liked my red hair," says Nassa, who politely declined.

A Weekly Feature of Helpful Hints on Child Training

Thumb-Sucker

(Copyright) — By NANCY CLEAVER —

"He sucks his thumb! I just can't make him stop!" a mother complained to another friend.

"Why worry? — he'll grow out of it," she answered calmly.

"I wish I could be sure of that!" the mother thought.

Mother and Dad must do their best not to get upset about thumb sucking. Nagging or punishing a child for this only makes it worse. Talking about it to the child in an effort to reason with the youngster, or discussing it with another adult in the child's hearing, only concentrate the boy's or girl's attention on thumb sucking.

Countless parents have worried about thumb sucking. Babies have a need to suck and during the first year of a child's life sucking during the feeding time is one of the main sources of pleasure. This instinct is strongest in his first six months, and then gradually lessens and is replaced.

In primitive tribes and in homes where a baby is fed, not by the clock, but "on demand", when he cries for his meal, thumb sucking is uncommon.

A baby should never be hurried away from the breast or the bottle. He should have time to enjoy his food while his mother holds him in her arms. The mother who forces her child to drink from a cup at a very early age, and makes him forego the pleasure of sucking his milk, may find that the baby substitutes his thumb for a nipple.

It is the rare infant who does not suck his thumb once in a while! A habit is easier to prevent than to break once it is firmly established. Giving baby a sterilized rubber ring to bite and suck, or handing the older baby a clean toy to hold, will often redirect the youngster's attention away from his thumb.

Approximately one child out of every three or four sucks his thumb to some extent after babyhood is left behind. Only when this habit is long-continued, with the hand pressing on the roof of the mouth or the lower jaw is the shape of the mouth and the formation of teeth harmed. Cases of very sore thumbs and mouth damage are comparatively rare.

The parents who go to the Child Specialist to discuss an undesirable habit (thumb sucking is just one of several) which is persisting into the school age, will discover that the doctor tries to look beneath the surface and find the cause.

The doctor, as a rule, does not prescribe an artificial way to force the child to stop. But rather he attempts to find the conditions under which the child resorts to thumb sucking. When the parents can remove the cause, the thumb sucking will gradually disappear.

Mothers usually observe that a child sucks his thumb when he is tired or hungry or not feeling well, or is shy or emotionally upset. Many children go through the day without thumb sucking until bed time. Changing the child's routine — with more rest or earlier hours for meals and bed may help. A doctor, after a routine physical examination, may prescribe a tonic, or make a suggestion which will improve the child's general condition. Frequently his thumb sucking will be replaced by more active, satisfying play.

Occasionally a child who is in excellent physical condition sucks his thumb because he is bored. He needs interesting play material to keep him busy. If he is three or more he is beginning to long for companionship of other children, his own age. Mother would do well to provide him with chums rather than buy mechanical restraints for thumb sucking.

Crosses

Each life has its crosses
And the soldier gets his share,
From a trip across the ocean
To the envied Croix de Guerre.

There are crosses on his letters —
Far too many, so it seems;
There are crosses by the censor
And the lady of his dreams.

There's a cross that's worn by heroes
Who have faced a storm of lead;
There's a cross when he is wounded,
And a cross when he is dead.

Then there's the cross of victory
Which very few may own;
To a soldier that is second
To that of God alone. . .

It's a cross that's worn by women;
When we see it we believe
We recognize an angel
By the RED CROSS on her sleeve.

Should 'Village' Become A 'Town'? Essential Differences in Status

Advantages and Disadvantages Considered

This directive from the Quebec Department of Municipal Affairs is published, in abreviated form, for the consideration of councillors, taxpayers and all concerned in the current move to elevate the Village of Brownsburg to the status of a Town. The The pros and cons are featured in this newspaper at the expressed wish of the Mayor, so that Brownsburg residents may be informed on all aspects of the proposal.

A few of the differences between a village municipality and a town municipality, from both the municipal and the administrative points of view, are summarized below:

According to the Cities and Towns Act, a village municipality with a population of over 2,000 may be incorporated by the Lieutenant-Governor in Council into a town municipality, by letters patent.

The said population must be established by a means made especially for this purpose by two persons named by the council.

The fees in respect to the letters patent amount to $150.00. Also to be paid are the cost of the notices published in the Quebec Official Gazette, the salary of the two census-takers and the fees of the lawyer retained by the council to prepare the legal proceedings.

A village is governed by the Municipal Code.

The whole economy of the Municipal Code is aimed at meeting the needs of the agricultural class. Indeed, nearly three-quarters of the articles of the Municipal Code concern roads, bridges, water-courses, rural inspectors, road inspectors, pound-keepers, etc., whereas there are very few sections in the Cities and Towns Act dealing with these points.

The Cities and Towns Act, on the other hand, deals rather with the requirements of the urban class: the construction of waterworks, sewers, roads, sidewalks, public parks, the organization of police stations, fire stations, etc.

Where there are numerous farmers within the limits of a village, it is better for the territory to continue to be governed by the Municipal Code because problems concerning water-courses, etc., always present themselves, and the Cities and Towns Act is silent in these cases.

There is a notable difference from the point of view of elections.

Under the Municipal Code, municipal offices are obligatory and a person is obliged to accept his nomination as mayor, councillor or as pound-keeper, rural inspector, etc., whether he desires such nomination or not.

Under the Cities and Towns Act, municipal offices are not obligatory and the interested party must even acquiesce thereto before being named.

In the Municipal Code, half of the councillors retire from office each year. In the Cities and Towns Act, the mayor and all the aldermen retire from office together at the same date, in the month of February, every two years.

The Cities and Towns Act permits the dividing of the town into wards for voting purposes, which the Municipal Code does not allow. However, such division is not advisable in the case of town municipalities of minor importance.

In the Cities and Towns Act, candidates for the offices of mayor or of aldermen must deposit $50 at the time they are nominated, and defeated candidates lose this deposit if they do not obtain at least one third of the votes received by the elected candidate.

Under the Municipal Code, there are three classes of voters: proprietors, tenants, and the consorts or sons and daughters of age of residing proprietors.

That means to say that a resident proprietor, whose wife and children of age reside with him, has several votes.

This does not exist in the Cities and Towns Act. The proprietors vote. As for the tenants, they vote only if they pay taxes.

If the tenants pay taxes in the town and, consequently, if they have the right to vote, it may happen that being more numerous than the proprietors they may take control of the administration.

As regards regulations respecting construction, zoning and town-planning, the powers are about identical today for both the village and town.

However, towns have an advantage in that they may prepare a general plan of the whole and homologate streets, avenues or parks for the future.

These latter powers do not exist in the Municipal Code.

The Cities and Towns Act accords great protection to farmers whose lands are included within a town's limits, from the standpoint of valuation. If there happen to be several farmers in the municipality, that would mean that the town's revenues from this source would be less considerable in future.

As regards municipal valuation, there is only one important distinction to be made.

Under the Municipal Code factory machinery is not taxable, whereas under the Cities and Towns Act the assessors are bound to add the value of the machinery to the value of the factory and land when they draw up the assessment of this industry, where this machinery is immoveable by nature or purpose.

(It is possible for this point to be seen from different angles. If important industries are located within the limits of the municipality, the town council will be able to assess their machinery, which hitherto could not be done, and thus there will be greater revenue. On the other hand, industries which might have thought of establishing themselves there, after taking everything into account, will decide perhaps to establish themselves in the neighboring municipality, if the latter is governed by the Municipal Code, in order to avoid paying taxes on their machinery.)

Municipalities under the Municipal Code are accorded great protection by law against claims which might be made against them by motorists for damages resulting from poor maintenance of roads in winter. Indeed, the Municipal Code declares that the council is not responsible for damages by motorists when these damages occur on earth roads or on winter roads.

This protection is non-existent in the Cities and Towns Act.

As regards grants, it happens in a number of cases that these grants are intended for municipalities governed by the Municipal Code rather than for those governed by the Cities and Towns Act.

However, it is easy for each interested council to assure itself of what this would mean exactly in such a case, by enquiring from the Departments concerned whether such a grant, given to it in the latter years while the corporation was governed by the Municipal Code, would have been paid to the corporation if it had been a city or a town.

The council should also enquire from the Department of Education as to what would be the result of the incorporation of a village into a town from the point of view of school grants. Hitherto, the difference was appreciable. Today, it is much less but there is still a certain difference.

Finally, towns do not form part of the county council.

Inasmuch as the village being erected into a town is generally one of the most important villages of the county, the county council is necessarily weakened thereby.

The town is freed of its contributions towards the county expenses, except for the registry office and the buildings serving the Magistrate's Court.

If the town effects a saving in this regard, it deprives itself on the other hand of the important services rendered by the county council. When it is a matter of settling a difference between two neighboring municipalities, there is no higher authority available to settle the case and the councils of the two interested municipalities must necessarily come to an understanding, or nothing is done.

Furthermore, as soon as the village becomes a town, sales for non-payment of taxes are no longer effected through the intermediary of the county council. The Cities and Towns Act provides for altogether different proceedings in respect to the sale of immoveables. The sale is effected by auction, by the secretary-treasurer of the city or the town, and the delay for exercising the right of redemption is one year instead of two.

* * *

Such are the principal differences between these two categories of municipalities.

As mentioned at the beginning, if the whole propulation is what we consider an urban population, it is generally better to have the powers of the Cities and Towns Act. Nevertheless, circumstances may vary considerably, and each particular case must be studied separately by the interested parties.

Game Dinner Planned For Hospitalized Vets

Quebec sportsmen are seeing to it that hospitalized veterans at the St. Annes and Senneville D.V.A. Hospitals are going to get a taste of game this year. For many of the patients it will be their first taste of wild game since before they left for the services 15, and in some cases, 42 years ago.

These men, who can't get around to do their own hunting, will be feted at a Game Dinner November 14th by the sportsmen of Quebec. The menu will include moose, deer, partridge, duck, geese, and even the exotic pheasant with all the trimmings. The game will come from the hunters themselves.

Word is already in that sportsmen are organizing special hunts when all the game they get during that hunt will go to giving the boys their Game Dinner. Individual sportsmen also have called to dedicate their hunting to the dinner.

Hunters wishing to join in the Game Dinner are asked to ship it to or deliver it to "Canada Cold Storage, 733 William Street, Montreal" clearly marking the parcel "Veterans Game Dinner". Roasts, quarters, and full carcasses of both deer and moose should be wrapped to keep them clean, and birds should be plucked and drawn before delivery.

Money is not being solicited. However, if a sportsman's hunt has been unsuccessful, or he hasn't been able to get out, and still wants to participate, he can. Wild rice, cranberries and other condiments will be required. A call to General Chairman Les Morrow at UNiversity 1-2571 will tell you what is needed to round out the menu.

The Game Dinner is being held with the full co-operation of the Quebec Department of Fish and Game.

Divorces in Canada numbered 2,068 in 1939, 7,683 in 1847, and 5,922 in 1954.

Your favorite movie star's smile beams three times as clear and bright from an aluminum screen recently developed for outdoor theatres.

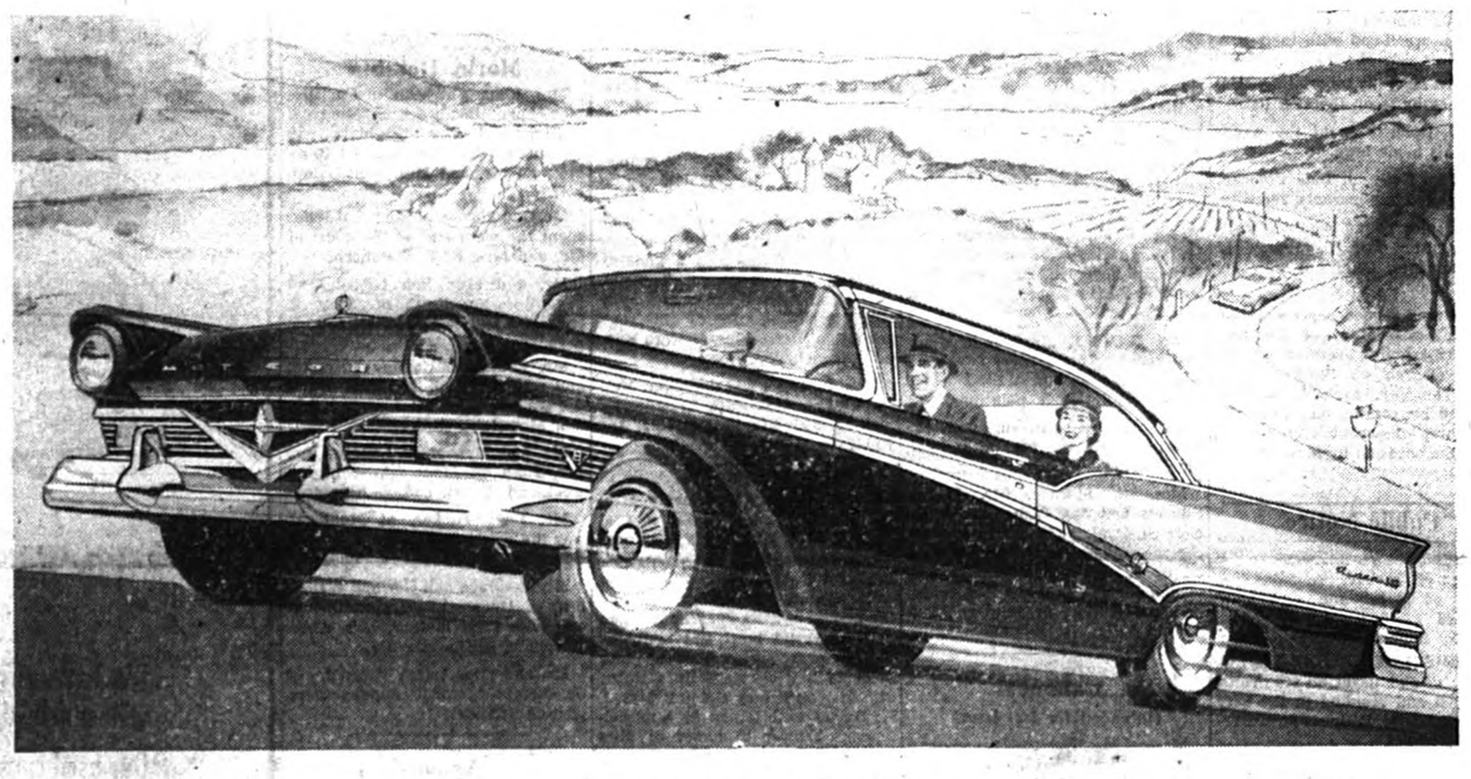

The new screen has won the praise of both audiences and owners. Little wonder the latter like it: one operator found his receipts increased by $40,000 in two months after he replaced his conventional screen with the highly reflective, weather-proof aluminum job.

And so it goes . . . Still another improved product, still another use for this versatile modern metal. The result: everybody gains by production from Canadian smelters that already account for a quarter of the world's primary aluminum.

Alberta Bears Miss Tourists

Waterton Lakes, Alta. (CP) — Since the start of autumn bears have begun visiting cafes and homes in Waterton. During the summer, when the tourist season booms in this southwest Alberta National Park, there was ample garbage around to feed the bears. Now they seek it in town.

A downtown cafe, the Kootenai Lodge, was among the first to be raided. A mother bear and two cubs gained entrance through a hole where air goes into the cafe's refrigerator compressor.

A staff member discovered the bears and chased them out with a fire hose. The hole was covered with iron bars to prevent further visits. What is believed the same bear returned the following night and was caught in a trap set by park game wardens, then released in a more remote area.

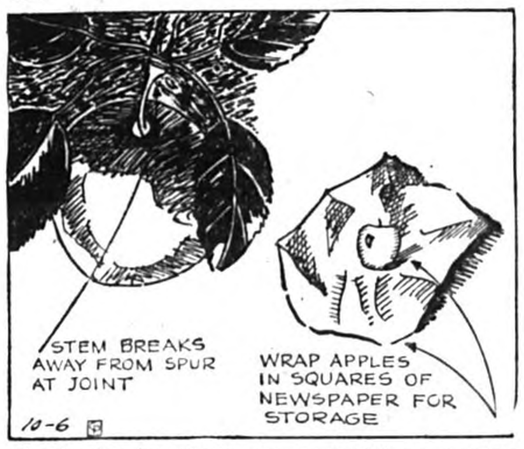

A mother bear and three cubs also entered Lula Neilson's house through a back door, held partly open by a stick. Miss Neilson, in the front of the house, suspected bears had come when she heard the door slam.

Having had previous experience Miss Neilson went out, picked up a club and beat on the outside of the walls.

The bears, frightened by the heavy pounding, ran out the way they came and disappeared into the nearby bush.

Garden-Graph

There's a lot of satisfaction in bringing out of home storage a bowlful of your own apples during the winter months.

The time to pick apples is when the fruit has reached maturity, but before any great number are showing the mellow ripeness best for eating.

A specific test for maturity of apples is seeing how easily they separate from the tree. Nature begins to cut loose the fruits from the tree when it is time for them to be harvested. A so-called abscission layer of cells begins to develop on the spur or twig at the point to which the apple stem is attached, and eventually will cause the fruit to drop from the tree by cutting the stem loose. The time to pick is when this process has just begun.

If when the fruit is bent out of normal hanging position, it comes loose from the twig easily and without breaking the stem, the apples are ready to pick.

Be careful not to injure the spur when picking an apple. As shown in the accompanying Garden-Graph, the stem should break away from the spur at the joint, leaving the fruit spur unharmed, with stem attached to the apple.

Wrapping apples for storage prevents wilting, reduces changes of temperature, retards ripening, checks the spread of disease and decay, and prevents bruising.

Use squares of newspaper as shown in the Garden-Graph. Place an apple in the centre of the square of paper then bring the paper round it with a quick twisting motion. The wrapped apples should then be packed in a box.

Apples are best stored in a cool, frost-proof place where the temperature is between 30 and 40 degrees. There should also be some moisture in the air so the fruits will not shrivel.

SOVIET SECRETARY SOUGHT SECRETS AT OTTAWA CLUB

—Central Press Canadian

Canadian authorities expelled G. F. Popov, above, second secretary of the Russian embassy, for an attempt to obtain military secrets through contacts at the Ottawa Chess club. He was expelled in August after accountant James S. Staples told RCMP officers that Popov had asked him about planes. Staples was later discarged from the RCAF as a security risk as he had accepted a $50 loan from Popov.

AVOWED CANDIDATES

Shadow-boxing in the Progressive Conservative leadership contest ended with announcements from two Western members of the Commons that they are ready and willing to stand as candidates.

John Diefenbaker and Davie Fulton made the statements last Friday, two months before the start December 10 of a convention here at which some 1,400 party members will elect a leader to succeed Hon. George Drew, who resigned because of poor health.

Mr. Diefenbaker, 61-year-old MP for Prince Albert, Sask., told a gathering in his home riding that he will not "seek the high honor of leadership" but is willing to let his name stand if it is the wish of "Canadians generally." There seemed little doubt about the party's spokesman on external affairs would be in the running.

Mr. Fulton, 40-year-old member for Kamloops, B.C., was more definite. In a statement at Kamloops, he said: "I have decided to accept the urgings of my friends and colleagues and to allow my name to stand."

A third person who has been considered a likely contender, Donald Fleming (Toronto Eglinton) said he had "no comment at present." George Hees, M.P. for Toronto Broadview, bowed out of contention previously with a "Diefenbaker for leader" move.

In the midst of a Prairie speaking tour, Mr. Hees said at Saskatoon he was "delighted" at Mr. Diefenbaker's statement and said he believes the Prince Albert M.P. "will be able to lead our party to victory" at the next election, expected next June.

UNIVERSITY GRANTS

University heads across Canada were elated over Prime Minister St. Laurent's statement that he will recommend to the next session of Parliament that grants to universities be doubled from $8,000,000 to $16,000,000.

Mr. St. Laurent qualified this declaration with the condition that the National Conference of Canadian Universities accept the job of distributing the federal funds. Such an arrangement would probably be acceptable to Quebec. That province refused the grants when they came directly from the central govrnment on the grounds that they constituted federal infringement in a strictly provincial field.

Indications were that the NCCU would be happy to undertake the distribution.

LANGUAGE TUSSLE

A protest by the Ottawa branch of the Protestant Women's Federation of Canada against use of bilingual street signs in the capital led to prospects of a constitutional amendment that would recognize both English and French as Canada's official languages.

The Protestant women claimed that "the official use of the French language is illegal and a violation of the constitution."

A series of mildly violent repercussions was climaxed by submission by Bona Arseneault, Liberal member for Bonaventure, to the clerk of the Commons of a resolution calling for amendment of the British North America Act to make both languages official.

He saw them wonderful waterfalls in Yoho National Park and the mineral hot springs in Banff, and he's still talkin about the beauty of Lake Louise. He says Canada has 17 national parks, not countin, the historic parks, with a total area of about 29,000 square miles. In the United States, there's 28 national parks, with an area of about 20,000 square miles.

The profession of forestry has grown, steadily for the past 50 years, they tell me, till 1950. That year our forestry schools graduated 2321 young foresters — but by last year the number had dropped to 825 That means about 1200 forestry jobs in both government and industry will go unfilled this year, 'cause there are no trained fellers to fil them!

Mount Hood, National Forest, a Clatsop Tree Farm, a Phillips Brooks Forest, or a Gaylord Plantation?" All these places, Joe Moon says, are beautiful — in part — because of their forest lands. And he asked me, "Stumpy" — knowin' how I feel about trees—"Stumpy, what do you figure is the most tragic loss from forest fire: loss of watershed, loss of recreation area, or loss of timber?" Well., sir, I told him, "Joe, there's no answer to that question — they're all tragic."

Like most tree farmers, I do a lot of bucking. That's when you cut a log into sections of a desired length. 'Course, when you're buckin,' it's always best to stand uphill from logs you've already bucked— so they won't fall down on you! And you always want to give plenty of warning to other fellers in the vicinity of a log that may have a tendency to roll after bucking! For this work you need a saw whose bar is at least half the diameter of the logs you're cuttin'.

Witnesses' Case on Educational Rights Goes to Appeals Court

By Tom Mitchell

Quebec (CP) — A case involving education rights of minority groups in Quebec Province will be heard by seven of the 12 judges of the Quebec Province court of appeals. The hearing was ordered by Chief Justice Antonin Galipeault because of "extremely important" aspects of the case.

The chief justice said he believes it will be the first time in Canada seven judges of a provincial appeals court will sit together for a case. The new hearing will be held November 6.

The normal three-judge bench heard the appeal of Cajetan Chabot, member of the Jehovah's Witnesses sect, from a superior court decision September 27, 1955. The superior court dismissed Chabot's suit to have his two children reinstated at a Catholic school and declared exempt from taking part in classroom religious exercises. Both were expelled after refusing to take religious instruction.

The announcement that a new hearing would be held before seven judges followed consultation in private chambers. Chief Justice Galipeault said a majority of the whole court was decided upon since constitutional validity of Quebec Province school laws may become involved.

Lawyer Glen How, counsel with Samuel Bard for Chabot, told the court he would contest the constitutional validity of the Quebec school code if Jean-Pierre Chabot, 9, and Marcel, 7, were not allowed to attend the Catholic school at Lamorandiere Township, near Amos, Quebec, without taking part in the Catholic religious instruction and activities. The school is the only one in the township.

The children were expelled by order of the school commission last year after they refused to take part in the periods of prayer and religious instruction. Mr. How said forcing the children to participate in these prayers was an infringement on the religious freedom of the witnesses.

Mr. How also quoted the law allowing Jews attending Catholic schools to be exempt from religious activities if their parents objected. He said Protestants — the supreme court of Canada has ruled Witnesses are considered Protestants under Quebec school laws — should be treated in the same way.

Charles Barbes, representing the school commission, told the court the children were expelled for refusal to take a course prescribed by the school curriculum and for causing "disorder" during periods of religious instruction and prayer.

Terrorism

By Lewis Milligan

Of all the isms known to and practiced by mankind, Terrorism is the most brutal; its prototype among the lower animals is the tiger. Blake vividly described the terror and treachery of that wild beast:

"Tiger: tiger: burning bright
In the forests of the night."

And that is a true picture of the terrorists in Cyprus and Algeria today. They prowl in the shadows, spring out upon their prey and disappear into their hiding. A tragic and pathetic example of these tiger tactics appeared in a Reuters dispatch from Algeria, as follows:

"A 9-year-old French girl today told reporters how she escaped death and saved a 5-year-old boy in an ambush near the port of Mostaganem last night. The girl's father was killed, one of more than 15 persons who lost their lives at the hands of the rebel terrorists in the normally peaceful area.

"Daddy and I were returning home by car to Mostaganem," said Jeanine Perez, "when the cars ahead of us suddenly braked. We heard rifle fire, then men in military uniform ran on to the road. Daddy squeezed me tightly, kissed me hard, and then said, 'Save yourself, darling. Run away quickly'."

As a father, I felt the terror and poignant agony of that last tight grip and hard kiss — and who would not? We live in a land where such things do not happen, except perhaps in a minor degree in the form of intimidation during protracted labor strikes. In Cyprus and Algeria and other countries where Communism has raised its head, such tragedies are common. In Soviet Russia, terrorism is necessary to ensure individual obedience to the system of forced labor. But the Russian people have lived under terrorism as a form of government since and before Ivan the Terrible. They are therefore more amenable to the Communist system.

Terrorism has always been associated with rebellion. The reign of Terror during the French Revolution was highly organized. It was backed by the Revolutionary Tribunal and enforced by the Law of Suspects. The guillotine was the chief instrument of the Terror and 2,500 heads fell beneath it in one year. All wealth, agricultural, industrial, and commercial, was placed under state control; prices and wages were fixed in all fields. This system called for dictatorship and, after a vicious struggle for power betwen the leaders, Robespierre assumed that position. Exactly the same thing happened in the Bolshevist revolution in Russia.

The use of terrorism by rebels may be justified or excused where people have been ruled by terror or tyranny, but that does not apply to British rule in Cyprus or French rule in Algeria. The people of those countries have prospered under colonization. Algeria in fact is politically on the same basis as France itself. The country has been developed agriculturally by the irrigation of large tracts of land which were barren desert. Algiers, the capital, is modern and European in appearance, with a good university and other colleges, as well as several Mohammedan schools of higher learning. It has an excellent harbor and is one of France's leading ports and an important coaling station for Mediterranean ships.

The rebels in both Cyprus and Algeria are incited by communist propaganda and many of their leaders have been trained in terror tactics at Moscow. The Middle East is infested with these Soviet-trained terrorists, and Nasser himself is using them and taking instructions direct from Moscow for securing full control of the Suez lifeline of the Western World.

'No Red Tape' As Poppy Fund Helps Needy

From almost 200 Legion branches come heart-warming reports of where the poppy welfare-dollar goes. A look at the files reveals one similarity in all cases: whether it concerns a 17 member branch in Northern Saskatchewan or a 700-member branch in Southern Ontario, the help was given quickly, willingly and without red tape.

Some cases are pathetic, plumbing the depths of human despair. For instance a young girl living on borrowed time gets a few more years of life through Legion help. A man lies dead in an undertaker's basement because his surviving wife cannot pay the undertaker the money required to have the body rest in the funeral home.

Most cases, however, are not of a spectacular nature. They are composed of the hum-drum fabric which human misery: a sick father, mounting expenses, no funds, hungry children. These elements seldom make the headlines. Neither does the assistance which Legion branches lend. Yet the help is always there, prompt, and tempered with understanding.

Ironically, over 70 per cent of the people assisted by Poppy funds are not Legion members. But the Legion's tradition of service to veterans and dependents transcends membership, reaching into every corner of Canada where a veteran needs a hand.

Here are a few illustrations of how the poppy dollar works and how much it is needed.

. . . . Clem started farming when he got out of the army. Unfortunately, he picked the stubborn bushland of Alberta to do it on. Poor weather and poor soil allied themselves against Clem, keeping him poor and exhausted from over-work.

One morning, two years ago, Clem was starting the tractor in front of his small homestead. As usual, he was about to drive his sons, ages seven and nine, one mile down the road to where they met the school bus.

The tractor wouldn't start. Wearily Clem picked up the crank and went around to the front of the machine.

When the children came out seconds later, they found their father lying there unconscious. Clem never recovered from the heart attack but died shortly afterwards.

Clem had been so busy trying to make things grow that he had never thought of death. There was no insurance and no money. For the first time since coming to Canada, his English-born wife felt the cold fear born of being alone and needing help.

Word of Clem's death soon reached the village, and within a few hours officials of the local Legion branch visited Clem's widow, looking after funeral arrangements and giving her a cheque for $100. . . .

Family Disaster

. . . Two cars hurtle towards each other in Northern Ontario. There is a scream, the screech of tires and a crash. In the twisted wreckage of one car the driver is dead. His wife is critically injured but their four children are unharmed.

In a split second, a family disintegrates. The mother is rushed to hospital where she is to spend the next eight months. Newcomers to a new community, the family has no relatives or immediate friends.

While the woman fights for her life in hospital, the Legion takes over funeral arrangements for her husband. They also arrange to send the four children to their grandmother, making sure that they will be properly cared for.

Although some insurance was forthcoming, there was a considerable delay and expenses mounted. The Legion branch assisted financially and also got the mother a widow's allowance. Thus relieved of the double burden of debt and doubts about her children's well-being, the widow was able to recover.

From the point of view of the poppy fund, there is nothing unique about these cases. As one branch secretary put it: "I've worked with the poppy fund for 25 years. And, thinking about it, I'd say the same theme runs through each case. Somebody ill, no money, hungry kids. It's satisfying to know that the Legion can help . . . even in cases where nothing more than a bag of groceries does the trick."

REGINA BOOKLET HAD FEW BUYERS

Regina (CP) — A civic publishing venture has cost the city $3,600. Last year, city council ordered 3,000 copies of "Regina the Queen City," and guaranteed sale of 70 per cent. The contract with the Toronto publishers (McClelland and Stuart) provided the city would buy back the $5 booklets at $3 each if unsold by September.

The publisher reported 1,200 copies of 2,100 printed remained unsold.

Have You A Question on UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE OR EMPLOYMENT?

In this column we publish questions about unemployment insurance and employment, together with answers received from the Unemployment Insurance Commission.

If you are uncertain about any point do not hesitate to send your question to your district Unemployment Insurance office. We will obtain an answer and publish it in this column.

Q. Since a sick person is entitled, under the Unemployment Insurance Act, to benefits during the period she is unable to work, is a pregnant women also entitled to benefits when she must quit her job?

A. Benefits may be paid during sickness to those who were drawing benefits at the time they became ill. However, incapacity for work because of pregnancy is not considered to be incapacity due to illness within the meaning of the Unemployment Insurance Act. A pregnant woman who voluntarily leaves her employment on account of pregnancy is considered to be not available for work and therefore not entitled to draw benefit for the time being.

Q. I am not able to do my usual type of work and will be laid off at the end of the month. I would like to take a course, say in typing. Would I be able to draw benefits while taking the course?

A. The Act provides that benefits may be drawn while persons are taking a course to which they have been directed by any officer of the Commission. Whether or not a claimant can be directed to a course depends on the circumstances in the individual case and you should take this matter up with the local office.

Old Rifle in Itinerant Military Display Is Recognized by Former World War Soldier

The Military and Historical Exhibition at the Lachute Legion Hall last week-end, following a successful show in the City of Hull, scored an unscheduled hit in this area when a rifle dating back to World War I, 1914-18, and now belonging to the museum of the Royal 22nd Regiment, Quebec, was identified here as "Rosalie", the one-time weapon of a local veteran of the First War and his inseparable sidekick during three years of combat on French soil.

During the Great World War it was the custom of the soldiers of the 22nd to christen their rifles with a girl's name, and it was this carbine that Henri (Pop) Lecorre named "Rosalie".

In visiting the exhibition over the week-end, the local veteran was surprised to find his former rifle in a show-case as part of the exhibit, as it has apparently been in a museum since the end of the war. On being informed of the coincidence concerning the rifle, Capt. Deneault and Lieut. Côté, who accompanied the show, permitted Pop Lecorre once again to handle the old familiar rifle and to have his picture taken with it.

Identification of the rifle was confirmed by the officers in charge, questioning Mr. Lacorre as to the serial number, which he quoted, after these 38 long years, transposing only two figures.

According to Mr. Lecorre, it was at Mercatel, France, in June 1918 that he became separated from his "Rosalie", after being wounded in the field of battle and unconscious for 32 hours. He was later informed that his rifle had been found near a body.

"Rosalie" carries some record of her travels during three years of the war — the inscriptions, in fact, having caused the owner 28 days in detention. An amateur carver, Mr. Lecorre carved "Rosalie" on the butt of the rifle, and followed this, with the names of various battles in which his regiment was engaged. The names, recall Mont St. Eloi, Lens, Bully-Grenay, Neuville - St. Vaast, Courcelette, Vimy Ridge, Hill 70, Mericourt, and finally Mercatel, where he was wounded. It was for this apparently harmless diversion that he was court martialled, had to pay the cost of the rifle and was jailed for 28 days!

Today (Thursday) at St. Jerome, where the exhibit is now on view Mr. Lecorre will officially present his "Rosalie" to the authorities in charge of the museum, at a military ceremony to be attended by officers of the Royal 22nd Regiment.

Historical Military Display at Legion Hall

Henri "Pop" Lecorre, local World War I veteran, is shown at the recent military and historical exhibit at the Legion Hall, following his discovery of "Rosalie", a rifle which he used in three years of combat. An amateur carver, Lecorre had inscribed the battles of the campaign on the stock of his rifle.

Opening Ceremonies and Presentation of Prizes At Lachute High School

School Glee Club and Choristers Back in Promising Form, to Lighten Proceedings

One notable innovation in the High School opening exercises, held last Friday evening in the school auditorium, was a song session which interspersed the program — signifying a return of Music to the curriculum this year, which is a source of general satisfaction among pupils and parents alike.

The exercises were attended by a capacity audience, with Commissioner Jas. W. McGibbon in his traditional role as chairman and Principal Fred Royal reporting on school affairs — both with a record of 11 years in these respective offices. Also on the platform as guests of honor were the Hon. W. M. Cottingham, Minister of Mines; members of the Protestant clergy; representatives of the prize donors, including the Women's Institutes and Legion Branch 70; Geo. Y. Deacon of the Protestant Committee of Education; and Doug Bradford, veteran school commissioner.

The Rev. Jas. Armour gave an opening prayer, and the chairman introduced Miss Nadia Neznick, under whose training the pupils' glee club and junior choir have made excellent progress in the short period since school reopened. Miss Neznick played the accompaniments and directed these two choral groups in a number of creditable renditions. The recital included a new school song with words by Omah Alderson, selected from pupils' competitive entries and set to music by Miss Neznick.

Following appropriate remarks by Chairman McGibbon, Principal Royal named the newcomers to the teaching staff and their respective duties, then proceeded with his report on the school record.

Lachute High School — the principal contended—holds an enviable place among the schools of the province. In most cases the steady growth and demands, coupled with the scarcity of teachers, had resulted in a lowered standard of education. But not so in Lachute — if results were a fair indication.

The number of pupils dropping out before finishing school, is less here than in most Quebec schools.

There has been a normal increase of enrolment from 10 to 35 pupils, since 1953. . . Last June there were 81.5 per cent of Grade XI who obtained the High School Leaving certificate; the provincial average was 75.6. . . For that year Lachute had a failure average of 20.5 per cent in Grade X; the provincial average was 30.4.

Of the pupils graduating in June, eight proceeded to Macdonald College — which, according to Principal Fred Royal, could be counted as a credit to the community, and also to last year's teaching staff.

The L.H.S. teaching faculty has seven newcomers this year, including the music teacher, who is re-establishing this subject to its former prestige on the curriculum. The total staff numbers 29 teachers — "who hope this year to have every opportunity to justify your confidence." The principal added, in conclusion, that Education, to achieve its best for our pupils, must be a co-operative effort between the staff, the parents, and the school board.

Brief speeches were given by the Hon. Mr. Cottingham; Miss Jean Taylor of Grade X, who thanked the prize donors on behalf of her fellow school-pupils; and Mr. C. Demerse, of Legion Branch 70, expressing the sentiments of the donors.

The presentation of a lengthy list of prizes occupied the major portion of the program. Additional to the school prizes were three trophies to the 1956 School Fair winners, presented by Mrs. Mansel Wilson, county president of the Women's Institutes, and the prize to Omah Alderson as winner of the school song contest.

The choral groups, and the student body even to the youngest pupils, accompanied by their class teachers, gave a creditable account of themselves throughout the proceedings.

Round-Up Brings 7 Youths to Court, Entering and Theft

Seven district residents, ranging in age from 16 to 19, were charged in St. Jerome court yesterday in connection with numerous cases of breaking and entering, and attempted thefts, in Lachute, Ayersville and St. Andrews East.

The round-up started about one a.m. Tuesday, when Lieut. Oscar Sabourin and Cst. Marcel Therrien picked up two of the younger members near the bandstand in the Memorial Park in close proximity to the Lachute Police Station. The two were questioned and revealed information leading to the arrest of several others, one of whom was released Tuesday evening.

Four Lachute youths were held in the local cells Tuesday night and yesterday morning another local youth and two more from St. Andrews East were taken in for questioning, being transferred in the afternoon to St. Jerome, where they were formally charged.

Close co-operation between Det. Ralph Allen and Police Chief Fernand Trépanier and their respective staffs aided considerably in the general roundup. It is reported that statements admitting their guilt were given by the suspects, who were officially charged by the provincial authorities.

In addition to the total of 13 charges laid yesterday, the police authorities state that those arrested have admitted nine attempted thefts, also to minor pilfering for which no charges will be laid.

There still remain several similar cases to be solved, as well as the theft of money and other valuables from the homes of Thos. Milnes, George Tattersfield and Edgar Pollock in the East Ward of Lachute. It is anticipated that several others will be charged in connection with these and similar instances of breaking and entering.

Boyd's Express Has Drivers Entered In Truck Tourney

Marcel Desjardins and Leo Emond, two transport drivers on the staff of Boyd's Lachute Express, will be local representatives at the Provincial Truck Tournament at the Montreal Show Mart on November 3-4.

The two local men, along with Don MacRae and Angus Woods, were picked from a total of 16 of Boyd's drivers eligible for the contest sponsored by the Quebec Trucking Association. The local entries were selected in an elimination contest held at the Lachute warehouse during the past two week-ends. MacRae qualified to enter the Provincial competition, but is not sure of his accident-free record.

Winning the finals Sunday were Marcel Desjardins and Don MacRae, in the Trailer class, and Leo Emond and Angus Woods in the straight Truck class. Of the 16 drivers entered in the competition, 12 were operators of semi-trailers and the other four in the straight truck drivers' class.

Desjardins, who placed first in his class this year, was the local second-place winner a year ago, Angus Woods taking second place in both contests. Desjardins scored 191 points out of a possible 265, Emond taking 250 out of 265, each to lead his class.

The local firm has had drivers entered in this competition since its inception four years ago. The winners from each province go to the Dominion tournament held annually in Toronto.

Progress on Building for New Masonic Temple

The foundation of the new Masonic building, now under construction in the Riverview Subdivision on Brownsburg Road, is now completed and ready for the walls and roof, which it is hoped will be added before winter sets in.

The building, which is to be 50 feet by 100 feet, will comprise a basement and, on the upper floor, the lodge and other rooms.

Situated on the Brownsburg highway this structure will be prominent in appearance, and should prove a credit to its builders.

Charities Drive Incomplete on Closing Date

With the official campaign period ending last night, Bernard Gosselin, financial campaign chairman, reported that "following ten days of intense work on the part of more than 200 auxiliary workers, the $18,400 objective of the Lachute Federation of Charities has not as yet been reached." It was stated, however, that it was extremely difficult at the moment to give exact figures, as a number of the workers have not yet completed their reports. Being convinced that the objective could not be reached, within the time allotted, Mr. Gosselin insisted on the importance of the last-minute subscriptions in a last-minute effort to reach the target.

The final figure last evening at the close of the campaign was at $11,500, this being approximately 62 per cent of the objective.

Final results will not be available for several days, after compilation of the various figures and groups is completed.

Royal Acceptance For Author's Gift

Mrs. Archie Graham, who writes under the name of Janet Pollock Graham, has been honored by Queen Elizabeth's acceptance of the gift of her book, "The Enchanted Wood," for Her Royal Highness Princess Anne. The letter of acknowledgement to Mrs. Graham, from the Queen's Lady-in-Waiting, was forwarded by His Excellency the Governor-General, and reads as follows:

Buckingham Palace,
9th October, 1956

Dear Mrs. Graham:

I am commanded by The Queen to thank you for your letter and for so kindly sending a copy of your book, "The Enchanted Wood" for Princess Anne.

Her Majesty is pleased to accept this for Her Royal Highness, and bids me tell you how much this generous thought is appreciated.

Yours sincerely,
— Jean Elphinstone,
Lady-in-Waiting.

This is the second time Mrs. Graham has been thus honored — an earlier publication by this author, "The Water Highway of Argenteuil," having been forwarded to the present Queen, who was then Princess Elizabeth, just about the time the Princess and the Duke of Edinburgh were leaving for their African tour. On hearing of the death of the Queen's father, the late King George VI, Mrs. Graham felt that no recognition would ever be made of the little phamphlet, but was deeply touched to receive, through the Queen's Lady-in-Waiting, a gracious acknowledgement not later than three weeks after the death of her father.

Such thoughtful consideration of her subjects gives evidence of the Queen's affection for her people and proves she has their interest at heart.

17 Contests Open To 4-H Members

Hundreds of 4-H members have already registered in the 17 contests open to them every year. These contests are organized to give the 4-H members an opportunity to improve their knowledge in every branch of the natural sciences.

Certain contests, dealing with the use of electricity, forest protection, fish and game, embroidery, sewing, handicraft, cooking, etc., are open to the members. Other contests are open to the clubs; these call for team work, and they develop co-operative spirit and sense of responsibility among the group.

Prizes of $100 are given to the club winners, and scholarships of $200 are offered to the 4-H members who are provincial winners. Such rewards stir the ambition and competition among the competitors. All the works must be completed by the first days of June. The prizes are presented at the 4-H annual provincial convention, which takes place in August.

Constable Don Patterson, of Sudbury, was fishing on Manitoulin Island when he found an arrowhead lying in six inches of water. He had the Indian relic mounted and presented it to a tourist resort.

Fire Chief Thanks Firemen and Public; Notice of Change

Retiring Fire Chief Geo. Y. Deacon wishes to express, through The Watchman, his sincere appreciation to the volunteer firemen and citizens who have so loyally supported his efforts during the past 38 years.

Commencing next Thursday, November 1, the Deacon establishment will no longer be headquarters for fire calls. The public are advised that calls should be directed to the Police Department, and not to Mr. Deacon's store or residence. It is hoped to have a direct phone line for fire emergencies, but until such announcement is made by the civic authorities, calls will taken at 1001.

Major D. B. Gibson, C.D., is Commanding Officer of the 37th Field Regiment, and Major H. Stutt, C.D., is Officer Commanding 131 Battery (Lachute), with Lt. R. McDonald, BSM R. O. (Dick) MacLean and BQMS C. Demerse. Sgt. Bob St. Laurent is Drill Instructor. Gun Sgt. is L. Hooker and Sgt. J. A. Pillage completes the Senior NCOs.

The local battery has negotiated to lease premises in Lachute for administration purposes and for storage of two 25-pounder guns, vehicles and equipment. This will facilitate training locally and it is hoped will encourage young men to volunteer in the service of the Queen. This militia service consists of two-year enlistment, requiring one parade night each week, also exercises, with actual firing of guns during a week of intensive training at an established military camp each year.

Militia Units are not required to do active service anywhere in Canada or elsewhere, but are required to train for possible war service in the case of aggressive invasion of the country. Each training night is equivalent to half a day's regular service pay of rank.

"UBIQUE" (Everywhere) is the motto of the Royal Canadian Artillery, and it is interesting to note that the Artillery do not fly colors, instead they parade their guns. Also artillery do not receive mention in Battle Honor Rolls as do individual military units, as artillery logically take part in all engagements of battle.

Week-End Exercise

The Battery leaves for a week-end of gun training at Farnham on Saturday, leaving at 1 p.m. and returning to Lachute on Sunday evening. The National Film Board will be covering the training on that week-end and the local battery will be included in this film coverage.

Hospital Grant Announced by Hon. W. Cottingham

The Hon. W. M. Cottingham, M.P.P. for Argenteuil and Quebec Minister of Mines, announces that a grant of $550,000 has been approved for the construction of a new hospital in the County, to be built near Lachute.

This information has been passed along to those responsible for the present Providence Hospital, which was incorporated by Act of Parliament of the Quebec Legislature previously under the name of Argenteuil Hospital. It is hoped by Mr. Cottingham that the citizens of the town and county will get behind this important and urgent project, so that completion of the hospital may be realized in the near future.

This large grant from the Quebec Government should stimulate the work of the organizers.

Digging Reveals Old Cord Road Under Main Street

A few older townsfolk were intrigued by the Bell Telephone excavations for cable-submerging on Main Street, when these operations last week unearthed the remains of an old corduroy road dating back to the last century before living memory, between the Presbyterian and Anglican church frontages.

The road was constructed of stout cedar poles which appeared to have run crosswise (north and south) for a distance of 75 or 100 feet. The poles, still comparatively sound at a depth of 30 - 36 inches below the macadam surface, defied the attacks of the power shovel and had to be cut through with an axe.

It is well remembered by old-time residents that a stream, draining the eastern section of town, ran diagonally from the direction of the C.P.R. through what is now the Bank of Nova Scotia property (at that time, the site of a tannery) and crossed Main Street into the "Frog Alley" or "Petit Canada" section, of more recent memory, then draining into the North River. The vicinity of this creek was swampy, which would account for the lengthy stretch of corduroy to allow passage over it.

To residents of younger years, it is fascinating to try and visualize this section, in contrast to the busy scene it now presents.

The digging, to lay telephone conduits the length of Main Street, has torn up an assortment of disused pipes and drains. The new fibre conduits are being steadily installed, surrounded with cement for lasting protection, and the excavation re-filled — not without considerable disruption of pedestrian and vehicular traffic, as business men and users of the thoroughfare have experienced.

RCAF Cpl. Gilbert Lacoste, 22-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Lucien Lacoste, Lachute, leaves Friday for France, where he will join the Canadian forces serving with NATO.

A member of the armed services for 4½ years, until recently Cpl. Lacoste was stationed at St. Hubert. He is armament and system technician, and his tour of duty in Marville, France, will be of two years duration.

Born in Lachute, Cpl. Lacoste attended primary school in St. André Avelin, later studying at the seminary in Papineauville, then attending the University of Ottawa.

Youth Finds Money, Restored to Owner

Alain Carrière, 13-year-old son of Mr. nad Mrs. Roland Carrière, of Lachute, found honesty the best policy last week, when he turned over a bill-fold found on the street to Police Chief Trépanier. The bill-fold, containing $204.94, had been lost by Mrs. Dan Simmons, resident of Edwin Street.

Young Carrière, who delivers milk, noticed the bill-fold one morning on the property of Lucien Desjardins, Hamford Street, but left it there thinking it worthless. The next morning, he again saw the object in the same place and decided to investigate further. On seeing the contents, he turned everything over to the police. Young Carrière received a reward of $10.

32 New Recruits As Cadet Corps Resumes Training

Cadets of "D" Company, No. 4 Highland Cadet Battalion, have started their training for the current year in the basement of the Lachute High School. Recruiting has been going on, and on the past two Monday evenings 32 new cadets have been enrolled. New uniforms, consisting of a new-pattern battle-dress, shirts, ties, boots, socks and balmoral bonnets, have been received and are being issued to all ranks.

Last Monday evening the Company paraded, 56 strong, to the Lachute Legion Hall, where they visited the Canadian Army Display being held there.

Promotions announced last Monday were — Cpl. Ray Cruise, Cpl. Bob MacAdam and Cpl. Walter Nymark, all promoted to Sergeant, and Cadet Murray Goodwin promoted Lance-Corporal. More promotions will probably be announced next Monday.

Training is again being carried out every Monday evening in the basement of Lachute High School from 8 to 10 p.m., and any boy between the ages of 14 and 18 is invited to join. The minimum height is 5½"; there is no charge for any of the uniforms, which are issued on a loan basis. It is stressed that the cadets are under no obligation for military service in the Canadian Army by reason of their belonging to the cadet corps.

Brownsburg and Morin Hts. Promote Poppy Campaign

The Canadian Legion branches in Brownsburg and Morin Heights will begin their annual Poppy Campaign on November 3 this year.

It is the obligation of the Canadian Legion to sell poppies and wreaths made by the disabled veterans, and in some cases by their dependents, as a remembrance to those who lost their lives fighting for their country.

The monies collected can be used for one purpose, and one purpose only, and that is, for immediate aid to a veteran, his family or his dependents when tragedy strikes.

The Brownsburg and Morin Heights branches are once again appealing to you to buy a poppy and wear it. Wear it proudly and wear it to the Remembrance Day service held at the Cenotaph on Sunday, November 11, at 10.45 a.m.

There is still time for any organization or business man, who wishes to order a spray or wreath to lay on the cenotaph on Remembrance Day, to do so — by contacting Mrs. M. A. Beaudry in Brownsburg or Mr. Henry Elias in Morin Heights.

For Non-Political Cultural Council

Ottawa (CP) —

The government may ask the next session of Parliament to spend between $50,000,000 and $100,000,000 to set up a long-delayed Canada Council to promote culture as recommended in 1951 by the Massey Commission, headed by Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey who now is governor-general.

As seen by the commission, the cultural body would be free of political influence. One of its jobs would be to provide scholarships to some 10,000 Canadian University students a year. It also would aid artists, dancers, musicians, actors and others in cultural fields.

Prime Minister St. Laurent, who recently suggested he may recommend that federal grants to the universities themselves may be doubled to $16,000,000, may touch on this and on the Canada Council proposal when he speaks at a university conference on education November 12 at Ottawa.

Inherent Weakness

DEMOCRACY at work in our community organizations, sometimes reveals a weakness around this time of year. We refer to the manner of electing officers, and the effectiveness of certain publicity (or public relations) appointees — whose efforts now reach the press as clubs and groups get into action after the summer somnolence.

The importance of a press secretary is measurable in public opinion of the club or body which he (or she) represents. It is regrettable that, while fully evaluating the worth of publicity, very few organizations stop to consider the qualifications required to tell their story, and the abilities of the story-teller.

We editors could re-iterate the cases of well-meaning press conveners who have no idea of a newspaper's requirements, no idea of giving the typesetter a break — leaving their news till the last minute, and in some cases scribbing it illegibly on a paper bag! These are but details; but the idea we would stress, once again, is that some local organizations would better serve their interests by assigning suitable members to suitable jobs.

Editorials Digested

A QUIP by one of our fellow weeklies prompts an observation pertinent to The Watchman this week.

The Nanton (Alta.) News says as follows: "Researchers think that discarded newspaper, being largely made of cellulose, will make cheap animal feeds. . . We may find at long last that our editorials will really be digested."

With due respect to our western colleague, we may modestly suggest it will require no laboratory re-hash to make our Watchman editorials digestible! While we have sometimes seriously doubted the readership appeal of this column, we were admittedly surprised to hear our views quoted by two different radio commentators last Sunday. This was apart from the "Neighborly News" feature, which we missed; this program also gives us frequent honorable mention.

Clash of Opinions On University Grants

DIFFERENCES of opinion concerning Federal grants to universities — quietly rejected by this province for the last four years — appear to have set the stage for a possible major clash between two political figures.

A proposal to enable Quebec universities to accept the Federal grants, has brought statements from Prime Minister St. Laurent and Quebec's Premier Maurice Duplessis.

At a press conference in Quebec, Mr. Duplessis announced his government's continued opposition to the grants, which he declared as a "trespass" on the province's "exclusive rights" in the field of education. He told reporters the attitude of the provincial government will not be changed.

The following day, Mr. St. Laurent urged Quebec Province institutions to disregard that attitude and accept the grants. He told universities to "fulfill their function . . . without having to take electoral considerations into account."

A hint that rejection of the Federal aid to universities by Quebec would not go unanswered this year, was given by Mr. St. Laurent in a speech at the University of Sherbrooke, October 7. He announced he was going to ask Parliament to raise the amount of the grants to $16,000,000 from $8,000,000, and said he will offer the job of distributing the money on a per capita basis to the national conference of Canadian universities.

The Prime Minister felt this method of distribution did not require authorization of the Premier of the province. "The Carnegie Foundation, or some industry, does not need his authorization to offer a subsidy to an institution of university rank," he said, adding that the Quebec provincial government "certainly has no jurisdiction over the national conference of Canadian universities as such." Mr. St. Laurent also expressed a conviction that the conference will accept his proposal.

Premier Duplessis said Mr. St. Laurent's plan merely allowed the "trespass" of education rights to be carried out through a "side door" rather than the "front door." He said there are "people in Ottawa who wish for the disappearance of the guarantees which preserve French culture in America."

University authorities in the province have offered no statements on acceptance or rejection of the grants. Universities, and classical colleges of university rank, would divide $2,500,000 annually if the aid were accepted in Quebec.

Critical Stage in Fire Protection

THE SOLUTION to our Fire Department situation is still to be finalized, although some members of Lachute Council's special committee have been concentrating their efforts on this immediate problem.

Some of the aldermen and a number of citizens feel that two policemen are sufficient to cover the Town of Lachute — this, of course, to cut costs. Retiring Fire Chief George Y. Deacon had his say on Monday evening at a session of the volunteer firemen and the Special Committee (of which only two members of the six were present). These aldermen present, and the Council as a whole, were accused of trying to cut costs at the expense of the Fire Department. Equipment has been urgently needed for years, requests have been in for the same period of time, and these requests are still "on the table".

The present fire hose is in deplorable shape, due mainly to age. There is not sufficient to reload the trucks when returning from a fire, so for several days after, it may happen that one fire truck is without hose. Even at the best of times, there is not sufficient to properly supply both trucks.

Council has cut costs here and been lucky; now it appears they would economize by having insufficient men to provide adequate police and fire protection in Lachute. Recently, the sum of $1,000 was voted to a charity cause, one which we wholeheartedly endorse; but charity begins at home, and the security of home is synonymous with the fire department, to everyone in this community. Council does not have to worry about replacing only Fire Chief Deacon — but also his loyal helpmate, Mrs. Deacon, and various members of the Deacon establishment and staff. . . This has to be done, and without delay.

Chief Deacon has had 38 years' experience, yet his recommendations in fire protection do not appear highly valued by the councillors.

It is unreasonable to expect the newly-appointed Fire Chief, Fernand Trépanier, to operate a Fire Department with inadequate crew or equipment. It is time that Council faced the facts — yet Mayor Dr. FitzGerald is the only member of Council who has taken a stand that three additional men are the minimum required, although Aldermen Church, Pollock, Dr. Lavigne and Laurin held out for two additional men.

Money has to be spent; it is better to spend it now and bring the fire brigade up to standard. A positive minimum of seven men will be necessary to assure that our fire brigade is able to cope with any average situation.

Life's Extra Years

LIFE EXPECTANCY has increased to the point that many people will live longer than their parents did. The important point is not the few extra years, but that those years should be lived with meaning.

While some business and professional persons have found the years after 65 the most interesting and gratifying of their lives, making these years thus for many older people has become a major social problem.

As the twig is bent the branch will grow, is as true for the whole of life as it is for a child's formative years. It has become increasingly apparent that the men and women who have given reasonable attention to their health, have developed interests in addition to their daily work, and have a deep personal faith in development and progress, are those who need least help in later years.

This is not to say that the emphasis in younger years should be placed on the years over 60, but rather that the satisfaction of later years depends on the extent to which life is lived fully as it comes.

Even so, those who have studied the problem say that some planning should be done even by those between 30 and 40 so that their older life may be rich, rewarding and happy. This preparation is necessary, because time goes by so much more quickly in middle years. One of the hardest lessons to learn is to pick and choose among things that may be done later in life, rather than trying to encompass them all at once.

Selection seems to be the key, selection of attainable aims, selection of interests compatible with the individual's inclinations and abilities. And some of the choices should be made almost before early middle life, so that a backing of interest, experience and skill will be accumulated.

Happy Anniversary !

Not long after the fall term began, I received a summons to appear before the Headmaster.

"It's about young Fleming," he began. "We've got to put a stop to these jazz-tune voluntaries of his in chapel. It was a positive scandal last year the way he pulled the wool over our eyes."

"Have you taken any action in the matter?" I asked.

"As much as I dare," the good doctor replied. "Actually, I can't be too severe with the lad because he isn't forced to play the organ for us. He just does it because he likes to play and if he quits, we'll be destitute."

"There's no rebate on fees then, or anything like that?"

"Not a single penny. That's where he has us."

We were both silent for a moment.

"When you last spoke to him," I said, "did he tell you why he played rock-and-roll and such like instead of sacred selections?"

"He maintains that he hasn't any suitable music up in the organ loft. True, there are some books of preludes and postludes belonging to former organists but they are for the accomplished musician. 'Moose' could hardly be called accomplished."

"Well, the solution seems quite simple to me. Let's buy him something he can play!"

"Exactly what I've been thinking," the Head beamed. "That, in fact, is why I called you in. I'm rather short on musical knowledge so it would be useless for me to buy anything on the subject. But you could do it quite easily."

I didn't dare tell the man that his ignorance of music is only exceeded by mine. Beyond radios and gramophones, I'm limited to a voice that's cracking up and an elementary knowledge of how to make music with combs, papers and kazoos.

"I suggest," the Head continued, "that you take the station wagon into the city this afternoon and pay a visit to the music store. Have a look at their material for amateur organists and bring back something that he can master without too much trouble."

Thus commanded, I rattled into town in the wagon and went to see my friend Benny at the music store.

"Books of music for amateurs in pipe organ work? Not too many just now, I'm afraid. You've hit me at a bad time. But let's have a look-see, anyway!"

His stock was pathetic, to say the least. However, I was able to find a book of hymns and anthems for organ; preludes and fuges for the harmonium; and a volume of masterworks scaled to Moose's level by Drummond Wolff, late of Montreal's cathedral.

"I'll take these with me," I told Benny, "and you can bill the school for them in due course."

Then, armed with my treasures, I returned to the school and presented Moose with the books.

"These are for you, Fleming, with the compliments of the School. And the Head has asked me to explain to you that he wants them learned as soon as possible."

Moose grinned sickly, tucked the parcel under his arm and disappeared into the chapel. When he came back out, an hour or so later, he informed me that he knew two of the selections and that they were quite easy.

"I'll play them tomorrow."

On the morrow, Fleming wrestled with Largo as a prelude and it came out surprisingly well. But I just wish I'd had a camera with me to take a picture of the Head when Moose began his postulde. As the doctor left his stall and started down the length of the chapel between the rows of boys and masters, the organ blasted out notes familiar to all — all, that is, but Moose.

"I didn't know," he said later, "it was 'Here Comes the Bride'. It just said 'Wedding March' on the top of the page."

The Small Push

"The town was ready to go ahead," the man said. "It had been standing still, but it had everything it really needed to go ahead. Then this new fellow came along and he gave it a little push. Whoosh! Things started happening and they've been happening ever since. The place is bursting out at the seams."

"What did he do?" I asked. "What kind of a push?"

"Oh . . . it didn't take much. You know how it is when your car is stuck in the snow. Doesn't take much of a push — just one person can do it. That's how it was with this town. This fellow just organized a meeting or two . . . and the merchants got together and put on Saturday Night Sales, and then he suggested a corner playground for our own youngsters and visiting families — and things like that. People that used to go to other towns started coming here . . . just for that little difference. It doesn't take much.'"

Come to think of it, it really doesn't take much to make the all-important difference. A pipe manufacturer once said that by adding a little silver band to his pipes, he won smokers over from the plain ones, and got a much higher price. It was just that bit of difference that was needed to turn the trick.

Horse races are often won by a nose — a mere fraction of an inch. Just a spark of energy at the right moment and an important race is won. Maybe it works the same with towns and horse races and men — the little extra, the jot or tittle added, can make such a big difference.

I think it was the famous surgeon, Sir William Osler, who said he never despaired of a patient or student who was the smallest bit better today than yesterday — just that little gain was all he looked for.

There's something inspiring about the notion of improving just a slight fraction today over yesterday. The task is not too great to frighten anyone. Surely, it should be possible to do just a little bit more today than was done yesterday!

And when that begins to happen, progress seems to have a way of accumulating at compound interest. One gain contributes to another. One man's effort inspires a neighbor. First thing you know, everything's humming.

Wonderful what can result from one small push to start things rolling!

FIRE WARNING

Stephenville, Nfld. (CP) — Burning rubbish in garbage containers outdoors can be dangerous, warns Fire Chief William Russell. The containers often adjacent to fences, are too frequently left unattended and a serious fire can result, he says.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

If I ever get rich, I'll buy a tape recorder. Two of them, perhaps — a big, precison-built machine at home and a pocket-sized job to trap and preserve the utterances of people I interview, so they can never say: "I wuz misquoted."

The portable recorder of my dreams is extremely small, so it won't frighten anyone. Numbers of otherwise normal people flee from any kind of recording machine like startled deer. A camera scares them into giggles and facial paralysis. Even a pencil, that primitive recording device, gives people the dumb jitters.

Catching sight of the pencil moving, they will stop in mid-sentence and exclaim "What's that you're writing down? What's that?"

You try to explain gently that you are writing down their words. What do they think? Do they imagine you are brightening up a dull interview by transcribing a few stanzas of "Paradise Lost" from memory? But the pencil scares them. Only when they see it do they realise that they have set off a chain of production that ends with the printed page, newsboys on the street, and angry readers phoning to spit out words like "Liar" and "Ignoramus."

For this reason a reporter is wise to keep the pencil in his pocket, if he can trust his memory, and write the whole thing down afterwards. If he can't trust his memory, he has to bring out those deadly and awe-inspiring tools, pencil and paper, and take his chances on the interviewee being seized by a spasm of publicity-fright.

Alternatively, he gets a pocket-sized tape recorder with a lapel microphone that looks like a carnation. I haven't seen one yet, but the day it appears on the market — if I win a sweepstake prize — I'll be a hot prospect. The first salesman to reach my door gets the trade.

Then I'd like to have a precision-built machine to record the small quavering voices of the children and keep them to play back when the children have grown up to be large, gruff men who know more than their father.

The tape-recorded voice album, like the snapshot album, may come to be an accepted part of family life one day.

"MORTGAGE LIFTERS"

We don't hear much about Mortgage Lifters these days. Maybe the Finance Plans are more convenient. Pigs used to be known as mortgage lifters, and no doubt they did their share, but the last few years pigs have been on the way out. City health rules are responsible for some of these cases; prices are responsible for others; and too few pigs kept, is responsible for most of the rest.

No person can expect to raise much of a mortgage with one or two pigs a year, because there is some expense to raising a pig, even if you feed it on the PURINA PLAN. To raise the mortgage with hogs you need to keep at least a few pigs. Say you can make $7 to $10 on each pig. . . To keep one or two pigs it doesn't pay for the time you spend on them. But on 100 pigs, that means you make $700 to $1,000 — very useful to pay on a mortgage, and not a great deal more work than with one pig at a time.

Now, I bet I have started an argument. But remember, 100 pigs a year means 50 pigs twice a year. Five sows should raise you 50 pigs twice a year (if you use the Purina Plan). So you have 5 sows to feed for a year, and 50 pigs to feed for 10 or 11 months, or the 5 sows are extra; only it takes very little more time to look after the 50 pigs than one, because there is enough of them to make you have it more convenient to care for them.

But remember, to make money with pigs, you must stay in the game and feed by the Purina Plan. . See us for this plan and for a supply of PURINA CHOWS, and start in earnest after that mortgage! We deliver.

Well Loved Resident Dies in East Ward

Late Mrs. Robt. Miller

The East Ward was saddened this week by the passing of Mrs. Louisa Miller, one of the older residents on her 78th birthday.

Born Louisa Beech, she married Robert Miller, member of a pioneer family, in 1905 and moved to Lachute from Montreal. There were five children born of this marriage. She was predeceased by her husband in 1919, by her daughter Alma in 1936, her sons, Charlie in 1943 and Bob in 1946. She bore her trouble with a sterling fortitude that was evident throughout her life.

Active in church activities, she will be sadly missed by the congregation of St. Simeon's Anglican Church. Her ardor for church work was an inspiration to all. Her truly Christian character showed itself by her concern for the welfare of others and her quiet way of being helpful in times of stress and trouble.

She is survived by two daughters, Louise, who has resided with her, and Catherine, wife of Harold F. Franklin, Redding, California, also two sisters, Marion Huggins, of Montreal, and Kate Wooding, of Ottawa.

Funeral services were held on Wednesday in St. Simeon's Church, conducted by the Rev. C. R. Lang, assisted by her friend and former rector, the Rev. W. C. LeCras. Interment was in Lachute Protestant Cemetery.

Members of the St. Simeon's Ladies' Guild, of which the late Mrs. Miller had been a loyal helper through the years, formed a cordon of honor outside the church.

Pall-bearers were Ross Carruthers, Jack Wooding, Alex Beech and Thoburn Allan, four nephews.

Says Farm Forums Program Invaluable

"Farm people cannot afford, in my opinion, to miss making the fullest possible use of the national education program which National Farm Radio Forum is providing."

This statement was made by H. H. Hannam, President of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture, in a reminder to farmers that "October is Farm Forum Month, and the success of the program for all of next winter depends to a great extent on getting forums organized and ready to go before the opening broadcast on October 29."

"Every neighborhood," Mr. Hannam said, "should have one or more active Farm Forum. The leadership, the information and the constructive thinking and ideas that forums provide will give us better communities, better farm organizations and better provincial and national programs for agriculture."

"You will be doing your community and yourself a good turn by getting out this month and making sure your forum gets off to a good start — or by organizing a new forum," Mr. Hannam said.

"For information see your local organization field man or secretary."

ENGINEERING DISPLAY GIVES GLIMPSE INTO FUTURE

Turn a couple of girls loose at the electronics and engineering display in Toronto and they can have a whale of a time operating the gadgets even if they have to use their imagination a bit. Helen Lang and Gloria Noakes have no trouble picturing themselves on a trip to the moon or some such distant spot as they stand by a model of a guided missile, the first to be made in Canada and still on the secret list for performance. The display has 500 exhibits ranging from automatic letter sorters, used by the Canadian post office, to underwater cameras monitored to television sets.

NEW "LITTLE BOARD" FOR STOCK HOUSES

—Central Press Canadian

Brokerage offices throughout Canada may soon install the magnetronic bid-ask display system now in use in several Toronto houses for the first time in the world. The system does not eliminate the chalk-markers such as Sandra Harnett, but flashes on a four-by-six-foot board the recent bid and asked prices of 50 of the most popular trading stocks. The rest of the stocks will be treated by ticker or chalk board as usual. The magnetronic system will allow brokerage employees to see the prices as soon as they are seen on the floor of the stock exchange.

Interest, Mortgages, Transportation Rates All On the Uptrend

Ottawa (CP) —

The Bank of Canada boosted its interest rate again last week, amid indications that there will be a general rise in the cost of borrowing money for almost every purpose — probably including building homes with National Housing Act loans.

The move, apparently intended to tighten the screws on credit and thus help curb inflationary tendencies in the economy, was looked on as a clear-cut declaration by the bank to financial institutions that it will not tolerate any over-all expansion of credit.

It was record-making in two ways. The boost was to a record 3½ per cent from 3¼ per cent — compared with 1½ per cent in August, 1955. It was the sixth in 14 months, and the speed with which the bank has acted to increase the rate is unprecedented in Canada.

The interest rate is what the Bank of Canada charges on loans to chartered banks and other lending institutions; it usually sets the tenor of lending activities throughout the country. Although chartered banks don't usually borrow to any great extent from the central bank, there recently has been a surge in their borrowing. The newest rate boost was clearly aimed at discouraging this activity, which has had the effect of putting more money into circulation.

Higher Mortgages?

The house-mortgage situation has caused some deep thinking. The interest rate on normal commercial mortgages has steadily increased — it now is about 6¼ per cent — while the NHA rate is pegged at 5½ per cent. As a result, money for NHA loans has become scarcer, and new housing starts have fallen off. For some weeks government housing officials have been wondering whether a rise in the NHA mortgage rate would attract more funds. Although a cabinet source said there will be no immediate increase, some observers feel the ceiling should be boosted within a month or two.

Hearings End

The board of transport commissioners has completed its hearings on request by Canada's major railway companies for a 15-per-cent increase in freight rates.

Spokesmen for the CNR and CPR played their aces in their last appearance before the board, saying that even if the requested boost were announced, they would not meet the full income requirements of the companies for the year.

The increase is opposed by the four western provinces and the Maritimes. Their spokesmen, in summing up, warned that approval of the increase will seriously accelerate inflation.

The CNR-CPR application, made earlier this year, was met in part by an interim increase of seven per cent effective last July 3. The board now is dealing with the application as a whole.

Quebec Merchants on Catholic Holidays Edict

Quebec (CP) — A decision by the Quebec City section of the Retail Merchants Association of Canada will keep the city's store-closing tradition unchanged despite recent changes in observance of four Roman Catholic holy days.

The Association's decision was made following an announcement by Archbishop Maurice Roy, Primate of all Canada, that on the feast of the Immaculate Conception, All Saints Day, Ascension Day and the Epiphany, Roman Catholics no longer must abstain from work but are required only to attend Mass. Similar changes were announced in Montreal by Cardinal Paul-Emile Leger.

Under the terms of most existing bargaining agreements here, employees are entitled to a paid holiday on each of the four days or receive double pay if they work.

La Compagnie Paquet, a large department store, had previously announced it will continue to close on religious holy days.

Association members said it is "not opportune" to change the observance in Quebec at the present time.

UNITARIAN MINISTER

Wynyard, Sask. (CP) — For the first time in 14 years, the Unitarian congregation at Wynyard has appointed a minister to serve its church, the only one of that denomination in Saskatchewan. The minister is Rev. George E. Jaegar, of London, England.

AMONG THE CHURCHES

October Activities At Brownsburg United

Brownsburg — In the second month following the summer holidays, re-establishing the work of the various United Church organizations is being carried on at Brownsburg, and all are returning to their task of keeping the church in satisfactory operation.

At this time, a campaign is being carried on to promote an even greater interest in the church. Many of the members of the Board of Stewards and of the various organizations are giving time, effort and prayer to this project. In this day and age, there is much competition in outside activities, but a town without a church, or a world without churches, would probably become uncivilized; so the ideal is to make the church a "second home" for young people — and for older people as well; to be cordial, more thoughtful and more generous with the blessings which God has given.

On Tuesday evening, November 6, Mrs. George Y. Deacon will speak for the W.M.S., giving information regarding her attendance at the General Council at Windsor, Ont. A pleasant evening is anticipated, opening at 7.30 o'clock, and all are cordially invited to attend. As usual, the gathering will be at the church.

On Saturday, October 20, the Young People's Society, with their leaders, spent the afternoon in visiting the Carillon Museum. Following this, all proceeded to Mr. and Mrs. Fergie Kettyle's summer cottage at Cushing, on the banks of the Ottawa River where various activities and lunch were enjoyed—the "hymn of thanks" being led by the Rev. and Mrs. Bruce. A vote of thanks is extended to Mr. Carl Clausen, Mr. Kenneth Greeley and George McDonald for having so kindly assisted in transporting the young people.

Masons Attend Service At St. Andrews East

A large number of the Argenteuil Lodge No. 67 A.F. & A.M. membership attended the United Church in St. Andrews East last Sunday for the morning service.

A stirring address was given by the pastor, the Rev. Bro. J. R. Watson, and Miss L. Wales officiated at the organ. An anthem was rendered by the Masonic choir.

AN ADVENTURE JOURNEY

A 370-mile trip down the North Saskatchewan River in two canoes and two rowboats made the past summer a memorable one for 11 Scouts of the 25th Edmonton Troop. Under Scoutmaster G. McCoy they spent 11 days on the journey from Edmonton to North Battleford.

Three stops were made to dry out rain-soaked tents and bedding. Other delays resulted from sand bars, high winds and storms. In Alberta, they stated, 15 rapids were encountered which were not on the map. On one night journey they heard one beaver on the average per minute for three hours.

Couple at Brownsburg Celebrate 45th Anniversary

A happy re-union of relatives and friends took place last Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Seary, Brownsburg, on the occasion of their 45th wedding anniversary.

Mrs. Seary (the former Miss Gertrude Winnifred Fisk, of England) and Mr. Seary were married in the American Presbyterian Church, Montreal, in 1911, by the Rev. Dr. Johnston.

Since that time they have made their home in Brownsburg, amidst most of their family, which now comprises five sons (four married) — Jack of Illinois, Stanley and Sydney, of Brownsburg, Robert in the Air Force in Manitoba, and Kenneth in Montreal; also two daughters — Mrs. R. Fulton (Daisy), of Montreal, and Mrs. Hine (Muriel), of Toronto. There are 23 grand children and one great-grandson.

Mrs. Seary, who has been visiting her son, Robert, at Rivers, Man., returned last week for the happy event.

Mr. Seary was a long-time employee of the Dominion Cartridge Company and C-I-L, retiring in 1951 after 42 years of service.

Congratulations are extended by their many friends.

How Fans Influenced Football Custom

SPORTS CAMERA

By Jim Bastable, Canadian Press Staff Writer

Big Four football teams are kicking converts through the back door these days. It's one of the latest fashions to hit the game.

The latest mode was designed primarily, officials say, to protect fans who love to indulge in the mad scramble for loose footballs off converts or convert attempts.

But not to be forgotten is the question of finances. So many footballs, the $25 variety, were being gobbled up by the customers that some clubs were feeling the pinch. In a recent game between Montreal Alouettes and Hamilton Tiger-Cats there were 12 touchdowns. Eleven balls vanished into the crowd, some on field goal attempts.

One of the recoveries was made by a security guard, who lost his cap and some of his dignity in a sensational dive for the ball.

The whole thing started in a game last month in an Ontario Rugby Football Union game between Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen and Toronto Beaches. Big Four Clubs followed suit.

Safety Factor

Officials maintained the main reason behind the switch was for the safety of the fans. There's no doubt that it will reduce the danger risks. It's a wonder fans aren't trampled to death the way they stampede through the end-zone seats and deep part of the end zone to retrieve the ball.

One man who will go along with the new rule is Bert Light, a security guard at Montreal's Molson Stadium. This season the Alouettes have lost only one football in the convert and field goal scramble.

A convert boot by the Als' Bul Korchak sailed into the end-zone bleachers. An Ottawa fan, a gal, grabbed the ball. Light and his security guards closed in. The girl pulled up her skirts and hid the ball beneath. Rather distressing.

"The situation," Light said, "was a social one that we couldn't handle without starting a riot. So we retired."

Follow Argos' Lead

While on the subject of football, remember all the criticism directed at Harry Sonshine, former team director of Toronto Argonauts, for his airlift manoeuvres in signing players last season?

Sonshine, it seemed, always had American imports on the move; flying them in for a look-see and sending the unacceptable ones home. Some Big Four clubs said Sonshine was a bit daffy; that his wholesale hiring and dropping would give football a bad name; that his offers of good salaries would force other teams to increase their budgets to the point of bankruptcy.

Sonshine retired shortly afterwards. This year Ticats, most critical of the Sonshine system, shunted players back and forth from the U.S. At least 50 Americans turned up at the Hamilton camp, many of them after the season started. There wasn't a word of criticism from anybody.

When Hamilton declared the quota of 12 imports on the October 15 deadline, the list showed only three players who were in Ticats' first league engagement in September.

YOUNG HUNTER

Timmins, Ont. (CP) — Sixteen-year-old Jeff Saloma has put many older hunters to shame. He killed a 1,200-pound bull moose, tracking it for more than an hour before getting into shooting position. It took 18 shots to finish the large animal.

Lachute High School Sports and Social News

By Bev. Sanford

During the past week, volleyball, football, soccer and basketball were played by the various teams.

Last Wednesday afternoon, two Senior volleyball squads from Brownsburg visited Lachute. In this game three matches are played. The winner taking the best-out-of-three. The Lachute girls proved themselves the better team throughout, with scores 11-0, 15-4, 15-2. The LHS boys also showed their superiority, with tallies of 15-2, 11-0, 15-6. Referees for these games were the coaches — Mr. A. Petersen for Lachute, and Mr. Smythe for Brownsburg.

Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock, Lachute met a Junior football team from Longueuil, coached by a former member of LHS, Mr. Jim Martin. This game was both thrilling and exciting, when in the first quarter, Earl McCaskill scored a touchdown for Lachute. The visitors then put on pressure and pulled ahead with two touchdowns and a safety touch, thus making the score at half-time 14-6. In the third quarter, Longueuil gained another 6 points while Lachute increased their score by only 2. The last quarter saw a faster play but neither team was able to score, thus leaving the visitors the winners, 20-8. Credit must be given the home team for their strong line during the last quarter.

Lachute entertained the Junior soccer team from Cedar Park on Saturday morning. The first half of the game was extremely colorful and quite speedy. Both Ronnie Cairns and Dougie MacKenzie scored goals on passes from Jack Lavis. In the second part, Jack Lavis and Del MacTavish got past the opposing goaler, scoring 1 point each, while Ian Duncan added another 2 points for the home team. Cedar Park finally scored and the game ended with Lachute victorious with a score of 6-1.

Last Saturday afternoon the Senior boys' volleyball team and the Senior boys' and girls' basketball teams travelled by bus to St. Eustache, accompanied by their coaches, Mr. A. Petersen and Mr. R. Bailly, and a few spectators. Volleyball, refereed by Mr. Petersen, was played first, and Lachute defeated their hosts 15-3, 15-10, 15-10. The final game was very exciting and loud cheers came from the supporters of both teams.

The next encounter was a basketball tilt betwen the Senior girls' teams. In the first quarter, Betty Underhill and Joyce Davis each scored a basket. Soon afterwards St. Eustache sank 3 baskets and a foul shot, while Lachute chalked up another 8 points, totalling 21-7 in their favor. During the final quarter, the home team displayed their outstanding technique — the weave — which definitely confused the opposing team, and Lachute walked off with a score of 37-15. The Three-Star selection goes to Heather MacTavish, Betty Underhill and Joyce Davis, while the top scorers were — Betty Underhill 14, Joyce Davis 8, Marilyn Underhill 6, Marjorie Hay 4. Referees were Al Bryant and Frank Harvard.

The final and most thrilling contest was witnessed when the Senior boys' teams met and proved themselves quite evenly matched. The St. Eustache boys displayed talent by racking up 16 points in the first half, to Lachute's 10. In the third stage, excitement rose when the high-scorer, Wayne Bradford, sank 4 baskets. During the last two minutes of play, Reg Stansfield evened the score at 27-27. Finally St. Eustache scored the vital basket, which resulted in their victory, 29-27. This was a hard fight to lose, as the score was very close throughout the entire game. The three stars for Lachute were, respectively, Wayne Bradford, who also had 11 points to his credit, David Bates 6, Reg Stansfield 6 — while Arthur Gauley scored the 4 remaining points.

Brooklyn Dodgers To Have "New Look"

The Brooklyn Dodgers will have a new look in the 1957 baseball campaign.

After the boisterous Bums were defeated four games to three by the New York Yankees in the World Series, Dodger general manager Buzzie Bavasi commented: "You can bet some changes will be made in 1957. We've got some promising youngsters coming up."

Such veterans as Pee Wee Reese, 38, and Jackie Robinson, 35, appear near the end of their great careers.

If Robinson quits playing it won't be from lack of desire. He is one of the fiercest competitors in baseball. Should Jackie hang up his spikes, there's talk he will be offered the job as manager of the International League Montreal Royals, Brooklyn's No. 1 farm club. Robinson came up to the Dodgers from Montreal in 1946, the first Negro to play in the major leagues.

Semi-Annual Meeting Held At Curling Club

A moose-meat dinner was one of the attractions which drew an enthusiastic crowd of curling members to the semi-annual meeting of the Club on Tuesday evening. The treat, through courtesy of Mr. Colin McOuat, was greatly enjoyed.

Later, during the business session, thanks were expressed to Laurence Cruise and his helpers for preparing the meal, and to the honorary secretary and honorary treasurer, Messrs. C. E. Richardson and F. A. Brennian, respectively, for their interest and work on behalf of the Club — which since the fire of last winter has included numerous repairs to, and changes, in the building.

A joint opening dinner has been planned for November 20, of which further details will be announced later; and with numerous committees preparing the schedules, indications promise an active and interesting curling season.

Famous Ballet Stars On TV "Concert Hour"

Two international ballet stars, Marjorie Tallchief and George Skibine, are featured performers in an all-ballet program on Concert Hour next Thursday, November 1, on CBC-TV. The works to be presented are "Les Sylphides", an excerpt from Tchaikovsky's "Sleeping Beauty", and two modern productions, one of which has been prepared especially for Concert Hour by Montreal choreographer Ludmilla Chiriaeff. The soloists and corps de ballet of Les Ballets Canadians, directed by Madame Chiriaeff, will appear with the program's guest artists.

Marjorie Tallchief and George Skibine (husband and wife) are passing through Montreal on their way to the United States where they will join Ruth Page's Chicago Opera Ballet for the 1956-57 season. For many years the stars of the Grand Ballet du Marquis Cuevas, one of Europe's leading companies, they have gained fame as solo performers and as creators of highly imaginative works. One of their original productions, "Annabelle Lee," based on a tragic love poem by Edgar Allan Poe, will be included in the telecast.

They began life on opposite sides of the world. She was born to a full-blooded Osaga Indian chief and an Irish mother and for the first 10 years lived in Oklahoma. Preparation for her career began more or less haphazardly with participation in tribal rituals, but she and her famous sister, Maria Tallchief, displayed such enthusiasm for dancing that formal lessons were arranged for the two girls with the best teachers available. After this training together, the sisters travelled by separate routes to the first ranks of their profession.

George Skibine was born in a German-occupied Ukrainian town at a moment when it was being raided by a detachment of the Red Army. Shortly after this stormy introduction to the world, he was taken to Paris with his family where his father led an exile's life as an actor and as a dancer with the Ballet Russe. When George was old enough he took an interest in both of his parent's careers, until he eventually decided that ballet was the one for him.

Besides introducing two international artists to audiences across Canada, Concert Hour next week also marks the return of one of Montreal's leading companies for another season of television appearances. It is Les Ballets Canadiens (known previously as Les Ballets Chiriaeffs), which regular CBC viewers will remember from their many performances during the last three seasons. Eva von Gencsy, Eric Hyrst, Bob Lee-Jones and other members of the group will premiere "Bagatelle," a new work by director Ludmilla Chiriaeff, set to Gretry's "Cephale et Procris."

Pumpkin Time

Hallowe'en is not only a time for youngsters to enjoy themselves. CBC farm commentator Norn Garriock (left) and Earl Cox, the well-known garden authority, obviously are getting a big kick out of marking up a Hallowe'en pumpkin ready for cutting. They are seen every week on the CBC-TV farm program, "Country Calendar."

Tips on Touring
By Carol Lane
Women's Travel Authority

Raving about your rapid reflexes? Why not put them to a test? Try standing in a dark closet until your eyes are accustomed to the dark. Then look toward the light — and turn it on. How many objects did you see clearly within the first ten seconds? This isn't just an old fashioned "parlour trick," it's exactly what happens when you drive at night. Bright headlights in your eyes have the same effect as the light in the closet . . . and ten seconds is ample time for an accident.

Assuming that you have passed the above test consider, now, the oncoming motorist. If your lights blind the driver you're meeting, there may be a collision. His reflexes may not be as fast as yours.

Remember to dim your headlights when you see an approaching car. It's a simple matter to have your car's electrical system checked. This will guarantee that your headlights are safe. It will help you see pedestrians in plenty of time, too.

Once you've had your headlights checked for focus, brightness, beam tilt, and general safe condition, a good rule to keep in mind is to drive more slowly at night.

For really safe night driving, be sure all your lights are in good working order. There's still the driver in back of you to consider. Make certain your turn signals, stop signals, tail and parking lights are in order. These lights let the driver behind know what your next move will be, and they'll help avoid unnecessary dents in your bumper.

Comedy of Errors

A comedy of errors featuring an international cast played its first and last performance a few days ago in the tranquility of a little German forest near the Canadian campsite town of Werl.

The plot involves an escaped German convict, a passing truck driver and two Canadian soldiers standing sentry duty at the gate of Fort St. Louis, the home of the 1st Battalion, Le Royal 22e Regiment.

ACT 1: Adolph Theis, serving a sentence for embezzlement in Werl Federal Prison, escapes from work party, hitches ride from passing civilian truck drivers.

ACT II: Five miles later driver becomes aware of status of passenger, deposits him for safekeeping at gate of Fort St. Louis, with instructions (in halting English to French-speaking guards) to detain him while he summons police from town.

ACT III: Convict Theis, fluent in English and sign language, poses as prison official looking for escapee, enlists aid of soldiers to search nearby woods. Despatches one soldier to left, the other to right; meanwhile making clean getaway down the middle.

EPILOGUE: Two days later "Bad Boy" Thesis brought back to prison by his mother who explains, "he decided to finish his sentence since there is only six weeks remaining." Theis goes on bread and water diet for starring role, but no additional sentence.

October Important As Farm Forum Month

October is Farm Forum Month in rural Canada — the important few weeks in which rural leaders in every community and neighborhood should make it their business to see that active Forums are organized ready for the first broadcast, on October 29.

All over the world Canadian agriculture is admired and often envied for having, in National Farm Radio Forum, a national program of rural education that provides discussion of subjects vital to agriculture and draws the community closer together in a better understanding of its problems and of the people who live in it.

Farm Forums are neighborhood discussion groups. They should not be looked upon as just another organization. Instead, they should be looked upon as an ideal way of carrying on at least part of the educational program so necessary for providing the ideas, the information and the leadership that determine the success of community, provincial and national organizations.

VICTORIA OPENS NEW TV STATION

Victoria, B.C. (CP) — The first private television station west of the Rockies will go on the air here in mid-November.

CHEK-TV, Channel 6, will have a 500-watt transmitter and a two-way microwave hook-up with Vancouver.

Television reception is so good here — viewers can receive seven channels — that residents were afraid addition of the local station might interfere with reception from other outlets. The station twice changed the location of its transmitter before approval was given.

David Armstrong, 36-year-old owner of radio station CKDA, is owner of the new television station.

The Lachute Watchman

Beware of a seemingly innocent spot of water on the rug. It can cause a permanent brown stain warns the National Institute of Rug Cleaning.

If a glass of water spills or water meant for the flower-pot slops over the side; if a window is left open during a rainstorm or the bathtub overflows; if the roof leaks or the puppy couldn't help it, soak up the moisture before it seeps into the rug's backing.

Rug cleaners say that because of a carpet's pile construction the face tufts form natural wicks. Thus water which gets through to the backing will rise again to the surface, carrying soluble coloring matter and other impurities from the back of the rug. The water evaporates but the colored impurities don't.

They collect at the tips of the rug tufts and react chemically with dyes causing discolorations which in many instances are indelible.

A stain can be prevented if the water is soaked up immediately with clean, white, unstarched terry cloth, white absorbent tissues or white paper towels.

When the spot has been dried as much as possible, place fresh absorbent towels or tissues on the wet blotter and the rug. The towels to insure close contact between this blotter and the rug. The towels must remain in place until the spot is completely dry.

To speed drying a fan may be placed to blow against the back of the rug.

Rug cleaners say that a carpet will repay its cost many times over in beauty and service if given the proper care.

It calls for three rules: Daily care with a carpet sweeper, weekly care with a vacuum cleaner and annual care by a professional cleaner.

Pioneer Planners

Four women in Edmonton, it seems, are using some of the province's oil to grease the machinery that will make the capital the convention city of Canada.

Isabel MacDonald, Dorothy Dalgren, Kathleen Salt and Dorothy Fitzpatrick, who organized western hospitality for Canadian Women's Press Club convention in July, have since gone into business as professional convention planners.

They did such a good job for the July convention that several Edmonton men suggested they set up shop to organize more such gatherings.

Their business is called Personal Planners Inc., carrying the slogan "We'll arrange everything." With several successful initial meetings already to their credit Miss MacDonald gives fair warning to other cities.

"We are going to make Edmonton the convention city of Canada," she says.

A TREAT THAT'S NO TRICK

"WELSH RAREBIT"

Here's a suggestion for the grown-ups while the youngsters are bobbing for apples, or dressed as goblins and ghouls, are out collecting candies and cookies. They can celebrate the ancient festival of All Hallows by building their own bonfires indoors and preparing a staunch Welsh Rarebit to serve on Herb Toast. Let no one fear that fare such as this on Hallowe'en will tempt providence to send spooky spirits. The simple ingredients in this recipe will help ward them off! If the hour is late and more sustence is in order, add a quickly tossed green salad to the bill of fare, prepare some coffee and defy the foul fiends!

Welsh Rarebit

1 Teaspoon dry mustard, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon paprika, dash cayenne pepper, 1 cup milk, 1 pound snappy processed Canadian Cheddar cheese (grated), 2 eggs. . . Herb toast.

Combine dry mustard, salt, paprika and cayenne in top of double boiler. Gradually stir in milk, blending well. Add cheese and mix thoroughly. Cook over simmering water, stirring often, until cheese is melted and mixture is smooth. Stir a little of the cheese mixture into the slightly beaten eggs; then return to remaining cheese mixture and cook over hot water, stirring constantly, until thick and smooth, about 3 minutes. Serve at once on hot Herb Toast. Makes 6 servings.

Herb Toast

½ Cup butter or margarine, 1 tablespoon chopped parsley, 2 teaspoons grated onion, ½ teaspoon dry mustard, 12 slices enriched white bread.

Cream butter or margarine with chopped parsley, onion and mustard. In broiler, toast bread slices on one side. Turn bread and spread untoasted side with herb-butter mixture. Return to broiler and toast. Allow 2 pieces of toast for each serving of Welsh Rarebit.

Mobile Library Proves Popular

Edmonton (CP) — Many Edmonton readers influenced by the modern age of mechanical conveniences prefer to borrow their books from a library on wheels rather than go to libraries.

The Edmonton public library board says its two bookmobiles, carrying about 3,500 volumes, accounted for more than 22 per cent of all circulation from the entire city library system during the 1955-56 season.

A new custom-built bus which carries 2,100 volumes has replaced an older vehicle and its greater stock capacity has made more books available.

The old bus, a hand-me-down from the Edmonton transit system, first went into operation in 1947. Its capacity is limited to 1,500 volumes.

This was the companion to the streetcar bookmobile which was retired in 1949 after nearly a decade of service as the only library of its kind in Canada — possibly in the world. The streetcar, built in 1909, had travelled nearly 1,000,000 miles before its conversion to a library in 1941.

Cosy Quarters

Mrs. E. Hall, bookmobile librarian, said that although the old bus was "very good" the new one would be better for service to the public and also in the working conditions it will provide for the staff.

Mrs. Hall noted its front-to-rear double bank of fluorescent lighting and its wider central aisle. The bookshelves run along the walls on either side of the bus interior.

The bookmobiles, with headquarters at Sprucewood branch library, where a total stock of 20,688 volumes are available, last year carried city library service to 41,000 school children and 10,163 adult borrowers.

This year, the bookmobile will make 27 "stops" weekly, 11 of them to service city elementary schools, 13 for communities remote from other parts of the city library system, and three for combined school and community service.

More Coffee?

Brazil has been testing portable aluminum irrigation systems to increase the coffee crop. Results are startling: yield per tree is more than doubled. Even if applied only to half of Brazil's coffee crop, production would be increased by 3,700,000 bags!

Our own Canadian farmers have found endless ways to use Canadian aluminum: Piping for orchards, field crops and stock . . . foil for mulching . . . roofing and siding for barns, brooders and silos . . . cans and pails for dairy farms.

Canadian output of primary aluminum is being further increased to supply the makers of these and a thousand other products useful in agriculture, industry, defence and the home.

"School Milk" Topic For Opening Farm Forum

In homes and halls across the country, high-spirited but purposeful groups will gather next Monday evening as the National Farm Radio Forum begins its 17th season. With basic economic questions before them, the men and women who work the land, in a thousand Farm Forums, will get down to business in hot-stove-league fashion.

Farm Forum, a co-operative venture of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture, the Canadian Association for Adult Education and the CBC, is the oldest such organization anywhere, and has been taken as a model for similar ones in other coutries.

From November to March, the Forum encourages the formation of neighborhood groups in homes, facilitates useful discussion methods, provides information on subjects of interest to farmers and assists them in making their conclusions effective.

Monday night is Farm Forum night and the evening begins at 8.30 p.m. with the half-hour broadcast, which this year will be carried by 44 radio stations. The chairman and (usually) three participants discuss such topics as farm management, soils, farm products and parity.

The majority of the broadcasts this year will originate in Toronto. A series of three on parity will probably originate on the prairies, where the balance between the price received by the farmer for his products and the price he has to pay for labor, equipment, necessities and comforts is of vital concern.

Frank Nicholson of the CBC farm and fisheries department will produce the broadcasts. A familiar voice in radio homes, that of Earl Cameron, will be heard announcing the programs.

The chairman for the opening National Farm Radio Forum broadcast on October 29 will be Eric Hardy, secretary of the Citizenship Research Institute of Canada. With him in the studio will be Dr. George Bennett, principal of the Regional High School in Sussex, N.B., Leonard Roy, secretary of the Quebec Milk Distributors' Association; and a Windsor, Ont. guest still to be chosen. The topic: school milk, with the panelists discussing whether a program should be developed to supply milk to all Canadian school children.

The strength of the Forum lies in the individual listening groups, usually composed of about 10 families in a neighborhood. Within the nucleus of each forum, which becomes a voice of rural Canada, is a secretary who is the link with the provincial office of the national organization. The national office passes on recommendations to various legislative bodies; in this way they may have an influence on agricultural policies.

Q.W.I. President On Extended Tour

Mrs. G. D. Harvey, of Stanbridge East, president of the Quebec Women's Institues, is sailing the first of next week for Scotland. She will visit relatives in that country and then go on to London to meet the rest of the Canadian delegation, flying from there to Colombo for the 8th Triennial Conference of the Association Country Women of the World. This is to be held in the University at Paradeniya, Ceylon, December 5-15.

Delegates are expected from 23 countries and the agenda will spotlight the role of the Association at International level but will also give some time to see something of the work of the hostess society, the Lanka Mahila Samiti (Women's Institute), especially its training program. Members from all over the world have contributed through the ACWW Gift Coupon project to equip the training centres and delegates will be able to see at least one centre at work with equipment donated by members living many thousands of miles away.

The ACWW, which was formed in Stockholm in 1933, has grown from being a group of women informally promoting world-wide goodwill and friendship, to being the responsible spokesman at the United Nations for more than 5-million rural women around the world.

"EXILE FROM SUNNYACRES"

By Margaret Cook

As we write, the big maple in front of the sun-room looks sad. Half of its leaves are still on, little, shrivelled parodies of the broad, green things of the spring; the other half lie on the ground, awaiting the ruthless rake and the civic pick-up. I expect it is the same in the Lakefield district. But three weeks ago, the countryside was an artist's palette of colors, mile after mile of Persian rugs laid on those ancient rocks. To walk across the hills and come upon one of the little mountain lakes was a sight to lift the heart. But the show was not as spectacular as that of last year — too much rain, we opine.

Last week-end, encouraged by the unwonted sunshine, the man of the house and I went to Beloeil Mountain, taking our lunch. The temperature was 70, so we did not try to climb to the top, but contented ourselves with wandering about the shores of the lake which lies between the two peaks on Mt. Beloeil. Beloeil — the beautiful eyeful — and so it is; the view from the top over the flat St. Lawrence plain is truly breath-taking. 'If you do not lose your breath from delight, you may from fright, for, except for an incline of some 50 feet, there is nothing but prudence to stop one falling the 2,000 feet to the bottom. Having in mind that I do have youthful readers, I shall tell a tale with a moral. . .

Once upon a time — to be exact, in 1937 — a young man from our suburb led a party of Boy Scouts to Beloeil, and, of course, climbed to the top. Being an efficient Scouter, as well as a fine fellow, he cautioned his boys about going near the edge. But one young Scout was not impressed. He clambered out to the edge and balanced himself, calling boastfully to his pals, "Look at me". They did not have a long look, as just then he slipped and fell the length of the mountain. His body was subsequently found impaled on a barbed-wire fence, enclosing the field of a sickened farmer. Never was vanity more swiftly and efficiently punished. The young life was wasted, but the lesson was not. That particular troop became the most alert and proficient in the district. Whenever I hear debates on the subject of the desirability or undesirability of implicit obedience, I think of that unfortunate Scout.

Well, we left ourselves at the lake, which some geologists claim is the old crater of an extinct volcano. This, other geologists ridicule. In either case, it is a beautiful spot. Last Sunday, the lake was still enclosed by the colored maples and beeches. The lake itself is small, not much bigger than Mud Lake at Sunnyacres, but the shores slope down firmly to the water, and only one house is to be seen. All Beloeil is the property of one family, who generously share its beauty with the public — with a few restrictions, such as no guns. Inevitably, there is always some ungrateful wretch sneaking along with a gun unobtrusively at his side. Such a one we met, looking a little like Robinson Crusoe, in sloppy clothes, and with a thatch of overlong hair. Pale grey eyes, too. — I hate pale grey eyes!

We came home early, as a Fete des Pommes was in progress on the slope of the mountain, and later in the day, the road would be closed to traffic. Already, in mid-afternoon, the loudspeakers were blaring songs, "les habitants" were assembling for what we suspect was an all-night session. All along the road, the stands were gaily decorated with strings of scarlet apples, and bright leaves; the full, multi-colored skirts of the girls added to the carnival effect. Bottles of cider shone pale-gold in the sun. The smell of apples was everywhere, and all the traffic was one way. A real Latin festival such as one finds, I believe, in Spain. Truly, our compatriots have a capacity for living the full life, which we Anglo-Saxons lack.

It was necessary to stop to feed Peter, the cat, just there. He looked at me reproachfully, "This is not what you gave me yesterday," his look implied, and he was right. Yesterday, I cut a slice off the sirloin roast; today, it was his usual chuck steak. Peter has a palate, which is more than many people have. I have had guests who consumed a carefully thought-out meal, one cooked with care, and seemed not to know it was any different from a bale of hay. On the other hand, someone who, because of youth, cannot have any great experience, often surprises the hostess by his or her gracious appreciation of what they are served. That's one reason I love Johnny; he knows good food.

Speaking of food, I am heartily sick of the current craze for frozen stuff. Even the lowly pig's knuckles arrive frozen stiff, looking particularly pathetic. Cooked with herbs, they still lack flavor. And at Thanksgiving, we had a terrific altercation with our butcher of 20 years, who was determined to sell us an unfortunate bird reared in Utah, and shipped to Canada in a plastic bag. Its one advantage was that it was a small bird, suitable for our family. But I had been fooled last year, so resisted. I said tartly that I saw no sensible reason to buy frozen turkey when two turkey farms to my knowledge flourished within 40 miles of us. To which Henri retorted that he had been buying turkeys for 38 years, and if this particular turkey did not please me he would refund my money. He would guarantee the quality. That, I pointed out, was impossible. As for years of service. I had been eating turkey for more than 38 years, and was still unable to tell anything by looking at a frozen carcass. By this time, we had several interested listeners, nearly all rooting for me. Into this picture stepped a mature, good-looking French woman, who, with true Gallic good-nature and charm, said: "Me, I do not care if you buy dat bird or not, but las' week I bought one like him, and the only ting wrong was dat it was too small. All my married daughters came home on Sunday and dey eat him all up." Henri beamed. But not for long, because I asked, "This a relative of yours?" The onlookers laughed happily. — Anyway, because I was too lazy to go uptown for a turkey, I finally bought a frozen bird from an Eastern state, and I could not honestly ask for my money back. But at Christmas, I shall return to the farmer at Waterloo who sold fowl to my parents for years. In winter, I admit that the frozen vegetables are a godsend, but there is really no sense in buying frozen food when things are in season. It's just a racket. It only needs determined action on the part of housewives to stop it.

In fact, determined action by women could quite easily make a lot of needed reforms. The late hours kept by some teen-agers was the subject of discussion here yesterday, and it was agreed that, with a midnight curfew for parties, the whole trouble would be cleared up. Invitations clearly indicating that at midnight the party would be over, and the judicious priming of one or two key figures in the gang would be effective. Most teen-age annoyances are due to parents with a wish-bone in the place of a back-bone. This be-a-pal-to-your-child is strictly for Americans. And, if one is to believe the current rash of magazine articles, the policy leads straight to delinquency and the jail. At the very lowest computation, you must be 15 years older than your child — that's government standard — therefore you ought to be 15 years wiser. . . Be grateful for that wisdom and use it for the benefit of your children.

FOR PARENTS ONLY...

Learning Truthfulness

(Copyright) — By NANCY CLEAVER —

All good parents are eager to bring up honest children and teachers too wish to encourage truthfulness. Recently it was our privilege to discuss the problem of lying with a psychiatrist who is employed by the Board of Education in one of our largest Canadian cities. Many of her suggestions were thought-provoking. It was pointed out to us in this interview that truthfulness is a habit which a child must learn, an attitude he must gradually adopt.

In this learning process many children will make mistakes. Both parents and children may suffer much unnecessary shame and unhappiness. This can be avoided if parents remember that it is a learning process and if they know what can be expected of children at different ages. But in addition, it is wise to put the emphasis on teaching the child to love the truth rather than on telling the truth.

It is important that parents avoid an over-severe home discipline. A child who fears extreme punishment, is solely tempted to lie in order to avoid the consequence of his mis-deed, if he thinks he will not be caught.

A very bright twelve-year-old said "I learned long ago that it is crazy to steal, but it seems to me that it is crazy to tell the truth — I get into more trouble when I tell the truth than when I tell lies."

Some parents try to encourage truthfulness by punishing lightly or not at all the child who "fesses up," and punishing heavily if he deceives them. This system may apparently work for a time, but there is a wiser method. A child can be helped to accept the fact that truth may cause immediate trouble, but in the long run it pays. He who loves the truth can bear temporary inconvenience or even suffering for truth's sake.

Parents must also be careful that their standards of behaviour are within the reach of the child at each stage of his growth. Then he will not be tempted to lie from fear of punishment, or fear of disappointing his parents. Too high standards in honesty lead to difficulties.

One outstanding illustration of this was the case history of a little boy who was the only child of strict parents. They loved him but never showed him any signs of warm affection. His father was the caretaker of a large apartment house and often came into conflict with the children of the district. The boy was very unhappy because these youngsters called his father 'an old crab" and often ridiculed his parent in front of him.

When this situation became unbearable, Tom reacted by searching for some way to get his companions' favor. He knew his popularity as "the old crab's son" was at a low ebb. Most of his chums had spending money, but Tom's allowance was equally divided into one half for Sunday School collection and one half which must be saved. Unlike his friends, he had no money to buy "treats" but he knew there was money from the milk fund in the teacher's desk. By stealing he made a desperate bid to get money to buy candy for his chums.

The teacher came back to the room for a book she had forgotten and caught Tom red-handed. He denied that he was really stealing, but insisted he was looking for the drawing he had made that day. In spite of cross-examination in front of the class next morning he stuck to his story.

Poor little boy! Already insecure and unhappy in his family life, and unable to hold his own in his play group, he was now marked by the other children as "thief" and "liar"!

It was a long time before Tom recovered from this bitter experience. It hindered rather than helped his progress toward truthfulness.

Teachers and parents often fail to realize that humiliation and hopeless failure are bad medicine for normal children. They are absolutely poisonous for the unhappy child who is failing to solve his problems in a wholesome way! Parents want their child to learn to tell the truth, but they should make this learning as easy and as satisfying as possible. If a child is encouraged to love and respect truth, he will in all probability grow into a trustworthy adult whose word is as good as his bond.

Fire Prevention Week Observed at Morin Hts.

Morin Heights — The answer to fire losses is, in 90 per cent of cases, prevention and carefulness. Fire Chief H. Gillingham repeatedly states that too much emphasis cannot be placed on these two principles, to greatly curtail the tremendous losses of life and property caused by fire.

During the week of October 7-13 (Fire Prevention Week throughout Canada and United States) through collaboration of the Canadian Fire Underwriters Association and the Imperial Tobacco Company, the local fire department were able to secure posters and stamp stickers which gave colorful stress to the theme of Fire Prevention Week.

A complete inspection and study was made of all places of business — garages, stores, mills, hotels, boarding houses and public buildings, etc., with recommendations according to hazards apparent.

The two schools were unexpectedly called out for Fire Drill by Fire Chief Gillingham and his assistant; the results were most gratifying, and proved what intelligent drilling will accomplish. The Morin Heights Intermediate School of 218 pupils evacuated the premises in complete order in 46 seconds, which is a credit to the staff. The Elizabeth Catholic School of 71 pupils made a remarkable improvement over last year, and completely emptied their school in 37 seconds — which deserves congratulations for their fine effort.

William Macready chalks up two benefits from progress

High school teacher William Macready speaks with authority about progress in the vitally important field of education.

"Today's improved schools," says Mr. Macready, "are the result of years of planning, research and experiment. Modern buildings and equipment make for more effective instruction. New teaching methods help students develop new skills and extra-curricular interests. Today, the teacher's task is more gratifying than ever."

In another field, men like Macready also benefit from progress in a way vitally important to their families . . . life insurance. Family men are making greater use of its services than ever.

Today, life insurance representatives are better trained to help you. Group insurance has brought new security to millions. And many restrictions on obtaining life insurance have been removed.

In these and other ways, the life insurance companies keep pace with the march of progress.

EGGS AND TAXES DON'T MIX WELL

Peterborough, Ont. (CP) — Garfield Crowe, 74, keeps a close eye on properties he passes while making his rounds to sell chickens and eggs. For the last 39 years, he has served as delinquent tax collector for Dummer township.

He says he would be happier just selling chickens and eggs, but township council has refused his resignation every time he offers it. None of his customers are in arrears but his rounds make it easy for him to meet those who are, he says. Next year, however, he says he definitely will retire, and at last put all his eggs in one basket.

Couple Wed Recently At Dunvegan, Ont.

McCaskill - MacLeod

The marriage of Miss Margory Mae MacLeod to Mr. Cameron Munroe McCaskill took place Saturday afternoon, October 6, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Archie MacLeod, at Dunvegan. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John McCaskill, of Glen Sandfield.

The Rev. Dr. D. N. MacMillan officiated at the ceremony, and the couple was attended by the bride's sister, Miss Jean Shirley MacLeod, and the groom's brother, Mr. Melvin McCaskill.

For her wedding, Miss MacLeod chose an ankle-length gown of white Chantilly lace over net and satin underskirts. She wore a long-sleeved bolero of Chantilly lace, trimmed with sequins and net inserts, over the bodice, and her veil was held in place by a tiara of sequins and rhinestones.

The bridesmaid was in a powder blue ankle-length gown of nylon lace and net over satin, fashioned with a full skirt. Her bolero was of Chantilly lace over satin, and her headpiece of matching blue net trimmed with sequins.

The bride carried red roses, and her sister a nosegay with a background of blue net and streamers.

Mrs. MacLeod was in a navy dress with navy and white accessories, with which she wore a corsage of pink roses. The groom's mother chose a navy blue suit with white and navy accessories, and corsage of pink carnations.

Guests attended from Lachute, Cornwall, Brantford, Boston, Oshawa and Ottawa, as well as from surrounding points. Following the reception, the couple left for Western Ontario, the bride wearing a charcoal grey dress with blue tweed coat, and navy and blue accessories. Her corsage was of pink carnations. On their return, they were given a reception by many friends at the Glen Sandfield Orange Hall, October 12.

They are making their home in Lachute.

Changes in Quebec Catholic Holidays

Quebec (CP) —

Changes in regulations covering observance of Roman Catholic religious holidays in Quebec Province dioceses have been announced.

Cardinal Paul-Emile Leger of Montreal and Archbishop Maurice Roy of Quebec, Primate of all Canada, announced that, starting November 1 — All Saints' Day — Catholics in the Diocese of Montreal and Quebec will be obliged to attend Mass but will no longer be obliged to refrain from work on four holy days — Epiphany, Ascension Day, All Saints' Day and the feast of the Immaculate Conception.

A spokesman in the Quebec department of labor said the changes will eventually have repercussions in the labor relations field. Under existing collective bargaining agreements workers receive time and a half or double pay for work on holy days. He said the provisions would continue to operate but when new agreements are negotiated the question of overtime on holy days will probably be discussed afresh.

Here! New Task·Force 57 Chevrolet Trucks!

Performance-proved in a history-making test on the ALCAN Highway to Alaska

Here are the trucks that conquered the Alcan Highway — one of the world's most challenging roads! Six new '57 Chevrolet trucks, loaded with cargo, roared north from Dawson Creek, B.C., through 1,520 miles of mountains and mire, rain and hail — every conceivable natural roadblock — to Fairbanks, Alaska. Running around the clock, they made this tortuous trip — normally a 72-hour run — in less than 45 hours.

Like a carelessly unwound ribbon, the Alcan Highway twists and reels for 1,520 miles. It tumbles over towering mountains of awesome beauty and wanders through desolate Yukon forests. A miracle of engineering — but a brutal challenge to trucks.

It's the road where trucks grow old before their time. The road where gravel endlessly sledgehammers the life out of trucks. Where a fog of superfine dust chokes engines, and vicious ruts subject chassis to months of wear in a few hundred miles.

This is the road that was chosen to give the new '57 Chevrolet trucks a supreme test of stamina, performance and handling ease. The results of that test made hauling history!

Six new Chevrolet trucks — representing light-, medium- and heavy-duty models — travelled the length of the Alcan highway in less than 45 hours. They ran day and night — but this was no test of speed. It was a measure of the ability of these new Chevrolet trucks to perform under typical conditions on the truck-killing Alcan run. The Chevrolet fleet made normal stops along the way, and maintained safe and legal speeds. As a special additional test during the run, two of the trucks went the entire distance without once having their engines stopped!

It's all down in the AAA record book. And more besides! Never before has a new truck been so thoroughly proved. Come in and look over these new Alcan champs!

FIRST WITH THE MOST MODERN FEATURES!

New 283-cubic-inch Taskmaster V8 delivers 160 high-torque horsepower. Standard in Series 1800 and 1700, optional in Series 1300 through 1600 at extra cost. Horsepower ranges up to 220 in Chevrolet's complete line-up of modern V8 and 6 truck engines.

Revolutionary Powermatic Transmission! This six-speed automatic, designed specifically for heavy-duty hauling, is an extra-cost option in series 1600 through W1900 models. Hydra-Matic is offered in 1300, 1400 and 1500 Series models at extra cost.

New 1957 work-styling gives Chevrolet trucks an even fresher, fleeter appearance. There are three different and distinctive treatments.

Low Cab Forward models outdate the C.O.E. because they're lower, handsomer, easier to get into and out of, and save time in routine engine maintenance. Yet they offer all the traditional Cab Over Engine advantages.

Heavyweight Champs with Triple-Torque tandem are rated at 32,000 lbs. GVW, 50,000 lbs. GCW. And Chevrolet's advanced tandem rear axle unit offers a built-in three-speed power divider—plus a unique "self-steering" action that reduces tire wear and increases handling ease.

(AAA) The Chevrolet Alcan run was sanctioned and official results certified — by the American Automobile Association.

Proved on the Alcan Highway... Champs of every weight class!

Alcan fleet reports up to 20 miles per gallon! That's based on official AAA fuel consumption figures for the Cameo Carrier, powered by the famous Thriftmaster 6 engine and equipped with Overdrive (optional at extra cost).

All the way in DRIVE range with Powermatic! As a special test, this Powermatic-equipped 1900 Series tractor travelled the length of the Alcan Highway — up mountains and through washouts — in a single forward-speed range!

New Super Taskmaster V8 flattens Yukon mountains! This 1957 1800 Series truck with its new 283-cubic-inch V8 engine was more than a match for Alcan mountains. It climbed towering grades with jackrabbit agility.
