Mayor Buys First Poppy

Called upon at the city hall, Mayor Léopold Carrière willingly interrupts his duties to become first subscriber in the Lachute Legion's annual Poppy Campaign for 1957. The Mayor, in full support of this endeavor, graciously proclaimed the dates November 8-9 as Poppy Days in Lachute. Poppy Sales Nov. 8-9, Plan Armistice Supper, Remembrance Rites

The annual Poppy campaign for Lachute and district, sponsored by Lachute Branch of the Canadian Legion, will be brought before the public commencing Friday, November 8, with a general sale of poppies on Main Street, and continuing Saturday, November 9, with a house-to-house canvass. Mayor Léopold Carrière has proclaimed these days as Poppy Days in Lachute.

The annual sale of poppies gives the public a chance to aid in the good work of the local Legion, and with their help the Legion can continue to assist in welfare efforts.

36 Years of Poppy Sales in Lachute

The sale of poppies is an old story in Lachute. Mr. J. S. Giles sold them locally as far back as 1921, and his son R. A. (Bob) Giles later carried on with this work, spearheading the poppy campaign with the Canadian Legion Branch when it was formed in Lachute in 1936, and carrying on as chairman of the Legion Poppy Fund until a few years ago.

On reading the old files of The Watchman and Ottawa Valley Advocate, the following article was found. It is reprinted in part:

"Lachute, Friday, November 11 1921 — The observance of Armistice Day on November 11 suggests more than a mere mechanical keeping of two minutes silence as a memorial to the hour when hostilities were ceased on the front on November 11, 1918. It suggests more too than the banqueting of ourselves in commemoration of the world-stirring event that halted millions who were fighting for their respective causes—war weary and worn. .

"Tomorrow you will be asked to wear a Poppy in commemoration and as you buy these little silent emblems of respect do not forget that they were made by the little orphan children of France, and whatever you may be pleased to give will be devoted to the most worthy cause of helping the dependents of those who so nobly fought our battles."

The Poppy is now made by ex-servicemen, disabled by wounds or sickness. The purchase price of the poppies goes as revenue to the Vetcraft Shop employing these men, while all local profits from the canvass accrue to the locally-administered Poppy Fund. . . Each year a campaign is sponsored by this local organization and the proceeds are used exclusively for the aid of those who fought for us and are now in need of help through no fault of their own.

Your help is solicited in this worthy effort, remembering those who sacrificed everything to help you. All canvassers have volunteered their services in this campaign, so please treat them courteously when they approach you. Please give generously.

The Poppy Campaign is under chairmanship of Mrs. Jas. Simpson, with the following representatives in charge of the various districts: St. Andrews East, Miss Shirley Woodward; Carillon, Mr. Chas. Martel; Cushing, Mr. H. V. Elliott and Mr. Jas. Coney; Grenville, Mrs. Stan Cavanagh; Kilmar, Mrs. Leonard Madden; Lakefield, Miss D. Hammond; Mille Isles, Mrs. Sicuso; Arundel, the Women's Institute.

Remembrance Day Services

Remembrance Day services will be held at the Cenotaph in the Memorial Park at 10.45 a.m. Monday, November 11.

Veterans and those participating in the parade will fall in at 10 a.m. at the Legion Hall and then will parade to the Cenotaph.

The Rev. J. Ralph Watson, Padre of the 131 Battery of Artillery, Lachute, will be in charge of the service.

The order of service is curtailed considerably this year: wreaths will be deposited before the service begins at the Cenotaph. A wreath representing the town and also one from the Legion will be deposited during the service. The Mayor will perform this ritual on behalf of the citizens, followed by the playing of "O Canada". There will be brief addresses by Mayor Léopold Carrière, the Hon. W. M. Cottingham, M.P.P., and Mr. Philippe Valois, M.P. "Last Post" will be followed by two minutes' silence in tribute to those fallen in the two world wars and Korea. "Reveille" and "The Queen" will conclude the ceremonies.

Lachute Artillery Battery, No. 131, will fire a salvo in salute during the service.

Armistice Supper

The Armistice Reunion Supper will be held on Saturday, November 9, at 6.30 p.m. in the Legion Memorial Hall. All Legionnaires and veterans are invited to attend. Speaker will be Mr. Antoine Paré, of St. Andrews East.

Lachute Truckman Qualifies for Nat'l Roadeo Contests

At the Quebec Truck Roadeo meet held at the Showmart in Montreal last week-end, one of the Lachute Boyd's Express truck-drivers came up with his second successive win, taking the award in single-axle semi-trailer division. This particular trophy, presented annually by local 106 of the Transport Drivers, Warehousemen and Helpers Union, was won by Marcel Desjardins, of Lachute, who operates for the local company.

The trophy won by Desjardins is now on exhibit in Beaton's Pharmacy.

On Saturday, Grant Scott placed second amongst 19 drivers in the Tandem Trailer Class.

The national contest is scheduled for November 25, in Toronto.

Forty-five drivers entered the regional eliminations this year, 12 of them reaching the finals. Prizes of $100, $75 and $50 were presented to finishers in each of the three categories.

Gaston Tourigny of Montreal, received the top award as provincial champion. He was presented with the Minister of Transport's trophy by Deputy Minister Jacques Verreault.

Another entrant, Marcel Lefebvre, captured the straight truck award for the second successive year in this division.

The roadeo, now in its 10th year, is designed to test driving skills and promote safety among drivers. Tests are based on conditions encountered daily.

Plans Aproved for Gauthier Street Water and Sewer

Ayersville Council, at its meeting Monday evening, heard a communication read by Secretary Conrad Legault indicating approval of the Provincial Health Department as regards plans for construction of sewer and water mains — as prepared by Paul Laliberté, consulting engineer.

This installation, for a length of 772 feet on Gauthier Street, will cost approximately $7,041.

A by-law will accordingly be drawn up and presented for adoption at next meeting, providing for referendum or public authorization to borrow the necessary amount.

According to the engineer's plans, the sewerage cost of $4,005.54 will comprise $3,641.40 for materials and $364.14 for professional and financing fees. The waterworks estimate of $3,036 will include $2,760 for materials, with $276 salary to the engineer and financial fees.

Good Area Representation In Home-and-School Group

Rev. J. R. Watson President; Officers Elected And First Executive Meeting Held This Week

The organizational meeting of the Lachute Association of the Home and School Federation was held Wednesday, October 30, in the music room of Lachute High School.

The Quebec president of the Federation, Mrs. C. E. Woolgar, introduced by Principal Fred Royal, opened the meeting by congratulating the gathering on its decision to organize. . . She went on to outline the aims of the Federation, which may be summarized as follows:

1. To bring into closer relation the home, school and community.
2. To assist in forming public opinion favorable to reform and advancement of the education of the child.
3. To develop between educators and the general public such united effort as shall secure for every child the highest advantage in physical, mental, moral and spiritual education.
4. To maintain a non-partisan, non-racial, non-commercial and non-sectarian organization.

The aims having been outlined and subsequently discussed, Mrs. Woolgar then called for a motion that the meeting proceed to organize in order to create the Lachute Home and School Association. This motion was duly made, seconded and approved.

A slate of nominations for the executive positions in the Association was presented by the Nominating Committee chairman. As no further nominations were forthcoming from the floor, a motion to elect the slate was adopted. Those elected were as follows:

Pres., Rev. J. R. Watson.
1st vice-pres., Mrs. A. M. Vessie.
2nd vice-pres., K. P. Riley.
Recording sec., Mrs. Jas. D. McOuat.
Corresponding sec., Mrs. John Douglas.
Treasurer, F. R. Jeffrey.

Following the election, the officers were duly installed in a ceremony conducted by Mrs. Woolgar.

Announcement was then made that the official representatives of the Lachute High School teaching staff were Mrs. Enid Dixon and Mr. Robt. Wyse.

The remaining part of the meeting was chaired by the president, the Rev. Mr. Watson.

It was decided that the regular general meeting take place on the second Tuesday of the month, and that six meetings be held each year.

Fees were established at $1.25 per family per year, 25 cents of which was to cover issues of the Home and School Magazine.

It was agreed that the matter of drawing up a constitution for the Association, the appointing of committee chairmen, and the preparation of a program for the next general meeting, would be taken up at the first executive meeting, Wednesday of this week. Tuesday, November 19, was chosen as the date for the next general meeting.

Following the registration and payment of annual fees, refreshments were served.

Earlier Sale and Mail Delivery to Watchman Readers

With only a few disappointments among advertisers and contributors who failed to take note of the change — the advance in publication time from Thursday to Wednesday has been put into effect by The Watchman and L'Argenteuil.

The Watchman has a considerable readership through counter sales in stores and restaurants, and in some such instances there has been misunderstanding. Some of our readers expect to receive their Watchman on Wednesdays. The papers are now delivered to the stores Thursday morning, however — instead of late Thursday afternoon.

Papers to the central post-office are consigned Wednesday night, and mail subscribers receive them in town and on the rural routes Thursday morning, the same time as they appear in the stores.

This was in accordance with plans — both mail and cash customers receiving The Watchman earlier, and week-end advertisers benefitting accordingly.

Meat Clinic for Local Purveyors

The "meat clinic" arranged by the newly organized Food Retailers Association here, is scheduled to take place at the civic auditorium next Wednesday at 1.30 in the afternoon — this being the merchants' early-closing day.

Ted Vachon, local president, promises an instructive and practical session conducted by an authority on this subject, Jean-Louis Hénault. Following the discourse and demonstrations on meat cutting and merchandising, there will be buffet refreshments.

All members of the local group will be admitted free. However, the occasion is open to all butchers and grocers of the district. There will be a nominal charge to non-members, in order to defray expenses — store personnel accompanying their employers, however, being admitted without charge.

Receives Honorary Life Membership

GEORGE Y. DEACON

Ex-Fire Chief of Lachute, who last Friday was informed he had been made an Honorary Life Member of the Canadian Association of Fire Chiefs. To this effect, he received a membership card and certificate. Mr. Deacon organized the local volunteer Fire Department and headed the brigade for 38 years. He resigned from the position one year ago.

School Fair '58 Officers Appointed

The School Fair Committee held a meeting in the District Agronome's office last week, and the following committee was elected for the coming year:

President, Murray Lyster; vice-president, Stuart Armstrong; secretary-treasurer, Miss Margaret Brass.

Directors — Mrs. Norman MacGeorge, Mrs. Basil Clark, Mrs. Perley Clark, Mrs. Dennis Swail, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Nicoll, Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Bain, Jean Pintal, Ernest McOuat, Robert McElroy, Jack Hadley and Davis MacVicar.

Last year the School Fair proved a very successful event, and a total amount of $236.75 was paid out in prize money. Plans for the coming year will be discussed at a meeting to be held early in the new year.

The School Fair Committee wishes to thank all who so kindly donated towards this organization.

District Scout Committeemen Attend Laurentian Council Annual Meeting

The annual meeting of the Laurentian District Council of the Boy Scouts Association was held last Wednesday evening at the Chantecler, at Ste. Adele. Annual reports were presented by the Council officers, and a successful year was reported by all. It was pointed out by the retiring president, Bernard Jenkins, that a new group has been formed recently in Thurso, Que., under the sponsorship of the United Church of Canada, and Ste. Agathe has indicated its interest in the formation of a Scout troop. After regular business had been disposed of, a proposed slate of officers was presented by the chairman of the Nominating Committee, J. R. Golpin, of Brownsburg, as follows:

Past-President, B. A. Jenkins, Lachute; President, D. N. Atkins, Brownsburg; vice-president, K. Harrison, Ste. Agathe; secretary, G. H. Quinn, Brownsburg; treasurer, W. Armstrong, Brownsburg.

This slate was appointed by the Council.

A motion was passed with unanimous approval to recognize, in a tangible manner, the faithful services of the secretary, G. H. Quinn, who has served the Council in this office for several years.

The president thanked Mr. Geo. Powell, manager, for the use of the Chantecler Curling Club social room in which this meeting was held.

Others attending the annual meeting included — the Rev. G. Bazil Jones, Ste. Agathe Group chairman; I. W. Jones, Lachute Group chairman; Raymond Underhill, Lachute Group sec.-treas.; J. Riddell, Provincial Field Commissioner; M. R. Wilson, District Commissioner; K. C. Ball, Brownsburg Scoutmaster; P. Villard, Brownsburg Cubmaster.

Insurance Agent Wins Automobile

Lucien Savard, local insurance agent, made one of the biggest scoops of his lifetime in winning the 1957 Pontiac car given by Desrosiers Automobiles in a draw-ing last Thursday evening.

Tickets for the drawing have been issued to garage customers over the past eight months, and there were 21,000 tickets in the drum. Of these, Mr. Savard states he held around 50-odd.

About 250 expectant onlookers were on hand for the drawing, when Mayor Léopold Carrière drew the lucky stub in the presence of Armand Desrosiers, proprietor, and members of his staff. Mr. Savard was not present, but arrived later to take possession of his prize.

Interviewed at The Watchman office this week, Mr. Savard admitted he was "considerably thrilled" on hearing the good news. He operates a 1955-model car, which he intends to dispose of and use his new Pontiac.

Having concluded this sales attraction, Mr. Desrosiers is already busy promoting business with another venture — a $25 cash drawing every Saturday evening — tickets being given with every $3 purchase of gasoline, oil, tires or batteries during the week.

Air Cadet Group Gets Organized Instruction

Ayersville Squadron 648 of the Air Cadets is now functioning in systematic and satisfactory order with 65 young cadets enrolled from the various schools. Training is conducted by Bob St. Laurent and Chas. Chartrand, ex-servicemen of this community, with Dr. L. Turcotte, county health officer, instructing First Aid.

Officers in charge of this group are F/L P.-E. Barbeau; P/O Maurice Dumas, adjutant; P/O Edouard Lajoie, quartermaster; F/L Rev. Louis Roux, padre; and Dr. André Sauvé, physician.

The citizen committee behind this movement includes: Philippe Joly, president; Germain Poulin, secretary; Réal Morrissette, Lionel Plouffe and Ronaldo Lascelle, directors.

Bob St. Laurent, instructor, puts the boys through their weekly drill every Wednesday evening in the Clament School at Ayersville.

Ayersville to Foot Lighting Bill for Outdoor Rink

Mayor Maurice Champagne presided at the regular Ayersville Council, with all councillors present including the newly-elected Ald. Wilfrid Durocher.

Messrs. Dumas and Lajoie, in charge of the Ayersville "Loisirs", received an affirmative response to their request that the corporation defray costs of illuminating the skating rink this season. The approximate expense is $40. The applicants stated there had been no grant forthcoming from the Lachute Federation of Charities, which had not held their campaign this year. Proceeds to the Loisirs from this source amounted to $600. Councillors Durocher and Quenneville moved that the corporation defray the lighting bill.

Accounts of $389.14 were passed for payment. Secretary Conrad Legault read the financial statement for October, showing receipts of $3,685 and expenses $1,691.

Arising out of current correspondence, there will be a check on the official municipal plan to confirm a right-of-way for the Agricultural Society, 100 feet in width through lots 724 and 726.

A letter was received from the firm of J. Hector Poitras & Fils, agents for American Marsh Pumps (Canada, Ltd.) offering a fire pump for sale.

It was decided to install two streetlights on Roy Avenue, another on the Brownsburg Road opposite the shrine, and another opposite the Roy Avenue corner.

The Roads Committee was asked to confer with Mr. Decary, of St. Andrews, relative to snow-clearing this season.

It was also decided to retain the services of Miss Sabourin on clerical work, until the regular December meeting.

Next assembly of the Council will be on November 18.

Impetus to Regional Hospital Fund Given by Rotary Club and C-I-L

Lachute Regional Hospital President Gilbert E. Ayers last Thursday evening received a cheque of $1,000, an amount slightly more than total profits of the recent Brownsburg-Lachute Rotary Air Show. Les C. Thompson, Works Manager at the Brownsburg C-I-L plant, on Thursday last presented Lachute Regional Hospital director Roger Regimbal with a cheque for one-half of the company's $20,000 donation towards the hospital. The presentation took place at the Lachute Golf and Country Club. — Photo, Syd Drew

"It is gratifying, to myself and to the Lachute Regional Hospital Board, to see your Club taking such a rapid and active part in raising funds for a good cause, and it is my personal feeling that all other Clubs should look up to you for doing it." It was with these words that Gilbert E. Ayers, president of the Hospital Fund, opened his short address at last Thursday's meeting of the Rotary Club, where President King Amos, on behalf of the club, presented Mr. Ayers with a $1,000 cheque representing slightly more than the total proceeds of the recent Air Show.

Mr. Ayers went on to report that the Hospital Fund appeal to the Protestant portion of the community to be served by the hospital, would be held over to the spring, at which time it is expected the first sod will be turned. "In connection with the hospital", he added, " we have been working on the plans for years, and feel that we have finally come to a position where we feel it can be built for one million dollars.

"To date, we have approximately $600,000 from Federal and Provincial grants; $110,000 operating profit from our present Providence Hospital; approximately $120,000 from the recent Diocesan Fund drive — this representing one-half of all funds collected in this district — and a Hospital Fund bank account of close to $30,000 to date."

Mr. Ayers and Roger Regimbal, a director of the Hospital Committee, along with several other prime supporters of the recent Air Show and workers, were guests of the Rotary Club at the regular dinner meeting last Thursday evening.

Mr. Regimbal, in accepting C-I-L's part-donation just prior to this function, stated he hoped "the general public would accept its share of responsibility in the same spirit as C-I-L had done." . . . Les C. Thompson, Works Manager at the Brownsburg Plant, paid tribute to Mr. Ayers and the committee for the work they were doing, and in turning over the one-half payment ($10,000) on behalf of C-I-L assured his company's support in the good work the committee was doing.

President, Gilbert E. Ayers; vice-president, Léopold Carrière; directors — Donald M. Hay, Herb Graves, Armand Desrosiers, Roger Regimbal and Simon Valois.

Minister of Mines in New York City Views Trends in Quebec Development, Industrial and Agricultural Balance

Hon. W. M. Cottingham Speaker at Canadian Club

"Quebec is still standing at the dawn of a new age of gigantic development. Of the 330,000 square miles which contain almost indefinite natural resources, only a few hundred miles have been so far exploited. And the economic development of the Province depends, to a large extent, upon the full exploitation of its unique mineral resources. Quebec is entering a new mineral age, which should produce constant employment, well-paid labor and general prosperity. The second half of this century will belong to Quebec, if we want it." . . .

This was the summing-up of a discourse by the Hon. W. M. Cottingham, Minister of Mines, given before the Canadian Club in New York recently. Mr. Cottingham exemplified his conclusion with a quotation from the late Henry Ford: "The future fairly startles me with its impending greatness. We are on the verge of undreamed-of progress."

The speaker quoted some relative figures which illustrate the industrial trend in Quebec Province. . .

"About 29 per cent of Canada's total population lives in Quebec. In less than two centuries, its population has advanced from 60,000 (in 1760) to over 4,500,000 at the present time. In Quebec there is an immense reservoir of man-power for industry, and, according to conservative estimates . . . the population will reach over 8-million within the next quarter century.

"Moreover, Quebec is no longer primarily a farming land; today it is 27 per cent agricultural and 73 per cent industrial. There are about 1,000,000 farmers on the land at present. In fact, Quebec has become highly industrialized especially during the last thirty years, and it has been predicted that by 1980, when its population will be twice as high as it is at present, Quebec will be only 23 per cent agricultural. Today, Quebec's manufactured goods represent 32 per cent of the Canadian production. These figures show in what direction we are moving."

In the past 100 years Canada has lost nearly 7,000,000 people by emigration.

Correction

Attention of the publishers has been drawn to an error in reporting the inquest on Mrs. Roderick (Dora) Campbell, of Arundel, victim of a highway fatality near Arundel this past summer. The two cars involved were driven by Lloyd Champagne of Arundel and John MacLeod of Westmount, respectively. The late Mrs. Campbell was a passenger in the car driven by Mr. MacLeod — not in the Arundel car as stated.

Argenteuil Outdoors

A column for the sportsman

— By BOB ATCHISON —

With the beautiful weather we have been having, it's pretty hard to think of hunting instead of fishing! The reports I have received on deer are not too good around this area. The ones that have been taken are all outside the County. They have been getting some very good shooting around St. André Avellin, but that is to be expected in that area. The kill on moose hasn't been made official yet, but one authority is of the opinion it won't go over 1,000 for the province. That is, in my estimate, too many, after last year's kill — or should I say "slaughter"!

I've just been told about a dog and fox that were killed near Morin Heights that had rabies, so watch your dog in the bush. If you are after rabbits or foxes, be careful when cleaning them. Be sure you have no cuts on your hands.

* * *

There has been a lot of fun around the river this past week. The muskies and northerns have been biting like mad. We hooked into a number of them, but using barbless hooks, it's very easy to let them go. Just slack the line and they are off. Spring seems such a long way off — six months.

There is a new Fish and Game Association in St. Eustache, only two months old, but already they have had a couple of turkey shoots, with some very good publicity over Radio CJAD. See what can be done with support from the members. We could do the same if our members would come out to the Association meetings.

I've seen a couple of Ringneck pheasants around my way. Maybe there are more around. Could be they are some of the offspring of the ones that were let go on Mount Royal a few years ago. I hope there are more of them in circulation.

You know there are no restrictions on pheasants raised in captivity and released on private grounds. Maybe that is something for the Club to work on in the future; it sounds good, even though it will take a lot of talking about.

I don't know if any of our hunters have tried the new Colt rifle that is out. Any information that is passed along would be appreciated. I saw an old 8 m.m. Mauser last week. It was very old, but it had been really looked after by the owner. It was a beautiful piece of workmanship. The stock was oiled and hand-finished in a light shade of walnut, and the chin rest was dark. A lot of hours had been put in on that. If any of you want to try hand-finishing your gun, here's how you can do it: Use a very fine sandpaper to take the finish off. Then when it is all clean, polish with plain brown paper until it's as smooth as glass. Then use some linseed oil. Rub it in and let it dry. Polish again with brown paper. Then more oil and paper; let dry and repeat until you get the desired finish. It makes a beautiful job when it's done — well worth spending a little time on. . . Just a thought to you fishermen who own split cane rods. This idea of polishing does not apply to your rods, so don't try it.

Reading in The Gazette recently, by our friend I. Hunter, that the breeding area for Snow Geese has been found. O.K., boys, take it easy; it's north of Baffin Island, so you can't go for the week-end! At any rate, 800 were banded for future study. The stop-over from the Arctic to the wintering grounds is relatively small in area, so that a few outfitters have a small fortune in their hands every fall — $100,000 worth — so isn't that something for us all to think about! Admittedly we don't and probably won't ever have all the geese around here.

We do have other fine sport in the fishing and hunting field, that with a little care and help to Nature could be turned into a sportsman's paradise. You know, because the limit is a recognized number, you don't have to take it. After all, most of our bag or catch is given away or left to spoil. (Yep, unfortunately this is true, as most of you know.) So why not have a little consideration for our future sports, who may have tales told them of how good it was in the old days, when we got our limits most of the time. Let's give them a chance to see for themselves. It's the human element that depletes the game, not Nature — so let's settle for less, anytime.

We all can remember when the fish, game, etc., was ours for the taking right around the County of Argenteuil. That isn't just a dream, either. I fished and shot right around Morin Heights over 20 years ago, and know how good it was; and this applies to all the other places we know of.

As fishermen we all get mad at the supposedly coarse fish that are in our streams and lakes. I wonder how many have tried catching all these fish on light tackle. By light, I mean spinning lines of up to 2 lb. test, with a light rod and small lure. It can be a lot of real fun. A lot of spinners and fish are lost, but after catching a few fair-sized ones, you think you have the hang of it, and nearly all fish are good eating. So get busy on the Christmas hints! It's never too early.

Myself, I have a lot of sport taking perch, chub, whitefish, carp, herring, etc., on flies (dry or wet) in the North River. The toughest ones to hook and boat are whitefish and herring. As soon as they feel the hook they are off, and I don't think that any fish can beat them for speed in going places. Try it next spring, and you'll see what I mean.

A few of us were up at Hammond's Point last Sunday for a little target practice; it sure was a lot of fun. Good for the C-I-L. There were 300 22s, .303's, .410's, 12's and 30.30's, all using up ammo. I guess it sounded like a young war! Maybe we can make something of this little shoot on Sundays.

I'm going to start giving some dope on making your own baits, flies, etc., for your fishing next spring. And if any of you want to rip or, make your own rods, that will be passed on.

* * *

That's all for now. With thanks to Seagrams: A gun is only as safe as the man behind it.

Church Bowling Officers Named

The annual meeting of the St. Simeon's Bowling League was held in the church basement on Monday, with Mr. W. Shearsmith presiding.

The treasurer's report was submitted by Mrs. A. Neil, which showed a healthy balance. The chairman thanked the members for their support and co-operation during the past season.

At this point the Rev. C. R. Lang was asked to take over the meeting for the election of officers for 1957-58 season, which resulted as follows:

President and chairman, Mr. Walter Shearsmith (re-elected).

Secretary-treasurer, Mrs. A. Neil (re-elected).

Match committee, Mr. Maslin.

Finance committee, Mr. A. G. Leggett, Mr. E. Gow, Mrs. W. L. Dawson.

Refreshment committee, Mrs. B. Jenkins, Mrs. W. L. Dawson, Mrs. W. Shearsmith.

Publicity, Mr. A. G. Leggett

The Rev. Lang wished the officers and members every success during the coming season.

Members are asked to please note that the starting time is 7.30 p.m. and to be ready to play at that time. Play will commence on Monday November 11.

Six teams were drawn, as follows:

No. 1 — Mr. Gow (skip), Mr. D. Brown, Mrs. Evans, Mrs. Dugall.

No. 2 — Mr. G. Leggett (skip), Mrs. G. Silverson, Miss R. Chapman, Mr. R. Dempster.

No. 3 — Mr. G. Silverson (skip), Mrs. A. Neil, Mrs. L. Hodge, Mrs E. Morrow.

No. 4 — Mr. Shearsmith (skip), Mrs. Elliott, Mrs. Bates, Mrs. Sioui.

No. 5 — Mrs. Shearsmith (skip), Mrs. L. Dawson, Muriel Lang, Miss L. Miller.

No. 6 — Mrs. Lang (skip), Mrs. Jenkins, Mr. H. Maslin, Mr. E. Evans

Another team will be drawn if enough players are available; otherwise players not posted to a team will be absorbed as "spares".

Research on Deer, Quebec Zone 'B'

Quebec — The Big Game biologists of the Quebec Department of Game and Fisheries will again, this year carry on their research work on the deer population of this province, which they initiated two years ago. The co-operation which the biologists obtained from the hunters at the experimental station set up at L'Annonciation, Labelle County, has greatly facilitated their work and produced excellent results.

This year, the research work will be carried on in B Zone, where two experimental stations will be set up, at St. Come, Beauce Co., and at La Patrie, Compton Co. The Big Game biologists will be at the regional game-wardens' quarters throughout the hunting season in B Zone, i.e., from November 9 to December 1. The buck law has been abolished in B Zone, so that either the buck, doe or fawn can be hunted. By setting up these experimental research stations at the regional game-wardens', the biologists had in mind convenience to the hunters, as these must anyway report the result of their hunt to the game warden. The biologists will then take the opportunity to examine the reported deer, in order to determine their physical characteristics.

The physical characteristics of the deer, according to wildlife biologist Claude Minguy, in charge of the research work, bear on the teeth of the game; their inspection reveals the age of the deer, and once the age has been determined on a certain number of specimens, it is then possible to determine the structure of the deer population by groups. Further, study of the antlers will also indicate the quality of the feed, as well as the sexual capacity of the animal — its ability to reproduce.

Lachute High School Sports and Activities

By Roland Gow

It was a disappointing week-end of sport at Lachute.

Soccer — Lachute 1, Hudson 2

On Saturday, Lachute played Hudson in the first game of the D.V.S.A.A. soccer championship.

Lachute won the toss and Hudson kicked off on a typically dull, November day. Most of the attacking was done by Lachute, who could not seem to put the ball between the posts, or under the crossbar for that matter. However, Roland Gow scored for Lachute from an indirect free-kick which was deflected in by a Hudson player. The play swayed back and forth, and five minutes from half-time Hudson tied the score.

Lachute kicked off in the second half, determined to win the game. The local boys pounded the Hudson goal without success, although Del McTavish grazed the uprights on several occasions with beautiful shots. It became a ding-dong battle with both teams trying hard to score. Twelve minutes from time Hudson scored with a shot that was deflected in by a Lachute player.

Grim and determined, Lachute fought back, but to no avail, and the game ended 2-1 for the visitors.

Hudson will play Lachute, in Hudson, this Saturday in the second game of the series.

Did you say LIGHT bill?

Look at the variety of electric appliances in general use today

It has been many years since electricity meant just light. Today electricity means modern living. Each year brings new electric appliances and more convenience, cleanliness, comfort, economy and safety for every member of the family.

Yet, while the benefits of electricity have been increasing over the years, the average unit price of household electricity is more than 20% below 7 years ago!

Electricity is today's biggest bargain. Cash in on every big electric value. Live better . . . electrically!

The Outlook for Textiles

REPEATED EMPHASIS on the plight of the textile industry, illustrated in a grim and practical way by the closing of various mills and manufacturing plants in the recent years, is at last having some effect. Public and government consciousness of the situation indicate the shaping of policies which will have a direct bearing on Lachute and such communities in which textile manufactures are operated. In the words of G. H. Dobbie, president of the Canadian Woollen and Knit Goods Manufacturers Association, "This is likely to be the most critical period in the history of these industries."

Following are relevant extracts from Mr. Dobbie's address, given last week at the 35th annual conference of the Association, held at the Seigniory Club, Montebello:

"What is to be considered and what is literally at stake in the forthcoming Tariff Board hearings, is a primary textile industry with 50,000 direct employees — Canada's second largest employer of manufacturing labor.

"An idea of the importance of this industry may be had in this way: Economists tell us that for every job provided in manufacturing, two more jobs are created in supply and service industries, and in other areas dependent on manufacturing. This means that a total of 240,000 Canadian workers are dependent, directly or indirectly, on the primary textile industry for their wages. And each worker represents a family of something more than three people, so there are close to three quarters of a million people looking to our industry for a livelihood.

Another established fact is that the capital investment at stake is close to three quarters of a billion dollars. This large invesment is represented in more than 740 separate establishments located across the breadth of our country.

It is important to note also that the textile industry anticipated by many years the modern trend towards decentralization: The greatest part of the industry is in communities of less than 50,000 population.

Thus the industry provides a sound economic balance for, on one hand, the type of heavy industrial development that is apt to be concentrated in or near big cities, and on the other hand for the type of frontier industrial development that is still important to Canada's economic growth.

Good Tune for Milking Time

WE HAD a word last week on Mr. Duplessis, butter substitutes and their supposed detriment to the Quebec dairy industry. Lest any of our dairymen do seriously view this market as a threat to their survival, we echo this week a note of optimism, to portray Quebec a future dairyland far brighter than our farmers dare imagine. . .

Speaking in Montreal to a group of representatives of the dairy industry, government dairy officials, suppliers, and shareholders, at the opening of the 125th Laura Secord candy shop recently, Robert J. McGillis, vice-president of that company, said that some people worry over the relatively large size of Canada's national dairy output. "As a manufacturer using annually over 50,000 gallons of cream and 750,000 pounds of butter, and as one who has seen industrial consumption of dairy products increase steadily over the years, I believe I am in a good position to predict nothing but the brightest future for our dairy industry," he stated.

Mr. McGillis pointed out that a good, sound dairy industry and a stable prosperity seem to go hand in hand. He said one only need look at such countries as Denmark and New Zealand and the large milk-producing areas of the U.S. to find proof of this.

Continued the Laura Secord vice-president: "While it is true that Canada is experiencing dairy surpluses at the moment, I am convinced that as our population increases and there are millions more mouths to feed, and as industrial users of dairy products achieve greater diversification, we in Canada — and particularly you in Quebec — will achieve Wisconsin-like dairy wealth and prosperity. Not only will there be far more private consumers for milk, cheese and butter, but many food manufacturers like our industry will require substantially higher quantities of dairy products for the production of goods."

Canada's Part in Colombo Plan

DEEP IN A northern Pakistan gorge a Canadian story is being enacted — a story of the largest single humanitarian project undertaken by people of this country in time of peace. The exploit is the building of the Warsak Dam with Canadian money, brains and equipment and is Canada's main contribution to the Colombo Plan.

According to an article in the current issue of the C-I-L Oval by Leslie Roberts, one of the most amazing features about this development is the fact that Canadian people are hardly aware of its existence. Front page news stories closer home, such as the St. Lawrence Seaway and the finding of uranium at Blind River, have caused this project to go almost unannounced.

The Warsak Dam, when completed will cost $50,000,000 and will hold back a torrential river with a cement wall 220 feet high and more than 700 feet long. When completed, it will transform more than 1,000,000 acres of hitherto wasteland into lush farmland. The building of this huge dam on the other side of the world by Canadians is a calculated attempt to help a nation to find its own economic independence and, through its own efforts, maintain its freedom.

The Canadian government undertook the task of building the Warsak Dam in 1954, but not until a year later did the first cargoes of supplies and equipment begin to move from Montreal to Pakistan.

The writer outlines the multitude of obstacles which had to be overcome by Canadian ingenuity: human problems such as the lack of skilled labor; class differences and the dictatorship of tribal rulers. Canadians convinced the Pakistani that they were bringing opportunities for a better life and yet had no intention of asking them to surrender their independence or their age-old customs.

The building of this dam is an outstanding engineering achievement and a vital part of the Colombo Plan. The plan began as a Commonwealth family affair to help its less fortunate members, but it has now been taken up by other democratic countries in an attempt to make southeast Asia a showplace of democracy.

Any Manpower Going to Waste?

WE HAVE spare-time jobs a-plenty. We have a crying need for energy in every club and organization of this community. The question is, have we potential manpower going to waste?

The Watchman offers this suggestion, verbatim from the current News Round-Up of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce:

How often have we heard the complaint "This town needs some new leaders. The ones we have now are all overworked in community affairs." All this time there exists in most towns an excellent source of executive manpower, small in number but long in experience and "savvy". And, most often, ready, willing and able to accept some position of responsibility which will provide the feeling of being needed in the community. This source of manpower? — Retired citizens.

Experience has proved that when the first "wild fling" of retirement has passed away, many individuals find the forced inactivity most depressing. Strange as it seems, day after day of golf, fishing or even rose gardening eventually begins to pall. What better person, then, to head up a particular Board or Committee, or to do a specific short-time job than the retired businessman, teacher, civil servant or farmer?

One community of 25,000 population has recently set up a consulting service to assist local businessmen with management problems. For the experience and knowledge necessary to correctly appraise business, the committee utilizes the experience of 17 semi-retired businessmen. The knowledge of this "Talent Pool" has been grouped as follows: Management and Policy; Personnel; Plant; Advertising and Promotion; Bookkeeping; General Office Procedure; Merchandising; Budgeting and Finance. What a wealth of experience is made available to local businessmen through such a service.

Whether in an advisory capacity, as a volunteer or part-time employee, or as a committee chairman, the retired citizen can be of tremendous service to his community. And, expending his efforts intelligently, he will live longer as a result.

Contradictory!

TOURIST authorities heard a complaint recently from an Ontario farmer and resort operator, that the Federal Government was not treating both sides of his "split personality" equally.

Dr. J. Lawson Mackle, of Picton, Ont., told the Canadian Tourist Association conference that as a farmer he had no trouble getting government-backed financial help. But as a resort owner he was unable to borrow any money for capital expenditures except through "Shylock methods."

"Our government is helping me — the farmer — to grow more food to feed more people, but it won't help me — the tourist operator—to put my tourist resort in a position to accommodate more tourists over a longer period each year to eat the food I, as the farmer, grow to feed them."

American Elections. — From the returns that have thus far reached us, it would seem that the Democrats have carried all before them. The Free Canal amendment in New York State is said to have carried by a good majority. This will have a prejudicial influence on our Canadian canals, especially the Welland.

While in Montreal, Mr. John Hope bought a shop window-lighter, composed of three lamps mounted at equal distances along a brass tube, which is hollow and contains oil. The light is as brilliant as gas.

On Thursday, the 11th, a meeting has been called by the Mayor of the Parish, to discuss the matter of incorporating Lachute as a town.

At the local council meeting, Mayor Dunbar and the aldermen ordered that Mr. Geigers be paid $6 for the burial of a friendless man named Fisher. . . A letter was received from Wm. Perry, Montreal, offering the municipality a fire engine at the price of $500. Besides the Mayor, Councillors Dudderidge, McOuat, Shepherd and Smith were in attendance.

Mr. David J. Christie, who intends leaving for the Northwest, has disposed of his Centreville farm to Mr. J. Burke, of Brownsburg.

Returning from a hunting trip to Nominingue, Messrs. W. Todd and P. Brisette report a bag of several fine furs and the restricted number of deer.

Mr. G. E. Valois has the sympathy of this community in the loss of his brother, George, who was drowned on Friday at Cascades-des-Cedres, Beauharnois.

Although several weeks will lapse before the retirement of the present Mayor, nomination papers have been circulated in Lachute for Mr. Gaetan Valois and Mr. Arthur Larocque; both papers are said to be largely signed. The early appearance of these lists indicates a greater interest in municipal matters.

In 10 years the use of horses on Canadan farms has decreased 20%.

The publishers regret that, owing to a delay in shipment of electros, the regular Sunday School Column is omitted from The Watchman this week.

It is announced the 1st Lachute Troop Boy Scouts will again collect old, discarded toys and books, to be repaired and made up into parcels for poor and needy families at Christmas. Most houses contain a number of such articles, which might well be repaired and give pleasure to less fortunate families.

Time To Invest

I've a friend who has made as much by investing his money in common stocks as most professional investors make. He has a flair for choosing stocks that pay good dividends and appreciate in value. His only fault is that he brags about the money he makes. So I've been watching for him.

"I see, Tom, that the market hasn't been so good these past few weeks." That was my opening gambit; and I hoped to probe a sore spot. He surprised me.

"Listen," said he, "why don't you smarten up? The time to invest is when the amateurs are being scared out. I've been bargain-hunting on the exchange all week, and I'll just bet you'll wish you'd done the same thing a year from now."

Thereupon he delivered me a long lecture on the fallacy of waiting to buy stocks until they're booming. "Grab 'em during these small recessions," he says. "It's an old adage: Buy at the low price and sell at the high. And believe me — Canadian stocks will go high!"

All my life I've been a timid soul with money. I like to see it in a bankbook where I can get it when I want it. Just the same, my friend's point of view is probably right.

This country, in my opinion, is on the verge of a bigger boom than we've known yet. The Western provinces will set the pace. Alberta and British Columbia are bursting out at the seams. Saskatchewan promises to do the same; and Manitoba has been going ahead steadily, although her people hate to admit a boom — they like to talk poor.

Immigration — though it may seem to hurt a little at times — is doing wonderful things for the West. We're developing a domestic market; we have more people to share the costs of transportation, publishing, broadcasting and the like. The newcomers bring with them specialized skills, and many of them bring money.

Another important factor will be reduced taxation. Ottawa seems to be yielding at long last to the demand of the people that waste be stopped. Millions could be sliced from our tax bills and left in the hands of the people to be invested in industry, agriculture, housing and other important things. The money the government wasted through the National Film Board in making the film "How to Build an Igloo" would have built many low-cost houses. The millions CBC squandered on mediocre TV shows would build enough elevators to store surplus grain. If the new government lives up to its promises and cuts these expenses down to size, we'll all be richer.

Yes, there are good times ahead. With careful management, Canada can soon be the most prosperous, instead of the second most prosperous land in all the world!

Lieut.-Governor Endorses Legion Poppy Campaign

The Canadian Legion has received the following message from the Hon. Gaspard Fauteux, Lieutenant-Governor of Quebec, in support of the 1957 Poppy Fund Campaign:

"The Canadian Legion is launching once more its popular and welcome Poppy Fund Campaign. This annual drive, sponsored by valiant people who devote their ceaseless efforts for benefit of a most worthy cause — that of helping the disabled veterans — has become such a part of everybody's life at this time of the fall season that people would clamor for it if it were ever to be discontinued.

"Fortunately, the Canadian Legion, whilst keeping alive in our hearts the memory of our glorious dead, also maintains the pious tradition of the Flanders Poppy, which identifies itself with Remembrance Day.

"As the Queen's representative in this province, I am pleased to fully endorse the aim of this campaign, and I wish its indefatigable promoters all the success they so richly deserve."

— (Signed) Gaspard Fauteux,
Lieutenant-Governor of the Province of Quebec.

Who is considered Canada's first native-born poet?

Oliver Goldsmith, whose father was a nephew of the noted Irish poet for whom he was named, holds this distinction. Born at St. Andrews, N.B., in 1794, the Canadian Oliver Goldsmith served in the British Army at Saint John, N.B. In imitation of his great-uncle's famous poem, The Deserted Village, he wrote The Rising Village, first published at London in 1825 and later republished, with additional verses, in Saint John.

What New Brunswick community was created by the depression?

The village of Allardville owes its existence to Father Allard, a Roman Catholic priest, who encouraged unemployed men to settle their families on "green farms" in attractive land provided by the New Brunswick government. The community not only survived the depression of the 1930's but flourished.

Who founded the Hebrew Philanthropic Society in Canada?

Abraham DeSola, a member of an old Spanish-Jewish family living in London, England, was called to head a Synagogue in Montreal, where he established the first Jewish Sunday School in Canada. He joined the staff of McGill University as professor of Hebrew and rabbinical literature, and as lecturer in Spanish. A keen student of science and author of many articles on oriental languages and Jewish history and theology, he was a close collaborator of Sir William Dawson and Sir William Logan, and was for several years president of the Natural History Society of Canada. He founded the Hebrew Philanthropic Society in 1847 and became its first secretary-treasurer.

All Aboard with G. E. Mortimore

Sometimes animals and people seem to be picking on me.

When I wake in the middle of the night and go downstairs for a drink of water, I know exactly what I will see as I round the corner of the stairs: a black hairy blob on the chesterfield.

It is the dog, taking advantage of our absence to settle down for the night in a forbidden place.

As the dog sees me, it leaps down and scurries behind the stove in the most abject possible way. I speak to it severely, and go back to bed.

Ten minutes later I sneak down again. Sure enough, there is the dog comfortably installed in the same place.

The crafty beast is away like a shot deer behind the stove again. It settles its head on its paws and looks mildly at me, trying to pretend it has been there all the time.

I shove a chair against the entrance to the kitchen for an anti-dog barrier, and wearily return to bed.

When I get there, the cat settles on my legs, a hot, heavy lump. I nudge and jostle it, but it outmanoeuvres me and returns to the same place. At last I make an outright attempt to throw the cat off by lashing at it with both feet. It makes a small growl of complaint, walks once around the bed for exercise, and drapes itself solidly over my kneecap.

Both little boys are awake at 7 a.m. John, 4, shifts a small desk over to the crib occupied by Michael, 2, so that his little brother can climb out.

Then they both push the desk into our room, pretending it is a boat. The piece of furniture makes a tooth-grinding sound as it scratches along the floor. Both boys scream with delight, and then start quarrelling over possession of some toys, a dispute that leads to blows and tears.

However, they find consolation in climbing over their father and mother until we get up.

At the breakfast table I am just unfolding a paper when John pipes up, in his most smug manner:

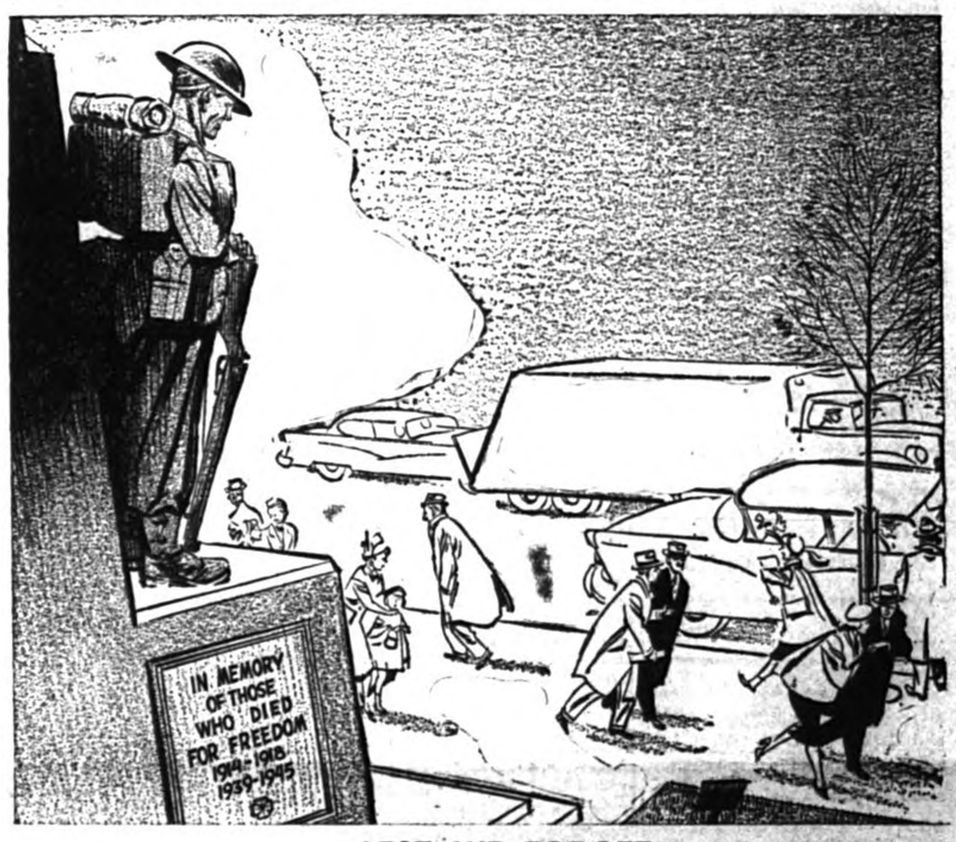

"Don't read at the table, Daddy."

"Don't read at table, Daddy, will you?" small Michael parrots.

A man can't argue with his children, when he knows they are in the right.

So I fold the paper, finish my breakfast, and set out for the office in a sour and gloomy mood, to make a living for my tormentors.

Dr. Henry Cousens, Former Cleric Here, Died in Kingston

The Rev. Dr. Henry Cousens, 62, minister of the Brockville First Presbyterian Church from 1939 to 1953, died last Friday in Kingston, Ont. Funeral services were held Monday at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church in that city.

Born in Bolton Centre, Que., he was educated at McGill University, and served as minister of the Margaret Rodger Memorial Presbyterian Church here in Lachute, for 14 years before going to Brockville.

He had served as student pastor in Cushing and Pointe Fortune in 1920 and 1921, graduating in 1922 from McGill and two years later from the Presbyterian Theological College.

The Rev. H. Cousens was well and favorably remembered by many friends in this community.

From 1924-26 he was superintendent of the Presbyterian mission in the Adirondacks.

Leaving the Adirondacks charge, he was minister at Margaret Rodger Memorial Church, Lachute, until 1939, when he left to spend 14 years with the First Church, Brockville, Ont. He left Brockville in 1953 for Campbellford, Ont., and was with St. Andrew's Church there until his retirement in March, 1956, when he went to Kingston.

In 1950, he received an honorary Doctor of Divinity degree from the college.

At one time he was a member of the Mission Board of the Presbyterian Church and of the Senate of Presbyterian College, Montreal.

Dr. Cousens was a former moderator of the Synod of Montreal and Ottawa of the Presbyterian Church in Canada.

He was a Shriner and a Past Deputy Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Quebec. He was [illegible] with a Brockville militia unit.

He is survived by his wife; a daughter, Mrs. Ruth Jackson of Alton, Ill.; four sons, Henry, now serving with the United Nations Emergency Force, John, James and Donald, all of Kingston; a brother, T. E. Cousens, of Bolton Centre; and seven grandchildren.

Result of Campaign For Blind Institute

Mrs. C. L. Stephens, financial chairman for the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, announces that up to date $540 has been collected, which represents 67½% of the objective. In order to realize the additional amount, $250, an urgent appeal is made to those who have been accidentally overlooked during the campaign, to contact Mrs. Stephens (tel. 6663) or the Institute office (Lachute 476), and a representative will be glad to call and collect a donation. The contribution that you give may save the sight of a neighbor, a friend or a relative.

B'burg Cubs Help UNICEF

Brownsburg — The Cubs of the 1st Brownsburg and Mowgli Packs would like to thank all those who "shelled out" so generously for UNICEF on Hallowe'en night, to help supply underprivileged children in needy countries with life-saving medicines, milk and vitamins.

In all, $61.68 was collected. This money is enough to supply 30,840 glasses of powdered milk, enough vaccine to inoculate 6,168 children against TB, or provide enough penicillin to cure 1,234 children of yaws, a deforming tropical disease.

In this way our boys say, "We care. We want other children to grow up strong and healthy, ready to work with us for the cause of international peace."

Marriage Vows in Suburban Church

Callicott - Paul

The marriage of Christina Helen, daughter of Mr. James Paul and the late Mrs. Paul, of Montreal, to Mr. G. Ewart Callicott, of Lachute, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Callicott, took place at the Ephraim Scott Memorial Church in suburban Montreal last Saturday at 4 o'clock p.m., the Rev. J. S. McBride officiating.

The organist and soloist, Mr. John Cook, sang "O Promise Me" and "Where'er You Walk." Standards of large white 'mums and candelabra were used to decorate the church.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of champagne guipure lace over satin with a fitted bodice having a bateau neckline, long sleeves coming to a point at the wrist, and a full skirt. Her bandeau hat, holding the veil her mother wore on her wedding day, matched the satin cummerbund on her dress and she carried a cascade bouquet of Johanna Hill roses.

Matron of honor was Mrs. J. E. Lagar, sister of the bride, wearing a copper-tone dress of ballerina length with matching bandeau hat. She carried a cascade bouquet of bronze single 'mums.

Little Karen Lagar, niece of the bride, was flower girl, dressed in a bamboo gold floor-length frock with matching bonnet, and carrying a basket of yellow Goldilock roses.

Mr. Ralph W. Macdonald was groomsman, and the ushers were Mr. J. E. Lagar and Mr. W. McClintock.

The bride's sister, Mrs. R. W. Macdonald, wore a dusty pink dress of lace and chiffon with matching feather hat and a corsage of white carnations.

After a reception at the Windsor Hotel where white poms, pale pink carnations and candelabra decorated the room, Mr. and Mrs. Callicott left for the Eastern Townships, the bride travelling in a brown wool crepe dressmaker suit, dusty rose hat and a mink stole, the gift of the groom. . . They will reside in Lachute.

STILL MISERABLE

Personally we don't think there's much difference between the influenza with the new name (Asian flu) and the influenza we have known since we were knee-high to a grasshopper.

It sure sounds like the flu bug we have known all our lives.

AMONG THE CHURCHES

Church of St. Francis, St. Sauveur, Que.

Morin Heights — The hall committee of the Church of Saint Francis met on Sunday to discuss progress on their $22,300 campaign for a new church hall in Saint Sauveur. Mrs. John H. Molson and Mr. Chipman Drury, the co-chairmen, reported the sum of $7,400 had been received to date, and it was expected the full amount would be raised by the close of the campaign on November 30.

Services at Trinity Anglican Church and the Church of St. Francis on Sunday were conducted by Mr. A. C. Woodward, Diocesan lay reader, of Montreal. The rector is recuperating from his recent illness.

Junior W.A. Members Attend Deanery Rally

Eleven members of St. Simeon's Church Junior W.A. journeyed to Rawdon on Saturday, to take part in the annual Deanery rally at Christ Church.

The program provided by the Junior W.A. members and Diocesan leaders from Montreal was enjoyed by all present.

Refreshments were served by Christ Church Senior W.A.

Appreciation for UNICEF Hallowe'en Shell-Out

UNICEF wishes to thank the people of Lachute who contributed to their Hallowe'en night drive to raise funds; also many thanks to the children who participated.

Mr. Donat Saulnier, proprietor of Beaton's Pharmacy, arranged a show-window display to help promote this effort.

A total of $63 was collected and sent to UNICEF headquarters in Toronto. There were 61 youngsters altogether who collected for this project in the Hallowe'en "shell-out."

Scouts Canvass Saturday For Paper Salvage

The 1st Lachute Troop Boy Scouts will hold a salvage paper collection this Saturday. Businessmen and householders are asked to have salvage paper (newspapers, pressed cartons, etc.) tied and placed in bundles at their doors, in readiness for collection when the Scouts make their rounds.

Interesting Features At Lions Club Ladies' Night

An enthusiastic attendance of 75 Lions, ladies and guests enjoyed a ladies' night and film program at the Legion Hall on Tuesday evening. The club president, Ernest Snadden, piloted the proceedings — Romeo Paquette catered in his usual acceptable manner — Secretary Keith Clarke performed his customary role — and genial Tony Zaplaski provided the musical interludes.

An unexpected pleasure at this meeting was the presence of the District Governor, Dr. F. W. FitzGerald, who that same day had returned from an official call on the Seven Islands club, literally an out post of Lionism, 1,000 air-miles distant. Dr. FitzGerald spoke of the area as a "fabulous country", and the Seven Islands group, with their public library and other community projects, as a "fabulous Lions Club". On the return trip he had also visited a new branch club at Limoilou, in suburban Quebec.

The D.G. drew attention of the gathering to the "Happy Gang" radio program today (Thursday) which will be a live broadcast of the Toronto Lions Club luncheon meeting.

President Ernest Snadden gave a hint of fund-raising projects this season, including the sale of Christmas fruit cakes (— a sample model being raffled at this meeting and won by Mrs. Dick Pearson); a fall bingo with distinct innovations; also the dog sled derby, as sponsored last winter by this club, with the probability of a snowshoe sprint in conjunction.

Lion Ernest Emmett, inter-club chairman, gave a boost to the inter-club visits; these are the basis of competition between the district clubs, in which Lachute retains a high standing.

The program concluded with two films presented by Phil Tremblay — one, "Patterns and Places", on the subject of Royal Doulton bone-china (sold locally by Dansereau Stores), its manufacture and design, interwoven with equally colorful settings in the British Isles; the other portraying feats in water-skiing and acrobatics in the Florida Everglades — a film produced for Mercury Outboards and procured by Miville Trickey, agent.

The evening was voted a complete success.

Notice in a London church: "Not everyone who enters this church has been converted; please take care of your handbags, etc."

To M. C. Cooking School

C. Gordon Hynes, of Verdun, Que., well known around this district, who will be master of ceremonies at the Canada Packers Cooking School, to be held in the Lachute High School at 8 o'clock Wednesday evening, November 13. Mr. Hynes has been in the district on previous occasions as m.c. at these demonstrations. On November 13 the audience is assured of an educational and entertaining evening. Tickets may be procured from Mrs. Betty Stuart (tel. 341-J) or from the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, 494 Sydney St.; tickets are 50c.

A drawing for door prizes will be held during intermission. In addition to the 33 prizes, the firm of Dupuis Frères has donated a tablecloth.

Report Vandalism At Hallowe'en

Tire-slashing on five cars was reported to Police Chief Fernand Trépanier early last Thursday evening, Hallowe'en Night. Victims included Gerald Walker, Owen Richards, Albert G. Giles, Victor MacKale and Philippe Masson.

Several similar calls from outside the Lachute limits were received by the local police. Complaints, however, were not directed to Provincial officers — who reported a quiet evening according to local standards.

Chief Trépanier reports he has a good lead on the culprits, but no action has been taken to date.

Travels Recounted At Rotary Club

The members of the Brownsburg-Lachute Rotary Club entertained a number of "aids" of the recent Air Show, at their meeting last Thursday, at which time Al Talbot, of Brownsburg, addressed the gathering on a recent trip he and his wife made to Ireland.

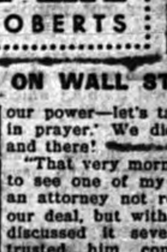

Club President King Amos read District Governor Linton Armstrong's monthly letter, pointing out that the local club had a 92.55 per cent attendance and was third in its division. A Club Assembly is to be held Wednesday evening next, November 13, at the president's house.

Mr. Talbot, who was introduced by Rotarian Tom Hall, spoke on the many interesting points of his tour through both sections of the "Emerald Isle." He was thanked by Rotarian Dave Schwartz.

The United Church of Canada was formed in 1925 by the union of Methodists, Congregationalists and part of the Presbyterains.

HOPE FOR THE DEAD

For the Survivors in a Righteous New World

THE DIVINE MANDATE

(Read Jeremiah 25: 33). . . That great time of tribulation was foreshadowed by the flood of Noah's day. Except those days should be shortened, there should no flesh be saved, but for the elect's sake those days shall be shortened. — Matt. 24: 21, 22, 37-39.

Jehovah's Theocratic government shall escape execution. — Read Daniel 11: 40 and I Thessalonians 5: 1, 3; also Jeremiah 25: 34, 35; John 10: 16; Matt. 25: 31, 46; Rev. 7: 9-17; Matt. 24: 15, 16; Zephaniah 2: 3. Noah's family with him in the ark during the flood were a type of such Armageddon survivors. — Genesis 9: 1, 7; 2 Peter 2: 5. . . We, according to His promise, look for new heavens and a new earth wherein dwelleth righteousness. — 2 Peter, 3: 13; Isaiah 9: 6, 7; Ephesians 6: 4; Eccl. 1: 4.

Concerning that righteous world Jesus, "the Prince of Life", said: "Whosoever liveth and believeth in me shall never die." (John 11: 26) "If a man keep my saying, he shall never see death." (John 8: 51). Continuing faithful, such blessed ones shall never die, but shall serve and praise Jehovah God and Christ Jesus his King for ever, "world without end." — John 11: 25, 26; Revelation 21: 4; Isaiah 25: 6-8.

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK: — When times are at their worst, we need religion at its best.

ABUNDANT LIFE BY ORAL ROBERTS

PRAYER PAYS OFF ON WALL STREET

Faith in God can affect you financially. The Bible states that the love of money is the root of all evil—not money in itself. Money is neither good nor bad. Its morality is determined by what we do with it.

God wants our souls to be enriched and blessed. He wishes us physical prosperity also because 3 John 2 states: "Beloved, I wish above all things that thou mayest prosper and be in health, even as thy soul prospereth." There are hundreds of people who are reaping the benefits of real partnership with God.

Here is the testimony of a financial advisor of national prominence whose firm is located on Wall Street, N. Y. City. His organization has been paid more than $17,000,000 just for advice alone. As a youth, he attended Harding College, Searcy, Ark., a school controlled by the Church of Christ. He was inspired by its president, James W. Harding, who took practically all of his daily problems to God in prayer and taught his students to do likewise.

Consider the answer that this man received to his prayer:

"It was the most important business deal of my life—more than a million dollars was at stake. But everything went wrong. I couldn't figure it out. It seems someone in the organization was double-crossing us, but who? We puzzled over it exceedingly, until one morning my wife said, 'This is beyond our power—let's take it to God in prayer.' We did—right then and there!

"That very morning I decided to see one of my best friends, an attorney not represented in our deal, but with whom I had discussed it several times. I trusted him completely and wanted his advice. I called his telephone number. His firm had 48 extension phones. The operator, by mistake, put me on a busy line. Imagine my utter surprise when I heard him laughing with the leader of our competitors over their success in outwitting me and my clients. Having learned where the leak was, I was able to solve my problem. Do you think it was an accident that the operator put me on his busy line; on the vital one of the 48 extensions at exactly the right moment? NO! It was God answering my prayer. I secured exactly the information I needed at my most desperate hour."

One might explain this as a coincidence, or luck, or providence. Let's just call it God. It's this kind of coincidence that has a habit of occurring for me and thousands of other people because we believe in a God who answers prayer.

Dare to have faith in God. You will find he will give you more than you have; make you more than you are! Jesus came to bring us abundant life, physically, mentally, spiritually, and financially.

New hope for prevention of Heart Disease

In spite of accurate diagnosis, advanced medical science and surgery, heart disease is still the greatest killer today. What causes it? Can it be prevented? The National Heart Foundation of Canada, recently formed, will intensify the search for the answers to these questions.

The Life Insurance Companies in Canada are supporting this Foundation because it is so important to the future health of Canadians. They have made substantial grants to cover the cost of launching the organization.

The Foundation will encourage intensive research into the causes of heart disease by every possible means. It will seek to stimulate professional and lay education and help family doctors to keep abreast of the newest developments in diagnosis and treatment.

Support of the National Heart Foundation is just one of many ways in which the life insurance companies in Canada are helping to create a healthier, happier life for Canadians.

For Parents Only...

A Weekly Feature of Helpful Hints on Child Training

Remembrance Message

(Copyright)

— By NANCY CLEAVER —

Nobody will survive an atomic war. Life will stop completely," Professor Otto Hahn, the first man to split the uranium atom, said at the International Congress of Nobel prize winners this last summer. He is a German Nobel prize winner and the gathering was held in Lindau, in his own native land. Almost every week some outstanding scientist or leader in world affairs makes a similar dark prediction. In a world where two global conflicts have killed and injured millions of men, women and children, armed forces and civilians alike, in huge totals, any thoughtful citizen wants to do his part to prevent further bloodshed.

One cause for war is snobbishness between races and animosity between countries. Whether or not a child will grow up to be a snob depends to a very large extent on the attitude of his parents. If they feel that they are not only different, but also decidedly better than certain other people, it is small wonder, if Junior thinks that way too. Children are not born with the conviction that their particular race or creed or class is superior. They get that way"; Mother and Dad have a big part in this development. An observant child will notice that people are not all the same in their skin color or their racial characteristics. Parents should try to answer a child honestly and patiently when he asks:

"Why is the man who lanuders Daddy's collars yellow?" — or — "Why did the porter on Granny's sleeping car have black skin?"

There may be an Indian boy or a Negro girl in his first grade and the six-year-old may inquire: "Will my skin ever get as dark as John's or Sally's?"

His mother might well answer: "No, you are fair skinned, and although you become much browner when you have been well tanned in the summer, you will never be as dark as John or Sally. Some people are white, some brown, some black, some yellow."

If the parent is a Christian, she could add: "When God made the races in the world, he didn't make them all one color. But he is the Heavenly Father of every person. God wants men and women and boys and girls of all colors to be friendly to each other."

Children are constantly watching their parents and they are quick to notice Mother's or Dad's attitude to other people. There is little use for Mother to read aloud the Sunday School Lesson to Mary which pays tribute to the debt Christians owe to the Hebrew race in the Psalms and in the other books in the Bible, and then tell her friend, in her daughter's hearing:

"We liked So-and-So resort so much last summer. It is exclusive. Don't you think it is a relief to be in a place which is not overrun by Jews?"

In defining "a snob" the Oxford dictionary points out that a snob has an exaggerated respect for social position or wealth and a disposition to be ashamed of socially inferior connections. It also makes this distinction — a snob reveals his true colors when he "judges of merit by externals."

Parents help a boy or girl avoid snobbishness when they cultivate in a son or daughter a sense of their own worth as an individual. They also set a good example when they regard each person as a person, and not just as a member of a class or racial group.

In what better way could we observe Remembrance Day than by recalling the dream of peace and world brotherhood which our soldiers and sailors and aviators who gave their lives in the World Wars, held dear? Let us be still during the two minutes of silence; let us later tell our children of the men who gave their lives that we might be free. This November 11 let us resolve to help our children to grow up without narrow prejudice or childish snobbishness toward other people.

EVENING SUPPER PARTY

Ham and Cheese Loaf
Buttered Tiny Rolls
Whipped Cream Nut Cake
Coffee

Ham and Cheese Loaf: Soften two envelopes unflavored gelatin in one cup cold water. Place over boling water and stir until dissolved.

Add one teaspoon salt, two tablespoons lemon juice and ¼ teaspoon tabasco.

Cool and gradually stir into 1½ cup bought salad dressing.

Mix in one tablespoon grated onion, 1½ cup fine-diced celery, ½ cup fine-diced green pepper, 1½ cup ground smoked ham and ½ cup grated sharp American cheese.

Rub a five cup loaf pan with salad oil. Turn in the gelatin mixture. Refrigerate six hours, or until firm.

Unmould and garnish with salad greens and spiced peach halves filled with pickle relish.

Old-Time Dish — Fish Combination

Granny kept hens, baked her own bread and never wasted anything. Food never tasted quite so good as when Granny prepared it. She seemed to have a special knack for combining flavors. One dish she will long be remembered for is her Baked Fish Chowder, a delicious supper dish which she usually served accompanied by hot mashed potatoes.

Just why Granny called this dish a chowder is something of a mystery. Other than the fact that it contains fish and salt pork, it bears little resemblance to the conventional fish chowder. It's an easy dish to make however, and although the recipe is an old one, the idea offered may be brand new to many readers.

Granny's Baked Fish Chowder

1 Pound fresh haddock fillets, 6 thin slices salt pork or lean bacon (approximate), salt and pepper, 2 tablespoons chopped chives or green onions, 4 slices white bread (crusts removed), 2 eggs, well beaten, 1½ cups milk.

Trim fillets to fit an 8" x 8" x 2" baking pan. Granny used a metal cake tin. However, a shiny pyrex baking dish makes a nicer looking serving container, should you happen to have one of desired size. Place enough salt pork or bacon slices in the dish to just cover the bottom; bake in a moderately hot oven (375°F.) for about 15 minutes to lightly brown the fat. Place fillets on cooked bacon; sprinkle lightly with salt and pepper; return to oven to bake for 10 minutes. Sprinkle cooked fillets with chopped chives or green onions; top with bread slices; pour combined eggs and milk over bread. Bake for 25 to 30 minutes or until bread is a light golden brown and custard is set. Makes 4 servings.

Serve Apples By the Alphabet

The publications mentioned, "Apples", "Home Canning", etc., are available free of charge from the Information Service, Canada Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

Garnishes. — Using ball cutter and peeled, firm cooking apples, make raw apple balls. Cook in extra heavy syrup (1 cup sugar to ½ cup water) flavored with cinnamon stick and tinted red. Drain. Put clove in top of each, for stem, and use these miniature apples as a garnish around roast pork or chicken.

Jelly.—Young apples "gel" better than those which have been stored because the acidity and pectin decrease as apples get older. You will get well-flavored, pastel pink or greenish jelly from November apples so plan to make some soon, as outlined in the bulletin, "Jams, Jellies and Pickles."

Muffins.—You might never think of adding chopped apple to bran muffins unless you've seen the recipe in the "Apples" booklet. Apple Bran Muffins are moist, tender and tasty.

Omelets. — For a good brunch or supper dish, make plain omelet and just before folding spread the omelet with a thin layer of hot applesauce. Serve with grilled bacon or sausages.

Pancakes. — Add grated raw apple to pancake batter, about ½ cup for 2 to 2½ cups batter. Cook in the usual manner and serve with plenty of butter and maple syrup.

Pickles. — Look in your favorite cook book for apple chutney, spiced apples and similar pickles, but for Tangy Apple Halves to serve with meat, see page 7 of the booklet, "Apples".

Pies. — Everyone knows that Apple Pie with cheese is the favorite dessert of most Canadian men. If, for a change, you'd like to put the cheese in the crust instead of serving it on the side, add ½ cup grated cheese to the dry pastry ingredients for 1 two-crust pie.

Puddings. — Hungarian Apple Pudding with Spiced Hard Sauce is one of the most pleasing apple desserts. Recipes for both pudding and sauce may be found on page 14 of the "Apples" booklet.

Punch. — Mix the following chilled liquids together just before serving: 1 32-ounce bottle grape juice, 1 20-ounce can apple juice and 1 small bottle ginger ale. Garnish this and other fruit drinks with apple juice ice cubes containing balls, triangles, cubes or wedges of raw unpeeled apple.

Relishes. — One of the treats you can enjoy often during winter months is Raw Cranberry-Apple-Orange Relish. Wash and stem 4 cups cranberries; core 1 apple and remove seeds from 1 orange but do not peel either. Put all the fruit through food chopper and mix with 2½ cups of sugar. Keep in the refrigerator, or freeze if desired.

Salads. — Apples combine so well with meats, fish, vegetables and other fruits that their uses in salads are legion. For several good apple salad recipes and suggestions refer to the booklet, "Apples".

Sandwiches. — Mix applesauce with either cheese or peanut butter for sandwiches with a different flavor.

Sauces. — Applesauce is one of the most versatile fruit desserts you can make. Serve it hot with peanuts and cream. Serve it cold in Apple-Ginger Parfait — alternate layers of applesauce, gingersnap crumbs and whipped cream — in your tallest glass dessert dishes.

Waffles. — For a change, try serving golden crisp waffles with either plain or spiced applesauce. For dessert, add ice cream or whipped cream.

The straight, loose chemise in lace put the Paris fashion world on its ears, according to experts.

When it comes to evening wear lace has won the inside track. France's lace producers have come up with some new laces. One of the brightest is a stretchy crepe type. Ribbon and de-embroidered types are even more luxurious. And Chantilly's are the whispiest they have been in years.

The house of Dior showed its glamor in ribbon-embroidered brown lace, in a straight fall from high bateau to ankle with not even a frill or furbelow to break the line.

Guy Laroche showed a softer version of the sack. His model of a black Chantilly lace dress hangs to a plumb line though slightly shaped.

The Parisian collection emphasized the new look — short skirts, gloves long and hats bulky.

Still unanswered is that age-old question, "Does a woman dress to please men, or for the benefit of other women?"

A successful young Italian fashion designer, Simonetta, feels that a woman dresses for herself and for other women because a man, she says, never knows what she is wearing anyway.

On the other hand Fabiani, an equally successful designer and Simonetta's husband, retorted that he knows what a woman is wearing at all times.

The two run rival couture houses in Rome. However they design a completely different line of clothes. When Simonetta was asked if she ever wore her husband's creations, she replied; "Never. He makes beautiful clothes but they are not for me."

Catching On

In fashion wear it seems that "The Sack" has caught on whether men like it or not. Toronto manufacturers have been hitting the stores with models selling at $16.95.

However, there seem to be conflicting opinions as to whether women want to listen to the fashion dictum.

The world's most glamorous grandmother, Marlene Dietrich, said she wouldn't be caught dead in one of the new Parisian sack dresses. "They're very ugly," she commented.

Meanwhile in Kitchener, Ontario, fashion writer Joyce Carter says matrons in the stylish stout class thought it was a good idea. "It certainly isn't at all flattering," said one, but she sighed: "It certainly will save a lot of dieting."

Many Projects

More than 400 delegates representing 10 provinces attended the first national convention of the Federated Women's Institutes of Canada held recently in Ottawa.

Delegates exchanged ideas on projects of their local groups. Mrs. E. J. Roylance of Greenwood, B.C., said the 16 W.I. districts in her province are compiling an illustrated cook book to be ready for sale next year. It will include district history as well as recipes.

In the Maritimes, Mrs. Harry Kilpatrick of Jacksonville, N.B., reported that one W.I. project resulted in the establishment of a home for the aged. In Saskatchewan, members heard of a project that sends young people to an annual U.N. seminar at Fort Qu'Appelle. The Alberta W.I.'s award a $50 scholarship to the Banff School of Fine Arts.

Of interest was the recommendation that a national W.I. office be established in Ottawa.

Mrs. Keith Rand, of Port William, N.S., was named president succeeding Mrs. J. W. Adams, of Ethelton, Sask.

Maple Icing

Home economists from the Department of Agriculture have been testing maple syrup recipes throughout the summer. One of their favorites is a maple syrup icing that will melt in your mouth.

Ingredients: 1½ cups of maple syrup and 3 tablespoons butter. Boil syrup and butter to 234°F. (very soft ball stage). Remove from heat and cool to lukewarm. Then beat until moisture loses its gloss. Immediately pour into centre of top of cake, allowing icing to flow to edges.

Pork and Lamb Both Good With Baked Beans

Fresh pork and lamb are plentiful in November, so what better time to try some new ways of serving them? Both are good with canned baked beans especially when baked together, as in these recipes recently tested in Canada's Kitchen:

Baked Beans and Lamb Chops

6 Lamb chops, ¾-inch thick, 2 20-ounce cans baked beans, salt and pepper.

Wipe chops with a damp cloth. Brown chops over high heat, 1 minute each side. Turn chops and continue cooking slowly over moderate heat allowing 5 minutes for each side. Pour half the beans into a baking dish. Arrange chops over beans, then add remaining beans. Cover and bake in moderately hot oven (375°F.) until thoroughly heated, about 30 minutes. 6 servings.

Suggested accompaniment: Cole slaw, seasoned with a little dry mint.

Suggested dessert: Apple Crisp, baked along with the main dish.

Braised Pork and Baked Beans

3 to 4-pound pork roast (loin or shoulder), salt and pepper, 1 chopped garlic clove, ¼ cup chopped onion (1 medium), ½ cup hot water, 2 20-ounce cans baked beans.

Brown meat well on all sides in heavy small roasting pan. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Add garlic, onion and hot water. Cover and cook slowly on top of stove until tender, about 2 hours. Pour off excess fat. Add beans and bake, uncovered, in moderately slow oven (325°F.) until beans are thoroughly heated, about 30 minutes. 8 to 10 servings.

Suggested accompaniment: Waldorf Salad or Jellied Apple Salad.

Suggested dessert: Individual Baked Custards or Lemon Souffles.

Emotional Security Essential in Childhood

Security is defined as "a state of mind which is accompanied by a willingness to accept the consequences for one's own decisions or actions," in an article by Michael F. Grapko appearing in the current issue of Health Magazine, official publication of the Health League of Canada.

The author points out that this does not mean the passive acceptance of failure, but it is only if a person is willing to face up to unpleasant consequences that he will try to improve his judgment in making future decisions.

Security begins at birth, and as the child grows, the first kind of security which depends on the relationship between child and mother gives way to security based upon the child himself. Activities for which the parent took responsibility are gradually taken over by the child.

During the school years, he knows his way to school, is beginning to read for himself, scribble his own letters, figure out solutions for his own problems, select his own friends, spend his allowance in his own way, and pursue his own interests.

The child who succeeds in acquiring skill in line with his needs and aspirations achieves independent security. Thus the boy who reads at a level of efficiency which meets the standard for his grade and also his own level of aspiration is independently secure in regard to his reading activity. However, as the standard is raised, or the boy tries to reach a higher level of performance, his feeling of independent security is checked for the time being.

Therefore, the author says, independent security is based not only on the individual's capacity to acquire skill, but also of his hopes for achievement.

If You're TIRED ALL THE TIME

Everybody gets a bit run-down now and then, tired-out, heavy-headed, and maybe bothered by backaches. Perhaps nothing seriously wrong, just a temporary toxic condition caused by excess acids and wastes. That's the time to take Dodd's Kidney Pills. Dodd's stimulate the kidneys, and so help restore their normal action of removing excess acids and wastes. Then you feel better, sleep better, work better. Get Dodd's Kidney Pills now. C-I-L Awards Fellowships In Wildlife Conservation

Montreal — Fellowship awards to students in universities across Canada for advanced study in the field of wildlife management, are announced by S. J. Smart, general manager of C-I-L's ammunition division.

The awards, each amounting to $1,500, are presented annually as part of a wildlife conservation program established three years ago by Canadian Industries Limited. In addition grants up to $1,000 are also made to fellowship holders conducting summer field research studies.

Fellowship recipients for the 1957-58 academic year are: David A. Boag, Victoria, B.C. (University of Alberta); Mrs. Doris Gibson, Toronto, Ont. (University of British Columbia); Pierre Jolicoeur, Montreal, Que. (University of British Columbia); M. T. Myres, Oxford, England (University of British Columbia); Frederick V. van Nostrand, Vandorf, Ont. (Ontario Agricultural College); W. J. Doug Stephen, Capreol, Ont. (Ontario Agricultural College); Alan Stiven, Fredericton, N.B. (University of British Columbia). Four of the above students were also awarded additional grants for research studies carried out during the past summer.

W. D. Wishart, Camrose, Alta., a recipient last year at the University of Alberta, was also awarded a summer grant for 1957 to assist in the completion of his research studies.

The success of this C-I-L wildlife conservation program is illustrated by the fact that already two former wildlife management fellowship holders, having completed their studies, had received appointments to responsible positions in the wildlife conservation field.

Plan Ski Centre On Okanagan Peak

Vernon, B.C. (CP) — A Swiss ski instructor hopes to make Mount Silver Star, 23 miles north of here, "beat the best anywhere" as a ski resort.

The British Columbia government recently approved a scheme to turn the mountain into a tourist attraction.

Silver Star, as it is called by Okanagan residents, was officially named Aberdeen Mountain. But Aberdeen or Silver Star, Jerry Monod, professional ski instructor and mountain guide, says it has ideal topography and perfect snow for skiing.

Compared to Hollyburn, Grouse and Seymour mountain resorts in Vancouver, snow on Silver Star is "crystal-crisp and velvet-smooth."

Fast Footing

"There's something about sea air that affects the quality of snow," said Monod. "Gives it a heavy, sluggish feeling. Snow on Silver Star is the equal of the finest conditions in Europe at places like Davos, Courcheval and Chamonix."

A former member of the Swiss mountain army, Monod turned professional instructor at 26. He came to Canada in 1946, then to the Okanagan. He owned a ski school at Banff, Alta., and also taught at several large U.S. resorts.

But the Okanagan development has captured his interest.

"Here, with a real ski centre in the Okanagan, we can link up with existing centres such as Revelstoke, Rossland, Banff, and the Vancouver clubs," he said.

Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Crone and sons, Robert and Gordon, of Ville LaSalle, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Clark.

The first Farm Forum meeting of this district for the coming season was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carson Tomalty on Monday evening.

A group of young people were entertained at a Hallowe'en party on Tuesday night of last week by Messrs. Kenneth and Nelson Tomalty.

International Geophysical Year

Scientists' All-Out Huddle Breeds International Lingo

How often has the weatherman disappointed you — promising a sunny day which turns out to be rainy? . . . Chances are that the weatherman's report in the future will more dependable. For weather forecasting is a service which should benefit from the International Geophysical Year — according to an article in a recent issue of C-I-L Oval.

Scientists from 62 nations, experts in 14 major fields of learning are busy investigating our earth and the space which surrounds it. From their findings they hope to clear the way for improvements in such familiar things as weather forecasting, long distance radio communication, aerial navigation, and exploration for oils and minerals.

In Canada about 80 stations stretching from coast to coast and to within 500 miles of the North Pole are taking measurements during the "big year".

An interesting sidelight of this co-operation between nations is the effort of scientists to break down the language barrier which makes international communication so difficult. As a solution to the problem, the use of an auxiliary language is being discussed. This new language is called "Interlingua" and has its bases in many western languages.

The C-I-L Oval article was published in "Interlingua" as well as in English and here is a sample to test your lingual skill:

"In le scientias, le Anno Geophysic International representa un culmine del effortios de multe seculos de resolver le mysterios del terra e del sol. Sed ab le puncto de vista human, illo es non minus importante com symbolo del bon voluntate inter le nationes."

In case you had a little difficulty here is an English translation of the above:

"In science, the International Geophysical Year climaxes the efforts of many centuries to solve mysteries of the earth and the sun. But in human affairs, it is equally important as a symbol of goodwill among nations."

JOLSON NOTES

By Irvin R. Warwick

For the movie-goer living in Montreal or able to reach the city easily, there's some great news this week: The "new" "Jolson Story" is coming to Montreal! Beginning Thursday, November 7, it will be seen in the English version at the Rivoli Theatre (6906 St. Denis St.) for at least one week. There is a possibility that it will be shown at others of the nine United Theatres (Strand, Seville, Française, etc.)

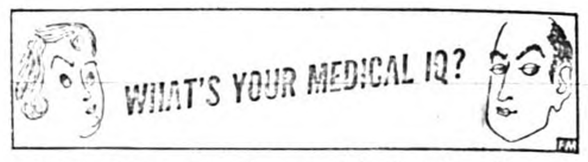

This is the movie that has grossed over $10,000,000. And, as the poster outside the theatre states, " 'You ain't seen nothin' yet!", until you've seen 'The Jolson Story' with directional sound." Thus the magic of the Jolson voice has now been enhanced by stereophonic sound.

This is a great chance for those who were under 16 when "The Jolson Story" was first issued, to view one of the all-time great motion pictures. See it, and you'll know why there's an Al Jolson Memorial Club!

Mines Minister Views Trends

Quoting facts in his own particular line of development, the Hon. Mr. Cottingham stated that last year Quebec alone produced almost as much as the Canadian mineral industry in 1945. Quebec had the best year ever in 1956. While Ontario's production value advanced $57 million during that year, Quebec's was $77 million over the previous year. Outstanding gains over 1955 were achieved mainly in copper, iron ore, selenium, titanium, lithium and cement. Added to these there was an extraordinary increase in aluminum and asbestos. Only four metals, gold, silver, lead and zinc, suffered losses last year. Practically all the other metallic and non-metallic minerals recorded increases. Items in the structural material group showed remarkable advance, and reached a new production record. Out of the 60 mineral substances to be found in Canada today, 37 are being exploited in Quebec at the present time.

"Quebec's mineral resources are immense. But only 5 per cent of them have so far been explored, and about 3 per cent of them are under development. That is why I want you to go away saying, 'I will do something'. It is my most sincere hope that the recent projects and the new mineral resource developments taking place in Quebec, will help industrialists and financial corporations in their planning and in their investments," said Mr. Cottingham.

MEMO TO ADVERTISERS

AUDITED PAID CIRCULATION ABC

The Hallmark of Circulation Value

In the same way that STERLING on silver signifies a standard of known value, so is the A.B.C. emblem a symbol of integrity for the circulation of newspapers and periodicals. It means that circulation so identified is measured according to the rules and standards of the AUDIT BUREAU OF CIRCULATIONS

The A.B.C. is a cooperative and non-profit association of 3,450 publishers, advertisers and advertising agencies. Organized in 1914, these buyers and sellers of advertising brought order out of advertising chaos by setting up standards for paid circulation and establishing rules and methods for measuring, auditing and reporting circulations.

Therefore, the work of the A.B.C., of which this newspaper is proud to be a member, provides you with a direct and valuable service. You can buy advertising as you would make any other sound business investment —on the basis of well known standards, known values.

At regular intervals one of the Bureau's large staff of experienced circulation auditors makes a thorough audit of our circulation records. The results of this exacting audit show: How much circulation we have; where our circulation goes; how it was obtained; and many other FACTS that you need in order to know just what you get for your advertising dollars. This audited information is published by the Bureau in easy-to-read A.B.C. reports which are available to our advertisers on request. Ask for a copy of our latest A.B.C. report.

Recent Marriage of District Interest

Graham - Barrie

The marriage of Miss Diane Ruth Lilian Barrie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Murray Barrie, of N.D.G., Montreal, to Mr. Norman James Graham, son of the late Mr. Alvin Graham and of Mrs. Graham, Arundel, Que., took place recently in Wesley United Church, Montreal, the Rev. Norman McMurray, D.D., officiating.

Mr. John Cook was organist and soloist, and the church was decorated with yellow and bronze chrysanthemums, and white gladioli arranged with candles in candleabra.

The bride, given away by her father, wore an ivory brocaded satin gown in Princess lines, with long sleeves coming to a point over the wrists, and with a very full skirt. Her veil, fingertip-length, was of tulle illusion, held by a coronet of pearls and sequins in leaf design. She carried a semi-cascade bouquet of Garnet red roses and stephanotis.

Maid of honor was Miss Marilyn Barrie, sister of the bride, wearing a spring-leaf green taffeta dress of waltz length, and carrying a semi-cascade bouquet of red roses, with a bandeau of tiny red roses in her hair. The bridesmaid, Miss Beverley Graham, sister of the groom, wore a matching dress of corn blonde gold taffeta in waltz length, and carried a semi-cascade bouquet of red roses, also with a bandeau of tiny red roses in her hair.

Best man was Mr. Earl Graham, brother of the groom, while Mr. Clark Graham and Mr. George Kuester acted as ushers.

The bride's mother, Mrs. Gordon Barrie, wore a turquoise black brocade sheath dress, with a turquoise feathered melusine felt hat and a corsage of Talisman roses. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Alvin Graham, wore a navy blue crepe dress with powder blue feathered felt hat, and a corsage of pink and red carnations.

The reception was held in the Montreal West Town Hall, where the tables were decorated with pink gladioli, white shasta daisies and pompoms. The hall was adorned with standards of white and pink gladioli and mums.

For their wedding trip the couple left by automobile for the Adirondacks and Thousand Islands, the bride wearing a charcoal grey suit, with melon red hat and gloves and black patent leather accessories. She wore a corsage of Garnet roses. . . . Mr. and Mrs. Graham have taken up residence at Arundel, Que.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. McCord, of Cornwall; Miss Doreen Graham, of Buckingham; Mrs. Charles Wilken, of Knowlton; Mrs. Dorothy Kuester, from Germany; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Kidd, of Potsdam, N.Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Flood, of Waterloo, Que.; Mr. and Mrs. Hector Henderson and Lorna, of Ottawa; Miss Jan Kitton, of London, England; Mr. and Mrs. Murray McEwen, of Ormstown; Mr. and Mrs. Rathwell Morrison, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Cooke, Mr. and Mrs. Walter McMahon, all of Arundel.

The bride is a graduate of Trafalgar School for Girls, while the bridegroom is a graduate of Macdonald College.

Mr. Norman Graham, of Arundel, Que., son of the late Mr. Alvin Graham and of Mrs. Graham, and Miss Diane Barrie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Murray Barrie, of N.D.G., Montreal, who were married recently in the Wesley United Church, Montreal.

Marriage at St. Sauveur

At the Church of Saint Francis on Saturday evening a pretty marriage ceremony took place, when LAW. Shirley Jean Quesnelle became the bride of LAC. Jack Melvyn Shaw, the Rev. Horace G. Baugh officiating. Mr. Carl Elder was organist.

The bride's only attendant was LAW. Patricia May Donnelly, and the best man was LAC. Allan W. Pommerville.

The bride was given away by LAC. Walter Beresford.

The young couple, both attached to the RCAF at Lac St. Denis, will reside in St. Sauveur.

Owls Are Not Screechers

Screech owls do not screech. They have a soft quavering call. Owls are not blind in daytime, but prefer to hunt at dusk or early dawn when their enormous eyes give them an advantage in the dim light.

Garden-Graph

By DEAN HALLIDAY

Overcoats for Tender Plants

Many plants and some bulbs go through the winter with new foliage that has developed late in the fall. This tender foliage needs protection.

Oriental poppies, for example go through a dormant stage in late fall. They take their annual rest after the seed pods have ripened. Foliage and stems wither and fall away from the plant.

In October, however, the poppies put forth new leaves from the crown. To protect this new growth through the winter, cover with a loose straw mulch and erect a tent over the plants made of shingles and burlap, as shown in the accompanying Garden-Graph.

In areas where winter weather is not sever, a light cover of straw around the young shoots is sufficient protection. It should be applied after the ground is frozen

If available, Madonna lily bulbs should be planted now to give the roots time to make good growth before winter sets in.

Shortly after the bulbs are planted new growth will appear. These new leaves remain on the ground over winter in an evergreen state, as shown in the Garden-Graph. A straw mulch helps to protect them even though the Madonna lily is hardy. The mulch serves to prevent alternate freezing and thawing around the bulbs.

Remembrance Celebration For St. Andrews East

Remembrance Day rites at St Andrews East will be observed in the usual fitting manner. Organized by interested citizens and ex-service personnel, with the co-operation of other patriotic groups, the ceremonies will be held at the "Haymarket Square", south of the river in St. Andrews Village, on Sunday, November 10. The public are asked to keep this occasion in mind and attend the annual Remembrance rites.

If you are uncertain about any point do not hesitate to send us your question. We will obtain an answer and publish it in this column.

Following are some questions with answers which may be of interest to you:

Q. I left my employment of my own free will because I wished to find other employment. I was unable to do this, and so presented a claim for benefit. This has been refused for six weeks. Why?

A. You were disqualified for having voluntarily left your employment without just cause because you should not have given up the one job until you had secured another.

Q. What shall I have to do in order to draw unemployment insurance benefit after I get married? Will I have to work for some time? If my employer dismisses me and hires someone to replace me, and if I'm unable to find other work, will I be able to draw benefit?

A. There are certain restrictions on the payment of benefit to women who are married less than two years. Generally, if you are working when you get married you will have to work for at least ten weeks in insured employment after leaving that job, in order to qualify for benefit. If you were unemployed when you got married then you will have to work at least ten weeks after marriage. These conditions may be waived, however, in certain circumstances, and it is suggested you enquire at your local office for full particulars.

OUT ON A LIMB

By Stumpy McCulloch

During a tense moment in a murder mystery at our local theater, Ol' Zeke began groping for something on the floor.

"What have you lost?" demanded the lady in the next seat.

"A caramel," Zeke said.

"And you're going to all that bother for a measly caramel?"

"Yes," Zeke said, "My teeth are in it."

Did you know our country now consumes wood at the rate of 400 pounds per person per year? For any tree farmer who raises trees for the pulp market, this is a mighty significant statement!

Pulp mills accept smaller logs than lumber mills do, of course — and that means you can easily find a market for your whole crop of trees! You won't lose much wood when you cut defects out of your logs, either, because pulp mills generally use five-foot logs, while lumber mills usually like twelve or sixteen-foot lengths.

'Course, no single pulp mill uses every kind of wood — so it's best to check your local mill for their requirements. As a matter of fact, I like to make arrangements for selling my trees before I cut them. It's best to have a written agreement with the lumber or pulp mill!

Safety rules are mighty important in the woods! Before you cut a tree, always figure out a way of escape. Then cut dangerous trees and snags within reach of your work area. Always work where you won't endanger yourself or anybody else to falling trees or rolling logs. And if there's anybody else in the area, give plenty of warning before you cut that tree! Ol' Hannibal says the best rule for cutting trees is this one: Use common sense! I think he's right.

The gal looked dreamily at the ceiling and declared, "The feller I marry must be an outstanding personality, be musical, tell new jokes, sing and dance, stay home, neither drink nor smoke, and shut up when I tell him to."

Young Ezra reached for his hat. "I'm goin' home," he said. "You don't want a husband — you want a television set!"

FALL WOODLOT INSPECTION

It pays to carry out at least one inspection a year over the entire woodlot, and certainly this time of year affords an excellent opportunity to size up the situation anew. Due to the greatly improved visibility after the leaf fall, many footsteps can be saved. Take advantage of these conditions to locate windfalls, to detect signs of insects and disease, to locate roads, to plan the season's cut and to do your tree-marking. C.I.P. Woods Notes

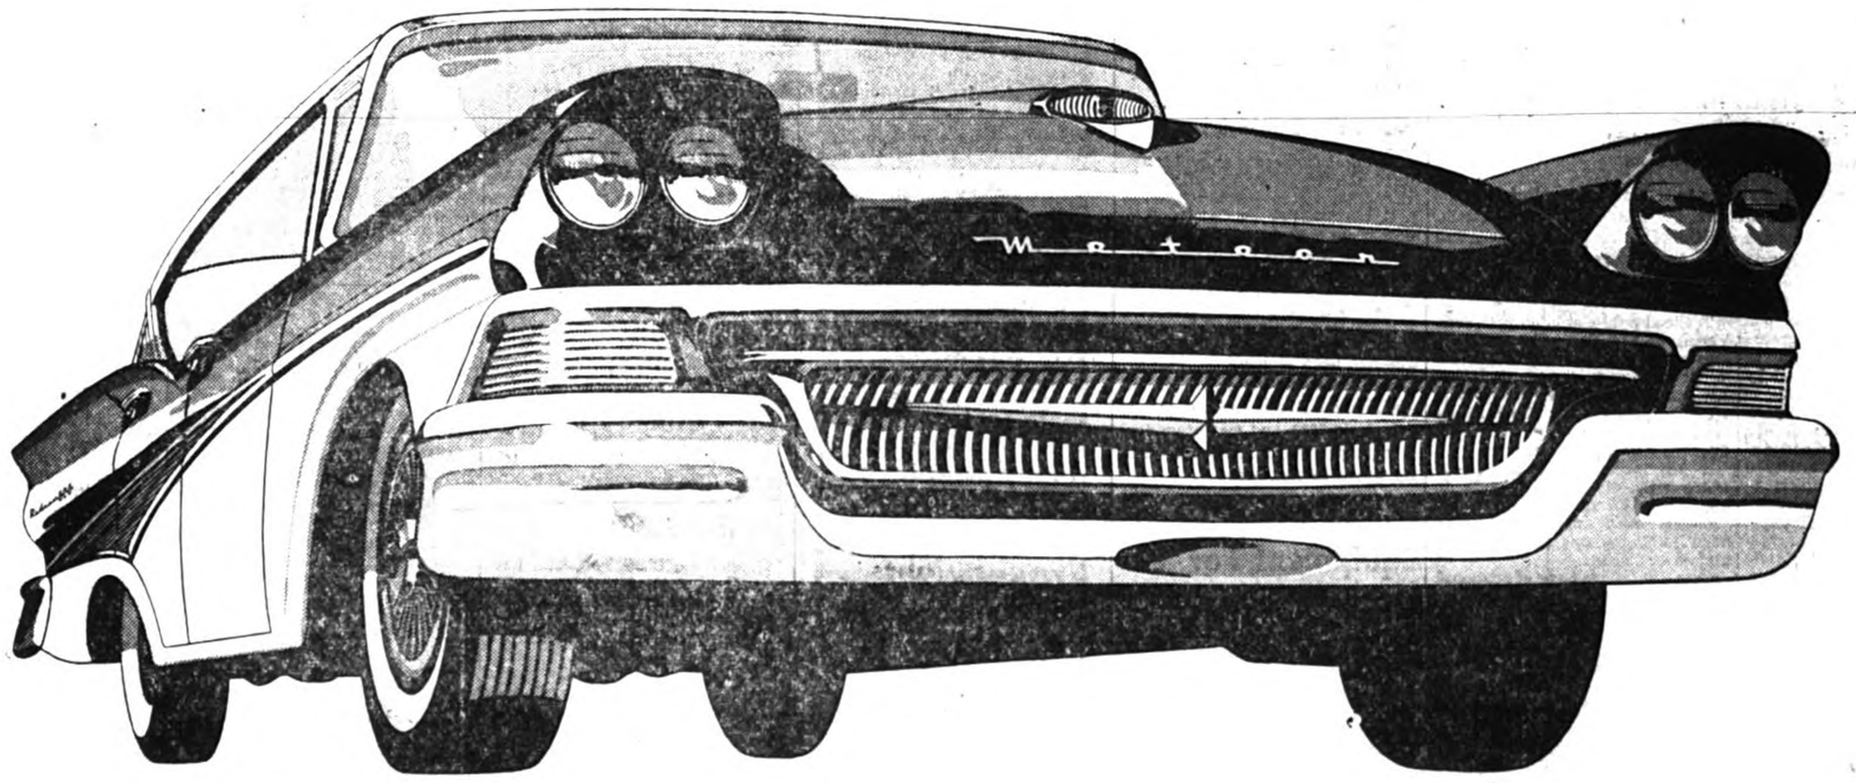

DAIRY REWARD

Even though there are such advantages to farming as being one's own boss, it is little wonder that some of the best herds in the southeast are being broken up and the owners are finding jobs in the city. By comparison with other work, dairymen are simply not making the money they should.

WHAT IS FARM FORUM, WHAT HAS IT DONE?

By Ross Oswald, Vice-President, Quebec Farm Radio Forum

Four national organizations share in the management of National Farm Radio Forum along with Provincial Farm Radio Forum Councils. The four national organizations are the Canadian Association for Adult Education, the Canadian Federation of Agriculture, the Co-operative Union of Canada, and the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation. The Provincial Councils are supported in various ways — by contributions from the Farm Forums, by grants from Provincial Departments of Agriculture and Education, and by assistance from farm organizations and university extension departments. The purpose is to encourage the formation of neighborhood discussion groups; to provide unbiased information on Forum topics; to help in the development of good discussion techniques; and to assist Farm Forums in making their conclusions effective by appropriate action through existing organizations.

A Farm Forum is a few neighbors who meet once a week, from November through March, to listen to the National Farm Radio Forum broadcast and to study and discuss the topic of the broadcast. The Forum reports its conclusions and may follow up with other action.

Each Farm Forum family or household receives the weekly bulletin "Farm Forum Guide." It contains facts and figures on the topic for the week. The discussion questions are also found in the "Guide". The "Guide" is distributed a week in advance of the broadcast on the same topic. This gives Forum members a chance to read up on the subject before they discuss it. Some Forums read the "Guide" aloud at their meetings.

Through the facilities of the CBC and privately-owned stations making up the national broadcasting system, Canadian farmers since 1941 have led the world in the use of radio for the discussion of their mutual problems. Discussion in small groups has a great deal to do with the success of a Farm Forum. It gives everyone a chance to talk and also a chance to hear the other fellow's ideas. Out of the exchange of ideas come group conclusions and group action. It doesn't matter how many people come to a meeting but when it's time for discussion, the chairman should get them into small groups. Once everyone's ideas on the subject have been brought out it doesn't take long for the total gathering to thresh out a report for the group.

That is what Farm Forum is! Now, as to what it has done; it has influenced public opinion with summaries of the Farm Forum Findings which are reported on the air, in the papers, and to farm organization leaders and government officials. This adds to the pressure of public opinion and thus influences our lawmakers.

It has increased neighborliness, which is the greatest benefit resulting from Farm Forum. It has brought close friendship and neighborly feeling among the rural population of Canada.

Farm Forum has been educational; where facts about problems are listened to on the broadcasts, read in the "Guides", and discussed to a point where a better understanding of how to solve our mutual problems is reached. Farm Forum has led to community projects which have been very successful in many areas which might not have been if it were not for Farm Forum.

The other English-speaking farm organization is the Quebec Farmers' Association, which works closely with Quebec Farm Radio Forum. Its members are many Farm Forum members and other members who do not belong to Farm Forum as they cannot meet each week, but can meet once a month or so at a Farmers' Association meeting. Its sponsors are the individual farmer members; it is not sponsored by any organization and is therefore free to pursue the policies which are in the best interest of the whole agriculture industry without embarrassment to anyone.

So, we say that Farm Forum is educational and fact-finding; to find out the wishes of the farmers. And the Quebec Farmers' Association is the action organization to carry out these wishes. Every farmer in Quebec should be a member of at least one of these farm organizations and therefore have a united voice in carrying out the farm policies set out by YOU, the farmer. It is your duty to become a member of one of these organizations; the cost is only $5 a year per member for each organization, and it is a small sum to pay when you think of the benefits you can receive by being a member.

Ontario Breeder Gored to Death By Herd Sire

The most dangerous animal in the world, the "quiet" dairy bull, claimed another victim October 26 when F. C. (Cliff) Eligh, one of Canada's most prominent dairymen, was killed by his three-year-old herd sire. Mr. Eligh lived at Finch, near Cornwall. He had apparently entered the bull's pen while alone and had been attacked. His badly gored body was discovered later by the hired man, who had been plowing.

Mr. Eligh was president of the Holstein-Friesian Association of Canada in 1956, and was prominent as a judge and in community life. He was a master breeder.

Equipment For Deep Tillage

Ottawa — Equipment required for deep tillage will depend upon the actual operation to be performed. Since returns from deep tillage are still questionable, special equipment should not be purchased without full knowledge of the costs and possible profit, says J. G. Kemp, of the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa.

Plowing to a depth of from 10 to 12 inches is such an operation. For this, plows with from 16 to 18-inch bottoms are required, but these are not readily available. Most mounted plows with so wide a bottom are designed to operate at a normal depth on a 2-3 plow tractor. To be fitted to a larger tractor with sufficient power for deep plowing, the hitch will likely require modificaton.

The most popular form of deep tillage is chiselling to a depth of from 6 to 12 inches. Chisel implements or heavy-duty cultivators are easily obtained for this operation. A five to six-foot mounted implement on a 2-3 plow tractor will work the soil to the desired depth in from three to six passes.

Subsoilers are generally used to work the soil deeper than 12 inches. A single tine mounted subsoiler on a 2-3 plow tractor will penetrate the soil to a depth of about 18 inches. Double-tine implements are available for some of the larger wheel tractors and crawler tractors. A pulled-type subsoiler is required for depths beyond 18 inches. A crawler tractor is generally used for power for depths greater than 24 inches.

A WHOPPER!

Enough for a full course meal, in volume anyway, is this spy apple grown by Helen Spitzbergen's grandfather in Wardsville, Ont. It weighs two and a quarter pounds and is 17 inches in diameter.

"As Prime Minister of this country I am endeavoring to take the bull by the horns and I leave it to the Minister of Agriculture and Food to take the cow by the udder." — Mr. S. Bandaranaike, Prime Minister of Ceylon.

Kiwanis Awards To 4-H Team

The fine record in dairy cattle judging posted by Donald McOuat, 19, of St. Andrews East, and Stuart Robertson, 18, of Lachute, in the past summer, was accorded further recognition recently when these young men were presented with a $50 cash award by the president of the St. George Kiwanis Club, during a visit by that group to the Harrington Forest Farm. Working as a team, McOuat and Robertson led the field in both the district and regional competitions and placed third in the provincial competition at the Sherbrooke Fair.

The award winners were accompanied to "The Farm" by Irenée Paré, Agronomist, and Stuart Armstrong, both of whom are active in organizing 4-H Club activities — reports C.I.P. Woods Notes.

Need Teamwork In Rural Groups

Quebec Agriculture Minister Laurent Barré warned that the usefulness of associations interested in rural life would be reduced if their members developed too strong a spirit of rivalry.

Mr. Barré spoke recently at the annual convention of the "Cercles des Fermieres" which represents 50,000 women living on farms or in farming areas. Established in 1919, the "Cercles des Fermieres" have 729 local branches throughout the province.

The Agriculture Minister said he did not agree with those who claim there are too many organizations interested in rural life. However, he said teamwork which is so important on the farm is also essential between farming groups in the province.

Further Growth In 4-H Enrolment

Enrolment in 4-H work in Canada continues to grow, with a new high of 73,483 in 1957, an increase of 721 over 1956. The number of clubs has also increased during the same period, from 5,006 to 5,092.

For the first time girls have outnumbered boys — 36,908 to 36,595. Enrolment in the girls' clothing project leads with 13,405, followed by dairy with 11,365; beef, 11,323; and garden 8,907.

Average age of the 73,483 members is 14, with an average of 14.4 members in each club.

Precautions in Handling Bulls

Farmers at the Ottawa Winter Fair last week were talking "bull safety" following the death of Clifford Eligh, of Finch, who was fatally gored and trampled at his farm—reports The Ottawa Journal.

Hardy Shore, of London, Ont., a cattle judge at the show, said: "Some bulls are just plain mean. Others are playful and like to push things around. . . But when they get playful with a man, it can be fatal. Bulls must never be taken for granted. One man should never attempt to move or work with a bull alone."

Dr. C. K. Spence, of the Health of Animals Branch, Department of Agriculture, said that when he went into a stall he always insisted that the owner or handler should accompany him.

"Bulls are unpredictable", he said. "Through sheer accident, they can slam a man against the wall of a stall, knock him off his feet and then walk over him.

"Even from an early age a bull is dangerous. I don't know whether it could be proved or not, but they say a bull, if allowed to get his head down, could lift his own weight.

"It's a good rule when working with bulls never to let them get their heads down."

Plywood of 17 layers has successfully resisted a pressure of 20 tons to the square inch.

Research on Tractor Wheel Weights

Tests of rubber-tired tractors at the Canada Department of Agriculture Experimental Farm, Swift Current, Sask., indicate that the ability of a tractor to pull depends on its weight. Different tread designs and tire sizes show small advantages under special conditions, but for general farm work the weight on the tire is the most important factor.

As an example, a tractor rated at 40 horse power on the draw bar and travelling four miles per hour would require a drawbar pull of 3,760 pounds to develop 40 drawbar horse power. Taking the drawbar pull as one-half the weight, the tractor should weigh 2 x 3,760 or 7,520 pounds. To show the effect of speed of travel, if this was reduced to three miles per hour the drawbar pull would have to be increased to 5,000 pounds in order to develop 40 drawbar horse power. This means that the tractor weight would have to be increased 2 x 5,000 or 10,000 pounds. It has been demonstrated, therefore, that extra wheel weights are usually necessary when the tractor is used on low speed heavy draft work.

Reduced Rail Fares To Toronto "Royal"

Montreal — Record attendances are expected this year at the Royal Agricultural Winter Fair, to be held at Toronto, November 15 - 23.

Reduced rail fares for persons travelling to the Fair have been announced by the Canadian Passenger Association. Reduced tickets for the return trip will be the regular one-way fare plus a half. Tickets will be available from all stations in the provinces of Ontario (Armstrong, Fort William, Sault Ste. Marie, Sarnia, Windsor and east), Quebec, New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island and Newfoundland.

From stations in Ontario tickets will be accepted going from November 14 to 23; in Quebec, from November 14 to 17. Latest time for acceptance of tickets for return journeys will be 12 midnight standard time on November 24.

The 1957 event is being billed as international year at the "Royal", and the international aspect is being featured in all of the Fair's many-sided activities. In the horse show, entries from Chile, Argentina, Venezuela, Mexico, Great Britain and Ireland as well as from the United States and Canada will ensure that the sport's growing following will see an outstanding competition.

FEED MIXTURES?

We find, in our travels, many feed mixtures, some made by companies, others by feeders — but mostly made by pencil-pushers!

In conversation with a feeder the other day, he told me he was feeding a mixture of 900 lbs. oats, 300 lbs. barley, 200 lbs. wheat, 200 lbs. bran, 100 lbs. brewer's grains, 100 lbs. gluten, and 400 lbs. Purina Concentrate — 2200 lbs. in all.

He supplies 900 lbs. oats, Purina supplied 400 lbs. concentrate, and other companies supplied the other 900 lbs.

Now, Purina is in the business of selling FEED TO MAKE A PROFIT, first for the feeder and second for the company. But they did not make any profit on 900 lbs. of this mixture!

If all this addition made a ration that produced cheaper milk, I would expect that Purina would have found this out long ago and have a Concentrate built that way; but as they don't have it, it is safe to assume it is not as profitable. Pencil-pushing has NOT WORKED THE SAME AS THE COW.

Purina Concentrate and Supplement are made to balance the grain you grow at home, and which of them you use should be according to the amount of grain you have on hand. If this feeder has lots of grain, so he could feed 4 bags of grain to one bag of Concentrate for the full stable-feeding period, then Concentrate is what he should use. But if he doesn't have plenty of grain, then he should use 1 or 2 bags of grain to one bag of Supplement, and if his grain runs out before spring, then finish with Milk Chow. This is the proven Purina plan.

Purina's research during the last 30 years on cows, NOT WITH A PENCIL, has proven this to be the most profitable for the feeder. So why try to guess at improving it?

people compete in the oil business

Did you know there are more than 10,000 people engaged in the search for oil in Canada? We know it, because we run into plenty of them each time we try to lease promising oil lands.

Did you know there are hundreds of skilled chemists and engineers in Canada's 42 refineries? We know it, because our own technical people have to work hard to stay ahead of the others in producing better products at lower cost.

Did you know Canada's oil companies employ thousands of salesmen to market their products? We know it, because every day our own sales people are competing with salesmen from other companies.

Canada's hundreds of oil companies wage vigorous competition. The result is increased efficiency, and benefits to the consumer.

War Heroes Solemnly Remembered

Reverent Scene at Cenotaph

Impressive Parade and Rites Observed at Memorial Park

The fair turnout of adults at the Remembrance Day rites in the Memorial Park is an evidence of sincere tribute and reverence to the fallen heroes of two World Wars. The creditably large attendance of patriotic groups, and of children from the schools of both religious faiths, is an evidence of organization — for without the spirit of organization to keep this demonstration worthy of its ideals, the day might not be so fittingly observed, either in Lachute or elsewhere.

The attendance was specially gratifying in view of the discouraging weather which, as may be expected at this season, was damp and frigid.

The usual groups joined the Legionnaires in their parade to the Cenotaph, where four Highland Cadets stood guard with reversed rifles. To the customary line-up was added another contingent this year, a smart turn-out of uniformed Air Cadets from Ayersville Squadron 648. Others parading with the veterans of Legion Branch 70, were the Highland Cadet unit, the Boy Scouts, and two field gun crews with equipment, of the 131st Battery, R.C.A. The marchers were led by two bagpipers and a drummer.

Sharp at 10.45 a.m., with these groups and children from the schools and convent circling the Cenotaph, "O Canada" was played and Mayor Léopold Carrière opened the proceedings with a brief but appropriate introduction. He acknowledged the public's generous response to the Poppy Campaign on behalf of the Legion. Addressing particularly the children present at this gathering, he urged them to make the best of the facilities provided for their education. Today, as never before, Canada needs scientific knowledge — a look around at world developments is amply convincing of this fact.

Bob St. Laurent, marshal of the proceedings, called on the Town and Legion representatives, and members of families, to deposit their wreaths — also reciting the names of churches, clubs, organizations and companies which had contributed wreaths. (This procedure greatly curtailed a portion of the program which previously has taken too much time for welfare of the audience and spectators.)

Philippe Valois, M.P., took his customary place to address the gathering on the significance of the occasion. The moment, he said, was one for reflection rather than for words. In thinking of the past and of those sacrificed on the battlefield, we can best prepare to dedicate ourselves to tomorrow. "The dramatic times in which we live, should challenge our determination to ensure peace in a future of unknown possibilities — thus fulfilling the Master's plea, 'Peace on earth, Good will to men'."

In the absence of another loyal and regular participant, the Hon. W. M. Cottingham (convalescing from the 'flu), Linton W. Armstrong, District Governor of Rotary International, represented Mr. Cottingham and voiced appropriate remarks.

"While it is only right that we should gather in this manner, on Remembrance Day, is it not also right and proper and fitting that we should ask ourselves the question: Have we, those of us who are left, done everything we possibly could to prove ourselves worthy of that wonderful heritage for which these men fought and died?" asked the speaker. "If we have labored to build a town, a province and a country where there is no more dissension, no more selfishness, no more greed, no more intolerence, no more ignorance, no more want — then and only then can we stand here today conscience-free. But so long as any of these still exist, our work is incomplete, our debt is still unpaid."

"Last Post" was sounded over the public address system. The gunners fired a salvo on the two field pieces, to prelude the two minutes' silence; then followed another salvo on the guns and the sounding of "Reveille." The rites concluded with God Save the Queen, and the various units paraded from the park, dismissing at the Legion Hall.

Montrealer, 30, Victim of Fatal Hunting Mishap

Maurice Demontigny, 30, of Davidson Street, Montreal, was killed early Sunday while hunting with his two brothers, Leo, 21, and Gerard, 27, on the farm of Elvine Prophet, just across the Gore boundary line from the Parish of St. Jerusalem. Death was almost instantaneous.

The trio entered the bush early Sunday morning and took different routes, apparently knowing the bush quite well. Two of the brothers sat waiting in different locations, while the victim headed for a high cliff and deer runway which he knew of. Upon hearing a shot and a cry for help, the two men ran towards the victim, whom they found lying face-downwards, a bullet having entered the right side of his chest and come out at the shoulder, severing an artery on its way through.

Det.-Sgt. Ralph Allan, called to investigate the incident, reports that the victim had apparently been crawling under a fallen tree when his .30-30 rifle became tangled in brush and discharged.

The victim was taken to the local morgue. The body was examined by District Coroner Dr. Jules Lafleur, who pronounced the death accidental.

Catholic Board Takes Over Local School Tax Collection

Town Council Receives Two Requests For Utility Service in St. Jerusalem

A group of citizens from St. Jerusalem Parish approached Lachute Town Council to have a fire hydrant installed near the home of Mr. Ed Smith on the St. Jerome Highway, at their own expense. St. Jerusalem Council, moreover, requested the town authorities to install a surface drain at the corner of Henry and Isabella Streets in St. Jerusalem, at the joint expense of both corporations. . . The requests were both agreed to.

This business was part of the Council agenda last week, with Mayor Carrière presiding, and Ald. Dr. Dorion the only member absent.

The Mayor acknowledged a letter received from the Argenteuil Protestant Ministerial Association commending the Council on its recent legislation on grills and dance halls.

Ald. Ross Muir gave notice that at next meeeting he will present a by-law governing rates for water supplied to the Municipality of Ayersville — said by-law to be approved by the Quebec Public Utilities Commission.

The month's police report was presented by Ald. Mozart Carrière, who also requested that the services of Special Constable Poirier be retained for another two months, at a remuneration of $25 a week.

Ald. Edgar Pollock, seconded by Ald. Morrissette, moved that supervision of the garbage dump be assigned in future to the town officer, Joseph Senecal, and that the payments to Jos. DeBellefeuille for garbage services be reduced accordingly by $30 a week.

Ald. Romain Desjardins, seconded by Ald. Morrissette, proposed that credits totalling $1,767 be allowed to certain taxpayers in adjustment of their taxes.

Another sidelight to tax collections was a notification to the Mayor from the Catholic School Board chairman, that the Board would collect its own taxes in future. A motion was passed accordingly that, from January 1 next, municipal taxes would be received by the town secretary's office — not payable at the bank, as previously.

Accounts totalling $10,329.12 were approved for payment, covering expenses billed during the month.

Building permit was granted to Lowe Bros. Dairy for the construction of a garage.

Ald. Lauréat Laurin, seconded by Ald. R. Desjardins, extended a vote of thanks to the Chamber of Commerce for the gift of curtains for the Auditorium stage.

Certain members of the Chamber being in attendance, Mayor Carrière advised them the Council had commenced a study of the Chamber's brief on civic improvements, and a committee of Aldermen R. Muir, Dr. Lavigne and M. Carrière had been commissioned to speed up the study of its details.

The meeting closed on an encouraging note as ex-Alderman Wilbrod Cousineau congratulated the Council, and particularly the police department, on its excellent work.

Pilot-Owner Drowned After Ottawa River Plane Crash

The body of Laurent Bolduc, 32, pilot-owner of a $2,000 two-seater Aeronca plane, was recovered from the Ottawa River near Greece's Point around 10 a.m. Monday, 24 hours after the plane crashed into power lines extended across the Ottawa River.

A passenger in the plane, Jacques Belisle, 27, of Hawkesbury, escaped by swimming through the icy water to the shore. He is recovering at home from shock and exposure, as well as a cut over his right eye.

The victim, a native of Lachine, was married and the father of two children. He had been employed in Hawkesbury for some time.

The plane, which took off from the Hawkesbury airport about 11 a.m. Sunday, struck the high-tension lines some 30 minutes later. Belisle, who knows the area as a hunter, said they were "just looking the country over from the air." He said that Bolduc took the craft down low and did not seem to notice the power lines about 200 feet above the water.

Belisle said he saw the lines and shouted a warning. Immediately the pilot raised the nose enough to miss the wires, but they apparently caught on the wheels. The craft flipped over and, at a distance about 100 feet past the wires, plunged into the river.

Bolduc was knocked unconscious and became wedged in the narrow door of the plane, according to Belisle, who stated he pulled the victim free of the craft but eventually had to release him due to the ice-cold water. Belisle finally reached shore, and was later treated by Dr. Arcade Perrier, of Hawkesbury.

The plane was discovered in a depth of 15 feet of water.

Dragging operations got underway immediately, following the arrival of Sgt.-Det. Ralph Allan and Traffic Officer Albert Legault, and the victim was found in some 40 feet of water by Paul Bertrand and Claude Fauteau, both of Grece's Point.

An autopsy was performed Monday evening by medico-legal expert Jean Marie Roussel, and it was established positively that the victim met his death by drowning.

Mayor's Tribute To Achievement Of 'L'Argenteuil'

At the November meeting of Town Council, Mayor Léopold Carrière paid gracious tribute to "L'Argenteuil", French-language contemporary of this newspaper, and to its sponsors.

"It gives me pleasure in the name of this Council", said the Mayor, "to offer congratulations to Mr. Fernand Berthiaume, who has been honored by the French Weeklies Association. To be chosen as the best weekly of the year, and to win first place for its Women's Page, after only five years of existence — is a tribute to the staff and the publishers of 'L'Argenteuil'. We are proud of the success achieved by our local paper, and for the good publicity it has attracted to the Town of Lachute."

Case of Rabies Indicates Disease In Argt'l County

Montreal — All dogs in Greater Montreal may have to be vaccinated against rabies, because one dog has been found suffering from the disease. This was verified by Dr. Adelard Groulx, director of health for the City of Montreal on Saturday.

An unidentified dog contracted the disease while in the district of Sixteen Island Lake last summer.

The disease was not discovered until a short while ago. The dog had returned to Montreal with his master in September. Recently it appeared to be affected by fits of extreme nervousness and the Federal Laboratory for Veterinarian Medicine in Hull, Que., confirmed what Montreal vets has suspected: the dog had rabies.

The dog died last Thursday after being confined and having bitten a member of the family and a veterinarian assistant, both of whom received immediate treatment and are out of danger.

All people in Montreal who have had contact with the dog since the summer have been injected with rabies serum. Now authorities are combing the Argenteuil County area for animals or anyone who might have contacted the dog there.

Repeater Returns For Penal Sojourn

Yvan "Plush" Villeneuve, 32, of Lachute, was sentenced last Friday to a two-year term in St. Vincent de Paul by Judge Omer Coté, when he pleaded guilty to two charges of theft.

Villeneuve was arrested November 5 and charged with stealing a car owned by J. A. Tessier, of Lachute, the previous day. Another charge, of the theft of a chain-saw belonging to René Laurin, Lachute Mills, was also laid.

Villeneuve has to date spent 19 years in St. Vincent de Paul and, previous to this, spent three years in a reform school.

Year's Progress In Review, Laurentian Dist. Boy Scouts

President of District, B. A. Jenkins, Submits Report at Annual Meeting

Following is the resumé of a report by Bernard A. Jenkins, President of the Laurentian District Council of the Boy Scouts Association, presented at the annual meeting of the Council in Ste. Adele recently. Mr. Jenkins reviews in a concise manner the progress of the District organization in the past year, and the information here given will be of interest to parents and supporters of the Scout movement in this area:

The past year has been an active progressive, and financially successful period for the re-organized Laurentian District Council of the Boy Scouts Association.

Division of District

Formalities in the division of the original Laurentian District into two parts were completed. The Laurentian District previously included Bouchard, Brownsburg, Grenville, Lachute, Lac St. Denis - Morin Heights, Rosemere, Shawbridge, Ste. Agathe, St. Eustache-sur-le-Lac and Ste. Rose. It now comprises Brownsburg, Grenville, Lachute, Lac St. Denis - Morin Heights, Shawbridge, Ste. Adele, Ste. Agathe and Thurso . . . the balance of the original district now forming the new Laurentian Foothills District.

In addition to the geographical division, the division of funds and camping equipment was also dealt with.

Expansion

A request was received from Thurso, Que., to organize a Cub Pack in that town, and it was agreed to include Thurso in the Laurentian District. Approval was received from the Quebec Provincial Council, and organization of this Pack was completed, with the United Church as sponsoring body.

Ste. Adele became an active unit of the district at the outset of the year.

It is now hoped that an active effort will be made to include the Hawkesbury unit in the Laurentian District. Members of that unit have indicated the desirability of such a move.

Numerous meetings of the Council were required during the past year to complete the division and to re-establish the District.

Personnel

District Commissioner this year is M. R. Wilson, manager of the C.I.P. Wood Lots Division, Grenville; and District Cubmaster is J. W. Humphries, Personnel Superintendent at C-I-L, Brownsburg.

Public Pleas, Protests Heard at Burg Council

(Our District Correspondent)

Brownsburg — After the usual opening business, Mr. Larocque was the first member of the public to be heard at Brownsburg Council session. He wanted to know at what location he might park his chip wagon, for which he pays a business tax. The councillors felt reluctant to rescind a previous motion forbidding lunch cars, etc., from parking on village streets. They told him that for the moment he may park under tolerance on the unpaved portion of Bank Street.

Mr. Jacques St. Jean asked for permission to operate a taxi in the village. It was moved by Coun. Therrien and seconded by Coun. Raymond that Mr. St. Jean be granted permission, provided he does not park on the streets.

Mr. Aldège Leveillé asked for better street lighting on 7th Street S.W. Councillor Therrien suggested that a survey of the entire lighting system may be a help, for there are locations with lights on only every four poles.

Fire Chief Arthur Robbins reported only one fire — a damage-free chimney fire on October 14. Mr. Robbins stated that, if the Council would purchase a short pump connection with automatic valves, it will save about 12 minutes per fire. This will cost $85. The councillors resolved to include this in the 1958 budget. It was also decided to budget for counter-balanced doors for the fire station. It is anticipated this will cost in the region of $150.

Police Chief W. Lepine reported answering 17 telephone calls and issuing 12 $2 parking tickets. Two traffic-light offenders were fined $1 each and one speedster was fined $20. An accident, with damages of $125, was also reported; and $28 was collected in dog licenses.

Matters of Social Service Occupy Town Councillors

Merchants Protest No-Parking Harmful to Store Business on Section of Main Street West

Council session last Wednesday, under the chairmanship of Mayor Léopold Carrière, was confronted with a protest signed by eight proprietors of business establishments on Main Street West. This petition alleged that the prohibition of parking on the south side of Main from A. Ouellette's "Patisserie Francaise" to Harbour Pharmacy, discourages shoppers and is harmful to business in this section. The signatories stated that they pay taxes like the rest of the merchants and that this no-parking regulation is prejudicial to their business.

Mayor Carrière was the first to voice an opinion on this complaint, saying that unfortunately there was little at present that could be done to improve traffic movement, or to permit parking on this section of Main Street.

There is a question, however, whether the town could acquire a strip of frontage from Geo. Y. Deacon to permit widening of the curve, which presently slows up traffic and creates a hazard at this spot. "Even if this would not permit us to allow south-side parking, it would however greatly improve traffic conditions, to widen this curve."

The matter was held over, until Mr. Deacon could be approached on the subject.

At this meeting Dr. R. Lavigne, alderman for west ward, tendered a written resignation from the chairmanship of the Social Service committee. The letter stated his withdrawal from this important charge was for personal reasons.

Mayor Carrière, who presented this communication, asked that the resignation be accepted, with regret, and proposed a vote of thanks to Ald. Dr. Lavigne for the effort and devotion which he has given to these duties in the past two years. "Dr. Lavigne deserves the appreciation of this Council and of the townspeople, and we are convinced he has given this decision his careful consideration. I therefore ask you, reluctantly, to accept his withdrawal."

Dr. Lavigne, unless otherwise disposed, will remain a member of the Waterworks and of the Health and Hygiene Committees, but will not be the chairman of any specific department.

Ald. Dr. J.-P. Dorion was forthwith appointed to replace Dr. Lavigne. The former will now head two civic committees, namely, Social Service and Receptions. (Other members of the Social Service panel are Aldermen Lauréat Laurin, Mozart Carrière and Edgar Pollock — the latter acting only in cases of assistance to English-speaking applicants.)

A vote of appreciation was extended also to Mr. Ouellette, Social Service officer for Lachute for the past several years, who is succeeded in the local office by Paul Dufresne.

On this subject, the Mayor then gave a resumé of discussions held recently between the town representatives and those representing the Social Service (Messrs. Gérard Lefebvre, Horace Lamarche and Canon Paul Manseau). These deliberations had decided the position and responsibility of each of the respective bodies, and specified that a report should be submitted monthly to the Council for verification. The Mayor mentioned also the adoption of a scale for individual Public Assistance cases, and Canon Manseau's approval of the special investigator engaged by the Town Corporation.

A Roadside 'Spectacular'

This 1953 Oldsmobile — to all appearances permanently immobilized — came to grief when it catapulted into a field off Chatham Street in Ayersville. The car, driven by Jean-Claude Gauthier and owned by Gilles Leblanc, both of Lachute, went out of control apparently after a blowout in one of the tires. The driver, Gauthier, was taken to the St. Jerome hospital with undetermined injuries. Leblanc, who was a passenger in the car, escaped injury.

Hon. Cottingham at Toronto Function With Industry and Business Notables

Quebec — An important meeting was held in Toronto October 31, under the joint patronage of the Hon. W. M. Cottingham, Quebec Minister of Mines, and the Hon. Dana Porter, Treasurer of the Province of Ontario. The purpose of the meeting was the fostering of closer relations between the two provinces.

The committee in charge of the reception held on that occasion, which was attended by approximately 200 guests, was composed of Messrs. Joseph M. Pigott, president of Pigott Construction Co. Ltd., Jules R. Timmins, president of Hollinger Consolidated Gold Mines Ltd., Arthur A. Schmon, president and general manager of Ontario Paper Co. Ltd., and J. S. Vanderploeg, well known in international trade circles.

The reception was attended by very prominent people in the mineral industry, as well as bankers, university heads, and presidents of commercial firms.

The function was a notable success and will do a great deal towards improving public relations between businessmen and scientists of Quebec and Ontario.

A column for the sportsman

— By BOB ATCHISON —

Very nice is the shooting around St. Michel. Of course, you still have to be a little lucky too! One deer I heard about was 120 pounds and the locals that shot it can be proud of themselves as sportsmen. They got in two shots when the deer was jumped and then trailed it for 1½ hours before getting another. The first shots were hits, one in the shoulder, one in the chest cavity. So that shows just how hard some of them are to kill. I think a lot of us would have followed the trail for awhile then given up, with the thought that the shots had missed. ... With the result — Wolf Bait.

There have been a number of calls about the Ringnecks in this area. It really sounds promising for the future shooting. I sure didn't think there were that many around. I know that some hunters rate the Ringers as tops in field shooting; they are mighty hard to hit on a break.

You know that I've harped on the North River a lot, and I'm going to keep on until something is done about it. If anyone has any ideas on how to get these Live Wire Experts going on this, I guess the only thing they are interested in is themselves. What is to be done, should be tackled now. One thing I know would start something, is to have a fine ($25) for anyone caught dumping junk into the river. And don't kid yourself that they wouldn't be caught. Especially during the winter, as you can see piles of garbage on the ice right in front of houses.

Bart. — Your question on tanning skins is too long to answer in this column, so give me a call. Just to start things going, flesh the skin — all fat and meat off. From then on it's a long process.

With the hunting rapidly drawing to a close, sportsmen are going to have a lot of time on their hands. For the fishermen it won't be too bad, as you can make your own lures if you wish. We'll start with Bass Bugs, and then go on to Dry Flies.

As you know, Bass Bug bodies are either cork or composition material. The corks are the easiest to work on; so it's cork. They can be bought at any hardware store. About 1" long, and as closely grained as possible. Using very fine sandpaper, shape them to a bullet, or if you want to buy them already shaped, you can. Get all sizes of cylinders. These are the straight-headed Bug. The slanted and poppers come later.

Having the bodies shaped, use a long-shank No. 8 hook. Of course, the size of the hook varies with the size of the Bug, but for smaller-type, No. 8 are fine. Push it through the centre of the cork, using a fine awl to make the initial hole. Take your time at this and to make it easier, dip the awl point in vaseline. That will stop the cork from splitting.

Dip the head of the hook in the vaseline the same as the awl, and push that through. If the hole is not too big, it should be hard to get through. That's what you want. This is as far as the shaping goes. Don't worry about the body turning on the hook, as that will be taken care of. Now, using any old paint you have, give them a couple of coats and let them dry until next week. . Then we'll go on from there.

The next meeting of the Argenteuil Fish and Game is on the 18th of this month. It is to be hoped that the members start to come out in force now. Phone calls will be made to all the members to remind them; and how about some of you ladies coming out to give us your ideas on how the Association should be run!

Up at the Point last Sunday, with a few more shooters out than last week-end. It is a lot of fun when good sports get together. We are running short of targets, so will have to get some more cans, etc.

Watched a Sgt. Baker, of the RCAF, St. Hubert, shooting with a .22 long rifle revolver, mounted on a .45 frame, with target offset grips. He was good with it, believe me.

Try running a can along the ground with your shots sometime, and see what I mean. Of course, have all your shots hit the can. . . I tried it, and — phooey.

I read a report on the Lampney eels, that they trap up in central Ontario. There was one stream that they thought was clear of these pests. A few fish were found that bore the unmistakable marks of Lampreys. They put an electric fence in, and in one night collected 5,423 pounds of these eels. They would kill untold amounts of game fish in the course of a year. Lake Trout used to be taken in Lake Erie by the commercial fishermen in the thousands of pounds before the Lamprey got in. Now it's by the hundreds of pounds, not thousands.

Ice fishing will be the main interest in a few weeks. I'll try and give all the dope on this sport that I can. It's a very popular pastime, and it's getting better all the time.

That's all for this one. . A sportsman is known by his deeds, not by his killings. Both kinds, man and beast. Take it easy.

Hudson Takes OVSAA Soccer Championship

By Roland Gow

Hudson 0, Lachute 0

Last Saturday, Lachute High School played Hudson in the second game of the O.S.V.A.A. soccer championship.

Lachute won the toss, and with a strong wind blowing down the field, Hudson kicked off.

Hudson attacked fiercely, but the Lachute defence held out and cleared the ball downfield towards the Hudson net. In a goal mouth scramble, Del McTavish and Roland Gow came very near to scoring but were unsuccessful. Hudson attacked again, but were stopped by Wayne Laurin, the Lachute goalie.

The second half arrived, with Lachute storming the Hudson goal like angry hornets, but without success. Finally the play settled down, around the half-way line, to a rough, tough soccer game. Lachute lost the ball on several occasions by foul throw-ins.

In the closing minutes Lachute turned on the pressure but the Hudson forward line failed to click and the game ended a goal-less draw. Hudson left the field joyous winners of the O.V.S.A.A. tropny.

Members and sport-minded residents are reminded of the Argenteuil Fish and Game Protective Association meeting to be held next Monday in the Legion Memorial Hall, Brownsburg, commencing at 8 p.m. A good attendance is hoped for.

Ladies Commence Curling Season

The semi-annual meeting of the Lachute Ladies' Curling Club took place on November 4 in the clubrooms, Mrs. F. Stein, Jr., the president, welcomed the members to a new season of curling and expressed the hope that it would be a happy one. She outlined some of the activities, from which it would appear to be a very busy season.

Curling officially started today the ladies playing for the Club Trophy, and will continue through the week. The Turkey Bonspiel, a pre-Christmas feature for some years now, will begin on Wednesday, November 20. On Saturday evening a buffet supper for all members will be served at the Club, and it is expected to be a highlight of the season.

Rabies in Argenteuil

WHILE THREE CASES of rabies have been reported in Argenteuil County this year, there appears no reason for panic. The disease is prevalent among wildlife of the smaller species in the northern section of the county, and only insofar as it may spread and be transmitted to farm or domestic animals, is it possibly a matter of immediate concern.

Advice from the County Health Officer, Dr. L. Turcotte, is that domestic animals roaming abroad in the northern villages of Argenteuil, should be inoculated. This may be done through application to the Federal Department of Agriculture veterinary or to any practicing vet. Cases of the disease among humans come within the purview of the Provincial Department of Health, and Dr. Turcotte as County Health Officer.

The incidence of the disease appears to be moving southeast from Northern Ontario. There was one case in Mont Laurier last year. . . The first case in Argenteuil appeared at Christieville last May, where a sheep was infected and diagnosis confirmed. (There had been foxes seen in the district acting in a strange manner as if infected with the ailment.) More recently a fox was seen acting queerly around a dwelling near Morin. The animal was shot and sent for examination; it was found to be suffering from rabies. . . The third case came to light this week in Montreal, where a dog was fatally stricken — the animal having been infected this past summer at 16 Island Lake. It had latterly bitten human beings; these have since received treatment, while others who had been in contact with the dog are receiving anti-rabies shots.

It is emphasized that any case of animals showing symptoms of this malady, especially in the sections of this county in proximity to previous known cases, should be reported immediately to the Federal Department of Agriculture veterinary in Lachute or nearest centre.

Rabies is transmitted by the bite of infected animals, and is fatal to animals and humans if not treated in time. The incubation period between the bite and the symptoms runs from a week to six months.

Times Change — For Better, For Worse

ALMOST EVERY WEEK we experience an unsatisfield urge, to gather round us a few of the town's old-timers and discuss some noteworthy item that turns up in our column, "Over The Years". And we know just the boys who would enjoy that pastime, who would add to these chronicled gems a sidelight of personal knowledge or participation — some of whom could provide anecdotes to fill another column-and-a-half from 25 years ago — 50 years ago — or, in diminutive number, 75 years ago!

Almost every week, as we write the current news, we resist a temptation to throw in a terse paragraph, on the same topic but in startling contrast, culled from the pages of the past. This, of course, we cannot do; but here for once in our editorial column, we can indulge the whim to quote some items of current news which ring a responsive bell in the echoes of the past. Here goes:

25 Years Ago. — Owing to the delay in shipment of electros, the regular Sunday School Column is omitted from The Watchman this week. (News was not so plentiful in those days, and it was customary to fill our columns with syndicated features in the form of ready-set type — "boiler plate", in the printer's parlance of those days.)

1957. — Due to shortage of space, certain items of district news are held over for publication next week.

25 Years Ago. — Personnel of the Bank of Nova Scotia, who were temporarily housed in the Argenteuil Motor Sales building across the street, have moved back into their own premises, which have undergone complete renovation.

1957. — Work is now progressing on the new $100,000 Bank of Nova Scotia Building.

25 Years Ago. — Fighting to prevent ratification of the St. Lawrence waterway treaty between Canada and the United States, opponents of the project described it before the Senate Foreign Relations Sub-committee held in Washington this week, as a move that would endanger railroad securities and force the carriers into government ownership.

1957. — Completion of the St. Lawrence Seaway may mean a substantial loss of traffic to the ports of Montreal, Sorel, Three Rivers and Quebec — according to Paul Beaulieu, Quebec Minister of Trade and Commerce.

75 Years Ago. — The Fair yesterday was a failure. We never saw such a poor display. In fact, the only things on the grounds were some miserable ungraded apples selling at 40 cents a bushel — no cattle, no horses, no nothing. (Held in St. Philippe, Muddy Branch, on September 27.)

1957. — The School Fair attracted a good entry list of exhibits in the Main Building of the Exhibition Grounds. The 4-H Calf Club Achievement Day was also a big success.

1957. — Representatives of various organizations met with the Agricultural Society directors to discuss the ailing finances of Lachute Spring Fair.

75 Years Ago. — While in Montreal, Mr. John Hope bought a shop window-lighter, composed of three lamps mounted at equal distances along a brass tube, which is hollow and contains oil. The light is as brilliant as gas.

1957. — Council has accepted a bid for a new and modern street-lighting system to be furnished by General Electric for the central section of Main Street.

75 Years Ago. — Hon. and Mrs. J. J. Abbott visited Geneva Creamery, which this week shipped 6,000 pounds of butter at a price of 21½ cents a pound. . . Mr. Van Horne, of the Canadian Pacific Railway, visited Lachute to inspect the Station ground.

1957. — World Postal Union delegates from 94 different countries, with 300 members in the party, visited Lachute en route to Mont Tremblant.

75 Years Ago. — Quoit-playing is a popular pastime in Lachute now.

25 Years Ago. — The week-end fixture brought a 3-2 victory for the newly organized Lachute team in an interesting lacrosse game with Calumet.

1957. — By-law 106 puts curb on juveniles in grills and dance halls.

75 Years Ago. — The work of grading has commenced for construction of the new Lachute - St. Andrews Railroad.

1957. — Lachute Airport a scene of great activity.

First Aid for Emergencies

FIRST AID, which doctors recognize is of prime importance in cases of accident and sudden illness, has had a long and often violent history.

First aid, by definition, is the immediate help given to a victim. It may be given by a doctor or by a layman, if no doctor is present. It is usually not a complete treatment — rather it is the emergency action to avert serious consequences.

Over the centuries, it has had a curious history. Remedies included crushed bugs, incinerated toads, unicorn horns (if you could find a unicorn) and snake flesh. Spider webs were stuffed into a wound to help clotting. Charles V wore a sachet of dried silkworms to prevent vertigo. He had the right idea, even if it wasn't practical — preventive first aid.

Until Lister discovered the principles of infection, a popular form of first aid was amputation. To keep an infection from spreading, one simply removed the infected member. It was crude, but such drastic measures were the only method people had of halting infection.

On the other hand, such wildly superstitious methods of combatting ailments were popular that, as late as 1860, Oliver Wendell Holmes wrote bitterly, "I firmly believe that if the whole materia medica, as now used, could be sunk to the bottom of the sea, it would be better for mankind — and all the worse for the fishes."

Modern antibiotics have revolutionized "first aid", as applied by doctors. But such drugs must be prescribed by the medical profession, not laymen. Every citizen — and especially every adult — should have a basic knowledge of first aid. It can be of life and death importance. It ranges from knowing how and when to apply a bandage, to understanding the treatment of shock, or the method of giving artificial respiration in cases of drowning.

Everyone should also have on hand the first aid supplies that can keep a minor accident from becoming a major calamity. Here is a check-list of minimum requirements of a home medicine chest. How many do you have? How many do you know how to use?

Clinical thermometer. Self-adhering bandages that can be applied by a layman, which will not shift position or constrict circulation. Cotton. First aid cream for cuts and burns. Aromatic spirits of ammonia. Sterile gauze pads. Tweezers. Scissors.

THE LACHUTE WATCHMAN

75 YEARS AGO

November 17, 1882 —

Community prospects are somewhat discouraging this week. The meeting to discuss incorporation of Lachute was a fizzle. The prospects of a skating rink in town are good, too — good for nothing.

Prof. Grady will be at Rodrigue's Hotel for a few days during the following week to treat cases of stammering, stuttering and impediments of speech.

Work is being pushed with all possible speed on Messrs. Campbell & McKenzie's mill. Shingling has been commenced.

There will be a public tea-meeting in Olivet Hall, on Tuesday evening next, in behalf of the Primitive Methodist Church, Lachute.

Charles Langlois will be at J. R. McOuat's store on Saturday to buy butter.

Local government has repealed a clause in the charter of the Credit Foncier, constituting it the sole landed credit company in the province for 50 years.

The regular monthly Band of Hope meeting was held at Grenville this week, in the town hall.

The wash of the financial storm in the United States is beginning to be felt in Canada, and already large manufacturing interests are shortening sail.

The Board of Delegates of the Counties of Terrebonne and Argenteuil met in Lachute Court House in reference to a road in St. Sauveur Parish. Delegates from this county were Messrs. Riddell (Arundel), Jos. Seale (Morin) and John Kelly (Grenville).

Rev. Mr. McDonald, of Dalesville, made a pastoral visit to Edna on Tuesday last.

25 YEARS AGO

November 17, 1932 —

Heavy windstorms the latter part of last week disrupted power and light service, also breaking telephone communications with long distance and out-of-town points. Broken poles and tangled wires, visible along most of the neighboring highways, gave evidence of the havoc caused by these unusually strong winds.

This should encourage people who worry too much about their health: John Smith, of Wampsville, N.Y., tried three times to enlist in the Union army during the Civil War, but was each time rejected on account of his poor physical condition. He recently celebrated his 100th birthday.

A scientist declares that man's health is indicated by the length of time he can hold his breath. It might be added that his wisdom is indicated by the length of time he can hold his tongue.

A raffle and dance will be held at Richard Brown's, West Gore, on November 18, at 8 o'clock. Ducks and chickens will be raffled.

SIGN STAYS

Owen Sound, Ont. (CP) — Motorists arriving here will still see the large illuminated sign just inside the city limits. It was erected for the centennial last summer, and then read: "Welcome, 1857-1957", and now reads: "Welcome, Owen Sound."

Since 1941 the number of horses on Canadian farms has decreased from 2,789,000 to about 800,000.

KNOW YOUR Canada

Prepared by the Research Staff of Encyclopedia Canadiana

Who were the Argonauts of 1862?

The Overlanders of '62 was another name also applied to several parties of young emigrants from eastern Canada who journeyed overland to the gold fields of Cariboo in British Columbia. They numbered about 200 persons in all. Most of them came from Ontario, a few from Quebec. Many of those who persevered to the end of the difficult journey settled in various parts of B.C. and several became leading citizens.

Who was Dr. Allan Dafoe?

Dr. Dafoe was the attending physician at an event that made medical history — the birth of the celebrated Dionne quintuplets at Callander, Ont. on May 28, 1934. He was placed in charge of their welfare by an act of the provincial legislature and was created O.B.E. in 1935. He was born in Madoc, Ont., became a general practitioner at Callander, and died at North Bay, Ont., in 1943.

What Canadian actress made the role of "Tugboat Annie" famous?

Marie Dressler, . Canadian-born actress who died in 1934, was extremely popular in the film comedy role of Tugboat Annie in a series of motion pictures. Also a successful dramatic star, she received the Motion Picture Award as best actress in 1931. She was born Leila Koerber at Cobourg, Ont., and ran away with a touring opera troupe at 17. She scored a number of stage successes around the turn of the century but it was not until 1930 that she achieved tremendous film success in "Anna Christie" with Greta Garbo.

Who was the first woman in the Commonwealth to become a county court judge?

Helen Alice Kinnear was born in Cayuga, Ontario, and educated at University College, Toronto, and at Osgoode Hall. Admitted to the Ontario Bar, she became the British Commonwealth's first woman K.C. in 1934. In 1943, she became the first woman in the Commonwealth to be appointed to a county court bench when she took office in the County of Haldimand. In 1935, she was the first woman in Canada to appear as counsel before the Supreme Court of Canada.

Just Supposin'

"Whewww!", my seat passenger mumbled. "Whewww . . . what a dream!"

We were on a train between Winnipeg and Edmonton. I'd heard his gentle snores and envied him. I can't sleep sitting up, so I was trying to get some writing done.

I suppose I looked at him quizzically, because he turned to me and said, "I've just had the darndest dream!"

I put my notebook away. "Tell me," I said.

"Well . . . to make it simple," he said, "I dreamed that on a certain Monday morning, every living soul in Canada arose a new person."

"What happened?"

"Each person arose, free from old hatreds and envies, determined to give his best that day. Jim Doe, in our office — he's the office loafer, you know — was at work before nine. Started at once to rid his desk of the accumulated clutter. By ten he was out doing his selling. Turned in the biggest order he'd ever brought in . . . "

"So what?" I said.

"If it had been Jim only, not much, I guess, but Jim's just an example. Everybody, everywhere, went to work with a will. I saw a group of workers putting up a house. You'd have sworn each man was building it for himself. They built a beautiful house and I'll bet the speed knocked a thousand bucks off the cost." He sighed. "You know — it was quite a dream. Everybody doing his best. Everybody happy as all get out. Just suppose — "

We played just suppose then for quite a spell — all the way to Edmonton. We figured that if that dream ever did come true, Canada would outshine the world within a year.

"If people stopped griping and grabbing," said my friend, "and started working and giving, we'd build paradise right here."

At Edmonton, we went together to a restaurant. We waited quite a long while without service. A pretty young waitress walked by our table a couple of times. My acquaintance beckoned her. "Could you get us some coffee?" he asked politely.

She gave us a blank, cool look. "Tain't my table," she said, and walked away.

My friend grinned at me. "Yes," he said, "it was a dream — only a dream. But just suppose — "

I arrived home the other night to find my wife nearly helpless with laughter.

"Calm down," I said. "Nothing is as funny as that."

She stared at me for a moment, and broke into a louder storm of giggles. Had somebody pinned a humorous sign to my coat?

"All right, catch your breath," I urged. "Now, what's so amusing?"

"You," she managed to choke out. "Don't tell me that after all these years, you have just learned what a comic figure I am?"

"Knew it all the time," she gasped. "But now, it's this" — and she pointed to four school exercise books, which I recognized with horror.

"So you've found my diary," I said, and lunged toward her.

She grabbed the books and danced away, still quivering with mirth. "I've read it through," she said.

"Never mind the nasty smirk," I ordered her. "I was only in my teens when I wrote those entries. I know they're pompous."

"I laughed so hard I nearly choked," my wife said. "I had to get a drink of water. Let me read this bit about the glorious colors of the sunset."

"Don't rub it in," I pleaded.

"And about that girl, and how you were glad she would talk to you, because you didn't have the nerve to start talking to her. Ha! Ha!"

"Happy that you found it entertaining," I said. She went on for a little while, drawing attention to various richly humorous passages.

Then I read the diary, I felt nostalgia creeping upon me as I rambled through the spidery lines. There was a great deal of self-reproach in the journal. I berated myself for neglecting to study and for failing to keep the diary going regularly.

There were numerous resolutions to do better, followed by gaps of weeks and months in the entries. Now and then there was a simple statements of fact, such as: "Dad caught five trout. Took two of them to the X . . . 's." And I wished that there had been more entries like that.

I saw my old self dimly, like a familiar object perceived through water. What I saw was an awkward youth who thought too much about himself and did not pay enough attention to people and things around him.

Then I looked up and caught my wife's eye. Both of us burst out laughing again.

Pity Ye Country Editor

Appearing under the title, "The Fire Is Out", is an entry in The Diary of A Country Editor, by Bill Cranston, in the current issue of Canadian Weekly Editor:

The little lady took us down several pegs last week. Seems that someone at our alma mater has published a compendium of representative poetry printed in the university publications over the past 65 years. Two of the selections were from the pen of this editor in days when the muse fevered his brow. And one of the same was no little love-tinged. The problem was of course, that the object of the rhythmic outpouring is not the lady to whom we've been married some 20 years now. So, when it came to her notice, she observed with an arched eyebrow: "Don't tell me you used to be like this?" Which is perhaps yet one more reason why we've never tried to keep a scrapbook of our past literary excursions.

Many at Funeral Of Well Known Lady Resident

Late Mrs. John Cunningham

One of Lachute's oldest residents passed away at the home of her daughter, 305 Main Street, on November 5, in the person of Charlotte Isabella McCullough, wife of the late John Cunningham, in her 81st year.

Mrs. Cunningham was born in Mille Isles on April 21, 1877, the youngest daughter of the late Robert McCullough and Isabella Thompson. She was married to her late husband in Montreal in 1898, and a little after the turn of the century they came to reside in Lachute. They had six children, five of whom remain — Mrs. Archie B. Gordon (Bella), Mrs. Paul LaMarche (Gertrude) and Hugh, of Lachute; Mrs. James B. Smith (Beatrice), of Flint, Mich., and Mrs. Michael M. Nason (Barbara), of Montreal. Their younger son, Jock, passed away under tragic circumstances 11 years ago. Fourteen grandchildren, 15 great-grandchildren and one sister, Mrs. H. Giroux, of Ahuntsic, also remain.

The funeral was held on Friday, November 8, in the Lachute United Church and was conducted by the Rev. Wilson Bridge. Pall-bearers were her six grandchildren, Douglas and Robert Gordon, James and Donald Smith, John LaMarche and Watson Creswell. Burial was in Lachute Cemetery.

Among those attending the funeral from a distance were — James and Donald Smith, of Flint; Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Gordon, of Cornwall; S/L A John LaMarche, of Kingston; Mr. and Mrs. George Giles, Mrs. Norman Muir, Mr. Clarence Tucker, Mrs. J. Houston, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Houston and sons, David and Brian, Mrs. G. Thompson, Mrs. A. Cunningham, Miss Lynda Dawson, Mr. Milton Dawson, Miss Dian Campbell, Mr. John Benoit, Mr. John Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. James Cunningham, Messrs. Lorne and Douglas Morgan and Mrs. F. Gagnon, all of Montreal; Mr. William McPherson, of Dorval; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cunningham, of New Glasgow; Mrs. H. G. Baugh, of Morin Heights; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Maxwell, and Messrs. Melville and Sterling Dawson, of Mille Isles.

Births, Marriages, Deaths, etc.

Births, Marriages, Deaths, and In Memoriam, etc., $1.00; 5 cents per type line extra for verse, with In Memoriam (estimate 8 words per type line).

BIRTH

MOORE — Mr. and Mrs. Gordon E. Moore (née Patricia Joyner) are happy to announce the birth of a son, Michael Gordon (7 pounds 5 ounces), Nov. 8, 1957, at the Reddy Memorial Hospital, Montreal.

ACKNOWLEDGMENT

CUNNINGHAM — We wish to extend our heartfelt thanks to relatives and friends for kindnesses, gifts and flowers given our mother during her illness, and for sympathy and floral offerings during our bereavement. — The family of the late Mrs. John Cunningham.

IN MEMORIAM

HESS — In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Robert Hess, who died accidentally Nov. 18, 1954. — Always remembered by his wife, Bella, and son, Ronnie.

"Not a day do we forget you,
In our hearts you're always near;
We who loved you, sadly miss you,
As it dawns another year."

HOARE — In loving memory of a dear son and brother Harlow, who was accidentally killed Nov. 12 1954. — Always remembered by Dad, Mother, Myrtle, Pearl, Ruby and Doris; Thos., Willie, George and Ernie.

"Resting where no shadows fall,
In perfect peace he awaits us all.
God will link the broken chain,
As one by one we meet again."

MacRAE — In ever loving memory of a dear husband and father, Malcolm R., who passed away Nov. 11, 1948. — Ever remembered by his wife, Catherine, daughters, Ethel, Dorothy, and son, Russell.

"Each leaf and flower may wither,
The evening sun may set —
But the hearts that loved you dearly
Are the hearts that won't forget."

MARTIN — In loving memory of Mrs. Charlotte Martin, who passed away Nov. 18, 1950. — Ever remembered by her husband and children.

STEPHENS — In loving memory of a dear husband, J. Eric Stephens, who passed away Nov. 14, 1956. — Elsie.

"When the days are weary,
the long night dreary,
I know my Saviour cares."

STEPHENS — In loving memory of our Daddy, who passed away Nov. 14, 1956. — Holly and Gregory.

"My daddy was a darling,
as a daddy ought to be,
But mine was someone special,
who was extra good to me.
He had to earn the daily bread that fed our humble home,
And there was never time for him to ramble or to roam.
He gave his time to all of us when he was at our side
And only in our happiness did he have any pride.
He did not want a medal
or the very least of fame
But just the knowledge in his heart

Monthly Meeting Of Women's Inst.

The monthly meeting of the Lachute Women's Institute was held November 5 in the Legion Hall with the president, Mrs. G. McGibbon, in the chair.

Members were urged to buy Christmas Cards to aid UNICEF. Orders for these may be placed with Mrs. F. W. FitzGerald.

There was some discussion concerning donations being made towards the Foundation Fund — Federal Office Building. It was agreed to table the matter until the next meeting.

Mrs. W. Y. Shearsmith, Publicity convener, introduced Mr. L. P. Tremblay, who spoke on "Royal Doulton" chinaware and showed two colorful films portraying the scenic beauty of parts of the British Isles, the manufacture of this china, and its design.

Mrs. A. Taylor thanked Mr. Tremblay for providing an enjoyable and instructive program.

Lachute Group, Catholic League

The regular monthly meeting of the Lachute Subdivision of the Catholic Women's League was the occasion for a Membership Tea.

President Mrs. T. Dwyer dispensed with business items quickly in order that the members might view a film, entitled "Patterns and Places." Mr. P. Tremblay, who arranged for the program, was present and addressed the meeting on the history of Royal Doulton. Mr. Tremblay was thanked by the president.

The tea was under the convenership of Mrs. C. Lowe. Mrs. J. Lunny poured, and assisting were members of the executive.

The meeting closed with the League Prayer and a hymn.

Remembrance Sunday At Lachute United

A large congregation gathered in the Lachute United Church for the annual Remembrance Sunday service. Special hymns and music were a feature of the service, the guest organist being Mrs. K. R. Davis, A.R.C.T., L.T.C.L., of Brownsburg. The large choir gave a fitting rendering of "Seek Ye The Lord", the solo being taken by Mr. Syd Drew.

The two minutes' silence was observed during the service, after which the minister, the Rev. Wilson Bridge, preached on the need for a new spirit of brotherhood between the nations of the world.

The church Anniversary will be celebrated on Sunday, November 24, when the Rev. Mr. Bridge, at the invitation of the Session, is to be the preacher.

Legionnaires Hold Armistice Dinner

The annual Armistice Dinner and get-together was held by the local war veterans Saturday evening at the Legion Hall, with a large attendance.

Comrade B. Jenkins acted as chairman, and during the brief period of tribute and remembrance, spoke fittingly of those who had paid the supreme sacrifice, and of our duty to them.

Mr. A. Paré, of St. Andrews East addressed the gathering on the topic of Civil Defence, and although admitting he knew very little on the strategy, his subject-matter left much to provoke thought and earnest consideration. He was thanked by Comrade Thos. Smith.

President R. St. Laurent welcomed the large attendance and thanked the workers in the Poppy Campaign, particularly the organizers — Comrades Mrs. Jas. Simpson and J. Pillage.

For an excellent meal the ladies of the Auxiliary were heartily thanked by Comrade E. M. Jones.

President Gives Topic at Ministerial Association

The Argenteuil Protestant Ministerial Association met November 4 in the People's Church, Lachute.

After the usual opening devotions the president, the Rev. W. Bridge, gave a very interesting account of his visit to North Carolina last August. He spoke of the wonderful welcome extended to him and his family, the religious fervor of the people, and their educational institutions. The speaker was confident that such exchanges would do much to overcome racial problems, and that a great amount of help towards better understanding between white and colored people would be such leads as this, given by the ministers and churches.

The meeting was in accord with these views, and were of the opinion they could not have been represented by anyone better than the speaker.

Plans were made for the annual observance of the Universal Week of Prayer, to be held January 6 to 10, 1958.

The Quebec Temperance League is to be approached with a view to having some of their films shown in the district.

Fedn. to Canvass English-Speaking Community

A campaign under sponsorship of the Lachute Federation of Charities will be directed to the English-speaking population of the district commencing November 25. This appeal is predominantly on behalf of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, and is held in view of the fact that this organization needs funds.

The Federation withdrew its annual appeal this year in favor of the Diocesan Fund appeal. English-speaking residents are not being approached in connection with the Diocesan or Hospital drives until a later date, and it was therefore considered justifiable to launch an appeal at this time through the Federation on behalf of its affiliates not benefitting in any way through the Diocesan fund.

Legion Auxiliary November Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of the Legion Ladies' Auxiliary was held on Monday, November 4, in the Legion Hall, with 15 members in attendance.

The president, Mrs. G. Tabrett, welcomed a prospective member and a former member back to the group. After a business discussion the chair was turned over to Mrs. Coney for the nomination of the new officers, conveners and various committees for the coming year.

Mrs. Norman Lavis was elected as president, Mrs. Dorothy Bailey, vice-president, Mrs. Bill Bradshaw 2nd vice-president, Mrs. Sam Bradshaw treasurer, Mrs. R. Bradford secretary, and Mrs. J. Coney, Sgt.-at-Arms.

After the meeting two interesting films were shown by Mr. Phil Tremblay, of Dansereau Stores.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. J. Pillage and Mrs. R. Bradford.

The great Scandinavian poet, Ibsen, once said:

"Let's go now to the root of the matter —
It needs men to act as well as to chatter."

We can "chatter" a good deal about Christianity, but, in the long run of events, it is action that counts.

Hay is something we must make between the time we get out of it until we hit it.

WEEK IN OTTAWA

Ottawa, Nov. 12 (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker threw out a few cautions about Nikita Khrushchev's proposal for a summit conference. But he did not give it the cold shoulder treatment as Britain, France and the United States have done.

He said in the Commons November 7 that if the proposal is sincere it should be explored. At the council meeting of the 15-country North Atlantic Treaty Organization in Paris next month, which he will attend, "all should be prepared to consider the problem of another summit meeting."

However, he added, it is premature to accept the proposal in its present "nebulous" form. And it should be remembered that the previous summit talks, at Geneva in 1955, produced only a sense of "false security."

"If there was any possibility that such a meeting would be successful, I would not hesitate in declaring immediately that Canada would accept any suggestion of that kind," he said in reply to CCF leader Coldwell who asked whether the government was ready to announce at once its acceptance of the Russian proposal.

The Prime Minister added:

"Above everything else no nation today should shut the door in any matter that might offer the prospect of any solution or diminution of tensions internationally. . . ."

Who Gives Signal?

Defence Minister Pearkes stated emphatically in the Commons that the Canadian government holds the power to decide on sending RCAF squadrons into battle against any aerial attack on this country.

He did so on the third day of opposition questions about the powers and scope of the new, joint Canadian-United States air defence command headquarters at Colorado Springs, Colo.

"I emphasize the fact that the decision to go to war must rest with the government of this country and not with any general — of Canadian or any other nationality," Mr. Pearkes said.

In case of a surprise attack, there was always the Prime Minister or an acting prime minister, on duty in the capital who could make the decisions on his own.

ABUNDANT LIFE BY ORAL ROBERTS

FOUND GOD COULD HEAL AN ALCOHOLIC

He turned and walked away. —Away from 26 years of business life, leaving behind a position as vice-president of one of Florida's largest plants in the processing and packaging of frozen sea foods. He despised the security of all his worldly goods in one moment of time. It was a parting of the ways, a severing of friendships, a complete separation of ties that were very dear. And all because of an experience that had happened six years ago.

Bob Bell was an alcoholic. For 24 years, he had been a helpless victim of strong drink. One day, however, he witnessed a marvelous healing of a woman who had a large goiter. At that moment Bob decided that God could help him.

He got in touch with a minister friend and asked that he pray for his healing. In Columbia, South Carolina, that night of May 1951, Bob Bell gave his heart to God. In the flash of a second, he was completely healed of his desire for alcohol.

But that is not the end of the story. Bob wanted to share his healing with others. And so in 1956, he established "Christ for Alcoholics, Inc.," in the State of Florida. Its purpose is to tell other alcoholics that "Christ is the answer."

Instantly this organization began to grow. In his headquarters, 329 - 37th Street South, St. Petersburg, Florida, hundreds of letters are received asking for help, for encouragement and prayer. Friends in St. Petersburg and other cities scan newspapers for names and addresses of people who are arrested for drunkenness. Then, copies of a small pamphlet on Bob Bell's deliverance from alcoholism and other inspiring literature are sent to them. A growing list of partners who have been alcoholics and their families speed the written word with the anointing of fervent prayer.

But that is not all. Local groups called Christ for Alcoholics groups are being established in various cities. These are conducted by people who have been alcoholics themselves. Their message is the same—"Christ is the answer!"

More than 6,000,000 people in our country are enslaved by this terrible malady. There are more alcoholics than there are victims of polio, tuberculosis and cancer combined. Heartbreak and sorrow immeasurable are the pungent and powerful fruit of America's greatest social problem. But Bob Bell has found the answer.

And so three years ago this August, he turned and walked away. He had been in a business partnership for 26 years before his conversion. But three years ago his associates wanted to enter a new phase of business—the retailing of beer and wine along with the sea food business. And so, Bob, vice-president of the company, was outvoted . . . And he walked away!

But today he walks in a wonderful pathway. And the results are tremendous!

There is healing for alcoholism! All helps, all research, all means that are used to assist people who are victims are good. But the genuine and lasting healing that Bob has found and others are finding is the healing that comes through faith in God.

A discussion followed about the fact that the number of entertainment tax tickets issued is often far less than the number of persons entertained. Councillors Ernest Ouellette and Lafleur moved that the Police Chief be paid 15% of the town's share of tax returns. He will be expected to keep a closer watch on tax tickets.

Secretary-treasurer Charbonneau read a letter from Barré & Taillefer, lawyers, concerning the ditch near Mr. Pierre Beaubien's property. Mr. Beaubien claims that moving sand is causing water to seep into his basement. Mr. Beaubien, who was present, was informed that the proces-verbal for the ditch absolves the Council from responsibility, but that Mr. Z. Ploufle, who was originally in charge of the operation, will be asked to come and study the position. Mr. Beaubien asked also that effective measures be taken to curb speeding on St. Antoine.

Mr. George MacVicar presented a letter from the MacVicar family offering to turn over 1st Street S.E., to the corporation. The councillors felt that, since this street by the ice rink is a cul-de-sac, it would not be convenient to accept it. They suggested, however, that if the family were to run the road east to Woodbine and connect it with Main Street there, they would be glad to accept it.

Secretary-treasurer Charbonneau read for approval bills totalling $2,000, and a bill for $340 to P. & B. Hall Bros. for the use of a compressor, bulldozer and shovel. Councillors Raymond and R. Ouellette moved that all the bills but this last should be paid immediately. Councillors Lafleur and R. Ouellette moved that, when the finances are less tight than at present, the Hall bill should be paid. The secretary pointed out that a bill for $6,600 was due the government from the waterworks account, and that therefore no more expenditures could be made from that account until the taxes from 1958 were available.

Mr. Charbonneau reported prices on printing for maps and a time-accounting system. Maps of the town will cost $50 for the first 100 and 25 cents each for additional copies. It was felt that advertising and a charge for the maps would cover the expenses, and that the secretary should proceed. He was also given the green light to buy 2,000 time-cards and a ledger, in order to account the municipal labor bill under garbage, waterworks, sewerage, etc.

The tax arrears, with finances so low, are now a problem. There are some 15 to 20 delinquents, some three years behind, who owe $3,000 total to the general fund and $2,000 to the water fund. It was unanimously resolved that, as of December 31, the properties of non-paying householders would be put up for sale in February.

Coun. E. Ouellette moved, and Coun. Lafleur seconded, a motion to borrow $6,000 from the bank to pay the bills and wages of the municipal workers.

Coun. Raymond gave notice of motion for a by-law allowing the Council to declare annually the general tax by resolution instead of by by-law.

Coun. Lafleur gave notice of a motion to raise the company water tax from $1,000 to $2,000 a year.

Mr. Charbonneau read correspondence for the month. To a letter from Mr. R. Gagné tendering to remove the garbage for $3,500 per year, the secretary was instructed to reply that the matter has been postponed till next year.

Among other letters was one from Cst. Roland Lepine resigning from police duty for health reasons. A letter from the Health Department reminded Council that it is against the law for anyone to keep chickens, rabbits, etc., in town. A letter from the manager of Canadian Safety Fuse Co. pointed out that, besides the expense of paving the "Safety Fuse Road," the Company felt that such a steep corner would be more of a hazard in winter if paved. A letter from Ottawa offered aerial photos of Brownsburg from 20,000 feet. . . A 40 x 40-inch print would cost $3.75.

During a recent flash rainstorm, two citizens borrowed the town pump for their basements. Coun. Harris moved that a rate of $2.25 for the pump and man be charged and that this be established as the rate for future use. Coun. Therrien seconded and the motion was carried.

It was brought to the Council's attention that the municipality is charged for four street lights on C-I-L property — three on the "Safety Fuse Road." It was decided that C-I-L be asked to pay for these lights or else they should be redistributed to points more suitable to the municipality.

CNIB Drive in Grenv'l-Harrington

The CNIB is happy to announce that Mr. G. D. Morrison has accepted financial chairmanship for a drive in Grenville and Harrington East district. The drive will commence on Monday, November 18.

The dollar you give will support the Institute in performing its duty in the community — preventing blindness and helping needy blind people in the County. The objective for this area is $900.

You are requested to give the name of any person in your area who may experience trouble with their eyes. All information is confidential.

Last year's financial campaign assisted the Institute in extending its services both to the sighted and to the sightless. An urgent appeal is made to all contributors to be as generous as possible, as demands upon the Institute services are increasing annually.

Market Risky — In Hockey Too

By Jim Dastable,
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Has Jolly Jack Adams, one of the slickest trading men in big-league hockey, finally goofed? Did he trade away a potential Stanley Cup winner?

They're big questions around the National Hockey League these days. Most of the experts agree that Jack was in the throes of rebuilding his Detroit Red Wings when he peddled all-stars Ted Lindsay and Glen Hall to Chicago Black Hawks.

Adams got Johnny Wilson, Forbes Kennedy, Bill Preston, Hank Bassen and a "considerable sum of cash" in the switch. The Wings have been anything but hot so far. They lost five of their first nine games and have shown little of the power that carried them to seven straight league championships.

Only Kennedy and Wilson are with Wings now. The other two were farmed out.

The fan reaction in Detroit has been so critical that Adams has come to the defence of his players. He says: "Save your catcalls for me. don't take it out on a bunch of my kids."

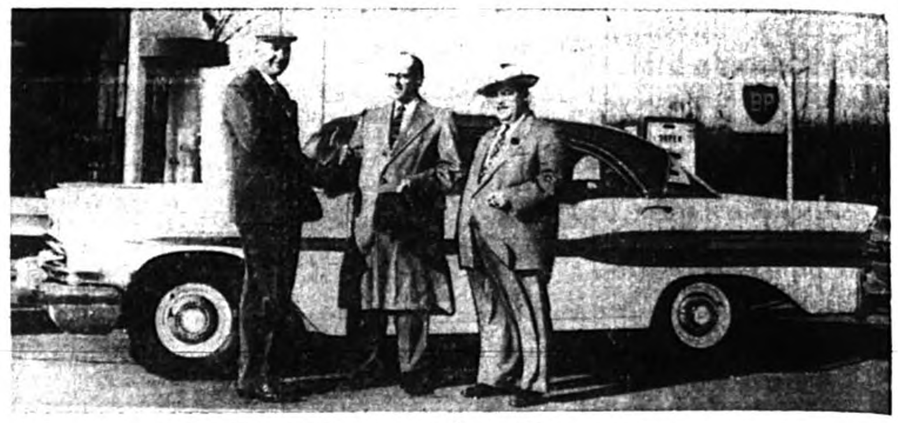

The veteran general manager, in his 31st year with the Wings, says he is "disillusioned" at the reaction of the customers.

"We're off to a lousy start there's no denying it. But I've been prouder of this team than I have of any of our championship outfits. This is a good bunch of youngsters and they don't deserve all this riding.

"We've got legs and we've got guts. We'll be going when some of these other teams have stopped dead."

If you know anything about Adams; you won't sell him short. He's probably right.

BRITAIN'S VULCAN BOMBER STOPS AT OTTAWA

At Ottawa's RCAF Station Uplands after a non-stop crossing of the Atlantic is the Avro Vulcan four-jet bomber carrying Air Chief Marshal Sir Harry Broadhurst, chief of the RAF Bomber Command, to the USAF's Strategic Air Command Bombing competition. The non-stop crossing, against 100 mph headwinds, took just under seven hours. One of these delta-wing bombers, carrying nuclear weapons, has greater hitting power than the total bomb load of all the 7,366 Lancasters produced during World War II. This one, first to visit Canada, stopped overnight in the capital.

This photo by Osborne Cox of Toronto won first prize in its class in the 1957 Newspaper National Snapshot awards in Washington. There were over 35,000 entries from Canada, the U.S. and the Hawaiian Islands. The two hippos greeting one another were snapped in the zoo.

Icebreakers End Summer 'Chores'

By Gerry LaFontaine,
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Quebec (CP) — The Department of Transport icebreaker "N. B. McLean", called "The Bloated Seal" by Eskimos, last week tied up here after officially closing navigation in the Canadian Arctic.

The stubby vessel cleared Hudson Strait October 30 and arrived here November 5. The "D'Iberville", Canada's largest and most powerful icebreaker, tied up here October 18 after completing her summer chores.

The 3,200-ton "N. B. McLean" left Montreal July 10 for outposts on Hudson Strait. She went on to Thule in northwestern Greenland August 7, supplied an RCMP Station, then visited an even more northern expedition of scientists spending the winter at Hazen Lake.

She then dipped south to Resolute Bay where she kept a rendezvous with the "D'Iberville" to escort an oil carrier and a freighter. Her next swing took her south to escort cargo carriers to open water in Davis Strait.

She called at Churchill September 25 and took 550 tons of freight and 20 Eskimos to Chesterfield Inlet, Coral Harbor, Cape Dorset and half a dozen other outposts before stopping at Resolution Island.

Six cargo and oil transports were taken through Hudson Strait at the end of last month, and as far as the Transport Department was concerned, the Arctic shipping season had ended.

The 7,800-ton "D'Iberville" made two trips north. She left here August 1 for Resolute Bay and her duties with the "N. B. McLean".

She then ground north to Eureka, 400 miles from the Pole, with 300 tons of supplies for a weather station. Before the northern jog, Skipper Charles-Antoine Caron flew over the area to determine the safest route.

"It was practically ice-free up there," he said. "Further south there was a lot of ice, five to eight feet thick, but it was soft and gave us no trouble."

She made two other meetings with the "N. B. McLean" and the Dot icebreaker "C. D. Howe" before heading south to Quebec City, where she landed September 6.

"On the second trip," Capt. Caron said, "We left at 3 p.m. September 18 and arrived back at 3 p.m. October 18. It was just more of the same."

For many years the leading metal recovered in the Yukon was gold. But today it is exceeded in value by silver and base metals.

Remembrance Day Theme Observed At Morin Heights

(Our District Correspondent)

Morin Heights — Although "Business as Usual" was the order of the day in Morin Heights last Monday citizens assembled to pay hommage and tribute to the community's war dead. The Canadian Legion, Branch 171, supported by a contingent from the RCAF at Lac St. Denis, together with units of Girl Guides, Scouts, Cubs and Brownies, formed up and, led by the bugle band of the Shawbridge Boys' Farm, paraded to the Protestant School.

The service of Remembrance was conducted by the Rev. H. G. Baugh, assisted by the Rev. Father Lajeunesse and the Rev. C. Westhaver. When the colors were presented, "Last Post" was sounded, two minutes' silence was observed, followed by "Reveille" — after which the parade reformed and proceeded to the Legion Headquarters, passing en route the saluting base at the Municipal Building, where the salute was taken by Wing Commander Mitchner, Officer Commanding RCAF Station, Lac St. Denis. Wreaths were deposited during the service, and also at Trinity Church.

OUT ON A LIMB
By Stumpy McCulloch

"Why did you assault this police officer?" the judge asked young Tom.

"Well, jedge," Tom replied, "I was in a phone booth innocently conversing with my girl when this bohunk opens the door and heaves me out of the booth.

"And that incensed you?"

"Yes, sir," Tom replied, "but what really made me sore was when he reached in for my girl and heaved her out, too!"

Well, sir, I see by the papers that the U.S. Forest Service is 50 years old. Congratulations, fellers! Accordin' to Mister McArdle, the U.S. chief forester, more than half of our forest lands are owned by farmers and other small landowners! "Here lies the key to our nation's future timber supply," he says, "as well as a largely untapped source of income to the farmer!"

Which reminds me, I've been harvesting a few trees lately myself. I generally do it in the wintertime when I have a little free time. Most farmers mark the trees they plan to cut with a blaze or paint. I use white paint, personally — 'cause it's easier to see!

And how do I pick out which trees to cut? Well, sir, like most tree farmers, I try to follow the rules of "selective cutting." That means you cut some of your largest trees, all unhealthy or deformed trees, and you thin the stands when necessary. In this way, your forest will yield profits year after year, and your finest trees will grow to full maturity — and greatest value!

Most fellers who grow trees as a crop occasionally seek the advice of a local forester. I do myself.

After finishing dinner in a Chinese chop-suey house, three fellers broke open their fortune cookies to read the fortune slips inside. The first paper read, "You are about to make millions in the market!" The second read, "You will soon win the heart of a beautiful redhead!" Then the third feller opened his slip. It read, "Help! I'm trapped in a Chinese bakery!"

A Weekly Feature of Helpful Hints on Child Training

Books for Children

— By NANCY CLEAVER —

How often does your child discover a new world as he reads a book? A love of reading can greatly enrich your son's or daughter's life. The radio, TV and movies all compete for the time of children as well as adults. But reading, in its challenge to the imagination, gives an individual something which is unique. If your child finds real delight in books, this is one of the finest gifts which you as parents can pass on to the next generation.

Make no mistake about this: in the use of leisure, children are influenced by their parents' actions. If you take little time for reading, and rarely spend money for a new book, do not be surprised if your youngsters have a poor opinion of the importance of literature.

Adults do not get very far by urging a child to read a certain volume "Because it is good for you — you will learn so much!" In their free time they want to do things they enjoy. But if they see that Mother and Dad like reading, and they know that books are prized possessions, they, too, will be glad to add gradually to the books on their own shelf. Our modern houses have a very different appearance from the dwellings of the Romans two thousand years ago, but there is still truth in Cicero's comment: "A room without books is as a body without a soul."

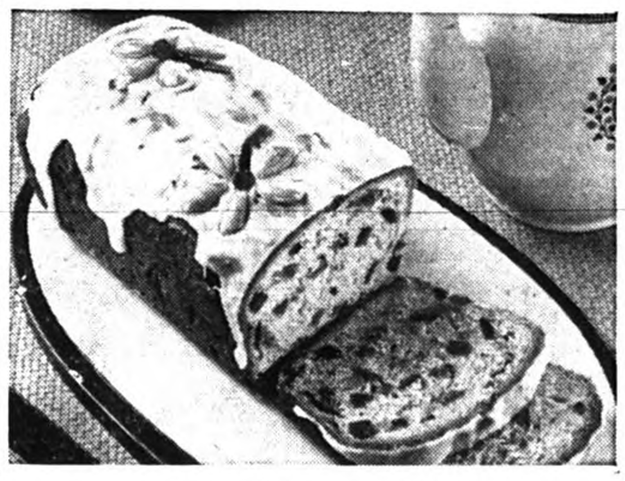

Adventure stories have always been popular with boys and girls and in recent months several most attractive adventure tales have appeared among the new books. "Gunilla", by Albert Viksten (Thomas Nelson) the story of a Polar bear cub, is a colorful, exciting story with an Arctic setting. Another fine book picturing this frozen land is "The True North" by joint authors Farley and Israel (MacMillans of Canada). This latter book tells of the exploits of the great Arctic pioneer, young Joseph Bernier, early in this century, and is a worthy addition to the "Great Stories of Canada."

Have you ever noticed how the section devoted to the Indians, our first Canadians, attracts children like a magnet in any museum or art gallery? Parents will be relieved to know that a new book has been printed which will give the answers to the many questions which youngsters ask after such a visit. It is Douglas Leechman's "Native Tribes in Canada", published by W. J. Gage. The black and white illustrations in this book are well done. A junior reader would be delighted with the colored pictures in "A Picture History of Canada", Oxford Press. Every province has its own school system, but it is likely that scholars anywhere in our Dominion would find these volumes particularly useful when struggling with homework related to our own history in the early days.

In another way, by making pioneer times vivid for our readers, historical juveniles perform a useful service. "Spitzee Anota", by D. R. King (Longmans Green) tells of the early days in the West when fur traders dealt with the Blackfeet around Fort Edmonton. "The Young Surveyor" is the tale of the trail-finding pioneers in the Rockies, written by Olive Knox for Ryersons. When integration is such a vital topic, senior readers will read with new interest another Ryerson book, "Black Moses", by Jessie L. Beattie, which makes the real "Uncle Tom" a convincing and lovable character.

What child has not gone through the stage when a book series has cast a spell and he searches eagerly for the latest volume to add to his collection? The number of titles in Clarke-Irwin's "Famous Twins Series" are numerous and Canadian children were proud to see "Canadian Twins" appearing last year. This year twins from New Zealand and from Ceylon have joined the family. Another type of book which boys particularly like is a good annual, and "Number 7 Eagle Annual" is packed with interesting reading, including a helpful hobby section.

The third week in November marks Young Canada's Book Week. Libraries and schools will celebrate it. But what about your home? Do you remember John Ruskin's remark: "If a book is worth reading, it is worth buying. . . " So, don't wait for Christmas or a birthday, but go out now with your son or daughter and purchase a new book. What better investment in happiness can you make?

Swedish In Origin

FRUIT NUT BREAD

There doesn't have to be a special time to make Kaffee Klatsch. It happens when two or more friends begin talking over a cup of coffee. To make the Kaffee Klatsch complete, a delectable sweet bread is needed to go along with the cups of coffee. This Fruit Nut Bread, which is an adaptation of a Swedish recipe, is a special treat with mid-morning, mid-afternoon or evening cups of tea and coffee or at meals any hour of the day. It's especially delightful toasted at breakfast. In this recipe there is no need to scald the milk for it is made with instant non-fat dry milk in powder form. This recipe is also especially nutritious due to the fact the quantity of milk powder called for provides an extra amount of milk nutrients without increasing the bulk of the recipe. The flavor of this close-textured bread may be varied by using different kinds of candied fruits. The unusual combination of almonds and walnuts adds to the flavor interest.

Fruit Nut Bread

(Yield — 2 loaves)

¾ Cup nonfat dry milk powder, ½ cup granulated sugar, 1½ teaspoons salt, ¼ cup soft butter or margarine, ½ cup boiling water, ½ cup lukewarm water, 2 teaspoons granulated sugar, 2 envelopes active dry yeast, 2 well-beaten eggs, 4½ cups (about) once-sifted all-purpose flour, 1 teaspoon ground mace, 1 cup cut-up mixed candied fruits, ½ cup finely-chopped toasted almonds, ½ cup chopped walnuts.

Combine instant nonfat dry milk powder, the ½ cup sugar and salt in a large mixing bowl; add butter or margarine. Pour in boiling water and stir well. Cool to lukewarm.

Meantime, measure lukewarm water into a small bowl; stir in the 2 teaspoons sugar. Sprinkle with yeast. Let stand 10 minutes, then stir well. Stir yeast mixture into lukewarm milk-powder mixture. Stir in well-beaten eggs and 2½ cups of the flour which have been sifted with the mace, and beat until smooth and elastic. Stir in mixed candied fruits, almonds, walnuts and sufficient additional flour to make a soft dough — about 2 cups more. Turn out dough on floured board and knead until smooth and elastic. Place in greased bowl; grease top. Cover. Let rise in a warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk — about 1½ hours.

Punch down dough and turn out on lightly floured board. Halve the dough; shape halves into loaves. Place in greased loaf pans (4½ x 8½ inches, top inside measure). Grease tops. Cover. Let rise in a warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk — about 1½ hours. Bake in a moderately hot oven (375 F) about 35 minutes. Cool. Frost with the following Confectioners' Icing. Garnish, if desired, with blanched almonds and candied fruit.

Confectioners' Icing

1 Cup sifted icing sugar, ¼ teaspoon vanilla, milk.

Canadian Dishes From Abroad

Canadian cookery is benefitting from the many foreign dishes which have been introduced in the past few years. We are not so cautious these days about trying new combinations of food which may sound strange to us. Take pineapple and chicken as an example. Chinese and Hawaiian dishes frequently team these two popular foods and more and more Canadians are finding how good they taste together.

If you haven't tried pineapple with chicken yet, the Poultry Products Institute offers a suggestion for a tangy Pineapple and Curry sauce which is delicious served with roast, fried or broiled chicken. In fact it may be used to baste the broiling chicken during the last ten minutes of cooking. As an accompaniment serve the sauce either hot or cold.

Pineapple Curry Sauce

1 Ten-ounce can crushed pineapple, 2 tablespons butter, 1 teaspoon curry powder, 1 teaspoon brown sugar, dash of salt, dash of Worcestershire sauce.

Combine all the ingredients and heat to simmering point, stirring occasionally. Cover and simmer 5 minutes. Serve hot or cold with chicken. Yields about 1 cup of sauce.

Wheat accounts for one-third of the volume of all freight handled by Canadian railways.

With the advance of late autumn weather, children are forced to spend more time indoors, and that may lead to a bigger clutter of toys.

The Canadian Association of Consumers recommends that mothers look over their youngsters' toys, tidy up the toy shelves, repair broken ones and add a few new ones to keep the youngsters busy.

As a child grows in size, he also grows mentally and socially, and his play needs are different. Playthings can help his development.

And with Christmas not too far off, now is the time to plan to purchase toys that not only supplement those they already have, but will stimulate the child's development.

Guide For Buyers

The toy testing committee of the CAC has prepared a new 1957 Toy Buying Guide, which will help in selection of toys.

This guide contains lists of toys tested, rated and recorded for quick reference. It will tell you what to look for when buying table games, how to choose "good" doll clothes and what type of doll to buy for every age level, and the requisites for well-designed doll furniture.

It also has the latest information on construction materials, and shows how to get the most value out of basic playthings.

The guide is available in a number of communities in stores, such as supermarkets, toy stores and book-stores, as well as from CAC branches. They are also available at the national CAC office in Ottawa.

Cleaning Silver

A bride who gives her shiny bright wedding gifts care should be able to celebrate her silver anniversary with a glow that comes from years of use.

Today the majority of women are using sterling silver pieces daily because they know that a beautifully-set table lends itself to gracious living.

If your sterling is used regularly it develops a fine patina. Just wash it separately in hot soap or detergent suds as soon as possible after using. Rinse in hot water and dry immediately with a soft cloth. Careful washing of silver prevents tarnish and makes frequent cleaning and polishing unnecessary.

The way silver is stored is also important. Keep it in a chest lined with tarnish-resistant cloth and away from knife-edged things that can cause nicks and scratches.

Cheese Has Energy

Food experts recommend housewives keep their families on a high nutritional standard by serving cheese, especially on nippy fall and winter days.

Cheese is a prime source of protein, calcium and other food essentials. It needs no time-consuming preparation.

Let's Shop For Cereals

When it comes to shopping for cereals, there is something to be found for everyone and every use. The homemaker may shop for cereals that insure high food value, in which case she will buy a whole grain cereal, an enriched one, or even a baby cereal. She may select cereals to suit individual family preferences in texture and taste. Then her assortment will include several different kinds in individual or regular sized packages. Again, the homemaker may choose cereals which will save her time. If so, she will select the precooked, instant, or ready-to-eat types. Uses for cereals as toppings, coatings, snacks, or in recipes may also guide her choice.

Regardless of which breakfast cereals she chooses the smart homemaker reads the label to learn the type of cereal and other pertinent facts about it. Some of the more common types of breakfast cereals are outlined below:

Whole Grain Cereal contains the entire kernel of the grain. Nothing has been added nor taken away. This type of cereal gives the most food value for money spent. The label on the package shows that the cereal is a whole grain one.

Refined Cereals are those which have been processed by intensive milling. They have lost the part of the grain which contain most of the minerals and vitamins.

Enriched Cereals are usually "refined cereals" to which vitamins and or minerals have been added. The amounts of these added nutrients may be shown on the package.

Uncooked or Regular Cereals require a longer cooking time but cost less than other cereals because they have not been proceesed as much.

Quick-Cooking Cereals are so processed that only a few minutes cooking is required. Directions for cooking are given on the label. Quick-cooking cereals cost slightly more than uncooked cereals but save time and fuel.

Instant Cereals are thoroughly cooked before packaging. They need only the addition of a hot liquid to prepare them for eating. Because of special processing these cereals are more expensive.

Ready-to-Eat Cereals are highly processed cereals of varying texture, shape, flavor and food value; they are ready to serve. They generally cost more per serving than the uncooked ones.

Baby Cereals are usually Instant Cereals (see above) with added vitamins and or minerals. They provide highly nourishing food for infants, as well as adults and convalescants.

MISS SUPERTEST TO TRY AGAIN FOR WORLD RECORD AT PICTON

An all-out Canadian assault on the world's speed record for propeller-driven craft is forthcoming at Picton, Ont., by Miss Supertest II. Owned by Jim Thompson of London, Ont., and driven by Art Asbury of Oxtongue Lake, Ont., the boat holds the present Canadian and British Empire record at 155 mph. The world record of 178.9 is held by the late Stanley Sayres of Seattle, owner of Slo-Mo-Shun. Last year Miss Supertest was clocked at 196 mph just before a sponson disintegrated, crippling the boat and ending the trial.

Italian Woollens Make Inroads in Canadian Market

Montreal — Cheaply produced Italian woollens are making rapid inroads into the Canadian market at the expense of both Canadian and British mills selling here.

According to a report published by the Canadian wool textile industry, Italy is also now the world's leading exporter of wool cloth, a position held by Great Britain for centuries.

A relatively minor exporter of woollens pre-war, Italy in 1955 exceeded British exports by 3%, and in 1956 by 23%. This marked something of a milestone in the history of world trade in wool textiles, and created some pained surprise in the British industry."

Italian wool cloth exports to Canada jumped from 26,000 pounds in 1952 to 1,720,000 pounds in 1956, an increase of 26 times in four years the report notes. "There is, at present, no visible limit to the extent to which they can penetrate into this market," states the report.

Basis of the Italian industry, and its success on world markets, is said to be cheap labor and raw materials. The City of Prato, now centre of the Italian woollen trade, has also become the rag capital of the world.

Because labor is so cheap, the manufacturers devote unusual time, effort and man-power to production. They realize that extensive and careful finishing procedures can do a great deal to cover up the basic defects of fabrics cheaply constructed of low-grade materials."

The Canadian executives inquiring into this development found nothing basically unique in the styling of Italian fabrics, but noted that designers are highly paid to create bright, fashionable and attractive materials from what is often quite low-grade raw materials. "Some of the fabrics are styled up to levels which such lowly materials do not usually attain."

Legal Dispute Over Race-Horse Names

The Supreme Court of Ontario has ruled against changing the names of six horses which allegedly lampooned Fred Orpen, prominent in Ontario racing circles.

The horses: Red Nose Clown Rabbit Mouth, Into the Grape, Hot Ice, Stole the Ring and Irene's Orphan.

The court allowed William F. Morrissey Company Limited and C. Blanche Armstrong, both of Toronto, to keep the horses' names. The Ontario Racing Commission contended the monickers lampooned Orpen and had ordered the changes.

Morrissey and Miss Armstrong denied the horses were named after Orpen.

Back in 1946 when Orpen owned Long Branch track near Toronto, he and Morrissey argued over weight assigned Morrissey's Casa Camara in running of the Cup and Saucer. Casa Camara won the event.

Two weeks later Orpen ran two feature races, the Silver Knife and the Diamond Ring. Casa Camara won the Diamond Ring, but owners who knew their horses couldn't beat Casa Camara, had entered them in the Silver Knife. Morrissey refused to accept the Diamond Ring.

DOCTOR GIVES UP MEDICINE FOR A TOURIST BUSINESS IN ARCTIC

A doctor with the Arctic in his blood is setting out from Toronto with his family to make the word "snowfari" part of the language. The doctor, Joe Moody, at left, formerly of Manitoulin Island, Ont., has outfitted a 53-foot, $50,000 motorship, the "Snowfari," at right, which he intends to use in the northwestern part of Hudson Bay, taking tourists, researchers and explorers on what he hopes will eventually become a regular tourists' haunt. The doctor first became interested in the eastern Arctic 12 years ago when he was sent to vaccinate the Eskimos following his graduation from medical school. He has been going back for periodic visits ever since and has, for the last two summers, been running tours in the Hudson Bay area. This year, however, he decided to get into the business in a big way with his ship, which he designed to stand the rough waters and floating ice of the bay.

Wash Car Often to Stop Winter Body Corrosion

Winter with its slippery road conditions is nearing and the familiar complaint from motorists that the salt and chloride used to de-ice roads has a harmful effect on car bodies will soon be heard.

However, the truth of the matter is that salt and chloride will have no effect on a car providing the owner frequently washes his vehicle.

Experts in the automotive field point out that the chemicals themselves do not actually corrode auto bodies. These chemicals have a tendency to absorb and retain moisture and this is what causes the damage.

Hence a car that is washed frequently through the winter season will not corrode regardless of how much de-icing chemical it may have picked up.

The washing required for rust control is a vigorous hosing down of all metal especially under the vehicle. Either a steam or water hose will do the job effectively.

Outer Space Mysteries -- Inner Space Problems

While many people are preoccupied with the mysteries of outer space these days, countless others are more concerned with the problem of inner space — or rather, the lack of it — particularly families who are rapidly outgrowing houses bought in earlier years.

And yet, many older houses can be made to seem more spacious, more comfortable, with just a little ingenuity on the part of homeowners.

A good starting point is the heating system, which is often too careworn to function adequately after long years of faithful service. In fact, it would be doing the poor thing a kindness to retire it, and install a new, compact heating plant with modern baseboard radiators. This type of heating not only saves space in an overcrowded room, it provides cosy, uniform warmth an ankle level, while eliminating the nuisance of drafty floors and breezy corridors.

Baseboard radiation, which fits into space normally occupied by the conventional wooden baseboard, can be painted to blend in with walls and woodwork. It is clean and modern. Walls and window curtains no longer become streaked and dirty, and its inconspicuous appearance permits the rearrangement of furniture without the necessity of planning every move around bulky, old-fashioned radiators.

Regular radiators are not being overlooked in the smartening-up process. Whether recessed or free standing, they are smaller and neater in appearance, blending more discreetly into a room. Another advantage of these new-style radiators is that they retain their warmth for some time after the heat has been shut off.

As obsolete heating systems gradually give way to the modern, space-saving variety, many a housewife will exclaim with gratitude, "Now at last I can put the coffee table in front of the window where it'll be of some use!" And so she can.

IMMORTALS THAT SAVED THE WORLD

Enshrined within the pages of the World War II Book of Remembrance are the names of Canadian servicemen and women who gave their lives during the war and the battles and engagements in which they participated. Title page at upper left, in French and English, has reproductions of Canada's ten Provincial Coats of Arms. Page at lower left records the names of all those who gave their lives during the first few months of the war in 1939. The two centre pages, dedicated to the Dieppe Raid and the Battle of Britain, reproduces Army corps badges and Squadron and Command badges of those who participated. Panel at lower right shows, from left to right, Jean Paul Champagne, writer, Mrs. Yvonne Diceman, artist-designer, and Alan B. Beddoe, heraldic expert with the Royal Canadian Navy, who spent nine years producing the 100-pound 612-page Book of Remembrance.

44,891 Names Enshrined In Book of Remembrance

The following inscription appears on the English title page of the World War II Book of Remembrance which was dedicated on Remembrance Day, November 11.

THE BOOK OF REMEMBRANCE

"Lay them with all that is most living.
In light transcendent,
In the ageless aisles of silence,
With the Immortals that saved the world."

— Duncan Campbell Scott

The Book was dedicated by His Excellency the Governor-General in a simple ceremony in the Memorial Chamber of the Parliament Buildings, following the usual Remembrance Day service at the National Cenotaph. The Memorial Chamber, where the First Book of Remembrance is permanently enshrined, will be the temporary repository of the Book.

Consisting of 612 pages of calfskin vellum and bound in tooled morocco, the Book records the names of 44,891 Canadian servicemen and women who gave their lives in the Second World War. It weighs about 100 pounds and is the result of nine years of work by heraldic expert Alan B. Beddoe and his staff of artists and calligraphers.

The columns of names are in black script and stand out in sober contrast to the illuminations. Names of places with which the Canadian Armed Forces were associated are recorded in painted ribands on nearly every page: Hong Kong, Iceland, Dieppe, Pas-de-Calais, the Atlantic, North Africa, Hamburg, Kiel, Messina, Regalbuto, Ortona, The Orne, Frankfurt — the list seems endless, for in the Second World War the Canadian contribution was world-wide and all three services were operating at full strength.

The individuality of each service has been respected in the geographical and heraldic references and the names of the fallen, with rank, unit or corps, and decorations, are recorded in alphabetical order by year of death.

It is planned that a page of the Second Book of Remembrance will be turned every day and a calendar published so that intending visitors may know the dates on which the names of relatives or friends will be shown. This is the practice which has been followed with the First Book of Remembrance, which has been visited by millions since it was dedicated to its repository in the Peace Tower on Remembrance Day 1942.

It is also intended to provide a public reference index in provincial capitals, together with the page-turning calendar, so that those wishing to visit Ottawa to see the Book will know when it will be open at any particular page.

Special illuminated pages record outstanding campaigns and battles in which Canadians took part, such as the Battle of Britain, the Dieppe Raid and the Battle of the Atlantic, which will be displayed on anniversary dates.

A "Page Without Names" is dedicated to the memory of those who have died as a result of their war service since September 30, 1947. This page also commemorates Canadians who died while serving with other Commonwealth or allied forces and whose names are unavailable and unknown.

It is considered most fortunate that the services of these gentlemen were obtained; both are genuinely interested in the welfare of youth in this district and there is no doubt that they will be an asset to the organization.

A District Scoutmaster has not been selected to date; however, several names have been considered and it is hoped that an appointment will be announced shortly.

Resignations were received from (1) Linton W. Armstrong, former District Commissioner, (2) Paul Villard, former District Cubmaster and (3) Geoff Edgell, former District Scoutmaster who resides in the new Laurentian Foothills District. All three of these men have remained active in Scouting.

Finances

A financial campaign was held under chairmanship of 1st vice-pres. and Treasurer D. N. Atkins, with a total of $1,857.35 collected in the District.

Financial assistance was voted to P. Villard, Jr., who represented this District at the 50th Anniversary Jubilee Jamboree in England last August.

Camping

A Cub Camp was held at Camp MacAulay on the Ottawa River during the period June 22-29. Also a Scout camp was held at Tamaracouta, July 13-29. Certain units took advantage of camp sites near their centres.

Of special note are the efforts of District Commissioner M. R. Wilson, who has been responsible for the establishment of a campsite, for the use of this District on the Rouge River property of C.I.P. near Harrington. He and his staff have provided a campsite in a lovely setting with suitable accommodations for overnight and week-end camping. Woods trails suitable for badge tests have been provided, and the services of his specialist staff have been offered to instruct Scouts on such subjects as Fire Prevention, Fire Fighting, Tree Planting, Camping, etc.

The Brownsburg Scout Troop made use of this site over one week-end. It is hoped that this will become a popular Scout District campsite next season.

Leader Training

It is hoped that a renewed effort to raise the leadership standards will be made commencing with the new training series to be held in Rosemere on November 16. Commissioner Wilson has undertaken a survey of training requirements within the District.

Rally

The District did not hold a Scout Rally this year.

Appreciation

It is with deep appreciation that the Council acknowledges the valuable assistance of the 1st vice-president and treasurer, D. N. Atkins, and the services of the District secretary, G. H. Quinn. The chairmen and other members of the various local groups have been most tolerant and generous in providing meeting places, refreshments, etc.

The 1957-58 season should be very active and successful for Scouting in the Laurentian District. Training of District personnel to improve their efficiency must be encouraged. However, the welfare of the individual "boy" must come before all else. If only one boy in this district becomes a better citizen because of these efforts, then the reward is ample.

Chemical Institute Topic at Hawkesbury

The second meeting of the Hawkesbury Section of the Chemical Institute of Canada will be held at the Abenaki Golf Club in Hawkesbury, Thursday, November 14, at 8 p.m. Speaker will be Mr. E. K. Rogers, Director of Development at Shawinigan Chemicals, who will discuss "Canadian Research and Development Problems." This subject should be of particular interest to members of the Hawkesbury Section.

Mr. Rogers is a past chairman of the Board of Directors of the C.I.C. having held office in 1953.

All persons interested in chemistry are invited to attend this lecture.

Family Allowances are paid on behalf of Canadian children up to age 16 unless they fail to attend school, or they marry. Allowances now cost more than $100,000,000 a year, equal to about $1 in $4 of all money collected in personal income taxes.

NEW PERFECTION GREATER SELECTION

HANDIEST, HEFTIEST TRUCKS ON ANY ROAD... GMC EXTRA-VALUE MONEY-MAKERS FOR '58

They're here... and how! A brand-new crop of GMC Extra-Value Money-Makers with a raft of rugged improvements that make them really big news in trucking. Some models offer a new 9000-pound front axle for even bigger loading performance... there's a bigger-than-ever range of GVW's—up to 36,000 pounds . . . there are new engines, new styling, new handling ease.

In fact, there's a whole host of new reasons why you should make GMC pave your way to bigger profits. Your nearby GMC dealer has all the answers to your trucking problems. See him—soon!

Smart new functional styling

Dual headlights, new trim and new grille are just the beginning of GMC's smart, practical new styling. The windshield is bigger and wider—gives you an all 'round better view of the road ahead. Wide, wide fenders help the driver in turning and parking. And even in the smaller details, GMC styling surpasses them all.

Brand new Utility Panels

The most exciting newcomers to the GMC lineup in many a long day. GMC's new Utility Panels are exactly what truckers have been asking for . . . Forward Control models with steel van-type bodies in 8 and 10 foot lengths. Gross ratings go up to 10,000 pounds. And smaller wheels and tires give low loading and step heights.

GVW's up to 36,000 pounds

Gross vehicle weights go to new highs to give GMC a commanding lead in the heavy-duty field. Up to 36,000 pounds GVW is now available in W-91000 Series... ruggedly-built trucks that can really take a pounding from both the load and the road. Check body styles and features at your GMC dealer's.

New Workmaster "348" V8

This new V8 will spark a revolution in truck engines... a power plant that develops 230 horsepower and has a governed engine speed of only 3700 rpm. The engine works easily, without straining, gives you plenty of power with less wear and tear. New cylinder head and piston designs also help to increase engine efficiency.

Improved Powermatic

Powermatic was last year's big news in transmissions . . . an automatic unit that brought new ease and convenience to truck handling. And, in addition, Powermatic's exclusive Hydraulic Retarder made it safer on hills than any other. Now, Powermatic goes itself one better with the addition of an extra range for city conditions.

Full Air Brakes

Extra-large brake shoes mean better, safer, surer stops, especially when they're powered by GMC's new full-time compressed air chambers. Even biggest loads are handled easily and safely under emergency conditions. GMC's full Air Brakes are optional at slight extra cost on all Heavy Duty models.

Gélinas Discusses Comedie Theatre Production Plans

Gratien Gélinas, director and producer of the Comédie Canadienne Theatre, now undergoing extensive renovations, reveals definite plans for his theatre's inaugural season. Said Mr. Gélinas: "I am happy to announce that we will produce three Canadian plays and will present, for the first time in Montreal, two outstanding contemporary French plays. Our program involves co-operation with five artistic groups independent of the Comédie Canadienne. Those are the Theatre Club, the Rideau Vert, the Montreal Grand Opera, the Grands Ballets Canadiens and the Crest Theatre from Toronto.

"Since the first concern of the Comédie Canadienne is to establish in Montreal a truly national theatre," added Mr. Gélinas, "I would like to mention, particularly, the Canadian plays which we will have the pleasure of presenting.

"The first Canadian play to be produced will be a Felix Leclerc work presently titled 'L'Auberge des Morts Subites' (The Inn of Sudden Deaths). This is a fantasy which the author is now completing and which I will personally direct.

"We will also produce, in co-operation with the Theatre Club and under Mr. Jacques Letourneau's direction, 'When The Harvest Will Be Bent' by Roger Sinclair. This play, which was a prize-winning production at the last Regional Dramatic Festival, will be presented in French, under the title of 'Quand La Moisson Sera Courbée', as well as in English, and we hope, during the season, to present it in Toronto in English.

"Canadian author John Gray's 'Bright Sun at Midnight' will be produced this fall in Toronto by the Crest Theatre company and will later be offered at our theatre. We intend to produce this play in both languages.

"I would like to point out," added Mr. Gelinas, "that the choice of these Canadian plays for our inaugural season does not necessarily exclude other works already submitted by other Canadian authors, or plays which will be submitted in the coming weeks. These plays will be added to our list for this coming season or to our program for the next season, as soon as they have been approved by our Reading Committee.

"I would like to mention a few Canadian authors with whom we are discussing future plans: Eugene Cloutier, Eloi de Grandmont, Marcel Dube, Guy Dufresne, Mario Duliani, Jean Filiatreault, Jacques Languirand, Roger Lemelin, Louis Morisset Ernest Pallascio-Morin, Jean-Robert Remillard, Yves Thériault and Paul Toupin. English-speaking authors include Morley Callaghan, John Coulter, Paul Gardner and Hugh Kemp."

"As for myself," continued Mr. Gelinas, "even though the production of my fellow authors' plays will occupy a lot of my time, I will try during the next few months to finish a play close to my heart, a comedy about our national sport hockey, entitled 'Le Tour du Chapeau' (The Hat Trick)."

Mr. Gélinas elaborated also on plans for Montreal Grand Opera, the "Grand Ballets Canadiens" and shows by local dramatic groups. He spoke also on the policy of the new theatre enterprise.

"The Comédie Canadienne Theatre," concluded Mr. Gélinas, "will open its doors early in 1958. The complete renovation of the theatre is progressing rapidly and I hope to be able to announce in the immediate future further details concerning date of our opening."

Carolers Trio Opens Community Concerts

Season's First Recital Nov. 26

The Carolers Trio, to be heard at Lachute High School, November 26 in the first of this season's Community Concerts, is a singing group especially created to present versatile programming by some of the most talented and personable young singers on the American concert scene.

Composed of soprano Jane Wilson, tenor Jonathan Wilson, and bass-baritone Eric Carlson, accompanied by a pianist (and in special numbers by Mr. Carlson's guitar) the Trio offers an evening of music ranging from Grand Opera to folk songs to the best expression of the genius of Broadway. Each member of the ensemble has done extensive radio, television and solo concert work, bringing to the formation of The Carolers Trio a unique blend of artistry and showmanship that is calculated to win over audiences wherever they go. They were a sold-out success last season, under the sponsorship of Columbia Artists Management Inc.

The heart-warming voice of lovely Jane Wilson has become familiar to thousands of radio and TV fans as well as to the concert-going audiences of America.

Jonathan Wilson began singing as a choir boy in Mansfield, Ohio. Among more recent highlights of his career was a successful Hollywood Bowl appearance for a gala Rodgers and Hammerstein night.

Eric Carlson, whose bass voice and irresistible arrangements are among the strongest features of the Trio, is as communicative in Haydn, Mozart, Donizetti or Verdi as he is in his own settings for the great folksong favorites for which he accompanies himself on his guitar. Following an overseas tour of duty with the Army from 1941 to 1945, he joined the "Finian's Rainbow" company. Messrs. Wilson and Carlson are both known to audiences across the country as members of The Carolers, the group of five singers which was the parent ensemble of the Trio. Mr. Wilson, as director, and Mr. Carlson, as arranger, guided this older group for five seasons.

Community Concerts of Lachute, in presenting this first feature of their three-concert series, are confident all music-loving subscribers will derive satisfying enjoyment from their membership this season.

Double Trouble

Everywhere Frank Shuster goes he seems to see Johnny Wayne. No doubt this is due to the fact that the zany pair have been together in show biz for nigh on fifteen years. Their hour-long show on CBC television is sparked this season by Joan Fairfax and Denny Vaughan.

"Pastime" Radio Program On Sports and Hobbies

"Pastime", a new series devoted to participating sports and hobbies, started Saturday, November 9, on CBM, Montreal. The program, produced by the CBC Outside Broadcasts Department, will cover a variety of recreational activities ranging from chess to skin-diving.

The new series will be made up of material from various parts of the province. It is felt that coverage of participating sports has been overshadowed by spectator sports events. "Pastime" will endeavor to provide interesting items about such activities as riding, hunting, stamp collecting, fishing, gun clubs, chess, billiards and numerous other leisure time sports and hobbies.

Some of those contributing to the program are Norman McBain, Bob Brazil, Raoul Engel and Gordon Atkinson. Listeners are invited to send in their suggestions.

Tips on Touring

By Carol Lane
Women's Travel Authority

Throwing the light of common sense on your after-dark driving can eliminate many of the hazards.

With daylight hours now shorter, you may be returning from your automobile outings after dark. If so, there is really no cause for alarm. Experienced motorists I know actually prefer to drive after dark. They argue that fewer accidents occur at night time than during the day. What's more, they claim the night driver, aware that his range of vision is shortened, doesn't take as many foolish chances. Exponents of night time driving also point out that twilight or after-dark motoring is more restful on jangled nerves because usually less traffic is encountered.

Special night time bifocals or three-D lenses aren't necessary for night time driving — even if they existed — but a few simple precautions are. Have your head and tail lights carefully checked. Glaring headlights are a hazard to other motorists; dim lights, a danger to you. Be sure your car is in good working order because breakdowns are more serious after dark. Remember to drive more slowly because your distance vision isn't as good. Don't be sparing with your headlight dimmer. If you'll practice highway etiquette and dim your lights, chances are the approaching motorist will follow suit. Last, but probably most important, be sure of your directions. It's easy to lose your way after dark when highway signs are harder to see.

Have You A Question on UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE OR EMPLOYMENT?

In this column we publish questions about unemployment insurance and employment, together with answers received from the Unemployment Insurance Commission.

If you are uncertain about any point do not hesitate to send us your question. We will obtain an answer and publish it in this column.

Following are some questions with answers which may be of interest to you:

Q. We are two brothers and both of us are unemployed at present. We both contribute to the upkeep of our mother, a widow. Can we both draw benefit as persons with a dependent?

A. No. An unemployed person can claim his mother as a dependent only if (a) he maintains a self-contained domestic establishment in which he supports his mother, and (b) he is the person who wholly or mainly supports her. These conditions may apply to one of you but obviously cannot apply to both.

Q. At the time of my first claim for benefit my wife was alive, and I submitted that she was my dependent. She has since died. I have a daughter six years of age. May I draw benefits as a worker with a dependent now that I am again unemployed?

A. A person is entitled to claim as a dependent any child under the age of sixteen who is wholly or mainly maintained by him.

Winner at Desrosiers Auto Weekly Cash Drawing

A weekly drawing is now in effect for customers of Desrosiers Automobiles Inc., $25 cash being awarded to the holder of the winning ticket drawn every Saturday noon.

The ticket drawn last Saturday under personal supervision of Armand Desrosiers, proprietor, was No. 3117. The stub bears no name, but the holder of this ticket can claim the $25 award by presenting it before the end of this week.

Winners on each occasion will have one week in which to collect their prize.

Militia Colonel Resigns By Request

Lt.-Col. W. R. Buehner, above, commanding officer of the 7th Field Regiment RCA (Militia) in London, Ont., has been relieved of his command on orders of his superior officer, Brig. T. G. Gibson. After reading letter by Col. Buchner which severely criticized plans for training militia to assist civil defence, Brig. Gibson said he "felt he could no longer put confidence in him as a commander of a militia unit to carry out the policy of the department of national defence." He then asked for Col. Buchner's resignation.

RACIAL INTEGRATION

By Lewis Milligan

The problem of integrating white and colored pupils in American schools is not so easy of solution as many Canadians think. It is all very well for us who are not involved in that problem to assume a holier-than-thou attitude towards the white people of Little Rock and other parts of the Southern Sates where the colored population in some instances is as large as if not larger than the white. If we in Canada were in the same position we would be no more in favor of racial integration than the white people of the South are.

That word "integration" means much more to them than a system of education; what white parents fear is racial blood integration of their children with the colored pupils as a result of their intimate association in mixed schools. Whatever may be said against that fear as an assumption of racial superiority and a denial of equality of citizenship, it is purely a matter of natural selection. The two races have got along fairly well together since the abolition of slavery, and they realize their mutual dependence upon each other in industrial life. They work side by side in factories and business generally, and compete on an equal basis in popular sports. They are not denied education, for there are colored schools that they can attend.

From what I have seen of large cities in the United States there is no residential integration of white and colored people. Harlem in New York is an outstanding example. In Indianapolis, which I visited recently, I saw entire blocks of houses that were exclusively occupied by colored people. They seemed to be happy together and I was told that many of them were very prosperous, owning their own homes and driving their own cars. Generally speaking, the pure-blooded negro is the happiest man in the world and is free from any inferiority complex. He prefers to live and associate with his own people. It is usually the half-caste who is the trouble-maker. He seems to be at cross purposes with himself; being neither one nor the other entirely, he feels that he has had a raw deal in his birth. I was told that the half-whites were by no means favored by the full-colored people, probably because they are inclined to pride themselves on their mixed blood.

There is no doubt that the average American still regards the negroes as an inferior race. A few years ago I met a Canadian while fishing in the Kawartha Lakes who had spent half his life in the States. He was an elderly man of a kindly disposition who had retired after a successful business career and had an orange grove in Florida. He told me that he employed negroes on contract to pick and pack the oranges and in cultivation work. I asked him to tell me what he candidly thought of the negroes. "Well," he said, "a nigger is a nigger. But they are all right when they're kept in their place. They're good workers and are happy at their work. When they're all together picking in the grove one will start singing, 'O Lord!' and they'll all join in a chorus. Yes, we get along all right with them and they are well paid." Then, after a long pause he turned to me and said, "We couldn't do without the niggers, you know."

And that last remark is true. The colored American is already an integral part of American industrial, commercial, and professional life. If he has not been integrated socially it is because he is a negro and the white people prefer to associate with their own kind, just as we do here in Canada. We cannot truthfully claim that there is no color line in the social and fraternal life of Canada. One need not go into details, but, speaking generally, Canadians have no more desire to mingle socially with the comparatively few negroes in the population than have the white people of the United States.

More Food for Hungry Soils

This new fertilizer spreader, introduced recently in Quebec and eastern Ontario by the agricultural chemicals division of Canadian Industries Limited, is expected to revolutionize the use of fertilizer in these areas. The six-ton bin has two compartments for carrying fertilizer of different grades so a single trip could service fields which require different mixtures. The folding distributor hood, seen at rear, has a swath of 20 feet. Intended chiefly for fall application of bulk fertilizer on pastures and cash crops, the spreader is capable of fertilizing 15 acres in one hour. When used as a custom applicator, it saves farmers high investment and depreciation costs and many hours of labor.

BULK FERTILIZING IN FALL WITH NEW-TYPE MACHINE

Montreal — A revolution is about to happen on the farms of Quebec and eastern Ontario. It will mean more economic use of a farmer's time, reduced labor costs, less investment in equipment and greater financial return from his crops.

This revolution is: custom bulk fertilization in the fall, and the opening shot to this revolt is the introduction of a new type of fertilizer spreader by the agricultural chemicals division of Canadian Industries Limited. This machine, imported from the U.S., was recently demonstrated on pastures in the eastern townships of Quebec. It consists of a two-compartment, six-ton bin to allow different fertilizer mixtures to be carried. Accurate fertilizer rate per acre is controlled by a calibrated tail gate lever at the rear. Fertilizer is spread by means of a steel hood at the back which covers a swath 20 feet wide. A rubber apron prevents fertilizer from being blown away by the wind.

A five - horse power, air-cooled motor drives a rotary distributor which throws an even pattern of fertilizer to the ends of the hood. Horizontal draw bars on the floor of the compartments pull the fertilizer to the rear at a regulated rate in accordance with the machine's speed. These bars are activated by a small rubber wheel pressed against a rear truck wheel with a pressure of 800 pounds per square inch. The pressure is created by a drum-shaped vacuum chamber.

Ends of the distributor hood can be folded up for safe highway travel. The entire machine is mountable on a six-ton farm truck preferably equipped with multi-wheels at the rear to prevent from sinking in soft soil. The machine is run by a custom operator.

Several reasons are given by C-I-L's farm advisory service why custom fall bulk fertilization is beneficial to farmers. By having it applied by a custom operator, it eliminates cost of extra farm labor. The new applicator is speedy, capable of fertilizing 15 acres of pasture in one hour. Custom fertilization saves costs of labor, gasoline, and equipment depreciation.

Fall fertilization is a great plant booster. Aided by frost and snow over the fall and winter months fertilizer penetrates deeply into the soil to become available to deep rooted grasses and legumes required in all good pastures. Strengthened by this additional nourishment, plants go into winter in a much healthier condition to resist winter kill.

Although the custom spreader is used chiefly for the fertilization of pasture, it can also be employed on corn, potatoes, soybeans, sugar beets and tomatoes. Normally, split applications of fertilizer are preferred for these cash crops rather than a single heavy application, and it is recommended that the first application be made in autumn, using a formulation high in phosphorous and potash. During the early summer cultivation period, nitrogen should be applied. Tests by government and industry have shown that this practice results in a saving in materials and is reflected in higher yields and superior quality.

Experiments will soon be conducted by C-I-L in bog lands cultivated for market gardening. The new machine will be driven over the marsh after it has been sufficiently hardened by frost.

While custom fertilization, bulk spreading and fall application are new to these parts of Canada, agricultural authorities feel they will be commonplace in the near future so that grass and cash crop production will be less laborious and more profitable

PENCIL PUSHING

Pencil pushing is all right and necessary as far as it goes, but in feeding it is not the final answer. The final answer is given by the animal or bird that uses the feed.

It takes time and capital to get the correct answer, and most feed companies don't have either — nor are they interested in a correct answer.

It reminds me of the saying, "Figures don't lie, but liars figure." For an example: Brewer's grains are widely used in feed mixes, by both feeders and mixers. The figures I have on Brewer's Grains show they have 25.6% Protein, 20.7% Digestible Protein, and 65.5% (T.D.N.) Total Digestible Nutrients.

Now, in figuring a ration, it is nice to have a 25% Protein to put in the mix — makes a cheap ration by the bag, and that is what most feeders are looking for. Well, what about it? Purina's cows told them away back in 1937 that Brewer's Grains were so hard to digest that the value wasn't in them; so they discontinued them. . . The pencil pushers didn't have any cows, so they keep right on using them!

Even the T.D.N. of Brewer's Grains then, is not accurate, because while they are supposed to be 65.5% digestible, it is so hard to digest that its value is away lower than the figures given.

Purina Chows are made to produce the best possible results at the lowest possible cost. So beware of those feeds that are "just as good as Purina but cheaper." Insist on the genuine. . . We deliver. Order today and start making more money tomorrow!

Experiment in Potato Irradiation

One of the new methods of food preservation being investigated in Canada is gamma irradiation to inhibit sprouting of table stock potatoes during storage.

A study is being made jointly by the Horticulture Division, Experimental Farm, Ottawa, Atomic Energy of Canada Ltd., Ottawa, and the Department of National Health and Welfare, to determine the feasibility of gamma irradiation to prolong the storage life of potatoes.

If results are favorable, the use of atomic energy could benefit the Canadian potato industry in the following ways:

1. As a rule about April 1 there is still a large volume of potatoes in storage. Due to the seasonal rise in temperature the sprouting problem increases after this date.

If irradiation could be used successfully to prevent sprouting, it would mean table stock potatoes could be marketed in an orderly fashion after this time with a minimum of loss due to sprouting.

2. Canada exports table stock potatoes to such warm climates as the Southern United States, Cuba and the British West Indies. The length of the shipping season to warm climate countries is necessarily limited unless expensive refrigeration facilities are used to control sprouting during transit and after arrival. If sprouting could be prevented it would extend the period during which shipments could be made and would ensure the arrival of the potatoes in better market condition.

3. Potatoes for processing into potato chips and French fries should be stored at a temperature of 50 degrees F. or higher to obtain high quality products. Because sprouting occurs more rapidly at this higher temperature, very few potatoes are now stored at 50 degrees F. or higher in Canada, with the result that a considerable quantity has to be imported for processing purposes. If sprouting could be controlled, potatoes could be stored at the higher temperatures desired by the processing trade.

The effect of irradiation on the quality of potatoes used for potato chips is one of the tests being carried out in this experiment. Tests are also being made to determine the effect on the nutritive qualities of the potatoes. These tests include determining the changes in sugar, starch, vitamin C and other important chemical compounds. The storing and cooking qualities of the irradiated potatoes are also being studied. The potatoes used in this experiment were irradiated on December 12, 1956, and are being held at two controlled temperatures, 40 degree F. and 68 degree F.

AIR CONDITIONING FOR HENS

The market for air conditioning is being extended to poultry farms. Tests conducted by a public utility and a company making evaporative cooling equipment show that cooler hens lay more and better eggs. During two months, 950 hens in cooled chicken houses laid 29,000 eggs while 950 in uncooled houses laid 17,000. It is claimed that cooling reduces laying of thin-shelled, cracked and watery-white eggs by as much as 20%. Also shortens time needed for bringing broilers to market condition. — Marketing

There are now as many Canadians employed in manufacturing as in the combined industries of farming, forestry, fishing, mining and construction.

Large Consignment To Toronto 'Royal'

There was a busy scene at the freight depot here Monday morning as local exhibitors loaded top-quality cattle to compete in the Toronto Royal Agricultural Winter Fair.

Majority of the cattle were fine Ayrshires and Aberdeen Angus; there were breeders, however, shipping Jersey and Shorthorn entries. The Fair opens this Friday. Dairy cattle will be judged Monday and Tuesday, and beef cattle the following days.

Those loading cattle in two railway cars from Lachute last Monday were:

Erskine W. Rodger, 10 Ayrshires.

J. H. Black, 3 Ayrshires.

Albt. Leishman, 3 Ayrshires.

M. & D. Smith, 1 Ayrshire, 1 Dairy Shorthorn.

L. T. Porter, St. Andrews, 8 Aberdeen Angus.

R. McElroy, Lachute Road, 3 Jerseys.

Also in the charge of Mr. McElroy are 2 Jerseys from the H. D. Molson farm.

From Arnoldwold, Grenville, two vanloads of horses left Wednesday, travelling by road to the Exhibition. From Gilbert Arnold's stables there were approximately 40 Percherons Belgians and Canadians.

Included in this shipment was also an entry from John Heatlie & Son, Ogdensburg — a Clydesdale filly foal.

Judging of purebred horses commences Friday, with Percherons, to be followed by other breeds. It is reported the entry list of horses at the Royal is the highest on recent record.

TOMATOES ARE SHOCKED

Remarkable yields of tomatoes by "shocking" the plants with high-frequency currents are claimed by Mr. H. G. Linfield, a nurseryman of Worthing, with a difference of 30 pounds a plant being recorded this year. The National Farmers' Union have asked the Electricity Research Association to investigate the claims. — London Times, England.

Louse Control On Cattle

Each year cattle lice take a tremendous toll from the livestock industry in Canada. They prevent normal growth in young animals and reduce milk and meat production in mature cattle. If infestations are extremely severe, cattle may die. According to R. H. (Dick) Painter, Veterinary and Medical Entomology liaison officer of the Canada Department of Agriculture, this loss could easily be prevented by administering lice-killing insecticides when lice first begin to appear in the fall of the year.

Lindane, methoxychlor, rotenone, toxaphene or DDT are all effective against lice and can be applied to animals in the form of a wash, dust or spray. Regardless of the form used, the chemical must reach the skin. Although all of these chemicals will do a satisfactory job, Mr. Painter advises stockmen to use only rotenone or methoxychlor on dairy cattle or on animals within one month of slaughter, because of the toxic nature of the other chemicals.

Two common types of lice, the biting and the sucking blue lice, are prevalent on cattle in this country and symptoms of infestation are somewhat similar. Biting lice irritate the animal's skin with their sharp claws and biting mouthparts and when very abundant form colonies around the base of the tail or withers. These infested areas become covered with a light scurf under which the lice feed on raw skin. Irritation caused by blood sucking lice is more severe as they pierce the skin to get the blood. These pests form dark blue patches on folds of the skin on the head, neck, withers and along the inner surfaces of the legs. Lousy animals are quite conspicuous in a herd as they continually rub the irritated areas against fences or other objects, causing the hair to come off in patches.

Genetic Studies And Plant Breeding

An intensive study of the origin of disease resistant qualities and other agronomic features of available varieties of wheat, simplifies the plant breeder's work in the production of new varieties, Geneticist, Dr. R. G. Anderson, Cereal Breeding Laboratory, at Fort Garry, Man., says the plant breeder is usually faced with a multiplicity of difficult choices when selecting materials for a breeding program unless some preliminary genetic research is done. Often, information on available varieties of grain is scanty and has frequently been obtained under different growth conditions than those prevailing locally.

In studies concerning disease resistance in wheat at the Winnipeg Cereal Breeding Laboratory, investigations of the inheritance of stem and leaf rust resistance have been given priority. Varieties showing good resistance to one or both of these diseases have been intercrossed as a preliminary step in their analysis for resistance factors. Concurrent with these inheritance studies, various lines of Thatcher, Marquis and Prelude will be established possessing rust resistance factors from various sources. Within each variety, these lines would vary from one another by a single characteristic. It should be possible to use this material in further crosses leading to the development of lines having various combinations of leaf and stem rust resistance.

Since foreign varieties have proved valuable as a source of material for Canadian wheat improvement a constant check is made on many periodicals for announcements of new varieties or references to older ones in all countries of the world. Samples of this seed are requested when anything of potential value is mentioned. In addition, varieties are drawn from the International Rust Nursery and from FAO collections. Material obtained from these sources is studied and its possible usefulness is evaluated.

Meat-Cutting Demonstrated to Storekeepers

The Lachute section of the Food Retailers Association arranged a demonstration on meat cutting, last Wednesday in the Auditorium, attended by butchers and grocers from Lachute and surrounding centres. Jean-Louis Hénault, meat expert with the Association, is here seen before a group of interested spectators. The demonstration was followed by a discussion period. — Photo, Syd Drew

Butchers, Grocers Find 'Clinic' Idea A Helpful Feature

Grocers from Lachute, Brownsburg, St. Andrews, St. Placide, St. Hermas and other points benefitted by the meat "clinic" last week in the civic Auditorium, sponsored by the Food Retailers Association and brought to Lachute by the local branch under presidency of Theodore (Ted) Vachon.

The demonstration was given by Jean-Louis Hénault, who proved himself an expert, not only as a practical butcher but also in answering many questions directed by his audience following the demonstration. The number and variety of these questions illustrated keen interest on the part of those attending.

There appears little doubt that such features will prove beneficial to local retailers and, in turn, to the consumer public. The "clinic" idea is a recent innovation promoted by the Association, and it is hoped many more provisioners in the district will take advantage of this service.

Accompanying Mr. Hénault on this occasion was Marcel Cadrin, liaison representative of the Food Retailers Association.

Fire Damage In West End

A fire traced to children playing with oil-soaked rags caused considerable damage last Thursday to the home of Cléophas Hooper, Bedard Blvd. Flames broke out in an upstairs bedroom around 9.30 a.m., and a crew of volunteer firemen were on the scene for more than one hour.

Damage to the contents of the house was mainly restricted to smoke and water, with the exception of the one room where the fire started. The loss was partially covered by insurance.

Federation - CNIB Appeal In Pre-Christmas Spirit Outlined at Lions Meeting

A joint campaign is pending, sponsored by the Lachute Federation of Charities on behalf of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, Argenteuil Committee.

The need for this appeal was explained Tuesday at the regular Lions Club meeting, when Mayor Léopold Carrière, as chairman of the Argenteuil Committee (also a stalwart Lion) mentioned that the Federation of Charities had withheld its canvass this year in favor of the St. Jerome Diocesan Fund — but that the CNIB, as one of the beneficiaries of the Federation, was faced with increasing demands while lacking this source of financial support. It was in this manner that the Fédération had agreed to sponsor an appeal for the CNIB among the non-Catholic families — those who had not been earnestly approached in the Diocesan and Hospital appeal. Mayor Carrière outlined some of the excellent work achieved by Tony Zaplaski, field representative here, and the CNIB Argenteuil Committee — all of which requires funds.

Chairman of the coming appeal, Gordon Tabrett, was present to give an ardent boost to the cause, and to outline his canvassing campaign, in which he looked for active support from Lions Club members. The appeal will be brought before the English-speaking Protestant community shortly, in the pre-Christmas season. Mr. Tabrett, who served a community role in the last canvassing campaign of the Red Cross, was cordially acclaimed by the gathering for his fine civic spirit.

President Ernest Snadden chaired the meeting, which was occupied with a full agenda of club and community business. Details of public interest will be reported in next issue.

Old Stuff!

NOV. 24, 1882 —

At a meeting to discuss incorporation of Lachute, the main arguments against the change were — firstly, that it was too premature; secondly, that it would cost $1,000; thirdly, that a police force would be required at every council meeting; fourthly, that bridges and roads could not be arranged so as to be equitably divided.

Scottish Curlers From Rotary Club To Visit Here

LACHUTE-BROWNSBURG CLUB BRANCH VISITED BY DISTRICT GOVERNOR

District Governor Linton W. Armstrong, paid his official visit last Thursday to the Brownsburg-Lachute Rotary Club, his home branch of the organization. President King Amos paid tribute to District Governor Linton, and lauded his enthusiasm and the excellent job he had done for the district and the local club.

In addressing the Club, the District Governor stated it was over a year ago that he began to look forward to the job in which he had become so wrapped-up, and he had travelled under the name of the local Club.

He gave a report on his activities to date, mentioning he had visited 50 Clubs in District 704, there being only one official visit remaining. He spoke on his various visits to clubs with memberships ranging from 15 to more than 100.

He went on to speak on the ideals of Rotary and the various manners in which they were put into practice, and stated that in every single instance he had noticed, on his visits, the stalwarts of the Rotary Club were also the backbone of the community.

In closing, he stated that the body of Rotary International was only as strong as the individual clubs, and asked: "Are you doing your part as a member of the Brownsburg-Lachute Rotary Club?"

This Saturday, November 23, marks the visit in Lachute of 20 Scottish Rotarians, who will be entertained at the Lachute Curling Club by the Brownsburg-Lachute Rotary and officials of the Hawkesbury and St. Jerome Clubs.

The visitors are being lodged by various members of the local Club, and will continue on their tour of Ontario, Quebec and New York State Sunday, when the local Rotarians turn them over to officials of the Ottawa Rotary Clubs.

Duplessis To Ask Larger Share of Federal Revenues

THIS WEEK IN QUEBEC
By Guy Rondeau,
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Quebec (CP) — The Provincial Government this week called fo a larger share of Federal tax revenues collected in Quebec.

The Speech from the Throne in augurating the annual legislature session said the continuing industrial development of the province makes large government expenditures "imperative".

These in turn will require "a more complete use of the revenue sources which the Canadian constitution recognizes as belonging to the provinces, to the Province of Quebec particularly."

The speech said a Federal - Provincial Conference is to take place in Ottawa November 25-26 and the Quebec premier will "again express the present government's constant policy in constitutional matters."

Quebec is the only province in Canada which collects its own direct taxes on Personal income, Corporation income, and Successions.

Quebec taxpayers can deduct 10 per cent of their federal income tax, 9 per cent of the Corporation tax, and 50 per cent of the Inheritance tax for provincial purposes.

Government circles say the premier now will ask the Federal Government to allow larger deductions. He is expected to seek a full 15 per cent deduction matching more closely the rate of the Quebec tax on personal income.

In the speech, the government reasserted its view that education is exclusively a provincial field. It said health problems will continue to be solved "without compromising essential rights."

As the annual session opened, it was indicated that the provincial government had decided to take strong measures to deal with the congestion of unheard cases in Quebec courts.

Premier Duplessis announced government plans to ask the Legislature to approve a bill creating what he termed "an Intermediary Court of Appeals." It was not immediately clear what the precise jurisdiction of the new court would be, but apparently its judges would be appointed by the provincial government.

In addition, the government plans to bring down bills to increase to 30 from 25 the number of judges of the court of sessions of the peace and to 48 from 45 the number of district judges. Launching the traditional debate on the throne speech in the Legislative Assembly, Dr. J. Emile Fortin, recently elected Union Nationale member from Megantic, said state paternalism in the field of Public Health must be avoided.

Then, perhaps indicating an official Quebec government view, Dr. Fortin said Public Health is a provincial matter.

"The role of the state in Public Health matters belongs to the provinces. Evidently, the Fathers of Confederation could not foresee the needs of modern development but they thought, rightfully, that a field as intimately linked to the . . . traditions of a people should fall under the jurisdiction of the provinces."

W. I. Branches Report Activities in November

Frontier W.I. branch held a Hallowe'en party recently for the children.

Delegates from this branch reported on the semi-annual County convention and the Federated convention in Ottawa. Mr. Mansel Wilson showed slides of forest-lands around the Gulf of Mexico.

Jerusalem - Bethany heard a talk by Mrs. Harland on England and the customs of the W.I. to which she once belonged.

A white elephant sale netted $8.25, and a guessing contest $2.50. These events were to help augment the funds. Poppies were sold.

At Lachute W.I., films were shown on Royal Doulton chinaware.

Lakefield members heard Dr. Suzanne MacKimmie, who gave an interesting talk on cancer. Poppies were sold, and $5 was given as a gift to a member in appreciation of her help to a needy family.

Mille Isles delegates gave a full report of the semi-annual County convention. Christmas cards and poppies were sold. The Educational Emergency Fund and the Service Fund were subscribed to.

Pioneer branch held a social evening at the home of one of the members, when old and new friends met together. A sale of home-made jams and pickles added to the treasury.

At Upper Lachute - East End, a list of handicraft courses was read, and there was a short discussion about taking one of these courses. Dr. J. U. MacEwan, chairman of the Department of Metallurgy, McGill College, and a member of the Committee of Protestant Education for the Province of Quebec, gave a splendid talk on "Citizenship."

New Ottawa Valley Association Fostering Public Interest in Development of River

Contributed by the St. Andrews East Chamber of Commerce

Recent press releases regarding the joint development of the Ottawa River and the Richelieu River in the near future for inland water transportation, are both interesting and timely. The "near future" seems to be the logical time to effect the development of these two channels, because the Canadian people are very "waterway conscious" at present (due to the St. Lawrence Seaway project now in progress) and because dredges and other required equipment are readily available. The Ottawa and Richelieu channels have a bright future before them. They aid greatly as feeders to and receivers from the larger St. Lawrence Waterway in the distribution of commodities. They can also facilitate the decentralization of industry from Montreal and other adjacent cities, and thereby contribute actively towards civil defence.

In arousing and fostering public interest (throughout the Quebec side of the lower Ottawa Valley) in the development of the Ottawa channel, the St. Andrews East Chamber of Commerce has done much, and is still very active. This wide-awake group is endeavoring to build up a strong, efficient organization in the newly formed Ottawa Valley Development Association, similar in structure to the already existing Eastern Ontario Development Association and designed to function along similar lines, with a permanent office and manager to look after its interests and activities. The newly-formed Association is deeply indebted to the Ontario body for the encouragement and assistance already received and it is most anxious that this friendly goodwill and co-operation should continue and grow, for the benefit and advantage of both Associations concerned. The governments at Ottawa and Quebec have been approached by the new Association and have shown considerable interest in the aims and intentions of this body. The new Association is now seeking the active co-operation and financial support of the various Chambers of Commerce and communities throughout its side of the Ottawa Valley, by means of press releases, circular letters and public meetings. In this connection it is meeting with a friendly response.

It is quite obvious to all that the Ottawa and Richelieu channels are not identical in nature, and that they will present their own peculiar problems and difficulties for development. In this connection, the official spokesmen for the St. Andrews East Chamber of Commerce — Mr. L. T. Porter, Jr., Mr. Antoine Paré and Mr. Paul Labreche — would like to point out four important and significant features in the Ottawa channel development:

1. A LARGE WATERWAY, 120 miles long, consisting of two large lakes (one from Montreal to Carillon, and the other from Carillon to Hull and Ottawa), 30 feet in depth and 2,500 feet in width (average) — excepting the three sections at Ile Perrot, the Long Sault and the approaches to Hull and Ottawa — which are approximately 300 feet wide and where dredging will be necessary;

2. MANY EXCELLENT natural turning basins (where ships can be loaded or unloaded quickly and can be turned around easily and safely) throughout the wider and deeper stretches of its channel;

3. MANY SPLENDID SITES well adapted by nature for the establishment of industries needing water transportation, as well as for the construction of docks, storage sheds, etc.;

4. THE PRESENCE of railway lines already operating in the area nearby. Both the Canadian National and the Canadian Pacific have lines in operation which could be readily connected to future industrial and dock developments.

Both the Ottawa and Richelieu Rivers have played major roles in the development of Canada in early pioneer days. With suitable changes and developments to enable them to meet more modern requirements, these two important waterways can and will make a worthwhile contribution to the further growth and expansion of our Canadian economy.

At Community Concert, Nov. 26

"To carol" is to sing joyfully, the dictionary says. The Flint (Mich.) Journal thinks this definition aptly suits the performance of The Carolers, who had their name custom-made. This unusual trio — Jane Wilson, Jonathon Wilson and Eric Carlson — will give a happy send-off to the Community Concerts season, when they perform here at Lachute High School next Tuesday, November 26. All members of the local Association are anticipating this recital with pleasure. (Note: The program will commence at 8.45 p.m., instead of the usual hour, 8.30.)

Nearly $1-Million Subscribed To St. Jerome Diocesan Fund

$136,488 For New Hospital

William G. Power, president of the firm of Desroches & Power Inc., is seen at the closing dinner of the Diocesan Campaign (at which he was host), addressing the campaigners and key workers. At the speaker's left is His Excellency Bishop Emilien Frenette, and at his right, Lucien-G. Rolland, general chairman of the campaign.

Last Thursday, William G. Power, president of Desroches & Power Inc., held a "farewell" dinner terminating his leadership of the St. Jerome Diocesan Fund. In a brief speech, Mr. Power reported that the campaign had been an outstanding success, and that the objective of $750,000 had been surpassed by $197,924.32 — making a grand total of $947,924.32. He added that, when all cards are reported, the final total might reach $1,005,424.32 if all pledges are honored.

From this figure, an amount of $136,488.05 will be allotted to the Lachute Hospital Building Fund, leaving net proceeds of $868,936.27 to the diocesan projects.

Mr. Power took this opportunity to publicly thank His Excellency, Bishop Emilien Frenette, general campaign chairman Lucien G. Rolland, and the chairman of all divisions for their splendid support. "Without this support," he added, "such results would never have been achieved." Special tribute was also paid to the great contribution which was made by each and every worker whose door-to-door canvassing aided this great enterprise in such a tangible way.

"In response to Bishop Frenette's request for their assistance, the generosity of all the faithful in the diocese, including summer residents, was remarkable," said Mr. Power. "The Bishop will now be able to go ahead with his numerous projects immediately."

Lachute was represented at this closing function by Messrs. Gilbert Ayers, Roger Régimbal, Gérard Lefebvre and Rodrigue Quesnel.

Local Forums Advocate Supervised Farm Credit

Argenteuil Farm Forums are pretty well agreed that supervised farm credit would be a good thing. East Settlement says, "It is the only answer to solve the financial problems of our young farmers who do not have a 'Family Farm' for support." Harrington believes that "supervision is perhaps necessary, and should work to the benefit of both the government and the farmer." Odgensburg says, "Yes and no. An experienced farmer does not need supervision, but for a young man starting in, it would be a great help." More than 75% of all Quebec Forums thought supervision would be welcomed, and 12 said it was a necessity.

Arundel Forum No. 1 thinks a farmer should be able to borrow about 75% of the capital needed to farm. Only two groups, Harrington and Jerusalem - Bethany, thought that less than 75% of the required capital should be available as credit.

Estimates of capital necessary to commence farming varied. Harrington said that, to buy land, buildings, machinery and stock for a mixed farm, about $40,000 would be needed. Lachute Road suggested $25,000 would be required. Upper Lachute replied, "We came to the conclusion that a farmer would need about $20,000 to start — more or less depending on how far in debt he'd want to start." Over 75% of the other Quebec Forums suggested that at least $15,000 would be needed.

All the groups agree that dealer credit is neither satisfactory nor economical. Two mentioned that it is sometimes necessary. Lachute Road believes it is helpful to a certain extent, but should not be carried too far.

(Findings on recent Farm Forum topics, among the Argenteuil branches, are also summarized on the Farm Page.)

November Meeting Of Fish-Game Protective Assocn.

A nominating committee consisting of Messrs. Eddie Barker, John Duncan and Dorius Lepine was named at the November meeting of the Argenteuil Fish and Game Protective Association, held in the Brownsburg Legion Hall on Monday evening.

A general discussion on hunting laws of interest to all members, was the main item of concern on the business side of the meeting, and it was suggested that these questions be directed to Gordon Cooke, the local Game Warden, who has assured President Syd Drew of his attendance at the next meeting, to be held December 16 in the Lachute Legion Hall.

A silver collection netted $9.50 for the Association funds, and several new memberships were taken out by those present.

A discussion on rabies, which now seems prevalent in this district, cleared many doubtful minds.

The door prize, a stainless steel cutlery set donated by Leonard Bedard, was won by Dorius Lepine.

Colin McOuat showed several films on moose hunting and fishing, taken by himself on the B.L.M. Club lease, north of Maniwaki — after which the meeting was adjourned.

Last Call for Annual Appeal, Salvation Army

It is reported by Geo. Y. Deacon, perennial chairman of the Salvation Army "Red Shield" appeal in this district, that the response this year has been encouraging. On behalf of the "Army" Mr. Deacon extends thanks to all who have contributed.

A total approximating $1,000 is returned annually from the Lachute district to aid the Salvation Army in its fine, humanitarian work. The collection, thus far, is somewhat short of this total, and any who have not contributed are asked to forward their donations without delay, as Mr. Deacon is anxious to close the canvass and report final results.

Maple Syrup Winner at 'Royal' Related Here

Toronto (BUP) — The Royal Winter Fair says Quebec has better maple syrup than Ontario—settling a long feud between the two provinces over the merits of their product.

Quebec walked off with 18 of 19 prizes awarded at the fair Saturday for maple products. Ontario claimed only a fourth in the maple syrup division.

Highest honors for Quebec sugar went to C. Curtis, of East Hatley, with his syrup, maple butter and maple sugar.

At St. Andrews After Memorable Arctic Voyage

(Our District Correspondent)

St. Andrews East — Petty Officer William Bryson spent five days latterly visiting members of his family in St. Andrews East.

Petty Officer Bryson has spent the past two years on the Canadian Navy's Arctic patrol ship, "H.M.C.S. Labrador" . . . The job the country heard most about on the last trip of this vessel was their finding of a navigable channel through Bellot Strait — the Northwest Passage. They spent 109 days at sea and approximately two weeks opening this passage, which will enable ships to reach the Arctic coast with greater ease. The "Labrador", which is the first ship of its kind to go through Bellot Strait, cut through these icy waters six times in each direction.

Good Haul for Hunters North of Papineauville

Argenteuil Outdoors

A column for the sportsman

— By BOB ATCHISON —

With the hunting season just about over, we can all look back on some good times, either with good companions or good dogs. Maybe we didn't get our deer or whatever we were after, but at least we have pleasant memories. . . Just wait until next year, though!

There have been some very nice kills pass through the area. Of course, a lot of them are from outside the County, but nevertheless it has been pretty good in this region. By the looks of things there should be a very good crop next year, and maybe the government will close the season on does and fawns.

Wolves are being reported all over the place. A heifer and lamb were killed near Lakefield, and there are reports that they have slashed and mauled other animals. There should be some profitable hunting around, and if you have dogs, it will make it a lot better. It takes a lot of planning to stage a good hunt, however.

* * *

More on Bass Bugs: They are good and dry by now, so the next step is getting some feathers. It doesn't have to be any special kind. Cut the feathers about the size of a nickel, keeping the rib as the centre. That way they will be just like a small fan. Place these on the centre of the cork at right-angles to the hook. Bind them with heavy thread, keeping the feathers flat. Bind thread on the hook at the end of the body. Place waterproof glue at each end, and there you have the bug finished, except the painting. They can be painted any shade you like.

During the off-season you can make yourself a few dozen of these and have a lot of fun doing it.

Now, it isn't necessary to have a fly-rod to use them. Your spinning-rod is just as good. Don't try for distance with these bugs, as you won't get it. But you will have good fishing around all the weeds, etc., as the bug is popped and you see a bass come tearing out of the water to swallow it. You will find out, the more you use them the more fish you get.

The question of pollution in game waters has become a big thing to all outdoorsmen today. There are some very strict regulations in this field. For example, in Oregon the law is that anyone found guilty of this offence is liable to a heavy fine, plus imprisonment. That is applicable to firms and individuals alike. But we don't have to travel that far to find the same laws apply. Incidentally, pollution means "to contaminate water (etc.) with refuse of any kind, raw sewage, chemicals, oils of any type, sawdust, refinings," and so on.

As you can see, a multitude of sins are covered. So anyone may be guilty of this offence without knowing about it. There are dozens of places around that would sure be paying fines right now into the town coffers, if it were enforced.

The rabbits are not very plentiful around this area just now. But it's good shooting to get a couple on a week-end. And real good eating if you like rabbit (I do). The way they break for good cover makes for fast shooting. You'd be surprised at the times you miss when they are picking them up and laying them down. Here's a funny little story that happened to us (myself, wife and friend — I won't mention his name). We were out after rabbits one cold day last winter; nice new snow, but not a shot for a couple of hours. We stopped to have a smoke. Friend was leaning right beside a small cedar. We were about 20 feet from him. We spotted a rabbit under the cedar. Quite happy about it all — getting friend's attention to the rabbit was no trouble, and he was soon on his way from the cedar. Friend tries to whistle to make him jump — blows his false choppers into the snow, and misses his shot! There was so much laughter around that if there were any rabbits they were safe from any shot we may have fired at them!

The different companies producing fishing tackle are putting a lot of new equipment on the market. I guess we'll have to wait until spring to try them out. The South Bend Co. have a new fly-line that is supposed to be truly waterproof, kink-proof, everything proof! It may be. I'll give it a try in the next couple of weeks and find out for myself and let you know. Some of the new spinning reels look very good, but looks don't count much. The more extra gadgets that are put on reels, the easier they break.

The outbreak of Rabies around is not too bad as yet, but it can get a lot worse. There have been 29 cases around the province so far, and that is only in domesticated animals. It's hard to say how bad the wildlife have been hit. I hope that it breaks with the cold weather.

* * *

I was given some information that should be passed on to all sportsmen in the Argenteuil Fish and Game. It seems that some sport locally is getting hunters in from Montreal at so much per, and selling them deer if they don't manage to get one. This same gent makes darned sure he doesn't lead them to any. It's just too bad that one louse will spoil everything for the honest sportsman. Maybe the Wardens can find out something. Let's hope so.

Tempo Increases In Lachute Ladies' Curling Events

In the ladies' curling circles, play has been going on all week for the Club Trophy, and on Tuesday afternoon the finals were played between Mrs. George Mitchell, Mrs. W. W. Freeland, Mrs. Fred Jeffrey, Mrs. R. O. MacLean, and Mrs. A. D. McGibbon, Mrs. A. G. Giles, Mrs. E. O. Pollock, Mrs. H. K. Rutherford. Mrs. Mitchell and her rink won out, 6-5, after a very close and exciting contest. Following the game, tea was served to the players, in the clubrooms.

Last week the following ladies were entertained at the Chantecler Curling Club in a friendly bonspiel: Mrs. G. G. Mitchell, Mrs. R. M. Cairns, Mrs. E. O. Pollock, Mrs. Fred Royal. The visitors reported a very enjoyable day.

On Wednesday the first games were played in the Turkey Bonspiel, and play is continuing through the week.

Ontario-Quebec Hockey League Opens Sunday

(Our District Correspondent)

Brownsburg — Four teams — Hawkesbury, Ste. Anne de Bellevue, Brownsburg and Alexandria, will square off Sunday in another Quebec-Ontario Hockey League opening this season. Each team, with the possible exception of Alexandria, will have a fairly familiar roster. Brownsburg will probably ice a few more imports than is their wont, and the other two teams will have a few new faces, but it is expected that Alexandria's team will be a completely new outfit from Cornwall.

Hawkesbury is the only team without an artificial ice pad, and the schedule has been set to allow them to play most of their home games later in the season.

The opener, Ste. Anne's at Hawkesbury, and Brownsburg at Alexandria, is set for Sunday, November 24. The complete schedule will be published next week. Meanwhile, the home games scheduled for Brownsburg Arena, are advertised elsewhere on this page.

Soviet Team to Open Hostilities On Toronto Ice

SPORTS CAMERA

By Ron Andrews, Canadian Press Staff Writer

How good is the Russian hockey team? Canadians will be able to judge for themselves this week when the Moscow Dynamos embark on a two-week exhibition tour of seven eastern Canada cities.

Hockey fans will have a chance to see whether the Russians are as good as they have appeared in defeating two Canadian teams in the last four years, or whether it was a case of the Canadian squads not measuring up to expectations.

Those who saw the Russians beat Toronto Lyndhurst's in 1954, lose to Penticton V's the following year, and then beat Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen in 1956, say the Dynamos should not be under-rated.

Bobby Bauer, who coached the losing Kitchener-Waterloo club last year at Cortina, Italy, says the Russians might not impress too much when they play here.

Like Big Rinks

"Don't be deceived by how the Russians play on their Canadian tour," Bauer said recently. "The Russian players are bothered by indoor rinks. They play much better on those big, outdoor ice surfaces.

"On a big ice surface you have to check the Russians closely. Canadian teams always find it tougher to check in those 100-foot-wide European rinks than they do in even the large arenas in Canada such as Toronto's Maple Leaf Gardens."

Bauer said the reverse might be the case for the Russians in Canada. They will not be used to the smaller rinks and perhaps their open style of passing might be affected, he said.

Dynamos open their tour in Toronto November 22 against Whitby Dunlops, Canada's representatives in the 1958 world championships at Oslo, Norway.

Then they have games at Windsor November 24; Kitchener November 26; Sudbury November 28; Montreal December 1; Kingston December 3; and Ottawa December 5.

All seven games will be played under European rules. George Dudley, secretary-manager of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, has announced that two officials from the Ontario Hockey Association will handle the games in Ontario and two from Montreal will officiate in the games at Montreal and Ottawa.

Most important difference in the rules is that bodychecking is permitted only in a team's own half of the ice. Board checking is not allowed at all.

Lachute High Wins Friday Night Basketball Tilts

By Roland Gow

On the evening of November 15 Lachute High School played host to the Senior boys' and Senior girls' basketball teams from Buckingham.

The boys defeated Buckingham in a rather one-sided game, 35-1. In the first half, towering Wayne Bradford emerged top scorer with a total of 4 baskets, to crown a first-half total of 16 points for Lachute. During the second half Lachute's Art Gauley scored another 8 points with his excellent jump-shot. Buckingham's solitary point came, late in the second half, from a foul shot.

The top scorers were Wayne Bradford with 12 points and Art Gauley with 11. Kenny Underhill, Art Gauley and Jackie Lavis made up the three-star selection.

Lachute's Senior girls won their season opener 36-5. Betty Underhill came top scorer in both halves, with a total of 22 points out of the 36. This, also, was an exciting but one-sided game, with Lachute playing well in their first-of-the-season.

Betty Underhill, with 22 points, and Carol Parker, with 11, were the top scorers — Captain Jean Taylor, Betty Underhill and Roslyn Croucher taking the stars.

DE SOTO FOR 1958

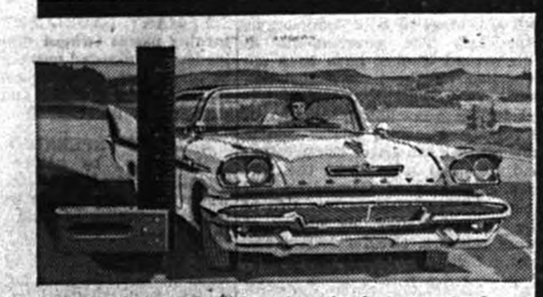

Here's a brand-new kind of motoring magic—De Soto for 1958!

This new De Soto is the last word in quality craftsmanship and advanced engineering! For 1958, the biggest V-8 engines in De Soto history team up with the modern convenience of push-button Torque-Flite automatic drive. You "tune in" the power with a finger tip, gently nudge the throttle, and smooth, silent Torque-Flite instantly answers your command!

You'll find De Soto's ride just as spectacular as its response, too! It's a satin-smooth, sure-footed, road-holding ride, thanks to revolutionary Torsion-AIRE suspension.

Come try a new De Soto Firedome or Fireflite—two great new series for 1958 in your choice of ten models!

Torsion-AIRE Ride takes the bounce out of bumps, brings you around turns without sidesway, lets you stop without "nose-dive". Only Torsion-AIRE suspension system does all three!

Push-button driving. Modern, all-mechanical push-button controls make lever-shifting obsolete! Just press a button and away you go!

See the 1958 De Soto and drive it! De Soto is designed to stay new, to keep its new-car style and spirit! • Smart, aerodynamic tail fins increase stability at highway speeds • New dual headlights spread more light over more road area for safer night driving • New optional Sure-Grip differential prevents spinning the rear wheels in sand, mud, snow, or on ice • New, luxurious interiors are roomier, give you more comfort than ever before.

EDITORIAL NOTES...

"In this Parliament are three Estates, the Lords Spiritual, the Lords Temporal and the Commons; but in the Reporters' Gallery yonder sits a Fourth Estate more important far than all."
— Edmund Burke

"All Things Cometh – "

THERE'S AN OLD parody on an old adage, which goes: "All things cometh to him that waiteth." . . Long and patiently we have waited for new lighting on Main Street, and The Watchman has plugged more patiently, more vigorously than any other agitator for this improvement. At last, that improvement is forthcoming. Bright and early Monday morning, Gatineau linemen were busy installing 26 lighting units on the centre-ward section of Main Street — expecting to finish the job next day. The 300-watt General Electric units are mounted on an upsweep bracket, the light being eight feet from the pole, reflected to the roadway and away from the buildings. The type and specifications conform to recommendations of a G-E lighting engineer, who made a specific study of the situation at request of Town Council. The 26 lights replace 30 lower-powered lamps which have glimmered dejectedly over the surroundings as long as we can remember.

We hesitate to assess the bad impression which has accrued through the years, as strangers entered Lachute after dark and encountered the gloom of Main Street. True, this has been offset in some measure by the emergence of neon signs, erected in more recent times by private initiative. But only last Sunday evening as we returned to Lachute from the southwestern approach, we were inwardly appalled by the poor street-lighting which discredited our town.

Now this situation has been remedied, in part. We hope our visitors will forget the grim past. And we hope this improved lighting will be extended, especially to the westward, where retail business merits the consideration of safe passage for traffic and pedestrians.

A Paradox For Ripley

IN THE RUSH and bustle of our materialistic times, there is solace for the tired business man in the fact that he can relax, turn on his radio or television at reasonable times, and hear the Big Four results or the NHL hockey scores. This is no spectacular privilege, of course; it is regarded as the just right of democratic citizenship, synonymous with Liberty and Freedom and all the glorious qualities we brag about.

What, then, about the privileges of citizenship in our North West Territories and other more remote but equally Canadian parts? It may surprise our readers to learn that the people of Whitehorse, Yukon, have to listen to Russian stations beamed directly at them, because the CBC has not, allegedly, given them service. Rolf B. Rougen, president of the Whitehorse Board of Trade, charges this "scandalous" situation is a direct result of the fact that the CBC has failed to make available a direct line from Edmonton.

Russia gives the 6,000 population national hockey league scores almost as soon as the games are over. The CBC gives them one 15-minute news broadcast a day and "the odd" recorded program three to six weeks old — according to the complaint.

The only radio station in Whitehorse, it seems, is operated voluntarily by the Canadian Army. It is supposed to be on the air from 7 a.m. to 1 a.m. daily "but actual hours depend on whether there is anybody there to switch on."

There is no law against Moscow trying to sell the Soviet Republic abroad. That fact is patent in a publication which regularly reaches our desk — Illustrated News of the U.S.S.R., a magazine in a colorful cover, with very lively articles and quality photographs on the arts, sciences, culture, biography and sport in Russia. Altogether a very readable publication. It is in the French language, incidentally; we have seen no English edition, although there is doubtless an equivalent printed in English. First impression, however, is that this publicity is being directed to Quebec — which, despite its spasms of internal hysteria, plays second fiddle to NO other province in Canadianism, and would seem the least vulnerable to Communist persuasion.

There is no law against this propaganda, as we previously observed. But if the charge in Whitehorse is true to fact, and residents depend upon Russia for their radio news — it would seem to indicate there is something wrong: that the CBC is falling short of its obligations, and thereby encouraging the inroads of foreign thought. . . The situation calls for a remedy.

The Hole in the Doughnut

YOU WOULDN'T THINK groundhogs, bunions and doughnuts had any common ground. But, in a way, they do.

Groundhogs enjoy a measure of popularity, earned or otherwise, as amateur long-term weather forecasters. This is indicated by the recognition given annually to Groundhog Day when observers watch to see whether the little animals see their shadow and thus herald six more weeks of winter.

Bunions, for those that have them, are short-term amateur weather barometers. Pain means rain.

And now doughnuts are making a play for the secondary role of amateur economists.

An announcement by the "Donut Institute" says that, beginning next year, the hole in the doughnut will be one-quarter inch smaller. The explanation: When times are prosperous the hole gets smaller and you get more doughnut. In bad times it gets larger — less doughnut.

Some may think the only place for a doughnut is between the thumb and forefinger poised over a steaming cup of coffee.

But for those who like economics in uncomplicated form, the doughnut is a natural. . . You're not sure whether to make an investment? Take a coffee break and study the hole in the doughnut; compare it against earlier measurements and decide whether the economy is sound.

Thus doughnuts, bunions and groundhogs have this in common — they manage to intrude on fields of endeavor which, at first glance, would appear completely unconnected with them.

Such versatility may be regarded as strange in this age of increasing specialization. But maybe it will give some encouragement to those who hanker for the (good?) old days when, for example, a doctor was a doctor and you didn't have to check your dictionary before deciding whether you needed an obstetrician, pediatrician, or dermatologist; or when you called the local handyman whether you had a leaky faucet, a broken window or a stuffed stovepipe.

That is, it offers encouragement to those old-timers unless — perish the thought — doughnut makers have hired a batch of economists to make exhaustive studies of economic trends before deciding whether the doughnut's hole is to be larger or smaller.

Canada's Major Achievement

THE SUCCESSFUL launching on November 3 of Russia's second space satellite carrying a dog is a major achievement in the field of stellar science. No one in his right mind — scientist or layman — minimizes the importance and significance of this marvellous feat.

But the timing of the second satellite was unfortunate for Canada. It pushed off the front pages and tended to minimize the importance of a major Canadian achievement in the science of atomic energy.

Some seven hours after the Russian dog-carrying satellite soared into space, Canadian scientists put into operation the free world's most powerful atomic research reactor.

This reactor — an experimental machine and not an atomic power plant — is housed in a huge building at Canada's multi-million-dollar atomic research establishment at Chalk River, Ont., 130 miles northwest of Ottawa. It is known by the code name NRU — National Research Universal.

The launching of the Soviet satellite was by far the most spectacular story. However, the design and building of NRU at a cost of $57,000,000 also represents a spectacular contribution to research in the mysteries of the atom.

It is even more spectacular when it is realized the Canadian resources for scientific research are minute compared with those of the Soviet Union, the United States and Britain. Yet Canada has built and now is operating an atomic research tool of a type which is as good as, if not better than, any similar machine anywhere in the world.

Atomic Energy of Canada Limited, the crown company which operates the Chalk River project, had this to say when it announced that NRU had come into operation:

"As a tool for research, engineering development and testing, the NRU reactor will be unsurpassed."

NRU will produce significant quantities of plutonium, the metal used in atomic bombs. However, its main purpose is for experiments in the development of electricity-producing nuclear power stations and for manufacturing a wide variety of radioactive isotopes used in medicine, industry, agriculture and research.

THERE WAS some early grumbling — but it would appear now that for the most part Canada's Militia, formerly known as the Reserve Army, has accepted its new role in civil defence work. There remains a very real job to be done in civil defence.

The Methodist Church at Brownsburg will hold its opening services on Sunday.

Mr. H. C. Cornish, of Vankleek Hill, has been appointed president of the Hill Hockey Club.

Citizens of Lachute are tendering a banquet to Mr. P. A. Lafleur, who during his 14 years' connection with O. B. Lafleur & Son, has done much in bringing the furniture factory to its present high standard.

Mr. Edward Morrison has disposed of his log slide, flumes and sawmill at Montfort, to the Laurentian Lumber Company, for a sum in the neighborhood of $9,000, and has purchased the Jones limit back in the Glen, where a large staff of men are now erecting a boarding house and improving the mill.

25 YEARS AGO

November 24, 1932 —

Gilbert E. Arnold, of Grenville, widely known as a breeder of Percheron horses, has taken the American Belgian Horse Breeders' trophy at the Royal Winter Fair in Toronto. The award is for the best stallion or horse on exhibition, and is a coveted prize among competitors at this show.

The annual Convention of Rural Teachers for this district, although held this year somewhat later than usual, was rewarded with a successful and interesting outcome, as 40 teachers gathered on Sunday at the Lachute High School to discuss matters of educational concern.

Who was James Knight?

James Knight was a Hudson's Bay Company governor-in-chief during the early part of the 18th century. He founded Fort Churchill and later perished with an expedition of northern discovery. A governor-in-chief of the Hudson's Bay Company posts in Hudson Bay, he traded with the Indians of York Factory and Fort Churchill in 1717. He returned to England the next year and was placed in command of an expedition "to find out the Straight of Anian, in order to discover gold and other valuable commodities, to the northward." The expedition miscarried, and Knight and his crews perished on Marble Island in Hudson Bay.

For what is the community of Glammis, Ont., noted?

This hamlet is noted for the large number of ministers and teachers who have gone out from its two churches — Presbyterian and Baptist. Records show that as early as 1880 its Presbyterian church, a log building seating 350, was holding Sunday services and Thursday prayer meeting in both English and Gaelic.

Who wrote the poem, "Leetle Bateese"?

"Leetle Bateese", one of a series of very popular poems in French Canadian dialect, was written by William Henry Drummond, a physician who practised in both rural Quebec and Montreal. He was born in Ireland and studied at Montreal High School and Bishop's College, Lennoxville, where he received his M.D. in 1883. His best-known volume of dialect verse, The Habitant, was published in 1897 and others followed. Drummond had a great affection for the habitant; his poems are both humorous and pathetic. They enjoyed wide popularity and helped to create a better understanding between French and English Canadians.

When was the first Girl Guide Company formed in Canada?

The Girl Guide movement came to Canada in 1910, the year after its formation in England, when a company was formed in St. Catharines, Ont. Within a few years there were companies from coast to coast. Canada has been a full member of the World Association since 1928. National headquarters are in Toronto.

Of Many Things

— By Ambrose Hills —

Snap Into It!!

Two hours from now I'll catch a train. Because I must be away from home for five days, I've had to work like blazes to get caught up and a bit ahead of schedule. Except for this column, everything had been completed. My briefcase is in order, my suitcase packed, my office desk clean as a bone. Am I all pooped out because of this effort?

Not at all. Surprising thing is, I feel like a million.

For three days before my departure I fretted about the maze of things that had to be done, the details to be looked after. Made me dizzy thinking about it. Then, a day before the deadline, I said to myself, "Look, Hills, you'd better snap into it."

It was amazing how quickly things got done when I stopped stewing and started working. As each assorted item was cleared away, I felt a new release and a new sense of energy. The things that tire you most are the things left undone.

So I've made a resolution. I'm never going to let myself procrastinate again. I'm going to start a little ceremony each morning when I shave. I'm going to tell that face in the mirror to snap into it.

Ever marvel at how much work one man can do? They say that John Diefenbaker has gone as many as 41 hours without taking to his bed — satisfies himself with a few cat naps now and again. Yet he looks spryer than when he took on the tremendous job of Prime Minister. Louis St. Laurent was another prodigious worker, yet he always gave the impression of being in command of the situation. The hard worker is in command; it is the procrastinator who frets and stews.

I know that I am a procrastinator. Mind you, most of my friends and acquaintances think I work like a dog; and perhaps, by normal standards, I am a hard worker. Yet I know, through experience, that I could get through tons more work and feel better for it if I extended myself. To be blunt, most of my friends are tremendously lazy; I'm just a little bit lazy. I mean, I used to be lazy.

From now on, I'm going to snap into it every day. I feel better when I'm on top of my work. The more I do the peppier I feel. Right at this moment, I feel positively vigorous.

Want to feel the same way? Then, my friend, snap into it! You'll know what I mean in a couple of hours.

"Talk about stubborn!" said my friend Bill. "Old Bert was the most obstinate farmer I ever met.

"Bert would say: 'I'm going out to hoe four rows of strawberries'. And he would finish the job he had set himself to do, even if it took far into the night, or if rain started coming down.

"The funny thing was that he would expect his wife to have dinner ready the minute he came back. He didn't tell her how long he was going to be; he'd just say he was going to hoe four rows, and she'd have to figure it out for herself.

"But if dinner wasn't on the table when he walked in the door, he'd walk out again back to work, and he wouldn't have any dinner.

"The amount of work he got through was tremendous. He had a rocky field to clean up and he wasn't satisfied until every rock and every pebble was off that field and piled into a heap about 10 feet high.

"One time a fellow I know found Bert in his dairy, winding away on a hand separator — but instead of the cream going in a pail, it was all running on the floor.

" 'Hey, move your bucket', the man said. 'Cream's all running on the floor'. Old Bert looked up and answered: 'Where she puts 'ee, I leave 'ee'. He was a man from Somersetshire in England, and he always talked like that.

"Bert said it was his wife's job to place the pail, and he wouldn't touch it."

"Come on, Bill, you don't expect me to believe that, surely," I objected. "The man just let the cream run away?"

"So help me, it's true," Bill said. "Ask anyone who knew him. Another thing about Bert — he couldn't read or write, but he could swear more fluently than any man I ever knew.

"If anybody's cow ever strayed on Bert's land, it would cost him $10 or so to get it back. The owner of the cow would know he'd have to take Bert to court otherwise, and get sworn at into the bargain.

"Once in a while Bert ran into someone who could swear nearly as well as he could. That seemed to be the only thing that defeated him. If someone matched his speed and fluency at swearing, Bert would shut up and just stare in surprise.

"Although he couldn't read, Bert stubbornly pretended he could," Bill recalled. "I'll never forget the time he picked up the paper upside down, looked at the picture of some ship and said: 'Well, there's another ship gone to the bottom, I see'."

"You're not serious, of course," I said. Bill assured me that he was serious, and that his description of that stubborn farmer Bert was true, every word. And I believed him.

Well-Known and Respected Citizen Died Suddenly

The Late Edwin Robertson

Acquaintances in this district were shocked to hear of the sudden passing of Mr. Edwin Robertson, which occurred after a brief illness at his home early Tuesday morning.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. James Robertson, Edwin was 44 years of age, and received his early education in Upper Lachute. For a number of years he was engaged in lumbering and farming, until purchasing the Hammond Sawmill at Hill Foot in 1940.

He was married to Miss Isabel Scott, who with three children, Eric, Dianne and Jimmy, are left to mourn the loss of a loving husband and father. Others in the remaining family are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Robertson; four brothers, John, Walter, George, of Lachute, and Donald, of Beaurepaire; also a sister, Christie (Mrs. R. Ferris), of Aylmer.

Mr. Robertson was an elder of Lachute United Church, and also served on the Protestant School Board.

The remains are resting at the MacKimmie Funeral Home, and service will be held in Lachute United Church on Thursday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock, with interment at the local cemetery.

Transport Minister Has To Hitch A Ride

Even the minister of transport, Hon. George Hees, right, finds hitch-hiking necessary at times. At the Ontario Progressive Conservative association convention in Toronto, Mr. Hees tells Hon. Donald Fleming, left, minister of finance, how he was stranded by a taxi on a recent speaking tour. He thumbed his way out of his predicament.

Births, Marriages, Deaths, etc.

Births, Marriages, Deaths, and In Memoriam, etc., $1.00; 5 cents per type line extra for verses, with In Memoriam (estimate 8 words per type line).

NOTICES RECEIVED UNTIL TUESDAY NOON

BIRTHS

ALBRIGHT — To Mr. and Mrs. Charles Albright (née Shirley Baker), on Nov. 8, 1957, a son. — Both well.

KAPRUSIAK — To Mr. and Mrs. Jan Kaprusiak (née Jean Graham), at the Catherine Booth Hospital, Nov. 3, 1957, a son.

DEATH

ROBERTSON — Suddenly, at his late residence, Hill Foot, Edwin H. Robertson, aged 44 years. Remains resting at MacKimmie Funeral Home. Funeral Thursday at 2.30 p.m., Lachute United Church.

IN MEMORIAM

DINELL — In loving memory of our dear son, Pat, who died Nov. 18, 1954. — Inserted by Mother and Dad.

"A light is from our household gone,
A voice we loved is stilled;
A place is vacant in our home,
Which never can be filled.
Some may think you are forgotten,
Though on earth you are no more;
But in memory you are with us,
As you always were before."

DOWNING — In loving memory of a dear husband and father, George Downing, who passed away Nov. 18, 1956. — Wife and family.

"We do not need a special day
To bring you to our mind,
For the days we do not think of you
Are very hard to find.
If all this world were ours to give,
We'd give it, yes, and more,
To see the face of you, dear,
Come smiling through the door."

HOLLOMBY — (Morrison) — In loving memory of Jean, who passed away suddenly on Nov. 21, 1954. — Always remembered by all the family in Arundel.

"Sunset and evening star
And one clear call for me!
And may there be no moaning of the bar,
When I put out to sea."

MacKINNON — In loving memory of a dear father, Archibald MacKinnon, who passed away Nov. 20, 1941. — The MacKinnon family.

"Just a tribute of love and remembrance
To a dad who was one of the best,
The joys that he missed on life's highway,
May he find in God's garden of rest."

MacKINNON — In loving memory of a dear father, Mr. Archibald MacKinnon, who passed away Nov. 20, 1941. — Ever remembered by his daughter, Ann, and sons, Douglas, John and Clarence.

"The depth of sorrow we cannot tell,
Of the loss of one we loved so well,
And while he sleeps a peaceful sleep
His memory we shall always keep."

MARTIN — In loving memory of a dear daughter and sister, Charlotte, who died Nov. 18, 1950. — Always remembered by her father and sisters, Margaret, Maud, Elizabeth and Winifred.

"Softly the leaves of memory fall,
Sadly we stoop and gather them all;
Though absent, you are always near,
Still loved, still missed, still very dear."

NIXON — In loving memory of my wife, Rhoda, who passed away Nov. 18, 1949. — Ever remembered by Eddie.

"Sweet are my memories, silently kept,
Of a wife I loved and will never forget."

NIXON — In loving memory of a dear mother and grandmother, Rhoda Nixon, who passed away Nov. 18, 1949. — Sadly missed by her daughter, Reta, Irwin, and grandchildren, Wendy and Trevor.

"A mother who gave us the best of her life,
Who cherished our secrets, our sorrow and strife,
Who taught us to love and who taught us to pray —
Dear Mother in heaven, God bless you today."

NIXON — In loving memory of a dear mother and grandmother, Rhoda Nixon, who died Nov. 18, 1949. — Ever remembered by her son, Alton, Ethel and grandchildren.

"There is a corner in our hearts
That is set aside for you,
As long as life and memory lasts,
We will remember you."

Late Mrs. George Bigrow

It was with deep regret that we learned of the sudden passing of Mrs. George Bigrow, at the home of her daughter Clara (Mrs. Lloyd Walker) at Winchester, Ont., on Wednesday, November 13.

Mrs. Bigrow spent several years here at the home of Mr. P. Cantin, and although she left here some nine years ago, she always returned each year to renew friendship among her many acquaintances here.

Mrs. Bigrow was a devoted W.A. and church worker and was always ready to lend a helping hand when needed. The sympathy of this community goes out to the members of her family, besides Mrs. Lloyd Walker and family; to her daughter (May), Mrs. Russell Whalen and family, of New Brighton, Pa.; and also to her daughter-in-law (Eileen) Mrs. Leonard Hyde and family, of Cornwall, Ont., in their sad bereavement.

Interment took place at Winchester last Saturday.

Miss Judy Cooke and Miss Dianne Owen were in Montreal last week attending the Students' Council Conference, held in the Rosemount High School. A large attendance from the entire province was reported, and the conference was a complete success. The Misses Cooke and Owen were representatives of the Arundel School Students' Council.

Armistice Observance

Armistice Day was observed in the Arundel School, when the students paraded to the school auditorium and a short service was held.

The meeting opened with the singing of "The Maple Leaf", followed by a Scripture reading by Kenneth Batty. A poem, "Vitae Lampada", was read by Vera Gray, after which the honor roll was read by the school principal, Mr. Melvin Graham. This was followed by the Lord's Prayer, led by Miss Shirley Craig, past-president.

The address was delivered by Miss Treenie Macauley. The choir, led by Mrs. King, then rendered a musical number, after which the meeting was brought to a close by the singing of the National Anthem.

Quite a few residents of the district attended the ceremonies, which were open to the public.

Grenville Area Objective $900 in CNIB Canvass

A meeting last Thursday was chaired by Mr. G. D. Morrison, financial chairman of the Grenville campaign on behalf of the CNIB. The objective for the area of Grenville and Harrington East is $900. The County objective this year is $5,000.

Mr. A. C. Zaplaski, district secretary, gave an account of activities in the County of Argenteuil. There is a constant need to remind the public of the necessity of guarding their eyesight, he emphasized.

The following have consented to be team captains: Mr. L. C. Neville for Grenville; Mrs. André St. Amant, Pointe au Chêne; Mr. H. G. Brannan, Calumet; Mrs. Allen McPhee, Avoca; Mrs. Lorna Tonon, Lost River; Mr. John White, Kilmar.

Others present at the meeting were Tom Harris, Mr. John Dobbie, and Mr. M. R. Robinson, from Calumet.

The people of Grenville and Harrington East are reminded that the Institute has been operating on a permanent basis since last May.

Your contribution will do a great deal towards alleviating the suffering of many sightless people due to the high price of food, clothing, fuel, medicine, etc. In addition the Institute is proud that a start has been made in the field of prevention of blindness. Be as generous as you can. Your canvassers are well-known persons in your own community; treat them with courtesy and pass along any information that may be of help to a friend in need of eyesight examination.

Harrington

Mrs. Stewart Poulter spent last week in Montreal visiting with her daughter.

Miss Stella McVicar, R.N., left last week for London, Ont., to take a trainer's course in the RCAF.

Recent Activities At B'burg United

Several members of the United Women's Association, attended the Montreal General W.A. Presbytery meeting in October, which proved to be most enjoyable and beneficial.

Again, on November 4, the president and 1st vice-president of the W.A. attended their Executive meeting in the city.

An "every member" visit was carried on by a Visitation Committee recently, which, as always, led up to a closer feeling of friendship and responsibility of members and adherents. It is encouraging to note that the objective was exceeded by 10 per cent over the previous year.

On October 25 a well-attended Congregational Supper took place, promoting a congenial atmosphere.

A successful Christmas Bazaar was held by the W.A. "B Group" on November 16; also a home-cooking sale in October.

A joint gathering of the W.A. and W.M.S. members took place in the church hall on November 11, at which the Montreal W.A. Presbytery reports were given. Refreshments were later served, after a showing of slides.

Plans are now underway for a tea and sale of home cooking and aprons, etc., on November 30, to be sponsored by the W.A.

A meeting of the Sunday School teachers and executive was held November 12, at which plans were made for the regular Christmas party for December 19, and the Promotion exercises on January 19.

A social evening, with short business meeting, games and refreshments, was given by the Hi-C Group recently.

The choir is putting forth the usual effort with music and sacred song, which is much appreciated by the congregation.

The long-planned-for reconstruction work on the church is now being carried on, while every organization keeps busy planning for future activities.

Ottawa United Church Buying Home For Aged People

Establishment of a United Church home for senior residents at Namur, Que., was approved in principle by Ottawa Presbytery of the United Church last week.

Estimated cost of purchasing and equipping a 125-acre property, which would accommodate 15 couples, is $20,000 — Rev. A. Love, chairman of a special home committee, told the presbytery.

Mr. Love's recommendations, approved by clergy and lay delegates, included a suggestion that the presbyteries of Ottawa, Montreal, and Glengarry be asked to raise the $20,000.

The property, now owned by Canon L. F. Crothers, former rector of St. James Anglican Church, Hull, includes a large residence and other buildings. It has a one-mile shoreline and Mr. Love suggested a camp-site might be developed there.

A grant toward the home would be sought from the United Church's board of evangelism and social service.

A property in the Namur area bequeathed to the church by Mrs. Odessa Taylor, was found unsuitable. The committee proposes it be sold to provide funds for the home.

Many Aided CNIB Demonstraion of Home-Cooking

EVENT CONDUCTED BY CANADA PACKERS UNDER CNIB SPONSORSHIP

Before a large audience Mrs. Madeleine Lacasse, dietitian for Canada Packers Ltd., conducted a successful Home Cooking Demonstration on Wednesday evening of last week, at the Lachute High School — an event sponsored by the Women's Auxillary to the Canadian National Institute for the Blind. One of the highlights of the evening was the distribution of door prizes. This was conducted by Mr. Gordon Hynes, emcee for the evening, and Mr. L. A. McClintock, supervisor of field services for the C.N.I.B.

The prize-contributors were — Canada Packers, Lachute Lumber, Ayers Ltd., Boyd's Express, Simpson & Sears, Pioneer Chain Saw, Dupuis Frères, Farmer's Supply, T. Eaton, Canadian Petro-Fina, Harbour Drugstore, Canadian Westinghouse, Hector's Store, Jos. Malacket & Fils, Montreal Shoe Store, Geo. Y. Deacon, Gatineau Power, A. Malacket, E. Malacket and Mr. R. A. Giles.

Special thanks are due to Mr. Guy Lafortune of Jos. Malacket & Fils, for splendid co-operation in providing the two Moffat stoves and an RCA refrigerator for the occasion. (Due to a hitch in plans, this firm was not notified until late Wednesday afternoon; they not only supplied the stoves, but in addition they contributed two lovely toasters as prizes). . . The spirit of Lachute is evident in what the citizens do, and their actions are usually done without fanfare. Perhaps that is the reason why Lachute is noted for real service instead of "lip service".

The Home Cooking Demonstration was sponsored by the Women's Auxiliary to the CNIB. These ladies deserve great credit, as they had given many hours' work on this project. The Institute wishes to thank every person who purchased a ticket for the Home Cooking Demonstration, which was in aid of the CNIB Women's Auxiliary.

PRIZED PIECE

Nanton, Alta. (CP) — Reuben Hendrickson recently found a $10 gold piece that had been lost for 35 years. It belonged to the late Alec Borman, who lost it at harvest time in 1922. An American gold eagle, it was minted in 1902.

Cancer Group Hears Report on Work Conference

Four members of the ladies' branch of the Lachute Section, Canadian Cancer Society, attended the annual Work Conference of the Montreal branch of the Society, held in the York Room of the Windsor Hotel on November 6 — Mrs. W. M. Cottingham, Mrs. Gilbert E. Ayers, Mrs. R. Cairns and Dr. Suzanne MacKimmie.

Organized to assist the many volunteer workers in their untiring fight against Cancer, the Work Conference drew hundreds of workers from all parts of the province.

An interesting report of the Conference was given by Dr. MacKimmie at the regular monthly meeting here, held in the office of the Hon. W. M. Cottingham on November 12.

According to a report given by Mrs. J. Shaw, assistant director of Volunteer Activities, the fight against Cancer is the greatest and costliest undertaken in medical history. For that reason money is of great importance, to make possible the training of the best minds for Cancer Research.

It was also stressed that education has an important role to play, in making people aware of the life-saving benefits of early detection and prompt treatment.

The work of the Welfare Branch and the care of cancer patients held a prominent place in the discussions, Dr. MacKimmie reported, and branches were congratulated on the splendid work being done, the long hours of unselfish effort being given weekly by faithful volunteers preparing and packing dressings.

Special thanks too were expressed for the support of the press, radio and organizations during campaigns.

Mrs. G. Ayers, chairman of the meeting in the absence of Mrs. Cottingham, thanked Dr. MacKimmie for her fine report.

Appreciation was also expressed to the family of a recent cancer patient for donations sent in to the local branch, earmarked for Cancer Research.

Ducats Are Precious For Dynamos' Games

The rest of the world may be preoccupied with Sputnik and Muttnik but ticket sellers in several Canadian arenas are concerned with less ethereal Russian "exports"—the Moscow Dynamos. The crack Russian puck squad arrive in Montreal on Nov. 19 for a playing tour of Quebec and Ontario. Here, Gord Fin employee of Maple Leaf Gardens, Toronto, sorts out the hundreds of demands for tickets for the Dynamos' first game on Nov. 22 against Whitby Dunlops. The Muscovites also have games scheduled in Windsor, Kitchener, Sudbury, Montreal, Kingston and Ottawa.

ABUNDANT LIFE
BY ORAL ROBERTS

FAITH GUIDED HIM IN A HURRICANE

For many years Mr. T. J. of Garfield, New Jersey, has been an electrician at the Wright Asronautical Plant. Though a regular day-shift worker, he was assigned to a midnight shift for one week-end. This was in 1955.

During that week-end, a terrible hurricane struck. Suddenly the incoming power lines failed, leaving the entire main plant in darkness. The man usually in charge of the main substation where the deadly 26,000 volt lines were, was on vacation. Mr. J. had received no instructions as to what to do in such an emergency. Yet, this was his responsibility.

He ran from the main plant to the substation. Lightning crackled and struck all around. But let him tell it in his own words: "Suddenly, I realized I knew nothing about the sub. I stopped. I was terribly frightened. I prayed: 'OH, GOD, PROTECT ME FROM HARM AND GUIDE ME TO DO WHAT IS RIGHT. PLEASE SEND ME HELP. I NEED IT BADLY.'"

His short prayer contained three requests: for protection, guidance, and help to come. Now see how God answered!

"I took off for the substation — no longer scared—sure that God would help me. Knocking off switches, I threw in the breakers. As the outside lines were tied in, the power began to surge again. (Answers 1 & 2).

"There came a knock at the door. A man yelled, 'Public Service, let me in!' He was from the power company, assigned to the Bendix plant 2 miles away. He told me that a few MINUTES AGO, SOMETHING told him to come to our plant. He made it in about three minutes. (Answer No. 3).

"Eight minutes later, our lines dropped out again. The Public Service man watched me repeat my previous performance. 'You did exactly the right thing,' he said. I told him I'd never handled the job before. He did not believe it. Then I told him the whole story. Now he believes there must be something to prayer."

Everyone admits that no matter how much intelligence, strength, or natural resources we have, there are limitations to our ability to handle every situation successfully, because we are human.

Prayer and faith in God will let into our lives that which, if we depended solely upon our own might, we would be left without. Jesus said, "If you believe, all things are possible to him that believeth." Most people take this promise as they do a life preserver in a boat, think it mighty comfortable to have, but hope it will never be needed.

But God is a good God! He delights to help us. He is able and he is willing to assist us in every phase of our lives.

In this day, today, take him as your partner. Turn your faith loose and let God show you how to meet your problems and difficulties. The same God who helped Mr. T. J. is anxious to help you.

NEW BREED OF HORSES FOR CANADA

Horses that have "everything that's needed to win medals" in world horse shows have been brought to Canada by a German immigrant woman who sold her mink coat to pay for their transportation. The horses are the Trakehnen breed, which have been developed in Germany since 1759, and Mrs. Gerda Friedrichs says they hold most of the medals and cups handed out in European horse shows. Here is Mrs. Friedrichs, left, and Ute Ledtje caring for one of the new arrivals at a farm in East York, Ont.

A Weekly Feature of Helpful Hints on Child Training

Your Child's Clothes

— By NANCY CLEAVER —

"The clothes make the man," was an old Latin proverb. Many people think too much emphasis is placed on clothes, but they are important at every age.

The runabout child soon becomes aware of how he looks. Gay color, clothes that are easy to take off and put on, appeal to him. As soon as he begins to play regularly with other little tots, he wants to look like the other children. Adult standards of fashion or cleanliness make little dint on him. He just doesn't want to seem queer or different from the other "kids".

This desire to belong to a group and appear like the other children is strong all through school days. In large families, clothing must be handed down from an older child, to a younger. But mother should do her best to make the second-hand article look as nice as possible. The addition of a new leather belt or collar and cuffs can brighten up an old dress which the older sister has worn.

Girls are more sensitive than boys to their chums' comments about their clothes. Once in a while, every child should have some clothes which are completely new. Nor does it harm a small child to wear a "hand-me-down" which is clean and mended. Mothers who are friends can often help stretch their clothing dollars by exchanging outgrown articles in good repair with each other, or by patronizing an Exchange Toggery centre.

Never hoard children's clothes for which you have no use! Pass them on to a needy family or contribute them to a clothing collection for destitute children. There is still a need of all kinds of articles of clothing for children under the care of the United Nations and in some centres for newly arrived Hungarian immigrants.

It is not easy with living costs so high, for children to be given a major choice in picking out their wardrobe. Boys are notorious for being hard on their clothes. But if son has a voice in the buying of a new sweater or pants he is more likely to take a little better care of them. Little girls love to go shopping with mother. If they know the outside limit of money which can be spent, why not let Helen select a pink dress instead of a blue one?

As boys and girls reach their teen years they should be given more and more responsibility for the choice of their clothes. By experience they should learn to budget their clothing allowance so that it will cover big expenditures like a winter coat or a suit, and at the same time invest in the smaller necessary accessories from time to time.

Adolescents' taste is different from their parents — but after all, they are the ones who are appearing in the clothes which are purchased. When they realize how much good clothes cost, they are more co-operative about contributing to the cost of their wardrobe, with money they have earned in their leisure time. By the time they graduate from Collegiate, a boy or girl should be capable of looking after his or her own clothing needs and be able to shop independently and keep within the money which the family income can set aside for this expenditure.

In planning for a child's clothes, parents must think not just of today's needs. They want their child to grow into an adult who can spend money wisely on clothes which are durable and becoming. Swift once made the cynical remark about a woman who "wore her clothes as if they were thrown on her with a pitchfork." Parents want their son or daughter to select their apparel with care, be proud of their appearance, and wear clothes in a manner which is an asset and not a drawback to the impression they make on their friends and on the public.

MEAT LOAF

Next time you make meat loaf, instead of the usual cup of soft stale bread crumbs, try using:

1 Cup of uncooked rolled oats; or 6 tablespoons uncooked farina; or 6 tablespoons any uncooked whole wheat cereal; or 10 tablespoons of fine cereal crumbs.

ADDED APPEAL

No woman likes to wear the same old coat year in, year out — and neither does the bird she fries! Uncooked cereals, such as oatmeal, cracked wheat, farina and other granular cereals, will give crisp, tasty coats to panfried or deep-fat fried poultry and other foods like chops, fish and croquettes.

Dip food to be fried in a well-beaten egg to which a tablespoon of milk has been added. Then roll in uncooked cereal and fry in heated fat.

VARIETY WITH CEREALS

Have you ever tried cooking cereal in apple juice instead of water? Slicing peaches, apples, or pears into your bowl of cereal? Or sweetening it with maple syrup or honey instead of white sugar?

Fishsticks For Convenience

"Convenience foods" is a phrase that had little meaning to homemakers a generation or so ago. Today these products are household standbys. The food processing field has advanced so rapidly in the last few decades that new developments make light work of every phase of cooking — eliminating many time-consuming steps at home. The processors of fish and seafoods have kept pace with the times — as witness the popularity of breaded, pre-cooked and frozen fish sticks. Heated quickly according to package directions they come to the table hot, flaky and moist. When you team them with a sauce featuring the delectable flavor of canned salmon, another ever-reliable food item, you've got a winning main dish. Try it out when a Sunday supper buffet is in order, and you are expecting visitors to share the meal. It's sure to make a hit.

Fish Sticks With
Salmon "Newburg" Sauce

2 Packages frozen fish sticks, 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, 1 tablespoon flour, 1 cup light cream, 1 can salmon (approx. 7-oz.), salt, cayenne pepper, 2 egg yolks (well-beaten), 2 tablespoons dry sherry (or 1 tablespoon lemon juice and 1 tablespoon water).

Heat fish sticks according to package directions. Meanwhile, melt butter and blend in flour. Gradually add cream, blending well, and cook, stirring, until thickened and smooth. Do not boil. Add salmon broken into chunks. Season to taste with salt and a pinch of cayenne. Add a little of the hot sauce to beaten egg yolks, blending well, then stir this mixture into the sauce. Cook over boiling water, three minutes, stirring constantly. Add sherry or lemon juice and water. Serve with fish sticks. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Fashions

By GRACE THORNCLIFFE

A tapered line is noted in some of the very newest coats. Here is a fine example of what's what in the quality coat world. A small ranch mink collar, placed below the regular neckline, tops this effectively handled black or blond wool topper which tapers gently but distinctly to the hem. It has curved slit pockets and push-up sleeves with semi-dolman armholes.

STEAMED FIG PUDDING

Snip the stems from 1½c. soft, dried figs. Coarse-chop figs.

Chop 1 c walnut meats.

Cream together ¾ c. shortening and 1 c. packed brown sugar. Beat in 2 unbeaten eggs, one at a time.

Sift 2½ c. already-sifted enriched flour with 1 tsp. salt, 1 tsp. baking soda, 2 tsp. baking powder and 1 tsp. cinnamon. Blend into creamed mixture alternately with 1 c. milk.

Then, blend in 1 tsp. pure vanilla extract and 1 tbsp. crushed fine-grated orange rind. Fold in the chopped figs and the walnuts.

Turn into an oiled 2 qt. mold. Cover with a lid or aluminum foil. Place on a rack in a deep pot. Add boiling water to half depth of mold. Steam continuously 2 hrs. If necessary, add more boiling water.

Unmould and garnish with fluted orange slices and whole figs, previously simmered in white corn syrup to glaze and sweeten. Serve pudding warm with hard sauce and/or orange sauce. Serves 10 to 12.

Any unused portion can be steamed in double-boiler and served several days later, or wrap-seal it and freeze up to a month.

Shrimp-Green Pea Saladettes: Drain and rinse the contents 1 (7 oz.) can small shrimp; cut in halves.

In a deep bowl, mix together 1½ tsp. lemon juice, 1½ tbsp. tomato ketchup, 1 tsp. table mustard, 2 tbsp. salad oil, 1 tbsp. liquid from canned peas, ½ tsp. salt and ¼ tsp. ground black pepper. Add the shrimp. Add 1½ c. cooked or canned green peas, 3 c. shredded firm lettuce, 2 minced scallions and ½ c. of small-cut celery.

Toss together with 2 forks until mixed. Chill. Serves 6.

Questions About Flour

Question: What is all-purpose flour and how is it used?

Answer: All-purpose flour is white flour made from Canadian hard spring wheat, grown for the most part in the prairie provinces. It is sometimes called bread flour. This flour contains a considerable amount of protein . . . when the flour is moistened the protein forms an elastic substance called gluten which allows doughs and batters to stretch during rising. For this reason all-purpose or bread flour is especially well suited for the making of yeast bread and rolls. It is also satisfactory for general baking. Most brands are "enriched".

Question: How do you know if the flour is enriched?

Answer: Read the label! The enrichment of white flour is regulated by the Canada Food and Drug Act, which requires that the flour be clearly labelled "enriched".

Question: You often see on a bag or box of flour the phrase: "bleaching and maturing agents added." What does this mean?

Answer: It means that a bleaching agent has been added to the flour to make it whiter; and that a maturing agent has been added to age the flour and so improve its baking qualities. The amounts of the substances used for these purposes are regulated by the Canada Food and Drug Act and they in no way adversely affect the quality of the flour.

Question: What is pastry flour? Cake flour? How are they used?

Answer: Pastry flour is white flour made from Canadian soft wheat which is grown for the most part in Ontario. It contains less protein than all-purpose or bread flour, and therefore gives a baked product with a more tender texture. It is used for the making of pastries, some quick breads, cookies and cakes. It may be labelled as "Pastry and Cake" flour. Some brands are enriched. — Cake flour is the most highly refined of the white flours made from Canadian soft wheat. It is finely grained, velvety to the touch and very white. It contains very little protein and so is excellent for cake baking.

Question: Why is white flour enriched?

Answer: In making white flour only the endosperm or starchy part of the grain is used. The bran and germ which contain the vitamins and minerals of the grain are removed, as they give flour a dark color. White flour is enriched in order to replace the vitamins and minerals which were originally and naturally present in the unprocessed grain.

Teatime Topics

Written Specially for
The Lachute Watchman

By Mary Fran Burke
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Most lunch box meals are planned around sandwiches, and rightly so. There is no easier way to carry the meat, fish, eggs, poultry or cheese so necessary in a nutritious lunch.

Corinne Trerice, director of nutrition, Bakery Foods Foundation of Canada, recommends that mothers supply their children with food that contains plenty of protein for sturdy bodies, plenty of minerals and vitamins for strong bones and teeth, and proper amounts of fats and carbohydrates for energy and pep.

These are "musts" for strong, healthy children, she said.

Here are a few tips to make your daily chores easier in packing box lunches: Pair the two slices of bread that lie next to each other in the loaf so that the sandwiches will have even edges and will be easier to cut and wrap.

Leave the crusts on the bread for lunch box sandwiches to save food values. Spread them with butter or margarine. This prevents loss of moisture from the filling.

Plan lunch boxes in advance just as you do other meals. Avoid the monotony of repetition by varying the foods that go into well planned meals.

Try using whole wheat bread one day, rye another, enriched white bread the next, followed by fruit and raisin bread. Vary your sandwich filling too. Add chopped onion, celery or raw carrot to that ground leftover roast. Blend all with salad dressing.

For a tangy, hearty spread try a combination of chopped, cooked weiners with hard boiled eggs, onion, chili sauce and prepared mustard. Peanut butter, mayonnaise and chopped dates is also a tasty combination. And any of your favorite cheese fillings taste different on slices of fruit bread.

Velvet Trousers

For special home entertaining why not try wearing velvet slim jims for a change. They are comfortable as well as attractive.

An idea is to top the velvet pants with a lush faille coachman tunic, a dressy sweater or an exotic silk print shirt.

High school and college girls will be delighted with the new cosy, warm glamorjams for late study session. They come in exciting colors.

Any woman who wants to look sleek in slacks should be practical enough to realize that bulges fore and aft will destroy the effect completely. They might be avoided with a molding foundation of some kind. The slight restriction of a girdle is not uncomfortable and to have that "slick look" it is a must.

Household Hint

To restore beauty to a varnished floor, add a small amount of kerosene to warm, soapy wash water. Then rinse it immediately with clear water.

FIND ARCTIC LIFE PREFERABLE TO CITY

These four women have been in civilization for only a week but they'll be happy to go back to their adopted land of the cold, blizzards and aurora borealis. They are the wives of officers for Canada's northern service who have thousands of square miles of northern wasteland under their supervision. Left to right: Mrs. James Bond, Mrs. Doug Wilkinson, Mrs. Pat Farley and Mrs. Archie Flucke. All of them are in Ottawa with their husbands and even after sampling the pleasures of the city they will be quite content to return to their Eskimo friends in the Arctic.

Remembrance In Varied Functions At Brownsburg

The Brownsburg Legion No. 71 had a busy program over the Remembrance Day week-end, holding an Armistice banquet and dance Saturday evening, November 9, a church parade to the St. Louis de France Church on Sunday afternoon, and an Armistice parade to the Cenotaph on Monday.

94 Veterans of the two World Wars (21 of whom were guests) attended the banquet held in the Legion Hall. The function commenced with the saying of grace by Comrade Harold Mason, followed by two minutes' silence in memory of fallen comrades. The president of the Branch, Comrade Omer Carrière, introduced the guest speaker, Comrade John St. Germain, 2nd vice-president of Provincial Command, who gave an inspiring talk on the "Poppy", recent activities, and membership in the Canadian Legion. The speaker was thanked by Comrade Jess Humphries, 1st vice-president.

Immediately following the singing of "God Save the Queen", Wilf Shultz, of Branch 60, Montreal, was presented with a clock radio on behalf of the Branch, for his generosity to the local Memorial Hall over the past two years.

An evening of dancing was enjoyed by veterans and their guests, with music supplied by Gordon Anderson and his orchestra.

Poppies

Although we gather each November 11 to honor the dead of two world wars and recent conflicts, we cannot forget that there are many who returned disabled, and still need our help. The wreaths placed at the Cenotaph, and the poppies worn by citizens on November 11, serve not only to honor the dead, but proceeds from these sales are used to aid disabled veterans and their families.

47 Wreaths and sprays were placed at the Cenotaph on Remembrance Day, November 11, and the Poppy Campaign was well over the objective. For this tremendous success, and the large turnout for the ceremony at the Cenotaph, the Brownsburg Legion thanks the citizens and organizations of Brownsburg who helped to make this Armistice Day, a real "Day of Remembrance."

DISTRICT NEWS FROM OUR COUNTY CORRESPONDENTS

Grenville

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Scharf, their son Bruce and daughter Sandra Ann, of Eastview, Ont., were week-end guests of Mrs. G. C. Conway.

Sympathy of the community is extended to Mr. R. B. White and family, in the passing of a beloved wife and mother, Mrs. White, who died at her home on Friday afternoon. The funeral was held Monday from St. Matthew's Anglican Church.

Mrs. Stanley Dewar spent Wednesday and Thursday of last week visiting with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. John Clifford, in Lachute.

Mr. and Mrs. Garth Dawson and family, of Montreal, were recent guests of Mr. Ray Dawson and Miss Pearl Dawson.

Women's Institutes Take A Hand in Highway Safety

When Mrs. J. W. Adams, now past-president of the Federated Women's Institutes of Canada, chaired the Women's Section of the first National Highway Safety Conference, she decided that women could play a large part in this crucial problem. Provincial Institutes were asked to consider this, and at this year's June convention of the Quebec Women's Institutes, Col. W. Arch. Bryce, general manager of the Highway Safety Conference, gave a talk entitled, "Womenpower versus Horsepower." Individual Institutes were asked to give serious attention to his suggestions, making this a provincial project for the coming year.

Mrs. J. Ward Rember, of Ormstown, convener of Education for the Q.W.I., suggested driver education in the schools as one method of approach. She now tells what is being done in that district to implement this.

"I had a talk with our school principal about the W.I. safety driving aims, or driver education, telling him of Col. Bryce's address. He was glad to hear about it and promised every co-operation in trying to further the idea. It has already borne fruit through this season's Study Club (Community School). Quite a number, including several young teachers, have been taking the driving course offered there, and did well. Three of our local young men, one a garage owner, have been the instructors and the training took place on the Ormstown Fair Grounds, an ideal spot for beginners. At the last night of the Study Club this fall, the main speaker took that as his topic, 'Safety Education'. I have secured several posters in French and English which I am displaying in prominent places. I am passing this on in the hope it will help other Institutes in making plans for a constructive contribution to this project."

ON THE PIGGYBACK TRAIL: Canadian transportation's recent marriage of rail and highway finds the Canadian Pacific Railway operating solid piggyback trains in both directions between Montreal and Toronto, carrying the trailers of a number of well known trucking firms to and from their destinations in Canada's two largest cities. Fast overnight service permits pick-up of trailers after close of business every evening and guarantees their delivery in the other city before the start of next day's business. Popularity of the service is attested by this view of a Canadian Pacific "piggybacker" at Christie Lake, Ontario. Specially-designed roller-bearing flatcars carry the trailers. Piggyback trains are diesel-hauled.

Tips on Touring

By Carol Lane
Women's Travel Authority

You'll enjoy cold weather more i you plan now to handle winte driving conditions. Here are tip I've found helpful:

Be sure your chains are in goo shape. Use them when necessary On packed snow, it takes 69 feet t top without chains; with chains, 28 feet. On glare ice, the figures are 169 feet and 63 feet. The differenc could save a life.

Letting air out of tires doesn' help on icy roads. It may shorte the braking distance slightly, but it adds to the hazard on curves and hastens tire wear.

To start on a slippery surface, use second gear and start slowly. Thi gives the car more traction and it will be less likely to slide sideways

When making a curve on an icy road, turn the wheel slowly. If you go into a skid when braking the car, turn the steering wheel in the direction the rear wheels are sliding. Don't jam on the brakes harder but pump them gently. This is particularly important if you have power-brakes.

With power-brakes and power-steering, you'll need a most careful touch, on wintry roads. They make it easier to lock the brakes or oversteer. Never start, stop or change directions too suddenly.

If the car's engine steams, but the radiator feels cold, ice is blocking the circulation. Stop at once and pour water into the radiator until the ice is melted; don't try to melt it by driving further — you can damage the overheated engine.

Starting his second season with Showtime and his first as its star, is Bob Goulet, handsome baritone from Edmonton, Alberta. Showtime will be seen every Sunday on the CBC-TV network.

An old Indian chief on his first visit to a big city wandered into a skyscraper lobby. There he saw an old lady step into a small room with sliding door. A light flashed the door closed, and later the elevator descended and out stepped a beautiful girl.

Blinking in amazement, the chief said: "Should have brought old squaw along."

ANGRY PEACH GROWERS RAZE ORCHARDS

Typical of several irate Niagara peach growers who are razing their orchards is Mrs. Verna Glover of Winona, Ont., who is shown chopping down a tree on her husband's property. An estimated 100 acres have been cleared of peach trees by the angry farmers, who are protesting the "Fascist" regulations of the Ontario Peach Growers' Marketing board. Several peach growers are angry at the board's regulation of all sales of peaches to wholesalers and the ban of individual price-cutting by farmers. Many of the farmers are switching to other fruit crops or selling their topsoil from their razed peach orchards at handsome prices.

New $10-Million B. of M. Building

Demolition has begun to make way for the Bank of Montreal's new 14-storey building in Montreal's financial district, a model of which is seen adjoining the bank's domed head office building on St. James Street. The building, to be erected on the site of the bank's first permanent home, built in 1818 (inset), is scheduled for completion in mid-1960. The original building was torn down in 1876 when the Place d'Armes post office was built. The new B of M building will rise on this site and will provide the most modern banking accommodation in Canada.

New Geological Report And Map of Oka District

The Hon. W. M. Cottingham, Minister of Mines, has authorized distribution of a preliminary geological report on the Oka area, County of Deux-Montagnes. The report and accompanying map, drawn at the scale of 1,000 feet to the inch were prepared by Dr. O. D. Maurice for the Department of Mines.

The 60-square-mile area was the scene of considerable mining activity after the discovery in 1953 of important ore deposits of columbium, tantalum, rare earths and radio-active minerals. It includes the parish of l'Annonciation and part of St. Benoit, St. Joseph, St. Eustache, St. Placide and St. Augustin parishes.

The consolidated rocks of the area, which, with a few exceptions crop out on a series of hills ranging between 600 and 700 feet in elevation, include Grenville limestone, anorthosite-gabbro-diorite belonging to the Morin series, and diabase, all of Precambrian age. The alkaline intrusive rocks belonging to the Montereglan group of Paleozoic Potsdam sandstone or probably Tertiary in age.

Economically speaking, columbium, tantalum, rare earths, thorium and uranium mineralization closely associated with the intrusives of Montereglan rocks and is especially concentrated in the zones of contact between these formations and the Grenville limestone.

A great number of companies have done a considerable amount of exploration work in the area and very large tonnages of ore material have been outlined on the properties of five of them.

Copies of the report and of the accompanying map may be obtained on request addressed to the Department of Mines, Quebec or from offices of the Department located elsewhere in the province.

Bishop's University Launches Appeal, Expansion Program

Bishop's University, one of Canada's oldest seats of higher learning, currently is appealing to the public for $3,085,000.

The funds being sought from corporations, business firms, selected friends and former students, are needed to finance a program of expansion and to provide for increased salaries for present and additional faculty. The campaign is announced by John H. Molson, president of the governing board, and John Bassett, chancellor, honorary co-chairman of the campaign.

Founded in 1843, Bishop's University is located at Lennoxville, Que. The Bishop's University Expansion Fund appeal is being conducted from coast to coast in Canada and in key centres in other countries where former students are located.

Chairman of the alumni canvass in Lachute is R. Bailey. The campaign's general chairman is Percy M. Fox, Montreal, president of the St. Lawrence Corporation Ltd.

Bishop's, which stresses its heritage as a small liberal arts and sciences university specializing in undergraduate instruction, will help to meet the demand for university education by increasing its student enrolment from the present 300 to at least 450 an increase of 50 per cent. This expansion calls for an extensive building program, including new construction and conversion.

Bishop's 1,450 living alumni and 300 students are participating in the appeal. Alumni chairmen are spearheading canvassing of former students in cities from Victoria to Halifax. The student body is conducting its own campus appeal starting Saturday.

"The bulk of support, however, must come from business firms, whose executives are increasingly aware of the importance of the well-rounded liberal arts graduate," stressed Mr. Fox, the general chairman. "For this reason," he added, "corporations both large and small are being asked to give thoughtful and generous consideration to their gift to Bishop's."

Gifts may be sent directly to the Fund's Montreal mailing address: Box 220, Station H, Montreal.

NOTE FROM PAST

Yorkton, Sask. (CP) — Howard Jackson has a letter showing that male housekeepers were at a premium 100 years ago. Dated October 27, 1856, the letter from James McKay to W. J. Christie said the writer 'could not get a man as a housekeeper at 20 pounds per year, but one of my uncles will engage at 30 pounds."

CANADIAN ROOM

Ottawa (CP) — Boy Scout international chalet at Kandersteg in Switzerland now has a "Canadian Room," Scout headquarters here said Canadian rover scouts paid for the furnishing of the room in the chalet, which has Scout visitors from all over the world.

CRACKING DOWN

Victoria (CP) — In the first 10 months this year 3,131 drivers' licenses were suspended in British Columbia, combared with 1,220 in the same period of 1956.

SPUTNIKS EMPHASIZE INADEQUACY OF RADAR LINES

Launching of Russia's second sputnik points up the weakness of North America's radar defences, Canadian and U.S. defence experts agree. The millions of dollars poured into the construction of the DEW and Mid-Canada radar lines by the U.S. were to no avail and only the Pinetree line Canada's most southern, could be adapted for use against missiles attacking over the North Pole. Air electronics expert K. R. Patrick warns that an electronic network or "atmosphere" is the only defence against such attack.

Have You A Question on UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE OR EMPLOYMENT?

In this column we publish questions about unemployment insurance and employment, together with answers received from the Unemployment Insurance Commission.

If you are uncertain about any point do not hesitate to send us your question. We will obtain an answer and publish it in this column.

Following are some questions with answers which may be of interest to you:

Q. I was working for two employers and earning a total of $50 a week. I lost one of these jobs. The second employer is paying me only $20 a week. Am I entitled to draw benefit because of having lost one of these jobs?

A. You would be entitled to benefit because you are, presumably, working less than your full normal week. A claimant, whilst on benefit, is allowed to earn a certain amount each week, such amount depending upon the rate of benefit. Any earnings in excess of the amount permitted, are deducted from the weekly rate of benefit.

Q. Should an employer return insurance books directly to the unemployment insurance office or give them back to his employees at the end of their employment with him?

A. An employer must give an employee his insurance book when the employee leaves. If for good reason this cannot be done, then the employer is obliged to send the book to the local office.

Q. After death, can someone draw our benefits if we have always paid contributions without drawing benefit?

A. No. The Unemployment Insurance Act only insures the contributor against the risk of losing his employment. His insurance is against that contingency occurring, just as fire insurance protects him against the loss of his house by fire. If the contingency does not occur no indemnity is payable.

Q. My husband owns a store and employs me at $15 a week. Am I entitled to participate in the unemployment insurance plan?

A. No. Employment where the person employed is the husband or wife of the employer is expressly excluded by the Act.

New hope for prevention of Heart Disease

In spite of accurate diagnosis, advanced medical science and surgery, heart disease is still the greatest killer today. What causes it? Can it be prevented? The National Heart Foundation of Canada, recently formed, will intensify the search for the answers to these questions.

The Life Insurance Companies in Canada are supporting this Foundation because it is so important to the future health of Canadians. They have made substantial grants to cover the cost of launching the organization.

The Foundation will encourage intensive research into the causes of heart disease by every possible means. It will seek to stimulate professional and lay education and help family doctors to keep abreast of the newest developments in diagnosis and treatment.

Support of the National Heart Foundation is just one of many ways in which the life insurance companies in Canada are helping to create a healthier, happier life for Canadians.

"...and I buy all my ELECTRIC appliances right here in town, too!"

Of course, I don't go out and buy "kilowatts" by the bag and lug 'em home. I stay at home and simply flip a switch or press a button and electricity does my bidding—and fast. Sure, I buy it locally, just as any wise homemaker buys electric appliances from her local merchants. I know them. They know me. I get top value, sensible credit terms, dependable guarantees and efficient, courteous service without annoying delays. Yes, I know it pays to buy "electric" in my own home town.

Your electric living can be complete when your home is wired for HIGH HOUSEPOWER. And this means having a 3-wire service entrance of at least 100-amperes capacity, plus plenty of circuits, switches and outlets conveniently located. Ask your electric contractor for a free wiring survey . . . today.

they'd be cheaper by the gallon

It costs plenty to raise a family these days. But if youngsters, like your car, ran on gasoline you'd be better off.

Want to know why? Today everything costs more, including the scores of things a growing family needs. Gasoline costs more, too.

But government figures show that since 1939 the cost of living has gone up more than 120 percent while wholesale gasoline prices have risen about 40 percent—less than a third as much.

And what's more—today's regular gasolines are far superior to the premium grades sold only ten years ago.

National Flag Issue Shelved In Commons

By Roy LaBerge,
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Ottawa (CP) — The issue of a new national flag for Canada enlivened the close of the throne speech debate. Two motions seeking a decision on such a flag — one of them sponsored by a Liberal who jumped party lines to do so — were both defeated by votes of 122 to 23.

Requests by the resolutions' sponsors that the proposals be dealt with on their merits were rejected by Works Minister Howard Green, government house leader. He said the government viewed the motions as non-confidence votes.

Opposition leader St. Laurent reiterated one of the motions, by Wilfrid LaCroix (L—Quebec Montmorency) and said the Liberal party would stick to its stand of not voting against the government on any non-confidence motion in the throne speech debate.

Forty-one of the 105-member Liberal party were present, and only two went along with Mr. Lacroix in backing the motion, which demanded immediate consideration of "a truly Canadian flag."

An amendment presented by CCF whip Hazen Argue asked the government to allow Parliament "to reach an early decision" on such a flag.

Support for them came from the CCF party, the two Quebec independents in the house, and the three Liberals — Mr. LaCroix, Hugh Proudfoot of Pontiac-Temiscamingue, and Joseph Langlois of Berthier-Maskinonge-Delanaudiere.

When the votes came, just before the week-end adjournment, 117 members were absent.

The throne speech debate then closed with no opposition shown to a Conservative motion, which in effect called for the confidence of the Commons in the legislative program of the minority Progressive Conservative government.

Defence Costly

Prime Minister Diefenbaker's statement in Parliament that Canada will give "high priority" to creation of a defence against the intercontinental ballistic missile means big Canadian defence expenditures are in prospect.

Officials said it is far too early to determine what this will mean in the way of defence spending, but the cost of a defence system against the missile has been estimated at $2,000,000,000 or more, probably more.

Mr. Diefenbaker said November 13 in the Commons that Canada's Defence Research Board and the United States Air Force now are collaborating on a research program aimed at devising a system to detect and intercept the missile.

Maritime Power

A Commons statement by Prime Minister Diefenbaker may mean that federal assistance with Nova Scotia and New Brunswick power programs, proposed last week, is to be a first step in implementing a national development policy.

The Progressive Conservatives have advocated such a policy for some time.

Mr. Diefenbaker announced in the Commons on November 4 a multi-million-dollar federal plan of loans and subsidies to help the two provinces expand and connect their power facilities during the next 10 years.

When CCF leader Coldwell asked him about similar aid to Saskatchewan, the Prime Minister replied:

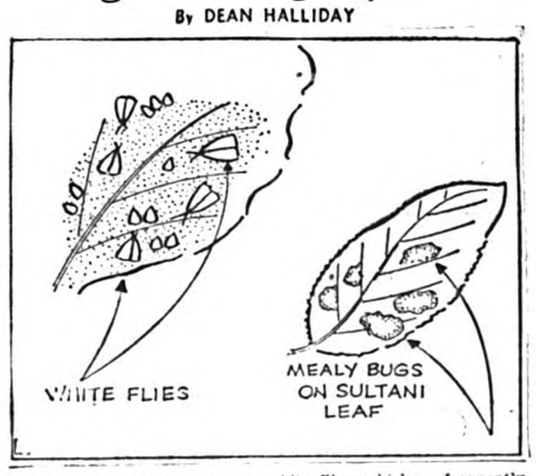

"The basic concept and the spirit of this policy will apply wherever a case by provincial governments is made out."

Mr. Diefenbaker described the Maritime development as "largely self-financing and self-liquidating." It included a $30,000,000 loan to New Brunswick and a federal subvention on Maritime coal used to produce power for industrial use in the area.

HOUSE PLANT PESTS

The first few weeks after plants which have been vacationing outdoors are brought inside for the winter they are often suspect to attack by one or more pests.

If you have a magnifying glass use it to examine the stems, new foliage and especially the undersides of the leaves of your house plants. You may be amazed at the infestation of insects.

Of the common pests of house plants the aphids can be controlled the easiest. A thorough spraying with nicotine sulphate and soapy water while the plant is in the bathtub or some other suitable place will completely eradicate them.

This same spray will control white flies, which so frequently attack heliotrope, geraniums, fuchsia, coleus, ageratum and ferns. The white flies will be found on the undersides of the leaves, as shown in the accompanying Garden-Graph.

Before spraying for white flies move the plant to a cold room where the winged adults will become sluggish. Spray the plant either with nicotine sulphate or a rotenone solution.

Mealybugs on a Sultani leaf are shown in the Garden-Graph. This pest may also be found on the stems and leaves of begonia, coleus and African violet plants.

Wood alcohol spells finish for mealybugs. A small brush should be used to touch a drop of the alcohol to each mealybug. Nail-polish remover is equally effective.

Quebec City District Has Highest TB Rate

Quebec (CP) — Quebec City and district has one of the highest tuberculosis mortality rates in Canada, Chief Justice Thomas Tremblay said last week.

Judge Tremblay, president of the Anti-Tuberculosis League of Quebec, spoke at the start of the annual Christmas Seal campaign. He said 9.4 persons out of every 100,000 die each year in the district, compared with 7.8 deaths per 100,000 population for the whole country and 7.4 per 100,000 for the province.

OUR PLAYERS FROM OUTSIDE QUEBEC

Only four members of the Stanley Cup champion Montreal Canadiens are from outside the Province of Quebec. The four players born outside Quebec are Tom Johnson, Bob Turner, Floyd Curry and Bert Olmstead. Curry now makes his home in Montreal.

Twelve of the current squad were born and brought up right in Greater Montreal. They are Charlie Hodge, Doug Harvey, Dollard St. Laurent, Marcel Bonin, Bernie Geoffrion, Phil Goyette, Don Marshall, Dickie Moore, Claude Provost and the Richard brothers, Maurice and Henri.

Jacques Plante, Jean-Guy Talbot, Jean Beliveau and André Pronovost were all born in the Province of Quebec, but outside Greater Montreal.

Que. Legislation On District Judges And Farm Credit

Quebec (CP) — The Quebec government distributed a bill last week increasing to 30 from 25 the number of judges of the Court of Sessions of the Peace.

Other bills asking the legislature to vote another $15,000,000 for Quebec's farm credit system and $5,000,000 for housing aid, were also brought down.

Amendments to the Courts of Justice Act also propose an increase to 43 from 45 in the number of district judges that may be appointed.

The measure proposes that widows of judges deceased after April 1, 1956, receive an annual pension of $1,500.

The bill proposing an increase of $15,000,000 for farm credit would bring the total available to farmers since 1937 to $170,000,000.

The additional sum asked by the government in its housing bill would boost the total for housing aid to $80,000,000.

The government presented a bill to extend over an indefinite period a $60,000,000 road-building program initiated in 1951.

TOKEN GIFT

Moose Jaw, Sask. (CP) — Wilfred Moran Rutherford retired as licensing inspector in Moose Jaw, a post which included tending the city's parking meters. At a dinner in his honor he was presented with a gift of 5,100 pennies.

What the Argenteuil Farm Forums Say..

Marketing of milk, low prices received for farm products, and lack of available farm credit are cited by the Argenteuil Farm Forums as being their most basic problems. The groups were considering their "most fundamental problem in connection with their particular type of farming." Since dairying occupies many farmers in the County, half of the Forums thought, as Jerusalem - Bethany: "Our district is chiefly dairying and milk disposal without excess surplus is our main problem." Both Arundel and Ogdensburg mention the low prices received for produce in relation to prices they must pay for supplies, as being their chief headache. Brownsburg Road decided that shortage of capital was their chief problem. Over the province, most Forums agreed with those in Argenteuil about what the fundamental problems are, but they put the cost-price squeeze as being more worrisome than marketing.

Asked about a general national farm policy that would meet their needs and raise the general level of agriculture, only one group, Jerusalem - Bethany, said they didn't think such a policy could be drawn up. Instead, they suggest a provincial policy as being more useful.

As to what such a national farm policy should be, the suggestions varied more than the problems given. Lachute Road suggested greater co-operation among farmers. Upper Lachute would like to see less price spread between producer and consumer, and adds, "If there could be a natonal 'pool' where everyone shipped and from which the distributor could buy, farm prices might be improved. The farmer could also receive better prices if he could have cost of production plus profit." Ogdensburg suggests a strong farmers' union which could do for farm prices what factory unions have done for wage rates, and this branch concludes by saying, "Just think how wonderful it would be if farmers could say, we want this price for our produce, instead of appealing to the government for help." To solve the farm credit problem, Brownsburg Road would like to see money made available to farmers at a low rate of interest and repayable over a long period of time.

A host of other suggestions for a national farm policy were given by Forums in the province. Many of these are programs that farmers could put into effect for themselves through better organization, and a number, such as tariffs, floor prices, etc., require government aid. In general, the Farm Forums seemed to favor a policy of farmer and government programs combined. These conclusions seem to agree with what Roger Savary, general-secretary of the International Federation of Agricultural Producers, says about the farm problem of surpluses and technical change: "In plain language, this means that farming in a modern market economy is a hopeless proposition unless — and it is the 'unless' which is all important — unless adequate private and public policies restore equilibrium."

National 4-H Club Week

The 26th National 4-H Club Week is being held in Toronto November 16-21. The trip to Toronto during the time of the Royal Winter Fair is an award for 134 4-H members selected from every province for proficiency in local club projects and for high achievement in all phases of the over-all 4-H program.

4-H club work has had a most successful year. Total enrolment reached a record 73,483 and the girls set a record for themselves, by exceeding the number of boys enrolled by 333 — and by sending two more of their sex to Toronto. The number of 4-H clubs throughout Canada at 5,092 is also a record.

This week in Toronto will be a busy one, with prominent speakers addressing the boys and girls on a wide range of subjects of particular value to 4-H members who are potential community leaders of the future. A welcome guest speaker will be Dr. G. S. H. Barton, former Deputy Minister of Agriculture for Canada, who has always been keenly interested in the 4-H Club movement. He is speaking on International Agriculture.

But it is not all hard work. The group will be entertained at banquets and other functions, will visit Niagara Falls, Hamilton and Ottawa. They will attend the evening horse show as guests of the Royal Agricultural Winter Fair Association, and see a hockey game at Maple Leaf Gardens.

The last day of the visit will be spent in Ottawa, where the 4-H's will be received by the Governor General, Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey. At lunch it is expected Hon. D. S. Harkness, Minister of Agriculture, will be guest speaker, and Prime Minister Diefenbaker will meet the group when they visit the Parliament Buildings.

Western Wheat Crop Rated Excellent

(CP) — Western Canada this year produced a wheat crop of "excellent milling and baking quality," the board of grain commissioners reports. Protein content of the 1957 Prairie wheat crop was estimated at 14.1 per cent — higher than any crop since 1947. Ideal protein content, important for baking quality is considered to be 13.3 per cent.

The board's report at Winnipeg said the new crop "represents a return to the exceptionallly strong wheats which Canada harvested continually during the dry periods of the late '30s and the early '40s."

Wheat production was estimated at 348,000,000 bushels, compared with 551,000,000 last year and a 10-year-average of 462,000,000.

CONTROLS SPROUTING — These Katahdin potatoes illustrate the effectiveness of gamma irradiation. Both potatoes were from small lots put into storage on December 10, 1956 and held at 68 degrees F. for seven months at the Horticultural Division, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa. The top potato was from an untreated lot, used as a control sample. The bottom potato was irradiated and produced no sprouts. — Dept. of Agriculture photo

How Many Go to Market?

The question of how much you make on each pig, is not altogether the most important one. The question of how many pigs you farrow and market, is probably the most important, because, if it costs you $30 to feed a sow from breeding to farrowing, and you don't raise any pigs, you are out $30. If you only raise 5 pigs to weaning, they will have cost you another $30, or your 5 pigs will have cost you $12 each. But if you raise 10 pigs, they will probably cost you $7 each. . . So by raising the bigger litter, you made an extra $50.

Then there are losses between weaning and market that can be controlled. Worms take a big toll of both feed and pigs, and this costs you money. Unthrifty pigs do not make full use of your feed, and this also costs you money.

If you have to feed your pigs till they are six or eight months of age, the extra feed they use in the last two months will cost you plenty.

The quicker your pig reaches market weight, the more profit there is in it for you.

PURINA feeds also cost you money, but when they farrow bigger litters, wean you more and bigger pigs, and send your pigs to market at 4½ months of age — you are bound to make more money with them. Switch your pigs to Purina today. We have Purina for any feeding condition; and — we deliver.

Community Pasture At Amherst, N.S.

Officials of the Livestock and Livestock Products Division at Ottawa recently visited the community pasture on the Minudie Dyke, near Amherst, N.S. This 2,700-acre pasture was begun last summer by the Federal and Nova Scotia governments, and is one of a number established to enable operators of small farms to increase their livestock carrying capacity. They do so by devoting more of the land on their farms to the production of field crops and hay or silage for winter feeding, with the community pasture supplying the summer grazing. This pasture now provides feed for some 450 cattle, and can accommodate many more.

At the time of the visit, surplus hay was being removed and sold to farmers at ten dollars per ton baled. The hay is coarse, but edible if left to weather before being baled. If not sold for feed, however, it will go to blueberry growers for burning.

The cattle are run in two herds — breeding and market. Running with the breeding herd are three production tested bulls from the Experimental Farm at Nappan. A system of corrals and a squeeze large enough for 1,000 cattle was in operation. It is patterned after the plans in the community pastures of Saskatchewan.

A number of cattle, mainly Holstein steers and cross-bred Holstein and Shorthorn, being shipped to market at this time weighed around 1,000 pounds and were only fair to plain in quality. Apparently the pasture would grow, but not fatten, the steers. Many rolling fat breeding cows and heifers were also seen.

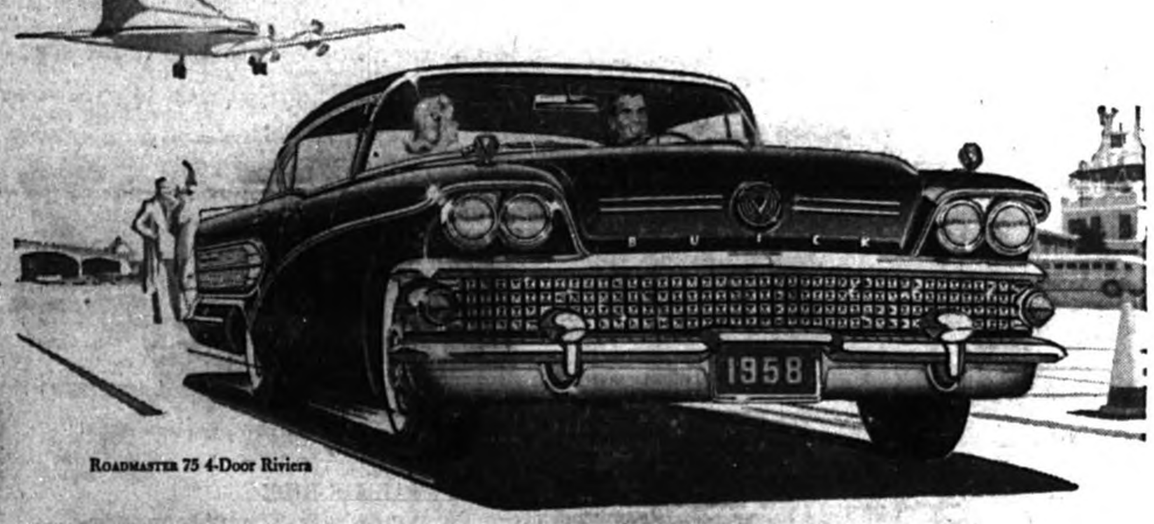

In the opinion of the representatives, this pasture has a great potential and is excellent for the practical application of marshland management projects. Reasonably good catches of grass and clover were also observed on marshlands that, a year ago, were under two feet of salt water.

Maple Syrup Cutput Increased 60,000 Gallons

Quebec's maple syrup production during the 1957 season topped that of the previous year by 60,000 gallons.

Bureau of Statistics figures released at Ottawa show the province's yield this year as 2,705,000 gallons, compared with 2,335,000 for the 1956 season. Season's total for Canada was 3,134,000 gallons, an increase of 17 per cent over the previous season.

Lachute Lions To Maintain 3 Outdoor Skating Rinks

Interim Boost to Juvenile Sport Pending Progress on Arena Plans

A practical gesture by the Lions Club, pending progress on the Community Arena plans, will be to flood, maintain and supervise three outdoor rinks, viz. at Mountain View, at Main Street West (near Stanley Church, electrician), and in the Carrière development east of Bethany. Sparkplug of this project is Police-Fire Chief (Lion) Fernand Trépanier, who, with volunteer manpower and the use of town equipment, will give the necessary time and muscular effort.

The Lions' youth-welfare activities at last meeting of the club included the settlement of a sizeable bill for complete overhaul of the ice-making machine, which is now in adequate shape for the needs of the future Arena. . . Also, along more academic lines, a vote favoring the Lions' sponsorship of a Public Speaking Contest next year among entrants representing the local schools — a venture which achieved inter-provincial triumphs for Lachute last year. Gérard Lefebvre, of the club's Education Committee, conducts this annual venture.

Fund-raising dates for the winter season are — a public bingo at the Auditorium on December 5, and the Sled Dog Derby on January 12. Another immediate undertaking is a sale of Christmas fruit cakes, from which the club hopes to realize a worthwhile profit.

These items of business were among matters of community concern dealt with at a full session of the Lions Club last week. President Ernest Snadden chaired the meeting, and there were 48 in attendance, including two guests.

Drowning Verdict In Death of Airplane Pilot

A jury hearing evidence under Coroner Dr. Jules Lafleur at an inquest in the Court House, returned a verdict of accidental death by drowning — in the fatality near Grece's Point which claimed the life of Laurent Bolduc, pilot-owner of a light airplane, November 10.

A Hawkesbury man, Jacques Belisle, 27, was a passenger in the plane and was sole witness at the inquiry. He recalled that he and the victim had made a flight over Lac Commandant, Lake Louisa and Grenville, when part of the aircraft struck high-tension wires crossing the Ottawa River, plunging the plane into the icy water. Bolduc was knocked unconscious when striking his head on the control panel; his companion, Belisle, pulled him out of the cabin, but had to release his hold in order to save himself from submersion.

The victim's body was recovered by Paul Bertrand and Claude Fauteux, neighborhood residents, and an autopsy was performed by Dr. J. M. Roussel, medico-legal expert, at the morgue in Lachute.

Organist Wins Scholarship

It was announced this week by the McGill Conservatorium of Music that the Magor Scholarship, which is awarded each year to the two students with the highest academic standing, has been awarded this year to Miss Lessy Ashkinazi of Montreal and Mr. Wayne Riddell of Lachute.

Wayne Riddell was formerly organist and choir director of Lachute United Church. He has served as organist at the Ephraim Scott Memorial Church in N.D.G. for the past several months, but recently resigned from that position and next Sunday will assume a new role as organist at the Westmount Park Emmanuel Church. . . His progress in the musical profession is a matter of interest to many friends and fellow churchfolk here in Lachute.

New Officers For Laurentides Ch. of Commerce

Maurice Labelle of Rosemere was elected president of the Laurentian Chamber of Commerce at the semi-annual convention held Sunday at Ste. Agathe.

Mr. Labelle takes over from Jean O'Donnell, of Laval des Rapides, who resigned to become director of public relations for the Province of Quebec Chamber of Commerce.

Vice-presidents are Richard Gauthier, of Ste. Marguerite, and J. A. Laroque, of Pont Viau, both newly elected, and George Dunnigan, of St. Jerome. New secretary is C. R. Allary, of Montreal.

Visit of Scots Rotary Curlers Colorful Prelude to Season

"They came, they saw, they conquered." This paraphrasing of the ancient saying aptly sums up the visit to Lachute of 20 Rotarians from Scotland last week-end as part of their three-week goodwill tour of Canada and the United States. These visitors from the land of the heather landed Sunday morning, November 17, at Dorval Airport, where they were met by a number of Rotarians from the various clubs on the Island of Montreal. These local citizens entertained them in their homes. The Governor's reception was held in the Mount Royal Hotel on Sunday afternoon, when they were officially welcomed by District Governor Linton Armstrong, Romeo Desjardins, president of the Montreal Rotary Club, and Aubrey Legge, chairman of the Central Committee in charge of the tour.

On Monday they visited one or two of the larger industrial plants in Montreal and participated in several games of curling. On Monday evening they attended the St. Laurent - Mt. Royal Rotary Club meeting, and on Tuesday they were guests at the noon luncheon of the Montreal Rotary Club. They then left for Three Rivers and Shawinigan Falls. Following a two-day visit they journeyed to Quebec City. At each stop, members of the local Rotary Clubs were the hosts. They returned to Montreal Saturday morning, and later in the day a number of Montreal Rotarians, particularly from the Montreal Westward Club, drove them to Lachute.

Arrangements had been made by the local Rotary to hold their regular weekly luncheon meeting at the Lachute Curling Rink instead of the Legion Hall in Brownsburg. Aside from the overseas visitors, other guests at this meeting included the directors of the Curling Club; the Montreal Rotarians, headed by Aubrey Legge; a delegation from the Hawkesbury Rotary, headed by President Fred Shaw; Dr. F. W. FitzGerald, District Governor of Lions; and Ernest Snadden, president of the local Lions Club.

President King Amos welcomed the guests, and brief messages of welcome were also given by District Governor Linton Armstrong and Nat Boyd, president of the Curling Club. Following the dinner (which had been prepared by wives of local Rotarians who are also members of the Curling Club) a series of four-end curling games was arranged. A Scottish piper from Maxville was on hand to pipe the visitors and guests around the curling rink. Later in the evening everyone joined in dancing, to the music of a three-piece orchestra.

The visitors, who were all entertained at the homes of Rotarians in Lachute and Brownsburg, attended Lachute United Church on Sunday morning in a group, accompanied by their hosts. After dinner, a number of local club members drove them to Ottawa in their private cars, where they were met by S. E. McDonald, president of the Ottawa Rotary, Dr. Carter Storr, president of the West Ottawa Rotary, the Mayor of Ottawa, and a number of local Rotarians.

The guests will be entertained in Ottawa for several days, following which they will journey to Brockville and Smiths Falls. This weekend they will then go to Watertown, N.Y., where they will be met by Rotarians from Utica and Schenectady. Following a brief stay in these cities they will proceed to New York, and then return home.

Rotarian Bob MacIntosh, of Glasgow, Scotland, captain of the Scottish group, planned this tour many months ago. The underlying idea was to meet as many Canadian and American Rotarians as possible, to visit them in their own homes, and endeavor to become better acquainted with people on this side of the Atlantic. He said that the project was an overwhelming success, and that he was at a loss to know how he and his fellow citizens would ever be able to repay the hospitality of the Canadian people. He said that he and his entire group were particularly impressed with their visit to Lachute, and it was their earnest hope that a number would have an opportunity to visit Scotland at some time in future, and thereby give them an opportunity to show their gratitude. . . The present plans are that an attempt will be made to make this an annual event.

Burn Mortgage On Legion Hall At Morin Hts.

(Our District Correspondent)

Morin Heights — Blood, sweat and careful financing by the members of the Canadian Legion Branch 171 culminated last Friday evening in the burning of the Legion Hall mortgage at Morin Heights.

The Hall, previously known as the old French School and acquired by the Legion in 1953, has during subsequent years undergone extensive alterations by the members themselves, aided by generous donations from residents in the vicinity, and is now the pride and joy of the branch.

The ceremony of the mortgage burning was held in the spacious salons of the Alpino Hotel at Morin Heights, and was attended by approximately 150 members and friends. During the impressive ceremony — directed by Legion President Colin Cameron, flanked by Mayor Charles Campbell, representatives of the Legion Provincial and District Commands, dignitaries of the local churches, and executive members of the branch — addresses were given by Mayor Campbell, the Rev. Horace Baugh, the Rev. C. Westhaver, and by the representative of Provincial Command, Mr. A. Germain.

Following the addresses, the burning of the mortgage took place, accompanied by the trooping of the colors and the rendering of the national anthem.

The evening was rounded-out by music and dancing, after which refreshments were served, thus bringing to a close a momentous event in the history of the Canadian Legion Branch of Morin Heights.

SPECIAL OBSERVANCE, DECEMBER 1 - 7

Mayor Stresses Theme of Nat'l Highway Safety Week

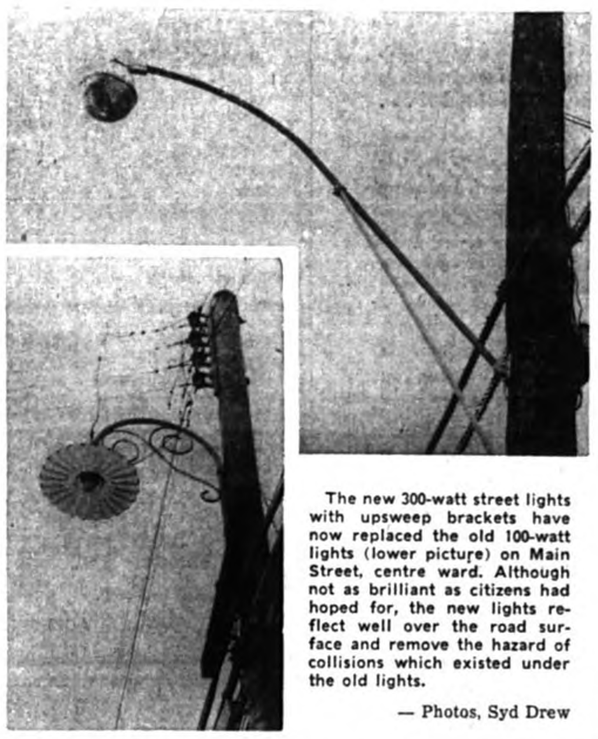

In support of the nation-wide appeal issued by the Canadian Conference of Highway Safety, which is being brought before the public particularly in the period from December 1 to 7 — Mayor Léopold Carrière adds his voice to this appeal, requesting all citizens to observe Highway Safety Week by doing everything in their power to minimize the risk of accidents.

"This week," said Mayor Carrière, "is a period in which a great number of accidents occur every year, and it is up to us to tackle the problem of highway mishaps insofar as we are able, and to instil in motorists and pedestrians a consciousness for safety.

"This is an every-person obligation. Drivers, parents, teachers and all concerned, must unite to press the common objective of safety on our public streets. By perseverance, we can convert the apathy of hundreds of highway users to a collective and spontaneous effort — an effort to safeguard human life.

"In this sincere hope", concluded Mayor Carrière, "I urge upon my fellow-citizens to give earnest and active support to National Highway Safety Week."

New Street Lights and Old

The new 300-watt street lights with upsweep brackets have now replaced the old 100-watt lights (lower picture) on Main Street, centre ward. Although not as brilliant as citizens had hoped for, the new lights reflect well over the road surface and remove the hazard of collisions which existed under the old lights.

Flays Inaction Of Committee on Pollution Problem

Paul Earl, Liberal member for Montreal - Notre Dame de Grace, urged the Quebec Government to "stop beating about the bush" and do "something concrete to put an end to water pollution in the province" — writes a Montreal Gazette reporter in Quebec.

Speaking in the Throne Speech debate, Mr. Earl recalled that more than two years ago the government voted $100,000 for a special committee to study water pollution.

"Two years have passed and the committee has not even made a single report, let alone recommended any corrective measure," said Mr. Earl.

"All the government has done during this time is to ask the House for an additional $50,000 to cover the expenses of the committee," Mr. Earl added.

Mr. Earl said there was urgency in the need for concrete action to remedy the situation.

"Thousands and thousands of men, women and children are denied use of our lakes and rivers for bathing and swimming because of water pollution," Mr. Earl told the House.

The member for Notre Dame de Grace said that "cities and towns continue to pour through their sewers all kinds of sewage without any treatment whatsoever, and industries continue to throw their industrial waste into the rivers of the province.

"Any schoolboy who by chance swims on Lake St. Louis near the outlet of the sewers from Pointe Claire or Dorval could inform the committee on one of the causes of water pollution," said Mr. Earl.

"It could be that the outlets of the sewers which are only a few hundred yards offshore, should be carried out in the centre of the lake where the Lachine Rapids would carry the debris away down the St. Lawrence."

Mr. Earl said that the government of neighboring Ontario had been faced with the same problem, but had taken prompt action.

He said that the Ontario study commission had brought down a report within a year, and that the Ontario government had brought into being the water resources and supply commission.

Mr. Earl said that already Ontario had a $2,500,000,000 water and sewerage works program under consideration.

"In Ontario the people got prompt action on a pressing problem," said Mr. Earl. "In Quebec we are still waiting for the committee's first report."

BEAVER SEASON

Halifax (CP) — Open season for beaver, with an increase from three to four in the bag limit, this year runs from November 16 to December 7 in parts of Nova Scotia - Halifax, Guysboro, Antigonish, Pictou, Cumberland, Colchester, Hants and Kings Countries.

Canada's Prospects For Development Of Nuclear Power

By Roy LaBerge,
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Ottawa, Nov. 28 (CP) — A study prepared for the Gordon royal commission on Canada's economic prospects says nuclear power may produce two per cent of Canada's energy by 1980.

A 592-page report issued November 22 also indicated that the share of energy output contributed by natural gas would increase sixfold. Petroleum and hydro power also would rise, though not to the same degree. However, the percentage of coal used would drop.

The study was made for the commission by Dr. John Davis, a former energy specialist with the federal trade department, now with the British Columbia Electric Company.

Coal, the study said, would drop to 16 per cent from its present 39-per-cent share of the country's energy output. Wood would drop from seven to one.

Meanwhile, natural gas would rise from four to 25 per cent, petroleum from 42 to 45 per cent and water power from eight to 11 per cent.

Big Increase

Expressed in terms of quantity, the country's continued expansion would mean 18 times as much energy would come from natural gas, four times as much from water power, while oil's contribution would rise threefold. One-third more coal, in terms of tons, would be used than now.

"Of Canada's growing coal needs, well over half will be required for the generation of electricity in southern Ontario," the report said. "This additional energy will have to come from the United States.

"Much of the demand for crude oil and imported products in Quebec and the Atlantic region will doubtless be met by shipments from the Caribbean area and, to a lesser extent, from the Middle East.

"On the other hand, most if not all of the nation's increased consumption of natural gas and hydro-electric power will be met by sources indigenous to this country."

"Nuclear energy, meanwhile, may appear on a commercial scale," the report said, "the first plants being built to produce electricity in south Ontario and possibly the Maritimes and southern Manitoba.

"Like hydro-electric power, nuclear energy can be put to work more efficiently than can the liquid fuel or coal. Its effective contribution, in other words, will be somewhat larger than the two-per-cent supply figure."

The study said solar energy may also make a significant contribution in supplying heating facilities and driving transportation equipment. This would come either directly from the sun or through chemicals produced through special agricultural crops.

Textile manufacturing is one of the few major Canadian industries that is almost wholly Canadian-owned.

Bigger and Better Yule Lighting for Shopping Section

The initiative which sparked the illuminations on the Main Street shopping section these past few years, is hatching out a still more ambitious scheme for this coming Yuletide. Through the Chamber of Commerce organization, the merchants and professional men in the centre stretch of Main Street are arranging two immense lighted Christmas trees, one in mid-street at the post-office intersection, and the other at the traffic island just west of the A & P Supermarket.

These two trees will be in addition to the one traditionally installed and maintained by the Chamber of Commerce in the Memorial Park.

In addition to these trees with their myriad of colored lights, streamers of lights will be strung across Main Street at distances of about 150 feet. The general effect should be in cheerful harmony with the season. Besides brightening the scene for local shoppers, it is hoped this effort will also attract more district folk who might otherwise go to neighboring centres; the spice of festive color might make just that difference.

The expense of these illuminations is being borne by the 50-odd storekeepers and professional men in the section concerned. The lights, wiring and materials are being purchased at considerable cost, but will be used again in future years, when the only expense involved will be that of installation.

Several merchants had already introduced the Christmas theme in their store windows as our reporter viewed the scene last week-end.

In 1956 Canadian motorists paid $384 million in provincial registration fees and gasoline taxes, $170 million in federal excise and sales taxes on new vehicles.

Premier to Ottawa For Federal - Provincial Meet

WEEK IN QUEBEC

By Tom Mitchell,
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Quebec (CP) — Premier Duplessis left for Ottawa to attend the Federal - Provincial conference but political observers here felt the talks would be mainly exploratory.

An informed government official said discussions between Mr. Duplessis and Prime Minister Diefenbaker "will perhaps provide the basic information for a later conference when definite proposals in connection with some complex problems could be discussed."

Among these are Federal aid to Quebec universities and toward construction of the Trans - Canada Highway — both termed unacceptable by the premier's Union Nationale party. Another is Quebec participation in a National Hospital Insurance plan.

The issues may be discussed but observers would be surprised if a fast answer would be found to satisfy all parties concerned.

Mr. Duplessis is said to be hoping the Federal Government will offer to increase the amount Quebecers who pay income tax to the Provincial Government are allowed to deduct from their federal income tax payments. The desired increase would raise the deduction to 15 per cent from 10 per cent.

The provincial tax is roughly 15 per cent of the federal tax. An increase in the deductible amount would allow the province to raise the rate of the tax to collect about $10,000,000 more annually. This year the tax will bring the government about $37,000,000.

Mr. Duplessis is said to be hoping for an increase in the deductible amount for corporation tax — one of the province's fattest revenues. The federal tax is nine per cent of the federal corporation tax and is entirely deductible from federal payments.

A boost of the deductible amount to 11 per cent — the rate recently set in Ontario — would mean about $2,000,000 would be added to the estimated $85,000,000 brought in annually by the tax.

The Federal - Provincial Conferences since Mr. Duplessis defeated the provincial Liberals in 1944 have always been looked upon as contests between opposed political parties — the Federal Liberals and the Union Nationale.

This will be the first time Mr. Duplessis will discuss problems with a Conservative prime minister. Members of the Premier's cabinet campaigned for Mr. Diefenbaker before the June 10 election.

The chartered liner Queen Frederika sailed from Quebec Saturday with more than 700 dependents of Canadian servicemen stationed in Germany.

The group of wives and children was the seventh to leave this port in the last six weeks. The vessel's crew was supplemented to take care of the 524 children and 204 wives.

The dependents represented nearly every section of Canada and are to join husbands and fathers attached to several Canadian units.

The liner is bound for Rotterdam and the passengers will make the rest of the journey by train.

Officer of International Hotel Executives

George W. Powell, former Lachute boy now on the sales management of The Chantecler, Ste. Adele, who was elected vice-president of Hotel Sales Management Association at Washington. This is the first time a Canadian has been named an officer of the association, which comprises hotel executives from 20 countries.

Legion Discusses Teen-age Dances And Future Projects

Lachute Branch of the Canadian Legion held their regular monthly meeting November 20 in the Memorial Hall. During a long business meeting, with discussion of the Lachute teen-age dances, reports of the memorial parade and armistice dinner, poppy campaign and finances, were heard and approved by the general body.

Teen-age dances were reported to be progressing favorably, and Legion members were urged to attend as supervisors at these affairs; this supervision was found necessary to keep the large number of teen-agers in an organized group, and to assist in ironing out the many small difficulties that occur (lost purses, blistered heels, etc.) and to serve out soft drinks. These dances have been favorably commented on by the mayor of Lachute and various civic officials.

A Christmas Tree for Legionnaires' children will be held on Saturday, December 21, in the Legion Memorial Hall.

It was arranged to hold a "Chip-In" day for the purpose of helping build up the Legion funds. This function was found necessary to help maintain the hall for the use of teen-agers and other activities, and to aid in welfare to veterans and their dependents not covered by government assistance. Legionnaires and cadets will sell bags of chips on Friday and Saturday, November 29 and 30, on Main Street, and a house-to-house canvass will take place on Saturday.

From Ontario Jail To Charges in St. Jerome Court

Aurel Baron, 25, of Vankleek Hill, was sentenced to time spent in jail, when he appeared Friday before Judge Omer Côté on a charge of theft.

Baron was turned over to Sgt.-Det. Ralph Allen by the Ontario Provincial Police after having served three months in an Ontario jail, and was held in St. Jerome three days prior to his appearance.

The charge was laid in connection with the theft of a considerable supply of beer from a Grenville hotel, August 20 last.

Baron, who was found guilty of having committed another robbery in Ontario the same evening, was released last week. His brother and brother-in-law are still in jail in Ontario, both having received six-month sentences. They also will appear in St. Jerome court upon their release.

Discharged Rifle In Village Limits

Ernest Woods, 20, of Morin Heights, was found guilty of having fired a gun within the limits of the Municipality of Morin Heights, and was sentenced to a fine of $25 plus costs.

The charge was laid by Sgt.-Det. Ralph Allen, and Woods appeared before Judge Omer Côté at St. Jerome last Friday.

Handicraft With Fungi

Young naturalists of the Catholic community exhibited specimens of their handiwork at the St. Alexandre School last week. In this display by 8 to 12-year-old enthusiasts, specially notable are the artistic treatments of fungi, of different sizes, shapes and varieties. Also in the display are collections of leaves, moths, butterflies, etc. Seen with the youngsters are Sister Marie de la Protection and Sister Ste. Hélène de la Trinité, both of the Order of Ste. Croix.

Argenteuil Outdoors

A column for the sportsman

— By BOB ATCHISON —

From all the reports on the ducks this year, it wasn't too good toward the end of the season. It was very good when the season opened, but I think the funny weather we had at the end of the season must have affected them a lot. The ones I did see were usually too far out, and it was very difficult to call them in.

The wolves are evidently plentiful all over the area. I've had reports of them being seen at Lakefield, Morin Heights, St. Michel, Rivington and Harrington. They are all over the place. I haven't heard of any being shot yet, but I guess it won't be long now. There are a number of foxes around too; so instead of putting the guns up for the winter, let's take a crack at these pests.

The next meeting of the Argenteuil Association is on December 16. There will be a guest speaker, and movies and good sports, so let's give it the business. There's still a lot of members that haven't been out to one meeting. We'd like to meet them. By the way, ladies, this is your Association. Come on and see how the old man behaves; another thing, there are 40,000 licensed lady hunters in Canada. Don't be shy about coming to your club.

* * *

Another hint for you fly fishermen: If your fly line is dirty and sticky, wash it in soap flakes. Make sure it's dry before you put it on the dryer. You see, if you put it on wet, it will set in the pegs. It's different when you use it all the time, but you are not using it at all now.

Don't use any of those detergents. They are hard on lines.

You gents who have split-cane rods, either spinning or fly, here's a few tips on them: If the varnish is chipped or rough, smooth it with very fine sandpaper; don't rub it too hard, as you mar the cane. When it's all cleaned off, get some good varnish, preferably valspar, smooth it on with your finger, let it dry good and hard, then repeat the whole thing until you have it all built up. Now your wrappings: if they are frayed or worn, cut them off, taking care not to cut your rod or take too much of the varnish off! Watch the color of the silk and start to bind it. Now the easiest way to do this is put a strand around the rod, then with an opposite-colored thread, form a loop. Put this flat on your rod then put on your bindings. Cut your thread long from the spool. Slip the end of the thread through the loop, then pull the loop through your bindings. Cut it off short, then burn it with a candle or match, not too close to the varnish or you will bubble it. Give it coats of varnish until it is built right up. You can buy and use color preservative, but I never use it, as the color usually darkens up a little anyway, and if the varnish is built up right, it will make a nice job. Don't wait too long to start repairing your tackle, as it all takes time. (This is a little tough to describe to you without drawings, but if you are at the next Association meeting I'll show you.)

I wonder how we will feel when we're in our 90's and able to go out and get our deer. That's what our old friend Mr. Hale just did! He went into the bush for a hunt near his home on the Lakefield Road, and ended up with a ten-pointer weighing about 250 pounds. The head is beautifully matched. It just shows us, that a sportsman never gets too old to hunt or fish. It makes one feel very good to think that, maybe as sportsmen we still have a few more hunts. May Mr. Hale have many more successful hunts, too. . . I saw Ted Hammond going through with his kill. Save me the tail of it, Ted.

It's a great place to live when we think of our senior citizens going out to get their deer, and getting it. We are lucky, when everything is considered; at least there is no talk of registration of all firearms, such as is happening in the U.S.A. at present.

Last week at the Argenteuil Association, we had a better turnout than we've had for some time. It's to be hoped the attendance keeps getting better each time. We had one of our well-known sportsmen, Colin McOuat, show some of his movies. It really was worth seeing. The movies, while not of professional calibre, were very good — better than most of us could have done. Some of the shots of the Webcao Trout were terrific. If only they had been on a fly rod, they would still be there. Just fingerlings, you know. (Six pounds or so just like those around here). The bear and moose pictures were good, too. Colin stated he had more film being developed. Maybe we could prevail on his good nature to show them, one of these meetings. Our president, Syd Drew, is to be complimented on getting the showing of local shots. They were of interest to all. A lot of questions were asked by the members, and answered by Colin. Darn good show!

I haven't done any beefing for the last couple of weeks about the North River—stupidly thinking that maybe something might be started if it were left alone; but as usual, nothing.

The only thing now is for every one interested in this to come to the Argenteuil Fish and Game, and get something started. After all, we are all voters in one way or another. Surely our members can do something that would be beneficial to the County. I know most of us are interested in trout. As I've said before, there are other fish equal to the trout in every way. I think we are all agreed on this, so the North River is of prime importance to us. There are a number of our sportsmen around Lachute that feel the same way about the river. So, come on out to the next meeting; whether you are members or not, you'll be very welcome.

Last week-end I watched the cars going by with their deer. Of eight cars that had game, only one was a buck. There may have been others, but they were so small it was nearly impossible to tell. I guess this won't be a very welcome thought, but I would like to see the Buck Law in the County. I know a lot of sportsmen will say that the fawns and does get shot just the same. True, not as many as they kill today though, and the argument that they will be left in the bush, doesn't hold much water. What is happening right now — a fawn gets shot and, instead of taking it and cancelling their license, what happens? It is just left there to rot. So it's just the same as the Buck Law, only a lot worse. I know that's happening, and I'm sure our Game Wardens will say the same. We are supposed to be sportsmen, but there isn't a hell of a lot of sportsmanship in shooting does or fawns. Maybe I'm wrong about this.

Spelling It Out For Deer Hunters

North Bay, Ont. (BUP) — Farmer Fred Morin has a suggestion to help farmers protect their livestock during the hunting season.

"I guess the best thing for a farmer to do in this area is to paint the word 'horse' on each animal in order to hang onto it," he said.

Morin's horse apparently was mistaken for a deer and killed by hunters as it grazed near the farm house.

Burg Line-Up Produces Few Familiar Faces

(Our District Correspondent)

Brownsburg, by virtue of a third-period rally, eked out a 9-8 win to start the local hockey season. Alexandria opened up a 3-1 lead in the opening frame, stretched it to 7-4 in the second, and watched Brownsburg gallop past with a sustained 5-goal burst.

There were few familiar faces on the ice, as Alexandria had only about five regular Q.O.H.L. men. George Sinfield, of course, needs no introduction, and he scored one goal and one assist just to prove he's the same guy. Rod Charlebois had a great game for Brownsburg, scoring a hat-trick and picking up an assist. Other hold-overs in the 'Burg team are Jacques Racine, on right wing, and his brother Buddy, in goals. Jacques scored the winning goal.

Jacques Leveillé is back, and his contribution was two assists. Maurice Giroux and Jules Biron are back as defensive stalwarts, and André Ouellette, Honoré Norbonne and Rey Cruise are back with the fold. Among the new men, Jean Guy Renaud and Marc Bouvrette shared six points, and Georges Leduc scored the eighth goal.

The first home game of the season will be against Ste. Anne de Bellevue on Thursday, with Hawkesbury visiting on Sunday.

Badminton Club Sends 10 Players To Nitro Invitation

The Lachute Badminton Club opened its away-from-home tournament season last Saturday, November 23, by attending the Canadian Arsenal's invitation tournament held at the community hall in Nitro, Que.

Ten players represented the local club, including — (men) Rollie Maxwell, Jack Gordon, Tom Robertson, Angus Strong, Charles Laverick; and (women) Mary Preece, Mabel Prophet, Frances MacLachlan, Shirley Soule and Beverly Elvidge.

Considering the fact that eight clubs participated — namely, Malone, N.Y., Hudson, Verdun YMCA, Chateauguay, Cornwall, Beauharnois, St. Hubert and Valleyfield (Nitro) — the Lachute Club made a good showing, especially in view of the fact that all the other clubs participating are considerably larger.

R. Maxwell reached the semi-finals in the Consolation division in "A" Class, while Mary Preece and Jack Gordon lasted to the third round in "A" Class top division. Tom Robertson reached the semi-finals in "B" Class top division.

Following the competition a turkey supper was enjoyed by all players, in the C.A.L. staff house. This was followed by the presentation of trophies and a dance, which was thoroughly enjoyed by the 150-odd participants.

A SPECIAL MESSAGE TO CUSTOMERS OF THE B OF M

Between you and me... and my bank

Donald Hay, Manager
Lachute Branch
Bank of Montreal

Even for a banker, figures can be pretty cold things by themselves. I always find that you have to look beyond them before you can get a true picture of what they really represent . . . of what they mean in terms of people like you and me — and our endeavours.

Take my bank's annual report for 1957, for instance. The two-and-a-half billion dollars shown on deposit is quite an impressive figure. But what's behind it . . . what does it represent?

The answer amounts to this: it represents the money you have saved through your own industry and thrift — money which we use to finance enterprises of every size and description . . . to help farmers, fishermen, businessmen, store-keepers, schools, churches and industries to prosper and grow.

In short, it is your money that's helping build a stronger, more prosperous Canada. Every dollar you save at my bank plays an important role in the story of our country's — and our community's — growth. It's a role all of us can be proud of — you and I . . . and my bank.

The B of M's 140th Anniversary Report covers the widespread operations of Canada's senior financial institution for the year ended October 31st, 1957. From its wealth of facts and figures I've picked out three of the most significant features of the Bank's annual story. They are the life-blood of Canada's economy.

Donald Hay

"MY BANK" TO 7 MILLION CANADIANS B of M

Highlights of the B of M's 140th Annual Report

DEPOSITS amount to $2,632,251,291, well over half of which is the personal savings of Canadians in all walks of life. The remainder is money deposited by business firms, institutions and governments. The bulk of this money is hard at work in the form of loans to people and businesses of all types.

LOANS, at $1,437,636,447, establish a new record. The B of M's loans in Canada — the highest in its history — are helping every branch of the Canadian economy to prosper. Large and small, they have been made to business and industrial enterprises of all kinds — to farmers, fishermen, oilmen, miners, lumbermen and ranchers — to citizens of every calling, to provincial and municipal governments and school districts.

INVESTMENTS in high-grade government bonds amounted to $657,133,040. This money helped to finance many important government projects, designed for everyone's benefit. Other securities held by the Bank — which include a diversified list of high-quality short-term industrial issues — brought total investments to $872,675,309.

Making Speed Limits Reasonable

IT WAS WITH pleasure that we noted, on leaving Brownsburg for Lake Louisa several days ago, that the municipality has seen fit to move the 30-mile-an-hour sign to the bottom of the hill, still within the municipal limits.

There are few dwellings past the new location of the sign, and no need for traffic to be slowed to that extent. Brownsburg Mayor Thos. Hall and his Council are to be congratulated in having made the move. The general trend these days seems to be the opposite, to extend the speed-limit areas out beyond the straggling settlements, in an effort to catch as many unwary motorists as possible.

In the event that the Lachute and Ayersville Councils saw fit to follow suit, an unnecessary 30-mile-an-hour limit could end at the foot of Hay's hill. It is true that possibly within a few years, slower traffic will be needed in this section, but let's wait until the need arises. It will then be soon enough.

Mechanical Revolution in Agriculture

A MECHANICAL revolution has hit the farming industry in the last ten years. The change is nowhere more apparent than in this section of Quebec, where diversified farming is the order of agriculture, and a varied range of machinery is required. The change is forcefully apparent even to the laymen and city folk, who generally know little of what goes on across the farmer's fence. In 1946 the machinery investment per person gainfully employed in agriculture was $1,400. By 1951 this figure had increased to $3,600 per worker. Production per worker has increased tremendously.

The rapid mechanization of agriculture has subjected farmers to a number of problems. They have been forced to invest thousands of dollars in machinery which can only be used a few days a year. The rest of the time it stands idle, depreciating in value and becoming obsolete. The rapidity with which farm machines have become obsolete due to new inventions and more efficient machines, has caused many farmers to be left with complete lines of equipment, all practically new, which has little or no re-sale value. First there was the change from horse-drawn implements to tractor-drawn machinery. Lately, the newly manufactured equipment has been made to go with tractors with hydraulic systems. It cannot be operated by old tractors.

These fast-moving developments are a costly and challenging factor in the farmer's reckonings. It is appropriate they should stand high in the agenda for serious discussion — and the subject has, in fact, been latterly discussed in the Farm Forums of the country. Some of the opinions expressed locally may be found on the Farm Page of this issue.

Grey Cup Fever

ONCE UPON a time East and West got together for an annual football game.

Some of the more rabid western fans travelled East to cheer their team. Usually they didn't have much to cheer about, but they put on a brave show and condescending easterners accepted their exuberance as something to be expected of the uncivilized West.

Then one frosty November day in 1948 the Calgary Stampeders arrived in Toronto accompanied by an organized cheering section; cowboys in gaily-colored shirts rode horses through the city streets; men and women whooped and hollered and waved their cowboy hats.

The first Grey Cup parade came into being and the East, especially Toronto, hasn't been the same since.

Year by year since 1948 Grey Cup fever has infected more and more Canadians. Two years ago it spread to Vancouver when the Canadian football final was played in the West for the first time. There is no inoculation against it and it is doubtful anyone is seeking a cure.

Grey Cup time has come around again, to be climaxed in Toronto Saturday by what promises to be the biggest and most gaudy parade yet, for the game between the professional football champions of East and West.

The fact that most of the stars on both teams are Americans won't make much difference. The Grey Cup game has become a Canadian institution, a far more national event than the Bowl games that end the football season in the United States.

There will be receptions and dinners and a festival dance at which a queen will be crowned. Prime Minister Diefenbaker will head the list of dignitaries and will kick off the ball to start the game.

Many thousands of dollars will be spent on floats and bands for the parade. Vancouver alone, with more than 20 floats, has budgeted $26,000 to finance the biggest display from any city.

Life will seem a little dull when it's all over, for that's the way the fever leaves you. But no one will deny it's worth it, that in some way it brings Canadians a little closer together, and that next year, in Vancouver, it will be bigger and better than ever.

Writing On The Wall

IT IS THE ERROR in the biggest headline that oftentimes escapes notice; in a journalist's experience, the smaller misprints somehow are easier to discern. In the economics of everyday — it seems likewise — the writing on the wall is generally too monumental to catch attention.

You witness a trend or development on every side, no matter where you turn — columnists and editors write about it — you see it in industrial shutdowns and in the labor statistics — it even hits you in the pocketbook. But it is too obvious to be realized — until, perhaps, too late.

From the still small voice of a Watchman columnist come words this week of ominous portent. We transplant and reproduce them here, from Margaret Cook's "Sunnyacres" commentary, hoping they will find a wider readership and provoke some earnest thinking. Says the writer:

"Labor is rapidly pricing itself, and Canada, out of the world market. . . We in America (I use America in its broader and more correct meaning) have things too soft. Labor, especially wants to do less for more pay. Which is, as Euclid so sensibly puts it, an absurdity. We know of a building development whose officials are putting up twenty-six prefabricated houses imported at less cost than the same quality of house can be built for in Canada. The Government will undoubtedly be blamed for allowing this, but labor will still make a ruling about the maximum number of bricks a workman may lay in a day. The public who buy houses, and who are also Canadian, are about to turn — like the long-suffering worm."

Port of Spain — a picturesque place-name in the news — rang a bell last week; we resolved to write about it, but we note our columnist felt the same reaction. Margaret Cook continues in her column:

"There is also the matter of our Canadian ships sailing from Port of Spain. We read in a reputable business journal of a ship being held up in port for some days because the sailors refused to sail before a cracked mirror was replaced. And we pay taxes for this kind of thing? In Russia, the sailor would be lucky to have a mirror, probably too tired to look in it, anyway."

National Highway Safety Week

NEXT WEEK is one of those periods pinpointed for a national observance — Highway Safety Week. In this connection Mayor Léopold Carrière has seen fit to issue a message (elsewhere in this paper) emphasizing the safety theme.

To the repeated editorials in this column we add our thoughts once more, to help all readers co-operate in a constructive and practical way. . .

Most of the offences commonly committed by motorists are against the rules of decency and courtesy, as well as infractions of the law. During an hour's spin about town or in the country, you will see cars driven badly, discourteously, thoughtlessly, negligently, impatiently, or in a manner "too smart" for safety.

There are probably many rules which you do observe, but what about the others which give your conscience a slight twinge? And what are you going to do about it? The accident record of our nation is appalling, and it is the users of the roads who cause the accidents. There are good drivers — drivers who exercise foresight, courtesy and skill — who do unto others as they would have others do unto them. But, also, there are too few in that happy band.

It is timely to consider a few prevalent "types" who endanger others and themselves. . .

One type of driver who believes in taking punishment is the fellow who rushes up full speed ahead to a red traffic light. He has to slam on his brakes, skid his tires, come to a full stop, and then start up again. While he is doing this the fellow who uses his head has cut his speed so as to reach the intersection after the light changes in his favor, and has gone ahead without having to stop. He has saved a lot of energy, as well as wear and tear on his car. Furthermore, he will reach his destination safely.

It is human nature to be annoyed when another driver overtakes you on the right-hand side. But how else can he get by if you're on the inside lane? It is best to keep to the right, except when about to make a left turn or when overtaking another car in the same direction.

Also, you will enjoy your riding more by travelling at a normal speed for the road — in other words not too fast, not too slow. Remember, a "slow poke" who holds up traffic can be as hazardous as a "road hog".

Did you ever have the motorist in front of you come to a sudden stop and leave you to decide whether to go into the ditch or run into him — or perhaps into a car coming from the opposite direction? You can keep yourself out of such a predicament by allowing plenty of room between you and the car ahead. A good rule to follow is to leave one car-length for every 10 miles per hour of speed.

Mr. Guy Tombs, of Montreal, was in town on Tuesday, attending the funeral of his uncle, the late Wm. James.

25 YEARS AGO

December 1, 1932 —

The L.A.A.A. Rink at Lachute has been opened to skaters during the last few days, and the rafters will shortly be echoing to the frenzy of hockey fans, the thumping of hickories on the boards, and all the old familiar war-cries.

Much has been said before (and has often passed unnoticed) in the cause of better sportsmanship on the ice. Lachute has perhaps a cleaner record of performance than many rural hockey organizations. Yet many games last season gave evidence of vindictiveness and undesirable tactics on the local ice.

The pretty little Anglican Church at Lachute was fairly well filled on Sunday morning, when the Rev. J. A. Lackey preached his farewell sermon. He leaves this week to visit with his son in Ottawa, where he will take a much-needed rest.

At the Liberal Convention held in Ottawa recently, a proposal to uphold a Liquor Control Act amendment — by which municipalities desiring beer and wine could have licenses granted for the sale of these beverages in their hotels — was hooted down with cries of "No, no. Sit down!"

Patronize your home town. Buy your wood from the town of Lachute and help the unemployed. All the best hardwood, $3 per cord of 18" wood.

The Rev. and Mrs. W. C. LeCras and family, of Quyon, Que., arrived in town on Wednesday to assume the rectorship of St. Simeon's Church.

The attraction of this County to hunters is amply justified in observations from one of Lachute's busiest filling stations over the week-end. . . Muir Brothers report having seen deer and bear loaded on cars which drew up at their tanks, to the estimated number of 90 carcasses, as hunters returned to the city after what appeared a highly successful week-end. The bag numbered mostly deer — and without having actually counted, Mr. Muir asserts 90 is no exaggeration of the total catch. One bear and many partridge were also in evidence.

Although baseball is commonly thought to have originated in the United States of America by one Abner Doubleday, in 1839, the name, baseball, had been given to a game commonly played in Maidstone, England, in the early 1700's. This game required the defence of what is now called the "home plate", and the running around of various "bases". This had developed from a Mediaeval English pastime of the Easter season, called stoolball, in which a ball was thrown at an upturned three-legged stool, while another player defended the stool from being hit by the ball. It was Doubleday, and subsequently Alexander Cartwright, who laid down distances between bases and the first code of rules for the game of baseball, in 1845, who popularized the game in the United States.

Canada, by the time of Confederation, had many followers of the game, and it was as early as 1870 that the Hamilton Maple Leafs challenged the famous Forest City Club of Rockford, Ill. In 1885 the first all-Canadian professional league, composed of four teams of the Province of Ontario, was formed.

What broadcasting station transmits in the Eskimo language?

The broadcasting station at Aklavik not only broadcasts in Eskimo, but also in English and Loucheux (Indian). CHAK, Aklavik, which is located 120 miles north of the Arctic Circle, on the East Channel of the Mackenzie River delta, is technically operated by the Royal Canadian Corps of Signals, on a frequency of 1230 kilocycles, and is one of the most northerly transmitters for regular broadcasting service.

Advice To Youngsters

We have a room in our basement, full of well-stuffed chairs, a beaten-up Toronto coach, and a chesterfield we bought when first married — plus a four-year-old TV set.

At first, I suppose it was TV that drew us together in this comfortable room. Now the set is off most of the time, but the family still gathers to chat, loaf or read. Last night, in a moment of quiet, Sal read aloud a few words that started a lecture from Dad.

"This sounds like you or Gramma," Sal said. "Gilbert Highet says a person ought to memorize something every day, and then when he's waiting for a bus or riding a train or has an idle moment, he has something good on his mind instead of just gawking. . ."

That started my lecture. Oddly enough, the kids enjoyed it. I'm sure they did, because when we were having our late snack, Sal said, "Go on, Dad . . . you're really interesting . . . better than TV!" Kids nowadays aren't given to idly flattering their parents, so the fact that no one disagreed with Sal encourages me to pass on the gist of my lecture.

I told them about the difficult times fellows like me had in the depression — how a thousand times I remembered something my father had written to me in a letter. He'd said, "Every locomotive has a sandbox and when the tracks get slippery on a hill, the engineer uses some of the sand. Every person has some sand in his makeup, in the form of character, and the time to use it is when things seem difficult. Just don't give up. Use some sand." I can still see those words in his handwriting as if I were only now reading them, and I hope my youngsters will remember them too.

I recited to my children something I read in the paper the other day. It said, "Neither Sputnick or Muttnick can destroy a poem, an act of kindness, or the satisfaction a man gets from giving more to the world than he expects from it."

My son piped up, "There is a danger that we are raising a generation of youngsters who enjoy shooting at sitting ducks, or delight in taking home from the hunt more birds than they brought down with their own guns."

"Hey," I said, "that's the point. Did you make that up?"

He grinned and held up a copy of a Sports magazine. "Read it ten minutes ago — right here."

"Memorize it," I told him, "and remember it. Next time you're tempted to feel sorry for yourself, it'll pop up in your mind."

I am convinced that if every youngster in Canada started life with a determination to do MORE than his share, but ask LESS than his share, we'd build a nation stronger and greater than the world has known. Unfortunately, too many crackpots are spouting a text that puts reverse English on that truth. And the strange thing about it is they claim to be idealists, and sometimes get away with it!

SPACE AGE

Are the Russians going to be the ones who will discover the space age, who will settle the other planets? Are the fine cars, labor-saving devices, easy living, making softies of us all? Are we like Nero, fiddling while the Russians get ahead of us?

"You'd think it would be an easy thing to get your family together for a group photograph, wouldn't you?" the lady asked.

I said it might depend on the size of the family. The Old Woman Who Lived in a Shoe, or the principals in "Cheaper By the Dozen" would find the task next to impossible.

"I have four," she said. "Three daughters and a son. All through their childhood we tried to assemble them for a picture, but there was always someone missing.

"Just when I thought I had the complete set, and I had arranged for the photographer to come out to the house, one of the children would come down with measles; then another one would leave for summer camp.

"I would manage to get two or three of them photographed. But year after year went by, and I still hadn't gathered them all in a group.

"Time and again I had it arranged, but something misfired at the last minute.

"When my eldest daughter was aged 21, and married, I decided the time had come to make a serious attempt, before my daughter moved away.

"I got my husband to rush home early from work, and my son stayed back from his reserve army parade, and the youngest daughter rushed in from her Brownie meeting, still in her uniform, because there wasn't time for her to change before I had to go out myself, to a meeting.

"The others rearranged their lives, in various ways. The photographer came, and by some miracle, everyone was there. It wouldn't have surprised me if the ceiling had fallen in, or if one of us had fainted and had been wheeled away in the ambulance.

"But nothing happened. Everyone looked nice. The photographer took the picture. When I asked him for the picture a few days later, you know what happened?"

"Let me guess," I said. "He grabbed the negative, ran away foaming at the mouth, and jumped off a building? And the picture blew away and was lost?"

"Not as bad as that," the lady said. "He hadn't focussed properly, and one of the girls was just a blur. He wouldn't let us have the picture, because he said it was a bad advertisement for him, to let sloppy work go out.

"I pleaded with him, but he wouldn't give me even one print," the lady said.

"Now my son and eldest daughter are both living a long way off, and I don't know when we'll ever get another chance to take that family picture."

Distressed Driver Appreciates Help On Lakeview Hill

(LETTER TO THE EDITOR)

10 Lansdowne Gardens,
Pointe Claire, P.Q.

Editor, Watchman,
Lachute, P.Q.

Dear Sir,

On Sunday, November 10th, my young daughter and I received kind help from other motorists on two very icy hills near Lakeview. I believe some of the helpers live in that area and no doubt read your newspaper.

On the second hill after some futile attempts to reach the top, we left the car half way up. We were watching the varying success of other drivers and dreading the thought of having to go either up or down, when a man with an invisible halo came up and said he had driven our car over the crest of the hill. I believe the knitted glove with leather palm that I found on the bonnet of the car may belong to him, or to the man who had been on the hill an hour helping other motorists.

May I use the medium of your newspaper to thank these two men and the other energetic pushers, and to ask the owner of the glove to write to me at the above address.

Yours truly,
— A. Gray

Turmoil in the Sporting Brew

SPORTS CAMERA
By Gerald Lougheed,
Canadian Press Staff Writer

A University of Toronto professor's blast at all sports brought a number of equally-harsh replies from officials in amateur and professional sport.

Speaking recently to a meeting of the Boys' Club of Canada in Toronto, Professor John Farina of the U of T's school of social work declared that all sports breed "cheating, larceny, fighting and downright sadism" and have no inherent value in themselves.

He continued: "Aside from the possible development of skills of questionable use, and perhaps physical development, there is very little use in sport and recreation activities themselves. It's ridiculous to say running will contribute to character. Running where? — along a back alley or on a cinder track?

"Running with what motivation — to win a prize, for the joy of running, or from a cop?"

Blames Leadership

Reporters hastened to interview the professor for elaboration.

He reiterated his charges but stressed that the meaning behind his blast has been overlooked in the resultant uproar from sports promoters and enthusiasts.

The inherent value lies in the leadership and the standards set by the leaders in sports, he said.

Sports today are too much in the hands of the promoters and fans, Professor Farina added. To be useful, sports must be in the hands of the participants themselves.

"The fact that sports activities have got out of the control of the players who play for the sake of the game has resulted in control and direction by promoters who use sport to meet their own needs."

Ken Yost of Winnipeg, secretary of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada, termed the professor "a frustrated person who apparently has never got out . . . to see what well-organized sport can do for the ordinary persons — physically mentally and socially."

Kenneth P. Farmer of Montreal president of the Canadian Olympic Association, said Professor Farina was "just silly. Maybe he doesn't understand the difference between sport and professional entertainment."

In amateur sport a competitor "plays for the fun he gets out of it," while in professional sport "he plays as a business," Farmer added. "There may be some things that could be improved in professional entertainment."

Said Clarence Campbell, president of the National Hockey League: "Social workers for 150 years have been saying that sports, including hockey, develop a give-and-take attitude, co-operation and courage. I suggest Professor Farina's credentials be examined and he be thrown out of his job."

The professor, 38, is a native of Vancouver who quarterbacked the University of British Columbia Thunderbirds football team for four years and coached six consecutive high school football champions.

He has directed the Edmonton Recreation Commission, served with the Canadian Welfare Council's recreation division in Ottawa and toured Germany and France to inspect RCAF training programs.

Catholic League B'burg Subdivision

Brownsburg — On November 18 the Catholic Women's League, St. Louis-de-France Sub-division, held their monthly meeting. Mrs. L. Hall presided and the Rev. Father Hurtubise was present. A new member, Mrs. R. Hickey, was welcomed to the League.

Plans were made for a Christmas party for the members and their families, to be held at the Legion Hall on December 15 at 3 p.m. On that day, the raffle for the Christmas basket will be drawn.

Thanks were expressed to the members who canvassed for the CNIB Campaign.

After the meeting had adjourned, refreshments were served by Mrs. L. Marchand's group.

Social and Personal

Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Clarke, of St. Lambert, spent the week-end here visiting their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Keith Clarke.

Mrs. Bernard Pilon and children returned home to Cartierville after spending a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Barker.

Mr. Kenwyn Richards and Miss Maggie Ward, both of Montreal, spent the past week-end at the home of Miss Barbara Todd in Lachute.

Church Ladies Held Tea and Reception

A pleasant function was held last Thursday in the basement of St. Simeon's Church in the form of an afternoon tea and reception, organized to promote acquaintance and friendship among newcomers with lady residents of the parish. About 75 ladies were present to enjoy this event.

Of Public Interest

The regular meeting of the Lachute Protestant School Board will be held in the High School next Tuesday, December 3, at 8 p.m. It is expected a number of the local public will be interested to attend, especially in view of the recent formation of a Lachute branch of the Home and School Association.

Mr. Fred Sanford arrived home last week-end via TCA from Vancouver, after an absence of five weeks visiting the Paper Mill industries in the mid-West and Pacific Coast areas, in the interests of Ayers Limited.

Guests at the home of Mrs. Ethel Williams over the week-end were Mr. and Mrs. Royce Williams, Miss Hazel Woods and Miss Theresa Hussey.

Newcomer to L.H.S. Teaching Staff

Mr. James A. Whitley, formerly of Northern Ireland, arrived last week-end to fill a vacancy on the staff of the local High School, where he will be teaching History and Physics. He is accompanied by his wife, formerly of Bloomfield, Ont. . . Mr. Whitley graduated with the degree of B.Sc. from Queen's University, Belfast, where he later took a post-graduate course in Radio Engineering, then serving with the RCAF before entering the teaching profession.

Miss Beverly Sanford, of McGill University, spent the week-end at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Sanford.

Mr. Stanley Sherritt and Mr. Clarence Sherritt and son, Murray, of Boston, Mass., spent the week-end visiting with their brother, Mr. Wilbert Sherritt, in Lakefield, and their sister, Mrs. L. Dawson, of Lachute.

LAC. George Barker, Mrs. Barker and daughter, Christine, returned to Ottawa after spending a week with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Barker.

Feted on Recent Marriage

Monday evening at the Legion Hall, staff members of the Farmers' Supply Company and Pioneer Chain Saws gathered to honor a fellow-employee, Mr. Ewart Callicott and Mrs. Callicott (the former Christina Paul), on their recent marriage. Mr. Doug Ogilvie was emcee for the occasion, and made the presentation of a silver tray to the honored couple on behalf of the gathering, which numbered between 35 and 40 persons.

Fellow-workers also took this occasion to make presentations to Messrs. D. Ogilvie and G. McNairn, who are leaving the employ of this company.

Refreshments were served, and a pleasant evening was spent with musical selections and dancing.

Mrs. Roy Elliott returned from Toronto after spending a week visiting her niece, Mrs. T. Nairn.

Elected President

Mr. R. A. Giles attended the third annual meeting of Quebec Division of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association, held last week in the Queen's Hotel, Montreal. In the election of officers, Mr. Giles was appointed president of the group for the ensuing year.

Lachute United Marks 136 Years of Witness

A large congregation assembled in Lachute United Church for the church anniversary. Attending the service were 30 Rotarians from Scotland, who are on a goodwill tour of Rotary and curling clubs in Canada and the United States.

Rotarian Bob MacIntosh, of Glasgow, captain of the group, read the Scripture lesson; the minister, the Rev. Wilson Bridge, preached on the subject of "Loyalty". Rotarian MacIntosh, on behalf of the visitors expressed thanks for the kind welcome they had received, and for a most helpful service.

New Minister Here For Jehovah's Witnesses

New ministers to serve in the Lachute congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses will be arriving in Lachute December 2 — according to information given last Sunday by A. J. Stainton, who has been presiding minister of the congregation for the past two and one-half years.

Mr. and Mrs. Stainton are proceeding to their new assignment at Magog, Que., and will be replaced at Lachute by Mr. and Mrs. Peter A. Rae. Mr. Rae comes from Port Alberni, B.C., and has spent many years in Quebec Province.

Mr. Stainton explained that all four of these missionaries are graduates of the Watchtower Bible School of Gilead. "We have enjoyed very much our association in Lachute, and look forward to getting acquainted in our new assignment just as the new minister and his wife are looking forward to coming to this community," Mr. Stainton said. He added: "This move, coming as it does at this time will make it possible to get settled in our new surroundings in good time to prepare for the truly big event ahead of us for 1958, preparations for and attending the International Assembly of Jehovah's Witnesses at New York City, July 27 to August 3."

Ministerial Association

The Argenteuil Protestant Ministerial Association will meet at 10 a.m. on December 2, in the United Church at St. Andrews East. The Rev. K. R. Miller will give the address. Final plans for the Week of Prayer will be made. It is hoped that all members will attend.

St. John's, Nfld. (CP) — Newfoundland license plates for 1958 will have black letters on a yellow background. The Motor Vehicle branch reported it is difficult to see this year's white numbers against a pale blue background.

GOOD CLUE

Closing of Diocesan Fund Campaign

Lucien G. Rolland, general chairman of the St. Jerome Diocesan Fund, announces results of the campaign: total to date is $1,005,424.32, of which $328,752.05 is in cash and $619,172.27 in pledges. Included in this total is an amount of $57,500 representing an estimate of donations still to come, and $136,488.05 allotted to the Lachute Hospital Building Fund.

The difference between cash receipts and promises is considerable, which means that the final objective will never be obtained unless all pledges are honored.

Mr. Rolland takes this opportunity to thank all the faithful of the diocese for the support which they have given this vital project, and adds, "We must count on the continued generosity and co-operation of our donors if we are to achieve the objective which we now announce. Without their support, the Bishop will not be permitted to realize his plans which are so important to the welfare of the diocese.

1st row: Messrs. Paul Lesage, F. Auguste Lorrain, Mgr. Pierre Decary, P.D., Mr. Lucien G. Rolland, His Excellency Bishop Emilien Frenette, Mr. William G. Power, Mgr. Adrien Moreau, P.D., Hon. Georges Dansereau, Messrs. Gilbert E. Ayers and Camille de Martigny;

Lachute High School Sports and Activities

By Roland Gow

SENIOR GIRLS AVENGE BASKETBALL DEFEATS

On Saturday, Brownsburg Senior girls met Lachute in what turned out to be a thrilling basketball game. By beating the Brownsburg team 26-12, Lachute then avenged their earlier defeats of the season.

It was a good, clean game in which the three-star selection consisted of Betty Underhill, Marilyn Underhill and Jean Taylor. Betty Underhill was also top scorer.

The Junior girls' team came to grief, losing to Brownsburg 18-13.

Volleyball

In volleyball, the previous Thursday against Brownsburg, the Senior girls went down 15-12 and 15-6. The Juniors won their game 15-7, thus rounding out the day.

Social

A "record-hop" was sponsored by the Students' Council on Saturday, 23, to which Brownsburg pupils were invited. Records were given away as prizes.

CANDIDATES NEEDED

There is nothing wrong with acclamations (to public office) so long as it does not indicate a lack of interest in municipal affairs. This can lead to complacency in a council and in turn to inefficiency in administration.

Jehovah's Witnesses

"Faith is not a possession of all people."
— 2 Thess. 3:2

"Yet . . without faith it is impossible to win God's good pleasure". — Heb. 11:16

One of the most astounding accounts in modern times of a faith that has surmounted all obstacles is the fascinating book FAITH ON THE MARCH, by A. H. Macmillan. It is the story of dedicated men who refused to be turned aside from their way of worship, who forged new links in the long chain of faithful witnesses to the supremacy and loving-kindness of Jehovah God. It is a faithful record of the integrity and determination of these Christian men and women, which will inspire persons of all faiths.

Obtain a copy for someone you know. Send it as a gift. It may be that your thoughtfulness will spark a faith that is only smoldering and will help someone to draw closer to God's smile of approval.

Price of this book, $2.95.

Ask any Witness you may happen to meet, or ask at the Congregation nearest to you; they will be pleased to take your order, or you may also write to — 150 Bridgeland Avenue, Toronto 10.

LACHUTE LEGION
CHIP-IN DRIVE
FRIDAY - SATURDAY
NOVEMBER 29-30

The "Chip-In Drive" will consist of the sale of chips, specially packaged, on Friday and Saturday, November 29-30. Cadets and teen-agers will help in the sale — and when you are approached, please give generously to this worthy cause.

This drive is put on to raise funds for the Legion, which in turn sponsors teen-age dances, and aids needy veterans and their dependents.

Christmas Letters

— By NANCY CLEAVER —

Did you ever think how much Christmas letters can add to the happiness of many people at very little cost? One of the best ways to remember friends, and those of our acquaintances who need our friendship, is to write a little note in the weeks that precede Christmas. This might be slipped into an envelope carrying a gay calendar, a bookmark or a snapshot, or it might be written on the back of a pretty card. It is so disappointing to receive a card with just a signature . . . not a single line of news or inquiry from the sender . . although that kind of card is better than no card at all!

An address book, or a Christmas notebook in which the names and addresses of friends are recorded, is a help in making out a list of names for Christmas notes. Write each one an individual letter, reflecting your genuine interest in their "doings" even if the rest of your letter follows a similar pattern. Cross off each name as you complete your message to them.

Post all your letters around the same time . . . leaving plenty of margin for delivery in the December mail congestion. It is only fair to the post man to "mail early," whatever the destination of your letter may be. Consult the poster in the post office for suggested mailing dates for overseas and for the different provinces.

Some people buy a box of Christmas stationery or decorate their own stationery with a Christmas seal in the upper left hand corner, or color the edge with a green or red pencil border. A mimeographed letter on green paper with room at the bottom for a brief personal note, might appeal to anyone who is exceptionally busy.

Letter writing is an art which almost disappeared in the lives of many people, until the war, with its separation of loved ones, revived it. It is a gracious custom which should not be lost in peace time. If we are too busy to write to our best friends, at least once a year at Christmas time . . . well we are, in truth, too busy!

With the passing of time our friends and relatives move to different communities, and at Christmas it is a great source of joy to know we are not forgotten by those we love. A little note reassures us that in spite of distance which lies between us, real friendship is an enduring thing.

The people who very much need this kind of reassurance are those into whose lives sorrow, or sickness has come. Surely all of us can add at least one name of a lonely person who may not expect to hear from us, or a young person who is perhaps homesick and cannot travel to see his own family. One of the loveliest letters we ever received was a thank-you note from a mother of a young Hollander who had attended our church and been a guest in our home. We had written to his folks how well he looked, how he was getting along at his job, and what a nice visitor he was.

"Are you willing to stoop down and consider the needs and desires of little children; to remember the weakness and loneliness of people who are growing old; to stop asking how much your friends love you, and to ask yourself whether you love them enough; to bear in mind the things that other people have to bear in their hearts; to trim your lamp so that it will give more light and less smoke, and to carry it in front so that your shadow will fall behind you; to make a grave for your ugly thoughts, and a garden for your kindly feelings, with the gate open — are you willing to do these things even for a day?

"Then you can keep Christmas!"

More Questions About Flour

Question: Can all purpose or bread flour be substituted for pastry flour in recipes?

Answer: Yes, when all-purpose or bread flour is used in place of pastry flour 2 tablespoons less per cup is required.

Question: Is there any rule to follow when sifting and measuring flour?

Answer: All white flours should be sifted once before measuring. Dark flours should be stirred lightly with a fork before measuring. Spoon the flour lightly into the measuring cup. Do not shake it down, or pack it, into the cup.

Question: What is the difference between Graham flour and Whole Wheat (entire wheat) flour?

Answer: Graham flour is actually white flour to which bran and other parts of the wheat kernel have been added. Whole Wheat (entire wheat) flour contains all the natural parts of the wheat kernel up to at least 95 percent of the total weight of the wheat from which it was made. Both types of flours have a brownish color.

Question: How are Graham flour and Whole Wheat (entire wheat) flour used?

Answer: Both these flours are used with various proportions of white flour for the making of yeast bread and rolls as well as quick breads.

Question: Why are Graham flour and Whole Wheat (entire wheat) flour used in recipes with various proportions of white flour?

Answer: Both these flours contain more protein than all purpose or bread flour. However, the bran particles present in them cut the gluten strands, which results in a heavy textured baked product. By using these flours with proportions of white flour a lighter product is attained.

Turkey Problem in Small Family

ROAST HALF TURKEY — a delicious answer to the turkey problem of the small family. Available in 9 to 12 pounds weight, full flavored meaty halves cook in 4 to 4½ hours.

With large turkeys more plentiful than small birds this Christmas, some families may not be able to buy the smaller birds to suit their needs. The problem, however, is easily solved by buying half of a large turkey.

Half turkeys may run 9 to 12 pounds, and don't let anyone tell you half a turkey doesn't taste like a whole turkey. It's like saying half an apple or half a potato don't taste like a whole apple or a whole potato.

Cooking a half turkey is very simple and the bird may be stuffed or not, as preferred. As for carving if anything it is easier to carve the half bird since it fits flat on the platter.

1. Remove pin feathers, singe and wash as usual.

2. Skewer skin along keel bone to protect breast from drying out.

3. Tie leg to tail and skewer wing flat against body. Place skin side up on a rack in shallow roasting pan and cover completely with double thickness of cheesecloth moistened with melted fat or rub turkey with fat and cover with loose tent of aluminum foil. Baste during cooking if cloth or turkey shows signs of drying out.

4. Roast in a moderately slow oven, 325°F. For 8 to 12 pound half turkey allow approximately 4 to 4½ hours.

5. To stuff half turkey, arrange dressing on piece of foil or heavy paper, mounding to the shape of the turkey cavity. Place under turkey for the last hour of cooking. If preferred, dressing may be baked in a covered casserole or bag of aluminum foil.

Garnish turkey platter with halves of canned pears tinted green and filled with cranberry jelly.

Fashions

Rich silk and delicate lace are an irresistible combination for party clothes. Here, deep jewel-tone green silk faille is combined with matching green Chantilly-type lace for a short evening dress that should hold its own amidst all those fine floor-length gowns. The silk is cut in redingote fashion, breaking away to reveal the complete lace dress beneath. A cleverly cut cummerbund minimizes the waist.

Teatime Topics

Written Specially for The Lachute Watchman

By Mary Fran Burke

Canadian Press Staff Writer

"Go wild with color" is the advice of one color expert to homemakers fixing up basement playrooms.

"A room for play and casual entertaining is an active place and colors should be lively — even shocking," maintains color consultant Wilfrid D. Sinclair of Montreal.

"This is one place where a homemaker needn't feel timid about her taste in decorating. Paint each wall a different color if you like" Mr. Sinclair suggested. Since a basement receives little or no sunlight, keep away from cold blues and greens. Concentrate on yellow and orange tones with rosy browns and pinks.

A problem faced by anyone decorating a basement room is what to do about the inevitable plumbing Mr. Sinclair suggests you paint the pipes in vivid contrasting colors to make them part of the play-room decoration. Deal with necessary fixtures such as the furnace and oil tank the same way. A cherry red water heater can be quite decorative, he said.

As for basement windows, they are often too small. Window frames should be the same color as the wall and even the curtains should not attract the eye. In arranging furniture keep interest away from window wall.

Basement stairs are often narrow and poorly lighted. Mr. Sinclair suggests combining safety with decorating by using bright yellow paint, striping the handrail and top and bottom steps with startling bars of black.

Shimmering Salads

There's nothing that adds more color to a buffet party supper than an assortment of shimmering moulded salads. They are particularly good for serving at this time of year, because they lend themselves to an almost limitless variety of shapes and decorations and are easy on the hostess.

Moulded salads are usually made with a gelatine base but sometimes the ones that are frozen, such as Camembert Cheese Mousse, do not require any gelatine. In any case it is important that moulded salads are served on cold plates. If you are serving them along with something hot, plan to serve one or other in a side dish.

Here's a recipe recommended by home economists of the department of agriculture: Jellied Chicken Salad — 2 tablespoons gelatine, ½ cup cold chicken stock, 2 cups hot chicken stock seasoned with salt, paprika and minced chives, 1½ cups diced cooked chicken, 1 cup chopped celery, ½ cup chopped apple, ½ cup chopped green pepper.

Sprinkle gelatine over cold chicken stock and let stand for five minutes. Stir in hot seasoned chicken stock. Let cool and partially set, then add remaining ingredients and pour into jelly mould. Chill until firm.

Unmold and serve on a bed of lettuce garnished with thin radish slices and watercress. Serve with mayonnaise.

Tweedsmuir Competition For Women's Institutes

An original song for the Women's Institute, words and melody, will form the Cultural Section, and a book of quilt-block patterns, the Craft, for the 1957-59 Tweedsmuir Competition. The other section, Village History, is a permanent feature of these biennial contests, sponsored by the Federated Women's Institutes of Canada.

These three divisions for a national competition were suggested by Lady Tweedsmuir, wife of a former Governor-General, at the time of her residence in Canada. Two of the sections were designed to cover a variety of activities, changing from time to time, but Lady Tweedsmuir felt the community, or village history, could be a valuable contribution to Canadiana and as such should remain fixed.

The committee appointed by the FWIC Board to have charge of this next contest consists of Mrs. E. J. Roylance, Greenwood, B.C., chairman; Mrs. Wilfrid Bishop, Paradise, N.S.; and Mrs. W. A. Thomson, Pense, Sask.

You can't go "ALL-OUT" If you feel "ALL-IN"
These days most people work under pressure, worry more, sleep less. This strain on body and brain makes physical fitness easier to lose—harder to regain. Today's tense living, lowered resistance, overwork, worry—any of these may affect normal kidney action. When kidneys get out of order, excess acids and wastes remain in the system. Then backache, disturbed rest, that "tired-out" heavy-headed feeling often follow. That's the time to take Dodd's Kidney Pills. Dodd's stimulate the kidneys to normal action. Then you feel better—sleep better—work better. Ask for Dodd's Kidney Pills at any drug counter. 53

Ruminations on the Waning Year, Church Bazaars and Other Signs

"Exile from Sunnyacres"

By Margaret Cook

The yellow tree of yesteryear (it was yestermonth, of course, but "year" rhymes better) is now just one of those etchings against the sky, which are one of the subtle beauties of November, and the approaching winter. . . Other signs are church bazaars, and oil tanks needing filling. There are even a few Christmas shoppers about. Also, the daughter of the house was asked to appear on one of the floats of the Santa Claus parade, and was surprised that we vetoed the idea with scorn. Goose pimples on legs never did impress us as things of beauty, no matter how shapely the legs. As the psalmist commented some centuries ago, "The Lord delighteth in no man's legs." Maybe he was talking about the male sex only: knobbly knees!

However did we get onto the subject of knees? — Especially when most of our waking thoughts are occupied with either a teen-age party or a supper for two hundred and fifty. The teen-age affair is just another party to us, but to the daughter of the house a kind of coming-out in society. She goes about worrying lest her parents do the wrong thing. In this part of suburbia, customs at such parties vary considerably. Some parents provide refreshment, liquid as well as solid, and go into the city to spend the night, creeping back home quietly in the morning to see if any furniture and dishes are intact. We know of one such event where the piano was smashed. The Cooks do not subscribe to this view of the rights of adolescents. Neither will they agree to remain invisible, though present. The unfortunate guests will be obliged to greet the owners of the house, and even bid them goodnight. I also plan to be around at supper time. In between, having made a plan of the evening's festivities, I am agreeable to handing over to a master and mistress of ceremonies, two young people of our acquaintance. I am allowed to cook the food, and the head of the house is permitted to foot the bills. Two things we have stipulated — this is not a shirt-tail-hanging-out party, and everything stops before the Sabbath begins. . . Those readers who have teen-agers will think of me.

The supper for two hundred and fifty is relatively a simple matter. After setting up five committees, I shall have little to do but make chicken pies for fifty. It sounds grim, but is surprisingly easy. Especially on the new stove we were obliged to acquire in a hurry — the old one, after twenty-six years of service, having succumbed to thermostat trouble. The next week, the furnace had a pain in its thermostat, but a new furnace was not required, merely something called a Mueller. . . Life, as you can read, has been hectic at the Cooks' lately.

In between these crises, we go out or refuse to go out. I am convinced that what the world needs more than anything else is the ability to say "No", and mean it. To people who press one to see this play, to be on that committee, to attend this lecture, why cannot the average person say "No"? I do not mind a bit, but apparently it is bad form. One is accused of being antisocial. To which one is tempted to reply vulgarly, "So what!" One needs time for one's family, or for just being. Someone has commented that this is the age when everybody loves his neighbor, and practically nobody loves God. It takes time to appreciate the wisdom of the Infinite, and time is what no one has. . .

Except the Russians! Labor is rapidly pricing itself, and Canada, out of the world market. We are one of those Philistines who applaud Sputnik, or at least the initiative and industry that produced the gadget. We in America (I use America in its broader and more correct meaning) have things too soft. Labor, especially, wants to do less for more pay. Which is, as Euclid so sensibly puts it, an absurdity. We know of a building development whose officials are putting up twenty-six prefabricated houses, imported at less cost than the same quality of house can be built for in Canada. The Government will undoubtedly be blamed for allowing this, but labor will still make a ruling about the maximum number of bricks a workman may lay in a day. The public which buys houses, and which is also Canadian, is about to turn — like the long-suffering worm.

There is also the matter of our Canadian ships sailing from Port of Spain. We read in a reputable business journal of a ship being held up in port for some days because the sailors refused to sail before a cracked mirror was replaced. And we pay taxes for this kind of thing? In Russia, the sailor would be lucky to have a mirror, probably too tired to look in it, anyway.

Speaking of taxes — we who live in the Lakefield district should pay ours more happily, now that we are getting a new road on Route 30. Amos and I had never hoped to live to see a paved road rolling through our beloved countryside. But, barring two untimely demises, we shall. We travelled over Route 30 early this month, and were astonished and delighted at the progress which had been made. The rocks of the Laurentian Shield yield grudgingly to the immense machines busily digging and filling. The terrain could be used for a movie backdrop for the aftermath of an earthquake, but day after day, the band of men moves forward a little, and the road becomes less picturesque but more usable. Come next summer and we shall bowl happily down to Lachute in a few minutes. . . Yes, democracy has its moments, too. They are only farther spaced than in an autocracy!

We saw some fine slides of India recently taken by Dr. Penfield, of neurological fame. India has always been of interest to us, chiefly because, in our youth, a beloved rector had been born and brought up there, and he told us many tales of his homeland. Now, in maturity, we feel that India is a land of fate, and Mr. Nehru a man of power. Kipling opined that East and West would never meet, but it looks in this modern world as if they do, in India. India has a modified democratic government, and Canadians living in India seem to agree that the government of India is honestly trying to do its best, without fear or favor of either the powers of the East or the West. A great experiment is being carried out there. If we cannot do anything else, we can at least inform ourselves of it.

Politics, politics — grumbles a reader. To which I retort, "There you go being American, again." But just to end on a frivolous note — did you hear about the kangaroo who cried, "Oh, I do hope it isn't going to rain. I hate it when the children have to play inside"?

Brownies-Guides Ceremony Held In Brownsburg

The 1st Brownsburg Brownie Pack met with the 1st Brownsburg Girl Guide Company in the school auditorium November 14 for a "Flying Up" ceremony, and to invest sixers for the Brownie Pack.

Mrs. Sam Rose, president of the Girl Guide Company and Brownie Pack, welcomed the many parents and friends present.

A few games were played and the meeting closed with "Taps".

Additional Scholarships By Dept. of Mines

Quebec — The Hon. W. M. Cottingham, Minister of Mines, announces that his department has granted additional scholarships.

At the beginning of September, 81 young men, including 23 post-graduates, pursuing studies in mining, geology or metallurgy, has received an offer of financial assistance from the Government of the Province. Now 15 students have been added to the list of the Department of Mines' bursars.

The shortage of specialists in the mineral industry is still strongly felt, and for this reason the Government wishes to encourage students in that field, in order that the population of the province may get its fair share in the development of our natural resources.

Church Tea and Sale

The Women's Association of the United Church held their Christmas tea and sale last Friday; the event was well attended. The proceeds were proof of the success of this effort, and proved very gratifying to the ladies for all their work.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Melrose, of St. Eustache-sur-le-Lac, were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Campbell.

Mrs. Mary Campbell has left for New York, where she will be the guest of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Campbell, at Larchmont, for a couple of weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. James Voce have spent several days in Toronto and vicinity, visiting friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Nesbitt and children, of Montreal, were week-end guests of the latter's mother, Mrs. Roy Campbell.

Mrs. W. Marsden, of St. Eustache-sur-le-Lac, was the week-end guest of Mr. and Mrs. H. Gillingham.

Mrs. Gordon Allen and son, Mark, are in Montreal this week visiting friends.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Cameron and children, Penny and Robbie, and Miss Wendy Kneeland, spent Saturday last in Montreal.

Young Adult Group

The United Church Young Adult Group held their November meeting on the 26th. Final plans were made for the tea and sale to be held in the church hall December 4; beautiful hand-made Christmas gifts will be available. Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. I. Watchorn and Mrs. L. Kirkpatrick.

Ogdensburg

Mr. John Heatlie, Sr., returned home Saturday evening from the Royal Winter Fair in Toronto, where he had spent the past week and a half. Mr. John Heatlie, Jr., also attended the Fair, and returned a week earlier.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Pearson, of Montreal, spent last week-end with Mr. and Mrs. W. Wert. On their return home they were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Wert.

Week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. P. Duratny, were Mr. and Mrs. D. Ashton and family, of Lachine, and Mr. and Mrs. E. Pyndus, of Verdun.

Miss Gwen Kelly, of Montreal, spent last week-end with Mrs. John Heatlie, Jr.

Mrs. Wallace MacKiddie spent Friday in Montreal.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Williams, of Lachine, and Mr. E. Routledge, of Ville LaSalle, spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. L. Plummer.

Week-end visitors at Mr. and Mrs. R. Townsend's were Mr. and Mrs. G. Williams, of Dorval, and Mr. and Mrs. E. Williams, of Lachine.

Miss Vivian Heatlie, nurse-in-training at the Civic Hospital, Ottawa, has spent the past two weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Heatlie.

Mabel

Mrs. Raymond Warwick was in Montreal on Saturday last and visited her daughter, Mrs. Wm. Todd and Mr. Todd.

Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Jackson were Mr. and Mrs. George Jackson and family, also Miss Betty Rowe, of Lachute.

Mr. and Mrs. John Black spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. David J. Rodger at East Settlement.

Non-Committal on Possible Deepening Of Ottawa River

Ottawa — The Department of Transport may re-examine water transport facilities of the Ottawa River from the Capital to Montreal, and the Richelieu River with its canal system, but any action to deepen or improve these waterways will depend on actual and potential traffic.

While the Ottawa is still a "navigable river", a Transport Department official said, its importance has very largely dwindled in the past generation or so. Its use today is confined chiefly to pleasure craft and to a few small boats which ply back and forth from Masson, 20 miles downstream from Ottawa, to New York City. These craft are self-propelled barges with a draft of from six to six-and-a-half feet.

Members of a movement to bring back commercial shipping to the Ottawa River are convinced that such transport will be demanded by the increasing number of industries along both the Ontario and Quebec sides of the river.

New 5c Stamp Issued Shortly

The Hon. William Hamilton, Postmaster General, announced the details of a new design postage stamp that will be issued on January 22, 1958.

The stamp will be of five-cent denomination and is intended to emphasize the significant influence of the printed word on the life of Canadians. Because it is the most popularly known form of printed communication, the newspaper is depicted as the subject of the stamp. Canadian newspapers have long maintained an enviable reputation in dealing with day-to-day affairs, both in news and editorial form.

Issuing of the stamp also coincides with celebration of the jubilee of The Canadian Press, the co-operative news gathering organization which services member newspapers throughout the country. This non-profit organization in its day-to-day dissemination of news material has played an important part in bringing the people of Canada closer together and in helping to create the Canada of today.

The stamp was designed by A. L. Pollock of Toronto. Mr. Pollock has achieved outstanding success with the design of previous Canadian postage stamps, notably the current issue Textile Industry stamp, the Chemical Industry stamp and a stamp issued by the United States. The stamp will be printed in black and white.

If the world of modern jazz considers coolness to be a good thing then indeed Phil Nimmons, as the leader of Canada's top progressive jazz group, could be termed 'frigid'. Phil and his group "Nimmons 'n' Nine" may be heard regularly on CBC radio.

Hawkesb'y Concert by "Les Joyeux Copains"

"Les Joyeux Copains de Hawkesbury," winners of five trophies at different music festivals in Ontario during the last three years, are holding their annual concert at the Hawkesbury District High School on Thursday, December 5, at 8.30 p.m.

The interpretation of French folklore by this ten-voice male choir is one of the best, according to festival adjudicators. "Les Joyeux Copains" recently recorded a long-play of folk songs for the London Record Co. of Canada; this record is now being distributed throughout Canada and the United States.

Weekly Drawing at Desrosiers Automobiles

Winner of the $25 cash drawing last week at Desrosiers Automobiles was Jean-Paul Gagné, of Veterans' Taxi, whose ticket (No. 1501) was drawn from the drum Saturday noon by Emile Monette, of Gatineau Power Co.

Hawkesbury Section Of Chemical Institute Meeting at Brownsburg

The Hawkesbury Section of the Chemical Institute of Canada will hold the third meeting of this season in Brownsburg on Monday, December 2, in the Brownsburg Legion Hall.

The meeting is to be preceded by a tour through the C-I-L Ammunition Plant in Brownsburg, and following the tour, C-I-L will be host at a reception at the Brownsburg Legion Hall at 5 p.m. — dinner being served at 6 p.m.

Dr. J. M. Humphrys will be speaker at this meeting. Dr. Humphrys is the manager of the Research and Technical Department of C-I-L, Brownsburg. His topic will deal with the development of explosives.

HISTORICAL MARKERS

Is Gananoque losing out because it has no historical society? We think it is. The erection of historical tablets or signs in such places as Kingston, Perth and Lindsay, where such groups operate, bear this out.

Tips on Touring

By Carol Lane
Women's Travel Authority

Gardenias that glow in the dark have nothing on sweaters that glimmer in a headlight. Garments that light up when a strong light strikes them are among the newest, and most exciting, contributions to pedestrian safety.

Reflectorized garments are made of cloth that looks like any other cloth, until headlights shine on it. Then it glows a bright silver that can be seen for several hundred yards.

And here's why that's important. An average motorist driving his car 40 miles an hour cannot stop in less than 164 feet. He'll probably need more. That could mean trouble, especially if he suddenly came upon someone walking at night on an unlighted road.

Reflectorized cloth can multiply the margin of safety tenfold. It picks up the headlight beam and shines so the driver can see it 1600 feet away — plenty of room for safety.

The prime ingredient of the reflectorized cloth is a new type of grey yarn. It works on the same principle as that used in reflective sheeting developed some time ago for marking military supply routes and outlining life-saving gear.

Jackets for boys, girls and adults, as well as snowsuits, rainwear, capes and mittens have been made from the cloth and are now on the market.

B of M Report Shows New Records

The highest paid-up capital in Canadian banking history is noted in the 140th annual report of the Bank of Montreal; deposits, loans and total resources are at record levels. The report, covering the year ended October 31, was released here this week by Donald Hay, manager of the Lachute branch.

B of M capital, which stood at $45 million, has risen to $53,686,832 as a result of a recent offering of new stock. This figure will increase to $54 million when the stock issue is complete. Together with a rest account of $118 million, shareholders' funds, including undivided profits, will accordingly rise to $174,113,834.

Total deposits have increased by $43 million to a new high figure of $2,632 million. Resources climbed $83 million to a record $2,866 million.

Strong Liquid Position

Although the bank's holdings of government and other securities were reduced from $916 million in 1956 to $873 million in 1957, its liquid position is maintained in its total quick assets of $1,476 million — 54.8 per cent of all public liabilities.

While commercial loans, at $1,174 million, showed a slight contraction of six million, the figure for total loans at $1,437 million compares with $1,383 million in 1956, an increase of $54 million, chiefly in call and NHA mortgage loans.

The $36 million valuation for bank premises across Canada, is clear indication of the extent to which new branches have been established and offices modernized; the comparable 1956 figure was $30 million.

B of M Earnings Rise

Earnings show the bank's operations for the year resulted in a profit of $18,840,692 — two million dollars over the previous year. Provision for taxes, however, at $9,191,000, exceeded payments to shareholders by well over one million dollars, leaving a net profit of $9,649,692.

Of this amount, shareholders received $7,946,013 on the basis of $1.60 per share — the same return as they received in 1956.

The Teen-Age Problem

By Lewis Milligan

Juvenile delinquency was recently reported to be rampant in the United States, particularly among high school pupils in big cities. The situation was serious enough to call for an investigation and it was attributed to disrespect for authority, inattention to studies and a craze for amusement. But the problem is apparently not confined to the States. A world poll has been taken in thirteen countries on the following questions:

"How do you feel teen-agers behave today compared with teen-agers in the last generation? Do you think they behave better today, worse today, or about the same?"

Majorities polled felt they behave about the same. Very few said they are better, and about half condemned the current crop of youngsters as "worse". A Dutch mother is quoted as saying: "Teen-agers of these days are not much different. We were no darlings, either." A common comment was, "They act too freely; they don't even listen to their parents or elders; they are misrepresenting what freedom means."

A French grocer remarked: "The children who experienced the Occupation are, above all, anxious to live without exertion and have no respect for their elders." Others complained that they were corrupted by the effects of the war and post-war period: "Too much freedom, too much money and too much acceptance of American influence." That influence seemed to have spread to as far off as Australia, where a factory worker with two teen-agers is quoted as saying: "There is too much primitive daneing, like rock-and-roll, calypso and jitterbugging. They are aping American films which give them a false outlook on life."

Canada was not included in the poll, presumably because we are so close to the United States and on the assumption that our teen-agers along with the rest of us are dominated by American influence. That is true enough in many respects and particularly in reference to youngsters whose studies are chiefly confined to American comic strips, movie magazines and television programs. With so many such luring attractions it is little wonder that they are detracted from the serious business of education.

Speaking on this question at the recent convention of the Canadian Education Association, Mr. J. R. H. Morgan, superintendent of Secondary Schools, said: "It is a somewhat pious assumption that keeping a youngster in school makes him a good citizen. He just sits around and does nothing. You are just making a bum out of him." In former days, before secondary education was free to all, must public school pupils graduated immediately into the university of adversity where they soon learned there was no place for a bum. Mr. Morgan condemned the practice of passing poor students into higher grades without thorough examination. He thought they should be allowed to drop out. "Our society," he said, "offers many more educative factors than school."

If there is more juvenile delinquency today it is certainly not due to lack of opportunities for higher education, but rather because education is too cheap and easy. The only education worth while is that acquired by personal application and hard work. All play and no work makes Jack a dull student and a deficient citizen. Parents and teachers should not be kill-joys, but neither should they spare the rod of mental discipline upon the dullards and play-boys committed to their charge.

Fitness Expert Urges Exercise

Winnipeg (CP) — Canadians generally are in shocking physical condition, says Dr. Doris Plewes, fitness and recreation consultant to the federal health and welfare department.

One of Canada's best-known physical education experts, Dr. Plewes is in western Canada continuing a nation-wide research survey to determine normal fitness standards for Canadians. She has already spent a year in eastern Canada, and has formed decided opinions about Canadians from six to 60.

"We're well fed, we are as healthy if not healthier than before, but the general physical condition of Canadians is terrible," she said.

The doctor agreed that Europeans generally keep in better condition than Canadians.

"The difference over there is that one isn't really socially acceptable if one remains in poor physical condition for any length of time."

Dentist: "I'm sorry, but I'm out of gas."

Growth Cabinets Aid Research in Cereal Breeding

In recent years plant growth cabinets have been in use in Canada and in several other countries. During the past five years prefabricated self-contained plant growth cabinets, which are artificially lighted and temperature controlled, have been developed in co-operation with a commercial firm at the government Cereal Breeding Laboratory at Winnipeg.

It is possible, by the use of these new units, to grow four crops of spring wheat or oats, or five crops of barley during a single year. This is of great value to the plant breeder during the early stages of development of new varieties. This work can now go forward without interruption at all seasons of the year.

The units are lighted by a combination of fluorescent and incandescent lamps which provide light of a quality closely approaching that of natural daylight. This combination of lights provides light of a maximum intensity of 2,000 foot candles at soil level. Length of day may be varied at will by means of a time switch built into the unit. Refrigerating and air circulating equipment is incorporated in each cabinet. The purpose of this is two-fold, first, to remove the heat generated by the lamps, and second, to allow the unit to be operated over a range of controlled growing temperatures, either higher or lower than that of the room in which the cabinet is situated. The temperature available within the cabinet may be varied from 55 to 80 degrees F. with full light, and lowered to 40 degrees when only half of the lights are in use. In this manner, natural light and temperature conditions at various seasons of the year may be simulated.

The complete unit is approximately 5 feet wide, 11 feet long and 8 feet high. The growing space is 4 by 7 feet which accommodates 136 pots, 4 inches in diameter. From one to three plants are usually grown in each pot. As many as 120 different wheat crosses have been made in a single cabinet, with better results than are usually obtained either in the field or greenhouse. The cabinets are also suitable for the rapid increase of small hybrid populations. Inoculation of various crops with rust, smut, and other diseases can be successfully carried out in the cabinets without the use of auxiliary inoculation chambers. The most suitable conditions for the development of infection can be maintained at all times.

Speeding Plant Research

Plant growth cabinets are speeding the work of plant breeders in their search for new and better varieties. Shown above is a corridor in the Cereal Breeding Laboratory, Canada Department of Agriculture, Winnipeg, Man., with plant growth cabinets on each side. A control panel, seen on right, regulates the number of hours and intensity of artificial daylight and temperature in each cabinet. Below is the interior of a cabinet showing maturing crop. The fluorescent and incandescent lamps which provide light of a quality closely approaching that of natural daylight can be seen in the ceiling. Four crops of wheat and oats or five crops of barley can be matured annually under this artificial daylight.

Farm Machinery Sets Problem in Economics

Argenteuil Forums Express Views

Argenteuil Farm Forum members agree that most types of machinery are available today. They agree, too, that it costs more than they can afford to pay! Harrington branch says that a forage harvester would be new in their district, and they think it would be very useful and versatile. To overcome the cost problem, they believe it could be shared by more than one or two farmers.

The Forums thought there was room for improvement on farm implements. East Settlement thought the use of better material in machinery would cut down on the cost of repairs and maintenance. Jerusalem and Bethany suggest that all machinery should have interchangeable wheels. Lachute Road would like to add more hydraulic attachments to their equipment. Mabel replied that they would like to see machines that could be used for more than one farming operation. They believe such a machine would be a great improvent for farmers who operate mixed farms.

Suggestions from Forums in other parts of the province ranged from standardized hitches or hook-ups, to many small changes for different types of machines. Quite a number of them supported the proposal by the Mabel Forum. Eleven groups think the greatest improvement to be made would be the standardization of basic parts of different makes of machinery. Of all the suggestions given, more standardization of basic parts, such as nuts and hitches, is the most popular.

Farm Prices Under Debate

The cost-price squeeze is the fundamental problem facing agriculture today, according to 56% of the Farm Forums who reported to Toronto following the November 4 discussion on National Farm Policy. Marketing and disposal of surpluses came next on the Forums' list of grievances. The comments sent in to the National Farm Radio Forum office made clear that farmers generally, think they are receiving fair prices for their produce but costs of production are increasing much faster proportionately.

Three quarters of the Forums believe a national farm policy can be designed to raise the general level of agriculture and at the same time meet their needs. There was not, however, any clear-cut answer as to how this could be done. Some of the suggestions, of almost equal importanbe to the Forums, were price supports, improved farm credit, unified farm organization, and stabilized markets (marketing boards).

Heather Rated Possible Carrier Of Root Parasite

As an example of how regulations to prevent spread of crop diseases can be violated quite innocently, several heather plants had to be refused entry into Canada during the summer by officials of the Plant Protection Division, Canada Department of Agriculture. This action was not taken to stop Scots from receiving a sprig of heather from the ain folk at home. It became necessary to prevent the possibility of the Golden Nematode being introduced into Canada on the roots and adhering soil of the heather plants. This particular nematode, a microscopic member of the worm family, which can do great damage to growing plants, is unknown in Canada and so stringent regulations are justified to prevent its introduction into Canadian soil.

An additional threat arose when it was found that to preserve freshness, some of the sprigs of heather had been embedded in raw potatoes. The importation of potatoes from Europe is prohibited to guard against the introduction of potato wart disease. This disease, which if established could be most detrimental to Canada's potato crop, is unknown in Canada except in Newfoundland.

All heather which was free of roots and soil and was in no way contaminated by the potatoes was released for delivery to the recipients, as was heather certified by the Minister of Agriculture in Scotland as being free of the Golden Nematode. Naturally the potatoes were destroyed.

Potato Chip Industry Needs Raw Material

Canada's hustling potato chip industry, growing at a rate of 15% a year, needs raw material reports The Financial Post.

Believe it or not, this $36 million industry can't get enough Canadian spuds. Processors are importing potatoes from as far away as Florida and Virginia.

Solution: Storage of adequate quantities, free from frost of course.

The processors themselves can't store a whole year's potato supply. Many lay in as much as they can in late summer, but this seldom amounts to more than an eight-month supply. City storage space is too expensive.

Census Indicates Crop Acreages Through Province

The Agriculture Division of the Quebec Bureau of Statistics gives an estimate of the area of principal crops in the Province of Quebec in 1957. As in previous years, the estimate is based on the survey carried out in June by means of questionnaires distributed to farmers by teachers in rural schools.

The total area of the principal crops is 7,879,400 acres in 1957, as compared to 7,882,870 in 1956.

Figures for the various crops are as follows:

Crop	Acres	% 1957 Compared to 1956
Spring Wheat	15,000	100
Oats	1,258,000	100
Barley	25,300	80
Rye	8,300	101
Mixed Grains	190,000	98
Buckwheat	37,900	80
Peas, dry	4,000	125
Beans, dry	1,500	100
Potatoes	97,900	99
Field Roots	8,200	81
Tame Hay	3,497,000	100
Fodder Corn	68,300	87
Sugar Beets	6,000	106
Pastures	2,662,000	101
Total	7,879,400	100

Beet Pulp vs. Bulky Las

This is beet pulp, or rather Bulky Las time — although Bulky Las time is all the time!

Beet pulp is a good feed as far as it goes, but Bulky Las is a better feed and does have beet pulp in it; and it will do everything beet pulp will do, and do it better.

Just look at the different extra values in Bulky Las:

1. MOLASSES. — Bulky Las has cane molasses, which makes the cows relish it more.

2. MINERALS. — Bulky Las has a wider range and greater abundance of minerals than beet pulp.

3. PROTEIN. — Bulky Las has 4 pounds more protein, and from different sources than beet pulp, which is a decided value.

4. VOLUME. — Bulky Las has about the same volume and same water-absorbing qualities as beet pulp.

5. PRICE. — Bulky Las is less than 20 cents a bag more.

BUT, all these advantages are worth far more than twenty cents a bag! So that, any way you measure them, Bulky Las is the best buy.
