Local Home and School Meeting Picks Nominating Committee; Air Problems

A representative group attended the opening Home and School meeting on Thursday night in the Lachute High School music room. L.H.S. principal F. H. J. Royal, who occupied the chair, expressed his appreciation to all those who had come and then invited Mrs. Alex Vessie to introduce the guest speaker, Mrs. C. E. Woolgar, of Rosemere — the first lady president of the Quebec Home and School Association.

Mrs. Woolgar fully outlined reasons for an organization such as this, after which she pointed out that Home and School meetings were first held in the United States, while the first province in Canada to adopt the organization was British Columbia. Home and School was founded in Quebec in 1943, and at present 23,000 families belong to the 161 associations.

The guest speaker brought to the attention of the group the fact that a School Board election is being held within a week and that parents must consider it their duty to nominate worthy members. She also outlined the various committees that can form an association namely, Program, Membership, and Social, although many others can be worked in, she stated that she feels these three can form a solid basis.

Mrs. Woolgar drew the group's attention to the possibility of letting the children hear radio programs which exist three school term months, from which much can be learned. She emphasized that co-operation and planning between teachers and parents is most important, and stated that by enlisting help from each other, the association can be made sound.

Among questions raised was one concerning the airing of "private beefs" about teachers and a child's school work; Mrs. Woolgar answered by stating that the purpose of a Home and School Association was to promote better understanding between teachers and parents, also to educate the parents, and to iron out any difficulties. However, she said, that "private beefs" must not be brought to meetings.

Mrs. Gordon Dobbie thanked Mrs. Woolgar for coming to conduct this preparatory meeting, and expressed the feeling that if the people present could adopt the enthusiasm and interest shown by the guest, the success of the Lachute Home and School Association would be assured.

A nominating committee was then formed, consisting of Alex Vessie, Mrs. Stewart Jones, Mrs. James McOuat, and Mr. Royal. At the organization meeting scheduled for late September of this year, a slate of officers will be presented.

Coffee was served in the Household Science room at the close of the meeting.

Members Discuss Various Departments Of Community Park Sponsored by Club

G. King Amos, Principal of the Brownsburg High School, last Thursday evening assumed the presidency of the Brownsburg-Lachute Rotary Club, following his recent election. A member of the local club for more than six years, he replaces retiring president Keith Hickson.

Also taking over in their new positions for the coming year are Syd Patterson, vice-president; Ron Barnett, secretary; Kilgour Hardy, treasurer and directors Berry Bourne, George McGibbon, Dudley Boal and Gordon Tabrett. Treasurer Hardy replaced Bernard Taillefer, elected to the office in March, who is leaving this area.

President King Amos

Doug Silverson, well-known as a public speaker throughout the United States, was in attendance at the meeting and addressed the membership. In introducing Mr. Silverson, retiring president Hickson pointed out that it was he who was responsible for forming the Brownsburg Club, Mr. Silverson at that time being president of the Hawkesbury Rotary Club.

In a few short remarks, Mr. Silverson congratulated the Club on its growth and achievements and made particular mention of District Governor Linton W. Armstrong, and the honor which his position brings.

It was announced that Joe Fletcher had been appointed Sunday Supervisor at the Rotary Park and that no one would be allowed in the park after 9 p.m. Discussion followed on the leasing of the canteen facilities and a decision was left to an appointed committee. Rotarian Dudley Boal pointed out that the Brownsburg Branch of the Canadian Red Cross was again conducting the swimming classes and that some 85 children had applied for the free lessons the first night, adding that a qualified instructor was needed.

Retiring President Keith Hickson, in his closing remarks, thanked all members of the club for the support given him during the year, the members of the executive in particular.

"We had many dreams in the early stages — a good many of which materialized and a few which fell along the wayside. We can be pleased with our accomplishments. We should never be discouraged by those which did not materialize. Every Board of Directors should dream big. The bigger the dreams, the greater the enthusiasm, the more worthwhile the accomplishments. We should always bite off more than we can chew, for this is the way to test our mettle as a Club.

I would personally like to congratulate Governor Linton as his term approaches, and to pledge him my support, and I would appeal to the club and to a man to do likewise. We know that our club will undoubtedly be judged by Linton this year, but I wonder how many of us realize that Linton may also be judged by our club. Let us lead the district with our Governor this coming year. I feel the two best ways that we can do this, are first to have, not to try for, 100% attendance at every meeting this coming year and be at the top of the list in that department as an example to the other clubs in the district. This is not a large order at all, when we consider that some of our members have 100% attendance all the time anyway, without the need of such a special incentive. We should remember that in our attendance lies our unity and in our unity lies our strength. Secondly, we should accompany Linton on his visits as often as possible.

Treasurer Fred tells us that our financial situation is in good condition. In our Community Fund we have a balance of $1,893.58, while the General Fund balance is $433.43. I give these figures solely for the purpose of appraising the membership of them, but I take no great pride in them. As individuals it is great to have money in the bank, but as Rotarians it is the furthest from our aims. There is much to be done in our community, and with these funds we can certainly do a great deal. I don't think I will be giving away any secrets if I say that I know our incoming directorate has already made plans to cut into our surplus, and I heartily endorse the idea."

In taking over the duties as President, Rotarian Amos stated that he had been elected president of a number of organizations during his years, but could not remember when he was more pleased than when elected president of the Brownsburg-Lachute Rotary Club. He expressed his thanks to the outgoing officers for their good work and in closing, gave a short outline of his plans for the coming year.

Prior to the close of the meeting, Past-President Sid Stillwell presented retiring President Hickson with his Past-President's pin.

Two Huberdeau Boys Recently Drowned As Rouge River Increases Its Death Toll

Two youths, Amee Piché, 11-year-old son of Mrs. Joseph Piché, and Robert Proulx, nine-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Lorenzo Proulx, both of Huberdeau, were the victims of drowning on Monday, June 24, at approximately 2.30 p.m.

It is believed that one of the boys fell into the water while playing on the logs and rocks near the shore line of the Rouge River; when his companion made an attempt to rescue him they both drowned.

The bodies were discovered the following afternoon at about four o'clock in the middle of the river in some 30 feet of water, by Brosseau and Gaston Morris, Aimé Richer, Florian Drouin, and Albert Finerty. Their deaths were declared accidental by District Coroner Dr. Jules Lafleur.

The investigation was made by Det. Arthur Crevier, and Traffic Officers Lawrence Cruise and Roger Massie.

Plan July 27 C.I.P. Forestry Farm Field Day at Harrington

The C.I.P. "Wood Suppliers Field Day" will take place rain or shine at the Harrington Forestry Farm on July 27, at 1.30 p.m., reports Manny Wilson, resident manager in the current edition of "Woods Notes."

Among events promised is the power saw competition beginning early in the afternoon and continuing until such time as everyone wishing to compete has had an opportunity to do so — the exact rules of the contest will be made known later, although it is known now that logs to be cut will be spruce, approximately 12" in diameter. Prizes for this event will be as follows: 1—$30, 2—$20, 3—$10.

A leaf-identification contest will be held for those interested in testing their woodsman's skill — it is felt that the Tree Farmers should do well in this.

It is hoped by organizers of the Field Day that a good number will register for the old-time fiddlers competition; the first prize for this contest will be $25 while the runner-up will receive $10. The services of a well-known radio or television personality are being sought to judge this event.

Contestants for either the power saw competition or the fiddlers contest may submit their entries at the Scaling Office in Hawkesbury or at the Grenville Office. They also may be sponsored — that is to say, if any reader knows of someone who is adept with the power saw or fiddle he may enter his name and bring it along to "The Farm."

Equipment ranging from bush tools and safety-toe logging boots, to log-loaders and crawler tractors will be displayed throughout the afternoon.

Camp-style beans will be served starting at 4 p.m., early enough to allow everyone to eat and make it home in time for milking.

Local School Board Nominations Close

Monday, July 8 will mark the closing date of nomination submissions for the two positions left open on the Lachute Protestant School Board, the seats being left vacant by the resignations of Ted Smith and Doug MacKimmie.

The meeting of the Board will be held at 10 a.m. Tuesday in the Lachute High School and citizens are invited to attend. Members will be mainly concerned with the acceptance of nominations; if more than two names are submitted for each position, an election will be held the following Tuesday, July 15.

To be eligible one must be a property owner in the Municipality of Lachute, the Township of Chatham, or the Parish of St. Jerusalem. A nomination list for each candidate must contain a minimum of five names.

Ends 44-Years' CPR Service

W. A. Cooper, left, after 44 years service, receives farewell handshake from T. P. James, manager CPR sleeping, dining and parlor car department, as he prepares to leave the "Dominion" on arrival at Windsor Station Tuesday morning. Mr. Cooper has been with the CPR sleeping and dining car department since 1913 when he immigrated from England. He plans to spend his retirement gardening and following his photography hobby at his home here in Lachute. — CPR Photo

W. A. Cooper, dining car steward on the Canadian Pacific trains, the "Canadian" and "Dominion", ended 44 years of service Tuesday, when the "Dominion" arrived at Montreal's Windsor Station from Vancouver.

On hand to bid farewell was T. P. James, manager of the sleeping, dining and parlor car department and several retired members of the department who had worked with Mr. Cooper. Robert H. Douglas, one of the first conductors to work with Mr. Cooper came from Winnipeg to be present.

Mr. Cooper was born in Norfolk, England, and came to Canada in 1913 as a pantryman with the CPR. Since that time he has travelled nearly 30,000 miles each month and has catered to millions of travellers. "The greatest improvement since I started with the CPR," he said, "was the coming of refrigeration."

He also claims that more people use the dining car service on trains nowadays. "Everyone seems to have plenty of money," he said, "a sharp contrast to my early days when only the upper class used the dining cars."

As to what he intends to do now, Mr. Cooper said "I have my hobbies to keep me busy. I do color photography and also make astronomical telescopes." He picked up the latter from reading magazines. "And of course I am also an ardent gardener." He resides in Lachute with his wife.

Mr. Cooper's railroad career was interrupted twice by world wars. He served overseas during both World War I and World War II. He was a member of the 13th Battallion of the Black Watch, The Royal Air Force and the Royal Montreal Regiment. He was awarded the D.C.M. for his services.

"I have no regrets, and would do the same thing over again if I had my life to live over," he said as he picked up his well worn overnight bag, took one last long look at the dining car, and walked off the "Dominion".

Minor Wind Damage Reported In Most District Communities

Numerous small and intermittant breaks in the local power lines and telephone wires resulted mainly from a high velocity of winds, which blew steadily from Friday to Monday night, the whole of the Dominion Day holiday week-end, report local officials of the Bell Telephone Company and the Gatineau Power Company.

Rod Carreau, manager of the Gatineau Power Company reported that 119 trouble calls were answered, with most of the damage occurring in the rural districts. Nine crews worked steadily from early Saturday morning to Sunday night with one break Sunday morning (3-7 o'clock), at which time one crew remained on call.

Mr. Carreau stated nine poles were broken, with 30 trees pulling down power lines, while 24 wire breaks resulted from fallen branches.

The Bell Telephone Company also operated around the clock, with Dick Pearson, local manager, reporting that all trouble had been cleared by Tuesday morning.

Nothing spectacular occurred, it was reported, although the long distance line between Montreal and Lachute was broken three times by trees falling through the wires within a mile of each other in the St. Eustache area. These breaks happened at 10 a.m. Saturday (service not being restored until 7.30 p.m.), at 8 p.m. that same night, and then early Sunday morning.

A complete power interruption occurred in Lachute on Saturday at 7.25 a.m., the cause being a maple tree which fell on the wires just outside the town limits on the St. Jerome highway. Power was restored within 20 minutes.

The town also experienced low voltage on Sunday from noon to 12.45, at which time trouble was on the main transmission line.

Power was cut off in Brownsburg on Saturday evening for 33 minutes, when a tree dropped on the wires near Calumet. The only instance of lightening affecting power took place in Brownsburg, however it was restored within a short period.

In the outlying area of Louisa a crew of volunteers patrolled the lake, clearing roads of fallen trees and reporting trouble locations.

However, it was reported by both companies that most of the breaks were small with no serious damage resulting.

A considerable number of reports of roads having been blocked by falling trees were received, damage result being slight, other than that reported by the two local service companies.

High winds took their toll of boats on local waters, and a considerable amount of damage was reported as having occurred on Lake Louisa where the rolling waves on the wind-swept lake smashed wharves, stone walls, and in one case a large section of the lawn behind it, and swamped boats, causing considerable damage in some cases.

Several residents were rudely awakened by fellow cottagers, only to find that it was not a joke, but that wet nightshirt or not, the boat and motor had to be saved before it was smashed.

Several Injured As Driver Loses Control of Car

Serious injuries were sustained on Sunday afternoon when Gaston Chenier, 22, of St. Jacques Street, Ville St. Marie, lost control of the wheel of his car on a curve near Stonefield, a short distance south of Cushing.

The driver is suffering from shock, while the two passengers, Réal Bourgon, 28, of St. Isadore, and Yvon Bertrand, 22, of Plantagenet are being treated in Hawkesbury hospitals for a broken back and severe lacerations to the head, respectively.

Traffic Officer Lawrence Cruise investigated.

Midway Trouble

IN OUR JUNE 20 issue of The Lachute Watchman, mention was made of numerous local and distant fair-goers being "taken" by the operators of the local midway. It aroused a few remarks from local citizenry but nothing from the Argenteuil Agricultural Society through whom the midway at the local fair is engaged.

We have no intention of letting the matter drop, as what happened in the neighboring City of St. Jerome last week, could very well occur here next year, and it could have easily happened just a few weeks ago. Quoting from L'Avenir du Nord, a St. Jerome weekly, we find the following remarks concerning the St. Jerome's "Educational" Exposition.

"The closing day of the 'Educational' exposition terminated Monday evening with a general battle. Four cars of Provincial Police were despatched to the grounds in an attempt to restore order, and several shots were fired. A young man from St. Jerome, a Mr. Filion, was struck with an iron bar and is in a critical state in hospital; a woman was struck and several were royally 'rolled'. The name of the 'Educational' exposition does not go with these skirmishes. It is time to clean the midways of those who are nothing but a gang of racketeers. And to think that the City of St. Jerome gave such a substantial grant to encourage this 'Educational Exposition'."

The above translated editorial speaks for itself and we heartily endorse the stand taken by our fellow weekly. There is no reason why a gang of these individuals can come into a town and rob it clean. It has got to be stopped locally before the Lachute Spring Fair is ruined.

There are other ways of operating a midway, and if the Provincial authorities won't clean-up those now in existence, we suggest that the Argenteuil Agricultural Society follow the precedent set in several Maritime communities where the midway is operated by local service clubs and organizations. Action of some sort is needed fast. Next year may be too late.

Community Servant

IN THE HURRICANE which lashed its last convulsions in these parts, and in other storms of recent memory, many of us have had reason to be grateful to the crews who labored dangerously, both day and night, to restore our interrupted power and telephone services.

With the lake fraternity over the holiday week-end we were personally aware of the havoc caused by high wind and torrential rain. We had some idea, particularly, of the demands placed upon the Gatineau Power Company all over this section, and we realize how expeditiously the company repaired the damage.

There are few consumers, perhaps, awdre of the many trucks, the personnel, and the radio intercommunication system maintained to keep the local power lines operating. Or of the continuous replacing and adding of installations to meet the increasing loads on the electricity supply.

Some may recall, a few years ago, when Gatineau came under criticism for the frequent interruptions and slow response to restore its services. Those days are happily past. Through systematic public relations, the company has fostered a cordial understanding with the public, which makes for co-operation and better service; while the progressive long-term policy of this company is backed by efficient district managers with all the required man-power, know-how and equipment.

This week comes a helpful little booklet symbolizing Gatineau's cheery chore-boy, "Reddy Kilowatt". This bilingual publication, now being circulated to 85,000 customers, is aimed to create a better understanding of the essential service supplied by this enterprise. While paying a timely tribute to the spirit and progress of Gatineau Power, we are also happy to commend to all readers the perusal of this brochure on "Reddy Kilowatt, Your Electric Servant."

Safe Swimming Habits

EVERY YEAR, over 1,000 persons drown in Canada. The Health League of Canada points out that many of these victims could be brought back to life again through the proper knowledge and application of artificial respiration in addition to observing swimming safety rules.

In the files of the Health League are many actual cases of people who have been given up for dead, after being under-water for as long as half an hour, and who show no signs of life — no heart beat, no breathing, no eye reflex — and who have been revived after hours of applying artificial respiration.

A cardinal rule in the application of artificial respiration is that these revival efforts should not be ceased for at least four hours — or until rigor mortis sets in. Only too frequently artificial respiration is stopped after a short period, when a longer application may have meant another life saved.

In some cases, a victim may really die from suffocation, rather than by drowning in the usual sense. Research instigated some years ago by the Health League has revealed that a spasm of the larnyx prevents either water or air from entering the lungs, and the result, though there is no water in the lungs, is death just the same. Every effort should be made to see that the air passages are clear. Pulling the tongue out and keeping it out may help.

In any case of drowning, the most important thing to remember is to begin artificial respiration immediately, and keep it up without any interruption whatsoever, four hours at least, or until the victim either revives, or rigor mortis, an unmistakable sign of death, occurs.

Health Protection

ONLY IN A DEMOCRACY do governments even attempt a balance and reconciliation between conflicting ideas. This respect for individual opinion can, nevertheless, give rise to injustice by depriving, temporarily at least, large numbers of citizens of the benefits of valid scientific recommendations. Nowhere is this more apparent than in the field of health conservation where misinformed and highly vocal minorities are able to obstruct proven methods of health protection and delay their adoption.

It has been noted that relatively few Canadians are not in favor of pasteurized milk and that, within the last few years, not more than ten per cent of the population stand opposed to the fluoridaion of water supplies. Yet witness the influence of these minorities. Writing in a previous issue of "Health" Magazine, Dr. L. W. C. Sturgeon points out:

"If ten per cent of the population does not want fluoridation, and becomes a very noisy minority, the remaining ninety per cent are faced with a staggering burden of unnecessary expense in the cost of dental care."

Still further and more recent evidence of this baleful minority influence is provided by Christian Smith in the current issue of Health. He writes that such groups "create an atmosphere of controversy where none really exists. With odd exceptions, they rely on quack material imported from the United States, a country in which people, like people anywhere, include the good and the bad."

Governments at all levels in Canada must continue to reconcile and balance conflicting ideas and interests. It is not for them to ride the totalitarian and roughshod way over the opinions of any one group. This being so, it becomes more and more essential for those who believe in and support beneficial health measures to identify themselves on the side of truth, to proclaim the proven facts often and clearly — even loudly — so that their case may be heard and treated in all justice.

And in the case of fluoridation, the need for affirming the truth over and over again has never been more urgent than today.

Aircraft Noise

CANADIANS WHO LIVE within sound of airports will welcome the strong statement about airport noise made to the Canadian Aeronautical Institute by Dr. K. K. Neely, chief of the sonics section of the Defence Research Medical Laboratories, comments The Financial Post.

Anyone who has travelled long distances by air knows the fatiguing effect of even the modest noise levels of present aircraft. Anyone who has lived near an airport knows the rising level of traffic and the consequent increase in noise is intensely irritating. Abandoning residential areas near airports would obviously be impossible. The solution must lie in cutting down the noise at its source.

What Canadian politician was assassinated on an Ottawa street?

One of the very few victims of political murder in Canada's history was Thomas D'Arcy McGee, a talented journalist and poet and one of the Fathers of Confederation. Born in Ireland, he was implicated in the rebellion of 1848 and obliged to flee the country. After a career as journalist and editor in the United States, he moved to Montreal in 1857. A delegate to the Charlottetown and Quebec Conferences in 1864 and an eloquent advocate of Canadian union, he was in a very real sense a father of Confederation. His opposition to Irish extremists incurred the enmity of the Fenian Brotherhood and on April 7, 1868, just after he had made a speech in parliament, he was shot at the door of his boarding house in downtown Ottawa by a young Fenian who was convicted and executed. McGee was one of the most brilliant orators in Canadian parliamentary history, an accomplished writer and poet, and an able administrator.

Who composed "Tramp, Tramp, Tramp, The Boys Are Marching"?

This famous marching song was composed by Lachlan McGoun, painter and decorator, who came to Canada from his native Scotland about 1857, and after living in Montreal and Port Hope, settled in Napanee, Ont. He composed the song while serving with the artillery during the Fenian raids of 1866.

Who was Simon Fraser?

Simon Fraser, a fur trader and explorer of the early west, is most famous for his amazing journey down the B.C. river that bears his name. This feat ranks with the great explorations of all time, but Fraser was disappointed because he had thought that the river was the Columbia. Between 1805 and 1808, when he made his famous journey, he established numerous trading posts for the North West Company, in which he was a partner. He failed in some business ventures after his retirement from the fur trade and died in poverty. A bust of Fraser was erected at New Westminster to mark the centenary of his great journey, and the Hudson's Bay Company placed a monument on his grave.

How Did Eagle Pass get its name?

Eagle Pass, through the Monasher Mountains in British Columbia, got its name from the fact that Walter Moberly discovered the pass in 1865 by noting the course of two eagles at whom he had fired his revolver.

What noted early French explorer discovered the Mississippi Delta?

René Robert Cavelier, Sieur de LaSalle, ranged far in his fur trading and exploring expeditions. In 1682 he descended the Mississippi River to the Gulf of Mexico and called the country Louisiana. He sailed to the Gulf with colonists but missed the Delta and was murdered by mutineers while leading his party overland to the Mississippi. LaSalle's first grant of land near Montreal was called La Chine (later Lachine), because of his ambition to reach China by way of the western sea.

Expresses Pleasure With Lachute Fair

Toronto, Ont.
June 24, 1957

Editor, Lachute Watchman,
Lachute, Que.

Dear Sir:

I had the pleasure of accompanying Dr. W. E. Watson, who judged the light division of this year's Lachute Fair Horse Show and was greatly surprised at the quality of the entries of both cattle and horses. This being my first visit to your fair I feel I would like to express my opinion of it. While I was not a guest of the fair, I was most cordially treated by the officials, the Legionnaires, the Police Force, and I would be very remiss were I not to make particular mention of the attendant on the gate into the centre of the ring.

I was very impressed with the fair grounds and the surrounding countryside. The hedged infield (the jumping course) was most attractive and the pagoda in the centre was a rendezvous where old acquaintances were renewed and new acquaintances made. I enjoyed meeting again Mike Minoque, Mr. McFarlane and Erno the clown, as well as meeting for the first time several gentlemen who were responsible for the success of the fair.

Your fair must be highly complimented on the grand display of cattle. While the quantity is not as great as the Royal Winter Fair the quality was as fine as would be seen anywhere, and the exhibitors must be congratulated on the fine condition of their stock.

Another character that impressed me was the friendliness of the people of Lachute. The employees of the stores extended a kindliness to me and I cannot refrain from mentioning the courteous service extended to me by Boa's Service Station in minor repairs to my car and the hospitality tendered me by Mr. and Mrs. Decoste, Lachute Inn was most enjoyable.

I would like to compliment the exhibitors in the Western Classes but would, also, suggest that they would study the conditions of these classes and try to be present at some of the larger shows and improve their classes. This is not a rebuke but rather a constructive remark. I realize that the Western style is somewhat in it's infancy in the East. We have, nevertheless, come a long way in improving these classes, particularly in Parade Classes. If a group of enthusiastic Western riders would attend larger shows and study this style of riding, I am sure the classes would improve. Again I ask you to accept this comment as constructive rather than critical.

Secretary of the Canadian American Saddle Horse Breeders' Association.

OF MANY THINGS

By Ambrose Hills

HANDYMAN WANTED

I met him for coffee this morning, and his hands were scarred and battered, his bones ached, and he looked about ready for a session in the hospital. He'd been out to his country cottage for the week-end.

"What happened?" I asked, watching him lift his cup quite gingerly. "Did you get in a fight?"

He managed to grin. "I dug up forty feet of pipe to fix a clogged drain, then sandpapered a boat bottom, fixed a leaky roof and sawed up three big trees. Never sat down the whole darned week-end. Boy, I'm beat!"

"Nobody around that country you could hire?"

He nodded. "There's a farmer near us, pretty good handyman, charges only $1.25 an hour . . . but I got started and couldn't stop. You know what it's like, don't you?"

Well, I used to know what it is like. Not any more. Now-a-days, when there's a real job to be done around the cottage, I hire a nearby farmer who uses his muscles every day. No more week-end labor gangs for me. About the heaviest lifting I did this week-end was a rubber-tipped cane which I take on pleasant walking tours along the lanes near our cottage. Or a five-pound jack fish, which I lifted from the water on the end of a spinning-rod line. While I was engaged in this gentle effort, a man who knew what it is all about repaired our roof, fixed a sticky door and did other assorted jobs at a very reasonable rate of $1.50 an hour and glad to get the cash money.

"Laziness?" I don't give a darn if you call it that. I prefer to think it is good sense. My muscles have adjusted themselves to the job of whacking typewriter keys, and if you give them something more strenuous to do you put them out of kilter for their regular job. At $1.50 an hour, I'm saving money by hiring work done instead of putting myself out of action for a week by trying to do jobs I'm not used to.

Now isn't that a good story? Doesn't it make sense?

If you agree with me, please write and tell me how I can convince my wife. None of the above arguments seem to convince her.

Tutira Farm, Arundel,
June 25, 1957

The Editor,
Lachute Watchman,
Lachute, Que.

Dear Sir:

We would like to express through your columns our most sincere thanks to the people of Arundel, Barkmere, Huberdeau and Weir, who came to help us fight our fire.

They arrived in record time, and worked all night. Many came back the next day to offer help. The organization and the co-operation betwen all the villages was something that moved us very deeply.

Because of this united effort, buildings were saved which we were convinced were doomed. It was a magnificent effort, and we want everyone who was present to know how extremely grateful we are.

Yours truly,
— Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Stuart

Upon the path you trod;
We bless the years we spent with you,
And leave the rest to God."

HARRIS — In loving memory of our dear Betty, who left us July 7, 1952. — Lovingly remembered, Daddy and Mummy.

"Sometimes its hard to understand,
why some things have to be,
But in His wisdom God has planned
Beyond our power to see.
In our hearts your memory lingers,
and we know its vain to weep.
Tears of love can never wake you
From your peaceful happy sleep.
As on earth we fondly loved you,
We forget you not in death,
And before God's holy altar
We pray you have eternal rest."

HARRIS — In loving memory of our dear granddaughter, Betty, who passed away July 7, 1952. — Lovingly remembered by grandma and grandpa.

"In memory we see you just the same,
As long as we live, we will treasure your name,
Deep in our hearts you are living yet,
We loved you too dearly to ever forget."

HARRIS — In loving memory of dear niece, Betty, who left us July 7, 1952. — Always remembered by Mary.

Time cannot change them its true,
The years that may come cannot sever,
My loving remembrance of you."

A paper was circulated in Harrington yesterday and was endorsed by hundreds of signatures, pledges the signers to abstain from beef and mutton for ten days, the idea being that the price of meat will thus be dropped to a proper level.

The Canadian Pacific Railway between Prince Arthur's Landing and Winnipeg will be opened to passenger and freight traffic on Dominion Day. This will mark the establishment of a Canadian route during seven months of the year from Halifax to a point 250 miles west of Winnipeg.

The Montreal Star is authority for the claim of record catches in Bark Lake, near Arundel. A photographic illustration also shows the lucky angler, B. W. Carruthers, of Montreal, with his 19-pounder. It is stated that another fisherman, J. Bougie, caught a trout of pounds from the same lake la week.

Fresh and spry after a cross country motor trip from Vancouver one of an old pioneer Argenteu family in the person of H. Naughton MacNaughton, breezed into the "Watchman" office on Saturday One might have judged he had just driven over from Hawkesbury, instead of having crossed canyon mountain-passes and dusty prairie in a 3000 mile trip to renew old acquaintances and associates in Argenteuil.

Mr. McNaughton is 81 years old and regards his long drive as just one more experience in a lifetime of "seein' things". He was accompanied and driven by his nephew Gordon Alder, of Vancouver.

The Farmer's Club Picnic held recently was one of the most successful yet. After some 500 had eaten lunch, the sports were ably managed by A. Bothwell and keenly contested. STRAWBERRY FESTIVAL

St. Matthew's Strawberry Festival was held on Saturday evening last in the Dansereau School by candle light, due to the power failure.

Neither cake, chicken nor strawberries were wasted while "furious little Audrey" blew and poured.

The net proceeds of the festival were over $300 in spite of the wind and rain.

The Parish is grateful to all who donated and helped, including the Catholic School Board of Grenville, who graciously gave permission to use their school, when Grenville High School was cleared ready for the addition of six classrooms and a new gymnasium.

The amusements will be held on the Rectory Grounds Saturday, July 6 (see coming events).

ABUNDANT LIFE

BY ORAL ROBERTS

GOD IS ALWAYS "IN TIME", ALWAYS "ON TIME"

The late Dr. George Washington Carver, noted Negro educator and philosopher, testified before a Senate committee concerning his laboratory work with the peanut. "How did you learn all these things?" he was asked. "From the Bible," he answered. "What does the Bible say about peanuts?" questioned the surprised chairman. "Nothing, Mr. Senator," replied the educator, "but it tells about God Who made the peanut. So I asked Him to show me what to do with the peanut and He did."

God knows everything. He knows everything about you. He knows so much about us that He tells us "even before we call He will answer, and while we are yet speaking, He will hear."

Dare to believe that. Dare to take all your problems and troubles to Him. You will find that He is always in time. He is never too late. He knows just when to come. He is always on time.

Mr. W. J., of South Carolina relates this striking incident.

"I was a student at the University of South Carolina. I drove forty miles every day from the town of Great Falls where I lived, to the University in Columbia.

"One morning it had been raining and the highway was wet. As I rounded a curve coming into a small town, Ridgeway, South Carolina, the quality of the highway material changed suddenly.

"My tires were somewhat worn, and as I rounded the curve and struck the new section of highway, the car began to skid sideways. Suddenly it began to turn around and around on the wet highway.

"I wrestled with the steering wheel, applied the brake, and did every thing I could think of in the flash of a few seconds, but no results. Abruptly the car stopped twisting around and swerved toward a large tree that was growing beside the highway.

"In the fleeting flash of a second, I realized I was going to strike that tree. The car was completely out of control. Instinctively I turned to the only resources left to me, and not having time to say the words aloud, a 'thought-prayer' flashed through my mind. These words stand out vividly to me today, although that was six years ago —'Lord, help me!'

"I have tried to explain the next second with every psychological and scientific explanation available. Yet, none of them fit. How or why the car did not strike the tree with terrific force cannot be explained other than that the power of God was exerted in my behalf. It was as if a giant hand had seized the car and commanded it to stop—for instantly, within one foot of the tree, the car stopped skidding and began rolling backwards down the highway in the direction of Columbia.

"In control of the car again, I turned around and continued on my trip. But all that day there was the terrific realization that the Lord had stepped in just in time to save me from almost certain death."

Coffee, with its stimulating qualities that help keep a driver alert, is a necessity on any long journey by car. Take along a vacuum flask filled with strong, hot coffee and some small zesty sandwiches packed in individual servings. For hot weather driving change to iced coffee. Make it double strength and fill the flask with ice cubes. It will keep cold and refreshing for many hours. You'll find a coffee stop is not only a pleasure, it is a safety factor of major importance.

Well, the fine-weather months are here once again, and with them comes vacation time and travel. There lies the open road before you, and it's an exciting prospect, as always.

But wait! When the poets spoke of the joys of the "open road", they were speaking literally. We have to face the facts. The old "open road" in the literal sense has disappeared in this auto age, and what we face is all too often a crowded and dangerous highway. The old relaxation, at least as far as the motorist is concerned, has disappeared also, to be replaced by the need for constant vigilance.

One of the finest ways to keep your alertness at a peak when you drive is to make frequent stops for coffee. Of course, one of the pleasures of driving is to find a really inviting place to have a picnic lunch. But over and above the regular lunch break, make a coffee stop every hundred miles or so. Pull off the road, stretch your legs, look at the scenery, and drink a cup of good, strong coffee.

An outsized vacuum flask is the thing to take along on any journey that's going to require more than a few hours travelling by car. To make sure that your coffee stays just as hot as possible, thoroughly warm the vacuum flask before pouring the fresh beverage into it.

Finally, take along some zesty little sandwiches to keep the coffee company when you stop for your coffee breaks. A loaf of sliced "party rye" bread, spread with a variety of fillings, quickly makes up into tiny sandwiches that are just right for a coffee stop snack.

Fillings

Cheese-Walnut: Combine 1 6-oz. jar sharp cheese spread and 2 tablespoons cream. Beat smooth. Stir in ½ cup chopped walnuts.

Deviled Ham 'n' Egg: Combine 1 4½-oz. can deviled ham, 1 hard-cooked egg, finely chopped, and ¼ cup mayonnaise.

Teatime Topics

How would you like to make a hit as a speaker at your next meeting, or sparkle as a conversationalist?

Mrs. Earl Baker, a Bostonian who is active in Toastmistress International work, recommends housewives to speak up — preferably in public — for confidence, success, poise and knowledge.

"As soon as you get up in the morning you should start expressing yourself, first by catching little slips in grammar. Begin to expand your vocabulary. Enunciation and a pleasing voice, not too high-pitched, are important," she says.

"Whether you're in the butcher shop or on the podium, by using a catchy punch line, clear, concise delivery and a strong closing sentence, you're on the way to making a hit."

The ultimate, she says, for a woman speaker addressing more women is to appear in a smart ensemble. Make your speech leaving the women wondering what you wore.

"This outlaws dangling earrings rattling bracelets and gaudy jewelry and, makes room for a plain dress and an attractive hat — effective but not distracting.

For the timid woman, Mrs. Baker suggests she keep up-to-date. Check current events, sports, and politics.

Then, in talking to people, you start in on something and if you draw a blank try another topic. As soon as you have caught their interest they will take over and think what a fine conversationalist you are!

Colorful Garb

If you want your menfolk to look fashionable at the factory and on the farm, you can cast aside the old blue overalls and give them some of these ensembles that are part of "a new era in men's work clothes," according to the National Garment Manufacturers Association which staged a fashion show in Toronto.

The work clothes included a lime green outfit, and a zippy deep-brown, black and white shirt with trim short sleeves, going with brown corduroy trousers flecked with black.

A black and white striped jacket was shown with white ducks for the flashier look. A boon to housewives, the red-checked slacks had stitched-down creases, requiring no ironing.

Sauce for Chicken:

Ingredients: 1 egg, beaten; ¼ cup salad oil, ¼ cup butter, salted; 1 cup cider vinegar, 1 tablespoon salt; 1 teaspoon paprika, 1 teaspoon poultry seasoning, ¼ teaspoon pepper.

Add oil and butter to beaten egg and beat until blended. Combine with other ingredients. (Seasonings may be varied to suit the taste.) Yields sufficient sauce to baste two to three broilers, or four to six halves.

Let broilers stand in sauce, refrigerated, 1 to 2 hours before cooking, if desired. Hot pan drippings may be poured over hot chicken or served separately.

Dessert Tip

To add piquancy to your dessert of fresh berries or peach slices, add a dollop of sweetened sour cream.

Shortcake Recipe Okay For Fruits and Berries Now In Season

This is the time for berries and small fruits, and time for short cake, a favorite among fresh fru' desserts. Here is an easy-to-mak uncomplicated recipe for an old fashioned biscuit-dough type o shortcake that is hard to beat. Iced Coffee, Lemon Cream Cake Cool Flavors For A Warm Day

We're always on the lookout for a cake that's different, yet simple to make. Lemon Cream Cake is just that. The batter's lightly almond-flavored — a cake mix nourished with eggs. The frosting s lemon pudding fluffed up with whipped cream. Like that idea? It's simple — and simply delicious!

A generous slice of Lemon Cream Cake and a tall, cooling glass of iced coffee — just right to serve guests in the middle of a warm afternoon. They make a fine family dessert team, too. The full flavor of the coffee is good as can be with this delicate almond and lemon cake.

Speaking of full-flavored coffee, one of the best ways to be sure iced coffee is at its strong, fragrant best is to make it double strength. Then when you pour it over the ice, melting doesn't dilute and weaken it. Of course, if you have time, coffee can be made regular strength an hour or two ahead of serving and chilled in the refrigerator. Serve it with cream and sugar or simple syrup for sweeting.

Lemon Cream Cake

1 Package cake mix, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 3 eggs, separated, 1 teaspoon almond extract, ¾ cup water, salad oil, ½ teaspoon cream of tartar.

Empty cake mix into bowl, stir in baking powder. Add egg yolks and almond extract, mix well. Measure water; add enough salad oil to fill cup to ¾ mark. Add water-oil mixture to batter; stir to blend; beat 1 minute. Add remaining water-oil mixture; beat 1 minute longer. Beat egg whites in large bowl until frothy, add cream of tartar and beat until very stiff. Add cake batter slowly to egg whites, mixing lightly until blended. Pour into two greased 9-inch layer cake pans. Bake in moderate oven, 350°F., 30 to 35 minutes. Cool before removing from pans. Note: You may use either cake mix which normally requires eggs or that which does not, following this recipe in either case.

Filling and Frosting

1 Package lemon pie filling mix
½ pint heavy cream, whipped.

Prepare mix as directed on package for pie filling; cool. Divide into two equal portions. Spread 1 portion between cake layers. Fold remaining portion into whipped cream; spread on top and sides of cake. Sprinkle with chocolate sprills, if desired.

A Weekly Feature of Helpful Hints on Child Training

A Hot Temper

(Copyright) — By NANCY CLEAVER —

"The brain may devise laws for the blood, but a hot temper leaps o'er a cold decree," wrote Shakespeare in A Merchant of Venice. Control of angry emotions is a problem for some people all their lives. Do you remember Longfellow's description, "he is a little chimney, and heated hot in a minute?"

Temper tantrums become a major problem only when a child gets his own way by this kind of behaviour. Mother and father should be united in preventing this. This should be agreed that as far as possible their youngster will not gain what he wants by a tantrum.

It is true that a small child sometimes seems to take advantage of parents by going into a rage when a visitor is present or when he is out in company. But it is better not to give in to him a single time, even if it is an embarrassing experience to have another person watch one's own child in a violent, even a destructive mood!

A temper tantrum is not a rare thing among little children. Rather, it is to be expected that a small child, feeling violent anger at some frustration, should show his emotions with restraint. This is a passing phase in the lives of many pre-school children, but an uncomfortable one for both parents and child. What is the best way to treat these explosions of rage?

There is no sure method of treating a child in a tantrum, but it is important that a mother should study her own youngster and discover just what are the conditions which most often provoke his baby wrath.

Perhaps his temper troubles have a physical basis. He may be too tired or too hungry. It may be that a little extra rest in his daily routine, or an earlier meal hour, or a drink of fruit juice and a cookie, or an apple, midway between meals, may be what he needs. On the other hand if he is a very vigorous, active child he may want more opportunities for physical exercise and satisfying play in the fresh air. Once he has left babyhood behind he should have the company of another child, and a playmate of his own age may lessen his temper outbursts.

The reason may not be physical but emotional, and if a parent suspects that his child is using temper to attract attention, the child's rages should be ignored. One of the best ways of treating temper is by isolating the angry youngster. A little time by himself to sit down quietly and look at a book may be a wise plan.

The child's craving for attention should be satisfied in another, more desirable way. Perhaps he needs more loving, more time when mother sings to him or he sings with her at the piano. Possibly father could spend a little longer on a bed-time story.

Temper in a child is very apt to create strong emotions in the parent, but this is one occasion when a mother or father must try to remain calm. There is no point shouting at an angry child, or giving him orders to "snap out of his temper" exhibition. For tantrums with the great majority of youngsters, spanking or physical punishment is worse than useless. It usually prolongs the spell of temper. The most important thing of all is that the child should be helped to leave this kind of behaviour behind as he learns to handle his vexations and anger.

That famous physican, Sir William Osler, had a wise piece of advice for adults who find a hot temper a very personal problem. He said: "Learn to cultivate the gift of taciturnity and consume your own smoke with an extra draft of hard work, so that those about you may not be annoyed with the dust and soot of your complaints."

Cadillac

A GENERAL MOTORS VALUE

Greatness Is Never Achieved Suddenly!

It has long been true, in the affairs of men, that only time can confirm the gift of greatness.

Artist, statesman, writer, craftsman—each must await the years for the maturity of his talent and for the verdict of his judges.

In every human effort, time is of the essence. No single act, no brief moment in the sun, has ever overshadowed the life's work of a master.

And as it is in the affairs of men, so it is in the world of commerce. Nothing great was ever created suddenly—whether the product be that of an individual or of an organization.

Here, most certainly, is the very genesis of the unique position which Cadillac currently occupies in the hearts and minds of the world's motorists.

Since the first Cadillac car made its appearance more than fifty-five years ago, it has always been created to a single objective; to make it as fine a motor car as it is possible to produce.

And, without question, the mission and the accomplishment have been one and the same.

The goodness of Cadillac has, in fact, been so apparent over that lengthy span that the Cadillac name stands today as an accepted synonym for quality wherever highways exist.

The pretenders have come—and they have gone. For time is an exacting taskmaster—and only the principles that have created the great Cadillac car and only the devotion that has given it being, have been equal to the challenge.

Never has this fact been more deeply etched in the public consciousness than it is during the present automotive year.

The motor car that now represents Cadillac on the highways of the world has advanced the Cadillac tradition to an extraordinary degree.

It is thrilling to behold—it is wonderful to ride in—it is rewarding to drive—and it is inspiring to own—as never before in history.

If you have yet to discover this fact for yourself, you should hesitate no longer to visit your authorized Cadillac dealer.

Waiting for you in his showroom is proof beyond doubt that Cadillac is—in fact as in reputation—the Standard of the World!

Percy Saltzman

Percy Saltzman, one of "Tabloid's" big three, is seen every day over the CBC-TV network. Television is just a part-time occupation with him; during the day he's a government meteorologist. He's shown here at the Toronto weather office getting a forecast by the old-fashioned method — that of just plain peering at the sky.

Summer Camping New TV Series

Summer Camping, a new Montreal series aimed at capturing the fascination of life in the great outdoors, will be seen on Mondays at 5.00 p.m. on the CBC-TV network. The program will provide instruction in handling a canoe, fishing, equipping for overnight trips, building fires, wood-carving, Indian lore and other woodsman's skills as well as entertainment in the form of campfire songs and stories.

Louis Thomas, a handicrafts expert and story teller, and noted baladeer Alan Mills will be the two principal personalities on the show. Youngsters will appear each week as the program's guests and guitarist Gilbert Lacombe will provide musical accompaniment for the songs. The show will be filmed in advance on top of Mount Royal, under the supervision of CBC producer Alan Brown, with scripts by Sam Gesser, a Folkways record representative in Montreal.

Making his first appearance on television in this series, Thomas can draw on a large fund of yarns gathered during his long and varied career. Among his most vivid memories are the years he spent with travelling medicine shows working alongside a number of old-time hucksters.

Poison Ivy Can Hit All; Best Manner In Combating It is to Avoid It

Mrs. Vandersnoot, Joe Blow, or the dear little baby next door — poison ivy will have the same effect on them all this summer, warns the Health League of Canada. The best way to combat poison ivy is to avoid it in the first place, officials of the League point out.

It is of particular interest to new Canadians to know what this deadly little plant looks like, for it does not grow in European countries and many of these beauty-loving peoples may pick the branches with the pretty colored berries to decorate their homes, and end by decorating themselves in a manner they never intended.

Poison ivy is an attractive plant with dark green glossy leaves, each stem bearing three leaves joined at the end of the stem. Greenish white berries cluster on erect stems in the centre of the plant, which in common with the leaves, turn a glowing crimson in the fall. The plant is usually erect and bushy but there are varieties which are trailing and tree climbing. It is usually found under hedges, on the edges of country roads, in full shade or sunshine. In fact, it may be found almost anywhere.

The plant contains an irritating oily substance which is so volatile that persons have been blistered by merely standing in the smoke from piles of burning poison ivy. The rash received from poison ivy can be serious enough to ruin a summer vacation, and can even cause permanent scarring and hospitalization.

Here are some rules to follow if you find that you have been exposed to poison ivy:

1. Wash the exposed parts of the body AT ONCE with laundry soap and warm water — DO NOT SCRUB!
2. Apply rubbing alcohol liberally to exposed area.
3. Take a complete shower, or tub bath.
4. Dress in fresh clean clothing — and see that clothing which may have become contaminated is cleaned, either by laundering or with a cleaning solvent.
5. If, despite all precautions, the rash appears, consult your doctor at once.

Mrs. Neil McCallum, who has been in Lachute for the past month, arrived home on Monday.

The Misses Marjory Morrison and Eleanor Campbell visited Miss Marilyn McCallum for a few days recently, Master Winston Campbell spent a few days with his cousin, Donald McCallum.

Sunburn — or Suntan? Results Depend on Person Concerned and His Actions

According to the number of people laid off from work during the summer, and the crimson faces of people after a week-end, it seems to be a generally held conviction that in order to acquire a suntan, it is necessary to go through the preliminary stage of having a sunburn first. The Health League of Canada advises that this is not so. In fact, the League says, a very serious burn can be suffered, which is in no way different than a burn received from actual flames.

A suntan, achieved gradually, is considered becoming, and may be of some lasting health benefit during the coming winter. In order to achieve this, lie in the sun in the beginning for not more than half an hour at a time, gradually increasing this time to include as long as you like, provided that you have built up a solid foundation tan, and are no longer "burning" when you lie in the sun.

On no account, stay in the sun for the whole day for the first time out. A burn may be received which can be as painful and as dangerous as a fire burn. Sunbathing near bodies of water is to be particularly watched, for a double burn will result — that is, a burn from the actual rays of the sun, and a burn from the reflection of the sun's rays from the surface of the water.

There are several preparations on the market which will help to prevent a burn. These can be used but should not be relied upon to the extent of lying in the sun all day long for the first time. The League gives the added warning that even if you are lying in shade at the beach, the glare from the sun and water is enough to give you a burn. Take your tan slowly, and look and feel better more easily, is the League's advice.

Tips on Touring

By Carol Lane
Women's Travel Authority

This summer really can be the "good, old summertime" if you spend as much of it as possible in your car en route to vacation pleasure. And your travel enjoyment will be doubled if you know how to care for your car and use it to full advantage.

Car trouble is no fun at any time, but it's particularly aggravating on vacation. Some of the following "ABC's of car care" may help you avoid trouble and enrich your fun on your next trip.

To avoid flat tires and blowouts, the most frequent summertime troubles, keep your tires properly inflated. Have them checked frequently for cuts, bruises or uneven wear. In case of a blowout, keep calm, steer straight ahead and let your decelerating engine itself act as a brake and pull off to the side.

Car stalling is occasionally caused by vapor lock — overheated gasoline vaporizing and blocking the fuel passage. You can handle this situation by turning off the ignition, lifting the hood to aid air circulation around the engine and waiting for three or four minutes. As the engine cools, the vapor lock will be dissipated.

You can prevent your engine from overheating at the start by a few simple tricks. Use low gear only when necessary. Don't turn off your engine during constant stop-and-go driving. During such long waits, speed up your motor for about 30 seconds at two-minute intervals to make the fan turn faster. Shift into neutral during enforced idling periods.

Summertime radiator trouble can be stopped by having your anti-freeze solution drained off, the cooling system flushed and then filled with water containing a corrosion inhibitor. And remember that your oil must be maintained at a proper level to do a thorough job throughout the engine. So have it measured on the dipstick under the hood and changed at required intervals.

Sisters of Providence To Leave As Local Conditions Inadequate

The emergency of building a new hospital to replace the present facilities were severely underlined this week when it was learned that notice had been given by the Order of the Sisters of Providence in Montreal that the Order would recall its local personnel at the end of 1957 because working and living quarters were totally inadequate.

Asked to comment on rumors that the hospital was about to be closed, Roger E. Regimbal, Director of the Hospital, stated that such rumors were unfounded, but confirmed that a letter had been received from the Sisters of Providence announcing their withdrawal unless definite plans for better facilities were presented in the meantime.

"We certainly cannot blame the Sisters for this move. Their living and working conditions as well as accommodations for patients are unfortunately far below standard. The present building which was kindly offered by the Ayers family as a temporary hostel fourteen years ago, was never meant to be a hospital, and has been repeatedly condemned by government inspectors for insufficient fire protection and alarms among other things. Some of the Sisters have to sleep in cots rolled under their desks and are handicapped in all kinds of ways."

"Provincial grants have been obtained for building a new hospital, but at today's building costs, the public will most certainly have to get behind the hospital drive, because we'll never get started, and we'll lose what we have. No repairs or additions to the present building would be practical or even possible. It just wasn't meant to be a hospital," the director added.

"Our only hope at this time is that if we were able to present definite plans within a few months, the Sisters will re-consider and delay their action," Mr. Regimbal said in closing.

Nine Injured as Circus Stand Falls

Nine local residents were rushed to the Providence Hospital, Lachute, following the opening of the Garden Bros. Circus on Thursday, July 4, when a portable, prefabricated wooden-slat stand holding some 55 persons suddenly collapsed. All were later released following treatment.

Injured in the mishap were Miss Pierrette Rozon, Lachute, Mrs. Geo. Bourbonnais, Ayersville, J.-Pierre Vallée, nine-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Lucien Vallée, Ayersville, W. Hourner, Brownsburg, Miss Cécile Gauthier, Ayersville, Jean Presseault, 18, of Ayersville, Mrs. M. Rousson, Lachute, Mrs. Norman Lavis, Lachute, and Edouard Lajoie, of Ayersville.

The injured were treated by Drs. MacKimmie and Lafleur.

The stand collapsed with a crash, spilling the spectators under a pile of planks. Lachute Police Chief Fernand Trépanier and Sgt. Marcel Therrien, both of whom had just finished their shift in the neighboring community, were in attendance in uniform and co-operated with Ayersville Chief Adrien Cyr in calming the crowd and restoring order. An ambulance was summoned and the more seriously injured taken to hospital.

The circus was insured for such a mishap, the total damages being only $23 in this case.

St. Andrews Death Severs Link With Pioneer Ancestry

The Late Julia Grace Wales

At her home in St. Andrews East last Monday, there passed away a well known resident in the person of Miss Julia Grace Wales. Member of an old and respected family which has contributed notably to the social and cultural life of the community through the years, she was recognized for her scholarly interests and for her contribution to Canadian literature.

In ailing health for the past several months, she suffered a seizure Sunday night which resulted in her death shortly afterward.

The late Julia Grace Wales was the eldest daughter of the late Dr. Benjamin Wales and the late Emma Osgood, and a great-granddaughter of two of the pioneers of the Ottawa Valley, Benjamin Wales and Nathaniel Hazard Treadwell. Born in 1881 in Bury, Que., where her father practised medicine for 30 years before retiring to his native St. Andrews in 1906, she graduated in Arts from McGill University in 1903, winning first class honors in English and the Shakespeare Gold Medal. She took her Master's Degree at Radcliffe (Harvard University) the following year and later her Ph.D. at Madison, Wis., where she was on the staff of the English Department of the University of Wisconsin until her retirement in 1947. Since that time she has been living with her sisters at her home in St. Andrews East.

Always keenly alive to social and political issues, she wrote articles and pamphlets dealing with the problems of the day as they emerged, one of which, "Continuous Medication Without Armistice," was translated into several European languages and contributed to the work done on internationalism during World War I. This pamphlet led to her being invited to the Women's International Congress at the Hague in 1915, which she attended in company with Jane Adams of Hull House and other prominent women from many countries. It also led to her being chosen as a member of the Ford Commission, with which she worked for two years in Scandinavian centres.

In 1920-21 she was granted a teaching fellowship to London University, the first woman from this continent to receive this fellowship. She followed up her studies in Shakespearian research at London and Oxford and was on the teaching staff at Westfield College (London University), and a second year on the staff at Girton and Newnham (Cambridge University in addition.

A member of the Canadian Authors Association, she has published a considerable amount of verse, as well as articles and book reviews and was the author of "Democracy Needs Education" (Macmillan Co., 1942) and of several critical studies dealing with her special field of research.

She was a member of the United Church of Canada and has always taken a keen interest in church and community affairs.

The funeral was held Wednesday from the United Church, with interment in the family plot at St. Andrews Cemetery. There was a profusion of flowers and a large following of sympathizing friends from the neighborhood and distant points. Rites were conducted by the Rev. J. A. Mowatt, of Hudson Que.

The late Miss Wales is survived by her two sisters, Miss A. Letitia Wales and Miss M. Evelyn Wales R.N. (ret.), both residing at St Andrews.

Early Morning Beamish Store Robbery Nets Thieves Estimated $1,000 Haul

Thieves gained entry to the safe in the Lachute Branch of the R.A. Beamish Stores sometime during the early morning hours of Wednesday and made good their escape with an undisclosed sum of cash reported by police officials to be in the vicinity of $1,000. This amount was not confirmed by Manager Leo Holt.

Lachute Police Chief Fernand Trépanier reported that entry to the building was gained by means of a cellar window; the thieves then finding it impossible to enter the store via the inside locked door and breaking their way through the wall in the men's rest room. From here they entered the store proper and dragged the safe some 20 feet to the ladies rest room, where they ripped it open with a pick and other tools reportedly stolen from the Bell Telephone construction job immediately in the rear of the building.

Sgt.-Det. Ralph Allen was called in on the case immediately following its being reported to the local force and in turn notified the Hold-up Squad of the Q.P.P., Sgt.-Det. Nadeau arriving to aid in the investigation. Although the officers are following-up several possible leads, no positive identification as to the culprits was available at press time.

Local School Board Vacancies Filled By Acclamations

At the recent Lachute Protestant School Board nominations Lorne Duncan and Edwin Robertson, both citizens of the Parish of St. Jerusalem, were accepted as members of the Board of School Commissioners by acclamation, thus filling the seats left vacant by E. W. Smith and Douglas MacKimmie.

E. W. Smith, a member since February 1950, and Douglas MacKimmie, a member since November 1954, were thanked by letter in the following manner by secretary-treasurer of the Board, R. P Fraser:

"The Lachute Protestant School Board wish to express their very sincere thanks for the services which you have so faithfully rendered during the years of your term on the Board. They also wish to include the appreciation of the Protestant ratepayers of the district for your efforts and work on their behalf."

Ballet Classes Now Contemplated For Lachute District

Negotiations have been in progress for the possibility of having ballet classes in Lachute, given by the Elizabeth Leese Ballet School of Westmount, Que., during next autumn and winter. Preliminary enquiries have been most encouraging, and there is every confidence the plan will go forward.

The Elizabeth Leese Dancing School is a well-established organization, and is now teaching ballet in several localities in Quebec, and the teacher who may be assigned to Lachute is now teaching at the Toronto Summer Ballet School.

If this project materializes, the course will consist of 32 lessons, starting the third week in September. Children are usually divided into age groups of 4-6, 7-9, 10-12, but this detail will be adjusted when arrangements are finalized.

Interested parents are requested to telephone immediately to either Mrs. Jack F. Gorman, 165 or to Mrs. Ernest Gow, 69, so that initial plans may be arranged to meet the school representative. The ballet classes are limited to few in number, so it is very important to place enrolment at once.

Oil Paintings On Exhibition Draw Interest

The exhibition of Vivian Walker's paintings at the yacht club chalet in St. Andrews is another notable triumph in the Argenteuil Art Association's season — representing the third successful exhibition under sponsorship of the Association this summer.

Mrs. Walker's talent and productivity are seen in a representative collection of oil paintings including landscapes, seascapes, still life studies and portraits — the latter more numerous than in any of her previous showings here, since the artist has studied and persevered in this more difficult specialization.

Her aptitude with the palette knife is still a factor most striking to those interested in technique. In her portraiture Vivian Walker's mastery in the depicting of fabrics, folds and textures is notable. Her landscapes one discerns a clever appreciation of subject and color, while the scope of her scenes including many familiar to local residents, tells a veritable travelogue of Eastern Canada.

The opening of this exhibition, on Saturday afternoon, July 6, was attended by about 85 persons who, besides the actual show, enjoyed the sunny, hospitable surroundings of the St. Andrews Country Club, and tea served by the ladies of the local Presbyterian Church.

Mr. A. G. Talbot, president of the Argenteuil Art Association, in welcoming the guests, reviewed the brief but inspiring record of the Association, and paid tribute to its key workers. The president then called on Mr. Lawrence T. Porter, a prominent local citizen and supporter of the movement. Mr. Porter introduced the artist, Mrs Peter (Vivian) Walker, recalling some of the triumphs in her career and commending her on such evidences of success as were here on view to the public. Mr. Porter then declared the exhibition officially open.

The paintings may be viewed by district art lovers on Saturday, Sunday and Wednesday afternoons, from 2 to 5 o'clock, until August 3, inclusive. Visitors will be welcome.

Local Singer Appearing On TV This Saturday p.m.

Ronnie Prophet, son of Mrs. Elsie Prophet, of Calumet, was recently chosen to appear on Cliff McKay's Holiday Ranch over CBMT, Channel 6, this Saturday evening at 7.30 o'clock.

On the date that arrangements were made for his appearance, m.c. and singing star of the program, Cliff McKay, also included Ronnie in his plans for a tour of Tennessee; the date is not definite.

On this week's show Ronnie will sing "Gon'a Find Me a Bluebird" with Don MacFarlane and will also give a solo, singing, "If You Don't Know, I Ain't a Going to Tell You."

He is leaving tomorrow for rehearsals and is expected home Sunday.

New Greater Lachute Cadastral Plan Council Discusses Various Business

Mayor Léopold Carrière, and Police and Fire Chief Fernand Trépanier, looking at the Certificate of Merit presented to the town authorities at the 25th conference of the Quebec Police and Fireman's Association held recently at Ste. Agathe. The Provincial Security League granted 46 certificates to various municipalities; Lachute, which has not reported a fatal accident since 1956, was included among the recipients. — Photo by Syd Drew

The main topic discussed among the diversified items of business at the last Town Council meeting concerned the preparation of a town cadastral — that is, a plan of Greater Lachute, and one of the municipalities of Lachute, Ayersville, and St. Jerusalem. This resolution authorized J. J. Rondeau, a land-surveyor, of Montreal, to fulfil the contract. It was also moved that a general plan be made of the water works and sewer systems of Lachute by Paul Laliberté, engineer of Lachute.

Mayor Léopold Carrière raised this question, stating that it was urgent and necessary as the town has had a need of such a plan for a number of years.

"This service, he continued, will be at the disposal of all citizens; even though such an expenditure of $3,240 is not included in the budget, it is possible not to affect it too seriously.

Present at the meeting, at which only Alderman Romain Desjardins was absent, Mr. Laliberté answered numerous questions.

It is reported that the cadastral plan of Lachute itself, as prepared by J. J. Rondeau will cost $2,000; a transparent copy — $210; an opaque copy — $120; a map of the Lachute water works and sewer systems, as prepared by Paul Laliberté — $500; a transparent copy — $240; and an opaque copy of the same plan — $170.

A certain number of these maps will hang in the Town Hall vault while others will be posted in the secretary-treasurer's office. The plans will also be sold to any interested person. The work must be continued as new streets and developments are added to the town.

Ald. Mozart Carrière moved, and Ald. Jean Paul Dorion seconded that a written contract be sent to Messrs. Rondeau and Laliberté; they will be obliged to present their plans before the Council on September 1, with a fine of $25 resulting for every day over that date.

J. A. M. Clairoux, who attended the meeting, asked if his request concerning the construction of a fence along the North River had been accepted. He has requested that the town pay the costs for the widening of the street.

Ald. Wilfrid Morrissette stated that he considers this particular spot dangerous, due to the dead-end street caused by the river; however a wood fence will be sufficient. He and members of the Road Committee will make a decision concerning this matter.

A construction permit was granted to British American Oil for the erection of a gasoline station at the intersection of Bethany and Foundry Streets. It was reported that the company had purchased the lots numbered 958, and 959 from Mrs. Eucharist Lavigne and Mr. Lamoureux. A permit was also granted to Lucien Labonté for the construction of a house on St. Jacques Street; and to Lachute Lumber and Millwork for the construction of a warehouse and showroom on Chatham Street.

Ald. Edgar Pollock asked for and obtained a street light, which will be installed at the corner of Main Street and the road leading to Dunany; another one will be installed on Bethany Street, near the properties of Messrs. Jones and Valois; and the blinking signal donated some years ago by the Lions Club, will be reinstalled at Bethany Street, at the entrance to the town.

A sum of $500 was voted for sidewalk construction at various points in the town.

On the suggestion of Ald. Ross Muir a no-parking area will be established on North East Main Street betwen Hughes and Gilbert Streets. Chief of Police Trépanier reported that parking will not be allowed on South Chatham Street; all signs actually installed on the North side will be removed, thus permitting parking at all times on North Chatham Street.

Geo. Y. Deacon submitted a request concerning the purchase of equipment necessary for the Fire Department — a fog nozzle, $95; a Siamese connection, $203.20; an aluminium ladder of 14', $125.60; an adjustable fire-hydrant hook, $9.95; a pickaxe, $14.20; four raincoats, $80. A total of $527.95 was authorized. Accounts of the month, reaching $8,019.16 were accepted for payment under the motion of Ald. Muir, and seconded by Ald. Dr. Dorion.

The Mayor then discussed the letter received from the secretary-treasurer of Ayersville, refusing payment of $574.35 for water services from May 1 to June 1. The neighbouring Council alleges that the bill was 15 cents for 1,000 gallons; the Public Works Department had not ratified the town of Lachute's demand. A resolution was adopted requesting the authorization for the increase of tariffs and gave reasons to justify the demand.

Another letter received from the Municipality of Ayersville, refusing to pay $75 for Fire Department service, was also read. It was alleged that the Chief of the Lachute Fire Department had sent the brigade to the Fair Grounds June 13 without the authorization from the Ayersville Chief.

Chief Trépanier prepared a report, declaring that it was Mrs. Kenneth Riley who had called for the Department; he reported that the burning wires had been the reason for the call. He verified that he had joined the Ayersville Chief and members of the Fire Department at the trouble location. Chief Trépanier then suggested that Ayersville Council, advising them to withdraw this charge.

Among Jersey Class leaders for June, as reported by the Canadian Jersey Cattle Club, is North River W. R. Maid, the leader in two times milking, owned by Dr. G. R. McCall, of Lachute; she produced 9,120 lbs. milk and 558 lbs. of fat.

Lightning Storm Causes Two Arundel Fires

Arundel — Last week, during the severe lightning and thunder storm, two houses owned by G. Champagne and G. Tarlton, of Bark Lake, were struck. The fire siren gave the warning, and soon volunteers were on hand at the Champagne's residence which was caught in time, as the damage was confined to the wiring.

In the case of the Tarlton residence, it took place during the late night and was only discovered in the morning. The house and contents were a total loss. The sympathy of the community is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Tarlton on their loss.

Sawing and Fiddlers' Contest At C.I.P. Forestry Field Day

Invitations have been extended to fifteen hundred Canadian International Paper Company wood suppliers and their families to attend the Forestry Field Day at the Company's Harrington Forest Farm. As in past years the program for the afternoon will feature equipment displays and demonstrations, a power saw competition and a home-cooked, camp-style bean feast.

M. R. "Manny" Wilson, Resident Manager, says that the Grenville Woods Division personnel are looking forward to playing host to the largest crowd ever to visit "The Farm".

Gordie Tapp, Contest Judge

Fiddlers' Contest

The Fiddlers' competition is an added feature this year, and represents an effort on the part of the Company to stimulate and preserve the old-time folk music. To ensure the success of this particular part of the program the services of Gordie Tapp, "Country Hoedown", m.c., and star performer, have been obtained as judge; his decision as to who gets the $25 and $10 prize will be final.

Mr. Tapp has indicated that "Cousin Clem" will make the trip to Harrington with him; he also reports that Clem says he is going to wear his safety-toe logging boots because there's going to be a lot of stomping when those fiddlers cut loose and he doesn't intend to get his toes crushed.

Competitions Open

Both the power saw contest and the fiddlers' contest are open competitions; it is suggested, however, that outside competitors ask a C.I.P. wood supplier to sponsor them. Entries may be registered at the field day but it would be greatly appreciated if entries are registered sometime prior to the field day. This may be done by visiting or telephoning the Grenville Office, the Scaling Office or the Harrington Forest Farm.

The program for the afternoon will conclude with a camp-style home-cooked bean feast. Over 300 pounds of dry beans will go into the ovens at mid-night Friday in order to be ready for the Saturday afternoon meal.

In closing, Mr. Wilson stressed that the field day will take place irregardless of the weather as advance preparations make a last minute postponement impossible.

Lachute Battery of Artillery Undergo Training Schedule at Camp Petawawa

Lachute Battery, No. 131, Royal Canadian Artillery, returned home on Saturday, after having undergone eight days artillery training at Camp Petawawa, Ont. The Regiment fired approximately 450 rounds of live ammunition during the week, with the Lachute Battery supplying two gun crews, and also key personnel on other guns, signals, artillery gun plotting and gun position officers. Bombadier John Curtis and Gunner Tommy Smith, with Major H. Stutt, Officer Commanding 131 Battery directing the shoot, were personally congratulated by the Commanding Officer, on their accuracy on scoring a direct hit, and Gunner Wilson Black was congratulated on laying down a perfect pattern when ranging on target, putting four shells exactly where directed.

No. 3 Gun, with Gunner George Gordon in charge and Gunner Denis St. Jacques as gun layer, were congratulated by the G.P.O. for being the fastest gun laid on target during the shoot on Tuesday. The Lachute Battery as a whole were congratulated on their fine shooting and gun discipline by Lt.-Col. D. B. Gibson, Commanding Officer of the 37th Field Regiment, R.C.A. and by Mr. Hannah, W.O. I of "I" Section Quebec Command.

The Battery left on Saturday, July 6, and supplied seven officers and 17 men, all of whom had received their training locally. It is a great credit to Lachute and district to have these local men attend camp and show such good progress after only a short time in training — many having had no previous experience in military training and the older military men having had no experience on 25 Pounder guns.

The local battery left Lachute under command of Capt. Gordon Hutchinson, local Bank of Nova Scotia manager, with the Battery Padre, Capt. J. R. Watson, minister of St. Mungo's Church, Cushing. Lieut. K. Dalrymple, Lieut. J. P. Merryweather and Officer Cadet H. Dowd; Sgt. J. Pillage, and Bdrs. J. Curtis and H. Ward completing the N.C.O.'s

The accommodation at Camp Petawawa was the finest seen by this reporter. Everyone slept on beds, four to a room, with showers and wash rooms convenient to all rooms. The meals were well cooked and planned by a dietician, served cafeteria style, piping hot from a steam table.

Reveille was at 5.30 a.m. and the battery was on the firing ranges by seven o'clock. Lunch was served in the field and an attempt was made to be back in camp by 2.30 in the afternoon to allow for sports and recreation.

Lachute Battery personnel arrived home sunburned and in good condition, feeling that the week was well spent and looking forward to completing further training in September when the battery commences work again after the summer rest.

WAKE UP CITIZENS OF LACHUTE...

Four men in uniform are willing to serve you — your LETTER CARRIERS — and yet, you are not ready for them.

Ayersville and Lachute Mills have shown a wonderful co-operation with 80% of the citizens' boxes installed; Lachute offers but 35%.

The following streets have a poor average: Main, from Bethany to the Cemetery; Robert, Barron, Sydney, Paquin, Clyde, Hope, Bedard Blvd., Bethany and the Mountain View Area.

To carry out this project absolute co-operation is needed. Why delay? In other towns where a letter carrier service has been inaugurated citizens met the request from postal authorities with enhusiasm. Shall we be indifferent? Many times you have shown good spirit. Why not now? Do not wait any longer. Install a letter slot or a box near your door immediately as your mail cannot be delivered until such time as at least 90% of the homes are equipped with the necessary receptacles.

To answer a few of the questions I have been asked, here is some information that may help you.

Taxes will not go up because of this service; it is absolutely FREE.

All mail will be delivered in accordance with the address appearing on the envelope. This means that you must advise all correspondents of your correct postal address, street number and name. This is most urgent and essential.

If you live more than 40 yards from the street line, a mail box must be placed close to the sidewalk at the entrance of your property.

Those who live on a second storey — if the stairs are outside the building, the letter carrier will go up to your door; however, if the stairs are inside, please install a suitable receptacle on the first floor.

Do not believe that you must wait to see the letter carriers before installing your mail boxes — we are waiting for you.

The appointment of your letter carriers is a matter of a few days now. Please obtain your receptacles and install them as soon as possible.

If you should need any information, do not hesitate to call at the Post Office.

LIVE BETTER
ELECTRICALLY

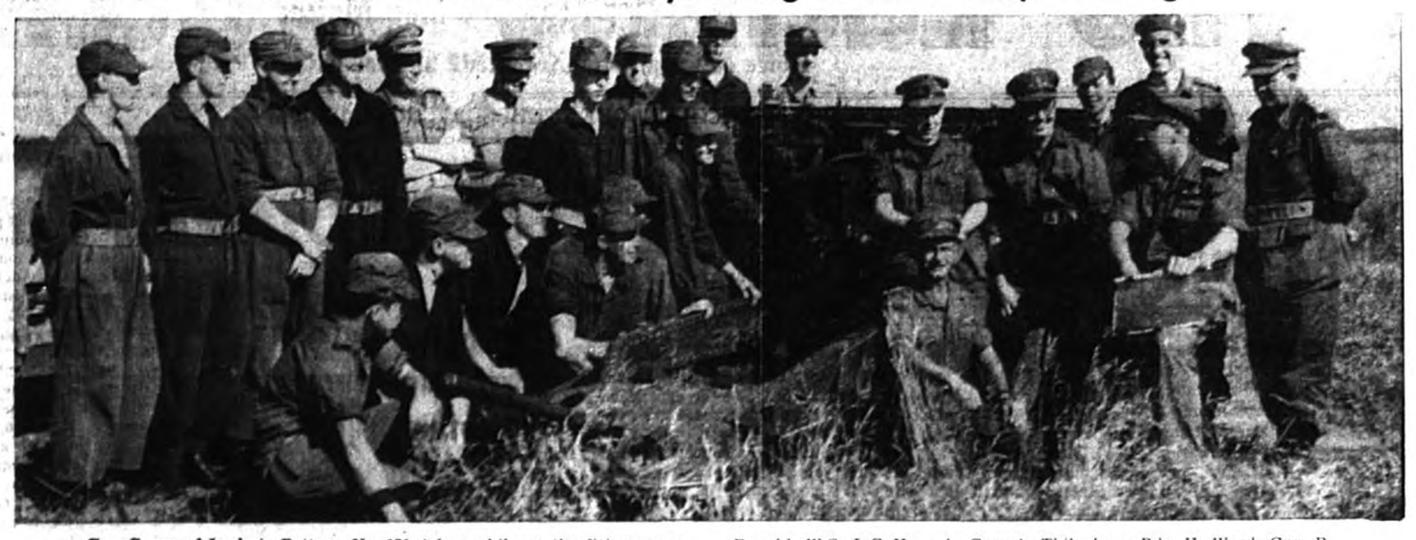

The average home employs thirty-seven servants—and all of them are Reddy. He is at your beck and call 24 hours a day, 7 days a week all year long—fair weather or foul. He'll run any of those 37 appliances—or ALL of them—whenever you say!

The beauty of it is, that Reddy does all these jobs for real low wages.

Next time your electric service bill arrives, take a good look at Reddy's wages—you'll find that electricity is still todays biggest bargain.

It DOES matter which Oil Burner you buy!

If you're in the market for an oil burner, there are dozens for you to choose from. They all look very much alike. They all burn oil. Some are pretty efficient, others less so. But, unless you're an engineer, there's no way for you to decide which burner is best for your needs, except by insisting on one made by a reputable, long-established manufacturer. Like Smart's, for example. We recommend Smart's series "A" oil burners because when we sell one we know that the customer is going to be satisfied with the deal, for a long time. If that seems to you to be a good reason for buying a Smart's oil burner, let us show you the complete range, and tell you all about them.

Midway Solution

SEVERAL MEMBERS of the Argenteuil Agricultural Society have, following our recent editorials, voiced their approval of the stand we have taken but at the same time, asked how the situation could be remedied.

When the problem was first brought forward, a reader and part-time member of our staff explained the set-up that is followed in Annapolis Royal, Nova Scotia, where up until a few years ago, they ran into circumstances similar to those at the Lachute Spring Fair and other fairs throughout the country. It was then stopped and something done about it.

There are entertainment concerns who will supply sufficient rides for the children and a few for both children and adults. This was pointed out at a recent meeting of the Rotary Club when the club was offered the sponsorship of a midway to renew the once-popular Rotary Carnival. With rides such as this taken care of, all that remains are a couple of eating spots, which could capably be looked after by any of the numerous local church organizations, and a few "on the level" gambling booths, bingo games, and other such amusement centres, each of which could be taken by one of the local service clubs and other organizations, a percentage of the profit going to the Argenteuil Agricultural Society.

In this way, the local citizens and visitors to the Fair would not be "done" as they have been in the past; the money spent would be going to help the community as a whole through the various projects sponsored by the Lions, Rotary, Knights of Columbus, Richelieu, Masons and other organizations; and if these booths make the money they should, the Agricultural Society should take in more than what is now paid them for the midway concession.

The time for action is now. We admit that many holes can be found in this set-up but let's see some action on the part of the Agricultural Society Board of Directors, along with representatives of each of the main community betterment organizations. With more than two opinions, these holes can easily be filled and the Lachute Spring Fair will be able to show all other similar organizations how it is done, and in this way keep the crooked shows and those that bow down to them, out of the running.

Let's not put it off until it is too late, let's see some concrete action before it is too late, and the right time is NOW!

Canada Recognized

THERE MAY BE MORE awareness of Canada in the U.S. capital today than at any time in this century, reports the Washington Correspondent of The Financial Post.

The reason is the new Conservative government in Ottawa. What the Diefenbaker government will or will not do has become a regular topic on Washington's cocktail party circuit.

The state department and department of agriculture are the most concerned with Canada, and what has been described by Canadian officials here as "an uneasy concern" shown by officials in these departments.

Nothing is said or noted in public of course, but a certain nervousness is evident in private.

And on Capitol Hill the senators and representatives are even beginning to realize that there is more north of the border than just snow, "mounties" and Lester Pearson.

"Dear John . . ."

A DECADE or more ago, during World War II, as we recall, the "Dear John" letter was a feature of the life of GI Joe. An American soldier serving overseas might get a letter from the young wife he had left Stateside informing him that their hasty marriage had been a mistake and that she was instituting divorce proceedings in order that she might be free to marry some smart cookie who had dodged the draft.

Such a kick in the serviceman's solar plexus came to be known as a "Dear John" letter. Seems to us someone even wrote a song with that title.

Now we are borrowing it to write an open letter to our new Prime Minister, John Diefenbaker. The connection is that we, too, have received a missive that hits us in a soft spot. For the second time in less than a year we have been charged with the same offence: to wit, we have failed to file the monthly returns for the month of April, 1957, pursuant to The Excise Tax Act. In less legal verbiage we had neglected to remit to the Receiver General by May 31st, 10 percent of all job printing we had done during the month of April.

Dear John, we are guilty as sin. We failed to send in our cheque on time, as has happened before, and well may happen again. Not because we have criminal tendencies, John. It's just a matter of time; of not enough time to do all the things one must do if one is to stay in business, in a modest way, in this hectic age.

But we plead extenuating circumstances, dear John. That form had to be filled out, that cheque mailed, by May 31. Remember how busy you were about that time, John? Would you have found time from your campaigning to tote up the number of miles you had travelled during April, for forwarding, perhaps, to the Bureau of Statistics?

We in the small printing shops were busy about that time, too. Our thoughts were centred on clearing the last election jobs, on getting out that important pre-election issue on schedule. We had more to worry about than the fact the Receiver General must be served, no matter how big his surplus. Our desk was a mess, and somewhere beneath the pile were those forms the Sales Tax people say must be filed every month.

Dear John, we aren't asking you to get us off the hook. We will pay whatever penalty the court demands. But we must admit it hurts. It hits us way down deep where our pride of citizenship lies buried, yet a living thing. We feel unjustly treated, trod upon.

In your housecleaning of the federal government, dear John, could you remove the cobwebs that seem to have enveloped our tax-gathering agencies? There are bugs in the system, you probably realize. We have a notion that there are also buggars guys with an authoritarian complex who delight in throwing the letter of the law at their less fortunate fellow countrymen who have not the weight of government behind them.

Dear John, please take a second look at this Sales Tax legislation. Is it just and right that one's government should force any citizen into the role of a tax collector; an unpaid tax gatherer, in fact; one who must pay a yearly $2.00 fee for the questionable privilege of adding 10 percent to the cost of every printing job he accepts? To add insult to injury, that 10 percent must be remitted in the following month, whether or not the printer has been paid, no matter if he has not found time to send out his bills; irregardless of the fact he is paying 10 percent on an account that may turn out to be a total loss, utterly uncollectible.

John, it just isn't right. Collection agencies charge as much as 40 percent to bring in doubtful accounts. Why should our government expect us to do it for free, to pay a collector's license and pay again through the nose in penalties if we prove not too efficient in this business of collecting for the treasury?

And if you look at our taxing laws from the worms-eye viewpoint, dear John, don't overlook The Income Tax Act. Here again the small businessman is serving as an unpaid collector for National Revenue. He must remit payroll deductions by the 15th of the following month, or else. He is not only a collector of Income Tax; he pays through the nose, too, and he may be paying another $400 or more to an outside accountant because the Revenue boys are not satisfied with his system of bookkeeping.

Dear John, it sometimes seems to this one owner of a small business that his government keeps a corps of slap-happy heavy-weights hovering impatiently just beyond the floodlights, ready to pounce on any upstart who dares enter the business ring despite the odds against him. If one carries enough weight, the Treasury referees use the slow count (or the fast write-off). If one fails to connect (or have the proper connections), he's down for the count. And how those federal tax-collectors seem to revel in pushing our noses into the canvas.

Dear John, if you find time to measure the competency of those tax-gatherers in the Revenue branch, please use the Golden Rule. Throw out of their soft sits all those who have yet to hear the age-old dictum "do unto others as you would have others do unto you."

We are not only being taxed to death, we are being harried, too. And we don't like it.

Open Letter From Former Mayor On Civic Improvements Article

Lachute, June 26, 1957

Civic Improvements Committee,
Lachute Chamber of Commerce

Gentlemen:

I have read with interest your suggestions on muncipal problems in Greater Lachute, as published recently in The Lachute Watchman.

As a citizen and former mayor of Lachute, I take the privilege of discussing with you certain items in your civic program.

I am in complete accord with your views on a new valuation roll, which should be entrusted to experts in this field — experts from outside the community, it goes without saying. In fact, in 1953 during my term as mayor, I agitated for such a revision, but we received a rebuff, especially from "higher-up" ratepayers who appeared (and who still appear) more interested in their own estate than in the civic welfare.

I have no share whatever in your basic criticism of our waterworks system and of our water supply. I would urge you to make a complete inspection of our system, from its source to its farthest extremities; then you will have a working idea of what an aqueduct system is, and exactly what improvements could be undertaken.

Gentlemen, in view of your keen, constructive interest in civic administration (as evidenced in your article), why not interest yourselves right now in the next municipal elections, which will take place in the beginning of February. Pick out the candidates who will fulfill your ideas. I always thought it was at the council meetings these were threshed out — just such contentious matters should be, as you have enumerated in your "brief".

I would suggest, moreover, that the mayor and councillors should receive some honorarium or recompense for the services they render to their community. This would make the office entrusted to them, not only an honor conferred by their fellows, but the duty of any honest citizen towards his municipality and its inhabitants.

In conclusion, I warmly congratulate you on having studied our faults and deficiences, and for having discussed and aired them so frankly.

— Jules Lafleur, M.D.

Bowling Lease Is Extended For Another Year

July 3, 1957

G. A. Downing, Secretary,
Lachute Chamber of Commerce,
Lachute, Que.

Dear Mr. Downing:

I wrote you on May 28 in connection with the bowling alleys above our store in Lachute.

Since receiving your letter we have received many others from business men and others in influence in the Town of Lachute.

I am very happy to advise that today we wrote to Mr. Albright our landlord, giving him instructions to extend the lease to the proprietors of the bowling alleys for another 12-month period.

It is just possible that after that time we may require the premises for storage, but in the meantime bowling will go on in Lachute this fall and winter.

I appreciate your writing to me and am glad that we can pass on this news to you.

We appreciate the goodwill which exists between our company and the good people of Lachute, and too, we appreciate the splendid support we receive from them businesswise.

With my best wishes,

Sincerely yours,

"Culture for the Masses"

I don't quite know what's happened to camp this year. Since I've been connected with the organization, it has been sadly lacking in cultural activity. But this year we're positively loaded with the stuff and camp is beginning to take on all the aspects of a CBC Wednesday night.

We have, for a start, David who is charged with taking dramatics while the girls are here. Next, we have Alex and Sylvia who are sharing a cabin with two cellos and an assortment of musical instruments as honeymoon companions. And, then, we have "Sparrow".

Dear "Sparrow" — the nickname with which Mary Kaye saddled the poor girl on the first day of camp, "for convenience sake" — exudes culture from every pore. She can usually be seen strolling through camp with a large tome from which she hums, whistles, gurgles and gargles snatches of obscure folk-song melodies. Or, if one catches her in her rare moments of relaxation, one usually finds her cloistered in the Clinic with Tolstoy or Hume, whom she blandly considers "light reading".

It came as no surprise to us, therefore, to find culture taking top priority when the matter of the staff show was mooted last week.

"Saturday night is the counsellor-staff show, don't forget," Miss Mattison announced out of a clear blue sky last Wednesday. "So get your thinking caps on and decide what we can do for skits."

I ran mentally through my repertoire of comic sketches and decided I would be responsible for hamming up opera. But I hadn't reckoned with the exponents of culture.

"All the men will dress up as French chorus girls and do the can-can!" Mary Kaye flatly stated.

"No they won't," we males bellowed in concert.

"Oh yes they will," Mattison retorted.

"Now just a minute," Babineau said, heatedly. "You can drag me up to meals, and you can tell me how to act in the camp area. But when it comes to boating, canoeing and making a fool of myself in public, I'll tell you what I'm going to do!"

And, so saying, he stalked out of the meeting.

"Well," chirped Sparrow, who had been waiting for a moment of dissention to produce her master plan, "I propose we do a limited version of 'Peter and the Wolf' with all the staff taking part."

I don't know yet how the fool scheme got underway but before we men could tell what was happening, we found ourselves being arrayed in outlandish costumes as cats, ducks, hunters, peasant girls, etc. and were propelled on stage to Sparrow's sporadic musical score and hammed-up narration.

The part of the grandfather fell to my lot, fortunately. It was not difficult and I was only required to stagger up the aisle on a clinic crutch, enter a make-believe house through the fireplace screen and lie down in what we normally use as a pulpit on Sundays.

From my vantage point, I got a wonderful view of proceedings. First, I spied Miss Mattison as the duck, firmly entrenched in a wash tub which was supposed to represent a pond. Next, my gaze caught the protuding posterior of Mary Kaye who, as the bird, had climbed into a hat-rack and was clinging desperately to her precarious perch. That was when hysterics overcame me and I was forced to poke my head into the pulpit and roar with uncontrollable laughter.

"It seemed to go very well," Sparrow beamed after the kids had gone to bed, "except for grandfather and his hysteria. Have you no soul?" she enquired, glowering at me.

"He has a soul," Babineau helpfully answered. "What he's worried about is whether you and the rest of the women up here have any heart."

But Sparrow didn't wait to give an answer. She had a date, it seems, with the wolf — or some reasonable facsimile.

UNHAPPY FACTS ABOUT UN

Twice a member of Winston Churchill Cabinets and a leading figure in atomic research in Britain, Lord Cherwell fears that many of us are under a dangerous delusion concerning the United Nations organization.

As illustration, here are a few excerpts from a speech he recently made in the House of Lords:

"I hate living in a fool's paradise, and though, like everyone else, I wish the United Nations could work, I have come reluctantly to the view that, in its present form, it cannot . . . UN consists of some seventy-nine nations supposed to be sovereign and independent . . . They range from the giant powers, Soviet Russia, and the United States, to tiny entities like Panama and Iceland . . . Yet in the Assembly . . . the ultimate governing body . . . each has an equal vote. Thus, barely 5 percent of the world's population can carry the day against the other 95 percent.

"There is no pretence that it (the Assembly) is a judicial body. No sworn evidence is taken or obtainable. There is no . . . recognized body of law . . . Even if we accept this weird UN body as the ultimate tribunal it would be no good whatever unless it had some way of enforcing its decisions. We are told that in that case all we have to do is to endow UN with a police force. . . . What sort of police force would be required to turn Russia out of Hungary, or America out of Formosa, should the Afro-Asian bloc, voting with the Latin-American or the Iron Curtain countries, secure a vote to this effect in the Assembly?

"If force is ruled out, what about economic sanctions? The objection to these is that they can be applied only against some nations while others are immune . . . What would be the use of trying to impose them on Russia?

"Finally, we are told that no nation can stand out against world opinion . . . Surely this is wishful thinking. By a huge majority, UN has called upon Russia to withdraw its forces from Hungary. Has the moral effect of this resolution had any effect? Ask the Hungarians.

"To sum up, I do not think that UN, at any rate in its present form, can work. It . . . can be exploited by nations who wish to break the law, provided that they have powerful friends who will interpose on their behalf . . . It is high time that these facts should be stated plainly, unhappy as they are; otherwise, we may continue to be lulled into a false sense of security and hope by the eloquent, ardent and often high-minded, but, I fear, misguided advocates of this forlorn experiment in idealism."

It could hardly be argued that we should not have tried, or should now abondon it. But it is obvious that the UN does not yet provide an easy and certain road to peace.

ALL ABOARD
With G. E. Mortimore

Los Angeles is considering a law to jail home-owners who won't mow their lawns.

An "eyesore ordinance" would require people to keep houses painted, lawns watered and cut under penalty of a $500 fine or six months in jail.

The idea is to stop a man from letting his place run down, hurting the property values of neighbors.

This law will mark another step in the campaign to convert all North America into one large, neat and dismal suburb, graded by income zones.

Even in such a well-ordered society, however, the Joe Fridays of the Home and Garden Squad will have to keep alert for numerous threats to property values.

Reluctantly, because it is their job, they will have to arrest householders for harboring an illegal daisy, or letting schizophrenias grow in the petunia bed.

It will be necessary for the law to crack down upon ill-advised citizens who try to get away with operating only one Ford in a two-Cadillac zone. Many a real estate deal has been nipped in the bud by the sight of a lower-price car standing outside a neighbor's house.

Many a client trembling on the point of purchase has broken and run for shelter when he perceived a man across the street cutting the lawn with an ordinary hand mower.

Such callous cheapening of property values will no longer be tolerated, when the new order comes in. There may even be unscrupulous folk who deliberately strike at the neighbors by refusing to have a TV aerial installed, thus labelling their street a depressed area. Be assured, they will be sternly dealt with. They will be forced not only to put in TV sets, but to watch them as well.

Police will be on hand to speak firmly to any lout who doesn't prune the rose-bushes, neglects brushing his teeth twice a day or fails to guard against underarm odor.

PRIZES PRIZES

On account of there being no Lachute Watchman last week we are extending the time limit on your answers to our Dairy Losses Quiz till July 23.

Remember, there is no catch in this, other than in your own pocketbook.

Figure up how many cows in your herd had one or more of these causes of loss, then figure up how much this loss has cost you in milk not given. Turn this milk into dollars and cents at the price you are getting for your milk and mark this amount with the dollars and cents of the cost of replacements in the column Total Losses. When completed mail, send or bring it to me not later than July 23.

That is not hard and in addition to knowing your losses, we will reward the first ten best answers with Two Checkerboard pencils and your choice of either a beautiful Checkerboard Apron or Jacknife. All others will receive a Checkerboard Pencil. Won't you do it now. Delays are dangerous.

The marriage of Beverly Anne Johnston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Johnston to M. Barry Martin, son of Tom Martin and Mrs. E. Walker, took place recently in the Brownsburg United Church, the Rev. Garfield Bruce officiating.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white silk organza over taffeta with trim of Alencon lace and iridescent sequins and pearls. A headdress of lace and pearls held her fingertip veil and she carried a bouquet of sweetheart roses and stepanotis.

Miss Ruth Rae Walker was bridesmaid, and Miss Gail Johnston, niece of the bride, was flower girl.

Miss Walker wore a white sheer over pink gown, with Empire bodice and short bolero with small feathered hat to match. She carried a bouquet of pink and white shasta daisies.

Little Miss Johnston wore white nylon over pink taffeta with pink sash, and crown of pink daisies. She carried a basket of pink and white shasta daisies.

Gerald Mercer was best man and the ushers were Robert Johnston, Jr., and Allan Johnston, brothers of the bride, and John Swaine.

Following the reception in the church hall, Mr. and Mrs. Martin left for the Laurentians and New York.

Upon their return, the bridal couple will reside in Montreal.

Active Month Reported At B'burg United Church

Sunday School sessions terminated with a picnic on June 20, and will not reopen until after the summer holidays.

Three wedding ceremonies were performed in the church by the Rev. Bruce, during June and early in July, and the wedding suppers were catered for by the Senior W.A. with the help of some of the members of the Junior W.A.

The Rev. Bruce and family left on July 8 for Westfield, N.B., where they will remain until August 8. He is being replaced for the first three Sundays during his absence by Mr. J. E. Davis, of Ville LaSalle, and on the fourth Sunday by Dr. John Heyworth.

Flowers on the altar on Sunday morning, July 14, were in memory of the late Mrs. J. Golden, and were placed there by the family.

The various organizations of the church will, as is customary, discontinue during the months of July and August.

Written Specially for The Lachute Watchman
By Mary Burke
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Canada's population growth and more job opportunities for women have resulted in a "dramatic increase" in the number of working women.

Every fourth woman in Canada is employed, and she may be a wife, mother or even a grandmother, says Marion Royce of the women's bureau of the federal labor department at Ottawa.

Between the ages of 45 and 6 more women, with grown-up families and lessened home responsibilities, are at paying jobs outside the home, Miss Royce says.

The participation of married women in the labor force has risen steadily since 1951 when one-third were working wives.

The reason: Younger marriages in an age of expanding business where more jobs are available. Shorter working hours and time-saving household appliances enable more housewives to work.

The most popular jobs with married women are those that require household skills and that can easily be combined with running a house.

In office work they meet competition, says Miss Royce, with younger and often better-trained girls.

However, she says, married women with previous experience as stenographers or other professional work have little difficulty continuing — or returning — to work after marriage.

Children Should Walk

Make your youngsters walk instead of being driven around in autos or else we might eventually breed a physically-useless, big-headed human race.

That's the advice of psychologist A. E. Cox of the University of British Columbia.

He criticized the "ceaseless hauling" of children to and from schools, Scouts and Girl Guides meetings and even shops.

Mrs. O. H. New, president of the Vancouver parent-teacher council, agreed. "My children walk to school always but these days, parents tend to pamper their children by driving them everywhere. They will become physically lazy," she says.

Children should be taught independence at an early age, says Mr. Cox. "I believe children should walk wherever they're going but I felt a little unfair in saying so.

"Personally, I have to admit I drive my car a few hundred yards to the store!"

Hearty Salads

"Hit the nail on the head" where salads and the men in your house are concerned, says H. J. Maybee of the Agriculture department.

For a stouthearted supper salad plate, he recommends "dressing with some pep in it," to top it off.

Mr. Maybee says meat is a must. "Cold tongue, ham or cold jellied pork hocks are good. Also if a salad is to be the main dish, it should have plenty of potatoes."

Dressing should have some "kick and character" and not be just a bland lubrication. Onion, vinegar and garlic are needed.

Christian Dior's press showing of his autumn lines in his New York salon this week stirred a real feeling of excitement among fashion experts.

Main theme of his collection were coats and dresses that are built rather than fitted. They stand out from the body with curves only indicated but are cut so expertly they move perfectly with the wearer.

Whole or partial belts are a bit lower than the waistline. To gain the right proportion skirts are slightly longer.

Noted in the collection was the effect of width and bulk across the shoulders. Collars stand away from the neck. Tubular sleeves are cut on the bias to stand away from the arm. They are three-quarter length.

Dior skirts in suits are slim and narrow. They give the wearer "walking ease" from the slits with pieces of the same material under them.

A masterful Dior touch highlighting the show was the fold-over in a coat dress that makes it look as if there was an underskirt.

Short cocktail dresses were shown in heavy silks in the "stand-away" theme. Skirts belled out. Necklines were boat shaped, slit in front and not touching the wearer.

July Is The Time For Jelly Making

July berries make wonderful jellies that add color and sparkle to wintertime meals. Tart, ruby-red currant jelly is a favorite with chicken; currant-raspberry jelly makes a pretty garnish for desserts and a refreshing spread for toast or muffins; green gooseberry jelly is good both with meats and as a spread. For recipes, refer to Consumer Section Bulletin No. 992 Jams, Jellies and Pickles available free from Information Service, Canada Department of Agriculture Ottawa, Ontario.

Gooseberries have many uses. For those who like acid fruits gooseberry pies, tarts and puddings are a must. To prepare gooseberries for cooking, wash, then remove stems and tails. For a different sauce to serve with meat, try stewed gooseberries sweetened and spiced with vinegar, cloves and cinnamon, then cooked to a jelly. (Consumer Section, Canada Department of Agriculture.)

Currants are prized as fresh whole fruit, for juice, in jellies and jams, and in baked products. The fresh berries, sugared and chilled, then topped with cream, or combined with other fresh fruits, are a special treat. The bright red color and perky flavor of currants add taste appeal to muffins or cinnamon roll filling and currant juice is a popular base for fruit punches, sherbets and ices.

To make currant juice: wash, measure and crush currants thoroughly. Add one cup of water for each cup of currants. Bring to boil and simmer covered, 10 minutes. Strain through moistened jelly bag. Add sugar to taste. (Consumer Section, Canada Department of Agriculture.)

If you want to make jams and jellies from the currants, gooseberries and raspberries now in season but haven't the time, why not freeze the fruits? Freezing will preserve their fresh flavor and good color until you get around to using them. Currants and gooseberries may be frozen without sugar but the flavor of frozen raspberries will be better if sugar is added. (Consumer Section, Canada Department of Agriculture.

New Combination For Egg Salad Sandwiches, etc.

Does your family like egg salad sandwiches? If so, they are sure to enjoy the same egg mixture on a salad plate with fresh crisp vegetables. For a salad, cut the hard-cooked eggs, green onions and celery in larger pieces than for sandwiches so that each will retain its identity, season and toss lightly together with mayonnaise or boiled dressing. Try serving the egg salad in one of these ways, along with potato or macaroni salad and refreshing summer greens:

(1) Cut tomato into section leaving intact at the stem. Spread sections apart, turn upsidedown for a few minutes to drain off excess juice, then fill with egg salad.

(2) Hollow out lengthwise halves of cucumbers and fill with egg salad . . . or for a backyard picnic use wiener rolls, instead of cucumbers. Decorate the children's salads to look like "boats". (e.g. two or three carrot sticks to look like smokestacks, or a small green onion as mast with thin slice of turnip as sail.)

(3) Use as stuffing for celery.

(4) Fill bologna corcucopias or sliced ham rolls with egg salad.

(5) Pack into custard cups, chill, unmould on lettuce . . . or use ice cream scoop to serve.

Summer Camping

(Copyright) — By NANCY CLEAVER —

A summer camp experience for your son or daughter is one of the finest investments which parents can make. A generous gift to a Fresh Air or Church camp for underprivileged children spells health and happy memories for boys and girls who need "a break." Instead of so much talk about youth problems and juvenile delinquency, Canadians would do well to take a good look at the camp movement and give their wholehearted support to the camps in their area.

There are many benefits for a child attending a good camp. This can be a very useful part in the education of a boy or girl. It is a real adventure to be away from home, far from the supervision of parents. The camper must learn to work and play happily with other campers and take directions from members of the camp staff.

Before agreeing to this expense and this separation from a son or daughter, parents want to be sure that the particular camp in question is in the hands of capable people. Is the director the kind of person who will look after your child's welfare? Are the counsellors chosen carefully?

Is every precaution taken to prevent accidents, particularly during the swimming and boating hours? What about the standing of cleanliness and food provided? Are the meals well-balanced, attractive and sufficient in quantity to satisfy hearty appetites? What about the camp program — is there good leadership for different interests and equipment for handicrafts, sports and other recreation? Where do the campers sleep, and is the tent or cabin and the bed all right? These are just a few of the many questions conscientious mothers want to ask.

One of the best ways to find out about a camp is to talk with campers and the parents of campers who attended camp the summer before. Are the campers enthusiastic about that camp? Were mother and dad satisfied with their investment in a holiday at camp for their youngster?

Camp opens many new doors. . . One of the most useful things which it accomplishes is that children receive regular expert instruction in swimming and in handling boats. The handicraft interest groups often initiate a boy or girl into a hobby which will be enjoyed for a long time.

In the campfire evening programs, youngsters find a new delight in singing, in dramatics, in story telling and reading aloud. In the informal talks and discussion groups many campers stumble on new ideas. The democratic atmosphere of camp breaks down foolish religion and racial prejudices which many children acquire from thoughtless adults.

In terms of learning to stand on one's own feet and not be too dependent on home, in the ability to make friends, in the skills and ideas which are gained, camp pays big dividends. A week or longer living in the out-of-doors at camp gives a child, at a very impressionable age, a wonderful enjoyment of Nature — of the wildlife in the woods, of flowers and trees and stars. A Vesper Service in an outdoor chapel is a worship experience a camper may never forget.

Last, but not least, during the camp period the parents and the child have a holiday from each for a few weeks, wile his brother, need it! Without a doubt, after this separation, they will appreciate each other more. If at all possible, don't let summer pass without your child getting to camp!

"For once you have been a camper,
Something has come to stay
Deep in your heart forever,
Which nothing can take away;
And Heaven can only be Heaven
With a camp in which to play."

WOO APPETITES WITH SOUP, SALADS

Lunching under sunny skies, by the shade of a lacy willow tree. From such happy times come the fond memories of June, so dear to us all.

Spread the table with simple fare. Summer appetites are wooed by appetizing plain "vittles"—like hot savory soup; and makings for cool, green salads.

When you eat out on the porch or in the yard, you're eager to keep it easy. What could be easier than a pot of soup? Next to it a tray of sliced tomatoes and cucumbers, green onions, radishes, cottage cheese and/or ham strips. Then every man for himself; fix and mix your salad any way you like. And corn oil and vinegar to dress it. Take some potato chips to crunch with soup and salad.

The pitcher is brimful of clinking ice cubes and amber-clear tea. Just a fresh-fruit dessert; the glass dish heaped with sliced peaches and strawberries. Around it, chewy nut brownies.

Sum up a memorable soup to match the memorable day. Start with the good, ever-faithful soups from cans. Add one or more—for extra specials (the latter).

GARDEN GUMBO

1 can (1¼ cups) condensed cream of asparagus soup
1 can (1¼ cups) condensed chicken gumbo soup
1 soup-can water

Pour asparagus soup into pan; stir in gumbo soup and water. Blend and heat well. Pour into 2 or 3 bowls.

TRIPLE CHICKEN SOUP

1 can (1¼ cups) condensed chicken gumbo soup
1 can (1¼ cups) condensed chicken with rice soup
1 can (1¼ cups) condensed chicken noodle soup
2 soup-cans water

Pour soups into pan; stir to blend. (For extra flavour, you may like to sprinkle in some sweet basil). Simmer till good and hot. Ladle into 4 or 5 bowls.

SOUP SCOOPS

DADS PLAN SUMMER OUTINGS

Many Dads like to plan trips or similar outings. Please them at no fuss by having picnic food handy. Line lunch basket with canned foods—spaghetti in tomato sauce, meat sauce for spaghetti, and whole kernel corn. Round up the three into a one-pan supper. Just heat spaghetti, meat sauce, and corn in the frying pan over your campfire. Let it simmer a bit. The gang will gather round to plea, "Let's eat. We're starving." Round out their plates with deviled eggs, pickles and radishes, bread and butter sandwiches. Then "divvy up" watermelon. Pass fig cookies.

Consumer Section Fresh Apricot Pie Recipe Released

Fresh apricots should be plump, fairly firm and of a uniformly gold color. Ripe fruit should be covered and stored in the refrigerator. Slightly green fruit should be ripened at room temperature.

Although apricots are used similarly to peaches, it is not necessary to peel apricots as the skin is very tender. This delicate summer fruit is good when canned, spiced, pickled or made into jam or conserve and it may be frozen successfully, also.

Fresh raw apricots are colorful and appetizing in salads, in light summer desserts and simply sliced and served with cream. They may be stewed in a syrup, puréed and used in beverages and whips, or baked in puddings, tarts and pies.

Now is a good time to try this two-crust Apricot Pie recipe from the Consumer Section:

Fresh Apricot Pie

Pastry for a two-crust 9-inch pie, 1 cup sugar, 4 tablespoons flour, 4 cups apricots cut in quarters, 1 tablespoon butter.

Line a 9-inch pie plate with half the pastry. Combine sugar and flour, add to apricots and mix lightly. Turn fruit onto lower crust. Dot with butter. Cover with top crust and seal edges. Bake in a hot oven (425°F.) until crust is golden brown, 50 to 60 minutes. This will make six servings.

Stitching Fabrics

When stitching fabrics made of synthetic fibres, the thread should also be of a man-made fibre. Otherwise the result may be disappointing. For instance, seams will pucker. Or if the fabric is long-wearing and the thread is not, seams will pop long before the garment is worn out.

Arundel Women's Institute Holds Annual Bazaar

The Women's Institute of Arundel held their annual Bazaar on Saturday evening, July 13, in the School Auditorium. Although the attendance was not as large as usual, due to the threatening weather, a substantial sum was realized for the work of the branch.

The Institute largely donates to the school by a scholarship, a school fair in the fall and to the purchase of prizes for the scholars. Instead of the usual variety program, a departure was made this year and articles donated by the members were auctioned off, Mrs. E. A. Bulley acting as auctioneer, all of which helped to the fun of the evening.

The officers and members of the Institute take this opportunity to thank all those who so generously contributed and who also supported the bazaar so generously.

Quebec Farm Forum Members Win National Leadership Awards

— Engraving courtesy The Huntingdon Gleaner

Walter Hodgman, Birchton, and Fred Green, Coaticook, each won a National Leadership Award for their efforts in promoting the Farm Radio Forum program during the past year. The awards, a piece of monogrammed Samsonite luggage, were made by Dr. H. H. Hannam, president of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture, on the occasion of the National Farm Radio Forum Conference held in Shediac, N.B., recently. Mr. Hodgman had served two years as president of Quebec Farm Radio Forum, while Mr. Green, a previous award winner, has written many newspaper articles in support of Farm Forum.

Five other members also won awards. They represent the provinces of New Brunswick, Ontario, and Alberta.

The Conference reviewed the activities of Farm Radio Forum in the past season. National secretary, Mr. Floyd Griesbach, reported that there were slightly over 900 active Farm Forums last year. Prof. W. B. Baker, Saskatchewan University, reported that the results of a survey carried out in Saskatchewan last winter indicate that television does not cause very many people to stay away from Farm Forum meetings. He stated that the satisfaction which members experience who take part in Farm Forum discussions seems to more than outweigh the satisfaction experienced by the same persons when watching TV programs. There was, he said, no other Rural Adult Education Project presently in Saskatchewan, which could duplicate Farm Radio Forum.

The Farm Radio Forum listening audience is not limited to just those persons taking part in Farm Forum discussions, according to Mr. R. G. Knowles, supervisor of the CBC Farm and Fisheries Department. He stated that a poll conducted last year shows that many city dwellers listen to the program, and that the Farm Forum rural listening audience is surpassed by that of only three other programs. These are the CBC News, the weather reports, and the noon farm broadcast.

Mr. Nicholson, producer of Farm Radio Forum, told the Conference that during the coming year an effort will be made to have Farm Forum broadcasts televised over a small area. It is not definite yet as to which TV station will carry the broadcasts.

Manitoba Forums have invited the Conference to Manitoba for its 1958 meeting. The invitation was issued by Mrs. Margaret Duncan on behalf of Manitoba members. Barring unforeseen circumstances, the invitation will be accepted.

Pretty Wedding of Local Interest Held Recently in Avoca Baptist Church

Arthurs - Bigelow

A pretty wedding of interest took place recently in Avoca Baptist Church when Doreen Frances Bigelow became the bride of Everett James Arthurs.

The bride is the daughter of Mr and Mrs. William Rupert Bigelow, of Calumet, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Irwin Arthurs, of Avoca.

The Rev. William Toller performed the afternoon ceremony against a background of white and pink peonies and ferns. The organ wedding music was played by Guy Bastien.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and was attended by her sister, Miss Emma Bigelow.

David Foreman was best man and ushers were Robert Perry and Donald Brigden.

A floor-length gown of white Chantilly lace and nylon net over satin was chosen by the bride. The fitted bodice was styled with a V-neckline and a bouffant skirt. A sequin trimmed bandeau held in place her matching shoulder-length veil and her bouquet was a cascade of red roses.

The bridesmaid wore a gown of pale blue chiffon and net over satin with a matching jacket and headpiece. She carried a bouquet of bronze chrysanthemums.

The bride's mother wore a navy blue silk dress with white accessories and a corsage of red roses.

The groom's mother wore a two-piece navy blue linen suit, with white accessories and a corsage of red roses.

Following the ceremony, a supper was served at the home of the groom's parents. In the evening a reception was held in the Avoca Community Hall in honor of the bride and groom. Following the reception the couple left on a wedding trip to Niagara Falls, Port Colborne and other points.

For travelling, the bride wore a white eyelet-embroidered cotton dress. Her accessories were in white and blue and her corsage a bouquet of red roses.

The couple will make their home in Calumet Bay.

OF MANY THINGS

By Ambrose Hills

Election Upset Explained

Because experts called the election shots so badly, I don't trust the rash of explanations now being made so glibly — except the following one by a man who never claimed to be expert at all.

He's a farmer. One who knew his own mind. He told me why voters upset the administration.

"You know," he said, in answer to my question, "my neighbor and I went over the whole thing. It wasn't wheat. Sure, we were sore about wheat — but that didn't do it. It wasn't the pipeline business either, though we were sore about that, too."

"Go on," I urged him. "What was it, then?"

'Ever travel TCA or CNR?'

I nodded, remembering more than one occasion when I'd been ready to join a revolution.

"Everybody," he said, "has bumped into bureaucracy somewhere along the line and been sore. Sore at some of those CBC shows, sore at the Liquor Store, sore at the Income Tax, sore at the pension board and all the rest of it. And some of us have bumped into something else."

"Name it," said I.

"Some of us have gone to Ottawa, and talked to Ministers of the Government, and come away satisfied. Then a few months later — found out they couldn't do what they said they'd do.

Those Ministers didn't run their departments — the bureaucrats did. Those government companies and civil servants are mighty powerful. Anyhow, that's what my neighbor and I have been thinking. The people are fed up with bureaucrats. . . "

"But what'll happen?" I asked. "They'll still be there, won't they?"

"Maybe they will,' he said. "But my neighbor and I got to thinking how good it'd be if this country went back to the old days where the victor claimed the spoils. Wouldn't give bureaucrats a chance to burrow in."

So there you have a non-expert report on what happened. Maybe the farmer and his neighbor aren't too far out.

Local Couple United in Marriage in Ceremony at St. Mungo's United

Boa - Smith

The marriage of Ruby Albina, daughter of Mr. Laughlin Smith and the late Mrs. Smith to Lloyd Richard Boa, son of Mr. and Mrs. Allan Boa, of Upper Lachute, took place on June 29 in St. Mungo's United Church, Cushing, the Rev. J. Ralph Watson officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Mrs. V. Elliott was organist, and the church was beautifully decorated with roses, ferns and pink and white peonies.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and wore pale blue Chantilly lace over nylon taffeta, a small white feather hat and veil studded with iridescent sequins and white accessories and carried red roses and white carnations. Miss Laura Currans was bridesmaid and wore pale yellow nylon sheer over taffeta and white accessories and carried pink and white carnations.

Howard Boa, brother of the groom, was best man, while the ushers were Lyall Kennedy, brother-in-law of the bride, and Harold Silverson.

Following the wedding, the reception was held at the home of the groom's parents, where pink and white streamers and wedding bells formed the decorations, the tables being decorated with pink roses, and the bridal table was centred with a three-tier wedding cake.

The happy couple left by motor amid showers of confetti to Caledonia, Niagara Falls and other points, the bride travelling in a white linen dress trimmed with navy blue with navy duster coat and hat and accessories to match, with a corsage of pink carnations.

Brownsburg Wolf Cubs Attend Summer Camp; Earn Numerous Badges

Brownsburg — The happiest youngsters in town on June 22 were the 23 Wolf Cubs of the Brownsburg Pack as they set out for a week of camping at Camp MacAuley, L'Orignal. Like true cubs they braved the lashings of 'Audrey' and the numerous spells of terrential rain and won for themselves twelve Observer, eight Swimmer and three Athlete badges. In addition, there were twelve First Aid and five Artist badges, making a total of 40 proficiency badges awarded.

No organized athletic tournaments were staged due to the inclemency of the weather, but the Brownsburg Pack demonstrated their superiority in softball when Pat Donvito pitched a three inning 12-0 no-hitter against the Longue Pointe All-Stars.

Also in spite of the poor weather, the boys were able to swim twice a day, enjoyed one long hike through the surrounding countryside, followed by a campfire and weiner roast on the beach, and all managed to come home with good, healthy tans.

With outdoor activities curtailed, the boys and their leaders staged amateur shows, each one contributing according to his own special talents. Gerald Beecroft shone as a raconteur and clown. Kevin Izzard and John Maitland put on a sensational tumbling act, and boy-baritone, Guy Goudreau, revived that classical ballad of Davy Crockett, delighting all Davy's former fans.

The Boy Scouts Association wish to thank all those who helped to make the Cub Camp an outstanding success.

The following Cubs won proficiency badges:

Observer — K. Izzard, R. Rutherford, C. Pariseau, R. Murdoch, V. Thompson, V. Stilwell, G. Beecroft, G. Goudreau, G. Camus, J. Maitland, J. Atkins, P. Thompson.

Athlete — D. Villard, R. Hazel, K. Izzard.

First Aid — R. Murdoch, K. Campbell, V. Thompson, C. Pariseau, V. Stilwell, J. Atkins, S. Welburn, K. Izzard, G. Goudreau, J. Maitland, P. Donvito G. Gervais.

Swimmer — W. Seary, P. Donvito, R. Hazel, D. Villard, G. Gervais, R. Zetchus, R. Rutherford, H. Ross.

Artist — G. Beecroft, R. Zetchus, K. Campbell, R. Murdoch, S. Welburn.

Brownsburg Ball Team Defeated by Buckingham; Murdoch Hits Home Run

Manager Jimmy Murdoch, long known for the frequency of his hits but never for their length, smashed a line drive home run over the 350 foot left field fence in the Sunday contest against Buckingham. This was his first official homer in twenty-five years of baseball and to make it a really good day he smashed a double and two singles to go four for five.

Buckingham took advantage of several mental lapses by Brownsburg to score fifteen runs on twenty-one hits. Brownsburg bats hit hard for eight runs on twelve hits, but lost out badly in the slugfest.

Yves Raymond hit a home run and two singles in four official trips to the plate and Germain Gagné smashed a three-run homer and a single in five "at bats". Georges Raymond doubled and Billy Cribb and Ron Cousineau filled out the attack with singles.

Georges Raymond, the starting pitcher was tagged with the loss. He moved to the field trailing by three runs which Brownsburg never quite picked up.

The encouraging aspect for Brownsburg fans is that the attack is back. The fielding though will have to improve.

For Buckingham Jean Louis Bordeleau batted in six runs with a triple, a single and two doubles. Pilotte doubled once and singled three times. Bourassa tripled for the only other long hit.

This week Buckingham visits Brownsburg. The game starts at 2.30 p.m.

Every Week Is "Water Safety Week" Swimming Instruction at Rotary Pool

—By Barbara Wilson —

Although Water Safety Week has come and gone, willing workers in the Brownsburg community are deeply conscious that every week during the summer season must be regarded as a safety week.

Two C-I-L employees, David MacKay, chairman of the Red Cross Safety Committee, and Charles Marston, are chiefly concerned in the Red Cross project of teaching children the basic fundamentals of swimming, firstly, and then the more difficult strokes. Mr. MacKay reports that he and the committee have received capable assistance from local residents, both men and women, who have turned out to teach the children on Tuesday and Thursday evenings from five to six o'clock, even though this time may prove to be inconvenient to some of the helpers.

The swimming classes are being resumed for the first time in three years. The Rotary Swimming Pool is situated on the outskirts of Brownsburg about 100 yards from the main road. The pool is approximately 50 x 100 feet, and the depth is not excessive, reaching only to an adult's shoulders.

A group of 85 eager children attended the first lesson, and since then an average of 50 have turned out at each successive class, with the exception of rainy and uncomfortable, cool evenings. The majority of these children are within the 3½ to 11 age limits, with about 12 over this age group. These 12, who can swim comparatively well, plan to commence practice on life-saving techniques under the direction of Charles Marston. It is expected that a greater number of teen-agers will join in these activities. Techniques which will be adopted in the life-saving course will, in all probability, be the Holger-Nielsen and the Shaeffer methods.

All children may be examined if they wish by Red Cross supervisors, who will visit Brownsburg sometime in August. Badges may be won in the following classes — Juvenile, Intermediate, Junior, and Senior. The older juveniles, training in life-saving techniques, may also undergo tests.

The children are grouped according to age and ability; usually eight are assigned to an instructor. Very few have evidenced fear of the water, the instructors report; the majority have splashed around happily and have quickly learned the "dead man's float", then the "dog paddle", and finally the side-stroke. More difficult strokes, such as the crawl, will not be taught until the pupils are properly advanced.

It is reported that a large number from the Lachute district have been attending the classes, as well as children from Brownsburg and outlying areas. The first task is to teach them how to keep themselves afloat; more detailed instructions on water safety will come in time as the youngsters gradually improve.

Mr. MacKay and other instructors have stated that results have been highly encouraging — these swimming classes acting as a constructive step towards water safety for the community's children.

Lachute Resident In Fatal Crash Near Rouyn, Que.

A local driver, Réal Martin, met his death in a highway collision Monday evening near Rouyn. The accident occurred on the Trans-Canada highway. Driver of the other car involved, Gédéon Roy, of Johanne, near Rouyn, was also a victim in the double fatality.

Réal Martin, engineer in the employ of McColl-Frontenac Oil, came to Lachute two months ago from the Three Rivers territory of his company. He customarily made the Lachute-Rouyn trip every two weeks. Emmanuel Chauvin, district manager for the company, proceeded Wednesday by plane to the scene of the accident.

Thirty-three years of age, Mr. Martin occupied an apartment on Bedard Blvd., where his wife and two young children are left to mourn. The funeral will be held in Verdun, Que.

Traffic officers stated the two drivers, both unaccompanied, met in a head-on collision.

Serious Injuries When Town Truck Involved, Off-Duty

Yvon Larocque, 22-year-old son of Simard Larocque, assistant town foreman, and an employee of the Lachute Town Corporation, was severely injured at 11.20 p.m. Saturday when he lost control of the Corporation's 1957 Chevrolet truck on a curve a short distance from Lachute on Route 8.

Larocque is now undergoing treatment at the Hotel Dieu in St. Jerome, where he is suffering from a fractured hip and leg as well as other injuries. Medical reports indicate it may be necessary to amputate the leg. With Larocque at the time of the accident were Jean-Guy Prevost, 19, and Paul Trudel, 15, both of Lachute, who were treated for minor injuries at the Providence Hospital here, Prevost later being released.

Larocque was automatically relieved of his duties for an indefinite period, following the mishap in which the truck was damaged to the extent of $1,800.

No hearing of the case has as yet been requested and no charges have been laid. Traffic Officer Albt. Legault investigated the accident, turning all information over to Lachute Police Chief F. Trépanier, who is further investigating the case.

Mayor Léopold Carrière, in commenting on the incident, stated that the practice for the past several years has been to leave the corporation vehicle at the home of Mr. Larocque during the night and on week-ends, so that in an emergency it is available immediately.

Assistant Foreman Simard Larocque was out of town at the time the vehicle was "taken without permission."

Group Organizes for Ballet Classes Here

Several interested parents met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Gow, East Ward, Lachute ,on Monday evening, to discuss the possibility of forming a ballet group for their children. About 40 parents have already voiced their keen desire for such an undertaking, and the next step is to find a suitable hall with piano, at a reasonable cost.

A committee was appointed to investigate the hall problem, including — Mrs. Ernest Gow, Mrs. Alex Vessie and Mrs. Lorne Duncan.

Arrangements are being made to meet a representative of the Elizabeth Leece Ballet School of Westmount, in August, and the committee appointed for the purpose comprises — Mrs. Philippe Valois, Mrs. Jack Thorpe and Mrs. Jas. Pillage.

If all obligations and details are fulfilled, the classes will commence in the third week of September and continue for 32 weeks. The cost cannot be ascertained until the school representative is met, and the number of enrolments more accurately estimated.

Officers appointed pro-tem are: President, Jack F. Gorman; vice-pres., Mrs. E. Prophet; secretary-treasurer, Ernest Gow; representative of French group, Mrs. P. Valois; and the above-named committees.

Interested persons are asked to contact either Mr. and Mrs. E. Gow, or Mrs. P. Valois.

Church Minister to Exchange Roles With North Carolina Negro Pastor

Holiday Arrangement Month of August Sets Fine Precedent in Racial Amity

The Rev. Wilson Bridge, Minister of Lachute United Church

The Rev. Raphael Michael, Pastor, Little Rock Zion Church, North Carolina.

The Rev. E. Raphael Michael, a Negro minister of Charlotte, North Carolina, and the Rev. Wilson Bridge, of the Lachute United Church, plan to exchange pastorates for the month of August. Not only will they exchange pulpits, but also their residences, and any pastoral duties which members of their congregations wish to be performed.

It was during World War II that the Rev. Mr. Bridge first conceived the idea that he would like to work with the southern colored people, as at that time he was associated with Negro ministers and men in the services. A short time ago (he informs The Watchman) he happened to pick up the Hood Theological Seminary yearly, and the exchange idea then struck him.

The local minister immediately contacted Dr. Perry, an authority at the college, suggesting the idea of exchanging pulpits. His plan met with ready approval, 12 Negro ministers expressing their willingness to take over a white congregation for a month. However, the first letter which reached Mr. Bridge came from the Rev. E. R. Michael, of the Little Rock A.M.E. Zion Church, Charlotte, N.C. The elders of Lachute United Church gave their unanimous consent when approached by Mr. Bridge, and the matter was settled in May.

The Rev. E. R. Michael is a native of North Carolina. He received his training for the ministry in Livingstone College and Hood Theological Seminary, both situated in Sailsbury. He has been actively serving in the pastorate of Little Rock Methodist Church for the past 20 years, while his previous congregation was situated in Poughkeepsie, N.Y. He, his wife Elizabeth and their two daughters, Margaret Ann and Vernoca Louisa, 14 and 12 respectively, will occupy the United Church manse while here in Lachute.

The Rev. and Mrs. Wilson Bridge and son, Alexander, will likewise be visitors to the North Carolina manse, and the Rev. Bridge will preach to a membership of about 1,200 persons. He has stated that he will be happy to participate in any church or added activities, if required.

While the local minister is away the Rev. J. Ralph Watson, of St. Mungo's United Church, Cushing, will perform any duties required of him; however, the Rev. Michael, if requested, has pointed out his willingness to perform any functions of his ministerial office.

The Rev. Mr. Bridge expresses the hope that as many of the Lachute congregation as possible will take the opportunity of hearing the exchange minister during the coming month.

U. of M. Youth, Car Crash Victim, Is Related Here

In the tragic crash of a sports car near Kamouraska, which claimed the life of Francois St. Germain, of Westmount, and seriously injured his companion, Jean-Yves Durand — the latter was transferred from the Riviere du Loup hospital to the Montreal Neurological by quick collaboration of Gilbert Ayers and the pilots of his DC-3 plane, Ralph Allan and Jack Thorpe.

Both the youths were University of Montreal law students on vacation. Jean-Yves Durand, was brought to Montreal for an operation for severe head injuries. Durand, 22 years of age, is the brother-in-law of a local businessman, Armand Desrosiers. The latter, in his anxiety to reach the scene with medical specialists, appealed to the Lachute industrialist Gilbert Ayers — for whose assistance he signified to The Watchman he was deeply grateful.

Durand was injured early Saturday in an accident near Kamouraska, when the European-model car in which he was driving left the road and over-turned in a field.

Francois St. Germain, son of Dr. and Mrs. J. Prud'homme St. Germain, Westmount, died in St. Joseph's Hospital, Riviere du Loup, a few hours after the smash.

Durand, son of Dr. Martial Durand, was at first also taken to the Riviere du Loup Hospital, where he hovered "between life and death." Dr. William Cone, noted Montreal neurologist; his nurse, Miss Phoebe Stanley; Dr. Jacques Gagnon, of Verdun Hospital; and Armand Desrosiers, flew to Rimouski in the Ayers plane, after which they motored to Riviere du Loup.

The family then hired a small U.S. Air Force helicopter to have the victim removed to Montreal. The American craft, however, proved too small and an RCAF "Flying Banana" helicopter was dispatched from Rockcliffe, Ottawa. This craft flew the victim to Quebec City and rough weather prevented it from continuing to Montreal for a landing at McGill University's Molson Stadium. Durand, still unconscious and undergoing a number of blood transfusions, was transferred to the waiting Ayers' plane, which had landed at Quebec City, and was then flown to Dorval.

Francois St. Germain and Jean-Yves Durand had left Montreal Friday afternoon for a week-end jaunt north of Quebec.

Variety of Charges Laid Before Courts By Provincial Police

Paul Emile Allard, 25, of Carillon who was recently arrested and charged with breaking and entering with theft, pleaded not guilty and was released after two bails of $950 were paid. Preliminary inquiry will be held September 13 in St. Jerome.

Arrested on the same charge, W. Harper, 34, of Montreal, was sent to Bordeaux Jail in Montreal, where he underwent a mental examination.

• • •

At a preliminary hearing on June 28 Girard St. Amant, 47, of Pte. au Chene, was charged with attacking a local school teacher, Mrs. J. C. Landry, 31. This incident occurred in the schoolhouse on March 30 before witnesses.

Apparently the assault was the outcome of a quarrel between the teacher and parent over a child's behaviour at school.

A trial will be held in the fall, no date having been set.

• • •

Three juveniles from Montreal were arrested last week and brought to court, where charges were laid specifying the theft of an automobile and breaking and entering.

The stolen car was returned to its owner, Jack Sutcliffe of Morin Heights. Places broken into were Courscelles Garage and the Legion building, both situated in Morin Heights.

The youths were sentenced to two years in St. Vincent de Paul Penitentiary.

Preliminary hearing was held on Friday in the case of Albert Normand, 37, of Lachute, who was charged with receiving and possession of stolen goods.

• • •

Wm. Fleeting, 29, of Hawkesbury, was arrested recently by Traffic Officer Lawrence Cruise and was charged with driving while under the infuence of liquor. Donat Labelle, 47, of St. Philippe, was arrested on a similar charge. At a hearing on Friday both the accused were fined $175 and costs, while their licenses were suspended for the remainder of the year.

• • •

Armand Schnell, 37, of Lachute, and René Saucier, 32, of Alexandria, were also charged with driving under the influence of liquor; their cases were postponed.

• • •

Marcel Giroux of Hawkesbury, was recently arrested and charged with speeding in the vicinity of Lachute. At the court hearing on Friday he was fined $50 and costs.

Jean Guy Durocher, 23, and Philip Renaud, 26, both of Stonefield, were recently apprehended and charged with the theft of a corn-blower owned by Gilbert Arnold of Grenville. The case has been postponed.

• • •

Alphege Dubord, 26, of Pte. au Chene, was arrested on Monday by Sgt.-Det. Allan and charged with pointing a loaded firearm at another person, Jean Tessier, 23, of Calumet. A heated argument is said to have given rise to the incident, which occurred in Tessier's home.

Ayersville Plans Arteries to Route 8 And Traffic Access to Brownsburg Road

The monthly meeting of Ayersville Council was held under the presidency of Mayor Réal Morissette.

Councillor Cyr moved, and Councillor Campeau seconded, that Maurice Parent be authorized to accompany Police Chief Adrien Cyr on the traffic beat of this municipality; 25% of the fines collected will be paid to Mr. Parent.

Councillors Champagne and Quenneville proposed and seconded that a special non-property insurance be obtained from Deslauriers & Marcil Inc., in order to cover the municipal council for accident responsibility in regard to Mr. Parent's car.

In the matter of correspondence, the secretary-treasurer discussed two letters received from the Lachute Town Council. The first one asked for the partial payment of the water tax of 11 cents per 1,000 gallons until the next tax of 15 cents is ratified by the Department of Public Works. The second letter concerned the calling of Police Chief Trépanier to the Exhibition Grounds on June 13; the letter gave an explanation and also asked for the payment of $75 for the fire protection services received on that date. It suggested that Police Chiefs Cyr and Trépanier meet in order to clarify any confusion on this matter.

The secretary, Mr. Legault, was instructed to communicate with the Lachute authorities to arrange a meeting of the two councils so that they might discuss certain unsettled accounts.

Councillors Champagne and Simon moved and seconded that the building by-law be amended as follows: "In all buildings to be erected in future in the area bound on the north by the West River, on the south by Ayers Street, on the west by Bradford Avenue, and on the east by Hamford Street, the distance from the street line shall be no less than the average distance of buildings already standing."

"In the Hamford Street block, excluded from this zone, the following boundaries shall be enforced: (a) From Hamford Street to the southern boundary of the Dominion Prime Woods property, six feet from the street line. (b) On the remainder of Hamford Street the distance shall be 12 feet. In places situated outside of the area mentioned, the distance shall be 15 feet, or in line with the majority of present buildings.

Engineer Paul Laliberté was then asked how the cadastral plans were proceeding. He suggested that they ask Louis Derome, of Valleyfield, to meet the Council to discuss any difficulties which might arise in the registering of this plan with the Department of Lands and Forests.

P. Laliberté submitted a plan for the lengthening of Hamford Street to the Brownsburg Road, with roadways giving access onto Route 8. The idea will be studied jointly by the Council members and the proprietor of the land concerned, Allan Hay.

Mr. Laliberté also asked the municipality to number the houses on Brownsburg Road, counting from No. 150, in the direction towards Brownsburg.

Councillor D. Simon moved and Councillor Quenneville seconded that they accept the sum of only $50 from Augustin Lamarche for the construction of a sidewalk, 160 feet in length, in front of his residence, in consideration of the fact that part of the land was ceded by the proprietor.

Accounts for the month totalling $631.47 were accepted for payment, on motion of Councillor Campeau, seconded by Councillor Foucault.

Building permits were granted to Pierre Braney, for repairs to his residence on Tessier Stret, and to Georges E. Brisebois, for the construction of a private garage on Hammond Street.

It was decided that in the future garbage weighing more than 60 pounds will not be collected by the municipal garbage collector.

Lightning Hits Cattle, Pedigree No Safeguard

The recent heavy rains, windstorms and lightning were disastrous to many residents, and although this district was not too severely hit, John Heatlie and Son, well known Ogdensburg farmers and breeders, had two cows killed and two hurt. The cattle were taking shelter under a tree, which was struck and smashed to pieces.

One of the animals killed was outstanding and a half-sister of Hammond's Prize Marie 2nd, owned by Bowaters, Newfoundland Pulp and Paper Mills Ltd., Corner Brook.

Ch. of Commerce Studies Duplication Of Street Names

On recommendation of the directorate, the Lachute Chamber of Commerce held a special meeting last Monday at the Town Hall. The meeting was called to amend the constitution of the Chamber. An amendment was proposed and accepted by all members present to increase the annual membership fee to $10. This increase had long been considered necessary, and will enable the Executive Council to proceed towards the achievement of civic, social and trade improvements within its aims.

A group of members is presently at work solving the problem of duplication of street names in Lachute, St. Jerusalem and Ayersville. This committee is under the chairmanship of Lorne Duncan. Meetings have been held with various town councils to correct this situation, in preparation for home delivery of mail. As soon as this task is completed, the Chamber will set to work on another project to promote the betterment of the locality.

Canon C.W.P. Baugh Reaches 85th Milestone

Peter Trueman, writer for The Montreal Star, did justice to a time-honored celebrity in last Saturday's issue — with a story and photos on the activities of the Rev. Canon C. W. P. Baugh of Lakefield. Friends were gratified to read this tribute to an old neighbor and familiar figure — the 85-year-old cleric who, with his horse and conveyance to fill the pastoral needs of four church districts, still preaches regularly every Sunday in the widespread parish of Lakefield.

Canon Baugh celebrates his 85th birthday on Friday, July 26, and his host of parishioners and county friends join in congratulating him on this occasion.

The Rev. C. W. P. Baugh, who has served 22 years in the parish, has a strenuous routine of perhaps four services on a Sunday. He officiates regularly at Lakefield, Dunany, Louisa and Shrewsbury. He has time and interest, however, for various other activities, and is by far the widest-known cleric of this district, not only in the Anglican community but among all residents.

Peter Trueman, with happy scenes of his domestic and ministerial roles, finds the Rev. Baugh quite a philosopher in his informal interview reported for The Star.

The Morin Heights Protestant School election held Monday, July 15, was for the two seats formerly held by George Watchorn and Norman Kirkpatrick and was contested by Paul Baumel and Mrs. Phyllis Buxton and the two former commissioners. Heat Waves

CITY FOLK these days seem to pay more attention to the occasional heat wave than in former years. Perhaps the increased use of air-conditioning in shops, factories, offices and homes points a sharper contrast when the thermometer climbs to the top.

Admittedly, extreme heat can be a discomfort and even a menace in the city. But man is a tropical animal to start with; he almost certainly originated in a hot country. And physiologists say that man's defence against heat is still better than his defence against cold.

The main thing is to keep the body temperature steady. If the air temperature is hotter than the body, then heat is transferred to the body. But in the chief mechanism of heat loss, the evaporation of sweat, man is supreme among animals.

Dr. O. G. Edholm, distinguished British physiologist, has been surveying results of studies of the way in which the human body adapts itself to life and work in tropical climates. In a BBC talk he said it is not necessary to live in the tropics to become acclimatized providing there is a "hot room" available.

If a man is exposed in a hot room of a special climatic chamber in London to an atmosphere about the same as the hottest days in Singapore — around 100 degrees — for only four hours a day, he will become acclimatized to such a heat in only two weeks.

The changes during this process include an increased ability to sweat, a lower heart rate and a drop in body temperature compared with the changes in the first exposure to natural climatic heat.

One thing recommended for people in the tropics is to drink water freely, because of the large amount that can be lost in sweat. Mere thirst is not a sufficient guide. Drink lots of water and add a little salt to it.

Also the after-lunch siesta is not really necessary. The physiologists say that sleep taken in the middle of the day for some reason not yet properly understood is very unrefreshing. It seems much more satisfactory to have all one's eight hours' sleep at a time.

These findings would also apply in a Canadian heat wave.

Safe Boating

IT'S ONLY natural that a great many amateurs should turn up among the thousands taking up boating, rapidly becoming one of Canada's favorite summer sports.

And a great many of these amateurs are seriously lacking in their knowledge of one of the first prerequisites to full enjoyment of the pastime — safety.

John Moffat of the Board of Steamship Inspection in Toronto, puts it simply:

"Many people don't think when they're in a boat. In a lot of cases the dangers haven't been pointed out to them."

George Ragen, Toronto harbor police superintendent, puts it another way:

"Boating is all a matter of common sense."

Mr. Ragen names overpowering and overloading as the two biggest problems facing his force.

A simple way to start learning boating safety is to check the department of transport regulations.

A good many so-called boaters will be surprised to find that they cover a wide field and are strict.

Among other things, they call for proper safety equipment, running lights, emergency oars or paddles and other equipment.

But no matter how many laws are on the books, the final responsibility for a safe sport rests with the person involved.

And according to Mr. Moffatt and Mr. Ragen it boils down to a matter of common sense and thinking.

Uptrend in Immigration

RECENT FIGURES compiled in Ottawa give a clear picture of the impact of post-war immigration on Canada's economic and cultural life.

Most Canadians are aware that large numbers of immigrants have arrived in Canada since the end of the Second World War. However, it often is difficult to appreciate the effect of large-scale immigration until someone provides facts and figures illustrating its significance.

Since January 1, 1946, more than 1,500,000 immigrants have settled in Canada. Even allowing for deaths and departures of some of the newcomers this means that at least one of every 15 persons in Canada today is a post-war immigrant.

Putting it another way, the number of immigrants who have arrived in the last 11½ years is equivalent to the population of either of Canada's two largest cities, Toronto and Montreal. At the 1956 census Toronto's population was 1,385,028 and Montreal's 1,692,758.

In terms of provinces, the post-war immigration figure exceeds by more than 100,000 the combined populations of Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, and Prince Edward Island. The total also is more than 50,000 greater than the population of British Columbia, which includes Vancouver, Canada's third largest city.

These new Canadians have come from some 50 different countries. With them they have brought new skills and cultures. And in putting them to use in this country they are enriching Canada's economy and culture.

Immigrants have been responsible for the establishment of many new businesses and industries. The immigration department describes this contribution to the economy as "sizeable".

Fifty-four percent of immigrants were either professional people or skilled and unskilled workers. The remainder were dependents. Some 20 percent were in the skilled class.

The cultural contribution of immigrants also has been large. Almost every phase of the arts in Canada has been touched and sometimes changed by immigrants. Their talents and skills have provided a stimulus to our cultural growth and the immigrants in turn are being shaped and influenced by the special character of the Canadian environment.

Visit to Parliament

THE TOURIST SEASON in the Capital is in full swing and perhaps headed for a record season — if the number of visitors to the Parliament Buildings is any indication.

A tour of Parliament Hill, including a trip by elevator and stairs to the top of the 291-foot Peace Tower for a bird's eye view of Ottawa and the Gatineau Block to the north, is a must for any visitor to the capital. A tour of the Centre Block is practically a short course in Canadian political history from the time of Confederation 90 years ago until now.

For the first half of the year, a record total of about 115,000 visitors made conducted tours of the Centre Block which houses the House of Commons, the Senate and the Library of Parliament.

That is roughly 30,000 more than in the same period last year and height of the tourist season — July and August — is just in its stride.

Visitors, mainly in the universal tourist garb of slacks, shorts, sports or T-shirts and sun dresses, are guided in groups of 30 or 40 persons by members of the Commons protective staff.

Here are some of the things they are told during the tours that take about 45 minutes, including a trip to the Peace Tower for a close up inspection of the glass-enclosed clock mechanism:

There are 265 members in the Commons and 102 in the Senate; the Centre Block was built in the 1916-21 period at a cost of $12,000,000 but carving and decorating work still is going on; the Library of Parliament only part of the Centre Block saved from the fire of 1916, was itself damaged by fire a few years ago and rebuilt; 11 types of stone and marble were used in the construction of the building.

The guides also identify the dozens of paintings and stone sculptures in the halls and answer dozens of questions about Canada's form of government. Many U.S. tourists are interested in differences between Canadian and American systems.

When Parliament is in session they see Canadian democracy in action by sitting for a few minutes in the public galleries.

During the tourist season, Americans outnumber Canadian visitors to Ottawa about three to two. Oddly, there are many native Ottawans who have lived all their lives in the Capital and yet say they have never visited the Parliament Buildings.

BOMBING FOREST FIRES with water will soon be a major way of dampening down small fires and surrounding bush, says The Financial Post. But not just with paper bags full of water. In Northern Ontario planes equipped with two 100-gallon tanks have succeeded in scooping water from lakes, flying to 100 feet and releasing the water over the fire.

PAUL BUNYAN, JOHNNY INKSLINGER and SHORTY APPROVE THE C.I.P. FORESTRY FIELD DAY

"This ain't exactly like the old days Paul, but these C.I.P. folks sure got the right idee."

A Letter-Carrier Says: "I Need A Letter Box!"

Many of you have shown this last week your helpful co-operation. There are now approximately 75% of homes ready to receive their mail. Only a small group are inconsiderately delaying this service.

The faster letter slots or letter boxes are installed, the sooner door-to-door mail service will commence.

Every week I make a survey, and the Postal Department is waiting till I certify that 90% of homes are provided with adequate receptacles to inaugurate the letter-carrier delivery service.

Here is more information which you may find useful:

1. Those who have an aluminum door and wish to have a letter slot in the inside door, may do so providing the outside door is unlocked. Otherwise a letter box may be more convenient.

2. Professional men and business firms ONLY may choose delivery either by Letter Carrier or through Post Office lock-boxes. As there seems to be a little confusion about this, I repeat hereunder the regulations:

"With the establishment of Letter Carrier Service, following is the schedule of Post Office Lock Box rental rates for all lock boxes rented to patrons otherwise served by Letter Carrier, by rural courrier or by another Post Office: Style "A" $4.00, "B" $6.00, "C" $8.00, "D" $12.00, "E" $15.00."

In a few days a Senior Postal Officer will be in town to verify my reports. My wish is that every home may be provided with a door slot or a letter box.

The average for this week is as follows:

Ayersville	90%
Lachute Mills	90%
Lachute	75%

Who was "the human dynamo"?

The world's fastest human on skates in his day, Charles Ingraham Gorman of Saint John, N.B., skated his way to seven world records and a place in the Canadian Amateur Athletic Union Hall of Fame. Gorman, who died in 1940, had his most outstanding year in 1927, when he took part in five meets, won four and tied the fifth, breaking two world records and tying another. In a period of 11 days he won 16 events.

How did Canada's first Victoria Cross hero win his award?

At the furious fighting that marked the relief of Lucknow in 1857 during the Indian Mutiny, a young Nova Scotian, William Edward Hall, volunteered to serve at an exposed gun position and fired the shot that breached the enemy's defences. For this, he received the Victoria Cross. Hall, whose father had been a Negro slave, grew up at Horton Bluff, N.S., and went to sea at an early age. A memorial was unveiled at Hantsport in 1947 and a Negro branch of the Canadian Legion at Halifax bears his name.

What is the Curse of Fernie?

An old Indian curse hangs over the City of Fernie, B.C., according to legend. The story goes that Wm. Fernie had heard of the coal deposits in the neighborhood and promised to marry an Indian princess if told their exact location. He was given the information but did not keep his promise of marriage and the girl's vengeful mother put a curse on the whole valley in 1887.

Who was William Bell?

William Bell was a pioneer Scottish preacher at Perth Ont., from 1817 to 1857. His progressive ideas on medicine brought him into conflict with the conservative local practitioner.. He introduced the first vaccine in the settlement. In 1827 he used quinine, a new treatment, to cure sufferers, including himself, of ague and fever. The last duel fought in eastern Ontario took place the following year; he arrived on the scene too late to prevent the death of one of the participants. Bell delivered babies and doctored cattle, worked on roads and built houses and barns.

Wandering eye-witness reports of trivial things, from the city. . .

A round, happy-looking woman comes out of a plain house with a tin in her hand. As she steps outside the gate, she looks right and left, and her broad face takes on a crafty expression.

Then she dips the tin in a mound of earth that the telephone men have dug to make a hole for a new post. Warily scanning the landscape, she moves back in her yard and goes in the house.

Earth for a flower-pot? Sandbox for a cat? The observer hasn't the courage to knock on the door to ask.

Small girl mounts the steps of a playground slide with beetle-sized black puppy in her arms. She launches puppy down slide. Half-sitting, half-standing, it sweeps down and lands on its feet; trots beside young mistress with every appearance of being pleased.

Small girl picks up puppy again, climbs slide and repeats process. She and puppy are going around for third time when observer loses sight of them behind a tree.

Well-shaped woman in thirties is riding bicycle. Wind billows her skirt. Lout in a car, observing this graceful sight, leans most of torso out of car window, gives shrill whistle.

While the lout is preoccupied, another car approaches from behind (driver preoccupied in similar way, perhaps) and slams into first car.

Both drivers get out of cars. Hot argument ensues. Girl on bicycle, glancing back over shoulder and holding skirt down with one hand, pedals calmly away from collision scene.

Bewildered mouse runs back and forth on downtown pavement, unseen by most of people walking past, but noticed by wandering-eye observer, who frequently casts eye on ground.

Observer looks up, catches eye of another man who has also seen the mouse. "Lost its way, I guess," he says, stating the obvious. But — he feels — it isn't every day that a mouse is observed running about town sidewalk. People who share this experience should acknowledge fact with brief communication.

Other pedestrian replies with amiable inclination of head. Mouse weaves out to curb, returns to wall; finally disappears into open door of dry-cleaning plant.

Observer looks up, finds self looking into cold eye of woman who obviously disapproves of mice running about street and has small regard for men who fritter away their time watching them.

Production of creamery butter in Canada in 1955 reached a new annual high of 318,000,000 pounds.

PASTURE FEEDING

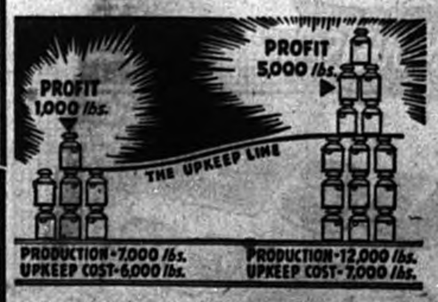

Pastures have been good so far and the cows have milked well. Perhaps a bit too well — because the better she milks on grass the more flesh she milks off herself into the milk pail! A cow cannot possibly eat enough lush pasture grass to keep up a heavy milk flow. The grass stimulates her to milk so she has to rob herself to keep the flow up.

This is another of your losses that you DON'T ACTUALLY SEE but which are VERY REAL. Your cow may have capacity to produce ten thousand pounds of milk but actually only produces seven or eight thousand. Then you at least lose the profit on two or three thousand pounds, and this also can mean the difference between a profitable cow or a "boarder".

It certainly pays to feed PURINA BULKY LAS, alone or with your own grain, during the good pasture season, and later to feed PROTENA DAIRY FEED, PURINA MILK CHOW, or PURINA COW CHOW SUPPLEMENT mixed with your grain, if you still have grain.

Remember, you will not likely see any great difference when you start feeding, but your cows will hold up in milk flow and milk longer, and that is where your profit will come from.

PURINA FLY BAIT and PURINA DAIRY SPRAY help greatly in cow comfort, and give them a chance to make you more profit also.

Won't you get a supply today, or give us your order and we will deliver promptly. Our prices are reasonable and service excellent.

Brownsburg Girl Is Bride To Reside in Los Angeles

O'Brien - Trayers

The marriage of Olive Teresa, daughter of Mrs. Michael V. Trayers and the late Mr. Trayers, of Brownsburg, to Mr. Lorne E. O'Brien, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. O'Brien, of Montreal, took place Saturday, July 20, in St. Louis de France Church, Brownsburg, the Rev. John O'Brien, brother of the groom, officiating. Baskets of multi-colored gladioli decorated the church. The organist was Mr. Lupien, of Brownsburg, and the soloist was Mr. Howard Lobar, of Montreal.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, wore a floor-length gown of white Swiss organdy and lace designed with a fitted bodice and a Sabrina neckline, with long sleeves ending in points over her hands and the bouffant skirt having lace appliqués embroidered with tiny seed pearls and iridescent sequins, ending in a butterfly bow. Her chapel-length veil of tulle illusion was held by a tiara and she carried a prayer book adorned with a white orchid centred in a spray of stephanotis.

Miss Maura Trayers, youngest sister of the bride, as maid of honor, wore a white nylon gown with American Beauty flowing panels and carried a cascade bouquet of sweetheart roses.

Mr. J. D. Walsh, of Montreal, was best man and ushers were Mr. Jos. Fahey and Mr. William Earle, both of Montreal.

The mother of the bride wore an aqua chiffon sheath empire-style dress with a pink profile hat and matching accessories, and a corsage of Rose de Lima flowerets.

The mother of the groom wore a frock of dawn pink organza over taffeta, a small feathered hat with matching accessories and a corsage of gardenias.

Following the reception at the Lachute Golf and Country Club, Mr. and Mrs. L. O'Brien left for the Laurentians, the bride travelling in a pastel green suit and white picture hat and accessories.

The couple will reside in Los Angeles, California.

74 Children Attended Vacation Bible School Of People's Church

The last two weeks have been busy ones at the People's Church on Main Street. The Daily Vacation Bible School has been in full swing under direction of the Rev. C. W. Sorley, and about 74 children have been having an enjoyable time, studying the Bible, playing Bible games, doing handcraft projects, singing, playing ball and other games.

Mrs. Alex Stewart and Mrs. Robt. McFaul had charge of the Nursery Department, mostly comprising three-year-olds. Mrs. Ernie Kettyle, Mrs. Stanley Donaldson and Sandra Stansfield had charge of the Beginners' Department. Mrs. Sorley and Mrs. Garoway, meanwhile, had charge of the Primary Department and Mrs. Wilfred Morrison and Grace Donaldson conducted the Junior Department. The Rev. Sorley had charge of the Intermediates.

The theme of the school was "Journeying With Jesus," and it made very real to the children the "wonderful presence of the living Christ."

Last Friday evening 130 children and adults gathered on the church lawn for the closing program, presented by the children. Here they had an opportunity to demonstrate some of the things they had learned during the school sessions. Each child received a treat before the end of the program, and the following were the prize winners:

Nursery — Holly Stevens and Brodie Ogilvie.

Beginners — Donnie Noble and Janice Brown.

Primary — Jimmy Noble and May Jackson.

Juniors — Jimmie Ogilvie, Barbara Jenkins and Gloria Jackson.

Intermediates — Keith Rogers.

The parents and friends then visited the handwork displays in the chapel, and many were amazed at the fine work their children had done.

The feeling of appreciation on the part of parents was generously expressed when over $70 was counted in the offering.

The organizers would like to express thanks to the many parents who assisted in the transportation of the children, also to Mr. R. A. Giles of The Lachute Watchman and Mr. Fraser Morrison, for donations of materials for the handwork.

Teatime Topics

Written Specially for The Lachute Watchman By Mary Burke, Canadian Press Staff Writer

Designed to save many a penny the latest brainwave in home decorating is unpainted furniture.

Just what is happening was demonstrated in a home preview in Toronto where decorators showed what can be done with finely designed furniture that's now available minus the finish.

Canvas white and jet black were used in sharp contrast with red herringbone to form basic colors for an artist's quarters in the three-part house. The furniture was of the paint-it-yourself variety with the exception of two large Danish chairs and a matching light wood chesterfield.

For apartment living, decorators showed unpainted furniture galore — in a wide range of finishes. White was the basic color. Fine-lined bedroom furniture was shown in pretty blue tones with drapes and wall-paper to match.

To round out the idea "The Country Kitchen" featured the "not-too-modern" look. An old high-backed rocker in front of a screened fireplace added a touch of the colonial to the scene.

Done in tones of Spanish gold, decorators also made use of this color as finish on Windsor chairs and a Welsh dresser. Other pieces had nutmeg and black finishes.

A weave of Irish matting made the floor covering interesting. It comes in a variety of colors.

For Expectant Dad

The nervous father-to-be is being given a helping hand by the Victorian Order of Nurses.

The VON has been giving a series of pre-natal courses encouraging men to help their wives with exercise routines and to lend moral support during pregnancy.

Expectant fathers are not advised on such things as diaper changing, but the course concentrates on giving them facts regarding pregnancy.

Last year branches of VON held pre-natal classes in 10 Canadian cities for 1,469 expectant fathers. Ottawa headed the list with a registration of 536 fathers-to-be. Other cities included Hamilton, Kitchener, Windsor and Owen Sound, Ont.

In most cities husbands attended only the final classes in the pre-natal series. Winnipeg took the honors with 63 expectant fathers going right through the course.

Time For Salads

"Summertime is salad time," said Hon. Mackinnon Phillips, shortly before he resigned as Ontario's Minister of Health.

In proclaiming National Salad Week, July 25 to August 3, Dr. Phillips said "we are glad to encourage people to increase their consumption of fresh fruits and vegetables.

"These fresh products contain large amounts of vitamins and minerals which aid growth and protect health."

So, ladies, take a large basket to the market this week. Canada is pouring out its abundance on grocery counters and in many instances you will find lower prices, too.

Q.W.I. Manual Tells Rules of Procedure

"The purpose of this Manual is to present to our members, in as simple a manner as possible, parliamentary procedure governing the rules for the proper and orderly conduct of the business of a meeting, whose basic foundations are but common sense and common courtesy."

So reads the opening paragraph of the introduction to "Do's and Don'ts for the Quebec Women's Institutes." This is just what the name implies, a manual of simple rules and directives to cover all aspects of Institute work. Briefing for officers and conveners — and members too — how to plan programs, draft resolutions, elections, are but some of the items contained in this practical booklet.

The manual is the work of a committee appointed over a year ago from the Q.W.I. Executive. Members were Mrs. G. D. Harvey, now president, and Mrs. A. E. Abercrombie, former recording secretary. It was printed for the Q.W.I. through the courtesy of the Department of Agriculture, Quebec.

"Do's and Don'ts" is now ready for distribution. Every member will receive a copy — "to go with your Handbook to all meetings" — to quote again from its pages.

Good Salad for Luncheon or Supper

Here is a salad plate that's sure to be popular not only during Salad Week, but whenever plump, firm, red tomatoes are in season. To fix a stuffed tomato like the one in the picture, cut the tomato from the top almost to the bottom to form sectors. Spread these apart and fill the centre generously with potato salad, then gently press the sectors back in place. Garnish with stuffed olive slices.

Salad Week -- Hot-Day Suggestion

A headlong plunge into a green ocean wave is one way of refreshing body and spirit on a hot summer day. Another way to dodge the heat is to enjoy cool, salad-centred meals. The home economists of Canada's Department of Fisheries have sent us a recipe for a two-layer seafood mold which is as refreshing as an ocean wave and should make any drooping family sit up and take notice. Encased beneath a crest of tart lemon jelly are crisp cucumber slices, chunks of flavorful red salmon, chopped celery, green pepper, and cooked green peas. A delightful dish for a summer buffet!

Ocean Wave Salmon Mold

1 Envelope unflavored gelatin, ¼ cup cold water, 1 cup boiling water, 1 tablespoon sugar, ½ teaspoon salt, 3 tablespoons lemon juice, 5 thin slices unpared cucumber, halved.

2 Envelopes unflavored gelatin, ½ cup cold water, 2½ cups boiling water, ¼ cup lemon juice, 1 teaspoon salt, 1-pound can red salmon, ¾ cup diced celery, ¼ cup green pepper strips, 1 cup cooked or canned peas.

Soften 1 envelope of gelatin in ¼ cup of cold water. Dissolve in 1 cup of boiling water. Add next four ingredients listed: sugar, salt, lemon juice and half-slices of cucumber. Pour into lightly oiled 8-cup mold. Chill until firm. Meanwhile start the salmon-salad layer.

Soften 2 envelopes of gelatin in ½ cup of water. Dissolve in boiling water. Add lemon juice and salt. Chill until slightly thickened. Drain the salmon and break it into good-sized chunks, removing bits of skin and bone. Add together with celery, green pepper and peas to the partially set jelly; mix carefully. Pour salmon-salad layer over firm lemon layer. Chill salad until firm, several hours or overnight. Unmold on a serving platter. Deviled eggs on crisp lettuce make a pleasing garnish. Makes 8 servings.

Lunch Box Salads

Tired of sandwiches in your box lunch? . . . Then why not cut down on the sandwiches and substitute a salad? There's a wonderful selection of fresh Canadian fruits and vegetables to help you plan lunch box meals that will be inviting as well as nutritious. To keep them fresh and clean wrap vegetables or fruit in waxed paper and put mixed salads into covered plastic containers or jars.

Any of the following are good in the lunch box: whole or quartered tomato, fruit cup, celery stuffed with cheese, raw cucumber sticks or slices, cabbage and raisin salad, carrot or green pepper sticks, cauliflower flowerets, radishes, green onions, lettuce wedge, and baked bean or macaroni salad.

FOR PARENTS ONLY...

A Weekly Feature of Helpful Hints on Child Training

Healthy Holidays

(Copyright) — By NANCY CLEAVER —

"Look to your health, and if you have it praise God, and value it next to a good conscience," wrote the famous angler, Isaak Walton. Parents are eager to have every member of the family in the best possible physical condition, especially during vacation time.

Illness on the part of any member of the family can spoil a holiday. Don't take any chances with drinking water, milk or food. If in doubt about the water, boil it before drinking it. Buy only pasteurized, refrigerated milk. Carry your own supplies of baby food, such as pre-cooked cereal and tins of fruit, vegetables and meat. Oranges and fruit are a good investment — but wash all fruit thoroughly.

Play in the sunshine is valued by parents because they know that the ultra-violet rays of the sun provide the cheapest form of Vitamin D. This vitamin prevents rickets and builds up resistance to colds and other infections.

But fair and red-haired children sometimes receive a bad sunburn when on a holiday, and even a brunette can get an uncomfortable burn. A few precautions are important, especially for the very small child acquiring a sun-tan. The sun's rays are strongest during the hours in the middle of the day and on very hot days a child should be kept out of the direct sunshine at that time. Some protection for the head — a cap or hat of some kind — should be worn. It is best to acquire a tan gradually, starting with a short period in the sun and lengthening the time by a few minutes each day. Even on a cloudy day, a child can get a burn. There are various soothing preparations which may be comforting and helpful to a burned skin, but here indeed "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure." Cream or sun-tan oil rubbed into the skin before exposure help to conserve the natural oils in the skin and prevent sunburn.

In recent years various preparations have been advertised to keep away mosquitoes and black flies. Some of these repellents are a bit strong in their odor but each year they are improved. Cheesecloth sprayed with an insecticide protects a small child in a crib or carriage from bites while he is asleep. The Canadian Entomological branch developed the following excellent repellant for mosquitoes, midges and flies: ½ fluid ounce of thyme, 1 fluid ounce concentrated extract of pyrethrum, 2 to 3 fluid ounces castor oil. A camping site should not be chosen near a stagnant pond or a swampy district where mosquitoes breed. A site where the air can circulate easily should be picked.

An inquiring small boy in the woods may be stung by a honey or a large bumblebee and if the sting remains in the wound it must be scraped out and antiseptic applied. A hornet sting can cause discomfort too. The Indians used crushed jewel weed juice on insect stings and it has a soothing effect. Ammonia or baking soda dissolved in water are old-fashioned but satisfactory solutions to apply to an insect sting. Wet mud or clay relieves the swelling.

A rarer affliction is a snake bite. Harmless snakes leave a row of small punctures on the skin. A poisonous snake usually makes two punctures. A tourniquet should be applied to an arm or leg bitten by a poisonous snake, and if medical help is difficult to obtain quickly, a short cross cut should be made over the punctures and the poison sucked out of the wound. If there are no cuts in the mouth the poison from the bite will not have ill effects on the mouth or stomach.

Knowledge is power, and parents should teach their children to avoid unnecessary hazards in camping and also what remedies should be used for accidents. A simple first aid kit should be carried when travelling and a cupboard is kept locked or is out of the reach of tiny children, is a necessity at a summer cottage as well as in a permanent home.

May you have the best of health for all the members of your family during your holidays this summer.

Marriage Vows at Brownsburg United Church

Russell - Hazel

The marriage of Florence Anne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Hazel, of Brownsburg, to Mr. Graeme Irvine Russell, son of Mr. and Mrs. George R. Russell, of Montreal, took place July 20 in the Brownsburg United Church.

Officiating at the double-ring ceremony was the Rev. Wilson Bridge, of Lachute United Church. The wedding music was played by Mr. Wayne Riddell, and during the signing of the register Mr. King Amos sang "The Lord's Prayer".

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a waltz-length gown of white Chantilly lace and pleated nylon over taffeta. Her sequin headdress held in place her elbow-length veil and her bouquet was of American Beauty roses.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Glenrose Hazel, as maid of honor, and her niece, Miss Wanda MacDougall, as flower girl. The maid of honor wore a gown of pale lilac nylon sheer over taffeta and matching feather hat, and carried a bouquet of white carnations. The flower girl was dressed in pale lilac nylon sheer over taffeta with matching headband, and carried a basket of white carnations and Shasta daisies.

The groom was attended by his brother, Norman Russell. Ronald Russell, also a brother of the groom, and Paul MacDougall, brother-in-law of the bride, were ushers.

The bride's mother wore a dress of Romance blue Chantilly lace over taffeta, with pale pink accessories and a corsage of pink carnations. The groom's mother wore a dress of powder blue Chantilly lace over taffeta, and a corsage of red carnations.

Following a reception held in the United Church hall, the couple left on a wedding trip to Maine and New York, the bride travelling in a dress of eggshell nylon print with white accessories and a corsage of American Beauty roses. On their return, Mr. and Mrs. Russell will reside in Montreal.

Out-of-town guests were from Montreal, Lachute, Wyman and Bristol, Que.; Ottawa, Cornwall and Hawkesbury, Ont., and New York.

Recent Ceremony in Lachute United Church

Harland - Riebeck

The marriage of Gesina, daughter of Mr. Anthony M. Riebeck and the late Mrs. Wilhelmina Riebeck, of Haarlem, Holland, to Mr. Bernard Stanley Harland, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Harland, of East Settlement, took place recently in Lachute United Church, the Rev. Wilson Bridge officiating. Mr. Jack Gorman played the wedding music and Mrs. Leonard Armstrong sang "I'll Walk Beside You", and "Through the Years", during the signing of the register. Delphiniums and Bridal roses were used to decorate the church.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was in a gown of white Swiss embroidered tulle, having a fitted bodice with high neckline and Peter Pan collar with long sleeves coming to points over the hands. Her short tulle veil was held by a headdress of seed pearls and sequins. She carried a cascade bouquet of deep pink roses and sweet peas. Mrs. Ronald Warwick, as matron of honor, Miss Eileen Noble and Miss Verna Ball, as bridesmaids, wore ballerina-length dresses of pastel blue and pink nylon chiffon over taffeta. They wore bandeaus with short veils to match and carried semi-cascade bouquets of pink carnations and sweet peas.

Mr. John de Vries, of Montreal, was best man and Mr. Lesley Harland and Mr. Gordon Harland, brothers of the groom, were ushers.

Mrs Harland, the groom's mother, was gowned in midnight blue sheer silk with lace, and wore white accessories.

The reception was held in the Brownsburg Legion Hall, where mixed flowers were used as decorations.

Later Mr. and Mrs. Harland left on their wedding trip, the bride travelling in a grey tweed suit with white and yellow accessories and wearing a corsage of yellow carnations.

Mr. and Mrs. Harland will reside in Lachute.

Pretty Summer Wedding At Brownsburg United

Dorion - Court

The marriage of Greta May Court, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Court, of Fleurant, Que., to James Dorion, son of Mr. and Mrs. Felix Dorion, of Lachute, took place Saturday, June 22, in the Brownsburg United Church — the Rev. Garfield Bruce officiating at the double-ring ceremony.

The wedding music was played by Mrs. Cedric Wheeler, and Mrs. Mason Crosby sang "My Love Is Thine" during the signing of the register. The church was decorated with standards of white and red peonies and a bouquet of orange blossoms.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Mr. Keith Boa, wore a floor-length gown of nylon tulle and hand-clipped Chantilly lace, fashioned with a fitted bodice and scalloped Sabrina neckline, long sleeves ending in points over her hands, and a very full skirt with lace centre panels back and front and lace peplum extended into panels at either side. Her shoulder-length veil of tulle was held in place by a headdress of iridescent petals, and she carried a cascade bouquet of red roses and orange blossoms.

Mrs. Keith Boa was matron of honor for her sister, and wore a frock of heaven blue nylon sheer over taffeta, with a draped bodice and very full ballerina-length skirt. She wore a matching blue feathered headpiece and shoes, and carried a bouquet of yellow roses and white carnations.

Miss Doris Boa, niece of the bride, was flower girl, wearing a pink and white frocked nylon dress, with scalloped overskirt and epaulets, a Peter Pan collar and puffed sleeves. She wore a matching pink and white bandeau and carried a nosegay of pink carnations.

Irving Cleland acted as best man and the ushers were Boyd Kerr and William Todd.

Mrs. Dorion, mother of the groom, wore a dress of navy blue sheer in redingote effect, with matching hat and accessories, and a corsage of pink carnations. . . The bride's parents were unable to attend.

The reception was held in the church hall, the tables being adorned with yellow roses. Standards of peonies were also used for decoration.

Later the couple left by motor for a trip through the New England States and Old Orchard Beach. For travelling the bride wore a coral dress with white accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

On their return Mr. and Mrs. Dorion took up residence in Brownsburg, Que., where they are both employed.

Local Couple Wed, To Reside in Montreal

Warwick - Todd

The marriage of Phyllis Lillian, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Warwick, of Brownsburg, to William Alexander Todd, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Todd, of East Settlement, took place recently in the Maple Avenue Baptist Church, Brownsburg, the Rev. K. R. Davis offiating. Mrs. K. R. Davis played the wedding music, and during the signing of the register, Mrs. Fred Barker sang "I'll Walk Beside You." Blue delphinium, white peonies and hydrangeas decorated the church.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of imported Chantilly lace, and tulle over satin. The gown was fashioned with a fitted lace bodice, stand-up collar embroidered with iridescent sequins and long sleeves ending in points over the hands. The bouffant overskirt of lace with scalloped edging fell over a flounce of nylon tulle. Her fingertip veil of tulle illusion was held in place by a matching lace headdress encrusted with seed pearls and sequins. She carried a semi-cascade bouquet of pale blue carnations and stephanotis.

Miss Eunice Warwick, as maid of honor for her sister, and Miss Mary Derouin and Miss Anna Todd, as bridesmaids, were in maize-colored waltz-length gowns of pure silk organza, fashioned with bouffant skirts and pleated bodices, inset with tiny fabric flowers. They wore matching flowered headpieces and carried bouquets of white and yellow daisies.

Mr. Ken Kettyle was best man for his cousin, and ushers were Mr. Irvin Warwick and Mr. Angus Todd.

Mrs. Warwick, mother of the bride, wore a gown of powder blue nylon lace over taffeta, with matching hat and gloves, white shoes and bag, and a corsage of deep pink carnations.

Mrs. Todd, mother of the groom, wore a gown of navy blue nylon crepe over taffeta, with navy and white accessories and a corsage of light pink carnations.

Following a reception in the church hall, Mr. and Mrs. Todd left for Niagara Falls, the bride travelling in a turquoise ensemble, with white accessories and a corsage of yellow 'mums.

Upon their return the couple took up residence in Montreal.

Arundel Girl Wed Recently in Capital

Boag - Swail

The marriage of Barbara Swail, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Swail, of Arundel, to John Boag, of Queensland, Australia, took place recently at St. Mark's Anglican Church, Ottawa — the Rev. G. Foy performing the ceremony. The organist was Mr. Middleditch, while Mrs. Elwood Swail was soloist. Decorations in the church consisted of gladioli, carnations, baby's breath, and Shasta daisies.

The bride, given away by her father and attended by her sister, Madeleine Swail, wore a dress of pure silk taffeta with a layer of net trimmed with appliqués of Alencon lace; her headdress, trimmed with sequins and pearls, was held in place by a fingertip veil of silk illusion. She carried a bouquet of Johanna Hill roses and stephanotis.

Mr. Richard Roach acted as best man, while the ushers were Messrs. Ronald and Elwood Swail, brothers of the bride.

Following a reception at Whitehill Glade, the couple left for a trip through the Eastern States, the bride travelling in a dress of pure silk beige organza over Irish linen, her accessories consisting of a white picture hat, gloves and shoes. On their return they will take up residence at Bancroft, Ont.

Stan Leonard Wins Canadian Golfers Pro Championship

1937 Earnings Now Surpass $12,000

Stan Leonard, Lachute pro and international celebrity on the tournament trail, won the Canadian Professional Golfers' Association Championship last week for the sixth time. The victory gave him $750 and the Seagram Shield, and carved his name in the winner's notch for the sixth time, thus establishing a record.

Leonard, who is taking it easy for two weeks, finished with a three-under-par 210 over the Kawartha Club layout at Peterborough, to beat Toronto's Al Balding, first-round leader who slipped to a three-over-par 74 on his last 18. Tied for second spot with Balding was Pat Fletcher of Saskatoon and Montreal, who came up with an even-par 71 on his final 18.

Leonard's victory boosted his 1957 earnings to more than $12,000. He plans to rejoin the big-time circuit at Chicago's Tam O'Shanter early in August.

Jean-Guy Larocque Pitches No-Hitter

Last Sunday evening Colford's Lodge visited St. Placide and whitewashed the home team 7-0. This was shut-out number five for Larocque, also his second no-hitter of the season.

Colford's scored all their runs in the fourth inning as St. Placide defence started to crumble. Vern Poirier started the rally off with a triple, then André Pilon and Trevor Holmes walked. Jacques Leveillé then blasted a grand slam homer into centre field, putting Colford's ahead by four runs. The winners scored three more before St. Placide put out the fire. . . The afternoon game at Colford's Lodge was rained out.

Next Sunday Colford Lodge will play host to St. Marcel, of St. Jerome.
