Brownies, Guides hold ceremonies

An evening for Brownies, Guides and their parents, was held in St. Simeon's Church Hall on Tuesday of last week. The ceremony was held to "Fly-up" and "Walk-up" Brownies to the 1st Lachute Guide Company. The guides played hostess to the 1st and 2nd Lachute Packs and it was most encouraging to the Guiders in charge to see a large representation of parents and friends at this impressive event. Brown Owl Macdougall welcomed the visitors. Presentations were made to Guider McNair, by the Guides and Brownies, on behalf of the Local Association, on her leaving Lachute to reside in Montreal, also to C. McGibbon and C. Cruise leaving Lachute and the 2nd Brownie Pack. Mrs. V. Matthews will be a new "Brown Owl" for this pack.

A food Sales to aid in the activities for the Brownies and Guides was held in the Cinema Lachute yesterday.

The next local Association meeting will be held at St. Simeon's Church hall, November 6, 1961 at 7:45. Mothers are kindly asked to make an effort to attend this meeting. Please support your Guide and Brownie movement.

West R. bridge work underway

Work commenced recently on the preliminary construction of the West River Bridge, on the prolongation of Hamford Street, Ayersville. The work is being completed by Les Enterprises Mont-Royal Enr., St. Vincent-de-Paul.

The bridge will be 160 feet long and 30 feet wide with a 4½-foot sidewalk on each side. Changes in the plan are under study so as to permit future installation of water mains.

Hawkesbury area reports changes now underway

Hawkesbury (special) — This Ottawa River community is a hive of construction activity these days. To the casual visitor, it might seem that the town is bursting at the seams.

Sections of Main Street have been dug up for installation of new sewers, houses have been cleared from some areas, a residential building spree is going on in town, and along the banks of the river between Hawkesbury and the Carillon power dam 12 miles downstream, men are clearing trees and brush.

The work is in preparation for the new Ottawa River levels which will be created by Hydro-Quebec's Carillon power development next spring.

"With all the trenches and other excavations around the streets, we could say that Hawkesbury has the biggest holes in Eastern On-

Clearing shoreline trees above Carillon to Hull

Jean Claude Lessard, president of Hydro-Québec, says land to be flooded by the Carillon Dam on the Ottawa River will be cleared to prevent formation of a giant swamp.

In a letter to Calumet Mayor, F. H. Knights and spokesmen for 12 other Quebec communities, Mr. Lessard said timber on the land, between Grenville and Hull, will be cut away "up to the limits of Crown property."

Surveying was to start soon and clearing would follow.

Mayor Knights had warned that "a dismal swamp extending the 60 miles from Grenville to Hull would result from flooding caused by the dam" if the timber was not cut.

"The derelict and dead forest would remain for 30 years, gradually rotting into the river where the wood would decay," he said. "An oxygen deficiency would result in the water, adding to the problem of water pollution."

The decision to clear the trees came after considerable study by Hydro-Quebec officials. The wood will be salvaged, but it is not yet known in what manner it will be disposed of.

Rene Gauthier, project manager of the dam, reported that "700 acres had been contracted to be cleared and is almost cut in the area from the dam site to Grenville."

The 13 communities involved wrote Mr. Lessard, president of the provincially-owned utility, requesting that similar action be taken west of that location.

The communities, in addition to Calumet, are: Grenville, Fassett, Montebello, Papineauville, Buckingham, Notre Dame du Bon Secours, Ste. Angelique, Lochaber West and Locaber and Gore.

The Seigniory Club at Montebello is also represented.

The Calumet mayor said work on clearing the timber would have to start immediately.

Area Golf Club plays host to Folklore dancers

Sunday last was a happy day for members of the Montreal Branch of the Royal Scottish Country Dance Society, who held a "Get-together" at the St. Andrews East Golf Club.

At present there are five Group Dance Clubs meeting weekly in Montreal, primarily interested in the great variety of Folklore dancing which is characteristic of many countries, and a large part of which originated in Scotland. Their main object is, however, to preserve the old Scottish dances in their original form.

Also present at the meeting was Mr. Pierre Mercier, who is interested in French Canadian Dancing. He works under the Intermediate School for the Folklore Federation of Quebec. This group has been twice round Gaspé and during their camping tours, make visits to various districts to study Folklore. They are known as "Les Folkloristes Laurentiens", and they have frequently appeared on television.

Master of ceremonies on Sunday was Mr. Bob Gall, chairman of the Montreal Branch, who welcomed all present and expressed his appreciation of the large attendance.

Honorary president of the Society is Lady Allison Stewart-Patterson, who attended with her husband, Mr. Cleve S. Patterson. They reside at Rosemere. Also present from Ottawa, were Miss Margaret Whally and Mr. Greg Hughes.

The Harrington and Kilmar Pipe Band, well known in this vicinity were on hand and during the afternoon rendered numerous fine selections. This, with varied dance formations, was much appreciated.

Following dinner, the evenings entertainment took the form of a Ceilidh, which was organized by Mrs. Margaret Bowie, chief instructor of the Montreal Branch, and comprised a variety of songs, dances and social fun.

A golf trophy was presented by the Society to Mr. Antonio Paré for annual competition and the Folklore Dancers are hoping to return again next year.

Stage set for light horse show this Saturday

Considerable interest is apparent in the fall horse show this coming Saturday at the Exhibition Grounds. This is an event aimed to captivate the enthusiasm of young riders and horse fanciers, and the program, starting at 10 a.m., consists largely of children's classes.

The show is sponsored by a new organization, the Lachute Fall Horse Show Association, with Donald M. Hay as the inaugural president. It has new angles inasmuch as the contestants vie solely for the thrills and honors of the occasion; there are no cash prizes, only ribbons for the winning entrants. The admission charge of 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for children is to defray costs and to form a small financial nucleus for the future of this venture, which, as interest spreads further, is visualized as a bell-ringer in the coming years.

Public attendance and support this Saturday will be appreciated by the organizing committee. Secretary is Alwyn B. Stewart, of Brownsburg (LE 3-6344), from whom all information may be obtained.

Historian addresses gathering

New officers elected at 27th annual meeting of Argenteuil Historical Society on Saturday

The twenty-seventh Annual Meeting of the Historical Society of Argenteuil County took place at the Museum at Carillon on Saturday, September 30, with the President Mr. A. F. Hanley, in the chair. An attendance of approximately 75 members and guests reflected the growing interest in the work of the Society and its Research Committee during the past year.

The report of the Curator, Mr. Lund, showed that 3,435 persons had visited the Museum since the last annual meeting. Accessions during the year were featured by the presentation to the Museum of a Washington printing press dated 1750, by the Giles Publishing House Ltd. In 1877 the Lachute Advocate, later the Lachute Watchman was printed on this press by hand. This old press has attracted a great deal of attention in the museum during the past season, Mr. Lund reported.

Mrs. Stanford Reid, President of the Historical Society of Montreal, and also a member of the Argenteuil Society, outlined the aims and objectives of the newly formed Historical Council of the Montreal Region, and asked that representatives from the Argenteuil Society should participate in the forthcoming organization meeting of the Council. Miss Alice Lighthall, of Montreal, President of the Canadian Handicraft's Guild and also a member of the Society, pointed out that the Council enjoyed the support of the Province of Quebec Museums Association and also the new organization, Canadian Heritage (Quebec) Limited, and felt the Argenteuil Society would be well advised to join in this Council. Mr. Hanly and Dr. G. R. Rigby, Chairman of the Society's Research Committee, were nominated to represent the Society at the meeting of the Historical Council.

The report of the Recording and Corresponding Secretaries, Mrs. H. Watson and Miss H. Lambart, mentioned that some 50 new members, including several new life members, had joined the Society as a result of the activities of the Research Committee during the past year. Of particular interest was the tour of historic sites in the area to be flooded, and the garden party for Sir John Paley Johnson and Lady Johnson.

The guest speaker was Mr. D. A. Gillies, of Arnprior, Chairman of the Board of Gillies Lumber Co. Ltd., who spoke on the subject, "The Square Timber Industry on the Ottawa", and illustrated his address with lantern slides. Mr. Gillies took his audience back 200 years to the days of the French Regime and then gave some extracts from a diary kept by Mrs. Simpson, wife of the Hudson's Bay factor, on her wedding trip up the Ottawa by canoe in the spring of 1830. Turning to the book written about the Gillies Lumber Company by Charlotte Whitton, now Mayor of Ottawa,

Mr. Gillies pointed out that in the early days the only way to bring the white pine of the Ottawa to market, was to square it after felling in the bush and float it down to the Ottawa from the limits on the various tributary systems, where it was formed into cribs 25½ feet wide, which were then joined into rafts, being tied together by thongs of birch sapling. The average raft was 100,000 cubic feet of timber. In order to get the rafts over the biggest rapids, timber slides around the rapids were built, at the Chaudière at Ottawa in 1829 and at Des Joachims in 1843. These were 26 feet wide and the rafts were dismantled so that the individual cribs could be passed down these slides and then reassembled below the rapids.

Mr. Gillies paid particular tri-

Congratulations and best wishes are extended to Mr. J. S. Giles, who today, October 4, celebrates his 92nd birthday. In good health, Mr. Giles keeps himself active and enjoys assisting his staff on publication days.

Blood donor objective reached in highly successful clinic

Lachute's Red Cross Blood Donor Clinic chalked up a record on Monday and Tuesday, September 25 and 26, with 551 donors in attendance as compared to the 1956 clinic of 544.

Chairman Roger Regimbal thanked his co-chairman Mr. Ken Riley and expressed appreciation on behalf of the Red Cross Free Blood Transfusion Service, to all who gave so generously of the life giving fluid — and to those who came forward to give and were turned away for health reasons.

Mr. Regimbal also thanked the volunteers — too numerous to mention by name, who assisted so wholeheartedly in making the clinic such a success — the clergy, the civic authorities, press, radio, local industries, service clubs, women's organizations, the doctors, volunteer nurses and all who helped staff the clinic for two days. Special appreciation was voiced for the many who worked behind the scenes, telephoning every home in Lachute and organizing during the weeks beforehand.

"We are gratified with the results of the Clinic," he said. "We know the Red Cross Free Blood Transfusion Service is urgently in need of blood and its by-products to supply 125 Western Quebec hospitals (ten more than last year). Personally, however, we feel that the best results have not yet been achieved. Lachute and the surrounding area con do better."

As there was no Blood Donor Clinic held this year at St. Andrews, seventy-six donors came to the Lachute Clinic. The organization was under the direction of Mrs. F. Hungerbuhler. Miss Guilbeault, of St. Hermas, was also responsible for good representation from that area.

It was encouraging to note the increase of new donors who came in this year and the hope was expressed that they would return next year and bring their friends.

The doctors in attendance at the Auditorium were kept busy taking blood pressures and pulse, and answering questions. Every donor was given a haemoglobin test to determine if he or she was in good physical condition — some were turned away due to low haemoglobin, colds or having had malaria.

It was stressed again that it is very important in case of accident for all donors to carry their Red Cross identity cards showing blood group and number of donations given.

Miss M. Raymond, Red Cross nurse in charge of the clinic, said Lachute should be proud of its effort both for the fine response and efficient organization. "It is always a pleasure to come here," she said, "everything runs so smoothly."

Thanks were also expressed for the thirteen tables loaned by the Lachute Curling Club, the large record player from the Lachute Golf Club, Cokes and 7-Up donated by MacKimmie & Sons and Chevrier Ltée, and the free taxi service for donors generously provided by Larocque Taxi.

Charities launch annual campaign this Saturday

The "big push" of the Charities Federation for Greater Lachute, with a target of $15,500 on behalf of eight affiliated organizations, gets underway this Saturday.

A street parade and a brief rally outside the City Hall will be climaxed with the unveiling of the big thermometer, which will be displayed to indicate the progress of the Campaign. The parade will start near the Ayers Limited gates at 2 p.m., rain or shine.

The door-to-door appeal will be carried out Monday evening, while the canvass among industries, stores and business sections will continue until October 15.

The $15,000 objective represents an increase of $100 over last year's quota. The needs of the various member-funds have been budgeted as follows:

Social Service — $5,000
C.N.I.B. — $3,200
Ouvrior Ste. Elisabeth — $1,500
Ouvroir St. Julien — $300
Ouvroir Marguerite Bourgeoys — $2,000
Loisirs Ste. Anastasie — $1,500
Loisirs St. Julien — $1,000
Loisirs Immac. Conception — $1,000

(For English-language residents unfamiliar with the operations of these groups, "l'Ouvroir" functions in the three local parishes as a clothing re-make and distribution centre for needy families. "Les Loisirs" provide playground and recreation facilities for the school-age children the year around.)

The figures budgeted are a strict minimum of estimated needs for the ensuing year, and the canvass for these eight affiliated groups is embodied in one single appeal by the Federation campaign. Wilbred Cousineau is president of the Federation this year, and Roland Labonté campaign chairman.

Large rally of district's labor force attended recent grievance meeting

Local workers attend labor meeting

A number of Lachute and Ayersville citizens, mainly workers from the companies of Dominion Ayers, Ayers Limited, Lachute Lumber and Millwork Ltd., A. D. McGibbon & Sons Ltd., Brownsburg Lumber Ltd., J. C. Wilson Co. Ltd., Canadian Industries Ltd., and employees of Hydro-Quebec, Carillon, attended a meeting in the Lachute Auditorium on Thursday evening last. The purpose of the gathering was to discuss the present strike at the Dominion Ayers Co. Ltd. (Wood Products Division), and to request moral and financial help of all those in sympathy.

Ayersville Mayor, Gaëtan Paquette addressed the assembly, expressing sympathy with the strikers and congratulating them on the peaceful way in which the strike was being conducted. He stated he had requested the intervention of the Provincial Minister of Labor.

Others on the platform who addressed the gathering were Mr. Edward Larose, representative of the Quebec Union and also Vice-president executive of the Labor Federation of Quebec; Mr. Alfred Robindaine, of the Canadian Congress of Labor; Mr. François Gagné, of the Textile Union of Hull-Gatineau Works Council; Mr. Camille Lamoureux, of the Catholic Workman's League, offering support in the name of the League; Mr. Jacques Ouimet of the Young Catholic Workers' Ass'n (J.O.C.), accompanied by Mr. Gaëtan Myre, in charge of propaganda for the J.O.C., Lachute. This organization also pledged its support.

Lucien Giroux, of Brownsburg, secretary of Local 3263 of the United Brotherhood of Carpenter and Joiners of America and Provincial Organizer of the same organization, gave the history of the union and its negotiations at the local plant.

Swiss native is guest speaker at Rotary meeting

The September 28 meeting of the Brownsburg-Lachute Rotary Club was given an International flavor by the guest speaker, Hans Zehnder, who came to Canada some 15 months ago from Switzerland and is now employed as a chemist at the Canadian Industries Lab in Brownsburg. Mr. Zehnder also holds a Commercial pilot's licence and on week-ends one will usually find him flying between Montreal and Plattsburg.

Before showing the club the pictures he took on his trip home in July, Hans told the members a little about his country. He said that the size of Switzerland was approximately 150 miles square, that it is surrounded on the north and south by mountains and the centre is like a plain, compared to the rest of the country. He also stated that water power is its only resource giving this as the reason the power for trains (the most common way of travel), streetcars, and most of the heating in homes is done by electricity.

He then showed the pictures that he had taken, starting with aerial shots from the jet as he left Montreal, as he was approaching Ireland, and as they were landing in Zurich. From there the scenes were mostly taken from the train up the mountains to some of the famous resorts. As the pictures were in color, the members got a first-hand view of the beauty of the country.

A column for the sportsman

— By BOB ATCHISON —

I just received the results of the fishing derby that was held a couple of weeks ago. This is supposed to be a trout area, but from the results, it isn't anything. The winning Trout was a mere 10 inches, the second was a terrific 8 inches and the winning bag was four Barbots. This sure is a far cry from some of the fishing that has been produced in the past. True, these former times were before the abundance of fishermen, but there it is. I haven't much use for fishing derbies for Trout and such. If they were run for the most and largest coarse fish, then they would be worthwhile. Before too long, Trout will be a non-existant fish in this country or rather in this province. Even some of the park lakes where fish are supposed to be, are just producing them. One of the big troubles has been the total disregard of all form of game laws and the poor way that infractions were dealt with. As I've said many times before, Trout are not the only fish, and others do give as much sport or more.

If anyone has been wondering who the gent was that was all doubled up as though in great pain, it was Nat Boyd. He just got through fighting a 653 pound Tuna in Newfoundland. Joking aside though, I'll bet he felt like that, the day after he caught it. Some fish, and one that he is very proud of, I'm sure. It took over an hour to boat it and this was done on a 9-thread line with about half a mile of it on the reel. Even the outfits are heavy without any fighting fish on the end. It certainly is a wonderful catch to look back on, and dream of the bigger one you may get next year. I'm only surmising next year, but once this bug has bitten you then it's sure next year. Congratulations on a record fish.

It doesn't take long for the OFFBEAT shooter to get busy. But to make everything better, the R.C.M.P. didn't take long to crack down. There have been no reports on anyone getting shot around the district; in the papers that is. I was told of one case that happened last Sunday, an unpleasant experience for the victim. It seems he was sitting in his blind when some other hunters started taking shots at supposed ducks. It didn't matter that the shot was passing over and through other blinds. Anyway this one gent has some stary pellets for souvenirs. No more blinds for him, I'll bet. Only in the odd case do things like this happen, but it only takes one like this to do damage. I really don't know just what some hunters are thinking of when they start blasting away at anything in sight.

The last of the trout season is gone, so now maybe some of the fishermen will start getting after some other kinds of fish. Perch are good just now and the Northerns will start to hit just as soon as the water turns a little colder. I had the opportunity of fishing a private lake the other night and this was a real treat. The fishing only lasted about one and a half hours but it sure was special during this time. Seven trout of good size were taken, and a dozen smaller ones. They were all returned to the water as most of them were full of eggs. After all, maybe in the years to come I will have the chance to fish this lake again, and land one of the off-spring. I have hopes haven't I. Rather strange though, that these fish all went after the Orange Crane fly.

Watched a couple of youngster's window shopping the other day. Naturally at this time of the year, they were shopping for guns. I wonder if any of you have ever watched anything like this. I don't imagine these kids owned guns, or for that matter knew too much about them. Thinking it over though, this is the type that should be trained and given every opportunity of handling firearms. I know you have heard all this before, and will no doubt hear it again, but where is our rifle and gun club to teach them.

Some of the boatmen have taken their boats out of the water for the season. A little bit of advise, if there are any repairs to do, get thm done now, as when the season rolls around next year, you will be rushed as usual. I'm not saying to paint it, that wouldn't be any good, but if fittings are loose, tighten them up; seats loose, fix them too. Now for the blocking-up for the winter. Naturally it is best to have the boat under cover, but if you can't, then make sure it is well covered with a good tarp. The blocking-up should be good enough so that your boat will not warp or go out of shape. Even the fibre glass boats do go out of shape, so don't take chances with it.

Your cradle should be built like a saw horse, but not as high; 24 inches should be enough, but make it strong enough for extra weight of snow. Take all your ropes off and store them in a dry place, and if possible, clean them. One more BIG thing, do not leave anything in or under the boat that may contain acid. I know this is a remote possibility, but I heard of a gent who left a couple of flashlight batteries in his boat during the winter and found some mess come spring.

Heard the Fishing Association is starting to split up due to too many heads. I sure hope this does not happen. It is possible that difficulties can be ironed out before anything really develops. Rather funny, but in all the time this Association has been in operation I have never received any information on any of their doings. I don't blame them for this but maybe someone else would like to get a line on thm.

* * *

The Provincial Government sure thought of the average fisherman when they gave him a break and extended the Trout season by the one day. Even though one day is not much, it sure was a god-send. You know the last week-end gives everyone a chance to get away for the last fling at the Trout. A nice gesture.

Reports on the ducks from Ducks Unlimited indicate they sure seem worried. It seems all kinds of things are hurting ducks. What with the crude oils, polluted water and so on. It's bad enough fighting Nature without having to fight this too. Animals are being seen and found in area's that they never frequented before and naturally this animal is breaking nests, eating the young, and so on. The Racoon is the big culprit just now, but even the Foxes are getting into the act. It is pointed out that Racoons and Foxes have never been seen so far North before, in fact, right where the ducks are nested during the Spring. Of course, even when the birds do grow up, these animals are still a menace, especially during the Southward flights. All kinds of different animals and birds are being seen in the remote North, ones that have never been seen before. This is supposed to be due to the change in the climate and this could be so. I doubt if anyone around this area will agree with this though, especially on one of those nice blustry winter days.

The deer season is once again in progress for Bow Hunters. Only a couple of weeks before the Cannon-men get into action, then watch out. I haven't heard anything at all on the deer population in other area's but from the sighting's and such around parts of the Argenteuil County, it won't be too good. Talking to various gents who are pretty much in agreement on the number of deer, they have been depleted to the point of almost extinction. One gent told me that a spring on his property was used as a watering hole in groups of up to six, but so far this year he has not seen over two. Another said he had apple trees growing in one of his fields. In the past they came down to get the apples and could be seen almost every morning eating them. However it is now deserted and he hasn't seen any at all in the past month. Deer may have moved out of our district due to the heavy increase in the population during the summer or it may be they just are not as common as formerly. Certainly they have to be killed to keep a balance as we all know. Good conditions will increase them heavily and before too long, we would be over-run with them. I'm afraid that is a situation we will never see any more though. Some thought should be given to areas that are almost cleaned-out and a closed season should be put on it, while other districts can be extended a week or so. Let's hope some thought is given to the normal kill in a given district and the government acts accordingly. As it is, the season is just stipulated, with no thought to population or anything else. Or so it seems to me. It stands to reason that with the heavy increase in shooters, some parts of the province will be shot out in no time, and action should be taken on these before it is too late. You know, it's easier to get animals to stay, than it is to get them to come back. We can see that in the County of Argenteuil with our moose.

Tips on Touring

By Carol Lane
Women's Travel Authority

Safe driving — like virtue — it its own reward. And there's a bonus, too: good gasoline mileage. These tips save you money — and help avoid trouble.

Speeding wastes gasoline. When driving fast, you use more gasoline than you do at lower speeds because of the increased wind resistance and greater engine and tire friction.

A good driver keeps to a constant speed, and top mileage for most cars comes at a constant speed of 35 to 40 miles an hour. A car that gives 20 miles per gallon at 40 may give only 14 at 70 miles an hour.

Zooming away from stop lights is dangerous and fuel-wasting. So is speeding up to a stop light, then jamming on the brakes. A safe driver anticipates the stop and lets the car's momentum carry him to it. He burned gasoline building up the momentum — why not take advantage of it?

Here are some other tips on gasoline economy: Shift into high gear at the lowest speed you can — but don't strain the engine. If you've stopped for any length of time, stop the engine. Don't race the engine on cold mornings. Use electrical accessories only when you need them. All work done by your car, including generating electricity, takes gasoline.

Safety and economy depend on the same three words — take it easy.

CNIB annual financial appeal for funds linked with Federated Charities drive

The Canadian National Institute for the Blind is one of the agencies that will benefit from the Lachute Federation of Charities financial campaign being held October 7 to 16 inclusive.

Mr. A. C. Zaplaski, Argenteuil Field Secretary to the C.N.I.B., told of a nurse who lost her sight in an auto accident. After the shattering of glass and the crunch of metal, she entered a hospital, her head swathed in bandages. When the bandages came off, her sight was gone and so was her nursing career. Simple acts like eating and getting dressed suddenly became a problem. She could not take part in her bridge club nor follow the tennis matches she used to enjoy so much. Her family and friends saw the young woman as a tragic figure who had lost the good things of life. They were helpless in the face of a handicap they did not understand.

"When the C.N.I.B. met the former nurse, professional workers changed the entire situation", Mr. Zaplaski explained. A teacher, blind herself, began a training program designed to restore independence. The pupil learned to use the White Cane and walk with confidence. She learned to read again through Braille and the recorded books of the C.N.I.B. library. She returned to her bridge club through touch-type playing cards and replaced tennis through the blind bowlers league.

"Then she discovered that because of C.N.I.B. service, her career was not ended," Mr. Zaplaski said. She joined the staff of a mental hospital as a teacher of crafts and director of occupational therapy. "The new therapist is a contented woman today", Mr. Zaplaski said. "Her family has learned to accept the handicap and to admire her accomplishments. Her success is a tribute to the C.N.I.B. whose training put the world at her fingertips. When you support the current appeal, you provide the training program and so share in the readjustment of blind persons right here in this community. Please be generous to the Federation Volunteer workers.

Arundel

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Backman, of Halifax, N.S., visited for several days with the latter's sister, Mrs. Percy Staniforth.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Smith and J. Fergus spent the week-end in Arundel.

A successful rummage sale was held in the United Church Hall Friday afternoon, and a substantial sum was realized which will be used in church work. The committee in charge, wish to thank all the workers who gave of their time and effort to make this a success.

The christening of the two sons of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Champagne took place in Grace Church, last Saturday evening, the Rev. Bussell officiating. Mrs. William Morrison and Jerry Champagne stood as godparents for one of the boys who was given the names Neil Porter Eric, and Mr. and Mrs. John Brown stood as godparents for the second son, who was given the names Murray Bert George. Mr. and Mrs. G. Champagne and Mr. and Mrs. E. Hamilton, paternal grandparents were present at the ceremony.

Arundel gardeners take top honors in flower contest

The Mont Tremblant Horticultural Society held its annual meeting on September 28 at the St. Jovite Hotel. After a delicious dinner, the prizes were presented.

It is noted that the Arundel gardens are all listed under private homes, without paid gardeners.

In the Spring Bulb Contest for the entire District — (St. Faustin, Lac Superior, St. Jovite, Labelle, Mont Tremblant and Arundel).

1. — Mrs. C. Sosnkowski; 4. — Mrs. Percy Staniforth.

Summer Gardens in Arundel —

1. — Mrs. Percy Staniforth; 2. — Mrs. A. Dobby; 3. — Mrs. R. Sobie. Honorable Mention — Mrs. C. Sosnkowski.

Prizes for the Most Improvement in 1961. (Arundel District).

1. — Mrs. E. A. Bulley; 2. — Mr. Howard Davis. Honorable Mention — Mr. Dennis Staniforth.

In addition to these prizes, Mrs. Percy Staniforth ranked 2nd in the entire district for the maintenance and upkeep of grounds as well as 4th prize for the lawn (1,000 to 4,00 feet).

Duplicate Bridge officers elected

At the Duplicate Bridge Club party, held at the Lachute Golf Club September 19, Master of Ceremonies, Mr. Roger Regimbal; read the names of the executive of the Bridge Club for the coming year.

They are as follows:

Mrs. G. E. Ayers, president; Mr. M. Hicks, Vice-President; Mr. J. Molloy, Secretary; Mrs. T. Ponech, Treasurer and Mr. J. Thorpe, Membership.

There is a long list of proposed members who are anxious to play this most interesting game, but more people will be welcome. Any member of the executive can be contacted for information.

The name, Argenteuil Duplicate Bridge Club, as it implies, is for players from Lachute and surrounding district, and there are members registered from Montreal.

All proceeds from the Club are to go to the Retarded Children's Association, and the first meeting has been set for Monday, October 16, at 8 p.m., in the Lachute Legion Hall.

bute to Philomen Wright, of Hull, who had floated the first raft of white pine down the Ottawa to Quebec City in 1807, via the Back River. "It is simple to do what somebody else has done, but my hat's off to him, because he was the first to do this". The Gillies Company had taken the last raft down the Ottawa from Fort Colounge in 1904.

The raftsmen were a vigorous lot who described themselves as "The bone and sinew of Canada" when they presented an address on birchbark to the Prince of Wales, afterwards King Edward VII, at the foot of the Chats Rapids in 1860. Mr. Gillies told how some hundreds of these capable raftsmen were drafted from the lumber trade of the Ottawa River to serve in the Nile River in Egypt, during the Egyptian campaign, under General "Chinese" Gordon. Mr. Gillies thought these were the first Canadians to serve abroad in military operations.

Mr. Gillies said that as an amateur historian, he thought it was well to remember "that the present is built upon the past and the future is built upon the present and the past". He thought that here in Argenteuil County, we had a great historical inheritance which offered many possibilities for study and research, which we would be well advised to pursue. He mentioned the first paper mill in Canada at St. Andrews in 1803, and this area was "holy ground for the fur trade". A great many of the fur traders of the North West Company had retired to these parts and it should be possible for us to locate some valuable records of this era in the trunks and attics of our old homes, also records of our pioneer settlers. He thought we could do some valuable research work with material of this kind.

Mr. A. G. Talbot moved the vote of thanks to Mr. Gillies, whose address had been so much enjoyed by all present.

Officers and Directors of the Society for the coming year are as follows: Honorary President, Mrs. Norman Holland; President, Mr. A. F. Hanly; 1st Vice-President, Mr. A. G. Talbot; 2nd Vice-President, Mrs. A. Graham; Recording Secretary, Mrs. F. Hungerbuhler; Corresponding Secretary, Mr. Melville Smith; Liason Secretary (Women's Institutes), Mrs. S. Doig; Liason Secretary (County Council), Mr. Paul Sauvé; Research Secretaries, Mrs. Howard Watson and Miss H. Lambart; Legal Secretary, Mr. Fernand Legault, Q.C.; Treasurer, Mr. Leighton York.

Directors: Miss F. M. Douglas, Mr. M. R. Wilson, Mrs. G. McGibbon, Mr. Gilbert Arnold, Jr., Miss B. Robertson, Dr. H. Reid, Mr. C. Seale, Dr. G. R. Rigby, Mrs. N. Holland, Mrs. L. Ayers, Miss A. L. Wales.

Special reason for caution

This coming Monday is Thanksgiving Day and a time when many persons will be on holiday. There will be more vehicles on our roads and thus more danger of accident, says Prudentia. And Prudentia only asks one little thing: Be more courteous than ever at the wheel this week-end and make this year's Thanksgiving Day truly one of thanks because of no accidents on the highways. Be sure to be even more courteous than usual this coming week-end, and next Tuesday's traffic results will give their own testimonial.

NOTHING EVER SURE

Fire can break out in the most unlikely spots. For instance, a tarred sewer pipe, buried in the ground but with an end exposed in construction, had to be ripped up after children threw a warning light into the opening. One fire fighter's idea of a perfectly fire-safe structure is a massive concrete pile at the bottom of the ocean. What's yours?

Girl Guide Co. formed in Arundel

(Our District Correspondent)

A meeting was held in the Arundel school to form a local company of Girl Guides. Nineteen girls were present and the move shows great promise of going ahead. The meetings will be held at the school every Wednesday night from 7.30 to 9.00 o'clock, beginning the third week of October.

Mrs. Bert Champagne, who was president of the Canadian Girl Guide Association, has resigned in order to take the captaincy of the newly formed company, with Mrs. N. Parker assisting. Mrs. Willard Dubeau, of Weir, was elected as the new president. All girls interested in this worthy movement are asked to contact Mrs. Champagne.

We wish this newly launched work all the success it deserves.

Rev. and Mrs. W. Bridge feted on 25th Wedding Anniversary

A largely attended "at home" was held in the United Church on Tuesday evening, the occasion being the 25th Wedding Anniversary of the Rev. and Mrs. Wilson Bridge. It also marked the start of their 9th year in the ministerial work of the United Church in this district.

As a token of appreciation and esteem, the couple were presented with a 60-piece set of flat silverware, suitably inscribed.

Mr. Stuart Jones, in addressing the gathering, spoke kindly of the honored guests and said in part: "A 25th anniversary becomes a time of stock taking — a look backward to review our life's journey to date, to contemplate on the events that have moulded the pattern of those 25 years, to evaluate the lessons of life we have learned, and then having given careful thought, it becomes a time of resolve as to what our target will be for the future."

He mentioned Mr. Bridge's start as a scholar at Ashton-in-Materfield High School, Lancashire, and later the Wigan Technical College and how he had intended following a law career to the extent that he studied with Frank Knowles, a criminal lawyer of Widnes, near Liverpool. However his ideas changed and he took the ministerial entrance examination for Patron Congregational College, Nottingham, England, and then went on to Nottingham University, graduated with distinction and was ordained in June 1936. He then took post-graduate work for his B.A. degree with St. Andrews College, London, England.

In referring to Mrs. Bridge, Mr. Jones remarked, "Mrs. Bridge was a "natural' 'to become a minister's wife, her grandfather having faithfully served as a minister of the church. Now we see why she is so admirably suited and prepared for the important role of being our minister's dedicated team-mate — a role which she carries out so enthusiastically to match that driving enthusiasm of her husband."

"During the last war, Mr. Bridge spent six years as a Chaplain. He served in the London area and did yoeman service in the air-raid shelters to become acclaimed as the "First Padre of the Air-Raid Shelters." What a task — ministering under such conditions as you and I know nothing about. Mrs. Bridge was always with him, helping to comfort these people in their time of trial and hardship — making the word of God an ever help in a time of trouble. We salute them both for this worthy work."

Mr. Jones referred to the excellent sermons being preached each Sunday by Mr. Bridge who expounds to us the truths of the Bible — giving us a way to apply the teachings of the scriptures to our everyday tasks of life — to our community life and to our international life. He urged that the congregation take a more active part so that we might unitedly, go forward to bigger and better things.

The honored guests replied suitably thanking the gathering most heartily for their kindly thoughts and gift.

Refreshments were served and a social hour spent in extending best wishes for many years to come.

The presentation was made by Mr. Eddie Kettyle and Dr. Willis Hooper, both elders of the church, while Miss Anne Pollock graciously handed Mrs. Bridge a beautiful bouquet of flowers.

Social and Personal

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Bradley, of Montreal, were Sunday guests of relatives and friends in this district. Douglas, who can neither speak nor hear, learned his trade as a linotype operator, with the Giles Publishing House and has been, for many years, a faithful and efficient operator at the Montreal Gazette. Always ambitious, Doug has, after a difficult period of study, mastered the art of setting French on the linotype.

Church pageant to be held by Montreal group

A pageant "Yesterday, today and forever" written and directed by Mrs. D. M. Grant, will be one of the highlights at the Fall Rally for United Church Women to be held on Wednesday, October 11, in St. Andrew's United Church, St. Laurent. This pageant will depict the past work of women in the Church and the union into "The United Church Women".

At the afternoon session Dr. Stanley B. Frost, Dean of the Faculty of Divinity at McGill University, will conduct Bible Study, and in the evening Rev. R. Catherine McKeen of Toronto, Secretary of Younger Groups of the Women's Missionary Society, will speak on "The Future of Christian Education in our Church".

Under the leadership of Mrs. E. C. Knowles there will be a presentation of Ways and Means of introducing the various aspects of the Women's Work. In addition, there will be a display of literature and of rare and unusual Bibles. Rev. Florence M. Hunter, of Valois, will conduct the devotions at the evening service and the Junior Choir of St. Laurent Church will sing.

Bible Society holds meeting

The annual meeting of the Canadian Bible Society was held on Sunday last at the Lachute Baptist Church.

The evening devotions were led by the pastor of the church, Rev. L. Hisey. The portions of Scripture read were found in Matt. 5: 1-12 and Rev. 1:3.

Rev. C. W. Sorley, President of the local Branch of the Bible Society, presided over the business session that followed. Rev. Dale Jones was asked to preside over the election of officers for the coming year. The following were elected:

President — Rev. C. W. Sorley;
Vice-President — Rev. Wilson Bridge;
Corresopnding Sec. — Mr. Burns Kingsbury;
Recording Sec. — Mrs. W. J. Morrison;
Treasurer — Mr. Russell Elliott.

Rev. Jones gave an interesting talk on the work of Bible translation and the progress being made.

This year, is the 157th anniversary of the founding of the British and Foreign Bible Society. In 1961, we also celebrate the 350th anniversary of the King James Version of the Bible.

An interesting film was shown, entitled "Another Beatitude", portraying how God's word, if read and accepted into our lives, can make us useful for Him.

Our district reached an all-time high last year with collections reaching $690.40.

The large attendance at the service showed a keen interest in the work; an offering of $40 was received. This was a definite increase over last year when the offering was $14.00.

The Rev. Cyrus Lang closed the meeting with prayer.

Pretty wedding held Saturday in St. Andrews

Cameron-McOuat

The marriage of Elizabeth Lorrain, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard H. McOuat, to Mr. Grant Ewan Cameron, son of Mrs. Thomas Cameron and the late Mr. Cameron, of Huntingdon, took place on September 30, in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, St. Andrews East, the Rev. Dr. Harold Reid officiating.

Mr. L. B. Hopkins was organist and Mrs. Leonard Armstrong sang "Wedding Prayer" and "Wedding Hymn".

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of Chantilly lace over peau-de-soie, styled with a scalloped V-neckline, long sleeves ending in points, and a bouffant skirt. Her elbow-length veil of tulle illusion was held by a coronet of roses and seed pearls. She carried a crescent-shaped bouquet of pale yellow roses and ivy.

Mrs. George Pasco, sister of the bride, was her only attendant, wearing a sheath dress with bell-shaped overskirt in antique gold peau-de-soie. She wore a matching veiled crown and carried bronze chrysanthemums.

Mr. Milton Hooker, of Newmarket, Ont., was best man. The ushers were Mr. Douglas Page, of Sherbrooke, Mr. Robert Lawrence, of Ormstown, and Mr. George Pasco, of Brownsburg.

Mrs. McOuat, mother of the bride, wore a gown of mink-brown Italian Brocade, with brown and cocoa accessories, and a corsage of shaded chrysanthemums.

Mrs. Cameron, the groom's mother, was in a gown of skipper blue silk crepe with matching pill box and black accessories. She wore a corsage of pink roses.

Following the reception, which was held on the lawn at the bride's home, Mr. and Mrs. G. Cameron left by motor car for the New England States, the bride wearing a green silk ensemble with green and beige accessories and a corsage of yellow chrysanthemums.

Mr. and Mrs. Cameron will reside in Alexandria, Ont.

Sightless children and the C.N.I.B.

"When a child is blind, you must begin early to put the world at his fingertips", observes Mrs. T. P. Hall, Chairman of the campaign for the C.N.I.B. in Brownsburg. "Nearly two thousand children of school age and under, need special services designed by C.N.I.B."

Fire crackers and explosives have caused many a youngster to lose his sight. One lad became blind when a dynamite cap he was examining exploded in his face; another when he cheeked a rocket that had not gone off.

"Children can lose their good vision in a split second", Mrs. Hall said. "When they do — CNIB stands ready."

The chairman reviewed the services C.N.I.B. offers blind children. With very small children specially, trained workers help the parents. The worker encourages the parents to accept the handicap and shows them how to make life interesting for the sightless little one. They recommend sound toys, children's records, and the ordinary noises about the houses. They show mothers how to make a drink of water interesting by using the sound of turning on the tap and the splash of water in the sink. "The difference in footsteps makes interesting listening to youngsters. The program aims to arouse in the child an interest in the world outside," the chairman explained. As the child grows, and plans for school are underway, the C.N.I.B. worker interprets education facilities and makes arrangements when parents ask their help. All through the blind child's schooling, C.N.I.B. is ready to assist when needed. Education of blind children is a government provision, as is education of the sighted, but when the blind teen-ager reaches the end of his course, the C.N.I.B. employment service is ready to launch him on a career.

"Opportunities for blind youth are better than ever", Mrs. Hall said. "Several professions are now open to the blind. Industry employs hundreds of blind persons and the C.N.I.B. itself is always in need of capable blind people. . . . The annual financial appeal takes place in this community from September 25 to October 9. You may share in this wonderful work with a donation to the drive. Please be generous."

tario," said Bernard Danis, newly-elected chairman of the promotional committee of the Hawkesbury Merchants' Association.

"Hawkesbury is a great place for people who like to watch construction jobs," he added.

With an influx of visitors from the surrounding area expected to come and look at the construction work, special steps are being taken to provide easy access for cars and pedestrians throughout the town.

A temporary road is being built north of the closed sections of Main Street in the downtown shopping area and special parking areas are being provided. Directional signs have been erected at all entrances to the town and flag-men at key intersections keep traffic moving.

The special promotional committee of the Hawkesbury Merchants' Association was formed to arrange special events and other attractions during the period of construction in Hawkesbury.

Tourist accommodation and recreational facilities are available for visitors who come to see the changing face of Hawkesbury.

Diary of a Vagabond

BY DOROTHY BARKER

DOG OWNERS, BEWARE !

Organized crime has apparently spilled over into dogdom. At least that is the opinion of members of The Canada Council for Animal Welfare. Indications are that expensive, highly bred dogs are being stolen and smuggled into the United States, where they fetch a fancy price.

The owner of Mist, a beautiful brindle boxer has come to the conclusion that she must have been stolen. Mist was a one woman dog. She never traveled further than the hedge at the front of the house or the fringe of the orchard at the back of the country estate without her mistress. Yet in a twinkling of an eye, while her owner returned to the house for her leash, Mist vanished into thin air.

Not an inch of the area was missed in the family's search for its missing pet. Fox holes and fallen logs were investigated in case she had been bitten by a rabid fox and crawled away to die. Money was spent in advertising and an award offered for her return. But Mist was never seen again.

For months the old pine rocker where she used to sleep, with its padding of motor rug and beaten up old pillow, remained in the sunny window by the kitchen stove. Her leash hung by the door and her dish with "MIST" in gold letters remained by her chair with a few dog biscuits waiting to tempt her finicky appetite.

Then one day the daughter of the family noticed an ad in a metropolitan paper; "Found, boxer, female, owner may have same by identifying dog. Apply box . . ."

This was the beginning of a new romance for a cruelly treated boxer and the lonesome, heartbroken former owner of Mist.

A letter was quickly dispatched to the box number and within a few days a long distance call from Montreal proved to be the first of several before a highly strung cinnamon boxer became the new occupant of the chair in the corner.

The person at the Montreal end of the line identified herself as an executive member of the Canada Council for Animal Welfare. "The dog is not yours, but your loving description of Mist has convinced our members that you should be the new owner of our foundling," she said.

The boxer was found by this member in Montreal. The dog had apparently been beaten, for she was bleeding at the nose, had a severe skin rash from malnutrition and was so thin she could hardly walk. Weeks of care went by before the dog was advertised, and only then in a magazine and in a Toronto paper. She could have been identified by the thieves from whom she had obviously escaped and the organization was reluctant to run this risk by advertising in local, or provincial papers.

Must be Recommended

Adopting a dog is almost as serious an effort as welcoming a newly chosen infant into a family. The central Ontario woman had to be investigated. She was visited by local members of the Council, was required to give character references and finally, after some weeks of correspondence and telephone calls, was notified the dog would arrive by express on a given date. By this time she was mentally tallying up what her new pet had already cost between phone calls and express charges.

Members of the family were as excited at the anticipation of the new arrival as they were sad at the loss of Mist. They donned their best, piled into the station wagon and traveled down the highway on a bright June morning.

When they arrived at Union Station in Toronto the clerk in the CN Express office looked over the telegram they had brought as identification and suggested that one member of the family go up on the platform to receive the dog.

The head of the family, who isn't really a dedicated dog lover, volunteered. When the family next saw him he was being towed by a great big boxer, lathering with excitement, on the end of a chain leash, and muzzle attached to its collar. As though she knew exactly what she was expected to do, she made a bee-line for Mist's mistress. From that moment she was HER dog.

Council's Services

This tale was related to me because the family knew I am a railway enthusiast and they were particularly impressed with the part the CN played in bringing the dog safely to Toronto. And thereby hangs another tale.

The Canada Council for Animal Welfare must be composed entirely of persons with a deep love and consideration for dumb animals. The boxer arrived prepaid. She was supplied with a basket of dog food, her diet outlined, a dish for her own use, new collar, leash and muzzle. No charge has ever been made to the family for long distance 'phone calls regarding her adoption. This, it was explained, is a service the council provides in extending its protection for members of the animal kingdom.

Finding a name for the young boxer proved quite a task. For days the family spoke first French then English to her. They called her every name they could remember until finally the soft "J" that occurs so often in the French language seemed to please her most. She has become used to "Jill". After the first week when she slept, ate, and walked as close to her mistress as she could get, she sniffed around Mist's chair, nudged her bowl under the kitchen table, tossed the pillow across the room, pawed her blanket into a soft mound and settled down with a contented sigh. Jill was home.

Supposing Mist did become a bootlegged dog, her former owner hopes she had the same good fortune as Jill, to find a family that loves her.

Joke of the Week

". . . then you know how you get the potatoes all sort of soapy — here they are lovely and firm . . ."

Cattle grubs

Ottawa — A suggestion that systematic insecticides for controlling cattle grubs be applied between September and the end of the year, is made by Dr. M. A. Khan of the Canada Department of Agriculture's research station at Lethbridge, Alta.

The insecticides are absorbed into the animal's system where they kill the grubs and prevent formation of warbles in the back.

While Co-Ral and Trolene FM-40 can be used as sprays, other insecticides that can be poured on are expected to be available soon.

Dr. Khan says spraying should be done before the weather turns too cold and the cattle have grown long hair, as it is necessary for the skin itself to be reached. Back, sides, neck, shoulders, thighs and escutcheon of the animal should be treated. Cattle in feedlots should be sprayed before they go on full feed but after they have recovered from the stress of shipping.

Tenders

THE CORPORATION of the Town of Lachute will receive at the office of the Town Secretary, until 5.30 p.m., Wednesday, October 11, 1961, tenders for the construction of a dam, filtration plant and water main, located at Pollock's Falls on William Creek.

The Tender Form must be sealed in an envelope. This envelope must be enclosed, with all other documents required as per the "Instructions to Bidders", in a large envelope addressed to the Town of Lachute. This large envelope, also sealed, must have written on it "Tender for the Construction of Dam, Filtration Plant and Water Main, Town of Lachute".

Tenders must be submitted or the Tender Form prepared by the consulting engineers, and each tender must be accompanied by a Bid Bond or a cheque, certified by a chartered Canadian bank to the amount of 10% of the total amount of the tender.

Any tender which does not comply with all the requirements of the "Tender Form" and of the "Instructions to Bidders", will not be considered.

The contract will be for a stipulated sum, and shall comply with requirements of the plans and specifications prepared by the Consulting Engineers, Lorrain, Tourigny, Dubuc, Gérin-Lajoie & Laliberté, in collaboration with Jean-Louis Lalonde, Architect.

No "escalator" clause, either for labor or material, will be allowed in this contract.

Upon remittance of a $100.00 deposit in money, or a certified cheque for that amount made to the order of the Consulting Engineers, the bidders may obtain the plans and specifications.

An amount of $50.00 shall be refunded to unsuccessful bidders who return the complete plans and specifications within 15 days of the closing date of the tenders.

The bidders shall obtain copies of the plans and specifications at the Consulting Engineers' office — Lorrain, Tourigny, Dubuc, Gérin-Lajoie & Laliberté, at 4253 St. Catherine St. West, Montreal, P.Q. (Tel. WE 3-2751).

The Town of Lachute does not bind itself to accept the lowest tender nor any of the tenders submitted.

Public Notice

PROTESTANT SCHOOL COMMISSIONERS, Brownsburg, Que.

PUBLIC NOTICE is hereby given that the Protestant School Commissioners of the School Municipality of Brownsburg, the territory of which wholly or partly covers that of the Township of Chatham, and the Village of Brownsburg, will hold a meeting on the 30th day of October, 1961, in the Brownsburg High School, at seven o'clock in the evening, to examine the valuation roll in force in each of such municipalities.

If they find that the property pursuant to the said rolls is valued on an equal basis, they shall homologate such valuation rolls or the parts which concern them. However, if they find that the valuation made in such municipalities is not uniform, they shall increase the roll or rolls where the valuation is under the level of that of the municipality where the valuation is the highest, so as to re-establish on an equal basis the valuation of the taxable property of all parts of the school municipality.

The valuation rolls or parts which concern them thus amended shall be homologated and the collection rolls of the said municipality shall be made according to the valuation rolls thus homologated.

Given at Brownsburg, Que., this 26th day of September, 1961.

— G. Scudamore,
O25.4c Secretary-Treasurer

Public Notice

Notice is hereby given that on the sixteenth day of October nineteen hundred and sixty-one at two o'clock p.m., daylight saving time, in conformity with a judgement granted by Honorable Justice Roger Ouimet, of the Superior Court, sitting for and in the District of Terrebonne, I will proceed to the sale by auction in my office situated at 113 Bethany Street, in the Town of Lachute, of the immovable property hereinafter described and pertaining in joint ownership to James P. Martin, to wit:

"That certain property situated at Brownsburg, known and designated on the official plan and in the book of reference of the township of Chatham as forming part of the un-subdivided portion of lot EIGHT HUNDRED AND FIFTEEN (Pt. 815), measuring fifty-eight feet (58') from north to south by a depth of one hundred and fifty feet (150') from east to west; bounded west by a lane taken on said lot 815 and lying on the east side of lot 815-5, north by parts of said lot 815 sold to Rosaire Bélisle by deed registered under the number 87781 and to Pearl Court by deed registered under the number 90800, east by lot 816-156 and part of lot 815-152 and south by part of said lot 815 owned by Gaetan Laforest being the Hotel's property: with all the buildings thereon erected.

COMING UP — OCTOBER 8-14 —

Fire Prevention Week

FEWER FIRES, particularly in the home! This is the goal (and the already evident reward) of a new public education campaign, now in its fourth year, against fire carelessness in Canada. By 1957, Canada's losses of human life and property destruction was one of the worst of any nation. In 1958, under the sponsorship of the Association of Canadian Fire Marshals and the Canadian Association of Fire Chiefs, a Joint Committee was set up by official charter. Its primary objective: the country wide promotion of Fire Prevention Week in support of fire safety drives and municipal home inspection programmes. Directors and officers serve without compensation. Progressively expanded, the campaign is financed by grants and subsidies from public and private sources. The effort is endorsed by all levels of government, and generously assisted by editors and broadcasters.

The Association of Canadian Fire Marshals comprises the Fire Marshals and Fire Commissioners of the 10 provinces, as well as the Dominion Fire Commissioner, and the Fire Marshal of each of the three armed services, Navy, Army and Air Force. The strength of the Canadian Association of Fire Chiefs is drawn from municipal and industrial Fire Chiefs from coast to coast.

In full endorsement of this campaign, The Watchman features special pages on the Fire Prevention theme, made possible by the support of local bodies, trades, services and fire insurance agents. The editor gives public acknowledgement of this co-operation, and commends to all readers the messages and advertisements appearing on pages 10-11 of this issue.

Education, training and employment

DURING THE LAST few years a revolution has been taking place in Canada — a revolution in employment which is almost certain to affect the future of your children.

The introduction of more and better machines, and improved methods of doing things, have been gradually wiping out thousands of jobs which require little education or training, so that unskilled and semi-skilled jobs now represent only 30 per cent of all employment in Canada. At the same time, employment opportunities continue to increase proportionately for graduates of apprenticeship programs, institutes of technology, high schools, vocational schools, trade schools and universities.

What this means to the future of the young people in your family is obvious. Early drop-out from school could mean being cut off from 70 per cent of the jobs in Canada, being limited in their earnings for life, a closed door to the better training opportunities in industry, often being restricted to dead-end jobs, and possibly a lifetime of insecurity and long periods of unemployment.

Because of this situation it is extremely important that we do everything within our power to encourage our children to stay in school and graduate and to seek training which will fit them with useful skills.

Of course parents cannot force careers on their children, but certainly we can emphasize the necessity of thinking and planning ahead, and give them an early and lasting appreciation of the value of a sound education, formal training and good citizenship.

Parents too often feel their children should pursue only the academic side of education and by so doing, cause them to overlook the excellent career opportunities which exist through technical and vocational high schools, technical institutes, trade or other occupational training and apprenticeship programs.

The importance of education and training to the future security of your children cannot be exaggerated. They will be entering a world of work which will continue to see great changes in individual occupations and the whole pattern of occupations. They will need to have the flexibility which comes from good fundamental education and training.

Encourage them to equip themselves as well as they possibly can with useful skills and knowledge before seeking their life's work.

A boost to fluoridation

THE REPORT OF A Special Committee on Fluoridation of Communal Water Supplies appointed by the Ontario Government in 1959 was submitted to the Ontario Government a few weeks ago. After hearing evidence from many sources over a period of many long months the Commission endorsed fluoridation, without qualification, rejected all arguments as to its problematic dangers and recommended that legislation be passed permitting municipalities to commence fluoridation by virtue of municipal by-law without the necessity of a referendum. The Government of Ontario and the Commission alike are to be congratulated on a very fine report.

It is to be expected that this most exhaustive of reports will have repercussions, not only in Ontario but indeed in all of North America and throughout the world. Fluoridation has already been endorsed by the World Health Organization and by many scientific bodies throughout the world.

The position of governments which hesitate to put into effect the conclusions of scientific bodies is easily understood. Governments in democratic countries retain office because they are elected. However sound may be any proposition, if the electorate is uneducated as to the virtues of any proposal thrown into the arena of politics, they are likely to suffer at the next election.

However, there are some measures which are and should be decided without the intervention of the voters. For example, salt for human consumption is now iodized by law to prevent goitre. This is true because of a decision made by the Dominion Government as a result of sound advice from valid medical sources. Similarly Vitamin "D" was added to Canadian bread without asking the electors to make a decision on a subject about which the average voter knew very little.

A referendum on a subject such as fluoridation is just about as ridiculous as asking for a referendum as to whether a dangerous tiger should be disposed of when it is already killing women and children. Caries or tooth decay is a menace to the health and life of people — children and adults alike. It is to be hoped that munipicalities, generally, will pass the necessary by-laws to institute fluoridation of water supplies at once. To waste public money on futile plebiscites is senseless. However, one cannot deny that there are thousands of people who know very little about the dangers of caries or the value of fluoridation. For these a continuous campaign of education is obviously desirable. "Where ignorance is bliss 'tis folly to be wise" and it was ever thus. The value of spending money on health education is hardly realized yet by either governments or people generally. It is so much easier to spend more and more money on hospitals for people who should not be ill and too much on charities to help people who should not be poor.

Viewpoints and perspectives

ARCHITECTURAL PLANS for what is now the main administration building at St. Louis University, a Jesuit institution at St. Louis, Mo., had to be submitted to Rome for approval. Back came the plans with but a single comment from the men at the Vatican: "Buntne angeli?" — meaning, "Are they angels?"

The St. Louis architects and administrators pondered and puzzled over the significance of the comment. Then someone discovered that the building plans made no provision for rest rooms.

Of Many Things

STEAMING AHEAD

There are indications that very good times are on the way.

I always hesitate to make such predictions because prosperity is never just around the corner for anyone who isn't prepared to go looking. Yet things are picking up rather quickly, and it will be a big surprise if there isn't something in the nature of a small boom in Canada before another fall rolls around.

The U.S. economy has already started to drive forward. Our own is almost certain to follow.

For these reasons, it seems to me it is a good time to buy essential items. Government spending is likely to increase, and when it does it always causes a number of price increases in the process. I put in an order for a new typewriter on that theory, anyhow, so I am following my own advice. If I were a farmer and needed equipment badly, I'd do my darndest to make the outlay now instead of later.

Good times, in the sense of a boom, aren't necessarily something to rave about unless, at the same time, governments refrain from going overboard on spending. Good times accepted too casually can create inflation that weakens the buying power of the dollar. This leads to the sad situation where pensioners and those on fixed incomes suffer while those who are earning larger incomes are having a hey-day.

Good times, too, are inclined to lead labor union leaders to start a round of huge wage demands. If these demands exceed the increase in productivity that brings about a boom, they soon kill the boom and cause further and deeper depression.

Nevertheless, it is good to know there is still a lot of steam in our economy and, that with any kind of common sense we can take big steps ahead in the 60's.

Sad, though, that with the opportunities existing to build a more prosperous land, the threat of war may spoil it all. Mr. K., who is excused by the Pinkos for almost everything he does, cannot be excused for starting bomb testing again and threatening to terrorize the world.

ADVICE TO YOUTH

Come hither, my lad! I have something for you! I'm old and I'm crippled and bent. I'm willing to give you some splended advice, and it's not going to cost you a cent.

You say you don't know me? It's high time you did. I'm the wealthiest man in this town. I've lived in this village since I was a kid, and I know the old place up and down.

They called me "Old Meanie" when I was at school, because I hung onto my cash, when all of my schoolmates were spending their dough on candy and similar trash.

I worked all my life, and I saved all my dough till only old age made me stop, but now I am able to take my reward — for I have arrived at the top! My Easy Street home is a model for all. My camp in the country's a wow! I have a farm too, with a silo and barn, a horse and two pigs and a cow.

I have a piano, a flute, a guitar, a motorboat and a canoe, a concrete garage, an eight-cylinder car — with envy my neigbors are blue! I've a workshop with power-tools that you'd adore, and a nice moving-picture machine, a forty-foot swimming pool right at my door — with envy my neighbors are green!

I have a swell rifle, revolver and gun, and trunks full of fishing togs — new. All sorts of equipment for just having fun. I only have mentioned a few!

I recently bought a new hospital cot, on which I most always recline. The nurse brings my crutches when I ring the bell — in fact, she looks after me fine! I hope you will profit by my free advice, so save every nickle, my boy. Then when you are old you'll possess all the things that only a youth can enjoy."

MORAL — Just blow in your dough while the blowing is good, and while you have got it to blow. Or keep it until you have cricks in the joints, and whiskers as white as the snow.

Be seein' ya!

WHAT WAS THE "COMPANY OF NEW FRANCE"?

The Company of New France was founded in 1627 by Cardinal Richelieu to develop the colony of New France so that its growth could rival the expansion of the English and Dutch settlements to the south. Because it had a share capital of 300,000 livres divided into 100 shares, it was commonly known as the Company of One Hundred Associates. After a chequered career, the company's existence came to an end in 1663 when King Louis XIV took over direct control of the colony.

with G. E. MORTIMORE

The boy steered his bicycle directly toward the car, on the wrong side of the street. He was a young ruffian of about 10 years of age; with a round, insolent face, and as he came toward the car he wobbled his front wheel back and forth and smirked.

The driver swerved violently to avoid him. "Why do you let the lout throw you into a panic?" I demanded. "That's what he's trying to do."

"I can't run the boy down," the driver said, pushing back a strand of hair from her face.

As we moved along, we passed still more boys and girls on bicycles riding on the wrong side of the road, weaving back and forth from the edge to the centre line.

When one urchin came within inches of tumbling under the wheels, I lowered the window and shouted: "What do you think you're doing?"

He flinched for a moment, and then his sharp features relaxed into a look of pitying amusement, as though to say: "Poor old beetle, he's obviously deranged."

I had noticed the same look of serene self-possession on the faces of 13 and 14-year-olds as they walked to school three and four abreast in the middle of the road, forcing cars to swerve away to the left and never making the slightest movement to give room.

They weren't all like that. Some of the teen-agers walked politely at the edge of the road like proper human beings.

But all those middle-of-the-road children — where did they get the idea that they could hog the whole highway, and that everyone had to steer around them?

Were we as ill-mannered and selfish at that age? I asked myself. I thought not. But I didn't remember too clearly. Maybe we were just as bad, or worse.

New ticket plan

The string of railway tickets, sometimes more than three feet long soon will be just a memory on Canadian National Railway lines. On Oct. 1 the CNR will introduce a ticketing plan which will reduce more than 200 present ticket forms to nine, as shown here by Janet Molson who holds the nine forms. Under the new system two bilingual, consolidated forms, one for one way and the other for round-trip will eliminate 115 existing forms. One reservation ticket will replace 25 sleeping car, parlor car and reserved coach coupons.

Plan outlines park area at Carillon to commemorate building of canals

Plans for a small park beside the locks at Carillon, to commemorate the building of the Ottawa River canals in 1819-33, have been submitted to the authorities by the Research Committee of the Historical Society of Argenteuil County. The proposal calls for repair of the stonework of Locks Nos.1 and 2 of the old military canal, and the establishment of a small park on the adjacent land which would also serve as a memorial to the builders of the canal, the Royal Staff Corps. The Research Committee is encouraged by the fact that the Department of Transport has already accepted the proposal for repair of the stonework, and this work has been in progress for some time. It is hoped that the proposal for a park adjoining the old locks will meet with a favorable decision from the Historic Sites and Monuments Commission of Quebec.

The accompanying plan shows the location of both the old locks and the present canal, and indicates the area proposed for the commemorative park.

It has been suggested by the Research Committee that the feature of the park should be the old Lockmaster's House, which was built in 1828 and is still in use at No. 6 Lock, in the area to be flooded. The front of this house is of finely cut stone and the lintel stone over the doorway shows the date of construction. This is the only one of the original lockmasters' houses still in existence.

Reconstructed on the park site, it would be the central point of interest around which other relics of the old canal could be suitably placed.

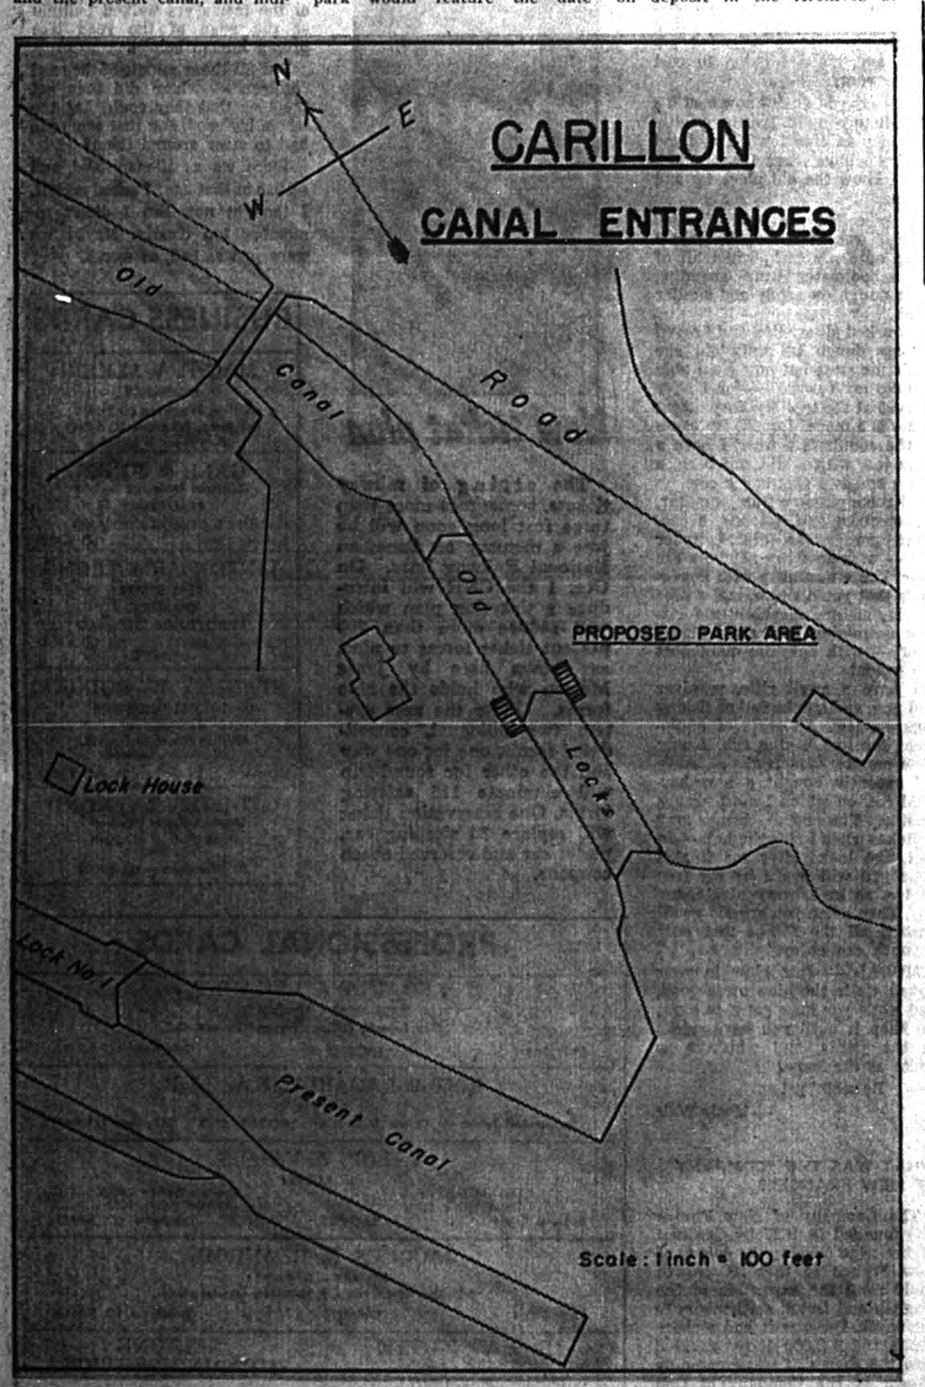

Also available is the old horse-shed now at No. 2 Lock, which was built around 1872 to shelter the horses used to tow the barges through the canal. The design of this shed is different from others of its type and this too would be a very interesting item in the arrangement of the park.

Another proposed section of the park would feature the date stones from the flooded locks, suitably mounted in some form of cairn or stone wall erected especially for the purpose. The names of the officers in charge of the building of the canal could be recorded here, as well as some of the principal data covering the construction work.

It has been suggested also that many of the boundary markers which were placed at the time the canals were built, to show the limits of the land expropriated by the Crown, could be worked into the landscaping of the area. It is also felt that a good many relics of the days when the military canal was in operation could probably be assembled to add to the general interest of the park area.

If the idea were carried further, the interior of the Lockmaster's House could be used to serve as a small museum on the subject of the construction of these canals. Many of the charts and plans prepared for the undertaking are on deposit in the Archives at Ottawa and could be reproduced for museum purposes.

Those who took part in the tour of historic sites organized by the Research Committee last June, and who saw many of the relics mentioned above, will be pleased to hear that a plan has been prepared for suitable commemoration of the canal work, and preservation of the historic material which is still available. It is hoped that the proposal for this commemorative park may receive favorable consideration from the authorities in charge of planning for the future of the Carillon area.

Worship is a privilege!

(Copyright)

— By NANCY CLEAVER —

"Now thank we all our God
With heart and hands and voices
Who wondrous things hath done,
In whom His world rejoices;
Who from his mothers' arms
Hath blessed us on our way
With countless gifts of love,
And still is ours today."

When we sing this Thanksgiving hymn, it is interesting to know that it was written at the end of the Thirty Years' War in Germany (1648). The author Martin Rinkart was a Protestant leader who had known many years of suffering and hardship. The plague broke out in his birthplace, Eilenburg, after 20 years of war. He buried 4,000 people and helped the survivors who faced famine and the raids of enemy soldiers.

Peace Announced

At last a messenger, heralded by trumpets, brought the announcement of peace, and Rinkart to express his joy for this welcome news, penned the immortal words "Now thank we all our God."

On Thanksgiving Sunday our churches should be crowded with worshippers who praise God for all He has done for them. The public worship of God for a devout person of any religion, should never be an optional thing, an extra, a duty unwillingly performed.

It is a privilege to worship. When we ignore or neglect it we demonstrate to others, especially to our children, that we regard it as of little worth.

If mother places preparing an elaborate Sunday dinner for the family and for invited guests ahead of attending church with her family, if Dad finds hunting at this time, (or curling in winter, fishing in the summer) or some other leisure activity, crowds out sitting at the end of the family pew at the time of worship, this more plainly than words tells a son or daughter, that hospitality and pleasure, (and not the things of the spirit) have priority in their parents' lives.

There is a difference in thanks giving and in a feeling of contentment or happiness. As the Oxford dictionary points out, thanksgiving is an "expression of gratitude, especially to God; form the words for this as General Thanksgiving in the Book of Common Prayer." Instead of the usual Grace before a meal, this prayer of thanksgiving could be substituted before father carves the turkey for Thanksgiving Dinner.

A Great Value

Thanksgiving Day has great value in reminding us of God, the Giver, not only of the harvest, the fruits of the earth, but of every good gift.

The French have a proverb that gratitude is the heart's memory. A little time of quiet or solitude in our noisy, busy life will help us recall the many individual and family and national blessings which have enriched our lives.

We who have been given so much can surely be expected not only to thank God but also help those in need in our own neighborhood, through the Community Chest, in far away places through our Church, the Red Cross, the United Nations and other channels. Thus Thanksgiving will be a time of both words and deeds.

NEW MEANING . . .

For thousands of years mankind has battled to control his most valuable of servants — fire. Now in the awful climax of nuclear fission heat-flash, the battle takes new form and meaning for personal survival.

FROM OUR COUNTY CORRESPONDENTS

St. Andrews East

Miss Dolly Bruce, of Montreal, spent the week-end with her sister, Mrs. J. Fraser Robertson.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Rodger, who motored to Virginia, U.S.A., last week have returned home. They were accompanied on their trip by Mrs. Stewart MacAdam, of Lachute, and Miss M. E. Rodger, of Montreal.

Miss B. Robertson has returned from Metis Beach where she spent several weeks, the guest of Mrs. C. R. Trenholme.

Mrs. W. Hill, of Montreal, is spending the week with Mrs. G. A. Lilly.

Miss Betty Lou Brown, of Port Credit, Ont., accompanied by two friends, Miss Olga Hawylark and Miss Margaret Blakely, travelled through Boston, New York and Cape Cod, and spent two days with Maj.-Gen. Phelan and Mrs. Phelan, en route to Toronto.

Mrs. Handcock, of Montreal, spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Alex McPhee. Mr. and Mrs. Wells Larway, of Sutton, were recent guests at the McPhee home.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Patrick, of Westmount, who had been in Messina, N.Y., visited Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Jeffrey Sunday, while en route home.

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Parker, of St. Martin, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Parker.

Avoca

Mr. and Mrs. Allan McPhee were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Harries, of Calumet, on Saturday evening.

There will be a Thanksgiving Service in St. Mary's Church Sunday, October 8, at 2.30 p.m.

Mr. Kenneth Brown, B.A., who has been in charge of Harrington and Avoca United Churches during the summer, has returned to College. Until further notice, services in Avoca will be at 2 p.m. instead of 8 p.m.

Mr. Den Admirant, of Ottawa, spent the week-end with his family.

Mr. and Mrs. Demerse, of Ottawa, visited their niece, Mrs. Elmer Kelly and Mr. Kelly, over the week-end. Other visitors were the Misses Gay Kelly, of Montreal, and Fay Kelly, of Ottawa; also Mr. R. MacLean and Guy Kelly, of Montreal.

Mrs. Sandy Bates and daughter, Mrs. Hugh Bates, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Campbell, of Lachute, on Tuesday last.

Mabel

Little Kenneth Todd, of Ville LaSalle, spent the past week with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Warwick. Mr. and Mrs. William Todd were also week-end guests at the Warwick home.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Clark, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Bazil Clark, visited Mr. and Mrs. Beardsley Wyman, Chute à Blondeau, on Sunday.

Miss Jean Tomalty, of Montreal, has been holidaying with her parents here.

Mr. and Mrs. Carson Tomalty were pleasantly surprised on Saturday evening last when their family and several friends feted them on the occasion of their thirty-fifth wedding anniversary. During the evening the couple were presented with a kitchen set and an enjoyable time was had by all present.

Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Jackson were Mr. and Mrs. Jarvis Moore, of Montreal; Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Kettyle and family; Mr. and Mrs. George Jackson and family; Mrs. Jean Conell and family; Mr. Harry Bennett and Mrs. Ed. Cribb and daughter, Dianne.

Avoca couple feted on recent Golden Wedding

(Our District Correspondent)

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Andrews who celebrated their Golden Wedding on September 27, 1961, were feted by many friends for the occasion. Their immediate family who were present were, Elmer, of Avoca; Mrs. William Provencal (Pearl), of Grenville; Mrs. Everett Loung (Lue), of Pte au Chene; and many of their grandchildren. Brothers of Mrs. Andrews were the Messrs. John MacLeod, of Pte au Chené; William, of Avoca; Russell, of U.S.A.; Allen, of Ottawa; and sisters, Mrs. Chester Waite and Mrs. William MacLean, both of Pte au Chene. Their son Claude, who is in Seven Islands, was unable to attend, as was Mrs. James Waite, due to illness. Mr. Andrews' sister, Mrs. Bennett, was with them and all were accompanied by their wives or husbands. Many nieces and nephews and friends of the community attended. Mr. and Mrs. Andrews, who are both in fairly good health, enjoyed the happy event immensely. At the end of this auspicious occasion, refreshments were delightfully served.

Rivington

Mr. and Mrs. James Trineer have returned from a week's trip visiting friends in the Toronto, Niagara Falls and Port Colborne area.

Mr. and Mrs. Rupert Young were recent week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Proulx.

The government's decision to close the Rivington Post Office became effective on September 30.

The water level of the Rouge River is at it's lowest point this year.

Recent visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Trineer included Mr. and Mrs. Brian E. Wary and son, Shawn; Miss Valerie Leggett; Mr. Jas. Weir; Mr. George Sainsbury; Mr. Robert Briggs and Mr. William Urquart, all of Montreal.

The teaching staff of Harrington Intermediate School, includes Mrs. Donald McCabe, of Rivington; Mrs. John Prophet, of Calumet; Miss Rebecca Croft, of Rockway Valley; Mr. Stephen Labelle, of Rouge Valley, and Mr. Leslie Kerr, of Rivington.

Arundel 4-H Club holds calf show on School grounds

(Intended for last issue)

Approximately 40 head of young cattle were shown at the annual Calf Club show, held recently on the Arundel School grounds. The judges, Mr. Paré and Mr. Robertson, noted considerable improvement in the quality of the animals shown this year. Keen competition and interest was evident during the event. Placement of animals was as follows:

Holstein Calves — Mary Belle Swail, Barbara Swail, Gail Morrison, Loraine Swail, Gerri Van Wieren, Bonnie Lee Swail, Janice Swail, Alfie Staniforth, Treenie Van Wieren.

Ayrshire Calves — David Staniforth, Bob Boyd, Donna Lynn Graham, Conrad Graham, Peter Graham, Helen Beauchamp, Charlie Thorne.

Beef Calves — Marilyn Godin, Lynne Cooke, Lise Jansen, Larry Cooke.

2-Year-Old Holstein and Ayrshire — Mary Belle Swail, Donna Lynn Graham, Gail Morrison, Loraine Swail, Barbara Swail.

Year-old Holstein — Rolland Drouin, Mary Belle Swail, Barbara Swail, Gail Morrison, Loraine Swail, Bonnie Lee Swail.

Year-Old Ayrshire — Marilyn Godin, David Staniforth, Alfred Staniforth.

Year-Old Beef (one only) — Lynne Cooke.

Herd — Mary Belle Swail, Barbara Swail, Gail Morrison, Loraine Swail.

Showmanship — Loraine Swail, Marilyn Godin, Bob Boyd, Lynne Cooke, Barbara Swail, Bonnie Lee Swail.

Grand Champion — Mary Belle Swail.

Reserve Grand Champion — Marilyn Godin.

The students have provided a permanent hitching fence on the grounds for the animals, and improvised a show-ring for the judging. 4-H Club banners and the P.A. system added to the success of the afternoon. Mrs. Douglas Williams presented the trophy to Mary Belle Swail on behalf of her husband. Club Leader Melvin Graham thanked the participants for their enthusiasm, and the parents for their co-operation.

WORKING WITH CANADIANS IN EVERY WALK OF LIFE SINCE 1817

Canada's Tragic Record of Carelessness

5,477 PERISH IN $-BILLION FIRE WASTE

Fires in Canada in the last ten years have taken 5,477 lives, wasted more than a billion dollars of property. Most of these fires were caused by human carelessness. This is the heart of the proclamation to 18,000,000 Canadians in the name of Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth of Canada designating October 8-14 as Fire Prevention Week.

While provincial reports for 1960 indicate fewer fires than in 1959, both the human and the economic loss increased. The estimated totals, with corresponding 1959 figures:

	1960	1959
Total fires reported	79,591	84,214
Number killed	566	560
Estl. loss (millions)	$128.8	$124.5
Est. loss (millions)	$128.8	$124.5

A continued decline in residential fires was gratifying. Preliminary estimates of such fires in 1960 total 61,325, as compared with the official figure of 63,294 for the previous year, and 66,464 in 1958.

Big Fires Up

Not so productive was the result in terms of "large loss" fires (fires of $250,000 and up), the total damage of which increased by some $11 millions over the preceding year. The figure does not include forest fires and some federal government losses.

With greater care, many of the 778,000 fires of the last decade could have been prevented. The dollar saving thereby could have financed 300 more large hospitals, or endowed the operation of all universities and colleges for more than 10 years, or together built a Columbia River project, a St. Lawrence Seaway, a South Saskatchewan dam, an Atlantic Province causeway. These are simple but expressive ways to think of the careless waste of a billion dollars. Perhaps ten times a billion dollars was the indirect loss to the economy.

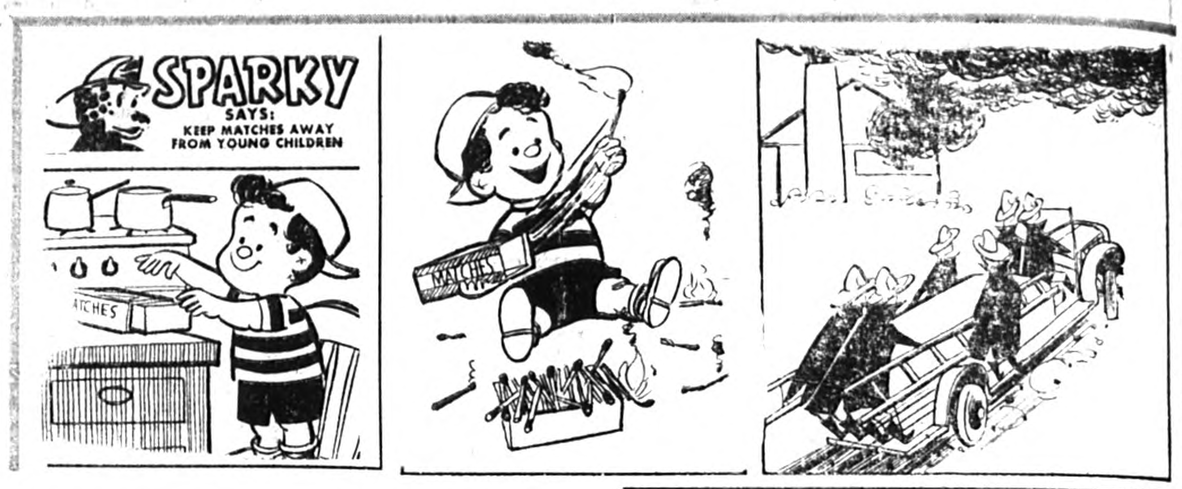

Men and Women Out of a Job

A plant destroyed by fire means men and women out of a steady job.

Worst year of any in the history of fire in Canada was 1957. That year 638 died in fires which consumed $133.5 millions in property, for a per capita loss of $8.05, one of the highest rates reported by any nation in the world.

Fire prevention education begins in the home, Canada's 57,000 fire fighters believe. It's in the home that three-quarters of all fires happen. It's in the home that three-quarters of all fire deaths occur.

The campaign against the severity of fire is therefore particularly aimed at the country's four million homes: CHECK YOUR HOME AGAINST FIRE HAZARDS. But a greater awareness of fire where people live will carry into places where they work and where they play.

Voluntary home check wise plan for safety

Your home is your castle! This tradition is sacred to the program of voluntary home inspection by the fire department. That is why the inspection of a home is subject to the friendly wish of the owner or tenant.

If a fire fighter knocks at your door, let him in. His only aim is to help you uncover potential fire hazards.

If you're wise, you will accept his suggestions as have hundreds of thousands of Canadians.

What he has to say concerns the safety of your home, perhaps your own life. There's no expense to you and it doesn't add to your taxes. He is at your door either under a planned municipal program — or at your own invitation.

Home Fires Often Tragic

While public and commercial buildings in Canada must submit to a rigid fire inspection, the home and the owner's privacy are respected. Nevertheless, it is in the home that three-quarters of all fires occur, so often with tragic loss of family life.

More and more across the nation, voluntary or courtesy home inspection has been established as a public service.

Besides trash, inspectors are alert to storage of inflammable liquids and stove ashes, smoke pipes and chimneys, and faulty or frayed wiring. Don't be ashamed if they point out danger spots. No home is perfectly free from hazards.

No Gossip, No "Selling"

They will give you a private and personal report on what they find — without divulging your name and without gossip about the neighbors. And they will not advise on repairmen or equipment suppliers.

It's been a completely friendly call, and the rest is up to you.

As the fire services say, "The best fires we fight in the home are those that never happen."

Man, you're due for trouble!

Fire facts show that smoking in bed is the Canadian male's downfall, while stoves and furnaces are the killers of women and children.

During the 1950's, of the 152 people burned to death in bed, 106 were men. The other careless smokers included 44 women and even two children.

Fiery clothing touched off by a hot stove or furnace killed 294 women and children, but only 87 men.

In the past 10 years, the words "we left them alone for only a few minutes", were sobbed 156 times. Each one meant the death of a helpless child.

Some birthday parties brought grief instead of joy when frilly dresses touched flickering candles. A total of five children are buried today because someone let them too near deadly candles and torches.

The 74 Canadians who used kerosene and fuel oils to kindle fire died in the inferno they had not planned. Twenty-seven of them were children.

Fire loss is a national disgrace

Fire Prevention
An Editorial for

It is the world's most gruesome highway. For Canada, it is a national disgrace.

It is a highway 5,000 miles long, stretching from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

On both sides of the highway, there are homes, an eighth of the homes of Canada.

These are the homes which have been struck by fire.

At every mile of the highway, there is a cairn for the dead.

More than 500,000 homes destroyed or damaged by fire! More than 5,000 victims of fire!

Since the birth of Canada? No. Only in the last 10 years.

That is the tragic picture of Canadian carelessness with fire in the home, and everywhere.

The lesson for Fire Prevention Week, and very week: Keep off this highway, by not giving fire a place to start in your home.

A GREAT CALAMITY

One single fire in which 566 persons died and $130 millions of property was wasted (as was our total toll in 1960) would be easily one of Canada's greatest disasters, and indeed one of the world's worst calamities. Only six lives, for example, were lost in the Great London Fire of 1666.

SKY HIGH

Half a cupful of gasoline vaporizing in the bilge of a boat can blow it sky high. So Canada's fire services believe that safety lessons learned in the home help to make boating a more delightful adventure. There are now nearly a million small craft plying the waters of the nation, increasing at the rate of 50,000 yearly. You don't easily get a second chance to live in a boat fire.

Are you living in fool's paradise?

If you have a fire extinguisher in your home but don't know how to use it properly, you're living in a fool's paradise if you rely on it to do a job in emergency.

This is a straight-from-the-shoulder warning by one of the nation's senior fire prevention officers. Some tips:

Read the instructions on the housing of the extinguisher and bone up on them at intervals.

Know what the extingusher is capable of doing. Some types are ineffective in certain situations. Know what these are.

Because extinguishers in general have a short operating time, there's no point in starting yours when you're 50 feet away from the fire. By the time you close in on the blaze, its effect may be lost.

See, too, that the extinguisher's contents are up to specified capacity.

PARTY TIP

After a party is over, check behind sofa cushions and other spots which careless guests might have used as "ash trays".

DO YOU GAMBLE WITH FIRE?

The time to STOP fires is before they START. Check your home and habits for fire hazards that can prove disastrous.

We are equipped to eliminate all hazards in your heating system, either by cleaning, repair or a new installation.

Reddy Kilowatt says

You Can Help Prevent Fire

Many tragic fires are reported as being due to "Defective wiring."

Electric wires in older premises were not intended for the heavy loads they require to carry today. They were installed almost wholly for lighting, and before most of our modern electric appliances had come into general use.

With age, the insulation on these older wires becomes brittle and drops off. The partly bare wires thus become a fire hazard.

With overloading such wires become a positive fire menace!

Consider the additional appliances you are now using, compared with the appliances you had when your wiring was first installed. If you have added appliances without regard to the maximum load the wiring was intended to carry — you are incurring a grave risk of fire, regardless of the condition of the wires.

Bringing your wiring up to date does not necessarily mean a complete re-wiring of your premises.

In your own interest — for the safety of your loved ones — we suggest you consult your local electrician, if you have any doubts as to the adequacy of your wiring, for today's electrical living.

'Large loss' fires invariably start small

Canada's fire situation, as of 1960: Fewer fires but greater total loss. Explanation: Increased number of "large loss" fires, those of $250,000 and up.

There were 17 of these last year, compared with 11 in 1959. Their waste jumped to $17 millions, from $6 millions before.

One fire alone (an Ontario flour mill) burned up $7-millions.

Seven store fires accounted for more than $3-millions. One of these claimed 10 lives, as well as $500,000.

Schools, Churches Not Spared

Three-quarters of a million was the toll of fire in two schools, half a million in a couple of churches.

What's the thinking on large loss fires, most of them in big industrial places? Fires likely to put many out of work?

One thing is certain: nearly all start as minor outbreaks not stopped before they become conflagrations. Principal reasons given: construction weaknesses and the absence of alarm and protective sprinkler systems. (Structural weaknesses include the lack of division walls, unenclosed stairwells and elevator shafts).

Neglect and human carelessness. . . .

Bigger the Place, Bigger the Fire

Whether it's a huge plant or a small, cherished home, fire can become an inferno in minutes. Five minutes is par for the course of fire in the home. The big plant need not take much longer. The bigger the place, the bigger (even faster) the fire.

The lessons of fire safety in the home offer a good place to start in looking at the problem of Canada's large loss fires.

With four million homes, and 18 million people living in them, fire prevention can be highly personal, greatly destructive.

Doing well — we can do better

Five thousand more Canadian homes spared from fire! This is one of the most productive features of the countrywide fire prevention campaign over the last three years.

The record of dwelling fires:

1959	63,294
1960 (est.)	61,325

In the three years the population increased by nearly one million people, with some 150,000 housing units added each year. There are now more than 4 million homes in the nation.

With more people and more homes, an increase in home fire frequency might be logically expected.

A substantial, progressive decrease is, therefore, worthy of remark.

Mark of Envy

Summed up in terms of people living in these homes spared from fire, it is as though a really big town (say of 20,000) went for two years without a single fire. Such a record would be a mark of envy by the entire world.

While two years' experience hardly indicates a definite long-term trend, a plausible explanation of the decrease is that citizens are "catching on" to the idea that the time to beat fire is before it happens. That inspection of the home for fire hazards, whether by the householder or by the authorized fire fighter, can and will prevent fire from ever starting.

Sombre Aspect of Life Loss

Regardless of the decrease, there is a sombre aspect.

Three-quarters of all fire deaths occur in home fires. A reduction of about 4% in the frequency of dwelling fires in recent years might be expected to produce a corresponding drop in fire fatalities.

The facts are that 1960 saw an estimated 566 deaths by fire, whereas the 1959 figure was 560, and in 1958 it was only 532.

For the victims of fire, and those whose carelessness causes the tragedy of fire, the battle of fire prevention must be an unending one.

How it started . . .

A 1909 fire in an Ohio school, killing 173 children because a janitor forgot to keep an exit unlocked, gave a former Canadian the germ of an idea for the annual Fire Prevention Week campaign, which since 1922 has been set by proclamation in Canada and the United States. The originator was Rev. T. Alfred Fleming, long-time resident of Owen Sound, Ont., who died in 1960 in Cleveland, Ohio, aged 86.

However, the provinces of Nova Scotia, Ontario and Saskatchewan earlier observed a Fire Prevention Day, and in 1919, a national proclamation was issued for the day.

By common consent of Canada and the U.S., the week's observance is timed to the anniversary of the Great Chicago Fire, Oct. 9th, 1871, this month being the start of colder weather and hotter fires.

Short course in baby sitting

Here, for the parent and for the sitter, are standard rules for baby sitting:

1. The sitter should have a sense of responsibility and should like children, and preferably live in the neighborhood.

2. Instructions should be given in writing as well as orally — Where you are going and phone number, or the name and number of someone to call in an emergency. Your telephone number and location of telephone.

Emergency telephone numbers for FIRE, POLICE, DOCTOR.

How to call the fire department.

Location of exits.

How to control the furnace or stove.

Leave a flashlight in case of power failure.

Guide to Sitter in Emergency

Get the children safely out. Even if it's cold outside, don't wait to dress them. Wrap them in a blanket.

Even the smell of smoke or gas is enough warning to call the fire department, or summon help. Be sure to say exactly where you are. If you can, turn on the front lights, to attract attention.

Don't re-enter the house. Smoke or gas from a very small fire may be fatal. If you are trapped inside, remember that the air near the floor is usually better in a smoke-filled room.

Inside, don't turn on or off any electric switches. This may create a spark, ignite gas vapors, and cause explosion.

JUST PEOPLE

A Canadian fire scientist laconically lists his four principal causes of fire: 1, Men; 2, Women; 3, Children; 4, Lightning. Putting it another way: Fire prevention is people.

Criminal liability is possible in fire neglect

For a compassionate community there can be no sadder news than the death by fire of children in the home.

The shadow deepens when the headlines read: "We left them alone only for a few minutes . . ."

For the stricken family, the shadow lasts a lifetime.

No child (and, for that matter, no very old or dependent person) should ever be left alone. This is a vital message from Canada's fire services, not just for Fire Prevention Week but throughout the year.

There are various provincial penalties for callous neglect of children. And Section 189 of the Criminal Code of Canada reads: "Everyone who unlawfully abandons or exposes a child who is under the age of 10 years, so that its life is or is likely to be endangered or its health is or is likely to be permanently injured, is guilty of an offence and is liable to imprisonment for two years."

Tragic Sameness

There is a tragic monotony to the files of the last year in which 232 children died: Parents out drinking, infant smothers in fire . . . 3-year-old knocks over oil lamp, kills self and two brothers . . . youngsters alone in barn playing with matches, die in flaming haystack . . . brother and sister unattended in nursery, caught in blaze caused by electric heater . . . year-old baby killed in stove fire while mother outside . . . boy lighting waste paper in garage, smothered by gases . . . youth cooking on faulty stove kills self and five other brothers and sisters.

Parents who go out have a duty to their children, to the community and to themselves to see that the youngsters are properly looked after.

Get Advice of Fire Chief

The heartening acceptance of this obligation in homes across the land is reflected by the fact that baby-sitting has become more than a casual occupation for many people. It has even developed into a regular profession.

The Fire Chief has information on child protection. If you do a fair amount of baby sitting, call him. He'll be delighted to hear that you mean business and that, like him, you are deeply concerned with the welfare of your charges.

Nine hundred thousand cheques every month!

One of a series of articles describing the Federal Health and Welfare Services Canadians get for their tax dollars.

Seventy-five thousand cheques come back to the Department of National Health and Welfare's regional offices each year — for a total of over $4 million.

They are Old Age Security cheques which cannot be delivered because the pensioner did not tell his local Old Age Security office that he had moved.

It isn't enough, department officials stress, to give the post office authorities your new address and expect them to do the rest. Postmasters return all undelivered pension cheques to the office of origin. A prompt note to the regional office will ensure that the cheque arrives in good time and with as little inconvenience as possible to all concerned.

Old Age Security cheques of $55 each go out each month to 900,000 Canadians, 70 years of age and over, from 10 regional offices across Canada. The regional offices mail the cheques on the 3rd last banking day of each month. This is to allow the pensioner two clear banking days before the end of the month in which to cash his cheque. The plan works well, when such procedures are followed.

The same thing is true of cheques for pensioners living outside Canada. Under law, Canadians who become approved pensioners and who have lived in this country for 25 years after age 21, can draw Old Age Security benefits abroad for as long as they wish. People who have lived in Canada for less than this time can draw pensions abroad for 6 months plus the month of departure. The provision of payments abroad is a recent development. Commenting on this aspect in a recent address, the Hon. J. Waldo Monteith said; "It is not the intention of the Government to encourage pensioners to leave Canada: what we are anxious to do is to give our senior citizens greater freedom of action in arranging their retirement years in line with their own best wishes and best interests."

Cheques for pensioners abroad go out on the same day as the in-Canada variety, but there is an important difference between the two types. Out-of-Canada cheques can be cashed anywhere abroad. In-Canada cheques are good only in this country. So, if you are planning a trip to Florida or France, you should let your regional office know promptly. The office will send you a special cheque and arrange for payments to continue as long as you are away — subject to the provisions mentioned above.

Old Age Pensions are administered by the Government of Canada under the Old Age Security Act of 1951. The Act provides a universal pension of $55 a month to residents of Canada, 70 years and over, who meet certain residence requirements. Payments total about $600 million per year for about 900,000 people across the nation. Over one-third of these pensioners, 328,000 live in Ontario — a fact which some attribute to the comparatively mild climate of the province's southern section. Quebec with a similar population accounts for only 191,000. British Columbia is next with 115,000. The present life expectancy for the pensioner is 11½ years, and Canada's life expectancy is rising. Thus the program can be expected to play an increasingly important role in the Canadian economy.

This large and complex operation calls for a massive job of organization and book-keeping. But the co-operation of pensioners in such matters as address-changes helps to keep the machinery running smoothly. It helps make the service better for everyone.

Tree varities for quick growth reported by Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa

Trees are growing taller faster in the arboretum of the Central Experimental Farm maintained by the Canada Department of Agriculture in Ottawa. A poplar grew 59 feet in 10 years.

A. R. Buckley, well-known horticulturist who has spent many years at the farm, reports that measurements indicate more growth in many trees than could normally be expected. Yet the trees are maintained under natural conditions without special attention.

Alders planted in 1950 are now 38 to 43 feet high. These trees are suitable as an alternative to willows for wet areas or near streams but they grow fast even in dry places. In the arboretum, the speckled alder, European alder and the red-veined Oregon alder grow the fastest but lack attractive fall foliage or fruit.

The London plane tree has developed into a beautiful specimen in 15 years. It is 40 feet high, has a branch spread of 41 feet and a girth of 41 inches.

The silver maple, a fast-growing species, reached 38 feet in 10 years The red Norway maple, Crimson King, and the common Norway maple have grown to 16 and 22 feet respectively. A cut-leaved silver maple became 44 feet high, 43 feet wide and 49 inches in girth in 15 years.

Among the smaller trees, moraine locust has grown 28 feet and the European mountain ash 29 feet in 11 years.

The newer birches, transplanted in 1950 from seeds sown in 1947, vary unusually in growth. The lovely Japanese birch has grown to 28 feet and has a spread of 15 feet; the Nut-leaved birch, a graceful tree, has attained 31 feet with a spread of 11 feet; the popular European birch is 33 feet tall; the hairy birch 38 feet, and the Forrest birch 33 feet. The latter has a spread of 30 feet. Most birches spread from 14 to 16 feet but the Forrest and common birches are almost as wide as they are high. This is advantageous for home planting.

Among coniferous evergreens, the red pine has grown 23 feet and spread 15 feet in 11 years from seed — that is in six years from transplanting. The shore pine grew 22 feet in 14 years from seed and in nine years from transplanting. A white spruce has grown 17 feet from a nursery plant in 10 years. A Japanese larch has attained 31 feet, a spread of 12 feet and a girth of 17½ inches in 14 years from seed and in 10 years from transplanting.

The poplars have made amazing growth in this time. The Upright Simon poplar grew 59 feet in 10 years and the bolleana poplar, a type that is rapidly replacing the Lombardy poplar because of its glistening white bark, silvery leaves and neater habits, grew 51 feet in 12 years.

WATCHDOG

The fuse is the "watch dog" of electrical safety. The difference between a 15 and a 30 ampere fuse can be deadly.

U.K. cleric studies Anglican Church here

Toronto — The Rev. Francis Noel Davey, Director of the Society for Promoting Christian Knowledge, Holy Trinity Church, London, England, is visiting Canada as an observer to learn about the Anglican Church here. He will visit Anglican Book Centres in Toronto and other cities and consult with the Church's Missionary Society regarding plans to build a Christian Literature-Radio Centre in Uganda.

In Toronto Mr. Davey will preach Sunday, October 1, and on October 3 he will go to Ottawa to address the executive council meeting and the M.S.C.C. Board Management

NFL football now for everyone

SPORTS CAMERA
By Mel Suffrin,
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The violent world of Sam Huff, the power running of Jimmy Brown, and the picture passing of Johnny Unitas, will soon be familiar to Canadian football fans.

After several years in which virtually the only football available to Canadian television viewers has been the Canadian game, they are getting a chance to see the National Football League regularly.

True, many Canadians living close to the border have been able to watch the U.S. pro league in action over American TV channels. But for others this is a new experience.

The CBC, outbid in its efforts to get the rights to televise Big Four games, has picked up 14 NFL games for its national network. This represents a bonus for Western fans, who still see their own league, and for those in Big Four cities who can watch the Canadians on private TV.

No Single Point

Canadians will get a chance to access the relative merits of the two games. They may miss the excitement of the single point, but they will see some fine football because the NFL certainly ranks as the best league in operation.

There are few players anywhere who can play defence as well as Sam Huff, the New York Giants linebacker whose exploits were the subject of a TV show a few years ago.

Johnny Unitas, the Baltimore Colts quarterback, rarely goes through a game without tossing at least one touchdown pass and his moves are beautiful to behold.

Jimmy Brown the record-holding ground-gainer and Milt Plum, the quarterback from Petrolia, Ont., give Cleveland Browns a one-two punch that makes them a perennial threat for the Eastern Conference title.

Sam the Man

And of course there's Sam Etcheverry, the former Montreal Alouettes quarterback, who could make St. Louis Cardinals into a contender if his injured shoulder comes around.

Timeouts, particularly in the dying moments of a close game, may tend to slow down the American pro game. But they give a team a chance to run a lot of plays in the last couple of minutes and this often adds to the tension and excitement.

The fact that the American game has four downs instead of three provides more opportunity for ball control and this may be less — or more — interesting, depending on whether the team you're rooting for or the other side has the ball.

There is often less handling of the ball in the backfield and this has led some proponents of Canadian football to suggest the NFL is less spectacular to watch.

But there's no question that for sheer ability the NFL has the best collection of players available anywhere. And if you like to see football played really well, you'll find it in watching this league in operation.

CALCUTTA GOLF TOURNAMENT

Lions, Golf Club proceeds to Regional Hospital

Gilbert E. Ayers, President of the Lachute Regional Hospital construction committee, was the recipient of two cheques at last week's regular Lions Club meeting. Above, a cheque for the $1,500 proceeds of the Hospital Calcutta Tournament, conducted by the Club for the benefit of the Lachute Regional Hospital, is presented. Left to right are Lions Club President Col. Ernest Emmett; Immediate past-president Dr. E. Mongeon presenting the cheque to Mr. Ayers; and Club members Mozart Carrière and Guy Besner.

In the lower photograph, Roger Gravel, Golf Club Manager, turned over a $2,000 cheque deriving from the same event, to Mr. Ayers. Looking-on is the Tournament Chairman, Roger E. Regimbal, who announced these latest donations brought the Lions Club contributions to $3,228 and that of the Golf Club to $20,218.

RICHELIEU BLVD. REPRESENTED

Ayersville hears 28 protests on valuation roll

At the Ayersville Council meeting last week, exception was taken to the Roads Department contract for the approaches to Hamford Street bridge being awarded to an outsider, A. Lauzon, of St. Joseph-du-Lac. It was resolved to write the Department at Quebec asking that the contract be annulled and awarded to a resident contractor, if not in Ayersville, at least in the immediate vicinity.

In regard to the construction of this new bridge, the Council ceded to the Roads Department a right-of-way through one of the lots bought by the municipality from Jacques Poirier.

A letter was read from D. H. Sharp, consulting engineer, offering his services to purify water and curb pollution.

A cheque for $3,118.46 was received from the Department of Municipal Affairs as part of a statutory grant towards sewerage and waterworks.

Bills for the month, amounting to $4,354.56, were passed for payment.

Before adjournment of the meeting, consideration was given to 28 protests on property valuation. All property-holders on Richelieu Blvd., numbering 18, had together signed a joint petition for reduced valuation.

The session was adjourned until October 16 for adoption and homologation of the roll. . . . Coun. Gérard Gauthier was the only council member absent.

First Lachute Fall Light Horse Show excels organizers' expectations

The first Lachute Fall Light Horse Show held on the Lachute Exhibition Grounds, on Saturday last, was a tremendous success.

The president of this newly-formed association, D.M. Hay, and his directors were more than pleased with the fine co-operation of the many exhibitors, the performers and the public, which, combined with the summer-like weather, made this fall event one of great promise.

The casual observer would wonder where all the horses and ponies came from in the near-by surroundings, when this is the mechanical age, but the Show had enough entries to keep the two Ottawa horse judges busy from 11 in the morning till 6 in the evening. Three pony classes on the line were judged in the morning, and the long afternoon program was varied with the usual light horse events and novelty numbers of musical stalls for horses and ponies, potato races for the younger entrants, and a thrilling half-mile hurdle race around the track. The Western Class was a colorful event and quite a number of these entrants also entered the unusual barrel race in the Green Ring.

There were two trick ponies to vary the program, one from the Younkie Farm and the other from the Ayers Riverside Stable. These two numbers received appreciative acclaim from the large grandstand audience.

The two well-qualified judges from Ottawa were Messrs. Eddie Jones and Bill Crawford, and although delayed by a thick Ottawa Valley fog for an hour, they managed to speed-up the events in reasonable tempo. An entrant from the Ottawa region was Mrs. B. Toll, of East Templeton, who also had to battle the fog as well as a breakdown with her truck, necessitating a return home for another vehicle. She managed to arrive at the show late, but willing to go on with the co-operation of local entrants, and won her class.

The Gay-Nineties Parade was an amusing episode with The Younkie Farm having two entries, "The Surrey with a Fring on Top" and another buggy, while the Rev. and Mrs. Ken Riley (Director Ken Riley and Mrs. Ken Bradford) in their horse and carriage outfit, created many a laugh.

The audience present numbered about 700, with 623 paid admissions; the membership list includes 62 seniors and 40 juniors. The Directors wish to express their appreciation to all those who assisted in the smooth performance of the program, and though it is impossible to mention all persons involved, they publicly thanked Messrs. Bud MacGeorge, who did an admirable job at the public address booth; Mrs. Payment, of Renfrew, and Miss Leese, of Lachute, the two outriders; Messrs. Bill Brass, Bruce Hay, Brian Noble, Don Neil, Walter Billingham, and the Lachute Legion for the use of the P.A. System, which was operated by Stan Morrison.

Several fine tributes were paid to Arthur (Pop) Billingham for his untiring efforts during the day, and for his co-operation of entering many ponies in the several events. The Wal-Ken Riding School had numerous performers, and another local riding school, the Elken Acres also was well represented.

The competitors received no prizes, but were awarded ribbons for their class. Several generous people have offered prizes, and the directors appreciate this fine gesture.

This Lachute Light Horse Association is composed of the following officers: Donald M. Hay, president; Alwyn Stewart, Sec.-manager; Directors: Cecil Whyte, W. B. Younkie, Fred Pring, Gilbert E. Ayers, Roland Lacelles, Jas. MacKimmie, Ken Riley and Arthur Billingham. Complete results will be published next week.

Council given monthly reports on police, fire

Police and Fire Commissioner Linton W. Armstrong presented the September monthly reports for both departments at last Wednesday's regular session of Council. The police report indicated that a total of 344 calls were received during the month, in addition to 25 automobile accidents; three arrests; 180 court cases; five injured persons treated; 11 persons reported missing, all of whom were found; two stolen cars, one recovered; seven bicycles stolen and four thefts in the vicinity of $25.

A total of $1,108.20 was collected during the month and 90 traffic infraction tickets were issued. The sum collected included permits as well as fines.

The fire department answered three calls, one of which was located in the Parish of St. Jerusalem, and four practices were held for members of the brigade.

Rotarians hear address on outdoors by Les Morrow, noted C-I-L marksman

The weekly meeting of the Brownsburg-Lachute Rotary Club was chaired by Vice-president Jack MacKimmie in the absence of president Art Lapp. Before introducing the guest speaker, Ken McGibbon, Works Manager of the Brownsburg C-I-L plant, explained the carrying-power of some of the cartridges produced at the plant and stressed on the importance of hunters being extremely careful while in the woods, as the number of accidents are increasing yearly.

Following this important reminder, Ken then introduced Les Morrow, president of the Montreal Anglers and Hunters Association. In addition to being an expert marksman, Les is also one of Canada's best-known outdoors writers, and has had articles published in many Canadian and American magazines. Before showing the members some films, Les talked about hunting and the outdoors. He emphasized that people should see and enjoy the outdoors more while in the woods, rather than just having the instinct to kill. He also strongly stated that hunters should do their target practice on the shooting ranges and not in the bush, where one has no idea where the bullet is going to go.

The first of the films was about Retrievers. It showed how and when to start training a dog for retrieving, the right kind of dog, and what to watch for when purchasing a dog. The other film concerned the almost extinct Elk. This film showed the Elk in its natural habitat, its way of life and the great migration the animals take each year; and what is being done to protect the Elk. The address and pictures were interesting and highly seasonal and were thoroughly enjoyed by all.

Don't forget the Variety Show with the Unity Boys' Club Talent Parade on October 27, at Lachute High School. Tickets obtainable from any Rotarian.

Council deliberations brief with matters of minor note

General business of a minor nature was dealt with in short order by members of Lachute Town Council, at the regular monthly session last Wednesday evening under the chairmanship of Mayor Fernand Legault, Q.C. Ald. Lauréat Laurin was absent from the meeting.

Correspondence included a letter from the Catholic School Commission requesting completion of the sidewalk on Wilson Street. It was agreed to comply with this demand at the expense of the Commission. A letter from the Richelieu Club, requesting a tax exemption, was also read and it was decided that Council was agreeable if they had the authority to grant such an exemption.

A letter from Lachute High School authorities requesting that repairs to Court Street be executed, was turned over to Ald. Linton Armstrong for investigation. Also read were letters from the Department of Municipal Affairs, approving out-of-town fire rates, and from the Minister of Health, approving the engineer's plans for the proposed filtration plant.

A representative from Canadian Marconi Company was present, at the request of the Council, to give explanations on the rental and purchase of radio-telephone equipment used on the police and fire vehicles. Under contention were bills, of appreciable amounts, for maintenance and repairs. The company representative was asked to enquire if the Council could revert to its former system, on a strict rental basis.

A request was presented from St. Andrews Village Council regarding purchase of Lachute's speed-timer, and it was moved by Ald. Dr. Dorion, seconded by Ald. Thibodeau, that Lachute should part with this equipment for a price of $400. . . . It was also decided to purchase the traffic radar machine, presently in use, but only rented.

Accounts for the month, totalling $15,400 were approved for payment.

On proposal of Ald. Dr. Dorion, seconded by Ald. Armstrong, it was decided that Lester Thompson be engaged at $75 a week to attend to maintenance of the garbage dump.

Four service station proprietors agreed on a 2-cents-a-gallon discount on gasoline used in the town vehicles. The four agreeing to this reduction are Lachute Farm Equipment, L. J. Dumais Reg., Andy's Service Station and Deacon Motor Sales. These dealers will be patronized accordingly, in alphabetical rotation.

Ald. Armstrong reported on disputed damage to one of the fire trucks, stating that apparently the driver had backed-up the truck and struck a hydrant.

James Hay, from whom the former dumpsite was originally purchased, was asked to present a bill for damages caused to his property.

The police were asked to give rigid enforcement to Sunday regulations on grills and dance halls — and the meeting was then adjourned to October 11.

Business discussed by Chatham Coun.

At a regualr meeting of the Corporation of the Township of Chatham Council, held in St. Philippe d'Argenteuil on Tuesday of last week, the Mayor, Roméo Foucault, and Councillors William Morrow, Dieudonne Leroux, Adelard Gagné, Jean-Paul Rochon and Adam Meyer, were present, forming a quorum.

The meeting opened with the reading of the minutes of the month of September and when read, it was moved by Councillor William Morrow, seconded by Councillor Jean-Paul Rochon, that they be adopted.

Moved by Councillor Dieudonné Leroux, seconded by Councillor Adelard Gagné, that the Council accept By-law 118 concerning the Mountain Lake Road.

Moved by Councillor Dieudonné Leroux, seconded by Councillor Adelard Gagné that the secretary write Mr. Clement Caron to ask him if they will accept about two miles of the Mountain Lake Road for winter road breaking.

Moved by Councillor Dieudonné Leroux, seconded by Councillor William Morrow, that the secretary write Alvin Heatlie, the Municipal Inspector, to ask him to return and visit the line ditch between the W. J. Chambers and Real Demers properties, and to measure the part of land concerned and to divide it in two so as each property gets an equal share.

Notice of motion was given by Councilor William Morrow that at the next regular meeting he will move a By-law concerning the winter work program.

Moved by Councillor Adam Meyer seconded by Councillor Adelard Gagné that the bills be paid as read to the Council totalling the amount of $1,492.65.

Winnipeg youth related here wins gun contest

Winnipeg, Manitoba — An 11-year-old Windsor Park boy, John Todd, of 39 Conifer Cres., captured top honors in the junior section of the Winnipeg Game and Fish Association's Field Day at the Winnipeg Gun Club recently.

John rang up scores of eight out of 10 and 10 out of 10 on bear trap, nine out of 10 on practice trap and six out of 10 on walk-up, to lead the field of 25 junior competitors.

The occasion marked only about the tenth time John has handled a shotgun. He had shot with his father a few times previously this summer, and had started shooting with a couple of practice sessions last summer. His father, Robert Todd, is an employee of the munitions division of Canadian Industries Ltd. A former resident, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Allan Todd, reside in Brownsburg.

Using a 12-gauge shotgun is not difficult for the boy. Although not large for his age, the recoil does not bother him as he moves with it instead of fighting to hold his shoulder steady.

Local Scout officials attend course on camping and canoe craftsmanship

Thirty-odd adult leaders of the Boy Scouts of Canada completed the second stage of a canoe-camping course on the St. Maurice River on the week-end of September 30, under the guidance of Duncan Breese, Three Rivers.

It is expected by the Quebec Provincial Council that these trainees from all parts of the province will in turn train local Scout Masters and Boy Scouts in the arts of camping and handling the canoe. Col. (Red) Martin, Provincial Camping Chairman, feels that this program will interest the boys in the outdoors where Scouting should centre its activities, and that this in turn will stimulate the interest required to hold the older boys in the organization.

The Camping Committee have already announced the next stage in the series which will be a Survival course to be held at Lac St. Denis, on October 28 and 29, under the leadership of trained R.C.A.F. Personnel, and it is expected that winter camping session will follow.

Dunc. Breese, editor of The Chronicle, a Three Rivers weekly newspaper, is considered an authority on canoe-camping. He is a veteran of the Second World War; active in the Three Rivers Canoe Club, which has a membership of some 3,000, and has been a canoe enthusiast for some 28 years. A few years ago, he demonstrated equipment and addressed the local fish and game association at one of its meetings in Brownsburg.

The first stage of the course was held near the Long Sault District campsite at the C.I.P. Harrington Tree Farm on the Rouge River. Two groups of trainees attended; one during May and one over the week-end of September 16. This part of the course dealt with selection of suitable equipment, how to load the canoe and navigate it in smooth water and rapids. At this session, Mr. Breese placed emphasis on safety precautions, lightweight equipment in a compact package, comfort in the canoe and in camp. As proof that canoe-camping can be enjoyable, he pointed out that his family has accompanied him frequently since his children were infants.

The second stage of the course, consisted of a canoe trip down the St. Maurice River from Riviere-aux-Rat (about 15 miles below La Tuque), to St. Roch-de-Mackinac.

Embarking on the river early Saturday morning after breaking camp, the trainees were divided into "syndicates" of three men to a canoe — each "syndicate" responsible for its own equipment, food and cooking its own meals. This section of the river is very picturesque — high banks, sandy in spots and with heavy foliage to the water's edge in others; always in the background were rolling hills folding one over the other or lofty outcroppings of shear rock. The river itself varied with the passing miles as did the scenery, long smooth stretches, faster sections with bank eddies and boiling slicks, fast rapids, shallows where a man could walk across its width, and deep pools. Where the highway to La Tuque wound along the river's edge the occasional car stopped and its occupants waved

Here is a fact that will surprise residents. On Friday, September 22, from noon until eight p.m., 5,773 vehicles crossed over Barron's Bridge; 2,761 were headed towards Brownsburg and the remaining 3,012 came into Lachute. This is in an eight-hour period.

On Sunday, September 24, in the twelve hours between nine a.m. and nine p.m., 9,235 vehicles crossed the bridge, making an average of 770 per hour, of 12 per minute. The information was obtained to back Council's request for a replacement bridge at this dangerously busy intersection. The count was taken at the request of the Municipal Council, who retained the services of a man to complete the job.

Lachute's new Chief of Police

Jean Louis Hébert, a native of Plantagenet, Ont., recently appointed Lachute Chief of Police by Phillips Investigation Bureau who hold the contract for policing this community. Chief Hébert served for ten years as assistant chief in Gatineau following which he was Hull District Superior Court bailiff for a three-year period. He comes to Lachute from Rockland, Ont., where he served as Police Chief for just over two years. Chief Hébert has resided in Lachute for a month and will be joined by his family shortly.

A column for the sportsman

— By BOB ATCHISON —

I don't know if you have all received your questionaire forms from the Wildlife Bureau. These forms could do a lot for us as lovers of wildlife and such. They are to be returned, and the contents noted at the proper time. The forms are for the benefit of all of us and should be filled out properly; nothing should be entered that has no bearing on the case. Most of this form-filling and such is a lot of hooey as most of the time things like this are filed in the waste baskets of the government, but I have a feeling this time something is going to be done.

Out the other day after crows. I managed to get one before the others took off. Unless they are decoyed in and a flat shooting rifle is used there is not much use in trying to hit them after the first shot. The average 22's are of no use at over 100 yards and this is where the 220 comes in. Of course there is a terrific difference in price but for the lover of guns, price doesn't seem to make much difference. Anyway the 220 is a wonderful varmit gun, and not too costly to use. Maybe I'll get one of these sometime; certainly the crows would take a beating with it.

The Perch fishing has really improved. It sure is hard to believe that such a short time would make that difference. Some of the Perch are very big, bigger in fact than most of those caught during the summer. They were around then but hard to catch. Sir John's Lake is very good, close to the bridge, but as usual most of the fish taken were full of parasites. Only one in five were free of them. Talking to a couple of fellows who were fishing there at the same time, and getting the reason for worms in fish makes you realize just how neglected the knowledge of fish and their habits have been. These gents had the idea that it was the water and temperature that caused these grubs. They sure were surprised to learn that most of this type of growth is caused by birds and their droppings, and that the chief offenders were the Kingfisher and Loon. So much is not known about these things and the trouble is most of the information fished out is of no use to us, as we just can't understand the official language.

Some dope that was passed on to me that may be of interest to our Game Wardens. It seems deer are being shot right now and being hung in a barn, for sale later on in the season. This is supposed to be taking place around St. Michel and it may be worth a look see. More and more of this sort of thing is going on, and the trouble is they are doing this as a business and not for supposed fun. This sort of thing is not confined to the Province of Quebec though, Ontario is being plagued with this type of pot hunter. I read a funny excuse for this infraction. A fellow was caught "jack-lighting" and the judge asked what reason he could have for doing this. His eye-sight was bad so he had to use a light, was the answer. Of course having two deer at the time didn't help any.

The ducks are not co-operating with the hunters, at least not with some of the shooters. I saw a couple of shooters on the North River road by Black's Bridge, that were shooting off the bridge. I guess they didn't know or care that it is supposed to be illegal to shoot over or on a highway.

For the upland shooters, Partridge are in good supply along the Lakefield road. Some Woodcock have also been seen and this I'm surprised at, as there have not been many around this district for a number of years. Mourning Doves are still with us but they won't be for long; Snipe and Great Yellow Legs are also in abundance along the river. These make delicious eating if done right.

Another queer thing is happening. The Blue Herons and other types of walking birds are still with us. It must be the weather that has them fooled, but they are noticeable right now. With the bull rushes withering and falling over, they can be readily seen standing waiting for a meal. The Black Squirrels certainly have increased considerably this past summer. We have seven of them around our part of the woods and I have been told of other spots having up to a dozen scampering around. Beautiful animals to watch but not too easily tamed or caught. Not as easily, that is, as the Red or Grey.

The Bow Hunters have been out in force and some of the reports on them have been very good. It's true no reports have come in from this area, but I think they must have been the same. It would seem to me a lot more sport would enter into this type of hunting than with the high-powered rifle. The stalking of any game is after all the main reason we go hunting, but this form of getting deer seems to have become a lost art. I don't know what some of the Hunters would do if couldn't get a gang of men chasing. Maybe one of these days, this also will become a thing of the past.

Sure heard a cute little story the other night. It seems a couple of the locals went camping once again a couple of weeks ago. Rather cold at night, and as we all know, unless you are used to this type of camping, it can be uncomfortable. Anyway after getting the tent and beds set up, they went to sleep. Incidentally one thought that cutting small cedar bows was a waste of time. During the night, it seems one of them got cold, even though a sleeping bag was being used. Getting up for more clothes the sport finally got back to bed, fully clothed including his padded outer coat along with his cap. Even all the clothes did not make the sleeping any easier though; oh for some cedar bows underneath. Getting up was a real chore, as he was bent like a pretzel and feeling like the wrath or something or other. Camping is now one of the forbidden subjects. Its strange for anyone to even try and go camping without knowing just what is needed even for the smallest comforts. It must be a terrific sport though, all that has to be done is look at the numbers of campers and the increase every year. Really, I think in this case it was just a question of being too soft for this form of amusement.

A new type of water bottle is now on the market for campers. The one quart size, it is made in such a way as to be like our present thermos, and is equipped with a bottle which does not break under normal use. This could be a real boon to all outdoor people and it sure is about time that something like this was thought of. Even the new shooting glasses are being made of unbreakable materials. I know not too many people wear these but they will more than pay for themselves in comfort for the wearer. Even a little powder blown back can cause discomfort.

Clothing for the outdoors has been getting the business this past year and some of the articles are excellent. One jacket that I have seen is great. It is for the fisherman who likes to take everything with him and not carry boxes at all. Pockets by the dozen and all with waterproof zippers (or so they claim). Also, the pockets are not catchable, that is baits can be put right into the pocket without sticking into the cloth. This I sure like, as I usually end up with a "Birds Nest" that takes hours to unravel. For winter wear they have developed a sock that is almost as light as the nylon sock, but is made of a cord type stitch. Somewhat like the cord underwear, it is a sock that was designed for arctic wear. This I sure will like.

Launch Federated Charities financial campaign

Luncheon held for organist leaving Trinity Church

A farewell luncheon for Mr. Carl Elder, organist at Trinity Church for many years, was held recently at the Rectory.

Miss Dulcie Wood, on behalf of the choir, presented Mr. Elder with a leather wallet.

The Rector expressed the appreciation of the congregation for the assistance given throughout the Parish during the past eight years.

CNIB financial appeal linked with Federation

The Federation of Charities for Lachute has launched its 1961 financial campaign for Lachute, St. Jerusalem and Ayersville. The objective for the campaign is $15,500.

One of the agencies that will benefit from the Federation is the Canadian National Institute for the Blind. They have requested $3,557.60 as the needs are urgent and in order to carry out its humanitarian work, the Institute appeals to the public to support the current drive. During the past year, the Institute has assisted indigent cases with eye examinations and providing eye glasses, either from its own resources or through the Lachute Lions Club. At times it was necessary to provide food to needy cases, when it was essential that such food should be provided immediately. Food and clothing have been provided to only sighted people; the same applies for financial aid. In addition, the Institute has retarded blind children that require help and your contribution will do a great deal towards helping these youngsters. Employment is essential and the Institute is preparing to do something tangible for a number of sightless people, with a local firm. Just as soon as details have been completely worked out, the public will be notified.

When the volunteer canvasser calls upon you on Monday, October 16, please be as generous as you possibly can and remember that you are helping those who are more unfortunate than yourself.

Scout officials attend course on camping

and watched with interest as the flotilla of 13 canoes and some 35 men slipped quietly down stream with paddles flashing in the bright fall sun.

Camp was made at 5.00 p.m. on a high wooded strip of island off the Mattawin River, some 22 miles below Riviere-aux-Rat. Tales were told around the campfire after a hot supper and ten tents had been made ready for the night — then, except for the noises of the wild — all was silent.

Breaking camp the following morning was a short chore. Then it was on the river again after a briefing by Mr. Breese on how to run the rapids of La Cuisse (a portion of the river shaped like a man's leg) and the Manigance (tricky water). Guided carefully through these waters, the canoes landed on a small island near St. Roch de Mackinac for lunch, then to the mainland against a stiff "smokey Sow'wester", the wind blowing at 20 to 35 m.p.h.

Before leaving for home, the trainees were each presented with a St. Maurice Brigade Badge to commemorate the event, by Dave Glenndenning, on behalf of the camping committee. Special badges were also issued for the Rouge River outing.

The Provincial Camping Committee consists of Col. (Red) Martin, Chairman; Jim Robson, Provincial Commissioner; Duncan Breese, Dave Glendenning and Eric Turcotte.

Trained canoemen assisting Mr. Breeze included Marc Pager, Bill Foran, Paul Germain and John Conner, all of Three Rivers.

Attending both stages of the course from the local Long Sault District were District President, D. N. Atkins, of Brownsburg; District Scout Master, B. A. Jenkins, of Lachute; and Scoutmaster, K. C. Ball, of Brownsburg.

Hksb'y merchants sponsor contest in "disturbed" city

Hawkesbury, the most prosperous and disturbed oity in Eastern Ontario, is undergoing an unparalled face lifting, with many new residential sections being planned; the merchants have taken advantage of the many changes to form an association.

The newly-formed association this week announced a contest which is expected to go down in history in the annuals of this Ontario City. Some 75 merchants are taking part in The Hawkesbury Merchant's Association Contest.

This event will undoubtedly attract a large number of participants to take advantage of the many specials offered by the merchants of Hawkesbury, all of whom will automatically become eligible for the contest.

The contest started October 9 and will close on December 13.

At the Regent Theatre, Hawkesbury, starting each Wednesday evening from October 18, someone will win the sum of $100 cash. On December 13, the winner will receive the Jack Pot, an amount of which is not yet definite.

President Bernard Danis feels certain a large number of outside residents will take part. Visitors and tourists will become customers and enjoy the many new facilities now offered. The new highway north of Main Street, eases through traffic in the city and permits access to several new parking lots in the business section of the town.

While in Hawkesbury, visitors can also examine the work done, and admire the new look the town is acquiring.

Christ Church acquires organ; funds needed

A congregational meeting of Christ Church was held this week to plan repairs to a miniature pipe organ donated through St. Lawrence's Church, Coteau Landing, Que.

Mr. Emerson Patterson, Mille Isles, was appointed treasurer of the Organ Fund, which will require $1,000 and donations may be sent directly to him.

Present awards to B'burg students

Awards were presented to scholarship winners at the annual school opening in Brownsburg High School on Friday evening September 29. A total of 125 prizes were given out to pupils from Grade I to Grade X.

Principal G. King Amos said there was a large increase in the number of new pupils. Many of the school's graduates were now attending colleges in different parts of Canada.

Winner of the School Board scholarship for highest standing in Grade 10 was Heather Connelly, while Wayne Clark received the L.O.L. scholarship for the most deserving student in Grade 10.

The Union scholarship for the girl with the highest standing in Grade XI went to Brenda McGibbon (over 90%).

The Legion scholarship to the boy with the highest standing in Grade XI was awarded to Andrew Seary. Brian Gagne, who was unable to return to college this year, claimed the Legion scholarship for 1960.

DISTRICT NEWS

Brownsburg

Mrs. G. C. Elliott has returned to her home in St. John, N.B., after visiting her daughter, Mrs. Clifford Armstrong, Mr. Armstrong and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Mason MacAdam and family spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. J. Scullion, in St. Martin.

Mr. Robert McGuire is spending his holidays with his parents in Fredericton, N.B.

Women's Institute Report Interesting Meeting

Mr. Leslie Tomalty and Mr. N. E. Smillie were the guest speakers at the Brownsburg Women's Institute meeting Thursday evening last and showed interesting slides and movies of their recent visit to the British Isles. Mrs. Tomalty assisted by operating the projector.

During the meeting's business session, Mrs. Lemuel Wilson reported that a Golden Age Tea would be held October 12 (an account of this event will be given at a later date). Delegates were appointed to attend the semi-annual convention in Lachute on October 21. A large number of the W.I. members had the privilege of attending the Frontier W.I. meeting which was held October 3 in the St. Mongo's Church hall, Cushing, where they enjoyed the entertainment and social hour together.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lamarche and infant daughter, Susan, of Quebec City, were recent guests of relatives here.

IN MEMORIAM

FRASER — In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Robert Fraser, who passed away Oct. 9, 1958. — Sadly missed by his wife and family.

"We often sit and think of you,
The things you used to say and do;
You live with us in memory still —
Not just today, but everyday."

FRASER — In loving memory of a dear father and grandfather, Robert Fraser, who passed away Oct. 9, 1958. — Always remembered by May, Arthur, Bill and Brian.

"Deep in our hearts you will always stay, Loved and remembered every day."

FRASER — In loving memory of a dear father and grandfather, Robert Fraser, who passed away Oct. 9, 1958. — Always remembered by Irene, Duncan, Shirley, Ronald and Gordon.

"Time takes away the edge of grief,
But memory turns back every leaf."

MacLEOD — In loving memory of our dear son, Alden, whose death occurred October 15, 1955. — Always remembered by Mother and Dad.

"Oh! Happy hours we once enjoyed,
How sweet their memory still;
But death has left a loneliness
The world can never fill."

MacLEOD — In loving memory of a dear brother, brother-in-law and uncle, Alden, whose death occurred on October 15, 1955. — Always remembered by Bruce, Stanley, Keray and Karen.

"His memory is as fresh today,
As in the hour he passed away."

STRONG — In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Edgar Strong, who passed away Oct. 16, 1960. — Always remembered by his wife and family.

FOX — In fond and loving memory of Mrs. William J. Fox (Kate), who departed this life Oct. 8, 1956. — Always remembered by her son, John, Greta and family.

"Till memory fades and life departs
You will live forever in our hearts."

Argenteuil Bridge League meeting

The first meeting of the Argenteuil Bridge League will take place on Monday, October 16, at the Lachute Legion Hall. First boards will be dealt at 8 p.m. so players are urged to be at their places at 7:45. Twenty boards will be played, so that the last boards should be played shortly after 11. Assessment of the results will take place between meetings so that there will be no waiting after the last hand. Prizes will be awarded the following week.

Enrolment in the club is now about forty and it is hoped that one hundred members will be enroled. Membership is $5 per season and 50c per meeting. Guests of members are welcome at $1.00 per evening. A handicap system will be applied on a meeting to meeting basis so that novices will have equal chances at the match prizes. The season championship prizes will be awarded on the players' twelve best performances (from sixteen meetings) and should therefore go to the best bridge players.

Members are encouraged to come in pairs although singles can easily be paired off.

Lachute C.W.L. hold meeting

On October 3, 1961, a meeting of the Catholic Women's League was held in the Knights of Columbus Hall, chaired by Mrs. Leonard Bedard, president; there were 27 members present. A report was read by each convener.

Mrs. Ruby Lowe, Convener on Education, reported that the bursary for this year would be forwarded to Pierre Hebert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Hebert, to further his education. Miss Lydia Lowe will be in charge of compiling the Diocesan annual reports. A pilgrimage to the Shrine was scheduled for October 10, for the members and their families, with Mrs. E. Lowe in charge. A rummage sale will be held on October 20 in McArthur's Hall, covened by Mrs. George Lowe.

A motion was passed to place a wreath at the cenotaph and an English Mission is planned to be held this fall, probably in late November.

Mrs. L. Bedard voiced her thanks and appreciation to all the members who in any way had assisted her at the June Diocesan Convention, sponsored by the Lachute Council. She also reported on the Provincial Convention held last month in Three Rivers, where delegates from 12 dioceses including Lachute, were represented. There are now about 3,500 members in the Province. One of the resolutions approved at the convention was the maintenance of vigilance by parents against salacious literature which, they say, continues to be easily available.

A considerable amount of money was spent in the local parishes for scholarships and education, assistance to new Canadians and welfare work. Mrs. Joseph Langley, of Montreal, was appointed president of the Quebec Provincial Council for the coming term.

The meeting closed, after which refreshments were served by Mrs. Dorothy Berniquer, convener.

Ottawa Baptist annual meeting held recently

The 126th Annual Meeting of the Ottawa Baptist Association was held in the Kenmore Baptist Church on Saturday, September 30, 1961. Three Baptist ministers from Moscow were present. Dr. Yakor Zhidkof, President of the Russian Baptist Union, reported that the Moscow Baptist church has 4600 members and also gave interesting information in connection with the work of the Christian church there. These Russian friends are on a two-week good-will tour in Canada. They have been escorted by the Rev. Fred Bullen, general secretary of The Baptist Federation of Canada.

The two guest speakers were Rev. J. K. Zeman and Rev. Fred Bullen. Rev. Zeman spoke on "Present Day Challenge to the Rural Church" and urged the rural churches to look around for fresh opportunities and to consider the possibility of consolidating two or three small neighboring churches into a "church area".

Rev. Bullen addressed the session on the subject of Canadian Baptist Federation, telling of its Home Mission projects on such far-flung fields as Kitimat, B.C., and Cornerbrook, Newfoundland.

The following officers were elected for 1961-62; Past Moderator, Mrs. P. V. Rosewarne; Moderator, Rev. Frank Rice, of Bromley Baptist Church; Vice-Moderators, Mr. Freeman Elliott, of Cornwall and Rev. W. E. J. Toller, of Avoca-Rivington; Clerk-Treasurer, Miss Jean Cameron, of Cornwall.

The ordination of Mr. Ronald Gunton, pastor of the Kenmore and Russell Baptist Churches, took place at the evening service. The benediction was pronounced by the newly ordained Rev. Gunton.

Brownsburg United congregation honor departing minister, family

On Thursday, September 28, the members and adherents of Brownsburg United Church, met for a social evening and presentation on the occasion of the departure of the Rev. and Mrs. Garfield Bruce and family, to take up new charges at Aylmer, Que.

It is with deep regret that pleasant connections have been severed, but for the present the pulpit will be taken over by the Rev. W. B. Rosborough, who is well-known and highly respected in this locality, having formerly been pastor of Lachute United Church.

For the past eight years Mr. and Mrs. Bruce proved their kindness and sincerity in many ways, in addition to the regular duties in the church. They were friends to all, both in illness and in health.

During the early part of the evening, proceedings relating to the filling of the vacancy on the Rev. Bruce's departure were taken up and discussed, after which Mr. Dave Atkins, Chairman of the Board of Stewards, outlined preliminary proposals for the fall Visitation Program.

Mr. C. Wheeler then made the presentation of a sum of money from the congregation, and Mrs. H. Smith, president of the Central W.A., presented Mrs. Bruce with a purse. Mrs. R. B. Johnson, W.M.S. vice-president, gave Mrs. Bruce a silver dish on behalf of the members. A piece of china had formerly been given by the W.A. "A-Group".

In addition to the Rev. Bruce's many kind services, Mrs. Bruce was active in Choir, Sunday School, Explorers, and many other church activities during their stay in Brownsburg. The large attendance, both at the farewell gathering and the final morning service at which the church was filled to capacity, gave evidence of the affection and respect with which they were held.

Following the presentations, the evening was spent in friendly intermingling and song. Mr. S. Rose, with the assistance of Mr. T. Pasco, led in a sing song, with Mrs. C. Wheeler at the piano.

Rev. Bruce expressed his sincere gratitude and the Rev. Rosborough, who also attended the gathering, spoke a few well chosen words in his usual kindly manner, after which the ladies served delicious refreshments.

At the final morning service, the Rev. Bruce further voiced his gratitude to the congregation for their loyalty and good will. He spoke of the many kindnesses which had been shown to his mother, the late Mrs. Emily Bruce, and to his family in general. He was not unmindful of his successor, and asked the congregation to rally to his aid and give him their full support.

The wish that the Rev. Bruce and family will be most happy and successful in their new undertaking was expressed by all.

BELL LINES

by Bob Bell, your telephone plant foreman

Installer Peter Haldimand is one of the Bell Folk around Lachute whose job it is to provide you with the best in telephone service. When you request any changes or additions to your service, Peter, or one of his fellow craftsmen, comes to your home and does the work skillfully and efficiently. We're proud of these men and happy to have them represent us. As a representative of the Bell, Peter Haldimand is more than an installer — he's an expert in telephone service. He knows, for example, that the busy modern housewife finds the kitchen one of the handiest places for an extension phone. But more than that, he can advise her on the best location for such a phone, as well as the most suitable style and colour. He can also suggest the type of phone that would be most suitable for any room, including the bedroom, where a bedside telephone brings a feeling of security at night.

Many of you know Peter, he has lived in Lachute and Dunany for some years. His many hobbies include golf, swimming and skiing. He was instrumental in the founding of the Lachute Auto Club. Right now, Peter is a busy boy — he is getting married next month. Say "hello" next time you see him, and ask him any questions you might have concerning your telephone service. He will be pleased to see you.

It's that wonderful time of the year again when we all feel the urge to don the old hunting jacket, pick up our trusty gun and tramp off into the woods. Yes, hunting is a grand sport! And everybody in Lachute will get their full measure of enjoyment out of it provided we all observe the rules of good hunting. It might be worthwhile to have a quick look at the following safety hints just in case some of them may have slipped your minds since last season: keep your shooting controlled by a hill or other back stop; identify your game before you shoot; keep your barrel clean and free from mud, snow and other obstructions; allow only empty guns in cars, trucks, boats, camps, and homes; and make sure the safety catch is on; never leave a loaded gun unattended and carry your gun so you control the muzzle at all times . . . May we also remind you not to fire in the direction of wire and cables, glass insulators, or microwave towers. You'll be helping to protect services that are vital to you and people you know. Enjoy happy, safe hunting this season.

Here's one thing we'd like to remind you of — these handy Yellow Pages in the back of your telephone directory. With fall house cleaning in full swing, it's the greatest way to "hunt" all over town for what you need. Cleaning supplies, paint, repair people — you name it and you'll find it in your Yellow Pages. You save time and steps when you use them.

Bob Bell

Howdy, Stranger.

A gas pump and the average Volkswagen don't get together too often. (At 38 miles to a gallon you can understand why.) When they do have a visit, it's short and sweet.

The journey between fillings is fun, too. For the first time, on the new deluxe Volkswagen, you'll find a gas gauge to cheer you up between pay days. (Don't worry if the needle seems to be stuck. It's just slow, that's all.)

High gas mileage is good, but it isn't enough. It's the efficient use of gas that really counts. The VW engine has been designed to get every ounce of power from regular gasoline.

There are other reasons why a Volkswagen feels out of place in a service station. For example, you'll never need oil between changes. And you'll never need anti-freeze, period. The VW engine is cooled with air instead of water. There's no radiator, or radiator problems.

But don't let your Volkswagen come between you and your service station attendant. You can always wave as you go by.

Trade between nations is a two-way street. West Germany is one of Canada's best customers. And every Volkswagen sold in this country helps Canada to sell Germany more Canadian goods.

Public Notice

PROTESTANT SCHOOL COMMISSIONERS,
Brownsburg, Que.

PUBLIC NOTICE is hereby given that the Protestant School Commissioners of the School Municipality of Brownsburg, the territory of which wholly or partly covers that of the Township of Wentworth, the Township of Chatham, and the Village of Brownsburg, will hold a meeting on the 30th day of October, 1961, in the Brownsburg High School, at seven o'clock in the evening, to examine the valuation roll in force in each of such municipalities.

If they find that the property pursuant to the said rolls is valued on an equal basis, they shall homologate such valuation rolls or the parts which concern them. However, if they find that the valuation made in such municipalities is not uniform, they shall increase the roll or rolls where the valuation is under the level of that of the municipality where the valuation is the highest, so as to re-establish on an equal basis the valuation of the taxable property of all parts of the school municipality.

The valuation rolls or parts which concern them thus amended shall be homologated and the collection rolls of the said municipality shall be made according to the valuation rolls thus homologated.

Given at Brownsburg, Que., this 26th day of September, 1961.

— G. Scudamore,
O25.4c Secretary-Treasurer

Public Notice

Notice is hereby given that on the sixteenth day of October nineteen hundred and sixty-one at two o'clock p.m., daylight saving time, in conformity with a judgement granted by Honorable Justice Roger Ouimet, of the Superior Court, sitting for and in the District of Terrebonne, I will proceed to the sale by auction in my office situated at 113 Bethany Street, in the Town of Lachute, of the immovable property hereinafter described and pertaining in joint ownership to James P. Martin, to wit:

"That certain property situated at Brownsburg, known and designated on the official plan and in the book of reference of the township of Chatham as forming part of the un-subdivided portion of lot EIGHT HUNDRED AND FIFTEEN (Pt. 815), measuring fifty-eight feet (58') from north to south by a depth of one hundred and fifty feet (150') from east to west; bounded west by a lane taken on said lot 815 and lying on the east side of lot 815-5, north by parts of said lot 815 sold to Rosaire Bélisle by deed registered under the number 87781 and to Pearl Court by deed registered under the number 90800, east by lot 816-156 and part of lot 815-152 and south by part of said lot 815 owned by Gaetan Laforest being the Hotel's property: with all the buildings thereon erected.

Special Montreal exhibition planned to mark Nat'l Forest Products Week

The importance of the lumber industry and its many by-products to the national economy will be stressed at a special exhibition to be held at the Quebec Institute of Applied Arts, 1430 St. Denis Street, Montreal, during National Forest Products Week, October 15 to 21.

The exhibit is being sponsored jointly by the Institute, of which Jean-Marie Gauveau is director, the provincial committee of National Forest Products Week under the chairmanship of L. Paul Bock, of Montreal, and is being organized by Emile St. Pierre, president of the Eastern Canada Exhibition Company.

The Exhibit will be open to the public from Saturday, October 14, through the following week from 1:00 p.m. to 10.00 p.m. daily, and it is expected to be attended by students from various city schools.

Attractive exhibits are being prepared by the Ministry of Lands and Forests of Quebec, by the Canadian Lumberman's Association, by the Montreal Wood Bureau of the Provincial Government and by the Canadian Wood Development Council, which latter body has been carrying on an educational campaign for Canada's forest industry for the past several years.

The Exhibit is but one of the many attractions organized to celebrate National Forest Products Week in various parts of the Province in conjuction with similar observances in other parts of Canada and the United States.

EDITORIAL NOTES...

"In this Parliament are three Estates, the Lords Spiritual, the Lords Temporal and the Commons, but in the Reporters' Gallery yonder sits a Fourth Estate more important far than all."
— Edmund Burke

'It can't happen here!'

COMPLACENCY to danger is natural to a human. He is inherently convinced that danger is something that happens to somebody else. Probably that is why a human suffers so greatly from shock when peril catches up with him suddenly. "Why did it have to happen to me?" is so common an expression it has become a cliche.

Danger is everybody's companion. No place is safe. No device has been invented to protect a human from all peril. Devices have been invented to protect a human from many of the menaces that surround him day and night. But the very nature of the human being leaves him apathetic to these devices as he creates around him a mental curtain of disbelief in danger to himself.

The motorist is one of the strongest examples of this. He thinks nothing of switching on a powerful motor so he can drive a two-ton collection of metal and other materials up to 70 miles an hour in the immediate presence of hundreds of other powerful, heavy machines travelling as fast. None of these machines can think or react. He is in sole control of his machine as only the other drivers are in control of their machines. Normally, he places explicit and whole trust in those other drivers and has no doubt at all of his own abilities.

He drives past the scene of a disastrous crash.

"Tsk. Tsk," he says.

Too bad, he thinks. He shrinks at the sight of bodies lying on the pavement, twisted and smashed vehicles, bleeding and stunned people, and drives on as though he had witnessed something in another world. He has no thought of connecting himself, his passengers and his vehicle with that accident, but there is a connection.

Only he can stop it. Only he can cause it. It is his responsibility and his alone. Nobody else can do it for him.

Car manufacturers' try to package the driver in safety by depressing steering wheels, cushioning instrument panels, making door locks safer, installing seat belt brackets, providing better braking systems, building stronger frames and so on. There are other devices the driver can procure as additional equipment to help keep him safe.

But only he can prevent the accident that would make these devices work. Only he has the brain, the control.

The driver can have the power of life or death.

Are you that driver?

Autumn's delight

There is nothing quite like the smell of smoke from burning leaves.

Soon now, the trees will start to shed their foliage. To some of us it is a melancholy season, a sign that the warmth of summer is fading and winter is approaching. It signifies that days are getting shorter, the nights longer.

But there is another side to the picture. That pungent smell arising from burning leaves calls up memories of childhood when autumn had its own special delights.

The fallen leaves, raked into piles, made splendid hideouts. Savoring the odor as such piles were turned into ash brings back visions of misty mornings of mellow sunshine and blue skies. The picture expands to take in the excitement of fall fairs, of football and a host of other diversions.

The business world might be in the doldrums, unemployment might be occupying the attention of politicians, the spectre of war might be looming on the horizon. But to children these things were not important. They were problems for grownups.

The important thing was the feeling of exuberance that came with crisp, cool air after the languid summer days. And there was always the excitement of knowing that one day soon you would see snow falling, and know that winter was not far off.

And the thoughts of winter in childhood meant skating, hockey, toboggans and a whole round of new entertainments. They didn't include fuel bills, or the digging up of money for the year-end holiday season, at that age.

For those of us who have reached the adult stage of life, these childhood impressions are hard to recapture. But it can be done.

Next time you are raking up the leaves and complaining about it as a tiresome annual chore, think back to the days when it was fun. It may help you to get the job done faster, and to forget that it is tiring work that you didn't want to do in the first place.

Double thinking

WHILE THE FRONT PAGES of the newspapers were filled with news of the tragic death of Dag Hammarskjold, and speculation about the probable fate of the United Nations, several used some of their space to record the scores of Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris in their effort to beat the home-run record established by Babe Ruth in 1927.

About the same time, while people in many lands were justifiably worried about whether, in the near future, all cities and people on the face of the earth might soon be destroyed by a nuclear blast. The United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization was announcing its plans for asking all nations to contribute several millions of dollars to save the statues of Rameses II and other archeological relics of Egyptian civilization of 3,000 years ago, soon to be buried by flooding incidental to the construction of the Aswan Dam on the Nile.

A little earlier, the annual contest for the choosing of Miss America, 1962, was held as scheduled, and a remarkably beautiful girl was declared the winner over many other remarkably beautiful girls. One cannot recall at the moment where the contestants came from, and without doubt many of the citizens found the contest quite as exciting as anything that might be happening in the Congo, and more important, because closer to home.

The double thinking revealed by these phenomena may be condemned as frivolous, inconsistent or even wicked, but it does indicate the resilience of human nature and its ability to take serious matters in its stride. That quality is not altogether bad.

The ones who pay

ALMOST STARTLING is the statement made in a recent book on inflation by Melchior Palyi that wage earners pay the cost of wage increases.

Perhaps this is too broad a statement, but if all the wage earners in the nation are granted wage increases and the result of such wage increases is to bring about price increases, it follows clearly that consumers, who are wage earners, are paying the cost of their own wage increases.

The low man on this totem pole is, of course, the person who is living on a fixed income. He is not in a position to demand comparable increases. Others who would suffer are the ones who don't get their demands in until the price increases have been in effect for some time.

Back in the First World War and its aftermath the school teachers and the civil servants were the victims of prices that were getting out of line with their salaries. Nowadays it seems likely that the teachers' organizations, having learned something from their pupils of yesterday, are right up in the procession. The retired teachers are the ones who are not benefiting from the current increase in the cost of education.

Emergency North

The World's Most Expensive Citizens

Canada takes good care of her 12,000 Eskimoes. To protect their health the government puts out more than $23 million a year. In emergencies such as the one shown above, for instance, flying an injured Eskimo from his remote village to a modern hospital may cost up to $4,000. All this makes the Canadian Eskimoes the world's most expensive citizens.

No one complains of this expense, however. For there is a very good reason for it. Until not too long ago Eskimoes were dying out. This came about when to the Eskimo's naturally hard lot of hunger, cold, and accident, contact with the White Man added tuberculosis, syphilis, polio and many of the other ills of civilization. The government realized that unless something were done to help them, the Eskimoes might well disappear from the Canadian scene.

Now, a regular network of health stations protects the well being of these indigenous residents of Canada's Far North. Costs are high because the country is wild and rough and distances great between the widely scattered Eskimo communities.

The story of how Canada has accomplished this impressive task is told in the September-October issue of "World Health," the bimonthly magazine of the World Health Organization. This latest issue of World Health is devoted exclusively to health in the Americas. Other articles cover the water crisis in Latin America, the building of model health services in Brazil's new capital city of Brasilia, and the history of the Pan American Sanitary Bureau, the world's oldest international health organization and since 1949 WHO's Regional Office for the Americas.

Things 'n Stuff

By Walter Henry Jackson

"I WILL — IF I HAVE TIME"

The tempo of this modern age
As anyone observes,
Is much inclined to agitate
And irritate the nerves.
There's too much rush and bustle —
Too little time to rest
Or quiet meditation,
And if you have a guest
Drop in to pay a visit
It's ten to one he'll say
"Good-bye, I must be going now —
So sorry I can't stay."
And you'll reply: "So long, old chap,
Your visit was sublime.
And I'll drop in some time next week —
That is, if I have time!"

"If I have time" — That's just what's wrong
With this old world of ours.
For tasks that once took weeks or days
Can now be done in hours.
With labor-saving gadgets
Quite unkown to our dads —
Time-saving gimmicks just to please
The modern lazy lads
Are now available to all —
Some only cost a dime,
And yet the same old cry goes up —
"I will if I have time."

Oh, for the horse-and-buggy days
When grandpa took a nap
Before returning to his work,
And there in Grandma's lap
The pussy-cat lay sleeping
While Grandma dozed a bit.
No wonder that they lived so long
And kept themselves so fit.
We need more rest, we modern crew,
And we should go to bed
Instead of looking at T.V.
And staying up instead.
A short siesta every day
Will give one added powers.
So always take a mid-day nap —
If only for three hours.

Beseein' ya,
— Uncle Walt

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

It's easy to keep a clean car. Just throw all the old paper out the window.

I have followed such clean housekeepers along the highway, and watched the evidence of tidiness fluttering out the windows to spoil the landscape.

The same goes for boats. Many boat-owners keep their cabins neat by tossing all their garbage overboard to wash up on the nearest shore.

This is hooliganism. Teen-agers copy the example of their elders in littering the countryside with trash — and as young people gradually do, they excel their elders.

The other day I walked along a certain road that is much used by students on their way to high school. Usually they travel this road on foot or in cars. For some asinine reason, it is out of fashion for children to ride bicycles to high school. If they value their dignity, they must either drive or walk.

At any rate, this road was littered along its entire length with cigaret packages, candy wrappers, bits of wax paper, shattered pieces of bottle, and a disgusting assortment of junk.

The rubbish was evidence that the street had been travelled by selfish louts, who had no care whatsoever for other people, and no regard for the country in which they lived.

Throwing rubbish in the road is not a trivial act. It is a sign of a deep-rooted state of mind; contempt for one's fellow-humans.

The cigaret package flying out of the car window carries a clear message: "To heck with you, Jack. I'm all right."

A great many people on this continent — perhaps a majority — live by that slogan. Because of such selfishness (I believe) our civilization is bound to perish.

That may seem like a fat conclusion to reach from thin evidence. Well, I won't argue about it. Let's just wait and see.

Seat belts are vital safety equipment; Canadian standards now being drafted

"We believe the seat belt is the most important piece of automobile safety equipment available today," declared W. Arch Bryce, executive director of the Canadian Highway Safety Council. Announcing the opening of the Council-sponsored campaign to promote the use of seat belts across Canada, Mr. Bryce referred to the findings of research in Canada and the United States. He said, "We know seat belts will prevent one-third of the deaths that occur each year on Canada's streets and roads. We know, too, that seat belts, if used, will greatly reduce the severity of injuries in traffic accidents. The question is no longer 'Why use seat belts?' but 'Why not use them?' It's only common sense to put them in your car and wear them for every trip even to the corner store and back."

Canadian standards for automobile seat belts do not exist, but they will soon. The Canadian Standards Association and the Canadian Government Specifications Board are both working on them and plan to produce belt standards for Canada shortly.

In the United States, two sets of standards exist, one drawn up by the Society of Automotive Engineers, the other by the Federal Specifications Bureau. The standards of the federal body, designating specifications for use of government bodies, and those of the SAE, for all others, have differences. In Canada, the CGSB, which designs standards for government use, and CSA, for others, expect to produce uniform standards. At present, seat belts in Canada generally conform to the SAE standards. The Canadian Highway Safety Council believes a seat belt, to be efficient, must be able to "lift a weight equal to that of your car" or about 4,000 pounds.

Until standards are set, the Council refers to a statement from one of the most important makers of safety equipment on the continent (Mine Safety Appliances Co.) on requirements for quality seat belts: strong, meeting a minimum standard for tensile strength; durable, resistant to soil, mildew and water; non-abrasive, smooth finish with no sharp edges to catch on clothing; fully adjustable in length; one-hand opening for quick removal, and buckles of a finish guaranteeing no smudging of clothing.

Insurance at a low price

It is almost unbelievable, but how true, that there are still cars and trucks demolished at level crossings, though ever since the advent of the train, there has been every description of warning to alert the motorist or truckdriver of an approaching crossing. Why take unnecessary risks, asks Prudentia of the motorist and truckdriver. What does it cost one to look in both directions for an oncoming train, before attempting to cross a railway track. Everyone pays out good money to insure themselves against death and injury but how many do not even take the trouble to avoid accident. Is it worth it?

Canadian Quiz

1. What was the birthplace of Canadian poetess Pauline Johnson?
2. What proportion of Canadian homes have electricity, running water, radios, mechanical refrigerators?
3. Before it becomes law a bill must be passed how many times by the House of Commons?
4. In a year how much do Canadian employers contribute to employee pension and welfare plans, and to unemployment insurance and workmen's compensation funds?
5. In 1939 government spending in Canada was $98 per capita. What was the amount for 1949, for 1959?

ANSWERS: 5. In 1949 $283 per capita, in 1959 $844 per capita. 3. Three times. 1. Pauline Johnson was born on the Six Nations Reserve near Brantford, Ont. 4. $770 million, in 1959. 2. Electricity 97 per cent, running water 87 per cent, mechanical refrigerators 89 per cent.

Silver Wedding

A surprise party was held at the Bellevue Hotel on Friday evening, September 29, to honor Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Dey who were celebrating their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary. More than a hundred friends and relatives gathered to celebrate the occasion and to wish the happy couple continued health and happiness. After numerous kind remarks from friends at the gathering, Mr. Carl Seale on behalf of the group, presented the couple with a 'Lazy-boy Chair'. Mr. and Mrs. Dey both expressed their appreciation and thanks to all, after which an evening of dancing and refreshments was enjoyed. The head-table was centred with a three-tier wedding cake and candelabrums, with autumn leaves forming the decorations.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Forsyth, of Montreal, spent a few days here recently visiting friends and relatives.

Mrs. Ray Riddell, of Calgary, was a recent guest of Mr. and Mrs. E. Kneeland. While here Mrs. Riddell also visited with other members of her family.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Edwards, of Montreal, have been spending the past two weeks at their cottage.

On Saturday afternoon last, Mrs. Ruby Campbell assisted by Mrs. Eric McCullough, entertained a number of ladies to afternoon tea. The proceeds from the tea were in support of the Women's Institute of Morin Heights.

Sympathy of the community is extended to the families and friends of William Barrett and William MacDowell, both accidently killed over the week-end, Mr. Barrett, husband of Ann Basler, of this community, met death en route to answering a fire alarm which proved to be false; William MacDowell, son of Mr. and Mrs. George MacDowell, was killed when he fell from a scaffold while at work. The shock of these tragedies have saddened the hearts of the community and the prayers of the area are with the members of the saddened homes of these two young people.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Bennett and Mr. and Mrs. Sanford McVicar, of Harrington, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Seale.

Mr. and Mrs. Cameron Paquette and children, were recent guests of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Basler.

Japanese favor seals instead of signatures

Attaching a seal makes all Japanese business and banking legal. In Japan, signature means nothing.

Even if bankers know you well, they will refuse a loan if you have no seal. A worker begins and ends his day with a seal. He uses seals ("Han" or "Hanko") when handling official documents all day.

Some 275,559 seals and 2,775,000 certificates were registered and issued during 1958 alone in Tokyo. Ward offices, handling seals, net about $300,000 a year.

Explaining why Western-style signatures have not been adopted Kinichi Machida, chief of the metropolitan police department's scientific investigation office, says:

"Foreigners have been rigidly schooled in penmanship since their childhood. Japanese are not trained that way.

"Some Japanese write even their own names in various ways. Others do not care about the style of their handwriting."

Unless the Japanese language is romanized completely, chances are Japan will retain official seals.

BIG THINGS ARE HAPPENING IN HAWKESBURY THESE DAYS!

A new route to downtown Main Street and new, large, parking areas, make a sight-seeing and shopping trip well worth while.

Hawkesbury is a sidewalk superintendent's heaven these days as men and heavy equipment work on new sewer installations in many parts of town. Although one trench is being dug down the middle of the Main Street business section, it's business as usual.

A new route is being established to the downtown stores and businesses, for easy access for pedestrians and traffic. New parking areas are also being provided (see map).

Signs and flagmen make it easy to get downtown from any direction.

The Hawkesbury Merchants' Association has established a special committee to arrange bargain sales, special events, and other attractions while construction work is going on. Lots of accommodation and recreation facilities are available.

COME TO HAWKESBURY AND SEE FOR YOURSELF HOW THE JOB IS GOING . . . AND HOW SHOPPING IS JUST AS CONVENIENT AND RE WARDING AS EVER.

Children are so different

— By NANCY CLEAVER —

"Children are so different!" a mother complained.

"I never know what to expect."

"That's what makes home life exciting!" her friend answered.

If parents would accept at the time of a baby's birth the fact that all children differ, how much happier life would be! How much unnecessary sorrow arises from parents, especially mothers, wanting their child to be taller, or heavier, or brighter, or more friendly to others, than he is naturally? There is no one pattern for all children.

In every home with several children, parents often notice how different they are. It is important to remember that youngsters have "feeling" which can be hurt. They are sensitive when they hear disparaging remarks about themselves, such as "Tom is not nearly so clever at school as John", or Jean is such a careless, untidy child — quite differnt from Mary who is neat as a pin about her clothes and play things," or "Billy is just naturally at home with strangers. He'll make up with anyone. But Helen is painfully shy. She runs and hides when I have visitors."

Put yourself in Tom's or Jean's or Helen's place — how would you like to know your mother held such a poor opinion of you?

Another mistake busy parents sometimes make is in failing to look for some one thing each child does well. He needs sufficient encouragement and praise so that he feels he is a success. Every person craves, not only the good opinion of others, but he also needs to think well of himself. "I'm not much good at anything," a teenage girl remarked to a friend. That girl's mother should have helped her find out what she was good at," so that she wouldn't have had such a poor estimation of her own ability.

In some homes a child may be good at something and be praised for his skill, and because praise is pleasant he wants that job always to be reserved for him. But unless there is a system of taking turns in work as well as in other things, the other children in the family get no practice at this particular thing. Dorothy may be a marvel at making pie but her younger sister Landa needs to try her hand at this too.

Boys and girls are made on a different plan. Serious harm to a child's normal sex development in later years may often be traced to a mother's disappointment in the arrival of a son when she wanted a daughter (or visa-versa) resulting in her treating her boy like a girl, overdressing him, keeping his hair long and "protecting" him from "those rough little boys in the neighborhood." A girl who is over-encouraged to be a "tom-boy" may also discover it hard in adolescence to find her place easily with other girls in the collegiate "gang."

The differences in children of about the same age can easily be observed at a birthday party. Of a dozen children eight years old some were tall, others short; some fair, others dark. But the contrast in their social aptitude is also noticeable. Some children will be friendly and enter the group eagerly, with the expectation of having a good time. Others will be shy, retiring, uncertain whether or not this is going to be "fun".

When active or mental games are played the varying proficiency is again apparent. One child is quick of mind, with excellent muscle co-ordination; another is rather slow at a guessing game and a bit awkward in a motion demanding skill. In the physical, emotional and mental growth, the children will vary in their development.

Parents must think not only of the immediate present but of the future when they accept their children as they are and show them that they love them and are proud of the ways in which they excell.

LATE-SUMMER BEAUTY

Waterton Lakes, Alta. CP — A relatively new strain of hardy, early-blooming chrysanthemums at the Lethbridge experimental station is adding late-summer beauty to the National Park here. About 1,600 of the new variety were set out last year. They stand 18 to 24 inches high.

Recipe Of The Week

Stuffed haddock fillets, baked with rice stuffing and served with creole sauce, is an inexpensive and delicious fish recipe recommended by the Good Luck Cooking Service for housewives wishing to obtain gourmet results through the use of margarine.

Stuffed Haddock Fillets Inexpensive and Delicious

Haddock fillets, baked with rice stuffing and served with creole sauce, is a mouth-watering fish recipe that Mlle Germaine Flout-nez, Montreal food expert, recommends to any housewife wishing to obtain gourmet results through the use of margarine.

This recipe is inexpensive and energy, packed with vitamins. The fillets, available from your fish market or at the frozen food counter of your favorite store, in this recipe will serve 3 or 4 persons per pound.

To prepare, just choose two nice haddock fillets, wipe them with a damp cloth and season with salt. Place one fillet in a rectangular baking dish, brush with melted margarine, and cover the top of the fish with rice stuffing. Place second fillet over this stuffing, brush again with melted margarine, and bake in oven at 350°F. for 35 to 40 minutes. Serve with creole sauce.

One tip to remember is that the entire purpose of baking fish is to get a juicy, thoroughly done result. A baked fish that is dried out isn't a sign of good cookery. So, to avoid this, always grease your pan well with margarine. And for best gourmet results, with this haddock recipe, baste every 10 minutes while cooking.

Rice Stuffing

½ Cup uncooked rice, 2½ cups boiling water, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon margarine, 1 onion, 2 tablespoons breadcrumbs, 2 eggs slightly beaten, 2 tablespoons chopped parsley, salt and pepper.

Cook rice in boiling, salted water. Brown onion in margarine, add the drained cooked rice, breadcrumbs and parsley. Season and mix thoroughly, remove from heat and add beaten eggs. Mix thoroughly again.

Creole Sauce

1 Tin (28 oz.) tomatoes, 1 tablespoon margarine, 1 finely chopped onion, 1 bay leaf, 3 cloves, 1 clove of garlic, celery leaves.

Trim Lines for Fall

Collects coins made of wood

Vancouver CP — Larry Gingras of nearby Richmond is a man who ignores the time-honored warning against collecting wooden nickels. In fact he goes looking for them.

The 45-year-old suburban resident has two drawers full of wooden coins and tokens. His collection forms a history of early times in British Columbia.

Gingras, an engineer for an airline, explains that wooden nickels were made to commemorate special occasions. Others were issued to be exchanged for merchandise. Old-time saloons often did a roaring business in tokens.

Gingras travels around the province in his job and wherever he goes he hunts tokens to add to his collection or the stories of those already in his possession. He has followed the hobby for 24 years. He says perhaps the oldest token in his possession was issued by a Skeena general store in 1860.

Tips on Touring

By Carol Lane
Women's Travel Authority

While you played on your vacation, the family car worked. To keep it running right this winter, have it checked now.

Here are some tips on post-vacation car care:

If you've been near the ocean, chances are that salt has covered the car's finish. This calls for a thorough wash-and-wax job to preserve the paint.

How's the radiator? Clogged with insects? Have it cleaned to insure air flow.

Since you've driven harder and longer than usual, have the car lubricated and the oil drained and replaced.

Have the air filter checked to be sure it's free of sand or dust.

You've probably driven on bumpy country roads, so have the wheel alignment and balance checked. Wheels out of alignment can ruin tires. Have them switched, too — after they've been checked for cuts and bruises.

If you have tubeless tires, see that the sealing fluid is still in good condition.

Finally, have the car's generator and entire electrical system tested, too. A minor adjustment now can save trouble later on.

Specially Written for The Lachute Watchman

By Deirdre Mungovan, Canadian Press Staff Writer

This is the season for fresh lamb. Lambs are usually born in the spring, and October and November are the chief slaughtering months.

Lamb is the meat from animals five to 14 months old. Anything older is mutton — and there's not too much of that. Most Canadian mutton goes to processors for soup and processed meats.

Although almost all Canadian lamb is sold by grade to the wholesaler, only in Saskatchewan is it sold by grade at the retail level, explain the home economists of the federal agrieulture department.

For some of us who think there's nothing more to lamb than its leg, the home economists have these suggestions. Ground lamb from the flank, breast, shank or neck makes a tasty change from ground beef. Lamb riblets are no less delicious than spareribs when barbecued and rib chops, loin chops and shoulder chops can be panfried, broiled or baked.

A rolled shoulder can be stuffed and roasted for a marvellous family dinner and lamb stew en casserole is a delicious one-dish dinner.

Stew for Six

This recipe for lamb stew serves six people.

The ingredients are 2 pounds lamb stew meat, boneless; 5 to 6 tbsps. flour; 2 tsps. salt; ¼ tsp. pepper; ½ to ¾ tsp. thyme; 2 tbsps. chopped parsley; 3½ cups tomato juice; 6 medium onions; 6 medium carrots, cut in strips; 6 medium potatoes, cut in halves; 2 cups turnips diced; one 20-ounce can green beans or peas, drained.

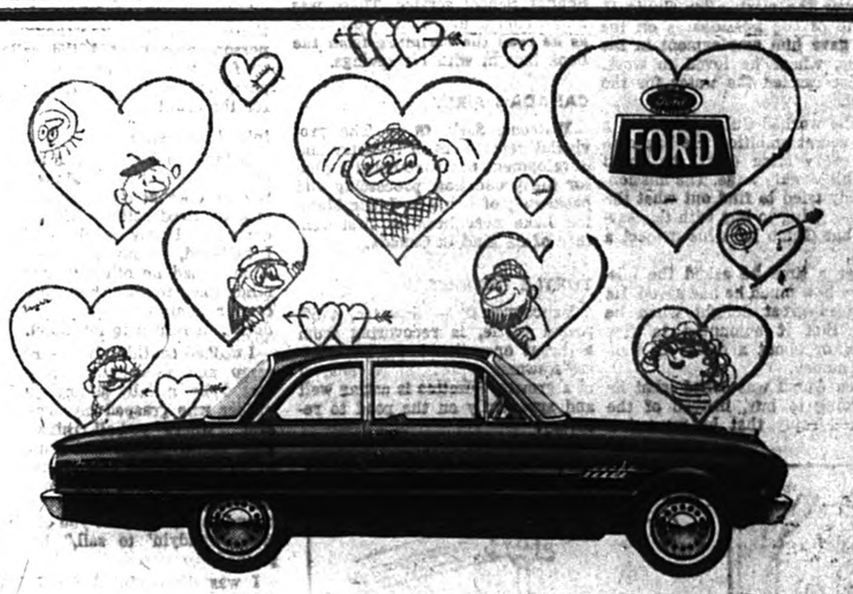

Trim meat and cut in two-inch pieces. Brown on all sides over high heat. Sprinkle meat with flour and brown again slightly. Place in casserole dish. Add seasonings, liquid and vegetables. Stir well. Cover closely and cook in moderately slow oven (325 degrees) for 1½ to 1¾ hours.

Wild animals often become pets by showing up for handouts at northern retreats—but ever hear of a fish becoming a pet. The Bible Today

Gulab, an orphan boy living in Central India, was not a very good student at school. He was unable to cover the work after Grade II, so one of the missionares on the staff gave him employment in the garden, where he loved to work. He also carried the water for the school.

As he worked Gulab conceived a great secret ambition. He began to save every anna (cent) he could from his weekly wage. The missionary lady tried to find out what the boy was going to buy with this savings, but Gulab kept his project a secret.

After a time he asked the missionary how much he had saved. He expressed great delight when he found that it amounted to five rupees, or about a dollar in Canadian money.

When Gulab was asked what he was going to buy, instead of the expected reply that he wanted a pair of trousers or canvas shoes, he asked for a Bible.

Soon Gulab received his own copy of the Hindi Bible. Some time later he was asked to read from his Hindi Bible during a special Sunday School service. There was a new ring in his usually dull voice as he read the Scripture from the Book bought with his savings.

STONES AND BULLETS

At this season of the year the transmission and distribution lines, on which the Company's customers depend for their electricity, suffer damage needlessly.

Between the stones thrown by children — and sometimes by adults — and bullets of hunters, insulators are broken and wires snapped each year.

Every broken insulator or snapped wire means an interruption of electrical service, which in turn means annoying trouble for someone. That someone is often a friend or acquaintance of the person responsible for the trouble.

Persons who use electric wires or insulators for targets are poor friends indeed to their neighbors.

You will be helping yourself and doing the Company a service if you assist in discouraging the practice of using the Company's poles, wires and insulators as targets.

Diary of a Vagabond

BY DOROTHY BARKER

Things had been going altogether too smoothly. Like Henny-Penny I expected the sky to fall any moment. This was the First Vagabond journey I had been on when some adventure had not befallen me. Though I was enjoying every moment of my Maritime conducted tour, my woman's intuition warned me not to be too optimistic. That is why there was no excuse for my not heeding the red stop light when it flashed on my conscience like a beacon. My impulses are usually responsible for all my predicaments.

It was just past 10 p.m. when someone remarked that the Essex, oldest and largest airplane carrier in the United States was tied up at a dock behind the Nova Scotian Hotel. It was due to sail early in the morning and if I wanted to go aboard, my informant said, as the public had been invited to do, I would have to get a hustle on me.

The carrier was lit up like a Christmas tree and, to add to the festive season atmosphere, when I arrived at the dock it looked as though a New Year's celebration was also in full swing. There were hundreds of American Gobs, whose spirits were high. Commander of the ship had entertained at a reception and dance during the evening and some thoughtful person, who wanted the sailors to feel welcome in a Canadian port, had supplied refreshments for the crew.

Inland Innocence

Being an inlander I had no way of knowing a woman alone on a seaside dock at night among several hundred sailors might be a curiosity. I was safely clocked, I believed, in my grandmotherhood. I had no other thought in mind than to quickly board the carrier, scurry about its flight deck and return to my hotel.

I walked confidently toward the ramp and was immediately accosted by a tall, skinny junior officer who grasped my arm and said, "where you-all think you goin' mam?" I told him I wanted to go oboard the carrier and he replied the public was no longer 'allowed to do so. "Out of bounds now, mam, for you civvies. We're readyin' to sail," he explained.

I was disappointed for I had never seen such a mammoth manmade wonder. The Essex looked like the Empire State Building had been towed up the coast and moored in Halifax harbor. Besides, there was romance in the story that it and several U.S. destroyers had sailed to this Canadian port intending to let Khrushchev know that the most loquacious exponent of democracy in the world, the United States, was not unaware of the fact Gagarin, Russia's first spaceman, was the guest of Cyrus Eaton at Pugwash. This Nova Scotia town is not too distant from Canada's largest Atlantic port and only a few flaps of a crow's wings from the international boundary. Such intrigue in this day of constant threat to our way of life interested me. I felt I would find a story among the planes parked on the huge flight deck of the Essex.

Instead I was gently escorted to the fringe of the celebrating Gobs and advised to return to my hotel. While I took one last look at the gay lights that outlined the carrier's rigging I felt another hand take hold of my elbow. Do all American sailors speak with a southern drawl like a Kentucky colonel I wondered, as another voice whispered in my ear, "Pay no 'tention to him, mam, I'll get you aboard." I was looking at a sailor not much taller than myself who propelled me toward a small opening in the side of the ship. I struggled and kept assuring him my desire to board his Alma Mater was not quite cold. All I wanted to do I assured him was to return to the Nova Scotian Hotel.

I had visions of us both being tossed into the brig as he led me toward the ship. Every sailor in our way would stop him. There would be a few whispered words and a way would be made for our progress toward the lit-up opening. By this time my heart was pounding. I began to remember all the tales I had ever heard about sailors away from home and in a strange port.

I babled and bragged about my four grandchildren, drew his attention to the fact that I had numerous white locks beneath a slate gray rinse, why I even disclosed the year I was born! All of this seemed to amuse him greatly and I was like a paper doll in his strong grasp.

Rescue at Last

I have decided after this episode that the Lord looks after fools and grandmothers, especially grandmothers who are fools. Calling behind me was a familiar voice. A friend of mine had gone to the hotel thinking I might join her in a late coffee. She was told I was at the dock where the Essex was moored. She's Halifax raised and well aware of the fact that no woman should venture alone onto the docks after dark. I hugged my rescuer with relief and turned to the Gob who was saying something about "the lady missed our open house and I was going to try and persuade my officer to let her aboard. Any land-locked lady should be an honored guest." He politely asked if he could get us a ginger ale. "They're free, mam," he said. His intended hospitality and my determined resistance had been quite a tussle.

On the way back to the hotel my friend admonished me for my foolhardiness. "Lucky for you it wasn't a merch..nt ship" she indignantly remarked. I didn't argue I wouldn't have been interested in any old ship only the Essex. It was too comforting to feel her arm linked in mine rather than the grip of an eager sailor.

Seasonal tips for district farmers

Stabling your cows for the winter soon? Here are a few tips given by Prof. A. M. MacDonald, Macdonald College, Animal Science Department.

Make sure the feet are in good condition before confining cows for the winter. If a cow has long toes and stands on the heels the tendons will be strained causing lameness later on. As excessive hair grows it should be kept trimmed.

To keep the milk production up cows should not be confined suddenly. Keep them out during the days and in during the nights. This can be carried on until the weather starts getting too cold and the soil stays wet.

Bring the cows on silage and hay gradually. Don't make any sudden change over. As the pasture dries up or is frosted off the amounts can be increased.

Last Chance to Fertilize Pastures

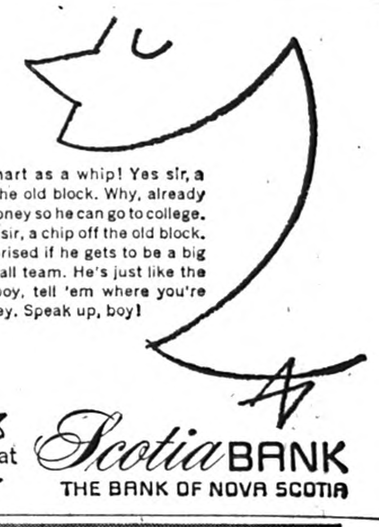

Prof. H. A. Steppler, Macdonald College, Agronomy Department, advises that this is the very last chance to fall fertilize pastures. Fertilization will depend on the amount of legumes in pastures. If a pasture contains at least 25% legumes, fertilizer should be placed at the rate of 300 lbs. per acre and more if possible. A 0-20-20 can be used but better still is a 0-15-30. If the pasture is heavy on ladino then another 100 lbs. of muriate of potash should be added, if 0-20-20 is the fertilizer used. Pastures with less than 25% legume fertilization can wait till next spring with an application of 250 lbs. per acre of 8-16-16.

POSTHUMOUS PAYMENT

Duncan, B.C. CP — William Richter was fined $5 and ordered to buy a license for a dead dog. A summons for failing to have a dog license reached Richter after the dog was killed on the highway. "You had a dog at the time," Magistrate A. C. Sutton told Richter.

One step closer to half-million project, decision on tenders for filtration plant

At the adjourned Council session last Wednesday, the City Fathers considered tenders for construction of the future filtration unit. There were six bids varying from $325,000 to $443,985 — each tender being accompanied by a certified cheque equivalent to 10 per cent of the amount.

Fraser Brace Engineering Co. Ltd., Montreal — $325,000.

H. J. O'Connell Ltd., and Pollock & MacGibbon Ltd., Montreal — $335,309.

Simard & Frères Ltée, Montreal — $377,574.

McNamara (Quebec) Ltd., Montreal — $443,985.

In each case there was an alternative quotation, covering two 16-inch conduits instead of one 20-inch pipe. The cost varies in each tender to the extent of several thousand dollars.

Messrs. Gordon McGibbon and G. Curran were present, representing the O'Connell and Pollock-McGibbon concern, and they made an offer to execute the work at the lowest figure tendered, viz. $353,065 (Fraser Brace) — without any restrictive clause; this was contrary to the Fraser Brace offer which contained a provisional clause on nature of the soil.

Indications are that the O'Connell and Pollock-McGibbon offer will be accepted, after the representatives have confirmed all details of the offer with their respective companies.

The Francis Hankin contract of some $114,000, accepted at a previous meeting, must be added to the over-all cost — bringing the filtration project to a total approximating $500,000.

The Council proposes to seek a government ordinance, in order to expedite the work and take advantage, if possible, of the federal-provincial aid for winter works projects.

Not-so-smooth procedure of buying a truck

Deliberations on the purchase of a new truck for municipal snow removal resulted in the selection of an International Harvester $12,000 model — which was Council's decision at its meeting last Wednesday.

The matter provoked some argument, and requests for more offers and more information. A resolution, an amendment and a sub-amendment without a seconder, preceded the final vote of 6-3 in favor of the original motion, sponsored by Ald. Dr. J. P. Dorion and Ald. Nelson Lepage.

The amendment (that the corporation should accept a $13,650 bid for a Sicard truck) was moved by Ald. Lauréat Laurin, seconded by Ald. Stanley Holt; but when put to the vote, the amendment received no other supporters.

Ald. Linton Armstrong moved the sub-amendment in favor of a Ford truck offered by Pollock & Graves Motors for $11,750; but there was no seconder.

Those who voted for the original motion were Aldermen Dr. Dorion, Lepage, Church, Lamarche, Thibodeau and Charlebois.

Other bids were from Deacon Motor Sales ($12,595) and Laurion Equipment ($13,790). The town trade-in consists of the present F.W.D. truck, with the police vehicle also available for allowance on cost of the new truck.

75th Anniversary of B'burg cartridge works, now C-I-L

On October 10, 1886, exactly 75 years ago, the Dominion Cartridge Company was founded. Canada was only 19 years old, but Brownsburg had already been settled for 68 years — reports "C-I-L Contact".

This was the birthday of Brownsburg works as well as that of the Ammunition Division of C-I-L.

In 1878, Dr. Thomas Brainerd purchased the Hamilton Powder Company, the firm which founded C-I-L's 99-year corporate history. Dr. Brainerd was persuaded by "Gat" Howard, an adventurer who had just returned from fighting in the Riel Rebellion, to give financial backing to Canada's first ammunition manufacturing enterprise. "Gat" became the company's first works manager, and Dr. Brainerd became a director and the second president of the new enterprise.

Historical highlights of Brownsburg from its beginnings in 1818 to the present, are featured in the current issue of "C-I-L Contact".

Space-age metal in Oka rocks

When the cheese-making Trappist monks moved to the quiet Oka countryside late in the 19th century, they could not have suspected that the stones they cut to build their monastery would prove to contain traces of the rare metal columbium. Today columbium is in demand for space-age uses, and mining companies are shattering the ground with blasts of explosives.

That story of this development is told in the October issue of "C-I-L Oval" under the title "The Coming of Columbium".

George Powell heads Canadian Tourist Assocn.

Halifax — George W. Powell, Ste. Adele hotel executive, was elected president of the Canadian Tourist Association at its 29th annual meeting in Halifax last week. He succeeds Frank T. Sherk, of Leamington, Ont.

George Powell is a former Lachute boy and local High School graduate. He served overseas with the Canadian forces in Italy.

The 500-member CTA, an independent, non-profit organization, is the voice of Canada's billion dollar tourist industry.

George W. Powell

In business life, George Powell is president of the Chantecler Hotel Company, Ste. Adele, Que. He has been associated with the tourist industry practically all his life. A native of Ste. Agathe des Monts, he grew up in a tourist and resort atmosphere. His official debut in the hotel field followed his post-war university years, when he undertook sales promotion for the Elgin hotel company. Later he assumed the same responsibilities for Sheraton Hotels Limited, a subsidiary of the Sheraton Corporation of America.

Powell left the Sheraton organization in the spring of 1954, to assume sales promotional activities for the Chantecler at Ste. Adele. He was elected vice-president of that company in 1956, and president in 1958.

In 1958 he was also elected president of the International Hotel Sales Management Association — the first Canadian ever elected to head this group of some two thousand hotel executives in 20 countries.

Strong protest on parking rules at St. Andrews

At a recent council meeting in St. Andrews Village, chaired by Mayor Antoine Paré, a delegation of 40-odd taxpayers appeared with a five-point petition bearing 250 names, protesting against parking regulations recently imposed by the Council and Police Chief A. J. Whiteway.

The petition made specific recommendations to modify the regulations, and also asked for a re-study of the situation, with interested parties to be consulted.

Dr. A. L'Allier was spokesman for the taxpayers' delegation, and two councillors, Dollard Roy and Hormisdas Legault, were assigned to study the question — and likewise the opening of Davis Street towards the church, which was one of the items enumerated in the petition. . . . The meeting was adjourned until last Monday, October 16.

At the adjourned meeting on Monday last, another strong delegation appeared, seeking a revision of the new parking laws.

The opening of Davis Street was agreed upon; this will ease traffic congestion on Main Street. However, there was no unanimity on the matter of parking.

Councillors Roy and Girard moved that the regulation be enforced from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m., and from 5 p.m. to 8 p.m. daily except Sundays, and that parking be permitted from the Chateau Inn to the bridge.

Councillors Stephens and Porter, however, moved that the pre-

Finishing touches to natural gas service franchise

Town Council has given authorization to the "Société Gasifère de Hull", natural-gas distribution syndicate, to distribute gas within the limits of the municipality on a non-exclusive franchise of at least 20 years.

The company proposes to commence laying its conduits next year to service homes and industries in the community. The agreement however must be drawn up in precise and exact terms within the next few days before final endorsement by signatories for Lachute Town.

According to Mr. Dessaules, representing the company, the service to Grenville, Brownsburg and Lachute will be an extension of the existing service across the Ottawa River. "La Société Gasifère de Hull" is one of the newer Canadian distributing agents, associated with Consumers' Gas, which serves 65 municipalities in Ontario. La Société received authority to operate in some 15 Ottawa Valley centres west of Hull, distributing natural gas from the western provinces piped by Trans-Canada Pipe Lines. Lachute area will be fed by the supply to Hawkesbury district already in operation.

Preliminary moves to seek a franchise here date back to July, and the agreement will be approved as soon as all clauses of the contract are settled.

Prime interest to parents —

Two authorities heard at H&S on teaching of music in schools

"Why Music in the School?" was the question very capably answered by Mrs. R. Rigby and Mr. Wayne Riddell, at the October meeting of the Lachute and District Home and School Association. This is a question often asked in these days of high school taxes and high school costs, and it made for a worthwhile evening to hear music so well defended, and by two such well-qualified defenders.

During the business session, which was presided over by the president, Mr. Ernest Gow, Mr. T. Smith, the Membership chairman, outlined his drive for new members. Mrs. C. McOuat, Mrs. S. Holt and Mrs. J. Hadley, the committee members, have divided the school area into several districts, all of which are being canvassed for new members, and it is hoped that the canvassers will be well received. New members are urgently needed to keep this Association active — not just paying members, but members who attend the meetings and take an interest in what the Association does.

Mr. Gow announced that the Association had been asked to organize the Hallowe'en UNICEF Drive this year, and when the members voted to undertake this task, Mr. Gow called on Mrs. W. Butterfield to organize the drive, using the experience she has gained in conducting this effort so capably for three years past. Mrs. Butterfield kindly accepted the task again this year, and Mr. J. Gorman, Mrs. H. Booth and Mrs. J. Thorpe volunteered their assistance.

The program committee is holding a "Sports Equipment Sale", to include skates, skis and ski boots. Those with equipment for sale are requested to bring it to the school basement, Harriett St. entrance, on Friday, October 27, from 2 to 5 p.m. The sale itself will be Saturday, October 28, from 9.30 to 12 noon, and from 2 to 4 p.m.

Mrs. Rigby spoke first during the program part of the evening, and outlined why she considered music an essential part of a child's education. As Mrs. Rigby said, music is too often thought of as extra refinement, or luxury, but a little thought will make one realize this is not so. It is a vital way humans have of expressing themselves, as differing from the animal kingdom. Also, music is universal, without barrier of race or creed. The teaching of music has practical values as well — deep breathing, enunciation, precision, confidence, even making history more personal. But one of the most important reasons for teaching music is that children enjoy it — a period of music will give them a lift for the whole day!

Wayne Riddell, B.Sc. in Music from McGill, spoke on the method of teaching this subject in Montreal, particularly in the Town of Mount Royal, where he is a Music Consultant. Music has become a high school subject in Montreal, and is now a University entrance subject; and, according to Mr. Riddell, it is being treated as a much more important adjunct to a full education than formerly. With music in the school, a child can be equipped to take a more active part in community life in adulthood — in music appreciation, in church choirs, etc. Mr. Riddell also felt that music in schools must be continuous, starting from Grade I right up through high school, because children need it, and want it. He also felt that parents must co-operate with the children to encourage their need for music. . . . To the many people who came to hear Mr. Riddell speak, having known him in his school days, his enthusiastic and vigorous approach to his subject was refreshing and very well received.

The next meeting of the Home and School will be on Wednesday, November 8.

Photographer Syd Drew speaks on his craft

At the weekly meeting of the Brownsburg-Lachute Rotary Club, Syd Drew, the club's Service Director, was called upon as speaker — since the Courtesy Flight and Ladies' Night had to be moved ahead.

Rotarian Drew spoke about his profession, some of the many different jobs that he is at times called upon to do, and the process of finishing pictures. He received his diploma from the New York Institute of Photography after studying and writing exams for about a year and a half, and has been a professional photographer for about seven and a half years.

The largest part of this work is commercial photography, such as weddings, groups or individuals; progress report photos of large projects; buildings, such as new or renovated stores, schools, houses; photo stories of large institutions; livestock; birthday parties, christenings, and wedding anniversaries. Jobs from the Montreal Star and Gazette have been sent his way at times, when staff men are not able to cover the story.

Syd's wife, Doris, also does much of the work for this business — not taking pictures, but in the finishing process.

Syd then went on to give the members hints on how to operate a still camera, to get the best picture with a light meter, and the best kind of film to use for the occasion, since there are so many different kinds on the market. . . . The talk proved most interesting and helpful.

Youngster injured by automobile

Lucette Villeneuve, 5-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Villeneuve, Upper Lachute, was treated for injuries at the Providence Hospital and later transferred to the Hotel Dieu at St. Jerome, following an accident on the St. Jerome highway last Sunday afternoon.

The mishap occurred when the little girl, accompanied by her sister, ran across the highway towards her home, in the vicinity of Berry's Store, and was struck by a car owned and driven by Omer Lachance, of Ste. Scholastique. Only one of the children was injured.

The accident occurred at 4.45 p.m. and was investigated by Traffic Officer Gerard Jeanri. The girl was treated for a broken leg and bruises.

Cancer Unit officers elected; campaign results total $7,065

The annual meeting of the Canadian Cancer Society, Lachute Branch, was held on October 10 in the Court House headquarters on Grace Street, with Mrs. W. M. Cottingham presiding.

Reports were heard from each committee, and it was felt that 1960-61 had been a very successful year. During the year a total of 46 volunteers met 32 times and worked 169 hours, making dressings. Thanks were expressed to the ladies of Brownsburg and St. Andrews East who also gave many hours of voluntary service. The dressings made by this branch of the Society are available to patients in seven counties.

A special vote of thanks was made to Ayers Ltd., for the use of their film projector and operator during the year, and to both Ayers Ltd. and Boyd's Lachute Express for transportation of dressings.

The annual election of officers for 1961-62 was held, Mrs. J. R. McOuat presenting the slate as follows:

Hon.-president, Mrs. Leonard Ayers.

1st Vice-pres., Mrs. Gilbert Ayers.

2nd Vice-pres., Mrs. Geo. Leggett.

3rd Vice-pres., Mrs. Albert Giles.

Secretary, Mrs. E. M. Jones.

Treasurer, Mrs. Geo. Tattersfield.

Treasurer (dressing service), Mrs. J. Dixon.

Welfare — Mrs. M. Guilbault, Mrs. R. Ayers, Mrs. W. M. Hooper, Mrs. L. Carrière.

Dressing Service — Mrs. C. E. Richardson, Mrs. R. Cairns.

UNVEILING AT ST. SIMEON'S — —

Plaque to honor valley's first pioneer clergyman, the Rev. Richd. Bradford

The dedication of a memorial tablet in St. Simeon's Anglican Church, in honor of the Rev. Richard Bradford (1752-1817), pioneer Anglican clergyman, and of his wife, Mrs. Sarah Bradford (Jeffrey) 1766-1822, will take place Sunday, October 22, at the 11 a.m. service. The rector, the Rev. C. R. Lang, will officiate.

The outstanding facts in the life of the Rev. Richard Bradford which make this memorial appropriate, are that he was the first to plant the Church of England in the Valley of the Ottawa, and the first resident clergyman in what is now known as the County of Argenteuil. These two facts alone entitle him to outstanding recognition.

Starting with the year of his arrival (1805, at Chatham, in the Ottawa Valley) the records indicate active ministerings by him to people in the Lachute settlement as well as other settlements in the territory, widely scattered though they were. Such ministerings were carried out under difficult travel conditions and other hardships.

It was in the month of October, 80 years ago that the consecration of the first St. Simeon's Anglican Church building took place, and it was in this month many years before that, that the Rev. Richard Bradford received his first register entitling him to perform and record ministerial acts of civil status in the Ottawa Valley.

The unveiling is to take place at St. Simeon's Church this Sunday, at the 11 a.m. service. The actual presentation and unveiling will be by one of the great-great-grandsons still residing in this community.

It may be mentioned that a group of descendants have been gathering information for a biography of the Rev. Richard Bradford. They are particularly Mrs. R. D. McGibbon, of Calgary, and Miss Helen Rilling and Mrs. E. Rilling, of Rochester, N.Y., also Mr. G. Caron. It is expected that the book will be compiled and published within the coming year. If other descendants or friends know facts, stories or anecdotes which might be of interest in the book, they are asked to communicate with Mrs. R. D. McGibbon, who will be primarily the author (2605 - 8th Street, S.W., Calgary, Alta.).

Former resident survives hurricane

Our columnist "Uncle Walt" Jackson informs us that he had a recent letter from Harry Carter, of Rockport, Texas, a community which was badly hit by Hurricane Carla last month.

"I still have a home, a church and a congregation," writes Mr. Carter. . . . Most of the inhabitants of Rockport, which is right on the Gulf Coast 32 miles from Corpus Christi, were evacuated, or left in their own cars for points inland.

Mr. Carter will be remembered by many as the acting minister in Lost River, Lakeview and Crystal Falls during 1950 and 1951. He rode out the storm at a friend's house 15 feet above sea level, which is quite an elevation in those parts. The business section of Rockport was completely flooded, with great loss to the storekeepers.

For abandonment of cross-river CNR

"Fitz" of the Gazette ("On and Off the Record"), was authority for the following statement last week:

Faced with the expenditure of $1 million to continue an already losing service, the Canadian National Railways has applied to the Board of Transport Commissioners for permission to drop service on the 1.3 miles of track between Grenville, Que., and Hawkesbury, Ont. The 1.3 miles is largely the bridge over the Ottawa River which will be covered by eight feet of water when the Carillon Power development is completed. Cost of raising the bridge is estimated at $1 million. There is only a single passenger train in each direction daily, and traffic is negligible. Freight service for Hawkesbury will be continued via Glen Robertson, Ont.; and for Grenville via St. Jerome.

With exception of eight feet of water over the C.N.R. bridge (probably meaning an eight-foot rise in the river level), and the freight connection with St. Jerome (meaning a way-freight link at Fresnière), the report rings substantially correct. And according to local information, the disuse of this bridge track has been formally authorized.

Argenteuil Outdoors

A column for the sportsman

— By BOB ATCHISON —

Northerns are once again starting to take the lures. Two of them were caught last week-end, one of 27 lbs., and the other 25. Smaller ones turned up frequently, and I have taken three of about 6 lbs. Even the small ones give a terrific fight when taken on light tackle. The perch have also been very cooperative, and some excellent fish have been taken this past week by various anglers. With the water getting much colder, all the fish are putting on a show. As for eating, as usual the perch are right on the top of the menu.

The Ducks may pick up a little with rough going in the air now; at this time though, they are very scary. By brother and self were out on Saturday and in one of the little coves along the river we saw six Canada Geese. A shot was taken at them that didn't do any harm except to someone's feelings. A few Black ducks were also seen, but not a chance of getting close to them. On Sunday we also saw a flight of Canadas that maybe contained 300 birds. Flying very high, their calls could be heard carrying on the air very plainly. We watched them until they were out of sight, and they could still be heard even after this. People in Lachute may have seen these birds on their way South, and maybe some thought was given to the dangers they will surmount to reach the winter feeding grounds. I know it is impossible for all of them to get through safely, but we can hope so.

This is a story you won't believe — and maybe I'm a little leery too. I wrote of a grey squirrel my brother's family had as a pet a few years ago. Finding their living quarters would not allow any freedom for this squirrel, they let it away in some woods a little further up from their home. Anyway they moved up to this district this spring, and have a number of grey squirrels hanging around. One of them is very friendly and will come right up to them. However, my eldest nephew who adopted the squirrel first, can get this animal to come close and climb right up on his shoulder. Even to the clipped tail on their former squirrel, this has one too — so maybe someone can explain. I'm not saying this one is their old pet, but it certainly could be.

Moose have been seen right around the Dunany Road this past week. With the opening of the deer season, the chances of their getting through is not too good. Most of us who were in town Saturday sure could see the "river boys" and their guns in evidence. Around where I live the bush was just swarming with them. A few deer have been taken but not too many. Certainly the kill has been very poor for the number of hunters out.

Let us hope no fatal accidents happen in the County. It's a safe bet, though, that everything that moves now is going to be shot at; so I'm staying out of the bush until the season is over. . . . By the banging that is going on, there must be a skeet range for high-powered rifles around too.

I've had a couple of phone calls from outsiders asking just where they can purchase hunting licenses. It seems some sort of game is going on with the supplying of these to stores. I don't mean that all stores should have these to give out, but stores that have had them in the past should not be denied the privilege of selling them again. In one particular case, I know that no reason has been given for lack of books and material being furnished to him. A couple of letters have been sent to the government too, but as usual, the reply will come when the season is over! This seems to be a common practice around here; if you don't please everyone, then it's made a petty offence. It sure is about time this "snafu" was cleaned up.

Our herons and such are getting ready for the trip South. I have never seen a flight of these birds close up, until last Friday on the North River — about 30 of them, and they sure put up a great show. Watching them fly up and down the river as they gathered was a rare sight. Having seen them so much the past few months, I was amazed really at the speed they can fly when getting ready to go down South. Taking off, they seem so ungainly, but once in the air, they are beauty in motion. The long, slow beat of the wings seems to propel them effortlessly through the air. After the frost we had the other night, all the migratory birds are getting out. Red wings have all gone, along with the swallows, flickers, etc. It won't be too long before they have all gone, and we are thankful for the jays and chicks that still remain. Better get those bird feeders made, and lay in a supply of feed for the first snow. Having these things around your home can and does entertain you a lot during the winter. You can even start making the suet sticks, and store them somewhere cold.

A couple of residents have been enquiring about a gun club for youngsters, and how to go about getting one formed. I told them to get in touch with the C-I-L, who certainly know how these things are done. I hope this club materializes, as there are a lot of lads who would give anything to be taught shooting and the handling of firearms. As we know, this is not just a hit-or-miss affair, but one that needs training, until they can be thoroughly trusted with a gun.

Certainly there wouldn't be the trouble with the shooters today if most of them had been taught. I was told of a party that came out after deer. One of them said he had the wrong gun, as his ammunition wouldn't fit. After being shown the functions of a magazine, and what it was for, everything was OK. But — and this is a deadly fact — this party had borrowed the rifle and never had a gun in his hand before! Yet he was going out after deer, complete with license and everything else. . . . Pretty grim, isn't it?

Hearty thanks to the police officer who climbed over the river wall in town to rescue a small kitten that had somehow got itself into a jam. It gives you a great feeling to think animals do have some people pulling for them.

Something I have not bothered you with for some time — garbage. Along the river bank, near the first camps, tons of refuse can be seen just dumped down. The stupid thing is that it has the name of the one place that it came from. Kind of stupid for people, even commercial people, dumping like this, when the dump is handy for them. . . . If they do think about it at any time, they will be doing themselves a favor.

Talking of clothing, I have just received information on insulated socks for the outdoorsman. Very light, and easily washed, they should be a godsend for the men. They are made in a combination of materials — nylon not included. Seamless and with a light elastic in the top, I'm just waiting to try them out. Could be worth having.

NO MULLIGANS

Lachute Golf and Country Club, Ladies' Section

The Golf Club dining room was an appropriate setting for the chic women members who attended the closing dinner and distribution of prizes on October 11.

The attractive table decorations, the menu, and the number of members present all evidenced the meticulous planning by the Entertainment Committee to make this a truly gala evening. (Committee — Mrs. F. Legault, Mrs. J. Dixon, Mrs. F. Feldman, Mrs. E. Mongeon, Mrs. G. Higginson, Miss H. Smith and Mrs. A. Desrosiers.)

The Prize Committee (chairman, Mrs. Mozart Carrière; Mrs. T. Milnes, Mrs. R. Gravel) provided a touch of intrigue with the alluringly-wrapped gifts, so beautifully done up by Bedard and Dansereau stores.

Mrs. H. Watson, vice-president, speaking on behalf of Mrs. J. E. Leonard, the president, complimented members of all committees for the proficient manner in which they had executed their duties throughout the season, and expressed appreciation for their support during this year. Mrs. Leonard was extended heartfelt good wishes for a speedy recovery.

Highlight of the evening was the presentation of the prizes and trophies. Mrs. M. Carrière announced the various winners.

Mrs. R. Gravel, upon reading the nomination committee's new slate, thanked all members of the Lachute Golf Club staff for their co-operation during the year.

Mementos of the 1961 Season

The opening of the new 18-hole golf course last September thrilled everyone, and this year the women became the pioneers, playing all their tournaments on this beautiful new course. It was a real challenge, and it took perseverance to get familiar with this course. By the end of the year it was like looking at a favorite picture. . . . Jerry Proulx showed how the course should be played, with his 72. . . . Also Louis DeBreyne's hole-in-one on the 17th.

The Opening Dance excelled again by the Hawaiian Luau — each night a perfect memory in itself — not to mention the lunches. . . . The renewed and successful Junior Development program run by the Ladies' Section, under the capable Junior Captain, Mrs. H. Watson. . . . The recognition of Mr. G. Ayers for promoting golf, being made a complimentary member of the American Society of Golf Course Architects.

The C.L.G.U. Day, which came off without a hitch. The highlight of the season was Junior Miss Ann FitzGerald coolly winning the women's club championship. . . . Mrs. Pring's warm smile and cheerful greeting. . . . Louis DeBreyne's word of encouragement. . . .

The tremendous success of a full summer of golf, and long hours of work for the worthy Match Committee. . . . The lowered handicaps, smaller hip measurements, and a serenity which comes from being surrounded by nature's beauty. . . .

With a sigh the golf clubs go away, but fortunately time does not stand still; before long everyone will be playing that great game of golf again!

Men's golf postcripts

Mr. R. Carrière thanked the old Match Committee for their successful season, and Mr. R. Gravel presented the 1962 Match Committee.

New Captain is Mr. P. Tremblay; committee, Mr. L. Carrière, Mr. E. Ayers, Dr. C. Roy, Mr. D. Graham.

Final Results

Vice-President's Prize — B. Hamilton; runner-up, D. Bergeron.

Handicap Prize — M. Schwam; runner-up, D. Bergeron.

ONLY ONE RULE

George Bird, golf pro in Richmond, Va., tells this one:

A veteran member of the club was approached by a new feminine member anxious to know about wearing shorts, halter, etc., on the course.

"Are there any rules about what women can play in?"

Replied the vet: "Oh, we aren't very strict about what we play in here, as long as you don't embarrass any of the men by playing around in par."

LEGION NOTES

Branch 70 Correspondent

"ACTIVE SERVICE YESTERDAY COMMUNITY SERVICE TODAY"

The fall colors are at their brilliant best, the soft maples showing red against the bronze and yellows. But by the time Remembrance Day appears we will have lost those lovely colors. Only the red poppy worn by those who remember, will be showing in the sombre November weather.

This time of year always seems to re-awaken thoughts from out of the past, and from the headlines of 16 years ago, "Canadians Cut Scheldt Escape Route" (Oct. 12, '45); Canadians Link Up On South Beveland" (Oct. 23, '45), comes a little verse that can (there are not too many) be printed —

Keep your caviar, crepes suzettes
Spice of Araby, chicken croquettes,
Filet mignon or Gilead's balm —
Pass me another hunk of Spam.

Along with Spam was good old M&V (Remember M&V? Meat and Vegetables, Monotonous and Very) — and then there was that Compo Tea! What memories can you associate those old standby rations? What buddies, places or events? Think about it just a little between now and the 11th of November, when you wear your poppy and move off with your comrades to the cenotaph.

The first of the winter's crib-bage tournaments with the Brownsburg branch was held the first of this month. An enjoyable evening was spent. There is room for more tables in both halls, so all crib players are welcome. These evenings are not limited to a select few; come on out for a sociable evening of cribbage and a feed of beans. The next rally will be in the Brownsburg hall.

The 25th anniversary celebrations are now to be held in the latter part of November. The plans are the same, only the date is changed.

The hockey season, professional type, is with us again, and to assure a supply of players to the N.H.L., the Legion are again sponsoring teams in the junior leagues in town. Anyone who thinks he could spare some time in helping with these youngsters during the forthcoming season, should contact Comrades Ernie Evans, Doug Ogilvy or Rene Paulson.

Golden Age tea and country tour

Brownsburg — The weather was perfect, with a temperature of 75°, on Thursday, October 12, when about 45 members of the Brownsburg Golden Age Group gathered at the High School where cars were waiting to take a country tour on the winding roads through the beautiful Laurentian hills. At this time the autumn colors are at their best, and everyone will have happy memories of the pleasant outing, and something to think about during the winter months when many of the Senior Citizens find it difficult to get out.

Refreshments were served in the school cafeteria later by members of the Brownsburg Women's Institute. Contests, a social hour, etc., were enjoyed, and many of those present expressed the pleasure this outing had brought to them.

Mrs. Lemuel Wilson, W.I. convener of Health and Welfare, extended a vote of thanks to all who helped to make this event such a success, especially to those who used their cars for the tour and to others who offered their services.

Tips on Touring

By Carol Lane
Women's Travel Authority

If you drive the children to school every day, you can add to their education by teaching them how to be safe, well-behaved passengers.

Simply saying NO is not enough. Adults should explain why proper behaviour is safe, and impress on children the responsibility they must assume. Their key to safety is co-operation with you, the driver.

Here are some rules you should teach the young passengers:

Sit back squarely on the seat. No hands, arms, head out of the window. No standing on seat or crawling about.

Hands off door handles, steering wheel, gear shift.

Do not interfere in any way with the driver.

No lollipops or ice cream on a stick while the car is moving.

Large, heavy or pointed toys are strictly OUT. Also, planes, missiles and other toys meant to be flown.

No rough-housing, naturally. And no yelling or startling the driver with a sudden "Hey, look-at that!"

And, finally, make sure the child learns to get out of the car on the curb side away from the flow of traffic.

All this takes a bit of doing, but it must be done. Start teaching your children how to be safe car passengers now.

Does the color Red irritate a Bull?

It is very difficult to be quite sure of the answer to this question. Experiments have been made on hoofed animals, such as the bull, to find out if these animals can see color and if they can tell one color from another. The results have not given us a definate answer. We still do not knew whether bulls are color-blind or not. If bulls are color blind, the color red would certainly not be irritating to them. We do know, however, that bulls will rush at a moving object; and they are trained to charge at a waving cape. The cape of the toreador, or bullfighter, is red or bright pink to give color to the spectacle. A bull probably would charge regardless of color.

MODERN EQUIPMENT

Fort William, Ont. (CP) — Fifty tons of modern dial equipment for the Dryden, Ont., telephone system arrived here aboard a ship from Liverpool, England. Port officials hope it will be a forerunner of regular all-water shipment to the Lakehead's new seaway terminal.

sent regulation (which prohibits parking at any time) be continued until November 13, and that the Police Chief be instructed not to hand out tickets to offenders in this case . . . The amendment was carried, with a 3-2 majority. (Councillor Rémi Roquebrune was absent from the meeting.)

Indications are that the question will be ironed out to the mutual satisfaction of both Council and taxpayers. It is recognized that this problem on Main Street is a temporary one, caused by the large number of workers employed on the Hydro project at Carillon.

Softball "finis"

The Dow Softball Club recently concluded its season's activities with a "soirée" at a local hotel. Members of the team captained by Jacques Poirier, received jackets. The Club was part of the Quebec-Ontario League this season. In rear at the extreme right can be seen Raymond Laurin, representing the sponsors.

An interesting meeting of the Juvenile Orange Order was held on Friday, October 13. Those attending from a distance were Mrs. Christie Bigelow, Grand Director of L.O.L. Lodges of Quebec, Mrs. Glenna Holt, P.G.M. of Quebec, Mr. Stanley Holt, P.G.M. of Quebec, and the Worthy Mistress of Lachute L.O.B.A., Mrs. Jean MacDonald — also Dep. M. Mrs. Watchorn, of Lachute, with many L.O.B.A. members of Avoca.

The United Church Ladies' Aid met on Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Sanford McVicar.

Mrs. Nelly Marshall, of Lachute, visited in the community this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Sandy Bates, of Avoca, spent this week with Mr. and Mrs. J. Dobbie.

Visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Bates were Mr. and Mrs. D. Angus, of Ottawa, Mr. and Mrs. Eric Bates and son, of Lachute, Miss Heather Bates, of Hawkesbury, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Poulter, of Montreal, and Mr. and Mrs. George Poulter, of Ottawa.

Miss E. Helm and Miss G. Hoyle, of Montreal, spent last week with Mr. and Mrs. H. Bennett.

Mrs. C. Duffield has left to spend the winter in Texas, after passing the summer months with her brother, Mr. G. Bennett.

Arundel

Recent visitors at the home of Mrs. Alvin Graham were Mr. and Mrs. Houston, Mr. Earl Graham and Miss Beverly Graham.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Barrie and daughter, Pam, were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Graham over the week-end — after which they motored to Ottawa, accompanied by Mrs. Norman, to visit with relatives.

Lifelong Citizen Mourned

After a lengthy sickness, Mr. Lorne Moore passed away over the week-end. Mr. Moore was a lifelong resident of this community, and his passing will be felt by all. Sincere sympathy is extended to the bereaved family.

Card Party Held

The Woman's Auxiliary of Grace Anglican Church held a successful "500" party in their meeting room last week. They wish to convey thanks to all who attended the event to make it a success.

Couple Honored by Friends

On Friday evening last, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Farran were honored guests at a party given by members of the Farm Forum. A sing-song was held and a presentation was made by the group. Taken by surprise, Mr. and Mrs. Farran expressed their thanks. Later, tasty refreshments were served.

Mrs. Clifford Cook is at present a patient in St. Mary's Hospital, Montreal; friends wish her a speedy recovery.

Sincere sympathy is extended to the family and relatives of the late Mr. Joseph Young, who passed away suddenly on Sunday at his home in Avoca.

Births, Marriages, Deaths, etc.

BIRTH

LEISHMAN — Donald and Ruth are proud to announce the birth of a brother to Nancy, Cathy and Betty, on Oct. 13, at the Queen Elizabeth Hospital. Both well.

DEATH

BUXTON (Hannah; née Johnson) — In her 77th year at the Hotel Dieu Hospital, St. Jerome, on Oct. 15; beloved wife of Hubert Probyn by her first marriage, and of the late Thomas Buxton. Survived by her daughter, Phyllis Probyn, wife of Allan Buxton, and by her stepsons, Leonard Buxton, of Oro Station, Ont., and Allan Buxton of Morin Heights, Que. Funeral held from her late residence, Morin Heights, to Christ Church, Mille Isles, at 3 p.m. Wednesday, October 18. (In lieu of flowers remembrances may be sent to the Memorial Fund, Christ Church, Mille Isles.)

IN MEMORIAM

BRYSON (William) — In loving memory of a dear son and brother, who passed away Oct. 18, 1960. — Always remembered by his dad and family.

"Deep in our hearts the memory is kept
Of one we loved and will never forget."

CHAMBERS — In loving memory of Linda Janet, who was instantly killed Oct. 21, 1958. — Ever remembered by her father, brothers and sisters, John, Kenneth, Barbara, Nancy, and Grandpa and Granny Chambers.

KIRBY — In loving memory of a dear daughter and sister, Enid Thorburn (Kirby), who passed away Oct. 12, 1959. — Always remembered by Mother and brothers.

"Resting where no shadows fall,
In perfect peace you await us all —
God will link the broken chain
As one by one we meet again."

MacLEOD — In loving memory of a dear wife, mother and grandmother, Hannah Andrews, who passed away Oct. 18, 1949. — Ever remembered by her husband, children and grandchildren.

"Your memory, dear Mother,
Will never grow old,
It is locked in our hearts
In letters of gold."

PROULX (Zotique) — In loving memory of a beloved husband, dear father, grandfather and father-in-law, who passed away a year ago, Oct. 17, 1960. — Ever remembered by his wife, Stella, family and grandchildren.

"It's lonesome without you, dear Dad,
There is such a vacant space,
For we never hear your footsteps
Nor see your smiling face;
Though not a day do we forget you,
In our hearts you are always near,
We who loved you, sadly miss you,
Every day throughout the year."

WOOD — In loving memory of wonderful mother and grandmother, Mary Wood, who passed away Oct. 21, 1958. — Lovingly remembered and sadly missed by her sons, daughters and grandchildren.

"Down the road that's calm and peaceful,
Guided by God's loving hand,
She has gone upon a journey
To a bright and better land;
Her smiles, her kindness and her love
Which made our lives complete,
Are safe in loving hands above,
Where once again we'll meet."

ACKNOWLEDGMENT

Break-in, theft

A robbery of a minor nature was reported by R. O. (Dick) MacLean, proprietor of Lachute Fuel Oils Reg., over the week-end.

Missed from his Boyd St. office was a typewriter and a small sum of money from a soft-drink machine. The break-in, which is under investigation by the Provincial Police, is believed to have occurred during Sunday.

5 Years of perfect S.S. attendance

George, 8-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stein, Jr., proudly wearing his pin and bars for five years of perfect attendance at Lachute United Church Sunday School. The awards were presented at a regular morning church service recently. Closest to this record was a two-year perfect attender.

Art classes for children, adults at Centre d'Art

The Centre d'Art d'Argenteuil (Rio Building, 348 Main Street), will resume its art classes next week.

The children's class will again be conducted by Guy Racine, who directed last summer's successful series. This instruction will again be under the supervision of l'Ecole des Beaux-Arts, Montreal. The classes will begin on Saturday, October 28, from 3 to 5 p.m. Enrolments will be taken a week before, Saturday, October 21, from 1 to 2 and from 3 to 4 p.m.

The art class in the adult category will be directed by Guiseppe Fiore, art teacher at the Montreal Museum of Fine Arts, the Y.W.C.A., Le Conseil Pédagogique, and the Catholic School Board in Montreal. These sessions will be held Thursday evening, 7 to 9, beginning October 26. Most of the material will be supplied by the Centre d'Art, which means little expense for anyone who wishes to take part. For information, readers are requested to call Mr. Jean Laforest, co-director of the Centre d'Art (LE 7-3367).

These adult classes are open to both beginners and experienced artists. Beginners will be given basic exercises that will enable them to freely express themselves through the medium of line and color, while others with artistic experience will gain increased technical knowledge. Art appreciation is also included in Mr. Fiore's instruction, which is based on the most advanced methods of art teaching.

"Don't take it so hard, Mr. Watts — anyone can miss a putt."

Unity Boys' Club talented group to perform here

The Unity Boys' Club of Westmount had its origin in 1943, when the citizens of that city asked the Rotary Club to organize and supervise some form of recreational activity on behalf of youth in order to combat a serious delinquincy problem which had developed in a Westmount area.

At first a mere handful of youngsters, recruited from small street gangs and corner restaurants, met in private basements, later in church halls and other locations, under paid volunteer supervision. The movement grew, and numbers increased until it became necessary to find larger accommodation. Through the Westmount Rotarians and other interested citizens, the Unity Boys' Club Building was erected about 10 years ago. The Club is now affiliated with the Boys' Clubs of Canada and the Boys' Clubs of America.

The Club, in spite of its title, includes both boys and girls. The talented youngsters who will appear in the "Talent Parade" in Lachute High School auditorium, October 27, represent just one of many group activities engaged in at Unity, and all have been trained and rehearsed by volunteers and members of the Unity Boys' Club staff. Those who take part vary in ages from 5 to 16 years, doing a great variety of songs and dances. One special feature is the precision dance group of girls, known as the Unity Rockettes.

The Talent Parade, directed by Mr. Maurice Morisaine, has played to audiences in many parts of the province and the northern United States. In May of this year, the Parade was considered one of the highlights of the Rotary International Assembly at Lake Placid.

DOWN LOW

Two beatniks were walking down a railroad track. Said one: "Man, these are the longest stairs I ever did see."

"Yeah," said the other, "but what bugs me are these low handrails."

Fall-winter 'look'

This is the "look" for fall and winter 1961 as decreed by Marc Bohan of the House of Dior. Narrow, almost skimpy shoulders; long tight sleeves; flat chest; natural waist, and wide-flaring skirt trace the new silhouette.

Coyte-Dumais

The marriage of Miss Denise Dumais, of Lachute and Montreal, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Emile Dumais, to Mr. Donald C. Coyte, son of the late William A. Coyte and Mrs. K. Braby, took place in September at the St. Edmund of Canterbury Roman Catholic Church, in Loughton, Essex, England.

Following a quiet reception the young couple left for Paris. On their return they will take up residence in Oxford, where Mr. Coyte will continue his studies in Philosophy and Economics.

Cubs Visit Fire Station In "Prevention Week"

Last week the First Lachute Cub Pack were invited to the fire station, and were shown the fire engines and equipment. They were then given a short talk on how to prevent fires, and given rules for fire prevention.

This visit proved most interesting for the boys, and the things they learned will be remembered for a long time.

The Cubs would like to thank the fire department for their kindness, and it is hoped it may be possible to repeat this visit in future years.

Brownsburg, Que.

PUBLIC NOTICE is hereby given that the Protestant School Commissioners of the School Municipality of Brownsburg, the territory of which wholly or partly covers that of the Township of Wentworth, the Township of Chatham, and the Village of Brownsburg, will hold a meeting on the 30th day of October, 1961, in the Brownsburg High School, at seven o'clock in the evening, to examine the valuation roll in force in each of such municipalities.

If they find that the property pursuant to the said rolls is valued on an equal basis, they shall homologate such valuation rolls or the parts which concern them. However, if they find that the valuation made in such municipalities is not uniform, they shall increase the roll or rolls where the valuation is under the level of that of the municipality where the valuation is the highest, so as to re-establish on an equal basis the valuation of the taxable property of all parts of the school municipality.

The valuation rolls or parts which concern them thus amended shall be homologated and the collection rolls of the said municipality shall be made according to the valuation rolls thus homologated.

Given at Brownsburg, Que., this 26th day of September, 1961.

New Argenteuil Bridge League

The opening meeting of the Bridge League's 1961-62 season saw a 14-table turn-out, and if the enthusiasm of the players is any criterion, this first season should be a good one.

The cards Monday night ran predominantly North-South, but of course, at duplicate bridge there is as much merit in good defensive play as in holding the stacked deck.

The second meeting of the twice-a-month series will be held at Brownsburg Legion Hall next Monday, October 23. Again, boards will be dealt at 8 p.m., so players should be there by 7.45. Since the season's championship will be decided on each player's 10 best games out of 16, it is important to attend as many games as possible.

Capital from chaos

TO KEEP SMILING in adversity is one thing, but to capitalize on one's setbacks needs real initiative. . . . We take off our hats to the Hawkesbury Merchants' Association, which is doing just that — endeavoring to capitalize on the status quo (which is Latin for "the mess we're in") across in our neighboring town.

Watchman readers will have taken note of last week's advertisements drawing attention to sales and store attractions, a customers' lucky drawing, and an invitation to district residents to "come and see what's going on".

News reports have given only a scant idea; it must be seen to be believed! We took a drive last Saturday, primarily to view our denuded rivershore from the other side of the Ottawa, and accepted Hawkesbury's invitation to view the chaotic upheaval in that town which is paving the way for flooding by the Carillon Dam.

We picked our way through the torn-up streets bordering perilous excavations for new sewers — past massive shovels and cement trucks — through sinuous detours. We found the upheaval almost as drastic as at Carillon itself, where waste and desolation have affected mostly individual homes, cottages and broad expanses of countryside. . . . Over there in Hawkesbury, all lower-town is involved!

Whether Saturday's congestion was attributable in part to the merchants' publicity, and whether more business came to Hawkesbury's stores (some of them scarcely accessible at the time) is hard to tell; but at least the businessmen are exerting a real effort of hospitality, in what must be a period of severe frustration.

With due respect to its arena, its hospitals, filtration plant and a few other amenities not enjoyed by Lachute, Hawkesbury has never had much to brag about, except its civic spirit. With its heterogeneous architecture, parking meters, and puddled, uneven sidewalks, its Main Street has little attraction — save a slightly different (but no more selective) variety of retail goods which draws many shoppers across the river. Or the movie theatres which (unlike Quebec province) admit juvenile patrons.

But with so much activity and vision for the future, and with the benefit of scientific planning, our neighboring town may emerge a better and brighter community, taking advantage of a rivershore location which has been, hitherto, practically a dead loss in tourist appeal. . . . In the meantime, Hawkesbury businessmen are doing their best to merit the bright possibilities of the future.

A vanishing symbol

HERE AND THERE across Canada there may still be some of the historic windmills, worthy of preservation as a charming reminder of bygone days.

Since the introduction of steam engines, and later the widespread use of electricity, the old-type windmill has been disappearing in Canada as elsewhere in the world. In the United States, and in Britain and the Low Countries across the English Channel, there are movements to preserve those still standing.

Windmills of course are of great antiquity, familiar in the Far East long before they first appeared in Europe around the 11th century.

Canada's first census in 1666 showed nine mills operating. The early grist mills in French Canada were often windmills, not only because of limited waterpower in some areas but because the tall structures were useful lookout posts.

In old Upper Canada there were comparatively few, the usual source of power being water wheels.

On calm days, the windmills either stood idle or had to be driven — to crush grain or pump water — by horses or oxen, and at the best of times they were not really efficient.

The windmills and water wheels began disappearing in the mid-19th century with the introduction of steam engines and mechanical equipment. In some places the more modern type, with light blades on a slender frame, is still used either to pump water or generate electricity for domestic use, but generally speaking the windmill has been forced out by electricity.

In former centuries in Europe, with few good roads, every hamlet needed its own means of grinding grain, and the National Geographic Society estimates there were 10,000 in England at one time, and 8,000 in Holland.

It was in Holland that the old windmills were turned to a strange use in the Second World War, when the Dutch underground would set the blades of some mills in different positions to convey coded information to Allied aviators.

Now these symbols of an earlier era are almost gone, and it would be a pity if they vanished entirely.

A UNICEF Hallowe'en

UNICEF will once again be active on Hallowe'en in Lachute district. The local Home and School Association is directing these activities.

Last year on Hallowe'en over 200,000 boys and girls in more than 1,500 communities across Canada participated in "Hallowe'en for UNICEF". Started nine years ago by a small Sunday School class in the U.S., the idea has spread rapidly across the North American continent. The children's motive is unselfish — they are helping other children who are hungry and sick. Sharing their traditional holiday has meant the promise of a happier future for millions of boys and girls in 115 countries and territories.

Hallowe'en goodwill ambassadors for UNICEF will know that: 1c provides the vaccine to protect a child from tuberculosis; 5c provides the penicillin to cure a child of a crippling tropical disease called yaws; 10c provides 50 glasses of nourishing milk vital to growth.

A new modern-age phobia

THE NEWEST anxiety neurosis to make the headlines is the one with the almost unpronounceable name "Nucleomitophobia" — which, translated means "Fear of the Atom".

The American Medical Association reports that public officials are being inundated by an alarming spate of calls from frantic persons who imagine they are raidoactive.

Dr. Milton A. Dushkin, medical director of North Shore Hospital, Winnetka, Ill., said that the afflicted people imagine such diverse complaints as having witnessed submarines shooting mysterious rays on Lake Michigan, to women's hair curlers being charged with radioactivity from unidentified flying objects.

"When a person feels overwhelmed by feelings of insecurity and frustrations beyond his control, he must find a scapegoat. Anything popular will do. Nowadays it's fashionable for the emotionally ill to blame their confused state on radioactivity in their environment. It's a product of the age," concludes Dr. Dushkin.

Colored roads foreseen

BRIGHTLY COLORED highways may be in store for the future, thinks Cecil E. Carson of the Canadian Highway Safety Council. Speaking at a meeting of the Chemical Institute of Canada, he said, "We may expect to see our highways blossom out in a variety of colors for practical as well as aesthetic reasons. A versatile new family of thermoplastics will make colored road surfaces practical for the first time. Interlocking highways and cloverleafs could then be paved in different colors to define routes. Colors might also be used to indicate speed zones — perhaps even to influence the mood of the driver. Eye fatigue could be reduced and visibility increased.

Another improvement foreseen by Mr. Carson is the introduction of asphalt binders, extremely resistant to air oxidation and weather attack, resulting in fewer surface cracks and potholes — says Highway Safety News.

FORMAT

The magazine that I hate the most
Is the flippity, floppity Weekly Post.
I set it gently upon my lap
When down to the floor it slides — kerflap!
I pick it up and begin again
With the feature story that's on page ten,
But down at the foot of that self-same page
Is the starting-point of my mounting rage,
For it says in type I can hardly see:
Where, hidden among the lurid ads
For Baked Beans, Shoes, and Heating Pads
I find the yarn continues on Till nearly another minute's gone.
Then — (do you you blame me getting sore?)
"Please turn to Page Two-Seventy-Four".
My interest then has so diminished
I don't care how the story finished
As to the floor it starts to coast —
The flippity, floppity Weekly Post!

Oh, give me a book of the Digest Brand
That's easily held in either hand
While with the other I smoke or drink
Or scratch my head when I try to think.
I get information on sundry things
Like Butterflies, Bathtubs, and Diamond Rings.
The Stratosphere, Bathysphere, Polar Sea,
The Humble Life of the Bumble Bee.
The subject-matter's condensed and terse.
It's mostly good and it could be worse.
So when I've finished the book I guess
I know more and more about less and less.
There's: "How to Distinguish Friends from Foes"
And: "What to do for a Running Nose"
"The Origin of The Printing Press"
And: "Why the World's in a Fearful Mess"
"How to Catch Poisonous Snakes Alive"
"Why Men are Jobless at Ninety-Five"
Hidden Fortunes in Old Tin Cans"
"Serum from Elephant's Thyroid Glands"
Of current topics and ancient lore
I know less and less about more and more,
But the magazine that I hate the most
Is the flippity, floppity Weekly Post.

Strict law against passing school buses

The only time when one can bypass a school or autobus stopped on the roadway is in the cities and towns across the province, and this privilege should be used with caution. At no time whatsoever can a motorist pass a bus stopped on the highway to disembark passengers. Prudentia has outlined this fact time and time again, but the practice still occurs too often. The motorist should make it a strict matter of honor especially when he sees a school bus ahead of him. The law is clear, no one can ever pass an autobus on the highway when it is stopped to leave down passengers. Obey the law, maybe your child or relative is the one who will benefit.

PRIVATE TV NETWORK COMING

Canada will soon have a private television network. The CBC and some of its champions are crying that this can lead to disastrous results for Canadian Broadcasting. What they mean, of course, is that it might be disastrous for the CBC. But the CBC and Broadcasting are not necessarily synonymous.

John Public wants news, information and entertainment. He does not care too much whether it is provided by a tax-supported network or a tax-paying network. He is not likely to care about the howls of anguish from the CBC.

When private television was first allowed in the major Canadian centres, the CBC people predicted dire results. The results, however, have been good. In Winnipeg, at least, the CBC smartened up considerably when faced with competition from Channel 7. The announcers talked to their viewers on a far more friendly and natural basis. The CBC had to consider the viewers if it wanted to retain decent ratings.

In Montreal recently, I watched CFCF-TV, the new private TV station. The programming was lively, imaginative, and well larded with Canadiana. The announcers were bright young Canadians, doing a thoroughly professional and sincere job. Yet the station was costing the taxpayer nothing — indeed, it pays taxes for the right to operate.

While it may be true that the Toronto private station had a slower, more fumbling start, it is said to be operating quite well now. In a matter of months, the private broadcasters seem to have at least rivalled if they have not surpassed the CBC, which has had many years of experience and millions of tax dollars to go on.

The CBC has also had a great deal of advertising money. And it is in this area that it may deservedly feel the pinch. For too long, in spite of its monopoly position, it took an unrealistic attitude toward what advertisers ought to pay. It seemed altogether too ready to make "deals" which allowed sponsors to pick up only part of the tab for expensive programs. This sort of rate cutting doesn't bring success or respect in the advertising world. It does considerable harm to other advertising media, such as magazines and newspapers.

TV may be one of the great methods of advertising. That remains to be seen. Some of its original impact, due to the novelty of a new form, has disappeared. Many larger advertisers have returned to the old, reliable printed word. Local advertisers are finding TV advertising costly. It seems to be a media only the larger advertiser can afford to experiment with.

For those reasons, the private stations are wise to link themselves into networks and concentrate on satisfying the large advertiser with a budget big enough to experiment. And the BBG, in the public interest, will do well to give them a fair opportunity in the network field.

MARKET BOOMING

Prince Rupert, B.C. (CP) — The Japanese market for British Columbia logs is booming. In the next two years 50,000,000 feet of hemlock, spruce and cedar logs from scrub land in the most northerly of the Queen Charlotte Islands will be shipped.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

"Maybe you think I'm a nut," writes a friend who works for Canada's committee on radiation hazards.

On the contrary, it is the people who worry about such matters who are sane. Those who ignore danger — pretend that it does not exist — are living in a dream world. The committee on radiation hazards is a useful and courageous group.

Some people avoid thinking or talking about radiation, or about checking the atomic arms race, because they fear that the subject is politically tainted — that if they touch it, they will smell of Communism, or fellow-travellerism.

They are afraid to turn their minds to life and death and the future of the world, because they feel that such thoughts are not respectable.

They have built themselves a soft cocoon of slogans and second-hand ideas, in which they lie comfortably curled up — just as remote from reality as the man in the padded cell who thinks he is a locomotive.

The people who worry about the bomb, and about radiation from industrial atomic wastes, are the sane ones.

The radiation hazard committee opposes the spread of nuclear weapons to Canada or to any other country that is now atom-free. I believe they are right when they say that any further spread of nuclear arms will increase the danger of war. President Kennedy himself has accepted the idea of checking the spread of nuclear arms, and has included it in his latest disarmament plan.

However, the world still is torn by a battle of threats and bluff between two rival power systems. I don't believe that the western system is wholly good, or that the Soviet Russian system is wholly bad.

Their system demands more central control and individual sacrifice; ours demands less sacrifice and offers more individual freedom.

Our system is more comfortable; theirs ultimately may prove more efficient and may exceed ours in comfort a century from now, at the cost of much suffering.

There is room for both systems in the world. Signs are appearing that both the Communists and non-Communists may modify their principles in the long run — the Communists permitting more individual freedom as the country grows richer in material goods; the non-Communists yielding large areas of their economy to co-operative and public ownership.

And yet we are witnessing a fight for power between the two political groups — a childish and muddle-headed fight, in which each side pretends to represent virtue battling evil.

If it ceases to be a battle of words and becomes a battle of nuclear bombs, then both systems of government, and most of the people, will be destroyed.

Such groups as the committee on radiation hazards and the Voice of Women are speaking bravely for the silent and bewildered millions, warning about the real and immediate danger of a war that can burn up most of the world, and only the folly of atomic bomb testing, which has already spread enough poison to kill and cripple numberless babies.

These people are the conscience of mankind. I hope they can make themselves heard clearly in Washington and Moscow. Some apostles of peace have already travelled to Russia and given away pamphlets in Red Square. I hope they will be followed by thousands more.

FROM OUR COUNTY CORRESPONDENTS

Cushing

The Rev. and Mrs. Desmond Rowe and family, from Shawville, Que., spent Thanksgiving Day at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. Bailey. Guests over the past week-end were Mr. and Mrs. Ray Bailey, of Montreal West. . . . Mr. Bailey returned on Thursday after spending a week at Baie Comeau.

Miss E. M. Graham was the week-end guest of Mrs. H. Druce, of Calumet. Her mother, Mrs. Archie Graham, spent Saturday (in company with other members of the Poetry Group from Montreal) at the home of Major and Mrs. Reid Hyde, of Como, and was the overnight guest of her daughter, Mrs. John C. Dougall, Cote St. Luc.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Fuller, of Hoosier, Sask., were guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Douglas, of Chatboro, the latter part of the week, and through the kindness of Mrs. Douglas, were able to visit many of their old friends and neighbors in this vicinity, and in particular, St. Mungo's Church.

Women's Institute

Because of another event on the date of Frontier W.I. regular meeting, this branch will meet at the home of Mrs. A. Starnes, Cushing, on the afternoon of October 31.

The roll-call is, "Something useful to take with you to a bomb shelter," also cotton for the cancer clinic. Anyone having sheets to donate, is asked to leave them whole. The actual size of smaller pieces must be 17 by 24 inches, as there must be no seams in the cancer pads; but smaller bits that would make the size required by lapping one end over the other, are acceptable too.

The subject to be considered at this meeting is, "More Information on Hospitalization and Hospitals".

Mr. and Mrs. Hauffmann and family, from West Germany, who have been spending several months at Mrs. King's cottage (having arrived here last April), left for their homeland on Thursday.

The Misses Myrtle and Violet Bryerton, of Verdun, visited Mr. and Mrs. I. Fuller on Tuesday.

Master Timmy Noble, of Lachute, was the week-end guest of Master Bert Elliott.

Mr. and Mrs. I. H. Fuller were guests on Sunday of Mrs. W. Hodgson, of Hudson, Que.

Mrs. Jean Robson, of Montreal, was in residence at Cushing over the week-end, having as her guests Mr. and Mrs. Hammond, of Montreal.

Memories of First Pastorate And the Rev. Richard Bradford

Seeing that the present Bradford generation are having a plaque dedicated in St. Simeon's Church to the memory of the late Rev. Richard Bradford, first Anglican minister to St. Andrews and vicinity — Cushing residents feel that they too can lay claim to him as a Cushing minister, because of the fact that he held services in Lower Cushing at that time — holding them outdoors under a butternut tree, by what used to be the home of the late John Bradford, of Cushing. This ancient tree was but recently cut down by Hydro-Quebec.

An interesting item of news regarding the Rev. Richard Bradford and his wife which comes to us from Bradford connections across the Ottawa, is that previous to coming to Canada this couple were ministering in Ireland. This procedure did not meet with the approval of some misguided people, who had rather drastic ways of dealing with those who were not of their faith — and who had them seized, and were conveying them bound and in an ox-cart, on their way to death by burning at the stake. . . . Fortunately for them, and for the parts of Canada that they ministered to later, the couple were rescued by a band of soldiers and returned to England.

Mrs. George Kelly has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. James Bates and Mr. Bates, in Lachute for the past two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Sandy Bates spent a few days in Harrington last week visiting their daughter, Mrs. John Dobbie and Mr. Dobbie.

Mrs. Gordon Young, who has been in hospital in Montreal, spent the week-end with her family.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Bedard, of Ottawa, spent the week with the former's parents, Henry returned with them to visit for a week.

Mrs. Jos. Arthurs, Sr., visited her sister, Mrs. Ed C. Young, at Pte. au Chene last week.

Old Resident Died Suddenly

The people of this community were shocked to hear of the sudden passing of Mr. Jos. Young, one of the older and well respected residents of this place, on Sunday last. Sincere sympathy is extended to the members of his family, also to his brothers and sisters.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Arthurs and little daughter, Debbie, have left for Cape Breton, where Mr. Arthurs has a responsible position in the paper company and where a new home is being built for him. Friends wish him continued success.

Christening Ceremonies

At Trinity Anglican Church last Sunday afternoon the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. LeGallee received the names Bradley John, the godparents being Mrs. F. Matheson, J. Owen LeGallee and Graham Smith. The parents entertained at their home following the christening.

At Christ Church, Mille Isles, on Sunday, the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Ward received the names Bruce Gerald. Godparents were Florence Ryan and Gerald Ryan, of Montreal.

Mayoral couple feted at Morin

On Tuesday evening, October 10, in the school auditorium, about 200 friends and relatives gathered to honor Mayor and Mrs. C. D. Campbell on the occasion of their silver wedding anniversary. After short addresses by the priest and clergy of the community, the Rev. W. Ball, on behalf of their friends presented the couple with a silver tea service. Both Mayor and Mrs. Campbell expressed their warm appreciation. This was followed by dancing. Refreshments were then served in the cafeteria, which was lighted by candlelight and decorated with fall flowers for the occasion.

On Tuesday afternoon last, the Women's Association of the United Church held their October meeting. The gathering was well attended and plans were made for a rummage sale and a Christmas tea and sale. The ladies also wish to extend thanks to all those who in any way helped in making the annual turkey Thanksgiving supper such a great success. . . . Refreshments were served by the hostesses.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Campbell, of Montreal, were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Eric McCullough.

Mr. and Mrs. George Watchorn visited friends in Montreal recently.

Friends of Mr. Gerald Hamilton are sorry to note that he is confined to home, and take this opportunity to wish him a speedy recovery.

Week-end guests of Mrs. Mary Campbell, Campbell's Farm, were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lewis and Mrs. Nelson, all of Montreal.

The Rev. and Mrs. C. R. Wood and son, David, of Ottawa, were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Williams.

Friends of Miss Phylis Goodfellow are sorry to note that she is a patient in the Hotel Dieu Hospital, St. Jerome, having undergone surgery. Wishes are extended for her speedy recovery.

Mrs. Harry Lister is also at present confined to hospital. We take this opportunity to wish her a speedy recovery.

Baptism

At the Sunday morning service in the United Church, Holy Communion was observed, and the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Sherwin Captain was baptized; the child received the names Dale Michael. The service was conducted by the Rev. W. B. Ball.

Animal Stories

— By NANCY CLEAVER —

Hurrah for Animal stories! Here a child's love of living things and his pleasure in books are mingled. No one can deny that animals attract almost all children. Fortunate are the boys and girls who own pets. From their experience, they can agree with George Eliot's judgment, "Animals are such agreeable friends; they ask no questions, pass no criticisms". Fortunate, too, are the children, even the very little ones, who discover that reading is fun.

It is little wonder that animal stories are among the favorites of pre-school children. Picture books today have such lovely illustrations! Baby Animal Book is a lovely, durable gift for a very tiny tot.

The small girl, who has a pet bunny, will chuckle over Wanda Gag's Millions of Cats, while a little boy will appreciate Angus and the Cat by Marjorie Flack, the tale of a mischievous Scottie pup whose curiosity leads him into trouble. Another adventure story which is great fun is The Story About Ping. There is a child's film which can be rented from some film departments based on this charming Chinese duck who wandered away from the other ducks on the houseboat. Another film which can be warmly recommended is Down In The Forest. This depicts wild life in Australia's bushland and includes many fine Kangaroo shots.

With the arrival of kangaroo in a zoo family, books on Australia's national animal are likely to be in demand. The Wind on the Moon by Eric Linklater is an imaginative story about a witch turning two girls into kangaroos. Louis Darling's book Kangaroos and Other Animals With Pockets is full of interesting facts.

A visit to the zoo sometimes stimulates a search for animal stories. In a recent questionnaire answered by Winnipeg school children asking for the names of their favorite zoo animals, elephants came first. A French writer, Jean de Brunhoff, has written a particularly good series of books about The Story of Barbar, the elephant who visited the city and then returned to the jungle. This plot is reversed in H. A. Roy's story, Curious George, a monkey who had wild adventures in a big city and at the end is happy to find himself in a pleasant, safe zoo.

Several generations of small readers have loved Beatrix Potter's The Tale of Peter Rabbit. The small size of this book with exquisite illustrations, just fits little hands. A. A. Milne's Winnie The Pooh and Kenneth Grahame's The Wind In The Willows are two classics which deserve to have a place on every family's bookshelf.

In November in Young Canada's Book Week, attention is focused on our own writers and they have contributed animal stories which are known in many lands. The beaver is our national animal and Grey Owl's The Adventures of Saja and Her Beaver People, (published by MacMillan) is an absorbing story. Red Fox by Charles G. D. Roberts is a fascinating story. The setting for many of Ernest Thomson Seton's Wild Animals I Have Known is in Manitoba or the Don Valley in Southern Ontario. The best way you can observe this special week is to add a new book to your child's bookshelf.

"Reading is to the mind what exercise is to the body," wrote Addison, and even in this age of movies, radio and TV this statement still is true. Is your child's mind receiving adequate exercise? One of the most important tasks we parents have is to read aloud to our small child and to enter into his pride in first learning to read. We need to take time to listen while he reads aloud to us.

Regular visits to the public library and buying books as Christmas and birthday gifts are very rewarding. With so many from which to choose, do you ask "Which book will I pick out?"

Selecting a book is a personal thing. Adults and children vary greatly in their taste. However, Pocket Books, Inc. have a Cardinal Edition, Nancy Larrick's A Parent's Guide to Children's Reading, which is most helpful. At the back there is a comprehensive book list, with brief descriptions of each title, which indicates a great many animal books.

Best luck to you and to your son or daughter in exploring the delight of reading!

'Teen-Teaser' sandwich loaf

"Teen-Teaser" is the name given the following sandwich loaf recipe by Dorothy Batcheller, home economist with the Poultry Products Institute of Canada. She introduced it recently at the Regina Exhibition during consumer demonstrations using poultry products. Geared to appeal to young Canadians and their love of informal party food, it takes but minutes to prepare.

Teen-Teaser Sandwich Loaf

½ Cup (or more) salad dressing or mayonnaise, 1 teaspoon grated onion, salt and pepper, 4 hard-cooked eggs (peeled and chopped), 3 weiners (diced), 1 cup diced celery, 2 tablespoons chopped sweet pickle, 1 weiner sliced, sliced cucumber, sweet pickles, lettuce, 1 small French or Vienna loaf.

Place 2 tablespoons of salad dressing in a bowl. Add onion, dash of salt and pepper and blend. Add eggs, diced weiners, celery and pickle. Top with remaining 2 tablespoons of dressing and mix thoroughly but lightly, adding more if mixture is not moist enough to just hold together. Chill filling while preparing bread.

Insert sharp pointed knife into loaf of bread at top edge and cut completely around top of loaf, formed. (This may be dried with topping casseroles). Hollow out remaining crumbs, grated and used for coating fried foods or loaf to form a case about one inch thick. Butter inside and fill with egg mixture, pressing mixture down fairly firmly. Decorate top with alternate circles of slices of weiner and half circles of unpeeled cucumber inserted into filling so the slices stand up. Sprinkle with paprika. Wrap in plastic film, waxed paper or foil and refrigerate until serving time, then arrange loaf on platter or oblong sandwich tray, cut into thick slices (one or two inches thick) still retaining the loaf shape, and garnish tray with lettuce and pickles. Guests help themselves and eat with or without a fork. Yields 6 to 8 servings.

Joke of the Week

"Frankly, Mr. Smithers, if you're prepared to do the amount of work we ask for the wages we're prepared to pay, I doubt if you're intelligent enough for us!"

Night on the Laurentians

The wind goes hushing softly
By the rooms where the children sleep,
And down in the sun burned meadows,
Crouch the timid, restless sheep.

With rustling sounds, the cattle roam
'Mongst dew-drenched clover, sweet.
A plaintive chirp from the dogwood hedge
Marks a bird, disturbed in sleep.

The lake is clothed in shadow,
Where sportive minnows swim,
And the loon's wild, lonely laughter
Re-echoes from rim to rim.

The moon breaks cloudy bondage,
And the brook like a ribbon of gold
Meanders down the mountain,
Its song murmuring on, as of old.

Specially Written for The Lachute Watchman

By Edna Blakely,

Canadian Press Staff Writer

With memories of delectable pastries in their heads, many former patients were among the customers at a bake sale for St. Mary's General Hospital in Kitchener, Ont.

The former patients remembered the tempting pastries made by Sister Zita, the hospital's baker. Her butter tarts, Chelsea buns, coffee cakes and bran muffins are famous in the district.

This was well proven when customers bought hundreds of dozens of her specialties within a few hours.

Sister Zita and her kitchen staff spent two days producing 300 dozen tarts, an equal number of rolls, 200 dozen bran muffins, 60 dozen Chelsea buns and 100 coffee cakes for the sale.

Within an hour the butter tarts were gone and shortly after the buns and coffee cakes had disappeared. More than 700 people turned out for the sale. Proceeds go toward a new nine-storey hospital which is nearly completed.

Suitable for Sitting

You may be "sitting pretty", but unless you're sitting comfortably you've got the wrong chair. The Canadian Furniture Manufacturers' Association says new cushioning materials give "bounce without bulk."

Gone are the days when two matching chairs were included in a chesterfield suite. Most suites today have one matching chair and choice of the other "companion" chair is left to the buyer.

There are more tall chairs available now. Many lounge chairs are roomier and have 36-inch backs instead of the average 32-inch back.

Dining room chairs, which often fill in as company chairs, are both comfortable and attractive too, with curved backs and contour seating.

Before buying a chair, test it out in the store to make sure it suits your backbone. Study the fabric to see if it is at least as hard wearing as your sofa material.

Accidental deaths affect Morin community

(Intended for last issue)

Morin Heights — This community was shocked to hear of the accidental deaths of two young men who were well-known in this district, Bill Barrett and Billy MacDowell.

Bill Barrett, 36 (husband of Anna Basler), was instantly killed in Roxboro when, as volunteer fire captain, his car crashed into a parked truck while he was answering a call which turned out to be a false alarm. He was given a civic funeral in Roxboro.

Billy MacDowell, son of Mr. and Mrs. George MacDowell (the latter formerly Elsie Seale), of Verdun, and grandson of Mrs. Wm. John Seale, of Lake Echo, was killed instantly when a fire escape collapsed beneath him, in Chibougamau, Que. Funeral services were conducted in the Morin Heights United Church by the Rev. Wesley Ball.

The community takes this opportunity to extend deepest sympathy to the bereaved families.

Which Mercury size is big enough for you?

Compact! Medium! Big! The choice is yours. Mercury is now a family of three, sized to suit you. Now, your Mercury dealer offers you power, room, economy and price—sized three ways. With Mercury, you choose a car that fits your needs precisely. Take the time to size up Mercury for yourself—and see why Mercury has the best buys in every size for 1962.

1 MERCURY COMET—the compact Mercury. Built for the family who wants a compact car that doesn't look it or act it. The new Comet is a Mercury, with fine car styling unsurpassed among compacts. New rear deck with dual tail-lights provides a flair unique in Comet's price class. And Comet's look of success hasn't gone to its price. Comet still only looks expensive.

Special Features:

Choice of new 85 hp and 101 hp "six" engines. Automatic or manual transmission • Up to 33 miles per gallon on regular gas • Oil change cycle extended up to 6,000 miles • New coolant lasts up to 30,000 miles • Six people ride in comfort • Vacation planned "big car" trunk • 9 models, including Comet's new personal compact car, the S-22 with bucket seats.

2 MERCURY METEOR the middle sized Mercury. This car is so new its unveiling will not take place until November 30. But it is so exciting, that you should know about it right now. Meteor carries on a famous Canadian name, but that's where past resemblance ends. This totally new automobile is tailored for the man who wants a bigger car than a compact —but not quite as big as a big car. Meteor is the heart of the new Mercury line.

Special Features:

Choice of new 145 hp Bantam V-8 or 101 hp "six" engines • Complete package of self-servicing features: Oil change cycle extended up to 6,000 miles; chassis lubrications and coolant last up to 30,000 miles; self-adjusting brakes • Luxurious 6 passenger interior • Cushion-Link suspension for big-car ride.

3 MERCURY MONTEREY the big Mercury. If you think big, Monterey is sized for you. Monterey is big where it counts—in comfort, in performance, in value. Combine its sofa wide seats with its elegant interior decor—and 6 people stretch out in style. The 1962 Mercury Monterey has all it takes—to take you places in a big way.

Special Features:

Engine choice—Super Economy "six" or two V-8's that include the 300 hp Marauder • 120 inch wheelbase and Cushion-Link suspension for the smoothest ride • Complete package of self-servicing features: Oil change cycle extended up to 6,000 miles; chassis lubrication and coolant last up to 30,000 miles; self-adjusting brakes • Big model choice of sedans, hardtops, wagons and an elegant convertible.

Certain features illustrated are optional at extra cost.

Baby Bonus now 16 years old

One of a series of articles describing the Federal Health and Welfare Services Canadians get for their tax dollars.

A young mother walks into a supermarket with her two preschool age children, selects several dollars worth of groceries from the shelves, goes to the check-out counter and endorses a small strip of cardboard. The Family Allowance program has helped one more Canadian family.

Millions of times a year, in clothing shops, pharmacies, department stores, this scene is repeated.

The battle for freedom from want is fought on many fronts. A key weapon is — and must be — money. The means to house, clothe, feed and educate children is basic armament in this fight.

Each month more than 2,600,000 Canadian families, large and small, receive Family Allowance cheques. The rates are $6 for children up to 10 years of age and $8 for older children up to 16 years of age. The average family has two or three children for whom allowances are paid. This money is designed to assist in maintaining a healthy, happy living standard. Surveys have shown that the money, except in rare instances, is spent wisely. Many welfare and other authorities believe that one big reason for this is the fact that most cheques are made payable to the mother.

The program, now 16 years old, has earned widespread acceptance.

Canada is one of many countries (38 in 1958) which endorses with action the belief that families with children, especially young ones, should be aided financially.

Around the world various nations have established family-aid programs ranging from schemes which provide funds for families with one child or more to plans which assist only families with eight or more children!

Some programs allow more money for the second child than for the first, more for the third than the second and so on. Others specify an increase in allowance as the child grows older. All have one thing in common — the recognition that the family unit is vital to a society and must be maintained.

Canada's program, though comparatively new, was considered long before 1945 when the Family Allowance Act was passed. One of the spark plugs of the Act was the Marsh Report in 1943 which spelled out the need to bolster the financial position of low-income families.

The money which the government, through the Department of National Health and Welfare's regional offices, distributes in the form of Family Allowances cheques, is obtained from various federal revenues. It is the money of Canadians being used for Canadians.

When the postman delivers Family Allowances cheques each month, he is opening the door to a fuller life for the young people of Canada.

STREET HONORS DAY

Sherbrooke, Que. (CP) — Like Paris and numerous other cities, Sherbrooke has named a street in honor of an important date. Paris has its "Quatorze Juillet" Street in remembrance of the storming of the Bastille. Sherbrooke has its "Le Vingt-Quatre Juin", named after the feast day of St. Jean Baptiste, patron saint of Quebec.

BANANA GROWER

Sherbrooke, Que. (CP) — Tony Mikolay, who operates the municipal greenhouse in this city, 85 miles east of Montreal, has grown a banana tree that opened up for the first time this summer and produced two dozen bananas. The tree was imported from India five years ago.

Why has a Flowerpot a Hole In the Bottom?

Like human beings, plants must have water to live, but stagnant water is almost as harmful to them as it is to us. If there were no hole in the bottom of the flower pot, any water that the plant did not drink would become stagnant mud in which the plant would soon die.

What Happens when My Foot Goes to Sleep?

Our muscles, those bands of flesh that move the different parts of our bodies, can move only when directed to do so by our motor nerves. These nerves may be roughly described as telegraph wires between our nerve centers and our muscles. Before the order is sent from the nerve center along the motor nerve, directing the muscle to move, the nerve center has to receive a message from another and quite different nerve called the sensory nerve.

From the brain, or from the spinal cord (the big nerve that runs up the backbone), motor and sensory nerves are connected to every part of the body. If a motor nerve is cut, we lose all control of the part of the body it serves, but sensation remains. We can still feel in that part of the body. If a sensory nerve is cut, we lose sensation in the part it serves, but retain the power of movement. If both are cut we lose both sensation and the power to move.

Fortunately, serious damage to a nerve does not often occur but we do sometimes experience pressure on a nerve. If you sit on a chair so that a sharp edge presses against the nerves of your leg, you may find that your foot "goes to sleep". The pressure has affected the nerves serving your foot and by compressing their fibers has made them incapable of transmitting impulses. When you try to get up you cannot feel your foot because the sensory nerve has been pressed too hard by the edge of the chair. You cannot direct the foot to act because the motor nerve has been affected too. The foot is numb. Gradually the nerves recover after the pressure is removed and you feel your foot tingling with a sensation that we call "pins and needles".

JOLSON NOTES

By Irvin R. Warwick

AL JOLSON

"Monday, October 23, 1961, will mark the 11th anniversary of the passing of Al Jolson. He was known as 'The World's Greatest Entertainer', and for good reason. A sensation on Broadway; star of the first talking movie, 'The Jazz Singer', in 1927; a top performer on radio during the twenties, thirties and forties; a tireless, self-sacrificing entertainer of the troops during World War II, as a result of which he suffered a near-fatal illness. And when people said he was through because of his health, he made an amazing comeback at the age of 60, the like of which show business had never seen before, and probably hasn't seen since. His film biography, 'The Jolson Story', made Al a super-star all over again, and when he died in 1950 after completing a trip to Korea to entertain the United Nations troops, he was still 'the champ'."

The above paragraph is an excerpt from a special message sent out to radio and TV stations, newspapers, etc., by the International Al Jolson Society. It sums up our feelings on this occasion. It is our hope that through these messages the Society members and the public in general may enjoy the magic of the Jolson entertainment in special measure around this time.

Notable for its co-operation has been "The Good Old Days" (Sundays at 12.05 p.m. on CJAD) which in October or November spotlights Al's records on one of its programs to mark the occasion. Also deserving of special mention is "Movie Classics" on CJSS-TV, Channel 8, Cornwall, Sundays at 5 p.m. For two consecutive Sundays they showed Jolie's movies, and have promised more to come very soon. The host of the program stated that the movies most requested of this station are those of Shirley Temple as a child and those of the late, great Al Jolson.

The Dog and his Shadow

Carrying a bone in his mouth, a dog crossed a river on a narrow bridge. He saw his own image reflected in the water and decided that it was another dog with a bone larger than his. Consumed with envy, he opened his mouth to grab the other bone and lost his own.

Expect decline in farm income

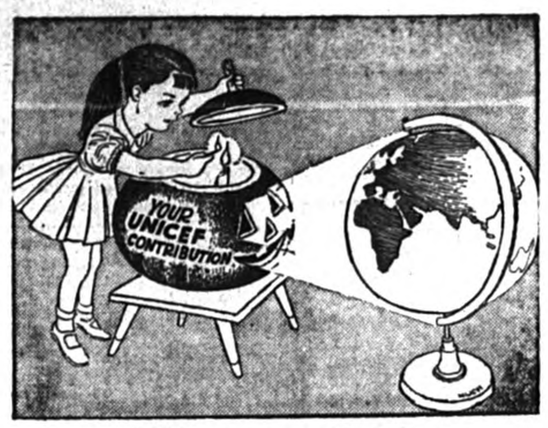

Ottawa (CP) — A tentative survey conducted for the Agriculture department indicates that cash farm income will drop after Christmas as a result of dwindling grain deliveries.

The decline will reflect drought that cut the wheat yield to an estimated 239,000,000 bushels — about half last year's crop and half the 10-year average.

Informants here suggested there is a 50-50 chance of some federal aid to Prairie farmers being announced before Christmas, perhaps another acreage payment. About $42,000,000 was distributed in acreage payments in 1958 and 1960.

NEW BARLEY

Lethbridge, Alta. (CP) — A federal research station here developed a variety of barley, registered as "Palliser," that produces 100 bushels an acre on five acres of a southern Alberta farm.

UNICEF HALLOWE'EN

It's double fun to share with children everywhere, and each year this motivates Canadian boys and girls to celebrate with a UNICEF Hallowe'en. The young "spooks" still collect candies and apples, but the UNICEF boxes they carry represent their desire to help those less fortunate than themselves. UNICEF operates in the three fields of disease control, establishment of mother-child welfare centres, and food provision. Last year UNICEF was able to assist 56,000,000 children, many of them through the generosity of householders who used pennies or silver to answer appeals for "charity, please," and "trick or treat."

Coliseum ready for Ottawa 1961 Winter Fair

Ottawa — The Coliseum at Lansdowne Park is humming with preparations for the Ottawa Winter Fair, 1961 — to be held October 23-28. Stables and pens are ready to receive what officials are certain will be a record entry in all departments. There's little doubt in their minds that the 1961 edition is going to be the best fair in history.

The Royal Canadian Mounted Police Musical Ride, one of the world's foremost equestrian shows, is to be a highlight of the nightly horse show.

The Fair will be opened on the first night, October 23, by Royal Winter Fair general manager, Brig. C. S. McKee.

BAND SNIPE

St. John's, Nfld. (CP) — Dominion wildlife biologist L. M. Tuck plans to band about 600 snipe in Newfoundland this fall as part of his extensive research program into the biology and behavior of the species.

B'burg Scouts group committee held meeting

Brownsburg — The first meeting of the Brownsburg Boy Scouts' group committee was held recently, and arrangements were made to hold the semi-annual Paper Drive last Saturday.

No decision was reached regarding continuing Cub and Scout hockey. This will be decided at the next Group Committee meeting.

Members of the Group Committee will attend occasional Cub and Scout meetings on a rotation basis.

A number of prospective leaders are being contacted regarding giving assistance during the coming Cub and Scout year. The Scout and Cub Masters for 1961-62 are as follows:

Scout Troops — 1st Brownsburg Troop, Ken Ball; Braves Troop, Lorne Brewer.

Cub Packs — 1st Brownsburg Pack, Paul Villard; Mowgli Pack, Berry Bourne.

Activities for both Scouts and Cubs have been resumed for the season.

It was noted that the fees this year will be increased to $1.50 for each Cub and Scout. It was also noted that the name of the organization has been changed to the "Boy Scouts of Canada".

The annual district meeting will be held in the Lachute Legion Hall on Wednesday, November 1, at 7.15 p.m. A dinner will be served at a cost of $1.75, and all leaders, group committee members and their wives or lady friends are invited.

The annual Scouters' Conference was held last week-end at St. Agathe.

Home and School to promote UNICEF Hallowe'en effort

Lachute Home and School Association has appointed the following committee to organize the UNICEF Hallowe'en in Lachute: Mrs. Wm. Butterfield, Mrs. H. Booth and J. F. Gorman. Information pertaining to this worthwhile venture may be obtained from this committee.

Fun for Children

It's double fun — to share with children everywhere. Each year this motivates Canadian boys and girls to celebrate with a UNICEF Hallowe'en. The traditional spirit of the spooky evening will be costumed in space suits of kindness and cowboy outfits of constructive energy and responsibility. More children every year are exchanging sometimes thoughtless mischief for the joy of sharing, by participating in the nation-wide Hallowe'en for UNICEF program.

Last fall, the young "spooks" who took part in a UNICEF Hallowe'en, collected small coins which totalled $260,000.

In Lachute, as well as in all parts of the 10 provinces, you can be proud of your young sons and daughters who will want to represent the spirit of international goodwill by sharing their Hallowe'en fun. They still collect candies and apples, but the UNICEF boxes they carry represent their desire to spread fun around the world by collecting a few less treats for themselves and more coins for others.

J. A. POLLOCK'S
TIPS
ON FLY CONTROL

Flies mean less milk in the pail, less beef on the hoof, and they spread disease.

1. Houseflies: They're not blood suckers and do not cause direct losses in meat and milk production but they are disease carriers. Purina Fly Bait is your answer. Scatter it around where flies bunch up—feed rooms, barns, window sills, out in the barnlot. Just sprinkle Purina Dry Fly Bait and watch 'em die.

2. Stable Flies: Are blood suckers; have piercing mouthparts. About same size as a housefly. Stable flies bite animals around the legs and lower extremities. Spend a part of their time in barns. Use Fly Bait and Spray. Dairy Spray and Dairy Spray Concentrate.

3. Horn Flies: Are about ½ the size of ordinary houseflies and will be found in patches on animals in pasture. When the number of Horn Flies average 25 or more per animal—it's time to spray! Dairy Cattle Dust and Dairy Spray.

4. Horseflies: No effective economical spray is known. Use Purina Fly Bait.

5. For dairy cattle: use Purina Dairy Spray every day or two. Use Purina Dairy Cattle Dust every 3 weeks.

EVERY farmer feels the need for good lighting as winter nears. With good farm lighting, you work in greater safety; have more protection from prowlers; and it's easier to maintain sanitary conditions.
Plan location of lights carefully.

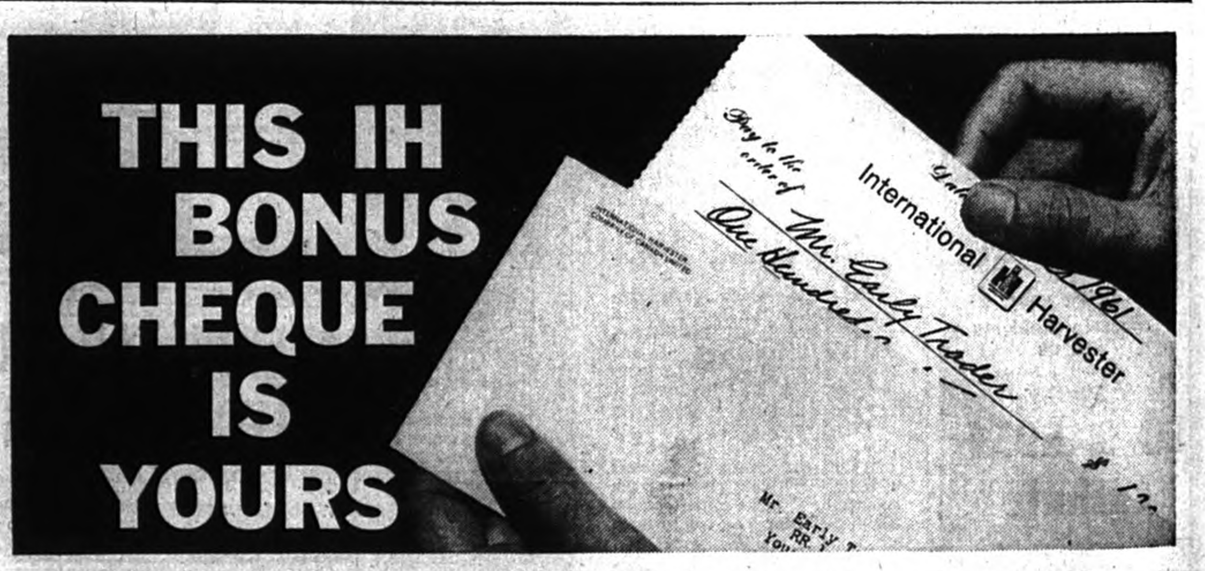

For example: by placing one light at the corner of the barn, as illustrated, you can light both sides. Always provide plenty of switches to save steps. Paint interiors with light colors. Use flood lamps on poles and remote areas. Let Reddy brighten and lighten your work!

Lucky participants in drawing held at Richelieu Club 9th anniversary

Herb Graves, of the firm of Pollock & Graves Motors Ltd., was grand prize winner in the Richelieu Club drawing, held Saturday evening in connection with the club's 9th Anniversary soiree and dance. Lucien Thinel, of St. Jerome, general president of the Richelieu Society, drew the winning tickets, giving Mr. Graves a cash award of $1,000. The other prize-winners were as follows:

$250 — Gérard Trudel, Lachute.
$250 — Roland Ménard, Lachute.
$100 — Edgar Lalonde, Carillon.
$100 — Donat Daigneault, Lachute.
$100 — Dr. Francois Lafleur, St. Lambert.
$50 — Thomas Ayers, Lachute.
$50 — Ernest McGill, Lachute.
$50 — Claude William, Lachute.
$50 — Miville Trickey, Lachute.

Additional awards were won by Mme René Desormeaux, Carillon; Donat Saulnier, Lachute; Mme Clément Legault, Ste. Scholastique.

Quick action in fire drill

At a fire drill in Lachute High School — the first practice since occupancy of the new wing — the 775 pupils and 35 staff members vacated the building in one and a half minutes after sounding of the alarm.

The School Commission chairman, Jas. W. McGibbon, was on hand to witness the drill under supervision of Principal Fred Royal. The school building was afterwards checked to ascertain no pupils had been left behind. . . . The performance, on a completely spontaneous alarm, was considered highly creditable to the staff and pupils.

Geo. Kirby named head of Legion Poppy committee

George Kirby, 1st vice-president, Argenteuil Branch 70 of the Royal Canadian Legion, has been named to head the Branch's 1961 Poppy committee.

Mr. Kirby's first act was to call for an organizational meeting with Branch representatives to work out preliminary plans. He stated the Canadian Legion would like to see more residents taking part in the Remembrance Day ceremonies at the Cenotaph. Through the Canadian Legion poppy campaign, each Canadian has the opportunity to do something tangible about remembering the past and helping the present. Money raised through poppies assists in two ways — directly, when emergency help is needed; indirectly, through a specialized service which the Legion provides for any veteran or dependent.

All poppy monies are held in trust, and can only be used to aid deserving veterans or dependents. By direct assistance and help with other problems — the Legion provides a personal service to those who need it. As individuals we can all contribute to this service, by supporting the poppy campaign.

There is one final aspect to the poppy which, in a sense, overshadows all others. That is, Remembrance. The public has a short memory. Armistice Day; V-E Day; V-J Day, Battle of Britain Sunday; Battle of the Atlantic — all too often these anniversaries pass unnoticed. The only formal observance is held on Remembrance Day. And the focal point, the symbol of Remembrance, is the poppy.

Two minutes once a year, is far from a perfect tribute to those who died. But it is the best we have. The poppy keeps Remembrance alive, and each year reminds us of the price men paid for our freedom. The wearing of the poppy is a very small payment on a very great debt.

Endorse contract for construction of filtration plant

Last formalities between the Town and the firm of O'Connell Ltd. and Pollock & McGibbon, were completed at the Council meeting last Wednesday with the formal acceptance of documents detailing the agreement. The mayor and secretary were authorized to sign contractual forms for construcion of the filtration plant, and the town office was instructed to fill out the required application for federal-provincial aid on winter works projects.

Even though Fraser Brace Engineering Co. Ltd., one of the six bidders, had submitted a written offer to reduce their original quotation by about $5,000, the Council stuck by its decision to engage O'Connell, Pollock & McGibbon, since Fraser Brace had not conformed with requirements in their original statement of costs — having inserted a provisional clause concerning nature of the soil.

The agreement with O'Connell will be effective when government approval is received on financing, and the official order granted.

The job comprises the building of a dam, water intake and filtration plant, restoring the site around the plant, and a 20-inch conduit to the town supply ($325,000) or alternatively, two 16-inch conduits ($353,065).

Hunters blamed for series of bush fires

A bush fire near the boundary line of Wentworth and Wentworth North (Lot 15, Range 8) is being fought by employees of A. D. McGibbon & Sons — according to Jas. W. McGibbon. The fire was discovered Monday, and is now believed to be under control. Exact location of the fire is around Lac La Loutre, not too far from Newago and approximately nine miles north of Lake Louisa.

Another fire burning in the district is near 16 Island Lake, where Wm. Charron, chief district forest ranger, had some 50 men fighting the blaze on Monday. An additional 30 men were enlisted to help bring the fire under control.

Other small bush fires were reported near Good's Lake in the Gore; near Lakefield, and in the Morin Heights vicinity. All are attributed to irresponsible hunters in the bush.

Sales manager moves to Verdun

Adhémar Cuerrier, sales manager at Lacasse Automobiles for the past five and a half years, leaves today to assume a similar position with Doyle Motors, dealers for Chevrolet, Oldsmobile and Cadillac cars, at Verdun, Que.

ADHEMAR CUERRIER

An active participant in community affairs, Mr. Cuerrier has been president of the Chamber of Commerce and vice-president of the Laurentides regional Chambers of Commerce. He has also been prominent in Knights of Columbus circles, a member of the Richelieu Club and active in community organizations including the Cancer Society.

Good wishes of many friends accompany Mr. and Mrs. Cuerrier and their daughters, in their new surroundings.

B'burg workers qualify for C-I-L top safety prize

Brownsburg — A safety record completing 2,027,500 injury-free manhours was achieved last week by employees of the Brownsburg Works, C-I-L Ammunition Division — A. W. Lapp, assistant works manager, announced today.

The record, Mr. Lapp said, wins for the more than 900 employees the C-I-L Prize, highest award under the company's no-accident record plan. The plant has operated for 402 days without a lost-time accident.

The prize carries with it individual awards, which will be presented to the employees at a special ceremony.

Sentiments and Sidelights

Alderman Horace Lamarche, who bade adieu to his colleagues at their last civic meeting, has completed only one term on Council, but during that time has given valuable service, notably as police and fire commissioner and in a liaison role with Social Service. His departure from Council, due to personal obligations, is regretted by the taxpayers, who appreciate his public spirit and look for his return. . . . Horace is the son of one of Lachute's energetic former mayors, the late Hector Lamarche.

In the early hours one morning last week Mayor F. Legault was notified by telephone that a town constable, in uniform, was drunk in a local hotel. When informed of this fact, Chief Hebert went to the place and summarily discharged the man. . . .

This is seen as a strong argument by supporters of the present police set-up, with Phillips Agency policing the town. No calling of aldermen or police committee, no argument, no suspension. Just — phst!

Alderman H. Lamarche to retire

Intention stated on conclusion of routine business at Council

At a Council sitting last week — probably the last before the November civic elections — certain aldermen brought objections to the patching of sidewalks with asphalt. It was pointed out, however, that this was only a temporary expedient, pending more substantial repairs with cement.

An outline was given on duties of the garbage-dump overseer — a job to which Mr. Lester Thompson was appointed at the previous meeting, at a remuneration of $65 a week. His job will be to keep the dumping-ground in a general state of order. To assist in this, a miniature incinerator will be constructed to dispose of papers, cartons, wood and branches.

The mayor and secretary were authorized to borrow a sum not exceeding $10,000 — in conformity with By-Law 221. This is to meet part payment of the International truck recently purchased by the corporation.

To Withdraw from Civic Role

With the end of the aldermanic term in view, Ald. Horace Lamarche, at the conclusion of the session, declared his intention to withdraw from civic affairs. His personal and family responsibilities made this necessary, he stated. He thanked the councillors for their co-operation and looked back with pleasure on his experience with the town administration.

Mayor Fernand Legault expressed the regret of the entire Council on this announcement, and paid high tribute to Mr. Lamarche's service to the civic welfare.

Memorial to Ottawa Valley's first Protestant clergyman

Numerous descendants of the Rev. Richard Bradford joined the congregation of St. Simeon's Anglican Church last Sunday morning, for the unveiling of a memorial tablet to their illustrious forebear.

It was in October, 1805, that the Rev. Richard Bradford, first Protestant clergyman in the Ottawa Valley, received the first judicial register to record baptisms, marriages and burials in this district. Also, it was in October, 80 years ago, that the consecreation of the first St. Simeon's Church building took place. . . . Last Sunday was therefore an appropriate date for this occasion, when a full congregation gathered to witness the ceremony.

The rector, the Rev. C. R. Lang, was in the pulpit and one of the great-great-grandsons of the Rev. Bradford, Mr. G. A. Caron, performed the unveiling.

Mr. Caron, a former resident here, now of Montreal, also read a biographical sketch, from which the following extracts are reproduced:

Facts in Life and Ministry of the Rev. Richard Bradford

The primary facts concerning the Rev. Richard Bradford which makes the memorial here to him appropriate, both from the standpoint of this church and of his descendants, are that he was the first to plant the Church of England in the Valley of the Ottawa, which of course included ministerings in the Lachute settlement, and the first resident clergyman in what is now known as the County of Argenteuil. These two facts alone were regarded by local historians and others as entitling

Pedestrian injured at St. Philippe

Normand Pilon, a 42-year-old St. Philippe resident, was treated for a skull fracture and other injuries at the Smith Clinic, Hawkesbury, and later transferred by ambulance to a Montreal hospital, following an accident in which he was struck by a car while walking along Route 8 in St. Philippe.

The accident occurred at 12.10 a.m. last Saturday. The victim was accompanied by Denis Burris, also of Hawkesbury. Driver of the car was Mrs. Réal Lalonde, 34, of Ayersville. The accident was investigated by Q.P.P. Officer Arthur Kennedy.

One-lane traffic while raising Perley Bridge

Quebec Provincial Police state that 15 tons is the maximum load allowed on the Perley Interprovincial Bridge, Grenville, while the bridge is under re-construction.

Work is presently underway to raise the bridge, mainly on the Ontario side, prior to completion of the Carillon Dam project. It is reported the bridge will be partially closed, allowing traffic only one way at a time, for some two months.

Wm. Phillips, Director of Phillips Investigation Bureau, reports he has men on the job directing traffic, and has a traffic light system in operation to facilitate traversing the bridge.

Fire damaged store premises

A second-storey apartment owned by Fernando Carrière, Foundry Street grocer, and occupied by Mrs. Jack Bydal and her 16-year-old son, was gutted by fire on Thursday morning of last week. The apartment was situated over Mr. Carriere's grocery store, and considerable smoke and water damage to the stock resulted.

The fire is believed to have started in the bedroom occupied by Mrs. Bydal, who was reported to have been suffering from the 'flu at the time of the fire. She managed to escape to the street, clad only in her night attire. Her son was in school at the time of the outbreak.

Firemen were notified by a passing motorist and sounded a general alarm. They were at the scene for approximately an hour and were hampered in their operations by intense smoke. The loss is reported to be covered by insurance.

Break-in, theft at Lake Louisa

A break-in and robbery at Lake Louisa was reported early last week by Edmund McFaul, local merchant, who reported miscreants had smashed a door and several windows to gain entry to his summer cottage. Reported missing is a TV set and other electrical appliances.

Other similar robberies have taken place in the Morin Heights and Pte. au Chene regions. All are under investigation of Cpl. Aimé Bertrand, officer in charge of the Argenteuil Q.P.P. detachment.

Pre-season plans for rink take priority at Lions Club

There was an "old home week" atmosphere to the Lions Club session, last Tuesday in the Legion Hall, when at least three former members — Ernest Snadden, Phil Tremblay and Bill Butterfield — were among the 40-odd men in attendance.

Col. Ernest Emmett was in the chair, and the ex-members were present with others for the resitution of bank bonds (47 in number) which had been required as personal guarantee for a $20,000 loan to capitalize the Lions' skating rink project.

The fact that the rink has filled its admirable purpose in the past three years, and that the original investment has been paid off, is a credit to the good management of this community enterprise. As remarked by various committeemen who had pioneered the project, this was however but a stepping-stone to future advancement. The coming years will precipitate problems of accommodation, and the approaching season will entail some heavy expense in snow-removal equipment, which has hitherto been of a makeshift nature . . . and in short, the skating rink remains still a challenge to the club's initiative and to public financial backing. Behind the scenes, enthusiastic workers are now lining up the junior teams and sponsors for an active hockey season.

Phil Tremblay, who was club president in the inaugural year of this rink (1958), complimented the Lions on the success of the project since that time — and also on the virility of the club, which now evidenced many newcomers in its roster.

October, incidentally, is membership month, and Vice-president Royal Carrière (in the absence of Leopold Carrière, committeeman) gave a boost to the need for new enrolments, to make this service club still more effective in its work.

Keith Clarke filled his customary duties as secretary — an important function in co-ordinating club activities and maintaining International contacts through the years.

Time reverts to Standard

Readers are reminded of the change of time this coming Sunday — clocks to be set back one hour at midnight Saturday. (New C.P.R. train schedule advertised in this issue.)

6 Months for store and hotel thefts

Garry Beavin, a Pine Hill resident, pleaded guilty to a charge of breaking and entering with theft, when he appeared in St. Jerome court on Tuesday of last week, and was sentenced to a six-months jail term.

The charge was laid by Cpl. Aimé Bertrand, Provincial Police, following break-ins at the Pine Hill Hotel, owned and operated by Jean Paul Dagenais, and Thorburn's store in Kilmar.

Also charged in connection with the same offences was Sandy McMillan, who pleaded not guilty. Trial will be held in November.

New district substation is significant in Gatineau Power service expansion

A progressive step in the operations of Gatineau Power Company, distributors of power in the Laurentian area since 1927, was marked by the opening of a new substation on Route 11 four miles north of St. Jerome.

The official inauguration of this unit took place Friday afternoon, when the Hon. Lionel Bertrand, Quebec provincial secretary, symbolically engaged the switch. Together with the guest of honor were mayors of the surrounding municipalities, representatives of the press, and Monsignor Paul Labelle, honorary canon, who conferred a blessing on the building and equipment.

Mr. Allan Brown, vice-president of the company, extended a welcome to the guests, and Mr. John Burroughs, company engineer gave technical details of the new installation.

Technical Details

The new substation, the highest-powered in the Gatineau system, outside its generating plants, is fed by a new 110,000-volt line from Lachute to Paquin, but may be alternatively powered by circuits from Cedars or other plants on the Gatineau or in that region.

Although the Paquin substation carries a present service of 110,000 volts, it is designed to carry up to 240,000 volts when needed.

Two immense transformers installed at the new Gatineau Power substation at Paquin, just north of St. Jerome. Each with a capacity of 40,000 KVA, they are 22 feet high, and their unusual width presented a special problem in rail transportation to the site. The foundations contain 176 cubic yards of concrete, and 34,400 lbs of steel were employed in the erection. . . . Interested spectators view the maze of high-tension cables and connecting lines at the scene of the transformers. — Photo, Lachepelle, St. Jerome

Customers commit store robbery

A sum of money and hunting licenses, with total value estimated around $500, was reported stolen from Dupré Sport Shop shortly after noon on Friday last. Two rifles valued at $228 were also stolen.

According to Miss Dorothy Macriff, clerk in the store, a couple entered and purchased an article valued at a few cents. During that time, two hunters entered the store to purchase licenses. The couple left and later returned, the woman taking Miss Macriff to the rear of the store to look at an article. When they returned to the front of the store, the man had left. It was after the woman left the store that the theft was discovered, as the hunting licenses money was kept separate from the regular cash register.

Investigation was carried out by Chief J. L. Hebert and Cst. R. Lalliberté, a report being made to the Provincial Police.

— By BOB ATCHISON —

The duck and geese population sure get into a lot of trouble. The Snow geese down the river threatened with oil from the tanker that ran aground — and it now has threatened their feeding grounds. The wildlife authorities are doing everything in their power to save these breeds, and it sure is going to be a tough job for them. Having seen ducks that had tangled with oil, I know just what these dedicated men are getting into. I never have seen geese covered with oils, but would imagine their predicament is almost the same as the ducks. I don't think I will ever forget seeing these birds, just perched wherever they happened to stop, and starving to death. Also it is a very hard job keeping them alive after they have been in this oil for any length of time. You see, the oil they have come in contact with kills the natural oils of the ducks, allowing cold to get at the birds; then pneumonia develops. When you think of all the ordinary hazards these birds have to survive, without any human element involved, it is bad enough; when the human element comes in, the trouble develops.

Not too many deer have been taken in our County. One of the reasons I think has been the lack of cold weather. Naturally, leaves have caused a lot of trouble with the hunters, but this latest cold snap will doubtless remove a lot of foliage. The deer I have seen were not too big; and from accounts, none of them have been any great size. I also heard of the moose being shot at, but NOT hit. This is one time I am glad of the poor marksmen up from Montreal. A bear was taken this week; from all I have heard it is going to be made into a rug. To have a good one made up is a costly undertaking, and not really worth the money (unless you have lots of it lying around loose).

The ducks have picked up a little this past week. Some good flights are around the North River and probably will stay for awhile. Most of them were and are Blacks, with a few Mallards among them. Heard of a couple of Wood ducks that were shot on the West River this past week too. Actually not too many breeds get into these parts, but maybe with the warmer weather we have been having in the past few years, we will get some of the Pin Tails, Canvas Backs, Buffleheads and so on. From all accounts though, the duck situation is pretty grim. Poor bags with spotty conditions have seriously depleted them, and from the literature given out, these prospects are in store from now on. Shortening of the season, etc., doesn't seem to have done much good up to now and it cannot be denied that this is a last-resort measure. The only thing left now is to close all duck shooting for a couple of years, and see what happens. I know this will not meet with favor from the duck shooters, and it doesn't with me, but it's better to have no ducks for a couple of years than have none at all. . . . At any rate, better brains than mine are working on this problem; thank goodness for that.

Fishing has been pretty good with the Perch and Northerns. No great quantity of the latter are being caught, but the ones that have been taken are a fair size. One of them I saw weighed 15 lbs., and the flesh was very firm. Good eating for all. Some of the perch taken were very good. Running about one-pound apiece, they sure give a lot of fun. (I would like to get enough of them to invite everyone in Lachute up for a fish fry of perch. From then on you would all be sold on them.)

* * *

Saturday morning in town was really something. I wondered if an invasion was in progress, with all the hunters in. With some of them presumably, all their hunting would be for another shot at the "Anti-freeze" (and I don't mean Prestone). Some of the guns around were wonderful, and if they could be used properly by decent hunters, there wouldn't be much to worry about. I guess we all remember how the hunters were going to be trained in the use of firearms by government authorities — no more hunting accidents. Nothing much has been done by anyone except private firms, chiefly, the C-I-L. It could be that in the distant future something will be done. What a hope!

There are still some campers around the district, and these come well equipped. If anyone has had the opportunity of seeing them in the bush, they would have been struck by the neatness of everything connected with their craft. One group had one of these small sheet-metal stoves with oven, and when I came upon it, dinner was just being cooked. Naturally, I invited myself, and must say it was a pleasure. A small roast of lamb with baked potatoes and creamed corn is good at any time, but cooked in the open, it's more than a meal. A gourmet's delight. This is one of the excellent things about camping. The meals are, or seem to be, just that much better. By the way, if any of you would like a real delight to the palate, try this. Build a good fire outside, even in the back yard. Get lots of red coals, then take a small roast of beef, pork, anything you fancy. Wrap in aluminum foil with sliced potatoes, a sliver of onion, a couple of slices of tomato, salt and pepper. Pop into the coals and allow about 10 minutes a pound, rare; a little more for well done. This is superb.

I told you about some insulated socks last week. I have worn these, and have a few remarks to make about them. They are very warm, no doubt about that, but they do not absorb any moisture whatsoever. This I find will make a cold foot in colder weather. The heel is reinforced, and it seems to be too heavy for the average foot. They are very easily washed and dried, and do not seem to lose shape after this. They keep the softness after washing, almost the same way as a good angora sweater would — but with a lot less trouble. All in all they seem to be a good and serviceable sock. When they will be on the market for sale, I don't know; there may be more changes made on them, but if and when they do go on sale, they will be worth a look at. Some of the new hunting jackets are well worth buying now, too. For the past few years they have been getting better and better, and they seem to have hit the peak. Light, easily taken care of. Reds and greens seem to be the only colors to be had, but I think there may be others soon. Boots are the one thing that has not been improved too much. The manufacturers have not done too much work on them. The Insul-Boots are still very expensive and for the person who wears them only a few times during the season, hardly worth purchasing. The rubber and leather boots are very good, but still far too heavy for any great amount of walking. Maybe if they could be lightened up and insulated a little, they would fill the bill. Most of the people I have talked to on this situation all have one conviction: The company that comes out with a good and not too expensive boot for the outdoorsman, will hit the jackpot. I agree on this.

The rabbits are starting to show up in fair number. Maybe this season we will have a little better shooting than last fall. You may remember, nearly all the rabbits disappeared and a lot of them died off with the flea. A good feed of rabbit wouldn't do me any harm, and I'm sure a lot of you will go for them. Rabbit pie, stew, baked, fried and what-have-you. Sounds good, doesn't it.

New substation is significant in Gatineau Power expansion

It will eventually form part of a 240,000 transmission line to be erected from Paugan Falls on the Gatineau River. It will be extended to Ste. Agathe and fed by power developments on the Gatineau.

The substation, which cost around $345,000 to install, contains two immense transformers of 80,000 kilowatt total capacity. Each of these weighs 173,000 lbs., stands 22 feet high, and embodies almost 5,000 feet of control wire.

Company engineers started over two years ago to prepare plans for location and equipment of this unit, and the actual construction commenced last November. A contractor laid concrete foundations for the large transformers, and from there on every detail of construction was handled by company engineers and employees.

Lines served by this substation are equipped with automatic cut-outs which restore service immediately after interruption — repeating this procedure three times; then, if the service continues short circuited (by fallen branches or contacting wires, etc.) a serviceman on 24-hour duty in St. Jerome is notified, also automatically, by radio.

It was noted that, although living costs have risen generally 70 per cent from 1927 to 1961, Gatineau subscribers enjoy electricity rates which are among the lowest in the province and in Canada.

The Hon. Lionel Bertrand congratulated the officials on their company's initiative, which was a credit to private enterprise. "Gatineau Power has not hesitated to invest vast capital in order to promote more comforts, growth and progress to this area." Mgr. Labelle also extended congratulations at a reception and buffet tendered to the guests.

Civil and religious authorities joined with press representatives and others who witnessed the opening of the new Paquin substation last Friday. Above — the Hon. Lionel Bertrand, Quebec provincial secretary, who was guest of honor; Mr. Allan Brown, vice-president of Gatineau Power, welcoming the visitors; Mr. Armand Bussière, manager of St. Jerome division; and Mayor Marcel Longpré of Lesage. The substation will serve the districts of Shawbridge, Ste. Adele, and the Rolland paper mill at Mont Rolland. — Photo, Lachepelle, St. Jerome

— by —

Branch 70 Correspondent

"ACTIVE SERVICE YESTERDAY COMMUNITY SERVICE TODAY"

A new member, Douglas Boyd, was brought into the Branch at our October meeting. With Comrade Boyd's name added to the roster, our membership is now very close to the 200 mark. Surely there are other veterans in the district who would be interested in joining with us in our community social work, as well as enjoying the comradeship of the clubroom? Membership in the Royal Canadian Legion throughout Canada may well top the quarter-million mark this year. The present Legion membership is over five times what it was in 1939. In the last ten years alone there has been a gradual increase of 75,000.

Thanks to Comrade Les Kerr (who was absent), the attendance drawing at next month's meeting will be for $10. To clarify — at each of our meetings a name will be drawn from our paid-up membership. If that comrade is present at the meeting, he is the winner of five bucks. If absent (as was the case in October), the money is applied to next month's draw. So turn out to the meetings, here is a chance for some easy money!

Keep the date of October 28 open. This is the night of our Hallowe'en dance, which is always one of the most successful events held by the branch. Come in costume, and save part of the admission fee. There will be prizes for the best costumes, the judging to take place at 10.30 p.m.

Plans are finalized for the Remembrance Day ceremonies. The parade will move off from the Legion Hall at 10.15 Saturday, November 11. The church parade will be held on the following day, Sunday, November 12. Everyone will move off from the Hall, with the Roman Catholics falling out at Ste. Anastasie and the Protestants proceeding to Lachute United Church. The Armistice supper will be held on Saturday evening, at the usual time. A guest speaker will be in attendance. The evening will close with the usual dance.

The date for the 25th anniversary celebrations has been set for November 25. The Christmas dance for December 15; and the children's Christmas party on the afternoon of December 23.

The Royal Canadian Legion national curling championships will be held in Fredericton, N.B., from March 19 to 22. This will be the sixth year for these championships climaxing the activity of over 7,000 Legion curlers.

'Curriculum Night' opens new B'burg Home-School season

(Our District Correspondent)

Brownsburg — The Brownsburg Home and School Association members opened their 1961-62 season on Wednesday last, as some 120 parents and teachers got together for the popular "Curriculum Night". It is at this meeting that the parents visit their children's classrooms and the individual teachers explain in detail the curriculum they follow and the teaching methods they use.

President John Rutherford welcomed the parents, and in his greetings provided answers for those who wonder how such an organization can justify its existence. (Montreal radio announcer take note!). First to come to mind in reviewing accomplishments, was the bicycle safety program instituted three years ago, and which now appears to be looked upon as an annual affair. Evidence of the value of such a program is demonstrated daily by the children using proper hand-signals when riding bicycles. . . . It just might be that this instruction has saved a life already.

The local Association was also instrumental in having the school board obtain the services of a qualified physical education teacher to conduct gym classes as a part of the regular curriculum.

The most recent field in which Home and School performed a service was that concerned with the vocational guidance of the students. Through combined efforts of the school board, the Association and Principal King Amos students in Grades 9, 10 and 11 were able to take advantage of the guidance offered by a professional guidance counsellor last year.

While these three items in particular stand out as recorded achievements of the Association, Mr. Rutherford stressed that Home and School has also served to foster greater co-operation between parents and the school staff. This, in the long run, is the "raison d'être" — close co-operation which leads to the solving of mutual problems.

Principal King Amos introduced the teaching staff to the Association members, and in so doing brought up the thought that here in Brownsburg we may have something unique in the teaching profession in this area. Mrs. Annie Burke and Miss Annie Laurie Burke form a mother-daughter team in charge of Grades 3 and 2-B, respectively.

After the classroom visits by the parents, Miss Carolyn Waters, formerly of Plaster Rock, N.B., and spending her first year at Brownsburg, was interviewed and asked what she thought of her first Home and School meeting. She replied, "If all Home and School parents were as co-operative as those I have met tonight, then Home and School should be very successful on a national basis."

Mr. and Mrs. William Brady, newcomers from Oban, Scotland, stated that they felt that Home and School was "A fine idea. . . . It is a great help when the parents can talk to the teachers."

The next meeting of the Association is set for Wednesday, November 15, at 8 p.m., when the executive plans to have a representative of the Provincial Technical Schools as guest speaker.

Richard was born on April 21, 1752, in Surrey, England, at a town then called Rotherhithe (which is now part of London). His parents were Richard and Susanna Bradford of that town.

In early youth he entered the British Navy and, according to family traditions and others, he sailed the seas as midshipman under Capt. Cook.

Later on he decided to study for the ministry, and in course of time was ordained as Deacon at Cathedral Church of Norwich, England, in 1785.

In the meantime he became married in 1783 to Sarah Jeffrey, daughter of Rev. John Jeffrey, Vicar on Ludham and Potter Heigham, Norfolk.

On the 18th May, 1788, he was ordained priest at Norwich Cathedral by Bishop Bagot (who was the Bishop there from 1783 to 1790).

He came to Canada in 1805 from Catskill, N.Y., and settled with his wife and family in Chatham Township on the north shore of the Ottawa River near Carillon. That Township and the Seigniory of Argenteuil which included the St. Andrews and Lachute settlements, were then in what was called County of York, District of Montreal, Lower Canada.

The Rev. Richard received for his Canadian ministry his first church register on the 24th October, 1805, from the Hon. Isaac Ogden, one of the Justices of the Court of King's Bench for the District of Montreal. In that register he was described as "Minister of the Protestant Episcopal Congregation of Chatham".

In the registers which he received later for the next three years from Judges of the Court of King's Bench, Montreal, he was however described not only as "Minister of the Protestant Episcopal Congregation at Chatham" but as "Officiating also as Minister for the Seigniory of Argenteuil in the said District".

In March, 1806, he received, under a formal Deed of Donation, from Colonel Daniel Robertson, who had been British Commandant at Fort Michillimac, ninety-six acres of land at Chatham on the Ottawa River not far from the Robertson Manor house.

He had two periods of ministry in the Ottawa Valley, namely: 1805 - 1808, and 1811 - 1816. From 1808 to 1811, he ministered in Sorel. He was allowed to move back to the Ottawa Valley, particularly as he had a home there, and had in the meantime acquired other lands along the Ottawa River and along the North River, presumably for the benefit of his family, which was a large one.

The records show a surprising number of Acts of Civil Status at which Rev. Richard officiated during these years. For example, in the year 1814, there were 30 baptisms, 16 marriages, 6 burials, making a total of 52 ceremonies of those descriptions at which he officiated in that year, or an average of one a week.

The Rev. Richard performed similar ceremonies for people in outside settlements, such as Grenville, Hawkesbury, Rigaud, Hudson, Como, Vaudreuil, and others as the records indicate.

The war years 1812-1814, were extremely arduous years for him. The itinerant preachers who in other years had come up from the New England States to preach among the people in the Canadian settlements were cut off during these war years, and so there were naturally more demands upon the Rev. Richard's time and services.

He had been a British Army chaplain, and had associations as a chaplain with the military companies from the Ottawa Valley district, which were stationed at Pointe Claire, Quebec, subject to immediate call for duty at any other location. Two of the Rev. Richard's sons were with the forces there, or elsewhere. Thus he would be concerned with the welfare of those forces, in addition to his other responsibilities.

The Rev. Richard's ministry in Canada was under the auspices of the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel throughout the whole period, and his stipend or salary was paid by that Society.

During the Rev. Richard's time the services were generally held in school houses or sometimes it is believed in individual homes.

As an indication of the size and quite considerable importance of congregations in the Rev. Richard's ministry, it might be mentioned that in an annual report of the S.P.G. about the time of his death, it was stated that the morning attendance at St. Andrews was 300 while the afternoon one at Chatham was 200.

The population in the Lachute settlement had increased rapidly too. For example, a paper found among the records of J. S. Hutchins indicated that the number of children between the ages of 4 and 21 in 1810 was 211.

The hardships endured by the Rev. Richard and his arduous journeyings ministering to the people in the pioneer settlements, especially during the war years, finally took their toll on his health.

About a year after the war ended he had to retire from the active ministry, namely in the autumn of 1816. He went to Montreal for special medical attention. He died there in May, 1817, and was buried in the Papineau Avenue Military Cemetery there.

Some people have said that it is a matter of distinction to the Rev. Richard Bradford that a grandson of his, namely, Sir John Abbott, became the first Canadian-born premier of Canada, and that in addition many other descendants of his over the period of years, have attained to positions of prominence.

But it is because he was a personage of distinction in his own right, as a pioneer clergyman, working for the welfare of humanity on the frontiers, and in the Christian faith, that the present tablet has been erected here to his revered memory.

The following inscription is embossed on the bronze tablet:

IN MEMORY OF
REV. RICHARD BRADFORD

First resident clergyman in what is now Argenteuil County — arriving 1805 — First to plant Church of England in Ottawa Valley — Chief missions at Chatham and St. Andrews.

Born in Surrey, England, in 1752. Midshipman under Capt. Cook. Then became Divinity student — Ordained Priest at Norwich Cathedral in 1788 by Bishop Bagot — Army Chaplain — School Principal — Rector in New York State.

He ministered to Lachute District 1805-1808. Rector at Sorel 1808-1811. Returned to Ottawa Valley, resuming Lachute ministerings especially during war of 1812 — celebrated Holy Communion and officiated at many marriages, baptisms, etc., until 1816. He died at Montreal, 1817. Buried in Papineau Ave. Military Cemetery.

In his sermon based on missionary spirit and fortitude, the Rev. C. R. Lang also paid fitting tribute to the Rev. Richard Bradford, who had so enduringly "planted the Anglican Church in the Valley of the Ottawa". The Rev. Mr. Lang quoted relevant passages from the late Dr. B. N. Wales' "Memories of Old St. Andrews".

Out-of-court settlement, Ayersv'l debt to Lachute

At an adjourned meeting of Ayersville Council on October 16, chaired by the pro-mayor, Wilfrid Durocher, building permits were granted to Ayers Realty for the construction of six houses; to Mme E. Leseize for an extension to her property on Chatham Street; to Frank Gunpert for a dwelling on Providence Blvd., and to Romuald Larente for a shed.

A sum of $200 was voted to the Federation of Charities, and $15 to the diocesan St. Jean Baptiste Society towards its 10th anniversary celebration in November.

A letter from the Bank of Montreal drew attention to a balance of $23,700 due on a loan for sidewalk construction; and a letter from Roger Lebrecque, deputy minister of roads, advised that this department could not comply with a request to rescind the contract for Hamford Street bridge approaches, given to the firm of Lauzon.

There was also a letter and copy of a resolution from the Town of Lachute, reporting acceptance by the Department of Municipal Affairs of rates for out-of-town fire services. The rates are $125 for the first hour or fraction thereof, and $100 for each subsequent hour or portion thereof.

Councillors Gauthier and Plamondon moved that the municipality accept no responsibility for damages during work of re-locating pipes, incidental to the building of Hamford bridge — a job undertaken by Casaubon, contractors, on order of the government for $3,595. However, after inspection and approval by the Council, the government would be free of claim or responsibility in this respect.

The secretary read complaints on the valuation roll, and after discussion it was agreed to meet October 25 on the homologation — the mayor and councillors meanwhile giving consideration to the cases under protest.

Coun. Doug Simon, seconded by Coun. G. Plamondon, moved the following resolution, which was unanimously adopted:

(a) That Ayersville agrees to pay the Town of Lachute, (as finances permit), the amount claimed by Lachute in Superior Court against this municipality;

(b) That Ayersville withdraws its defence in this lawsuit, each party paying its respective costs.

The meeting was then adjourned until October 25.

Agreed at Lachute Council Meeting

The amount of indebtedness between Ayersville and Lachute, above referred to, is $8,450 — of which sum, approximately $8,000 is for expenses incurred in firefighting services and in rental of equipment belonging to Lachute Town.

At the Lachute Council meeting last Wednesday, a cheque of $2,000 on this account was formally accepted as initial payment.

It was moved by Ald. Dr. Dorion, seconded by Ald. S. Holt, that — since Lachute agrees to and accepts this out-of-court settlement from Ayersville — Roger Lagarde, counsel for the Town in this suit, be asked to complete the proceedings as they stand and close the litigation.

Thanks to B'burg blood donors and volunteer helpers

Brownsburg — The blood clinic chairman has received a congratulatory letter from the Director of the Blood Donor Service, thanking Brownsburg for its recent turnout of 176 donors.

A blood clinic needs more than the willing donors to be a success, and plaudits are due to the ladies of the branch for their wholehearted and workmanlike approach to the organizing of telephone squads, cafeteria, etc.; to the local volunteer nurses; to Canadian Industries Limited and those employees who arranged the afternoon session; to the local merchants — Maitland Bros., J. P. MacKimmie & Sons, Lemay Dairies and Chevrier Lachute Ltée, for their generous stocking of the canteen; and to the Canadian Legion Branch 71 for the use of their hall.

Any thanks offered in words to the donors would be insignificant compared to that of the unknown hospital patient whose life depended on that bottle of blood. Theirs is the sincerest of thanks!

AND THEN SOME

Mother to son: "Jimmy, I've told you a hundred million times not to exaggerate!"

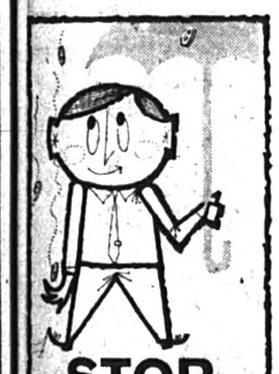

Three fire calls over week-end

Members of the Lachute Fire Brigade were summoned to three fire calls over the week-end; all outbreaks were of a minor nature.

A call was received for a bush fire on the south side of the new section of Route 41, near the Bourbonniere properties, at 2.55 a.m. Saturday. A truck and crew of men was at the scene for two hours.

At 11.45 p.m. Saturday, a call was placed by René Laurin, Evelina and Georges Streets, and an hour later, the all-clear was sounded. The fire in this case was burning rubbish in the basement. The fire spread to the wall and ceiling of the main floor, but damage was not extensive.

At 9 a.m. Sunday, a call to the home of Ernest Champagne, Ayersville, was responded to. Firemen found thick smoke and a fire burning in an upstairs clothes cupboard. This outbreak, started by children playing with matches, was quickly extinguished once the smoke was cleared from the building.

MacRAE — In loving memory of a beloved father and grandfather, Windsor MacRae, who passed away Oct. 25, 1959. — Ever remembered by his daughter, Viola, son-in-law, George, and grandchildren.

"A wonderful father gone to rest,
For all of us he did his best,
His life was true, his heart was kind —
A better father none could find."

MacRAE — In loving memory of our dear father, Windsor, whose death occurred Oct. 25, 1959. — Always remembered by daughter, Annie, and son, Dan.

"Oh, happy hours we once enjoyed,
How sweet their memory still;
But death has left a loneliness
The world can never fill."

MacRAE — In loving memory of a dear father and grandfather, who passed away Oct. 25, 1959. — Ever remembered by his daughter Levita, son-in-law, Charles, and grandchildren.

"Two years have passed away
Since the one we loved was called away."

McGILL — In memory of Mrs. Fred McGill, who left to be with her Lord, Oct. 20, 1960. — Always remembered by her husband, Fred, and daughters.

"Into thine hand I commit my spirit: thou hast redeemed me, O Lord God of truth". — Ps. 31, v 5.

O'BRIEN — In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Davis O'Brien, who passed away Oct. 24, 1959. — Sadly missed by Allie and the family.

Youngster follows father's prowess as marksman

Following in his father's footsteps, a young Winnipeg boy is distinguishing himself as a rifleman. John Todd is described in a local news report as the "11-year-old Windsor Park shotgun whiz, who rang up scores of eight out of 10, and 10 out of 10, on bear trap, nine out of 10 on practice trap, and six out of 10 on walk-up, to capture junior honors at the Winnipeg Game and Fish Association's Field Day last month."

John Todd is the son of R. Todd, a high-ranking competitive marksman, with C-I-L Sales in Winnipeg (formerly at Brownsburg Works). His mother is the former Freda McVicar, one-time teacher on the Brownsburg High School staff.

Old resident widely mourned

The late Mrs. Lemuel Rourke

On Thursday, October 19, at her residence, the death occurred of Euphemia Andrews, wife of the late Lemuel T. Rourke. In her 83rd year, the deceased had resided in the vicinity of Calumet for many years.

Left to mourn are two daughters, Mrs. Ernest Morrison (Annie), Mrs. Percy MacLean (Olive); six sons, Austin, George, William, Herman, Elvie and John; 22 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren. Two sisters, Mrs. Alfred Bennett (Annie), Mrs. Herbert Handy (Nellie), and two brothers, Edward and George, also survive.

The funeral was attended by numerous relatives and friends. Service was conducted by the Rev. D. Minor, assisted by the Rev. J. Shrier, also by the Rev. Burgess, who sang "Sunrise Tomorrow".

The hymns sung were, "When the Roll is Called up Yonder" and "Face to Face".

The pall-bearers were—Messrs. Bruce Rourke, Reginald Rourke, Ivan MacLean, Gary Kelly, Gary Keatley and Calvin Provencal.

The remains were laid to rest at the Calumet Cemetery.

The late Lorne Moore

Arundel — The funeral of the late Lorne Moore took place on Monday afternoon in the United Church. The Rev. Mr. Bussell and Mr. Lawson conducted the service.

The choir was in attendance, and during the service a duet, "The Old Rugged Cross", was rendered by Mrs. Lillian Cooke and Mrs. Walter McMahon, this being a favorite hymn of the deceased.

The pall-bearers were Messrs. Roy Staniforth, Edward Gray, Keith Wilson, Coral Swail, Bazil Tomalty and Harold McMahon. Interment was made in the Arundel Cemetery.

The deceased is survived by his widow; two daughters, Mrs. Douglas Burns, of Brownsburg, and Mrs. P. Paul Kulagowski, of Chomedy, Que.; five sons, Ross, of Montreal, Stanley, Delson and Clifford, of Vancouver, and Gordon, of Montreal. He also leaves two sisters, Mrs. Lewis Rafuse, of Montreal, and Mrs. George Hay, of Newport, Vt., and one brother, Jarvis, of Montreal. Seventeen grandchildren also survive.

On the Sunday evening prior to the funeral, the local lodge of the Loyal Orange Order conducted a private service under the leadership of Mr. Sidney Swail, assisted by member representatives from lodges in Lost River, Lachute, Grenville and Harrington.

The floral tributes were profuse and beautiful, showing the high esteem in which the late Mr. Moore was held.

Calumet couple feted on their 30th anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. John Fox, after being absent from their home for a few hours on Saturday evening, October 14, received a pleasant surprise on their return, to find approximately 40 of their relatives and friends awaiting them to extend congratulations and good wishes on their 30th wedding anniversary.

Joint hostesses to the party were Mrs. Gerald Tomalty, Mrs. Raymond Madden and Mrs. Ernest MacRae. The rooms were decorated for the occasion in pink and blue, and a three-tier cake made by Mrs. Edward Young (Mrs. Fox's mother) and beautifully decorated by Mrs. Samson Arthurs, centred the dining room table.

At the conclusion of a very delightful evening, delicious refreshments were served.

Mr. Ernest MacRae performed the pleasant task of presenting to Mr. and Mrs. Fox, on behalf of their family and relatives present, a large sum of money. They were also the recipients of many beautiful gifts from their friends. Both expressed their sincere gratitude.

Mr. and Mrs. Fox have a family of three daughters, Mrs. Gerald Tomalty, Mrs. Raymond Madden and Mrs. Glendon McNeil, also two sons, Messrs. Bill and John Fox, Jr. All were present except Mrs. G. McNeil, of Port Colborne, Ont.

Those from a distance included Mr. and Mrs. Ancel Young, of Port Colborne, Mr. Roy MacRae, of Almonte, and Mrs. Edward Goldsmith, of Montreal.

Former resident died Sunday

Late Mrs. Thomas Edwards

A former resident here, Mrs. Thomas Edwards, died Sunday at Papineauville, at the age of 72. The former Eva Prevost, she was the widow of Toussaint Charron by her first marriage.

Funeral rites were held today (Wednesday) at the parish church in Papineauville.

Besides her husband, Mr. Thomas Edwards, she is mourned by two sons, Aurèle, of Ste. Therese, and Maurice, of Montreal; and four daughters, Mme Chs. Dupuis (Sylvia), of Papineauville, Mlle Yvonne Charron, Lachute, Sister Marie-Eva (Pierrette), of Hull, and Mme Chs. Robidoux (Georgette), of Ste. Rose de Lima.

Her sisters are Mme Victor Geoffrion, of Varennes, Mme Horlard Rocquebrune and Mme Hormisdas Dupuis, of Lachute. There are also two brothers in Montreal, and numerous other relatives.

UNICEF 'handouts' help children in many lands

Children of this community will be sharing their fun this Hallowe'en with youngsters around the world through the United Nations Children's Fund. They will be collecting coins for UNICEF as well as treats for themselves; thus bringing the benefits of food and medicine to thousands of their less-fortunate counterparts.

Be generous. — When the UNICEF spooks and goblins call at your door, they will be wearing orange and black tags with the UNICEF emblem, symbolizing the concern of all nations for the welfare of children.

UNICEF coins go a long way. Canadian youngsters have raised close to three-quarters of a million dollars over the past six years to assist UNICEF projects throughout the world. Two-thirds of the world's children are still suffering from malnutrition and disease. Won't you help our youngsters to help children around the world through UNICEF coins on Hallowe'en night?

The effort is being sponsored here by the Lachute District Home and School Association.

Montreal-born piano celebrity for concert Nov. 7

Among the most exciting personalities to arrive on the North American musical scene in recent seasons is the highly gifted pianist Ronald Turini, who is scheduled to appear in the first Community Concert of this season, November 7 at Lachute High School. Second prize winner, in May 1960, of the world's most respected and severely competitive Queen Elizabeth of Belgium International Competition, the artist is presently the only pupil of a keyboard master who is a legend in his own time, the renowned Vladimir Horowitz.

If an impressive background of training and a notable list of achievements are criteria, it takes no oracle to predict and understand the continuously rising star and popularity of this young Montreal-born artist. Having made his professional debut with orchestra at 10 with the CBC, Ronald Turini is, at 26, a thoroughly seasoned performer whose activities in the interim have been as rich as they have been rewarding.

His association with Vladimir Horowitz and honors won overseas were sufficient reasons to arouse the curiosity of Manhattan's musical elite when Ronald Turini made his U.S. debut in Carnegie Hall the evening of January 23, 1961. Notable among the many celebrities who turned out to hear the pianist were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Rubinstein, N.Y. Philharmonic musical director and conductor Leonard Bernstein, and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Toscanini, Rudolf Firkusny, Mr. and Mrs. Gary Graffman, Gladys Swarthout and Rose Bampton.

Prior to his affiliation with Columbia Artists and Community Concerts, he toured Canada extensively during 1956-57 and 1959-60 for Jeunesses Musicales du Canada.

Weather as a weapon of war and an instrument of peace

WHEN WILL CONTROL FINALLY BE BROUGHT ABOUT, AND HOW?

(Sent by a Jehovah's Witness)

Dr. Hans W. Ahlmann, leading climatologist, says: "I hope man never learns to control the climate of the world." For Christians who believe God's Word, the Bible, there is comfort contained therein. The Author of the Bible, Jehovah, first used weather control in human affairs at the time of Noah. At that time the "fountains of the great deep (were) broken up, and the windows of heaven were opened." (Genesis 7:11). That was 4,300 years ago. Some eight centuries later the Israelites came under Jehovah's care, and this is what He promised in weather control:

"If you continue walking in my statutes and keeping my commandments and you carry them out, I shall also certainly give you showers of rain at their proper time, and the land will indeed give its yield, and the tree of the field will give its fruit." (Lev. 26:3,4.)

We still live on the same earth, under like clouds, the same God lives on; but how many nations have sought out his commands and live accordingly? God's commands and how to obey them, is of greater importance in weather control than man's knowledge of the elements. The psalmist said:

"Make melody to our God on the harp, the One who is covering the heavens with clouds, the One preparing rain for the earth." (Psalm 147:7,8.)

Like unfaithful Isreal of old, it can be said of Christendom today: "They have not said in their heart: 'Let us, now, fear Jehovah our God, the One who is giving the downpour and the autumn rain and the spring rain in its season, the One who prescribed weeks of the harvest for us' (Jeremiah 5:24) (Ezekiel 34:26,27).

Not by man's "Armageddon bomb" will Jehovah wind up "This system of things" (2 Cor. 4:4), but by His climatic power which He has in reservation for that purpose, as stated at Job 38:22,23. That will be the "Battle of the great day of God the Almighty." (Revelation 16:15,17.) Then God's promised New Heavens and New Earth (Rev. 21:1) will answer our petition in the "Lord's Prayer".

Local Rotarians report Convention of District 704

At last week's meeting of the Brownsburg-Lachute Rotary Club, reports on the Annual District Conference of District 704 were presented by Art Lapp, Les Davies, Arne Petersen and John Giles, some of the members who attended.

The conference was held at the Alpine Inn, Ste. Marguerite, from Sunday, October 15, to Tuesday evening, October 17. There were 174 Rotarians present, representing 35 of the 51 clubs in the District. All phases of Rotary service were discussed and, according to President Art Lapp, the conference was a complete success.

Other members who attended from the local club were Don and Keith Wilson, George Desfosses, Linton Armstrong and Edgar Pollock.

Vital Statistics: On September 26 there were 11,050 Rotary Clubs and an estimated 511,500 Rotarians in 123 countries and geographical regions. New clubs since July 1, 1961, totalled 42.

Deanery clergy met in Lachute

Clergy from the Deanery of Saint Andrews attended the semi-annual meeting at St. Simeon's Church, Lachute, on Monday, under chairmanship of the Rev. C. R. Lang, Rural Dean, who officiated at the communion service, assisted by the Rev. Tony Reid of Montebello.

Lunch was served at the rectory, and in the afternoon an address, "South of the Border", was given by the Rev. Horace G. Baugh. He made comparison of the work done by the church in such places as Bermuda, Florida, Nassau, and other southern points which he has repeatedly visited, and the work done in Canada. A discussion period followed.

The next meeting will be held at the Church of Saint Francis, Saint Sauveur.

McLennan Travelling Libraries arrange district schedule here

Prof. H. R. C. Avison, head of the Department of Adult Education at McGill University, with Miss Kathleen Clynes, chief librarian of the McLennan Travelling Library at Macdonald College, and Mrs. J. M. Algie, met with a group of interested persons in the Lachute High School on Monday, to draw up a library schedule for the County of Argenteuil.

It was explained that the McLennan Travelling Library was started in 1901 by the McLennan family, and is the first travelling library in Canada. They send books, by freight, as far as Dawson City, Yukon and Labrador, wherever a request is made. In 1944 they started a mobile library, which operates mostly in the Eastern Townships. Now, in reply to many requests they are making room, in a very tight schedule, to serve Argenteuil County.

The library has 35,000 volumes, 19,000 children's books, and is able to carry 1,700 books in the van — novels, history, hobbies, etc. The cost of membership per child is $1, which allows him to take out four books at a time; and $2 for adults, which allows a choice of books plus two children's books.

The Travelling Library will stop at the Town Hall, St. Andrews East, Wednesday, November 1, from 11 a.m. to 12 noon; Brownsburg High School, Wednesday, November 1, from 1.30 to 3 p.m.; then at the Brownsburg Legion Hall, from 3 p.m. to 5 p.m.; Arundel on Thursday, November 2, at the High School, 9.30 a.m. to 1.30 p.m.; Harrington on Friday, 10 a.m. to 12 noon; and Grenville High School the same day, from 2 p.m. to 3.30 p.m.

PROTESTANT SCHOOL COMMISSIONERS,
Brownsburg, Que.

PUBLIC NOTICE is hereby given that the Protestant School Commissioners of the School Municipality of Brownsburg, the territory of which wholly or partly covers that of the Township of Wentworth, the Township of Chatham, and the Village of Brownsburg, will hold a meeting on the 30th day of October, 1961, in the Brownsburg High School, at seven o'clock in the evening, to examine the valuation roll in force in each of such municipalities.

If they find that the property pursuant to the said rolls is valued on an equal basis, they shall homologate such valuation rolls or the parts which concern them. However, if they find that the valuation made in such municipalities is not uniform, they shall increase the roll or rolls where the valuation is under the level of that of the municipality where the valuation is the highest, so as to re-establish on an equal basis the valuation of the taxable property of all parts of the school municipality.

The valuation rolls or parts which concern them thus amended shall be homologated and the collection rolls of the said municipality shall be made according to the valuation rolls thus homologated.

Given at Brownsburg, Que., this 26th day of September, 1961.

Mr. and Mrs. Eric Bates, of Lachute, spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. John Bates and family.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Carrière and Greg, of Hawkesbury, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. H. Bennett.

Mrs. Victor McVicar spent two days in Montreal this week visiting her sister, Mrs. C. Cooke, who is a patient in St. Mary's Hospital.

Sympathy of the community is extended to the family of the late Mrs. L. Rourke.

Grenville

Mr. Sydney C. Norton is a patient at the Smith Clinic in Hawkesbury; best wishes are extended for his speedy recovery.

Mr. Thomas Brazeau is in the Queen Mary Veterans' Hospital, Montreal, having undergone a surgical operation, and is reported progressing favorably. Friends wish him a quick recovery.

Mr. Harris Brazeau was in Montreal on Sunday and visited his father in hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Hayes Villeneuve, of Kilmar, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Villeneuve.

(Grenville news also on page 8)

Arundel

We are sorry to report that Mrs. Leslie Cooke is confined to the Montreal General Hospital; friends wish her a speedy recovery.

Mrs. George Kilpatrick, of Mille Isles, is spending two weeks visiting with her daughter, Mrs. Sidney Swail.

It has been reported to your correspondent that the season for moose and deer has been quite good, as numerous deer have been passing through Arundel, and some of our local residents shot their quota of moose.

Church Women's Topic

A meeting was held in the United Church on Tuesday morning, and the Rev. Mr. Ball outlined the details of the new organization now being formed, to be called the "United Church Women." This organization would draw all women to serve on all boards and in every phase of church life. All members and adherents of the church would be eligible for membership in the organization.

EDITORIAL NOTES...

"In this Parliament are three Estates, the Lords Spiritual, the Lords Temporal and the Commons, but in the Reporters' Gallery yonder sits a Fourth Estate more important far than all."
— Edmund Burke

A responsibility overlooked

THE NUMBER of dead animals punctuating our traffic-ways — both wildlife and domestic pets — is most distressing to motorists of humane instincts. A fact far more revolting is that these carcases are left to splatter, stink and eventually rot on the highway. Never was there such evidence, to our mind, of human callousness — nor such insult to the Creator of all animal-kind, of which man is but a favored species.

In such distasteful jobs as this, the old by-word goes, of course — "Let George do it". But surely this is a social responsibility falling upon the police or employees of every municipality, or upon the provincial roads or traffic authorities who are, after all, custodians of our highways.

With township secretaries easily accessible by phone, and with friends and fellow-workers frequently passing the scenes of such slaughter — there can be no excuse that the authorities are unaware of them.

If we can summon no respect for a family pet — a long-haired cat or a sad-eyed dog — or for a sportive raccoon fatally fascinated by an automobile's headlights — then, at least let our authorities show enough pride in their community to remove this sorry mess from our roadways.

United Nations Day, October 24

IN HIS TALK "The UN Stands for Man" on United Nations Day last year, the late Dag Hammarskjold, secretary-general, expressed more clearly than ever before the vision which inspired his wise and patient efforts to bring the nations to work together, and which carried him to his tragic death.

— "Give us time, give us years. The UN is not a world government; it is a framework for diplomatic operations."

— "Here we maintain contacts across difficult frontiers, a forum for discussion, a schoolroom for the future, and, above all, an assortment of techniques and instruments for reconciliation. Here the most constructive forces in international life can find increasing expression."

— "It is because world community does not exist at a ime when world interdependence has become a reality that world organization has become a necessity as a bridge which may help us pass over this immense period of transition."

— "UN is not only Jaw-Jaw instead of War-War . . . not only the world town meeting and world forum (it is all these) . . . it is becoming also a quiet room in which nations can come for a quiet settling of their disputes by patient diplomatic process. Here one can sense the impetus toward peace . . . and the obvious interdependence among mankind."

— "When we give to this work, daily, what is in our power to give, and when, daily, we meet the demands facing us to all the extent of our ability, this will lead to a world of justice and goodwill, to a world of nations truly united."

Saner Hallowe'ens

YOU HAVE TO admit that Hallowe'en isn't what it used to be. And most people will agree it's just as well that a more sensible approach is generally observed.

Youngsters, and the grown-ups too, can have plenty of Hallowe'en fun without the danger and damage that often accompanied the rowdy observances of former years.

Fireworks are strictly under control. The time-honored attacks on small pieces of rural property are rapidly vanishing, along with the wooden structures that were traditional targets.

Even for the small children, to whom Hallowe'en is a joyous novelty, there's an understanding that it's best to be careful about your prinks.

One factor in the more serious observance is the shell-out program to aid the United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund.

This drive, steadily gaining recognition in recent years, is sponsored by the Canadian communities of UNICEF to raise funds for relief of destitute children overseas. The children who include a UNICEF box among their equipment for the householders' treats have piled up substantial sums for this worthy project.

Other facts include the community-sponsored celebrations, where parties and dancing are enjoyed under supervision.

Hallowe'en, the eve of All Saints' Day, has been observed by Christians for 1,200 years. Long before then, the Romans had a festival at this time of year in honor of Pomona, goddess of tree fruits.

The Nov. 1 date for All Saints' Day — in honor of all saints, known or unknown, was set by Pope Gregory III in the 8th Century, and Hallowe'en has been a vigil on the eve of this date ever since.

In olden times it was believed this was the night when supernatural influences prevailed, hence the traditional ghosts and witches.

Now, the small fry see the witches and ghosts on television, and the oldsters with memories of livelier times see polite bands of youngsters examining their loot with the calculating eye of a bank accountant.

It may not be as colorful, but it's a lot less damaging.

A challenging post

CANADIANS may feel the choice of Viscount Amory as British high commissioner in Ottawa is something of a compliment to them.

It's not often that a topnotch politician is given this job and the first thought that might come to mind is that the appointment is in recognition of Canada's world standing.

More likely, however, it means Britain feels there are delicate times ahead in Anglo-Canadian relations and that a particularly able man will be needed.

The Canadian government has done its best to deter Britain from her path to membership in the European Common Market. There have been suggestions that if Britain loses much of her sovereignty and is forced to give up Imperial tariff preferences, the Commonwealth may never be the same.

There is no question that if Britain joins the six-nation economic grouping, it will be a setback for Canada's export trade.

The British view, however, is that Common Market membership is essential to economic well being. There are some in London who regard Canada's stand as a dog-in-the-manger attitude. They emphasize that the present balance of trade is heavily in Canada's favor and that, despite this, the Canadian government has taken steps to restrict entry of some British goods.

What this all means is that Derek Heathcoat Amory will have a difficult task in his dealings with officials in Ottawa.

As a former chancellor of the exchequer, he brought down three budgets and his knowledge of the economic situation should be of great help to him in his new job.

Although he had retired from politics a year ago at 60, he agreed to return at the personal request of his close friend, Prime Minister Macmillan.

On his arrival in Ottawa early in October he declared he would devote himself to making Anglo-Canadian relations even more intimate. This is a goal with which most Canadians will be sympathetic.

BE PREPARED. — The Boy Scouts have an admirable motto which will stand us all in good stead these days: Be prepared. For if ever there was a time when a little careful planning was necessary, then it is now. Not just for better times or future prosperity, but for our lives.

Mayor declares Nov. 9-10 Poppy tag day in Lachute

Mayor Fernand Legault has issued a proclamation declaring November 9-10 as Poppy Day in Lachute. The announcement coincided with a statement by George Kirby, chairman of the Legion's Poppy Committee, that Thursday night, November 9, and Friday, November 10, will be the general poppy tag day.

The Mayor's proclamation urged all citizens to observe the day by wearing memorial poppies in honor of those who gave their lives in Canada's wars. It reads:

"Whereas a number of men of this town gave their lives in defense of Canada and the democratic world;

"And Whereas the memory of their service and sacrifice is a source of inspiration to all citizens as our nation faces new dangers and difficulties;

"And Whereas their memory is kept ever bright by the annual wearing of memorial poppies in their honor and the honor of all other Canadians who died in war service;

"Now, Therefore, I, Fernand Legault, Mayor of the Town of Lachute, do hereby declare and proclaim Thursday, Friday, November 9 and 10, to be Poppy Day in the Town of Lachute, and do urge that all citizens observe the day by wearing the memorial poppy of the Canadian Legion."

Death — At Chicago, Ill., Dr. John Christie, son of Dr. Thomas Christie of this town.

The opening of a book and stationery store in Lachute by Mr. R. W. Kerr, fills a long-felt need.

Dr. Harper, government inspector of academies and schools, is visiting Lachute Academy this week.

New machinery has been added to all the mills and factories in Lachute, and additions made to buildings — positive proof that business is improving.

The Hon. J. Wurtele has been appointed Judge to replace the late Justice McDougall, and will preside at the next term of the Circuit Court in Lachute.

St. Andrews — Messrs. William and John Wanless have left for Colorado and New Mexico.

55 YEARS AGO

Friday, Oct. 19, 1906 —

The Agricultural Society directors have completed arrangements for the plowing match, to be held at the farm of David Touchette, East Settlement.

Arundel — The Rev. Mr. Florence has removed his family to Lachute for the winter months.

Mr. John Cruise had the first-prize Holstein bull at the Dominion Exhibition held at Halifax.

Mr. Spence, of Hawkesbury, is in charge of the Bank of Ottawa here, since the removal of Mr. Chilcotte to Winchester.

Cushing — The residence of Mr. J. Bradford was totally destroyed by fire.

The 11th Regt. Rifle Association held their annual matches for three days here. Mr. George Armstrong headed the list as the best shot in the County.

25 YEARS AGO

Thursday, Oct. 15, 1936 —

While being "bounced" in an initiation at Hawkesbury High School, 13-year-old Eric Holden, son of the Rev. B. Holden, suffered a broken arm.

The Governor General, Lord Tweedsmuir, was entertained by the Argenteuil Historical Society in St. Andrews town hall, following a memorial service in Christ Church where His Excellency unveiled a tablet to the memory of Sir John Abbott, first Canadian-born prime minister.

Mr. Geo. Leggett, Jr., spent a pleasant visit with Mr. Stephen May at Ste. Agathe.

A highway joining St. Jerome, St. Hypolite, St. Margaret's and Ste. Adele, was urged as a worthy project for the near future by Herman Barrette, M.L.A. for Terrebonne.

Misses Hazel Drysdale, Mona Bates, Barbara Cunningham, and Messrs. Stuart Armstrong and Owen Todd attended the Young People's Convention of the United Church, at Howick, Que.

The Rt. Hon. Sir George and Lady Perley, accompanied by Senator Meighen, of Ottawa, visited old friends here last Saturday.

Mr. Alex MacAllister, popular postmaster of Brownsburg, declared the new post-office open to the public last Monday afternoon.

Keeping a promise of 17 years ago, Mr. Neal Moore, of San Diego, has written a story for The Watchman, on his experiences as a prisoner of war on the German torpedo destroyer "Emden", in World War I.

Two Montrealers lost their lives in a motorboat tragedy on Bark Lake. The bottom of the craft split from end to end, at a distance of 400 yards from shore.

wonder QUESTIONS

SPONSORED BY THE RESEARCH STAFF OF THE BOOK OF KNOWLEDGE

I WONDER. — Curiosity is a priceless gift. A youngster's daily questions indicate a bright, inquiring mind. They should be answered intelligently. In this column each week the editors of this newspaper, in cooperation with The Book of Knowledge, will print those questions — and their answers — most frequently asked by children of their parents.

Why has a Flowerpot a Hole In the Bottom?

Like human beings, plants must have water to live, but stagnant water is almost as harmful to them as it is to us. If there were no hole in the bottom of the flower pot, any water that the plant did not drink would become stagnant mud in which the plant would soon die.

Why do we see "Stars" when We Get a Blow on the Eye?

Usually it is light that excites the nerves of seeing but these nerves may be excited by other things, such as a blow on the eye or even on the head. Whenever the nerves of the eye are excited in any way we have the sensation of light. The eye nerves go to a special part of the brain that is concerned only with seeing and, therefore, no matter what it is that affects the eye nerves, the result is a sensation of light, or "stars".

Readers are invited to send their own questions to WONDER Questions, (Attn. K. L. Brown, Grolier Society Research Service, 800 Bay St., Suite 104, Toronto 5, Ont.). The more interesting questions and answers will be published in a future column.

WORKING WITH CANADIANS IN EVERY WALK OF LIFE SINCE 1817

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

Gregory Clark, newspaper columnist, doesn't like "skinny" fashion models.

Let's have them "normal, round, short, tall, fat, lean, lumpy, bunchy, average," he says. Let's not have them looking "underfed."

Mr. Clark is a keen observer and a wise old bird, but anyone can tell that he has never watched a thin girl at lunch, plowing through the soup and sirloin with the controlled efficiency of a weevil destroying a boll of cotton.

If he imagines that thin girls are "underfed," he is living in a world of dreams.

Slim girls eat up meat and vegetables the way a racing Ferrari eats gas. The fact is that slim girls usually have powerful engines in them.

Men like to gaze at lean, streamlined girls, just as they like to ogle sports cars and listen to the purr of all that power under the hood.

They like to gaze at plump girls, too. But when the average man goes day-dreaming, he doesn't dream about a family sedan. He imagines himself steering a slim, vital, fast-wheeling girl down the road of life.

The girls like to think of themselves as streamlined, too. The slim fashion models are their other selves, the real women hidden under those "round, short, lumpy" lines that are visible to the crass outside world.

By inspecting the fashion models through half-closed eyes, and letting their minds drift away into outer space, they can equip themselves with a whole new set of measurements — the figures which (they know in their hearts) Nature intended them to have.

Hazard of woods and wildlife extinction

TO THE EDITOR

The stillness and the beauty of our local forests is disrupted at the opening of the hunting season. Each year the hunters come in greater numbers. Many come in gangs, barking like dogs and coralling the deer to a location where escape is impossible. Some do not hesitate to shoot at anything, and domestic animals are quite often shot. No, it is hardly safe to venture into the woods — at least, not unless you are garbed in red.

The deer are dragged out and placed on cars for display. Some of them are only small fawns which can be shot very easily, yet many hunters are as boastful as if they had accomplished a great feat.

How about those animals that are wounded and never found? This happens to a greater number than we realize. Can you visualize a wounded deer dying a slow, struggling death? What a pity! What a sport! Why is this kind of warfare allowed to be waged against the most magnificent wild beast of our countryside? There may have been some excuse back in the '30's when many poor people depended on venison to replenish their failing food supply. But we are living in a new age. Would it not be more thrilling to use cameras instead of guns?

It is time all nature-loving people should rise up. Let's petition our municipal councils in Argenteuil. Let our councils make requests to the Game Department to banish our deer-hunting season. Of course, some people will argue that the deer would become so plentiful that they would destroy farmers' crops. The farmers in Algonquin Park do not complain.

Let's save our wildlife before it is entirely extinct.

Morin Heights

The Rev. Horace G. Baugh attended the 32nd annual meeting of the Quebec Association of Protestant School Boards, held at Ste. Adele last Friday and Saturday. His brother, Howard, was also present, representing the Sherbrooke School Board.

Bell Falls

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Warren were pleasantly surprised to receive a visit from Mr. Rae Browning, an old friend from Montreal just returned from Vancouver. Mr. Browning will be spending some time with the Warrens.

St. Andrews East

Miss Jo-Ann Anderson spent the week-end in Montreal.

Miss Dolly Bruce, of Montreal, spent a week's vacation with her sister, Mrs. Fraser Robertson.

Miss Rosemary Gagnon, R.N., of Montreal, spent the week-end with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Rodger.

Mrs. Winters, of Montreal, is visiting her niece, Mrs. Douglas Rodger, Lachute Road.

The many friends of Mr. R. C. Eaton are pleased that he has recovered from his recent illness, and is able to be home again.

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. McLaughlin, Mrs. McGowan and Mr. Peter McLaughlin spent the week-end here.

Miss Audrey Eaton returned Friday from her trip abroad.

Thank-Offering Meeting

The Women's Missionary Society of St. Andrews East Presbyterian Church held their Thankoffering meeting at the home of Mrs. Fraser Robertson on Wednesday, October 18. Mrs. Lloyd Bradley read a paper on Catherine Marshall's tribute to her husband, the Rev. Peter Marshall. A social hour followed.

Hallowe'en Collection For UNICEF

Any children wishing to collect for UNICEF on Hallowe'en may obtain information and collection boxes from Mrs. E. L. Jackson (LE 7-3394). Refreshments will be served to the young collectors after the boxes are returned (preferably full!).

Cushing

Interesting guests at the home of Mrs. A. Taylor on Tuesday afternoon were her former associates in the membership of the Thomas More Chapter of the I.O.D.E., in Ste. Anne's, namely Mrs. Kenneth Weir, of Baie d'Urfé, Mrs. R. Hamilton, of Ste. Anne's Hospital, and Mrs. R. Powrie, of Ste. Anne's.

Mrs. A. Graham was an overnight guest on Tuesday of her daughter, Mrs. J. C. Dougall, of Cote St. Luc, after attending a meeting of Montreal Branch of Canadian Authors, to listen to a very interesting address on writing for children by Mrs. Hilda Merlin, who has had 14 books for children published, also has pictures in quite a number of the art galleries in different lands. Mrs. Graham returned home Wednesday in time to entertain the monthly meeting of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union at her home. Distant members attending were Mrs. C. W. P. Baugh and Mrs. H. McDonald, of Lakefield.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Paynter, of Montreal, spent Thursday with Mrs. L. R. McGain. This couple are very interested in Cushing and Grenville, being related to a former member of the Royal Engineers who had an active part in building the canals in this vicinity years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Fleming-Williams, of Montreal, have the Green Cottage, now the property of Miss F. M. Douglas, rented and are at present using it for weekends. Mrs. Fleming-Williams is an artist and will find this vicinity an interesting study for her art work.

Mrs. A. Graham was the overnight and Sunday guest of her sister, Mrs. A. J. Scott, of Bethany Road, also visited Mr. and Mrs. A. Mitchell and Miss M. C. James. Miss E. M. Graham and Mr. A. T. Graham were Sunday evening guests of Mrs. Scott.

Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Weir, Mrs. L. M. Gaston and Miss A. Davidson were in Montreal Saturday and attended the Wilson-Maw wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Bailey, of Montreal West, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Bailey. Miss Janice Noble, of Lachute, was a week-end guest at the Bailey home.

Guests on Saturday at the Graham home were Mr. Andrew R. Graham, of Monalea Road, and his daughter, Mrs. Jan Kaprusiak, of Westmount. Other callers on Saturday were the principal of Riverview School in Verdun, Mr. K. Simpson and Mrs. Simpson, also Mr. James Robertson and son, George, of Mirabel.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Rielly and children, from Morrisburg, Ont., were recent guests of Mrs. John Bradford at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. Morrow, Monalea Road.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Drew, of Verdun, were week-enders at the home of Mrs. Drew's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Canning.

Mrs. L. R. McGain, of "Tynwald", had her family from Montreal as week-end guests.

Guests at the Fuller home on Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. E. Croll, of Hudson Heights, also Mrs. Wright Hodgson and son, Fred, of Hudson.

Golden wedding reception held at Trinity Hall, Morin Heights

Mr. and Mrs. George Conley celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary here recently.

The couple have seven children and 19 grandchildren. All but two of their family, and a number of grandchildren, were present at a surprise reception given by their family and friends in Trinity Hall, Morin Heights.

Nearly 100 guests were served with bountiful refreshments. The tables were decorated with beautiful flowers and ferns. In the centre of the head table was placed a large cake, beautifully decorated with wishes and names of the couple on a heart-shaped top layer.

Earlene Hobin, six-year-old granddaughter, was chosen on behalf of the group to present them with a bouquet of flowers, an envelope with a gift of money, and a congratulation card with a white satin ribbon attached, bearing typewritten names of the guests.

Mrs. Conley expressed the couple's appreciation, and thanked the family and friends for their gift and for making the event such a pleasant surprise.

The reception was held in advance of the wedding date, so that their son, the Rev. E. R. Conley, could be present before returning to his family and missionary duties in Assuit, Egypt.

The group was honored by the presence of Mayor C. Campbell of Morin Heights; the Rev. H. G. Baugh, who returned thanks for the meal; the Rev. Ball, United Church pastor, who spoke on Christian influence and extended congratulations to the couple. Mr. John Reigert, master of ceremonies, read a portion of scripture, and expressed warm wishes for the future happiness of the honored couple.

The entertainment was of a religious nature. Mrs. C. Hobin sang a solo entitled, "Each step I take, I know that He will guide me". An appropriate selection was chosen by a quartet consisting of Mr. and Mrs. John Reigert, Mrs. C. Hobin and the Rev. E. R. Conley. Others, including a group of the couple's grandchildren, also sang selections, and Mr. Gordon Conley gave a humorous talk on matrimony.

Congratulations and warm wishes were freely extended to the surprised and happy couple.

Morin Heights

(Intended for last issue)

Mrs. George Kilpatrick, of Mille Isles, spent a week here with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Denzil Kilpatrick, and also a week in Arundel with her daughter, Mrs. S. Swail and Mr. Swail.

Mrs. Alma Watchorn and her daughter, Mrs. Heli Summerhauer, returned home after spending six weeks motoring through the Prairie Provinces and B.C., where they visited many relatives and friends.

The Rev. and Mrs. C. R. Wood and David, of Ottawa, spent a day here renewing acquaintances.

Mr. Leslie Davis, of Montreal, spent the week-end at his cottage here.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Nesbitt had the latter's sister and brother-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. Basil McLean, of New York City, as guests for the week.

Mr. and Mrs. George MacDowell and Charlene, of Verdun, spent the week here at their cottage.

Hallowe'en preparations

— By NANCY CLEAVER —

Here's to Hallowe'en preparations! Towards the end of October children can have a lot of fun and learn a good deal too, getting ready for the 31st. Youngsters, big and little, love to pretend they are someone else. Hallowe'en provides the Big Occasion of the year for masquerade costumes. The time spent getting ready to sally forth almost equals the excitement of the night itself!

Busy mothers may not be nearly so enthusiastic about these activities. But it is a pity not to set aside other jobs, and enjoy Hallowe'en with the boys and girls. The years pass swiftly, and before very long there will be no small daughter in your home hunting for a broom for a witch, or a little boy looking for a pillow for a clown's tummy, or a blackened cork to paint his face.

An old trunk where odds and ends are gradually accumulated, is a great time saver. Scarves, gloves, shoes, artificial flowers, ribbons, feathers, which might otherwise be thrown out at house-cleaning time, can be collected there and found quickly when needed.

On a rainy Saturday afternoon when the children want to put on their own pantomime or play, this trunk saves mother's time and energy. Dressing up is such fun it shouldn't be confined to October 31st!

Older school age boys and girls are apt to be particular about what they wear. Sometimes an old dress can be ripped apart and the material dyed. The directions are on the package. Dyeing is not complicated and it is inexpensive. Old shoes painted with enamel make a smart addition to a costume.

If your daughter wants to design and sew her own costume, or follow a bought pattern, encourage her to go ahead. The results may not be quite as you could have achieved, but it will be her own production.

A coating of cold cream before rouge or blacking is applied to the skin helps speed up its removal. Some parents will not allow their youngsters to color their faces. But Hallowe'en just comes once a year and the clean-up job doesn't need to be too trying.

Masks of all kinds and descriptions are sold at Hallowe'en time. The new grotesque overall rubber masks which are pulled over the head, are popular in some areas. Little folk enjoy making a face on a large clean paper bag which they can pull on too. Mother should help locate the places for the eyes, nose and mouth. Blunt scissors should be used to make the holes large enough to allow for lots of fresh air. Crayons or poster paints can color hair, complexion, eyes and mouth various shades.

As parents watch their children getting ready for Hallowe'en, they are reminded of the satisfaction in making things with one's own hands as well as the importance of imagination. Far too soon most people lose the urge to "make believe." Do you not think that the good times children help to create for themselves have far more character value than passive "spectator" recreation?

Federal Food and Drug Act is safeguard to the consumer

One of a series of articles describing the Federal Health and Welfare Services Canadians get for their tax dollars.

In 1877 Canada's worst suspicions about some of the food crossing its store counters were confirmed. Certain low-priced teas, it was revealed, owed their dubious tastiness to dried leaves faced with Prussian blue — not to mention stalk, starch, sand and floor sweepings. Some coffee turned out to be less than pure Brazilian. The roasted wheat, peas, beans and bread crumbs found in it had obviously been added closer to home. As for spices — !

These and other unappetizing discoveries came as the result of a new piece of federal legislation. The "Act to Impose License Duties on the Compounders of Spirits and to Prevent the Adulteration of Food, Drink and Drugs" had been passed in 1874 but it was three years later before the four analysts appointed to implement it turned in their first annual report. Of the 180 samples of varied food that had been examined, 93 turned out to be adulterated.

Eighty years later the Food and Drug Directorate of the Department of National Health and Welfare, developing from those modest beginnings, was examining 30,000 samples annually. Where each of the original analysts, working on a fee basis (not to exceed $2,000 a year) had been allowed up to $300 for equipment, millions of dollars had been invested in modern laboratories. There was a large central group in Ottawa and five regional units strategically located across the country.

Adulteration was still a problem but its frequency had been reduced to a point where, even among suspected samples, the frequency was 5% as against the original figure of 52%. Moreover, the modern analyst was working against a set of standards where the early examinations had had no starting point other than whether a product carried a threat to health or to life itself.

It was obvious, of course, from the kinds of adulteration discovered in the early days, that a standard was not imperative to its detection at that time. Today's adulteration is something else again. A pound of butter may be delicious in flavor and present no danger to health but, if it has been diluted with cheaper vegetable fats, Food and Drug Directorate is interested. Butter must contain only milk fat. It is the Directorate's task to see that the consumer gets what he is led to believe he is buying.

To do this it is assisted by the fruits of modern science. In the Food Chemistry Section of the Ottawa laboratories is a spectograph which can detect adulteration in very small quantities. In many instances if only an ounce of adulteration existed in thirty tons of an otherwise pure commodity, the spectograph would catch it. Adulteration in lesser quantities would scarcely be profitable!

Today's Food and Drug Act covers a field as broad and intricate as modern living. It establishes standards, regulates packaging, labelling and advertising, controls the sale of remedies for certain designated diseases, specifies drugs to be sold only on prescription.

Its work is directly connected with the protection of the individual Canadian's health, "in a very real sense," The Hon. J. Waldo Monteith pointed out recently, "The Food and Drugs Administration reaches into the kitchen cupboard and medicine chest of every home in Canada."

While Food and Drug inspectors, located from coast to coast, are the vigilant watchmen of the Act, its ever-increasing effectiveness has been rooted in the co-operation of the Canadian producer and consumer alike. Each has recognized it as an instrument conceived for mutual benefit.

When teenager entertains "the gang"

When the crowd get together to watch the football game or tune in their favorite TV or radio show, they will want a simple but attractive meal they can devour as they watch or listen to their chosen program. Their homes are very important to them and they need to feel that their "gang" will always find a real welcome there.

Set up a buffet with potato chips and crackers, cheese dip, French bread, hot dogs, assorted cold cuts, raw vegetable tray, doughnuts and/or cookies, and make sure the refrigerator or cooler is well supplied with soft drinks. The wise parent will make it a rule for the family to supply a list of needed refills after each raid on the kitchen. Teenagers like to have food nearby at all times.

Whatever entertainment is planned, simplicity should be the keynote in order that the teen host may manage alone. The young people will need nothing more than lots of good food and thirst quenching refreshments.

Advice to the teenager; make sure you have everything you need before the gang arrives, because you don't want to be in the kitchen when the planned entertainment is at its height — and don't scream for help when your parents are just settling down for their own evening. Parents are people too.

Here are some easy cheese dips any teenager can make:

Zippy Cheese Dip

1 Four-ounce package cream cheese, ½ teaspoon horseradish, ¼ teaspoon dry mustard, 3 drops tabasco sauce, 1 tablespoon cucumber relish (or your favorite relish), 2 tablespoons chili sauce.

Allow cheese to stand at room temperature about one hour. Cream the cheese, add the remaining ingredients and whip with a fork until light. Yield about one cup.

Devilled Cheese Dip

4 Ounces of pimento cheese spread, 1 3-oz. can devilled ham, ½ cup salad dressing, 2 tablespoons finely chopped parsley, 1 tablespoon grated onion, 6 drops tabasco sauce.

Allow cheese spread to stand at room temperature about one hour. Combine thoroughly the cheese with remaining ingredients. Chill. Yield, 1¼ cups.

Cheese Sandwich Spread

1 lb. Cheese grated (4 cups), 4 tablespoons minced onion, ½ teaspoon salt, dash cayenne pepper, 2 hard cooked eggs, chopped, 2 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons flour, ½ cup vinegar, 1 cup top milk or evaporated milk.

Add grated cheese, onion, salt and cayenne pepper to the chopped egg. Melt butter in double boiler, add sugar and flour, blending well. Add vinegar and milk, while stirring, and cook over hot water until thickened. Combine with cheese mixture and store in a cool place. Yield, 3 to 4 cups.

Teatime Topics

Specially Written for The Lachute Watchman

By Edna Blakely, Canadian Press Staff Writer

Cool weather and company usually go hand in hand and so do canapes and company. The next time people drop in at your home, you might serve some of these easy butter spreads.

According to the dictionary, a canape "is a piece of fried bread with anchovies, etc.", but to most people, a canape is a spread on crackers, bread or toast. There are plenty of variations. These savory butter spreads are suggested by home economists of the federal department of agriculture.

Remove butter from the refrigerator and allow to soften. Cream until light and fluffy. If meat, fish, vegetables or cheese are to be added, grind until fine.

Add bacon with paprika or chili sauce or try devilled ham with chives.

Celery, pimento, with pepper sauce or tomato paste with cayenne.

Cheese — nippy Cheddar, blue or Parmesan, with onion juice.

Cottage cheese, salt and caraway seed, pimento cream cheese with pepper sauce.

Minced or powdered garlic or onion; honey with orange or lemon juice; or try molasses.

Spices such as nutmeg, cinnamon, poppy seed or crushed caraway may also be used.

Zip in Spinach

Seasoned butter will add zest to many fresh vegetables and the seasoning can vary with the meat to be served. For 1½ pounds of hot drained garden spinach use two tablespoons of melted butter.

When serving with beef, add one tablespoon of horseradish to the butter; for ham, blend in 1½ teaspoons prepared mustard; for poultry use two tablespoons lemon juice; for cold cuts, sauté three tablespoons of blanched slivered almonds with the butter in a saucepan.

Ceramics show, Quebec pottery

"Quebec Potters" is the name given to an exhibition of contemporary ceramics to be held in the Galarie Denyse Delrue from January 29 to February 19, 1962. This exhibition, the first of its kind, will be devoted exclusively to studio pottery and ceramic sculpture made in this province during the past two years.

Organized by the Potters' Club in co-operation with outstanding Quebec potters, the show should be an exciting one both for the artists involved and for the interested public.

A three-man jury, whose names will shortly be announced, will meet early in January to make the final selections from the entries submitted.

All potters living in the Province of Quebec are invited to contribute their best work to this "Quebec Potters" exhibition. Application for entry forms should be sent, before November 1, 1961, to: "Quebec Potters" Exhibition, 346 Victoria Ave., Westmount 6, Que.

If You're TIRED

Now and then everybody gets a "tired-out" feeling and may be bothered by backaches. Perhaps nothing seriously wrong, just a temporary condition caused by urinary irritation or bladder discomfort. That's the time to take Dodd's Kidney Pills. Dodd's help stimulate the kidneys to relieve this condition which may often cause backache and tired feeling. Then you feel better, rest better, work better. 41

Rare, medium, well-done?

A meat thermometer takes the guess-work out of telling when a roast is rare, medium or well-done. Insert the thermometer in the centre of the meatiest part of the roast so that the tip is not touching any bone or fat. The meat is done when the thermometer registers the required internal temperature.

WHAT'S THE 'INSTALMENT PLAN' WAY TO SAVE FOR A

DOWN PAYMENT?

Many purchasers of automobiles, furniture and such, pay on the instalment plan. You can put your savings on the same instalment basis. PSP, Scotiabank's Personal Security Program is the "instalment plan" way to save for a down payment for any project needing forward planning and saving. This is how PSP—exclusive with The Bank of Nova Scotia—works: You select a savings goal (between $100 and $2,500) which you reach in 50 equal payments. As you save, you're life-insured for the full amount of your goal. When you reach your goal, you collect all you've saved, plus a cash bonus. PSP is the ideal way to make sure your long-range plans are realized. Ask about PSP at your nearest branch of Scotiabank.

Food store president

LAWRENCE W. BEEBE, formerly Vice-President and General Manager of A&P Food Stores Ltd., has been made President of the company, one of the nation's largest supermarket chains. Mr. Beebe, a resident of Toronto, has been an A&P executive since the firm opened its first grocery stores in Montreal back in 1929.

A new Dominion marksmen's contest

A new Dominion Marksmen Handgun competition is announced which will be available to Canadians from coast to coast.

Warren Johnson, executive secretary of Dominion Marksmen, said it will bring the association's handgun program into line with the small bore rifle program and will provide 11 awards for pistol shooters.

In addition to the bronze, silver and gold lapel buttons which were awarded to qualifying competitors for slow fire handgun shooting, marksmen can now shoot for silk embroidered crests in timed and rapid fire events and for silver and gold expert shields. The awards must be won in a certain order, as they indicate the ability of the shooter — the bronze, silver and gold lapel buttons for slow fire competition; marksman, sharpshooter and expert crests in timed and rapid fire; and finally the silver and gold expert shields for combined slow, timed and rapid fire shooting.

To win the expert shields a marksman must fire 20 sets of three targets, each set comprised of one slow, one timed and one rapid fire target.

Mr. Johnson said Canada has more than 500 pistol clubs with a regular membership of about 10,000. Last year a record breaking 14,726 Canadians qualified for Dominion Marksmen awards in all competitions.

Low ebb in human decency —

Sunnyacres land now posted thanks to ruthless hunters

"Sunnyacres Sketches"

By Margaret Cook

Such an autumn we are having! Day after day of golden sunlight, and nights either brilliant with silver moonlight, or soft with warm shadows. The eternal hills clad in their coat of many colors, have been, as always, a thing to marvel at. God is good. . . .

Unfortunately, man is evil. . . . We have several times mentioned in this column our surprise that anyone should doubt the doctrine of original sin. We have just suffered from a particularly ugly proof of the existence of evil, and that on the Thanksgiving week-end. Truly, every prospect pleased, and only man was vile. . . .

For all the years of our ownership, we have refused to post our land. I did not often formulate my belief, but did have a sincere conviction that, being blessed with some hundred acres, I could well afford to allow other people the pleasure of hunting on the land for a few short weeks each year. Through the years, the privilege has not been abused. But last last year, some bright person shot off the lightning conductor from the roof; a trifling matter, we thought. Boys will be boys, even when fifty. This year, on the day before Thanksgiving (that is, on the Lord's day), two car-loads of Hungarians decided to shoot over our land. When we resisted, they gave in, and parked on the land of our neighbor. When they left, their camping ground was marked by the fur and entrails of one rabbit, several paper cups, an empty bottle Martini Rossi, a third of a loaf of French bread, and the necessary waxed paper, etc. These jovial characters left about noon, and I, feeling secure, lay down, and let out the beloved cat of our daughter, thinking he was now safe. A few minutes later, four brave Frenchmen, decked out in red, came strolling up our lane. The head of the house, painting the garage, told them that they could not hunt there. They replied surlily, "Ho-Kay", or some such, went down the path to the well, and shot the cat. . . . We did not however, connect the shot with the cat. We thought at the time, this is bravado, and shrugged it off.

This day was also the birthday of the daughter of the house. Happy birthday to you! As a matter of fact, it was a happy day, with friends and neighbors coming in the evening, the cake being cut, coffee drunk and pleasant talk. The next morning, now alarmed by the prolonged absence of the cat, we began a search. And who found his mangled corpse? You guessed it, Margaret Cook. We hope we shall never have again to listen to the grief of the young mistress. Subsequently, we spent a year (which the calendar declared was a week) with our daughter at Ste. Adele. In the meantime, we have gone from grief, to exhaustion, to outrage. The land is being posted, the police alerted. We write this, not because our grief is a world-shattering matter, but because we feel it is time the ordinary citizen took steps to curb these human beasts that prowl our lands each autumn.

The present government is anxious to redress wrongs; here is one. How about more stringent examinations before hunting licenses are granted? How about more game wardens? And how about more heartfelt support of the laws, and the efforts of the wardens? They cannot be everywhere at once, neither can the police, but you and I, we can do much. Cruelty in any form is disgusting. Human beings can, presumably, fight back, but the humble domestic animals are at our mercy. They are dependent on us for food, shelter and care.

But the care should not have to include shielding them from other humans on one's own property. We note that our fellow-columnist has something to say about these matters from time to time, and that Gregory Clark has recently written about the sale of weapons in no wise necessary to legal hunting.

Prior to this domestic tragedy, we had been enjoying life. A task on which we had been working for nearly a year was completed. There were lights at Sunnyacres. We were able to walk here and there and observe nature. In suburbia, we had the ever-fascinating drama of the nearby college to watch. We walk through the beautiful grounds, and we meet East Indians, Chinese, black negroes, and coffee-colored mulattos. Going to church on a recent Sunday, we saw five very black Nigerians, two of them in full white cotton robes. We thought the sight of them at the altar, drinking humbly from the common cup, was a touching sight. These Nigerians are not young men, but mature ones over here to learn the white man's ways, especially their skills, and then take them back to their compatriots. We are all for it, especially since we read that six Swedish soldiers were devoured by some hungry Congolese. . . .

We are all for helping these emerging Stone Age men; but we think it the greatest folly to pretend they are the same as we. Education first, independence second. Only nobody in power seems to have the grit to expound these plain facts. As you may gather, we are not a Communist, although we do honor the Communistic ideas about work. A lot of these pampered darlings being educated over at the college, would be benefited by a year on a farm.

I can hear our friend, Amos, muttering, "My, she is in a foul mood!" He is right, we are. We are tired of the current vogue of being broad-minded about dirt, customs, morals, and youthful follies. Oh yes, and the cult of the common man. We are tired of the common man. What we crave is an uncommon one. One who knows right from wrong, prefers labor to idleness, effort to coddling, sense to nonsense, godliness to sinfulness. We know a few such; one, we are happy to say, is a Canon of the Church, although probably not the one of whom you are thinking.

We are about to go to the fair city of Toronto. We'll tell you about life in Toronto, next time. Perhaps the Queen City will soothe our fevered brow.

Says church role to educate young

Vancouver (CP) — A United Church minister says no group has a greater responsibility than the church to produce young people with both a better knowledge and a better attitude about sex, love and marriage.

The Rev. J. M. Taylor, writing in The Vancouver Sun, says that with the growing number of "young marriages" there is an urgent need for marriage preparation courses, and for personality and marital aptitude testing at high school levels as well as at university.

"Sex education should start a lot earlier than this," he wrote. "Most experts agree that sex education should be well on its way in school and church by the fifth grade.

"Churches have been traditionally cautious about introducing sex education into their curriculums, but certainly no other institution has a greater responsibility or opportunity to produce young people with both better knowledge of, and attitude toward, sex, love and marriage."

Mr. Taylor said it is interesting to note "that many people who object to young people being given sex education in school or church do not usually give their own children an adequate sex education. . . . They allow them to blunder into marriage."

Experts agree, he said, that early marriage preparation courses do not make for more early marriages. And those who entered young marriages with a proper preparation and a responsible attitude toward marriage were making more enduring unions than those who entered the blessed state without such help.

WHEN A CAR IS THIS BEAUTIFUL

YOU KNOW WHO BUILT IT!

Introducing the style of the year has become a habit with Pontiac!

Time after time, Pontiac has introduced the style that was the year's most looked at and longed for. And along comes the '62 with the kind of freshness and fineness that only Pontiac comes up with. New twin-scoop grille. A crisp, low silhouette. Cleanly curving taillights. You don't have to look twice to tell a '62 Pontiac! And you only have to drive it once to know that nothing else will do for you. Why not take the wheel and go places with Pontiac soon!
