A Golden Book for city hall

Mayor Jas. W. McGibbon (left) receives a gift for the civic corporation of Lachute, a Golden Book presented by the Hon. W. M. Cottingham on behalf of the Quebec Department of Mines, which earlier this year installed a permanent display in the public lobby of city hall. The presentation took place at a recent luncheon following the official opening of Lachute Fair.

CNIB reviews business and elects year's officers

At a C.N.I.B. executive meeting, held June 22, the Field Services supervisor, Mr. A. McClintock, announced that the Divisional Board Finance Committee had approved a grant of $15,000 for purchase of the local C.N.I.B. quarters at 145 Drew Street. This money was made available from the C.N.I.B. Endowment Fund and the premises will thus become the property of the Argenteuil Advisory Board of the C.N.I.B. This local Board is to repay the loan over a period of years from rents received and from other fund-raising activities. . . . The Building Fund now has a balance of $585.00.

Mr. McClintock recommended that a Building Committee be established to look after and control the new property, and Mr. Léopold Carriere was unanimously chosen as chairman of the committee, with Mr. Maurice Coulombe and Mr. J. B. Chalmers.

In outlining activities for future development of the C.N.I.B. in Argenteuil, Mr. McClintock expressed warm appreciation of the Quebec Division for the initiative shown by the local Board in establishing a permanent headquarters. He stated that a blind person was currently being trained in the restringing of tennis, badminton and squash racquets and would shortly be set up in the garage of the quarters at 145 Drew Street for this work. Later on this man would receive training in the repair of bicycles and it was expected once this person became proficient, other sightless persons might come to Lachute to be trained in bicycle repair work.

The annual dance to take place in mid-August was duly discussed, and it is expected that ticket sales will begin in the early part of July.

Officers, 1959-60

At the annual meeting of the Argenteuil Advisory Board, held the same day, the following officers were unanimously elected:

Chairman, Léopold Carriere; 1st vice-chairman, W. G. Richardson; 2nd vice-chairman, M. R. Wilson; secretary, J. B. Chalmers; treasurer, Miss M. Preece.

Directors: A. O. Anderson, T. Ayers, Jean Belanger, A. Bigelow, Paul E. Barbeau, Mrs. J. E. Charlebois, L. J. Carignan, Georges Clermont, Maurice Coulombe, John B. Chalmers, Mrs. Rod Carreau, Leopold Carriere, J. L. Ducharme, Mrs. L. Dion;

M. C. Davis, Mrs. T. Dwyer, L. A. Denis, Y. Gratton, P. Guenette, C. H. Legault, H. Lamarche, H. Lemire, J. A. Lafrance, Mrs. D. MacDonald, S. Milnes, Dr. E. Mongeon, D. Morrison, C. Neill; Lynes Neville, T. Ponech, Miss Mary Preece, Mr. and Mrs. Antoine Paré, William Robert, Mrs. Clayton Robinson, W. G. Richardson, G. Sauvé, M. Sims, Percy Staniforth, M. Trickey, Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Wilson.

Study of seaway on Ottawa River urged in Commons

Barry Bruce, in the Ottawa Journal

For decades a recurrent dream in the Ottawa Valley, the Ottawa River Seaway now is ripe for fulfilment, Transport Minister Hees was told in the Commons.

Paul Martineau, Conservative, Pontiac-Timiskaming, told Mr. Hees the dream had persisted since long before 1885 when the first Transport Department engineers found the project "certainly feasible and possible".

Chance for Government

Now the Quebec Government planned to spend $200 million on the Carillon power development. This was the Dominion Government's chance to take the first step in developing the seaway — by investigating replacement of the old shallow locks with locks deep enough to handle deep-sea ships.

This would provide a "direct connecting link" between Ottawa, a new ocean port, and Montreal on the St. Lawrence Seaway.

The "simple step" of deepening the Ottawa channel for 119 miles would cost between $15 million and $20 million, Mr. Martineau said.

This would be the first step in bringing a new age of economic prosperity to the Ottawa Valley and in assuring the development of the entire country.

"In a few years the present St. Lawrence Seaway facilities may become inadequate", he continued. "If that should happen, the ultimate route would normally be the Ottawa River, Lake Nipissing and the French river."

These, the first water courses travelled by the pioneers, the once great navigational streams of Canada, would become "the strong right arm of the St. Lawrence Seaway."

Mr. Martineau urged Mr. Hees to appoint a team of engineers to investigate deepening of the route from Ottawa to Montreal. The Transport Minister could then report their findings to the House.

He reminded Mr. Hees of the recent delegation of Ottawa Seaway promoters who came to Ottawa. They included representatives of Chambers of Commerce, the Ottawa River Development Association and other organizations and communities.

Promising group — Harrington-Kilmar pipe band

This promising group of young pipers and drummers made their appearance recently at Lachute Fair, taking part in the Legion parade and playing a brief musical program on the exhibition grounds. They were favorably received on their first public appearance in these parts. (It is understood this band will be playing July 11 at the United Church barbecue event at East Settlement.)

Rotary park, swimming pool well patronized since opening

The official summer opening of the Rotary Community Park near Brownsburg took place on Monday of this week, a large number of residents taking advantage of the facilities during the hot, humid day.

The park is supervised every day of the week from one to six p.m. and residents are invited to use the facilities for swimming, picnics, and just "cooling off". The park is operated by the Brownsburg - Lachute Rotary Club as a public service, and no charge is made for admittance.

While the canteen is not open at all hours, it is operated for periods during the morning, afternoon and evening.

This year's guardian is Doug Masson, 20-year-old Brownsburg resident and graduate of Brownsburg High School, who will be in charge of the park from Monday to Saturday. Jos. Fletcher, right-hand man to the Rotary Club park committee, will again be on duty every Sunday afternoon.

The members of the local Club and other citizens have spent considerable time at the park preparing it for use, and a final to the pre-opening work parties will be held by Club members following their dinner meeting tomorrow (Thursday) evening.

Shopping Centre construction date

Reliable sources indicate that commencement of construction on the new IGA Shopping Centre will get underway this month, the majority of the units in the centre having been rented.

The land is cleared at the present time, and M. Loeb & Company officials, who are constructing the Centre, are now awaiting the closing of tenders. It is expected The Watchman will have additional information to pass to its readers by next week's deadline.

4-H delegate from Quebec reports on nat'l conference and Washington tour

Home from an interesting tour in which he was the Quebec delegate to the 29th National 4-H Club Conference in Washington, D.C., Donald Parker, of R.R. 2, Lachute, reports on this event as follows:

The Canadian 4-H delegation left Ottawa by plane Saturday, June 13, arriving in Washington at noon the same day. The group was taken to the National 4-H Centre, where they met the U.S. delegates. There were 400 present, including leaders and 4-H members from France, Burma, Pakistan and Chile.

The group followed a heavy schedule in Washington which included such notable places as the White House, Lincoln Memorial, the F.B.I. Building, George Washington's Farm at Mount Vernon, and other points of interest. During the evening, discussions were led by Congressmen and officials from the U.S. Department of Agriculture, and following these periods there were different types of planned recreation.

The party met the Rt. Hon. John Diefenbaker and the Hon. Douglas Harkness in Ottawa. In the U.S. they met the Canadian Ambassador to the United States, and were addressed by President Eisenhower.

On the final evening, the program was held in the Aztec Gardens at the Pan-American Union, where all delegates took part in the International 4-H Candlelighting Ceremony. This impressive ceremony brought to a close the 29th National 4-H Conference.

Ed. Note — Donald Parker, 21, who operates the home farm near Lachute with his parents, has been active in 4-H Club work for nine years and was a delegate to National 4-H Club Week last year. He held the office of president three years, and is now assistant leader. He is also local Cubmaster, and secretary of the Lachute Auto Club.

Narrowly missed priest, children at roadside creche

A near-tragedy was averted on the "Lachute Road" on Tuesday evening of last week, when a local priest and a number of children were leaving a roadside creche after having stopped for prayers.

The incident occurred when Germain Lacoste, 51-year-old Lachute resident, was on his way to his St. Placide summer camp, and having passed over one of the dips and humps peculiar to the Lachute-St. Andrews highway, he came upon the children on the side of the road.

In an effort to avoid the children, Mr. Lacoste apparently applied his brakes and pulled to the left of the road, where he lost control of his recent-model car and sideswiped a large tree, causing considerable damage to his auto.

Traffic Officer Albert Legault investigated, and the following day turned the investigation over to Sgt.-Det. Ralph Allen. The driver of the car was not injured in the mishap, and it is not believed any charges will be laid.

PENNIES COUNT

Shawinigan, Que. (CP) — Seventy-nine students at a primary school here opened a bank account last September. Since then they have saved up $1,000 in nickles and dimes.

Wintertime — wasn't so hot!

Complaints concerning the hot, humid weather this week caused us to think back a few short months, and we came up with the above photograph taken towards the end of March on the North River Road. If only those snowbanks had been in evidence on Monday (or was it, if only summer would come and melt that cussed snow!) Anyway, only three and a half months ago, snow was piled up to nine feet high — a cool and refreshing thought at this time of year.

Plans announced for C.N.I.B. Picnic

The fourth annual picnic conducted by the Canadian National Institute for the Blind will be held on Wednesday, July 8, at the Rotary Park at Brownsburg, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. If any sightless person has not received an invitation, they are asked to contact the Institute office (LO 2-2286) and arrangements will be made accordingly. The Women's Auxiliary to the Institute will prepare sandwiches and they have arranged to serve soft drinks and ice-cream.

In case of extreme heat, it is recommended that those attending should bring bathing suits. In case of rain, suitable provisions have been made for the enjoyment of the crowd.

Promoted to Flight-Lieutenant

Moose Jaw — RCAF officials have announced the promotion of W. N. Morrison, 28, to the rank of Flight Lieutenant.

Willis Morrison is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Morrison, Lachute. He joined the RCAF in 1952, and after receiving his Pilot's Wings he flew Sabre aircraft with No. 1 Fighter Wing at North Luffenham, Eng., and Marville, France. He was tranferred to Moose Jaw in March 1957, where he is at present serving as a Flying Instructor.

In 1957 he married the former Madeline Tomko, of Elk Point, Alta.

Outdoor Round-up

A column for the sportsman

— By BOB ATCHISON —

June 9 —

We cleared part of the road down at the eastern end. In the course of getting rid of some of the storm-downed trees, three crows and 28 snakes were exterminated. It seemed for awhile that every piece of timber we moved had a snake under it. A quick glance showed us what they were, and then womp went my pacifier (a piece of pipe).

In one of the marshes we pass on the way, all the young Ducklings were out for their lessons. In the water they act just like a bunch of young kids, showing off among themselves. One gets a laugh out of some of their antics. Even the old ladies entered into the spirit of the thing — they didn't bother about us one bit, either.

I also visited the Eagle's nest; the parents stayed around, and I couldn't see if there were any young in the nest or not. There wasn't a tree high enough to permit me to see into the nest. The eagles had naturally picked the tallest one. It is now a question whether they can catch enough Voles for their nutritive needs. The way these pests have died off is amazing. When we came on to the Island, the place was overun with them. Now its hard to find even one.

Very warm for the past couple of days. We have been in swimming; it's not warm, but you sure feel good once you get out.

Yesterday, we came accross two Snapping Turtles engaged in combat. Evidently one had trespassed on the other's domain. Boy, did they have a scrap. They were both about the same size, 10 lbs. or so, and watching them from a ringside seat was an exhibition of plain bloody murder. After 15 minutes one of them managed to get a good hold, then the fight really got serious. The way they churned up the mud and tore down the bullrushes, you could just imagine how prehistoric monsters in the old days looked and fought. If there is anything prehistoric nowadays, I would say the Snapper comes the closest. Trying to flip each other over to get at the soft underbelly. Backing off to catch their breaths. Then plowing into each other looking for that one hold that would end the fight. Finally, one managed to get a hold of the neck, and shook the vanquished one just like a dog would shake a rat. The beaten one finally managed to break the hold, and sure got out of there in a hurry. . . .

Why didn't I shoot them? Well, we had a terrific show, so I'll save them for another day.

June 14 —

Got one of the Snapper's today, the biggest one we have seen this year. I found a little bird inside him. I imagine the bird was learning to fly and fell into the swamp. I'm keeping his shell and claws; it will take a lot of work to clean the shell, as it is covered with moss and what-have-you. The claws are over an inch in length.

The Wood Ducks have all hatched their young, and it is a wonderful sight to see. As a matter of fact, nearly every place you go around the eastern end of the Island, there are young Ducks. We haven't been able to spot any fawns as yet but have hopes. At least there are sure to be some. Not like last year though.

That's all for this time. Edith is visiting the doctor tomorrow; she managed to get a beautiful case of Poison Ivy

A thought: A sportsman thinks of others besides himself.

An interesting tour of the Bank of Montreal was experienced recently by about 50 students from Grade VII of Lachute High School.

In the course of this tour, the children were shown how to properly prepare deposit slips and savings cheques, etc., how these were received by a teller, entered in the Bank's records and machine-posted to a Savings Account. They were also shown ledger posting machines, computers, and other items of interest, as well as the operation of what is known as the "Around - the - Clock" depository. They examined the vaults, were shown large amounts of currency, and instructed in the use of Safety Deposit Boxes.

Tours of this nature should be of considerable assistance to young people in enlightening them as to what goes on behind the scenes in our Canadian chartered banks.

The young students were served light refresnments by courtesy of their hosts.

There is an admission charge to these concerts. Further information may be obtained by calling the secretary (CR 9-1987) or writing the Festival Office, Box 195, Outremont, Que.

Hawkesbury's centenary beards on television

On the closing day of the big Hawkesbury Centennial, July 18, the "judging of the beards" will be a highlight. . . . Meanwhile, on the Wednesday television "Soirée de Lutte" in Montreal, Michel Normandin will interview Hawkesbury's mayor, and 24 of the town's bearded representatives will be guests on the program.

Beautiful Floats

Hundreds of people attending the Hawkesbury Centennial will enjoy the many floats prepared by the merchants and companies, also including one entered by the Chambre of Commerce of Lachute. Many original themes will be represented.

Zorra and Gomez to Wrestle

For July 12 the Centennial Committee has arranged an excellent wresting program which will be presented in the arena at Memorial Park.

In the first bout Frank Valois will come to grips with the Mexican, Pepper Gomez.

In the second semi-final Rene Benschemoul, of Algeria, will meet Roberto Sisca, and in the final will be Tarzan Zorra and Larry Moquin.

Arthur Legrand and Yvon Robert will referee the bouts.

Recalls incident in flag etiquette

In the early days of skiing in Canada, an exhibition of Ski Jumping was held in Westmount, in the little park above the boulevard facing the city. The Governor General was invited to attend, and a suitable stand was erected for his party.

When everything was ready, the aide-de-camp to the Governor General stepped forward and prevented the jumping until the Union Jack was removed from the face of the jump and a plain red fabric was substituted. . . .

The moral was that a British flag could not be used for such purposes as passing over it!

(One of those present on this occasion and taking part in the exhibition was a local resident, Mr. S. L. Elliot, who has contributed this information.)

AIRPLANE DEVICE AIDS OIL SEARCH

Calgary — CP — A magnetometer originally developed in the United States for work with guided missiles is speeding the search for oil over a 24,000-square-mile area north of Fort Nelson, B.C., and in the Yukon and Northwest Territories.

Three magnetometer - equipped aircraft, with supporting helicopters are being used by Spartan Air Services Limited of Calgary and Ottawa in the hunt for oil-bearing lands.

The new magnetometer, developed for missile instrumentation, now is making possible faster and better surveys, its users claim.

The device measures the magnetic intensity of the earth over which the aircraft flies. A chart produced from the reading indicates the best areas for exploration.

EDITORIAL NOTES...

"In this Parliament are three Estates, the Lords Spiritual, the Lords Temporal and the Commons, but in the Reporters' Gallery yonder sits a Fourth Estate more important far than all."
— Edmund Burke

Prime Ministers are human too

EVERY GREAT statesman from King Solomon to President Eisenhower has had a country residence. Now, at last, Canada's prime minister is to have one.

Just recently, all parties in the Commons heartily endorsed government legislation, prompted by the Opposition, to give Prime Minister Diefenbaker a quiet country lodge in the Gatineau Hills about 25 miles north of the capital.

The two-storey, seven-room lodge was built in 1925 on the shore of Harrington Lake at a cost of $100,000. The National Capital Commission bought it eight years ago for $232,000.

Since then, the N.C.C. has tried to set it up as an official country residence. But former Liberal leader Louis St. Laurent didn't want it — he had his own resort here in Quebec Province. And his predecessor, the late Prime Minister Mackenzie King, had his famous Kingsmere.

External Affairs Minister Howard Green, introducing the bill, said neither Mr. Diefenbaker nor Mr. St. Laurent would have asked for it. "These men in positions of great responsibility think of themselves last."

Beware of the hook!

SCHOOL IS OUT and the summer-holiday trek to the lakes and streams has begun.

Many thousands of vacationers will have fishing tackle in their vacation kit, along with tennis racquets, golf clubs and sun-tan lotion.

Some will be expert anglers, others will be novices. But all should take heed of some advice given recently by Matti Lehtinen of the Ontario department of lands and forests.

Matti was the victim of a heedless fisherman whose cast into Lipsett Lake in Northen Ontario scored a bulls-eye on the lands and forests official's head.

The treble hook and plug was imbedded in Matti's skull and had to be cut out. This was a painful operation because the jack-knife that was used was dull.

Matti's advice to others going fishing: 1. Wear a safety helmet. 2. Carry a sharp jack-knife. 3. Exercise caution when casting.

He noted that observance of Rule 3 may eliminate the need for the other two.

Fishing is one of the most universal sports, in which every member of the family can take part. It is within the price range of everyone, and one of its chief attractions is the fact that the lad with simple hook and worm might outfish the expert with costly spinning gear and fancy lures.

There are no written rules, other than those of conservation, but courtesy and caution should be observed at all times.

Hooks are among the ugliest weapons and can be lethal in the hands of a careless angler. On shore and in a boat, the bait caster should be sure there is clear space behind him as well as in front.

There is responsibility on the still fisherman too, to remove hooks from wharves and landings and boats, so unwary youngsters playing in bare feet do not step on them.

Hooks are designed to catch fish. With caution, that is all they will catch.

Affairs in the Construction trade

FROM A PROVINCIAL meeting of the construction industry held recently in Chicoutimi, two matters of public interest deserve attention. One is in the form of a protest to the Government. (Such measures, of course, emerge from most large-scale conventions.)

A large variety of surplus equipment owned by the U.S. Government and used at American bases in Newfoundland and Labrador, was open to inspection to prospective purchasers recently in St. John's, Newfoundland. The U.S. Government will not allow this equipment to re-enter the United States for re-sale, and so Canada is being used as a dumping ground. . . . "We protest this, as we have on two previous occasions," said J. Eric Harrington of Montreal, president of the parent organization, who pointed out that such equipment entered Canada free from sales and excise taxes, and that by an arrangement between the Crown Assets Corporation and the U.S. Government, the Corporation acted as a selling agent of the used equipment in Canada. The Corporation deducted 17% of the sales price for sales and excise taxes, the remaining revenues being returned to the U.S. Government. . . . "This practice is one of concern to the Canadian construction industry; the inflow of surplus used equipment will ultimately lower the value of Canadian-owned equipment to the disadvantage of Canadian distributors and contractors. We feel the Federal Government should afford the same protection to Canadian firms as the U.S. Government gives to its firms."

The importance of pre-planning and timing in efforts to increase the wintertime construction program was stressed also by the C.C.A. President. "Construction cannot be turned on like a tap — projects of any size usually require a good deal of planning beforehand."

"The wintertime construction promotion program is more successful each year, but now is not too early to start promoting more construction next winter, bearing in mind that it takes time to complete the land, design, financing and tendering arrangements. For example, it would take from two to three months at least before actual construction begins on a building costing around $250,000. It is essential that we try to overcome the outdated prejudice against wintertime building. Increased winter construction will also help to alleviate winter unemployment. The unemployment problem is still serious in Canada today. Statistics show that there is an average drop of approximately 25% from peak construction employment in September to the low point in February."

Failure is a stepping-stone

EVERY YEAR sees its quota of failures. Students who fail in their exams, politicians who fail at the polls, scientists who fail in the laboratory, business men who fail in commerce, farmers who fail on the land, swains who fail in courtship, and so on. The roll is a long one, much longer than that of the immediately successful.

Failure may not be entirely our own fault, or it may come from striving after the wrong goal and playing our instincts false. More often, though, it is bred by the fear of failure, by pessimism and defeatism.

Be that as it may, there is no shame in failure where there has been genuine effort. Disheartening as it may be at first, many of history's most illustrious sons and daughters have shown that failure — even repeated failure — can be but the prelude to a success which is all the sweeter and more noble for being long delayed.

Determination and perseverance, these are the antidotes to the sting of failure, as King Robert "the Bruce" of Scotland, inspired by the example of that most famous of all spiders, proved 700 years ago.

When you think about it, some of the most unlikely people have spent most of their lives being regarded as failures. Sir Winston Churchill is a classic example. Had he died at 65 he, like his father, would certainly have been written off as just another brilliant and erratic failure. Instead, he has lived on to cover himself with glory and earn an undoubted place among the giants of all time.

There is in existence the chronology of the life of another man whose example may give pause to all those who have been brought to the point of despair by failure. It reads as follows:

Failed in business '31
Defeated for Legislature '32
Again failed in business '33
Elected to Legislature '34
Sweetheart died '35
Had nervous breakdown '36
Defeated for Speaker '38
Defeated for Elector '40
Defeated for Congress '43
Elected to Congress '46
Defeated for Congress '48
Defeated for Senate '55
Defeated for Vice-President '56
Elected President '60

The name of this particular "failure"? Abraham Lincoln. Few of us have the makings of a Churchill or a Lincoln, but most of us can learn something from their lives and their attitude to adversity.

Moods of the Ottawa River

— By Ethel Kettyle —

(Chapter V)

AN ALMOST-FATAL INCIDENT

One summer night several years after the building of the Dam, a steam tug came down the river at a rather late hour. It had in tow several barges of lumber, and as it entered the lock at the Dam, the nearest barge struck the pier at the very edge. The tug gave a violent lurch and the tow line parted. Instead of entering the canal as intended, the barge swung into the swift-flowing river — with the owner and his wife aboard.

News flew like wildfire through the little fleet, that the Captain and his barge were going over the Dam. Ready hands quickly seized ropes, and soon men were on the broad pier running at right angles to the Dam several feet above it. Through the semi-darkness, they could see the outline of the barge, going to its doom as they thought. The helpless cries of the captain and his wife could be heard through the gloom. A rope was thrown out, and for a few moments all felt that the captain was safe. He saw the rope, but the roaring of the water and the anxiety of the moment had chilled his blood, so that he seemed powerless to act and the rope fell back into the water. Again the rope was thrown; this time it rested on the captain's shoulder, while the men on shore peered through the gloom with bated breath.

The captain, by this time, seemed powerless to help himself, and he stood as though paralyzed. He knew by now that his wife had descended to the cabin; and believing this to be a dangerous place, he called to her to come to him, while he threw himself flat on the deck. He then thrust his arm through a large hole in an upright plank before him, and bent his elbow. Thus he clung, in desperation. By this time his wife had approached and flung herself down beside him, almost certain they would now die together.

Fortunately the water was low. And, wonder of wonders, the barge struck the Dam and lay broadside against it. Somehow the load of lumber was thrown into the abyss below, making the barge lighter in weight, so that it rose to the surface, and this prevented it from being submerged. Finally the lumber was carried away. Then, as if by a freak of chance the barge struck broadside against a huge rock; and although badly damaged, it remained there.

Only by a miracle, it seemed, the captain and his wife had been saved, and they thanked God devoutly. . . . This time, the river as a "foe" had been the loser.

Meanwhile, the men on shore, not knowing exactly what had happened, had turned sorrowfully away, thinking that the disaster had ended fatally. But soon the lockmaster, roused from his sleep, discerned through the mist on the following morning, that there were living people on the wrecked barge — even though, above the roaring of the water, he could hear no answer to his shouts. Finally however, with a skiff, the couple were rescued from the derelict craft.

The perilous adventure ended happily, and Captain Smith made several more trips up the Ottawa.

The river, in her capricious mood, had given back a life which had almost certainly been despaired of. The incident was through time almost forgotten, and again the river was thought of as a "friend".

At this much later date, with changes imminent along the river — how soon will they materialize?

EASY DOES IT

A ten-year-old was going on his first real visit away from home, and his mother wanted to be sure she'd hear from him. So she addressed a postal card for each day that he would be gone and told him, "All you need to do is write 'O.K., Marvin' "

"All right," said Marvin. "But you put the O.K. on — and if I'm not, I'll scratch it out."

KNOW YOUR Canada

How Cold is Canada?

Were Hunters' Lodges groups of Sportsmen?

No, they were a secret organization formed in the northern border states of the United States after the failure of the Rebellion of 1837 in Upper and Lower Canada. The lodges, dedicated to making the British North American colonies into independent republics, twice invaded Canada, first at Prescott, Ont., and again at Windsor, Ont. There are believed to have been almost 1200 lodges with a total membership of about 80,000. Lodge members assisted escaped rebels from Canada, collected money and arms for projected invasions to liberate the country, and acted as spies inside the British colonies.

SOME PHILOSOPHY

Can scarcely wait to pass this tip along to you readers. It is something I have known for a long time, but last night, at a party, I had it confirmed by a professor of psychology. . . . Keep reading, because this little hint is worth its weight in gold to you and your folks.

A lady had remarked, in the party small talk, that she had a friend who was always a delight to be with because he knows every inch of his city and all the history back of it, and is forever surprising you with new information.

I piped up to tell about a farmer, near Pilot Mound, who is a walking encyclopedia as far as his own district is concerned. Knows every farm, every ravine and the source of every creek or river. "Most interesting man you ever met," I said.

At this point, the professor said, "You know, I haven't met either of those men. Yet I can tell you something about them, just as certainly as if I'd known them all my life."

I guess we all looked a little doubtful. Anyhow, the professor turned to me. "Your farmer at Pilot Mound . . . he's well-to-do, a steady type of chap, never flustered, and he improves his position every year. His fields are weed-free, his buildings above average, and he is known for his common sense. He doesn't fall for every new fad, yet he doesn't resist progress. Right?"

"Dead right," I agreed, "you must have been reading his mail."

The professor smiled and began to tell the lady next to me the style and dimension of her friend until she cried, "That's enough . . . you must have known him!"

"No," said the professor, "but there are certain qualities in people who know their city or district inch by inch. These are men or women who have made contact with their environment. In some it comes naturally. In others, it is acquired. It is either a mark of character, or it builds character, or — as most of us think — both at the one time! It's healthy in every way to make complete contact with your environment. Improves you in countless ways. You ought to try it. Now, take this street we're on. . ."

You know, he's right. I am sure of it. I have seen enough of that sureness-of-foot-and-thought in men like my farmer friend to be convinced. When I moved to Manitoba some years ago, I bought a couple of books on the history of the province and a few travel books too. Did me a lot of good. I still get lost once in a while, but I'm not the dunderhead I used to be. Guess maybe I am making contact with my environment.

Why don't you try it. Now — take that house you live in.

Rubaiyat of a Tenderfoot

By Walter Jackson

O Magic Month that Poets call July!
T'is then that Humble Folks like You and I
Decide to seek the Kingdom of the Wilds,
Jump in their Cars, and travel there on high.

One sultry Night I phoned my Bosom Pal —
A Simple Soul, whose Christian Name is Al,
Suggesting that we take a Camping Trip.
"Shall we?" said I. And he replied: "We shall."

An inventory of the Stuff we took
If written down, would fill a good-sized Book,
From Tent to Tinware, Groceries to Guns,
And I decided Al would be the Cook.

We piled the junk into my ancient Bus
And said good-bye to Guy and George and Gus
Each vowing we would send them Postal Cards,
No Kings of Old have ever travelled thus!

What happened next I hardly dare repeat,
We had a Flat upon a Busy Street
And spent an Hour lifting out the Stuff
To get the Jack from underneath the Seat.

While taking off the Tire, Al and I
Remembered things we had forgot to buy,
So there commenced another Shopping Tour
For Sugar, Bacon, Coffee, and a Pie.

Equipped with grub condensed and dried and canned,
We set our Faces t'ords the Promised Land
Of distant Mountains 'neath the Setting Sun,
Stepped on the Gas, and went to Beat the Band.

Out in the Land where Roads give way to Grass,
We bumped along a lonely Mountain Pass
When suddenly the ancient Bus conked out.
It seems that Al forgot to buy the Gas.

We looked about, both spellbound and enthralled,
It was a lovely Place where we were stalled,
So pushed the Car down to the Water's Edge
Where Bullfrogs croaked, and Loons and Herons called.

Mere words will not describe the Beauty there,
A Rocky Shore — Majestic Pine Trees rare.
So I commanded Al to pitch the Tent
While I inhaled large Gulps of Country Air.

The Sun sank low. The Hour was getting late.
The Whippoorwill was calling to his Mate,
But Al was slow in finding Firewood,
So I chopped up a Farmer's Rustic Gate.

We piled the Pieces in the gathering Murk
Of coming Night, where unseen Dangers lurk
Then found that we had not a single Match,
And Al remarked his Lighter wouldn't work.

We ate in Darkness on that Silent Spot,
A Lantern was one Thing we had forgot.
Poor Al consumed a Bullrush by mistake
Thinking it was a Hot-Dog, but t'was not.

The Time arrived when we should go to Bed.
The Moon arose, and by the Light it shed
The Scene appeared more beauteous than before —
But Al remarked he wished that he were dead.

An exhibition by Mrs. Wilson is being featured by the Argenteuil Art Association next week in the municipal hall, St. Andrews East, opening Saturday, July 4, at 3 p.m. All art lovers and interested residents are invited to view this display.

Couple married at St. Andrews

Woods - Bradley

The marriage of Margaret Elizabeth Bradley, the niece of Mr. David Bradley, to Mr. Angus Woods, of Dunany, took place Saturday at 4 p.m. in the Presbyterian Church at St. Andrews East, the Rev. Harold Reid, D.D., officiating. The church was seasonably decorated with peonies and mock orange. The organist was Miss Grace McOuat.

Given in marriage by her uncle, the bride wore a gown of white eyelet organza, with elbow-length veil of tulle illusion held in place by a tiara of seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of red roses and baby's breath. She also wore a string of pearls, a gift of the groom.

The bride was attended by Mrs. Gordon Bradley as matron-of-honor, wearing a gown of pale yellow nylon chiffon with shirred bodice and full skirt. She carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations.

The mother of the groom wore a two-piece navy blue sheer with white accessories and a corsage of red roses.

Best man for the bridegroom was Mr. Ian Bradley, and the ushers were Mr. Walter Crooks and Mr. Sterling Woods.

Send your child to Vacation Bible School

From summer to summer the People's Church have conducted a Bible School for the benefit of all the children in the community. The expense of this school is met by the Sunday School Department from year to year. Handicraft materials are expensive, the manuals are the most up-to-date in the world. These, too, are costly, but it is felt that the blessing accruing to the children compensates for all the financial outlay.

We do not ask for your financial help, we simply beg your co-operation in encouraging your children to attend our School. It is estimated that two weeks of Bible School is the equivalent of six months in Sunday School.

Our only motive is to teach the Bible as the Word of God, and we seek to lead the children to true understanding of the Christian life. All controversial issues are set aside, and denominational differences are forgotten as the Bible is taught, and Christian experience is enjoyed.

Two weeks of spiritual training, Bible knowledge, handicraft, recreation, games, and a "real good time" is offered your child. Why not send him to our Daily Vacation Bible School, July 6 to 17, from 9 to 11.30 each morning; children from four years of age to 14 are welcome.

— (Rev.) C. W. Sorley

A group of Cub Scouts were talking over plans for a hike. The leader suggested meeting at ten in the morning because it was about a two-hour hike to the destination. One of the boys, a newcomer, paled visibly. "You mean we're going to walk?" he asked.

Witnesses seek rooms for 12,000 to attend Ottawa convention

Ottawa — Officially inaugurating the biggest house-to-house and stair-climbing room hunt in the history of the Capital city, delegates from 19 congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses in Ottawa and vicinity met recently in the capital.

The 278 representatives attending voiced their determination to call on every hotel, motel, rooming house and private home "five or six times" if necessary, "in search of every accommodation in the city."

Local congregations will be hosts to upwards of 12,000 delegates of Jehovah's Witnesses from the provinces of Ontario and Quebec who will attend a mid-summer convention at Lansdowne Park, July 23-26.

Accommodation has been requested from points as far away as British Columbia, Alberta and Manitoba in Canada, and from New York, Pennsylvania and Michigan in the U.S.

Recent events at B'burg United Church

Brownsburg — The final meeting of the W.A. was held in the form of a "Chicken Bar B-Q" with the "A" group, "B" group and W.M.S. attending. The supper was very much enjoyed.

Quite recently, the members of "A" group met at the home of Mrs. C. Hardie, presenting her with a purse. The evening was spent in playing games, and refreshments were served. Mrs. Hardie has been a member of the W.A. for many years, and will be greatly missed in the church and community, as she is leaving to take up residence with her daughter in Thurso.

The sacrament of baptism was performed for the young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Graham Russell on June 21, the child receiving the names Frances Anne.

The Hi-C held their final meeting of the season with a trip to the lake and a picnic. A token of remembrance was presented to Mr. R. Duncan upon his leaving the community.

— Jehovah's Witnesses —

A global Paradise now near.

We, according to His promise, look for a new heaven and a new earth, wherein dwelleth righteousness. — II Peter. 3: 13.

For Christ must reign, till he hath put all enemies under his feet. The last enemy that he shall destroy is death. — I Corinthians. 15: 25-26.

Of what will the new earth consist? The Bible shows that the present wicked rulers and their organizations will be replaced by an organization of princes who will rule the earth in justice. These princes will include men who proved their faithfulness to God, from Abel to John the Baptist. All such received a good report because of faith, but have not as yet received their reward. (Hebrews 11: Acts 2:29, 34). Their resurrection will be to life on earth, not heaven. (Matthew 8:11. 11:11; Daniel 12:13). Among such will be fleshly ancestors of Christ Jesus whom he will make princes in all the earth. — Psalm 45:16.

Under the rule of these princes the original purpose of God in creating the earth will be realized: all the earth will become a paradise filled with righteous creatures who will exercise loving dominion over the lower animals and will serve God in spirit and truth. Peace, health and life will replace war, disease and death. — Psalm 72; Isaiah 35:24; 9:7. I Corinthians 15:25; 26.

SCOTIA PLAN CHEQUE-CREDIT

The Bank of Nova Scotia's new system of "revolving" credit

Last year the BNS introduced SCOTIA PLAN LOANS. The response was so enthusiastic, the BNS now offers a second kind of Scotia Plan credit — also life-insured at no extra cost to you.

How Scotia Plan Cheque-Credit Works

1. Select a monthly payment that you can afford. You then apply for twelve times that amount.
2. When your application has been approved you receive a book of special cheques.
3. Use these cheques whenever you need funds—good anytime, anywhere in Canada.
4. Each month the BNS sends you a statement of cheques written, payments to be made, and the amount of credit still open.
5. Your monthly payment is one-twelfth of the amount of credit you have used, so far.
6. As you make a payment, the amount of the payment becomes available again for your use.

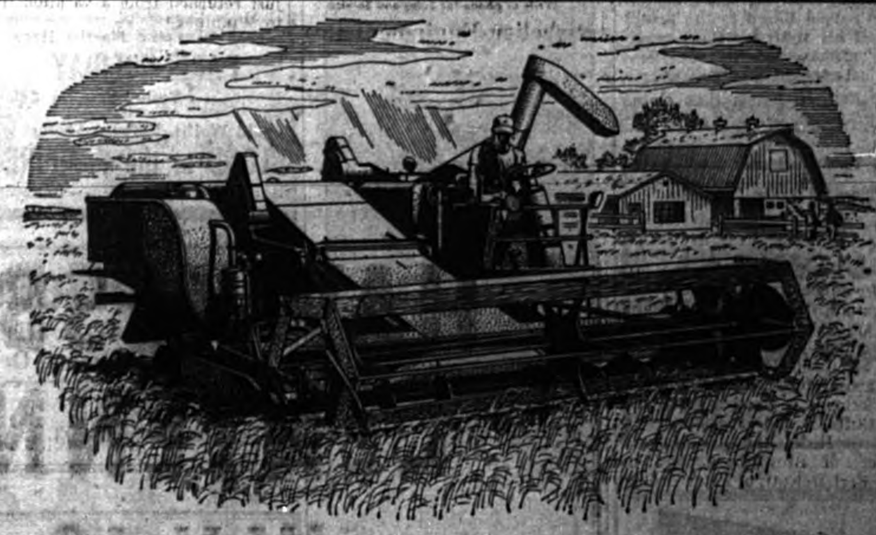

EXAMPLE:

Assume you are eligible for Cheque-Credit up to $600. You write a cheque for $100. Your monthly statement from the BNS will indicate one cheque used for $100, a payment due of $8.33 (1/12 of $100), a charge on the $100 of 50¢ per month, and credit remaining of $500.

Find out all about Scotia Plan Cheque-Credit at your nearest branch of the BNS, soon. Ask at the Scotia Plan Department.

PROGRESS THROUGH RESEARCH

"SICK AND TIRED"

People who complain of being "sick and tired" often are just that, for illness and fatigue go hand in hand.

When rest and sleep fail to perk up the weary, it may be a warning sign of physical illness — invading microbes or an upset in body functions. A tired, washed-out feeling often lingers long after a virus infection, sometimes for a month or six weeks.

But doctors believe that emotional disturbances are a much more common cause of fatigue. The person who wakes up every morning feeling as though he had never been asleep and just can't "get started" until around noon may be suffering mild emotional fatigue. In more severe forms the bone weary victim of emotional stress may be breathless, pained and irritable.

This kind of fatigue, medical specialists have found, is usually unrelated to the actual amount of work done. People who expend relatively little energy are likely to cite overwork as a cause of exhaustion. Often their complaints can be traced to conflict, pressure, fear, anxiety and insecurity.

Boredom and lack of interest in work often drain vitality and, paradoxical though it seems, exhaustion is frequently reported among tired or disabled persons forced into inactivity. "Nothing is so exhausting as unhappiness," comments one investigator.

In combatting emotional fatigue, specialists point out that it is important for the patient to recognize the things that are making him tired, and then try to eliminate vexing elements from his routine.

Fatigue is as democratic as it is debilitating. Dr. E. A. Burkhardt of New York's Bellevue Hospital describes it as a "normal phenomenon experienced by everyone." Considering the demands of our present-day civilization, he adds, it is an "inalienable right of every citizen."

CFRA program all week from Lanark, Ontario

The week of July 6 will be CFRA week in Lanark! Well-known CFRA radio personalities will be broadcasting directly from a trailer studio on the village's main street. During the week CFRA will be collecting donations for the Lanark Relief Fund to help the citizens of the community so recently ravaged by fire.

Special programs which will be broadcast directly from Lanark will include Frank Ryan's "Farmer's Notebook" at 12.15 each day. Tom Foley's "Sports At Six", and special news reports direct from CFRA's main street Lanark studios.

Wednesday will be Women's Day. At 3.05 Wednesday afternoon, July 8, "The Joan Baxter Show" will be broadcast direct from Lanark, when Joan will ask all women of the area and Ottawa Valley to join with her in donations to the fund which will be aired on the show. That evening from 8 to 10 p.m. a giant Lanark Relief Fund Tea will be held in the village's beautiful park. There will be some $250 worth of prizes at the event, plus a special draw for a grand gate prize.

Specially for the "Teens and Twenties" and all young at heart, Gord Atkinson's "Campus Corner" will be broadcast from CFRA's Lanark trailer studio on Saturday, July 11, from 3 to 6 p.m.

An invitation is extended to one and all to attend the events planned by CFRA in Lanark, in aid of the Village's Fire Relief Fund — from July 6 to 11.

How to be on the Best of Terms with all your CREDIT NEEDS...

BANK OF MONTREAL
Family Finance Plan
Brings all your personal credit needs under one roof with a low-cost B of M life-insured loan

Now all your personal credit needs can be fitted into one single comprehensive plan — the Bank of Montreal Family Finance Plan. Purchases for the home and family . . . expenses for school, college and vacation . . . unexpected emergency bills . . . all these can be taken care of on a single-monthly-payment basis.
Here are four good reasons why — whether married or single — your credit-financing should be on the low-cost terms of the Bank of Montreal Family Finance Plan:
1. All loans are automatically life-insured. Should you die before your loan is repaid, your debt to the Bank will be cancelled.
2. Monthly repayments can be extended up to two years — or even three, if need be. This means that the Plan can be tailored to suit any salary.
3. You can borrow up to $3,500, depending on your income, to buy the things you want for your home and family, or to meet emergencies.
4. Planned repayments help you run your income — instead of letting it run you.
If you have a steady income and can make monthly loan-repayments without hardship, there's money available to you at the B of M to serve almost any useful purpose. Whether you are a B of M customer or not, talk to the people at your neighbourhood branch . . . a warm welcome awaits you.

HANDY HELPER

A city banker who had spent his youth on a farm persuaded an old neighbor to take on his son for the summer. When the father called to ask how the boy was making out, the farmer declared, "I ain't the one to bandy words with you. But that boy of yours had one more hand, he'd need a third pocket to put it in."

Auspicious event at East Settlement with gathering of the Rodger clan

Four generations in re-union at old homestead

Members of at least four generations gathered at Rodger's Chicken Farm in East Settlement last Saturday afternoon, under ideal weather conditions, for an old-fashioned family party.

Mr. Stanley Rodger, of Lachute Road, was in charge of arrangements and welcomed the guests, who came from different parts of Quebec and Ontario as well as points in Western Canada; he also read greetings from several unable to be present. Mr. David John Rodger, present owner of the farm, in reviewing the family history pointed out that the homestead originally owned by his grandfather has been in the family name for over 125 years, and he noted that all six branches of the family were represented there today. Special tribute and congratulations were extended to Mrs. J. H. Black of East Settlement, who is the oldest living descendant, and little Miss Heather Downes, a grandniece, presented her with flowers.

Upon suggestion of Mr. Erskine Rodger, it was decided to place a memorial tablet in the United Church of East Settlement to the memory of the late Dr. William McLure, pioneer medical missionary in China for over 50 years, who was a member of this clan.

A pleasant time was spent in reviewing old acquaintances and in studying a copy of the family tree, which comprises over 500 names and lists seven generations. This had been most ably compiled by Miss Ann Black.

Later 225 guests sat down to a delicious barbecue chicken supper, which had been prepared there and was served on the spacious lawn. As an added attraction, several of the younger members attired themselves in old costumes kindly loaned for the occasion. The Harrington and Kilmar pipe band supplied appropriate Scottish music all during the afternoon.

In conclusion, thanks to the committee in charge were expressed by Mr. Archie Reid of Toronto.

Recalling old-time associations

"Rodgers one and all"

This is just a small but representative segment of the Rodger family, whose members in the past and present generations have been inseparably linked with the life and progress of this County. Residing on the old homestead at East Settlement where the reunion was held, are Mr. and Mrs. David John Rodger, whose family is pictured above. Centre, Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Rodger. Left, their son Donald and daughter-in-law, with their children. Right, another son, Austin, with his wife and family.

Elections for school board vacancies

At nominations for two Protestant School Commission vacancies last Monday, three candidates were entered, and accordingly there will be an election, held in the High School next Monday (notice of which is given in the advertising columns of this issue).

The three nominees are Messrs. John Douglas, Richard O. MacLean and Kenneth P. Riley.

Two commissioners will be elected to fill the seats vacated by commissioners N. W. Boyd and Douglas Bradford, who have served faithfully for two terms and four terms, respectively. Their tenancy of office having expired, neither of these commissioners sought re-election.

Returning officer for the election is Mr. Frank A. Brennian. Polling will be held between 9 a.m. and 7 p.m., D.S.T., as announced. Those eligible to vote are property holders in the Protestant School Municipality of Lachute whose names appear on the valuation roll and whose taxes are paid up to date.

• • •

In various other municipalities, Protestant School Board vacancies have been filled either by acclamation or re-election.

In a number of Catholic school boards there will also be contests. Gerard Lefebvre was re-elected commissioner in Lachute, while it is noted there are contests for office in Ayersville, St. Philippe and Brownsburg.

Argenteuil Art Association Exhibition —

Display by travelled artist features over 40 pictures

Last Saturday in the Municipal Hall at St. Andrews, the exhibition of paintings by Ruth Tomlinson Wilson was opened officially by Mrs. Alex Keiller, past-president of the Women's Art Society of Montreal and immediate past-president of the Canadian Authors Association.

Mrs. Keiller gave a short address on the development of art, pointing out the gradual evolution to today's style of painting, and colors which have been added to the pallette of the early painters. She explained the historical value of artists' records of early date, the great development during the Middle Ages, when the Church was the sponsor of the great artistic works of that period, the tremendous thrust into new techniques of the next period which we now look back on as the Renaissance, during which Kings and Nobles took over the sponsorship of painting and of the artists, who no longer limited themselves to religious subjects. This was later followed by a period when the influence of Royalty declined in art as in other spheres, and the wealthy burghers of the flat countries were supporters of the artists of the day. From there a great development took place, and spread from country to country across Europe as the Romanticists were followed by the so-called Modern School.

A further change has taken place and the art of painting has spread — from study under a very limited number of teachers, sponsored by the Church or State or wealthy traders, to a greater number of artists studying under an increased number of teachers often associated with public galleries. The so-called sponsorship or patronage is now that of the individual citizen, or a new patronage of industrial firms commissioning artists to present their wares by indirect salesmanship to the public mind.

From this gradual development have evolved the conditions of the present, open to all or any who have the ability, perseverance and concentration to develop the seeing eye, to record the present in terms of oil and watercolor. . . .

These qualities Ruth Tomlinson Wilson most certainly has — possibly an inherited technical ability developed by long study. A resident of Hawkesbury in her youth (when her father carried on research work in wood alcohols at the laboratory of the old Riordan, predecessor of today's research laboratory of Canadian International Paper) she later completed her formal education at Westmount High School and McGill. Her artistic development has been under a succession of great teachers — A. Sherriff Scott R.C.A., James MacCorkindale, Fritz Brantner, Eric Byrd, then at the Montreal Museum of Fine Arts under Dr. Arthur Lismer, R.C.A. Proceeding overseas, Ruth Tomlinson Wilson studied at the Chelsea Art School followed by two years of specialized study under the distinguished portrait painter Middleton Todd, R.A.

Varied Display

Each of these must have been happy periods, so examples of her work from each are included in this show. The Argenteuil Art Association has fostered exhibits each year since its organization in 1956 and this one certainly has met with keen enjoyment by those in attendance. Noteworthy are the wide selection of favorites among individual spectators, each picture seeming to have an appeal for a different person. Some liked the buoyancy of "Act II Coppelia" being performed by the Canadian National Ballet, "Sunlight in a Dutch Garden", "Dance of the Tulips", one of many beautiful flower paintings, the "Flower Carts In Paris", while others were drawn to "Dandelions with Willow", "Morpeth Rant", a folk dance at Scarborough, England, one of several dance pictures, or "Spring" and "Reflections" in Sussex. Intensely interesting were the portraits, which ranged from "Renoir Girl" to "Nude in London", a great character study "Hungarian Leader", two portraits of young boys, "Dougie" (Miller) and "Peter" (Redpath), "Mrs. Michael Strous", "Barbara" (McLean) in graduate nurse's uniform, and "Sumanee of Siam".

Over 40 framed pictures are on exhibition and Mrs. Wilson has a portfolio of unframed watercolors.

The Argenteuil Art Association is grateful to Ruth Tomlinson Wilson for offering this group of beautiful paintings to interested viewers in Argenteuil. . . . If you think "you don't know anything about Art, but know what you like when you see it", then this exhibition is for your enjoyment, free of charge each afternoon till 8 p.m. until Sunday, July 12. One of the primary objects of this organization has been to bring exhibitions of paintings into this area for local enjoyment. An enthusiastic attendance is welcomed as an encouragement to continue this type of program.

Seaway travel 'democratic' says skipper of 31 ft. cruiser

As skipper of his cruiser on a recent eight-day tour of the Rideau Canal and the St. Lawrence Seaway, Roger Legault, proprietor of Fairway Sales, was quizzed on his impressions and told our reporter an interesting tale.

On this holiday cruise Mr. Legault was accompanied by four townsmen — his brother Romeo, Horace Lamarche, Dr. Roger Dumais and Lucien Hamel. Roger's craft is a 31-ft. sedan cruiser propelled by a 130 h.p. marine motor.

From St. Andrews to Kingston via the Rideau, one encounters just 56 locks. Arriving at Kingston, the schedule on this trip appeared to be well timed to coincide with the passing of the Royal yacht, Britannia, through the Eisenhower Lock on the Seaway. The Lachute party proceeded to the Thousand Islands, travelling on the American side, where, incidentally, there are no toll charges. As they approached the path of the regal yacht, fog had settled heavily, however, and Roger Legault and his co-navigators drew out of the Seaway channel at a point below the Snell lock and anchored as darkness settled down. As is now generally known, the Royal schedule was also somewhat disorganized through fog, with delays around Coteau, Cornwall and Brockville. Thus, our friends' nearest approach to the Britannia was to see it passing like a phantom monster through the fog, about 100 feet away and moving at 2 or 3 knots an hour. Only its masts and royal flags were really discernible above the surface fog. We gather it was an awe-inspiring, if somewhat disappointing, experience; our local mariners had eagerly looked forward to taking movie shots and capturing some of the color and glamor of the scene.

Most enlightening among Mr. Legault's impressions is the thoroughly democratic aspect of this Seaway navigating. In one instance, at least, the massive gates and machinery were set in motion solely for this pleasure craft of a diminutive 14-ton displacement. In fact, a boat of this size ranks equally with any of the ocean giants which ply the Seaway, and it is a case of "first come first served." If first in line, the little craft has precedence over any Great Lakes vessel. For a $2 toll charge, without red-tape or a who's-who rating, Roger Legault and his shipmates had the right-of-way.

The procedure of payment, it seems, is somewhat similar to that of a gasoline credit card. A boat owner from this area pays a deposit to the Seaway Authority at Cornwall and procures a pre-clearance number, his tolls through the various locks then being charged against his account. The procedure of passage is also simple. With a minimum of formality, one states his allotted number and awaits the green light to enter a lock. In the instance of our local travellers the delay was never longer than 15 minutes. Rumors of Seaway congestion had primed the party with misgivings, but these proved all unfounded. There were no complications or formalities, and passing through these locks was simpler and speedier, by far, than negotiating a holiday-congested bridge onto the Island of Montreal, according to Mr. Legault — who will long remember his first-hand impressions of the St. Lawrence Seaway.

Roger will report later on a tour planned from Beauharnois, through the Cote. Ste. Catherine and St. Lambert locks, to the Richelieu and Lake Champlain.

Police bullets and siren in midnight highway chase

A dramatic chase complete with wide-open sirens and pistol shots disrupted the countryside from Brownsburg all the way to Masson, where Police Chief Richard Bell caught up with two young culprits early Sunday morning.

The chase ensued when the officer received a call shortly after 4 a.m. from Fernand Giroux, who had seen the pair busy syphoning gasoline from his automobile.

When Chief Bell approached, the miscreants sped away in their car, a Chrysler Imperial, with lights switched off. According to the officer, speedometers reached almost 100 miles an hour as he gave chase with his siren blowing, and punctuating the hunt with shots from his revolver, in an attempt to halt the fugitives when they blocked his path and prevented him from overtaking them. The pursuit led through the Branch road to Route 8, where the pair headed west through St. Philippe; it ended when the Chrysler ran out of gas, at Masson, Que.

Chief Bell arrested Guy Charlebois, 19, and Robert Degagné, 21, of St. Jerome; he escorted them to their home city, where they will appear in court July 14. The Chrysler was owned by Edgar Charlebois, father of the younger culprit.

Highway mishap in Ayersv'l limits

Three local residents — Dr. Charles Roy, dentist, his young daughter Suzanne, and André Bourgouing — were victims of a highway mishap Saturday evening on Route 8 near Simon's Crossing.

With three cars proceeding behind each other, Dr. Roy went to pass the car in front of him, when the driver ahead turned out with the same idea in mind — reportedly, without signalling his intention. Dr. Roy's automobile plunged into a field and turned turtle.

The 20-months-old child received slight injuries to the head and back, and was treated by Dr. Jules Lafleur. Mr. Bourgouing suffered a grazed forehead and Dr. Roy escaped without injury.

Chief Marcel Therrien of Ayersville investigated.

(Our District Correspondent)

Avoca — An interesting event took place at the Legion Hall in Lachute last Friday evening, when Mr. and Mrs. James Bates were entertained on the anniversary of their silver wedding, and Mr. and Mrs. Keith Gordon were celebrating their 15th anniversary. About 200 or more of their friends assembled for the occasion, which came as a complete surprise — as each party thought the event was organized for the other couple. The evening was under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Dougal Leishman.

Mr. and Mrs. Bates were presented with a beautiful silver service, while Mr. and Mrs. Gordon received the gift of a steam iron and an electric kettle. These tokens were presented by the Hon. W. M. Cottingham, who with Mrs. Cottingham honored the party by their presence.

An orchestra provided music for dancing. Two wedding cakes adorned the table for the two couples, at which with Mr. and Mrs. Cottingham were also honored guests.

Delicious refreshments were served.

Those present from Avoca included — Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Bates, Mark Bates, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bates, Miss Catherine Nixon, Mr. and Mrs. Allan McPhee, Miss Flora MacLeod, Mrs. Evelyn Vaillancourt, Mr. Evan Bates and Mr. John MacLean; also Mr. and Mrs. Sandy Bates, Mr. and Mrs. John Bates, Mr. and Mrs. John Dobbie, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Gill, Mr. and Mrs. David Gill, of Grenville; Mr. and Mrs. Mervin Kelly, of Calumet."

Little girl is drowning victim at Pte. au Chene

Lynne Tessier, a 20-months-old Hawkesbury child, was drowned while vacationing at her grandparents' cottage on the Ottawa River at Pte. au Chene, late Sunday afternoon. The girl was beside the river with other members of her family, when an older brother cut his foot while swimming. The child was rushed to a Hawkesbury doctor vacationing in a neighboring cottage, and in the excitement, the little girl was temporarily forgotten. When the family returned, she was found submerged in only 18 inches of water.

Five doctors worked on the child, who was later rushed to hospital in Hawkesbury, but to no avail. The incident was investigated by Sgt.-Det. Ralph Allen and Dr. Jules Lafleur, district coroner, who declared the death accidental.

B. Bourne takes reins of office for Rotary year

A short dinner meeting of the Rotary Club last Thursday evening saw Berry Bourne invested in the office of president, replacing Syd Patterson, who was in turn presented with his past-president's pin.

In turning the gavel over to the in-coming president, Rotarian Patterson thanked all members for their assistance. Berry Bourne also thanked the club for the honor bestowed upon him in electing him president.

The membership at large then adjourned to the Rotary Community Park, where a work-party completed final details to assure a smooth operation of the park facilities for the coming season.

The in-coming officers are as follows: President, Berry Bourne; vice-president, Bob Wyse; secretary, Art Lapp; treasurer, Jim Campbell; bulletin editor, Bert Moore; directors, past-president Syd Patterson, Cliff Cunningham, Bill Poley, Larry Presseault and John Giles.

New town hall for Ayersville

An auspicious event takes place next Sunday in Ayersville — the sod-turning ceremony for construction of a modern town hall, at the corner of Bradford Avenue and Ayers Street. Above is a drawing prepared by the architect, Bernard Notebaert, showing the proposed building, to include offices, a municipal garage, and a future fire-station. The arched construction is designed to carry the roof without obstruction of pillars in the central part of the building. The tower is for drying of fire hoses.

"Outdoor Round-up" — by Bob Atchison

Main Duck Island,
South Bay, Picton, Ont.

June 17 —

At last the winds have dropped. The last three days it has blown steady at about 25 m.p.h. I couldn't imagine just how bad the gusts were. Even the boats have been very slow and cautious in passing the Island. In fact, I don't suppose more than a dozen have passed, and these have all been ocean-going. Even some of these tied up — so it isn't any picnic on the lakes. On top of all this—imagine, just a week ago it was 90 and for the past couple of days it hasn't been over 50. Yesterday it was 39 degrees at 6 a.m.

Even the birds are feeling cold. I've left the doors open on the barn; you should see the number of birds that get in there at sundown. You could catch a flock of all kinds, if you want to. The wild canaries are the sorry-looking ones; they just huddle on a beam and look uncomfortable. The only birds that seem to be having a good time in this blow is the gulls. Even the ducks are teaching their young on the swamps; none of the lake for them just now. To see a bunch of ducks of all kinds playing around in a pond with all their young, I wonder how they manage to get the right ones when they call it a day. The only ducks that stay off to themselves are the Wood Ducks; I guess they are the hoi poli of the duck world and don't want the others to forget it. The Geese are really getting big now. I don't think the snapping-turtles would have much chance of nailing them. The Ducklings are also getting bigger and they will be pretty safe from the snappers too.

It's a funny thing with all this looking after the Ducks, Goldie, the dog, leaves them very much alone just now. Why the sudden change of heart is beyond me, maybe on some of her travels she got clipped by an irate mom.

I started this letter on the 17th, and it's now the 22nd. On Friday we had some VIP's in. They left around 3 p.m. As usual they came in by flying-boat, with Dick Benson. He has just come out of hospital himself and shouldn't have been flying but he wanted to get to the Island to see how the fishing will be later on. It seems he was trying to fly low with four wheels one night and made the wrong turn. Ribs broken on both sides, 37 stitches in his head, 17 in his leg, and a badly bruised right arm; this happened one night late going home from the plane.

There wasn't any special reason the VIP's were out — just looking things over; and from what we were told the VVIP will be out this next week-end.

I started by saying the weather had been awful, it still is and its supposed to be Summer. Not on this place, believe me. This morning was chilly enough for snow. Well maybe not snow but cold anyway. We have been looking over the strawberry situation, but up to now they haven't even flowered. And when we will get the raspberries is anyone's guess. Maybe in November.

Last night we were up into the meadow to see the neon lights. By neon lights I mean the eyes of the Deer. They sure show up in the headlights of the Jeep. Are they scared of the Jeep? Not a bit; even blowing the horn at them won't make them move. If only they were like that during the day, we could get some decent photos; as it is, about the closest we can get to them is 50 feet. Last summer we could almost touch any of them.

I have another very important job that I didn't know about. There is another Fox on the Island, and that I will have to get before too long. I found his tracks this morning after a heavy rain, he had walked to within about 100 yards of the cottage. The killing of ducks he has done up to now, sure makes me worry. I don't know how many of you sportsmen have seen a mother Duck put the young on her back to get into the water out of harm's way; we watched one do that yesterday. You know, everything about wildlife makes you realize just how self-sufficient they are. I know I'm always saying things like this, but it's true. If only we humans had the capacity of doing things the way animals do.

Edith just called me to come and see the Carp going into the cove to spawn. You may think this is far-fetched, but they are so thick in one particular spot you could walk on their backs and not get wet. So a wire to the fisherman should get him out this way tomorrow. The cove and bay are about 500 yards long and about 150 wide and almost every place I look, I can see carp jumping. The water will soon be black and filthy from them, I can hear some of the comments on the North River, I wonder what would be said if they could see this. Of course, the cove was dragged out of a meadow, so that it is mud and gravel all mixed. The way the carp nose into the weeds and root them out for a nice soft spot for their eggs, is the reason it's so dirty. You wouldn't believe that fish could raise so much dirt, and so much noise, with their splashing.

Instead of the snakes, with the cool weather I've had to go after the crows. So far a total of 11 have been taken off the flyway. As a rule crows are pretty smart, but these are so fat and lazy it's just like shooting a chicken. Some of them even sit and let you take another shot at them. They haven't really been hunted on this place for years so that I guess they get careless.

Neither Edith nor myself have seen the Eagles around for the past few days; beginning to wonder if they have flown the coop too. Maybe the scarce feeding situation has driven them away.

June 27 —

A few days later, with some interesting sidelights.

To begin with, last Wednesday late in the afternoon, a yawl was seen heading into the harbour. From the way the craft was being handled I knew they had never been in before. Anyway, after a little sweating and swearing we managed to get them on the right channel. Getting them tied up in the inner harbour was also another tricky job as the boat itself had a draught of 6 ft. Anyway, without even grounding on the gravel bars, they tied up. From Rochester, out for a weeks' cruise. Their auxiliary power had just about died on them, through a short in the battery connections, therefore they had no riding lights. Rather than take the chance of being run down they had intended to anchor out from the Island. The wind came up and made the anchorage a little rough so they headed in. They stayed until around noon the next day before getting everything in running order. . . It was a very pleasant surprise, seeing someone different.

And then the FOGS came, and I do mean fog. They started late Thursday afternoon and they haven't let up once since. During the night two lakers tied up off the Island, and as I've said before, you can hear but not see. Before lunch another boat came into the inner dock. This was a cruiser, 45 ft., and from Clayton, N.Y. They were headed for Toronto to see the Queen. There were four people aboard and, very happily, they had food for themselves. Friday still FOG, and by now we can hear the lakers, etc., dropping anchors all over the place. Still can't see your hand in front of your face. With the VVIP due in, we were wondering just how the plane would ever land. We had given up hopes of ever seeing the VVIP, when a siren was heard and there was a 60-footer trying to get into the channell That was finally managed, got it tied up, and there was the VVIP. The plane couldn't make it but a boat could.

Anyway they stayed the night, and naturally they were no trouble. I had just got back down to our cottage when another cruiser was spotted. With the exception of running around and being able to get off under its own power, everything was fine. Another four in this load. These are the ones that get under your hide. From Henderson Harbour, out fishing — or so they said. They couldn't even see the fish, not only from the fog but for various other reasons. All kinds of it on board — not food. However, we managed somehow to keep them happy. Besides they were in no eating mood. When they ran out of refreshments they were fit to be tied; so they got a bearing off the crew on the other craft and headed out looking for shore and more refreshments. . . . Maybe tomorrow they'll hit someplace.

The fog has started to lift a little, and I can see the big one getting ready to pull out. Better go and wish them Godspeed. With fools like the other outfit floating around, they will need it.

They are on their way, not too fast as the visibility is only about a mile. In that mile though, there are two ocean-ships anchored, and if the fog lifts a little there will probably be a few more. I would imagine this is costing the steamship companies a pretty penny. Not a breath of air and very warm. The trees are just dripping with the moisture.

It has started to rain pretty hard right now, and if a little wind should come up it wouldn't take very long for this to clear up. Man, will it be good to see past your front door! I just thought, the Queen is supposed to get to Kingston — Maybe. Unless she goes by car, I don't think they will have much luck with the Britannia. We'll see, anyway.

Sunday, June 28 —

They say the better the day the better the deed; the fog lifted during the night. It is not really clear, but you can see about 5 miles. It's like seeing another world, after being shut in for so long.

The VVIP left us during the day, but she will be back very soon. It really was good to see her once more. But we should be having her company in a few weeks.

The boats that were anchored have all gone now, so we are once more alone. Now maybe we can go and look at our animals to see how they are making out.

We were just having supper when a small boat came in out of the wind; a gentleman and his wife came in to see if they could see the Queen's Britannia go by. They had intended to see it from the lake, but with the winds getting up, discretion was the better part of valor. Anyway, we managed to see the convoy go by, and it sure was a sight never to be forgotten. First of all the Britannia with all her lights on (and believe me there were plenty). Then three destroyers and various other escorts. It was just getting on toward dusk when they passed, and this was within about a mile of the Island. We couldn't have had better seats if they cost thousands. The couple with us were thrilled to be able to have a grandstand view. With a slightly darkening sky, and all these lights showing up on the lake, it was indeed a sight to be remembered. . . So once again from Main Duck we are in on history. The little boat is staying with us for the night, and it is so rough they have no alternative. This is getting to be a very busy place, and from now on it will be worse. It's strange how a totally unfounded story concerning this island could gain so much publicity.

June 30 —

More visitors, this time 1.30 a.m. The R.C.N. cadet training ship the Iriquois came in and spent the night. There were 18 boys and the officers aboard. They were also heading for Toronto, but not to see the Queen. It was just after 5.30 when they left, and some of the lads were not feeling any too good. Their stomachs, I mean. Seasick. They would be all over it by the time they got to Toronto. They sure were a good bunch of boys; makes you feel happy to see the younger ones carrying on in the right manner. Another thing was the discipline among them. No fooling; even at that time of the morning they snapped right to it. By the time they get all through their training they will be men. It's too bad that all youngsters couldn't have that kind of training.

That's it for this time. . . A sportsman doesn't need to be told when he has enough. He knows.

B'burg Police Chief on summer driving hazards

The greatest menace on the road today comes from the driver with an "It can't happen to me" attitude — according to observations of Police Chief R. Bell of Brownsburg. This type of motorist, he says, drives too fast, disregards traffic laws, takes foolish chances. In short, he is a potential murderer — of himself and of others.

"What all drivers must do is make sure they drive to survive," the Chief said.

To help see motorists through the dangerous driving days ahead, Chief R. Bell submits these "Four Summer Safety Suggestions":

1. Slow down and live! Speed is our No. 1 highway killer.

2. Know and obey your traffic laws! Last year, most drivers involved in traffic fatalities were violating one or more laws.

3. Stay alert on long trips! Stop for coffee every couple of hours, get out of the car, walk around and stretch your legs.

4. Keep night driving to a minimum! And be especially careful at dusk. It's the most dangerous driving time of the day.

Store entered and robbed at Brownsburg

Entry and theft at the store of Jean-G. Desforges in Brownsburg during Monday night netted the thieves a haul of $3,000 of merchandise and around $25 in cash rifled from the cash register.

Mrs. Patrick Giroux, employed at the establishment for the past four years, was the first to discover the robbery Tuesday morning. The stock was in a state of upheaval, and she noted such items as suits, men's wear and shoes missing from the racks.

According to Chief Richard Bell, the thieves gained entry through the basement, having left their car or truck on Bank Street and carried their haul from the rear of the establishment. Shoe boxes and a few pairs of men's trousers were discovered on the ground in this area, where the miscreants had dropped them. It was also evident they had carried the cash register outside, to empty it of its contents. Chief Bell placed the hour of the robbery between 2 a.m. and 5 a.m. Tuesday.

Sgt. Detective Ralph Allen of the Provincial Police was notified, and is pursuing the investigation.

REDDY KILOWATT SUGGESTS:

Timely Tips

to help you get the most efficient cooling from your

ROOM AIR CONDITIONER

COOL ONLY AN AREA WITHIN THE SIZE your unit is designed to cool. When cooling a larger area, the unit is overworked and its efficiency is lowered.

KEEP AIR FILTERS CLEAN. Clogged filters lower efficiency of the unit and cause it to use more electricity.

INSULATE CEILING AREA above room being cooled. Insulation is comparatively inexpensive and keeps hot air out, cool air in.

LOCATE UNIT IN SHADE if possible. The north side of house is best, followed by east, south and west. Proper shading of unit increases its efficiency.

PROPERLY REGULATE intake of outside air. This is important to operating efficiency of your unit. Follow manufacturer's instructions carefully.

KEEP OUT DIRECT SUNLIGHT. It brings in heat which your unit must work extra hard to remove. Awnings over your windows will help.

AN AUTOMATIC THERMOSTAT is recommended to hold room temperature to 78 to 80 degree level recommended for comfort. Each degree below 78 degrees increases power consumption unnecessarily.

REMEMBER, TOO, that operating cost is governed by hours of use. Turn off your unit when you expect to be away for several hours. You can quickly lower the temperature when you return.

LIVE BETTER ELECTRICALLY

An Electric Room Air Conditioner is a wonderful boon to comfort during hot summer weather. Fellow Reddy's tips and make the most efficient use of your unit. It will help you LIVE BETTER ELECTRICALLY!

EDITORIAL NOTES...

"In this Parliament are three Estates, the Lords Spiritual, the Lords Temporal and the Commons, but in the Reporters' Gallery yonder sits a Fourth Estate more important far than all."
— Edmund Burke

Drowning – a national pastime?

EVERY SUMMER, the death toll of drowning victims rises to alarming figures. This is not caused by people not knowing how to swim, either. Some people prefer to drown themselves by diving into shallow water, without first ascertaining the depth. Others swim straight out as far as they can, either because of a desire to get away from it all for a while, or to impress their girlfriends. When they attempt to reach shore again, they find they have gone too far and lack the strength to return.

Others like to jump in just after a heavy meal, or when overheated. Cramps usually occur in such cases. Changing places in a canoe in the middle of the lake is another favorite.

Apart from observing the rules for water safety, the next best thing is to be sure that a knowledge of artificial respiration is at hand. Many a person who has seen a victim of drowning, feels certain that he is dead, because of the lack of eye reflexes, breathing and heartbeat.

On file at the Health League of Canada are records of people who have been brought back to life through applying artificial respiration for periods long past the time it seemed even likely that the victim was salvageable. The longest period on record was eight hours of artificial respiration.

The first and last thing to remember about the application of artificial respiration is to begin it right away, and not to cease until rigor mortis has set in (stiffening of the limbs, which indicates death most certainly).

Send someone else for the doctor, but don't stop giving this aid — even on the way to the hospital in the ambulance. Keep the victim warm if possible.

Sunday's magic pause

LIKE A QUIET HALT in the frantic words that fill our lives with propaganda, comes the following from the Ogdensburg Journal. . . .

In a world of clamor and turmoil, of frenzied pace and breathless confusion, men of good will everywhere may be thankful for the quality of Sunday.

Millions of citizens these days travel the length and breadth of their own land. Millions, too, see Europe, and increasing numbers see Asia, Africa and South America.

These lucky ones know for themselves what the rest of their countrymen can readily imagine: Sunday is everywhere the same.

It's more, much more, than just a time of rest and worship. It's a moment of peace amid the tumult.

It's a welcome space, in an age when men find fewer and fewer spaces in their crowded days.

On Sundays, men recover some of the dignity they cast to the winds in the week-long competitive struggle.

They have time to think, a rarer and rarer experience for many nowadays. They can take stock, reflect, see themselves and their lives in some sort of perspective.

The full riches of family living pour in upon them. Sunday is a day of companionship, of long walks and talks, of smoothing the raw edges gouged in one's feelings in the battles of the working day.

Sunday is a magic pause when life renews itself a little. You can feel it in the air on a farm road in Iowa, on a boulevard in Chicago, a park in Paris, a winding coastal highway in Portugal, anywhere at all.

Sunday is just different. If it should ever cease to be, then man should take alarm. For he may be in danger of losing the crowning spirit that makes him what he is.

Can YOU stop in time?

SAFETY EXPERTS have for years warned drivers to leave at least 10 feet between cars on the highway for every 10-miles-an-hour of speed. Driving closer than that creates a terrible risk of a sudden smash-up, with possible results of injuries, damage, or death. In addition to this, is the peril created by panic that so often arises in the mind of the driver of the car being followed too closely. Seeing another vehicle practically riding his rear bumper, the motorist frequently tries to get away from the menace by speeding up or suddenly careening off the pavement to escape the tail-rider. In his fear, he can crash his car, pile into other vehicles or pedestrians, or tangle traffic dangerously.

From coast to coast, tourist authorities expect the greatest influx of visitors in Canada's history this year. Within Canada itself, the motor vehicle population is increasing rapidly to crowd the nation's highways more than ever and, with expanded road-building programs in almost every province, these vehicles will have more places to go.

Crowded highways arouse impatience and tend to urge the unthinking driver to take chances. . . . This includes driving too close to the vehicles ahead, one of the most dangerous motoring habits.

The hard sell

FOR THE FIRST TIME since the closing year of the American Civil War in 1865, U.K. sales to the U.S. have exceeded U.S. imports to Britain. In the first quarter of 1959, the trade balance in the U.K.'s favor was over $7.5 million and the trend is upward.

This is a remarkable achievement, comments The Financial Post, for a country which lost so much in the last war and since. And it is all the more remarkable when you realize that in 1865 the British pound was worth $7 in terms of U.S. currency and the Americans of both north and south were eager to buy anything in the way of munitions or manufactured goods that British ships could deliver.

Surely if the British, through competitive selling, can reverse a century-old trade deficit with the U.S., Canada can take a page out of the British book and reduce its own deficit with the same country by the same means — hard selling.

Viewpoints and perspectives

MANY CANADIANS find gardening a rewarding and popular hobby. The fact has not gone unnoticed by the Queen's Printer at Ottawa who, in a recent advertising card, lists a number of pamphlets published at taxpayers' expense, ranging from herbaceous perennials to hedges, flowering bulbs and ornamental shrubs. . . Questions that might be asked are, how much these subsidized publications on gardening cost the taxpayer and why the Government ever got into the gardening business in the first place?

SCOTT'S SCRAP BOOK — By R. J. SCOTT

Self-appointed critic of the Royal tour

By G. E. Mortimore, "All Aboard" Columnist

Another self-appointed spokesman for the Canadian people has passed judgment on the Royal tour.

This time it is June Callwood, writing in an American magazine, Look. Miss Callwood infers that a large number of Canadians — perhaps a majority — are lukewarm or hostile to the Crown.

"Their protests are more audible than ever before. They are not directed at the Queen herself, whose gameness and flat-out effort to do her best provoke widespread respect and even affection. Rather, they reflect a combination of indifference, annoyance and resentment about the monarchy symbolizing the apron strings that Canadians long ago discarded."

In my opinion this is pure bosh, made up straight out of Miss Callwood's head. It is the kind of bosh that nobody can disprove, without taking an elaborate survey.

Since these statements are hard to disprove, anybody can make them, and get away with it. Well, I haven't taken a survey either. But I personally believe that Miss Callwood's statements are a dangerous kind of nonsense.

I don't think for a minute that Canadians are as thick in the head as Miss Callwood makes them out to be. I have more respect for my fellow-countrymen's brains than to believe that.

Everyone who got past Grade Three knows that Canada makes her own laws independently of Britain, and has done so for years.

But our parliamentary democracy, our traditions of freedom, are a direct legacy from Britain. The Queen is the living symbol of our kind of government; a symbol of the traditions that Canada and Britain share as equal members of a family of nations.

Anyone who thinks the Crown is a symbol of British overlordship is either ignorant or a victim of chronic feelings of inferiority.

Rather than being an expression of Canadian nationalism, as Miss Callwood would have us believe, the drivel in Look magazine is more like American wishful thinking. Miss Callwood may be a Canadian by citizenship, but I suspect that she is American by sympathy, or has at any rate been strongly influenced by the faction that would like to make Canada a 51st state.

One of the first aims of this group is to ridicule and discredit the monarchy.

I don't pretend to be able to read the minds of "a majority," or "most" of my fellow-countrymen, as Miss Callwood and that CBC woman commentator claims they can do.

But I have spoken to a number of people who are disgusted, not with the monarchy as an institution or with the Queen as a human being, but with the sickening ballyhoo and the crossfire of bickering that accompanies a royal tour.

This cheap circus atmosphere is partly the fault of the press and radio, and partly the fault of certain over-zealous little men who guard the royal party so carefully that they make a mystery of them, and block honest reporters from gathering facts.

The Queen in Britain is NOT heralded by a hysterical blare of publicity wherever she goes. Her tiniest actions are NOT spread across all the front pages, every day. Why should they be spread across the front pages every day she is in Canada?

Perhaps it would be a good idea if the Queen lived in Ottawa, in the interlude between the end of one governor-general's term and the beginning of another. The Queen's visit to other parts of the country would be quiet and unheralded, so that they came as a pleasant surprise. Then we might all be less nervous.

And I know this would shatter all precedent — but why shouldn't a new rule be introduced that would allow a Canadian who had held high public office — like Mr. Massey — to act as a viceroy in London during the Queen's absence?

What is a Buffle-Head?

The buffle-head (Bucephala albeola) is a type of diving duck that regular breeds in Canada. Diving or sea ducks are characterized by more or less flat bills and the presence of a large lobe on the hind toe. They secure most of their food by diving. Among the diving species that breed in Canada, in addition to the buffle-head, are the redhead, ring-necked duck, canvasback, greater scaup duck, lesser scaup duck, common golden-eye, Barrow's golden-eye, old-squaw, harlequin duck, common eider, white-winged scoter, surf scoter, American scoter and the ruddy duck.

Who Donated the Grey Cup?

The Grey Cup, presented each year to Canada's professional football champions, was the gift of Albert Henry George Grey, the 4th Earl Grey, Governor General from 1904 to 1911. When he donated the cup in 1909 it was for amateur competition. Earl Grey, who succeeded his brother-in-law, Lord Minto, in the vice-regal post, was one of the most popular of all our Governors General.

When did a Canadian Regiment first serve Overseas?

In 1858, at the time of the Indian Mutiny of 1857-58. The British Government received Canadian permission to recruit troops for the British Army in Canada. An infantry regiment of more than 1,000 men, the 100th Royal Canadian Regiment of Foot, was raised, sent to England, equipped at British expense and then saw service at Gibraltar, Malta and elsewhere. The regiment never became part of the Canadian military establishment and recruiting for it in Canada ceased after a few years.

What was the Largest Canadian Passenger Vessel to ply the Great Lakes?

The Noronic. She was built in 1913 at Port Arthur for a firm that was later absorbed by Canada Steamship Lines. Her length was 385 feet and her gross tonnage 6905. She ran for many years between Port Arthur and Sarnia and also made special cruises from time to time. While at Toronto on one of these special cruises, in September 1949, she was destroyed by a tragic fire that claimed the lives of 118 passengers.

Of Many Things

HOW TO IMPROVE

The other day my wife tossed a well-known family magazine into the rack with a sigh of distaste. "I'm getting sick and tired of nothing but self-improvement articles. Look, is there a mania abroad or something? Does everybody want to know how to exercise, how to get thin, how to get fat; what to do till the doctor comes, and how to get rid of him when he's finished? Next thing you know they'd be publishing articles like, 'A New Method of Steaming Envelopes Open in Your Pressure Cooker,' or 'How to Remove Warts by Hypnotism,' or 'Hints for Submarine Commanders on How to Organize a Polo Team.' It's ridiculous."

"Don't you want to improve?" I asked, heaping a little coal on the fire.

"Don't try to be smart," she said. "None of us is doing half as well as we know how right now. We don't need information — we need inspiration. I don't need hints on how to do the dishes; I need to get up and wash the darn dishes, that's all. I need to want to wash the dishes, if you know what I mean? You probably don't! You are lucky. You like banging at a typewriter!"

From years of experience at being a husband, I didn't protest that there are countless times when I would rather be at a pool table or a lakeshore than at my typewriter. And, of course, there is research to do. In every person's job, I suppose, there is some sort of equivalent to washing dishes. But my wife was dead right about the surplus supply of people telling other people how to do this, that, and the other thing.

Still, we all want to improve. Isn't there some specific way to do it, that could be told simply, once and for all? Wouldn't a general principle cover dish washing, writing, exercising and all the rest, so we could have done with this rash of how-to-improve articles?

I don't know. But my father had some general principles I think come close to the matter. He insisted that you couldn't afford to be careless at anything, even unimportant things. That forms the habit. You improve on yourself automatically then, at everything you do, even fishing, swimming or recreation.

I have often thought what a wonderful nation we could build here if all of us followed that one principle, and did our level best at all times. Lately, it has seemed that we have reversed it, doing just enough to get by.

I thought about that a good deal while I was helping my wife with the dishes. Got so deep in thought I was startled when she said, "Look, if you are going to dry the dishes — dry them right! And stop dripping soapy water on the floor!"

OLD STUFF

To listen to some of the emotional accounts of the so-called "vertical integration" of Canadian agriculture, one might conclude that the whole thing was a brand new plot of the devil to turn the Canadian farmer into a hired hand, says The Financial Post.

Vertical integration in Canadian agriculture has been going on for half a century at least, ever since the first farmers of central Ontario signed contracts with canning and sugar beet companies and the western wheat growers set up their own elevator and marketing concerns.

All that is happening now is a new extension of an old trend, and governments and farm organizations would be well advised to recognize the realities.

Rubaiyat of a Tenderfoot

By Walter Jackson

It seems that when he went to pitch the Tent
He wondered where those poles and Tent-Pegs went,
And then remembered they'd been left behind
In the old Bin that used to hold Cement.

Grabbing our Blankets from their Cardboard Box
We sought a friendly Cave among the Rocks,
And snuggled down upon the sandy Floor
Removing first our Boots and then our Socks.

Strange, is it not, when One desires Sleep
And would enwrap himself in Slumber deep
That all that he can do is lie awake
Annoyed by Little Things that bite and creep.

An hour later Al let out a Yell — "Goodness Gracious! What's that Funny Smell?"
T'was then we sensed that we were not alone —
Something besides ourselves was there as well.

A pair of Skunks — there was at least a pair —
Wasted their Fragrance on the Midnight Air,
And by the way they acted in the Cave
It seems they did not like our Presence there.

Consigning Skunks to Regions of the Damned
We grabbed our Blankets up and promptly scrammed,
But Al was so upset and so un-nerved
It took me Half an Hour to get him calmed.

The Waning Moon looked down upon the Sight
Of us reclining through the Endless Night
Upon a Grassy Bank beneath the Stars
All wet with Dew, and shivering with Fright.

Dawn came at last, and each with aching Head
We sought the Car to get some Cheese and Bread
When Al discovered we had spent the Night
Upon a verdant Poison Ivy Bed.

With heavy Hearts we changed into our Suits
Of Khaki Duck, and heavy Hunting Boots
And sought the Comfort of the Rising Sun
While eating Bread and Dehydrated Fruits.

Strange tho' it seems, the Breakfast tasted flat
And Al remarked just like a Diplomat —
"We could have spent the Night inside the Car!"
But somehow we had never thought of That.

A Local Farmer chanced upon the Scene
With features grim, and sinister, and mean.
He charged us each a Dollar on the Spot,
But sold us half a Can of Gasoline.

He was a salesman, businesslike and sleek.
His wife, it seems, took Boarders by the Week —
The Farm, he said, was just a mile away,
A lovely Place beside a Rushing Creek.

Oh, how we blessed that Farmer and his Frau!
We sat down to a Meal that was a Wow —
With Steak and Onions, Raspberries and Cream —
O Wilderness were Paradise, and How!

So there we spent those long Vacation Days
Among the Rubes and Hicks and other Jays
Who ate the choice Provisions we supplied,
Advising us that Camping never pays.

Back to the Town we drove the ancient Bus
And said hello to Guy and George and Gus,
Who envied us our lovely Camping Trip —
But they will never learn the Truth from Us.

— Jehovah's Witnesses —

Your Will be done on Earth — WHOSE Will?

Humankind is swiftly moving toward a New World. Soon the great troubles that have disturbed this world since the year 1914 will reach Armageddon climax. This old world will not be able to endure that overwhelming trouble, the like of which man has never before gone through since the beginning of human existence. The worst ever; yet it will be the last world trouble, and the thankful survivors of it will enter into a new world that gives promise of wonderful things.

This Beautiful Earth, in God's Purpose.

Our kind, loving Creator of the heavens and the earth, whose name alone is Jehovah (Psalms 83:18) . . . In His book, the Bible, He says "The heaven is My throne, and the earth is My footstool: I will make the place of My feet Glorious. (Isaiah 66:1, 60:13.)

Literal Earth to Abide and be Inhabited Forever

Gen. 1:1: "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth".

Isa. 45:18: "For thus saith the Lord that created the heaven; God himself that formed the earth and made it; he hath established it, he created it not in vain, he formed it to be inhabited".

Eccl. 1:4: "One generation passeth away, and another generation cometh: but the earth abideth for ever".

Ps. 37:11, 29; Matt. 5:5: "The meek shall inherit the earth; and shall delight themselves in the abundance of peace. The righteous shall inherit the land, and dwell therein for ever".

Ps. 78:69: "He built his sanctuary like high palaces, like the earth which he hath established for ever".

Ps. 115: 16: "The heavens, even the heavens, are the Lord's: but the earth hath he given to the children of men".

Ps. 119: 90: "Thou hast established the earth, and it abideth".

Prov. 2: 21, 22: "The upright shall dwell in the land, and the perfect shall remain in it. But the wicked shall be cut off from the earth, and the transgressors shall be rooted out of it".

Prov. 10: 30: "The righteous shall never be removed" . . . See also: Ps. 104: 5; Isa. 60: 21.

The Search for Peace

Peace is as sure as Tomorrow's sunrise, and just as independent of man. Unto us a son is born, unto us a son is given, and the government shall be upon His shoulders. Of His government and peace there shall be no end. Isaiah 9-67. Daniel 2-44.

Adults need Polio vaccine too!

(Copyright)

— By NANCY CLEAVER —

Royalty is in the spotlight these days and a recent brief news note stated that the Queen and Prince Philip had received polio vaccine in preparation for their Canadian tour. Fathers and mothers just as much as Prince Charles and Princess Anne need their parents. Have you as well as your youngsters had your polio "shots"?

Polio infection seems to go in cycles. The peak year in the number of cases was 1953 in Canada. In that year there were 3,691 cases of paralytic polio, 3,121 cases of non-paralytic polio and 481 deaths. In the last year for which complete returns have been tabulated, (1957) our country (with a greatly increased population) had only 172 cases of paralytic polio, 95 cases of non-paralytic polio and 26 deaths. The incidence of polio was 1.0 per 100,000 population two years ago, the lowest since 1950 when it was 2.4.

Before any of us begin to feel safe and complacent about these improved health statistics, there are disturbing facts which must be faced. In 1957 proportion of cases in the age group 20 years and over was the highest on record (44 per cent), for the six provinces reporting age of patients. Admitting that this proportional increase was due in part to the lower incidence in the younger years of this disease, nevertheless it points to a mistaken supposition. Far too many people consider polio a child's disease and they wrongly conclude that adults are comparatively safe.

Canadian polio deaths, after the introduction of the Salk vaccine program, were cut in half in 1957; they also declined in 1958, but at a slower pace. Last year there were fewer deaths, but unfortunately the number of paralytic polio cases from 177 in 1957 rose to the provisional figure of 229 in 1958.

The school authorities working with the health officials and the medical profession have done a magnificent job in seeing to it that the boys and girls in classrooms have received their three doses of polio vaccine. The second dose is given 4 to 6 weeks after the first and the third dose 7 months after the second. Only 10 per cent of the 5 to 19 year olds have not received Salk vaccine. If by any chance, through illness of your child when the shots were given or for some other reason, your son or daughter has not had this protection, do see to this without delay. The hot weather is coming when polio is most feared.

Recently polio vaccine has been combined with pertussis (whooping cough) vaccine and diphtheria and tetanus toxoids to reduce the number of injections for children for protection against these four diseases. If there is a baby or little child in your home, make sure that this vital safeguard is given.

Mothers usually think of themselves last of all in a health program; fathers are preoccupied with their wage earning, and apt to scorn health protection as unnecessary for them. But polio can strike any age, and there is a real chance of young children infecting their parents. It has been observed that polio incidence among young adults is highest in homes with small children. Only 8 per cent of Canadians in this age group have received Salk shots.

Eternal vigilance is needed in combatting the diseases which are a scourge to mankind. Salk vaccine is about 80 per cent effective, but it has greatly reduced the number of deaths from polio and lessened the crippling effects in countless cases. The struggle against polio must be kept before the public. This is no time to feel secure and be careless.

In the past our country has followed the trend of polio in the United States. The Southern States where weather has been warm, this year up to May 24 reported 320 cases of paralytic polio, compared with 175 cases for the same period last year.

Before your vacation, make sure that every member of your family has received Salk vaccine. Why not make arrangements for shots for any unprotected individuals at once?

For fine flavor, grill the catch over the coals, or if you like, wrap dressed fish individually in foil, then cook the packages directly on the glowing embers.

Fish — on bonfire or barbecue

A trim little bonfire by the water's adge, or a barbecue unit in your own backyard, can be the centre of endless fun and good eating. Cooked outdoors, almost any food is a feast, although some foods are more adaptable than others. Fish is an excellent choice because it grills, roasts, and fries beautifully over the coals in a short period of time. Moreover, it costs nothing if caught on the spot and can cost less than many types of meat if the "fishing" is done at a local store.

Fortunately there aren't too many set rules for cooking fish outdoors. Cooking times vary with the thickness of the fish, the distance it is placed from the coals, the heat of the coals, and the weather. To guide you with procedures, here are a few directions which have been supplied by the home economists of Canada's Department of Fisheries.

Grilled Whole Fish

Any type of small whole fish may be successfully grilled or barbecued. Scale, clean, wash and dry the fish. Heads and tails may be left on if desired. Sprinkle the body cavities with salt, then brush the fish generously on the outside with melted fat or cooking oil. Instead of brushing with fat, some outdoor chefs prefer to wrap their fish in strips of bacon, securing the bacon with toothpicks or small skewers. This is a popular treatment for trout.

Place the fish directly on a hot, well-greased grill, several inches above glowing coals. Cook, turning once. If you own a hand grill, the fish may be placed between the racks for ease in turning.

To decide whether fish is cooked, separate the flesh with a fork to the centre of the thickest part. When the flesh has lost its watery, translucent look, taking on a white tint, and when it separates into flakes easily, it is cooked.

Fish in Foil

An excellent way to cook fish outdoors is to wrap individual servings in aluminum foil, then roast them directly on glowing embers. A serving might consist of a small, cleaned and dressed whole fish, a fish fillet, or a fish steak. The wrapping could be heavy aluminum foil, or a double thickness of household aluminum foil.

To package, place each serving on a piece of foil, slightly off centre. Season with salt and pepper. If using steaks or fillets you may wish to top them with a little barbecue sauce of a butter-dotted vegetable garnish, such as a thin slice of onion outlined with a ring of green pepper, or a slice of tomato. Bring the foil up over the fish so that the edges meet on three sides. Close the edges with double folds to make each package steam tight.

Place the packages directly on glowing coals. Roast, allowing about 5 minutes cooking time for thin fillets and about 10 minutes cooking time for small whole fish or fish steaks about 1 inch thick. The packages puff up during cooking and the fish steams in its own delicious juices. No danger of it burning or drying out! When the allotted cooking time is up, open a test package to see if the fish is done.

Serve the fish in the foil packages. An easy way to get to it is to cut a crisscross in the top of a package, then fold back the edges. Using the packages as plates eliminates the chore of washing up afterwards.

Crispy Fried Fish

Pan-frying is a favorite cooking method of campers. The following procedure for pan-frying gives fish a delicious crisp outer coating.

Scale, clean, and wash the fish. Small fish are usually dressed and fried whole, while large fish are filleted or cut into steaks. Dip the fish in water, then in a mixture consisting of ½ cup of yellow corn meal, ½ cup of flour, and 1 tablespoon of salt. Have a skillet very hot and the bottom well covered with cooking oil or bacon fat. Fry the fish until brown on one side; turn and brown on the other side. When the fish will flake easily on testing with a fork, serve immediately while it is crisp, juicy and hot.

Frozen Strawberry Special

½ Pint sour cream, ½ cup sugar, few grains salt, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1½ cups hulled strawberries, thinly sliced.

Blend together sour cream, sugar, salt and lemon juice, then fold in strawberries. Pour into refrigerator tray. Place in freezing compartment of refrigerator, with control set at coldest position. When mixture has frozen to a mush, stir well and whip with a fork. Freeze until firm. 6 servings.

Note: Crushed strawberries may be used in place of sliced strawberries, but some creaminess and flavor will be lost.

Glazed Strawberry Tarts

1 Quart box of strawberries, 4 teaspoons cornstarch, ½ cup sugar, few grains salt, ¼ cup of water, ½ teaspoon lemon juice, remaining berries from 1 quart (about 2½ cups).

Wash, hull and drain strawberries. Crush one cup reserving the remainder to fill baked tart shells. Place crushed berries in a saucepan and bring to a boil. Remove from heat and put through fine sieve. Make a paste of the cornstarch, sugar, salt and water, and add this to the sieved berries. Return to the heat, stirring constantly until the mixture boils and becomes clear — about 3 minutes. Cool slightly and add lemon juice. Place well drained berries in individual baked tart shells. Spoon the glaze over the berries.

If desired, place a teaspoon or two of softened cream cheese or a tablespoon of vanilla pudding in each tart shell before adding the berries. 1 dozen medium tarts.

Note: In place of strawberries, other fruits may be used as they come into season.

Rhubarb and Strawberry Pie

3 Cups rhubarb cut in ½" pieces, 1 cup strawberries, 4 tablespoons flour, 1¼ to 1½ cups sugar, 1 tablespoon butter, pastry for double-crust 9-inch pie.

Mix flour and sugar together, add fruit and stir. Let stand for 15 minutes. Turn into unbaked pie shell and dot with butter. Cover with pastry and bake in a very hot oven (425°F.) for 50 to 60 minutes.

Strawberry Milk Shake

3 Cups hulled strawberries, ½ cup sugar, few grains salt, ½ teaspoon lemon juice, 3 cups milk, ½ pint vanilla ice cream.

Crush strawberries and press through a sieve. Add sugar, salt and lemon juice. Mix thoroughly and chill. Add cold milk and ice cream and shake or beat until mixture is frothy and well combined, Pour into tall glasses, garnish with whole strawberries and serve immediately. Makes about 4½ cups.

Strawberry Soda

1 Pint strawberries (washed and hulled), ½ cup sugar, 2 12-ounce bottles of soda water (chilled), 1 pint vanilla ice cream.

Crush strawberries and press through a sieve. Add sugar, mix thoroughly and spoon into 4 to 6 tall glasses. Add a scoop of ice cream to each glass then some soda water and mix well together. Fill glasses with remaining soda water, top with a scoop of ice cream and garnish with a whole strawberry.

Strawberry Float

½ Cup strawberry syrup (see recipe below), 3 cups milk, 3 large scoops vanilla ice cream.

Spoon syrup into 3 tall glasses. Add milk and stir well. Float ice cream on top. Makes about 3½ cups.

Strawberry Syrup

2 Cups hulled strawberries, 1½ cups sugar (or 1 12-ounce package frozen strawberries, ¾ cup sugar.)

Crush strawberries in saucepan. Add sugar and mix well. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly until soft — about 5 minutes. Press through a fine sieve. Store in refrigerator. Makes about 1½ cups syrup.

Taxi dinners have proved to be a huge success for the women's association of Wesley United Church at Elmira, eight miles north of Kitchener, Ont.

More than 400 meals were delivered by six taxi drivers at the second annual dinner held recently.

Orders were taken in advance and the meals were prepared at the church, then sent out for delivery on trays between 4.30 and 6 p.m. the day of the dinner.

Because of their limited kitchen facilities the women kept the orders within their own congregation. With a new church in the offing, the women hope to serve as many as 800 to 1,000 meals throughout the community in future years.

This year's menu included salads, cold cuts, tomatoes, relishes, rolls and pie.

New Salad Ideas

The consumer section of the federal department of agriculture has come up with novel ideas for potato salad. For a change, omit your regular dressing and try one of the following instead:

Fr, four slices of bacon; saute four tablespoons chopped onion in the bacon fat then toss onion and fat with the potatoes. Garnish with the bacon.

Saute small pieces of sausages and add both meat and fat to the potatoes. Toss lightly.

Mix one-half cup sour cream with two tablespoons prepared mustard and combine with the potatoes.

Your salads will be more palatable if the potatoes are first boiled, peeled, cut up or mashed, seasoned and mixed with the dressing while still warm, then chilled before serving.

And don't forget herbs during the salad season. Suggestions include basil, chervil, chives, dill, marjoram, parsley, rosemary and tarragon.

Sod-turning ceremony at Ayersville

Photographed turning the first sod to the construction of the new Ayersville civic building is Mayor Gaetan Paquette. In a short address, Mayor Paquette informed those present of the new era in store for Ayersville which was being marked by the commencement of this building.

Ayersville town hall sod-turning ceremony held Sunday afternoon

Mayor Gaetan Paquette of the neighboring municipality of Ayersville on Sunday afternoon last turned the first sod getting a long-planned project into operation in the commencing of a new "City Hall" civic building and centre of operations for the Village of Ayersville.

"This project," the mayor stated in a short address, "is the start of a new era for our municipality, that of expansion and maturity, and it has been known for some time by all our population that a permanent building of our own would shortly be erected without any loan being floated or any increase in taxes."

Mayor Paquette also made mention of public work recently completed, including the installation of water and sewers on Bradford Avenue as well as the widening of this artery and similar work on Richelieu Avenue and Chatham Street. In the domain of future work, he mentioned the proposed opening of Hamford Street across the West River to Providence Blvd. (Brownsburg Road) this autumn; the opening of Ayers Street; putting the new water system into operation; the creation of a Fire Department and the elevation of the municipality to that of a Town.

In attendance were a large number of invited guests, members of Council and their wives, Notary J. Octave Latour, M.P. for Argenteuil-Deux Montagnes, and Abbe Louis Roux, vicar of the Immaculée-Conception Parish. Pro-mayor Maurice Dumas was master of ceremonies. The ceremonies were concluded with the singing of O Canada.

The civic building, of modern design, will be erected at the corner of Bradford Avenue and Ayers Street; it will cost around $30,000. According to information from the civic authorities there will be no tax increase entailed in this project, and the building will be ready for use by next October. It will provide for a secretary's office and a mayor's office, a council chamber, a municipal garage, fire station, and dwelling for use of the police chief. It is anticipated the municipality will benefit from a provincial grant for fire-protection equipment.

Farm stock lost in barn blaze

Three pigs and a young bull were burned to death when fire razed the barn of Wes Copeland, Lachute R.R. 3, on Wednesday afternoon of last week. The Copeland farm is situated on the north side of the river between Copeland's and White's bridges.

The fire was discovered at approximately 4.25 p.m. and a call for help was received by the Lachute fire department several minutes later. By the time the crew arrived with the auxiliary truck, the tinder-dry frame barn was a mass of flames and intense heat prevented the firemen from releasing three pigs trapped close to the flaming building by a wire fence. The bull was tied inside the building and apparently suffocated, as no sound was heard from this section.

An adjacent shed was saved, and as the barn was some distance from the house, the residence itself was not in danger. A considerable amount of farm machinery was also destroyed in the fire, the total loss being partially covered by insurance.

Trailer Tank Ablaze

During the noon-hour on Wednesday, several members of the brigade were also summoned to extinguish a fire of a minor nature on Bethany Street, opposite Ste. Anastasie Parish Church. The brakes of an oil-filled tank-trailer had apparently locked and the rear wheels ignited. The flames were quickly extinguished, before any major damage was caused.

Invite members to join County Liberal Assoc'n

According to the chairman of the provisional committee, Bernard L. Gosselin, the Liberal Association of Argenteuil will proceed with the formation of an organization under this name, with a contributory membership. This will follow the viewpoint of a number of citizens voiced at a recent meeting of the committee.

To aid the organizing of this body, the constituency has been split up into districts, each under a Liberal supporter, in order to enlist members.

According to Mr. Gosselin, an encouraging number have signified their desire to join. The public are advised that any interested in enrolling in this provincial Liberal affiliation in the County of Argenteuil, may do so by contacting a member of the provisional committee, which includes the following:

Bernard Gosselin, president, Lachute; Stanley Rodgers, vice-president, St. Andrews; Rolf Nelson, secretary, Brownsburg.

Antoine Paré, St. Andrews; Jean-Paul Brosseau, Huberdeau; Léon Tessier, Brownsburg; Noé Patry, Lachute; Sydney, Swail, Arundel; David Morrison, Harrington; Réal Rochon, St. Philippe; Dr. Roger Lavigne, Lachute; Roger Lagarde, Lachute; Lucien Lacoste, Lachute; Georges Proulx, Ayersville; W. S. MacKimmie, Lachute; Paul Frappier, Laurel; Mrs. Ethel McGibbon, Dalesville.

Early Sunday morning robbery at Lowe Bros. Dairy offices

At least three thieves moved the safe from the offices of Lowe's Dairy early Sunday morning and opening it some 200 feet away, escaped with an estimated three thousand dollars in cash. Cheques and papers were left in the vicinity and along the railway tracks, indicating the thieves had left a car on the south side of the tracks in the vicinity of Quinn Street.

Jim Lowe, president of the local concern, reported that last week-end was the first occasion in some time that he had not made a night deposit in the facilities offered at the bank.

It is believed the robbery took place early Sunday morning as Hugh Lowe, a brother of the president, was in the building checking to see everything was in order around midnight; the town police patrol also checked the premises three times during the course of the night, the final patrol being made at 4.30 a.m.

The robbery was discovered and reported to Cst. Gilles Poirier at 8 a.m. Sunday and the investigation was carried out by him, Police Chief Fernand Trépanier and Sgt.-Det. Ralph Allen, of the local detachment of Provincial Police. Members of the Provincial Police hold-up squad were also called to the scene.

The thieves gained entry to the building by means of a rear door after apparently spending some time watching the building from the vicinity of the railway tracks. They wheeled the safe through the long building out a side door and across the paved parking area to the rear of some sheds where they turned it end-over-end up a sandy hill until they were concealed. They then opened the safe, "wasting no time or effort", according to Sgt.-Det. Allen. The safe was apparently opened with tools, the door being ripped off.

The police are following several leads following the initial investigation.

Youths arrested while fleeing from stolen car

Two Montreal youths were apprehended by local garagemen Friday night and turned over to Provincial Police who in turn released them to Montreal City police where they were wanted for car theft.

The incident occurred at the Harding Brothers Garage, Bethany Road, when the stolen car ran out of gas on the Montreal highway. The youths went to the garage and requested the car be towed-in. This was done and when time for payment came, the youths in question had no money. They attempted to run away but were caught by the brothers who followed in a truck.

Traffic Officer Lawrence Cruise was summoned and he took custody of the youths pending the arrival of Montreal officers. The car was returned to Montreal where it had been reported stolen.

Local "Mounties" on Royal Tour; being transferred

The Royal Tour which is presently underway in British Columbia, has seen local talent on escort duty across the country. Cpl. Richard Muir, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. Ross R. Muir, of Lachute, is presently in Canada's most western province and early this week was teamed-up with Cst. Gregor Albright, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Albright also of Lachute. Cst. Albright, who last week returned to duty after vacationing in Lachute, is stationed in Kamloops, B.C.

With the completion of the Royal Tour, Cpl. Muir assumes charge of the RCMP Detachment, Belleville, Ont.

From Moncton, N.B. comes word of Cst. Tom Jamison, younger son of Mrs. Phil Roy, who since his return from a European Tour as a member of the famous RCMP Musical Ride two years ago, has been stationed in that locality. Cst. Jamison has been transferred to Ottawa Headquarters, the new posting becoming effective early in August.

Mayor, council elections held in Wentworth

Mayor Clarence Neill was re-elected for his fourth consecutive term as Mayor of Wentworth, nominations for the vacancy being held on Monday of last week. Also re-elected to Council by acclamation were Herb Graves and Bruce Hunter, while F. W. Hooper, of Dunany, was elected to replace Donald G. MacRae.

Nominations closed Monday evening, with the three Councillors elected and a contest for the mayoralty shaping up between retiring Mayor Neill and retiring Councillor MacRae. However, the latter withdrew his papers Thursday evening, leaving the mayoralty uncontested.

Results of the nominations were released by Linton W. Armstrong, secretary of the municipality.

No Watchman issued July 29

Advance notice is given that The Watchman and L'Argenteuil staff wil suspend activities for their annual week's vacation on Friday, July 24, returning on Monday, August 3.

There will be no issue of either paper on July 29, and advertisers are requested to take note of this.

Customers for printing are advised that there will be only a minimum staff to handle emergency orders during this period.

Numerous problems of a growing town fill varied agenda at Council session

Ayersville water contract discussed; citizens damage claims considered

Demands made to Council since last session occupied a large portion of the regular monthly meeting, held Wednesday evening last week and presided over by Mayor Jas. W. McGibbon. Aldermen Stanley Holt and Mozart Carrière were absent from the meeting.

Henri Legault, local contractor, presented plans for a proposed recreation centre on Main Street West, in the Cruise development, but it was found necessary to obtain permission for a location of the sewers from the Health Department prior to commencing work.

Mrs. Judes Charlebois, agency manager for a beauty products concern, asked Council if it was necessary for her saleswomen to pay a yearly $20 business tax, as no merchandise was handled by them, all products coming directly from the company. She reported that one of the ladies working for her recently received a bill for $40, half of this portion being for last year, and added that the adjacent municipality of Ayersville levied no charge for this type of operation. In replying Mayor McGibbon informed Mrs. Charlebois that the matter would be turned over to the town's legal advisor and a decision handed down.

Philippe Valois, advocate, representing the Village of Ayersville, asked the Lachute authorities what they intended to do with the existing water contract between the two municipalities, as this autumn it is expected that Ayersville will have its own water supply and will not need to purchase water from Lachute. "Ayersville recently sent you a letter on this subject" he said, "but in acknowledging its receipt, nothing was mentioned of your intentions of cancelling the contract."

Mayor McGibbon replied that he was not too familiar with the clauses of the contract but he felt that, seeing the Public Services Commission had ordered Lachute to supply Ayersville with water, it was up to them to cancel the order. He added, however, that Council would study the matter from all angles and inform the neighboring municipality of their decision before too long.

Henri Fournier requested water service for his property, the matter being left with the committee concerned. It appears that Mr. Fournier, who resides on Isabella Street, has been obtaining water and sewer services by means of a connection onto his neighbor's pipes.

Norman McRae, a Lachute resident with property at Hill Foot, informed Council of damage to his house at Hill Foot, caused, he believed, by a leak in the main water pipe leading into Lachute. "Water is coming somewhere from the vicinity of the pipe, which I am sure was broken several years ago by a large bulldozer operating in the area." Town Foreman Jos. Senecal reported having been to the scene several times and finding no sign of a leak. Mr. McRae insisted that the water was coming from the Town's pipe, voicing the opinion that it was up to them to repair the pipe and pay for the damage to his house. It was suggested that Mr. McRae foot the cost of uncovering the pipe if such investigation proved that the pipe was not leaking; this, however, he refused to do.

It was decided that Mr. Senecal would investigate the complaint once more, and in the event no leak was found, Mr. McRae could feel free to take whatever action he deemed necessary.

Frank Bedard, storekeeper, was in attendance at the meeting and reported having received numerous complaints as to the number of bicycles often found in front of his establishment as well as that of Kerr's Diner. He offered to supply a well-constructed bicycle rack to be erected on the street at his own expense, requesting permission to do so. The matter was tabled.

The question of building permits for the Cruise Development was then brought up, and Council was informed that the plans to be prepared by Paul Laliberté, civil engineer, were not completed. It was moved, seconded, and unanimously approved, that if such plans along with the necessary work for the zoning and construction by-laws, was not completed and in the hands of Council within two weeks, that another engineer be engaged for the completion of this work, which is overdue.

The Mayor read a letter recently sent to the Chamber of Commerce informing them of the steps required before putting into effect their proposed modern lighting system on Main Street. No reply had been received at the time of the sitting, he informed Council.

A letter was sent to the Transport Commission at Ottawa, inquiring as to the cost of a warning-light installation on the C.P.R. Barron Avenue crossing. This was brought about upon the receipt of a letter from the Board, suggesting something be done following the recent accident.

The Council agreed to take over the continuation of Francis Street, leaving the matter in the hands of the Roads Committee to be sure everything was in order before any papers were signed and everything in accordance with the desires of the Quebec Municipal Commission.

Council then authorized the purchase of sufficient lumber to cover the bridge to Lake Sir John, the bridge having been re-built by residents of the Lake. This is the source of water for the Town of Lachute, and the bridge is a necessary part of the waterworks system.

A demand for damages totalling $75 to the property of Mrs. Myrtle Doig Thorburn, Lachute R.R. 3, was left with the Mayor and secretary-treasurer for legal advice. The claim arose following work on the property during the recent water crisis, the pipe under the river coming up on shore in the immediate vicinity of the Thorburn property. The charges were $50 for the loss of a tree cut by Town employees and $25 for erosion of soil caused by the loss of the tree. A bill from the Catholic School Commission for the sum of $125.75 for damages caused to its fence by snow removal equipment, was turned over to the insurance company for investigation.

Following a considerable amount of discussion on the pros and cons of cement and asphalt sidewalks, Town Foreman Jos. Senecal was instructed to examine the location for a sidewalk on the north side of Grace Street, and to report to Council at the next session.

Accounts for the month totalling $17,138.58 were approved for payment, and it was unanimously endorsed that the Chief of Police prepare a plan for parking in the new parking area at the rear of the Ste. Anastasie Parish Church, and that all parking be prohibited on Bethany Street. In addition, Council has agreed to clear the snow from the parking area each Saturday, during the winter months, in an effort to relieve the congestion on Bethany Street.

Building permits were granted to Roland Duquette, for a house on Cruise Blvd.; Antonio Audette, a house on Cedar Street; J. Seguin, a house on the corner of Sydney and Mary Streets; Henri Legault, a recreation centre on Main Street West; and Jean-Paul Ranger, a house on Cedar Street.

The meeting was then adjourned sine-die, it being possible that, at the next session, the evaluation roll will be completed and presented for study.

Extensive road paving on immediate program

Provincial road equipment has been busily at work during the past several weeks, and according to a report from the government garage here, a considerable amount of paving will be undertaken within a short time.

Included in the list of work to be done is the Lake Louisa Road, as far as Johnson's Lake or the Wentworth Township line; the balance of Route 31 as far north as Macdonald Lake; Route 30 to Lake Sir John; Route 41 circumventing the Bourbonniere development; a portion between Lake Echo and Morin Heights; and the stretch of road crossing the MacKenzie gulley on Lachute - St. Andrews Road.

While it is believed there may be additional stretches paved on completion of the work now underway, there has been no definite information as to what or where.

At present, the crushed-gravel-and-sand surface is about completed, preparatory to paving all the above-mentioned roads, and it is expected the asphalt plant now being installed at Pine Hill will be in operation by the end of this week, after which the paving will get underway.

This work started several weeks ago, immediately following the receipt of the County road budget by the Hon. W. M. Cottingham, Minister of Mines. While the local member had requested sufficient monies to pave a large number of roads in the County, it was not until a short time ago that he received official word that his proposed budget had been approved.

Mr. Cottingham has been instrumental in obtaining sizeable grants over the past several years, the money having been used for the straightening and repairing of these roads prior to their paving.

No definite date for completion of the work has been announced.

Ayersville school addition now under construction

The Catholic School Commission of the Municipality of Ayersville is presently undertaking the enlargement of l'école Clement at an estimated cost of $300,000. Work has been underway for several weeks by the firm of Omer Laurin et Fils, of Lachute, and is expected to be completed in about nine months. The building is located on Hammond Street.

The net cost of the building will be $232,360, however furnishing, financing and other building costs are expected to bring the total cost considerably higher. A provincial grant has been obtained covering 75 per cent of the total cost over a five year period.

The new addition will be 152 feet by 80 feet and will house eight classrooms, a gymnasium, and administration offices. In the basement will be found the heating unit, a cafeteria and storage facilities.

Plumbing, heating and ventilation is being handled by Argenteuil Plumbing and Heating Ltd., while the electrical work is being done by H. S. Church, both local concerns.

Regatta planned at St. Andrews

Members of the reconstruction committee of the St. Andrews East Parish Church have planned a regatta for Sunday, August 9, in aid of the building fund. The event will take place on the North River; this date will see a monster bingo event at the same location.

The committee is comprised of citizens of Carillon and St. Andrews East and all funds raised will go towards the construction of the Parish Church destroyed by fire last winter.

Routine affairs at Ayersville council meet

At the regular Ayersville Council session, bills were approved for payment, amounting to $6,405.17. Held over for approval were two others — one for $1,436 for a cadastral survey, from the firm of Dérôme, and the other for $60, from Stanley Church, electrician.

Another account was discussed, presented by Edouard Lajoie for $108 for use of his car while he was engaged on evaluation work last year. It seemed that no member of the Council had authorized this expense, and the bill was therefore held over for another meeting.

Mayor Gaetan Paquette read the financial statement up to June 30, 1959 — showing receipts $91,758.30; expenditures $87,018.75; taxes receivable $41,968.88; and balance in bank $8,739.55.

The payment was authorized of notarial fees to Jacques Beaudoin, N.P., for preparing a deed of sale passed between Ayers Realties, the Municipality of Ayersville and the Township of Chatham. The original bill was $500, but this was broken down to two accounts of $250 payable by the two municipal corporations involved.

Maurice Dumas, pro-mayor, was appointed to attend a reception for mayors of the district given by the Hawkesbury Centennial Committee on July 15, during Centennial Week in that centre. The invitation was extended by Mayor Rosaire Gascon.

The meeting was adjourned to Wednesday, July 15.

School Board vacancies filled in elections

A small turn-out of voters elected John Douglas and Richard O. MacLean to the Lachute Protestant Board of School Commissioners in Monday's elections, this being the first such contest in close to ten years.

Frank A. Brennian, Returning Officer for the election, reports only 240 persons as having cast votes out of a possible 900-odd. The results of the three-way contest are as follows:

John Douglas	95
R. O. MacLean	88
K. P. Riley	57

The Board Chairman is Jas. W. McGibbon and sitting members are Ernest McOuat and Lorne R. Duncan. Roy P. Fraser is secretary-treasurer.

The election was to fill the seats vacated by Nat W. Boyd and Douglas Bradford.

Local oil truck damaged by fire

Flames gutted the cab of a B-A Oil tank truck on the outskirts of St. Hermas early Monday afternoon, firemen from Lachute and St. Andrews East answering the call for help.

Gaetan Lafortune, operating the truck out of the local distributing plant, noticed the flames while approaching the village of St. Hermas and pulled the truck to the side of the road, summoning aid. With the arrival of the auxiliary fire truck from Lachute, the cab was a mass of flames which were quickly extinguished. Water was played on the tank of the truck, the front section of which had recently been emptied of gasoline and was heated close to the explosive stage. No serious damage resulted due to the fire, other than the loss of the truck which was believed covered by insurance.

Police report shows action on traffic abuses

In attendance at the regular monthly meeting of the Lachute Town Council (reported elsewhere on this page), Police and Fire Chief Fernand Trepanier recommended that Council should procure a speed timing device (traffic timer) with which to clock the speed of approaching vehicles. It was moved by Ald. Dr. Jean-Paul Dorion, seconded by Ald. Gerard Lefebvre, that the machine be rented for a one-month period, the rental to be considered a down payment in the event Council decided to purchase the machine after that time.

Mayor Jas. W. McGibbon extended congratulations to Chief Trepanier on the past month's activities, expressing his hope that the good work would continue. "I think the department has improved considerably during the past month, and I expect to see an increase in revenue from this department until such time as the present speeding and traffic violations are non-existent."

Total revenue for the month of June was $354, of which $52 was from traffic tickets and $302 from licenses and permits. An additional $117 has been left on deposit for cases presently before the court.

Following is a detailed breakdown of the revenues: Bicycle licenses $2.60; dog licenses $22; taxi permits $20.50; traffic tickets $52; money on deposit $117.20, for a total of $471.70.

A total of 433 service calls were answered, including 22 for accidents, in which eight persons were injured. A total of 3,611 miles were logged on the police car, and 45 persons were detained in the local cells. Traffic infraction tickets totalled 19, and an additional 26 cases are before the court, along with 20 other cases of a general nature.

Office closed

The local bureau issuing motor vehicle licenses will be closed Saturdays during the months of July and August. The bureau is located in the Court House, Grace Street.

$55,000 paid to Arg'tl municipalities in provincial grants for winter roads

More than $55,000 has been paid in grants by the provincial government to 22 Argenteuil municipalities for winter road maintenance.

The Hon. W. M. Cottingham, Minister of Mines and M.P.P. for this County, has announced that nearly all these cheques, in some cases amounting to more than $8,000, have now been directed by the Roads Department to the interested municipalities.

Some of the latter have acknowledged the receipt of the money and have addressed their thanks to Mr. Cottingham for his assistance in securing these grants.

A list of these municipalities and townships follows:

Mille Iles, Arundel Township, Montcalm Township, Huberdeau, Wentworth North;

St-Jerusalem Parish, Harrington Township, Wentworth Township, Town of Barkmere, Morin Heights, St. Andrew East Village,

St. André d'Argenteuil (Parish), St. Adolphe d'Howard, Chatham Township, Gore Township, Grenville Township, Grenville Village;

Sixteen Island Lake, Brownsburg Village, Ayersville Village, Carillon Village, Calumet Village.

Brownsburg Council adjourns after varied and lengthy discussions

The July 6 meeting of the Brownsburg Council ran on, and on, and on, and was finally adjourned until July 13. While Council managed to pass its share of business, discussion on some subjects appeared to bog down at times as visitors voiced their varied opinions.

Final approval was given to Woodbine Ave., so the new extension is now officially town owned.

Former Councillor Stanley Harris inquired as to whether Council was considering the passing of a zoning bylaw. No immediate legislation is planned but it appeared that the council members were in favor of such a plan. This brought up another point — whatever happened to the building regulation by-law?

Motorists will be pleased to learn that Council passed a regulation to prohibit parking on the east side of Maple Ave. South from Hadley's Hotel to Main Street. This will be a much needed aid in reducing traffic congestion at the main intersection.

Payment was approved on monthly vouchers amounting to $3,293.85 and while this figure appears high, the number of applications for public assistance indicated a possibility that overall monthly expenses could increase in the future.

Council again touched briefly on the question of whether to throw out the numbering system on the streets and return it to the original names. This would probably be a popular move with most of the town residents although some commercial interests might experience some confusion. The problem was shelved for further discussion at the next meeting.

Fire Chief Robbins reported that his crew had been called to only one fire during the month when they responded to what amounted to an $8,000 blaze in St. Philippe at 2.45 a.m. on June 14.

Police Chief Richard Bell has already made his presence felt in town as he reported a list of 21 speeding offences. An excellent start, although a number of Maple Ave. South residents believe this score could be tallied in their area alone. With the interest Chief Bell has shown on Main St. and Maple Ave. North, it looks as though speeders are in for a rough time all over town.

Strangely enough, none of the Maple Ave. South residents have inquired about sidewalks lately. Council had nothing to report in regard to progress on the project but made it known that this body is not to blame. According to Council, provincial authorities in Lachute have so far shown little interest in attending a meeting to discuss the proposed improvements.

A particularly controversial subject came up for some brief discussion when Councillor Roger Raymond originated a notice of motion to have a by-law passed which would prohibit the wearing of shorts by females on the streets in Brownsburg. The question of the ban arose as a result of the circulation of a petition which has been signed by quite a number of people. Earliest indications were that the ban would apply to "short" shorts (Bermudas are okay) and that the "transition" age would be in the vicinity of eight years. This particular point, if not the entire subject, should provide basis for argument for some time to come. It is presumed that a somewhat longer discussion will take place when Council reconvenes.

On the float can be seen the Misses Renee Simard, Nicole Pharand, Jacqueline Malette and Jocelyne St. Laurent also Messrs. Gabriel Valois and Fernand Berthiaume.

The town of Lachute was well represented last week at the opening ceremonies of the Centenary Celebration at Hawkesbury, which spoke well for the friendly spirit existing between these two neighboring towns. The weather though warm was ideal and the streets were lined with many residents and visitors, with gay decorations everywhere.

An official delegation of some 25 Lachute people attended, riding in convertibles accompanied by a float characterizing old families of the Ottawa Valley. Those taking part were the Misses Nicole Pharand, Jacqueline Malette, Renée Simard and Jocelyne St-Laurent, together with Messrs. Gabriel Valois and Fernand Berthiaume.

Also present were the pro-mayor, Dr. Jean Paul Dorion. Aldermen L. Gibeault, S. Church, L. Laurin, M. Carrière and N. Lepage; Police Chief F. Trepanier and constable G. Poirier; Messrs. Adhémar Cuerrier, president of the Chamber of Commerce; Fernard Legault- president of the Catholic School Commission; Adrien Lacasse, A Campeau, O. Décoste, André Lacasse, C. Malo, Wilfrid Charron, G. Cousineau, L. Hamel and Gurdy Laurin.

Ancient cars and costumes, numerous bands,, floats, and modern cars carrying officials, residents and visitors formed a spectacular parade.

Saturday morning a large turnout of Veterans of both wars marched to the cenotaph where wreaths were laid in remembrance of those who had paid the supreme sacrifice. Legion Branch No. 70 from Lachute sent their colors and a delegation.

Festivities will continue until Friday, July 18, and citizens of far and near are invited to join in the fun of this Hundred Year Celebration.

Meeting colleagues of the Weekly Press

WE'RE TAKING this space to salute our colleagues of the Weekly Press, who are holding their 40th annual convention this week in Regina — and among whom The Watchman is again represented.

Editors and publishers of weekly newspapers from Newfoundland to Vancouver Island have gathered in the famed prairie city to discuss the problems that confront them in this highly mechanized and rapidly changing world.

Those who are not familiar with the weeklies may wonder how they survive the competition of the big dailies, the national news magazines, and radio and TV.

The answer is simple: The weekly editor has changed with the times, and so continues to fill an important role in the communications network of his community. He does the job of providing accurate local news and opinion in a way that meets the changed standards of today's modern reader.

Gone are the days of the casual deadline and the "Gone Fishin' " sign (which were mainly fables, anyway). Today, the weekly editor has one of the biggest and busiest jobs in the publishing field.

He not only has to compete for business against new and powerful media, but he has to do an ever-improving job of reporting local news and interpreting his community to itself. Our higher education and living standards make this mandatory.

And the men and women who are gathered in Regina would be the last to claim that they are masters of the situation. In fact, they're attending the 40th annual meeting of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association to listen to experts and to swap suggestions among themselves on how to do a better job; and out of this will come further action to help them do a better service for their readers and advertisers.

It is for this reason we ask our readers to join us in our salute to the weekly press. It may seem that we're tooting our own horn a bit. But we feel the publishers have done a great job to date — and are trying to do still better. And that's good for all of us.

Coming up — Farm Safety Week

CANADA'S FARMERS are becoming more and more efficient, capable of greatly increased productivity, and output per man-hour. The Royal Commission on Canada's Economic Prospects in its study "Output, Labor and Capital in the Canadian Economy", shows that from 1947 to 1955, man-hour productivity expressed in constant dollars, increased by 68% in agriculture, and by 22% in the rest of industry. This increase in output per man hour has been made possible by the increased use of machines and mechanized equipment. While these machines have increased the efficiency of the farm, they have, at the same time, brought a wider range of hazards to agriculture.

July 19-25 is National Farm Safety Week in Canada, and it is in the interests of all farm people to observe this period by not only preventing accidents, but by bringing about practices and methods that will safeguard human life all year round.

There are thousands of ways in which farmers and farm workers can prevent accidents and sidestep the pain, suffering and financial loss resulting from accidents. National Farm Safety Week, July 19 to 25, is devoted to the emphasis of this theme.

Good old summertime!

THIS IS KNOWN as the Good Old Summertime. . . . However, with a completely carefree attitude, it can become the Bad Old Summertime. This kind of summertime brings people to the hospitals in droves, like a reverse Christmas rush. Undertakers don't do too badly, either.

Men tackle outdoor jobs in the merciless rays of the sun; they strain their backs, legs and arms, drive pickaxes and hoes through their feet, and squash their thumbs with hammers. Their wives pop into their bathing-suits and flatten themselves under the sun's rays and quickly get parboiled, often to a stage requiring medical attention.

The junior members of the family trot through the woods, picking flowers and looking for frogs. They come home covered with poison ivy. The juniors tumble into rivers, ponds and lakes, where they drown with an alarming frequency.

Summertime can be likened to a rich cake. . . . Eat a moderate amount, and a wonderful full feeling is achieved. Eat too much and illness ensues.

Enjoy your summer this year — but come through it in one piece.

A change of pace

OF ALL THE changes brought about by the machinistic speed-up of the last 60 years, none is more striking than the alterations in circumstances of foreign travel.

The circumstances have brought an increase in the numbers of people who each year cross an ocean or two for a few days, a month or a season. Time was when the people who move from continent to continent were limited to specific classes: sons of the wealthy making the Grand Tour, frock-coated gentlemen from the higher echelons of diplomacy or commerce, adventurers and explorers. The only way considerable numbers of the populace moved about was in the shape of wartime forces.

Now, when America and Europe are less than a day apart, and when 10 per cent down will get you a return ticket, that youngster leaning on the top parapet of the Eiffel Tower may be a high-school student from Regina, or this matron at Niagara, a tourist from Canberra. There are thousands of their kind.

The question naturally arises as to whether this increased mingling of comparatively large parts of populations for brief periods does anything to increase good will between the visitors and the visited. Whether, under the shadow of vastly "improved" methods of warfare, there is a deepening in the reservoir of warmth in the hearts of the people concerned.

It is a hard question to answer.

So many travellers take to the roads, the sea-lanes and the air merely to kill time, to look rather than to live.

A suggestion one might make is that men and women who are whisked from one continent to another in a day's time should change pace for a while when they get where they're going.

Visit St. Paul's and the Abbey, the Louvre and the Sistine Chapel, sure. But keep some part of every trip secret from the hurry and the tour conductors. Become familiar for a little with some stretch of country, some street corner perhaps, that they will think of later with a sense of recognition, woven into their living.

The French writer-flyer Saint-Exupery in his parable The Little Prince tells the story of the business man who invented a pill to quench thirst. By taking the pill one could do without water and thus save 53 minutes a week. But save it for what?

"As for me," said the little prince, "if I had 53 minutes to spend as I liked, I should walk at my leisure towards a spring of fresh water."

It is nonsense to regret the speed-up. How would it be if more people used it to get within walking distance of the springs?

STORIES

I have a friend called Charlie Herald. Charlie used to be an orchestra leader, so he got around the country a good deal and heard many a story. Most of us do; but Charlie never forgot one. As a result, he is one of the best conversationalists I have ever met. Get him started and he can go on and on, from one story to another. He specializes in stories that are true; and more often than not, they have happened to him, personally.

For example, he likes to tell about the time he was in a restaurant in Maple Creek. A little wizened-up man came in and immediately caught Charlie's interest. With him, the little weather-beaten man had a dog about as small and weather-beaten as himself.

"The man sat down at the counter and ordered two steaks," Charlie said. "When they arrived, he put one in front of himself, then cut up the other one and put it down on the floor for his dog.

"That got me. I went over and asked him what the idea was buying an expensive steak like that for a dog.

"Well, he told me he was a sheep herder — he needn't have told me, I could smell it myself — and that his dog was such a good sheep dog he was better than any six men. 'So once a year,' said the little man, 'I bring him to town and buy him a steak. This just happens to be that day.' "

Charlie has dozens of stories like that. I think things happen to him because he has his eyes open for the unusual. He gets more kick out of life than most men, so life does its best to provide him with grist for his mill.

Once, years ago, looking for a certain shell on a beach, I was having no luck. A friend, further up the beach, was also hunting. When we met, he had three of the precious shells; I had none. I wondered if his eyes were sharper than mine.

He gave me one of his shells, told me to study it very, very carefully. I did. He then said that if I would now go hunting I would find one for sure, and sure enough I did. I had a better idea of precisely what I was looking for.

Life is much that way. When you have a very clear idea of what you are looking for, life seems to provide it. Charlie looks for human interest, for the warmth and joy of fellowship. And he finds it, abundantly, as his anecdotes will testify.

The other day we saw the movie "Separate Tables." We're generally the last people to see a movie before they throw it on the junk pile.

We enjoyed it, and in fact it will probably be a good film in 20 years from now. But one thing stood out like a thistle in a flower bed: Rita Hayworth's poor acting.

Everyone else turning in a brilliant performance. But Rita was the same as ever — beautiful, perfectly dressed, and about as lively as a figure carved out of Swiss cheese.

To give Miss Hayworth her due, she was playing the part of a cold, selfish woman, and she was not called upon to register much feeling.

But when events broke her icy shell and she was asked to emote, she responded in wooden style. Hardly a twitch or a quiver, as I recall, disturbed her pretty face.

Someone must have told Rita, long ago, that feelings eroded the features. Ever since, she has been careful not to have any feelings — or at least, not to show any.

When she lifted her hand to her forehead, supposedly to tell the audience that she had suffered a shock — she had the air of a woman who brushes away a cobweb.

Rita Hayworth in real life may be charming, tender-hearted and lovable. She's a good dancer. But she can't act. Stars like Miss Hayworth have done enormous damage to the film industry.

There was a time when Hollywood could get away with shoddy workmanship. There was a time when Hollywood could afford to take a beautiful, no-talent girl and make her a movie queen.

Television changed all that. Now those of us who live in a TV area can get our trash entertainment for nothing. When we pay money at the box office, we want to see something good.

Rita Hayworth still has a box office value, which I suppose is the reason why they hired her to spoil an otherwise well-constructed movie. But I think that in using her, they lost more than they gained.

In the past, a star has been largely an artificial creation, magnified and gilded by publicity into something larger and shinier than life. The studios would be wise, from now on, to choose their stars from the ranks of those who are not only handsome but who can also act.

What is a Cyclorama?

The cyclorama, sometimes called a panorama, is a form of visual education and entertainment provided by paintings or other graphic arts on a long canvas. It can be either a stationary display, usually shown around the walls of a large room, or a display that is shown by winding a canvas off one drum on to another. The cyclorama, which originated in Britain during the later years of the 18th century, was particularly popular in Canada during the 19th century. Panoramas of great battles or of geographic regions such as Great Britain or the Holy Land toured the provinces, offering a form of entertainment that was a forerunner of the movies. Eventually a few displays acquired permanent homes. The best-known one today is probably the cycloramic view of the Holy Land housed at Ste. Anne de Beaupré in Quebec.

What is Canada's Longest River?

The mighty Mackenzie River, one of the world's largest. From the source of the most distant stream in the Mackenzie system — the Findlay River in British Columbia — to the Arctic the distance is 2635 miles. The name Mackenzie is applied to the river only from Great Slave Lake to its outlet in the Arctic Ocean. There are only ten or eleven longer rivers in the world, including the Nile (4053 miles), the Amazon (4000 miles) and the Missouri - Mississippi (3986 miles).

THE CASE OF THE CASTOR OIL

The only drugstore in a certain small town had recently installed a modern soda-fountain. On the opening day of the new fountain a farmer who lived a few miles out entered the store.

"Hiya, Doc!" he said to the druggist, who was also an old friend, "Can you fix up a dose of castor oil so that it's absolutely tasteless?"

"Sure can, Henry. Fix it for you right away. By the way, what do you think of our new fountain — marble counter, red stools and everything? Sit down and have an ice cream soda on the house while I fix your prescription. Won't cost you a cent."

After Henry had enjoyed the free drink he and the druggist talked about this and that for a few minutes. Then Doc said: "Well, nice to have seen you, Henry. Drop in again some time."

"Just a minute, Doc. What about my castor oil?"

"Why, you've just had it. I gave a secret signal to the soda clerk and he mixed it with your drink! Bet you didn't taste it, did you?"

"No, I didn't," said Henry. "But that's not the point. It wasn't for me. It was for the wife. She's sittin' out in front in the car!"

Pretty wedding in Valois Church – bride related here

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Nicholson Venters, photographed following their recent wedding in Valois United Church. Mrs. Venters was formerly Miss Joy Evelyn de Conde, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kent de Conde (and granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Peter Cruise, of Lachute). The marriage of Joy Evelyn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kent de Conde, of Valois, Que., to Mr. Gerald Nicholson Venters, son of the late Andrew Venters and of Mrs. Venters, took place recently in Valois United Church, the Rev. Samuel Machin officiating. Mrs. E. Stockwell played the wedding music, and Mr. Evan Jones sang during the signing of the register Standards of pink and white gladioli were used to decorate the church.

The bride, who was given away by her father, was gowned in white poult de soie, fashioned on princess lines, with a fitted bodice of Chantilly lace embroidered with seed pearls and sequins having a scalloped neckline, short sleeves, and a full skirt ending in a chapel train. Her fingertip-length veil of tulle illusion was held by a coronet of seed pearls and sequins, and she carried a bouquet of pink baby Tea roses.

Mrs. Richard Lalumiere, as matron of honor, and Miss Diana Simpkins and Miss Sandra Cruise, as bridesmaids, were in organza frocks; Mrs. Lalumiere being in aqua, Miss Simpkins in yellow, and Miss Cruise in water green. They wore hats to match their frocks, and carried bouquets of white carnations.

Mr. Jack Adams acted as best man for his brother-in-law, and the ushers were Mr. Jarvis de Conde, brother of the bride, and Mr. Richard Venters, cousin of the groom.

Mrs. de Conde, the bride's mother, was in an ensemble of dusty rose lace, and wore a black hat and accessories.

Mrs. Venters, mother of the bridegroom, was gowned in blue lace, and wore a navy blue hat and accessories.

Later Mr. and Mrs. Venters left by motor for New York State, the bride travelling in a green nylon suit, and wearing a white hat and accessories.

The bride is a granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Peter Cruise of Lachute. . . . Guests attending the wedding from this community were — Mr. and Mrs. Roy Cruise, Mr. Roy Cruise, Jr., and Miss Sandra Cruise, of Brownsburg; Mr. and Mrs. John Cruise, and Mr. and Mrs. Guy Urbain, of Lachute.

75 People attend Golden Age tea in Brownsburg

"It was the talk of the town" and righly so, according to the opinion of the seventy-five or more of the "Seniors" who were present at the Golden Age Tea held in the High School cafateria, July 7 sponsored by the Brownsburg W.I.; several of those present were eighty years of age or older. Mr. Harry Gardiner, 85 and Mrs. Ethel Maxwell, 83, winning prizes for the two oldest persons present; other prizes were also presented. Mrs. J. A. Campbell and Mrs. Gordon Todd poured tea and refreshments were served when a friendly chat and happy thoughts of "older days" were enjoyed.

This was the first event of its kind to be held in the town or community and it is hoped that other W.I. branches throughout the county will have "get togethers" for the older folks. Brownsburg W.I. expects to have another Golden Age Tea in September. Mrs. Hector Mason, the convenor wishes to thank all those who helped in any way to make this event such a success.

The singing of Auld Lang Syne and God Save the Queen brought the happy time to a close.

Engagement Announced

Local Witnesses plan to attend Ottawa assembly

All roads lead to Ottawa July 23-26 for the local and St. Jerome congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses, because on those dates a large District Convention is to be held in the Grandstand at Lansdowne Park. Upwards of 12,000 delegates are expected to attend from Ontario and Quebec, with visitors from other Provinces in Canada and many States of the Union.

Going to conventions is a regular experience in the lives of representatives of our groups, said Mr. Rae, presiding minister of the Lachute charge, for the witnesses follow closely the admonition of the Apostle Paul, "not forsaking the gathering of ourselves together, as some have the custom but encouraging one another, and all the more so as you behold the day drawing near."

The object of these assemblies is to encourage people to appreciate the Bible as a practical guide to Christian living, the witnesses maintain. "A man's religion becomes a living force only when he actively exercises it for the good of his fellow man, and it is our belief that to really believe a thing one must be willing to put that faith to the practical test of personally publishing it," Mr. Rae said.

It was his opinion that in this day and age when civilization faces anhilliation by the Frankenstein monster of its own creation, the "H" bomb, the eyes of people everywhere are turning toward the only source of greater power, Jehovah God and to His revealed Word, the Bible. It is now for the people who claim to represent God to give their fellows the message of hope for life in a new world as contained in the Bible, and that this new order of things is soon to be established on this earth in practical fulfillment of our Lord's prayer.

Keynote of the convention will be the lecture of Mr. P. Chapman, supervisor of Ministers for the Watch Tower Society in Canada.

Blind residents of four counties attend picnic

The annual picnic for the blind, conducted by the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, was held on Wednesday of last week at the Rotary Park, Brownsburg, when sightless people gathered together from Argenteuil, Laval, Terrebonne and Two Mountains. Recreational activities were organized, the highlight of which was the tug-of-war between St. Jerome and Lachute, the former team winning the contest.

The committee would like to express sincere appreciation to the Women's Auxiliary of the Argenteuil CNIB for looking after the refreshments and for taking care of all those who required guidance around the picnic grounds. The ladies in charge were: Mmes. Dwyer, Graves, Ponech, Richardson, Mann, Robinson, McRae, Stephens, McNair, van Woerkom, Belanger, Ogilvy, Leishman, Staniforth and McDonald.

The committee is also deeply indebted to the following for their donations towards the picnic: Messrs. Len Dion, Bellemare, Lachute Creamery, MacKimmie, Lowe Bros, Desjardins, Chevrier, Courtien, Maitland and Plouffe. The drivers of the sightless people were as follows: Herb Graves, Ian Gordon, Roger Regimbal, Clayton Robinson, Jack Thorpe, Don Hay, Jos Dumais, E. M. Jones and Albert Blute.

Review of achievements by B. & F. Bible Society

When the British and Foreign Bible Society was established in 1804 it would have been difficult for the original founders to visualize that in the following 154 years a total of 648,920,635 Bibles, New Testaments and Gospels would be circulated under its auspices. This fact was announced at the annual meeting recently held in London.

The most significant fact disclosed was that the commitments of the Society to complete the translation of more whole Bibles had increased twelvefold since World War II. Of the more than eleven hundred languages into which some portion of the Scriptures have been translated only two hundred and fifteen have the whole Bible. The Society is at present working on the completion of 94 whole Bibles.

In 1958 two New Testaments were brought to completion: Chin (Vaiplei dialect) for Assam, North India; and Gourma for French Equatorial Africa. Revision of the New Testament in four African and eight other languages were published.

Silver Wedding celebrations held in Brownsburg

On Thursday, July 9, Mr. and Mrs. Rolly Moncrieff celebrated their Silver Wedding, but on Saturday, July 4, the many friends of Rolly and Peggy marked the occasion by a repeat performance of the wedding ceremony and festivities. Well over a hundred people gathered at Brownsburg Legion Hall to launch them on another twenty-five year stretch of wedded bliss.

At the mock ceremony the "reverend" Bill Hamilton officiated in a capable fashion reading the appropriate passages from the "family bible" — a large catalogue. Ward Moncrieff and Mrs. Edith Ayres were father and mother of the bride with Bill Cooper and Evelyn Lieop filling the same capacity for the groom. Best man and bridesmaid were played by Wilbur "Tib" Hardie and Ruby Goldthorpe, Marc Diotte, Bill Morrow and Lou Carignan hammed up the roles of ushers. The flower girl was Irma Martin.

Levity was the keynote most of the evening but at the wedding supper sincerity took over. The guests, through a few spokesmen extended their felicitations to the couple and looked forward to a similar happy reunion at the time of their Golden Wedding. Mrs. Bertha Enlow, on behalf of the guests, presented the couple with two fifty dollar bills.

Credit for such a memorable evening must go to Mrs. Enlow for organizing the function.

Other guests from out of town were: Hon. W. M. Cottingham and Mrs. Cottingham, Mr. and Mrs. Percy MacLeod, Mr. and Mrs. James Brooks, Mr. and Mrs. Kingsley Smythe, Mr. and Mrs. Reg. Wallace, Mr. and Mrs. John Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Benny Villeneuve, Ken Keir, Jack Martin, A. Cantin, Don Ayres and Elsie McFaul.

BELL LINES

by Dick Pearson your telephone manager

The Bell Company's size is directly related to the bigness of its job. We have to be big to serve the big provinces of Ontario and Quebec. Bigness gives us the strength to do what we're expected to do, whether it concerns the co-ordinating of major defence jobs, furnishing national and international long distance networks, supplying channels for interconnecting radio and television stations, or providing local service for a fast-growing Canadian population. Let there be no doubt, however, that our main function is to handle telephone calls. Last year the Bell Company handled a daily average of close to 20,000,000 local calls and more than 360,000 long distance calls. . . . But, in spite of our size, we like to think of ourselves as being a home town business wherever we serve, attuned to the wants and needs of our neighbors.

Not so long ago we overheard an hotel clerk telling a man, who was travelling with his wife and two boys, that he only had one single room available. "But there are four of us," protested the man. "Is that all you've got?" The hotel clerk said he was very sorry. He added: "Of course, had we known you were coming . . ." And that's the whole point — If you're travelling, alone or with your family, and you're planning to put up at an hotel, or motel, don't leave it to chance; let them know when to expect you. By taking this simple precaution, you are not only assured of adequate accommodation—more than likely you will get choice accommodation. Place a phone call. (A night call, station-to-station, covering about 200 miles, can cost as little as 80 cents.)

Here in Canada, most of us answer the telephone with, "Hello!" In Madrid you would hear "Hola!" or "Quien Habla?" (Who is speaking?). The Japanese open their telephone conversations with a lilting, "Moshi Moshi!" which has no precise meaning. India has more or less officially adopted "Hanji" which translates as, "Greetings". And in Afghanistan and Iran, most people prefer "Baleh", meaning "Yes". Perhaps one of the heartiest sounding telephone greetings is the Swahili, "Yambo". . . . But no matter what the language, telephone greetings tell the story of people in touch.

Between the weary hours of a Friday afternoon and the rays of a Monday morning sun, there is a special quality of experience called a week-end. . . . Week-ends can be noisy as a firecracker, adventurous as a safari, confusing as a road-map, well-planned as an invasion, frustrating as a wet match, or quiet as a curfew. . . . But all week-ends have one thing in common — the magic capacity for making people want to get together with other people. . . . Sometimes the people we most want to see and talk to are many miles away; but there's always the phone. A chat with distant friends or relatives on Saturdays and Sundays when one has time to relax a little, can be as invigorating and as refreshing as a deep-sea breeze.

Impressions from Authors' Association annual convention at Windsor, Ontario

By Janet P. Graham

Members of the Canadian Authors Association meeting in Windsor, Ontario, which is often called "The Red Carpet of Canada", heard many interesting speakers well known to the reading majority of Canada, such as Dr. Neil F. Morrison, president of the Windsor Branch, the hostess branch, under the leadership of Mrs. H. Hare, who convened the entire program.

Dr. Morrison showed color slides on the welcoming night held in the Hiram Walker Museum, of places of interest around the Windsor area.

After the annual business and branch reports had been heard and discussed, Mr. Robert Young, a short story writer of Windsor, gave his views of what the short story writer should do in order to gain access to the magazines." The purpose of a popular magazine story," he said, "is to entertain and give pleasure, and is expected to give the reader an emotional experience which pleases him. Tales of that sort is what the writer should produce in order to sell.

"Writers must rely upon a mixture of editorial opinion and their own personal observations and understanding of people and readers." He liked stories of people who had problems to face which seemed beyond their ability to solve, yet in the end rising to the challenge and winning out. "The longer the odds are against the storied people the more interesting they become to readers." Mr. Young also liked the happenings in the story to come to a satisfactory ending, and thought that more fiction readers shared the same view.

Another prominent person, Dr. Lorne Pierce, recently the editor of Ryerson Press publications, claimed that "the brains of Canadian writers were numbed by prudishness and the fear of taboos. . . . Canadians", he said, do fear violent change and radicalism of any kind." He also claimed that we Canadians were awed by the vastness and violence of the country and its climate. Many of us agree with him regarding the climatical changes in our weather, that have been dealt out to us for some time now. Dr. Pierce spoke at some length, but we quote only a part, especially where he said, "To make any contribution of importance to Canada or the world, one must be consciously Canadian. This resolution to be oneself, this native attitude and point of view, will color, shape and vitalize all we say or do. Deep down at the foundation of things one is always a native son, a birth-right child of time and place, and that is the secret of strength of our infinite variety and endless interest as Canadian people."

Mrs. Don Tompson, executive-secretary-treasurer of the Writers Foundation, told of the many needy writers helped to achieve their dreams of success by funds from this organization, also reminded those present that this organization needed help from those in a position to give such. Gifts to help finance it would be welcomed.

Other interesting speakers were heard such as Mrs. Doris Anderson, editor of Chatelaine, a magazine that is familiar in many homes; Allan Sangster, whose midnight hour music helps to soothe the minds of the hard-to-get-to-sleep folk of our Canada. John C. McClelland was an interesting speaker; and our neighbor Dorothy Dumbrille on, "Poetry and its own exceeding great reward". Marjorie Freeman Campbell, whose topic was, "Wanted — a New Approach to History" and who evidently had found an unusual one, claimed that she had dreamed many of the happenings in her book. Laura Goodman Salverson, on "Writing the Novel". Arthur Hailey, on "Television Drama", as well as Joe Holiday, whose name is so familiar to many of our boys as being the author of the "Dale of the Mounted" stories, also editor of Canadian Author and Bookman".

We were furnished to by the Chamber of Commerce with information regarding Windsor salt — the first shipment from Windsor being made in 1893 from the Windsor Salt Works now operating under the Canadian Salt Co. Ltd. The salt bed lies a thousand feet back from the river for fifty miles. The mine shaft in the new mine reaches a depth of over 1,000 feet below the earth's surface and when the mine reaches full production it is estimated that it can produce 500 tons of salt every hour.

The Assumption University of Windsor, which we visited and were given afternoon tea, had its humble beginnings back more than two centuries; dating first in 1748 when Father Armand de la Richardie first established a mission there for the Huron Indians, but is now a real mansion, not only for education but houses many of the Windsor artists' paintings.

The beginnings of the Henry Ford works started in Windsor in 1904 in a small shop then known as the "Walkerville Wagon Works," the only machine in the building at that time used in actual automobile work being a drill press, with a staff of 17 workmen assembling cars; today in Windsor, the plant covers some 240 acres, 67 under one roof, as well as the many plants in Detroit to which we were taken by bus furnished by the Ford Company, given a tour of Detroit and the plant itself which made many of us wonder how such necessary machines were first invented and by whom. After the tour we were taken through Greenwich Village and given a delightful lunch, again by the Ford company.

One of the many questions asked the guide was, how did the workmen, thousands of them,ever get away from the plant without tangling one with the other. The reply was that they had staggered shifts for workmen leaving for home every ten minutes.

The Chrysler Corporation of Canada also came in for some mention as having its head office in Windsor, and the Company occupying 350 acres of land.

General Motors has operated in Windsor for more than a quarter century and because of so many such industries, Windsor, called by some "The Southern Gateway to Canada", is also rated as the Commonwealth automobile capital.

Museums of many kinds were visited during our stay, the time all too short to permit us to see and admire their contents, because we must be on time to be present at the Awards luncheon, at Essex Golf Club, after we had toured the Essex County by bus. This Awards presentation was the Eastern Canada awards. The regular presentation of book writers' awards being carried out by Dr. J. J. Talman, chairman of the Awards Board, at the annual banquet given us by the city of Windsor. The guest speaker at this dinner was Hon. Paul Martin, Q.C., M.P. — the very Rev. E. C. Lebel, of Assumption University, giving the Grace at the table, after the head table party had been piped in to bagpipe music.

Mr. H. Gordon Green, president of the Dominion Canadian Authors Association, fiction editor of the Family Herald and editor of Macdonald College Journal, was chairman for the occasion, his opening speech being given in his usual spirited and jocular manner.

This Windsor convention was a happening that will be remembered by all present, who evidently regretted the parting of the ways when this final banquet was over.

The family minister of transport jokes as he lifts his young son into the car, but he is well aware that raising a growing child is no joke. It means watching family expenses with an eagle eye.

This money comes through the Minister of Finance who gets it largely in taxes from Canadians such as you. When he spends more than he takes in, he must borrow from you . . . or else create new money. The creation of new money is one factor that leads to inflation — which means your dollar buys less and less.

The government has been spending more than you have been paying in taxes. To narrow the gap between income and expenditures, new taxes have been imposed.

You can encourage the government to live within its income by asking only for those services you are willing to pay for with taxes. Tell your M.P. at Ottawa that since you are trying to save, you expect government to do the same.

You also help when you save more by means of life insurance, savings deposits, and the purchase of government bonds. Your savings help to create a SOUND dollar; and this, in turn, helps to create job security for you and more jobs for other Canadians.

A SOUND DOLLAR MEANS A BETTER LIFE FOR YOU

"Send me to camp!"

(Copyright)

— By NANCY CLEAVER —

"You may think, my dear, when you grow quite old,
You have left camp days behind;
But I know the scent of wood-smoke
Will always call to mind
Little fires at twilight
And trails you used to find."

— Mary S. Edgar in "To An Old Camper"

There is magic about camp which casts a spell over boys and girls which they remember all their lives. Their loyalty to camp is deep. Camping can be a wonderful experience for them. Enthusiasm about camping is very contagious. Many a youngster, as summer approaches, pleads with parents — "Do send me to camp this holiday!"

But there are certain questions which mothers and fathers want to ask about any camp before they entrust their child to its care. Parents investigate a camp's record most easily by making inquiries from parents of campers of recent years. They can also tell a great deal about a camp from the personality of the director and the maturity and type of counsellors employed. Perhaps this measuring stick in evaluating the suitability of a camp in question form will be useful to you in selecting a particular camp for your boy or girl. . . .

The first question is "Will camp be a safe place for my child?" As a parent you want to know that a camp has an excellent health and safety rating. Is the food nourishing and is adequate provision for rest made? You want to be sure that the camp's record for the past seasons has been free from a serious accident on land or in the water. You will also discover the camp's regulations for an outbreak of polio or any other disease.

Is the Camp Director and are the counsellors the kind of people with whom I can entrust my child? You want to have no misgivings about the integrity, the training, and the suitability of the personnel of the camp staff. Are there enough counsellors for the number of campers? Are these counsellors keen about their job and fitted for their responsible positions?

Will my child learn more about getting along happily with other youngsters at camp? is another question you will want to ask. Camp can be a wonderful experience in democratic living. The Council Hour can give a child a fine introduction into thinking not just of his own wishes, but of the desires of the camp as a unit. A canoe trip, an over-night hike, a camp craft project provide a constructive setting. Under the wise direction of an able counsellor, campers plan and carry out an activity where each camper must take turns and carry his own load.

Is it likely that my child will discover a new hobby at camp? This is still another question to which you want a satisfactory answer. You want to know whether there is a fairly good chance that your child will come home from camp full of enthusiasm for a fresh hobby — and with sufficient skill to continue his new interest by himself.

Will my child learn more about campcraft and nature lore? You will be particularly keen about your child learning to live comfortably out of doors. Building of fires safely and well, hiking, cooking out of doors, are all taught through activities in a good camp. Nature lore includes adventuring into any field — birds, flowers, trees, animals of the woods. A camp might as well be in the middle of a large city as a lake's edge among the trees if nature is not an integral part of the day's program.

Last, but not least, most parents want to know: Will my child learn to swim or make progress as a swimmer and diver and become more proficient handling boats? Boys and girls, most of them, are very keen to excel in water sports. But mothers and fathers want to be reassured that as well as being careful about safety rules, the campers receive competent instruction. Swimming usually is one of the most outstanding and satisfying experiences of the camp day. Boating runs a close second.

Camp — any good camp — is a marvellous investment! It pays big dividends in health, in growth, in skills and character. If at all possible, do plan to send your child to camp this summer! There is no finer way to spend the baby bonus! The years when he longs to go to camp pass so quickly and there is no good substitute for a creative, satisfying camp experience! This is demonstrated in an excellent new book "The Call of Algonquin", by Mary G. Hamilton (Ryerson). This biography of a summer camp is a fine addition to a family library.

Girls shun rural life

As if they didn't have enough troubles with such things as the weather, over production and mounting costs, Canada's farmers have another modern-day worry: Girls! The lack of them.

Dr. Helen C. Abell, rural sociologist with the Canada Department of Agriculture, says that free and compulsory education and other far-reaching economic and social changes have brought about some new aspects of rural life.

One phenomenon is that in some areas of Canada there is a scarcity of unmarried women — a cause of concern not only to bachelors, but to community organizations and activities. Thousands of young rural women are obtaining the training and education which fits them for work and professions in urban centres.

Dr. Abell points out that eighty out of 100 Canadians were rural dwellers. In 1956, this figure had shrunk to 33 out of 100 and of these only about half were actually living on farms.

As Canada grows in population and industry, the proportion of rural people is getting smaller.

Although there are fewer farms each year, the average number of acres per farm is increasing and this keeps the total amount of land under cultivation almost constant. With many agricultural products, Canada produces more than can be eaten at home.

What does it all mean? For one thing, says Dr. Abell, it means that fewer and fewer farmers are able to supply more and more non-farmers with essential food and fibre.

The "hired girl" is practically non-existent and the hired man is no longer found on many farms. Average number of people in each farm family is between four and five — still larger than urban families, which average three to four.

Wives Pitch In

Concurrent with the increase in part-time farming, the scarcity of hired men and other factors, there has been a noticeable increase of unpaid female farm labor — probably farm wives and other family members.

"The next census as well as our own observations will help us recognize other changes that are taking place in our rural population," comments Dr. Abell.

"By being aware of these changes, it will be possible for us to more fully appreciate the important role of the farm family as a vital element in the population of Canada."

FEWER APPLES

Victoria CP — A 25-per-cent drop in apple production for 1959 is forecast by the provincial agriculture department, due to winter damage.

A heat-beating treat!

Broiling is an excellent cooking method for fish steaks. The fast heat yields flaky, moist fish, delicate to savor. And broiled fish is a happy thought for the summer cook. The short cooking period means a kitchen and cook that are cool. Fresh halibut, with its firm white flesh, is in very good supply now and a real treat for a summer's dinner. Accompanied by a celery sauce brightly flecked with pimiento, they're a menu feature sure to be pleasing to palates as well as pocketbooks. When choosing halibut steaks, try and buy ones about one-inch thick. Thinner steaks are apt to dry out during cooking, unless very carefully watched.

Halibut Steaks with Celery Pimiento Sauce

½ Cup chopped celery, wafer, 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, 1½ tablespoons flour, ½ cup milk, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, ¼ teaspoon thyme, ¼ teaspoon paprika, 4 halibut steaks (approx. 1" thick), ½ cup chopped pimiento, additional melted butter or margarine.

Boil celery in small amount of water until tender. Reserve cooking water. Melt butter, blend in flour, then gradually blend in milk and ¼ cup of water in which celery was cooked. Add seasonings and cook, stirring constantly, until thickened and smooth. Add celery and pimiento and simmer until vegetables are heated through. Keep warm. Preheat broiler. Place halibut steaks on broiler pan; brush with melted butter or margarine and sprinkle with salt, pepper and paprika. Broil five minutes, turn and brush other side and repeat seasonings. Broil another five minutes, or until fish flakes easily when tested with a fork. (Allow about 10 minutes per inch thickness of fresh fish. Frozen, unthawed fish will take about twice as long. Makes 4 servings. Serve with Celery Pimiento Sauce.

Diary of a Vagabond

BY DOROTHY BARKER

(This week we take pleasure in offering our readers a new feature. It is written by one of Canada's outstanding newspaper editors, Dorothy Barker. For the past nine years Mrs. Barker's column "As I Was Saying . . ." provided an hilarious insight into the domestic life of a busy editor. It contributed considerably to her paper's success as a consistent prize winner in provincial and national newspaper competitions.

Recently, the Aurora Banner, published in Ontario, was sold and she anticipated the ease of retirement. . . But not for long. The creation of her new column "Diary of a Vagabond" which will take our readers across Canada and into the highways and byways of this fast growing nation, will be written in her well known humerous style. We are sure our readers will enjoy reading it.)

This was the moment I had so often dreamed about. The one when I could give my typewriter an icy stare, and not turn a hair because my mind was blank and the linotype operators were out of copy. This was the first morning of my retirement. The silence was awful, not even a mouse licked paste from discarded copy in the WPB.

Behind me was the "rat race" while ahead of me stretched nothing but day after monotonous day of perfect freedom. Was I happy? Was I looking forward to reading the paper someone else had whipped together in the wee, sma' hours of the morning in order to meet a deadline? Was I savouring the lucky break that had placed my feet on the desk and typewriter-worn fingers in a twiddle?

I was not.

Instead, my head was in a twirl. At times like this one usually takes stock of one's desires and ambitions. I started asking myself questions such as, "What do you want to do most? What has been the greatest lack in your life? Where do you most want to go?"

What did I most want to do? That was an easy question to answer. Now that I am free from the routine of an exacting career as a weekly editor, I want to hop a train and call on other weekly editors across Canada, who are making an outstanding contribution to the nation's progress.

I want to travel to the seat of Confederation, wander in the Peace Gardens on the Canadian - U.S. border, feast my eyes on the grandeur of the Rockies, smell the roses in the Butchart Gardens, and watch the ships of the Canadian Navy sail into Bedford Basin for repairs. I want to tell westerners of the wonders of Niagara Falls and easterners of the breath-taking beauty of the foothills seen through a haze at dusk.

The greatest lack in my life had undoubtedly been the need for more time. Time to read, to visit, to know and enjoy more friendships and to know my own country better from coast to coast.

Because there are so many busy men, women, aye and children too, in this rapidly developing nation of ours, I am blessing this opportunity to keep this capsule diary for you about Canada, its people, its customs, its industries popping up all over the land in infinite variety — and above all, to write of its great natural beauty, so many of us miss in our haste-filled existence.

Papal warning

In his first encyclical, Pope John appealed to the world's statesmen to "try every approach" that might lead to international unity and peace and warned that war with nuclear weapons would destroy the victor and vanquished alike.

"Truth, Unity and Peace", were the subjects of the 11,000-word encyclical, a circular letter to the Roman Catholic hierarchy, clergy and Catholics throughout the world.

The Pope appealed for Christians to unite and urged the press, movies and television to counteract what he called a spreading tendency toward falsehood and immorality. He also condemned Communist attacks on human liberty.

Written Specially for The Lachute Watchman

By Carolyn Willett, Canadian Press Staff Writer

In a survey taken by the Canadian Association of Consumers recently, 2,462 women indicated they are dissatisfied with the trend to longer, lower, more powerful cars. Only 15 women were wholly in agreement with the modernistic trend.

Most of the women also agreed that the government should be asked to take some action in the matter. A total of 2,040 favored some sort of government action, while 422 were opposed.

Newspaper women were told at Windsor, Ont., by William L. Mitchell, vice-president of a large auto manufacturing company, that women have large influence on the industry. He said feminine desires led to the growth of the automatic transmissions and power brakes and power steering.

New ideas submitted by women are carefully studied, and may eventually appear on cars. They have asked for such things as a place to put their purses and umbrellas, better light control knobs for better night visibility, and folding trays for eating at drive-in restaurants.

Mr. Mitchell's company has seven qualified women designers among its staff.

Sympathy ?

A United States dress designer, Don Loper, said he has deep sympathy for royal ladies and their clothes, since everyone's looking at them all the time and they look with a critical eye.

Practically in the same breath, Mr. Loper said Queen Elizabeth is a well-dressed woman but "dresses too much her age."

He bewailed the fact that at times the Queen looks 33. When it was pointed out that 33 is her age he snapped "That's just my point."

Poison Party

A young Winnipeg hostess nearly poisoned herself and her three guests when she poured diluted plant food into the tea cups.

How could she? Well, the hostess was only four years old and she was playing "tea party" with her friends. Despite a warning from her mother not to touch the poisonous liquid, the youngsters took some of the plant food when her mother went next door to do a favor for a neighbor.

Forums to study farm adjustments seen essential

Overseas markets for Canada's farm products have been shrinking; production efficiency has been rising and the value of basic farm products has been falling.

Every farmer must take these factors, and many others, into account when he considers his future. Should he buy more land, or sell what he has? Should he encourage his son to take over the farm or should he provide him with encouragement to take up another vocation?

Every farm organization must consider these factors seriously too. If fewer farmers each produce more, require assistance in new forms? Will they demand increased services from their ogranizations, or will their demands increase until there is little to do?

What of Government? Do we need expanded extension service or would less help be necessary to keep fewer farm units producing efficiently? What new price policies and credit programs are required to make the new kind of Agriculture function properly?

National Farm Radio Forum plans to study the tremendous adjustment which is taking place in agriculture and which will probably continue to take place for some time to come, this fall and winter.

Adjustment in Farm Numbers.

Adjustment in Price Policies.

Adjustment in Credit Programs.

One of the great new problems facing farmers and their organizations, is that of Marketing. We have the product. How can we sell it? Where can we find a buyer? How can we obtain the best price?

Farm Forum intends to study the location of the market-place, the farmer's role in selling his product, and the means by which the farmer's price is established.

Final topic titles will be announced shortly, and work on the broadcasts and Study Guides begins immediately. . . . Information on the 1959-60 National Farm Forum Broadcasts and Guides may be obtained by writing to National Farm Radio Forum, 119 St. George Street, Toronto 5.

AUDITED PAID CIRCULATION
of circulation value

Every industry has a standard by which its products can be measured.

The jeweler uses the symbol of a pure diamond. In flatware, the word "sterling," and in dinnerware, the word "bone china," represent high standards of quality and value.

For the advertiser, the symbol of the highest standard of circulation value is the emblem of the Audit Bureau of Circulations*. This hallmark means that newspapers or periodicals so identified are measured according to the most highly regarded rules and standards in the advertising and publishing industry.

The fact that we are privileged to display this A.B.C. emblem here means that you can buy advertising in this newspaper as you would make any other sound business investment—on the basis of well known standards, known values.

*This newspaper is a member of the Audit Bureau of Circulations, a cooperative, nonprofit association of publishers, advertisers, and advertising agencies. Our circulation is audited by experienced A.B.C. circulation auditors. Our A.B.C. report shows how much circulation we have, where it goes, how obtained, and other facts that tell advertisers what they get for their money when they use this paper.

When will Carillon Dam get started!

For several months now this pile of boards and timbers has been reposing on the F. W. Allmen farm at Carillon. It is only a small portion of the supply transported for construction of the new Carillon Dam across the Ottawa River. Following Premier Duplessis' announcement of the project, lumber and equipment were despatched to Carillon and to Pointe Fortune, and a number of engineers and technical men were assigned to make surveys and preliminary preparations. . . . That was some time ago, however, and all activity now seems to be suspended. People are wondering if and when the construction will get under way.

Child, 6, victim of drowning in mill pond at Dalesville

Lawrence Bates, six-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bates, of the Brownsburg vicinity, drowned Monday afternoon despite artificial respiration applied for 3½ hours in an effort to revive him. The boy was swimming in Campbell's Mill Pond, Dalesville, with his brother Ross, 14, and sister Virginia, 12, and a number of other children.

The missing child was noticed after he had been under water for less than five minutes; the body was immediately recovered by his mother, who was also at the spot. Dr. Gerald Daigle, of Brownsburg, was called to the scene and took charge of a crew rendering artificial respiration, continuing steadily until 7.45 p.m., at which time he pronounced the victim dead.

The body was brought to the morgue in Lachute by Traffic Officer Albert Legault, who was at the scene with Brownsburg Police Chief Richard Bell. The investigation was turned over to Sgt.-Det. Ralph Allen.

It appears that the little boy was wading in shallow water close to the shore, when he fell and stunned himself sufficiently to slip beneath the surface.

According to witnesses, the child was missed almost immediately, and the body recovered in a short time.

No inquest will be held, according to Dr. Jules Lafleur, district coroner.

Cutting down Moose hunting in Quebec

Moose hunting this year will once again be prohibited in Papineau and Argenteuil Counties and limited to nine days, October 10 to 18, in Gatineau and Pontiac.

An Order-in-Council also prohibits moose hunting for the whole year in all Dominion parks, reserves and sanctuaries in the province.

Moose hunting will also be limited to a maximum of nine days in far northern areas of the province.

Many bands at Glengarry Games on August 1

Three pipe bands from across the border are expected at this year's Glengarry Highland Games in Maxville, Saturday, August 1.

Two from the Boston area may be newcomers to Glengarry, the Worcester Kilties and the Boston Caledonias. Also expected is the fine young St. Andrew's Junior Pipe Band of Detroit. At Maxville last year, this band placed second in the Slow March open to all bands. So highly is it now rated the Pipers' Society has moved it up to Class A rating for competitive purposes.

Pipes and drums of 11 bands played in the thrilling parades of the massed bands at Maxville a year ago and everything points to a still larger, more colorful rendition of "The Road To The Isles" at this year's Games on August 1. Officials already have acceptance from eight bands, including three from Ottawa — the Air Force, the Cameron Highlanders and the Campbell Pipe Band. The 48th Highlanders and Caber Feigh of Toronto are also coming and the fine city of Montreal band is expected to return.

The Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Highlanders' band will be wearing its fine new uniforms first used to greet the Queen at Cornwall.

So many applications are coming in from right across the continent for the dancing competitions, Games' officials wonder how they will cope with them all. Last year, more than one hundred dancers competed, and the 1959 Games promise to feature many more than that in the Fling, the Shean Triubhas, the Swords, the Irish Jig and the Sailor's Hornpipe.

Office closed

The local bureau issuing motor vehicle licenses will be closed Saturdays during the months of July and August. The bureau is located in the Court House, Grace Street.

Notary Beaudoin named president for Charities Fed'n

Notary Jacques Beaudoin will serve as president of the Lachute Federation of Charities for 1959-60, succeeding Jean-Paul Roy, who filled the office last year. The appointments were made at an executive meeting of the organization, held recently.

Assisting Notary Beaudoin will be Henri St. Onge as representative for Ste. Anastasie Parish; Jacques Bedard for St. Julien; and Ronald Hébert for Immaculate Conception. In addition to these vice-chairmen those serving in other capacities will be Richard Valois, secretary; Raymond Beaulieu, treasurer; J. Roméo Legault, budget chairman; and Fernand Berthiaume, publicist.

The fifth annual campaign of the Federation will be held in the fall, and a campaign chairman will be appointed to promote the appeal with its usual systematic coverage. Chairman for this successful venture last year was Dr. Chas. Roy, dentist.

Local horses in action at district races

Over at the Fair grounds, training is going on at a great pace with the young horses getting in shape for the Richelieu Day races, some of them making their first starts of the year.

Paul and 'Piche' Joly are busy breaking the yearling Prince Bars and he is coming along in fine style, this young lad is entered in the two-year-old race at Blue Bonnets next year.

Georges and 'Punch' Joly are training Miss Atomic Bomb; she will be ready for the Richelieu Day races and might be a tough one to beat.

Ernie Kennedy is still training Senator Bars, Lady Van B and Tibby Volo Bars, the latter will also be the one to watch at the Richelieu Day races. Ernie is also breaking in his two yearlings Gay Prince and Silver K. Gay Prince is also entered in the Montreal race next year.

Cecil Staniforth has a nice filly from his well bred mare, Widow Gold and Princelike.

H. Renaud is racing Joe Hazelton at Ste. Scholastique and St. Jerome. The 2.30 class for Richelieu day will be pretty well made up with local entries.

Vic Gauley, of Grenville, has been giving Ruth's Boy some tune-up miles at Ste. Scholastique and St. Jerome before making an entry at Connaught. Ruth, in his first race of the year, was second by a neck in 2.13, the winner being Jimmy Connors and Stuart Majesty. At St. Jerome last week, Ruth placed third and second; he'll be starting again at this track on Sunday.

Clarence Brazeau, of Grenville, has Joe Forbes B in training with The Hewitts, and it is hoped that he'll be ready to race at Connaught the first of the month.

After a foot injury which set him back, Effective Peters is now getting some tune-up races at the local tracks where he is showing nicely. In his last outing at St. Jerome, he was winner of both heats of the slow class, trotting the last heat in 2.18 4/5. He'll also be making another start at St. Jerome on Sunday.

The racing at the local tracks is keen and anyone wishing to spend a quiet afternoon should take in the races. Last Sunday, the fastest time of the day was 2.10 made by the free-legged pacer Lusty Worthy, who nosed out Diotte's Homestretch Gallon, in a duel drive. Tom Perrin, of Hawkesbury, had a keen race with Wee Butchie, but held on to win both heats by a nose. In the first heat, he beat out Charest's Linda B Hal and Ruth's Boy, while in second heat it was a closer win over Ruth's Boy.

A former Lachute resident had a part in recovery operations following a fatal plane crash at Chibougamau, and his son and daughter-in-law from Lachute were on hand at the time of the incident, which occurred July 10. The circumstances are retold by Mrs. Paul Jacobsen (just returned from a holiday visit) as follows:

"While vacationing in Chibougamau at Mr. and Mrs. Hans Jacobsen's place, we witnessed the rescue of a plane whose motor had failed and which went spinning down nose-first in Lac Doré, in 45 feet of water. It was first noticed by miners of the Cedar Bay Mines, who telephoned the Provincial Police. A short time later two policemen came and knocked at the door to ask if Mr. Jacobsen would take them in his motor boat on the lake to try to locate the plane. The plane, owned by Fecteau Company, was not located until the next day. It was then pulled to shore by three other planes and a few boats, and lifted on ground with a mobile crane from O'Connell Company. Bodies of the pilot and student co-pilot were still in the plane when pulled to shore. Both men were French Canadians and one of them the father of five children."

Correction in School Board election results

A slight misunderstanding resulted from the reporting of the Lachute Protestant Board of School Commissioners' election, in that only 124 persons voted, each person casting two ballots for a total of 240 votes. Several ballots were rejected.

Win for first-time exhibitor

Daintry Wilson, ten-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wilson, of Lachute, photographed with Laurview Mistress Goldie, following competition at the recent Lachute Spring Fair. Daintry was awarded first prize in the Senior Calf class and Grand Champion in the 4-H class competition in this, her first year of competitive showing.

Auto Club rally here this Sunday unique experience for motorists

Next Sunday, July 26, the Lachute Auto Club members and guests take part in one of the many fast-becoming-popular auto sporting activities. The local auto club has organized what is known to auto sport enthusiasts as an "Average Speed Rally". The way in which this type of rally is unique, is the fact that entrants are instructed to drive a definite number of miles, over a course which is unknown to them, at a given rate of speed.

Each entrant is given a map and route instructions, stating the average speeds and the distance to each turn. Though it may sound simple to drive at exactly 25 mph for a mile, it is no easy task when this distance is extended and complicated by stops and turns. The driver has time to concentrate on his driving only, while his navigator must calculate how much faster or slower they must drive to arrive at the check point (the location of which is unknown) at exactly the right time.

The rally committee has selected an interesting route, consisting mostly of secondary roads and passing through some of the most picturesque parts of this district.

The starting point is at Boyd's Express yard; the time is 9.30 a.m.; the fee is $2. The club is hoping for 40 entries, and will accept late entries up to starting time. (Interested persons may contact Rodger MacAdam, during evenings, at LO 2-2710.)

No Watchman issued July 29

Notice is given to readers that The Watchman and L'Argenteuil staff will suspend activities for their annual week's vacation on Friday, July 24, returning on Monday, August 3.

There will be no issue of either newspaper next week, and advertisers are requested to take note of this.

Lachute Chamber of Commerce lent support and co-operation, again last Saturday, in the Hawkesbury Centennial celebrations, taking part with their symbolic float in the closing parade. In addition to a considerable delegation of members, and young residents posing in the mobile tableau, three equestrians joined the final parade — Messrs. Ernest Ayers, Billy Jones and Jean-Guy Joly, mounted on thoroughbred steeds with gleaming harness and trappings.

At the Arena on conclusion of this parade, Messrs. Richard Valois and H. Lafrance were among those interviewed by a radio commentator from CJSS, Cornwall, which adequately covered the occasion.

Third exhibit this season by Art Association

The third exhibition of the season sponsored by the Argenteuil Art Association will open at the St. Andrews East municipal hall on the afternoon of August 1, at 3 o'clock.

The membership and general public on this occasion will be offered the enjoyment of a loan exhibition from a private collection of paintings by various artists, based on still life material. It is felt that perhaps this exhibition will bring a new note to the patrons of these summer shows, by presenting various ways in which still life material can be used. It should be of particular interest to the amateur painter, since the treatment varies from the realistic and traditional approach to the suggestion of landscape, wood interiors, bits of surrealism, abstract treatments, play of light, as well as much feeling for form and design. None of the work is derivative; it presents truly expressed moods by sincere young painters. . . . There will be no sales, no gallery talks — just a collection to ponder and enjoy.

Jr. Red Cross at Lachute High aids provincial fund

When Dr. David Murphy, surgeon in chief of the Montreal Children's Hospital, expressed the need for an artificial heart-lung machine, last Fall, Junior Red Cross members, including those at Lachute High School, quickly organized a fund raising campaign to buy the life saving apparatus.

Dances, sales, miles of nickles, film shows, Chinese auctions, carnivals and sports events were featured in high schools throughout the Province of Quebec and have produced over $5,000. With this huge sum of money the Junior Red Cross Committee bought a most modern heart-lung machine which was presented to the Montreal Children's Hospital at the end of June. This machine, essential in open heart surgery, offers greater facility for operating on young babies, is easy to clean and sterilize, and requires one-man operation.

In his short address to the delegates from the many high schools who witnessed the presentation, Dr. Murphy said that the new machine would be instrumental in saving the lives of many babies and children. The official presentation was made by Gordon Mason, president of the 1958-59 Junior Red Cross Inter-High School Council of Greater Montreal and surrounding areas.

Tree Farmers' Association to be active throughout Canada

Formation of the Canadian Tree Farmers' Association was announced recently by J. A. MacDonald, one of the Provisional Directors, and Chairman of the organizing committee of this self-help woodlot owners' Association, which recently received a national charter. Appointment of provisional officers of the Quebec Branch, the first unit organized, was completed at the Tree Farm of G. Alan Johnson in Argenteuil County, where many members of the new woodlot owners' Association have managed woodlots.

"The Canadian Tree Farmers' Association", said Mr. MacDonald, "is a natural outgrowth of the publicity and promotion given to Tree Farming during the past five years by the Canadian Forestry Association, and the provincial Forestry Associations. The Canadian Tree Farmers' Association, however, is an entirely separate body. The C.T.F.A. welcomes as members all woodlot owners. It is organized to provide information and greater practical service to owners in growing, harvesting, marketing and managing their wood for profit, on a permanent basis."

Officers of the newly-formed Quebec Branch are Stuart Armstrong, Lachute, Chairman; E. T. Asselin, Montreal, Vice-Chairman, and Keith Pitcairn, Como, P. Q., Secretary-Treasurer. Fees for woodlot owners are $5.00 per year; $10.00 for corporations. Anyone who owns a woodlot may apply for voting membership in the Canadian Tree Farmers' Association. In addition, anyone interested in the purposes of the Association may join as an Associate Member for $3.00 per year.

The purpose of a National Charter is to permit other provincial branches to form, as part of the Canadian Tree Farmers' Association. Each provincial unit will have representation on the National Board of Directors, as provided in the by-laws and charter.

"Across Canada, there are over 50,000,000 acres of privately-owned woodland, much of it in need of better management, more careful marketing and devotion to continuous production of wood crops, the most effective use of these lands", said Mr. Armstrong, the Chairman of the Quebec Branch. "Some 20,000,000 acres are located on farms and listed as farm woodlots. However, over 30,000,000 acres are woodlands or non-resident owners, industries, or other groups. All told, the wood from these 50,000,000 acres represents a substantial item in the Canadian forest economy, and is important to the income of the owners."

M. R. Wilson, Resident Manager of the Canadian International Paper Co., Grenville operations, and himself the owner of two Tree Farms, states that even though privately-owned woodlots across Canada are at present growing wood far below their full reproductive capacity, they still supply nearly 30% of all the pulpwood for Canada's leading manufacturing industry. This is in addition to saw logs, fence posts, fuelwood, pit props, Christmas trees, maple syrup and other products from these woodlands in all ten provinces.

Mr. Asselin, the Vice-Chairman of the newly-formed Branch, commented on briefs presented to the Senate Committee on Land Use in Canada, which show that privately-owned woodlots need increased protection against fire, and against grazing by domestic animals; improvement cuttings, equitable taxation and better markets, before the quantity and quality of wood grown on these lands can be substantially increased. He pointed out also that the average woodlot owner needs advice from professional foresters in government, industry or university extension services. The service of a consulting forester, working on a fee basis is also helpful toward increasing production and income from these privately-owned forest lands.

A large and active C.T.F.A. membership, with active provincial branches and local units across Canada, will permit the exchange of much useful information between these practical owners of farm woodlots and other privately-owned forest lands. The income from woodlands should increase, and production be developed to the maximum, under intelligent management. Farm woodlots and Tree Farms can be cropped successfully, just as agricultural lands are cropped for profits by farm owners. The woods technique is not difficult, once it has been demonstrated by professional foresters or copied from a member of the Association living nearby.

"Some owners of private woodlands are already managing their timber profitably," said Mr. MacDonald, "and these men will form the nucleus of the new Canadian Tree Farmers' Association. We are looking to the day when every tract of privately-owned timber across the entire country will have the same protection, management, and good rate of production as these few far-sighted woodland owners now demonstrate. The objective of the Association is to enlist as many owners as possible in this self-help organization, designed to improve Canada's privately-owned forests, while benefitting the members of the Association financially. Private woodlands generally are well located to take advantage of nearby markets for wood crops. Many owners also find satisfaction by working in their woodlots.

"The slogan of the new Association is 'Valuable Crops from Woodlots'," said Mr. Armstrong. "An organizing meeting to establish the Ontario Branch is planned for later this summer, and we look forward to active work in the Maritimes, British Columbia, and other good Tree Farming areas."

Reports received on W.I. affairs, month of July

Arundel W.I. branch planned a bazaar to be held this month. The Bach Choir from the Otter Lake Music Centre is presenting a concert July 25 in the High School auditorium.

Brownsburg presented one of its members, Mrs. J. Connelly, with a life membership pin. The ladies will cater to a wedding in August. Members were asked to bring in discarded eyeglasses to be sent to the underprivileged people in Korea.

Frontier held their annual outing in the form of a bus trip to Montreal, where they enjoyed a conducted tour of the Cunard liner "Carinthia."

A discussion on handicrafts, horticulture, and nutrition was held by Lachute members. They also presented a life membership to the County president prior to her visit to Scotland, where she will attend the A.C.W.W. Convention.

Two military whist parties are being held by Lakefield W.I. — the first being at Kerr's Farm, this month. The effort is to raise funds to help an invalid.

Upper Lachute - East End branch has sold several books of tickets on the quilt for the Home for the Aged.

All branches heard reports on the Provincial Convention, which was held at Macdonald College at the end of June. Prize money was distributed to those who had won at the Lachute Spring Fair.

The Home for the Aged committee reports that one branch sent in four "In Memoriams" during the month of June. It is hoped that other branches will follow this example.

Family re-union, 3rd annual meet of Hume Clan

On July 12, the "Hume Clan" numbering altogether 116, gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Hume for their third annual get-together.

The eldest member to attend this year was Mrs. Jessie McKeracher, of Russell, Ont., aged 92 years; also present was her brother, Harold Hume, aged 86, of Florida. The youngest guest was Baby Dow, of Brampton, Ont., aged 3 months.

In a humorous and interesting address by Mr. Hume of Florida, the gathering were told the Hume ancestors originated in the hills in the South of Scotland and were "the best cattle rustlers in their community" — a distinction which was considered a credit to them in older times, but not looked upon with favor in this day.

The dinner served at noon, and supper at six, was enjoyed by guests from Russell, Metcalfe, Cornwall, Kingston, Brampton and Ottawa, Ont., also from Roxboro, Town of Mount Royal, Quebec City, Que., Fredericton, N.B., and Florida, U.S.A.

Lions Elect International President

Clarence L. Sturm of Manawa, Wisconsin, was elected International President of Lions International at the Association's 42nd Annual Convention in New York City. Lions International, with 590,000 members in 92 countries or regions, is the world's largest service club organization. Lions International is best known for its many youth programs, community service projects, sight conservation activities and aid to the blind. Last year Lions Clubs around the globe completed more than 180,000 individual worthwhile community service projects.

Research is topic at Rotary Club

At last week's meeting of the Brownsburg - Lachute Rotary Club a new member was inducted, in the person of Victor Barrie, Q.C., advocate, of Brownsburg, presently residing in Dalesville.

During the meeting Rotarian Jim Humphreys gave a very interesting and stimulating talk on Industrial Research and showed a film entitled, "The Search Continues".

Local musician to participate in Otter Lake event

The third in the Otter Lake Music Festival series of Saturday evening recitals in the Laurentians will be a concert of capella choral music by the Montreal Bach Choir. A member of this choir is Wayne Riddell, son of Mrs. Olive Riddell of Lachute and former organist at the Lachute United Church.

This will be the Choir's final concert in the east before leaving on an extended tour of Western Canada under the sponsorship of the Canada Council.

This concert is open to the public and will be held on Saturday evening, at 9.30 p.m., July 25, in the High School auditorium at Arundel, Que. Tickets at $1 for adults and 50c for children are obtainable at the door.

A successful one-week conference in Amateur Music Making has just terminated at Otter Lake Music Centre with delegates attending from Halifax, Toronto, Montreal, Quebec, New Mexico and other centres. Participating groups and artists included the Montreal Viol Group, Hugh Orr of Toronto, Mario Duschenes, Otto Joachim, Harry Hollander, George Little and Wayne Riddell. Tussle with storm on Lake Ontario latest of Atchisons' experiences

"Outdoor Round-up" — by Bob Atchison

Main Duck Island,
South Bay, Picton, Ont.
Sunday, July 5

Dear "Ed":

Very hectic the last few days, so not much chance to do any writing. As you know our supply trip was due at any time after the first of the month. However so far we haven't been that short of supplies that we needed to go in. I think I mentioned the Department of Lands and Forests gent who was out visiting us for a few days. When he left on the first, we asked him to tell the fisherman if he was coming out this way in a few days to pick us up. The message kind of got mixed up a little, with the result the tug came in for us at 8.15 Wednesday night. The thought was when the tug was sighted they were coming in to "Carp".

Boy what a mad rush to get ready. There was a storm brewing and naturally everyone was concerned on how bad it was going to be. We managed to get about a mile from the Island when it hit. It was 8.30 when we left and by the time we tied up at the point it was 11.30. Man what a storm. I have often told you of some of these whizzers that come up. This one was the grand-daddy of them all. The lake just boiled. With the waves breaking right over the tug, and not being able to see, the wheelsman was soaked in about five minutes. From then on it was just a game of dodging the waves as they came in, and that wasn't very successful. The water ran all over the cabin floors and it was hard to say if more was inside or out.

The fisherman told us after that it was one of the very worst he had ever been in. That I can believe. Not only did the winds clip along, the rain and lightning didn't help matters any. At times we could see the American shore just as clear as a fine day, due to the lightning. There were even two tankers on the way up that dropped their anchors and sat it out. We couldn't because of the depth of the water, 100 feet, there not being enough rope for the anchor. At any rate I couldn't think of anything worse than that. Sitting waiting for something to happen. When we did get in, I know that all concerned were happy about the whole thing. Even some people on shore were watching the battle.

There was a pot of tea waiting for everyone when we got in and I thought that was just the right touch after that jaunt. It was nearly one o'clock before we got to the hotel in Picton. All the way up signs could be seen of the severity of the storm; parts of the road flooded, trees down, wires down and all the rest of the beating that had been given. We haven't been so happy just to crawl into bed in a long time, and I do mean crawl. I don't remember getting any bumps that seemed bad, but the bruises sure make that seem foolish. Edith was the same, but with one exception, wetter. She was hanging on to the steering platform, with the window open, wet but safe.

I think the only one that enjoyed the trip was Goldie. She took it right in stride, laid down on the wet floor, grabbed herself a dead whitefish and chewed on it nearly all the way in. When we started our shopping, signs of the storm could be seen everywhere and the talk of the damaging power of this storm was spectacular. We rushed through the shopping and were down at the point by four p.m. One look at the lake though and that was it. No trip. The debris washed up on shore was a junk dealer's paradise. One item sure made us laugh, a bright red thunder jug. Maybe someone got washed away with it.

We finally got back to the island Friday morning and it sure was good to get home. Of course there was a hang of a lot of cleaning up to be done due to the storm. But even that isn't too bad, at least we can do it when we feel like it. Around six p.m., a Dragon class sailing boat came in. This is a racing type and to see her gliding into the channel was a real treat. A party of four were aboard her. They had sailed from Chaumont, N.Y., where the Dragon is tied up. Out for the long week-end they had actually come in from New York. That sure was a trip for a long week-end. Imagine 370 miles by car, then six hours by water. Getting ashore, none of them could stand, being bent over nearly all the way, due to running into a South-east wind which meant they were continually covered with spray.

Asking them into the house was the next thing, being accepted so fast it wasn't funny. I think the four of them drank about a gallon of tea. The skipper asked if they could tie up for the night as his wife was very cold, and she sure looked it. As it turned out, they stayed until Sunday morning and then headed back to Chaumont with a real wind pushing them right along. There must have been 20 cruisers, yawls, and outboards tied up around the cove. A very pretty sight to see. One of the yawls tried to come into the cove and got run aground. Even the Jeep was brought into the act to get her off. There is seven feet of water at the wharf, the Sonora, his boat draws six feet light, with four people and all the supplies aboard no wonder she ran aground. They hailed from Rome, N.Y. A couple of the cruisers were from Rochester, another one was from Ogdensburg. One from Prescott, (Canadian) the rest were all these small cities along the lake. It sure was a busy time trying to keep these crews from going ashore to light fires. Looking out into the lake all kinds of craft could be seen. I wouldn't have been surprised to see a bathtub with a motor come in. People sure treat their lives very cheaply, when you can look at some of the tubs floating around our Island this past week-end. What made it worse was the Bass season had opened on the first, so everyone was out for fish. How many were caught I don't know, nor do I know how many bottles of fly tonic were consumed. No damage of any great amount or human accidents were heard of, so I guess everyone had a good time. True, one boat came in to have a fish hook cut out of a fellow's hand but outside of that, nothing.

Edith spotted a Canada Goose and her young up toward the tip of the cove. Naturally we went back to check on her and found eight young ones about the size of a partridge. I guess they were born just recently. The young ducks around are sure having a good time, and there are a lot of them. One of the Wood Ducks either got killed or left her young, and that I don't think would happen. I found her nest with three dead young in it. Maybe one of these big hawks nailed her. Another thing, the Eagles as I told you had left the Island. Their nest is abandoned and doesn't seem to have been used for a few weeks. Only things in it are a bird, mice, and vols' bones. The hawks and Ospreys are with us, so we are not too short of Vermin Killers. I was talking to a man from Grenadier Island, down towards Kingston on the U.S. side, and he told me they had the same situation two years ago as we did last year. Overrun with Vols, and then they just died off. Now they are starting to come back in small clusters, so it sure looks as though it's the cycle that takes care of these things. Maybe they will start to come back here next year. Of course the crows and snakes are still in fine form. I guess they will never die out. Man, the more you kill the more there are, or so it seems. We have just quit trying to keep track of the dead ones. Every day, at least 10 snakes and one or two crows are taken care of, but still they keep on thriving. The only thing that seems to be slowing up are the Snapping Turtles, and I guess they are in some swamp we haven't hit. But sooner or later they will have to come out if they are there. Anyway you have to look real hard around our place to get one now. That we are thankful for, as a bite from one of them would leave you a nice scar. Really, we have worried more about the dog than anything else. I think some of the big ones could just about take her leg off.

The Strawberries are out now, and are they ever good. They have only ripened the last few days so we still have a lot of good eating left. We picked a quart of them in about an hour so we had them for lunch and supper. I'm waiting for the raspberries to start then I'll have a real feed of them. It's funny how being surrounded by water can make the season at least two weeks behind the mainland. I guess that is going to be the same with our garden. That is if it ever gets to the point where we will get something from it. What with the animals, especially the deer, and the rocks, we haven't had much luck with anything even showing as yet. Our corn did start to come up, about four inches, but it has been chopped off by the deer. I think we will be saying before too long, "Oh, well I tried." I pulled down one of the old barns last week so now the pigeons have gone. It's remarkable the birds did blow the coop. It's just as well as two of them were banded, so someone was short two birds, let's hope they stay away. We liked them very much and Edith had got to the point of getting them to feed out of her hand but they didn't be long on the Island and before very long, the Hawks would have nailed them. I hope they have gone back to their owners. The swallows are also minus one home but now that they have all nested, they won't be out much. Sooner or later it was going to blow away, every time we had a good wind boards blew all over the place. From what I have been told about the place, it was used to store hootch in during the rum-running days. So one more landmark of the "good old days" is gone. I would imagine that if was possible for it to talk, a good many tales could be told, and I'm sure they wouldn't be nice, as some of the stories I have been told of this Island in the early days were real dingers. What with the bootleggers hi-jacking each other, I could well imagine some of the things that went on.

July 9 —

Excellent fishing for the past few days. The bass are honestly giving us a workout, even though the water is still cold for plowing around the ledges for any great length of time. We have been fishing for as long as we can take the cold water, then going ashore to see if we have any feet and legs left. Boy, it sure is cold, but the fish are making it worthwhile. The way they are hitting everything thrown near them they must be either hungry or mad.

While going up to the VIP cottage we killed two snappers in the young lakes in our roads. So now I can be classed as a hit and run driver, also a reckless one. After all, getting off the road just to hit something after it had heard you, is reckless. We have been going up around the meadows a lot just at dusk to see just how many fawns there are. It's a tough job picking them out at that time of night. Can't see their eyes so it's more or less a hit and miss affair. There does seem to be four of them around, and probably there are a few more. I don't suppose we will be able to tell until later on when they are getting around real well. The ones we did see, sure hung close to the mothers and the way the mothers never let them into a open spot first, is wonderful to see.

The fishermen are, not coming out to get carp, as the price of them doesn't make it worthwhile, or so they say. The market price now on them is six cents a pound, dressed, so that doesn't give them much leeway for nets and the rest of their equipment.

This time last year they were getting quite good catches of doré, or pickerel as they are called around these parts. So far this season it has been poor. Even the white-fish are not co-operating. The few Grey trout being taken, it hardly seems worthwhile going after them, true they don't specifically try for them but still they are always on the lookout for some sign that makes them drop over the Trout nets. Yep, believe it or not, all these different kinds of fish rate a special net. That sure was interesting to me, as I had always thought nets were nets. But not to the real commercial fisherman. I guess that is why a good outfit costs so much money.

We have been going in swimming quite a lot. Even though we don't swim more than a couple of hundred feet. I guess I'm either getting old, too warm blooded, or not enough anti-freeze in me.

July 12 —

Visitors . . . by land, sea, and air. That is just the way it has seemed to us anyway. Cruisers, Sailers, Outboards and by Sea-plane. The highlight of the whole thing was yesterday when a 51-foot cruiser came right in to the dock We have seen big and little boats tied up at the dock, but never like this one. Not the biggest in length by any means, but it sure was the biggest overall. It was built as a cruise ship for a millionaire who later sold it; nine bunks; two staterooms; bath with hot and cold water; electric plant for frig., etc. There were six guests aboard, and as Edith said, "all these guys come out on the lake for is to let their hair down." That is true as one of the gents was sorry they hadn't shaved for a couple of days but as he said, they had to look like something ashore and here they can look like bums. He sure meant it too. I couldn't tell him he was speaking the truth about looking like bums as he and his friends were quite big shots in the business world.

Then today a plane came in from the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests with three fellows aboard. Two of them I met last year, the other was the newly appointed superintendent . . . . they came out from Tweed for a cup of coffee. That is why they came, or so they said, but really it was to have the "Supt." meet all the people around this district.

One of the sailboats ran aground and had to be towed off by a fishing tug. It's funny these boats all have charts of the waters and the depths, etc., yet they will try to go in spots where it says right on the map five feet clearance and they happen to draw six feet. They must think they can slide it over the rough spots. I'll bet this particular boat won't try that again as it will cost him about $50 for the tug to come out and haul him off. Expensive sport, trying to go where you can't.

Today for the first time, we were able to get right up close to some of our Wood Ducks, the most beautiful ducks we have. One of the broods numbers eight, another eleven, and the last one we saw only had two young. But even that sure will help a lot. If only these birds will stay around all this summer, then they might come back next year. If that should happen it is very possible by next year there will be about 75 of them on the Island. The young geese are big now and sure don't need the help of their parents to look after themselves. You know, to see them close they are a majestic bird, and I don't think they could have a more fitting name than the Canada Goose.

July 13 —

More visitors this a.m.; this time members of the VVIP family so that there hasn't been too much done today. That is in the way of work, etc. Looking for deer, ducks and what have you was all that was done. Being a beautiful day made it just that much easier. The visibility has been perfect. Never in all the time we have been on the Island has it been so clear. The ocean going ships have even come in for some snooping. Even with the naked eye, you could almost count the rivets in the hulls. In a good many cases even the names on the vessels could be distinguished, and with the binoculars, it was as though they were right beside you.

With everything being so calm and clear even the fish come into the act. We have been watching a couple of bass that are laying their eggs on some of the gravel beds. It's pretty late for them to be spawning, but according to the visitors from the Dept. of Lands and Forests, the severe winter was to blame for the whole thing. Anyway to be able to watch these bass protecting the eggs is a lesson in something, what I don't know. Any other fish comes near the beds and the intruders get chased away in a big hurry. Their eggs can be seen very clearly along with the protective covering on them. The fish are just swimming around and around the eggs circulating the water and keeping it clear.

That's all for this time, the fishermen are on their way in.

WORKING WITH CANADIANS IN EVERY WALK OF LIFE SINCE 1817

EDITORIAL NOTES...

"In this Parliament are three Estates, the Lords Spiritual, the Lords Temporal and the Commons, but in the Reporters' Gallery yonder sits a Fourth Estate more important far than all."
— Edmund Burke

Obscenity defined at last

AT LONG LAST, police departments will know where they stand and organizations which have for some years been bothering the police to clean-up the news-stands will have two solid legs to stand on. Various municipalities in Argenteuil County have in the past urged the Federal Government to define the word "obscenity" a stand that only last week was made public.

Mr. Davie Fulton, the Minister of Justice, deserves credit for introducing a new definition of obscenity and winning the approval of the House of Commons.

This has never been an easy matter. The courts have been laboring under an old definition, too difficult to understand or apply. The new definition says: "Any publication a dominant characteristic of which is the undue exploitation of sex, or of sex and any one or more of the following sex subjects, namely, crime, horror, cruelty and violence, shall be deemed to be obscene."

To say that even this definition raises difficulties is only to say that these difficulties can never be entirely overcome. Most criticism of Mr. Fulton's definition is that it could, in some instances, be applied to creative literature, even to some works now regarded as classics.

But in such a matter faith must be placed in the reasonableness and justice of the courts. The intention of the definition is clear enough. It would apply in particular to any publication, appearing regularly, which has the "dominant characteristic" that the definition set forth. If any such publication were to seek protective coloring by comparing itself to certain classics, the argument, surely, would be regarded as ludicrous.

If this amendment to the criminal law should prove to have been abused in interpretation, some other definition might be attempted. But Mr. Fulton has made a sincere attempt to deal with a serious problem. If the new definition is applied against those for which it is intended, and which it so well describes, there will be far more cause for gratitude than criticism.

A new trend in education

SCHOOL AUTHORITIES once believed that classroom teaching should be geared to meet the limited abilities of the least able students. Result of this attitude, as many teachers discovered to their sorrow, was that bright students bored and frustrated by the pedestrian pace of classroom activities quit school and sought jobs. Many who did so, had they remained at school, might later have entered college and emerged as outstanding figures in engineering, in science, in medicine and in other fields.

Educational authorities have lately become increasingly aware of the loss to the country's intellectual resources by this old-fashioned approach to classroom teaching. Special classes are now being established for particularly bright students, so that they will be encouraged to remain at school and go on later to university.

Most recent example of this enlightened approach to education is found in Dartmouth, N.S., where school authorities have decided to establish one class for particularly bright students. The move will be experimental for the first year, but if experience in Winnipeg and other communities where special teaching facilities for the better-than-average students have been provided is repeated, it is reasonably certain that this will become a permanent feature of school work in this progressive Nova Scotia town.

Canadians and the CBC

PUBLIC UNEASINESS and dissatisfaction with the affairs of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation have not been lessened by the testimony of certain of its employees and officials before the Commons Committee on Broadcasting. Consider the following and the conclusion is inescapable that the evidence given the Committee is conflicting and confusing:

First, there was the decision of Mr. Ernest Bushnell, acting president of the CBC, to cancel the television production "Preview Commentary". Second, some 30 senior production personnel resigned, asserting that Mr. Bushnell's decision was taken under political pressure. Third, the CBC Board of Directors reversed Mr. Bushnell's decision and ordered "Preview Commentary" reinstated. Fourth, Revenue Minister Nowlan, through whom the CBC reports to Parliament, stated that Mr. Bushnell had shown no weakness or incompetence and was worthy of respect. Finally, Mr. Bushnell has denied that any political pressure influenced his decision and that "Preview Commentary" was cancelled simply because it was a poor production.

So much conflicting testimony, in which senior employees of the CBC have in effect testified before the Commons Broadcasting Committee against their own acting president, and in which the CBC Board of Directors has chosen to overrule what is surely a normal management decision — whether to continue or discontinue a certain program — is disquieting. If the CBC were a private business operation, immediate and drastic changes would be made promptly to rectify the situation. But the CBC is a socialist enterprise and the steps that ought to be taken to restore harmony and to assure sound and efficient operation have not been taken — at least not yet.

Sharpest and most pointed comment on the CBC mess has come from The Ottawa Journal, which rightly observes that "of all the hyperbolic stuff and nonsense talked and written about the CBC affair of recent days, the worst, surely, was the cry that if the CBC dropped a morning program known as 'Preview Commentary' free speech was going to be butchered. Free speech was going to be butchered, our sacred rights trampled upon, if some John Doe was not going to be permitted to use the facilities of our national broadcasting system to tell the nation each and every morning what he thought had happened in Parliament the day before and why." Asks The Ottawa Journal, "Is this what political discussion in this country has come to — or what our concept of free speech has come to?" A lot of Canadians would like to know the answer!

No less pointed and timely is a further comment of The Ottawa Journal which reads: "The management of the CBC decides to drop (or change) one of its programs. Some of the CBC's employees tell the management that it is 'chickening' before political pressure, serve notice that unless the program is restored they will quit their jobs. The CBC management, faced with this ultimatum, restores the dropped program. Who is running the CBC?"

Who indeed! Certainly the testimony of those who appeared before the Commons Committee on Broadcasting does nothing to clear up this point. Nor, for that matter, has anything said before the Commons Broadcasting Committee cleared up to the satisfaction of the public the charge of political interference. All that is sure at the moment is that serious conflict exists within the CBC itself — conflict that, if it is not resolved, can destroy whatever usefulness this costly state broadcasting organization may have.

The end of an era

A MELANCHOLY note on the passing of what used to be a proud tradition comes from London with the report that a parliamentary committee has urged the Royal Navy to get rid of its last remaining battleship, the 44,500-ton Vanguard.

Completed only in 1946 at a cost of £9,000,000 exclusive of her 15-inch guns, the Vanguard was the largest battleship ever built in Britain.

If she is scrapped — and the odds favor it — her passing will end an era of the mighty ships of the line, celebrated in song and story since the early days of the Royal Navy.

Britain last year scrapped four of the huge ships, the Anson, Duke of York, Howe and King George V.

Reuters news agency notes that "the Royal Navy has moved away from the great tradition of the capital ship in accordance with defence theories based on modern weapons which tend to render so large a ship a sitting target."

The navy presumably had in mind the sudden, shocking fate, during the early days of the war with Japan, of two of her proud battleships, the Prince of Wales and the Repulse. They were sunk, with their thousands of men, by Japanese planes off Malaya.

Now only two countries of the world have battleships in their fleets, the United States and France. The U.S. Navy lists 15 of them, the French, two. Russia, powerful in other naval departments, has none.

The thought that such powerful instruments of empire might ever be useless would never have occurred to Britons a generation ago.

Is there a Canadian Paradise?

Yes, in Nova Scotia. Paradise is a community in Annapolis County. It was known to the French settlers of earlier days as Paradis Terrestre because of its natural beauty. The village, with a population of less than 400, is situated at the junction of the Annapolis and Paradise rivers.

Who was Fleury Mesplet?

He was Montreal's first printer and the founder of the city's first newspaper, the Gazette, which is still published. Born in France in 1735, he met Benjamin Franklin in London and in 1773 emigrated to Philadelphia where he set himself up as a printer. During the American occupation of Montreal in 1775, Franklin was appointed to head the American commission sent to the city. Mesplet was chosen as printer to the commission but he reached Montreal with his press only a few weeks before the Americans evacuated the city. He stayed on, however, and before the end of 1776 was in business as Montreal's first printer. In 1785 he began publication of the Montreal Gazette, which he continued until his death in 1794.

Is a midshipman a sailor?

Not if he's a fish of that name. The fish known as a midshipman is common on Canada's Pacific coast. It has a broad, flat head, widely separable eyes that can be protruded, and numerous rows of photophores or "buttons." It is sometimes called the toadfish because of these photophores. It is also known as the singing fish because of the loud humming sound caused by the vibration of its air bladder.

What was Canada's first newspaper?

The Halifax Gazette. On March 23, 1752, John Bushell brought out the first issue of the Gazette, the first news sheet to appear in what is now Canada. It depended heavily upon Government patronage and much of its space was devoted to government proclamations and official advertisements. However, the first issue contained what we would call classified ads, including one that read in part: "At the Sign of the Hand and Pen, near the South End of Granville Street, are carefully taught, by Leigh and Wragg, Speiling, Reading, Writing in all its different Hands, Arithmetic in all its Parts, Merchants Accompts or the true Italian Method of Bookkeeping in a new and concise Manner."

Writes comment on police chase

(LETTER TO THE EDITOR)

To the Editor,
Lachute Watchman.

In the July 8 edition of your paper, Brownsburg Police Chief Bell made front page news in "a dramatic chase, complete with wide-open sirens and pistol shots . . . while speedometers reached about 100 miles an hour."

On page two of this same edition, Chief Bell passes on some noteworthy observations on the subject of Summer Driving Hazards. These observations are directed to the type of motorist who drives too fast — takes foolish chances — is a potential murderer of himself and of others". Chief Bell has put his finger on the heart of the matter.

The Branch road between Brownsburg and St. Philippe is a narrow one—full of sharp turns and sudden dips; the highway to Masson is wider but no less hazardous. To pursue an automobile at speeds up to 100 miles an hour on a late Saturday night would seem to the ordinary citizen as nothing short of suicidal. That the chase should be "punctuated with pistol shots" could be nothing short of homicidal!

Whether Chief Bell could have summoned assistance by car radio is a matter of conjecture. What is certain is the fact that syphoning gasoline is not so heinous a crime as to justify senseless heroics at what could well be the cost of innocent motorists on the highway.

Police protection can be a positive guarantee of public safety. But let us have fewer "foolish chances" and more sober thought lest any motorist become "a potential murderer of himself and others."

— Glenys Wilson,
Ottawa, Ont.

Ed. Note: While according space to this criticism, we feel the Corporation which appointed Chief Bell after due selection and consideration, has confidence in his concern for the public safety, even while in pursuit of those violating the law. A brief news report obviously cannot unfold the entire story, and it seems possible that on certain stretches of this road, with clear vision and no traffic, the speed of the chase might have entailed no danger whatever except to the participants. We would hesitate to judge without complete knowledge of the facts.

All Aboard

with G. E. MORTIMORE

We're on our way to Britain. As always, we left at the last minute.

Our hairbreadth exit was accomplished only by days and weeks of high-pressure fumbling. Several lists of urgent tasks had to be written and mislaid. Addresses of friends and relatives had to be assembled in one book, so that they could all be lost together.

As the time of departure drew near, grandiose plans for collecting information and mapping a route had to be progressively scaled down until nothing was left of them. Luggage had to be packed with careful incompetence.

On a previous journey, in 1951, overflow luggage had been crammed into an assortment of paper bags and cardboard boxes. This time, we borrowed two extra suitcases and went down to the second-hand store at the last minute to buy one more.

The latest case was plastered with all manner of exotic labels, from such places as Tokio and Shanghai. I must have a streak of the travel snob in me, because I have made no effort to scrape them off.

We have two pieces of human baggage that did not exist in 1951 — two small boys. They are being taken to their maternal grandmother who, for some reason which I cannot fathom, wants to see them.

The boys had never been on a train before. As the train pulled out of the station, and moved past stores and warehouses, they went nearly berserk with excitement.

"This is the magic train," piped Michael, four.

"No, it isn't," snapped John, six. "Liar, stinker!" And he aimed a blow at Michael's knees. "It is!" the small one shrieked, and there was a brief, fierce bout of fisticuffs until I separated them. Later the boys went to sleep, as the train rolled on through the darkness.

In the time that followed we dreamed our way through bush, hills and plains, in the pleasant lethargy that settles upon train travellers: a lethargy compounded of reading, gazing out the window at the rushing farms, trees, mountains, trains and rivers; and being lulled by the soft rhythmic drumming of the wheels.

Men had struggled through here with horses and heavy packs and canoes. Now we were leaning back on soft seats and rushing through the wilderness at magic-carpet speed. That's progress. . . Or is it?

John and Michael and I played a game with the scenery. Whenever we passed a bird or an animal, or crossed a bridge, John got a point. When we passed a building or went through a tunnel, I got a point; when we passed people, Michael scored.

John drew ahead, and stretched his advantage by interpreting every doubtful decision to his own benefit. (Is a culvert a bridge? Yes. Is a tool-shed a building? No.) . . . So John reached 25 points and won, as the train rumbled toward Montreal and the ship that would take us over the Atlantic.

MOTHER SHIPTON'S PROPHECIES

I have before me a yellowed clipping, origin unknown, from a reader asking the following question:

Q. "Would you kindly print the prophecies of a woman who, five-hundred years ago, foretold the use of cars, submarines, airplanes, etc. also her name."

A. Below are Mother Shipton's Prophecies, in part:

And accidents fill the world with woe.

* * *

Around the world thoughts will fly
In the twinkling of an eye.

* * *

And gold found at the root of a tree.

* * *

Through hills men shall ride
And no horse nor ass be at their side.

* * *

Under water men shall walk,
Shall ride, shall sleep and talk.

* * *

In the air men shall be seen
In white, in black and in green.

* * *

Three times shall lovely France be led
To play a bloody dance.
Before her people shall be free
Three tyrant rulers shall she see.
Three rulers in succession see
Each from a different dynasty.
Then shall the worser fight be done
England and France shall be as one.
The British olive next shall twine
In marriage with a German vine.

* * *

Men shall walk over rivers and under rivers.

* * *

Iron in the water shall float
As easy as a wooden boat.

* * *

State and state, in fierce strife,
Each will seek the other's life.
But when the North shall divide the South
An Eagle will build in the Lion's mouth.

Uncle Walt.

The marriage of Audrey Irene, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard H. McOuat, of St. Andrews East, to Mr. George Kent Pasco, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas G. Pasco, of Brownsburg, took place Saturday in St. Andrews Presbyterian Church, St. Andrews East, the Rev. Dr. Harold Reid officiating. Mr. L. B. Hopkins played the wedding music and Mr. G. King sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "I'll Walk Beside You". The church was decorated with baskets of shasta daisies and hydrangea.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white embroidered organdy over taffeta, fashioned with a fitted bodice, having a square scalloped neckline and brief sleeves, with a bouffant skirt enhanced by scalloped tiers at the back. Her fingertip veil of tulle illusion was held in place by an imported lace band. She carried a cascade bouquet of yellow sweetheart roses and white stephanotis.

Miss Lorraine McOuat, as maid of honor for her sister, and Miss Elizabeth Martin, of Dunham, Que., as bridesmaid, were in pale yellow gowns styled alike in pure silk organza over taffeta. The gowns were fashioned with fitted bodices, Sabrina necklines, and cape-like sleeves, with bouffant skirts having floating back panels falling from V'd backs and gathered up at the hemline of the skirts. They wore white gardenia veiled wimsies and carried cascade bouquets of yellow nugget poms and white stephanotis.

Mr. Grant Cameron, of Dewittville, Que., was best-man and the ushers were Mr. Bradley Secker, of Toronto, Ont., a cousin of the groom, and Messrs. Kenneth and Donald McOuat, brothers of the bride.

Mrs. McOuat, mother of the bride, was in a sheath gown of Dior blue lace and chiffon. She wore white accessories, black shoes and bag, and a corsage of white carnations.

Mrs. Pasco, the groom's mother, was in a bois-de-rose gown of re-embroidered organza with a side panel of plain organza. She wore beige accessories and a purse corsage of tea roses.

The reception was held at the St. Andrews Golf and Country Club where shasta daisies and hydrangea were used and yellow daisies decorated the tables.

Later, Mr. and Mrs. Pasco left on a motor trip, the bride travelling in an antique gold pure silk frock, a Guy Laroche model. She wore beige accessories and a purse corsage of yellow camellias.

Young townsman wed at Winnipeg

Armstrong - Tod

A candlelight service in St. Aidan's Church, Winnipeg, on Tuesday, June 30, at 7.30 p.m. united in marriage Barbara Ann Tod, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ellis S. Tod, and John Linton Ronald Armstrong, son of Mr. and Mrs. Linton W. Armstrong. The Reverend Canon F. J. Boyd performed the double-ring ceremony. The bride's cousin, Mr. John Tanner, was organist and Mr. Reginald Frederickson was soloist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a full-length gown of imported pure silk organza over bridal satin. The basque bodice featured short, shirred sleeves and a softly-shirred banding overlaid the V'd neckline. Appliqués of Chantilly lace re-embroidered with sequins and pearls adorned the neckline and sleeves. The bouffant skirt featured hipline fulness from a straight centre panel, and swept to a Chapel train. A cap of matching lace held her fingertip veil of pure silk illusion, and she carried a bouquet of white roses.

Miss Nancy Tod, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Cousins of the bride, Elizabeth Swain and Frances Tanner, acted as brides maid and junior bridesmaid. The three attendants wore identical imported gowns of organdy embroidered in green with green set-in sashes. Their headdresses were of green net with seed pearls, and they carried bouquets of white mums.

Mr. Kenneth Murdie was best man. Mr. Robert Armstrong, brother of the bridegroom, and Mr. J. Grant Riddell ushered the guests.

The reception was held at the home of the bride's aunt and uncle, Dr. and Mrs. A. R. Tanner, 1165 Grosvenor Avenue. The toast to the bride was proposed by Mr. W. S. Fairbrother.

Out-of-town guests attended from Lachute; Fort William, Ont.; Brandon, Man.; and Regina, Sturgis and Yorkton, Sask.

Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong left for a wedding trip to the Northern States. They will reside at Suite 2, Lord Hart Manor, Winnipeg, Man.

Vacation Bible School at People's Church gives good account

Last Friday evening over 100 people gathered at the People's Church to enjoy the closing program of the Daily Vacation Bible School. The program was presented by Departments, beginning with the Nursery, in charge of Mrs. E. Stephens and Mrs. E. Young. The little people sang with gusto, in action songs which illustrated their theme, "Loving and Pleasing Jesus".

The Beginners' Department followed, under the leadership of Mrs. E. Kettyle and Miss Sandra Stansfield, to demonstrate their theme of "We Learn About Jesus", and even a rhythm band helped. Their "Good Evening" and "Good-bye" in song were well received.

Members of the Primary Department which was the largest in the school, each took home with them their own flannelgraph board with the story of Psalm 23, after showing their parents how it was done. Mrs. C. Sorley and Mrs. J. Markham spent the two weeks around the theme, "Jesus, the Good Shepherd".

Under the capable supervision of two school teachers, Mrs. W. Morrison and her daughter Audrey, the Junior Department studied together "The Christian's Birth and Growth", and gave choice selections in verse and song when their turn came.

Miss Irena Currie and Miss Edyth Sorley sang a duet as they represented the Intermediate Department, whose theme was "Answering God's Call"; this activity was led by Pastor Sorley.

The over-all theme of the school this year was "Living for Jesus in the Space Age", and the entire purpose was to lead the children into the spiritual realm, so that they would learn to know the Lord Jesus in a more intimate and friendly manner.

The attendance averaged 80 a day, and the interest was shown by the fact that most of the children did not miss a single session. The parents expressed their appreciation by giving a generous offering, and many voiced their pleasure and surprise that so much could be taught in such a short period of time.

The organizers wish to thank the following busines firms for their co-operation and kindness — Walker Kingsbury Inc.; Kerr's Diner; Cousineau Reg.; McGibbon Lumber; Fraser C. Morrison; Dawson Television Sales & Service; The Watchman, and especially Mr. R. A. Giles for his helpfulness and contribution of material.

Salad month

Green Bean Salads, Hot and Cold

Salads don't have to be raw to be good! As proof, we recommend three newly tested, cooked green bean salad recipes sent by the Consumer Section, Canada Department of Agriculture. All are man-tailored — the beans are used whole and the servings are generous.

You'll find these salads grand to serve with hot or cold meat and potatoes at a family meal or as a part of a summer buffet spread indoors or out. The platter salad could also be served as a light luncheon main course, along with potato chips, potato salad, bread or rolls.

Platter Salad

1 pound (5 to 6) medium tomatoes (sliced), 1 pound green beans (cooked whole and cooled), French dressing, 6 hard-cooked eggs (cut in halves or quarters), 2 to 3 green onions (chopped), chopped parsley, mayonnaise.

Marinate tomato slices and green beans in French dressing, in separate bowls, for about 1 hour. Arrange tomato slices around edge of platter, green beans in centre and hard cooked egg pieces in between. Sprinkle chopped green onions over beans and parsley over tomatoes. Serve with mayonnaise. 4 to 6 servings.

* * *

Green Bean and Cheese Salad

2 Pounds green beans (cooked whole and cooled), French dressing, 4 tablespoons finely diced Cheddar cheese, tarragon or savory to taste.

Marinate cooked beans in French dressing for at least 1 hour. Drain just before serving and toss with cheese and either tarragon or savory. 6 to 8 servings.

* * *

Hot Green Bean Salad

4 Slices side bacon (cut in 1-inch pieces), 1½ tablespoons flour, 1 tablespoon sugar, 3 tablespoons vinegar, ¾ cup water, 2 cups hot, cooked, well seasoned green beans, ¼ cup raw onion rings, 2 tablespoons chopped canned pimento.

Fry bacon until crisp; remove from pan. Add flour to bacon fat and blend thoroughly, then stir in sugar, vinegar and water. Cook until thickened.

Pour hot mixture over the cooked beans and toss lightly with the bacon pieces, pimento and onion rings. Serve hot. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Color is bright . . the flavor right

There are few tastier desserts than a fresh fruit pie served warm from the oven with chilled custard sauce or pouring cream. And if the pie is made from red currants and raspberries, its colorful, pleasing appearance will stimulate the taste buds even before the first bite is taken. The combination of the two berries in Red Currant and Raspberry Tart gives the pie its engagingly piquant flavor. Just before baking, a crumble topping of bread crumbs, brown sugar and chopped almonds is sprinkled on the fruit mixture. It's a good idea to bake a number of pie shells and freeze them. At the last minute, the filling and the bread crumb mixture can be prepared and the pie slipped into the oven until the topping is golden brown.

Red Currant and Raspberry Tart

(Yield — one 8½-inch pie)

Pie paste, 1 cup stemmed ripe red currants, 2 cups raspberries, 1 cup granulated sugar, 2 tablespoons flour, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ cup fine dry bread crumbs, ¼ cup lightly-packed brown sugar, 2 tablespoons finely-chopped almonds and 2 tablespoons butter or margarine (melted).

Preheat oven to 420 deg. F. (hot).

Line a pie plate (8½ inches, top inside measure) with rolled out pie paste; trim and crimp edge. Chill while preparing filling and topping.

Pick over, wash, drain and stem sufficient ripe red currants to yield the required 1 cup. Pick over, wash and drain the raspberries and add to currants. Sprinkle with a mixture of the granulated sugar, flour and salt; toss lightly. Combine bread crumbs, brown sugar and almonds; add melted butter or margarine and mix well with a fork. Spread fruit mixture in unbaked pie shell; sprinkle with bread crumb mixture. Bake in preheated oven until pastry is cooked and topping golden, 25 to 30 minutes. Serve warm with chilled custard sauce or pouring cream.

Remove vegetables and bones.

Blend 1 tbsp. cornstarch with 1 tsp. kitchen bouquet and ¼ c. cold water (the French use dry red wine). Stir into stew; stir-cook 3 min., or until gravy is slightly thickened and clear.

The vegetables and stew should be cooked separately and assembled when stew is served. This prevents overcooked vegetables and cloudy-looking gravy.

Cooking Vegetables: Thirty-five minutes before stew meat will be done, boil separately in water seasoned with beef bouillon cubes, 12 peeled small white onions, 6 halfed peeled medium carrots and 6 peeled medium white potatoes.

(Copyright)

— By NANCY CLEAVER —

Every Canadian boy or girl should have the chance to learn to swim. This is a land of streams and rivers and lakes. There are community swimming pools or bathing areas where swimming instruction is given in most communities. Hundreds of campers each summer graduate from a "Beginners' Pool" into a Swimming Class.

Many children must look to home help in learning how to swim safely. If converting a child into a fish falls on mother or dad, the parent need not be an expert in order to do a good job.

The first step in learning to swim is to overcome fear of the water. The little child who paddles in the shallow water and plays with floating toys gradually becomes accustomed to the feeling of the water.

Learning to swim is like anything else, the child must really want to swim himself. No amount of arguing on the part of parents, no coaxing of brothers or sisters, or teasing of chums can substitute for the child's own desire to become a swimmer. Better postpone instruction until the child himself is eager to learn.

Swimming is a matter of balance and one of the first rules which must be followed is, "Keep your shoulders under water!" Illustrate this with a small wooden stick. If one end bobs up out of the water, the other end sinks down below the surface.

Breathing is very important in swimming and a child can have excellent land drill in blowing bubbles into a hand wash basin. Teach him to breath in through his mouth, duck his face into the water and blow bubbles out his nose.

When he becomes good at this, have him walk into shallow water, and blow bubbles in the same way. Encourage him to gradually open his eyes. Make a game of having him duck after small objects on the bottom of the lake.

Floating gives a child the self-confidence he must have if he is to make progress. He is likely supprised to find after he reaches to the bottom for an object in shallow water, how quickly his body returns to the surface.

Show your child the "Jelly Fish Float". Have him wade out into water waist deep, take a deep breath, then duck under the water and grab both ankles with both hands.

An instructor can give a child a little support under his chin when the youngster is learning to swim. Show him how to grab the edge of the dock as a support and practice kicking. Inflated tubes or small wooden "kicking boards", about eighteen inches by ten inches and one and a half inches thick, are used in some Beginners' Classes. But do not let the boy or girl become too dependent on a support. As quickly as possible try to get him to swim unaided to the instructor.

Stand a short distance away and have the child try to swim to you by dog paddle, breast stroke or any movement he wants to use.

Even a little child quickly understands that there are two swimming motions. One is a "propulsive" or pushing-the-body-forward movement and the other the "recovery" or getting-back-into-place ready-for-the-next-push motion. The more relaxed and unhurried the movements, the better is the swimming.

Once a child can swim even five feet, stand a little farther away from him. Thus little by little he gradually learns to swim a longer distance. If he is frightened and falters, hold out your hands to him, and take a step forward to reassure him. Never fool a child. One bad scare may put him off swimming for weeks.

Children are great imitators and if parents swim and enjoy the water their children will likely follow their example. That goes for observing safety precautions too!

Don't take chances with your own child's life in the water! Never swim all alone; always have a companion. Don't go swimming for one and a half to two hours after the noon day meal. On a very hot day, cool off a bit before going in the water. If you are in a boat when it overturns, even if you are a good swimmer, don't strike out for shore. Cling to the boat till help comes. Obeying this one rule has saved many lives. Parents must continually remind their children that learning to swim is fun — but sensible swimmers must observe the safety rules.

Chocolate-coconut cookies, a prize well worth raiding for

The hand that raids the cookie jar could belong to anyone in the family from the tiniest tot to a grandparent. For cookies are one type of sweet that are popular with all age groups, in all seasons, at all times of the day. French cookies are very fancy in appearance; Germans have the spiciest; Russians are fond of frying theirs, while Canadians just love to eat them.

Here is a recipe for Chocolate-Coconut Cookies coated in icing sugar. Such a tempting combination of flavors should ensure their success from the start. These rich and tasty cookies are crisp on the outside and moist in the centre. The dough is shaped into little round balls before baking, and after the cookies have cooled they are rolled in icing sugar. Serve them with ice-cream, pudding or fresh fruit cups, for a truly scrumptious dessert.

Chocolate-Coconut Cookies

(Sugar coated)

2 Ounces (2 squares) unsweetened chocolate, ½ cup shortening, ¾ cup granulated sugar, 1¼ cups once-sifted all-purpose flour, or 1¼ cups once-sifted pastry flour, 1¾ teaspoons baking powder, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1 cup dessicated coconut, 1 egg, ¾ teaspoon vanilla, and icing sugar.

Grease cookie sheets. Preheat oven to 350 deg. F. (moderate).

Melt chocolate and shortening together in top of double boiler; add granulated sugar and stir well. Cool. Sift together the all-purpose or pastry flour, baking powder and salt; mix in coconut. Beat egg until thick and light; stir in vanilla. Add cooled chocolate mixture part at a time, beating in well after each addition. Add dry ingredients and combine lightly, adding a little milk if necessary—dough should be stiff. Roll dough into small balls about 1 inch in diameter. Place, well apart, on prepared cookie sheets. Bake in preheated oven 12 to 15 minutes. Cool on cake racks. Roll cooled cookies in sifted icing sugar to coat them.

Mrs. Eaton Honored

Mrs. John David Eaton, Toronto, Ontario became the first non-Icelander in Toronto to receive that nation's highest civilian honor, The Knight of the Order of the Falcon. The presentation was made by Ragnar Johnson, Icelandic consul to Canada. The honor was bestowed because of Mrs. Eaton's interest in Iceland, the land of her ancestors and also her interest and activities in her own country and community.

The old axiom about gilding the lily is apt when it comes to salads. But a simple garnish gives a finished appearance to any salad. Just remember to use sparingly, and keep it dry and edible.

Among the most popular garnishes are parsley, watercress, tomato slices and wedges, olives, pickles, cheese cubes and chopped nuts.

Many attractive garnishes can be made simply. Here are a few from the consumer section of the department of agriculture:

Celery Curls — cut stalks into three-inch lengths. Slit ends in narrow parallel strips almost to the centre of the piece. Crisp in ice water until edges curl.

Radish Roses — select well-shaped radishes. Remove root ends and all but one or two small leaves. With sharp knife cut thin strip of peel from top down to and almost through stem. Two rows of petals may be cut — one from the middle down, the other from the top to the middle. Chill in ice water until petals curl.

Cauliflower Flowerets — separate into small flowerets. Chill. Flowerets may be sprinkled with paprika or dipped into a moist sandwich spread, such as cheese.

Water Lilies — peel evenly-shaped onions and cut into eighths almost to, but not through, root ends. Place in a bowl of water, cut side down. Keep submerged with a plate. Chill in refrigerator for several hours or overnight. Drain and arrange on top of salad mold, carefully spreading petals apart, if necessary. Water may be tinted with food coloring, if desired. Leaves for lilies may be cut from cucumber peel or green pepper.

Fish fillets a cool cooker

Many a time during sweltering summer days fresh and frozen fillets come to our rescue. They need so little cooking that fish fillets can be baked, broiled or even fried in such short order, the kitchen doesn't get a chance to heat up. And there is an almost limitless variety of ways in which fillets can be prepared and served. Here's one quick and easy idea — Chili-Glazed Fillets with Pineapple Chunks. Even the name of this peppy main dish sounds cool!

Chili-glazed Fillets with Pineapple

If frozen, let block of fillets thaw on refrigerator shelf just until they can be easily separated. Cut fish into four equal portions. Arrange on aluminum foil on preheated greased broiler pan. Sprinkle fish with lemon juice, then spread chili sauce. Arrange pineapple chunks around fish, on foil. In preheated broiler, broil two inches from source of heat five to eight minutes, or until fish flakes easily when tested with a fork. (Allow about ten minutes per inch thickness of fish). Makes 4 servings.

Easy on Cook

They're flakes which become fluffy, mashed potatoes when boiling water and cold milk is added.

Careless work reaps injuries

Rural safety practices take on special significance this week, July 19-25, as Canadians observe National Farm Safety Week.

In Ottawa, Agriculture Minister Harkness adds his endorsation to safety week, reminding farmers that accidents mean the loss of thousands of days of work annually. Hard earned savings disappear because of medical expenses and the whole farm business suffers considerably.

Main cause of the 80,000 accidents estimated to occur in Canada each year is failure to observe instructions or deliberate violation of the safety code. This appalling figure can be drastically reduced by farmers devising their own daily checks and keeping alert to danger at all times.

• • •

The Ottawa Journal's front page one day last week contained these headlines: "Mower Fall Kills Farmer"; "Farmer Killed Hitching tractor To Hay Wagon"; "Horses Bolt, Hay Mower Kills Youth"; "Wasps Kill Farmer". All but the last fatality occurred in Ontario and Quebec.

"Farm Safety Week" could have no more grimly effective publicity or require any better justification. Farming, even with its new mechanization — and perhaps because of it — remains one of the most hazardous of occupations. It is no soft idyll in the sun," reports the Ottawa daily in its editorial column.

LEGION NOTES

"ACTIVE SERVICE YESTERDAY COMMUNITY SERVICE TODAY"

— by —

Branch 70 Correspondent

Hot sunny days, leisure hours — and so vacation time takes its toll among the service organizations! Even so, a fair amount of business was dealt with at the regular monthly meeting held in the Legion Memorial Hall last Wednesday evening.

The major item on the agenda was a report by Com. President Tom Smith on Legion activities at the Lachute Spring Fair. In spite of the fact that the weatherman elected to spoil what would otherwise have been a splendid afternoon program, when all debits and credits were tallied the Branch came out on the right side of the ledger. A splendid job by a lot of members — many thanks from your Executive Council!

Now that the Memorial Building has been completely rewired and where necessary, provided with new electrical fixtures, it has been decided to proceed with the painting of exterior trim. This job is already about two years overdue and when completed the building will once again be in a presentable condition.

Any person wishing information concerning the rental of the Lachute Legion Hall should phone Com. Carl Demerse.

Re-instatements to Membership were duly approved for Comrades G. Graham, L. Hodge and W. Laughren and these members were given a hearty welcome back to the Branch. All veterans are urged to make application for membership—and ex-members to make application for re-instatement through any active member or at the general meetings held on the third Wednesday of each month. However, please note that the President was authorized to by-pass the August meeting if there is no urgent business for the agenda. Following that, the next regular meeting will be held on Wednesday, September 16, at 8.00 p.m.

• • •

Comrade R. A. Giles, Chairman of the Sick & Relief Committee, advised the meeting that Com. P. Lecorre is presently undergoing treatment in the Queen Mary Veterans' Hospital, Montreal; that assistance has been given to several veterans en route through Lachute, and that at least one local veteran is urgently in need of work to provide for his family. Any person requiring a man for work of an unspecialized nature is urged to call R. A. Giles or President Tom Smith immediately.

• • •

A vote of thanks was extended to Com. Jim Coney who, for the past five years, represented Branch No. 70 on Laurentian District Council No. 12. Jim's resignation from this office was accepted with regret and Com. Douglas Kettyle was appointed to replace him.

Following quite a number of telephone calls in spite of the previous announcement, we wish again to remind all who have received their two free Adult Anti-Polio vaccinations that the next clinic will be held in the Lachute Legion Memorial Hall on Thursday, September 17. Watch for further reminders!

In response to an invitation from Hawkesbury Branch No. 272, to provide a color party and to join them in their Centennial activities on Veterans Day, (Saturday, July 11) the following members attended from Argenteuil Branch 70:

Com. R. A. Giles, Wm. Blakely, R. Elkington, V. Elliott, Art. Phillips and B. Jenkins.

A most impressive parade was arranged with the R.C.A. Band, Ottawa, in the vanguard followed by the massed colors from eight district Branches, Legionnaires, Ladies Auxiliary and Army units. An open-air Memorial service was held at the Town Cenotaph to honor the memory of those residents of Hawkesbury who have sacrificed their lives in the name of their Country. After the laying of wreaths by Mayor Gascon, the local Branch and Ladies Auxiliary, an address was given by Com. H. Harvey, Vice-President Dominion Command, who also took the salute from a reviewing stand on Main street near the Town Hall, as the marchers swung by. A highlight at the Cenetaph ceremony was the presentation of a Canadian Legion 25-year membership jewel to Com. W. Fisher. Mr. Fisher organized the Hawkesbury Branch in 1947. Com. President Neald and his committees are to be congratulated for the fine manner in which they organized activities on this auspicious occasion.

Incidentally, and we don't know whether it was by design or whether it was removed (unscheduled) from the float sent from here; anyway what certainly looked like a nice gesture was a small sign planted firmly in the Community Centre near the band-stand with the words "BEST WISHES FROM LACHUTE".

Safe and happy vacation to all (the Watchman Staff in particular) from Argenteuil Branch No. 70.

Gap widens in farm pay

The average Canadian hourly wages for agricultural workers amounted to 91 cents in January and 95 cents in August last year, reports the Economics Division, Canada Department of Agriculture, quoting D.B.S. figures.

During both months, the average wages in mining were $1.96 per hour, and in the manufacturing industries $1.64 per hour. In construction, the average hourly wages were $1.81 and $1.76 for January and August respectively.

A look at wage increases over the 1953-58 periods shows how much the field of agriculture is lagging.

Depending upon the time of year, wages in agriculture rose from 10 to 21 per cent, whereas the increase over the same period for other industries ranged from 21 to 30 per cent.

A similar difference in increase is revealed when the 1958 wages are deflated by the appropriate cost of living indices says the Economics Division.

PROGRESS THROUGH RESEARCH

PERFECT DIET

The average adult in Canada today consumes enough food to prevent serious nutritional deficiency diseases. However, this does not mean that he is obtaining enough of the right kind of food to keep him in the "pink of health."

Scientists point out that the average diet may not provide children with the proper food for best growth, for developing resistance to disease, for preventing chronic disease, for overcoming unusual stress associated with infection or serious illness or for sufficient extra energy to keep pace with special childhood drives.

Moreover, a survey of 60,000 children in the U.S.A. indicates that diets become poorer as the children grow older. Mothers-to-be, industrial workers and elderly people also have nutritional needs that are not met with the average diet.

To meet these nutritional needs, scientists have developed multi-vitamin and mineral products that are intended to supplement the diet. Vitamin products, including candy-flavored soluble tablets designed for use by the entire family, help the housewife provide her family with the vitamin and mineral essentials of a "perfect diet."

Without scientific instruments which can accurately measure the vitamin content of the foods she buys, the housewife cannot determine if the food on her dinner table is providing her family with the essential health-giving vitamins. But science has come to her aid in a much easier way — by making available the vitamin products to supplement her family's diet.

Coast-to-Coast Uniform Traffic Laws

Police, courts, driver license and other public officials are handicapped and sometimes helpless without reasonable, affective traffic laws and ordinances. The motorist who crosses state and city lines — and who doesn't? — is confused, irritated and endangered where laws are conflicting. The driver's frequent excuse "What I just did is legal at home" is hard for a police officer or judge to ignore. Nation-wide uniformity on such essential items as the rules of the road would make easier the task of driver education both in high schools and for the general public.

Federal traffic laws have been advocated but this approach has received no serious support because it would require an army of federal enforcement officials. The slower but surer approach is through voluntary action by states and cities.

Just thirty years ago the Uniform Vehicle Code was formulated by a large joint committee representing all official, civic, business and other groups concerned, and has served ever since as a model for state legislation. It is periodically reviewed and brought up to date. It is supplemented by the Model Traffic Ordinance for cities. More recently, several states have authorized preparation of a state model traffic ordinance which any city can then adopt "by reference," that is, without the expense of printing the entire ordinance in a local newspaper. The state model is closely geared to the traffic laws, constitution and judicial decisions of the particular state.

Traffic signs and signals should be uniform everywhere.

The hopeless tangle of conflicting traffic laws that existed thirty years ago has thus been largely corrected, but not entirely. The reason? Mostly inertia; to amend any law takes positive pressure, from the governor, from influential legislators, or from opinion — preferably all three. Then there is a big element of local pride, "We worked out our law to suit our own conditions and don't need any outside expert to tell us what to do."

Equally needed is uniformity in highway signs and triffic signals. For these an excellent standard is available in the Manual of Uniform Traffic Control Devices which also was developed by a joint committee of officials and others concerned. Most state highway departments follow this standard but many counties and cities, particularly the smaller ones, still have signs that are antiquated,

The national agencies that have been vigorously promoting uniformity have found that the only way to get results is to stimulate interest on the part of local officials and civic groups. They, and only they, can get up to date, uniform laws, signs and signals — if they will make the necessary effort. They can get plenty of help, if they want it, from the insurance companies and organizations, the National Safety Council and others.

Uniform laws will make safe driving easier for all of us.

The next article, "Courtesy and Consideration on the Highway," is written by Arthur S. Johnson, Vice-President — Engineering, American Mutual Liability Insurance Company.

Have You A Question on UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE OR EMPLOYMENT?

In this column we publish questions about unemployment insurance and employment, together with answers received from the Unemployment Insurance Commission.

If you are uncertain about any point do not hesitate to send us your question. We will obtain an answer and publish it in this column.

Following are some questions with answers which may be of interest to you:

Q. I am going to California to live and someone told me I could collect unemployment insurance there. Is that so?

A. Yes, provided you are in possession of a visa entitling you to work in the United States.

• • •

Q. Are retired persons entitled to benefit when they have retired prior to the usual retirement age owing to ill health?

A. To qualify for benefit you must be capable of and available for work but unable to fulfill these conditions, you would not be entitled to benefit.

• • •

Q. Five years ago I understood I would not be able to collect unemployment insurance because of a regulation concerning married women, and I have never applied for benefit. I am now told this restriction no longer exists. Can I collect now? If not, what happened to all the contributions I paid while I was single?

A. You would not now be entitled to benefit on the basis of the contributions you made five years ago. The contributions you paid form part of the unemployment insurance fund and are used to pay claims that meet the conditions. Unemployment insurance is something like fire insurance. You pay your premiums (contributions) and if no fire occurs during the period you were protected, no refund is made. As a married woman, subject to the married women's regulations at the time you stopped working, you were not then considered unemployed. You could have made a claim perhaps two years after marriage.

Q. A friend of mine worked as a fire-fighter with the Forestry for 12 days and received contributions. I worked for nine days and did not receive any. How come?

A. Although being employed in forestry is insurable, casual employment as a forest fire fighter for not more than ten days in any period of 30 consecutive days is not insurable. Thus your friend who worked for 12 days would be insurable while you would not be entitled to contributions since you worked only nine days.
