School opens today with pupil enrolment of 800 –

Nine new teachers on High School staff

With a student enrolment at Lachute High School expected to exceed 800, school opens today (Wednesday). There is now a complete teaching staff of 37, as compared with 35 in the last school year. Nine of the teachers are newcomers. These include the following :

Miss Penny Foreman, of Calumet, to teach Grade VI. Miss Foreman has been teaching previously at Lakeshore.

Mrs. Vera Shultz, a graduate of Macdonald College, to instruct in Home Economics.

Miss Ellen Stewart, of Brownsburg, to teach Grade IV. Miss Stewart has been teaching in Lakeshore.

Mr. Donald Dobson, of Montreal, for subjects English and Guidance. Mr. Dobson is a graduate of Sir George Williams College.

Miss Leola Cayer, of Lachute, a graduate of L.H.S. who taught last year in Noranda, will teach this year in Elementary French.

Miss Linda Graham, of Brownsburg, a recent graduate of Macdonald, will take Grade V.

Mrs. Sylvia Baraf, from Roumania, who has been language instructor to New Canadians, will teach Intermediate French.

Miss Jean Darbe, of Brome, Que., who is also a recent graduate of Macdonald, will teach Physical Education for girls.

Mr. Ronald MacKenzie, of Saint John, N.B., will take Physical Education for boys He has been teaching this subject latterly at Shawville.

With the continuing members of the staff, to a total of 37, Principal Fred Royal has a full complement of teachers and looks forward to a successful experience in the school year now opening.

Demolition of landmark in Staynerville area

(Intended for last issue)

Mabel — An old landmark in the Staynerville district has recently been demolished. This house on the farm of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Tomalty, which was formerly owned and operated for 40 years by the late D. A. MacKenzie, was built in the 1850's by Richard Davis.

Mr. Davis, who came to Canada from England, obtained the 160-acre property from Thomas A. Stayner and erected the log building, believed to be the first home built in that area, north of the present C.P.Railroad. Not being content here, Mr. Davis returned to his homeland, and in 1861 sold the property to his nephew, Wm. Davis, who had also come from England and was a mail carrier along the Ottawa River.

In 1918 an extension of five rooms was added to the original log structure, and the exterior was completely renovated.

The farm remained in the hands of heirs of the Davis family until after the death of Mr. MacKenzie, when, in 1949, it was sold to the Tomaltys of Arundel.

MTRE. ROGER LAGARDE

Order-in-Council, lawyer given QC appointment

By order-in-council dated August 22, a local lawyer and advocate, Roger Lagarde, was made a Q.C. (Queen's Counsel).

Born . pril, 1923, in Montreal, Roger Lagarde studied at the Bourget College, Rigaud, and at the University of Montreal. He was admitted to the bar in 1947 and has practiced in Lachute since that time. He was associated with Georges H. Héon (now Judge) for two years, before opening his own practice in 1949. He was appointed a crown prosecutor in 1961.

He has filled various offices in the community affairs and organizations of this town.

Blood clinic at Auditorium, to be held September 24-25

The need for abundant blood supplies was emphasized by a recent crisis in Montreal, to which the public responded swiftly and adequately.

Lachute will have its opportunity to help avoid such shortages in the blood-banks of Quebec hospitals, when the Red Cross mobile blood clinic comes here September 24-25.

By arrangement of the Lachute branch of the Red Cross, the clinic — under chairmanship of Kenneth P. Riley and Paul Deslauriers — will be held at the civic auditorium on these two days, with volunteer nurses and doctors in charge, and with the usual canteen helpers, drivers and clerical assistants. Hours of the clinics will be from 2 to 5.30 p.m. and from 7 to 9.30 p.m.

The chairmen and committee are confident of the public support, to produce a large turn-out of volunteer donors from the town and district communities.

Marathon skater believes 56 hrs. 10 mins. world record

Claude Germain, of Hull, Que., holder of the Canadian roller skating endurance record (38 hours), exceeded his previous performance with a stint of 56 hours 10 minutes, in a marathon at the Recreation Centre rink here last week-end The performance is believed also to have set a world record.

The marathon was organized here by Paul-Emile Audette, manager of the Centre. Twenty-two skaters, male and female, set out on roller skates at the starting signal Friday evening, but only one contender lasted anywhere near the champion's time—Pierre Richer, of Eastview, Ont., continuing the monotonous routine for 55 hours 10 minutes, one hour under the winner's record.

The marathon commenced at 10 p.m. Friday and at various intervals hundreds of spectators looked on and encouraged the contenders until the final fade-out, at 6.10 a.m. Monday.

Seventeen boys and five girls embarked on the venture Friday evening. Of these, Robert Maringer of Lachute held out for 27 hours; Alain Gagné, also of Lachute, lasted 34 hours; and among the young ladies, Jeannette Plamondon, of Ayersville, set the girls' local record with 20 hours.

The marathon was sanctioned by the Roller Skating Association, of Ottawa, and the Dow Trophy was the top award.

Dr. André L'Allier, of St. Andrews, was on hand in case of need to assist the young contenders. There was a three-minute pause every hour during the routine, to give the skaters a brief change of pace.

W. M. Cottingham, M.P.P., was invited to cut the ribbon starting the roller skating marathon last Friday. Seen above (left to right) are Claude Germain, of Hull, who skated to the championship; P. E. Audette, organizer and manager of the Recreation Centre; Gaetan Belanger, official timer; Mr. Cottingham; Mayor Gaetan Paquette of Ayersville; J. Orphir Desjardins; and Henri Legault, proprietor of the Recreation Centre. — Bertrand Studio

Businessman died suddenly

Miville Trickey, a well known business figure, died suddenly at his home on Bethany Road, Monday evening just after his return from a trip. Mr. Trickey, 58 years of age, was the proprietor of Lachute Auto Parts. He had been a president of the Chamber of Commerce, held various offices in the Knights of Columbus, was a member of the Legion Branch 70, and a former active member of the Lions Club.

Late Miville Trickey

The late Miville Trickey was a travelled man, and in his leisure time a keen yachtsman and navigator, being treasurer of the St. Andrews Power Squadron and active in the boating fraternity hereabouts.

He is mourned by his wife, the former Gillette Boileau, and six children — Daniel, 16, Catherine, 15, Jacques, 12, Johanne, 10, Suzanne, 7, and Julie, 4 years of age. He is also survived by a brother, Robert, in Montreal, and five sisters — Mme Marcel Quenneville (Rita), of Montreal, Mme A. R. Côté (Violette), of Brownsburg, Mrs. Jos. Martin (Carmen), formerly of Brownsburg now of Montreal, Mme Jean Pony (Fleurette) and Mme Louis Giroux (Ruth), both of Montreal.

The remains are resting at the Menard Funeral Home, for rites at Ste. Anastasie at 9.45 on Friday morning, followed by interment in the Montreal East cemetery.

Trail ends for marauder in countryside

A 28-year-old Montrealer who escaped on June 1 last from St. Jean de Dieu mental hospital in Montreal, was arrested by QPP officers Lawrence Cruise and Sam Kille around 8 a.m. on Saturday, following a report that the man had been seen in the Hill Head area. The prisoner is reported to be the marauder who has been in the Thomas' Gore section for some weeks.

According to QPP Cpl. Maurice Dinelle, the arrested man is being returned to the mental institution for an examination, after which it will be decided if charges will be laid for various thefts committed in the district. A report from the hospital indicated that the man had been in the institution from December 1, 1961, until the date of his escape.

At the time of his arrest he was in possession of a rifle along with other items reported stolen from a local camp.

Informative talk on lumbering heard at meeting of Rotarians

At the August 30 meeting of the Brownsburg-Lachute Rotary Club, George McGibbon, Program Chairman, substituted as speaker for the evening.

It turned out that George filled the vacancy very capably, with a classification talk about lumber and the lumber business. He opened with some facts on how the company of A. D. McGibbon & Sons Ltd. (of which he is a director) acquired the land they own. He said that about 60 years ago land was sold at public sales by the government, to those who were present to bid on it; but the sale consisted only of the timber rights to the land. In other words the land was leased. . . . With privately owned land one can do with it as he pleases, but if some of that land borders on government-owned land, the owner has to pay for the surveying and fence lines, if any.

He then went on to explain how logs are scaled or measured. Although each log is measured for length and thickness, the scaler has a prepared list of scales that tells how much lumber there is in a log, after allowing for waste such as slabs and sawdust. As an example, he said, a log 12 ft. long and 12 inches in circumference produces 60 ft. of lumber.

The speaker mentioned "knotty pine". This lumber comes from trees with a lot of branches, but it is developed as the tree grows; the limbs nearer the top of the tree, shade and kill the lower ones, and as the tree grows, the knots at the bases of the dead limbs are absorbed into the tree. Thus a pine tree with just a few branches at the top, probably has a great number of knots in the trunk.

He also pointed out how logs are used in the refining of copper. When the copper is in a molten state in large vats, there are quite a number of air bubbles in it, and putting hardwood logs into the vats takes care of this problem: because the logs must burn in the copper, they do so by using the oxygen in the air bubbles, without leaving impurities that cannot be removed easily.

George McGibbon concluded his informative talk by reminding his audience of the tremendous hazards and destruction of FIRES in the bush, and asked that all outdoorsmen watch their fires.

* * *

At the August 23 meeting the guest speaker was the Rev. Father Gougeon, priest of the parish of St. Michel de Wentworth. In a soft voice which made his message all the more forceful, he pleaded for continued endeavors towards a better understanding, not only of nations, but of all men. The strength of honest fellowship can and will, surmount the difficulties which lie in the pathways towards universal peace, and man's fundamental right to live by his beliefs. It was a real privilege to listen to a man who sincerely appreciates the simple bounties of nature, and one with such profound regard for his fellow men.

Appointment of former B'burg man in C-I-L Plastics

The appointment is announced of B. C. Kaulback as manager of the Montreal film extrusion and conversion plant of the plastics division of C-I-L at Rivière des Prairies.

Born in Lunenburg, N.S., Mr. Kaulback received his early education in the Maritimes. He attended Dalhousie University and went on to McGill from which he was graduated with a bachelor degree in engineering in 1950. He joined Canadian Industries Limited in 1950 as a methods engineer in the ammunition plant at Brownsburg, and held a number of positions in the ammunition division until 1959 when he was transferred to the Mastex films unit, C-I-L plastics division. He has served as production superintendent of the Brampton, Ont., plant from 1960.

School days set obligation on motorists

Back-to-school days, with larger enrolments than ever before in history, mean more boys and girls for motorists to look out for.

Grown-ups should remember that children lack power of concentration and awareness of traffic hazards, especially during the early exciting weeks of school.

The Quebec Safety League urges all car drivers to be extremely watchful in residential and school areas, and approach school buses with extra caution. Parents, of course, have big responsibility for the behavior of their children. They should train their youngsters to respect safety rules.

"Watch for them," urges Nathan Steinberg, president of the Safety League, "and protect life with foresight and caution. Let us not overlook the fact that it takes a motor vehicle in top condition, as well as a driver with right attitudes, to guarantee the safety of all."

Double tragedy in Laurentians

Montreal — The most unusual accident in the Laurentians last week-end was one which resulted in the death of an elderly man and his wife. They were killed in two quite separate, but related accidents.

Jacob Band, 82, and his 80-year-old wife, both of Val David, Que., died only minutes apart Saturday night after they were struck by two different cars as they walked along a highway near their home. Mrs. Band was hit first. As she lay on the road, her husband rushed to her side, into the path of another oncoming vehicle.

Argenteuil Liberal Assn. finally accredited, executive approved, by Quebec Liberal Fedn.

The Liberal Association of Argenteuil — whose executive, elected March 3 last, was the subject of dispute among segments of the Association and even with the Liberal Federation of Quebec — recently received its official certification, and confirmation of the directorate elected at that controversial meeting.

Mtre. Roger Lagarde, president of the local organization, has received from Gérard Brady, secretary of the Quebec Liberal Federation, a full endorsement by the provincial executive and a certificate of recognition.

In order to foster unanimity in the Argenteuil ranks, another (seventh) zone was established, exclusively in the Village of Brownsburg, for which Charles Harding was named vice president.

At the recent meeting of the Argenteuil body, Notary Richard Valois was appointed permanent secretary, and will attend to the issuance of membership cards. It was decided to forward a registered letter to Rolf Nelson, former secretary, asking him to remit records, documents and funds of the Association to the permanent secretary within a week.

The provincial Liberal convention will be held November 16-18, and before that time a general meeting will be called to elect seven representatives from the respective districts in the Argenteuil group.

A motion was passed requesting the Quebec government to budget for the construction of a bridge across the Ottawa River at Carillon, and to write the Hon. René St. Pierre, Minister of Public Works, accordingly.

Following is the complete executive of the Argenteuil Liberal Association :

President, Roger Lagarde, Lachute; ex-president, Antoine Paré, St.Andrews; secretary, Richard Valois, Lachute; treasurer, Bernard Gosselin; women's representative, Mrs. Ethel McGibbon; junior representative, Jacques Poitras. Representative for District 1, Fernand Legault, Lachute; District 2, Lucien Ranger, Grece's Point; District 3, Yvon Foucault, St. Philippe; District 4, Omer Thomas, Kilmar; District 5, Sydney Swail, Arundel; District 6, Archie Hamilton, Morin Heights; District 7, Charles Harding, Brownsburg.

Executive, new Liberal women's group

Comprising St. Philippe, Whissettown, Chatboro and district, a Liberal women's group was inaugurated recently in St. Philippe, as a subsidiary to the Argenteuil organization. Photographed above are members of the executive:

Front row, Mrs. Noella Durocher, president of the County executive; Mrs. Claire Lepage, secretary of the new group; Mrs. Blanche Dinel, president; and Mr. Rodrigue Durocher, provincial Liberal representative of the County.

Second row — Miss Marie-Jeanne Décoste, representative for young people; Mrs. Alice Gardner, vice-president of the County executive; and Mrs. Béatrice Leroux, vice-president, St. Philippe.

Absent when the photo was taken were Mrs. Norma Gill, representative for English people, and Mrs. Claire Foucault, district electoral organizer.

Ballet School re-opens Sept. 28

On Friday, September 28, the Argenteuil School of Ballet will commence another year of operation. Last year's school was a great success, and it is hoped that the coming classes will prove even more beneficial to the children of the Lachute district.

In May, examinations were held under auspices of the Royal Academy of Dancing. Fifty percent of the candidates were found to be up to the Academy's standards. While this, at first glance, does not seem to be a high proportion, the amount of instructional time given to each pupil must be considered. With this provision, the fact that half the number of children passed, indicates the great progress that has been made. If circumstances warrant, the examinations will be held again in the coming term.

Once more Miss Lucille du Breuil will be the teacher, and any interested parents should contact Mrs. E. F. Gow, R.R. 3, Lachute; phone LO 2-6102.

Town lady wins automobile

The Isard sedan offered in a customers' drawing by Beaton's Pharmacy, culminated Saturday night when Mayor Fernand Legault graciously drew the lucky ticket. Seen are the Mayor (left); the happy winner, Mme Paul Joly, of 83 Charles Street, Lachute; and (right) Donat Saulnier, genial proprietor of this long-established store. The trim red car has been on view in the show-window for several weeks past, attracting much attention.

A column for the sportsman

— By BOB ATCHISON —

Calling in on the Water Purification Board in Montreal to try and find out just what has been happening in our area, and what progress has been made if any, toward the cleaning of the North River — Dr. Gaston Gosselin, the Controller for this board, gave me a rundown on everything. Before going any further, I have to say that every co-operation was given me, and some very pertinent questions were asked and answered. Naturally, all the answers cannot be quoted, but they do give a little assurance that something is happening. I didn't know this, but a letter was written to the town authorities requesting information on just what they intend to do about a sewage disposal outlet. I may say that the interest shown in this letter by the town was as expected, zero. This also applies to some of the firms who have been asked what thy intend doing about their own problems. They put it off, presumably with the hope it will be forgotten about.

Some of the information given by Dr. Gosselin was pretty grim, believe me. As regards industries, some of these companies do get something going, but as usual, too late and too little. Ste. Agathe has started doing something, along with St. Jerome; and at least, once something is started, there is some hope of progress being made. It seems to me that people in general don't care about anything that doesn't concern them directly — and they consider Pollution is one of these things. In a supposedly civilized people this excuse doesn't stand. Even the ignorant native and uneducated wildlife does not mess up its drinking water!

Briefs by the dozen have been presented to this board, asking them to clean up some particular stretch of water, but this can be done only when and if citizens get busy. They must start telling their own councillors what they want, and then make sure this is what they get. When you consider the hundreds of millions of dollars lost through pollution it seems strange that more attention is not paid to this problem. Another sore spot, is that insufficient authority is given to this board. It's about time they were able to tell people what has to be done, "or else".

Running dogs are still very much in evidence. A couple of these were killed the other week by our wardens. They had run a deer (a doe), pulled it down, and were tearing her back legs when they were spotted. No identification was on the dogs, so it was impossible to say if they were locals or not. However, there are a number of dogs in this immediate area running loose in the bush; this is well known by the owners too, but nothing is done. Our deer situation is bad enough from over-shooting, without dogs adding to the havoc.

I have been asked about the posting of lands. This is a question that really needs answering by the Governments; I don't think this has ever been done, however, I am not sure how far apart the signs must be posted, but to be sure, every 100 feet should cover it. Plainly seen from almost any spot, there can be no excuses that hunters didn't see the signs. A call to the Provincial Police should get you the information on this subject.

I know of a couple of municipalities that do not intend to do anything on the problem of shooters. (I do not say "hunters", as they are not.) People of this type seem to think they are living 40 years ago; they see no harm in killing either humans or animals, indiscriminately. Rather than encouraging owners to post their property themselves, surely it would be a simple matter to post the whole area, and enforce it.

A couple of Pin-Tail ducks have been seen around the district. True, these birds range over a great area, but it is surprising to hear of them around here. I do know this, that the number of Blacks around this year seems to contradict the claim of Ducks Unlimited as to the shortage of this species. However, these birds are locals; I would presume they have nothing to do with the northern ducks.

Reading an account of a fishing derby makes you laugh! These contests are supposed to be run for conservation only, but from this story it sure doesn't seem like it. A club organized this for their members. Some 40 turned up. The wardens also turned up unexpectedly, and found that out of the 40 fishing, nine did not have their licenses; seven of them had fish either undersize or too many; two of them had illegal tackle; and one used a net! Boy, is this sportsmanship! As far as I am concerned, a lot of these supposed conservation clubs only organize to break the laws.

Most of us read the article in The Watchman of the capture of the jerk who used his .22 for human target practice. This points out the ease with which people can procure firearms. If a test had been given this youngster, he would never have been able to do this. I know most serious hunters do not like the idea of a test, but they all seem to be in favor of some sort of policing. Our present system needs some drastic overhauling, unless we want to lose the right to own any kind of firearm. This is not just a thought, but a real possibility.

• • •

Going to Montreal, I tried to keep count of the number of animals killed on the highway. Dogs, cats, wildlife of every description, could be seen scattered over the roads. In one case, a dog had been hit just before I reached the spot. A group of youngsters were gathered around the victim, which was still alive. Not one person stopped to try and help this animal, even though it was badly hurt. Surely someone could have tried to help. Are we too afraid to show our feelings, or are we just void of any feeling towards an animal?

• • •

Some of the crows have started to gather, presumably getting ready to fly south. Maybe they are a little ahead of time, but that doesn't stop anyone getting a crack at them. Certainly this is one way of getting your eye back into shape for the coming season. Besides, think of the good you are doing in getting rid of them. I don't know if it strikes you the same way, but to me they seem to be the dirtiest, most vicious of all birdlife. Even other birds seem to hate them. One can see them being attacked by almost every other type. True they can be trained for human companionship, if caught young enough, but then, so can a good number of other birds.

Diary of a Vagabond

BY DOROTHY BARKER

UNLUCKY SUNDAY

I flipped, on a recent Sunday, right into the rockery and ended up in a heap among the daisies and coral bells. When I had sorted out my various limbs a throb in my left wrist kept beeping a distress signal to my stunned consciousness. When I moved it, orange and red lights flashed on and off somewhere behind my eyes like neon signs announcing "You've done it this time; you've done it this time . . ."

We have a young doctor in our town, fresh from his internship. Three days before in welcoming him I had facetiously remarked when he wondered who his first patient would be, "Why me, of course."

I wasn't first, but as close as I could get in the lapse of 36 hours. He drove me to the nearest hospital and after what seemed like eons, while I could hear pretty nurses rushing about and making a fuss over this new doctor, a spinster type of person started writing down details about my age and asking did I think my wrist was broken.

As a newspaper reporter and ambulance chaser, I have had considerable to do with hospitals and their staffs, but as young Galahad tied a butcher's apron over his shirt and trousers and rolled up his sleeves preparatory to plastering me, I had to wonder at his professional detachment. He and the nurse gabbled about such inconsequential things as the weather and the consistency of the plaster of paris brew she was mixing. Then I heard a casual remark. I think it went something like this: "This is going to hurt a little."

Whammy ! ! ! I felt as though I was on a Roman rack and that I was being torn limb from liver. X-rays had shown the break to be a clean one with little displacement, so it was considered no anesthetic was required!

Must be my Irish encestry, for I ha[illegible] one superstition. From rather bitter experience I have discovered that mishaps usually run in threes. On that bright and shining Sunday the mischievous leprechaun that had pushed me into the rockery was not through with his pranks.

Travelling up the dining room wall and winding itself around the kitchen door in our house is a giant Hoya plant that has gained limitless admiration over the years. As I opened the door on my return from the hospital down it came around my head crowning me like a gladiator.

Waving my cast with caveman-like gestures, I battled my way out of this tropical entanglement, only to see another mass of foliage. The entire front picture window was filled with branches, leaves and little green apples. The gnarled old tree that was the setting for this house and many an inspiration for this column, had suddenly "bit the dust".

I didn't worry about whether the tree had taken off a corner of the house in its descent, only about the wrens whose home and family nestled in its branches.

I found the 10-day-old birdlings had left the small house safely, part of the tree survived, not a leaf fell from the Hoya and I was almost as good as new. So I started a one-handed training program that would condition me for my household chores. Try it some time. Tie one hand behind your back and endeavor to peel a peach, dry a dish, make a bed, or type a column.

Of course, I'm way ahead of most people. I've had a certain amount of training. I broke my right wrist the day King George the Sixth was crowned.

Talks available on pharmaceutics

Toronto — On behalf of ethical manufacturing principles, the Canadian Pharmaceutical Manufacturers Association is making available selected speakers to address associations and groups and answer questions regarding the industry.

These speakers are available through the CPMA Speakers' Service, and because this is a public service there is no charge for either the speaker's time nor for his travelling expenses.

In view of the considerable interest evinced in health matters, and particularly drugs, the Association believes that lay groups would be interested in being addressed by representatives of this industry. Speakers are available in either English or French.

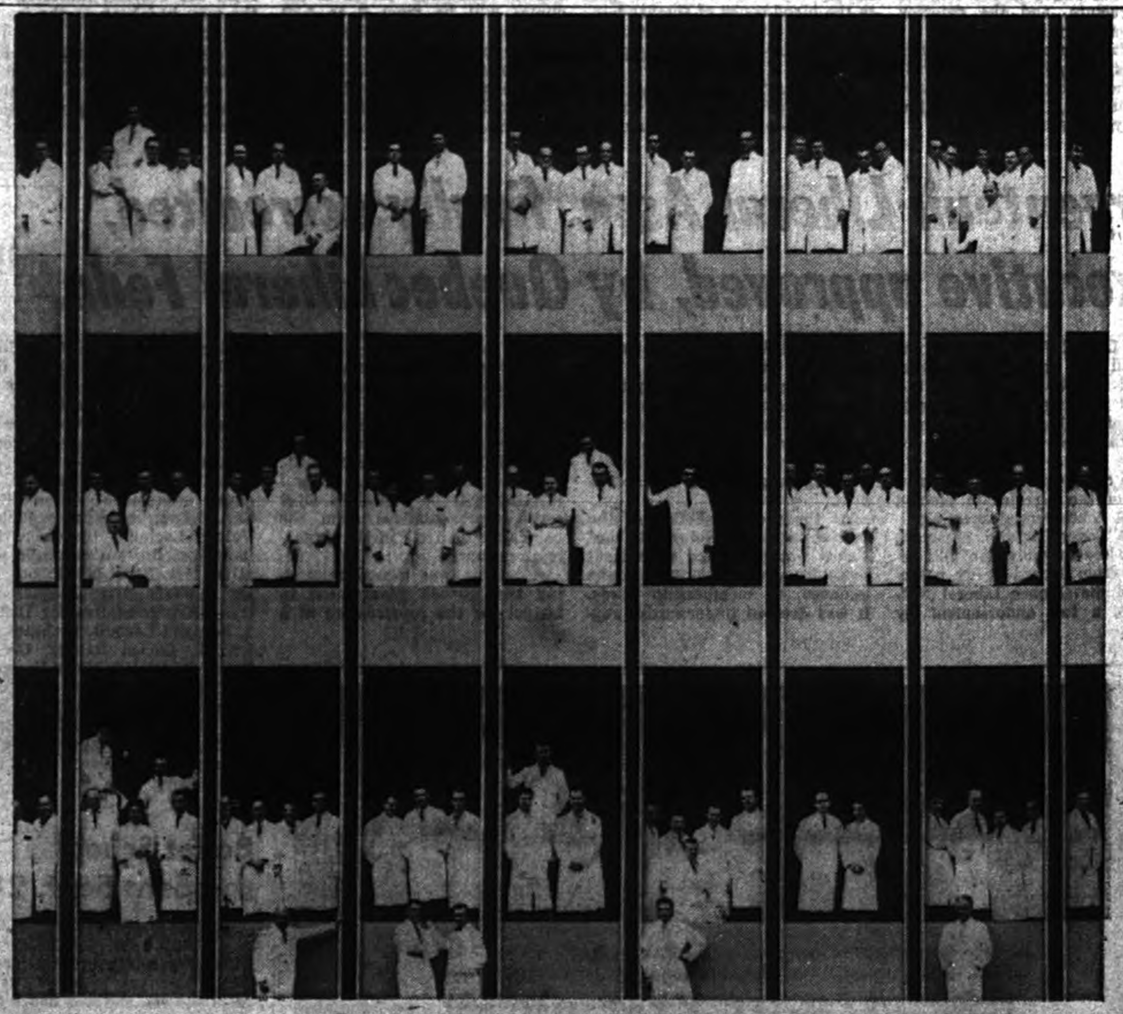

Organizations are requested to write to Speakers' Service, Canadian Pharmaceutical Manufacturers Association, 37 King Street East, Toronto 1.

DISTRICT NEWS

FROM OUR COUNTY CORRESPONDENTS

Glen of Harrington

Sunday guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Cooper were their granddaughter, Catherine Cooper, and guest, also Mr. and Mrs. Legault, all of Montreal.

Visitors for the holiday week-end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. Eason, Sr., were their daughter, Mrs. Marie McKenzie, and son David, of N.D.G.

The grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. Eason, who have been spending the summer holidays with them, returned home following the week-end holiday, with their parents.

Miss Marlene Colquhoun left on Sunday for the city, where she will attend High School. While there she will stay at the home of her sister, Mrs. R. J. Sweeney and Mr. Sweeney, at St. Laurent.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Blampied, and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Barton, of Chomedey, occupied their cottage for the long week-end.

Betty and Helen Bates, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. James Bates, spent the past week as guests of their aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Herbie Bancroft, at Rockway Valley.

Mrs. John Lawton and sons, Dean and Kirk, of Vancouver, are on an extended holiday with the former's mother, Mrs. T. A. Parker. Later they will take up residence in the city. The children will be attending school in Arundel, for the present time.

The immediate vicinity was full of activity over the long week-end. All cottages were occupied and Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Ray, of Laval West, set up a large family tent on the Parker property, to accommodate their guests. The occasional tune on the bagpipes was enjoyed by all.

Miss Gladys Beardmore, who is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. M. Whittaker, will remain for the week. Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hanlon and family, also Mr. and Mrs. Wm Whittaker, all of Montreal.

Recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Al Reim were Mrs. Ripley and daughter Lorraine, of Montreal. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Brown, of Lachine, were Sunday visitors.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Harrison, of Lake View, entertained a number of friends on the occasion of their 25th anniversary.

Sunday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Blampied were Mr. and Mrs. F. Verschoor, of Roxboro.

Mr. Malcolm and Paul Leroy, of Rosemount, accompanied by four friends, called at the Purcell home on Sunday last.

Cushing

Mr. and Mrs. John R. Graham and family motored to Montreal on Tuesday, and visited Mr. and Mrs. Jan. Kaprusiak. Their daughter Shirley, who had been visiting the Kaprusiaks, returned home with them. Little Stanley and Victor Kaprusiak paid a return visit to Shirley at the home of her parents, on the Monalea Road.

Mr. Harold Browne and Jack Vioq, of North Battleford and and Edmonton, visited Mrs. L. M. Gaston on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Hollingworth spent the past week in Essex Junction, Maine, with Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Cordenor.

Mr. and Mrs. Yeudall, of Montreal, were recent guests of Mrs. L. R. McGain.

VALUED GIFT

Edmonton (CP)— A polyglot Bible more than a century old has been presented to the Rutherford Museum at the University of Alberta, on an indefinite loan. A polyglot Bible is an edition containing several translations of the text printed in parallel columns for the purpose of comparison.

This particular Bible, one of perhaps three known to be in existence, was presented by Michael de Branscoville of Edmonton. It was published in 1831, and has eight different texts on each double page—in Hebrew, Greek, English, Latin, German, French, Italian and Spanish.

Morin Heights

Flower Service

The flower service held at Trinity Church on Sunday morning presented a picture of beauty, with over a thousand blooms in the sanctuary. Many of the gladioli came from the garden of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Watchorn in St. Jovite. In front of the altar stood a huge cross, and each child placed a bouquet on it, so that it was completely covered. . . Following the service, the flowers were placed in the Trinity Cemetery.

Church Meeting

At the last meeting of Trinity Vestry, Mr. Allan Buxton was appointed new treasurer of the church. It was noted that the general attendance was greatly improved over a recent period.

Presentation

Following the Sunday morning service at the Trinity Anglican Church, a presentation was made to Mr. and Mrs. Stewart McGrandel, on the occasion of their leaving for Downsview, Ont. Mr. McGrandel had served in various capacities in the life of the church, as a Sunday School superintendent and church warden. Mrs. McGrandel had served with the Altar Guild. The rector expressed appreciation of the congregation.

"My grandmother made it."

Lachute girl is bride in ceremony at St. Simeon's Church

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Albt. Dutton signing the register after their marriage, and the officiating minister, the Rev. C. R. Lang, rector of St. Simeon's.

Dutton - Maslin

St. Simeon's Anglican Church, Lachute, was the scene of the recent wedding of Miss Kathleen Linda Maslin, daughter of Mr. Harold Maslin and the late Mrs. Maslin of Lachute, to Mr. Lawrence Albert Dutton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Dutton of Lachine, Que. Baskets of pink and white gladioli decorated the church for the occasion.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a street-length gown of white lace over silk taffeta, fashioned with a fitted bodice, short sleeves, and a shallow scooped neckline and bouffant skirt. She wore a shoulder-length veil of white tulle illusion held by a tiara of seed pearls and crystals and carried a cascade bouquet of pink roses and white stephanotis. Mrs. Robert Armstrong, cousin of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a dress, similar in style to that of the bride, in blue terylene batiste, with a matching blue flowered hat and white shoes and gloves, and carried a colonial bouquet of pink roses and white stephanotis. The mother of the groom wore a dress of green lace with beige accessories, and a corsage of coral carnations.

Mr. Walter Dutton, brother of the groom, was best man, and Mr. Arthur Spear, uncle of the groom, and Mr. Robert Armstrong were ushers. Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church hall, after which, the couple left for a trip to Florida and New Orleans. For her going-away outfit, the bride wore a sheath dress of blue lace over taffeta, with white accessories, and a corsage of pink roses.

Brydon-Underhill recent nuptials in Presbyt'n Church

A pretty wedding was solemnized in the Margaret Rodger Memorial Presbyterian Church on Saturday, August 25, at 3.30 p.m., when Janet Elizabeth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Underhill, was united in marriage to John Howard Brydon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Brydon, of Guelph, Ont.

The Rev. James Armour officiated and Mrs. W. M. Cottingham played the wedding music. Mr. Robert Haydon sang "The Lord's Prayer" during the signing of the register.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a full-length gown of off-white flowered satin with long sleeves and a full skirt. Her shoulder length veil of white tulle was held in place by a pearl tiara, and she carried a bouquet of deep pink roses and stephanotis.

The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. Frank Boyd, as matron of honor, wearing a street-length sheath frock of mauve organza over taffeta, with matching headdress of tulle and organza, and carrying yellow carnations.

The bridesmaids were Mrs. Joyce Dendy and Miss Sally Kemp, of Montreal, and Miss Marilyn Underhill, sister of the bride, who wore dresses similar to that of the matron of honor, in yellow with matching headdresses, and carried mauve-tipped carnations. Miss Pamela Boyd, niece of the bride, as flower girl, wore a frock of mauve organza over taffeta, with fitted top and full skirt, a matching headband and shoes, and carried a basket of yellow carnations and white poms.

Mr. Paul Booth acted as best man for Mr. Brydon, and the ushers were Mr. Ted Noonan, Mr. Frank Boyd, and Mr. Kenneth Underhill.

Mrs. Raymond Underhill, mother of the bride, wore a two-piece dress of peacock blue glazed peau-de-soie, with black and white accessories and a corsage of pink roses. Mrs. Robert Brydon, mother of the groom, wore a beige pure silk dress with beige shoes, maribou hat, and a corsage of pale pink roses.

Following the reception, which was held at the Masonic Hall, the couple left on a trip to the Maine Coast and parts of New Brunswick. The bride travelled in a printed blue silk sheath dress with all-blue duster, a black velvet hat and patent leather shoes and purse. On their return they will reside in Rosemere, Que.

Out-of-town guests were from Guelph, Brockville, Ottawa, Cornwall, Glen Allen, Cooksville, Milton, Ont.; Garden City, Mich.; Sorel, Quebec City, Montreal, St. Lambert, Farnham and Granby, Que.

Married recently in Morin Heights

Andrich - Martin

The marriage of Linda May, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Martin, of Notre Dame de Grace, to Mr. Gerry M. Andrich, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Andrich, of Montreal, took place on Saturday, August 25, in the Morin Heights Anglican Church, the Rev. H. G. Baugh officiating. Mr. Ian Grant played the wedding music. The church was decorated with greenery and colored gladioli.

The bride, given away by her father, wore a gown of white satin with a lace background, with sleeves coming to a point. The veil was held by a crown of sequins. She carried a bouquet of white carnations and peonies.

Miss Suzanne Patry, as maid of honor, wore a frock of sky blue and a matching bandeau with a short veil. She carried a bouquet of white and blue carnations.

Miss Shirley Wood and Miss Evelyn Andrich were bridesmaids. Miss Andrich wore a frock of pink satin and a matching bandeau, and carried a bouquet of white and pink carnations. Miss Shirley Wood wore a frock of coral satin and matching bandeau, and carried a bouquet of white and coral carnations.

Little Miss Carol Wood, as flower girl for her cousin, was in a frock of yellow nylon. She wore a bandeau of white and carried a bouquet of baby roses and carnations.

Mrs. Martin, mother of the bride, wore a gown of floral colored nylon with matching accessories and a corsage of roses and carnations. Mrs. Andrich, mother of the groom, wore a gown of light beige crepe and matching accessories. Her corsage was of roses and carnations.

Mr. Marcel Grand'Maitre acted as best man, and Mr. Eric Wood and Mr. Richard Chaudzynski were ushers.

The reception was held at the Bellevue Hotel, Morin Heights, where summer flowers were used to decorate.

Later the newlywed couple left for St. Gabriel de Brandon, the bride travelling in a suit of white trimmed with blue and matching accessories, and a corsage of a mauve orchid.

Out-of-town guests were present from Montreal.

"It all depends on your point of view."

Students returning to Macdonald College on Wednesday, all in their second-year studies, are—Cameron Rodger and Lloyd Elder, in Physical Education; Miss Margaret Robertson, Miss Judy Evans and Keith Rodger, for the Teachers' Course.

I believe

In my fellow man, and
In his desire to live.
In his right to hope and
Believe that I will be,
A help in his hour of need.
That I will be at his side
Giving the Miracle Fluid from
My veins, to speed his recovery
And then—may I go my way
Knowing that even though
He was a stranger—I had
Helped him to live again
All this I believe—because
I am a Blood Donor.

Mr. Merchant, does this mean YOU?

Merchants who do not advertise are invited to read the following from the American Bankers' Magazine, as it might give them a new slant on business, your own business, as well as the matter of building up your town:

- "No business man in any town should allow a newspaper published in his town to go without his name and business being mentioned somewhere in its columns.
- "The life of a town depends on the live, wide-awake and liberal advertising business men."
- "This does not mean you should have a whole, half, or even a quarter page ad, in each issue of the paper, but your name and business should be mentioned.
- "A stranger picking up a newspaper should be able to tell what business is represented in a town by looking at the paper. This is the best possible town advertiser.
- "The man who does not advertise does an injustice to himself and the town. The man who insists on sharing the business that comes to town, but refuses to advertise his own is not a valuable addition to any town.

Sunday School papers?

IT'S TIME the RCMP wakened to the facts of life in respect to press relations," says an editorial in the current issue of our trade organ, The Weekly Editor. The complaint, curtly speaking, is that police business is public business — that the RCMP is working for the people — that one of the strongest weapons against anti-social behaviour is PUBLICITY. But the RCMP, it seems, is as tight as a clam where the press is concerned.

The argument is not ours, however, for in most police matters affecting this community and this province, the municipal force and the QPP have jurisdiction; and in news matters, we of The Watchman receive good co-operation from both.

Police news is hot news, which is liable to land any publication in hot water; yet it is an obligation to the newspaper's readership that such news be published. There are, however, a few chronic critics who rate The Watchman as a "Sunday School paper." (For these we entertain one ardent desire, namely, that they might be privileged to run a newspaper for themselves, and see how long they last!)

The same trade journal, in its pre-convention issue, has views which might well be passed along for special attention of these critics. Harry T. Boyle, in his regular column "The Boyling Point", makes reference to the Big Brassière, and pulls no punches on this tender subject. We quote his sentiments only in brief (and with such modifications as befit a Sunday School paper):

"The big brassière was worn by one of the pigeon-chests of the publishing world — the Vancouver Sun. A Saturday edition of the peach-colored paper had for its top story: '$3,000 in Bra of Dead Women'.

"The story was not about Lily St. Cyr or some bearable form of human life. It was about a 62-year-old woman who had died. Down at the morgue they found three thousand dollars stashed in her bra.

"Hot stuff, said The Sun, headlining it, and for illustration here was this hairy arm holding up the actual, REAL brassiere with actual, REAL money in it. I guess this showed how on the ball The Sun is, but if anybody happened to ask me, I would have said it showed they were out of their minds.

"Now what is the point in this kind of sensation? Old ladies in plain or padded bras should be left to die in peace. I mean this old lady just died of natural means, no murder, no lovers' pact, no nothing that justified her brassiere being shown on the front page of any paper unless it was Flash or something which seems to go in heavier for that kind of thing than I would have thought The Sun did. However, it might be better, at that, to be caught dead with the three thousand clams in the old brassiere than it would to be caught in print with this kind of trash on the front page.

"If there's a point in this, it's that the search for a headline may be important on the newsstands, but it should not supersede common decency or common sense . . . In the old weekly we have some pretty dumb stuff from time to time, but I get the feeling there's a limit beyond which the least of us don't go. . . What we've got, or should have, the dailies should be striving for — a sense of balance."

A look at population

THE MOST RECENT official estimate of Canada's population provides confirmation of a continuing decline in the rate of increase. The population has grown by over 250,000 persons during the past year, but the total of 18½ million as of April indicates a growth rate of less than two per cent, the lowest such since 1946 — says an editorial in The Winchester Press.

This far-from-good news is attributable to a slowdown in the rate of natural increase (fewer new births per 1,000 of population), a pronounced falling-off in the number of new immigrants, and a simultaneous rise in the number of Canadian residents leaving this country for the U.S. and elsewhere.

The slowdown in our (still relatively high) birthrate may reverse itself in the not-too-distant future as the wartime babies reach marriageable age in growing numbers. There is less cause for optimism so far as new arrivals and departures are concerned, however.

Last year's total of 71,689 new immigrants was the lowest in more than a decade, but all the signs point to it being even lower this year. At the same time, we are suffering an outflow of between 40,000 and 50,000 persons each year, a high proportion of them possessing skills and qualifications badly needed in this country.

The Economic and Research Branch of the federal Department of Labor, in a recent comment on the severe loss of Canadian talent and ability represented by this outward movement, noted further, and all too truly: "The loss of a Canadian professional is not necessarily offset by the gain of a qualified professional from Europe or elsewhere, since we are losing a worker who is acclimatized to this country and who is familiar with Canadian industrial technique and ways of doing things."

Canada with easily the smallest population of the leading seven industrial nations of the world, is in no position to lose her best qualified people. But in the event that the substantial cuts in U.S. personal income tax rates currently mooted do in fact come off, we are likely to find ourselves harder put than ever to hold down the numbers who may want to go south.

As with so much else, the answer to this particular problem lies, in part at least, in allowing the individual to retain an increasing, rather than a decreasing proportion of his or her earnings. One thing is sure: we cannot allow income tax rates in this country to get much out of line with those prevailing in the U.S. without inviting the most serious consequences.

Viewpoints and perspectives

ART OF HOEING. — A good man with a hoe likes to stop from time to time, lean on the handle and look at the sky, listen to the birds, and survey the countryside. Hoeing is work; no one denies it. But if one wishes, he can harvest something that is not counted with the vanquished weeds.
— Campbellton (N.B.) Tribune

NOT LONG AGO, boasts about the progress being made by communist China and communist Russia were frequent. Mr. Khrushchev was confident that his system was going to bury the West within a few years and Mao Tse Tung was equally enthusiastic about the giant strides his country was taking into the modern era.

Now reports seeping through the chinks in the Iron and Bamboo Curtains suggest that the boasts of progress were founded on a serious fallacy. Both leaders believed that they could direct their countries' destinies in the way they desired without taking account of the people they ruled; but a government that cannot manage to see that its people are adequately fed, while it is spending millions on non-essentials, is not one to evoke admiration even from other communist states.

NEW FACE FOR MUSEUMS. — North American museums are putting on a new face, says The Financial Post. This trend was evident during discussions at the Halifax convention of the Canadian Museums Association.

Time was when a museum was looked on as a repository for old bones and pottery held together with cobwebs — but not any more. Many people regarded them as a place where fuddy-duddies concealed themselves behind ponderous tomes in libraries that rarely saw the light of day. This isn't true now. Today North American museums are increasing and modernizing at a rate undreamed of even 30 years ago. The greatest strides are being taken with the historical museum, especially at the local level. The small natural history museum is slowly disappearing, although larger science museums are expanding both in size and quality.

Over the Years

THE LACHUTE WATCHMAN

75 YEARS AGO

Friday, Sept 23, 1887 —

Mr. Wm. Owen, M.P.P., has left for a trip through Manitoba and the Northwest.

Death — Sept. 19, 1887, at Brook Farm, Chatham, Ivory Fuller, in his 83rd year.

50 YEARS AGO

Friday, Sept. 27, 1912 —

The young son of Alex Larocque, Lachute Mills, fell under a C.P.R. freight train, the cars mutilating his foot so badly that Dr. Mason found it necessary to amputate the limb below the knee.

Mr. J. T. Robbins, of Brownsburg, has been appointed lay-reader and catechist by the Bishop of Montreal.

Mr. Wm. Murray has left for a few weeks' visit with friends in Nevada and California.

45 YEARS AGO

Sept., 1917 —

Montreal — Popular conceptions of heroes were shattered at the Bonaventure station by an abashed, ruddy-complexioned young man in the early twenties. The cynosure of all eyes — Major W. A. (Billy) Bishop, who is the only man in the world with such top-heavy affixes to his name as V.C., M.C. and D.S.O. with two bars — was without doubt the most uncomfortable man in the vast throng awaiting the departure of the International Limited for Toronto. . . (Editor's Note 20 years later — This is the same man who is now Air Vice-Marshal W. A. Bishop, V.C., who does quite a bit of flying over St. Andrews East, trying to knock down the chimney-pots from Mr. Irwin's country home.)

25 YEARS AGO

Thursday, Sept. 16, 1937 —

Three Montreal pipefitters, employed by R. McArthur & Son on local building projects, crashed into a tree east of Belle Rivière, while driving from the city. One man was killed and two injured.

Friends have entertained for Miss Janet McOuat, who is leaving to attend the Fanny Farmer Cooking School in Boston.

Ted Hammond, Lachute Mills, in a conversation with Rhode Island over his radio transmitter, by coincidence contacted a former resident of Lachute.

Serious injuries were sustained by Edwin Pridham, of Grenville, in an airplane accident near Rimouski.

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Iddon returned from a week's holiday in New York City.

Death — Sept. 15, 1937, at Lakefield, Thomas Hodge, 92 years of age.

The Hundred Club held its Ladies' Night at Macdonald Lake House, with the president, George Héon, in the chair. Dick Sancton was pianist for the dancing.

THE BANK OF NOVA SCOTIA

An opinion on circumstances of recent B'burg fire

TO THE EDITOR

St. Andrews East, Que.
27 August, 1962

Editor, The Watchman
Dear Sir:

It was interesting to see that you used quotation marks in the heading of the item covering the inquest into the tragic death of Russell McLean in the police cells at Brownsburg. It proves to all that even The Watchman must be concerned over the "Accidental" verdict.

To the writer, it is just one more case of a police department getting out from under a serious situation by lame excuses and showing up gross negligence.

Three important questions remain to be answered:

1. Why did it take two policemen (Sgt. Lepine and Const. Vary) to go for one other officer to guard the prisoner when one of them could have stayed behind?

2. Why did they not summon one of the two policemen (so-called) who are acting as parking lot attendants at the Flamingo and Hotel de Quatre Chemains? Incidentally, is this not against some municipal ordnance?

3. With all the evidence produced at the inquiry, how could the jury not make any type of recommendations? If not the jury, surely the coroner could see that both negligence and incompetence was apparent and that drastic steps be recommended and initiated in order that no other citizen be subjected to such a situation again.

So, Mr. Editor, why not really try something in the way of a clean-up campaign and not let the usual "laisser faire" rule.

Yours truly,
(Signed) G. M. Pride

Of Many Things

— By Ambrose Hills —

ENVY

When my twin daughters and I went walking near our country cottage in Manitoba, we came across a little farmstead in a remote part of the bushland. At the rail fence a small girl, about eight I would guess, watched wide-eyed as we approached.

"Hi," shouted the twins, using the magic greeting of ten year olds to melt the ice.

The little girl, who obviously needed a handkerchief, had a shy and breathless "Hi" to give them in return.

"Do you live here?" Franny asked.

The little girl nodded.

"All year round?" asked Martha.

Again the silent nod. Then, with a burst of animated pride, "We got pigs — and chickens. I own a chicken of my own."

They were off, then, the three of them, poking among the pigs and chickens, giggling, enjoying every treasure in the ramshackle farmyard. The father came out and chatted with me. He was young, rather poorly dressed, and he grinned widely at the antics of my twins and his daughter.

In a moment of quiet, he looked about his disordered yard and the rickety, banked-up house. Then he looked me in the eye. "We've only been here three months. We'll put it in good shape in time. It's not — well, I've got no education, but I can make a living here and be independent."

I nodded.

"I sure like being independent," he said.

On our long trek back to our cottage the twins were quiet, for them. Then Martha said, "Gosh, — she's lucky. We get only two months, but she's here all year round!" They went on in that vein all the way home, envy in every phrase.

I didn't reprimand them. I felt a little bit the same way. I sure like independence, too!

With G. E. Mortimore

Canadian money will build a new wax museum under the palms of Florida.

The company that operates a wax museum in Victoria, B.C. (now packing in 2,700 people a day at $1.10 each) and another waxworks in Phoenix, Arizona (125,000 people a season) has let out a 20-year franchise to a group of Toronto men to run a museum at St. Petersburg, Florida.

Head man of the Toronto group is financier Alex Rigby. John Steele, the former Prince Rupert, B.C., school teacher who launched the current North American boom in waxworks, will go to St. Petersburg in September to help organize the new show.

He hatched the idea of a museum of historical and contemporary figures, and enlisted the financial aid of William Enman, former Calgary and Lethbridge building and supply dealer, who in turn brought in Arthur Batty, Lethbridge contractor.

Now the Enman-Batty firm is going to open a string of museums across North America.

They have an exclusive franchise from Josephine Tussaud Ltd., of London (no connection of Madame Tussaud's).

Competition? They're not a bit afraid of it. Good wax figures are hard to make. The Josephine Tussaud Company knows the secrets.

What is the reason for this boom in museums? Millions of people now have time and money on their hands — money to travel on vacations, time to stand and stare.

For many people, a wax museum helps bring history to life, in a way the printed page, and even the motion picture screen, can never do.

The wax museum is only one branch of a larger industry — the recreation industry, which is in for a period of spectacular growth.

Take a look at the shy couple with a suitcase, walking out hesitantly from the airline terminal, the car crawling along in search of a motel, the shirt-sleeved youths lounging on the street corner.

There are millions of people like these, all over the country — looking for somewhere to go and something to do.

As automation goes further, as machines throw more and more people out of work, and as working hours shorten, finding something to do will become a major problem — especially for those who are short of imagination.

One day, governments may have to go into the recreation business on a large scale. They may have to spend money to persuade people to play, for the sake of keeping up the nation's health.

But there will always be a place for private promoters, like Mr. Enman and Mr. Batty. And there will always be money to be made by those who choose the right time and place, and the right medium.

Eskimo Scouts liked the heat

Montreal (CP) — Two Eskimo Boy Scouts visiting Montreal this summer were most impressed by the heat. With the temperatures ranging up to 90 degrees here, the boys said that winters in the north are "too cold and too long".

Their host, David Hanchet of the Boy Scout group committee, thought at first he would have a problem finding a cool place for the boys to sleep during the sultry summer nights. But the visitors stretched out in sleeping bags on the floor and reported: "We were nice and warm. We love the heat."

The Eskimo lads, Robbie Dick, 13, and Paul Angatookalook, 15, from Great Whale River, 1,000 miles north of Montreal, were guests of the Dunrae Mohawk Boy Scout troop. They had exchanged gifts with the Montreal troop last fall, becoming "cousins" of the Montreal Scouts in the Boy Scout tradition.

On arrival, they gave the Montreal troop sealskin Scout neckerchief clasps and received Montreal spider emblems in return.

California Raisin Crumb Cake All Time Favorite

This moist, rich cake is laden with the taste surprising flavor of California raisins. It's a grand dessert for all occasions—afternoon tea, dessert parties or a snack after school.

Homemakers enjoy making crumb cakes because they can be stirred up quickly and are good keepers. The buttery baked on topping eliminates the need for icing.

Raisin Crumb Cake

2 cups brown sugar (packed)
2¼ cups sifted flour
¾ teaspoon salt
½ cup shortening (part butter)
¾ cup California raisins
½ cup chopped walnuts
1 teaspoon soda
1 cup buttermilk
1 beaten egg
1 teaspoon vanilla

Stir together sugar, flour and salt. Cut in shortening until crumbly. Take out ¾ cup of this mixture and set aside for topping. To remainder add raisins and walnuts. Stir soda into buttermilk, add egg and vanilla, and stir into flour mixture, just until blended. Pour into greased 9-inch square pan; sprinkle reserved crumbs over top. Bake in moderately slow oven (325 degrees F.) 50 to 60 minutes. Makes 1 (9-inch) cake.

For Parents Only . . .

A Weekly Feature of Helpful Hints on Child Training.

Adjusting to School

(Copyright)

— By NANCY CLEAVER —

The adjustment from a small family group to a large school group is, of course most perplexing for the little child just starting school. It is a great help to the new scholar if he knows another friend who is also beginning school life. Then he can search for a familiar face among all the strange ones.

The qualities which school children rate high are not necessarily those which parents place at the top of the list. Physical prowess is greatly admired by youngsters. The aggressive, able lad with leadership ability, may use language which mother says is "not nice" but Junior certainly can see that he is "tops" with the other fellows. The hand-smocked dainty which mother made with such loving care may be so different from the sturdy wash-frocks of the other girls, that small May is miserable. A child does not want to be too different from the others!

It is not just the child starting to school for the first time who finds it no easy matter to get used to school. A great host of children every September know from bitter experience that the adjustment from vacation to school is demanding.

The change from carefree vacation days to the school schedule is an abrupt one. The adjustment is not easy for most children. The routine at home is usually fairly flexible. A child is free to ask his mother the question which comes into his mind. If he defends his seemingly "naughty" action, mother listens to his explanation before passing judgment. Many children enjoy participating in family discussion on different topics.

But the teacher has a large group in her care. She has a certain amount of work she must cover. It is impossible for each child to talk whenever he feels like it. Although "Quiet please!" may anger Junior, it is a necessary rule.

Promptness is a major virtue at school. Being late in the morning starts the whole day off wrong for the child and his tardiness is often not his fault. Mother must see that clothes and books are laid out neatly the night before in readiness for the morning scramble.

Children should be awakened regularly at an early enough hour so they can go to the toilet, wash, dress and eat without too much rush. A nutritious breakfast with fruit, cereal, milk, bread or toast with jam or honey gives a student energy to go on for the whole morning. The "On Time" regulation at school is part of the necessary preparation for the participation in classroom learning.

Parents can help by using extra stores of patience and imagination the first week in September. The child's behaviour at home often reflects a situation that he can't quite cope with at school. The small boy who yells at little sister and bosses her around may have been afraid to assert himself in the school playground. He wants to prove to himself that he is a "Big Guy!".

At bedtime, if mother watches, a child will often reveal by a chance remark what is troubling him. It is such a relief to be able to talk things over! Mother's attitude to school life and to the teacher will color the child's thinking. The teacher needs and deserves the parent's support in the first weeks of the new term and throughout the whole year.

Meal-in-packet barbecue treat

The Consumer Section suggests this Meal-In-A-Packet as a popular barbecue treat for that end-of-summer cookout. If it rains, you can take it indoors and cook it in the oven!

To make the individual packet, tear heavy duty aluminum foil into 18" x 12" piece. It will also serve as a plate after cooking.

For each serving, place a chicken piece (quarter, breast or leg) skin-side down on the foil, then sprinkle with salt, pepper, paprika and mustard. Place vegetables on top of chicken.

1 Slice tomato, 1 sliced peeled potato, 1 sliced onion, 2 whole mushrooms, 2 green pepper rings, 1 to 2 tablespoons tomato juice.

Then fold the foil in half over the chicken and vegetables, and fold each of the open sides several times toward the food.

For outdoor cooking. — Place packets on grill, 3 to 4 inches from the fire, until food is tender, about 1 to 1½ hours. Turn packets every 15 minutes. If barbecue has a hood, rotate the grill once or twice during cooking.

For indoor cooking. — Bake in a 400° F. oven for about 1 hour. Open packet and place under broiler until nicely browned, an additional 5 minutes.

Corn at the Barbecue

Corn-on-the-cob is a natural for barbecue cookery. It can be cooked in aluminum foil right on the coals.

Husk it first, of course, and place each cob in a large rectangle of foil and spread with butter, salt and pepper. Wrap the corn tightly in the foil, twisting the ends to seal. Roast over hot coals 15 to 20 minutes, turning several times. When the corn is tender, cut open the foil and use it as a plate or holder.

Tips on Touring

By Carol Lane
Women's Travel Authority

A motorist who has the best driving record is usually the one who's prepared for the worst. If an emergency does arise, he knows just what to do to prevent an accident.

Here are three tips to help you meet driving emergencies.

1. Your car is forced off the road onto a soft shoulder. Your first reaction might be to accelerate, swing back sharply to get up on the road again. Don't! You might zoom right across the highway into oncoming traffic. Or you might be hit by a car coming from behind. Instead, slow down, check your rear and side view mirrors, and ease gently back onto the highway.

2. Your gas pedal jams. . . . Turn off your ignition. Apply the hand and foot brakes simultaneously — gently but with steady pressure. If you start to skid, turn the wheel in the direction you're skidding.

3. Your brakes get wet in a sudden summer downpour and won't hold. Easy. Dry them by keeping your left foot gently on the brake pedal while you're driving. In a very short time, friction will dry the brakes. Test them easily before going back to regular driving.

Be prepared for any emergency. Remember, your car has built-in safety: YOU.

FACT

There are in Canada more than half a million widows, but less than 200,000 widowers.

Salmon Salad Mold

A gleaming molded salad, attractively presented, puts a gleam in the beholder's eye. And Salmon Shimmer Slimmer conclusively proves the point. Flaked salmon and crunchy vegetables are encased in glimmering lime jelly, accented with lemon and dill weed to effectively set off the salmon flavor.

A fish-shaped mold will enhance the appearance of this salad that's kind to calorie counters. However, any four-cup container suitable for unmolding will do. And if you have side salads, or individual service in mind, use custard cups.

In addition to the recipe for this summer treat, we offer a few handy hints for those who have not always met with success when turning out jelly molds. It's an easy matter, with no special complications, as long as you follow a few simple steps.

Salmon Shimmer Slimmer

1 Teaspoon dill weed, 1 teaspoon finely grated lemon rind, 1 cup boiling water, 1 three-ounce package lime jelly powder, 1 cup less 2 tablespoons cold water, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 cup canned salmon (1 half-pound can) drained and flaked, ¼ cup finely minced green pepper, ¼ cup finely chopped celery, ½ cup chopped cucumber (well-drained), slices of hard-cooked egg or stuffed olives, thin strips of green pepper.

Add dill weed and lemon rind to boiling water. Pour over jelly powder; stir until dissolved. Stir in cold water, lemon juice and salt. Lightly brush salad oil over inside surface of a 4-cup fish-shaped mold. (A ring-shape or other 4-cup mold as well as individual molds such as custard cups may be used.) Pour in just enough of the jelly mixture to make a thin layer on bottom of mold. Chill until slightly thickened. (This will take only a few minutes if mold is placed in freezer.) Then in jelly in bottom of mold, arrange green pepper strips to outline fish fins and tail and egg or olive slices for eyes. For other molds, make an attractive design in bottom with sliced eggs and olives. Return to refrigerator until this layer is firm.

Meanwhile, chill remaining jelly mixture until thickened — about the consistency of egg white. Blend in flaked salmon, minced green pepper, celery and chopped drained cucumber. Pour over set layer. Refrigerate until firm. Unmold onto serving dish. Garnish with greens and wedges of lemon or lime. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Unmolding Hints: To unmold any type of jelly, first loosen edges of jelly from mold with sharp knife. Then dip mold or pan into hot water for a few seconds. Remove quickly; immediately invert serving dish over mold. Hold dish and mold together firmly; quickly invert so that mold lies on platter and then lift off mold. Then, if desired, garnish or trim as recipe indicates.

Meat most costly item on fare

In these days of rising food costs, we pay more for our meat than for any other item on our grocery list. And it is an important item, too, for meat is a valuable source of the protein, B vitamins and minerals necessary for good health.

In order to get the most for her money, the consumer should learn as much as she can about meat. She should learn to recognize good quality meat and know how to cook to advantage the cuts she buys.

Beef is the one meat which is sold by graded quality in retail stores. Before a carcass of beef is graded it must be health inspected to ensure that the meat is wholesome and fit to eat. Once it has passed this inspection it is stamped with the federal government "Canada Approved" stamp in several places, usually on each wholesale section. The grade of the beef is indicated on the retail cuts by a ribbon-like mark which carries the official name of the grade, in the color designated for the grade.

This and other valuable information is contained in the 80-page Meat Book — publication 971 — by the Consumer Section at Ottawa. The booklet is available at 50 cents a copy from the Queen's Printer, Ottawa. The booklet contains many favorite meat recipes and explains how to cook many of the common retail cuts. It also has meat charts and pictures to show you how to recognize the cuts.

Contest for 'Queen of Mont'l Fashion'

Montreal — A new kind of nation-wide fashion contest has been launched by the Montreal Dress & Sportswear Manufacturers' Guild. The search for the "Queen of Montreal Fashion", conducted in co-operation with retailers, is for "the Canadian woman whose style sense, taste and flair, best represents the ideal customer of the fashion centre of Canada, Montreal".

The winner will receive an all-expense TCA jet-flight to Paris for two, and a Montreal fashion wardrobe. She will not be judged on beauty, but strictly on her ability to choose and wear good fashion in any price range.

The contest is open to any Canadian woman over 18, who is not a professional model. Applicants must submit photographs of themselves shown full-length wearing a new fall fashion. The finalists will be judged in person at the Guild's annual convention in Montreal, October 26. Entries will close October 1.

Application forms have been supplied to fashion stores across Canada and many are expected to sponsor applicants from among their customers and sales clerks. Applications are also invited from women's organizations and business firms.

Specially Written for The Lachute Watchman

By Patricia Rusak, Canadian Press Staff Writer

Toronto (CP) — An air of nostalgia rather than the usual astonishment at the most modern of marvels surrounds one display at the current Canadian National Exhibition.

In the midst of the crowds and noise, the ragtime strains from a player piano manufacturers' booth unfailingly arouse memories of days gone by.

But this player-piano is not the beat-up type found in some basement recreation rooms and summer cottages. This 64-note "pianola" has been manufactured only in the last few years.

And the new player pianos are not only equipped with honky-tonk sound effects, but rolls of all the latest hit tunes are available.

The shining keys, dancing on their own, are a source of fascination, especially for younger visitors to the CNE. They aren't old enough to remember the "good old days."

Family Fun

The Better Living Centre is a fun centre for the whole family.

At the Bell Telephone's display, three, four, and sometimes as many as five members of a family listen in on the 30 telephones through which the latest communication developments are explained.

Main reason for their interest, however, is that they might win a free demonstration call and be able to chat briefly with friends or relatives in any other point in Canada or the United States.

The chance of winning a free call is one in thirty. There is also one catch — the winner must know the telephone number of the person he is calling.

Back to Caves

In the Ontario Hydro display the story of lighting and heating from the time of the cavemen to the present is depicted.

Five life-size replicas — a cave kitchen, a Roman kitchen, and typical kitchens in 1840, 1914, and 1940 — illustrate the cooking, lighting and heating facilities available for use by a representative family.

Today's conveniences are shown in an elegantly furnished and electrically heated modern home, which not only has an intercom system, but an electric toothbrush.

"Imagine having something like this to play with" is the most frequently heard comment at the Ontario Hydro's miniature of the electric cycle, right from the clouds that produce the rain to the power operating electric transit vehicles.

Children also gaze longingly at the 19th century toys displayed in the Better Living Centre by the Metropolitan Toronto and Region Conservation Authority.

These include miniature fire engines, carriages and buggies, steamships, canoes, ancient trains, delicate china dolls and old fashioned baby carriages.

Poultry cook-out

Poultry seems to be gaining in popularity as a "cook-out" meat and whether you are feeding two or twenty it is easy to prepare, mouth-watering to watch, and delicious to eat.

It does take longer to barbecue poultry than steak or chops, but it is worth waiting for. Chicken or turkey halves or quarters should be brushed with barbecue sauce each time they are turned on the grill, to produce moist flavorful meat.

There is a simple basic sauce the Poultry Products Institute recommends. It is made by heating together 1 cup vinegar, ¼ cup of butter, ¼ cup water and 1 teaspoon salt. Additional seasonings such as garlic, or other herbs or spices may be added as desired. A liberal sprinkling of paprika on the skin of the poultry helps produce a luscious golden brown color.

Brit. Dairy Queen arrives for tour

Montreal — A rosy-cheeked, 18 year-old English girl, Heather Bomford, who recently was named National Dairy Queen of England and Wales, arrived in Montreal last week on the start of a trans-Canada tour sponsored by the Dairy Farmers of Canada.

Heather, of Sale Green Farm in Worcestershire, won the crown in competition with 6,000 other girls.

The British Dairy Queen and her entourage were met at Montreal Airport by John Dickson, President of Dairy Farmers of Canada, and Mrs. Dickson, and by officials of the Provincial Department of Agriculture. Her stop-over was brief, as she left a few hours later by plane for Ottawa.

Heather said that she works on her father's farm, mainly tending the hens and turkeys. In addition, she occasionally milks the 40 Friesian cows on the farm, and helps with the 160 ewes.

She is a member of the Young Farmers' Club of her district, and is a keen supporter of all outdoor activities, including riding, hockey, tennis and swimming.

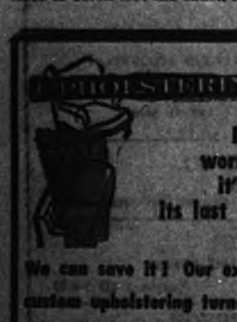

She will spend several days in Ontario, Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia as guest of the dairy industry in those provinces.

Blood donor clinic dates — September 24-25

The Canadian Red Cross Society undertakes the provision of a continual flow of blood and plasma free of charge to more than 180 hospitals throughout the Province of Quebec for use by patients in need of blood transfusions.

For this purpose, the Red Cross Blood Bank must supply a weekly demand of 4,500 pints of blood in this Province. Volunteer donors are needed to keep this Blood Bank alive and functioning by means of their donations. In this way valuable lives are saved.

The discovery that human blood could be transfused to other humans constitutes one of the most wonderful acquisitions, doing much to bring about progress in surgery and the swift advance now evident in modern medicine.

Points You Should Know About Blood

Any normal adult of medium weight has some 12 to 13 pints of blood, so that doctors estimate men can give blood every three months, and women every four months. Persons who have had jaundice cannot give blood and those who have had malaria within the last 12 months may not give blood. About 380 c.c. is taken and each donor receives an identity card showing his blood group and the number of times he has given blood.

There are four main types of blood: A, B, AB, and O. The donor's blood must be the same as that of the receiver. However, in certain cases the O group — called universal — can be given to the others.

Every donor is first given a haemoglobin test, to determine if he is in good physical condition. Anyone between the ages of 18 and 65 in average health may contribute to the Blood Bank. Doctor's certificates are only necessary in cases of high blood pressure. There is no discomfort experienced in the giving of blood; however, it is important to have eaten before giving blood.

Enlightened physicians everywhere today use blood to abate human suffering, so invest now in the Red Cross Blood Bank.

A mobile unit will visit this town September 24-25. The clinic will be held at the Auditorium, from 2 to 5.30 p.m. and from 7 to 9.30 p.m. each day.

Animal surgeons discuss veterinary medicines, curb on disease outbreaks

Quebec, Aug. 27 (CP)—The Quebec College of Veterinary Surgeons has decided to seek exclusive control over sale and use of medicine for animals, through an amendment to the provincial laws governing veterinarians.

The decision was taken at the college's biennial meeting at which a study committee said Quebec's population is being exploited because there is no control of any kind over sales.

Almost anyone, the committee declared, can sell medication for animals.

The meeting was told by a Montreal specialist that one of the causes behind this summer's hog cholera outbreak in Quebec and Ontario was the feeding of pork scraps to hogs.

Dr. Henri Troalen of the Federal Agriculture Department pointed to the case of a man who worked in a Montreal bakery and fed scraps which he brought home from work to his hogs, which he kept in Ontario.

They were healthy until the man began adding pork scraps from a Chinese restaurant and his hogs soon fell ill. He took the least sick ones and sold them at auction in Alexandria, Ont., Dr. Troalen said.

As a result, the disease spread to other farms in the area, on both sides of the border.

He suggested several means for controlling outbreaks including quarantine of auction sites, banning of exhibitions and disinfection of trucks and rail cars used to transport animals.

Extra pollination by bees in hives

Honeybees may be better pollinators of orchard trees than they have been given credit for.

In comparison with wild bees, which flit from tree to tree, honeybees are hard workers and tend to go back and forth from the hive to one tree.

This suggests that they are not efficient cross pollinators. But work in the Nova Scotia and Canada departments of agriculture indicates that honeybees may transfer pollen to other bees in the hive and may therefore be more efficient pollinators than was previously thought.

For a test, apple trees were covered with tents. Hives were provided with two entrances, one leading to a tented tree and the other to untented trees. To get from one tree to another they had to go through the hive. Thus a crop of apples on a tented tree would indicate that the pollen had been taken through the beehive. This is just what happened; excellent crops of Red Delicious apples were harvested from the tented trees.

Dr. A. D. Crowe of the Research Station, Kentville, N.S., points out that this does not prove that pollen was transferred within the hive as bees could have come in from outside, gone through the hive and then worked the tented tree.

But, as E. A. Karmo, provincial apiarist, says: "We are inclined to believe that the pollen must have been brushed from one bee to another in the hives. The bees would be most unlikely to change their habit of working one tree at a time just because the hive had two entrances."

Both men feel the experiment gives pretty good evidence that pollen transfer within the hive is an important part of cross pollination by hive bees.

Rolling stone now movie-maker

Calgary (CP) — Bill Lietz describes himself as a "bush tramp".

"Things I do usually lead me into the bush," says the 32-year-old Lietz. In 18 years of zigzagging across the western provinces he has been a cowpuncher, guide, commercial fisherman, logger, tourist camp operator, prospector, mine owner, skin diver and farmer.

"I didn't like farming," he says of his venture near Edmonton. "Going around in circles got me down."

He stopped in Calgary as part of his latest vocation — movie-making.

"Headless Valley," 90-minute color film of the little-known Nahanni Valley of the Northwest Territories, is Leitz's latest production. He now is on a tour of western cities showing the film.

Bill and a former mining partner, Ed Fischer of South Africa, spent 3½ months prospecting and movie-making along the Nahanni River in the spring of 1961.

Eventually Bill wants to settle on a cattle ranch in the Cariboo country of British Columbia, but he's in no hurry.

Water filtration — at last

The mayor and councillors were invited to visit the filtration plant last Thursday, after the purification process had been operating for 24 hours. They were conducted around the premises by Paul Laliberté and Alex Lorrain, engineers of the firm of Lorrain, Tourigny et al., responsible for installation of the plant, and by Jean-Louis Lalonde, the architect.

Seen above, Mayor Fernand Legault performs a symbolic ceremony of opening an intake valve, while fellow councillors look on with interest. There will be an official opening of the plant at a later date.

More seizures of untaxed cigarettes

An officer from the Quebec Department of Revenue, with agents of the Provincial Police from Lachute headquarters, made a raid on a restaurant in town — the Imelda Laurin premises — last Friday evening and seized a considerable quantity of cigarettes. Inspector Joseph Thivierge, of the Department, and the officers accompanying him, confiscated cigarette packages lacking the Quebec tax stamp.

Two similar raids were made Saturday evening at Thurso, where smaller quantities of cigarettes, purchased from Ontario, were seized.

The law states that any vendor possessing unstamped cigarettes is liable to costs, the amount of the tax, confiscation of the goods, and a fine not less than $10 and not exceeding $1,000, or three years imprisonment in default of payment. On a second conviction for the same offence, the fine shall be not less than $500.

Henry Street sidewalk provokes petition, resolution, counter-motion, amendment

A sidewalk will be laid on Henry Street, between Mary and Barron, despite opposition raised by seven property holders. The decision was adopted at Town Council at a previous meeting, but Horace Lafleur, one of the proprietors concerned, came forward with the petition of protest at last meeting. The matter provoked some heated debate, and Ald. Dr. J. P. Dorion, one of the proprietors concerned (his property is on Bedard Blvd. but backs onto Henry Street), was permitted to withdraw from the Council board to discuss the question as a taxpayer.

Dr. Dorion sparked the debate with a statement that Alex Denault had set a precedent by building his own sidewalk, which is contrary to municipal by-law, and moreover, that this sidewalk obtrudes onto municipal land.

After much discussion it was moved by Ald. Urbain, supported by Ald. Thibodeau, that the motion previously adopted should now be rescinded, and that a complaint be laid against Mr. Denault under by-law regulating the construction of sidewalks; and that if the complaint is upheld and Mr. Denault convicted, the said sidewalk be completely rebuilt.

Here, Ald. Lauréat Laurin moved an amendment, seconded by Ald. S. Church — that Mr. Denault's sidewalk be broken up and a sidewalk rebuilt in the proper line, from Mary Street to Barron Avenue.

Put to a vote, the amendment was defeated. (For — Aldermen Laurin, Church, Lepage. Against — Urbain, Thibodeau, Charlebois, Dr. L. Middleton.)

Vote on the original motion was then taken. (For — Urbain, Thibodeau. Against — Charlebois Dr. Middleton, Laurin, Church, Lepage.)

With the amendment and the motion both voted down — the resolution passed some time ago, decreeing the installation of a sidewalk on this stretch of road, now remains valid and effective.

Good send-off for Lions Club 1962-63 season

President Royal Carrière occupied the chair for the re-opening meeting of Lachute Lions Club, last week at the Legion Hall.

Dr. Eric Mongeon was congratulated on his appointment to an International office, that of Zone Chairman. Directors and committee chairmen for the year were introduced by the president. In charge of committees this year are the following:

Rink — Clayton Robinson
Finance & Auditing — Louis de Breyne
Fund Raising — Oswald Carrière
Inter-Club — Gaétan Malacket
Attendance — Claude Landry
Program — Horace Lamerche
Membership — L. J. Dumais
Lions Information — Keith W. Clarke
Greeters — Fred Jeffrey
Easter Seals — Col. E. Emmett
Education — R. Marcil, F. Legault
Agriculture — Roger Regimbal

Other new officers with important functions are — Clifton Scott, secretary; Gabriel Downing, treasurer; Raymond Church, bulletin editor.

Other duties at the club assemblies are filled by Ken Raymond, Tail Twister; Harold Joyce, Lion Tamer.

A brief silence was observed in memory of Edward M. Jones, an ex-president, whose death occurred this past summer; and Miville Trickey, another former active Lion, who succumbed recently to heart failure.

Requests for assistance in the form of educational loans were duly discussed.

A report on the Lions' part in the recent Golf Club "Calcutta" event, and appreciation to those who had assisted, was given by the president.

Lion Horace Lamarche reported on a recent visit of Lions and their ladies to the crippled children's camp at Joliette.

A song session was led by Lion Harold Joyce, with Bob Haydon as accompanist, and a congenial spirit augured well for enthusiastic support to club charities and ventures in the coming season.

Pocket-size pony imported here

Something of a novelty was added to the breeding stock of Younkie Farms, Upper Lachute, when Wesley B. Younkie took delivery last week of a Shetland pony stallion only 28 inches high. Young pony enthusiasts would get a thrill out of this miniature edition, of a type and breed maintained mostly as pets, since only small children could ride them. Mr. Younkie hopes, however, to breed the newcomer with some of his larger Shetland varieties, to produce saddle ponies of more practical stature.

Touring in England this spring, Mr. and Mrs. Younkie visited the stables of Lady Joan Gore-Langton in Sussex, where miniature ponies have been bred for the past 75 years. They selected one of the animals, which was shipped to Montreal, but in transit to Lachute the immigrant met a fatal end, when the truck and crate caught fire. It was just last week that Mr. Younkie received a replacement for the previous animal, and the Shetland stallion arrived by boat in Montreal. It was brought by light delivery truck, and with tender care, by Mr. Desfossés, the farm manager, to its new home.

B'burg faces conflicting needs — public works and belt tightening

Brownsburg — First item on the agenda at the September session of the Brownsburg Town Council was the introduction of the temporary police chief, Aurele Lemay. Mr. Lemay, an employee of the Superior Protective System of Canada, will remain as chief constable until a satisfactory replacement can be obtained for former Chief Roger Boutet, who had resigned prior to August 11 (as made so clear in the Montreal Gazette). The new law which prohibits the policing of a town by a private organization necessitated that Mr. Lemay be hired as an individual, directly by the municipality.

One of the practices Mr. Lemay will have to watch for is vehicles being parked in front of the drugstore. Council voted to have the area marked off as a no-parking zone, in an effort to avoid the congestion which has been prevalent during the summer.

With the approach of winter, Council is faced with the problem of where to store the municipal vehicles. While this is of some urgency, a more intriguing question looked at with great interest, concerned the necessity of replacing the municipal office building.

Insurance coverage on the old establishment amounted to approximately $7,000, and since this is the logical time to plan for expanded facilities, Council must now come up with a method of raising money. With the recent tax increase of 2% in local stores, and the possibility of further increases in regular municipal taxes to pay for sewage-filtration systems, Brownsburg citizens may have to tighten their belts for a year or two.

Going along with the country-wide "tight belt" policy, Council passed a motion to borrow up to $13,000 from the bank in order to pay monthly vouchers and salaries. Formerly the overdraft system would have carried the town.

With a view to establishing just how much money would have to be borrowed to pay for the multiple sewerage systems project in Brownsburg, Council obtained tenders for installation of the piping. The lowest tender, submitted by B. and P. Hall Brothers, amounted to $24,000. Council is currently making arrangements to have referendum procedures drawn up, to provide the municipality with the permission to borrow the money.

The sewage-filtration system which is now in the final planning stages, received a shot in the arm at this meeting with the realization that an alternative route suggested by Mayor Donaldson and Councillor Vowles, would shave $22,000 off the total cost of the project. With this plan, sewage would be piped from the west side of the river, across the bridge on Main Street, down Hotel de Ville, along Bank, then down to Maple Avenue to join the main line leading to the filtration plant to be located down south of the Jackman housing area.

An item with a long history was settled at this session, as Secretary Vincent Charbonneau read a letter from the town's insurance company stating that a town is not legally obligated to sand the streets in the winter. Thus, Mr. Charles Joanis' claim for automobile damages dating back to last winter, was to no avail. When told of the ruling, Mr. Joanis expressed the opinion that the Council might just as well drop the insurance and save the premiums, since the insurance company never seems to pay off.

To Military College at St. Jean, Que.

Claude Guitard, 18-year old son of Postmaster Florian Guitard, who has been admitted as a student-cadet at the Collège Militaire at St. Jean, Que. Claude was a student at l'Ecole Supérieure, Lachute, to 11th grade, then proceeding to Grade 12 at St. Jerome, where he was in Air Cadet Squadron 683. At St. Jean he will be in the Air Force division for a five-year period, while pursuing his studies in Chemistry.

Secretary named for County Council

Douglas R. Bradford was recently appointed secretary-treasurer of the Municipal Council of the County of Argenteuil, to replace of the late E. M. Jones. His headquarters will be situated at the Parish of St. Jerusalem offices on Elizabeth Street (telephone LO 2-4959).

Social Crediter asks for inquiry on civic affairs

J. Orphir Desjardins, Social Credit candidate here in the June elections, threw a minor bombshell at the Council session, last week when he asked the municipal authorities to institute an inquiry into the town administration. According to Mr. Desjardins, if the population desires, he will circulate a petition to this end, and the Attorney General and the Department of Municipal Affairs will be approached.

Asked by a representative of this newspaper to explain his request, Mr. Desjardins claimed this was no gesture of reprisal against the Council, or personal attack on any concerned, but simply to throw light on revenues and expenditures of the administration.

"All sorts of rumors are circulating about the filtration project," he contended. "Is it costing half-a-million, $700,000, or a million dollars? No one knows; yet rumors persist, and Council makes no effort to confirm or deny them. This is one matter to be looked into, besides the new business tax schedule, the sending of property tax and business tax bills at irregular intervals, and general procedures of administration."

During the conversation, Mr. Desjardins also claimed that a group of citizens had asked him to be candidate for mayor. Municipal elections come up in November, and Mayor Fernand Legault concludes his term this year. "I have not decided; I may possibly run. But again, if I do, it will not be a personal matter, or a question of race, but rather to devote myself to the interests of municipal financing," he stated.

Business tax increase invokes only minor protest

The new business tax schedule aroused little comment at Town Council, meeting last week in regular session. . . Mayor Fernand Legault presided, and Ald. Linton Armstrong was the only member absent.

However, there was a considerable attendance, and questions were asked, such as the increased revenue expected from the boost in rates. Antoine Malaket, president of the Chamber of Commerce, raised a complaint, apparently shared by other merchants, that the bills just recently sent out gave no information. Mayor Legault stated that the clerical staff had been advised to exercise utmost care, but perhaps the bills were not too explicit.

As regards increased revenue from adoption of the new sales tax, it was intimated that, if the revenue greatly exceeded estimates for expenses, the next Council could make adjustment in the property tax rate.

Other Matters Discussed

To fill a formal requirement Council gave approval to a gasoline storage tank, installed above ground in 1953, at the establishment of Arc Supply Ltd.

The Canadian Red Cross was given authorization to use the Auditorium for the blood donor clinic on September 24-25.

Council decided to consult an agronomist on an infestation affecting maple trees.

Following a letter from Lowe Bros. Dairy, Engineer Paul Laliberté was requested to approach other firms circumspectly — MacKimmie Bottling Works, Chevrier Lachute Ltée and I.G.A. — for the installation of water meters. At the present it should be clear, it is not a question of imposing a special tariff on such businesses, but rather to gauge the quantity of water they use.

It was moved by Aldermen Charlebois and Dr. J. P. Dorion that a pipe cutter be purchased from Daigle & Frères, for $705. This is a cutter for 4" up to 14" pipe, on which the firm submitted the lowest quotation.

Study of the property roll took only a few minutes of the Council's time, and the roll was homologated with certain changes recommended by the valuators, Messrs. Campbell, Laurin and Desjardins.

Lady rescues and revives child from drowning

At a lake on Green Acres, near Morin Heights, a three-year old youngster was recovered from the water and brought back to consciousness by Janice Lunn, a mother-to-be and the wife of Robt Lunn. (Mr. Lunn is a partner working on Lachute Cable Vision installations here.)

On the Friday preceding Labor Day, a boy ran up to the Lunn cottage crying out that his young brother was in the lake. Mrs. Lunn, who is a good swimmer, acted quickly. She could see the youngster face-down on the surface of the water; he was blue when she brought him to shore and started applying respiration.

The older boy had meanwhile disappeared for help. He returned with his mother and other cottagers, who were relieved to find the young victim alive — thanks to the courage and resourcefulness of his rescuer.

Handle gently!

Horses are repeatedly breaking out onto the highway near Lake Louisa, and passing motorists seem touchingly concerned for their safety. One of our young townsmen, a Lake week-ender, was seen Sunday at the roadside, coercing a baby colt back into the pasture. He was almost carrying the young fugitive in his arms!

Week's Epigram

In the early days of the automobile industry, a man bought some scrap metal and made a car out of it. The modern procedure is just the reverse.

'Big Show' at 4-H Calf Club achievement day

On Saturday, September 8, the Lachute 4-H Calf Club held their annual Achievement Day at the exhibition grounds. There were 36 head of calves and heifers shown by the members, which included Holsteins, Ayrshires, a class of Guernseys and one of Beef cattle. The judge for the afternoon was Jean St. Pierre, of Grenville, who is manager of Raymondale Farms at Vaudreuil, Que. He did a fine job of placing the animals, which were all of top quality. The fine weather brought out a good number of spectators to watch the proceedings.

Douglas Meyer was the winner of the Bank of Montreal trophy for the Champion Holstein Calf, and the Bank of Nova Scotia trophy for the Champion Ayrshire Calf was won by John Heatlie. Sharon Meyer won the Walker McArthur rose bowl for having the Champion Herd. The Alex Bothwell memorial trophy for Junior Showmanship was won by Bobby Rodger, and the Alex Bothwell memorial trophy for Senior Showmanship was won by Donald Hadley. Following is a list of prize winners:—

Junior Holsteins — 1 Rodger Lyster, 2 Richard Hadley, 3 Carol McCaig, 4 John Lyster.

Junior Ayrshires — 1 John Heatlie, 2 Robert MacAdam.

Senior Holsteins — 1 Douglas Meyer, 2 Sharon Meyer, 3 Donald Hadley, 4 Daintry Wilson, 5 Mary Thompson, 6 Sheila Meyer, 7 John McCaig, 8 Rozlyn Wilson.

Senior Ayrshires — 1 Bobbie Rodger, 2 Donna Bradley.

Guernseys — 1 Yolande St. Jacques, 2 Monique St. Jacques, 3 Denis St. Jacques, 4 Jerry Plummer.

Beef — 1 Arthur McElroy, 2 Richard Witham, 3 Judy McElroy.

Year-old Holsteins — 1 Douglas Meyer, 2 Sheila Meyer, 3 Rozlyn Wilson, 4 Sharon Meyer, 5 Donald Hadley, 6 Roger Lyster, 7 John McCaig.

Driver injured in city crash

Montreal — A 20-year old truck driver from Lachute escaped serious injury Tuesday when his trailer-truck careened out of control, jack-knifed and crashed into a utility pole.

The mishap occurred on Guy Street, when William Robinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Robinson, Lachute, swerved his vehicle to avoid colliding with another. The truck went out of control, narrowly missing several cars, jack-knifed and struck the pole. The driver of the other vehicle did not stop.

Robinson was taken to the Montreal General Hospital and released after treatment for arm and back injuries.

"ARGENTEUIL OUTDOORS"

By BOB ATCHISON

It is almost impossible to find anyone who understands the banning of the 22's in the bush. People who should know these things, can offer no explanation. One of the interpretations has me on the ropes. It seems that if you purchase a deer license you may use the 22's; of course, this interpretation is all wrong, but that will give you some idea of how it is being kicked around. The sportsman who has a 22-410 over and under, is not allowed to use this at any time. This sort of gives the perfect rabbit gun a death-blow in this province. Also, from information received, any firearm that has a 22 calibre connected with it, is out. I asked in Montreal where this placed the 218-220-222 group, but no one could give any satisfactory answer. I think it will depend on the wardens themselves on how the law is applied. It is safe to say that the group that pushed this law through have no idea of the damage it will do to the average man. Farmers were one of the big complainants, but in having this law enacted, maybe they have forgotten just how many hunters are in the bush without 22s. From now on they will be trying to abolish all guns, except for their own use.

* * *

The Federation of Fish and Game Clubs is supposed to rigidly protest any changes they think may be out of order. However, any protests they have registered, and seemingly without too much power behind them, have been subdued. As far as I am concerned this group have not too much say in anything to do with wildlife. They are supposed to have all the member clubs in with the Association, yet no concrete action is taken by them. In fact, it seems to me they will go along with any law so long as it doesn't involve too much work for them.

* * *

We all know the gun laws are stupid and should be drastically changed, yet with all the publicity given to hunting "accidents", nothing is ever done about it. The only group that is interested in this in any way is the C-I-L, who have had Les Morrow working on the problem. Steps have been taken and are working well, but it takes more than one group to do anything effective. The indiscriminate handing out of hunting permits to anyone who can sell them (and the same applies to the dealers who don't give a hoot for competence of the person buying them), is one of the very serious points. I think the wardens should be the only ones entitled to hand out these licenses — and then make them responsible for the holders they have issued them to. . . Something drastic has to be done, either that or we lose everything we ever had the right to do. People just don't realize that fact that too often laws are passed depriving us of privileges we never get back.

* * *

Excellent fishing has been enjoyed by those taking the time to try for a few more. Lake Louisa has been very good for the trolling fan; all the fish taken have been very deep. I was told that trolling about 5 feet from the bottom brought the best results. Some of the other lakes around have been almost as productive. In nearly all cases the Williams wobblers have been the best trolling bait used. I have had very good results in the creeks, with some good catches taken. In the past few days' fishing, the best fly for me has been the Silver Doctor; as a matter of fact, this pattern has been the old standby. Another queer thing, none of my fishing has been any good before 3 p.m.; nothing being taken before that hour.

* * *

Even the river fishing has been encouraging. Talking to a few of the boys, they have had the same experience. With the leaves starting to turn color, these expeditions are rewarding anyway. It's the most wonderful time of the year — watching all the animals getting ready for their winter hibernation; even the insects are spinning their cocoons for the cold. Have you ever watched these insects burying themselves in some almost inaccessible spot? I often wonder just how they or their offspring get out in the spring!

* * *

A number of birds have deserted the area, due to the cold, and their built-in radars. Of course, we still have hundreds of other breeds with us; but there is something significant about seeing a particular breed take off on their long haul south. The more hardy types will remain for some months yet, and maybe you could start thinking of your feeders, etc., for those that remain. It would be a good idea to start putting up some of your freeze sticks with seed; they can be kept in your freezers without occupying too much space. If you happen to be ambitious you could even collect some wild seed for the winter months.

* * *

Camping is still high on the list of seasonal sports. From talks I have had with numerous campers, they intend to try it during the winter too. Of course, with all the new types of mixes, soups and meats being put out now for the campers, you can bet eating will be high on this list. As for the soups, they are terrific.

* * *

Some excellent shoots have been had with the woodchucks, the only thing that bothers me is the fact these animals are just left to rot. They do make excellent eating really; one way I recommend is to parboil them, anywhere from half-hour to an hour, drain, sprinkle with bread crumbs, corn flakes or what-have-you, then either roast, fry, or stew them. After the boiling they do not take much time to finish off. Now don't turn up your noses at this dish; the woodchuck is a clean, edible animal. Also, never shoot anything unless you can put it to use. It's surprising how many people discard an animal of the wild, without knowing its eating value.

* * *

The bush is very dry right now, so anyone going in should take precautions. We have had no real fires in this area for a couple of years, and let this continue; but it will take the help of everyone to prevent them. Far too many people think that, because the summer is over, the fire danger is past. Nothing could be further from the truth. The fall is one of the worst periods, so we should remember to watch fires, cigarette butts, etc. You'll agree there is nothing nice about a burned-out district, to say nothing of the loss to the wildlife and to our economy.

* * *

I just received a call about some of the private lakes near Lachute being netted. With any early spawners, this will be fatal, and will soon exterminate any trout in that lake. This also applies to Lake Hughes; lines, minnows and what-have-you are being used in this lake. This applies, of course, to nearly all the lakes in this area. I would imagine the sale of trout is going on right now in Montreal; it sure was big business last year.

"ACTIVE SERVICE YESTERDAY COMMUNITY SERVICE TODAY"

On August 29 an executive meeting was held in the Memorial Hall to line up the fall activities. The cleaning and re-arrangement of the Hall is progressing. Bingos are to resume, with the first scheduled for the first Thursday in October. Other coming attractions will be presented at a later date or via a news-letter.

The "spirits" of "Canada", Bill and George Duval, no more will haunt the green cloth-covered table. From higher authority it has been decreed that the rattle and shuffle of the pasteboards will be tolerated no longer.

* * *

How long and retentive is memory of those unpleasant things we wish to forget? How long does it take to remove the scars of horror, sacrifice and destruction?

Well, an event occurred in Montreal recently that should answer the above questions. It should fill with wrath and repugnance not only Legionnaires, but all who wore the King's colors in the last great conflict, the relatives of those who paid the supreme sacrifice, and those who remained behind to sustain the war effort. The writer is referring to the entrance into Canada and the subsequent registration at a Montreal hotel of Norman Rockwell, self-styled leader of the Nazi Party in the U.S.A., the Fuerher of America.

Although Germany has risen from the ashes of defeat and has received conditional forgiveness from the world at large, certain criminal elements of the outlawed Nazi Party still flourish. That cancerous ulcer of hatred and evil is found in cell organizations throughout the world — yes, even here in Canada, else why was Rockwell here?

Those of you who trod, plodded and struggled through the smoke-filled ruins of Europe; those who burnished, fought heat, sand and enemy on the deserts of Africa; those who braved the sub infested waters of the Atlantic; those who fought in and freed the death-dealing skies; all who brushed with death and felt its sting; all who witnessed the depravity, filth and horrors of the concentration camps — these can not, and should not, still their voices against the enveiglement of such ilk upon our so dearly earned democratic way of life.

To let such flourish and increase in our midst would be to forget our obligations to those of our comrades who did not return and who sleep in foreign lands. You may be sure that their voices are loud in ire and protest.

Thought for the Day

The reason they call television a medium is because for the most part it is neither rare nor well done.

"The Scene"

IN BROWNSBURG

(Our District Correspondent)

— If you think your light bill is high, compare it with that of the Municipality — in excess of $300 a month!

— The Gazette made it clear to one and all that Roger Boutet had resigned prior to the fire of August 11. Just why this was so important is anyone's guess; it was of little interest locally.

— Part of the paved area in front of the Maitland holdings on Main Street will soon be converted to a gas bar for Cities Service products.

— Strange how so many of the unofficial derogatory opinions expressed about the Brownsburg fire came from outsiders who are not really close enough to the town to separate faction from fiction. The two "policemen" (so-called) who were acting as parking lot attendants had no official connection with the town of Brownsburg so would not be subject to call as jail guards any more than anyone else. However, the similarity of the uniforms is obvious, so steps will no doubt be taken to avoid confusion.

— A total of 10 applications for the position of Police Chief were received to date. Council appeared satisfied with the applicants, and will probably come up with a decision later this week.

Sentiments and Sidelights

Recent Automobile Prize

The Isard automobile, the envy of passers-by at Beaton's Pharmacy, was won in the recent drawing at that store by Mme Paul Joly. It is learned that the automobile was subsequently purchased by the winner's daughter-in-law, Mme Conrad Meunier, employee of the Bank of Montreal. (Mme Joly's husband already owned a car.)

Fluoridation Too

Since Wednesday evening of last week, consumers have been drinking filtered water from the Lachute system — the process having been put into operation around 5.30 p.m. that day. Besides the actual filtration procedure, the supply passing through the new plant is chlorinated and fluoridated — the fluorine being an addition which, according to surveys conducted in various centres, is effective in preventing tooth decay.

News of Hunting, Fishing Assocn.

The Argenteuil Fishing and Hunting Association will be offering prizes for hunters who register the best hauls this coming season. Duck hunting opens Saturday, September 15; partridge on September 29.

Hunters affiliated with this club are urged to familiarize themselves with the game laws, and with the rules of the contest; then to register their deer as required by law and also with the contest committee.

The third fishing derby will take place September 23 at Lac des Ecorces. Information and directions to this spot will be duly given. A final contest on Sunday, September 30, the last day of the fishing season, will be held at Trout Lake.

HAVENS FROM HAY FEVER

Ragweed pollen, the principal cause of hay fever, is present in varying amounts over much of Eastern Canada. Areas where the pollen content of the air is low are sought by sufferers as refuges during the pollen season. The booklet "Havens from Hay Fever" gives the pollen index for the principal cities and holiday areas and can be obtained free from the Information Division of the Canada Department of Agriculture in Ottawa.

90% of all oil company product research in Canada is done by Imperial

The fuels your car will use in the future are being designed today. In Imperial's ultra-modern research laboratories at Sarnia, scientists and technicians are working to ensure that gasolines for today's cars—and tomorrow's—are tailored for top performance. In the last ten years alone, Imperial has spent more than $80 million to build the equipment needed to bring you top gasoline quality.

At Imperial Oil's laboratories at Sarnia, Ontario, more than 200 scientists and technicians are working to improve present petroleum products—and to develop new ones. Their research covers many fields, from gasolines to household detergents. Another 130 scientists and technicians are working at Imperial's Calgary laboratories on ways to find and produce more Canadian crude oil and natural gas. Imperial does more research than all other oil companies in Canada combined.

Mayor C. D. Campbell of Morin Heights attended the convention of Mayors of the Province of Quebec, held aboard the S.S. Tadoussac last week.

Miss Linda Moss, of Montreal, spent the week-end here visiting with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. Moss.

Women's Institute

The Women's Institute of Morin Heights held its September meeting in the Protestant School last Thursday evening. The convener of Education, Mrs. Olive Dey, gave an interesting talk on that subject, explaining how educational standards have risen over the past years.

Mr. and Mrs. Hector Lonie returned home last week after a six-weeks vacation in California. While there they visited with their sons, Hector and Richard, and their families.

School News

Last Wednesday, the Morin Heights School opened its doors for another school year. So far approximately 330 pupils have been registered, with a Grade X of 20 pupils and a Grade XI of 15. There are two new teachers this year — Miss Eva Terauds, who will be concerned with the testing and remedial programs, and Mr. William White, a certificated teacher from Peterborough, Ont., who is the teacher of mathematics and science in the Junior High School grades.

We take this opportunity of wishing well to Heather Campbell, who has started training at the Montreal General Hospital; to Peter MacArthur, who has begun Grade XIII at Glebe Collegiate in Ottawa; to Stephan Paquet, who has returned for a second year at the University of Alberta. Morin Heights School is proud of those continuing to further their education, and is particularly gratified with the news of the J. W. McConnel Scholarship to McGill which has been awarded to Miss Judy Kirkpatrick.

East Ender, 92, lifelong resident of this district

Late John (Jack) McFarlane

One of Lachute's oldest citizens, in the person of Mr. John (Jack) McFarlane, passed quietly away after a short illness, at the home of a cousin, Mr. John Nicoll, East Ward, in his 93rd year. He had resided at the Nicoll home during the last few years of his life.

The late Jack McFarlane was the only remaining member of a family of six. Born in Upper Lachute, he farmed there until retiring to Lachute some 40 years ago with two sisters, Elizabeth (Betsy) and Annie, who predeceased him, also a sister, Mrs. Thos. McOuat (Jessie). A brother, William, and a sister, in infancy, predeceased him while on the farm.

Left to mourn his loss are his cousins Mr. John Nicoll, Mrs. Robert Canning (Jessie) and Mrs. Wm. Doig (Mary), as well as numerous friends who knew and esteemed him as a man of quiet and friendly ways, one who never complained.

The funeral was held from MacKimmie's chapel last Saturday, where service was conducted by the Rev. Jas. Armour, and the remains were laid to rest in Lachute Cemetery.

Pall-bearers were Messrs. Jas. Leishman, Ross Muir, William Boa and William Black.

Townsman leaves family of 15 and many relatives

The Late Jos. Lafortune

Following a long illness Joseph Lafortune, an old Lachute resident, died September 6 in the Beech Ridge vicinity where he had latterly made his home. He was 78 years of age and known to many residents as a long-time driver and employee of Ayers Limited.

Funeral rites were held Monday, from the Menard parlors to Ste. Anastasie Chuch and thence to the Catholic Cemetery.

Besides his wife, the former Blanche Paquette, he is mourned by five sons and 10 daughters. His sons are — Gaston, of Lachute, Claude, of Masson, Guy and Serge, both of Lachute, and Jean, of Grenville. Daughters — Mme Roger Pagé (Juliette), of Florida; Mme Paul Lefebvre (Simone), of Lachute; Fernande, of Lachute; Mme Marcel Cabana (Lucille), of Brownsburg; Mme J.-P. Cordeau (Germaine), of Ayersville; Marthe, of Lachute; Mme Eugène Hotte (Sylvaine), of Montreal; Mme Georges Raymond (Gertrude), of Lachute; Mme J.-Claude Cyr (Ruth), of St. Hermas; and Mme Walter Muniak (Marcelle), of Latham, N.Y.

There remain also 58 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren; his brother, Omer, of Lachute, and two sisters, Mme L. Paquin, of Lachute, and Mme A. Tessier, of St. Jean, Que.

Late Louis Lafleur, member of pioneer business family

Louis Lafleur, a member of one of Lachute's pioneer business families, died September 5 in Montreal, at the age of 81. The remains were brought to the Menard Funeral Home, for funeral rites Saturday morning at the church in his former parish, Ste. Anastasie; burial was in the family plot at Lachute Catholic Cemetery.

The late Louis Lafleur was one of a large family. He operated a hardware store in suburban Montreal before returning to his home town and entering the family business of O. B. Lafleur & Fils, furniture manufacturers, established by his father, Odile B. Lafleur. Soon after the death of his wife, he left this town and served for 15 years as receptionist at l'Institut Agricole at Oka, then retiring to a home for the aged in Montreal.

The deceased was married to Berthe Gravel of Montreal, who died in 1937. Their family comprised eight children, seven of whom still survive and were present for their father's funeral: the Rev. Father Louis Roger Lafleur, of the Oblate Order, at Ste. Agathe; Lionel, of St. Jean, Que.; Jean-Marie, of St. Jerome; the late Dr. Jules Lafleur, of this town; Marguerite, of St. Laurent; (Jeannine) Mme Paul Tetrault, also of St. Laurent; Rev. Sr. Marie-Fatima (Suzanne), of the St. Francois d'Assise order, Quebec; and (Pierrette) Mrs. E. R. Duncan, of Montral. There remain 27 grandchildren, also many nephews and nieces.

The funeral was attended by numerous fellow townsfolk and sympathizers.

Fellow member at Rotary tells of trip to Australia

Speaker for the evening at last week's Rotary meeting was Past-President Art Lapp, who gave a delightful and interesting talk of his jaunt last spring to the land "down under". This was a business trip to the Ammunition and Explosives Division of the Imperial Chemical Industries plant near Melbourne, but as it turned out, the traveller also managed to take two two-day stops at Honolulu, on the way down and on the way back. Color film which he showed, including some of the beach scenes at Honolulu, looked very inviting. Don Wilson thanked Art for his enjoyable talk and also expressed the Club's regret in hearing of his forthcoming move to Montreal. It is hoped that he will be back often to visit his fellow Rotarians.

At this meeting, Rotarian Ross Cole handed out cigars in celebration of the arrival of his baby boy on August 31. Ronald Cole tipped the scales at a healthy 6 lbs. 7 ozs., and happy Ross reported "both doing well".

UNIVERSITY EDUCATION PROGRAMME

A comprehensive, life-insured plan for financing a college education for boys and girls now in high school

If you are like most parents with children in high school, you are probably wondering how you are going to meet the costs of financing your youngster's college education. To help parents solve this problem, the Bank of Montreal has introduced its University Education Programme—the first life-insured plan of its kind in Canada.

Under this comprehensive programme, parents, guardians and sponsors of high-school students can spread the cost of a university education over periods of up to nine years, thus keeping monthly payments to amounts they can afford without hardship. And the cost to the parent is only a fraction of the interest paid on a straight loan programme.

HOW THE PROGRAMME WORKS

Under the basic plan, the parent agrees to make monthly payments to the Bank starting, say, two years before the student enters university, and terminating one year after graduation. In return, the parent receives an annual sum from the Bank at the start of each of the four university years.

VARIANTS OF THE PLAN

Several optional plans are available under the programme, and these vary as to the number of years in which the parent wishes to make monthly payments, as well as to the amount required annually for university expenses. Plans are based on objectives ranging from $1,000 to $8,000 payable to the parent in four annual instalments.

Here is an example of how one of the basic plans can be varied to suit your needs:

OBJECTIVE: $4,000
To be paid to the parent in four annual amounts of $1,000 each

OPTIONS	YOU PAY MONTHLY	PERIODS OF PAYMENT	YOUR PAYMENTS BEGIN
Plan A	$49.55	7 years	2 years before university
Plan B	42.78	8 years	3 years before university
Plan C	37.56	9 years	4 years before university

LIFE-INSURANCE FEATURE

If the parent concerned should die after the start of the programme, the funds for education specified in the agreement will be advanced by the Bank each year without any further payments being made by the family or the estate.

HOW TO JOIN THE PROGRAMME

See the people at your neighbourhood B of M branch. You will receive a warm welcome from a staff who will be pleased to give you further details and to help you select a plan suited to your needs. Ask for your copy of the Bank of Montreal University Education Programme folder.

P.S. If you need help in financing a student already in University — or planning to register this year — talk to your B of M Manager. Chances are he can arrange a tuition loan with extended payments adapted to your circumstances.

Talk in Museum Series —

'Old St. Andrews' is colorful lecture topic

An interesting speaker at the Carillon Museum last Saturday afternoon was Allen G. Talbot, of Brownsburg, who gave a talk on "Old St. Andrews" — animating the written records and recollections with colorful figures in the life and industry of the early village.

Mr. Talbot was introduced by Mr. A. F. Hanly, president of the Argenteuil Historical Society. It was a privilege, he stated, to have one of the Society's own members as speaker, in this third lecture of the summer series at Carillon. Mr. Talbot, incidentally, has been a director of the Society for many years.

Dealing first with the Seigniory of Argenteuil — its creation and transfer of ownerships — Mr. Talbot remarked that we were fortunate inasmuch as our forebears and forerunners had left the records of our territory. Jesuit manuscripts and records of the Hudson's Bay Company held references to the early settlement of this area. From the Dailleboust family in 1762 to the Johnsons (1814 onwards), and the Act of 1854 abolishing seigneurial rents, Mr. Talbot traced the ownership and subdivisions of Argenteuil.

The North River and the Rivière Rouge were arteries in the economy of the St. Andrews area. Along these waterways, and in adjacent country, Mr. Talbot identified early businessmen, craftsmen, traders and storekeepers, many of whom are still familiar among local names. The list is too lengthy to enumerate, but the growth of the village was punctuated with colorful additions — a paper mill (Canada's first such industry), a boat building yard, tanneries, hostelries, churches, the Wanless Academy, mills, stores, and a market square which harboured many community activities. The talk was illustrated with maps and diagrams.

Miss Letitia Wales thanked the speaker for his interesting discourse and the immense amount of research entailed.

$750 Objective for CNIB appeal in Brownsburg

The annual campaign for the Canadian National Institute for the Blind will be held in Brownsburg from September 24 to October 8.

Mrs. T. E. Zimmer, chairman of the appeal, is organizing a door-to-door blitz campaign on the evening of September 24, from 6.30 to 8 o'clock. A volunteer worker will be calling on you for your donation, one who is well acquainted to you, and has consented to work for the sightless and for those who require eye care, unable to meet medical expenses.

The objective for Brownsburg is $750, and the local committee is hoping to meet this amount, as the Institute is in desperate need of funds to carry on its work. An appeal is made to anyone overlooked during the campaign, to forward their donation either to Mrs. Zimmer, Brownsburg, or to the local office, 145 Drew Street, Lachute. By return mail, an official receipt will be sent. . . Please be as generous as you possibly can.

Minister inducted at B'burg United

Rev. Cecil S. Woods

The induction of the Rev. Cecil S. Woods, B.A., B.Sc., B.D., into the Brownsburg United Church charge was held Wednesday evening of last week, with the Rev. Norman Slaughter, of Montreal, presiding. He was assisted in the very impressive service by the Rev. R. DeWitt Scott and the Rev. Harold Kennedy. The sermon was delivered by the Rev. Wilson Bridge of Lachute, who took as his theme "The House that God Built"; his text was from Psalm 27:I.

The Rev. W. B. Rosborough, who had very ably filled the vacancy for several months, related the steps leading to the induction, after which the Rev. N. M. Slaughter formally inducted the Rev. Mr. Woods to his new charge.

After the service tea was served in the church hall by the ladies of the congregation, and an enjoyable social hour was spent.

Catholic League Sept. meeting

The Catholic Women's League held their monthly meeting on September 10, with Mrs. C. Lowe, the new president, welcoming the members.

The ladies were asked to assist in the making of cancer dressings, under the convenership of Mrs. D. Berniquer. A hat show is to be held in October, with Mrs. D. Berniquer as convener for refreshments and Mrs. Hebert convener for the sale of tickets.

All members and their families will join in a pilgrimage to the Lachute Shrine in October.

Guest speaker for the evening was Father Anatole Baillargeon, O.M.I., who gave an informative talk on the German Oblates.

The president thanked Father Baillergeon on behalf of the members.

Leaves for Assoc. Countrywomen Conference in Australia

Mrs. George McGibbon, 2nd vice-president of Q.W.I., left by CPA jet airliner on Wednesday morning of this week for Vancouver, where she met with 27 other ladies who will be attending the ACWW Conference (October 2-12) in Melbourne, Australia. Later today they left for Tokyo, Japan. This pre-conference tour will take them to many parts of Japan, Hong Kong, Bankok, and then on to Sydney and Melbourne. The return trip will be made via New Zealand, Honolulu and Seattle.

Although Mrs. McGibbon's trip is not financed by FWIC, she warmly appreciates the privilege of being appointed to carry a vote for Canada. . . . Friends extend best wishes to Mrs. McGibbon for a "bon voyage".

Pretty wedding held recently at Baptist Church

Clemens - Stansfield

The marriage of Patricia Ann Stansfield, of Lachute, to Mr. Leslie Marshall Clemens, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Clemens, of Manotick, Ont., took place recently in the Lachute Baptist Church.

The Rev. C. W. Sorley, officiating, was assisted by the Rev. J. McDowall of the Parkdale Baptist Church, Ottawa. Mrs. L. T. Butler, of London, Ont., was organist, and Mrs. Wm. Adkins, of Courtright, Ont., was the soloist. The church was decorated with standards of pink and white gladioli.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of off-white peau-de-soie, fashioned with a scalloped neckline, basque waist, and long sleeves ending in points over the hands. The bodice and bouffant skirt were appliquéd with Chantilly lace. Her shoulder-length veil of tulle illusion was held by a matching peau-de-soie rose, and she carried a cascade bouquet of white gardenias, stephanotis and ivy.

Mrs. James Walker, of Montreal, as matron of honor, Miss Sandra Stansfield, sister of the bride, Miss Audrey Morrison, and Mrs. William Stansfield, sister-in-law of the bride, as attendants, wore identical street-length dresses of peau-de-soie, the matron of honor in moss green, and the attendants alternately in willow and moss green. The dresses were fashioned with fitted bodices, three-quarter sleeves, and bell-shaped skirts. The headdresses were matching pillboxes of peau-de-soie and tulle illusion. They carried cascade bouquets of yellow and bronze mums.

The Rev. James E. Clemens, of Corruna, Ont., brother of the groom, was best man, and the ushers were Mr. Lloyd Webb, of London, Ont., Mr. William Adkins, of Courtright, Ont., and Mr. Reginald A. Stansfield, brother of the bride.

Mrs. Stansfield, mother of the bride, wore a street-length dress of blue crepe arnel, a blue hat of maribou feathers, and a corsage of white roses. Mrs. Clemens, mother of the groom, wore a street-length dress of beige brocade and matching accessories. Her corsage was of pink roses.

The reception was held in the Masonic Hall. The Rev. H. Butler spoke; Mrs. James Walker and Mr. William McDowall sang — "Jesus Rose of Sharron", "The Love of God", and "Day by Day".

Following the reception Mr. and Mrs. Clemens left on their wedding trip, the bride travelling in a turquoise Irish linen ensemble with beige accessories and an orchid corsage.

STORMY ORIGIN

The Ontario town of Brockville was once called Snarlingtown by outsiders, because of the bitter argument of villagers over whether it should have the name of Williamstown or Elizabethtown.

WHICH IS THE OLDEST CHURCH IN MONTREAL?

Notre Dame de Bonsecours, a small church facing the harbour beside the old open-air market. It was built in 1657, later destroyed by fire and rebuilt in 1771. Notre Dame Church, nearby, is one of the largest churches in North America. It has one great bell that is rung only on very special occasions.

Prescott-Argent'l scholarship winner announced

The Hawkesbury Section of the Chemical Institute of Canada announces that the Prescott-Argenteuil Industrial Scholarship for 1962 has been awarded to Miss Barbara Kronberg, of Vankleek Hill. Miss Kronberg attended Vankleek Hill Collegiate, and will begin studies in Chemistry at Queen's University in Kingston.

The Prescott and Argenteuil Industrial Scholarship, which has a value of $500, was offered in order to promote interest in the science of chemistry among students in secondary schools, and to assist a student of outstanding ability to continue his or her education at a university. The scholarship was made possible by contribution from the following industries:

Canadian Refractories Limited, Kilmar;

Canadian Safety Fuse Company Limited, Brownsburg;

Industrial Cellulose Research Limited, Hawkesbury;

J. C. Wilson Limited, Lachute;

Norda Limited, Vankleek Hill.

Formal presentation of the award will be made to Miss Kronberg at the September 13 meeting of Hawkesbury group of the Chemical Institute, at the Abenaki Golf and Country Club.

This car will go 100 miles for a dollar.

On the highway, at highway speeds, the Volkswagen 1200 delivers around forty miles to a gallon of gas. (The average for city and country is 38 mpg.)

If you live where gas is forty cents a gallon, your full expense isn't hard to figure out. A penny a mile.

But then there's the oil.

(A Volkswagen never needs oil between changes.)

And the cooling system.

(A Volkswagen is cooled with air instead of water. There's nothing to rust, leak, or replace. And no anti-freeze to buy.)

Operating a car means money for upkeep.

(A VW needs less maintenance and fewer repairs than any car in its class. Our factory employs 5,000 full-time inspectors who see to it that every Volkswagen is built to last.)

And money for things like dented fenders?

(The Volkswagen is a sensible car. You don't have to replace half the body for the sake of a new fender. A few bolts, a few minutes, and the job is done.)

Visit your VW dealer soon and see the Volkswagen. And don't be afraid to give it a good test run.

It only costs us a penny a mile.

Take the RUN out of RUNNING your home

Like most busy folks in Lachute, you've probably found that running a home today keeps you on the run (pardon our pun), and nowhere is this more evident than in the kitchen — the busiest room in the house. No one likes to leave a crucial cooking job to answer the phone, unless, of course, the phone is right there in the kitchen. With a handy colorful extension you can make and take calls while you watch the youngsters underfoot and that "labor of love" simmering on the back burner. The bedroom too is an ideal spot for a handy extension. It will save you a lot of running to the phone downstairs and provide a feeling of security at night, specially if you are ever alone. Call us today at ZE 60000 and ask about extension telephones in color. We'll be glad to talk it over with you.

Keep In Touch

September is schooltime, and a lot of young people will be leaving home for college or boarding school. Here's one good way to keep in touch with them — by telephone. Lots of folks set a regular time for calling and keeping up on the news. And more often than not this time is on Sunday or after 6.00 p.m. when station-to-station rates are lower. Remember too that after 9 p.m. any evening you get double value on station-to-station long distance calls of 10 minutes or more within Ontario and Quebec under our Night Economy Plan. So be sure to call often. The pleasure is big and the cost is small — a lot smaller than you think — when you keep in touch by telephone.

Watch Our Children

The streets of our town are filled again with youngsters on their way back to school. Many of them are very young and still not fully aware of the dangers of passing automobiles. May we remind everyone to exercise extra caution while driving near schools or wherever young school children may be walking. Let us remember that children do not always think before they move and can generally be expected to do the unexpected.

Mr. and Mrs. J. McCauley have taken up residence in St. Adele, Que., where Mr. McCauley is to teach school.

The Rev. Mr. Bussell and Mr. Alec Lawson have completed their vacations and have now resumed their church duties.

During the morning service at the Arundel United Church, Mr. Lawson dedicated a beautiful Bible in memory of Mr. and Mrs. William Swail. This was presented by Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Swail and family.

Sunday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Swail were Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Swail and family, of Ste. Agathe, Mr. and Mrs. H. Dixon, of Dalesville, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Swail, of Lachute, and Mr. and Mrs. Dennis and family, St. Philippe.

Golf Club Championships

Arundel Golf Club has a spanking new set of club champions (reported in last Friday's Montreal Star).

The titlists were decided after a month-long series of match play tussles.

Morris Rathwell emerged with the big prize — top ranking in the Class A division for men. He ousted Murray O'Shaughnessy in the finals. The Class B title went to Al Gilfillan over Tom Owen, while Class C honors were taken by Ross Bowie, who defeated Hugh McIntyre.

A pair of cousins battled it out for the junior title, with Terry Washer emerging victorious over Gary Washer.

In ladies' play, Shirley Flanagan defeated Ann Forebell for the Class A crown, while Jean Heffernan was the Class B winner over Nora Pope.

EDITORIAL NOTES...

"In this Parliament are three Estates, the Lords Spiritual, the Lords Temporal and the Commons, but in the Reporters' Gallery yonder sits a Fourth Estate more important far than all."
— Edmund Burke

Sunday School papers?

IT'S TIME the RCMP wakened to the facts of life in respect to press relations," says an editorial in the current issue of our trade organ, The Weekly Editor. The complaint, curtly speaking, is that police business is public business — that the RCMP is working for the people — that one of the strongest weapons against anti-social behaviour is PUBLICITY. But the RCMP, it seems, is as tight as a clam where the press is concerned.

The argument is not ours, however, for in most police matters affecting this community and this province, the municipal force and the QPP have jurisdiction; and in news matters, we of The Watchman receive good co-operation from both.

Police news is hot news, which is liable to land any publication in hot water; yet it is an obligation to the newspaper's readership that such news be published. There are, however, a few chronic critics who rate The Watchman as a "Sunday School paper." (For these we entertain one ardent desire, namely, that they might be privileged to run a newspaper for themselves, and see how long they last!)

The same trade journal, in its pre-convention issue, has views which might well be passed along for special attention of these critics. Harry T. Boyle, in his regular column "The Boyling Point", makes reference to the Big Brassière, and pulls no punches on this tender subject. We quote his sentiments only in brief (and with such modifications as befit a Sunday School paper):

"The big brassière was worn by one of the pigeon-chests of the publishing world — the Vancouver Sun. A Saturday edition of the peach-colored paper had for its top story: '$3,000 in Bra of Dead Woman'.

"The story was not about Lily St. Cyr or some bearable form of human life. It was about a 62-year-old woman who had died. Down at the morgue they found three thousand dollars stashed in her bra.

"Hot stuff, said The Sun, headlining it, and for illustration here was this hairy arm holding up the actual, REAL brassiere with actual, REAL money in it. I guess this showed how on the ball The Sun is, but if anybody happened to ask me, I would have said it showed they were out of their minds.

"Now what is the point in this kind of sensation? Old ladies in plain or padded bras should be left to die in peace. I mean this old lady just died of natural means, no murder, no lovers' pact, no nothing that justified her brassiere being shown on the front page of any paper unless it was Flesh or something which seems to go in heavier for that kind of thing than I would have thought The Sun did. However, it might be better, at that, to be caught dead with the three thousand clams in the old brassiere than it would to be caught in print with this kind of trash on the front page.

"If there's a point in this, it's that the search for a headline may be important on the newsstands, but it should not supersede common decency or common sense . . . In the old weekly we have some pretty dumb stuff from time to time, but I get the feeling there's a limit beyond which the least of us don't go. . . What we've got, or should have, the dailies should be striving for — a sense of balance."

A look at population

THE MOST RECENT official estimate of Canada's population provides confirmation of a continuing decline in the rate of increase. The population has grown by over 250,000 persons during the past year, but the total of 18½ million as of April indicates a growth rate of less than two per cent, the lowest such since 1946 — says an editorial in The Winchester Press.

This far-from-good news is attributable to a slowdown in the rate of natural increase (fewer new births per 1,000 of population), a pronounced falling-off in the number of new immigrants, and a simultaneous rise in the number of Canadian residents leaving this country for the U.S. and elsewhere.

The slowdown in our (still relatively high) birthrate may reverse itself in the not-too-distant future as the wartime babies reach marriageable age in growing numbers. There is less cause for optimism so far as new arrivals and departures are concerned, however.

Last year's total of 71,689 new immigrants was the lowest in more than a decade, but all the signs point to it being even lower this year. At the same time, we are suffering an outflow of between 40,000 and 50,000 persons each year, a high proportion of them possessing skills and qualifications badly needed in this country.

The Economic and Research Branch of the federal Department of Labor, in a recent comment on the severe loss of Canadian talent and ability represented by this outward movement, noted further, and all too truly: "The loss of a Canadian professional is not necessarily offset by the gain of a qualified professional from Europe or elsewhere, since we are losing a worker who is acclimatized to this country and who is familiar with Canadian industrial technique and ways of doing things."

Canada with easily the smallest population of the leading seven industrial nations of the world, is in no position to lose her best qualified people. But in the event that the substantial cuts in U.S. personal income tax rates currently mooted do in fact come off, we are likely to find ourselves harder put than ever to hold down the numbers who may want to go south.

As with so much else, the answer to this particular problem lies, in part at least, in allowing the individual to retain an increasing, rather than a decreasing proportion of his or her earnings. One thing is sure: we cannot allow income tax rates in this country to get much out of line with those prevailing in the U.S. without inviting the most serious consequences.

Viewpoints and perspectives

ART OF HOEING. — A good man with a hoe likes to stop from time to time, lean on the handle and look at the sky, listen to the birds, and survey the countryside. Hoeing is work; no one denies it. But if one wishes, he can harvest something that is not counted with the vanquished weeds.
— Campbellton (N.B.) Tribune

NOT LONG AGO, boasts about the progress being made by communist China and communist Russia were frequent. Mr. Khrushchev was confident that his system was going to bury the West within a few years and Mao Tse Tung was equally enthusiastic about the giant strides his country was taking into the modern era.

Now reports seeping through the chinks in the Iron and Bamboo Curtains suggest that the boasts of progress were founded on a serious fallacy. Both leaders believed that they could direct their countries' destinies in the way they desired without taking account of the people they ruled; but a government that cannot manage to see that its people are adequately fed, while it is spending millions on non-essentials, is not one to evoke admiration even from other communist states.
— The Printed Word

NEW FACE FOR MUSEUMS. — North American museums are putting on a new face, says The Financial Post. This trend was evident during discussions at the Halifax convention of the Canadian Museums Association.

Time was when a museum was looked on as a repository for old bones and pottery held together with cobwebs — but not any more. Many people regarded them as a place where fuddy-duddies concealed themselves behind ponderous tomes in libraries that rarely saw the light of day. This isn't true now. Today North American museums are increasing and modernizing at a rate undreamed of even 30 years ago. The greatest strides are being taken with the historical museum, especially at the local level. The small natural history museum is slowly disappearing, although larger science museums are expanding both in size and quality.

Over the Years

— with —

THE LACHUTE WATCHMAN

75 YEARS AGO

Friday, Sept 23, 1887 —

Mr. Wm. Owen, M.P.P., has left for a trip through Manitoba and the Northwest.

Death — Sept. 19, 1887, at Brook Farm, Chatham, Ivory Fuller, in his 83rd year.

Last Monday a fire originated on the property of Mr. J. White in Upper Lachute and swept across the farms of Mr. Doig and Mr. W. Hills, burning fences and stubble.

Arundel — Messrs. W. G. and A. D. Stewart have left to attend McGill Medical College.

50 YEARS AGO

Friday, Sept. 27, 1912 —

The young son of Alex Larocque, Lachute Mills, fell under a C.P.R. freight train, the cars mutilating his foot so badly that Dr. Mason found it necessary to amputate the limb below the knee.

Mr. J. T. Robbins, of Brownsburg, has been appointed lay-reader and catechist by the Bishop of Montreal.

Mr. Wm. Murray has left for a few weeks' visit with friends in Nevada and California.

45 YEARS AGO

Sept., 1917 —

Montreal — Popular conceptions of heroes were shattered at the Bonaventure station by an abashed, ruddy-complexioned young man in the early twenties. The cynosure of all eyes — Major W. A. (Billy) Bishop, who is the only man in the world with such top-heavy affixes to his name as V.C., M.C. and D.S.O. with two bars — was without doubt the most uncomfortable man in the vast throng awaiting the departure of the International Limited for Toronto. . . (Editor's Note 20 years later — This is the same man who is now Air Vice-Marshal W. A. Bishop, V.C., who does quite a bit of flying over St. Andrews East, trying to knock down the chimney-pots from Mr. Irwin's country home.)

25 YEARS AGO

Thursday, Sept. 16, 1937 —

Three Montreal pipefitters, employed by R. McArthur & Son on local building projects, crashed into a tree east of Belle Rivière, while driving from the city. One man was killed and two injured.

Friends have entertained for Miss Janet McOuat, who is leaving to attend the Fanny Farmer Cooking School in Boston.

Ted Hammond, Lachute Mills, in a conversation with Rhode Island over his radio transmitter, by coincidence contacted a former resident of Lachute.

Serious injuries were sustained by Edwin Pridham, of Grenville, in an airplane accident near Rimouski.

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Iddon returned from a week's holiday in New York City.

Death — Sept. 15, 1937, at Lakefield, Thomas Hodge, 92 years of age.

The Hundred Club held its Ladies' Night at Macdonald Lake House, with the president, George Héon, in the chair. Dick Sancton was pianist for the dancing.

THE BANK OF NOVA SCOTIA

An opinion on circumstances of recent B'burg fire

TO THE EDITOR

St. Andrews East, Que.
27 August, 1962

Editor, The Watchman
Dear Sir:

It was interesting to see that you used quotation marks in the heading of the item covering the inquest into the tragic death of Russell McLean in the police cells at Brownsburg. It proves to all that even The Watchman must be concerned over the "Accidental" verdict.

To the writer, it is just one more case of a police department getting out from under a serious situation by lame excuses and showing up gross negligence.

Three important questions remain to be answered:

1. Why did it take two policemen (Sgt. Lepine and Const. Vary) to go for one other officer to guard the prisoner when one of them could have stayed behind?

2. Why did they not summon one of the two policemen (so-called) who are acting as parking lot attendants at the Flamingo and Hotel de Quatre Chemains? Incidentally, is this not against some municipal ordnance?

3. With all the evidence produced at the inquiry, how could the jury not make any type of recommendations? If not the jury, surely the coroner could see that both negligence and incompetence was apparent and that drastic steps be recommended and initiated in order that no other citizen be subjected to such a situation again.

So, Mr. Editor, why not really try something in the way of a clean-up campaign and not let the usual "laisser faire" rule.

Yours truly,
(Signed) G. M. Pride

Of Many Things

— By Ambrose Hills —

ENVY

When my twin daughters and I went walking near our country cottage in Manitoba, we came across a little farmstead in a remote part of the bushland. At the rail fence a small girl, about eight I would guess, watched wide-eyed as we approached.

"Hi," shouted the twins, using the magic greeting of ten year olds to melt the ice.

The little girl, who obviously needed a handkerchief, had a shy and breathless "Hi" to give them in return.

"Do you live here?" Franny asked.

The little girl nodded.

"All year round?" asked Martha.

Again the silent nod. Then, with a burst of animated pride, "We got pigs — and chickens. I own a chicken of my own."

They were off, then, the three of them, poking among the pigs and chickens, giggling, enjoying every treasure in the ramshackle farmyard. The father came out and chatted with me. He was young, rather poorly dressed, and he grinned widely at the antics of my twins and his daughter.

In a moment of quiet, he looked about his disordered yard and the rickety, banked-up house. Then he looked me in the eye. "We've only been here three months. We'll put it in good shape in time. It's not — well, I've got no education, but I can make a living here and be independent."

I nodded.

"I sure like being independent," he said.

On our long trek back to our cottage the twins were quiet, for them. Then Martha said, "Gosh, — she's lucky. We get only two months, but she's here all year round!" They went on in that vein all the way home, envy in every phrase.

I didn't reprimand them. I felt a little bit the same way. I sure like independence, too!

Canadian money will build a new wax museum under the palms of Florida.

The company that operates a wax museum in Victoria, B.C. (now packing in 2,700 people a day at $1.10 each) and another waxworks in Phoenix, Arizona (125,000 people a season) has let out a 20-year franchise to a group of Toronto men to run a museum at St. Petersburg, Florida.

Head man of the Toronto group is financier Alex. Rigby. John Steele, the former Prince Rupert, B.C., school teacher who launched the current North American boom in waxworks, will go to St. Petersburg in September to help organize the new show.

He hatched the idea of a museum of historical and contemporary figures, and enlisted the financial aid of William Enman, former Calgary and Lethbridge building and supply dealer, who in turn brought in Arthur Batty, Lethbridge contractor.

Now the Enman-Batty firm is going to open a string of museums across North America.

They have an exclusive franchise from Josephine Tussaud Ltd., of London (no connection of Madame Tussaud's).

Competition? They're not a bit afraid of it. Good wax figures are hard to make. The Josephine Tussaud Company knows the secrets.

What is the reason for this boom in museums? Millions of people now have time and money on their hands — money to travel on vacations, time to stand and stare.

For many people, a wax museum helps bring history to life, in a way the printed page, and even the motion picture screen, can never do.

The wax museum is only one branch of a larger industry — the recreation industry, which is in for a period of spectacular growth.

Take a look at the shy couple with a suitcase, walking out hesitantly from the airline terminal, the car crawling along in search of a motel, the shirt-sleeved youths lounging on the street corner.

There are millions of people like these, all over the country — looking for somewhere to go and something to do.

As automation goes further, as machines throw more and more people out of work, and as working hours shorten, finding something to do will become a major problem — especially for those who are short of imagination.

One day, governments may have to go into the recreation business on a large scale. They may have to spend money to persuade people to play, for the sake of keeping up the nation's health.

But there will always be a place for private promoters, like Mr. Enman and Mr. Batty. And there will always be money to be made by those who choose the right time and place, and the right medium.

Eskimo Scouts liked the heat

Montreal (CP) — Two Eskimo Boy Scouts visiting Montreal this summer were most impressed by the heat. With the temperatures ranging up to 90 degrees here, the boys said that winters in the north are "too cold and too long".

Their host, David Hanchet of the Boy Scout group committee, thought at first he would have a problem finding a cool place for the boys to sleep during the sultry summer nights. But the visitors stretched out in sleeping bags on the floor and reported: "We were nice and warm. We love the heat."

The Eskimo lads, Robbie Dick, 13, and Paul Angatookalook, 15, from Great Whale River, 1,000 miles north of Montreal, were guests of the Dunrae Mohawk Boy Scout troop. They had exchanged gifts with the Montreal troop last fall, becoming "cousins" of the Montreal Scouts in the Boy Scout tradition.

On arrival, they gave the Montreal troop sealskin Scout neckerchief clasps and received Montreal spider emblems in return.

California Raisin Crumb Cake All Time Favorite

This moist, rich cake is laden with the taste surprising flavor of California raisins. It's a grand dessert for all occasions—afternoon tea, dessert parties or a snack after school.

Homemakers enjoy making crumb cakes because they can be stirred up quickly and are good keepers. The buttery baked on topping eliminates the need for icing.

Raisin Crumb Cake

2 cups brown sugar (packed)
2¼ cups sifted flour
¾ teaspoon salt
½ cup shortening (part butter)
¾ cup California raisins
½ cup chopped walnuts
1 teaspoon soda
1 cup buttermilk
1 beaten egg
1 teaspoon vanilla

Stir together sugar, flour and salt. Cut in shortening until crumbly. Take out ¾ cup of this mixture and set aside for topping. To remainder add raisins and walnuts. Stir soda into buttermilk, add egg and vanilla, and stir into flour mixture, just until blended. Pour into greased 9-inch square pan; sprinkle reserved crumbs over top. Bake in moderately slow oven (325 degrees F.) 50 to 60 minutes. Makes 1 (9-inch) cake.

For Parents Only . . .

A Weekly Feature of Helpful Hints on Child Training.

(Copyright)

— By NANCY CLEAVER —

The adjustment from a small family group to a large school group is, of course most perplexing for the little child just starting school. It is a great help to the new scholar if he knows another friend who is also beginning school life. Then he can search for a familiar face among all the strange ones.

The qualities which school children rate high are not necessarily those which parents place at the top of the list. Physical prowess is greatly admired by youngsters. The aggressive, able lad with leadership ability, may use language which mother says is "not nice" but Junior certainly can see that he is "tops" with the other fellows. The hand-smocked dainty which mother made with such loving care may be so different from the sturdy wash-frocks of the other girls, that small May is miserable. A child does not want to be too different from the others!

It is not just the child starting to school for the first time who finds it no easy matter to get used to school. A great host of children every September know from bitter experience that the adjustment from vacation to school is demanding.

The change from carefree vacation days to the school schedule is an abrupt one. The adjustment is not easy for most children. The routine at home is usually fairly flexible. A child is free to ask his mother the question which comes into his mind. If he defends his seemingly "naughty" action, mother listens to his explanation before passing judgment. Many children enjoy participating in family discussion on different topics.

But the teacher has a large group in her care. She has a certain amount of work she must cover. It is impossible for each child to talk whenever he feels like it. Although "Quiet please!" may anger Junior, it is a necessary rule.

Promptness is a major virtue at school. Being late in the morning starts the whole day off wrong for the child and his tardiness is often not his fault. Mother must see that clothes and books are laid out neatly the night before in readiness for the morning scramble.

Children should be awakened regularly at an early enough hour so they can go to the toilet, wash, dress and eat without too much rush. A nutritious breakfast with fruit, cereal, milk, bread or toast with jam or honey gives a student energy to go on for the whole morning. The "On Time" regulation at school is part of the necessary preparation for the participation in classroom learning.

Parents can help by using extra stores of patience and imagination the first week in September. The child's behaviour at home often reflects a situation that he can't quite cope with at school. The small boy who yells at little sister and bosses her around may have been afraid to assert himself in the school playground. He wants to prove to himself that he is a "Big Guy!"

At bedtime, if mother watches, a child will often reveal by a chance remark what is troubling him. It is such a relief to be able to talk things over! Mother's attitude to school life and to the teacher will color the child's thinking. The teacher needs and deserves the parent's support in the first weeks of the new term and throughout the whole year.

Meal-in-packet barbecue treat

The Consumer Section suggests this Meal-In-A-Packet as a popular barbecue treat for that end-of-summer cookout. If it rains, you can take it indoors and cook it in the oven!

To make the individual packet, tear heavy duty aluminum foil into 18" x 12" piece. It will also serve as a plate after cooking.

For each serving, place a chicken piece (quarter, breast or leg) skin-side down on the foil, then sprinkle with salt, pepper, paprika and mustard. Place vegetables on top of chicken.

1 Slice tomato, 1 sliced peeled potato, 1 sliced onion, 2 whole mushrooms, 2 green pepper rings, 1 to 2 tablespoons tomato juice.

Then fold the foil in half over the chicken and vegetables, and fold each of the open sides several times toward the food.

For outdoor cooking. — Place packets on grill, 3 to 4 inches from the fire, until food is tender, about 1 to 1½ hours. Turn packets every 15 minutes. If barbecue has a hood, rotate the grill once or twice during cooking.

For indoor cooking. — Bake in a 400° F. oven for about 1 hour. Open packet and place under broiler until nicely browned, an additional 5 minutes.

Corn at the Barbecue

Corn-on-the-cob is a natural for barbecue cookery. It can be cooked in aluminum foil right on the coals.

Husk it first, of course, and place each cob in a large rectangle of foil and spread with butter, salt and pepper. Wrap the corn tightly in the foil, twisting the ends to seal. Roast over hot coals 15 to 20 minutes, turning several times. When the corn is tender, cut open the foil and use it as a plate or holder.

Tips on Touring

By Carol Lane
Women's Travel Authority

A motorist who has the best driving record is usually the one who's prepared for the worst. If an emergency does arise, he knows just what to do to prevent an accident.

Here are three tips to help you meet driving emergencies.

1. Your car is forced off the road onto a soft shoulder. Your first reaction might be to accelerate, swing back sharply to get up on the road again. Don't! You might zoom right across the highway into oncoming traffic. Or you might be hit by a car coming from behind. Instead, slow down, check your rear and side view mirrors, and ease gently back onto the highway.

2. Your gas pedal jams. . . . Turn off your ignition. Apply the hand and foot brakes simultaneously — gently but with steady pressure. If you start to skid, turn the wheel in the direction you're skidding.

3. Your brakes get wet in a sudden summer downpour and won't hold. Easy. Dry them by keeping your left foot gently on the brake pedal while you're driving. In a very short time, friction will dry the brakes. Test them easily before going back to regular driving.

Be prepared for any emergency. Remember, your car has built-in safety: YOU.

Salmon Salad Mold

A gleaming molded salad, attractively presented, puts a gleam in the beholder's eye. And Salmon Shimmer Slimmer conclusively proves the point. Flaked salmon and crunchy vegetables are encased in glimmering lime jelly, accented with lemon and dill weed to effectively set off the salmon flavor.

A fish-shaped mold will enhance the appearance of this salad that's kind to calorie counters. However, any four-cup container suitable for unmolding will do. And if you have side salads, or individual service in mind, use custard cups.

In addition to the recipe for this summer treat, we offer a few handy hints for those who have not always met with success when turning out jelly molds. It's an easy matter, with no special complications, as long as you follow a few simple steps.

Salmon Shimmer Slimmer

½ Teaspoon dill weed, ½ teaspoon finely grated lemon rind, 1 cup boiling water, 1 three-ounce package lime jelly powder, 1 cup less 2 tablespoons cold water, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 cup canned salmon (1 half-pound can) drained and flaked, ¼ cup finely minced green pepper, ¼ cup finely chopped celery, ¼ cup chopped cucumber (well-drained), slices of hard-cooked egg or stuffed olives, thin strips of green pepper.

Add dill weed and lemon rind to boiling water. Pour over jelly powder; stir until dissolved. Stir in cold water, lemon juice and salt. Lightly brush salad oil over inside surface of a 4-cup fish-shaped mold. (A ring-shape or other 4-cup mold as well as individual molds such as custard cups may be used.) Pour in just enough of the jelly mixture to make a thin layer on bottom of mold. Chill until slightly thickened. (This will take only a few minutes if mold is placed in freezer.) Then in jelly in bottom of mold, arrange green pepper strips to outline fish fins and tail and egg or olive slices for eyes. For other molds, make an attractive design in bottom with sliced eggs and olives. Return to refrigerator until this layer is firm.

Meanwhile, chill remaining jelly mixture until thickened — about the consistency of egg white. Blend in flaked salmon, minced green pepper, celery and chopped drained cucumber. Pour over set layer. Refrigerate until firm. Unmold onto serving dish. Garnish with greens and wedges of lemon or lime. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Unmolding Hints: To unmold any type of jelly, first loosen edges of jelly from mold with sharp knife. Then dip mold or pan into hot water for a few seconds. Remove quickly; immediately invert serving dish over mold. Hold dish and mold together firmly; quickly invert so that mold lies on platter and then lift off mold. Then, if desired, garnish or trim as recipe indicates.

Teatime Topics

Specially Written for The Lachute Watchman

By Patricia Rusak, Canadian Press Staff Writer

Toronto (CP) — An air of nostalgia rather than the usual astonishment at the most modern of marvels surrounds one display at the current Canadian National Exhibition.

In the midst of the crowds and noise, the ragtime strains from a player piano manufacturers' booth unfailingly arouse memories of days gone by.

But this player-piano is not the beat-up type found in some basement recreation rooms and summer cottages. This 64-note "pianola" has been manufactured only in the last few years.

And the new player pianos are not only equipped with honky-tonk sound effects, but rolls of all the latest hit tunes are available.

The shining keys, dancing on their own, are a source of fascination, especially for younger visitors to the CNE. They aren't old enough to remember the "good old days."

Family Fun

The Better Living Centre is a fun centre for the whole family.

At the Bell Telephone's display, three, four, and sometimes as many as five members of a family listen in on the 30 telephones through which the latest communication developments are explained.

Main reason for their interest, however, is that they might win a free demonstration call and be able to chat briefly with friends or relatives in any other point in Canada or the United States.

The chance of winning a free call is one in thirty. There is also one catch — the winner must know the telephone number of the person he is calling.

Back to Caves

In the Ontario Hydro display the story of lighting and heating from the time of the cavemen to the present is depicted.

Five life-size replicas — a cave kitchen, a Roman kitchen, and typical kitchens in 1840, 1914, and 1940 — illustrate the cooking, lighting and heating facilities available for use by a representative family.

Today's conveniences are shown in an elegantly furnished and electrically heated modern home, which not only has an intercom system, but an electric toothbrush.

"Imagine having something like this to play with" is the most frequently heard comment at the Ontario Hydro's miniature of the electric cycle, right from the clouds that produce the rain to the power operating electric transit vehicles.

Children also gaze longingly at the 19th century toys displayed in the Better Living Centre by the Metropolitan Toronto and Region Conservation Authority.

These include miniature fire engines, carriages and buggies, steamships, canoes, ancient trains, delicate china dolls and old fashioned baby carriages.

Poultry cook-out

Poultry seems to be gaining in popularity as a "cook-out" meat and whether you are feeding two or twenty it is easy to prepare, mouth-watering to watch, and delicious to eat.

It does take longer to barbecue poultry than steak or chops, but it is worth waiting for. Chicken or turkey halves or quarters should be brushed with barbecue sauce each time they are turned on the grill, to produce moist flavorful meat.

There is a simple basic sauce the Poultry Products Institute recommends. It is made by heating together 1 cup vinegar, ½ cup of butter, ½ cup water and 1 teaspoon salt. Additional seasonings such as garlic, or other herbs or spices may be added as desired. A liberal sprinkling of paprika on the skin of the poultry helps produce a luscious golden brown color.

Meat most costly item on fare

In these days of rising food costs, we pay more for our meat than for any other item on our grocery list. And it is an important item, too, for meat is a valuable source of the protein, B vitamins and minerals necessary for good health.

In order to get the most for her money, the consumer should learn as much as she can about meat. She should learn to recognize good quality meat and know how to cook to advantage the cuts she buys.

Beef is the one meat which is sold by graded quality in retail stores. Before a carcass of beef is graded it must be health inspected to ensure that the meat is wholesome and fit to eat. Once it has passed this inspection it is stamped with the federal government "Canada Approved" stamp in several places, usually on each wholesale section. The grade of the beef is indicated on the retail cuts by a ribbon-like mark which carries the official name of the grade, in the color designated for the grade.

This and other valuable information is contained in the 80-page Meat Book — publication 971 — by the Consumer Section at Ottawa. The booklet is available at 50 cents a copy from the Queen's Printer, Ottawa. The booklet contains many favorite meat recipes and explains how to cook many of the common retail cuts. It also has meat charts and pictures to show you how to recognize the cuts.

Contest for 'Queen of Mont'l Fashion'

Montreal — A new kind of nation-wide fashion contest has been launched by the Montreal Dress & Sportswear Manufacturers' Guild. The search for the "Queen of Montreal Fashion", conducted in co-operation with retailers, is for "the Canadian woman whose style sense, taste and flair, best represents the ideal customer of the fashion centre of Canada, Montreal".

The winner will receive an all-expense TCA jet-flight to Paris for two, and a Montreal fashion wardrobe. She will not be judged on beauty, but strictly on her ability to choose and wear good fashion in any price range.

The contest is open to any Canadian woman over 18, who is not a professional model. Applicants must submit photographs of themselves shown full-length wearing a new fall fashion. The finalists will be judged in person at the Guild's annual convention in Montreal, October 26. Entries will close October 1.

Application forms have been supplied to fashion stores across Canada and many are expected to sponsor applicants from among their customers and sales clerks. Applications are also invited from women's organizations and business firms.

Brit. Dairy Queen arrives for tour

Montreal — A rosy-cheeked, 18 year-old English girl, Heather Bomford, who recently was named National Dairy Queen of England and Wales, arrived in Montreal last week on the start of a trans-Canada tour sponsored by the Dairy Farmers of Canada.

Heather, of Sale Green Farm in Worcestershire, won the crown in competition with 6,000 other girls.

The British Dairy Queen and her entourage were met at Montreal Airport by John Dickson, President of Dairy Farmers of Canada, and Mrs. Dickson, and by officials of the Provincial Department of Agriculture. Her stop-over was brief, as she left a few hours later by plane for Ottawa.

Heather said that she works on her father's farm, mainly tending the hens and turkeys. In addition, she occasionally milks the 40 Friesian cows on the farm, and helps with the 160 ewes.

She is a member of the Young Farmers' Club of her district, and is a keen supporter of all outdoor activities, including riding, hockey, tennis and swimming.

She will spend several days in Ontario, Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia as guest of the dairy industry in those provinces.

GREATER DEMAND

Demand for university graduates is more certain in Canada, now than it was 20 or 30 years ago. Then it was common for large numbers of every graduating class to seek work in the U.S. because of the lack of suitable openings in their own country.

Blood donor clinic dates — September 24-25

The Canadian Red Cross Society undertakes the provision of a continual flow of blood and plasma free of charge to more than 180 hospitals throughout the Province of Quebec for use by patients in need of blood transfusions.

For this purpose, the Red Cross Blood Bank must supply a weekly demand of 4,500 pints of blood in this Province. Volunteer donors are needed to keep this Blood Bank alive and functioning by means of their donations. In this way valuable lives are saved.

The discovery that human blood could be transfused to other humans constitutes one of the most wonderful acquisitions, doing much to bring about progress in surgery and the swift advance now evident in modern medicine.

Points You Should Know About Blood

Any normal adult of medium weight has some 12 to 13 pints of blood, so that doctors estimate men can give blood every three months, and women every four months. Persons who have had jaundice cannot give blood and those who have had malaria within the last 12 months may not give blood. About 380 c.c. is taken and each donor receives an identity card showing his blood group and the number of times he has given blood.

There are four main types of blood: A, B, AB, and O. The donor's blood must be the same as that of the receiver. However, in certain cases the O group — called universal — can be given to the others.

Every donor is first given a haemoglobin test, to determine if he is in good physical condition. Anyone between the ages of 18 and 65 in average health may contribute to the Blood Bank. Doctor's certificates are only necessary in cases of high blood pressure. There is no discomfort experienced in the giving of blood; however, it is important to have eaten before giving blood.

Enlightened physicians everywhere today use blood to abate human suffering, so invest now in the Red Cross Blood Bank.

A mobile unit will visit this town September 24-25. The clinic will be held at the Auditorium, from 2 to 5.30 p.m. and from 7 to 9.30 p.m. each day.

FOR PLEASURE ONLY. Once picturesque schooners like the one above were used extensively in Newfoundland in fishing fleets. Now the Jack Boats, as they are called, are being replaced by more efficient draggers, and they are facing extinction. Fortunately, Canadian sailing enthusiasts are coming to their rescue, buying the Jack Boats to convert into yachts.

Extra pollination by bees in hives

Honeybees may be better pollinators of orchard trees than they have been given credit for.

In comparison with wild bees, which flit from tree to tree, honeybees are hard workers and tend to go back and forth from the hive to one tree.

This suggests that they are not efficient cross pollinators. But work in the Nova Scotia and Canada departments of agriculture indicates that honeybees may transfer pollen to other bees in the hive and may therefore be more efficient pollinators than was previously thought.

For a test, apple trees were covered with tents. Hives were provided with two entrances, one leading to a tented tree and the other to untented trees. To get from one tree to another they had to go through the hive. Thus a crop of apples on a tented tree would indicate that the pollen had been taken through the beehive. This is just what happened; excellent crops of Red Delicious apples were harvested from the tented trees.

Dr. A. D. Crowe of the Research Station, Kentville, N.S., points out that this does not prove that pollen was transferred within the hive as bees could have come in from outside, gone through the hive and then worked the tented tree.

But, as E. A. Karmo, provincial apiarist, says: "We are inclined to believe that the pollen must have been brushed from one bee to another in the hives. The bees would be most unlikely to change their habit of working one tree at a time just because the hive had two entrances."

Both men feel the experiment gives pretty good evidence that pollen transfer within the hive is an important part of cross pollination by hive bees.

Rolling stone now movie-maker

Calgary (CP) — Bill Lietz describes himself as a "bush tramp".

"Things I do usually lead me into the bush," says the 32-year-old Lietz. In 18 years of zigzagging across the western provinces he has been a cowpuncher, guide, commercial fisherman, logger, tourist camp operator, prospector, mine owner, skin diver and farmer.

"I didn't like farming," he says of his venture near Edmonton. "Going around in circles got me down."

He stopped in Calgary as part of his latest vocation — movie-making.

"Headless Valley," 90-minute color film of the little-known Nahanni Valley of the Northwest Territories, is Leitz's latest production. He now is on a tour of western cities showing the film.

Bill and a former mining partner, Ed Fischer of South Africa, spent 3½ months prospecting and movie-making along the Nahanni River in the spring of 1961.

Eventually Bill wants to settle on a cattle ranch in the Cariboo country of British Columbia, but he's in no hurry.

Animal surgeons discuss veterinary medicines, curb on disease outbreaks

Quebec, Aug. 27 (CP)—The Quebec College of Veterinary Surgeons has decided to seek exclusive control over sale and use of medicine for animals, through an amendment to the provincial laws governing veterinarians.

The decision was taken at the college's biennial meeting at which a study committee said Quebec's population is being exploited because there is no control of any kind over sales.

Almost anyone, the committee declared, can sell medication for animals.

The meeting was told by a Montreal specialist that one of the causes behind this summer's hog cholera outbreak in Quebec and Ontario was the feeding of pork scraps to hogs.

Dr. Henri Troalen of the Federal Agriculture Department pointed to the case of a man who worked in a Montreal bakery and fed scraps which he brought home from work to his hogs, which he kept in Ontario.

They were healthy until the man began adding pork scraps from a Chinese restaurant and his hogs soon fell ill. He took the least sick ones and sold them at auction in Alexandria, Ont., Dr. Troalen said.

As a result, the disease spread to other farms in the area, on both sides of the border.

He suggested several means for controlling outbreaks including quarantine of auction sites, banning of exhibitions and disinfection of trucks and rail cars used to transport animals.

B'burg Legion field day successful annual event

Brownsburg —

The 5th Annual Legion Field Day, held on Saturday last, was a notable success. Activities started with the juvenile parade, under Legion escort, leaving the two schools at 8.30 a.m. on a beautiful fall day. The two high-spirited groups met at the road leading to the C-I-L picnic grounds and paraded together for the last ¼ mile. From then until the presentation of trophies at 5.30 p.m., there was ceaseless activity.

During these nine hours there were 48 events and a softball game; 141 individual prizes and three trophies were presented. Refreshments were provided at cost by the Legion, and the hundreds of school children from both schools, as well as many guests, consumed hot dogs, ice cream and soft drinks by the thousands.

Co-chairmen Harold Hewitt and Dave McCullouch and their many committees gave a wonderful example of flawless organization. The smoothness with which the events and booths operated were a credit to the hard working Legion members and Auxiliary.

Brownsburg High School won the three trophies presented at the meet, awarded for the Relay Race (a team of two boys and two girls); the Softball game which they won 13-1; and the Legion Trophy presented to the school with the highest aggregate points.

A list of the winners of the various events will appear in next week's edition.

Programs planned for Grenv'l district Home and School

Grenville —

The first meeting of the new executive of the Grenville Home and School Association was held Thursday evening, September 13, in the library of Grenville High School.

Those in attendance were — Mr. Wm. T. Bray, pres.; Mrs. C. G. Foreman, vice-pres.; Mr. John Perry, recording sec.; Mrs. T. R. Fox, corr. sec.; Mr. Leonard Kirby, treas. Mr. Meikle Turner, principal, also attended the meeting.

An attractive and interesting series of meetings has been arranged for the fall and winter season, and it is expected that a large number of parents will take advantage of these sessions.

Students will be interested in knowing that the Home and School Association will provide prizes to students of Grades I to XI for general proficiency. Also a cup will be presented to the boy and the girl in High School who attain the highest proficiency in academic, athletic and school spirit.

Mr. Meikle Turner advises that he will introduce the members of the teaching staff to the members of the Association at the first general meeting on Wednesday evening, September 26. This will be an opportunity for parents to meet the people who guide the destiny of their children.

Two inquests set for Thursday

Inquests into the deaths of Wm. MacLean, of Pte. au Chene, and René Savageau, of Laval West, will be held in the Lachute Auditorium tomorrow evening, Thursday, at 7.30 o'clock.

Mr. MacLean passed away recently in hospital following an accident in which he was struck by a car in Pte. au Chene. René Savageau was drowned June 9, when a canoe in which he was travelling turned over in the Rouge River, near the Harrington Forest Farm.

REMINDER

Blood Donor Clinic dates, September 24-25 (2 to 5.30 p.m. and 7 to 9.30 p.m.) at Lachute Auditorium.

"The Scene" IN BROWNSBURG

(Our District Correspondent)

The toughest question to answer at this month's Council session was, "Who is to be the building inspector?" Council haggled over that one for a good portion of the meeting before finally agreeing that town foreman Ferne Brisson will fill the spot, until he can be replaced by a permanent man. Some of the councillors thought Mr. Brisson would not have the time necessary to perform these duties in addition to those required of him as town foreman. The job does not necessarily require the services of a carpenter, but rather a man who can interpret and enforce the regulations laid down in the new building by-law.

* * *

The annual Legion field day for school children turned out to be highly successful again — well organized and well run. The executive is already looking to the future though, endeavoring to improve the over-all affair.

* * *

Credit is due Kent Thompkins, new Phys. Ed. teacher at Brownsburg High School, for providing the coaching necessary to produce the interest and "heads-up" ball displayed by his boys in the Legion field day softball game.

* * *

The town police car has been seen lately on streets where it hasn't been seen for a long time. This is due to temporary Chief Aurel Lemay's belief that 40-50 miles should be covered in daily patrols of the town.

* * *

The Brownsburg Community Rink opens its doors for another season on October 6. The interior of the building is now under repair, with painting crews in attendance, made up of volunteer workers. . . Any time to spare? Come on down!

* * *

Don't throw away that pile of old newspapers! The Brownsburg Group Committee of the Boy Scouts Association will pick them up on Saturday, October 13. This is one way to help the Scouts, without it costing you a cent.

600 Pints objective set for Blood Clinic here next week

Organization for the Red Cross Blood Donor Clinic was set up Wednesday, September 12, at a special meeting called by Chairman Ken Riley and the co-chairman, Paul Deslauriers.

The Red Cross Mobile Clinic will be at the Lachute Auditorium, Monday and Tuesday, September 24 and 25, from 2 to 5.30 p.m. and from 7 to 9.30 p.m.

Shooting at an objective of 600 pints of precious life-giving blood, the Blood Donor Committee is asking the co-operation and the assistance of all members of the community.

"With a population in this area of over 10,000 people this is a modest objective and we hope to exceed this figure substantionally if everyone will realize the vital importance of the Canadian Red Cross Free Blood Transfusion Service," Mr. Riley said.

Service Clubs and volunteer organizations are being asked to assist and all the churches are requested to announce the dates from their pulpits.

Committees were set up as follows:

Registration — Mrs. G. Ayers, Mrs. R. Regimbal and Mrs. R. Stephens.

Reception — Mrs. R. Carreau and Mrs. F. Legault.

Volunteer Nurses — Mrs. A. M. Vessie.

Publicity — Mrs. Howard Watson.

Conveners — Mrs. L. W. Armstrong.

Industrial Contacts — Mr. R. Regimbal.

St. Andrews East and Carillon, Mrs. F. Hungerbuhler.

Special feature of this year's clinic will be a draw during the course of the two days at the Auditorium, when fifteen to twenty names will be drawn. Lucky winners will be taken for a flight in the DC 3 plane operated by Ayers Limited. This flight will be arranged for a later date following the clinic.

The taxi service to the clinic on both Monday and Tuesday is again being offered by Mr. Leon Larocque — telephone 2-6262.

Baby-sitting service will be provided at the Auditorium for those who have young children.

No hardship or discomfort

The donation of a pint of blood is not a painful or uncomfortable experience. Most donors feel no sensation at all during the time the pint of blood is being withdrawn, and only a very small percentage of them have any sensation afterwards. Perhaps four or five donors out of every hundred have a slight feeling of weakness after the donation, but this is quickly alleviated by 10 to 15 minutes' rest and some refreshment. — Give your donation of blood at the donors' clinic here next Monday and Tuesday.

Lachute and district in nineteenth century

Envisioned by NORMAN THORBURN, on memories recalled by pioneer residents

I recently visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Nicoll on Main Street, where I obtained some facts on the early history of Lachute district. Mr. Nicoll and his gracious wife received me kindly. Mr. John Nicoll is almost 90 years old. (The late Mr. John McFarlane, residing with them at that time, was 92 years of age.)

On their journeys here from overseas, the pioneers experienced many hardships, the worst of which was the scarcity of water on board the ship that transported them.

If the winds were good and the weather fair, they could reach Montreal in six weeks, but if bad weather delayed them, it sometimes took 11 weeks to cross the ocean. Then the water was rationed on board ship.

The very first settlers were mostly from the New England States. In the year 1812, as a young lieutenant, Thomas Barron led a party of Lachute volunteers to Pointe Claire, to protect the western approaches to Montreal from the invading Americans.

Col. Thomas Barron commanded the 4th Battalion, Two Mountains Militia, in the 1830's and 40's. The names of almost all the pioneering families east and north of Lachute are included in the membership of this regiment.

A parade ground used by this regiment was situated on the terrain of Wm. Cottingham's farms, on the Lakefield road. It was known as Flanders Stevens' field.

In the history of the Rebellion of 1837, this regiment was known as the "Men of the Gore".

A Mr. Stone was buried in the Lachute Protestant Cemetery in 1801. He may, or may not, have been the first to be buried there. . . . Let us imagine the first funeral to be held in the Lachute area. An ox, hitched to an ox-cart, trundles the coffin through the forest, over a newly-hewn trail through the bush, to the cemetery. The mourners follow, mostly on foot. The hearse stops near the grave, and the coffin is rolled off the herse onto three strong poles, held in the hands of six stout farmers. I used the word "rolled" because the first man to be buried in the Lachute cemetery was buried in a hollow log. Mr. John Nicoll heard this story many times in his youth. He knows the man's name, but when I interviewed him it had momentarily slipped from his memory.

There was no mill in Lachute in 1801, to saw logs into boards to make a coffin. Money was almost unobtainable in the very early days of the settlement.

In the 1830's or 40's Mr. James Wilson, of East Settlement, went to Carillon to get his mail from the post-office there. He was asked for sixpence to pay for his mail. (There were no postage stamps then.) Possibly this Mr. Wilson had made some purchase at the store, for he had no money left. The postmaster refused to give him the mail until he paid the sixpence . . . Now, Mr. Wilson had walked through bush to Carillon from East Settlement. He wanted badly to hear from his folks in Scotland. But he had to return to East Settlement without his mail. Two weeks later, he went back to Carillon and got his mail. . . Mr. Wilson told this tale to Mr. John Nicoll many years ago.

Mr. Nicoll remembers the old "Lachute Hearse", the funeral co-operative in Lachute. Mr. David Raitt was the last custodian of the hearse, which he kept at his home.

They burned wood at Wilson's Mill in Mr. Nicoll's youth. Mr. Nicoll knew a man who corded wood there, to heat the building and make steam.

Mr. Walter Smith, of the Vide Sac community, sold 100 cords of 3-foot wood at $2.50 a cord to Wilson's Mill. Mr. Picard, a great woodsman, chopped and corded this wood for 50 cents a cord. Thus, Mr. Smith made a profit of $200 for his work. Government inspectors measured the wood, to prevent roguery!

There was no Ayers Mill when Mr. Nicoll was born. People took their wool to Morrison's Mill in Brownsburg. Every farmer grew wheat, which was ground and then made into bread by the farmer's wife.

The women all wove blankets, with common looms.

Story of Canadian Refractories intriguing topic at Rotary Club

Lloyd Thomas, general manager of Canadian Refractories Limited, was guest speaker at last week's meeting of the Rotary Club.

Mr. Thomas gave a brief history of his company, and recalled how a minister, in the course of visiting his parishioners, stopped at a remote farmhouse in 1900 on the Scotch Road, north of Grenville. At the home of Donald MacPhee he noticed the owner's young son, Alec, wearing a green-colored stone watch-fob. The son drew his attention to tiny crystals and asked if he thought they were gold. . . The minister reported this to his father-in-law, a Mr. McAllister, in Ottawa, who stated that it indicated magnesite. Then Mr. McAllister later visited the area and confirmed the existence of this ore. He and his son-in-law took options on various sections of property in the immediate vicinity and attempted to mine the ore. However, the venture was not too successful, due to the cost.

Up to that time, all magnesite had been imported from Austria. Others attempted to mine this ore, but little progress was made until 1914, when war broke out and the Austrian supply immediately terminated. This ore then became vitally important, and the industry boomed. Whereas in 1913 a total of about 300 tons of ore was shipped, this amount increased to 50,000 tons in 1918.

One of the major problems was the transportation of the ore from Kilmar to Calumet. It was hauled by horses and wagons in summer and sleighs in winter, and there are vivid stories of the experiences of the men engaged in this work. Finally, in 1918, a narrow-gauge railway was built and wood-burning locomotives were used to haul the ore.

Although business slumped after the war, the two companies then engaged in mining magnesite continued to operate. In 1933 these companies merged to form Canadian Refractories Limited, and in 1953 the new plant was built at Marelan, so that there now exists a unique industry which mines the native ore, manufactures the finished product, and ships it all over the world.

To quote Mr. Thomas, "What started as a green watch-fob, today harnesses the fires of industry."

The speaker was introduced by Dr. Reg Rigby, chief chemist at the laboratory of Canadian Refractories, and was thanked by Tom Hall.

Midnight blaze in residence on Princess St.

Flames gutted two upstairs bedrooms and the hallway of a Princess Street house occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Gilles Boyer this morning (Wednesday) at an early hour — dense smoke preventing firemen from locating the main source of the fire. The residents were on vacation at the time of the blaze.

The alarm was sounded around 2 a.m. by a passer-by, who saw the flames and heavy smoke. When the fire equipment arrived several minutes later, the fire had such a headstart that the street between the building and the J. C. Wilson box plant was enshrouded with smoke. Firemen returned to the station around 4.45 a.m.

The booster hoses from both trucks were used to combat the flames, along with a main line laid from a nearby hydrant, and two smaller lines.

The fire, believed to have started from electric wiring, had spread through the upstairs portion of the building and was well established in the attic before firemen, using breathing apparatus, managed to pinpoint the flames to a greater extent than the men using the hoses from various windows.

The remainder of the building and contents suffered smoke and water damage; the loss is believed partly covered by insurance.

Q.P.P. Officer to Montebello

Jean Claude Legare, who has been detailed to investigation work in the local Q.P.P. detachment for the past two years, has now been appointed officer in charge of the Montebello office. He was a resident of St. Canut, and will be replaced in the local office by a graduate of the Q.P.P. training school.

W.I. Meeting and Topic —

Free adult instruction in French, W. I. initiated, gov't sponsored

A free course in French conversation is being provided for adults by the Provincial Government in co-operation with the Lachute Women's Institute — it was announced by Mrs. Angus Taylor, W.I. president, at the regular meeting held in Lachute High School on Tuesday afternoon of last week.

The classes will be held in the Lachute High School each Monday and Wednesday evening from 7.30 to 9.30 o'clock, commencing October 1. Mrs. Sylvia Baraf, French specialist at L.H.S., will conduct the course. Those interested are asked to contact Mrs. J. A. Taylor, LO 2-2188 or Mrs. R. P. Fraser, LO 2-4996 or LE 3-4736.

Other Business

Mrs. Taylor also announced that on October 2, the Dalesville Women's Institute would entertain the Lachute Branch in the church hall at Dalesville, at 8 o'clock p.m.

Mrs. George Leggett reported on the semi-annual convention of the Institutes held at Macdonald College.

"Women in Politics"

Mrs. Geo. Deacon, Sr., introduced the speaker of the afternoon, Mr. George McGibbon, a well-known townsman and member of numerous clubs. Mr. McGibbon spoke on "Women in Politics". He pointed out the regrettable fact that women will not vote for women and that few women held positions on Church or School Boards. Although the life of a public official is no bed of roses, as there is no pay but plenty of hard work and abuse, he felt that as good citizens, women should be more interested in public affairs and make full use of their franchise to elect those seeking to handle public money and to formulate the policies of their town or country. Mrs. R. Davidson thanked the speaker.

Mrs. Taylor conveyed the good wishes of the group to Mrs. Geo. McGibbon, who was leaving the next morning from Dorval on a trip to Melbourne, Australia, to attend the Association of Country Women of the World conference.

Organizing for Catholic troop of Boy Scouts

Dr. Bernard Massicotte is inaugural president of a committee sponsoring a new group of Catholic Boy Scouts in this town.

The group committee, under the title of "Amis des Scouts", includes — Roger Regimbal as vice-president; Roger Fauteux, secretary-treasurer; Fernand Berthiaume, publicist; and an executive comprising Paul Lefebvre, Ulysse Nadon, Georges Desfossés, Wilfrid Meilleur and Clément Proulx. There are several other members as enthusiastic supporters.

Scoutmaster will be Léon Cauchon, of Ayers personnel department, who has agreed to fill the position for a year. Expected to fill a competent role as patrol leaders are a number of boys, 12 to 15 years of age, who have been under training for the past three years in weekly meets directed by two Rigaud College students, Alain Nadon and Bob Cousineau.

The troop will be affiliated with the St. Jerome Diocese federation of Scout companies, from which official sanction will be sought for the formation of this troop.

Week's Epigram

"Ordinary human beings cannot be happy without competition, for competition has been, ever since the origin of man, the spur to most serious activities."

Morin Hts. student wins scholarship

Judith Kirkpatrick, 1962 graduate of Grade XI at the Morin Heights School, who has been awarded one of the highest academic awards of McGill University, the J. W. Red Cross group first meeting of new season

The first meeting of the fall season of the Canadian Red Cross, Lachute Branch, was held in the workrooms on Main Street, September 12, at 2.20 p.m.

The president, Mrs. Gordon McOuat was in the chair and appealed to all those interested in Red Cross to give their time and/or blood at the forthcoming Blood Donor Clinic to be held in the Lachute Auditorium, September 24-25, from 2 to 5.30 p.m. and from 7 to 9.30 p.m. on those days.

Plans were laid for Red Cross services in the community. The usual activities of the Women's Work committee will commence next month and all those interested in another Home Nursing Course in either French or English are asked to contact the Secretary, Mrs. H. Booth, LO 2-6143.

It was pointed out that as September 23 is the start of Junior Red Cross Week in Canada, members of that organization in the Lachute Schools might be contacted to assist with the Baby Sitting Service at the Blood Donor Clinic. The basic Junior Red Cross program stands on three principles, good health, service to others and the furtherance of international friendship and understanding.

Mrs. McOuat said she would contact various organizations to ask for assistance in telephoning donors to notify as many as possible of the clinic dates. If volunteers are interested, please telephone LO 2-6235 to help in the telephone canvass.

"ARGENTEUIL OUTDOORS"

By BOB ATCHISON

The real Duck Hunter's handiwork can be seen all over the Ottawa River these days. Some of these blinds are really works of art, and should pay off in better limits. Everyone I have talked to so far is ready for the opening day. By the looks of things, some of these sports are going to be out for the first flights, before the dawn breaks. We have a good number of real duck men in this district and these boys know the in's and out's of hunting. Looking over statistics, you find that few duck hunters are hurt through the stupid use of firearms. No doubt due to the fact that this is one sport that doesn't take kindly to sissies. Sitting in a blind, cold and wet, awaiting the hoped-for flight does not go with the average poor shooter. More power to this hardy breed, and good shooting.

• • •

Fishing is still good for all types. We don't have too much longer for this sport, so better make the most of it. Something that has always made me wonder is early in the spring everyone is out after Trout. Later on when the fishing gets tough, they stop. Why this is, I don't know as after all, just as many fish are around during the summer as in the spring; the only thing is they have to be worked for. This is one of the reasons why working a lake or stream pays off for the confirmed man. Most people don't bother to switch around to different baits, thinking no doubt that the baits used in the spring are just as good in the summer. This is a misleading thought. During the warm weather, the fish have to be tempted into striking, whereas in the spring they are hungry and will hit at almost anything.

• • •

As usual, with the parting of some of the summer visitors, the garbage is starting to show up in different places. Certainly alongside the roads is not as bad as former years, but the bush is worse. Why people won't take the time to dig a hole and cover their junk is beyond me. It must be the thought, "we are finished in this district for this year and what we have scattered around will be rotted by next summer". It's too bad this does happen, with no thought given to the beautiful places that are spoiled by this action. Evidently people think of conservation applying to animals only, and never give any thought to the forests, lakes, streams, etc.

• • •

Moose have been sighted quite often this past week and some of the stories are funny. One party wouldn't get into their car because the cow moose was too close to it. I have been told of numerous instances where cars have almost hit the animals, and only good driving on the part of the operators has averted the accident. Maybe it's about time the usual warnings were put out along the roads telling of the danger. It wouldn't be good for all concerned hitting one of these big brutes.

• • •

Some of the Black Squirrels that were around during the summer have come back. I thought they were gone for good, but evidently they just were not being seen. I also blamed some of the youngsters with guns. No doubt some of them got knocked off, but not enough to make that much difference in their numbers. I know a good number of pleasant hours are going to be spent this next little while watching their antics. Even the red's seem to be in better supply and a couple are hanging around the house latching on to free feeds. It's a laugh watching them fool Goldie the dog; she chases them up a tree and they scold her just to make her more anxious to get them; then they come down the other side. I wonder if you can imagine the stupid expression on her face when she starts to get scolded from some different place. I only wish I could get a picture of this.

• • •

I think most of the bird lovers will have noticed the great increase in the Blue Jays. Their cry sure is a good way to wake up. Funny thing about some of the ones that are hanging around our place is that they have started going to the feeders already. I would imagine this is their start of free loading for the next few months. Flocks of starlings are also getting into the act. These are not welcome and one of these days we will be having a "Stew of Starlings".

A few boats have been taken out of the water and this brings up the question of just what to do for the winter. It may be early for this topic but it is one that needs repeating. To begin with, clean everything out of the hull. This includes ropes, rags, oars or paddles and oarlocks if you have them. To make what follows a little easier, you can make yourself a platform the size of the boat with 2 x 4's and any old lumber you have around. Wash the inside of your boat thoroughly with warm water and soap, taking care to rinse it well; this applies to glass also. Turn the boat over and allow to drain while you do the same to the outside.

Oil spots, etc., can be removed with a sponge or cloth and a detergent. In some cases gasoline can be used, but for the sake of a little time being saved, I wouldn't recommend it. Assuming it is all clean, check for worn or damaged spots and repair them now, not later. The fibreglass types will have to be under cover and in a warm place as the solution needs heat to dry properly. Also the catalyst won't harden if this is not done. The most important job is now upon us, that being making the forms that are to be used in holding the boat over the winter. Sawhorses are good, but cut them down a little so that they are not too high. Putting 2 x 4's along side the horses then nailing them, will avoid one being out of place, thus preventing warping of the boat. It is usually best to store the boat upside down, and with a little care this can do no harm. Naturally there are parts of the hull that won't touch the horses. This can be eliminated by putting blocks under to make the boat as level as possible and certainly as solid as you can get it.

Don't try to store it alongside a house, barn or what have you, with one side exposed to the snow while the other side is free. Better to have it all exposed than only partly. Being stored inside though is a different matter. If possible, cover the boat with a sheet of some sort, as some of the marks that get on the hull while inside are hard to get out, especially rust spots. If you carry out these few simple gimmicks, then you will have a boat ready to go next spring. It's sure worth doing now.

Just got a call about some Canada Geese that have been seen. They sure seem to be early this year even for the scouts. If I remember correctly, these did not go through until the end of September last year.

LEGION NOTES

— by —

Branch 70 Correspondent

"ACTIVE SERVICE YESTERDAY COMMUNITY SERVICE TODAY"

Next month Argenteuil Branch 70 of the Royal Canadian Legion enters another year of community service.

Thirty-seven years ago various veterans' associations joined together to form the Canadian Legion. Branch 70 began its history twenty-six years ago.

The Legion is, essentially, just what it was at the time of its establishment; a fraternal benefit society with its principles of charity, unity, fraternity and patriotism in full operation.

The main principles and aims of the Legion are: "To constitute an association of those who have served in Her Majesty's Navy, Army, Air Force or any auxiliary force or service, which association shall be democratic and non-sectarian; and shall not be affiliated to, connected directly or indirectly, with any political party or organization.

The Legion stands for loyalty to the reigning Sovereign and to Canada, for maintenance of the foundation of principles of the British Constitution; for the development of a national and united spirit, for ordered government in Canada, and while striving for peace, goodwill and for friendship among all nations, will advocate the maintenance in and by Canada of adequate and sufficient and efficient forces on sea, on land, and in the air, for the defence of our country

The Legion stands for strong and united comradeship among all those who have served in Her Majesty's service so that neither their rights nor their interests shall be forgotten, and that their welfare and that of their dependents, especially the dependents of the disabled, sick and needy, may always be safeguarded.

The Dominion and Provincial Commands handle mostly the items quoted in the first two paragraphs above. The individual branches do welfare work among their own community. Their main purposes are:

1. To render pecuniary aid to its members and beneficiaries of members;

2. To render mutual aid and assistance to its sick and disabled members;

3. To promote such social and cultural intercourse among its members as shall be proper;

4. To promote and conduct educational, charitable, social welfare, relief and welfare and also public relief work.

The Legion has always been reticent about advertising its achievements. Year in, year out, it quietly continues its heavy welfare work. This is done in unspectacular fashion and the total of the benefits rendered has never been computed.

The Branches which carry on these good works do not get financial assistance from Dominion or Provincial Commands, which, in fact, have none to give. Whenever a local branch undertakes a welfare project the members are on their own in the matter of making good.

Obviously, such operations call for the presence of a considerable number of people, who, by conventional "what's in it for me?" standards would be considered slightly wacky. Legionnaires are endowed with an essential and priceless asset: Men of all professions, trades, and states of life, who willingly put in countless hours of mental and manual labor to help along whatever the organization is doing. This labor is all "for free" and it explains why the Legion is stepping ahead so sharply. They run on a sort of spiritual atomic engine, the inexhaustible enthusiasm of former servicemen and women working under four basic principles: CHARITY, UNITY, FRATERNITY and PATRIOTISM.

Branch 70's success over the years in all its endeavors cannot be attributed alone to the energy and enthusiasm of its members. It has also been the verbal and financial support afforded Branch 70 by the citizens of Lachute and area, that has enabled the Branch to continue its dedicated wrok.

As the Lachute Legion Branch enters its 27th year, the executive and members express their thanks and appreciation for support, trust and assistance over the years, to the town authorities and citizens of Lachute.

Congratulations to Miss Hélène Lefebvre, who had a hole-in-one on the 2nd hole on Course No. 1. Playing with Miss Lefebvre were Miss Denise Tousignant, Mrs. Douglas Wolfe and Miss Marie Rivet.

Winners of the Honey Pot event were: Class A — Miss Barbara Wilkins, Class B — Mrs. J. P. Lupien, Class C — Miss Hanna Smith.

Thirty-three couples participated in the Husband and Wife Tournament. Winners of this event were Mr. and Mrs. Royal Carrière with a net 141. Runners-up were Mr. and Mrs. R. Vermandel with a net 143.

The ladies invite members and guests to the Dinner Dance on Saturday, September 22. The theme for the evening will be Parisian, and with French cuisine, gala entertainment, special singers and dancing, this should be one of the most colorful social events of the year. Dress is informal, but why not get into the spirit of the party by dressing in keeping with the theme. Make reservations for the dinner as soon as possible. Call LO 2-5228.

Fish, Game clubs to hold meeting at Gatineau

Montreal, September 12 — A regional convention of the Quebec Federation of Fish and Game Associations will be held at the Hotel Ambassador, Gatineau, Que., on September 28 and 29, it is announced by Alphonse Leclaire, President of Federation. It will be attended by numerous delegates representing fish and game associations and clubs in this and the North of Montreal areas, and by officers of Federation and of the Department of Game and Fisheries, and of the Department's Qubec Wildlife Management bureau.

Mr. Leclaire and Guy Mantha, organizer of the Gatineau meetings, said experience has shown that these regional meetings are most valuable, both to the groups taking part and to Federation. They give sportsmen an occasion to address conditions in their districts, discuss them with Federation and Wildlife management officers, and lay out an effective program of improvement.

Several successful regional conventions have been held this year and, this Fall, it is planned to hold others in the North Shore and Lake St. John regions. The recommendations from these regional gatherings will be brought up at the 1962 annual meeting of Federation which will be held at Quebec City, December 7 and 8.

Fishing & Hunting Association news

Lac des Ecorces, near Arundel, will be the scene of Argenteuil Fishing and Hunting Association's third fishing derby. The contest takes place Sunday, September 23, and Richd. Pelletier, director of the Molson Fishing Club, will be on hand.

The lake is situated about two miles beyond Arundel Village. Signs will point the way.

A final contest, on Sunday, September 30, will take place at Trout Lake, in Papineau County.

For information on these outings, enthusiasts are asked to contact officers or members of the Association.

For hunters during the season, there will be trophies and prizes for the best hauls, offered by the Association.

A drawing, for $150 worth of outdoors equipment, will terminate in the month of October.

Competition keen for 8th annual plowing match

It is almost 140 years since the first plowing match was held in Western Quebec; that was in 1823 at St. Martine in Chateauguay county, and on that occasion there were seven English-speaking farmers and five French competitors. This year, another bilingual plowing match is being planned in Western Quebec, across the St. Lawrence River in Soulanges county.

The top plowmen of Quebec will be competing at the 8th annual Quebec Provincial Championship Plowing Match to be held at St. Telesphore on September 28 and 29, in conjunction with the annual Soulanges County Match. Teams of two plowmen from at least seven counties, from the Eastern Townships to the Ottawa Valley, will be vieing for the honor of representing Quebec in the National championships next year.

In addition to the Quebec Championship represented by the Esso Trophy, there will be a Junior championship class for young plowmen under 20, as well as more than a dozen local classes, when entries from nearby Eastern Ontario are expected to add interest and keen competition to the annual Soulanges County Plowing Match.

The two-day program will be climaxed on the Saturday night by a banquet in the St. Telesphore High School.

I believe

In my fellow man, and
In his desire to live.
In his right to hope and
Believe that I will be,
A help in his hour of need.
That I will be at his side
Giving the Miracle Fluid from
My veins, to speed his recovery
And then—may I go my way
Knowing that even though
He was a stranger—I had
Helped him to live again
All this I believe—because
I am a Blood Donor.

WELCOME TO ALL

Late C. Kennedy was long-time C-I-L employee

Charles Lawson Kennedy, 74, died at his home in Brownsburg on Sunday, September 9, after a lengthy illness.

Born in Grenville, Que., he later moved to Brownsburg, where he had been employed by Canadian Industries Limited for 39 years.

He is survived by his wife, the former Mary Fox, one daughter, (Eleanor) Mrs. G. Dunne, of Lachute, four sons, John, Charles, Jr., Dougall and Willis of Brownsburg; also one sister, Mrs. Nellie Mott, of Grenville, and three brothers, Joe, of Rockcliffe, Ernie, of Brownsburg, and Gordon, of Brockville, Ont.

Harrington

Recent visitors in this community were Mr. and Mrs. David McVicar, from Grand Rapids, Mich., also Mrs. Young, from Port Huron, Mich., Mrs. Nettie McVicar, of Lachine, and her daughter, from St. Lambert.

Mr. and Mrs. Andy Formagie visited recently at the home of Mr. V. McVicar; Mrs. Dora McLeod, of Calumet, was also a visitor.

Mr. and Mrs. Willis Seale, Darlene, and Owen McCambly, of Morin Heights, visited at Mr. H. Bennett's on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. M. Bennett and family visited Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Bennett at Camp Borden last week-end.

Lachute district in 19th century

Route 41, along the North River, was called the Front Road.

The Fair was held annually, at St. Andrews, St. Philippe and Lachute, alternately. There were no permanent buildings.

Some people may wonder why the Main Street of Lachute is so wide. It is wide because it was used as a village square and market place, from the earliest times.

Late in October, when the multi-colored maples were shedding their leaves fast, a great sale was held on the Main Street down as far as Barron's bridge. This was called Meikle's Fair. In front of the present site of the Bank of Montreal, a band of colts would be tethered. Many colts were sold at this sale. Fat calves, sheep, cattle, all the animals of the farm, crowded the Main Street and were offered for sale. Agriculture was king in those days. Every little farm in the hills north of Lachute held cattle. (They may hold cattle again, for a beef famine within the next 10 years is predicted by Ontario's Minister of Agriculture.)

The righteous, the inebriate, the imperious, the humble and subservient, the good and the bad, the big and the small, master and servant — all were to be seen in the mingling throng, on the wide concourse of Main Street in the days of Meikle's Fair. Farmers took their hides to McGibbon's tannery, situated where the Bank of Nova Scotia now stands. Meikle's and McOuat's stores on the Main Street did a thriving business.

Mr. Nicoll's grandfather, Mr. John Nicoll, Sr., could have purchased land on the "Vide Sac" for 25 cents an acre. Today, you would have to pay more than a thousand times that price!

Silver Wedding

On Sunday last Mrs. Keith Duncan (Barbara Andrews), of Ottawa, gave a surprise party for her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Andrews, to celebrate their silver wedding anniversary. Mr. and Mrs. Howard Smith (a sister) and little son, Kelly, from here attended, also Mrs. George Kelly (Mrs. Andrews' mother) and Mrs. George Andrews (Mr. Andrews' mother).

L.O.B.A. Meeting

On Thursday evening the members of the L.O.B.A. Alexandria Lodge 119, joined by North Star Lodge of Harrington, met in the Avoca Lodge to greet the M.W. G.M. Sister Atkins, of the Province of Quebec, and her husband, a Grand Lodge officer, for her annual visit.

W.M. Sister Hilda Young presided, assisted by D. M. Sister Jean Bates, of Harrington. The Director of Ceremonies, Sister Lila McNeil, carried out her duties very efficiently.

The Chief Organizer of the J.O.L., Sister Tena MacLean, was present, and gave an interesting account of the meeting in Halifax, followed by a short address by her husband. There was a splendid attendance. The ladies of both lodges served refreshments.

Week-end visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Andrews were Mr. and Mrs. Noel Cormier, Mr. and Mrs. Willie Broden, all of Montreal, Miss Gloria Adams, of Ottawa.

Mr. Joseph Arthurs, of Saskatoon, spent Saturday visiting Mr. and Mrs. Ed Andrews.

100th Birthday at Avoca, Que.

(Our District Correspondent)

Avoca — Mrs. James Arthurs, a lifelong resident of Avoca, celebrated her 100th birthday on September 6 — enjoying every moment of it, and surrounded by her family of two sons and five daughters, namely, Mrs. Starke (Jennie) and Mrs. Elliott MacMillan (Anne), both of Montreal; Mrs. Neil McCallum (Nellie), of Avoca; Mrs. Philip Card (Ethel), of Bermuda; Mrs. Orrin Leroy (Daisy), of Port Colborne, Joseph, of Saskatoon, Sask., and William on the farm, with whom Mrs. Arthurs resides. (One son, James, and his wife died some years ago.) All these, with their families, and upward of 300 guests, came to greet Mrs. Arthurs on this great occasion.

Besides her family, who range in age from the 60's to the 80's, she has 33 grandchildren, 70 great-grandchildren, and 10 great-great-grandchildren, and a number of these were present.

She received many beautiful tokens and gifts of money, with dozens of cards, letters and telegrams — among them being a message from the Queen, also from the Prime Minister and the Hon. W. M. Cottingham, all of which sh was very proud to receive.

Mrs. Arthurs is the last living member of the family of 14 children born to the late Wm. Young and his wife, Margaret MacLean.

The junior choir of the Baptist Church, led by the Rev. and Mrs. Wm. Toller, rendered two of her favorite hymns, "All the Way My Saviour Leads Me" and "How Great Thou Art". Mrs. Arthurs is a staunch member of the Baptist Church and could be seen every Sunday morning walking to the church with fresh flowers. The Rev. Father W. J. Berkus, of Pointe au Chene, was present to offer congratulations.

Mrs. Arthurs enjoys excellent health but finds it difficult in getting around; she manages, however, to go up and downstairs herself. She was a great friend to all in the community, giving a helpful hand when called upon. All friends and relatives wish her many more years of happiness in the midst of her family.

A family of eight, four brothers and four sisters, by a deceased sister, Mrs. Alex MacLeod, came to visit Mrs. Arthurs on her birthday — their ages ranging from the 60's to 84.

Mrs. Allan McPhee and Mrs. Catharine Young had the unique experience of being present at the 100th birthday of two friends in the one year.

White Cane Club members attend diocese pilgrimage

A group of members of the Argenteuil White Cane Club took part in the 8th annual pilgrimage for the blind of the Diocese of Montreal, organized jointly by the St. Lawrence Club of the Blind and the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, at the Chapel of the Reparation last Sunday. Close to 600 blind persons and guides were present at the mass, said by Father Wilfrid Laurier, c.s.v., Superior of the Louis Braille Institute, and at the Way of the Cross in the afternoon. Groups of blind pilgrims also attended from Granby, Sherbrooke, St. Jerome, Quebec and other centres in the province.

The Louis Braille Institute choir sang a few hymns during mass. Following the Way of the Cross, Father Rolland Campbell, c.s.v. (blind himself) officiated at the benediction of the Blessed Sacrament. The Nazareth Institute choir performed.

During the luncheon, served by "Les Filles d'Isabelle", W. E. Milton, superintendent of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, Quebec Division, said: "No doubt, the spirit of these premises has brought about a well-deserved feeling of spiritual comfort. I hope your prayers are answered". After welcoming the pilgrims, Paul Johnson, president of the St. Lawrence Club of the Blind, invited all those present to offer their pennies to help in the work for welfare of the overseas blind.

The members of the Argenteuil White Cane Club were taken to Montreal by the Lachute Knights of Columbus, and were brought back after the pilgrimage. The sightless members are deeply indebted to the K. of C. for their assistance.

Esteemed resident of Mille Isles laid to rest

The late Mrs. Wm. Maxwell

Mrs. Wm. Maxwell, of Mille Isles, Que., passed quietly away after a short illness at the Montreal General Hospital, in her 88th year.

The late Mrs. Maxwell was the daughter of the late Wm. Murdoch and Mary Conley of Mount Maple, Que. She married the late Wm. Maxwell, of Mille Isles, who predeceased her in 1952, and since then she had resided with her sister, Mrs. Jas. Gauley, at Brownsburg. Mrs. Maxwell had many friends and was loved and respected by all.

She leaves to mourn her passing three sisters — Mrs. Robt. Cunning (Jennie), of Vankleek Hill, Mrs. Jas. Gauley (Bertha), of Brownsburg, Mrs. Jas. Gauley (Laura), of California; her five step-children — Walter Maxwell, of Mille Isles, Gordon Maxwell, of Shawbridge, Arnold Maxwell, of Beech Ridge., Mrs. Ryan (Clara), of Mille Isles, and Mrs. Patterson (Ruth), of Cowansville; also a number of grandchildren, two nieces and three nephews.

The funeral was held from MacKimmie's Chapel on Friday, September 14; service was conducted by Rev. C. S. Woods, pastor of the Brownsburg United Church, and her remains were laid to rest in the Mille Isles Cemetery.

Pall-bearers were Messrs. Ivan Boyd, Clinton Murdoch, her nephew, Hebson Stewart, and her three step-grandsons, Rolland Maxwell, Donald Maxwell and Maxwell Ryan.

IN MEMORIAM

BIGELOW — In memory of a dear mother and grandmother, Bertha Bigelow, who passed away Sept. 21, 1960. — Always remembered by her daughter, Doris, Duncan and family.

"A leaf in the book of memories
Is gently turned today,
We are just a sunset nearer
Each time the daylight fades.
Many a lonely heartache,
Many a silent tear,
But always a loving memory
Of the one we loved so dear."

KIRKPATRICK—In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Eric, who was accidentally killed Sept. 19, 1958. — Never forgotten by his wife, son Kenneth and daughter Beverley.

"Who can say the grief is lessened
Though a smile may hide our fears,
Memories keep the wound still open,
Despite the passing of the years."

Wedding of local interest held recently in St. Laurent

Kilner - Hebert

The marriage of Claudia Gail, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Hebert, who were former residents of Brownsburg, to Mr. Frederick Earle Kilner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Kilner, all of St. Laurent, took place recently in St. Andrew's United Church, St. Laurent, the Rev. J. A. Hockin officiating. Mr. Keith Morris was organist, and the Misses Anderson, of Brownsburg, sang two duets.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white silk organza, the fitted bodice having a round neckline, with appliquéd Alençon lace, the full skirt having a chapel train. Her shoulder-length veil of tulle illusion was held by a circlet of organza flowers, and she carried a cascade bouquet of pink sweetheart roses and ivy. She wore a string of cultured pearls, the gift of the groom.

Mrs. W. Crooks, of Hawkesbury, sister of the bride was matron of honor. Miss Barbara Edgar and Miss Merylin Brodie of St. Laurent were the bridesmaids. They all wore blue nylon organza frocks, with round necklines, full skirts with a front panel of silk embroidery, matching blue velvet pillbox hats, and carried bouquets of white carnations, tipped with blue. Little Miss Barbara Pass, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Pass, of St. Laurent, and Miss Coreen Crooks, niece of the bride, were flower girls, wearing blue nylon embroidered dresses, with short sleeves, and bouffant skirts. They carried bouquets of pink and white carnations.

Mr. Edward Kilner, brother of the groom, was best man, and the ushers were Mr. Keith Willard, of St. Laurent, Mr. Thomas McCalden, Jr., of Toronto, and Mr. James Borland Jr., of Alliston, Ont., cousins of the groom, and Mr. Ronald Anderson, of Brownsburg.

Mrs. Claude Hebert, mother of the bride, was in a blue flowered silk sheath gown with matching coat, a blue velvet hat and a corsage of pink rosebuds.

Mrs. F. Stanley Kilner, mother of the groom, was in a mint-colored gown of lace and silk organza. She wore a hat of white chiffon flowers, with a corsage bouquet of yellow rosebuds pinned to her purse.

Following the reception, Mr. and Mrs. Kilner left for the Pocoma Mountains in Pennsylvania, the bride travelling in a turquoise blue and beige suit and wearing beige accessories.

Out of town guests included Mrs. G. H. Lawrance, Miss E. Lawrance, Mr. and Mrs. E. Guest, Miss Jane Guest, Mr. Larry Guest, Miss Marjorie Baillie, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. McCalden, Mr. Tom McCalden, Mr. and Mrs. J. Borland, all of Toronto, Mr. J. Borland, Jr., of Alliston, Ont., Mr. and Mrs. N. O'Neil and Miss Sharon O'Neil, of Belleville, Ont., Mr. and Mrs. I. D. Lawrance, Mr. Douglas Lawrance, and Miss Donna Lawrance, of Fenelon Falls, Ont.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Earle Kilner, whose marriage took place recently in St. Andrew's United Church, St. Laurent. The bride is the former Miss Claudia Gail Hebert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Hebert. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. Stanley Kilner. All are from St. Laurent.

Blood supplied to 187 hospitals in Quebec Prov.

A mobile Red Cross blood donor unit will be at Lachute on September 24-25, at the civic auditorium from 2 to 5.30 p.m. and from 7 to 9.30 p.m.

The Canadian Red Cross supplies blood to 187 hospitals in the province of Quebec and its weekly requirements are 4,500 bottles.

Giving blood causes no pain and no ill after-effect to a person in good health. Before accepting the blood of a donor a test is made by a trained technician to determine if the person is well enough. Once the donor has been accepted it is a matter of four or five minutes before the painless donation is all over and the donor is resting comfortably on another bed. Then light refreshments are served by a smiling and attentive volunteer.

The donor feels good for two reasons. He finds himself physically fit and he has the rewarding feeling of having done a good deed for his fellowman. The pint of blood he has given easily will help save the life of a man, woman, or child.

Your blood can save a life. Give a pint at the Red Cross clinic on September 24-25.

ACKNOWLEDGMENT

Mrs. Jas Gauley wishes to express her gratitude and thanks to the many friends who sent floral tributes, cards, and extended other acts of kindness during the loss of her beloved sister, Mrs. Wm. Maxwell.

If You're TIRED ALL THE TIME

Now and then everybody gets a "tired-out" feeling, and may be bothered by backaches. Perhaps nothing seriously wrong, just a temporary condition caused by urinary irritation or bladder discomfort. That's the time to take Dodd's Kidney Pills. Dodd's help stimulate the kidneys to relieve this condition which may often cause backache and tired feeling. Then you feel better, rest better, work better. Get Dodd's Kidney Pills now. Look for the blue box with the red band at all drug counters. You can depend on Dodd's.

ACKNOWLEDGMENT

Mrs. Joseph Lafortune and family wish to express their appreciation to all persons who offered their sympathy in the form of masses, flowers, telegrams, cards, visits or other acts of kindness, on the occasion of the passing of the late Joseph Lafortune.

To those who omitted signing the register, please consider this acknowledgment as personal.

WHAT'S THE 'INSTALMENT PLAN' WAY TO SAVE FOR THE FUTURE?

Suppose, for example, he has the makings of a concert pianist . . . or a scientist, a doctor, a lawyer, or a statesman. Now is the time to ensure that, when the time comes for it, you can afford his training. It's time to start looking after his future with the help of Scotiabank's Personal Security Program, or PSP—a protected savings plan that's exclusive with The Bank of Nova Scotia. Here's how PSP works: you select a savings goal (from $100 to $2,500), which you reach in 50 equal payments. As you save, you're life-insured for the full amount of your goal—at no added cost to you. When you reach your goal, you collect all you've saved, plus a cash bonus. PSP is the ideal way to save for any future, for a holiday abroad, or a boat, or a new home. Ask about PSP at your nearest Scotiabank.

EDITORIAL NOTES...

"In this Parliament are three Estates, the Lords Spiritual, the Lords Temporal and the Commons, but in the Reporters' Gallery yonder sits a Fourth Estate more important far than all."
— Edmund Burke

Time to think!

ROUTINE precautions against fire could save many of the more than 200 children who lose their lives in fires each year. According to officials of the Canada Insurance Federation, which represents more than 220 fire, automobile and casualty insurance companies — there are some 230 fires each day, with property damage estimated at $100 million a year.

Because of increased use of heaters, fireplaces and stoves during fall and winter months, the following suggestions are given for greater safety. Fire Prevention Week will be devoted to publicizing such precautions, but a week is all too short, and warnings of this kind cannot be too often emphasized . . .

(1) Have electrical wiring checked before winter sets in.
(2) Electrical repairs and extensions should be done by qualified experts.
(3) Chimneys and heating equipment should be cleaned and checked at least once a year.
(4) Clear old magazines, rags and other inflammable objects from attic and basement.
(5) If your house is an old one, be doubly sure that all heating and electrical equipment is safe.
(6) Keep small children away from stoves and heating equipment.
(7) Use only clean, first-quality fuel for heaters and furnaces.
(8) Do not block exits or stairways with portable heaters.
(9) Matches and cigarettes are a major cause of fire; make sure they are not left burning.
(10) Do not smoke in bed.
(11) Be sure that ash trays are readily available in every room.

Coming up — Immigration Week

NATIONAL IMMUNIZATION WEEK will be celebrated next week throughout Canada, for the 20th year in succession. The observance is sponsored by the Health League of Canada in co-operation with Health Departments.

During this week the public are reminded that every child should be protected against diphtheria, whooping cough, tetanus, poliomyelitis and smallpox. Adults, too, need protection against polio and tetanus. In Canada the control of disease through immunization has made great strides as more and more safe effective antigens have been developed. But it is only through repeated reminders that Canadians will take advantage of immunization and safeguard their families. It is to overcome this apathy that the Health League instituted National Immunization Week 20 years ago.

World Food Bank

ALL PROVINCES have accepted the government's offer to continue the Municipal Works Incentive Program during the coming winter on substantially the same basis as last year — according to the Hon. Michael Starr, Minister of Labor. Many municipalities are already planning projects to be carried on during the winter under this program, and many more will be making plans to participate in the near future.

This will be the fifth consecutive winter for the program, which will be in effect for six and one-half months, from October 15, 1962, to April 30, 1963.

Under the program, the federal government offers to pay half the direct payroll cost of a municipality, or its contractors or subcontractors, on approved projects during the period of the program. Many of the provinces add further incentives of their own. The program has been broadened from year to year, until it now includes most kinds of municipal capital undertakings.

It is required that the bulk of those employed on projects carried out under the program be unemployed persons, or persons who would have been unemployed in the absence of the program.

This year one of the conditions of the program is that Canadian materials be used wherever possible, to ensure that the program creates the maximum of employment in Canada.

Under last winter's program, a total of 8,269 projects had been accepted from 2,747 municipalities (including Indian groups and unorganized settlements). The program provided on-site jobs for an estimated 148,000 men, for a total of more than 5,800,000 mandays of work. At least as many more, it is estimated, secured off-site employment during the winter months as a result of the program.

Winter works program renewed

WHEN THE AVERAGE person thinks of the United Nations, he's likely to identify it with such grim matters as Soviet vetoes and Congo violence.

There's good reason for this. The most-publicized activities of the world body are those that deal with Cold War problems and the eruptions of troubled regions of the world.

What is often overlooked is the less dramatic but perhaps no less important work identified with the UN's special agencies and their efforts to bring about improvement in the living conditions of the world's underdeveloped regions.

The Food and Agriculture Organization has for years been working to give these areas the knowledge and assistance to enable them to solve their prime problem — raising enough food to feed their people.

The FAO estimates that between 300,000,000 and 500,000,000 people in the world are underfed for at least part of their lives.

Pictures of starving children in troubled Asian and African territories pull at the heartstrings of Canadians who, ironically, live in a land of plenty and must struggle with the problems of disposing of agricultural surpluses.

In this light, it seems fitting that Canada should have taken the lead in pushing for a program that would set up a world food bank to help feed the world's hungry.

The program has just been approved by 27 member nations who pledged to put up $86,000,000 in cash and food over a three-year period. Canada's contribution of $5,000,000 will include $1,680,000 in cash and the remainder in surplus food.

At the outset the program will be aimed at meeting emergency situations and improving the nutritional levels of pre-school and school children.

It is emphasized that for the present the food bank will operate experimentally and while it is a modest beginning it is a kind of international co-operation that shows the United Nations at its best.

As U Thant, acting UN secretary-general, told the conference that launched the plan:

"It dramatizes in a striking manner the principle of bringing the abundance of some to bear upon the needs of others and it introduces a new element into the whole concept of multilateral economic aid".

CAN ANYONE ANSWER THIS?

The following is a copy of a letter I have just written to the Department of Agriculture in Ottawa. Perhaps some reader of The Watchman has the answer to my question, and if so I would be grateful to hear about it through these columns.

Dear Sirs:

Can any of your entymological or botanical experts explain the following:

At my camp in the Laurentians, situated at Lost River, Argenteuil Co., Que., from about August 31 to Sept. 10 and perhaps longer, cream-colored maggots have been descending in countless thousands, from birch and cedar trees and forming living, squirming rafts on the surface of the water in the rain barrel. Each maggot is about ¼ inch long. Their cobwebs to which they are attached form dense masses visible against a background of dark conifers (balsam, cedar and tamarac.)

And furthermore —: My car, parked under the trees, is covered with brown dots the size of a grain of sand. When dry, the surface of the car feels like sandpaper. When wet, these dots wash off fairly readily but form a glutinous mass on the sponge or rag being used.

I have spent all seasons of the year, except winter, in this locality for over sixty years, and have never run across these situations before, but have come to the conclusion that there must be a definite connection between the maggots and the state of my car, but is the sticky mess from the maggots, or is it an exudation from the trees?

The glutinous mess referred to is quite soluble in water and is dark brown and has no perceptible odor.

If your experts have the answer I would like very much to know what it is." (Signed.)

NATURE STUDY

"Look," I said, "ripe pincherries. Oh boy!"

"They're chokes," Franny said. "They're just not ripe."

"Pincherries," I insisted.

"Then how come," asked Martha, "that they're growing on a chokecherry bush?"

Every time I go walking in the country with my twin daughters I get some lessons in nature study. Have to hand it to their teachers at school. I'm a country boy born and raised, but my city-bred youngsters know and recognize more plants, birds and animals than I do, and walking out with them is thus a sheer delight, and sometimes good for my humility as well.

The satisfaction is mutual. The twins, at ten, enjoy putting me straight, and for my part I love walking in the country even when I walk in ignorance. This is our favorite time of year when the prairie sky is a high blue color and the bushes are loaded with sun-ripened wild fruit.

The wild fruit goes almost untouched these days. In earlier days the Indians from a nearby Reservation used to gather and sell the crops as they ripened. I'm told that they are now convinced that the fruit that grows on government welfare vines is much easir to gather, so they have deserted the bushland almost entirely! Oh "Progress", what sins are committed in thy name!

wonder QUESTIONS

ANSWERS BY THE RESEARCH STAFF OF THE BOOK OF KNOWLEDGE

I WONDER . . . Curiosity is a priceless gift. A youngster's daily questions indicate a bright, inquiring mind. They should be answered intelligently. In this column periodically the editors of this newspaper, in cooperation with The Book of Knowledge, will print those questions — and the answers — most frequently asked by children of their parents.

Are We Healthier Than Our Ancestors?

Yes, we are far healthier. We know at what ages our ancestors commonly died, including those who had the most knowledge and the highest standard of living. Diseases that once raged are now unknown or very rare. Sixty or seventy years ago, for instance, typhus fever was very common and now it causes hardly any deaths in the whole of the nation in a year, though the disease is still sadly common in some countries.

The average length of life is increasing. The expectation of life, as it is called, is longer than it was twenty years ago and much longer than it was at the turn of the century — that is, in 1900.

Why Do We Have Fingernails And Toenails?

The nails on our fingers and toes give a certain protection and added power to the ends of those digits. They are made of about the same material as the claws and hoofs of animals. The cat family needs strong, sharp claws for a large nail, or hoof, and the rehorse family needs strong hoofs for pounding over the ground. The ancestors of the horse had five fingers or toes and a nail on each. All these digits except the middle ones on each foot have shrunk, until we find on the horse only one great toe on the ground, with a large nail, or hoof, and the remains of two other toes, one on each side of the hoof. Like our fingernails, the horse's hoofs and the cat's claws can be cut without pain.

Whose B.C. Job Covered Road Building to Postage Stamp Design?

His name was Richard Clement Moody. A military engineer, he acted as commissioner of lands and public works in the colony of British Columbia, back in 1859. During five tireless years, Moody supervised exploration, mapping, surveying, road building — including the Cariboo wagon road, an epic in itself — the printing of government documents and the designing of schools, churches and even postage stamps.

Bank has new savings plan for university course

Introduction of a combined savings and loan plan to spread costs of a four-year university education over a period up to nine years, and embodying full life-insurance protection, has been announced by G. Arnold Hart, president of the Bank of Montreal.

The plan, to be known as the Bank of Montreal University Education Program, will make it possible to finance college studies through modest monthly payments at substantially less cost than would be possible on a straight loan basis.

Under the program, a parent, guardian or sponsor will undertake to make monthly payments during a student's last two, three or four years of high school, continuing through university, and terminating a year after graduation. In return, the parent will receive a lump sum at the start of each of the four university years, with built-in life-insurance coverage throughout to guarantee funds even if the sponsor dies.

If a student withdraws from college for any reason, the programme may be continued as an insured savings plan, or discontinued, at the parent's option. If a college year is repeated, the plan will be continued as originally agreed and special provision may be made for the additional year.

Commenting on the University Education Program, Mr. Hart said, "We see this new undertaking as meeting an important need of the times we live in."

Blood plasma saves children in heart surgery

A few years ago four out of five children with a hole in the heart were doomed to die before they were four years old. Today in Canada the use of the heart-lung machine and the co-operation of the Red Cross in supplying blood saved these children's lives.

There are many variations of heart-lungs, but the principle is the same. The patient's blood is intercepted on one side of the heart and is pumped back into the blood stream on the other side. Thus, the heart and lungs are by-passed, leaving them free for repair.

For each heart surgery operation the Red Cross Blood Transfusion Service supplies an average of 20 pints of whole blood, drawn within 24 hours before the operation and collected in special containers.

In 1961, the total number of bottles collected for these operations was 21,104 in Canada; 894 open-heart operations were performed in leading hospitals of 11 cities. The Montreal Red Cross blood depot supplied the blood for 277 such operations in Montreal and Quebec City, the heaviest demand in the whole country. The Toronto depot gave the blood for 235 open-heart operations and in Vancouver 151 operations were performed. Then came Edmonton with 96; Winnipeg 73; London 31; Saskatoon 16; Regina 10; Ottawa 4 and Calgary 1.

A mobile Red Cross blood donor unit will be at Lachute on September 24-25, at the civic auditorium from 2 to 5.30 p.m. and from 7 to 9.30 p.m.

Safety check-up a seasonal 'must'

Rear-end collisions occur when the car ahead is obliged to stop or slow down to avoid an unexpected obstacle. Most accidents of this kind are due to bad brakes, points out "Prudentia". This is a good reason why we should never delay a seasonal safety check, which must include — brakes, headlights, tail-lights, tires, directional signals, windshield wipers, rearview mirror, muffler and exhaust system, steering and wheel alignment.

Some motorists are more particular about the outer appearance of their car than about preventive checks. But, when they travel with only one headlight operating, or no tail-lights (as we often see), they not only defy the law but they gamble with their own lives and other people's safety.

Smallpox -- Yesterday and Today

(Copyright)

— By NANCY CLEAVER —

How many parents breathed a sigh of relief when the smallpox scare of the last half of August and early September was over! Missionaries and their children serving in a country such as Brazil see the disfigurement this disease can cause, and they know how fatal it can be. It is difficult to understand how a Brazilian doctor, without re-vaccination, could sign vaccination certificates for fifteen year old James William Orr, who developed the symptoms of this disease when he reached Toronto, and for the other two children who travelled with the mother to their home in Three Hills, Alberta, as well as for the parents.

Canadian health authorities took every precaution to prevent an epidemic, and not only the many people who had had some contact with the Orrs, but hundreds of others who had neglected the duty of vaccination, received prompt attention. Today smallpox in our land is very rare, while as short a time ago as 1924 three thousand cases were reported in Canada. We can thank vaccination for wiping out this virulent disease.

Every child should be vaccinated during his first year, and again before starting school. And he should also be protected from diphtheria, tetanus, and partially from whooping-cough by a series of combined injections begun after three months.

A certificate of vaccination for smallpox for a child or adult is needed for entry into foreign countries. If there is any outbreak in a community or any unexpected exposure to smallpox because of a visitor or immigrant who has developed it in Canada, all those who have been in contact with the person affected must be re-vaccinated.

The cause of smallpox is a filterable virus which is present in the skin eruptions and also in the mucous lining of the nose and throat. It can be carried from an infected person sneezing or coughing or even talking and the droplets carrying the germs float in the air. The clothing including bed clothes and eating utensils of the smallpox patient are germ laden.

From one to three weeks after exposure the smallpox symptoms appear. They include not only red spots on the skin, which blister and fill with pus, reaching a peak in two weeks, but also a severe chill, headache, pain in back and limbs, a fever and often vomiting. The spots first appear on the face and wrist and then spread to upper arms, chest and body.

During the eighteenth century over one-fourth of the people in Europe were killed or disfigured by deep pock marks from this dread disease. It is one of the most contagious of all diseases. In mild epidemics the death rate may be 1 in 100 people; in severe epidemics 30 people in 100 may die.

Edward Jeener (1749-1823) an English boy, at the age of thirteen was apprenticed to a surgeon. Later he studied in London and in 1773 returned to his birth place, Berkley, to practice medicine. It was not until 23 years later that he was able to test his theory that if a person had a weakened form of smallpox, called cowpox, he would be immune. Jenner took pus from a cowpox sore on a dairymaid's arm (Sarah Nelmes) and scratched it on the arm of an eight year old boy, James Phipps. The boy then developed cowpox. Almost two months after this James was injected with smallpox into his arm. Ordinarily this would have been fatal, but James did not feel ill. This was the first vaccination ever given.

Like many other brilliant pioneers Jenner had a hard time. The Royal Society even warned him he would risk his reputation if he told of his findings. It took real courage on Jenner's part in 1796 to publish a paper on his experiment.

Soon the good news of his research method which would prevent smallpox spread far and wide and he received many honors. His discovery was nearly a century ahead of similar methods to prevent other diseases. Yesterday, smallpox was a greatly feared enemy against which there was no protection; today in any land where a vacination program is consistently carried out, this ancient disease disappears. Is your child vaccinated, or revaccinated if it is time for this?

Green peas and cucumber in cream

Green peas and cucumbers in tangy sour cream make a delicious combination vegetable dish. Here is how the Consumer Section makes it: Place 3 cups shelled peas and 1 medium sliced onion in a saucepan with ½ cup boiling water and 1 teaspoon salt. Cover and cook until almost tender, about 6 minutes. Add 2 cups of peeled, cubed cucumbers. Mix with peas. Continue cooking until tender. Drain. Add 3 tablespoons butter; ½ teaspoon salt and ½ cup dairy sour cream. Gently mix and serve immediately. Serves 6.

Tips on Touring

By Carol Lane
Women's Travel Authority

When you are out enjoying drives through the gorgeous fall foliage, watch out for wet leaves on the roads. Leaves can be as slippery as banana peels. Worse, in fact, because there are more of them and their hazard is unanticipated.

When you run into a leaf-littered stretch of road:

1. Drive slowly.
2. Avoid applying brakes suddenly. Light gradual pressure on the brake pedal is safer.
3. If you feel yourself skidding, turn the front wheels in the direction of the skid and do not apply brakes until the car has straightened out.
4. Above all, make sure your tires and brakes are in first class condition as you go into fall and winter. The first falling leaves are your signal to see a service station or garage man.

Autumn is one of the finest times of the year for traffic-free Sunday drives and week-end jaunts. But be careful of seasonal slipperiness.

Sour cream adds something special

Soured cream used to be a calamity in many households, a useless waste to be thrown out as soon as possible. Fortunately, commercial sour cream has now rocketed to unexpected popularity, and its use in cooking and baking is well known. Fish, meat and vegetables all benefit from a sour cream sauce, and when it is added to bread or pastry dough, they become especially tender and delectable.

The flavor of Southern Sour Cream Rolls is further enhanced by the spicy/sweet pecan filling and the tangy lemon icing used to frost each bun. Shaped in the form of pinwheels, the buns are moist and tender with thin and slightly crisp crusts.

Southern Sour Cream Rolls
(Yield — 1½ dozen rolls)

½ Cup dairy sour cream, ½ teaspoon baking soda, 1 teaspoon of salt, 3 tablespoons of granulated sugar, 6 tablespoons soft butter or margarine (divided), ½ cup of lukewarm water, 1 teaspoon granulated sugar, 1 envelope fast-rising active dry yeast, 1 egg, 3 cups (about) pre-sifted of all-purpose flour, ½ cup lightly-packed brown sugar, 1 teaspoon ground cinnamon, ½ cup chopped pecans.

Scald sour cream; stir in baking soda, salt, the 3 tablespoon granulated sugar and 2 tablespoons of the butter or margarine. Cool to lukewarm.

Meantime, measure the ½ cup lukewarm water into a large warm mixing bowl; stir in the 1 teaspoon granulated sugar, then sprinkle with yeast. Let stand 10 minutes, then stir well. Stir in lukewarm sour cream mixture, egg and 1½ cups of the flour. Beat until smooth and elastic. Work in sufficient additional flour to make a soft dough, about 1½ cups more. Turn out dough onto a floured board or canvas and knead until smooth and elastic. Place in greased bowl. Grease top. Cover. Let rise in a warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk — about 1½ hours.

Meantime, combine 2 tablespoons of the soft butter or margarine, brown sugar, cinnamon and pecans. Punch down dough. Turn out into a lightly-floured board or canvas and knead until smooth. Divide dough into 2 equal portions. Roll out 1 portion of dough into a rectangle 6 x 11½ inches and spread with 1 tablespoon of the soft butter or margarine and sprinkle with half of the pecan mixture. Beginning at a long edge, roll up dough jelly-roll fashion and cut it into nine 1½ inch pieces. Place, cut side down, in greased muffin cups. Repeat with other portion of dough. Cover. Let rise in a warm place, free from draft until doubled in bulk — about 45 minutes. Bake in a moderately hot oven (375 deg. F.) 18 to 22 minutes. Turn out onto wire racks and allow to cool. Frost cold buns with the following Lemon Confectioner's Icing.

Lemon Confectioner's Icing
(Yield — Sufficient icing to top 1½ dozen rolls)

1½ Cups sifted icing sugar, 1½ teaspoons grated lemon rind, 1½ teaspoons lemon juice, water.

Combine icing sugar, lemon rind, lemon juice and sufficient water to make a stiff icing.

Teatime Topics

Specially Written for The Lachute Watchman
By Patricia Rusak, Canadian Press Staff Writer

Teen-agers, abortion and ballet are among subjects to be examined during the first week of a new CBC afternoon television series for women — "Take Thirty" — starting Sept. 17.

The half-hour program will combine entertainment, interviews, games and discussions on controversial subjects, with household and fashion features.

Paul Soles and Anna Cameron, host and hostess of the show, will be seen together on Mondays, Thursdays, and Fridays, while Tuesday will be the hostess's day and Wednesday will be the host's.

During the first show, Danish comedian Victor Borge will be interviewed and a small boy, Robert Fairley, will take a nostalgic look at Summer's magic.

On the first Tuesday Miss Cameron will present a program on teenagers, in which high school students will model fashions and be questioned on the fads and fancies of their age group. On the same programme journalist Sidney Katz, who made a recent study of teen-agers, will talk about their relationships with each other, with their parents, and with the world in general.

New Features

Paul Soles will introduce two new features on the series. The first, "As Others See Us," will give people who serve the public an opportunity of describing the foibles of their clients and customers, and Bruce Green, a Toronto hairdresser, will explain that he learns far more about his customers than the color of their hair.

In the second series called "Evidence," the methods used by the police to protect citizens will be examined. Herbert Thurston, in charge of the Toronto Metropolitan Police morality squad, will discuss ways in which his department deals with infringements of moral codes.

On Thursday, public affairs on "Take Thirty," the subject of the unborn child will be studied. In a series called "Cross Fire", two people with radically opposing views will talk about legalized abortion. Speaking in favor will be Professor Ben Schlesinger of the University of Toronto school of social work. Speaking against it will be Rev. W. C. Bothwell, Anglican chaplain of the University of Toronto.

The medical view on the unborn child will be given by Dr. John L. Harkins, clinical teacher of obstetrics and gynecology at the University of Toronto.

Milk Prices

Frequently, consumers complain about the price of milk.

Statistics from the federal agriculture department show that while income and prices have been steadily rising, food commodity prices have risen less than consumer prices, and milk still less.

From 1939 to 1960, personal, annual, disposable income more than quadrupled ($339-$1,408), while the cost of the food basket has risen two and a half times ($10-$25), and milk has gone from 11 cents to 23½ cents.

If the price of milk had made the same jump since 1939 as round steak, it would now be selling for 44 cents a quart. In 1939, round steak sold for 23½ cents, and in 1961, for 92 cents a pound.

Early apples can be frozen

Here's good news for homemakers who would like to freeze early apples to make up into pies during the winter months. The home economists of the Consumer Section at Ottawa have done a great many tests on early apples such as the Duchess and Transparent varieties which have a very short storage life and normally brown quickly when frozen. They have found that mixing the sliced apples in a sugar-ascorbic acid mixture is the answer to retaining good color in the apples. The ascorbic acid can be obtained in crystalline or tablet form.

Directions for Freezing Apples

Choose apples that are ripe and firm. Prepare only enough apples at a time for one pie. Measure ½ teaspoon crystalline or powdered ascorbic acid, or 800 milligrams in tablet form. Dissolve the ascorbic acid in 2 tablespoons of cold water, then add to ½ cup sugar and mix thoroughly. Working as quickly as possible, peel, core and slice apples (5 cups for an 8-inch pie, 6 cups for a 9-inch pie). Add sugar-ascorbic acid mixture to the sliced apples in a bowl and mix gently but thoroughly. Pack into freezer cartons or plastic bags freeze immediately.

To Make Pies Using Frozen Apples

Leave apples in containers during defrosting. Thaw sufficiently to separate pieces, then place in a bowl. Measure ½ to ¾ cup sugar for 5 cups apples or ½ to 1 cup sugar for 6 cups apples, mixing in a little spice if desired. Add to apples and mix gently but thoroughly. Turn into pie plate lined with pastry, dot with about 1 tablespoon of butter, cover with top crust and bake in a very hot oven (450°F.) until a medium brown, 15 to 20 minutes. Turn heat to 350°F. and continue baking about 30 minutes.

DISTRICT NEWS

Brownsburg

Mr. Campbell Stephens, of Cornwall, Miss Kathryn Stephens, of Ottawa, Mr. Wayne Petley and Miss Judith Petley, of Montreal, spent the week-end at their respective homes here.

Mrs. James Thompson, of Gananoque, visited relatives and friends here recently.

Bereaved

Sympathy is extended to Mrs. James Gauley in her bereavement; her sister, Mrs. Ethel Maxwell, who had resided with her for the past few years, passed away last week. The late Mrs. Maxwell will be missed by many relatives and friends here. She had a kind word and a happy smile for everyone and was always ready to help those in need.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Tomalty spent Sunday with relatives and friends in Montreal.

Rev. Lawrence E. Mason, Stewardship Secretary for the Baptist Convention of Ontario and Quebec, was the guest speaker at Maple Avenue Baptist Church on Sunday morning last; while here he was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Prosser and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Dixon, of Dalesville.

Mrs. Elliott, of Saint John, N. B., has returned home after visiting her daughter, Mrs. Clifford Armstrong, Mr. Armstrong, and family.

Thank-offering Meeting

The Maple Avenue Baptist Mission Circle Thank-offering meeting was held in the church Thursday evening of last week, with Mrs. C. L. Stephens presiding. The Rev. Robert Malcolm, returned missionary from Angola, gave an illustrated address on his work among the natives there. This was enjoyed by the large gathering present, which included many guests from other congregations. The devotional period was in charge of Mrs. N. E. Smillie, who used the theme, "God Careth For You". Mrs. Mason Crosby played "God will take care of you" for the opening of this period and sang it as a solo for the closing. Refreshments and a social hour were enjoyed after the meeting.

Grenville

The annual deanery meeting of the Anglican W.A. was held at Rawdon on Wednesday last. Those who attended included the Rev. John Cohen, rector of Grenville, and W. A. members, Mrs. J. Laviolette, Mrs. Maude Leroy, Mrs. Stanley Dewar, Miss Zella Crooks and Miss Geraldean Owens.

Mr. Danny Stote, of Huntingdon, Que., spent the week-end with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Mimee.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Bigelow and son Brent, of Calumet, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Corl Gauley.

Miss Joan Skew and Miss Lorna Jenkins, of Montreal, were Sunday guests of the Rev. and Mrs. John Cohen at the rectory.

Mr. and Mrs. Brian Reynolds, of Montreal, and Mr. and Mrs. Chester Millar, of the Town of Mount Royal, were recent guests of Mr. S. C. Norton.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. White of Renfrew, Ont., were guests last week of Mr. R. B. White and Miss Eva White.

Mrs. Dave Ewing, of Island Brook, Que., was the guest last week of Miss Pearl Dawson.

The Rev. and Mrs. P. R. Stote and Frank and Frances, of Huntingdon, Que., were guests on Tuesday of Mr. and Mrs. Mimee.

Old resident laid to rest in Avoca cemetery

The late Wm. MacLean

Pte. au Chene — Mr. William MacLean passed away August 30 at the Smith Clinic, Hawkesbury, in his 83rd year.

The late Mr. MacLean was married to Annie MacLeod, of Avoca, in 1905. He spent the earlier part of his life farming in Harrington and Avoca. He was also employed by the C.I.P. in Low, Que., but spent the latter part of his life in Pointe au Chene. He was known as a good neighbor and was always willing to lend a helping hand.

He was predeceased by two brothers, Dougall, in 1959 and Lachie, in 1960; also a nephew, Russell, in August of this year.

He is mourned by his widow and one daughter, Mrs. J. Filoon (Briza), of Pte. au Chene.

The funeral was held from the Grenville Funeral Home, where service was conducted by Rev. C. S. Woods and Mr. Ken Brown. Hymns sung were "Safe in the Arms of Jesus" and "What a Friend we have in Jesus".

The remains were laid to rest in the Avoca Cemetery. Pallbearers were six of Mr. MacLean's nephews — Messrs. Dona Currie, Fred MacLeod, William Provencal, Elmer Andrews, Clarence MacLeod, and Alex Waite.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Patrick, of Westmount, spent Saturday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Jeffrey.

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice A. Boulais, of St. Andrews East, have returned from a trip on which they visited their relatives and friends in Ottawa, Hartford, Conn., Nashua, N.H., and Rocky Point, R.I.

On Round-the-World Trip

Miss E. Hills Young, of Harpenden, Herts, England, has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Jeffrey for several days.

Miss Young, who is a cousin of Mrs. Jeffrey, trained as a nurse at St. Thomas Hospital, London, and from 1929 to 1943 was matron of the Sudan Nursing Service, and afterwards principal matron of the Civilian Relief British Red Cross Commission, North-West Europe. In this capacity she had the horrifying experience of visiting Belsen Camp a few days after it was liberated.

Miss Young, who has now retired from many of her more important duties, is at present on a round-the-world trip by air, visiting old colleagues who, like herself, are Florence Nightingale Scholars.

J. A. POLLOCK'S TIPS ON HOW TO INCREASE YOUR INCOME WITH EGGS!

Do you need an income insurance plan for the years ahead? Do you want to aim for an extra $2,000.00 or $5,000.00 a year? A commercial layer flock can supply that extra income.

Purina has worked out a complete new plan and we can show you how you may increase your income with eggs. Just tell us what you'd like to earn. We'll figure out how many birds you'll need to make that profit—the estimated cost of the birds, housing, equipment, feed, supplies, medication, even things like electricity, taxes and depreciation of building.

We'll suggest whether it's best to renovate your present building or whether it's really cheaper to start from scratch

We'd like to show you the right way to get into the layer business. We'll advise you on the best of feeds and help you decide where your best egg market is. Why not call us and make an appointment, let's sit down and discuss how you may make additional income from a layer flock.

Constructive topic in lecture series —

Concept of historic exhibits; an ideal for Carillon Museum

At Carillon Museum on Saturday, September 15, President A. F. Hanley introduced the fourth speaker in the summer series of historical lectures, Mr. J. D. Herbert, Chief of National Division of Historic Sites, Department of Northern Affairs.

By means of beautiful colored slides, Mr. Herbert gave a presentation of "Museum Trends in the Historical Monuments Commission". He introduced the slides by explaining that these were pictures of two types — three "narrative" museums, at Batoche, Grande Pré, and the Graham Bell at Baddeck, N.S.; and that of the MacKenzie King home which was "environmental", as was also the Upper Canada Village, which depicted conditions in the life of early Upper Canada.

The pictures of Batoche told the story of the Northwest Rebellion of 1885, a story of "A Conflict of Cultures". On one side, the incoming immigrants sponsored and financed by the Canadian Government were allotted homesteads which divided the prairie, threatened extinction of the buffalo herds, and introduced a new way of life. On the other side were those already in possession of the same prairie, the nomadic Indian bands, the half-breeds, usually the children of an Indian mother and a Scotch or English trapper, who roamed the prairie in pursuit of game and food.

This story was depicted in the tiny Batoche museum which originally had been the quarters of the Oblate Fathers, school and post office. Mr. Herbert mentioned that, in the nearby village of Batoche, his museum party was received with some hostility and even vandalism, to defeat their efforts. The local people assumed that this "outfit from Ottawa" was there simply to perpetuate the memory of a victory of Canadian Militia, by force of numbers and the assistance of a Gatling gun. As his crew persisted in their work, three descendants of the survivors of that tragedy, even though 80 years have passed, began to realize that he was telling their side of the story — "A Conflict of Cultures", showing that they had not been disloyal to, nor were fighting against, Canada as a country, but merely trying to obtain their rights as they saw them, ignored by the Federal Government. Finally they gave their cooperation to the project by offering articles for display in the museum which would help tell the story correctly.

At Grand Pré, the Atlantic Railway Co. had created a beautiful park with a memorial building, almost church-like in form, equipped with seats for an audience and a statue of Evangeline, the personification of the Acadians, in front of the building.

The Atlantic Railway Co. turned the complete memorial park and building over to the Dominion Parks Dept., and they turned it over to the Dept. of Northern Affairs and to Mr. Herbert, to create a "narrative" museum to tell the story of the Acadians. . . The Acadians were descendants of the French who settled in Acadia and who still remained there after the Treaty of Utrecht in 1713, which transferred Acadia to Great Britain. Officialdom in Great Britain demanded that the Acadians take the full oath of allegiance to Great Britain, individually. Their leaders encouraged them to resist; and British officialdom decided that the group must be broken up. They ordered that the Acadians, about 6,000, be scattered between the colonies, Quebec and those along the Atlantic seaboard. Innocent farmers paid the price for responding to their leadership.

What happened afterwards to the Acadians? — Split up by number, not even by family groups, they were transported by ship to the various colonies, but without any preparation for their reception. This provided the material for Longfellow's poem, Evangeline. No poet has since arisen, nor anthropologist produced facts, to show that the surviving Acadians gradually worked their way back. From the "Planters" and the "United Empire Loyalists" who had taken over their farms, they gradually resettled in their original area; so that today, what is termed the longest village street on this continent, is a succession of small villages along the inner shore of Nova Scotia, the Annapolis Valley, which now is practically entirely French Acadian.

To take over the church-like building, never designed for a museum, and convert it into one to tell the real story of the Acadians, was a difficult task; but Mr. Hebert's pictures convincingly proved that this has been done to the satisfaction of all concerned.

The third "narrative" museum was once again the task of taking over an existing building, of extreme tetrahedal design and the Blood donations exceed objective —over 600 pints

Chairman Ken Riley and Co-chairman Paul Deslauriers expressed their satisfaction last night (Tuesday) on conclusion of the two-day blood donor clinic at Lachute Auditorium — arranged through the efforts of Lachute Red Cross unit, in co-operation with the provincial Red Cross blood donor service and its mobile clinic.

The target of 600 blood donations was exceeded; the total contribution by volunteer donors was 608 pints of life-giving blood, for hospital and emergency patients wherever needed in this province.

At the afternoon and evening clinics each day, there was a full turn-out of medical personnel and willing helpers, to assist in all phases of the operation. . . To each and all, including the volunteer donors who made this effort so successful, the chairmen express their sincere appreciation.

$80,000 contract for new sidewalks in Hawkesbury

Ontario Hydro has recently awarded a contract of $80,000 for the rebuilding of 13,000 feet of sidewalk on Hawkesbury's main thoroughfare.

The contract was awarded to Roads Resurfacing Ltd., of Chesterville, Ont. Other bidders were — P. Ouimet Construction Ltée, Hawkesbury; Dibblee Construction, Ottawa; Ménard Construction, Hawkesbury; Hiland Ltd., Montreal; Charles Duranceau, Hawkesbury; Three Star Paving, Montreal; F. Blais, Hawkesbury.

Ottawa Gas Corpn. is contributing $29,422 of the contract price, as compensation for disruption of sidewalks on certain sections of the street, caused by laying the company's gas lines.

"The Scene" IN BROWNSBURG

(Our District Correspondent)

— A local citizen, probably voicing the opinion of many Brownsburg residents, commented that the town seems to have more than its share of "flea bags" (dogs) running loose on the streets. Some time ago, Council decided that dog owners must purchase licenses at the municipal offices. . . If they neglected to do so they would be subject to a fine. — No doubt it's time the law was enforced, along with a regulation forcing dog owners to keep their pets at home or on a leash.

* * *

— Council must decide what to do with the muncipal vehicles during the winter Could be that the town garage will be covered with a new roof, if the Council can find a place to put a new office building. Inability to obtain such a location will probably force the town to replace the old building with a new one of the same type (garage and offices) on the present site.

* * *

— While Temporary Police Chief Aurel Lemay has been maintaining the "status quo", the the town seems no closer to having a permanent man than it was two weeks ago, when Council examined 10 offers and picked out the five most likely-looking prospects. Temporarily, "status quo" can be accepted, but never on a long term basis.

* * *

— "When you come to a stop-sign, S T O P !" This appears to be Chief Lemay's attitude regarding the stop-signs placed on Main Street in front of the school when the children are going back at 12.45. More power to him. You just can't depend on the actions of young children, so motorists are being asked to come to a full stop at the signs, to avoid any possibility of accidents. This is a request which should certanly be complied with by all drivers.

* * *

— The reason behind the Boy Scouts' request to tie up bundles of newspapers securely for their paper drive on October 13, is that each bundle requires something like six handlings before it reaches its destination. In the last two years, the Scouts have earned some $300 by collecting paper.

CNIB campaign in Brownsburg closing Oct. 8

If one stops for a moment and takes stock of all the wonderful things one has, the realization will dawn upon us that we have to be thankful for many lovely things around us — the sight of loved ones, the beauty of nature, and the gift of good health, which assures us that we are able to do a full day's work and be compensated for it.

A few years back, a number of our citizens had never known the chance to enjoy things around them. With the establishment of CNIB in this County, hope and joy has been restored to the hearts of these people. Volunteer workers, with the help of your contributions, have done a lot towards the building of a brighter life for sightless people.

Mrs. T. E. Zimmer is chairman for the Brownsburg campaign, (September 24 to October 8) with an objective of $750. which will do much towards the work of the Institute.

A short time ago, a young man had lost his eyesight due to an accident. The only thought he had, was to commit suicide and end his miseries. With the help of some good friends and the CNIB this young man was finally convinced that he had a useful purpose in our midist, and that his courage and efforts would be a monument of encouragement to others. Today he is doing well, and has started a small business; and the people of his community are doing everything they can to encourage this young man. . . "Your money has done a lot towards helping Robert", stated Mrs. Zimmer in recalling this instance.

When volunteer canvassers call upon you, please be as generous as possible; and if perchance you have been missed, or were away from home, please send your donation either to Mrs. T. E. Zimmer or to the CNIB Laurentian offices, 145 Drew Street, Lachute.

This picture, kindly supplied by by Mrs. H. Villeneuve of Cushing, shows the famed rock on the cliff at Cushing overlooking the Ottawa River — which was removed last spring for safekeeping by Quebec Hydro, to be preserved among historic exhibits of these parts, presumably in the Carillon Park.

No one knows the history of this rock, but it is generally assumed to have been hollowed out by a pebble rotating in an eddy of water before the glacial age; and in the settling or upheaval of this oldest rock formation in the world, the stone is assumed to have tipped, so that the hole appeared almost horizontal. To illustrate its size, Mrs. Villeneuve has the picture showing her son, John Villeneuve, at a youthful age, in the hole which was about 6 feet deep.

Paper drive

A paper drive in the Lachute district is planned by the Lachute troop of Boy Scouts. Residents are requested to keep their newspapers for the mid-October drive, the exact date of which will be announced later.

Sidelights, local and provincial, on election announced for Nov. 14

Quebec (CP) — René Levesque said last April that the Quebec Government's policy of nationalization of hydro-electric companies, when announced, would "electrify the province". Truer words were never spoken.

When Premier Jean Lesage announced a November 14 election on this issue, the shock was electrifying. A referendum had been expected, or at least, an involved decision on the controversial take-over.

"The government has decided to ask the people of Quebec for a decisive mandate to bring about the unification of the electric power systems in the province," Premier Lesage announced.

* * *

Following are a few briefs on the election picture, both local and province-wide.

Nomination of candidates takes place October 31. It is foreseen there will be a full entry list of candidates. The total of eligible electors in the province will exceed 2,850,000.

* * *

Wm. M. Cottingham, former Minister of Mines and present representative for Argenteuil, on the Union Nationale party, states that he will stand for re-election as official candidate for his party. This will be Mr. Cottingham's fifth election campaign in 14 years; he has never been defeated.

* * *

Among the Liberals of this constituency, the convention to select a candidate will be held October 6 in Lachute Auditorium. Two partisans have announced their intention to seek the candidature — Rodrigue Durocher, candidate in 1960, and Maurice Dumas, citizen and former councillor in Ayersville.

* * *

Although the Liberal Federation of Quebec has postponed its convention, the Argenteuil group is holding its rally this evening in order to nominate delegates. The County organization is chaired by Roger Lagarde, Q.C., as president.

* * *

District Returning Officer here is Notary Jacques Beaudoin, who has filled this role since 1944. The enumeration of electors will start October 8.

* * *

In the Quebec provincial election of 1960 there were 102 polling stations in this County. A total of 14,898 voters exercised their franchise, out of 16,576 eligible; 179 ballots were rejected. Mr. Cottingham polled 8,835 votes against Mr. Durocher, 5,884, for a majority of 2,951.

Lions' Rink being readied for skating season

Work has begun in putting the Lions' Skating Rink in shape for the coming season. Thirty-three local boys spent their Saturday clearing the rink of weeds. Filling, levelling and painting of the boards are in progress.

The rink will open for skating the end of October, weather permitting.

This year's Rink Committee consists of — Clayton C. Robinson, chairman; Fred Jeffery, vice-chairman; J. Bourgoing, treasurer and rink manager; W. W. Clarke, secretary and publicity.

President of hockey leagues and activities is Paul Deslauriers; and in charge of major maintenance, Clifford Lowe.

Poppy Campaign and other plans at Legion meet

The regular Legion meeting was held in the Memorial Hall on Wednesday last, with Cde. George Kirby in the chair. As this was the first meeting since June, considerable business was covered. Cde. C. Tucker handed out a written report to all members on the Dominion Convention held in Halifax.

Cde. 1st vice-president E. W. Evans is the 1962 chairman of the Poppy Campaign. More on this at a later date.

Cdes. S. Jones and C. Duncan, as Scout representatives, reported on Scout activities, and requested volunteers from members to act as leaders or assistant leaders. This is a most worthwhile cause, and one which Legionnaires could well assist. Any member who is willing to act in this capacity, contact Cdes. Jones and/or Duncan.

L.H.S teachers to be speakers at Prot. convention

In the program of the Protest-Teachers' Convention, October 4-5 at the High School of Montreal, a special session on Senior English (Thursday afternoon, 2 to 3 o'clock) will feature a discourse by Miss Elizabeth Stanton on "Teaching Composition in Grades X and XI". Miss Stanton, a valued member of Lachute High School staff, has made a specialty of English and earned recognition as an authority on this subject.

Mr. Bob Wyse, also of the Lachute staff, will give a demonstration of Teaching Techniques in Biology, Friday morning from 10.45 till 12 noon.

The Convention will officially begin on the morning of October 4, the opening session chaired by P.A.P.T. President Dorothy J. Kidd, M.A., of Outremont High School. At this meeting, honorary life memberships will be presented, and the address will be given by J. Edward Perry, 1961-62 president of the association. His speech is entitled "Front Page Challenge", dealing with important issues and challenges facing education today.

On Friday afternoon, October 5, Dr. A. Keys, scientific advisor to the president of Atomic Energy of Canada, will address the Convention on the subject "Atomic Energy serves Humanity."

Arnold Edinborough, M.A., well-known TV commentator and former editor of Toronto Saturday Night, will be the chief speaker at the final meeting, Friday, October 5, at 8.15 p.m., climaxing a two-day series of meetings at which over 4,500 Quebec teachers will gather to hear leaders in education from Canada and the United States, to take part in discussions, to view demonstration lessons, and to learn about educational developments of the past year.

L'Argenteuil wins 3rd consecutive top-quality award

At the French-language Weekly Newspapers convention, held in the Laurentians last week, the local paper "L'Argenteuil" won the top-quality award for the third successive year, and for the fourth time in the last six years. The award is the Louis Francoeur Shield, for papers of 3,000 circulation or less. . . The Raymond Douville trophy for higher circulation weeklies (over 3,000) was won by l'Echo du Nord, published at St. Jerome.

The trophy was received by Fernand Berthiaume, editor of "L'Argenteuil", from Gaétan Major, director of publicity and representing the Quebec Government, at the closing banquet of the conference on Saturday evening. The convention was staged at l'Hotel Esterel, Ste. Marguerite.

Congratulations are extended to Mr. Berthiaume and his staff for winning this distinction, based on both editorial and typographical merits.

'Open house'at B'burg C-I-L ammunition plant

A plant tour for C-I-L employees and their guests is on the program this week (Tuesday and Wednesday, afternoons and evenings) at the Explosives and Ammunition Division in Brownsburg.

This "open house", similar to a venture which proved popular with visitors in September 1949, extends to each employee the privilege of escorting two guests over a prescribed route, to view most essential processes in the plant. Guides are posted along this route to answer questions and give explanations, the tour including numerous departments, also the plant hospital. In addition there are special displays, exhibiting component parts, safety equipment, safety awards and C-I-L literature. Refreshments are served to the visitors at two of the plant canteens.

With planned organization for this venture outside the routine of plant operations, it was estimated there would be an attendance of 2,000-odd visitors during the two days.

History Assocn. of Montreal visits St. Andrews, Carillon

The History Association of Montreal holds an excursion each autumn to some place of historic interest. The object is to get first-hand information and local history of areas in the vicinity of Montreal.

This year the outing covered the St. Andrews East - Carillon district, and about 40 members and friends arrived by special bus and private car about 11 a.m. last Saturday.

Places of historic interest and importance given special attention by the party were Christ Church and the Presbyterian Church in St. Andrews East, both built about 1818; the Museum at Carillon dating from the 1820's; and St. Mungo's Church at Cushing, also an early-1800 structure. The visit to the latter was confined to the grounds, the building itself not being open at the time.

At Christ Church the features of note were outlined by Mr. F. W. F. Whitehead, one of the Wardens, while at the Presbyterian Church an interesting resumé of the history of the congregation was given by Dr. Harold Reid, the minister. . . Following a tour of the church, a delicious luncheon prepared by the ladies of the congregation, was enjoyed by the party.

Most of the afternoon was spent at the Carillon Museum, which contains one of the best collections of local exhibits anywhere in Canada, the building itself commanding a beautiful view of the Ottawa River. It is hoped that funds can be raised in sufficient amount before too long, so that these valuable exhibits may be presented to better advantage to the visiting public.

Time did not permit a stop at the new Carillon Dam. However, a running commentary was made en route by Mr. Peter L. Walker, a local summer resident and vice-president of the Association.

On the return trip, the party was entertained to tea at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walker, whose beautiful old stone house is itself of historic and architectural interest.

French lessons start October 1

Those wishing to take the French Conversation course, provided free by Quebec Government sponsorship, are requested to register at the opening class on Monday, October 1, at 7.30 p.m. (Room 214, Lachute High School). Both ladies and gentlemen, regardless of age, are eligible to take this course.

The insiruction was arranged through efforts of the Lachute Women's Institute. Teacher for the classes is Mrs. Sylvia Baraf, French specialist at L.H.S.

Liberal party conventions are postponed

Gerard Brady, executive-secretary of the Quebec Liberal Federation, announced that the annual convention of the Federation scheduled at Montreal for November 16-17-18, is being postponed to a later date.

At the same time, it was announced that the annual convention of the Q.Y.L.F. which was to have been held in Granby on October 13-14, also has been postponed.

The postponements were decided because of the calling of the general election in the province November 14.

Week's Epigram

One sure drawback to improved transportation is that there is no longer any such thing as a distant relative.

Drivers' permits

The mobile unit for auto drivers' tests will be stationed at the Court House, Grace St., Lachute, on October 4 and 5. Applicants wishing to procure licenses should present themselves on these days.

B'burg meeting of Red Cross

Brownsburg — The first meeting of the Canadian Red Cross, Brownsburg branch, was held in the Social Club on September 17.

The president, Mr. Larry Pressault, presided. Reports of the various committees were read. Several articles from the loan cupboard have been in use during the summer months. Mr. Binner completed his course in Water Safety, but felt the time after his return was too short to start a course in swimming instruction this year. He is therefore planning for an early start in the coming year.

The amount of the financial campaign to date is $1,483.20 with the Avoca territory being added to Brownsburg district.

The workroom is in need of ladies who will donate at least a few minutes a week to sewing or knitting, or binding baby blankets. There is work available for everyone. Mrs. Barker will be at the Social Club workroom every Friday from 2 to 4 p.m.

Staff of Main Street business establishment

Fall folding-up job at Rotary park and pool

At the September 20 meeting of Brownsburg-Lachute Rotary Club, following the supper, a good and strong contingent of Rotarians turned up at the Club's community park to help with dismantling and storing of the equipment. It was perfect weather for such a task, and in the brisk night air, the work was completed in an hour. Special thanks are due to George Paul and Tom Hall, who supplied some mechanized help for hauling the picnic tables and towing the raft up onto shore.

Another important date in the near future is Wednesday, October 3, when a monstrous Thanksgiving turkey bingo will be held at the Brownsburg Legion Hall. There will be 20 turkey bingos, one special bingo, and a door prize. Free numbered tickets will be circulated within the next week by Rotarians. Be sure to get yours!

"ARGENTEUIL OUTDOORS"

By BOB ATCHISON

After witnessing the opening of the Duck season at first hand, I feel I must warn all serious hunters about the goings-on. One of the spots I managed to look over had about as many blinds as the whole of Lachute! No thought had been given to distance from other blinds, and this presented a serious problem. EVERYTHING that flew was shot at by EVERYONE, including a plane that was going over. The number of FORTIFIED hunters was high; and a good number of them stepped out of their boats into a cold bath. Shots flew in all directions. There were two casualties that I know of. One man was shot in the neck with a pellet and had to have it removed by a doctor. The other got hit on the arm; the shot, after passing through his jacket, did not do much harm. To my way of seeing things, this was the most stupid exhibition of shooting imaginable. Being proud of the shooters around this area for keeping out of trouble, I naturally hoped to see something worthwhile. . . . I sure did, but not in the way I expected! The very sad part of all this was the fact that all these shooters were from Lachute and vicinity. Very few out-of-towners.

Most of us have read the protests against allowing pollution of our rivers and lakes. This situation has been in evidence for years, with not too much attention paid to it. It's obvious, everyone has to pull together to get this licked, and I'm sure most average citizens are in favor. The general attitude right now, however, is — why should we as citizens exert ourselves if the government allows big companies to go right ahead and make excuses? This is true in a lot of cases; it would seem, the larger the company the more they can get away with. We know the Water Pollution Board is trying to do a job, but what is the use if they get no cooperation from the corporations.

One glaring example of this is the Town of Lachute. Our water filtration plant has so far cost a lot more than was intended, and no doubt will cost more; yet there is no thought given to a sewage disposal unit. Most persons I have talked to have this to say: "St. Jerome hasn't got one, so why should we?" . . If St. Jerome wants to live in filth and disease, does that mean we have to?

* * *

Out on the river early this morning, I saw a sight I will not see again for some time. As the mist was rising from the water, hundreds of fish could be heard and seen jumping. Just as soon as the mist cleared, everything stopped. It was a strange occurrence and one I would like to know the answer to. Some of these fish must have been big, judging by the noise they made when landing back in the water.

* * *

Ducks are not too plentiful, and it's no wonder. The weather has not been the duck man's dream, so they are staying out in the rivers and lakes. (I sure made a mistake when I thought only the serious hunters went out after ducks. It's as bad out in the blinds as it is in the bush!)

* * *

Some of our summer birds are still with us. These birds may have been farther north, and are on the way south. They were (as near as I could tell) Goldfinches, and it makes a nice splash of colour to see them. Jays are in profusion, along with the Starlings. All the Red Wings are gone, and we miss them. Every morning I could look out the window at the river and see them in the cat-tails. A couple of their nests are in view, and I suppose when the leaves fall, more of them will show up. They certainly build a beautiful nest; the workmanship on them is amazing. For any person wishing to learn something about birds, it pays to get out into the bush and examine some of these. You can figure out just what kind of bird it is — lazy, energetic, temperamental. I think nests are like fingerprints of the species. Seeing some of the weaver birds and their nests, makes you wonder at the patience employed in this job of home-building. The ladies will know about this — just how tedious weaving can be.

* * *

Fishing is not over as yet, and I for one am making the most of it. Winter is a long time — a time to enjoy one's memories. A couple of the boys were talking of this, and wondering if it will be as good until the end of the season. We think so; but even if it isn't, we have still had some excellent fishing this past season. One of the stories was of a town enthusiast who saw his line bobbing up and down, and struck so hard the fish flew right over his head into the bush; he spent half an hour looking for it, with no luck!

* * *

There is still much comment on the banning of .22s from the bush. A real mess was made of this ruling, and it seems to be getting worse. Another interpretation of this law really blows the whistle on some of the Lame Brains running the Department. A .22 is allowed if the person carrying it has a Big Game permit. In other words this is O.K. if you have paid the money for a deer or moose license. Where they could get such an interpretation is beyond me, but no doubt some joker came up with this one in order to take the heat off. . . As we know, they have called a new election for the near future. I'm no politician, but it might be well for all sportsmen to remember what is happening to our wildlife, hunting laws, parks, etc.

* * *

Maybe this will interest some of you hunters. A call this week enquired how to go about finishing a gun stock that had been badly scratched. . . Well, take the gun apart, scrape all the varnish off, either with a coarse sandpaper or small piece of glass. Be sure to scrape the one way, so as not to groove the wood. When you think you have all the old finish off, rub with a piece of brown paper. You will then see blemishes on the wood. This usually is the old finish, so more work is required to get it off. Now some very fine sandpaper should be used, taking care to rub one way only. Now you can start polishing with the brown paper. The more this is done, the better the grain will come up. A good way to bring the grains right up, is to use a damp cloth, wipe it over the stock, then polish once again. Be very careful if you try this; too much water will spoil the stock.

Don't get the idea this is an easy way to do your stock. It is not, because you now have to polish it with oil. Either a pure linseed or lemon oil will do a good job. This is a slow process and one that can't be rushed. Rub small amounts of oil over the wood with your hand, rubbing in well. Let it dry, then polish it once more. By the way, use a wood oil only, nothing else.

If you work on this enough you will improve the value of your gun at least $50. A hand-polished stock is a costly item, and only the very best of guns have them.

* * *

Wolves are supposed to be on the run once more. As usual, the wolf is being blamed anyway. As I have pointed out all summer, dogs have been the culprits in this area, and they are very much in evidence as the Wardens will testify. Homeless dogs are never a pretty sight but left in the bush to fend for themselves, they become dangerous to everything.

* * *

A tip for the Wardens, that may bring results. Partridge are being taken up around the Dunany Road in the evening. This is nothing new; the same applies to the Ducks being shot when it is almost dark. The law says half an hour after sunset, but this will be argued by some as meaning anytime before sunrise. Too bad.

LEGION NOTES

"ACTIVE SERVICE YESTERDAY COMMUNITY SERVICE TODAY"

If we were asked to relate the origin, history or design of our flag, how many of us could give a relatively explanatory answer? The writer is ashamed to say, he was asked just such a question and was unable to give a suitable answer. Some delving and research has come up with considerable information regarding our country's flag, and we pass it on for what it may be worth. . .

Flags or standards originated far back in the dim reaches of history. Early man used the skins of animals attached to long poles, to designate the tribe or band to which they belonged. These emblems were also used for signal purposes and men travelling through the forests could tell by this means whether they were among friendly or hostile peoples.

In time of battle the tribal emblem served as a rallying point. Men gathered in strength around it, and followed where it was carried. Most always the fighting was active around the standard and it has always been a signal honor to carry the standard into battle. When one of these standards was captured by the enemy, it was not only a sign of defeat but one of disgrace.

The early emblems or standards were not made of cloth, as today, but were usually carved figures. The earliest "flags", as we call them, were religious banners. Many national flags had their beginning as a sacred banner, as is the case with the Oriflamme of Old France and the Dannebrog of Denmark, the British Union Jack, and our own Canadian Flag.

No one really knows which banner was the first to fly on what is now Canadian soil. History tells us John Cabot placed England's Royal Standard on Cape Breton Island on June 24, 1497. Jacques Cartier, in 1534, set up the crown and shield bearing the golden fleur-de-lis, the Royal Lillies of France.

Under this white banner, with the fleur-de-lis of France, New France was literally carved out of the forests and wilderness. Bold and adventuresome souls carried the lillies from the St. Lawrence to the Mississippi and from the Great Lakes to the western mountains. Today, although the fleur-de-lis have long since disappeared from the flag of France, they still gleam from the shield of the Canadian coat-of-arms which appear on the fly of the national flag of Canada. In the upper left-hand corner of our flag is the Union Jack, symbol of our British heritage, the origin of which stretches for back into the past.

To define the Canadian Flag it is necessary to start with the Union Jack. The reason for the word "Union" is the placing of the three crosses of the United Kingdom — Cross of St. George, the St. Andrew's Cross, and the Cross of St. Patrick. The word "Jack" comes from the small flags ships used to carry on the foremast or bowsprit. These small flags were called jacks, and the staffs to which they were attached were called jackstaffs.

When King Richard the Lion Hearted returned from the Crusades in 1194, he introduced the Cross of St. George (a red cross on a white background) and made it the battle flag of England. As years went by, the Saint became recognized as the Patron Saint of England. For 300 years Englishmen fought under this flag, and carried it to the four corners of the world.

In 1603, James VI of Scotland became King of England as well, and three years later the Cross of St. Andrew was combined to form the Union Jack of the two countries. The Cross of St. Andrew is an X-shaped cross, or a saltire, as it is called in heraldry. it is blue on a white background.

The new flag immediately began its travels about the globe. Explorers brought it to new lands and new places, and it waved on high at battlefields in Europe, in India, and was carried by Wolfe at Quebec. Under its banner were laid the foundations of the British Empire.

In the reign of King George III, the Act of Union with Ireland was passed, and the Cross of St. Patrick, a red saltire on a white field, was added to the flag. It was now known as the Union Jack of the United Kingdom, and was first flown New Year's Day, 1801.

Beneath its folds Irishmen, Scotsmen, Englishmen, Canadians, Anzac and South Africans have fought and died on many a field.

In the dark and troublesome days of World War II many people of many nations looked at it with the hope that —

The meteor flag of England
Shall yet terrific burn,
Till danger's troubled night depart,
And the Star of Peace return."

Studebaker cars on display at new dealer's

A new Studebaker dealership for the Lachute district under the name of Carillon Motor Sales Inc., is situated in Whisselltown, on the Ottawa Highway. The name Carillon Motors was adopted after the Hydro project, and since the dam will give the area new electrical service, the proprietors also wish to become known for their service (and for a "dam" good deal, they state!)

Perhaps it is because South Bend, Indiana, is not in Detroit, Mich., that the Studebaker concern have tended to break away from the normal conceptfon of an American automobile, also the fusion of Studebaker-Packard and Mercedes-Benz interests, in the U.S.A. has caused a certain resemblance between the Studebaker Larks and the Mercedes-Benz 220's.

Lark has well earned a reputation for endurance by winning the rugged Trans-Canada Rally known as the Shell 4000. The race which starts at Montreal and finishes in Vancouver, attracts the world's top drivers, and every make of car is entered. Along with winning the Rally, the Lark picked up further accolades by being named for the "Car of the Year" award, as determined by the automotive experts of Canada Track and Traffic, Canada's automotive magazine.

Lark's big brother the Avanti (Italian for "go forward") released this summer, wasted no time in proving its worth at the Bonneville flats. It set 29 new records certified by the USAC, one being a top speed of 178.5 mph, making it the fastest stock car in the world. Incidentally, this speed record was run in total darkness with only the stock headlights for illumination — with no other lighting of any kind. Can you imagine what it is like covering a mile in 20 seconds in pitch darkness with only the car's headlights? Apparently without Avanti's aircraft instrument lighting, it would otherwise have been impossible. Previous to this the record was held by Mickey Thompson in a 1962, 421-cubic-inch dual 4-barrel racing version Pontiac at 153.67 mph.

These cars are on display at Carillon Motors, and the proprietors feel they have reasons to be proud of being associated with the Studebaker Corporation.

Closing contest Fishing, Hunting Association

Members of the Argenteuil Fishing and Hunting Association are reminded of the contest at Trout Lake, Papineau County, this coming Sunday — which coincides with the closing of the fishing season. Members may bring guests, who may enter the contest on payment of $1 fee. There will be no boats available for rental. Those desiring to take part should procure all information from club officials.

The third fishing derby held by this Association proved a successful venture last Sunday at Lac des Ecorces, near Arundel.

Last fish derby of Dow Club

At the St. Michel end of Lake Louisa next Sunday, September 30, members of the Dow Fishing Club will congregate for their last fish derby of the season, opening at 7 a.m. and closing at 5 p.m.

There will be an entry fee of $1, and boats will be available. Prizes will be given out at a bean supper the same evening, at Pine Hill Hotel.

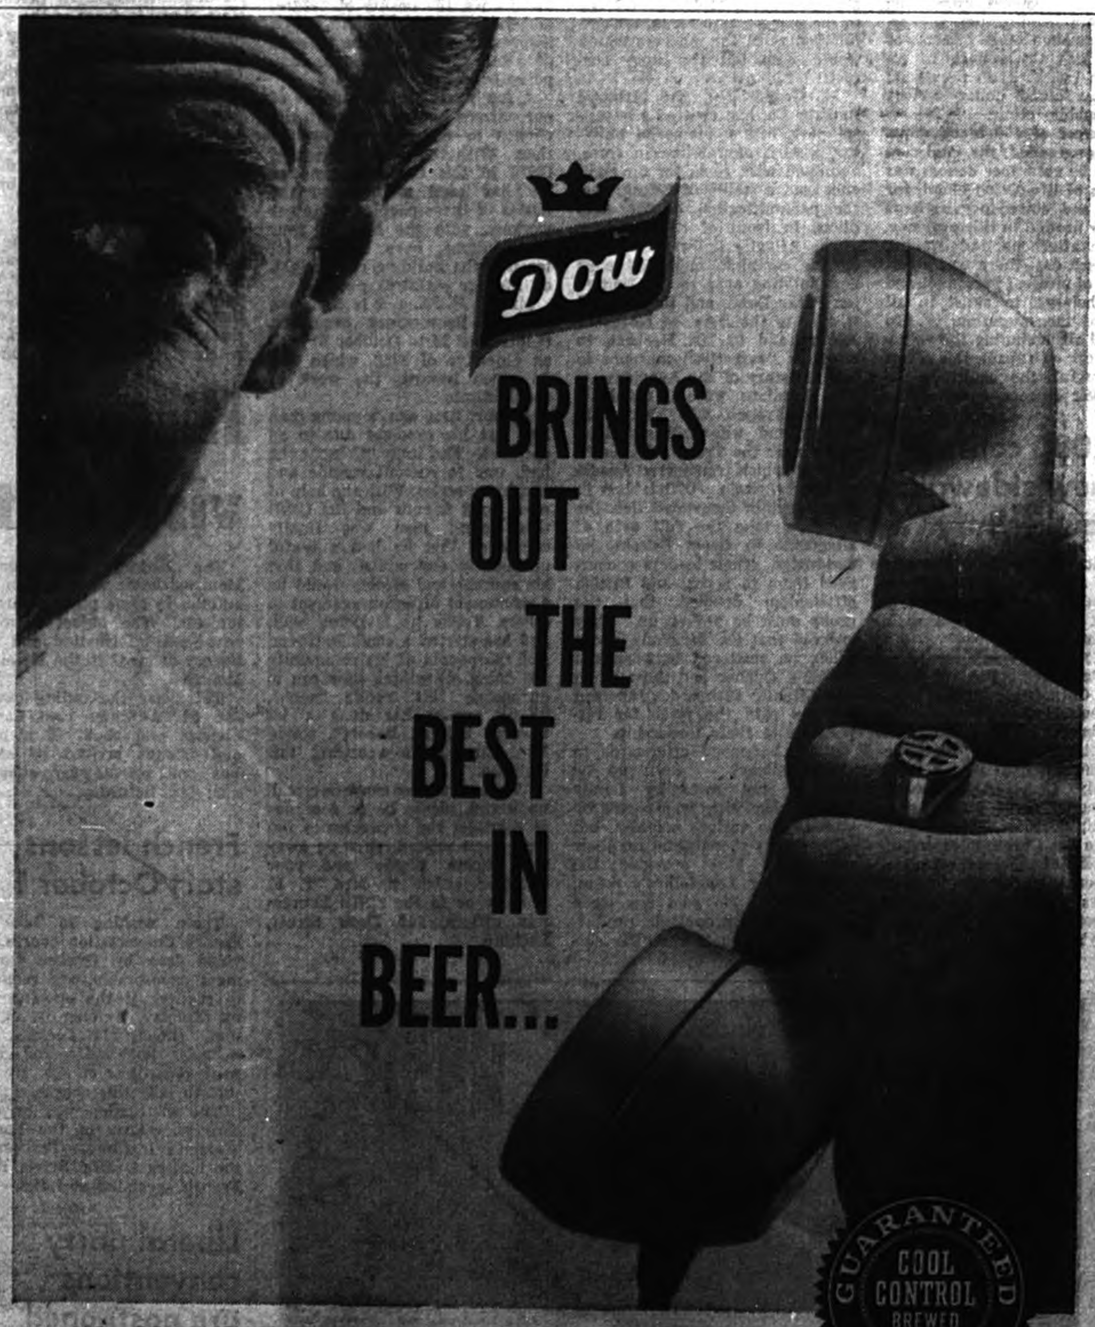

It is hoped all members will take part. Information is available from J.-P. Dion (LO 2-6724) or René Lalande (LO 2-2726).

B'burg United Church news

The U.C.W. held their meeting September 12 in the church hall, with a record attendance from the three groups. Standing committees brought in very interesting reports, and the membership convener reported there were now 100 members.

Mrs. Elliott presented seven ladies with Life Membership certificates and pins, into the U.C.W. — a follow-up of having been life members in W.M.S.

Mrs. Wyman Hazel, convener of Supply and Citizenship, announced a number of ladies were needed the following Tuesday to make "swabs", as there was an urgent need for these articles.

Mrs. D. Clark was in charge of the program, which took the form of a group discussion, and leaders of the groups brought in their reports.

* * *

The Rev. Mr. Woods announced that he and Mrs. Woods are holding "open house" next Sunday, from 3 to 5 p.m.; all the congregation are cordially invited to visit the manse.

The Messengers began their meetings Tuesday afternoon, with Mrs. D. Walker in charge.

The next item of interest to this church and friends, is the annual fall supper, September 26.

A careless man is just an accident going somewhere to happen.

Morin Heights

Mrs. C. H. Jamieson, of Montreal, spent the week-end here as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Hamilton.

An afternoon tea was given last week by Mrs. E. Gorrie at her home, in aid of the Morin Heights United Church building fund. The response by the ladies of the community was most gratifying and over $40 was realized. Sincere thanks are extended to Mrs. Gorrie for her efforts.

The annual Thanksgiving supper will be held in the United Church hall on Saturday, October 6, from 5.30 p.m. This supper has become a tradition in the community.

Mr. and Mrs. N. Knowlton and daughter, of Hawkesbury, were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Williams.

Mrs. E. C. Fayet spent a few days in Montreal recently visiting with her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. George Manthorp.

Miss Heather Campbell, of Montreal, spent the week-end here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Campbell.

Miss L. Moss, of Montreal, spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. Moss.

United Church News

The Young Adult Group held a dance at the school last Friday, and a good time was enjoyed. A profit was realized, which should help the general funds.

The Young Adult Group has met regularly throughout the summer and has been well attended. The Group hold a short service at the church and then embark on their various activities. It has been good to welcome young people from other churches, both Catholic and Protestant, thus showing Christian fellowship.

* * *

Sunday services and hymn-sings were held at 7.30 p.m. throughout the summer, and an enthusiastic congregation responded — calling out the hymn numbers of their choice.

The following movies have been shown recently at special services at the church: "The Southern Cross Crusade", of Billy Graham, and "I Beheld His Glory". A discussion group of the young people saw the movie, "Teen-Age Marriage".

Due to the opening of St. Andrew's United Church in St. Jerome, the Sunday evening services have been discontinued. Thanks are extended to the Rev. Wesley B. Ball for arranging and carrying on these many activities which enrich the community life of this town.

The Children's Hour, a regular Friday afternoon weekly service for children aged 5-12, which is led by the minister, the Rev. W. B. Ball, completed a summer-long study of the Old Testament prophets. A new series for the fall and winter months will shortly begin on the Life of Jesus. The children receive these services with enthusiasm and a lively discussion terminates the sessions.

The Junior Choir spent an afternoon at Belmont Park during the summer, in reward for their faithful work in the church.

A service for the children was held every Thursday evening at the Shawbridge United Church, in addition to the regular weekly Bible Study group.

Plans for the fall and winter by the Rev. Wesley B. Ball include Bible Study groups meeting in Shawbridge, Morin Heights and Mille Isles, in addition to the regular activities.

* * *

For this Friday only, Dr. Kenneth Prior, a United Church missioner with a varied career of 30 years in Africa, South America and the Orient, will be principal speaker at the United Church. The time, 7.30 p.m. Friday, September 28. The church is fortunate in having this visit from an outstanding Christian worker. It is hoped all members and friends will hear this outstanding churchman. The Rev. Douglas Pilkey, District Secretary of the Missionary and Maintenance Fund, will accompany Dr. Prior on his visit to Morin Heights.

Christening

At Trinity Anglican Church, Morin Heights, on Saturday evening, the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth D. Dawson received the names Herbert David George, in a ceremony by the Rev. Horace G. Baugh. The choir sang the hymn, "He loves me too," and the godparents were Mr. and Mrs. Edward V. Johnson and Mr. Carl Elder. The parents entertained afterwards at a buffet dinner.

Reassurance to church-goers

At the Sunday morning devotions in Lachute United Church, the Rev. Wilson Bridge expressed regret in curtailing the service, owing to lack of heat in the building. Assurance is given to the congregation that the heat will be "on" next Sunday, and conditions comfortable for all future services.

It is hoped that announcement will be given shortly on re-opening of the Sunday School, which has been postponed for the same reason — due to the building in progress and temporary disruption of the heating arrangements.

CNIB Auxiliary officers elected

At the annual meeting of the Women's Auxiliary to the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, held last week, reports showed that the ladies were successful in obtaining slightly over $1,000. The sum of $875 was turned over to the Advisory Board for the County of Argenteuil, earmarked for the building fund.

Mrs. Alice Dwyer, president, complimented the ladies for their excellent work. Financially, some of the sightless people have benefited by the increased demand for leathercraft articles; these items are completed by the blind and sold to the public.

Those elected to office are as follows: president, Mrs. W. Richardson; 1st vice-president, Mrs. L. Davies; 2nd vice-president, Mrs. G. Helmer; secretary, Mrs. J. Barbour; treasurer, Mrs. D. Girling.

Tough new '63 Chevrolet Trucks

. . . THE ONES THAT WHIPPED THE BAJA RUN . . . TOUGHEST UNDER THE SUN . . . TO SHOW THE WORTH OF NEW ENGINES, FRAMES AND SUSPENSIONS!

Nature created the world's toughest proving ground for trucks — the Baja (bah hah) California Peninsula, Mexico. It's thousand miles of tortuous trail that defies travel.

Chevrolet tackled this route with a Carryall, a ½-ton pickup with new 230 cu.-in. 6-cylinder engine, a ¾-ton pickup with new 292-cu.-in. *6-cylinder engine, a medium-duty unit with refrigerated van, a medium-duty diesel tanker and a heavy-duty tandem.

Rocks, ruts, washboard and washout racked the trucks from bumper to bumper. Sand, dust and rivers tried to swallow them. Hour after hour was spent in low gear at temperature up to 122 degrees F.

It took 17 days to go the 1,066 miles, and not one Chevrolet truck dropped out! Each day's run was finished on schedule!

Trucks that can take this kind of beating can take on your toughest truck jobs. See these tough, quality-built '63 Chevrolet trucks with all their new improvements at your Chevrolet dealer's. *Optional at extra cost.

QUALITY TRUCKS COST LESS

A General Motors Value

Sometimes the caravan crept along for hours in low gear. There was no traffic — just an occasional traveller on burro or horseback. It's that kind of route. It took 17 days to go 1,066 miles!

When you came to a river, you got wet. This Baja river bottom was as rocky as the road. What a test for new '63 Chevrolet suspension systems!

Tight squeeze for the medium- and heavy-duty units in the gorge. Their new narrower front-ends certainly paid off. Users who operate in close quarters will like this new '63 feature.

Chevrolet's ladder-type frames withstood the severest punishment. Shown is the ¾-ton pickup with new 292-cu.-in. *6 cylinder engine.

Temperatures as high as 122 degrees F. burned the land in the desert area around Dry Lake — one more ordeal any truck that goes to Baja has to shrug off.

Recent marriage ceremony in United Church at Kilmar

Horton-MacTavish

Kilmar United Church was the scene of a pretty wedding on Saturday, September 1, when Jean Rose, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley MacTavish, of Kilmar, was married to Mr. Rodney George Horton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Horton, of Kenogami, Que. The Rev. Wilson Bridge, of Lachute, officiated, and Mrs. Thelma Fox played the organ.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of white silk organza trimmed with lace sequins, with matching headpiece and veil. She carried red roses and white stephanotis.

The bride's attendents, Mrs. Eileen Ellis and Mrs. Rita Ellis, wore identieal dresses of blue silk organza, white accessories and blue coronet headpieces; they carried white mums and blue cornflowers. Miss Elizabeth MacTavish, sister of the bride, was flower girl; she wore a powder blue dress of silk organza with white accessories, and also carried blue cornflowers and white mums.

Mr. Sandy MacTavish, brother of the bride, and Mr. Tom Horton, brother of the groom, supported the bridegroom.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in Harrington School, after which the happy couple left for a brief honeymoon. The bride travelled in a beige suit with brown accessories, and wore a corsage of a Cymbidium orchid.

Mr. and Mrs. Horton will make their home in Timmins, Ont.

Red Shield annual appeal for Salvation Army

Letters are being mailed this week on behalf of the annual Red Shield Appeal, for which Harold Deacon is local chairman succeeding his father, the late Geo. Y. Deacon, who promoted the campaign in this district for many years.

The Salvation Army extends a helping hand in various humanitarian ventures — to the aged facing loneliness and despair; to friendless girls in unwed motherhood; to uncared-for children; to prisoners confronting an unhospitable world; and in homes undermined by need and perplexity. The "helping hand" of the Salvation Army is withheld from none in need, regardless of color, race or creed.

Lachute district has responded generously to this worthy cause each year, and it is hoped the present appeal will receive the same ready support.

Social and Personal

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Blore, of Verdun, visited relatives here, then proceeding on a holiday trip through Ontario this week.

Ian Vessie left last week to commence the Electrical Engineering degree course at the University of Waterloo, Ontario.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Kerr, of Indian Head, Sask., arrived Monday for an extended visit with the latter's sister, Mrs. Wm. F. Boa and Mr. Boa, East Ward.

Mr. Bob Campbell is on two weeks' vacation, having left for Toronto last Friday.

Miss Marjorie Kettyle, of Toronto, was the recent guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Kettyle, Bethany Road.

Alex Bridge, son of the Rev. and Mrs. Wilson Bridge, entered the Canadian School of Commercial Art in Montreal, commencing the course in this subject last Monday.

60 Years Married

Congratulations are extended to Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Elder, of 498 Grace Street, who celebrate their 60th wedding anniversary on Sunday, September 30.

Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Cunningham were in Arnprior on Monday, to visit the former's relatives.

Visitors at the home of Mr. D. J. Bates on Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Bob Bates, from Wisconsin, together with Mr. Percy McLeod and Mr. Harold Brannan, of Calumet.

Mr. and Mrs. Fernand Berthiaume, and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Church, represented the newspaper "L'Argenteuil" at the 30th annual convention of French-Language Weeklies, held last week-end at the new Hotel d'Esterel in the Laurentians.

The Rev. W. C. and Mrs. LeCras returned Monday from a two-weeks visit with their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Halford and family, in Winnipeg.

Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Brewer, of Fredericton, N.B., are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Don Titman this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Creswell and two daughters, of Rosemere, visited Mr. and Mrs. Keith Clarke and friends here last Sunday. Mr. Creswell, in the paper products sales division of Canadian International Paper, has received a promotion and will be moving next month to London, Ont.

Christening at St. Sauveur

The christening of the infant daughter of Mr. Cleveland and Lady Alison Stewart-Patterson took place recently in the Church of Saint Francis, the Rev. Horace G. Baugh officiating.

The baby, wearing an heirloom christening robe worn by her mother, grandmother and great-grandmother, was given the names of Christian Mary Lorraine. The godparents were Miss Barbara Markey, Lady Martha Bruce, (for whom Miss Carolyn Owens stood proxy), Mrs. Robert Stewart (for whom the Countess of Elgin stood proxy), and Mr. Andrew Beamish.

Following the ceremony the parents entertained at tea, at their residence in Rosemere.

Lavis-MacTavish nuptials held

Mr. and Mrs. John Norman Lavis shown following their wedding in the Margaret Rodger Memorial Presbyterian Church, Lachute, last Saturday. The bride is the former Bonnie Isabel Margaret MacTavish, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert R. MacTavish, of Brownsburg. The groom is the son of Mrs. Norman Lavis and the late Mr. Lavis, of Lachute. The couple will reside in Lachute.

90% of all oil company product research in Canada is done by Imperial

At Imperial Oil's laboratories at Sarnia, Ontario, more than 200 scientists and technicians are working to improve present petroleum products—and to develop new ones. Their research covers many fields, from gasolines to household detergents.

Another 130 scientists and technicians are working at Imperial's Calgary laboratories on ways to find and produce more Canadian crude oil and natural gas. Imperial does more research than all other oil companies in Canada combined.

Every barrel of crude oil contains some of the sun's heat. Imperial research works to unlock more of this energy. After five years' intensive research, Imperial found a chemical additive which makes more heating oil available from Canadian crude oil. One important result: less oil imported to heat Canadian homes.

Immunization Week, September 23-29

MEDICINE has come a long way since May 14, 1796, when Edward Jenner, the famed English physician, first successfully vaccinated an eight-year-old boy against smallpox.

Today smallpox is only one of a number of communicable diseases that can be prevented by immunization. Notable among the others are diphtheria, whooping cough and paralytic poliomyelitis.

Despite this guarantee of protection there are still enough cases of these diseases to make one wonder whether human nature has kept pace with the progress of medicine.

A few weeks ago a boy from Brazil arrived in Toronto suffering from smallpox. While he was put in hospital, a search was made for all those who had come in contact with him so that they might be vaccinated immediately. This search was necessary because so many have not been vacinated at all or have allowed too much time (more than five years) to elapse since their last vaccination.

In 1959 there wasn't a single death from diphtheria in Canada. There were only 38 cases reported. The following year there were 53 cases and seven deaths and last year there were 93 cases and five deaths.

In 1959 there were 1,886 cases of polio and 182 died; in 1960 the number of cases fell to 909 with 83 deaths, and last year there were 189 cases and 11 deaths.

If you look closely enough you can find some comfort in the polio statistics. With Salk vaccine and now Sabin vaccine, we appear to be making headway.

But success in fighting disease is more than a relative thing. As long as there is one person not protected and as long as there is a single case of one of these preventable diseases, the emphasis must be on the degree of failure, not the degree of success.

Canada's 20th National Immunization Week is being observed this week, September 23-29, under sponsorship of the Health League of Canada. It's intended to call public attention to the fact that certain diseases can be prevented by immunization.

If human nature weren't so inclined that people were willing to gamble with their own lives and those of their children, such a week would be unnecessary.

If you and your family are not already protected against polio, smallpox, diphtheria, tetanus or whooping cough, the time for immunization is right now.

Seasonal madness

OUR OUTDOORSMAN, Bob Atchison, paints an ominous picture this week (even more graphically described to us at the office desk) following his observations down on the Ottawa River, on the opening day of the duck hunting season.

"Hunting Madness" is a disease that overcomes outdoorsmen this time of the year. Believe it or not, the foolish acts are the ones that really cause accidents every hunting season. All these accidents can be prevented if hunters will only follow these 10 simple rules:

1. Treat every gun as if it is loaded.
2. Never point a gun at anything you do not intend to shoot.
3. Be sure of your target before you shoot.
4. Before firing be sure barrel and action are clear and unobstructed and that you are using proper size ammunition.
5. Keep the safety on until you are ready to shoot and carry the gun so it will not point at anyone should you stumble.
6. Unload your gun before climbing a fence or tree or travelling in an auto or boat.
7. Never shoot a bullet at a flat surface or at water.
8. Don't mix gunpowder and alcohol.
9. Before carrying a gun into camp, unload it and leave the action open.
10. Be sure guns kept at home are empty and that ammunition and weapons are stored in separate places away from children.

Deer hunting opens shortly. The hazards of the waterways will then extend to the bush which surrounds our cottages, our resorts and colorful highways. . . Innocent folk, watch out!

Where Dad's money goes

WHILE AN estimated 4.6 million Canadian youngsters turned up for school this month, mothers across the country trekked to the shops. They were looking for longer trousers and skirts, new shirts and dresses to outfit the growing corps of growing youngsters — reports The Financial Post.

This year, back-to-school sales were well ahead of last year. One obvious reason was bigger school enrolment — up an estimated 210,000 from 1961-62. But merchants say it's also a sign of peppy fall business at all retail levels. Just how much the back-to-school sales contribute to the over-all retail picture no one knows. But retailer estimates of average annual expenditures for clothes alone range from about $25 to $35 for a five-to-nine-year-old, $35 to $50 for a 10-14-year-old and $50 to $75 or $100 for the 15-and-up group — most of whom must buy adult sizes.

The Junior Red Cross

THIS IS Junior Red Cross Week in Canada. The Junior Red Cross in this community is part of the largest youth organization in the world. In 76 countries there are more than 59½ million members. They are dedicated to the creation of a better understanding amongst youth throughout the world.

The Junior Red Cross emphasizes the practice of good health habits by our children. Good health habits help to check the spread of disease.

To foster international friendship and understanding, young Canadians in Junior Red Cross exchanged paintings, albums, handicrafts and tape recordings with their counterparts in 40 countries in 1961.

Needy children all over the world require medical care, food, clothing and school supplies. Members of the Canadian Junior Red Cross are helping to meet these needs through their programs of assistance at home and abroad.

The Canadian Junior Red Cross is an approved in-school program in all ten Canadian provinces.

Old-fashioned but practical

ON BEHALF of the chartered banks, Mr. R. D. Mulholland, president of the Canadian Bankers' Association, sends a news note to "make it clear beyond all doubt that the elimination of overdraft privileges is not connected in any way with prevailing monetary policy". Furthermore, this change in the method of borrowing, he states, will not affect in the slightest degree borrowing arrangements with customers — even the smallest borrower.

It will be better and more efficient both for banks and bank customers if a regular loan is made and a note signed for the amount, even if only a few days or weeks are involved. The supervision and control of overdrafts in the branches of the banking system have become increasingly difficult and the decision to discontinue such privileges is the outcome of a study of this matter which has been going on for many years. Current progress in methods of handling cheques which would have been made more difficult by the retention of overdrafts, has been a contributing factor to the decision.

The new policy is really only the old-fashioned idea that those who issue cheques should have the money on deposit to cover!

most modern materials. Mr. Hebert explained that, since everyone knows the Bell Telephone story, they decided to treat it merely as one item of Bell's creativity. Originally interested in teaching the deaf to overcome their handicap, he never stopped thinking of every device that might help. . . And so, the entire Bell "narrative" is told by the displays.

"Environmental"

Completely different was the "environmental" museum created out of the home of the Wm. Lyon McKenzie King family in Kitchener, Ontario. When the decision was made to utilize this beautiful stone building in Kitchener, it was a vacant shell. The King family had moved to Toronto. No one knew what type of furniture, etc., had been in the home. But fortunately, a detailed inventory remained of the entire possessions of this family when they moved to Toronto.; and the great hunt began to refurnish the old Kitchener home with exactly similar furnishings. When the task was completed, the museum building was opened to the public, and in the future any visitor will be able to see the complete furnishings of an above-average home of the 19th Century in their environment of that time.

Museum Must Have "Message"

In response to questions from the audience, the speaker explained that every museum should tell a story, or tell of specific environmental displays. He fully appreciated the wealth of musuem material which had been accumulated by the Argenteuil Historical Society, but he felt it could be better displayed so that visitors, particularly from outside the County, would immediately understand the message which this museum had to tell. That so large was the building, and so varied the collections, that it might even be divided for more than one purpose. One part could tell the history of navigation on the Ottawa River, the story of the square lumber business, of the 1825 lock system, of the 1875 lock system as it was created to provide protection for the country in combination with the Rideau lock system. This would make a truly "narrative" exhibition, making use of material already on hand but not presently displayed for the best understanding of the visitor unfamiliar with this story. Meanwhile other exhibits on hand could be rearranged to better depict the "environmental" development of this County by the earlier settlers.

One question suggested that maybe a committee should be appointed to meet with Mr. Herbert and develop his ideas on methods of display and asked the speaker if he would be willing to receive such a deputation. Mr. Herbert replied, "It would be better if we talked right here, where we could consider the exhibits and material you already have. I will be glad to come down any time you wish. I am sure you will find us ready to cooperate in every way."

The thanks of the audience were conveyed to the speaker by President A. F. Hanley.

YOU HAVE A HAND IN THINGS CANADIAN when you own Life Insurance

Surprising? Yes—but true. Like most people, you have probably thought of your life insurance—as protection for your family—as a good way to save money regularly—as a valuable collateral if you need a loan for an emergency—as a retirement plan for you later on.

Actually, your life insurance dollars are more than an investment in your personal security and your family's. These dollars are also an investment in Canada. They stimulate growth and progress and help make this country a better place in which to live and work.

At this moment, 9 BILLION DOLLARS of life insurance savings are invested in important Canadian enterprises—through the purchase of bonds and stocks and through mortgages.

These hard-working dollars are helping to finance great projects all over this country such as pipelines, shopping centres, bridges and highways, homes, apartment and office buildings, schools, factories, industrial plants and power developments. These investments create employment opportunities, too.

The income from these investments benefits you directly by reducing the cost of life insurance to you and the 9 million other Canadian policyowners.

THE LIFE INSURANCE COMPANIES IN CANADA

Of Many Things

— By Ambrose Hills —

MR. POLLOCK MAKES SENSE

Carl Pollock, new president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, has some specific suggestions that would, if accepted, make Canadians more prosperous.

First, he suggested that a department of industry, with a Minister, would be useful; it would remind Canadians that ours is an industrial country.

Second, but more important, in my opinion, he called for a vigorous new program to attract more people to Canada, regardless of race, colour or creed, just so long as they have skills or capital to contribute to our growth. I do not see how we can continue forever to try to keep this country for white folks only — especially if we continue to be so critical of other nations in their handling of other races.

Third, he said that the right kind of tax cut at the right time is the most effective measure to spur our economy forward. So let us beat the Americans to it, and bring our tax rates down to where they should be — well below U.S. levels . . . and now.

He had other suggestions, but those three seem to me to be musts, unless we intend to drift along while Europe knocks the starch out of us in the world of trade. Next year the U.S.A. will make substantial tax cuts for both industry and individuals, but our need is more urgent and we should act more quickly.

We now have a new Minister of Immigration. He should set about the business of stemming the tide of emigration, and increasing the flow of immigrants. On moral grounds alone, it is inexcusable to refuse sanctuary to so many while sending help out of our abundance. These people want to come here, or should be allowed a chance to come here and earn a living for themselves. We need a larger domestic market. We dare not hoard so many resources, all to ourselves, while other countries are crowded to the point of famine.

This country will not go ahead automatically. Things must be done, action must be taken. Mr. Pollock has offered directionals. The government ought to act on them, or come up with some better ideas of its own!

Gives advice to Univ. students

Ottawa (CP) — About 150 university students flocked to Ottawa just recently to talk about the impact of the university on Canadian life, and they had hardly settled in their seats when they heard some pointed advice from a man who hasn't a university degree.

Ray Jones, a vice-president of the E.B. Eddy Company, told the students that too many university graduates believe their diplomas alone entitle them to high positions in industry. "The university man also wants immediately all of the benefits which union men gained through years of collective bargaining," he said. Before aspiring to "ivory tower positions" the university-trained man should be prepared to learn the craftsmanship and techniques of his industry.

Dr. Henry Hicks, vice-president of Dalhousie University, told the students not to seek merely security. Their training should make them leaders of the country.

Funeral held for lady resident of Lakefield-Lachute

Late Mrs. Wilbert Sherritt

Mrs. Wilbert Sherritt, resident of Main Street, Lachute, passed away at the Montreal General Hospital on Tuesday, September 18, after a lingering illness.

The late Mrs. Sherritt was a daughter of the late Hugh McNamara and his wife Sarah Hutt, of Montreal.

She was married to Wilbert Sherritt on June 9, 1945, and lived in Lakefield, prior to moving to Lachute six years ago.

She was a member of the Lakefield Women's Institute and Woman's Auxiliary.

Left to mourn her passing are her loving husband and one sister, Mrs. Marg Rowlatt, also several brothers-in-law and sisters-in-law.

The funeral was held last Friday, conducted by the Rev. C. R. Lang, of St. Simeon's, assisted by the Rev. C. W. P. Baugh, of Lakefield.

Pall-bearers were Messrs. Percy Rodgers, Russell Rodgers, Jas. Paul, Ross Evans, Ronald Dawson and Gordon Robinson. Interment was in Lachute Cemetery.

Among those from a distance attending the funeral were Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Westgate, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Sherritt and son, Murray, all of Boston, Mass., Mrs. Mary Mitchell, Miss Mary Hutchins, Mr. and Mrs. John Pickering, of Montreal.

Many beautiful floral tributes paid silent tribute to the esteem in which the deceased was held.

Grenville

Miss Audrey Johnson, of Verdun, was the week-end guest of Miss Helen Welden.

Mr. David Riley, of Ville St. Michel, visited Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Dewar last week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Déas Dupuis and son, Leonard, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Guy Villeneuve and Mr. and Mrs. Hayes Villeneuve, motored to St. Eustache-sur-le-Lac and were guests on Sunday of Mr. Geo. Bent.

Mrs. Dwight Matthew is a patient in the Smith Clinic at Hawkesbury. Best wishes are extended for her speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bigelow and sons, Wayne and Keven, of Montreal, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Corl Gauley.

Mr. and Mrs. John Barlow, and Mr. Gordon Blore, were guests during the week of Mr. S. C. Norton.

SAFE DRIVING

A moment of carelessness can mean a lifetime of regret.

Rivington

Week-end guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Meyer included Mr. and Mrs. Hal Dent and family, of Gatineau; Mr. and Mrs. Donald Boa and family, Master Barton Currie, and Miss Fern Meyer, all of Lachute.

Mrs. Irene Mulville, of Montreal, was a recent guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. Stanley McCabe at their summer home.

Last August was the only month in the past 24 in which we did not have frost in this vicinity.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Trineer, Sr., have returned home from a trip to the West, where they visited with Mr. Geo. Arnold, Mr. Henry Arnold and Mr. Wm. Arnold, of Moose Jaw, Sask., and with Mrs. Sam Arnold, of Regina, Sask.

School and Teaching Staff

The Harrington Intermediate School begins its 1962-63 term with an enrolment of 115 pupils. New to the teaching staff is Miss Gloria Hotchkiss, who is teaching Grades 2 and 3. Mrs. Emile Beauchamp has returned, after a year's absence, to teach Grades 4 and 5.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Bates, of Hawkesbury, visited with Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Smith.

Mr. Jean-Guy Dubois, of Vankleek Hill, was a week-end guest of Mr. and Mrs. Ken Hotchkiss.

Recent visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Bates included Mr. Victor J. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Sandy Bates, and Mr. John E. Fox.

Mrs. John P. Bates and Miss Heather Bates were recent week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Angus in Ottawa.

It doesn't take brains to have an accident — think!

POLICE CARS

It has again been suggested that Ontario make use of unmarked police cars. This is a suggestion which ought never to have been made, and certainly ought never to be carried out. Let's keep highway policing in the open. Anything else would be a retrograde move.

Three P's of fall fruits offer color and variety

If you ever get the opportunity to visit an orchard where peaches, pears and plums grow side by side, you will never forget it. The glorious golden colors of the peaches and pears, to the reds, golds and deep purple of the plums is sheer artistry. Those who delight in using these beautiful fruits as models for "still" life might very well betake themselves to the orchard to capture some of this "living" beauty.

There have been literally thousands of varieties of these fruits grown over the years from the time when they were prized as food for European kings to the time when they migrated to the New World. Today there are probably only a dozen varieties of each that are grown in commercial quantities. Plant breeders are still looking for suitable varieties to please the customer — varieties that will resist disease, pack well, ripen earlier, or be more acceptable in color. When you visit the Autumn markets you may find some of these fruits sold by name. It is good to be able to recognize them and know for what use they are best suited.

Fruit Tray

For snacks, desserts of make-your-own salad plate, serve a fruit tray of peaches, pears and plums. An assortment of cheese with crackers would make a perfect accompaniment.

Peaches

Thanks to the variety of peaches grown in Ontario and British Columbia, the two provinces producing this luscious fruit, the season extends from August until October. The early varieties which usually come and go during August are followed by the free-stone "V" peaches, the Golden Jubilee and the later ripeners, the Elbertas and the J. H. Hales. The Elbertas represent the largest crop of peaches grown in both Ontario and British Columbia.

Great strides have been made in harvesting peaches at the right stage of ripeness so that they will arrive at their various destinations in good condition. The aim is of course, to ripen the fruit as fully as possible on the trees where the peaches develop their inimitable flavor and juiciness.

When buying peaches one should consider how soon they are going to use them. To prevent spoilage the ripest should be used first and any that are underripe should be ripened at room temperature. Fully ripe peaches should be stored in the refrigerator.

Peaches may well be called an all-purpose fruit for, with few exceptions, they are not only perfect for eating fresh but also for processing.

Buy Peaches by Grade — Packed in any type of container, the grades in order of quality for peaches are: Canada No. 1, Canada No. 2.

Pears

Unlike other fruits pears are picked from the trees before they are completely ripened. They must be mature but hard when harvested to deevelop their juiciness, and fine fragrant sweetness and smooth texture. Strange as it may seem, if they were fully ripened on the trees the pears would be coarse and grainy and would not store well either. After picking at just the right stage pears are put into cold storage for at least a week and then ripened at a cool, but not cold, temperature.

When we buy pears that are not fully ripe they should be kept for two or three days in a cool room, at about 60° F. if possible. As it is a good idea to keep them covered, a cupboard drawer may be the best place. Once the pears are ripe they should be stored in the refrigerator.

The most popular all-purpose pear is the Bartlett, grown in Ontario, British Columbia and Nova Scotia. It is a large bell-shaped, smooth, yellow-skinned pear often blushed with red and has a fine-grained juicy flesh with delicious flavor. It is a favorite dessert pear and is also used for canning.

Other yellow-skinned pears you may see in autumn are Flemish Beauty and Clapp's Favorite — both good dessert pears. The Clapp resembles the Bartlett but is a little larger, while the Flemish Beauty is a large rounded shaped pear with a thick skin. The little brownish skinned Seckel is used mostly for pickling. Most of the Keiffer pears, which are harvested late in September, go to canning plants.

The long-necked, russet colored Bosc, and the large chunky greenish-yellow d'Anjou are both so-called winter pears with good keeping quality. They are put into storage and come to market for us to buy and enjoy during the late fall and winter.

Buy Pears by Grade. — When packed in boxes, the grades in order of quality for pears are: Canada Extra Fancy, Canada Fancy, Canada Commercial or "C". When packed in other containers — Canada No. 1, Canada Domestic, Canada No. 3.

Canning Peaches and Pears Together

For tempting salads to serve next winter the Consumer Section, Canada Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, suggests canning peaches and pears together. Halve or quarter equal amounts of peeled peaches and pears and pack into quart glass sealers. Fill sealers to within ½ inch of top with boiling syrup made in proportion of one cup sugar to two cups water. Process in boiling water bath 25 minutes, counting time from moment water is boiling rapidly.

To prevent discoloration of the fruit put 1/16 teaspoon of crystalline or powdered ascorbic acid (or 200 milligrams of the acid in tablet form) in each quart sealer before adding fruit.

Plums

Plums appear on our markets in a rainbow range of colors from pale gold and green to red and dusky purple. They differ in taste too — from quite tart to quite sweet, and from very juicy to very meaty.

The color of plums is a clue to their ancestry. The red and yellow ones are of Japanese origin, the purple and green ones European. It is hard for shoppers to distinguish the varieties of plums because there are so many, but main types now in season are the purple prunes — first the early variety of prune, then the Italian and the Stanley; and in the same color class the small Damson which makes such delicious jam, the large Grand Duke, and the Lombard. The green skinned Reine Claude or Green Gage is popular for both commercial and home canning and for jams.

Plums are tree ripened so should be used as soon as possible after buying them. If they have to be kept for a few days they should be stored in a cool place, preferably in the refrigerator.

Buy Plums by Grade. — Packed in any type of container, the grades in order of quality for plums are: Canada No. 1, Canada No. 2 or Domestic.

Green Gage (Reine Claude) Jam

12 Cups plums (quartered), ½ cup water, 7 cups sugar.

Wash plums, remove pits and cut into quarters. Add water, bring to boil and pre-cook, uncovered, for 10 minutes. Add sugar, bring to boil and boil, uncovered, to jam stage, 6 to 8 minutes. Makes approximataely 9½ cups jam.

Damson Plum Jam

8 Cups Damson plums, 3 cups water, 7 cups sugar.

Wash plums. Add water, bring to boil and pre-cook, uncovered, 15 minutes. Add sugar, bring to boil and boil, uncovered, to jam stage, 6 to 8 minutes. Remove as many pits as possible as they rise to the surface. Makes approximately 7½ cups jam.

"Sunnyacres Sketches"

By Margaret Cook

We are not an exile yet, but rather a kind of hybrid, part suburbia, part country. The greater part undoubtedly belongs to the country, for, as we wait in line at the super-market, or docilely attend a meeting, or hurry to catch a train to said meeting, or answer door-bell or telephone-bell — we keep moaning to ourselves, "Oh, why did we ever come back?" The answer is, of course, to make a living.

* * *

Which leads us naturally, and without thought of correct composing, to the object of learning as it is regarded today, that is, merely a stepping-stone to bigger and better pay-cheques. Note, we did not say education, but learning. We unfortunately know many people who are learned or skilled in one subject, who are not, in the true sense of the word, educated at all.

We recently had a conversation (or rather, sat in at a consultation) between the head of the house and a new-Canadian, of Czech and Russian origin. She was concerned about the future of her two sons, very much alive as to the necessity of obtaining some kind of degree. One of the sons is in training for a teacher, but only because his parents frowned on his becoming a professional football player. So, he settled for a diploma in Physical Education. I have seen others like this, and I am always amused when they discover that this particular training calls for something besides strong legs. Then there are the boys and girls who say quite frankly that they teach because of the two-months holiday and the now more-than-adequate salary. These unlovely traits are not confined to the teaching profession. There are numerous doctors of this and that science, who are seemingly ignorant of the meaning and purpose of life. In fact, one gathers that they think anyone who is interested in anything except making a living, is almost "round the bend". We are no Communist, but there is no use shrugging off the fact that the Russians appear to have more interest in abstract things than we have. We read with approbation the account of a recent interview with one of the Russian clowns currently in Montreal.

* * *

Let us desert suburbia and morbid thoughts, and return to the bracing air of the Laurentians. When we left, everything was smiling, the apple trees bending under the weight of their fruit, which gleamed crimson and yellow among the still green leaves. The maples were just beginning to change color, and in the upland fields, the New England aster and the bottle gentian lent two shades of blue to the scene. The New England aster is properly called Michaelmas daisy, which it is not. The Michaelmas daisy, says my authority, is confined to England, where it was developed from the heath aster, the New England aster, etc. of North America. In other words, the New England aster is the older, and is a weed, while the Michaelmas daisy is a cultivated hybrid.

Just to conclude the botany lesson, let us think briefly of the monk's hood, that lovely blue-and-white flower that is in all the old gardens around Sunnyacres. Its botanical name is aconite, and the root is valuable in the treatment of tooth-ache. I have always delighted in this flower. We have a fair quantity at Sunnyacres, and very fine it looks, as a foil to the red bergamot next to it. The other late-flowering plant, the golden-glow, is not a special favorite; but put the blue of the monk's hood with the yellow of the golden-glow, stick in assorted ferns, and you have an attractive bouquet. For many years, we have been putting such bouquets in the pewter teapot on top of the book-case where the light from the window catches it, and the whole attracts the eye as one enters the room. Imagine, then, our intense interest in the picture on the Bank of Montreal calendar for the current year, entitled Country Summer, and featuring just such a bouquet in an earthenware jar. ... In the composition on the table are also a large wooden bowl, an Aladdin lamp, and a copper pitcher. In the background are to be glimpsed wooden chairs and knotted pine walls. This picture is such a favorite in our household that one is hung above the yellow table where we eat our breakfast in suburbia, and the other near the kitchen door at Sunnyacres. We have often remarked that everything in the picture could have been at Sunnyacres, except the copper bit. Not till the end of August did we discover that the picture was taken at a farm just across Lake Barron. This place has belonged for some generations to the Sherritt family, but recently has been sold to a commercial artist, whose name appears on the calendar. One of the McDonalds was my informant, and his is the woodwork that one glimpses in the background of the picture. It is a pity when one of the original owners has to sell one of these farms, but it is nice when it is bought by a perceptive person such as Mr. Litman must be.

All our new residents are not of this calibre. We have recently had a disgusting exhibition of vandalism committed on a vacant house in the district. Our information is that over two hundred dollars' worth of glass was broken. Fortunately, the police were able to identify the offenders, and restitution was made. But what motivates such conduct? We see that Maclean's has an article on vandalism. One of the causes listed is boredom, and this is what we think triggered the offence in our neighborhood. A growing boy put down on a hundred-foot lot on a lake for eight weeks, is bound to be bored. Swimming and boating are all very well, but after you have had two swims per day, and have zoomed up and down a three-mile long lake, what is there to do? Most of our young are unacquainted with the great outdoors; I mean they have no knowledge of the various animals and plant life. They think the local inhabitants are quaint, although they probably do not use that word, and they are bored. Don't ask Margaret Cook the answer. I can, in my ancient way, think of only one — WORK. Punishment is not much good; prevention is the thing.

W.I. interest in West Indies

The Women's Institutes of Canada have taken a special interest in the West Indies and have helped financially towards extension work in the Islands. The British Columbia W.I.'s have "adopted" two islands and are ready with help and advice to the women's organizations. Representatives of FWIC and also of ACWW have visited the Islands, discussing matters of common interest with the affiliated societies there.

The Quebec Women's Institutes recently were given about 1,000 used books from the McLennan Travelling Library, Macdonald College, and have shipped them to the Extension Dept., University of the West Indies, Jamaica, from where they will be distributed to other islands.

The Q.W.I. is grateful to the Saguenay Shipping Co., who are taking the books without charge to Jamaica. From there they will be taken by either the Federal Maple or Federal Palm, Island boats, also free of charge.

West Indian students at Macdonald College have, on their own account, been sending books home. Books of all kinds are needed, and very welcome.

Control of apple maggot

Ottawa — For more than 60 years, maggot has persisted as a pest of apples in Ontario, despite repeated applications of poisons aimed at its elimination.

This maggot, known also as the railroad worm, bides its time. It can remain below the soil surface in a puparium for five years until weather conditions are right for it to emerge. These conditions are normal climate, warm temperature, and moisture.

The adult fly works from the end of June to mid-September laying eggs in apples, crab apples, pears and plums, substantially reducing the amount of marketable fruit.

Man has attempted to control the fly in orchards by coating the foliage and fruit surfaces with a film of insecticide. This is effective because the apple maggot fly, like its relative the common house fly, probes these surfaces with its mouth parts in search of food and moisture.

Frequently however, controls have failed because orchard practices have made them less effective. Many modern chemicals increase foliage growth, and this hampers penetration of pesticide sprays to all parts of the trees, allowing some flies to survive.

More thought must be given to tree pruning to reduce maggot injury. Contrary to the belief that pruning reduces fruit yield, reliable information indicates that proper pruning actually increases profit through production of better quality fruit.

PARENTS ALERTED

Victoria (CP) — Warning to parents to watch their children because of recent cases of lavurnum-seed poisoning, were issued here by health officials. They said the berries and pods could be fatal.

Mont'l Cat Show entries close Oct. 5

The Montreal Cat Fanciers have again this year chosen the spacious ballrooms of the Windsor Hotel for their annual championship cat show. The show, which will take place on Sunday, November 4, will be the eighth sponsored by the Association.

As in previous years, the event will include an all-breed show and long and short-hair specialties of purebred cats and kittens, and a separate enlarged household pets' section, of special interest to those whose pets are of the "just cats" variety.

Entry blanks and show rules may be obtained by writing to the show secretary, Miss Dana Winston, at 5304 Park Avenue, Montreal 8, or by calling 277-5681.
