whose death Monday evening caused sadness among all faiths and nationalities. The 81-year-old pontiff leaves an influence for world fellowship and peace which mark his papal role as a brief but memorable era.

Two vacancies for Prot. School Board up for contest next Monday, June 10

Nominations were held Monday for two Protestant School Board vacancies, which occurred on conclusion of the term for Commissioners Lorne Duncan and Dr. J. C. MacKimmie. Both commissioners were re-nominated, along with two other candidates, viz. Gerald Arundel-Evans, R.R. 1, Lachute, and Thos. Smith, R.R. 2, Lachute.

There will therefore be a contest for both seats, to be held next Monday, June 10, with the secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Mabel Prophet, as election officer. Polling places in the widespread school municipality are formally designated in a public notice (page 6 of this issue).

Company-named fish biologist — office at Grenv'l

Montreal — Louis-Roch Séguin, well-known Quebec fisheries biologist, has been named chief wildlife biologist for Canadian and New Brunswick International Paper Companies. The announcement was made last week by F. A. Harrison, vice-president (woodlands) for both companies.

In his new capacity, Mr. Séguin will specialize in wildlife conservation and development programs, particularly in the five employee-owned fish and game clubs. His office is located at Grenville, Que.

Louis-Roch Séguin

A native of Rigaud, Que., Mr. Séguin received a B.A. degree there in 1943 at Collège Bourget, of which he is now a governor. He obtained a B.Sc. degree, majoring in fisheries, from l'Ecole Supérieure des Pêcheries, Laval University in 1947, and in 1954 wrote a thesis on biology for an M.Sc. degree from l'Institut Biologique, University of Montreal.

From 1947 to 1949, he served at the Quebec Government fisheries station at St. Faustin, Que., and then transferred to Coaticook as Eastern Townships director of fisheries. In 1961, he was named chief biologist for the whole district. During that period, Mr. Séguin was professor of fish-breeding at Laval and a consultant on fish biology. He is the author of "Habits and Rearing Methods of Quebec Trout".

Mother of four earns B.A., plans post-grad study

(This item of unusual interest follows a similar story in The Watchman last week concerning a grandmother, formerly of Lachute, who won her B.A. degree from McMaster University.)

Ontario newspapers have given considerable publicity to the graduation of a former Lachute High School student. Leila M. Whitcombe, the former Leila M. Boyd, who graduated from L.H.S. in 1932, recently received her Bachelor of Arts degree with Class "A" standing and was one of those included on the Dean's honor list at Waterloo University College.

The event was of special interest because Mrs. Whitcombe is the mother of four children, one of whom has just completed her first year at University of Toronto on a Sir John Gibson scholarship. Mrs. Whitcombe teaches English and French at one of Toronto's suburban collegiates, so she has received her own degree while working full-time.

Her husband is the pastor of a rapidly growing church in Wishing Well Acres, one of Scarborough's spreading areas. Interests of home, school and church, along with studies, have made a full life for the belated graduate. She plans post-graduate studies at U of T. . . She is the sister of Mrs. Douglas Smith, of East Settlement.

Eight injured, one critically, in Grenv'l crash

At 9 p.m. on Sunday, a collision between two automobiles on Route 8 one mile east of Grenville caused serious injuries to eight occupants — four in a car from Hawkesbury, and four from the St. Eustache and Oka area.

The injured were taken to the Smith Clinic at Hawkesbury, and after treatment all were released with the exception of Jean-Marie Daoust, 54, of R.R. 2, Hawkesbury, who was transferred to the Royal Victoria Hospital with a broken jaw.

According to reports, Mr. Daoust, driver of the Ontario car, was turning to the left when hit by a car driven by Ronald Bissonnette, 29, of the Oka Road, approaching in the opposite direction. The Daoust car was hurled into the ditch, and both automobiles were severely damaged.

Roy Robertson loses appeal against sentence

Toronto — Appeals by the former owner of Montreal Alouettes Football Club and three other men against their convictions of fraud and conspiracy were dismissed last week by Ontario Court of Appeal.

Roy Robertson, 56-year-old one-time mining millionaire and Alouettes owner, had been sentenced to five years in prison, Toronto lawyer Henry Koury, 48, to 18 months, D. Charles Stuart, 35, of North Bay, to six years, and Montreal lawyer André Begin, 33, to two years.

The Crown alleged during a nine-week trial last year that the four men had manipulated mining stocks involving $300,000 in assets of Stadacona Mines (1944) Limited during March, 1960.

The four were charged after Stadacona's assets dropped to $68,000 from $368,000 in a single day.

The Appeal Court also dismissed appeals by Stuart and Begin against their sentences, imposed by Mr. Justice George A. Gale.

2 Autos burned in 3-car crash nr. Lake Sir John

Two Montreal area residents were treated in the Providence Hospital, Lachute, and later transferred to hospital in St. Jerome, following an accident Saturday midnight on Route 30, near Lake Sir John.

According to Provincial Police, three cars were involved in the mishap, which occurred as a car attempted to pass another vehicle which was making a right-hand turn. The third vehicle ran into the rear of the entangled cars, two of which caught fire and burned.

Injured in the mishap were Robert Bowers, 23, of Montreal, and John Minshull, 26, of Ville La Salle. They were occupants of a car owned and driven by Harry Lefthouse, of Verdun, whose auto was damaged to the extent of some $500.

The other two vehicles involved, both of which were destroyed in the resulting fire, were owned by Harvey Pauchuck, of Lachute R.R. 7, and Frank J. Munroe, of St. Lambert.

The accident was investigated by Q.P.P. officer Lawrence Cruise.

Believe blaze started by children with matches

A Thursday afternoon fire at the residence of J. Edmond Ranger, 326 Grace Street, severely damaged the building, which has previously been the scene of two major fires in past years.

The alarm was sounded at 4.30 p.m. and both fire trucks responded to the blaze, which was believed to have been started by children playing with matches at the rear of the structure.

By the time the blaze was discovered and an alarm sounded, flames had engulfed the rear of the frame building, and had eaten their way into tin-covered cedar shingles on the roof.

Intense smoke hampered operations of the firemen, some of whom remained on the scene until 8 p.m. Loss to the contents was restricted to smoke and water damage — the total loss running into several thousand dollars.

Inauguration of visiting nurses service

The new home nursing service provided by the "Société des Infirmières Visiteuses" (SIV) has been operative in Lachute and district for the past week. The service originated in St. Jerome, and Lachute is the first community in the diocese to benefit by the innovation.

The movement was given a civic send-off last Wednesday, when the authorities tendered a reception at the city chambers to a group of persons responsible for, or participating in, this project. Mayor Dave Campbell welcomed the guests and commended the new service sponsored by the Federation of Charities, which — he observed — coincides almost with the inauguration of another great community asset, the new Argenteuil Hospital.

Other speakers were Nurse Renée Rivard, secretary of the Federation of SIV's; Paul Guertin, president of the Society in Montreal; Dr. Marc Papineau and Dr. Chas. Roy, on behalf of the Charities Federation; and Mme Richard Ayers, president of the SIV committee in Lachute. Mr. Horace Lamarche was master of ceremonies.

The SIV service is conducted and operated by graduate registered nurses under the direction of family physicians.

The registered nurse handles surgical dressings, compresses, hypodermic injections or irrigations ordered by a physician; tends convalescents who are back home from hospital; gives bedside ministrations; helps to make more comfortable the chronically ill or the aged; and also provides help for maternity cases, both in pre-natal and post-natal stages.

The Visiting Nurse makes her calls daily, or less frequently, depending on the patient's needs, or the physician's instructions. All calls are received at the main office located at 506 Main Street (the former Bell Telephone business office — Lachute LO 2-6940). All phone messages are filed and the Head Nurse attends to them effectively.

"La Société des Infirmières Visiteuses" draws revenues from grants, fees from nurses' visits, and mostly from donations and subscriptions from the diocesan Federation of Charities. It is also affiliated with the Welfare Council of the diocese.

Ayersv'l goes to Commission on Lachute water-rate hoist

At the regular Ayersville Council meeting on Monday evening, the councillors under chairmanship of Mayor Gaston Plamondon decided to protest to Lachute Town and to the Quebec Public Utilities Commission against Lachute's intention to raise the rate for water service from 15¢ to 45¢ per thousand gallons between the two municipalities.

It was some years ago that the Utilities Commission set the rate at 15¢, but since then Lachute has undertaken the construction of its half-million-dollar filtration plant and is looking to the two municipalities which it serves, Ayersville and St. Jerusalem, to pay their share.

Mayor denies hospital delay due to Lachute

Following allegations that Lachute Town Council is to blame for the delay of the hospital opening due to inadequate water provision, Mayor Dave Campbell made the following statement on enquiries from a representative of this newspaper:

"The Town of Lachute is doing everything possible to hasten the opening of the new hospital. If the Municipality of Ayersville would indicate where they require the pipe connected, we could have the job done within 24 hours. The hospital now has a service of 4-inch diameter installed. It is an easy matter to link this directly with the Lachute main for a direct supply, as soon as Ayersville gives the word."

Mayor Campbell states further that the town has been in constant touch with the hospital administration and also in communication with the Department of Health. The town is ready to facilitate a direct 4" line to the hospital to give adequate pressure. It was not reasonable, however, to extend an 8-inch line to increase pressure through the general Ayersville system.

Ayersville, on its part, has refused the request made by Lachute and turned the matter back to Quebec for decision — retaining the firm of Lalonde, Girouard & Letendre, consulting engineers, to present the municipality's case before the Commission.

As regards the watermain extension to be laid on Providence Boulevard, Mayor Plamondon reported the estimate around $5,000, of which the Village of Ayersville will have to pay $3,800.

. . . The mayor stated his conviction also that Lachute Town was responsible for delay in the hospital opening, through insisting on a 4-inch extension where a pipe of 8" capacity was needed.

Councillors Edgar Cyr, Arthur Lanthier and Raymond Champagne were absent from the Council sitting.

Evidence of good training was shown at the annual inspection of the Highland Cadet Battalion, "D" Company, held in the Robert Street armouries last Wednesday evening, when NCO's under Capt. R. W. (Bob) Haydon, chief instructor, put the cadets through their paces in rifle and foot drill, and a first-aid demonstration.

The most notable advancement this year was in the performance of a bugle and drum band. Trained by Emmanuel Parisien on instruments acquired less than a month previously, the young bandsmen gave a recital, necessarily brief, which held promise of a good marching-unit to be an asset to the group and the community.

Inspecting officers were Maj.-Gen. F. R. Phelan, CB, DSO, MC, VD, of St. Andrews, and Lt.-Col. T. A. McLean, CD, of Montreal. Following the demonstrations these gentlemen were called upon to make various presentations and give promotions. Lt.-Col. McLean gave credit to the chief instructor, Capt. Haydon, and to the past chief instructor, Capt. W. E. Butterfield, who continues to assist with the training program.

Capt. Haydon congratulated the boys, and mentioned for appreciation the assistance of Mr. Parisien, with the band; Rod Carreau, Jr., with the general organization; and Art Whiteway of Ayers security police, among others. Six cadets were to attend camp at Farnham this year, he stated, and it was hoped to enlist a number of new recruits in the fall.

Maj.-Gen. F. R. Phelan graciously presented the Phelan trophy to Capt. Haydon, for the unit's success in competitions with the Ayersville Air Cadet Squadron last year.

Col. Ernest Emmett presented a cup for permanent tenure, and an individual replica to Sgt.-Maj. Robert Morrin, who was NCO in charge of the unit in these same competitions.

Lt.-Col. McLean presented a St. John Ambulance medal to Cpl. J. Beauchamp; the Athlone medal, for "best all-round cadet during the past year", to Cpl. R. Clark; his personal medal, for the "best cadet on parade", to Cadet S. Brown; also a number of stripes, signifying promotions to deserving members.

Among the spectators were the Mr. W. M. Cottingham, M.P.P., Mayor Dave Campbell, Aldermen L. Armstrong and Robt. Marcil, parents and friends, and a number of interested residents. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Haydon and Mrs. Butterfield on conclusion of the program.

Explosion!

Lachute municipal police report having received a rash of telephone calls during Monday of this week, following an early morning "explosion" which was nothing more than a blow-out on a large semi-trailer truck tire. The blow-out occurred around 3.25 a.m. on Main Street, in front of the town hall, but was heard in quite distant sections of the town.

"ARGENTEUIL OUTDOORS"

By BOB ATCHISON

From all accounts I have received, this has been the best spring fishing for years. Some great trout have been taken, and believe it or not, it's still going strong. As you know, early in the season it was all Reds; now, however, it is all Greys. Catches of three and four for a couple of fishermen have been common, with some very large specimens taken for this time of the year. I know Marc Belanger, along with Roger Dubeau and Real Lemay, have been taking Greys from Lake Louisa at a great rate. In this case it looks as though more people are becoming interested in saving our fish than in keeping them. These boys must have caught 14 good trout, and returned the whole works with the exception of six. These were all taken spinning. . . I saw another good Red; this was not taken in the County though — Montpelier, Green Lake, by Gil Renaud on 4-lb. test line. This would be worth taking.

• • •

This is one report I enjoy passing along; Young Doug McRae, fishing near White's Bridge on the North River, took a 15½-lb. Northern last week. I saw this fish and, believe me, it was a beaut; 37 inches long (nearly as long as the catcher), with great coloring and firmness, it sure was a great specimen. . . With the Louisa boys again, Mr. McLaren caught himself three Browns from this water. I did not know of any Brown trout frequenting this lake, but it is only natural that they should. These were taken spinning on 2-lb. test line, so you can imagine the fun from these babies. Using this kind of tackle gives you some idea of what they mean when they say "Grow Old while Still Young". I got a couple of nice Brookies from the West River, and my brother caught seven later at Dunany, all nice fish of fair weight, well worth hooking.

• • •

The fishing will start to drop off now, not due to fish but to the flies. Most of you fishermen quit just as soon as they appear. Not me! I have found good fishing can be had all summer; certainly you have to work a little harder for them than usual, but it is worth it. As for the flies, I have found, if you have run out of bug killer, a smear of mud over your head and face sure does help. After all, fish don't stop because of these flies, so why should you. Naturally smaller baits have to be used as the season draws on, and with the lighter lines, you will get your quota of sport. This is really the time for fly fishermen, so get busy on your outfits right now.

• • •

Ducks are still congregating along the river, and it looks as if they are going to stay with us. No geese remain, which is only natural, but we can be thankful they stayed as long as they did. I mentioned the canaries that are in evidence; if this is possible, there are more than ever before. All the hues you can imagine. Nature sure is a kindly mentor, bringing us colors never painted by any artist. (Even you, Ed.) . . . Herons are also with us in numbers; some stupid person evidently was shooting last Sunday, and yes — they got a heron! Not even bothering to lift it from the water, it was just left to drift down. . . A few new birds have been seen by various people, but from the descriptions I could not identify them. . . Sure thing, I'm not going to say they are here because of the milder winters!

• • •

A queer story is going the rounds. It seems that some of our meat hunters are on the prowl. I have heard that fawns can be bought around the area of St. Michel. One visitor stopped in to tell me he had been offered young venison at a price. Maybe the Wardens could take a look. I don't know what is happening in this district, it has been reasonably law-abiding these past few years, but things have changed for the worse. . . It could be these jokers are immune from the law.

• • •

The government has denied any changes that might be a detriment of our wildlife. But how about this current rumor which says our Wardens have had their patrolling district cut in half, or less than half? The districts they will cover are from Two Mountains County west to Grenville, north to Wilson Lake. As we all know, our Wardens are not always above reproach, but on the whole they have done an excellent job. Mr. Cook, the Warden at Arundel, is taking over the area they previously had covered. Apparently he will have Harrington, Wentworth, Morin, Montcalm, Howard and Arundel and some portions of counties north of these centres.

I have always been under the impression it was the intention of this government to stamp out poaching in the province. It would surely appear that giving all this territory to one person is impractical. I know that around Huberdeau trout can be bought almost any time. As for venison, that also seems handy for a price. Yes, and anyone with eyes can see minnows being sold openly, although there is a law against the sale of this bait in Argenteuil.

Of course, through the grapevine, there is going to be a new Sub-Inspector for the department. But I am little convinced it will be someone with qualifications in the protection of wildlife. Perhaps I take a dim view.

Certainly the wonderful job our Wardens have been doing, does not warrant this demotion in territory. I have not talked to them — they would not give out information anyway — but I'll bet they are not too happy at this situation.

• • •

I received a call May 29 concerning a large bird that had been seen resting on the river. From all appearances it seemed to be a wild swan. Anyone spotting this bird will be doing a great service if they would give me a call. There is a possibility it is a tame bird that has ventured out into the world, although this seems unlikely.

Of Many Things

— By Ambrose Hills —

WHEN MOTHER GETS SICK

In a large family, mother seldom gets so sick she stays in bed. It has to be a tough virus indeed to lay her low, because there is so much to do that she cannot afford to be idle. Usually she takes a few aspirins, grits her teeth, and carries on. Once in a long while, however, the virus is so overwhelming that she must have a day or two in bed. Catastrophe is the name for it.

That's when the family finds out the thousand and one jobs that she takes in her stride. Brownie uniforms to press; leotards to wash; lunches to pack; shirts to launder; food to cook, shopping to do, floors to mop, dishes to wash — you name it, she does it.

During her incapacity, the husband, oldest daughter, and any available relative are pressed into service to keep the establishment barely running. Only the pressing day-to-day needs can be cared for, and then not too well. As the hours go by, the family begins to realize a little bit how much they have leaned on mother. If the illness goes on for any length of time, hired help must be brought in. Nobody but a mother would do all the things that need doing unless paid a handsome fee.

Wives contribute more to the family fortunes than the husbands do. Most men work short hours nowadays, and have it relatively easy on the job. Automation and fringe benefits have made work a picnic. Wives continue to work long hours for low — or no — pay.

Yet, when the husband dies, the family fortune, if it amounts to anything at all, is set upon by the tax collectors. They forget that the wife was responsible for most of the savings. If the husband has been able to provide a pension, the collectors capitalize it and make the widow pay a hefty tax. Indeed, she may even pay on money she'll never receive!

It seems to me that each Minister of Finance should be forced to spend at least one week as a substitute mother in the home of a large family. He would then realize the extent of the marriage partnership, and the contribution made to it by the mother. I think he would go back to his office determined to reform the Estates Tax Act to give widows — or widowers — treatment that is somewhat more Christian than they are receiving today.

Miss L. Miller has observations on women in career of banking

The following interview with Miss Lulu Miller of Lachute (now attending a two-week study course for 14 Bank of Montreal women in the city) was reported last week in The Montreal Gazette:

Horizons for women in banking have expanded not only in the jobs available to them, but in the location of those jobs, says a woman who has made a career of banking.

Miss Louise Miller, the first Bank of Montreal woman employee to be appointed to the post of accountant in charge of a branch, says there are now no doors closed to women in banking. Furthermore, transfers to branches across Canada, or to the 46 foreign offices of the bank, are more easily come by for the woman serious about a banking career. The foreign branches are located in such places as London, the Caribbean, Tokyo and the United States. New York, for example, is "crying out" for Canadian girls to work in their offices.

"A woman can move now. We're being encouraged to transfer if we feel we've gone as high as we can go in a particular branch. Or if we have a particular interest in some department — foreign exchange, for example — we can ask for a transfer and have a good chance of getting it," Miss Miller said in an interview.

Miss Miller, of the Ayersville branch, is one of 14 Bank of Montreal women from seven divisions across Canada attending the study course. Some 5,000 men have completed the course since 1957, but this is the first time it has been made available to banking women.

Miss Louise (Lulu) Miller

Changing Attitude

Women are now recognized as being capable of holding high positions, and Miss Miller feels many more will be in them within a few years. One woman has already been appointed an assistant inspector, for example, a position of considerable responsibility.

Women, she feels, have been held back partially because they provide a continuity necessary to a bank branch. Managers and accountants change frequently, but senior women seldom have, up to now. Consequently, they have been invaluable in keeping things going until the new staff member is settled in.

"One or two senior women mold an office," she said.

Step by Step

Miss Miller, whose position is equivalent to that of a manager, started with the bank 18 years ago and went through all the stages — collection clerk, savings, current, ledger keeping, telling, liability — to her current post at the Ayersville branch, which was opened five years ago. Of all the jobs, she considers liability (involving loans and credit) the most interesting for the banking career-woman. She particularly likes her present position because it brings her into contact with people, nearly all of them French-speaking.

In her 18-year career in banking, she has noticed many changes but expects the greatest ones to occur in the next five years, when machines will do away with much of the drudgery of banking. She finds the biggest change to date is the increased use of cheques. Another change is the increase in the number of branches (roughly 400 after the war, now roughly 800).

According to a report on two recent herd dispersals issued by the Ayrshire Breeders' Association of Canada, three Lachute dairy farmers bought registered animals at the Timber Top herd dispersal, held May 21 at Mont Rolland by J. H. and W. McConnell, proprietors.

Cows purchased for herds in this district were as follows:

O. G. Dawson, Lachute — T. T. Mark Prime $335; T. T. Beau Lorry $350.

Keith Pollock, Lachute — T. T. Flash Marty $325.

Allan Hammond, Lachute — T. T. Beau Sunray $310.

JOYS OF JUNE

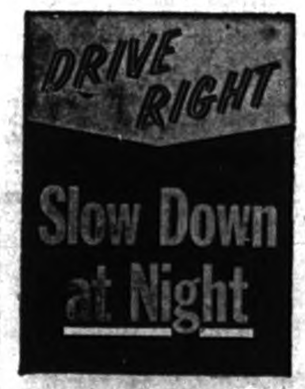

Each dawn I lie awake in bed
With buzzing 'skeeters round my head.
Beneath the bedclothes' folds I skrink
But they won't let me sleep a wink.
After a while I give up hope
And rise to coat myself with dope
And think and wonder more and more
What those pests were created for.

Mosquitoes are abnoxious creatures
Devoid of all redeeming features.
The males, they say, are vegetarian.
Why is each female a barbarian?
A little fiend with toothless jaws
Equipped with ice-cream-soda straws
With which to suck the blood of man
Who struggles on as best he can.

Though blackflies too are quite a pest
At least they take a good night's rest.
Mosquitoes run an all-night service —
No wonder that I'm thin and nervous!
No wonder that I'm acting queer,
Look at that lump behind my ear!
But when next Winter's storms attack
I'm sure to wish those 'skeets were back.

Be seein' ya!

Wolf Cub Field Day

The annual Wolf Cub Field Day was held Saturday, May 25, at the C.I.P. Farm, Harrington. A bright sunny day greeted participants on their arrival at 9.30 a.m. and, thanks to the insecticides liberally sprayed around the campsite by C.I.P. personnel, the "bugs" were kept at bay.

The morning activities consisted of campsite inspection, and a wild plant life identification contest.

After lunch the field events started with two pack relay races. The object of the first was to relay a given message quickly and accurately, and the second was based on the wild plant life knowledge gained in the morning.

Individual field events were divided into four age groups, and there were four events in each group. These ranged for hopping and softball throwing for the younger Cubs, to lighting fires and boiling water for the older boys.

The first event was a tug-o-war, each pack pitting its strength against the other in an elimination contest. The first two teams had several unexpected falls when the rope broke, but more rope was found and the contest was resumed. All teams were very evenly matched; 1st Lachute edged out 1st Grenville in the final.

Prizes were presented by District Commissioner W. Bray, and the closing "Grand Howl" wound up the day at 4 p.m.

High or low quality silage?

The farmer who has a silo will want to fill it with high quality legumes and grasses. Early cutting is essential for quality silage. It also gives the second crop a good chance to become established. Clover for silage should be cut when the bloom is starting, alfalfa should be cut when approximately 10% is in bloom. Early cutting is necessary because a silo cannot put new life into a crop which was already too mature. If a good silage is to be made, certain precautions should be taken.

Close attention must be paid to the amount of moisture in the plants at the time of ensiling; 60-70% moisture is best.

The silo should be airtight; there is no point in packing and tramping silage if the silo is not airtight. The shorter the forage is chopped the better it will pack. As soon as the silo is filled, it is advisable to top it off with a wet layer of chopped straw or similar material which will cut off the supply of air to the silage.

Silage can be made without preservatives but they are recommended. In silage making the aim is to create conditions which encourage the formation of lactic acid. The addition of carbohydrates speeds up this process. The addition of molasses at 80 pounds per ton or the addition of 100-150 pounds of ground grain is ideal. You may think that this is rather expensive but 75-85% of the molasses and grain are still present when the silage is fed. Only about 25% is used up in the fermentation process. The best insurance of good grass silage is to harvest the forage at the proper stage of growth under the best possible conditions.

IN MEMORIAM

BIGELOW (Christie Ann) — In loving memory of a dear mother and grandmother, who passed away June 9, 1962. — Ever remembered by her family.

"It's lonely here without you, Mum,
We miss you more each day,
For life is not the same to us
Since you were called away
You bade no one a last farewell,
Not even said Goodbye —
You went so before we realized
And only God knows why."

CONLEY (Charles and Elizabeth) — In loving memory of a dear father and grandfather, who passed away May 25, 1960, and a dear mother and grandmother who passed away July 9, 1960. — Always remembered by Lyster, Jean, Patricia and David.

FORE AT THE NINTH

Here is a minor moral for golfers, as it appeared in The Financial Post: "The game is still a leisurely sport for many, and haste in completing a round is not an object." With this statement a Connecticut judge awarded a lawyer $1,750 in damages to soften the pain of being beaned on the head by a drive on the ninth of the Yale Golf Course. Another minor moral is probably this: If you are going to hit anybody, make sure it isn't a lawyer.

Cushing West

Mr. and Mrs. T. Alexander and daughter, of Montreal, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ken Thomson at the manse for the week-end. Mrs. Alexander and daughter are remaining for this week.

All should share centenary events

Vancouver (CP) — More grass-roots participation in the 1967 celebrations of Canada's Confederation, is the desire of the only woman member of the national centennial administration.

Marianne Linnell, Vancouver alderman who manages to fit her duties on the centennial committee in with work as chairman of a real estate firm, says every Canadian should take an active part in the celebration.

"Canadians should really enjoy themselves, not only in pageantry and festival, but in construction and fulfilment," she says.

"This cannot be arranged by a dictatorial central organization but by grass roots participation of all people in the planning and carrying out. Once the central organization has laid down general principles, then local groups should take over."

She urged that all municipalities, corporations, clubs and organizations should set up planning committees immediately.

"The basic theme of the centenary is to build a better Canada, and the legacy we can leave is a more wholesome, harmonious Canada for all."

Recent graduate left for tour overseas

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Morrison were in Dorval on Sunday to see their son, Ernest, away by chartered plane to travel the Continent and British Isles for three months, along with 100 or more McGill graduates. On his return he will take up a position with the General Electric at Peterborough, Ont.

Newly ordained priest celebrates first communion

Grenville — On Wednesday evening, May 29, the Rev. H. J. Cohen, who was ordained to the priesthood in Christ Church Cathedral, Montreal, by the Lord Bishop of Montreal the previous Monday, celebrated his first Eucharist in St. Matthew's Church, Grenville.

Father Cohen was assisted in this service by the Rev. S. H. Irving, B.A., B.D., rector of Saint Luke's Church, St. Alban's, Vermont, and Mr. B. J. Walker, parochial lay reader of St. Aidan's Church, Montreal. Father Sellwood, rector of St. Aidan's, was also present.

Mr. Cohen came to Canada from England in 1957 and was an engineering associate with the Northern Electric Company at Lachine until he entered the Second Year of study at Montreal Diocesan Theological College in September 1961, on completion of his First Year studies in the evening division of the college.

CNIB booth at Spring Fair

The CNIB will be having a booth at the forthcoming Lachute Spring Fair. A variety of articles will be displayed, which have been finished by blind people in Lachute and the surrounding area. The goods will be mainly leathercraft, of a very good quality. It is hoped that the general public attending the Fair will patronize this booth and so help to foster the welfare of the blind in this community.

Social and Personal

The Rev. Wilson Bridge has been absent this week attending the Montreal-Ottawa Conference of the United Church, held at Bishop's University, Lennoxville, Que.

~

Miss Grace McMahon spent the week-end in Shawinigan Falls visiting her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Pearson and family.

~

Mrs. Henry Bazinet left by plane on Tuesday for Great Whale River, Que., to be the guest of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Bazinet, for an extended visit.

Pianoforte Pupils Gave Recitals

In the High School music room last Saturday evening and Monday afternoon, and at l'Ecole Secondaire on Sunday afternoon, Miss Juliette Rodrigue, L.Mus., entertained parents and friends of her pianoforte pupils, who presented a recital of selections from their studies in the music of various composers. There was considerable interest and good attendance.

Mrs. Mae Tillotson, who has been staying with her son, Mr. Granger Tillotson and Mrs. Tillotson, in Brampton, Ont., was here Friday before leaving to spend a prolonged visit with her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Vandervliet, in Ridgewood, N.J.

Mrs. Jack Gorman, with Miss Ann Peverley of Westmount, spent the week-end at Rawdon, Que.

~

Mr. Ord Anderson was in Ottawa last Sunday to attend the graduation of his nephew as an M.D., at the University of Ottawa convocation.

Baptisms

Following the morning service at the United Church on Sunday, the Rev. Wilson Bridge officiated at the christening of Darold Ronald, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Noble, and of David Leslie, the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Robt. Harland. After the ceremony the parents entertained jointly at the latters' home on Bethany Road, for immediate relatives.

Mr. Stanley Langille, of Kentville, N.S., spent several days here visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Langille — proceeding on Tuesday to Kingston, Ont.

Friends extend good wishes to Mrs. Thos. Iddon, who has been in the Royal Victoria Hospital for the past week, and who today underwent an eye operation.

~

Good wishes are extended also to Miss Hannah Smith, who has been undergoing surgery and is still a patient in the Montreal General Hospital.

~

Mr. and Mrs. Walker K. McArthur attended the Grand Lodge session of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows recently in Sherbrooke, Que. — the former as delegate for Laurentian Lodge No. 14. . . Mr. and Mrs. McArthur were also in Chicago last week attending the annual convention and exposition of the National Association of Plumbing, Heating and Cooling Contractors. Mr. McArthur, as president of the Canadian parallel of this organization, addressed the convention at its Wednesday morning session.

The Bible Today

It is reliably reported that there is not a country on earth where the Christian Scriptures are not used today in spite of blockades, barriers and banishments. "This notable achievement is made possible largely through the efforts of the United Bible Societies," reports the Rev. Laton E. Holmgren, D.D., of New York City, an official of that organization.

The United Bible Societies bring together the national Bible Societies of the world with the common purpose of "the widest possible circulation of the Holy Scriptures." The Canadian Bible Society is a member of the U.B.S.

The Triennial Council meeting of the United Bible Societies took place in Tokyo, Japan, just recently. Representatives of 23 member Societies were present. Their meeting together at this time is designed to facilitate cooperative enterprises and understanding; to promote mutual interests and set goals for increased world circulations of the Holy Scriptures.

The president of the United Bible Societies is the Most Reverend F. Donald Coggan, Archbishop of York.

Representing Canada at the Tokyo meeting was the Rev. Kenneth G. McMillan, D.D., General Secretary of the Canadian Bible Society.

A pert paradox

CAT IN A BIRD'S NEST. Sue, an offbeat feline, believes comfort is where you find it, and she finds it in an abandoned blackbird's nest, up an old apple tree. Sue, owned by a family in Australia, visits the nest every day for her afternoon nap. —TNS Photo

To wed next month

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar G. Laurin, of Lachute, announce the approaching marriage of their daughter, Claudette, to Mr. André Paré, son of Mr. and Mrs. Irenée Paré, of St. Andrews East — the ceremony to take place July 1, at Ste. Anastasie Parish Church, Lachute.

— Jehovah's Witnesses —

Who Is God?

The true God is not the product of human imagination. He has not left it to men to discover only through centuries of experience that there is a God, then to name him and speculate as to his works. Lovingly he has revealed himself to mankind through his Word the Bible.

God is not an idol, nor does he accept worship offered with the aid of images. In ancient times he commanded his people: "You must not set up a carved image or a sacred pillar for yourselves, and you must not put a stone as a showpiece in your land in order to bow down toward it." (Lev. 26:1) He declared that for them to make such images for religious use would be to "act ruinously." (Deut. 4:16) Therefore Christians are counseled: "Guard yourselves from idols." (1 John 5:21) God is a Spirit, and he requires that we worship him, not with material representations, but with spirit and truth. — John 4:24.

Who is this God, the true God? What is his name? It is not "God" or "Lord." Those are not names, but titles. Nor is his name Jesus Christ; that is the Son of God. The Bible answers our question in Psalm 83:18, where it says: "You, whose name is Jehovah, you alone are the Most High over all the earth." Yes, Jehovah is the true God, the Creator of heaven and earth.

He has made known his purpose to sanctify his name and he tells us what he expects of us in this regard. Inform yourself on this matter; obtain and read the 384-page Bible-study aid "Let Your Name Be Sanctified." Send only 50c — or ask any Jehovah's Witness anywhere.

Annexation — sooner or later

FROM THE FAILURE of the new Argenteuil Hospital to open on May 15 as planned, our fellow editor, Fernand Berthiaume, has drawn a conclusion in "L'Argenteuil" which deserves some thought. Boiled down to realities, it is pointed out that the delay is due to a mere 40 feet of water pipe. But in the broader perspective, there are technicalities involved, caused by the cumbersome machinery of two municipalities administering a territory which should virtually be one.

In short, this incident is cited as a strong argument for annexation. The new hospital lacks water pressure, but since two municipal corporations are involved, and two municipal water systems, it takes time to arrive at an agreement and to take action. It requires a length of pipe to re-route the hospital supply direct from the Lachute water main; but it is not as simple as that. It is like running a locomotive on a misfit track of a different gauge. There was negligence and miscalculation in the plans, maybe; but more important is the fact that the hospital is ready to operate, yet idle, at an expense approaching $1,000 a day but without revenue.

In this and recurring instances, it is obvious that it would be to public advantage to unite the three contiguous municipalities into one — Lachute, Ayersville and St. Jerusalem. Water supply, police and fire systems are involved. Shortly there will be a grander headache of mutual concern — sewage disposal. There is time and expense consumed, sometimes suspicion and distrust aroused, in badgering back and forth between councils for an agreeable solution to civic problems.

Annexation must eventually come. There are those who feel their municipality will benefit, others who feel their tax bill will suffer. But it is time to reconcile temporary objections for the ultimate benefit and development of the whole, and for a solid front of 12,000 population through which we may plan together and make this community a force of greater potential.

In the matter of sales tax, Lachute and Ayersville are now operating amicably together. In water supply and fire service, the three municipalities have a working agreement. Why not avoid further complexities (and delays, as the current case of the hospital) by planning now for a sound, practical amalgamation ?

Parochialism has its points — our fellow editor agrees — but the local spirit has nothing to commend it when it obstructs the welfare of a wider area.

"La Belle Province"

IT'S TIME for every newspaper in Quebec to raise concerted rebellion against those automobile graveyards that blot the landscape. If they cannot be towed from public view, as in the case of acres-wide commercial car dumps, then the owners should be compelled to plant trees or erect high fences to obscure them. Or our business-minded government might nationalize the scrap industry and send huge crushers to compress this wasted metal for salvage.

Fitz of The Gazette notes there are no fewer than 50 of these heaps, of greater or lesser number, along No. 1 Highway to Granby. Their toleration by Quebec authority is just another example of those forgotten promises which are a recurrent theme of our own columnist, Bob Atchison.

Fortunately this area is not too sorely afflicted, except by individuals oblivious to unsightliness, who keep derelict cars for pets on their properties. There is one instance, on the Dunany Road, of a relic right beside the highway. There are many others; and if only in civic pride, it's up to the owners or the authorities to remove these hulks.

Sane views on child upbringing

NOT SO MANY years ago it was pretty generally agreed that if a child did something he knew was wrong he should be promptly slapped or spanked.

Then came a period when the practice was widely attacked. The belief was that such punishment might warp the youngster's personality.

Now, as so often happens, we appear to be edging back toward a middle ground between the two extremes.

Arguments will undoubtedly continue over the relative merits of the various systems. And we cannot be certain we're on the right track even now. But at least the current mode of discipline makes things easier for the parent.

One of the strongest proponents of the spanking school is Dr. Peter G. Cranford, a psychologist in Augusta, Ga., who has written a book called "Disciplining Your Child: The Practical Way". Dr. Cranford thinks it's dangerous for the child if you let him go on doing wrong without being punished. . . "He feels more secure if someone is keeping him from making a mistake. When you're disciplining a child, you're doing something for him. I don't think there is any fundamental difference between discipline and love. Certainly, if discipline is fair, consistent, sure and not brutal, only good can result."

The doctor's main points are that you shouldn't hurt the child — "just pop him" — and that you should make the punishment immediate, not wait until the end of the day when you've become so exasperated that you no longer can contain your anger. He believes that while a child can learn from being slapped, he's likely to build up resentment if he gets a big beating, and this can lead to neurosis.

Dr. Cranford is also in favor of rewards — "small, immediate and many" — especially during the period when the child is learning. But he's strongly opposed to bribes.

The permissive psychologists will be unhappy when reading Dr. Cranford's book. But he'll have the satisfaction of knowing he has at least one important ally. — As President Kennedy said at a recent press-conference, he favors "very strong discipline at home" for his two children.

Explosion at Eskimo Point

NORTH OF THE 60th parallel tuberculosis is called "puvalluttuq", an Eskimo word meaning sickness of the lungs.

Dr. P. E. Moore, Director of Medical Services for the Department of National Health and Welfare, told the 63rd annual meeting of the Canadian Tuberculosis Association in Montreal this week, how puvalluttuq exploded at Eskimo Point, 200 miles north of Churchill. And the story should jolt anyone out of thinking either that tuberculosis is conquered or that it would disappear easily in the face of routine procedures, Dr. Moore said.

The 329 Eskimos and 14 whites at Eskimo Point were all X-rayed in August of 1962, and those with active disease flown out for treatment. The plan was to check periodically to see that new cases, if any, were treated promptly.

Nobody was expecting the explosion which came. Inside four months, about 70 cases of tuberculosis developed in this population of slightly less than 350. Most of the patients were young children, many below school age, and there were more boys than girls among the victims.

"This should teach us never to lapse into comfortable complacency because the death rate has dropped," Dr. Moore continued. "Only six Eskimos had died of tuberculosis in 1961. This was a remarkable change for the better, from the mid-forties when there were between 40 and 50 deaths annually. It seemed as if tuberculosis was yielding to our efforts. . . What happened has taught us that in the North tuberculosis may no longer be 'the captain of the hosts of death' but it is doing very well as a sergeant-major."

— The warning against complacency reaches to the public, even in such areas as are considered less vulnerable. X-ray clinics of the Laurentian Anti-Tuberculosis League should be remembered here for their preventative work, and every support be given when the time comes around for Christmas Seals.

75 YEARS AGO

Friday, June 8, 1888 —

A meeting of the Lachute Gun Club was held at the home of Mr. Andrew Boa.

As the summer season advances, many of our boys want to indulge in a bath. There is no objection to their doing so, but they should be prohibited from exposing themselves within sight of our Main Street.

Dr. McConnell was here Wednesday and photographed some pretty scenes with a camera which he brought from Montreal.

Mrs. Lemuel Cushing, Mrs. L. Cushing Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Cushing, Mr. Fred and Mr. Walter Cushing, of Montreal, were here to attend the wedding of Mr. L. C. Barron.

Mr. Felix Bigrow, of Arundel, took the train here to visit his friends in Upper Canada.

50 YEARS AGO

Friday, June 6, 1913 —

Commissioner E. H. Wilson placed at the disposal of the school principal $200 for the purchase of new desks, with more offered if needed.

Thursday, June 9, 1938 —

Lakefield — Mr. Horace G. Baugh, of the Montreal Diocesan Theological College, has commenced summer duties in the Parish of Coteau du Lac.

Ken Maynard, a cowboy favorite film star, stopped over in Lachute for counter refreshment at Bill's Lunch Car, Main Street.

Lakefield — The Rev. and Mrs. J. H. Lummis and family, of Tetreaultville, have returned to their country home here for the summer.

St. Andrews — Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Jeffrey were here arranging for improvements to their summer home.

Illegal fishing in the Ottawa River goes on unabated. A warden came upon a store of three tons of fish awaiting shipment to Montreal by truck.

A New Yorker who died at 94, left an insurance policy written in 1873 which contained provisions no claim could be collected if the insured were to lose his life "in a duel, insurrection, or if killed by hostile Indians".

Brownsburg — The proposal to install a system of waterworks has engaged the attention of Council on a number of occasions.

Cushing — Moving pictures by Miss Mildred Douglas in the Stone Hall this Friday evening.

(TO THE EDITOR)

May 30, 1963.

Sir:

There is no doubt that Lachute and district should be enlightened as to the success of its youth, collegiately speaking, and this was thoughtfully done in your May 29th issue of The Watchman under an article titled, "Successes at McGill, Bishop's".

It appears to me, however, that you have meddled with student privacy in your unnecessary reference to those unfortunates, including myself, who have cause to write supplemental examinations. Not only is this fact irrelevant, it is personal to the subject involved and its display is immoral.

Besides placing students such as myself in the glare of public embarrassment you are encouraging the mark-mongering type of student who chooses "snap" courses as a means to the so-called "high proficiency" at the end of the year. This is a distortion and misuse of the object of education, which is to develop the mind and not to stuff it full of dry, abortive facts whose ultimate purpose is the attaining of a meritorious rating on a three hour exam.

It is such confusion of the standards of learning, as pointed out by this seemingly trivial example, which leads to materialism and pedantry and the often sickening attitude taken towards education in general.

"The secret of education lies in respecting the pupil."

Sincerely,
Ann FitzGerald

Tells how to get rich quick

(TO THE EDITOR)

Lachute, May 28, 1963.

Editor, Lachute Watchman,

Dear Sir:

I draw to your attention the profitable possibilities of a bank deposit of $50:

Withdrawals	Balances
$20.00	$30.00
$15.00	$15.00
$ 9.00	$ 6.00
$ 6.00	—
$50.00	$51.00

According to this convincing bank statement it pays, by $1.00, to deposit $50.00 in a bank!

It is suggested that local bankers have this "truth" inserted in their advertisements in your papers, not meaning that they are soliciting more deposits, but to show that their sincere desire is to be of service to their depositors. Sarcasm?

— S. Wyman MacGibbon

Ed. Note: We consulted our banker on this potential bonanza. Why not add your immediate balance of $50 on first deposit, and make a real clean-up (sez he).

Justice to dumb animals?

(TO THE EDITOR)

Brownsburg, May 31, 1963

Dear Sir:

It is difficult to find words to express my disappointment and even disgust at the thought of anyone deliberately taking the life of a dumb animal without just cause. Sudden death is not painful, but slow death from poisoning is a very inhuman way of disposing of a pet which was dearly loved by those who owned him. A person who would commit such an act as this should be classed much lower than any dumb animal. Must one keep a purebred dog under lock and key at all times to ensure his safety from such heartless and low creatures? In time may this killer suffer heartaches too, and pay for this sneaky trick.

— (Signed) F. Hosgood

Forest fire safety rules

Do you know the forest fire safety rules? The five most important are:

— If you smoke while driving through wooded areas, use your car ash tray; never throw lighted smoking material out the car window.

— Roll your own cigarettes for bush use. They are safer.

— Use a lighter instead of matches.

— Don't light lunch fires unless necessary. Use a vacuum bottle and avoid the danger of setting the woods ablaze.

These are anxious days for the forest rangers trying to keep woods safe from fire. Give them a helping hand by making sure you follow safety rules. Put your camp fire dead out when you're finished with it — and see that the other fellow does, too.

THE MAILMAN IS ALWAYS GLAD TO BE OF SERVICE

"If you have difficulty in getting to the bank, the mailman will be glad to help," says Donald M. Hay, manager of the Lachute branch of the Bank of Montreal.

"Many busy people do most of their banking by mail in Lachute," he adds. "They find it a big convenience, and it's entirely safe, of course."

Prompt service is guaranteed when you bank by mail, because the staff starts to handle your business as soon as the mailman arrives, even before the bank opens for regular business.

You can handle almost every kind of banking transaction through the mail these days, thanks to the efficiency-minded B of M staff in Lachute.

Why not ask for the B of M's helpful Banking-By-Mail folder soon. It gives you all the details. Or ask Mr. Hay next time you're near the bank, or Miss Lulu Miller, in charge at Ayersville. They'll be glad to tell all about the way the Post Office - B of M team can simplify your banking problems. (Advt.)

Animal Care

LOOKING AFTER YOUR CAT

In its first few weeks a kitten has to be protected against damp, drafts and cold, just as any other small animal. Sleeping is just as important as eating to him, and he will need somewhere comfortable.

Find a basket or a shallow cardboard box which will give him plenty of room. Pad with blankets so that the kitten can keep warm. It is a good idea to line the box with newspapers first. These will act as a protection against drafts which can be quite harmful.

As the kitten grows up he will become more independent but he will still need somewhere comfortable to sleep at night. If you insist that he sleep in the basement make sure there is a good sized box or blanket, well lined, for him. A chair or the corner of the room may do in an emergency, but your cat will appreciate a regular place to sleep.

Never let your cat stay out of doors all night, if you can possibly help it. The noise he makes will be a nuisance to neighbors, and the cat is likely to catch diseases or get injured.

One of the major problems in a city is the number of stray cats. Some of them become wild and are a menace to birds and other small animals. Don't let your cat stray — keep it as a pet and a friend.

SWITCH TO CHIPS

Saint John, N.B. (CP) — A huge pile of woodchips, the equivalent of 20,000 cords of pulp wood, will gradually become a permanent sight outside a Lancaster pulp and paper mill. Chips are replacing four-foot pulp sticks because they are easier to ship and handle.

Camp for Your Child

(Copyright)

— By NANCY CLEAVER —

"For once you have been a camper,
Something has come to stay
Deep in your heart forever,
Which nothing can take away;
And Heaven can only be Heaven
With a camp in which to play".

— From "To An Old Camper" by Mary S. Edgar

A summer camp experience for your son or daughter is one of the finest investments which parents can make. A generous gift to a Fresh Air or Church camp for underprivileged children spells health and happy memories for boys and girls who need a "break". Instead of so much talk about youth problems and juvenile delinquency, Canadians would do well to take a good look at the camp movement and give their wholehearted support to the camps in their area.

The Y.W.C.A. and Y.M.C.A. deserve great credit in pioneering in the day camp movement and if a child cannot be sent away to camp, a day camp is a substitute experience. There are many benefits from a child attending a good camp. This can be a useful part in the education of a boy or girl.

It is a real adventure to be away from home, far from the supervision of parents. The camper must learn to work and play happily with other campers and take directions from members of the camp staff.

Before agreeing to this expense and this separation from a son or daughter, parents want to be sure that the particular camp in question is in the hands of capable people. Is the director the kind of person who will look after your child's welfare? Are the counsellors chosen carefully?

Is every precaution taken to prevent accidents, particularly during the swimming and boating hours? What about the standard of cleanliness and food provided? Are the meals well-balanced, attractive and sufficient in quantity to satisfy hearty appetites? What about the camp program — is there good leadership for different interests and equipment for handicrafts, sports and other recreation? Where do the campers sleep, and are the tents or cabins and the bed all right? These are just a few of the many questions conscientious mothers want to ask.

One of the best ways to find out about a camp is to talk with campers and the parents of campers who attended camp the summer before. Are the campers enthusiastic about that camp? Were mother and dad satisfied with their investment in a holiday at camp for their youngster?

Camp opens many new doors . . . one of the most useful things which it accomplishes is that children receive regular expert instruction in swimming and in handling boats. The handicraft interest groups often initiate a boy or girl into a hobby which will be enjoyed for a long time.

In the campfire evening programs, youngsters find a new delight in singing, in dramatics, in story telling and reading aloud. In the informal talks and discussion groups many campers stumble on new ideas. The democratic atmosphere of camp breaks down foolish religious and racial prejudice which many children acquire from thoughtless adults.

In terms of learning to stand on one's own feet and not be too dependent on home, in the ability to make friends, in the skills and ideas which are gained, camp pays big dividends. A week or longer living in the out-of-doors at camp gives a child at a very impressionable age, a wonderful enjoyment of Nature — of the wildlife in the woods, of flowers and trees and stars. A Vesper Service in an outdoor chapel is a worship experience a camper may never forget.

Last, but not least, during the camp period the parents and the child have a holiday from each other. Quite possibly they both need it! Without a doubt, after this separation, they will appreciate each other more. If at all possible, don't let summer pass without your child getting to camp!

Strawberries combine with dairy products

Fresh Canadian-grown strawberries appear on most markets in June. Growers are constantly striving to produce big, beautiful berries that will stand up well for shipping and marketing. Many varieties have been developed in recent years which are large, firm and flavorful and are equally adaptable for dessert or freezing purposes.

Strawberries and cream have long been considered a treat by old and young alike but ice cream, whipped cream, sour cream, butter and cottage cheese are all natural "team mates" with strawberries. The home economists of the Consumer Section combined two of these good dairy foods with strawberries in their recipe for "Glazed Strawberry Squares" and it drew raves from the tasters. This pretty-as-a-picture dessert consists of glazed whole strawberries on a shortbread-like crust and is topped with whipped cream.

STRAWBERRY SQUARES

Prepare the Crust —

Cream ½ cup butter with ½ cup firmly packed brown sugar. Add 1 cup sifted flour and blend thoroughly with a pastry blender. Pat mixture evenly into an 8-inch square cake pan. Bake in a moderate oven (350°F.) until very lightly browned, 15 to 18 minutes. Let cool in the pan before covering with strawberries.

Glazed Strawberries

1 Quart box strawberries, ¼ cup sugar, few grains salt, 4 teaspoons cornstarch, ¼ cup water, red food coloring, 1 teaspoon lemon juice, ½ pint whipping cream (1¼ cups), 2 to 4 tablespoons sugar.

Wash, hull and drain strawberries. Measure 1 cup strawberries into a small saucepan, reserving remainder to cover baked crust. Crush berries in saucepan, and stir in the ¼ cup sugar and salt. Make a paste of the cornstarch and water and stir into sieved berries. Return to heat and cook until mixture thickens and becomes clear, about 3 minutes. Add enough food coloring to give a light red color. Cool slightly, then stir in lemon juice.

Arrange remaining strawberries on baked crust, leaving small berries whole and cutting larger ones in halves or quarters. Spoon glaze over berries, then chill. Cut in squares or oblongs. Top with sweetened, whipped cream. 6 large to 9 medium servings.

STRAWBERRY SHORTCAKE

The strawberry season wouldn't be complete without a strawberry shortcake. The biscuit shortcake which many people consider the only true base for a strawberry shortcake should be a rich dough preferably made with butter and with butter spread between the layers so that they can be separated easily after baking.

2 Cups sifted all-purpose flour, 4 teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon sugar, ½ cup butter, ¾ cup milk less 1 tablespoon.

1 Quart box strawberries, ½ cup sugar, ½ pint whipping cream, 2 tablespoons sugar.

Mix and sift flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. Cut in butter with a pastry blender until mixture resembles fine bread crumbs. Make a well, pour in all the milk at one time and mix quickly to make a soft but not sticky dough. Turn onto a lightly floured board, quickly form into a ball, then knead for 30 seconds by pressing and folding dough several times. Divide dough in half, then roll each half to an 8-inch round. Place one half in a lightly greased 8-inch layer cake pan, brush top lightly with melted butter, then place second round on top.

(To make individual shortcakes, roll dough lightly to about ¾-inch thickness. Cut in 2½-inch rounds with biscuit cufter. Place on baking sheet.)

Bake in a hot oven (425°F) until lightly browned, allowing 15 to 20 minutes for rounds, 12 to 15 minutes for biscuits.

Meanwhile wash and hull strawberries. Reserve choice berries for garnish. Slice remainder, add the ½ cup sugar and stir to mix.

Split cake or biscuits crosswise while warm, butter surface again and immediately spread berries between layers and on top. Cover with whipped cream sweetened with remaining sugar and garnish with whole berries. 8 servings.

PRETTY AS A PICTURE

Glazed Strawberry Squares are one of the many pretty-as-a-picture desserts that can be made this month with our own Canadian strawberries. The large, firm, red berries are glazed and served on a butter-rich base and topped with whipped cream.

Guess Who?

The devil's a person who lives in sin,
Who bids all evil to enter in.
At least that is what our minister said,
And ever since then I have tossed in my bed —

For the devil resembles someone I know
And I've racked my brain 'till it's ready to blow —
Relations and friends and enemies too,
But I've crossed them out; for none of them do.

To finish the picture I've formed in my mind;
This evil person I just can't find.
Then I walk past a mirror and to my surprise —
There stands the devil before my eyes.

— G. Collins

Teatime Topics

Specially Written for The Lachute Watchman

By Patricia Rusak, Canadian Press Staff Writer

Springtime is the traditional time of year to give your home a color lift. And psychologists advise that this should not be done haphazardly. Colors can cheer or depress; aid digestion or reduce the appetite; can give a feeling of warmth or coolness.

A good rule to remember when choosing colors is to let one color — preferably a subdued tone such as beige — dominate and unify.

Other basic principles to follow:

Blues, blue-greens, greys and violet are the cool, restful colors of the spectrum and are used to best advantage in rooms facing south and west and which get lots of sunlight.

Reds, orange, pinks, corals, beiges and yellows are warm, outgoing colors and are ideally used in north and east rooms.

The size and shape of a room must also be considered.

* * *

Shape Can Change

A room that is small will gain spaciousness if a cool, light color is used on all background parts, even on the furniture. On the other hand, warm reds and purples seem to reduce the size of a room.

A long, narrow room can be brought into better proportion if the end walls are decorated with warm colors. A square room can be made to look longer if two opposite walls are painted a dark color and the other two light.

* * *

Painting Tips

When walls are being washed before a painting session, make sure they are thoroughly rinsed. Otherwise, any cleaner left on the area to be painted will slow down the drying process.

Before starting to paint a room, clear it of any knick-knacks and cover the floor, preferably with a sheet of plastic which will not slide. Furniture should be moved into the centre of a room and covered.

For a professional-looking job, electric plates should also be removed before you start painting.

Paint should be stirred with a dipping motion, right down to the bottom and up again, to lift all the pigments into suspension.

When using a roller to apply the paint, the roller pan should be no more than one-third full of paint for best results. Paint should always be evenly distributed on the roller.

Always keep the roller on the wall until it comes to a complete stop because if lifted too soon, it may spatter the paint.

To eliminate streaks when the paint strokes overlap, always work towards, rather than away from, the freshly painted area.

If paint gathers in the rim of the paint can, a couple of nail holes will allow it to run back into the can.

* * *

Freezing Season Soon

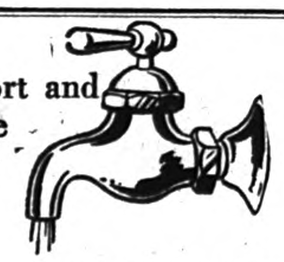

Before the new freezing season begins, home economists in the federal department of agriculture advise that home freezers be checked and defrosted.

While defrosting, frozen foods should be removed, wrapped in several thicknesses of newspaper and packed in heavy cartons. Blankets wrapped around it will also help to insulate it against thawing.

CLERIC GIVES AID TO SKID-ROW MEN

Vancouver (CP) — Rev. Bert Deardon, who works out of the First United Church here seven days a week attempting to rehabilitate the derelicts of Skid Row, admits he does not have much success, but says he gets great satisfaction in the effort.

The five-foot-five Englishman, who led a rough and tumble life as a sailor himself, is known in the Skid Row area as "the Pope." He says in his attempts to put the derelicts back on the right track he never shoves religion down their throats. "I just pray that it comes to them through the help they get from the church."

"Frankly, I don't have that much luck. In the last three years I've been down here, only five per cent of the boys I've helped made it."

Rev. and Mrs. Wilson Bridge feted by a host of friends

Lachute, East Settlement and Cushing charges present gifts and purses

The new Christian Educational Hall of Lachute United Church was filled to capacity on Friday evening last, when friends from far and near joined in a happy occasion to extend good wishes to the Rev. and Mrs. Wilson Bridge, who are leaving soon for a new pastoral charge near Sudbury, Ont. They have been in the Lachute charge for over 10½ years.

The occasion was also fitting to the ecumenical spirit that is prevalent at this time (through the inspiration of the late Pope John XXIII), when no less than six various religious bodies were represented from both Protestant and Roman Catholic clergy, to pay homage to the minister of Lachute United Church, and his wife.

The master of ceremonies was Mr. Ian Gordon, who, after saying a few complimentary remarks about the guests of honor, introduced Mrs. T. Fox and Mrs. D. Hart, of Kilmar, who sang "Hark, Hark, My Soul", to a very beautiful setting. Community singing was enjoyed, led by Mrs. Bruce Bradford at the piano, with Mr. Owen Todd as director. A vocal solo by Mr. George Taylor, "All Through the Night" was also sung, and the Matthew Sisters, Judy, Gwen and Linda, to the accompaniment of an electric guitar played by the former, interpreted "Glory Road" and "Whispering Hope", to the appreciation of the large audience.

Mr. Gordon called upon Sister Damien-Bernard, C.S.C., of the Roman Catholic Girls' College, to say a few words, and she paid many fine compliments to the Rev. Wilson Bridge pertaining to his work in the community, and to the high esteem he is held in by members of her faith. She spoke of the power of prayer, and of the true spirit of Christians, and said that though Mr. Bridge may be in Northern Ontario, his work and prayer will continue in this community.

Another member of the R.C. faith, in the person of Father Gustave Bellemare, O.F.M., of the Franciscan Fathers of Lachute, also added his appreciation of the work of Mr. Bridge in Lachute, and of his co-operation with the Brothers in the spirit of Pope John XXIII.

An old friend of Lachute United Church, in the person of the Rev. John Heyworth, D.D., of the Unitarian Church, Chicago, who has been coming to this community and St. Andrews East for 42 years, expressed his appreciation of the retiring clergyman, and of the help he had received from the sermons of Rev. Wilson Bridge.

The chairman then called upon Mr. R. A. Giles, who had the honor of making the presentation to Rev. Wilson and Mrs. Bridge, on behalf of Lachute and East Settlement Churches, and after a few introductory remarks, read the following address:

To the Reverend and Mrs. W. Bridge

Dear Friends:

I am sure you are delighted to see such a large gathering here to honor you this evening.

On one hand it is a very sad occasion, insofar as we are bidding farewell to you, after your having served Lachute and East Settlement Churches in a most effective manner for the past 10 years. Untiring in your efforts, you have worked unceasingly and have endeared yourselves to us in a manner which words cannot adequately express.

It is needless to say that, no

SPRING FAIR OPENS WITH GOOD OUTLOOK

The Argenteuil Agricultural Society today (Wednesday) opens its exhibition grounds for the 138th annual Lachute Fair. As this issue goes to press, livestock exhibitors are moving in, showmen are setting up shop, business displays are being unloaded or uncrated. In short, it is premature to offer a preview at this stage, but the bustle and preparation give signs of three active days ahead.

The traditional opening ceremonies have been dispensed with — past experience having imparted a political flavor to the formalities which, maybe, was considered non-essential to the theme of this show.

The judging will follow its customary schedule. The spirit of competition in livestock is equalled by the zeal in crafts and products, displayed in the upstairs of the main building.

A variation in the evening entertainment is the withdrawal of the Lions Club to accommodate a major attraction Friday evening by a fellow organization, the Legion, who are sponsoring the famous RCMP Musical Ride on two nights. The Rotary Club and Richelieu Clubs are presenting their feature events as usual.

Election held for two seats on school board

A contest held Monday for two seats on the Protestant Board of School Commissioners resulted in one commissioner returned to office and one newcomer elected to the board. There were four candidates for the two seats, and the polling resulted as follows:

Lorne R. Duncan (re-elected)	354
Thomas G. Smith	308
Dr. John C. MacKimmie	274
G. Arundel-Evans	126

Voting was held in five different polls in the widely-spread municipality, which extends from St. Colomban to the Front of Chatham. Election officer was the school secretary-treasurer, Mrs. M. H. Prophet. The turnout of voters was not spectacular — 552 out of 2,627 eligible electors. (Of this number, however, a considerable percentage are summer residents.)

Mr. Duncan, re-elected, is plant superintendent at the Canadian Refractories Ltd., Kilmar. Thos. Smith, the new commissioner, is a member of a long-established Beech Ridge family. He resides on Lachute Road and is employed at Dominion Ayers Limited as a dyer. He succeeds Dr. John C. MacKimmie on the five-man board, which now comprises the following: Jas. W. McGibbon, chairman, Lorne R. Duncan, Richard L. MacLean, Albert McDonald and Thos. Smith.

Work proceeds on demolition of Ottawa R. bridge

A project of considerable interest in the vicinity — the demolition of the abandoned CNR bridge over the Ottawa River between Grenville-Hawkesbury — is progressing steadily. The Donolo firm, experienced in this work, is tackling the big job with the aid of barges, and it is stated the last spans should be removed by around July 15 next. A total of 50-million pounds of steel will be salvaged from this structure.

A spokesman for Quebec Hydro states that the river level is rising at a rate of one-tenth foot a day, and will attain its normal level of 135 ft. by mid-July. Levels last week were recorded as 130.7 at Carillon, 131 at Grenville, 132.1 at Cumberland.

Water facilities affect all types of consumers

Discussion on water supply was aired from various angles at the Council session last week — Ald. Dr. L. A. Middleton (chairman of the filtration plant committee) giving evidence of the personal time, study and anxiety involved in the running of this service.

Mayor Dave Campbell was "concerned" about the delay in the hospital opening and criticism from Ayersville that Lachute would not connect for a direct water main to the hospital. "That is wrong," asserted the Mayor — reiterating an explanation given to the press and published last week.

The town correspondence produced a letter from Chevrier Lachute Ltée charging the water supply was acid in content and presented danger of corrosion in plumbing and equipment for which this firm (soft-drink bottlers) would hold the town responsible. . . Dr. Middleton agreed there had been a temporary defect. A leaking alum pipe at the filter plant had been replaced by the suppliers, without charge. However, said Dr. Middleton, the acid-alkali count had never gone below 6.4, and is now 6.9, comparable with other centres. "We have one of the most reputable engineers on the job, and are doing everything possible to iron out the difficulties," said the committeeman, who was delegated to see Mr. Liguori Chevrier and explain personally. "In spite of our troubles," he added, "a recent Health Department analysis showed we have the best water in Quebec" (presumably in terms of bacterial count).

(It is interesting to note here that acid-alkali content is customarily determined by chemical means and color charts. Results may vary between two different maunfacturers. A new electronic machine has been purchased, June 6, reputedly 100% accurate.)

Trouble with the heater installed in the gate to the filter last winter, had never been satisfactorily solved, but the reputation of the suppliers, Dominion Structural Steel, was considered sufficient guarantee, and their account was ordered paid.

Hiring of a fourth employee for the filter plant staff, and selection of the applicant by Dr. Middleton, was discussed and fully approved. The man's initial salary is $50 a week.

Enquiry from an air-conditioning firm, concerning the use of a constant flow of water from the town supply, brought an emphatic assertion that Lachute has insufficient water for such purposes, and the company (installing an air-conditioner in Cinema Lachute) would have to equip the system with their own re-circulating tower.

Ald. François Charlebois remarked on "water going over the dam", which seemed inconsistent with any suggestion of shortage; but it was explained that the filtration plant, through which all town water must pass, had a set capacity of 2-million gallons a day. This could not be safely exceeded, regardless of the water flow.

Ald. Dr. Middleton remarked that local consumption was around 200 gallons per person per day, which is excessive — as against 70-80 gallons in towns with meters. The chart during Tuesday (daytime) showed consumption at a rate of 2,125,000 gallons, which is above capacity. At this rate of withdrawal, the 30-thousand gallon reserve begins to diminish.

Quebec ordinance calls for 8-inch main to hospital

Litigation between Lachute and Ayersville over the supplying of water for the new hospital has been abruptly concluded by an order from the provincial authorities, enjoining the Town of Lachute to lay an 8-inch line (about 100 feet) to the inter-municipal boundary, and likewise Ayersville to install a main of 8-inch diameter (about 160 feet) to meet it.

This ordinance by the Department of Health follows a report submitted by the engineers, Girouard, Lalonde & Letendre, retained by the Village of Ayersville, and the two municipalities are ordered to proceed with the necessary work. The cost, according to estimates, will be around $5,000 — $3,800 payable by Ayersville and $1,200 by Lachute. There will also be the cost of a meter to be installed at the hospital, approximately $2,000.

Ayersville has called for tenders for its part of the work, to be received in time for a Council meeting at 7.30 p.m. on June 18. The work must be under way by June 20.

(According to Mayor Dave Campbell of Lachute, up to Tuesday morning the town had received no such order. He repeated his previous assertion, that Lachute was ready to lay a 4-inch pipe to supply the hospital, and the town awaited only the say-so of Ayersville to go ahead with this plan.)

Widow attacked and robbed in Ogdensburg settlement

Mrs. John Heatlie, Sr., a 78-year-old widow at Ogdensburg, was severely beaten, gagged, tied and locked in a closet, from shortly after midnight Sunday until discovered by her son around 10.30 the following morning. She was rushed to the Providence Hospital, where she was treated for severe shock in addition to her facial injuries.

Mrs. Heatlie left her son's home, situated on the same farm, shortly after 11 p.m. and had just retired after having locked all the doors, when she heard breaking glass. Almost immediately, two young men, their faces covered with black grease, entered her bedroom and demanded $1,000, which they claimed she had concealed in the house. She informed them she had only $53, which she offered them, but they once again demanded $1,000 and commenced to beat her mercilessly until she lost consciousness. She was then gagged with adhesive tape, her hands tied together with a fine wire, and locked in a closet.

The incident was discovered by her son, John Heatlie, Jr., the following morning after having received no answer from his mother on the telephone. He entered the house, which was a shambles, everything having been slashed open in an attempt to discover the money, and found his mother bound and gagged in the closet. Upon removing the gag from her mouth, her dentures fell to the floor, having been smashed into three pieces during the beating she had received.

The Provincial Police were notified, and Mrs. Heatlie was taken to the Providence Hospital. She was questioned by police on Tuesday, and at this stage is reported recovering from her ordeal.

Golfer stricken

Ian Sinfield, a 53-year-old resident of St. Laurent, succumbed to a heart seizure while playing golf at St. Andrews East, on Saturday afternoon of last week. No inquest was ordered by Cpl. Maurice Dinelle, who investigated the fatality.

Pass By-law 235 to establish $500,000 industr'l loan fund

One of the most important measures adopted at a lengthy Council session (the regular statutory meeting last Wednesday) was the passing of By-law 235 to establish a $500,000 Industrial Loan Fund.

The Department of Municipal Affairs having sent a formal approval of the town's request, Ald. François Charlebois presented the motion. The by-law was passed at three separate readings and — subject to a ratepayers' meeting called for 7 p.m. on June 17, and public endorsement — the measure will become law.

Mayor Dave Campbell, in the chair, explained how the fund would work. Loans are made available to industrial borrowers for the purpose of building or extending property, on much the same principle as a mortgage. A separate by-law is required for each loan made from this fund, all in accordance with provisions of the Cities and Towns Act; and the total of loans outstanding must not exceed the capital fund.

Unless there is any ratepayer opposition (to the extent of 40 electors protesting) it is expected the measure will be duly enacted and give impetus to the securing of new industrial growth for this community.

Sentiments and Sidelights

(Comments on the Local Scene)

Pedestrian crossings have been strikingly marked at all three public schools in Lachute. The Main Street markings, and also a crossing at Barron's Bridge, satisfactorily comply with a request of the Home and School safety committee in this regard. . . Pavement-marking is continuing throughout town.

The municipal watchdog, Mr. Germain Filion (now more or less retired from action, on physician's orders) tumbled out of an evening nap to appear in the closing minutes of the Council meeting. He reminded the councillors of a technicality in the new Industrial Loan by-law, and thereby saved a lot of possible trouble and complication in its adoption.

A window display in honor of Pope John XXIII was a gesture of tribute by Beaton's Pharmacy, prior to the pontiff's funeral last week. The display in papal colors featured an oil painting executed in quick time by Germain Richard, a long-time member of the drug-store staff.

Speaking of Beaton's Pharmacy, the proprietor, Donat Saulnier, was surprised recently to find it took only 40 seconds for town and provincial police to answer his burglar alarm. By mischance the alarm, connected with police headquarters, went off as he unlocked the door recently — and the police were there before he could phone and advise them everything was in order.

Rumors concerning illegal food supposedly served in the Lily Garden Restaurant, Main Street, have been proved unfounded — according to an investigation carried out by the County Health Inspector, Col. Ernest Emmett, and County Medical Officer, Dr. Lorenzo Turcotte, who have given the local Chinese restaurant operated by Jimmy Lee a clean bill of health.

Western-style hat for Old World visitor

On the visit of Gavin Reekie, a fellow-Rotarian from Scotland and District Governor of District 101 in that country, this gentleman was warmly greeted by fellow club men and friends in Lachute last week-end. He was presented with one of the Lachute Fair 10-gallon hats distributed by the club, which (above) contrasts notably in style with the visitor's traditional kilt. "ARGENTEUIL OUTDOORS"

By BOB ATCHISON

At long last some credit is due to our government in the matter of provincial parks. The changes that have been made in Mont Tremblant Park are so noticeable that they have to be commented upon. Wilson and Cat lakes have had sand and gravel spread along the shores for bathers, and in this case alone there must be thousands of tons. Fresh water has been piped up from the lakes a distance of about 300 feet apart. Firewood has been made ready, all cut and piled, and believe it or not, there does not seem to be any charge for this service! Camp sites have been cleared, and all have very good drainage, so that even if it rains, you won't be flooded out. Brush has been cleared back from these sites so that fly troubles will be cut down to a minimum. Pay telephones are in operation, and this is certainly a consideration for the people camping. The roads have been improved so much that it is no longer necessary to stop and measure the depth of potholes to see if your cars will take the drop. Toilet facilities are numerous and good, with receptacles around for garbage. In everything that is needed for the campers, a good job has been done — a real effort to correct complaints and eliminate irregularities that have been occurring in these parks for many years. . . If all the other parks have been worked on as in this case at Tremblant, we will have nothing to worry about for the future.

This is a stop-the-press item. The editor of our contemporary, "L'Argenteuil", has been hit by the fishing bug! You know, all it really takes for anyone to be converted is a nice fish. Fishing down near Carillon, his son Michel landed a carp weighing 12 pounds, a nice specimen, and one that he should be proud of. I know a lot of you turn up your nose at these coarse fish, but if you are fishing for sport, and I presume you are, then you must realize this is one fish that is very hard to hook. As a matter of fact, it is a prized game fish in England for its fighting qualities. Having caught them, I know this. . . So for a sometime angler, I think he is going to try his hand a little more.

• • •

Some of the fishing reports last week-end are hard to figure out. Knowing of a couple of cases where fishermen had travelled some distance only to get nothing, then to hear of others fishing Louisa and getting very good catches of Greys — makes you wonder. In one particular case two enthusiasts fishing managed to get nine Greys. And believe it or not, all of these fish were of the same size and differed in weight by ounces. Nice bass have been taken from Sir John Lake, and this will be good for awhile longer. At least they can be eaten with gusto right now. Perch are also appearing in larger size with some terrific catches almost everywhere they are taken. I heard also of a Brown trout being taken in the North River just above the Black Bridge this past week; not too big, but nevertheless it proves that this river is safe for this particular fish. A couple of fair Northern were also hooked, but only in one case was it successfully landed. About 5 to 6 pounds, right now this would be a good fighting fish.

• • •

I fished a couple of the creeks but flies were the prevailing problem; but for the sake of a good fish they CAN be defied, if not ignored. My back happens to look like a mountainous contour. There is one good tip I have never passed on to you: These bites can be pretty uncomfortable and make you mighty miserable, so try putting some vinegar on them. It stings for a short time, but for so short a time that it is well worth the relief you get from the itch.

• • •

With the hopes of having a clean river in the not-too-distant future, it is hard to figure out just what has happened to it in the past week or so. This week (June 2-8) has been extra bad. Oil is once again being dumped into the river, and anyone having a boat in the water will have one sweet mess to clean up. We tried fishing on Wednesday, 5th, but oil coated our line so badly that it would not flow out over the guides. After being in the sun for awhile it seemed to become very tacky, and appeared to hold the line. I am writing a letter to Mr. Gosselin, of the Water Purification Board (McGill Street, Montreal) complaining of this mess, and hope some of you will do the same. It is only in this way that matters like this are brought to the attention of the proper authorities and action can be taken.

• • •

Reading an English paper on fishing, "The Angling Times", it seems apparent that the British Isles have done some cleaning up of water courses. At the end of the war, trout were as scarce as hens' teeth. However, the different water boards got together and started stocking. This has been such a success that trout are now common weighing 6 lbs. Salmon have also been protected, with the result that world-record fish are being taken. Severe restrictions have been placed on all classes of fishing. The contests they hold, are certainly not like ours, where all the fish caught are kept, either to be eaten or just thrown away. In the case overseas, all fish are kept in a keeper-net, and after being inspected and weighed, they are in most cases released. This is true sportsmanship, and an example that we could well copy in this County.

• • •

These British water boards have also been plagued with suds and foaming from synthetic soaps, as we have. However, they are doing something about it, and it looks as though they will have the answer much sooner than we will. A Labor M.P. asked in the Commons just what discussions had taken place to restrict the manufacture of foaming detergents. The Parliamentary Secretary replied that methods of reducing the difficulties (including foaming) caused by these synthetic detergents were being studied by a standing committee. . . However, this does not seem to please most of these hon. members, and they are demanding more and faster action. . . As far as I know, the government of this country has no such body investigating — only private individuals and, of course the manufacturers themselves.

• • •

I have long felt that any fishing association or club should strive to benefit our resources, with the re-stocking of fish and similar efforts. I don't know what happens to most clubs when they get going; and I refer not only to this County. Most members seem to think that belonging to an association gives them the right to take all the fish they possibly can. In conversation with a visitor from the Eastern Townships, our friend bragged about the number of fish he had taken while on a trip up north. Even to the point of telling us how these were "smuggled" past the wardens and guards! (Imagine freezing the fish solid so that they could be put inside tires, etc.) It sure makes you wonder to what lengths man will go to break the laws. I heard of a couple who were caught in U.S. not too long ago, who had fixed a false bottom on their car, so that they could smuggle fish through that way. Happily, they were caught, and a fine of $1,000 assessed against each one. . . That's expensive fishing!

• • •

I mentioned last week the curtailing of duties for our Wardens. Here is some relevant information, as I see it. . . It appears that in some quarters the use of minnows is taken for granted. We have our own ideas on the minnow ban, of course; but the transporting of this bait should be stopped, and we all know it. As far as I am concerned, the use of these for bait in the same lake you are going to fish, should not (and never has been) prohibited. It seems obvious that fishermen catching minnows in the lakes they were going to fish, would be benefitting the lakes concerned. Unfortunately some hogs had to spoil this by transporting outside minnows to these lakes — with the result that we have perch, catfish, suckers, lush, and what-have-you, in most of our lakes today. Naturally, the use of captured minnows from the lakes in question would involve a terrific amount of checking — a job that the governments could not undertake. Nor could clubs and associations effectively do it; so something else will have to be thought of. . . That is what happened with the total ban. I don't know what could be worked out, but maybe something could be done.

With the warm weather drying out the woods, it is timely to voice a warning about your smokes, fires, cook-outs, etc. The bush has dried out rapidly, so take care. Fires are unpleasant and costly at any time.

• • •

Another tip for boat owners: If you use a motor, think of the fellow who doesn't. By law you are supposed to slow down when passing a slower craft. I'm afraid this ruling is not observed at any time. You know how mad you get when someone blasts past you in a higher-powered boat; so think of the guy who rows, or is trolling. As for the trolling fraternity, give a thought also to their lines; these are expensive, and in a lot of cases are strung out many hundreds of feet behind.

Prov'l fire, police golf tournament

The Salaberry de Valleyfield police and firemen's social club is organizing a golf tournament June 26 for all members of police and firefighting departments in the Province, at the federal, provincial and municipal levels. The tournament will take place at the Valleyfield golf club, under patronage of Mayor Robert Cauchon; Josaphat Brunet, Director of the Provincial Police; and Deputy-Commissioner J. R. Lemieux, of the RCMP.

Dow fish derby, Lac Commandant

On Sunday, June 2, fine weather favored the Dow fishing derby at Lac Commandant, which drew over 50 competitors. Winners of the prizes were:

1st, Marcel Quenneville, Namur; 2nd, Claude Larocque, Lachute; 3rd, Jean Reneaud, Lachute; 4th, Miss Irene Lalonde, Lachute.

Following a drawing for additional prizes, a bean supper was served by an expert cook.

Sincere thanks are due to the prize donors; the sponsor, J. René Laurin; the cook, René Lalande; and the two organizers of this derby, A. J. Whiteway and Jacques Seguin.

The club is looking forward to another such event in the near future.

Fishing contest and drawing held at La Baie

There were 80-odd participants last Sunday in the Argenteuil Hunting and Fishing Association's contest held at Fernand Ouellette's property in La Baie, St. Andrews.

Philippe Prevost of Lachute took top prize of the day with a 3 lb. 12 oz. pike. Six other prizes were won by Hartland Dewar, P.-P. Theoret, Andy Graham, Bob Toweville, Mme P.-E. Gravel and Mme Ernest Tassé.

Three prizes from the Molson Fishing Club, for the most numerous catches, went to Oscar Larocque, Leonard Borris and Mrs. Hartland Dewar. There were a number of door prizes donated by Leonard Bedard, sponsor, and the Molson mobile headquarters were on the scene, by courtesy of the company. Remi Seguin was chief organizer of the event.

Drawing Held

A drawing for a 12-ft. boat and outboard motor, held by the club on this occasion, was won by Leopold Ceré, of Brownsburg.

Plaques presented to two benefactors of Lions Rink

A fitting recognition to two Lachute business firms for generosity in the promotion and continuance of the Lions Rink, was tendered by the club with the presentation of embossed bronze plaques — one to Jas. and Colin McOuat, received by the former, and the other to Lowe Brothers, accepted by Lion Cliff Lowe — at the club meeting last week. The co-operation of these townsmen in the matter of property, equipment and general operation is well known, and the inscription on the plaques paid tribute to their civic spirit and generosity especially to the youth of this community.

President Royal Carriere called upon Lion Cleighton Robinson, rink committee chairman, to present the tokens, and Mr. Jim McOuat suitably replied, pledging such further co-operation as his firm could offer.

Another highlight of the meeting was a colorful report by Dr. Eric Mongeon on the recent District convention held in Cornwall. His report imparted the essence of that fine spirit which motivates Lionism as a service movement. Through the presence of such members as the Lachute delegates, these conventions stimulate and revitalize the same altruistic zeal at community levels. Dr. Mongeon specially emphasized the impression made by Quebec's large attendance, and Dr. George Saine's report as District Governor for Zone A, which reflected high credit to Quebec in the International organization, and demonstrated in Ontario that Quebec "has not only Separatists and F.L.Q.'s, but also LIONS." It was a proud occasion for Dr. Mongeon and other local delegates who take their Lionism seriously. . . Miss Celine Laurin, Lachute's young orator and victor in the Eastern Canada contests, gave her speech before the thousands of Lions in attendance, and drew warm applause.

At this meeting a brief silence was observed in tribute to His Holiness the late Pope John XXIII, and a highlight of the gathering was a talk by "Bud" McGeorge, president of the Argenteuil Agricultural Society (which is reported elsewhere in this issue).

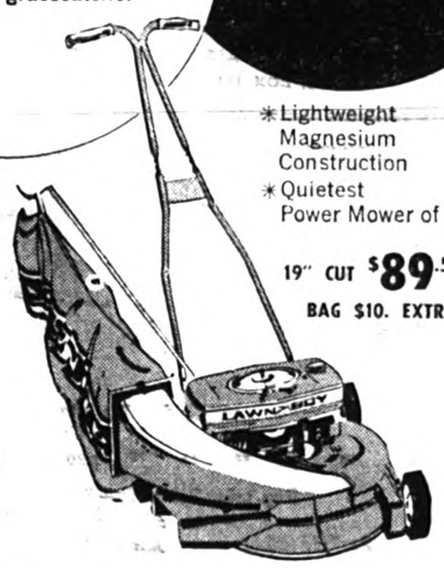

A directors' meeting had approved two requests for eyeglasses on behalf of needy applicants. Secretary Keith Clarke relayed to the meeting a written thank-you from the Legion, for the club's co-operation in relinquishing Lions' Night at the Fair.

Rev. and Mrs. Wilson Bridge feted by a host of friends

matter who comes here, it will be most difficult to replace you, and this large representation of your congregation, with some away and others unable to attend, is a glowing tribute of the love and affection which is felt for you both.

I am not going to elaborate on your good works, Reverend Sir, other than to mention your wonderfully enlightening sermons, which none could hear without being spiritually blessed, your keen interest in the welfare of the Church, and the comfort you have given by visiting the sick, both at home and in hospital, irrespective of race or creed.

You, Mrs. Bridge, have been an inspiration to all by your activity in the work of the Church, by your devotion to your husband, by assisting him in his arduous task, and by your regular attendance in the Choir. To be capable, among other things, of substituting in the pulpit, as you have done in cases of emergency, is most commendable.

Unfortunately, all good things must at some time or other come to an end, and we reluctantly bid you a sad farewell, with the sincere hope however, that you will be happy in your new surroundings, and that the work to which you have devoted your lives may prosper, to the extent that you will feel that the words of that well-known hymn "God moves in a mysterious way, His wonders to perform", will become a reality, resultant from your move.

In taking a new field of endeavor, it is sincerely hoped that you will not forget your Lachute and District friends, but whenever the occasion may arise, come to visit us. I know you will always receive a warm and hearty welcome.

While we have expressed our appreciation of your 10-year ministry with us, it is the wish of this gathering that you should take away with you something a little more tangible, and so on behalf of your many friends, I would like to present you with these 12 Volumes of the "Interpreter's Bible", from which I am sure you both will receive spiritual enrichment.

Along with these books, I am also pleased to hand you this wallet containing $1,000.

May God bless you, give you continued good health, and keep you steadfast in His good works.

Signed on behalf of your many friends, — R. A. Giles

Following this, Mrs. George Mitchell, a co-worker in the United Church Women, expressed her pleasure in making a presentation of beautiful roses, and of the string of pearls and earrings to Mrs. Bridge. George Armstrong, representing the Sunday School, presented Mr. Alex Bridge with a briefcase, on behalf of the many friends of Lachute United Church.

Another presentation, on behalf of the Cushing Pastoral Charge, was made by Mr. Ken Thomson, student minister, who expressed his own tribute, as he gave a purse containing $50.

In keeping with her gracious manner, Mrs. Wilson Bridge spoke of her deep appreciation to their many friends, of their sorrow in leaving Lachute, and of affection she had developed for the manse.

The Rev. Wilson Bridge, in expressing his thanks, spoke of the way life's problems seem to dovetail into the proper pattern, though at the moment, they seemed complex. He illustrated his thoughts in a review of his recent sermon "Can We Believe in Providence?". He appealed to his congregation to work together for the future of the church, saying that it was greater than any person or persons. Stating that he appreciated the gift of money. . . but that his first love was the wonderful volumes of "The Interpreter's Bible", a publication that would be of inestimable value to any minister. Concluding his remarks, a spontaneous standing ovation was given him and the whole evening's impression was one of heart-warming appreciation.

Refreshments were served by members of the Hi-C young ladies. The ladies' committee heading this important part of the event, was under the direction of Mrs. Lawson Taylor and Mrs. Bruce Bradford, and with the fine co-operation of many women of the church.

School election at Morin Heights

In a three-man contest for two seats on the Morin Heights Protestant School Board, the Rev. Wesley Ball was elected and Commissioner Paul Baumel was re-elected on Monday. There was only a fair turnout of voters, according to Mr. Keith Seale, secretary-treasurer, who gives the results as follows:

Swimmer loses life at Calumet

A 23-year-old Hawkesbury resident, Germain Lauzon, was drowned in the Ottawa River Saturday afternoon around five o'clock, while swimming at the Rouge River beach near Calumet. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donat Lauzon, of Hawkesbury, and was accompanied by a friend, Réjean Lamarche, 25, a resident of the same town.

The two swimmers were in the centre of the river when a wind came up and they decided to return to the northern shore, abandoning a log they had pushed out with them. After having gone some 500 feet, Lauzon informed his companion he was tired, and was told to swim a little slower. When Lamarche turned to see his companion, who had been swimming some 30 feet behind him, he had disappeared.

Officer Gaston Paquette, of the Q.P.P. detachment, investigated the incident. The body had not been recovered up till Tuesday.

Police and fire report for month

The police report for the month of May, presented at Town Council by Commissioner Linton Armstrong, records a total of 246 service calls; 23 traffic accidents with one case of personal injury; 8 animals destroyed; and investigations including 11 missing persons (all satisfactorily solved), 10 bicycle thefts (8 found) and one automobile stolen (and recovered).

The total of 11 arrests include 9 cases of traffic offences, one assault on a constable, and one offender for disturbing the peace.

Eighteen persons enjoyed the custody of the police cells, 82 traffic tickets were issued and 480 permits. Revenues of the department came to $1,350.

Council authorized the hiring of special police help for Fair Days this week.

DISTRICT NEWS

FROM OUR COUNTY CORRESPONDENTS

Arundel

Mr. R. Poeppner, and the Misses Beverley and Margaret Graham, were week-end guests of Mrs. Alvin Graham.

The Misses Cooke occupied their cottage over the week-end.

The community extends warmest congratulations to the Rev. and Mrs. F. Bussell, and the Rev. and Mrs. A. Lawson, who celebrate their respective wedding anniversaries this week.

Christening Ceremonies

A large attendance at the United Church service on Sunday morning witnessed the christening of the children of three local families — Mr. and Mrs. Coral Swail (son, Neil Coral Hugh Swail), Mr. and Mrs. Garnet Bennett (son, Garnet Shawn), and Mr. and Mrs. Doan (daughter, Brenda Ann). . . Mr. and Mrs. Coral Swail entertained at a luncheon for friends and relatives immediately after the service on Sunday. She was assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Guy Laughren, who stood as godparents at the christening ceremony.

Women's Institute

The Women's Institute held its monthly meeting on Tuesday evening last, with a good attendance. Mrs. H. Johnston, the president, was in charge, and routine business was dealt with. After the business Mrs. Bert Champagne (publicity convener) took over the entertainment, which was in the form of a "500" party.

Mr. and Mrs. Denzil Kilpatrick, of Morin Heights, were visitors of Mr. and Mrs. S. Swail over the week-end.

Cub Outing

The Arundel Cub pack held their last meeting of the season with a special outing, under the leadership of Mrs. M. Graham, Mrs. Earl Gray and Mrs. S. Dobbie. During the afternoon, Mrs. R. Henry gave a talk on rules for Water Safety.

Bell Falls

Week-end visitors of Mr. and Mrs. E. MacLeod were Miss Sharlene MacLean, of Vars, Mr. Dougal MacLean and Miss Jessie Smith, of Ottawa. Mr. Cliff Tubman is spending a few days visiting the MacLean home.

Mrs. Mary Betts, of Montreal, spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Page. Other visitors were Richard Bigelow and a friend, from Montreal, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Bigelow and family, of Rawcliffe.

Visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Adam Page were Mr. Rae MacRae, Mr. Tom McNeil, of Lachute, and Mrs. Mary Betts, of Montreal.

Mr. and Mrs. Loyd Clark spent the latter part of last week at their cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Page spent the week-end visiting relatives in Winchester, Ont.

Miss Elsie Page visited a number of friends in Bell Falls on Sunday.

Glen of Harrington

Mr. and Mrs. E. Ronalds, of Park Extension, spent the week-end with Mrs. Evelyn Colquhoun. Mrs. Ronalds will remain with her mother, who sustained a badly sprained ankle in a fall at her home.

Mrs. Douglas McKenzie, of Lakeside Heights, spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eason, Sr. Mr. Eason returned with his daughter, feeling much better, following a short stay in hospital.

Mrs. M. Leroy, of Grenville, returned home after a short visit as the guest of her sister, Mrs. O. Purcell.

Mrs. Morris Makin, of Montreal, called on Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Burns on Sunday last.

Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Chambers, of Montreal, were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Lane, at Lake View. Mrs. Chambers will remain for the week.

Mr. Blampied and his daughter, Audrie, spent the week-end at their cottage. Friends hope that Beverlee, who sustained a back injury, will soon be well again.

Lake Keatley

Mrs. A. Heffernan and Miss Joan are spending a while in Toronto visiting her daughter, Almira, son-in-law and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Alan Watson and family, of Montreal, spent the week-end at "Bay Point Cottage", Lake McLeod.

Mr. and Mrs. Sanford MacVicar and girls visited Mr. and Mrs. Edward Brigden in Ottawa last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Scott and daughter, Susan, of Cornwall, called on the McVicars over the week-end.

Mr. Norman Parent and friends spent the week-end at "Oak Bend Cabin".

Mrs. Sanford MacVicar entertained a party of women from the different Harrington church groups last Monday, to a quilting party arranged by Mrs. Dorothy McCullough.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Bennett, Jr., and daughter, Sherri, spent the week-end at "Echo Valley Cottage".

Misses Morgan and Woodberry, of Hawkesbury, spent the week as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Williams. Randy Williams was also a visitor.

Mr. George Bennett, Mr. Harold Cooke and Miss Betty Cooke, of Detroit, called on Mrs. Dave MacVicar on Friday evening.

Morin Heights

Best wishes for a speedy return to good health are extended to Mrs. Ruby Campbell, who is a patient in the Royal Victoria Hospital; also to her brother, Charlie Campbell, who has undergone surgery in St. Mary's; and to Bill Nesbitt, in the Jewish General — all in Montreal.

Mr. and Mrs. John McPherson, of California, visited old friends in this district one day last week.

Sawmill Burned

The Morin Heights fire brigade were called to Laurel recently. In spite of their efforts the Paradis sawmill was completely destroyed by fire.

Miss Theresa McConnell entertained last Saturday at a birthday party for her nephew, Steven Kennedy.

Mr. and Mrs. Keith Nesbitt and family, of Montreal, spent last week-end here at the home of his parents.

Mrs. Herbert Tucker, of Montreal, assisted by Mrs. Fred Tucker and Mrs. Cammy Seale, entertained at a linen shower for Miss Sandra Seale on Saturday afternoon. Mrs. C. E. Seale, Mrs. S. M. Captain and Mrs. M. A. Dey attended from here.

Mr. Colin Cameron spent the week-end in Sherbrooke, visiting friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Thomson and children, accompanied by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hector Dey, of St. Laurent, spent the week-end at their cottage in Mille Isles. Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Hawkins were at their cottage also.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Ivall, of Montreal, accompanied by Mrs. Alma Watchorn, of Christieville, left last Saturday for a trip to Alberta.

Northern Grenville

Miss Lynn Thompson, of Baie d'Urfée, spent the week-end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. McMichael as the guest of her sister, Miss Donna Thompson.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Logan and boys, of Pointe Claire, Mrs. John Cousens, of Lachute, and Mrs. Bernard Benard, of Vancouver, were Sunday visitors at Mr. and Mrs. Allen Cousens'.

Congratulations to Miss Vera Young, also Mr. Ivan MacLean, who successfully passed in their year at Macdonald College.

Fragrance that calms

Curb wireworm in potato patch

Ottawa — The increased use of organic soils for growing potatoes has given rise to a wireworm problem to southwestern Quebec.

However, damage to potato crops can be averted by using the insecticide aldrin, reports researcher J. Lafrance, of Canada Department of Agriculture's laboratory at St. Jean, Que.

Apply seven pounds per acre of the active ingredient of aldrin, suggests Mr. Lafrance. The insecticide — either in emulsion or granule form — is applied to the soil and worked in to a depth of four to six inches. This should be done a week before planting. The researcher adds that the emulsion gave better control than the granules.

He also sounds a note of caution: The treatment should not be repeated the following year on land under continuous cultivation, in order to avoid a build-up of insecticide residues.

Wireworms begin to emerge as click beetles in mid-May and start laying eggs by the middle of the next month. By early July the beetles disappear. The eggs hatch into wireworms and damage to potato crops begins the next year, continuing for two or three years before the wireworms emerge as beetles.

Navy couple wed at Halifax, N.S.

McGibbon - Johnson

The marriage of Miss Barbara Anne Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Johnson, of Fort William, to Mr. Duncan McGibbon, took place recently in St. Mark's Anglican Church, Halifax, N.S.

Miss Ruth Heisler was maid of honor, and the bride's other attendants were Mrs. J. Yates and Mrs. J. Marnott. Mr. Martin Johnson was best man, and the ushers were Mr. Bruce Hewitt and Mr. Gordon Tucker.

Following the wedding, a reception was held in the Wrens Quarters at H.M.C.S. Stadacona.

Out-of-town guests attending were Mr. and Mrs. Johnson, of Fort William, and Mr. and Mrs. B. McGibbon, of Lachute.

Both the bride and groom are members of the R.C.N.

Scottish Visitors

Mr. and Mrs. Gavin Reekie, from Fifeshire, Scotland, renewed acquaintances in these parts last week-end — especially with Rotarian curlers with whom Mr. Reekie had exchanged visits in past years.

Mr. Reekie, an in-coming District Governor, was at Lake Placid to attend the Rotary Governor's conference, and the couple were escorted here last Friday by Mr. and Mrs. Linton Armstrong. A party was held for them at Lachute Golf Club on Saturday, about 30 friends attending. Mr. Reekie played golf on Sunday; and the next day they proceeded to Burlington, N.Y. — again escorted to their destination by Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong, who were accompanied by their daughter, Beverly.

Mrs. Frank Dana and Miss Mabel Hibbard came recently from Rochester, N.Y., to visit their sister-in-law, Mrs. E. A. Hibbard. Mrs. Dana returned home last Thursday — Miss Hibbard remaining for a lengthier visit.

Miss Edna Boon, of Montreal, spent the week-end as the guest of Mrs. Jos. McMahon.

Mr. Brian Steeves, from Houston, Texas, paid a brief visit to Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Steeves last week while spending a few days in this part of Canada.

~

Mrs. Robt. McCrea, and Mrs. Norman McRae, of Lachute, spent a few days last week in Ville La Salle as guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. King.

Mrs. J. LeSueur and daughter, Edna, of Ottawa, accompanied by their guest, Mrs. D. Hocquail, of Jersey, Channel Islands, visited last week at the home of the Rev. and Mrs. W. C. LeCras.

Mrs. Donald M. Hay and daughter, Miss Barbara Hay (on vacation from training at the Montreal General Hospital) have spent the past week in New Brunswick, where they visited with former acquaintances.

80th Milestone

Congratulations are extended to Mr. Robt. Brown, College Street resident, who celebrated his 80th birthday on Tuesday, June 11.

~

Mr. Wayne Riddell, of Montreal, visited his mother, Mrs. Olive Riddell, during the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Ken Bradford and son, Stewart, and Mr. Harold Bradford, of Beaconsfield, were guests of Mrs. Rupert Bradford last week-end.

Miss E. Stanton Addressed Women's Institute

The monthly meeting of the Women's Institute was held in the Lachute High School on June 4. After the business was concluded, Mrs. Gordon Dobbie introduced Miss Elizabeth Stanton, English Literature teacher at Lachute High School, who treated the members to an interesting outline on the instruction of English Literature in Grades IX and X.

PORTRAITS AND PRICES

If you haven't had your portrait painted, do it soon and save money, says The Financial Post. Increasing interest in portraiture in the U.S. is expected to spill over the border into Canada and then it will be the old story: Up goes demand, up goes the price. Right now, however, you can get a relative bargain in Canada. A three-quarter portrait (including head and trunk) done by a leading Canadian portraitist costs about $1,000-$2,500 ($5,000 maximum for a large "head-to-toe") vs. $5,000-$25,000 charged by a top artists in the U.S., Britain or Europe.

The Bible Today

Latest figures show a world Scripture distribution, through the Bible Societies, of almost 50 million copies in 1962. This is an average increase of 27% over the previous year, compared to the increase in 1961 of only 10% over the 1960 figures.

Australia showed an increase in 1962 of only 1.2%, while Central and South America had a 70.8% jump in Scripture distribution. Europe showed a decline of 10.2%. Increases were reported from Africa of 10.6%, North America 15.4% and Asia 20.4%.

In Central and South America the large increase shown was largely in what are known as "Portions" and "Selections," as distinct from whole Bibles and New Testaments. There is growing co-operation being shown by the Evangelical Churches and the National Bible Societies in adopting planned selective distribution techniques.

Canada reports 93,220 Bibles, 74,610 Testaments and 190,615 portions and selections distributed, being an increase of over 42,000 from the 1961 figures. Sales of the commercial publishers are not available and are not included in the above.

preparations, was pleasantly surprised by the number of enquiries, by local and long distance phone, regarding reservations and other details. This was interpreted by Mr. Riley as a keen pitch of interest in many quarters.

President Bud MacGeorge seemed equally enthusiastic. Following a directors' meeting Monday night he was highly encouraged by the work accomplished to assure the smooth operation of this annual show.

The weather (on Tuesday) is desultory, but gives no reason to anticipate unfavorable conditions. It is hoped for mild evenings to favor the grandstand crowd witnessing the major entertainment events.

Annual Exhibition — Looking Back

It is timely to include in this preliminary round-up a talk given by President Bud MacGeorge at the Lions Club last week, touching upon the history of this annual event.

Mr. MacGeorge had in his possession an ancient minute-book written in neat longhand. Records of the Argenteuil Agricultural Society meetings, he stated, had been recorded over a period of 138 years, from 1855, and they were still legible and in good order.

Early exhibitions were held by this group of County farmers in various places — St. Philippe, Muddy Branch, St. Andrews, and Lachute. It was not until 1889 that the Society settled upon a permanent site, and after much wrangling, a tract of land in the western extremity of town was purchased from Henry Hammond. Public spirited citizens invested for 49 shares in a building society which would administer this property for the Agricultural Society. Eventually, after canvassing the heirs and descendants of these investors, some in far-away places, the Agricultural Society bought-in the capital.

President MacGeorge here read from the ancient record-book the minutes of a meeting 100 years ago. He recalled, too, the varying functions of the Society, which included the judging of crops in the field and fruits in the orchard. The Society imported two stallions, from Scotland and from France, and through its livestock competitions progressively encouraged higher standards of quality.

The speaker also enumerated the past presidents, and gave unstinting credit "to those in whose steps he was proud to follow". There were stalwarts of the directorate, there were secretary-managers, whose devotion in the past incurred a debt of gratitude for the advancement of this Fair. . . Specially mentioned were three present on this occasion, Major G. G. Mitchell (a life member), Donald M. Hay (a past-president and descendant of the pioneer promoters), and Kenneth Riley (energetic manager over the past several years); also a long-standing member of the Lions Club, Clément Tremblay, OBE, who is a past-president and now honorary director of the Society.

In conclusion, President Bud MacGeorge voiced appreciation for the help of local service clubs in stimulating interest in the entertainment aspects of Lachute Spring Fair.

(Donald M. Hay, in introducing the speaker, revealed something of his background, which eminently equips him for leadership in the Agricultural Society and its annual Fair. Brought up in the atmosphere of an agricultural college, and versed in the affairs of agricultural shows and model herd management, he has been active in the Society for the past 20 years. . . Thanks of his audience were adequately expressed by Roger E. Regimbal, who is Agriculture committeeman of the club.)

Brownie promotions at mother-daughter celebrations

'Flying Up' ceremonies in Brownie groups

The Girl Guide mother-and-daughter supper was held in the Margaret Rodger Memorial Presbyterian Church on June 4. This event was catered for by the Ladies' Auxiliary of Legion Branch 70, who sponsor the Brownies and Guides of Lachute.

The 1st Lachute Brownies "flew up" to the 1st Company Guides, and the 2nd Lachute Brownies "flew up" to the 2nd Company Guides. The Guides were presented with their badges for the year's work. After the Brownie ceremonies, the Guide Companies put on skits for entertainment. The evening ended with campfire songs by Brownies and Guides. This concludes the year's work for these organizations.

There were a total of 90 Guides and their mothers for supper, and 35 Brownies and their mothers for tea and cookies after the supper.

wonder QUESTIONS?

ANSWERED BY THE RESEARCH SERVICE OF THE BOOK OF KNOWLEDGE

How Thick is an Elephant's Skin?

Perhaps you have heard the expression "as thick as an elephant's hide." You know that the saying is used in a general way to indicate that something has considerable thickness. An elephant does, indeed, have a very thick skin. On young elephants, in almost all parts of the body, the wrinkled, hairless skin is about one inch in thickness. This is unusually thick skin to begin with. When an elephant has attained adult age, the thickness of the skin varies. On the under side of the body and in places like the "arm pits" the skin may be only one-fourth to one-half an inch thick, while on the back and sides there has developed a protective covering that may be as thick as one and one-half inches. The elephant's hide is really an armour of skin.

What Makes Me Hungry?

You know you are hungry when you have a very special kind of feeling in your stomach. Even babies know when they are hungry. Their cries say very plainly, "I want my bottle!" Animals, too, have many ways of showing that they need food. Living creatures of all kinds become hungry and the desire to satisfy this hunger is one of those important life urges that are called instincts.

When you are hungry, you have a sinking feeling in the pit of your stomach. This uncomfortable feeling is caused by movements of the stomach. During the time when the stomach is filled with food, we do not feel discomfort unless we have eaten too much food, or the wrong kind of food. But when all the food has passed through the stomach into the intestines, the stomach begins to expand and contract, like a fist opening and closing. This movement gives us the hollow feeling that tells us instinctively that the body needs more food.

Perennial headache of speeding aired in Brownsburg Council

The June session of the Brownsburg town council turned out to be a lengthy affair, with little to show for the councillors' efforts except the need for another session!

One item which did draw some comment, and agreement, by Councillor Gerald Vowles, concerned a perennial headache for those interested in such things — i.e., drivers exceeding the speed limit in town. It was reported that a recent estimate by a local citizen indicated that between 40% and 50% of the cars observed in a particular area were exceeding the speed limit. Police Chief Williams and some of the councillors seemed surprised at this, while Mayor Donaldson stated that the area in question, Main Street East, was not the only trouble area. He seemed to be interested in eliminating speeding in the middle of the village. True, there may be speeding there, but observation leaves little doubt that the main roads leading to the municipality bear much heavier traffic concentrations. Council carefully avoided any promise that there would be a concerted effort to control drivers, but agreed that the problem would "be examined".

Police Chief Williams' report for the month listed 22 speeding tickets issued, 24 parking tickets, and three red-light infractions.

More decisive action was taken when Council was asked what had happened to the long-awaited dog by-law. . . After some questioning, fumbling and embarrassment, it was finally established that the supposed registered-mail copy of the by-law had never gotten off the ground. Councillor Baccardax finally took the lead by stating that the proposed regulation had been sitting idle for well over a year, and that it was high time that definite steps were taken to ensure that a copy did in fact get into the hands of the authorities in Quebec. He asked that the rule be typed immediately, by hiring extra office help if necessary, and be sent to Quebec for approval.

Council's interest in the building of a town hall was heightened considerably by the attendance of a professional architect, who offered his services for the design of a building. Council agreed to submit a list of needs to the firm so that a preliminary sketch could be drawn up. Mayor Donaldson's opinion regarding the main controlling factor — "We have no money!"

"The Scene" IN BROWNSBURG

(Our District Correspondent)

— A local citizen passed on an opinion which is shared by many: "It is virtually impossible for us to keep our homes looking neat, especially if we are absent for a couple of days, because of the mess of handbills stuck in doors, under mats, and frequently just dropped on the front steps. I believe that these litter-bugs should be prosecuted (the merchants, not the delivery boys). We of course retaliate as best we can by carefully refraining from buying anything at these establishments!" An ideal opportunity for such organizations as the Chamber of Commerce.

• • •

— Councillor Baccardax' support of the dog by-law brought results — the copy of the regulation has been typed and sent to Quebec by registered mail.

• • •

— The safety patrols are still in action for students attending the French schools, but the children attending the English school have no such protection! This — on the town's busiest thoroughfare where there is little or no attempt made to control automobile speeds — particularly at the critical times when school students are entering or leaving school.

Accumulation of town problems at prolonged session of Council

All members of Town Council were aboard for the June sitting, chaired by Mayor Dave Campbell at city hall last Wednesday. There was prolonged and varied debate on everything except chip-potato wagons, a subject which seems temporarily rectified.

On the matter of sidewalks, the Mayor commended Ald. Edmund McFaul on the excellent job of the town crews in remaking 7,080 feet of sidewalk. Also 250 feet had been laid for private property owners. A resolution was passed to build a stretch on the north side of Henry, between Elizabeth and Barron. A request for sidewalk on a corner of Harriet and Thomas Streets would be preferably held over, on suggestion of the Mayor, until fall, when employment needs would be more pressing (and Winter Works aid again available to the municipality).

There was also much discussion on water supply, which is reported in another chapter of this issue.

The Mayor asked that a letter of sincere regret be sent to the Apostolic Delegate in Ottawa, on the death of Pope John XXIII. It was also remarked that the flag in the memorial park was lowered to half mast until after the Pontiff's funeral. . . Incidental to this, Ald. P. Pariseau, in charge of park and properties, was asked to have the flagpole repainted.

There was agreement on a new pay scale for census takers, at a flat rate plus 10 cents per entry — on a system similar to election enumerators.

Police and Fire Commissioner Linton Armstrong gave the month's reports for these departments, and Fire Chief Don MacCulloch was present to emphasize the need of space for lectures and demonstrations to the firefighters. There was also discussion on (unsightly) car hulks causing obstruction around premises; and it was noted that Lachute's present fire code dated back to 1916! Commissioner Armstrong read the latest Fire Underwriters' report for this town, which showed many additional needs for protection, including more full-time personnel.

The Chamber of Commerce was granted permission to use ground space on the riverbank opposite the park, for a tourist information kiosk. Also a sum of $100 was voted to aid this project. (The Chamber had asked for $300.)

A streetlight was ordered for Gordon and McGibbon Streets, and there were reports given and quotations sought, regarding purchase of a desk, repair of various town properties including the police headquarters, the park steps, the auditorium, and for lighting of the bandstand and the (arena) machine shed. Ald. Pariseau gave information and received Council instructions on these needs.

Ald. Nelson Lepage agreed to represent the town in the St. Jean Baptiste parade and celebration June 22; and Monday, 24th, was proclaimed a civic holiday for St. Jean Baptiste Day.

A letter from Dr. John C. MacKimmie expressed appreciation for assistance of the police department and use of the resuscitator in an emergency, but drew attention to defects in this equipment, with recommendations for its remedy or replacement.

A letter from the local Red Cross Unit respectfully suggested the naming of a street "Henri Dunant" after the founder of Red Cross, this being the centenary year of the international organization. The town having temporarily run out of streets, it was agreed to hold the suggestion until new thoroughfares are opened up.

Aldermen Orphir Desjardins and François Charlebois reported for their various committees. A sum of $200 was voted for the Industrial committee for incidental expenses. Also a sum not exceeding $250 was voted for the secretary to attend the coming convention of the Association of Municipal Secretary-Treasurers.

There was discussion on the desirability of engaging a town manager, but Mayor Campbell persuaded Ald. Charlebois, advocate of the idea, that this should be delayed until annexation plans are settled and the scope of work more clearly defined.

Romeo Roussel appeared before Council to seek the removal of a parking ban in front of his property opposite Ste. Anastasie Church on Bethany Street. The no-parking signs are detrimental to his site as a business stand, he argued. The appropriate committee will investigate.

Godfroy Delorme received satisfaction in requesting a permit to repair his property on Chatham Street, which had been a subject of disagreement with the inspector. Aldermen Marcil, Charlebois and McFaul were delegated to check this application and also the general granting of permits and operation of the building and zoning by-law.

Ald. Marcil (finance) concluded a long and sweltering session with the presenting of accounts, and payment was approved for $48,317.01 in various bills of expense.

Speakers at recent Rotary meetings

"Beef on the March" was the topic at the May 30 meeting of Brownsburg-Lachute Rotary Club. Rotarian Andy Hardie introduced the speaker, Mr. Vince Maisonneuve, meat director for National Grocers, who explained some of the terms used in the meat and packing industries, how market prices are arrived at, the methods used by suppliers to ensure that the meat bought by the customer is in its best and freshest condition. Considerable research is undertaken by larger companies, not only to improve the quality, but also to reduce costs and to solve the large problems encountered in transportation and distribution.

The visitor had with him a film produced by Swift Canadian Ltd., one of the world's largest packing concerns, which showed the whole process, from the fields of the farmer and the cattle ranges, the inspection, tenderizing injections, butchering, grading and selecting, down to the storage and distribution of the beef, all of which is carried out under the watchful eyes of government analysts and inspectors. Calgary Stockyards, where the film was made, average a processing of 7,000 head of cattle per week for human consumption.

At the June 6 meeting, Rotarian Don Wilson introduced Gordon McGibbon as guest speaker, on the subject, "How the Building Industry Functions". Gordon described the different stages required in the erection of a building, beginning with the architect, which, he said was an "absolute must"; according to law, one must have proper plans, drawn by a qualified architect, before anything can be started. He also explained the two methods used insofar as tendering is concerned, namely public requests and by invitation.

The final stage, and a very important one, was the guarantee of the building. One half of the guarantee is jointly between the architect and the general contractor, that the building is structurally sound in every respect; and secondly by only the contractor, that the building is mechanically sound, that is, in regard to doors, windows, elevators, etc. The guarantees are usually for a period of five years.

Rotarian Jim Campbell thanked the speaker on behalf of the club.

Fines imposed, permits suspended in highway cases

Judge Omer Côté, sitting in St. Jerome court on Friday of last week, handed down the following sentences on reckless driving charges laid by the local Q.P.P. detachment:

André Leduc, 19, of Hawkesbury, who was found guilty after trial, was sentenced to a fine of $50 plus costs.

Yvon Labonté, 23, of 210 St. Georges Street, Ayersville, was sentenced to a fine of $50 plus costs, and his driver's permit was suspended for three months.

Murray Staniforth, 22, of Huberdeau, who pleaded guilty, was sentenced to a fine of $50 plus costs, his driver's permit being suspended for a one-year period.

Appearing before Judge Camille de Martigny, Rodrigue Beauchamp, 61, of St. François Street, Montreal, was sentenced to a fine of $50 plus costs, his driver's permit being suspended for a four-month period, when found guilty of driving while his ability was impaired.

Plan celebrations for fete of St. Jean Baptiste

The St. Jean Baptiste Society of Lachute - Ayersville has planned for spectacular celebrations Saturday evening, June 22, to mark the national fete of French Canada.

According to Fernand Berthiaume, president of the local group, guests for the occasion will include civic heads and councillors, the federal and provincial representatives, all with their wives, and some members of the diocesan body. J. Arthur Lafrance has charge of the program, which will include open-air mass at the Richelieu Park, a supper (also served outdoors), and a street parade through Lachute and Ayersville.

Returning to the Richelieu Park there will be a singsong in the French-Canadian tradition, short speeches, an immense bonfire and fireworks.

"SCHOOL'S OUT!" — SOON

Up to this point in the year children in Lachute have been spending a great deal of their time in school, but with summer rolling around again they will be once more on their own about town. This means that drivers should be doubly careful when driving during the summer months. You can always expect the unexpected when exuberant kids let out a hoop and a holler at the end of another school year. They have a way of dashing out from behind parked cars or racing across intersections without warning. By keeping a sharp lookout and a slow speed, we can make sure that they will ALL return to school next fall.

WE'VE FOUND A USE FOR RUST

Would you be surprised to find that rust is a component in the memory core of a computer, the transformer core of a TV receiver, or the antenna rod for radio or radar equipment? Well, we would be too, except for the fact that there is, and it serves a useful and important purpose. Iron oxide (rust) from scrap iron, in the form of ferrites with excellent magnetic properties, are being produced by our Northern Electric Company. These low cost components can be molded into any desired form and lose none of their efficiency when miniaturized. In the telephone industry ferrite materials are applied to electronic switching systems, electronic switchboards and are expected to be the heart of a push button touch tone dial which is being developed. As a matter of fact, few communication systems presently under design, or foreseen for the future, will be without a high percentage content of ferrite components.

"I'M SORRY — IT'S A SECRET."

This is the response given by an employee who is questioned regarding the conversation of a telephone user who may be overheard speaking over our telephone lines. We are legally obligated to maintain the privacy of telephone service. However, on the production of a search warrant the police have the right of access to Company property and records. Of course, the Bell cannot be a party to wire tapping as it would violate our obligation to maintain the privacy of the telephone conversations. I just thought I might mention these few facts about our telephone service for your general information since I have been asked on occasion about this matter. Of course, there still is the rural multi-party line which gives each customer easy access to the conversations of others you say? True, but with increased spread of technology and availability of facilities, the days of the multiple "click" when six or more receivers hang up after a "good" conversation has ended, may soon come to an end.

Green light for ARDA in Quebec

QUEBEC Legislature has given its approval in principle to ARDA, which could be an important addition to long-term economic plans, particularly as they affect rural Quebec.

The legislation opens the way for Quebec to enter the federal government's Agricultural Rehabilitation and Development Act. It authorizes the Department of Agriculture to "prepare projects for the technical, economic and social development of rural regions." In the first year some $7,000,000 will be spent, half by Quebec and half by Ottawa.

Through this plan, the government foresees not only long-range possibilities to improve agriculture, but reforestation projects and measures to set aside more recreational areas. It is emphasized by Agriculture Minister Courcy, that the government wants the co-operation of those involved to make the plans a success. The planning of projects under ARDA must have the "understanding, the approval, the participation" of those interested.

Rural improvement must not be confused with strictly agricultural improvement. ARDA is designed to improve whole rural areas, from which agriculture would naturally draw direct benefits. Results cannot be expected immediately; planning will take time and experience.

Father's Day

TO A CHILD, father means safety, security, a refuge from anxiety and defeat. Father means discipline, the setter of the rules and regulations that govern a small world and give it direction.

As we grow and our horizons expand, the dimensions of his guidance increase to meet our ever-changing needs. His strength and experience help to shape our character. His wisdom leaves us, finally, the master of our own destiny.

The word conjures up several other images that have been comic standbys in our society. Father, the payer of the bills; the bringer-home of the bacon; the long-suffering, down-trodden servant of Mom and the kids; the golfer, the fisherman, hunter, sportsman who spends week days at the office and week-ends with "the boys".

Despite all these derogatory images spread through the ages, Dad will be top dog on Sunday, June 16, when we celebrate Father's Day.

The World Food Congress

THERE IS AN awakening conscience in the world. Men and women in 100 nations around the globe now are aware that no man is an island — that one man's hunger is everyone's concern.

The well-nourished nations no longer feel that a hand stretched out in charity to the poor and hungry will suffice. They recognize the need to attack the causes of poverty and hunger, to help the underdeveloped nations to help themselves.

Those are the words of S.Y. Krishnaswamy, secretary-general of the World Food Congress, a history-making gathering being held at Washington, June 4 to 18. The congress is the high mark of the world-freedom-from-hunger campaign directed by the United Nations' Food and Agriculture Organization. There are 20 Canadians among the delegates attending.

This campaign — called the greatest crusade against human hunger in world history — achieves its fullest expression as more than 1,000 persons dedicated to action on food problems gather at Washington.

Economic and social development of the backward nations is essential if the spectre of hunger is to be banished from the earth. Reports will show that population growth has edged ahead of the increase in food production, and that in the next decade food surpluses may continue to accumulate in some countries, while in others people will still be hungry.

Illiteracy and ignorance, archaic social systems, scarcity of scientists and technicians and, generally, of skilled leaders and workers — these are some of the obstacles to the necessary development in the needy lands.

Even under the most favorable conditions of international co-operation it will take decades, perhaps generations, to overcome the problem. And it cannot be done merely by governmental action.

The task needs the understanding and co-operation of people in every land. Dr. B. R. Sen, FAO director general who inspired the freedom from hunger campaign, says it is essentially a people to people campaign; first of all, an educational campaign.

The World Food Congress brings this idea to the forefront. It concentrates world attention on the hunger problem, and will propose policies and programs for its solution.

Wedding bells in June

MORE THAN prospective brides are concerned with wedding bells this June — reports Beatrice Riddell in The Financial Post. The business community is wondering whether the marriage boom of the mid-1960's is going to be as spectacular or come as soon as expected. On the marriage pattern of the next few years depends much of the pattern of consumer demand. The current trough in the marriage cycle is due primarily to low birth rates in the late 1930's. It should shoot up sharply during the next few years as the huge crop of war and post-war babies reach marriageable age. If it doesn't — and some observers are worried that it won't do so fast enough — the demand for housing and household consumer durables won't live up to expectations.

There are bullish and bearish factors in the future marriage market. The number of young men and women reaching 21 years of age in 1967 should be approximately 22% higher than in 1963. Based on present age distribution of the population, the number of people reaching marriageable age will increase sharply during the next two decades.

There are now approximately 1.2 million young men and women in the prime marriage age group of 20-24. But there are some 1.4 million in the 15-19 age group, 1.8 million between 10-14, 2.1 million aged five to nine and 2.3 million under five. A rapid rise in new family formation during the next few years and resulting demand for houses, cars, appliances, etc., would stimulate business expansion. This in turn could result in a high immigration rate that would further increase consumer demand.

PRAIRIE UPSURGE

There is growing optimism in the prairie West. You can feel it in the air. Manitoba's COMEF Report indicates it; Saskatchewan is raring at the bit, counting on the completion of the dam to speed its industrialization; and oil-rich Alberta is reading the annual reports of gas and oil companies with understandable joy.

This burgeoning of the West does not go unnoticed elsewhere. Last year the great Lever Brothers organization held its annual meeting in Winnipeg, and included a trip out to Altona in its survey of Western growth. The other day British industrialist G. H. Sugden, head of a giant engineering complex, was here to study handling devices developed by the Hart-Emerson Simon division of Simon Day Limited. He assured Manitoba officials that the products would now be marketed throughout the world.

On June 19, in Winnipeg, the investment house of Nesbitt Thomson will hold an economic forum to which the general public interested in the economic future of the prairies will be invited. A panel of experts will answer questions of an economic nature for all comers. The company admittedly chose Winnipeg for the forum to identify itself with the West, where it foresees tremendous growth of an industrial nature in the next decade.

The other day, a professor of an Eastern university, paraphrasing Horace Greely, advised students to "Go Western, young men." He said the attitude of Westerners was right, it was rambunctious and lively. This is the attitude that accounts for the boom that has now begun on the three prairie provinces.

Do not think that anything as intangible as a mere attitude is to be sniffed at. F. R. Daniels, president of Dominion Textiles, told a group of manufacturers in Toronto on June 3 that what Canada needs most today is an attitude that the Japanese and some of the other re-built nations are getting ahead of us.

Mr. Daniels must have been speaking of the East. Out here on the prairies — yes, even in socialist Saskatchewan — arms are wide-open for industry, and people have a warm feeling towards it. They know industries make jobs and improve the lot of us all.

Any person with money to invest would be wise to invest it now in the West, where the population will welcome it and do everything possible to make it pay off for the investor.

SOCIETY NEWS

Not so long ago I read the following: "Marriage is a wonderful institution for women. Men should have nothing to do with it."

Wouldn't it be funny if things could be changed around a bit and a bridegroom should suddenly become an important character at a wedding, instead of just a sort of unnecessary evil? If and when this ever happens, the report of a wedding would appear in the Society Column something like this:

Flooberry - Blooberry

The marriage of Philander Quinsy Flooberry, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Horace M. Flooberry, to Miss Adenoid Blooberry, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Brutus K. Blooberry, was celebrated at the home of the groom's parents. The Rev. Nohope Atoll performed the ceremony.

During the signing of the register; the soloist, Mr. Green Blooberry, brother of the bride, sang: "There'll Be A Hot Time In The Old Town Tonight."

The groom was given away by his father, who wore a dark green (originally black) frock coat belonging to his grandfather, Cyrus Flooberry, who distinguished himself in the War of 1812, with grey striped trousers tastefully patched in the rear with similar material, and tan shoes.

The groom wore a freshly-cleaned blue serge suit, shiny in spots, with frayed cuffs, a black leather bow-tie and a celluloid collar, a new pair of yellow and green knitted socks (a gift from the bride) and a pair of new black shoes with matching laces and rubber heels.

After the reception, which was well attended and during which the bride poured tea and the groom scraped the toast, the happy couple left for a brief honeymoon — a camping trip; the groom wore a red mackinaw shirt under a drab raincoat. On their return they will reside at the home of the groom's parents until they can find other accommodation.

BUSINESS TRIPS PRODUCE UNEXPECTED PROBLEMS

Handling the household finances while her husband is away on a business trip can be a problem for any wife unless she has enough cash on hand to cope with everyday expenses, as well as those little emergencies that always seem to arise at awkward moments.

But the practice of having sums of money around the house can be dangerous. More and more couples are finding a far more practical and flexible method of handling money is through a B of M joint account operated by them both. It's a favorite with women everywhere because the joint account is both simple and convenient. It makes an ideal way to keep track of family expenses, too.

Various arrangements can be made when opening a joint account is the safest method of keeping family financing on a flexible basis at all times. See Miss Mary Preece, accountant at the Lachute branch of the Bank of Montreal, or Miss Louise Miller at Ayersville branch, for complete details about opening and operating a convenient joint account.

Father's Day

(Copyright)

— By NANCY CLEAVER —

Let's make Father's Day a red-letter day this year! After all it has managed to survive half a century on this continent in spite of all its detractors who cry, "Horrid commercialism of sentiment!"

In the early church almanacs and prayer books, religious festivals were printed with red ink. In time, secular calendars used red numbers to indicate holidays and special days too. From this custom the term "red-letter" day came to mean a day that was looked forward to with pleasure or back to with joy because of some happy event. Surely Father's Day deserves to be in this category!

The originator of the idea of honoring father was not a man but a married woman. Mrs. Bruce Dodds of Spokane, Washington, looked back with gratitude on her own childhood when her father, a civil war veteran, with love and patience earned a living and also cared for his six motherless children, she was convinced that the importance of a father was apt to be overlooked and that a disrespectful attitude toward the Head of the House was foolish and harmful.

She talked with her minister, Rev. Conrad Bluhm, and leaders in the Y.M.C.A. To her delight on the third Sunday in June, 1910, with the sponsorship of the Ministers' Alliance, the very first Father's Day was marked by song and tribute in a church service.

Fathers have been too busy earning money for their families to campaign for themselves and their day. But women, assisted by the pulpit and the press have crusaded for recognition of a father's place in the modern family.

In today's world with a shorter laboring day and a five day work week, fathers are home a great deal more than fathers early in this century. Many mothers are working full or part time, and father is usually thankful with the rising cost of living, that two cheques are helping to keep the family out of debt.

If the wife is working outside the home, and even if she has decided to be a full-time mother, fathers in many homes are spending more time doing things with their children. They are accepting more responsibility for their son's or daughter's training, as they realize that a child needs two parents. They sense that a father has a unique contribution to make to a child's development and no one else can replace his influence.

Instead of making jokes about Father's Day, the third Sunday in June, which has never achieved the recognition of Mother's Day in May, let's observe it! If we are fortunate enough to have our fathers still with us, surely we can let them know how thankful we are for happy childhood memories of yesterday and how much they mean to us today.

If you are fatherless perhaps you could seek out a "forgotten" father, without family or friends, who is in a rooming house or a nursing home or hospital. By a visit and a little gift you could bring him unexpected happiness. If he is well enough, he would perhaps enjoy a ride in your car and Sunday evening meal with your family.

Your minister or priest, or a social worker, can likely supply you with the name of an older man desperately in need of companionship. If Father's Day launched your household on an adventure in friendship with a lonely man, then this would indeed be a Red Letter Day in your life and in his!

So you don't like spinach!

If your family doesn't like spinach, perhaps it is because of the way it's cooked. Here are a few tips from the home economists of the Consumer Section:

— First, be sure the spinach is fresh, crisp and green. Cut off roots and remove any heavy stems. Discard any yellow, soft or withered leaves.

— Then wash it thoroughly and shake leaves to remove excess water.

— Place spinach in a saucepan and do not add any extra water as there is enough clinging to the leaves. Add ½ teaspoon salt for six servings i.e. 2 pound bulk spinach or 2 10-ounce packages. Sprinkle it between the layers of spinach as you add it.

— Cover the pan tightly and cook until barely tender (about 3 to 6 minutes only). Turn the spinach over after it has wilted so that it cooks evenly.

— Before draining, cut crosswise through spinach with a sharp knife to allow liquid to drain off more easily.

— The result, a green, tender, mild flavored vegetable, low in calories and rich in vitamins and minerals (particularly iron). Because you have not added water, more of these nutrients will be retained in the vegetable itself.

* * *

Freshly cooked, tender, green spinach is delicious served with only butter and pepper and salt. However, for a spinach "special" which will surprise and please your family and guests why not try one of these combinations from the test kitchens of the Consumer Section, Canada Department of Agriculture.

Spinach in Browned Butter

Prepare and cook 2 pounds bulk spinach (or 2 10-ounce packages). Add ½ teaspoon salt. Cook quickly 3 to 6 minutes with no added water other than that remaining on leaves after washing. Drain well. Chop if desired. Heat ¼ cup butter in a frying pan over medium heat until light brown. Immediately remove from heat to prevent over-browning. Add ¼ teaspoon nutmeg and spinach, return to heat and stir gently until thoroughly heated. 4 to 5 servings.

Spinach Au Gratin

2 10-Ounce packages spinach (or 2 pounds bulk), ½ teaspoon salt, 3 tablespoons butter, ¾ cup shredded Cheddar cheese, 2 tablespoons butter, ¼ cup dry bread crumbs.

Prepare and cook spinach quickly, 3 to 6 minutes, using the ½ teaspoon salt. Drain well. Chop if desired.

Melt the 3 tablespoons butter in saucepan, add spinach and heat. Add ¼ cup of the cheese and stir gently to mix. Turn into a buttered shallow baking dish and sprinkle with remaining cheese. Place in a hot oven (400°F.) until crumbs are lightly browned, about 10 minutes. 4 to 5 servings.

Creamed Spinach

2 10-Ounce packages spinach (or 2 pounds bulk), ½ teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons butter, ¼ cup chopped onion, 1 clove garlic, finely chopped (optional), 1 tablespoon flour, ¼ cup light cream.

Prepare and cook spinach quickly, 3 to 6 minutes, using the ½ teaspoon salt. Drain well, pressing gently to remove excess water. Chop finely.

Melt butter in saucepan, add onion and garlic and sauté until transparent, about 5 minutes. Stir in flour and cook until mixture bubbles. Reduce heat, gradually add cream and continue cooking, stirring until mixture thickens. Add spinach, combine with sauce and stir until thoroughly heated. 4 to 5 servings.

The Bible Today

Protestants and Roman Catholics recently united to foster a wider use of the Bible in Holland. In Utrecht, during a two-hour period, some eighteen hundred Dutch Catholics and Protestants rang the door-bells of about eighty thousand homes, giving to each householder a copy of a pamphlet entitled "Why the Bible?"

This one-night campaign was the result of a drive to sell Bibles, and get them read throughout the city of Utrecht. Similar plans are being made for other Dutch cities.

Father Gregory Baum recently announced from Edmonton that an important result of the "dialogues" between Roman Catholics and Protestants in Canada has been a rediscovery of the Bible by Catholics. Father Baum was a consultant to the secretariat for promoting Christian unity. He is a Jewish-born Canadian converted to the Roman Catholic faith.

Teatime Topics

Specially Written for The Lachute Watchman

By Patricia Rusak, Canadian Press Staff Writer

Almost every day we hear of teas, bazaars, bridge parties or fashion shows organized by various chapters of the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire.

But only once each year, at the Order's national meeting, is the collective result of its many fund-raising events presented.

At the IODE's annual meeting in Victoria May 25-29, it was reported that the 29,000-member voluntary organization, with more than 900 chapters across Canada, raised and spent more than $1,000,000 for its services.

One education major project — more than $351,900 was distributed in the form of scholarships, bursaries, books and other school supplies.

The Order's educational work has recently expanded into Canada's far north where isolated schools have been adopted by IODE chapters which have undertaken to supply these schools with books.

* * *

Schools Adopted

With the last year, 32 schools in northern and southern Labrador were adopted, increasing the number of adopted schools in the far north — including the Yukon and Northwest Territories — to more than 90. A new project also includes the adoption of 35 more schools in remote sections of Newfoundland.

The Order's educational work is not confined to this country and last year, library and reference books were sent to 50 schools in the Caribbean and British Honduras.

Also two students — one from Jamaica and one from Nigeria — studied in Toronto on IODE scholarships and two Indian students, also sponsored by the Order, graduated from medical colleges in India.

For the academic year 1963-64, a Nigerian student will be awarded an IODE scholarship to study medicine in his own country. Nine Canadian students will be awarded scholarships, valued at $2,000 each, for post-graduate study in the United Kingdom.

* * *

Welfare Work

For its welfare services, both at home and abroad, the Order last year raised more than $437,600.

Blankets, quilts, bedding, woolen shawls and clothing were sent to many countries, including Great Britain, which experienced one of the coldest winters on record.

More than 630 cases containing clothing, bedding, toys, yard goods, X-ray material and powdered milk were shipped to Jordan, Uganda, Morocco, Hong Kong, Greece, Italy and Korea.

Food parcels, which often included cod liver oil and vitamins, were also provided for many Canadian veterans and their dependants.

Games, toys and books were sent to communities in the far north, and 45,000 pocket books were distributed in hospitals, jails, seamen's institutions and ships in port. More than 100,000 pocket editions were also sent to Canadian troops in Germany.

SUMMER MEALTIME BONANZA

GOLD RUSH MEAT LOAF
(MAKES 6 SERVINGS)

2/3 cup (small can) undiluted evaporated milk
½ cup fine cracker crumbs
1 egg
½ cup chopped onion
1 tablespoon prepared mustard
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1½ pounds ground beef
1 cup grated process-type Canadian cheese (about ¼ pound)
1 envelope (6 ounces) instant mashed potatoes
1 tablespoon butter

Combine evaporated milk, crumbs, egg, onion, mustard, salt and pepper; mix well. Add ground beef and cheese; toss lightly with fork. Turn into 8 x 8 x 2-inch baking pan. Bake in 350° (moderate) oven 35 minutes. If necessary, pour off excess fat. Meanwhile, prepare potatoes according to package directions. With pastry tube, pipe around meat loaf, or spread over top. Dot with butter. Broil 2 minutes, or bake 10 minutes longer, until potatoes are flecked with brown.

WARM WEATHER CALLS FOR COOL DESSERTS

SO GOOD, SO EASY TO MAKE

This "parfait" is the delight of everyone. Place, one on top of the other, 3 scoops of Lowe's vanilla ice cream. Add a thick mint syrup. Cover all with whipped cream (hmmm!) and serve.

In the bottom of your bowl place biscuits or marshmallows. Add one full scoop of Lowe's vanilla ice cream. Frost with caramel. In the wink of an eye, this dessert is ready.

Take Lowe's ice cream of variety to your taste. After your cup is full, add marshmallow or preserved fruits, a few nuts and a cherry to top this dish.

This is a Lowe's strawberry ice cream cone. It's not necessary to add anything else to this preparation. You will be able to taste the flavor of our strawberries!

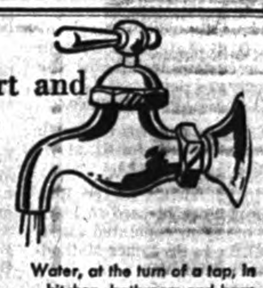

Place 2 scoops of Lowe's vanilla ice cream in the container. On the side you can have pieces of pineapple or peach. Cover with whipped cream and crushed nuts.

For a fancier dessert, you place in an oblong dish 3 scoops of Lowe's ice cream. One, with chocolate ice cream, cover with marshmallow; one maple, and the third one with vanilla ice cream. Decorate with chocolate syrup.

Rotary Night tug-of-war and program

Tug-of-War, where men are men and nobody will disagree, features Rotary night at "The Fair", this Thursday. The Canadian International Paper Company team (above) colorful in their sweaters and safety helmets, are out to achieve a fourth consecutive win. Canadian Industries Limited, Brownsburg, runners-up last year, will be in there fighting, as will the dependable "Farmers"; Boyd's Express Ltd.; Ayers Ltd.; and the "Hard-Rock Miners" of Canadian Refractories Ltd., Kilmar.

The strength-and-stamina events in the Rotary program will be balanced by the Precision Drill Team and Oriental Band of Karnak Temple, Montreal, who will carry out to some degree the theme of the grandstand show this year. The main illumination will be turned off at one point, while a small light will illuminate each individual fez.

Wild calf-catching will give the youth their chance to pit their wits and strength with young cattle who are accustomed to complete freedom. Their older brothers will be given a chance to steer toward the winner's stand — what at times seems like a ton of the best beef, planted with four strong legs aimed in the wrong direction!

The ever popular and helpful Bill Brass offers a comedy number that has proved popular at other gatherings, the "bull fight", where two opponents face each other astride a pole, and endeavor to unsaddle the enemy — with weapons suitable for the job.

The Rotary draws — three of them — for Admiral "Super Thinman" portable 19" TV sets, will conclude the evening. Officials have promised an early start, 8.15 p.m.

Diary of a Vagabond

BY DOROTHY BARKER

GOIN' FISHIN'?

Not everyone has had the experience of watching dozens of fishermen disgorge from a transcontinental train, head for baggage and flat cars to retrieve their boats and gear, then finally hustle themselves off to some camp in the woods of northen Ontario. I have, and for one long week-end I never ceased to wonder how they expended such enthusiasm on the prospects of catching the finny denizens of the still, deep waters. Others might wonder too where all the fish come from each season to satisfy the sporting instincts of these would-be Isaac Waltons.

The Government of Ontario maintains good fishing despite an ever increasing number of anglers. These are not all Canadian sportsmen. During the fishing season lakes and rivers of the province are dotted with boats hired or shipped in by hundreds of thousands outside the Province.

Excellent Tourist Bait

One of the major functions of the Department of Lands and Forests is to maintain Ontario's valuable resource of game fish. Thirty years ago this didn't require much effort since there were plenty of game fish and not many people fishing for them. But in the years following, several factors indicated that each year an increasing number of people would be fishing in Ontario. Among these were the exploding population in Ontario and the neighboring U.S.A., the growth of summer cottages such as in the Muskoka, Kawartha Lakes, Haliburton Highlands and other districts, the multiplying numbers of fishermen with two and three weeks' vacation, the projected building of better highways and the provision of fishermen's special train services which would enable vacationers from more distant points in the U.S.A. to reach Ontario.

Many unsuccessful attempts have been made to re-establish the Atlantic salmon which, in pioneer days, existed in large numbers in Lake Ontario and were caught when they ascended tributary streams around Toronto to spawn. However, a landlocked form of the Atlantic salmon has been introduced successfully into Trout Lake in the Nipissing District. This is the ouananiche, which is native to Lake St. John in Quebec.

Various attempts have also been made to introduce Pacific salmon into Ontario. In 1959 and 1961, a few Pacific salmon were caught in Lake Superior by anglers. These are believed to be the progeny of several hundred of the Pacific salmon fingerlings which the manager of the Port Arthur hatchery planted in the lake in 1955.

Splake is New Breed

Another experiment which might provide large future dividends is the crossing of the speckled trout and the lake trout. The result is a hybrid game fish which has been named the "splake". By selective breeding various qualities of both the lake trout and the speckled trout can be developed in the hybrid stock. In this way hybrid trout may be produced which will live under specific environmental conditions not presently inhabited by either the lake trout or the speckled trout.

The sad side of this story is the thoughtlessness of certain anglers who do not observe the rules. At the opening of the season this year, all specimens of an experimental project were fished from an Ontario Hatcheries pool, putting the experiment back several years. Anglers have been known to ruin fishing by using minnows as bait, though they are prohibited in many lakes.

Go easy, boys, you're not only spoiling it for other fishermen but for yourselves as well.

DISTRICT NEWS

Brownsburg

Miss Helen Mason, of Toronto, spent the week-end here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hector Mason.

Sympathy is extended to the relatives of the late Mr. W. J. Graham, who passed away at his residence here on Tuesday last.

Women's Institute

The June meeting of the Brownsburg W.I., held last Thursday evening, was largely attended by members and friends, who enjoyed a very interesting talk on "Child Care" by Dr. Suzanne MacKimmie, of Lachute. During the business session it was decided to make a loan of $100 available to a Brownsburg High School pupil for the purpose of furthering their education. Plans are being made for a bus-load of W.I. members to attend the W.I. annual provincial convention at Macdonald College, June 26. The roll-call was "donations for the sick and shutins". (Mrs. Mason MacAdam, convener of Health and Welfare, later took these donations to the Lacasse Home as a special treat for the patients there.)

Mr. John Connelly, and the Rev. James Armour of Lachute, have returned from Toronto where they attended the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, held in the Knox Presbyterian Church.

The Rev. R. L. McPhee, Mr. Harold Mason and Mrs. A. Kennedy were delegates at the Baptist Convention of Ontario and Quebec, which was held in the First Baptist Church, Montreal, during this week. A number of other members of the Maple Avenue Baptist Church also attended this convention.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mullen and family, also Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Freeborn and family, of Pointe aux Trembles, were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Percy MacAdam.

Grenville

Mrs. Ronnie Villeneuve and sons, Michael and David, of Toronto, are here to spend three weeks' holiday with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Hayes Villeneuve. Mr. Ronnie Villeneuve spent the week-end with his parents.

Mr. Harry Cogdell, of Verdun, and Miss Norine Wilson, of Dorval, were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Dewar.

Mr. and Mrs. Déas Dupuis and son, Leonard, and Mr. and Mrs. Guy Villeneuve, motored to Chesterville, Ont., on Sunday and visited with Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Bolegraaf.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Mimee, of Rosemont, were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Mimee.

Miss Geraldean Owens is spending a few days visiting with relatives and friends in Montreal.

Miss May Keatley, of Ottawa, spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Keatley.

Week-end and Sunday guests of Miss Eva White included — Mr. and Mrs. Earl Gray, Town of Mount Royal, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Ryan, and Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Kirkwood and children, Debbie and Keven, of Roxboro, Que.

Mrs. Henry Carriere and Mrs. Sarah Sutton visited with Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Dewar last week.

Sympathy is extended to the relatives of the late Mrs. Archibald McTeer (the former Eva Peddle) who passed away in Montreal on June 2.

Cushing

Mrs. G. Chase, of Port William, N.S., was an overnight guest at the home of her brother, Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Elliott, on Saturday — also calling on Mrs. Archie Graham, Mrs. W. Canning and Mrs. T. W. Weir.

Mrs. L. R. McGain, of Montreal, occupied her summer home here over the week-end, having as her guest Miss Annie McDowell, of N.D.G.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Clark and daughter, Janet, visited Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Canning on Sunday.

The joint Communion service held in St. Mungo's Church with the members of the United Church of St. Andrews East, was very well attended. The service was conducted by the Rev. W. Bridge, of Lachute, assisted by Mr. K. Thomson, student minister of St. Mungo's. Among those present from St. Andrews were the Rev. and Mrs. Heyworth, who are in residence at their summer home for the holiday months.

The United Church Women of St. Mungo's Church held a meeting Monday evening to arrange for their summer social.

Mr. A. Taylor is still an inmate of St. Anne's Military Hospital; his many friends in Cushing wish him a complete and speedy recovery.

Sudden Death

We regret to report the unexpected and sudden passing of Mrs. Macaloney, of Grece's Point, a faithful adherent of St. Mungo's Church, who was found dead by a neighbor who had noticed that her house had not displayed its usual lights the previous night, and went to investigate. Relatives in Montreal were called, and took charge of the funeral and burial. Sympathy is extended to them from the residents of this community.

Mr. Bert Bailey, from Collins Bay, was an overnight guest of Mr. and Mrs. H. Bailey on Friday. Miss Florence Holmes, of Montreal, spent the week-end as the guest of her sister, Mrs. H. Bailey.

Miss E. M. Graham spent several days in Montreal during the week.

Mr. Gerald Cushing spent the week-end in this community.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Weir, of Ste. Anne de Bellevue, occupied their summer home over the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Meredith Burton and family also occupied their summer home over the week-end.

The Buzzell family, of Montreal West, were in residence here last week-end.

Miss Marion Elliott, of Vankleek Hill, spent the week-end at her parents' home in Cushing.

Mrs. Jas. Coney and son, Raymond, were Sunday guests of the Elliott family.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bryerton and family, of Rosemere, spent Sunday at their Cushing residence.

Harrington

Mr. Bruce McDonald and a friend, from Bangor, Maine, visited at Mr. Clarence Bennett's this week.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Seale, and Mr. and Mrs. T. Seale, of Morin Heights, also Mr. E. Carrière, of Hawkesbury, visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. Bennett on Sunday.

Mr. Harold and daughter, Betty, have returned to Detroit, after spending a week visiting friends in this community.

Visitors at Mr. V. McVicar's were Mr. and Mrs. A. Formagie and Channie, Mr. and Mrs. G. McVicar, Joannie and Bobby, and Miss Stella McVicar.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. L. Dickson, who were married on Saturday.

Avoca

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth MacLean, of Port Colborne, accompanied by their aunt Mrs. Charles Duncan, of Niagara Falls, Ont., spent the week-end with the latter's sister, Mrs. Sandy Bates and Mr. Bates.

Visitors of Mrs. A. McPhee and Mrs. T. J. Young during the week were — Mr and Mrs. Lincoln Jay and son, Mr. Harry Jay (of the Diplomatic Dept.), all of Ottawa; Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Swift, of Guelph, Ont.; Mrs. Ralph Fish, of Perth, Ont.; Mrs Patrick Kelly, of L'Orignal, Ont.; Mr. Kenneth Brown, B.A., the Rev. and Mrs. Toller and children, of Bell Falls; the Rev. A. Reid, of Montebello; Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Kelly, of Ste. Anne de Bellevue, Que.; Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth MacLean, of Port Colborne; Mrs. Sandy Bates and Mrs. Charles Duncan, of Niagara Falls; Mrs. Neil McCallum and daughters, Mrs. George McArthur, and Mr. McArthur and son Jimmy, of Montreal; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. E. Andrews, of Ottawa; Mrs. Tomachevsky and daughter, Margaret.

Miss Flora MacLeod, of Montreal, was the guest of Mr. Evan Bates over the week-end.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Sherwood Stringer during the week were — Mr. and Mrs. Wyman Arthurs, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Young and family, of Brownsburg; Mr. and Mrs. Owen Young and family, of Dunany; Mr. and Mrs. Ross Thorburn and Mr. D. Patterson, of Lachute; Mr. and Mrs. James Young, of Millbrook, Ont.; Mr. Shoddie Young, of St. Philippe; Mr. and Mrs. Everett Young and family, of Avoca; Miss Mabel Young, of Ottawa.

Mr. Alex Young is making very slow progress to recovery.

Mr. Shoddie Young has re-entered the Smith Clinic for treatment; friends wish him a speedy recovery.

Friends are glad to welcome Mrs. Wm. MacLean back to her home in Pointe au Chene, Que.

The Rev. Wm. Toller wishes to announce the service in Avoca Baptist Church next Sunday, June 16, will be held at 9 a.m.

78th Birthday

Mrs. Jos. Arthurs, Sr., attained her 78th birthday last week. Mrs. Samson Arthurs, of Calumet, and Mrs. Ed C. Young, of Pte. au Chene, two sisters of Mrs. Arthurs, celebrated the day with her.

Mrs. Wm. H. Kelly and daughter, Carolyn, returned to her home in Aylmer, after spending the week-end with her mother.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Bedard, of Ottawa, spent the week-end with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. Provencal.

Birthday Gathering

Mrs. Chesser Waite and James, of Pte. au Chene, had as their guests on Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Chamberlin, of Poltimore, Mr. and Mrs. Russel Waite and family, of Grenville, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Waite and family, of Pte. au Chene, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Dewar and family, of St. Philippe, Mr. and Mrs. Allan MacLeod, of Ottawa, and Mrs. Willie MacLean, of Pte. au Chene — the occasion being Mrs. Chamberlin's birthday.

Late Allan McPhee Avoca postmaster for over 42 years

The passing of Mr. Allan McPhee removes one of the older residents of Avoca, where he lived all his life. He was in his 78th year, the seventh son of the late Alexander McPhee and his wife Mary Filloon.

The late Mr. McPhee was postmaster of Avoca for well over 42 years, following his father who had acted in that capacity for 20 years. He would have completed 45 years as mail courrier on June 18. On May 4, 1944, he was made Justice of the Peace with jurisdiction in Argenteuil and Two Mountains. The Queen graciously honored him with a citation and silver medal in commemoration of her Coronation on June 2, 1952.

He was a member of St. Mary's Anglican Church, which he attended regularly, also a member of L.O.L. 721.

The attendance at his funeral, and beautiful floral tributes, showed the esteem and affection he enjoyed among his many friends over the years.

The Orange Order held their rites on Sunday evening, at which the Rev. H. J. Cohen of Grenville assisted. . . The funeral service was conducted by the Rev. Anthony Reid of Montebello assisted by the Rev. Wm. Toller of the Baptist Church. The organist was Mrs. Percy MacLeod, of Calumet, with a choir in attendance. The two hymns chosen were "Fight the Good Fight" and "Abide With Me".

Pall-bearers were — Messrs. Howard Smith, Fred McLeod, Cecil Young, Jos. E. Provencal, John MacLean, Charles Bates, and Hugh Bates.

The late Mr. McPhee leaves to mourn his loss his wife, the former Lilly Dilworth, one daughter, (Agnes) Mrs. W. H. Kelly, and two granddaughters, Kathleen and Carolyn, also a sister, the last remaining member of a family of ten, (Catherine) Mrs. Thos. J. Young, of Avoca.

Blossoms from one of the new ornamental crab apple tree varieties being developed at the Central Experimental Farm. Some of these new types have as many as 15 petals on a blossom.

Ornamental crab trees developed for market

These new flowering crabs represent years of careful selection and breeding at the Canada Department of Agriculture's Central Experimental Farm in Ottawa.

Research stations across Canada are now putting the foundation stock through tests before release to commercial nurserymen.

Plant breeder D. F. "Dan" Cameron has been chiefly responsible for developing the new varieties. Mr. Cameron has spent much of the past 15 years on this project.

The fruit is colorful too. Apples vary from pale green and yellow to bright orange, pink, crimson, blue-red and even black-red. Some are as small as cranberries while others are as large as golf balls.

Some of the new lines retain their apples long after the leaves have fallen, presenting a colorful display when other ornamentals have become drab.

Sourness An Advantage

Some of these new varieties have very unpalatable, sour fruit. This is a decided advantage in ornamentals. It keeps children and childish adults from breaking down branches to get at the apples.

Developing new varieties involves a lot of time and effort. This is especially true of crabs. An average of five years elapses between the time of seeding and the time the new tree will bear fruit.

Work in flowering crabs began at the Central Experimental Farm more than 40 years ago. However, through that time only two persons have actually been in charge of the development program: Miss Isabella Preston, followed by Mr. Cameron.

Miss Preston came to Ottawa from the Ontario Agricultural College where she had done outstanding work in plant breeding, especially with lilies.

On her arrival in 1920, Miss Preston launched a program which saw the development of the Rosybloom crabapples. This new group was developed for hardiness and ornamental value.

When Miss Preston retired in 1948, Mr. Cameron took over her work, adding refinements of his own. His new varieties are descendants of varieties at the Farm, crossed mainly with two double flowering types brought in from Harvard's Arnold Arboretum.

The new crabs retain the hardiness of the Rosybloom but have different flowering, branching, and ornamental fruit qualities.

Several of the new varieties should be welcomed by bird lovers. Their fruit is relished by migrating birds late in the fall and even into the winter months.

Time will tell just how widely these new crab apple tree varieties will be accepted, but it could be that they will soon be adding brillance to parks, highways, and front lawns.

MOST SOLD FRESH

Kentville, N.S. (CP) — Only about five percent of Nova Scotia's strawberry crop goes to processing plants to be canned or frozen. The rest is sold fresh.

School students provide murals

Edmonton (CP) — A mural craze has hit Edmonton students.

At least three student-constructed murals have been started or completed in the last year in Edmonton high schools. Two dominate cafeteria walls, and another is on the side of a staircase.

Getting credit for starting this student effort is Edmonton's composite high school. Five years ago Joan Ramsey painted a three-by-four-foot cafeteria mural picturing the school's main rotunda. Two years ago Alan Faulkner completed a much larger project, showing the downtown buildings of the city.

Strathcona high school's mural is divided into two sections, each nine by 17 feet. One side depicts the development of art throughout history, and the other shows the scientific development of Alberta from prehistoric times to the jet age.

Several students worked on the Strathcona mural under direction of the Scona Art Club sponsor, O. A. Straits. It is estimated to be worth about $2,000.

Ten students in art at Queen Elizabeth high School completed a four-by-eight mural for the school cafeteria. It illustrates the development of Alberta, with such subjects as buffalo, Indians, the Rocky Mountains and oil derricks.

Hope for cure of glaucoma

Vancouver (CP) — Research on cats may provide a solution for an eye disease that can lead to blindness, and that effects between two and four per cent of the population over 40.

Doctors will produce artificial glaucoma in cats at the University of British Columbia's new eye research centre, then try different means to relieve it.

Through the experiments doctors hope to find a cure for the disease that has a higher incidence than diabetes among persons over 40.

Glaucoma, regarded by doctors at the centre as a public health problem, is caused by blockage of a channel that drains the eye, causing pressure to build up and destroy tissues.

First symptoms of the ailment are a narrowing of the visual range, and it can lead to blindness if not arrested. Doctors say they cannot repair the damage done by glaucoma, although its progress can be arrested either through the use of eye drops or, in advanced cases, by operations.

Dr. D. M. Warner says cats will be used in experiments because their eyes are similar to those of a human.

Besides research the centre, which received a grant from the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, will act as a referral centre for some 60 practising opthalmologists, or eye doctors. The facilities of the centre will be used to instruct undergraduate students at UBC.

Republic myth is kept alive

Edmundston, N.B. (CP) — Many residents of Canada, the United States and elsewhere have received honorary citizenship in the "Republic of Madawaska," but origin of the order is generally unknown.

The republic, a myth in a political sense, dates back to the 1920's. The late Dr. Lorne Violette of St. Leonard, representing Madawaska county, spoke glowingly of Madawaska, its people, and their friendliness, hospitality and independent spirit. He summed it all up by the word republic. The name spread, and other legislature members smilingly referred to the Republic of Madawaska.

Capitalizing on its publicity value, two Edmundston citizens — Dr. P. C. Laporte, a noted woodcarver, and the late J. Gaspard Boucher, then a legislature member for Madawaska — conceived a distinctive coat-of-arms for their "republic." Dr. Laporte, now permanent secretary of the order, obtained a copyright from Ottawa April 5, 1949.

The republic idea attracts an increasing number of tourists, and Dr. Laporte has turned out the coat-of-arms by the hundreds in his cellar workshop.

Mr. Boucher became the first president of the "republic." The first honorary citizen was General J. Carl Murchie of Ottawa, a native of Edmundston.

A few years ago it became the rule of the order that the mayor of Edmundston would be the president, and the mayor of St. Leonard, vice-president. The members, about 75, are divided between knights and honorary citizens.

Animal Care

DON'T BREED PETS

Since these columns began, a number of people have written asking what they should do about the problems of breeding. One woman wrote, "I know there are too many animals, but it is both exciting and instructive for the children when Lucy, our cat, has kittens."

This is quite true, but the sufferings of animals should outweigh other considerations. Each week in Montreal hundreds of pets have to be painlessly destroyed because there are too many of them. It is impossible to find homes for all the stray animals that roam the streets.

You will be doing a kindness to your pet, if, at the right age, you have it neutered by a veterinary surgeon. Neutered animals make even better pets, as you will find after the operation.

Males, who have a tendency to roam, fight and spray the furniture, become much quieter, while females cease to attract all the strays in the neighborhood.

The neutering operation does not cause the animal any real pain and the effects are only noticeable for a day or two.

If more animal lovers would have their pets neutered, a lot of suffering by stray and unwanted animals could be prevented. Ask your veterinary surgeon to give you more details.

CHURCH CELEBRATES

Calgary (CP) — Canada's largest Baptist church — the 1,640-member group at First Baptist Church here — celebrated its 75th anniversary recently. The church was organized in 1888 with its first services held on the second floor of a downtown warehouse. It now covers an entire city block, with a $500,000 church and a $250,000 education centre.

Wed at St. Julien Church

Mr. and Mrs. Gilles Dumais, photographed last Saturday following their wedding at St. Julien Parish Church, Lachute. The bride, the former Lise Morrissette, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Réal Morrissette, and the groom is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Roger Dumais — both Lachute families.

Social and Personal

Cpl. Richard Muir, of the RCMP, Peterborough, Ontario, together with Mrs. Muir and baby daughter, Beth, spent the week-end with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Muir.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack McNaughton, former residents in the west end of Lachute, and now of North Bay, have been revisiting acquaintances in these parts, and attended the annual exhibition.

Student Success

Attended Class Reunion of Macdonald 1913 Graduates

Mrs. Rupert Bradford was in Montreal last week attending a reunion dinner of the graduating class, School for Teachers, Macdonald College, 1913. As mentioned in the files of this paper last week, Lachute was proud to have the honor of having one of its own girls, Violet Joss, head that class. Violet, Mrs. Armstrong, was one of the committee in charge of the anniversary get-together. Of the 92 graduates, 32 were in attendance — a very good record.

Wins Award for Best McGill R.O.T.P. Cadet

A sword of honor — award for the best R.O.T.P. (3rd Phase) Cadet at McGill University — was presented by Col. A. A. Magee to a Lachute student, Roland Gow... Roland, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Gow, has completed his third year B.Sc. course at McGill University, and is working for the summer at the Army Survey Establishment, R.C.E., Ottawa.

L.O.B.A. Military Whist

The ladies of the L.O.B.A. sponsored another successful whist party last week in the Orange Hall. Prizes were taken by the following players:

First — Mrs. S. Sutton (captain), Mrs. M. Walden, Mrs. H. Carriere, Mr. G. Licop.

Second — Mr. M. Lees (captain), Mr. I. Thomas, Mrs. M. Lees, Miss E. Lees.

Consolation — Mrs. R. Copeland (captain), Mrs. W. Copeland, Mrs. E. Copeland, Mrs. M. Couvrette.

Novelty prize — Mrs. L. Dawson.

The ladies served tasty refreshments in conclusion.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Hay and young son, John, of Ithaca, N.Y., spent the week-end here visiting the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Donald M. Hay.

Mrs. D. E. Bankhart, Town of Mount Royal, spent last week-end visiting with Mrs. K. Pillage.

Dr. and Mrs. Eric Mongeon, and Mr. and Mrs. Keith W. Clarke, left last Saturday to attend the Lions International convention in Miami, expecting to be absent until Tuesday or Wednesday next. Dr. Mongeon and Mr. Clarke (incoming president) are official delegates from the local Lions Club.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyall Tomalty, of Detroit, Mich., were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Boyd. Mrs. Boyd and her grandson, Rocky, accompanied them to Hamilton for the week-end, with Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Tomalty (Mrs. Boyd's brother).

97th Milestone

Climbing up among the oldest residents is Mr. Sidney Vasey, who resides with his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Roberts. Friends extend congratulations to Mr. Vasey, who attained his 97th birthday last Saturday, June 15.

Leaves for UNEF Service In Middle East

Cpl. Robert Lachapelle of the Cdn. Signals Corps has spent a few days on embarkation leave from Kingston, before his departure Saturday, 23rd, by plane leaving Trenton for Italy and the Middle East. His destination is El Arish, Egypt, where he will serve as a radio technician in the United Nations Emergency Force (UNEF). Robert is the son of Mr. Laurence Lachapelle, local businessman.

High Standing in Physics

A Lachute High School student, Charles Gendron (son of Mr. and Mrs. Marcel Gendron, of Gendron Refrigeration) passed with high distinction in a province-wide Physics examination.

A total of 318 students in various high schools of the province have been selected by the Canadian Association of Physicists as being outstanding in this subject.

The exam was arranged by the McGill University on behalf of the Association.

Christening Ceremonies In Lachute, E. Settlement

Three baptisms were performed in churches of the Lachute charge by the Rev. Wilson Bridge last Sunday.

After the morning service at Lachute United, the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford White, of Robert Street, Lachute, was christened Kevin Eugene.

Following the afternoon service at East Settlement, the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard A. Rodger, of Lachute, received the names Noreen Elizabeth; and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David W. Touchette, of East Settlement, was christened Donna Lynn.

ACKNOWLEDGMENT

I wish to thank my many friends and relatives for the lovely cards, gifts and flowers they sent me while in hospital. Special thanks to the Rev. Mr. Bridge for his visits.

— David Laurin

APPRECIATION

I take this opportunity to thank all friends and relatives who sent cards, flowers and good wishes during my stay in hospital — also for the many visits, including those of the Rev. and Mrs. Wilson Bridge.

— Mrs. Cliff Cunningham

APPRECIATION

I wish to express my sincere thanks to all friends and relatives for the many visits, cards, good wishes and gifts, received during my stay in the hospitals. Also, thanks to the staff at the General Hospital and the Julius Richardson Hospital, for all their kindness to me.

Spring Fair 63 a success, entertainment and agricultural interests well balanced

With little co-operation from the weatherman except periodic showers to lay the dust on the track and show-ring, the 138th edition of Lachute Fair is entered in the annals of Argenteuil Agricultural Society as another commendable success.

In two aspects at least, the Spring Fair '63 was distinctive. In the exhibition of Holstein cattle, it was the finest on record; and in the matter of entertainment, the RCMP "carousel musical" was a superlative spectacle which drew the public acclaim it well deserved.

There were other outstanding features — the Hackney showing and pony classes in the light horse show, and the four six-horse teams in the heavier classes, including two very creditable outfits from this area. . . The extensive poultry show, reported to be the largest on record. . . And again, the consistent interest which filled the bleachers at the junior show-ring.

Altogether the exhibition merited satisfaction with two of its hardest-working organizers, President Norman (Bud) MacGeorge and Secretary-Manager Ken Riley, who were both well pleased with the outcome. And although the attendance was understandably lower than in the peak year of 1961, President MacGeorge expressed particular gratitude for the public support under such unfavorable weather conditions.

The livestock barns were a scene of popular interest through the four days of the Fair. The RCMP stable, where the 36 mounts of the world-famed Musical Ride were fed, bedded and fondly cared-for, drew many admiring visitors.

The machinery layout had fewer firms exhibiting, but the farm equipment lines were nevertheless complete. Individual firms were back again with various other lines of dealership.

The regular concessions were energetically occupied by local service agencies and clubs — the Farm Forum, Legion, Rotary, Richelieu, CNIB, and (in the main building), the Retarded Children's Association, Cancer Society, Women's Institutes and Cercle des Fermières. The handicrafts and other lines displayed by these two latter organizations, and the products of school-student training drew keen competition and provided an interesting display. The Department of Agriculture had its customary layout on the ground floor.

Musical Ride and Grandstand Entertainment

Rotary Club entertainment features are fully reported elsewhere on this page.

The Richelieu Club races, with pari-mutuel, were followed with interest by a large segment of the fair-going public. There was a good card of events and entries sufficient to provide keen competition. The condition of the race track for this event on Saturday afternoon appeared excellent.

For the initial appearance of the Musical Ride on Friday evening, the rainfall was discouraging to the performers and disappointing to the grandstand audience — and every seat was packed for this big feature. The Hawkesbury High School band, engaged to accompany this complex equestrian routine, were unable to play for lack of protection from the weather.

At the Friday evening performance the Mayor of Ayersville, Mr. Gaston Plamondon, and President MacGeorge, both with their wives, took the salute.

The two concluding performances on Saturday evening, however, were presented under ideal conditions. The junior band played creditably, and the RCMP riders and their steeds drew intermittent rounds of applause. The routine was executed with flawless precision and the entire feature was a glamorous and praiseworthy spectacle. Commanding Officer of this troop is Inspector Jos. Downey.

President Bud MacGeorge expressed the feeling of pride that this Fair should be privileged to present a team of world renown which has carried the name of Canada to important places and events. The president, with Mayor Dave Campbell and civic and military notables, took the salute in the final showing. And in conclusion, Legion President Geo. Kirby expressed warm appreciation to the RCMP troop on behalf of Branch 70.

Legion Drawing

The Legion drawing for a molded speedboat and outboard motor was held as a grande finale. The winner of this worthwhile prize was a Lachute resident, Kenneth Graham, of Robert Street.

Col. Ernest Emmett and his Imperial Frontiersmen performed their customary duties on police and traffic duty. The only personal injury reported in the four-day exhibition was suffered by a member of this squad, whose head was badly cut when he fell in a fainting spell, due to fatigue. The man was taken to the Providence Hospital and later transferred by ambulance to Montreal, where he is now reported to have recovered from his mishap.

Steer Catching, a thrill-and-spill number on the Rotary Club grandstand program. The sprightly animals were from the Aberdeen Angus herd at North River Farms, and the winner seen at the right is Donny Maidens, who crowned his triumph by riding the captured steer. Runner-up in the contest was Jimmy Livock, left. Both are Lachute boys.

Pretty as a picture

An auburn-haired lass, nine-year-old Suzanne Rabidoux, driving a high-stepping pony, "Blackie", won applause in the grandstand horse show events, winning the under-12 driver and pony class Saturday evening at the Fair. Owner of the horse was C. J. Kyle, of Huntingdon.

WATER FOR HOSPITAL —

Town's speedy compliance with Quebec order

The ordinance from the Department of Municipal Affairs regarding the laying of an 8-inch main to serve the new hospital, was received last week on Thursday morning, and the job was completed, insofar as Lachute Town was concerned, on Friday afternoon. The required 100 feet of pipe was installed in short order.

As regards the 180 feet to be laid in Ayersville, tenders were immediately called for, and these were considered at an adjourned Council meeting Tuesday evening of this week.

(Two tenders were received, both exceeding the sum of $3,900, which the Ayersville by-law authorized. Consultations are now being held with the engineers and the Dept. of Municipal Affairs.)

As spokesman for Lachute Town, Mayor Dave Campbell stated last week: "Even though we were not in agreement with this order for an 8-inch main — just the same, we rushed the installation in less than 24 hours, as evidence that we have absolutely no wish to delay the hospital opening. The job has been done since Friday, and no one can say we wasted any time to complete it."

No protest on Loan Fund by-law 235

A ratepayers' meeting called for 7 p.m. on Monday of this week was attended only by Mayor Dave Campbell and the municipal secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Yvette Raymond. Not one ratepayer appeared to voice disapproval of the recently adopted by-law to establish a $50,000 Industrial Loan Fund.

The Fund has received the approval of the Department of Municipal Affairs, and the measure may now be duly enacted to assist in securing new industrial growth in Lachute.

With the commencement of the fund, loans will be made available to industrial borrowers for the purpose of building or extending property, on much the same principle as a mortgage. A separate by-law is required for each loan made from this fund, all in accordance with provisions of the Cities and Towns Act; and the total of loans outstanding must not exceed the capital fund.

A Fair exhibitor for 43 years!

Down in the poultry and sheep barns at the fair grounds last week, there were two old-timers who could reminisce over longer years than most veteran fair-goers. . .

Donald McPhee from Vankleek Hill, showing 84 head of poultry, was perhaps the oldest continuous exhibitor at Lachute Fair. He started, in fact, in 1920, when he was specializing in Holstein cattle, and has shown entries ever since.

At 83 years of age his specialty is poultry, and he has made such success in this line that his exhibits this time claimed three grand champion awards, including the champion bird in the show.

Showing Oxford and other sheep breeds in the shed nearby, was Harold Skinner, an old-timer from Tyrone, Ont., who has been exhibiting here since 1927 — nearly 40 years.

The two veterans, and other old-timers to whom they are so well known, had much of interest to discuss in their long memory of agricultural shows. Both Mr. McPhee and Mr. Skinner have served many times as judges of livestock at fairs across Canada and in the U.S., being recognized authorities in their breeds and in showmanship.

Post-office hours for Monday fete

Postmaster J. Laferriere advises the local public that the mail service will be on holiday schedule for St. Jean Baptiste Day next Monday, June 24, which has been proclaimed a civic holiday.

There will be no carrier or rural deliveries in town or out of Lachute that day. The wickets will be open for business however (except for issuance of money orders) from 8 a.m. till 12 noon, and the post-office lobby will remain open for box-holders until 6 p.m.

Gravely injured in Samaritan act on highway

Harvé Fuyet, 25, of Montreal, was treated at the Providence Hospital for injuries he received when struck by a car on Route 41, around midnight last Friday. He was later transferred to hospital in St. Jerome.

The accident occurred when the victim left his car parked on the highway, to give directions to Mrs. Claire Descoteaux, also a resident of Montreal, who had double-parked beside him and later pulled ahead to the side of the road.

The driver of the third car reported he thought the car driven by Mrs. Descoteaux was passing the parked car, and he did not see the victim stepping out of his car onto the highway. . . The third car was driven by Jean Bevillard, 28, of Montreal and formerly of Brownsburg.

Mr. Fuyet was thrown approximately 45 feet, landing in the ditch. He reportedly suffered a fractured skull and two broken legs.

The accident was investigated by Officer Gaston Paquette, of the local Q.P.P. detachment.

Mayor Campbell to be honored for past sports career

The Montreal Sportsmen's Association at its annual "do" July 10 at Lachute Golf and Country Club, will pay honor to two notables in the sporting world — Leo Dandurand and Dave Campbell.

Mr. Dandurand, former owner, coach and manager of the NHL Canadiens, was elevated to the Hall of Fame in Toronto, a signal honor; and will find added gratification in this tribute at the Association's annual banquet.

Dave Campbell was at one time under contract with the same Canadiens, but decided against a pro hockey career. He later became coach of numerous successful amateur clubs, and has a long experience in organized sport. . . In his "retirement" here, his civic spirit and his active role as Mayor of Lachute, have not removed the lustre of his repute in Montreal sporting circles — as evidence the honor to be conferred upon him at the coming banquet.

CNIB warns friends, residents

The CNIB wishes to inform readers that a blind man is soliciting funds in this district, in the name of one of the institutions for the blind. He is accompanied by a small boy. . . Residents are advised not to donate money to this man, as the CNIB Field Secretary, A. C. Zaplaski, has checked with the organization in question and was told that no one has been authorized to solicit funds in their name.

It is unfortunate that, from time to time, the Institute is obliged to warn the public against misrepresentation, when so much good is being done for the sightless people of this County by generous supporters. One word of advice is to demand credentials when approached by a canvasser, such as an identification card, official receipt book, or license from the municipality.

* * *

Mr. Zaplaski takes occasion to thank the patrons of Lachute Spring Fair who displayed interest and gave support to the CNIB booth. The articles on view, made or finished by sightless craftsmen of this community, drew well merited attention, and the fair booth was considered a worthwhile venture.

Good Shriners all, from Karnak Temple

Rotary ventures well supported drew popular acclaim at Fair

Champions again, the Canadian International Paper Co. tug-of-war team captured the crown for the fourth consecutive year, last Thursday at Lachute Spring Fair, by defeating Canadian Industries Ltd. in the final and third draw.

The three-time winners of the silver cup retain this token of supremacy. They were presented with a new, mahogany-mounted trophy of three victory figures by Rotary President Jack MacKimmie.

Rotary Night at the Fair started off with the precision drill team of Karnak Temple, Montreal, marching in to the rhythmic beat of their drum band, accompanied by their motor patrol and oriental band.

The wild-steer, as well as the calf-catching contest, brought forth the future rugby stars of this area — only it wasn't pigskin they were tossing.

Plenty of laughs were provided by Bill Brass' "bull fight" — or pillow fight on a pole, as it turned out to be.

* * *

The Tug-of-War

Thursday evening was balmy, though rain threatened earlier, as the first draw of the tug-of-war took place between the Farmers under Bill Brass and a new entrant, the Golf Club under Tom Johnston. Experience paid off for the Farmers. The Canadian International Paper Co. eliminated Boyd's Express, and Canadian Industries Ltd. defeated Dominion Ayers Limited, to complete the first round of pulls, though the tenacity of the latter won them a place in the second round. Here the C.I.P. defeated the Farmers, and C-I-L topped Ayers.

The finals found C-I-L challenging the champions for the second year in a row — with similar results. However, the audience was with the underdog, a lighter team, and their cheers brought the Brownsburg team very close to victory. The one-minute 19 seconds pull was so steady and concentrated that it seemed like many minutes. Both teams took great satisfaction from the effort and the results.

C.I.P. team won 4th successive tug-of-war

Line-up of the Teams

The winners were coached by Ernie MacRae and included anchorman Howard McLean, Roland Charron, Emile Laurin, Lucien Desjardins (each their 4th year), Lucien Lalonde (3rd), William Campbell (2nd.), and Gerard Mazzey, Gaetan Leonard (new members). Reserves were Paul Danis and Ray Emond, also for their first appearance.

Runners-up, C-I-L — were coached by Wes Wilson; captain, Cliff Berry; anchorman, George Taylor; Paul Guimond, Arnold Berry, Arthur Keatley, Bill MacKiddie, Geo. Pasco, Bill Cribb; reserves, Roy Cruise and Clem Leroux.

Sentiments and Sidelights

(Comments on the Local Scene)

A number of Lachute and St. Jerusalem councillors, and private citizens, attended a conference of Quebec industrial commissioners held last week at l'Esterel, Ste. Marguerite du Lac Masson. The discussions were reported profitably interesting.

At a caucus of Liberal members in Ottawa, symbolic whips were presented to three "whips" prominent in the party and in Quebec Province. The tokens were a gift from the Miron Stables in this federal constituency, and were presented by Mr. Vincent Drouin, M.P., as intermediary.

* * *

The public are invited to join in the St. Jean Baptiste celebrations Saturday, commencing at 5 p.m., in the Richelieu Park. The second annual program sponsored by the Lachute-Ayersville St. Jean Baptiste Society will commence with open-air mass and conclude around 9.30 p.m. with a fireworks display. Various notables from the district and constituency have been invited to take part. . . Togs will be sold Friday and Saturday to help defray the expenses; and Monday, June 24, has been proclaimed a civic holiday in Lachute and Ayersville.

The Quebec Federation of Fish and Game Associations, led by Manny Wilson as president, presented a brief to the Hon. Lionel Bertrand, Minister of Tourism, and to the Quebec Tourist Council, at public hearings held in Montreal June 6-7.

An observer drew our attention to an automobile mounted on railway wheels, proceeding down the CPR track at Lachute on Tuesday. This used to be a more frequent sight — the mode of transport being used by railway inspectors or division officials.

The Chamber of Commerce urges all local business people to close their stores and establishments next Monday, June 24, in observance of St. Jean Baptiste Day, which is proclaimed a holiday by the provincial government and by Lachute and Ayersville Councils.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce elected a new executive recently. President is Roch Diotte, who succeeds Germain Joly, and the two vice-presidents are Wm. (Bill) Jones and Guy Lafortune. Pierre Bourgoin and Ildas Desjardins continue on as secretary and treasurer, respectively.

Sentenced for impaired driving

Judge Omer Côté, sitting in St. Jerome court, handed down the following sentences on impaired driving charges laid by Cpl. Maurice Dinelle, officer-in-charge of the local Q.P.P. unit.

Edward Boyd, 42, of Calumet, $50 fine plus costs, his driver's permit being suspended for a three-month period. The identical sentence was levied on another charge of reckless driving.

Roland Dupuis, 51, of St. Philippe, and Harvey Pauchuck, 45, of Lachute R.R. 7, each sentenced to fines of $50 plus costs on respective charges laid against them.

Recover body of drowning victim at Calumet

The body of 23-year-old Germain Lauzon, of Hawkesbury, was recovered from the Ottawa River early Saturday morning by René Boucher, of Fassett, a C.I.P. Co. employee. Mr. Boucher was working the tug on the river when he stopped the floating body. He immediately secured it to the tug and notified authorities.

The victim had disappeared in the river June 8 while swimming with a friend, Réjean Lamarche, of Hawkesbury.

"Over Ninety" Birthday Club

Congratulations are extended to Mr. Sidney Vasey, father of Mrs. Fred Roberts, who celebrated his 97th birthday on Saturday, June 15. Mr. Vasey, who has resided with Mr. and Mrs. Roberts on Main Street W. for the past several years, lost his eyesight some time ago, but otherwise enjoys good health and his full mental faculties. Friends extend good wishes.

"ARGENTEUIL OUTDOORS"

By BOB ATCHISON

Information that should make some of you fishermen happy for awhile: 445 Speckled trout were placed in Lake Macdonald a week ago. These fish were all mature ones, 2 to 6 years of age, some of them weighing 4 lbs. They came from St. Faustin, and I would imagine that, when any of these fish are caught, the Hatchery would appreciate the information — how, when, type of lure, weight, etc. Of course, they are not going to be taken easily as they have been used to being "spoon fed" for some years; it will take some time for these fish to become acclimatized to this large body of water. There is also the rumor that Louisa is the next on the list. Another very good thing, the Hatchery will not supply fish or fingerlings for any private lakes any more. It looks as though we are finally going to get the trout we are entitled to. It just could be that the 65,000 trout that were supposed to be planted in this County may become a reality yet.

Fishing has been very good this past week. Some very good trout and bass have been taken. I fished the West River last Sunday and was lucky enough to take 12 Brookies of good size. I am not counting the smaller ones, that hit and followed along until they were finally nipped by the hook, then took off. If ordinary hooks had been used then the score would have been much higher. Using the barbless-type hook, it is possible to release them without touching them in any way. Greys are still being taken in Louisa; if possible more are being caught right now than earlier. I did see one very good fish from this body of water, a 6½-pounder, and this is excellent in anyone's lake, believe me. This was taken on a red-and-gold spoon with an alligator shape. About a half-dozen baits were tried before this combination, but all hit at this one type of bait.

Cruelty seems to be a commonplace characteristic in some people. Going down Highway 41 the other evening, a car passed at high speed; just as it passed me it hit a small dog — just a glancing blow, but it threw the animal about 25 feet. Naturally the human did not stop; after all, it was only a dog. The little creature lived for about five minutes before it gave up, and believe me, I would have given anything to have been able to help. I can only hope everything in the way of bad luck will follow this jerk. Incidentally, from where I spotted this car, it seemed to be a woman driver, young, and likely in a hurry to see her boyfriends.

• • •

Partridge are showing up in good numbers; in the odd case, young can be seen around. I spotted a covey of eight right beside the mountain by the Black Bridge. I thought I saw another on the Lachute side of the river, near the cemetery; this one contained about 20 birds. A couple of Ring Neck pheasants are also in evidence around our place. They have been spotted along this side of the river for a number of weeks. If they can only manage to have a brood, then we should be having them in the vicinity all summer. Porcupines are also on the loose; quite a few of them have been seen, and I picked some quills out of a small black dog the other day. If your dog should run into one of these pests don't try and take the quills out cold. Swab them with vinegar and baking soda to soften them up, and they won't hurt the dog as much. Of course, if there are too many, by all means take the animal to a vet. I think your pet is worth this.

• • •

Another report on our moose — three of them this time. This group were seen on the road to Lost River one evening, two cows and a calf. This is the best news I have heard for a long time. I hope there are more of these calves around. I also hope the moose will be protected in the lower portion of Two Mountains County — not like last year, when a "wild, rabid" moose was shot by these certain brave men!

This little story just has to be told: A couple of our local sports decided to do a little camping recently. Starting off loaded down for a couple of years' stay, they finally reached their destination some distance from this County. Putting the tent up, everything went o.k. until they searched for the pegs. No pegs, so they managed to make some, without a good axe. It seems the axe had been used to cut steel, or at least, rock. After getting all set up, they figured a cup of coffee would be the thing. Yep, they had forgotten the stove! Anyway, they lit a small fire, and then couldn't find the pots or pans... However they were sports, a small minnow pail served as a water pot, even being used to fry eggs and bacon. One thing is sure though: the next time this is attempted they will double-check everything before leaving... I guess all this misfortune would jar you just a little.

For the fly fisherman, a few tips that could bet them some good fish. Nymphs are very good right now, and the best of them seems to be the yellow Caddis case. Free-fished, this has turned out to be an excellent lure. The Crane flies have not paid off as well as in former years, but they possibly will, before the season is over. By every indication this year is going to be one of the best for all types of fishing, too. There doesn't seem to have been any dropping-off of any species of fish, and even the Greys are being taken right near the surface. A good catch was reported with a surface-type plug lure, very small and with mouse coloring. Of course, this has always been a very good fish-getter early in the spring, as the Greys sure seem to like a nice, tender mouse for an appetizer... Another lure that might get you fish: Most of you have seen fish breaking the water and thought they were rising for flies. In most cases they are feeding on the nymphs that are hatching on the way up from the bottom. Either wet or nymph flies will take them at this time. Keep the fly just under the surface and move it in a very erratic fashion. In the fish world this breaking of water is known as bulging. In streams you may see also the water breaking in little circles. The fish are trailing at this time, in other words, going after the nymphs as they are breaking open the case in which they have spent so much time. The fish at this time will try and bore into the sand to get these insects, and it is a queer sight to see this going on. Anyway, take a good look at the rises, and maybe save yourself some time.

I guess you readers will get tired of this once again, but something has to be done. Garbage on the highways. I have been told that it is an offence punishable by a fine, yet I never seem to see any cases being brought to justice. Of course, it could be one of those laws like the poaching offences. It's in the books, but forget about it. You know this kind of action all helps to pollute our water and lands. Very shortsighted.

• • •

A couple of comments on the cleaning-up of our parks. Maybe I should give you the real situation. These parks were cleaned up by the Wildlife Dept., and not by the Tourist Bureau.

• • •

I haven't heard anything of the clubs and the Lake Louisa group getting together on the fishing and stocking; but I have hopes. It would be a great boost for everyone concerned, to have this done. True, it would take a little time, and I think a little understanding on the part of certain people, but it would be worth it. I hope to hear of developments one of these days.

In conclusion there was a presentation to the L.H.S. Library on behalf of the Students' Council, of a 24-volume set of Collier's Encyclopedia.

Principal Royal, in receiving the Encyclopedia volumes, thanked the Students' Council for their worthwhile gift, which is a valuable addition to the present library. He congratulated the winners in the various sports events, but stressed the fact that sports should not take first place but be considered as secondary to their education. Best wishes were extended for success in the students' June examinations.

Winners in 'Coke' contests

Grand prize winner of the first Ford Galaxie Convertible was Bernard M. Foley, 38, of 1106 Field St., Ottawa, an employee of the federal government.

Four provinces were represented in the five Sony Micro TV winners — two were won by residents of La Belle Province, and Alberta, New Brunswick and British Columbia each produced a winner. The two Quebec winners were: Mrs. Margaret Healy, Montreal, a housewife; and Mr. Charles Eugene Roberge, Shawinigan East, Que., an employee of Canadian Industries Ltd.

In addition to these six contest winners for the week of May 30, a total of 2,191 people throughout Canada have already found lucky tokens under Coke bottle caps in the comapny's $300,000 contest.

For Week of June 6

Warehouse foreman K. M. Crossing, of 965 Melrose Aveune, Montreal, is the proud owner of the '63 Ford Galaxie Convertible as a result of the contest for the week ending June 6.

Three women, including a nun, were in the winners of the five TV sets. As well, many people in all different parts of Canada found cash tokens under bottle caps.

Music and Drill

The colorful spectacle of a Shriners' parade seen in many of the large cities of the continent, was brought to the Lachute grandstand through the courtesy of Potentate Fred Sayles, at the request of Shriner-Rotarian Jack MacKimmie.

These business and professional men who give time, effort and money to aid children's work, particularly cripples, came at their own expense to help the Rotary youth work in this area.

Their precision drill in colorful regalia made a hit with the audience, as did their costumes. The motor scooters and miniature, flee-like cars, added to the novelty of the turnout. The variety of patterns and interweaving designs performed by the 50 or more performers in colorful red and gold costumes, received enthusiastic applause from the audience.

Wild Steer Catching

This event pitted half a dozen one-year-old Aberdeen Angus cattle against twice as many tenacious and long-winded young men. Spills and thrills were numerous before the animals were caught, haltered and "persuaded" to move to the judge's stand. First in, Don Maidens, received a plaque and a cash award. The others receiving prizes were Jim Livock, Jim Beauchamp, John Stevenson, John Nelson, Wendell Hume, John McCaig, Willis Silverson, George Thorburn, Donald Hadley, Jim Lees and Grant McGibbon.

Calf Catching

As in the former event, North River Farms and Bill Brass kindly provided the beautiful black Aberdeen-Angus cattle, in this case calves, about nine months old. Both brains and brawn were required to catch and hold an animal. An escape made it legal prey for another boy. Much advice was called from the sidelines — with cheers for a catch; ohs and ahs for an escape.

Winston Dixon received the plaque and award for first catch. Awards were made to other participants — Doug Maidens, Terry Morrow, Lee Kettyle, Rus Boa, Gordon Hadley, Graham Tomalty, Bobby Rodgers, Herb Underhill, Jim Lavis and Rus Graham.

Bull Fights

This event was the hilarious idea of Bill Brass, who provided a new, peeled cedar pole, supported on tripods about five feet off the ground. With a feather pillow each, two boys faced each other with the purpose of "unhorsing" the less dextrous. (This and the two previous events must be the answer to a mother's prayer for the excess energy of their growing boys!)

Don Maidens demonstrated that he could unseat an opponent as well as catch a wild steer. Winston Dixon, Don Hadley, Rus Boa, André St. Pierre and Wendell Hume also managed to stay on the pole, to win their matches. It was a popular event.

Rotarian program chairman Cliff Armstrong and his committee were highly encouraged by the audience-enthusiasm.

Ten-Gallon Hats

The ubiquitous white hats, which not only helped to promote the local "Fair" but added also to the community fund for youth work and the Rotary park, were the idea of Linton Armstrong, Cliff's brother.

Rotary Draw

Three 19" portable TV sets were drawn by Mayor Dave Campbell — in front of the grandstand, the final night of the Fair. These were won by — (1) Ben Villeneuve, Maxville, Ont.; (2) Mrs. Annie Goldup, Lachute; and (3) Roger Regimbal, Lachute.

Bob Armstrong was chairman for this successful project.

Former chairman Stewart Jones was at the microphone, with Linton Armstrong assisting. . . With the close of another Fair and drawing, the Rotarians are grateful for co-operation of the many people who assisted — with special thanks to Farmers' Supply Co. for the use of their booth.

Elderly couple tortured and robbed of savings

Four hooded bandits tortured an elderly St. Augustin couple Saturday morning and forced them to reveal where they had hidden $17,000 in stocks and bonds.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Gravel both in their 70's refused at first to reveal the location of the money. They were taken to the cellar, where they were bound and gagged.

The bandits then burned their feet with flaming newspapers until they found out where the hiding place was. They left immediately with the loot.

A short time later a woman called the QPP station in St. Eustache and told police they would find the couple bound and gagged in the cellar.

The Gravels were recovering yesterday in their home after medical treatment.

Police believe the crime was committed by a gang operating in the Joliette area which last week criminally assaulted two women and a girl.

Recent marriage at Lachute United

McAndrew - Stewart

The marriage of Enid Hannah Stewart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Stewart, of Lake Keatley, to Mr. Earl McAndrew, son of Mr. and Mrs. Morris McAndrew, of Harrington, took place Saturday, May 25, at 3 o'clock in the Lachute United Church. The Rev. Wilson Bridge officiated. Baskets of gladioli decorated the church.

The bride, given away by her father, wore a gown of white silk organza over taffeta, with sleeves ending in points over the hands. A small crown held her hip-length veil of tulle illusion, and she carried a bouquet of white gardenias and miniature yellow roses. She wore a single strand of pearls and matching earrings, a gift of the groom.

Miss Joan Barlow, as bridesmaid, wore a street-length gown of yellow silk organza over taffeta, with matching headdress and shoes. She carried a bouquet of miniature yellow roses and white mums.

The groom's brother, Raymond McAndrew, acted as best man and the ushers were Alvin McAndrew and Edward Proulx.

Mrs. Stewart, mother of the bride, wore a frock of blue lace over silk with matching accessories, and her corsage was of pink and white carnations. The groom's mother wore a beige silk frock with brown accessories; her corsage was of pink and white carnations.

After the reception the bride and groom left for Virginia Beach and other points in the United States.

For travelling, the bride wore a beige wool suit with brown and bronze accessories. Her corsage was a bronze orchid. . . The couple are now residing in Ville Brossard, Que.

Red Feather skydiving show at Green Lake

The Montreal Skydivers Club will stage an exhibition of parachute jumping at Green Lake, Arundel, on Sunday, June 23, at 3 p.m. There will be no charge for admission, but spectators will be canvassed on behalf of the 36 Welfare Agencies operated by United Red Feather Services.

The skydivers will put on a thrilling display of aerial acrobatics, including free falls from 7,000 feet, down to 2,000 feet, above the lake. One of the most spectacular is a duo-jump in which parachutists carry smoking batons that leave colorful smoke trails in the sky. They will land in the water directly in front of the Green Lake Hotel. Ample space for parking and spectators is provided by the hotel, as well as picnic areas, food and refreshments.

There will be guides and signs at the entrance to the lake, to direct traffic.

MONCRIEFF (Cayley, Alberta) — In loving memory of our dear son and brother, Claude, who passed away June 15, 1962. Always remembered and sadly missed by Mom, Dad and family.

"How can we explain to others
The loss we feel inside?
We only know we miss him
And years we try to hide.
He meant so much to all of us,
For more than we can say,
There's still an ache within our hearts
That years can't take away."

Arundel

Mr. and Mrs. Rhodes Oulton and family were visitors at Mr. and Mrs. Sam McArthur's over the week-end.

Mr. Earl Graham, of Montreal, and Mr. and Mrs. Clark Graham, of Ottawa, were guests over the week-end of Mrs. Alvin Graham.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Dixon and Mr. J. Dixon were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. S. Swail.

The Rev. R. Watson, of Laval West, occupied the United Church pulpit on Sunday morning, while the Rev. A. Lawson took the service at the Laval United Church. In the afternoon, a reception was held in honor of the Rev. and Mrs. Lawson to enable the congregation to say farewell to them, as this church was their first charge while Mr. Lawson was a student.

Church Women's Meeting

The Arundel U.C.W. monthly meeting was held, with a good attendance. Mrs. F. Davis occupied the chair. After the devotional exercises, conducted by Mrs. Gibbons, routine business was dealt with. Then the program convener, Mrs. M. Graham, took over. The program was unique, each member bringing an object of interest. The articles brought, some in the antique class, attracted the interest of all present. Refreshments brought the evening to a close, the hostesses being Mrs. H. Gordon, Mrs. S. Swail and Mrs. G. Gray.

Brownie and Girl Guide News

The Brownie leaders and Brownies are arranging to visit LaFontaine Park on July 6 next. Written permission must be had from all parents before their children can be taken.

A closing party for the Brownies was held at the home of Tawny Owl Mrs. Greta Gordon, on June 7. Soft drinks and refreshments were served to the girls, and games were played during the afternoon. Two girls were presented with prizes for perfect attendance during the past year, namely, Diane Laurin and Sylvia Dewar.

The Local Association held their last meeting of the season on June 13. They wish all the Brownies, Guides, their leaders and all interested, a happy summer, and all are looking forward to renewed activities in the fall.

Lake Keatley

Mr. and Mrs. Mervin Watson and family, of Montreal, spent the week-end at their cabin on Lake McLeod.

Mr. and Mrs. John MacVicar called on the MacVicars recently; also Mr. and Mrs. Alex Fraser, of Peterborough, Ont.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Parent, of Montreal, spent the week-end at "Oak Bend".

Mr. and Mrs. Eddy Brigden, of Ottawa, with a party of friends, spent the week-end here.

Mr. and Mrs. E. McAndrew, of Montreal, called on relatives and friends last week-end.

Congratulations and best wishes to Mr. and Mrs. Rosario Desabrais, who were married in Grenville United Church on Saturday. (Mrs. Desabrais was the former Miss Joan Young, of Kilmar.)

Mr. Richard Jones, of Thurso, and Miss B. Kyle, called on the former's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Dave MacVicar.

School News

Another school year comes to an end on Wednesday, June 26. This week the pupils write examinations in all grades; there are 14 writing provincial examinations in Grade X and 14 from Grade XI. A School Closing ceremony will be held on Wednesday, June 26, at 10 a.m., to which all parents and friends of the school are invited.

School Board Election

Last week there were elections for commissioners to the School Board. Two seats were contested, the retiring commissioners being Mr. Peter Whalley and Mr. Paul Baumel. Nominated were Jack Steele (who later withdrew from the nomination), Art Garayt, the Rev. Wesley Ball, and Paul Baumel, former chairman of the Board, who was nominated for re-election. Results of the election gave the Rev. W. Ball 257 votes, P. Baumel 223 votes, and A. Garayt 95 votes. The Rev. Mr. Ball and P. Baumel were declared elected.

Church Women's Group

The United Church Women held their June meeting in the church hall last Thursday. After a short business session, an interesting talk was given by Brigadier White of the Salvation Army, on "teen-age problems". Afterwards the U.C.W. ladies entertained the ladies of the Trinity Guild and the Presbyterian ladies of Mille Isles to tea.

The U.C.W. also served lunch to 100 of the Golden Age Group of St. James United Church last Monday. The group were on their annual spring visit to the Laurentians, and were accompanied by the Rev. Robert Blair.

Birthday Party

On Saturday evening last, a surprise birthday party was held at the Alpino Hotel to celebrate the 21st birthday of Rodney Kilpatrick. A large number of friends and relatives gathered to congratulate Rodney and to celebrate the occasion.

Calumet

A big improvement in masonry work is in progress this week on the Bank of Montreal and the residence next door, owned by Mr. Louis Carrière.

Mrs. Alex Craig, Eileen and Anita, spent Sunday in Marelan visiting the former's sister, Mrs. Aimé Pilon.

Mr. and Mrs. Ancel Young, of Port Colborne, visited Mrs. Margaret Arthurs last week-end, and with Mrs. Arthurs and Mr. and Mrs. John Arthurs, attended the Arthurs-Miller wedding in Sutton, Que.

Misses Dianne and Wanda Hall spent the week-end at their home here.

Bell Falls

Mr. Bill Smith, of Montreal, spent a few days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Keatley, of Brownsburg, and Miss Judy MacRae, of Ottawa, visited Mr. John MacRae on Father's Day.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Page, of Ottawa, visited Mr. and Mrs. Adam Page on Sunday last.

Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Warren visited Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Warren here last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Emil Frank spent the week-end at their cottage.

Friends of Mrs. W. H. Warren are sorry to hear she may have to return to the Montreal General Hospital.

Cushing West

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. W. Watt, of Patterson, N.J., are spending this week as the guests of Mrs. E. Derrick at Grece's Point. Mrs. Nelson Newbergher, of Montreal, was the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Derrick, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lipscombe, of Montreal, spent the week-end at their summer home.

Mrs. Fred Prior spent a couple of days with her daughter, Mrs. McCready and family, at Lachine.

Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Watson, of Arnprior, were guests of Mrs. Wm. Usher for the week-end. Mrs. Usher spent a couple of days in Montreal last week.

Mrs. J. Pearson and daughters, Dorothy and Margaret, of Ville St. Michel, and Mr. Buddy Knee, of Verdun spent last week-end as guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. Turner. Other guests included Mr. and Mrs. Throb, of Hawkesbury.

Sympathy Expressed

Friends were shocked to hear of the sudden death of the late Mrs. B. McAloney. Sincere sympathy is extended to her bereaved sons and also to her friends and neighbors in Grece's Point.

Anniversary

Congratulations and best wishes are extended to Mr. and Mrs. E. Turner, of Grece's Point, on the occasion of their 51st wedding anniversary — from Mr. and Mrs. G. Alexander; Mrs. J. Pearson and grandchildren, Dorothy, Margaret and Ernest (Dickie) Pearson.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Stalker and family, Town of Mount Royal, spent last week-end at their cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Turner and Mr. Harry Turner were in Montreal on Saturday to attend the funeral of the late Mrs. B. McAloney, of Grece's Point.

Was long-time community figure in Brownsburg

The late W. J. Graham

Brownsburg has lost another well-known and respected senior citizen with the passing of W. J. Graham, who died on June 4.

Known familiarly as Willie Graham, he started business at Brownsburg in 1917, having spent his earlier years partly in Lachute and partly in the Western Provinces, where he worked as a stationary engineer.

During his business career in Brownsburg, he served on the Village Council for several years and took an active part in community activities. Later, in semi-retirement, he turned his attention to the clearing of land and development of new residential areas, a task in which he took great interest until well past his 80th year.

A 32nd Degree Scottish Rite Mason, he became a member of Argenteuil Lodge No. 67 in 1910 and was elected Master in 1922; he received his 50-year jewel from the Grand Master in 1960. He was a faithful member of the United Church, and a charter member of the Rotary Club until failing health prevented his regular attendance.

While he had no specific hobby, his interests were many; he was a great reader, well informed on many subjects, an ardent fisherman, and took great interest and pleasure in his cottage at Lake Louisa and in his garden. He was a good neighbor and a good friend, and those who loved and respected him are thankful that his last days were peaceful.

Left to mourn his passing are two sisters, (Maggie) Mrs. W. J. Tomalty and (Emma) Mrs. J. L. Kennedy.

His funeral was held in Brownsburg United Church on Thursday, June 6, conducted by the Rev. C. S. Woods. Interment was in Dalesville Cemetery.

Pallbearers were — Messrs. Andrew Hardie, Leslie Tomalty, Graham Kennedy, Russell Graham, Kenneth Wilson and Frank Hazel.

Northern Grenville

Miss M. Pritchard, from Gaspé, Que., Miss Nellie Watson, of Woodstock, N.B., Miss Norma Gilles, of Sydney, Cape Breton — all teachers from the St. Eustache school — visited Miss Eileen Hoare on Saturday last.

Mr. Harvey Hoare, of Cornwall, and Miss Bernice Hoare, Ottawa, spent the week-end with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Hoare.

Recent visitors at Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Cook's were Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Crawford and daughter, Caroline, of Ville St. Laurent, and Mr. and Mrs. Buddy Urquhart, of Montreal.

Mr. and Mrs. Ancel Young, of Port Colborne, Mrs. S. Arthurs, of Calumet, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Young and family, of Kilmar, visited with Mr. and Mrs. John Arthurs last week-end.

Week-end visitors at Mr. and Mrs. Earl MacIntyre's were Mrs. Billy Woods and family, of Metcalfe, Miss Heather Stone, R.N., of Montreal, Miss Eleanor Higden, of Kingston; they attended the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace MacLean on Saturday.

Mr. Ernest Fife, Miss Laura Crawford, Mrs. Gladys Earl and daughter, Dorothy, all of Ottawa, were Sunday visitors with Mrs. Thos. Hoare, Sr. Mrs. Lena McCrae, of Brockville, is spending a week at the home of Mrs. Hoare.

Mr. and Mrs. Wyman Young visited Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Matthew on Sunday evening.

Mrs. C. Cook accompanied Mrs. Percy MacLeod, of Calumet, and attended the 50th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Carriere of Buckingham, Que., on Saturday, June 15.

Sympathy

Sincere sympathy is extended to the family and relatives of the late Mrs. Thos. Bennett, who passed away at the home of her son, Roy, on Monday night.

Demolition job on Ottawa River bridge

This picture shows, at the right, the first span of the old Grenville-Hawkesbury CNR bridge, removed and being floated to shore on two large barges for dismantlement. Louis Donolo, of Montreal, is the firm handling the big demolition job (which was described in these pages last week). Barges and tugboats are used to remove the bridge by stages, and the cement piers will be broken up with dynamite. Over 50-million pounds of steel will be salvaged from the structure.

EDITORIAL NOTES...

"In this Parliament are three Estates, the Lords Spiritual, the Lords Temporal and the Commons, but in the Reporters' Gallery yonder sits a Fourth Estate more important far than all."
— Edmund Burke

The city manager idea

AMONG certain town councillors there is interest in the City Manager idea for Lachute. This form of administration is far from new, of course; such officials are operating efficiently in a number of Canadian and American cities. There is no doubt the appointment of a city manager could obviate a lot of detail which, for instance, absorbs Lachute Town Council up to a four-hour stretch at its statutory meeting, and at adjourned and special meetings, every month. But no city manager is superhuman, and how one such official could be completely versed in all aspects of administration, and in local conditions which become known only through long residence, is beyond comprehending. We still see the need for much committee work, as in the normal council set-up, besides a staff to aid the city manager in specialized details.

We support Mayor Dave Campbell's insistence that this idea be pigeon-holed, at least until the annexation question is settled and there is a clearer picture of Lachute's expanded administration — which may involve, for instance, besides electronic testers and 8-inch water mains, some knowledge of proces-verbals on rural ditches. In other words — where are we going — and, how much can one know?

By coincidence, The Financial Post last week made reference to city management and training for this profession. Frank Oxley's views in that journal are interesting, and even relevant. . . A growing trend toward the use of city managers offers more exciting opportunities to young Canadian men interested in local government — and they don't have to run for election (he writes). The rewards include the satisfaction of being chief administrator of an urban centre with all its complexities and the needs and desires of its citizens. Financial rewards are attractive — up to $20,000 annually and more. Canada currently doesn't offer much academic tuition for such a career although a young Canadian wouldn't have to go very far south to take a post-graduate course in civic administration. Certain Canadian universities do offer limited tuition in the arts and skills of local government, but no serious attempt has been made as yet to fill the gap — and there's a noticeable shortage of trained people.

Tribute to the textile industry

THE PLAUDITS which Canada's textile industry is winning these days on its remarkable recovery from the sickness which laid it low only a few years ago, are nothing if not deserved. — This is a tribute from the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, which keeps a sensitive finger on fluctuations of the Canadian economy.

Less than a decade ago, the textile industry lay deep in the doldrums. Saddled with high costs, outdated equipment and sharply declining profits, it was in no shape to combat rising import conditions at home, much less abroad.

How different is the picture today! Production last year reached its highest level in seven years and is continuing to rise as Canadian mills regain lost ground in the home market and develop new markets abroad.

To what is the transformation due? First and foremost to massive capital investment in new plant and equipment and to technological changes which have cut costs and improved efficiency to the point where the industry now ranks with the world's best.

These hundreds of millions of dollars which over the past decade and more have been ploughed into modernization were risk dollars, invested during lean years out of funds set aside for the purpose of better years. Had the industry's management and shareholders heeded the advice of the pessimists (of whom there were plenty) not to throw good money after bad, there would be no 80,000 Canadians producing textiles in Canada today and no industry worthy of the name still in existence.

Nor, we do well to remember, is it in the least likely that the investment and reorganization which have rescued it from decline would have been made if Ottawa had listened to those who urged abolition of such tariff protection as was being given a supposedly "dying" industry.

Learn to swim this summer

"COME ON in, folks. The water's fine!". This truly can be the most welcome invitation ever heard, especially on a very warm day. Likely it will be echoed a thousand times over this summer — amid laughter at lakes, rivers, creeks and pools. No other recreation is as refreshing or as healthful. Swimming is the perfect form of exercise, as it tones the muscles and keeps the figure trim.

Even so, a shocking number of people lose their lives while swimming each year. This tragic fact need not be. Everyone — young and old alike — can learn to swim properly. Almost every community has facilities where swimming is taught competently by experts. Learning to swim this way can result in pupils becoming expert swimmers themselves. Even infant children can be taught to swim well. However, not everyone learns to swim in the same length of time, and no one should become discouraged if progress seems slow. Swimming, from the first lesson on, is intended to provide relaxed, enjoyable fun.

A few rules for safe swimming should always be remembered. Beginners should never swim alone, or over-estimate their ability. Never stay in the water too long, as this can cause chills, cramps and exhaustion. Under no circumstances should one go swimming immediately after a meal.

The changing scene

THEY SAY that the reduction in the amount of goods imported free of duty from the United States has lowered the revenue of the Peace Bridge from Canadian passenger automobiles — notes The Printed Word.

This is further evidence of a welcome decline in individual enterprise. After all, the $100 exemption for tourists did not exist until a few years ago. The stores on the U.S. side of the border even then got a goodly amount of sales from Canadians, with special reference to Good Friday and Thanksgiving Day. Customs officers weren't likely to know that the lady was wearing two dresses or that the fellow walking stiff-legged had a hunting rifle stuffed in his pant leg. These, and many other, smuggling tricks may have passed away when a former Liberal government made the violation of a sumptuary law less tempting.

Viewpoints and perspectives

CURIOSITY'S ANSWER. — Whether we seek news or information, the newspaper has become an inexpensive and readily available answer to a basic human need. All of us like to know what the other fellow is doing, even if he lives down the street or on the other side of the world.

NEED PROPER TRAINING. — Even with the greater demand today for trained minds, there remain many employment opportunities which do not demand a college degree. Getting young people to avail themselves of the training best suited to their capabilities is perhaps the biggest challenge facing education.

WHY NOT SWEEPSTAKES? When one reads of the prodigious prizes given in the Irish sweepstake it is realized the large amount of money that is collected through this means for the Irish hospitals. Why in Canada we cannot enjoy this benefit of what is a very harmless form of amusement, is beyond one's comprehension.

Of Many Things

THE NATIONAL COUNCIL OF WOMEN

I have always been impressed by the work of the National Council of Women. When they undertake a task, they do it right. Their representations to the Cabinet, or to other authorities, are always eminently practical and sound.

An example, which should be of interest to all women, was the brief they presented to the Royal Commission on Taxation. It cannot fail to impress the commissioners. I feel confident that as a result of the submission, the terrible practice of capitalizing widow's pensions and demanding full payment within six years will be discontinued. It is not Christian, and it is palpably unjust. The case against it was made very effectively by the Council brief.

The Council was founded by Lady Aberdeen, wife of the then Governor-General of Canada, in 1893, its object being "to unite a Dominion federation, for the betterment throughout Canada of conditions pertaining to the family and the state, all societies and associations of women interested in philanthropy, religion, education, literature, art or social reform."

The Council has lived up to its purpose. It has not become an organization of fuzzy-thinking do-gooders, but has been practical, sound, and down to earth. It has won the respect of Canadians not by publicity seeking but by carefully-reached decisions on policy and action. It is not forever passing resolutions and letting them die. What it starts it finishes if it takes a month or many years. That is why I am sure it will get our ridiculous Estates Tax laws reformed.

The National Council of Women of Canada represents about 700,000 women. I'd wager it represents five times that many voters, because of its influence and the good sense of the proposals it puts forward. More power to it!

The seed of unemployment

By Dorothy Barker — Diary of a Vagabond

Sunday was a beautiful day. Buds were bursting, birds were twittering, and Old Sol up there in the sky was bouncing sunbeams hither and yon, recklessly announcing he would soon peal the skin from one's back; but for today, he would just warm the blood-stream to a glow. It was the kind of a day it took every bit of restraint one could muster not to get down on one's knees right in public and thank God for spring.

But that glorious day brought something saddening and sobering. On almost every corner of our main street, small groups of giggling, profane youngsters gathered. They pushed one another off the curb, bandied rather frightening four-letter words about to embellish their conversation, teased their ratted coiffures or slicked their duck-tail patent leather hair, pulled at their stretchee pants, or hitched their too tight jeans. The girls were as noisy as the boys, perhaps noisier, for they wanted to draw attention to their over-made ruby lips and flirting mascara-ed eyes.

I was nauseated when I noticed one had a raw, red scar where her cheek had been recently slit from her nose to her ear. I wondered if this one-time pretty girl could be linked with a recent terrible motor accident in which two of our young people had been killed and several injured.

Not Only Local

This situation is not peculiar to our town; it is a sign of our times and while some people wring their hands and view the condition as hopeless, blaming it on TV, paperbacks and too sexy advertising, there are others more seriously inclined who are projecting some kind of solution.

Most of these youngsters will be among the unemployed before they are many months older. Now, some have jobs as waitresses, bus boys, can stackers in supermarkets, and a dozen other menial jobs that take little, or no, education. They, for the most part, live at home, spend their $35-40 per week pay cheque on cigarettes, buy a jalopy on time and think they've hit the jackpot of high living. Any principal of a high school can identify their type as "fall outs" from grade nine.

They just aren't academic material. John Robarts, Premier of Ontario, has recognized their need. It will take several years for his new system for screening the ability of a pupil's learning level and the provision for technical training of those who haven't "book learning" capacity to come to full fruition. These young people, as we of an older generation know, are among the war babies now flowering into adulthood. The kids, I am convinced, are the casualties of a new high standard of living.

So let's not be too severe or critical of their behaviour. Rather let us be tolerant and support measures of this kind being promoted to train young people who can never strive for a degree but who, through proper training, can avoid being the germinating seed of future unemployment.

B of M Personal Chequing account simplifies paying monthly bills

Like most people, you probably have a number of recurring expenses which you find much more convenient to pay for by cheque. Rent, lighting, heating bills, and so on, can be paid for by simply filling out a cheque and dropping it in the mail — no bother, no fuss for you.

And the Bank of Montreal has the type of account specially designed for this purpose. It's the B of M personal chequing account, available at the Lachute branch.

Personal chequing accounts are economical to operate. You pay nothing in advance for your cheque-book, the service charge is only ten cents a cheque. And there's no charge for deposits to your account as there is with a current account in which there's a charge of ten cents for each entry.

With a B of M personal chequing account, you receive a quarterly statement instead of a pass-book. And your cancelled cheques, which are held by the bank for 20 years, are readily available to provide the best possible receipt for the bills you've paid.

If you'd like to hear more about this convenient B of M service, Miss Mary Preece, accountant at the Lachute branch, or Miss Lulu Miller at the Ayersville office, will be happy to give you the details. (Advt.)

IGA TABLERITE MEATS ARE *PERSONALLY SELECTED

Our beef program guarantees you really tender steaks or roasts, every time! This is possible because our own trained IGA meat buyers personally select every side of beef . . . only three out of every ten choice steers meet their rigid specifications! Our IGA meat personnel are so carefully trained in the selection of all meat cuts that we guarantee you complete satisfaction on every cut of meat every time, because every cut of Personally Selected IGA TableRite Beef is table trimmed — all excess fat and bone is removed. You actually get more edible meat for your meat dollar! This alone is a real saving for your budget because you never have the problem of working over a steak or roast that turned out tough or unsatisfactory in any way.

This super beef is called "IGA TABLERITE" to distinguish it as the very finest beef that money can buy . . . yet, because of IGA's collective buying power, it costs no more than ordinary beef! Try an IGA "Personally Selected" TableRite Steak or Roast this week. You can see the difference . . . and wait until you TASTE the difference!

DISTRICT NEWS

Kilmar

Among those who attended the golf tournament at the Abenaki Golf and Country Club, Hawkesbury, last Saturday, were Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Carson, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Capyk, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Werely, and Mr. and Mrs. John Perry.

Birthday Club

Kilmar Birthday Club met at the home of Mrs. D. Moncrieff last Tuesday to celebrate the birthday of Mrs. Austin Young; also at the home of Mrs. P. Tonon, Lost River, on Thursday, to celebrate the birthday of Mrs. Frank Firth. Both ladies received suitable gifts, and two very enjoyable afternoons were spent.

Kilmar Community Hall was the scene of a wedding reception Saturday for Mr. and Mrs. Rosario Desabrais (the former Joan Young, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Young, of Kilmar). Congratulations are extended to the happy couple.

Recent visitors at the home of Mrs. Thos. Purcell were Mrs. A. J. McKenna, of Montreal, and her son, Mr. James McKenna.

Avoca

Mrs. Wm. Kelly spent the week-end with her mother.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Andrews and daughter, Mrs. Duncan, spent the week-end at the Andrews farm.

Mr. Robin Andrews has completed his Chemistry course from the Eastern Ontario Institute of Technology and is now on the staff of Canada Starch in Cardinal, Ont., as junior chemist.

Congratulations are extended to Mr. W. J. Bowers, of Toronto (husband of the former Olive Brown of Pte. au Chene), who has been promoted to general superintendent, Eastern District, Canadian Pacific Express Company, with headquarters in Toronto. His appointment was effective June 1.

Best wishes are extended to Mr. and Mrs. Dixon (the former Marjory Vaillancourt), who were married last Saturday in the Church of St. Andrew at Avoca; also to Mr. and Mrs. Wallace MacLean, who were married in the Harrington United Church on Saturday.

Cushing

Mr. and Mrs. Eric Mannell, Town of Mount Royal, visited Mrs. A. Taylor on Saturday.

Quite a number of Cushing residents attended the County Fair and reported an enjoyable time, meeting friends from far and near. A gentleman from England signed the visitors' book provided by the Women's Institute; also a friend of Miss Elsie Graham — Miss Edith Summers, from Australia, who is believed to have been from the farthest distance of any who attended.

Mrs. G. Brown and Mrs. Kenneth Massey, of Hawkesbury, and Mrs. Percy McLeod, of Calumet, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Canning on Sunday.

Mr. F. A. Graham was the guest of his nephew, Mr. John R. Graham, on Wednesday of last week.

Mr. Clifton Berry visited at the home of his sister, Mrs. Donald Fuller, recently.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Buzzell, of Montreal West, spent the week-end at their Cushing residence.

Mr. Ernest Morrow, of Hawkesbury, also Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Morrow, of Chatboro, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Morrow on Tuesday; also Mrs. Grace Coulter and Mr. Bennett, of Ottawa.

Mr. Bert Bailey, of Collins Bay, Ont., spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Bailey.

Mr. and Mrs George Drew, of Verdun, visited Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Canning during last week-end.

Grenville

Guests during the week at Mr. S. C. Norton's included — Mr. Gordon Blore and daughter, Miss Beverley Blore, of Montreal; Mr. and Mrs. J. U. Barlow, of Hampstead; Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Millar and daughter, Miss Donna Millar, Town of Mount Royal; Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Kouri and son, Steven, of Ste. Therese.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Cogdell and children, Ronnie and Daphne, of Pierrefonds, Que., were Saturday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Dewar.

Miss Audrey Johnson, of Verdun, was the week-end guest of her cousin, Miss Helen Welden.

Mr. Danny Stote, of Huntingdon, spent the week-end with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Mimee.

Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Mimee spent last Tuesday visiting with the Rev. and Mrs. P. R. Stote at Huntingdon, Que.

The Rev. and Mrs. H. J. Cohen and family spent Sunday in Montreal. The Rev. Mr. Cohen took charge of the morning service in St. Aidan's Church, Ville Emard, while Mr. N. E. Haydon, of Beauharnois, Que., conducted the morning service in St. Matthew's, Grenville.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Birch, of Hammond, Ont., were Saturday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Corl Gauley. Mr. and Mrs. Clayton and son, Brent, of Calumet, were Sunday guests.

Dispute on bill for services of surveyor

A professional surveyor whose services were engaged by the municipality in connection with the filtration plant, submitted a bill for $6,600 which the Town declined to pay. According to Mayor D. Campbell the surveyor, Michel Cicé, in a letter dated February 1962 agreed that his fee would be $500 for measuring and servitudes on the Cottingham Farm in connection with the filtration site, but that the fee could be higher if it entailed services in the winter season.

The bill for $6,600 was considered exaggerated. The Council refused to pay, and informed Mr. Cicé of this decision. The municipality offered $2,490 in settlement, and if the surveyor refused this amount, it would be taken to court. (The corporation, moreover, has received authority to contest the case.)

Lucien Hamel heads K. of C. Council 2752

Lucien Hamel, a well-known townsman, was elected Grand Knight of the local council, 2752, at the annual meeting held by the Knights of Columbus last week. He succeeds Philippe Joly. The latter reviewed a successful year in the organization, and the incoming Grand Knight outlined a constructive program for the coming year.

Committees planned for various phases of activity are a seven-man group to prepare a financial budget; a charity committee; a sports and recreation body; a committee on donations, also on fund-raising; and a committee to re-enlist former members.

Mr. Hamel hoped, also, to organize a car drawing, and group games in the K. of C. Hall.

Tokens presented to girl athletes, prov'l champions

A presentation of cardigan sweaters in the Lachute High School colors, white and blue, was made to the school's senior girls basketball team, winners of the McLeod Trophy and the provincial inter-scholastic championship this past season. Chairman Jas. McGibbon made the presentation on behalf of the school commissioners, at an informal gathering in the principal's office last Thursday. (This was a sequel to Awards Day — the sweaters having been received too late for that occasion.)

Betty Elkington, captain of the basketball team, thanked the school board on behalf of the players, also expressing appreciation for their support and encouragement to the students' athletic program.

Town seeks authority to increase rate, water supply to St. Jerusalem Parish

Lachute Town will apply to the Public Utilities Commission to seek an increase in water rates to the Parish of St. Jerusalem, as well as the increase requested for water supplied to Ayersville.

In the case of St. Jerusalem, the present contract expires October 31, and Lachute Council decided to notify the parish corporation that the agreement cannot be renewed on the same terms as before. St. Jerusalem is at present paying around $5,500 a year, on the basis of valuation, for its water supply from the town system.

Ayersville pays on a consumption basis, at the rate of 15 cents per thousand gallons — for which Lachute Town is asking an increase to 45 cents.

Council is also studying the possibility of passing a ruling for installation of meters for all local consumers. The present water tax for town dwellers is $40 a year. . .

In short, this town incurred the headaches and costs (over a half-million dollars) of installing a modern filtration plant, and it is justly desirous that the border-municipalities benefitting from this service should meet a fair share of the expense.

Ontario farmer killed by tractor

Napoleon Villeneuve, 75-year-old farmer of Wendover, Prescott County, was instantly killed last week when the tractor he was driving overturned in a ditch. He was found crushed beneath the rear wheels of the heavy machine.

The victim was driving home from a nearby farm where he and his son had been working, and according to evidence available, when putting the vehicle away in a shed, he made a false move, sending the tractor into a ditch. He was found dead by his son shortly afterwards.

Jean Lalonde, of CKJL, seeks radio permit here

As speaker at a recent dinner meeting of the Chamber of Commerce, Mr. Jean Lalonde quoted the Financial Post to affirm that, in terms of population, workers' income and retail spending, Lachute offers a potential for the establishment of a radio station favorably comparable to St. Jerome and Joliette.

Mr. Lalonde is proprietor and president of Station CKJL at St. Jerome. He secured his permit in 1955 and has been operating since 1956. He recalled that Mr. W. M. Cottingham had offered him free land for the erection of antennae in Lachute, but at the time certain technical difficulties stood in the way. He has now entered an application with the Board of Broadcast Governors, which is expected to be considered August 27 next, for a proposed station in Lachute to be known as CKLA ("LA" for Lachute-Argenteuil) to broadcast bilingually both daytime and nights. The plans for this private station of 1,000 watt intensity, call for antennae towers and studios in Lachute, to broadcast at the start 21 hours' program a week directly from Lachute, 32 hours after six months, and 45 hours after a year of operation. The radio frequency would be 1330 kilocycles.

"A radio station is called upon to render immense services to all classes of society in its area. The big radio stations, like the big metropolitan newspapers, ignore the news of smaller centres," said the speaker. "Nor would the proposed station adversely affect the newspapers of this town. To the contrary, it has been found in the case of St. Jerome that its three weeklies have been expanding since the advent of Station CKJL." There are 11 radio stations on the Island of Montreal, he mentioned; 225 across Canada; and in the United States a total of almost 4,000.

It appears that the support of a number of firms and organizations has been enlisted by the Chamber of Commerce and remitted to Mr. Lalonde. These written endorsements have been embodied in a petition required of the applicant in seeking his permit. The signatories are given as follows:

Mayor D. Campbell; Richelieu Club; Chamber of Commerce; St. Jean Baptiste Society; Mayor G. Plamondon of Ayersville; Knights of Columbus; Brownsburg Chamber of Commerce; Catholic clergy of Ayersville, St. Julien and the Shrine; Lions Club; Rotary Club; Centre d'Art d'Argenteuil; Lachute High School; authorities of l'Ecole Secondaire; Ayersville School Commission; principal of Clément School, Ayersville; civil committee of the Air Cadets; Lowe Bros. Dairy; Dominion Ayers Ltd.; Lachute Lumber & Millwork Ltd.; Lachute Creamery Ltd.; Argenteuil Transport Ltd.

Mr. Lalonde thanked the Chamber of Commerce and those who had signified their approval.

When questioned by the audience on the application filed by the Attfield brothers, the speaker said he had no criticism for a proposed station at Hawkesbury, but for the idea of studios in Lachute. "What I want to see is a radio station in Lachute, studios in Lachute, transmitter and antennae — all situated in Lachute," he said.

"Over Ninety" Birthday Club

Congratulations are extended to Mr. Charles Hyde, of St. Andrews East, who on Saturday, June 29, will celebrate his 90th birthday. Mr. Hyde is still active and enjoys good health.

Presentation

At the United Church Sunday School picnic last Saturday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Bradford, North River — which (due to rain) terminated in the church hall — pupils of the Sunday School made the presentation of a cut-glass vase to Mrs. Wilson Bridge and of a pen-and-pencil set to the Rev. Mr. Bridge, in appreciation of their help and interest in the activities of the Sunday School. The presentations were made respectively by Elizabeth Mehlhorn and Jim Noble.

The top conservation award of the Canadian Pulp and Paper Association for 1962 has been presented to Grenville Woodlands Division resident manager Manny Wilson for his work in connection with the rehabilitation of the Rouge River Valley.

The J. A. Bothwell Award, donated by Domtar Newsprint Ltd., and granted by the Association's Woodlands Section to a member for "the most meritorious work in the current year on behalf of forest conservation in Canada", was given to Mr. Wilson "for his part in planning, organizing and implementing a program for the conservation and restoration of the Rouge River watershed."

The watershed comprises some 2,000 square miles of land, 1,200 of which is Crown property, the balance freehold and now to a large extent owned by city dwellers and operated for recreational purposes. Of the freehold, only about 135 square miles are cleared and the remainder is either in woodlot or burnt-over scrub on very shallow soil.

C.I.P. woods manager describes Rouge Valley development plans

Millions of Trees Needed

On the cleared land, it is estimated that 39 square miles are fertile enough for farming, 88 suitable for reforesting and eight square miles, through excessive rockiness, unsuitable for tree growth. More than 56,000,000 trees will be required to reforest suitable areas.

While logging has been going on for well over a century, there is not sufficient sawtimber on private lands today to support a sawtimber industry. Several small sawmills in the area survive through purchase of hardwood stumpage from limit holders.

The region is conveniently located to large centres of population, particularly Montreal, Ottawa, Eastern Ontario and the Northeastern United States. Because of the natural beauty of the valley, with its hills, natural forest and lakes, it seems destined to become an active recreational centre for winter sports, fishing, hunting and all outdoors activities.

"It is evident to all concerned that any future forest management for this area will have to consider seriously the multiple use concept," Mr. Wilson states. "Mont Tremblant Park, which is wholly in the valley, is becoming very popular for campers and fishermen; but it is distant from towns in the region and brings very little revenue to the valley."

Problems Are Many

Some of the problems outlined by Mr. Wilson: Farming has ceased to be an important occupation because of soil; sawmill operators realize they are running out of timber and that their future, together with that of the communities, is in jeopardy; while the area is ideal for fishing and hunting, accessible and well-managed facilities for fish and game are lacking; lakes and streams are being polluted; there is no stable employment; there are no well-managed camping or picnic grounds for public use; unproductive farm land cannot be assessed sufficiently to provide taxes to sustain community services.

The solution: organization of communities within the valley for improvement and rehabilitation of the whole area. Interested groups and individuals were approached and common problems discussed. The idea caught on, and meetings took place.

The result: Formation of the Rouge Valley Association, an independent, non-profit organization, whose active members are exclusively residents of the valley and dedicated to the best interests of conservation and community betterment.

Association Formed

In 1960, a charter of incorporation was received from the Quebec Government. Since its formation, Association accomplishments include: hiring a permanent secretary-manager; organizing an active financial committee; enlisting 400 paid members; authorization by the Quebec Forestry Association to certify tree farms in the Rouge Valley; application for assistance under the Agricultural Rehabilitation and Development Act; presentation of a brief to the Quebec Cabinet; publication of a comprehensive brochure; production of a color movie on the area and on the Association; meetings attended by some 5,000 persons; founding and now operating a model camping ground and assisting in the establishment of four others; organizing field demonstrations each year on conservation, tree planting and fire protection; assisting property owners in obtaining and planting more than 1,000,000 trees.

C.I.P. as a member of the Association, supplies trees at cost and provides mechanical tree planters for reforestation. Foresters give technical assistance in planting and advice on woodlot management. Much of the spare time of company staff is given voluntarily to various Association projects.

Art Association has interesting exhibit

The opening of the Argenteuil Art Association's first exhibition this season, was marked by a fair attendance at the St. Andrews municipal hall last Saturday afternoon.

The display of 63 pictures, loaned by various collectors and art lovers in this immediate district, presents a very pleasing cross-section of works in various media, mostly of Canadian and European origin. There are paintings by artists, past and present, associated with this County — Forbes, DeBelle, Holgate, and the noted father of a local contemporary, Harcourt. There are representatives of the Group of Seven and other luminaries in Canadian art depicting the loved Canadian scenes, besides exponents of the modern school.

This loan exhibition, the first of its kind held by the Association, merits high interest. It reveals, perhaps as never before, a keen perception and appreciation of art which prevails among the residents of this area. The directors are to be commended on this idea and its successful outcome.

The president, Mrs. L. T. Porter, welcomed the visitors, and the exhibition was graciously opened by Mayor Henri Labreche of St. Andrews, who was accompanied by Mrs. Labreche. The pictures remain on display until June 30, from 2.30 to 5 p.m. daily. The public are cordially invited.

Succumbed to accident injuries

Mrs. Rose Alma Chapdeleine, 69, of Montreal, succumbed to injuries in the St. Jerome hospital several hours following an accident near 16 Island Lake.

The accident occurred at 11.20 a.m. on Tuesday last, when her husband, Mr. Roch Chapdeleine, lost control of the car he was driving, and swerved into a pile of rocks.

The accident was investigated by Traffic Officers Gaston Paquette and Emile Descours. No date for an inquest has been set by joint district coroner Dr. Roger Lavigne.

Colorful celebration held for St. Jean Baptiste fete

Despite chilly and uncertain weather, the St. Jean Baptiste celebration in Lachute last Saturday was a notable success. The mass and old-time supper were not too enthusiastically attended but, by contrast, the parade, bonfire and fireworks at the Richelieu Park attracted a crowd of approximately 2,000.

The chaplain of the local St. Jean Baptiste Society, the Rev. Dalma Brisebois, celebrated mass, which was followed immediately by the supper.

In the long parade which started out from Hamford Street, Ayersville, there were several colorful units, including a majorette troupe from St. Janvier directed by Mme Henri Roy; riding horses from the Younkie Farm under management of G. Desfossés; a school band from St. Jerome; Ayersville Air Cadet Squadron; Lachute and Ayersville Guides; and numerous automobiles led by Fernand Berthiaume, president of the Society, and Mme Berthiaume; Paul-Emile Barbeau, honorary president, and Mme Barbeau; Vincent Drouin, M.P., and Mme Drouin; the mayors or representatives of Lachute, Ayersville and St. Jerusalem; representatives of the Chamber of Commerce, and others.

At the Richelieu Park short speeches were given and community singing was led by Roméo Legault and P.-E. Barbeau. The Rev. Brisebois blessed the bonfire and touched off the conflagration which, with concluding fireworks, exercises by the Girl Guides and torch-light spectacles, were the climax of enjoyment for the younger folk in attendance.

Sentiments and Sidelights

(Comments on the Local Scene)

Town Council decided to sell, by public tender, the land and building happily known as the old "filtration plant". The structure is of little value, but the lot measures 50x50 feet. It will likely be sold for the highest offer.

With the summer influx of visitors, severe traffic congestion on Main Street during peak shopping hours is a good reason to patronize the off-street parking lots. They are free, and convenient to the shopping centre. Take trouble to learn the quickest means of access; save time and annoyance by avoiding traffic tie-ups.

The graduating class of l'Ecole Secondaire, teachers and members of the Catholic School Commission were guests at the semi-monthly meeting of the Richelieu Club which was held at the Richelieu Park. River cruise and activities open Power Squadron season

The St. Andrews Power Squadron, which was formed some three years ago to promote safe boating practices in the community, held its annual dinner recently at La Lorraine Motel.

Certificates of membership were presented to new members by Vice-Commander Dawes-Knowles, of the Rideau - St. Lawrence district of the Canadian Power Squadrons. It is noteworthy that one of the new lady members, Mrs. Jean McIndoe, passed her piloting exams with the highest marks in the district.

On June 8 the Squadron held a successful cruise on the Ottawa River. Twenty members and their friends took part in circumnavigating Carillon Island, and at the same time put to the test the theoretical knowledge of navigation and safe boating practices which they had learned during the past year.

Squadron Commander Roger Legault, who succeeded Norm Somers this year, organized the cruise, with the assistance of Jack McIndoe and Lucien Hamel.

On returning to "Mariner", the marina on the North River at St. Andrews, the crews enjoyed a barbecue supper skilfully prepared by Jack and Jean McIndoe and served aboard the "Gilnic", the yacht of the Squadron Commander, whose wife, Rachel, did the honors on board, thus concluding a thoroughly enjoyable day.

For enthusiasts interested in joining this organization, which will certainly "go places" in the years ahead, information is available from Roger Legault or Jack McIndoe, who will be pleased to explain the purpose, cost, and pleasure afforded by membership in the group. It is not necessary to own a big cruiser, a "chaloupe" or even a canoe; all that is required is a desire to get off the dusty roads and go "down to the sea in ships".

By BOB ATCHISON

As you know, I have written complainingly about wild dogs during this past winter. More reports keep coming in concerning their havoc and slaughter. The latest one should make some of you farmers take notice. Four dogs were shot just this past two weeks for trying to pull down calves. Fortunately they were spotted before any real damage could be done. But again — if they had not been seen in time, there would have been indignant stories of wolves attacking cattle. Dogs running the bush are a never-ending source of trouble to all game and, in some cases, to humans too. It doesn't take much imagination to speculate what these animals would do to a small youngster loose in the countryside.

The catches of Grey trout coming out of Louisa are pretty hard to swallow. When one considers the paltry fishing in this lake over the past few years, and the reports this spring, it is hard to understand. Naturally the Grey is the most sought-after, but a couple of sports have taken good Speckled trout, and in another case I heard of Browns taken in this same lake. At this time last year the lake-water was warm, but not so this year. True, you can swim in these lakes, but below 5 feet or so, they are plenty cold. All this will help the fishing, so much so that even right now Greys are being taken close to the surface. I personally know of a number taken on flies, close to the surface. Naturally I am happy about this, because they can be taken on flies at any time, if you will only take time and trouble to discover what type they want. Even being trolled, with a small spinner ahead of the flies near the surface, will pay off just now. As to the time of day, it doesn't seem to have mattered — there was no set pattern, either as to the time or the type of lure. Moreover, the days on which fishing was supposed to be poor according to some of the charts, turned out to be the most productive! Believe me, you just can't prognosticate fish!

I mentioned the small ducklings on the river near our home. The other morning I spotted a gull trying to eat one of the smallest of the flock. The mother duck was really putting on a show (and this was what attracted my attention). She had herded all the remaining ducklings right up on the bank under a clump of brush, and she was spread out all over the water protecting the brood. The gull was successful in its attack on the lone child — I couldn't do anything about this, but I did get out the shotgun and blast at it later. And these past couple of days, our place has been like an armed camp; any bird that looks like a gull is viewed with real malice. In the meantime the ducks seem to have beat it. Let's hope the gulls did not get at the rest of the young. One thing is sure, even though it is against the law to shoot at a gull, if I see them molesting ducks again, they'll get a warlike reception.

It looks as though the Fish and Game Department is going to get a face-lifting, thanks to the Hon. L. Bertrand, minister of Tourism, and Fish and Game. Actually this is one appointment that will please everyone connected with wildlife. This man knows his business, and won't be fooled by some of the so-called experts the government has on its payroll. Quebec has always talked of what it is going to do in the near future, but this "near future" never materializes. All these jokers, "friends of friends" hired to help in the wildlife departments, has been a sore point to many connected with the outdoors. Let us hope it will be a thing of the past. Briefs have been presented by the Federation of Fish and Game Associations which I am sure will help everyone, if acted upon. It could be that with the Hon. Mr. Bertrand they will get a more sympathetic hearing from here on.

I know it seems a long way off, not too long though — hunting, and what it means to the average person living in the country. By the look of things, there will be no controls to curb stupid and dangerous shooters — those who right now are thinking of the killing they will be doing in a matter of months. I had thought some form of legislation would be passed to stop the sale of guns to people totally unqualified to use them. Of course, these types are not the only ones to blame. The person buying is just as much an amateur as the dealer. Most people going after a gun will try and get the most for their money. But when it comes to firearms, this just does not apply. Get the gun suited to the person, even if it happens to be of much smaller calibre than they wanted. In my personal opinion, most shooters are "over-powered" — they seemingly try to get into the naval-gun category, with expectations of shooting something at least a mile off. We know what happens when too high a calibre is used; sore shoulders, flinchings — and a lot of loose ammunition flying around.

You all know that any type of firearm can be bought, anywhere in Montreal and even in town; there is no thought given as to just how these parties are going to use them. The only way I can see to combat this is to have the government approve dealers and vendors who have proved they themselves responsible in the handling of firearms, licenie them, and make them responsible for persons buying these guns. I know there is going to be a lot of protest on this suggestion and against any law to curtail the use or purchase of firearms. Maybe this would not work — but it is time NOW, to get something done.

If any of you have seen the black eye walking around, this is how it happened, no matter what you have been told. Last week-end a few of the boys were out fishing — one of them using the swing-and-heave method of casting. It seems they were in heavy brush when it was decided to try this one spot. Stripping off line on the ground, it was really heaved out! However, the peeled-off line had snagged in some brush, with the result the whole shebang came bouncing back right in his face. He was lucky not to get a hook in the eye. Everything ended well, however; just the black eye. . . No fish were caught on this particular jaunt. It sure is getting tough these days, what with flies and black eyes; a man just isn't safe any more.

I heard of another enthusiast, losing his trolling line while at Lake Louisa. He was flying a small flag at the stern to try and stop anyone from cutting too close; this didn't work, though. So once again, you boating fans — think of the other fellow, please.

I have not yet heard of any Associations getting together with the owners of private (and so-called private) lakes. It looked as though something would come of this, but interest has subsided. This is too bad, as something could have been worked out, I'm sure. It could be that some of the proprietors were a little rough towards our clubs; this is a fact in a couple of cases I know of. However, one should not judge others on this example. I still think it is a good idea, and one that could help this County in every way.

• • •

A tip I should have passed on. . . Most of the spin-cast reels usually stick, when new, and the user has a rough time getting it all fixed up. The trouble in most cases is that all these reels come complete with lines; these lines are spooled on by machine and under very heavy tension. The result is that a few strands will have been buried under the others, thus causing a real bird's nest. To beat this, take the face of the reels off, push the release button and start to spool the line off without any bail. As you know the bail on the reel is just a needle sticking up through the drum face, thus holding the line so that it can be spooled on. Therefore, if the needle is released the line will run off free; and in this way you can get out the knots. It's worth the time and the little trouble involved.

Barbecue hints for outdoor meals

This means that it is difficult to add any moisture to the meat to help make it more juicy and tender — points out the Meat Packers Council of Canada. Therefore, you should buy the more "naturally tender" cuts of meat to begin with. This is why steaks, spare ribs, hamburgers, and chops are so popular.

Most backyard chefs develop their barbecue skills easily and quickly. Still, one of the biggest problems is how to control fat drippings which fall from the meat as it's being cooked and flare up on the hot charcoals underneath. If the meat tends to be fatty, the cook has to be particularly careful or the whole meal can go up in flames.

Water is the best answer to this problem. A cup of water can be kept nearby and sprinkled with the fingers on the coals any place where flames appear. Even a small water pistol or a plastic squeeze bottle will do a good job and a more accurate one, too!

In the last few years, more and more barbecues are being sold with rotisserie attachments. These have added a whole new dimension to barbecuing by being able to cook whole chickens, roasts of beef, a leg of lamb, a boneless ham (although if you are going to barbecue ham on a rotisserie, it should be fully cooked beforehand so that all you do is add the smoked charcoal flavor by barbecuing).

And how about some bologna-burgers on the rotisserie? Take a four or five-pound bologna; put the spit lengthwise through the centre, and after it's finished you can cut off nice thick slices and put them between hamburger buns. An inexpensive and tasty treat!

Diary of a Vagabond

AGRICULTURAL SCHOOLS' GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY

Perhaps it was because I remembered so well my last summer's trip across the prairies, when it was explained to me that the business of grain growing is no longer considered merely "farming", that I was particularly interested in a report about Alberta's Schools of Agriculture which reached my desk recently. I remember being told that owners of sections, or even less, seldom live on their land any more. They have joined the fraternity of commuters and live in nearby town houses with modern facilities and the comfort of neighborly communication. Gone are the days of long seasons of isolation or holing in for months of winter hibernation.

Few, in days gone by, had cattle to tend. The dedicated dry farmer, then as now, raised only one commodity — grain. Oh, perhaps a few chickens for the home pot. But on the whole, their horizons were limited to fields and fields of grain and their god was, and still is, rain.

Fortunately, one's impressions can be ameliorated. I have learned, because the Alberta Government puts out regularly a publication entitled, "Within Our Borders", that the province's institutions of agricultural learning are this year celebrating their fiftieth year of establishment; that some 16,292 students have attended during that period and that 6,121 have received diplomas.

There is quite a gap here between the attendance figure and the diploma record, so I searched the article for the answer. To quote — "Most of the boys have returned to the home farm, a number of them secured employment as grain buyers, field servicemen, while others after graduation from the University became district agriculturalists or took employment in other phases of the agricultural industry and its related fields. Girls found employment as sales clerks, bank employees, receptionists, hospital employees, and in a variety of commercial firms.

"Generally speaking, girls seek employment for a few years before embarking on a homemaking career. With this in mind, the training at the Schools has been designed to meet both the immediate and long-range needs of the girls. Approximately five per cent of the graduates of the Schools of Agriculture go on to take further training in Agriculture or Home Economics at the University.

"The trend towards fewer and larger farms, the enlarged rural community, the development of centralized public schools, the rapid changing of farming and farm life, and the increase in the number of employment opportunities in agriculture other than in farming, are all factors which point up the need for a broadened and more diversified program for the Schools of Agriculture. To this end, revision of courses is thorough and constant, and more specialization of training is now offered."

My childhood of tiger lillies, prairie crocuses, gophers and howling coyotes, droughts and hail, acres of ripening golden grain one year and utter crop failure the next, are being replaced by this evidence of scientific training, and knowledge that is being gained by the new generation to cope with the business of farming. The fact that the girls attend 'agricultural' schools only to become clerks, bank employees, etc., is all part of the picture. With income tax forms, grain accounts, machinery depreciation and a hundred other details as complicated as any industry encounters, the prairie farm wife today needs this background of business experience.

Soviets buy Canadian cattle

For the past few weeks, six representatives of the Soviet import-export agency Prodintorg have been touring Alberta to select and purchase 520 head of purebred Herefords for breeding purposes back home.

Following examination and certification by the Health of Animals Branch, Canada Department of Agriculture, the cattle will be shipped from Montreal in two lots — the first in July or early August.

The 520 Herefords, with a collective value of about $250,000, constitutes the largest Soviet purchase of Canadian cattle to date. The first — in 1960 — involved 100 head. In 1961 and 1962, the Soviets bought a total of 602 head.

SAYS FEW WORRIED ABOUT 13TH FLOOR

Vancouver (C) — Should there be a 13th floor, and rooms numbered 13, in apartment and business buildings?

No, say Alderman Tom Campbell and Otto Becker, who are building high-rise apartments here. "We went by New York," said Mr. Becker. "Very few buildings there have a 13th floor. There are always some people who are superstitious."

But other large building operators here disregard the superstition. "I don't think it's important," said Frank Bernard of the Georgian Towers motor hotel.

Animal Care

LOOKING AFTER SMALL ANIMALS

Children love small animals, but there must be many parents who regret their initial enthusiasm in allowing mice, hamsters or guinea pigs into the family!

The basic rule with any of these animals is cleanliness. It is a good idea to use a flat metal tray on the floor of the cage. A wooden floor, even with sawdust on it, will absorb some of the animal's smell, and any time the cage smells means that it is not clean. You should, before taking on any of these animals, make sure you have room for their cages. Many cages are too small. Even mice require an area two feet long by a foot wide and about a foot high while hamsters and guinea pigs need something considerably larger.

One of the attractions about these small pets for children is that they can be handled quite easily. However, when they are very young and the children are small, too, it is important to check carefully. Mice, particularly, are quite fragile and can quite easily be injured if they are squeezed too hard. Feeding small animals is not difficult. They will take pellets sold at pet stores, or almost any green stuff.

All these animals breed rapidly, and while one litter can be both educational and entertaining, there should obviously be a limit to the process. Keep the males and females separate from each other, or find other homes for them.

There is a detailed pamphlet on the care of small animals available from the CSPCA. Write for your copy to: CSPCA, 5125 Jean Talon W., Montreal. If you have any special questions about the care of pets, just write to the Society.

A cemetery for dead pets

Goodwood, Ont. (CP) — At the cemetery on Sky Hills farm near this community, 30 miles northeast of Toronto, people come each Sunday to pay tribute to their dead pets.

Since 1949 Toronto veterinarian Dr. Alan Secord has operated the 40-acre cemetery on his farm just for household pets — 1,500 of them. There are headstones and caretaker service.

On an average summer Sunday around 100 people will come from miles around to place flowers on the monuments to the beloved pets.

Dr. Secord says 80 per cent of the animals buried there are dogs; but the others range down to a white rat. He draws the line at horses — they're just too big to handle.

Dr. Secord says one man pays honor to his dead son by visiting the grave of his son's faithful dog. It's just his way of remembering a son who fought overseas and never returned.

To the people in this area, accustomed to the pets' cemetery, it's a sensible project — not as heart-rending as the alternative of disposing of dead pets in the garbage.

HISTORIC BULDING MOVED IN SECTIONS

Montreal (CP) — A four-storey 150-year-old building is to be picked apart piece by piece and placed in storage until a new site can be found for it. The old Hotel de France on St.-Gabriel Street is one of 18 historic buildings marked for preservation at provincial government expense. It is being taken down to make way for the city's new 20-storey courthouse.

Keep farm fences weed-free with application of herbicides

Likely as not, this strip is a source of weed seeds contaminating the field and adjacent roadways. Spring burning temporarily destroys this unwanted growth but it may also destroy a few fence posts.

Application of total-vegetation-control herbicides, such as monuron, in a band one foot on either side of the fence, is the remedy suggested by agronomist W. L. Pringle of the CDA's Research Station at Kamloops, B.C.

Mix the chemical as directed on the label and apply in a drenching spray with garden sprayer or watering can. If broadleaf weeds are involved, add one ounce of 2,4-D to each five gallons of solution to effect a quicker kill.

Cost of such control is less than $1 per 100 feet of fence, and the effect may last as long as four years, depending upon the soil type and local rainfall. This is little enough to pay for reduced weed sources, lowered fire hazard, and removal of rodent cover, and it was found effective at Kamloops, says Mr. Pringle.

Scientists seeking clues to its astonishing prolificity have studied the Canada thistle from the seedling stage in a growth chamber at the federal experimental farm at Scott, Saskatchewan.

After six weeks the plant had developed 10 leaves and 20-inch roots and on the latter buds appeared from which daughter plants sprout. A week later these sprouts had a nine-inch root system of their own. At 14 weeks the original seedlings had matured their own seeds, grown a main root about four feet long and lateral roots with a combined length of 17 feet.

The thistle can be prevented from seeding on pasture, summerfallow and hoed cropland. But the plant's extensive root system protects it from complete eradication even by drastic cultural methods, and from chemical treatments short of complete soil sterilization.

Lieut.-Governor at annual meet of Quebec CNIB

"The structure of the CNIB is unique in its scope in Quebec; in fact, it is the only organization of its type whose services reach every corner of this province, and which extends these services to every blind person, without distinction as to age, race, nationality or creed," said the Hon. Paul Comtois, Lieutenant-Governor of Quebec, as guest speaker at the 33rd annual meeting of Quebec Division, Canadian National Institute for the Blind.

The Superintendent of Quebec Division, W. E. Milton, reported that the addition of 367 new cases of blindness increased CNIB's registration of the blind in Quebec to 6,497, at March 31, 1963. Similarly, by the same date, the addition of 5,075 new cases of prevention of blindness increased the registration in this field to 53,372. Mr. Milton added that through the CNIB prevention service 66 persons, formerly registered as blind, recovered useful vision.

Mr. P. H. Davies, chairman of the Division, made a strong appeal for more concerted support of the CNIB so that the Institute may achieve in Quebec what its other Divisions are achieving elsewhere in Canada.

DEATH

MacRAE — At Copper Cliff, Ont., Saturday, June 22, 1963, Cameron A. MacRae, beloved husband of Florence Cyr of Sudbury, dear father of Lloyd, Brian and Catherine at home, dear son of Mrs. Catherine MacRae, Lachute, in his 46th year. Funeral held from Jackson and Barnard Funeral Home, Sudbury (service in the chapel) Tuesday afternoon; interment in Park Lawn Cemetery, Sudbury.

IN MEMORIAM

JONES — In loving memory of a dear brother, Eddie, who passed away June 28, 1962. — Sadly missed by his sisters and brothers.

"Beautiful memories will never grow old.
Of one we loved and will never forget."

MacTAVISH — In loving memory of our dear little daughter, Shirley Joanne; God called her home on July 2, 1949. — Loved and never forgotten, Mum, Dad, Ronald, Julie and Sherri.

"Heartaches in this world are many,
To lose one Joanne was greater than any;
She was a wee girl we were proud to own —
How much we miss her will never be known."

MacTAVISH — In loving memory of our little granddaughter, Shirley Joanne, who was taken to heaven on July 2, 1949. — Always loved by Grandpa and Grandma MacMillan, and Carl.

"Our little granddaughter, so small and fair,
So good and true, of golden hair,
We loved her so, we miss her dear,
How hard to believe it's been fourteen years.
But beautiful memories live on and on,
When precious ones have lived and gone."

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

BENNETT — The family of the late Mrs. Thos. Bennett wish to thank all those who so kindly remembered them with messages of sympathy, floral tributes and various acts of kindness during their recent sad bereavement.

Wedding Anniversary

This past week, a pleasant event took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. Swail, when relatives and family friends tendered them a surprise party, the occasion being their 20th wedding anniversary. About 45 guests took part in the celebration. Congratulations are tendered to them from all their friends in the community.

Farewell Party and Presentations

Friday evening was the occasion for a farewell party, held in the United Church hall, for the Rev. and Mrs. Alec Lawson, who leave this week to take up their new charge in Saskatchewan. Friends are sorry to say goodbye to a family which has become a part of this community, and wishes are extended for success in their new church. During the evening's entertainment Mr. Homer Cooke presented Mr. and Mrs. Lawson with a purse, from the congregation and some of the Grace Church members, many of whom joined in the occasion.

Mrs. Coral Swail, president of the U.C.W., also presented Mr. and Mrs. Murray with a going-away gift, as they also will be leaving, to take up work in another Bank of Montreal branch, in Quebec City. Their presence, friendliness and good fellowship will also be missed. Friends wish them success in their new environment.

The party closed with the serving of refreshments, under capable leadership of Mrs. S. Swail.

Former citizen of Grenville North died in Lachute

The late Guy E. Lowe

Mr. Guy E. Lowe, well known to the older residents of the Grenville area, died June 21 at the Dairy residence of his nephews, Lowe Bros., in Lachute, after a lengthy illness.

During the latter part of his life Mr. Lowe was engaged in the mining industry, in various capacities. He was the son of the late Martin Lowe, a well known land surveyor in this County, and a much respected citizen.

The late Mr. Lowe is survived by one brother and two sisters — Leo, Mrs. Elizabeth Vrooman and Sister Mary Yvonne, all of Aberdeen, South Dakota.

The remains were laid to rest in the Roman Catholic Cemetery at Grenville Bay.

Late Mrs. Thos. Bennett

Mrs. Thos. Bennett (the former Vida Kennedy) of Calumet, passed away at the home of her son, Roy, in Kilmar June 17 in her 75th year, after being in ill health for the past few months.

A daughter of the late William Kennedy and his wife Elizabeth Gray, she was born in Edina in 1888, and was married to Thos. Bennett in 1908; her husband predeceased her six years ago.

Left to mourn her loss are her five daughters — Mrs. Sterling Laughren (Rhoda), Mrs. Aurele Lanthier (Mona), Mrs. Russell Mack (Alice), all of Grenville, Mrs. Chas. Roy (Lois), of Montreal, and Mrs. James Wilson (Shirley), of Hudson, and six sons — Lyall, of Calumet, Reginald, of Grenville, Vernon, of Niagara Falls, Gerald, of Montreal, Roy, of Kilmar, and Ray at home. She is survived also by 37 grandchildren and 34 great-grandchildren; and of her immediate family there remain two sisters, Mrs. Thos. Tomalty (Ettie), of Edwards, Ont., and Mrs. Robt. Kennedy (Charlotte), of Calgary, Alta.

The body rested at the new funeral home in Grenville, and the funeral was held from the chapel on Thursday, June 20. The Rev. R. McPhee conducted the service. Hymns sung were, "What a Friend We Have in Jesus", "Abide With Me", and a solo by Mrs. Fred Moore, "In the Garden", accompanied by Mrs. Dora MacLeod as organist.

Pall-bearers were her six nephews — Messrs. Irvine and Burton Prophet, Howard Dixon, Lawrence Gauley, Guy Tomalty and Gilbert Campbell.

Interment was in the Calumet Protestant Cemetery. The large gathering, and the many floral tributes, bore testimony of the esteem in which the late Mrs. Bennett was held.

Annual conf'ce held by CWL of St. Jerome diocese

Mrs. Q. J. Gwyn was elected president of the St. Jerome Diocesan Council of the Catholic Women's League, at the 8th annual convention held recently at Holy Family Parish, City of Two Mountains. Vice-presidents for the coming year will be Mrs. R. Summers, of Brownsburg, Mrs. M. McGowan, of Rosemere, and Mrs. Geo. Burlton of Two Mountains. Mrs. N. Robillard, of Brownsburg, and Mrs. K. McMenamon, of Rosemere, are the secretaries, and Mrs. L. Bedard, of Lachute, the treasurer.

There are five parish councils in the diocese, located in Brownsburg, Lachute, Rosemere, St. Colomban and Two Mountains, which reported considerable activity in the spiritual, educational and social action fields. Highlight of the year spiritually is the annual closed retreat held each May at Manoir d'Esterel. Study groups are organized for members, scholarships and school prizes and French conversation lessons made available to the children. Girl Guides are trained to pass the Religion and Life Emblem test and help with the parish nursery for pre-school children during Sunday mass.

Welfare work of all kinds, civic action and parish assistance are high on the list of projects undertaken by all Councils. There was $3,600 spent in the Diocese during the past year on welfare. One of the most rewarding acts, however, was the securing of homes for seven foster children.

A score of members attended the Congress of the Laity, held in Montreal in May under auspices of the Canadian Catholic Conference, and participated three weeks later in a diocesan meeting at Two Mountains with Bishop Frenette to present reports on the Congress. Members in this diocese represented the C.W.L. at the CBC World of Women Conference, the Canadian Centenary Council Meeting in Montreal, and the Canadian Highway Safety Council, Montreal meeting.

The Rev. Leonard J. Crowley, Co-ordinator of English Catholic Activities in the Archdiocese of Montreal, was guest speaker at the convention. Speaking on the theme "Renewal", he urged his audience to renew their lives spiritually, physically, morally — in order to enrich their own lives and the lives of those with whom they come in contact, to realize the C.W.L. motto "For God and Canada" and for the world.

CNIB Auxiliary annual meeting

The annual meeting of the CNIB Women's Auxiliary was held on Tuesday, June 18. The slate of officers was presented, the following being duly appointed:

President, Mrs. Clayton Robinson.

2nd vice-president, Mrs. David Girling.

Secretary, Mrs. F. Barbour.

Treasurer, Mrs. Albert Gauley.

Conveners will be announced at the September meeting.

The Lachute Fair report was given, indicating good sales of handicraft and of tickets for the drawing. The ladies of the Auxiliary wish to thank all interested townfolk for their help.

Retarded children enjoyed picnic at Younkie Farm

Friday, June 21, was the last day of classes before the summer holidays for the girls and boys attending the Retarded Children's School in Lachute. The day started with classes as usual, and at 10.30 a.m. the children climbed into waiting cars with happy faces looking forward to the picnic Mrs. T. Ponech had planned for them to be held at Younkie's Farm. While Mrs. Ponech and her helpers — Mrs. W. Walker, Mrs. M. Wilson and Mrs. L. Hopkins — were getting things in order, the children spent a happy time playing on the swings and slide.

In spite of the showers and cold weather, junior and senior races were run, also a relay race, which added to the fun.

At lunchtime it started to rain, and the grass being too wet, lunch was enjoyed in the playroom; several teachers of Lachute High School visited the scene.

Three of the children then entertained by doing the "twist". The weather cleared, and a game of baseball was played. Then the highlight of the picnic came when a pony and cart came down the road through the trees and the children took turns having a ride. Back in the playroom, prizes for the races were presented, and the children received gifts and ice cream.

In spite of the cold, damp weather, the children spent a happy day. . . Mrs. Ponech and her helpers wish to express their heartfelt thanks to Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Younkie and their son, John, for their kindness, which made the picnic such a success.

Vacation School at People's Church from July 8 to 19

The People's Church will again sponsor a Summer Bible School for the children of the community. The boys and girls are now out of school; some will be very helpful around the house, others will get into mischief, and make a nuisance of themselves. . .

Summer Bible School is a wonderful means of rewarding the helpful, and at the same time, a good way to keep the mischievous out of trouble. They use their surplus energy in a constructive way, and accomplish something worthwhile. This makes them happy, and we find happiness in knowing that we have contributed to their vacation time which has kept them busy and contented. They learn not only great truth from the Bible, but useful things from their handcraft class. They develop a high standard of moral character, and many become happy Christians.

We would, then, invite the parents to send their children to our Daily Vacation Bible School, so that they can work and play in a Christian atmosphere. We would be most happy to welcome the children from three years old, up to the teen-agers. Children under three years do not get much out of our school. They usually are very shy; they become homesick and cry for Mother. So please keep them at home until they are past their third birthday; then we will be glad to enroll them in our School.

The School will start each morning at 9 and continue until 11.30 a.m. The theme of the Summer School this year is, "Travelling God's Highway." The dates for the school are July 8-19.

Any suggestions which parents think would be constructive to the Summer Bible School and make it more helpful in the community, please feel free to make them. (Phone the Rev. Sorley at LO 2-6119.)

(Signed) Rev. C. W. Sorley

Pre-nuptial Shower

Misses Judy Murdoch and Dawn Pitcher were joint hostesses at a miscellaneous shower tendered for Miss Patricia Mitchell prior to her wedding, which takes place on July 6.

Mr. and Mrs. Lionel Gaunt and two children leave this week for their new home in Beloeil, Que., where Mr. Gaunt has been employed latterly with the C-I-L since his transfer from the Brownsburg plant. The good wishes of many friends accompany them in their new surroundings.

Week-end guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Dixon were Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Clinton and daughter, Pamela, of Old Bridge, N.J.; Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Titley and son Albert, and Mr. and Mrs. Merlin Titley, of Harrowsmith, Ont.; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hodgson, of Napanee, Ont.; Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Robillard, Misses Judy Dixon, Pat Phillips and Nora Price, of Verdun, Que.; also Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Fenton and Mrs. Bethel Steele, of Niagara Falls, were Saturday guests at the Dixon home.

Passes Exam in Musical Theory

Miss Ann Gorman, pupil of Miss Juliette Rodrigue, Lic.Mus., has passed her Grade II Theory examination with First Class Honors (91%), with the Royal Conservatory of Music of Toronto.

APPRECIATION

I take this opportunity to thank kind friends for their messages, get-well cards and visits, during my stay in the Royal Victoria Hospital. — Mrs. T. Iddon

To be married July 1

Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Courtien announce the approaching marriage of their daughter, Annette, to Mr. Jean-Claude LeHoux, T.D., son of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice LeHoux, of St.-Alban, County of Portneuf. The ceremony will take place at Ste. Anastasie Parish Church at 11 o'clock a.m. on July 1.

Pretty wedding ceremony in Dalesville Baptist Church

Cooper - Dixon

A very pretty wedding was solemnized on Saturday, June 22, in the Dalesville Baptist Church when Shirley Maye Dixon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Dixon, of Dalesville, was united in marriage to Mr. William Frederick Cooper, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Cooper, of Pte. St. Charles, Que.

The Rev. G. B. Hicks officiated at the double-ring ceremony. Mrs. Roy Jackson, of Brownsburg, played the wedding music. Standards of pink and white peonies arranged with greenery, were used to decorate.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was in a gown of pure silk organza over taffeta with re-embroidered sprays. The gown was fashioned with a fitted bodice having a sabrina neckline, and long sleeves ending in points, and a semi-bell shaped skirt with a foating back panel falling into a chapel-length train. Her short veil of tulle illusion was held by a tiered crown encrusted with seed pearls and crystals. She carried a triangle cascade spray of pink roses with baby's breath.

Attending the bride were her sisters, Miss Judy Dixon as maid of honor, and Mrs. Harvey Vokey as bridesmaid, in gowns of white pure silk organza over yellow taffeta, with sprays of white lily-of-the-valley on the bodice, and having scoop necklines, brief sleeves, and bell-shaped skirts. They wore matching flower headpieces with back veiling, and carried colonial bouquets of yellow and white mums. Miss Debbie Dixon, youngest sister of the bride, acting as flower-girl, was in a dress of yellow organza over taffeta with matching headpiece, and carried a basket of yellow and white mums.

Mr. Robert Cooper, of Verdun, Que., acted as best man for his brother, and the ushers were Mr. Winston Dixon, the bride's brother, and Mr. Harvey Vokey, brother-in-law of the bride.

During the signing of the register, Mrs. Fred Barker sang "The Wedding Prayer" and "I'll Walk Beside You".

Mrs. Dixon, the bride's mother, wore an ensemble of paisley blue brocade with white accessories and a corsage of red roses. Mrs. Cooper, mother of the groom, was dressed in a lime-colored shantung dress with attached stole, white accessories, and a corsage of pink roses.

Out-of-town guests were from Montreal, Harrowsmith, Ont., Napanee, Ont., Old Bridge, N.J., and Detroit, Mich.

The bride is the former Shirley Maye Dixon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Dixon, of Dalesville, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Cooper, of Montreal. The couple will reside in Verdun, Que. — Photo, Syd Drew

— Jehovah's Witnesses —
Let's give praise to Jehovah God the great Creator and fountain of Life, and his son our King, Jesus Christ.
Global paradise now near!
Does that sound odd at a time when atomic war threatens to sear all life from the earth? Not if you know it is God's time to turn earth into a paradise. When Jehovah planted paradise in Eden it was His purpose for it to spread till it clothed the entire earth. A crazed world cannot block His purpose. During this generation Jehovah will prepare the ground for the global garden by plowing under this present wilderness of evil. At Armageddon he will "bring to ruin those ruining the earth." (Rev. 11: 18). The righteous war will sweep wicked men and frightening weapons from the earth and will bring the power of Satan and his demons to nothing. In its wake no menaces, human or demonic, will remain to plague the global paradise, for only its advocates will survive the war that clears the way before it.
In that new world, the elements will not storm against it, and animals will be under man's loving domination. Disease will give way to health, life will supplant death, love will replace fear, and men will not even learn war any more. Past woes will be forgotten, "for the former things are passed away." (Rev. 21:4). An idle dream? No, a divine promise sure of fulfillment.
Convince yourself by reading the book "New Heavens and a New Earth". You may obtain a copy on a 50-cent contribution. Ask any one of Jehovah's Witnesses you may meet, anywhere.

EDITORIAL NOTES...

"In this Parliament are three Estates, the Lords Spiritual, the Lords Temporal and the Commons, but in the Reporters' Gallery yonder sits a Fourth Estate more important far than all."
— Edmund Burke

Canada's national day

IT'S A LONG way back to the first Dominion Day — 96 years now — and there are very few living who remember the scene in 1867.

Over the years the observance of Canada's national day has grown in significance, even as Canada has grown in strength and stature.

The Act of Confederation joined the provinces of Upper and Lower Canada (Ontario and Quebec) with Nova Scotia and New Brunswick. Manitoba entered as a new province in 1870, British Columbia in 1871. Prince Edward Island joined in 1873, Alberta and Saskatchewan in 1905, and Newfoundland — oldest British colony — became the 10th province in 1949.

Thomas D'Arcy McGee, the journalist and politician who died in 1868, lived just long enough to see his dream come true. Stirred by the growing debate about possibility of confederation, he had written a few years earlier: "I see in the not remote distance one great nationality, bound, like the shield of Achilles, by the blue rim of ocean."

It took the Maritime provinces' meeting at Charlottetown in 1864 and the famous Quebec conference later that year to lay the groundwork for confederation. It was not until 1866 that delegates from Upper and Lower Canada, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, meeting with British government representatives in London, could discuss the terms of union. The British North America Act was the result of their deliberations.

As late as 1952 any amendments to the BNA Act had to be passed by the British Parliament. The Canadian Parliament that year passed the first amendment, changing distribution of some federal electoral ridings.

There remain problems between the federal government and the provinces regarding procedure on amendments to the BNA Act.

Sir John A. Macdonald, the first prime minister of the Dominion of Canada, and the other Fathers of Confederation were far-seeing men, but even they could not have visualized the progress made since — to a nation linked end to end by railways and jet planes, with a distinguished reputation in war and peace among the nations of the world.

This year more than 18,000,000 Canadians are celebrating the holiday, also recognized in ceremonies at Canadian embassies and legations around the world. In 1867, there were fewer than 4,000,000.

Cigarettes and cancer

DR. NORMAN C. Delarue, a Toronto chest surgeon, was the most outspoken advocate of a vigorous public campaign against cigarette smoking, at the recent annual meeting of the Canadian Medical Association in Toronto.

The adult who continues smoking cigarettes in the face of medical evidence of its causative association with lung cancer and in the knowledge that he is influencing young people to do likewise is "intellectually deficient and morally derelict," he told his CMA colleagues.

Dr. Delarue's concern and strong language are understood when he explains that he sees some 200 cases of lung cancer every year in his practice and he now believes the disease is reaching epidemic proportions in Canada.

He noted that he has seen cigarette smokers quit cold without apparent discomfort when convinced that the habit is hazardous to health — that is, when the smoker is a victim of lung cancer or when he is a relative or close friend of someone who develops the disease.

However, Dr. Delarue discussed at length the general reluctance of the smoking public to accept the medical evidence and give up cigarettes.

Adults who have ignored the accumulating medical evidence of the last decade may not react much differently to a government-supported campaign of education on the subject.

The doctors seem to think that the chief target of any campaign should be youth, on the ground that "it is easier and more profitable to discourage the habit before its inception than it is to break the habit once it has become established."

The federal minister of health and welfare, Miss Judy LaMarsh, stole some of the CMA's thunder by suggesting just before the doctors met that a national conference of interested parties should discuss the cigarettes-lung cancer problem.

The doctors gave their tacit blessing to this idea but maintained their appeal for a vigorous campaign of education to be waged by governments at the federal, provincial and municipal levels.

Regardless of the outcome of Miss LaMarsh's national conference, the doctors at least have served notice that they will attempt to combat use of the cigarettte if only on a person-to-person level.

Social problem — need for a correct approach

SPARKED BY criticism of a recent article by a well-known Canadian columnist and the flood of girly type magazines, the Canadian Home and School and Parent-Teacher Federation approved a statement on the subject prepared by a special committee, as follows:

"It is important that those who are responsible for guiding the development of youth should be aware of the kind of help young people need in order to cope with the problems of growing up, and also aware of social and cultural influences and their impact upon developing young people.

"Perhaps parents are under obligation to the press for shaking us out of our complacency about what is happening to our young people today.

"Taking this charitable view of the journalist's intentions, it is nevertheless difficult to understand why the situation is presented in such a way that vulnerable and questioning youth is led to believe that the solution to an urgent personal and social problem is to be found in selfish and irresponsible behavior.

"We could wish that members of the press and other mass media might use their art of revealing a problem without intensifying it.

"But to protest the presentation of the abnormal as normal, of evil as good, is no solution to the problem of sex activity among young people.

"Home and School has a very real and challenging responsibility to help its members understand the developmental process during the teen years. These are the years when the drive towards independence, towards a sense of identity, is strong and compelling. If this growth is blocked or distorted, youth may turn for relief to forms of behavior that are damaging to his sense of personal worth. He destroys the self-image he seeks to enhance.

"A cynical and facile response to this problem of youth is a betrayal of their search for truth and meaning in life and an abrogation of our adult responsibilities."

Pass the can opener

LAST YEAR, the average North American consumed 150 cans of food products and 60 cans of beverages; he used 10 cans of oil, 12 cans of pet food and 28 cans of other products.

In all, North Americans today open 80 million cans of food every 24 hours, and on a yearly basis the canning industry in Canada and the United States is producing at the rate of 40 billion cans annually, equal to 800 for each and every home in the two countries.

According to James A. Cameron, sales promotion manager of Continental Can Company, the tin can was born during the Napoleonic era when soldiers died on the battlefields as much from starvation and food poisoning as from enemy bullets. The French Directory offered a 12,000-franc prize to the person who could develop an effective method of food preservation. The winner was Nicholas Appert, a confectionery chef, brewer, pickle maker and vintner of Paris, who suggested in 1810 that food be packed in bottles like wine. An Englishman, Peter Durand, later substituted a cylindrical canister of tin plate for the glass bottle, and the tin can was born.

I LIKE NEGROES

I most heartily endorse the article titled, "Racial Prejudice" by Ambrose Hills in the May 29 issue of The Watchman.

It has always been a puzzle to me how the white people of the South can call themselves Christian and treat the colored folks the way they do. The ancestors of the present negro population are not natives of America. They were brought from Africa as slaves for no other reason than to make money for the greedy and inhuman white man. I can think of no valid reason why a colored man or woman should not enjoy the same privileges as those of other nations.

The negro has no desire to intermarry with whites except in a few isolated cases. He just wants to be left alone to mind his own business and be treated like anybody else.

Over the years I have known many colored folks and find them full of good nature, fun-loving, and generous to a fault. I have entertained colored children during my show-business days and have found them more polite and considerate than white children in the same age group. Educated negroes are equal and in some cases superior to some educated whites. Ignorant whites are just as ignorant as ignorant negroes. And the negroes for the most part are law-abiding. The papers are full of crimes committed by native Canadians, but how often do you read of a colored person in trouble with the law?

Let us make sure that the unfair discrimination practised by the whites in the South (who call themselves Christians) towards the colored race will not spread into Canada. The same Creator who made us white also made the black, yellow and red races. Why should the whites set themselves on a pedestal and claim to be better than anyone else?

Be seein' ya!

THIS TIMELY TRAVEL TIP SAVES WORRY — MONEY, TOO

It can be mighty embarrassing when you run short of ready cash while travelling. Yet no one likes to carry around large sums of cash because there's always the danger of loss or theft.

What's the answer then, on your next vacation or business trip?

More and more people are finding the easiest and safest way to carry funds for travel purposes today is in the form of B of M travellers' cheques. Any bank in Canada and most hotels and stores will cash them readily — because you counter-sign each cheque only when you cash it.

Thus the person cashing it knows right away that you and only you are the rightful owner. This feature makes B of M travellers' cheques useless to everyone except their purchaser. What's more, if your B of M travellers' cheques should be lost, destroyed, or stolen, the bank will replace them.

So before you set off on that next trip, stop at the Lachute branch of the Bank of Montreal and buy as many travellers' cheques as you think you'll need. The service charge is negligible and the peace of mind is wonderful.

Miss Mary Preece, the accountant, or Miss Lulu Miller at the Ayersville branch, will be glad to help you make any other arrangements for your travel financing. If your trip is an extra long one and you need a large sum, travellers' letters of credit are available from the B of M, and if you are going abroad, there are special travellers' cheques available at every branch.

SEX FOR WRITERS

Pierre Berton's column is to be dropped from Maclean's Magazine, presumably because his articles on sex, and his frequent use of that subject which gains him so many readers, have offended more subscribers than Maclean's can afford to alienate.

I hope this is an indication that Maclean's Magazine, once one of the best on the continent, is going to cease its frantic efforts to gain mass circulation through sensationalism.

One must, at the same time, have sympathy for Berton. He knows that to gain a large following, one must write on subjects likely to attract responsive readers. Sex is one of those subjects, particularly if one takes an offbeat attitude towards it. The temptation to use it is very strong. About 90 per cent of the best-selling books place a heavy emphasis upon it. Once an author tastes the drawing power of it, he is tempted to use it often. It seems that the sure road to riches in the writing business or in TV entertaining is to go about saying "Sex, sex, sex." Pierre Berton had other subjects, but it seemed to me that just about every time I happened to read him or tune him in on TV he was plucking the same old string. I don't think Canada is in need of a sex Messiah; most Canadians take that problem in their stride, or get advice from more reliable sources than popular magazine articles or television stars. At least I hope so.

Readers, of course, have some responsibility. Too many demand sensationalism, or at least an offbeat slant on life. Failures like to read that the system is against them. Deviates like to be told the whole world is cockeyed. Misfits enjoy the false idea that they are misfits merely because society is a mess. And as long as there is a vocal army of this sort, there will be writers who will give them what they want, and then some! Meanwhile, readers who enjoy more solid fare are usually less vocal. They seldom write to editors. They read and enjoy and take for granted. Editors forget they exist, and go looking for an audience more likely to respond. But when one of their popular writers goes a shade too far, they piously close him down.

Take time for butterflies!

(Copyright)

— By NANCY CLEAVER —

"The butterfly counts not months but moments and has time enough", wrote the Indian poet, Tagore. There is no more rewarding leisure investment than learning about butterflies. Take time to enjoy and find out about our common butterflies.

The name, Butterfly, has been explained as a Spoonerism, or changed first letters of the term "Flutter-by". Some declare it is from the yellowish shade of some butterflies similar to the color of butter. Butterflies belong to the insect world, to the order Lepidoptera which includes five families of butterflies and seventy-five families of moths.

This long word Lepidoptera means "scale-winged" and the scales are modified hairs with notched edges and ribbed surfaces. A child who picks up a dead butterfly from the ground notices the "dust" which clings to his fingers. This "dust" is made up of these minute scales. Tiny irregularities on the surface combined with color pigment produce the metallic sheen on some wings. A magnifying glass is a great help in seeing more plainly the construction of Nature's wonders.

Insects are the biggest division of the animal kingdom and butterflies are found all over the world, even in the Arctic and Antarctic. The largest and most brilliant ones are in the tropics but every area has an amazing variety. Among the butterflies which every child should know are the Swallowtails, the Red Admirals, the Monarchs, the Mourning Cloaks, the Fritillaries and the Skippers.

If you look closely you will see that butterflies never have more than six legs. They have two antennae, usually two pair of more or less membranous wings. Their head, thorax and abdomen are separate parts. Their mouth has a tube-like organ for sucking nectar from flowers, and for other liquids.

What are the differences between butterflies and moths? Butterflies usually fly by day and moths by night. The antennae serve as both ears and nose. Those of a butterfly have a small knob at the upper end while a moth's usually have a feathery appearance.

When a butterfly alights and is at rest, it raises its wings above its back, brings them together in a vertical position, while the resting moth's wings are as a rule spread out, horizontal, and the rear pair of wings hook onto the front pairs. The butterfly spends its resting stage in a chrysalis with a hard outer surface, the moth in a cocoon it has woven. The body of a moth is much plumper than that of the slender butterfly.

Certain butterflies such as the Monarch migrate long distances the same as birds. Birds have two stages, egg and bird, while butterflies go through four stages: butterfly, egg, caterpillar, dormant stage. The egg is laid beneath a leaf which will be suitable food for the caterpillar when it hatches, or a decaying branch or a hollow on a log. A caterpillar has a tremendous appetite for it must support itself, and also nourish the larva which will be formed in the chrysalis and the grown insect.

Identifying butterflies is a fascinating hobby because the field is so vast. There are over seven thousand butterfly species in North America north of Mexico. It is essential to look intently at a butterfly and notice not only its general size and color but also its shape and distinctive markings.

In order to tell butterflies apart buy your own guide to insects such as the Golden Nature Guide by Herbert S. Zim and Clarence Cottam which has many colored pictures of butterflies, or the more detailed Butterfly Guide by Koltz or the Butterfly Book by W. J. Holland. A librarian can help you locate magazine butterfly articles in back issues of Canadian publications.

LUSCIOUS STRAWBERRIES WITH DUMPLINGS

The strawberry, in its short life, has been the basis for some of the most delicious and attractive desserts invented, from the perennial strawberry shortcake to the latest recipe for Luscious Strawberries with Dumplings.

A hot dessert, it is made from a baking powder batter spooned over and baked atop the warm berries. It tastes best served hot from the oven (leftovers can be reheated in a slow oven) with pouring cream and scoops of ice cream.

Strawberries With Dumplings

(Yield — 5 or 6 servings)

2 Cups prepared fresh strawberries, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, ¼ cup granulated sugar, 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, ¼ cup once-sifted all-purpose flour, or 1 cup once-sifted pastry flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, ¼ teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons granulated sugar, 2½ tablespoons chilled butter or margarine, ¼ cup (about) milk.

Preheat oven to 400 deg. F. (hot).

Wash, hull and halve sufficient fresh strawberries to yield the required 2 cups prepared fruit. Turn into a shallow baking dish about 6 x 10 inches. Sprinkle with lemon juice and the ¼ cup sugar; dot with the 2 tablespoons butter or margarine and mix lightly. Place in preheated oven while preparing the dumplings. Sift the all-purpose or pastry flour, baking powder, salt and the 2 tablespoons granulated sugar together into a bowl. Cut in the 2½ tablespoons chilled butter or margarine finely. Mix in sufficient milk to make a stiff batter. Drop batter by spoonfuls over hot strawberries. Bake until dumplings are cooked and golden — 20 to 25 minutes. Serve warm with pouring cream or ice cream.

Summer and fresh vegetables

(Consumer Section)

Summer is the time for fresh vegetables. The season is all too short so let us enjoy them while we can and try to serve several kinds every day.

Canada's Food Guide recommends that we eat two servings of vegetables, either yellow or green ones besides our daily serving of potatoes. We should also eat raw vegetables as often as possible.

Vegetables are a boon to calorie counters. They are low in calories but provide us with necessary bulk and important vitamins and minerals as well. Some vegetables are very low in calories. For example, average servings of cooked spinach, cabbage, cauliflower or broccoli contain only 20 to 30 calories and beans, beets and carrots only about 40 calories.

Fresh vegetables are easy to prepare and cook but sometimes they may be overcooked and lose flavor and food value. They should be cooked in the least amount of water possible since many of the nutrients will dissolve out in water. This is why we should use the remaining cooking water in soups, sauces and gravies.

The Consumer Section has a booklet "Summer Vegetables", which gives helpful information on the buying and cooking of vegetables. It is available free of charge from — Information Division, Canada Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

Consumer issue to be bilingual

The CAC hopes to publish a completely bilingual journal when its French-speaking membership increases. Until then, French summaries of the tests will be given.

The organization expects to publish its tests for consumers at least six times a year.

In women's field

While women have been reminded, frequently and loudly, of their invasion of traditional male professions, several men have quietly been entering fields once belonging exclusively to women. Male registered nurses in particular are becoming more common. Other fields are primary school teaching, library work and char work.

Working women

Edmonton (CP) — Canada's working women still face discrimination, says Elsie MacGill of Toronto, president of the Canadian Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs.

Some working women are paid lower wages for work comparable to that done by men, receive smaller bonuses and are overlooked when personnel is chosen for special training and promotion, said Miss MacGill.

"Social changes have not kept pace with economic changes. Social changes have lagged so that Canadian customs and laws bind women to the past, and hold them in a straitjacket of outmoded social convention and attitudes."

Of ghosts, religion and politics; a challenge to men of The Gore

"Sunnyacres Sketches"

By Margaret Cook

We have just finished reading an article by a fellow-columnist, who is one of the very few Canadians who have achieved eminence in writing. He, of course, does not know that Margaret Cook exists, much less that she follows his career with interest. With many of his social theories I am at variance but in matters purely esthetic, I agree. . .

He comments in this latest article on the beauty of the countryside during the last week-end of May. He is writing about the area around Knowlton, but it could hardly have been more beautiful than this around Lakefield. The orchard here at Sunnyacres was a thing of beauty. Apple trees in bloom always remind me of veiled brides. There is the same soft radiance, and a similar air of modesty, real or simulated. There is only a suggestion of supporting branches; and the faint pink at the heart of the blossoms is enough to wring your heart. Think about it, and you will grasp the likeness. The wild plum and cherry trees were also in bloom, adding their quota of white to the rapidly increasing green. In the grasses, the blue violets lifted their faces to the sun, and their white cousins were to be found, if one looked. Adder's tongue, or dog-tooth violet, abounded, with ferns just turning from fiddleheads to shepherd's crook, beside them. The skies were high, blue and smiling, and between the loveliness above and that below, the mosquitoes sang a paean of joy. The black-flies, like some quiet people, were more business-like, saying nothing, just going about gorging themselves on any exposed flesh!

* * *

Lest we be too carried away by the beauty around us, we had, as well as the irritant of the winged demons, the drama and sadness of the fatal illness of the only Pope who was respected by all peoples. We are currently reading a book, "The Papal Princes", a history of the College of Cardinals. It inevitably deals with popes, and I have begun to see why some people are so rabid about what they call popery. The successive popes right through until the Council of Trent, 1545, were a rum lot. Drunkenness, adultery, and nepotism were commonplaces among the cardinals, from whom the pope was chosen. One pope had six illegitimate children, before he was elevated, some of them during his priesthood. And they all seemed unable to resist dabbling in politics, not only in Italy but in countries where they had no right to interfere. Indeed, one is forced to believe that the Church was divinely founded or it would have perished centuries ago from bad government. Martin Luther was a neurotic German (and the world is just recovering from the effects of another such in high position), but what he said needed to be said. The trouble was that, in many countries, the baby was thrown out with the bath-water. . . With which vulgar expression we shall leave the subject of religion, with the parting opinion that Pope John XXIII was a breath of fresh, sweet air, to a world rapidly suffocating in its own sin.

* * *

Which brings us to the less exalted air of local politics. I note that at the boundaries of the next municipality there are notices, presumably municipal, saying, "Mille Isles, No Hunting". I see no such around the boundaries of the Gore. Does this mean that the hunters who would normally make life precarious for humans and animals in Mille Isles, will transfer to the Gore? And what is our Council doing about it? I'm Irish, too, and I know well the Irish weakness that says, "Ah, tomorrow will do. And sure, they're not such bad folk, and it's only for one month." All more-or-less true, although the second statement is too sweeping. The hunters are not all good folk; and the vicious few make all suspect. Now is the time to discuss this matter and find some solution that will suit the majority. It is too much to suppose that everyone will be pleased. There was talk of hiring a patrol car for one month; there was other talk of limiting hunting in the Gore to residents, the term "resident" to be set at so many months a year in residence; and how about a law outlawing any hunting within a quarter of a mile of any building? It is all very well to say, "Post your lands," but who's to enforce the regulation? We realize that the farmer must not be deprived of the use of his gun, but this savage, ruthless shooting at anything that moves is unnecessary, cruel, and vicious. It is not even hunting. . .

So get with it, men of the Gore!

For those who look to Margaret Cook for light relief rather than religion or politics, I offer an authentic ghost story. Time: now. Place: one of the posher suburbs of our violent city. The ghost, which has been identified as Irish, is that of an elderly gentleman in a green dressing-gown. He has been seen by different members of the family, sometimes in the dining-room, sometimes on the stairs, and he has been heard playing the organ in the living-room, although the form is never seen at the console. Other auditory effects, are peals of laughter from the nursery during the night. Going in to see what the children are up to, the owners see and hear nothing except sleeping children. The haunt also tries to assist with the domestic chores; thus the lady of the house has now grown accustomed to having the dryer turned on for her when doing the family laundry. The owners are convinced that the ghost is a kindly spirit, although it has been ascertained that a crime was committed in the house many years ago. Inevitably, it is known as the "haunted house", and friends urge the owners to move out, or to try to have the spirit exorcized by a priest. But they will have none of it; they are proud of their ghostly companion.

If readers are interested in this kind of thing, we recommend "Exploring the Supernatural", by R. S. Lambert; publishers, McClelland & Stewart. This is a collection of tales of ghosts, wizardry and witchcraft — all made in Canada!

Finally, the Lachute Fair, which we have just revisited after a lapse of two years. It was a good fair, as always, and we were charmed by the young miss with long, red hair who performed so efficiently in several classes involving horsemanship. But, like everybody else, we went really to see the Musical Ride by the RCMP. It was a lovely sight. One to put away in one's hall of memory, and bring out to relive when life gets grim. This particular body of men has been getting poor publicity lately; cries of "police-ridden state" and "Gestapo" have been heard. From what I can gather from the press reports on the goings on in the Coroner's Court, maybe the RCMP should be allowed to interview students of the University of Montreal. If it came to a choice, wouldn't you rather have a police-state than one ruled by half-baked terrorists? Neither is desirable, but I vote for the former.

— Ooops, the space is gone.

Danger in re-using plastic laundry bags

Today's housewives are often to be praised for their ingenuity in balancing the household budget, but there is one area where the National Safety League is against economizing. That is in the re-use of the thin filmy plastic that comes into the house protecting dry-cleaned garments.

The very thin variety of plastic was designed for one purpose alone — to protect garments and other commodities until they reach the home, after which it should be tied in tight knots and discarded. With its clinging property caused by static electricity, it leads easily to suffocation.

It was never meant to cover a baby's crib mattress or pillow, or be re-used as a diaper bag in baby's carriage. There are heavy-gauge plastic sheets and laundry bags manufactured especially for these purposes, very inexpensive to buy and not worth pinching pennies over.

Yet, every year in Canada a number of babies suffocate because their parents actually place the thin plastic in their cribs or carriages as a substitute for a proper mattress cover. The peak period for these deaths is starting now, as the weather gets warmer.

New Comfort and Convenience with Water on Tap

Water, at the turn of a tap, in kitchen, bathroom and barn brings a new way of life to the whole family. The installation of a running water system ends forever the labour and inconvenience of "pump and carry". Let us show you how you can have a pumping system and all the modern household conveniences it makes possible.

We will be glad to discuss costs, without obligation, and advise you on the best types of equipment. Give us a call

Desabrais - Young

A double-ring wedding was solemnized in the Knox Wesley United Church, Grenville, Que., at 2.30 p.m. on Saturday, June 15, when Joan Ethel Dorothy Young, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Young, of Kilmar, became the bride of Mr. Rosario Desabrais, son of Mr. and Mrs. Omer Desabrais, of Grenville.

The Rev. Wilson Bridge, of Lachute, performed the ceremony. Mrs. Thomas Fox, of Kilmar, played the wedding music and Mrs. Fred Moore was the soloist.

The bride — in a floor-length gown of white lace over satin and a coronet of flowers with shoulder-length veil — was given in marriage by her father. She carried a bouquet of Talisman roses and lily-of-the-valley.

Mrs. Ronald Crooks, sister of the groom, was matron of honor. She wore a street-length dress of yellow chiffon over satin and a coronet of matching flowers and veil.

The bridesmaids were Misses Joyce and Barbara Young, sisters of the bride. They wore similar street-length dresses of blue and pink chiffon over satin, with coronets of matching flowers and veils. All three attendants carried nosegays of mixed flowers.

Mr. Ronald Crooks was best man, and the ushers were James Provencal and Alan Young, cousin and nephew of the bride, respectively.

The wedding supper and reception was held in the Kilmar Community Hall. The gathering was entertained, periodically throughout the evening, with Scottish renditions on the bagpipes by Alan Young.

Ackman - Roberts

The marriage of Valerie Elizabeth, daughter of Mrs. Leila Roberts, of St. Andrews East, and of Mr. J. D. Roberts, of Chicago, Ill., to Mrs. George Roger Stanley Ackman, son of Dr. and Mrs. F. Douglas Ackman, of Westmount, took place June 15 at two o'clock in St. Andrew's United Church, Westmount, the Rev. D. M. Grant, D.D., officiating. Mr. Gordon White played the wedding music, and Mr. John Grant sang during the signing of the register. Mixed white flowers arranged with greenery were used to decorate the church.

The bride, given away by her brother-in-law, Mr. W. C. Wallace, was in a gown of poult-de-soie fashioned with a fitted bodice having a deep sabrina neckline appliqued with Irish lace embroidered with seed pearls and sleeves ending in points over the hands, and a skirt with a panel down one side appliqued with matching lace and pleats from the side to back falling into a slight train. Her veil of tulle illusion which extended to the end of her train was held by a circular headdress embroidered with seed pearls, and she carried a bouquet of yellow and Orange Delight roses.

Mrs. W. C. Wallace, of Toronto, as matron of honor for her sister, and Miss Cornelia Ackman, sister of the bridegroom, as bridesmaid, were in sheath frocks of sable cream poult-de-soie having printed chiffon in shades of sable cream, bitter sweet and green draped around the neckline and forming panels at the back. They wore bows of matching poult-de-soie with tulle veiling, and carried bouquets of Orange Delight roses.

Dr. Douglas Ackman, Jr., acted as best man for his brother, and the ushers were Mr. Peter Rudderham, Mr. Ross Adair and Mr. Douglas Pryde.

Mrs. Roberts, the bride's mother, was in a sheath gown of sea green poult-de-soie having a draped bodice with two large floating panels, one of moss green and the other sea green poult-de-soie, and she wore a matching hat.
