Want no politics in hospital construction, administration

"A dozen or so physicians in this district, qualified to serve in the future Argenteuil Hospital, are handicapped in efficiency, and are risking the impairment of their skills, if they continue to practice in the existing Providence Hospital. Besides, many patients are not receiving modern care and treatment such as they could procure elsewhere; or they must be needlessly sent away, so long as this situation exists.

"For these reasons the entire district population is disappointed by the exasperating delay in construction of the Argenteuil Hospital, suspended since 1960. They consider the standstill both incomprehensible and illogical. Not understanding the reasons for the delay, they have imagined fantastic explanations which have crystallized into rumors, some of them prejudicial both to the hospital board and to the present provincial administration." . . .

Foregoing is the translated text of the preamble to a brief which was presented at the beginning of the year to the Minister of Health, by the Providence Hospital medical bureau.

The brief was duly acknowledged, but nothing tangible has been done to set the works in motion — with the recent exception of a strange, and distasteful, solution submitted to the hospital building committee.

Politics Introduced

A letter from Mr. Roger Regimbal as spokesman of the building committee, had submitted recommendations as adopted at a meeting of that body held December 20, 1961, which suggested in effect:

(1) That the government should take over the Argenteuil Hospital for a nominal consideration of $1;

(2) That a co-ordinator should be appointed to supervise and direct work under way at the hospital; and

(3) That the number of directors should be added to.

Quebec Government more recently replied to this request, which had been placed before the cabinet for decision. It was agreed that Quebec could take over the hospital, and requested that the committee pass a resolution authorizing a representative to sign the agreement on their behalf.

As regards the appointment of a co-ordinator, consideration was promised to this suggestion as soon as formalities had been completed.

The final recommendation concerned the personnel of the directorate. It suggested two alternatives — one, to increase the number to nine; or otherwise, to ask the withdrawal of four present directors and replace them with four others.

The strange part of this recommendation is that the NAMES OF FOUR NOMINEES WERE SUGGESTED, more or less arbitrarily, by Quebec — all four being Liberals, two of them prominent and controversial political figures.

Inasmuch as there was a cancellation of this part of the correspondence (by telephone, confirmed also by telegram), The Watchman does not elaborate here on the names. The matter is mentioned only for one purpose — to emphasize that this newspaper and its readers (we feel confident) want no intrusion of politics in this hospital matter. Such will be considered an ill omen indeed, and a sad reflection on our provincial administration. It is untenable that any political party should capitalize on human necessity such as the dire need of a modern hospital.

"Once the contract is signed, and these modifications fulfilled, there should be no difficulty in releasing grants necessary to complete the construction work", is the concluding paragraph of this letter.

The intimation that certain directors have had interest in supplying materials (one of the reasons given for a needed shuffle of directorate) may be true. But there is no suggestion of sales having been effected at prices above normal, and there is therefore no question of morality involved; just a legal technicality.

The other reason cited is that the directors should be more representative of the district, whereas they are all presently local men.

It is felt, however, that the change should be met by the nomination of, say, two physicians and two businessmen entirely unrelated to politics. The Quebec suggestion of political participants, is resented wholeheartedly.

Pertinent Facts

Two or three facts stand out from the existing situation. They may be summarized as follows:

The directors, from the beginning of this venture, have proved themselves sincere and energetic. The delay, beyond their control, has exposed them to undeserved criticism.

Funds subscribed by the local public, and by previous government grants, are lying dormant and unproductive.

Construction work has been held up indefinitely by the withholding of grants.

The Provincial Government, justifiably or not, is under judgment by right-thinking citizens, on the monument of an unfinished public need — the Argenteuil Hospital.

Young policeman dies in dual-fatality crash

A young constable in the employ of Phillips Investigation Bureau, police agency for the Lachute Corporation, was killed in a highway crash while returning to town to go on duty last Sunday afternoon. The victim was Cst. André-Jean Laurin, 20, son of Gaetan and Mrs. Laurin — Mr. Laurin being a partner in the construction firm of Omer Laurin & Fils.

The accident occurred two miles west of St. Philippe on No. 8 highway. In company with his friend Miss Twyla Thompson, 24, of Brownsburg, he was returning from a visit with friends in Grenville, when his car collided with another automobile driven by Marcel Denis, 18, of Hawkesbury. The latter was accompanied by his sister, Claire Denis, who also lost her life in the crash; she died at the Providence Hospital in Lachute — where Miss Thompson is also a patient, suffering from internal injuries.

Cst. Laurin was due to go on duty at 6 p.m. The tragedy occurred around 4.30 p.m. The young man had been a member of the local police force for two years.

The remains are resting at the Menard Funeral Home on Grace Street. Funeral rites, with civic honors, will be held Thursday morning at 11 o'clock in Ste. Anastasie Parish Crurch.

The victim is mourned by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gaetan Laurin (the former Fleur-Ange Nadon), a younger brother, Alain, and three sisters, Mrs. Jean-Guy Mallette (Suzanne), Lise and Johanne, at home; also his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Omer Laurin, and Mr. Joseph Nadon, and many other relatives. His uncle is Alderman Lauréat Laurin. . . . Sincere sympathy is extended to the bereaved.

2-Year-old child drowning victim in North River

A little girl, Diane Legault, just under two years of age, was drowned last Friday in the North River at the foot of Bellingham Street. She was the daughter of Mme Berthe Legault, formerly of Carillon.

In the worry and upheaval of moving that day from Carillon, the mother missed her child when she wandered down to the water from her new home, only a short distance from the riverbank.

Cst. Dupras and Cst. Beauregard, joined by Chief Hebert and provincial police, procured boats and started dragging the riverbed. They enlisted the aid of a frogman, Norty Greenspon, of Hawkesbury, who searched under the icy water for an hour and a half, without success. Efforts were suspended at 11 p.m. and resumed again Sunday morning until the police and numerous volunteers abandoned the search around 1 p.m. . . . Up to Wednesday morning, the child's body had still not been recovered.

Appointment as division manager

Friends of a former Brownsburg citizen, who was also known to many Lake Louisa residents, note the appointment of Mr. Marcel Habib as manager of the Montreal Division of General Bakeries Ltd. Mr. Habib thus returns to his home province after a number of years in Toronto, where he advanced from Office Manager to Division Manager in charge of the company's Toronto operations.

Modern art in exhibition at Rio Building

An exhibition of modern paintings continues on view each afternoon and evening (2 to 9 p.m.) at the Centre d'Art, in the Rio Theatre Building, until Sunday, May 6. (See picture on this page.)

In this display are over 20 examples of the contemporary trend, the best known of this modern school being the late Paul-Emile Borduas. A large canvas by this Quebec painter is on loan from a private collection, while others have been contributed by the artists personally and by the Denyse Delrue Gallery.

Mr. Jean Laforest, director of the Centre, welcomed an invited gathering at the "vernissage" and preview on Saturday afternoon. He enumerated other exhibitions planned for the spring months, and courses of instruction on the program of the Centre d'Art this year.

Dr. Marc Papineau, president of the Centre committee, spoke on the progress and objectives of the organization, and the benefits it had imparted to hundreds of juvenile and adult students since it inauguration.

Mayor and Mrs. Fernand Legault were patrons of honor — the former declaring the exhibition open to the public, and wishing the venture success.

On view in a craft window at the Centre are samples of oriental-type carpet, now being manufactured by craftsmen in training at the new Argenteuil Carpet Co-operative, St. Andrews East.

Promising contender for Liberal candidature

Fifty-odd delegates appointed for the Liberal convention from different parts of the Argenteuil - Deux Montagnes constituency, gathered at the home of Bernard Gosselin in Lachute last Sunday to press for his acceptance of a nomination at the coming party convention (next Saturday at St. Eustache). Seen on the balcony of his home is Mr. Gosselin, and at his right the spokesman for the delegation, Lucien Lacoste. . . . Mr. Gosselin thanked his friends and agreed to stand for nomination, expressing confidence of his success in contest for the Liberal representation.

Mayor Fernand Legault of Lachute was unable to join the delegation, but expressed himself in favor of Mr. Gosselin's nomination.

Notary J. O. Latour

J. O. Latour chosen as P. C. candidate; Nation Unity is keynote of platform

Notary J. O. Latour, retiring Member of Parliament for Argenteuil - Deux Montagnes, was named the official standard-bearer of the Progressive Conservative Party in the June 18 election, at a convention held in the St. Hermas Municipal Hall at 2.30 p.m. on Sunday. Notary Latour's name was proposed by W. D. Keunincks, a St. Eustache-sur-le-Lac alderman, and seconded by a large representation of mayors of the constituency who were seated on the platform. There were no other nominations.

In accepting the nomination, Mr. Latour agreed to contest the election under the same terms as in 1958, stating, "I will do my part if you will do yours." Mr. Latour welcomed the 200-odd persons who had attended the convention in spite of the weather, and assured them he knew "the responsibility of my position. The recently dissolved parliament was the first time in many, many years that Quebec was so well represented in the Federal Government, and in fact, in the Cabinet, where there were six ministers — something that even St. Laurent did not have. We were there acting on your behalf under a man who told the same story all across the country, and did not have one version for Quebec and another for the remainder of Canada.

"During our term of office, we instituted a simultaneous translation system; named the first French-Canadian Governor General; introduced bi-lingual cheques; and all-in-all, introduced 87 bilingual acts, in a concentrated effort to gain national unity."

Mr. Latour informed the gathering that the long-time problem in Oka had been settled in December. Elaborating, he pointed out that Oka is not an Indian Reservation in the full sense of the word, and that the municipality was not receiving any revenue in the form of taxes for services provided. "This problem has now been straightened out and the Federal Government will now pay its full share."

"We will have the opportunity to discuss our local problems at a later date, when I visit each and every municipality. I assure you I will work with all my heart and do my best. I know you don't see me too often, but when in session for more than ten months, I cannot be in the riding and in the Capital at the same time. I assure you I am pleased to accept the call. I know my responsibility and duty, and will gladly serve you and protect your interests."

Speaking on behalf of Notary Latour were Marcel Deschambeault, M.P. for Terrebonne, who shares office space with the local member; Senator Gustave Monette; Henri Charette; and Mr. Crown, vice-president of the Quebec P.C. Party.

Mr. Deschambeault congratulated the gathering for choosing a man as honest, and one who has done such good work, as Notary Latour. "You are here to judge if we have kept our promises, and I can assure you we have. We have done good work in the field of unemployment, despite the fact we inherited this problem from a surplus-a-year government who did nothing to reduce taxes. We Conservatives from Quebec joined heartily with others from across the country, for the best government of the country, and our main aim is to continue to work to assure a united Canada."

Senator Monette opened his address by stating Canada has many different language and religious groups, and that we were "placed here by Providence to develop the country together". For Quebec to do her share in the industrial expansion of the country, we have to change our methods and improve our education system. Our government has increased the provincial share of revenues to 15 per cent from the 3 or 4 per cent of four years ago. "When a government is in power too long, they have to be changed, but we are only starting. We still have

Preparations for '62 Spring Fair well in hand

Secretary-manager Ken Riley reports things are shaping up satisfactorily for the 1962 Lachute Spring Fair, on June 13-16, inclusive. The spokesman for Argenteuil Agricultural Society, the sponsoring organization, notes an increased interest this year in cattle classes; advance enquiries indicate there will be new competition and a probably higher entry list.

In the line of entertainment, the service clubs will have their allotted evenings — the Rotary with their customary "rustic" hilarity, the Lions and Legion with stage revues. The Richelieu Club will present its usual afternoon harness-racing events. Meanwhile, King Reid Shows will again be featured in the midway section.

Work is now proceeding in renovations, repainting, etc., around the buildings and exhibition grounds.

Opening of contemporary art display

Another newspaper exposes Carillon traffic sleuthing

Carillon Village police tactics continue to be the object of heated criticism by motorists, who are turning to the newspapers to voice their complaints. Following the protest which received front-page publicity in Le Droit (Ottawa) last week, a lady resident of Hawkesbury recounted her experience to Le Carillon, weekly journal of that town. Following is a translation of the report:

"Last Tuesday a Hawkesbury lady visited Carillon on business. Two police officers stopped her and charged her with speeding — specifically, at 40 m.p.h. in a 20-mile zone. The lady denied the charge, and was corroborated by a passenger as witness. However, the policemen said they had a radar in their car; the car, incidentally was like any other vehicle, unmarked.

"The lady was escorted to a garage, without seeing the radar detector. In the garage, a crude shack without even a window, she was required to pay $24 in order to proceed on her way.

"The lady, whose name we withhold for obvious reasons, has approached this newspaper in order to warn motorists who may be passing in the vicinity of Carillon."

It seems the Village of Carillon is building an unsavory repute, or rather, notoriety, earned by some of Montreal's suburban municipalities last year, which came before the Attorney General's department at Quebec for disciplinary action.

Epidemic of auto thefts at Hawkesbury

An epidemic of automobile thefts had municipal and provincial police well occupied in the Hawkesbury area, six cars having been reported stolen in that town within two or three weeks.

Two of the cars had not turned up, on last reports in the Hawkesbury news. The others appear to have been abandoned — one after an accident, one in the bush near the Abenaki Club, and two at neighborhood hotels, one on the Quebec side of the river.

May 14-19 for Concerts Assocn. member campaign

Early on the local agenda is the annual Community Concerts membership campaign, which comes up May 14 to 21. . . . Although these are the prescribed canvassing dates, workers are being contacted in order to book renewal memberships ahead of time — thus endeavoring, for many reasons, to expedite the closing of the campaign and the completion of bookings for next season.

The directorate of Community Concerts, alert to ensure the best available artists, have entered an option on at least one star attraction, the New York Trio, a group of instrumentalists (flute, cello and harp) which has attained high popularity. This group will appear next March 18, providing the campaign reaches its anticipated quota. Other programs for next season will likely include a piano duo, but these will not be decided until the budget is definite.

It is urged by the directors that all music-lovers and enthusiasts, both new and renewing members, should co-operate with the workers by enrolling in advance of the campaign, if possible.

Lions Club ladies' nite attractions, fashion show and $1,000 drawing

The drawing for $1,000 and other prizes, climaxing the Lions Club's biggest fund-raising effort of the year, was the highlight of a pleasurable event at the Golf Club last Saturday evening. This event, in the form of a ladies' night, was well attended by members, their ladies and guests.

The featured entertainment was a display of Irving sport wear for women. With Mme Piuze as commentator, the modes in golf, beach and ski wear were modelled by a group of young ladies from Montreal. An interesting fact was that Ayers fabrics were used in the manufacture of many of these stylish garments.

President Ernest Emmett welcomed the guests and thanked them for their support. Dancing was enjoyed in the Cotillion Room, to music from the organ alcove with Henri Groulx as star entertainer. The drawing was conducted by Lion Ian Gordon, committeeman, who paid tribute to leading ticket salesmen, and to the public for their ready participation. Mrs. Fernand Legault, Lachute's "first lady", and the wives of Lions Club members, were called upon to draw the tickets.

The winners were as follows:

1st Prize ($1,000) — Ken Foreman, of E. M. Ball Ltd., St. Laurent.
2nd Prize ($250) — Mrs. Doris Campbell, Lachute.
3rd Prize ($250) — Pierre Soumis, Lachute.
4th Prize ($100) — A. G. Godbout, Cote de Lorraine.
5th Prize ($100) — Jean Y. Filfe, St. Jerome.
6th Prize ($100) — R. Raymond, Princess St., Lachute.
7th Prize ($50) — Roland Robert, Lachute Inn.
8th Prize ($50) — Maurice Coulombe, Lachute.
9th Prize ($50) — Mrs. M. C. Laurin, Bedard Blvd., Lachute.
10th Prize ($50) — Jas. W. Welden, Lachute R.R. 6.

Lion Roger Gravel was m.c. for the evening's program.

Health Unit holding clinics for immunization

"Well Baby" clinics for inoculation against smallpox, whooping cough, tetanus and polio are being held throughout the County by the medical staff of the Argenteuil Health Unit. . . . Adults are susceptible to polio infection, and these clinics will also include inoculation with first, second and booster "shots" for all adults wishing to take advantage of the service.

Announcement of dates, received too late for publication this week, will appear in future editions. Meanwhile, it may be noted the clinics are held in Lachute (at the Health Unit) every Thursday, commencing May 3, from 2 to 4 p.m.

Another 2-yr.-old child drowned, at St. Michel

Last Friday afernoon at a private lake in St. Michel de Wentworth, Monique Labreche, the two-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Labreche, lost her life when she toppled into water a few feet deep.

Mr. and Mrs. Labreche had lived at St. Michel only a few weeks, having come from the city as caretakers of a private property belonging to Aristide Cousineau, of Montreal. They suddenly missed their young daughter, and on investigating at the lakeshore found her body, which they quickly recovered.

Funeral rites were held Monday at St. Denis Church in Montreal, with interment at Cote des Neiges Cemetery.

Ken McGibbon gives travelogue at Rotary meet

At last week's meeting of the Brownsburg-Lachute Rotary Club, Rotarian Dr. Reg Rigby introduced the guest speaker, in the person of Rotarian Ken McGibbon, works manager at the C-I-L plant in Brownsburg.

With the aid of Wes Freeland, Ken gave a running commentary of his trip abroad last June to Scotland, England, Belgium and France. Unfortunately, as Ken stated, the trip was for business purposes only, but the pictures he was able to take were excellent, starting from his first stopping-place in Scotland right through to France. With the discourse that accompanied each slide, fellow Rotarians almost felt they were accompanying the speaker on his trip. Les Davies expressed a vote of thanks for this very enjoyable program.

Lake opening 'exercise'

Black Lake, Dunany, was opened on Sunday morning last by two summer residents, Bob MacDonald and Bill Maynard — under the direction of a fellow resident, R. V. Leggett, standing on his wharf, who instructed the former men on the breaking of a channel across the lake. Several inches of ice was broken with shovels, and the two men arrived safely across the lake, a number of residents cheering them on.

A column for the sportsman

— By BOB ATCHISON —

The first long week-end brought us visitors — my brother and his family. As usual, the two boys spent more time on the river and in the bush than they did at home. On one of their excursions they came across a muskrat caught in a trap. Brad, who is chicken (like me) about cruelty, rowed the boat back about half a mile to get me. Going down, we found the muskrat had eaten all the flesh from the lower part of its leg, trying to get away. All that was left was white bone for about 2 inches. The rat had even broken a tooth in his attempt to get away. Holding it down, we were able to release the trap to let it free. All the time we worked over it, this little animal was so scared its teeth chattered. On being released it stayed on top of the water for about 30 seconds before diving under. Nature is a great healer, so I think the creature will probably get over this grim experience.

Incidentally, I have the trap at home, if anyone wants it. Don't get me wrong about trapping. It has to be done, but with the new traps on the market, this can be almost painless. Another thing, if anyone is going to trap then they should examine their sets at least once a day, and try to place them so that any animal caught will be killed and not left to suffer. A nasty business.

Geese have been landing in the field across from us for the past few days; these remind us that spring is definitely here. Flocks flying north have also been spotted, some of quite considerable size. It's a great sound to hear! . . . Ducks are also with us.

The otters (and notice I said otters) are still cavorting around in the water and on land. Bright and early every morning they are out, and I think they must be expecting a "blessed event" very soon. The female can be seen gathering the pods with the down in them. This, I presume, is for her nest, so maybe we are going to see some of the young before they move on.

The early fishing has not been too good, and in only one case have I heard of any catch. This was a small trout, but nothing else. I fished the creeks last week and found they were high and VERY COLD, that is, for wading. I could only manage about 10 minutes in the water at a time. I did hear of one of our local sportsmen falling into a creek, and I wouldn't have been in his shoes for all the fish in the creek. The lakes are still jammed up with ice, and will be for some time to come. The ice is thick, and I really mean, more so than in former years. There is still a lot of snow in the bush, and until this all gets away, the creeks will be high.

Noticed an article in the papers the other night, from Africa. . . . A bill is being presented in that country to make cruelty to animals punishable by the lash. In a land supposedly uncivilized, they evidently care for their animals — not like some of the so-called civilized countries.

It sure would be something for us to have a law like this. I'm afraid, though, there would be a great shortage of official whippers. I think, for cruelty, the supposed civilized human is hard to beat.

A brief to be presented to the government against trespassing and vandalism, is a step in the right direction. This is being sponsored by the Quebec Farmers' Association for their protection. Most of us do not suffer too much when the supposed hunters get going, but the farmer is the big loser, and he deserves some form of protection. The laws to date are wholly inadequate, hence this brief.

If all the clubs could get together on this, there would be no trouble in having it accepted. Certainly a letter from the directorate of these clubs, addressed to L. G. Young at Macdonald College, would help in some small way. A copy of this brief was sent me, and anyone wanting to look it over may give me a call. It is worth reading.

I think possibly there might be misunderstanding on this or other briefs presented to the government; so maybe this will clarify your doubts. It is not the aim of all farmers to stop hunting. All they ask is that hunters be considerate enough to get permission, also take the trouble to find out where livestock (if any) is pasturing. They expect hunters to close gates, and not use fences to start fires, etc. These offences are perpetrated every year by so-called sportsmen, and a serious amount of damage is done.

A few more tips for the early fisherman. . . . If your spinning lures are not paying off, try tieing some cut rubber bands on the hook. If you can get different-colored ones, so much the better.

Work your lures — by this I mean reel, stop, reel, stop, and so on, alternating this with long periods of reeling.

For the "still" man, use very small hooks with extra light sinkers; let them drift through the current.

When fishing streams, try every place — behind rocks, undercut banks, and every spot that looks as though no fish would be there. These spots always pay off!

Losing worms a lot? Then tie them on with a little thread. This, in fact, applies to all bait.

Small frogs make good bait for all fish. Try them.

Last, but certainly not least — purchase your license!

Camping will soon be the summer pastime and I think we in this district can look for increased numbers enjoying this pastime, which has increased greatly in the past couple of years. For any farmers wanting to pick up the extra dollar, they might clear out some of their lands and make visitors welcome. It will be worth while.

Closing event of United Church bowling league

The annual banquet of the United Church Bowling League was held in the church hall on Monday evening, when the social committee (Mrs. L. Taylor, Mrs. L. Hopkins and Mrs. D. Smith) and helpers, served a very appetizing meal. Mrs. Wilson Bridge, president, welcomed the invited guests along with members and their friends. She also thanked her executive, and reviewed the events of the past year.

After the meal, the two teams played off. They were the Beavers, skipped by Margaret Gordon, and East Settlement, skipped by Leslie Gordon. This proved a close and interesting game, East Settlement winning by a score of 9-7.

At the close of the evening, prizes were presented to members of the winning team and to the runners-up, also to members of the team which had led the league during the year, namely, St. Andrews, skipped by Mrs. Wilson Bridge. There was also a gift for Mr. Jack Gorman for the work he had done for the Bowling League during the year. Prizes were presented by the Rev. Wilson Bridge, minister of the church.

The inter-church bowling playoffs will take place in the Presbyterian Church hall on Monday, May 7, when it is anticipated there will be keen competition for the cup, which is to be held by the church league gaining the highest number of points.

Ask enthusiasts to join Fishing, Hunting Assocn.

Among advantages stressed by the Argenteuil Fishing and Hunting Association to members affiliated with a group of this kind, is the fact that they are giving practical support to fish and game conservation. This applies to Argenteuil County, as to other counties—and in almost every country of the province there is a fishing and hunting organization.

In addition, members of the Argenteuil group have the privilege of competing for prizes and trophies awarded at the end of the season for various tournaments, including the Molson's fishing contest, which arouses keen interest every season.

A number of plans and projects are under study by the directors to create interest for local fishing enhusiasts, and they solicit wider support by an increased membership. All enthusiasts over 18 are eligible to join, and membership cards may be obtained from — Paul Desjardins, Sr. (LO 2-6363), Ernest Villemaire (LO 2-5766), Patrick Lalonde (LO 2-8418), or any other officer of the Association.

The first fishing contest of the season will be held Sunday, May 13, at Silver Lake (Lac Argenté). Further particulars will be announced.

Howard Ward is high scorer

Howard Ward, captain of the Dow team in the Men's Commercial League, bowled a 264 single on Monday of last week — a highlight of the week's scoring at the Bolodrome. His triple of 554 put the Dow squad ahead of their opponents, the formidable Lachute Flooring team.

Howard's count per frame in this encounter was — 16-9-30-30-30-30-30-30-29=264 — beating Yves Sauvé's 253 high for a league scoring record this year.

St. John lessons in resuscitation, Save-a-Life Week

As a public service during the coming "Save A Life Week" (May 14-19) free two-hour classes in artificial respiration are being given across Canada. These classes will be provided for local citizens during each evening of the week, at places to be announced later. Those interested or wishing to register may do so by calling LO 2-2912 or LO 2-5308.

Canada has 1,200 drownings a year — one of the highest per capita death rates in the world from this cause. When a nearly-drowned person is pulled from the water unconscious, it is vital that someone should be able to apply artificial respiration immediately. . . . It is the purpose of these free St. John Ambulance classes to save people involved in water accidents or asphyxiation from other causes.

Two methods of artificial respiration are being taught, the mouth-to-mouth method and the Holger-Nielsen system.

Blood clinic at Brownsburg on May 24

Brownsburg — The Canadian Red Cross Society undertakes the provision of a continual flow of whole blood and plasma free of charge to more than 180 hospitals throughout the province for use by patients in need of blood transfusions.

For this purpose, the Red Cross Blood Bank must supply a weekly demand of 4,500 pints of blood in this province. Volunteer donors are needed to keep this Blood Bank functioning through their donations. In this way valuable lives are saved.

The discovery that human blood could be transfused to other humans constitutes one of the most wonderful acquisitions, doing much to bring about the swift advance now evident in modern medicine.

Points to Remember

Any normal adult of medium weight has some 12 to 13 pints of blood, so that doctors estimate men can give blood every three months, and women every four months. Persons who have had jaundice cannot give blood and those who have had malaria within the last 12 months may not give blood. About 380 c.c. is taken and each donor receives an identity card showing his blood group and the number of times he has given blood.

There are four main types of blood: A, B, AB, and O. The donor's blood must be the same as that of the receiver. However, in certain cases the O group — called universal — can be given to the others.

Every donor is given a haemoglobin test, to determine if he is in good physical condition. Anyone between the ages of 18 and 65 in average health may contribute to the Blood Bank. Doctors' certificates are only necessary in cases of high blood pressure. There is no discomfort experienced in the giving of blood; however, it is important to have eaten before giving blood.

Enlightened physicians everywhere use blood to abate human suffering, so invest now in the Red Cross Blood Bank.

A mobile unit will visit Brownsburg on May 24. The clinic will be held at the Legion Hall from 2 to 5 p.m. and from 7 to 9 p.m.

Two other drawings of this kind are to be held on May 4 and 11 at the Hawkesbury Town Hall. It is to be noted that from May 5 on, no further tickets will be given out.

Honorary degrees and link with wartime Dieppe

Montreal — A reformed minister from Dieppe, and the chairman of the General Board of Missions received honorary degrees of Doctor of Divinity at the annual convocation of the Presbyterian College, in the Church of St. Andrews and St. Paul, on Tuesday evening, May 1.

The Rev. André Poulain was on vacation at his home in Luneray, near Dieppe, when the Canadians landed there on August 19, 1942. Warned by the BBC that it was only a raid and there would certainly be reprisals after the withdrawal, the French underground kept quiet. Mr. Poulain tried to get into Dieppe, but it was closed for some time afterward.

Later Mr. Poulain was assistant-minister of the French Churches of Philadelphia and Washington. Called back to France in May 1940, he rejoined his regiment. Taken prisoner when France fell, he managed to escape, and become minister of a church near Dieppe.

In Dieppe he conducted the memorial service in the Canadian cemetery each year. In 1947 he visited Canada and in 1950 was invited to be minister of L'Eglise St. Luc, the French Presbyterian Church in Montreal, which position he still holds.

The other recipient of the honorary D.D. is the Rev. A. Lorne MacKay, minister of Central Church, Hamilton, Ont., and chairman of the General Board of Missions of the Presbyterian Church.

J. O. Latour is chosen as P.C. candidate

the unemployment and debt problems to defeat; we have just got well underway."

One of Deux Montagnes' mayors, Henri Charette, stated: "Notary Latour is well-known now, but he will be better known after June 18. We all know of the work he has accomplished, and the help he has given to those who needed it. I ask you to give us your time, so that he can continue his good work."

Mr. Crown stated he had heard talk of the Conservatives' three billion dollar peace debt, but he added, "This is small indeed compared to the $12-billion the former government spent from '40 to '44 on war efforts. We have brought the national debt down more than $200 per person and increased old age pensions from $46 to $65 and other pensions in proportion. We have attacked unemployment in many ways, such as technical schools and winter works; we pay 50 per cent of the hospitalization, and we are looking forward with a new look." In closing, Mr. Crown stated, "We are going to fight this election on many issues, but the main one, and most important, is national unity."

Stage set for L.H.S. operetta, 'H.M.S. Pinafore'

The Lachute High School Operatic Society is making its debut into the realms of light opera by the launching of "H.M.S. Pinafore", on Saturday, May 12, at 7.30 p.m. in the High School auditorium — with a jolly crew aboard, supported by a large number of lively ladies, the charming relatives of the Lord High Admiral, Sir Joseph Porter, K.C.B.

They are hoping for blue skies and a fair wind, and the kindly support of friends and relatives, including all "the sisters, and the cousins and the aunts" — according to their mentor and director, Mrs. Eleanor Rigby.

Much time and trouble has gone into the costuming and presentation of the opera, and a few keen musicians have formed a small orchestra to strengthen the musical background.

The tickets are now on sale. The money will help to defray expenses and to buy music for future occasions.

New officers for Lachute C.W.L.

At the Catholic Women's League meeting on April 8 (reported recently in The Watchman) officers were elected for the ensuing year, as follows:

President, Mrs. Jessie Lowe; 1st vice-pres., Mrs. Ruby Lowe; 2nd vice-pres., Mrs. C. Robinson; secretary, Mrs. M. Gendron; treasurer, Mrs. Eleanor Peters.

Councillors — Mrs. Malette, Mrs. Elkington, Mrs. Alice McGill.

Immediate past-president, Mrs. Leonard Bedard.

Mrs. C. Robinson presented a token of appreciation to Mrs. Bedard for her services, after which the director, the Rev. Father H. Conway, offered his congratulations.

It was noted that the Diocesan convention will be held May 12 in Brownsburg and the Provincial convention at the Queen Elizabeth Hotel, Montreal, on June 15.

Drugs may affect driving ability

Any person who drives or has the care of a motor vehicle (whether in motion or not) on a public highway, while his faculties are impaired by a narcotic or drug, is subject to the same penalties as if he were impaired by alcohol. This was upheld in a recent ruling by the Ontario Supreme Court. It is therefore wise for those who are under medical care and have to take certain drugs or tranquillizers, to abstain from driving as long as they are under the influence of such drugs.

The Highway Code and the Criminal Code provide heavy penalties for drunken or impaired drivers — whether their faculties are affected by alcohol or by a narcotic drug. A person found asleep at the wheel of a parked vehicle on a public road, is also liable to prosecution.

Howard Cottingham takes bride in ceremony at Fanwood, N.J.

At the Fanwood (New Jersey) Presbyterian Church last Saturday at 5 o'clock, Lynn Leveridge Vance, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard G. Vance, of Scotch Plains, N.J., became the bride of William Howard Cottingham, of Nassau, Bahamas, son of the Hon. and Mrs. W. M. Cottingham, of Lachute.

Officiating clergyman was the Rev. Richard L. Smith, and the organist was Mr. William S. Wrenn. The church was decorated in a theme of white roses, snapdragons, lillies and ferns.

The bride, given away by her father, wore a gown with white lace bodice tapering into a princess waist with a full satin chapel train. Her headdress was a circlet crystal crown, with a bouffant shoulder-length veil. She carried a semi-crescent bouquet of white camellias, stephanotis and pink Sweetheart roses.

Maid of honor for the bride was Miss Phyllis B. Vance, wearing a voile dress in light coral shade, with matching shoes and accessories. She carried a cascade bouquet of white daisies.

Best man for the groom was his brother-in-law, Mr. Alexander Robertson Cunningham.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at Stagehouse Inn, Scotch Plains, where floral decorations were white roses from the church, with white butterfly roses on the candlelit tables.

The bride's mother was gowned in a flowered silk sheath dress and coat in pale yellow, with accessories to match and a corsage of Cymbidium orchids in beige tones. The mother of the groom wore a Queen's blue chiffon and lace dress with draped skirt, a hat of blue organza petals and matching shoes. Her corsage was of pink camellias.

The couple left for a honeymoon trip to Acapulco and Mexico City — the bride travelling in a Kimberly three-piece knit suit of mint green and gold, with shoes to match, a gold-toned purse and a corsage of orange Duchess roses. . . . On their return they will reside in Nassau, Bahamas.

Guests from a distance were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Borchard, of Westchester, N.Y., grandparents of the bride; Capt. and Mrs. Spinny, of Boston, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Rossi, also of Boston; and relatives and associates from these parts — the Hon. and Mrs. W. M. Cottingham, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. McOuat, Mr. and Mrs. Colin McOuat, Mr. and Mrs. Garth Boyd, Mr. Jas. Campbell, all of Lachute, and Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Cunningham, of Shawinigan Falls, Que.

BROWNSBURG ROAD, LACHUTE

(ALBERT MADY, Prop.)

Friend of the family.

Bring some cars home and they'll take you to the cleaners.

Not a Volkswagen.

A VW takes care of your gas. If you're careful you might even get 45 miles out of a gallon. But day in, day out you can expect to get 38.

It's even stingier with oil. Never needs a drop between changes.

Another thing. Our car is very easy on its tires. You won't be setting any records if yours last 40,000 miles.

When the time comes for maintenance, you'll find that repairs which cost a conventional car owner an arm and a leg hardly disturb your budget.

You can trust a Volkswagen with your money. But how about your wife?

When she discovers the charm of driving a VW, and how easy it is to park, they are likely to run away together.

In spite of appearances to the contrary, there's a lot of room in a Volkswagen.

Mum, dad, three growing kids, the dog and the luggage all fit in comfortably.

If you've got a car that's eating you out of house and home, it's time you met a Volkswagen. (Nothing formal. Just drop in and get acquainted.)

Who knows? Your family might decide to give one of our cars a good home.

A unique public service

ONE OF THE unique public services performed by the St. John Ambulance organization is "Save a Life" Week held each year prior to the May 24 week-end holiday. Dates this year are May 14 to 19, and during this period St. John will provide free two-hour classes in artificial respiration for the public.

Summer is a wonderful time in Canada, but our rivers and lakes and seashore take a tragic toll of drownings each year. The total loss of life from this cause averages about 1,200 annually. By teaching people how to revive those who have suffered a water accident, St. John Ambulance hopes to save many of these lives.

The "Save a Life" Week classes will be held here, and instruction will be given from 7 p.m. to 11 p.m. (Place to be announced.) Those who wish to take this valuable training are asked to register by phoning LO 2-2912 or LO 2-5308.

It is human nature to think it most unlikely that we will ever be faced with a situation where our knowledge of artificial respiration could save a life. But all accidents happen unexpectedly. By investing two hours of our time in learning artificial respiration, we may be able to save a life — perhaps that of a member of our own family. It's an investment that could pay a big return!

An early warning

IT SHOULD be many weeks yet before the hot summer sun raises temperatures across Canada to sweltering proportions. But it's not too early to give a reminder about one of Canada's worst summer hazards — destructive forest fires.

Many communities have particular reason to remember losses of last year, particularly in Newfoundland, Manitoba and British Columbia. It was one of the worst years in history for the amount of timber destroyed and property damaged.

Newfoundland, with its worst summer drought on record, had 251 fires that tore through nearly 1,500,000 acres. The timber loss was $2,000,000. Manitoba saw fires ravage more than 2,000,000 acres, and the 3,871 fires in British Columbia cost about $40,000,000 in timber.

Among the other provinces, Ontario had 1,193 forest fires that burned an area of 1,000,000 acres. The timber losses — including areas that might not have been cut for years to come — may have amounted to $200,000,000.

The average Canadian probably thinks of forest fires only when conflagrations are covering thousands of acres, threatening resort areas or villages and towns, destroying great stands of timber.

But the federal and provincial forestry officials, and the companies dependent on woods production, must study this problem 12 months of the year. The winter months with their snow blanket are only a breathing space to complete plans for the next season.

And among these plans, the Ontario lands and forests department has come up with new electronic devices and chemical retardants to be used experimentally this summer.

Electronic devices using infra-red rays to detect heat and "flame flicker" will be installed on Ontario's forestry towers and its big fleet of foresty protection airplaines.

The water-dropping airplanes themselves have been improved, since they are designed to give an initial damper to blazes pending arrival of the fire-fighting crews.

But forest fires are a problem for the public, as well as the experts. As Ontario Lands and Forest Minister J. W. Spooner declared, "all work and new techniques must fall short of their objective without the fullest support of the people themselves."

His words are applicable across the country: "I urge everyone, especially during the April to October fire season, to be most careful in the use of fire in any form in wooded areas. After all, our forests belong to our people."

Hit-and-run accidents

CONTROLLING hit-and-run accidents in Canada has become too big a job for police to handle without help from citizens at large, says Patrol Sgt. Don Saunders, head of the Metropolitan Toronto police hit-and-run squad.

Writing in the April issue of Imperial Oil Review, Patrol Sgt. Saunders says that there were an estimated 15,000 hit-and-run cases in Canada during 1961, with one of every seven cases involving bodily injury. In Toronto alone, he said, the average is 200 cases a month.

"Hit-and-run is a crime in which we are all potential victims and may become actual victims at almost any time," he says. . . . It's easy to visualize your own parked car being smashed by a hit-and-run driver or somebody in your family as a hit-and-run victim left lying on the street, perhaps dying for want of medical attention, he continues.

Citizens can help police in three ways, says Patrol Sgt. Saunders.

Both police and public would benefit if witnesses realized the importance of the tiniest and supposedly most trivial scrap of information. For instance, knowing the age and sex of the driver can be invaluable to police.

Some witnesses could help a lot more if they would write down what they see, especially license numbers, which are harder to remember than people think.

Witnesses should not disturb the scene of the accident and should prevent others from doing so until police arrive.

Bits of glass, paint or metal are invaluable to police when turned over to laboratory scientists for examination. For instance, scientists can tell from a sliver of glass, left at the accident scene, whether police should be looking for a North American or European car and perhaps the make of car.

Learning how to retire

EVEN IF you've got a Ph.D., you may well go back to university when you are 50 to 55 years old. It might be even sooner, wrote Beatrice Riddell in a recent article. Why? To learn how to retire — to plan your finances, prepare for some useful post-retirement work, organize your leisure time, deal with accommodation and family relationships, and learn how to stay physically and mentally fit.

You won't be alone in your need to plan a new and different life, says the writer, who estimates there are now about 1.4 million people in Canada who are 65 or over (7.5% of total population). And your chances of living beyond that age are getting better every year — nuclear war aside.

This is why an experimental course on retirement, started just recently at McMaster University, Hamilton, will be watched closely by other Canadian universities as they get more involved in community problems. Industry too will be watching as more big companies attempt to help their employees over the hurdle of "gold watch" day.

Canada - U.S. relations

CHARLES RITCHIE, Canada's new ambassador to the U.S., will run into something approaching a hornet's nest of Canada-U.S. problems as he takes over the job, writes the Washington correspondent of The Financial Post. A form of "anti-Canadianism" appears to be sprouting in the U.S.

As individuals, Canadians continue to get a big hello from U.S. citizens, who still feel "You're just like us". But when they think of Canada instead of individual Canadians, many U.S. citizens are perturbed. They don't like our trading with Cuba. They don't like our trading with China. They don't like our delay in taking nuclear warheads for North American defence. They don't like our delay in ratifying the Columbia River power treaty. And they don't like other pinpricks of what they consider "anti-Americanism" sprouting up in Canada, especially with a federal election coming up.

Ritchie takes office in Washington at one of the low points in Canada-U.S. relations. It will take a considerable amount of patient, educational missionary work to bring them back to their more normal harmony.

All Aboard
With G. E. Mortimore

Simplicity pays — sometimes. For many years an English company has been making and selling peppermints in a small cardboard box, the size of a matchbox.

There is a label of antique appearance, and a motto in small print: "Curiously strong."

The charm of this modest slogan (which suggests the makers are surprised by the strength of their own peppermints) has endured for generations.

Perhaps it has endured ever since the company began making "peppermint lozenges, flavored with genuine English oil of peppermint," in 1767.

I don't know, without writing to the head office in York, England, whether the slogan really is as old as the company.

I suspect that it is. Anyway, this quaint whisper of a slogan has outlived many of the shouts of Madison Avenue. I'll bet it has sold billions of peppermints.

It says nothing about miracle ingredients, or that zesty tang, or that clean, clean flavor that chases bad breath and makes your girl love you again.

No sir. "Curiously strong", that's all. The old fox of a merchant-artisan who invented this message was a long way ahead of the mid-20th century bright boys. They have gone through superlatives and phony cuteness, and come back to simplicity again. (Phony simplicity.)

And those peppermints are strong, too — strong enough to burn out the lining of your mouth until you get used to them.

Bank brainwave baffles burglars!

The Burglars' Club planned a protest when the B of M's first "around-the-clock" depository unit was developed a few years back! Cash taken late by stores, restaurants, theatres and garages had to lie in a drawer or in an old sock until the bank opened the following morning.

But then a banker had the brainwave of placing a unit, outside the bank, which led to a special vault within, to let customers deposit their cash after the bank had closed. The innovation was an immediate success.

Now, there's an improved version of the unit at the Lachute branch of the Bank of Montreal. Both private and business customers can now make after-hours deposits.

Called a dual-type "around-the-clock" depository unit, it has a slot for special envelopes supplied by the B of M for private individuals, and a larger opening, which accepts specially-designed canvas wallets from business customers. In either case, the customer can drop his deposit in the unit at night, after the bank has closed. The money is safe and secure overnight or over the week-end. Next day officials process the deposit and mail the customer his receipt. If the customer wishes, the bank will simply hold the envelope or bag until he calls to make the deposit in the usual way.

Don Hay, manager of the Lachute B of M, will be pleased to supply full details on his burglar-baffler.

NO NEW JOKES

There are no new jokes, or so I've been told. But here is one that I heard only a few days ago for the first time. Maybe you've heard it before, but it was new to me. It goes like this:

A certain wholesale drug firm had a new product called "Dr. Bloop's Wonderful Blood Bitters". The sales manager called a meeting of all the salesmen and told them to plug this new product for all they were worth, and to be on the lookout for billboard space on which to display their posters. One salesman described a very big black rock out in the country which was his territory, and suggested painting the product's name in white paint on this rock, right beside the rurual route where all the farmers could see it. The manager told him to look after this personally, so on his next trip he took along a can of white paint and a brush. But when he arrived at the rock he found that a travelling evangelist had beat him to it, and had put a text on the rock in white paint which read: "What Must I Do To Be Saved?" But the salesman was not to be defeated. He printed in large white letters under the text: "Take Dr. Bloop's Wonderful Blood Bitters." On his next trip he took the sales manager along to show him his handiwork. But on their arrival they found that the evangelist had been there again and had added a postscript which read: "Prepare To Meet Thy God!"

Or perhaps you've heard this one:

A tough sergeant was drilling a squad of very new and very green recruits. He passed down the line criticizing each one and making sure that each one knew that he was in the army now.

Suddenly he came across one man who was wearing a pair of well-polished tan Oxfords. "Where did you get those shoes?" he roared. "I brought them from home, sir," said the soldier.

"And why are you wearing them instead of the army issue?"

"Because I find them more comfortable, sir."

"Oh, I suppose that if you had your tall silk hat you'd be wearing that too!"

"Oh, no sir. Not with brown shoes!"

Be seein' ya.

COLD TORTURE

Nowadays for a cold one can can take a pill, have a hot bath and jump into a warm bed. It was not like that in the old days at all. One had to take horrid tasting cough or other medicines; be slathered and smeared by smelly ointments, liniments and greases — including goose grease. . . . One wanted to recover quickly simply to have the treatments cease. — Rouyn-Noranda Press

How long since you've been on a swing? Years probably, because for some reason our society has decided that swings are fine for children, but that an old fellow who gets into one ought to be gently led off to a psychiatrist. Being in a swing is pure physical fun, and grown-ups are supposed to be above that sort of thing.

The subject comes up because we recently put a swing together for the children in the family to use — and, purely by way of research, testing it for strength, etc. — have made a number of flights on it. It's a dandy. Not one of your little swings, with six or eight feet of chain supporting it, but the real, old-fashioned kind, hung from a stout rope that reaches 30 feet or so up into a tall maple.

We earned some chiding from the lady of the household, because we seemed to be enjoying this research - and - testing program. Instead of giving in, we took the offensive, and with some artful persuasion got her into the swing. Swinging up into the branches of the tree, she laughed like a schoolgirl, and admitted later that she felt like one. Seemed to brighten her up for the rest of the day.

Just what the sociological process is that puts such a simple pleasure on the blacklist for adults, we don't know. If it required $346 worth of equipment, lessons twice a week, and had a complex set of rules that were amended each year by a national association, it would probably be one of the country's more popular diversions.

Two rural programs heard 15 years seven days a week, from CFRA

The first peep out of CFRA was heard 15 years ago on May 3. Its founder, and still its president, Frank Ryan, has established what is probably a world record in those intervening 15 years — daily, seven days a week, he is heard on his two popular programs, "Farmers' Note Book" on week days, and "Valley Note Book" on Sundays. On these programs he quotes from the Valley weeklies that he has learned to know and to understand so well.

A farmer at heart, he has successfully combined two totally unrelated professions, farming and broadcasting, so that in this area they appear to be natural counterparts.

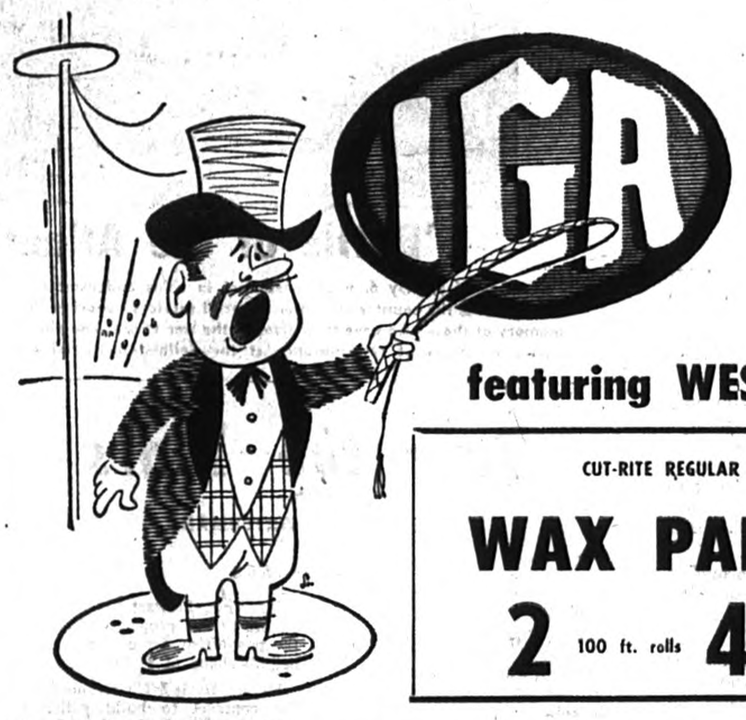

His zeal and enthusiasm for community activities is unbounded. There is not a village or hamlet in the whole area that at some time or other has not benefitted by his driving, imaginative enthusiasm. These qualities have brought Frank Ryan many honors, the Lieutenant-Governor's Medal for service to his community; "Canadian Salesman of the Year"; and a few years ago, some 1,200 friends packed the Coliseum in Ottawa at a testimonial dinner to honor him and his "Better Half". For years he has served as chairman of the Ottawa Parking Authority and this year is president of the Ottawa Winter Fair.

For Parents Only . . .

A Weekly Feature of Helpful Hints on Child Training.

Failure in Your Child's Life

(Copyright)

— By NANCY CLEAVER —

"If you don't at first succeed, try, try again!" How many parents have encouraged their sons and daughters to persistent effort in the face of failure, by this old rhyme.

The skill of a child at different ages varies and children of the same age are often very different in their intellectual and physical ability. Sometimes a child is not yet old enough to do what adults expect; sometimes he has not the capacity to succeed. The observant parent sees that some degree of failure is inevitable for every person.

Part of Life

Failure is part of life as well as success, for a child as well as for an adult. Both young and old can learn from their mistakes if they are willing to do so. A child who accepts the fact that he cannot always be the winner in the game, that he will not always come first in his class, that he will not always succeed in what he attempts, will not be crushed by disappointments in later life.

It is important that a child should not be so discouraged by failure that he will not risk making a second attempt. A good parent can help his boy who has bungled the making of a plane model which is of too intricate a design, by showing him where he made his mistakes. Father can suggest a simpler plan and give him sufficient direction to succeed in his second venture.

Great Stimulus

A child needs encouragement in order to succeed in the formation of habits which are possible and desirable for him at his age. Praise is a great stimulus for successful effort. If provision is made for the basic needs of a child, he is likely to learn new ideas and acquire skills in developing a happy relationship with his playmates and older people.

Children go through various stages of development. Undesirable habits, such a biting nails, are outgrown in time by most children. It takes practice and patience for a little child to learn how to share possessions happily. An active child is not naturally concerned about cleanliness, and a mother who expects her son to keep his hands and clothes clean while he plays is doomed to disappointment.

Mother Too Eager

Sometimes a child does not experience success in simple endeavors because his mother is too eager to help him. Perhaps she is too impatient to let him do things slowly and often imperfectly himself. The too dominant or too efficient mother finds it hard to allow him to learn by trying one thing at a time, over and over again, until mastery is gained.

Strength flows from a father's or mother's faith in a child's ability to succeed. Every youngster has a gift for doing something. High marks in one subject at school make it easier to accept the extra effort which must be made to succeed in another.

It Is Strange

The English writer Phyllis Bottome once pointed out that there is nothing final about a mistake except its being taken as final; and another writer has remarked that the only persons who make no mistakes are dead persons. Is it not strange that parents, who have often tasted the bitter fruit of failure, make so few allowances for their children?

If a person can learn from a blunder, this knowledge lessens the misery over failing. Centuries ago Cicero said, "Any man may make a mistake but a fool will continue in it."

Even in the shadow of defeat, with a will to succeed, with the encouragement of family and friends, a worthwhile accomplishment can be made. Let us help our children face failure with courage and resolution and determine to do the best they can — which will be success for them.

SAYS SMILE WORKS BETTER THAN FORCE

Victoria (CP) — A kindly word and an encouraging smile work better than all the restrainers in the world, says a veteran of 26 years experience in women's police work.

Mrs. Mary Mackie, who recently retired from her job as police matron with the Victoria police force, says that most of the people she has come in contact with through her job responded to kindness.

The Scottish-born matron, who joined the Victoria force in 1936 on a part-time basis, says that she got into her line of work because a lot of her brothers and nephews had been in police work "and I had learned a lot from them."

If there is a single ingredient necessary to the job, says Mrs. Mackie, it is understanding. "You are taking care of girls and women from all classes — you can't forget that they are human and have a human need for kindness and understanding.

"If you use that approach, your work becomes easy, for a very few people in trouble can hold out against someone who takes a genuine interest in them."

If You're TIRED

Now and then everybody gets a "tired-out" feeling and may be bothered by backaches. Perhaps nothing seriously wrong, just a temporary condition caused by urinary irritation or bladder discomfort. That's the time to take Dodd's Kidney Pills. Dodd's help stimulate the kidneys to relieve this condition which may often cause backache and tired feeling. Then you feel better, rest better, work better. 81

Nothing tastes quite so good to winter-jaded appetites as does the first spring vegetable — asparagus. Here, the Consumer Section shows it served with their recipe for a creamy, rich Hollandaise Sauce. (See recipe below.)

Asparagus, springtime treat

There are over 7 million pounds of asparagus grown in Canada each spring and yet we never have enough of our first vegetable in its lovely fresh, green state. Half of the crop is bought up by processors for canning and freezing, and as the asparagus season lasts for a mere average of six weeks, the other half is often gone before we know it.

Asparagus grows very quickly, often as much as 8 to 10 inches a day and at the height of the season it must be cut every day to ensure its good quality. When you buy fresh-grown asparagus look for straight, bright green stalks with tightly closed heads and bunches of fairly uniform size. As asparagus does not keep its fresh quality for long, even when stored in the coolness of the refrigerator, it is best to buy only the amount that can be used up quickly — one and a half to two pounds will give 6 servings as a dinner vegetable.

To prepare asparagus for cooking, first break off the butt end as far down as it snaps easily. The butts may be saved for use in soups. Remove any loose scales on the stalks and wash gently and carefully with a soft brush to remove all sand. Leave the stalks whole or cut them in half.

As the tips of asparagus cook more quickly than the stalks it is a good idea to tie the asparagus into loose bundles and cook covered, tips up, in boiling salted water. A coffee pot is a handy utensil here — ¾ teaspoon of salt is enough for 1½ pounds of asparagus, and water to come only half way up the stalks is quite sufficient.

As the Consumer Section, Canada Department of Agriculture says, it is difficult to give the exact times for cooking fresh vegetables as much depends on variety, age, size, freshness and so on. Any number of minutes from 6 to 10 for small stalks, 7 to 11 for medium stalks and 8 to 12 for large stalks cooks fresh asparagus to the right degree of doneness. In any case, over cooking should be avoided so when a sharp knife can be easily inserted in the stalk, asparagus is done.

After asparagus is cooked there is nothing to enhance its flavor like butter — plain, seasoned or in a sauce.

Try It Plain —

Melt 3 or 4 tablespoons of butter and serve over 1½ pounds cooked drained asparagus.

Try It Seasoned —

(a) Melt 3 or 4 tablespoons of butter and blend in 2 teaspoons lemon juice; or ¾ teaspoon prepared mustard; or ½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce. Pour over 1½ pounds cooked, drained asparagus.

(b) Melt 3 or 4 tablespoons butter, add ¼ cup of cooking liquid and ¼ to ½ teaspoon of marjoram, oregano, paprika or rosemary. Simmer uncovered, for 5 minutes and serve over 1½ pounds of cooked, drained asparagus.

Try It in a Sauce —

Hollandaise Sauce. — Using a small bowl that will fit closely on a double boiler base, beat 3 egg yolks well. Very slowly add ½ cup melted butter, beating constantly. Beat in 1 tablespoon lemon juice. Place bowl over simmering water — don't let water boil. Stir constantly until thickened — 4 to 5 minutes. Serve over 1½ pounds cooked, drained asparagus. (Makes ¾ cup).

Specially Written for The Lachute Watchman

By Edna Blakely, Canadian Press Staff Writer

Is there a place for corporal punishment in a modern penal system?

The question is asked in the Canadian Journal of Corrections, and it brings from Penitentiaries Commissioner A. J. MacLeod the answer:

Yes, at the present stage of development in corrections in Canada.

But he added the time is fast approaching when there will be no place for corporal punishment in the Canadian penal system.

Commissioner MacLeod wrote that "our knowledge of the correctional science has not yet produced an alternative that is considered to be a satisfactory substitute by the majority of legislators, judges, prison administrators, or members of the public.

"Therefore, because no correctional system can be effective unless it has the understanding support of correctional administrators, and especially the public, the authority to impose corporal punishment upon offenders remains a necessity at this stage of our development."

Styles Differ

Vancouver residents are going to get Gilbert and Sullivan operettas done in two different styles this summer. Ontario's Stratford Festival Company, known for its fresh approach to Gilbert and Sullivan, will fly to Vancouver for four performances in August.

The D'Oyly Carte troupe, known for its traditional treatment of the operettas, will travel to Vancouver in September following appearances at the Seattle World's Fair.

The two companies played just a block away from each other during the last winter in London.

Soviet Salons

On both sides of the Iron Curtain women are interested in hair, facial and hand care.

A recent edition of Soviet Union Today, a glossy monthly magazine issued in Ottawa by the Soviet Embassy, was devoted to women's features and one article was about a hair and beauty salon in Moscow.

The story said women may go during their lunch-time or after office hours and that clients like to argue about whose hairdresser is best and which hair-do is most fashionable.

The prices quoted are lower than those in Canadian cities. A manicure is 38 cents, a haircut 40 cents, a set 60 cents.

Semyon Weisburd, a young stylist at the salon, says he has come to the conclusion that "not the hair, but the face should be dressed."

Ambitious Project

It's the time of year for annual meetings. One of the most ambitious seasons was reported in Montreal by La Ligue de la Jeunesse Feminine.

The Ligue gave 2,275 pairs of overshoes to underprivileged children in the Montreal area during the year. Altogether, members devoted 3,000 hours to volunteer work including assistance to the Red Cross and visits to blind persons.

EFFICIENT FEEDING AND LIVESTOCK MANAGEMENT

By Dr. Gustav Bohstedt
Emeritus Professor of Animal Husbandry
University of Wisconsin

Salt In Human And Livestock History

In our present-day life salt is easily obtainable and seemingly always within reach. It has not always been so.

History records that wars have been fought over salt. The ancients held salt sacred, and the rank of guests at medieval banquets was indicated by whether they were seated above or below the salt—in the days when salt was precious and only one heavy salt container was provided to the table.

Dr. Bohstedt

Centuries ago the governments controlled the production and prices of salt. In England salt producers closed down their plants in protest when heavy taxes were levied on salt, at one time as much as 30 Pounds Sterling per ton. The tax itself amounted to salt prohibition.

The result of the heavy taxes in England, and other countries, was salt smuggling and black marketing. In England it is said that 10,000 arrests and 300 sentences to the gallows per year were due to illegal traffic in salt.

According to European observers, salt taxes on one side of the Jura Mountains had the effect of stunting the growth of cattle as compared to thrifty cattle on the other side of the mountains where salt prices and production were not restricted.

As noted, these taxes and controls on salt are a thing of the past for us. Everyone can afford salt for himself, his family and his livestock. Salt is, however, as one writer put it, "cheap to use, costly to neglect."

In proof of that statement, all farm animals that have been deprived of salt in research studies have been living (or finally dying) testimony to health-and-life-saving properties of this mineral element.

So, in livestock feeding and management, let us use salt whether mixed in the feed, or fed free-choice, or both—as recommended by F. B. Morrison in his famous book on livestock feeding, FEEDS AND FEEDING.

Question: What is the milk fever remedy that depends on the feeding of a vitamin, and how is it given?

Answer: It is vitamin D as carried by irradiated yeast or by way of another concentrated form of this vitamin. The Ohio Experiment Station after much experimentation recommends a daily dosage of 20 million units of vitamin D per day, half in the morning and half in the evening, for three to seven days before calving. If the cow calved before seven days of vitamin D feeding was completed, one feeding was given after calving. In no case should vitamin D in these amounts be fed longer than seven days.

"Exile from Sunnyacres"

By Margaret Cook

As we have remarked here before, nothing makes time go faster than routine. The obverse of this nugget of wisdom is that unrelated and unwanted events slow down the wheel of time. Both are true. As I sit, tap-tapping (or should I say, peck-pecking?) it seems a long time since I began one of these articles. Actually, we are only a week late. We are just back from a week in Boston, and we feel we have been gone a month — not homesickness, mind you, just the peculiar result of a change of pace. . . . The pace will have to be smarter, for we are behind in many duties, including that of writing the Sunnyacres article.

For those who have not recently been in Boston, we are happy to report that it is now almost impossible to miss one's way on entering the city, or on leaving. We have one friend who says that some years ago, in an effort to travel a road that on the map encircled the city, she found herself entering and re-entering a tunnel. This nightmarish situation continued for some laps, until she extricated herself. She did not tell me how this was accomplished, but I bet it was one of those big, ruddy Irish policemen who came to her rescue. . . . Note I said, almost impossible; we are married to a man whom Kipling obviously did not know when he wrote his famous dictum about East being East, and West being West, for in the mind of the head of the house, East is often West, and vice-versa. Moreover, he seems ignorant of the fact that the sun habitually rises in the east, and progresses in an orderly fashion toward the west. I am cognizant of these facts of life, and generally do the navigating, but do I relax for an hour, and we may find ourselves anywhere. Anywhere, that is, except the place for which we are looking. We got lost on Easter Sunday coming from Gloucester to Boston, a distance of about fifty miles. But we all have our crosses, and mine is a radarless husband.

On our way down, we stopped on top of one of those Vermont hills not far from Middlebury to drink tea from the thermos. There was a stone monument bearing an inscription to the effect that one Caleb Houghton had been killed by Indians a half mile south of the monument. Caleb was born in 1760, and was killed in 1780. In 1883 his remains had been moved to the present resting place. What a story! So simple, yet undoubtedly covering a multitude of events. We could see our gay, and probably foolhardy Caleb passing jauntily through the woods, after scoffing at the fears of friends. Could the blankety-blank savages scare a strong, young pioneer? Of course they could not, but they could scalp him! . . . Then — the hundred years — and the disinterring. What could prompt such an action? The date 1883 has no particular significance in history. The pioneers had become Yankees, the Civil War was over; why in 1883 did they move poor Caleb, who could hardly have been more than a clutch of bones? We should love to know this story, but we had no time for research, so continued our way over the rolling hills of Vermont to a very comfortable inn at Chester.

Speaking of inns (and we feel we often do) one could write a whole monograph on the subject. One could get an attractive title — "Inns I Have Known", "Once Inn, Always Out", "The Inn of the Sucker", etc. — and write soulfully of their various attractions, or distractions. For years, we have headed for an hotel near Boston Common, where we had kind service, comfort, and reasonable prices. A few years ago, it was bought by a famous Hotel Chain, and lo, the owner installed air-conditioning, cancelled the morning paper which used to be delivered at one's door, raised the prices about 85%, and evidently instructed the maids not to dust the rooms. The air-conditioning made such a row that no one could sleep. The head of the house, smarting from the exorbitant rate we were paying, forced the engineer to readjust the fan so that the apparatus no longer roared, but merely muttered. By placing a blanket over the outlet at night, and opening the window, we were quite comfortable. Of course, we thoughtfully removed the blanket on arising, and closed the window, placing the control to Cool. Afterwards we passed, with smug satisfaction, the various guests waylaying the housekeeper and maids in the corridor to kick about the air-conditioning. Of course, there are Motels, but they are a different breed, and of their kind, we are forced to admit, generally satisfactory.

We made our Easter Communion in Boston Cathedral on Tremont Street. This church was built in 1820, and is grey with age and dirt on the outside. Inside, it is interesting, and we have often gone there of an Easter Sunday. This year, we met a gracious woman as we turned away from having signed the Visitors' Book. We supposed she was a parishioner who was being pleasant to a stranger, but no, the lady was from Newfoundland! So there we were, just a couple of Canucks in the city of baked beans and codfish. She was quite insistent that we have breakfast with her and her husband at her hotel, about two blocks from ours, but we declined. Subsequently, at the restaurant where we did breakfast, we spied a family which we had noticed in church. They, too, were tourists staying at the same hotel as we. Later, as we lunched at Gloucester, we saw them walking on the wharf. Boston must have been full of tourists.

I'll spare you the rest. We had a pleasant Easter, and hope you did, also. Easter is the glad time of the year. The story of the Resurrection is echoed in Nature. Our daffodils are discernibly yellow, although not yet out. (By the way, the magnolias were magnificent in Boston.) We have crocuses and cyllia in the garden, as no doubt you have. Peter, the cat, now sits for hours at the top of the rock garden, scanning the gardens on either side for gray squirrels, birds, dogs, and other cats. He says he cannot get enough of being out. He is in good humor, even submitting to paw-wiping when he comes in. The little French children on one side, who were firmly taken indoors last November, have emerged looking pale and wan, but triumphant. We like French neighbors for that reason. For six months of the year, the children are invisible.

Our own child is about due home, and, with attendant flurry of lunch in the offing, we had better get with it. The next time we write, it will be from Sunnyacres — we hope.

Overseas tour for Canadian cattle fanciers

A special all-inclusive fare of $775 minimum is being offered to Canadian cattlemen for 32 eventful days in Scotland and England. Sailing from Montreal on June 8, the party will return on the New Empress of Canada on July 10 — a wonderfully inexpensive and educational trip.

This tour offers an opportunity for first-hand study of livestock farming in Scotland and England, . . . to see the finest of herds, the infinite variety of British agriculture, the trend of future progress.

Farms, research institutes and other establishments have been carefully selected in co-operation with Livestock and Agricultural Associations in Great Britain. Shorthorns, Herefords, Aberdeen Angus, and Galloways will be among the greats to be seen. Two eventful days will be spent at the Royal Highland Show near Edinburgh, the "shop window" of Scottish agriculture for 138 years. Here the aristocrats of livestock will parade on their home ground.

And in between? Motor tours through the scenic charms of rural Britain . . . lakes, rivers, castles, cathedrals and Roman ruins . . . quaint villages and historic cities . . . Edinburgh, Chester, Hereford, Canterbury, London. Free days, too, for unplanned pleasures.

For more information on this great opportunity, see Giles Travel Agency, or phone LO 2-2494.

New program could boost farm output

Ottawa (CP) — Federal and provincial government officials now are working out detailed agreements designed to produce action on a broad ambitious blueprint for rural development across Canada.

The Agricultural Rehabilitation and Development Act (ARDA) was approved by Parliament last May, opening the way for an injection of money and ideas into tentative proposals to make Canada's countryside more productive.

Depending on how much money and how many experts federal provincial governments are willing to put into the program, ARDA could mean:

1. Putting marginal farmland to work in more productive ways.
2. Opening up new employment and income opportunities in traditional farm areas.
3. Development and conservation of the country's soil and water resources.

Policy into Action

The language of the act is more a policy statement than a plan of action. But details of the program will be mapped out in agreements with the provinces now being drafted. There are hopes actual ARDA projects may be underway this summer.

Among scores of suggestions made in talks with federal officials, a common proposal is to convert marginal western farmland to grass for beef cattle.

Pilot projects may include sociological studies of low-income farm communities with an eye to retaining the farmers for secondary industries and using their land to meet growing demands for woodlots, game and fish production or recreation facilities.

Proposed conservation projects range from boosting unproductive areas by building small dams for irrigation to tapping the resources of whole river basins.

The long-term objective, says ARDA Director A. T. Davidson, is fruitful planning of land use over 20 years following two decades of upheaval in the farm community.

Lachute girl wins speaking honors in Quebec-Ontario finals, Noranda

Returning from Noranda, Que., with her sponsors after a triumphant performance in the Lions Club oratory contest finals for Ontario - Quebec — a young Lachute girl, Denise Belanger, who won the laurels amid keen competition in the French-speaking girls' section, was feted at a surprise party at the Golf Club chalet on Sunday evening.

With her parents, Mr. and Mrs. René Belanger, and her escorts, Dr. and Mrs. Eric Mongeon, Denise came from her trip direct to the Golf Club, and the informal reception was a complete surprise. Around 40 persons were there to greet her, including a representative gathering of Lions; her coach and mentor, the Rev. Sister Agnes; and the Superior of her school, Ste. Alexandre Convent, the Rev. Sister Damien Bernard.

On behalf of President Ernest Emmett who was unavoidably absent, Vice-president Royal Carrière congratulated Denise, remarking on her fresh, serene appearance after the long trip.

Mrs. Mongeon, who had been one of the party, tendered a bouquet of roses to the winner, of whom the community was justly proud.

Ex-president Roger Regimbal congratulated the young girl's teachers, especially Sister Agnes, to whom he tendered a corsage, while Mme Royal Carrière presented a corsage to the girl's mother, Mme Belanger.

Sister Damien Bernard, speaking in both French and English, drew warm applause as she congratulated her young charge, and heartily thanked and commended the Lions Club for their initiative. Also, on behalf of a handful of fellow students present in the welcoming party, Ginette Dumais, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. R. A. Dumais, expressed their pride and pleasure in the young orator's success.

Dr. Eric Mongeon, club committeeman on this public speaking project, told how Denise Belanger had won in the local contests here at the Auditorium, then in the district eliminations at St. Lambert, and finally in the Quebec-Ontario showdown. She had spoken on a chosen topic ("Beauté, ce cher souci") and then, after 15 minutes' preparation, on an impromptu subject handed out by the judges. She excelled among the three competitors in the French-speaking girls' class.

Still poised and composed after her long experience and these unexpected celebrations, Denise measured up to the occasion and graciously thanked the Lions, her teachers, supporters and escorts on this challenging adventure.

Kenneth Riley contender as Independent

Born in Montreal, Ken Riley has resided here since 1954. He is 36 years of age, married and has a family of four children. He is a chartered insurance agent.

Among his community roles, he serves as secretary-manager of the Argenteuil Agricultural Society and Lachute Spring Fair, is a member of St. Jerusalem Parish Council, and of the Rotary Club.

A veteran of World War II, he is an active member in the Legion, and a past-secretary and vice-president of Branch 70. He is also a former vice-president of the Home and School, and is chairman of the 1962 Red Cross blood donor clinic.

Clean-up Week May 13-19 for looks, safety

The police department made 30 arrests and conducted 39 investigations during April — according to the monthly report submitted to Town Council. The investigations included thefts, accidents, inquiries for Social Service, missing persons, and a drowning. There were 337 phone calls to the police office, and 22 fire calls received at headquarters.

Revenues of the department in April were $1,475, including $1,309.35 in fines for traffic violations.

Ald. Linton Armstrong presented the report, as prepared by Chief J. L. Hebert.

Fire Department

Chief Don MacCulloch reported 23 calls answered by the fire brigade — 10 in Lachute, six in St. Jerusalem, six in Ayersville, and one in Whisselltown.

Council authorized the purchase of two more dress uniforms for brigade members.

Clean-Up Week

The week of May 13-19 has been proclaimed Clean-Up Week, and residents are asked to tidy their properties, basements and sheds — not only for the sake of appearance, but also to eliminate fire hazards caused by accumulated rubbish.

Vincent Drouin, St. Eustache lawyer, named candidate for Liberal party

Vincent Drouin, a young lawyer of St. Eustache, was the choice of the Liberal convention to be standard-bearer for the party in the Argenteuil - Deux Montagnes contest. He was elected by a one-vote majority of the delegates over Antoine Paré, of St. Andrews East, at the convention in St. Eustache last Saturday afternoon.

The contenders, in order of their elimination, were Réal Lécuyer, of St. Eustache-sur-le-Lac; Bernard Gosselin, of Lachute; Antoine Paré, of St. Andrews; and Mr. Drouin. A law student from St. Placide, Jacques Barbeau, also entered his candidate but withdrew before the voting commenced.

On the platform were representatives of the Liberal Federation and other well known political figures — Pothier Ferland, former Independent candidate for Longueuil, and Guy Rouleau, deputy for Montreal-Dollard; Kenneth MacKay, a vice-president of the Federation, and Yvon Dupuis, deputy for St. Jean-Iberville-Napierreville.

Three rounds of balloting were required to reach a decision for Mr. Drouin. Mr. Lécuyer was first eliminated, then Mr. Gosselin, who urged his followers to support Mr. Drouin, remaining in the contest with Antoine Paré. The latter was then eliminated in a 160-159 ballot — with one vote, apparently favoring Mr. Drouin, declared invalid by the scrutineers.

There were 328 delegates eligible and present from the two counties in the constituency, and the final poll numbered 320 votes. Senator Lefrançois presided, and over 600 persons packed the meeting, which was held in the Rolodrome on Highway No. 8 near St. Eustache.

O. Desjardins asked to stand for Social Credit

J. - Orphir Desjardins, a well-known citizen and previous political aspirant, has been invited by his friends to stand as Social Credit nominee in the coming federal election, for the Argenteuil - Deux Montagnes constituency.

Mr. Desjardins informed this newspaper he had been urged by party followers to enter his candidature, but he had not thus far agreed (as at Monday of this week). He required the formality of a convention and the assurance he would have active support from leaders in this political group, notably Robt. N. Thompson and Réal Caouette.

Mr. Desjardins has been ardent in the Social Credit movement for many years, and is one of the leading local partisans.

Three-year term for fracas at Bourbonnière

Paul-Emile Allard, a recidivist enamored of crime, received a three-year prison sentence in court at St. Jerome, on pleading guilty to three charges arising out of an incident at Bourbonnière's Camp settlement on April 11. The charges were attempted robbery with violence, detaining three persons as hostages, and theft from the person of one of these hostages.

It was on the highway near Bourbonnière's, east of Lachute, that Allard manhandled a taxi driver in whose cab he was a passenger. When a passerby intervened, he took flight in the neighboring bush, attempted to break into a home, succeeded in entering a second house, and there, held three persons as hostages. He took a watch from a youth, stole clothing, other articles and a sum of money.

Creditable show at annual inspection of Army Cadets

A good attendance of relatives and townspeople witnessed the annual inspection of the Highland Cadet Batallion, "D" Company, at the Artillery armories on Robert Street last Wednesday evening, and were impressed by the well disciplined group of 30-odd youths who form this company.

The inspecting officers were Maj.-Gen. F. R. Phelan, C.B., D.S.O., M.C., V.D. of St. Andrews East, and Lt.-Col. T. A. McLean, C.D., who is officer in command of the sponsoring Unit, the 37th Field Regiment. Maj.-Gen. Phelan displayed a fatherly interest in the youths as he inspected their ranks, and Lt.-Col. McLean complimented them as he later handed out promotions and merit awards.

Capt. W. E. Butterfield, Chief Instructor, welcomed the gathering and spoke with some pride on the boys' progress in training. Increasing in numbers from only 12 last year, to their present strength of over 30, he hoped that by next year they might reach 65, the permissible quota for a Cadet company.

The parade was martialled in an efficient manner by Sgt. R. Morrin, a rifle drill was commanded by his brother, Sgt. G. Morrin, and a foot drill by Sgt. E. Pearson — all performed with fine precision which was a credit to their instructors, Capt. W. E. Butterfield, Capt. R. W. Haydon and Mr. R. Massy.

In addition there were formal demonstrations of Morse transmission and receiving, and of first aid, also less-formal displays of map reading and training equipment. During this latter period of the program, coffee and refreshments were served from the canteen.

Present among the spectators were W. M. Cottingham, M.P.P., and Mrs. Cottingham; Mrs. F. R. Phelan accompanying her husband; Flt.-Lt. P.-E. Barbeau of the Ayersville Air Cadet Squadron, and other prominent citizens.

Capt. Butterfield announced a drill competition between the Army Cadets and the Air Force Cadets to be held May 26 at the Ayers airstrip.

Swallowed object, taken to hospital

(Our District Correspondent)

Ogdensburg — Miss Heather Heatlie returned home from the Children's Hospital, Montreal, on Sunday. Heather had been taken to hospital on Thursday after swallowing a small spring off her pencil at school.

Progress on filtration plant; test mains for added pressure

Reporting for the firm of engineers (Lorraine, Tourigny et al.) engaged for the filtration plant construction, Paul Laliberté told town councillors last Wednesday that the cement-pouring would be completed during the week; the electrical installations are on schedule; the dam is completed; and the contractors had commenced laying the intake pipes.

Machinery from Francis Hankin was in course of installation, and work on the plant itself would be completed within the next two weeks.

Council authorized a payment of $79,442 to the engineers, for work from March 30 to date, and a sum of $4,569.92 for professional fees and supervision.

It was planned to proceed immediately with the testing of watermains and service lines, by increasing the water pressure to reveal possible leaks in any quarters. This testing will be done in sectors, the pressure being raised by pumping.

It is generally conceded that the new system and filtration should be operating by June 15.

New hospital is urgent for routine cases, emergencies

Two articles with an editorial slant on the pressing need for completion of the Argenteuil Hospital, have drawn warm commendation from many readers of The Watchman and L'Argenteuil. Following is a preview of what this County is waiting for, the new hospital — on information gathered by Fernand Berthiaume, who in this week's "L'Argenteuil" urges all right-thinking residents to exert their efforts and their influence for completion of the project.

The Argenteuil Hospital — when it emerges from the "white elephant" stage to a role of public usefulness — will replace the present Providence Hospital with a modern institution serving 28,000 people in 10 or a dozen municipalities.

The hospital, with 60 beds and a nursery, should provide adequate space to handle sickness and emergency needs. Plans provide for expansion when necessary, and the space is assigned proportionately to patients, services, administration, therapy rooms, operation and confinement rooms, X-ray and laboratory departments, a chapel and quarters for the resident Sisters. There will be modern facilities for the skill of present and future medical staffs, and necessities for the best obstetrical care.

Attendant sugeons will find in this new hospital the requirements to enable the practice of modern techniques in a larger scope of operations. Medical patients needing meticulous care and treatment will receive the attention prescribed. In accident

Annual graduation night a colorful scene at L.H.S.

The usual colorful ceremonies were witnessed at the Lachute High School graduation exercises, last Friday evening in the school auditorium. A good attendance of parents, relatives and well-wishing friends shared the pleasure of the occasion with the 37 graduating boys and girls of Grade XI '62. The hall was attractively decorated in blue and white streamers in a "Blue Moon" theme.

Speeches were brief, interspersing the traditional phases of the program presented by the graduates themselves. M.C. for the proceedings was Gary Cruise, who gave the address of welcome. The introduction and biographical backgrounds were given by Carolyn Binda and Eric Cheslock in the "class history". The "last will and testament" was given by Helen Laurin and Wendell Hyde, the "class prophecy" by Linda Jones and Pierre Seveno, and the valedictory by Carol Scott. . . . Speaking of the future, Carol said: "Through the efforts of the youth of our nation, we hope to establish a free world where people will live together in peace and harmony. When each of us has done his best to contribute to this goal, then we shall have reached the summit of our hopes."

On behalf of the school teaching staff, Principal Fred Royal wished success to the graduates, both in their final examinations and in their future careers.

Commissioner Richd. MacLean spoke on behalf of the school board, appreciating the work of the teaching staff and wishing good luck to the graduating class.

With the formal proceedings concluded, the graduates, their escorts and partners performed the colorful Grand March, and dancing was then enjoyed by the large throng to the music of Jas. Cannon's orchestra.

Social intermingling was also enjoyed by the adult gathering over refreshments served by the girls of Grade IX in the school cafeteria.

Safe-crackers aged 15 and 16 face court charges

Two juveniles aged 15 and 16 years, one from Lachute and the other of St. Janvier, were nipped in an embryo career of crime when arrested Monday morning by the police of Ville St. Pierre, after a series of entries and robberies at Lachute and in Montreal.

Their first escapade was breaking into the Marcelle Beauty Salon on Paquin Ave. and carrying off the cash register containing about $6. This occurred on the night of May 2. The following morning Chief J. L. Hebert found the register hidden in a pile of sawdust about 500 feet away.

The pair also allegedly broke into the Bolodrome on Main Street and forced open the safe, which they robbed of a sum around $125.

The third exploit of this young pair was at Ville St. Pierre, where they entered a bowling establishment on Sunday and, while attempting to open the safe, set fire to the premises with their torches. They were caught by the Ville St. Pierre police and on Monday morning, Chief Hebert, with Provincial Police officers Jeanri and Legaré, went to Montreal to question the boys. They will be charged in Social Welfare court at St. Jerome.

Lachute district Cancer drive underway

The Canadian Cancer Society is currently holding its annual appeal for funds in this vicinity. Seen putting the final touches to campaign plans are (left to right) Gerry Quinn, Brownsburg; Roger E. Regimbal, general chairman; and Jas. McOuat, responsible for outlying districts. . . . Horton Clark will head the drive for St. Andrews East, and Dr. Eric Mongeon will act as chairman of the Lachute "blitz", to be held next Monday, May 14.

Correspondence, reports, requests presented at meeting of Council

At the regular Town Council meeting last week, a vote of sympathy was extended to the Laurin family in the death of Cst. André-Jean Laurin, the victim of a recent car accident.

On behalf of the Prêt d'Honneur, a fund to aid higher tuition of students in the St. Jerome Diocese, Edouard Lajoie asked the Council for a $100 contribution. The request was held for study.

Assorted Correspondence

A request was received from the Chamber of Commerce to be represented with the committee studying a business tax schedule. On behalf of the Chamber, Gabriel Valois handed in a brief prepared by that body. Ald. Réal Urbain, Germain Filion (financial advisor) and Mme Yvette Raymond (secretary) were asked to study the suggestions and report to Council.

A report from the Department of Health after analysing water samples indicated that, although unpalatable - looking, the supply was drinkable and presented no risk for human consumption.

A letter from the Department of Municipal Affairs advised that a sales tax inspector would be in Lachute this week. A schedule of this tax has been sent to neighboring municipalities.

Use of the civic auditorium was granted to the Rev. C. W. Sorley, of People's Church, for May 21. . . . A similar request from St. John Ambulance, however, was denied; the request was for a course on artificial respiration, from May 14 to 19 — but it appeared the hall had already been rented for an IGA store demonstration from May 14 to 18.

A claim from Mrs. Annie Burke for damage to fence and fence posts on her property by snow-removal machinery, was turned over to the foreman, Mr. Larocque, for enquiry.

On recommendation of the Department of Municipal Affairs, it was agreed that Lachute should subscribe $25 a year for sustaining-membership in the Canadian Association of Planning, Western Quebec section.

An offer from the City of Cote St. Luc for the sale of sewage purification apparatus, was filed for future reference.

Ald. Linton Armstrong was reappointed pro-mayor for the ensuing three months, and bills amounting to $17,834.12 were approved for payment.

Riverside interests get organized — petition to remedy spring flooding

A number of business men and residents who have suffered from spring flooding of the North River each year, petitioned Town Council at its meeting last week to take remedial measures to avert further loss and damage.

One of the causes, according to this petition, is the shallow depth of the river between the C.P.R. bridge and the confluence of the West River; but a more detailed study would doubtless reveal other causes for flooding.

The Council took the request under consideration, and the secretary was asked to communicate with the provincial engineers for further inquiry and recommendations.

"For a number of years (the petition stated), residents, business firms and manufacturers along the North River have sustained considerable damage due to spring flooding. It is no exaggeration to say that over 100 families are similarly affected each year."

A year or two ago, engineers of Price Brothers came to examine the Wilson dam, and reported that the high water each spring was not caused by this dam. Attention is now focussed on the riverbed, whether it is deep enough in spots to permit the free flow of water from the spring freshets over a large territory upstream.

Company requests no election posters on power poles

A letter from Gatineau Power Company head office has gone forward to prospective candidates in the coming election, asking that they refrain from attaching campaign posters to poles of the company in this territory. Reason for this request is "to preserve the good appearance of the streets and roads, and to protect power-line workers from injury". The letter is signed by the division manager.

Gatineau Power brought a similar request to municipalities in the area some time ago, asking the authorities to pass by-laws prohibiting the practice. Certain municipalities adopted such measures, but some others did not act upon the request. It remains to be seen if candidates will cooperate and dispense with this means of publicizing their portraits and their electoral merits.

Week's Epigram

Today's problems cannot be solved with yesterday's thinking if you expect to to be in business tomorrow.

B'burg man is sales manager in Du Pont Co'y

Donald J. Reid has been named sales manager of the Du Pont of Canada finishes department — according to a release from the company's public relations department. . . . A native of Brownsburg, Mr. Reid is the son of Mrs. Jas. Reid and the late Mr. Reid. He was educated at Brownsburg and at Lachute High School.

Prior to joining Du Pont in 1955, Don Reid had gained extensive experience in the field of high-durable finishes. He has served in various sales capacities at Ottawa, Montreal and Toronto. His new headquarters will be at Ajax, Ont., where Du Pont finishes are manufactured.

Mr. Reid is a member of the Canadian Automotive Wholesalers and Manufacturers Assn., and is chairman of its Ontario research committee.

M. J. Nadeau, a B.Sc. Windsor graduate of 1937, has been promoted sales supervisor in the same department.

A column for the sportsman

— By BOB ATCHISON —

Once more, a lot of hot air from higher up — about the new fishing areas to be opened in this province. . . . Talking before the Canadian Fisheries Council, the Quebec Premier stated that egotistical squandering of our resources must be stopped. This is all going to be done by better training of our wardens and so forth, cooperation of the public and everyone else interested in this work. . . .

You know if TALK could get things done, then this province would be the richest and most progressive in the whole of Canada. Unfortunately this is not the case, so we end up the most backward in everything. While on this subject, the Premier also stated that private clubs were going to be a thing of the past. Just how many times this has been promised, is uncountable. I wonder just how long these choice morsels will be handed to the public. My guess is that the next provincial elections will produce these same glowing prospects, and more of the same.

Restraint must be exercised in writing a column, but this is sure one time I would like to say just what I mean!

Not only the Premier, but take this latest remark by Dr. Labrie, the Deputy Minister of Game and Fisheries. This tops them all, I believe. . . . "Too many restrictions breed law-breaking," he says. It takes real genius to come up with a remark like that.

This was stated at another meeting, discussing the control of poaching, and promoting better behaviour in our sportsmen. The supposed regulations on lone and commercial poachers in this province are a help instead of a hindrance. I suppose the Doctor would remove all laws regarding the setting of nets, snaring, dynamiting, etc., to make it easier for the would-be culprit.

This talk was given at Sherbrooke recently, and anyone reading the text can only grimly wonder what is going to happen to the wildlife resources of this province in the future.

Out fishing a couple of times for trout, with no results. However, the perch have started to hit. In Lac Emily they have been very cooperative, and they make good eating. (Anyone going down there, take care not to walk too close to the edge — very soft and treacherous, also very wet. I know!) Trout have not been biting as yet, and that can be expected, with the high waters. I heard of only a couple that were worth taking. The streams are unfit for fishing at all, and with some lakes still covered with ice, not much can be expected for awhile. The same applies to the North River — the level high and the temperature cold — so it will be some time yet before the big ones start hitting.

Great concentrations of ducks, every type, can be seen afloat on the flooded fields bordering the North River. I saw four Wood ducks right beside the old Black Bridge, and almost 100 Blacks and Mallards in another field. Of course, they are getting the very best of feed right now, so they will remain for some time yet. Blue herons are once more wading the fields, and this is really funny in the high water. They look like a clump of brush that has floated down, and it's not until they take off that you realize what they are.

We still have the one otter beside us; maybe the mother is confined for her blessed event. This could be, too, as the one still visible is sure gathering up eatables. I have gone over twice now with some bacon squares, and believe me, they don't last long.

Black squirrels are also aplenty. In the bush they can be seen all over the place. Chipmunks have also gathered in numbers and there are plenty of these around. We have one that has decided to make his summer home in our attic. . . . Another breed with the same idea was — starlings! But not for long, I assure you; they sure are dirty critters.

It looks as though the battle against the Lamprey eel is about over, in the Province of Ontario. Millions of dollars has been spent on this project, and I'm sure the authorities are happy to see results for the money spent. The province has released more than 2-million lake trout in Lake Superior alone since 1958. That is what can be called "stocking". (One province in particular could take a lesson from this.)

Nearly all the birds are back with us; in almost every field they can be seen by the hundreds. I was told of some Scarlet Tanagers being sighted. If they were Scarlets, they have met up with some cold surroundings this past week. There are wrens around home just at present, and these are good for a laugh. They are a pretty bird, too. I must tell you about this. I have been collecting worms at night for the fishermen, and have them in a big washtub. Edith saw this and got a kick out of it — a robin was perched right on the side, and made a great meal for himself without much trouble. I guess I'm short at least three worms. I don't mind the one bird living off the fat of the land, but if he should bring all his relatives too, I'll have to step in!

A couple of tips for the angler. If your reels are treated with respect, they will give no trouble. A little oil and grease won't hurt them once in awhile. Care should also be given your rods. A wipe-over with a dry cloth after you have used them, will pay dividends. Try it.

A number of fishermen have been coming up to try their hands at fly casting. Some of them are very good, and are CONVERTED (maybe). Any reader who wants to give it a whirl, will be welcome. I have all kinds of rods for you to use, and I think you will have a little fun. The only cost will be — your time.

Brownsburg Minor Hockey League banquet and trophy presentations

(Our District Correspondent)

The Brownsburg Minor Hockey League closed out its season on May 2 with a father-and-son banquet held at the Brownsburg Legion Hall. Some 200 players and fathers attended the dinner, served by mothers of some of the boys and members of the Legion Auxiliary.

Leon Tessier, acting as master of ceremonies, introduced Bill Dimock and André Pilon, who reviewed the year's activities, then proceeded to the highlight of the evening — the presentation of trophies to the captains of the winning teams and to individual stars. Presentations were as follows:

The Brownsburg Social and Athletic Club trophy, presented by Kenny Stewart to Jean-Pierre Comeau, captain of the Maple Leafs in the Mosquito League.

The Brownsburg Minor Hockey League trophy, presented by Bill Dimock to Noel Robillard, captain of the Maple Leafs in the Pee-Wee League.

The Royal Canadian Legion Branch 71 trophy, presented by Russ Summers to Gary Taylor, captain of the Maple Leafs in the Bantam League.

The Union trophy, presented by Armand Guay to Gerard Bourgeois, captain of the winning Brownsburg "B" team in the Midget League.

Harold Barber presented Most Valuable Player awards to the following players on behalf of the Community Rink:

Mosquito — Raymond Perrier.
Pee-Wee — Richard Joly.
Bantam — Wayne Seary.
Midget — Maurice Mailhot.

Great credit is due to Bill Dimock, Bernie Golphin, Gerald Ouellette, Ronald Cousineau and André Pilon for their efforts in making the season the success it proved to be.

'Save A Life' classes next week to instruct artificial respiration

St. John Ambulance hopes to train 150,000 Canadians in artificial respiration during "Save a Life" Week, May 14 to 19.

Free two-hour classes of instruction will be given in Lachute; the classes will be given in both French and English at Knights of Columbus Hall, from 7 p.m. to 11 p.m.

"With the summer swimming and boating season approaching, we need more people who know what to do when someone is pulled from the water after an accident", said A. J. Whiteway and R. Guimond, instructors for St. John Ambulance here. Every year there are more than 1,200 drownings in Canada, they stated, and some of these lives could be saved if rescuers knew how to apply artificial respiration. It's too late to learn how to revive the victim after the accident happens.

This will be the ninth consecutive year for "Save a Life" Week. The idea has proved so popular that it has been copied in Great Britain and other countries of the Commonwealth.

Those who would like to take the instruction during "Save a Life" Week are asked to register in advance by calling the two instructors, at LO 2-2912 or LO 2-5308. Special classes can also be arranged for industries.

Luck brings her $500

Once more, last Friday evening, the Hawkesbury Merchants' Association made another person $500 richer. At the fourth weekly drawing of the Association, held at the town hall, Lady Luck favored Mrs. Albert Gauthier of St. Bernardin, who becomes the fourth winner of a $500 cheque. Mrs. Gauthier obtained her ticket at the Hawkesbury I.G.A. Store.

Although the Association's contest ended last Saturday night, the last drawing, the one for which tickets were issued from April 30 to May 5, will be held May 11 in the Hawkesbury Town Hall.

Geese fly over northbound in stupendous flocks

Our wildlife columnist Bob Atchison, obviously elated, brought in a postscript to his "Argenteuil Outdoors" feature. Due to its timely interest on the local scene, The Watchman gives this item top-of-page prominence. Mr. Atchison reports as follows:

"One of the greatest experiences in many a year occurred on the evening of May 3. Starting about 9 p.m., geese could be heard passing over the district, but not until 11 p.m. did the flights pass over in earnest. Not being able to see the birds, their sounds were the only guide as to their numbers. One flock going over could be heard almost steadily for 14 minutes. Having heard big flocks on the Main Duck Island sanctuary, it is my estimate that this one flock numbered at least 5,000 geese. I know they were heard by numerous citizens in town. I received phone calls indicating that more and more interest is being shown in all types of wildlife.

"Today (Friday) a couple of strays may be seen in high water that is covering the fields, and a few stragglers are resting right near the Jones Development east of town. . . . That was truly a 'symphony of wonderful sounds'."

Lawn maintenance is Rotary topic

At the May 3 meeting of the Brownsburg-Lachute Rotary Club, President Art Lapp presented Linton Armstrong with his 13-year perfect attendance pin — which is the best record in this club, and one to be proud of.

Guest speaker for the evening was Mike Tustian, general sales manager of May & Bakers Ltd., manufacturers of insecticides and chemical weed controls. The topic was a timely one, "Maintenance of Lawns", describing the various types of weeds and grasses, and the specific chemicals best suited for certain weeds but at the same time harmless to even the finest grasses.

The speaker then showed slides of some lawns and golf courses covered with "snow molds", which are the light - colored blotches on the lawns after the snow has gone; he described how to treat these with chemicals. In one slide of a green on a golf course, the green looked like a sand trap but was actually completely covered by these molds. The next slide showed the same green after a couple of months' treatment, and it looked like a green, velvet carpet.

The speech was very appropriately timed and most interesting.

New hospital is urgent for routine cases, emergencies

cases also, this will be an adequate centre, rather than just a "stopping place" till victims, after receiving first aid, are "shipped" to larger hospitals. For the worried victims of disease and sickness, this will be a haven of quietude and proper care; for children in need of hospitalization, a sanctuary near their home and relatives.

It is also foreseen that in future, as the needs and demands are felt, it may be possible to specialize here in non-routine treatments.

— This, in short, is what is expected by the population who have subscribed to an objective — a hospital to fill the needs of this district for years to come.

Lachute has been served for the past 18 years by a small-scale hospital, long since outgrown. Fortunately we have practitioners of potential skill and knowledge far superior to the facilities available. The need is urgent; the doctors are ready to serve.

This, finally, is no field for politics. The Quebec Department of Health must accept and pursue its role, as a public service not as a partisan machine. There is a principle of responsible government here at stake, which can tolerate no semblance of political interference.

On the Brownsburg Road stands the skeleton of a $1,300,000 investment. We now need LIFE in that project — the materialization of long planning and study, of arduous effort and of financial contributions. . . . May the labors of the past two years bear fruit — without further delay and disappointment.

Lachute student to Rotary 'Adventure in Citizenship'

This month some 200 selected young Canadians will travel to Ottawa as guests of various Rotary Clubs to participate in the Rotary Club of Ottawa's 12th annual "Adventure in Citizenship". This event provides a unique opportunity for students of secondary schools throughout Canada to witness Canadian democracy in action, to meet leading figures of government and public service and to hear prominent people speak on the privileges and responsibilities of Canadian citizenship.

The "Adventure in Citizenship" has been a rewarding experience not only for the students but for the sponsoring clubs and the host club as well. Above all, it has brought young Canadians together from coast to coast, and thus has contributed much to better understanding and goodwill.

As in past years, the Brownsburg - Lachute Rotary Club is participating in this project and has elected to sponsor Pierre Laurin, from l'Ecole Supérieure in Lachute.

Upon arriving in Ottawa the students will be met by members of the Ottawa club and billeted to the greatest possible extent in the homes of Rotarians.

The program, which lasts for four days commencing May 14, consists of a visit to the House of Commons while in session, and other places such as Government House, the Supreme Court, the National Research Council, the Royal Mint, and the R.C.M.P. Training Centre. A certificate of Canadian Citizenship will be presented to each eligible student and addresses by prominent Canadian speakers will be heard. There will also be a series of daily group discussions (20 students to a group) led by selected University professors, and motor trips to places of interest in or near Ottawa.

Former manager at Brownsburg dies in Montreal

Montreal — Charles H. Jackson, from 1933 to 1938 production manager at the Brownsburg plant of C-I-L and later manager of the company's ammunition division in Montreal, died at his home in Montreal on May 4. He was 61 years old.

Born and educated in Toronto, he graduated with honors in civil engineering from the University of Toronto and served for 18 years with C-I-L. During World War II he was manager of the ammunition division and also had the responsibility of establishing and operating four small-arms manufacturing plants for Defence Industries Limited.

In 1946 Mr. Jackson became president and director of Turner and Newall (Canada) Limited, a company which was later amalgamated with Atlas Asbestos Company Limited. He was president of Atlas Asbestos when he retired because of ill health in 1960.

Civic funeral for young policeman, accident victim

Impressive rites were held for the late Cst. André-Jean Laurin at a civic funeral Thursday morning — a long procession leading from the Menard Funeral Home to Ste. Anastasie Parish Church.

Cst. Laurin, on the local police force for the past two years and in the employ of Phillips Investigation Bureau, was killed in a car accident west of St. Philippe on Sunday, April 29. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gaetan Laurin.

The procession, preceded by two landaus of flowers, was led by Mr. Bill Phillips, president of the Phillips agency, his business associate, Armand Beaupré, and Chief J. L. Hebert of the local police department.

Following were a large representation of town police and firemen in uniform; police and aldermen of Hull, Que.; chiefs and officers from Terrebonne, Ayersville, Brownsburg and Ste. Dorothée; chief and firemen from Ville Jacques Cartier; officers of the local Provincial Police detachment; Capt. Robt. Haydon and Cpl. R. Haydon, representing the Highland Cadets.

Many members of the town corporation were in the procession, including Mayor Legault and Ald. Linton Armstrong, police and fire commissioner.

Honorary pall-bearers were fellow-members of the local police, who attended in force.

The family and numerous relatives of the deceased completed the mourners proceeding to the church, where the Rev. Canon C. W. Lacourse officiated in the presence of local clergy. The choral singing was under direction of Roland Paquette.

Employment official here appraises labor outlook

The general condition of the local labor market is as favorable as at the same date last year — according to an appraisal by G. A. Downing, manager of the Lachute office of the National Employment Service, at the end of April. Mr. Downing stated there were approximately the same number of persons seeking employment as there were at this time last year. It is noted, however, that there are a few more men out of work this year. It is estimated that more than 130 skilled construction tradesmen were unemployed at the end of April; unskilled construction laborers out of work represented twice this number. Resumption of activities in the construction industry has no doubt been delayed by the late spring experienced this year.

The construction projects which commenced late last fall at the start of the Winter Employment Campaign are now nearly all completed. These projects were responsible for creating job opportunities for people who otherwise would have suffered from unemployment, and those who obtained work from this source.

There are presently several construction projects underway in this area, and it is expected that several more will commence within the next month, thereby reducing the number of persons out of work.

All employers seeking workmen in any trade should avail themselves of the free recruiting service offered by the National Employment Office.

Mr. Downing and the executive of the Lachute Chamber of Commerce recently had an interview with authorities of the Provincial Department of Youth and Welfare to institute a training course for waitresses. It is an accepted fact that such a course would greatly benefit those who perform such work, as well as patrons and owners of restaurants and hotels. The Department concerned could not, for the present, authorize such a course because of lack of necessary funds for this purpose, but the instigators have not been discouraged by the reply. They are preparing a further and more forceful request for assistance in the field of vocational training.

Red carpet for visitors' tour of new C-I-L building

V.I.P. treatment was accorded to employees, their families and friends linked with the various branches of Canadian Industries Limited, last Saturday at an open inspection of the new C-I-L House in Montreal. This 32-storey structure on "Dorchester Canyon" is the last word in modern construction, decoration and equipment — well worthy of an industrial organization so important in the Canadian economy, and an edifice to be proud of in the impressive growth of the metropolis. It also marks the 100th year of C-I-L operation.

Many of the Ammunition and Safety Fuse staff, both from Brownsburg and Lachute, enjoyed the occasion. They were greeted by heads of the departments, and many old friendships were renewed with former associates at Brownsburg now working at head-office or elsewhere. Visitors were intrigued with the panoramic view from the 32nd floor; with the Canadian Art, represented by paintings in the managerial offices and conference rooms; and with the efficient layout of departments, preserving the airiness of space with all the essentials of equipment and privacy.

Each lady visitor was presented with a corsage, and refreshments were served to the hundreds of guests who visited the building during the day.

Blood donor unit in Brownsburg on May 24

A Red Cross mobile blood donor unit will visit Brownsburg on May 24. . . . The Canadian Red Cross supplies blood to 187 hospitals in the province of Quebec and its weekly requirements are 4,500 bottles.

Giving blood causes no pain and no ill after-effect to a person in good health. Before accepting the blood of a donor a test is made by a trained technician to determine if the person is well enough. Once the donor has been accepted it is a matter of four or five minutes before the painless donation is all over and the donor is resting comfortably on another bed. Then light refreshments are served by a smiling, attentive volunteer.

The donor feels good for two reasons. He finds himself physically fit and he has the rewarding feeling of having done a good deed for his fellow man. The point of blood he has given easily will help save a life of a man, woman or child.

Your blood can save a life. Give a pint at the Red Cross clinic in Brownsburg — at the Legion Hall on May 24 (2-5 p.m. and 7-9 p.m.).

Scholarship whist next Wednesday

The annual Scholarship Whist held by the Lachute and District Home and School Association takes place in the school auditorium on Wednesday, May 16, at 8.15 p.m. sharp. The proceeds from this whist go a long way to assist a deserving student to further his or her education, so the Association hopes that the evening will be well attended.

Aside from the card party itself, cake and candy will be sold by the Students' Council, door prizes will be drawn for, and an Ayers blanket will be raffled at intermission time.

The following have very kindly donated prizes, and the Association wishes to acknowledge their kindness:

Ayers Ltd., Mr. S. W. Milnes, J. P. MacKimmie & Sons Bottling Works, Mr. T. Iddon, Mr. C. Demerse, Farmers' Supply Co.

Death of former bank manager

Former friends and acquaintances will regret the death of Mr. J.-Philias Gauthier, which occurred at his home in Ville St. Michel last Monday following a lengthy illness.

Mr. Gauthier, manager of the Banque Provinciale here for 13 years, left Lachute about two and a half years ago. He was 58 years of age.

He is mourned by his wife, the former Gilberte Desrosiers, and a son, Jean-Paul, 15, attending college in Montreal.

Funeral rites are being held Thursday at the St. Jean Baptiste Church, Hochelaga Street, with interment at Cote des Neiges.

Petition for community centre

A petition favoring the establishment of a Community Centre on the grounds of the Argenteuil Agricultural Society, is presently being circulated by members of the Lions Club, which is confronted with the responsibility of finding a new site for the skating rink, presently on land kindly loaned to the organization.

The Agricultural Society has a sub-committee of directors appointed to work with citizens in this connection.

Any citizens willing to endorse this proposal may sign the petition by contacting — Clifford Lowe (Lowe's Dairy), Jacques Bourgoing (Lachute Lumber Co.), or Gaetan Malaket (Normandie Restaurant). Public support will be appreciated.

Farm Day at Macdonald Coll.

This year Better Farming Day at Macdonald College, June 26, is designed to show farmers of Quebec all aspects of Macdonald College. This means, in effect, how the College serves the farmer through research, teaching and extension.

Besides the departments such as Agronomy, Animal Science, Horticulture and Agricultural Engineering, which the farmer is familiar with, he will be able to see more about how chemistry, physics, plant pathology and entomology are working for him.

Farmers are invited to attend with their families on June 26.

Community Concerts at 15th milestone

THE COMMUNITY CONCERTS Association is holding its 15th annual campaign for members next week. The drive is a very worthy one from community standpoints, since it aims to assure a series of concerts here by world-famous artists during the coming season.

Every community is improved by the advantages of schools, churches, libraries and organizations whose ideals aim at improving civic welfare. Such an organization is the Lachute Community Concerts Association. The availability of fine music presented by authoritative, professional artists is an advantage of inestimable benefit to the citizens of this area.

Such advantages are made possible through the effort of a small group of officers and workers in the organization here. It is through their determined campaigning, and the support of County citizens, that we are able to hear and enjoy good music, and to meet, personally, celebrities otherwise heard only on record, radio or TV.

We commend to our readers the membership drive of the Community Concerts Association. Enroll next week — not as a "charity gesture" by any means, not only as a "constructive project" — but primarily for sheer enjoyment!

Thanks to you — and Easter Seals

COINCIDING with a report to Lachute Lions Club, by President Col. Ernest Emmett, that the Easter Seals response was "now up to $1,500" — two new cases for assistance were brought before the club last week and are receiving attention.

Since efforts for the crippled and handicapped are carried on continually by the Lions Club, it is scarcely accurate to credit this result to the campaign just concluded. However, it is timely to mention the cases now, so that hundreds of 1962 subscribers may know that their generosity is well rewarded. Actually their gifts go much further, to hospital, therapeutic and rehabilitation programs on a broader scale in this province; but to express gratification on a local scale, we will concern ourselves only with local cases. . . .

Names are irrelevant, but we will touch briefly on the circumstances: In one family there is a cherished child whose bones, by reason of acute calcium deficiency, are so brittle that they break on the impact of a minor fall or any abnormal strain. A spinal brace, especially made, is essential, that this victim be able to stand or walk with any degree of safety. . . . The other instance, elsewhere in this County, is that of a child with deformed feet who requires a specialist's advice, and probably surgical correction.

Now, thanks to YOU and Easter Seals, the wheels are in motion to bring assistance in both these cases.

Land link to P.E.I.

THOUSANDS of tourists travelling either by road or railway to Prince Edward Island know the ferry crossing from New Brunswick as a most pleasant interlude.

The big car ferry Abegweit takes railway coaches and automobiles into its capacious interior, and travellers enjoy a stroll on the decks and a meal in the ferry's big lunch counter while gazing at the scenery along the Northumberland Strait.

For the motor-driving tourist especially it's a wonderful interlude in the miles of highway travel, much like the ferry crossing from Vancouver to points on Vancouver Island.

Now they're going to build a causeway nine miles long to Prince Edward Island, like the causeway that has given a link to Cape Breton from the Nova Scotia mainland since 1955.

In the light of modern economics the P.E.I. causeway is inevitable. The island's agricultural producers and other businesses have been demanding a permanent link with the mainland ever since Confederation.

For the island's citizens, the ferry service has been its handicaps. The summer tourist making a smooth crossing of Northumberland Strait has little idea of how the scene can change in wintertime, when the ferry may be carried miles out of its way by ice plugging the strait. The normal summer trip of about two hours could stretch into many more.

The causeway, roughly along the ferry route from Cape Tormentine, N.B., to Borden, P.E.I., will mean that highway traffic can proceed uninterrupted all year round. Island residents can rely on shipments arriving or departing on schedule.

Federal officials now are drawing up plans for the causeway, and construction will take probably six years, so that the causeway is not expected to be finished until 1970.

When it is completed, it will mark another significant change in the picture of Canada.

Textile industry and Japanese exports

JAPAN'S INTENTION to increase shipments of clothing and textiles to Canada this year shows "disregard for the way in which other countries are trying to bring order to international textile trade."

This is the opinion expressed by Dan Rosenbloom, executive director of the Canadian Apparel and Textile Manufacturers Association, following an announcement last week which indicates that Japanese textile exports to Canada in 1962 could reach an all-time high. Japan apparently intends to ship about $45-million worth of clothing and textiles here this year.

This proposed increase is disappointing to the Canadian industries concerned, and their 172,000 workers, who, after bearing the brunt of Asiatic exports for years, quite reasonably expected some relief.

"Japanese exports to Canada this year could displace more than 10,000 Canadian textile workers. . . . The reason we cannot compete is simple. The average Canadian worker in the clothing industry earns from $1.50 an hour and up, plus some of the best fringe benefits in the world, while Japanese employees get approximately 20 cents in Canadian funds, all-inclusive."

Mr. Rosenbloom said there was one practical method by which Canada could safeguard markets and jobs against the type of unreasonable competition and in keeping with his earlier suggestion for a new Canadian policy. "Instead of allowing the Japanese to tell us what volume of clothing and textiles they will ship to Canada, the Canadian government should simply fix, for duty purposes, the value of Japanese goods at levels which would permit Canadian producers to compete."

Nineteen nations, Japan and Canada included, are currently completing an arrangement negotiated at Geneva which could bring some order out of the chaos caused on world markets by Asiatic textile exports. The formula is quite simple: redistribute Asiatic textiles more evenly among the various Western countries without reducing total exports. One of the salient points in the agreement is the general recognition that Canada is already receiving more than her share.

For example, in 1961 Canada took $1.83 per capita of Japanese clothing and textiles, as against $1.18 per capita for the U.S.A., 25 cents for Great Britain; and 35 cents for the European Economic Community countries. Japanese shipments of shirts, for instance, were so high that they supplied one for every four made in Canada, one blouse for every five made here, one bedspread for every two Canadian. "How, with such large portions of our market already captured, can Japan continue to increase shipments, and at the same time subscribe to the principles of the Geneva agreements?" asks Mr. Rosenbloom as spokesman of the Canadian industry. The international spirit of this agreement is being ignored, he claims.

Things 'n Stuff

By Walter Henry Jackson

My father was a very serious-minded man. I don't mean that he had no sense of humor. He had a fund of amusing stories of actual occurrences, but seldom would he resort to a fictitious joke. But here is one that I have heard him tell many times:

A man in a certain residential area was seen one evening by the neighbors coming out of his house with a small bottle in his hand; he was seen to take a nip from it, put it in his pocket and then run down to the end of the block and back to his house. They gossiped for a while about this strange behaviour, but said nothing until the following evening, when the man came out again with the bottle and repeated the process, running to the end of the block and back to his home. Then the neighbors decided to watch him and report any further odd incident.

They did not have long to wait. The very next night he appeared with the bottle, took a long drag at it, laid it on his front steps and produced a skipping-rope from the porch and began skipping on the sidewalk. So the neighbors approached in a body, prepared to grab him if he turned violent, and one of them asked him just what was the big idea.

"Can't help it," he explained. "I don't want to do it, but it's a case of doctor's orders. I haven't been too well lately. My doctor gave me this medicine and told me to take it two nights running and then skip a night."

Be seein' ya!

— Uncle Walt

Of Many Things

NATIONAL PROBLEMS

The Board of Broadcast Governors held hearings in Winnipeg recently so I was able to sit in on most of their deliberations. I was struck by the fact that Canada's thin ribbon of population posed so many problems for broadcasting.

Thinking it over, nearly all our national services are hampered by the fact that our population is small, our country rugged, and our people divided by two different languages. In addition to these handicaps, we live beside one of the most dynamic nations in the world's history.

It is remarkable how much we have been able to get done despite these handicaps. We have become a great manufacturing nation, although the bulk of our potential market lies outside of our own boundaries. We have won a fine reputation among the nations of the world for our stability and good sense. We are, little by little, becoming completely bilingual.

A good deal is being said these days about "planning," and it seems to me that Canadians have been mighty good planners or we would not have achieved so much under difficult circumstances. Ours is certainly not an unplanned society — we have always had some national goals in view and we have aimed pretty high and well.

It seems to me that those who now urge upon us a "planned" economy instead of a free one really are urging compulsion rather than co-operation. Canadians do co-operate in freedom toward the achievement of national objectives. If they had not done so they could not have built so well in the face of so many difficulties.

We have our national problems. We know the cause of them is partly our lack of a large population. We are doing something about that — too slowly, I admit — and we are maintaining a very extensive schedule of social services. That is a pretty good score. It would seem to me that there is every reason to feel confident about our future.

HOME IMPROVEMENT WITHOUT FINANCIAL EMBARRASSMENT

Failure to make repairs to your house immediately can be downright expensive. One piece of falling plaster that's overlooked or left to take care of itself so often leads to another. And then the final expense is much greater.

If your house is in need of improvements — repairs, paint jobs and the like — and your ready cash can't take care of the cost, see Don Hay, manager of the Lachute Bank of Montreal branch about a Home Improvement Loan.

H.I.L.'s are available at the B of M for all kinds of worthwhile purposes about the house.

They're inexpensive, too— the interest is only one half of one per cent a month — and you repay in easy monthly instalments, plus interest. So, if you have repairs or improvements on your mind, call on Mr. Hay at the B of M tomorrow. He will be glad to show you how a Home Improvement Loan can help you.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

Among the children at a school entrance — any school in the country — you can sometimes see an angry mother marching to storm the principal's office.

She stalks grimly along, clutching a handbag or a bundle of papers.

Teachers observe the angry mother whirling down the corridor. They feel sorry for her, and for themselves. She means trouble.

Why are Sally's marks so low? Why does Jack need to be punished so often? Why do the teachers pick on him?

The principal — or another teacher — tries to answer calmly. He is an expert at teaching and disciplining the young.

He is also a public servant . . . a long-suffering public servant scolded and interrogated by the taxpayers.

In the course of his career, he listens to a great number of angry mothers. Some of them have real complaints. Their visits help to clear up misunderstandings.

Other angry mothers are mixed-up people. They get angry with their husbands, or their bosses at the office, and they take it out on the teacher.

If I could rub a magic lamp and become a dictator with the power of making laws, I would put this one on the books:

Parents are allowed to complain against teachers — providing that they don't mind the teacher lodging complaints against them.

Then the teacher would be able to say: "You claim we're treating your son wrongly. Yes, we have had trouble with him. It may be our fault. On the other hand, it may be yours. So we're sending a social worker to your house to ask some questions and find out."

This is my idea, so don't blame any teachers for it. But I think it would work.

Mother's Day Celebration

— By NANCY CLEAVER —

Mother's Day is celebrated in quite a number of lands, and although many laugh at it, this day continues to be observed. On the second Sunday in May, men and women in every walk of life, boys and girls in all kinds of homes, pay tribute to their mothers. Famous people have written in glowing words of their mother's influence. Benjamin West, the president of the Royal Academy of Art in London, England, early in the last century, once said, "A kiss from my mother made me a painter." Abraham Lincoln declared, "All that I am, or hope to be, I owe to my angel mother."

A tribute to a mother is a very personal thing. It is colored by remembrance of childhood days. Although some people scoff at Mother's Day as a commercial scheme, surely it has value! In a hurried age when everyone seems to be in a rush, when many people are reticent about expressing their deeper emotions, it is well to have a time to pause and think of the debt which is owed to all mothers.

W. D. Howells once wrote "A man never sees all that his mother has been to him till it's too late to let her know that he sees it." What a pity if this is so! If our mother has passed on to the "Great Beyond," let us recall all that she did for us, on her day. We can observe this occasion by making a special effort to do something she would delight to see us do — attend Divine Worship or help some poor mother who is having a hard struggle to bring up her children.

If we are fortunate enough to have our mothers still with us, Mother's Day is an occasion when we can use our imagination to give a gift which will express our love. Flowers, candy, a book, a picture, something for her to wear or for her home — what a wide variety of presents from which to select one which will give Mother real pleasure! The Mother's Day cards are very lovely, but do try to write in your own words how much you care for her.

Take time to mention some special happy childhood memory, the taste of her apple pies, the little smocked dress or the small boy's suit she sewed with loving care. Refer to the time you tumbled out of the tree or fell off the swing and she looked after your bruises. Perhaps there was some long-forgotten incident when you were frightened out of your wits and she restored your courage. Let her know you still remember the days of long ago when you were just a child under the old home roof — because no matter what the age of a man or woman, a mother cherishes the memories of the days when her child was young.

You would likely find it difficult to describe your mother's face to a stranger. But you will likely appreciate these lines from a lovely anonymous poem "The Blind Child" in a poetry anthology edited by James Dalton Morrison:

"I know what mother's face is like,
Although I cannot see;
It's like the music of a bell:
It's like the roses I can smell
Yes, these it's like to me."

Tips on Touring

By Carol Lane
Women's Travel Authority

Mothers planning long drives with children will find touring can be child's play — if the youngsters are pleasantly occupied.

It's easy. When you pack, be sure to include toys and activity materials suited for your children's ages.

For three-to-seven-year-olds, picture books, blocks and paper and crayons are always welcome as well as practical in the limited space of a car. Industrious little girls will enjoy wooden weaving looms and dolls with travel wardrobes in small suitcases. Boys of the same age should be delighted with tiny rubber or soft plastic cars or airplanes. Playing or picture cards and hand puppets are good too.

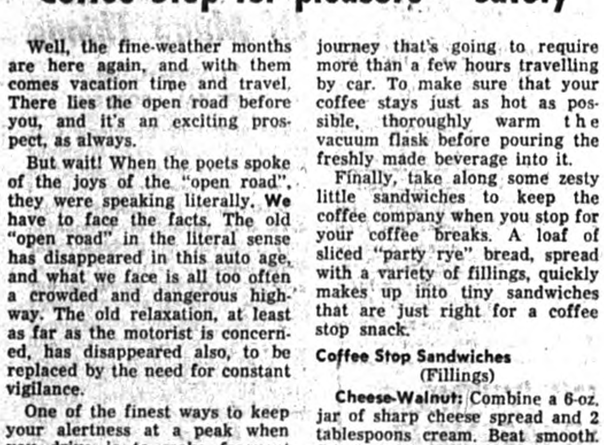

Older children, from 8 to 12, are easier to keep entertained and retain their interest in a particular toy or game longer than the younger fry. Keep their interests up with activity books, drawing pads and puzzles. A number of board games have been made with magnetic or pegged pieces — excellent for use in moving cars. To rest eyes and provide diversion, try guessing and number games. "Twenty Questions" is always good.

Avoid toys which might distract the driver, such as yo-yo's, balloons, balls and noise makers. Never permit heavy or sharp-pointed toys or kits containing liquids. And never allow games in which the child has to move about.

Don't plan everything for inside the car. Schedule a stop or two at a place that will interest — and instruct — the children, and then let them look and stretch.

The travel urge

Have you made arrangements for your summer vacation — or maybe planned your wedding or anniversary trip? . . . Holiday time will soon be here, and nothing could be nicer than a restful boat trip down the Saguenay. Call in for a travel folder at Giles Travel Agency, Foundry Street, or phone LO 2-2494.

Coffee, with its stimulating qualities that help keep a car driver alert, is a necessity on any long journey by car. Take along a vacuum flask filled with strong, hot coffee and some small, zesty sandwiches packed for individual servings. You'll find a coffee stop is not only a pleasure, it is a safety factor of major importance.

Coffee Stop for pleasure — safety

Well, the fine-weather months are here again, and with them comes vacation time and travel. There lies the open road before you, and it's an exciting prospect, as always.

But wait! When the poets spoke of the joys of the "open road", they were speaking literally. We have to face the facts. The old "open road" in the literal sense has disappeared in this auto age, and what we face is all too often a crowded and dangerous highway. The old relaxation, at least as far as the motorist is concerned, has disappeared also, to be replaced by the need for constant vigilance.

One of the finest ways to keep your alertness at a peak when you drive is to make frequent stops for coffee. Of course, one of the pleasures of driving is to find a really inviting place to have a picnic lunch. But over and above the regular lunch break, make a coffee stop every hundred miles or so. Pull off the road, stretch your legs, look at the scenery, and drink a cup of good, strong coffee.

An outsized vacuum flask is the thing to take along on any journey that's going to require more than a few hours travelling by car. To make sure that your coffee stays just as hot as possible, thoroughly warm the vacuum flask before pouring the freshly made beverage into it.

Finally, take along some zesty little sandwiches to keep the coffee company when you stop for your coffee breaks. A loaf of sliced "party rye" bread, spread with a variety of fillings, quickly makes up into tiny sandwiches that are just right for a coffee stop snack.

Specially Written for The Lachute Watchman

By Edna Blakely, Canadian Press Staff Writer

Whether eggs are being cooked in water, in a frying pan or in the oven, the fundamental rule is that they should be cooked with low or moderate heat. Eggs cooked at high temperatures become tough and leathery, say the home economists in the consumer section of the federal agriculture department.

They offer this advice: Keep eggs refrigerated to maintain quality and, whenever possible, buy eggs from merchants who keep them under refrigeration. Eggs exposed to room temperature soon lose quality. Keep them away from highly-flavored foods. Do not wash eggs until just before using, and leave them in a carton or keep them in a covered container.

Shell eggs for sale to consumers must be marked with the grade name. Canada Grade A1 are the highest quality but are not always available in retail outlets. The yolk is round and compact and is surrounded by a thick, dense white.

Canada Grade A eggs are the highest grade commonly sold to consumers. They are suitable for poaching, cooking in the shell, frying, scrambling and omelets.

Extra-Large

Grades A and A1 are sold in extra large size, 27 ounces a dozen or more; large, 24 ounces a dozen or more; medium, 21 to 24 ounces a dozen; and small, 18 to 21 ounces a dozen. Grade A are also sold in peewee size with less than 18 ounces in each dozen.

Canada grade B eggs are reasonably clean and have a sound shell. The white is less firm than in Grade A and they are suitable for general cookery. All grade B eggs weigh 21 ounces a dozen or more.

When eggs are cooked in their shells, use enough water to cover them to a depth of at least one-half inch. To keep the shells from cracking, remove from refrigerator one-half hour before cooking or let them stand in warm water for a few minutes.

Eggs may be cooked by a hot-or-cold water method. For the cold-water method, place the eggs in a saucepan, add water, cover and bring rapidly to a boil. Set pan off heat and let stand two to five minutes, depending on the degree of firmness desired.

For the hot-water method, bring the water to a boil in a covered saucepan and slip the eggs in one at a time. Cover, reduce heat and draw pan partly off burner, keeping water just below simmering. Let stand four to eight minutes. When water is kept just below simmering, small bubbles form on the bottom of the saucepan and remain there. If they start rising, the water is actually simmering and the temperature is too high.

When hard-cooking two to four eggs at a time, follow the cold-water method but let eggs stand for 20 to 25 minutes, then plunge immediately into cold water and chill thoroughly to prevent dark rings forming on yolks.

When cooking more than four eggs at a time, reduce heat as soon as water comes to a boil and draw saucepan partly off burner, keeping water just below simmering. Let stand 20 to 25 minutes.

To hard-cook eggs the hot-water method, follow instructions for soft-cooked eggs but let them stand 20 to 25 minutes; then chill immediately.

Make the most of breakfast toast

This recipe for Breakfast French Toast combines most of the elements of a good breakfast in the one dish. Bread slices are spread with butter or margarine, then put together in pairs with a filling of marmalade and crisp bacon. The sandwiches are then dipped in an egg-custard mixture spiked with a touch of ground cinnamon, and fried until golden. All that is needed to complete this hearty and delicious meal is juice or fresh fruit, a hot beverage and perhaps hot buns.

Breakfast French Toast
(Yield — 4 to 6 servings)

12 Slices side bacon, 12 slices white bread, soft butter or margarine, 12 teaspoons citrus marmalade, 2 eggs, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon ground cinnamon, 1 cup milk.

Cut bacon slices in half, crosswise. Arrange the pieces in a cold frypan and cook, turning occasionally until crisp; drain on absorbent paper.

Remove crusts from bread slices, if desired. Spread one side of each slice with soft butter or margarine; spread half the slices with marmalade, using about 2 teaspoonfuls per slice. Arrange 4 pieces of the cooked bacon on each marmalade-spread piece of bread and cover with remaining bread slices, spread side down. Beat eggs slightly in a pie plate or other broad shallow dish; stir in salt, ground cinnamon and milk. Heat a little butter or margarine in a large frypan. Dip sandwiches, first one side, then the other, in egg mixture. Fry in heated butter or margarine until golden, turning once. Cut each sandwich in half diagonally for serving.

Deafness

Toronto — Deafness generates more irritation, more ridicule, and less understanding than any other physical impairment, according to the Canadian Hearing Society. In proportion to its importance, the ear is the most neglected organ of the body, yet the effects of a hearing loss can be more damaging to the individual than many other disabilities. Even partial deafness makes conversation almost impossible, school and business life uncertain and social life strained.

It has been reliably reported that some 10 per cent of Canada's population today suffer from some degree of hearing loss, and it is conservatively estimated that 350,000 of this number are in need of special assistance of one kind or another. There is no doubt that many cases of adult deafness have their early beginnings in childhood, and that many of these could be prevented by adequate, early treatment. Others can be more readily rehabilitated.

The results of deafness or partial deafness are shown physically and psychologically according to the Health League of Canada. Through the program of the Canadian Hearing Society, rehabilitation and research help the Canadian with a hearing problem adjust to his handicap and live a normal life.

Highways without traffic

Far fetched? Not really. Without the protection of insurance, today's crowded highways would be virtually empty — if, indeed, they had been built in the first place.

Without automobile insurance, for instance, how many of today's 6,000,000 Canadian drivers would risk the liability claims which a single accident might bring? Without other types of insurance, who would dare gamble many millions of dollars to build cars in the first place? If the cars were built, how many dealers could dare risk having possibly hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of vehicles in his care without insurance protection?

Last year, automobile insurance companies in Canada paid out more than a half million dollars a day in claims — $190,000,000 in the year. Without insurance, the motoring public would be faced with the impossible financial risk of out-of-pocket payments of this mammoth accident bill. In many ways, insurance makes our present way of life possible.

House Demolished

A venerable old house which, in days long gone by, sheltered the Mullen and McComb families and lastly Mr. Robert Sittlington and family (Mr. Sittlington being for years a lockmaster on one of the upper canals) was burned by workmen of Hydro Quebec on Monday to make way for the widening of the front road at that point, and other road improvements.

Hive of Activity

Saturday was a day of unusual activities in lower Cushing. Mr. Decoste was working at a cement-block foundation he is putting underneath the riverside cottage he had moved up the Ostrom Road. Meanwhile, the persons who acquired the barns from Mr. Bailey and started demolishing them several weeks ago, spent the day there taking them apart, after a long absence. Also, a bulldozer was busy filling in a deep depression just across the garden fence, moving from there to the rivershore to clear ground for a private boat wharf — or so the story goes.

Interesting Program

A number of Cushing members of Frontier W.I. attended the monthly meeting of that branch, held in Brownsburg School on Tuesday night of last week, and enjoyed immensely the colored pictures of gardens and homes in England shown by Mr. Erle Smillie, also scenes of the sea, and pictures of Scotland and Scottish farms shown by Mr. Leslie Tomalty, photographed while on his tour of that country with the farmers last summer.

100th Birthday significant to many parishioners

(Our District Correspondent)

Avoca — Mrs. Allan McPhee, accompanied by Mrs. Catherine Young, attended the 100th birthday reception of her oldest friend, Mrs. Agnes Husband, widow of the late Rev. E. B. Husband of the Diocese of Quebec, held at the Queen's Hotel, Montreal, on May 2. The "family" gathering included Mrs. McPhee and Mrs. Young. Later in the afternoon, her son and daughter-in-law gave a reception at their home in Westmount. The following day, Thursday, the Anglican Church Home, where Mrs. Husband resides, gave another birthday party; this was preceded by special service.

Mrs. Husband was honored by messages from the Queen, Prime Minister John Diefenbaker, and the Postmaster General, Mr. Hamilton, and many of the clergy called. She received many messages and gifts from friends, including a telephone message from her daughter Gertrude in England. Her other daughter, Mrs. Botterel (Rhoda), of New York City, was present, also her son, William, of Westmount, with his wife and daughter. Over 70 years ago Mrs. Husband came from England to Quebec City, where she and her fiancé were married at the Bishop's Palace, afterwards attending a reception at Spencerwood, home of the Lieutenant-Governor of Quebec. Mrs. Husband was very active in church work and dearly loved in the parishes where her husband was posted — at St. Sylvestre, New Carlisle, Marbleton, Danville, Johnville, Magog, and finally at King's Hall Ladies' College, Compton, where the Rev. Mr. Husband was chaplain.

Mr. and Mrs. Husband visited Mr. and Mrs. McPhee in Avoca quite often, and were known here.

Branch 70 Correspondent

"ACTIVE SERVICE YESTERDAY COMMUNITY SERVICE TODAY"

We dispense with our regular column and instead, today, dedicate the column to Mother's Day, and mothers everywhere.

Mother! Two words are synonymous with Mother, they are Home and Love.

Just "HOME and LOVE", the words are small,
Four little letters unto each;
And yet you will not find in all
The wide and gracious range of speech,
Two more so tenderly complete;
When angels talk in Heaven above
I'm sure they have no words more sweet
Than HOME and LOVE.

Just HOME and LOVE; it's hard to guess
Which of the two are best to gain;
And when you've both, then I am sure
You ought to sing the whole day long;
It doesn't matter if you're poor
With these to make your song divine;
And so, I praisefully repeat,
When angels talk in heaven
above,
There are no words more simply sweet
Than "HOME and LOVE".

Since creation, as lute, brush and pen so aptly portray, Mother and Mother's Love have been the central point in each and every home. A mother is blessed with an understanding, loving, generous and unchanging heart. From the time she goes "into the shadow of the valley of death" for us, until she departs this life, her whole being is an output, a fountain of love, a joy, a strength, a glory and a star. If only just once a year — on MOTHER'S DAY — let us return some of this love.

God made a heart of gold, of gold,
Shining and sweet and true,
Gave it a home of fairest mould,
Blest it, and called it — YOU.

God gave the rose its grace of glow
And the lark its radiant glee;
But, better than all, I know,
I know,
God gave you, dear Heart, to me.

Mothers are women set apart; they are wonderful and wise. Many are the times they have a moaning in their hearts and anguish in their eyes as they see their dearest ones depart. They have known the heartache that rends so fierce, and the tears that scald. They make, oh so many, a lonely sacrifice. But time brings a glory to them and a peace within their hearts. Time also dries the tears and dulls the smart, and shows them that they have played their parts in life so well. They have a love that will never die, and in their reward we see them with Heaven's Peace within their hearts and God's own Glory in their eyes.

How long since many of us have been back to Home and Love? To greet the Mother . . . once again to place your head in her lap . . . to feel those tired, toil-worn hands caress again the head of the boy that never changed . . . you are always that little boy, even though you have bairns of your own: . . . how long since we have basked in the glorious rays of Home and Love?

Or must we wait until . . .

"I'm taking pen in hand this night,
and hard it is for me,
My poor old fingers tremble so,
my hand is stiff and slow,
And even with my glasses on,
I'm troubled sore to see,
You'd little know your Mother,
boy, you'd little, little know,
You mind how brisk and bright I was, how straight and trim and smart,
'Tis weariful I am the now, and bent and frail and grey,
I'm waiting at the road's end, lad,
and all that's in my heart
Is just to see my boy again, before
I'm called away."

Each and every one of us — saint or sinner, rich or poor, man or woman — we all owe an eternal debt to MOTHER.

REVIVE CUT FLOWERS

Don't let Mother's Day bouquets wilt and fade too soon. For wilting chrysanthemums recut the bottom of each stem and split for two or three inches from the cut base. Remove leaves below water level. Set the stems in hot water halfway up the stem. Allow to cool, then add enough ice-water to fill the vase. Revive roses by cutting the base of each stem preferably just above a leaf branch. Place the stems in boiling water. For carnations cut the stems just above a leaf node, then plunge into very cold water up to the flower heads and leave overnight.

Aiding victims of cerebral palsy

Q. — What is "cerebral palsy"?

A. — Cerebral palsy means lack of control of the muscles due to some type of brain damage. It usually stems from accidents of nature which may occur before, during or after birth. It may result from an accident or an illness.

This disability may cause loss of control over some of the body's movements as well as speech, hearing, visual and intellectual disorders.

It does not mean necessarily that a cerebral palsied child is incapable of learning or beyond treatment, but it is a long-term, lasting disability.

Q. — How many people are suffering from cerebral palsy in Quebec Province?

A. — In the province there are approximately 5,000 cerebral palsy cases of all ages.

Q. — Can cerebral palsy be cured?

A. — No — but the cerebral palsied can be helped to a better life. In this province, there are highly skilled people who will provide treatment, training and education. A lightly affected child can become independent and self-sufficient. A more severely affected child can be taught to walk, talk, feed and dress himself, and to attend to his own toilet needs. Some cerebral palsy cases are so affected they will never be able to do these things. Only careful diagnosis and evaluation will determine the extent of damage and the required program.

Q. — Why was the Cerebral Palsy Association formed?

A. — (1) To promote and develop measures calculated to advance the treatment, training, rehabilitation and guidance of persons suffering from cerebral palsy and the effects thereof.

(2) To study existing facilities for the diagnosis, treatment, education, vocational training and all other matters related to the care and development, mentally, morally, physically and spiritually, of victims.

(3) To create and maintain public interest in the subject of cerebral palsy, and understanding of the victims, with a view to their acceptance as useful members of society.

In 1949, the Association started with a mere handful of members. Today the membership includes over 1,600 parents and 200 interested professionals.

Information on the Association and its current campaign is available from — Mrs. W. H. Sparrow, Executive Director, Cerebral Palsy Association of Quebec Inc., 3015 Sherbrooke St. West (Suite 216), Montreal 6.

EFFICIENT FEEDING AND LIVESTOCK MANAGEMENT

By Dr. Gustav Bohstedt
Emeritus Professor of Animal Husbandry
University of Wisconsin

Dry Matter And Fiber Determine Feed Value

We are puzzled at times as to what stale bread or cake from bakeries might be worth as feed for farm animals, or what surplus potatoes or apples or pumpkins might be worth as feed rather than as food.

All of these are materials low in fiber and therefore, on the dry matter basis, high in energy. They are all concentrates, though more or less watery.

Dr. Bohstedt

The major determining factor is the actual dry matter content and its relations to feed like corn. All of these foods more or less closely reference resemble corn, but they are usually somewhat lower in protein than corn, and not likely to rate above corn in feed value on the dry matter basis.

With No. 2 corn having 85 percent dry matter, these are the dry matter contents of the other materials: stale bread 70, potatoes 21, pumpkins 10, common beets and apples 13 percent dry matter.

So it is not surprising to learn that stale bread and cake may not be worth, pound for pound, as much as corn. Just because the frosting on cake is sugar, does not mean that this has any higher food value than starch. Instead of a loaf of bread being worth, say, 20 cents for human consumption, this same loaf when slightly dry or stale and used for hog feed may be worth only about 2 cents.

Or a 48-pound bushel of apples that is selling for $2 to $3 in a store, may be worth only 20 cents for feed. A comparable weight of pumpkins would be worth even less.

Potatoes are higher in dry matter, 21 percent, and it would take 400 pounds of potatoes to equal 100 pounds corn in dry matter—also in actual feed value as proved by tests.

Many such "succulent concentrates" are periodically in surplus and are used in livestock feeding. A couple of years ago I was at dinner with a California cattle feeder who annually fattened some 50,000 steers for the market. He was telling me that he had just contracted for 4,000 tons of surplus or off-grade dried prunes at $30 per ton, or 1½ cents a pound. These would be rolled or crushed before feeding, partly to release the oil in the pits. This kind of feed purchase seems a strange transaction to most cattlemen over the nation, but is an entirely logical one under the circumstances.

Question: Now that we have fed out the top half of corn silage in the silo and are getting down to grass silage, the cows don't eat as well and are going down in production. Why?

Answer: Grass silage is seldom quite as palatable as corn silage. Also, let us keep in mind that in every 40 pounds of corn silage there are some 5 pounds of shelled corn equivalent which grass silage does not have. So we need to feed a few pounds more grain to keep up milk production. While doing so we can reduce the level of protein in the mixture perhaps two or three percentage points.

Blood spells life to hole-in-heart child victims

A few years ago four out of five children with a hole in the heart were doomed to die before they were four years old. Today in Canada the use of the heart-lung machine, and the co-operation of the Red Cross in supplying blood, save children's lives.

There are many variations of a heart-lung machine, but the principle is the same. The patient's blood is intercepted on one side of the heart and is pumped back into the blood stream on the other side. Thus, the heart and lungs are by-passed leaving them free for repair.

For each heart surgery operation the Red Cross Blood Transfusion Service supplies an average of 20 pints of whole blood, drawn within 24 hours before the operation and collected in special containers.

In 1961, the total number of bottles collected for these operations was 21,104 in Canada. 894 open-heart operations were performed in leading hospitals of 11 cities. The Montreal Red Cross blood depot supplied the blood for 277 such operations in Montreal and Quebec City, the heaviest demand in the whole country. The Toronto depot gave the blood for 235 open-heart operations and in Vancouver 151 operations were performed. Then came Edmonton with 96; Winnipeg 73; London 31; Saskatoon 16; Regina 10; Ottawa 4 and Calgary 1.

A mobile Red Cross unit will be at Brownsburg on May 24 at the Legion Hall, from 2 to 5 p.m. and from 7 to 9 p.m.

Change foreseen in auto fuel

Some car manufacturers predict that by 1970 motorists will get 50 percent more miles per gallon of fuel, according to the May Reader's Digest.

The reason for this optimistic outlook is "stratified-charge" engines which will burn not costly high-octane gasoline, but kerosene and its humble kin. These engines have aroused great interest and controversy among automotive experts, and most major manufacturers are testing one or all of them.

The first of the engines, the TCP (Texaco Combustion Process), was developed in the late 1940's by Everett M. Barber, a Texaco engineer. Barber had an idea for rebuilding the top of the engine so it wouldn't need high octanes. He built his idea into a crude one-cylinder engine, and it worked.

The Texaco Research Centre has been experimenting with various versions of the engine ever since, and engineers state that it will burn gasoline, diesel fuel, jet fuel or kerosene. And according to recent tests the engine should do 34 miles to the gallon.

Agric. scientist develops Instant Foods

INSTANT FOODS—Less than a year after he had congratulated Dr. E. A. M. Asselbergs, left, on developing instant mashed potatoes for Canadian manufacture, Agriculture Minister Alvin Hamilton finds himself commending the scientist for adapting the same process to meats, fish, turnips, pumpkins and cheese, shown in packaged form. The Minister said this could open new outlets for farm products. Patents have been issued and manufacturers will be invited to take out licences. A number are preparing to make the instant mashed potatoes, now known as potato crystals.

Dehydrated dishes keep indefinitely in kitchen

Within a year of his development of "instant" mashed potatos, a 34-year-old scientist in the Canada Department of Agriculture's food processing laboratory at Ottawa has adapted the invention to meat, fish, cheese, turnip and pumpkin.

Dr. E. A. M. (Ed) Asselbergs, head of the Plant Research Institute unit which has successfully produced this line of pre-cooked instant foods, doesn't know where it will stop.

He has been told that licenses for the manufacture of the first discovery — now known as potato crystals — have been taken out by half a dozen leading food processors in Canada and abroad. The new products are similarly made, the moisture being removed by steam-heated drums, and similarly reconstituted, by adding milk or water. The food processing laboratory has now developed the following instant-cooked foods: mashed potatoes, fish-potato, beef-potato, pork-potato, lamb-potato, chicken-potato, cheese-potato, turnip and pumpkin, and others.

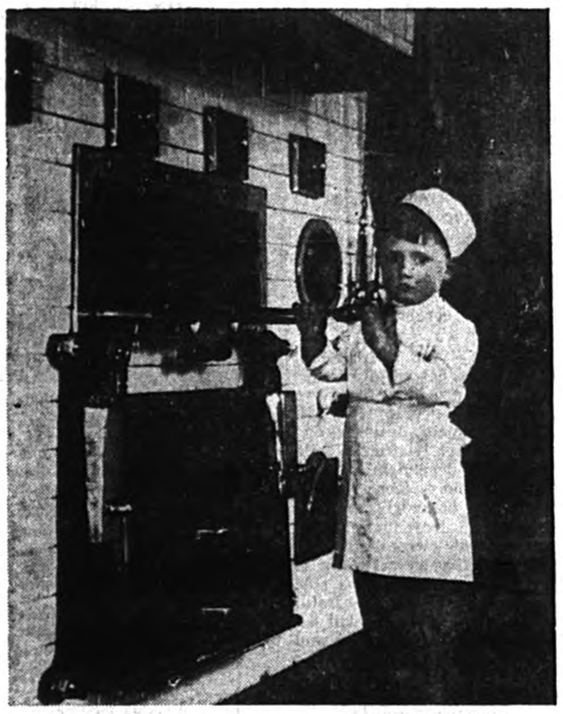

These lightweight pre-cooked meals can be stockpiled for emergency use, or kept indefinitely in the kitchen cupboard. They can be converted into a hot meal in a few minutes or, if necessary, eaten dry without any other preparation. The new products are therefore expected to be of advantage to the ordinary consumer, to institutions and to countries interested in setting up food banks.

Dr. Asselbergs has seen many taste panels smack their lips in appreciation of the new food lines his unit has put out.

It has been established that there is virtually no loss of the nutritional value of the food in the processing — other than the normal loss through any form of cooking. But he says that it is up to the commercial food firms to evaluate the selling quality of the products and they will decide such matters as spicing, additives and packaging. He sees no reason, with the trend to "convenience foods", why the whole line of new products should not gain popular acceptance leading to construction of processing plants, with their opportunities for employment and greater sale of farm products.

Asked if he had exhausted the line of instant precooked foods, Dr. Asselbergs shook his head but offered no clue as to his next effort.

In his work to date, he said, he had chosen foods with a minimum of oil content.

BOY COOK FOLLOWS THROUGH—Dr. E. A. M. Asselbergs, a Canada Department of Agriculture research scientist who has developed several lines of instant cooked foods for Canadian manufacture, has always been interested in food preparation. He was born in Holland and is shown here as a boy helping to run things in his parents' bakery nearly 30 years ago.

Wireworm control

Ottawa. — One week before planting potatoes in organic, or muck-soil, is a good time to apply insecticides to protect them against wireworms.

J. LaFrance of the Canada Department of Agriculture research laboratory at St. Jean, Quebec, remarks that the potato is most susceptible to wireworm attacks and these may also kill off other vegetables.

Experiments in organic soils, more commonly known as muck, have shown that clean cultivation does not give immedate control of wireworms. However, a single application of insecticide to the soil may considerably reduce an infestation.

Recommended are: Aldrin, 5 per cent granular at the rate of 140 pounds per acre; or Aldrin 20-E, 3½ gallons in 100 gallons of water. Apply on the soil one week before planting and work it into the top six inches of soil with a rotary tiller or a disk harrow.

The recommendations are for a population of approximately 15 to 20 larvae per square foot of soil. For a lower population, the insecticides can be applied at the rate of 100 pounds of Aldrin 5 per cent granular per acre; or Aldrin 20-E, 2½ gallons in 100 gallons of water.

Turning cows out to pasture in the spring

There is no set calendar date and by far the best standards on which to base spring turn-out are those of pasture growth, temperature and the dampness of the soil. This is the advice given by Prof. M. A. MacDonald, Animal Science Department of Macdonald College.

If the pasture was grazed very closely during the previous autumn, cows should not be turned out as early as in seasons when there was an adequate "old bottom" or old pasture left at stabling time in the autumn. Lush, highly digestible pasture at a height of 3 or 4 inches may contain 90% water, and the dairy cow will have to eat large amounts of pasture in order to take in an adequate amount of energy. When there is a mixture of new growth with pasture aftermath left from the year before, there is a better balance between the high protein new growth and the low protein, higher energy old growth. New growth with no aftermath from previous years can lower the milk butterfat.

Dampness and the texture of the soil have an influence on the date of turnout. Therefore, if the pasture is too soft to work with a tractor, it is certainly too soft to turn out the dairy herd. As the soil hardens and the temperature rises, pasture growth follows. When it has reached a minimum of 8 inches, then it is time to turn the cows out during the day. When evening temperatures tend to stay above 40° to 45°F. and the rains are warm, if present, cows may be left out to graze at night. It is advisable to reduce the level of protein in the dairy concentrate ration when pasture quality is good. But pasture will not provide sufficient energy for a high producing dairy cow. When pasturage is very lush and the cows begin to scour, it is advisable to offer them dry hay prior to turning them out after each milking. This is also one of the recommended techniques for the prevention of bloat.

Is Quebec rapidly becoming a separate state

— Separated from its English friends and neighbors?

For more than 75 years the French and English speaking population of Quebec have enjoyed each other's friendship to such an extent that they have set a shining example to the rest of the world.

For all these years they have respected each other's religious beliefs and educational ideas. In countless cases united by marriage and educational understanding, without even a threat of separatism, they have worked side by side for mutual prosperity and their children have played together in perfect harmony and mutual respect.

Then in 1960 the Liberal government of Levesque and Lesage took over. Then separatism gradually raised its head, the people were promised everything at no cost to themselves. Now out of a clear sky, the STATE government (a term more commonly found in Europe), headed by Levesque and Lesage announced that it is their intention to take over the public utilities, enter into the banking business, and thereafter embark on all kinds of enterprise at the public expense.

This is exactly the way it all started in many countries now communist. The people did not realize what was happening and allowed things to slip until they were completely under the communist yoke.

This is exactly the situation that is faced by the people of Quebec. The first steps are taken when everything is accepted from the state as being for free. This is easy to stop now by refusing to fall for false promises, and by not letting ourselves be blinded by race hatred. We have lived in peace and harmony as two races and one people for over 75 years, let us go on doing so.

Two victims of a three-way collision near Pte. au Chene were the wife and five-year-old son of George Young, Fassett, who were passengers in his truck. They were hurled from the cab when the truck headed into the ditch, and the truck was struck by the station wagon pictured above.

Mother, son killed in crash

Mrs. George Young, 23, and her five-year-old son Wayne, both of Fassett, were instantly killed in a three-vehicle pile-up on Route 8, west of Pte. au Chene. Both were occupants of a truck owned and driven by Mr. Young.

The accident occurred at 9.20 p.m. Saturday, when the westbound truck was involved in a collision with a 1955-model car, driven by Bernard Racette, of Joliette, and accompanied by Miss Huguette Fortin, of Montreal. The car left the highway following the accident, and ended up in a field, while the truck, swerving out of control, crossed the highway into the path of a recent-model station wagon owned and driven by Henri Magnam, Town of Mount Royal, who was accompanied by his wife and family.

The victims fell from the truck during the collision and were instantly killed.

Both cars were headed towards Lachute at the time of the mishap. Q.P.P. Agent Jean-Paul Legaré and Traffic Officer Lawrence Cruise, of the local detachment, investigated, assisted by Traffic Officers Thibodeau and Bedard of Montebello.

The victims were brought to the local morgue. No date for an inquest has been set by Joint District Coroner Dr. Roger Lavigne.

Urges Ayersville inquiry —

Maladministration charged; curb on '61 finances shows sound management feasible

"Despite all the obstructions encountered in the past year, we have administered this municipality as well as in recent years and have reduced the debt by $28,000," said Councillor Gaetan Plamondon, pro-mayor, presiding at the Ayersville Council in absence of Mayor Gaetan Paquette. The comment was prompted by study and adoption of the financial report, as prepared by Roland A. Morin, at the statutory session of Ayersville Council.

"The accumulated deficit of $111,000 has been reduced to $58,000. Adding to this a sum of $25,000 which is outstanding to 'Puits de Québec Enr.' (a claim presently in court action) this brings the debt to $83,500 — compared to $111,000 at the end of 1960. The debt has thus been lowered by $27,500," Councillor Plamondon elaborated. For the benefit of 50-or-so taxpayers present, he gave figures for comparison with the last administration.

Last year the operating deficit was $27,000. This year there was a surplus of $16,416 on operations.

Last year, costs for gasoline to operate the town trucks amounted to $6,289 — this year, $3,291.

Last year, gravel and various materials cost $2,594 — this year, $306.

Dispensing with the services of Police Chief Therrien and an assistant secretary had also reduced expenses, so that, at December 31, 1961, there was $9,133.72 balance in the bank. "— Which proves it is possible to operate this municipality on a sound basis, when the taxpayers' money is not thrown out the window," concluded Councillor Plamondon.

It was approved to retain the services of Roland Morin, chartered accountant, at a fee of $450, compared to the $650 charged in 1961 due to the complexity of the job at that time.

Building permits were granted to Lucien Beauchamp, for a house of Gilbert Street; Louis Righetti, for a garage, also on Gilbert Street; Napoléon Corbeil, for remodelling a warehouse on Champagne Street; Gerard Brunet, a house on Mallette Street; and Paul-Emile Gagné, a house on Bradford Street.

Following a claim from Canadian Fairbanks Morse for two pumps for the hospital sewer system, the contractor, Mr. Lacoste, was instructed to finish up his contract and install the said pumps.

Accounts of $5,912.08 were passed for payment, and a donation of $50 to the Prêt d'Honneur (fund to aid students) was approved, on a request from Edouard Lajoie.

Before closing, the pro-mayor asked the councillors to consider the advisability of asking for a commission inquiry into the affairs of Ayersville Municipality in the past few years. "If we have been able, in one year, to reduce the debt by around $28,000, there's good reason to believe there has been maladministration, and that the time has come to throw light on the mayor's actions."

Chatham Council

The year's financial statement as prepared by Roland Morin, C.A., was accepted at the monthly meeting of Chatham Council, chaired by Mayor Roméo Foucault. It was agreed that Mr. Morin be retained as auditor for the fiscal year of 1962.

Bills totalling $17,511.55 were approved for payment, and the secretary was instructed to write the Department of Agriculture regarding complaints on the Laurin water course, where rocks had been left obstructing the free flow of water.

School of Ballet examinations held

On Friday and Saturday of last week, the Argenteuil School of Ballet held examinations under auspices of the Royal Academy of Dancing. Twenty-five pupils from Lachute district and four from other schools were examined by Miss Joy Bury, a travelling R.A.D. examiner, who has pursued her career in the U.K., Australia, New Zealand and Canada, and has been associated with the Royal Academy of Dancing for the past 23 years.

The children danced Grades I, II and V exercises, being divided according to age (Grade I, 7-8 yrs., Grade II, 8-10 yrs., and Grade V, 14-16 yrs). Somewhat less than half the Lachute school participated, the others were excluded owing to age and lack of experience with Royal Academy methods, which were new in Lachute this year. Whereas the Checetti method, taught previously, stresses technique, the R.A.D. syllabus covers the much wider field of Dance, Mime and Deportment, etc. It does not regard dancing as "a series of physical movements in a vacuum", but rather, as a melting pot in which carriage, self- expression, co-ordination and a general musical education are all part of the whole. Thus an interesting and diversified program is presented to the student.

Because of the scope of its teachings, it follows that the Academy's exams would be of the same calibre. Consequently, although the exams appear in a written format, there are many places where the student's imagination is taxed. The first part of the tests consisted of basic ballet steps and exercises; then followed music interpretation and mime pieces set by the examiner; character steps and folk dances completed the perusal of the pupil's memory and talent.

Since the maximum amount of R.A.D. training that any Lachute student has had is quite low, miracles should not be expected. However, when the results are known in the next three weeks, it is hoped that added incentive will be given to the children.

Canvassers hold rally for Concerts campaign

A campaign rally in the Tartan Room of the Golf chalet, Monday evening, opened the 15th annual membership drive of the Community Concerts Association. Underlying this pleasant reunion of workers was the realization of an objective to be accomplished, and a determination to hold the ranks or increase their number — thus to ensure a season of concerts satisfying to all music-lovers in this area.

Present to assist in this inaugural, and remaining this week to help promote the campaign, Mr. Léo Bernache came from Ottawa as representative of the Community Concerts Organization and Columbia Artists Management.

Mrs. Fernand Legault, the president, welcomed the gathering of almost 40 campaigners. Miss Juliette Rodrigue and Mrs. G. R. Rigby, jointly in charge of the membership canvass, also Mr. Jacques Bedard, the secretary, brought forth constructive suggestions for enlisting a wider interest and support.

Appreciation was expressed to Paul Deslauriers, and the firm of Deslauriers & Marcil Inc., for their hospitality in according office space during campaign week. The headquarters are now situated at these premises, 498 Main Street, where lady assistants will be in attendance each afternoon to receive enquiries and reports. (The telephone number is LO 2-8131.) The secretary especially urged a speedy conclusion to the campaign, in order to permit early budgeting and selection of next season's entertainment features.

Contests held in Ayersville, B'burg and Chatham

At nominations in Ayersville on Wednesday of last week, Arthur Lanthier was elected by acclamation to replace Councillor Wilfrid Durocher, and Laurent Brasseur was elected to replace Councillor Gerard Gauthier.

In election contests held on Monday last, Raymond Champagne, retiring councillor, was re-elected (416-177 votes) over his opponent, Philippe Mallette, for Seat No. 3.

At Brownsburg

Jas. B. Donaldson was elected mayor by acclamation at Brownsburg last Wednesday. Mr. Donaldson, a veteran of the council chamber and mayoral office, replaces Mayor René Lafleur, retiring.

Mayor-elect "Jim" Donaldson

Ernest Gagné, councillor, was re-elected to Seat No. 5.

A contest between Florent Fortin and Alfred Monette, nominees for Seat No. 1, was held on Monday — Fortin winning the honors by a vote of 531-57.

Chatham Township

Contests were also held Monday in Chatham Township.

Chas. Maisonneuve defeated retiring Councillor Dieudonné Leroux, 495 votes to 140.

Basil Clark defeated the other retiring councillor, Adelard Gagné, 497 votes to 135.

Week's Epigram

A small town is a place where a fellow with a black eye doesn't have to explain. They already know.

Growth in commercial section —

Spurt in business properties, Main St. building, remodelling

A quick glance at Main Street developments this spring emphasizes the trend which has long been apparent — the extension of business westward, from the bright-lights section towards Barron's Bridge. In a few years this will doubtless be all commercial; there are now only one or two residential properties remaining.

Georges Clermont is erecting a two-store building on his lot next to the Barron property. It is reported a lessee is ready to take over one side, and a prospective tenant is negotiating for the other.

The Omer Boudreau property opposite, in which two stores were gutted by fire, and apartments above, was remodeled in quick order by its proprietor. The two stores are back in business with a brighter front and outlook.

Dr. R. Percival's residence next to City Hall (which dates back to early families in the life of this town) was purchased recently by Yvon Deschatelets, of Brownsburg, operator of a chip-potato wagon on Main Street. There are possible business developments in the future of this block. Dr. Percival has meanwhile taken up residence on Clyde Street.

Back in the central shopping area of Main Street, Harvey Kerr is extending his operations in Kerr's Diner, to open a restaurant in his former premises and the next-door store in the Bédard block, with seating for 80 customers.

Cliff Cunningham, in an old familiar stand, is expecting to move into new premises at the end of this month — having rented the former Dansereau Store in Ed Mansour's block to give more space for his tobacconist and news-stand business, also his travel agency. This is a move which will change the habits, and divert the movements, of many newspaper buyers, including the early-morning business fraternity, besides many others.

Another addition to Main Street properties is an extension to the front of the Jacques Champagne barber shop, adjoining the Professional Centre. This extension is for a new drugstore to be opened by Paul Harbour, proprietor of Ayersville Pharmacy.

School pupils gave performance of 'H.M.S. Pinafore' operetta

The performance of Gilbert and Sullivan's well known operetta, "H.M.S. Pinafore", at Lachute High School on Saturday evening was one of those occasional bright spots illustrating a desire to keep the theatrical and musical arts alive among young people of the English-speaking community. It was an effort wholly attributable to the school music director, Mrs. Eleanor Rigby, who conceived the idea and put great effort into its production.

There was a large attendance of parents and friends in the school auditorium. The scenic backdrop on the stage, the costumes, deployment of cast, and general showmanship left nothing to be desired. The actors sang or recited their lines with flawless memory, and the several leading characters entered well into the spirit of their roles. The entire performance met warm acclaim — the cast, mostly in junior high school and even younger, enacting the Gilbert and Sullivan romance with obvious enjoyment and feeling interpretation.

A "first" in this performance was the orchestral accompaniment. Never in recent years has this been attempted here, and credit is due to Mrs. Rigby again for this innovation. The orchestra of string and wind instruments, and a drum, was made up of practised and out-of-practice amateurs from Brownsburg and Lachute, and the manner in which they had refurbished their instruments, persevered and rehearsed, to provide a well co-ordinated accompaniment, was a highlight of the program. It illustrated what might be done under zealous leadership with the talent resources

Old landmark on Lakefield road destroyed by fire

A landmark on the Lakefield Road, a dwelling built some 100 years ago by the Kettyle family and occupied for some years by Neal Moore and family, was burned to the ground early Saturday morning.

According to Mr. Moore, a chimney fire had started around 6 a.m.; the fire was believed to have burned itself out, when the attic of the large frame, two-storey building was discovered to be a mass of flames. A call to the Lachute Fire Brigade brought equipment to the scene. The flames had broken through the roof and the ceiling into the upstairs. Lack of water in the immediate vicinity hampered firemen in fighting the flames, which in short order engulfed the entire house and large summer kitchen, and sheds at the rear of the house.

A drum of gasoline exploded in the sheds, spreading the fire in a raging inferno.

Convention for Social Credit nomination

J. Orphir Desjardins — whose possible entry into the election fray as Social Crediter was mentioned last week — has received approval for the calling of a convention. This will he held in McArthur's Hall, 360 Main Street, at 8 p.m. on May 18, for the purpose of choosing a candidate for the Social Credit representation. All electors of Argenteuil - Deux Montagnes are invited to attend.

Scout paper drive Saturday in Lachute district

A Boy Scout paper drive is to be held in Lachute this Saturday, May 19. Rural people who have a donation, may call LO 2-8175 or LO 2-6776. (A Brownsburg heading was inadvertently placed on this announcement last week.)

If at all possible, the Scouts request that no paper be placed on the sidewalk, but that it be tied and ready when the boys call at the homes. The collectors are endeavoring to fill two trailers, so they do not wish to miss anyone.

Award presented to Brownsburg Red Cross worker

Blood Clinic mobile unit coming May 24

Brownsburg — At the Anglican Ladies' Guild meeting on May 9, Mrs. William Talbot was awarded the Badge of Merit in recognition of her many years as a faithful Red Cross worker.

Mr. Gerald Quinn, vice-president of the Brownsburg Branch, made the presentation and the Rev. C. R. Lang congratulated Mrs. Talbot.

Mrs. N. E. Smillie remarked that Red Cross is a work in which there is no distinction of race or religion, but rather a Christian endeavor to help others. It was also pointed out that this is no new organization, but one lasting over 100 years; that the first Red Cross flag was a simple piece of factory cotton with the Geneva Cross, hand-sewn, and was flown during the North West Rebellion.

The Branch wishes to remind all residents that the mobile blood clinic will be at the Legion Hall on May 24, from 2 to 5 p.m. and from 7 to 9 p.m. If transportation is needed, call any Red Cross member.

Mrs. Hilda Barker stated that the work rooms will be closed May 25, and anyone having work out, is asked to return it before that day.

"ARGENTEUIL OUTDOORS"

— A column for the sportsman —

By BOB ATCHISON

In our own immediate area, fishing became more productive last week and some good catches were reported for this time of year. Creek fishing is good, due no doubt to the drop in water levels. I heard of a couple of real nice trout being taken in one of these creeks — 14 inches for the largest, and this is no small fish. Very fat and excellent in color, it was a beauty. Also there was a catch of 10; I did not see these, so would imagine they were the usual small creek trout. A 5-lb. Grey made another fisherman happy. Perch are being caught in Lac Emily as usual. Not a thing has been taken in the North River yet, but I have hopes. When the water recedes to its usual level, they should start hitting.

In some parts of the County, fishing has been a waste of time. But I was told of some fair catches around the Morin Heights and Arundel districts. No size, but enough to make it worthwhile. This condition will not last very long though, as I have been told of netting going on very openly.

A few Geese are still with us, and a good number of Blue Herons are around, along with the other shore birds. Sandpipers and Yellow Legs can be seen bouncing along — their peeping floating on the air. A couple of Sharp Shinned Hawks are keeping the starlings in check around our place. But from talking to bird watchers, I gather these birds have taken over in a lot of places. A lady was telling me of all her "pets", as she calls them, being chased out by the starlings, and try as she may, she can't get rid of them. I recommend a shotgun just as they come in to roost at night. It will take a few blasts to drive them away, but sooner or later they'll get the idea they are not wanted.

Some welcome information. . . . The Parish of St. Jerusalem is going to have signs posted, warning against the dumping of garbage along the roads, streams, etc. This will be enforced to the tune of $50, which maybe will start some of these litter-hogs thinking. If only people would realize that this does more harm for the County than can be estimated, in revenue, etc., perhaps they would be more considerate. I also heard of a Club, bordering on this County, that was responsible for dumping a load of junk into the river. On going back to dump a second load, a few yells made them change their minds, and they dumped it somewhere else. Boy, is this stupid! Presumably this club wants tourist business, yet through lack of thought they could be in danger of losing everything they have worked for. After all, if rivers and lands become polluted, then no tourists.

Moose are still being sighted. The latest report is from the Morin Heights district. They are still being seen in our own immediate vicinity. These animals are going to have to be protected in a big way, or some of those jokers running the bush with guns are going to take a crack at them. It is also reported that dogs are running the bush around Mille Isles, big enough to do damage to any young moose that may have been born, or deer. It's too bad that, with all the publicity given to the dogs in the bush, people don't care, unless it hits home to them.

Partridge can be seen in the countryside; they sure like to gather on the roads (dirt type) and sun themselves. I haven't seen any young yet, but I would imagine there are a number hatched. I was told of some also of two pheasants; from the district they were seen in, they are probably a couple of free birds from the Pheasant Farm in the district. Let's hope a lot of poor-aim shooters come up after pheasants on the Farm, then maybe we'll get a free stocking job done in the County! Some of you may remember, when we stocked Main Duck Island with Ring Necks and Goldens, how they flitted to the mainland one of the severe winters we had, and populated the Canadian and American shores. . . . Anyway, in the case of the pheasants, we can hope for some nice clean "misses".

I received a call that may interest the Wardens. Netters were seen in the first creek going towards Dunany. It's true this is a small creek, but with a long minnow net they could take the brookies that inhabit this water. With the net stretched across and a couple of fellows chasing, it won't be hard to clean this creek out, and fast. This has been done before, and until some good fines are imposed, it will continue to happen. It's worth investigating, anyway.

A good number of complaints have come from fishermen on supposed "private" lakes in the district. This is a matter that only the Government can stop. They were supposed to publish a list of all the closed areas, and I know it has been requested in this district — without result. This is a problem that should be aired and stopped wherever necessary. Naturally, owners wish to keep any property private because of the unthinking people that get in, and they cannot be blamed for this. But how about the fisherman, who supports the government with his money; what does he get in return? As far as I am concerned, just talk.

Fly fishermen are getting into action. After one experience, I would like to pass on a little advice. Look after your lines. Do not leave them on your reels for any length of time. Run them off around a wooden peg. They won't become tacky or sticky, doing this, and it saves you a little money. When lines get like this it is a big job to put them back into shape. The surface of the line has to be stripped clean, then your finish built up in layers — which takes a lot of time.

Another thing, dress your lines once in awhile. When a line gets watersoaked, it is very hard to cast, pick up and float. Dressing is an easy job, and worth while. Stretch the line between a couple of poles. Wipe it off with a cloth, and make sure there is no grit left on the line. With another small cloth rub the waterproofing well into the line; let it dry off for a short time, then wipe off any excess with another cloth. Then you can start to polish it; the higher you wish your line to float, the more you polish it. Then, last but not least, clean out the eyes of your rod. A good amount of lint and dirt collects in them, and cleaning them out once in awhile helps your line to run free. All this may seem like a lot of trouble, but believe me, it's worth it!

More and more of you will be going into the bush as the days get warmer. So once again — take it easy with your fires. The good Lord never intended us to burn up all His creation — even though man seems to think so at times.

Association held fishing derby at Lake Louisa

Around 60 enthusiasts took part in the fish derby planned by the Argenteuil Fishing and Hunting Association, last Sunday at the St. Michel end of Lake Louisa.

Weather was ideal for an outing of this kind, but the fishing was desultory. However, an enjoyable time was reported.

Jacques Gagné, of Lachute, weighed-in the biggest fish and won the $25 merchandise prize kindly donated by Lascelles Sport Shop, Ayersville. Richard Gravel, Ernest Villemaire and Jacques Navion also had catches to qualify for awards. The entry prizes were won by Marcel Séguin, Victor Barré, Conrad Barril, Réal Lemay and Jacques Navion.

Appreciation is expressed to the prize donors — Leonard Bédard, Lascelles Sport Shop, Fernand Gibeault, Armand Rochon, Dominion Stores, Clinton McGill and Mme F. Monette.

At the end of the day refreshments were served to all participants, by courtesy of Leonard Bédard, Molson's agent and sponsor of the Association. The organizers also served a bean supper.

Gaston Lepine had charge of arrangements for this event.

Long Sault conflict continues unabated

The Battle of the Long Sault continues today unabated — a sort of cold war of contentious words, in which the principal combatants are Dr. G. R. Rigby and Miss H. Lambart on the Quebec side, and Prof. Thomas Lee on the Ontario side — stolid contenders for the claims of the two respective provinces as the site of Dollard's immortal exploit.

Headed "Lee Refutes the Rigby-Lambart Thesis — A Comedy of Errors", a lengthy continued article is appearing in Le Carillon (Hawkesbury). Commencing in last week's issue, the article is written by Professor Lee to dismember, limb by limb, the Rigby-Lambart theories as published in The Watchman — this newspaper apparently sharing Prof. Lee's critical rebuttal. The article, unfortunately, is too long to reproduce at this time.

Meanwhile another authority is heard from. . . . Clashing sabres with Prof. Lee is Seraphin Ouimet, the engineer-surveyor — one who labored and tarried so long in these parts that he was regarded almost as a "residenter" by the older generation. Now 80, Mr. Ouimet is retired. He is the last surviving engineer who worked on the Georgian Bay canal, and he charted the hydrographic contours of the entire Ottawa River.

"The present appearance of the river bears no resemblance to its course in 1660, since the construction of dams which started in 1870," he told the Montreal Historical Society, at a recent meeting. "But the bed of the river is unchanged, and a hydrographic study enables one to reconstitute the original course." . . . In short, (based on arguments also too lengthy to reproduce) Mr. Ouimet asserts that the Dollard fort and the scene of his heroic stand was situated at Carillon, near the common "passage" used by the Iroquois and Hurons.

Le Devoir (April 27 issue) preambled its report on this topic by quoting Seraphin Ouimet as follows: "It is a historical absurdity to contend that Dollard and his men, without approval of their guides . . . would have crossed the Ottawa to establish themselves . . . Thomas Lee, archeologist, has erred in heeding false claims and hypothetical evidence. He must realize that his theory is untenable in the light of hydrographic facts which he has ignored from the start. . . . "

But Prof. Lee realizes no such thing, judging by his later article in Le Carillon.

And so continues the (verbal) Battle of the Long Sault.

Campaign rally of Community Concert workers

Mr. Léo Bernache, manager for Community Concerts of Canada, recalled some of the artists featured in Lachute during its 14 seasons of Community Concerts. It could be considered a matter of pride and satisfaction, he said, that Lachute had enjoyed such celebrities as Firkusny, pianist; Simoneau, tenor; the Trapp Family, songsters; the Beaux Arts Trio; Louis Quillico, singer; and Ronald Turini, pianist — all of whom had soared to top-ranking talent and today are greatly in demand. On the other side of the picture, Lachute Community Concerts could feel gratified for their part in helping these artists upward on the climb to fame. . . . Community Concerts were a definite contribution to community life — a factor which should receive emphasis in the approach for memberships, said Mr. Bernache.

Refreshments and social intermingling, in the Terrace Room adjoining, concluded this promising send-off to the 1962 campaign.

During the past week in Montreal there passed away another of the older generation of former Lachute residents, in the person of Henrietta (Nettie) M. Giles.

Miss Giles was the daughter of the late Henry J. Giles and his wife, Margaret Meikle. She leaves to mourn her loss several stepbrothers and sisters.

The funeral was held Friday from D. A. Collins Chapel, Sherbrooke Street W., to Mount Royal crematorium.

'HMS Pinafore' performance by school pupils

of this community, despite the multiple distractions of modern living. The musicians, coming out of retirement for this special occasion, played a lengthy prelude, a few brief interludes, and the accompaniment for the grande finale. The group deserves much credit.

Invaluable to this performance, under the baton of Mrs. Rigby as maestro, was the piano accompaniment of Miss Juliette Rodrigue. In a brief address at intermission, Principal Fred Royal gave unstinting praise to these two ladies. Two of the "stars" came forward — Donald Stewart presenting a corsage to Miss Rodrigue, and Miss Heather Douglas presenting a bouquet of roses to Mrs. Rigby, as tokens of appreciation. Mr. Royal also paid tribute to the orchestra, and to the Home and School members who had assisted, notably in the matter of costumes, both boys' and girls', which made the presentation so colorful.

Credit is also due to the make-up "artists", who did an excellent job.

Solo parts were taken by pupils pictured in the accompanying group photograph. The chorus groups consisted of the H.M.S. Pinafore crewmen and the First Lord's "sisters, cousins and aunts".

A full-dress presentation without benefit of orchestra, was given at the school on Tuesday afternoon for benefit of the Red Cross.

Expensive items and contentious topics at Brownsburg Council

(Our District Correspondent)

Brownsburg — The regular monthly meeting of the Brownsburg Town Council opened on an expensive note, as Secretary Vincent Charbonneau read the minutes of a previous special meeting at which Council had approved the purchase of a new automobile costing approximately $2,400, and passed a motion to adopt a new building by-law. Professional fees for drawing up the by-law amount to some $2,500. The long awaited regulations will control such things as the internal construction of a dwelling, placement of a home on a lot, and the location of commercial establishments, etc. Next problem — How to enforce the regulations!

Monthly vouchers totalled $3,792.92, while payment was approved on special vouchers amounting to $14,445.62. The latter sum includes payments on the new "Sanivan", the town truck, and repairs to the snowblower. A new motor in this piece of equipment cost the municipality $2,700.

In the regular "answering the public" portion of the session, visitor Charles Joanis informed Council that he was seeking legal advice in his efforts to obtain compensation for automobile damage suffered when he lost control of his car on what he described as "icy village streets". His claim for insurance settlement had apparently been turned down, but Mr. Joanis maintained that the "terrible" condition of the streets on a winter morning", was responsible for the accident. "Why does the town pay for public liability insurance if people cannot collect for damages?" was Mr. Joanis' query. A good question. — Since no one in the Council seemed to know the answer, perhaps someone else does?

Sydney Seary asked that Council investigate the possibility of reducing the water pressure in his area (Maple Avenue S.). This condition has existed for years, and continues to cause inconvenience. Mr. Seary also requested Council to improve the drainage system on Maple Avenue S., by opening the ditches to prevent rain water from collecting and rushing down the roadway.

Traffic

The question of speeding on town streets was raised once again, with this reporter insisting there has been little improvement in the area of Main Street East. Police Chief Roger Boutet and Councillor Georges Therrien insisted, just as strongly, that speeding was virtually non-existent in town now. Chief Boutet's record books showed an impressive list of radar checks, but listed only three speeding tickets issued. True, this could indicate no speeding, but as pointed out to Council, this could also mean that the radar checks were not conducted in the right place at the right time. This reporter favors the latter possibility, since in one of a number of periods in which car speeds were checked with a device other than the latest electronic equipment, 20 of 37 cars passing in a 10-minute period were well above the speed limit!

Fire Report

Fire Chief Ferne Brisson reported that his department had responded to seven alarms during the month. Six of these were grass fires, and three of the six occurred in the St. Philippe area, where the Brownsburg fire crew works at the rate of $80 per hour. While on the subject of fires, Chief Brisson passed on the following information . . .

"Clean-up time is with us again. We are being reminded by campaigns from the National Fire Protection Association, the Canadian Chambers of Commerce and the International Association of Fire Chiefs, that we must warn the public that every 12 minutes a home catches fire from rubbish. All such homes are damaged to some degree or other, and many of them are destroyed — all from an accumulation of rubbish. So keep in mind that springtime is clean-up time. 'Put rubbish on the run. A clean home seldom burns.'" . . . To this might be added the suggestion to keep the garden hose handy when burning leaves and rubbish outside.

New Mayor and Councillor

As of Monday evening, May 13, Brownsburg has a new mayor and a new councillor. Election day, which was largely unheralded, brought the election by acclamation of James Donaldson, as mayor, and the election of Florent Fortin as councillor, replacing Fred Monette.

APPRECIATION

To the many friends and neighbors who gave us such wonderful help during and after the fire which destroyed our home on Saturday, May 12, we wish to extend our sincere thanks; also to the Lachute Fire Department, who responded so quickly and worked so hard.

Couple wed at Fort William, Ont.; bride feted in Ukrainian tradition

Krack-Dunn

On May 5th at St. Thomas' Anglican Church, Fort William, the marriage took place of Sheila Isabella Lillian, youngest daughter of Mrs. William Dunn, of Drummondville and Lakefield, Que., and of the late William Dunn, Jr., of Miami, Manitoba, to Maurice Walter Krack, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Krack, of Fort William.

The bride, given away by her mother, wore a blue suit with white accessories, and carried a white Bible, with spray and streamers of Sweetheart roses. Miss Marilyn Williams, of Port Arthur, was the bride's only attendant. She wore a grey suit with white accessories, and a corsage of deep pink carnations.

The mother of the groom wore a green printed silk dress, with matching jacket, and the groom's godmother, Mrs. Wolowich, was in beige, while the bride's mother wore blue — all with corsage bouquets of pink carnations.

The altar was decorated with white chrysanthemums, and the organist of the church played the wedding music. The wedding was a double-ring ceremony.

Mr. Maurice Lazinsky was best man for his friend, and Mr. Ken Kraft, assisted by the groom's brother, Mr. Donald Krack, acted as usher.

After the marriage service, a family dinner and reception was held in the Blue Room of the Westport Hotel, where close relatives gathered to wish the young couple well. Miss Connie Dunn, of London, Ont., travelled by plane to attend her sister's wedding.

Shortly after the reception, Mr. and Mrs. Krack left for a short holiday in the United States, after which they will reside at 701 Gore St. West, Fort William.

Miss Sheila Dunn was honored at a bridal shower given by the staff of Little Long Lac Hospital, Geraldton, where she had been X-ray technician for the past few months; she received many gifts, both useful and beautiful.

On Thursday evening, May 3, the bride-to-be was guest of honor at a shower given by friends of her fiancé's family, in the Ukrainian tradition. Under the sponsorship of the prospective bridegroom's godmother, Mrs. Wolowich, and his mother, Mrs. Paul Krack, assisted by Mrs. Bareskl, Mrs. Martineuk, Mrs. Rudyk, Mrs. Balabuck, Stephanie Helget and Mrs. Bazaluk, about 150 guests met to do honor to the prospective bride. The gifts were unwrapped by the bride-to-be, assisted by her bridesmaid, Miss Marilyn Williams and Miss Marusha Wolowich. Delicious refreshments were provided by the ladies a little later.

After the guest of honor had thanked the donors of her lovely gifts, Mrs. Wolowich presented her with a purse of over $275, the united offering of these friends to help the young couple in their married life.

DEFENCE SPENDING

Nearly one in ten of every dollar produced in goods and services in the United States is spent on defence. Nearly one in ten of all workers is employed by defence establishments. Canadian figures would not be far different.

Archbishop at St. Simeon's for Confirmation rites

Congregational token for long service as church warden

On Tuesday evening of last week, His Grace the Most Rev. John Dixon, Archbishop of Montreal, visited St. Simeon's Anglican Church, Lachute, for the service of Confirmation. Eleven candidates were presented by the rector, the Rev. C. R. Lang, to receive the "laying on of hands". The number included — Patsy Low, Sandra Dorion, Susan Evans, Joyce Bedard, Robert Sioui, Carl Napp, Brent Townsend, Michael Humphries, William Silverson, Douglas Jenkins and Robert Gain.

Assisting at the service were the Rev. W. C. LeCras and Captain R. W. Prendergast.

Appreciation for Long Service

Following the service the congregation was invited to the parish hall, where the rector, on behalf of the congregation, presented Mr. George Leggett with a chaise lounge, as a token of their appreciation for his services as church warden for 21 years. Mrs. Lang, on behalf of the congregation, presented Mrs. Leggett with a bouquet of red and white carnations.

Refreshments were served by ladies of the congregation.

'Solution to man's snowballing difficulties . . .'

Fifteen Jehovah's Witnesses returned home from their convention in Montreal last week-end, "refreshed and stimulated for increased activity in the community," said Mr. Bryce Miller, presiding minister here.

Mr. Miller reported, "The entire program was designed to impress on us that there is an urgent need for more time to be spent in preaching the good news of God's kingdom as the only solution to mankind's snowballing difficulties. The practical way to meet this need is for Christian individuals and families to buy out time from these critical days, then to schedule it for spreading hopegiving Bible knowledge.

"Just how urgent it is to step-up our program of faithfully informing our neighbors was emphasized in the discourse, 'Who Will Rule the world?' " continued Mr. Miller.

Mr. Saumur, district supervisor for Quebec, gave the lecture and referred to the world's strife, confusion and divisions. "The very cream of human brains are unable to put into practice their clever ideas for easing world tension. People and nations fear the future," he said. "But what mankind needs to know is that world rulership has been determined by God. The one with authority to rule from God is not a power-hungry, atheistic dictator of the East, nor is he a democratically-elected ruler of the West. The one empowered by God is his own son, Jesus Christ. . . . The prophet Daniel reveals that soon Jesus will demonstrate his authority as world ruler with crushing force against the competing nations and will give peace to men of good will."

Roland Gow, returning home from McGill last week after completing the 2nd year Science course, left today (Wednesday) for the School of Artillery at Camp Shilo, Man. This is the third summer he has spent in training at Shilo.

Couple honeymoon in Florida and Bahamas

Boyd-Sutton

The marriage of Maureen Beatrice, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Sutton, of Notre Dame de Grace, to Mr. John Douglas Boyd, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nat Boyd, of Lachute, took place recently in St. Malachy's Church, Hampstead, the Rev. Father John Britt officiating. Standards of snapdragons and Shasta daisies were used to decorate.

The bride, given away by her father, was in a gown of white poult-de-soie, the fitted bodice having a portrait neckline and sleeves ending in points over the hands, and the bell-shaped skirt, appliquéd with beaded lace, falling into a chapel train. Her veil of French tulle was held by a circlet of poult-de-soie, and she carried a cascade bouquet of white gardenias and stephanotis.

Miss Virginia Holdship, as maid of honor, and Miss Lulu Morissey and Miss Janet Sauve, as bridesmaids, were in frocks of aquamarine poult-de-soie, having fitted bodices and bell-shaped overskirts. They wore matching open pillboxes and carried cascade bouquets of pale yellow Shasta daisies.

Mr. David Field acted as best man for the groom, and the ushers were his brother, Mr. Garth Boyd, Mr. Brian Sutton, brother of the bride, and Mr. James Murdoch, of Lachute.

Mrs. Sutton, mother of the bride, was gowned in mocha chiffon. She wore a toque of matching tulle, and a corsage bouquet of green cymbidium orchids.

Mrs. Boyd, the bridegroom's mother, wore a gown of champagne beige silk shantung, a tulle hat in the same shade, and a corsage bouquet of beige cymbidium orchids.

BELL LINES

by JIM MENZIES

Diggers, beware!

Spring is here . . . and foundations, water pipes and sewers are being dug up for new houses being built. . . . Why not call us, and we will be glad to tell you if we have any cables or wires where you are digging; and if we have, we'll locate and mark them for you, and thus avoid any damage to them and interruptions to our service.

This service is free, so give us a call at "Repair Service, 114" and we will be glad to let you know where our buried plant is located.

We won't be satisfied until everybody knows!

A lot of people in Lachute have heard about our "Night-Economy" Plan — that wonderful money-saving plan which provides you with double value on station-to-station long distance calls of 10 minutes or more between points in Ontario and Quebec, any evening after nine o'clock. We've heard people around town talking about it and we know a lot of folks have taken advantage of it. Nevertheless, a recent survey showed that there are still a large number of people who don't know about the plan . . . people who are missing the best bargain in long distance calling ever offered by our company. We won't be satisfied until everybody in Lachute district knows about it! So let's remind everybody once again about this low cost long distance service.

- It's available from 9 p.m. to 4.30 a.m.
- It applies to station-to-station calls
- It is effective between points in Ontario and Quebec.

HERE'S HOW IT WORKS: The first five minutes are charged at low night rates; there's no extra charge for the second five minutes. After that every TWO additional minutes are charged as ONE.

Looking for a job?

I'd like to suggest than any young ladies who are looking for full-time employment might consider a job with the telephone company. While we have no openings here in town, there are jobs available in our offices in some of the larger centres.

If you have a high school education, are in good health, enjoy working with the public, and are interested in a challenging and rewarding career, we'd be happy to have you drop in and talk with us. Our office is at 75 Water Street, Lachute. I'm sure you'll find the Bell a pleasant place to work, and we're sure you'd enjoy working with other people on our staff.

Hazards of a hasty approach

PROSPECTS of a new structure to replace Barron's Bridge seem as remote as ever, and with traffic increasing in volume year by year, the spot presents a hazard which must be kept in mind by residents, and drawn to the attention of strangers. If an automobile plunged over the river bank (as several have gone before), now, with the river in flood, it would be a gamble whether the occupants would come out alive. (Fortunately the approaching guard-rail is now a substantial affair, and this sort of mishap is less likely to happen.)

It is timely to note the surveillance of the police now that spring is here. This is especially needed in the week-end nights or early hours, when celebrants, none too conscious of their speed, hit Lachute from the north and west and come unwittingly upon this hazard.

The town authorities should give early attention to the pavement markings at the intersection opposite the Memorial Park, and renew the paint as soon as possible.

There is also need of a sign at the St. Andrews (Rte. 29) approach instructing motorists to YIELD (or CEDEZ) the right of way to those emereging from the bridge (Rtes. 31 and 8). This right of way may be understood by residents who know the district, but it is certainly unknown to strangers. Out-of-town drivers deserve this assistance, and indeed, every other protection that can be afforded by signs and markings. Many residents feel it is time a traffic light was installed at this intersection.

It is in order for our police to correct unwary drivers who neglect to slow down on entering town, but there is an equal obligation to be sure that they have the benefit of clear signs and directions.

Servant of man, but cannot speak

AN AUTOMOBILE does not usually give warning of developing flaws or weaknesses. It's up to the driver to anticipate them or discover them before they cause an accident, warns the Canadian Highway Safety Council in its nation-wide campaign to convince every motorist he should have his vehicle thoroughly checked for the coming summer period.

"When an accident results from a mechanical breakdown in a vehicle," the Council cautions, "the owner is usually at fault. He can place no blame on the car. It's his responsibility to maintain his car in safe condition at all times, and now is the time to check on all defects that might be present, or developing, after a hard winter of driving." The Council urges motorists to have lights, glass, steering, mirrors, brakes, exhaust, horn, wipers and tires thoroughly examined as soon as possible.

Gullible collectors

THE TYPICAL Canadian — if there is such a person — is usually painted as a level-headed sort of an individual. We like to think of ourselves as gifted with a fair share of common-sense.

When we hear about the occasional person taken in by some colossal confidence game, such as the man who draws all his savings from the bank and buys a money-manufacturing machine with it, we're inclined to smile and wonder at such gullibility.

But do we really have an honest vision of what we're like? Is it possible there are more gullible people among us than we care to think about?

A hoax that keeps cropping up around this country seems to suggest that we're just as likely as the next man to be taken in. It involves the saving of empty cigarette packages. Some people have gathered thousands of them because they had heard that they could be used to win a seeing-eye dog for a blind person or as premiums on a wheelchair for a crippled person.

Organized collections have been made in many business firms, unions, hospitals and even some police departments. Often it isn't until the collector tries to turn the empty packages in for the dog or wheelchair that he learns he has been saving them for nothing. They're not worth anything to anyone and the idea that they can be redeemed is nothing more than a hoax.

Efforts to find out how it all started are usually frustrated. The president of the National Association of Tobacco and Confectionery Distributors says investigators check each report but have never been able to trace them to their original source. In one case the trail was followed through nine persons before it petered out.

Despite circulars from Better Business Bureaus, stories in newspapers and repeated investigation by the tobacco firms, the report that empty cigarette packages are worth collecting continues to turn up. Hardly a town or city in Canada hasn't had somebody collecting them at some time.

Who says we're not gullible?

Youthful marriages

It may come as a surprise to many Canadians to learn that in four provinces it is legal for a girl of 12 and a boy of 14 to marry, providing, of course, they have the consent of their parents. . . . The four provinces are New Brunswick, Newfoundland, Quebec and Nova Scotia.

At the other end of the ladder is British Columbia, which requires parental consent for anyone — male or female — under 21 to marry. The other provinces fall somewhere in between.

The Nova Scotia Council of Women has passed a resolution asking that the minimum marrying age in that province be set at 16. Perhaps there is more that can be done than simply setting an arbitrary age limit.

Marriage statistics from the bureau of statistics don't specify how many 12-year-old girls and 14-year-old boys marry. They do indicate, however, that the average marrying age is getting younger.

For example, 20 years ago the average age for girls on their wedding day was 24 years, eight months. For men it was 28. Today it's a little over 23 years for girls and 26 for men.

More important, about one of every three girls is married today before she reaches the age of 20. It's one in 14 for the men.

An additional fact is that the divorce rate has risen sharply in the last 25 years and there now are more than 6,000 divorces annually.

It's difficult enough to make a marriage work under the best of circumstances. When it involves two people with uncertain economic prospects plus an immature outlook, there is real danger.

There are girls of 17 who are fully ready for marriage and boys of 19 who have the maturity for the plunge. The difficulty is that there are many others at those ages who have no idea of what they're letting themselves in for, and for whom a wedding would be a serious mistake.

The responsibility, then, must fall on the parents and there are many who have refused to shoulder this responsibility.

It's all very well to set a minimum marriage age to prevent weddings of absurdly immature youngsters. But in the long run there is no substitute for the kind of upbringing that will assure boys and girls are prepared for marriage when the proper time comes.

ELECTION OPPORTUNITIES

A good time to let politicians know what you want and don't want is NOW, when they are soliciting your votes. This is the time to put them right on the spot and get from them some clear statements of how they stand on various issues.

For my part, candidates who solicit my support will have to assure me that they will be more prudent with the dollars they collect. I have no desire to be bribed with my own money; I will vote for the candidate who promises to stop spending money as if it were going out of style.

You may have different ideas. I know there are some voters who think that when taxes are raised they are not hurt personally. They even approve of the notion that corporations should be soaked. It is a naive position to hold, because if the corporations are soaked they must raise their prices and who do you suppose pays those increased prices? However, those who are naive enough to want the corporations soaked must get in their best digs during the election campaign.

Another thing I am going to ask of the candidates in my constituency is a statement one way or another on widows' pensions. I go along with the National Council of Women in their argument that present tax on widow's pensions is grossly unfair and ought to be dropped or changed. Indeed, I think Canada's entire tax structure should be changed to lower the rates, so that we can compete in price with other countries, and I am going to ask candidates how they feel about it and what they will do about it if elected.

Elections can be boring, but they are, in my opinion, an education. You can have a lot of fun and learn a lot by taking part, attending the meetings, asking questions. This I propose to do. I think the days when politics were discussed around the pot-bellied stove or over the cracker barrel in the country stores were good days, and that the custom ought to be revived. Next time you meet a neighbor, involve him in a political argument. You might not convince him, but you are almost certain to come out of the discussion somewhat wiser, and he is likely to learn a little from you. That's what makes democracy click.

THE LACHUTE WATCHMAN

75 YEARS AGO

Friday, May 22, 1887 —

Mr. Thomas Owens, of Stonefield, injured his leg when the stairs of the Court House gave way.

Mr. W. D. Cook has purchased the River Rouge cheese factory, also is building one at Carillon and another at St. Hermas.

Mr. Wm. Heatlie was unanimously appointed to fill the council seat in Chatham left vacant by the death of Mayor Douglas.

A sparkling drama, "Beauty and the Beast", was part of a dramatic program in St. Andrews Town Hall.

Dr. Thos. Christie has been appointed to the Board of Governors of the College of Physicians and Surgeons.

50 YEARS AGO

Friday, May 24, 1912 —

Cushing — A gang of laborers has arrived to resume work on the C.N.R. The company's agent has been busy settling with farmers for the right of way along the projected line.

Housework is a pleasure if you use our Automatic (hand-operated) Vacuum Cleaner. — Geo. Y. Deacon (advt.).

Mr. J. E. Valois has a number of men engaged in removing his present house on the vacant property adjoining; he will erect a new residence on the old site.

A number of automobiles have made their appearance in town. Among the proud possessors are Messrs. J. M. Dorion, J. R. Parris, Vic Lefebvre, J. D. Lemay, E. F. Ayers and P. Chabot.

25 YEARS AGO

Thursday, May 13, 1937 —

The blessing of the new Ste. Anastasie Parish Church was attended by eminent clerics last Sunday. Monsignor Deschamps, Bishop of Montreal, officiated.

Mr. George Ball was elected mayor of Brownsburg, defeating Mr. John Mason. Little interest was apparent in the voting.

Dr. W. P. Percival, Director of Protestant Education, was guest speaker at a public meeting in the Court House, Lachute — where members of the Argenteuil Historical Society agreed that the offer of the Carillon Barracks building put forward by Mr. Hungerbuhler was too good to turn down, although it has been thought the maintenance and care of the building would prove too burdensome a project.

Members of all County branches attended a gathering in Lachute Auditorium when the W.I.'s were honored with a visit by Her Excellency Lady Tweedsmuir. Seven Coronation life memberships were presented — to Mrs. Archie Graham, Mrs. Jas. Murdoch, Mrs. E. Kettyle, Mrs. A. Bothwell, Mrs. J. E. Seale, Mrs. R. Bradley and Mrs. J. Gordon. . . . Mrs. G. F. W. Kuhring, County president, welcomed the vice-regal visitor and Lady Perley, who accompanied Her Excellency.

Adelard Brière, 58, lost his life when his horse climbed upon the cement gallery of his home near St. Jerome, while Brière was asleep in the wagon. The vehicle overturned and one of the wheels passed over his head.

An issue of 750 copies of the booklet, "St. Mungo's Centennial," is being printed shortly, of which over 300 copies have already been ordered.

SEMANTIC STUDY SHOWS SALARY SALTY SUBJECT

Some of our words in everyday use originated so long ago that their original meanings have long since gone into the limbo of forgotten things. For instance, "salary", a pretty important subject to most of us, originated in the days of ancient Rome.

Soldiers and civil servants were given regular rations of salt and other necessities, lumped together under the general name of "salt rations".

Although money came to replace the rations, the name remained, and hence the expression "worth his salt". (Latin: salarium, sal, salt).

Nowadays, when they get their pay-cheque, hundreds of thousands of Canadians, worth their salt, make it a rule to save part of their salary at the Bank of Montreal. They know thrift is the fastest and surest way of building a firm foundation for future success.

Paul Boivin, accountant at the Lachute branch of the Bank of Montreal, or Miss Lulu Miller, manager at Ayersville branch, will be glad to help. It's worth the time it takes to find out how easy it is to open a savings account at the B of M. It will earn two and three-quarters per cent interest. But, most of all, regular saving soon becomes a habit-that's very much "worth its salt" to you.

Things 'n Stuff

By Walter Henry Jackson

THE LATEST NEWS

An old man, born and raised in a remote backwoods village, was summoned by a lawyer to come to Montreal to sign an important paper on the death of a relation. He had never seen a city before and was met at the station by the lawyer, who took him at once to his office, where he signed the paper. But after this business was transacted, he was left to find his way back to the station, which he eventually did. But the ordeal was so bewildering that the old man decided to remain in the waiting-room instead of trying to do any more sightseeing, although his train did not leave for three hours.

At the end of the first hour a newsboy approached him saying, "Paper, Mister?" The old man shook his head and continued staring at the passing crowds. Half an hour later the newsboy reappeared saying, "Paper, Mister?" Again the old man refused.

But after another hour had passed and the newsboy noticed the old man still in the same place he went right up to him and said, "Why don't you want a paper, Mister? It would help you pass the time while you're waiting."

"Listen, Sonny," said the old-timer. "I don't need no newspaper. When my father died he left me a whole attic full of newspapers — and I ain't read half of 'em yet!"

Be seein' ya.

— Uncle Walt.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

Political parties must sometimes decide whether to retain a weak candidate, or throw him overboard.

If the party leaders decide to jettison him, they must figure a way to administer the heave-ho without getting tangled in the ropes and falling overboard themselves.

A political leader, like a pirate chief, needs a nimble brain and an elastic conscience. If he's too rigid in either department, or too slow in the uptake, he finds himself thrashing around among the sharks, while his intended victim stares loftily down on him from the rail.

For reasons like those, I'm glad I'm only a steerage passenger, in the ship of state, rather than an officer or a member of the crew.

When I say "weak candidate", I use the phrase in its relative sense.

The weak candidate may simply have the wrong kind of brain. He may be an expert egg-candler, atomic scientist, or short-order cook, but a dunce in public affairs.

He may be a fine citizen who would make a whiz-bang of a member of Parliament, if he could get there and lap a few years' experience under his belt.

But he won't get there, because he is polling-booth poison.

Maybe this candidate has aroused the anger and ridicule of the people by speaking for lost causes and adopting dubious allies and protegés, like food-faddists, quack doctors or foreigners.

Maybe he has alienated the populace by attacking such holy institutions as Motherhood, or Free Enterprise.

Maybe the candidate contracted whooping cough in Grade 9, and never quite caught up with the rest of the students.

Somehow, he has become a Jonah, and it's bad luck for the party to keep him aboard.

But no matter what the party does about this candidate, they are bound to be wrong with somebody.

If they ditch the man, their enemies and some of their friends will say: "What a ruthless, disloyal crowd!"

If they keep him, they will be condemned for not finding a better candidate. In either case, they are in danger of losing the constituency.

There seem to be only two ways out of this situation. Lure him away with the offer of a big, easy job, or send a man around with a vial containing a culture of a rare, fatal disease, under orders to pour the stuff in the candidate's martini.

Navy bathing suit

The clean line and color theme of Canadian designed sportswear is interpreted with dash by Josef. # Diary of a Vagabond

BY DOROTHY BARKER

Perhaps I was seeking a new kind of excitement when I invited my young house guest to accompany me to Ottawa. I can confess I wanted to recapture the thrill of experiencing a first glimpse of the Capital, this time through the eyes of this young person whose horizons, limited somewhat by the boundaries of her birthplace and an occasional shopping trip to Montreal, would see how Parliament ticks, view great masters in the National Art Gallery, and sleep for the very first time on a train. Her letter home, as refreshing as the youth of her 22 years, reflects the excitement of her adventure. . . .

Dear Folks:

Sit back in your easy chairs and relax, for I feel as though I could write a tome about my trip to Ottawa. What a city . . . what a ride!

This was my first trip overnight by train when I slept in a bed! The bedroom on the CN train reminded me of the times we used to play house when we were kids. Imagine a bedroom and bathroom all in one! When I couldn't find the wash basin, Mrs. Barker pointed to what seemed to be part of the wall, and just said "Pull it down!" But the most hilarious stunt was trying to put my hair up on those sponge rubber rollers. I drew the upper bed where, sitting up, my head just about hit the roof, so I sat on the collapsible aluminum ladder to finish the chore. This was what they call gracious living in capsule form, but fun!

Upon arrival, I felt I was really living when I followed Mrs. B's example and said to the Red Cap, "Chateau Laurier", pointing to my new luggage. Why, we didn't even have to carry our own bags, and how convenient, we didn't have to walk out in the wet spring weather to reach the hotel. Old Sir Wilfred Laurier in marble elegance greeted us as we registered. His effigy looked positively handsome surrounded by banks of spring flowers.

Mrs. Barker had a date with a TV interview program and I was lucky enough to be invited to go along and see what happens on the business side of a TV screen.

I was flattered when a staff member mistakenly started ushering me toward the makeup room with the remark, "One of the models?" On the same program two models were to flash $25,000 worth of pelts for feminine viewers to drool over. That's the closest I ever got to wearing sable!

It was a day and night of excitement. After the TV performance we returned to the hotel and prettied ourselves for a dinner of weekly editors from all across Canada, attending the annual directors' meeting of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association. Such interesting personalities and what food! I tasted my first buffalo steak and liked it.

The following day was equally interesting. We were lucky enough to be invited by Mr. Len Hill, a member of the Parliament Building's permanent staff, to tramp the halls of government as his guests. The thrill of the day was meeting our Prime Minister, John Diefenbaker, as we walked through the West Lobby. He greeted us with a cheery remark, "It isn't often visitors are honored by a personally conducted tour". Being face to face with our head of government gave me a vivid picture of the man who is responsible for steering our ship of state through the troubled waters of today's political unrest.

The Prime Minister was not the only personage we met on our tour. Just before the Speaker's Parade, I met Major David Currie, Sargeant at Arms. Remember when he lived in Baie Comeau? How fine he looks in his formal attire and tricorn.

I'll have to tell you in a later letter about our luncheon atop the Art Gallery, and the wonderful inspiration the pictures we saw proved to be to this amateur artist of yours. What a privilege it is for us Canadians to be able to view this great art and realize this permanent collection belongs to us all.

Climbing vine hides ugly wall

Ottawa — Want to screen a wall or hide objectionable features around your home?

Climbing vines are your answer, suggests A. R. Buckley of the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa. Vines, he says, can be used for this purpose or solely as ornamentals.

There are three types of climbers to choose from: the tall clinging vines like Boston ivy; the tendril type like the cup-and-saucer vine; and the twining type like bittersweet.

Of the clinging vines, Boston ivy and Virginia creeper are best known. Both these climbers withstand city conditions very well and will grow up a wall quickly. The Virginia creeper has coarse leaves but colors remarkably well in the fall. Sometimes the vines hold moisture which may tend to disintegrate some kinds of masonry.

The tendril vines cling well to trellises, strings, wires, canes and other slender objects. The cup-and-saucer vine and Jackman's clematis are well-known examples. The purple color of the latter makes this vine particularly attractive. It should be pruned if necessary in early spring when growth begins. Some of the old wood can be cut out and the vine pruned to keep it within bounds. formed during the previous year.

The twining type of vines thread themselves tightly around their supports by spiralling the tips of their stems as they grow. They cannot twine around big objects such as trunks of trees. Some twiners spiral clockwise and others anti-clockwise. (This is important when starting the twiner up a stake. If it is started the wrong way, it unwinds itself before beginning to climb.)

The best vines that climb clockwise are the Dutchman's pipe, bittersweet and moonseed. The Dutchman's pipe is very desirable for covering a port or patio quickly; it has large, heart-shaped leaves and small flowers that resemble miniature meerschaum pipes. Bittersweet is a local native vine with showy fruits; several plants should be planted together to ensure fruiting.

Two useful vines that climb anti-clockwise are Hall's honeysuckle and Trumpet honeysuckle. The former has white, trumpet-shaped flowers that are quite fragrant; the latter orange-colored flowers that are more showy but less fragrant.

There are two groups of small clinging vines useful for planting against walls where space for large shrubs or evergreen is limited. In one are the various varieties of the Fortune euonymus with different types of ornamental foliage; in the other, climbing hydrangeas with their unusual, hydrangea-like flowers. Both these vines cling by their rootlets.

Family in a Hurry

— By NANCY CLEAVER —

"Looking at the buses makes me think of my family — they are always going somewhere in a hurry!" a small boy, who lived near a bus stop, confided in a friend. He spoke rather sadly, because his mother and his dad, his older brothers and sister, intent on their own affairs, never seemed to have time to stop and chat with him. All this rush gave him a queer jangled feeling inside.

They May Fit

You may not live near a bus stop, but do the words "in a hurry" fit your family a good deal of the time?

You may remember reading as a child the Queen's admonition to Alice to run "Faster! Faster!" After poor Alice had run as fast as she could, to her dismay she found herself under the same tree from which she had started. "In our country" Alice protested, "You generally get to somewhere else, if you run very fast for a long time." Thus Lewis Carol poked fun at the stress on speed in his day.

"A slow sort of a country," said the Queen. "Now here it takes all the running you can do to keep in the same place. If you want to get somewhere else, you must run twice as fast as that."

Fathers and mothers feel the pressure of "Hurry! Hurry!" All week mothers are constantly urging their small children to speed up in their efforts to dress, or eat or put away their toys.

In far too many homes, mother is left exhausted after pushing her children off to school early enough on five days of the week. Would it not be worth while to experiment for a while on reducing the efforts to "Hurry! Hurry!" —especially on Saturday and Sunday, when children do not have to be at classes on time?

Sensitive

Boys and girls are sensitive to atmosphere. They need a restful, relaxed home during their waking hours just as much as an abundant amount of sleep at night. Almost any family would benefit from an effort to reduce the number of unnecessary weekend activities, and add to the times of leisurely enjoyment of the out-of-doors, of music, books or art.

The regular practice of attending church and sitting together in the family pew is a good antidote for the inner turmoil which too much rush produces. The psalmist of old wrote this command: "Be still and know that I am God", and modern people, young and old, need this experience of quietness and worship.

Time is a precious gift, but how much we and our children miss in life if we are constantly "in a hurry!" If we are always straining to be outstanding to keep up (or even surpass) our companions, to win first place in life's competitions, our bodies and minds become taut. It is small wonder so many are broken in this pitiless race!

Worth Discussing

The following comment in Henry David Thoreau's "Life in the Woods" could well be discussed by parents:

"Why should we be in such desperate haste to succeed, and in such desperate enterprises? If a man does not keep pace with his companions, perhaps it is because he hears a different drummer. Let him step to the music which he hears, however measured or far away."

If You're TIRED

Now and then everybody gets a "tired-out" feeling and may be bothered by backaches. Perhaps nothing seriously wrong, just a temporary condition caused by urinary irritation or bladder discomfort. That's the time to take Dodd's Kidney Pills. Dodd's help stimulate the kidneys to relieve this condition which may often cause backache and tired feeling. Then you feel better, rest better, work better. 81

Savory Salmon Salad Crunch Cups

Off-beat heat beater

The language purist and cook who goes by the book might not consider today's unusual recipe a salad in the truest sense, for among stories relating the derivation of the word is the belief that salads get their name from the ancient Roman habit of dipping chicory and other greens in salt to make them tastier. Since "sal" is the Latin word for salt, the combination came to be known as salad. All this may well be true but we'll vouch for Savory Salmon Salad Crunch Cups as among the tastiest, most attractive of all the salads under the sun, despite the fact that they are "greenless".

The unique use of crunchy toast cups, subtly seasoned with celery seeds, sets the salad apart. It wins particularly high approval with males who like their salads on the substantial side. The fact that popular canned salmon is the feature increases its appeal, particularly when sweet mustard pickle and chopped raw cauliflower provide delectable and slightly off-beat accents of flavor and texture. Once tried, Savory Salmon Salad Crunch Cups will doubtlessly become a favorite with the family and friends who share in its taste sensations.

Savory Salmon Salad Crunch Cups

8 Thin slices white bread (crusts removed), soft butter, 1 teaspoon celery seed, 2 cups canned salmon (one 1-lb. can), ½ cup finely chopped celery, ½ cup crisp raw cauliflowerets (broken up), 3 tablespoons chopped pimiento, ¼ cup mayonnaise, ½ cup chopped sweet mixed mustard pickle, salt and pepper to taste, pimento strips.

Lightly spread both sides of bread with soft butter. Press into muffin tins, letting corners protrude slightly. Sprinkle insides with celery seeds. Toast in preheated slow oven (300 deg. F.) until crisp, about 1 hour. Cool to room temperature before filling. For salad mixture, mix together thoroughly the salmon, celery, cauliflower, chopped pimiento, mayonnaise and pickle. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Chill thoroughly. Just before serving, fill cooked Crunch Cups with salmon mixture, garnish with pimiento strips. Allow two per serving. Makes 8 salad cups, or 4 servings.

Cereal chemists consulted by the Consumers' Association of Canada about "pre-sifted" flour were of the opinion that "pre-sifted" was just an advertising gimmick.

The cereal chemists said practically all milling companies are labelling their flours pre-sifted. The CAC bulletin says pre-sifted "suggests a simplification in using the flour and an economy for the user, since the accompanying directions state that, per cup, measured, approximately one tablespoon of flour can be removed and saved."

The CAC sought information from experts, including the cereal chemists, and found there was a natural variation in the composition of wheat and in flours produced from it which could not be completely overcome.

Sifting has been a part of the milling process for years, flour being sifted through several fine silk screens. "Therefore all flour is pre-sifted before we buy it."

Flour packs down when packaged. If sifted immediately before use, a greater volume results — about one tablespoon per cup.

Recipes that require flour mixtures have enough leeway to compensate for some variations in the methods of measuring the flour.

"If pre-sifted flour is prepared in the mill by an additional sifting over and above that generally practised, it might produce a more homogeneous product," says the CAC report. "It is doubtful if this is done, and if so, whether there would be any significant advantage."

Outfits For All

One of the bright spots in Toronto's Easter parade this year was the Steve Kotack family of suburban Cooksville.

The Kotacks' seven sons were decked out in canary-yellow sports jackets and brown vests made by their mother. She even made brown trousers, white shirts, and caps for the youngest children Stevie, 2½, Perry, 4, and Ricky, 6.

The older boys, Calvin, 11, Larry, 13, Allan, 15, and Eugene, 17, wore hats that their mother bought. Mr. Kotack bought his suit, but his wife made his natty beige vest.

It wasn't only the men who got new outfits. Mrs. Kotack made herself a beige sheath dress and coat ensemble and a pretty ice orange hat.

It took her three weeks to make the outfits. Her sewing was done on a 10-year-old machine.

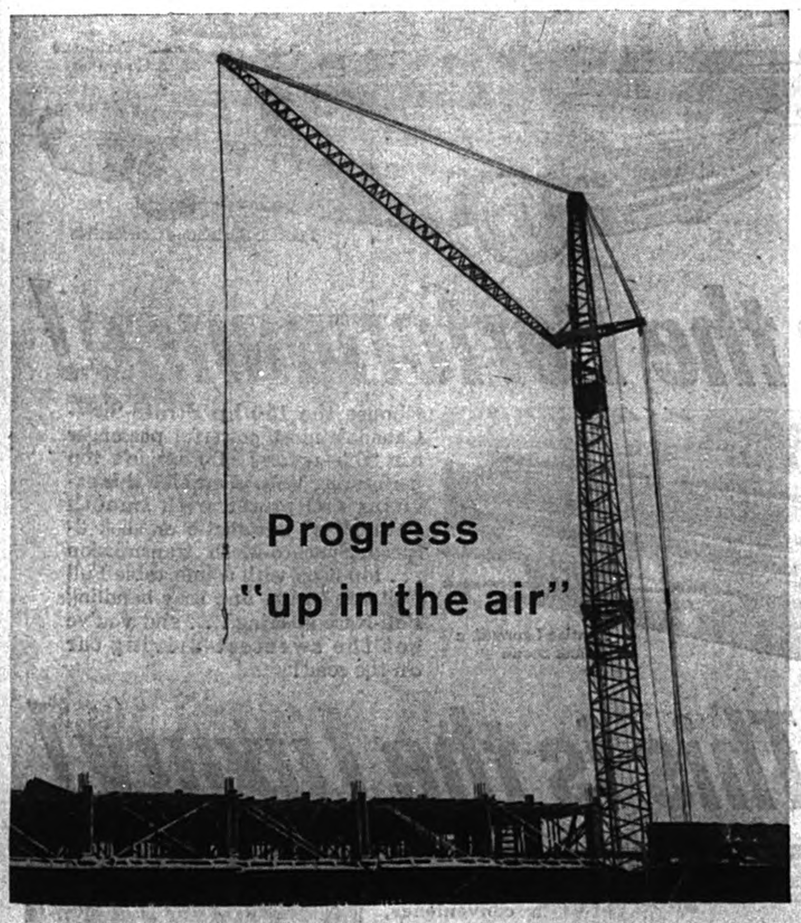

"I bake like mad for two weeks so I can spend the next three weeks sewing," she said.

Eugene, oldest of the boys, says it's "terrific" having their own tailor. "Mom makes us dandy sport shirts too."

Expand Facilities

A home economics course is the latest in a series of educational facilities to be provided for the 114 women prisoners at Kingston penitentiary. Commercial subjects and elementary schooling were started early last year.

You can call a halt to progress any time — even "up in the air". The quickest way, for both individuals and business is to stop planning for the future — or not to have the ability to plan for any future.

In essence, the principle of fire, automobile and casualty insurance is that it is a plan for the future. It ensures progress by banding people together to share the expected losses of the few among the many. Because it allows people to "average out" their chances of a completely crushing loss into a relatively small fixed expense, insurance enables them to move ahead on a planned basis.

The fact that Canada's fire, automobile and casualty insurance companies are paying out more than a million and a half dollars every day this year in claims indicates that prudent Canadians make safe plans for their future.

LEGION NOTES

— by —

Branch 70 Correspondent

"ACTIVE SERVICE YESTERDAY COMMUNITY SERVICE TODAY"

The next four or five weeks promise to be busy ones for the Royal Canadian Legion, on all levels.

Nationally — early in June the Dominion Convention will be held in Halifax. Much business will be conducted, and all resolutions passed from Branch to District to Commands in the past two years will be presented, and many will be implemented into Legion by-laws, etc. For the first time, Branch 70 will be sponsoring a resolution being presented. This is the proposal that the post-office department issue a Remembrance Stamp each November 11. Also another first — Branch 70 will be sending a representative to this convention. Also, with a Federal Election in the offing, although the Royal Canadian Legion is a non-political organization and takes no part, you may be sure our Dominion Executive will be following the election proceedings and results very closely.

At the Provincial level, taking advantage of the government grant towards physical fitness, Command will enlarge its own activities and encourage branches throughout the province to support organized sport and physical training for the nation's youth.

Branch-wise, Argenteuil No. 70 is busy preparing for the Provincial Golf Tournament to be held at St. Andrews East on Saturday, June 2. A news-letter has been forwarded to all members explaining the set-up. Plans for Legion entertainment at the Spring Fair have been finalized. The Blue Sky Revue will feature a two-hour variety show at the grandstand on Saturday, June 16. (See elsewhere in this issue for complete story.)

The Sports and Entertainment committee have lined up another teen-age "Cabaret Nite" for Saturday, May 26. The orchestra in attendence will be the Blue Skyliners of the Blue Sky Revue, featuring rhythm 'n blues, rock 'n roll, and other suitable arrangements.

Volunteers are requested and needed to take the Boat and Trailer and a well stocked supply of tickets for the Main Street on Friday nights.

Thought for the Day

Can you say today in parting
With the day that's slipping fast,
That you have helped a single person
Of the many you have passed?
Did you waste the day or lose it,
Was it well or poorly spent?
Did you leave a trail of kindness
Or a scar of discontent?
As you close your eyes in slumber,
Do you think that God would say
You have made the world much better
For the life you lived today?

Importance of posture habits in physical fitness

Posture plays an important part in physical fitness and general well-being. The Canadian Chiropractic Association, with 1,200 members of the profession across the nation, is emphasizing this message as a public service.

Last month Lyman C. Johnston, D.C., Research Director of the Canadian Memorial Chiropractic College in Toronto, addressed the fourth annual conference on Physical Fitness in Regina, Saskatchewan. He spoke on the relationship between correct body mechanics and physical fitness.

"Emphasis is being placed on the important role that posture plays in the growth and development of the body", the chiropractor said, "The students must be informed that the correction of faulty posture habits is much more readily attained at an early age. If these faults are left unattended to for a number of years, they usually become firmly established and change is then difficult or impossible.

"Improper posture can have a detrimental effect upon the spinal column and produce misalignment of vertebrae that results in such conditions in later life, as neuritis, sciatica, headaches, angina, arthritis. These are brought about frequently by the irritation to the joints of the spine and the accompanying interference to the spinal nerves. Bad posture is a fundamental cause of such mechanical deficiency in the spine and the symptoms that result therefrom. Young people should be made familiar with the damaging influence that poor posture can have upon them in later life if they do not take steps to correct their wrong habits now," he said.

Cows bred here get awards for production

Gold Seal certificates of the Ayrshire Breeders' Association have been awarded to 13 cows in Quebec — of which two are owned by René Trépanier of Oka. These are both daughters of Willowhaugh Skymaster and were purchased as young animals from Erskine McOuat, of Brownsburg. The animals are Mapleburn Brownie and Mapleburn Flash.

Gold Seal certificates are awarded to cows producing 100,000 lbs. milk or more on official R.O.P. test. There have now been a total of 593 Canadian Ayrshires to qualify.

New barley

A new, high yielding feed barley has been developed by the Agronomy Department at Macdonald College in cooperation with the Canada Department of Agriculture and licensed under the name, Champlain. Resulting from a cross between Moore and Montcalm, made in 1952, this variety has outyielded the commonly grown varieties, York, Parkland and Montcalm, in field tests throughout Quebec. The straw of Champlain is slightly shorter than that of Montcalm and its lodging resistance is good, being similar to that of York. In maturity this new variety is about 3 days later than Montcalm.

Champlain appears to have some resistance to diseases such as powdery mildew and stem rust, and while not immune from loose smut it has better field resistance to this disease than York.

Seed supplies are limited at present, but adequate seed should be available for general distribution in the spring of 1963.

U.K. farmers visit Macdonald

A group of 24 farmers from the United Kingdom visited Macdonald College on May 10. They represented all branches of agriculture carried on in Britain.

After the welcome by Dr. H. G. Dion, vice-principal, they met with College personnel to be given details of the research carried on by Macdonald College.

The group are visiting farms, agricultural colleges and experimental farms in Canada and the U.S.A.

Boating indicated fastest-growing all-family sport

Family boating, year after year, continues to be one of the fastest-growing recreational outlets of all Canadian leisure-time activities.

As an indication of just how high this interest is, Outboard Marine Corporation, manufacturers of Johnson and Evinrude outboards, has experienced one of the highest responses ever, to a promotion calculated to spark interest in the upcoming boating season.

Each year since 1956, this company has sponsored the "All-Family Boat Show" on a nation-wide basis. This has taken the form of individual dealer-held boat shows, in which the public has shown keen interest.

This year as a new twist, the company offers a free trip from Canada to Cincinnati and then via the showboat "S.S. Delta Queen" to New Orlean and return — 20 days in all — for the first prize-winner, along with 40 and 5½ horsepower outboard motors to the ranking runners-up. The response has been great; entries have poured in by thousands. The interest is such that dealers are expecting to close more deals this year than ever before.

The entry form which qualifies the customer for a crack at the prizes, requires that he complete a 25-word precis regarding why he would use a Johnson or Evinrude outboard, or why he wants a to New Orleans and return — 20 been some off-beat replies, many of them highly amusing; all entrants sounded enthusiastic. And enthusiasm is the reason that boating, in all its aspects, is the fastest-growing family sport in Canada today.

St. Lawrence sinking writes 'finis' to Cushing-berthed Steamer Argenteuil

Levis, Que. — The 85-ton schooner "Argenteuil" sank in the St. Lawrence River within sight of this port, soon after leaving dock heavily loaded with cement.

Efforts were made to locate the bodies of three victims presumed drowned. The three were Roland Hovington, 55, skipper of the vessel; his son, Normand, and Georges Ouellet, a deck hand. All were from Tadoussac, Que.

Two other people aboard the vessel, Mrs. Normand Hovington, 25, wife of Normand, and Paul-Henri Nicolas, 32, also of Tadoussac, were rescued by the schooner "Louis G".

The captain of this vessel, near the scene, reported that the "Argenteuil" sank rapidly beneath the surface.

The incident of the "Argenteuil" ends a saga sentimentally linked with Argenteuil and the Ottawa riverfront.

The trim vessel saw the light of day at Sorel, where it was built for navigation services of the Department of Transport. Construction was started in 1914, but the demands of wartime delayed its completion until 1917, when it was taken over by the Department. Capt. Thos. Weir of Cushing, and Aldège Desforges, first mate, of Grece's Point, took command and brought the "Argenteuil" to its berth at Cushing, where it started its long career of service.

Capt. Thos. Weir retired in 1958, and Mr. Desforges became captain and took the helm. Capt. Desforges was with the steamer during its entire career and on its disposal by the Department, delivered the vessel to its new owner, Mr. Robidoux, at Tadoussac. That was in 1959. . . . Capt. Desforges then skippered the "Argenteuil's" successor "La Verendrye", for one year, and himself retired in 1961. The "Verendrye" has its home port in the lower reaches of the river, around Lachine.

The "Argenteuil" was converted to diesel, its steam boilers being removed; and it plied the St. Lawrence with freight service below Levis and Quebec. Its ownership also changed hands.

The sinking of this little vessel, and the attendant tragedy of three crewmen drowned, ends a story of 45 years' service on the Ottawa and St. Lawrence waterways — a story intimately connected with the riverfront communities of Argenteuil County.

Air Cadets held inspection and annual exercises

Ayersville Squadron 648 of the Air Cadets, under their commanding officer, Flt. Lt. Paul Emile Barbeau, held their annual inspection Wednesday evening of last week in the Clément School. Air Force and military officers, clergy and the interested public made a large spectatorship attending this event.

Group Capt. J.-C. Hovey, from the Lac St. Denis RCAF base, was the inspecting officer, accompanied by other Air Force and Cadet officials, and Gaetan Desrosiers, who is chairman of the civil sponsoring committee at Ayersville.

Representing Lachute Unit of the Highland Cadets, among the audience were Capt. Wm. Butterfield and Capt. R. Haydon.

On completion of the drill display, the charter for the squadron was formally presented; also Flt. Lt. Barbeau's trophy for the best platoon was presented to Sgt. Raymond Parizeau. Several individual awards, trophies and promotions were given out, and a pilot's course (towards the procuring of a private pilot's license) was awarded to Sgt. Barry Downing.

Refreshments and a social interlude concluded the program.

Proceedings at 42nd annual conf'ce of Argenteuil Women's Institutes

The 42nd annual convention of the Argenteuil County Women's Institutes was held Saturday, May 12, in Lachute High School.

The County president, Mrs. Sharman Doig, of Upper Lachute-East End Branch, welcomed some 70 delegates and members. The secretary's report showed a membership of 277 in eleven branches.

Sponsoring a Home for Senior Citizens remains the main objective of the County. Mrs. Ethel McGibbon brought members up to date on the financial standing and progress of this project.

To the committee for the Home were added three new members — Mrs. N. E. Smillie, Brownsburg Branch, Mrs. Chas. Hall, Dalesville - Louisa, and Miss Hannah Smith, Upper Lachute - East End.

Reports of conveners were read and showed an amazing amount of work accomplished in all departments. The County Educational Loan Fund is available to any student wishing to further their education. In Home Economics, the technicians have held many helpful and interesting courses. Members have helped in the various fund-raising campaigns — the Red Cross, C.N.I.B., Cancer, March of Dimes, Blood Donor Clinics — and made thousands of cancer dressings.

At lunch hour, Frontier Branch was hostess at a delicious luncheon. Diets were forgotten, by honored guests and members alike.

Mrs. C.W.P. Baugh, of Lakefield Branch, conducted a service in memory of departed members at the start of the afternoon session. The convention was most fortunate to have as guest speaker the Provincial President of Q.W.I., Mrs. H. Ellard, of Gatineau County. The theme chosen by Mrs. Ellard was, "Pull Up Your Socks". As a bouquet to Argenteuil County, she observed: "As seen from a train window, Argenteuil County farms are neater than those in Gatineau County." During her address, Mrs. Ellard brought greetings from the Provincial Board, and in her outline of W.I. work, urged all members to evaluate adult education as we use it. The need for trained leaders is very great; also to encourage young women to join the W.I. The Leadership Training course is being held May 21-26 at Macdonald College.

"Pennies for Friendship" aids the A.C.W.W. to carry on its projects. . . . Tribute was paid to the Provincial Department of Agriculture, which supplies the Q.W.I. with an office, pays the secretary's salary, also three technicians, and provides them with station wagons, etc. A brief on Agriculture has been presented to the Provincial Government and an Education brief is ready to be presented to the Royal Commission.

On June 2, a plaque honoring Adelaide Hoodless is to be unveiled at Georgetown, Ont.

More help and training for our Indian branches is needed. Quebec W.I. has taken the lead in encouraging the Indians in Temiskaming and Notre Dame du Nord. A Quebec mosaic is to form a part of the F.W.I.C. history of Canada. Quebec crafts are second to none, and it is the history of these crafts that is to form this mosaic.

Mrs. Ossington, Q.W.I. vice-president, is to attend the A.C.W.W. conference in Australia in September. The A.C.W.W. is on a consultative basis with the U.N.,

Ontario premier in Hawkesbury

Hawkesbury — The Hon. J. P. Robarts, Premier of Ontario, will be in Hawkesbury on Wednesday, May 23, to officiate between 3 and 4 p.m. at the cornerstone ceremony for the Vocational School building.

Gatineau worker electrocuted by 4,600-volt line

A Gatineau Power lineman, Réal Beauchamp, 35, lost his life by electrocution Tuesday morning near Pine Hill.

The fatality occurred around 10 a.m. when a crew were changing a transformer between Pine Hill and St. Michel. Beauchamp had climbed the pole, and apparently touched a high-tension line carrying 4,600 volts. Two fellow-workers, Messrs. Tremblay and Patry, climbed to his assistance and lowered him to the ground. Dr. Zoel Saindon was summoned immediately from Lachute, and pronounced the victim lifeless — death having occurred instantaneously.

Réal Beauchamp, residing at 336 Sydney Street, had been employed by Gatineau Power for 15 years.

He is mourned by his wife, the former Pierrette Joly, and five children; also his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Omer Beauchamp, three brothers and a sister.

The remains are resting at the Menard Funeral Home, for rites Friday morning at Ste. Anastasie Church.

Filtration plant deadline, other matters at Council

An adjourned meeting of Town Council was held on Wednesday, May 16, with Mayor Fernand Legault presiding.

The mayor read a letter from the Department of Municipal Affairs advising the town that if no agreement is reached with the neighboring municipalities by May 31, the 1 per cent Sales Tax will be recommended for application in Lachute — other municipalities having the option to levy their own sales tax if and when it may be deemed advisable.

A statement was received from the contractors, H. J. O'Connell Ltd. and Pollock-McGibbon Ltd., explaining delay in laying the water lines from the new filtration works. . . . The contractors were subsequently informed that the Council expects the filtration plant to be completed by May 31, so the town would have no difficulty in the matter of grants provided under the Winter Works Program.

Contract was approved to R. Quenneville on a tender of $1,100 for roadwork on Henry Street, with provisional details and specifications to be decided by the roads committee, and contingent upon agreement with the Parish of St. Jerusalem to pay half the cost.

It was agreed to install a streetlight on Wilson Street, at the rear of St. Julien Church.

Ald. Linton Armstrong, as police commissioner, was authorized to purchase necessary traffic and parking signs.

The session was adjourned to Wednesday of this week, May 23.

Mining millionaire Robertson guilty in stock swindle

Toronto (CP) — May 17 — Roy Robertson, 56, mining millionnaire and former co-owner of the Montreal Alouettes football team, was convicted on charges of conspiracy and fraud in an alleged mining stock swindle involving $300,000.

Convicted with him on similar counts and an additional charge of theft was David C. Stuart, 35, of Montreal.

Andre Begin, 33, of Montreal, was convicted of conspiracy and fraud, and Harry Koury, 40, of Toronto, was convicted on a fraud charge.

A jury listened to evidence in the Supreme Court of Ontario for nine weeks and deliberated two days before returning a verdict. The jury recommended leniency in the cases of Koury and Begin.

The four men were charged with eight counts of conspiracy, fraud and theft.

During the trial 50 witnesses testified and 106 exhibits were entered in evidence.

The four pleaded not guilty to the charges, which involved an alleged mining stock manipulation involving $300,000 in Stadacona Mines Limited when the case opened March 19.

Dollard fete at Carillon Sunday, May 27

The Village of Carillion will be the scene of a customary Dollard des Ormeaux celebration, to take place on Sunday, May 27.

Mass will be celebrated at 11 a.m. around the Dollard monument in the village, and at 2 p.m. there will be a parade, patriotic speeches and the depositing of a wreath. To add to the martial atmosphere of the parade, it is expected to have a drum and bugle band from St. Janvier, also the Ayersville Air Cadet squadron. Participating in the exercises will be Maurice Dumas, diocesan president of the St. Jean Baptiste Society, Jean Laforest, Charles A. Shaffer and other personalities. The population are cordially invited to attend.

The Lachute-Carillon Dollard committee has now become integrated with the Lachute-Ayersville St. Jean Baptiste Society, and this latter organization will be sponsor of the celebrations.

CAMPAIGN OUTCOME —

Second attraction for Concerts 13-string orchestra

At a week-end appraisal of the membership canvass for Community Concerts, the response was sufficiently encouraging that the directors took an option on one of the star attractions available next season — the Hart House Orchestra, with Ilona Kombrink soprano soloist.

This ensures two top-ranking features for the 1962-63 season, namely, the Hart House group and the New York Concert Trio (which had previously been booked). The third program will be selected when the budget is complete. There were still numerous districts to be heard from at the termination of campaign week, and the complete number of subscribers could not be ascertained.

The Hart House Orchestra — for which the directors entered into agreement with Mr. Leo Bernache, representative from headquarters — is conducted by Boyd Neel, Dean of the Royal Conservatory of Music of Toronto, who has led his 13-or-more musicians on successful tours throughout Europe, New Zealand, Australia, Canada and the United States. They were chosen from the best in Canada. The orchestra appeared at the Brussels World Fair in 1958. . . . Miss Kombrink, who tours with this group, is one of the most outstanding sopranos. Among her many triumphs is her star role in the famed Stratford Festival.

The Community Concerts executive is pleased to pass along this information to members, who will thus be assured of an unusually interesting season. The third feature will be announced when the bookings are completed.

J.-O. Desjardins officially named for Social Credit

There will be a Social Credit entry in the Argenteuil - Deux Montagnes electoral race, following a convention Friday evening in McArthur's Hall which named and elected J.-Orphir Desjardins to represent the party. Mr. Desjardins, a business man residing on Evelina Street, Lachute, was nominated by Roger Richer and seconded by Ernest Durand.

The candidate for Montreal - Dollard constituency, Dollard Richard, was chairman of the rally; he was accompanied here by Eugène Caraghiaur, candidate for St. Laurent - St. Georges, also Fernand Laplante, Mme Judith Richard and Mme Gilberte Fortin, prominent campaigners for Social Credit in this province.

"I do not wish to go to Ottawa for my own interests, but for yours," declared Mr. Desjardins on announcement of his candidature. "The 'blues' and the 'reds' are just politicians, while we of the Social Credit, like many others, are tired of paying taxes to the taxation systems of the old parties. The doctrine of Social Credit is the only system that can raise the standard of living for the farming and working classes, and Social Credit is the only effective formula to check Communism."

If elected to this constituency, Mr. Desjardins pledged himself to ask the government for a bridge in Ayersville to eliminate a level crossing; building of a business boulevard linking with No. 8 highway; and building of the "first school of chiropractics" on the top of the mountain in Argenteuil County.

He also pledged to seek government action for dredging the North River between Lachute and St. Jerome, in order to encourage industries, and to "take our electricity from Carillon and re-sell the surplus".

The Diefenbaker government had been a big disappointment to the nation, said Dollard Richard. Social Credit aims to get the Canadian people standing on their own feet.

The other partisans spoke on behalf of the nominee-elect; and Mr. Laplante, Social Credit organizer for Chambly-Rouville, had a word concerning contractors "greasing" electoral funds and thus adding to the costs of public works. He cited the S.C. administrations of Alberta and British Columbia as examples of government without reproach or scandal.

Note of correction on recent fire

Mr. Neal Moore wishes to correct a misstatement in the account of a fire which destroyed his home on the Lakefield road. It was reported a drum of gasoline exploded in the shed; this, however was incorrect. The proprietor informs The Watchman the drum was in a field, away from the building.

Publishing of photographs

With regard to photographs for publication, The Watchman advises club and group officials that such pictures will not be accepted at the publishers' expense unless authorized in advance, or unless deemed of interest broad enough to be newsworthy.

Pictures of limited or sectional interest will be published only if the photo and engraving, both, are paid for by those concerned, and then only at the editor's discretion.

It is necessary to keep costs within our budget, and this notice is to discourage the too-eager ordering of pictures on assumption that the newspaper will gladly publish them. There are costs entailed — space involved — and limits to what we can publish.

Victor in Ayersville election contest

Hot issues and high enthusiasm marked the recent Ayersville civic election — judging by this crowd at the home of Raymond Champagne who gathered to congratulate him on his re-election to Council. Mr. Champagne polled a majority of 239 votes against his opponent, Philippe Mallette. An ardent supporter, Gaston Clermont, former director of Chomedey Asphalt, is seen raising the victor's hand in triumph.

Blood clinic Thursday, 24th, at Brownsburg

Brownsburg — On Thursday of this week, May 24, the Red Cross blood donor clinic will visit Brownsburg. It is hoped that their visit will be well worth while.

Brownsburgers, and all others who are interested in practical life-saving, are cordially invited to donate one half-hour of their time so that some unknown and unfortunate fellow human might live. It may be a child victim of a fire, or a mother injured in an auto accident; it may be a new-born baby or an old man. Your blood can be instrumental in giving back or prolonging a life which otherwise may be snuffed out.

Baby-sitting and taxi services for those who need them will be provided at both sessions.

Time — 2 - 5 p.m., 7 - 9.30 p.m.
Place — Brownsburg Legion Hall.
Object — Life-Saving.

"ARGENTEUIL OUTDOORS"

By BOB ATCHISON

The Provincial Government has once again gone to the well for some easy loot, without having to do anything about it. The latest published in the Official Gazette: the deer license is being raised from $3.25 to $4.25. For this extra dollar you now have the pleasure of hunting bear.

One very good thing about it is the fact that under the old regulations a hunter had only to have the small game permit in his possession to carry a high-powered rifle. The small game permit has also been raised and no rifles can be used under this new ruling. Rabbits have to be killed with a shotgun so a lot of powder is going to be burned. However, the wording of this law seems to draw the conclusion that no deer have ever been killed with shotgun slugs. So the deer will be protected in some small way. Some good points are in this law, but why this EXTRA dollar for nothing at all, is beyond me. The number of registered deer hunters in this province during the '61 season ran in excess of 94,000; so figure out the extra — that will be spent for everything but conservation!

The registered deer kill in this province was stated to be 8,853 this past season. What is not told though, is how many were NOT registered. More than triple the official figures, no doubt, what with the poaching, and most common of all, the non-registering of deer killed by farmers on their property. Offences of this nature have been innumerable in Quebec.

Quebec is also SUPPOSED to be taking great chunks of lands and waters away from the private clubs, for the benefit of the average sportsman. We know by now that this is just so much talk, and nothing will be done about it. Just how many clubs have been closed since the present government took over is a well-kept secret. A party in power has a service to render to the public — in informing them just what is not being done.

Some good news now, the kill of humans in the bush this past season took a good jump — 10 more than the previous season. This is very good; the more humans killed, the safer the animals. The poor showing during the '60 season (16 killed) has more than been made up for this past year. Keep up the good work, boys, and maybe next season we can do as well.

There is excellent trout fishing all over the district. Some very good catches have been reported and seen. Bob Lemay came in with only one fish the first trip out, 19 inches — and this is a fair fish. Earl Smillie also reported one of 18" caught in Lake Louisa on a gold delphin. Lemay caught his on a Williams wobbler gold.

A word of warning — all fishermen should know by now that MINNOWS are not allowed in any lakes in this County. Yet fishermen can be seen using them almost every place you go!

A case of Rabies in this district. Reg Dunnage had a Beagle that tangled with a skunk. It finally killed the animal, and did not get any odor from it; none was released, so Reg had the carcass checked for just this possibility. It was reported as positive. The Beagle had to go. Having a dog destroyed this way is a misfortune most people don't easily forget.

The geese are still here — now so acclimatized that one of these days they will probably go right down Main Street looking for a free hand-out. A few Mallards are around and these have ganged up with the Blacks. No doubt they will have nested by now, so we can look for young ones shortly. Only one otter can be seen where there were formerly two. What has happened to the other I don't know; maybe it is looking after the young. Rabbits are showing up more and more, and they seem to be in excellent condition.

Most of you will have heard the reports put out by Laurentian travellers to watch out for moose. The latest report I have had is from a gentleman at Clear Lake, who stopped his car last week-end to watch a cow moose for about three minutes near the road. Watching one of these giants is very rewarding; and those of us who think we know a lot about the outdoors, have to take stock again.

New processes of packaging bait for fishing. Crayfish are the latest. These are packed in a plastic bag — no odor, stickiness or anything else. They will keep indefinitely and should prove a boon to the anglers who cannot procure natural bait. Another is the May Flies Nymph. This is a doozer, as far as I am concerned. I tried a package on perch, and sure had a lot of fun. Placed on a small hook with no sinker, they sink very slowly and seem to have a real fish-attracting appeal. I hope to try them on trout this long week-end.

A few foxes are showing up in the district, and this is a good sign. They will keep the rabbits down and make them a little healthier. I know most of us regard these foxes as pests, but Nature has her own way of taking care of the surplus in wildlife. Thus, when the foxes were killed off the rabbits just multiplied so fast they all became diseased. For a time, as you all know, for every five rabbits killed, only one was fit to eat. Now things look better.

Once more I am going to ask you to be careful with your fires in the bush. Travelling around the country the other day, I came across a couple of fellows putting out a fire that had been started alongside the road, possibly by a smoker. If these men had not come along when they did, maybe we would have experienced the first bad fire this summer. So please THINK before you throw cigarette butts or pipe ashes out of your car.

"DESTROILET"(R) solves ALL human waste disposal problems in homes, cottages, boats, trailers, etc.

Destroilet is the end result of years of research and engineering. Because of the universal awareness of the pollution of our lakes, rivers and streams in addition to existing handicaps in the human waste disposal problem, the Destroilet Individual Unit has been designed with revolutionary departures. Using no water, using no chemicals . . . human waste is completely consumed, passed off into the air as harmless, colorless, invisible vapor — primarily carbon dioxide. Desired convenience and sanitation in human waste disposal may now exist anywhere — with the Destroilet.

The Destroilet uses automatically controlled heat to completely consume human waste . . . leaves practically no ash!

- Water, septic systems, sewerage pipe, etc., no longer needed for human waste disposal.
- Destroilet may be used anywhere . . . forget the limitations of conventional toilets.
- As opposed to conventional toilets Destroilet is always ready for use without time intervals for water to reach required levels.

Concluding event for Argenteuil Bridge League

The final regular meeting of the Argenteuil Bridge League's first season will take place at Brownsburg Legion Hall on Monday, May 28.

Winners of the 15th session were Mr. Leclair and Mr. St-Onge, playing East-West, and Mr. Villard and Mr. Hicks, playing North-South.

It is proposed to conduct a short meeting at 8 p.m. prior to the card-playing, with such matters as a prize-giving dance and season's prizes being the main items of discussion.

It is interesting to note that, even at this late date, there are still about a dozen with excellent prospects to emerge as season's champions.

It is hoped that a large turnout will mark the end of this very successful season.

WHAT'S THE 'INSTALMENT PLAN' WAY TO SAVE FOR THE BIG DAY?

When you're looking ahead to wedding expenses, a trip to Europe, or a down payment on a house, Scotiabank's Personal Security Program is the ideal savings plan. PSP—exclusive with The Bank of Nova Scotia—puts saving on the same organized basis as your program of payments for anything you might buy on the instalment plan. It works this way: You select a goal (anywhere between $100 and $2,500) which you reach in fifty equal deposits. As you save, you're life-insured for the full amount of your goal. When you reach your goal, you collect all you've saved, plus a cash bonus. Ask for details on PSP at your nearest branch of The Bank of Nova Scotia.

TV public health propaganda "anaemic"

CAN MEDICAL and public health programs be presented in a more interesting and dramatic fashion on television?

Senator Hubert Humphrey, Democratic leader of the U.S. Senate (who spoke at the Canadian Health Forum at Toronto last March under sponsorship of the Health League of Canada) stated that most TV programs on health, while commendable, have "anaemic" ratings.

Comparing the fictionalized television serials with the stereotyped public health programs, the Senator said that the latter lack the drama and excitement that "Dr. Kildare" and "Ben Casey" possess. He might have added, they lack the stark appeal (and redundance) of those TV commercials for toothpastes, hair tonics and sedatives — thank goodness!

Surely, commented Senator Humphrey, truth is stranger and can be more exciting than fiction, and he expressed the hope that with the support of public-minded and spirited sponsors, the best talents of television could produce top-rated medical programs for TV networks.

Senator Humphrey called for a series of national and international TV productions that he described as "health spectaculars" for television programming. Among other points raised on his medical plan were:

(a) Greater use of the Nation's educational television programs;

(b) Increased use of the closed-circuit medical television to foster communications between researchers, medical educators and practitioners; and

(c) Laying the groundwork for international television.

Stating that more research is necessary to test the actual effects of medical programming, the Senator remarked that educational television programs could strengthen health education in the nation's schools, including physical fitness.

Yes, Uncle Walt . . .

ONE THING leads to another. Since a critical observation on TV commercials in a previous editorial, Uncle Walt's weekly column has come to hand, expressing an old showman's candid appraisal of today's entertainment. We commend this column to our readers, especially those old enough to appreciate his comparisons.

Of today's so-called music the columnist says, among other things, "It surprises me that we send missionaries to Africa to teach them how civilized we are, and then adopt their music, their dances and bongo drums."

Concerning advertising, we relish his reference to "sensible" magazine and newspaper copy, as compared with the drivel written for TV commercials.

But there is one other remark which rings a bell in the confusion that befuddles our own personal interest — we mean Fine Art. Here it seems there is a distinct analogy between the dramatic and the creative arts. . . .

"To make good on the stage, a performer had to have two things, talent and material. Today's performers, with a few noticeable exceptions, seem to have neither." — Could this apply more aptly to today's conceptions of Fine Art? One needs to visit the galleries, and compare the classic masters with today's free expressionists.

At one time, not so long ago, it took a masterly eye to appraise a subject, and a masterly technique to commit it to canvas. The subject (material) might be a mist on a seascape in the rising dawn; the artist saw the challenge, his talent captured this phenomenon of atmospherics. The effect, too, was eye-pleasing, soul-stirring.

Today? The most successful artist starts with no subject, has no material; or in the extreme, he may combine the scrapings of an old tool-box or junk-drawer, with a mess of glue, paint or what-have-you — most inspiring! . . . And talent? Some modernists indeed possesss it; but alas, talent appears to be the least requirement.

Yes, Uncle Walt, not only in show business. There are changed conceptions — radically changed — in other arts of expression.

Backyard hazards

AFTER BEING cooped up indoors during the long winter months, every amateur gardener — whether or not he or she has greeen thumbs — is out in force to start the annual battle against weeds and insects.

Although gardening is a healthful pastime, there are some pitfalls and hazards to be avoided, regardless of whether you are an expert or an amateur.

First of all, don't try to do too much. You are bound to be out of condition after months of inactivity, so work up to the more strenuous tasks gradually.

Be sure to have a first-aid kit available. Gardening can often cause cuts and scratches from sharp thorns and tools. Power tools are potential dangers. Read the instructions first and study them carefully. If you are in doubt, consult a good mechanic.

Even the soil has germs lurking in the background. Tetanus germs can often be picked up where barnyard fertilizer is used, or where animals are around. A tetanus toxoid shot now, at the beginning of the season, is a precautionary measure.

Even gardening aids such as insect sprays and weed killers, require care in use. Read and follow the directions carefully, and be sure to keep the containers capped and out of reach of children.

Last but not least, if you are allergic to insect bites, extra caution is required; consult your doctor about desensitizing injections. Always remember that it is the open season for bees, wasps and spiders, and their stings can be very painful.

Viewpoints and perspectives

ALL THE NEWS. — An ordinary business may accept or reject the privilege of stocking and selling a large variety of goods. However, a newspaper, if it is to be a true mirror of the life of the community which it serves, must report faithfully and without bias what happens within its reading area.

— Gananoque (Ont.) Reporter

MAPMAKERS' TROUBLES. — Wherever we look these days we see new independent nations springing up. We trust this will not bother the map people who have their troubles every time a war changes the face of the globe. It must be a risky business printing maps for a living when you never know if they will become outdated on the morrow.

— The East Kildonan and Elmwood Herald, Manitoba

LOSE INDEPENDENCE. — There is evidence of a growing dependence upon governments to guarantee our worldly requirements, and a weakening of resistance towards the encroachment of government into areas which were heretofore reserved for the enterprise and initiative of the individual.

— Kimberley (B.C.) News

REWARD SCHOLARS. — Treats of trips should be available as a reward for scholarship as well as sports events. All the fine teaching in the world cannot do as much to get students learning and striving for good marks, as will making the scholar and not the athlete the big man on the campus. We wouldn't object if the board decided to give the top scholar in the departmental examinations each year a summer in Europe.

Things 'n Stuff

By Walter Henry Jackson

At the risk of being charged advertising rates, I would like to say that anybody who wants my TV set can have it cheap! In fact, if a burglar stole it I would be more likely to congratulate him than prosecute him. For nowadays I never turn it on unless I have a guest who wants to watch a particular program, or to see an old 1937 movie on the late, late show.

Having been born and raised during an era of big-time vaudeville and spectacular musical shows, I find that whatever it is that they call entertainment nowadays, is particularly irksome. To make good on the stage during the first part of this 20th century, a performer had to have two things — talent, and material. Today's performers, with a few noticeable exceptions, seem to have neither. Of course, we can account for the dearth of material quite easily. It was used up at an alarming rate during the radio era. Before those days, a standard act in vaudeville could use the same material for two years — twice around the circuit of 48 weeks each, without changing a line of their dialogue.

And as for talent, there is no place to develop it. Smalltime vaudeville and burlesque shows provided the training-grounds for many a big star. But what have today's so-called entertainers got? Just a microphone, a studio and a director, who from what I have seen and heard seldom knows his business. In the days of stage shows realism was of utmost importance. But what about a movie of today? We see a cowboy seated on his horse on a moonlight night countless miles from the nearest habitation. He unlimbers a guitar and begins to sing to himself. Very natural — so far. But suddenly a 30-piece orchestra comes in! Bang goes the realism.

There was one weekly program I used to enjoy, but lately I've made it a point not to listen to it. Why? Because I cannot tolerate a running current of horrid noises (which I have been told is called "background music") all through the show — often loud enough to drown the dialogue and thus render it impossible to follow the story. It is like reading a book with a third of the pages missing. This noise can by no stretch of imagination be called "music". It is absolutely senseless and unnecessary. It is even worse than today's so-called "popular" music, which could easily be played without any musical instruments at all! All that's needed is two sticks and a tin can. All rhythm and beat — no melody, no harmony. . . . It surprises me that we send missionaries to Africa to teach them how civilized we are, and then adopt their music and their dances and bongo drums!

Then those nauseating commercials, that are an insult to the intelligence of anyone over four years old. Advertising executives who write sensible copy for magazines and newspapers ought to know better than to antagonize their clients' prospective customers by the trash, silly presentations and extravagant claims presented on TV.

I have no complaint about news events, weather reports, or educational subjects such as wildlife, that are very interesting. But the programs that are classed as entertainment — Phooey!

There's one thing I really do like about TV, though. It's the little knob that turns it OFF!

Be seein' ya!

Has suggestion for additions to Arg'tl Hospital committee

TO THE EDITOR

In your May 2nd issue was an editorial pertaining to the construction and administration of the future Argenteuil Hospital. I fully agree with the contents of the editorial, and want to congratulate the physicians of the district for bringing the matter to the attention of the public.

Nearly everybody knows that there has been collusion and other unsavory business in the affairs of some other new hospital construction in the Province, but I dare the present government to criticize any of the present members of the Hospital Board. I would rather say these men that had conceived the idea of the Providence Hospital, and later the start of the Argenteuil Hospital, not only deserve credit but all our hearty thanks for a job well done so far. It was unfortunate that the Government thought it fit to stop all help for the completion of, and outfitting of, such an important undertaking.

It is mentioned that the present Hospital Board should be increased by four new members. The names of the four proposals came to me in a very confidential way, so I, too, cannot dwell on their ability and merits, but I would like to make a more revolutionary suggestion. Everybody goes to a hospital, both men and women, yet it seems men think they have a monopoly on administrative abilities. Here in the County there are a number of women's organizations that do a lot of community work requiring administrative ability, and the success of these organizations proves that our women know what they have to contend with. So why not fill these positions by four representatives of our (let's say) Women's Institute, Union Catholique des Cultivateurs, or some other organization?

In any case, the public at large should get out of its lethargy, clamour for their rights as citizens and get things rolling again. Provincial election time will be too late.

— A Male Citizen of the County of Argenteuil

Bank brainwave baffles burglars!

The Buglars' Club planned a protest when the B of M's first "around-the-clock" depository unit was developed a few years back! Cash taken late by stores, restaurants, theatres and garages had to lie in a drawer or in an old sock until the bank opened the following morning.

But then a banker had the brainwave of placing a unit, outside the bank, which led to a special vault within, to let customers deposit their cash after the bank had closed. The innovation was an immediate success.

Now, there's an improved version of the unit at the Lachute branch of the Bank of Montreal. Both private and business customers can now make after-hours deposits.

Called a dual-type "around-the-clock" depository unit, it has a slot for special envelopes supplied by the B of M for private individuals, and a larger opening, which accepts specially-designed canvas wallets from business customers. In either case, the customer can drop his deposit in the unit at night, after the bank has closed. The money is safe and secure overnight or over the week-end. Next day officials process the deposit and mail the customer his receipt. If the customer wishes, the bank will simply hold the envelope or bag until he calls to make the deposit in the usual way.

Don Hay, manager of the Lachute B of M, will be pleased to supply full details on his burglar-baffler.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

It felt strange to climb into a car and fasten myself down with a seat belt. I waited for a hostess to appear and offer me a piece of chewing gum.

No such luck. The only human in sight was my friend Frank, who explained that seat belts were mainly to protect pedestrians.

If your car hits something, there is a real danger that the shock will send you flying through the air like an arrow. You may hit some innocent bystander and hurt him.

So tie yourself down with a seat belt. It's the fair thing to do, Frank said.

I believed him. After a while I settled down and got used to the seat belt. I began to feel that I was part of the car — maybe a ruptured muscle being held in place by a truss.

Sign of Weakness?

However, I didn't need Frank's word that seat belts were useful things. I would have been grateful for a seat belt a few years ago, when I had to jam on the brakes and my small son shot forward and caught his forehead a nasty clonk on the dashboard.

The other day I was talking to a veteran policeman about an accident in which a woman was killed and several people injured.

"Chances are that nobody would have been hurt much if both cars had been equipped with seat belts," he said.

For some reason people are inclined to be coy and shame-faced about seat belts. Is it a sign of weakness — to tie yourself down so that you won't become a human missile? That seems to be the subconscious idea.

Of course it is a foolish idea. Money spent on seat belts for cars would be well spent.

One day a coroner's jury with a spark of courage will recommend — in its verdict on a traffic death — that seat belts be made standard equipment for all cars, enforced by law.

MORE COMPLAINTS ON CARILLON TACTICS —

"Doing quite a business in unjust fines," says motorist

TO THE EDITOR

Montreal North,
May 10, 1962

Editor, Lachute Watchman,

Dear Sir:

I read with interest the item in The Lachute Watchman, May 2, regarding the Carillon Police.

On Easter Sunday my wife and I went from our cottage in Lachute to attend a church service in Hawkesbury. We went there by the highway and returned shortly after 12.30 by Carillon.

Just after we went up the hill leaving Carillon, we were greatly surprised to have a Police car pull up in front of us; couldn't think what was wrong, because we hadn't been driving fast, being in a 20 m.p.h. zone.

One of the two policemen got out and asked for my licenses, then came back and asked for my 1961 license. Having given them to him I waited in my car for some time, expecting he would return and tell me what it was all about. However, I had to go to the police car, where I was told I had gone around a curve at 36 miles per hour and that I would have to follow them to the Police Station. Like the lady in the article, I arrived at the garage, went inside with one of the policemen, who told me it would cost me $20. I was riled, but as I was dealing with the Police, I paid the $20 and he gave me a receipt. This receipt isn't even signed — there are some characters in place of a signature which aren't even initials.

I realized it was a racket, thinking they would know the serial numbers of local cars and had picked mine out because it bore a Montreal number. The receipt is phoney, the charge unfair, because I know full well I wasn't speeding. We only came home that way because we wanted to see how the dam was progressing since last summer, and just crawled along while we were viewing the sights. I never did find out where the curve was that I had turned at 36 m.p.h.

No doubt there have been many people caught in a similar situation, so Carillon will be a good place to avoid in the future. With all the tourists travelling there to see what is going on at the site of the dam, these policemen must be doing quite a business in unjust fines.

Yours truly,

L. H. Demerse

B'burg resident and churchwoman had many friends

Late Mrs. F. Kettyle

Brownsburg — This community last week lost one of its most loved and respected residents in the person of Ethel Pearl Cummings, dearly beloved wife of Ferguson Kettyle.

Mrs. Kettyle was born at North Nation Mills, Que., in the year 1895 and spent some years teaching school in this vicinity, then moved to Ottawa where she was employed by the civil service.

She was married to Ferguson Kettyle in 1920 and came to reside in Brownsburg, where she lived the remainder of her days.

The late Mrs. Kettyle was a lady of many interests. She was invaluable in church work, having taught a boys' Sunday School class for over 40 years. She served on the Board of Stewards of her church (Brownsburg United) and was an active member of the W.A.

Among her more personal interests and pastimes were art, writing and poetry. It is timely to reproduce one of her more recent verses, which indeed might be appropriate to her passing:

Slumber

When slumber comes creeping,
When grey shadows fall,
You in quietude rest
And old days you recall . . .
There are thoughts of regret
For the days that are past;
But night, with her shadows,
In her arms holds you fast.
Oh, the blessed release
From the cares of the day,
When slumbers now claim you
And you cast cares away.

Mrs. Kettyle is survived by her loving husband; two sisters, (Hazel) Mrs. Robert McConnell, of Kemptville, Ont., (Golda) Mrs. Ernest Hyndman, of London, Ont.; one brother, Esden, of Mountain, Ont.; also several nieces and nephews. One brother, Carmen, and one sister, Lila, predeceased her.

The funeral was held Friday at the Brownsburg United Church, amid a large gathering of friends and sympathizers. Pall-bearers were members of her original Sunday School class — Messrs. Herbert Graves, Frank Steere, Wyman Hazel, William White, Harry White and Gordon Anderson. Her present Sunday School class also attended in a body.

Interment was at Lachute cemetery.

YOU HAVE A HAND IN THINGS CANADIAN

when you own Life Insurance

Surprising? Yes—but true. Like most people, you have probably thought of your life insurance as protection for your family—as a good way to save money regularly—as a valuable collateral if you need a loan for an emergency.

Actually, your life insurance dollars are more than an investment in your personal security and your family's. These dollars are also an investment in Canada. They stimulate growth and progress and help make this country a better place in which to live and work.

At this moment, 9 BILLION DOLLARS of life insurance savings are invested in important Canadian enterprises—through the purchase of bonds and stocks and through mortgages.

These hard-working dollars are helping to finance great projects all over this country such as pipelines, shopping centres, bridges and highways, homes, apartment and office buildings, schools, factories, industrial plants and power developments. These investments create employment opportunities, too.

The income from these investments benefits you directly by reducing the cost of life insurance to you and the 9 million other Canadian policyowners.

THE LIFE INSURANCE COMPANIES IN CANADA

Ghost town or just asleep?

On the surface, a ghost town and a sleeping community look much alike. But there's a tremendous difference beneath the surface... a paused but healthy economy... a population asleep but ready for the next day.

Another invisible factor, just below the surface, is insurance. Insurance in its many forms protects the community when it is awake or asleep — against the risk of loss from fire, accident, theft, liability, storm and the multitude of other hazards we all face from day to day.

Without the protection which insurance provides, most thriving Canadian municipalities might well be ghost towns. Without that protection — which comes only when the catastrophic losses of the few can be spread among the many — most of the enterprises which make our Canadian centres prosperous today could not have been undertaken. The tremendous individual risks of sudden disaster would have made such enterprises too one-sided a gamble with fate.

Specially Written for The Lachute Watchman

By Janet Kask, Canadian Press Staff Writer

Montreal (CP) — Babies are getting lots of attention in Canada these days, and they can expect even more. The recently-formed National Baby Care Council (Canada) is seeing to that.

Teen-agers will learn about baby-sitting, special baby-care columns will appear in newspapers and a general network of information services is being set up.

The National Baby Council, a volunteer, non-profit organization, was established in the United States in early 1960 to provide basic information to expectant mothers.

Dr. Ernest J. Osborne of Columbia University, New York, chairman of the council's board of directors, says the situation today is different and more complicated than in grandmother's era when people didn't admit to weaknesses and when children grew up in large families with a knowledge of babies. The young mother today often comes in contact with an infant for the first time with her own baby."

Canadian Link

The Canadian council is autonomous, but can draw on the resources of its U.S. counterpart. Two Canadians directors, Dr. Albert Boyer, chairman of the pediatrics department of St. Justine Hospital, Montreal, and Dr. Karl E. Bernhardt, director of the institute of child study at University of Toronto, will serve on the 15-member board of directors.

The council has rapidly spread its program through the states and the U.S. Three of its directors write syndicated columns on baby care. Its program of educating high-school students for baby-sitting has gained great popularity, and more than 13,000 American high schools use the council's pamphlet and film service.

They sponsor and recommend research where more knowledge is needed, and bring into one body of knowledge all that is known about baby health, education and welfare.

Nine professions are represented on the council's program: medicine, public health, education, nursing, social service, community organization, hospitals, child psychology and communications.

At present, support for the U.S. and Canadian councils comes from the diaper service industry, but other industries may join in sponsorship with the board's approval. There is no public or government support.

Expert Packing

If summer holidays this year involve travel by air, many packing and wardrobe problems can be solved by consulting an airlines company.

Canadian and most foreign airlines with offices in Canada provide expert advice either in pamphlets or by special travel consultants. Suggestions aren't confined to women alone, of course. Men, children and babies get their share of attention.

Most helpful are tips on the differences in clothing sizes here and abroad, weights and measures, and a host of other things such as camera tips.

Cosmetics and clothes for any climate are listed in the useful pamphlets.

Tips on Touring

By Carol Lane
Women's Travel Authority

Your modern car and the gasoline you put in it will give you all the miles you pay for — if you use them wisely. Get careless, and your driving costs go up.

Here are tips smart drivers use in getting their money's worth in mileage.

Don't "peel" — hot-rodder fashion — when you start. This is hard on the whole car, especially the tires. It also skyrockets oil and gasoline consumption. Make your start smoothly.

On the open road, drive at a steady clip. Incessant pedal-pushing uses more gasoline, and gives passengers fits.

Drive at reasonable speeds. High speed wastes gas. Tests have shown that certain light cars that get 18 miles to a gallon at 30 miles an hour drop to as low as 10 miles to a gallon at 60.

On curves and corners, if you feel the car pulling, you're going too fast. You'll probably make it all right, but you shorten the life of your tires.

To save gas when stopping, plan ahead. Let your momentum carry you as far as possible. You paid for the momentum when you used gasoline to get up cruising speed. Save gas. Avoid needless wear on the brakes. Smart driving cuts operating costs and stretches car life.

Devilled Cheese Sandwich

Sandwich and filling, in one

When you make Devilled Cheese Sandwich, plan to have it baking when all the lucky diners can smell its superb aroma. There'll be no lack of appetite when you put it on the table!

Devilled Cheese Sandwich is a brand-new recipe, made from a simple, yeast-raised bread layered with a zesty cheese mixture, and served cut into squares. It may be eaten hot just as it comes from the oven, or cold; or the squares may be split and filled with cold or hot meals to make sandwiches.

Keep this recipe in mind when you're looking for something new to add variety to lunchbox and picnic menus.

Devilled Cheese Sandwich

(Yield — one 9-inch square loaf)

1 Cup lukewarm water, 1 teaspoon granulated sugar, 1 envelope fast-rising active dry yeast, 2¾ cups (about) pre-sifted all-purpose flour, 1½ tablespoons granulated sugar, 1 teaspoon salt, 3 tablespoons skim milk powder, 2 tablespoons shortening, ¾ cup finely-shredded Canadian cheddar cheese, 1 teaspoon dry mustard, 2 tablespoons chopped parsley, 1 tablespoon chopped chives or green onions, 2 tablespoons butter or margarine (melted), few drops Tabasco.

Measure lukewarm water into a large bowl; stir in the one teaspoon sugar. Sprinkle with yeast. Let stand 10 minutes, then stir well.

Meantime, combine 2½ cups of flour, the 1½ tablespoons sugar, salt and skim milk powder. Add shortening and cut it in finely. Stir half of the flour mixture into dissolved yeast; beat 2 minutes with electric mixer set at a medium speed, or with a wooden spoon for 300 vigorous strokes. Work in remaining dry mixture and sufficient additional flour to make a soft dough — about ¼ cup more. Turn out dough onto a floured board or canvas and knead until smooth and elastic. Place in greased bowl. Grease top. Cover. Let rise in a warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk — about 50 minutes.

While dough is rising, combine shredded cheese, dry mustard, parsley, chopped chives or green onions, melted butter or margarine and Tabasco. Punch down dough. Turn out onto lightly-floured board or canvas and knead until smooth. Divide dough into 2 equal portions. Roll out 1 portion of dough into a 9-inch square and place it in a greased 9-inch square cake pan.

Spread with cheese mixture to within ½ inch of edges. Roll out other portion of dough into a cheese filling, pat down lightly. Grease top. Cover. Let rise in a warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk — about 40 minutes. Bake in a hot oven (425 deg. F.) 15 to 20 minutes.

PORT OF HAMBURG EXCURSION TRIP

— By NANCY CLEAVER —

The first impression of a visitor is likely to be amazement at the large number of gigantic boats, belonging to many different nations, which can be seen at this port with its 23 miles of quay and its 35 immense basins, like long, deep fingers. There, 300 ships can be handled at the same time. In 1960 Hamburg port was visited by over 20,700 sea-going vessels from 45 countries. From Canada's East Coast there came 37 boats, and our sailors may have tied up their boat near a Polish boat, or one from Africa, India or Australia. Ships come from every continent to Germany's largest port, the third in trade in Europe.

There are several reasons for Hamburg's attraction as a port. It is 62 miles up the Elbe River, with the best of harbors, and with only a small tidal range of 7 ft. 7 ins. It is a "Free Port" — foreign goods are stored without duty, and these transit goods escape customs inspection. It is a focal point for Central Europe and, in spite of political divisions, Hamburg is an all-European port whose dock workers can toil on round-the-clock shifts, if necessary, to unload and load a ship.

In a recent day the following boats docked here: fourteen ships from European ports seven from Central and South America, four from the Middle East, the Far East and North Australia, and three from Africa.

Three thousand harbour scows, tugs, and launches; and "home" sheds for all regular lines are here. The cranes seem to be of gigantic proportions. Built on a floating base they lift up to 200 tons. Also there are a thousand level, ordinary cranes. There are 27 floating docks to service the large boats. There are specialized appliances for handling bananas, citrus fruits and tropical hardwoods. Markets and auction sales for coffee, tea, spices, and skins, are held from time to time.

On our trip we saw immense submarine shelters which were destroyed by blasting after the war. It was difficult, in the midst of all this activity, to realize that during the Second World War up to 80 per cent of the facilities of this port were destroyed by bombing.

Three thousand wrecks were removed from the harbour. The citizens of Hamburg can be proud of the vigor and resolution, as well as the courage and technical knowledge, they put into their reconstruction work. With the extra impetus of the European Common Market, a new Hamburg has become one of the world's greatest international centres.

Perhaps some day, you, too, will have the opportunity to see Hamburg for yourself!

Let's have a chicken fry!

French-Fried Chicken Breasts have a crisp, crunchy, nut-like brown crust. At the same time, the meat within is kept juicy, tender and moist, protected by the outer crust. For a dinner party, the chicken breasts may be boned to make fillets.

French-Fried Chicken Breasts

(Yield — 4 servings)

4 Single chicken breasts, salt, 1¼ cups once-sifted all-purpose flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1 cup ice-cold water, peanut or other vegetable oil or shortening for deep frying.

If desired, ask your butcher to bone the chicken breasts. Wash lightly with salt; let stand until the chicken comes to room temperature.

Meantime, sift all-purpose flour baking powder and ½ teaspoon salt together into a bowl. Gradually stir in ice-cold water; beat with rotary beater until batter is smooth. Cover and let stand ½ hour.

Preheat oil or shortening in a deep broad pan to 300 deg. F. for the deep frying of the chicken. ter, then cook slowly in preheated fat, turning occasionally, until chicken is tender and coating golden — 15 to 20 minutes for boned chicken, 25 to 30 minutes for chicken with bone in. Drain on absorbent paper. Serve with a garnish of red currant jelly and parsley.

AN INTERNATIONAL DRIVING PERMIT

Canadian motorists planning driving trips in Europe, Africa, Australia or Asia can settle their driver's permit problems before leaving Canada.

An international driving permit valid on the territories of 48 signatory states as a result of a convention negotiated in 1949, can be obtained through various sources.

The permit is written in English, Spanish, Russian, Italian, German, Japanese and French, to facilitate inspection by border and traffic authorities from country to country. Besides, the permit is valid in countries where a Canadian driver's license is not accepted, such as Germany and Spain.

LEGION NOTES

"ACTIVE SERVICE YESTERDAY COMMUNITY SERVICE TODAY"

The regular monthly meeting was held with Cde. President Geo. Kirby in the chair.

One new member, Cde. R. Pitt, was initiated into Branch 70. Aims and objects of the Royal Canadian Legion were read by Cde. 1st Vice-President R. O. McLean.

The various committee chairmen gave their respective reports. Final plans for the Provincial Golf Tournament and the Spring Fair were discussed, All we need now are workers and fair weather.

A new committee, under chairmanship of Cde. President George Kirby and the trustees, are to discuss, discover and report on redecorating, changing and/or enlarging the downstairs rooms and hall. It is to be hoped that this committee advances further and accomplishes more than similar committees established in the past few years.

Those handsome, stalwart and energetic gentlemen you see on Main Street Friday night with a boat, motor and trailer are Legionnaires selling tickets on the raffle to be held at the Spring Fair. They can use assistance in selling tickets.

The Teenage "Cabaret Nite" is still on schedule for Saturday, May 26.

Cde. C. Tucker will be Argenteuil Branch 70's delegate to the Dominion Convention, to be held in early June at Halifax.

Though you may know the answer, we didn't. How might a sentence use the word "and" five times in a row, yet make perfectly good sense?

Preposterous, we thought, and asked what the trick might be. There isn't any trick.

The story goes that the operator of a tavern in England — a place known as the Pig and Whistle Tavern — had a new sign made to hang beside the highway. Once it was installed he walked out to take a look at it, and was disappointed by the spacing used between the words.

The word "PIG" was squeezed up close to the "AND", but there was a large space before the word "WHISTLE" began.

The owner said the sign would not do. The sign painter said he did the best work in the village, and it was alright as it stood.

"Hold to your opinion so long as you like," said the publican, "but your bill will not be paid until I can look up and see the same amount of space between "PIG" and "AND" and "AND" and "WHISTLE".

RINGING SYMBOLS

Port Arthur, Ont. (CP) — Officials of the Canadian Lakehead Exhibition want Port Arthur to give up its 2,100-pound fire bell, to be mounted in front of the main exhibition building beside the Fort William fire hall bell, as a symbol of unity between the twin cities. The Fort William bell was acquired last year.

Have You A Question on UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE OR EMPLOYMENT?

Q. — I have been working for one year. Would I be entitled to benefit if I were laid off on account of a shortage of work? My wife runs a restaurant under her own name.

A. — Your benefit entitlement would be determined at the time you file your claim for benefit. The fact that your wife runs a restaurant would not affect your benefit entitlement provided you do not participate in the operation of your wife's business in any way. However, if you assist your wife in the operation of the restaurant you would have to supply full particulars to the Commission's local office when filing your claim, so that it could be decided whether or not you could be considered unemployed.

Q. — Would you please give me a list of the persons I can claim as dependents, so I can get a higher rate of benefit.

A. — The following persons may be claimed as dependents: your wife, husband or child; or any of your blood relatives down to nephews and nieces; or relatives by marriage down to brothers and sisters of your spouse. You must, of course, support wholly or mainly the person you claim as your dependent and the dependent must live in Canada or in one of the states in the U.S.A. with whom Canada has a reciprocal agreement. If the dependent claimed is other than your wife, husband or child, you must also establish that you maintain the self-contained domestic establishment in which the dependent resides.

Q. — If a person is drawing benefit, can he follow some private courses? Suppose he has finished with his courses, and has a diploma. He wishes to follow a gas and electrical welding course. Can he follow a day course if he is drawing benefit?

A. — Insufficient information is given to permit any specific answer. If you attend a course of instruction or training that the Unemployment Insurance Commission has directed you to attend, you may continue to draw benefit to which you have proven entitlement. You should consult your local office and give them full particulars regarding the course.

Tips on Touring

By Carol Lane
Women's Travel Authority

Every year, more families find time for fishing on vacation trips.

You may be a woman who has never baited a hook, but you can help your family make better plans if you remember this: Weather plays a big role in fishing.

Experts say fish bite best just after a "cold front" has moved through. A cold front is a mass of cold air, usually accompanied by thunderstorms. It makes for ideal fishing conditions. Rain has washed down insects and cooled the surface water; there's a dark sky for protection and a rising barometer that seems to pep up the fish.

When this happens, the fish forget their usual caution. They'll come into the shallows and snap up anything that looks good — and this includes your bait or artificial lures.

The important thing is timing — being in the right place at the right time. Before going fishing, check the local weather forecast. If a cold front is due, get out your gear and head for your favorite fishing spot.

One precaution: take along a raincoat. You may find things a bit damp. But, as far as the fishing goes, it'll be worth it.

LACHUTE SEEKS PROVINCIAL APPROVAL FOR ANNEXATION MOVE

Lachute Town Council last week approved a motion by Ald. François Charlebois to ask the Quebec Department of Municipal Affairs for authorization to annex the suburban part of St. Jerusalem Parish and the entire Village of Ayersville. . . . This proposal has been mooted for the past several years.

From various expressions of opinion, it is known that a number of St. Jerusalem residents favor this move, also a large majority of taxpayers in the northern segment of Ayersville. The Lachute Chamber of Commerce is also in favor of this change.

Procedure

The procedure for annexation of territory to a town differs somewhat from procedure in a rural municipality. In the case of a city or town, the corporation must adopt a by-law decreeing the annexation, specifying by number the lots or part-lots involved in the area to be annexed.

When this by-law has been accepted by the council of the municipality to be partitioned — or if to the contrary it is not accepted, a petition has been signed by the proprietors concerned and inquiry conducted by an officer from the "technical aid to municipalities" branch — it is then in order to prepare the plan and description of the territory; this, of course, is assuming that the project is feasible, practical and desirable.

In the case of St. Jerusalem Parish it appears the area will be within a hypothetical boundary formerly known as "Lane's Purchase".

High prospects for '62 Fair on June program, 13th - 16th

Optimism is the keynote in prospects for Lachute Fair, as discussed this week with Ken Riley, secretary-manager. With entries now closed except in handicrafts and lesser departments, Mr. Riley notes a highly encouraging list of exhibitors in all livestock breeds and classes.

In Aberdeen Angus and beef cattle there are three new exhibitors from outside this area.

There are old, familiar names in the two more popular breeds, Ayrshires and Holsteins. Ayrshiremen will be well represented by J. P. Bradley & Son, Erskine Rodger, Gerald Dawson, and others. The largest Holstein exhibitors will be John W. Hadley, John Meyer, Harold Wilson, David Yuile and Ken Nixon — the latter two from Ontario.

Heavy horses will present a keen brand of competition, among A. T. Cleland & Son with their usual four and six-horse teams, Gilbert Arnold, Lawrence Wallace, Aubrey Toll, C. R. Hadley, John Heatlie and others from far and near.

The grandstand horse show is also replete with promising entries. Frank Ryan, H. J. O'Connell, R. A. Campbell, John Sheriden, John R. Bush and Ernest Carss are among the more prominent exhibitors.

Poultry entries are exceptionally high, while sheep and swine are well up to their usual high standard.

Entertainment

King Reid Shows will bring the clamor and glamor of the midway, replete with many rides, contests and sideshows.

The service clubs have lined up their features to round out the program of lighter entertainment, as they have done these past several years in a co-operative community effort.

Brownsburg-Lachute Rotary has its galaxy of rustic entertainment planned for Thursday night. This attraction never fails to draw, and to please, the crowd.

A full program of fun has been arranged for Friday evening by Guy Besner, Lions Club committeeman — including such things as a pipe band; a finalists' fiddling contest; a twist contest with a local band; organ music for intermissions and background accompaniment; a baby contest; and (last but not least) Cocker Vary and Stonewall (Frank) Jackson of entertainment fame. The evening will also feature a parade of champion horses as a grandstand attraction.

Richelieu Club will handle the horse-racing card on Saturday afternoon as usual. These sulky events attract owners and drivers from all the district stables, besides many from more distant parts, and keen enthusiasm may be expected.

Saturday evening, in the grand finale of the Fair, Legion Branch 70 will feature the Blue Sky Revue by the Canadian Sky-Liners, a successful stage troupe with a rollicking program.

Two of the service clubs will be holding raffles, for which tickets will be drawn on the concluding night. The Rotary Club has a combination radio and stereo set in store for the winning ticket holder, and the Legion has an equally attractive prize in the form of a fibreglass boat, motor and trailer. . . . It is understood the Lions Club has no Fair-time drawing this year.

Former HS teacher Liberal candidate in N.S. riding

Keith Russell, formerly on the L.H.S. teaching staff, will be contesting the June 18 election on behalf of the Liberal party in Cumberland riding, Nova Scotia. Mr. Russell left Lachute in 1954 when he joined the Farm Forum organization. He then joined the CBC, and was in charge of farm broadcasts in Toronto, and later in the Maritimes. (He is related here by marriage, his wife being the former Marina Griffith.)

According to Peter C. Newman, in the current issue of Maclean's Magazine, Keith has been campaigning since last fall, and his chances of gaining the seat from the P.C.'s is considered to be among the best in the province.

'Concerts' member greets opera star at Covent Garden

It has been the experience of Community Concert-goers here to personally meet the artists who came to entertain them. But it was the unusual pleasure of one local member, Dr. G. R. Rigby, to renew acquaintance with a Montreal-born baritone, Louis Quilico, just recently at Covent Garden, London, where he was singing a leading role as the King of the Egyptians in the opera "Aïda".

Dr. and Mrs. Marc Papineau entertained for Louis Quilico and his wife when they performed here last season. (Mrs. Quilicot, an accomplished musician in her own right, was accompanist for the singer.) Dr. and Mrs. Rigby met them on this occasion.

Arriving in England recently, Dr. Rigby met his daughter, Diana, and together they attended the opera at Covent Garden. Dr. Rigby went backstage after the performance, and was cordially received when he brought greetings to the "King of the Egyptians" from Lachute Community Concerts Association.

Dr. Rigby in the meantime left to spend last week in Denmark, where he gave a technical paper before the International Ceramics Conference.

N.D.P. candidate is possibility

From a reliable source it is learned that a number of New Democratic Party supporters in Lachute and Ayersville have approached Lucien Giroux, Brownsburg citizen, to run as a candidate in Argenteuil-Deux Montagnes.

Mr. Giroux is local organizer for the Brotherhood of Carpenters and Cabinet Makers of America, and well known to the Brownsburg working community. He is experienced in electoral campaigning, having taken active part for the election of (now the Hon.) Alcide Courcy in Abitibi-West in the 1956 contest.

B.A. graduate from Bishop's

'Clinic' for permits here June 22-23

The mobile unit for auto drivers' tests will be stationed at the Court House, Grace Street, June 22-23. Applicants wishing to procure licenses should present themselves on these dates.

Business tax by-law studied at adjourned Council

Among details at the adjourned Council meeting last week was the appointment of evaluators. Messrs. Dave Campbell, J. R. Charron and Alcidas Laurin will form the team, with Mr. Campbell as chairman — to work under supervision of Ald. Linton Armstrong.

Acknowledgment, Request

The St. Patrick's Society thanked the Council for use of the Auditorium and co-operation of the police, on the occasion of the annual parade.

Request for a grant to the Women's Institute library was set aside, since no provision had been made in the budget.

The Argenteuil Agricultural Society received $300 as customary grant towards operations of Lachute Spring Fair.

Business Tax Schedule

The amended Business Tax By-law had its first going-over by the Council; this study occupied most of the session. In one category of merchants there was indecision on the rate that should be charged — to the extent that a vote had to be taken. Opinions were equally divided, and the mayor was called upon to cast a deciding vote.

It is hoped to publish this tax schedule in full, when it is passed and adopted.

Three degrees won by McGill students from this district

Listed among the McGill University graduates are three Lachute students, one in Science, one in Engineering and one in Law.

Miss Jean E. Taylor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Angus Taylor, qualified for the Bachelor of Science degree.

George A. Doig, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sharman Doig, received the degree in Electrical Engineering with University Scholar rating (coming first in his class), honors, and the British Association medal for Great Distinction.

Frank Boyd, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Boyd and now residing at St. Lambert, graduated with the degree in Law.

The McGill spring convocation is today, Wednesday.

C.N.R. abandons Lac Remi spur, part right-of-way for Autoroute

Canadian National Railways was granted permission to abandon its 48 miles of rail service between St. Jerome and Lac Remi, thus affecting several communities in the north of this County.

Users of the dwindling passenger and freight service between these two centres received due notice of its abandonment, scheduled for last week-end. Authority was given by the Board of Transport Commissioners on May 18, after a two-day hearing at St. Jerome.

The way has thus been cleared and simplified for continuance of the Laurentian Autoroute from St. Jerome northward to St. Sauveur, Mont Gabriel and Ste. Adele. The Autoroute will take the C.N.R. right-of-way over the entire route, St. Jerome to Lac Remi, the balance to be held as provision for future feeder routes.

An Autoroute spokesman said removal of trackage will start June 1 and plans call for a 16½ mile extension of the Autoroute to begin in July. The four-lane divided highway will run 10½ miles from St. Jerome to St. Sauveur, then another six miles to Mont Gabriel and Ste. Adele. Also provided for is a feeder road from St. Sauveur to Morin Heights.

Removal of the trackage is expected to be at the rate of a mile or two per day. It will start at the St. Remi end of the line so that the rails can be freighted to St. Jerome.

Nostalgic memories on last run of CNR

On Sunday, May 27, the last train from Montreal operated by the Huberdeau Division of the Canadian National Railways clanked to a halt at Morin Heights Station at 11:30 a.m.

This line served the region first as a narrow-gauge logging transportation route, passing through numerous stages of evolution and under a diversity of names for a period of almost 100 years.

In connection with this incident Lt.-Col. V. H. Jekyll, of St. Jerome (in a letter to The Watchman this week) writes as follows:

"The curtain came down Sunday morning on a scene that was reminiscent of some 50 years ago. We had no north-bound train Sunday morning then, but Sunday night for the down-train the station platform was, as on Sunday last, crowded to overflowing. The crowd, its excitement, and the atmosphere of expectation was the same. . . . The people were differently dressed, of course, and there was a difference visible in the station yard, although it was jammed with vehicles. This time the many-colored motor cars replaced the horse-drawn vehicles of 50 years ago, and the two-diesel unit, seven-steel-car train replaced the wood-burning engine, a baggage and one or two passenger cars and caboose, so fimiliar in years gone by."

Lt.-Col. Jekyll has a letter addressed to his father (June 19, 1924) from the chief surveyor of the Cdn. Board of Marine Underwriters, Montreal, thanking the Rev. H. Jekyll for his personal efforts which contributed largely to the building of this 12 miles of railroad. "Trusting we shall all profit by this new arrangement," the letter concludes.

District correspondents to The Watchman have sent the following impressions:

Glen of Harrington — While here on a visit, Mrs. M. Leroy, of Grenville, made the final trip on the CNR from Weir to Huberdeau. As a young girl this trip was made with her sister, the late Mrs. L. McGrandel, and the late Mrs. Myrtle (Graham) Cooke, on the first train to travel over the newly laid track in 1897, from Arundel to Huberdeau; they made this initial trip on the invitation of the late Mr. Paddy O'Conner, then Railroad Master.

Tom G. Pasco completes 50 yrs. service with C-I-L

Tom Pasco, Machine Shop foreman, completed his 50th year of service on May 13, at the Brownsburg Works, Explosives and Ammunition Division, of Canadian Industries Limited.

Tom was the recipient of a special Company Service Award, a mantel chime clock bearing a suitably engraved plaque, at a Company-sponsored dinner attended by 82 fellow employees, pensioners and Company representatives. The presentation was made on behalf of the Company by S. J. Smart, Assistant General Manager. A brief review of Mr. Pasco's service in the Company and in the community was made by K. W. MacGibbon, Brownsburg Works Manager, and W. H. Maslin, Mechanical foreman, offered congratulations and best wishes on behalf of his associates.

Mr. Pasco is the sixth member of the Brownsburg 50-Year Club.

Born in London, England, Mr. Pasco commenced his employment with the Brownsburg Works as a wad filler in the Shot Shell Loading Department on May 1st, 1912. He later was transferred to machinist work as an apprentice and served in various capacities until his appointment to Machine Shop foreman in 1949. He married Ruth Briggs in 1923, has one daughter, Elsie, living in New Providence, N.J., and one son, George, presently employed in the Brownsburg Works Tool Shop. Tom's father, the late T. G. Pasco, Sr., retired from this plant with about 23 years of service in 1935.

Safety trophy awarded to C-I-L, Brownsburg

Brownsburg Works of Canadian Industries Limited was recently presented with the Industrial Class "A" Safety Trophy in recognition of its excellent safety record for the year 1961 — 1,812,577 man-hours of work without an accident involving compensation.

K. W. MacGibbon, Works Manager, accepted the trophy on behalf of the Company at an official presentation in the Sheraton-Mount Royal Hotel, Montreal. He was accompanied by J. W. Humphries, Personnel Superintendent.

This Inter-Plant Safety Award was first presented by the Minister of Labor in 1932 and is competed for annually by industrial plants in the Province of Quebec with one to two million man-hours exposure. The competition is sponsored by the Industrial Accident Prevention Association.

This is the sixth occasion on which the Class "A" trophy has been awarded to the C-I-L Brownsburg Works.

Army and Air cadets held drill competition

"D" Company, Highland Cadet Battalion, won the military drill competition held Saturday afternoon at the Ayers airport. The Highlanders were in competition with the Ayersville Air Cadet Squadron, in the first demonstration of its kind. The winners were awarded the new Phelan Trophy, donated by Maj.-Gen. F. R. Phelan, CB, DSO, MC, VD, of St. Andrews East, while the Air Cadets also received a token trophy. The Buckingham drum and bugle band was present to liven the occasion.

Judges were Col. Ernest Emmett, of the Imperial Frontiersmen, Sgt.-Maj. Lussier of the Infantry and Sqd.-Ldr. Georges Roy of the Airforce. . . . Maj.-Gen. Phelan declared the task of the judges was a difficult one and he would not have wished to make a personal decision. In his brief address he deplored the lack of suitable armouries at the disposal of military groups in the district. It was inconsistent, he felt, that the government should spend millions for Bomarcs, while military trainees must be content with sheds for headquarters. Other speakers were Col. Emmett, Flt.-Lt. Paul-Emile Barbeau and Capt. Robt. Haydon.

Officers elected at final meeting of Brownsburg Home and School

(Our District Correspondent)

Brownsburg — The 1961-62 Home and School year drew to a close at the May session of the Brownsburg Association, as the nominating committee chairman, Ron Bartlett, presented the proposed slate of officers for the next term. Elected by acclamation were —

President, Don Graham; vice-president, Walter Hlibchuk; secretary, Mrs. T. Ponech; treasurer, Jack Broadfoot.

Program Committee — Mrs. C. Armstrong and Wes Freeland.

Social Committee — Mrs. W. Campbell and Mrs. L. Hall.

Membership Committee — Mrs. H. Barker, Mrs. A. Dewar and Ward Moncrieff.

The outgoing president, John Rutherford, reviewed briefly the activities which Home and School had conducted during the past year, among which were a talk and discussion on trade schools and the "athletes' dinner".

King Amos, attending his final Home and School meeting as principal of the High School, was presented with a remembrance gift on behalf of the organization. Mr. Amos, who had aided in the formation of the local Home and School some 10 years ago, expressed a continuing interest and extended his best wishes for future success.

In his first duty as president-elect, Don Graham summarized the activities of the Friday evening session of the Home and School Conference, held in Montreal on May 4-5. President Don Graham, also Past-President John Rutherford and Wes Freeland had attended as official delegates of the local Association.

The impressions gained by Mr. Graham were similar to those formed by presidents of former years: The Brownsburg Home and School has few, if any, real problems. Other associations are confronted with troubles and frustrations concerning principals who do not co-operate, fathers who do not attend meetings, and poor attendance in general. A number of solutions had been tried with varying success, one of these being the issuance of free Ice-cream to the students in the grade having the greatest number of fathers attending "H and S" meetings!

In closing, President Graham expressed the appreciation of the organization to the school staff for their help and co-operation during the past year, and asked that the Home and School members continue their support next year.

Traffic mishaps investigated by town police

Gilles Marquis, 19-year-old motorcyclist, of St. Martin, was taken to the Providence Hospital Sunday afternoon with a fractured arm, following a collision between his machine and a car driven by Robert Cattelan, of Bedard Blvd. The accident, which occurred at the intersection of Bedard and Bethany, was investigated by Cst. Dupras, of the town police, who took the victim to hospital.

Marquis, attended by Dr. Roger Lavigne, was later transferred to hospital in Cartierville.

Fernand Gauthier, 29, of St. Andrews was arrested here by town police officers on a charge of impaired driving. Gauthier allegedly struck a parked car on Main Street, belonging to Maurice Dussault, causing damage estimated at around $1,000. The accused was driving a light truck, which was also damaged to the extent of $400.

Constables Pineault and Dupras arrested the offender, who will appear for court hearing on June 20.

Counter customers are reminded that The Watchman and L'Argenteuil will advance in price to 10 cents a copy, effective next week.

Two exhibitions at 'Centre,' classwork and landscapes, announced for coming week

With an adult art exhibition already in progress until Friday (described elsewhere in this issue), Jean Laforest, of the Centre d'Art, has two other attractions for the art-conscious public next week.

From Sunday, June 3, to Sunday, June 10, there will be two simultaneous displays — one of class-work executed by children at the Centre d'Art, and the other of landscapes by selected local artists and associates of this district.

There are six painters represented in the landscape collection — Vivian Walker, Maurice Domingue, Don Titman, Claude Charron, Albert Laforest and Bern (Père Bernard, Franciscan troubadour equally adept with song and paint-brush).

The junior exhibit, in the Rio Theatre lobby, features drawings, paintings, collages and modelling by young pupils instructed by Guy Racine, graduate of the Beaux Arts.

The exhibitions will be open daily commencing Sunday — 2 to 6 p.m., and 7 to 9 p.m. The public are invited to attend.

Dow-sponsored fishing contest at Bark Lake

The new Dow Fishing Club has arranged a contest to be held at Bark Lake next Sunday, June 3, from 6 a.m. to 4 p.m.

There will be eight boats available, but those who can transport their own boats are requested to do so. There will be an entry fee of $1, and possession of a club membership ($1) is also required. The event will be held regardless of weather conditions, and will conclude with a bean supper. Beans will also be served during the dinner hour.

There will be admission prizes, and awards for the best catches in all varieties of fish.

Bark Lake (Lac des Ecorces) is reached by Route 31, then branching right from Arundel. Signs will mark the direction.

René Laurin, Dow agent, is sponsor of this contest and information may be had from J.P. Dion (LO 2-9072 or LO 2-6724) or from René Lalande (LO 2-2726 or LO 2-4910).

Former M.P. tried on charge of corruption

Ottawa (CP) — Evidence that former M.P. Raymond Bruneau, 44, accepted $10,000 in small bills in 1956 and paid off $5,000 in debts four days later, was given last week in Ottawa at his trial for corruption.

Abbé Bergeron, 45-year-old service station operator in Cornwall, testified that he gave the $10,000 to Bruneau, then Liberal M.P. for Glengarry-Prescott, in Bruneau's parliamentary office.

"The $10,000 was his fee for looking after the business in Ottawa," said Bergeron, testifying under protection of the Canada Evidence Act.

The crown alleges that the $10,000 was a bribe "for the use of the influence" of Bruneau in facilitating the sale of Bergeron's property (in Hawkesbury) to the Government and to help Bergeron get a civil service job.

Both were charged nearly one year ago under a section of the Criminal Code that provides for a maximum penalty of 14 years' imprisonment.

Bruneau has pleaded not guilty and is being tried without a jury by county court Judge Frank Costell of Kitchener.

Bergeron was tried twice last fall but both times the jury failed to agree on a verdict. Both are free on $500 bail. Bruneau's trial is continuing.

For Cléroux it will be his first fight since absorbing a sound beating by Zora Folley last month in San Francisco.

Former mayor of Rosetown, Sask., was related here

The late Reg. Conlin

After a long illness, the death occurred on May 13 of Clarence Edgerton (Reg.) Conlin, eldest son of the late William M. Conlin and his wife the former Rachel Neill, and the beloved husband of the late Flora Donaldson and of Edith Coulter, by whom he is survived. He is also mourned by two sons, George and Edgerton, of Rosetown; two daughters, (Ray) Mrs. M. McGee, of California, (Jean) Mrs. J. His brother Cecil predeceased him two years ago.

Reg. Conlin left Dunany, Que., early in 1900 by C.P.R. harvest excursion from Lachute to the Oxbow district in Saskatchewan, where he homesteaded before moving to Rosetown.

He founded a harness and farm implement business there, which has grown under his management over the years, and was one of the oldest dealers for International Harvester Co. in the province of Saskatchewan.

A man of quiet disposition with a keen sense of humor, he will be sadly missed by all who knew him.

He was a charter member of the A.F. & A.M. No. 91, a member of I.O.O.F. No. 69 and of the L.O.L. No. 2152.

The funeral service was held in Rosetown United Church on May 16. Members of the Masonic Lodge attended, and following the service the impressive rites of the order were observed.

Interment was in the family plot at Rosetown Cemetery. Pallbearers were his nephews — Raymond Kerr, Wm. Gillanders, Wm. Clark, Austin Coulter, Roy Morris and Roy Manning.

'Open house' afternoon at Carpet Co-operative

An "open house" at the new Argenteuil Carpet Co-operative in St. Andrews attracted a large number of visitors Saturday afternoon, to see examples of oriental-type rugs hand-manufactured in this new and promising industry, and to view the operators actually at work on the looms.

The venture is a co-operative affair, backed by local investors and government-assisted as a Canadian Handicraft Centre. To the community itself it is a colorful addition — a venture that is providing work for a small personnel and for a number of apprentice weavers, also an industry which may prove profitable as markets develop; and in this detail the outlook appears promising.

The offices and workrooms are situated in the old convent building near the St. Andrews - Carillon highway. Here the carpets are made, an all-wool pile being closely knotted in colorful patterns and designs by girl operators, who are becoming dexterous in their craft under supervision of skilled tutors. These, and the plant manager, Ernest Nagy, are of Hungarian birth, all expert in the trade. Mr. Nagy has patented various processes and equipment for carpet making, and the looms at St. Andrews are now making a very creditable product. The rugs are in both conventional and modern designs, some of the latter created by J. P. Mousseau, one of Quebec's contemporary artists.

The guests were welcomed by Mr. and Mrs. Antoine Paré (Mr. Paré is president of the enterprise), Mr. Nagy, Mme Dulude, and Mr. Horton Clark, secretary-treasurer. Tea and refreshments were served, and a pleasant and instructive visit was enjoyed by all who accepted this "open house" invitation.

Citizens cooperate in Boy Scout paper collections

The Boy Scouts' spring paper drives were well supported locally, a total of two trailer-loads having been collected in Lachute, in addition to the one in Brownsburg several weeks earlier. The co-operation of householders and the assistance of all who contributed time, trucking and hard work is much appreciated.

Unexpected last-minute shortage of trucks in Lachute hampered the operation, and made it necessary to work late into the night. Unfortunately a few calls were missed altogether, and for this the Boy Scouts express their sincere regrets. Every effort will be made to prevent recurrence in the subsequent drives, which are planned in both Lachute and Brownsburg in the fall.

Arg'tl Art Association held 6th annual meet

At the home of the president, Mrs. L. T. Porter, in St. Andrews East, members of the Argenteuil Art Association gathered last Saturday afternoon for their sixth annual meeting.

A report of last year's activities and a satisfactory state of finances was given by the secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Vivian Walker.

Arising from previous discussions on a charter, a committee was asked to take steps towards incorporation of the Association as a non-profit venture.

The president, Mrs. L. T. Porter, having welcomed the members, presented her report and thanked all those who had assisted during her term of office. In this category she had a special word for the "baby sitters", those who had remained in attendance during hours of the exhibitions and welcomed the public. A message from the honorary president, Mr. Antoine Paré, regretted his absence, due to a function being held simultaneously at the Argenteuil Carpet Co-operative in St. Andrews.

Nominations were presented on behalf of the committee by Miss A. L. Wales, and the officers duly elected — Mr. L. T. Porter accepting the presidency for another year.

Members were invited to inspect the art collection in this spacious home; this provided a pleasurable diversion. The hostess also graciously served tea, Mrs. A. G. Talbot pouring.

Officers

Hon. pres., Antoine Paré; pres., Mrs. L. T. Porter; 1st vice-pres., Jean Laforest; 2nd vice-pres., Don Titman; secretary, Mrs. Vivian Walker.

Directors — Mrs. Porter, Mrs. F. C. Morrison, Peter Walker, Don Titman.

An exhibition committee and a "hanging" committee were also appointed.

At a brief meeting of the executive, the all-member exhibition, the first of the season, was set for the week of June 30 — July 8 at the St. Andrews municipal hall.

Police foil hold-up, gunfight outside bank at Ste. Scholastique

The second sensational bank hold-up in five years occurred in the quiet community of Ste. Scholastique last Wednesday. The outcome in this instance, however, was more disastrous for the criminals.

The attempted robbery of the Banque Canadienne Nationale was foiled by a provincial police squad, forewarned and lying in ambush for the bandits. The gun battle and the casualty toll — one bandit dead and two wounded, and a detective officer, Capt. Marc Maurice, wounded — have been graphically told in reports and pictures in the daily press.

The incident, now a week old, is summarized here for the local record, and for distant readers of The Watchman familiar with these parts. . . .

Ste. Scholastique, May 24 — Yesterday morning four unmarked cars carrying members of the Montreal and provincial police, drew into town. The police were here after receiving a tip about hidden stolen cars. They came armed with machine guns and regular firearms.

The police holed up in several buildings facing the bank, and the wait began. . . .

At 2.40 p.m. the normalcy of the little town was startled! Four men, hooded in wollen tuques and wearing dark glasses, pulled up in front of the bank in a green auto which later proved to be stolen. They scampered up the four steps into the bank. Two carried Sten guns; the other two revolvers.

A police officer across the street in a notary's office shouted at them to halt. But the hooded forms, ignoring the warning or not hearing it, pushed into the bank. The manager, Jacques Dupuis, substituting for the ailing manager, and seven tellers and clerks, were moved to the rear of the bank and told to lie on the floor.

A burst of machine gun fire from outside drew one of the bandits, himself brandishing a sub-machine gun, to the bank's doors. He stepped outside, only to be met with another burst of fire. He toppled on the bank's steps, then dived to the sidewalk, and pulled himself almost beneath the waiting get-away car.

One of the police officers sprayed the street with bullets. The bandit, already struck in the leg, crawled up the steps in an attempt to enter the bank again. He stood up for a second, only to be met by more fire. Then he plunged headlong onto the lawn and did not move.

No sooner had he fallen than his colleague was brought down by a rain of bullets, but not before the gang claimed its first victim.

Det.-Capt. Marc Maurice, a veteran of the Montreal Police Department, was shot down by two bullets, on the veranda of the notary's office, across from the bank. He managed to pull himself into the notary's office through the front door, meanwhile having shot down one of the would-be robbers.

Bandit after bandit crumpled. One, his head virtually ringed with bullet holes, ended up in the front seat of the waiting car — the closest he got to escape.

The others littered the bank's entrance. . . . It was over in a matter of minutes.

Three ambulances arrived. The Rev. Jean Paul Savage administered the last rites to the five wounded, who were removed to St. Jerome and city hospitals.

The same bank was held up five years ago and robbed of $20,000.

Last run of CNR stirs nostalgic memories

Arundel — An event of historical interest took place when the last train on the Lac Remi line pulled into Arundel Station Sunday morning. It was a long train of seven coaches, and was filled with passengers taking their last ride on a route that has served so well for over 50 years. Pictures were taken all along the line, and quite a few local residents took a last ride to Lac Remi. Significant was the fact that the train was in charge of a local man, Conductor Lyall Larose, who was born hereabouts.

On Sunday evening, the same scene was enacted, with a good representation of the local residents turning out for this sad event.

We are now cut off from large cities entirely, with the exception of the Provincial Transport bus line which is trying to give good service. If that should fail, we will be in a poor way.

The Rev. H. G. Baugh of Morin Heights organized a picnic party of about 150 adults and children, which took place in the Anglican Church grove, the Rev. and Mrs. F. Bussell acting as hosts. . . . And so an old standby fades into the past, and progress goes on.

Weir, Que. — Quite a number from here took short trips out to view the trains on Sunday, marking the last train to pass, after more than half a century of service.

It is with deep regret that we see the old faithful standby pass from view. . . .

Mrs. E. J. Craig made the return trip to Lac Remi to commemorate the event.

Was secretary of G'vl municipality for 35 years

Late Dolphé Daviau

A well-known Grenville citizen, Dolphé Daviau, passed away Sunday, May 27, at the age of 63. Mr. Daviau was secretary-treasurer of the municipality for 35 years.

He is mourned by his wife, the former Anna Poulin, and a sister, Mme Etienne Larocque, also of Grenville.

"DESTROILET"® solves ALL human waste disposal problems in homes, cottages, boats, trailers, etc.

Destroilet is the end result of years of research and engineering. Because of the universal awareness of the pollution of our lakes, rivers and streams in addition to existing handicaps in the human waste disposal problem, the Destroilet Individual Unit has been designed with revolutionary departures. Using no water, using no chemicals . . . human waste is completely consumed, passed off into the air as harmless, colorless, invisible vapor — primarily carbon dioxide. Desired convenience and sanitation in human waste disposal may now exist anywhere — with the Destroilet.

The Destroilet uses automatically controlled heat to completely consume human waste . . . leaves practically no ash!

- Water, septic systems, sewerage pipe, etc., no longer needed for human waste disposal.

Adult pupils exhibit at Centre d'Art

Dr. Marc Papineau, president of the Centre d'Art — Jean Laforest, its prime organizer — and Giuseppe Fiore, art instructor — were speakers in a brief ceremony Sunday afternoon opening the art show which is currently on view at the Centre, in the Rio Theatre building. This was the occasion for a reunion of adult pupils who this past winter have derived both benefit and pleasure from Mr. Fiore's instruction.

The display is by no means a collection of masterpieces. Notwithstanding, the general effect is pleasing and colorful — Mr. Laforest deserving due credit for its arrangement. The selection is aimed rather to show the techniques and media to which the instructor has introduced his students — ranging from charcoal and gouache to woodcut and montage — and an individual freedom of expression which he has sought to impart. Dr. Papineau complimented the instructor on the results of his efforts; and his pupils, reviewing their work, were pleasantly surprised and encouraged.

For all interested, this display remains on view until Friday, 2 to 6 p.m., and 7 to 9 p.m. daily. All are cordially invited.

District convention June 8-9-10 for Jehovah Witnesses

The Jehovah's Witnesses' semi-annual convention will be held at Hull, Que., June 8-9-10, according to an announcement by Mr. Henry Purucker, presiding minister here.

This convention will bring delegates from Lachute, Hull, St. Jerome, Valleyfield and Buckingham. The Watch Tower Society, directors for the Witnesses, has reserved the Romanuk Hall, 4 Sacré-Coeur Street, for this gathering.

"Actually," said Mr. Henry Purucker, "this convention will be like a three-day school. Each delegate will learn how to increase his Christian activity. We can also add that the effect that this convention will have on Lachute will be a stimulant with all the persons of different beliefs who wish to study the Bible."

Mr. Purucker discussed preliminary preparations for the gathering, at a recent regular meeting of the congregation. "The theme of the convention will be 'Increasing in Praise to Jehovah God'. This is appropriate especially in the world today, where people increase their trust in material possessions instead of increasing their trust in God," he said.

The climax of this assembly will be the public lecture to be given Sunday, June 10, at 3 p.m., by Mr. Laurier Saumur, the District Supervisor. His subject will be, "Who will rule the world?".

COMING UP — WATER SAFETY WEEK

Think now — be water-wise

SCHOOL WILL be out soon, and Canadians will be getting back to the nation's lakes and rivers to enjoy the pleasures of water recreation.

The Canadian Red Cross has chosen next week as "National Water Safety Week".

Out of the millions who will be enjoying these pleasures, it is probable that nearly a thousand will not enjoy them for very long. They are the ones who are destined to die the horrible death of drowning.

It's human nature to assume that this could never happen to oneself — but one should face the facts, that it has happened to many thousands of Canadians and that it could possibly happen to every individual who goes anywhere near the water.

Water safety, to all intents and purposes, is a very personal affair, for it is only through the individual's response to water safety knowledge that the drowning statistics can be cut down.

Over-confidence in water, and fear of the water, are the two extremes of approach. Somewhere in between is the correct one. It's a level-headed approach that is somewhat of a mixture of the two extremes but is distinct in itself. It amounts to facing the water with confidence but, at the same time, giving it its due respect.

We can't live without water. It's necessary for our own survival. But whether it becomes a killer depends entirely on each individual who uses it for reasons other than those meant for survival. Whether those thousand potential victims suffer the agony of drowning, depends on clear thinking now. It's their decision.

This summer — be water wise!

Summer vacation tips

HERE ARE a few main offences against the common sense of a good restful vacation.

Protect your eyes. The blinding effects of glare and over-exposure to bright sunlight last longer than most people realize.

Heat exhaustion and heat stroke are due to overheating of the body. In hot, humid weather (sunshine may even be absent) too little heat is given off and more heat is produced inside the body. The effect is stronger when the liquid lost by perspiration is not replaced. When you feel like stopping for a cold drink, give in to yourself; it will do you good.

Long exposure of the uncovered head to the rays of the sun may cause sunstroke. The blood vessels of the brain are overfilled with blood. The face is flushed, the pulse is weak, there is headache, giddiness, vomiting. The patient may suddenly fall unconscious as if felled by a stroke.

You are better off to avoid sunburn by using a sunburn preventive. These preparations are in the forms of creams, oils or lotions. Often they contain an ultra-violet screen or filter contained in solution or suspension.

Higher prices

A TIDAL WAVE of higher prices is sweeping across a broad business front — reports The Financial Post.

In the wake of the devaluation and pegging of the Canadian dollar, price increases are being announced — or quietly put into effect — for a growing list of consumer and industrial items. The hard fact is this: Devaluation of the dollar makes inflationary pressures mount because everything Canada buys abroad is now more expensive — and almost every consumer and every industry depends to some extent on imported goods.

In spite of an official denial, a strong rumor persists that at least one major Canadian mail-order house is delaying the printing of its fall and winter catalogue for an across-the-board upward revision in prices.

Everything Canada buys abroad — and it imported $5,795 million worth of goods last year — now costs approximately 13% more than it did 26 months ago due to the decline in the dollar. Canada's importers make the point: If Canada continues to import at the same rate as in 1961, the country will pay $700 million more per year for the same amount of goods, says the Canadian Importers and Traders Association. The money will have to come from somebody's pockets, or else imports will have to be replaced by Canadian goods — or not bought at all.

Spreading corn in the countryside

FOLLOWING IS an extract from a U.S. publication which bears repetition. It is specially timely in this season of glib promises. . . .

I remember, as a small boy in knee britches, going with my father to hear an address given by Honorable Stephen Pace, then Congressman from the old Georgia 12th District. It was on the banks of the Ocmulgee River. There was a barbecue, and citizens, especially farmers from all the counties gathered — this was before the first World War.

It seemed that someone in the Congress had introduced a bill that would give the farmers some money provided they did something. The Congressman vigorously opposed it. I have no idea what it was, because I was watching a "dirt dobber" making a ball of mud. The congressman snapped me back to attention, however, when he said "I'm going to tell you a true story about the wild hogs that once lived about forty miles down the river.

"Years ago," the congressman said, "in a great horse-shoe bend down the river, there lived a drove of wild hogs. Where they came from no-one knew, but they survived floods, fires, freezes, droughts and hunters. The greatest compliment a man could pay to a dog was to say that he had fought the hogs in Horse-Shoe Bend and returned alive. Occasionally a pig was killed either by dogs or a gun — a conversation piece for years to come.

"Finally a one-gallused man came by the county store on the river road, and asked the whereabouts of these wild hogs. He drove a one-horse wagon, had an axe, some quilts, a lantern, some corn and a single barrel shot gun. He was a slender, slow moving patient man — he chewed his tobacco deliberately and spat very seldom.

"Several months later he came back to the same store and asked for help to bring out the wild hogs. He stated that he had them all in a pen over in the swamp.

"Bewildered farmers, dubious hunters and store-keepers all gathered in the heart of Horse-Shoe Bend to view the captive hogs.

'It was all very simple,' said the one-gallus man, 'First I put out some corn. For three weeks they would not eat it. Then some of the young ones grabbed an ear and ran off in the thicket. Soon they were all eating it, then I commenced building a pen around the corn, a little higher each day. When I noticed that they were all waiting for me to bring the corn and had stopped grubbing for acorns and roots, I built the trap door. Naturally,' said the patient man, 'they raised quite a ruckus when they seen they was trapped, but I can pen any animal on the face of the earth if I can jist get him to depend on me for a free hand-out.'

We have had patient men in our central government in Washington for years. They are using our own dollars instead of corn. I still think about the trap door and the slender, stooped man who chewed his tobacco.

Two quick excerpts, in two minutes' reading of current editorials, will illustrate the trend of thought:

(1) "Fishing for votes by promising a causeway here and floodway there, suggests a low opinion of the voters' intelligence."

(2) "Hang on to your hat. At the rate — — is going, he may promise to give it away IF he and his party are elected June 18. To date he has promised just about everything else and one of these days he may run out of 'give away' ideas."

Of Many Things

WOMEN DISAPPOINTED

The National Council of Women had asked the government for a better deal for Canadian widows and widowers. No doubt they expected that the recent budget, presented just before the election date was set, would give some relief. No mention of the matter was made, and there is naturally a great deal of disappointment.

Women are used to getting the brush-off from governments, because women do not seem to unite in efforts to get justice. They are not aggressive politically.

Certainly they have a good case. For example, if a bread-winner dies and leaves his widow a pension or annuity, the revenue department capitalizes it. To simplify that, they guess how long she will live and how much she will receive — and the tax is based on that guess. If she is unfortunate to die in six years instead of 16 years, she has paid tax on what she will never get!

Surely this is a raw injustice in a nation where we are supposed to believe in the Christian principle that a man and his wife are one person. It is a real injustice to widows and widowers alike, who work together to arrange that on the death of one the other will not suffer too severe a drop in income.

What should the women do?

I can tell them what men would do. With an election coming up, they would attend all campaign meetings and they would ask each and every candidate to declare himself on the issue. A candidate wanting support would be called on to make a firm promise to work for reform in the field of estate taxes. Then, if elected, the candidate would be reminded continuously of his promise and would be expected to speak up in parliament on the subject.

Women underestimate their own power. Who runs most of the campaigns, gets out the vote, does the telephoning, mails the literature, convenes the teas and even drives cars in the parades? The women! Political candidates need this help and need it badly. While they are in need, they should be asked to commit themselves to doing something worthwhile when elected. One worthy act would be to give widows and widowers something closer to justice in the taxation of hard-earned pensions.

'BOUT BARBERS

Some weeks ago I read an article about an honest barber in England who, instead of charging a flat price for a haircut, made his charge in accordance with the amount of time consumed in ministering to a customer's wants.

Why cannot an arrangement like this be adopted all over the civilized world? Why does an old guy like me, with a highly defoliated dome, have to pay the same price as a young man with enough hair to stuff a mattress? In my case it takes a barber six minutes to complete the job. Six minutes for one dollar! What do the barbers think they are? Brain surgeons? The young man with the mattress pays no more, although he has taken from 20 to 30 minutes of the barber's time, depending on his fussiness. . . . Supposing a milk-dealer were to say: "Sure, I can sell you a pint of milk, but you'll have to pay for a gallon!"

But I have the barbers licked. About five years ago I bought an outfit consisting of clippers, scissors, comb and a book of "obstructions." Then I hired my wife and let her read the book. After the first attempt she became increasingly efficient and I have only been in a barber-shop once in five years or so. All I ever need is a slight trim around the ears to keep me from looking like Buffalo Bill. For top dressing I find Johnson's Glo-Coat as good as anything.

I have even cut the hair of two disabled old friends myself. One of them is still living. The other had been in and out of hospital for several months, and one day while he was confined to the house I offered to cut his hair. A few days later his son phoned me saying: "Dad said you would come out and cut his hair. Could you come out this afternoon? His hair needs cutting badly." . . .

So I went out and cut it badly.

Be seein' ya!

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

Why don't people go to political meetings? Merely because meetings are too dull, and people are too lazy.

Waning attendance has been a subject of complaint for at least 20 years. Yet it does not seem to deter candidates from holding meetings. Politicians still boom their messages through nearly empty halls, putting bats to flight and shaking down dust on the heads of the traditional three men and a boy.

What good does it do them? Mainly, the political meeting provides a channel through which information can be fed to the newspaper.

Democracy might be served just as well if the politician sat down with a reporter and orated at him (which Heaven forbid).

The politician might be just as far ahead if he stayed at home and sent a written speech to the editor.

Political meetings reached their zenith before movies and television — in the days when there was nothing else to do. Very little else, anyway.

Now there are many other things to do. If the politician wants the attention of the mass, he can't expect them to come to him. He must go to them.

Sometimes he goes to them by way of the television studio, where he does one of two things — delivers an earnest speech and loses his audience, or puts on a one-man vaudeville show.

Few Stay Tuned In

At least the people can see their candidate when he appears on the television screen — even though he assumes a false face.

But the number of televiewers who stay tuned in to a politician is remarkably small. We might be wise to give up all pretence that the politician is the star of a show, and merely present him as a 30-second commercial.

And if we are to hold political meetings, we might frankly turn them into circuses, with girls, bands and dancing chimpanzees.

But at least once during each campaign there would be a thinking man's meeting at which the politicians would be required to talk sense, discard their slogans and submit themselves to questioning from people who really wanted to know what the election was about.

BANKING IS BRIGHT BOY'S BEST BET FOR THE FUTURE

"Bright, ambitious young men, looking for a career with a challenge, a satisfying salary and advancement opportunities, can find all of these things and many more in banking," Don Hay, manager of the Lachute branch of the Bank of Montreal, said this week.

"Best evidence that anyone with intelligence and drive can really achieve distinction can be found in the rapid rise of today's top executives of the B of M," Mr. Hay continued.

The bank's policy of promoting from within its own ranks gives every young man who enters banking today the chance of rising to a senior executive appointment. Ability is the only consideration.

Right from the start, the B of M puts young men on a training program that forms, in effect, a series of stepping-stones to the growing responsibilities and rewards that constitute success.

Variety is the keynote of this training, with every young banker spending time in as many posts as possible in the branch. Above all, the young B of M banker is encouraged to develop his own abilities.

A chat with Mr. Hay, or with Miss Lulu Miller at Ayersville branch, could be the introduction to a rewarding career in one of the most solidly established and respected fields of business today. Why not enquire soon, and ask for a free copy of the B of M's careers booklet. (advt.)

LEGION NOTES

— by —

Branch 70 Correspondent

"ACTIVE SERVICE YESTERDAY COMMUNITY SERVICE TODAY"

Argenteuil Branch 70, by active membership standards, is a small branch. Achievement-wise it is fast becoming one of the strongest and staunchest branches that comprise the Quebec Command.

Culminating 25 years of service to veterans, the community and others, in 1961 Branch 70 acted as hosts to the Provincial Curling Playdowns and the 1961 Provincial Convention. Commencing its second 25-year cycle on the same theme, Lachute Branch and its Legionnaires are hosts to the Provincial Golf Tournament. Such events can only be undertaken and successfully achieved through active co-operation among its own members and committees, and with Provincial Command.

Early Saturday morning Legionnaires from across Quebec will tee off at St. Andrews Golf and Country Club. Cde. C. Demerse, registrar, informs us that approximately 150 entries are in to date. Cde. D. Ogilvie, once again, is very capably looking after hotel arrangements, and Cde. L. Bryson, over-all chairman, and his committee have everything ready at St. Andrews. Now, all concerned can only hope and pray for a clear, bright and warm day. Golfing dinner will be served at Lachute Memorial Hall, to be followed by dancing and a social evening.

Halifax, and in fact the entire Province of Nova Scotia, will be at its best early in June, when Legionnaires from all parts of our vast country will convene for the 1962 Dominion Convention. At a convention, while business sessions are of prime importance, the social activities are important also, as they afford an excellent opportunity for members to get to know one another and discuss matters of mutual interest in a personal manner. Cde. C. Tucker will represent Branch 70 as their delegate to this convention.

Plans for Branch 70's participation in the annual Spring Fair are complete. The committee in charge has chosen Canada's "Blue Sky Revue" to supply the entertainment at the grandstand show Saturday night, June 16.

This show has everything to please all tastes and all ages; it includes singers, dancers, musical acts, novelty acts, magic, ventriloquist and music galore. The committee feels that they have a very good show lined up this year. Along with entertainment, Branch 70 is raffling a handsome 13-ft. chestnut moulded plywood boat with Johnson motor and Selkirk boat trailer. Again we hope and pray for good weather. Speaking of prayers, could not this be ours? . . .

Our Prayer

To grow a little wiser day by day,
To school our minds and bodies to obey,
To keep our inner life both clear and strong,
To free our lives from guile, our hands from wrong;
To shut the door on hate and scorn and pride,
To open, then, to love the windows wide,
To meet with cheerful heart what comes to thee,
To turn life's discords into harmony,
To share some weary worker's heavy load,
To point some straying comrade to the road,
To know that what we have is not our own,
To feel that we are never quite alone,
This, should we pray from day to day.

Thought for the Day:

"Luck" is often the result of labor, understanding, care, and a kick in the pants!

90% of all oil company product research in Canada is done by Imperial

At Imperial Oil's laboratories at Sarnia, Ontario, more than 200 scientists and technicians are working to improve present petroleum products—and to develop new ones. Their research covers many fields, from gasolines to household detergents.

Another 130 scientists and technicians are working at Imperial's Calgary laboratories on ways to find and produce more Canadian crude oil and natural gas. Imperial does more research than all other oil companies in Canada combined.

Every barrel of crude oil contains some of the sun's heat. Imperial research works to unlock more of this energy. After five years' intensive research, Imperial found a chemical additive which makes more heating oil available from Canadian crude oil. One important result: less oil imported to heat Canadian homes.

Early summer spinach a fresh seasonal treat

Although we buy spinach all year 'round, early summer pickings are rather special. The young leaves are so tender and flavorful they can be eaten raw; they are exceptionally good for freezing too and make into marvellous luncheon dishes when combined with eggs.

This time of year spinach can often be bought in the bulk as well as packed in bags. When buying the unpacked or bulk spinach, select clean looking bunches with crisp, glossy, dark green leaves. You will need about 2 pounds for 6 servings as allowance must be made for roots and heavy stems which are discarded in the preparation. Bagged spinach, on the other hand is already trimmed and therefore 1¼ pounds or 2 (10-ounce) bags will give 6 servings. There is much less sand in bagged spinach than in bulk spinach but both still need to be washed two or three times in cold water before using or cooking.

As it's time again for the "tossed greens" season and the appearance of the big wooden salad bowl, try to get away to a good start with a raw spinach salad. Here's a crisp idea for one from the Consumer Section, using trimmed, washed and chilled spinach in combination with leaf lettuce. Tear the spinach and lettuce into bite-sized pieces to make 4 cups of each. Add ½ cup thinly sliced radishes, 2 tablespoons thinly sliced green onions and ¼ cup diced celery. Toss together in a big bowl with a blue cheese dressing and 5 slices of bacon which have been fried crisp, drained and crumbled. As an accompaniment to the main course at dinner or supper this salad gives six servings.

Although it is asparagus that usually starts off the home freezing season, spinach follows close behind. In the publication "Freezing Foods" from Information Division, Canada Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, directions for freezing spinach say to select tender new leaves. Remove stems and sort out any discolored or bruised leaves. Wash carefully, shake off extra water from leaves and blanch 2 minutes. Chill quickly by plunging into ice water. Drain well, being careful not to mat the leaves. Pack, seal, label and freeze immediately.

Another way to use new green spinach is to team it up with eggs and a cheese sauce — call it Eggs Florentine and serve with a flourish for lunch! First, make a Cheese Sauce. Then cook spinach until almost tender; drain well; chop rather fine and place in a buttered shallow baking dish. Make one depression per serving in the spinach. Break an egg into each of these hollows. Pour the cheese sauce over the top. Cover with buttered bread crumbs. Bake in a moderate oven 350° F. until crumbs are brown. Presto! Eggs Florentine — featuring spinach!

Cheese Sauce for 6 Servings

2 Tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons flour, ½ to ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon paprika, ½ teaspoon dry mustard (optional), few grains cayenne, 1¼ cups milk, ¾ to 1 cup grated cheese.

Melt butter in top of double boiler, then blend in flour and seasonings. Gradually add milk, stirring until blended. Cook over direct heat, stirring constantly until sauce begins to thicken. Then place over hot water and continue cooking for 5 minutes, stirring occasionally. Add cheese and stir until melted. Makes about 1½ cups.

VEGETABLE SHORTCUT

To clean vegetables quickly and thoroughly use a continuous-coil rustproof metal pot scourer (the curly kind without a handle). A quick rinse will keep it clean for next time.

Strawberries

It is best to buy only the amount of strawberries that can be used up quickly — says the Consumer Section. If the berries are to be kept for a day or so, they should be removed from the containers and placed on trays in the refrigerator so that cool air circulates around them. Strawberries should be washed and hulled JUST before using.

Thoughts at 'exam time'

— By NANCY CLEAVER —

"Exam time again! Why does it spoil every June?" a young scholar asked his parents.

His father tried to be reassuring. "You have planned your studying and are carrying out your schedule. When it comes to your exams, you'll have to remember the motto a Sporting Page used to carry, 'A man can but do his best'".

Exam time is hard on parents as well as scholars, and this is particularly true for parents of high-strung youngsters in the upper grades. Many a child just does not do his best under the strain of writing an examination.

The larger the population, the bigger the school, the more complex the educational structure, the more difficult it is for a boy or girl to be confident and relaxed as he faces this final hurdle of the year's work.

Many boys find the literature and composition examinations something to dread, no matter how hard they have worked. These are papers where inevitably the marker's likes and dislikes color the grading. There can be no debate about the correct answer to a question of algebra, but how can a fair judgment be made of an essay, if a topic is chosen by the student which appeals to him, which has no interest for the examiner?

Many girls have a particularly trying struggle with higher mathematics. In a recent survey of hundreds of pupils, an equal number of boys and girls, writing final examinations on mathematics on the Grade 12 level, three times as many girls failed as boys. Who sets these papers? Have women teachers an equal say with men teachers in this area of study at top levels?

Parents are told that they only confuse their children if they try to coach them in their work. Teaching methods have changed and the content in subjects, especially in science, is now much more complex than two decades ago.

But parents are concerned with the terribly high failure rate in the upper grades at Collegiate and first years of University. A student who does not pass is not just part of a set of statistics, he or she may be their own son or daughter, on whom a lot of money has been spent to keep them in school. Adolescents are urged to get all the education they can, but the hurdles are so high that many pupils who work hard, who have medium ability, end up with a failure.

Mother will want to send a son or daughter off to an examination in as confident a frame of mind as possible. Avoid all unnecessary conflict or argument. A boy or girl will appreciate some extra different touch to breakfast, because appetites under nervous strain are fickle. But a pupil cannot do his best through a long examination on an empty stomach.

Teachers usually give pupils instructions on how to write an examination, but no one method suits everyone. It is only sensible for the student to keep as calm as possible and read and follow all directions carefully. For most it is a good idea to read the whole examination paper through. Mark the easiest parts and those which count for most marks, and plan to do these first.

"What does this question really ask?" a student should puzzle before dashing into an answer. Jotting down a few notes, while planning the answer is a help.

Keeping an eye on the clock is no easy matter during an exam. But a scholar must strike a balance between not wasting time and not being in too much of a rush. A short period to read over what has been written and catch misspelling or mistakes or omissions is essential.

Last but not least: Consider the poor marker and write legibly. How a student writes is important, as well as what he writes.

Tips on Touring

By Carol Lane

If your family includes a dog, count him in on your vacation plans. The children like it, and you save the boarding fee.

Unless your dog is a veteran traveller, break him in with short, frequent rides. Most dogs like to ride. If you suspect yours may be carsick on longer trips, ask your veterinarian about a mild sedative or tranquilizer.

To help him feel at home, take his regular feeding bowl, water dish, favorite food, and a vacuum bottle of water. Take his leash, brush and comb, too.

Stop at least every two hours to let him exercise. Always keep him on the leash.

Many motels accept guests with pets. Some offer special services. One motel chain has a welcoming "room service" for dogs. After you register the dog is given a dinner on the house, served in a disposable dish.

One coast-to-coast motel group gives each guest-with-pet a gift package containing dog food, literature on dog care, and a throw-away container for food or water. A dog's bed is available, and an exercise area is set aside for the dog.

Florists can spend a lot of money importing greens for flower arrangements, yet many beautiful, useful greens are available in local woodlands.

What is needed are people to locate and gather these greens. Some, such as juniper, may be impossible to find in a particular area, yet grow in profusion perhaps only 10 miles distant.

"What is wild in one place is worth a fortune in another," says a leading Montreal florist. Such greens as huckleberry and rhododendron are imported there from Western Canada and the United States because of the demand by city dwellers for "something green."

Cedar, flat ferns and moss are always in demand. Also urgently needed by florists at this time of year are wood violets, because very few people will pick them.

Buffet Salads

An entertaining salad from San Francisco is the Do-It-Yourself, served buffet style. In separate bowls, place peeled, chilled small red tomatoes, hard cooked eggs, salad greens, chopped onions and celery — with French dressing at the end of the production line.

For these deceptive late in spring days when the temperature drops, a hot broccoli salad is an interesting switch. Serve a plate of steaming broccoli with butter, and mustard mayonnaise or sharp French dressing on the side.

Spicy Salad

Salad days are here again, and here's a "Bohemian Club Favorite" from California, a year-round mecca for green-eaters. It's an exotic western salad with the difference of a few spices. Ingredients:

1 Hard-cooked egg, ½ tsp. dry mustard, ½ tsp. coarse black pepper, ½ tsp. paprika, ¾ tsp. salt, ½ tsp. Worcester sauce, 2½ tbs. tarragon vinegar, 6 tbs. vegetable oil, 2 tbs. chopped parsley, 4 tbs. chopped green onions, 1 large head lettuce, or equivalent in mixed greens.

Rub a small bowl with a garlic clove and into the bowl, beat egg yolk and seasoning until smooth. Gradually stir in vinegar and oil. Chop the egg white fine and add with chopped parsley. Tear lettuce in large bowl rubbed with garlic. Shake or beat dressing thoroughly, pour over the greens and toss. Serves 4.

Summer Storage

Now is the time to think about battling the moths. Before storing woollens, brush or clean. Sweaters can be stored in plastic bags fastened with elastic bands. A day in the sun before storage is good for woollens and furs. Airtight bags of clothing should be stored in a cool, dry place.

Joys of spring, follies of youth — slants on the current scene

"Sunnyacres Sketches"

By Margaret Cook

We do not write from the old farm, but we have had a long week-end there, and feel that the adjacent heading is justified. We were late this year resuming our love affair with the Laurentians, for we were doubtful of the state of the roads; but there was no difficulty, and we arrived to find everything untouched. Even the mice seemed to have been more kind to us, so that there was a minimum of cleaning up. Outdoors it was difficult; the black flies and mosquitos fell on us with happy cries. Digging in the garden was pure torment, and we had brought no fly-repellent, nor spray. We had relied on the calendar rather than good sense.

Literally hundreds of daffodils surround the house at Sunnyacres, and spread along the depression that is a brook in the spring. They cluster in the garden, too, and peep in the orchard. All in all, I can see myself repeating the back-breaking routine of 1956, when I planted about 5,000 bulbs. The moving seemed to discourage them for awhile, now they are bigger, brighter, and more numerous than ever. All the flowers are likewise, due to a load of manure our kind helper brought to us. Unfortunately, this made the grass also grow more lushly. I planted periwinkle during the week-end. Nothing copes with grass better than periwinkle. Try it. It is handsome, too. Under the apple tree at the front there is a bank of primulas gay in many colors, with a bit of trailing arbutus alongside. The apple tree itself was just getting pink when we had to return to work. Only the tiny grave at the edge of the lawn marred the fair scene with a reminder of the savagery and spite of small-minded men. We noted many new No Trespassing signs, but feel they will be of little avail unless authority, municipal or otherwise, can see that laws are enforced. If summer comes, can autumn be far behind?

We saw the aftermath of a traffic accident on the Sunday. On the twisty road near Lake Hughes, a small red car had been badly damaged by a larger one. My information is that there were six people crowded into a car smaller than the popular Volkswagen. Quite apart from other factors, this crowding was just an invitation to trouble. A young man was stretched out, sadly bloddied on one side of the road, and a girl on the other. Two other girls in shorts and pony-tails were walking about sobbing. This we saw with our own eyes. Even four were a crowd in that car. It is always a matter of amazement to the writer that there are not more accidents. The follies of youth are incredible.

Which leads us to relate a minor folly we saw in Boston. It was a hot night, and we had gone out to seek some food after our frustrating experience on the way home from Gloucester. Three young girls were walking ahead of us. Suddenly, they stopped and asked us the way to a certain street. It was then that I noticed that one of the trio was walking the hot pavement of Boston in her stocking-feet, and that both heels were ornamented with surgical tape! I should think the blisters had been formed by walking in spike heels with no stockings, but I was too dumbfounded to ask. (I know this will seem incredible to those who know me, but it is a fact.)

We have had a run of bad luck lately, and have lost a series of good friends through death. One was the gentleman, whom we have mentioned once before in this column, who began his working life as an under-gardener to Gilbert, the lyric writer of the Gilbert and Sullivan operettas. I do not know how this seems to you, but to me that is something like saying he was with Noah on the Ark. It seems incredible, and indeed, our friend lacked only a few weeks of being ninety. It was a treat to us, though not to his long-suffering relatives, to hear tales of the great and the near-great of nearly a hundred years ago. One of his better stories was of losing $2,000 from a desk drawer. He was forced to think some underling had taken it, until on the umpteenth investigation of the drawer, he found that the roll had been carried behind the desk, presumably by a rat. And I do not mean to be funny, a real four-footed rat. All our memories of this particular friend are like that, bright and happy. Life never defeated him, only death. We all owe a great deal to those gallant people who are never defeated but who struggle on. If they do it with a laugh and a joke, they are doubly blessed. On the other hand, how miserable are the groaners! Everybody flees their company.

Apart from politics, which grow more and more interesting, and the latest flight of an astronaut, there is little to discuss, and we dare not give our views on either. We do have a little fun with the burning issue of bilingualism. The daughter and I were recently sheltering from a storm behind the doors of one of Montreal's hotels. A crowd of French-speaking citizens were in front of us, and one of them insisted on holding open the door, letting in a blast of wind and rain. Lowering my voice and roughening it suitably, I growled, "Fermez la portelà". Betty pretended she did not know me, and the door was promptly closed. Then I said in English and my normal tone, "I am practicing bilingualism". Presently, we found ourselves alone. Nothing more disconcerts a nationalist than to have his bluff called. I am not proud of this imp that sometimes takes over, but we do have our fun.

— All very well, but no help towards getting dinner. We have in mind to bake a pineapple upside-down pudding. The head of the house for the last year has been arguing that he neither wants nor needs dessert. Accordingly, I have taken him at his word seven times out of ten, and who so pleased to see a bit of sweet on the three days? The head of the house, of course. . . . So now to the kitchen, and the pudding. Good eating, everybody.

Spread Scriptures in Japan

Japan is the fourth largest industrial power in the world, with a teeming population of 94 million. Tokyo is now recognized as the world's largest city.

A campaign aimed at reaching 10 million people in Tokyo was launched in April. A team of Scripture distributors has been mobilized for three years to work on this project in an industrial sector of Tokyo, where about 2-million people live.

This campaign will take the form not only of Scripture distribution, but will include evangelistic meetings, Bible lectures and audio-visual activities. All the churches of the various denominations have promised to co-operate.

Organized by the Japan Bible Society, this project will soon spread out to all parts of Metropolitan Tokyo. Other large cities in Japan to be included as time goes on are Osaka and Nagaya.

Additional care in school zones

A good many drivers are used to taking speed limits with a grain of salt, particularly those indicated by "School" signs.

It should be remembered that Section 41, subsection (f) clearly forbids "any speed exceeding 30 miles per hour at level crossings and in school zones at times when pupils enter or leave school; and this applies no matter whether the school is located in a city, town or village, or on a highway. Even if the 30-mile speed is not specified, the presence of a "school" sign has exactly the same meaning, according to the Highway Code. The "School — Go Slow" warning should not be trifled with; a stricter enforcement of the rule would undoubtedly prevent a number of tragedies.

BOY SCOUTS WARN ABOUT COPYRIGHT

One way you can't sell tents, knives or axes is by tagging the name Scout onto them, says The Financial Post. There's a Canadian copyright on the terms: Boy Scouts of Canada, Boy Scouts and Scouts.

Manufacturers were reminded of that fact by an announcement placed by the Scouts in the Canadain Importers and Traders Association bulletin. The Scouts, who do a $1.5 million business each year as the middleman between the manufacturers and selected retailers, have become a bit concerned with the unauthorized use of the organization's name to sell items commonly associated with the Scouts.

Forestry, fire protection demonstrated

Tree Festival at St. Jovite

St. Jovite, Que. — The importance of the forest in the economy of the Laurentian region was underlined at a Tree Festival held Saturday, May 19, in St. Jovite organized jointly by the Rouge Valley Association and the Lower Ottawa Forest Protective Association. Mechanical tree planting and trees planted by hand were part of the demonstrations, which also included modern fire fighting techniques by specially-equipped airplanes and by highly-trained ground crews.

The first official function was the celebration of mass at the St. Jovite Church by Father C. H. Deslauriers, parish priest of Mont-Tremblant Village and president of the Rouge Valley Association. This was followed by the planting of a symbolic tree in the schoolyard of the St. Jovite School and the proclamation of the opening of the Tree Festival by His Worship Donat Boivin, mayor of St. Jovite.

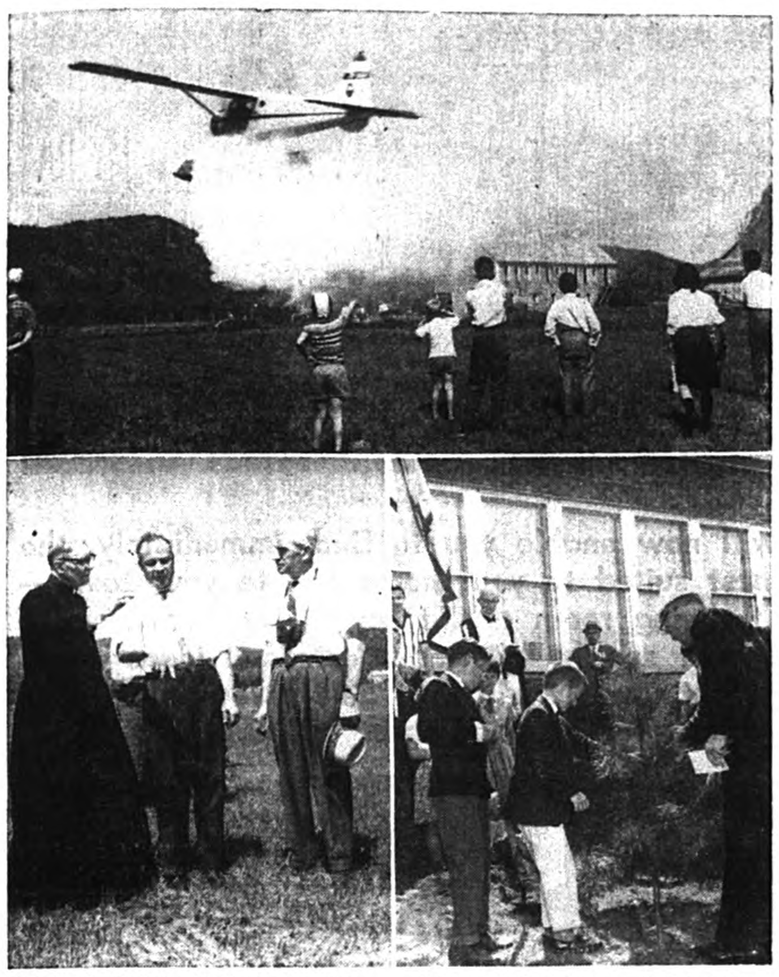

In the afternoon, several thousand people gathered on the golf course of the Gray Rocks Inn, where a mass tree planting was carried out by machine and by hand. Later, fire fighting demonstrations organized by the Lower Ottawa Forest Protective Association featured specially-equipped Otter and Canso airplanes, which scooped up water from a nearby lake and emptied it on an actual fire during low-flying passes over the blaze. Ground crews as well demonstrated fire-suppression techniques.

A visit was also arranged to the property of Mr. Charles Forbell of St. Jovite to see a 20-year-old plantation of red pine.

H. J. Irving, of Chelsea, Que., manager of the Lower Ottawa Forest Protective Association, which covers many areas favored by campers and picnic groups such as the Mont-Tremblant Park area, la Vérendrye Park and the Gatineau Hills, stated that the demonstrations were a means of bringing to the attention of the public the importance of being careful in forested regions.

Father C. H. Deslauriers, president of the Rouge Valley Association, stressed the needs of developing the area fully by reforestation and anti-water pollution measures which would help to revitalize tourism, hunting, fishing and camping.

Mr. Paul-Emile Pageau, secretary-manager of the Rouge Valley Association, was responsible, jointly with Mr. Irving, for the Tree Festival — the second demonstration of this kind organized in the Rouge Valley.

A Tree Festival was held recently at St. Jovite, jointly organized by the Rouge Valley Association and The Lower Ottawa Forest Protective Association. The photo at the top shows a Beaver aircraft specially-equipped for water bombing, dropping several hundred gallons of water on a fire during a demonstration of this modern fire-fighting technique used to suppress forest fires.

On the left, Father C. H. Deslauriers of Mont-Tremblant Village, president of the Rouge Valley Association, explains plans for mass tree planting in the area to Hon. Alcide Courcy, minister of Agriculture and Colonization in the Quebec Government, and to Rosaire Pelletier, Federal Government agricultural expert who will be concerned with the application of ARDA (Agricultural Rehabilitation and Development Act).

On the right, the symbolic planting of a tree in the schoolyard of the St. Jovite School, which started off the Tree Festival. Father C. H. Deslauriers, surrounded by young members of the local 4-H Club, is helping with the planting. Msgr. Rodolphe Mercure, of St. Jovite, gave his blessing on this occasion.

Initiate system of electronic farm accounting

A new system of electronic farm accounting is being initiated in this province by Macdonald College.

This system has already proven itself in the United States with dairymen, poultrymen, orchardists and other kinds of farming, both small and large. Macdonald College has profited by the experience of the North-eastern States Co-operative Extension Service in initiating this service in Quebec.

The method is a simple one. The farmer has simply to jot down what is coming in and what is going out on the same pad of paper. Each month he receives a report which includes:

1. A list of all receipts and expenses (monthly and cumulative).
2. A listing of quantities bought and sold (monthly and cumulative).
3. Feed costs separated for different types of livestock.

BOOST FOR MILK AND DAIRY PRODUCTS

Dr. E. V. McCollum, Professor Emeritus of Bio-chemistry, Johns Hopkins University, has the following encouraging words to say in regard to milk consumption:

"The people who have achieved, who have become large, strong, vigorous people, who have reduced their infant mortality, who have the best trades in the world, who have an appreciation of art, literature, and music, who are progressive in science and in every aspect of human intellect, are the people who have used liberal amounts of milk and its products."

Weed control in strawberries

Ottawa — Strawberry growers have a new ally — the granular form of DNBP — in their battle to control weeds. This herbicide has hitherto been used only as a spray.

The 10 per cent DNBP granules are very effective in weeding strawberry plantings, reports J. S. Leefe, of the federal research station at Kentville, Nova Scotia.

A pre-emergence herbicide, DN BP must be applied to the soil before the weeds appear and after the strawberry transplants are well established. Used in this way, it has cut the amount of hand labor required for weeding, without reducing next year's yield.

The granules should be applied over the strawberry rows at 40 pounds per acre when the foliage is dry and the granules will not readily adhere to them. If some do cling, they should be brushed off.

Man-made scent lures moths to check-points

Scientists are using a new weapon in their battle against gypsy moths — sex appeal.

A synthetic scent of the female moth has been developed and is being used to lure unwary males into traps. Only the males fly and trapping them helps to pinpoint areas of infestation, says L. L. Reed, chief of plant inspection, Canada Department of Agriculture.

The man-made scent was produced by the United States Agriculture Department as an answer to the rising costs of collecting female moths and extracting the normal scent.

The new "lure", which can attract male gypsy moths from a distance of half a mile, was first used by CDA last year in southern Quebec. The areas concerned — in Chateauguay, Huntingdon and Missisquoi counties — have been inspected and mapped and will be sprayed this spring.

Last year, aircraft sprayed 12,000 acres in Quebec near Vermont border as part of a campaign to prevent infiltration by gypsy moths from the United States.

The moths defoliate and kill trees and have caused heavy losses in the northeastern United States. Diligence by Canada has kept the problem under tight control. As a result, Canadian timber and Christmas trees are exported without special restrictions.

Came from Europe

The history of gypsy moths in North America dates from 1869 when a French scientist brought some to Massachusetts from Europe for experiments in silk production. A few escaped and, in the absence of their natural enemies, multiplied rapidly.

At first confined to New England, the gypsy moth gradually spread through the Eastern States. The first Canadian outbreak occurred in 1924 near the U.S. border south of Montreal. It was stamped out, as were subsequent outbreaks.
