Valois The Official Liberal Candidate Named At Lachute Meeting Monday

A meeting of the organizers of the Liberal Party for the counties of Argenteuil and Two Mountains, was held on Monday, April 1, at the Lachute Auditorium, the hall being filled to capacity. The organizers, approximately 400 in number, came from every section of the constituency and represented the majority of the active members of the Liberal organization in the two counties, and unanimously appointed Philippe Valois, M.P., the Official Liberal candidate for this constituency, in the coming election.

The outstanding guests at the meeting were Senator Sarto Fournier and Lionel Bertrand, M.P., for Terrebonne — while on the platform were Fortunat Ouellette, Mayor of St. Augustin, Sylvio Lavigne, Mayor of St. Placide, Réal Morrissette, Mayor of Ayersville, S. Chalifoux, Mayor of Ste. Scholastique, Messrs. Bernard Gosselin, Roger Lagarde, advocate, Philippe Valois, M.P., Mrs. Ethel McGibbon, Rev. Horace G. Baugh, Dr. Roger Lavigne, Fernand Legault and Jean-Guy Joannette, advocates.

The meeting was called to order by Bernard Gosselin, who acted as convener. Mr. Gosselin read a letter from Léopold Charlebois, Mayor of St. Andrews East, who expressed his regrets as being unable to be present and assuring his full support and co-operation to Philippe Valois. Letters were also read from W. H. Robert, and Lucien Lacoste, both unable to attend the meeting.

Amongst the audience, were municipal officers, councillors and aldermen for municipalities of the two counties.

Mr. Valois addressed the gathering and thanked all present. He explained why he had called a meeting of organizers which, he stated, "were the most important men of the organization, as they were the backbone and the soldiers of the party; those most interested in its guidance and most able to voice their opinion as to the destiny of the party, for which they have to fight». Mr. Valois then gave a brief summary of his achievements, including: new major post office buildings for Lachute and St. Eustache; openings of new post offices in Brownsburg and Ayersville; improved premises at St. Eustache-sur-le-Lac and Oka; a new wharf at Sixteen Island Lake, subsidies for the maintenance and repairs of warves in St. Andrews East, Carillon, and Grenville.

Subsidies for the Grenville Historical Monument, a subsidy of $42,000 for the school in Oka, and one of over $25,000 for the school commissions in St. Adolphe de Howard and Morin Heights, in addition to advantageous arrangements with those school commissions for the tuition of the pupils of the RCAF Station at Lac St. Denis.

Grants in lieu of taxes to the Municipal Corporation of St. Adolphe de Howard; about ninety rural mail contracts; definite assurance of a door to door mail service in the towns of Lachute and Ayersville; preliminary steps to obtain the same service for St. Eustache and St. Eustache-sur-le-Lac and many other items of a more personal nature to local electors.

Mr. Valois also stated that he was called upon to act as a member on standing and permanent committees of the House of Commons, such as the committee formed to study and revise the Indian Act; for two years he was also a member of the joint committees of the Senate and the House of Commons and trusted with the study of the Criminal Act relating to capital and corporal punishment and lotteries. Last year, he was the vice-president of the banking and commerce committee, while the said committee heard a report of the Bank of Canada and from the commission of the Board of Farm Loans and also the Small Loans Act.

In the fall of 1955, he also had the honor and the great privilege of being appointed a Canadian delegate of the United Nations, where he sat on the legal committee.

Mr. Valois further stated that he had a double mandate, that of representative of the County of Argenteuil and Two Mountains, and also that of being the Official Liberal Representative. He pointed out he was amazed to hear that a certain group was acting behind his back and without his knowledge supposedly on behalf of the Liberal Party, whereas it had no authorization from anyone legally or from the central organization to do so.

Despite the meeting of February 5th at which the Liberal stalwarts of the constituency were in attendance, and the publicity given to it, this other group spread its activities with unfounded rumors and facts to such an extent that the Central Liberal Organization had to step in to repudiate any such action by means of an open telegram, which was published in the local newspapers of the two counties.

Roger Lagarde, advocate, who

A telegram was received by Fernand Legault, Q.C., secretary of the Official Liberal Association of Argenteuil and Two Mountains, from the Hon. Roch Picard, who offered his congratulations to the members of the Liberal Association, to its president and vice-presidents, as the nomination was offered unanimously to Mr. Philippe Valois. Headed "he is happy in the name of the Liberal Party, of his colleagues of the Cabinet, and especially in the name of the Prime Minister, Louis St. Laurent, to offer him our most sincere congratulations and to declare him the Official Liberal Candidate."

Bell Co. Installs Submarine Cable In North River

A submarine telephone cable weighing nearly four tons has been installed across the North River, near Barron's Bridge, R. R. Pearson, Bell Telephone manager here, said this week. This cable will provide the company with a great number of circuits for both local and long-distance service between the north and the south shores.

This submarine cable — the first to be installed in Lachute — has a total length of 400 feet, a diameter of four inches and weighs almost 8,000 pounds. About half of the cable is actually submerged.

Manufactured by the Northern Electric Company in its Lachine plant, the cable contains 1,500 pairs of wire, 100 of which will be used for long-distance communications. The remaining 1,400 pairs will serve for local calls.

Bell Telephone construction crews installed the cable, and even though the river was not completely free of ice, the task was completed in a relatively short time. A rope was first strung across the river and tied to one end of the submarine cable which was then pulled from one shore to the other.

Before installing the cable, the Bell Company was granted authorization by the Public Works Department in Ottawa, in accordance with regulations of the Navigable Waters Protection Act.

Local Mountie Leaves for England With Musical Ride

Cst. Tom G. Jamison, RCMP, who today with 36 other constables and officers, leaves Halifax for a five-month tour of England and Scotland with the RCMP Musical Ride. The local officer is the son of Mrs. Phil Roy and the late I. W. Jamison and has been a member of the RCMP for four years.

Canada's most colorful spectacle, "The Musical Ride of the Mounties" opens its tour of engagements at the Royal Windsor Horse Show, London, on May 9. Two days prior to this, a civic reception in their honor is planned by the Lord Mayor of London. Their last performance in the current tour will be at the Edinburgh Tattoo, starting September 7.

The troop's 36 horses sail from Saint John, N.B. tomorrow and will be accompanied by nine of the contingent. Special stalls built to RCMP specifications have been fitted in the ship for the trip.

The man most concerned with the welfare of the horses is Staff-Sergeant R. R. Van Patten, riding master at "N" Division, Rockcliffe. He, with eight of the men, will travel with the horses. While only 32 men and horses are required for the ride, precautions against possible illness or accident are being taken including an extra supplement of four, and they will alternate at the various shows.

Men for the ride have been handpicked by the Staff-Sergeant with the approval of Commissioner L. H. Nicholson. They come from various detachments across Canada and will resume their duties when the Ride returns this fall. The majority of the men, including Constable Jamison, toured many parts of Canada and the United States with the Ride last summer.

Young St. Hermas Girl Undergoes Serious Surgery

Two-year-old Jacqueline St. Pierre, successfully underwent an emergency throat operation in St. Justine's Hospital Friday night after she had swallowed highly caustic disinfectant. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. André St. Pierre, of R.R. 1, of St. Hermas.

The operation, a "tracheotomy" described by hospital officials as opening the front of the throat and inserting a tube so the child could breath, probably saved the tot's life.

Sunday night authorities said she was resting comfortably.

The girl, whose father is a farmer, was rushed from her home in St. Hermas to St. Justine's and operated on.

PLANNING NEEDED

Kindersley, Sask. (CP) — Town planning is not a luxurious frill suitable only for larger communities, Zane Bakun told the Board of Trade here. It was a necessity for any community wishing to expand properly.

English Protestant Children In Need of Foster Homes

Canon Paul Manseau, director of Social Service for this diocese, yesterday reported that he was looking for foster homes for several English-Protestant children.

The Social Service organization pays $34 per month for children under 12 years of age and $38 for those over that age as well as supplying clothing.

Anyone interested may obtain additional information by contacting Patrice Ouellette, at the local Social Service office, Lachute Town Hall.

Rotarians plan 2nd Fish Derby June 1st Again to Take Place in McGibbon Park

A committee comprising of Rotarians George McGibbon, Stuart Jones and Norm Somers, chairman, has started formulating plans for the 2nd Fishing Derby, sponsored by the Brownsburg-Lachute Rotary Club. As previously announced, the local firm of A. D. McGibbon and Sons Ltd., has once again kindly offered the use of its lakes and woodland park, north of Lake Louisa, for this venture. This year's Fishing Derby Day will be Saturday, June 1, and as last year, it will get underway at 5 a.m., continuing till dark.

The committee hopes to have more extensive parking facilities available this year to accommodate a larger number than the 400 vehicles which were handled May 26 of last year. More than 1,000 people participated in last year's contest, when Herbert McDonald, of Lakefield, caught the largest grey trout (it tipped the scales at 6 pounds, 6½ ounces) and Stan Baily took the prize for the largest red, it being 1 pound, 14 ounces.

In addition to prizes being offered by the local club, the reorganized Argenteuil Fish and Game Protective Association is planning on offering special awards to members of the organization catching the largest fish at the Derby.

Readers and fishermen are urged to remember June 1 is Rotary Derby Day, and additional news of this, what is hoped to be an annual venture, will be announced with the progressing of plans. Proceeds of the Derby will be used, as last year, to supplement funds to carry on the operation of the local Rotary swimming pool for another year.

County Unemployed Totals 891 Persons At Highest Level Since Last Spring

The number of persons seeking employment at the end of March was at its highest level since last spring. G. A. Downing, manager of the Lachute office of the Unemployment Insurance Commission, advises that there are still many construction tradesmen looking for work.

There are comparatively few building projects presently in progress in our district. Unemployed carpenters are the most numerous among the tradesmen and there are more painters out of work than there were last year at the same date.

The male unskilled labor depends mainly on the construction industry for work. It is thought that a few residential construction projects will commence soon, especially if mortgage loans become easier to obtain.

Factory workers looking for work figure about at the same number as last spring.

It is important to note that Unemployment Insurance benefit claimants profit greatly by the money paid and the businessmen in turn are able to maintain a somewhat better volume of business. Mr. Downing indicates that over $62,000 was paid out in benefits during the month of February alone to persons out of work in this County.

It is estimated that the present number of unemployed of 710 men and 181 women will decrease by about half within the next three weeks as construction and its affiliated industries resume activities at a normal rate for the warmer season.

1st Lachute Scout Troop Plans Paper Drive

Scoutmaster R. R. Pearson, of the 1st Lachute Troop, reports that the local organization has organized a waste paper drive for Saturday, April 27. Residents are requested to tie all bundles of paper and leave them where they can be seen and picked-up.

C. of C. Organizers Hold Meeting

Following the appeal by a number of local citizens for the reorganization of the Chamber of Commerce, a meeting was held in the Council Room of the Town Hall recently at which some 30 persons, mainly connected with businesses, were present.

Gabriel Valois opened the meeting, extending a cordial welcome to all and explaining matters as they presently stood. Paul Laliberté was nominated as interim president, with Gabriel Downing as interim secretary. The appointments will be effective until the general meeting of Wednesday, May 1.

Mr. Valois suggested that a committee, under presidency of the legal adviser, be formed to study the charter and bring in any necessary amendments. He suggested also the formation of a Nomination Committee so that the election of the executive could be held at the general meeting. Following this, five names were presented for certain positions, but their election to office could not be ratified until the general meeting.

One of the most debated questions was that of fees, knowing that the annual amount of $6 was insufficient to maintain the activities of the Chamber of Commerce. It was suggested that membership fees be based on the type of business, number of employees, etc.

Mr. Laliberté, when questioned about the lack of new industries, explained that a considerable number of firms had been contacted but it was not the fault of the Chamber of Commerce that they had not chosen Lachute for their operations. Lachute in itself could not offer them what they actually needed as we are surrounded by other municipalities which are also similarly interested.

The meeting closed with the thought that all should work harmoniously together, and assist the Chamber of Commerce to do its job for commerce, new industries, the tourist trade, and the general good of our community.

Increase Officers In Lachute Battery Plan Farnham Trip

The appointment of Captain G. Higginson, Manager of the Bank of Nova Scotia, Lachute Branch, and Lieutenant K. Dalrymple, C-I-L, Brownsburg, to the Lachute Battery, No. 131, 37th Canadian Field Regiment, RCA, was announced by Major H. Stutt, C.D.

The officer strength of the local battery is as follows: Major H. Stutt, C.D., Battery Commander; Capt. G. Higginson, Second in Command; Lt. R. McDonald, Command Post Officer; Lt. K. Dalrymple, Troop Commander; Capt. the Rev. J. R. Watson, Padre; and Officer Cadet H. Dowd, who is taking officer training each week in Montreal. W.O. II Bob St. Laurent, S/Sgt. C. Demerse and Sgt. J. Pillage complete the Senior NCO's.

Gnr. John Curtis was promoted recently and will hold the rank of Bombardier.

The local battery will go to Farnham this week-end, leaving Lachute at 1.30 p.m. Saturday, April 6 and will return to Lachute on Sunday. This training will consist of a complete Regiment of Artillery — the first of it's kind since before the last World War.

Rotary Club Remains in Brownsburg Member Speaks at Dinner-meeting

COSTLY ANTS

Vancouver (CP) — Chief Justice Sherwood Lett ruled in Supreme Court a family that bought an ant-infested house can get back the $1,000 down-payment made three years ago. The seller was ordered to return the money plus other sums paid on the house, and court costs.

A report from Rotarian Larry Pressault, chairman of the committee appointed to investigate possible meeting places in Lachute was heard at the regular dinner meeting of the Brownsburg-Lachute Rotary Club last Thursday evening. President Keith Hickson was in the chair and a large attendance of members was in evidence, the majority of whom voted to remain in Brownsburg.

General discussion prevailed, following the not too favorable report, until Rotarian Ron Barnett, secretary elect, made a motion that a vote be taken in order to give a preliminary idea if the majority of the members present were in favor of moving from Brownsburg to Lachute. The motion was seconded by Rotarian Wes Freeland. It was decided that those present should vote on whether the suggestion to move be further investigated or dropped and the vote was 17-16 in favor of dropping the suggestion and remaining in Brownsburg, bringing to a close a drawn-out debate of pros and cons presented by various members.

Speaker at the meeting was Rotarian Bob Wyse, who addressed the gathering on Antarctica, an interesting and up-to-date subject this being International Geophysical Year and at present, some 200 scientists are attempting to solve the problems of this section of the world.

Mr. Wyse opened his talk by pointing out that "To the man on the street, Antarctica means ice, expeditions, and penguins. For those who would know more, five facts should be kept in mind. (1) Antarctica is a continental land mass veneered in ice. (2) It is the most isolated of all the continents. (3) Only part of it has ever been seen by man. (4) It is virtually lifeless except on its seaward rim. (5) It is the coldest place on earth.

Despite our meager knowledge of Antarctica, it is certain that no native human populations exist there; nor have any signs of primative man been discovered. The intense cold alone precludes native human settlement. The lowest recorded temperature is —72 degrees F., but it is probable that winter temperatures at the South Pole are much lower.

Antarctica has been recognized as a continent for scarcely more than a century. Man did not set foot on it until 1895, and not until the twentieth century did the expeditions begin to penetrate beyond the coastline. Only in 1947 was it conclusively proved to be a single land mass, by the air explorations of Finn Ronnie's American expedition.

The brief history of Antarctic exploration includes stories of hardship and heroism. It is the irony of fate that some of the most experienced, most courageous, and most admirable explorers failed tragically. Scott and Shackleton are the names that shine above all others in Antarctica's Hall of Fame, and deservedly so, for they were the leaders and great men in the deepest sense. Yet Scott's body lies entombed in the Polar Ice, and Shackelton missed disaster only by a 700-mile journey in an open boat. It was the irascible Norwegian Roald Amundsen who won the race to the South Pole by having the foresight to use dog teams instead of manpower. Other noteworthy achievements include those of Mawson, Wilkins, and the master organ-

Ayersville Council In Regular Session Consider Purchase of Fire Equipment General Business Discussed, Pay Bills

Members of the Municipal Council of the Village of Ayersville held their regular meeting on Monday evening of this week, Mayor Réal Morrissette in the chair. It was decided to request the town of Lachute to submit in writing, their new proposition concerning tariffs for water and fire service. This question has been under discussion since last fall when the Lachute Town Council decided to modify the rates submitted. It was pointed out council representatives were discussing the possibilities of purchasing their own equipment at this time.

Routine Affairs

Georges Desbiens again made a request for a sewer on Gauthier Street, where, he said, there were six houses. This was first asked for in 1953 and recommended by the Department of Health. The secretary was authorized to inquire from the Department of Municipal Affairs at Quebec what could be done.

Salesmen for a sewer cleaning machine were present and submitted a price of $5,075 for equipment similar to that purchased by Lachute recently. The mayor stated that while this was needed by the municipality, funds would not permit of its purchase at the present time. The matter was left for further study.

Accounts amounting to $3,147.84 were accepted for payment on motion of Councillor Campeau, seconded by Councillor Foucault.

Two tenders for auditing of the municipal books were received and opened publicly. They read as follows — Roland A. Morin, $325; Paul E. Bonnier, $550. Both were laid on the table for further study.

On motion of Councillor Cyr seconded by Councillor Quenneville, it was decided to adopt Daylight Saving Time starting the Sunday, of April 28.

Permits for Construction

Building permits were given to Messrs. Ovila Desbiens, for a house on Chatham Street, Jean Louis Brisson, for the construction of a private garage on Mallette Street, Marcel Dinelle, addition to his building on Champlain Street, Réal Massie, house on Durocher Street, and Emile Monettte, a house on Durocher Street.

It was moved by Councillor Quenneville, seconded by Councillor Campeau that street lights be installed at the corner of St. Antoine and St. Jean Streets, also at Champlain and St. Jean Streets. Conrad Legault, secretary, presented a statement of receipts and expenditures for the month of March. Receipts were $6,059.80 with expenditures standing at $3,103.84.

Police Chief M. Philias Lévis was authorized to make certain changes of the stop signs on the roads near the school.

The secretary-treasurer was asked to write H. Y. Maranda, of Montreal, concerning an account of $51 for a motor siren bought in 1955 by the mayor, without sanction of the council.

The meeting was adjourned until Monday, April 15.

Notaries Carry On Family Business Now Celebrating 75th Anniversary

Marking the 75th anniversary of notarial existence in this community, it is interesting to look into the history of the Valois Family, and their profession, which over the years has steadily and successfully progressed.

Up to the present, some 50,000 documents have been issued from their notarial office, which is now in the hand of the third generation. Well known and highly thought of, this family have lent support to the main activities of the district, social, intellectual, educational, political and religious, and as early French-Canadian settlers were keenly interested in the welfare of their own race, which at the turn of the century, was in the minority in this community.

Notary J. Evariste Valois

It was in 1878 that J. Evariste Valois graduated as a notary and in 1882 was allowed to practice. He was born at Vaudreuil, studying for three years at L'Assomption College and finishing at the Montreal College. His first office was opened at Ste. Scholastique, but he moved to Lachute in 1907. He served as Mayor of this community from 1905-07 and 1909-11, where he resided until his death in 1915.

Notary Gaëtan Valois

Gaëtan Valois, a son, was during his lifetime a prominent figure in this community. An alderman of the town from 1916 to 1922, he also occupied such positions as president of the Lachute Catholic School Commission, Grand Knight of the local Knights of Columbus, secretary and vice-president of the Chamber of Notaries, a member of the Catholic Council of public instruction at Quebec, and among other things, a member of the Henri Capitant Association. In 1926 he was made a Knight of the Equestrian Order of Saint-Sépulcre. For 20 years he acted as returning officer for Argenteuil County.

The late Gaëtan Valois was also known as a journalist, historian and author and was a charter member of the Lachute Lions Club, composing the words of their song "Lions of the North."

At his death in 1952, Mr. Valois left, besides his wife, 11 children, comprising a nun, two priests, two monks, two notaries, an insurance agent, a professor, and two other daughters. He was also a half-brother of Philippe Valois, Federal Member of Parliament for Argenteuil - Two Mountains.

Notaries Simon and Richard Valois

It was in 1948 that the sixth son, Simon, joined with his father under the name Valois and Valois, having completed his studies at the St. Lawrence Seminary and the University of Montreal, where in that year, he obtained his licence.

In 1952 the seventh son, Richard, joined the firm which with 75 years of practice has one of the most complete records between Montreal and Hull. He attended the Seminary of Joliette and finished his studies at Laval University. He has been appointed for the second time as returning officer for the Argenteuil - Two Mountains Constituency.

Like their father and grandfather, both these young men are keenly interested in business and in all matters pertaining to the betterment and welfare of the community and are creditably taking the place of those who have gone before them.

Ontario Provincial Police Catch Quebec Speeders In Nearby Radar Trap

Ontario Provincial Police have been cracking down on motorists on Highway 17 near Hawkesbury, according to drivers returning to Montreal. The drivers said most of those picked up by the radar speed trap were from this province.

The radar trap, is at L'Orignal, according to travellers.

They said the crackdown started in the last few days and is worked by an Ontario Provincial Police radar equipped vehicle which reports on an alleged speeder, who is picked up about half-a-mile down the highway.

The drivers are charged $1 for each mile over the speed limit, plus the basic fine collected on the spot by provincial constables.

According to Const. H. Eng, at Hawkesbury, the crackdown is part of a continuous enforcement of the Ontario speed laws. He said that of four traffic deaths in the area, three were caused by Quebec cars.

Police Sgt. Carl Johns, in charge of district traffic at Cornwall denied that the enforcement was aimed at Quebec drivers.

LHS Hosts to Gymnastic Meet Saturday, Apr. 27

The International Men's Gymnastic Meet will be held at the Lachute High School gymnasium on Saturday, April 27, getting underway at 7.30 p.m. according to Arne Petersen, LHS Physical Training Instructor and Director of the Meet.

The opening ceremony will take the form of a march of the participating contestants, of whom Reg Stansfield, of Lachute is included. The local athlete took top honors at last year's Junior Provincial Meet, came second in the Eastern Canada Race and fourth in the Dominion finals. To date this year, he has won two Junior Meets and although still a Junior, placed well in Senior competition.

The order of the events planned is as follows: Still Rings, Long Horse Vault, Side Horse, Paralleled Bars, Free Calisthenics and High Horse. Presentation of trophies donated by local firms will follow the announcement of the results.

Menchen's Encyclopedia of Sport specifically mentions that a gymnast in the course of a single competition, will and does perform more acts of skill, endurance and strength than any other athlete; more in a single day than does a football or basketball player in a whole season.

Final entries have not as yet been received, but it is anticipated that a large number of contestants will take part in the meet.

Rotarian Addresses Fellow Members Talk Deals With Antarctic History

izer of them all Admiral Richard E. Byrd, of the United States.

Expeditions led to territorial claims. These claims are in the shape of pie slices, with their apexes at the South Pole. Some of them overlap, and this has led to many disputes, which, so far, have been confined to the diplomatic level. At the present time Great Britain, Chile, and Argentina, all maintain bases on the Palmer Peninsula.

Extensive exploration will take place in Antarctica in the next few years, in connection with the International Geophysical Year. The largest of the projects will be carried out by the United States, by the Soviet Union, and by Great Britain and other Commonwealth Nations. Other participating nations include Norway, Chile and Argentina. More than thirty nations will be established on the continent and adjacent islands.

The United States claims no slice of the Antarctic pie, yet recognizes no other nation's claim. But United States interest in Antarctica at the present time is manifesting itself more strongly than that of any other nation. The United States Navy's plan for the aerial mapping of the continent is a vast project, and so is the program of geophysical research being carried out by the United States Committee of the IGY.

One reason for the continued existence of the unknown is Antarctica's remoteness. It is surrounded by larger expanses of water than any other continent. And it lies on the road to literally nowhere. The only air route of any potential importance that crosses Antarctica is the great circle course between Australia and Argentina, a distance of 7,000 uninhabited miles.

It is therefore evident that at present Antarctica as a whole is of little importance in communications. Only one part of the continent is an exception — the Palmer Peninsula, which, with its South American opposite, Tierra del Fuego, guards the 600 miles of violent seas known as Drake Passage. This passage, with its subsidiary the Strait of Magellan, is the only natural waterway across the Western Hemisphere. Should the Panama Canal be closed, the Drake Passage would have great importance as a sea route. Already it has become a necessary Atlantic-Pacific route for the largest American aircraft carriers, which are too wide for the Panama Canal.

There is evidence that the climate is becoming warmer, and there are signs of deglaciation, but it would take several millenniums to melt all of Antarctica's ice even at the present rate. It has been calculated that if all of the ice were melted from Antarctica, the sea level of all the oceans would rise 150 feet, enough to flood the world's seaports.

Most of the known parts of Antarctica are poorly mapped. A trans-continental trip such as that planned by the British must expect to encounter entire mountain ranges never before seen by man.

The absence of natural supplies forces travellers to carry heavy supplies with them. There are no trees for shelter if tents are blown down, no wild life in the interior if food becomes short, no natives to go to for help in an emergency. The coasts, of course, offer some natural aids. In summer there are pools of melting water and seals and penguins for food.

In Antarctica transportation by dog team is still prevalent. It is slow. Its daily endurance in terms of working hours is small. Its carrying capacity is limited. But in the face of natural obstacles the dog team is supreme. It requires no protection from the cold. It eats snow for a supply of water. Most important of all, when sea-ice obstacles or crevasses are encountered, a dog team can be dismantled, transported across piece by piece and dog by dog, and assembled on the other side.

Man and man-made objects so far have not altered the beauty of this continent, which nature has made the most pure as well as the most barren. It is a land of silence and desolation, of stark, infinite beauty. Except for the occasional cries of seals and penguins on its seaward rim, the entire five million square miles hears only the howl of the wind, the cracking of the crevasses, or the rumbling of an avalanche.

It DOES matter which Oil Burner you buy!

If you're in the market for an oil burner, there are dozens for you to choose from. They all look very much alike. They all burn oil. Some are pretty efficient, others less so. But, unless you're an engineer, there's no way for you to decide which burner is best for your needs, except by insisting on one made by a reputable, long-established manufacturer. Like Smart's, for example. We recommend Smart's series "A" oil burners because when we sell one we know that the customer is going to be satisfied with the deal, for a long time. If that seems to you to be a good reason for buying a Smart's oil burner, let us show you the complete range, and tell you all about them.

was elected secretary of the provisional committee for the constitution of the association, gave a general resumé of the activities of the committee and presented the constitution which was adopted unanimously after having been proposed by Arthur Bélanger, of St. Eustache, and seconded by James Derouin, of St. Philippe.

A proposed slate of the officers of the association was read by the chairman; the adoption of this slate was proposed by Ernest Vermette, of Ste. Scholastique, and George Riddell, of Mille Isles, seconded by Edmond Lalande, of St. Augustin, and Donat Palambo, of St. Eustache-sur-le-Lac, and was adopted unanimously.

President, Hon. George Dansereau, Grenville.

Vice-presidents, Mrs. Ethel McGibbon, Dalesville, and Sylvio Lavigne, St. Placide.

Joint secretaries, Philippe Valois, M.P., Fernand Legault, Q.C., Lachute.

Argenteuil directors, Bernard Gosselin, Lachute, Dr. Roger Lavigne, Lachute, Ernest Gagné, Brownsburg, Maurice Pagé, St. Adolphe de Howard, George Watchorn, Morin Heights, Jean Paul Brosseau, Huberdeau, Léopold Charlebois, Mayor of St. Andrews East, John Larocque, St. Andrews East, and Tommy Fox, Kilmar.

Two Mountains directors, Clément Laurin, St. Eustache, Charles Major, St. Eustache, Leo Pilon, Parish of St. Eustache, Aurèle Guindon, St. Eustache, Donat Palambo, St. Eustache-sur-le-Lac, and Pierre Chéné, Oka.

At this stage of the meeting chairman Gosselin presented Mr. Valois with a list of petitions from practically every municipality of the two counties, representing over 1500 names, which had gathered in the last three days. These petitions were soliciting Mr. Philippe Valois to run again as the next Liberal candidate for the riding of Argenteuil and Two Mountains.

These municipalities include — Paroisse St. Eustache, St. Joseph du Lac, St. Benoît, Oka, Ste. Scholastique, St. Placide, Ste. Monique, St. Canut, St. Augustin, St. Colomban, St. Adolphe de Howard, Sixteen Island Lake, Lost River, Weir, Calumet, St. Jerusalem, Mille Isles, Grenville Bay, Greece's Point, St. Andrews East, Rivière Rouge, Morin Heights, Christieville, St. Hermas, Ayersville, Brownsburg Carillon, two from Lachute, St. Philippe d'Argenteuil and Lakefield.

The following resolution was presented by Clément Legault, of Ste. Scholastique, in French and in English by the Reverend Horace G. Baugh, of Morin Heights.

"WHEREAS it is a tradition in the constituency of Argenteuil and Two Mountains that the member, at the end of his term, be the candidate at the next election without the need of a convention;

"WHEREAS Philippe Valois, advocate, was on two occasions the successful candidate in the counties of Argenteuil and Two Mountains;

"WHEREAS at the last Federal election Philippe Valois was elected by a majority of over seven thousand votes;

"WHEREAS the petitions filed this day express the wish of the majority of the organizers and of the active Liberals, that Philippe Valois, be again our candidate;

"WHEREAS the present meeting is composed of Liberal organizers who represent the actual and liberal organization in the counties of Argenteuil and Two Mountains and who reflect the opinion of the Liberals;

"WHEREAS Philippe Valois, for many years has been a faithful servant of the Liberal party in the County of Argenteuil;

"IT IS PROPOSED that Philippe Valois be again the Official Liberal delegate and that this resolution be submitted to the central organization and that a copy of this resolution be submitted also to the Prime Minister of Canada with the assurance of the loyal support of this meeting to assure the victory of Philippe Valois with that of the Right Honorable Louis St. Laurent, Prime Minister of Canada."

The Honorable Senator Sarto Fournier, Lionel Bertrand, retiring M.P. for Terrebonne, and Mrs. Ethel McGibbon, newly-elected vice-president, all addressed the gathering and pledged their support to Mr. Philippe Valois.

Mr. Valois most heartily thanked those present and accepted the nomination and stated due to the late hour, he did not wish to prolong this meeting, but would endeavor as soon as the session was over, to see as many of the organizers and electors as he possibly could.

Who Was the Cape Breton Giant?

The Cape Breton giant was Angus McAskill, a semi-legendary figure of tremendous size and strength who died at Ste. Anne's, Cape Breton, in 1863. Accounts of McAskill's visit to Great Britain and his presentation to Queen Victoria are apocryphal. According to the story, he was mortally injured while lifting a 2,100-pound anchor to his shoulder. At maturity, he was reputed to be seven feet, nine inches tall and to weigh more than 400 pounds. He was credited with such feats of strength as single-handedly lifting enormous logs and drawing ploughs and wagons loaded with wood. In 1849 he went to the United States and toured with a travelling show. On his return to Cape Breton he invested his earnings in a store and several farms.

Who Was Madoc?

Madoc was a legendary Welsh prince said to have discovered America about 1170. An Ontario village situated 50 miles east of Peterborough in the centre of a mining, lumbering and mixed farming area was named for him.

Who Made the Discovery on Which The Canadian Radium Industry Was Built?

The momentous discovery of pitchblende was made in 1929 on the Great Bear Lake district by Gilbert Adelard LeBlanc, a prospector who was born in Westmeath, Ont., in 1860. He had been associated in the discovery of the Hollinger Mine and prospected in the Ungava and Kirkland Lake regions. He became president of Eldorado Gold Mines and at Port Hope, Ontario, he built the largest radium refinery in the world and the only one of its kind in the British Commonwealth.

Where Is The World's Longest Covered Wooden Bridge?

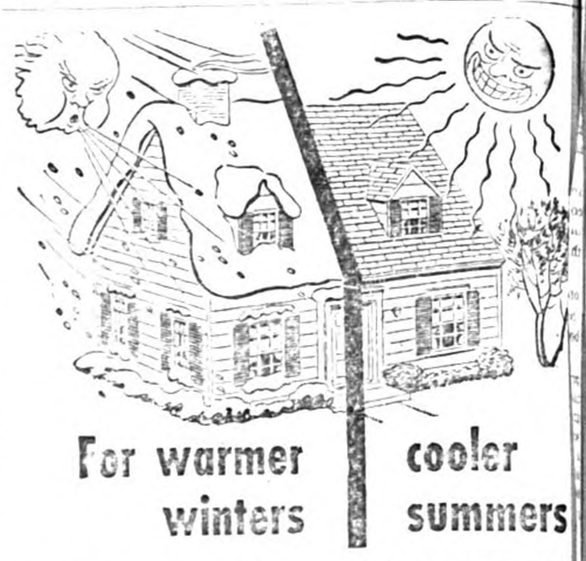

Canada can boast of having the world's longest covered bridge — the Hartland Bridge in New Brunswick. It's 1,300-feet put it 228 feet ahead of the runner-up, a Norwegian bridge. Third longest is 1,000-foot one at Cap Chat Que. Canada has more than 600 such bridges about equally divided between Quebec and New Brunswick. Many of these picturesque structures, built by the pioneers from the ready wealth of timber and covered, top and sides, to keep them open at all seasons, are still in use. In addition to their function, they make interesting tourist attractions.

Where Is The World's Largest Raft?

The world's largest raft is the floating community of Holberg B.C., situated at the head of Holberg Bay, on the northwest coast of Vancouver Island. It is a quarter-mile long. This logging camp is owned by the Alaska Pine and Cellulose Company and the first units were towed into place in 1942.

BROKE TRADITION

Innisfail, Alta. (CP) — A thief who used Bobby Dial's fishing cabin at Swan Lake and then stole the mattress obviously never heard of the western hospitality, when houses were left open to travellers with the understanding they leave the place habitable — and perhaps restock the woodpile.

Cadillac

A GENERAL MOTORS VALUE

Speaks A Language All Its Own!

Take a good look at this gentleman as he strides out into the early morning to his waiting car. You will feel—as we do—that you know a goodly number of things about him.

We would be willing to guess that he is a man of substantial achievement . . . that he is held in high personal esteem . . . and also that he is a practical man, keenly aware of the basic value and worth of the things around him.

For note that the motor car that awaits him at the curbside bears the beautiful crest of Cadillac. Here, beyond conjecture, is the most eloquent spokesman in all the realm of possessions.

In fact, the Cadillac car has, over the years, been so closely associated with the leading citizenry of our land that the two have become all but inseparable in the public mind.

For just as these motorists have placed their trust in Cadillac, so Cadillac has given them everything they could hope for in an automobile.

Cadillac has given them unduplicated beauty and luxury . . . and unsurpassed performance and comfort and ease of handling.

Cadillac has given them quality. In fact, the car is so soundly designed and built that it has become a synonym for integrity of product.

And Cadillac has given them value. With each passing year, it becomes increasingly apparent that Cadillac represents one of the wisest purchases in all motordom.

Have you driven a 1957 Cadillac? If not, we urge you to come in and let the car tell you its own thrilling story on the highway.

We think you will agree that this year, more than ever, Cadillac speaks a language all its own!

Mtre. Jacques Vadboncoeur, Q.C.,
Organizer in Chief,
Central Liberal Organization,
261, St. James Street West,
Montreal, Que.

My Dear Jacques:

It is with astonishment that I note in the county newspapers this week, that the telegram you sent to Mtre. Valois of Lachute, and a draft of which you showed me in your office, has been used by the recipient to raise insidious inferences concerning the integrity of my supporters in the county and indirectly of myself.

I have investigated thoroughly the claim that a letter purporting to come from you was being circulated in the county and have found it to be entirely without foundation. It is to be hoped that the information was conveyed to you in good faith.

I have moreover confirmed that the various meetings now being held in the county are solely for the purpose of passing resolutions calling for a convention and for the appointment of delegates in a democratic way.

It is right and proper that the resolution so adopted should be conveyed to you as the Chief Liberal Organizer in this district.

May I say that if any dissension is being caused within the Liberal ranks of this county, it is being done by those who publicly distort the honest intentions of the many loyal supporters of Mr. St. Laurent who wish to see a change in this county.

Solution Still Needed

THE SITUATION of children being served in local grills and hotels is not improving, and in the event that the Provincial Inspector has been in his vicinity recently, we would suggest he return during the week-end.

It was hoped that the laws would be respected and enforced, after it was pointed out through this column and later by means of a letter written by the Argenteuil Protestant Ministerial Association, that the situation was getting out of hand.

Part of the blame can, of course, be placed on the parents for not keeping a closer eye on their under-age "grown-ups", but the law is on the books and should be enforced.

With springtime here and summer fast approaching, the situation will worsen if it follows the previous year's trend. It is time hotels and grills were closed to those who are still attending school and not earning their own money. To see a group of fourteen-year-olds drinking, dancing, and generally "hell-raising" is going a little bit too far. Someone has to put a stop to it before it gets out of control.

If Fire Breaks Out

A LEADING CAUSE of the more than 500 deaths by fire which occur in Canada annually, is ignorance of what to do when fire breaks out, according to the All Canada Insurance Federation.

Officials of the Federation, which represents more than 200 fire, automobile and casualty insurance companies, said some form of detection and alarm is of the utmost importance if fire breaks out. They recommend the following measures:

(1) Keep the telephone number of the fire department near the telephone at all times.

(2) Know how to use a fire extinguisher — and keep at least one in the house at all times.

(3) Never delay in turning in a fire alarm; it is the first few minutes that count most.

(4) All windows and doors, except those used for escape, should be closed at first sign of fire.

(5) If smoke is smelled, even though no fire is seen, report to the fire department immediately.

(6) In cold weather, don't stop to dress children before getting them out of the house; wrap them quickly in a blanket if necessary.

(7) Make sure there is at least one exit in case of fire that is not bolted or barred by boxes or furniture.

(8) Leave baby sitters with complete instructions on what to do if fire breaks out.

And remember, it's dangerous to assume that someone else will call the fire department — always make sure by doing it yourself in any emergency.

National Wild Life Week

NATIONAL WILD LIFE WEEK was created by a special Act of Parliament in 1947. It is much different than any other special week because no one is asked to buy anything and the public is on the receiving end. Not only this generation but generations to come.

It is not a week to stimulate public interest to buy some shelf-worn merchandise, but is a week when everyone is asked to turn their minds and attention to the conservation of not only our Wild Life but our Natural Resources so that future generations won't have to go to a Museum to see a rare or extinct specimen.

The week of April 10 was chosen because it was the birthday of the late Jack Miner, Canadian Naturalist who gave his life and all his personal income for the cause so near to his heart. April 10 was so appropriate because it was the season of the year the bird life was returning to Canada to nest.

Preachers have been asked to observe Sunday, April 7 as Nature Sunday in their churches and preach on God's great outdoors, while all service clubs have been asked to provide special speakers during the week to speak on the Conservation of Canada's Natural Resources.

The Fish and Game Departments as well as the Educational Departments of the ten provinces and the Federal Wild Life Service all co-operate whole heartedly in asking the school teachers to have the Junior Classes draw birds and animals while the Adult Classes write essays and have oral composition debates on the subject.

Truly it is an educational week which one and all true Canadians should enter into.

World Health Day

WORLD HEALTH DAY this year will fall on April 7th, it is announced by the Health League of Canada, a National Citizens' Committee for the World Health Organization. That same date marks the anniversary of the coming into force of the Constitution of the World Health Organization in 1948. World Health Day will afford an opportunity to arouse popular interest in health needs and to stimulate the people's participation in the work of improving health.

There is an intimate relationship between health and the production of food. Therefore, World Health Day in 1957 is co-sponsored by the Food and Agriculture Organization.

"Poverty is only one of the reasons people don't eat the right kind of food. Prosperity and ignorance also play significant roles. Even heart disease — a leading killer in an increasing number of countries — is now being attributed by some investigators to excessive consumption of unneeded fats," states a special bulletin from the World Health Organization.

"Malnutrition undermines the health and saps the strength of hundreds of millions. In the Americas, it is a leading cause of infant mortality. All too often young children die as a result of lack of protein and other essential elements of a balanced diet, although the immediate cause of death may be dysentry or some other disease against which undernourished bodies have little resistance."

The changing of food habits of a people is a difficult, long-term task, but one that is often essential to the improvement of health. It requires the full collaboration of public health administrators and agriculturists.

World Health Day, 1957, will be an opportunity to focus attention of people all over the globe on the importance of good food in the raising of health standards everywhere.

Vanishing Monocle

THE MONOCLE, once the badge of the career diplomat, has largely disappeared from the capitals of the world.

Its history extends back to the origin of glass in ancient Egypt. It emerged in the form of a single eyeglass in the late Middle Ages, when man learned to hone glass concavely so it would magnify. It was used only for a brief period as a visual aid and after development of the frame rim now used in spectacles it became a mere ornament. But it was an effective ornament and had a subtle use that was widely exploited up to the last century.

The skilled diplomat, conversing with an influential foreigner, might raise his head, perch the monocle under his lifted eyebrow and look down his nose at him. It gave the effect of haughtiness. Yet he could not be accused of expressing displeasure. He might remove it slowly from his eye in expressing concern or, to emphasize a statement, remove it with a flourish. With monocle in eye he might stand among guests at a state function appearing distinguished and mysterious, and stand out in the crowd. That was the day of so-called secret diplomacy when the monocle played a major role in the theatrics employed by a diplomat to impress his hosts.

Nowadays international affairs are more of an open book, with modern communications removing much of the secrecy that formerly attended the diplomat's functions. In some cases, a country's representative abroad in the modern age is largely concerned with boosting trade relations, and he would greet you, not with a suave bow, but with a congenial handshake or even a slap on the back.

Only one monocle is to be seen today in Ottawa's diplomatic corps. Among some 50 foreign representatives at Ottawa, Danish Ambassador Ove Hannibal Sehested is one of the last of the old school.

This veteran diplomat always is impeccably groomed. His movement, his very glance, betray the epitome of finesse. His fine-lined mouth in a rounded, well-preserved face, seems fitted for only the most refined language.

And he seldom is seen without his monocle. He may be the last of a fading tradition.

"Boxcars !"

It's April in England now, the season Browning liked to sing of in serious vein. But I can never be very stern when thinking of April in England. My thoughts always go winging back to a little place called Chipstead, not far removed from Croydon, to an April night fourteen years ago.

We spent the winter in Chipstead, doing very little of anything, and waiting for a chance to fight back at the Germans who were then plastering us with bombs. We were ready for anything — so our second in command informed us — and would probably get our chance long before we expected it. However, as Major Brown was prone to make such weighty pronouncements whenever the spirit was on him — or more rightly, in him — we didn't put too much stock in the tale. Since, too, the major spent most of his time at the bar, the spirit was in him more often than not.

In one of his more lucid moments, he relayed the news to us that things were really beginning to hum.

"Great things are in the offing," he boomed on parade one morning. "Now pay strict attention to what I have to say."

As the major had taken the precaution of standing us at attention for the occasion, we hadn't much choice in the matter.

"Army Headquarters has just issued orders that we must be ready to move on an hour's notice. Signal for the move, if it comes will be the codeword 'Boxcars'. On receipt of the codeword, all troops will break camp and be ready to leave in their appropriate vehicles within one hour. Is that clear? Fall out the sergeants!"

Then, as an afterthought, he added that we could stand at ease stand easy, and smoke. In the interim, he briefed the sergeants on how they should get surplus stores et cetera, packed up pending all Hades breaking loose if "boxcars" should descend upon us. And by nightfall, the regiment was ready to move at the drop of a hat or the rumble of the first boxcar. We didn't have long to wait.

After a tiring afternoon of inspecting preparations for any sudden move, the major repaired to the mess to fortify himself should headquarters decide to pull any fast ones in the night. However, as the evening wore on and headquarters didn't oblige, the major became quite morose. By two o'clock the next morning he was thoroughly fed up with the bungling lumberheads that were running the war. He decided then and there, to show the world that he and his boys were ready if nobody else was.

Staggering out of the mess, he weaved across the street and bowled into the billets of our battery. Drawing his revolver from its holster, he aimed at the ceiling, fired two shots and bellowed "Boxcars" at the top of his lungs. There was an agonized roar from the upper flat and a voice in the darkness of our quarters suggested loudly in army language that the sanguine old idiot should retire before he got clobbered.

By the time the lights went on the major had departed for other fields, so we set about the task of assessing damage. There had been a row upstairs after the shots, and we bolted, en masse, up the rickety stairs. In the room directly above us, we found Archy Carew busily scratching his head and wondering how two .38 slugs had ripped through the floor, the heels of his boots, his bed and his mattress, in that order, and smacked him with sufficient force to wake him up.

"It was the major," we informed him.

"Mighta known," Archy grunted and went back to sleep.

On morning parade, the major was full of plans for keeping the troops occupied. In answer to a query about the likelihood of a rush move, he brightly commented:

"It hasn't been mentioned yet and I doubt if we'll ever hear about 'boxcars' again."

And the old coot was right. We never did.

CNIB Supervisor Clarifies Position On Council Grants

Montreal, April 1, 1957

The Editor Lachute Watchman,
Lachute, Que.

Dear Sir:

In the December 27 issue of your paper, I read with considerable interest an item regarding the making of donations to charitable organizations by Municipal and County Councils. The question was raised by Brownsburg Councillor Stanley Harris as to the legality of such donations.

On checking into this matter, the writer cannot find anything which would indicate that making donations to charitable organizations is illegal. As a matter of fact many county councils and a large number of municipal councils make contributions to charitable drives. It is true that the taxpayer's money is used for such purposes, but it must be borne in mind that if these welfare organizations did not exist, the burden of caring for handicapped and indigent persons would become the responsibility either of the municipalities or of the councils. Agencies doing work within a community are an asset to that community and not a liability. Funds raised by financial campaigns are never adequate to meet the costs of the various charitable groups and any donations made by county or municipal councils act as supplements and very often spell the difference between a balanced and a deficit budget.

In the writer's humble opinion both county and municipal councils should concern themselves more with inquiring into the work being done by the numerous agencies to ascertain whether the organizations concerned are really rendering a worthwhile service to the area. A large number of welfare agencies carry on financial drives and give very little actual service in the areas where the monies are collected. Most communities should tighten up their By-laws and make it obligatory for the organizations wishing to conduct drives to obtain permission from the civic authorities to do so. Municipalities, under the provision of the Municipal Code or the Cities and Towns Act of the Province of Quebec, have the authority to pass such regulations. If the citizens feel that there are too many campaigns annually, the blame can, to some degree, be laid on the doorstep of the civic fathers.

The writer would personally like to see a greater interest taken in this direction by the members of both county and municipal councils. Many charitable agencies are doing wonderful work, but their efforts are often being hampered by the existence of other similar agencies who organize drives and collect money and then leave the area with their collections and are never seen again until the following year when another drive is launched. The writer commends Councillor Harris for his initiative in inquiring into this matter.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

The season of First Fauna and Strange Vegetables will soon be on us. Telephones will be humming with the cheerful news that the First Bearded Warbler of 1957 is flapping overhead, and a newly-arrived Pickled Fishawk is casing a subscriber's lily pond.

The entrance to the newspaper office will soon be jammed with people wheeling in blue daffodils, giant parsnips and radishes that look like President Eisenhower.

Newspaper folk are delighed to receive these bulletins and to view those wonders of nature. The only trouble is that for every championship claimant in the world of early birds or quaint flowers and vegetables there are many challengers.

Print an item about a blue daffodil, and you are swamped at once with mauve daffodils, green daffodils and jonquils that are clearly marked with the Old Borstal colors.

Dare to mention a giant parsnip, and you will be rebuked at once by a dozen gardeners who have parsnips ten pounds fatter.

For every radish that looks like President Eisenhower, there are 20 that look like Abraham Lincoln, or Dave Beck.

If the newspaper is to be saved from becoming a case-journal of abnormal horticulture, desperate measures must be used. But it is bad manners to say "Blow, Mac, you should be in a vegetable store." That loses friends.

The only way is to discover such strange and early specimens yourself that nobody can top you.

Biggest potato recorded in the Province this year has been dug by Alexander Clamtooth, a member of this newspaper's staff. It weighs 63 pounds 7½ ounces. It has two projections like noses, and a set of cunningly-placed eyes. From the south end it looks remarkably like Foster Dulles, and from the north it is a perfect likeness of Gamel Abdel Nasser.

"I must have spilled on the potatoes some of the fertilizer I use on my 18-pound tomatoes and my six-headed cabbages," Mr. Clamtooth said.

"First stink-lily of the season was found yesterday by G. E. Mortimore, who came upon it while watching the first vulture of the season gorging itself on the carcase of the first humming bird.

Learning by Experience

The Speech from the Throne, opening the first session of Saskatchewan's Legislature on St. Valentine's Day, was notable chiefly for its fulsome praise of what private enterprise has done to strengthen, diversify and expand the economy of the Province. The petroleum industry was specially praised for enabling the Province to produce a record last year of 20 million barrels of oil and 20 billion cubic feet of gas. Mining companies also were praised for doubling Saskatchewan's uranium output. The forest industry was given honorable mention. There was hardly a word for the few remaining "social enterprises" started by the Socialist Government of Saskatchewan. Fourteen years ago Mr. Douglas, the CCF Premier, announced the end of the era in which the resources of the community were developed by private enterprise. What has happened in the interval of fourteen years? The test of experience is decisive.

NOW IT IS CHICK TIME

If you haven't already ordered your chicks, it is high time you had. Because chick sales are down badly and that means fewer hens in the nests next fall and winter. Fewer hens means fewer eggs and fewer eggs means higher egg prices and more profit for those who do have eggs to sell.

To be sure to have eggs to sell next fall your chicks should be started right away.

Early chicks raised in cooler weather are easier to raise and do better than mid-summer chicks and will lay more eggs this year. For proof of this statement, how many of you have seen an old hen bring out a brood of chicks from below the barn about the time the snow flies, but those chicks don't die.

Neuhausers chicks and service is second to none, not because I am agent for them, but from actual fact. So why not give us your order today. Orders large or small we fill them all.

To make the most out of these chicks you order, you should start them on Purina Super Startena for feed and Purina Chick-tates in drinking water to ensure healthy chicks. After, feed Purina Chick Growina till they are 20 weeks, then Purina Laying Chows.

This program is doing a bang-up job for others, why not give them a try on your flock. Never risk, never win.

To our Dad up above,
Tell him how much we miss him,
And give him all our love."

SARGENT — In loving memory of a dear son, Hecture Alfred Sargent, who passed away April 7, 1956. — Always remembered by Mother.
"They say time heals all sorrow,
And helps one to forget,
But time so far has only proved
How much we miss you yet.
God gave us strength to fight it
And courage to bear the blow,
But what it meant to lose you son,
No one will ever know."

KARR — In loving remembrance of a dear sister (Louise), who left us on April 1, 1951 and her husband, who passed away Jan. 14, 1948. — Lilly and Allan McPhee.

MacLEAN — In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Allan, who passed away April 8, 1955. — Always remembered by his wife, Marian and family.
"It will only take a little space
To write how much we miss you,
But it will take the rest of our lives
To forget the day we lost you."

Mille Isles Resident Passes in Manitoba

Late Mrs. William Morrow

Mrs. William Morrow, a life long resident of Mille Isles, passed away March 1, following a short illness, while visiting with her daughter, Mrs. J. P. Fallis, at Pilot Mound, Man. In her 81st year, she was predeceased by her husband in 1926.

The former Margaret Melinda Elder, of Mille Isles, she was married in 1893 and of this union was born a family of ten. Five sons and three daughters remain, John having died in 1918 and Miriam in 1929. Dennis Staniforth Rosemere Principal Gives Resignation

Dennis Staniforth

Rosemere School will lose an admired and respected principal at the end of the current school year it was learned this week. Dennis Staniforth, principal of Rosemere School since last fall has given his resignation to the board, well in advance of the required date.

As principal of the new high school which opened last September, Mr. Staniforth has pioneered in the organizing of grades eight and nine in a school geared for, and housing a full compliment of elementary grades. He is well known in this vicinity, having for some time been principal of Brownsburg Consolidated School. To date, Mr. Staniforth has not made public his plans for the future.

"I like Rosemere, and the Rosemere Schools have a bright future." Mr. Staniforth said, "but it is a long-term proposition which some principal will be able to do and do well. I pioneered in the Lake of Two Mountains School and do not feel up to another long-term job like it." Mr. Staniforth was most emphatic in discussing his relationship here. "The School Board, The Home and School and the parents, have all been very nice to me," he said.

Mr. Staniforth went to Rosemere with the highest recommendations, and proof of his capabilities are still evident in the good spirit and high scholastic standards at Lake of Two Mountains. The results of ground work he did with the future in mind.

Mr. Staniforth feels sure that another man will be found shortly to carry out the important job of establishing a full high school in Rosemere with a complete program designed for the full mental and physical development of our youth.

Many parents feel that Mr. Staniforth will reconsider his resignation. From one end of Rosemere to the other, parents of children attending the school expressed disappointment at the news of Mr. Staniforth's resignation. Approval of his administration of the school has been widespread and the prospect of losing him so soon fills parents with dismay.

Hold Farwell Party For Rev. and Mrs. R. Blair

On Thursday, March 28, in the Morin Heights United Church Hall, a farewell party and presentation was given in honor of the Rev. and Mrs. Robert Blair, prior to their departure to take up duties at St. Mark's United Church, Montreal. About a hundred parishioners from Shawbridge, St. Jerome and Morin Heights were present.

The presentation of a nest of tables, coffee table and lamp was made by the Shawbridge Clerk of Session. Mrs. Elder, with a few, but well-chosen words, expressed the regret of the congregation, but wished Mr. Blair every success in his new charge. Mrs. Moore, President of the Morin Heights Women's Association, on behalf of the ladies presented Mrs. Blair and Margaret with travelling bags.

Mr. and Mrs. Blair expressed their thanks and a social hour followed. Refreshments were then served by the ladies of the congregation. Mrs. A. J. Todd, of St. Jerome, and Mrs. William Nesbitt, of Morin Heights, presided at the tea table.

On Sunday, March 31, the Rev. Robt. Blair, B.A., B.D., preached his farewell sermon at Morin Heights United Church. Mr. Blair took for his text, "Ye have not passed this way heretofore." At this service Holy Communion was observed.

The Rev. W. B. Rosborough, of Lachute, and the Rev. Peter Macaskill, of St. Anthony's, Newfoundland, accompanied Mr. Blair in the chancel.

Master Ronald Dey was received into the fellowship of the Christian Church and the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mason Campbell, was baptized, at this service. The child received the name of Susan Lynn and the sponsors were Mr. and Mrs. Peter Moore.

The guest soloist, Mrs. George Manthorp, of Montreal, rendered the solo, The Lord Thy God. The service concluded with the benediction by the Rev. Rosborough.

The Rev. Blair will be inducted into his new charge at ceremonies to take place this evening.

Burg United Church Has Active Month

During the past month, in addition to the regular meetings and services, at the Brownsburg United, a supper was very successfully sponsored by the Senior W.A. for two evenings consecutively.

On March 4, the H.C. Group had a 'sliding party", after which a hot lunch was served in the church hall. The remainder of the evening was spent in music and singing.

At the regular morning service on March 17 the beautiful flowers at the altar were in memory of the late Clarence Hardie, placed there by the family.

On Sunday morning, March 24, the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. McKiddie was christened by the Rev. G. W. Bruce and given the name of James Duncan McKiddie.

Up to the present date, church attendance is increasing most encouragingly.

APMA Hold Meeting To Attend Ontario Session

The monthly meeting of the Argenteuil Protestant Ministerial Association was held Monday morning in the Margaret Rodger Memorial Presbyterian Church, Lachute.

The President, the Rev. H. G. Baugh, was in the chair, and there was a large attendance of members.

Plans were made to attend the annual joint meeting with the Eastern Ontario Ministerial Association at the Abenaki Club, Hawkesbury, on May 13 at 12.30 p.m. It is hoped that the Rev. R. M. Argue, of Montreal, will be the special speaker on that occasion.

The Rev. C. R. Lang, Rural Dean, gave a most instructive address on the subject of Repentance. He reminded his hearers that it was the note of challenge used by John the Baptist and the Lord Jesus Christ at the beginning of their ministries.

Over the Years with THE LACHUTE WATCHMAN

25 YEARS AGO

April 1, 1932 —

Those of the citizens who journeyed to Montreal on Thursday to see the hockey game between Lachute Academy and Huntingdon Academy were treated to a fine exhibition of what the local boys can do on a large sheet of ice. The home team won 4 to 2. Our team comprised Mel Langille, W. McFaul, W. Drew, H. Jones, J. Berniquer, Campbell. Alternates, C. Drew, Denault and L. Canning.

Stonefield — Mr. Harcourt, genial trainman on the C.N.R. milk train passed away while on duty last Thursday.

Lachute — Several deaths of well-known personages have occurred this week. They are — Mrs. Chas. McKenzie, Mrs. Albt. Fuller, of Hoosier, Sask., and Mrs. John Martin.

Messrs. A. D. McGibbon & Sons have had a good winter's cut in the bush back of Louisa, and have brought out to the lower part of the lake in the neighborhood of one million feet of hardwood ready for the mill operations.

50 YEARS AGO

April 5, 1907 —

Let the children come and have a good laugh at "Buster Brown and his dog Tige" — Edison's moving picture of this famous play, on Wednesday, April 10. There will also be a song program. Nothing but praise is given these pictures wherever they are shown.

Louisa — Owing to the bad roads, the Rev. H. Charters was unable to hold service in St. Aidan's Church on Sunday.

Mr. Geo. Neill has purchased a fast horse from Mr. W. Thompson.

Lachute — The regular meeting of Town Council was held on Wednesday evening when licenses were granted to the five hotels in town. It was unanimously decided that the names of all persons signing the applications by hotel keepers be published.

An abundant flow of sap is keeping things busy in all the sugar camps and the fragrant odor of the boiling syrup comes wafted on the air.

Lumbering operations on the Rouge River are about closed for this winter. Messrs. Hamilton Bros. of Hawkesbury have made about 15,000 pine logs; J. R. Waid, of Montreal, something over that number; A. Baptist, of Three Rivers, has taken out about 4,000 pine logs and some board timber; Henderson Bros. of Montreal, some hemlock and spruce; Mr. Greer, of St. Ann's, about 5,000 pieces of pine; John Wade, of Grenville, timbers, long round spruce and R.R. ties. From Point au Chene to Calumet the shore of the Ottawa and the railway track are lined with all descriptions of wood for export.

'Skiers' Church' Rector Feted at Morin Heights With Birthday Presentation

The Rev. Horace G. Baugh, rector of the Church of Saint Francis, St. Sauveur, well known as the skier's church, was recently presented with a portrait of himself, a birthday gift, in appreciation for his services to the skiing community.

William M. Molson, a member of the advisory board, made the presentation. The artist was Pamela Edwards. The presentation was made following a recent special church service at Morin Heights at which the speaker was the recipient's father, the Rev. Canon Cyril W. P. Baugh, who recently celebrated his 50th anniversary as a minister of the Anglican Church of Canada.

County W.I. President Addresses Lachute Group

The regular meeting of the Lachute Branch, Women's Institute which was held Tuesday afternoon, was well attended.

The guest speaker was Mrs. M. Wilson, County President, who was introduced by Mrs. Gordon McOuat, convener of Agriculture.

Mrs. Wilson illustrated her talk with colored films taken on a trip to South Carolina, Georgia, Florida and the Gulf of Mexico. This showed scenes of farm land, forests and the country-side, also the tapping of pine trees for the manufacture of turpentine.

She dealt briefly with living conditions, segregation, schools and educational problems.

Mrs. Ralph McOuat thanked Mrs. Wilson for her interesting and instructive lecture.

The president, Mrs. George McGibbon, thanked all members who had helped to make the Ogilvy Flour Mills demonstration a success. Members were invited to attend a cooking demonstration at the Lachute Presbyterian Church Hall, April 8 to 12 inclusive, 2-4 p.m., when Miss Janet McOuat will be demonstrator. Programs are as follows: Monday, Oven Dishes; Tuesday, Christmas ideas; Wednesday, salads; Thursday, Ideas for showers; Friday, Easter dinner.

Delegates appointed to County convention to be held on May 11, in the Lachute school were Mrs. J. A. Gordon, Miss M. McGibbon, and Mrs. Watson.

A new member was welcomed and after adjournament, tea was served.

Things 'n Stuff

— By —
Walter Henry Jackson

The scene was in a police station on a Monday morning. The desk officer was briefing a group of policemen about their duties for the day, when suddenly another cop entered, carrying in his arms an animal that none of the others had ever seen before.

"Found it eating out of a garbage pail behind the Greek restaurant," explained the cop. "Dunno what it is. It ain't a dog nor a cat an' it ain't a monkey."

"I know what it is, Sor!" said one of the others, whose hobby was the study of natural history, "That's paddymelon!"

"An' what in the name of all th Saints is a paddymelon?" said th desk officer.

"A paddymelon is a small wal aby, Sor." explained the cop.

"An' what the devil is a wallaby!

"A small Australian marsupia Sor. It belongs to the kangaro family."

"Oh, it does, does it? Well, pu it into one of the empty cells an then phone the Kangaroo famil an' tell them to pick it up."

Did you ever see a kangaroo There's no danger of them becon ing extinct in Australia becaus they increase by leaps and bound All except one who was lame. H was out of bounds!

Be seein' ya!

1957 Spring Bonspiel Now Underway Local Rinks Journey to Other Events

HAWKESBURY SPRING BONSPIEL winners of the Calvert Trophy were Syd Drew, skip, Stuart Jones, Roger Gravel and Bob Hadley. The local foursome, who brought home the first outside trophy of the year, were presented with gold pins and special prizes. There were 115 entries in the event, of which a dozen were from the local club.

The annual Spring Bonspiel of the Lachute Curling Club got off to a start last Saturday morning. This is the largest event of the curling season at the local rink, and is one in which all members take a great interest in one form or another. There are 160 entries this year, representing 32 curling clubs fom Ottawa to Lacolle. It is reported that this is a record entry and one of the largest club bonspiels to be held anywhere in the province. As is usual with such a large entry there are always some cancellations and requests for changes of dates and times of play. When cancellations occur either a Lachute rink fills in or an invitation is sent to a neighboring club for an extra rink.

As is usual in the Spring Bonspiel, the lady members play an important part in providing full course dinners each night for the visiting curlers, and local members who are also welcome.

Hawkesbury Spiel

Syd Drew and his rink, consisting of Stewart Jones, Roger Gravel and Bob Hadley were successful in winning honors at the annual Spring Bonspiel at Hawkesbury last Saturday. There were 115 entries in this event, about 12 of which came from Lachute. Syd's first game in the play-offs was against Clark Hoople, of Maxville. The second game was against a rink entered by Andy Hardie, but was skipped by Del MacTavish, and the third was against Pete Cuttle, of Hudson. The prize was the Calvert Trophy. Each player was presented with a gold pin and a special prize.

Visit Ottawa

Four Lachute rinks journeyed to Ottawa last Saturday to participate in the annual bonspiel sponsored by the Rotary Clubs of this district. Two of these rinks were entered in the double-rink competition for the Binks Shield and were skipped by L. W. Armstrong and Jim Campbell. The others were entered in a competition called the Friendlies and special prizes were awarded the two rinks winning the highest plus. Both these were won by Lachute rinks, one of which was skipped by Jack MacKimmie, and the other by Tom Hall. The Binks Shield was won by two rinks from Renfrew, Ontario, victors by one point over the Armstrong-Campbell entry.

At this time of the year a large number of clubs are holding bonspiels throughout the district. This year, it would appear, there are more than ever. Hardly a day passes when one or more Lachute rinks are off to participate in one of these events.

Locally the Molson's Trophy, sponsored by Leonard Bedard, was won by R. P. Fraser, skip, R. Wyse, D. Wilson (sub. for K. Warwick) and A. Comba, against Don Bradley, Dr. Humphries, D. Graham and R. Dixon.

CFCF Players

This Saturday the boys from CFCF will again be on hand to show their skill in both curling and entertaining. Their last visit was greatly enjoyed by us and we think themselves, and they are assured of a hearty welcome this week-end.

Bowling League Dinner and Finals for Next Week

Play-offs tension was in the air for the Lachute United Church Bowling League last Monday, and concluding games of "Series A" were completed, as well as the second round and semi-finals.

In the "Series A", the W.M.S. Blues team of Mrs. H. Riddell, defeated W.M.S. Reds by a total score of 25-11, and the East Settlement team came through with a close win of 17-16 against the St. Pat's team of Miss G. Davis.

In the second round, Teenagers' foursome of Miss Heather Jones won against Maple Leafs of Doug Smith 10 to 9, and Thistles defeated St. George's 14 to 2. The winners of this series and the above games then played in a sudden-death semi-finals.

Mrs. Riddell's team came through with a fine win against East Settlement of Les Gordon's, which was skipped by Howard Dixon, by a score of 11-8. In the other semi-final, the Thistle's team of Jack Gorman defeated the Teenagers of Heather Jones 15-4.

The annual dinner will be held next Monday evening, after which the finals will be held, with presentation of prizes.

Prov. Minister of Lands and Forests Pledges No Interference

Sherbrooke — Hon. John S. Bourque, Minister of Lands and Forests, for Quebec, renewed his declaration of war on poachers, comparing them to drunken drivers, as a menace to society. The Minister was guest of honor at a dinner which marked the closing of the annual meeting at Sherbrooke of the Eastern Townships section of the Quebec Federation of Fish and Game Associations. He congratulated Judge Richmond Hayes for setting an example of being severe with these two types of lawbreakers.

Speaking as M.L.A. for Sherbrooke County, Mr. Bourque said he is proud of his reputation of not interfering politically in cases where either of these types of lawbreakers are involved, and he wished everyone to be aware of this.

Hon. M. Bourque congratulated Mr. J. B. S. Huard, President of the Eastern Townships Association for his wonderful work, and also Jean Duguay, Assistant General Superintendent of Game and Fisheries for the province, who was a guest speaker at the dinner. He pointed out that it is very hard to patrol the forests, lakes and streams in such a large area as Quebec, and to provide protection of wildlife and work for its restoration. In doing their work, government authorities greatly appreciate the cooperation they receive from the fish and game and other associations and clubs grouped in the Federation of fish and game associations. He also praised the work being done in the Eastern Townships by biologists under the direction of Roch Séguin.

Other speakers at the gathering were Messrs. Mike Stensen, Honorary President, and J. B. S. Huard, President, Eastern Townships Association; Lucien Bérard, representing the Mayor of Sherbrooke; Art M. Wood, vice-president of Federation; Dr. Hebert Seigler, Biologist of New Hampshire; W. Hunter, Director of Federation and vice-president of the Eastern Townships Association.

Fishing Club Members Eligible For Prizes

Fishermen of the province will be able to compete for prizes totalling $15,000 in the third annual Molson's Fishing Club Tournament, it was announced last Monday.

The tournament, which starts April 1, is open to all anglers who are members of clubs or associations belonging to the Quebec Federation of Fish and Game Associations and included in this list is the Fish and Game Protective Association of Argenteuil. Individual prizes run to $50 for a first place, and the club gaining the most points in the tournament can win up to $500.

Richmond Pelletier, Molson's Fishing Club director, also drew attention to important modifications in the tournament regulations. This year entries for brown trout, rainbow trout and chain pike must be accompanied by a photograph.

The fishing clubs and associations will receive the new forms before the opening of the tournament and the 1957 tournament booklet will be mailed direct to all members on receipt of names and addresses. Club secretaries are being asked to submit these lists as soon as possible.

For the third consecutive year Molson's Brewery and its distributors will provide free transportation of doré for the stocking of lakes and rivers in conjunction with the Department of Game and Fish of Quebec. Requests for this free service in this locality should be directed to Leonard Bédard, local company representative.

The 1957 Molson's Fishing Club booklet contains such interesting information for sportsmen as: fishing calendar, charts and a list of 1956 winners. Copies are available free by writing to the Fishing Club, P.O. Box 1600, Montreal.

Anglers will also be able to obtain further details by calling at the company booth at the Montreal Sportsman's Show, Show Mart, March 29 to April 7.

Leonard Top Winner Among Canadian Pros In U.S. Tournaments

Wimington, N.C., April 1 (CP) — Stan Leonard has taken the lead over Al Balding in the friendly rivalry among the two top Canadian touring pros for the title of top money winner on the U.S. golf circuit.

Leonard, Vancouver golfer who plays out of Lachute, fired a four-under-par 68 to finish in a fourth-place tie and earn $760 in the $12,500 Azalea Open.

Leonard, in the money in eight tournaments this year after winning $7,291 in 1956, now has earned total prize money of $4,970.66.

Balding, Canadian PGA champion from Toronto, who finished out of the money here, has picked up $4,221.57, more than he earned all last year when his winnings were $3,610.

Balding, however, remains the only Canadian to win a tourney in the U.S., taking first in the Sanford, Fla., Open last year and the Miami Open this year.

Leonard's scores were 75-72-73-68—288.

Anglican Church Bowling

The play-off between the third and fourth place teams resulted in a win for the Swallows:

1st Game —
Swallows, Skip W. Shearsmith 13
Stars, skip G. Silverson 2

2nd Game —
Swallows 13 Stars 8

Swallows now meet Victorias in the final play-off next Monday in a two game total points to count, which should provide keen competition.

All members are invited to be on hand. Refreshments will be served and prizes will be presented to the winners.

Local BNS Accountant Racks Up Hat-Trick

Eddie Leblanc, accountant of the Lachute Branch, of the Bank of Nova Scotia, scored three goals in the final game of the Bankers' Hockey League when the Nova Scotian's downed the Royal Bank 5-4. The Sig Slater Trophy was presented to the winners.

The league is comprised of teams from five chartered banks with the Royal Bank previously defeating the Bank of Montreal to enter the finals.

ANIMAL TAXES

Corner Brook, Nfld. (CP) — When city council drafted a campaign to collect the municipal tax on all dogs, Councillor Ben Pryde asked about the possibility of a tax on horses. Mayor Bugden said there was no provision in the local government act for a tax on horses.

John Grierson Discusses Documentary Film - Making

"I was once taken to task for saying I look on the cinema as a pulpit. That is a way of saying that I have not been primarily concerned with the pursuit of beauty, but with the pursuit of understanding.

This is what John Grierson, whose name is synonymous with some of the best-known film documentaries, says of their creation. He has contributed much to this field, and the techniques he was instrumental in applying have won him a place of merit both in Canada and in England, where he now lives.

Explorations on April 9 at 10.00 p.m. on the central television network will make a study of the documentary, tracing its evolution, theory and traditions, and will examine its use as a social force. A discussion between Grierson and Dr. Avrum Stroll, a professor at the University of British Columbia, will attempt to evaluate the documentary as a means of interpreting and analysing our complex modern society, and of bringing alive events which shape the world.

The one-hour program was prepared in Vancouver and is itself a documentary. There will be excerpts from such films as Night Mail, Listen to Britain and Rival World, features in which the Grierson touch is evident.

Grierson, born in Scotland in 1898, was the first commissioner of the National Film Board and distinguished himself in starting the Canada Carries On series of documentaries.

Student Prospectors

At the University of Alberta, a man and his wife have bought a jeep and drafted plans to spend three months prospecting in the Northwest Territories this summer. They are just two of many people in Edmonton who are attending prospecting classes. Albertans are generally showing increased interest in mineralogy and claims are being staked at 10 times the rate in 1946. June Sheppard, of Edmonton, a free-lance broadcaster, makes this the subject of This Week on April 13th (1.15 p.m. on Trans-Canada). Her broadcast is entitled University Prospecting Classes.

Family Circle Shows Child as Individual Theme Stressed in Current TV Series

Children must be understood and respected as individuals.

This is the theme stressed in "The Family Circle", a series of 10 weekly TV programs on film beginning April 7 on the CBC-TV connected network. Program time is 3.00 p.m. EST. "The Family Circle" will be carried on a delayed basis on TV stations not yet linked by the microwave network.

An appealing film about children will be shown on each program illustrating the ages and stages and the accompanying problems as the child grows up. As time permits, discussion from the TV studio between parents and teachers will form part of the program. The hostess will be Mrs. Polly MacKay-Smith, of Ottawa, herself a mother of five children.

Some of the ten films making up the series are already in circulation, while some are newly produced. This is the first time the ten have been shown as a series.

That children are growing personalities with their own emotional needs and rights is the subject of the first program, on April 7.

On April 14 the film examines the play habits of children from one to fifteen and shows how their development normally keeps pace with their physical growth.

"Terrible Two's and Trusting Three's" is the film for April 21 and deals with such problems as destructiveness, tantrums, rivalry and unreasonable fears.

"Frustrating Fours and Fascinating Fives" on April 28th, maintains they aren't really naughty; that devilment is just part of normal development.

Your family is different, of course, but you may find helpful clues in the May 5 film about that period from "Sociable Six to Noisy Nine."

The problem of children who won't eat is dealt with May 12, and children in the age group from 10 to 12 are studied on May 19.

"Teenagers" is the May 26 film. It tries to explain something of what goes on in the minds, emotions and lives of adolescents.

"Shyness" is thoroughly discussed June 2.

On June 9 the film indicates something of the way the interplay of home and school affects the development of our youngsters.

The series is produced by the Talks and Public Affairs Department of the CBC. Crawley Films Limited produced seven of the films, the National Film Board produced two, and United World Films Incorporated produced one. The National Film Board is handling distribution of the film for this series in Canada.

Phyllis Marshall

Long known as the Queen of sultry ballads and blues, singer Phyllis Marshall is heard regularly on CBC television's weekly variety show 'Cross-Canada Hit Parade'.

Reading for Easter

A Meditation on the Passion of Our Lord, an extract from the work of the French poet and mystic Charles Peguy (translated by Julian Green), will be heard at 10.30 on CBC Wednesday Night, read by Flora Robson in a BBC transcription. Peguy, who is called one of the most original and profound of the religious writers of France, wrote the first draft of LeMystere de la Charite de Jeanne d'Arc while still a student, in 1895, and published it more than 15 years later, in 1910 — four years before he was killed at the Battle of the Marne. The extract to be heard is part of the meditation of Madame Gervaise, a Franciscan nun to whom the young Joan goes for instruction in the mysteries of the Christian religion, and who is described as a symbolic figure personifying the Church.

PICASSO ON FILM — MAN, ARTIST AND PIONEER

A documentary film study of the great Spanish painter Pabla Picasso will be the feature on CBC Folio, at 10.00 p.m. April 10, on the central TV network. With it will be shown a short Dutch film called Maskerage, made of groupings of primitive African masks, with a background of wild, weird music.

The study of Picasso was directed by Luciano Emmer, with scenario by Picasso himself and Sergio Amidei (who produced the film), and a Flamenco musical score by Roman Vlad. Emmer's skilful camera work shows the 75-year-old Picasso at work in his studio on the French Riviera, and with 477 of his works, traces his career from early family sketches done in his teens in Spain (around 1896) to some of his latest murals.

Tips on Touring

By Carol Lane
Women's Travel Authority

Control your reflexes, and you'll avoid a lot of trouble while driving. Heere are some Do's and Don't for meeting highway emergencies.

If you're nudged off the road onto a soft shoulder, don't slam on the brakes. Don't try to turn right back onto the pavement. Gently apply your brakes, steer so that your right wheels are about three feet away from the pavement, then move back onto the highway gradually when the coast is clear.

When you round a cruve that suddenly proves too slippery for your speed, don't resist the skid by braking and steering out of it. Don't panic and step on the clutch. Always steer in the direction of your skid. Then, accelerate slightly to help your automobile regain its balance.

Chances are you've found yourself in a situation when someone starts to pass you and spots the oncoming traffic too late. As a rule, the offender will try to drop back behind you again. Your cue here is to accelerate, if you can, to give him room. But if he tries to complete the pass, reverse this cue and slow down. This calls for fast thinking.

When it comes to night driving, we've all met the driver who thinks he's the only one on the road. If you're blinded by oncoming lights, there are only two things to do: (1) Slow down and (2) Turn your eyes to the right side of the road.

Finally, if and when a blowout occurs don't jam on your brakes under any circumstance. Don't try to steer out of it sharply. Slow down gradually. Hang onto the wheel until it comes back into line. Then, when you feel your car is under control, brake easily.

Remember, when it comes to driving emergencies, knowing how to avoid them will lessen the worry about getting out of them. Foresight is better than hindsight any way you look at it.

The Lonely Defenders

At stations of the RCAF's Air Defence Command, the clang of an alarm bell sends young men climbing into the sky in jets in search of "unidentified aircraft." Canadian Scene on Sunday (4.00 p.m. on Trans-Canada) will present a picture in sound of these men and their machines that defend our skies. Listeners will visit RCAF Station Cold Lake, Alberta, where pilots fly the CF-100, an all-weather interceptor, and learn how to fire rockets at swiftly-moving targets. Many techniques of modern-day air warfare will be explained and some of the men who form this line of defence will be presented.

HAD ROUGH TRAVEL IN '98 GOLD RUSH

High Prairie, Alta. (CP) — V. Maurice of this Peace River district town recalled during his 78th birthday celebration his attempt to reach the Yukon overland in the gold rush days of 1898.

Mr. Maurice said he reached Edmonton on New Year's Day, 1898, when Edmonton had less than 2,000 population — all working frantically, it seemed, to sell everything possible to the gold seekers swarming north.

They sold some on the idea of an overland route through the Peace River country to the Yukon.

End of Trail

Mr. Maurice said he left Edmonton May 24, 1898. The trail led to the Athabasca river, across the Swan Hills to Lesser Slave Lake, 200 miles northwest of Edmonton. From there it went overland to Peace River Crossing and west by a round-about route to Fort St. John, 200 miles as the crow flies, but nearly 500 by the devious trail.

Another 200 miles northwest and the trail ended in the forbidding Rocky Mountains. Hundreds attempted to get to the Klondike this way but apparently none ever reached it.

Mr. Maurice said he turned back to Fort St. John and later built a raft of logs and floated down the Peace River. He got back to Lesser Slave Lake and settled there to make his living trapping.

Teatime Topics

By Carolyn Willett,
Canadian Press Staff Writer
Written Specially for
The Lachute Watchman

Canadians expect an election this summer, but the president of the Canadian Federation of University Women is thinking in terms of "brainstorming" rather than "barnstorming."

Dr. Doris B. Saunders of Winnipeg suggests that CFUW clubs form real "brainstorm" groups to think up new ways of promoting the federation's ideas.

An educationist, Dr. Saunders would like to see the teaching profession get a better share of professional prestige and more bright children encouraged to stay in school.

Girls should have professions they can rely on, she says, in case they have to return to work after marriage.

Just Spoofing

Last year, a university women's club at Calgary touched off quite a flurry when its members debated the pros and cons of a university education for women. The side arguing that university education is of no value to women won the debate.

For a while after the original debate ended, impromptu debates sprang up in various parts of Canada — whenever women of differing opinions about the subject gathered.

But the Calgary college women were really just spoofing — it was a debate and it just happened that the "wrong" side won.

And perhaps there's no better example of the serious side of CFUW clubs when it comes to education than the federation's annual contribution to school and university studies.

The organization contributes $1,500 each year to keep bright students in school. It also finances five post-graduate scholarships worth $8,700 each year. One scholarship, worth $1,500 offered for the first time this year, is open to any woman university graduate in the world for study anywhere.

Flavorful Fish

It's Lent, and the meatless days have probably already sent housewives tussling with cookbooks and searching for new ways to serve fish.

The federal fisheries department offers a flavor touch that might make all the difference in the world to that waiting smelt. Melt two tablespoons of butter and stir in one-eighth of a teaspoon of dried mint. Driddle the melted butter over a pound of breaded smelt and bake in a hot oven for 10 minutes.

For a new and quickly prepared luncheon or supper dish, the fisheries department suggests a French-toasted salmon sandwich.

One thing to remember about planning a fish main course is that color and texture contrasts are important, because fish usually has a delicate color. Bright garnishes, vegetables and a crisp accompaniment such as a raw relish, salad or crusty rolls help promote enough eye-appeal to bring the family hustling to the table and later leaving their platters clean.

ACWW Vice-Pres. to Attend Internat'l Council of Women Conference in Montreal

According to a report just received at the office of the Quebec Women's Institutes, Macdonald College, Mrs. Ian Macdonald, New York, a vice-president of the Associated Country Women of the World, will represent that organization at the coming Conference of the International Council of Women in Montreal this coming June.

The appointment was made at the last meeting of the ACWW Executive, held in London, England, in response to an invitation from the Council to send a fraternal delegate.

The report goes on to say that the Area Vice-President for Canada, Mrs. Hugh Summers, Fonthill, Ont., will be asked to represent the ACWW at this Conference also, or if unable to do so, some other Canadian member whom she may appoint in her place.

SARDINE CHEESIES

The raw, chilling winds of spring have one good feature at least, and that is that they give a healthy, ruddy glow to the cheeks and inject everyone with an increased enthusiasm for substantial, enticing meals. What will satisfy the hungry horde as it troops in for lunch at noon or after an invigorating evening out of doors? At such times the chief cook and budget-balancer is usually on the lookout for a fresh menu idea that doesn't require too much effort on her part. One simple solution — Sardine Cheesies, hearty open-faced broiled sandwiches that feature popular Canadian sardines atop a zesty cheese base. This version has the added attraction of a tangy sandwich spread blended of smooth mayonnaise and piquant relish. To complete the luncheon menu, precede Sardine Cheesies with a bowl of hot soup and conclude the meal with canned fruit and cookies. If it's an evening occasion, why not try serving these delicious and hearty sandwiches with mugs of steaming beef bouillon, or for more conservative tastes, hot chocolate.

Sardine Cheesies

Toast bread slices, or leave plain if preferred. Beat an egg slightly and grate into it half a pound of processed Canadian cheese or mild Cheddar. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Stir until blended. Generously spread bread or toast slices with piquant sandwich spread (a blend of mayonnaise and relish, available in any grocery store). Top with cheese mixture. Arrange one or two Canadian sardines on top. Bake in hot oven preheated to 450 deg. F., or broil, until bubbly and lightly browned.

Baked Fish With Rice-Olive Stuffing

3 to 4 pound fish, dressed, salt. ¾ cup chopped onion, 1 cup diced celery, ¼ cup butter, melted, 1 cup chopped, stuffed olives, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, ½ teaspoon sage, ¼ teaspoon thyme, 1½ cups cooked rice, ¼ cup melted fat or cooking oil.

Wipe fish with a damp cloth; sprinkle on the inside with salt. Prepare dressing in following manner. Cook onion and celery in melted butter for about 10 minutes or until tender. Add cooked vegetables, together with chopped olives and seasonings, to cooked rice, combine thoroughly. Stuff fish loosely; close opening with small skewers and lace skewers with string. Measure thickness of fish at thickest part. Place in a greased baking pan and brush with cooking oil or melted fat. Bake in a hot oven (450°F.), allowing 10 minutes cooking time for each inch of stuffed thickness. You will know that the fish is cooked when its juices are milky colored and the flesh will easily separate into flakes, when tested with a fork. Remove fish to a heated platter and garnish to taste. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Baked Stuffed Fish Is Festive

A whole, baked, stuffed fish is an eye catching dish. Plumped with a delicious dressing and proudly served on a platter, it can be quite as festive as roast turkey or a roast of meat and doesn't take as long to cook. Some good varieties of fish to bake whole are lake trout, whitefish, pike and haddock. The home economists of Canada's Department of Fisheries tell us that a whole fish is not difficult to prepare. For ease in handling they recommend that it be purchased in dressed form . . . that is, scaled, eviscerated, and with head, tail and fins removed. They further suggest that the dealer be asked to remove the backbone, as this will facilitate carving.

Any good poultry stuffing is tasty with cooked fish. For something a little bit different, however, you might like to try this popular Rice-Olive Stuffing developed in the Fisheries Department's test kitchen It has just enough subtle flavor to bring out the best in your fish.

Let's Eat

BY IDA BAILEY ALLEN

"Oh, la la! Quel smorgasbord!" The chef's eyes gleamed.

We were having lunch at the Kungsholm restaurant in Chicago, which has the most famous smorgasbord in America.

Hors D'Oeuvres

Among the cold hors d'oeuvres were smoked and pickled fish and sea food of all kinds, head cheese, rola-polsa (rolled stuffed lambi, tongue in aspic, and many others along with cauliflower vinaigrette, onion rings, vegetable nibblers and pimiento-cheese-stuffed celery.

The hot dishes included pheasant dumplings, fish pudding, sweet-sour brown beans, braised strips of steak and Swedish meat balls.

Among the salads were apple-eelery salad with whipped cream dressing, mustard-meat salad, anchovy aspic, avocado aspic, and an array of molded salads.

Squares of cheese were topped with walnuts.

Order of Service

"We can start with the hors d'oeuvres," said our host, "then have a round of hot dishes; after this the salads, then fruit or a fruit cocktail and cheese."

"I'm afraid that will be too much for me," I said

"Then we might compromise on a Lazy Susan smorgasbord served at the table," suggested our host. "This might also be a good idea for home service."

The Lazy Susan brought by the waiter was centered with a bowl of chilled shrimp with dilled French dressing. Around it were arranged rola-polsa, baked ham, smoked salmon, goose liver pate cut in cubes and celery hearts stuffed with pimientos and capers.

Pot Roast Entree

For the entree, we enjoyed Swedish Pot Roast Jardiniere. For dessert, the men chose melon and I a delightful sweet —Swedish raspberry cream.

This turned out to be a fluffy Spanish cream flavored with rum extract and served with a sauce of just-thawed frozen raspberries.

Swedish Pot Roast Jardiniere: Dust 4 lbs. brisket of beef with onion salt until it looks frosty white. Brown in ¼ c. fat.

Add 1½ c. water and 2 beef bouillon cubes; simmer 3 hours, or until fork-tender.

Slice the pot roast. Arrange overlapping on a platter with a garnish of hot mixed vegetables seasoned with thyme. Pass brown gravy. Serves 6.

Trick of the Chef

Home Hospitality

(Copyright)

— By NANCY CLEAVER —

A homemaker was being complimented for the generous way in which she opened her house to young people who were strangers in her community. The Young People's group at the church were always welcome under her roof at a social gathering at least once each year. She answered with a smile, "I enjoy boys and girls. When I was growing up, my folks always allowed me to bring my chums home when I wanted to. It is such a happy memory!"

Home hospitality is valuable to a boy or girl of any age, but it is extremely valuable during the teen years. An adolescent is apt to doubt the security of his place in his own age group. It is a great help to be able to ask "the gang" in at short notice or feel free to invite a special friend to enjoy music or a game or some other pleasure.

Informal entertaining is much less strain on a teenager — and on the family, than a formal party. Any parent who is puzzled by the behavior of a tall son or daughter when "company" is present should read or re-read that incomparable story "Seventeen" by Booth Tarkington. Turn to the chapter beginning "At Home to His Friends" for an amusing but painful picture of William's brain storm over dressing for the party for his best girl, "Miss Pratt!"

Recent surveys in different communities have brought to light the "beef" of many adolescents about the lack of parental friendliness to their companions. A boy may be critical of his father's ways, of his mother's hair-do, but all the same he wants to know he can bring his chums in the home door with him, and find a welcome there.

Almost-grown-up daughter may think a small brother or sister a perfect pest. She may judge her mother as sadly lacking in sophistication, but nevertheless she does want, from time to time, to invite her friend or friends into her home.

Fathers and mothers are seldom asked why they are so reluctant about endorsing an "Open House" plan for younger members of the family. They may be very busy, or worried by financial or health problems. They don't do much entertaining of their friends, so why should they bother about their children's chums?

Sometimes parents consider hospitality a luxury which costs too much. Boys and girls who are earning money in their spare time with paper routes, running errands, baby sitting, etc., should share at least half the bill of "eats" for the crowd.

Dad may think, with good reason, that mother's job of running the house is already too heavy. Adding to her regular duties, cleaning up in the morning after a teenage "do" the night before is no fun for her. Son or daughter should be smart enough to see to it that mother does not find her kitchen looking as if a cyclone had hit it after "the gang" have dropped in!

An older boy or girl does not want mother hovering around after a late show giving directions about the kitchen "clean up." With a little home encouragement, son or daughter can organize some co-operation for a "wash-up" gang or tackle the job themselves after the company has gone home.

You can't go "ALL-OUT"

If you feel "ALL-IN"

These days most people work under pressure, worry more, sleep less. This strain on body and brain makes physical fitness easier to lose—harder to regain. Today's tense living, lowered resistance, overwork, worry—any of these may affect normal kidney action. When kidneys get out of order, excess acids and wastes remain in the system. Then backache, disturbed rest, that "tired-out" heavy-headed feeling often follow. That's the time to take Dodd's Kidney Pills. Dodd's stimulate the kidneys to normal action. Then you feel better—sleep better—work better. Ask for Dodd's Kidney Pills at any drug counter. 53

Springtime, Politics and Education Plaudits to Rev. Canon C.W.P. Baugh

"Exile from Sunnyacres"

By Margaret Cook

As I said, Spring was just around the corner. And so she was. At the front of the house, the golden crocuses delight the neighbors and tempt the children. From time to time during the day, it is necessary to explain to the little angels that crocuses are for everybody, not just for prowling children. The blue scilla on the opposite side of the door do not attract so much and the purple crocuses are also unmolested. Seems to me there must be a moral in that, but it escapes me at the moment. Oh, yes, it pays to be quiet and retiring. Does it? Anyway it is fascinating to think what a lengthy article could be written composed of nothing but platitudes. I suppose that if one is timid, and not given to thinking, that platitudes can be a comforting retreat.

To return to the Spring; in the back yard, the ice is retreating slowly and sullenly. As soon as it shrank from the beds, the daffodils sprang up; they are a nasty pale yellow at present, but another week of this sunshine will transform them into their normal blue-green. Nearby, the asparagus still sleeps under last years dead vegetation, and the rhubarb is invisible. Every morning, after the morning manicure of his claws, Peter the cat looks hopefully at the place where the catnip grows, and goes off moodily.

Before we forget we must tell you about Peter's brass bed. It is a perfect miniature bed, about eighteen inches long, and ten wide, and originally belonged to a pampered Pekinese next door. In the course of time, the Pekinese went to dog heaven, and the mourning owners put the bed sadly in the attic, along with its springs, mattress and bolster, also sundry small blankets. A visit to this attic is quite as entertaining as one to the Museum at Carillon, but dustier. It contains the record of life of the last two generations. Betty spent a blissful afternoon investigating the relics and came back with the bed. As some of our readers know, we have a huge brass bed at Sunnyacres, so large and genuine that the men who delivered it were under the impression that we were installing a pipe organ. So, now we plan to put the little brass bed beside the big brass bed, and confirm the opinion of some of our friends and enemies that we are all mad. We hasten to add that our pet adores the new couch. It is quite a sight to see master Peter curled up on his bed, his eyes exactly the color of the brass.

The neighbor's child is walking their dog as I write. I do this in the sunroom, which is glass on two sides; I have the privacy of a fishbowl, but I also have light, sun and a perfect view of life on the street, at this hour on the Sabbath morn, practically nil. What I began to say was, that beginning tomorrow, all dogs in this bit of suburbia must be on leash till winter. All the dog owners are annoyed and the rest of us, happy. Truly a dog here has a dog's life. But the other four months the citizens suffer. In the country a dog leads a dignified and often useful life, in the city their repulsive eating, amatory and elimination habits are all too noticeable. We had dinner lately with the British head of the Commerce department of a well known private school in the townships. She reiterates what various journalists have written, that our high school system is behind that of Great Britain, and that our pupils are less mature mentally than those of a comparable grade in that country. In fairness, it has been pointed out that our youth are not subjected to the screening out process, as they are at age eleven in the British Isles. Thus, only the cream of the crop ever gets to High or Grammar School, so naturally the graduate students there are of a higher calibre. We say proudly that everybody in our country and in the United States can and generally does go through High School. It sounded fine in theory, now after a generation or less of trial, several of us are beginning to wonder. If everybody is to graduate from High School, obviously the courses must be beamed at the duller element. That's fine for Jimmy, the good, solid citizen whose brains are in his hands, but what about Tom, the student? Well, he's bored. Gradually, boredom leads to inertia, and bad habits of sloth become common, and Canada has lost another potential leader. Seems to me that what we call democracy is just an inverted kind of snobbery. A clever tool-maker is just as useful to the country as is a professor in a college. They are different, true, but why not, whence this craving for a uniform mode of life? This is the day of the common man; but all the exciting, useful things in the world have been done by uncommon men. Of course, there is Hitler, uncommonly evil, but luckily, history has few such blots to show. Where, by the way, is Hitler's promised thousand years of Nazi-ism? Gone with the wind of democracy. Maybe we'll make out, after all.

Yes, I have left education and politics, and now go on to pleasanter and more local topics. We should like to add our plaudits to those of the editors of "Time" and of His Lordship, the Bishop of Montreal, both of whom have seen fit to honor the Rector of Lakefield the Reverend Canon Cyril W. P Baugh. Although the Canon and the writer have on occasions had spirited disagreements on various subjects, including the importance of money, marriage, Lakefield and work, these arguments have in no way dimmed our real appreciation of the courage, perseverance and mental capacity of this survivor of fifty years in the ministry of the Anglican church. Personally, we often wonder how any Protestant minister survives even five years of what is often a thankless task. Neither do we ignore the splendid showing of Canon Baugh and his wife as parents. A large family has grown up to honor their parents and lustre to the name of Baugh. What the nurture and education of this family must have meant to a priest of the church on a priest's salary, we shudder to think. All wives must learn economy and sacrifice in the name of parental love, but ministers' wives must have the financial ability of a butler, the humor of a Mark Twain and the courage of a Churchill. We feel that the writer of Proverbs said it all many centuries ago. "A rare find is an able wife — she is worth far more than rubies!" (Proverbs, XXXI) "Strong and secure is her position; she can afford to laugh, looking ahead. She talks shrewd sense. . . Give her due credit for her deeds, praise her in public for her services." (Moffat's translation). Well done, Canon and Mrs. Baugh, may we all do half as much! The space is about gone. When we return next month, we shall be able to tell you about Washington and the cherry blossoms, whither we hope to go soon. Happy Easter to everybody.

The first aid kit and insurance both have important roles to play in the event of accidents.

Each year, the companies writing accident and sickness insurance in Canada pay out more than ninety million dollars (not including automobile accident costs) to policyholders—a mighty bulwark against unusual financial strain.

It is far better, though, to prevent accidents and mishaps, rather than to deal with the treatment of their serious—and often tragic—after-effects. That is why insurance companies are constantly seeking ways to stem Canada's mounting accident toll.

Safety pays dividends . . . saves lives, helps to lower your insurance costs. Be Careful.

BOOST CIVIL DEFENCE

Corner Brook, Nfld. (CP) — Returning from a civil defence conference at Arnprior, Ont., Mayor Alison Bugden said the gathering had enthused him with the determination to see that a proper civil defence program should be carried out in Corner Brook. He was among 100 Canadian mayors given a briefing at the Canadian headquarters of the organization.

OUT ON A LIMB

By Stumpy McCulloch

"Is this a healthy place?" the city feller asked.

"Yep," replied Ol' Cyprus. "When I came here I couldn't utter a word. I had scarcely a hair on my head. I didn't have the strength to walk across the room, and I had to be lifted from my bed."

"That's wonderful," the feller said. "How long have you been here?"

"I was born here," Cyprus said.

Tree bark is an amazing thing! In New York state, they tell a story about a young feller who hung up his scythe on a balm-of-Gilead tree. Then he went off to fight in the Civil War. The tree bough grew up around the scythe and completely covered it!

Lots of folks tell stories about cannonballs, plowshares, and even deer antlers that have been embedded in living wood. Out in California, I hear, a college student once noticed a scar in the trunk of a pine tree, cut around it with his knife, and discovered a small, leather-bound Bible!

Good news about tree farming! More and more fellers are growing timber as a crop! In the first half of 1956, the American Tree Farm System grew by almost two million acres of forestland! Tree farming, you know, is an industry-sponsored movement to recognize private landowners who voluntarily protect their woodlands from fire, insects, disease and grazing, and who harvest for repeated crops!

I know a gal who was remodeling her house recently. She needed some beams to reinforce the floor—so she traded nine big black walnut trees from her woods for nineteen 24-foot sycamore beams. She was swindled! According' to our local forester, the sycamore beams are worth only about a twentieth of the value of her walnut trees!

* * *

That's why it sure pays us tree farmers to keep in touch with a local forester. He can offer information about current market prices for pulpwood and timber, can put us in touch with reliable buyers, and can advise us on drawing up sales contracts!

For 12 years the old sailor had been shipwrecked on the desert island. He had weathered hurricanes, illness, hunger and fear. But when he discovered a king-size Coke bottle on the beach, it was too much for him. "Good heavens," he cried out, "I've shrunk!"

* * *

So long! See you soon!

Mouse, Freedom Fighter, Battle Disease

A mouse and a "Freedom Fighter", from Hungary form an unusual combination in the team which is battling Muscular Dystrophy. A chance meeting with Dr. Hans Selye (left) of the University of Montreal, brought Dr. Eors Bajusz (seated, with the mouse on his hand) into contact with Arthur Minden, Toronto lawyer and president of the Muscular Dystrophy Association of Canada (third from left) and Dr. David Green, 1st vice-president (right). Last October Dr. Bajusz joined the "Freedom Fighters" in his native Hungary. Before that he had spent two years at the Institute for Muscle Research in Budapest. Escaping to Canada, he is now contributing to the welfare of sufferers in his new home by conducting further research, aided by a grant made by the Muscular Dystrophy Association. The mouse is one of a special strain which has inherited muscular dystrophy through scientific breeding methods.

When Dr. Eors Bajusz (second from left) joined the "Freedom Fighters" of his native Hungary last October, he little dreamed that in three months he would be in the forefront of the fight against Muscular Dystrophy in the western world. A chance meeting with Dr. Hans Selye (left) of the University of Montreal brought him in contact with Arthur Minden, Toronto lawyer and president of The Muscular Dystrophy Association of Canada (third from left) and Dr. David Green, Toronto, 1st vice-president (on the right). When the four met in Montreal recently, the Muscular Dystrophy Association awarded a research grant to Dr. Bajusz for one year to study the effects of hormones on mice that have inherited muscular dystrophy — like the one he's holding.

Scientists at the Roscoe B. Jackson Memorial Laboratory at Bar Harbour, Maine, last year succeeded in breeding a strain of mice that genetically transmit muscular dystrophy. This was a great step forward in research work, and now Dr. Bajusz, fresh from two years' work at the Institute for Muscle Research in Budapest, can use some of these mice to try to find out whether hormones are effective in the treatment of muscular dystrophy. As far as is known, this will be the first systematic work carried on in this field and Dr. Selye hopes the experiment may provide a clue that could lead to a cure. Dr. Bajusz speaks no English or French, but Dr. Selye speaks fluent Hungarian, so this new Canadian will be able to give us the benefit of his knowledge immediately.

Dr. Bajusz, son of a medical practitioner in Hungary, was graduated from the University of Budapest with the degree of M.D. in 1950, and went immediately into research work until the revolution last year put a temporary halt to his work. Now, thanks to the Muscular Dystrophy Associaiton of Canada he is happily carrying on in his adopted country . . . with facilities and equipment he could not have had in Hungary. Perhaps the suffering of the brave people of that land may lead to the relief of sufferers from muscular dystrophy not only in Canada, but all over the world.

Have You A Question

on

UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE OR EMPLOYMENT?

In this column we publish questions about unemployment insurance and employment, together with answers received from the Unemployment Insurance Commission.

If you are uncertain about any point do not hesitate to send us your question. We will obtain an answer and publish it in this column.

Following are some questions with answers which may be of interest to you:

Q. I am a new Canadian, and have just lost my job. I am not married but support my dead brother's wife and children in Malata. Am I entitled to the higher rate paid a person with dependents?

A. No. The dependency rate of benefit is not payable in respect of a person living in Malta.

Q. I have just been offered a job with the same employer for whom I last worked and could not get along with. Will I be disqualified if I refuse this job?

A. This will depend upon whether or not the insurance officer considers the employment suitable and whether or not he considers that you have good cause for failure to accept the job. He will take into account your reasons for having separated from this employer previously and any changes which there may now be in the conditions of employment.

City Aunt: "And what brought you to town, Henry?"

Henry: "Oh, well, I jus' come to see the sights, and I thought that I'd call on you first."

Quebec Manufacturer Stresses Textiles Part of Canada's Present Prosperity

Montreal — "Many Canadians overlook the fact that the prosperity of Canada today is due in large measure to the steady growth of Canadian manufacturing industries that provide a solid basis of employment and purchasing power," said J. L. Héon, prominent Quebec industrialist, in an address to the St. Lawrence Kiwanis Club luncheon at the Ritz Carlton Hotel recently.

Mr. Héon, who is president of LaSalle Knitting Ltd., Plessisville, Que., a past president of the Canadian Woollen & Knit Goods Manufacturers Association and a governor of the Professional Association of Industrialists, said that manufacturing, which is vitally important to Canada's economic well-being, was often overshadowed by spectacular developments in Western oilfields, Northern mines and other more obvious areas.

Using the Canadian textile industry as his example, Mr. Héon said, "it is equally important to encourage the progress of the older, well-established industries that are mainly Canadian-owned, that sell their products on the Canadian market and that must provide most of the steady, year-round employment on which our present and future prosperity is based."

Mr. Héon noted that the textile industry is one of the most stable in Canada despite the competition it faces from imports. It is Canada's second largest employer of manufacturing labor with 82,000 employees, and is highly decentralized with 745 mills located across the country, mainly in smaller centres of population.

The textile industry, he said, employs more Canadians than such industries as pulp and paper, automobile manufacturing, primary iron and steel and electrical apparatus, "all of which are considered, and justly so, important contributors to Canada's economic strength."

Mr. Héon said that in the course of the last ten years the Canadian textile industry had spent more than $570,000 on improvements and that invested capital in the industry is about one billion dollars.

"The Canadian textile industry has lost part of its normal share of the domestic market because it has been insufficiently protected," he said. "The industry cannot be accused of inefficiency and its products are not by any means lacking in quality. They can be compared with any import."

In conclusion, Mr. Héon said: "The textile industry has the will and the ability to make a substantial contribution to Canada in the future as in the past. With reasonable understanding of its problems and its potential, it will continue to make that contribution for many years to come."

J. L. Héon

Local Scholars Win Three First Prizes In Lions Provincial Oratory Contest

The educational institutions of Lachute were honored on Saturday of last week when three local scholars won with distinction in an Oratory Contest held in the St. Lambert School and sponsored by the Lions Clubs of the Province of Quebec.

Taking first place honors were Beverley MacDonald, Grade XI, Lachute High School; Viviane Renaud, Grade XI, Pensionnat Ste. Anastasie; and Pierre Dumais, Grade XII at L'Ecole Superieure. The local aspirants took three firsts out of four, the latter going to Charles Cockerline, of Cowansville, who edged out Ronald Gow, Grade IX Lachute High School student.

The speaking contest was comprised of 13 contestants taking part in the Province of Quebec semi-finals, and was under the direction of Wayne Shufelt, president of Lions District 8-A. All judges were neutral.

Each participant was allowed five minutes with two minutes leeway, to present the address of his or her own choice. Pierre Dumais spoke on "The Cinema"; Miss Renaud on "Music and Youth"; and Miss MacDonald on "Racial Intolerance."

Attending the contest as onlookers were Messrs. L. J. Dumais, president of the local Lions Club, Dr. Roger Dumais, club member, Keith Clark, treasurer, Gerard Lefebvre, president of the local contest and two nuns of Ste. Anastasie Boarding School.

It is noted that this contest coincided with Student Week and that it is the first time that Lachute pupils have taken such high honors at a semi-final. They will now represent our town and province at the final contest being held at Gravenhurst Ont., on Saturday, May 4. There will be only one winner and with three local contestants our chances of a winner should be very good.

Best wishes are extended to our young contestants in the hope that they may triumph and bring honor to the Lions Club, their teachers, our town and province.

Lachute T.V. Show On CBC French Network

The Town of Lachute will serve as the background for a television program which will be seen on Channel 2 from 7.45 to 8 p.m. next Wednesday, April 24.

With such stars as the College Trubadours, the beauties of Lachute and surrounding district will be viewed by the many fans of the French Station.

Each Wednesday night a different section of the province will be presented in this quarter-hour program which is being sponsored by the Pepsi-Cola Company of Canada, Limited.

Former Local Presidents Of Chamber of Commerce Present Slate of Officers

The re-organization of the Chamber of Commerce seems to be certain and is expected to be accomplished at the next general meeting when all members, it is hoped, will be present.

A meeting of past presidents was held recently at which Messrs. B. L'Heureux, Dr. Dumais, H. Lamarche, G. Lefebvre, A. Lefebvre and P. Laliberté were present. G. Downing acted as secretary, and G. Valois, promoter of the idea for re-establishment, was also on hand.

Invited guest was Jean-Paul Létourneau, joint director of the Quebec Chambers of Commerce.

A slate of officers with Miville Trickey as president and seven directors of a total of ten has been drawn up by the Nominating Committee, and they along with other officers have agreed to act in the new organization with the approval of the general meeting to be held shortly, announcement of which will be made at a later date.

The officers and directors will comprise both French and English-speaking citizens.

Carillon Resident Convicted of Offence

Paul Emile Allard, 25, of Carillon, appeared before Judge Omer Cote in St. Jerome court Tuesday and was sentenced to a fine of $100 plus costs and forbidden to drive for a six-month period. Allard was charged with driving while his ability was impaired by alcohol following his arrest Saturday evening.

Lachute Youth Seriously Injured In Bicycle Crash

Still in Coma In Neurological Institute

Jimmy Pillage, 9-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Pillage, of Foundry Street, Lachute, was critically injured Saturday afternoon when struck by a car at the intersection of Route 41 and the Vide Sac Road. Rushed by ambulance to the Montreal Neurological Institute he was still in a coma yesterday, although a slight improvement was reported by doctors.

According to Sgt.-Det. Ralph Allen, the accident occurred at 3.40 p.m. Saturday, while the youth was riding a bicycle along the highway. There were no witnesses to the accident, other than Eugene Poulin, 53, of the Scotch Road, Grenville, driver of the car involved. It is believed that the youth swerved in front of the car which stopped within 50 feet, indicating a speed of 30-35 m.p.h. Both were headed towards Lachute and the brake marks on the pavement were well to the centre of the highway.

Evidence indicated the victim was thrown into the air prior to falling on the hood of the car and rolling onto the pavement. He is suffering from a double fracture of the skull and other possible head injuries.

Rushed to Lachute by James Menzies and the driver of the car, he was treated by Dr. Walter Fitz-Gerald and Dr. Jules Lafleur at the Providence Hospital and immediately transferred to the Montreal institution. No charge is expected to be laid in connection with the accident.

Ayersville Offers $2,500 Fire Fee; 13 Cents per Thousand Gallons Water

Members of Ayersville Council met on Monday evening with Mayor Réal Morrissette presiding. Business dealt with the offer of Lachute for water rate at 15 cents per 1,000 gallons, instead of the present figure of 11 cents, and $6,000 yearly for fire protection.

It was moved by Councillor D. Simon, seconded by Councillor A. Foucault, that the Municipality of Ayersville offer 13 cents per 1,000 gallons of water furnished by Lachute Town providing that the tax would be ratified by the Administration of Public Services for the province of Quebec.

In the resolution the Ayersville Council noted that there was no improvement or better service since they had taken the water at 11 cents, but they also realized that the cost of operation for Lachute had increased during recent years.

As to fire protection, Councillor Cyr proposed, seconded by Councillor Campeau and adopted unanimously that an offer of $2,500 per year be made to Lachute and that they confirm this by Wednesday, April 24, 1957, either accepting or rejecting the offer.

Councillor Simon proposed, seconded by Councillor Campeau that when Village employees were called to make repairs to water pipes or sewers that the account so incurred be sent to the party concerned providing they are responsible. A price of $1.00 per hour was set as the charge to be made.

In future the office of the secretary-treasurer will be closed on Saturday morning and open on Wednesday evening from 7 to 9 o'clock.

Councillor Simon proposed, seconded by Councillor Cyr, that Roland A. Morin, C.A., be named auditor for the year 1957 at a fee of $325 as per his tender. Councillor Campeau, moved in amendment, seconded by Councillor Foucault, that new tenders be called for. A vote was taken and the main motion carried.

It was proposed by Councillor Champagne, seconded by Councillor Simon that another request be made to the Town of Lachute for payment of the account for sewer work, outstanding since the close of 1955, and that if no answer was received within one month, that it be handed in for collection. This is the third endeavor by Ayersville to obtain payment.

Permits for construction were accorded to M. Filiatreault for an addition to his residence on Gauthier Street, and to P. G. Roy, for a house on the Brownsburg Road.

On motion of Councillor Champagne, seconded by Councillor Foucault, it was decided to procure legal advice from Camille DeMartigny, of St. Jerome, as to whether or not it was permissable for old and unused cars along with junk and scrap to be exposed without being fenced in, or if the Council could pass a by-law ordering the erection of a fence.

Red Cross Financial Report Well Over $3,500 Objective

Financial returns from the Argenteuil County Red Cross canvass now total $5,169.48, well over the $3,500 objective, report co-chairmen Colin McOuat and Gordon Tabrett.

A considerable amount of the total collected was raised in the Greater Lachute area February 26, which was designated Blitz-Day. The committee wishes to take this opportunity of thanking all workers and donors who combined, made the campaign so successful.

Salvation Army Storage Facilities Still Available

Geo. Y. Deacon, who some weeks ago offered storage space for any unwanted articles which could be used for distribution to needy families by the Salvation Army, is pleased to report that the response has been excellent and the opportunity is still open.

Anything suitable for use can be left at his store in Lachute Mills, or if necessary, Mr. Deacon will arrange to have parcels called for.

Spring is the time for cleaning house, so get rid of everything you don't need and pass it on to the Salvation Army who will place it where it can be used.

Easter Seals Response Lagging In This District

This year, more than ever before, your assistance is needed to aid our crippled children. So far, the individual contributions from Lachute and Brownsburg have been very slow. Our local firms have generously contributed to our appeal for which we wish to sincerely thank them — also the outlying districts, with special mention going to Morin Heights, Arundel, Weir and Huberdeau. The response to appeals of this nature in the past has always been most gratifying from Brownsburg and Lachute. We know that these two communities will not fall behind their past records.

Those of you who watch TV have no doubt seen and heard of the many splendid works done by this organization. With Easter so very close at hand, may we urge you not to neglect sending in your pink envelopes and contributing hope during the Easter Season for many a "Tiny Tim".

Red Cross Group Hears Report of Prov. Association

The regular monthly meeting of the local Red Cross was held in the Lachute United Church hall on Wednesday afternoon, Mrs. Linton Armstrong presiding.

Mrs. Fraser Morrison reported that the committee had sent a shipment to headquarters on March 13, including the following articles:

20 Wash cloths, 83 diapers, 10 nightgowns (2 years), 10 pairs of short pants (6 years), 10 pairs underwear, 20 baby vests, 3 pairs of children's socks, 16 pairs boy's golf hose, 26 sweaters, 10 pairs of baby bootees, 28 baby sweaters, 8 quilts (large), 1 crib quilt.

Knitted articles to the weight of 15 pounds 12 ounces of wool.

Donations of 2 quilts and 2 pairs of child's socks.

Mrs. F. FitzGerald was official delegate to the annual meeting of the Quebec Division, and reported on Water Safety, Veteran's Welfare, Women's Work, Disaster Services, Home Nursing and Loan Cupboard Service, Blood Transfusion, and the recent Financial Campaign — all on a provincial basis.

The annual meeting was held in the afternoon, and was of a more formal nature. The retiring president, in a short speech, stressed the mutual importance of the work and co-operation of the divisional headquarters and the provincial branches, and also of the possibility of uniting the campaigns of the various philanthropic organizations in this province," added Mrs. FitzGerald.

"The treasurer, commissioner, and Junior Red Cross Director presented their reports, and gave a short précis of each. In this connection I would like to say the Junior Red Cross have done an extraordinary amount of work, and had an excellent report.

"I am very happy to tell you that Mrs. Fraser Morrison was elected to an honorary membership, and Mrs. E. H. Wilson and Mrs. George McGibbon elected for Badges of Service.

"Our new President, Mr. Wallace H. Collie, in a short address, thanked all the delegates for being present, welcomed our support, and a most interesting day came to an end."

Mrs. FitzGerald was thanked by Mrs. Armstrong.

Indian Forester Tours Canada on Colombo Plan Recent C.I.P. Harrington Forestry Farm Visitor

Deputy Conservator of Forests Studies Quebec Pulpwood Industry

The Colombo Plan, which Canada participates in to a considerable extent, was brought close to home last week with the visit of Romesh Chandra, Deputy Conservator of Forests for the Indian Government in the Province of Punjab, India. The Indian Forester was a visitor at our editorial offices following his several day stay at C.I.P.'s Harrington Forrestry Farm, where among other things, he studied the wire gravity-skidding installation which he feels will be easily applied in the mountainous regions of his district.

Chandra's aim is to return to India with enough information about how Canadians make pulp and paper by harvesting the forests of Eastern Canada so that he can draw up a blueprint for his government to enable it to establish a similar industry there.

Both India's standard of living and the literacy of her population are growing rapidly. Indian planners look for an increasing demand for pulp and paper products — most of which are now imported. Consequently, the establishment of a new pulp and paper industry in that country based on the coniferous trees which are found on the slopes of the Himalayas between 7,000 and 10,000 feet above sea level, is being seriously considered.

The present small Indian paper industry is based on bamboo. Technical difficulties prevent bamboo being used as the raw material for an expanded industry which would produce, for example, newsprint (now almost entirely imported.) Consequently, Chandra's present studies are of vital importance to his country's future.

To see bush operations at first-hand in rugged Canadian terrain, Chandra spent most of December in the Dalhousie limits of the New Brunswick International Paper Company, a subsidiary of the Canadian Paper Company. Here he watched winter cutting and hauling, and was shown the narrow streams down which four-foot logs must be driven in the spring — streams not unlike those of his own Himalayas.

Early in January Chandra spent time observing the Gatineau plants of the Canadian International Paper Company, which have been called the most completely integrated wood-using operation in Canada.

In this group of related plants, which employ 3,500 persons, softwoods are the raw material for newsprint, dissolving and paper pulps, and various building boards. Hardwoods become veneer for plywood. The sugar content of the liquid derived from the sulphite pulp process is used as a source of ethyl alcohol.

Chandra, 33 years old, was trained as a silviculturist. A career civil servant with the Indian government, he holds a master's degree in agriculture from Punjab University and is also a graduate of the Indian Forest College at Dehra Dun.

He was born in the Village of Kariala, in what is now Pakistan, and migrated to India in 1947, at the time of the partition of India and Pakistan. He is married and has two young children. His current stay here marks his first trip to Canada.

In our interview with him, he also commented on the work that this company is doing by encouraging the Tree Farm Movement, as he figured that in the not too far distant future, Canadian pulp and paper mills will have to depend on this source for the raw material in their pulp wood. This work he claimed should be intensified.

A similar plan is in operation in India, he stated, "the objective of which is to prevent erosion of the soil by planting trees and contour cultivation.

As a visitor Chandra was most appreciative of the hospitality which had been shown him, especially by his hosts in this district.

Former Lachute Artist Honored In Montreal In "One-Man" Exhibit

Ars Classica Gallery is honoring one of our young artists in the person of Miss Janine Leroux by presenting a "one-man" show from April 17 to 27 on weekdays from 2 to 6 p.m.

It will be recalled that Miss Leroux while still an adolescent, was confined to bed for many years through illness. This led to her interest in drawing and a means of developing her creative instinct.

She first studied by correspondence, then followed the classes in sculpture and engraving at the Montreal School of Fine Arts.

In Lachute, classes for children were given in painting while courses on history of art were held for adults. Miss Leroux is also a teacher for the Montreal School Board. The exhibition of her pupils' works in Lachute always interested the citizens and last year Radio-Canada sent cameramen to take pictures which were presented on TV.

She lives for engraving and is familiar with its various techniques. She is one of the very few artists to specialize in this so-called ungrateful art.

Miss Leroux's talent is above average and Ars Classica is happy to offer this very interesting group of works to the art lovers, at a time when graphic arts are becoming increasingly popular.

A welcome will be extended to all at the Ars Classica Gallery, 1454 Sherbrooke Street West, Montreal.

Brownsburg Council Discusses Business Plan Trading Snow Blower for Tractor And Increasing Water Tax at C-I-L

By John J. Molloy

The April meeting of Brownsburg Council opened with the reading of the minutes of the previous meeting. Councillor Rhéal Ouellette moved their adoption and Councillor Maurice Pariseau seconded the motion which was passed unanimously.

Waterworks was the first subject discussed as Omer Carrière asked when the southwest tip of town would be included in the sewage service. Mayor Lepine said he felt sure it would be within five years, but that this year was very unlikely.

A letter from Mervin Cowley was read in which he asked for assurance that the water and sewage service would be installed on Woodbine Avenue. The Mayor said he could have a letter from the secretary-treasurer promising that the original project started last year will be completed. This means all of the existing Woodbine Ave.

Fire Chief Arthur Robbins reported two fires for the month — a chimney fire at the home of A. Giroux, which lasted 15 minutes and a 40 minute call to the residence of E. Girard. It seems that Mr. Girard had been repairing a space-heater which got out of control. Herbie Golden, seeing the flames, rushed into the house, dragged Mr. Girard outside and had the fire almost out when the brigade arrived. Mr. Robbins estimated the damage at $10.

Mr. Robbins complimented the Police Chief on the speed with which he always shows up at fires. The Fire Chief suggested that at one or two spots in town the leak detector might be used to advantage in tracing the cause of low water pressure. He also suggested that at least one spare battery for this apparatus should be kept in readiness.

Police Chief Willie Lepine reported twelve calls, one speeding offence and three accidents, totalling $700 damage. He reported that Mr. Lemay, the milk distributor was fined $5 and costs when Mr. McDonald fell and cut his hand on a broken bottle which had been left lying in the street. The Chief reported that he has had complaints from several people about the awnings on Malacket's and Matte's stores, being too low. The Mayor said that some municipalities have ordinances about heights of awnings, but that probably the merchants involved would settle the matter if approached. Concluding his report, the Chief reported issuing 39 bicycle licenses.

Permits to Brownsburg Social Club for bowling and billiards and the Knights of Columbus for billiards were passed unanimously.

Mayor Lepine reported that Dave Black had complained of a noise in

Fish and Game Protective Association To Give Prizes at Rotary Fish Derby

The April meeting of the Argenteuil Fish and Game Protective Association was held in the Lachute Legion Hall on Monday evening of this week with a representative attendance of members. General business was discussed, committee chairmen named, and two interesting films screened. President Syd Drew got the meeting underway by reading the existing charter and aims of the association. According to the charter, a directorate of 14 is needed and Clem Meservey and Harry White were unanimously elected, the former for a two year term.

It was decided that the third Monday of every month be adopted as a meeting night, exceptions being July, August and December and that the fees paid to the Federation of Fish and Game Associations of the Province of Quebec be made on the 25 cent basis, this allowing local members to receive a copy of the Federation News. Membership to date totals 176 persons.

Other business arising from the director's meeting included that a letter be written to Quebec with a view of finding out the possibilities of having tagged foxes released in Argenteuil County, the Provincial Government paying a bounty for every one killed.

Committee chairmen who have been empowered to enlarge their committees from the general membership are as follows:

Membership, Bob Sugden; Entertainment, Leonard Bedard; Policy, Mansel R. Wilson; Game-Fish, Jean Jacques Dupré; Hunting, Ron Hebert; Re-stocking, Don Todd; Publicity, Bob Giles.

It was suggested to the general membership that maps of the County be prepared indicating all areas available to public fishing, to be distributed to association members and the public at large. The association has been offered a strip of land 20 feet in width on Lake Farmer which can be purchased for $1 and it was thought that other such openings should be looked for. It was definitely decided that all re-stocking efforts be directed to waters available to the public at large and that special prizes be given at the Rotary Fish Derby for association members.

President Drew informed the general membership that the Lake MacDonald Residents Association had applied for 1,500 Doré from the Provincial Government, and that, due to the lake being public, pointed out that this would mean another body of water in which the general public could fish.

his house caused by a faulty connection in the town's water-pipe. He asked that it be corrected. The consensus of opinion was that Mr. Black should sign a paper agreeing that the town employee's would rectify the matter on the understanding that if the fault should be on his side of the junction, he would pay the costs.

A discussion followed on the new STOP sign on Park Street at Bank. Several of the councillors claimed that they'd heard nothing but complaints since the sign was moved. The Mayor suggested that the matter be left another month to see if the people get used to the change.

Henri St. Denis had asked if it was possible to have the hydrant moved from in front of his garage on Fairview. The secretary said that although the cost would be high the law states that it would have to be moved by the municipality.

Mr. Neveu, who until last year was employed on a part-time basis, had contacted each of the councillors and the Mayor before the meeting. He asked them to award him a sum of money in recognition of the fact that it was after delivering a sample of the town water for posting that he was injured, falling from a milk truck. The town's insurance has refused to pay on this claim. It was pretty well agreed that the council could not make any cash award to Mr. Neveu, but they would do all they could to help him get a social welfare allowance or an early half pension.

Councillor Stan Harris gave notice that he will move at the next regular meeting, a resolution to impose a head tax of $5 per person on non-residents working in Brownsburg. The motion if and when it is passed will only send the matter to Quebec and the tax will be effective in 1958.

Secretary-treasurer Vincent Charbonneau read a letter from Leslie Thompson, Works Manager at the C-I-L plant, concerning a recent proposal to raise the factory's water taxes. Mr. Thompson stated that he had made a survey of the water used by the factories:

(1) Only 106 of 1300 employees use town water for drinking purposes. This, says the letter, equals 18 dwellings at six persons per dwelling and therefore warrants a charge of 18 x $15 or $270.

(2) There are 12 water closets which at $5 each warrant $60.

(3) 12 Urinals at $3 each would cost $36.

(4) 15 Wash basins at $5 each would be $75.

(5) 1 Slop-sink at $5.

(6) 4 Additional outlets would amount to $20.

(7) 42 Drinking fountains at $5 each would total $210.

Mr. Thompson suggested that since the municipality water rates included sewage and the factories do not use town facilities that this should offset the water used by the sprinkler system. In all the charges would not exceed $700 and since the present tariff is $1,000, Mr. Thompson felt that there was no real reason to increase the factories share.

The general feeling of the mayor and councillors was that a factory cannot be taxed by the same yardstick as a residence. The town's water supply is at the disposal of the factory if any trouble at their flume should arise. A private property owner, because of his apartment holdings in Brownsburg, pays the same water tax as the factories combined. The old by-law covering the matter has become obsolete since the number of employees now exceeds that limit. The intention, although no motion was passed as yet is to hike the tax to $2,000.

In reading the correspondence the secretary brought out that a slight error in John T. Seary's tax assessment would have to stand since the tax roll had been promulgated. Another item from the correspondence that the bridge on Main Street at the foot of the "French Hill" will be asphalted in the next few days.

The meeting was adjourned to Thursday, April 4.

At Thursday's meeting the main item of business was the purchase of an all-purpose tractor. Mr. Poirier offered to give a $9,000 Cockshutt tractor plus $4,500 cash for the municipality's snow blower. The councillors told Mr. Poirier that they had indefinite offers from Massey-Harris and Schram along the same lines. They said they weren't unhappy about the deal but that they wanted a stronger, more versatile machine, and that if he could quote on the larger equipment with perhaps $3,000 cash, they would be much more interested.

A motion was passed to fine people for failing to pick up dog or bicycle licenses before May 1. The fine was set at $2.

Another motion to raise the policeman's salary by $25 per month was passed by majority with Councillor Pariseau voting against. He moved an amendment that the $520 car allowance which the police chief receives be included in his salary and that a raise of $15 per month would make his salary $4,000 per year.

Local "Coke" Bottlers Extend Facilities Now Turn Out King-Sized Bottles

J. A. and W. S. MacKimmie, shown indicating the two convenient size bottles now on the local market.

The new King Size Coca Cola is now being put on sale in Lachute and the territory served by J. P. MacKimmie & Sons. One of the best known trade marks is introducing this week in Lachute and district, a king size bottle. The familiar 6 ounce Coca Cola bottle, well known to the public for over 40 years, now has a companion 10 ounce container.

This bigger bottle with a modern design but of the same shape as the 6 ounce bottle, will sell for one cent more only: in other words, eight cents a bottle, the king size 6 bottle carton will retail at 41 cents and the regular carton at 36 cents.

Lachute is another Coca Cola bottling plant that now has the two convenient sizes.

This larger bottle, which was introduced in United States some time ago and recently in Canada, has had a tremendous success. It is being put on the market specially for those who want a big drink to quench their thirst, namely the young folks and the hard workers.

J. P. MacKimmie & Sons, one of the oldest Coca Cola bottlers, being aware of the progress, have invested a substantial capital in machinery, bottles, cases and trucks to introduce this king size bottle. This new king size Coke, is not replacing its familiar companion and both well sell simultaneously.

This new king size will be selling in the handy six bottle carton for the home, which will permit the housewife, to buy Coca Cola at a bargain price.

St. Andrews East Resident Passes Agriculture Course

Donald Keith McOuat, of St. Andrews East, was among the students to have successfully completed the requirements of the first year of the Diploma in Agriculture Course at Macdonald College.

A banquet and graduation exercise for the Diploma Class was held recently at which Dr. G. H. S. Barton, formerly a vice-principal at Macdonald and more recently Deputy Minister of Agriculture for the Federal Department of Agriculture, gave the address.

Dr. Barton stressed the matter of timing in farming operations stating that timing often spelled the difference between success and failure. He also warned the graduates against overextending themselves in the present trend to larger operating units.

An Open Letter to the Electors of Argenteuil - Two Mountains

I am still besieged with telephone calls, letters, and delegations from all parts of the riding demanding to know when the OPEN DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION will be held to properly choose the "official liberal candidate" for the coming elections.

I, too, am anxiously awaiting this news, as I have an extensive and beneficial programme for the development of our region which I wish to present to the Convention and later to the electorate at large.

It is the democratic and traditional right for properly appointed delegates to choose their "official candidate". In the living memory of the oldest electors of this riding, this right has never been denied.

If democracy is worth preserving, it is worth fighting for.

Yours Very Truly,

Useless Fire Calls

SPRING IS HERE and so is grass-fire time. Members of the Lachute Police Department and volunteer firemen are being driven crazy with unnecessary fire calls for minor fires.

When calling the Fire Department keep calm and explain the exact location and type of blaze you are reporting. Nothing can be gained by excitement, and in the event of a serious fire, much can be lost.

Remember, it costs in the immediate vicinity of $75 each and every time the fire engine is taken out to a fire. Needless calls such as have been received within the past several weeks, if continued, will mean an increase in taxes to cover expenses. Think and act wisely before and when reporting fires.

Insurance Plan

A QUEBEC PROVINCIAL cabinet member hinted recently that the Quebec Government will refuse to participate in the Federal - Provincial hospital insurance plan offered by Ottawa, according to Robert Duffy of the Toronto Globe and Mail.

At one of the weekly political luncheons for Union Nationale members in the Renaissance Club, Jacques Miquelon, minister without portfolio, described the hospital plan as another encroachment by the federal government in an excluively provincial jurisdiction.

"If the Fathers of Confederation insisted that provinces hold exclusive rights in the fields of education and public health," he said, "it was to prevent a majority which is neither of our tongue nor our faith from interfering."

After denouncing other invasions by Ottawa in the establishment of old age pensions, allowances for blind and disabled persons and university grants, Mr. Miquelon added: "in the face of the present dangers to our province, our government has the firm intention to remain faithful to our national and democratic traditions."

Mr. Miquelon was the first government member to speak so directly about the hospital insurance plan. At a recent press conference, Premier Duplessis evaded a direct question about the federal offer with some jovial remarks about the good health of his government and of the people of Quebec.

There is considerable doubt here, however, that the Quebec Government could resist the scheme if it became effective in other provinces.

Officials of the government's health department have repeatedly emphasized the difficulties of hospital and other medical costs for the Quebecer.

What's Health Education?

A FAMOUS HEALTH OFFICER once said that the whole future of public health depends on education. He meant, of course, health education — education on how to keep healthy. It is fair to assume that everyone thinks he knows what health education is — he says "education about health" and lets it go at that. Nevertheless, it is obvious that there are different kinds of health education.

For instance, it is common to hear a person trained in public health say health education is the jub of the public health nurse, and so it is one of her jobs. Generally, this kind of health education means the instruction of the individual on how to keep healthy or keep his family healthy as the result of the acquiring of knowledge about immunizing agents for example, or how to wash, feed, or care for a baby; this is personal health education. Too many people think that this is all there is to health education — failing to realize that all the personal health educators in the world will fail to accomplish its objective in surroundings which make health very difficult or impossible to achieve.

Efforts to improve community health and thus in the long run personal health, are necessary, too. It may be that a law is needed for the pasteurization of milk or the fluoridation of water, or for the sanitation of factories. Or it may be that more money is to be appropriated by a government for public health purposes, whether it be the building of a dam, the paying of better salaries for public health officials, or the building of child health clinics.

This kind of health objective requires community health education, and it is done best by voluntary associations. Voluntary associations are needed in democratic societies to undertake general popular education to make it possible for governments to pass laws or make appropriations for public health purposes. This kind of education is not generally, effectively carried on by governments because in the natural course of events governments respond to popular demand rather than create the demand. A demand created by a government is not a popular demand and is not characteristic of the way things are run in democratic countries. If we had to wait for government action alone to achieve many of the improvements in community health measures, which all right-minded physicians desire, we would have to wait a long time — typical examples are pasteurization of milk, and fluoridation of water.

The Biters Bit!

A CANADIAN RECENTLY returned from Britain after two years having developed what must surely be one of the most curious but fascinating of hobbies.

At some point during his time "over there" he was struck, as they say, by the number of British Members of Parliament prosecuted for minor infractions of the law. As is to be expected, these were chiefly traffic offences, mostly speeding, parking without lights, obstruction and the like.

Our hero resolved to compile a record of newspaper clippings. By the time he was ready to leave he had "the goods" on no fewer than a dozen members of the 'Mother of Parliaments'. Nor, he is quite sure, is this the complete tally, these being only those cases which had caught his eye in the course of his reading.

But, complete or not, it proved quite instructive. Conservatives, Socialists or Liberals (although the latter number but five out of 653 in the British House), justice was dispensed to one and all with strict impartiality. Nor were the proceedings without their entertaining side for British electors in general, and British motorists in particular.

On several occasions there were verbal brushes, it seems, and harsh words passed between the elected representative of the people and that appointed representative of law and order known as a "Bobby".

"Suffering Cats! It's a pity you guys haven't something better to do," was the indignant reaction of one (Canadian-born) M.P., charged with speeding.

"You are quite wrong," replied another to his accuser, "I know I wasn't doing more than 35."

"But look here, Constable, I'm a Member of Parliament in a hurry to reach the House," protested the third.

And so on. But all to no avail. The Law had to be satisfied, and it invariably was.

Our Canadian's hobby proves little, of course, except that the frailties of human nature being what they are, even law-makers are sometimes law-breakers.

Which causes our Canadian to wonder how his own Members of Parliament measure up against their British counterparts in this respect. Are Canadian legislators more — or less — scrupulous in their observance of the law?

The question must go unanswered for we, unlike the British, permit the less serious traffic violations to be settled by mail. Appearance in court is frequently unnecessary. Provided you don't argue it's just a matter of paying up, thus avoiding embarrassing (for M.P.'s) publicity.

But it's an intriguing thought just the same.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Democratic System Not Only The End But Also the Means

St. Andrews East, Que.
April 12, 1957

The Editor,
The Lachute Watchman.
Dear Sir,

I have been following with concern the controversy regarding the selection of a Liberal candidate for Argenteuil and Two Mountains.

In a democracy not only the ends but the means used must be democratic. This can be insured only as the individual citizen takes his full responsibility, refuses to have any part in unsound methods, and insists on free, open and democratic procedure. This is a matter of more than momentary and local importance; it involves the whole issue of our national integrity.

Yours very truly,

— Julia Grace Wales

Liberal Meeting Invited Guest Leaves Early

Jerry L. Collins

April 13, 1957

The Editor,
Lachute Watchman
Dear Sir,

I was most gratified to read the letter from Mrs. Ethel M. McGibbon which appeared in your paper last week correcting the published reports of Mr. Valois' closed nomination meeting.

I was also invited to that meeting and I know I speak for many, if not most, of those present, when I say that we were more than disturbed by the proceedings.

It was quite apparent that a great number of the active liberal organizers in our county had been deliberately excluded from the meeting in order to prevent any active opposition to the re-nomination of Mr. Valois.

Furthermore, if one is to accept the resolutions adopted at this meeting, then once a candidate has been elected to office, the electorate are no longer at liberty to alter their previous choice should the member prove unsatisfactory.

If this theory is allowed to stand unchallenged, elections will lose their democratic character and candidates will always be chosen by the central committee without regard to the electors.

As I was unable to agree with this theory, I left this undemocratic meeting in disgust before the proceedings had terminated.

I remain,

Yours very truly,

— Jerry L. Collins,
Councillor,
Municipality of Chatham

Scout President Voices Approval Of Editorial

P.O. Box 142
Lachute, Que.

The Editor,
The Lachute Watchman.
Dear Sir:

With reference to your timely editorial under dateline of April 4, 1957, relative to local grills and hotels serving intoxicants to schoolage children.

We would draw to the attention of the citizens of this community the fact that a small group of persons have worked for a number of years in an effort to make good citizens of the younger set by encouraging growth of the Boy Scouts and Girl Guide Movements.

As outlined in Policy Organization and Rules for Canada, "the aim of the Boy Scouts Association is to develop good citizenship among boys by forming their character; training them in habits of observation, obedience and self-reliance; inculcating loyalty and thoughtfulness for others; teaching them services useful to the public and handicrafts useful to themselves, and promoting their physical, mental and spiritual development."

Adults have generally recognized the value of Scout training and have been most generous in their response to requests for financial and material assistance, however, the greater need has not yet been fulfilled. This need is for men and women who are willing to sacrifice some of their busy time for the younger set. This need by the younger citizens is very real and urgent and applies to all age groups up to adulthood. There is no lack of ability nor talent in our adult community but genuinely interested persons, willing to give up one or two nights a week and the odd week-end on behalf of these "adults of tomorrow" are very hard to come by. This applies particularly to the fathers in this community!

We feel that this business of teaching our young people to become good citizens is a real challenge to every responsible Canadian. Further, it is felt that if parents in sufficent numbers will offer their services, without strings attached, to the Scout and Guide Leaders, will take their rightful places on the Group Committees and District Councils, and help with the development of those communities within the bounds of the Laurentian District where young people are yet awaiting the opportunity to belong to the Scout and Guide movements, then the Editor of this paper will not be required to sponsor a campaign against delinquency of juveniles in his valuable columns.

The Laurentian District has recently been pared down in area to improve the efficiency of our organization, and at this time includes some 400 Boy Scouts and Wolf Cubs in the following communities:

Ste. Agathe, Lac St. Denis, Morin Heights, Shawbridge, Ste. Adele Lachute, Brownsburg and Grenville. Membership in these locations is expanding faster than the children can be properly cared for and an urgent need exists for all adults, parents in particular, to assist with the program of training.

The Boy Scouts Association stands ready to provide a program, experience and assistance, but the results obtained at any location will depend, to a large degree, upon the co-operation received from the community. Let's do something about it now! All interested adults may contact their local Group Committee Chairman, Scout or Cubmaster or the writer for particulars.

In closing, sir, we commend you highly for the stand you are taking in connection with the disgraceful condition which you outlined. It is sincerely hoped that your efforts will be rewarded by immediate and effective combined action on the part of the parents, provincial and municipal authorities within whose power it is to correct the situation.

Yours very truly,

— B. A. Jenkins, President,
The Laurentian District Council,
The Boy Scouts Association.

ALL ABOARD
With G. E. Mortimore

Sixteen days without tobacco, and I have the temper of a wounded lion. That's what makes me feel so frustrated. I'm built more like a kangaroo.

The pouches are under my eyes.

When you feel the urge for a cigaret, you're supposed to reach for something else. I reached for a knife, then a gun. But every time, my wife intercepted my hand with a bowl of peanuts.

She has her nerve. She's still smoking. My nostrils have grown more efficient in the last 16 days. My wife smells like a tobacco warehouse. Whenever she comes within six feet, I automatically cry out, "Sold, American!"

My sense of smell has become so acute that I could hire out as a bird-dog, except that I don't like tight collars. And I would not be reliable. Instead of a pheasant, I would point at the cigars in the hunter's pocket.

I'm back at my old tricks — popping a stick of gum halfway into my mouth, then trying to light it.

But a lady has tipped me to a new tobacco substitute: prunes. You eat them, then keep the stone in the mouth and roll it around, pushing it aside every now and then to make way for any words that want to get out.

"What if you become addicted to prunes?" a bumptious colleague inquires.

"I'd rather be addicted to prunes than the lung-eroding smog that you are exhaling in my face," I reminded him. "At least prunes are good for you. Already I'm far less nervous than I was."

"Yeah? Well, why do you keep going to the pencil-sharpener?"

"Why not? Everybody in the office uses the pencil-sharpener."

"Yes, but the others sharpen pencils. You've been sharpening your fingers."

"Just an oversight," I assure him, absently trying to light another prune. But to be serious, I think I'm over the worst of it. I'm calming down. My temper's improving. I'm a new man. And the sooner you thick-witted yokels get that idea into your pointed heads and quit offering me cigarets, the better.

Got Your Chicks Yet?

If you are starting chicks from now on, you'll have to go "All Out" to get your pullets laying in time to cash in on the expected high egg prices of late summer and early fall. Each year the peak price season seems to advance a little earlier, and the more weeks of that peak price season, a flock owner can have his birds laying, the more dollars he'll make out of them. That's why it is so important to get your chicks away to a fast start — growing, and growing fast. And at that job — PURINA — PURINA SUPER STARTENA — really shines. We don't just stock chick starter we stock fast, profitable GROWTH. Better see us about your supply now.

Oh! by the way Saturday is the deadline for entries in the Chick Startina Sweepstakes. If you have your entry in you will have a chance, but if you don't have an entry in you won't have a chance to win a Renolds aluminum laying house, 1,000 Pockman laying cages and 1,000 pullets ready to lay — in all worth approximately $10,000.

Better check up and see your entry reaches me by Saturday. All it costs you is to fill in an entry card — of course if you want to make it easier you can take home a load of Purina when you bring your card.

Judge Liguori Lacombe Passes In Hospital Following Short Illness

Late Judge L. Lacombe

Judge Liguori Lacombe, magistrate for Terrebonne County and former MP for Laval - Two Mountains, died Saturday, at Ste. Jeanne d'Arc Hospital, following a brief illness. He was 61.

Born June 17, 1895, in Ste. Scholastique, Judge Lacombe was educated at the Ste. Therese Seminary and at the University of Montreal. He was admitted to the Bar in 1920 and practised law in Montreal and Ste. Scholastique.

He was first elected to the Commons as a Liberal in 1925 and was returned in the general election of 1926. He lost his seat in 1930, but regained it in 1935, retaining it until 1948, when he was appointed a judge.

During the Second World War he split with Prime Minister Mackenzie King on the issue of participation in the war, and from then until his retirement from politics he sat as an independent.

Surviving are his wife, a son, Pierre, two brothers, Father Pierre-Paul Lacombe, of St. Paul - L'Ermite, and Joseph Lacombe, of Ste. Scholastique, three sisters, Mrs. Euclide Leger, of Montreal, Mrs. Josaphat Fortier of Ste. Scholastique, and Mrs. Joseph Raymond, of Hull.

Although Judge Lacombe had been residing in St. Jerome for the last eight years, funeral services were held in his native village, Ste. Scholastique, Wednesday morning.

He was a member of the Knights of Columbus (3rd degree) and numerous other organizations.

Former Lachute Resident Passes In Ottawa Hospital

Late Mrs. E. M. Webb

Mrs. Effie McFarlane Webb, 57 Wilton Crescent, an Ottawa resident for 50 years, died in hospital Saturday after a lengthy illness.

Born at St. Andrews East, the daughter of the late Samuel Dale and his wife, Margaret Beggs, Mrs. Webb lived there and at Lachute, before moving to Ottawa.

After the death of her husband, Benjamin F. Webb, in 1915, Mrs. Webb was employed by the Department of National Defence, from which she retired a few years ago. Mrs. Webb was formerly a member of the old Bank Street Congregation, and attended Chalmers United Church, where she was active in the Women's Association and was a life member of the Woman's Missionary Society.

She was also a member of the Business and Professional Women's Club.

Surviving are one daughter, Mrs. H. G. Dustan (Marjorie), of St. John's, Newfoundland; two sisters, Mrs. G. E. Flegg and Mrs. D. H. Moffett, both of Ottawa; one brother, H. R. Dale, of Vancouver; one niece and three grandchildren.

The funeral was held Monday afternoon at the Hulse and Playfair Funeral Home Chapel, Rev. A. L. Griffith officiating. Interment was in St. James cemetery, Hull.

Public Utilities Require Notice To Plan For May 1 'Moving Day'

In almost every community in the Province of Quebec, May 1 brings back a widespread custom which may be a boon to house movers but usually develops into a king-size headache for the telephone company. It's the traditional "May 1 Moving Day" — the brief period picked each year by the vast majority of families who decide to change their dwelling.

As most district residents have telephones, this springtime exodus means a period of intensive activity for the people who must see that subscribers changing addresses have telephone service with a minimum of interruption.

According to R. R. Pearson, Bell Telephone manager for this region, house movers have a big advantage over the telephone company. While movers can usually manage to get all the extra help they need to face the additional work load, installation of telephones in new houses or apartments, and relocation of telephone sets in dwellings where instruments have previously been installed call for highly skilled craftsmen. The company cannot hire untrained, temporary workers for the last week in April and the first week in May, when moving is at its peak.

For Bell installers, this means at least two weeks of working overtime, often until late in the evening. And during the peak period this year, Bell repairmen, who are also qualified installers, will be added to the regular force when their usual day's work is over. Vacations and training courses will also be suspended.

Mr. Pearson estimates that some 100 telephone subscribers will change residence during the late April and early May period. He said, however, that the telephone company will try to spread the extra work caused by the moves over as long a period as possible. Often a "drop wire" which connects the telephone set with the cable, is placed weeks before the exact location of the set for the new occupant is known. This leaves less wiring to be done at the last moment.

Other telephone company personnel besides those who actually install telephones are kept busy by customers' springtime moves. Every effort is made to learn about forthcoming changes of address as far in advance as possible, so that preliminary work can be done before the moving van is at the customer's door. When one customer reports his intention to move, it usually leads to another who plans to occupy the vacated premises. These reports are followed up, one leading to another, to form a sort of chair re-action.

If the telephone user is going to a different section of the community, it may mean that he must be assigned a different telephone number. Then a different pair of wires will be needed to connect his telephone with the exchange which will serve him, and different connections with the dial switching equipment in the exchange will be required.

The administrative work this entails puts a heavy burden on staffs of all departments. The manager therefore asks all telephone users who plan to change dwellings during this period to advise the company's business office as soon as possible.

Central India Missionary Visits Local Pastor To Show Colored Slides

Among visitors to our town this week we are pleased to welcome Miss Vinetta Baer, a missionary from Central India, where for the past ten years, she has labored among the less fortunate, in evangelistic and medical work.

Leaving Bombay on Saturday night, at 7 o'clock, Miss Baer arrived at Dorval Airport, Monday a.m. at 7.45 after a 7-hour stop at London, England.

The experiences of this young lady who has devoted her life to Christian service have been many and varied, especially while working in the jungle, where panthers and snakes were often encountered During her stay, she was able to take a considerable number of colored slides which will be shown and explained on Sunday night at the close of the evening service in the People's Church, to which an invitation is extended to all interested.

Miss Baer is the guest of the Rev. and Mrs. C. W. Sorley, her home being in Kitchener, Ont., where she attended the former's church.

St. Simeon's Choir Plans Choral Service, Anthems Easter Sunday Evening

On Easter Sunday, April 21, at 7.30 p.m., the story of Holy Week and Easter will be presented in words and music by St. Simeon's Choir.

The Rev. C. R. Lang will read portions of the scriptures, followed by the choir singing anthems and solos, under the guidance of Mrs. J. Pollock, organist.

A welcome is extended to all to take part in the hymns and prayers, and enjoy the Spirit of Easter in music.

Reception of New Members At Lachute United Church

Two of the outstanding features of the Palm Sunday service at Lachute United were the reception of twenty-six new members, and a solo, "The Palms" rendered by Mrs. L. Armstrong.

The new members were welcomed by the minister, the Rev. Wilson Bridge, and two of the elders Edgar Pollock and Stewart Jones who extended to them the right hand of fellowship.

There was a capacity congregation which overflowed into the gallery and the service concluded with the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper Miss Christina Paul was at the organ.

Glories of Easter Morn Cause for Rejoicing

The Rev. H. G. Baugh

Easter Day was a new Christmas Day; it was the second birth of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ. His second birth was grander than his first. His first coming to this earth was under disadvantages — not in the manger, but in the royal lineage. The swaddling clothes that circumscribed Him were not the facts of His poverty, but the glories of his ancestors; the royal line of David separated him from the main line of humanity.

When He arose from the dead He changed His lineage. He broke with the line of David — with all lines but the lowliest. His second life was not from Bethlehem; it was from the common dust of all cities — from the City of the Dead. We think of Him as nearer to us when a child. As a child He was always a Jewish Messiah — nearer to the tribes of Israel than to the tribes of Man. But with Easter morn He came up from the depths — from the dust of death. He came from the place where all join hands; and that is the secret of His Resurrection. We all meet in the lowest valley. We are not made one by joy, but calamity makes us one, and death makes us one.

Christmas morning was beautiful, but it came from the fields of gold; Easter morning is more precious, for it comes from the miry clay.

Let us rejoice and be glad in it!

LOBA Ladies' Branch Holds Successful Whist

Under auspices of the L.O.B.A. Ladies' branch, another successful military whist was held last week. The following were the prize winners.

1st — Mrs. F. McGill (captain), Mrs. J. Gordon, Mrs. A. Kirby and Mrs. R. Langille.

BEGINNERS' DAY AT LACHUTE HIGH SCHOOL

FRIDAY, May 3, 2 p.m.

All parents who have children ready to start school in September are cordially invited to bring them to the school on May 3, at 2 p.m.

Both parents and children will have the opportunity of seeing the school in operation, meeting the teachers of Grade I, and completing the enrolment form.

The principal will give a short talk on instructions and requirements for beginners.

It is urgent that all parents register their pupils at this time and it is strongly advised that children be the full age of six years before starting school.

Lachine Curlers Hit Spot-light in Local Annual Curling Tournament

Ted Hunt, that well-known curler from Lachine, with equally well-known Gordie Cape playing third stone, skipped his way to victory in three successive games in the finals at the Lachute Spring Bonspiel last Saturday and won the Quentin Miller Trophy in a hard-fought battle all the way. It was not until near the end of the last game on Saturday night, while a capacity crowd packed the rink, that it became evident that the powerful Lachine rink was gaining the upper hand over a Lachute rink skipped by Albert Ogilvie.

It was anybody's game until the seventh end as the score was tied at three all and excitement ran high as the spectators watched some of the best curling ever seen at the local rink. Ogilvie elected to play a draw shot around a guard with his last rock. His weight was perfect but his ice was a shade narrow, so that it just grazed the guard and came to rest as shot rock out in the open. Hunt lost no time in taking advantage of the opportunity. He sent the Ogilvie stone sliding into the hack and counted five. Ogilvie picked up another point but Hunt kept up the pace and counted three more by the time the last stone came to rest, winning the game and the trophy with a score of 11-4.

At the same time another exciting game was in progress on the other ice with another Lachine rink skipped by Jim McLeod and a Pointe Claire rink skipped by Jim Wright. Although Wright took an early lead, McLeod came close to tying the score as the game progressed and came into the last end two down. Wright, however was taking no chances and succeeded in getting two or three rocks well placed behind some guards in front. Even at that there was still a chance that McLeod might tie the score with his last rock. He tried an extremely difficult shot but did not quite make it with the result that the score ended 10-6 in favor of Pointe Claire.

The first games of the day began at ten o'clock Saturday morning. On ice one, Ted Hunt, of Lachine, played against Bill Isaac of the Caledonia rink, Montreal. Hunt took a four-point lead on the first end but by the end of the fifth, Bill was one point ahead at six to five. However the Caledonia rink was only able to pick up one more point from there on while Hunt won nine, so that the score ended 14-7. It was a splendid exhibition of curling between two powerful rinks. On ice two, Bob Cairns, of Lachute, played Jim Wright's rink from Pointe Claire. Bob had Ian Gordon playing third, Howard Watson as second and Malcolm Cairns lead. This too was a very good game, but the Pointe Claire rink succeeded in obtaining an early lead and holding it throughout the game.

The second round was played at twelve noon, with Albert Ogilvie, of Lachute, playing L. McGowan, of Lachine. Ab had Leonard Bedard playing third stone, Laurence Cruise second and Phil Tremblay lead. The Lachute quartet proved too strong for the visitors from Lachine and the score ended 10-4. The other game at noon was between H. Ewan, of Ottawa and J. McLeod, of Lachine. Here too the Lachine rink gained the upper hand and was able to maintain it to win eight to five.

At three o'clock in the afternoon Ted Hunt met Jim Wright, and in a keenly-fought game of wonderful curling by both rinks, the Lachine foursome emerged the winners. On the other ice the local Ogilvie rink was successful against Jim McLeod's Lachine rink. This left Ogilvie and Hunt in the main event and Wright and McLeod in the consolation. It is a tribute to the Lachine Curling rink that they had three rinks in the finals.

At the presentation of prizes later in the evening, President Donald Hay congratulated the winning rinks and expressed thanks to the hundreds of visiting curlers who had contributed so much to making the bonspiel such an outstanding success. He also paid tribute to the various local committees who had devoted a great deal of time towards arranging the event and particularly the lady members who had done such a splendid job in providing full-course meals every evening for the two weeks of this the main curling event of the year for the local members. Donald also thanked Bobby Hill and his boys from Radio Station CFCF for their assistance in publicizing the event over the air. It was regretted that Bobby himself had been called away at the very last minute for a special assignment and was unable to be present. The other members of his team were there, however and took part in the evening's social event. The president also expressed his regret and that of everyone present on the fact that Quentin Miller was unable to be present on account of illness. This was possibly the first time that he was not there to present his trophy to the winning rink since it was first put up for competition about eleven years ago.

As is the custom at this bonspiel, every player taking part in the playdowns on the last day is given a gallon of maple syrup. The winners of the main event, their runners up, the winners of the consolation and their runners up are all presented with special valuable prizes.

A number of visiting curlers, aside from those actually taking part in the finals were present from Montreal and Hawkesbury. These rinks which had played the night before, stayed in town overnight to be on hand on this occasion. There were other visitors there from Montreal and Hawkesbury. These, together with the huge number from Lachute taxed the facilities of the local rink to capacity.

On Monday evening of this week the Curling Club was host to the local members of the Legion for interesting games of curling and cribbage.

On Tuesday evening the Vankleek Hill Curling Club was granted the use of the club facilities for their closing event of the season and on Wednesday night the same thing took place for the Montebello Curling Club.

The annual meeting for the election of officers and distribution of prizes will be held on Wednesday evening, May 1, in the clubrooms.

Among local rinks visiting outside this week, was one skipped by Bob Wyse, comprising Keith Warwick, Al Comba and Bill Brown, who played at Lacolle where they defeated a St. George's rink 13-0.

Leonard Takes First U.S. Tournament Coming From Behind to Win $2,000

Greensboro, N.C., April 15 — Canadian pro Stan Leonard, who says he "usually chokes" when he's the last-round leader, is $2,000 richer today because he ignored the pressure and won the $15,000 Greater Greenboro Open golf tournament.

Leonard, who never before had won an American tournament, came from behind to take top money with a four-round total of 206 while third-day leaders Doug Ford of Mahopac, N.Y., and Julius Boros of Mid-Pines, N.C., faltered fast in the last day.

"I didn't want to be a leader that last day," said the pro who plays out of the local club, at he walked off the 18th green of the picturesque Sedgefield Resort Country Club. "I usually choke when I'm ahead on the last day."

"But it was the long walk for Boros and Ford — not me. I was just lucky I didn't crack," he added.

Second place money of $1,500 went to barrel-shaped Mike Souchack of Grossinger N.Y., who found his putting touch but lost his tee control on the last three holes. The former Duke University golf and football star, who put pressure on Leonard from the very first hole, banged into a ditch on the 17th and took three wedges to get out.

Leonard decided to join the U.S. tourney trail after 17 years as a club pro and "after my daughter grew up."

Leonard, now 40, but rugged in build, placed eight times in the money in eight tourneys last year, picked up checks in 12 of 13 the year before, but he never picked up a first-place check. The closest he came to a win was the Labatt Open in Montreal, when he was licked by Gene Littler, of Singing Hills, Calif., on the first hole of a sudden-death playoff.

Leonard became first on the invitation list at the Tournament of Champions at Las Vegas, Nev., in 1958.

The tanned Canadian started out to take the G.G.O. crown, parring the first hole then birdying the next four. He made the turn three-under, but Souchak was on his heels in the same threesome with another 32 on the front side, just two shots behind.

Big Mike picked up another blow on the 11th with a par when Leonard bogeyed by three-putting. But then both competitors bogeyed the short 12th and Mike bogeyed the 16th to the Canadian's par.

Pretty Easter Bunny

Suspense Drama On CBC Folio

Jean-Paul Sartre's "The Unburied Dead," a bitter revelation of life as endured by Resistance fighters against Nazi occupation of France during the Second World War; will be telecast on CBC Folio 10-11 p.m. Wednesday, April 24, on CBC-TV's connected network.

The play, which stars Lorne Greene, Lloyd Bochner and Kate Reid, grimly portrays the lives of people ever haunted by the threat of capture and torture.

The story concerns a group of French Resistance fighters, five men and a woman, who have been taken prisoner after attacking a village. The attack has ended in disaster — the village is in flames and many of its innocent residents dead or wounded.

The prisoners face the prospect of torture and death without any compensating sense of achievement, because, although following orders, they know of no justification for the attack and the ensuing killing of innocent peasants.

COSTLY PIPE

Wadena, Sask. (CP) — Fred Kanigan said he was lighting his pipe when his car went through a bridge railing, wrecking the car and damaging the bridge. He was unhurt.

MYSTERIOUS GIFT

Galt, Ont. (CP) — Galt police got a wristwatch in the mail the other day, but don't know where it came from. The post office said the package was dropped into one of the city mail boxes.

Heart-warming Stories Of Love and Hope

Three heart-warming filmed stories set in three of the world's great cities will be seen on Perspective this Sunday at 5.30 p.m. Written by Gordon Burwash and filmed by National Film Board crews in Amsterdam, Montreal and Mexico City, the films star a girl, a boy and a man. All three, but for the accident of their birth, might have lived on the viewer's own street — or on any street, anywhere.

Each little drama has been edited to develop the theme that people in all places share common human qualities of love, kindness, generosity and compassion.

In Amsterdam we see an idyll of the city streets — a girl hesitating on the threshold of womanhood, tempted by an artless boy and the simple joys of a summer's day. Another seaport, Montreal, is the setting for a story about a man, self-centred and self-sufficient, who ungrudgingly responds when a feeble stranger appeals for help. The third film shows the quest of little Luis, who wants a present for his father, a gift worthy of a man on his 30th birthday. Luis, like the other two stars, is a symbol of his kind everywhere in the world.

The films are episodes in the lives of three people who, for the moment, have been separated from the mass of humanity. The producer's idea was to provide a glimpse of those qualities of the human heart and mind which promise hope for the future of people the world over.

The Christian Church And Metropolitan Life

Questions that confront the Christian church in the modern city community will be appraised on Explorations April 23 (10.00 p.m. on the central network). The first part of the hour-long program is a drama-documentary written by George Salverson, describing the work of a large metropolitan church amid the steel and concrete of the city, seen through the eyes of one Angus McKinnon, "that nice young assistant minister", recently arrived from a small prairie town of 800 people. He is faced by a number of situations revealing a general weakening of traditional certainties and he feels the church is not meeting the challenge of the times as it should. Though in some ways this play is about the relation of a metropolitan church to the community around it, it is also a portrayal of various kinds of people who represent insecurity in our society and who are searching for security.

For the preparation of this exploration into the role of the metropolitan church, Salverson went into such a church and talked with ministers. Cameras were taken into some churches for film sequences.

The second part of the program will be a conversation in which there will be an investigation of such questions as these: Is there any conflict between Christian ideals and humanitarian goals? To what extent can the church concern itself with social ills? What is the role of the church in social welfare and reform? Dr. J. V. Langmead Casserley, sociologist and theologian, will discuss the questions with Lawrence Lynch, professor of philosophy at St. Michael's College, Toronto. Dr. Casserley is professor of theology at the General Theological Seminary, New York City.

CBC RADIO STUDIES MIDDLE EAST UNREST

For ten years — from 1947 down to the present — the Middle East has been a focal point of international tension. To trace the story of the UN's involvement in this struggle, the CBC is presenting a semi-documentary program, covering this period, to be broadcast 8.30 - 9.15 p.m., April 25, on the Trans-Canada Radio Network.

Highlights of the program, which will be entitled "Ten Years of Tension", will include excerpts from UN debates, statements made by world leaders at dramatic periods in history such as during the Palestinian War, Count Bernadotte's assassination, the Anglo-French intervention in the Sinai battle, and the withdrawal from the Suez Canal and the Gaza Strip.

Baseball Broadcaster

TOM FOLEY, CFRA'S sport director, will be broadcasting Brooklyn Dodgers home games again this year. Here he is in the radio booth overlooking Ebbets Field during one of last year's broadcasts. Tom broadcast the series opener between the Montreal Royals and the Cuban Sugar Kings direct from Havana, Cuba, April 15. The first Brooklyn game will be broadcast April 20 with Terry Kielty.

Tips on Touring

By Carol Lane
Women's Travel Authority

Attitudes in driving count more than any other factor, psychologists report. You can easily find out your attitudes score by taking a pencil and marking in the blanks how many times out of a possible ten you . . .

1—Glide through a full-stop sign without halting completely, because "the road looks clear and I'm in a hurry?"

2—Slip through an intersection when the light is yellow, or jump just before it turns green?

3—Go into a marked curve without reducing speed?

4—Neglect to dim your "brights" because "he'll be past in a second?"

5—Find yourself matching the speed of a car trying to pass you?

6—Drive on the tail of the car ahead so he'll know he's going too slow for you?

7—Park close to a hydrant because there's no other space handy and "besides, five feet away is plenty?"

8—Try to honk your way through a traffic tie-up with your horn?

Here's how to score yourself: Simply add up the numbers you've written under each item. A group of expert drivers scored between 1 and 18. But whatever your score, remember — according to Drs. Herbert J. Stack and Leon Brody, Centre for Safety Education, New York University — a basic cause of most accidents is not the car or the road, but the driver's Attitudes.

DeSoto

Take the wheel... push a button... FLASH AHEAD!

De Soto Fireflite 2-door hardtop

Put a new De Soto through its paces and you discover this car was built to do all the things that make driving a pleasure instead of a chore! For instance . . .

New push-button Torque-Flite automatic drive frees you from old-fashioned gearshifting. Just press a button and you surge ahead with all the authority that up to 295 horsepower gives.

New Torsion-Aire Ride is incredibly smooth and quiet. You'll like the way Torsion-Aire wrings the bounce out of bumps, keeps you level on the turns and level when you stop.

New control and safety is another plus you get in a De Soto—you can have effortless Full-Time power steering on any model you choose. Brakes are the new Total-Contact type that take hold fast and shorten stopping distances.

Come in and see us about guest-driving a De Soto this week. The pleasure's ours—and yours!

It's nearing convention time again and women's organizations throughout Canada are polishing up resolutions and appointing delegates to speak in conference halls.

In June, for instance, about 25 official delegates from the Federated Women's Institutes of Canada will begin the long journey to Colombo, Ceylon, to attend the eighth triennial meeting of the Associated Country Women of the World, from July 3-13.

Originally scheduled for last fall, the meeting was cancelled due to the Suez crisis. But again this year, women from 30 countries are planning a trip to a nation where women now are beginning to take a greater part in organizations on both national and international levels.

Canadian Origin

The Ceylon conference has particular significance to Canadians. First of all, the Canadian institute was the "mother" of the world association of country women, and the last triennial was held in Toronto in 1953.

Secondly, the Ceylon movement was organized by a Canadian medical missionary, Dr. Mary Rutman, of Clinton, Ont., who is married to a native of Ceylon and has lived there many years.

Another overseas conference will take 250 delegates from the Canadian Nurses' Association to Rome for the International Council of Nurses' Congress May 27 to June 1.

More than 3,000 nurses from 60 countries are expected to meet in Italy. Canada will send the fourth largest delegation.

At home, Montreal is to be the meeting place for the International Council of Women June 5-15. More than 500 delegates from 39 countries are expected to attend this conference, which will have the 500,000-member Canadian National Council of Women as its host.

Vancouver has been chosen as the conference city for the Young Women's Christian Association which meets June 3-8.

WOMEN'S PLACE

Mrs. Jean Newman, the first woman member of Toronto's four-member civic board of control, remarked recently that male gallantry does not seem to be overdone in civic politics. She has to battle on equal terms.

It's a different story in the village of Coutances in France. That's a village of 2,000 people, virtually run by women. The mayor and the police constable are men, but nearly every other civic post is held by a woman, from the "postman" to the tax collector.

What's more, the men are all in favor of rule by women — in the town. At home, it's the men who rule. The woman tax collector admits that her husband is doubtful about her ability to manage household expenses.

A Lease on Spring Stew and Curry Dumplings

Spring menus without the delicacies traditionally associated with this season of the year would be similar to Christmas without snow. At this time of the year there's something missing if lamb — which is as much a delicacy of Spring as maple syrup and rhubarb — isn't served in some special way. Here's a recipe for a wonderful dumpling - lamb stew, that is likely to become a tradition in many Canadian homes. There's a surprise touch in that the curry is added to the feather-light dumplings rather than the meat. It's a simple-to-make ensemble that's as delightful as the first breath of Spring. Just remember not to lift the saucepan lid as the dumplings are cooking.

Lamb Stew with Curry Dumplings

Yield — 6 Servings.

3 Pound piece shoulder lamb, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon monosodium glutamate, optional, 8 medium - sized carrots, 2 medium-sized onions, 2 pieces celery and leaves, boiling water, 5 or 6 pieces celery, 12 very small onions, 3 tablespoons flour, ¼ cup cold milk, 1 cup chopped parsley.

Have butcher cut lamb into serving-sized pieces. Wipe meat with a damp cloth and put meat into a deep stew pot; add salt and monosodium glutamate, if being used. Cut up 2 of the carrots, the 2 onions and the 2 pieces of celery and leaves and add to meat. Just cover with boiling water. Cover and simmer until meat is just tender. Remove pot from heat; lift out pieces of meat and strain stock. Skim off all fat, then return meat to stock.

Cut the 5 or 6 pieces of celery and the remaining 6 carrots into match-stick pieces and add to lamb. Peel and add small onions. Cover and continue to simmer until vegetables and meat are tender — about 45 minutes. Thicken stew with flour blended to a smooth paste with cold milk.

Drop Curry Dumpling dough (recipe below) over stew and cook as directed. Arrange cooked dumplings around edge of large platter, fill centre of dish with meat and vegetables and a little of the sauce. Sprinkle with parsley. Pass remaining sauce in a gravy boat.

Curry Dumplings

Yield — 6 Servings.

1½ Cups once-sifted all-purpose flour, or 1½ cups once-sifted pastry flour, 2½ teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon curry powder, 1½ tablespoons shortening, ¾ cup milk.

Sift all-purpose or pastry flour, baking powder, salt and curry powder into a bowl. Add shortening and cut in finely. Make a well in the dry ingredients; add milk. Mix lightly and quickly with a fork. Drop dumplings over stew. Cover closely and simmer 15 minutes — do not lift during this time.

Recipe for Toffee

2 Cups maple syrup, 1 cup water, piece of butter, half the size of an egg.

Mix and cook over low heat. When it starts to thicken, put a drop in a glass of water. If it hardens immediately, it is cooked enough. Pour toffee into a buttered plate, allow to cool, and serve.

TOMORROW'S OVEN-DINNER
Tangerine-Banana Saladettes
Fresh Vegetable Nibblers
Oven-Braised Lamb Ragout
Popped Potatoes
Escalloped Tomato
Chiffon Cheesecake
Coffee Tea Milk
All measurements are level; recipes proportioned to serve 4 to 6

Tangerine-Banana Saladettes: Peel and section 3 tangerines (or use 1 can mandarin orange sections, drained) Combine with 3 sliced bananas and citrus mayonnaise to blend. Chill Serve in nests of lettuce.

Chiffon Cheesecake: Blend 18 fine-crushed graham crackers with 1 tablespoon sugar, ¼ teaspoon cinnamon and ½ cup room-softened butter or margarine. Reserve ½ cup of the crumbs. With the remainder, line a buttered or margarined 8" square pan.

Rub 8 oz. cottage cheese and 3 oz. cream cheese through a sieve. Add 3 tablespoons flour and chop with a pastry blender until thoroughly mixed.

Then sift together ¾ cup already sifted enriched flour with 1¼ teaspoon baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt and ⅔ cup sugar.

Add alternately to the cheese with 1 cup dairy sour cream, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1 teaspoon pure vanilla extract and 3 beaten egg yolks.

Beat the egg whites stiff, fold and beat in. Transfer to the crumbed pan. Dust over the remaining crumbs.

Bake 40 minutes in a moderate oven, 325-350 degrees F., or until a pick inserted in the centre comes out clean.

Turn off the heat. Let stand in the oven 20 minutes to firm the filling.

Cool. Refrigerate 30 minutes or more.

Serve plain, or with thawed frozen raspberries, strawberries or peaches.

Suggestion of the Chef

Pass 2 or 3 seasoning salts such as dill, rosemary and garlic salt with fresh vegetable nibblers. Each person chooses his favorite dressing.

One teaspoon of pure onion juice added to a glass of tomato juice at breakfast makes a refreshing day-starter.

While cooking corn-on-the-cob or other vegetables, a few drops of pure garlic juice added to the water will impart a uniquely different, yet pleasing, taste.

Easter Surprises

(Copyright) — By NANCY CLEAVER —

In a delightful children's book, "The Whole World Singing," Friendship Press, there is a delightful translation of a German Folk Song, by the Author Edith Lovell Thomas, Easter Surprises. The music is arranged by Brahms and the first verse is:

"Out of an egg comes a singing bird;
Out of a seed comes a flower;
Dark of the night turns to morning light,
Clouds turn to snow or shower."

Children love surprises and they are often surprised to discover that similar customs are observed in many lands at Easter. Away back in the fourth century Emperor Constantine celebrated this festival with great pomp and richness. All his subjects followed his example as best they could. Except behind the Iron Curtain, Europeans wear their best finery at this time.

The egg is the symbol of life and the Christians borrowed from the Jews the art of coloring the shells. Red was the favorite Easter color, signifying the blood of Christ. The other shades imitated the gay Spring flowers. In parts of Greece, the Greek Orthodox priest gave to each member of his congregation a red egg.

In Hungary, before the Communist regime, peasants carried eggs in baskets to be blessed at church. In Eastern Poland, the children used to throw painted egg shells on the streams to send messages of Spring's return to a race who were suposed to live below the earth's surface and never see the sunlight. In Switzerland and also in Bulgaria, the eggs are 'matched" with friends as our youngsters match chestnuts. The one who matches the greatest number of eggs is the winner. In some European communities each worshipper attending church breaks an egg with his neighbor. "Christ is risen!" says the first person. "He is risen, indeed!" is the quick response.

After the fasting in Lent, Easter Sunday dinner is a very important meal marked by special dishes in many countries. Boiled ham, and also lamb are favorite meats. In Mexico at Easter little sugar lambs with garlands of paper flowers are purchased in the shops, "Hot Cross Buns" are a traditional treat in many areas on Good Friday.

Each country has some distinctive Easter practices. Bull fights mark the Easter holiday in Mexico. In France candles are blessed and brought home only to be used on special occasions. The Latvians swing a wooden platform with stout ropes suspended from trees and have a Swinging Game at Easter. In Norway and Sweden a large number go on an excursion to the mountains for winter sports. Outdoor services are held for skiers. The bells ring out the glad news of Easter from many old cathedrals.

The Easter bunny which is so popular in America is a descendant of the German hare, who was supposed to lay eggs for good children at Easter. Children on this continent during and since the years of World War II have had a lot more treats than youngsters in devasted lands.

At Easter it is good for our boys and girls to catch a glimpse of this festival as it is celebrated in other parts of the world.

This Easter we are particularly aware of the Hungarians who have recently fled from the despotism of their native land. In every province of Canada there are immigrants from many different lands who are eager to become citizens Quite a few of them will carry out the traditional Easter customs such as the Bulgarians coloring intricate patterns on eggs in their new homeland. They may feel a bit lonely — would it not be a nice gesture if we "old" Canadians in the Easter holidays should make a special effort to make our New Canadians feel welcome? In what better way could we observe the religious festival of Christ who came to show God's love to all mankind?

"Look for the wonder of Easter time,
Wonders that April will bring.
Open your eyes for a new surprise!
God is at work in the Spring!"

QWI Annual Workshop At Macdonald May 27 - 31

Applications are already coming in for the 1957 edition of "Facts' Fingers' Fun'" This is the annual workshop held by the Quebec Women's Institutes at Macdonald College. The date this year is May 27-31.

The program will feature the usual sessions on how to plan programs, the use of recreation and singing, and discussions on topics connected with the procedure for monthly meetings and the whole set-up of the Women's Institute.

The group is limited to 36 and this early interest would seem to augur well for the success of the course.

Simple Floor Upkeep Saves Wear and Tear

Can you name the vital zones on your wood floors?

Though they're underfoot all day long, the areas which deteriorate more quickly than any other surface in the home properly treated are often disregarded by the housewife.

Thresholds and corners, the points of heaviest and lightest traffic, both take a beating — one from excessive use and the other from neglect. Discoloration around baseboards often is overlooked.

Scraping of chairs inflicts another type of punishment. So do heel marks. And beware of the rocking chair, too.

Keep in mind that open windows during hot weather leave floors exposed to soot, dust and rain.

To combat such hazards, a type of floor wax, which both cleans and polishes, eliminating soap-and-water scrubbing, is recommended. Easy to apply, it can be spread either with clean cloth or wax applier. The result will be a protective coating that adds luster and longevity to your floors.

Why is the telephone still working, Mummy?

It's most unusual when a storm affects your telephone. It's reassuring to know that it has a habit of staying on the job.

The reason is that your telephone operates from banks of giant batteries in the telephone exchange. Should power go off for any reason, these are charged by a Diesel motor standing by for just such an emergency.

So the uninterrupted service you enjoy is no accident. It takes forethought, equipment—and money. All are necessary if you are to have the best possible telephone service 24 hours a day.

WORKING WITH CANADIANS IN EVERY WALK OF LIFE SINCE 1817

Indicates Biggest Bargain Basement Possibly Located In Your Own Home

Women are the hunters when it comes to bargains; mere man is apt to quail at the prospect. But when it comes to bargain basements, the men folk seem to have got the jump on them. Home basements, that is! It's the man of the house, according to the Canadian Institute of Plumbing and Heating, who has been most energetic in the trend toward conversion from the old-type basement to the modern "finished basement". This trend, which is today an established fact in new housing, is now becoming wide-spread among houses that were built in the days when the basement was regarded as little more than a dungeon.

And perhaps the interest of the man of the house in this area is not without logical foundation. After all, his was the responsibility for tending the family furnace, that great monster of grime and soot whose abject slave he was from late summer until early spring of every year.

Its replacement by a modern heating plant is one of the primary steps in converting the basement from its role of family junkshop to one of useful recreation. The modern plant, to begin with, is compact and can generally be housed in a fairly small enclosure somewhere in a corner, instead of being the lord of the area as the old one was. And even if this is impossible, the attractive appearance of the new models makes their presence no detraction from the decorative atmosphere of the new basement room.

Of course, the fact that the amount of work necessary to service, fuel and clean them is only a fraction of that demanded by their predecessors is not overlooked by that former slave, friend husband. And he's attracted, too, by the fuel economy that means a substantial saving to him each season.

But, after all, his main concern is that the finished basement opens up for him and his family a completely new area for living, for pursuing hobbies, craftsmanship and the like. Or, for that matter, T-Viewing in quiet seclusion, or a party room where he and his cronies can retire for a convivial quaff and a chat are activities that will have his favorable vote.

This new basement, however, has a divident bargain for the lady of the house. When it is planned, she should put in her bid for a portion of it, enclosed in its own privacy, where a properly appointed and equipped laundry room can be installed, so that Mondays need no longer be "blue" for her. In this room, modern, easy-to-clean laundry tubs, or perhaps a combination tub-and-sink unit, will replace the old non-vitreous tubs, and round the new unit she can plan her laundry flow so that the least time and effort is necessary to keep her family's linen fresh and clean without having to pay for it in back-aches and hard labor.

So this basement, right in the home itself, may be found to contain more honest bargains for the whole family, than many of those through which women have fought their way down the years.

Stansfield Takes Six Prov'l Honors; Gymnastic Meet at L.H.S. Saturday

Reggie Stansfield, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stansfield, and a student at Lachute High School, made a clean sweep of six Provincial Junior Gymnastic Championships at a meet held in Lachine last Saturday. It was his second year of participation in the Provincial Meet, and he won the all-round championship with a score of 59.25 points. The second best man had 48.70 points. Reggie also won championships in High Bar, Parallel Bar, Still Rings, Freehand Calisthenics and Long Horse.

Reggie's marks in a number of the events were higher than the senior men's, especially in the Longhorse, where he was excellent. He got 9.65 for his perfect giant cartwheel, not done by any other Canadian gymnast, junior or senior.

The winner of the Senior Events, Richard Montpetit, a 19-year-old Montrealer, beat out last year's Dominion Champion and as Montpetit will be at the Lachute High School on Saturday, it will be a good chance to see how Reggie can do against one of the best in Canada.

The International Junior Men's Gymnastic meet to be held this coming Saturday, April 27, at 7.30 p.m. in Lachute High School looks to be of outstanding calibre, with participation of twelve of the most promising young gymnasts Canada has ever developed, according to Arne Petersen, LHS Physical Training Instructor and Director of the Meet.

Especially, Richard Montpetit, of Montreal, and Reggie Stansfield, of Lachute, will show gymnastics of top class. Montpetit won the Provincial Junior Championship in 1956 and Stansfield took the 1957 competition Saturday. The two are young and at their age not many gymnasts in the world would do better.

In the parallel bar both are exceptionally good and many people will be surprised to see them perform some of their dangerous forward and backward somersaults. In the high bar both will do forward and backward giant swings and Stansfield's fly-off is outstanding.

Free hand calisthenics, pommel horse, long horse vault and still rings also look very promising. Specially watch little Gilbert Larose in the free hand calisthenics.

Participants will be as follows: Nino Marion, of Windsor, Ont., last year's U.S. Champion, 19 years of age; two gymnasts from British Columbia accompanied by their coach (an expense to them of $1,500); this year's Junior Champion; two Toronto gymnasts; one Noranda aspirant, four or five from Montreal and our local Reggie Stansfield.

It should be realized that this is a very important event, being staged at the Lachute High School, and one which should do much in putting our town on the map. It will quite likely be 15 years before we again have this privilege accorded us and so all interested should try to see it if possible. Altogether it promises to be an evening of gymnastics at its best.

Over 300 tickets are already sold with 200 still available for those who hurry. They can be had at Cliff Cunningham's, Main Street, Lachute.

CHANGE OF TIME SATURDAY, MIDNIGHT

Lachute and surrounding communities will conform with the general change to Daylight Saving Time, to become effective at midnight Saturday. The usual reminder is given to Watchman readers, to advance their clocks one hour and avoid the embarrassment of arriving late for church on Sunday morning. The change of local rail schedules also becomes effective on Sunday

BIG MONEY

Cheques cashed against individual accounts reached a new record total of $166,541,032,000 in Canada in 1955.

Paper Drive Postponed

Due to unavoidable circumstances, the 1st Lachute Boy Scout Paper Drive scheduled for this Saturday has been postponed until May 4.

It would be appreciated if citizens of this area will keep their paper supplies until this date and in this manner, aid the local group.

Lachute - B'burg Telephone Exchanges Of LEcture 3 and LOrraine 2, Given Official Consent by Bell Telephone Co.

Coincident with the introduction of dial telephone service in Lachute, in the spring of 1958, the standard "two letter, five figure" telephone numbering system which is gradually being adopted throughout Canada and the United States will go into effect in this area.

R. R. Pearson, Bell Telephone manager for this region, announced this week that all telephone numbers in Brownsburg and Lachute will be changed on the day of the conversion of the manual telephone system in the second community.

"All telephone numbers in Brownsburg will consist of the exchange name LEcture 3, followed by the four figures of the existing numbers. In Lachute, the numbers will consist of the prefix LOrraine 2, followed by four figures," the manager stated.

Adoption of the new numbering system will fit the two communities' telephone numbers into a uniform numbering system which is becoming standard in all parts of Canada and the U.S. This system is designed to allow for the continued growth of the local telephone networks, and it is also an integral part of an important new advance in long distance service which enables operators to dial direct to telephones in distant centres without the assistance of any other operators.

At the present time, more than half of all long distance calls placed in Bell's Ontario-Quebec territory are completed by this faster method, and the use of "operator distance dialing" is being extended as the necessary equipment is installed in more and more centres.

Eventually, it will include all Canadian and U.S. telephones and subscribers themselves will be able in many cases to dial their own long distance calls.

The uniform numbering system was devised so that all major centres and many smaller ones would fit into the continent-wide network. Under this system, the North American continent is divided into some 100 numbering areas, each identified by a three-digit code. Then, each exchange within the numbering areas is identified by a further three-digit code. Finally, each telephone in the exchange is itself identified by four figures. In this way, it is possible to give each telephone on the continent a number which is unique.

Mr. Pearson explained that the codes assigned to Brownsburg and Lachute are 5-3-3 and 5-6-2 respectively. To make them easier to remember, the first two digits of these codes are translated into the letters representing those figures on the dial. For instance, the figure 5 is represented by J, K and L; the figure 3 by D, E and F. Therefore, when time came to choose the exchange name, it was necessary to find one beginning by J, K or L, followed by D, E or F. In the case of Lachute, the first letter had to be J, K or L, followed by M, N or O. For this and other reasons, such as ease of spelling, pronunciation, etc., the names LEcture and LOrraine were selected.

Bank of Nova Scotia Announces Plans For Construction of New Building Here

The Bank of Nova Scotia announces the completion of plans for the erection of their new premises in Lachute. The initial work has already started and it is hoped the building will be ready in the near future. The announcement, coinciding with the 125th anniversary of the BNS, is a tribute to Lachute's progress in recent years and the Bank's faith in the community's future.

When the BNS was founded in Halifax in 1832, it was primarily intended to serve the financial needs of the Halifax traders and merchants. Soon after its foundation the bank had spread to neighboring Maritime provinces, and eventually spread throughout Quebec and Ontario. Side by side with the pioneers who faced towards the West, the BNS spread rapidly and opened branches in early settlements almost as soon as the new areas were linked by railway steel. Today, the BNS has 511 branches throughout Canada and abroad, and maintains agents and representatives wherever men trade. In the Province of Quebec there are 42 branches serving Canadians in all walks of life. This chainwork of branches enables each branch manager to provide a comprehensive banking service.

The BNS association with Lachute, and the surrounding area dates back for almost 60 years. On January 27th, 1899, the Bank of Ottawa opened a branch here. Twenty years later the BNS merged with the Bank of Ottawa and two of the oldest Canadian banking institutions became one. At the time of the merger the Bank of Ottawa operated 13 branches in the Province of Quebec, five of them being in Argenteuil County.

J. R. Parris, who was manager at the time of the merger, assumed similar status and remained in charge of the BNS branch until 1927. He was succeeded by W. H. Lamb who remained until 1930. Subsequent managers were: K. R. Elliott, T. K. Hind, G. J. Cheley, W. D. Stewart, W. M. Steeves, W. J. Buckley and the present manager G. C. Higginson, who came here in September, 1955.

A native of Hawkesbury, Mr. Higginson is a banker with over 22 years service. Joining the BNS in his home town in 1935 he served there until he joined the army in 1941. From then until 1946 he served with various units until the end of the war when he resumed his banking career upon release at Hawkesbury. In 1948 he was transferred to the bank's inspection staff and a year later was appointed an assistant inspector. Promoted to the rank of Inspector in 1951 he travelled widely through Canada and gained considerable experience in all of the bank's services. The following year, Mr. Higginson was transferred to the Chief Accountant's Department and later the same year was appointed manager at Grenville, where he remained until his appointment to Lachute.

Married, with five children, Gordon Higginson has been associated with many aspects of commercial and social life in Lachute. Among local organizations, he is a member of the Lions Club, Curling Club, Golf and Country Club, Branch 70 Canadian Legion, Boy Scout Association and has acted as campaign treasurer for the Lachute Branch of

W.I. County Clubs Have Full Month Plan for Events

Arundel Branch held an installation of officers and presented the School Fair Exhibit List. Articles for the Tweedsmuir Hope Chest were on display. This branch plans to cater for the Field Day in August at the Stuart Farm. The year's program was presented.

Brownsburg Branch also had an installation of officers at which the County President, Mrs. M. Wilson officiated.

The Roll Call was "when and why I joined the W.I."

Mrs. Stevens spoke on the beginnings of the W.I. Movement and the part played by Mrs. Adelaide Hoodless.

Brief discussions were held on the subject of Fluoridation of the town supply and the possibility of providing a small playground for pre-school children in the town centre. Further consideration will be given at next meeting.

A "Hemming competition was held. Projects are: (1) Handicraft display May 15; (2) Visits to Textile Mill July 2; (3) School banquet at which we annually cater.

Frontier Branch heard items of W.I. work and "A memory from your very early childhood" was their roll call. A contest on words beginning with "sun" was held.

Jerusalem - Bethany Branch — The convener of Agriculture read a paper on "Gloxinias" and held a contest on "Birds".

A donation of $25 was given to a needy family and flowers were sent to a sick person.

Lachute Branch had an illustrated talk by Mrs. Mansel Wilson, County President, of a trip to South Carolina, Georgia and the Gulf of Mexico, with colored film showing farmland, forests and countryside.

Arrangements were made to attend cooking classes by Miss J. McOuat, April 8-12.

Upper Lachute - East End Branch answered the Roll Call with an exchange of slips and bulbs and discussed the course on "Hat Making" April 8-12.

A quilt was given to the Red Cross and another quilt is to be sold to raise funds for the branch.

Federation Elects New President

A meeting was held recently in the basement of Ste. Anastasie Parish Church by the Federation of Charities, at which the election of officers for the year 1957-58 took place.

Roger Lagarde, advocate, was elected as the new president, to replace Dr. Marc Papineau, founder of the local Federation. As vice-presidents, there will be Messrs. R. Marcil, B. Gosselin and Roland Grenier, representing the three parishes.

L. J. Dumais, agreed to accept the chairmanship of the next charity campaign and Richard Valois remains in office as secretary for the third year. Treasurer of the drive for funds will be Raymond Beaulieu, manager of the Lachute Caisse Populaire.

R. Marcil will be in charge of the budget with Jean-Guy Joannette looking after publicity instead of Fernand Berthiaume.

A vote of thanks was extended to Dr. Papineau for his excellent services during two years as president.

April 29 is "C-Day" in Argenteuil $3,000 Cancer Campaign Planned

Final preparations have been completed in connection with the financial campaign of the local branch of the Cancer Society. Scores of workers have been appointed to begin canvassing throughout Lachute and Ayersville at six o'clock on Monday evening, April 29. All residents are requested to remain in and turn on their porch lights to be ready to receive the canvassers when they arrive. It is hoped that this work will be completed by ten o'clock at which time the workers are requested to report to headquarters in the Lachute Auditorium.

Mrs. C. E. Richardson and Mrs. J. E. Leonard will canvass all those whose names appear on the Special Names list.

Special canvassers are being appointed to canvass all places of business throughout the district.

It is hoped that the entire community will lend their support to the local organization in a major effort to do their part in the fight against this dread disease.

The objective has been set at $3,000 for the local area. Dr. Jacques Castagner, of Brownsburg, is Chairman of the Argenteuil Section of the Canadian Cancer Society, while Linton W. Armstrong is Campaign Chairman.

Local Citizens Break By-Laws; To Be Enforced

Police - Fire Chief Fernand Trépanier yesterday reported that citizens of this community were at present, failing to comply with several by-laws now in force in Lachute. In elaborating, the Chief specified that it was necessary for all dogs and bicycles to be licensed; the use of firecrackers was forbidden within the limits of the Town of Lachute and that local motorists were still refusing to give right-of-way to emergency vehicles and following the fire apparatus too closely.

The section governing the licensing of dogs comes under By-law 117 and states that "all dog owners and keepers within the limits of the Town of Lachute must register and obtain a license for such animals prior to the end of May of each year. Following this date, any dog found wandering within the limits will be destroyed forthwith and the proprietor or keeper of such animal is liable to a fine not exceeding $20.

By-law 153 governing bicycles also gives the end of May as a final date for obtaining a license from the Police Department and Section 5 points out that "it is strictly prohibited to ride a bicycle on sidewalks of the Town of Lachute or on any part of public sidewalks, alleys, lawns, parks, or other similar sections reserved for pedestrians. It is also necessary that all bicycles be equipped with a front light and back reflector for night driving. Those not complying with these rules will be confiscated.

"Any person found throwing or detonating firecrackers or similar objects in any street or public place within the limits of the Town of Lachute, will be liable upon summary conviction, to a fine not exceeding $40 or imprisonment not exceeding 30 days or both. This fine is identical to that covering the fire department and the obstruction of its members and it was pointed out by Chief Trépanier that this would be the last notice as regards these matters.

Local Soldier In Training

YOUNG LACHUTE CITIZEN in the army is Trooper O. Lamoureux, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lionel Lamoureux, 582 Foundry Street, who examines one of the gun carriages at Valcartier Camp. Now on a training course, he will rejoin his unit shortly.

Malone Rotary Club Recreation Park Sets Fine Example for Local Group

May 3 Dance and June 1 Fish Derby Planned to Raise Funds for Local Centre

Norm Somers, chairman of the June 1 Rotary Fish Derby Committee, presented an outline of plans to date at the regular supper meeting of the Brownsburg - Lachute Club held last Thursday evening under the chairmanship of President Keith Hickson. In attendance at the meeting were guests from the Malone, N.Y. Rotary Club who addressed the local group on their recreation park which has been in existence for 11 years.

It was pointed out that entrance fees for the Derby have been increased to $2 per adult and $1 to children under 14 years of age, and that fishing would get underway at 6 a.m. Members of the Club were appointed to various committees and it was suggested that at least one Provincial Policeman as well as game wardens be contacted, the latter to circulate among the fishermen on the various lakes.

Last year's regulations of "no minnows, no motors and no smoking" will again be enforced this year along with other Provincial fishing laws which will include the cancellation of the Derby in the event the Fire Warden considers the bush unsafe.

In introducing John Kelly, of the Malone Club, President Keith Hickson informed the local organization that the guests had volunteered to make available to us any plans used in forming their park and expressed the appreciation of the local club for their driving well over 200 miles "just because we asked them to."

Rotarian Kelly introduced the other members of the cavalcade and opened his informal talk by stating, "We, as Rotarians, are all interested in the community and the youth problem. This problem is not your fault and not mine but the fault of the times we live in. In our father's time, there was lots to keep youngsters busy, but now with a 40-odd hour week, today's youth has too much free time on its hands. If there is juvenile delinquency, it is the fault of the parents and men of the community."

He then went on to point out what the Malone Rotary Club was doing in the way of youth work, adding "Don't think we are perfect, but here is what we are doing": Among the long list was included the sponsorship of a 140-boy basketball league; a 4-H Calf Project, in which calves costing approximately $150 each are given to members, the off-spring of the mature animals going to new members; an annual Homemaking Project with awards going to the two top entries of each of the two district schools, and the spending of $78,000 in the 11 years that the park project has been in operation.

The second speaker on the American Club's activities was F. Wright Johnson, now superintendent of schools near Albany, N.Y., who stated that the park project was a group effort, not only Rotary but community. "We started the ball rolling, but included everyone in the community when we spotted the opportunity of a summer project for the youth of Malone.

Rotarian Johnson added that the Red Cross was called in to train instructors and that there was lots of sweat and hard work for all concerned. "At one time, we had to drain our lake and level off a drop and in this way eliminate a hazard, but last year, some 400 children were taught how to swim."

"When we started, people said it was a waste of money and an expenditure we couldn't afford, in other words, 'the kids aren't worth it'. In closing he stated that if interested, don't point to the fellow next to you but lock arms. In our project, doctors, lawyers, priests and ministers worked along with the average man. Don't go into it unless you have the spirit of working together."

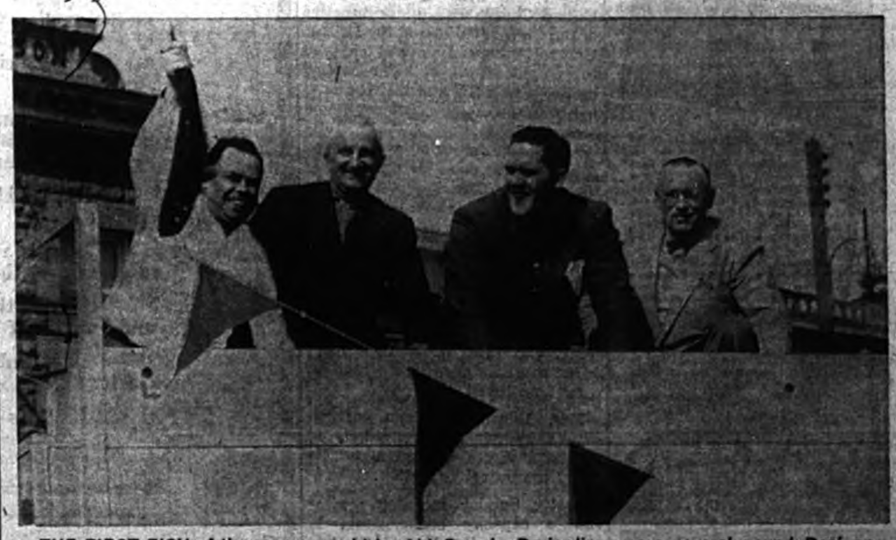

Rotarian John Marsden, a former pitcher for the Philadelphia Athletics and Boston Red Socks, was the next speaker who following several anecdotes on his career, spoke on the Junior League Baseball program which was formed last year. He pointed out that the six teams were incorporated, sponsors obtained for each and that with the aid of the Kiwanis Club, Junior Chamber of Commerce and other civic-minded citizens, two baseball diamonds were built. "At the end of the season, we had three diamonds going just about every night of the week. It was specified that every kid that turned out, played, whether he had ever thrown a ball or not, as it was up to us to teach them how to play. At the close of the season, we threw a dinner for some 200 kids and their parents and of the more than 800 pieces of equipment that were out on loan to the boys, not one piece was reported missing.

Rotarian Leo Cahal, who has been in charge of the park for the past seven years, spoke on the recreation centre as it is today, illustrating his talk with colored films taken two years ago. He pointed out that "it is not a challenge to us, we are doing it. It is a challenge to you!"

The total of 100 acres is open seven days a week from 7 a.m. until 7-8 p.m. and is located just at the outskirts of the community of 10,000 persons. Among the features of the park is a dam that cost $18,500 "and would have cost twice that if the boys had not pitched in," a large swimming area and 25-yard pool; a picnic area with 70 tables, each one holding eight persons; facilities for once-a-week band concerts; four tennis courts, one basketball court; softball diamonds, slides, playground area and a merry-go-round.

In closing, Rotarian Kelly stated "we didn't come here to brag, but we are proud because it was built and is being maintained by Rotarians." He was thanked by District Governor-Elect Linton Armstrong, who in presenting the Malone Club with a souvenir of their visit, congratulated them in their successful efforts and suggested a Brownsburg - Lachute Club trip to Malone to have a look at what the local Rotary Park could one day turn out to be.

Doré For Lake MacDonald

THE FIRST FISH of the season caught by Ald. Romain Desjardins was a several pound Doré on its way to the waters of Lake MacDonald. Left to right are Ald. Desjardins, Leonard Bedard, the local Molson's Agent through whom the 1,500 fish were purchased, Syd Drew, president of the Argenteuil Fish and Game Protective Association and Ald. Ross R. Muir. The fish, some weighing up to eleven pounds, were purchased by the Lake MacDonald Residents Association and transported to the lake by Mr. Bedard.

All electric meters are subject to the regulations of the Electricity and Gas Inspection Service of the Federal Department of Trade & Commerce at 479 Bank Street, Ottawa, Ont. Telephone 9-2-3081.

Readings are made by taking the next lowest number below the pointers.

Meter reading—	Dial No. 1	Dial No. 2	Dial No. 3	Dial No. 4
	2	5	-	8

The reading taken at the previous reading date is subtracted from the current reading and the difference is the consumption between reading dates.

Some meters have a multiplier built into them, this will be shown on the name plate. If there is a multiplier, all readings must be multiplied by it.

Why not check the consumption in your house to see how many kilowatt hours you are using each day. Then estimate how many hours each appliance was in use. By doing this you will soon find out what it costs per day to operate each appliance.

One of the customers who recently complained of a high bill had a 3,000 watt water heater operating 24 hours a day with a bare water tank. On my advice he insulated his water tank and now he says he made a substantial saving in the last two months.

$5,000 Essay Contest Bids To Aid Editors

Ten bursaries of $500 each have been offered bright young high school graduates to prepare them as future publishers of Canada's weekly newspapers.

The Ryerson Institute of Technology, Toronto, has agreed to combine elements of its three-year diploma courses in Printing Management and in Journalism in a special contribution to the weekly press. All Canada Insurance Federation has agreed to contribute an annual $5,000 fund to attract young people into weekly newspaper editing.

Candidates will write a 1,500-word essay on The Weekly Newspaper. Students may interview editors and course material will be provided by Ryerson.

The Printing Management course not only offers skills in setting type and running presses, but teaches business principles, estimating, accounting, cost accounting, labor relations and selling. With it will go such Journalism subjects as reporting and feature writing, editorial page work, editing, advertising and press photography. Such background subjects as English, economics and history will be taught at college level.

Information has been supplied high school principals. Extra application forms may be obtained by applying at our office.

An Open Letter to the Electors of Argenteuil - Two Mountains

In a recent article, Quebec City's Hon. Sen. C. G. Power, Canada's most experienced Liberal politician, severely criticizes certain methods of selecting candidates for Parliament. "The voters", says Sen. Power, "should consider the local candidate as carefully as they would a doctor or a plumber". As Sen. Power puts it, "The selection of a representative should be made on account of the competence of the applicant and his understanding of the whole problem of government — not because he is a bell ringer, a constant attendant at civic receptions or a front rank mourner at funerals".

In this riding the electorate can break this vicious circle only by prompt and definite measures — they must exercise their right to HOLD A CONVENTION.

This is the democratic and recognized method of selecting candidates throughout the length and breadth of our country.

Yours Very Truly,

ANTOINE PARE

The Weekly Press

EDITOR J. S. GILES, wet down the form containing six columns of hand-set type, each letter individually set. He was trying to make the wooden form swell to hold the type tight. Then it was necessary to dry the form. In the yard, he built a fire and held the form above it. It dried, all right. Six columns of hand-set type fell, letter by letter, into the fire.

That was in 1890, John S. Giles who still owns The Lachute Watchman operated by his son and grandsons, was one of the early printer-editors in this country. Today, weekly newspapers are set by machines and printed on high-speed presses.

The miracle of the weekly press continues to awe onlookers. Those of us who have found a satisfying life as members of the community, relating the human interest story of good neighbors and needling council to get on with its program, feel justly proud of our progress. Today, expensive machines combine with electronics to provide the district with its news and views.

We are constantly trying to improve. New printing processes are on the horizon, new business methods are being adopted, new techniques for gathering and writing the news are being opened to us.

This is why we join the Ryerson Institute of Technology, in Toronto, in its efforts to recruit bright young high school graduates to take training to become future publishers of Canada's weekly newspapers. This progressive college offers young people not only the skills but the management know-how to build Canada by building the weekly press.

Ryerson now offers prospective publishers two three-year diploma courses: one in Journalism and the other in Printing Management. They are co-operating with Canada's weekly press in providing a combination of both courses to equip bright young students to prepare themselves for the management of weekly newspapers. To aid such students, the All Canada Insurance Federation has established a $5,000 bursary fund, from which they will provide 10 bursaries of $500 each.

We commend such studies to your attention. And we invite you to visit our plant to discover how those fellows behind the typewriters and presses keep you acquainted with what's going on in your community.

Bicycle Safety Week

BICYCLE SAFETY PROGRAMS throughout the Province of Quebec are not uncommon these days. People are coming to realize that a bicycle safety program helps develop safe attitudes and habits at a very vital period in their children's lives. Such a program provides a valuable opportunity to train children how to ride and operate their bicycles safely so that they will neither cause accidents nor be injured or killed themselves while biking. Let's teach them the basic traffic regulations for operating bikes on the streets so that they may become more informed pedestrians and more careful drivers when their interests turn to the automobile a few years later, says Mr. George B. Kenney, President-General of the Province of Quebec Safety League when announcing a bicycle safety week April 29th to May 5th.

"This campaign will remind cyclists that they are subject to traffic rules, same as other vehicle drivers, and should, for their own safety, do their share in helping to reduce the rate of traffic accidents," declared Mr. George B. Kenney.

One hundred and fifty thousand (150,000) Cyclists' Safety Code will be distributed to bicycle owners with the collaboration of Chiefs of Police. The slogan of the bicycle week will be: "IF YOU WANT TO RIDE — STAY ALIVE."!

Destroyer of Forests

IN 1755, FOUR YEARS before Wolfe led the successful assault on Quebec, a tiny black spruce seedling shot up in a patch of low ground in Ontario 150 miles south of James Bay.

In 1950, woodsmen felled the tree. In 196 years it had grown to a height of 120 feet, and its diameter at the stump was 42 inches.

Foresters traced its age from growth rings. And their check showed that at no time during its life had the huge tree been scarred by fire. That may have been because it lay well away from routes followed by Indians and fur traders — and, in later years, by settlers.

The big black spruce was lucky. In 1952, woodsmen felled a 106-year-old jackpine north of Heron Bay on Lake Superior. In its much shorter life it had been badly scarred by fires although they did not deal a lethal blow. When cut, it was a little more than a foot in diameter at the stump. But it was lucky too. Other growth in the area had obviously been wiped out by fires which the jackpine survived.

Some trees reach maturity, or cutting age, in 50 years or so. But many of the more valuable species take a century or longer to reach merchantable size.

A fire can wipe out the century's growth in a matter of minutes.

Although the greatest menace to Canada's forests in 1956 was lightning, the human factor was behind too many.

Man can set a fire burning so easily, even those who live in woods and might be expected to take greater care than others. A careless trapper who left a campfire burning, started one of Ontario's most disastrous bush fires of recent years. It all but wiped out one of the last remaining stands of white pine in the province and the loss ran to millions of dollars.

The fire season is at hand now. A little care may prevent disaster. Campers should be sure their fires are out. Smokers should be careful not to flick away burning matches or smouldering cigaret butts. Industries which work in the woods, especially mining and logging, need to exercise every precaution.

Looking Ahead

CANADIANS will watch with special interest the progress of the pending British West Indies Federation. Canada's Atlantic provinces in particular have old ties of trade and friendship with the islands in the Caribbean.

The federation will embrace islands that run in a 675-mile arc northwestward from near the Venezuela coast — Trinidad and the Windward and Leeward Islands — plus Barbados, a little to the east of the chain, and Jamaica, which stands alone some 900 miles to the west, below Cuba.

Jamaica is the largest member of the new federation, with a population of more than 1,500,000. Trinidad and Tobago is the next biggest, with a total of nearly 750,000. Altogether, the islands muster some 3,000,000 inhabitants.

Delegates from the different islands have selected Trinidad as the capital of the federation, and it will be established near historic Port of Spain. A federal service is already being set up, and a governor-general will be appointed later this year. If all goes well, the first federal elections will be held in the first quarter of 1958.

This new federation does not bring complete independence. Defence and foreign affairs for instance will be reserved to the appointed governor-general. But it is intended to facilitate progress towards full independence, within the Commonwealth, at a future date.

In the meantime an interim government will serve the federation, which will have upper and lower houses of parliament in Trinidad, while the member islands retain their own legislature bodies.

Inspiration for the federation is economic development of the whole area, and Trinidad's booming economy is one of the main reasons for its choice as the capital.

Trinidad's oilfields give it the highest standard of living in the West Indies. Trinidad's sound economy may help to buttress the other islands, some of which still receive aid from the British treasury.

Scout Rally Gone

THE ANNUAL LACHUTE SCOUT RALLY is a thing of the past. When the Laurentian District split into two groups, the (new) Laurentian District and the Laurentian Foothills District, the rally was thrown out the window. No longer will the families of the scouts, guides, cubs and brownies accompany their children to spend the day watching them being put through their paces by the scouters and guiders who have spent the better part of the year teaching the youngsters a little something of the outdoors and of a better way to live. But this is progress. The groups have outgrown the Lachute Rally but then so was the old district outgrown. What was done? A split right down the middle to bring the district back into proportion. If now, they are back into proportion why can't the two districts hold their own rally.

Let's get all the groups in each district together into one rally as in the past. The scouts are looking for public relations, to get parents interested in scouting so that they might help out with the various organizations and serve on group committees. This is one way to get it says The Northern Beacon.

SMALL-TOWN PROBLEMS

"Another drunk-driving charge Chief, but this one says he knows ——— and ——— and that we can't do it to him."

• Geoff's Journal •

"Going, Going, Gone !"

Did you miss me? No, I didn't forget to write an article last week. As it happened, I was in no condition to do so. Sad to say, I was out cold. Oh, no! Not pie-eyed, thank you! I was merely recovering from an overdose of ether which, I assure you, I did not order. Well, it happened this way.

Having nothing better to do with my holidays — and not wanting Mr. Editor to get ahead of me — I contracted to have a piece of minor surgery undertaken, as soon as the holidays started. At least, I thought it was to be a minor affair, but as it turned out, the whole business became a three-act production.

My surgeon was the first to visit me after I reached the hospital and climbed into bed. We had a short chat about the forthcoming show and he informed me that the anaesthetist would be in to see me before too long. The surgeon had hardly got out of earshot when the anaesthetist blew in and sounded me out.

"No ether or chloroform," I stated flatly.

"Hmm?" he replied, looking up from the blood pressure cuff he had wrapped round my arm.

"I don't want any ether or chloroform, thank you. They make me deathly ill."

"Heavens no!" he answered cheerily. "Never use them now. They went out with the ark. Sodium pentathol. That's what we give you now. Wonderful stuff!"

He unstrapped the cuff, murmured something about seeing me with the dawn, and departed to look in on some other poor unfortunate. From then on, I was subjected to innumerable visits from various hospital types who wanted to prod, poke, medicate, and otherwise prepare me for the morrow. Then, at 9.30 p.m., they gave me my last bit of grub and left me to sleep. But at 10.30, they came breezing in again, woke me out of a sound sleep, and gave me a sleeping pill. Net result? Four hours sleep all blooming night.

Bright and early in the morning came a hypo to make me dopey and keep me tranquil so they could attack me with the sodium. And one hour later, they wheeled me up to the saw-bones division. There, I was greeted by my surgeon and the anaesthetist.

Old Joe — my name for the gas administrator — came at my left arm with a monstrous needle on the end of a large bottle of liquid. After several jabs he decided he wasn't getting anywhere there and moved over to the right arm. As he he so he instructed one of his nurses to give me a shot of oxygen. She complied forthwith and nearly sent me to dreamland with a healthy whiff of pure, unadulterated ether.

"Hold on!" I bellowed. "That oxygen is liberally laced with ether!"

Well, then the fun really started. Anaesthetist and nurse became embroiled in a heated argument during which I went out like a light. I was supposed to stay under only half an hour but, assisted by the lethal mixture of ether and pentathol, stayed unconscious for two solid hours and only came to sporadically throughout the day. It was six o'clock in the evening before I had shaken the ether out of my system sufficently to take any sort of lively interest in what was going on about me.

I raised somewhat of a rumpus about the business when I next saw my surgeon.

"Oh you missed the real fun," he replied. "The fight got really interesting, after you passed out. They were still chewing about it after the orderlies carted you out."

"That's not much comfort," I returned.

"Maybe not," the surgeon said, "but here's something I think you may find of comfort."

"And that is?"

"You can get up now and go home. Drop in and see me next Saturday. We'll do something about those stitches."

And as I saw the anaesthetist looming large at the end of the hall, I needed no urging to take up my odds and ends and get out as soon as possible.

Admires Principles Of Strong Party; Picking Candidate

St. Andrews East

The Editor,
The Lachute Watchman.
Dear Sir:

As an organizer for the Liberal Party for the last thirty-five years, I wish to express my view on the present political campaign in the County of Argenteuil and Two Mountains.

As a Liberal, I have always admired the democratic principles which have made the party so strong and have enabled our county to become what it is today, and I feel that we owe a great deal to the Honorable Liberal Prime Ministers we have had in the first half of this century.

It is to be regretted that certain groups are now trying to undo what our chiefs have always worked for by trying to monopolize the political situations in this constituency of Argenteuil and Two Mountains, and by so doing deprive the electors of one of the most sacred privileges — to choose themselves a candidate in an open and honestly organized convention.

They take for granted that the sitting member is automatically the candidate for the next election. If this is so, why should the other provinces be allowed to have conventions, while we, in Quebec, are being dictated who to vote for?

The only reason I see is that for the last two elections, electors have voted for certain candidates because they wanted to vote for the Hon. Louis St. Laurent, and had to vote for certain candidates who had been chosen by certain groups at either "fixed conventions" or closed meetings, similar to one held recently in this district.

This year I have joined a group of electors who are asking for an open meeting organized under the supervision of the Central Organization. I have always felt that meetings held behind closed doors show the weakness of the group that uses such a system and is against the democratic principles of the great Liberal Party.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

What a furtive character that man is. Someone else in the office has just whispered in his ear. A crafty look comes over his face, and he moves out the door sideways.

You can tell to look at him that he is up to no good. Doubtless that crony of his just told him some character-destroying gossip about a co-worker, and he is on his way to pass it where it will do the most harm.

Here he comes back again, sidewinding into his seat like a crab. He looks at people sideways, too. You can tell a man's nature by the way he walks and looks at others, I always say.

Consider this man. Deceit is written all over him. Now he's getting up and walking over to fetch something from another desk. Look, he can't even travel in a straight line across the room. He has to sidle along with his back to a wall.

When he is forced to travel in the open, he seems to dodge from pillar to pillar, like a rat scuttling down an alley in the shelter of a row of garbage cans.

Yes, it takes all kinds to make a world. But a shrewd observer can sort out the wrong 'uns and the phonies. Now look at the man. Someone else has whispered in his ear. He's a kind of a crooked, shifty grin, and edges away again.

What's he doing now? He has gone to the coat rack and put on his overcoat. But he isn't leaving. No, he's going back to his desk. That's funny. He almost walked straight, like a human being. He's sitting down.

Oh, I know his game. He wants to give the boss the idea how alert and busy he is, working at top speed and yet poised to go out on a hurry-up job at an instant's notice. Those cunning types are up to all kinds of tricks.

Don't you agree that his whole appearance betrays him as the kind of man who is not to be trusted?

If you do, you merely show your ignorance. You're wrong in your judgment of that man.

You see, that man is me. The information whispered in my ear was no office gossip, but the news that there was a large hole in the seat of my pants.

Now I'm wearing my overcoat to hide it, and wondering whether it can be patched when I get home.

It all goes to prove that you can't judge by appearances — or can you?

BULKY-LAS . . .

Bulky Las is an all-purpose feed to be used under all conditions. At this time of year when cow's appetites get finicky Bulky Las steps it up and helps hold up milk production, when your hay is running low it is used to replace it. 100 lbs. of Bulky Las replaces 200 lbs. hay. Also it more than replaces Beet Pulp as it is higher in proteins, has more proteins and ingredient variety than beet pulp and includes molasses.

In cases of Mastitis, Bulky Las should be fed alone until most of the inflamation has gone.

It has an unusual place in any feed mixture as it is very bulky and does a bang-up job of loosening up the mixture, for cows relish a loose bulky mixture much better than a solid one and they do a much better job of digesting it. You pay for whatever is not digested.

If your silage is running low, try Bulky Las. 100 lbs. Bulky Las replaces 500 lbs. silage and does a better job.

If you run into poor quality hay or straw, scatter some Bulky Las over it and see them lick it all up.

For cows going on test, Bulky Las will put on more flesh to help keep up her milk flow. For after all, if your cow has good flesh on her back she will attend to the milk pail below if she is any good. Nowhere can you get a feed with anywhere near as many advantages, for anywhere near as little money. Could we have your order today? We deliver.

MR. AND MRS. IRVING C. CLELAND, shown following their wedding in the Lachute United Church, on Saturday, April 20. The bride is the former Janet Edith Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley R. Smith, of Upper Lachute, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert T. Cleland, of St. Hermas. — Photo by Syd Drew

Wed Saturday in Lachute

At 4 o'clock on Saturday afternoon, the marriage of Janet Edith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Smith, of Lachute, to Irving Copeland Cleland, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Cleland, of St. Hermas, was solemnized at a double ring ceremony, in the United Church, Lachute, the Rev. Wilson Bridge officiating.

Miss C. Paul played the wedding music and Mrs. Leonard Armstrong sang during the signing of the register. White and pink gladioli were used to decorate the pews reserved for guests, being marked with bows of white ribbon.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was in a gown of imported Chantilly lace, with a fitted bodice and a wide V'd neckline outlined in tulle with long sleeves ending in points over her hands, and a bouffant skirt. Her veil of tulle illusion was held by a pleated tulle headdress encrusted with irredescent sequins and she carried a cascade bouquet of Easter lilies and white roses.

Mrs. Kenneth Riley, of Lachute, was matron of honor and Miss Lois Clark, of Lachute, Miss Betty Walker, of Pointe Claire, and Miss Helen Guioldy, of Montreal, as bridesmaids, were in bouffant frocks of nylon tulle over taffeta. The matron of honor was in nile green. The bridesmaids, in shell pink, wore matching bandeaux and carried semi-cascade bouquets of pink and white carnations.

Little Miss Janice Riley, niece of the bridegroom, as flower girl, wore a frock of pink Swiss dotted organdy with an overskirt of white organdy embroidered with pink flowers. She wore a bandeau of white and pink ruffled organdy and she carried a Colonial bouquet of pink and white carnations.

Clarence Smith, brother of the bride, acted as best man and the ushers were Ken Riley, of Lachute Stevan Blair, of St. Andrews and Ken McKenzie, of Montreal.

Mrs. Smith, the bride's mother wore a perriwinkle blue sheath frock of pure silk Samura with a portrait neckline. She wore a matching straw hat, draped with organza, pink gloves and black accessories. Pinned to her purse was a corsage of Joanna Hill roses.

Mrs. Cleland, mother of the bridegroom, was gowned in smoke blue crepe and wore pink hat and gloves, and a corsage of pink carnations.

The reception was held in the Brownsburg Legion Hall, where standards of pink and white gladioli were used as decorations.

Later Mr. and Mrs. Cleland left for points in Ontario and the United States, the bride travelling in a beige imported tweed box suit with a beige hat, brown accessories and a corsage bouquet of Tallisman roses.

Among the out-of-town guests were: S. E. Smith, grandfather of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Wight and son Edmund; Mr. and Mrs. Van Wight, all of Ville St. Laurent; Miss Grace Smith, of Quebec City; Mr. and Mrs. James Smith; Mrs. Bud Meyer and daughter Janet Sue, of Flint, Mich.; Mr. and Mrs. Basil Cleland and daughters Arleen and Carol; Mr. and Mrs. John King, and Mr. and Mrs. W. Boa, of Montreal; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Minard, of Liverpool, N.S.; Mrs. Arthur Beecroft, Dunnville, Ont.; Mr. and Mrs. Claude Young, of Bristol, Que.; Mr. and Mrs. Monty Cowan, of Saraguay, Que.; and Donald MacLennan.

Bank of Nova Scotia Plans New Construction

the Canadian Cancer Society.

The new branch premises in Lachute will have every amenity for customer convenience. Customers of the bank will be able to deposit their cash at any hour of the night through the service of a night depository which is being installed. By using such a service night depositors will ensure their cash is in safe-keeping and will avoid the necessity of having to go to the bank in the morning. Cash deposited overnight is credited to the customer's account in the morning before the bank doors are open to the public.

Mr. Higginson and his staff look forward to continuing to provide in their new premises the friendly banking service that residents of Lachute have come to associate with the Bank of Nova Scotia.

Last Member of Pioneer Family Passes In 84th Year

The Late Nathaniel Copeland

The last surviving member of an old pioneer family passed away in the person of Nathaniel Copeland on April 13, 1957. He was in his 84th year.

Born at Shrewsbury on February 1, 1874, he was the son of the late Anthony Copeland and his wife Ann McKinley. He married Letitia Graham on December 28, 1898, who predeacesd him March 31, 1915.

The early years of his life were spent in various parts of this district, later moving with his family to Montreal and living there for a number of years.

Shortly after the death of his wife, he returned to this vicinity and some time later settled in Dunany where he spent the remainder of his life.

His family of three daughters survive him. Violet (Mrs. V. Wood); Helena (Mrs. W. G. Horwood) and Hazel (Mrs. Frank Scott) also two sons-in-law and four grand-children.

The funeral took place from the MacKimmie Funeral Chapel, Lachute at 3 p.m. on Tuesday, April 16, conducted by the Rev. C. W. P. Baugh, of Lakefield.

Interment was in Lachute cemetery.

C.G.I.T. and Explorers Re-Affiliate With W.M.S.

With the April meeting, the United Church W.M.S. started on the second quarter of their 1957 program. The Worship Service was conducted by the President, Mrs. J. R. McOuat, on the theme, "Service is the Badge of Greatness."

Miss Cleary, Christian Citizenship Secretary, brought some items from the report of the Conventions of the Canadian and Ontario Temperance Federations.

The CGIT and Explorer Groups with their leaders, were present at this meeting for their Services of Re-Affiliation. The CGIT President, Miss Betty Rowe, led their service and the W.M.S. Vice-President for Younger Groups, Mrs. Riddell, represented the W.M.S. Miss Shirley Pollock presented a cheque from the C.G.I.T. Betty Rowe sang as a solo "I Heard the Voice of Jesus Say". She was accompanied by Jean Taylor. This group of girls is under the leadership of Mrs. Edmund McFaul and Mrs. Jas. McOuat.

The Explorers are led by Miss E. Stanton, assisted by Bertha Pollock. Chief Explorer, Donna Holt, led their service of Re-Affiliation and Nancy Dobbie presented their Treasure Chest. Both Groups complete a Mission Study Project in preparation for the Re-Affiliation with the W.M.S.

The Christian Stewardship Secretary, Mrs. Bridge, then took charge of the program and presented a fine skit entitled "Here Am I, Lord, Send Me." Those assisting Mrs. Bridge were Mrs. Giles, Mrs. McCaskill, Mrs. Lloyd, Mrs. Evans and Joan Evans. This little skit very effectively presented the challenge of Stewardship and the call to put first things first.

On the following Monday afternoon the Mission Band held their Easter Thank-Offering meeting. Under the guidance of their leaders, Mrs. G. Tabrett and Mrs. S. Bradshaw. The members conducted their Worship Service and gave a resume of their study book. Mr. Bridge told them a story.

After the service, members of the W.M.S. Executive served refreshments to the Mission Band and their guests.

Easter Sunday at Lachute United

One of the largest congregations for many years filled the Lachute United Church on Easter Sunday, when the floral decorations included Easter lilies, white carnations, pink hydrangea and pink and white gladioli.

The choir under the directorship of Ewart Callicot gave an effective rendering of the anthem "Thanks Be To God" by W. Smallwood; Miss Christina Paul was at the organ.

The Rev. Wilson Bridge, minister of the church, took for his sermon theme "If it were not so" in which he dealt with Christ's assurance of immortality for Christian believers. The "Forgotten Dream" will be the subject of next Sunday's sermon.

At the close of the service the flowers were distributed amongst the sick and aged members of the church.

FAST REMEDY

North Oyster, B.C. (CP) — When a grass fire set fire to his fence in this Vancouver Island centre, Fred Pearson stopped the fire by cutting a wide gap in the fence with his power saw.

E. S. GILES TO RECEIVE HONORARY DEGREE

It is always pleasing to hear of honors being given to former Lachute residents and this week we are happy to announce that Elmer S. Giles, who received his early education at our local Academy, later graduating from McGill, will be honored at McGill's Spring Convocation, May 29, with the Degree of Doctor of Laws.

Mr. Giles succeeded Dr. W. P. Percival as director of Protestant Education for the province and for some time has been a leader in secondary education in this sphere.

St. Simeon's Church Choir Presents Easter Service

A fitting climax to Easter Sunday was the Choral Service as presented by the St. Simeon's Church Choir.

The Rev. C. R. Lang portrayed the Easter Story with passages read from the Bible, followed in each case by an appropriate Anthem.

A solo and a duet by A. Parker and Mrs. W. Dawson were very effective.

The choir and Mrs. J. Pollock, organist, are to be commended for this Easter Service in music.

Brownsburg United Church Has Active Month Inducts New Members

During the past month, in addition to the regular meetings and services, the Junior W.A. sponsored a very successful tea.

The flowers at the altar on April 7 were in memory of the late Russel Martin, placed there by the family.

On April 14, thirteen new members were admitted to the church by letter and profession of faith; as well as the reception of the two new elders, namely Frank Steere and Roy Cruise, Sr.

On April 19, a Good Friday Service was held during the morning, conducted by the Rev. Bruce.

An exceptionally large attendance was in evidence on Easter Sunday. The church was beautifully decorated with flowers and special Easter music was rendered by the choir.

Plans for church alterations and additional building are now going forward.

"Tea and Sale of Home Cooking and fancy articles will be sponsored by the Senior W.A. (See coming events).

Highly Regarded Minister Passes In Ottawa Hospital

Late Rev. J. H. Hamilton

The Rev. James Henry Hamilton, assistant minister of Dominion United Church, Ottawa, recently passed away in Ottawa Civic Hospital following a brief illness. He was in his 72nd year.

The widely-known and highly regarded minister was born in Westville, Nova Scotia, November 11, 1885, son of the late William T. and Elizabeth (Marshall) Hamilton. He was educated at Pictou Academy and in 1908 graduated from Dalhousie University with the degree of Bachelor of Arts. That year he entered the Presbyterian College, Halifax (now Pine Hill Divinity Hall). Later he took a year in Theology at the United Free College, Glasgow, and was ordained to the ministry in 1912. In the fall of 1913 he married Flora Christine Rosborough of North Sydney, N.S.

He served at New Waterford, Cape Breton, from 1912 to 1918, and for a time supervised missionary work in the Sydney area. In 1931 he became minister of the Maxville, Ont., United congregation and while filling that charge he served as President of the Montreal and Ottawa Conference.

Those left to mourn are five sons, Hugh M., Edmonton; Chalmers J. Roxboro, Que.; Walter M., Valois Que.; Rev. R. B., Saint John, N.B.; Louis S., Nappan, N.S.; one daughter, Mrs. M. R. MacKenzie, Ottawa; three brothers, Marshall Hamilton, Blairmore, Alta.; Milton H. Hamilton, New Glasgow N.S., and the Rev. Howard H. Hamilton, Manotick, Ont. There are also 15 grandchildren. The Rev. W. B. Rosborough, of Upper Lachute, was a brother-in-law of the deceased and during Mr. Rosborough's pastorate in Lachute, the late Rev. J. H. Hamilton preached in the local church and at East Settlement on many occasions.

B'burg Hockey Organizers Plan Party for Players

After another successful hockey season under the coaching of Jim Murdoch, the Brownsburg Bombers will be rewarded for their fine efforts of good sportsmanship, at a banquet to be held in their honor at the Brownsburg Legion Hall, on Saturday, April 27, at 7.30 p.m.

Following the banquet, a dance will be held, at which the boys will be presented with tokens of appreciation. This festivity is being sponsored jointly by the Brownsburg Community Rink Association and the Canadian Legion, Brownsburg Branch.

The dance is scheduled for 9 p.m., and the music will be provided by the Caron Orchestra, of Hawkesbury. All relatives and friends of the players are cordially invited to attend this dance.

Detroit Takes Four Places Montreal Canadiens Two On All-Star First Team

Montreal — Players from the National Hockey League champion Detroit Red Wings earned four of the six positions on the 1956-57 National Hockey League All-Star Team. The other two positions were won by members of the Stanley Cup Champion Montreal Canadiens.

The First Team was selected as follows: Goal, Glenn Hall, Detroit; Defense, Doug Harvey, Canadiens and Red Kelly, Detroit; Centre, Jean Beliveau, Canadiens; Right Wing, Gordie Howe, Detroit and Left Wing, Ted Lindsay, Detroit.

Gordie Howe, Detroit's five-time National Hockey League scoring king, polled more votes than any player in garnering the right wing post. Howe polled 176 out of a possible 180 points and missed by four being a unanimous choice. Harvey was close behind with 172 points.

Each member of the First Team receives $1,000 from the NHL, while members of the Second Team pick up cheques for $500 each. The voting for the All-Star teams was carried out by a panel of hockey writers, broadcasters and telecasters from the six NHL cities.

Four of the six players on the First Team are repeaters from last year's All-Star sextet. Following is the Official 1956-57 National Hockey League First and Second All-Star Teams with the number of points compiled by each player in parenthesis:

First Team:

Glenn Hall, Detroit (121)	Goal
Doug Harvey, Canadiens (172)	Def.
Red Kelly, Detroit (98)	Defense
Jean Beliveau, Canadiens (141)	Centre
Gordie Howe, Detroit (176)	R-W
Ted Lindsay, Detroit (156)	L-W

Second Team:

Jacques Plante, Canadiens (85)	Goal
Fern Flaman, Boston (79)	Defense
Bill Gadsby, Rangers (77)	Defense
Eddie Litzenberger, Chicago (43)	Centre
Maurice Richard, Canadiens (69)	R-W
Real Chevrefils, Boston (55)	L-W

Points were awarded on the basis of five for a first choice, three for a second and one for a third. Each of the six NHL cities had three first choices, three seconds and three thirds. Balloting was divided into two halves — games up to and including those played on December 31, 1956 constituted the first half and games after December 31, the second half. A unanimous selection for each half would poll 90 points.

This was the first time Hall had been selected for the First Team. He moved up from the Second Team where he was picked a year ago. Harvey and Kelly are almost perennials on defense. The 1956-57 All-Star Team marked Harvey's sixth straight year on the First Team. Kelly has been a member of the First Team six times and the Second Team twice during the past eight years.

Beliveau repeated at centre ice for the third year in a row. Last season he was a unanimous choice. It was the eighth time Lindsay had been picked for the left wing position on the First Team. The veteran Detroiter has made the First Team eight times and the Second Team once in the last 10 years.

Gordie Howe took over his position at right wing on the First Squad after relinquishing the post to Maurice Richard for the last two seasons. Howe has been All-Star right winger on the First Team five times and three times on the No. 2 Team.

Jacques Plante, First Team goalie a year ago, dropped back to the Second Team this year. Fern Flaman, Boston's spirited captain, who was selected to a berth on the Second Team, held down similar honors in 1954-55. Bill Gadsby, other member of this year's Second Team defense combo, made the First Team a year ago.

Two-thirds of the Second Team's forward line are newcomers to All-Star aggregations. Centre Eddie Litzenberger of Chicago, top NHL rookie two years ago, is making his All-Star debut, as is Boston's Real Chevrefils on left wing. Maurice Richard, right winger on the Second Team, has been on either the First or Second Teams every year since 1943-44. The remarkable 35-year-old Montrealer has been selected to right wing on the First Team eight times and six times to the Second Team.

There was only one change on the First Team as selected at the half-way mark. Glenn Hall supplanted Terry Sawchuk who was goalie for the first half season's play. There were four changes on the final official Second Team as picked at the half-way mark. Glenn Hall was goalkeeper at the half-way mark. He moved up to the First Team and Jacques Plante took over as Second Team goalie. Boston's Doug Mohns, first half defenseman, had to move over for his teammate, Fern Flaman on the Second Team defense.

Average age of the players on the 1956-57 First Team is 28.6 years. Doug Harvey is the oldest player at 32. His teammate, Jean Beliveau, is the youngest at 25. Other ages are: Glenn Hall, 26; Red Kelly, 29; and Gordie Howe, 29.

ARTS, BOOKS, SHOWS AND ENTERTAINMENT

TV Version of "Carmen" On CBC Folio May First

CBC Folio is presenting an English-language television adaptation of Georges Bizet's gay and exciting opera, "Carmen", on the connected network 10.00 - 12 midnight, EDT, Wednesday, May 1. It will be the last CBC Folio presentation of the current season.

Starring in the giant production are American mezzo-soprano Gloria Lane as Carmen, Montreal's André Turp as Don Jose, Claire Gagnier of Three Rivers as Micaela, and Winnipeg's Morley Meredith as Escamillo.

For producer Franz Kraemer, the mammoth task of shaping the four-act, three-hour opera into two hours of television has meant long preparation and careful trimming.

Now, he says, the opera is shorter but none of the familiar arias will be missing.

With a cast of some 80 characters including 11 soloists, five featured dancers and a children's chorus of 14, Kraemer believes this production is the "biggest we've done yet."

It has called for three-weeks of rehearsals with long six-to-eight-hour stints daily.

Kraemer is staging the English version of "Carmen" by Card and Houston and the cast will be costumed in modern Spanish dress. In his special adaptation, Kraemer, a former native of Vienna who studied musical composition there, has initiated some pantomine sections which will be an innovation for opera fans.

Kraemer is using six cameras and two studios to contain the massive production. Usually only one studio and three cameras are used to cover a CBC Folio production.

Jean Beaudet will be conducting a CBC orchestra in a studio half a mile from the TV studios where the singers perform. The singers will hear the music through a loudspeaker system and Mr. Beaudet will conduct the orchestra with one eye on a monitor TV set in his studio.

Nicoletti designed the sets and costumes. Joey Harris is handling the choreography.

DEFENDS DOGS

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont. (CP) — Alderman Henry Lang proposed in city council that dogs be allowed to run at large in the winter months. He said the dogs are listed on the assessment rolls, but have no vote and no one to speak for them.

"A Touch of Greasepaint" Now Heard On Sundays

The radio show for all who love the stage, A Touch of Greasepaint with Alan King and Barry Morse, is getting a change of time, day and network. Effective April 28, the show will be heard at 4.00 p.m. Sundays on Trans-Canada, instead of Mondays at 10.00 on Dominion.

King and Morse will be opening their fifth series on CBC radio since the program was introduced in 1953. A novelty this season will be some programs on the theatre in Canada. "We have found a great deal of information that we will present from the 150 years of theatrical activity in this country," says King. The emcee-actors who plan and present the show, with occasional assistance from other players, have portrayed hundreds of characters in excerpts from plays heard in the past on A Touch of Greasepaint.

The programs on April 28th and May 5th will be about one of the great figures of the English theatre before the First Great War, Sir Herbert Beerbohm Tree. His portrayal of Lord Illingworth in A Woman of No Importance will be recalled on April 28th; the Oscar Wilde play was first produced in the 1880's. On May 5th there will be an excerpt from another famous role in his career — in Macaire by W. E. Henley and Robert Louis Stevenson.

A Children's Series on Indonesian Legends

A new series begins on May 1 in the period devoted to legends of various lands — this time, Legends of Indonesia. The 10 programs, prepared by Mrs. Edith Fowke, are based on a collection made by the renowned folk-lorist, Harold Courlander, and will also contain examples of Indonesian music drawn from ethnic records made in Java, Sumatra, and Bali, and from tape recordings made available by the Embassy of Indonesia in Ottawa. Listeners will hear such typical Indonesian instruments as the many-toned gongs, the "rebab" or two-stringed violin, the bamboo flute, and a wooden xylophone-like instrument called "gambang".

Otter Lake Music Centre Offers New Scholarships

Otter Lake Music Centre, which will be held this summer from June 30 to July 21 at Weir, in the Laurentians, about 70 miles from Montreal, is offering nine scholarships this year to its members. Six of these are awarded by the Centre, from funds set aside for this purpose, and the other three are donated.

One of the chief aims of the Centre is to re-instate the meaning of the word "amateur", which through careless usage at the present time often is meant to convey a somewhat deprecatory meaning. An amateur, for instance, is not necessarily one who performs less ably than the professional, nor should the term be applied only to those who like to listen to music, or to collect records. The amateur in music is simply a musician who, opposed to the professional, does not gain his living by musical activity.

With this definition in mind, the Centre is offering elementary and advanced courses to amateur and professional alike, and scholarships are not necessarily reserved for the latter.

This year the following scholarships are being offered by Otter Lake Music Centre:

Awarded by the Centre —

Family scholarship — to a family of four, all participating in the Centre's activities and coming for one or more weeks.

Violin scholarship — third week only.

'Cello scholarship — second and third weeks.

Tenor scholarship — first, second and third weeks.

Woodwind or brass instrument scholarship —

Willis Piano scholarship — (offered by Willis & Co. Ltd.) to a student of piano coming for two weeks.

Offered by anonymous donors — Viol scholarship — Composition scholarships — to 2 composers each coming for 2 weeks.

Applicants must send a complete record of musical training and activities, and two letters of recommendation from two competent persons. Those applying for a one-week scholarship may come to the Centre for more than one week, but the scholarship will only apply to the week specified in the above list.

Applications should be addressed to: The Secretary, Otter Lake Music Centre, P.O. Box 195, Outremont, Que.

JOLSON NOTES

By Irvin R. Warwick

Jolsong of the month: "April Showers":

"Though April showers
May come your way,
They bring the flowers
That bloom in May . . ."

sang Al Jolson at Al Jolson's 59th Street Theatre in October 1921 — and the song that was to become a Jolson trade-mark and one of the best-selling records of all time was on its way. This year those showers arrived at the very earliest opportunity, April 1 (in this district, anyway) and Al's recording was heard on the first April program of The Good Old Days (April 7th).

Some time ago The Al Jolson Memorial Club held an essay contest called "My Favorite Jolson Song and Why." Wrote Clarence Martin: " . . . My favorite Jolie song is April Showers. . . I have more separate recordings of this song than any other. I have a 1943 USO Christmas recording of Jolie singing it, with Mammy on the reverse side. I have the old and new Columbia recordings, the Decca, the Brunswick. . . From every movie that he ever sang it in . . . from every radio show that he sang it on from 1945 onward, that is, every Kraft Music Hall version and every guest appearance that he did of it.

Unlike many earlier songs, this one has a beautiful message. It tells in short that life will have its bad moments and that we should face up to them. It tells us that behind every bad thing that happens, good will emerge. It is just the kind of song that makes you forgive those people who have wronged you. It puts you in a forgiving nature, and even compels you to wish happiness to these same people. It has a beautiful melody, one you could dance and sing to all your life. The tempo creates the mood, but the way Jolie sang it, the mood was always the same — something on the same platform as Mammy, but in a less dramatical sense. It's too beautiful to be called dramatical."

Not dramatical, Clarence? Possibly. But I still think that one of the high points of any Jolson show was April Showers; and I can recall vividly the sensation I experienced upon hearing Norman Brooks in person say: "This next song I'm going to sing in a way you've never heard before," and then launch into April Showers in French. The effect was electrifying, spine-tingling. Maybe it was the Jolson-like voice — in any case we can all agree that April Showers in any language is a top-notch song.

Tips on Touring

By Carol Lane
Women's Travel Authority

Are you a flat tire when it comes to fixing flats? If you must answer 'yes' to this question, here are some tips which may keep your next tire-changing test from becoming a fiasco:

1. Make sure, before you leave home, that all your tire-changing equipment, such as jack, hand pump, lug wrench are safely in your car and situated so you can get them quickly.

2. Have your tires, and especially your spare, carefully checked before you leave home.

3. If a flat occurs, try to manoeuvre onto a level surface to change your tire.

4. Carefully block both wheels on the opposite end of the car from the flat.

5. Remove the spare tire from the trunk before elevating your car on the jack.

6. Place your jack at a slight angle opposite to the direction the car tends to slip as it is being raised.

7. Loosen the nuts while the wheel is only partially jacked and still resting on the ground. Then jack the car completely to remove the nuts and replace tire.

GOOD REASONS WHY YOU SEE
MORE FARGO TRUCKS on the road than ever before!
1. Forward Look styling. Clean, smooth-flowing lines, forward-thrusting fenders, modern hooded headlamps, wide-sweeping grille—all have a business-building look of flair and fleetness.
2. Super-rugged design. From built-to-take-it chrome-alloy springs to extra-heavy-duty frames to shot-peened rear axles, Fargos give you a valuable bonus in hauling ability.
3. Economical operation. Fargo V-8's and proved Sixes give you full power on regular gas. Exclusive full-opening alligator hood makes engine maintenance easier, faster, thriftier.
4. Top power. Fargo trucks lead in advanced-design V-8 power, from 180 to 232 h.p. Fargo Sixes, too, are leaders.
5. Driving ease. Shortest turning diameters (on many models) take you easily out of tight spots. Push-button driving is available on D100 (½-ton) models for start-stop hauling ease.
6. More comfort, safety. Wide, wide cab seat has fore-and-aft plus seat-back angle adjustment. Electric windshield wipers, safety door latches are standard equipment.

Women's Interests - - The Homemaker's Section

Teatime Topics

By Carolyn Willett,
Canadian Press Staff Writer
Written Specially for
The Lachute Watchman

Among all the other contentious subjects is the old sure-fire topic: what is the place of women?

Women, as well as men, often contend that a woman's place is in the home, and that she should be properly prepared for it.

These institutions offer a practical curriculum in four-year courses. Graduates emerge as qualified science teachers.

Happy Homes

But the primary aim of the institutes is domestic — to turn out home-makers and husband-pleasers. Certainly in that area the institutes, founded in 1892, have been successful. None of their graduates has been divorced.

However, to follow along with the institutes' assumptions that woman's place is in the home, what are her responsibilities apart from the routine household chores?

Well, there are thoughtful, well-informed women who have families as well as careers, who emphatically state that women shouldn't bask in self-satisfaction just because they're staying at home.

In other words, the housewife should be aware — and ready to act — when there are community decisions that could affect her family's well-being. For instance, are educational facilities, school buildings, teachers and the curriculum adequate to do a good job toward preparing a youngster for a place in the community?

Or are industrial or manufacturing interests eating away at playground areas, and are mothers supporting these playgrounds with the adult interest and mature leadership often needed?

Of course, there are endless ways in which the "just plain housewife" can be actively concerned about her family's welfare. For although homes — empty or inhabited all day — are important one-family centres, the problems and opportunities of the community and the world are always sitting on her doorstep.

Joyful Reunions

Reunions, after many years and many miles of separation, have been heartwarming items lately.

In Ottawa, white-haired Mrs. Peter Ivanska, of Windsor, Ont., met her blind daughter Gustine for the first time in 28 years. Gustine, 38 and blinded by an accident when she was two, was left in Poland when the family came to Canada in 1929.

Joseph Tondracka of Montreal was sure his wife was dead when he returned to Poland from a German internment camp after the Second World War. He came to Canada and last year a friend in Poland wrote to say his wife might be alive. This month 39-year-old Magdalena Tondracka arrived in Montreal.

Total number of medically certified illnesses reported by federal civil servants in 1954-55 was 63,096. This resulted in 945,179 days of illness or approximately eight days per year per employee.

Frozen Foods are Good As Well as Convenient

Marketing Service
Consumer Section,
Canada Dept. of Agriculture

Because Canadians are busy people, more and more of us are depending on frozen foods for saving time in meal planning. These colorful, fresh-tasting processed foods are a boon to bachelor cooks, career girls and homemakers, too, for they provide a wealth of convenience, variety and excellence not dreamed of by our grandmothers. Besides all this, frozen foods are nutritious, for the freezing process retains much of the original food value of the fresh foods.

The quality of frozen foods as they come to the table depends a great deal on the way the homemaker stores, prepares and cooks them. Frozen foods should be kept at a temperature of 0°F. or below; at higher temperatures or when subjected to fluctuating temperatures, frozen foods begin to deteriorate in quality and food value, even though they still may be frozen hard. The frozen food compartment of most refrigerators is suitable for only short periods of storage, one to three weeks, as the temperature in it may range from 18 to 30°F. However, some of the newer refrigerators have a separate control for the freezing compartment so that a temperature of 0°F. can be maintained, the same as in a home freezer.

When to thaw frozen foods and when not to thaw them, is sometimes a perplexing question. Actually, there is no set rule, except that when fruit, meat, etc., are to be thawed, it is best to leave them in the unopened package or wrapping until they are to be served or cooked. Where thawing or cooking directions are given on the package, these should be followed for best results.

Frozen vegetables have already been partially cooked before freezing so they do not require as long a cooking time as the fresh. Some frozen vegetables are very good when cooked in a covered saucepan over medium to low heat with only butter and seasonings added. This method takes a little longer than when water is added but the flavor of the cooked vegetable seems fuller and fresher.

Frozen fruits are easy to use. If they are to be served just as they come from the package, they will taste more like the fresh fruit if served icy cold, with a few ice crystals still in the fruit. Frozen fruits can be used in place of fresh fruits in many favorite recipes, if allowance is made for the sugar that was added before freezing. When frozen fruits like raspberries and strawberries are used for shortcake and similar desserts, the juice that's left will give a pretty pink color and delightful flavor to lemonade, limeade or other fruit drinks.

Sing a Spring Song with Citrus

In the spring a young woman's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of slimming down, doesn't it—in order, of course, to meet the conditions of the original rhyme! Nothing fits this good thought better than salads which furnish plenty of nutrients and few calories.

The grapefruit in season now are so sweet no one will ever miss sugar, and the Valencia oranges which Florida harvests this time of year are easy to section and seedless, so they're ideal for salads. Add cottage cheese, cool cucumber slices, scallions and radishes for color and crunchy eating, and a tangy low-calorie French dressing. Save your grapefruit shells to make pretty little flower holders.

Low-Calorie French Dressing

Blend ½ cup water and 2 teaspoons cornstarch; cook, stirring constantly until thickened. Remove from heat; add ½ cup Florida grapefruit juice, 2 tablespoons salad oil, ¾ teaspoon salt, 1½ teaspoons sugar, ½ teaspoon each paprika and dry mustard, ¼ teaspoon Tabasco and ¼ cup catsup; beat until smooth. Add peeled clove of garlic. Shake before using. YIELD: 1¼ cups.

Quebec Federation Home and School Holds Convention

Workshop sessions will be opened to all interested parents and teachers, when the 13th annual convention of the Quebec Federation of Home and School Associations meets at McGill University Physical Science Centre in Montreal, on May 3 and 4.

This year, two sessions will be devoted to parent education, a topic that proved widely appealing last year. Other workshops will include discussions on the educational facilities available to the retarded child, the use of audio-visual aids and a discussion and exhibition of children's art.

Guest of honor at the closing dinner being held Saturday evening in the Sheraton - Mount Royal Hotel will be John Rowat, chairman of the Protestant Committee of the Council of Education in the Province of Quebec. At that dinner also, the Buzzell Award for outstanding service in home and school work in the province will be presented.

The aspects of Quebec's educational system which differ from others in Canada will be discussed by a panel, at the reception being given by president Douglas Walkington on Friday evening, which is also open to all parents and teachers in the province.

Q.W.I. President To Be Interviewed Tomorrow

Mrs. G. D. Harvey, President, Quebec Women's Institutes, will be interviewed on the program, "Across the Fence", over Channel 3, Burlington, Vt., Friday, May 3, at noon.

This interview is being arranged by Mrs. K. Kristiansson, TV Specialist, Extension Service in Agriculture and Home Economics for Vermont. It will feature the 60th anniversary of the Women's Institutes, from its small beginning at Stoney Creek in February, 1897, to the globe-encircling movement it now is.

Mrs. N. Creller, President, Missisquoi County Women's Institute, where the first Quebec Institute was formed, will accompany Mrs. Harvey and have a spot on the program.

Careless use of electricity causes more than 125 fires a week in Canada according to official insurance figures. Annual cost of such fires is figured at $8,000,000.

Fashions

Gray rayon crepe of fine quality is the fabric used for this good-looking dress and jacket fashioned to the new fashion trend. The dress is a softened sheath, the jacket a double-breasted blouson, embellished with eight brass buttons. Note the interesting treatment of the lapels.

Plan a Smartly Designed Floor In Modern Rooms

If you are planning a modern room, why not plan a modern floor to go with it — a floor that will be easily maintained and which will require no rug? Floors of this type created with man-made materials are easily laid, can be made distinctive with interesting designs and require no upkeep other than periodic applications of wax. With use of one of the new light-weight electric polishers, a waxing job requires no more effort than running a vacuum cleaner. These modern flooring materials — vinyl, rubber and asphalt tiles, as well as other types of synthetic floorings— are available now in such a wide range of colors that floors as decorative as the most beautifully patterned rug can be created at small cost. One of the most appealing virtues of such floors is that they are permanent and the cost of maintenance is negligible.

Geometric designs are easy to live with and are particularly good for a modern setting. Such designs may be created as a border around the edge of the floor, as a centre or in an overall pattern. For a dining room there is no more attractive pattern than a Greek key design as a border, with a plain centre in a contrasting color, giving the effect of a rug without the necessity of the upkeep a rug entails.

In more informal rooms, such as playrooms or for a foyer, one might be more imaginative and use an unconventional design depicting the hobby of the head of the house or something with a personal family significance. These new types of flooring are also being used in the bedrooms and with the addition of one or two small area rugs beside the beds and perhaps as an island for lounge chairs, are proving practical and livable.

It is wiser to use the high style colors in the playrooms and foyers and the more subdued hues in those areas where the family will spend the greater part of the time.

Basic Rules Explained for Care of Paint Brushes

Paint brush styles have been changed and modified over the years until today there is literally a brush for every painting job. Most home owners, in fact, acquire a "wardrobe" of brushes over a period of time. Usually the collection is not so much a matter of predetermination as sudden need, following an impulse to re-decorate. Many of today's brushes have nylon bristles, first developed because of the war-time shortage of natural hog bristles but whichever the type there are some basic rules that should be kept in mind to get the best wear out of the brush.

To clean a nylon-bristled brush you use the same technique as with other types of bristles, but you are likely to find that the nylon is easier to clean. If you're using your paint brush daily for a short period of time, use this method of daily care. After pouring a little thinner on the brush, work out the paint on a newspaper or piece of board. Use a blunt stick or paint scraper to squeeze out the paint. Suspend the brush in thinner overnight, taking care that the bristle ends do not rest on the bottom of the can. Work out the thinner before painting again.

If you're a home owner finished with the spring paint-up job, you'll need a more thorough method of cleaning before you put your brushes away for months. For thorough cleaning, first rinse in a solvent. Then wash the brush in soap and water. Rinse thoroughly with clean water. Comb the brush and then wrap in paper — preferably waxed — and dry.

If you find that your nylon bristled brush has hardened, boil it in a 15 percent solution of trisodium phosphate. Rinse and wash with soap and water. Then rinse again, comb and wrap.

You'll find that paint job easier and your brushes lasting longer when you take good care of the brushes along the way.

Family Musician

(Copyright) — By NANCY CLEAVER —

"In sweet music is such art; Killing care and grief of heart."
— Shakespeare

The creation of music gives a great many people pleasure. Longfellow called it "The universal language of mankind." Music knows no barriers of race or speech — happy and fortunate is the child who has the opportunity to learn to play a musical instrument, and who finds satisfaction and joy in this art!

Many outstanding music teachers are agreed that the piano is an excellent choice for musical lessons for a child. Harmony and melody can be made on the piano. Before very long a student has the satisfaction of playing a tune by himself. It is an excellent foundation for learning to play other instruments later in life.

There is a wide choice of music for advanced students to meet every taste or mood. Piano music can add greatly to enjoyment in the home without another musical instrument. At the time an able pianist may encourage family participation in singing of solos, duets, or as a group and may be the centre around which a family orchestra is built.

Music teachers often make some practical suggestions to parents of a child learning to play the piano. Over and over again they stress the importance of never forcing a child either to listen to or participate in music. This pressure produces a spirit of rebellion which destroys the attitude necessary for real music. They suggest that a child of average musical ability should start piano lessons between eight and ten, because at that age he has sufficient co-ordination of mind, eye, ear and hand.

The piano itself should be as good a piano as the family can afford and should be kept in tune. It should be placed in the most pleasant place in the room, in a position where the lighting is good so that the notes can be read without eye strain — but it should not be beside a window where a child's interest will be constantly distracted by happenings he can see through the pane.

A child should have a regular period for practice which is not too long for sustained concentration. Twenty minutes to half an hour is long enough for most juniors. The practice period should not interfere with the regular play time.

How can a mother expect Junior to practice wholeheartedly if his pals are out enjoying a game of baseball? A child who is too tired cannot learn music (or anything else)! Practising should never be used as a punishment — if it is, music will soon become not only a burden, but actually hated, by a child. Money bribes for practising for a definite length of time are not a good plan. But a natural reward for acquiring a certain degree of proficiency would be to attend a good concert.

Playing the piano, or any other instrument, develops habits of regular concentration, technical skill and the imagination. It is an emotional outlet.

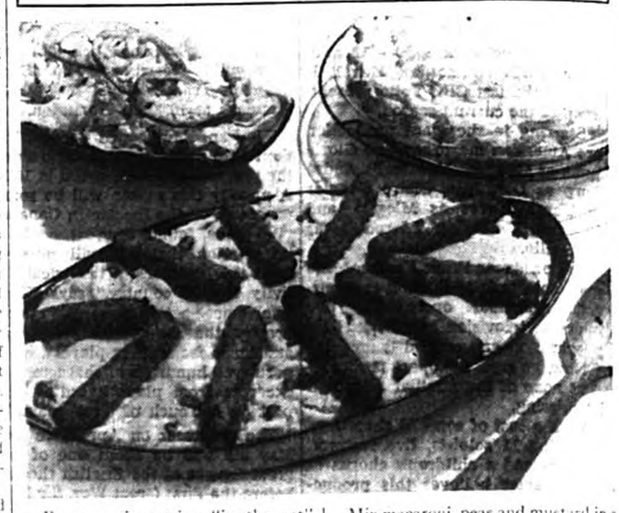

A boy or girl who plays well, should be given the opportunity to play occasionally for a visitor or guest, and to play at a concert. This plan promotes in a child a sense of accomplishment and adds greatly to the popularity of an adolescent or adult with a group. Entrance in a class in a Musical Festival is another excellent activity.

Radio and TV musical artists are admired by boys and girls. Listening is important — but so is the skill to create one's own music. Encourage the young musician in your family!

ARTISTRY IN THE KITCHEN

Everyone is getting "in the act", today, turning into an artist—from presidents, grandmothers and junior miss. The cook gets her chance when she dreams up gorgeous new ways to bedeck plain everyday "vittles".

Oh, yes indeed, foods in cans and frozen packages, are dear to mother's heart. But how easy it is to beautify them with her own glamour touches. Every dish "gets the treatment". And the extra colourful garnishes deserve special attention in the Spring to perk up lagging appetites.

Turn the artistic cook loose with cans of macaroni in cheese sauce. Zip, zip . . . and she's beautified them with snips of cheese, golden fish sticks and green nuggets of peas. Or take the case of scrambled eggs. Milady tops them with spaghetti with tomato sauce, and crowns the whole with a sprinkling of grated cheese and maybe chopped ripe olives. No wonder menfolk rave about her way with a range when she offers them such "artistic" suppers as these:

MACARONI 'N FISH STICK SWIRL

2 cans (15 ounce size) macaroni with cheese sauce
2 cups cooked peas
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
1 package frozen fish sticks
8-10 strips sharp process cheese

Mix macaroni, peas and mustard in a shallow baking dish. Arrange fish sticks and cheese strips alternately on top. Bake in moderate oven (375°F.) about 25 minutes. 4 or 5 servings.

DECORATE SOUP FOR SPRING

Decorate your soup with Spring trimmings appropriate to the season, either cream of asparagus or green pea soup lend bright colours. For decoration, float blossom-like slices of orange carrot (notched as daisies) on top. Then slices of raw radish or cucumber are fetching too. Happily these also fit the lenten need for meatless meals.

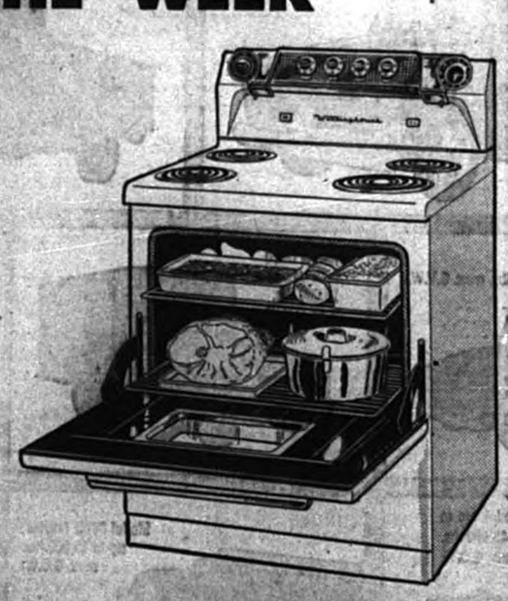

MATE OYSTER AND POTATO SOUPS

Perfect partners in the soup kettle are frozen oyster stew and potato soup. So suitable for Lent. Slide a can of each soup into a pan, pour in 1½ cans milk. Add 2 cups peas or whole kernel corn (or other vegetable). Heat and stir to blend. Oh, what a beauty of a chowder. Ladle into bowls and pass grated cheese. Makes 3 or 4 servings.

District Man Wed In Montreal Church

McCullough - Havill

The marriage of Marilyn Alice, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Havill, to Mr. Richard Lachlan McCullough, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eric R. McCullough, of Morin Heights, took place on Saturday afternoon at four o'clock in Rosedale United Church, the Rev. George Dewey, D.D., officiating. Mr. Hudson played the wedding music and Mr. Val Smiley sang during the signing of the register. Easter lilies arranged with greenery were used to decorate.

The bride, who was given away by her father, was in a gown of poult de faille, fashioned with a fitted bodice, having a portrait neckline edged with Swiss lace, and short sleeves, and a very full skirt having a bustle effect at the back ending in a slight train. Her short veil of tulle illusion was held by a coronet of lace and she carried a bouquet of pink Sweetheart roses and stephanotis.

Miss Mildred Havill, as maid of honor, and Miss Heather McCullough, the bridegrom's sister as bridesmaid, were in bouffant frocks of silk taffeta and Guipure lace; Miss Havill being in aqua, and Miss McCullough in pink. They wore matching bandeaux and carried bouquets of pink and aqua carnations.

Mr. Bill Silver acted as best man for Mr. McCullough, and the ushers were Mr. John Goodfellow, Mr. Eric McCullough, brother of the bridegroom, and Mr. Walter Campbell.

Mrs. Havill, the bride's mother, was in a gown of grey silk organza. She wore a white hat and a corsage bouquet of white carnations.

Mrs. McCullough, mother of the bridegroom, wore a gown of navy blue silk, with a pink hat and a corsage bouquet of pink carnations.

The reception was held at the Prince Albert Hall, Westmount.

Later, Mr. and Mrs. McCullough left for the Southern United States, the bride travelling in a sheath frock of lilac linen, and wearing a white hat, black patent leather accessories, and a corsage bouquet of white carnations.

Among those from Morin Heights district who attended the wedding were: Mr. and Mrs. Eric McCullough, Mrs. Mary Campbell, Mayor and Mrs. C. D. Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Dey, the Misses Heather McCullough, Vivian Kirkpatrick and Beverley Bell, also Messrs. Keith Wilson, John Goodfellow and Johnny Gillingham.

Avoid Both Stress and Fat To Escape Heart Disease

Fat and stresses are a deadly pair in bringing on heart disease, today's No. 1 killer with a daily toll of 1,000 persons of all ages. But research is finding "New Weapons Against Heart Disease," title of an article by Francis and Katharine Drake in Reader's Digest for May.

Analysis of blood-fat is an important new tool that the authors cite. From such analysis, overweight has been found only partly the cause of fat's damaging effect on the heart. More important is faulty fat metabolism. When the fat-burning process in the body is defective, tiny amounts of fat stay on the inside of arteries. Diseased arteries are narrowed by tiny peaks containing calcified fat and partially cut off the blood flow. Angina pains warn that this is happening and should be respected and acted on, says the article.

Emotional pressure and tension make a second serious villain causing heart disease, the authors emphasize. Research shows that people may be able to absorb fat or stress without inducing heart trouble — but not both together. Evidence includes the fact that the British suffered severe wartime stress, yet their coronary death rate actually fell. The possible reason: their fat intake was stringently rationed.

Before real prevention of heart disease can be achieved, research has to establish the influences of race, inheritance, environment, sex, nervous control and bodily exertion. But facts already known enable people to cut down the effects of two main enemies of the heart — fat and stress.

In this jittery age, it is harder to avoid stress than fats, the authors admit. But a coronary patient must cut down both, or invite disaster. He must teach himself how to relax, how to "take it easy" at work and recreation.

By practicing equanimity, taking regular exercise and re-arranging personal life, conorary patients can continue active and even heavily responsible duty.

PREFERS BONNET WITHOUT FRILLS

When a young lady has to outfit her dog as well as herself with an Easter bonnet, she has a problem. Take this perky number Eileen Sue Cornella of Brooklyn, N.Y., chose for her pet boxer, Brandy. Sue thought it was cute, but obviously Brandy didn't like it at all.

Brandy obviously is settling for the best of a bunch of bad choices. The hat at least looks a bit like a masculine derby, and that's better than the frilly chapeau. So while Eileen shows him how nice he looks for the Eastern parade, Brandy just looks resigned to it all.
