Dollard des Ormeaux Park decided for Carillon hydro

For the time being, Hydro-Quebec is not in a position to approve the suggestion that its hydro-electric plant, presently under construction at Carillon, bear the name of Dollard des Ormeaux — the Hon. Daniel Johnson, Minister of Hydraulic Resources, has announced. A definite decision will be taken on this matter within a few months, he added.

The suggestion was made by the Dollard Tercentenary Celebration Committee and the Association of French-Canadian Youth.

At the same time, the Minister voiced pleasure in announcing that, at his suggestion, the Quebec Hydro-Electric Commission has decided to establish a park near the proposed dam and powerhouse. The idea has received the approval of Prime Minister Antonio Barrette and the endorsement of Hon. W. M. Cottingham, Minister of Mines and Member for Argenteuil County. The park will bear the name of Dollard des Ormeaux.

In addition to the park, provision will be made for an appropriate site for Dollard's monument, and Hydro-Quebec will seek erection of a replica of the Long-Sault fort on the spot. Accordingly, the vicinity will become an attractive historic and tourist site.

Lacoste appeal — ruling reversed in schoolbus death

An appeal of a sentence given in St. Jerome, on behalf of Germain Lacoste, local businessman, was heard before a Court of Queen's Bench in the Montreal district recently, the judgment of which reversed the decision handed down by Judge George S. Challies.

Mr. Lacoste was last fall sentenced to a three-month term in jail, a fine of $500, and a three-year license suspension. He spent several days in jail before he lodged his appeal.

The charge was laid following the death of Linda Chambers, six-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Chambers, of St. Philippe, who was killed while crossing the highway in front of her home after having just left the school bus.

The appeal court consisted of Judge Marquis, chairman, Judge Badeaux and Judge Casey. The decision to reverse the judgment was unanimous.

The ruling states that the accused "did not show wanton or reckless disregard for the lives and safety of other persons", and cites several cases of a similar nature. It also pointed out that Mr. Lacoste violated a section of the Quebec Motor Vehicles Act when he passed the stationary school bus, but as this is not a section of the Criminal Code, it cannot be included in a Criminal Code charge. Had Mr. Lacoste been charged under the Quebec Motor Vehicles Act, he would have been liable to a fine of $50 plus costs, the maximum fine allowed for violations of this act.

Lost jewelry turns up from Chicago

While in Chicago around Eastertime a lady resident, Mrs. Geo. McGibbon, lost her bracelet. Though not a costly item, the bracelet was made up of the coat of arms of the 10 provinces — one of the souvenirs which the curling delegation (of which her husband was a member) had taken to Scotland on their trip over a year ago — and it was therefore of sentimental value. Mrs. McGibbon noted its disappearance while proceeding on a train to Waukegan, Ill.

During their trip to Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. McGibbon had visited the Marshall Fields store and had looked up Mr. Thos. N. Boa, a former Lachute High School boy, who now holds a responsible position with that store.

The incident was more or less forgotten until, last week, a letter was received from Mr. Boa stating that a bracelet with Canadian emblems had been found in the Marshall Fields establishment. Coinciding with Mr. and Mrs. McGibbon's visit, he enquired if the jewelry might have been lost by the latter, in which case he would be glad to return it.

War veteran died suddenly; many at funeral

The Late James Coney

Residents of this district were shocked to learn of the sudden death of James Coney, which occurred at his home between Carillon and Cushing early Sunday morning, following a heart attack. He was 52 years of age.

Born at Bungay, Norfolk, Eng., James Henry Walter Coney, the eldest boy in a family of three sons and three daughters, came to Canada in 1926, taking up farming at Ste. Dorothée.

Jim (as he was popularly known) joined the Grenadier Guards in 1939, transferred to the Royal Rifles in 1941, and served overseas with this regiment, being discharged with the rank of Quartermaster Sergeant in 1946. He worked as maintenance superintendent with Dominion Thread Mills until 1948, when he came to reside at Cushing and was employed on the canals for the Department of Transport in the Maintenance Division.

He was a valuable member and ardent worker both in church activities and in the Canadian Legion Branch 70. He also belonged to the Masonic Order, in which organization he held office. A service was conducted at the funeral parlor on Monday evening with the customary Masonic rites.

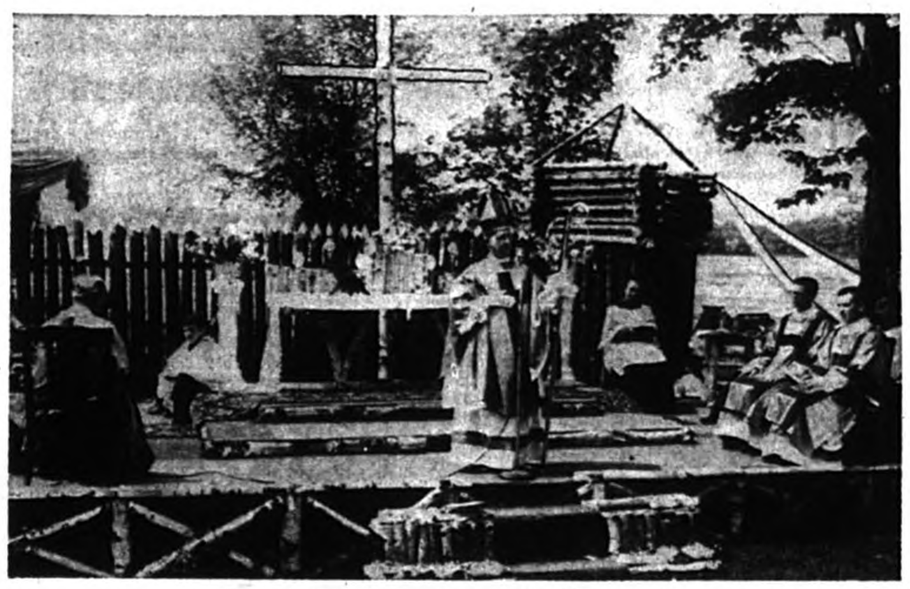

Mr. Coney is survived by his wife, the former Eva Ivy Dunmore, whom he married September 3, 1938, and their son, Raymond, 9; also by his father, James Henry Coney and Mrs. Coney.

The funeral service was held at St. Mungo's Church, at 2 p.m. on Tuesday, conducted by the Rev. K. Feltham and attended by many sympathizing friends. Members of the Legion formed a guard of honor, and the following acted as pall-bearers — Comrades V. Elliott, T. Smith, R. Hampton, C. Graham, R. Giles and B. Jenkins.

Interment was made in the St. Andrews East Cemetery.

B'burg Home-School takes stock, hears reports of delegates to Fed'n

Brownsburg — The 1959-60 year drew to a close for the Brownsburg Home and School Association last Wednesday evening, with a review of activities during the past nine months and a number of suggestions as to what the Association might consider as projects next year.

President Dudley Boal expressed the belief that the members of the Association had benefitted considerably from the variety of themes upon which the meetings had been based. The very popular "Meet the Teachers Night" started the season off with a meeting designed to introduce the parents to the teachers and to acquaint them with the subjects and teaching procedures to be followed during the term. Many parents believe that a meeting of this type should be repeated when school is underway once again in the fall. The Toastmasters took over the second meeting of the year with a fast-moving demonstration of a typical session of Toastmasters International. "Open House" brought out a great number of parents at the February meeting, as mothers and fathers were given the opportunity to talk with the teachers in regard to their children's progress. Mr. George Shearman's address on schools and school boards prompted a number of provocative questions and perhaps raised members' interest in teacher qualification, when he appeared as guest speaker at the March meeting.

Vice-president Ward Moncrieff was given credit for chairing the committee which had made such a financial success of the military whist party. The school library was the recipient of a cheque for $65 as a result of the planning put into this project.

Mr. Boal concluded his review by paying tribute to Principal King Amos and his staff for the excellent cooperation they had given, and expressed a special vote of thanks to Mr. J. R. Golphin and the school board, for the consideration and subsequent action they had taken with regard to the provision of a physical education instructor.

Mrs. Grant Tomalty and Mrs. William Richardson joined Mr. Boal at this point in relating the events which had taken place at the Federation Conference on May 6-7. Uppermost in the minds of many were the resolutions passed by the representatives, who spoke for some 30,000 parents. Among the recommendations passed on to government authorities were those concerning a ban on fireworks, compulsory Polio shots, provision of additional centres for the writing of supplemental examinations, improvements in the qualifications and salaries of teachers.

In line with the suggestion that the Association might be interested in studying the application of a vocational guidance program next year, Mr. M. E. Cowley presented a short discourse on why and how a simple counselling plan might be adopted.

CNIB campaign in Morin district

Morin Heights — The campaign for the Canadian National Institute for the Blind in Morin Heights district is now underway, with an objective of $500.

Mr. M. M. Sims, financial chairman for the area, announces that volunteer workers will call upon residents for their donations. As is well known, the Institute has its own office in the County of Argenteuil, and readers are therefore urged to subscribe to this their own organization. . . . Please be as generous as you possible can.

Legion Hall entered at Hwksby.

Thieves broke into the Legion Hall at Hawkesbury recently and forced their way into the bar, rifling a drawer containing $50 in small change and stealing cigarettes to a value of $46.50. The thieves gained entry through a side window during the night.

Mayor Paré opens 5th annual Art Association exhibition

The spring exhibition of the Argenteuil Art Association opened Saturday afternoon at the municipal hall in St. Andrews East, with a fair crowd of spectators.

A brief address was given by the president, Mrs. Vivian Walker, who thanked the exhibitors and all who had assisted in this event, then called upon Mayor Antoine Paré of St. Andrews to declare the exhibition officially open.

While conferring a civic blessing on the year's activities of the Association, Mayor Paré thanked the members for having elected him as honorary president. He was pleased, on behalf of the Village corporation, to extend the hospitality of its premises to exhibitions sponsored by this organization, and he commended the group for fostering the arts and crafts which, once cherished by our County's pioneers, stood in danger of being submerged in the speed of modern living.

This year's member-display at St. Andrews comprises 50-odd pictures—landscapes, portraits, still-life and floral subjects, abstracts and semi-abstracts, in various media of expression. There are one or two professional exhibitors, fewer than in previous years. Areas of the Association's membership are also well represented — Cushing and St. Andrews having fewer entries than in previous years, however, and Kilmar none.

Notable is a disinct improvement in quality from the more active districts. Morin Heights has some especially fine examples of oil-painting, with Lachute and Brownsburg also higher in quality. From the latter community came a striking panel by Claude Charron, a 4 x 8 ft. Nativity scene which had been displayed outside his home over the last festive season. Montrealers exhibiting are Mrs. Vivian Walker, Miss Freda Pemberton-Smith and Mrs. Jeanette Wales Roback. Examples of work by Mrs. Walker's pupils here — both free-lance and a few under tutorship — are among those which each year show marked advancement. The increasing quality of this show, in fact (from year to year with fewer professional contributions), is a testimonial to the Argenteuil Art Association in the fulfilment of one of its prime objectives.

The art-loving public, and even those less art-conscious, should derive pleasure from viewing this show, which remains open each afternoon until Sunday, June 5.

Solemnity, drama and fanfare Dollard Tercentenary closing

A superb week-end favored the closing of the Dollard Tercentenary celebrations at Carillon, and Sunday witnessed a large turnout of participants and spectators to enjoy the proceedings.

Sunday's program commenced with the celebration of pontifical mass by Bishop Emilien Frenette of the St. Jerome Diocese, on a rustic altar, erected near the river bank. A guard of honor was formed of fourth degree Knights of Columbus from the Curé Labelle Council, and by the Dollard des Ormeaux Corps from Valleyfield. A sermon by the Bishop was particularly fitting to the reverence of the occasion. . . . These proceedings were followed by an informal banquet at the Novitiate of the Ste. Croix monastic order.

Afternoon Rally

At a rally in the afternoon a number of prominent speakers were heard at the site of monument, erected in 1919 to the memory of Dollard and his heroic comrades. Among the speakers were Jean Laforest, radio and TV script-writer; His Excellency the Bishop; Canon Lionel Groulx; Justice Redmond Roche; David Stuart, vice-president of the Chateau de Ramesay; Richard Rioux, of Trois Rivières, president of the St. Jean Baptiste Society; André Levac, of Montreal, vice-president of the Jeunesse Canadienne; and Mgr. Olivier Maureault, also of Montreal.

Other notables on the platform included the Hon. W. M. Cottingham, Minister of Mines; J. O. Latour, M.P.; representatives of local clubs and provincial organizations; and René Therrien representing Quebec Hydro, who deposited a wreath at the base of the Dollard monument. Master of ceremonies was Chas. A. Shaffer, chairman of the organizing committee.

Evening Attractions

Hundreds of cars crowded the highway for the evening festivities. Guest artists were Mlle Germaine Dugas, 1959 recording star, and her accompanist, Denis Asselin. An impromptu program by volunteer talent delighted the large audience, and a fireworks display over the turbulent waters of the Ottawa River provided a fitting climax.

Beard contest judging held at Carillon

The beard contest — for which a number of district youths had gone unshaven for several months to impersonate Dollard and his companions in a tercentenary tableau at Carillon — came to an end with judging last Saturday evening at the Carillon Hotel.

First prize (an electric razor, also a cuff-link and tie-clip set) went to Donat Crevier. Second prize (cuff-link and tie-clip set, plus a $10 credit slip from the Riverside Hotel, St. Andrews) was awarded to Réal Gauthier. Other prizes in order of achievement went to — Raymond Roy and Claude Beaulieu. Other contestants were — Jean-Paul Roy, Thos. Weightman, Marcel Decary, Thos. Roy and Adrien Laurin.

Mr. Richard Valois presented the prizes in the absence of Mr. Chas. Shaffer, chairman of the tercentenary committee. All competitors received a souvenir lapel button.

A touch of tragic irony attended this sidelight of the celebrations, since one of the participants lost his life by misadventure, this same afternoon, in a drowning mishap at Carillon.

Big attractions lined up for Lach. Spring Fair

Five attractions, sponsored by four local service clubs and the 4-H Club, will highlight this year's Lachute Spring Fair, June 15 to 18 inclusive.

The 1960 Fair, in the 135th year of the Argenteuil Agricultural Society, will be officially inaugurated on Thursday, June 16, by Quebec Premier, the Hon. Antonio Barrette.

Mr. Barrette will fly to Lachute for the opening, scheduled for approximately 2.30 p.m. He will be welcomed at the airport by Minister of Mines, the Hon. William M. Cottingham, official National Union candidate for Argenteuil County in the June 22 provincial elections.

Service clubs which will sponsor shows are the Brownsburg-Lachute Rotary Club, the Lions Club, the Canadian Legion Branch 70, and the Richelieu Club.

The 4-H Clubs will hold special junior attractions on Saturday, June 18, the final day of the four-day fair.

On Thursday night, the Brownsburg-Lachute Rotary Club will put on tug-of-war games, and will hold "wild" cow-milking contests. The club will also have musical stalls with horses and ponies.

Famous folklore dancers, the "Feux Follets", from Montreal, will be featured on Friday, June 17, under the sponsorship of the Lions Club of Lachute. The dancers will be under the direction of Gregoire Marcil.

Saturday afternoon, June 18, the Richelieu Club will sponsor horse-racing at the Fair Grounds race track, while that night, the Canadian Legion Branch 70 will hold horse-pulling contests.

Two electrocuted at Thurso, Que.

Thurso — Two workmen were electrocuted here last week when a portable cement mixer they were moving came in contact with a live wire during construction work at the Thurso Pulp and Paper Company. Two other men, who were helping to move the machine, escaped injury.

Killed instantly were Adrian Lajeunesse, 45, of Buckingham, and Leo Provost, 46, of Plaisance.

The men, employees of Canadian Stebbins and Engineering Ltd., of Montreal, were moving the mixer along with two other men when the freak accident occurred. They turned off the motor, but the power was still coming from the main breaker.

It is believed that in turning the mixer around, too much tension was placed on the wire, causing the rubber casing to break and thereby exposing the live wire.

The two victims, who were guiding the machine, had one hand of the mixer and the other on a handle. When the wire came in contact with the metal part of the machine they grounded the current and were electrocuted.

Young resident drowned Saturday at Carillon

Gaetan Campeau, 22, of Carillon, lost his life last Saturday when he jumped from the government wharf in the centre of the village and was swept into the swift current of the Ottawa River.

Raymond Roy, another victim who plunged in for a swim, was washed in towards the riverbank, and was pulled to safety by Raymond Weightman. The incident occurred around 5.15 p.m.

Gaetan Campeau was one of the Carillon's male residents who had allowed their beards to grow, in order to play a role as one of the Dollard compatriots in a pageant depicting the historic Long Sault incident, at the tercentenary celebrations last week. He was the son of Donat Campeau and well-known in the village. The victim's body has not been recovered so far — the Ottawa River still being in swift flow and at high level.

District Wolf Cub Packs held rally at C.I.P. Forest Farm in Harrington

The Cubs of this area held their rally and field day at Harrington Forest Farm on Saturday. The weather man favored the boys with a royal day, with sunshine almost throughout.

The program got under way in good time, the tents being erected at approximately 9.30 a.m. Each pack was inspected and given points for "turn-out". The boys spent the next hour or two collecting samples of wild plant life. After lunch some clever skits were arranged, each depicting some phase of Cub activity. These were very well portrayed, and gave the judges some difficulty in appraising their merits.

Field events occupied the afternoon. Races were arranged according to age. By this time a number of parents arrived at the scene, and were impressed by the enthusiasm of the boys.

Plans for the day's outing had been well prepared by Mr. Jess Humphries, the District Cubmaster. Mr. M. Wilson the District Commissioner, presented prizes to individual winners, and a first-aid kit to the winning pack.

A round-up of the scores is as follows:

	1st B'burg	1st Gvl.	1st Lach.	Mowgli	2nd Lach.	1st Thurso

Runaway auto plows into storefront

Several persons escaped injury Friday when a parked car owned by Roland Willman, of Shawinigan South, left the centre parking area on Lachute's Main Street and rolled across the pavement into the front of the Periseau Market. Cst. Gilles Poirier, who investigated, reported the car gears had been left in "drive" instead of "park", which allowed the auto to roll down the decline, with considerable momentum. Pedestrians on the sidewalk managed to keep clear of the moving car, which smashed the store window.

A column for the sportsman

— By BOB ATCHISON —

Fishing very good — that is, if you can get by the Black Flies! They don't seem to matter too much judging from the number of fishermen out giving it a whirl. Results are very good, from all over the area. Red Trout are the most predominant just now, but the Greys aren't taking a back seat. Some excellent catches of Browns are being taken around Ste. Marguerite, and it seems they are just about ripe for the taking. Lake Louisa is still holding its own with some of the better lakes, not many Greys are being taken but the Reds are more than making up for them. The North River is right back in the running for sport. The Perch are a good size, and there is always the chance of hitting into a BIG Northern.

We seem to be very fortunate in this county in the number of Moose around. This past week, one of them was seen near one of the local lakes. The MacDonald boys of Lakefield were the lucky ones this time. I also was told of another tourist catching sight of a Lynx. This time it was seen eating a rabbit. A very rare thing to see them feeding, especially during the height of the day. For anyone taking a ramble into the bush, it sure is worth their while. Surprising just what can be seen if you only keep your eyes open and take it easy. Even the rabbits can give you a lesson in wildlife, and it sure is worthwhile.

For any of the local bird watchers, the different varieties of birds that can be seen is a treat. Around Lake Sir John a few Great Blue Herons can be seen fishing. These are intriguing to watch, standing motionless in the water waiting for some foolish minnow. There are also a number of Bitterns in evidence along the river; though not as pretty to watch, they are nevertheless a picture in patience.

I have seen a flock of Buffle Heads on the North River, and evidently they are going to stay until the fall. Mallards are numerous, and along with the Blacks, it looks like the best flights of Ducks in a good number of years. Of course, the old Sawbills or Mergansers crop up in the most unexpected places. Along one of the small footpaths near Lake Hughes one has built herself a nest and filled it with five eggs; these should be hatching in a few days.

The Robin that I have been talking about sure has her bill or feet full right now. Her young are just red flesh and feather-down, as yet, but one thing that won't get any bigger is — their mouths! It sure is funny to watch them getting fed, a cavern opens up so wide that it's even possible to see the tail fuzz! The antics of MOM in keeping her brood happy sure keep her hopping around.

This should concern all of us sportsmen. At least we are going to be blamed for it. . . . Talking to Mr. Maxwell of Mille Iles this past week. He has a couple of wonderful streams running through his farm. Naturally, I asked permission to fish them, and this was granted without any hesitation. But when he told me of the happenings in the stream — fishing was out. Garbage by the ton, and I do mean tons! It looked as though the summer visitors had come up to do the housecleaning. The nearest place to dump the junk was the streams. Man, what a mess! Anyone seeing this would wonder just how damned dirty humans can get. Even old beds were thrown into the stream, and beer bottles by the dozen, along with cans and liquor bottles. You would have to see it to believe it.

No wonder the farmers won't give permission for people to fish or hunt their lands. We don't have to go to Mille Iles, however, to see just what is being done to the countryside. It's difficult to understand how so much junk can be dumped along some of our roads. Even the new roads along towards Lakefield aren't any too clean. When are we going to learn!

This past Sunday we had a great opportunity to watch a couple of Otters on the North River. "Greased Lightning" in the water! This was a spot in the river right near Bourbonniere Camps. They had built a slide down the bank, and were raising hell! most of us have seen pictures of these wonderful animals in the water, but take it from me, the pictures don't do them justice. These two weren't any too scared of us either. This, I guess, is due to the motor boats going up and down the stream. As long as they aren't molested they will stay around. Of course the Muskrats stayed away from this particular area, even though there were all kinds of them along the river. (Maybe make some of the ladies a little jealous; coats on the hoof!)

Boats and more boats! On lakes, strange how there is so much publicity being given to safety on the water, and the way people ignore this! Even to the registration of the boat. Imagine whole families going out, and not a life-jacket among them. It could be the RCMP will be paying a visit to the waterways around us one of these days. It sure would be a good thing if they did. These cases are not with the local people, but rather among the visitors. Maybe they think they are something special and don't need to observe the laws.

Just heard of a queer story. This is on a group of private lakes (or supposedly private). A couple of the locals managed to get in for fishing. While there, they also saw a couple of others fishing — who work around this place. But get this — with Minnows! Now it could be the big boys don't know of this, or maybe they do. The point I would like to make though is — be it private or not, the law against minnow fishing is for EVERYONE, and not just the few who can't afford to fish in private waters.

Tuesday — Spotted a mother bear and cub on the highway near Lake Hughes. If you come across this vagrant couple, my advice is — leave them alone. A mother bear with young, can be most vicious!

Registration for boys' baseball

Any boy between the age of 8 and 15, interested in playing organized baseball, should register at the Legion Hall on Saturday, June 4, at 2 p.m. (Please note that, if you are 16 before August 1, 1960, you are not eligible.)

Rotary Night attractions (Thurs.) at Lachute Fair

(Contributed)

The horse and pony classes of the Musical Chairs event on the Rotary program at Lachute Fair should prove to be real fun. You'll not want to miss the thrills and spills of this event, when the riders with their "strawberry roans" display speed and agility.

The silver cup donated by the Lachute-Brownsburg Rotary Club for the winning team of the Tug-of-War is to be competed for by — Ayers Ltd., Canadian Safety Fuse J. C. Wilson Co., C-I-L, Canadian Refractories Ltd., the Farmers, the C.I.P. Co. and the Rotary Club. Although they are not completely organized as yet, each team seems to be sure of taking home the cup We heard one of the contestants bragging that, if the rest of the boys on his team would just take up the slack, he could do the pulling; but Thursday evening, June 16, will tell the tale. . . . What team will you be rooting for?

If you should see a local farmer or farmerette out in the field milking in a Coke bottle, don't think he's "gone balmy"; he's just practising for the Cow Milking Contest at the Fair! If his aim is to win, his aim will have to be good, as a Coke bottle has a rather small neck. Let's hope the flies won't be too plentiful, as the competitor is not allowed to tie his cow. Let's be there to cheer the first fellow that gets to the judge with a full bottle!

It would almost seem as though a lot of the Calgary Stampede had come east. So lock your house, there'll be plenty of fun. And it's "Heigh ho! Come to the Fair".

Lions Club night Quebec-Canadian and international

In their commitment to provide good entertainment for "Lions' Night" at Lachute Fair, the club for the past two years has endeavored to introduce a spice of the unusual with a touch of professional showmanship. Their first such venture, a spectacle of hypnotism, was repeated the following year in response to popular request.

For the annual event this month, the Lions Club feel they have another winner in their booking of a successful Montreal troupe of entertainers . . .

Described as a "new fever outmoding rock 'n roll", the interest today in folklore dancing is considerably spurred by a talented group "Les Feux Follets", which has won high acclaim in its home centre, Montreal, and elsewhere in this province. Sparked by an authority on this subject, Michel Cartier (who was invited to judge at the International Folklore Festival in Moscow), the group now numbers 35 dancers, three singers and six musicians; they are directed by Gregoire Marcil, co-worker with Cartier in the unusual venture. They perform international dances of English, Irish, Russian, Hungarian, Canadian, Israeli and Mexican origin, all in suitable costumes . . .

This is the Lions' Night feature, to be presented Friday, June 17, before the grandstand at Lachute Spring Fair. The club members are enthusiastic about this booking, and believe the public will derive top enjoyment from this choice of attractions.

The customary automobile drawing will be missed this year, due to the high cost involved. However, the Lions' Club booth will be a gay spot with other attractive prizes, and it is hoped the public will give their cordial support — as this is a big factor in the club's resources each year, for community and charity endeavor.

Big field day Saturday at B'bg

In Brownsburg, the Canadian Legion, Branch 71, is holding its annual Field Day for all school children of the town, on Saturday, June 4.

The activities will begin with a parade from both schools, followed by all-day games at the local picnic grounds, with prizes for all winners. Ice-cream, hot dogs and soft drinks will be available. Parents are cordially invited.

In case of rain the Field Day will be postponed to June 11th.

EDITORIAL NOTES...

"In this Parliament are three Estates, the Lords Spiritual, the Lords Temporal and the Commons, but in the Reporters' Gallery yonder sits a Fourth Estate more important far than all."
— Edmund Burke

Add – little-known professions

THERE ARE FEW of our readers aware that, most nights along Main Street when ordinary folks have gone to bed, a humble servitor of the taxpayers makes his rounds picking up litter and trash thrown around by people who have no interest in the appearance of this town — motorists passing through, and worse still, local people who (to use a hackneyed colloquialism) "couldn't care less".

We wonder about these people who throw wrappers, cigarette boxes, chip-potato containers and all sorts of rubbish on the street; we wonder if they carry the same slovenly practice into their homes — and we shudder to visualize the interior of those dwellings.

The rag-picker, the beach-comber — there's little chance that he will read this editorial; but when we see our Main Street, the town's show-window, spick and span on Sunday mornings, we know it is to his credit, and to the credit of the town authorities who assigned him to this menial task.

This comment suggests a wealth of interest, in the "little-known occupations of fellow townsfolk". But the subject here is one of recrimination at the human weakness that makes this particular job necessary.

On beautiful thru-ways south of the border, it is a punishable offence to discard trash out of car windows; frequent signs advise the motorist of this fact. Even in this province it is illegal, and we note a few half-apologetic signs to that effect posted along our nearby Auto Route. Here in town, while it is scarcely possible, with our limited police force, to catch even a small percentage of offenders in the act — it might be a good thing if Lachute and other towns clamped down on untidiness, through provisions of their "public nuisance" by-laws.

Sorrow stalks procrastination

NOT LONG AGO, a businessman, before leaving on a trip abroad, reviewed his Will with the thought of making some minor changes. He was startled to find what a long period of time had elapsed since the Will was signed and while originally it had been carefully planned, it was now out-dated through a number of changes in his circumstances.

In the intervening years he had incorporated his business and transferred substantial holdings in the new company to members of the family. His children, students when the Will was made, had embarked on careers which had been quite unforeseen. Other family circumstances and responsibilities had changed. If it had been necessary to carry out the terms of this Will, misunderstanding and hardships would have resulted.

This is not an isolated case. All too often, executors are required to carry out the terms of an out-dated Will. The consideration for and protection of one's family is undoubtedly the uppermost thought of every responsible individual. As the instructions to carry out these thoughts must be set out in a Will, it is imperative not only to make a Will but also to review it at regular intervals to make certain that it is kept up to date.

A few important questions that might necessitate changes being made in your Will are listed below:

Since making your Will —

1. Have you married, remarried or been divorced?

2. Have you moved from one province to another?

3. Have there been any substantial changes in your property such as acquisition or disposal of important assets?

4. Have you entered into any agreement such as a new partnership or an agreement with your employees for the operation or sale of your business?

5. Have there been deaths or marital changes among your beneficiaries or material changes in their financial position?

6. Have any of your children become indebted to you or have you made substantial gifts to any of them?

7. Have you any dependants who now require special medical attention and who are not adequately provided for under the terms of your present Will?

8. Have your liquid assets been reduced so that they would be inadequate to meet debts, estate taxes and succession duties?

Oftentimes, a busy man is more lax in this matter than in any detail of his personal affairs. Procrastination can be the cause of many heartaches.

The farmer's wife

THE CANADIAN Federation of Agriculture is dealing with a touchy subject when it tries to determine the value of a farmer's wife.

Some of the ladies in question may be pleased to learn that experts have estimated their monetary value at between $2,000 and $5,800 a year.

But others may be unhappy to discover they're not regarded as worth more than that. And many may be displeased to find that they're being assessed almost as part of the farm property.

The $2,000 estimate mentioned in the CFA statement came from Washington State University and was based on a 40-hour work week at $1 an hour as housekeeper, baby sitter, nurse and governess.

But whoever heard of a 40-hour work week for a farm wife? It certainly doesn't take into consideration the hours spent in the evenings knitting, ironing, repairing, canning and planning. And how about overtime pay when the children awaken during the night?

The higher figure of $5,800 is based on another survey which assumes a family is made up of a husband, wife and two small children. It figures $80 a week for the wife in her role as combination nurse-governess; 16 hours as part-time housekeeper at $1.50 an hour for $24 a week, plus baby-sitting at $1 an hour.

But this is based on a 48-week year, allowing four weeks for vacation . . . and that should be worth a laugh from most farmers' wives.

The Federation statement has a further comment: "Isn't it time we men wakened up to the fact that our most valuable asset is a neatly proportioned bundle of enticing humanity?"

That remark may help appease some of the ladies who feel you just can't put a price tag on hard-working companionship and maternal affection.

But it's a far cry from the poets who preferred to dwell on the beauty and charm of the fair sex and were careful not to remind the ladies of the mountains of laundry they must work their way through in the course of a year.

Still, if the government should decide to allow a farmer a $5,800 tax deduction for his wife, perhaps all would be forgiven.

Divorces in Parliament

PERSONS SEEKING divorces from Parliament will still be required to produce evidence of adultery . . . that is the effect of a Senate decision to uphold the majority ruling of its divorce committee, in refusing to hear the case of a Quebec woman who sought a decree on grounds of desertion.

Parliament hears divorce petitions only from residents of Quebec and Newfoundland, which have no divorce courts.

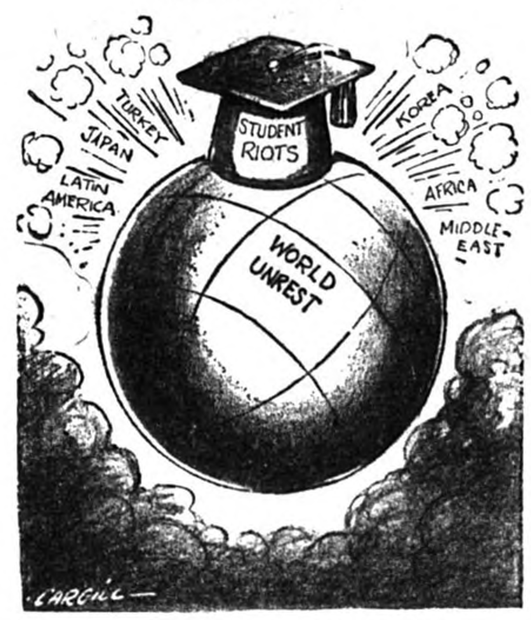

Senator John T. Haig (PC-Manitoba) suggested that the Senate urge government to introduce legislation to remove divorce from parliamentary jurisdiction altogether, and assign it to a court. Frank Howard (CCF-Skeena) took the initiative in a campaign to have Parliament devise some new way of handling divorce bills. . . . Either of these moves would be regarded by the public with general favor.

Viewpoints and perspectives

FAVORITE SEATS — It is strange indeed, if you have noticed, that invariably people who go to church prefer one side or the other; that when they go to shows, they sit on the same side as in church. . . . What this indicates we are not sure, but it does give room for thought when arranging seating for your next dinner.

THE LACHUTE WATCHMAN

75 YEARS AGO

Friday, May 29, 1885 —

We notice our bakers have been getting new bread carts, and the old ones repainted — evidently in prospect of our growing importance under incorporation as a town. Also new fences and platforms appear in front of houses on some of the leading streets.

The Rev. Richard Wilson has been appointed to the Methodist charge in Lachute.

It is significant that the first living freight carried over the continuous C.P. Railway was a body of Canadian volunteers on their way to assist in putting down the rebellion in the North West. In a few weeks an army of five thousand men has been put in the field; some of this force had been moved over three thousand miles.

Mr. Wm. McAllister of Brownsburg had his outbuildings burned down this week. The same thing happened to John Funchion, of Beech Ridge.

According to provisions of the Bill incorporating Lachute as a town, the first election of Mayor and Councillors will be held at the Court House next week. The town must be properly assessed by men who will set a true valuation.

Through bad roads and the inclemency of the weather, with high water, the vestry meeting in connection with St. John's Church, Shrewsbury, was not held until the 12th. The Rev. C. Boyd was in the chair. Messrs. S. Rathwell and John Chambers were re-elected church wardens.

50 YEARS AGO

Friday, May 27, 1910 —

The Rev. W. G. Taylor was in Stonefield this week attending the ordination of Mr. W. Manderson of the Stonefield Church.

Double marriage — Paquin (P)-St. Jacques and Paquin (A)-Legault, all of Lachute, May 24, 1910, by the Rev. Father Vaillancourt at the Roman Catholic Church.

Lachute Town Council meeting was presided over by Mayor J. E. Valois.

The steamer "Empress" made her first trip to Carillon on Saturday, May 21, and once again we hear the pleasant sound of the G.O.P. as it speeds on to Grenville with Mr. Albert Halsey as conductor.

School No. 2, Cushing, closed after a successful term under Miss M. Fitzgerald of Carillon.

Mr. George H. Perley, M.P. for Argenteuil, has been appointed "outside whip" of the Conservative Parliamentary Party.

25 YEARS AGO

Friday, May 23 1935 —

An important step was taken in the interests of the Historical Society of Argenteuil, when a public meeting in Lachute Auditorium passed a resolution to establish a museum in St. Andrews. An interesting address was given by Mrs. A. Kains, ex-president of the Women's Historical Society of Ottawa.

Sir George Perley, wearied by the exacting state duties he has fulfilled during Premier Bennett's illness, is now taking a well-earned holiday in the Gatineau Hills.

Dr. Edward Christie left on the Letitia for a month's visit to England, Scotland and Ireland.

Mrs. W. M. Cottingham was elected president of the Ladies' Branch of Lachute Golf Club, with Mrs. Edward Beaton secretary-treasurer.

Cushing — The steam tugs, "Dolphin" and "Florence", together with a fleet of blue barges, have been sold to a Three Rivers firm. These boats have been a familiar sight on the Ottawa River since the early 80's.

Sydney Drew, youngest brother of a youthful trio who have won athletic honors for Lachute, carried off the medal for highest aggregate performance at the Religious Education Council track meet in Montreal recently.

ADDITION, NOT SUBTRACTION

By C. J. Harris

A payroll tax as a source of revenue to cover the costs of old age security pensions has been ruled out by Ottawa. It is a wise decision. Some naive citizens might think that the share paid by business would come out of "profits." But in most cases business would only be the collector and the general public would pay the shot.

With a hope of improving Canada's old age security program the federal government, two years ago, commissioned a study of the U.S. pension scheme. After a full year of consideration of the report, Welfare Minister Monteith has advised that, in changing our system, caution is the best course. In the United States, he noted, every firm pays a tax of three per cent on its payroll and each employee equals that contribution; this six per cent combined contribution is to be increased to nine per cent in 1969. An American worker may elect to retire at any age starting at 65 and, depending on payments into the fund, may collect from $33 to $127 a month. There are also payments to widows and surviving children if an insured wage earner dies before retirement age.

While the Canadian plan of the same payment to all—$55 a month to about 875,000 persons — gives more to the lower income worker, the American pension plan is the more extensive. But as Minister Monteith noted, per capita production and income in Canada are 30 per cent less than in the United States. To equal U.S. payments, Canadians would have to pay a great deal more than Americans into a pension fund. Also, there is the question of whether Canada in the national sense, or Canadians in the individual sense, would benefit from retirement at age 65.

In his speech to the House, the Minister indirectly admitted that a tax on payrolls to provide a pension fund would have to be reflected in living costs. "For example," he said, "retail stores and construction companies where labor costs are high would be affected much more by payroll taxes than pulp and paper companies or distilleries where labor costs constitute a much smaller item in the production budget." No grocer or home builder—or manufacturer, or banker, or labor union, for that matter—simply absorbs tax costs. It is not a question of taking something out of profits. It is a matter of putting something onto prices. Whether it is a new tax for an old age pension fund, a municipal property tax, a corporation income tax — inevitably it is paid by the customers who buy the goods or services.

Can't sleep, and it's a long night. Bedclothes are in knots and wrinkles. Nobody else awake. Disentangle yourself and try to pad downstairs for some aspirin without rousing anyone.

When you return, there are hostile grunts from the next pillow, complaining of your noise. And you stay awake until light filters through the cedar tree.

That's insomnia, the fancy word that means you can't sleep. I suffer from it all the time, and so do millions of other people in the world.

You hear as many cures for insomnia as for hiccups or the common cold. Needless to say, none of them works. At least, none of them works for me.

But the cures are entertaining. I heard one the other day that caught my imagination. It came from George, a veteran small-boat seaman and old soldier who moved to Canada long ago from New Zealand.

George was in the office talking about old times. The topic of sleeplessness came up.

"When I can't sleep, I turn on a picture in my mind of the road I used to live on, when I was a boy in New Zealand.

"This is a road about 25 miles long, a country road, and I can see every house and every tree, and every bend in the old road until I fall asleep. Usually I get half a mile down the road and I'm gone.

"Next night I take up the road again where I left off, and follow it further . . . "

"You're lucky to have such a precise visual memory," I said.

"I thought everybody had," George said.

"Do you see people too? The way they used to be?"

"Yes. This old man who goes to the garden and brings flowers and vegetables for me to take home. He's there . . . and other times I'll be on the trail to round up the sheep."

"In New Zealand?"

"Yes. And the song birds. . . . The flowering bushes. I can see and hear them . . . and smell them. Another time I'll be on the railway, or a trip on my own boat. I see the journey, every foot of the way, and I'm soon asleep.

"But I never go into cities," George added. "That's where the worries are."

COST OF DEFENCE

(Windsor Star)

Enduring peace would not only be wonderful but it could mean more money in the pocket of the hard-pressed tax-payer.

The budget shows that the personal income tax makes up 30 cents of every dollar received by the Federal Government.

FLOODING THE OTTAWA RIVER

By Ethel Kettyle

We can hear the clank of great machines
As they work down near the shore,
And I know that all the sights we loved,
Through time will be there no more.

We will miss the freshness of morning,
We will miss the rosy sheen
Of the mist rising from the river
When the whole world seemed agleam.

We will miss the shadows on water
And the misty dashing spray;
The gulls flying over the river,
As the old boat sailed away.

We will miss the daisy and cowslip
Out there near the rocky shore;
The yellow flowers around the stones
That grew there in days of yore.

We will miss all the squirrels that chattered,
Storing their food in the trees;
The wren that lived in the old fence-post,
And the lazy drone of bees.

The cottages all along the banks,
That nestled among the trees
Will be covered over with water,
And cold will have turned the breeze.

DISTRICT NEWS FROM OUR COUNTY CORRESPONDENTS

Brownsburg

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Prosser returned home from Toronto last week, after visiting with relatives there for some time.

83rd Birthday

Congratulations to Mrs. Walter Townsend, who celebrated her 83rd birthday on May 29, when she received numerous messages and good wishes. Among the many who visited her were Mr. and Mrs. J. Demers, of Ottawa, and Mr. and Mrs. John Hawkins, of Calumet.

Mr. and Mrs. Omer Legault spent the week-end in Montreal, bidding "Au revoir" to their daughter, Miss Carmen Legault, who left Saturday by T.C.A. for a tour in Europe.

Miss Jane Chambers and Miss Carol Damant spent Saturday in Montreal.

Cemetery Corporation

All interested parties are invited to attend a meeting of the Dalesville Protestant Cemetery Corporation, to be held in the Dalesville Baptist Church hall on Tuesday, June 7, at 8 p.m.; officers for the coming year will be elected.

Mrs. G. Todd and Mrs. Bertha Enlow were representatives from the Brownsburg W.I. who attended the Leadership Training Course at Macdonald College last week.

Mrs. F. Barker, Mrs. Wesley Mason and Mrs. C. E. Prosser spent Thursday last in Montreal.

Brownsburg Resident Died Recently

The funeral of the late Mrs. Oliver Wilson took place on Saturday, May 21, from the MacKimmie Funeral home. Her pastor, the Rev. Garfield Bruce, officiated at the funeral.

Mrs. Wilson was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Laflamme of Papineauville, Que. She is survived by her husband, one sister and four brothers.

Interment was in the Papineauville cemetery.

Catholic Women's League

On May 16 the Catholic Women's League, St. Louis de France Parish Council, held their regular meeting, with Mrs. Utah Robillard presiding. Reports were read by the respective conveners, and plans were made for a rummage sale to be held in the Brownsburg Social Club on June 3 at 1.30 p.m. . . . Refreshments were served by Mrs. Laura Hall's group.

Births, Marriages, Deaths, etc.

BIRTH

JOHNSON — LAC J. E. Johnson, 2(F) Wing, France, and Mrs. J. E. Johnson (née Marie Zimmer, Brownsburg) announce the birth of a daughter on May 15, 1960 — Tracy Marie.

DEATH

CONEY — Suddenly at Cushing, Que., on May 29, James Coney in his 52nd year, beloved husband of Eva Ivy Dunmore and father of Raymond.

IN MEMORIAM

CLARK — In loving memory of James Clark, who passed away June 5, 1950. — Sadly missed by wife and family.

"Resting where no shadows fall,
In perfect peace, Dad waits us all,
God will link the broken chain
As one by one we meet again."

GATES — In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Arthur, who passed away June 6, 1955. — Ever remembered by his wife and family.

JANES — Treasured and beautiful memories of our darling daughter and sister, Rita, who died suddenly May 29, 1959. — Always remembered and sadly missed by Mom, Dad and Vivian.

"Time speeds on, one year has passed
Since death its gloom, its shadow cast
Within our home where all seemed bright,
And took from us its shining light.
We miss that light and ever will,
Her vacant place we can never fill.
Always so thoughtful, loving and kind—
What beautiful memories she left behind.
But some day, somewhere, we know not when,
We'll meet her, never to part again."

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

CONLEY — Mrs. Charles Conley and family wish to express their sincere thanks to the many relatives, friends and neighbors for acts of kindness, messages of sympathy and beautiful floral offerings received in their recent sad bereavement.

WILSON — Mr. Oliver Wilson and the Laflamme family wish to express their sincere thanks for the sympathy shown to them by friends and neighbors, for cards and flowers and many kindnesses, at the time of their sad bereavement.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Gray visited with Mr. and Mrs. E. Gray, at Gray Valley, last week-end.

The Hon. William Cottingham will address a meeting in the Arundel School auditorium on Friday evening, June 4, at 8 p.m.

Local resident dies suddenly

The late Charles Conley

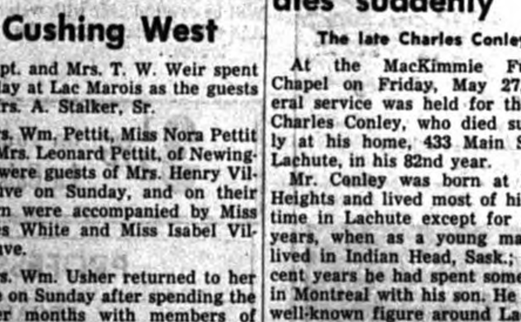

At the MacKimmie Funeral Chapel on Friday, May 27, funeral service was held for the late Charles Conley, who died suddenly at his home, 433 Main Street, Lachute, in his 82nd year.

Mr. Conley was born at Morin Heights and lived most of his lifetime in Lachute except for a few years, when as a young man he lived in Indian Head, Sask.; in recent years he had spent some time in Montreal with his son. He was a well-known figure around Lachute, having been a rural mail carrier in this district for a number of years.

Besides his wife (the former Elizabeth Lyster) he is survived by one son, Lyster, two grandchildren and one brother, George, all of Montreal.

The service was conducted by the Rev. Wilson Bridge, with burial at Montreal Memorial Park. Pall-bearers were — Messrs. Gordon Conley, Murray Lyster, Walter Lyster, Gilbert Kirkpatrick, nephews of the deceased, and two former neighbors, Messrs. Willis Hodge and Lawrence Silverson.

Service Badge to Red Cross B'burg worker

Brownsburg — On May 25 at a gathering of Le Cercle des Fermières and Red Cross members, Mrs. Omer Legault was presented with the Red Cross Badge of Service by the Rev. L. Clement, the accompanying certificate by Mrs. M. Reid, and a corsage by Mrs. F. Barker.

The speakers were Mrs. N. E. Smillie, president, Mrs. R. Dubois, vice-president, and the Rev. L. Clement. The president gave an eloquent talk on the merits of such an honor, explaining how Mrs. Legault had worked patiently and tirelessly over a long period of years in charge of the Loan Cupboard, from which many residents have benefitted.

Mrs. E. Hebert, with the committee of Le Cercle des Fermières, served a delicious lunch.

Mrs. R. Raymond distributed material to members who volunteered to sew or knit, which work should be completed by June 10.

Graduation dance a gala affair at Arundel

(Our District Correspondent)

Arundel — The graduation dance of the Class '59-'60 took place in the Arundel School on Friday evening, May 20.

The auditorium presented a colorful setting for the festivities, with festoons of green and gold covering the ceiling and draping the walls. A white picket fence surrounded the dancing space, in the middle of which was a cleverly formed fountain, surrounded by a bank of flowers and plants and softly lit by hanging lanterns.

Chairs and tables were placed around the outside of the fences, which were occupied by the invited guests. The stage was decorated with a backdrop of aluminum foil and the ceiling and walls followed the pattern of the main hall. This was all illuminated by concealed lighting, giving a decorative background to the orchestra on the stage. The stairs leading down from the stage were in turn banked by masses of flowers and plants, and illuminated with concealed lights. The general effect of the whole decorating scheme was springlike and entrancing — and the staff are to be congratulated on the hard work they accomplished to give such successful results.

At nine o'clock, piped in by a pipe and drum band, the Grand March was led by Majorettes Joan Bates and Mary Bell Swail. Following these came the usherettes, and immediately behind them the members of the graduating class. The school staff, led by Principal Graham and Mrs. Graham, followed and all joined in an interesting routine which ended in the forming of the letter "A" — then all stood at attention while the national anthem was played, the drill then breaking up into a general dance.

Just before the supper dance, Principal Graham welcomed the assembled guests and then called on Mr. Leslie Cooke, who conveyed the good wishes and congratulations of the Board to the graduates.

The Hon. Wm. Cottingham was then introduced to the assembly, after which Principal Graham presented the graduates individually to Mr. Cottingham, who then spoke a few words of congratulation and good counsel — which was ably answered by Miss Helen Batty.

Supper was then served, after which dancing was resumed till the close of the evening.

The graduates were as follows — Miss Mary Boyd, wearing a white sheer dress, with embroidered bodice and matching accessories, Miss Helen Batty wearing a dress of beige silk, with matching accessories, and Miss Vera Gray, in a floor-length dress of aqua net and tulle with strapless bodice, and chiffon velvet bolero with matching accessories . . . The boys were — Lindsay Laughren, Jacques Girouard and Hugh Williams.

The pipe and drum band was under the leadership of Mr. Gilbert Young, of Harrington, and the orchestra was in the charge of Mr. Gordon Anderson, of Brownsburg.

The usherettes were Patsy Courte, Donna Colquhoun, Earline Gray and Marilyn Godin; the ushers, Bobbie Dobbie, David Graham, Wayne McMillan and Donald McMahon; doorman, Gerald Miller. Invited guests were the Hon. Wm. Cottingham, Mr. and Mrs. Salm, Mr. and Mrs. Reipert, Mr. and Mrs. M. Wilson, Mayor Wm. Morrison and Council, Dr. and Mrs. Henry, the Rev. and Mrs. Bussell, and Mr. and Mrs. Greenough, and Mrs. Gibbons, president of the Women's Institute.

Principal Graham read an announcement from the Wheeler Air Line, which is arranging a complimentary flight over the Arundel Tree Farm project and Laurentian district, as a compliment to the splendid work accomplished by the student body in the past year.

Social and Personal

Mr. and Mrs. Lundy Pearson and their three sons left Saturday to take up residence at Brampton, Ont. Mr. and Mrs. Pearson will be missed for their contribution to church youth and choral activities in the community. Many friends wish them well in their new surroundings.

Two More Winners of McGill Degrees

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Neil, of Dunany, attended the McGill convocation last Monday, when their younger son, Ronald, received the degree of Bachelor of Engineering (Mech) . . . It is regretted that, in the district graduates reported last week, the name of Ronald Neill was overlooked.

Another district student in the McGill listing was David James Foreman, of Calumet, who successfully qualified for the degree of B.Sc. (Agri.)

The Rev. and Mrs. C. R. Lang and family motored last Friday to Shawville — the Rev. Mr. Lang to officiate at the wedding of his niece on Saturday, and Miss Iris Lang (recent graduate of the RVH) to act as bridesmaid for her cousin. . . . Anglican preacher here last Sunday in the absence of the Rev. Mr. Lang was Mr. Allan Cameron.

LAC George and Mrs. Barker, of Aylmer, Que., and daughter, Christine, spent their holidays with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Barker. Sgt. R. Parkes, of Uplands, and Miss Ellice Myrtagh, of Ste. Rose, were also guests of Mr. and Mrs. Barker.

Among those from Lachute who attended the McGill convocation held last Monday in the Forum, Montreal, were Mr. and Mrs. Willard M. Steeves; Mrs. E. K. Wilson; Mrs. Olive Riddell and son, Peter, with Mr. Basil Riddell, of Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Angus Taylor, accompanied by Mr. Chas. Taylor and Mrs. McLellan, of Pembroke, Ont.

On War Correspondents' Trip

Mr. Les Powell, of Ste. Adele (a former columnist for this newspaper), left last Friday on the TCA pre-inaugural jet flight from Montreal to London for a re-union of the Canadian War Correspondents Association in England . . . Concerning this flight, a TCA bulletin states: "Live entertainment is being provided aboard the plane — four young barbershop singers from London, Ont., to entertain the group of over 80 former war correspondents on the six-hour flight". Prince Philip was guest speaker at a dinner on Monday, and the "Nighthawks" quartet also sang on this occasion.

Also in England is Les Powell's brother, Mr. George Powell, of Ste. Adele (one-time Lachute High School reporter for The Watchman), who recently joined his wife on a vacation overseas.

Friends of Mrs. Irene Oswald will be glad to know that she has returned home, after being in the Ross Pavilion last week.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Roberson and daughter, Joanne, of Randolph, Mass., were week-end guests of Mrs. Roberson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Langille.

Miss Ann C. Covey, of Sherbrooke, was the recent week-end guest of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Evans and Brian L. Gray.

Mrs. McLellan, of Pembroke, spent the week-end here as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Angus Taylor.

WILLIAM M. COTTINGHAM

Minister of Mines

Voters in Argenteuil County had already shown their deep trust in Bill Cottingham by having chosen him on two consecutive occasions as their spokesman in the Legislative Assembly when his appointment came as Minister of Mines in 1954.

And from that time on, the man who had achieved so much for his county, could do even more because of this new post of authority. At the same time, his exceptional administrative qualities would serve not only the County of Argenteuil but the entire Province.

The government's confidence in him was as fully justified as that of his electors: in six years, the annual value of Quebec mineral production was increased by more than 200 million dollars; our mining empire was expanding to the far reaches of Ungava; the province was developing into the greatest producer of iron ore in Canada and one of the major producers of the world, while thousands of new jobs were being created through the impetus of our mining industry.

Argenteuil and the Province of Quebec can be justly proud of Bill Cottingham, Minister of Mines.

— Jehovah's Witnesses —

Your Will be done on Earth — WHOSE Will?

Humankind is swiftly moving toward a New World. Soon the great troubles that have disturbed this world since the year 1914 will reach Armageddon climax. This old world will not be able to endure that overwhelming trouble, the like of which man has never before gone through since the beginning of human existence. The worst ever; yet it will be the last world trouble, and the thankful survivors of it will enter into a new world that gives promise of wonderful things.

This Beautiful Earth, in God's Purpose

Our kind, loving Creator of the heavens and the earth, whose name alone is Jehovah (Psalms 83:18) . . . In His book, the Bible, He says "The heaven is My throne, and the earth My footstool: I will make the place of My feet Glorious. (Isaiah 66:1, 60:13.)

Literal Earth to Abide and be Inhabited Forever

Gen. 1:1: "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth".

Isa. 45:18: "For thus saith the Lord that created the heaven; God himself that formed the earth and made it; he hath established it, he created it not in vain, he formed it to be inhabited".

Eccl. 1:4: "One generation passeth away, and another generation cometh: but the earth abideth for ever".

Ps. 37:11, 29; Matt. 5:5: "The meek shall inherit the earth; and shall delight themselves in the abundance of peace. The righteous shall inherit the land, and dwell therein for ever".

Ps. 78:69: "He built his sanctuary like high palaces, like the earth which he hath established for ever".

Ps. 115:16: "The heavens, even the heavens, are the Lord's: but the earth hath he given to the children of men".

Ps. 119:90: "Thou hast established the earth, and it abideth".

Prov. 2:21, 22: "The upright shall dwell in the land, and the perfect shall remain in it. But the wicked shall be cut off from the earth, and the transgressors shall be rooted out of it".

Prov. 10: 30: "The righteous shall never be removed" . . . See also: Ps. 104: 5; Isa. 60: 21.

The Search for Peace

Peace is as sure as Tomorrow's sunrise, and just as independent of man. Unto us a son is born, unto us a son is given, and the government shall be upon His shoulders. Of His government and peace there shall be no end. Isaiah 9-67. Daniel 2-44.

C.W.L. Convention, Rosemere, June 11

The fifth annual Diocesan Convention of the Catholic Women's League of Canada, St. Jerome Diocese, will be held June 11 at Rosemere, Que. The theme of this year's convention is "The Christian Family Apostolate".

The convention will open with mass at St. Francis Cabrini Church, Rosemere, at nine o'clock. Celebrant will be the Rev. Father Grenier, Diocesan Director of the C.W.L.

Following the mass a breakfast will be served in St. Patrick's School, Rosemere, with the Rosemere Council of the C.W.L. as hostesses. After the reading of the reports and the election of new officers, discussion leaders from each parish council will develop the theme of the convention.

The convention luncheon will be held at Thorncliffe House, at 1 p.m. Special guests will include Monsignor Decary, Rector of Ste. Therese Seminary, and Mrs. H. G. Torrance, Provincial President of the C.W.L. The Rev. Russell Breen, chaplain of the Newman Club, McGill University, will be principal speaker at the luncheon.

A Weekly Feature of Helpful Hints on Child Training.

Learning about money

— By NANCY CLEAVER —

Visitors sometimes give a little child a dime or a quarter. A youngster may regard these coins the same as other playthings. He soon learns that he must not lose them and that mother and daddy place money in a special class.

A small boy who has been allowed to play with keys and other small trinkets in his mother's purse, opens it, from curiosity, and takes out the money from her purse. As he is busy spreading it on the floor he is surprised to find how cross mother is that he has touched her money!

A child may dream of finding a large sum of money, even adults indulge in this improbable fantasy. But there are many things about money which parents want their children to learn during their childhood. Boys and girls seem to be constantly wanting a dime or a quarter to buy this or that. Parents are forced to make decisions about their children and money.

As soon as a child is old enough to go into stores with his mother, he observes her opening her purse and parting with money in exchange for desirable objects. She explains to him that he must not lift a toy car off the counter and go off with it until "Mommy has given the clerk the money for it."

What are some practical suggestions which parents can try out in teaching their child the value and wise use of money? A child can only learn to use money well by experience, just as he learns to write only by writing, or play the piano by practicing on it. Around the time he is old enough to count, to keep track of coppers and nickels and dimes, he should be given a regular weekly allowance.

The amount depends on the father's income, the child's age, experience, the average amount his chums have to spend in a week. The little child should not be forced to "keep accounts." If this appeals to him, well and good, but there is little value in forcing him to write down his expenditures.

The essence of an allowance is that it is the child's own money, to be spent as he wishes — not to be taken away as a punishment and he should not be pressed to put part of it aside in order to save! A small child has little interest in long term saving. But gradually he learns to forego today's pleasure in a 10-cent balloon in order to buy a 39-cent toy motor boat tomorrow!

It is not easy to make provision for younger public school children to earn money at home. There is always the problem that if a boy is paid for carrying out ashes or shovelling a walk or mowing a lawn or a girl is given money for dusting, or washing dishes or making beds, the son or daughter in the house will come to think that they need never help with the work of the house unless they are paid. A child should have certain regular tasks as a member of the house in order to help Mummy or Daddy and other special jobs which he can do or not as he likes, for a certain sum of money.

Learning to use money is a long, slow process. It is something some adults never learn. A child must be allowed to make his own mistakes, to find out for himself the things money can buy — and also be taught the values in life which money cannot buy!

Beware 'bargains' in maple syrup

Ottawa — Persons buying maple syrup anywhere, and particularly from house-to-house peddlers, should be wary of unlabelled or mislabelled products, and of bargain prices — warns F. R. Armstrong, fruit and vegetables division, Canada Department of Agriculture.

Maple Syrup, he says, is required by law to carry on the label the words "Maple Syrup", the packer's name, the packer's address, and the net weight of the contents of the container.

In the average neighborhood store all maple products will probably be found to be properly labelled, but housewives buying from strangers will be well advised to watch the labelling carefully and above all, to make sure of the identity of the vendor. His driver's permit and his car license constitute excellent and ready means of identification, and if his business is legitimate, then he will understand and appreciate being asked to produce them. If, for any reason he fails to do so, the housewife should look elsewhere for her maple products.

Inquiry at any local food store will indicate that good maple syrup and maple sugar are high-priced food items. The housewife will do well to remember this fact when considering offerings at bargain prices. Much imitation maple syrup is sold each spring under the guise of pure maple syrup and a little care on the part of consumers will do a great deal to discourage this fraudulent practice.

Summing up, Mr. Armstrong says: know your supplier or at least insist on identification; look at the label to see what you are buying; look warily at bargain prices.

New carrots for freezing

How do you freeze carrots? It isn't hard, say the Home Economists of the Consumer Section at Ottawa, who have been putting young carrots to the test over the past year. They have tested sliced carrots, diced carrots, whole carrots and carrots cut into fingers. All forms were passed by the taste panel and given equally high scores. The Home Economists do not recommend freezing mature carrots as these require too long a blanching time resulting in loss of flavor and nutrients. Also mature carrots can be held in cold storage rather than frozen storage which could be used to better advantage for other foods.

Select only young carrots for freezing. Wash and pare very thinly with a sharp vegetable peeler. Cut carrots lengthwise into 4 fingers, or dice into ½-inch pieces, or cut into ¼-inch slices.

To blanch, use two kettles of vigorously boiling water. Place carrots in a colander and immerse into first kettle for 30 seconds. Immediately transfer to second kettle. Start counting time of blanching when water in second kettle returns to a boil after vegetable is added. Blanch for 3 minutes. About one pound of carrots is enough to blanch at one time.

Chill carrots immediately after blanching by placing under cold running water or plunging in ice water. As soon as vegetable is cooled, drain thoroughly.

Pack vegetables into freezer cartons or freezer bags and freeze at 0° for as long as a year if desired.

To freeze young whole carrots, select ones not more than ¾-inch in diameter at the top. Wash well. Blanch as above for 4 minutes. Plunge into cold water and slip off the skins. Pack, freeze and store as above.

Directions for freezing asparagus and other summer vegetables are given in Publication 892, "Freezing Foods". Write to Information Division, Canada Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, for your free copy. No stamp required.

Earth Colors

The current collection of summer dresses appear in gay "earth" colors. Shades of brown, green and gold are seen in everything from bikinis to town costumes, says the Canadian Fabrics Foundation of Montreal.

Patio dresses in white cotton pique are big news in the fashion world. Often they are sashed with gingham. Checks are used in multi-layered skirts and in apron effects.

Stripes are often used to outline the shape of the neckline and border of a white garment.

Bathing suits are in casual paisley cotton prints and in beautiful nylon-acetate lace.

Pleats and fringes are predominant for dresses and the sleeveless dress is noted in nearly every collection.

Divided skirts are being shown in sports wear in simple designs or in elegant ankle-length versions for evening wear.

The daytime silhouette is relaxed with straight jackets and plenty of pleated skirts.

The emphasis is romantic for evening wear with marked waistlines, curved decolletes and full skirts.

Cucumber Spread

Want a new accompaniment for tomato soup? Here's one using cucumbers.

Ingredients for the spread are: 2 cucumbers, peeled, seeded and chopped; 1 tsp. salt; ½ cup chopped chives; pepper to taste; and sour cream to bind.

Sprinkle salt on cucumber and let stand one hour. Drain. Add chives and pepper. Bind with sour cream. Serve with crackers or rye bread as an accompaniment to tomato soup.

With the remainder of the sour cream, you may make a sour cream dip, delicious with finger-foods such as carrot sticks, green onions and radishes.

Mix 2 cups sour cream; 1 cup raw spinach, chopped fine; ½ cup each chives, parsley, both chopped fine; 1 tsp. salt; and ½ tsp. pepper.

EFFICIENT FEEDING AND LIVESTOCK MANAGEMENT

By Dr. Gustav Bohstedt
Emeritus Professor of Animal Husbandry
University of Wisconsin

Salt Vital In Milk Production

Some months ago I listed the striking behavior of cows that had been deprived of salt in the pioneer salt requirement test by Dr. S. M. Babcock soon after the turn of the century. Even though the test cows were more or less average producers they reacted drastically to a salt deficiency in their rations.

Dr. Bohstedt

Now, nearly fifty years later, S. E. Smith and associates at Cornell University have conducted a similar salt-withholding test but with distinctly above-average cows. We might expect these cows, capable of producing 14,000 pounds of milk annually, to show even more severe symptoms of salt deficiency than the "average" cows tested by Doctor Babcock.

Let us read what the experimenters themselves have to say: "These cows fed no supplemental salt quickly showed a craving for salt. Within two weeks they made marked efforts to get salt when teased with block salt. They progressed to the point of depraved appetites in which urine, feces, dirt and other abnormal objects were licked or consumed, apparently in an attempt to get needed salt. About the eighth month serious symptoms developed. At this time appetites began to fail along with a precipitous decline in body weight as well as milk production.

"Cow 90 became so deficient that she was unable to stand, had a body temperature of 96° F., marked abnormality of heart beat and a complete appetite failure for both feed and water. The attending veterinarian gave the opinion that death was probable in a few hours. A quarter-pound of salt was presented to the cow and she consumed this avidly at about 4 p.m. At 5 a.m. she was up, looked bright, consumed feed and water and went on to an uncomplicated recovery."

This surely is abundant proof that salt is doubly necessary for animals that are bred for, and capable of, high performance. Such animals should have one per cent salt in their grain ration along with free-choice salt available at all times.

Question: Are cattle on spring pasture more apt to suffer from "grass staggers" than later on, and can anything be done to prevent it or cure it?

Answer: "Grass staggers," also called "grass tetany" and "wheat poisoning," depending on the nature of the pasture, occurs in many parts of the country, or the world for that matter. It suggests an imbalance of minerals in much of the lush green pasture, especially in reference to an excess of calcium, which causes available magnesium to be less well assimilated. A drench of magnesium sulfate (Epsom Salts) is usually a successful treatment. It should be noted that cows on such succulent pasture crave more salt than they do later on. It is wise to humor them in this respect and to be sure they have free access to salt at all times.

Consumer views on milk retailing

Montreal — "Any regulatory body paid for from general taxation such as the Quebec Dairy Industry Commission, should have the obligation to consider consumer interests. We are not satisfied that this is so under the present system" was the view expressed here recently by the Canadian Association of Consumers before the Quebec Agricultural Marketing Board.

In a brief presented to the board, the Association pointed out that "over the years, there have been far-reaching changes in the handling, processing, packaging, pricing, selling and distribution of milk in other provinces, and it seems to us the time has come to modernize dairy regulations in this province as well. Any regulatory body should encourage, not prohibit, modern methods of distribution with the consequent economies which can be passed on to the consumer, who will thus be induced to use more milk.

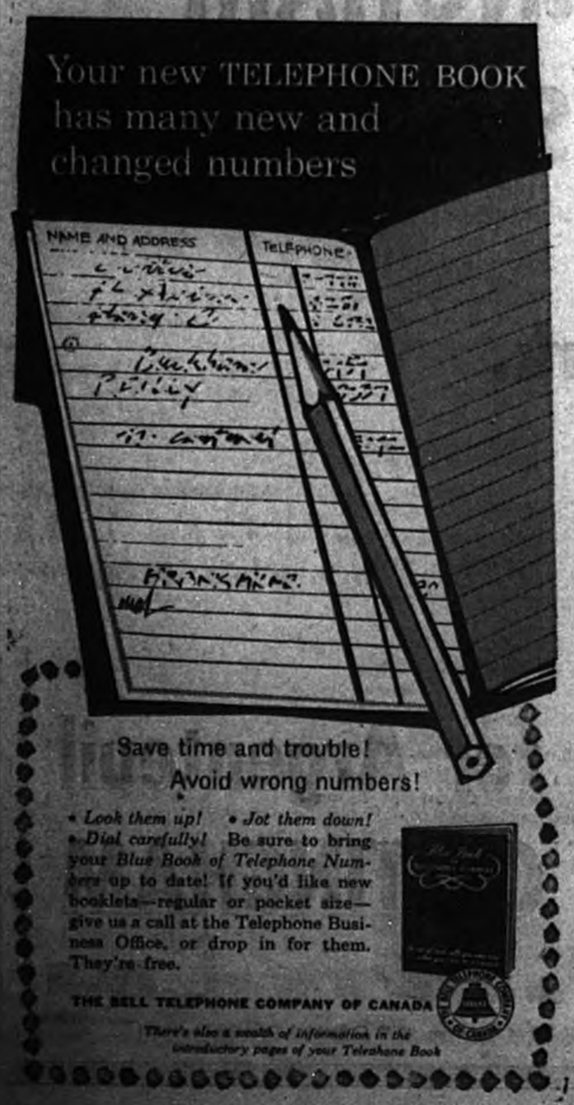

"If it were not for the restrictive orders laid down by the Quebec Dairy Industry Commission, the Quebec consumer could, for instance, obtain such benefits as in Ontario, where cash and carry prices of three-quart jugs save the consumer from three to five cents a quart, and where a two-quart paper carton of milk sells in stores at 2¼ cents a quart below the home delivery price.

"Dairies should be allowed to use light-weight, cardboard containers without a mandatory additional retail charge. In fact, we urge recognition of the principle that economies achieved by new methods of bottling, packaging and distribution should not only be allowed but encouraged in the best interests of all parties."

The Local Farm Scene

Used airline for fertilizing

Chatham, Ont. (CP)— Dover township farmer Leo Couture hopes that, as the old proverb says, "plenty" rained from the skies. He won't know for sure until harvest time.

The 383 acres he planted in wheat this year was the target for the first aerial fertilization ever attempted in Kent County.

A light plane owned by a St. Thomas firm, piloted by Stewart Duncan, dumped 17 tons of liquid fertilizer in 26 trips over the Couture farm.

Tom Henry, manager of a Tilbury fertilizer company who shared cost of the experiment with Mr. Couture, said his firm was pleased with the results. No more fertilizer was used by air than would have been used from a tank wagon.

Overcomes Delay

Prime purpose of the experiment was to find a method to overcome delays caused by wet soil in late spring when it is impossible to get a heavy tractor on a field with fertilizing equipment.

Such a problem faced most Kent County farmers this year.

The plane made three passes over a mile-long field during each trip, dumping a total of 1,400 pounds. It returned to the Warnock airstrip near Tilbury after each deposit to reload from a waiting tank truck. The 14-mile round-trip and re-loading took between 10 and 12 minutes.

At times the plane flew no higher than five feet above the ground as pumps in its fuelage pushed a steady "fog" of ammonium nitrate over the soil.

Mr. Couture said the wheat crop, about four inches high and promising to be one of the best he's ever had, would have been damaged by use of a tractor. Officials said approximate cost of the project, including fertilizer and plane, was $2,000.

Bank review of farm prices

Montreal — Developments outside Canada may affect farm production and prices here, more in the future than has been the case recently — according to the Bank of Montreal's Business Review for May.

The review draws attention to the recent decline in beef prices as both Canadian and U.S. herds have increased in size. It also points to the fact that pork prices have been lower since the introduction of deficiency payments, noting that U.S. hogs now enter Canada for the first time since 1952.

So far as wheat is concerned, it is essential to consider sales prospects in a world perspective, the review says, especially in the light of postwar gains in the U.S. share of the world market.

Total wheat exports for the current crop year are expected to approach the previous year's level of almost 300 million bushels, the B of M says. This would mean that combined export and domestic requirements would exceed the estimated total crop, so that a further reduction in the "carryover" could be achieved.

Livestock Adjustments

In contrast to wheat farmers, who are interested in world-wide supply and demand, Canadian livestock producers are concerned almost exclusively with the Canadian and U.S. markets, the review adds.

As it is, U.S. herds are increasing steadily and as a result there may be a further drop in Canadian cattle exports south of the border.

In hog production, the review notes that the embargo against importation of American animals imposed in 1952 has now been lifted. As a result, it can be expected that U.S. pork prices will influence Canadian prices.

Even so, the outstanding single factor for Canadian hog producers today is the new deficiency-payment system, the B of M believes. Now four months old, the plan has been at least partly responsible for hog marketings falling from the highest-ever figure of 262,000 in the week immediately prior to the start of the plan to the subsequent average of only 148,000 weekly.

But, continues the review, "domestic consumption of pork in 1959 was at a very high level, nearly 20 per cent above 1958, no doubt as a result of relatively low prices. With prices still lower in 1960 to date, domestic consumption has been maintained at close to last year's level."

Adequate Milk

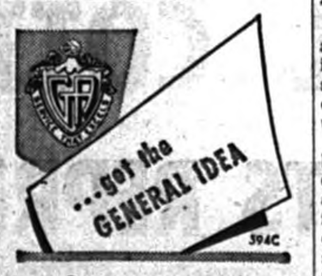

In dairy farming, the bank says a broad measure of price support is accorded to the industry "to ensure income stability to milk producers and an adequate and continuous supply of milk.

"In addition, price supports have been used to influence the pattern of milk utilization in order to effect a balance between output of different dairy products," and recent changes in the structure of price supports have partially achieved this objective, the B of M review adds.

Attractions at Ormstown Ex. June 8-11

Special attractions for the 1960 Ormstown Exhibition will be highlighted by Labatt's Aberdeen Angus Calf Scramble.

On Wednesday evening, June 8, the students of Ormstown High School will again present the opening feature of the exhibition.

In the Calf Scramble Thursday evening, 20 boys from the counties of Chateauguay, Huntingdon, Beauharnois, Vaudreuil and Soulanges will endeavor to halter 10 Aberdeen Angus calves and lead them over a finish line.

On Friday evening, 4H Clubs of the district will feature a display of floats after the Cattle Parade, and will be followed by the 4H Club calves.

The special attraction Saturday evening will be a Square Dance Contest. This will be followed by a public dance in the Industrial Building.

An interesting feature of this year's Exhibition will be a free Puppet Show presented by Shell Oil Company Limited.

With the compliments of Molson's Brewery, three "Canadiens" hockey stars, Jacques Plante, Boom-Boom Geoffrion and Marcel Pronovost will visit the Exhibition on three different days.

Tips on Touring

By Carol Lane
Women's Travel Authority

Vacationing women who find themselves in charge of a fishing trip with their husbands and children can improve their chances for fun — and fish — if they take a few tips from experts.

When you and the family hop in the car to buzz off to a fishing spot, remember:

Fish bite best when they can see best. This means they feed more when the waters are clear, not muddy. The moon seems to affect the fish's appetite, too. In fact, some seasoned fisherman have a saying: "Fish bite best when the moon is bright, and this to true both day and night."

A good off-shore breeze is another lucky omen. The ripple on the water hides the fisherman from the fish. Rough water, however, will hide the bait from the fish.

Many anglers consult a barometer before taking off for the day. They stay in bed if the barometer is low, but get out early and fast when it's high or rising.

Incidentally, the warmer the water, the deeper should be your plugs, spoons or spinners, as the fish seem to seek out the cooler levels.

Actually, the enjoyment — for most people — is not just in catching fish, but in going on the trip. It's a wonderful, relaxing way for the entire family to spend a summer week-end.

Surf casting, lake fishing, wading in a stream for trout — they're all yours with a turn of the car's ignition key. Try it, have fun, and good luck!

LEGION NOTES

— by —
Branch 70 Correspondent

"ACTIVE SERVICE YESTERDAY COMMUNITY SERVICE TODAY"

The Sports and Entertainment Committee are very active at present. Com. R. O. McLean and his group report that plans are all finalized for the Horse Pull at Lachute Fair, with the prizes the same as last year. Also that the ticket booth (for the pony raffle) will be in the same location as last year. The pony will, of course, be on display while the Fair is on, and will be drawn for on Saturday night.

Com. René Paulsen and his group tell us that the ball field is progressing nicely and Doug Ogilvy reports a good closing Teen Age Dance.

There is a notice elsewhere in the paper asking all boys between the ages of 8 and 15 interested in playing ball to register at the Legion Hall on Saturday, June 4, at 2 p.m. From this list it is our hope to establish four Little League teams (8 to 12) and four Pony League teams (age 12 to 15). As long as the youngster is not 13 before August 1, he is eligible for the Little League. In the Pony League the same ruling applies. As long as you are not 16 before August 1, you are permitted to play. Once we have the players listed, the teams will be formed and a league set out. One of the rules of the Little League (and one which the Legion heartily approves) is that every member of a team must play two innings out of every regulation game. This assures every player of some action in each game with no steady "bench warmers". A Little League game consists of six full innings.

Mark down June 11 as a night to come to the Hall and join in with our Comrades from Branch 66 in a social evening. Remember the Legion Dollar Club and the Pony Raffle. The proceeds from these events help the Branch to keep all of its various programs and activities mobile.

Speaking for all Legion Branches throughout Canada, Branch 70, Lachute, acknowledges gratefully the editorial "Old Soldier's Club very much alive" which appeared in the Wednesday, May 23, issue of The Watchman. We in the Legion feel that we do make a valid contribution to society in many different aspects. It is nice to see that our efforts are appreciated.

It is with regret that Branch 70 records the sudden death of Com. Jim Coney, on Sunday, May 29. Comrade Coney had been an active member of Branch 70 since 1949. He served as our representative on the District Council, and as Sergeant-at-Arms to the branch for many years. He was also active in all aspects of community life.

Most dangerous hour of the day

The most dangerous hour of the day, as far as the motorist is concerned, is the hour just preceding sunset, says the Provincial Highway Safety Committee, (Prudentia). If you are facing the sun at the time then you are more than likely blinded by its rays, and if it is at your back, then the motorists approaching are not likely to see you coming. The danger of accidents is heightened during this period and thus motorists should slow down. Caution and good driving go hand in hand.

DISTRICT NEWS FROM OUR COUNTY CORRESPONDENTS

Cushing

Mr. and Mrs. H. Buzzell, of Montreal West, and a party of friends, occupied "Woodbine Cottage" over the week-end.

Mrs. W. Y. King spent a few days in Cornwall attending the C.I.M. Convention.

Mrs. Cowell, of Crum Lynne, Pa., is visiting her sister, Mrs. L. R. McGain, of "Twynwald". Other guests through the week were Mrs. A. Hollingworth and family.

Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Talbot, of Brownsburg, were callers at the Graham home on Sunday.

Members of the W.M.S. from Cushing attending the W.M.S. Sectional rally held in Morin Heights last Wednesday, were Mrs. King, Mrs. Graham, Mrs. T. Weir, also Miss A. Davidson. They were accompanied to Morin Heights by Mr. Arthur Weir, of Ottawa, and Mr. T. W. Weir — the gentlemen spending the day with friends at Ste. Adele.

Miss Leitch, of Manchester, England, who accompanied Miss F. M. Douglas home from her tour of France and the British Isles, where Miss Douglas has been spending the last few months, will be her guest for the summer.

Miss E. M. Graham, of Verdun, spent the week-end at "Bayside Farm".

Miss Annie and Mr. Jack McDowell, of Montreal, were at "Glenifer" for the week-end.

Old Neighbor Mourned

Our sincere sympathy is extended to Mrs. John Douglas of Chatboro, and family, also to Mr. and Mrs. Canning of Stonefield, in the passing of their father, Mr. John Canning, who passed away on Saturday night. Mr. Canning was a valued member of St. Mungo's Church and a one-time member of the Lockmen's Group on the canals. He will be greatly missed by his old friends and neighbors, although his earthly release was a happy one for him, as his illness had been prolonged for a long period of time.

Tribute to a Sterling Resident

The sudden passing of James Coney, of Lower Cushing, commonly known as "Jimmie" by those who counted him as a friend, has cast a pall of sadness to overwhelm Cushing and the riverfront vicinity.

Although not a born resident of this district, Mr. Coney fitted directly into the community and its activities better perhaps than some who have lived here all their lives. He had but to hear that a neighbor needed help, and insofar as his hours at the Canal Workshop permitted, he was right on the spot to give that help generously and without stint.

Mr. Coney was a member of St. Mungo's Church. As an active worker and secretary of the Church Hall Building Committee, he helped in many ways in connection with that project, also in decorating the hall for the children's pleasure at Christmas time, and often in making gifts for quite a number of them. Half the joy of the annual Christmas concert will be lost in future because he cannot be present with the children to help them to enjoy it.

Many of those who saw the play "Here comes Charlie", will remember the active part he took in that, as Charlie's jolly old uncle. That alone conveys some idea of his versatility, for there were few things that Jimmy Coney could not do, and do well.

He will be long remembered by those who loved him, and the very sincere sympathy of this community is extended to Mrs. Coney and young son, Raymond, at this time — also to his father, Mr. Coney, Sr., his brother and other relatives.

County couple 60 years married

(Our District Correspondent)

Cushing — Mr. and Mrs. John Bradford, former residents of Cushing for the greater part of their 60 years of happily married life, have the sincere congratulations of their old neighbors at this time, who wish them many more years together.

Mrs. Bradford was the former Ida Hill, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Hill of Chatboro.

Mr. and Mrs. Bradford are now residing on Robert Street, Lachute — having taken up residence during the past week. Their property in Cushing was bought by Quebec Hydro, being in the direct line of flood waters because of the Carillon Dam now under construction.

St. Andrews East

Mrs. Murphy and her son visited Mr. Allan Murray for the week-end.

Misses Donna and Debra Bradley spent the week-end with their aunt, Mrs. Percy Burwash.

Miss Pearl Dorman attended the Sectional meeting of the Women's Missionary Society in Morin Heights, Que., on Wednesday last.

The Rev. Dr. J. R. Heyworth and Mrs. Heyworth, of Chicago, arrived last Thursday to spend the summer at "Journey's End".

Mrs. J. G. MacRae, of Montreal, spent part of last week with Mr. and Mrs. A. McPhee.

Mrs. Ross Hyde and son, Wayne, were in Montreal last Thursday. Mr. and Mrs. Paul Cloutier and daughter, Linda, of Montreal, were guests of the Hydes on Saturday.

We are pleased to welcome back Mrs. Beckel, who spent the winter in California. She has as her guest Mrs. Ivy McLoughlin, of Los Angeles, Calif.

The Rev. Dr. and Mrs. W. Harold Reid have returned home after visiting relatives in Philadelphia. They also spent a week at Ocean City, Maryland.

Miss Patricia Liddell, of Montreal, spent the week-end with Miss Audrey Eaton.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie de la Ronde, David and Sandra, spent last Saturday here.

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Jopling, of Montreal, were guests of Mr. Driver and Mrs. H. Simpson on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Preston, Gail and Jackie, also a friend, were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Eaton.

Harrington

A number of ladies attended the Sectional rally of the W.M.S. in Morin Heights on Wednesday of last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Scot McLean attended the Provincial Orange Lodge of Quebec, at Bristol during the week-end.

Mrs. J. D. Shaw, of Montreal, and Miss Isobel Fraser, of Lachute, were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Bennett.

Mr. and Mrs. Eric Bates and little son, of Brownsburg, spent the week-end with their parents here.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Carriere, of Hawkesbury, spent the week-end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. Bennett.

Mr. and Mrs. Corbett, of Boston, spent the week-end at the home of the latter's aunt, Miss S. McRae.

Mr. R. A. McRae, of Toronto, visited relatives here recently.

Miss J. Swackhammer, of Montreal, was a week-end guest of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Bennett.

Watchman Want Ads bring results.

Calumet

Chauncey Hall has left for New Brunswick, to work for the Atlas Construction.

Mr. and Mrs. Willie Andrews, of Ottawa, visited Mr. and Mrs. Mervin Kelly on Sunday.

Mrs. Raymond Mott, of Montreal, visited her sisters and friends in Calumet last week-end.

Miss Diana Hall visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Silas Hall, last week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Laviolette visited Mr. and Mrs. Mongrain on Sunday.

Jos. Brunet has left to spend the summer months in Chibougamau, Que.

Mrs. Leonard Reeves, Miss Margaret Bowles, Mr. Henry Constantineau and Edmond Constantineau visited their brother in Ste. Scholastique on Sunday.

Avoca

Mrs. Allan McPhee visited Miss M. Slater, Lachute, on Monday last.

Mr. and Mrs. A. McPhee attended the service in Christ Church, Seigniory Club, on Sunday. A number of boys of the Sedbergh School were confirmed by Bishop Dixon — Stephen Beaufoy, the rector's son, being one of the candidates.

Mrs. Neil McCallum left Sunday to attend a church conference taking place in the city of Sherbrooke, Que.

Mr. Edward Smith, of Ottawa, spent the week-end at the home of his brother, Howard.

Pre-nuptial Shower

Mrs. Hugh Bates and daughter, Mrs. Thomas Kelly, and Mrs. Earle MacLeod, entertained at a shower for Miss Joan Vaillancourt in the Community Hall. . . . Miss Vaillancourt's marriage to Mr. Robert Dobbie takes place early in July. The gifts were many and beautiful, conveying the best wishes of the donors. About 75 guests were present, and delightful refreshments were served.

Miss Joan Vaillancourt, of Montreal, spent the week-end at her home here.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Bedard, of Ottawa, spent the week-end with the latter's parents here.

Kilmar

Mr. John Gorrill, of Monetville, Ont., spent last week here at the home of his daughter, Mrs. John Purcell.

Miss Jean MacTavish, of Ottawa, spent the week-end here at the home of her parents.

Mrs. Leslie Bigelow attended L.O.B.A. Grand Lodge last Friday and Saturday at Bristol, Que.

The regular meeting of the Kilmar W.A. was held last Wednesday at the home of Mrs. John Purcell.

Friends here are sorry to hear that Mrs. Fred Cousins is at present in the Smith Clinic at Hawkesbury. Wishes are extended for her speedy recovery.

Wedding Reception

A wedding reception was held Saturday, May 21, in Kilmar Community Hall, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Harold MacRae. Mrs. MacRae was the former Fay Fox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Fox. The young couple received many lovely and useful gifts, and a good time was reported by all who attended.

Whist Party Held

A number of Kilmar ladies attended the whist held in Grenville School last week, sponsored by the Grenville L.O.B.A. First prize went to Mrs. S. Sutton's table, second prize to Mrs. J. Larocque's table. Everyone enjoyed the evening.

Advisers named to improve efficiency in Que. government

By Laurent Chiasson, Canadian Press Staff Writer

Quebec (CP)— The Premier's office is in the process of a major overhaul to improve the efficiency of the administration at the top.

In the past several weeks three men have been appointed to Premier Antonio Barrette's staff as technical advisers — the first ever to occupy such posts in the office of a Quebec premier.

They are: Jacques Casgrain, 51, Assistant Deputy Minister of Labor, who has worked closely with the Premier for some 10 years; Charles Eugene Pelletier, 47, Quebec City newspaperman of long experience; Francois Bregha, 34, Czechoslovakia native who caught the eye of Premier Barrette because of his writings.

The Premier even indicated that more advisers will be hired by the government to "properly counsel and inform" his office.

Mr. Barrette, largely self-taught but widely read, says he wants the information he needs at his fingertips when he needs it. At the Labor Department he had set up the Economic Research Bureau. Now as Premier he wants a steady supply of up-to-date information on a vast number of subjects.

Advertising is the vehicle through which our industrial know-how is spread and augmented in war and in peace.

mind over matter...

a challenge down the ages . . . and one that has been met in Quebec by the National Union since 1944 with mounting success and achievement.

At the unbelievable rate of 6 new schools a week for 10 years the need has been met . . . more than 20,000 modern classrooms in which to train the minds of the coming generations in the new techniques of the 20th century.

And at the level of higher education, after planning and travail against seemingly insurmountable odds . . . a formula for aid to higher education that is already being lauded across the country as 'the only way' to more and better educational opportunities for more young men and women . . . The problem of university grants has been settled to the satisfaction of all, a solution proposed by Hon. Paul Sauvé and finalized by Premier Antonio Barrette. PLUS — a trade and specialized school setup of over 90 institutions that is the envy of every other province, and is fitting thousands of Quebec youth for their place in the modern world . . . a place in which they can make their way . . . through the skills at their command.

Diary of a Vagabond

BY DOROTHY BARKER

George is the type of person Noel Coward would probably write a lyrical ditty about commencing "George, you perfectly priceless old thing . . ."

He first came on my horizon when he peeked over our cedar hedge and remarked, "Looks like you need help." For ten minutes I had been winding a piece of frayed rope around the top of a beaten up old power lawn mower, pulling with all my strength while praying for even a small sputter to prove that the contraption still had a kick in its innards.

This manless menage, I have found, can present too many problems beyond the knowledge and strength of one female, no matter how determined she might be to solve them. I become particularly frustrated and stumped when gadgets designed to make work lighter turn out to be mechanical monsters with the temperament of a pack burro. Only difference is that you can't light a fire under a lawn mower, or tease it with a carrot to make it go.

George thought he knew the answer to the mower's balkiness. For an hour he took off first one bolt and nut, then another. Soon the lawn was strewn with an assortment of parts that seemed to have no relationship whatever.

While he worked, his round little Santa Claus belly shook with glee as he related tales of the former owner of our eight acres. He told me they had known each other for years and commented that "old Charlie was quite a character."

We had already surmised this fact. When we razed the old shack as a prelude to remodelling as much as could be salvaged, we found a small baking powder tin carefully hidden among a clutter of garden tools, baskets of shavings, old calico dresses (I presume they had belonged to his late wife) and dozens of burlap bags filled with dry hay. In the tin were three gold fillings, pried no doubt from Charlie's molars when he had to succumb to a dentist's ultimatum.

This was apparently Charlie's entire fortune, hoarded so pathetically. He had confessed to me when I signed the offer to purchase that all he wanted for the small farm was enough for a decent burial. Charlie was the last of his line and ailing. We discovered he was no businessman, and only our conscience prevented us from taking advantage of the befuddled old man.

The tales George told on that sparkling morning were not gossip. Just the type of stories country folk relate about one another. He reminisced about weddings, childbirth, funerals, sick cattle, too many eggs and no market, too few eggs and a high market, too much rain, too little rain, a barn raising or two and the account of the day the old sow died. Homey, sometimes sad, but always amusing, the stories tumbled out of George in quick succession.

Off toward the east a diesel whistle sounded. George dropped the handful of nuts he was holding and headed for the hedge. "Been eatin' for years when that whistle blows. Train's always on time, only daylight saving puts me off my feed every summer for a while. Confounded business. Why can't the critters leave the clocks alone? Only the railway has any sense any more. My stomach and the CNR still run on standard time."

After a while, when a pair of twinkly blue eyes failed to reappear over the hedge, I surveyed the mess on the lawn and came to the conclusion I needed professional advice. I soon learned my mower was a victim of that new bugbear, that boon to industry, "obsolescence."

The new mower has a rapid recoil starter that spins the motor with one tug. It was sold to me with the broad, confident assurance that "any child could operate it."

Evidently I haven't reached my second childhood as yet, for the most welcome words I ever heard as I pushed my way around an acre of long grass was "looks like you need help". There stood George, not the least bit contrite for never having returned to put the old mower together again. He offered his strength and loyalty to me and my lawn for the summer for a reasonable fee.

I think I was pretty smart to schedule the operation between trains. Only thing that can throw us now is an extra freight train tootling along the rails that skirt the town. Some workers are clock watchers, others, like George, are diesel listeners.

Control of lawn weeds

Ottawa — The best way to keep lawns weed-free is to promote a dense, healthy turf which will crowd out intruders — states J. H. Boyce of the Plant Research Institute, Central Experimental Farms, Ottawa.

Herbicides are not cure-alls in themselves, but are important aids in caring for lawns, he adds.

Sodium or amine salts of 2,4-D or MCP will destroy most broad-leaved weeds such as plantains and dandelions. Silvex and MCPP have shown ability to get rid of the tougher ones, such as chickweed.

These materials are best used in sunny weather during the last half of May, but September applications are also quite effective. Every precaution should be taken to protect ornamentals and vegetable crops from these herbicides, which do not discriminate between desirable plants and undesirable weeds.

Crabgrass is often a serious problem in lawns, particularly on poor, sandy soils. It is a warm-weather annual that starts to germinate in late May and early June, but does not become unsightly until much later in the season. The herbicides available for use on this weed are not so effective as those for broad-leaved weeds, but many of them, when properly used, will do much toward controlling the pest.

Lawns known to be infested with crabgrass seed should be treated the third week in May with 2,4-D at double the rate recommended for broad-leaved weeds, and again at the normal rate of application in the first week in June. This will usually prevent the germination of the seed. A new herbicide, PMAS (tri-calcium arsenate), a pre-emergence type, can be applied late in the fall or early in the spring.

Avoid using PMAS on Merion blue grass.

When using herbicides be sure to follow the manufacturers' directions and precautions carefully.

It must be emphasized that herbicides are only helpers in the weed control program, and no matter what chemical is used, it might as well be left in the container unless steps are taken to encourage a vigorous turf to replace the spaces occupied by the weeds.

APATHY SERIOUS

When recently we published a coupon asking our readers to express their opinion on the subject of capital punishment, we received four answers from 1,400 persons on our subscription list. This is about on the average with the national reaction — indicating a serious national problem, Apathy.

Quebec Liberal leader visits City Hall

The Hon. Jean Lesage, leader of the Quebec Liberal party, stopped briefly at Lachute in the course of his election tour last week, and was invited to sign the civic Golden Book. The distinguished visitor is seen above with the representatives assembled to meet him at City Hall. Que. Liberal leader, Jean Lesage, makes brief stop on election tour

In the course of his election tour the Hon. Jean Lesage, chief of the Liberal party in Quebec, made a brief stop-over in Lachute last Wednesday. He was the guest of the civic authorities at a very informal and impromptu reception, and, together with Mme Lesage, he was invited to sign the Golden Book at city hall. The visitor was en route to Buckingham and Hull, and his visit here was on very brief notice.

Welcomed by Mayor Jas. W. McGibbon, the Liberal chief was invited to say a few words to the hundred-or-so residents assembled outside the town hall. "I like these informal gatherings," said Mr. Lesage, "for they give an opportunity for a heart-to-heart talk with my listeners. . . . It is physically impossible to speak in all the towns of our province during this election tour, but it is pleasant to stop here and there and to meet the electors. We are now in the second lap of the campaign, which will conclude in our final victory on June 22. Signs are encouraging all across the province, and the many who turn to our support every day are ample proof. It is time for a change — the people are looking for liberation and a new outlook. I count on you, electors of Argenteuil County, to elect my friend Rodrigue Durocher on June 22 next."

Mr. Durocher, official Liberal candidate, declared it was an honor for this town and county to welcome the future Premier of Quebec, the Hon. Mr. Lesage. He assured the chieftain that Argenteuil had already swung to the Liberal ranks, and his presence here would confirm the victory. He invited all voters to attend the nomination proceedings on Wednesday, and the contradictory meeting following.

Among members of the Council present were Aldermen Nelson Lepage, Stanley Holt, Horace Lamarche, Edgar O. Pollock, and Stanley Church. Also in attendance were Mayor Gaetan Paquette of Ayersville, Mayor Antoine Paré of St. Andrews Village, and Mayor Rosario Lemay of St. Andrews Parish.

Airflight proceeds this week-end go to Hospital

Skyhaven Corporation Ltd. has been operating sightseeing flights out of the Lachute Airport these past two weeks, and it is reported by John Williams, president of the concern, that the idea is catching on with the public — to the extent that last Sunday all flying time was filled to capacity, and many prospective passengers could not be accommodated that day.

On brief trips over Lachute, Brownsburg or Carillon (where quite a few ask to be taken, for a bird's eye view of the Quebec Hydro project) Skyhaven has a "penny-a-pound" rate which puts flying within the reach of the most modest purse. Numerous youngfolk have been among the passengers to date. The Piper Tri-Pacer plane has a passenger accommodation of three adults or five children. Hours of operation are from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m.

It is stated by Mr. Williams that all proceeds of his venture next week-end will be turned over to the Argenteuil Hospital building fund — a gesture made in the public spirit, of which many residents will doubtless take advantage and acquaint themselves with their surroundings from an entirely new viewpoint. (Reservations may be made by calling LO 2-6551, if desired.)

Garage entered, equipment stolen; minor accidents

Lachute Auto Electric Reg., a Berry Street garage owned and operated by Burrill Todd, was robbed one night last week of an estimated $1,300 worth of tools, chain saws, and miscellaneous car parts, by thieves who gained entry to the building by means of a rear window.

Municipal officers and the local detachment of Provincial Police are investigating the robbery, but to date have made no arrests.

Police departments throughout the area report a quiet week-end traffic-wise, there being only a few minor automobile accidents reported. The theft of two bicycles has been reported in Lachute, and is under investigation.

Spring floods in Council business, new evaluators, building inspector

The recent flooding of certain areas in Lachute was again prominent in Council discussions, at the June meeting held last week. Mayor Jas. McGibbon stated that, together with Alderman Horace Lamarche, he had approached Messrs. Robt. Cairns and Ian Gordon, of the J. C. Wilson Co. executive, regarding the paper mill dam. According to the opinion of these gentlemen, the dam could not be the cause of flooding conditions upstream. However, they agreed to call in the Price Brothers engineers to make a study of the situation — on which they will submit a subsequent report to Council.

The secretary read a letter from the C.P.R. authorities offering the railway's water tank on Chatham Street to the town, also requesting a reduction of water tax since the conversion of steam locomotives over to diesels. It was requested that the secretary acknowledge receipt of this letter.

The Police and Fire committee was authorized to take necessary steps to rent or purchase a new two-way radio system.

Messrs. Réal Urbain, Linton Armstrong and Maurice Coulombe were appointed valuators for the current year, at a fee of $4 an hour — with Mr. Coulombe as chairman, if he so agrees.

Ald. H. Lamarche had a word to say concerning the posting of signs and posters on utility poles. "We have requested the police to remove all advertisements of hotels and grills," he said, "but contrary to reports, no posters regarding election candidates have been removed on our order."

A letter was read from Fernand Legault, Q.C., legal advisor, and it was suggested that Richard Blais be appointed building inspector invested with all powers provided in the Building and Zoning by-law. . . . This measure was on the initiative of Ald. Edgar Pollock, due to difficulties experienced in the supervision of building operations.

"The by-law is specific, and not easy to enforce," said Mr. Legault's communication, in effect, "but if it is not followed to the letter from the start, the Council will be exposing itself to numerous difficulties." As remuneration for his services, it was suggested the building inspector should retain the fees for permits issued.

National Union youth group formed, resolved to continue following elections

A new "Youth Organization of the National Union" has been formed in the Lachute-Brownsburg area, with plans for the future to cover the County of Argenteuil.

The movement was conceived at a meeting held in Lachute with about 30 young people present. Joint chairmen of the meeting were Guy Lafortune and Don MacRae, Jr., of Lachute.

During the discussions, a question-and-answer period was held with Quebec Minister of Mines, the Hon. W. M. Cottingham. Mr. Cottingham thanked the young men for their support, and congratulated them for their initiative in creating such a group.

Guy Lafortune told the group that, "though it has been formed during an election campaign, it should not and would not be allowed to die out immediately following the elections".

In the questions and answers, certain complaints were brought against the government. However, the group decided that it was not necessarily any political party at fault, but that the error, if there were error, was to be found in society in general. One of the group concluded, "We, as the youth of the province, have a moral obligation to be keenly interested in any public opinion or forum. We are convinced that the greatest fault in society in general, especially during an election campaign, is the disinterest of well minded persons."

One question asked of Mr. Cottingham, was whether the Quebec Government had any future plans concerning tourism in the province. The Minister replied that, during the past year, the government had purchased premises in Quebec City where all tourist media would be housed.

"This could become the home of a future Minister of a tourist department," he remarked.

In conclusion, Mr. Cottingham gave a brief outline of the accomplishments of the National Union since it had been brought in as the people's choice for a government in Quebec Province.

He elaborated on two different plans he said he had in mind for the construction of a recreational centre for Greater Lachute.

Lachute resident killed in crash on Autoroute

Leonard Cadieux, an engineer in the employ of the Quebec Highways Department, was killed last week when his car crashed into the abutment of an overpass to St. Elzear, near Fabreville, on the Laurentian Autoroute. Thirty-two years of age, Mr. Cadieux was unmarried. He had made his residence here in Lachute for the past two years, coming from Grand Remous, Que.

Two conclusions were drawn by Sgt. Det. Robert Goulet, who investigated the fatality — either that the victim fell asleep at the wheel and missed the curve in the road, or else that his visibility was obscured by heavy fog patches in the vicinity. The impact was so severe that it was impossible to extricate the man's body from the crushed vehicle. The car had to be hauled to a Fabreville garage, where equipment was used to cut away the metal in which the victim was entrapped.

Taken to the provincial morgue in Montreal, the remains were brought later to the Menard Funeral Home, and rites were held at Ste. Anastasie Church on Monday morning, with burial in the parish cemetery. A large number of friends attended.

Mr. Cadieux is mourned by his fiancée, Miss Claire Vezina, of Rouyn. Other relatives, if any, are not known here.

Fire and Police report for May

A total of 153 tickets for traffic infractions were handed out by the police department during May, netting $542.40 in fines. Bicycle and dog licenses sold were 386, for the amount of $533.40. One taxi permit $6, one identification card, $1; and $160 collected in various fines, brought the month's total revenues to $1,242.80.

The police officers answered 282 service calls, investigated 18 accidents, gave shelter to 25 persons, and made 8 arrests.

Cases investigated included four injuries, two accidental deaths, one breaking and entering, and eight cases of theft.

The above information was reported by Police Chief A. J. Whiteway on the activities of his department for the past month. The regular Council session received also the report of Chief D. MacCulloch on the services of Lachute Fire Department, which included two fire calls in town and four out of town.

Fire Chief's Recommendation

On recommendation of Chief MacCulloch, Council agreed to engage two extra firemen from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. each Sunday during the summer. The men will be paid $10 a day each, plus $1 an hour for additional time spent on duty.

This provision was decided upon, since regular volunteer firemen could not leave town on Sundays without adequate personnel to replace them.

Police Sergeant

CST. GILLES POIRER, who was promoted to the rank of sergeant in the town police force following examinations last week. The officer has served three years with the local police department.

Basements flooded

Buckingham (2) — A sewer pipe broke during a torrential rainstorm last week at Buckingham and the basements of a number of business establishments were flooded to a depth of several feet. Damage was estimated in the thousands of dollars.

Traffic through the area was halted for more than an hour. The rainfall totalled 1.61 inches in three quarters of an hour.

Lachute Town incorporated 75 years ago this month

Not infrequently, a query comes to The Watchman as to how long this town has been an incorporated municipality. Watchman files reveal that it is exactly 75 years since this step was taken, and in our "Over the Years" column this week we reproduce some of the inaugural proceedings at Lachute's first council meeting (June 8, 1885).

The election of representatives was not without fervor and conflict of opinion. It appears all councillors were appointed by acclamation but there were two nominees for mayor — Thomas Barron, Esq., and Wm. John Simpson, Esq.

Concerning nomination day, The Watchman records as follows: "While the presiding officer (P. Dunbar, Esq.) was waiting for nominations, C. S. Burroughs, Esq., Advocate, presented a protest against holding the election on that day as it was declared a holiday, being commemorated as the Queen's birthday, secondly that the bill was incomplete . . . etc.

"The Returning Officer received Mr. Burroughs' protest, but continued with the business of the election, and as there was to be a contest for mayor, he appointed the following deputy returning officers:

"For the East Ward, Mr. Simon MacKimmie, at MacKimmie's workshop; Centre Ward, Mr. James Raitt, at the Court House; West Ward, Mr. Joseph Patenaude, at No. 1 Schoolhouse."

Thomas Barron, Esq., was subsequently elected by 33 votes over Mr. Simpson. There were questions raised on the latter's qualifications, and lengthy correspondence in The Watchman over the provisions of the Lachute Town Bill as drawn up by P. Palliser, Esq. Altogether opinions were vehement, and one concludes that the incorporation of Lachute Town was a heated issue of the time.

M.D.'s son wins university degree

RICHARD LAFLEUR, eldest son of Dr. and Mrs. Jules Lafleur, Lachute, who was awarded the Bachelor of Arts degree at the convocation of the University of Ottawa on May 28. Spending the summer at Camp Borden under C.O.T.C. training, Richard Lafleur intends to enter the university course in Medicine next September. He was educated at l'Ecole Supérieure, Lachute, and at Ste. Therese Seminary, before his four years' study at the University of Ottawa.

Strange music sets stern challenge for folk-dancers' versatile orchestra

Two years of rehearsals were required to give an authentic interpretation to the strange rhythms of Bulgarian folk music which will be one of the highlights of the folk dancing program planned by the Feux Follets (will o' the wisps) before the grandstand at Lachute Spring Fair next Friday evening June 17. This exciting program is under Lions Club sponsorship.

The Feux Follets orchestra of eight pieces includes musicians from Central Europe, but Bulgarian music, based on an ancient Slav culture influenced by five centuries of Turkish occupation, has rhythms ranging from 5/8 to 13/16 which required long sessions of careful practice even from them.

Eighteenth Century costumes, hand-embroidered in Bulgarian villages, will be worn by the young dancers taking part in the program. They were obtained in Bulgaria two years ago by Michel Cartier, leader of the troupe and special monitor in charge of the city's Folklore Studio.

The Bulgarian section of the program will take the form of an Easter celebration in a Bulgarian village with some 30 young Montrealers taking the roles of the villagers.

Centuries before Christ the Bulgarians' forebears in Thrace possessed a refined culture in which music and the dance had an important place. Ancient rhythms, influenced by the Turkish occupation, are the basis of modern Bulgarian folk music.

The interpretation of the music as well as the strange Bulgarian steps achieved by the Feux Follets has been approved by the Bulgarian Cultural Committee, which gave a number of the Bulgarian costumes to the group as evidence of its approval.

The program will include French-Canadian, Austrian and Hungarian dances.

Proceeds accruing after the payment of expenses will be devoted to Lions Club charity and community work.

Exponents of Bulgarian step and rhythm in the "Feux Follets" folklore dancing troupe, to be seen at the Exhibition Grounds on Friday June 17, under Lions Club sponsorship.

Interesting entries for Lachute Fair, Que. Premier to officiate for opening

Top exhibitors from the Province of Quebec, from Ontario, and the Eastern United States, will show prize cattle and horses at this year's 135th annual Lachute Spring Fair.

The secretary-manager of the Fair, Kenneth Riley, has stated that this year's entry list will be bigger and better than ever before for the four-day show.

Premier to Officiate

This year's fair, which will be officially inaugurated by Premier Antonio Barrette on Thursday afternoon, June 16, will open the day before, Wednesday, June 15, and will close out Saturday night, June 18.

Sponsoring the Fair again this year is the Argenteuil Agricultural Society, whose president is Donald Bradley.

On opening day, Wednesday, Canadian horses will be shown in competition, while on Thursday, Guernsey, Jersey and Canadian cattle will be exhibited, along with beef breeds, swine, and Clydesdale and Percheron horses.

Friday will be Ayershire-Holstein and sheep day, while in horse exhibits, Grade light and heavy draft and express horses will be out in full regalia.

On Saturday morning, the 4-H Calf Clubs will put on their special all-day show for juniors in cattle competitions.

Argenteuil Outdoors

A column for the sportsman

— By BOB ATCHISON —

This column is going to be a little longer, and maybe a lot more interesting. I have been trying to give you information on the game situation in our area. True, it is not near the hunting season, but believe me, I am not giving you this for the hunters. It could be that, in your tours around the country, you will keep a little sharper lookout and see game where you never expected.

As you know, Moose have been in the news the past few weeks, and now for something else, which I mentioned in a postscript last week. A black bear and her cub are hanging around the blueberries just outside Lakefield. Only the one cub that can be seen; nevertheless, it makes for a more productive outdoors. One tip for anyone seeing them. Leave her alone, and especially the cub. Even if you think the cub is lost don't fool with it. Or if you are lucky you will wake up in hospital. . . . Look but don't touch!

Now for something else. As you know, we had a number of dogs running wild during the winter. Some of them left when spring came along, some of them are still in the woods. These can do a lot of damage if not stopped, so anyone seeing them, do your best. They will become much more aggressive and dangerous than wolves, and it might not be too good for any youngsters out alone. There are not that many, but even one will cause a lot of trouble to any creature smaller than itself.

There has been a little talk of the minnow ban being lifted. From reliable reports this is not so. No action whatever is even considered, except to enforce this to the limit. So anglers, take care! This is not one of those laws that will be forgotten and disregarded in a couple of years. The Department of Fisheries means business, and no covering up will be tolerated. All laws governing the Fish and Game Act will be enforced to the fullest extent — and this is sure a big step forward for Quebec.

As we all know, there have been infractions that were forgotten, through carelessness or other factors, that made this province a laughing stock of other provinces. It certainly is about time the government ran the Game and Fisheries Departments, and not the few supposed "big shots".

A few disgruntled fishermen have complained at so much land being posted, thus depriving them of the fishing. To me, we have no one to blame but ourselves. Take a good look at some of the places posted, and it doesn't take a seeing eye to conclude why this has been done. As a matter of record, one of the farmers I talk to quite often has just posted his land. I was shown part of the reason why, and can't say I blame him one bit. Not content to sit and fish with a small controlled fire, this group had gone out of their way to build themselves an open-hearth furnace — using up fence poles, etc., and then not even bothering to put the fire out! Surely there has been enough education on forest fire prevention to prevent such idiocy as this. The fools don't realize that even a small fire does damage for years. It is going to take every one of us who live in the forests to see that these things don't happen, and (if you want to call it this) "butt in" on every campfire we see. A good woodsmen won't mind this either, and possibly you will have his thanks too. How we can be so stupid in our wildlife and forest lore, is beyond understanding. We talk of nuclear bombs and their threat to humanity; it seems kind of stupid worrying about things like that when we can't even bother about our down-to-earth hazards so easy to control.

The North River is getting to be fairly good for the anglers just now. Perch are starting to bite in a more appreciable way, with the odd big bass supplying the fights. Lake Sir John is giving up a lot of perch, but very small. A couple of bass I have seen were a nice size. Lake Hughes is (as far as a couple of us are concerned) just about through as a trout lake. Catfish by the hundreds have taken over, so goodbye to the trout. This seems to have been the case in a number of lakes hereabouts, but still they are advertised in the papers as good fishing lakes. No wonder they say all fishermen are suckers! But enough of that. . . . Mel Wilson has been having some fun these past few weeks, certainly the trout seem to bear this out. One of these days though, you will see him out on the North River trying his luck. Good old Lake Louisa is giving some good catches and from reports I have heard, this is only the beginning. Louisa is ranking as one of the better lakes in our county. Once again though, it will take only a few stupid people to spoil this for everyone, so let's try and use our heads.

More for the fly-fisherman, and the number of these is increasing all the time. To me, the big reason for this growing interest is the minnow ban; more power to it, if this is so! Numerous times I am asked why I recommend a level line. The main reason, it's easier to cast in a wind; another and one of the big reasons, it's a lot cheaper. For the beginner it is much easier to learn on a level than a tapered line. The tapered line is supposed to be for the experts; I disagree with this wholeheartedly. Using a level line with a long leader, it is more difficult to place your lure where you want it. I know I am inviting contradiction — but to me, a tapered line is a lazy man's line. It isn't necessary to use a long leader, thus cutting down the time spent in learning to cast properly. Of course everyone is entitled to his opinion, and I am only giving you mine. Another point that keeps coming up is the leader. How long, etc.? This is entirely up to the individual, but to start with, the leader should not be less than one foot shorter than your rod. That is a minimum for safe and decent casting. Notice I said "safe"; I mean just that. With too short a leader you are just liable to get yourself a hook in the neck. You see, the short leader is tight-controlled by the line and it goes where the line does, with no free flight. It's difficult for me to tell you just why this is not a good practice, but it shouldn't be too hard to get the words to describe it, yourself.

Strange as it may seem, a few of the better crow shooters are still hard at it. And they have been taking a nice toll of them. With the start of the fishing season, most of us seem to forget everything else. That is a mistake, as indicated by the fun and good sport these boys have been having. Very soon now the young crows will be out in force; as you know, the young crow for a few weeks is kind of stupid as regards danger, so that is the time to get him without the long stalk. Stalking is a lot of fun, but disheartening at times when you complete your point only to discover the crow has gone. That happens many a time. True, the crow call will pay dividends right now, and will get them within range of your guns without too much trouble. Once the young get used to their wings however, it will be very difficult to call them. That's when the stalk pays off.

PASTOR REPAIRS IRON LUNGS

Rev. Roy Essex, left, of Indian Road Baptist church, Toronto, Ont., has a unique hobby—he repairs iron lungs. Mr. Essex who is a graduate engineer got started on his labor of love when a breakdown occurred inthe portable iron lung in which his daughter, Sheila, right, who was stricken with polio in 1949, sleeps. He decided then and there to learn how to repair them and now does repair jobs for others.

B'burg school kids' field day third annual Legion event

For the third successive year, French and English-speaking children from the St. Louis de France Convent, Bouchard Boys' School and the Brownsburg Protestant School joined ranks and marched to the C-I-L picnic grounds for an enjoyable field day last Saturday.

Close to 600 boys and girls turned out for the parade in platoons, each escorted by a Legion Branch 71 veteran wearing the distinguishing beret. Coming from east and west the two segments joined into a single column at McMaster Street for the march to the picnic grounds, behind the smartly turned-out color parties of the Senior Branch and Ladies' Auxiliary of Branch 71.

After forming up, facing the bleachers, the children sang "O Canada" and then were addressed by Legion President Hec Steele. Mr. Steele told the children and those present that, "Our annual field day means closer relationship between the children of the two schools. Here we can use the competitive spirit to its full advantage." Mr. Steel welcomed the children, congratulated those who would win and encouraged those who might not be so successful during the day. His remarks were translated by O. T. Carriere.

After depositing the colors, Mr. Steele fired the starting gun to commence the day's activities, and there immediately followed a wild rush of kiddies of all ages to the various points of activity.

Noticeable to the visitor was the amount of planning which went into this field day, as the many events were run off simultaneously and without a hitch.

As usual, the Ladies' Auxiliary of Branch 71 were busy at the lunch counter; and their very generous annual contribution towards the cost of the prizes is also much appreciated by the Senior Branch.

The day's program ended with a softball game between the boys of the two schools. This was a keenly contested affair with much talent in evidence on both sides. The final score was 16 to 6 for the Bouchard School.

Legion personnel responsible for the success of the day included —

Don Graham, chairman; R. Sugden, co-chairman.

Publicity — K. Lowe.

Parades — O. T. Carriere.

Field representatives — C. Low, W. Mann.

Field Events — R. R. Summers, I. Martin.

1st Lachute Pack Wolf Cub news

By Baloo

On Saturday, May 28, the Wolf Cubs held a field day at the C.I.P. Forest Farm in Harrington. The day's program consisted of erecting tents, collecting wild plants, and sports events in the afternoon.

This week ended Cubbing activities until the fall, except for two campfire nights during the summer.

The White Six won the Points race and were presented with gifts by Akela. Ernest Paulsen and Jeffery Gordon won the Inspection race, having 26 gold stars each.

The last meeting consisted of a little Star work, many games and ended with a campfire and Cub songs.

WORTH TRYING

"I'm anxious to make this shot," said the golfer. "That's my mother-in-law on the clubhouse porch."

"Don't be silly," his companion remarked, "it's 200 yards — you can't hit her from here."

Have you visited the quaint lounge which is now beckoning to be used by the feminine contingent? Although its present location is temporary, we think you will agree that a more perfect "hide-away" could not have been found. Let's show our appreciation by making extensive use of it.

More voters

Quebec City—Chief Returning Officer Francois Drouin gave initial figures in the enumeration of voters for the coming election. There will be 2,593,168 eligible voters — 199,818 higher than the total for the last election in 1956.

UNCERTAIN

A motorcycle cop caught up with the woman driver who was going the wrong direction on a one-way street. "Where do you think you're going?" he demanded.

"I'm not sure," said she, "but I must be late — everybody is coming back."

"How much is that in DOLLARS?"

yours for the asking

On your European trip, take the mystery out of unfamiliar currencies by carrying the new 1960 B of M Currency Guide wherever you go. This pocket-sized guide gives you, at a glance, the dollar equivalents of eleven European currencies . . . and it's yours for the asking at any B of M branch.

FOR CARRYING THOSE DOLLARS

There's no safer method of carrying those dollars you will be converting "over there" than by Travellers Cheques sold by the B of M. Unless, of course, you are planning a lengthy stay and need a large sum of money. In that case, a B of M Travellers Letter of Credit is your best bet. Either way, your money will be completely safe from loss or theft.

BEFORE YOU GO . . .

Drop in to your nearest B of M branch. Our people can be helpful to you in numerous ways in planning your trip and they'll be glad to outline the services that will be willingly offered you at the B of M offices in London and Paris.

For a care-free vacation

VACATION — it's one of the happiest words in the English language, and one of the happiest times in your life, if you're properly prepared for it.

Cardinal rule for an enjoyable vacation is to foresee the usually unforeseen. Emergencies that catch you unprepared will quickly deflate a holiday mood.

Before you leave your home, check any fire or theft hazards: correct faulty wiring, turn off gas and water, disconnect electrical appliances, doublelock windows and doors. Remember to stop deliveries so that milk and newspapers don't pile up on your doorstep — a sure tip-off to burglars and vandals.

Confirm your hotel reservations or other accommodations en route and at your desination. Bone up on weather conditions in the places you plan to visit, and match your wardrobe to the local temperatures. No matter what your desination, it's always a good idea to take along at least one cardigan sweater and a water-repellent topcoat.

Remember to pack things most often forgotten: transparent tape, ball point pen and small writing pad, scissors, needles, thread and safety pins. Include a motion sickness preventive in your first-aid kit. A queasy feeling can strike anyone on any type of transportation. Aspirin, vaseline, iodine and adhesive bandages are standard equipment.

If you are taking a motor trip, be sure your car is in good condition. Don't wait until you're on the road to find you need a grease job, brake adjustment, or tune-up. Check your battery, radiator, tire pressure, wipers and lights, too. Get road maps and study your route before you start.

All prepared? Away you go.

Municipal dilemma

CANADIAN municipalities, faced with providing more and more services with little increase in the amount of tax money available to them, are far from unanimous in their ideas for a solution.

But a solution has to be found, and soon.

Some centres — especially the smaller ones — are paying more than eight per cent interest on their bonds in order to find a market for them. Others cannot sell bonds at any reasonable rate.

Even those centres able to dispose of debentures at a comparatively cheap — at today's prices — five per cent, are selling only enough to keep essential works going.

Nearly everywhere, capital works are stalled, with laborers and artisans out of work because of the tight situation.

If the municipalities are unanimous on anything, it is that municipal representatives must attend the dominion-provincial tax-sharing conference in Ottawa next July and that a more equitable sharing of tax money must take place down to the municipal level.

Some favor removal of income tax from the interest on municipal bonds as an incentive to purchase similar to that enjoyed in the United States. Others say this is no solution, that it would be paying a premium to the wealthy trusts able to purchase such bonds in large quantity.

Another possible solution is formation of a municipal bank that could market bonds of each municipality, backing them with the integrity and assets of all the municipalities and possibly gaining a low flat rate across the country.

Opponents of this plan say that by going into the banking business — if not right into the lending business itself — the municipalities would bring about a freeze by the large syndicates which buy municipal bonds. This, they argue, would force such a bank to fail.

Canadian municipal bonds would find a more ready acceptance in the United States, but this would maintain the Canadian dollar premium and would ultimately be costly to the municipalities.

The municipalities' stand, as spelled out at the recent Chicago conference of the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities, is that more money is needed on the municipal level now. The only alternative seems to be a drastic cut in what Canadians now regard as essential services.

A test of one's religious beliefs

A SENTIMENT from a pastoral dignitary, and an editorial in The Montreal Gazette, deserve re-emphasis at this season. The following was clipped some time ago from the above newspaper:

Responsibility for death or injury on the highways is not something that can be assessed only by the courts. The guilt of those who have caused death or injury, through some want of responsibility, is a moral guilt also. And if conscience had asserted itself and been heeded the accident might never have occurred.

Cardinal Leger has said that the safety on the highways "is a matter for the conscience of every individual motorist." It is an important statement. For it brings home the truth that the sins of motorists are to be recognized as such, and are not to be disguised as merely bad luck.

The basis of religion is reverence for life. It is very right that the churches should consider that conduct on the highways is a test of anyone's religious beliefs. The driver who disregards the laws, or who sows a dangerous discourtesy, or who drives when his judgment is impaired by liquor, or who fails to keep his car in proper condition, is something far worse than a law breaker. He is acting against his religious duty, and ought to feel that he is violating his conscience.

All human conduct lies within the concern of the churches.

Cardinal Leger is very right in reminding people that many accidents on our highways might more properly be described as sins. There is a very real connection between conscience and safety.

Sentiment — emotion — automation

TWO SMALL ITEMS in the news give renewed hope that mankind may yet survive the age of automation — and perhaps even stay human.

One story, from Detroit, concerned a stamp machine in the post office there which was stashed away incommunicado after customers complained that it was embezzling a penny on every purchase. The machine, geared to deliver cheery little messages to stamp buyers, lost its voice after post office workers turned off its audio because they heard it talking to itself at night. . . . The post office men said it then apparently turned bitter and started swiping the buyers' pennies.

The other item told of a row in Victoria city council over a modernization program which would have done away with the old three-globe street lights.

"What!" screamed the critics in effect. "Take away our olde-English charm? Rob us of our olde-tyme flavor? Not likely!" . . . They complained that if Victoria got modern lighting it would become just like any other city. Council, somewhat flabbergasted, took a hitch in its belt and reconsidered the matter.

Taken together, these items offer some hope for us humans.

If a machine can become neurotic, as in the case of the post office stamp provider, and resort to larceny to pay off a grudge, then maybe we've goth the machine age licked! Machines beat us by being more coldly efficient than we can hope to be. All we have to do is wait until they get more human. As being human is our specialty, that gives us the edge.

As for Victoria, if a whole city can resist change, simply because it likes itself the way it is, think of what a setback that will be for the machines when they start copying us . . . Can't you see a computer, an electronic brain, chucking out its transistors because it likes vacuum-tubes better? Who knows — maybe we will survive while the machines commit suicide by trying to become human.

Viewpoints and perspectives

TIDY TOWN — While council may be able to prohibit accumulation of junk and bad eyesores in back yards, the extra neatness which will set a town apart from its neighbors cannot be decreed by a resolution. It can only come through the competitive spirit of neighbors.

INCORPORATION OF MUNICIPALITY OF LACHUTE TOWN

June 12, 1885 — The first meeting of the Council of the Lachute municipality was held in the Court House on June 8. All the new councillors were present, viz:

Thomas Barron, Esq., Mayor, and Thomas Christie, M.D., Phineas Lane, James Fish, Robt. G. Meikle, Thomas McOuat, Thomas Bedard, Elias Milner, Pierre Rodrigue and F. X. Bertrand, Esquires.

The Mayor went over the different clauses of the Town Act, and administered the oath of office to the councillors as required by law.

Application of Mr. G. J. Walker for the office of secretary-treasurer was approved, on his furnishing the required security.

Councillor Fish was elected pro-mayor.

Messrs. Richard Dudderidge, Joseph A. Bedard and Peter Cruise were nominated for positions as valuators for the municipality. . . . To this there was an amendment moved, followed by an amendment to the amendment, and it was finally egreed to defer the appointment of valuators until next meeting.

It was moved that the Mayor and Council, with the Mayor of the Parish Council, take steps to establish the precise boundaries or town line.

A roads committee was appointed to see that the roads and sidewalks be properly repaired at once, and if not immediately attended to, have the said work done at expense of the proprietors.

A committee was appointed to enquire into the matter of procuring a fire engine for the town.

Eskimo industry

A new northern industry that may provide a permanent supplement to the income of Canada's 11,500 Eskimos is in the making, says The Financial Post.

The industry: Fishing for Arctic char, a northern seatrout now available as a gourmet dish at some Toronto and Montreal restaurants.

Trans-Canada Airlines serves pink-fleshed Arctic char on some trans-continental and jet flights. General de Gaulle dined on it at Government House during his state visit to Canada.

Working at two northern points last summer, Frobisher Bay on Baffin Island and George River on Ungava Bay, two groups of Eskimos netted 30,000 lb. of char to retail at 75c to $1.25 lb. in southern Canada.

Next summer, three Eskimo char fisheries will be in operation and they'll produce 95,000 lb.

The char, a slow-maturing fish which takes six or seven years to reach a maximum of 15 lb., occurs along the northern Canadian mainland from Labrador to Alaska, and in the waterways among the islands up to 300 miles north of the mainland.

SUDDEN STOP

Fort William, Ont. (CP) — Tibor Fordas was turning at an intersection when his car came to a jarring stop, tilted at an angle. The top of a manhole had collapsed under the right rear wheel.

Jean Vivian, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Muir, was baptized in the Margaret Rodger Memorial Church. A unique feature of the ceremony was the presence of four generations of the family.

John Pollock, 89, a pioneer resident of this district, died last week.

Principal Clifton Hall of Lachute High School chaired the spring convention of the High School Principals' Association, held at Knowlton.

Funeral rites were held for the late Miss Eva Pearl Ayers, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Harry Ayers.

Boxing and wrestling were witnessed by a small crowd at the Lachute Arena.

Listed among recipients of the King's Birthday Honors was Mr. Harry Slater, of Lachute, who was made a Member of the Order of the British Empire, in recognition of community service.

The residence of Victor MacVicar at Harrington, together with the store, gasoline station and Rivington post-office, was razed by fire with an estimated loss of around $7,000.

The boys' and girls' Calf Club competition is an innovation announced for Lachute Spring Fair, June 12-15.

Mrs. K. S. Massiah, ex-journalist and old resident here, has received from the Governor-General a letter in appreciation of the loyal sentiments expressed in her poem for His Majesty's Silver Jubilee.

Gérard Raymond, Main Street advocate (editor and publisher of Le Courrier d'Argenteuil) is a liberal candidate in the coming Federal elections.

NO POKER GAME

I think it is time that business in Canada got a better break.

This suggestion will bring me a host of irate letters from crackpots, and some blasts from the socialists who have a compulsive hatred for private enterprise.

But the tendency to achieve popularity by discouraging big business is altogether too widespread. Let some unthinking character in a pool hall suggest, with a wink, that such-and-such a company owns some other company and all their products are made in the same vats, and most of the other folk present find it easier to nod their heads than to argue. And there is always the smug implication that we could be rich and successful if we, too, would stoop to the methods of big business.

Among newspapermen, too, there is the feeling that it is rather easy to be popular if you are willing to become a sort of poor man's champion — by knocking successful men. These writers know that the majority of readers are not industrial leaders, so they might welcome the suggestion that it is not because they lack drive and initiative, but that they are honest.

This kind of writing was very evident when Davie Fulton, Minister of Justice, proposed to amend The Combines Investigation Act. Some of these writers suggested that the Act ought to be left very vague, and the Director given tremendous power, because it enabled the Department of Justice to keep business in line through a sort of poker game. "Keep business off balance," was one suggestion, sure to ring bells in the hearts of readers who are poor.

They'll be a darn sight poorer and so will all of us if the Act continues to remain so vague a manager doesn't know where he stands! Industrial giants in other countries, with far more certainty of action, will be able to wipe our industrialists (and their employees) right out of the market place. And since we now depend more than any other major industrial nation on our foreign trade, may the Lord help us if that does happen.

Sure there ought to be laws to keep industry in line. But the laws should be clear. It is no poker game to be played by the Department of Justice. It is the livelihood of millions of Canadians that is to be considered. Let's not have our hatred of business built up to such a pitch that we send our traders out into world markets in straitjackets!

Things 'n Stuff

By Walter Henry Jackson

JOYS OF JUNE

Each dawn I lie awake in bed
With buzzing 'skeeters round my head.
Beneath the bedclothes' folds I shrink
But they won't let me sleep a wink.
After a while I give up hope
And rise to coat myself with dope,
And stand and wonder more and more
What those pests were created for.

Mosquitoes are obnoxious creatures —
Devoid of all redeeming features.
The males, they say, are vegetarian.
Why is each female a barbarian? —
A little fiend with eager jaws
Equipped with ice-cream-soda straws
With which to suck the blood of man
Who struggles on as best he can.

Though blackflies too are quite a pest
At least they take a good night's rest.
Mosquitoes run an all-night service —
No wonder that I'm thin and nervous.
No wonder that I'm acting queer —
Look at those lumps behind my ear!
But when next winter's storms attack
I always wish those 'skeets were back
Making new punctures in my hide . . .
Some folks are never satisfied!

Be seein' ya!
— Uncle Walt

All Aboard

with G. E. MORTIMORE

The world has always been full of liars. Probably there are no more of them today per 1,000 of population that there were in the year 1860, or 660. But they are becoming more skilful.

Political and commercial liars have enlisted the aid of many clever people to help them lie more effectively. Some of the country's best brains are now dedicated to the art of lying: Psychologists, chemists, biologists and even Jawyers.

They seldom bother with the old-fashioned direct lie. Instead, they work with the innuendo, the hint and the half-truth.

And when they do have an unpleasant fact or opinion to present, they cushion it in layers of mushy, sleep-inducing words which can be understood in three different ways.

The current Reporter magazine chronicles some expert military lying in Washington: ". . . the Pentagon's recent announcement that there was to be a 'downward adjustment' in the Bomarc program (actually a 90 per cent cut that in effect terminated procurement)."

"In simple words, the Defence Department was killing the Bomarc program."

So-called "scientific" opinions can be bought. Every rich concern has its tame experts — biologists, physicists, chemists — who will turn themselves inside-out to show what public-spirited men their employers are.

Tobacco companies have numerous men in white coats working feverishly in their laboratories to prove that cigarettes are good for you.

Scientific public relations men for the American Atomic Energy Commission try to soothe people with statements that atomic fallout and nuclear wastes won't harm anyone. In fact they know that these things do work some harm — but they can't calculate how much.

Advertising men have called in psychologists to help them probe and exploit human fears and hopes. It has been said that they don't sell soap — they sell beauty.

Television and radio commercial announcers often say things that are not true. Everyone knows those things are not true. Yet they are said, and by repetition they sink in.

Lying, in fact, has become respectable. It is an acknowledged technique of commerce and government. Nobody is immune to it. Like strontium 90, lying has soaked into everyone's bones. However, that doesn't mean we have to accept it without complaint.

If the process is carried far enough, language will lose all meaning, and people will no longer be able to talk to one another.

The only hope is a popular wave of disgust that will arouse revolt. Fed-up with lies and flannel-mouth evasions, people may turn to plain, truthful words in self-defence.

First Cdn.-made Zippers were mf'd in Brownsburg

In a recent letter to C-I-L Contact, employees' magazine, Mr. S. Wyman McGibbon recalls a fact remembered by many hereabouts, but unknown perhaps to the younger generation of Lachute and Brownsburg.

Zippers were first made in Canada at Brownsburg, Que., in the bottom flat of the three-storey factory (built in 1886) of The Dominion Cartridge Co. Ltd., writes Mr. McGibbon.

The instigator of this company and the builder of the factory was Capt. "Gatling Gun", A. L. Howard, who was the co-inventor of the Gatling gun and the hero of the Battle of Batoche in the North West Rebellion (1885) against Louis Riel.

It is recalled by Mr. McGibbon that a Mr. Ingram of Birmingham, England, a nephew of Bishop Ingram and an employee of The Lightning Fastener Co., had the zipper manufacturing machinery brought from England. It was subsequently moved to St. Catharines, Ont.

DISTRICT NEWS FROM OUR COUNTY CORRESPONDENTS

Brownsburg

Rev. and Mrs. R. L. McPhee are attending the convention of Baptist Churches of Ontario and Quebec, which is being held at McMaster University, Hamilton, Ont.

Miss Edna Woods spent part of last week visiting friends here.

W.I. Guest Speaker

Mr. George MacGibbon was guest speaker at the W. I. meeting last Thursday, and gave an interesting and amusing talk on "Then and Now", telling about the hardships and poverty of the pioneers, in spite of which, there seemed to be more happiness then than now. He also described agriculture in the Township of Chatham in former days.

Mrs. Sydney Seary is happy to be entertaining her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Lazell, of Grays, Essex, England, whom she has not seen for 15 years. Mr. and Mrs. Lazell are spending three months in Canada visiting Mrs. Seary and her sister, Mrs. Alex MacLaren, of Lachine.

Mrs. Roy Cruise left Sunday with friends from Hampstead for a two weeks' vacation at Atlantic City.

St. Andrews East

Mrs. Say and Mrs. F. D. MacCallum, who spent the winter in Montreal, have come to reside here for the summer.

Mrs. Harry Cole, of Toronto, Mr. and Mrs. Kendrick Robertson and two children, David and Heather, of Georgetown, Ont., are visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Dave Morrison and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Robertson.

Mrs. A. I. Lemieux, of Winnipeg, spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Robertson.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Bryson and two children, George and Pauline, of Montreal, spent the week-end visiting relatives in St. Andrews East.

Petty Officer Wm. Bryson, RCN, who is now serving on the H.M.C.S. Chaudiere, paid a brief visit with his family here, and left to join his ship at Hamilton, Ont. The Chaudiere is on a summer cruise of the Great Lakes.

Appreciation

Mrs. James Bullock wishes to thank the people for their kind assistance at the time of her accident in Lachute last week.

Young physician, Dr. Maurice Pager, died at St. Hermas

The death of Dr. Maurice Pager occurred last Friday after a short illness at his home in St. Hermas, at the untimely age of 33. The young practitioner was the only son of Dr. and Mrs. Antonio Pager, who survive him, together with his wife, the former Angèle Crête, two sons and two daughters.

Born at St. Hermas, Maurice Pager attended school there, later proceeding to the Ste. Therese Seminary, then to the University of Montreal. He had practiced in St. Hermas for the past seven years and was an active member of the Providence Hospital medical board.

His father, Dr. Antonio Pager, also practices medicine in St. Hermas and was formerly in partnership with Dr. Marc Papineau in their clinic here. Uncles of the deceased are Justice Victor Pager of the Superior Court and Justice Armand Cloutier of the Court of Sessions.

The funeral, largely attended, was held Tuesday morning from the St. Hermas parish church.

Sympathy is extended to the bereaved family and relatives.

Weir

Mr. and Mrs. David Dubeau were here from Ottawa to spend the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Williams. Mr. and Mrs. Wenville MacMillan and daughter, Bonnie, of Verdun, were also guests of the Williams.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Bunker, of Cornwall, spent the past week as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Bennett.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Davis, of Elliott Lake, spent the past week as guests at the home of his brother, Marvin and Mrs. Davis.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Courte, who were on their wedding trip to Gaspé for the past fortnight, were here to spend the week-end with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Courte, Jr.

Mrs. Chas. Mountain, of Montreal, spent the week-end at her cottage and had as her guests the Misses Irene Clifford and Catherine and Ruby Tassé.

Ontario wedding of interest in Morin vicinity

Wood-Borge

The marriage was solemnized Saturday, May 28, in the St. John's Lutheran Church, Toronto, of Beverly Joane Borge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. Borge of Toronto, to Mr. Melvin Wood of Morin Heights, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Wood. White carnations were used for decorations.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore white satin full-length dress with scalloped neckline and finger-tip sleeves. Her veil was held in place by a coronet.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Jessie Borge, sister-in-law of the bride, was dressed in green faille taffeta and carried white and yellow carnations. The bridesmaid, Miss Cara Skeats, of Toronto, wore a pale green flowered brocade dress and carried white carnations.

Mr. Robert Baldwin was best man for the groom.

The ushers were Mr. Ernest Wood, brother of the bridegroom, and Mr. Allan Borge, brother of the bride.

The bride's mother wore a green dress of brocade, with white accessories and white carnations. The groom's mother wore beige silk with white and black accessories, and a corsage of white carnations.

A reception was held at the Adams House. Later Mr. and Mrs. Wood left for Northern Ontario. The bride chose blue with black accessories for travelling. They will reside in Cartierville.

Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Beverly Waugh, of Hanover, sister and brother - in - law of the groom; Mr. Fred Baldwin, Morin Heights; Mr. Bob Baldwin, Montreal; Mrs. Jenson, Montreal; Mrs. Norman Wood, mother of the groom, and Miss Evelyn Wood, sister of the groom, Morin Heights.

W.I. Library open to all readers; new books added

The Library Committee of the Women's Institute was highly gratified last week by the receipt of a cheque for $500 from Lachute Town Corporation. This will be put to good use. It is hoped that more Lachute citizens will avail themselves of the reading material to be found in this library.

The collection of over 500 books, housed in the basement of Lachute High School, is open to the public each Thursday from 3 to 4 p.m. (Note, one need not be a member of the Women's Institute to use this library. Anyone can become a life member of the library by paying a fee of $1.)

So — if you like to read, visit the basement of Lachute High School next Thursday. Some of the newest books on the library shelves are:

Queen Mary — by Pope-Hennessy
Hawaii — by Jas. Michener.
The Leopard — by Di Lampedusa
Ourselves to Know — by John O'Hara.
The Bespoken Mile — by March Cost.
Trustee from the Tool Room — by Nevil Shute.
The House of Bamboo — by Chas. de Verteuil.

Catholic League's recent activities

The ladies of the Catholic Women's League of Lachute held their regular monthly meeting on June 6. The president, Mrs. L. Bedard, welcomed a new member, after which each convener was called upon for a report. The membership now stands at 63.

It was decided to organize a picnic on July 10 for the members' children and friends, to be convened by Mrs. C. Lowe and Mrs. Poley.

The English retreat at Domaine d'Esterel was attended by 41 members in the diocese, including five from Lachute subdivision.

On Sundays during the month of May the members joined in prayer at the church for hourly devotion.

On May 8 a communion breakfast was held in the Legion Hall for the members and families, sponsored by St. Patrick's Society of Lachute.

On May 20 the ladies held a successful sale of food and of used articles, in the lobby of the Cinema Lachute.

Several members and friends joined with Brownsburg for a pilgrimage to the Shrine on May 30, under the direction of Miss Jackson, of Brownsburg.

All English-speaking Catholics were notified that the next English mass will be on September 11.

It is noted that several members will attend the diocesan convention in Rosemere on June 11.

After closing of the meeting, Mrs. Frances Hanlon was presented with a gift upon leaving Lachute to take up residence in Montreal, after which refreshments were served, convened by Mrs. Dorothy Bernicky.

Bible soc'y speaker and annual meetings

The Rev. T. Dale Jones, District Secretary of the Bible Society, will be special preacher at four of the regular church services at Grenville and Calumet on Sunday, June 12.

He will preach at Holy Trinity, Calumet, at 9.30 a.m., and at St. Matthew's, Grenville, at 11.00 a.m.

In the afternoon, he will visit the United Church in Grenville at 2 o'clock, and at the United Church in Calumet at 3.15 p.m.

The annual meetings of the branches of the Bible Society will be held on June 22 in Grenville and on September 14 in Calumet.

Confirmation rites at Brownsburg

On Sunday morning, June 5, St. George's Anglican Church, Brownsburg, was filled to capacity for the visit of the Right Rev. John Dixon, Bishop of Montreal, who administered the apostolic rite of Confirmation.

In the course of his address to the candidates, the Bishop referred to Confirmation as the "ordination of the laity". The popular idea that the laity should help the clergy is incorrect. The clergy are in a parish to guide and help the laity do the work which Jesus Christ expects them to do.

At this impressive service the following were confirmed,— Eleanor Hodgson, Judaline Hodgson, Myrna Crosby, Louise Freeland, Susan Seary, Mary Jackson, Eunice Boyd, Mrs. E. J. Carlin, Janet Hendry, Therese Billingham and Herbert Sioui. (Another candidiate, Donna Billingham, was in hospital.)

Scriptures translated in many tongues

To most people the names of far away places and countries call to mind romantic pictures and thoughts of exciting adventure. The names of the languages into which some part of the Bible has been translated recently are as exotic as anything to be found anywhere.

Among the 15 new languages added to the Bible Societies' list are Lushai for N.E. India; Gurmakhi Panjabi for India; Aguacateco for Guatamala; Guerro Mixteco, Tenanago Otorie, Tepeuxila Cuiatec and Bachajon Tzeltal for Mexico; Riang for Assam; Kabui Naga for Manipur; and Bilaan for the Philippines.

The United Bible Societies report that some part (at least a whole Gospel) of the Bible has been published in 1,151 languages and of this number 219 were whole Bibles, 271 whole New Testaments and 661 comprised at least one whole Book of the Bible.

This progress in translation has been shared by the British and Foreign Bible Society, the American Bible Society, the Bible Society of India and Ceylon and the National Scottish Bible Society.

Further work in 83 languages is rapidly being brought to a conclusion though some may take ten to twenty years to complete.

CURT COMMENT

Granby, Que. (CP)—The weekly Granby Mail, conducting a campaign for a clean-up of grounds at the Protestant Cemetery in nearby Waterloo, ran four pictures of the cemetery under the caption: "We wouldn't be caught dead here."

Statistics for 1959 show increase, Providence Hospital services

With the new Argenteuil Regional Hospital in prospect of realization in the not-too-distant future, demands upon the services of the Providence Hospital continue to increase. Statistics for this hospital covering the past year show a distinct uptrend in nearly all categories. Here are the figures for 1959, showing also, in brackets, the comparable record for 1958:

Hospital (Indoor) Cases

Adults, 903 (831) Infants, 516 (468)
Hospital Days, adults, 3,623 (3,415)
Hospital Days, infants, 2,353 (2,232)
Deaths, adults, 4 (3)
Deaths, infants, 10 (6)
Still-births, 8 (4)
Confinements, 517 (466)
Tonsillectomies, 106 (93)
Surgery, 124 (120)
Gynaecology, 70 (74)
Medical cases, 96 (78)
Laboratory analyses, 3,039 (3,081)
X-Rays, 93 (133).

Outdoor Treatments

Total patients, 1,158 (1,064)
Surgery, 414 (348)
Laboratory analyses, 1,955 (1,313)
X-Rays, 462 (441).

It is seen that, despite the limited accommodation of this institution, considerably more has been provided in the way of hospital services. The wards have 15 beds for adult patients, and a 10-bed nursery. The staff numbers 22, 12 of whom have nurses' training (9 graduates, 3 non-graduates). The Sisters of Providence, nine in number, and the chaplain, have residence in the building, the remainder of the staff living outside the institution.

The administration of this hospital is supervised by practising physicians of the Medical Board, while the actual management and supervision is in the hands of the Providence Order. The Medical Board was formed in 1951 and includes practitioners within a 10-mile radius of the town. Executive members at the present time are — Dr. Jules Lafleur, chairman; Dr. F. W. FitzGerald, vice-chairman; Dr. Marc Papineau, secretary.

WILLIAM M. COTTINGHAM

Minister of Mines

The most rewarding contracts are those which benefit all parties concerned. And the contract between Argenteuil voters and Bill Cottingham has amply shown that it has been rewarding: voters in the county chose him as their representative in the Legislature in 1948, and on two consecutive occasions since that time, returned him as their deputy. Based on mutual trust, faith and understanding, the contract was renewed because Argenteuil has known that Bill Cottingham is the best representative of their interests in the Quebec government.

When he was appointed as Minister of Mines in 1954, his county gained through the new influence and authority bestowed upon their representative, and the Province of Quebec gained a man whose vision and courage opened the portals to unprecedented progress in our vast minnig industry.

The pride of Argenteuil, and of the province, in Bill Cottingham, Minister of Mines, will once more rise to the fore at the June 22 election: Argenteuil will continue to show its faith, and will be assured of its continued prosperity by returning him once again to the Legislature.

— Jehovah's Witnesses —

Who will go to heaven?

JOHN THE BAPTIST did not go to Heaven; KING DAVID did not go to Heaven; and BABIES do not go to Heaven!

ONLY 144 THOUSAND WILL GO TO HEAVEN.

Christ's faithful followers whom God justifies by reason of their faith and consecration and obedience to him, God, also begets by his spirit or power. He makes them thereby the spiritual sons of God. If they are faithful, God's spirit or power bears witness to them, that they are "heirs of God, and joint-heirs with Christ." To them is held out the hope of gaining immortality. They must seek to attain to this gift of God by likewise holding fast their integrity toward God under test: "to them who, by patient continance in well doing, seek for glory and honour and immortality." (Romans 2:7).

The Bible declares that Christ is the first one God used to bring to light the opportunity of creatures to attain to immortality. — Timothy 1:9, 10. Corinthians 15: 52, 54. Romans 6: 5. Phillippians 3: 10. 1 Cor. 15: 44. Rev. 20: 4-6.

Those who shall form the "body of Christ" and who shall be rewarded with this miraculous change from earthly to heavenly are limited to 144,000, who hold fast their integrity and keep covenant with God and prove faithful unto death. (Revelation 7: 4-8, 14: 1, 2). These, however, are not the only ones that are saved to life on the basis of Christ's ransom sacrifice; but all others of the saved ones shall receive everlasting life on the earth as perfect human creatures. Gen. 2: 17. Gen. 1: 28. Gen. 3: 22, 23.

Those faithful Witnesses of old did not at death go to heaven. King David was one such, and concerning him the apostle Peter, on the day of Pentecost when the holy spirit was poured out, said by inspiration of that spirit; "David is not ascended into the heavens: but he said himself, The Lord said unto my Lord, Sit thou on my right hand, until I make thy foes thy footstool." (Acts 2: 34, 35). Those faithful men of old will not go to heaven, never having been begotten of God's spirit to life in the spirit. Therefore those faithful Christians who enter into the Kingdom of heaven or Theocracy are higher and greater than those men of old ever will be. Concerning this Jesus said: "Verily I say unto you, Among them that are born of women there hath not risen a greater than John the Baptist: notwithstanding, he that is least in the kingdom of heaven is greater than he." (Matthew 11: 11). Therefore the Christian spiritual class, to whom it is their Father's good pleasure to give the Kingdom, receive a "better thing" than John the Baptist and the other prophets who preceded him.

Concerning that righteous world Jesus, "the Prince of Life", said: "Whosoever liveth and believeth in me shall never die." (John 11: 26) "If a man keep my saying, he shall never see death." (John 8: 51). Continuing faithful, such blessed ones shall never die, but shall serve and praise Jehovah God and Christ Jesus his King for ever, "world without end". — John 11: 25, 26; Revelation 21: 4; Isaiah 25: 6-8.

The above article was taken from the booklet, HOPE FOR THE DEAD, FOR THE SURVIVORS IN A RIGHTEOUS NEW WORLD. You can get it for ten cents by writing to 150 Bridgeland Ave., Toronto 10; or ask any Jehovah Witnesses you may happen to meet. Or call at the Congregation nearest to you, they will be glad to serve you.

Association for Rouge River conservation

St. Jovite, June 1 — The provisional board of directors of the new association formed for the conservation, restoration and development of the natural resources in the Rouge River Valley, recently held its first regular meeting at St. Jovite. The Rev. C. H. Deslauriers, of Lac Mercier Parish, presided at the meeting, which decided to divide the watershed into six regions, each of which would be under the jurisdiction of a regional director who would be ex-officio a member of the executive. The board also nominated a special committee to study the constitution of the association. It is formed of Father Deslauriers and of the two vice-presidents, Jean Duval, mayor of Lac Saguay, and M. R. Wilson, manager of the Grenville woods division of Canadian International Paper Company.

Says the C.I.P. bulletin, "Woods Notes", concerning the program of this Association:

The recently formed Rouge Valley Association inaugurated its conservation program this spring by planting 11,000 red pine obtained from Canadian International Paper Company's Harrington Forest Farm tree nursery. One of several aims of this association is to reclaim for wood production all abandoned farms and other non-productive areas in the Rouge River watershed. Boys and girls of the district 4-H Clubs and others of the local parish schools did the planting of twelve properties in the Lac Saguay, Nominingue, Mont Tremblant, Annonciation and La Minerve districts. The small fee charged for this planting service will go into club coffers to finance future projects. It is expected that a great deal will be heard of this Rouge Valley Association as other phases of its conservation program come into being. Certainly its launching by these youths of the district augurs well for the future.

CURBED COMPETITION
(Wall Street Journal)

Let us suppose that when foreign cars first began to make inroads in the American market, the government had promptly slapped prohibitive duties or quotas or otherwise excluded the imports. The American consumer would be denied the opportunity to choose between, say, a Volkswagen and a Ford — and in many cases that would be denying the choice between a lower-priced product. Equally important, the major American companies would feel little or no spur to do anything new or different, such as bringing out small cars. The economy as a whole would suffer from stultification.

He is a member of the National Education Week Committee, the Chemical Institute of Canada, the Chemical Market Research Association and the Montreal Advertising and Sales Executives Club. He lives in Hudson, Que.

During the next two years, the Canadian Home and School and Parent-Teacher Federation will be co-operating actively in preparation for the next Canadian Conference on Education in February 1962. Canada-wide studies of library facilities for children, educational problems of Indian children, post-high school education facilities, responsibility of the family and the community in providing education, are being undertaken and reports will be given at the coming conference.

The Federation also will continue to support teachers' organizations in their attempts to establish senior matriculation and two years of teacher training as the minimum qualifications for certification in all provinces, Mr. Walkington said.

Thursday next is Rotary Night at Lachute Fair

(Contributed)

Yes, next week's Fair Week — and if you haven't the carnival spirit as yet, it will irresistibly take hold as you mingle with the throngs of the midway or grandstand. And whose heart could not but again become light and carefree taking in the Thursday evening show staged by the Lachute-Brownsburg Rotary Club! Hurry up! Enter now for the Cow Milking Contest! (Call Don Wilson or Don McFaul.)

Yes, it's all fun — the hazarding of mental wagers on the horse and pony musical stalls, and the strongly-contested tug-of-war. Come on boys, you'll need some extra weight!

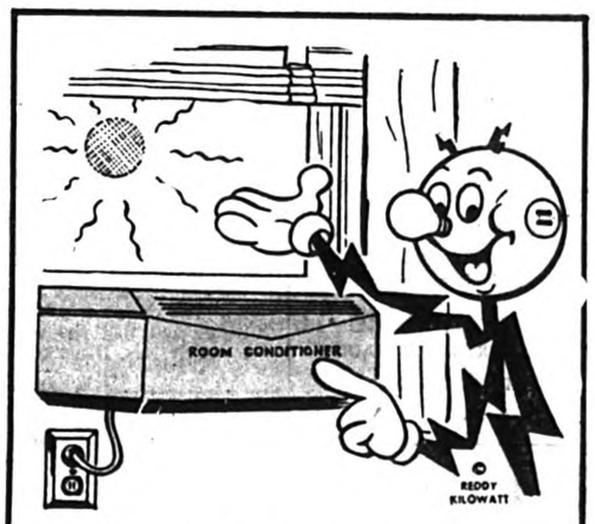

It's all there, complete from the sawdust to the hurdy-gurdy, to the peanuts, popcorn and hot-dogs. The air will be pungent — the senses reel to that spirit which only a country fair can exude. So you'll want to "take in" this Lachute Fair of fairs. See you Thursday night!

Quebec rural vote seen key to political power

QUEBEC THIS WEEK
By Leo Leblanc,
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Quebec (CP) — A book on the behavior of Quebec Province voters came out just recently. It says the rural vote is the key to political power in Quebec.

Meanwhile, the Premier of the province and the Opposition party leader continued their election campaigning, the first moving to rural areas from urban centres, and the second to urban from rural.

The book, out in magazine form until a general printing, was written by Jean Hamelin, Jacques Letarte and Marcel Hamelin, professors at Laval University's Institute of Geography. The Quebec Historical Research Centre and a few experts assisted the authors.

The study is based on statistics covering 24 provincial elections. Results of every provincial election since Confederation are examined on the basis of issues involved, fundamental party alliances of the bulk of voters, and the behavior of a key group of voters whose fluctuating opinions make and break governments in this province. Even the foggy "abstention" factor in each election is minutely observed.

The authors, while making clear they cannot give a series of absolute conclusions, draw a number of points:

1. There are three categories of voters — die hards who form the indestructible core of each of the two main political parties; cyclical voters who form the core of stability any party which hopes to gain power must win over; voters who change their minds with every election, and who make up that nebulous thing called "the floating vote."

2. The two main parties in Quebec, the Union Nationale and Liberals, each have a solid core of voters equal to 30 per cent of eligible voters. That means that 60 per cent of the entire force of voters cast their ballots purely on a party basis — regardless of issues. These are the die-hards.

3. Cyclical voters hold the balance of power. They are located chiefly in rural ridings. To be in power, a party must have at least 12 per cent of the rural cyclical vote.

4. The floating vote is showing definite signs of growing in volume and importance. The authors estimate the Union Nationale and Liberal parties have each lost five per cent of their steady vote to 21 per cent of the eligible voters in rural constituencies.

5. Because of the existing division of ridings, "To command the rural vote is to command the Province."

Interesting list of entries for Lachute Fair

In the horse exhibits, the purebred classes of Hackney ponies and horses and Standard Breds will vie for top honors.

Each afternoon and evening, excepting Wednesday and Saturday, there will be a horse show in the green ring at the Fair Grounds.

On Thursday afternoon, the Premier will arrive in Lachute by plane, and is expected at the Fair Grounds at about 3.30 p.m. He is to be welcomed at the airport by Argenteuil's William M. Cottingham, Quebec Minister of Mines.

The Premier will open the fair in a ceremony at which religious and civil dignitaries will be invited guests. He will then address the audience and, following the ceremonies, will visit the many exhibits around the Fair Grounds.

During the four-day show, local service clubs will sponsor divers attractions, every evening Thursday through Saturday, with a Saturday matinee show.

REVEALING

The easiest way to keep up with the Joneses is to listen while their children talk. —Reader's Digest

Combat poison ivy with herbicides

Poison ivy and the related poison oak can be controlled with herbicides, says Dr. J. R. Hay of the Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

Poison ivy is most prevelent in Ontario and Western Quebec. From Quebec City eastward it is found less frequently and from Winnipeg to the Pacific Coast it is troublesome mainly at lake and woodland resorts. Poison oak occurs in British Columbia.

Products containing amino triazole or silvex give good control.

For preparations containing amino triazole, four pounds of the active ingredient per acre is recommended, and two pounds per acre for silvex. A commercial mixture of 2,4-D and 2,4,5-T (brush-killer) at two pounds of acid equivalent per acre is slightly less effective.

Directions for spraying small areas are given on containers. It is extremely important that a thorough job be done in applying the chemical, says Dr. Hay, as this can make the difference between excellent and mediocre results. Points to remember are:

1. Use enough solution to wet all foliage thoroughly, going over the area twice if necessary.

2. Spray when the leaves are fully grown, from mid-June to mid-August in Eastern Canada. Avoid spraying during dry periods, as the chemicals are not so effective.

3. Repeat if new growth occurs. If the roots are not completely killed the new growth will appear in late summer or in the next season and should be sprayed to prevent re-establishment of the weed.

Soil sterilants containing sodium borate also give good control of poison ivy. These should be applied in early spring or in the fall when there is adequate rainfall to carry the chemicals into the soil. They may be applied dry in a granulated form or may be mixed with water. All vegetation in the area treated will be killed for at least one season.

When working in poison ivy, rubber boots and gauntlet gloves should be worn. Avoid skin contacts with the leaves, stems, roots and equipment. Wash hands, wearing apparel and equipment thoroughly after spraying.

GOOD CATCH

It was a lovely day and some of the asylum inmates were permitted to go outside. Strolling about, a staff doctor spotted one of them with a fishing rod, casting in the middle of a flower bed. He approached the man and asked, "How are they biting today?"

"Darn good — you make the seventh."

NEW MIRACLE OF LOURDES?

Fernande Denomme, four, of Hamilton, Ont. is suffering from a rare liver ailment known as Banti's disease. She has spent most of her life in hospitals and as a last resort her mother took her to Lourdes, France in the hope of a miracle cure. They returned recently and Fernande was taken to Toronto Sick Children's hospital for a check-up. The doctor said he had never seen Fernande looking better and that she would not have to return for six months. Mrs. Denomme said, "Its a miracle."

Piano music makers

— By NANCY CLEAVER —

"Five and thirty black slaves,
Half-a-hundred white,
All their duty but to sing
For their Queen's delight."

Thus wrote Sir William Watson in a poem "The Key-board."

Many parents are ambitious that their child should receive piano lessons. If his elementary instruction is available in a class after school hours, at school or in the community, often several children who are chums are eager to embark on this adventure together.

Many outstanding music teachers are agreed that the piano is an excellent choice for musical lessons for a child. Harmony and melody can be made on the piano. Before very long a student has the satisfaction of playing a tune by himself. It is an excellent foundation for learning to play other instruments later in life.

There is a wide choice of music for advanced students to meet every taste or mood. Piano music can add greatly to enjoyment in the home without another musical instrument. At the same time an able pianist may encourage family participation in singing solos, duets, or as a group and may be the centre around which a family orchestra is built.

Music teachers often make some practical suggestions to parents of a child learning to play the piano. Over and over again they stress the importance of never forcing a child either to listen to or participate in music. This pressure produces a spirit of rebellion which destroys the attitude necessary for real music. They suggest that a child of average musical ability should start piano lessons between eight and ten, because at that age he has sufficient co-ordination of mind, eye, ear and hand.

The piano itself should be as good a piano as the family can afford and should be kept in tune. It should be placed in the most pleasant place in the room, in a position where the lighting is good so that the notes can be read without eye strain. But it should not stand beside a window where a child's interest will be constantly distracted by happenings he can see through the pane.

A child should have a regular period for practice which is not too long for sustained concentration. Twenty minutes to half an hour is long enough for most juniors. The practice period should not interfere with the regular play time.

How can a mother expect Junior to practice wholeheartedly if his pals are enjoying a game of baseball? A child who is too tired cannot learn music (or anything else)! Practising should never be used as a punishment. If it is, music will soon become not only a burden, but actually hated, by a child. Money bribes for practising for a definite length of time are not a good plan. But a natural reward for acquiring a certain degree of proficiency would be to attend a good concert.

Playing the piano, or any other instrument, develops habits of regular concentration, technical skill and the imagination. It is an emotional outlet.

A boy or girl who plays well, should be given the opportunity to play occasionally for a visitor or guest, and to play at a concert. This plan promotes in a child a sense of accomplishment and adds greatly to the popularity of an adolescent or adult with a group. Entrance in a class in a Musical Festival is another excellent activity. Attendance at the sessions of a festival is a rewarding experience for anyone. Watching so many shining-eyed, eager young performers is a reminder of the lines in "The Music Makers" by O'Shaughnessy:

"We are the music-makers
And we are the dreamers of dreams."

Canned Salmon on the culinary scene

Canned salmon is as much a part of the Canadian culinary scene as is a white mantle of snow a part of our winter scene. The rich flavor and color of the always-popular native product add a distinctive note to many dishes, from the simplest sandwhiches to elegant casseroles. It is particularly appealing when used as the character ingredient in a high and handsome main dish soufflé. Lemon juice and rind and a hint of marjoram are effective seasoning partners that combine to set-off the salmon. Salmon Soufflé Supreme is one of the many really good salmon dishes which can be served when the budget is at its lowest ebb without the cook losing face or pride in her creativity.

Salmon Soufflé Supreme

1 Cup flaked salmon, 3 tablespoons butter or margarine, 1 tablespoon finely minced onion, 3 tablespoons flour, liquid drained from salmon plus milk to make 1 cup, 2 tablespoons finely chopped celery, 1 tablespoon finely minced parsley, 1 tablespoon grated lemon rind, 3 eggs (separated), ½ teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon paprika, ½ teaspoon marjoram, 1 tablespoon lemon juice.

Drain off liquid from salmon and reserve. Flake salmon. Melt butter or margarine; sauté onion until soft. Blend in flour. Add enough milk to reserved salmon liquid to make one cup. Gradually blend into butter-flour mixture. Cook, stirring, until thickened and smooth. Blend into boiling sauce the salmon, celery, parsley and lemon rind. Reduce heat. Beat egg yolks and stir into salmon mixture. Cook and stir over low heat about one minute to let egg yolks thicken. Season mixture with salt, paprika, marjoram and lemon juice. Cool slightly while beating egg whites . . . until stiff. Fold lightly into salmon mixture. Pour into ungreased baking dish approximately seven inches in diameter. Bake in moderate oven preheated to 325 degrees F. about 40 minutes. (For "high hat" effect, run a groove about 1½ inches around top of soufflé about 1¼ inches from edge of dish, using a large spoon or rubber spatula.) Makes 4 servings. If desired, serve with tomato or mushroom sauce.

Teatime Topics

Specially Written for The Lachute Watchman By Edna Blakely, Canadian Press Staff Writer

Members of the Canadian Association of Consumers are watching with interest possible legislation in the United States which would present the consumers' viewpoint in the formation of policies of the government.

A bill introduced recently in the U.S. Senate calls for the formation of a department of consumers. Canada's CAC says the department would act as a watchdog on commercial and trade practices, consumer services and the production, distribution, prices and quality of consumer goods.

The CAC says the United States department would not test brand goods but would organize conferences, publish surveys on topics of consumer interest, and act as the consumers' representative in the courts and before government boards and commissions.

A recent CAC bulletin stated: "It is a long and constructive step forward when a government recognizes the importance of protecting the interests of the consumer. If, in the set-up of a government department of consumers, there is included a centralized source or bureau of consumer information and a scheme for direct consumer contact or liaison with department in the form of some sort of advisory committee of representative women — this could be the answer to a consumer's prayer. If the U.S.A. follows through, we shall hope that our own Canadian government will take note."

Colorful Dentistry

Fixtures and appliances for the home have been available in colors for some time and color now has come to dental offices. Equipment is available in seven colors including jade green, Washington blue, coral and ivory tan.

Madeleine Duperre of the color conditioning service of a Canadian manufacturer says the color of a dentist's equipment is the first consideration in choosing a color scheme for his office. In a home the color scheme is chosen from a painting, draperies or the carpet.

Household Hint

If you have scratches in your hardwood floors that are no deeper than the finish, steel wool and a solvent cleaner will erase them.

Saturate a pad of medium coarse steel wool with cleaning fluid and rub in the direction of the grain.

To refinish the marred area, dilute three parts of clear shellac to one part alcohol and apply with a soft brush. Allow to dry overnight. If the spot has a higher gloss than the surrounding area of the floor, dull it by rubbing with steel wool.

By the Pound

It's news to most Canadian women that eggs are actually sold by the pound. The Poultry Products Institute says a dozen grade A large eggs weigh a minimum of 24 ounces, grade A medium weigh 21 ounces and grade A small weigh 18 ounces.

LEGION NOTES

— by —

"ACTIVE SERVICE YESTERDAY COMMUNITY SERVICE TODAY"

"Take me out to the ball game, take me out with the boys" — that seems to be the local theme song for the young boys of Lachute. More than 50 youngsters showed up Saturday last to register for the Little League and the Pony League teams. The lists are still open however, and if there are any other aspiring ball-players in the district, they will be welcome.

Thanks to Com. Doug Kettyle, the field is now in playing condition. In fact, there are so many eager-beaver players in the town that, much to the Legion's delight, they are using it now even though the bases are not yet in place. Special thanks are due to Com. Duncan too, for his arrangements in having the field rolled. The first gathering of all the players will be this week, and once all these ball hawks have been scouted, the teams will be formed and the leagues will start.

From the parents' point of view we would think that the location of the field is ideal. Well off the road and lots of room for all the bikes. Just one thing, fellows, do not forget to obey the safety rules when you are riding up to the field — single file on the road, and signal when you are turning off to the playground.

Don't forget the gala night coming up on the 11th. Branch 66 will be joining us for an evening of dancing. Com. Doug Ogilvy promises a very enjoyable time, with a real surprise for everyone before the evening is over.

Com. R. O. MacLean and his committee report that the entries are coming in for the Horse Pull on Saturday night at the Fair. This promises to equal or better any of the past events in this field.

Com. Jim Duncan is very enthusiastic over the response to the District Golf Tournament, which he is lining up for Branch 70 and the neighboring branches. There will be more details of this in later columns; however, remember the date, August 21; the place, St. Andrews; and that starting times will be instituted. This means that all entries should be in ahead of time. No post-entries, please. Speaking of entries, the entry fee will be $5; this will cover the green fees and supper. To all Legion members and their friends this will be a very enjoyable outing, so plan to be there. It matters not if you golf once a year, once a month or every time you can get away from work. — Come on out for the day!

The Legion hospital equipment is always available to anyone in the district who has a need for canes, crutches or wheelchairs. Branch 70 have sponsored this equipment as a public service, there is no charge, and anyone from any walk of life is welcome to its use, should the occasion arise. A call to Coms. B. A. Jenkins, S. Jones, R. Giles, or to the Legion Hall itself, will let you know if the piece that you require is available or not. If it is, it is yours for as long as it may be necessary to use it. Please do not hesitate to make use of this service.

FAMILY REUNITED AFTER 16 YEARS

A 16-year-old boy burst into tears as he stepped off a plane at Malton airport and for the first time saw his parents and older brother. The lad Toomis Ellerbusch above with his mother had just been released from Estonia, the first young man Russia allowed to leave an Iron Curtain country. The family was separated during World War II.

Leadership course of benefit to many W.I. members

Ladies who attended the recent Leadership Course at Macdonald College for the Quebec Women's Institutes returned home with information that will help not only themselves but also their Institutes, and thereby the communities in which they live. Forty-five delegates represented branches from Pontiac to Gaspé counties. Courses were taken in Horticulture, with the emphasis on the landscaping of farm home grounds, Lino Block Printing, Decorating with Tiles, the study of Textiles, Nutrition and this year's innovation as a "bonus feature", the W.I. Grooming Course.

This was immensely popular. The course was given by experts in each field. The first session was under the direction of Mrs. Iris Robbins, whose class demonstrated the right and wrong ways to stand and sit, etc., and corrective exercises for all sorts of acquired physical defects. The following day Miss Freda Nisbet, beauty editor for Avon Products of Canada, using the W.I. "Guinea pig" (Mrs. Crevier) as a model, showed skin care and make-up. Next, Mrs. Jennifer Lindsay, fashion consultant of the T. Eaton Co. Ltd., showed the ladies how to combine accessories to "stretch" their wardrobes. She also used Mrs. Crevier as one of the models. Finally, Mrs. Mary Hue, president of the Art Institute of Hairdressing, with five volunteer models, demonstrated hair styling, and delighted her audience, who later deluged her with questions such as, "Should I color my hair?" and "What color?"

The delegates watched their members emerge after four days of grooming as examples of what the right care and attention can do for ordinary housewives.

Tips on Touring

By Carol Lane

Women's Travel Authority

Summer driving affords a lot of pleasures and a few problems as well.

Fortunately, the most common complaints of the touring season have easy cures.

(1) Bugs in the radiator: Place the water hose under the hood and squirt water outward through the radiator apertures. Be careful not to wet the motor or the wiring.

(2) Upholstery fading: Vent-shades over the side windows cut down the direct rays of the sun.

(3) Boiling radiator: Preventive medicine advised here. Have the radiator flushed and cooling system conditioner added. Have fan-belt checked for proper tension.

(4) Breathing dust: Keep car floor mats well brushed, for dust on the floor is usually the culprit. It's circulated to your nostrils by the air vents.

(5) Hot seat: Special wicker backrests allow air to circulate behind the driver or passenger, help make the whole body feel cooler.

(6) Accumulated dirt on the engine: Caused by excessive dirt-road driving. Steam-cleaning the engine is the most effective remedy.

GRASS CUTTERS' PARADISE

The boys of Deep River, Ont., line up with their lawn mowers, eager to get at the grass of the town. No wonder. They get $2 per 1,000 square feet if they cut. The project was initiated by the public works committee because Deep River is a planned townsite with plenty of turf to trim. Each trim costs about $700. The job keeps the boys of the town out of mischief during the summer months and the town gets the grass cut economically as well as quickly.

PROGRESS THROUGH RESEARCH

MIND OVER MATTER

Although some tensions are necessary for survival, prolonged tension can devastate a usually cheerful personality and, in many cases, can affect your body as well as your emotions.

Peptic ulcers, for instance, are usually linked with psychological conflicts and nervous tension. Contrary to public opinion, successful business executives are not the only ones who get ulcers. College students, housewives, mechanics, farmers and persons in almost every occupation have their share.

Exactly how the emotions affect the body is not completely understood, but it is definitely known that many chronic physical illnesses are aggravated by emotional tension. Ulcers, for example, are linked with emotions, as are certain heart conditions and skin disturbances.

Because of this close relationship, pharmaceutical research scientists are developing drugs which will affect both emotional and physical disturbances. One of the newest tranquilizers on the market helps control emotional anxieties and at the same time relieves certain physical symptoms associated with peptic ulcers and cleans up some skin conditions, due to allergies or just plain "nerves".

While it is true that doctors now have better drugs for treating anxiety, prevention is still the best cure. Rest and relaxation are two good ways to avoid severe tension which, to many people with chronic illness, can spell double trouble.

Diary of a Vagabond

BY DOROTHY BARKER

Trouble with precocious children is that they learn to read at an early age. Our Susan is no exception. She gets most of her outlandish ideas and insistent questions from her habit of perusing every newspaper and magazine that comes into the house.

She was lying on her fat little stomach recently, reading a national magazine, when she let a holler out of her. We had all been aware of the fact she was not too pleased about plans for her birthday celebration. Adults in the family thought it a splendid idea to take the numerous school mates a little girl invites to her eighth birthday party, to the church tea her mother was convening. No fuss, no dishes, enough cake and ice cream to satisfy the bottomless pits of most children's stomachs and a few extra dollars to boot for the church coffers.

But Sue had spotted an item in the magazine relating the wonderful inspiration a father had had for the birthday party of his own offspring. "A train ride with all the trimmings", she squealed. Susan was enchanted and not the least nonplussed when she was told any such plan would curtail her guest list drastically. Instead she informed us she had some "very special friends" whom she would invite.

They were finally reduced to three and when added to the family group it appeared that six youngsters would mark Susan's natal day in a big way.

She chose a trip to Santa Claus village in Muskoka, Ont., a little more than a hundred miles from home base. This just nicely let father's wallet under the wire for group travel, only it wasn't father as it turned out who conducted the tour. With mother committed to keep the wheels turning smoothly at the parish hall tea and a telegram instructing father to report at head office in the United States, it fell to my lot to see that six lively youngsters travelled safely, ate wisely and enjoyed themselves, for ten solid hours.

Even I was a little excited as we boarded the train early that morning late in May. Susan had made another concession; she had allowed her brother, eldest of the family trio, to ask a friend of his to the party. Four little girls in fluffy gingham dresses, demurely clutching pastel sweaters in their tiny gloved hands and two small boys, all spit and polish, trying to act as though a train ride was an every day occurrence in their young lives, attracted the attention of the CNR conductor. I'll never be able to guess from whence he produced a chocolate bar and balloon for each child, but he seemed to sense this was a very special occasion.

When we arrived at our destination, Susan informed me in a superior way that none of them believed in Santa Claus. When she said they would much rather climb the huge rocks outside the village and "explore" I felt I had "been taken", by a scheming miss. This was more than I had bargained for, keeping watch over six adventurers.

It has always been a pity we cannot "see oursel's as others see us". I must have been a picture that warm day. Burdened with seven box lunches (courtesy of the church tea), a bulky coat, three little girls' discarded sweaters, two blue flannel blazers (boy's size ten) a purse with the proportions of a suitcase and, of all stupid things, an umbrella, I trailed those wild Indians from rock to rock and stump to stump. I was full of fear that they might get lost, for the Muskoka bush seems very wild to a city slicker.

When they became bored with their game of 'Run Sheep Run', they decided to settle for Santa's Village after all. I was greatly relieved. There, I felt, I could control their wanderings. Then we discovered we were too early for the opening of this playground curiosity for children.

At this juncture nature took over. Their legs were exhausted and their stomachs empty. This relieved me of the burden of lunch boxes and gave me just enough of a breather to gain strength to dabble a small towel in a nearby spring and wash six dirty little mugs.

Going back later in the afternoon, we were all happy to find sufficient room in the train coach to pillow our tired heads and support our aching limbs. They looked like little angels as they slept, mussed a bit but happy. One of their number, however, never closed a winker. Susan sat wide-eyed watching the landscape slip by her coach window, and sighing over and over again, "This was my most beautiful birthday ever."

July program for Otter Lake Music Centre

For the eighth successive season amateur musicians and music lovers will meet in the Laurentians at Otter Lake Music Centre from July 3 to 31, to spend their holidays in making fine music together.

Operating on the theory that music-making throughout the ages has always been primarily for amateur musicians, and that for many it is more satisfying to be an active participant than it is to be a passive listener, the Music Centre offers its guests the experience of taking part in a wide variety of music-making activities. Guests may attend for one to four weeks. Even those who have never made music before, may learn to read music, to play the recorder (a family of flutes employed in a good deal of 17th Century music, and much in vogue in our own time), and to participate in the weekly Friday evening performances of Bach Cantatas.

In addition to the regular schedule of the Centre for adults, there is a complete program for children so that parents may be free to attend their own groups. This year for the first time, instruction will be given in the Carl Orff Method for children, which features the use of percussion instruments, among others.

In response to many requests, a camping ground will be available, in addition to the usual hotel facilities offered by the Music Centre.

Members of the staff include — Mario Duschenes, flautist of the Montreal Baroque Trio; Otto Joachim, composer, teacher of the viol at McGill University and a member of the Montreal String Quartet; Jan Simons, distinguished baritone and recital artist; Jacques Carriere, whose research and work in folk-dancing is well known; Carl Little, music producer of the CBC in Toronto; and George Little, director of the Montreal Bach Choir.

The Bible today

Opportunities for Bible distribution under unusual circumstance occur from time to time throughou the world. At a recent Nationa Brazilian Basketball Invitation Tournament, each of the players coaches, referees and other offi cials from all over the country wa presented with a Bible.

Recently in Toronto a class of public school children attended the oath-taking ceremony at the citizenship court. The Judge, the clerk of the court, the school teacher, and each of the children were presented with a copy of the John Stirling Youth Bible to commemorate the occasion and to remind them of the central place the Bible should hold in the life of a citizen of Canada.

Market list helpful to cottage-keeping housewives

The exodus from town to country starts any day now. So let's check the cottage market list and see if these foods are included. Have you got a package of skim milk powder for the days when fresh supply runs out or lack of ice turns fresh milk sour? Have you dehydrated soups, salad dressing mixes, powdered fruit drinks, instant potatoes and onion flakes for small storage and easy using? Have you added instant or quick cooking cereals and cocoa for cold rainy mornings? Did you remember ready-to-eat cereals for baking and eating any time of day? Did you decide on an easy summer and jot down quick bread mixes like muffins, pancakes, biscuits? And most important did you find the answer to always having meat on hand by adding Canned Meats to your list. Right now Canned Pork Luncheon Meat is a real bargain. In itself its many uses are as convenient as its price. Try some of these ideas for using it in salads:

1. Add Julienne strips of pork to a tossed salad.

2. Combine equal quantities of diced pork and celery. Add one or more of the following: diced green or red pepper, cucumbers, sweet pickle, cooked peas, hard-cooked eggs, olives, nuts. Moisten with mayonnaise or cooked dressing.

3. When making jellied consommé in fancy or oblong shape add wedges, cubes or strips of pork together with one or more fresh vegetables.

4. Add diced pork to hot or cold potato salad.

5. Add finely diced, mashed or shredded pork to egg yolks when making devilled eggs.

6. Stuff tomatoes with diced or chopped pork alone or in combination with vegetables.

7. Use sliced pork for a cold plate in combination with (a) lettuce cups filled with potato or egg salad, (b) cole slaw or tossed salad or (c) slices, wedges or strips of salad vegetables.

Burgers made with Canned Pork Luncheon Meats are good substitutes for hamburgers at the cottage where ground meat is not always easy to buy or to keep.

Pork Burgers

8 Hamburger buns, 1 12-ounce can pork luncheon meat, 1 tablespoon fat, 8 thin slices cheese, onion or tomato.

Heat buns in oven. Cut pork into eight slices. Melt fat in frying pan and sauté slices, allowing them to brown lightly on both sides. Cut heated buns in half and place sautéed slices of pork on lower half. Top each slice with cheese, onion or tomato and arrange on broiler rack. Place top halves of bun on broiler tray, cut side up. Place broiler rack on tray and broil "burgers" until cheese is melted or until onion or tomato slices are lightly browned. Remove from oven and cover with top half of bun.

HOSPITALIZATION...

QUEBEC PAYS $40 MILLION FOR CARE IN OTHER PROVINCES

* The Government says it can't afford Hospitalization Insurance . . . yet, supplies it to other provinces!
* Quebec tax-payers contribute $40 million each year to the Hospitalization Plans of other provinces!
* The only hospitalization ever provided by the present Government has been its iniquitous system of "pink forms" at election time. This cost us close to $19 million in 1956!
* The Government today sets up a new Hospital Insurance Commission. Why, then, was it abolished in 1945?

THE LIBERAL SOLUTION:

1. Face up to hospitalization insurance as being of vital concern to the family and a definite provincial responsibility.
2. Recover our lost $40 million.
3. Immediate establishment of a general Provincial Hospital Insurance Plan.
4. Abolish electoral exploitation of human suffering.

Minimize Bloat Losses

Why do cows on pasture like to chew dry hay, and why do cows on silage as their only roughage chew their bedding?

These actions may reflect a deep-seated instinct for self-preservation on the part of cud-chewing animals because they are prone to bloat on some kinds of green feed.

Dr. Bohstedt

We know that ruminants do a great deal of belching and that this is a necessary safety device that is especially important for the prevention of bloat, a problem that is estimated to cost beef cattle producers alone some $40 million a year.

Physiologically, the safety device in this case seems to be the so-called esophageal groove at the entrance to the paunch or rumen. If this is "stuck," and gas accumulates in the paunch, a serious case of bloat may result.

The sticking of the safety valve is more likely to take place when the digestive tract, including the paunch, has lost or even slowed up its normal movements.

The digestive tract movement is a constant wave-like expansion and contraction that is called peristalsis. It is apparently intended to mix the feed with the digestive enzymes and to expedite the feed rearward during the process of digestion. The movement also brings about a periodic opening of that safety valve to permit the escape of gas.

Soft dishraggy feeds such as lush pasture, especially the tops of green growing legumes as eaten by grazing cattle or sheep, do not seem to stimulate these digestive movements of the paunch sufficiently to cause periodic openings of the safety valve and release of gas, so bloat often occurs. If the stems are eaten with the green tops they are more likely to stimulate the movements and minimize or prevent bloating. That's why cattle fed cut green feed, stems and all, are more likely to stimulate the movements and minimize or prevent bloating.

A partial answer to the problem and a means of minimizing bloat is to provide free access to some hay, straw, or any other coarse scratchy roughage which will prick the lining of the stomach and stimulate peristalsis to encourage the periodic "blurp" that releases the gas constantly being given off by the fermentation processes in the animal's paunch.

For cattle grazing on alfalfa or other legume pasture it is best to place hay or other roughage in a suitable rack, or at least cut a swath or two the length of the pasture so the cattle will have some dried and rougher legume mixed with the very succulent growing green pasture feed.

Among other measures for reducing occurrences of bloat salt-penicillin and salt-terramycin mixtures have been used with considerable success. Both are available on the market.

Question: I've been hearing quite a bit about the practice of using salt to regulate meal consumption when self-feeding cattle and would like to know where this originated.

Answer: This practice is said to have originated along the Pecos River in western Texas, where sheepmen used a large proportion of salt with cottonseed meal to prevent poisoning by certain range plants. The sheep would not eat the poisonous weeds if given their salt regularly. It was soon appreciated that this device of heavily salting cottonseed meal controlled intake and could be used to save the labor of hand feeding.

Have You A Question on UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE OR EMPLOYMENT?

In this column we publish questions about unemployment insurance and employment, together with answers received from the Unemployment Insurance Commission.

If you are uncertain about any point do not hesitate to send us your question. We will obtain an answer and publish it in this column.

Following are some questions with answers which may be of interest to you:

Q. — I received regular benefits last year and this year I have 24 contributions. Can I receive seasonal benefits for last year before using my last contributions?

A. — No. A seasonal benefit period may be established only for a claimant who is unable to fulfill the qualifying conditions for regular benefit.

Q. — Is a farmer allowed to give stamps to a man who builds a barn for him? Also, is a man who hires somebody to cut wood for the market allowed to give stamps?

A. — Under certain circumstances a farmer is required to pay unemployment insurance for persons employed by him to build a barn or cut wood. For a precise answer in any specific case you should consult officials of the local office of the Unemployment Insurance Commission serving the area in which you reside.

Farmer's war against weeds

Why should we declare war on weeds? The Quebec Department of Agriculture gives the following reasons:

(1) Weeds are either useless, troublesome, or injurious on a farm;

(2) Weeds do much harm to Quebec agriculture.

A glance at reports by qualified investigators is all that one needs to form an idea of the losses attributable to the presence of weeds in crops; these losses have been estimated at an average of $450 a year for each American farm. The comparable figure is about $300 for Quebec farms. Although a little more reasonable, it is still disturbing, and represents a slice out of the profits which our farmers can ill afford. Moreover, it must be remembered that these losses due to weeds are increasing from year to year. It is high time to put a stop to them.

The harm done by weeds in the farmer's fields are manifold:

(a) They absorb from the soil the moisture required by the crops;

(b) They rob the crops of the nutrient elements which they need in order to grow, and thus diminsh their yield.

(c) They grow together in clumps and patches, shading and crowding out desirable plants;

(d) They add considerably to the operating costs of tillage and harvesting;

(e) They may impart a bad flavor to milk, and in some cases poison livestock;

(f) The presence of weed seeds in seed grain and other seed, reduces its market value;

(g) Weeds harbour insects and diseases which ravage crops;

(h) What about the value of agricultural property which is covered with weeds?

There seems to be good reason to state that weeds are the worst enemies of our crops. In seeking to combat a hostile horde such as this, the farmer should rely on the help of the powerful allies at his disposal. Of these allies, clean seed and suitable methods of tillage have been first and foremost. These have lately been supported by modern weapons (the fruits of intensive research) in the form of chemicals widely known as selective herbicides.

In view of these modern facilities now available, it is perhaps worthwhile to recall the words spoken 30 years ago by Dr. E. S. Archibald, at that time the director of the Dominion Experimental Farms Service: "The inertia of too many, and the manifest indifference, are the cause of increasing losses due to weeds in crops, and of the rise in costs of production amongst those farmers who do practice weed control. Diligence is the only sure remedy."

Human factors in trek from Canadian farms

Canadians have heard so much of the decline of the rural population that they tend to accept it as a fact without probing for the human factors behind it, comments Dr. Helen C. Abell.

Dr. Abell, head of rural sociology in the Canada Department of Agriculture, made a careful study of this problem.

She reminds the city-dwelling Canadian that families living on farms go through the normal cycle of rearing children and helping to establish them in their chosen occupation.

Changed Thinking

The chosen occupation of most sons used to be the continuation of the family farm or setting themselves up on farms. Today this expectation of transference of the family farm from the present to the succeeding generation is no longer part of the thinking of all farm families.

Why this change? For one thing the economics of farming are such that it is becoming increasingly difficult to make a go of it without a large volume of production and an assured market for the farm produce.

Many young farmers, and sons of older farmers, feel that they do not want to borrow the money necessary for expansion of land, buildings, machinery and stock. They may prefer the regular hours and wages to be found in jobs off the farm and this eventually leads to permanent non-farm jobs and urban living. For some farmers, however, this non-farm work is an effort to earn the stake which will enable them to re-establish themselves on the land.

Price of Expansion

Looking at instances where the farm has been expanded, Dr. Abell seeks to find whether this has led to better living for the family. She finds that the increased income has brought into the home some of the things which make life easier and more enjoyable but often at the price of the wife and children giving up much of their time as unpaid labor on the farm.

The Bureau of Statistics survey for December, 1959, confirms that unpaid family labor accounts for much of the labor force on Canadian farms — only 79,000 men of 588,000 were paid workers; only 9,000 women of a 30,000 labor force were paid workers.

The search for adjustment to today's economic conditions involves the wife and children as well as the man of the family, Dr. Abell concludes.

Charter members honored at Lions' anniversary

At the Lions Club 25th Anniversary dance and celebration, at the Golf Club chalet last Saturday, a pleasing feature of the program was a presentation to two charter members present on this occasion — Major G. G. Mitchell and Phil Roy — who received 25-year chevrons and certificates. Their wives were presented with handsome bouquets. The happy group above shows (left to right) Gwen Duncan, daughter of President Lorne E. Duncan, presenting flowers to Mrs. Mitchell; Major Mitchell; Mrs. Phil Roy and Mr. Roy, receiving his emblem and certificate from Tris Coffin, chairman of the Board of Governors of Lions' District A. . . . Other charter members not present but still on the roll, are Clement Tremblay, O.B.E., and the Hon. W. M. Cottingham. — Photo, Syd Drew

Dr. Eric Mongeon new president for Lions Club

Highlight of a Lions Club meeting replete with business of the Club and the community, was the election last week of officers for the year 1960-61.

Dr. Eric Mongeon, dentist and prominent local sports enthusiast, was elected president to succeed Lion Lorne E. Duncan, with Col. E. Emmett, Royal Carrière and Donald M. Hay as 1st, 2nd and 3rd vice-presidents, respectively.

K. W. Clarke continues his familiar role as secretary, with Robt. Marcil as treasurer, succeeding Donald Hay.

Legal Advisor — Fernand Legault, Q.C.

Tail Twister — Clifford Lowe.

Lion Tamer — Robt. Haydon.

Bulletin Editor — Bill Flanigan.

Directors — O. Carrière, Roger Regimbal, Geo. Cole, Fred Jeffery, Tony Zaplaski, Clayton Robinson, Jacques Bourgouing, Phil Tremblay, Don Titman, Roger Gravel.

There were over 40 present, including two guests. Dr. F. W. FitzGerald took the chair on the unavoidable departure of President Lorne Duncan. Secretary Keith Clarke reported as a delegate to the recent District A convention in Ottawa, which was the largest assembly of Lions ever held in Canada. Dr. Mongeon and Dr. F. W. FitzGerald also gave their impressions — both of whom indicated that Lachute, the second oldest group in Quebec, was highly regarded for its good record among clubs of both Quebec and Ontario.

Lion Ossie Carrière reported satisfactorily on the Anniversary drawing. Bob Dixon outlined plans for the gala 25th Anniversary dance (last Saturday at the Golf Club); Bill Flanigan stated matters were well in hand for the Lachute Fair annual drawing; and Jacques Bourgouing spoke on the Friday night grandstand entertainment, the "Feux Follets" folk dancers.

Nominations and contradictory meeting prelude two-way election contest here

The traditional "contradictory meeting" following the nomination day proceedings in this constituency ended in a certain rowdiness last Wednesday at the Civic Auditorium, and the last speakers had to curtail their remarks, being drowned out by a noisy element in the audience.

With Mayor McGibbon as chairman, the meeting lasted an hour and a half, and six speakers were heard from the platform.

The Hon. W. M. Cottingham, Minister of Mines, reviewed the achievements of the National Union government. He was supported by Gaston Laurier of St. Jerome, former Mayor of Huberdeau, and John Bumbray, Advocate, of Montreal.

Rodrigue Durocher, the Liberal candidate, was supported by Jean-Paul Noël, former deputy for Jeanne-Mance constituency, and Glen Brown, deputy for Brome in the last legislature.

A large group of Argenteuil mayors, who had attended the County Council meeting that day, were invited to sit on the platform.

The Hon. W. M. Cottingham

"When you elected me for the first time in 1948," recalled Mr. Cottingham, "I was not enjoying the best of health — but political life has invigorated me, and I am now in dangerously good shape!"

"I am criticized because you do not see me often around the county. That's true, I admit. But I cannot occupy my seat at Quebec and be in Lachute at the same time. Moreover, I cannot uphold your best interests by being continually here in Argenteuil. I must represent you at Quebec. And I may add, my staff here is in constant touch with me."

HON. BILL COTTINGHAM
seeking renewed mandate.

Mr. Cottingham paid particular credit to his wife, who had given him encouragement in his legislative role. He lauded Mr. Barrette for his administrative qualities and remarked that the Union Nationale had not needed to look beyond its cabinet ranks for a capable leader. He spoke of extensive improvements effected in this county since 1948, of grants to municipalities, the building of schools, bridges, roads, farm drainage projects, and public assistance.

"As far as the Carillon Dam is concerned, this is under the jurisdiction of Quebec Hydro, and I have nothing to do with the hiring of labor or the purchase of materials. I may say, however, that I have urged that all merchants in this district should be encouraged in the supplying of materials. A recent report shows that 783 of our County residents are working at Carillon, and that 49 local suppliers have furnished $340,000 of requirements for the buildings on this project."

Rodrigue Durocher

Mr. Durocher launched an immediate attack on the Union Nationale, and claimed the "blues" could hurl no scandals against the Liberal party. "We have no liberty left us in this province," he said, "but after June 22 you will have the right to speak, to think, and to act on your own."

He reproached Mr. Cottingham with having built only 13 miles of road for each year of the past 12 years in this County. He accused him of "mixing politics with religion" (having particular reference to two election signs posted on ecclesiastic property). He assailed Mr. Gaston Laurier for proclaiming the merits of the Minister, whereas he was formerly against him as a Bloc Populaire supporter. He spoke of "centralization" of the Union Nationale, and declared Mr. Cottingham was "too occupied with his mines" to do justice to his County.

RODRIGUE DUROCHER,
official Liberal candidate.

Jean-Paul Noël

Mr. Noël criticized the record of the Union Nationale, in which all cabinet ministers were jointly concerned, and asked his opponents what taxes had been abolished since the U.N. came into power.

Mr. Laurier described Jean Lesage as a "dreamer" who had never been to Quebec, and would never go there.

Glen Brown, speaking for Mr. Durocher, emphasized the Union Nationale's disinterest in the agriculture of this province, and accused the government of making political capital in the guise of grants.

Mr. Bumbray, in conclusion, said the Liberal chiefs were infected with "Ottawa-mania", and he accused the Liberals of Argenteuil of having engaged a group of young people to break up the meeting and interrupt the speakers. He even pointed an accusing finger at persons in the front row of the audience.

The meeting had opened in an orderly fashion, but as the speakers proceeded Mayor Jas. McGibbon, the chairman, had difficulty in subduing the noisy element in the audience. The meeting had to be terminated finally when Mr. Bumbray, in his rebuttal for the Union Nationale party, was drowned out by opposing voices.

The rowdiness first started during a speech by Jean-Paul Noël, in which he asked questions with implications against the U.N. administration; and interruptions became more frequent and more vociferous as the meeting proceeded.

Work proceeding on rebuilding of Recreation Centre

Rebuilding of the Recreation Centre on Main Street West, destroyed by fire last fall, is advancing rapidly. The cement-block walls are already erected, and it is expected the cement floor will be completed this coming week.

Lachute citizens showed a gratifying interest in the rebuilding of this Centre. On Saturday last a group of volunteer helpers assisted in laying a good part of the floor, and it is expected another group will turn out next Saturday to complete this job. The venture could not have been attempted without the support of generous subscribers. Those who have assisted with cash and material donations to date, are as follows:

Mgr. Wm. Lacourse	$200
Paul E. Parizeau	$100
Aldège Filion	$100
Deslauriers and Marcil	$100
Thomas Ayers	$200
Richard Ayers	$75
Beaton Pharmacy (D.Saulnier)	$100
Robert Legault	$100
Guy Lagarde	$25
J. P. MacKimmie and Sons	$500
Lucien Savard	$100
A Citizen of Montreal	$300
Gaitan Leclair	$25
E. S. Gordon (material)	$200
Romeo Roussel (material)	$25
Door-to-Door collection by J.O.C.	$500
Sale of skating tickets	$815
J. R. Desjardins	$5

Mr. L. Savard, as spokesman for the trustees, expressed gratitude to these donors. It is hoped that many other names will be added, to enable promoters to complete their big project. All residents are invited to drop in at the Recreation Centre and view the work accomplished so far; and any citizens who can give a few hours' volunteer labor, during the daytime or in the evening, will be greatly appreciated. (Any who desire information on this project may telephone LO 2-5905.)

Flood protection for Hawkesbury; 'Snye' island doomed, says expert

Hawkesbury — An embankment along the Ottawa River shoreline is Hawkesbury's most practical protection against flooding from the Hydro Quebec Carillon power development, the Hawkesbury town council was told last week.

Harry Hustler, Ontario Hydro's director of property, said months of intensive engineering studies had confirmed this proposal to reduce the effect of higher water levels on Main Street East properties.

He invited council to verify the findings by appointing an engineering firm to conduct an independent study, at Ontario Hydro's expense.

Mr. Hustler said Hydro had given close attention to representations from the council and citizens' groups, that an attempt be made to protect Chenail Island (the Snye) from flooding. Studies indicated no practical means existed to save the island.

Because of the river's unpredictable levels during spring run-off, any practical measures to save the island by dyking or raising the land elevations would leave residents without an adequate margin of safety. Mr. Hustler pointed out that some sections of the island were under water in recent weeks, and the river had been considerably higher in 1950.

Construction of a low embankment along the river shore between the CNR tracks and a point near John Street, however, would protect homes and businesses on Main Street East, reducing by two-thirds the number of properties which otherwise would be affected.

Unless some protective measures are taken, an estimated 177 residential and 30 commercial properties within the town will be affected by the new water level. This includes 56 properties on Chenail Island which cannot be saved, Mr. Hustler said.

He added that the grass-covered embankment, with an average height of only seven feet, would improve the appearance of the Main Street East waterfront. Without it, flooding would produce a ragged shoreline and possibly thick marshland.

The agreement permitted Ontario Hydro to develop water power resources at three sites on the Ottawa River (Des Joachims, Chenaux and Otto Holden generating stations). In each case, Quebec made land available for headpond areas.

Brown Trout of unusual size

On Tuesday of last week, Sid Thorburn, of Upper Lachute, caught a 7-lb. German Brown Trout, fishing at a lake north of the Seigniory Club. In company with a Mr. Powter, a member of the club, Sid was informed by a guide that this was the biggest Brown Trout known to have been landed in the region. Although by no means a record, the fish was still a whopper, measuring 25 inches long. It was caught on a Stikling Delfin (Norwegian) lure. . . . The specimen has been entered in the Molson fishing derby.

Brownsburg resignations — new Police Chief; Fire Chief A. Robbins to relinquish duties

Brownsburg — The first meeting of the new Council got off to a rousing start last Monday evening as 10 mothers from Maple Ave. South attended to repeat their request of last year concerning the need for sidewalks on that thoroughfare. They insisted that some action should be taken as soon as possible, since more than 80 children under 16 years of age walk this dangerous route daily on their way to and from school. While a great many drivers exceed the speed limit, the ladies singled out the drivers of the Royal Mail trucks for particular criticism. It was suggested that in addition to fining these government drivers, Council should lodge a complaint with the Inspector of Postal Service.

— Could be that this will effect a change with the mail truck drivers, but the slowing down of other individuals will remain the responsibility of an alert police force whose members are cognizant of the duty they have toward every citizen in Brownsburg.

Mayor René Lafleur stated that the Council was in sympathy with the cause and assured the group that he would speak to the Hon. W. M. Cottingham immediately, with the hope of having the provincial government carry out the plans for widening Maple Ave. Once this work is completed the town can then take steps to install the longed-for sidewalks.

Fire Chief's Report

Fire Chief Arthur Robbins reported that his crew had been required to respond to only one alarm during the month. This was of a minor nature and required little action on the part of the firemen.

A report of this type always draws mild murmurs of approval from the assembled councillors, but Chief Robbins' next statement provided a rather tense moment, as he announced his intention to retire in the near future. Such an announcement by a dependable public figure invariably causes a "What shall we do?" reaction, and this occasion was no exception, as all those in the council chamber, councillors, visitors and others, pondered this question.

Chief Robbins has served this community for some 15 years, averaging 32 to 35 fires per year with only one ambition — to better the fire protection of his town. This he has done! Chief Robbins indicated that he will be willing to act in an advisory capacity if he is needed, and stated that he would provide Council with information relevant to the choosing of a successor. No doubt Brownsburg citizens wish Chief Robbins many evenings of relaxation and nights of unbroken sleep — but with 15 years experience as Brownsburg's chief fire-fighter, it may not be easy for him to ignore the wail of the siren!

Police Report

Police Chief Richard Bell's report was similar to that of last month, with a total of 24 tickets issued for speeding. Observation of the speed trap set up in Brownsburg this month showed that the drivers are given every chance to avoid being tagged. Actually it is surprising that any drivers are caught. The limited use of the equipment does little to instil the idea of 30 m.p.h. speeds in the minds of motorists, except on a short-term basis on the days it is in use. The constables operating the equipment stand at the side of the road in full view of the drivers and, in addition, offer a liberal tolerance above the legal limit.

Even with practices like these, a female speeder from Montreal, clocked at 53 m.p.h. wrote a letter of objection to the town indicating that she didn't appreciate the $15 fine with which she had been assessed. Should she pass this way again perhaps she will observe the speed limit which was adopted to protect her as well as town residents.

Although unofficial word had spread far and wide to the effect that Brownsburg was once again losing its Police Chief, Richard Bell made it official at this session of the Council, by handing in his notice. Council knew of the move, of course, and had acted quickly to obtain a replacement. A special meeting was held the following Thursday to select a replacement, from the two applicants who had been interviewed at the regular meeting. Roger Boutet, presently with the Lachute force, was selected for the position, and will assume the duties on July 1.

Third Resignation

A third in the series of resignations was processed at this session, when Councillor Fern Brisson was forced to resign as a result of his selection as town foreman. After having rejected all former tenders due to the high salaries demanded, Council considered two further offers and decided that the position should go to Mr. Brisson. It is expected that the efficiency of the town maintenance force will improve, and that the broken curbstones and bent signposts will disappear as a result. Alfred Monette, who was a contestant in the recent municipal elections, has been chosen to succeed Mr. Brisson in Seat No. 1.

On the routine side, Mayor Lafleur proposed that the special committees for the current year be made up as follows — Police and Fire department, E. Gagné and F. Brisson (A. Monette); Roads, G. Vowles and R. Raymond; Water and Sewerage, E. Legault and G. Therrien. Roger Raymond was selected as pro-mayor for a period of one year.

16,586 Eligible voters in Argenteuil increase of 1,300 since 1956 election

According to Notary Jacques Beaudoin, district returning officer for the current election, the revised lists for Argenteuil show a total of 16,586 voters — an increase of about 1,300 over the election lists of 1956. There will be 102 polling booths in 100 divisions, as compared with 90 in 80 polling divisions for the 1956 election.

It is recalled that in 1956, 13,121 of the eligible voters in this County exercised their mandate, a proportion of 80 per cent.

Voting hours next Wednesday, June 22, will be from 9 a.m. to 6.30 p.m.

Automobile permit "clinic" June 29

The Quebec Government auto license inspectors will be stationed at the Court House, Lachute, on June 29 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. for the issuing of new driver's permits. Any wishing to apply and take the tests, please call at the mobile unit on this date.

He was also Valedictorian, in French, for the graduating class at the University convocation. Dr. Bissonnette will serve his internship at the St. Elizabeth Hospital, Youngstown, Ohio.

Murder charge reduced in shooting case at Ste. Adele

St. Jerome — A murder charge against a 28-year-old heiress, Mrs. Beverly Van Horne Weary, in the shooting of a guest in her St. Adele home last month, was reduced Monday to manslaughter, in a preliminary inquiry judgment handed down here by Judge Camille de Martigny.

The accused was free on cash bail of $5,000 and two $950 bonds within two hours of being committed on the reduced charge for trial at the local Assizes on October 4.

Mrs. Weary, mother of two children by her divorced first husband and estranged from her second spouse, seemed unaffected by the ruling of the court to the effect that there was "no iota" of evidence to justify her committal for murder in the death of 33-year-old ex-RCAF member, Clifford Bruce Bridger.

Reviewing the evidence, Judge de Martigny said it seemed apparent that Mrs. Weary did not realize at first that the shot discharged from a .22 rifle she had borrowed that day had hit anyone. There was no suggestion of a motive for the shooting.

He found that no jury "could legally convict her of murder" but he held that it was his duty to commit her on the charge of manslaughter in view of a possibility that she could be found guilty of this charge at trial.

Substantial grant received for town sewers and water

The Hon. Paul Dozois, Minister of Municipal Affairs at Quebec, has informed Mayor Jas. W. McGibbon that a grant of $32,800 has been passed by order-in-council to Lachute Town Corporation under provisions of the Act for provincial aid to sewerage and waterworks construction.

The grant will be paid in five instalments of $6,560 a year — the first of which will be remitted in the near future.

It is understood this grant applies to installations already completed recently in the municipality.

A letter concerning this grant was forwarded personally to Mayor McGibbon, dated June 7.

Body recovered

The body of Gaetan Campeau, 22, of Carillon, was recovered last week between that village and St. Andrews, where it was seen floating on the Ottawa River by Anthony Roy, Carillon resident. The young man lost his life May 28 while swimming in the turbulent river at Carillon. Verdict of Coroner Dr. Jules Lafleur was "accidental death by drowning", no inquest having been considered necessary.

Richelieu Club acquires land for Lachute playground site

In a long-term search for a project worthy of its efforts and suited to the needs of the community, the Richelieu Club has finally acquired a tract of land for a playground development. The land is on Paquin Avenue, north side, stretching from Hector Charlebois' property eastward to Aldège Filion's, an area of about 20 acres.

Unfit for building purposes due to springtime flooding, the property is nevertheless well suited for playground needs. Fist step will be to erect a fence bordering the North River. The playground will be called the "Lachute Richelieu Park."

According to Dr. Chas. Roy, president of the club, it is expected the park will be opened this summer for children's games and family picnics. With a wooded area at the western end, and a shrubby bank (the former CNR grade) on the south, the tract provides adequate shade for outdoor picnicking.

As the project develops, the Richelieu Club hopes to add facilities for organized games, and playground equipment, to fill a long-felt need among local children and youth groups. A plan of all possibilities will be formulated, and it is assured that the Richelieu Park in a few years will be a very active summer recreation spot.

Now installing dial telephones in Ste. Scholastique

Installation of dial telephones in some 1,400 Ste. Scholastique homes, stores and offices has begun, in preparation for the changeover to dial telephone service there next October.

Bell Telephone installers have started the job well in advance of the changeover to make sure all customers have their instruments when the dial exchange goes into operation.

While installing the dial instrument, the Bell men explain its correct use and operation to customers and members of their family or staff. The installers also answer any questions that may arise.

H. W. (Bill) Flanigan, Bell manager for this region, advised that, until the actual changeover, the new telephones are to be used without the dial. He cautioned customers against moving the dial while using the telephone because it may cause a disconnection.

Mr. Flanigan also suggested that customers who have been considering obtaining extension telephones call the company's business office in Lachute as soon as possible so that arrangements can be made for the installer to put the extension in at the same time of his visit. He explained that there would be no charge for installation if the residence extensions are put in during the installer's visit.

Argenteuil Outdoors

A column for the sportsman

— By BOB ATCHISON —

I know it is not the time for crow shooting for most of the hunters, but C-I-L have been sending out a pamphlet on tips for the crow shooter. Some very interesting hints are given in this little book. The nice thing about it — it is for the average shooter, and not for the varmint boy with his high-powered, small-bore, extra-special rifle. I don't know just where around town this booklet can be picked up, but I'm sure a letter sent to C-I-L would bring results, and all these tips will pay off in better crow shooting.

The trout don't seem to be giving the fisherman much to sing about. There has been the odd good catch; on a whole though, it has been poor. Of all the types of fisherman, the worm dunker is having the most luck. Rather strange, the counties that have no minnow ban, are just about in the same position as we are. Even the minnows are not catching fish. So what's happening? Your guess is as good as mine.

This is a little tip that may save you some line. When you have a fish on and it's stripping line off your reel, most of the fishermen tighten up their tension drag, trying to slow up the fish. We all seem to forget, the more line out in the water the greater the tension, so instead of tightening it, you should really loosen it. You'll save a lot of broken line and save a number of fish this way.

Another tip, when trying flies for Northern pike or doré, try putting a small spinner ahead of the fly. Result, more fish. . . . I know, some of these tips you already know of, but if tried consistently, they will pay off. Most of us don't give them a good workout.

More on the ducks. Right now on the North River it is possible to see just about every breed you want. Of course, this doesn't mean you can barge up in a motor boat and expect to see them. You'll have to take your time and look. It's surprising how many can be seen hiding in the weeds along the banks. Along with this you can see all the young taking their lessons from the old ladies.

While on the subject of birds, a good many young can be seen trying out their wings just now. Man, is this a riot! Most of them seem to take off and fall flat on their bustles. The way they squawk when they hit, is well worth hearing.

I tried to get up into a pine tree the other day to look over a hawk's nest. I guess I must be getting old, I couldn't make it.

I think most of us, at some time or other, have been talking about the defunct Fish and Game Association. The amount of talk makes a person think that it was the fault of the Association that it failed. I know I have written a lot on this subject and possibly shouldn't, but here goes again: Why don't all the not so interested anglers just forget about the whole thing. There isn't much use in trying to get it going again.

A word to the wise. When you are in the bush, watch your smokes. There have been a couple of close ones around the county through carelessness. This could be from the Sunday drivers, but it's up to all of us to use our heads. The bush is so dry now, it wouldn't take much to get a real good fire going. Let's hope we don't have one of those doozers that will keep everyone on their toes. While on this subject, how about carrying a bag in your cars to put the litter in. for the sake of the countryside.

How many of you have looked at the roads with a keen eye. Try it one of these days, then figure out how much you could make picking up the empty bottles. This isn't the only thing though—boxes all closed up, full of junk. Even the limits of Lachute are just about as bad as can be seen anywhere. "Throw it out the window" is the standard practice just now; so it is going to be hard to get people to think of the countryside as their homes.

I don't know just how many of you have given any thought to the flooding we experienced last spring. At the time the protests were loud and long, with the result that some action was promised — the action to take the form of seeing just what could be done. Strange that this form of action should take the course of just about everything else in this district! See the people who have the dam in town, get assurances that it was not any fault of the dam, etc. . . . Reminds me of a drunk in an accident, and the way it is not his fault. By the looks of things there is going to be the usual lack of action. Such is Lachute.

Still more on the crows. Since my last column I have been phoned a couple of times about these pests It sure looks as though there are a lot of sportsmen out after them One of the callers wanted to know if the feathers would be any good for flies. Unfortunately, NO. But thanks, anyway. A couple of the boys had themselves a stuffed owl; and they tell me the shooting was terrific — 19 of them, to be exact. There were a number of young among them, but even so that sure is tops in shooting. Anyone not having tried this form of decoying them in, sure has missed a lot.

The swell thing about this is that, if you keep well hidden the crows will keep on coming. Be sure to let one get away though; he will bring more in with his squawks. A good afternoon can be spent this way. It isn't necessary to tell you to be careful with your firearms, I'm sure. A lot of people are in the bush just now, so LOOK TWICE.

One more word — I have just been told of a number of fishermen fishing Lake Louisa with minnows. I know I have mentioned this before, but to the present nothing seems to have been done. To the Wardens — HOW ABOUT IT!

Hon. Cottingham to speak for neighbor candidate

The Hon. William M. Cottingham, Minister of Mines, and official National Union candidate in Argenteuil County, will address meetings in favor of NU candidate for Two Mountains, Henri Chaurette, tonight (Thursday) and on Tuesday, June 21 at St. Eustache.

Announcing the meetings which he will address, the Hon. Mr. Cottingham said that he had been invited by Mr. Charette's campaign committee and was "very pleased to speak before the citizens of the County of Two Mountains."

There is also the possibility that Mr. Cottingham will be in St. Hermas, County of Two Mountains, on Sunday, June 19, in the afternoon. . . . The two other meetings will be held at night.

The Hon. Mr. Cottingham closes his official meetings next Monday night, June 20, at the Lachute Auditorium.

Richelieu Club sponsors Lach. Fair harness racing

Lachute Richelieu is taking its place among the service clubs at Lachute Fair, for the first time this year, in a community assignment to provide clean, wholesome amusements. Richelieu will sponsor a program of harness racing Saturday afternoon on the track at the exhibition grounds. (This is in addition to their annual harness-racing event, billed for August 13 next.)

Roger Martel, organizer, states there will be eight events this Saturday afternoon, commencing at 1.30. The horses will get under way from a mobile starting-gate, and there are interesting purses for all events.

Among horses entered are Hervé Filion's "Black Velvet", from Angers, Que.; "Jose Dale Mighty Lou", owned by O. Sauvé, Ottawa; R. Bedard's "McElkington", also from Ottawa; L. Henley's "Judge Hi-Lee", from Toronto; Del McTavish's "Bradcliff", from Brownsburg way — and many others.

Following the races, another attraction will be the dog show, to be held before the grandstand.

Proceeds of the Richelieu Club effort will be devoted towards the club's charities and new park project.

Annual drawing by Lions Club at Lachute Fair

The Lions Club will be represented at its customary stand at the Fair Grounds, during the exhibition this week. A change, however, is noted in the nature of the prize. Instead of the automobile which has been offered each year — and which entails costs too high to make the venture profitable — the one and only prize this time is a complete lawn furniture set, valued at $500. This equipment includes such items as — sunshade, chaise lounge, table and outdoor barbecue stove. It should appeal to everyone who owns or occupies a home with a few square feet of garden space.

Tickets are on sale during the four days of Lachute Fair, and the drawing will conclude Saturday night.

"Feux Follets" means "Will o' the Wisp"

The program by the Feux Follets (Will o' the Wisp) folklore dancers, Friday evening before the grandstand, is a booking which the Lions Club can feel proud of, in their assignment to provide a public attraction for this date. It is hoped and expected there will be a big crowd on hand.

Every support given to these two service club ventures will help to promote the work of Lachute Lions Club in this community.

Hockeyist now playing lacrosse

Potsdam — Melvin D. Tomalty, Brownsburg, was a member of the 1960 Clarkson College of Technology varsity lacrosse team this spring.

Tomalty, star hockeyist for the Golden Knights for the past three years, traded in his hockey stick this spring for a lacrosse stick, and proved to local fans that he was as agile on the ice as on the lacrosse field as on the ice.

Mel was the leading scorer on the team last season with five goals and two assists. Four of his goals were scored in the first home game in history against Siena College, which Clarkson won 6-3. This was the first year of intercollegiate competition in the sport at Clarkson.

Tomalty, who will be senior next fall, but who has used up his eligibility as a hockey player, will still be able to play lacrosse next spring. Voted the outstanding hockey player at Clarkson this year, and also voted to the Tri-State Hockey League All-Star team, Tomalty says he finds lacrosse a more difficult game than hockey and more strenuous, but enjoys every minute of it.

Tomalty is now majoring in electrical engineering.

Over-zealous law enforcement

WE NOTE THAT, in certain north-of-Montreal municipalities, unwary motorists by the score are falling into the dragnet of officialdom, and are contributing to the town coffers in a big way. To such extent that, in one particular place, one motorist sat it out for hours waiting to pay his fine. Complaints have been forwarded to the Attorney General at Quebec, the Hon. Antoine Rivard. Similar protests were raised last year, and before this officiousness (rather than officialdom) goes too far, we hope there will be a curb put upon the abuse.

Traffic laws were made to safeguard public life and property, not as a means of financing impoverished municipalities. In too many glaring instances, border-line speeders have been taken in, so obviously for the sole purpose of collecting a fine. Generally, of course, it is the unaccompanied drivers who are apprehended, those who have no witness or defence against the word of a police officer, who has usually a helper seated in his car to affirm the charge. There are other, more constructive but effective ways of curbing speeders (and we speak only of the border-line offenders; the excessive speeders deserve all they get).

The tactics of some police officers in provincial towns have been reprehensible. It goes without saying, that the reputation of towns which employ them have suffered far and wide among those compelled to travel through them — and in the summer season they are many.

We are well satisfied that our local police force is not capitalizing on strangers, to boost town revenues. So long as speed limits are reasonably observed, we can do without this mulcting of the tourist. We do ask, however, that speeding be checked, and we are happy to know that our police are doing their utmost in this direction. With the imposing of fines for local offences, traffic violations and breaches of the by-laws, we find no cause for criticism — even though we and our friends may have coughed up for personal sins of omission. At least we are assured that tickets are not being handed out without just cause, deserved in most cases by our long and habitual overlooking of the signs and regulations. More power to our Police Chief and his force — but let them not be influenced by neighboring towns with a less hospitable reputation.

Father reigns — if briefly!

ON SUNDAY, JUNE 19, Dad will again be master of his home — even if it is only for a day.

And, as one might expect, he'll owe his sudden ascendancy to a woman. For June 19 is Father's Day, a day inaugurated years ago through the efforts of a daughter of an American Civil War veteran.

The woman, Mrs. John Bruce Dodd, of Spokane, Washington, wanted somehow to honor the memory of her father, William Jackson Smart, who reared his family of six children after the death of their mother — says William E. Coutts, chairman of Coutts Hallmark Cards, a firm currently compiling data on the origin of various nation-wide celebrations.

In 1910, she planned a memorial service to honor her father who had died a year earlier, and petitioned the Spokane Ministers' Association to set aside the third Sunday in June each year as a day for paying tribute to all fathers.

The petition was accepted, and with the memorial service in June of that year, Father's Day was inaugurated. However, the day was not given official, national status in the U.S. until 1924, when President Calvin Coolidge recommended country-wide observances of the occasion.

Housewives want more

WHEN IT COMES to devising gadgets calculated to satisfy the consumer's every whim, human ingenuity has gone further on this continent than any other. So much so, that some businessmen are worrying now as to whether there is anything at all left to invent.

Well, they can stop — says the current issue of Industry. . . . There is! One hundred or so housewives were asked at a recent convention if they could think of any products not at present on the market, or known to them, which would simplify home management. They had no difficulty at all in doing just that.

High on their list was a toothpaste dispenser that measures automatically and has no loose cap; "childproof" wall paint; a device to remove static electricity from dryer-dried clothes; disposable oven and broiler liners; picture-thin television screen for wall hanging; pouring spouts on drug and medicine bottles; disposable underwear and socks.

Also desired: no-mildew leather; a dishwasher with shelves that could be taken to the cupboard; a cheap recorder for home telephone answering service; a car-wash system for home garages; beds that rise and lower; and carpet sweepers with magnets to pick up bobby pins.

"We pass along these requirements to the appropriate quarters, fully confident that, when filed, more will be forthcoming. In fact, though we yield to none in our respect for the talents of our industrial inventors, in this matter of ideas for better living we wouldn't doubt but that our womenfolk can out-think them any day of the week," says the article in Industry.

After all, it only took a mere hundred women to produce the above list. Now just imagine what one hundred million could do.

Skilled newcomers

CANADA'S immigration department this year is trying to encourage the move to Canada of immigrants with skills and professions from Britain and Western Europe. In recent years the improved economic climate in those areas has been a big factor in the over-all drop in immigration.

Now Britain's overseas migration board, which advises the United Kingdom government on matters connected with emigration from Britain, has issued a report which clearly shows the attraction of Canada for professional workers.

While the report is of value for Britons contemplating emigrating, it is at the same time a great boost for Canada.

Canada provided the British board with statistics on the intake of 1958, and some interesting conclusions are drawn. One is that "white collar" workers comprised 58 per cent of the "working" classification of British immigrants that year. Another is that the United Kingdom supplied 46 per cent of Canada's entire intake of those in professional occupations.

There were 24,777 immigrants from Britain in 1958, of whom 11,136 were housewives, children and other "dependents." The remaining 13,641 are described as "workers" of both sexes, and among these 3,474 — about 25 per cent — are described as in professional occupations.

A significant table in the British board's report compares the British immigrants with the total immigration to Canada in that year.

This shows that Britain supplied 46 per cent of all those in professional occupations. She sent 59 per cent of all immigrant nurses, 58 per cent of all teachers and professors, 55 per cent of all electrical engineers and 51 per cent of all physicians and surgeons.

Yet the total from Britain was only 20 per cent of the entire Canadian immigration.

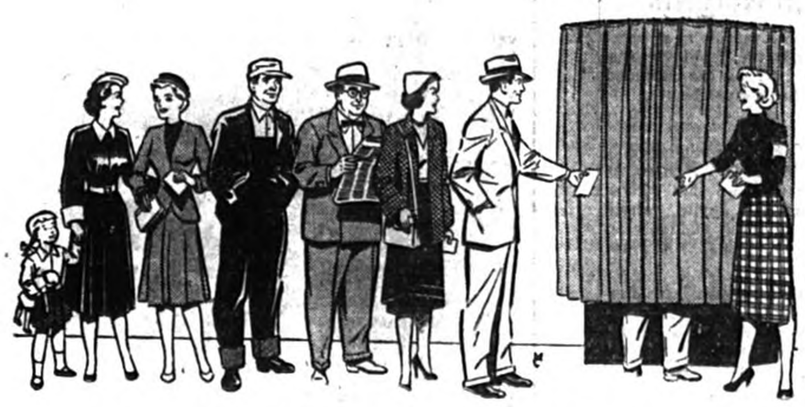

It makes interesting reading for those who have been urging a raising of the standards of immigrants.

LACKING RESPECT. — For a motorist to push his car through a funeral procession or to pass such a procession on overtaking it, can be regarded as a sign of boorish behaviour. To our knowledge, there have been occasions when motorists have honked their car horns impatiently to clear a path by such a procession.

WEIGHT OF BREAD. — An obsolete municipal by-law concerning the weight of bread in Granby, will probably be modified, for it is not observed any more. The by-law says that bread can only be sold in loaves of 12 ounces (or multiples of 12, such as 24 and 36). Actually, bread is sold in all kinds of forms and weights.

Abusing a good thing

— By Lewis Milligan —

Someone has suggested that a commission should be appointed to investigate the operations of unemployment insurance. There is ample evidence that this public service is being abused. It was instituted solely for temporary assistance of persons who were out of employment through no fault of their own. But no less an authority than Richard D. Thrasher, parliamentary secretary to Labor Minister Starr, declares that the list of registered applicants is no longer a register of genuinely employed persons who are actively seeking work. Some, he says, are registered only for the purpose of obtaining benefits.

"Although it is my own personal opinion that there is a responsibility on the state to assist those who through no fault of their own are not able to obtain employment," says Mr. Thrasher, "if we are to protect our employment insurance system as an insurance scheme we must beware of an attitude that would regard the fund as a panacea for any and all sorts of financial needs and that benefits should be paid to all persons who are not working, regardless of the duration of the unemployment or the circumstances that gave rise to it."

The present system was introduced to take the stigma out of the old "dole" or "relief" payments. But the unemployment insurance fund has drifted away from its original purpose of providing temporary assistance to needy jobless. It is said to be frequently regarded as a source of supplementary income, rather than a means of alleviating hardship for those who are unable to find work.

From my own limited knowledge of these things, I have known of a case where a so-called "self-employed" person, a farmer, supplemented his income by registering as out of work in intervals between one contract job and another. I am told that the unemployment offices in Toronto are crowded with women of all ages, many of them recent immigrants, who are only seeking work in order to qualify for unemployment insurance. I am not trying to belittle the unemployment situation; it is probably bad enough, but it is being worsened by the abuse of this insurance system, which was only intended as a temporary relief from the stress of genuine unemployment.

It should be remembered that the fund is maintained by payments by their employers. The insurance is similar to fire or accident insurance. No insurance company would last very long if it had to meet the accident claims of all and sundry who paid premiums sporadically and were repeatedly running into accidents. They would be struck off the rolls as too great a risk. It would be interesting to discover what proportion of the present unemployment figures is represented by those out-of-work malingerers.

When did Canada's first Missionary Nun arrive?

On August 1, 1693, Mother Marie of the Incarnation, first missionary nun of the Roman Catholic Church in Canada, arrived at Quebec from France. She was accompanied by Mothers St. Joseph and St. Croix, also Ursulines, and Mme de la Peltrie, their benefactress, who wished to devote herself and her fortune to establishing the Ursuline order in the New World. The afternoon of their arrival found them nursing smallpox-stricken Indians on the plains of Sillery. When the Ursuline convent was established at Quebec, Mother Marie became its first superior and retained that position until her death in 1672. She conducted a school for French and Indians, compiled the first dictionaries in Iroquois and Algonkian and translated the catechism into Iroquois. She was also proficient in Huron, Montagnais and Abnaki. In 1911 she was declared venerable by the church.

UNRELIABILITY

I know a man back home in town whose word I cannot trust, and every time I deal with him he fills me with disgust.

He says, "Tonight I'll phone you sure." I listen for his ring until the midnight bells ring out, but I don't hear a thing.

Next day he says, "I tried to phone. Your line was always busy." I know he didn't try to phone. His lying makes me dizzy.

He promises to do a job for me or for the neighbors, but every time you meet him he is resting from his labors. Tomorrow is the only time that you might catch him working. Today you'll find him in some bar, just drinking beer and shirking.

A man who fails to keep his word without a valid reason, soon finds himself without a job right in the busy season. This does not worry him at all. He just apologizes. And if rewards were given for lies, he'd take home all the prizes.

By fooling honest folks for years he's built a reputation, for causing, by his slipshod ways, distress and lamentation.

Thus, day by day he spends his time inventing alibis — procrastinating, hesitating, thinking up new lies. And when he dies he'll say to Satan, "I'm sorry to have kept you waitin'."

— Be seein' ya!

The art of knowing when

When you are travelling behind another vehicle at night, the Provincial Highway Safety Committee (Prudentia) says, dim your lights. There are many reasons for such advice — the motorist following behind does not need strong lights, and if he does employ them then he leaves the motorist up ahead open to accident. The motorist who leads is either blinded by lights from cars following behind. Give the one ahead every chance, some night you may be him.

It's handy when a mother and daughter are the same size. Then the mother can wear the daughter's cast-off clothes.

That really happens, in some families. More often, the daughter is bigger — which is hard on a self-sacrificing mamma, because she doesn't get any of her child's hand-me-downs which have become a little scuffed at the edges.

Mamma has to wear her own old clothes until they fall to pieces.

A mother of this kind is a pathetic sight, walking along like a hen sparrow between two tall, glittering girls in bright plumage.

Sometimes you will find mother going out to work, to pay for her daughter's finery.

"Several women in my office wear their daughter's cast-offs," a lady said. "They've even admitted it. Things have changed. If I had expected to wear new clothes while my mother wore old ones — Wow! What my Dad would have said."

She shuddered at the thought of a stern father's response to the idea. Are there any fathers like that left in the world?

Somewhere at the back of the noble mother's head is the idea of helping her daughter. "I've trapped my husband," she is thinking dimly. "Now I'll help Mary bait the trap. It's her turn."

What mother is doing, however, is sending the girl out into the world as a spoiled brat.

When she does snag a husband, she will keep him poor buying dresses — making do with the year before last's suit himself, while the lady's closet is jammed so full that there isn't room for a moth to squeeze in.

Worst of all, she won't appreciate it. No matter how many clothes he buys her, she will never have enough.

Of Many Things

PUT A SHINE ON IT

"Everything Jim does, he puts a shine on it."

I had never met Jim, so I asked what the heck such a description meant. Did he go around with a dust cloth or something?

No, she said, he just makes everything so much more fun. Never does anything just an ordinary way, even washing dishes, painting the garage, or even talking to you. He makes everything special. You ought to see how dishes shine when he dries them!

I said he must be one of those fussy, finicky, boring perfectionists.

He is definitely not boring, I was told. He is everything else but boring. He makes the day bright, the conversation important, dish washing a lot less tiring, and garage painting an adventure. He's so darn alive most men look dead beside him.

So I had to meet Jim. I went far out of my way to do it, too, but I'm glad. He is special. He brightens you up. I found that just being with him was an event, and afterward I tried to figure out why.

For one thing, Jim is a very positive fellow — he is for a lot of things, against very few. In any situation, he seems to select the good points and put the emphasis on them. You soon get carried along by his buoyant mood and you see possibilities for growth all about you.

"Jim has taken a lot of lickings in business," a cynic told me. "He jumps in where angels fear to tread. He's a sucker for any new idea or proposition. Some day he'll bump into a smart guy who'll really take him to the cleaners."

Well, maybe. So far, Jim has done all right. Fact is, he has made himself wealthy, and had a wonderful time doing it. Perhaps he has been "taken" a few times; but he has opened his mind to so many successful ideas that the few flops haven't meant much in his career. Even in failure, there'd be a glow about him. He'd never collapse. It would take a heap of ruin to block his view of the road up ahead.

Perhaps we'd all be better off with a bit of Jim's approach. When we tackle our next job, let's try to put a shine on it!

Brownsburg

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Kennedy and little daughter, of Montreal, spent the week-end with the former's mother, Mrs. Ruby Kennedy.

Master Mark Brosseau and Miss Susan Brosseau, of Granby, Que., spent this week with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. T. Smillie.

The Rev. R. L. McPhee, pastor of the Maple Avenue Baptist Church, and the Rev. James Armour, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, exchanged pulpits on Sunday morning last.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Hebert and family, of St. Laurent, spent the week-end with relatives here.

50th Wedding Anniversary

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Creswell, of Carleton Place, Ont., who celebrated their golden wedding anniversary on Saturday, June 11. Those who attended from Brownsburg were Mr. and Mrs. George Creswell, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Creswell and children, Carol and James, Mrs. D. A. MacKenzie, Miss Jean MacKenzie, Mr. and Mrs. Ward Moncrieff and children, Brenda and Randy, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Golden; also Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lawson and little son, Steven, of Montreal, who accompanied Mrs. Lawson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Golden.

Mrs. Wesley Mason spent last week with her sister, Mrs. J. Escala, in Kemptville, Ont.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Stephens and Miss Kathryn Stephens attended the graduation exercises at Feller College on June 11. Miss Madeleine Stephens was one of the graduates.

Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Kettyle visited friends in Thurso last week.

Mrs. P. Wood, of Montreal, visited Mr. and Mrs. Manly Gardiner and other friends here recently.

Mr. Campbell Stephens is spending the summer months with a geological survey party in Bonaventure, Gaspé.

Rev. Robert Valois was member of old Lachute family

The death of the Rev. Father Robert Valois, member of one of Lachute's oldest families, occurred last Saturday in hospital in Montreal. Forty-six years of age, he was the son of the late Notary Gaetan Valois and of Mrs. Valois.

Educated at St. Andrews and Lachute, he proceeded to the Seminary at Joliette, where he procured his B.A. degree. He entered the St. Viateur clerical order at Joliette in 1934, followed the course in Theology, and was appointed a professor at the Bourget College, Rigaud.

He was ordained to the priesthood June 8, 1941, by his cousin, Mgr. Ubald Langlois, Bishop of Brouard, Alberta. He was then appointed to the faculty of Joliette Seminary, and devoted his years to teaching.

The late Father Valois is survived by his mother, Mme Gaetan Valois, Lachute; seven brothers and three sisters — the Rev. Sister Marie-Claire, in Paris; Gabriel, of Lachute; Claude, teacher at the Blind Institute at Ville Jacques Cartier; Roger, teacher in Montreal; Francoise, at home; Bruno, of the Clercs St. Viateur, teacher at the deaf and dumb institution in Montreal; Simon and Richard, notaries, of Lachute; Mme C. Turcot (Therese) of Beauharnois; and the Rev. Maurice Valois, priest at St. Janvier.

The funeral was held today, Wednesday, at Joliette, Que., with burial in the cemetery of the Clercs St. Viateur order.

Sympathy is extended to the bereaved family, in this community and elsewhere.

Cushing

Mrs. Annie Warren, from Calgary, Alta., is at present visiting her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Wilson, of Cushing, also other friends in Brownsburg.

Mrs. J. L. Maw and son, Robert, of Montreal, spent the week-end at "Lilac Lodge".

Miss E. M. Graham, Verdun, was the week-end guest of her mother and brother at "Bayside Farm".

Miss Freda Pemberton-Smith is at present residing in Cushing, and her artist studio is named, "The Robin's Nest".

Miss Annie McDowell was the week-end guest of her brother, Jack, at "Glenifer".

Miss Enid Robertson, of Montreal and St. Andrews East, visited Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Elliott over the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Pitt were in residence for the week-end, having as their guests Mr. and Mrs. D. Taylor and small daughter, Linda.

Mrs. J. D. Weir has returned home from her visit to the West — much to the pleasure of her many friends.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Mattock occupied their riverside cottage over the week-end.

Mr. Robert Dunmore, of Montreal East, visited his sister, Mrs. Jas. Coney, on Saturday. Sunday visitors were Mrs. Wm. Dodds, Mrs. Harold and daughter, of St. Laurent, also Mr. and Mrs. George Rainsforth and Mr. and Mrs. Allard, of Rosemount.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Buzzell, of Montreal West, were in residence over the week-end, having as guests Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Robertson, of Lachine, and Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Smith, of Montreal.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Fuller visited friends in and around Cornwall, Ont., last Sunday.

Mrs. Cowell, of Crumm Lynne, Pa., who has been spending the past few weeks in Cushing, returned home on the week-end. Her sister, Mrs. L. R. McGain, accompanied her as far as Montreal and spent the week-end with her daughter, Mrs. J. Brown.

Mr. Roy Coghill and Mr. Gerald K. Cushing were at their respective cottages for the week-end — Mr. Cushing remaining over until Monday.

Morin Heights

Mrs. Helmut Gransow is at present a patient in the Royal Victoria Hospital. Best wishes are extended for her return to good health.

Bereaved

Sympathy of this community is extended to Mr. Fred Watchorn, of Morin Heights, and Mr. Thos. Watchorn, of St. Jovite, whose brother, Frank, died suddenly in hospital in St. Louis, Miss., recently.

Mr. Raymond Campbell, of Montreal, is at present a patient in St. Mary's Hospital. All good wishes are extended for his speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Latham returned to their cottage at Lake Echo recently, after spending the winter and spring months in Florida.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawson Kennedy have Mr. and Mrs. Russell Patterson, of Detroit, as guests for two weeks. Mrs. Kennedy is recuperating satisfactorily after her recent illness.

90th Birthday

Congratulations are extended to Miss Jessie Kinloch, who celebrated her 90th birthday on Friday.

Mr. Douglas Davis, Town of Mount Royal, spent the week-end here with his sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Nesbitt.

Mr. and Mrs. Billy Rambie and son, Freddie, of Montreal, spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Carroll, at Mille Isles.

Mr. and Mrs. Clive Riddell and family, of Cartierville, spent the week-end here as guests of the former's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Fraser.

Mrs. Evelyn Hudson and family, Marion, George, Gordon, Mrs. Edith Cole and son, Glen, and Miss Joan Hall, spent the week-end at her cottage in Mille Isles.

Mrs. Alma Watchorn, of Christieville, had her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Pennington, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Ivall, of Montreal, and Mrs. Avis Thompson, of Calgary, visiting her during last week-end. Mrs. Thompson returns on Tuesday to spend the summer months with her sisters, Mrs. Watchorn and Mrs. Mary Campbell.

Christening

On Sunday afternoon, June 12, the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Morgan was baptized William Ray, in Trinity Anglican Church, the Rev. H. G. Baugh officiating. Godparents were the baby's two grandfathers, Mr. Fred Morgan, of Morin Heights, and Mr. Thos. Rowland, of Pointe Claire. Later Mr. and Mrs. Fred Morgan entertained at dinner at their home. Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Rowland and son, Ross, who were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Morgan for the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Kneeland and children, Wendy and Scott, spent Sunday at their cottage at Fraser Lake.

Misses Eileen Elder and Shirley MacGeorge, of Ste. Rose, were overnight guests of Mr. and Mrs. Stanford Riddell on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Dey, and Mr. and Mrs. S. Captain and daughter Valerie, of Mille Isles, spent the week-end at their cottage at Lake Hughes.

IN MEMORIAM

ELDER — In loving memory of a dear brother, Gordon, who passed away June 16, 1959. — Always remembered by Carine, Cecil and Kenneth.

"Time takes away the edge of grief,
But memory turns back every leaf."

HODGE — In loving memory of a dear daughter and sister, Ruth Marion, who passed away June 14, 1949. — Always remembered by Father, Mother, sister and brother.

"Her memory is our keepsake
With which we will never part;
God has her in His keeping,
We have her in our hearts."

MARTIN — In loving memory of a dear wife and loving mother, Dolores, who passed away June 10, 1953. — Ever remembered by Lorne, Patricia, Carol and Bryan.

"They who have passed away only die when those they loved forget them."

McANDREW — In loving memory of a dear son and brother, Benson, who passed away June 18, 1959. — Always remembered by Mother and Dad, brothers and sister.

"The golden gates stood open
One year ago today
With farewells left unspoken
You sadly slipped away
God knew that you were weary
The hill too steep to climb
So He gently took your hand in His
And whispered 'peace be thine'."

McANDREW — In loving memory of our dear brother, Benson, who passed away June 18, 1959. — Always remembered by Calvin, June, and children.

"Resting where no shadows fall,
In perfect peace, Ben waits us all.
God will link the broken chain,
As one by one we meet again."

NOBLE (Thomas) — In memory of Dad, who passed away June 18, 1953. — Remembered by Red and Gladys.

"We often sit and think of you,
The things you used to say and do;
You live with us in memory still —
Not just today, but everyday."

ACKNOWLEDGMENT

PARISEAU — Mrs. Hector Pariseau and family wish to express their sincere thanks to friends and neighbors for the sympathy shown them, by masses, floral offerings, telegrams, visits and attendance at the funeral of the late Mr. Hector Pariseau, who passed away May 17.

Brownsburg Uu. Church review of activities and organizations

Brownsburg — The various United Church organizations are now gradually closing for the summer months.

On June 8 the Central W.A. with A and B Groups, also the W.M.S., met in the church hall, where Mr. W. Freeland, upon request of the Rev. Bruce, played a tape recording on Commission of Women's Work.

A gift was presented to Mrs. Paul MacDougall, as she anticipates moving from Brownsburg sometime in the near future.

Mrs. J. Hazel, Sr., and Mrs. W. Witham, have now been made honorary members of the W.A.

Twelve women from this church recently attended the Sectional Rally, held at Morin Heights.

Thanks go to many who donated clothing to be sent for overseas relief.

A number of the ladies have now completed their mid-year visitations to church members. Up to date 90 visits have been made by A and B Groups.

The recent passing of Mrs. W. J. Graham caused a feeling of deep regret throughout this church and community.

New collection plates have been donated to the church by Misses Winnie and Doris White, in memory of their mother.

The Mission Band terminated their meetings some time ago, and more recently the Explorers' Group, Hi-C Group and Sunday School closed with picnics.

The sacrament of baptism was administered for Kirk James Armstrong, son of Mr. anti Mrs. W. J. Armstrong, at the morning service on June 12.

Congratulations are extended to Mrs. Steere, a church member of long standing, upon having celebrated her 80th birthday.

Interesting speaker at Lachute W.I.

At the regular monthly meeting of the Lachute W.I., Mrs. Bluebell Phillips, wife of the late Rev. Gordon Phillips who had spent some 16 years working as chaplain in the jails and penitentiaries of Montreal, told in a very interesting way some of their exciting, discouraging and also some very rewarding experiences with different inmates. She highly praised the work of "A.A." and told of what it had done for many. Those 16 years were years of sacrifice for the Phillips, who shared not only themselves but their meagre salary and home in trying to get some of these inmates "off on the right foot". Mrs. Phillips said her husband strongly opposed corporal punishment, and it took its toll on him when he saw inmates whom he had grown to like very much, and who he felt were implicated but not guilty of the crime, going to the gallows.

Let us hope that someone will "take up the torch" and carry on their commendable work.

Meeting of Lachute Red Cross branch

A meeting of the Lachute Branch of the Canadian Red Cross was held on June 1. Mrs. F. W. FitzGerald was in the chair, and once more Mrs. Fraser Morrison gave an excellent report for the Women's Work Committee, which is as follows:

10 Diapers, 30 infants' nightgowns, 10 boys' shorts (8 yrs.), 10 baby blankets, 20 girls' nightgowns

Wed recently at Morin Heights

Flight Lieutenant and Mrs. Sydney Edward Burrows, whose marriage took place recently in Trinity Church, Morin Heights. The bride was the former Beverly Bell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William R. Bell, and Flight Lieutenant Burrows is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Sydney E. Burrows, of Vancouver, B.C.

WILLIAM M. COTTINGHAM
Minister of Mines

Partnership is sharing: the sharing of duty and responsibility. When a man is chosen as spokesman for his constituents in the Legislative Assembly, he becomes their partner and shares with them the duty and responsibility of meeting the needs of his county.

That type of partnership — achieved through mutual confidence and understanding — has been the hallmark of the progress accomplished in Argenteuil. The people and their elected representative, Bill Cottingham, have shared the task of improving roads, educational facilities, agriculture, social services, as well as solving local problems.

That partnership became stronger and more tightly knit when Bill Cottingham was appointed Minister of Mines and called on to serve in a wider field of endeavor.

Because he has shared, to the fullest measure, with the people of Argenteuil, the duty and responsibility of ensuring the prosperity of the county, and that of a growing mining empire, the people of Argenteuil will vote again, June 22, to maintain that partnership.

Argenteuil and the Province of Quebec are justly proud of Bill Cottingham, Minister of Mines.

W.I. craft courses in Canadian North

The Federated Women's Institutes of Canada is honored in having a part in the expansion and development of our Canadian North.

In cooperation with the Northern Affairs Department, the FWIC is sending Mrs. Wm. Hough, of Stratford, Ont., to carry its homemaking projects to the women of the Northern settlements. The Indian mothers will learn methods of caring for their homes and children with the tools at hand; the town mothers will, in addition, find projects to fill their leisure time. Truly, the theme of this venture will be "Start where you are with what you have". Thus a fuller and richer way of life will be carried to our frontier land by the Women's Institute, which has contributed to the welfare of isolated communities around the world, ever since its inception at Stoney Creek in 1897.

Mrs. Hough is well qualified to carry the program to this area. As the wife of the Superintendent at the Experimental Farm at Haines Junction, she was resident of this settlement for three years and organized the first Women's Institute there. This Women's Institute was responsible for the establishment of a new school, a library, a community hall and last fall a fair, where the hobbies of the people and the fruits of the soil were displayed. It is not surprising to hear that recreation was enjoyed in the form of Bonspiels and Sourdough Shindigs. Perhaps, however, the most satisfying program instigated was health and nutrition classes for the Indian homemakers. These were given by the local health nurse.

Lost Weight, Looks 10 Years Younger

COBALT, ONT. "Seven weeks ago I started the Naran Plan and have lost an average of 4 lbs. a week since. I have lost 28 lbs. and it has not left me weakened or nervous. I can now work all day and still feel good. My friends say I look ten years younger and I feel that way too. I have taken off 6 inches around the waist.

I have recommended the Naran Plan to my friends and anyone who has had to give up on other reducing plans. With the Naran Plan you take the weight off where you want it to come off." F. A. Desjardins, Cobalt, Ont.

Don't let excessive weight tire you out, make you feel run down and older than you are. Your entire outlook on life will improve if you lose excess weight, you will look younger, feel younger and regain the enthusiasm that comes with good health. Why let anything as vitally important as your health and appearance be hurt by neglecting to lose excess weight. Try the Naran Plan today, it is sold on a money back guarantee. What can you lose? Nothing but weight.

Life in a New World

"The Earth abideth forever." — Eccl. 1:14

(From the book, "Let God Be True," page 276)

Unto us a son is born, and the government shall be upon His shoulders, and of His government and peace there shall be no end.— Isaiah 9: 6.7

For Jesus must reign as King, until God has put all enemies under His feet. — 1 Cor. 15: 25.

A complete end to all political corruption guaranteed. What a relief! This is but the beginning of earthly blessings under the rule of God's heavenly Son, Christ Jesus.

The meek shall inherit the earth; and shall delight themselves in the abundance of peace. The righteous shall inherit the land, and dwell therein forever. — Psalms 37: 11. 29.

The new world will be a free world. No want or fear will lurk there. Clean speech and true worship will be estiblished as the worth-while freedoms that will be completely realized for the first time. The prophet Micah sketches some idea of this for us, saying: "But they shall sit every man under his vine and under his fig-tree; and none shall make them afraid: for the mouth of Jehovah of hosts hath spoken it. For all the peoples walk every one in the name of his God; and we will walk in the name of Jehovah our God for ever and ever." Yes, even freedom from war: "They shall beat their swords into plowshares, and their spears into pruning-hooks; nation shall not lift up sword against nation, neither shall they learn war any more." — Micah 4:4, 5, 3.

Such unbroken peace can be a wonderful contribution to profitable works. At any rate we are promised that in the new world no building, planting or any labor will be in vain: "And they shall build houses, and inhabit them; and they shall plant vineyards, and eat the fruit of them. They shall not build, and another inhabit; they shall not plant, and another eat; for as the days of a tree shall be the days of my people, and my chosen shall long enjoy the work of their hands. They shall not labor in vain, nor bring forth for calamity; for they are the seed of the blessed of Jehovah, and their offspring with them." — Isaiah 65: 21-23.

Total peace on earth will mean peace among all living things. Peace among men: The righteous King "will judge the poor of the people, he will save the children of the needy, and will break in pieces the oppressor. In his days shall the righteous flourish, and abundance of peace, till the moon be no more." (Psalm 72: 4, 7, 8). And, wonder of wonders, peace will destroy enmity among wild beasts and between them and man:

"And the wolf shall dwell with the lamb, and the leopard shall lie down with the kid; and the calf and the young lion and the fatling together; and a little child shall lead them. And the cow and the bear shall feed; their young ones shall lie down together; and the lion shall eat straw like the ox. They shall not hurt nor destroy in all my holy mountain; for the earth shall be full of the knowledge of Jehovah, as the waters cover the sea." — Isaiah 11: 6, 7, 9.

This earth-covering "knowledge of Jehovah" will make possible the very best use of time — and think of the good works possible when renewed minds and bodies do not suffer the relentless inroads of degeneration inherited from Adam! As faithful Elihu illustrated it: "His flesh shall be fresher than a child's; he returneth to the days of his youth." (Job 33: 25). No more will death cut short lives filled with right works. And what of those long dead? The King, Christ Jesus, who is the "resurrection and the life", easily springs the latch on the grave, releasing all who have been retained in the memory of God, indicated by the expression "memorial tombs" which he used as shown at John 5: 28, 29:

"Do not marvel at this, because the hour is coming in which all those in the memorial tombs will hear his voice and come out, those who did good things to a resurrection of life, those who practiced vile things to a resurrection of judgement." For God-fearing persons, gone forever all sting of death! At an end are all victories for the grave!

To get the book, "Let God Be True" (price 50 cents) write 150 Bridgeland Ave. Toronto 10, or ask any of Jehovah's Witnesses you may happen to meet. You may also call at the Congregation nearest to you, they will be pleased to serve you.

Branch 70 Correspondent

"ACTIVE SERVICE YESTERDAY COMMUNITY SERVICE TODAY"

Four new members were initiated into the branch at the general meeting of June 9, namely, Comrades Florian Guitard, James Paul, Sidney R. Berry and Thomas Johnson.

The floor approved the purchase of an additional wheelchair, which brings our count of wheelchairs up to four. This move follows the policy of the branch in having as much hospital equipment available for the general public as possible. Branch 70 is pleased to be in the position to offer this equipment as a community service to anyone in the area who may require its use. The Sick and Relief Committee also reported that Comrades Roy Holmes, Howard Morrison, J. R. Thorburn and D. Graham are in sick bay.

Com. T. Smith has taken over the chairmanship of the Horse-Pull Committee — Com. MacLean, who has done the job so well in the past, being unable to carry on this year. Com. Doug Ogilvy reported an enjoyable dance on the 11th. Com. Fred Pring and his special guest added much to the hilarity of the evening.

Com. Rene Paulsen reports that 125 boys turned out for ball practice on Thursday, and about 80 on Saturday. He is very pleased with the offers received to assist in coaching and managing the teams. The equipment has been ordered and will be here this week, so the official starting date is fast approaching.

Thanks are extended to the comrades who assisted in moving Mr. J. Coney, Sr., and his effects to Lachute. Also to the Lachute Lions Club for their invitation to join them in their 25th Anniversary celebrations.

It was decided to carry on with the general meetings for the months of July and August. This will enable us to keep abreast of the times and be ready to render assistance in whatever area is required.

See you at the Fair !

Birthday Party

On Saturday evening friends of Mrs. Douglas McArthur tendered her a birthday suprise party, at her home in Rockway Valley.

Extended Tour

This week, Mrs. Gordon Phillips leaves for an extended visit to Western Canada. She will fly to Regina Sask., where she will visit with her mother, Mrs. L. Broadfoot, and sister, Mrs. Gordon Dewar. On June 25 she will go by plane to Vancouver to visit with her son, Stewart and family, who have been teaching in an Indian village. Continuing her holiday, Mrs. Phillips will attend the national convention of the Canadian Authors' Association as the Montreal representative, where she will be one of four panelists discussing the moral obligations of writers.

W.A. Meeting

The monthly meeting of the Woman's Association of the United Church was held in the church hall. A good attendance was observed. The devotional exercises were taken by Mrs. Gibbons. Routine business was dealt with, a highlight being the arranging for a strawebrry tea to be held in July. During the evening the new student minister, Mr. Lawson, visited the meeting and was introduced to the members. Tea was served, the hostesses being Mrs. Gordon Gray, Mrs. Harold Gordon and Mrs. S. Swail.

Women's Institute

The monthly meeting of the Women's Institute, Arundel branch, was held last Tuesday evening, the president, Mrs. L. Gibbons, occupying the chair. A report was given on the annual W.I. convention which was held at Brownsburg, by Mrs. Alvin Graham. The president was appointed delegate to the annual Q.W.I. convention at Macdonald College, to be held the latter part of June; alternate delegate is Mrs. Roy Staniforth. Plans for the coming bazaar were discussed and conveners appointed for the various booths. The president then turned the meeting over to Mrs. Alvin Graham, convener of Health and Welfare, whose program took the form of a blind auction; a tidy sum was netted, aside from the fun that was enjoyed.

Engagement Announced

Mrs. Gordon Phillips, of Arundel, Que., announces the engagement of her daughter, Miss Gordona Phillips, to Mr. Leonard McArthur, son of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas McArthur, of Rockway Valley. The marriage will take place in September.

Lachute residents will be glad to know that your Telephone Company, at the request of the Council, has completed the installation of a new alarm system to summon the volunteer firemen in case of fire. Pictured at left are Five Chief Don MacCulloch and Assistant Chief Harold Deacon inspecting the system which provides immediate and simultaneous connection with the homes of the volunteers and which they described as a big step forward in the protection of the lives and property of the citizens of Lachute.

During and immediately following the war years, there were long waiting lists for telephone service in quite a number of areas. A letter received by the Bell Company sometime during that period reads as follows: "Dear Sirs, I have been trying to get a phone ever since I moved into this area some time back. I finally found a widow who had a phone — and after telling her my telephone troubles at length, she agreed to let me have her telephone if I would marry her, which I did. I am now very happy with both the phone and the widow — so you can take me off your waiting list." . . . Fortunately, such complicated arrangements are not necessary when it comes to getting telephone service today in Lachute!

You don't necessarily have to stray from home in order to enjoy the open air and summer sunshine. A few hours in the garden after a busy day can work wonders for a person — it does for us. But there's always the telephone to think of. There's always the chance of missing an important call. — Unless, of course, you have an outdoor telephone. Portable telephones, with outlets for garden or patio, are becoming increasingly popular. We expect to provide this "outdoor telephone service" to a number of folk around Lachute this season. We'll be happy to do the same for you. Give us a call, or drop in and see us. Portable telephones with suitable outlets are not expensive. . . . Pictured above is Mr. Gabriel Valois, busy insurance agent, with his installation — photographed on his patio at Lachute.

Speaking to a group of children once, Alexander Graham Bell spoke to us all when he said, "Don't keep forever on the public road, going only where others have gone. Leave the beaten track occasionally and dive into the woods. You will be certain to find something you have never seen before. Of course, it will be a little thing, but do not ignore it. Follow it up, explore all around it; one discovery will lead to another, and before you know it you will have something to think about to occupy your mind. All really big discoveries are the result of thought. . . ."

(Montreal Star, May 28, 1960)

QUEBEC'S NEW LOOK

THE MONTREAL DAILY STAR in a special 112-page supplement has taken a long, hard look at the position of the province of Quebec at this juncture in history . . . and the consensus is that Quebec is prosperous and progressive . . . to a degree that would have been unbelievable even a quarter of a century ago.

In a word-picture of modern Quebec staff members of the Star and other writers have spelled out the progress story to indicate the size of the heritage and the promise it holds.

Truly the growth of Quebec, in every way, is remarkable — and just as certainly the confidence afforded by the National Union government of Quebec has provided an important phase of the financial climate so essential to the investment that has opened the way to the present-day progress and prosperity, of which every citizen of this great province is so much a part.

THE PROGRESS STORY . . .

(a few quotations from the pages of THE STAR'S searching review of the amazing development of Quebec as milestone 1960 is passed)

- "Today Quebec accounts for over 30% of the value of Manufactured goods in all Canada" — H. W. Joly, Chairman of the Quebec Division of the Canadian Manufacturers Ass'n.
- "The inhabitants of Quebec are the richest people in the world, rich in the most precious commodity of this modern age — electricity" — Ian McNaughton, technical coordinator of the Canadian Electrical Ass'n
- "Quebecers buy a higher proportion of premium gasoline than motorists in other provinces" — James Stewart, Star staff member and former oil industry writer.
- "Daily, Quebec mills produce some 14,000 tons of pulp and paper, enough to fill a 500-car freight train" — Michael Sinclair, career writer on pulp and paper.
- "In 1945 Quebec boasted 65 motor vehicles per 1,000 population, today this figure has trebled to 195" — J. W. McGiffin, vice-president, Kingsway Transports.
- "Quebec has the greatest percentage of paved roads in Canada — 24%, as against a figure of 19% for Ontario" — Charles Lazarus, Star staff member and roads specialist.
- "Quebec's new premier has something the National Union has lacked for many years; a solid appeal to the labor vote" — John Maffre, associate editor of The Star.
- "Today more than one-third of the aggregate revenues of all institutions (of learning) in the province are derived from government grants". Dr. F. Cyril James, principal and vice-chancellor of McGill University.
- "The real explosion in hospital construction all over the province has taken place since the last war. This expansion represents nearly $200,000,000 in provincial grants alone." Fred Poland, Star medical writer.
- "The Province of Quebec has been making very striking progress in economic development in recent years, particularly since the end of the Second World War" — J. H. Goldsmith, Star financial editor.
- "Shortly before prorogation of the last session of the provincial legislature, Premier Barrette's government introduced legislation authorizing Quebec's universities to transfer the $25,000,000 held in trust for them by the Canadian Universities Conference" — Fernand Renault, head of the Star's Quebec City bureau and chief correspondent in the Legislature.

Come to the Fair!

(Copyright)

— By NANCY CLEAVER —

Perhaps you remember when you sang:

"The sun is shining to welcome the day,
Ho-ho! Come to the fair!
The folks are all singing so merry and gay,
Hi-ho! Come to the fair!
The stalls on the green are as fine as can be,
The trinkets and tokens so pretty to see,
So, let's come then, maidens and men,
To the Fair in the pride of the morning!"

Millions of Canadians attend our big city exhibitions each year and tens of thousands go to visit our rural fairs. Each has its place in our national life, but the friendlier, smaller fairs in a very special way promote neighborliness and pride in one's own home area.

If there are New Canadian families in your community, do invite them to go to the fair. Here they will find a real cross-section of the life of their new country. Fairs are one community enterprise which help make good citizens.

The movie version of "The Egg and I" showed some delightful pictures of an annual fair in full swing The scene where first prize was awarded for the best quilt was quite dramatic in its recording of emotions of delight and disappointment. I only wish it had been in Technicolor.

It took me back in memory to the Fergus fall fair which I saw every autumn during my girlhood. This was the big event in the lives of all the school-children. It took place toward the end of September and everyone had a holiday — the first school holiday since the summer vacation.

It seems to me there were many values in the annual occasion when all roads led to the fair. Village and country people mingled in a carefree, holiday mood. The prizes were not large. Certainly, no sewing prize for a quilt, or anything else, would send a boy to college as it did in the movie. Almost every class had a good number of entries. The tempting pies, cakes and cookies, the jars of fruit and vegetables all were mouth-watering. What care had gone into the afghans, in gay colors, the fine lace doilies, the crocheted pillow cases!

The chickens, geese and ducks always had an admiring audience. The small boys, and a good many of the little girls, too, who lived in town, pestered their parents to be taken to see the livestock.

Outdoors in the pens, the pigs, calves, cows and horses had a steady stream of visitors. When the hour of judging arrived, an alert group of boys in overalls shared with their fathers the thrill and excitement of showing the animals from their own farms. The judges often had difficulty in making awards and good sportsmanship was evident on every hand.

The school children's art exhibit often displayed some vivid and rather strange land and sea scapes. But how proud the young artists were of their pictures! The collections of pressed leaves were always outstanding because the school principal was a Nature lore enthusiast. He encouraged every pupil to make such a collection and not only went on hikes with them, but gave them direction and aid in mounting their specimens.

For young and old alike, whether or not prizes were won, the exhibition of handiwork fostered pride in personal accomplishment.

In these days of machine-made articles, the rural fair points out the beauty and the value of handmade products. A hobby of any kind makes life happier and richer. At the Fair, various hobbies were represented, as well as many ways of earning a livelihood.

Fairs, large or small, make a unique contribution to community life and they deserve the wholehearted support of all good citizens. They remind thoughtful folk of the worthwhile activities of life. The poet Whittier, when he was asked to pen some lines for the Agricultural Exhibition at Amesbury, wrote these words:

"Give fools their gold, and knaves their power;
Let Fortune's bubbles rise and fall;
Who sows a field or trains a flower,
Or plants a tree, is more than all."

Polio vaccine in oral form

Ottawa (CP)— Development in the United States of an anti-polio vaccine that can be taken orally is being closely watched by Canada.

However, said Dr. G. D. W. Cameron, deputy health minister, there has been no undertaking to license the vaccine for sale in this country.

Dr. Cameron was commenting on a statement by Dr. Gerald R. Cox, director of viral research at Lederle Laboratories, Pearl River, N.Y., that Lederle has developed a vaccine that tastes like cherries and is more effective than present vaccines.

Canada is conducting its own studies on oral vaccine at the Institute of Microbiology and Hygiene in Montreal and at Connaught Laboratories in Toronto.

Dr. Cameron said he hopes current discussion of oral vaccine will not deter anyone from getting injections of Salk anti-polio vaccine.

Golden Broiled Fish Steaks make an appealing entree.

Broiled fish steaks

Plain broiled fish is delicious. For added flavor interest try one of the following broiled fish steak recipes recommended by the home economists of Canada's Department of Fisheries.

Golden Broiled Fish Steaks

2 pounds cod or salmon steaks, 1 tablespoon grated onion, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, ¼ cup butter (melted), 1 teaspoon salt, dash pepper, ¼ teaspoon thyme or tarragon, paprika and parsley.

Place steaks on greased broiler pan. Combine the next six ingredients listed to make a butter sauce. Baste steaks with half of the sauce. Broil 4 to 5 minutes, turn, baste with remaining sauce and continue broiling until cooked. Remove to a heated platter, sprinkle with paprika and garnish platter with parsley. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Schooner Steaks Flamingo

2 Pounds halibut steaks, 1 teaspoon salt, dash pepper, ¼ cup butter or other fat (melted), 1 cup grated cheese, 1 tablespoon prepared mustard, 2 teaspoons prepared horseradish, 2 tablespoons chili sauce.

Season steaks with salt and pepper, and place on greased broiler pan. Baste with half of the melted butter and broil 4 or 5 minutes. Turn steaks, baste with remaining butter and broil until cooked. Meanwhile combine cheese, mustard, horseradish and chili sauce. Spread this mixture over the cooked steaks and return to the broiler for 1 or 2 minutes or until cheese melts and browns. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

QUEBEC FILMS

Quebec (CP)— Quebec province has about 20 publicity films now in production, says Robert Prevost, director of the provincial tourist bureau. They include films on Quebec's universities, commercial and sport fishing, highways, handicrafts, market gardening, and one on the Quebec provincial flag.

Teatime Topics

Specially Written for The Lachute Watchman By Edna Blakely, Canadian Press Staff Writer

If your home is color co-ordinated, furniture may be moved from room to room making seating arrangements more flexible.

"It's easier to live with, as well," says interior decorator Marianne Heller, who has just completed decorating a model home in a South Windsor, Ont., housing development.

The builder, Martin Goldberg, says the return of the traditional type house is inevitable. He believes Canadian families are looking for solid two-storey homes with upper floor bedrooms which give privacy from the living area on the ground floor. A full-size dining room and a large family-type kitchen are also wanted by many young families.

Co-ordinating an entire house creates a feeling of spaciousness, Mrs. Heller says. If you're the type of woman who likes to switch the furniture around, this will be sheer delight. Accessories such as lamps can be shifted from room to room and still match the decor.

A good decorator does not force her own tastes on her customers.

"A road map does not tell you where to go, but only how to get there," she says.

Calorie Counting

The Alcoholism Research Foundation of Canada has asked if weight-watching Canadians count the calories in what they drink as well as in what they eat.

The foundation says there are more calories in two beers or a double whiskey than in an extra piece of apple pie or a candy bar.

A recent release asked: "How many business men piously deny themselves a lunchtime dessert and happily toss down their accustomed daily ration of alcohol? How many ladies eagerly sip a martini at the bridge table even as they virtuously discuss their latest dietary deprivation and shake their pretty heads at the salted nuts?"

The foundation says eight ounces of beer equal 105 calories, 1½ ounces of gin contain 100 calories, 1½ ounces of rum or whiskey 105 calories, two ounces of port 106 calories, two ounces of sherry 76 calories, and four ounces of champagne 120 calories.

Won't Preach

The top student of the 10 divinity graduates from Trinity College in Toronto won't enter the ministry. She's Margaret Lods and Anglican tradition is against women becoming ministers. Miss Lods agrees with tradition.

She'll become a lecturer in New Testament and doctrine at the Toronto Anglican Women's Training College.

A native of Ste. Anne de Bellevue, Que., she spent two years as a diocesan worker in Newfoundland.

Before coming to Toronto Miss Lods took a teacher training course in Montreal.

King Reid Carnival once again featured at Lachute Spring Fair, third successive year

More rides and more shows than ever before in its 20-year history, will highlight the Magic Kingdom of the King Reid Carnival now in its third year at Lachute Fair and continuing until Saturday night, June 18.

In the realm of rides, four all-new rides combine the ingenuity and design of the top ride manufacturers in the country to thrill and chill all comers. The Super Tilt-A-Whirl spins and dips; the Catapulting Paratrooper provides 12 thrills a minute with its rapid swinging action; the Sensational Scrambler operates on the principle of centrifugal force; and the Flying Coaster which was introduced last year, broke all records at the C.N.E. and is one of only seven manufactured in the world. Other major rides include the Merry-Go-Round, the Ferris Wheels, the Dipsy Doodle, the Roller Coaster, the Fly-O-Plane, the Scooter and the Skittering Comet.

For the children, there's a section especially for their pleasure. In this area are rides tailor-made for them which include the Whip, Speed Boats, Miniature Autos on a Junior Turnpike, a tiny Ferris Wheel and Aeroplanes.

In the realm of shows, Col. Lew Alter's Circus Sideshow, "Can It Be Possible?" features free of charge a menagerie in small gaily-painted circus cages, which include an ocelot from Central America, a Humble Woolley from the Moon Mountains of the Belgian Congo; "Keno" the Giant Rhesus, a rare black Spider Monkey and a "What-Is-It?" creature that has the pointed ears of a rat, the long tail of a monkey, the tapered nose of a fox, the shaggy hair of a bear and the savage claws of a giant hawk. Performing baby monkeys do their bit to entertain children of all ages. In addition, Col. Alter presents Lady Viola, who is tattooed from her lovely neck to the tip of her toes; Schlitzie, the Pin-Head Girl, the last of the Aztecs from Old Mexico; "Mysto", the magician, his famous shrunken heads from the Amazon in Central America originally in Ripley's collection, and specimens of a two-headed baby and the Siamese Twins. Col. Lew Alter carries on in the old tradition of Buffalo Bill, who broke him into the outdoor show business 47 years ago.

The Rollicking Rock 'n Roll Revue, "Club Ebony", is another outstanding attraction. It has 12 colored performers, a sensational Dixieland trio, a comely Creole chorus, a hilarious comedian Lawrence Williams, Chita and her cha-cha-cha dancers direct from Las Vegas, and the Red Hot TV Mama, who sings the blues. This is a minstrel musical revue featuring Rock 'n Roll rhythms.

Other attractions are the Death Valley Man-Killing Snakes; Lila, the toast of Las Vegas; the Club 17 Revue; and the Congo Show, a spooky journey through the dense jungle of Africa.

The Mighty King Reid Shows returns to Lachute by popular demand for its third year at this fair. A front gate paneled with State seals and coats-of-arms of the different States and Provinces that the Mighty King Reid Shows have toured, will mark the location of the Magic Kingdom, where fun and frivolity reign supreme at the Lachute Fair grounds until Saturday night, June 18.

ALL ABOARD FOR THE MAGIC KINGDOM OF THE KING REID CARNIVAL! Returning by popular demand for its third year at the Lachute Fair the Mighty King Reid Carnival has set aside a special area for children only. In Kiddieland the small-fry will find speed boats, a tiny Ferris Wheel, a Whirling Whip, Gyrating Aeroplanes, and a Junior Turnpike where they can drive miniature automobiles themselves. All of these rides are tailor-made especially for them. The King Reig Shows, now at the Lachute Fair, continues to Saturday night, June 18.

Tips on Touring

By Carol Lane
Women's Travel Authority

Collect all you want, but be sure you want all you collect. This is a good maxim for every memento-minded motorist about to take that long-awaited summer holiday.

It's a natural tendency to bring home souvenirs of memorable vacation spots, so you must withstand the temptation to collect useless items from famous places. When you see some knick-knack typical of a locale, just ask yourself, "Where am I going to put that when I get home?" The question should keep you clear of junk and help you build a collection of useful and decorative items to dress up your home.

A friend of mine has a collection of demitasse cups she's picked up around the country. Another collects unique spoons; another, authentic trivets. An artistic friend has a collection of prints and original water colors of places she's visited. Another has decorated her western ranch home with Indian art objects.

The paper weight on my desk is a beautifully colored rock I found in the Rockies and polished myself. I keep my pencils in an early American celery dish purchased in New England and use sea shells for ash trays. All these items are useful and attractive reminders of my travels.

The children in one family I know collect postcards from places they visit, later filing them in their shoe box. On the wall in their room is a map of Canada, with coloured pins marking the spots where they've travelled. The children in another family collect match books, the covers of which they tack on a framed pegboard in the family recreation room.

Your travel souvenirs don't have to be a clutter destined for the attic or basement. They can constitute a useful and decorative collection which you are proud to display in your home.

Knights of the Space Age

In days of old, knights wore a protective visor just as a pilot of the jet age must wear face gear for survival in the upper atmosphere. Little Bill Noice, Jr., peers into the face gear on a mannequin imagining the facial protection gear which will be required for a space pilot years hence. Too few study for ministry

London, Ont. (CP)— The prospect of recruiting ministers for the United Church presents "a gloomy picture," a member of the church's general council said recently in Toronto.

Dr. H. W. Vaughan told the United Church of Canada's London conference there is a distinct possibility of church expansion badly outstripping the ministerial force.

He said the situation might lead to the use of lay ministers.

Dr. Vaughan said it should be made known that the minister is no longer "a pauper," no longer poorly paid. "This is not a basis for enlistment, but it should be known."

The London conference, he said, had only eight candidates for the ministry last year. "We need 300 candidates now if we are to overtake the losses of the last three years," he said.

A special day for Father!

By Nancy Cleaver
(Parents Only Syndicate)

"You had an exceptional father. Some day I wish you would write about him!" an old Fergus friend who had known our family for years, said recently to me. "The man of the house in this day is so often pushed around or laughed at! But your dad was respected by the whole community and he really worked at being a father!"

There were four children in our family and it never occurred to us that our dad "worked at being a father". Boys and girls, at least while they are in Public School, more or less accept their parents as they are. We did know that father shared his leisure time with us and he was always good company.

What fun we had hiking in the maple sugar bush in the Spring or searching for beech-nuts in the Autumn! Dad was an ardent fisherman and a Saturday afternoon fishing expedition with him was a great treat.

He loved all animals, but horses were his favorites. We considered ourselves very lucky if it was our turn to go to one of the nearby Fall Fairs when father showed his standard bred, "Fairy Winkle."

For almost two decades we lived in a big manse with lots of ground around it. "There never is an end to cutting grass!" we sometimes grumbled. We knew right well that father expected us to do a good job. He had no use for slip-shod work.

Long before we started to school we were allowed to help father put in the garden. As we got older he toiled with us on caring for the plants. We had quite a struggle with twitch grass getting into the strawberry patch. But every June we had a family celebration over our first big "feed" of strawberries. Father always quoted, "Doubtless God could have made a better berry, but doubtless God never did."

We lived quite a distance from the school and so there was not much time for the noon meal. But supper was more leisurely and we all looked forward to the conversation as well as the food. Father insisted that only one person speak at one time. We had some wonderful discussions on all kinds of topics. One winter father encouraged each of us to read the daily newspaper and tell briefly the piece of news which interested us most at the supper table.

After the evening meal was over, Father asked for "The Book" and we had family worship. Sometimes we sang a hymn. Occasionally we children had a turn in reading from the Bible. I can recall my father's musical voice as he read aloud from the Psalms or some of the other fine passages in the St. James version. We kneeled when father prayed — and even the youngest of us realized that this was real prayer.

Anyone who came into our house was aware that father and mother were happy in their married life. They didn't take time to talk much about members of a family being considerate and loyal. They lived out their faith in home being a little island of love and security set in the wide ocean of life.

Father never showed any favoritism. When we were naughty, our punishment was fair, even if sometimes it seemed severe. But we never doubted our father's affection. Nor did he ever seem to waver in his faith in us that we would grow up to be useful citizens.

The salary he received was less than two thousand a year. He and mother must have scrimped in order to give us a higher education. But he never mentioned this being a burden.

One lovely June day father watched three of his children graduate, one in theology, one in medicine, one in arts. An acquaintance at the Garden Party remarked, "Those youngsters of yours must have cost a pretty sum! I expect you're relieved that their college days are over?"

"Not at all," father answered quickly. "I'd be glad to live them all over again — this is the proudest day of my life!"

Fish sticks à la Russe

Current world events would indicate there's little ground on which East and West can get together, politically anyway. Fortunately, in the world of food there are many common meeting areas acceptable by all nations. Recipes and food ideas developed in one country have been happily adopted in others. For example, frozen fish sticks are a North American invention whose fame and popularity have spread across the seas; while Russia has made some outstanding contributions to the world of good eating — not the least of which are tangy seafood and fish sauces. Put these two basic ideas together and you've got a winning table team. Fish sticks à la Russe features crispy-coated flaky fish with a tangy sour cream sauce. This is a quick-to-fix dinner item that enhances any cook's reputation.

Fish Sticks à la Russe

1 Package frozen fish sticks, ½ cup dairy sour cream, ¼ cup mayonnaise, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 1 tablespoon chopped fresh dill (or 1 teaspoon dried dill or dill seed).

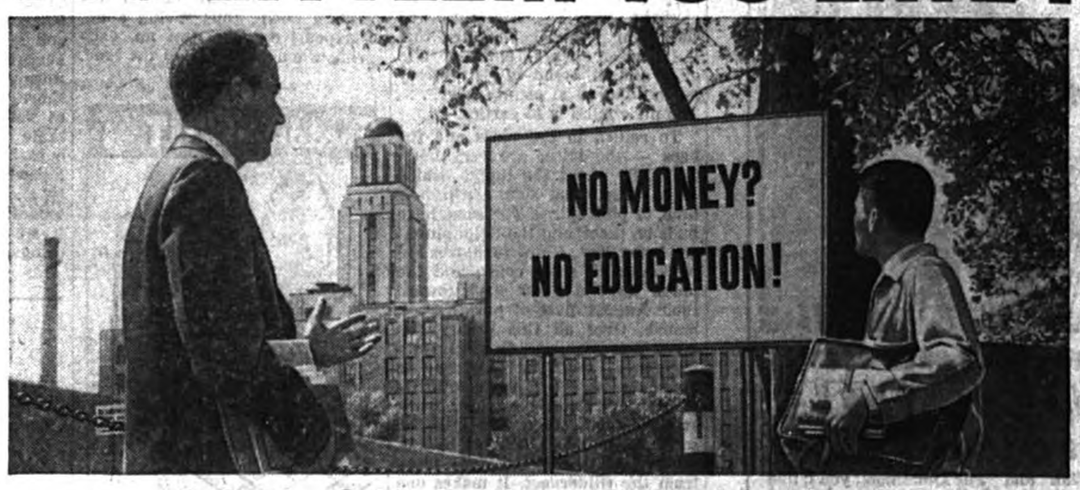

Prepare fish sticks according to package directions. Whip together sour cream and mayonnaise, fold in lemon juice and dill. (This sauce improves if made in advance and allowed to chill thoroughly.) Serve hot fish sticks with cold sauce. Makes 3 to 4 servings.

Note: Fish sticks may be cut into small pieces, smeared with toothpicks and served on the appetizer tray, to be dunked into the sauce.

Unionville, Ont.,
March 23. 1960.

Dear Sir,
I am not saying you do not take good care of the money in your bank but please take very good care of mine. Now I don't know just how you keep the money whether you put it all in one place together or in separate cells with locks or what. But, I am saving up for a horse and as I think you know a horse and a place to keep it, plus the feeding is very expensive and a horse is hard to support.

Thank you for taking time to read this and please help me get my horse in that way.

Yours Respectfully
Barbara Louise

We hope you enjoy this letter as much as we do. It was written by one of our 11 year old customers, a student at Unionville Public School.

YES, Barbara... The BNS knows how expensive a horse can be. So—don't worry about your money... we'll take good care of it until you are able to buy your horse.

PROGRESS THROUGH RESEARCH

FAMILY AFFAIR

Craving odd foods — say a dill pickle with a side order of strawberry ice cream — has come to be regarded as an expectant mother's privilege. More recently, it has been reported that some young mothers-to-be have been caught nibbling at pieces of coal. The women aren't the only ones afflicted. Imminent parenthood affects some men in strange ways, too.

In an Air Force study reported in the Armed Forces Medical Journal, one third of the expectant fathers demonstrated some kind of medical or emotional problem. Another third created unusual difficulties or committed offences serious enough for a court martial. Some of them showed irritability or anxiety, developed dizziness, headaches or stomach aches. Some even "ate for two" and others had morning sickness.

Not all husbands suffer in silence, it seems. A report in the Western Journal of Surgery, Obstatrics and Gynecology showed a certain new drug cleared up nausea and vomiting in 61 of 65 mothers-to-be and one husband. The nervous father-to-be was cured of his "sympathy sickness" after taking this drug for three days. His wife's symptoms were controlled within a week.

In addition to the morning sickness symptoms, expectant fatherhood can make some men less efficient, drive others to bad behaviour, according to the Air Force doctor. He felt his investigation bolstered the idea that expectant fatherhood makes a good man better and a bad man worse.

Beautiful June at Sunnyacres, all Nature "fairly exploding"

"Exile from Sunnyacres"

By Margaret Cook

This bit is either a bonus or a bore, according to your temperament. Anyway, with elections so nearly upon us, few will bother to read the meanderings of the Cook woman. But we missed an issue, and the stern conscience inherited from the Quaker grandmother will not let us rest.

We write from Sunnyacres on a beautiful June morning. Nature is fairly exploding outside; buttercups riot on the uncut part of the yard, columbines lift pink or purple bells to the bees. In the garden the lemon lillies scent the air and look strangely innocent beside the large, flaunting peonies. A lovely cutting-bloom is the peony. It is unfortunate that they always remind the writer of those buxom, blooming girls, with red cheeks who look so beautiful and wholesome at the same time. . . . This type always develop into bosomy, hippy women with red veins on the nose. A pity. We have a cousin of this type; at 16 she was lovely, or so I thought. I mentioned my admiration to a male contemporary of hers, and, to my amazement, he gave the Canadian equivalent of the Gallic shrug, and commented that the damsel always reminded him of a certain breed of cattle very much admired at county fairs. . . . The male mind is so earthy!

To return to the birds and the bees — the latter are very busy, especially about the lupins, which are a heartening sight with their blue, or pink spires. The roses have buds on them, and the delphiniums are being lazy. A few foxgloves are beginning to show color, and the phlox have a good start toward their August blaze of purple, rose, mauve. Over all this beauty, the black flies fly restlessly about waiting for a feed! The only way to get the grass cut in any comfort is to dash out for five minutes, work at high speed, then flee into the screened house. Thus, bit by bit, we reclaim the place once more from the wilderness. It makes one feel like a minor pioneer!

At dusk, the rabbits converge on our yard to eat the clover. They seem unafraid, and will even let the cats come within a yard of them before indulging said felines in a race, which the rabbit always wins easily. It is quite a sight to see Peter, the Persian, flying up the yard, head down, fur plus-fours fluttering in the breeze of his charge. After about 60 feet of this he realizes he is being made a fool of, and returns looking sheepish. We have observed the rabbits playing like kittens, rolling over and over and kicking up their heels. At this season, their beautiful, long, delicate ears are a target for the black flies and mosquitoes, so they are twitched more than ever. (The head of the house says the twitchy part reminds him of a suburbanite of our acquaintance.)

The old shed, which doubles as a garage, is still standing stubbornly. We plan to have a new garage this summer, and for two winters have hopefully waited for the heavy snow to send the old one crashing down, thus saving hours of expensive labor. But no, each spring when we come up the lane, we see it resting greyly on the earth, its timbers rising against the clear blue sky. Just under the eaves, the boards are a lovely ochre tint, deepening into deep rose, when it rains. I shall miss the old structure, but a new one is undoubtedly necessary. The trouble with property, quips the head of the house, it always (like a woman) needs something. . . . But to carry the allegory further, it is nice to have.

The little road which runs between Route 30 and the St. Jerome road, is having its face lifted. Huge machinery has dug into it, thrown dirt and small boulders on it; dynamite has removed some of the glacial rock monsters, and man has cut away encroaching trees. But, to our glee, it, like the shed, remains essentially the same. It is still possible to walk along it, stopping to pick fruit, or ferns, violets, sometimes the rare lady's slipper. One can still stand on a culvert and regard the watery world beneath it. Tiny fish flirt about, pollywogs bore excitedly along the shore, of what to them must be as vast as a sea. Water striders skate along the surface. One loses oneself in the contemplation, until a truck or a car comes along. Nearly always it is driven by an acquaintance who offers us a lift. If we accept, we talk of country things, the road itself, the new cottages, the new kittens, the bear at Lakefield, and, just now — of politics. A nice, leisurely walk; no smoke, no gas fumes, no discernible neighbors. Even with the advent of electricity and improved roads, country living is quite distinct from that in the city.

The daughter of the house told us an interesting and revolting bit last week. The physical education group at the college had to dissect two pairs of lungs. One pair was a greyish pink, the other a greyish black. You guessed it; one man lived in the country, the other in the city. The question that agitates our restless mind is whether a city lung can be rehabilitated, so to speak. Once black, is a lung always black, or can it return to its natural pink-grey?

All of which reminds us that nothing has been said of the urban activities of June, weddings and graduations. So far, we have evaded the first this year, but were, of course, actively caught in one graduation. The daughter of the house was one of several hundreds who paraded up to get a teaching diploma. Only her persistent fairness distinguished her from the others. As we sat clammily on our metal chairs under overcast skies, two lines kept running through my head. With amusement, I recognized that they were from a Christmas hymn — "The hopes and fears of all the years, Are met in Thee tonight". It was undoubtedly apposite. Attracted by the new salary scales, many families are really enduring some financial sacrifices to give their offspring one, two or four years' preparation for teaching. It seems the wrong reason for choosing a career; one wonders if the resulting teacher is as dedicated as those who chose to teach because they liked the idea of teaching the young. In our case, it was the equivalent of buying the lady an insurance policy, for in only one other calling, are the hours such that a young wife or widow could carry on if obliged. Our lady's real love is bugs and animals, not children! Right now she is supremely happy flitting about an entomology laboratory. She adores the white mice, who have to be injected with various diseases, and regards with amusement the fly larvae.

—Ooops, the space has run out. We write next time from Sunnyacres, where we shall stay, lo, many weeks!

NOT SO LUCKY

Two men were discussing a friend's bad luck at the races. "It's funny," commented one of them. "Frank is a demon at cards but he can't win a bet at the track."

"That's not so funny," the other said. "He can't shuffle the horses."

HAMILTON SCHOOL TAKES DRUDGERY OUT OF MATH

Learning arithmetic is fun for pupils at Inverness school in Hamilton, Ont., where a grocery store has been set up to teach addition and subtraction in a meaningful way. The class is split into businesmen, consumers, storekeepers and clerks and play money is used for buying and selling. The teacher reports that since the project was started six months ago arithmetic marks are up 20 per cent and no pupil has failed on their test. 4-H Tractor Club formed recently at Vankleek Hill

Vankleek Hill — A 4-H Tractor Club has been formed in Vankleek Hill for boys between the ages of 14 and 21.

At the first meeting, the Agricultural Representative, R. L. Farmer, and N. B. Sinclair, B.Sc., of the Kemptville Agricultural School, discussed Club projects, regulations and meetings with prospective members. After these formalities, members busied themselves with the election of officers. Mr. N. B. Sinclair then delivered a safety lecture-demonstration-discussion.

Ken Howes, James McIlwain and Arthur LeRoy assumed their positions as president, vice-president and secretary, respectively.

Objects of Club

1. To demonstrate methods whereby the most economical operation of farm tractors may be obtained.
2. To obtain knowledge on the part of the Club member of the actual operation costs for a tractor.
3. To focus attention on safety measures in the operation of farm tractors.
4. To demonstrate field maintenance and simple adjustments of tractors.

Basis of Awards

100 points for attendance at meetings.

100 points based on evidence of proper maintenance of tractor, as noted by supervisor at time of his visits.

300 points for completion of tractor service record work sheets in the manual.

200 points for answers to ten questions based on safe economical tractor operation.

300 points for driving and safety tests (Achievement Day).

At the second meeting Mr. Sinclair gave a lecture on gasoline and diesel engines with the aid of charts and used parts.

It's Our Money !

By C. J Harris

There was some criticism of the phrase "Hoover-type commission" to describe the investigation into waste, extravagance and overlapping in government service that was proposed by Prime Minister Diefenbaker. The critics thought the conventional "Royal Commission" was the better wording. However, since so many Royal Commission reports are pigeon-holed, perhaps the other phrase is not a bad choice. The Hoover reports — actually there were two of them, in 1949 and 1955 — got action. A saving of $10 billion a year to the taxpayers through increased government efficiency is the estimate.

On this point it is noteworthy that when, in 1947, the former Republican president was asked by Democratic President Truman to improve the government's housekeeping, he did not leave it to chance that the report of his commission would achieve concrete results. Realizing that pressure groups within government's departments, and within Congress itself, would try to block changes, he searched for and found a means of unhorsing the pressure groups.

Hoover headed a 12-man, two-party commission that combed the country to enlist 300 specialists, divided them into 19 groups and assigned them to specific problems. When the investigation's recommendations were in preparation Hoover moved to get them accepted by enlisting 50,000 prominent U.S. citizens to support the commission's efforts. Working through the newspapers, the radio, the public platform and their own congressional lobbies, these 50,000 taxpayers roused public opinion and succeeded in implementing about three-quarters of the commission's recommendations.

When President Eisenhower recalled Hoover to make a second investigation of every federal department and agency, the achievement was markedly less. Perhaps the public assumed the whole job had been done; certainly there was more resistance within the government. This time only two-thirds of the recommendations were adopted, and many of the more important reforms were sidetracked. Even at that, the partial elimination of waste, extravagance and duplication of services which has resulted from the two investigations is saving the U.S. taxpayers an estimated $10 billion a year, as noted.

Call it a Royal Commission or call it a Hoover-type commission, the investigation is a sound idea. The federal government has become by far the country's biggest business. Undoubtedly there are many inefficiencies hidden in the shadow of its mushroom growth. But merely exposing them is not likely to be enough. The public, as individuals and organizations, will have to be prepared to demand action. And why not? It's our money.

Explanatory Notes on the Provincial Housing Act

TEXT OF THE AMENDMENTS TO THE "ACT TO IMPROVE HOUSING CONDITIONS"

In the course of the last Session, the Legislature of the Province of Quebec has approved several amendments to the "Act to improve Housing conditions".

The Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation has become an eligible organism under the provisions of the provincial Act as long as the borrowers build or have built dwellings in conformity with the regulations of the Act to improve housing conditions.

The agreement between the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation and the Quebec Farm Credit Bureau, Family Housing Division, has been signed, and the chartered banks will soon sign it.

In addition to the Montreal City and District Savings Bank and the Quebec Savings Bank, the following chartered banks have become eligible and will submit the cases of applicants without delay: Bank of Montreal, Bank of Nova Scotia, Toronto-Dominion Bank, Provincial Bank of Canada, Canadian Bank of Commerce, Royal Bank of Canada, National Canadian Bank, Imperial Bank of Canada.

The applicants are not required to move about or enter into any negotiations as the lending organizations will themselves forward the required forms to their borrowers. These forms, duly filled in must be forwarded to the Family Housing Division of the Quebec Farm Credit Bureau for final investigation.

Regulations Of The Family Housing Division

Section I — Application

The present regulations, hereinafter referred to as the "Regulations" apply to the administration by the QUEBEC FARM CREDIT BUREAU of the "ACT to Improve Housing Conditions", hereinafter referred to as "The Law".

Section II — Fiscal Year.

The Fiscal Year, for the Quebec Farm Credit Bureau, begins on the first day of January and ends on the thirty-first day of December of each year.

Section III — Beneficiary

The benefits under the present Law are made available to all people who are the original owners, whether husband or wife, through construction or purchase of a new home inhabited by them for their own and their family's permanent occupancy and use, all in accordance with the terms and conditions of the present regulations. (According to the terms of the Law, a new Home or Dwelling shall be a property under construction or fully constructed, the applicant shall be the first occupant and the loan on which interest rebate is being applied for, shall be the first and only mortgage granted on the property).

The benefits cannot be transferred to a subsequent purchaser otherwise than on the death of the principal wage earner or of his wife, or should an owner, who was approved for the benefits, be transferred by his employer, to a distance farther than twenty-five miles from his original place of employment and provided that such transfer has taken place within twelve months from the date of occupancy of the property, by the original owner.

Section IV — Qualifications of the Applicant

a) The applicant must be married or the recognized main wage earner. (A person will be considered to be the wage earner when he is bound by law to provide for the full support of another person, whether it be as a father or mother towards their children or children towards their father or mother).

b. Neither the applicant nor his wife, may be the owner of any other permanent dwelling.

c) The applicant must have sufficient funds to pay the difference between the cost of construction or purchase price and the amount of the first mortgage loan.

d) A second financing will be permitted, provided that the additional loan does not exceed 15% of the first mortgage, save when the funds to finance such second mortgage are advanced from pension funds or from special benefit funds ((Staff Benevolent Funds) established by employers for the benefit of their employees, or by the employees themselves, in such case, additional mortgage shall not exceed 25% of the amount of the first mortgage.

Section V — Application by the Caisses Populaires and by the Lending Institutions.

Each Caisse Populaire or Regional Union or Federation of Caisses Populaires or each "Credit Union" or Federation of Credit Union or each Society governed by the Law of Co-operative Syndicates, or each Lending Society, Corporation or Bank who wishes to make mortgage loans under the terms of the present Law, must:

a) request the authorization to do so, from the Quebec Farm Credit Bureau (Family Housing Division), in writing;

b) be recognized as an authorized lender by Order-in-Council. (Note: The Caisse populaire or the Credit Union or any Institution governed by the Law of Co-operative Syndicates do not have to be authorized by Order-in-Council).

c. sign an agreement with the aforesaid BUREAU, as determined by Order-in-Council.

Section VI — Nature of the dwelling or new construction.

Every construction or new dwelling must:

a) contain not less than five hundred (500) square feet, (English measure) of liveable area, with the exclusion of corridors and washrooms;

b) contain one or two units with or without dependencies;

c) contain, above ground level, at least five rooms per dwelling, excluding bathroom, three of them being "closed-in bedrooms";

d) be built of first class materials;

e) be detached from any other dwelling and be situated at the distance provided by the Law, from the dividing line of each lot. It may however be contiguous with or without joint ownership of a common wall along one side of one of the lot lines. Moreover, the BUREAU shall have the right to consider other types of common property.

Section VII — Appraisal.

The lending Society must inform the Quebec Farm Credit Bureau (Family Housing Division), of the appraisal of both, the dwelling and the land, for the purpose of the mortgage loan. In any case, the appraisal of the dwelling shall not exceed eleven thousand five hundred dollars ($11,500.00) for a single family dwelling, or fifteen thousand dollars ($15,000.00) for a two family dwelling or "duplex".

Section VIII — Cost of construction or purchase prices.

The cost of construction or purchase price of a new habitation, including the cost of the land, must not exceed thousand five hundred dollars ($12,500.00) for a single family dwelling, or seventeen thousand dollars $17,000.00 for a duplex, save when the home owner purchased his land prior to the first day of July 1954. However, the Bureau shall have the privilege to determine the appraisal of both the house and the land, notwithstanding the predeclared cost.

Section IX — Contribution by the Quebec Farm Credit Bureau.

The contribution payable by the Quebec Farm Credit Bureau, in virtue of the Law, in the case of a loan exceeding the sum of seven thousand dollars $7,000.00) or twelve thousand dollars $12,000.00) shall be limited respectively to the proportion of interest paid at maturity on the sum of ($7,000.00) for a single family dwelling, and to the proportion of interest paid at maturity on ($12,000.-00) for a duplex. This contribution shall be payable by monthly, quarterly or semi-yearly instalments, in accordance with the agreement entered upon with each authorized lender.

Section X — Size of lots.

The land on which the new dwelling will have been constructed, in accordance with the terms of the Law, must measure at all times not less than fifty (50) feet in width, by seventy-five (75) feet in depth, English measure, and not exception to this regulation shall be made, unless the plot plan and housing plans will have been submitted to the Quebec Farm Credit Bureau, in triplicate, prior to construction of the house, and approved by the Directors of the Bureau.

Section XI — Nature of the mortgage loan.

All mortgages must:

a) be granted to a qualified borrower, following the terms of the regulations or to his wife should she possess the same qualifications, by a Caisse populaire or by a Lending Company or any other Organization duly authorized or recognized, according to the present Law;

b) be made for any term not exceeding thirty years;

c) be payable by monthly, quarterly or semi-annual instalments.

Section XII — Rate of interest

The rate of interest shall not exceed six and three quarter per cent (6¾%) per annum, and will be payable together with the principal. According to the amendments of the Law, voted during the 1959-60 Session, the portion of interest that will be reimbursed by the Quebec Farm Credit Bureau, shall be calculated on the matured interest paid by the borrower after the eighteenth of March 1960.

Section XIII — Power of the Lender

Each authorized lender will be allowed to:

a) set his own appraisal on any new building upon which he plans to grant a loan;

b) determine the amount of each loan with regards to the value of the construction;

d)prescribe the terms of reimbursement whether by

c) use his own yardstick for appraisal;

amortized annual payments or otherwise;

e) rule on the conditions to be contained in the Deed of loan or mortgage, subject to the provisions contained in the following article.

Section XIV — Deed of loan.

Each authorized lender may use his own forms of deed of loan and must submit them to the Quebec Farm Credit Bureau (Family Housing Division);

The borrower or purchaser shall have the privilege to prepay the amount of the loan, in part or in full, after one year of the date of the Deed of loan, with or without an indemnity equal to three month's interest on the amount of the prepayment;

In each Deed of loan, a delay of 90 days shall be mentioned for the compelled execution of the clause of giving payment (dation en paiement);

The borrower is allowed to give away the property to the lender, in payment of the balance remaining due on the loan, nothwithstanding any delay.

Section XV — Preliminary reports.

In order to obtain the benefits under the "Act to Improve Housing Conditions", the borrower or proprietor, through his lender, must submit to the Quebec Farm Credit Bureau (Family Housing Division) an official application duly sworn in, bearing his signature and indicating:

1 — a) the name and occupation of the borrower or purchaser;

b) the postal address of the dwelling, the dimension of the land on which the dwelling has been constructed together with a legal description of the mortgaged property;

c) particulars of the deed of acquisition of the mortgaged property;

d) the cost of construction or the purchase price of the dwelling and of the land;

e) the specifications of the dwelling, the number of rooms and the area of the house;

f) the date of occupancy of the said dwelling by the applicant and his family;

g) his solemn declaration to the effect that neither himself nor his wife owns any other permanent dwelling by absolute title;

h) the assurance that he and his family will occupy the property as their own permanent habitation within three months from the date of completion of construction;

i) that the applicant agrees to obtain previous approval of the Quebec Farm Credit Bureau (Family Housing Division) prior to selling the mortgaged property, as a whole or in part;

j) the amount of the first mortgage and of the second mortgage loan, should there be any, the terms of the loan, the rate of interest, the amount and the date of the payments, in principal and interests;

k) the date of the Deed of loan or Deed of Acquisition, the name of the Notary who passed the Deed, the number and the date of registration of Deed of loan or Deed of Acquisition;

l) the amount and the number of the Fire Insurance Policy existing on the mortgaged property and the name of the Insurance Company issuing same;

m) the civil status of the borrower or purchaser and the name of his dependants;

Further more, the borrower must submit two pictures of his house, taken from two different angles.

2 — A declaration signed by two Officers of the authorized Lending Company, mentioning the value of the land, the value of the dwelling, the date of beginning and that of completion of the house.

Section XVI — Subsequent reports by the lender.

According to the terms of the Law, each authorized Lender must furnish, on request, on the Bureau's official forms, all particulars required on a mortgage prior to the payment of the interest rebate being remitted to the borrower or purchaser.

Section XVII — Inspection.

The Quebec Farm Credit Bureau (Family Housing Division) may determine in each case, after due inspection, either through correspondance or through its own Inspectors, whether the borrower or purchaser has fulfilled and continues to fulfill all the conditions contained in the Deed of Loan in the Act and in the Regulations.

Section XVIII — Default by the borrower or purchaser.

Any borrower or purchaser who ceases to fulfill any of the conditions of his Deed of loan or of the Act or of the regulations shall forego automatically the benefits under the Act, during the full period of default.

Section XIX — Release of the obligations of the Bureau

The Quebec Farm Credit Bureau (Family Housing Division), upon default by the borrower or purchaser, shall be released from its obligation to pay the proportion of interest as specified under the Act, and the Bureau will so advise, with the least possible delay, the borrower or purchaser and the Lender at their address last known to the Bureau.

Section XX — Recourse by the Bureau.

The Quebec Farm Credit Bureau (Family Housing Division) shall retain against the borrower or the purchaser full legal recourse to obtain reimbursement of any sum paid to them and to which they were not entitled.

Section XXI — Reinstatement of Benefits.

Any borrower or purchaser who, due to default, has ceased to benefit of the interest rebate under the Law, may be reinstated for the said benefits provided he again fulfills the conditions of his Deed of loan, as well as those of the Law and of the regulations.

Section XXII — Agreements with the Lending Company.

The Quebec Farm Credit Bureau (Family Housing Division) is authorized to sign with the Caisses Populaires or the Federation of the Caisses Populaires, or Credit Unions, or Federation of Credit Unions or any Society governed by the Act of Co-operative Syndicates or the Lending Societies or Corporations or Banks or any other Organizations authorized to lend under the terms of the Act, any agreements consistent with the provisions of the regulations, subject to the aforesaid terms and conditions having been approved by the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council.

SECTION XXIII — Public Services

The benefits under the terms of the Act to Improve Housing Conditions are not available to proprietors or purchasers of homes built on unserviced lands, that is, land which is not serviced with regular municipal improvements (such as water and sewers equipment) unless the applicant, owner of the house, prior to construction, has secured the Bureau's approval by submitting a copy of the sud-division plan, a plan of the house and a report from the Provincial Department of Health, on the condition of the soil with their recommendation as to the minimum size of the lot which will insure perfect funotion of the projected sewers system. Before starting the construction of the house, the applicant shall then be obliged to obtain the approval of the Quebec Farm Credit Bureau (Family Housing Division).

Section XXIV — Sales

The benefits granted to home owners, under the terms of the present Act, cannot be transferred to a subsequent purchaser otherwise than in the case of the death of the owner or his wife, or in the case of a beneficiary having been transferred by his employer. In any case, the decision is arrived at, after due consideration, by the Directors of the Bureau.

Section XXV — Building Development where Contractors build a number of houses.

All individuals or companies building several homes in the same district, will have to submit to the Quebec Farm Credit Bureau, prior to construction, the following:

1) the sub-division plans;
2) the House plans;
3) the proposed sale price;
4) the projected public service facilities.

Section XXVI — Amendments.

The Quebec Farm Credit Bureau (Family Housing Division) is authorized to amend the present regulations, subject to all former rights duly enjoyed by any beneficiary, in accordance with the terms of the said former regulations, the whole having to be assented to by the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council.

Section XXVII — Coming into force

The present regulations shall come into force on the eighteenth of March 1960, subject to all rights formerly enjoyed, according to the terms of the former regulations and after same having been assented to by the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council.

Authorized Lenders

All Caisses Populaires Desjardins and "Credit Unions"; The Central Mortage and Housing Corporation; The Chartered Banks and about fifty insurance or trust companies whose names can be supplied by the Quebec Farm Credit Bureau, Family Housing Division.

EXPLANATORY NOTES

BENEFICIARY

May benefit of the Act any person who builds himself, or has built, or purchases a new dwelling for his own and his family's use.

(According to the Law, a new dwelling is a dwelling under construction or already built and of which the applicant is the first occupant, and the finance on which the applicant asked for the rebate of interest must be the first made on the dwelling).

PETITIONER'S QUALIFICATIONS

a) The petitioner must be married or recognized as a breadwinner.

(One recognized as supporting a family is he or she who is under legal obligation to support a person or persons, whether it be father's or mother's obligation towards their children or children's towards father or mother).

b) Neither the husband nor his wife may be owner of any other permanent dwelling.

c) The petitioner must possess the necessary funds to pay the difference between the cost of building or of purchase and the amount of the loan on first mortage.

d) A loan on second mortage may be allowed provided that the amount of this additional loan does not exceed 15% on the first mortage. Example: if the first mortage amounts to $8,000.00, the second mortage must not exceed $1,200.00

LOTS

All building lots must measure at least 50' frontage by 75' in depth. An irregular lot not having the required surface must be approved by the Bureau before the dwelling is built. Please write to the Quebec Farm Credit Bureau, Parliament Buildings, Quebec City, before the construction begins.

SPECIFICATION OF DWELLING

The dwelling :

a) Should contain one or two units (in the latter case, one must be used permanently by the owner, and the other may be rented).

b) Each dwelling must include five habitable rooms, three closed in on four sides which may be used as bedrooms. Every room will have to be built above ground, that is, a room in the basement may not be considered as one of the five prescribed rooms.

In the case of a 1½ story dwelling, including four rooms on the ground floor, two of which shall be bedrooms and the top floor unfinished, the dwelling will qualify provided there is a completed stairway to the top floor and the interior is sufficiently finished to render it habitable at low cost.

c) Shall measure at least five hundred feet of habitable surface, excluding corridors and bath rooms.

d) Shall be built with good quality materials and at the legal distance from the dividing line of each lot.

e) Shall be built within the limits of any organized village town or city.

COST.

The cost of construction of a single-unit dwelling must not exceed $12,500.00, the cost of the land included, and in the case of a two-unit dwelling, the cost of construction must not exceed $17,000.00, the cost of the land included.

These costs also include all accessories or extras.

LOAN

a) All the loans, according to the Act to Improve Housing Conditions, must be granted by Insurance companies, loan societies, Corporations or Banks duly authorized and by the Central Mortage and Housing Corporation, which is recognized as "authorized lender" or by the caisses populaires or "Credit Unions."

b) The amount to be loaned on the dwelling is fixed by the lender.

c) The term must not exceed 30 years. The loan must be established by deed of obligation bearing mortage, said deed to include:

1.— The privilege to pay in advance, one year after the date of the deed, on payment of an indemnity of three months' interest.

2.— A delay of 90 days for the execution of the clause of "dation en paiement".

(It has been understood with the loaning companies that the borrower will benefit of the two privileges above mentioned in ciauses 1 and 2 as long as he benefits of the advantages granted by the Quebec Farm Credit Bureau, even if these privileges are not mentioned in the deed of obligation).

REFINANCING CASES:

Refinancing cases are not considered in the provisions of the 1948 Act and its amendments;

Are distinctly understood as refinancing cases;

a) All loans previously granted by non authorized loaning companies;

b) All loans obtained from lending organizations in order to reimburse a former loan less than the one obtained subsequently.

VERY IMPORTANT

If a property is sold, the benefits cannot be transferred, unless they comply with the two exceptions indicated in Section III of the By laws.

OBTAINING BENEFITS

The borrower, in order to obtain the benefits of the "Act to Improve Housing Conditions" or a reduction of interest, must transmit to the Bureau, through the loaning company, a "declaration of the borrower" on a form of the Bureau, provided by the loaning company; this form must be duly filled, signed and sworn to by borrower, completed by the loaning company and addressed to the Bureau.

All loaning companies, authorized under this Act, have the application forms for use by the borrowers. It would be wise for the borrower to see his Notary in order to furnish all precise information required by the Bureau, and also in order to avoid useless delays.

On receiving the application forms from the loaning company, the Farm Credit Bureau will make the examination and then officially inform the petitioner. An official certificate will confirm the Bureau's acceptance. All conditions for accepting the application belong to the Farm Credit Bureau. Information may be obtained in Quebec, at the Parliament Buildings.

IMPORTANT:

The Bureau will examine the application only, after the house is completely finished, the petitioner lives in it with his family, and after the amount of the loan has been completely paid to the borrower.

Applications submitted by loaning organizations will be examined by the Bureau, only after an agreement has conjointly been signed by the officers of a loaning company or of a Caisse Populaire and by the representatives of the Quebec Farm Credit Bureau (Family Housing Division).

DATE OF PAYMENT OF CONTRIBUTION

The share of the Farm Credit Bureau will be payable when the application of the petitioner has been approved by the Bureau and will run from the date of the sale, if the property has been purchased from a builder.

The share of the Bureau or the interest rebate is paid upon reception of a report from the loaning company, giving the amounts that each borrower has paid, either on principal or on interest. The date of this report may be obtained from the loaning company.

DEFAULT

Every borrower automatically loses the advantages of the Act when he ceases to fulfill the conditions of his deed of obligation or when he does not abide by the regulations of the Quebec Farm Credit Bureau (Family Housing Division). It is therefore of prime importance that each borrower discharge the payments stipulated in his deed of obligation at due date, the rebate of interest not being paid to a borrower in default.

HOUSE RENTED

Every borrower, renting or transforming his property, must advise the Bureau of the fact.

NOTE: The files of those, who have borrowed from chartered banks or from the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation, will be transmitted in due time to the Family Housing Division of the Quebec Farm Credit Bureau.

The lending organizations will submit to the Quebec Farm Credit Bureau, Family Housing Division, the cases of applicants, which fall under the requirements of the above quoted regulations.

Control of blight in potatoes

Ottawa — Late blight is so serious a disease of potatoes in eastern Canada that it requires a well-planned spraying program to combat it.

L. C. Callbeck of the Charlottetown research laboratory, Canada Department of Agriculture, reports that Prince Edward Island was free of the disease in only four of the last 38 years. Slight epidemics occurred nine times and severe epidemics 25 times in that period.

Spraying should begin a few days before the disease makes its appearance, usually about the middle of July in the maritime provinces and be continued at 10-day intervals. These early applications are very important should wet weather set in. If August is hot and dry the applications may be reduced in number and in some years discontinued. However, late August and September applications are usually very important owing to the wet, humid weather, common in this season. Humid conditions favor development and spread of the disease, and rain washes off spray deposits. Hence plants may become badly infected before the crop matures. Also tubers may rot from infection by spores washed off the plants into the soil by rain.

When tubers have reached their full size, plants should be sprayed with a top killer or tops should be destroyed with a machine especially designed for this purpose. Tubers should not be dug until the tops have been completely dead for at least ten days.

Minerals for cattle in summertime

Quebec Department of Agriculture

Cattle-men are already well aware of the importance of minerals in the feeding of their animals: They know that these substances are indispensable for the development of bone and that they help to improve milk yield, increase fecundity and, in general, contribute to the state of health of the herd.

The problem of supplying the animals with minerals is easy enough to solve in wintertime. During this season most cattle are fed meal and it is only necessary to mix the minerals with the moulée at the rate of 3 to 4 pounds per 100 pounds of concentrates. Very often too, the meal which is fed to the animals is in the form of commercial "balanced rations", in which minerals have already been incorporated by the manufacturer, or else it is in the form of commercial protein supplements which likewise contain the required amounts of mineral matter.

During the grazing season, this matter of feeding minerals is not quite so straightforward. In the first place, only the high-producing cows are given meal and even this is very often just a simple mixture of home-grown grains, especially during the earlier summer months. But, apart from the milking herd, there are other cattle, such as dry cows, bred heifers and all the young stock, which do not get any meal.

For these reasons, Adrien Coté of the Quebec Department of Agriculture says that, for those who want to make sure that the mineral nutrition of their animals shall be as adequate in summer as it is in winter, the surest and most practical plan is probably to make the minerals available "free choice", to all classes of cattle out on pasture. Various kinds of containers may be used for this purpose: a simple wooden trough placed in the pasture near the water supply seems to be quite suitable. The mineral mixture should obviously be the same as the one which has been mixed with the feed during the winter. There is actually not much choice: a mixture should be used which conforms to the law relating to livestock feedstuffs and which is also in keeping with the recommendations of the Provincial Council on the feeding of livestock. Reliable companies sell mineral mixtures of this kind.

FOREST RESOURCES

Today the use of our forest resources is confined to a narrow selection of species and size range, dictated by the type of product manufactured. . . . Our utilization in some areas is poor — only 35 per cent of trees removed by logging emerge as finished product — modern methods can use 90 per cent or more

EFFICIENT FEEDING AND LIVESTOCK MANAGEMENT

By Dr. Gustav Bohstedt
Emeritus Professor of Animal Husbandry
University of Wisconsin

All Silage, No Hay For Cows

Silage as the only roughage for cows is not too preposterous an idea. After all, silage does not differ greatly from pasture. Both are green and succulent.

We would not object to cows on pasture having just grass to eat, and no other roughage, except that grain, of course, would be fed in keeping with milk production.

Dr. Bohstedt

Milking cows have done all right during the winter on nothing but silage and grain. The management of the Charmany Farm near Madison, Wis., fed their 80-odd Guernseys silage as the only roughage for some five or six winters. If there had been anything seriously wrong with the practice it would have been stopped.

One thing needs to be said, however, that two kinds of silage were fed. The practice of providing corn silage at one feeding time and grass silage at the other made for a variety that the cows seemed to appreciate. The grass silage, or mixed legume and grass silage was the equivalent of mixed alfalfa and grass hay. It had a fair amount of protein, also calcium and other minerals along with its quota of carotene and other vitamins.

If only corn silage had been fed the grain mixture would have had to be fortified with perhaps both ground limestone and steamed bone meal or other phosphate. This would call for one per cent each, and the further addition of 20 pounds of trace mineral salt per ton would be desirable or even necessary unless the trace mineral salt were being fed free choice.

Question: Why is it that ground hay for cattle or ruminants is less digestible than chopped hay or long hay? At least experiment station reports are to that effect.

Answer: Digestion is a chemical and not a physical process. Particles of even the most finely ground hay would still look like huge boulders under a microscope, as compared with digested nutrients that are "ultramicroscopic," or soluble.

The trouble with ground hay is that it stays in the paunch too short a time for proper fermentation or digestion. Cattle fed ground hay hardly chew their cud at all. This is one indication that it has passed on through the rest of the stomachs and into the intestines in a largely undigested state.

"I think," said the judge, "you might as well give your husband a divorce."

"What!" shouted the wife. "I've lived with this bum for 20 years and now I should make him happy?"

Ponies stay on Sable Island

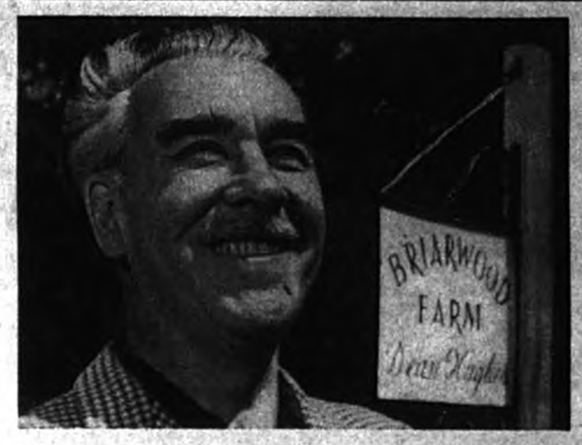

Ottawa — Prime Minister Diefenbaker had good news for animal lovers. He announced that the government has abandoned its intention of removing 250 wild ponies from barren, windswept Sable Island, 110 miles off the south coast of Nova Scotia.

Protest against the proposed moving operation had been registered by the SPCA and other organizations, who feared that bringing the stunted animals to the mainland would inevitably mean suffering for them.

Some reports had circulated that the animals, believed to be descendants of shipwrecked animals of former centuries, would be slaughtered, but Mr. Diefenbaker denied there had been any such plan.

MORE PROOF... IT PAYS TO FEED PURINA

80 sows—2 litters a year
Over 9 Weaned per litter

Jack Hymers, R.R. 2, Ridgetown, Ont., used to work for a big-city big-business; but he spent his spare time planning for the pig farm he was "bound and bent" to own, some day. Now, if you visit his farm, inspect his 10-pen farrowing unit, built to his own plans, and look around the converted main barn, you see the result.

Mr. Hymers keeps around 80 sows. He aims for, and gets, close to two litters per year average. Pigs born per litter average just under 10 — 35 recent farrowings, just as they came, totalled 338 pigs. Loss between birth and weaning is negligible — he sells over 9 pigs per litter. Practically all go to neighbor Kelso Simpson at an agreed "formula" price. Mr. Simpson specializes in finishing feeders, and the Hymers weaners are the kind he wants.

Good practical equipment, management, breeding, sanitation, and feeding account for these results.

Purina provides the good feed. Grain ration for the sows is balanced with Sow Chow, and Pig Startena takes the little fellows past weaning for the traditional Purina flying start. "No runts," said Mr. Hymers, and we didn't see any.

Getting big litters of big thrifty pigs and getting them away to a fast thrifty start make for real feeding economy. See us about the details of the profit-proved Purina Programme. We'll be happy to talk it over with you.

TO ASSIST IN THE ORGANIZATION AND IMPROVEMENT OF FARMS

Amendment to the Civil Code respecting the pledge of Agricultural Property.

In the course of the last session of the Quebec Legislature, two laws were adopted respecting the exploitation of farms in the Province of Quebec.

The first legislation is entitled "An Act amending the Civil Code respecting the pledge of Agricultural Property", and the other, "An Act to assist in organization and improvement of farms".

The Legislature provides that any farmer may give as security for a loan, the term of which must not exceed thirty-six months, domestic animals and the products of his agricultural exploitation. He may also pledge, for a period extending up to six (6) years, agricultural implements of various nature.

The formalities for the pledge are simplified to a minimum. The borrower may deposit with the office of the secretary-treasurer of the municipality, where his farm is located, a document attesting that he has pledged in part or in totality his moveables. Cancellation of the pledge will also be made with the secretary-treasurer.

The amendment, relating to the pledge, has, however, as main object in view to facilitate the use of the "ACT TO ASSIST IN THE ORGANIZATION AND IMPROVEMENT OF FARMS". Under the Act, the Government of the Province of Quebec is authorized to pay 3% of interest to the benefit of the borrower, on loans obtained from Caisses populaires, Credit Unions or Banks, providing that the total of the loan does not exceed $7,000, for the same farmer. To organize his farm namely: to buy cattle and farm implements, the farmer can obtain a maximum loan of $3,000. If the loan is obtained to buy cattle, the period of repayment does not exceed three (3) years. If the loan is used for the purpose of buying farm implements, the period of reimbursement can be of six (6) years or less. Furthermore, the borrower can obtain a loan up to $4,000, to organize his farm and proceed to the following operations: the underground drainage, the land clearing, the stone clearing, the levelling, the construction of fences or to improve or build farm buildings such as a dairy or the installation of a milk-cooling system, the building of a silo, of a shed, or a hen-house, a piggery, a manure shed, a sugar shed, an apple warehouse, for the improvement or the purchase of farm implements and for other purposes, etc. . . etc. . . Then the loan will be a medium term one, which must not exceed ten (10) years.

The loans will be granted by Credit Unions, Caisses populaires and chartered banks. The Government of the Province will guarantee the reimbursement of the loss on the capital up to 10% of the total loans made by the same lender.

That legislation affecting short and medium term loans will be handled through the Quebec Farm Credit Bureau and will be in operation at the earliest possible.

The regulations hereafter have been approved by Order in Council No. 827 on May 17, 1960.

ARTICLE I

The loan must be granted to a farmer, as defined by the Act, and must regard improvements and purchases made since the eighteen of March, 1960.

ARTICLE II

The rate of interest must be the one existing in current business and the loaning organization must charge that rate of interest on each balance of loan.

ARTICLE III

The loans granted under the provisions of Article 4 of the said Act, providing for the purchase of dairy or beef cattle or the purchase of farm implements, or farm equipment or machines must be secured by pledge.

ARTICLE IV

Cattle, farm implements and other farm equipment, purchased and paid completely or partially with the loan obtained from the loaning organization, must be pledged.

ARTICLE V

The same farmer may benefit from the contribution of interest for distinct and concurrent loans, provided the principal of these loans does not exceed, in their totality, three thousand dollars ($3,000.00) for the purchase of dairy or beef cattle and farm implements and four thousand dollars ($4,000.00) for farm improvements as provided under Article 7, section II, of the present Act.

ARTICLE VI

The conversion of existing subsidized loans is not permitted and will bring the immediate cancellation of the contribution of interest. (Non conversion loan, but distinct loans).

ARTICLE VII

Any delay of thirty (30) days in the payment of instalments on the loan incurred, either as regard principal or interest, will bring, in full right, the suspension of payment of the contribution of interest.

ARTICLE VIII

A third party farmer, qualified as such under the Act, may benefit from the transfer of the contribution of interest on an existing loan, but he must first make an application and fill up for that purpose the regular form requesting a contribution of interest.

ARTICLE IX

A borrower who obtains a loan on false declarations or false pretences, or who uses the proceeds or part of the proceeds of the loan for other purposes than those for which the said loan was obtained, forfeits the benefit of the contribution of interest and the subsidies from which he may have benefited shall be claimed back by the Bureau.

The officials of the Quebec Farm Credit Bureau have already started negociations with the representatives of chartered banks and of the Federation des Caisses populaires Desjardins, they have also contacted a number of secretary-treasurers in various municipalities, and have prepared the necessary series of forms in the two official languages, etc.

As soon as these forms are printed, they will be forwarded to the lending organizations.

It must be understood, however, that this legislation is now in force and that those, who may have borrowed, either from chartered banks or Credit Unions, in conformity with the law and the regulations above quoted, are entitled to receive the contribution of interest from the date of the loan.

W. COTTINGHAM RE-ELECTED WITH DOUBLE '56 MAJORITY

Provincial result in balance at late hour Wednesday night

Today's provincial general election saw the Hon. W. M. Cottingham re-elected to office with a very marked increase over his last majority. He defeated the Liberal standard-bearer Rodrigue Durocher, polling a total of 8,811 votes, for a majority of 2,928 over Mr. Durocher's total of 5,883. (Cottingham's 1956 majority was 1,427.)

Excitement ran high around the 102 polls located throughout the County, all of which closed at 6.30 o'clock this evening (Wednesday). The night's final returns for Argenteuil were released by the Returning Officer, Notary Jacques Beaudoin, shortly before 9 o'clock. These will be given, poll by poll, in next week's issue.

In the running commentaries over radio and TV this evening, re-elections of Premier Barrette and of the Hon. Mr. Cottingham were among the first to be conceded, shortly after 7.30 o'clock.

A small U.N. lead in the initial returns was backtracked in an exciting neck-and-neck race, until the later returns gave the Liberals and the U.N. each 46 candidates "elected or leading", with one Independent. The outcome was therefore in the balance at a late hour.

Mr. Cottingham took majorities in 85 of the 102 polls, while his opponent, Mr. Durocher, won a majority in 17 polling stations.

District Results

Analysis of the polling areas shows Lachute with a substantial majority for the U.N. candidate — 2,165 for Cotingham, 1,507 for Durocher . . . Other areas:

Ayersville
Cottingham 640 Durocher 637

Brownsburg
Cottingham 896 Durocher 885

St. Jerusalem
Cottingham 708 Durocher 310

St. Andrews East
Cottingham 644 Durocher 524

Mr. Cottingham was first elected to the Provincial Parliament in 1948 when he polled a 433-vote majority against the Hon. Georges E. Dansereau, then Minister of Roads in the Liberal Cabinet.

He was re-elected in the 1952 contest when he polled a majority of 4,352 votes over Bernard Gos- contest. Two years later, on June 2, 1954, he and the County at large were honored by his apointment as Minister of Mines.

In 1956, he was again opposed by Mr. Gosselin, but once again he won a decisive victory, racking up a majority of 1,427 votes.

In the current election, a total of 16,586 persons were eligible to vote in the County, this being an increase of approximately 1,300 over the last provincial election. Of this number, a total of 14,694 exercised their franchise, or approximately 88.6 per cent as compared to 80 per cent in the 1956 elections.

The electoral campaign in the County closed without major incident at any of the meetings. However, some apprehension arose in the Liberal ranks last week when their candidate, Rodrigue Durocher, was found unconscious in his automobile near St. Andrews East, following a large meeting in Brownsburg. He was rushed to the Smith Clinic at Hawkesbury, where an emergency operation was performed at 3 a.m. for a hernia strangulation. Despite this, he was in attendance at the Ayersville meeting Sunday evening, where he received a rousing ovation.

The Hon. Mr. Cottingham ended his election campaign in the Lachute Auditorium Monday evening when a gigantic parade of some 400 cars travelled the streets of Lachute prior to the meeting.

Last evening, the Minister of Mines was guest speaker at a St. Hermas meeting, where Henri Chaurette was carrying the Union Nationale colors. At this time, Mr. Durocher was addressing an enthusiastic gathering in the Lachute Auditorium, his final rally in the Liberal campaign.

Lachute Spring Fair justifies efforts of directors

Premier sidesteps busy schedule to officiate at opening ceremony

It was the "top of the afternoon" last Thursday to greet Premier Antonio Barrette, on his arrival at Lachute Fair Grounds to officially open the annual exhibition. Accompanied by the Hon. W. M. Cottingham from the nearby airport, the Premier was awaited by a large crowd at the grandstand and many notables on the platform — including Lachute Fair directors, civic figures from the town and county municipalities, members of the clergy, school commissioners and many others (among whom were noted Mr. J. O. Latour M.P., Mayor Jas. McGibbon of Lachute and Mayor Gaetan Paquette of Ayersville).

Roger Regimbal was a very capable master of ceremonies, first calling upon the Argenteuil Agricultural Society president, Donald Bradley, to extend a welcome to the Premier and to the large attendance.

"The Lachute Spring Fair is our pride and joy here in Argenteuil and the executive and directors express their thanks to you for having taken the time from your busy schedule to be with us today," he said, addressing the Premier. "We are proud of the Lachute Spring Fair, probably the oldest such fair in Canada. Every year at this time, the Argentueil Agricultural Society which has sponsored the fair since it first was conceived back in 1826, joins with numerous other local organizations to develop what we think is a show to please everyone, healthy clean enjoyment which everyone may participate in."

Mr. Bradley presented a memento of the occasion to the Hon. Mr. Barrette, a handsome pair of Ayers blankets, the pride of local manufacture.

Clement Tremblay, O.B.E., whom the m.c. happily referred to as "the dean of the directorate," spoke with some pride on the record of the Association and Lachute Spring Fair, and counted this a memorable occasion when Lachute should be privileged to welcome the Premier of Quebec Province.

The Hon. W. M. Cottingham was then called upon to introduce the Premier. Speaking in both French and English, Mr. Cottingham noted that this was the 135th anniversary of the Argenteuil Agricultural Society. In connection with the opening ceremonies he observed, "We have had some distinguished people in the past, but none more distinguished than the visitor we have here today." He spoke of Mr. Barrette's humble beginnings as a workshop apprentice at 5 cents an hour, and described him at this time as one of the most well-informed Canadians in Quebec, if not in the entire country — a man who exemplified Kipling's ideal, of one who could "walk with kings nor lose the common touch."

The Hon. Antonio Barrette, rising to enthusiastic applause, proclaimed that this was not a political meeting, and that his presence was purely in the capacity of a visitor. At this point he had clocked 10,000 miles by plane and 3,000 miles by air, and "felt better than when he started". He enjoyed meeting people and seeing the province — the Premier asserted; in Argenteuil he had met an example of complete interchange of languages (in which Mr. Barrette also proved himself quite adept); this was an asset, he said. "In Quebec we need to know each other better — because we need to work together."

The Hon. Mr. Barrette congratulated the Argenteuil Agricultural Society, which had survived and flourished whereas many such organizations had suspended their activities. Agriculture needs more and more support and encouragement, as this province becomes more and more industrialized. That is why the Government exercises keen concern for agriculture, so that the farmer may enjoy a fair share of our prosperity.

Premier Barrette assured the Agricultural Society president, on his part, that anytime he might care to meet the Prime Minister, he would be welcome.

Mayor Jas. McGibbon ably expressed the thanks of the town and Lachute Fair directorate to the Premier for his visit. "We feel that our Fair is perhaps a little more than a county fair," he said, in touching upon its venerable background.

Premier Barrette performed the traditional ceremony of cutting the ribbon to signify the opening of the exhibition, and Secretary-Manager Ken Riley presented the Premier with the scissors, suitably inscribed, as a souvenir of the occasion.

The Harrington Pipe Band gave a very creditable performance, providing music pending the arrival of Mr. Barrette and his party — the Premier having first been escorted to City Hall to sign the Golden book.

Uptrends and downtrends mark four days of successful event

From Thursday's auspicious beginnings, it appeared hopeful that the three days of Lachute Fair would build up to bigger and better records. The perennial bugbear of mid-June weather, however, did little this year to help.

The Rotary Club's grandstand program drew a good attendance Thursday evening, and fully measured up to expectations for wholesome fun and enjoyment. (See story on page 2.) A dog show concluded this program.

From the fine attendance Thursday, admissions dropped throughout Friday, and the interest was desultory. Absence of the mill population, which up to some years ago had Friday afternoon time-concessions, perhaps emphasized this void. There was a keen attendance at the bleachers, for cattle judging, and a good following for the grandstand horse show, but elsewhere things were quiet. . . . Thursday evening was a different story, however, and the crowds flocked in despite heavily overcast skies.

A superb horse show, with Bud McGeorge as announcer and general co-ordinator, was a top feature throughout the fair, both for quality of entries and interest of performance. This phase was excellently managed. A parade of cattle, on Friday evening, also was a notable spectacle.

Unfortunately for the Lions Club of Lachute, who were allotted the Friday evening entertainment feature, the horse show was running behind schedule, and with threatening skies the folklore dancing troupe "Les Feux Follets" occupied the stage an hour late. The troupe with their musicians, transported here in two large buses, gave evidence of authentic training and costuming for the international folk dances which they executed. The music and rhythm, and the dance routines, were such as had never been presented before in this community. Unfortunately, the program was interrupted and curtailed by a downpour. A number of highly interesting horse show events, continued in the rain, provided good value for the spectators at this period.

It should be noted that the projection of the judging ring to the very front of the grandstand, a radical change from the previous layout, was a great improvement from the spectators' angle. The management of this show spot and all the properties, barriers, obstacles and hurdles involved, was top-rate — a credit to the m.c., the committee and the directors concerned.

Saturday was a different story, weatherwise, with sunny skies throughout and a nip in the air at eveningtime. Crowds flocked in and automobiles streamed through the gates, to revive the attendance which had slumped on the previous day. Final accounting by Secretary-Manager Ken Riley indicated that general admissions approximated last year's figures — indicating keener interest regardless of the weather.

The Richelieu Club held their program of harness racing uninterrupted. Livestock judging and horse show events continued on smooth schedule, and the championship cattle parade in the afternoon made an interesting break for grandstand customers.

Roger Carrière, Lachute, was the winner of a $10 cash drawing held by the Richelieu Club following their Saturday afternoon race program. The main drawing for an automatic washer and drier, exhibited at the Club's booth during the Fair, will be held August 13 at the

Phone calls reported to police

Police Chief A. J. Whiteway reports having received four complaints from local residents, whose daughters have received obscene telephone calls. The calls originate from a man who claims is the "school doctor." The girls' ages range from 11 to 15 years.

It is requested that similar incidents be immediately reported to the local police office (LO 2-2442).

Promoted sergeant in traffic squad

OFFICER ALBT. LEGAULT, a lifelong Brownsburg citizen, who was last week promoted to Sergeant in the local detachment of Provincial Traffic Police. Sgt. Legault completes 31 years of active service, all in this county, early this August, and was recently the recipient of a long-service ribbon. The promotion makes two traffic sergeants, six traffic officers and two clerks, all under Sgt.-Det. Ralph Allen, officer in charge of the local detachment.

Postal changes effective here

Postal substation No. 1, which has been closed since May 11, reopened last Monday at 149 Main Street West. The office is in charge of Omer Church, restaurant keeper, and is situated in the Lacoste building, fronting on Main Street. . . . This move was made by the department on a suggestion by Adhémar Cuerrier in the public interest.

Another change announced is in the seasonal post-office maintained for Lake Louisa residents. Formerly conducted at Miss Laurette Habib's store, this office has been transferred to the store at the eastern end of the lake, being operated this season by R. O. (Dick) MacLean.

Pedestrian struck on Highway 41

Omer Pilon, a 47-year-old Lachute resident, was critically injured around 10 p.m. Sunday while walking towards Lachute near Clark's Farm, on the St. Jerome highway. He was struck by a car owned and driven by Robert M. Fougerolles, 20, of Grantville, Ont., who informed police he was blinded by the lights of an oncoming car and did not see the man until it was too late. The car was going at a slow rate of speed and stopped within 20 feet.

The victim, who resides at 134 Main Street, was taken to the Providence Hospital and later transferred to the Hotel Dieu at St. Jerome, with severe injuries to the legs, back and head. The accident was investigated by Traffic Officer Ronald Massie, who reports visibility was poor at the time due to rain.

Driver's tests here June 29

The Quebec Government auto license inspectors will be stationed at the Court House, Lachute, on June 29 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. for the issuing of new driver's permits. Any wishing to apply and take the tests, please call at the mobile unit on this date.

National Survival training theme at Militia camp

Last Saturday, 15 members of the local Militia Unit, the 131st Battery, Royal Canadian Artillery, returned from seven days' summer training at Camp Farnham.

The summer camp was the culmination of the last year's training, which has been on National Survival. The local unit, which is part of the 37th Field Regiment, Royal Canadian Artillery, was integrated into a Light Rescue Company. The first three days of training consisted of revision, of light rescue duties such as rescue of casualties from damaged buildings, correct methods of loading and carrying casualties, etc. The last two full days were occupied by a full-scale exercise in which over 800 officers and men took part. The Units which comprise the 10th Militia Group, of which 37th Field Regiment is a part, were formed into a Mobile Support Column and "Assistance" as given to Granby, which was assumed to have been damaged as a result of an atomic bomb explosion. The Lachute contingent were mainly in the same platoon, whose task was to search for and rescue casualties in the western section of Granby.

As a result of this year's training there are now a few citizens of Lachute who appreciate the importance of rescue operations of this type. This new role of the Militia is one which should appeal to all men who wish to learn how they can be of assistance to their fellow-men in times of a national disaster.

Art Association exhibition of paintings, furniture

A loan exhibit of paintings, and articles of furniture of local fabrication, will be the second public exhibition of the Argenteuil Art Association this season — to be held from Saturday, June 25, to Sunday, July 3, inclusive, at the municipal hall in St. Andrews East.

The paintings will include a number of canvases by Goodrich Roberts depicting Ottawa Valley scenes. Mr. Roberts, a member of the Canadian Group of Painters and widely known exhibitor, is associated with this vicinity as a part-time resident. . . . The furniture will be mostly contemporary and made in this locality.

It is expected there will be a special speaker and appropriate commentary for the opening, on Saturday at 3 p.m. The exhibition will then remain open for inspection daily from 3 to 5 p.m.

Mrs. L. T. Porter, of St. Andrews, has kindly arranged for this feature on behalf of the Argenteuil Art Association exhibitions committee.

Hawkesbury Council rejects Hydro proposal for Ottawa R. embankment

Hawkesbury town council decided against the embankment proposal put forth recently by Ontario Hydro. It was resolved by the Council to retain the services of consulting engineers for the purpose of making a survey as to whether or not the levels taken in the Snye are accurate by the elevation of the ground, or otherwise if it is possible to save the residences located there. It was also moved that council definitely oppose the construction of a dike at any place from John Street to the CNR embankment.

Hydro's representative, Harry Hustler, earlier told town council that an embankment along the Ottawa River shoreline would be Hawkesbury's most practical protection against flooding from the Hydro Quebec Carillon power development.

Unless some protective measures be taken, an estimated 177 residential and 30 commercial properties within the town will be affected by a new water level. This includes 56 properties in the Sny (Chenail Island) which cannot be saved, Mr. Hustler said.

A pamphlet circulated by Ontario Hydro, depicting an artist's conception of the new embankment, was mainly responsible for bringing 150 persons to Town Hall to attend the meeting.

There, Mayor Gascon explained in detail the proposal made by Hydro. In general, all those present were opposed to the construction of an embankment, and council also registered its opposition in a formal vote.

Car overturns on Main St. lawn

No one was hurt in this spectacular spill on Main Street West at 4 o'clock Monday morning. Aldège Savage, driver of a Jos. Cleary taxi, fell asleep and missed the curve and struck an elm tree, nearing home on a return trip from St. Placide. The driver was accompanied by his brother. Neither occupant was injured in the somersault, which occurred in front of the old R. McArthur home at the bend of the North River. — Photo, Syd Drew annual Richelieu field day on the exhibition grounds. Two bicycles will also be offered then as door prizes.

Legion Branch 70, concluding a brisk day of business at their booth, staged their annual horse-pulling contest before a large spectatorship and concluded the grandstand show with their pony drawing. This prize was won by Miss Helen Welden, Grenville (ticket 2422).

Legion President Bernard Jenkins thanked all supporters, and President Don Bradley of the Agricultural Society, who graciously drew the winning ticket, expressed appreciation on behalf of the directors, to the service clubs and all who had co-operated.

Also at this point, by courtesy of the Legion, the Lions Club drawing was terminated. President Lorne E. Duncan, thanking the crowd for their support in this annual venture, drew the winning ticket in favor of Mrs. G. Newsome, of L'Abord à Plouffe and Lake Sir John (No. 1642). Mrs. Newsome, who was present in the grandstand, was carried shoulder-high in a triumphal return to the booth, where she took possession of the complete lawn furniture set offered in this drawing.

In a drawing by the Rotary Club earlier that day, the Hon. W. M. Cottingham drew the ticket for a calf, in a brief ceremony before the grandstand. By rare coincidence, the winner was Mr. Cottingham's sister, Mrs. J. R. McOuat, Lachute.

This calf was donated by Ogilvie Flour Mills. Mrs. McOuat, however, accepted the alternative cash prize of $100, which she promptly turned over to the Rotary Club for their community park and swimming pool funds.

The exhibition building, with a spectacular display by the Department of Mines, was well patronized throughout. The new illuminated panel gave quick facts on the product, location and distances of Quebec's mining developments, even to the latest explorations. A loudspeaker carried the narrative, alternately in French and English, of progress in this sphere of Quebec's industry.

The upper floor of this building was a scene of interest for the lady visitors particularly, with Women's Institutes' crafts, floriculture and cookery, and a good display by the Cercle des Fermières. Junior handicraft exhibits were far fewer in number this year, but of good workmanship.

Manager Kenneth Riley reported the horse entry-list was exceptional. There was also keener competition in poultry, while in cattle, swine and in other species, the entries were well up to previous standards. The livestock barns were well filled. In this department, and the machinery exhibits, the agricultural aspects of Lachute Fair fully maintained the objective of this annual event, namely, to foster, and reflect, farm progress in these parts. The array of dairy, cultivating and harvesting equipment by numerous companies and dealers, showed revolutionary advances in method, also scientific trends in feeding and in the handling of farm and dairy products.

A steadily declining patronage was noted in the industrial stalls, where few concessions were rented between the main gate and grandstand. The Legion, Lions Club and Richelieu Club brightened this area with their booths, however, and many old frendships were renewed in the banter and barking of the club ticket salesmen.

King Reid's Carnival, in the midway section, drew the usual good crowds. Several new and exotic rides were an addition this year to routine attractions.

Traffic control and other assignments were adequately handled again by Col. E. Emmett and his Frontiersmen. There were no accidents reported, and no disorder in evidence.

Spills, thrills in Rotary Night events at Fair

Contributed

"A howling success" was the general verdict on the Lachute-Brownsburg Rotary Night at the Fair.

The "Oh's" and "Ah's" and applause from the grandstand indicated the interest shown in the tug-of-war. The two finalist teams — the Farmers and the C.I.P. — were so evenly matched that it took some real tugging for C.I.P. to win out. (We bet those muscles were sore!)

The heavy showers made the track rather muddy for contestants in the calf roping and cow milking contests. However, this did not seem to slow them down, for those cows could still jump and kick! One contestant in a hurry to milk that wild cow lost her shoe in the clay, but even with this handicap, managed to get her "coke" bottle filled, and placed third in the contest.

The spills ad thrills of the calf roping brought the house down — and everyone said it was the best show they had seen in years. Hats off to Rotary and all those who made this such a big night at the Fair!

The school drop-out problem

THIS IS THE TIME of year when young people start to think about leaving school to obtain permanent employment. Hundreds of students still in elementary school or the early years of high school will turn their backs on the classrooms and walk into the dark world, many unprepared to meet present demands, let alone the demands of the future.

In many instances, with them will go the shattered hopes of parents and relatives, for whether these young people realize it or not, they will be running the risk of never getting the chance to become a successful part of Canadian industry and business.

It has been said that education, in its broadest sense, is the foundation of a nation. Can we afford to stand by and watch large numbers of our youth leave the school system unprepared for the modern demands of industry and citizenship?

About 70 per cent of the pupils enrolled in grade two in our schools today will leave the school system before receiving their junior matriculation or its equivalent, in many cases ill-equipped to compete for anything but the unskilled and semi-skilled types of employment.

What awaits the person who drops out of school without enough education to guarantee his or her future in a highly industrialized country? An examination of occupations in Canada provides a pretty clear indication. About 70 per cent of the jobs available in this country today are for professional, semi-professional, technical or skilled occupations. It is in this last category of employment that most of those with less than a junior matriculation will find themselves competing, and the problem will become worse as the proportion of unskilled and semi-skilled jobs decreases in the future.

What is required is a basic change in our thinking, for, in the final analysis, the deplorable drop-out rate must reflect the fact that we adults are not yet convinced of the desirability or necessity of advanced education. Here is the crux of the problem. As parents we must realize the impact of technology on Canadian business and industry in recent years. What was adequate yesterday in the way of education is becoming less and less adequate today.

It is natural that some parents would judge present circumstances in light of their own experiences and assess education today in the light of the education they receieved years ago, when Grade Eight was a relatively valuable asset in obtaining a job or learning a skill or trade. Today, to learn the same trade or skill, most youths will need a junior matriculation or better. This is not because the standard of education has dropped, but it is because more basic education is required to understand the theories and laws involved in the machines and products which we enjoy in this complex age.

Just as our country has advanced in the past few decades, so our need for more education has increased. A full realization of this fact would surely bring about a much-needed change in social attitudes. The solution to the school drop-out problem rests with every Canadian. The answers must come from industry, educators, governments, unions, and all organizations, as well as from the parents and the children themselves.

Importing unemployment

COMMENTING on a recent news item reporting the arrival at Toronto of several huge transformers imported from Sweden by a major public utility undertaking at a cost of $100,000 each, the bulletin Industry asks pointedly: What contribution has the supplier made to the Canadian economy by way of —

- Consumption of electric energy
- Employment
- Taxes
- Hospitals
- Community Chests
- Universities
- Etc., etc.?

In each case, of course, the answer is the same: None. On the other hand, had these major items of industrial equipment been made in Canada — as they could well have been — the story would be very different.

This particular purchase is all the more indefensible inasmuch as we already buy substantially more from Sweden than she does from us.

Just how long, we wonder, will it take some Canadians to realize that all we do when we indulge in this kind of foreign buying is import unemployment?

Immigrant victims

INVESTIGATIONS in Canada and Hong Kong have disclosed that upwards of 11,000 Chinese entered Canada illegally during the last 10 years. They were brought to this country by racketeers who made fortunes dealing in forged documents and blackmail.

The Canadian government faces a formidable problem in what to do with the illegal entrants. It cannot condone the actions of the Chinese for violating Canada's immigration laws and gaining entrance to this country with documents they knew to be forged.

However, Immigration Minister Fairclough says the government will adopt a humanitarian approach, and that each case will be considered individually. Mercy will be shown and there will be no persecution.

This is a reasonable attitude. Any attempt to deport the 11,000 or a good part of them would only add to the suffering of a group of individuals who have already been ruthlessly exploited by the ringleaders of the immigration racket.

Besides paying a high price — between $4,000 and $8,000 — to come to Canada, the illegal entrants have been viciously blackmailed since their arrival. They were told where to work and were paid only a small wage. And the racketeers drained away part of this on threat of exposure.

Canadian authorities plan to show no sympathy towards these ringleaders. Their illegal operation is viewed as a serious infraction of Canadian laws. But authorities take an even more serious view of the way they exploited the Chinese after their arrival in Canada.

It is estimated that the ringleaders in the last 10 years made a profit of upwards of $44,000,000 on their charges for entry to Canada. And additional sums were realized after the illegal immigrants had been put to work.

Chemical control

GROW 'EM TO SIZE — that's what it's coming to, according to a bright little bulletin that reaches our desk from a large Canadian agricultural-chemical manufacturer. Some experts (it says) are predicting that 10 years from now you will be able to sit on a lawn that needs little mowing and pick normal-size fruit from the low branches of a dwarf tree. Shirt-sleeved scientists, whose laboratories are the experimental greenhouses, will talk to you about farm fields that will yield sweeter sugar beets, fatter tomatoes, maltier grain and crispier lettuce; smooth lawns that need mowing only three or four times a year; well-behaved trees that refuse to poke branches into overhead utility wires, and other sorts of botanical visions. Some of these visions are beginning to materialize, according to the researchers.

They're pouring different "stuff" together trying to come up with the right concoction that will control growth molecules. One California biologist says the secret lies in a chemical that will neutralize gibberellin, the hormone that controls plant growth. Research is under way that should produce an "antigibberellin", which could be applied to any plant to arrest its stem growth at any desired height without interfering with its other functions, the biologist relates. (What size would you like your watermelons this season?)

COSTLY SPIRES. — The maintenance of spires is costly. The money could be put to better use. A Canadian architect states that for a $200,000 or $300,000 church, a tower might cost from $15,000 to $30,000.

HUNTING WITH A SAW

Hunting with a gun may be a lot of fun for some folks, but not me. I could never see any good reason for taking the life of a wild creature.

There are folks in California and other States with a seacoast who make a living by hunting with a saw. Their system is to search the ocean beaches for oddly shaped pieces of driftwood, take them home and fashion them into different useful or ornamental objects.

One does not have to live in California to take up this fascinating hobby. Only last week I collected seven pieces of gnarled cedar roots of every conceivable size and shape — one of which had exceptional possibilities.

The best place to look for these oddities of Nature is on the bank of some swiftly flowing streams where the Spring freshets have washed away some soil from the roots of trees, especially cedars.

The hunter must possess some imagination. He will find eventually some oddly twisted root with the earth washed away, and see by its shape that it could be carved into the figure of a running deer, or a fighting trout. A network of roots might form a background for a plantstand on which a climbing plant could be trained. The list is endless, for in all Nature there are no two pieces alike.

I have made a refectory table, table lamps, smokers' stands, dinner-gong stands and other things from pieces I collected over the years. When on the prowl for these specimens I carry a ten-inch steel backed saw. I larger one would be better still but not as portable. When I come to a likely looking root I cut it off leaving plenty to spare for future trimming. I never decide what it might be used for, but take it along anyway if it has any useful or ornamental possibilities. It can subsequently be sand papered, scraped and shellacked or varnished so as to preserve the natural look. Never paint jt.

So, instead of taking an aimless walk in the woods, take along a small saw and keep your eyes open for some of Nature's little jokes. The specimens you collect now will be well dried and seasoned in time to make Christmas presents for everyone from Little Willy to Aunt Martha.

And let your slogan be: "When You See It, Saw It!"

— Be seein' ya!

Brakes off Immigration

By C. J Harris

With the two-fold purpose of acquainting Canadian farmers with scientific advances in agriculture in England and Scotland, and of stimulating interest among British farmers in agricultural prospects in Canada, this fall the Canadian Pacific Railway will take a group of Canadian farmers to the United Kingdom. The farmers, at least 30 and possibly 75 in number, will represent most parts of Canada, but the railway's chief concern is to attract farm immigrants from Britain to Ontario. Rural Ontario is being depopulated and, somewhat reminiscent of the earlier years of this century, the C.P.R. would like to do something about it.

A. H. Creighton, district superintendent of the railway's immigration department, points out that between 1941 and 1956 the number of occupied farms in Ontario, and Quebec fell by 15 per cent. To a small extent this decrease in number was offset by an increase in acreage; from an average-size farm in 1941 of 130 acres to 136 acres in 1956. "It is likely," say Mr. Creighton, "that an Ontario farm of 100 acres would be more economical if it were doubled in size. But in this province, with its intensive type of agriculture, we can't expect the farms to grow to much over 200 acres."

Right after the war many farm settlers came from Europe to Canada, and many settled in Ontario. They contributed new ideas and gave a lift to farming in the province. But few of the new farm settlers were from Britain, where farm conditions are quite similar to those in Ontario. Apparently the C.P.R. expects that a little missionary work could attract farm immigrants from the U.K.

It will be a well-timed effort. After applying the brakes to immigration in 1957, the government now has the brakes off, but is having little success in attracting newcomers. The total of immigrants in the first quarter of this year was only 16,599. By comparison, Australia has been having little difficulty getting all the immigrants the country wants. Ottawa, apparently having concluded that Canada's policies actually discourage potential newcomers, plans major amendments to the Immigration Act. But these may be months away, and in the meantime the C.P.R.'s effort will be a timely help.

Canada has a lot to offer immigrants, and immigrants have a lot to offer Canada. As recently noted by Robert Winters, former federal cabinet minister and now head of a large mining company: "More immigrants would stimulate Canada's economy and reduce the per capita cost of carrying the country's transportation system and government."

Safety note for cyclists

Cyclists should never travel side by side, but should ride in single file, i.e., one rider behind the other — says the Provincial Highway Safety Committee (Prudentia). This is recommended not only on streets but especially on the highways, where the motorist often does not have the chance to avoid the wandering cyclist if another vehicle is approaching from the other direction. Be sure — ride your bicycle the safe way.

Some fools enjoy parting with their money. I am a fool who hates to see it go. And the expenditure I grudge the most is the one that is supposed to make me feel happy and virtuous — my life insurance premium.

Insurance men argue that each premium is money saved. Saved for whom? If I die of radioactive rot before the time expires, my loved ones get their hooks on it.

I must have had something of the sort in my head when I signed up. But my thinking has changed. Today I am convinced that it would be healthier and more character-building for them to earn their own living.

On the other hand, I may live to collect the money, 20 years from now. I do not find the prospect thrilling. The money will be saved, but I will be spent.

I mean no disrespect to people in their 60's, 70's, 80's and 90's, some of whom very likely are sounder in head and heart than I am right now.

Personally, I don't expect to wear as well as the senior citizens I see every day, leaping out from behind parked cars and sprinting across busy streets, elbowing their way briskly through crowds of younger folk at bargain sales.

I'll do the best I can to keep my wits and muscles alive, by continuing my old pastimes and taking up some new ones — studying the Portugese language, or learning to type with my toes.

When all that has been said, however, I know one thing for certain: The man who waddles into the insurance office to pick up the cheque won't be the same man who is writing this.

That's what annoys me about my insurance policies, and the pension plan too. I'm saving my money for a stranger.

Why should I work my typewriter fingers to the bone, to make a hoard for that decayed old ragamuffin of 1980? Why should I squander time to save money for a guy I don't even know?

However, I'll probably go on paying the premiums all the same — driven by the guilt and conformity that troubles Western humans.

And if I live so long, the day will come when I lurch into the office and a sweet maiden (not even born yet) hands me the hard-won cheque with a patronizing smile in answer to my leer.

Advice for holiday week-end

If you are feeling tired, don't take the risk of driving your car over the coming holiday week-end. . . . This was the advice given by Chief of Police Whiteway to his fellow citizens as the long St. Jean Baptiste week-end approaches.

"When you are feeling very tired, it is better to ask someone else to drive, or take the train or bus," he suggested. The automobile driver these days should be in as good condition as the athlete, Chief Whiteway emphasized. "Otherwise," he said, "reflexes that are slow and inaccurate, and can lead to a serious or even fatal accident."

To avoid driver fatigue, Chief Whiteway offered these recommendations:

1. Give yourself a good night's sleep before setting out on a long trip.
2. Stop every two hours to relax the muscles and have a cup or two of coffee.
3. Don't try to do more than a maximum of 350 miles a day;
4. Try to avoid driving at dusk, or at night;
5. Drive at a reasonable speed, take account of traffic conditions, and don't take risks!

URBAN SPRAWL

Kelowna, B.C. — Community sprawl for the sake of vastness is economic nonsense, says J. W. Wilson, executive director of the British Columbia lower mainland regional planning board. He told a meeting here the urge of North Americans to go to the wide-open spaces has produced "unbridled optimism incompatible with the community aims of safety and comfort."

Main St. resident, familiar citizen, died in hospital

Late Albert D. Stewart

Residents of Lachute and district were grieved to hear of the death of Albert D. Stewart, following a heart attack which necessitated his removal to the Royal Victoria Hospital, where he succumbed early Monday morning.

Mr. Stewart was born here on February 14, 1899, a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jason Stewart, and one of a family of 12 children.

In 1922 he married Miss Myrtle Berry; his wife and their daughter, Shirley (Mrs. K. Bradford), son-in-law, Ken, and grandson, Stewart, are left to mourn the passing of a dearly loved one. Predeceasing Mr. Stewart were two sisters, Etta and Elsie, and four brothers, William, Zack, Frank and Herbert. Surviving are three sisters, Catherine (Mrs. Jos. Meagher, of Ottawa), Ambie (Mrs. A. Cluff, of Ottawa), Gladys (Mrs. Geo. Kingston, of Detroit); also two brothers, Jason, of Edmonton, and Norman, of Suring, Wis.

Until his retirement several years ago Mr. Stewart had farmed in this vicinity and was a lover of all animals, particularly horses. Keenly interested in the Agricultural Society, he had acted for several years as a director and was the recipient of an honorary life membership. He had also acted as a judge of horses at numerous exhibitions, and had hoped to accept his annual invitation to judge at the Brome Fair this September.

During the winter months he was an enthusiastic curler at the local club, where his genial presence will be greatly missed.

He was a member of the United Church and of Argenteuil Masonic Lodge No. 67 — the latter organization having held a memorial service at the MacKimmie Funeral Home on Tuesday evening.

Service was conducted on Wednesday afternoon at the United Church by the Rev. Wilson Bridge, amid many sorrowing friends and relatives.

Pall-bearers were Messrs. Watson Berry, Vernon Graves, Percy Griffiths, Neil Leishman, Geo. Thorburn and Simon Wilson.

Weir

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Thompson, of St. Eustache, spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Bennett.

Guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Williams during the week-end included Mr. and Mrs. Wenville MacMillan and daughter, Bonnie, of Verdun, and Mr. Wayne MacMillan, of Lost River.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Booth, of Montreal, are guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Basil Kerr.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Thompson, of Montreal, spent the week-end as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Owen.

We are pleased to report that Miss Carole Bowie, who underwent a tonsillectomy on Saturday in the Royal Victoria Hospital, is doing nicely.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Currie, of East Angus, accompanied by Mr. Arthur Kidd, of Winnipeg, paid a short visit to the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Morrison last week.

Among the Sunday and week-end guests at Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Morrison's were Mr. and Mrs. Bradley Morrison and family, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Morrison and family, of Montreal, Mr. and Mrs. Doug MacKimmie and family, of Lachute, and Mr. Val Morrison and son, Wayne, of Shawbridge.

Foundry worker died at Laprairie

The Late George Quesnel

A former resident of this town for 42 years, Mr. George Quesnel, died June 15 at Laprairie, at the age of 73.

Funeral arrangements were in the hands of Menard Funeral Home, Grace Street, with rites at the Ste. Anastasie Parish Church on June 19.

Besides his wife, the former Josephine Ledoux, Mr. Quesnel is mourned by two sons, Yvon and Jacques, of Laprairie, also three daughters, Mme Joseph Cleary (Madeleine), of Lachute, Mme A.-A. Raymond (Lise) and Mlle Cecile Quesnel, both of Laprairie.

Surviving also are several grandchildren, a brother, Edward, in St. Jerome, a sister, Mme D. Bilodeau, Hawkesbury, and his brother-in-law, Remi Ledoux, of this town.

Couple feted on 25th anniversary

Lachute Legion Hall was the scene of a pleasant surprise party on Monday, June 13, when relatives and friends of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Clark, of Mabel, gathered to celebrate their 25th wedding anniversary. (Actual date of the anniversary is July 6, at which time the Clarks will be on a motor trip to the West Coast.)

The master of ceremonies, Mr. George MacKenzie, after some appropriate remarks presented Mr. and Mrs. Clarke with a movie camera and 25 silver dollars. Music for dancing was supplied by the Silver String Trio.

Friends from Vankleek Hill, Dalkieth, Montreal and Harrington were included in the group. Cst. John Clark, RCMP, of Stephenville, Nfld., arranged his leave to be present at this celebration for his parents.

Arundel

Mr. E. Moncrieff, of Regina, Sask., is in Arundel this week visiting with relatives and friends.

Mr. Arthur Kydd, of Winnipeg, a former resident of Arundel, is visiting here with friends and relatives. This is Mr. Kydd's first visit home in 50 years. He is staying with Mrs. Val Swail while in Arundel. Mr. and Mrs. Currie, of East Angus, Que., are also guests of Mrs. Val Swail.

The Women's Auxiliary of Grace Church met at the home of Mrs. Grace Dewar on Thursday evening. Business routine was dealt with, and at the conclusion refreshments were served. Hostesses were Mrs. Grace Dewar and Mrs. William Evans.

Pre-nuptial Shower

A very pleasant event took place Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. Zanth, when the latter was hostess at a miscellaneous shower for Miss Janet Zanth. About 60 persons were present and the bride-to-be received many beautiful gifts. The marriage will take place July 16 in Montreal. Miss Zanth is to be married to Mr. Victor Matte, son of Mr. and Mrs. Matte, of Montreal.

W.I. Prize Winners

Congratulations to the Arundel Women's Institute, whose members were able to capture three first, five second and one third prize, among exhibits sent in to the Lachute Fair. Sixteen exhibits were sent from here.

Mr. C. Roy Hall, of Montreal West, was the guest of Frank Rowan at Grece's Point over the week-end.

Late Leonard Young was member of famed troupe

(Our District Correspondent)

Cushing West — The sincere sympathy of this community is extended to Miss Edna Young, bereaved sister of the late Mr. Leonard Young, also to Mrs. S. Sharpe of Toronto and Mr. Eric Young of Montreal, and to his sincere friend and companion, Mr. Frank Rowan.

Mr. Leonard Young, who passed away at the Queen Mary Veterans' Hospital in Montreal last Tuesday, after a lengthy illness, endeared himself to the hearts of many with his entertainment on the piano, and as a musician and director helped form the Third Division concert party which later became the famous "Dumbells", while serving in France with the 9th Field Ambulance Corps in World War I. . . . During the Battle of Vimy he lost a leg.

The late Mr. Young has been spending his vacations at his bungalow here for the past 35 years, and spent much time in his studio writing plays for the Dramatic Group of St. Bartholomew's Church in New York, which he directed for many years.

The past year was a most productive one for Mr. Young, who wrote two Litanies and a Church History of St. Bartholomew of New York City, where he had served not only as drama director for its Community House Theatre but as art director for the church.

The funeral was held from St. Phillip's Anglican Church in Montreal on Thursday afternoon, with cremation at Mount Royal Cemetery.

Legion Auxiliary at Brownsburg

Brownsburg — The Ladies' Auxiliary of Legion Branch 71 held their regular meeting June 13 in the Legion Hall. The president, Mrs. Mann, was in the chair. The meeting took the form of a "pot-luck supper", and was enjoyed by a good attendance of members.

The business session followed, mostly all committees reporting. Plans were made for the Legion ladies' picnic to be held Saturday, July 9, at Macdonald Lake; in case of rain it will be held the following Saturday, July 16 — all members to meet at the hall at 10 a.m.

The meeting closed with two minutes silence in memory of fallen comrades, followed by the national anthem.

Mrs. C. Martin entertained the ladies showing pictures of her trip through the British Isles.

Air-lift proceeds given to hospital

The proceeds of Skyhaven Corporation's week-end airlifts, June 11-12, were turned over to the Argenteuil Regional Hospital building fund. A cheque for $160 was presented to the hospital committee, who express public appreciation for this gesture.

A recital was held last Friday evening at the home of Mrs. Benoit Clement. The following pupils participated:

Robert Raymond, Carole Desforges, Pierre Lemay, Debbie McCaffrey, David McCaffrey, Bonnie Graham, Yvan Desforges, Ann Jackson, Daniel Lupien and Carole Monette.

One of the duets was played by Mrs. Clement and her daughter, Carole. The latter also played the flute, accompanied by her mother at the piano. Viviane Clement then played a selection, upon request.

To end a delightful evening, refreshments were served and gifts presented to each one.

Local Witnesses to attend convention in Toronto next week

The Lachute congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses has been invited to attend a four-day convention to be held June 30 to July 3 at the Exhibition Park, Toronto. The announcement was made Sunday evening by Peter A. Rae, who will head the local delegation. "The convention," he said, "is arranged for Jehovah's Witnesses by the Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society, and it is anticipated that upwards of 25,000 will attend."

"The purpose of this peace-pursuing assembly," said Mr. Rae, "is to help people appreciate that all-important one with whom we must seek peace is the Creator. It is because the nations of the earth have not sought peace with Him, that there is no peace among them. Having dedicated themselves to the Heavenly Father's standards of peace, Christians cannot then do violence to their brother."

There will be morning, afternoon and evening sessions devoted to Bible talks, discussions and practical demonstrations, and several representatives of the Watchtower Society, including F. W. Franz, vice-president, will speak in Toronto. Highlight of the convention will be the public address by Franz at 3 p.m. Sunday, July 3, on "Security During 'War of the Great Day of God the Almighty' ".

— Jehovah's Witnesses —

Global paradise now near!

Let's give praise to Jehovah God the great Creator and fountain of Life, and his son our King, Jesus Christ.

Does that sound odd at a time when atomic war threatens to sear all life from the earth? Not if you know it is God's time to turn earth into a paradise. When Jehovah planted paradise in Eden it was His purpose for it to spread till it clothed the entire earth. A crazed world cannot block his purpose. During this generation Jehovah will prepare the ground for the global garden by plowing under this present wilderness of evil. At Armageddon he will "bring to ruin those ruining the earth." (Rev. 11: 18). That righteous war will sweep wicked men and frightening weapons from the earth and will bring the power of Satan and his demons to nothing. In its wake no menaces, human or demonic, will remain to plague the global paradise, for only its advocates will survive the war that clears the way before it.

In that new world, the elements will not storm against it, and animals will be under man's loving domination. Disease will give way to health, life will supplant death, love will replace fear, and men will not even learn war any more. Past woes will be forgotten, "for the former things are passed away." (Rev. 21: 4). An idle dream? No, a divine promise sure of fulfillment. Convince yourself by reading the book "New Heavens and a New Earth". You may obtain a copy on a 50 cent contribution.

Call at the nearest congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses or write "Watch Tower", 150 Bridgeland Ave., Toronto 19.

Leading Clothing Manufacturer Recommends SANITONE Dry Cleaning

All Weathervane suits tailored by Handmacher-Vogel, Inc., world's largest maker of suits, will carry string tags, recommending that the suit be Sanitone Dry Cleaned "to keep the original shape, texture and freshness of the suit."

Mr. Handmacher, company president, said that he decided to use the tags "only after exhaustive tests proved to my complete satisfaction that the Sanitone Process did these things."

Our SANITONE dry cleaning keeps you looking wonderful all the time

Our Sanitone Soft-Set® Dry Cleaning does more than get garments thoroughly clean. It actually restores the original look and feel to the fabric. Colors glow. Patterns sparkle. And your clothes always come back as soft and fresh as the day you bought them.

We invite you to compare our Sanitone Service with any other dry cleaning to prove that you can really see and feel the difference.

Why not call us today.

Morin Heights

Mr. Robert Telfer, of Montreal, was the week-end guest of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Williams.

School News

School closes for the summer on Friday, June 24, and all parents and friends are invited to attend the closing ceremony, to commence at 9.30 a.m. Prizes will be distributed at this time, followed by the giving out of Report Cards for Grades I to IX, inclusive. Parents of children in Grades I and II are reminded that the closing ceremony will be held at the New School.

Week-end guests of Mrs. William Watchorn were Mr. and Mrs. David Masterson and family, of Montreal West.

Mrs. George Manthorp and son, Ted, arrived last week-end to spend the summer months with her mother, Mrs. E. C. Fayet.

The Women's Association of Morin Heights United Church held their June meeting in the church hall last Tuesday. Plans were made for summer activities, and delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses.

Miss Grace Gillingham and Mr. David Currie, of Montreal, were Sunday guests of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gillingham.

A number of residents from this community once again attended the Lachute Spring Fair and, as in the past, reported an enjoyable time.

Week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Seale were Mr. Russell Riddell and Miss Doris Riddell, of North Bay, Ont.

Recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Seale were Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Murdoch and family, of Brownsburg, and Mr. and Mrs. John Oster, of Montreal.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Lash arrived last week to occupy their cottage for the summer months, after returning from an extended trip to the west coast.

Mrs. William Watchorn and Mrs. Roy Williams visited friends in Montreal on Tuesday last.

Cushing

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Drew, of Verdun, were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Canning.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Mattock and family, of Montreal, spent the week-end at their riverside cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Dougall and son, Graham, of Verdun, were week-end guests at Bayside Farm. Miss E. M. Graham, of Verdun, who had been spending the week-end with her mother and brother, returned to the city with them.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Buzzell, of Montreal West, were at "Woodbine Cottage" for the week-end, having as their guests Mr. and Mrs. R. Fox, with a group of Montreal West residents as callers on Sunday.

Mr. John Johnson with his daughter, Jean, and son, Donald, of Ottawa, also Mr. and Mrs. D. Gilmour, of Iroquois, Ont., were guests of Mrs. L. M. Gaston on Sunday.

Week-end guests of Mrs. Jas. Coney were Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Dunmore and family, of Montreal East.

Mr. and Mrs. Groom, of Montreal, former summer residents of a riverside cottage here, have purchased a cottage at Lake Louisa and are now spending their week-ends there instead of in Cushing.

Mr. G. K. Cushing was in residence at "Millside" for the week-end.

Old Friend Passes

Cushing as a community deeply regrets the passing of Mr. Leonard Young, of New York, who died recently in a Montreal hospital. Mr. Young, a former member of a group of entertainers, the Dumbells, during the first war, quite often assisted with concerts in connection with St. Mungo's Church, which at that time were held in the Stone Hall before it became a private residence. Mr. Young had a summer residence between Cushing and Grece's Point, and our sincere sympathy is extended to his sister, Edna, and other relatives.

Mrs. J. L. Maw and son, Robert, occupied "Lilac Lodge" for the week-end. Mrs. Maw is leaving during the week for Vancouver, first to visit her son John and family, and from there she will proceed to San Francisco to visit her daughter, Helen.

Mrs. J. Brown and family, of Montreal, are the guests of Mrs. L. R. McGain at "Tynwald" this week.

Recent guests of Mrs. J. O'Brien, of Chatboro, were Mrs. A. L. O'Brien, of Ottawa, Mrs. J. Tooke, of St. Eustache-sur-le-Lac, Mr. and Mrs. Frank McAdam and family, of Rosemount, also Capt. and Mrs. T. Weir, the Rev. and Mrs. K. Feltham and son, Keith, of Cushing.

Calumet

Congratulations are extended to Mr. and Mrs. Marcel Lemay, who were married June 11 in Cornwall and who spent last week visiting friends in Calumet.

The many friends of Mrs. Henry Page wish her a speedy recovery. Mrs. Page is now a patient in the Montreal General Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Shirley Mahon and Allan, of Vankleek Hill, visited Mr. and Mrs. Edmond Nixon on Sunday. . . . Mrs. Nixon, Marjory and Rocky, and Mrs. Jos. Page, of Bell Falls, visited at the Nixon home last week.

Avoca

Mrs. Greenwood, of Ottawa, who was visiting friends in Montreal, is now the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Allan McPhee.

Mrs. Herbert Brown and daughter, Lindy, spent the week-end with friends in Ottawa.

Mr. and Mrs. Clark, of the Brownsburg Road, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Brown on Sunday.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Evan Bates over the week-end were Mr. Rowland Bates, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Wright and little sons, of Montreal, Miss Flora McLeod, also of Montreal, and Miss Connie McTavish and her brother, of Ottawa.

There will be service in St Mary's Church on Sunday, June 26, at 2.30 p.m.

Please remember the Anti-Polio Clinic in Grenville High School, on June 28.

Mrs. Geo. Bissett, of Port Colborne, who has been visiting for some time with her father, Mr. Jos. Young, has now returned home.

Sympathy is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Trineer in the sudden loss of their son, whose death occurred Sunday morning.

Vacation Bible School

Daily Vacation Bible School will be held in the Avoca Baptist Church commencing Monday, June 27, at 9 a.m. The school will be from 9 to 12 each day, concluding on Wednesday, July 6, with an evening program in the church. The school will follow the theme, "Signaling for Christ", and will feature interesting handicrafts, including leather work. All children five years of age and older are invited to attend.

Girl Guide cords to Morin Hts. Girl

Guide Eileen Watchorn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Watchorn, Morin Heights, was presented with the All-Round Cord award recently at the R.C.A.F. Station, Lac St. Denis.

Mrs. K. King, Laurentian Division Commissioner, made the presentation. Guests included parents of the Guides, members of the Local Association and the Guide Company.

Eileen Watchorn, who joined the 1st Lac St. Denis Brownie Pack in September, 1954, "flew up" to Guides in June, 1957, and was enrolled in November, 1957. She received her First Class standing in February, 1960.

Following a brief welcome by a member of the Local Association, Mrs. T. Winslow, the Guides commenced the program. Mrs. King presented proficiency badges to other deserving Guides, enrolled several new Guides, and then presented the All-Round Cord to Eileen. A campfire followed and Mrs. King announced that Eileen had been chosen as a representative of the Laurentian Division to attend the Patrol Leaders' Camp at Doe Lake in August.

At the conclusion of the ceremonies Mrs. Lee, Local Association president, thanked Mrs. King for being present.

Essay winners visit Tree Farm

Sixty Montreal high school students and 20 teachers visited the Harrington Forest Farm of Canadian International Paper Company recently, on an excursion which was part of the prizes for winners and runners-up in a conservation essay contest organized by the Montreal Anglers and Hunters Inc. The theme for this year's essay was Forest Protection. The group was shown through the farm and experimentation and demonstration centres of fish, wildlife and woodlot management, as well as the C.I.P. nursery which produces one million seedlings a year for reforestation of waste lands in the Rouge River Valley. In this photo, woodsman Wilfred Diamond explains the use of a power saw to Mother Marie de Ste-Alina and Mother Marie-Philippe du Sauveur, of St. Alphonse School. The tour was under the direction of Jaap Salm, manager of the Harrington Farm.

Calumet

(Intended for last issue)

Walter Young, of Port Colborne, visited recently with his mother, Mrs. Norman Young. The latter returned with him to visit her children in Port Colborne.

Dianne Hall spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Silas Hall.

The many friends of Mr. Cadieux were pleased to see him home again, after a long stay in hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Nixon and Mrs. Edmond Nixon spent a day in Montreal visiting Mrs. Montressar, a patient in the Royal Victoria Hospital.

Garry Kelly spent the week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs Mervin Kelly.

Miss Paltsy Montressar visited Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Nixon for a few days.

APPRECIATION

Mrs. Elday Provencal, of Harrington, would like to thank all those who offered help at the time of her husband's serious illness. Mr. Provencal is progressing favorably in the Alexandra Hospital, Montreal.

Family Motor Trip

— By NANCY CLEAVER —

"A wise traveller never despises his own country," wrote Goldoni, and in Lady Eaton's "Memory Mall," she mentions twice her desire that her children should see Canada. A train trip is a delight to a child and a plane flight is a never-to-be-forgotten experience. But the great majority of families travel as inexpensively as they can by car.

Holidays spent happily unify the family. New experiences are exhilarating and travel is one door to education. A good journey is one which every member of the family recalls with pleasure. Why not a trip for this summer's holiday?

Write at once to the Tourist Information Bureaus in the areas you hope to visit. Be sure to include time spent in some of our beautiful national or provincial parks. Children love maps and they will appreciate having part in vacation preparations. Give one child the job of keeping track of the mileage each day, another might write down money spent on gas and oil. Participation is the basis of enthusiastic cooperation.

Parents travelling with little folk have found it very worthwhile to write ahead and make overnight reservations at the recommended hotels, resorts or cabins. If this is not possible observe the rule of stopping well before darkness falls to find suitable accommodation. There is nothing more upsetting than an unsuccessful search for a place to sleep with cross, over-tired children constantly wailing: "When are we going to get there?"

Fatigue quickly produces irritability in both adults and children. Arrange a rest period after the noon meal for all the family, every day. If baby is small, he can sleep in his basket, or the seat of the car can be used as a bed, with safeguards to prevent him falling. A rug and pillow spread under a shady tree encourages relaxation. It is worthwhile to turn off the main highway and travel down a quiet country road in search of solitude.

It is grand for mother not to have to prepare meals and wash dishes. In order to cut on cost: the family may want to "eat out' only one of the three meals. If a all possible, have the dinner mea at a good restaurant or hotel. Ar early start can be made if breakfast is eaten at the place where the family has stayed overnight.

Travelling with a small baby is easier in some ways than travelling with an active youngster who is "into everything." The little baby stays in one place — but the diaper problem is not an easy one to solve. An extra supply must be taken along and mother must have the opportunity to wash out the diapers and get them dry. Some families make a 24-hour stop in a city with a Daily Diaper Laundry Service, in order to avail themselves of this help.

Clothes for travelling for children should be comfortable, durable and washable. Seersucker or jersey sun suits need no ironing, and corduroy overalls for cooler days are an excellent choice for the same reason. Tuck the dirty clothes directly into the laundry bag. Do as little washing on the trip as possible. A jar of water and a wash cloth and towel to wipe small sticky fingers is worthwhile. Bibs and paper handkerchiefs are good ideas too.

Small children get tired travelling in a car and mother and dad must be willing to stop fairly often. Take son or daughter for a walk to stretch little legs. Fill the thermos with cold, tested drinking water in the morning and keep a supply of paper cups.

The driver's attention should not be distracted by anyone in the car. Mother will have to keep the children amused from time to time. Repeating a nursery rhyme, singing songs, reciting short poems, all can be lots of fun. A picture book with large illustrations is a good thing to have handy. Dressing a doll is a good diversion for a small child.

Even little children can enter into the good times of simple games such as seeing who can see a barn or a red cow or a sheep out the car window, or "I spy" using colors instead of first letters. If mother and dad can stand the noise, a mouth organ can amuse a child for a long time.

Family motoring is a real adventure. May you have a safe and happy trip this vacation!

June was busy month — W. I. branch reports

In the branch W.I. meetings, this as the month for reports. All ranches listened to accounts of ie County Convention, held at rownsburg. Two branches, Mille sles and Brownsburg, sent dele- ates to the short course at Maconald College. Mrs. Maxwell, Mrs. nlow and Mrs. Todd brought back nteresting tales of this course.

Upper Lachute-East End heard a paper given by the Health and Welfare convener. Plans were made to entertain Lakefield Branch.

Altogether among the W.I. branches, June has been a busy month indeed.

Cereals with dairy foods

June is the time to start making use of crisp, ready-to-eat cereals and all our marvellous dairy foods Together they can make a meal Try some of these suggestions:

— Serve crunchy sweetened or sugar coated cereals for nibbling with tall, cold glasses of milk.

—Roll cheese balls in coursely crushed cereal crumbs to make miniature porcupines for salad plates or hors d'oeuvre trays.

—Top casserole dishes such as macaroni and cheese with cereal crumbs.

—Use cereal crumbs for toppings on ice cream sundaes.

—Have a bowl of whole grain, ready-to-eat cereal, topped with fresh berries and served with lots of milk or cream. — When? — Why not at lunch or as a bedtime snack?

—Make a pie: mix 1 cup of fine cereal crumbs with ½ cup of packed brown sugar. Add ¼ cup of melted butter and mix well. Pack firmly into a 9-inch pie plate. Chill. Fill with scoops of Fresh Strawberry Ice Cream. Serve at once.

—Give fried poultry a crisp tasty crust: Add one or two tablespoons of milk to a well beaten egg. Dip poultry pieces in mixture. Roll in coarse cereal crumbs and fry in heated fat. Delicious!

Announcement

A revised and enlarged booklet, "Cereals", is now available from the Information Division, Canada Department of Agriculture, Ottawa. There were many requests for this publication when it was out of print, but it is now available once again. It is free of charge. No stamp required.

or Tea, Milk

Measurement are level; recipes for 6

Panned Curried Chicken: Order 1 (3-lb.) broiler-fryer chicken, sectioned. Rinse with cold water. Drain on paper towels.

Dust all over with 3 tbsp. wheat germ mixed with 1 tsp. each salt and curry powder and ¼ tsp. pepper. Let stand 15 min. to set coating.

Slow-brown until golden in 3 tbsp. corn oil. Drain off any remaining oil.

Add ½ chicken cube in ¾ c. hot water. Cover.

Simmer directly over very low heat or in slow oven for 30 min., or until chicken is fork-tender to the bone.

Arrange in border of fluffy rice.

Garnish with chopped scallions or parsley.

Pass hot curried pears.

Curried Pears: Rinse 8 to 10 canned pear halves with boiling water to remove excess sugar. Drain.

Place hollow sides up in buttered baking dish.

Into hollows spoon blend of 1 tbsp. currant or other jelly, 2 tbsp. bits of butter, 1 tsp. curry powder, 1 tsp. lemon juice and ⅛ tsp. salt.

Dust pear edges with poppy seeds.

Bake 20 min. in mod. oven, 350 deg. F., until lightly browned.

Serve sizzling.

Specially Written for The Lachute Watchman

By Edna Blakely, Canadian Press Staff Writer

The production of flour from Canadian-grown wheat has been carried on since the French regime in the 17th century. In those days each seignior was obliged to provide a grist mill for his tenants.

Canada, one of the world's leading exporters of wheat, grows more than 20,000,000 acres of wheat each year. The hard spring wheats which were sown last month will be harvested in late August or September. The wheat which contains from 12 to 14 per cent protein is used mainly for bread flour.

Soft fall wheat, containing 8 to 10 per cent protein, is used for pastry and cake flour.

There are varieties of flour. White flour is finely milled and sifted. The bran and germ are removed because they give a dark color. Since they contain vitamins and minerals necessary for good health, specific amounts of B vitamins are added, making it enriched.

Bread Flour

All-purpose or bread flour is made from Canadian hard wheat. When the flour is moistened, the protein forms a substance called gluten which gives the necessary elasticity in making yeast bread. This flour is also satisfactory for general baking.

Pastry flour, made from soft wheat, has less protein and is best suited for pastries, cakes, cookies and quick breads. It's finely milled and smooth to touch.

Cake flour is a highly refined white flour made from soft wheat which is low in protein. It is even finer than pastry flour and is velvety to touch.

Graham flour has a brownish color because bran and other parts of the wheat kernel have been added to white flour. It's usually used with white flour for yeast breads, rolls, muffins and other quick breads.

Whole wheat or entire wheat flour is also brownish because of the presence of bran. It contains all the natural parts of the wheat kernel up to at least 95 per cent of the total weight of the wheat from which it is made. Although it contains more protein than all-purpose flour, the tiny bran particles cut and break the gluten strands, giving a heavier product. Whole wheat flour is used with various proportions of white flour in making bread and rolls, muffins and other quick breads.

Buying Flour

The consumer section of the Canadian department of agriculture advises homemakers to buy white flour in the largest amounts that use and home storage permit, to save time and money.

Whole wheat and Graham flours should be purchased in amounts that can be used in a reasonable length of time, because they do not keep well in hot weather.

Flour should be purchased according to the type and use for which it is intended.

Always read the label to learn the type of flour, the weight, and whether it's enriched. There may also be recipes on the label.

Flour should be stored in tightly covered containers in a cool dry place. Moisture causes spoilage.

Liberals captured 50 out of 95 Quebec seats, ending 16 years of Union Nationale regime

"Week in Quebec"

By Leo Leblanc,
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Quebec (CP)— In a surprising Quebec election upset, the Liberals under party leader Jean Lesage toppled the Union Nationale party which had governed the province for 16 consecutive years.

The tight race brought defeat to Premier Antonio Barrette in his first attempt to lead his party in an election campaign, although he won easily in his own riding of Joliette.

Pending final vote tabulations still to come from some ridings, the Liberals captured 50 seats, the Union Nationale 44 and an independent candidate one.

After the election, Provincial Police were ordered not to allow any minister or government official to remove anything except personal documents from the legislature buildings; also, deputy ministers and top government officials received firm orders from Mr. Lesage not to issue any cheques or complete any transactions until his new adminstration is installed.

The Liberals gained 29 seats from the Union Nationale and also won in the new ridings of Duplessis and Bourget. They retained every seat they held in the last legislature.

One of Mr. Lesage's first tasks as premier will be to lead the Quebec delegation to the Federal-Provincial fiscal conference in Ottawa in July.

Some of the late Premier Maurice Duplessis' close associates were defeated in the election. Attorney-general Antoine Rivard, trade minister Paul Beaulieu, finance minister John Bourque, Wilfred Labbe, minister without portfolio, and lands and forest minister Jacques Miquelon were beaten.

QUEBEC'S NEW PREMIER, HON. JEAN LESAGE

89.8% vote indicates peak interest. Slight change, final count of ballots

Official count of the Argenteuil vote, completed Monday by the District Returning Officer, Notary Jacques Beaudoin, gives the following figures:

Cottingham (U.N.)	8,835
Durocher (Lib.)	5,884
Cottingham Majority	2,951
(Ballots rejected)	179

These vary only slightly from the election night results reported in last week's Watchman.

Election fervor in Argenteuil was typical of the province-wide enthusiasm, in which the "heaviest vote in Quebec history" was recorded.

There was a surprising record of 89.87 per cent votes recorded here, out of the total number eligible (14,898 out of 16,576) — in comparison with 80 per cent here in the last provincial election, 1956.

Representative for Mr. Durocher in the official count was S. W. Rodger; Mr. Cottingham was represented by Donald G. MacRae. The official count was made by Notary Beaudoin as returning officer, with Linton Armstrong as election clerk.

The poll-by-poll returns are listed on this page, grouped also as to districts immediately surrounding Lachute.

Suspension of work on Carillon project

Promptly after the election, suspension was ordered Thursday night on the $200-million Carillon Dam project.

The order brought the layoff of 1,000 men and prevented the hiring — for the time being at least — of an additional 800 scheduled to go on the payroll with the start of concrete work at the site.

Work for most of the Quebec Hydro employees was resumed again Tuesday morning, but a number employed by the contractors and sub-contractors are still idle.

The announcement from Montreal Thursday night said only that "orders have been issued to temporarily stop the construction", according to Richard Jackson in The Ottawa Journal. The order was said to have come from Quebec City and stemmed from the election day switch-over of Quebec from the Union Nationale to the Liberals.

In Quebec suspension of big scale government contracts after an election upset always has been traditional (he states).

The chairman of Quebec Hydro, J. A. Savoie, a Montreal notary, protested that he knew "nothing about anything."

In Ottawa both Quebec Liberal and Conservative MP's said the work had advanced too far to be suspended long.

Too much money had been spent to permit the stop-order on construction from being anything but temporary.

According to an informant, the Bailey Bridge will not be rebuilt, but the concrete for the dam on the Pointe Fortune side will be transported across the river in trucks loaded on barges.

PROTEST FROM M.P.P.

In a communique to the press, W. M. Cottingham, M.P.P. for Argenteuil, today issues a strong protest on the suspension of work at Carillon, which thereby inflicts hardship on numerous workers who were engaged regardless of their political affiliations.

Carillon Dam, he emphasizes, is a project for the advancement of the provincial economy and is designed to develop hydraulic resources for needed electrical power. He terms the intervention in this matter, by a government not yet in office, as arbitrary and averse to the public interests.

Car plunges into river

Cst. George Taylor, of the town police, went for an unscheduled swim in the West River early Saturday morning, when the police received a call that a car had crashed into the river near the Chatham Street bridge. Cst. Taylor responded, accompanied by Csts. Felix L'Allier and Gaetan Theriault.

On arrival at the scene, there was no evidence of any occupants in the partially submerged vehicle. Cst. Taylor thereupon plunged into the river and thoroughly checked the car, assuring himself there was no one left inside.

The car was hauled from the river and identified as belonging to Rino Daigle, of 304 Bedard Blvd., who later reported he was forced off the road by a yellow and grey panel truck. He jumped from his vehicle before it crashed into the river, and was not injured; and he left the scene without informing anyone of his safety or survival.

Co-operation from post-office

The Watchman and its subscribers appreciate the co-operation of the Lachute postmaster and staff in expediting the delivery of last week's paper.

The issue was considerably delayed in order to publish election results, which were not available until 9 or 10 p.m. Wednesday. The printing staff was occupied through much of the night, and the postal clerks were at the office to receive and distribute the papers — most of which reached their destination on scheduled time.

HOLIDAY NOTE —

Main St. stores open on Friday but closed Monday

It is stated by Adhémar Cuerrier, president of the Chamber of Commerce, that most Main Street storekeepers have agreed to remain open on Dominion Day, this Friday, July 1; but, following usual custom, they will observe the holiday by closing on Monday, July 4.

This information is given on basis of a survey taken by Ken Raymond, manager of the A&P Supermarket — according to Mr. Cuerrier.

Arts, handicrafts in current A.A.A. exhibit at St. Andrews

An exhibition of handicrafts and arts, the products of local craftsmen during the last century or more, is at present on view in the Municipal Hall at St. Andrews. The exhibition, which was assembled and arranged by Mrs. L. T. Porter, Sr., was officially opened by Mrs. Vivian Walker, the president of the Argenteuil Art Association, who spoke briefly of the value of such collections in stimulating the interest of a community in the worth of its local French and English cultures.

"In arranging this exhibition, Mrs. Porter has given particular attention to stressing the close relationship between culture and the ordinary life and work of the average, everyday citizen," said Mrs. Walker, the president, in opening this show. "It has been too often suggested, and the idea is still quite prevalent, that Art and Culture are things apart from the ordinary course of living, things reserved to leisure moments, and to those who do not have to concern themselves too much with the effort to earn one's bread. . . . The purpose of the Argenteuil Art Association is to remove that impression, to broaden the base of culture, so that all citizens can feel they have a part in it. The present exhibition is particularly designed to achieve that purpose."

An outstanding feature of the exhibition is a group of fine paintings by Goodridge Roberts and Stanley Cosgrove, on loan from Continental Galleries of Fine Art, Montreal.

The local collection includes furniture made by the pioneer craftsmen, John Stackhouse and William Caution, and many contemporary pieces of pine and cherry-wood made by local residents. In one section of the Hall, a desk, chest, and bookcase, tables and chairs are charmingly grouped around a beautiful braided rug of expert workmanship. The products of the spinning-wheel and the loom, of the crochet-needle and the rug-hook, are also in evidence, together with wrought-iron samples of the blacksmith's craft.

Altogether the exhibition provides an interesting and attractive cross-section of one phase of the County's history. Mrs. Porter is to be congratulated on the excellence and beauty of this display.

The exhibit remains open to the public until next Sunday, each afternoon from 2 to 5 o'clock.

New president takes office in Lachute Lions Club

After hearing reports from committeemen on recent fund raising ventures, President Lorne Duncan reviewed the year's activities at the last meeting of Lachute Lions Club, the final assembly of the club year. The review, in a year climaxing a quarter-century of community service, recalled many creditable achievements in the past twelve months. President Duncan extended thanks to his committee chairmen, and to officers and directors of the past year, and wished success to the in-coming executive.

Dr. Eric Mongeon

Lion Horace Lamarche, past Deputy District Governor, installed the new officers, with Dr. Eric Mongeon, dental surgeon, as president for the ensuing year. Lion Roger Regimbal presented a past-president's lapel pin to Lorne Duncan. Both these simple ceremonies were accompanied by fitting addresses, suggesting the solemn commitment which Lionism pledges to the community it serves. . . . Equally impressive were the remarks of Dr. Eric Mongeon, in thanking the members for the confidence entrusted in him.

The club bade farewell to a valuable member, Gerard Lefebvre, who leaves the group, and the community, after 10 years of constructive citizenship here. Tribute was paid to his many roles of club and civic duty in that time.

Arrangements were made to assist in transportation for the C.N.I.B. picnic on July 6, and financial aid was extended to enable a deaf child to take speech therapy lessons.

Garage destroyed by explosion, fire at St. Andrews E.

Rossignol Auto Repairs, a well equipped garage business at the south end of Main Street, St. Andrews, was wiped out by an explosion and fire last Wednesday evening, election night, around 9 o'clock. The owner and his brother-in-law were burned and taken to hospital.

Leon Rossignol was doing an electric welding job on his tow-truck when a flying spark ignited inflammable material and a small explosion occurred. Before the two occupants could get clear of the blaze a second, larger explosion blew out the cement-block walls of the building, hurling Mr. Rossignol thirty feet into a clump of bush at the rear, and throwing his brother-in-law, Cyr Pelletier, against a doorpost.

Gatean Lavigne and friends from his home across the street found Rossignol with his clothing ablaze, badly burned; extinguishing his burning clothes, they took him to the office of Dr. L'Allier nearby. Rossignol had meanwhile yelled to his brother-in-law to remove a small school truck from the garage yard — which he was able to accomplish. The fire brigade under Chief Edgar Monette were soon on the scene, but could do nothing to save the building. Concentrating on the Council accepts O'Connell offer on road paving

A special meeting of Lachute Town Council was held Monday evening of this week, when an offer from the firm of H. J. O'Connell to execute work at a specially reduced price due to extenuating circumstances, was unanimously accepted by all in attendance.

The work to be completed will total 292 tons of crushed gravel underlay and 13,300 square yards of pavement, for a total price of $11,670.

Unpaved sections of Taylor, Gilbert, Bellingham, Cloutier and George Streets will be covered with crushed gravel and paved, while paving will be completed on Drew, Sydney, Fraser, Robert, Riverview, Edwin, Hamelin and Bédard.

(The asphalt plant is reported to be closing at the end of the week — all scheduled Provincial Government road work being postponed. However, no official word has been received on this.)

ARGENTEUIL OUTDOORS

"Outdoor Round-up" — by Bob Atchison

I had the opportunity recently of watching two loons. To me they are an enigma in the bird world. Their mournful cry over a lake is an unforgettable memory. A long time ago I was fishing in Northern Ontario, and our old Ojibway Indian guide told us this story of the loon. They are the spirits of the braves (he said) who have been killed and never had the Indian ceremonial burial, and thus were never able to get to the Happy Hunting Ground. Hence the cry. I have remembered that story ever since, and it never fails to stir me some way on hearing the loon.

While on this topic, I'm very pleased at the number of good people in Lachute who are still taking care of the birds. Any little trouble they may incur in this way, is more than offset by the pleasure they receive from watching them.

We have a couple of Redwings nesting right beside us; it is fun watching them. Four youngsters in the nest, and we never fail to get a laugh out of them. One of these is what you may call a stay-at-home. The others have been at least trying their wings in the nest, but not this one. He (or she) won't even get up to get its food. The noise it makes when the parent birds try to stir it up, is awful. You'd swear it is being tortured in the worst way. But it still won't stand up.

A lot of the other breeds have young flipping around, and it always amazes me the way the old birds know their own family out of all the others. Ever think of how they do it? Maybe we can still learn something from Nature.

I have been told of a number of suckers being caught in the lakes around. This doesn't sound good for those lakes. In a very short time they will be finished as trout lakes. The amount of damage to game fish this class of coarse fish does is terrific. Carp, suckers, perch, etc., all manage to eat more trout spawn than are ever hatched. When you think of all the enemies of these fish, it's a wonder we have any at all. How these killer-fish manage to get into lakes, is hard to figure out. Certainly it's not only humans that put them in as "minnows," but it would be a safe guess a good proportion are our fault. Even with the minnow ban in effect, it is going to take years of education to get it across to the public fishermen that it's for their benefit.

It's kind of funny the way education in the use of firearms has gradually died out. Last fall, after the first couple of shooting accidents, publicity was issued by the yard, for the handler of arms. We all remember how tests were going to be instituted — and all that rot. It made good talk, and that's about all. When are they going to do something about this? I know action could be taken if the responsible parties did a little thinking. One idea that appeals to me, is that the different clubs in the province could be made into checking groups to teach the use of firearms. I'm sure, for a very small percentage of the license fee, the clubs would be too glad to co-operate. Certainly the issuers of the permit are not going to be bothered with this, and for the percentage they receive, you can't blame them. It should be the duty of the seller to make sure their customer knows the dangers in the use of firearms.

Another thing that would make a big difference in the number of accidents, is the laying of blame. If people know they can get away with things like this, they will never learn or take the necessary precautions. But lack of initiative on the part of governments has always been evident in problems of the outdoors.

This story needs telling. Last week we were up at a lake fishing. On going in to the shore by a narrow path, the smell was awful. It was soon apparent why. About 12 fish, between 1 and 1½ lbs., were thrown onto the bank and left to rot. True, these fish were not trout, but of the whitefish family. These happen to make excellent eating, and seeing them left to rot sure makes you mad! They certainly shouldn't have been just thrown away like this. Some day, we are going to be happy to catch even the lowly catfish, it this waste keeps up. One of the unwritten laws of being a sportsman is — don't take more than you can use decently; don't kill for the sake of killing; and, last but not least, don't waste.

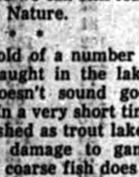

Think about this; it makes good sense. The idea of putting fish back in the water seems to be sacrilege around this district, for some of our so-called sportsmen.

You may remember some time ago I told you of a lake in the U.S.A. that was overrun with coarse fish. Northern pike and muskies were released, to see just what would happen. This practice has been so successful that numerous other lakes are being considered for this type of cleaning. Not only are the lakes cleaned up, but game fishing is becoming a very definite pattern in these lakes. It seems that this type of cleaning-up lakes it is going to be standard procedure.

Too bad we can't get something like this going on around this neck-of-the-woods. I, for one, would take Lake Hughes and load it with Northerns, just to get rid of the suckers. This is one lake definitely finished as a trout lake, and with a little good sense it might have been prevented. You know, you can't keep fishing any body of water, taking all the time and never returning something. Right in this district, just count how many lakes have been spoiled in this way.

The building, with paint shop, body shop and a costly equipment of tools, all owned by Leon Rossignol, was a complete loss running into many thousands of dollars.

Mr. Rossignol, in his early 40's suffered very severe burns. Both he and Mr. Pelletier were taken to the Smith Clinic at Hawkesbury. The latter, however, was released last Friday.

Chuck-wagons, buggies, a stage coach and several farm carts participated.

Macdonald day, on 'better Farming' Wednesday, July 6

Macdonald College, Ste. Anne de Bellevue, invites the farmers of Quebec to attend "Better Farming Day", Wednesday, July 6.

Special events will be the presence of Mr. S. C. Barry, Federal Deputy Minister of Agriculture, a door prize for people who register before 10.30, and a free Bar-B-Q for farmers and families (meat donated by Co-operative Fédérée of Quebec and potato chips by Humpty Dumpty).

The program will commence in the morning demonstrating control of late blight of potatoes, how micro-organisms impede the flow of sap, and the methods of prevention. An outside demonstration will consist of the effect of feed restriction in growing pullets on grass range. Of interest to orchardists and home gardeners will be the dwarf apple tree.

The afternoon tours will consist of animal husbandry demonstrating the effect of iron in preventing anaemia in pigs, and the use of milk replacer in feeding calves. The increasing interest in winter wheat in Quebec has led the college to include this in the program. People interested in woodlots and their management will have the opportunity to visit the Morgan Arboretum.

A special women's program has been designed for the ladies, demonstrating kitchen planning and remodeling. For women who like gardening, new varieties of raspberries, cultural methods for strawberries, currants and gooseberries will be on demonstration.

In the event of rain the program will be taken indoors.

"ACTIVE SERVICE YESTERDAY COMMUNITY SERVICE TODAY"

June . . . It's getting to the haying season again, and one wonders if the hardy French farmers of Normandy pause, as we do, to look back on those days of 16 summers ago. The beachead had held and the Canuck spearhead was pushing inland through fields of standing hay, up the dusty roads and on, hedgerow by hedgerow, slowly and grimly towards Caen. Overhead the R.C.A.F. were flying thousands of sorties, while the R.C.N. were bucking the swells of the Atlantic and the Channel.

June . . . The Lachute Spring Fair is over for another year. Branch 70 would like to thank all those who supported us in any way in making the Pony Raffle and the Horse Pull so successful.

June . . . The second of the current series of Polio Clinics for the district has gone into the records. Com. Joe Martell reports that it was highly successful, with a total of 437 shots dispensed in the Huberdeau, Arundel, Lachute and Brownsburg districts. The third clinic will be held in seven to 15 months' time.

June . . . School's out and the youngsters are on the move. More caution than ever is needed behind the wheel of your car or truck. Our children, too, should be taught to observe the rules of safety.

June . . . In this month as well as in any month, the Legion hospital equipment is available to anyone in the district who requires its use.

June . . . Dog days, lazy days, with the thoughts of holidays ahead! The club room will of course stay open and, as mentioned before, our meetings will continue through the summer months.

Attention, Chamber of Commerce

ONE OBVIOUS purpose of a tourist bureau is to give help to tourists — people who, for the most part, are strangers to the places they visit.

It is not generally known that such a service exists in Lachute, with an attendant who is ready to extend a welcoming hand and, insofar as he is able, to direct them in the manner they require. However, we are informed that the literature at his office is largely out of date, and, as regards highways at least, the only reliable facts he can pass along are verbal reports on conditions as he knows them.

The tourist bureau is at Dupré's Sport Shop, 552 Main Street, but apart from a small sign on the door, there's nothing to indicate a tourist bureau exists here — no roadside signs, such as one looks for in other towns.

We believe this project was a brainwave of the Chamber of Commerce, and that the provincial department extends aid for its maintenance. We would, respectfully suggest, therefore, that signs be erected at conspicuous spots—say at Barron's Bridge and at the Post Office intersection — directing strangers to this bureau, and that the office be supplied with all the dependable information that tourists need, such as routes, bus and train schedules, resorts, accommodations, lakes, rivers, beaches, etc.

This is a matter of importance in any town such as Lachute which is a hub of resort areas and tourist travel routes.

Lachute Fair in retrospect

TO CITIZENS and workers in any way associated with Lachute Spring Fair, there's a heart-warming aspect to this big annual undertaking. In community terms this is comparable to our major drives, which unite the minds and muscles of all types in the interests of public health or charity or welfare. Every year it brings together men and women who ply their shoulder to the wheel, purely for the success of this enterprise, which is in some measure a show-window of our community spirit. And let no one believe it entails no thought, time and effort. It requires plenty of these!

It is something to behold — the president, directors and committees of the Argenteuil Agricultural Society planning and personally directing this big show, receiving criticism from disgruntled exhibitors, showmen, car owners; enduring anxiety over the weather and interruptions in their close-knit program. . . . All without personal gain, for the satisfaction of a job well done.

There is something inspiring in the collaboration of many groups — Farm Forums, Women's Institutes, Service Clubs — devoting time and effort to provide wholesome competition and entertainment — again, not for personal profit, but for modest proceeds to carry on their respective aims in charity and progress.

The Spring Fair is indeed an asset to Lachute, not only in material things, the publicity and repute which spell good business and good friendship — but in that less tangible quality, the community spirit, that is the lifestream of any town worth living in.

To most observers and participants there are still details in which Lachute Fair can be improved, but we are confident the directors are aware of these, and will apply thought to their improvement as they have in the past.

Helping the Indian

ARE CANADA'S Indian reserves among the world's under-developed regions? Do they need the kind of technical assistance that is provided for backward areas abroad under the Colombo Plan and the U.S. technical assistance programs?

Several groups appearing before the joint Commons-Senate committee on Indian Affairs, sitting at Ottawa, apparently think they do.

The Indian-Eskimo Association of Canada, for instance, called for a program of technical assistance for economic development of the reserves by the Indians themselves, helped by technical advisers and government capital funds.

Otherwise, it said, there will be "a rapidly increasing population of paupers, overcrowding their homes on overcrowded reserves."

Mrs. Harold Clark of Toronto, president of the association, said not even the best of the local superintendents now employed by the federal Indian Affairs branch is "technically able" to do the needed job in teaching the Indians self-help. However, experienced help was available from the UN, which has had years of work with similar programs in under-developed countries.

A similar program was proposed by the Indian and Eskimo welfare commission of the Roman Catholic Oblate fathers.

The Rev. André Renaud of Ottawa, spokesman for the Oblates, said the very experience the Indians would acquire in improving their own communities economically and socially would make them and their children better able to live as full partners with non-Indians.

The Co-operative Union of Canada called for community development in which the Indians themselves and government combine to improve economic, social and cultural conditions. The gradual growth of co-operatives would be an essential part of the development, said this submission.

The committee members have promised careful consideration of the community development idea.

"I think what you have read was a very good thing," commented Senator James Gladstone, referring to the Co-operative Union brief.

"The Indians need coaching," added Senator Gladstone, himself a member of the Blood Indian tribe of Alberta. "If they get some, the leadership will come out naturally."

Old Age Pensions

A SENATE committee has endorsed the government's plan to extend old age pension payments to Canadians living permanently outside Canada.

Under the legislation, previously passed by the Commons and now awaiting final Senate approval, the pensions of $55 a month will be paid to persons 70 and over who have lived in Canada 25 years after reaching age 21.

Senate opposition to the measure was led by Senators Jean-Francois Pouliot (L-Quebec) and T. A. Crerar (L-Manitoba) who objected to the fact that a person born and raised in this country could move abroad at the age of 46 and return to Canada only for one year at the age of 70 to qualify for pension.

Viewpoints and perspectives

IF YOU HAVE never thought much about polypropylene — and chances are you haven't — it's nearly time you did, suggests The Financial Post.

It's going to be the biggest thing since polyethylene, and it's bound to affect you, either in helping your business or providing you with a suit.

Here are some of the things it can do:

It's the lightest of all plastics, which makes it handy for luggage, vacuum cleaner attachments and other products where weight is important.

It's the first relatively low-priced plastic that can stand temperatures hotter than boiling water from long periods without damage, and resists the effect of chemicals, which makes it important for many industrial uses.

It can be turned into fibres to make marine ropes, men's suits — it can be spun, crimped, textured, woven, knitted and blended with natural or other synthetic fibres.

It is easily machined into wrappings for bread or other packages.

WATCH THE BICYCLES. — There are few things that worry a motorist more than a bicycle rider on the road. Too often he is unpredictable or inexperienced. Parents could help in this connection, for the rules of the road are similar for cars and bicycles.

— Lindsay (Ont.) Watchman-Warder

LITTER PROBLEM. — One thing we know . . . We're glad that after seeing the clutter of refuse around the business section all day, we don't live near a school and have to keep cleaning the lawn of trash that is too often the aftermath of schooltime treats.

"DON'T ARGUE WITH COPS"

The fellow was talking to his poolroom pals. Said he, "I have given my daughter three don'ts only. They are very simple."

I listened. Here, I thought, will be the distilled wisdom of a father advising someone about whom he cares a great deal. Usually, the advice parents give to children is pretty sound.

The fellow enumerated his points by stabbing a finger into his palm. "First, I hold her not to argue with her teacher. She did — and got tossed out of her biology class for insubordination," he said. "Second," he said, "I told her never to argue back to her Ma. I have tried it myself and I know it doesn't work."

It was his third "don't" that amused the spectators most and brought a good many emphatic nods of agreement. "Don't argue with traffic cops!", he had advised his daughter. "Even when you are right, you're stuck."

I think it is probably wise not to argue with policemen, especially very young policemen. We are a nation with tremendous respect for the law, and we ought to be. There was a time when the uniform of the Mountie was about the only law in the wild and wicked west. A good deal of that glamour sticks to the young men in Mountie uniforms today.

There is no doubt a few of them abuse this prestige. They grow cocky. They make mistakes. Some of them love to drive their high-powered cars too fast for safety. One admitted recently, before a magistrate, that he had driven his car at 60 miles per hour through a school zone in pursuit of an automobile which, at that time, he was not certain was speeding. It was altogether likely that he was acting more dangerously in his zeal than was the motorist he chased — for the motorist had slowed down to 30 to go by the school.

Nevertheless, a magistrate feels impelled to take the word of a constable over that of a citizen; or, indeed, over that of two citizens, however reputable they may be. Unfortunately, this sometimes leads to situations where people have more respect (or fear) for the police than they have for the courts themselves, and thus plead guilty even when convinced of their own innocence.

So I say, "If you are right, argue with the cops. It won't do you any good, perhaps, but it will do this country good. Unhealthy fear of a uniform, especially by an innocent person, is a bad omen for a nation. We don't want any of it here in Canada where a man should be presumed innocent until he is proven guilty!"

Death — John Pollock, in his 90th year. (Was born in North Settlement, 1846.)

Through a request of the Lake Louisa Fish and Game Club, 15,000 speckled trout fry from Lac Tremblant were deposited in the lake — supplied by the provincial department.

"A vote for Gerard Raymond (Advocate, Main Street) is a vote for Hon. Mackenzie King." (Advt.)

Death — Wm. John Cleland (for the past 10 years caretaker of the Lachute United Church), aged 68 years.

Mr. Albini Lamarche is opening a furniture store at 190 Main Street, in premises formerly occupied by Mr. Fernand Leblanc.

The Rev. C. W. P. Baugh, who ministered several years ago in Morin Heights and has latterly been incumbent at Papineauville, assumed his new charge in the Lakefield Anglican Parish, June 16.

Miss Doris Campbell entertained at Lake Louisa for Miss Grace Gardner, of Montreal, who sails June 21 to spend a year in England.

Misses Audrey Thorburn, Ruth Armstrong and Beryl Underhill, pupils of Miss Pauline Paquette, have successfully passed their piano examinations at McGill Conservatory of Music.

Mr. H. M. Lavigne's summer camp on the North River was the scene of jubilation when Germain Filion, town secretary, was feted in honor of his approaching marriage to Miss Elizabeth Lavigne (June 17).

Lachute Fair reported in One Brief Paragraph — Own Permanent Grounds acquired 71 Years Ago

The year 1889 was the first time the Agricultural Society staged an exhibition on its own permanent grounds.

The Watchman of August 24, 1889, states: "A meeting of the directors of the Agricultural Society was held in the Town Hall, St. Andrews. The place of holding the exhibition was thoroughly talked over, it being decided to locate on the new permanent grounds purchased from Mr. Cruise as soon as the County Council sanctions the location to commence fencing-in the grounds. The Exhibition will be held therefore in Lachute in the early part of October." . . .

The subsequent report of this affair was dismissed in one brief paragraph, as follows: "The exhibition of the above society was comparatively successful. The show of carriage-horses was scarcely up to standard, although in other grades very fine horses were exhibited. The breeds of cattle are becoming more numerous, there being specimens of Guernsey, Jersey and Ayrshire. The competition was very keen in field roots and fruit, and the showing of apples has never been equalled. The Ste. Scholastique band was in attendance and played some lively airs."

The old streets of tall crooked houses are the best place to go for a walk.

The subdivisions with crew-cut lawns and slick low dwellings are all right to drive through. They come in handy for impressing visitors.

"Yes, we have some fine homes," the local man says, with a proud wave toward all the worried-looking householders who are polishing their yards to meet daily inspection.

Then he drives his guests home to a bushy house on a quiet street, where they can relax.

The old back streets are restful. On the back streets you can sometimes find a wooden sidewalk. If you close your eyes for a moment, you can imagine yourself walking back to childhood with a hollow clonk, clonk of leather on the wooden slats.

You can snap off a tuft of long grass and chew it. The grass tastes of summer, and all of a sudden you're 10 years old, fishing under the sidewalk for a nickel.

There's a spindly old general store, with the front end and the back end leaning two different ways, a hole in the porch and a bell that dings when a customer goes in.

There's a faded mansion half-visible through the leaves, at the end of a private lane. Some old man or woman probably lives there, clinging to the past. When he goes, a progressive new owner will call in the wrecking crew to destroy the house and trees.

Other landlords will chop down the leaning store and the tall houses bordering the street. They will clear away the bushes where the boys and girls are playing fort.

Then they will plant the ground to grass and stucco. The newlyweds will move in, with power mowers. The property will bring more revenue for someone. But it won't be such a pleasant place for a walk.

BIRTH

McNEIL — At the Catherine Booth Hospital, Montreal, on June 16, 1960, to Mr. and Mrs. James H. McNeil (née Joan Dwyer), a daughter, Judith Anne. Both well.

IN MEMORIAM

FOX — In loving memory of a dear dad and grandfather, William J. Fox, who passed away July 1, 1959. —Always remembered by daughter, Kay, son-in-law, Ernie, Glen, Patsy and Sandy.

"We watched you suffer, we heard you sigh,
But all we could do was just stand by;
And when the time came we suffered too,
For you never deserved what you went through.
God took your hand and we had to part,
He eased your pain but broke our hearts.
Although we smile and seem carefree,
Nobody misses you more than we."

FOX — In loving memory of William J. Fox, who passed away July 1, 1959. — Sadly missed by his son, John, Greta and family.

"In tears we watched you sinking,
We watched you fade away,
Our hearts were almost broken,
You fought so hard to stay.
But when we saw you sleeping
So peacefully, free from pain,
We could not wish you back
To suffer that again."

MacTAVISH — In loving memory of our dear little daughter, Shirley Joanne, whom God took home on July 2, 1949. Loved and sadly missed — Mummy, Daddy, Ronnie and Julie.

"The midnight stars are shining
Upon your little grave,
Beneath it sleeps the one we love,
The one we could not save."

MacTAVISH — In loving memory of our sweet little granddaughter, Shirley Joanne, whom God called home to rest on July 2, 1949. — Always remembered and sadly missed, by Grandpa and Grandma MacMillan and Carl.

"Like falling leaves the years slip by,
But memories of you, wee Joanne, will never die."

McKINNON — In loving memory of our dear brother, Jack, who passed away June 23, 1958. — Always remembered, Leo and Eileen.

"And while he lies in peaceful sleep,
His memory we shall always keep."

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

Tragedy at Port Colborne

The Late Ross Trineer

On the afternoon of June 19 the Calumet community was shocked by news received of the tragic death of Ross Trineer at Port Colborne.

Ross, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Trineer, was born and educated in Calumet, and was married to the former Janice Murray of Port Colborne in 1957.

The last rites of the Orange Order were observed Tuesday evening at the MacKimmie Funeral Home, Grenville, by members of L.O.L. No. 58, of which Ross was a member. Avoca and Harrington brethren, including Bro. Scott MacLean, County Master, were in attendance.

Besides his parents, his loving wife and daughter Laurie Lynn, he leaves to mourn his loss three brothers, Robert, of Montreal, Hubert, of Calumet, Wendell, of Grenville, and three sisters, Mrs. Robert Gage (Jean), Mrs. S. Conloris (Joyce), and Miss Doreen Trineer, all of Montreal.

The funeral service was conducted in the chapel Wednesday afternoon by the Rev. F. Feltham, assisted by the Rev. Ralph Watson, former pastor of Grenville United Church. Burial was in Calumet Cemetery.

Pall-bearers were — Messrs. Gerald Kelly, Allan Trineer, Oron Trineer, Bill Borlan, Arnold Camp and Dillan Gunther.

Many beautiful floral tributes testified to the high esteem in which the deceased was held.

Those attending from a distance included relatives and friends from Port Colborne, Ont., Port Robinson, Ont., Toronto, Montreal and from the surrounding districts.

Couple feted on silver wedding

Lachute Legion Hall was the scene of a pleasant surprise party on Friday, June 24, when relatives and friends of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. A. Graham gathered to celebrate their 25th wedding anniversary.

A pleasant feature was the attendance of the Rev. W. B. Rosborough, who had performed the marriage ceremony 25 years ago.

The master of ceremonies was Mr. Thos. Dwyer. After some appropriate remarks, Mr. Robert Banks, of Montreal, presented Mr. and Mrs. Graham with a purse of money. Singing and dancing were the order of the evening, and later, refreshments were served.

Out-of-town guests were — Mr. and Mrs. Howard Spencer, of Knowlton, Que., Mr. and Mrs. Garnet Rogers, of Sweetsburg, Que., Mrs. Arthur MacLeod, of Island Brook, Que., and others, from Montreal.

Vacation Bible School opens next Monday at St. Simeon's Church

The annual Vacation Bible School for children, from four to 14 years of age, will be held in St. Simeon's Church hall from Monday, July 4, to July 15. The school will be held from 9.30 to 11.30 a.m., Monday through Friday. An interesting and instructive program is arranged for the children. . . . An open invitation is extended to all.

APPRECIATION

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Graham wish to thank neighbors, relatives and friends for the many kindnesses extended them, and for flowers, fruit and cards sent during the former's sickness and stay in hospital.

Mrs. G. McGibbon Q.W.I. vice-pres.

Nearly all branches of the Women's Institute in this county had representatives attending the Q.W.I. annual convention at Macdonald College last week.

It is gratifying to the Argenteuil branches of this organization that Mrs. Geo. McGibbon was appointed 2nd vice-president of the provincial group. This is the first time that an Argenteuil member has been elected to the Q.W.I. vice-presidency.

Former resident has 90th birthday

Mr. John Innes of Ottawa, formerly of Stonefield and Cushing, will celebrate his 90th birthday on Thursday, June 30. He now resides with his eldest daughter, Mrs. C. L. Meservey, is in excellent health, and still takes an interest in church, political and sporting events.

Mr. John Innes, Ottawa

Born at Stonefield in 1870, he grew up there and was a successful farmer for many years. After selling the farm he worked for the government and was lockmaster on the canal for 15 years.

For most of his life he took an active interest in all community affairs. He served on the board of managers of St. Mungo's Church, Cushing, was an elder of the church, and also treasurer until he moved away in 1950.

For seven years he represented the front area of Chatham as a director of the Argenteuil Agricultural Society.

In addition he took an active interest in education in his younger years, and was a member of the Chatham School Board.

His wife, the former Isabella MacAllister of Chute à Blondeau, died in 1951. He has two sons and two daughters, seven grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Bell Falls

Visitors at Warren's Cottage last Sunday were Mr. Jack Smith and children, of St. Eustache, accompanied by two friends, also Mr. and Mrs. Percy Welburn and two sons, of Brownsburg.

Sincere Appreciation

I wish to express my heartfelt appreciation and thanks to the voters in Argenteuil County for returning me for the fourth consecutive term to the Quebec Legislative Assembly.

In any election campaign, there is always the grave feeling of responsibility for one's acts. And in the present election, the voters of Argenteuil have shown that they believe that I have always carried, as my motto, the responsibility of obtaining the best possible means to guarantee continued progress and prosperity from the Government of the Province of Quebec.

May I express my own personal gratitude for the victory, and state that I firmly believe that, over and above any personal feelings, it is a victory of all the citizens of Argenteuil.

In conclusion, may I once again thank my friends and neighbors in Argenteuil, and say that I stand with my campaign declarations of no promises but will return to Quebec with one prime goal: that of ensuring continued progress and prosperity in the County of Argenteuil.

— W. M. Cottingham
U.N. Representative for Argenteuil.

— Jehovah's Witnesses —

Awake!

"Now it is high time to awake." — Romans 13:11

"Behold, a king shall reign in righteousness, and princes shall rule in justice." (Isa. 32:1. AS). These heartening words point to the administration of a righteous government, now at hand. Without here questioning the motives of many who have held public office in an effort to benefit their fellow men, all will acknowledge that such have been in the minority and their efforts have brought no permanent blessings. How thrilling, then, to point to God's kingdom and its servants, the "princes", whose rule is for the honor of God and the blessing of all its subjects! The just rule of these "princes", under the King of righteousness, Christ Jesus, is now being announced.

"AT THE NAME OF JESUS EVERY KNEE SHALL BOW". — Read Philippians, 2nd Chapter, verses 5 to 11.

Is it not now high time to Awake and get acquainted with God's wonderful promises which He gives us in His word, the Bible — and learn the true meaning of the things we see coming on the earth. — Send in your subscription to this wonderful magazine called "Awake". The price is only $1 per year; twice monthly.

Also The Watchtower is the companion of The Awake Magazine; printing last month was 3,800,000 and in 56 languages. It comes twice a month, and costs only one dollar per year.

Call at the nearest congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses or write "Watch Tower", 150 Bridgeland Ave., Toronto 19.

Who Says Reducing Is Difficult?

CALGARY, ALBERTA. "I want to tell you how pleased I am with the Naran Plan, I have never found it easier to take off those unwanted pounds, I feel so much better, have more energy and for the first time in years I don't have that heavy bloated feeling after eating. The Naran Plan is truly grand for anyone who has tried as I have to lose weight and given up because of starvation diets or tiring exercise." D. A. Hergert, 22nd Ave., Calgary, Alta.

Why suffer the discomforts and social handicaps of overweight when it is so easy to reduce with the Naran Plan. Try this simple method and enjoy the flattering looks you will receive from your friends as pounds and years seem to melt away from your appearance.

Get the Naran Plan from your druggist today, it is simple and sold on a money back guarantee.

Camp Adventure

— By NANCY CLEAVER —

Camp is a real adventure and "the thoughts of youth are long, long thoughts." What finer expression of the idealism which stirs within campers at a good camp on "High Occasions" can be found than in this "Code for Campers?"

"We Aim . . . . .
To live out the things we believe,
To have a sincere care for all people,
To be disciplined in all we do,
To see the job that needs to be done, and carry it through,
To be constructive in our thinking and speaking,
To learn to work in a group,
To be willing to recognize and to correct our faults,
To study and work for sound homes, united communities and a peaceful world."

(Written by the "Crees" or Senior girls at Camp Tanamaboon, Algonquin Park.)

To camp — or not to camp — that is the question in countless homes where boys and girls are eager to go to camp. "It's such fun!" they chorus.

A summer camp adventure for a boy or girl has become an accepted holiday pattern in thousands of Canadian families. But with the higher cost of living, many parents are wavering about camp this summer.

The younger generation show no signs of doubting the value of camp! They just know they will learn to swim and dive a lot better. "Jim can handle a canoe just like an Indian since he went to camp — and did he ever pick up some smart fishing tips!" Helen, who is an only child, says a bit wistfully, "Betty just raves about camp being such a friendly place. The girls had a marvelous time in their cabin group."

A good camp benefits the whole child — body, mind and spirit. It is not just a place for recreation, or even just for education, but for the growth of a boy's or girl's total character and physique.

A child's or youth's enthusiasm for a particular camp where he has summered is likely to be as ardent as his loyalty for his own school. There is a great satisfaction in meeting old friends again and returning to familiar haunts. It is quite possible that the camp your child loves, even if it costs quite a bit, is worth every cent at the present stage in his development.

But if increased camp fees make this particular camp really beyond the amount of money the family can devote to it, why not consider another camp where the rates are not quite so high? This would seem a better solution than cutting out camp completely. There are good camps in the different price ranges in most areas.

What is your idea of a "good camp?" Every parent will have a different answer — but they all want to be very sure their child will be well cared for and happy. My husband and I want to be very sure that the camp our boy or girl goes to is a safe place, that adequate provision is made for nourishing food and sufficient rest, that the camp director and staff have some of the same ideals for the campers that we have for our children.

We would like to feel confident that our child will be happy at camp, swimming and diving and boating, and trying out fresh hobbies and making new friends. Discreet inquiries made to parents of last year's campers satisfy or disillusion a father or mother about the true quality of a camp!

Camp has all kinds of values for different campers, meeting their own special need and helping them grow. As a counsellor four years and as a director for six, we saw very clearly that although the contribution camp life made to some youngsters was much more vital than to others, with very, very few exceptions they all seemed to receive benefit from it. A camper can echo Ulysses' words in Tennyson's poem,

"All experience is an arch where through
Gleams the untravelled world whose margin fades
Forever and forever as I move."

Watch It!

Watch TV, but watch that antenna too!

When an improperly placed TV antenna falls across an electric power line it can have serious, costly and sometimes fatal results. Your TV set can be ruined; your home can catch fire; you or your family can be severely burned or injured.

BE SAFE

- Be sure your antenna is so installed that it cannot fall across electric power lines.
- Be sure that the guy wires and fastenings are adequate, of rust resisting metal, and do not run over or near power lines.
- Be sure that lead-in wires are clear of power lines and cannot come loose and be blown against them.
- Have an expert inspect the condition of mountings and supports every two or three years.

These precautions will safeguard lives and property.
