Four arrests, charges laid in thefts and armed hold-up

Four Ontario residents were arrested Friday, a few hours following an armed hold-up at White Acres (in the Kilmar area) in which the proprietor, Arthur White, was the victim of a nervous intruder holding a 12-gauge shotgun. Mr. White was treated for a severe gunshot wound in his left arm, as well as pellet wounds about the head.

According to Cpl. Maurice Dinelle, officer in charge of the local Q.P.P. detachment, the incident commenced around 11.20 p.m. Thursday, when the Lachance Sporting Goods establishment in Grenville was entered, and four firearms reported stolen, along with ammunition. A short time later, Brown's Restaurant, Kilmar, was entered, and an attempted robbery resulted in little loot other than a quantity of cigarettes.

At 1.10 a.m. Friday, Mr. White was accosted while checking his day's receipts, three armed men entering his establishment and demanding money. He refused to turn over the money to them, and one of the men fired the shotgun at point-blank range. The would-be robbers left the establishment immediately, not taking time to grab the money.

Quick investigation and follow-up of information received, resulted in a Hawkesbury policeman spotting the car with four young men in question headed towards Cornwall. The license number of the car was checked and four Q.P.P. officers from Lachute journeyed to Cornwall There, accompanied by a municipal policeman, they arrested three men, who were duly brought back to Lachute. Later in the day, a fourth man was arrested in Galt, Ont., and he was turned over to Q.P.P. on Tuesday of this week. Charges of three robberies, all breaking and entering with theft, and a charge of attempted murder, were laid.

One member of the gang was connected with this area, and Cpl. Dinelle stated that the suspects had been questioned on both the Heatlie and the Cottingham robberies. Cpl. Dinelle also expressed his sincere appreciation for the co-operation received from both Hawkesbury and Cornwall police departments.

Girls arrested in camp robberies

Two young Montreal girls, aged 13 and 14 years, were arrested last week in connection with some ten robberies in the Farmer's Lake area. Charges will be laid today, and police are on the look-out for two negroes who were believed to have accompanied the girls.

To date, over $1,000 worth of merchandise, mainly electrical appliances, has been recovered and identified. Both girls had escaped from the St. Bruno detention home.

Recent activities of Women's Inst.

The W.I. handicraft exhibits included 101 entries at the recent Lachute Spring Fair. A special display of home-made hooked and braided rugs created much interest. How to make these rugs was demonstrated by three W.I. members — Mrs. N. E. Smillie, Mrs. Arthur MacAllister and Mrs. Sydney Berry. It is hoped next year to have a similar display of quilts or other handicraft work.

Sixty-four members from Argenteuil County attended the Q.W.I. annual convention at Macdonald College on Wednesday, June 26, to hear Mrs. Van Beekhoff speak on A.C.W.W. work in the many countries she had visited.

Three members from this County had been asked to model dresses made during a sewing course given by Mrs. Wells. These were the County president, Mrs. Charles Stephens, Mrs. John Hadley and Mrs. Keith Warwick. The Canadian Celanese Co. had sponsored the fashion show, and had given the materials for the dresses. Several other counties were represented, and many very pretty and practical outfits were shown.

Year reviewed, annual meeting of Centre d'Art

At the annual meeting of the Centre d'Art d'Argenteuil, held last week, Dr. Marc Papineau was re-appointed president, with Mme Paul Laliberté as vice-president, and three directors named — Mme Marcel Roy, Messrs. Marcel Gionet and Marcel Décary. Raymond Beaulieu and Mme Beaulieu remain as secretary and treasurer, respectively, and M. and Mme Jean Laforest managers.

In his address as president, Dr. Papineau thanked those who had promoted the drawing and sale of season tickets for theatrical programs in the past year (the former to finance removal of quarters to McArthur's Hall); those who had served as attendants at the exhibitions, under chairmanship of Mme Jacques Beaudoin; and the radio and local newspapers for publicity on events at the Centre. Highlights of the year's presentations were the televised skits by Mme Armande Lebrun's young dramatic pupils; the oral French course for adults by Mme J.-L. Audet; and the exhibitions of work by junior and adult art students.

M. and Mme Laforest also reviewed the past year and outlined plans for the next season.

Mme Therese Beaulieu presented the financial statement which showed the year's accomplishments made possible only by the provincial and municipal grants and by continued sacrifices of the directress, Mme Armande Lebrun, to whom the Centre is now considerably indebted for her services. The voluntary work of directors, in various administrative and practical ways, had made possible to the public a season of all-round cultural benefit.

Two promoters press claims for broadcasting permit here

In an interview with The Watchman this week, Donald Attfield claimed his company had a better proposition for a local radio station than that outlined by Jean Lalonde, proprietor of CKJL, for submission to the Board of Broadcast Governors.

(Mr. Lalonde addressed the Chamber of Commerce here recently, stating that his plan had advantages over the Attfield Bros. proposal.)

A major point of difference is that Mr. Lalonde, seeking franchise for a studio and transmitter in Lachute, has no interest in the coverage of Hawkesbury area.

On the other hand Donald Attfield (who was refused on the first hearing of the BBG) seeks to establish a studio between Lachute and Hawkesbury with a transmission tower south of both centres. Mr. Attfield is entering another application, and Mr. Lalonde's petition will also be submitted to the Broadcast Governors in August. Mr. Attfield informed The Watchman his station "Voice of the Two Provinces" with a frequency of 1150 kilocycles would be equipped to broadcast both day and night.

Mr. Attfield states he will protest the installation in Lachute of a "satellite" to the St. Jerome station. . . Mr. Lalonde, in his recent speech here, was equally vociferous in his opposition to the Attfield proposal. (With the support of a number of business and social organizations subscribed to his plans, Mr. Lalonde stated at that time he would be in a position to broadcast during both day and night hours.)

Mr. Attfield's "Voice of the Two Provinces" is extending its capacity to be effective in Glengarry, Russell and Stormont Counties in Ontario, and to Vaudreuil, Soulanges, Deux-Montagnes and Papineau in Quebec — as well as the "home" counties of Argenteuil and Prescott. The spokesman stated the BBG's three objections on his first application had been surmounted. The frequency would permit day and night broadcast. The proposed tower would direct transmission northward.

(It is to be noted that the Minister of Transport refused a permit to "Radio Prestige" of Ottawa, seeking to use the 1150 frequency proposed by the Attfield Bros.)

Annual picnic for blind people next Tuesday

The annual picnic for the sightless people of Argenteuil, sponsored by the CNIB, will be held on Tuesday, July 9, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Brownsburg Rotary Park.

Every blind person is welcome to attend this picnic, and they may bring a guide. The refreshments will be provided and served by the Women's Auxiliary of the CNIB.

One new feature this year will be a merry-go-round ride for the youngsters. This is being provided through the courtesy of Weston Bakeries Limited. Any child who happens to be at the Park on the day of the picnic for the blind, can also enjoy a ride on the merry-go-round.

According to weather prediction by Tony Zaplaski, it will again be a fine day. However, in case of rain, the picnic will be held at the Canadian Legion Hall in Lachute. For further particulars please call the CNIB Office, LO 2-2686.

Employees feted on retirement

A retirement party of office staff employees at Boyd's Express Limited paid tribute to two long-time employees, in the persons of Walker Scott, 33 years service, and Claude St. Jacques, who has been in the company's employ for more than 20 years, the last nine of which have been on a full-time basis.

The gathering was held at La Lorraine Motel, and presentations were made to the retiring employees in recognition of their long service.

Two Quebec parties vociferous in criticizing Fed'l Liberal measures

"QUEBEC THIS WEEK" by GERRY McNEIL

Quebec City — Any Ottawa politician who wants to get away from the summer heat might think about coming to Quebec City. He'd get a cool reception here!

The Quebec Legislature turned a granite visage towards Ottawa last week. The Liberal Government in the federal capital might just as well have been any other party, for all the consideration it got from Liberals here.

The Assembly unanimously adopted a Union Nationale motion that condemned the proposed Federal Municipal Loan Fund as "a grave blow to the competence and autonomy of Quebec in matters of municipal institutions."

Premier Lesage severely criticized the extension of the 11-percent federal sales tax to building materials, a criticism that is being echoed by municipalities and construction groups across the province.

"When we are trying to multiply the schools in the province, they come along with this 11-percent tax," the Premier said angrily. It would cost municipalities, school boards and Hydro-Quebec more than $5,000,000, he said.

Opposition Leader Daniel Johnson said of the Municipal Loan Fund: "If this is the cost of a stable government, I say it is too expensive. . ."

Premier Lesage has asked Ottawa to delay action on the bill until Municipal Affairs ministers can study it at Halifax next month.

When Yves Gabias (UN - Trois-Rivières) recalled that Premier Lesage had asked Quebecers to vote Liberal federally, the Premier replied: "I believe that, despite everything, we are still better off with the government we now have than with the unstable Diefenbaker government, which had to be kicked out at any price."

Meanwhile, Resources Minister René Levèsque got on the telephone at one point to tell Ottawa it might as well forget about a conference to discuss federal withdrawal from Northern Quebec, unless it was ready to discuss firm measures.

The conference was held, however, with Arthur Laing, Northern Affairs minister, and Guy Favreau, Minister of Citizenship and Immigration. It was followed by a clipped statement that bore the Levesque mark:

"We have told civil servants of the two governments to explore immediately the co-ordination of the administration by Quebec of New Quebec with the present administration of Eskimos in this territory by the government of Canada. These civil servants will report to their government within two weeks."

Industries sponsor Prescott-Argent'l scholarship

The Hawkesbury Section of the Chemical Institute of Canada announces that the Prescott-Argenteuil Industrial Scholarship will again be awarded this year. The scholarship is intended to promote interest in science among young residents of the counties of Prescott and Argenteuil, and to assist a student of outstanding ability to continue his education at the university level.

The scholarship has a value of $500, and has been made possible by contributions from the following industrial firms located in the two counties: Canadian Refractories Limited, Kilmar; Canadian Safety Fuse Limited, Brownsburg; J. C. Wilson Ltd., Lachute; Industrial Cellulose Research Ltd., Hawkesbury; and Norda Limited, Vankleek Hill.

Application forms and copies of the scholarship regulations may be obtained from the Scholarship Chairman, J. H. E. Herbst, Box 322, L'Orignal, Ont.

The name of the winner will be announced early in Stepember.

Wentworth North expects contests for four seats

The mayoralty and three council seats will be up for nominations next Wednesday, July 10, in the Municipality of Wentworth North. Reaching the expiry of their term are Mayor Ulric Charland; Councillors Walter Ferguson (Laurel), Dieudonné Richer (St. Michel), and Julien Lapointe (Montfort).

Four other citizens are expected to enter for election to the vacant seats — Sylvio Deslauriers for the mayoral office, Georges Rochon for the Laurel seat, Lionel Rose for St. Michel, and André Constantineau for Montfort.

Voting day is July 15.

Lachute youngster on TV program

It was the thrill of a lifetime for young Philip Desjardins, Wilson Street resident, to appear last Thursday on Magic Tom's "Surprise Party" (Channel 12). Philip was one of 10 winners from 6 to 16 years in a drawing contest, taking the prize for the 11-year age group. The prize, incidentally, is a very acceptable treat — two weeks in a boys' camp at Nominingue.

Philip's younger brother, Robert, aged 9, was also lucky recently, winning a contest held by CCM of Weston, Ont., for which he received a handsome CCM bicycle.

The boys are sons of Mr. and Mrs. Raynald Desjardins (the former Mae Gordon).

(Comments on the Local Scene)

The engineers' estimates were high on this one: $1,200 for Lachute to lay a water-main for the hospital ($3,800 for Ayersville) . . . The actual cost to Lachute was $914.34, including 100 feet of new pipe, two connections and a valve, and labor, supplied by the town crew — a saving of $285 to the taxpayers. . . Work on the Ayersville installation is proceeding.

The Chamber of Commerce has resumed its policy of organizing industrial visits. On Wednesday of last week members made a tour of the Rolland Paper Mill at St. Jerome; and on Wednesday of this week a visit was planned to the Miron Bros. breeding stables and laboratories, on the Montreal highway. Maurice Lussier, president of the C. of C., is prime organizer of these tours.

In a brochure of the Rouge Valley Association, a map of the region shows a community labeled Revington. . . It strikes us, this is one organization which could well concern itself with the preservation of place names, whether French or English. The correct designation in this case is Rivington.

There is room for differentiation between "short" shorts and the Bermuda variety. The heat wave of the past week has brought forth all types, despite a town by-law to curb the wearing of "shorts" in public places. . . Maybe it's just too hot to raise a fuss about it.

For the past two years Army defence headquarters at St. Jerome have been maintained in case of a nuclear attack, to collaborate with the Montreal centre of operations. It now appears that an Army subsidiary information and intelligence base will be set up, also at St. Jerome.

Concerning Lachute's move to raise water rates to St. Jerusalem on termination of the present contract, October 31 — The Watchman erroneously stated last week that the present charge is on basis of valuation. Actually, however, the charge is levied per outlet, which averages about $30 per consumer; and the total payment to Lachute this year will approach $4,000.

"ARGENTEUIL OUTDOORS"

By BOB ATCHISON

An editorial in The Montreal Star last week on the pollution and detergent problems, gives the impression that this is going to be resolved one way or another. (I say "one way or another" because the Government has no effective committee at present studying this.) Procter & Gamble were kind enough to send me a full-page story which appeared in Toronto Globe and Mail. From this it would appear there is still a lot we must know before anything can be done effectively. Naturally the manufacturers do not agree with everything printed, but they do concur with a good part of it. And I think the biggest objective is finding better ways of making detergents, so as to cut down their killing properties. Of course, we will have to pay for this in the long run, but I don't think I am alone in this thought — it will be well worth any price to have our lakes and streams clear of this chemical problem. In the Star editorial they blamed detergents for disappearance of the whitefish and resultant loss to commercial fishermen. This is in Lake Ontario and Lake Erie. . . You may remember I wrote about these fishermen when I was on Main Duck Island a few years ago. I then stated it was largely the fishermen's fault that this situation had been allowed to develop. Thinking more of immediate gains than of the future of their business, they just about cleaned everything out they could. I also stated that within five years they would be complaining about the lack of fish in these lakes if they didn't watch out. For once I can say, I told them so.

The manufacturers naturally smooth over any blame laid against their products, in some cases trying to switch the responsibility to other causes. And believe it or not, there never has been any official denial to these charges. I don't deny there are other causes, of which you will read more later on, but to my way of thinking, manufactured soaps are the principal source of damage. It certainly appears that education is the logical answer to all this; nothing beneficial will ever come of beefing and writing. Until we have real facts, claims and counter-claims all tend to confuse us more. This is a job for official research.

Now for the other causes I mentioned above. . . It is easy to blame detergents for all our grief; but dwell for a moment on this personal experience. . . A stream I favor during the summers for trout, was visited the other week-end. I was surprised, and I might say disturbed, at the condition of this stream. It was light chocolate-brown in color, not the heavy brown that comes from rains. Walking this stream trying to fish, with no results, made me just that much more disgusted. . . But this is the pay-off: After about a mile, the water was as clean as it ever was before. This brown color could be seen seeping out of a small creek into the larger one. Following this up, it became apparent that this creek passed alongside some cleared land. Seemingly a spray had been used to kill weeds, with the result that seepage from this chemical had flowed into the creek, due to heavy rains. . . Just from this one incident one may conclude that even our sprays and bug killers can do much harm.

I am not trying to exonerate detergents by any means; to the contrary — I know, and have seen, just what they can do. I remember in Labrador we ran our wash-water from the lodge into the lake. After a very short time, black scum could be seen clinging to rocks for about a distance of 25 feet. With no current to speak of in this part of the lake, it would not have taken long before this part was ruined for fish-life. Naturally it was corrected; but I have often wondered just what damage a city does to its water through this alone. At present there is no sewage-disposal unit capable of taking care of this.

To speak of more cheerful things — all types of fishing have been good, right from the perch to the trout. In a number of cases I have seen catches never seen by me in this area before. I do not refer particularly to quantity, but rather quality. It has been common for fishermen to take 2 or 3-pound trout without too much trouble. The bass have been exceptionally good, heavy and in prime condition, due to the water still being cool. The largest reported to date, taken from Lake Sir John on a small spinner with a clump of worms trailing behind; 4½ pounds is a nice fish, and it showed no discernible trace of disease, such as black-spot — probably due to the water still being cool; and also, possibly, the shortage of loons. I think these have a lot to do with diseases in a lake — not forgetting the kingfisher, either.

A number of articles on the new set-up of our Fish and Game Department, appear to have gone overboard on just how it will be. I sincerely hope we will have something in later years, thanks to this activity — but stop and think a little. You will remember this was a party pledge some four years ago; the only thing is, it was supposed to happen THEN, not at this late date. Anything for the betterment of wildlife protection in this province is naturally going to be hailed with joy; but I guess in this matter I'm just cynical, as far as our governments are concerned. We writers can remember all kinds of guff poured out by politicians, and extravagant promises of great deeds to be done. But the promises always far exceed the action.

A small black bear is wandering in the Lakefield area these days. From the description, it appears to be a yearling that has been chased away by its mother before her cubs were born. Bears usually stay with their young until another set of cubs comes along, then they are chased out to fend for themselves. According to one report, a youngster and his dad were able to watch this animal for some time. From all accounts they were seen by the bear, but as they did not attempt to get too close, the bear did not pay too much attention. The second report tells of this animal sitting by the side of the road, for all the world like a hitchhiker (incidentally, there was no pick-up on this occasion). I only hope some trigger-happy individual doesn't get it into his head that this is a very dangerous, man-eating animal, and go out to save all humanity by clobbering it. Lynx may also be seen in various parts, on the roads, lawns, etc. These animals are very serious, and no doubt are wondering just what "hellery" man has hatched up for them this time. . . If you are lucky enough to see any of these animals, please don't shoot them. In all probability they will have kits along; and even though these will be half-grown by now, they still need the protection of the parent animals. So give them a break.

Some of the local boys have been out "varmint" shooting, for crows and in a couple of cases, woodchucks. As regards woodchucks, from all accounts the Kilmar area has some wonderful shooting. By the way, in this type of shooting, be very careful of the background. Rocks will make your bullets very dangerous. A clean kill is a must with these animals, as they seem to be able to squirm to their holes even though badly hit. . . Incidentally, they make excellent eating, so don't waste them.

This might be of interest to our wardens: Some of the supposed [illegible] back of Lakefield are being used by fish hogs. Limits are [illegible] and seemingly licenses are to be scoffed at. [illegible] seem to be stopping some of the cars going into this area [illegible] on board.

From quill to computer

A dramatic 146-year contrast between the Bank of Montreal's first system of handling accounts and its new "Genie" system is shown in this photograph. Here, Miss Marion Ryan compares the B of M's first ledger dated 1817 with the computer which forms the heart of the bank's new "Genie" centre — the first fully-integrated automatic banking system in Canada. The new system goes into operation this week. Making full use of electronic speeds, Canada's first data processing banking operation of such scope combines cheque clearing and ledger posting for many of the B of M's Montreal area branches. The centre is the forerunner of a number of similar "Genie" operations scheduled for development by the B of M across Canada in the future.

HUB OF TRAVEL INFORMATION

What effect do world fairs have on travel facilities? Roland de Grosbois, Manager, Canadian Travel Bureau, told me in his balcony office which looks out on Fifth Avenue, New York City, that the Seattle World's Fair was a bonanza for promoting Canada. "We could actually revel in the number of inquiries about Canadian railways and the Trans-Canada Highway we received. Many of the thousands of American tourists from the Eastern States who visited the Fair, took advantage of touring through Canada on at least one leg of their journey last summer", he said.

Roland de Grosbois is a Canadian who was educated in Ottawa and who has a particular facility for projecting his natural charm to promote his country. The offices of the Canadian Government Travel Bureau in Canada House have proved a mecca for those seeking Canadian travel information. The files of colorful brochures from every province in the Dominion are stacked on shelves that reach from floor to ceiling in the library of this modern office. Enlarged colored glass slides artistically lit, picturing Canada from coast to coast, embellish one wall while on the opposite wall is a cleverly raised map of Canada.

Roland de Grosbois predicted the World's Fair in Montreal would prove another magnet for travel northwards across the International Border. "Then there will be the New York World's Fair, which should work just as spectacularly with western United States residents who will undoubtedly route their passage through Canada to come to the American fair", he commented.

While our travel-wise Canadian representative in New York City expressed this enthusiasm for the drawing power of world fairs, he did not exhaust his detailing of the service his office renders on this subject. In fact, though the Canadian Travel Bureau is just an information centre, members of the staff do a thorough job of directing inquiries through appropriate travel channels and agents, providing every type of information on locale, accommodation, road, rail and air facilities covering every nook and cranny of the ten provinces.

Roland de Grosbois has only one regret. He said Jasper, Banff, Vancouver, Victoria, the Maritime Provinces, the vacation lands of Ontario and Quebec and the quaintness of Quebec City, sell themselves. But the Prairie Provinces, aside from the Calgary Stampede, must still develop tourist attractions to draw travel conscious spenders across the provinces that have been called the bread basket of the world.

When I mentioned the drawing power of the CN Churchill tour from Winnipeg north to Hudson's Bay he smiled knowingly. "Ah, but then there are more requests every year for reservations than space. We need a dozen more like it."

Prairies Becoming Tourist Conscious

I reminded him of the effort the Drumheller Chamber of Commerce is making to develop the Dinosaur Fields and Bad Lands in Alberta as a tourist attraction. Someone in the group I was conversing with instantly remarked, "The vastness of our country is at one time both a blessing and a curse. A blessing because of its resources and a curse because of the great distances one must travel to reach the northern fishing and hunting spots, or those parts of Canada that wrote the historical events of several rebellions and can boast the world's greatest accumulation of natural resources".

Distance was not what de Grosbois meant, I feel sure. When travellers make up their minds about a destination it is not distance that influences them, but the attractions they can expect for the dollars they spend.

LOW-RENTAL HOMES HAVE MANY SEEKERS

Vancouver (CP) — The Vancouver Housing Association which provides low-rental accommodation, has a 700-name waiting list, mostly of elderly citizens.

"The lack of this kind of housing for old people is Vancouver's most serious housing problem today," says P.R.U. Stratton, treasurer of the association which aims at improving housing conditions in Greater Vancouver.

It carries out its work on a $4,500 budget, of which $3,960 is provided by the Community Chest. This covers salaries of two part-time office workers and basic expenses. All the association's officers are volunteer workers.

"Housing conditions have improved in the last few years, because of the good rate of building and a slow increase in population," said Mr. Stratton. "But it is still the old people who cause the most problems." Some of them have been on the list since 1958.

The trouble is that accommodations are scarce at prices old people can afford. In the low-rental authority projects, they can get accommodation for about $25 a month.

"We have battled for years to get all three levels of government to build projects specifically for old people," he said. "One on the books now has been stalled for three years. We're still trying to get it moving."

New college for veterinarians, to fill shortage

Ottawa — To help overcome a national shortage of veterinarians, the federal government has announced financial assistance towards the capital costs of establishing a College of Veterinary Medicine in Western Canada.

Agriculture Minister Harry Hays told the House of Commons that, subject to Parliamentary approval, Ottawa would contribute 25 per cent of the cost, to a maximum of $625,000.

He said decision as to the province in which the College will be located, is a matter of arrangement between the western provinces and universities.

There are only two veterinary colleges in Canada today — at Guelph, Ont., and St. Hyacinthe, Que. Together they graduate about 80 veterinarians each year. This, officials say, is 25 less than current requirements and the gap is expected to widen in the future.

Both veterinary colleges in Canada are operating at capacity and the Ontario Veterinary College alone last year had to refuse applications from approximately 100 new students.

Moreover, the 426 veterinarians now serving Western Canada are 170 short of the number required to properly service the livestock industry.

Also feeling the pinch is the federal Health of Animals Branch. At present, 50 of its total veterinary positions are vacant.

Canadian Quiz

1. Where was Canada's first law court established?

2. In how many of the last ten years has the federal government incurred a deficit?

3. Who was the first Canadian to win the V.C., and in what year?

4. Of Canada's $3.151 billion farm cash income in 1962, a record high, what proportion went to the Prairie Provinces?

5. Of the 74,586 immigrants to Canada in 1962, did women and children total 15,000, or 37,000, or 51,000.

ANSWERS: 5. Over 51,000 were women and children. 3. Lt. A. R. Dunn of Toronto won the medal in the charge of the Light Brigade at Balaclava in 1856, the year the order was instituted. 1. At Trinity, in Newfoundland, in 1615. 4. About 47 per cent went to the three western provinces. 2. The federal government has spent more than it has taken in, in eight of the last 10 years.

Recent wedding at Avoca of wide interest

— Photo Eddy

Avoca — Standards of gladioli and Shasta daisies adorned St. Andrew's United Church at Avoca on Saturday, June 8, for the marriage of Marjory Ann Vaillancourt, second daughter of Mrs. John MacLean, to Lance George Dixon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Dixon, of Verdun, Que.

The Rev. William Toller officiated, assisted by the Rev. Kenneth Brown. Mrs. George Bennett played the Wedding March and the Rev. Arthur Voth sang "The Lord's Prayer" during the signing of the rigister.

Given in marriage by her stepfather, Mr. John MacLean, the bride wore a white floor-length gown of silk organza with Chantilly lace medallions detailing the full skirt. The bodice was fashioned with a low scalloped neckline encrusted with seed pearls and iridescent sequins. The long sleeves extended in points over the hands. Her four-tiered veil of tulle illusion was held in place by a crown of pearls and sequins. She carried a cascade bouquet of yellow roses and stephanotis.

The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. Robert Dobbie, as matron of honor, and the bridesmaids were Mrs. Jacques Laflamme, Miss Nancy Vaillancourt and Miss Marilyn Grace. Little Ann Williams, niece of the groom, was flower girl.

The attendants wore blue nylon lace dresses with long sleeves extending in points over the hands, and bell shaped skirts. Their headpieces were white pillbox hats with nylon net veils. They carried blue lace parasols trimmed with Shasta daisies.

Mr. Melvin Appelbee was best man, and the ushers were Messrs. Ronald Waugh, Robert Dobbie and Dicky Dixon.

Mrs. MacLean, the bride's mother, wore a Kayman gown of navy pure silk jersey with white accessories and pink Sweetheart roses. Mrs. Dixon, mother of the bridegroom, was in a sheath gown of royal blue printed silk and matching accessories, with pink carnations.

The reception was held in Harrington Intermediate School, where gladioli and Shasta daisies were used in decorating. For travelling, the bride chose a white and navy linen suit and she wore a navy and white pixie hat, navy accessories and pink carnations. The couple will reside in Cornwallis, Nova Scotia.

Guests from a distance included Mr. John and Winston McHardy, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Ball and Maureen, Mr. and Mrs. Donna Currie, Mrs. Leslie Lloyd and Ronald, Mrs. Frances Picktell, Miss Nancy MacLeod, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Williams and family, Miss Beatrice Millar, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Campbell, of Montreal; Mr. and Mrs. Allan MacLeod, Mr. and Mrs. V. Logan, of Ottawa; Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth MacLean, of Port Colborne; Mrs. Alex Bates, of Niagara Falls, Ont.

HELL, A PLACE OF REST IN HOPE

"Let God be found true, though every man be found a liar."
Romans 3: Verses 3-4

Egyptian and Buddhist priests taught hell-fire centuries before Christendom's religions did. The pagan philosophers Plato and Socrates taught a purgatory theory. But the Bible teaches neither one. To be tormented one must be conscious. The dead are unconscious, unable to suffer. "Hell" in the Bible means the common grave of mankind. Of those in hell the Douay Bible says ".... the dead know nothing more," and advises the living: "Whatsoever thy hand is able to do, do it earnestly: for neither work, nor reason, nor wisdom, nor knowledge, shall be in hell, whither thou art hastening." — Eccl. 9: 5, 10.

This hell or grave is not eternal, but is to be destroyed when "there shall be no more death." So the Bible says: "Death and hell were cast into the lake of fire." If hell is the lake of fire, as many say, how is it cast into itself? Actually, the lake of fire is only a symbol of destruction, and is itself called "the second death," meaning final death with no chance of restoration. (Rev. 21: 4; 20: 14). So hell is not hot, but is the cold grave, and will end when in the new world men will live forever. As for purgatory, the Bible never even mentions it!

The doctrine of a burning hell where the wicked are tortured eternally after death cannot be true, mainly for four reasons: (1) Because it is wholly unscriptural; (2) because it is unreasonable; (3) because it is contrary to God's love; and (4) because it is repugnant to justice. From this it is clearly seen that hell or sheol or hades means the grave, the tomb, the condition where all, good and bad, go awaiting the day of resurrection.

Ask any one of Jehovah's Witnesses you may happen to meet for the little booklet, "Hope for the Dead" (price 10 cents).

Entertained Prior to Marriage In Florida

Major and Mrs. Howard Watson entertained the wedding party at dinner Friday evening, June 28, at the Carriage House, Cocoa Beach, Florida, prior to the marriage of their son, F/L John Watson, to Lieut. Shirley Sineath, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sineath, of Sanford, North Carolina.

Lieut. Sineath is a graduate of Highsmith Memorial Hospital, Fayetteville, North Carolina. After receiving her commission in the Air Force, she was graduated from Flight Nurse Training School of Aviation Medicine, San Antonio, Texas. She is presently a medical and surgical nurse at Patrick Airforce Base Hospital. Before joining the hospital staff, she had been a nurse with project Mercury, in charge of the medical equipment for the 12 rescue stations of the astronaut program at Cape Canaveral for two years.

Flight Lieut. John Watson graduated from Lachute High School and joined the RCAF, and was stationed in Cold Lake, Alberta, for some years, then later specialized with the "Look-out" Detachment in missile detection. He spent a year on Ascension Island with the RCAF, and after returning to CARDY at Quebec, he accompanied the detachment to Patrick Airforce Base, Florida, where he has been stationed for three years.

Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Bates, of Toronto, visited the former's father, Mr. D. J. Bates, last week-end. Mrs. MacCullough was also a visitor.

25th Wedding Celebrated

At their summer home on the North River just east of Lachute, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hoffman were tendered a surprise party by old friends and neighbors last Sunday to celebrate their 25th wedding anniversary. They were the recipients of numerous gifts and warm congratulations. Among the 35-odd well-wishers were Mayor and Mrs. Dave Campbell; also good friends from out of town, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Cleary, of Montreal, and Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Regimbal, from Annapolis, Md.

Terminates Ministry

There was a crowded congregation on a hot day — last Sunday morning at Lachute United Church — when the Rev. Wilson Bridge preached his farewell sermon and officially terminated his ministry here. Holy Communion was celebrated on this occasion. . . The Rev. Mr. Bridge will substitute for a fellow minister, the Rev. Jas. Armour, next Sunday at a joint service with the Presbyterians, to be held in the United Church. (The Rev. Mr. Armour suffered a scalded face in a recent mishap at a summer cottage, and is under doctor's orders.)

First American-Canadian wedding at Airforce base, Cape Canaveral

Watson - Sineath

Patrick Airforce Base, Florida — The first American - Canadian wedding to be held in the chapel at the Patrick Airforce Base took place Saturday, June 29, at 2.30 p.m. with the marriage of Lieut. Shirley Marie Sineath, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sineath, of Sanford, N. Carolina, U.S.A., to Flight Lieut. John Edwin Watson, son of Major and Mrs. Howard Watson, of Lachute, Que., Capt. H. Baus, Chaplain, officiating.

The bride, given away by her father, was in a gown of white poult-de-soie with a fitted bodice under an Alençon lace jacket with long sleeves and bouffant skirt appliqued with matching lace inserts. Her shoulder-length veil of tulle illusion was held with a jewelled circlet, and her only ornaments were heart-shaped pearl earrings.

Miss Elaine Brohn, as the maid of honor, and Miss Jacqueline Zdon, as bridesmaid, were in frocks of blue aqua poult-de-soie sheaths fashioned with bouffant overskirts. Their petal-shaped hats were open-crowned, with small veils in sunlit yellow. They carried bouquets of orchids and white and yellow carnations.

Flight-Lieut. Gordon Brown, RCAF, acted as best man for Flight-Lieut. John Watson, and the ushers were F/L Brian Hope, RCAF, Major Herman Bladergroen, USAF, and Mr. Joseph Kozuskos, RCA electronics engineer.

Mrs. Sineath, the bride's mother, was in a gown of soft blue lace with matching hat, with a corsage bouquet of orchids. Mrs. Watson wore a gown of embroidered rose and moss green mouseling over pink taffeta, a flowered hat, and an orchid corsage.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Officers' Club, where the ceiling-to-floor permanent photographs of nine famous missiles formed the background, and arrangements of carnations and chrysanthemums were used as decorations.

Out of town guests were — Lieut.-Col. Charles Watts and Col. E. W. Brannon, Lackland Airforce Base, Texas; Group Capt. R. Knowles, and Wing Cmdr. Paul Hartman, Ottawa; Sqdn. Leader K. F. Lowe, Flight Lieut. Ross Buskard, Flying Officer John Blair, North Bay, Ont.; Dr. Cameron Cumming and Sqdn. Leader Donald East, CARDY, Quebec; Mr. Howard Cottingham, of Nassau, B.W.I.; Dr. and Mrs. Grant Duffin of Windsor, Ont.; and Major and Mrs. Howard Watson, of Lachute.

The toast to the bride was proposed by Colonel H. Dittman, Commander of Patrick Air Force Base.

Bible School for Harrington district

A Vacation Bible School will be held this year in the Harrington Intermediate School, under the leadership of Miss Leachman, the Rev. A. Voth, and the Rev. Wm. Toller, with some local teenagers as helpers. A very good attendance has already enrolled.

The theme for the school will be "Christ is King". Supervised activities and games are also planned.

Summer school at People's Church opens July 6

At last the time has come — the time the children have been waiting for — Summer Bible School time. On Monday morning at 9, July 8, the 1963 school will start at the People's Church, Lachute.

A very fine group of Christian workers have dedicated their time and talents to the school, and almost every department is in charge of a school teacher or a college graduate.

The theme of the school this year is "Travelling God's Highway", and the following is an excerpt from the Director's Guide Book: —

Travelling God's Highway. . ."

Travel is exhilarating! From the baby who loves to "go bye-bye" to the oldster who prefers travel via television, the lure of travelling entices everyone. But earthbound travel — no matter how exciting — cannot compare with the thrill of travelling on God's Highway. For this is equivalent to leaving behind our own selfish way and going ahead by way of God's "Crossroad" to His Highway, having as our Guide the Lord Jesus Himself.

It's an exciting journey and one not without peril. But our Saviour-Guide knows the way, and He stays with us — strengthening our faith, bolstering our courage, and inspiring us to "press toward the mark."

Thus, travelling on God's Highway is a thrilling theme for our 1963 series of six courses for all ages. This year —

Nursery tots love and please Jesus, Beginners sense God's love and care, Primaries learn about and make Bible boats, Juniors walk and talk as Christians, Young teens hear and heed Christ's challenges, Young People and Adults choose their study course.

Public interest in the forests

CO-OPERATION in achieving a realistic and balanced use of our forest resources for industrial development as well as for recreational and esthetic purposes, was the theme of a recent address given by E. B. Hinman, president of Canadian International Paper Company. Having stated the case for profitable operations in the forest in the public interest, Mr. Hinman went on to elaborate his company's attitude regarding public access into the forest for recreational purposes and the use of company-built roads.

"Logging operations have made much of our forest accessible, freeing large tracts of wilderness for the other uses man can make of the forest. We are quite happy that this is so. The roads we have built, the tremendous increase in motor car ownership, more leisure and the increasing mobility of our people, have developed pressures for recreational use of the forest."

Mr. Hinman said that his company had given this problem a great deal of thought, and developed a policy and guidelines to implement it. C.I.P. supports the principle of using the forest domain for all of the purposes it can serve, consistent with sound management — management for forest products, watershed protection, fish and wildlife development, and for recreation.

The factors to be taken into account are public safety, the safety of woodsworkers and the protection of the forest itself, mainly against fire.

The time has come (Mr. Hinman stated) when forest managers and government authorities must get together to work out sensible overall plans, to agree on sound controls and on realistic regulations for the sake of orderly development of recreational values. There are rules which people should conform to in the forest — to prevent forest fires, to prevent damage, to sustain fish and wildlife. Rules of good housekeeping that are just as essential in the forest as they are in homes and communities. . . "This", said Mr. Hinman, "will need government and public understanding. It will need co-operation. I know we can count on widespread goodwill".

— The Rouge Valley Association in this vicinity is a practical example of company and public promotion. There is much evidence, too, of good will; but again, much evidence of apathy and lawbreaking. And as regards government initiative (as our columnist Bob Atchison consistently maintains) there is verbal optimism, but still much room for action in overall countryside conservation.

Sees return of family doctor

CANADA IS beginning to experience one big result of the fantastic explosion in medical knowledge. After a strong swing to medical specialization, the medical profession is beginning to see that it must integrate its knowledge to achieve maximum patient benefit — this is the opinion and observation of Carlyl Dunbar, in a Financial Post report on medicine and health. The profession is also beginning to return to the idea that the family doctor, with his close relationship to family groups, is best suited to man the front lines of medical practice. For both these reasons, the medical profession is re-examining the position of the general practitioner (states the writer).

An upsurge in postgraduate education among family doctors is helping them keep step with changes, and enabling them to diagnose the more complex ailments. The patient he cannot treat, he can refer to a specialist. Thus the general practitioner acts as a screen, sending only the complex medical cases to the specialists and treating most patients himself. Physicians also believe that the best medicine is continuing personal care. The family doctor is the only one able, and habitually suited, to do this. In this position, he's available for emergencies. He can keep a continuing watch on a family's health, and so be more likely to apprehend disease in early stages. He is a promoter of good health habits.

It mounts up to a complex task, a job heavily dependent on a physician's own personality and status in a community. The task of merely becoming familiar with the overwhelming mass of medical knowledge is daunting; the problem of keeping up with developments while working a 50-60 hour week, is challenging. Consider the nature of the problem: In the medical sciences, the volume of new knowledge acquired during the last 20 years has been as great as that in any field of science, not excluding nuclear physics or rocket engineering.

So now we know

COMMENDATIONS and criticisms from time to time provide a hit-and-miss guide to the average reader's tastes. Now we have to thank a Montana editor who, presumably on the result of a questionnaire, comes up with this specific list of preferences — what the average weekly newspaper subscriber wants to see and read:

—My name.

—A front page article showing how crooked the government is most of the time.

—My wife's name.

—A feature article showing 25 ways on how to cheat income tax forms.

—My kids' names.

—A local news item about the affair my neighbor is having.

—A classified offering of a new home for sale for $4,000.00.

—More news about law-breakers.

—Less news about law-breakers. I was picked up last night and I should not have to pay a fine.

—An editorial condemning high school teachers for being too liberal with "F's."

—A wedding picture of the groom instead of the bride when he is more handsome than she is pretty.

—A sports picture of me when I bowled 183.

—More advertisements on things merchants are giving away.

—A front page spread about the deadbeat who lives across the street from me who just had his car repossessed.

—Forget the last one. I just got word from the finance company that they're coming after my car.

—More letters to the editor naming the crooks we have in town.

—A full page of local news, a page of national news, several pages of sports and comics, one page on divorces, and three pages on all the domestic troubles we are having in town.

—Less stuff about how cute everybody else's kids are. My kids are better looking than those you rave about.

—A complete biographical sketch about the "most important citizen in town," and be sure you spell my name right.

It's the law . . .

"THERE OUGHT to be a law against it," an irate citizen was heard to say the other day. Against what, we know not. But whatever it was, the odds are better than even that there already is "a law affecting the point at issue".

The trouble is, of course, that there are so many laws that none of us, lawyers included, can be expected to have knowledge of them all. Or, for that matter, of even a fraction of them.

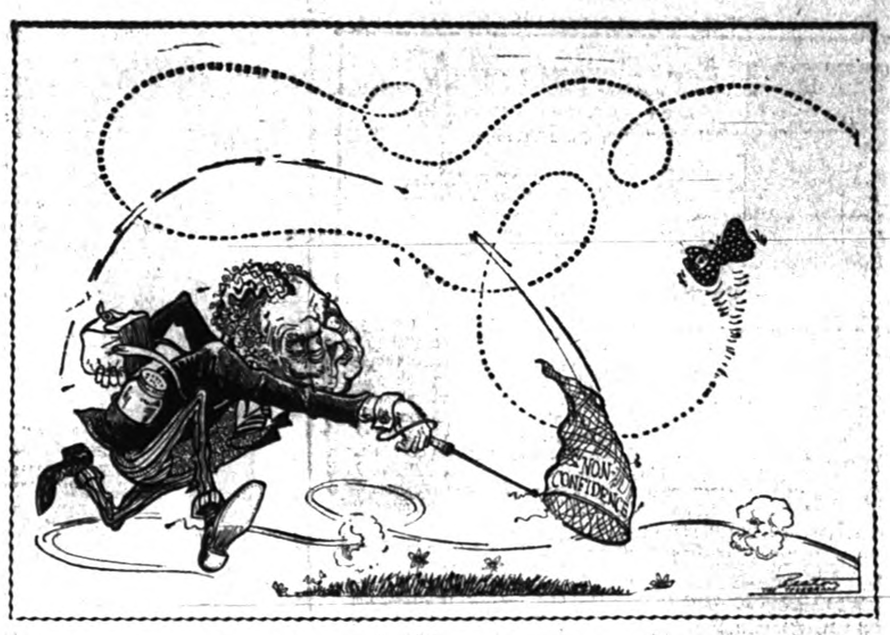

In the United States, for instance, we are told that there are some two million laws in force. If a man could fsmiliarize himself with as many as ten a day, it would still take him something like 6,000 years to qualify as a law-abiding citizen.

We would be surprised if the Canadian total was not in proportion. Ignorance of the law may not rate as a valid excuse, but it is certainly a wholly understandable condition.

Maybe what we really need is not more laws, but fewer laws.

QUEBEC CAUSE TO SUFFER?

There is a persistent rumor that Donald Gordon, of the CNR, is to go. When I heard the rumor first, I did not for a minute believe it. It seemed to me that perhaps a few in the ranks of the new government were scrabbling about for quick and easy answers to the big problem of Quebec discontent; that this move occurred to them, but that it would get no further. Mr. Pearson is not that shallow.

Would the dismissal of Mr. Gordon in favor of a staunch Liberal from Quebec satisfy those who have from time to time hung Mr. Gordon in effigy? I doubt it. The real requirements of Quebec go much deeper. Such an act could do great harm to the eventual fulfilment of those goals.

What effect would it have on the rest of Canada? Undoubtedly it would make Donald Gordon an English-speaking martyr — a role in which he would be most uncomfortable. The last thing in the world that intelligent Quebecers want right now is a group of martyrs created for the non-French population. The bombings have already created a few.

Quebec has a case. Discontent among the French-speaking Canadians is justified. Part of their problem was self-created. Most of them know it. All they ask now is that the situation be allowed correction by creating, and speedily, an atmosphere in which a French-speaking citizen gets opportunities for an even break with his fellow-citizen who speaks English. To fire competent heads of Crown Corporations and replace them because they happen to be English speaking, is scarcely a proper solution. This would lead to bitter discontent on the part of the English speaking, and rightly so.

The fact that this rumor continues to circulate among newspapermen is sad. The government should squelch it firmly and quickly in the interest of sound solutions to the serious problem of Quebec discontent.

Over the Years

THE LACHUTE WATCHMAN

75 YEARS AGO

Friday, June 28, 1888 —

At a meeting of the waterworks committee, Messrs. Barron and Lafleur were appointed to view the land to be appropriated, Messrs. MacKimmie and Mitchell to interview the owners of the present waterworks, and Mr. Riddell to interview the owner of the source.

On Sunday evenings when services in the Victoria Hall are concluded, it appears part of a weekly obligation for our young men to stand in two lines at either side of the steps and gaze on those who are compelled to run the gauntlet — likely waiting to see their sisters (?) home.

Mr. Wilson is not waiting for the town waterworks. Mr. Perry, representing Buchanan & Co., of Montreal, was here to measure for a first-class fire service and several large pumps to be installed at the paper mill.

Mr. T. Stuart has commenced work on a large three-storey building, between Rodrigue's Hotel and Meikle's Store, which will be one of the finest structures in the centre ward.

Bellevue House, St. Andrews, under the proprietorship of Mr. Delorme, is in first-class order for the service and comfort of guests.

50 YEARS AGO

Friday, July 4, 1913 —

At a pretty house wedding in Chatboro June 25, Alice Lillian O'Brien was united in marriage to Mr. Edw. Gauley, of Grenville. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. H. McConnell, of Lachute. The bride looked pretty and girlish in a gown of cream satin.

In England, the burning of a large, modern church in New Cross, a London borough, was attributed to suffragettes.

The three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Belanger, Jr., died from the effects of swallowing some fly poison.

Program at the Albert Hall (performance Thursdays and Saturdays, admission 15c) — "In the Service of the State", "For the Honor of the Family", "A Prisoner of the Harem", "A Day at the Circus" and "Their Plumber".

Rivington — Mr. Harry Warren, of Montreal, has been spending a few days as the guest of Mrs. Jas. Arnold.

Grenville — Miss Melissa Morrow, who has been a missionary in India for the past seven years, is now home on furlough.

The Good Templars held an enjoyable picnic July 1st at Carillon.

25 YEARS AGO

Thursday, June 30, 1938 —

Dr. Benjamin N. Wales, one of the oldest medical practitioners in Canada, who graduated from McGill in 1874, died June 26 at St. Andrews. He was coroner of this district for 25 years, and prime organizer of the Argenteuil Historical Society, of which he was the first president.

The Women's Institute flower committee is again organized to collect and ship flowers to less-privileged families in Montreal.

The removal of the eight per cent sales tax on building supplies will be greeted in all sections of the country.

Lachute Lions Club will hold supervised swimming for boys 10-16 years, at White's Bridge.

A film of the Louis-Schmeling heavyweight bout (of brief duration but decisive) will be shown here at the Rex Theatre.

Mrs. W. F. McMartin was speaker at Lachute Women's Institute, under the presidency of Mrs. G. Leggett. A report on the catering at Lachute Fair was given by Mrs. G. G. Mitchell and a report of delegates to Macdonald College given by Mrs. W. C. LeCras.

PRE-NATAL BUDGETING CUTS BABY'S FISCAL IMPACT

It's a happy home when a new baby is on the way, and the parents-to-be are happier than ever when the extra costs involved are taken care of.

Don Hay, manager of the Lachute branch of the Bank of Montreal, suggests that many Canadian couples about to have their first child often don't realize just how costly parenthood can be. Medical bills for Mom, the baby's layette, the furnishings for his room, and baby food are all expensive items.

That's why Mr. Hay suggests it's a sound idea to plan ahead financially for your Great Expectations. Why not plan a B of M Stork Savings Account? Simply work out an estimate of the costs involved, divide the amount you'll need to save by the number of months remaining and deposit that amount in your B of M Stork Savings Account regularly each month.

Your local B of M has a useful folder on the subject, titled "Paying for your new baby". Why not drop in and pick up a copy, or, if you wish, phone Mr. Hay (or Miss Lulu Miller at the Ayersville branch) who will be glad to mail you one on request. (Advt.)

Animal Care

PETS IN HOT WEATHER

Hot weather that usually comes with summer can be very trying for pets. People can wear light clothing, eat different foods, and when the heat gets really bad, cool off in a swimming pool. But pets cannot do any of these things for themselves. We should help them to keep cool, but, unfortunately, each year many animals are subjected to unnecessary suffering because of human thoughtlessness.

There are some very simple rules to remember about looking after animals in hot weather. Obviously they should never be kept in the sun. If you want the dog to be outside the house, tied, make sure he has a chance to move around with the shade. Don't put him in the basement, because this will probably be damp, and dogs are just as likely to develop arthritic problems as are humans.

Animals will be more thirsty in the summer, and water should always be available. Don't give your pet ice-cold water, and make sure it is changed at least three times a day.

When taking your pet in the car to the country, remember that travelling may upset him. It may get very hot inside a car and, if your pet begins to pant heavily, stop for a while and let him out into the open to get some fresh air and exercise. Cats usually travel better in special cat baskets.

Animals should never be carried in the trunk of the car. Apart from the terrifying conditions, they can be suffocated either by heat or die of poisonous fumes.

CAPITAL AND LABOR

"I wish I were a millionaire", said Patrick Q. McGee.
"There's no one in the whole wide world who's quite so poor as me.
I labor with my brother Mike,
each day with pick and shovel.
I've got a wife and seven kids.
My home is just a hovel."

"I envy those two husky guys," said Millionaire O'Rourke.
"I watch their rippling muscles when I see them at their work.
Although I am a millionaire,
I'd give up half my wealth
If I could do the jobs they do — they have such perfect health."

"I wish I were that millionaire," said Michael P. McGee,
"I wish my brother Pat and I were half as rich as he.
We have to rise at dawn each day, and when the evening comes
I eat and then flop into bed, in my hovel in the slums."

"I've two directors' meetings and a conference today," Said Millionaire O'Rourke, "I'm sick. My hair is turning grey.
My stomach ulcers bother me,
my appetite is flat.
I'd give the world if I could be like those guys, Mike and Pat."

"We'd like to be like that O'Rourke," said Pat and Mike to me.
"If we had half his money, sure, how happy we would be."
"If you were like him," I replied,
"You'd be a sorry sight.
It's in the morning papers, see?
He hanged himself last night!"

Be seein' ya!

Lobster Newburg, a creamy delight

Lobster Newburg is a famous seafood dish said to have originated in New York around the turn of the century. According to one legend, it was created at Delmonico's restaurant by a shipping magnate named Wenburg, and was called "a la Wenburg" in his honor by the proprietor.

In no time at all the dish became popular with the customers. However, one day Mr. Wenburg and Mr. Delmonico had a falling out and the latter made the dish anonymous on his bill of fare by reversing the first three letters of his former friend's name. Ever since the dish has been known as Lobster Newburg.

By any name, Lobster Newburg is a delight. It consists of succulent lobster meat in a creamy, sherry-flavored sauce enriched and thickened with egg yolks. It may be served over toast points, in toast cups, or in patty shells.

Lobster Newburg

2 Cups cooked lobster meat (or 2 cans lobster, 5 ounces each), ¼ cup butter or margarine, 2 tablespoons flour, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon paprika, 2 cups light cream, 2 egg yolks (beaten), 2 tablespoons sherry, toast points or patty shells.

Drain lobster meat well and cut into ½-inch pieces. Melt butter and blend in flour and seasonings. Add cream gradually and cook until thick and smooth, stirring constantly. Stir a little of the hot sauce into egg yolks; add mixture to remaining sauce, stirring constantly. Add lobster meat. Heat gently for several minutes below simmering temperature. Remove from heat and stir in sherry. Serve immediately on toast points or in patty shells. Makes 6 servings.

For Parents Only...

A Weekly Feature of Helpful Hints on Child Training.

Teach your child to swim

— By NANCY CLEAVER —

Skill in swimming is essential for summer fun for children and adults. There are far too many drownings every vacation. Parents miss a wonderful opportunity if they do not start their children swimming at an early age.

If an individual can keep himself on the surface of the water if he is suddenly hurled into it, it is very likely that his life will be saved. As a parent you are responsible for the safety of your child. Teach him to swim at an early age — and by "swim" we mean able to float, dog paddle and tread water without panic or exhaustion.

A child should always wade out into deeper water and swim towards a parent whose arms are stretched out to him. When he can swim, have him practise swimming parallel to the shore with a "buddy" or partner swimming beside him. Drill him in other water safety rules.

Once a child conquers his fear of the water his progress in learning to swim is certain. Encourage your child to play beside the water, building sand castles and occasionally making little trips into the water to wade. Encourage him to walk in water a little deeper, just above his knees, then suggest he try to lie on his back right on the sandy bottom, and stay there. To the child's surprize, his body floats up to the surface.

Take your child, lying in the water on his back, for "a sleigh ride". Do this by standing directly behind the child, placing one arm on each side of his head and cupping your hands gently but firmly under his chin. Promise you will not let his face under the water. Walk slowly backward and the child's legs naturally float up from the bottom. Once your child becomes accustomed to this position, and has faith that you will not "duck" him, you will be able to release your hands. Then your child will be floating all by himself.

Next play a game of "Being a Jelly Fish", in water three or four feet deep. The child takes a deep breath, closes his eyes and ducks down to grab his ankles with his hands. Again he promptly floats up to the surface.

The "sleigh ride on your tummy" or front float is accomplished by the child lying with his face in the water and being towed by his hands. Before trying this out, have your child practise putting his face in the water, holding his breath, and opening his eyes under water. When he can do this for a short time, direct him to put his face under water then turn his head sideways and breathe in through his mouth and out through his nose.

The transitions from floating and then to dog paddling may be fairly quick. A child's delight when he can swim (dog paddle) is a joy to see! On his own initiative have him lie in the water, hold onto the dock, and practise kicking to increase his endurance and forward motion power.

Explain that treading water is just like sitting on a bike in the water, dog paddling with hands and pumping up and down on the imaginary pedals of the bike. A child will master this useful art in a short time.

In teaching your child to swim use generous quantities of praise. Keep the teaching periods brief and on cool days be careful no one gets a chill. You will be proud when your child says, "My Dad and Mum taught me to swim!"

The customary male objection to women entering realms once belonging exclusively to men will no longer find support from a faculty at one Canadian University.

The engineering faculty at McGill University in Montreal is changing its image in hopes of attracting more women to its courses.

In the past, engineers have looked upon themselves as "men in high boots, checked shirts, tramping around in the mud" — hardly an image with which women would like to identify, says the assistant dean of the faculty, Professor G. W. Joly.

"The new image of an engineer is someone who sits down and dreams things up — then brings them into existence."

"There is nothing in this new image which is peculiar to men and nothing for which a woman has a built-in handicap."

The professor says the faculty was not merely tolerating women. "We want them." Last year at McGill, only seven of 948 engineering students were women.

He says this is an opportune time for women to enter the field of engineering. And the girls most suited to modern engineering are those with "savoir faire in science but who want to get things done."

Group Exercise

The value of keeping physically fit has been discovered by 22 women in a small Manitoba farming community.

As a result of their own fitness program — meeting every Monday night to do the exercises of the RCAF's 10BX plan for women — most of them have lost weight and are feeling better generally.

Mrs. Lois Rutherford, a farmer's wife and mother of five, organized the program after taking a 10-week YMCA fitness course in Winnipeg last winter.

She said the women in the group are expected to do the push-ups, knee-bends, sit-ups, toe-touching and running on the spot each day at home, not just at the meetings.

And more conscientious members of the little group will continue their exercises when regular meetings are suspended during the summer.

DISTRICT NEWS

FROM OUR COUNTY CORRESPONDENTS

Cushing

Mrs. George Drew, of Verdun, spent Wednesday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Canning.

Miss E. M. Graham spent Tuesday and Wednesday in Montreal.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Druce and little daughter, Shelly, of Calumet, spent Thursday evening at the home of Mr. A. T. Graham.

Sincere sympathy is extended to Mrs. Robt. Robinson in the sudden passing of her aunt, Mrs. Maud LeRoy of Grenville, whose funeral was held on Tuesday of this week — the remains being taken to Arundel for interment.

60th Anniversary

The sincere congratulations of this community are extended to Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Canning, who are celebrating their 60th wedding anniversary this Saturday, July 6.

Golden Wedding

Many of the Cushing residents, including Mrs. A. Graham and family, enjoyed the "At Home" to friends, given Saturday afternoon and evening by Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Gauley of Chatboro. The event was a real reunion of friends, who had known this worthy couple all through the years.

Mrs. L. R. McGain is in residence at "Tynwald" for the summer months. Her granddaughter, Maureen Hollingworth, is her guest at present.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Weir, of Ste. Anne de Bellevue, enjoyed their Cushing residence this past week-end, having their son, Mr. John Weir, Mrs. Weir and little daughter, with them for the week-end. They also paid Miss Alice Davidson a brief visit.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Bailey, and daughter Kama, visited friends at Devil's Lake, in the Brockville vicinity, last Sunday. They were accompanied by Mrs. R. T. Holmes, also by the Misses Florence Holmes and Elaine Rhind, of Montreal, who were their guests for the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bryerton and family, of Rosemere, occupied their Cushing home over the week-end.

Mr. Gerald Cushing and daughter, Sherry, spent the long week-end at their Cushing residence.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Innes accompanied Mr. John Innes to Cushing on Saturday, June 29, visiting Mr. and Mrs. W. Canning, Mrs. L. M. Gaston and other friends.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Crickman, of Washington, D.C., and Mrs. John Innes, and Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Emmett, of Montreal, were guests of Mrs. L. M. Gaston over the week-end.

STARTED YOUNG

Edmonton (CP) — John Marston Lymer, of Edmonton, is the youngest man to be honored by his company for 50 years service. That's because the Canadian Pacific Railway no longer starts its men at 12 — the age Mr. Lymer began work.

Brownsburg

Mr. and Mrs. George Hunter, also Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Hunter, of Montreal, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gagné, of St. John's, N'fld., were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Omer Gagné.

Former Teacher Bereaved

Friends of Mrs. Charles Montgomery here extend deepest sympathy in her bereavement. Mrs. Montgomery was the former Ailsa Woodwark, and taught for a number of years in the high school here; Mr. Montgomery, of St. Eustache, passed away suddenly last week. Among others who attended the funeral service were Mr. and Mrs. Cedric Wheeler, Mrs. James Hazel, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Creswell and Mrs. George Creswell.

Mr. and Mrs. Bryant Prosser and family, of Baie Comeau, are spending a holiday with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Prosser. Mrs. Dean Prosser, of Longueuil, was also a week-end guest.

The Rev. and Mrs. E. G. McNutt, of Peterborough, were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Tomalty.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Stevenson and children, Brian and Gary, of Montreal, are spending this week with Mr. and Mrs. Omer Gagné.

Attended Q.W.I. Convention

The annual convention of the Quebec Women's Institutes was held at Macdonald College last week. A busload of W.I. members from this County had the privilege of attending the Wednesday sessions, when Mrs. Van Beekhoff, World President of ACWW, was the guest speaker and told of many experiences she had in different parts of the world, where she met with the women and attended conferences. Mrs. Van Beekhoff is a charming and warm-hearted woman, and much loved by all who know her.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Smillie, from the Town of Mount Royal, were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Smillie.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Todd and family were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Todd.

Mrs. George Connelly and Mrs. Dale MacAdam are attending the Cuisenaire workshop at Lennoxville High School this week.

Mr. Andrew Seary, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Seary, received notification this week that he has passed his second year McGill University with first-class honors in Chemistry. He has been honored with a University scholarship in recognition of his achievement.

'Bluenose' has vague origin

Halifax (CP) — The tag "Bluenose" has become an exclusive Nova Scotian application over the last half-century or more. A Bluenose nowadays can mean either a ship, a motel or restaurant, a gift shop, taxicab, garage or a trade mark.

And, of course, the "Bluenoser" hails from only one province.

But how the name came about, and how it came to be applied to people, places and things Nova Scotian, is a matter for argument.

One speculation is that it evolved from a Nova Scotia-grown potato with a blue tint, called the bluenose. Another speculation is that severe Atlantic winters helped breed the colloquialism.

And there is the tale that among whaling ships working out of Tasmania years ago there were a number from Nova Scotia. The whalers were usually painted white with bows painted in a clashing color, and the Nova Scotia vessels, it is said, had their bows painted blue. Their crews became known as "bluenosers."

Two pilgrimages to war graves later this year

Ottawa — Two more pilgrimages to war graves in Holland are scheduled for this fall. The Royal Canadian Legion announces one to leave Montreal in September and another in October.

The first of the nine-day pilgrimages goes to Nijmegen on September 20. Next-of-kin and relatives of Canadian war dead buried in Holland will fly KLM from Montreal.

The only cost to the pilgrim is $205. This covers return air transportation to Holland from Montreal. While in Holland, pilgrims will be the guests of the Netherlands War Graves Committee and the Dutch people. From Nijmegen, pilgrims will visit the Groesbeek Military Cemetery and the cemetery at Bergen-op-Zoom. There are 6,331 Canadians buried in Holland.

The second pilgrimage, leaving Montreal on October 6, will be based in Holten. The fall visits will bring to 400 the total number of Canadian relatives who have visited graves in Holland on these pilgrimages.

The Royal Canadian Legion, acting as an agent for the Netherlands War Graves Committee, hopes to continue with similar pilgrimages next year. Any Canadian who has a relative buried in a war cemetery in Holland is eligible. Anybody interested in next year's pilgrimages should write Legion headquarters at 465 Gilmour Street, Ottawa.

DEATH RATE

Since 1900 the annual death rate in Canada has declined from 1,310 to 784 per 100,000 persons.

To barbecue chicken-halves

You can tell the inexperienced barbecue chefs by the foods they prepare. If their chief efforts are expended on wieners or hamburgers, they are usually novices. As they get more experience they graduate to steaks and chops, and when they feel they are experts, they graduate to broiling chicken halves or cut-up turkey and then whole roasts, chicken, turkey or other meats, on the spit.

Actually cooking chicken on the outdoor grill is one of the simplest things to do. Steak has to be cooked to individual taste, but, to be at its best, poultry should always be well done. Following are a few simple directions from the Poultry Products Institute of Canada on barbecuing chicken halves. . .

Choose chickens about 2 to 2½ pounds. Have them split in half by the butcher or do it yourself by cutting up the back on either side of the backbone so that backbone and neck may be removed. Be sure to cut around the "oyster" of tender meat on either side just above the hip. Split in half down the breast.

Wipe halves with clean damp cloth or paper towelling. If desired, let chicken stand in a marinade in the refrigerator for half an hour or so before cooking. This is not essential but adds flavor. Use ¼ cup salad oil, 1 cup vinegar, 1 teaspoon each of salt and of paprika, dash of garlic powder and ¼ cup water.

Drain chicken and place on rack 6 to 8 inches from hot coals. Cook 10 to 15 minutes, baste with marinade and turn. Continue basting and turning frequently until golden brown and tender. To judge "doneness" twist drumstick; it should move easily and meat should feel soft when pinched between cloth-protected fingers. As a final test it should be fork-tender. Apply other tests first because frequent pricking with a fork only causes loss of meat juices.

Barbecuing time usually is about 1 to 1¼ hours. To complete main course, bake foil-wrapped potatoes and foil-wrapped strips of carrot, or frozen peas, too. Add a bit of butter and tablespoon of water to carrots and peas before closing foil packages.

ESSENTIAL

In the final analysis, what a woman looks for in a man is fiscal fitness.

FAMILIES

To welcome and assist the tourist

The Chamber of Commerce this season has set up a more substantial-looking Tourist Information Bureau (above), which meets the eye of passers-by on the river bank opposite the Memorial Park. Four young attendants — local students selected on the basis of personality and knowledge qualifications — will be on duty in shifts, with necessary literature and information to direct the touring public. Successful applicants for this summertime role were Miss Lise Bourgoing, Miss Jeniffer Hooker, Leonard Lafleur and Bernard Berthiaume.

Two plead guilty in Whiteacres armed hold-up

Judge Omer Côté, presiding in St. Jerome Court on Monday of this week, heard a plea of guilty from two Cornwall residents charged with armed hold-up in connection with the recent shooting of Arthur White, proprietor of Whiteacres, a hotel situated between Calumet and Kilmar.

Pleading guilty were Harold F. Ingram, 22, and Wilton Boisclair, 17, both of Cornwall. A third person charged with armed robbery and attempted murder, Charles Allanotte, 24, also of Cornwall, requested a medical examination, and Paul André, 19, also of Cornwall, asked for a trial.

Sentence will be handed down next week.

Nominations in Wentworth Tw'p

Nominations for mayor and councillors for the Municipality of Wentworth are being held this morning, from 10 o'clock until noon, in the Louisa Hall, and an election, if necessary, will be held on Monday next, the poll, also at Louisa Hall, being open from 8 a.m. until 6 p.m.

The terms of Mayor Clarence Neill and Councillors F. W. Hooper, Gilbert Boyd and Herb Graves have terminated, and papers are reported to be circulating for all but Mr. Graves, who has declined to run for office. A paper for this seat has been taken out for Paul McLaren, a Montreal executive, who has been a resident of Lake Louisa for a lesser injuries.

At Lachute Golf Club gathering —

Montreal Sportsmen's annual function today honors a past celebrity, Mayor D. Campbell

Seven members of the 1930 M.A.A.A. Allan Cup championship team are due here from all parts of Eastern Canada to attend the 31st annual golf tournament of the Sportsmen's Association, at Lachute Golf Club on Wednesday, July 10, which will honor Dave Campbell as "guest of honor" and pay a special tribute to Leo Dandurand.

Earl Roche, Paul Haynes, Owen Ahearn, Bobby Hill, Lorne Wilson, Dave Kerr, former Maroon and N.Y. Ranger goalkeeper, and Benny Haynes are among the players who signified their intention to attend and to pay homage to their 1930 Allan Cup coach. Ernie Hamilton, who was president of the Allan Cup team, was also expected to be present. Joe Lamb, a former team-mate of Dave Campbell, was expected down from Ottawa for the tournament. Lamb is an ex-Victoria, Montreal Maroon, and Ottawa star.

The "guest of honor", Dave Campbell, has a long and colorful career. While playing school hockey for the Lachute Academy he was invited to Montreal by the late Lucien Riopel to join La Casquette team of the Montreal League, which played their games in the old Jubilee rink. He played with Les Casquettes for two years, then a winter with Laval University in the old Westmount Arena, before going overseas in World War I with the 27th Battery Canadian Field Artillery.

On his return from the war he played for Nationals under Leo Dandurand and for Shamrocks under the late Johnnie Lynch. In 1920 he turned pro with Les Canadiens, then owned by the late George Kennedy, who died that year. He was reinstated as an amateur after a Court case and played in the United States. He returned to Montreal and played defence with the Nationals in the Quebec Senior group. When the Rail-'Phone league was organized in 1925, he played for Northern Electric.

He finished up his amateur days with Victorias, which was the first Canadian team to make a European trip in 1927, competing in Sweden, Germany, Austria, Italy, Switzerland, France and England.

Dave Campbell then turned his attention to coaching and led the M.A.A.A. team to the Allan Cup in 1930. He coached Victorias from 1935 to 1939, then the following year took over Les Canadiens farm team in the Senior Group.

When Canada entered World War II he enlisted with the 17th Duke of Yorks, transferred to REME and served in the United Kingdom and Northeast Europe, and was discharged in 1945 with the rank of Major.

He is now as earnest and devoted in his role as Mayor of Lachute, but he limits his athletic activities to curling and golf.

At the Golf Club proceedings on Wednesday, he is to be honored with a life membership in the Montreal Amateur Athletic Association.

Annual meeting held by CNIB

The CNIB for the County of Argenteuil held their annual meeting recently at their headquarters, 145 Drew Street, Lachute.

Mr. Leopold Carriere, chairman of the local Advisory Board, thanked all the directors who had loyally helped him during his term of office.

Mr. L. A. McClintock, Supervisor of Field Services for the Province of Quebec, reviewed the work that had been done since the formation of the local advisory board. He stressed the need of more public support to the Federation of Charities. In order to improve services to the sightless, and to expand them, more funds are required. He appealed to all to do their share during the next campaign.

The following were elected to office: Chairman, George McGibbon; 1st vice-chairman, George Clermont; 2nd vice-chairman, R. Tourangeau; secretary, J. B. Chalmers; treasurer, Miss Mary Preece.

Water-sprinkling, drinking, washing to tune of 2-million gallons a day!

Discussing the water situation in Lachute, Dr. L. A. Middleton (who is alderman responsible to the Council for the new filtration plant) states that consumers in Lachute, Ayersville and St. Jerusalem continue to use water at an excessive rate — causing the filtration plant to operate at capacity every day, whereas normally there should be a good margin between consumption and capacity output. Dr. Middleton notes, however, that the consumption has dropped a little; but it is still some two million gallons of water a day, which is away above normal.

An appreciable leakage was discovered on Sydney Street, and inconsiderate use of water on the part of many consumers. The example was cited of one institution which continued sprinkling its grounds during the rainstorm which lasted three hours one day last week. This was doubtless due to an oversight by those responsible, but it is typical of the public's apathetic attitude.

At Town Council last Wednesday, Alderman Dr. Middleton estimated that $500 to $600 a month could be saved in electricity and chemicals, if the water supply was given fair and normal treatment.

For Installation of Meters

Council is presently drawing up a by-law for the installation of water meters for all consumers, whether private homes, stores or industries in Lachute. These "Neptune" meters will cost the municipality around $18.10 each (or $25 including installation); while remaining the property of the corporation, they will be rented to the consumers.

It is hoped in this way to reduce, not only the volume of water used, but also operating costs of the filter plant, and, in turn, the water tax rate — which is at present $40 a year.

Council Clippings

The police department answered 301 service calls in the month of June, and investigated 22 accidents, two of which involved personal injuries. There were 12 arrests, 84 traffic tickets issued, and 409 permits. Fines, fees and other collections by the police department amounted to $1,312.55.

Two representatives of the Loisirs St. Julien appeared before Council to enquire why their organization had received no grant from the corporation. The request was referred to Ald. L. W. Armstrong and members of the civic grants committee.

Concerning the proposal to annex land comprising the Exhibition Grounds, Mayor Campbell informed the Council that Gerald Walker had offered to the town the annexation of 60 or 70 acres owned by him in that vicinity. If this could be integrated with Lachute, Mr. Walker would be ready to offer half of it, free of charge, to any industry which would care to establish there. . . Before annexing this, however, it would be necessary to seek agreement of another proprietor, Mrs. Bruce, who owns a tract between the two pieces mentioned.

Michel Cicé, surveyor who rendered services in connection with the filtration plant planning, for which he submitted an account of $6,600, refused the Town's offer of $2,490 in settlement.

Ald. Robert Marcil gave notice that at next Council meeting he will submit a new by-law governing business taxes.

Ald. Nelson Lepage asked a "good question" — as to why the firemen receive $3 an hour for services within Lachute limits, whereas they receive $5 an hour if they cross Hamford Street into Ayersville or Henry Street to fight a fire in St. Jerusalem. No one could give a satisfactory answer, so Commissioner L. Armstrong was delegated to confer with Fire Chief Don MacCulloch.

Jean-Marie Bisson, barber, situated on Main Street West, asked that a 60-minute parking limit be set on the frontage of his establishment. The police committee will look into the matter.

The Chamber of Commerce was authorized to hook onto the town meter for electricity for its Tourist Bureau across from the memorial park.

Accounts amounting to $31,716 were approved for payment, and it was decided to proceed with the collection of all tax bills outstanding as at January 1, 1963 — which run to approximately $30,000.

Businessman beaten by thugs at Morin Heights

(Our District Correspondent)

Morin Heights — Mr. Albert Rutledge, who is owner of an antique shop here, was attacked by three men early Saturday morning in his home and was badly beaten up. Regaining consciousness after they left, he was able to drag himself to the home of Allan Buxton, who called the police. He was removed by ambulance to the St. Jerome hospital, where he is in critical condition.

Appointed to Que. Protestant school inspection staff

ROBT. N. WYSE

Appointed as an officer of Quebec Department of Education is Robert Wyse, a member of Lachute High School teaching staff for the past several years. According to announcement by Dr. H. S. Billings, director of Protestant Education, Mr. Wyse will serve as an inspector of secondary schools for the Counties of Argenteuil, Two Mountains, Montcalm, Joliette and Terrebonne.

Born in Boston and educated in Moncton, N.B., he received B.A. and B.Ed. degrees from Mount Allison University and did graduate work at McGill.

Mr. Wyse has been actively engaged in professional activities as a member of several sub-committees appointed by the Protestant Committee and the Provincial Association of Protestant Teachers, as chairman of the board of St. Andrews East, and as director of the Lachute and District Home and School Association.

Another appointment of interest here is that of Dr. Jane Catterson, of Beaconsfield, consultant in reading for the Macdonald Central School Board, who will become inspector of Protestant Secondary Schools (English). She will be in charge of improving reading techniques in the schools.

Dr. Catterson was also a member of the Lachute school staff some years ago. She has had wide experience in elementary, intermediate and high school teaching.

Quebec studies Carillon Park development

The Provincial Government is "seriously considering" setting up historical parks at Carillon, and at Montmorency Falls near Quebec, as part of the centennial celebrations — reported Gordon Pape in The Montreal Gazette last week.

Premier Lesage made the announcement in the Legislative Assembly as the House gave third reading to a bill permitting the province to co-operate with the Federal Government in observing the 100th anniversary of Confederation in 1967.

The Premier said that plans call for the expense of establishing the parks to be divided equally between the Federal Government, the Provincial Government and Hydro-Quebec.

When Opposition Leader Daniel Johnson asked why Hydro-Quebec would be asked to contribute, Mr. Lesage explained that the company has been thinking for some time of setting up such a park at Carillon, where it maintains a large dam. Montmorency Falls, he went on, is owned by Hydro-Quebec, along with quite a bit of land in the area.

The Premier said that the two projects "frankly interest us greatly."

He pointed out that the Carillon park would be a monument to Dollard des Ormeaux, and would serve the Montreal metropolitan area.

The Montmorency Falls Park, which would cost only one-third of the Carillon development, would take advantage of a splendid natural setting, give Quebecers a place to go on week-ends, and promote tourism, he added.

Fatally injured in mishap at Grenville Bay

Mrs. Armand Lemay, 49, of Calumet, died in hospital at Ottawa Sunday afternoon following injuries suffered in a two-car collision Friday on Highway 8 near Grenville.

Riding in the car of her son-in-law, Yves Bougie, Mrs. Lemay sustained severe chest injuries and was taken to the Notre Dame Hospital in Hawkesbury, later being transferred to Ottawa, where she succumbed to perforation of the lungs. . . It is understood an inquest will be held.

The Bougie car was in collision with an auto driven by Clifford Cooke, of Calumet.

Yves Bougie and his wife, who was also in the car, both received treatment at the hospital for minor injuries.

New community project —

Society formed to aid Prot. farm settlement

With more than a dozen prominent citizens of the northern sector of Argenteuil County in attendance, a new community project was launched on Saturday evening, July 6, at Arundel. Sponsored by the Federation of Quebec Protestant Colonization and Settlement Societies, the Laurentian Colonization Society was formed, and applied for a charter under the Quebec Colonization Act.

Chairman of the gathering was Mr. T. G. Sevigny, of Arundel and Montreal, president of the Federation of Quebec Colonization Societies, who outlined the aims and activities of the three societies now grouped in the Federation, which have been in existence for more than 25 years, and which supervise colonies of Protestant settlers and farmers wherever they live in this province.

In the discussion which followed, the need for such an organization was admitted, as many Protestant farmers did not know what farm aid programs were available to them, and there is a real need for some form of assistance, if the family farm is to be maintained in Quebec. Regret was expressed that the butter factory, which once was an important industry in Arundel, had disappeared, because they now had to depend on bottled milk from Lachute.

It was revealed that a Colonization Society could find many avenues of service to the rural Protestant community, and that surveys were needed to find out just how these could be applied. In this connection it was expected that the technical surveys now being made by teams of experts for the Agricultural Rehabilitation and Development Act, a joint Federal-Provincial activity, should reveal several activities which could be supported by the Laurentian Colonization Society.

Ten Directors of the new Society were then named, as follows: Dr. W. H. Morrison, Mayor of Arundel; J. W. Breckenridge, Mayor of Weir; Rev. F. K. Bussell, student minister; E. J. McDonald, R. G. Cooke, E. R. Boyd, Dr. J. C. Flanagan, H. S. Cooke, Homer Cooke and Melvin Graham, all of Arundel. The directors then elected the following officers: president, E. R. Boyd; vice-president, Homer Cooke, and secretary-treasurer, H. S. Cooke, all farmers of Arundel.

It was explained that the present board was provisional until a charter was obtained, and that efforts would be made to obtain representatives of other counties, notably Two Mountains, Terrebonne, Labelle and Papineau. In the meantime every assistance will be given the new officers by the executive secretary of the Federation, O. R. Evans, of Montreal.

Chain stores for Main Street

Demolition of the Bradford property on Main Street, recently purchased by the R. Farmer 5¢-$1 chain-store organization, and similar activity on the adjacent FitzGerald property, has been confirmed as being the commencement of two stores, each measuring 60 feet on the main thoroughfare, by 118 feet in depth, which are to be occupied by the Farmer organization and Dominion Stores Ltd.

R. Farmer Co. Ltd. operate stores in Hawkesbury and Rockland, Ontario, and in St. Georges de Beauce, Plessisville, Gatineau Mills, Maniwaki, Mont Laurier and Lake Megantic, all in Quebec. They have plans for additional stores in Magog and Pointe Gatineau.

The organization owned by Raymond Farmer is presently demolishing the Bradford building. The adjacent property, owned by the estate of the late Dr. F. Walter FitzGerald, has been sold to Dominion Stores Ltd. (To date, the sod has been lifted on a portion of this property.) Both deeds have been registered.

Our source of information indicated that the Farmer organization had come to an agreement with Dominion Stores, and that the Farmer Store would be located next to the Albright Building, presently housing the A & P Store, while a Dominion Supermarket would be located on the corner of Main Street and Barron Avenue. Construction for the two buildings is being carried out by the Farmer organization, and is expected to get underway within a month.

(Comments on the Local Scene)

Town Hall now has an electronic "brain", following a resolution by "Finance Minister" Bob Marcil seconded by Ald. J.-O. Desjardins, to purchase a second-hand computer for $6,000, with one year's free maintenance and a 10-year guarantee. (Price ticket, new — $10,500.) Budgetary estimates have made provision for this investment, over the past three years.

The Argenteuil Hospital board is meeting regularly, and the director-general is getting the administrative machine in order while awaiting the opening of the new institution (which should not be long, according to report). The medical equipment is now almost complete, and the new furniture, including 20-odd beds to date, is being delivered in periodic shipments.

Seven new members will take the Boy Scout pledge in a ceremony this Wednesday evening at St. Julien Church. This enrolment to the new (Catholic) 1st Lachute Troop will bring the membership to a workable list of 12, divided into two patrols.

Contrary to complaints by certain aldermen that they were "not given a chance to speak", Mayor Campbell affirmed at Council that he was happy to have every member speak his mind — providing it had bearing on the question under discussion. And they spoke. . . But with nine councillors and the Mayor talking at random, any time, this could make for an interminable session (as our reporters have discovered).

One of Lowe Bros.' ½-ton dairy pick-ups, in charge of driver Bill Grimes, toppled into the drink at Pointe Fortune last Thursday evening, while approaching the ferry-landing to cross the Ottawa River to Carillon. 50th Anniversary of ordination

Monday, July 8, was a notable date in the experience of the Rev. W. B. Rosborough, of Lachute — marking the 50th anniversary of his ordination into the ministry.

On July 8, 1913, Mr. Rosborough was ordained in the presbytery of Pictou, N.S., as a minister of the Presbyterian Church in Canada.

At present time, Rev. Mr. Rosborough, retired, is serving as interim minister of Brownsburg United Church. But there are only three of his original class surviving, and only one, like himself, still active in pastoral work.

The Rev. Mr. Rosborough served in the Presbyterian charges of Mulgrave, N.S., Loggieville, N.B., and Pictou, N.S., and, after church union, in the United charges of Amherst, N.S., and Lachute. In 1915 he married Miss Edith Kirk, of Antigonish. He came here in the fall of 1929 and retired, after 40 years of active ministry, in 1953. . . Since then, he has filled interim charges in Hamilton, Ont., Vernon, B.C., Cushing, Brownsburg and Ste. Therese in this vicinity. He is still in good health and keeps active in filling vacancies among his clerical colleagues.

Old friends extend warm congratulations to the Rev. Mr. Rosborough on this notable record.

By BOB ATCHISON

This past week, a lady who lives near our place called to inform me about a fox they had seen while they were out looking over a grain field. The fox, carrying what appeared to be a piece of meat, ran off as soon as it saw them. On following up to see what was going on, they came upon a fawn that was partly chewed up; one hindquarter and the foreleg were partly missing. By the looks of things this had happened the day before. My informant thought it might have been wolves, but also stated that they had heard none of these animals in the vicinity. . . However, the numbers of dogs running loose in the bush just now, leaves little doubt what actually happened to this little creature. I know I have written about dogs repeatedly, but until you readers realize it — even letting your dogs out for a supposedly harmless run near the bush can bring tragic results to some little creature. I do know far too many dogs are turned out to forage for food. There is already enough damage done by strays, without this havoc by domestic nomads.

It looks as though the skidoos, snowcats, or whatever you wish to call them, are going to have some form of control put on them during the winter, making it illegal for them to approach any deer yard or feeding place. Considerable damage has already been done to yarding areas by owners of these machines. It wouldn't be too hard for a poacher to run down these animals in deep snow. Once driven out of the yarding areas, they would die either of starvation or exhaustion. Wardens have been powerless to check the use of these machines. Even with the use of aircraft it is a hard job to stop them. Protests have been presented on the uses of these snowcraft, and it is possible something will be done about them — maybe some really prohibitive measure.

We seem to be lucky with the young ducks in this area. On the North River they can be seen slithering all over the place. It really is funny to see how the young are sent into hiding while the old lady decoys any intruder away from her flock. One of the boys gave me a little story on them. He was driving upstream in his outboard when he spotted about a dozen ducks swimming across the river. As he came closer, the mother bird herded them in towards the bank. Seeing they were all safe from the boat, she took off on the broken-wing routine, then she was joined by another who went through the same camouflage of being sick, disabled and nigh-unto-death. The mother then took off and headed back to her brood, while the collaborator kept up his play-acting. Just as soon as the boat had passed far enough, this one also took off, hale and hearty!

We also have large numbers of herons and bitterns. I even spotted one of these birds resting on top of a telephone pole the other morning, which sure looked out of place. All the shore birds have also been having a good time. Flocks of plover and the Greater Yellow Legs are much in evidence. As for the snipe, they seem to be everywhere. I also spotted what appeared to be Mourning Doves. This should make some of the shooters happy. . . There is no such evidence of partridge, but of course, it's pretty hard to spot them in the bush just now.

A story going the rounds gives rise to a lot of questions. This has to do with a government fish hatchery, which is supposedly stocking public waters; yet there have been reports of private properties being stocked. I wonder just who is paying for this service, if it is a fact. As I say, it is just a circulating story, but it is known to have been a common practice in former years, and it would be expecting too much to have it stopped all at once.

Another story has a hotel in the same area selling trout for meals. Not Lake or Grey trout as we know them, but Speckled. Of course, you have to be known, to get this fish. But there is enough substantial talk that something should be done.

Just received a call and a tip for the Wardens. Shooting is taking place on the North River up towards St. Canut. This could be the end of the ducks in the district, for this year. The party who phoned had just come down from that area and could see two men in a rowboat with firearms, which appeared to be shotguns.

Louisa is still showing the way for the avid fishermen. Greys are still being taken, and Reds less numerous — not as many as in former weeks, but enough to keep everyone happy. I was surprised to hear how some of the Greys had been caught. A few of the enthusiasts had used spinning outfits with pork-rind trailers, and had very good results on one particular day. The next day, however, nothing whatever was taken on this lure. The Large Veltic paid off at this time, not as well as the pork-rind, but worth while. . . Silver Lake has been providing some very good fishing, Reds being the most notable catch. . . I also heard of a Speckled, 3½ pounds, being taken from Lake Macdonald. This was taken in shallow water on spinning gear; it put up a good fight. On being cleaned it was found to be empty; for this reason I think it might be one of the recently-stocked fish. Actually these would not feed too much for awhile, through the change in habitat. . . Some nice doré are being taken from the North River, not too big as yet, but the large ones will be appearing very soon. Some small Northern have also been hooked; you can see the bigger ones under the surface, but they just won't take a lure. Jerry Dunn was telling me of one big doozer, and believe me, Jerry sure has the fishing bug at this time — a brainful enthusiast. One of these days he will get it — he hopes.

The danger of uncontrolled boats is reaching the summer peak. During this past week I was watching a boat on the North River pulling a water-ski bug; no life-jacket, and not too much control of the boat. No numbers or registration on the boat. On top of this, the boatman did not even slow down when he passed a slower craft. This is pretty dangerous, as a number of Lachute residents use this waterway to take their families out for a boat trip. Most of these owners have all the necessary equipment, but it won't do them much good if they get run down. . . This particular boat is one of the catamaran type powered with an inboard outboard, if you know what I mean. If you happen to be on the river and see this type, give it lots of room.

Former resident of St. Andrews died in Ottawa

The late J. H. DeWitt

The funeral of the late John Henry DeWitt, associated and related in these parts, took place Monday from the Hulse & Playfair chapel in Ottawa, with interment at the St. Andrews East cemetery — the Rev. T. A. Morgan, of Woodruffe United Church, Ottawa, officiating.

Mr. John Henry DeWitt, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jacob DeWitt of St. Andrews, died July 5 in the Ottawa Civic Hospital in his 49th year, after several months of illness.

He formerly resided and attended school at St. Andrews, then entering the employ of the Bell Telephone, with which company he served continuously since that time.

He is mourned by his wife, the former Janet Watson of Lachute Road community, and two young daughters, Susan and Jane, all of Ottawa; also surviving are two brothers, Roy and George DeWitt, both of Montreal.

St. Andrews man was former CPR Tax Commissioner

Late William Ritchie Jeffrey

The funeral of the late W. R. Jeffrey of St. Andrews East was held from his home on July 2.

Mr. Jeffrey was born in Scotland in 1883, the son of a Peebleshire sheep and cattle breeder. He articled in law in his native land and came to Canada in 1911, where he joined the Canadian Pacific Railway Company. By the time of his retirement in 1950 Mr. Jeffrey had risen to the position of Tax Commissioner with the Canadian Pacific and had engaged in numerous cases which established precedents in property taxation jurisprudence in a number of provinces.

On his retirement from business life, Mr. Jeffrey took up permanent residence in St. Andrews East, where he had purchased a home in 1920. He took a keen interest in community affairs and served as secretary-treasurer of the St. Andrews Protestant Cemetery and as a steward of the St. Andrews United Church. A holder of a Quebec Municipal Auditor's license, he also engaged in the audit of books of a number of local schools and parishes. He was also the Canadian correspondent for the Scottish Farmer for a period of more than 30 years.

Mr. Jeffrey died in the Montreal General Hospital on June 30, following a somewhat lengthy illness, and was buried in the St. Andrews Protestant Cemetery. Services were conducted by the Rev. Wilson Bridge of Lachute United Church and Mr. Kenneth Thomson, of Cushing.

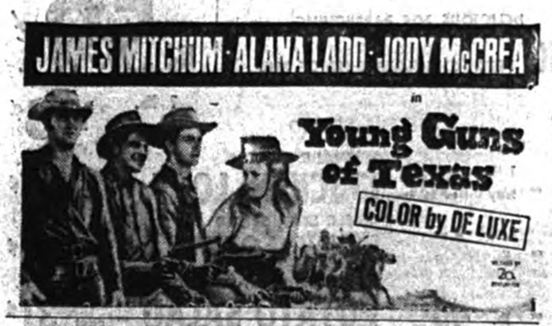

Mr. Jeffrey is survived by his widow, the former Isobel D. G. Young, his daughter, Mrs. J. H. (Doreen) Patrick, of Westmount, his son, Mr. John W. Jeffrey, of Ottawa, and six grandchildren.

Guessing Game

By Ambrose Hills

Just as long as governments play such a large part in our lives, Canadians must indulge in a costly guessing game before each federal and provincial budget. With a stroke of the pen, for example, Mr. Gordon increased the price of old homes by about 5%, and the cost of new ones by a similar amount.

The guessing game is a difficult one. Why did Mr. Gordon choose building material, for example? One might have thought that food, clothing and shelter would be among the last things eyed for tax exploitation. If you bought a house before the budget came out, you did a fine stroke of business. However, it might have been automobiles, or yachts, or shoes, or something else. There is no telling where the tax axe is going to fall.

The only escape from indiscriminate taxation is to persuade governments to spend less; and to spend what they do more efficiently and effectively. For when governments spend, they must tax in the same degree. The money must come from the people; and the old notion that it is paid only by the rich, or even chiefly by the rich, has now been dispelled. Taxes enter the price structure and we all pay.

The real time to do your guessing about the budget is when there is an election campaign. You can assess the cost of the promised goodies. If promises are kept, you know you will have to pay for them. They will be in the budget somewhere, though only the Finance Minister and his chosen advisers know where. It could be houses or it could be ice skates. But it will be somewhere, sure as death.

Jehovah's Witnesses

What do you know about the Soul?

Jehovah is the Greatest Soul. A Heavenly Soul. . . A human is a soul, he does not possess a soul separate and distinct from the body. Immortality, incorruptibility belong primarily and originally to Jehovah. Immortality, incorruptibility is given as a reward for faithfulness to Christ. . . Only 144,000 others, body members of Christ, get Immortality and Incorruptibility.

Do you know that immortality of the soul was taught by the religions of ancient Egypt, Babylon and Greece? Do you know such religions as Buddhism and Mohammedanism teach the soul is immortal? Do you know the Pharisees Jesus condemned believed the soul immortal? Do you know that prevalent belief admits this doctrine "enshrines the principles of ancient speculation"?

And do you know that the Bible denies this doctrine with the blunt warning that "the soul that sinneth, it shall die"? (Ezek. 18: 20). God never gave man an immortal soul, but created him a living soul: "Then Jehovah God proceeded to form the man out of dust from the ground and to blow into his nostrils the breath of life, and the man came to be a living soul." (Gen. 2: 7). God told this living soul that if it disobeyed it would die, whereas it was Satan who said it would not die. (Gen. 2: 17; 3: 4). So now will you believe God, or will you believe Satan and pagans and Pharisees and ancient speculators? Will you let God be true when he says the soul dies, though it will make liars out of Satan and men who teach soul immortality? There is an absorbing study on soul and other doctrines, where God's Word clashes with men's creeds. Read of it in the 320-page book "Let God Be True". . . Also the book, "This Means Everlasting Life", chapter 11, has a wonderful article on the subject, "The Way to Heavenly Life".

You may have the above-mentioned two books for one dollar. . . Ask any one of Jehovah's Witnesses you may meet, anywhere.

San Francisco couple wed here; bride's father officiates

Hillman - Lang

On Saturday afternoon, July 6, a marriage of considerable local interest was solemnized at St. Simeon's Anglican Church, Lachute, when Iris Hazel Lang, R.N., of San Francisco, U.S.A., daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Cyrus R. Lang, of Lachute, and Ronald Gerrard Hillman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hillman, of San Francisco, were united in holy matrimony.

An unusual feature of the wedding was that the bride's father, the Rev. Cyrus Lang, rector of the parish, officiated at the service. Mr. Harry Dapp, uncle of the bride, sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "O Perfect Love". Music for the service was played by Mrs. R. Dewar, of Brownsburg.

The bride, given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. Fred Edmondson, wore a gown of silk organza over taffeta, with embroidered neckline and cathedral train. Her veil of tulle illusion was held with a pearl-beaded crown. Her only ornament was a string of pearls, the gift of the groom. She carried a cascade bouquet of pink roses and baby's breath.

Miss Muriel Lang, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and Miss Linda May Sewell and Miss Elizabeth Schoch, cousins of the bride, acted as bridesmaids. All wore gowns of yellow silk organza over taffeta, with matching hats and veils. They carried bouquets of pink carnations and baby's breath.

Mr. William Russell, uncle of the bride, acted as best man, and Peter Lang and Brian McGowan were ushers.

The bride's mother wore a gown of dusty pink shantung silk with white accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations. Mrs. Hillman wore a gown of aqua blue crepe with lace top, and blue accessories. Her feather hat was of varied shades of blue and purple. She wore a corsage of white carnations.

The reception was held in St. Simeon's Church hall.

The bride and groom left Montreal on Monday by plane for Calgary, Vancouver, and thence by steamer to San Francisco, where they will reside.

Lachute girl is bride in ceremony at Brownsburg

Martin - Mitchell

The marriage of Miss Patricia Mitchell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Mitchell, of Lachute, to Tpr. James Martin, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Percy Martin, of Brownsburg, took place on Saturday in a double-ring ceremony at Brownsburg United Church, the Rev. C. S. Woods officiating. Mrs. C. J. Wheeler played the wedding music and Miss Bonnie Gain sang during the service. Master Michael Beers, nephew of the bride, acted as ring bearer. The church was tastefully decorated with baskets of gladioli and a candelabra trimmed with pink carnations.

The bride, given away by her father, wore a gown of white pearl-embroidered silk organza over satin, ending in a chapel train. Her Venetian lace veil was worn over the face and was held by a jewelled tiara.

Mrs. Bain Beers, sister of the bride, as matron of honor, wore a periwinkle blue silk organza princess-line dress, and Miss Judy Murdoch, as bridesmaid, was attired in a similar style dress of coral.

Mrs. Mitchell, the bride's mother, wore a gown of draped shocking pink chiffon, with matching hat and black accessories.

Mr. Gary Keatley was best man, and the ushers were Mr. George MacDonald, of Brownsburg, Mr. Ian Duncan, of Lachute, and Mr. Bain Beers, of Ottawa, brother-in-law of the bride.

Following the reception at the Brownsburg Legion Hall, the couple entertained relatives and guests at the home of the bride's parents, later leaving for Barrie, Ont., where they will reside.

Out-of-town guests included the groom's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Genest, of London, Ont., and their four children; Mr. and Mrs. William Cottingham and two children, of Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Jones, of Fort Lauderdale, Florida; Mr. and Mrs. Gordon May, of Ottawa; Mr. and Mrs. J. D. O'Connell, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Murdoch and Lynn, Mr. and Mrs. Archie Thompson and two children, Mrs. Helen Curry, Mr. Lorne Martin, Mr. and Mrs. P. Madden, Mr. and Mrs. A. Toffey, all of Montreal; and Tpr. Bob Hackley and Tpr. Arnold Falls, of Camp Borden.

BELL LINES

by JIM MENZIES

Miss M. Marinier, St. Jerome

STILL AT YOUR SERVICE

There used to be a time when the word "telephone" almost always stirred an image of the operator complete with headset and a broad smile. Somehow over the years this image has been mingled with pictures of telephone lines, digging machines, piles of intricate equipment and the faces of rugged linemen, pretty clerks and service representatives. Of course, each contributes to the overall picture of the telephone company, and the skilled and experienced operator, as always, is at your service. You may not be able to see her at her work, but she is available whenever you need assistance. Nice to know that she's there, ready to help, isn't it?

WATT'S IN A NAME?

Although it pays to properly identify yourself when answering the telephone, sometimes it just doesn't help. Take the peculiar case of Mr. Watt as an instance. It was important for him to talk with James Brown at his office. He called the number. A man's voice asked, "Who's calling?" Watt said: "Watt." The voice asked "What is your name?" "That's what I told you, Watt's my name." A long pause followed and then, Mr. Watt said: "Will you please tell me your name?" "Will Knott." Whereupon they both hung up.

MORE THAN JUST TELEPHONES

Playing an important role in the development of our country, the Bell has an active interest in more than just telephones in the almost limitless, it seems, telecommunications industry. For instance, our microwave radio relay chain, part of the Trans-Canada Telephone System network, carries television programs under contract to the CBC and CTV networks. Last year the Trans-Canada System was also successful in gaining a 10-year contract to supply facilities for the CBC's complete radio networks. These facilities employ well over 20,000 miles of high quality circuits to link some 200 English and French radio stations between Newfoundland and British Columbia.

W. Quebec vulnerable to carelessness

IN THIS PROVINCE, human beings are still by far the most serious cause of forest fires. Many of the large fires in Western Quebec during 1962 resulted from ignorance of cautious conduct in the forest, or apathy to the provincial fire regulations. Two very important regulations deal with smoking and campfires:

(1) In Quebec, it is forbidden to smoke while travelling or while working in or near the woods. Whether travelling by car, by horse, or on foot, one must stop in a safe place to enjoy a smoke, and must carefully extinguish matches, cigarette butts and pipe ashes before continuing.

(2) Small fires may be built for cooking or for personal warmth, but they must be made in a safe place, away from all flammable material. All branches, twigs and grass, in fact anything that will burn, must be cleared away to mineral soil, to a radius of at least four feet, before the fire is lighted. The fire must be attended at all times, and must be thoroughly extinguished before leaving.

The Lower Ottawa Forest Protective Association, which is responsible for the protection of some 17,000 square miles of forest lands in Western Quebec, states that, because of the apparent indifference to these regulations, a much sterner law enforcement policy will be put in effect at once.

Another regulation often ignored is that, before entering any protected area, one must first obtain a forest travel permit. The regulation became effective for this season on May 1, and there is assurance that it will also be strictly enforced. Violators of Provincial Fire Regulations are liable to severe penalties, including fines and being barred from the forest in the future.

The purpose of these laws is to protect our forests for the continued use and pleasure of all, and this cannot be done without the co-operation of everyone. Further information on the laws effective in this province may be obtained from any office of the Quebec Department of Lands and Forests of Quebec — or you may write to the Lower Ottawa Forest Protective Association at Chelsea, Que.

Bigger toll than traffic deaths

A NATIONAL anti-smoking drive is the goal of Canadian doctors, public health workers and the Canadian Cancer Society, and the medical profession is being asked to give leadership in an all-out campaign against smoking.

Calling lung cancer "epidemic" because of its explosive increase, Dr. Russell K. Magee, of Toronto, said recently it is the only form of cancer which is increasing rapidly; most types of cancer are decreasing. He said the medical profession must meet its responsibilities in providing leadership against smoking.

The Canadian Medical Association committee is asking the Canadian Medical Association and other organizations to seek discussions with the federal government on cigarette advertising. At the community level, it will propose seeking the co-operation of schools, teachers' colleges, boards of health and other organizations in campaigns to reach preteenage Canadian children and educate the public on smoking hazards, Dr. Magee said.

Lung cancer now kills more Canadians every year than traffic accidents, and cigarette smoking per capita of the population has tripled in the past 20 years, he said. Advocating persuasion rather than compulsion, Dr. Magee said sacrifice and self-discipline are needed to attain good health. Adults should set an example to children and teenagers.

"We have to change the status symbol of smoking", said this authority — noting that, in modern society, smoking is the only socially acceptable addiction.

Diminishing prospects

IT IS TO BE sincerely hoped that Trade Minister Sharp, in his efforts to conclude a new grain sales agreement with Communist China, will refrain from making concessions in other lines of production, that will have a lasting, detrimental effect on the Canadian economy.

That the Chinese expect concessions in return for even considering new contracts is becoming abundantly clear. Officials of the Chinese Ministry of Trade said as much, as early as last November.

It should perhaps be kept in mind that the long-term prospect of grain sales to China is anything but bright. China originally began to buy grain from Canada, and for that matter from other Western countries, strictly out of need, not out of any inherent desire to expand her international trade.

As it now appears that the return of normal weather conditions and the reversal of a number of government policies which led to gross farm mismanagement have once more boosted China's foodstuff production, the need to import grain is disappearing quickly.

China may indeed continue to buy limited quantities of foodstuffs from abroad for a little while longer, in order to rebuild reserves. Yet it would be most unfortunate if the Trade Minister were tempted to give away sections of the Canadian market, and with it a great many Canadian manufacturing jobs, solely for this fast-diminishing residual business.

For a recognizable flag

WHEN MR. PEARSON and colleagues get around to deciding on a design for a Canadian flag, it is hoped that they come up with something that will be generally recognizable, says The Printed Word.

The Canadian people do not wish to get themselves in the position of the sometime Honorary Vice-Consul for Portugal in a Canadian city. It was in the latter days of royalty and the Honorary Vice-Consul's wife was reputed to be remotely related to the last Queen of the Portuguese royal house.

The local board of trade tried something new when it gave a dinner in honor of all the representatives of foreign powers in the area. As an innovation, they decided that rather than number the tables, each consul would sit at a table designated by the flag of the country he represented. This was all right, except that the Honorary Vice-Consul for Portugal nearly didn't get his dinner, for he could not identify the Portuguese flag.

A compromise that does not include any of the old flags, will require a generation of education before the new Canadian flag will be generally recognized on sight — is the conclusion drawn by this commentator.

Viewpoints and perspectives

MENACE TO SOCIETY. — The person who drives without due thought to safety of others, and thus makes a juggernaut of the modern motorcar, is nothing short of a menace to society. — Rosetown (Sask.) Eagle

CONSULT THE TAXPAYER. — We rather like the attitude being taken by the council of the Village of Eckville. To offset the usual complacency, it is preparing its plans for development of the community for this year and these will be presented to the ratepayers for their comments and suggestions. Our senior governments could take a lesson from Eckville's council. — Rimbey (Alta.) Record

MAKE THEM HAPPY. — Kitimat should not start rehashing the old pros and cons of how to attract tourists, which have been established; but should make sure the visitor enjoys himself so much he'll tell his friends about it and perhaps come back.

Adventures of a budgie bird

(TO THE EDITOR)

Editor, The Watchman

Dear Sir:

On June 25th my Budgie took advantage of an open door in our house and flew out into the wide open space. During the afternoon we saw him on the window sill of a neighbor's house but that was the last we saw of him.

A week later, after riding out the terrible storm, he was seen on a fence in St. Andrews East and, being recognized as a pet, was picked up. Through the kindness of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Bradley he was well cared for in their home. When they received "The Watchman" on July 4th they noticed our ad in the Lost and Found column and telephoned us immediately. "Timothy" is now back home and seems none the worse for his experience.

I am more than ever convinced that there are very kind people in the world, and that is pays to advertise in "The Watchman".

Sincerely yours,

Brian Kingsbury

KEEPING A CAT WELL GROOMED

The need for extra attention to the welfare of pets in hot weather, discussed in this column last week, has brought several enquiries from owners of long-haired cats.

One of them writes: "I have a ginger cat with very long, fine hair, it seems a very thick coat for a hot day. Is it necessary to have the hair cut or thinned?"

The answer is — no. Although your cat may appear to have a very thick coat you will find that in the summer a lot of the fur has come out. This happens both naturally and through the continual washing action of the cat itself.

A cat's tongue is covered with little hooks which, when the cat is washing and cleaning, also act as a comb. Any loose hairs are swallowed.

You can help this process of hair thinning by extra grooming during the hotter days. Five minutes a day with a fine comb will help your cat, and save a mass of hair being left all over the furniture.

When the cat washes itself the hairs it swallows tend to clog in the intestine. This problem is overcome by giving a cat grass to eat. The grass acts as roughage and the hair balls are passed in the normal way or through the cat being sick.

If you live in an apartment either bring in a handful of grass occasionally or let your cat wander around where grass is available for him to eat. Any cat that has been kept in for a while will start eating grass the moment he is let out.

wonder QUESTIONS

ANSWERED BY THE RESEARCH SERVICE OF THE BOOK OF KNOWLEDGE

What is the Sun made of?

The sun is made of gases — incandescent gases — which glow but do not burn. (The little wire filament in an electric light bulb is incandescent too but you could not say that it burns.) More than 60 of the elements known on earth are found in the sun. Among these, naming only a few, are hydrogen, in very great quantities, helium, carbon, nitrogen, oxygen, sodium, magnesium, aluminum, silicon, sulphur, potassium, calcium, iron, cobalt, nickel, copper, zinc and even silver and platinum. But you must not think of these elements as in the form which we know here on earth. Even those which we know as solids are, in the sun, in the form of gases. However, there is a far greater proportion of hydrogen and helium than any of these other gases.

Of Many Things

By Ambrose Hills

HERE WE GO AGAIN!

Once more our house is in an uproar. My family is preparing to go to the summer cottage for the season. For some reason I can't quite fathom, it is necessary to leave our house spotless — so that I can have a summer to mess it up in.

Of course, it is just possible my wife hopes that this year it will be different; that she will leave it spotless and find it the same when she returns. I don't think that is her motive.

Actually, if the family were to return this fall and find that I had been a tidy housekeeper, that everything was in good shape, there would be disappointment. A man is supposed to be a lousy housekeeper. No woman would admit it, but they'd be bitterly disappointed if they found no stains behind the sink, no ashtrays loaded with butts, no unmade beds or undusted corners.

Well, my wife can relax. I'll not disturb any of the dust. There will be stains behind the sink and in it. I will conform, just as most other husbands do.

I have the same plans for this summer that I have had for centuries. I am going to get some work done. I will be able to write superb prose in a quiet house, perhaps three or four short stories or a best-selling novel. And with only myself to cook for, there'll be thick, juicy steaks and other delights.

That, at least, is the plan. If it works out the way it has done in other years, Steinbeck needn't be worried, but the Fort Street cafe had better keep a fridge full of steaks. Of course, I have a good excuse. The house will be just too darn quiet. A man raised in noise can't work in absolute stillness. And cooking for one is a bore.

So here we go again. Another summer just like the last one.

Outdoor eating is no hardship when one gets a substantial meal like this. Chicken broilers may be cooked in halves or quarters on a grill or portable barbecue or precooked beforehand and just browned over the open fire. The cole slaw is cool and ready to serve in the plastic refrigerator dish in which it was mixed. Shredded carrot, chopped onion, sliced celery or cucumber or diced green pepper may be added to the finely shredded cabbage to vary the combination. It may be marinated with a vinegar-oil dressing or mayonnaise.

Barbecued chicken outdoors

Now is the time for all of us to enjoy delicious barbecued chicken outdoors. Chicken broilers are plentiful and it is expected they will be selling at attractive prices this summer. Cut up chicken broilers (2½ to 4 pounds) may be barbecued on the grill, whole chickens on the spit. If you have never barbecued, the home economists of the Consumer Section, Canada Department of Agriculture, have some suggestions for you. In fact, even experienced "barbecuers" may pick up a few helpful tips.

About the Fire

If you are using a portable barbecue, line the firebox with aluminum foil to protect the metal and make it easier to tidy up after the meal. Next, cover the bowl of the firebox with a layer of gravel, ¾ to 1 inch deep. This protects the firebox, provides ventilation for the fire, reflects and retains heat, which of course saves fuel.

Then make a pyramid of charcoal briquets about 12 inches in diameter and 5 or 6 inches high. Use one of the fire starters as directed by the manufacturer. As the charcoal ignites, small grey spots will appear on the briquets. Let the fire alone for 30 to 40 minutes, or until the grey spots have enlarged. When the charcoal briquets are covered with this grey ash, they are ready to arrange for barbecuing.

For grill barbecuing, gently tap the charcoal briquets with fire tongs or poker and arrange them ½ inch to ¾ inches apart over the gravel. This reduces the flame-up when fat drips from the food during cooking.

For spit barbecuing, knock the ash from the briquets and bank them to the rear of the firebox. Place a foil drip pan made of a double layer of heavy aluminum foil under the spit, preferably in front of, not on, the coals. The pan catches the drippings and prevents smoking.

Set charcoal briquets around the edge of the fire to warm up slightly before adding them to the fire.

To Grill Barbecue Chicken

Grease the grill with butter or cooking oil; brush chicken pieces with butter or cooking oil and sprinkle with salt, pepper and paprika. Place skin side down on the grill, which should be about 3 inches from the fire. Brown each side for about 3 minutes; raise grill to 4 to 6 inches from fire and continue barbecuing until chicken is tender, about 20 minutes for chicken quarters and about 45 minutes for chicken halves.

Turn often to avoid scorching. Leave skin side down for just 3 minutes each time and skin side up for 5 minutes as the skin burns more readily than the underside. Baste after each turning so that the butter or oil will be absorbed. This lessens the risk of flame-up and consequent scorching.

When using barbecue sauce, to avoid scorching do not brush it in until 7 or 8 minutes before chicken is done. Brush the underside of bird and barbecue for 5 minutes without turning. Turn, brush skin side and barbecue for 2 or 3 minutes.

The total cooking time, including browning time is 30 to 35 minutes for chicken quarters, 50 to 55 minutes for chicken halves.

To Spit Barbecue Whole Chicken

After you have built the proper fire, balance the poultry properly on the spit — otherwise it will cook and brown unevenly and wear out your motor quickly. Put a spit fork at handle end, and insert spit rod through the centre of body cavity of chicken. Place second spit fork on spit rod. When barbecuing one or more chickens centre them on the rod, push spit forks tightly into chicken or chickens at both ends. Fasten thumb screws tightly. Tie the poultry firmly on the spit so that tips of legs or wings don't drop down into the fire.

To check the balance, rotate the spit rod back and forth on palms of hands or rest the point of rod on table top and rotate. If properly balanced, spit rod turns evenly. If chicken tips or rolls unevenly, the spit must be adjusted.

When the chicken begins to brown it should be basted frequently with drippings from the drip tray. Butter, cooking oil or barbecue sauce may be used for basting but as with grill barbecuing, sauce should not be brushed on until chicken is almost cooked. A 3 pound chicken takes about 2½ hours — it takes as long to spit barbecue as to oven roast a chicken.

Here is a tasty barbecue sauce that is delicious on chicken. The recipe is from the Consumer Section, Canada Department of Agriculture.

Tangy Barbecue Sauce

¼ Cup butter, ¼ cup finely chopped onion, ¼ cup cider vinegar (or lemon juice), 1 cup tomato juice, 1 cup tomato catsup, 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce, ¼ cup brown sugar, 1 teaspoon dry mustard, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon paprika.

Melt butter and sauté the onion until transparent, about 5 minutes. Add remaining ingredients, bring to a boil and simmer for 15 to 20 minutes. Makes about 3 cups — enough to baste 6 chickens.

The Golden Chain of Kindness

— By NANCY CLEAVER —

"Kindness is the golden chain by which society is bound together," wrote Goethe. If you are in any doubt about the necessity of teaching kindness, ask your local worker for the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals about cases he deals with every season. Kindness, along with a sense of responsibility for all living creatures, must be instilled into children, beginning at an early age.

In the springtime, parents should teach their children to help and not hinder the nest building activities of the wild birds. Bird houses, made according to regulation blueprints are used by many wrens, martins and other birds in city backyards. A nest with eggs should never be disturbed, but sometimes a fledgling can be rescued from a dangerous place where he has tumbled.

Kindness is a virtue which all children should be taught. A new attractive book, How to Be Kind, by Joyce Lambert (Brunswick Press) is one of the best dollar gifts which any boy or girl could receive. This is a guide for the many Kindness Clubs, which have sprung up. Their headquarters address is Post Office Box 5, Fredericton, N.B. Their members make the following pledge, "I promise to be kind to all animals, (as well as people) and to speak and act in defence of all living creatures."

There is a picture of Dr. Albert Schweitzer at the first of the book and in his accompanying letter he writes: "Our goodness and compassion should extend to all living creatures." Mrs. Hugh John Flemming in her foreword points out that kindness is the positive approach to the prevention of cruelty.

There are many fascinating stories about individuals such as Saint-Francis of Assisi who wrote 750 years ago: "All the animals of the world live, suffer and die just as we do; Therefore they are like us; Created by Almighty God — our brothers." In this book may be found the story of Richard Martin, the Irishman, who founded in 1824 the Royal Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals in a time when many thought he was a silly crank. There are tales of cats and dogs and birds.

Questions asked in its pages are: "How would you like to live in a zoo?" and "Is the Circus fun?" This second question reminded us of the time our Nancy, then a five-year-old, watched the Lions' Act at a Circus. The trainer cracked his long whip and the lions went through various stunts. Nancy was very quiet and then she whispered, "I don't think the lions are having much fun."

If a child has a cat or dog or bird his heart goes out to his pet in affection. But a mother must supervise the care so that a pet does not suffer neglect from a child's forgetfulness to feed or look after it. A very small child may be cruel without realizing it. A mother protested to her son, "Don't pull pussy's tail! You are hurting him!" The youngster answered, "I'm not pulling his tail — I'm just holding it tight and Pussy is trying to run away from me." A child must learn that teasing of a pet or of a younger or weaker child will not be allowed.

"Life is short and we have never too much time for gladdening the hearts of those who are travelling the dark journey with us," wrote Henri-Frederick Amiel, of French ancestry, born at Geneva. He added, "Oh, be swift to love, make haste to be kind!" Wordsworth, the English poet considered, "That best portion of a good man's life, His little, nameless, unremembered acts, Of Kindness and of love."

Kindness knows no nationality. It moves the hearts of men and women and children throughout the world. In our hurry to make money, to keep up with our neighbors, to be successful ourselves, and to urge our children to excel, have we often lost sight of the importance of compassion both to individuals and also to all living creatures? Let us by example and by training, teach our children the rule of life, of which Sir James Barrie wrote in The Little White Bird — "Always try to be a little kinder than is necessary."

"Nice try, Slaughterhouse."

Specially Written for The Lachute Watchman

If you still have one of those plain, tight-fitting and unflattering rubber caps — the kind you wear only when absolutely necessary — then it's time for a change.

Bathing caps this season have been designed to look like the most fashionable dinner, cocktail and boudoir hats. Some glisten with gold and silver spray and are trimmed with sequins. Many feature row upon row of fine fringe or frills while others are packed with more flowers than many garden-party hats.

The very latest in bathing caps, however, is the wig cap made of a fibre that looks like hair, is coiffed in a bouffant style and keeps its curl even after a dunking.

Other swimmers will mistake your wig cap for your own hair if you choose a blond, black or brown color but are certain to take notice if you choose mint green, champagne pink or delphinium blue.

These caps must be donned carefully. First the hair should be brushed and pinned straight up from the hairline at the back of the neck, sides and forehead. A hair net is excellent for keeping hair in place.

When all the hair is firmly pinned, push the cap on gently starting from the forehead and working back and making sure all the hair is tucked in. The inner band of the cap should be turned up above the ears, not below or over them.

New Grandmother

The image of a tiny white-haired grandmother knitting in her rocking chair is quietly fading away. Grandmother sitting busily at an office desk has replaced the traditional idea.

Mrs. Janet Watson, a widow and grandmother of five, said at a meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club in Toronto recently that grandmothers may soon be the most sought-after women in the business field.

Older women possess valuable attributes, particularly in the secretarial field, she said, and she is convinced that the age barrier, long a handicap to women over 40 seeking to enter the business world, is lessening each year.

Doris Currie of a Toronto personnel placement service agreed with Mrs. Watson: "I think the older woman is on the threshold of being the most-wanted employee."

But the understanding of people and the discretion in dealing with people which accompany maturity are not the only attributes necessary for a woman over 40 to enter the business world.

The older woman must be aware of all the latest procedures developed during the 20 or more years since she worked in business.

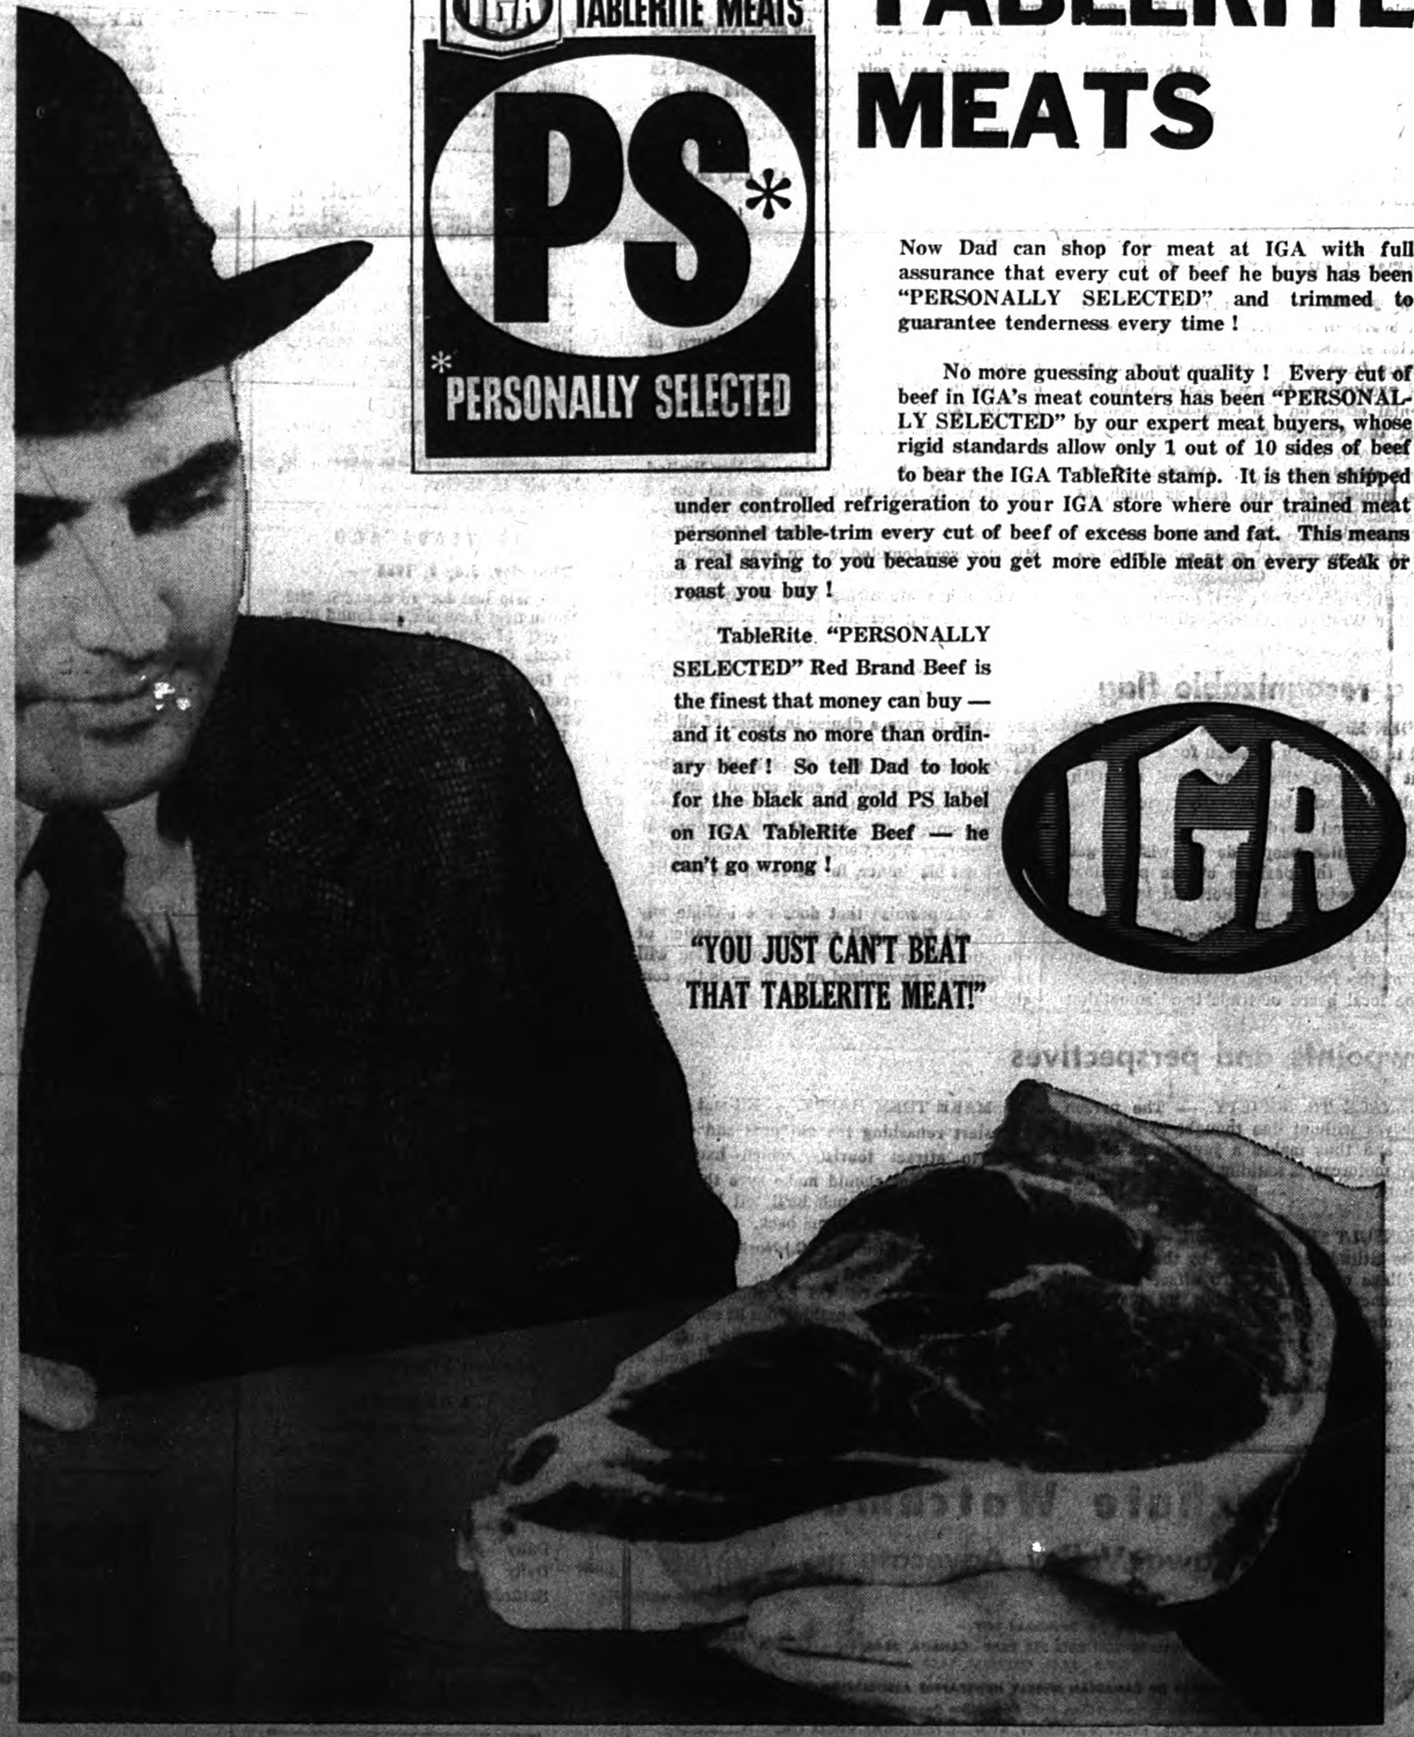

Elizabeth Smith of another Toronto placement service said as long as a woman can prove she will fit into a job by making the necessary adjustments, her age makes no difference to the employer.

There are more older women employed in Canada today than there were 10 years ago.

BOSS OF THE MILE-LONG TRAIN

Contributed by Norman Thorburn

In my youth I worked on the railway, as did many of my family predecessors since the early days of the railway in North America.

One night in early spring, over 30 years ago, I was called out to make a trip to Newport, Vermont, on a fast freight.

I found the van to which I was assigned in the railway yards in Montreal, and there I met Jack, the conductor in charge of the train, and Jim, the senior trainman or brakesman, who was ten years or so older than I.

Jack, the conductor, was a man about 46 years of age.

We were soon on our way, heading southwards from Montreal, through St. Johns, Farnham, Cowansville, Sutton, Abercorn — names reminiscent of the early American loyalists who settled in this district long ago. We reached Newport in the early morning of the next day and slept most of the day.

That evening we headed north again to Montreal. This train had over 100 cars, all empty. Most of the cars were box-cars, and it was a very long train, indeed.

Jack, the Yankee conductor from New York State, was a great story-teller — about the best yarnster I have ever heard, and I have heard many.

He started off by telling stories of dishonest trainmen who smuggled various items over the border, eluding even the most vigilant of the customs officers.

One trainman, in particular, used to smuggle costly bales of silk. The duty on one bale of silk alone, was quite a sum. However, one extra-observant customs officer finally found the hiding-place where the trainman stored his silk. The railroader was heavily fined, and discharged from the service. . .

Then Jack began to tell us of wrecks he had been in. But the stories were interrupted when we pulled into East Farnham Junction; we had to lay-off a couple of cars there.

We were there about 15 minutes when Jack came up to me, and Jim, the senior brakesman, and said: "Jim, you plant a fusee in the tie there. The Sherbrooke passenger train is due here in five minutes; we've got to get out of here, pronto. They'll see the red flare well here, the track is straight." To me, Jack said, "You run ahead and give the engineer the highball; he can't see you here, perhaps."

So I ran ahead, waving my lantern in a semi-circle at the height of my head, which is the "highball" or go-ahead signal.

I ran as fast as I could. We had only a few minutes to clear the track for the Sherbrooke train. When I was about 80 cars from the van, and around 20 from the engine, I heard the clang of releasing air-brakes. Suddenly, the train jolted ahead. I climbed the ladder of the nearest box-car, and sat down on the cat's walk on top of the car, to get my wind.

Soon, the train was travelling at great speed, and it grew very cold up there. Twenty cars ahead, the engine and the little seat in front of the fireman, awaited me.

But, away back in the distance, the tail lights of the van beckoned to me. We were going straight to the yards in Montreal now; and I wanted to hear more stories from Jack, that raconteur-par-excellence.

So I started back to the van. I needed good sea-legs to walk along those rocking empty cars, and twice my oil lantern blew out. It is not easy to light a lantern, on top of a fast travelling box-car.

I was about 15 cars from the van when the box-cars ended, and I had to clamber over coal cars, stone cars, tank cars, flat cars, etc. But finally I reached the van.

There Jack, the conductor, was telling another tale of a train wreck he was in. "It was a bad smash-up, and the cars caught fire. We got all the people off the train but one poor fellow, who was pinned down by a heavy steel girder which had crushed his leg. There was an old doctor in the village, and he came rushing down to the wreck. He asked me to help him.

"The heat from the burning wreck was terrible, and the old doc was sweating profusely. He said, he would have to amputate, to save the man's life and free his body from the wreck.

"After the necessary preliminaries, the old doc took a saw from his kit and began the operation. . . Then suddenly he went limp, overcome by heat and excitement. I went to his aid. Feebly, he muttered, 'Can you finish the job?'. . ."

At this point, the Yankee conductor looked at us both, questioningly, scanning our faces, to see evidence of disbelief. And finding none, because we knew that railwaymen are often called on to do strange jobs in emergencies; he continued, "I went in there and finished the job, and do you know that man is living still? I know him well. . ."

By this time the train had reached the yards in Montreal, and stopped. The conductor finished his statement of the account of the trip, and was packing his valise, when a telegraph messenger, with a telegram in his hands, opened the door of the caboose.

A shocked look came over the face of the conductor, as he said in a voice fraught with anxiety: "It's not John; not — not dead?"

"I'm afraid so," replied the messenger.

The conductor took the telegram, read it, and buried his head in his arms on the table.

John, the elder of his two children, had the grippe when we left Montreal. The dreaded pneumonia had done its work and the life of a young man of 20 had been snuffed out.

The sunrise was lovely that spring morning as, with bowed head, Jack strode across the rails to his sorrowing home. . . It was not until 10 years later, that a doctor, Alexander Fleming, discovered penicillin, which could have killed the dreaded pneumococcus.

"I'll be over after I do my banking!"

Nowadays it's natural for the lady of the house to do much of the family banking, because it's so convenient to look after money matters at one place—the local chartered bank, an all-round banking service-centre.

This busy homemaker is on her way to deposit part of her husband's salary in their savings account, cash a cheque on their joint chequing account, and pay the monthly instalment on a personal loan. All this taken care of under one roof—quickly, easily, simply.

Any bank service you use is an introduction to many others. And the chartered banks are always on the lookout for new ways to be helpful to more people. Good reason why the number of deposit accounts has doubled to 14 million in just 10 years, and 3,500 new accounts are being opened every banking day.

Four tied while armed thugs ransack Golf Club premises

Five men, clad in skin-diving outfits, at least two of whom were armed with revolvers, staged a hold-up at the Lachute Golf and Country Club early Monday morning, and escaped with a haul estimated in the vicinity of $1,400. They managed to open the main door of the safe, but did not get into the money compartment. Gilbert E. Ayers, owner of the club, and Howard Watson, a friend of Mr. Ayers and well-known golf-course architect, were seated at the main bar when the five masked men entered, all from different directions.

One man, who was armed, leaped over the bar and ordered bartender Harry Poole to join the other two men, threatening any who might make a move to summon aid. Mr. Watson reached for a telephone and was immediately hit on the back of the head with a revolver butt. The three were placed on the floor after being relieved of their money, and tied with rope. The quartet then commenced to search the premises. An employee, Paul Tougas, was found asleep upstairs, and was escorted down to the main lounge to join the others. All the victims were then re-tied with electric wire, which had been pulled from lamps.

A search of the desks, drawers, cash registers, etc., produced little cash, and the men then attempted to break open the safe with tools reportedly stolen from a local C.P.R. tool shed. They managed to force the main door, but were unable to break into the inner compartment.

Mrs. Ayers and Mrs. Watson, both of whom had been with their husbands earlier in the evening, became alarmed at the absence of their husbands, who were long overdue. They could get no response on the telephone, and eventually both checked the premises in person, Mrs. Watson arriving around five a.m. and finding the four men securely bound. She immediately notified the local officers of the provincial police, and released the men, who reported the bandits had left only a short while prior to Mrs. Watson's arrival. Mrs. Ayers is reported to have arrived a short time later.

The bandits made their getaway from the club in Mr. Watson's car, which was found later the same morning on College Street, in Lachute's east end.

Damage to the offices and equipment is reported to be considerable, and the month's bar receipts, to be charged to members' accounts, were removed from the safe; to date, these have not been found.

Provincial Police, who have been investigating the robbery, believe there is some connection between this and a similar hold-up which took place the same night in Alfred, Ont.

Armed robbery at presbytery in Alfred, Ont.

Four masked bandits invaded the presbytery at Alfred last Sunday night and gained entry by the window of the priest's study, around 1 a.m. The intruders tied up the priest, Mgr. J.-Emile Secours, and the assistant curé, Rev. Alexandre Plamondon.

The men forced the parish priest, at gunpoint, to get to his feet and open the safe, from which they took approximately $200, also $75 from the priest's wallet. They also took a sum of $140 from the curé's room, with which the cleric was planning to take his vacation. The place was completely ransacked in a search for other cash or valuables.

The bandits cut the phone wires, then used electric cord to tie the priest in his bed and to secure the curé in a cupboard, before leaving the premises. Mgr. Secours was the first to free himself from his bonds; he released his colleague from the cupboard, then running to a nearby house to give the alarm.

On hospital staff

MISS ESTELLE PARISEAU, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Georges Pariseau, Lafleur Street, has completed her training as nurse's aid at the Crescent Hospital in Montreal. Miss Pariseau will be employed at the new Argenteuil Hospital.

Wedding day, appendicitis, two flat tires

Ill luck dogged an Ayersville wedding couple Saturday morning, when the bride of one hour took critically ill, and had to be rushed to hospital.

Miss Rollande Leblanc, bride-elect of Réal Plamondon, suffered an attack of appendicitis on the eve of her marriage. Attended by Dr. Noel Saindon, she was given sedatives; the next morning, with a fever of 104 degrees, she arrived at the church and stood bravely for the ceremony, which had been advanced in time, to meet the emergency. It was only after the vows, receiving felicitations of guests, that she capitulated to her acute pain.

She was soon on her way to the St. Jerome hospital in an automobile driven by her father-in-law, Mayor Gaston Plamondon. Misfortune continued to dog her steps, however; reporting the experience afterwards, Mr. Plamondon says he had two "flats" before he reached St. Jerome.

Saturday was the 13th!

There was one bright sidelight. The attending physician threw his fee in with the wedding gifts!

'Dave' receives M.A.A.A. honorary life membership

At the Montreal Sportsmen's Association field day at Lachute Golf and Country Club last week, Mayor Dave Campbell was royally feted for his past sports record, and tribute was paid to a contemporary, Leo Dandurand, on his elevation to the Hockey Hall of Fame. There were some 250 present on this all-day occasion, despite the unfavorable weather.

Among mementos presented to "Dave" at the evening function was a trophy from the McGill team he coached to an inter-collegiate title. This was presented on behalf of the University and the players on that team by Dr. Bob Broderick, one of the stalwart defencemen of the club.

He was given an unusual recognition of athletic merit when Sam Tilden presented him with an honorary life membership in the M.A.A.A. . . It was the M.A.A.A. team that Dave had coached to the Allan Cup and the Canadian amateur hockey championship in 1929-30

Some of his old players of the Winged Wheelers present on this occasion (as reported by the Star's Baz O'Meara) were Davey Kerr, Lorne Wilson, Owen O'Hearn, Earl and Desse Roche, Reggie Sinclair, and Jack Gelinas, who became prominent pros after leaving McGill.

Among the old-timers was "Newsy" Lalonde, Geo. Mantha, Butch Bouchard, Jimmy Orlando, Aurel Joliat, Johnny Mahaffey and Glen Harmon, with more recent hockey notables such as Doug Harvey, Phil Goyette, Don Marshall, Bobby Rousseau, Fleming Mackell — and others.

It was one of The Watchman's fellow publishers, Hughie McCormick of the N.D.G. Monitor, himself a one-time hockey player, who recounted Dave's days in hockey, in his testimonial at the evening banquet.

Dave Campbell made this more emphatically a day to remember by winning the Senior Trophy on the golf course, scoring a 42-49-91.

Leading the field in the regular tournament was former Willingdon Cup golfer Gordie Le Riche of Summerlea, who registered a three-over-par 75 to capture the Andy Hamilton Trophy.

To view the sun's eclipse

In a warning on the dangers of eclipse blindness, the Canadian National Institute for the Blind reminds parents that if children watch the eclipse with the naked eye, they may suffer damage to vision for the rest of their lives. Sun glasses, polaroid lens, colored glass, binoculars and even welder's goggles, do not provide sufficient protection for watching the eclipse in safety. Ultra-violet rays of the sun, invisible to the naked eye, focus on the retina. Irreparable burns result, which appear as dark patches in the field of vision for the rest of your life.

The best method is to view the eclipse on television. A second suggestion — use a large piece of thick glass, heavily smoked in the flame of a candle; or expose a photographic film to the light, develop it to full intensity, and view the eclipse through at least two thicknesses.

Council elections in rural municipalities

Reports are received on council elections in several municipalities of Argenteuil County where contests were held on Monday:

Municipality of Mille Isles

In the Municipality of Mille Isles, Sydney Jones was elected by acclamation to the mayoralty.

Also by acclamation, Coun. Garnet Elliott was elected to Seat No. 5 and Coun. John Ward to Seat No. 1.

In a contest on Monday, Leonard Goldsmith was elected, defeating and replacing Coun. David Morrow.

Township of Wentworth

In the Township of Wentworth, Mayor Clarence Neill, Councillors F. W. Hooper and Gilbert Boyd were all returned by acclamation.

For the seat vacated by Coun. Herb Graves there was a contest Monday, in which Paul McLaren polled a decisive 102-30 majority against his opponent, Wm. Birch.

Wentworth North

In the adjoining municipality, Wentworth North, there was a three-way contest for mayor and voting for three council vacancies, resulting in considerable enthusiasm among the electorate.

Sylvio Deslauriers defeated two other candidates, Dieudonné Richer and Georges Lebeau, for the mayoral office. The votes polled were 144, 135, and 95, respectively. Mr. Deslauriers replaces Mayor Ulric Charland.

For Seat No. 1, Gaston Gagné defeated Fernand Courte and Lionel Rose. The votes polled were 122, 119 and 119, respectively.

For Seat No. 3, G. Rochon defeated Walter Ferguson with a 52-vote majority.

In Morin Heights

For the mayoralty of Morin Heights there were four contenders. The mayor-elect is Geo. F. A. Watchorn, who defeated Paul Baumel, S. Jas. Voce and Mrs. Dorothy E. Baugh. The votes (in that order) were 250, 68, 60 and 47. . . Mr. Watchorn replaces Mayor Charles Campbell, who vacates the office for health reasons, after 18 years of devoted service to the municipality.

For Seat No. 2, Geo. H. McDowell (232 votes) defeated the retiring councillor, Geo. Payne (170).

For Seat No. 4, Albert Basler (236) defeated Allan Vaillancourt (169), whose term on council had also expired.

For Seat No. 6, Gordon J. Allan (250) defeated Lucien Jarry (159). A third candidate, André Coulombe, withdrew before the contest.

Township of Gore

Electors in the Municipality of Gore returned Mayor Herbert McDonald, Councillors Leonard Gain and Lloyd Kerr by acclamation to their respective seats.

One vacancy was up for contest on Monday, Seat No. 6, in which Coun. Lawrence Silverson was re-elected, defeating a second contender, Ian McAskill, by 126 votes to 25.

Township of Montcalm

In a contest among three contenders in the Township of Montcalm, Adhemar Gaston Munich, Jr., won the mayoral honors with 97 votes against Thos. Wm. Cooper (34) and Jas. W. Breckenridge (28), former mayor who has served several terms in that office. Mr. Munich is a lawyer and Q.C.

Passer-by calls firemen to blaze in rural home

A small crew of volunteer firemen were summonded to a fire on Route 8, about 2½ miles east of Lachute, around 10.45 p.m. Saturday. They extinguished the blaze, remaining on the scene several hours.

The fire was discovered by a passing motorist, who ran into the building to arouse the occupants, only to find no one at home. The building is owned by Mr. Steckler, of Montreal, and is occupied by Jean-Guy Durocher.

Firemen arrived to find fires burning in the kitchen, cellar, and upstairs, with no apparent connection between them. All were extinguished with the 500-gallon water supply carried on the truck.

Home and School sponsors student to attend United Nations seminar

Pictured here is Miss Ruthanna Barlow, of 476 Thomas Street, whose application to attend a bilingual seminar on the United Nations for high school students, has been accepted by the United Nations Association of Canada.

RUTHANNA BARLOW

Miss Barlow's application was submitted on her behalf by the staff of Lachute High School, and sponsored by the Lachute and District Home and School Association. The invitation was extended to students entering their final year for junior matriculation next September, and included all high schools in the province. The student's scholarship, interest, character, and competence in Oral French, were taken into consideration.

The seminar, which is being held at Macdonald College August 26 to 30, is designed to develop in students a broad concept of citizenship which recognizes the inter-dependence of peoples. This will be achieved by studying world problems, understanding the part Canada plays in the world organization, acquiring an appreciation of and respect for the cultures and viewpoints of other peoples, and creating a permanent and lasting interest in world affairs.

The program will consist of a planned series of lectures, panels, seminar discussions and film showings. It will also include recreational activities, and will afford the widest possible opportunity for students, staff and visiting speakers to work, learn, and live together in an informal atmosphere.

St. Jean Baptiste Societies support J. Lalonde application for a permit

The diocesan St. Jean Baptiste Society — grouping, in the St. Jerome diocese, 7,000 members in 45 different municipalities in Argenteuil, Deux Montagnes and Terrebonne — has sent to the Board of Broadcast Governors at Ottawa a petition supporting Mr. Jean Lalonde's application for a radio station permit in Lachute.

The Society has embodied in this brief the letters of recommendation received by Mr. Lalonde from business firms and various organizations here, supporting his application, to be presented before the BBG at its hearings next month.

The memorandum from the St. Jean Baptiste Society stresses two major arguments:

(1) That any application hitherto submitted by exterior interests, and aiming to serve two provinces and two areas separate by language, culture and business, should be considered illogical and impractical.

(2) That, on the contrary, the proposal made by CKJL (the Laurentian radio) and its president, Jean Lalonde, should have serious consideration and precedence with the BBG authorities, in view of undoubted capabilities of this project to fill the prescribed conditions and to adequately serve the multiple interests of one of the most important regions of Quebec Province.

The reference here to "outside interests" touches the alternative application submitted by Donald Attfield for a permit to establish a radio station "The Voice of the Two Provinces", as opposed to the application by Jean Lalonde. A previous submission by Mr. Attfield was rejected, but it is intended to make another application, having modified the original plans to meet the requirements of the Board of Broadcast Governors.

Support for Mr. Lalonde's proposition was given in letters from various Lachute enterprises, written on the instigation of the Chamber of Commerce.

"If children watch the eclipse with the naked eye, they may damage their vision for the rest of their lives", warns Tony Zaplaski, of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind. In a European eclipse a few years ago, 3,500 people, most of them children, damaged their vision and 500 suffered serious permanent defects. Mr. Zaplaski urges parents to take proper precautions, because eclipse blindness is irreparable.

Many parts of the province will be paying less for electricity by September, says Gerry McNeil, Canadian Press reporter from Quebec. Rates from the suburbs of Montreal to the farms of the Gaspé will go down, with the farmers getting the greatest reductions because they already pay the most for power. . . In communities of between 6,000 and 50,000, the minimum fixed rate would be 35 cents, and the cost of 400 kilowatt hours of electricity would drop to $5.43 from $5.85 a month. . .

Lachute, in Argenteuil County, and Trois-Rivières, would be among communities to fall into this category, says the reporter.

Richelieu clubmen and ladies enjoy yacht cruise on Ottawa

Richelieu Club members and their ladies were treated to a pleasant cruise on the North and Ottawa Rivers, late afternoon last Thursday. Hosts were the owners of three yachts berthed at the "Marinor" in St. Andrews, Mr. Jas. Welden, the Trickey family and Mr. Roger Legault.

This small fleet emerging from the North River into the Ottawa, passed through the new Department of Transport lock at the Quebec Hydro dam — the passage through this lock, involving a lift of 65 feet to higher water upstream, taking less than half an hour. From here, the vessels moved into the expansive lake created by the new Carillon dam, which has changed the face of this waterway and the neighboring countryside.

President Simon Valois piloted the clubmen, wives and guests, while the respective skippers, Jim Welden, Daniel Trickey and Roger Legault, piloted the yachts. An evening lunch was enjoyed on board.

Glider contests draw enthusiasts to Hawkesbury

Members of the Soaring Association of Canada have been gathering at the St. Eugene-Hawkesbury flying field for the Association's 15th national gliding competition, which takes place July 16 to 25.

There are 20 soaring clubs throughout Canada, all members of the Association.

More than 20 Canadian sailplane pilots are expected to compete, and a number of American pilots may enter following the completion of the United States national contests.

The technique of soaring or gliding as used at Hawkesbury is to find a thermal, a rising column of warm air, centre and circle within this thermal and rise with it to a cloud base. Then the sailplane pilot sets his course for cross-country flight and glides to the next thermal.

He repeats the procedure until no further thermals can be found.

Thermal soaring can result in long distance flights. Just recently, the old record of 535 miles was broken in France.

But mere gliding for distance is considered too easy for the competitors in the national contest. They will be set three tasks.

The first will be to fly in a triangle of a certain distance; another to glide to a given point and back, and a third a free distance flight.

The contestants will be judged on their speed as well as distance.

Police seize still near Cornwall

The RCMP seized a still at an isolated farm near Cornwall, one night last week, and arrested two men, one a Rosemount resident.

Charged with operating a still are Amedée Labonté, 64, of Rosemount, and Léon Prieur, of Dalhousie, Ont.

The operation had just started and no alcohol had been produced, the RCMP spokesman said. The still would have had a capacity of 135 gallons per day.

Radio-Canada records programs here this week

The Radio-Canada mobile unit will tape four television programs here, this Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

The themes of these programs are "La Belle Saison", in which singers from Lachute and district will join in French-Canadian folksongs; "Dans Tous les Cantons" (two programs) with folklore and the Kalinka Troupe of local dancers; "Les Croquignoles", a children's program; and "Au Voleur", a fun-fest for entertainers and audience alike.

Spectators' passes may be procured at the town hall on the day of performance, only. The programs, filming and recording will take place in the Radio-Canada tent set up at the Richelieu Park.

By BOB ATCHISON

More and more complaints have been coming in about rifle-shooting around some lakes in this area; and with good reason. Fishing a lake the other evening, shots could be heard, to which I paid little attention until the bullets started skipping across the lake. Then I got out, but fast. I never found out where this shooting was taking place, and believe me, I wasn't too anxious to investigate. . . Naturally, most of the complaints have been against youngsters. This I don't believe; most stupid shootings are done by grown-up persons. It's a poor look-out when we see some of these "GROWN-UPS" with a firearm in their hands. Anything that flies, walks or crawls, is the inevitable target even though they may know laws are in force against this type of shooting.

— But perhaps some of them do NOT know, through simple lack of teaching. This has been so ignored and overlooked, that anyone taking time and trouble to give advice on firearms is looked upon as a "square". I know these laws are in printed form, but how they may be obtained is another question. I believe this is a matter for all governments to see to. My way of correcting this would be to teach them at school age, perhaps in a Natural History class. Surely this would not detract too much from their higher learning. Knowing how to stay alive should be valuable to one's education; also, knowing what is right and wrong, is a constructive step in co-existence.

Notices were made public that government lands would not in future be available to private clubs. It was stated that after a certain date no more applications would be accepted, and nothing done towards granting these lands for private use. . . This may have sounded good at the time, but I wonder why these red herrings are strewn across the path! In some cases these laws have been acted upon; a small individual who wishes to try and improve the whole area, is turned down in his request. But other cases are different. It seems there is a policy of discrimination. It is too bad the Department of Fish and Game has always been a department of political handouts. It is little wonder we have suffered so much in the loss of wildlife. To my way of thinking, the greatest thing that could happen to this department would be to make it non-political and a branch of the civil service, with personnel hired strictly on their merits, and favors granted on the same basis.

"Fire" is a dreaded word to most of us, especially in the home. Outdoors, well (we say) that's just too bad. In most persons this is the general way of thinking. . . I wonder just how many of you have thought of the suffering that is caused by fire in the forest — I mean to our wildlife. Did you ever think what terror this must strike in the hearts of helpless creatures? . . Why this sobbing for them? A couple of the boys called in to tell me of a small fire they had stopped to extinguish right beside the highway — doubtless caused by a cigarette butt thrown out of a passing car. Fortunately, it had only just started; it might not have been so lucky if they had been a little late in coming along.

Ignorance can never be blamed for this. Everyone KNOWS just what happens, yet time after time this is used as an excuse. I don't know just what can be done to educate people to these dangers.

We enjoyed some fishing last week on private lakes. To try and describe this would occupy too much space, but to give you some idea: two hours' fishing, and we had hooked or landed 50 fish. Eight of these we kept. This was fantastic angling, unexcelled even in the Far North. When you stop and consider that we fished two hours and had 50 fish, it figures that one of us (my wife and I) must have had a fish on the hook every two minutes, on the average. None was under half a pound, and others up to one and a half pounds. Every type of fly thrown produced results, it was a good job we did not use droppers, or the score would have been much higher.

The duck season and limits have been listed again, and nothing much has been changed this year. The opening will be advanced one day from that of last year. No change will be likely in the number of hunting days or limits for this year. . . Next year, however, the shooters will have something else to think of. It is proposed the season be moved back one week. This will be a good thing too, as most of us know, far too many "unattached" ducks are around early in the season. By making the opening day one week later, it is hoped these ducks will have moved in with the flights. Another thing that I am glad about, there are, as we know, many young ducks around at this time, in some cases late hatchings; and this will certainly protect them a little better.

The Canadian Wildlife Survey has just completed a round-up on amounts spent by Canadians in the pursuit of fishing and hunting. I cannot print all the figures here but, believe me, it sure is big business. You know I often talk on education for hunters; and by the numbers who participate in this sport, this should be a federal undertaking; 791,000 guns in the bush is no joke! True, most of the hunters are well qualified to handle firearms, but quite a percentage of them have no such knowledge. It is about time something was done, besides talk.

Jean Duguay, chief of the Protection Services, says his department plans to issue the official summary of Quebec game laws EARLY this year. This is going to be wonderful — if true. But promises like this are not new, so don't place too much stock in it.

Excellent catches of bass have been taken from Lake Sir John this past week. Along with the good perch to be had in this part of the County, this makes for very good fishing. Trout are still being taken in Louisa and Silver Lakes — not as many as before and in some cases a lot deeper, but they are still being caught, and this is the important thing. . . As I have said before, this is the best season I have experienced in this area since I landed here. Some excellent doré are being caught in the North River, too; and along with the perch and a few small Northerns, this is another hot spot. Half Moon Lake has ceased to produce, and that is only natural; the water, being fairly shallow, has warmed up a lot. The creeks have not warmed up that much, so it is still possible to get a few brookies of a fair size.

Some potatoes!

Boiling, baking or frying won't do a thing for the "potatoes" displayed here by an employee of Canada Department of Agriculture. The spuds are made of rock-hard plastic. Sets of them, showing varying degrees of imperfections in the vegetable, are being introduced as an inspection staff training aid by the Fruit and Vegetable Division of the department. The plan aims at setting more precise guidelines in interpreting grade standards. The plastic models are being made by members of the staff, using a process developed by the British Columbia Research Council.

Lachute asst. pro ranks third in Quebec Open

Alf Shand, assistant pro at Lachute Golf Club, made a highly creditable showing in the Quebec Open tournament at Sherbrooke last week, concluding the 36-hole play on Saturday in third position.

Two more-seasoned tournament golfers took top honors — Jack Bissegger of Val Morin winning the championship with 74-65 — 139, and Jean-Guy Periard of Boucherville scoring a 70-70 — 140.

In the opening round, the young Scotsman from Lachute tied for top-rating with Adrien Bigras of Marlborough, 34-35 — 69. But in the final reckoning Shand was counting 69-73 — 142, tied for third place with Stan Kolar of Chaudière, while Bigras had slumped seven strokes and dropped to sixth position.

There were 68 professionals and 124 amateurs competing.

Association notes lakes re-stocked

The directorate of the Argenteuil Fishing and Hunting Club wishes to draw attention to the fact that several lakes in this County were re-stocked by the Department of Fish and Game last fall, and members of the club are asked to give strict attention for the conservation of these fish, which were 2-to-6 year old red trout. The fish were transplanted into Silver Lake, Lac Vingt Sous and Lake Macdonald.

The Club is making representations to have similar re-stocking this year in Lake Wentworth and Lake Louisa.

Copies of the Federation of Fish and Game Associations regular bulletin are available to local members free of charge. These may be procured from the Lachute Lunch, Villemaire Shoe Repair, or from the secretary, Denis St. Jacques (LO 2-6031), Lachute.

"QUEBEC THIS WEEK"
By Gerry McNeil,
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Quebec (CP) — Some of the municipalities that take advantage of the winter works program also take advantage of the men who are supposed to benefit from it.

Under the make-work program, the Federal Government pays half the labor costs, the Quebec Government 40 per cent, and municipalities 10 per cent.

But some communities evidently are trying to wriggle around their responsibility in the program.

Raymond Gariepy, Assistant Auditor of the province, told the Public Accounts Committee of the Legislature last week that many municipalities try to keep back part of the workers' wages to meet their 10-percent obligation.

"Many municipalities attempt in some way to obtain the repayment of costs of material used for these works, and also their 10 percent share of director wages," Mr. Gariepy said. "They think up all kinds of ways."

Last spring, the Confederation of National Trade Unions in the Lake St. John region made the same complaint, giving an illustration of how the cheating was done. Some municipalities, the C.N.T.U. explained, charged workers 10 cents an hour for use of tools. Mr. Gariepy said workmen knew they were receiving less than the municipalities reported paying them.

Things may be different next winter, because of the attention the committee and the C.N.T.U. have given the practices. The committee — which is supposed to train a close eye for spending of public money — sat this session for the first time since 1935. The session, which ended July 11, was the third longest in Quebec's legislative history. It began on January 15.

Former resident war veteran, died in Sudbury

Late Cameron A. MacRae

Full military honors were given to the late Cameron A. MacRae, a veteran of World War II, who passed away suddenly from a heart attack on June 22, while en route from his home to hospital in Copper Cliff.

Cameron MacRae was born in Harrington in 1918, and following a short period in Ottawa had resided in Sudbury since around 1952.

Besides his widow, the former Florence Cyr, whom he married in 1949 in Ottawa, he is survived by two sons, Lloyd and Brian, and a daughter, Catherine, at home; his mother, Mrs. Catherine MacRae, of Lachute; eight sisters and four brothers.

The funeral service was conducted by the Rev. G. R. Hoult, of Gatchell United Church, Sudbury, in the midst of many sorrowing friends and relatives.

Interment was in Park Lawn Cemetery at Sudbury.

Young resident succumbs to lengthy illness

Late Irvin Brown

The funeral of the late Irvin Stanley Brown took place on Wednesday, July 10, at St. Simeon's Church, Lachute, with the Rev. Winter LeCras officiating.

Mr. Irvin Brown, son of Mrs. Richard Brown and of the late Mr. Brown, died July 8, at the Smith Clinic, Hawkesbury, in his 23rd year, after a lengthy illness which had kept him mainly confined to hospitals for the past few years.

He was born on September 18, 1940, and had spent many months of his first 15 years in the Shriners' Hospital for Crippled Children, Montreal.

Left to mourn his loss are his mother, Mrs. Richard Brown; two brothers, Grant and Ross; grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Leishman, and Mrs. Nora Brown; several uncles, aunts and cousins. His father predeceased him in 1961, also a brother, in 1959.

Pall-bearers were his uncles, Donald and Jack Leishman, Alan Mair, Russell Brown, George Gain, and a cousin, Ronald Doig.

DOUBLE TROUBLE

The chief constable of a small town is also the veterinary surgeon. One night the telephone rang and his wife answered.

"Is Mr. Thomas there?" asked an agitated voice.

"Do you want my husband as a veterinarian or as constable?"

"Both," came the breathless reply. "We can't get our bulldog to open his mouth, and there's a burglar in it."

Taxes slashed from 'battered budget', public protest, opposition criticism

THE WEEK AT OTTAWA
By Ben Ward,
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Ottawa (CP) — Bowing before an unprecedented storm of protest, Finance Minister Walter Gordon last week slashed $115,000,000 worth of taxes from his battered budget.

He reduced the immediate impact of the 11-per-cent federal sales tax on building materials and production machinery — announced in the budget June 13 — by putting it on a gradual basis. It now starts at four per cent, jumps to eight per cent next April 1 and to 11 per cent on January 1, 1965.

When the budget June 13 announced the 11-per-cent tax, exempting only farmers and fishermen, it touched off an avalanche of protests from premiers, mayors, unions and business organizations of all kinds.

In watering down the tax impact the minister also extended the exemptions to schools, universities and materials consumed by manufacturing processes. The latter item gave relief to a wide class of industrial consumers, notably the publishing and graphic arts field.

Met With Jeers

Opposition critics had a field day as Mr. Gordon recited the details of his budget revision. There was laughter, jeering and cries of "shame, shame," and "chicken," during his 15-minute speech.

George Nowlan, Conservative financial critic, said Napoleon's retreat from Moscow "did not go so far or so fast" as Mr. Gordon's retreat from his original budget.

"Is this the final version?" Opposition leader Diefenbaker called out.

Both were referring to the fact that it was the second time Mr. Gordon had revised his budget. On June 19 he withdrew the controversial 30-per-cent "takeover" tax on sales of large blocks of stock in Canadian firms to foreign investors.

Mr. Nowlan, who was finance minister from last August until the fall of the Conservative government this spring, said he had been criticized as a finance minister who never brought in a budget.

"I would rather be the minister of finance who never brought in a budget than a minister of finance who brought in the worst budget . . ." he said, cheers drowning out his final words.

Milder Reaction

Outside the Commons reaction was a little kinder, although some organizations kept insisting the whole tax measure should have been scrapped. Most spokesmen welcomed Mr. Gordon's revised tax schedule, saying it would give business and industry a chance to adjust to higher costs.

Mr. Gordon at a press conference after making his Commons statement, told reporters that the original tax was "pretty tough" and said he had tried to meet most of the complaints which resulted.

"This will certainly soften the shock," he said, referring to the changes.

The resulting loss in tax revenue will plunge the government deep into the red for this fiscal year. Mr. Gordon estimated that his budgetary deficit will reach $655,000,000 instead of the $585,000,000 deficit he estimated in his budget speech.

Little noticed in the week's news was the departure from Ottawa of the three businessmen Mr. Gordon called in from Toronto to help write the budget.

The "ghost writers," as one Opposition member labelled them, were the topic of bitter debate after Mr. Gordon admitted they helped prepare the budget speech. Things got really hot when Mr. Gordon later revealed that two of them remained on the payroll of Toronto investment houses while they worked in his office. He assured the Commons that they had taken oaths of secrecy, and that none of the budget proposals had been leaked.

This assurance was backed up last week when Prime Minister Pearson gave the Commons reports he had requested from the presidents of the Montreal and Toronto stock exchanges. They said a study of stock trading patterns before and after the budget showed nothing to indicate any foreknowledge of budget information.

Factories to build French cars

Two French automobile makers are still going to establish factories in Canada, reports Clive Baxter in The Financial Post. Making arrangements for Canadian car production are Regie Renault, of Paris, one of the world's largest automakers, and S. A. des Automobiles Peugot, of Sochaux, world's second-oldest car-making firm. Both companies have sent teams to Canada this year to examine prospects. Both companies are negotiating tax and tariff concessions with the federal government to make the step worthwhile. Watch for announcements soon from Ottawa and Paris. In this, they will be following the path blazed by Sweden's A. B. Volvo, which arranged temporary tariff exemptions to help it start assembling cars at Dartmouth, N.S., last month. Where the French companies will set up production facilities in Canada, is in the air.

APPRECIATION

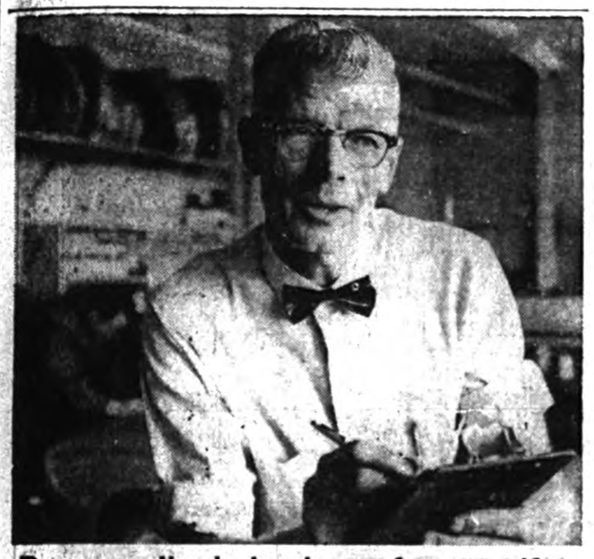

I wish to thank my many friends and relatives for the lovely cards, gifts and flowers they sent me while in hospital.

Women's Institute Bazaar And Musical Program

A large audience attended the annual bazaar of the Women's Institute, held in the school auditorium on Saturday evening. The event was a gratifying success, financially; the greater part of the proceeds will be used in school scholarships, prizes, and library books, as the major objective is helping school work. The various booths were well patronized, and were sold out early in the evening.

At 9:30, the program started, and proceeded without interruption. This was under the leadership of Mrs. E. A. Bulley, and took the form of an "Old Village Choir", all the participants being dressed in old-fashioned costumes. The theme turned back the hands of the clock to long ago. The program opened with a group of three songs, "Whispering Hope", "The Voice of the Village Choir", and "The Old Spinning Wheel". This was followed by an accordian solo by Mrs. Rhoda Dunbar, who was dressed in hillbilly costume. Community singing of old songs followed, led by a ukelele. Following this was an animated tableau, called "Everybody works but father", which created a great deal of amusement. The program was brought to a close with choruses by the choir, concluding with "So long, it's been good to know you".

The Women's Institute tenders warm thanks to all who attended, and special appreciation is tendered to all outsiders who helped, with added mention to Mrs. Rhoda Dunbar, who came from Ottawa to take part in the program, and to Mrs. Leslie Cooke, as able accompanist at the piano.

Winners of two quilts which were raffled were Mrs. Lewis, of Bevan Lake, and Mr. T. Sevigny, of Arundel.

Jehovah's Witnesses

Life in a New World

"The Earth abideth forever". — Eccl. 1: 14

Unto us a son is born, and the government shall be upon His shoulders, and of His government and peace there shall be no end. — Isaiah 9: 6.7.

For Jesus must reign as King, until God has put all enemies under His feet. — 1 Cor. 15: 25.

A complete end to all political corruption guaranteed. What a relief! This is but the beginning of earthly blessings under the rule of God's heavenly Son, Christ Jesus.

The meek shall inherit the earth: and shall delight themselves in the abundance of peace. The righteous shall inherit the land, and dwell therein forever. — Psalms 37: 11.29.

The new world will be a free world. No want or fear will lurk there. Clean speech and true worship will be established as the worth-while freedoms that will be completely realized for for the first time. The prophet Micah sketches some idea of this for us, saying: "But they shall sit every man under his vine and under his fig-tree; and none shall make them afraid: for the mouth of Jehovah of hosts hath spoken it. For all the peoples walk every one in the name of his god; and we will walk in the name of Jehovah our God forever and ever." Yes, even freedom from war: "They shall beat their swords into plowshares, and their spears into pruning-hooks; nation shall not lift up sword against nation, neither shall they learn war any more." — Micah 4:4, 5, 3.

Such unbroken peace can be a wonderful contribution to profitable works. At any rate we are promised that in the new world no building, planting or any labor will be in vain: "And they shall build houses, and inhabit them; and they shall plant vineyards, and eat the fruit of them. They shall not build, and another inhabit; they shall not plant, and another eat; for as the days of a tree shall be the days of my people, and my chosen shall long enjoy the work of their hands. They shall not labor in vain, nor bring forth for calamity; for they are the seed of the blessed of Jehovah, and their offspring with them." — Isaiah 65: 21-23.

Total peace on earth will mean peace among all living things. Peace among men: The righteous King "will judge the poor of the people, he will save the children of the needy, and will break in pieces the oppressor. In his days shall the righteous flourish, and abundance of peace, till the moon be no more." (Psalm 72: 4, 7, 8). And wonder of wonders, peace will destroy enmity among wild beasts and between them and man:

"And the wolf shall dwell with the lamb, and the leopard shall lie down with the kid; and the calf and the young lion and the fatling together; and a little child shall lead them. And the cow and the bear shall feed; their young ones shall lie down together; and the lion shall eat straw like the ox. They shall not hurt nor destroy in all my holy mountain; for the earth shall be full of the knowledge of Jehovah, as the waters cover the sea." — Isaiah 11: 6, 7, 9.

This earth-covering "knowledge of Jehovah" will make possible the very best use of time — and think of the good works possible when renewed minds and bodies do not suffer the relentless inroads of degeneration inherited from Adam! As faithful Elihu illustrated it: "His flesh shall be fresher than a child's; he returneth to the days of his youth." (Job 33: 25). No more will death cut short lives filled with right works. And what of those long dead? The King, Christ Jesus, who is the "resurrection and the life", easily springs the latch on the grave, releasing all who have been retained in the memory of God, indicated by the expression "memorial tombs" which he used as shown at John 5: 28, 29:

"Do not marvel at this, because the hour is coming in which all those in the memorial tombs will hear his voice and come out, those who did good things to a resurrection of judgment." For God-fearing persons, gone forever all sting of death! At an end are all victories for the grave!

To get the book "LET GOD BE TRUE", ask any one of Jehovah's Witnesses. They will be glad to serve you.

Social and Personal

Mrs. G. B. Hewitt arrived home Sunday after spending a week in Halifax as the guest of her son, Bruce, and family.

Four teachers from Lachute High School — Miss Helen Kenney, Mrs. Enid Dixon, Misses Gertrude and Grace McMahon — attended the recent week-long "Culsenaire" at Bishop's University, Lennoxville, a workshop on new procedures in the teaching of Arithmetic.

Mrs. Armando Mondoza and daughter, Anna Maria, from Washington, D.C., are visiting the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Ayers, at "Philengalfair".

Mrs. Lillian Butterfield, from Ossett, Yorks., England, arrived by the Empress of England last week, to take up residence permanently in Lachute. She is residing in East Ward.

Passed Pianoforte Exam

Mary Lowe, a pupil of Miss May Blute, successfully passed her pianoforte examination, Grade 5, with honors, at McGill Conservatory of Music.

Appointed to Directorate

According to a business announcement, Mr. Ernest G. Ayers has been appointed to the junior board of the F-I-C Fund Inc., Investment Company — among ten such junior shareholders named as a board "to acquire practical knowledge which should prove useful to them" in future operation of this company. . . Ernest is a director of Ayers Co. Ltd., Dominion Ayers Limited, and Ayers Stables Ltd.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Blore, of Verdun, are spending a few days' vacation in this vicinity.

Mrs. Wesley Steele and daughters, Linda, Shirley and Mrs. Angus MacIntyre (and baby son, Angus) of Niagara Falls, Ont., are visiting Mrs. Steele's sister, Mrs. Kenneth Kettyle, and friends in the vicinity.

Friends are glad to note the return of Mrs. Allan Rodger, who arrived home Saturday after a lengthy stay in the Royal Victoria Hospital.

To Re-visit Here

Mr. Harry Carter, who had charge of the churches at Lost River, Lakeview and Crystal Falls in 1950 and 1951, has been appointed as a delegate from Texas to a convention in Toronto August 13-23, after which he will take a vacation at "Uncle Walt's" camp in Lost River, and is looking forward to meeting his old parishioners.

Refreshments were served in conclusion.

Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Tomalty, of Lachute, wish to announce the engagement of their daughter, Carol Ruth, to Mr. W. J. Davis MacVicar, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. MacVicar, of Brownsburg. The wedding will be held in Dalesville Baptist Church on September 14.

Fashion Show at l'Esterel This Week-End

Furs, fashion and fun will be keynotes of the Laurentian Tourist and Economic Bureau's "Aqua Elegance - 1963", July 20 to 21 at the Hotel l'Esterel. The Bureau's second annual aquatic fashion presentation after last year's successful event, will feature fur fashions by Eaton's of Canada, Canadian pleasure craft by Ste. Adele Marine and Sports Centre, and the water high-jinks of the Cloutier brothers and their Laurentian Water Ski Club.

Military Whist at Lake Louisa

A most enjoyable whist party was held Saturday evening at the Lake Louisa Country Club, held under auspices of the ladies' branch of that club.

First prizes were won by — Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Sehodé, Mr. M. C. Small, Mr. L. Gatehouse.

Consolation prizes were awarded to Mrs. B. Enlow, Mr. and Mrs. F. Roberts and Mrs. G. Todd.

While refreshments were being served the conveners for the event, Mrs. W. L. Gatehouse and Mrs. M. C. Small, thanked the players for their support to this effort.

Mr. Thos. Iddon, of Lachute, was master of ceremonies for the card-playing.

The Bible Today

The Bible by correspondence is a method of teaching used in many parts of the world. A report in the Canadian Baptist by Waldo Penner tells of the Light of Life Correspondence Course in India.

The demand is so great that new offices are having to be opened up to handle the heavy volume of mail. Questions are sent out to interested persons, along with a copy of the Gospel being studied. The answers are returned to a central office, marked, comments and notations added and sent back to the student along with a new set of questions in successive chapters of that book of the Bible.

Thousands of people are enrolled in courses covering dozens of languages in several countries. Through advertisements in the newspapers, on radio and at evangelistic rallies, people are invited to enroll. Certificates are granted to successful candidates.

"In the first three months our Kakenada office mailed out over 820 Gospels of John to interested new students," Mr. Penner reports. "There are still 450 on the waiting list." Most enrolled students are teen-agers and over 85% are non-Christian.

"The method of correspondence appeals to many non-Christian young people who may hesitate to make a personal approach to a pastor or to another Christian," writes Waldo Penner.

Vacation School closing exercises at Harrington

On Friday night of last week, some 300 people gathered at the closing exercises of the Daily Vacation Bible School, which was held in the Harrington Intermediate School.

The theme of the week was "Christ the King". . . This was a joint effort involving workers and children from three church fields (Baptist, Pentecostal and United). A total of 183 children from Calumet, Pointe-au-Chene, Kilmar, Harrington, Rivington and Lake Keatley gathered at the Harrington Intermediate School for morning classes.

Miss Leishman and the Rev. Mr. Voth directed the two-department school, with the assistance of the Rev. Wm. Toller, who directed the seniors in leather and woodcraft. Mrs. John Rourke and Mrs. Robert Eastwood directed the juniors in cap-stick projects. The administration of the school was under the capable leadership of Mrs. Chapman Meyer and Miss Mary Pearl McMahon. A number of teen-age young people helped in every department.

A 'Diller Dollar' student-participation contest was won by Dexter MacRae. Every student received a merit award through the contest.

Expenses were met by daily children's offerings, and an offering at the closing exercise on Friday evening.

This has been one of the most successful joint Vacation Bible Schools held in recent years. A similar effort is contemplated for next year.

CNIB picnic held despite the rain

In spite of the poor weather, the annual picnic for the blind was held as scheduled, on Tuesday of last week. Instead of basking in the sun and bathing in the cool water at the Brownsburg Rotary Park, a new type of picnic was held, in the hospitality of the Lachute Legion Hall. Although the day was miserable outside, it was cosy and warm indoors, and the sightless people had a "wonderful time". They took part in the different games, and enjoyed the food prepared and served by the Women's Auxiliary of the CNIB.

The Institute is deeply indebted to the following for their kind donations: Lowe Bros. Dairy, J. P. MacKimmie & Sons, J. R. Desjardins. Thanks are also due to the volunteer drivers — Mrs. C. Lowe, Mrs. J. W. Davis, Mr. G. Valois, Boyd's Lachute Express, Mr. G. McOuat, Mrs. C. Stephens and Miss Edna Woods. Finally the Institute, and all the sightless people present, express their thanks to the ladies of the Women's Auxiliary who helped to prepare the sandwiches and cakes, and also to the ladies who so generously gave their time to help at this annual event.

The sun's eclipse – a timely warning

THE ECLIPSE of the sun, on July 20, holds hidden dangers for sightseers. With total eclipse covering across Canada from Alaska to Maine, and partial covering of the sun visible in other parts of the country, millions of Canadians will be anxious to view this seldom-seen phenomenon of nature.

Yet, it is not safe to watch the eclipse with the naked eye or even with dark glasses or polaroid lens. Serious damage to vision may result.

When you watch the eclipse without proper protection, ultra-violet rays from the sun, invisible to the naked eye, focus on the retina. Irreparable burns may occur, which appear as dark patches in the field of vision for the rest of your life.

For safe viewing of the eclipse next Saturday, the following suggestions are offered:

(1) Watch its progress preferably on television.

(2) Use a mirror to reflect the sun on a wall or screen. Do not look into the mirror directly. Ultra-violet rays, bouncing off the mirror, can do the same damage as a direct look at the sun.

(3) Use a large piece of thick glass, heavily smoked in the flame of a candle.

(4) Fully expose an unused film to the light. Then develop it, and view the eclipse through at least two layers of film. Make these preparations in advance, and be prepared.

A spokesman of the CNIB explains the danger of eye trouble from this source: Normally the sun is much too bright for a person to view comfortably. During the eclipse, enough light is blocked out to permit easy observation of the sun. The retina is not sensitive to pain, and the invisible rays burn away, unfelt by the victim.

When the burn is serious enough to damage the retina, no treatment can cure the burns. The scar remains as a defect in sight, showing up as a blind spot on whatever the person is looking at. These burns affect reading, driving and close work where vision is essential.

Last year in a partial eclipse, 31 people of the State of Utah suffered eclipse blindness. In a European eclipse a few years ago, 3,500 people suffered some loss of vision, while 500 persons had eye defects.

Ordinary sun glasses, colored glass or even welder's goggles, are not safe for watching the eclipse. Only by indirect methods can the solar phenomenon be observed without risking damage to your sight.

Design for vacation travel

SOMEBODY SAID the other day that when he has to make an overnight trip, he prepares a "little" list of 40 or 50 items to attend to. Presumably, when he has to make a six-weeks trip, he compiles something of the dimensions of a double-decker novel! Such eccentricities are not to be emulated, of course; and some people, indeed, consider that planning is strictly for the office and the plant — the other extreme. There is a happy medium in all things — and a lot to be said for a check-list, when you load up the car for your holiday travel.

What to take? Don't burden yourself; did you really need everything you carted around last summer? Does this year's objective demand any special requirements? Route? Are your maps up-to-date? The road system undergoes continual development. Basic equipment? Brakes, tires, battery, spare lamp-bulbs, windshield wiper — how long is it since your car had an overhaul? Touring? Have you planned your overnight stops? Three hundred and sixty miles a day is reckoned the maximum most people can manage, at safe speeds and without undue fatigue. If other members of your party can drive, it may be a good idea to let them take turns at the wheel — but forestall possible arguments and disagreements by arranging the matter and laying down the route in advance!

For fatigue is something you must avoid. Next to speeding, it is the greatest generator of accidents. Don't wait until nightfall before you rest; have a break every couple of hours, with a soft-drink or light refreshment. The pause is a good safety precaution.

Must they die?

DURING THE summer months Canadians are accustomed to seeing in their newspapers every Monday a sad total of week-end fatalities in accidents on the highways and the lakes.

When it's a holiday week-end the toll is correspondingly increased. The final solemn reckoning of this year's three-day Dominion Day holiday week-end was a record-breaking 169 accidental deaths across Canada. The count by the Canadian Press showed the death toll passed the previous Dominion Day week-end record — 122 in 1960 — early on the third day, and mounted steadily.

It was Canada's deadliest week-end on record, surpassing even the nation's highest five-day week-end count of 130 deaths during the 1962 Christmas period.

On the Dominion Day week-end this year 83 were killed on the roads and 77 were drowned. Quebec's total more than doubled from a record of 38 in 1958 to 78 this time, including 41 drownings and 33 traffic fatilities. Ontario's total of 53 included 26 road deaths and 25 drownings. Newfoundland was the only province that did not report a fatal accident.

Predictions of highway deaths can be made with gruesome accuracy for every holiday week-end. Provincial authorities constantly issue safe driving cautions. Safety leagues and other organizations endlessly warn of the dangers in swimming and boating.

Is everyone so accustomed to these warnings and safety tips that they no longer pay any heed? Do the great majority feel that an accident always happens to someone else?

How are you going to cut down this tragic waste?

The obvious answers are increased highway patrols, closer supervision of swimming beaches and of boats and boating equipment.

But no laws that could ever be devised will prevent the accidents on road and on water that are caused by momentary carelessness.

It is up to every individual to keep in his heart the three simple rules — care, courtesy and common sense.

Viewpoints and perspectives

THE PENSION PROBLEM — The absence of any budget reference to the federal government's proposed pension scheme has revived speculation about what Ottawa's next move in the pension field will be, says Marian Ogden in The Financial Post. Following representations made recently by various industry groups, urging the government to proceed slowly rather than rush through a pension plan of far-reaching implications, immediate introduction of pension legislation is believed unlikely. There is some thought, however, that to indicate the government's intention to carry through with its idea of a country-wide pension program, the cabinet may introduce a resolution approving compulsory federal wage-related pensions. But the resolution would probably provide for consultation with the provinces as well as public hearings before any legislative action is taken.

SHOULD PROTECT ZONES. — When it comes to contentious rezoning proposals, there is standing room only (in the council chamber). People who buy land in a residential area should have reasonable assurance that the status quo will be preserved, that they will not suddenly be saddled with whining saw, smell of chemicals or belching fumes from a smoke-stack. — Chilliwack (B.C.) Progress

CARE IS NEEDED. — Most people have come to accept the power lawn-mower as just another gardening tool, without giving much thought to the hazards it can present. This is probably why a sizeable number of people lose fingers and toes, or are hit and often killed by hurled bits of wire, stone, or other debris, during the gardening season.

THE LACHUTE WATCHMAN

75 YEARS AGO

Friday, July 7, 1888 —

The eighth annual picnic for employees of the J. C. Wilson Company from Montreal and Lachute, was held in the grove below the paper mill.

Owing to the cloudy sky on Sunday evening, the total eclipse was totally spoiled, as far as observers in Lachute were concerned.

Half of the plank walk on Foundry Street is built, and appears to be a first-class job. Mr. Lafleur is the contractor.

Messrs. Bampton, De Salabery and Page returned on Tuesday from their trip to St. Jerome by boat up the North River.

The water supply has again been turned on, and will flow until the next burst — which may be any time within the next 24 hours.

50 YEARS AGO

Friday, July 18, 1913 —

Canadian factories are busy, labor is fully employed, and thousands of Eastern Canadian workers are getting overtime cheques in their pay envelopes. Everything is growth and development, confidence in the future. Factories are installing new machinery and "Help Wanted" signs are numerous. Many manufacturers cannot keep up with orders. No strikes are encountered. Workmen's homes are appearing in places where hay fields rustled a few years ago.

The residents of "Ivan Bower" propose giving a grand concert in the Town Hall, in aid of the Baptist parsonage fund.

An afternoon tea was served by Mrs. R. D. McKenzie at her pretty home on the banks of the North River — proceeds being in aid of St. Simeon's Church.

25 YEARS AGO

Thursday, July 14, 1938 —

Howard Hughes, millionaire Hollywood producer, flew his plane from Brooklyn to Paris in 16 hours 35 minutes, less than half the time it took Lindbergh to fly the Atlantic.

Dr. A. J. Manion is the new National Conservative Leader.

Tyndale, the Presbyterian camp at Ile aux Chats, is in full swing; 36 girls returned to Montreal, and 48 mothers and children are now in residence.

How they questioned two men in a truck to ask directions to a barn they wanted to investigate at St. Benoit, and how one of the men fled and the truck was found to contain parts of the liquor still they were going to investigate, was told by RCMP officers in court at St. Jerome.

The death of Mrs. W. J. Todd, a respected storekeeper on Main Street West for 45 years, occurred at her home.

The Lachute bandsmen under Alex Guenette, director, participated in the provincial bands festival at Three Rivers.

HOW FAST CAN A FISH SWIM?

A few investigations have been made to decide this question, but a Belgian observer timed a number of salmon and concluded that they can swim a short way at the rate of about ten yards a second, or about as fast as a good sprinter can run. An American observer found that a fish called the alewife can swim at about the same rate as the swift salmon. It is probable, however, that many fish can swim much faster than these figures show. Sharks often accompany swift steamers for days and even porpoises can keep up with a liner for a long time.

VACATION DAYS

Vacation Days are here once more
Just as they were the year before,
When folks forsake the sizzling town
To seek some lake in which to drown.
Still, after all, in lots of ways
I much prefer vacation days;
It's nice to travel and to roam
And write to those who stay at home.
They must endure the stuffy town
While I am happy, fat and brown.
I love to golf and swim and fish
And satisfy each lazy wish,
Or saunter through the woods and shirk
While other people have to work.
And furthermore, I'm never loath
To pluck each doubtful fungoid growth
And test it in my frying pan
To see if it is fit for man.
My folks and I can pitch our camp
Down where it's nice and cool and damp,
Or by a lake with sheltered bays
Oh, how we love vacation days!
They give my scientific wife
A chance to study Insect Life.
And make an opportunity
For Insect Life to study ME!
Be seein' ya!

Animal Care

A HEALTHY DOG

While a cat can obtain its own exercise, it is absolutely necessary to take a dog out at least once a day, even if it is only for a short walk.

The amount of exercise a dog needs depends on the breed. A large sporting type dog should get an hour's hard walk every morning and evening while a small one would be satisfied with half an hour's stroll around the block.

You may start off with good intentions about exercising your dog, but not before he is ready for it. Up to about five months a puppy is not strong enough to go for long walks and should be looked after accordingly. It is as he gets older that you can increase his — and your own — amount of exercise.

There does come a time in a dog's life when some form of medicine is necessary, either on the advice of a veterinary surgeon or because he has worms or some other minor complaint.

Administering medicine to an animal should be made with the minimum of fuss. It is not usually possible to give the medicine in food because the dog is either suspicious or, if sick, unwilling to take any food and drink.

The smaller dogs can be placed on a table while, in the case of larger ones, it may be necessary to put them in a corner so that they can't back away.

When giving liquid medicine merely make a pouch of the loose fold at the corner of the lips, run the liquid in and, holding the chin up slightly, rub the nose and throat until the dog swallows.

For solids, open the mouth by pressing behind the large corner tooth or by pressing the lips inwards over the teeth. A pill or powder can then be dropped in on the back of the tongue. Carry out these actions gently but firmly and the dog will understand you are trying to help him.

WHY IS YAWNING "INFECTIOUS"?

A yawn is a very deep breath. It depends, as a rule, on the fact that from one cause or another our breathing, or our intake of oxygen, has fallen below what is needed. The yawn is an attempt to make it up. It is a very well-known fact that one human being can affect another by what is called suggestion. . . If everyone around us is laughing and happy, we are likely to laugh and feel happy; or if they are all miserable, we become miserable too. And so yawning is more powerfully conveyed by suggestion — is infectious, as we say — than almost anything else because it happens to deal with the most urgent need of all life, which is to breathe. Generally, however, people are infected with the desire to yawn only when they themselves are sleepy or tired, or are not getting enough oxygen.

The Canadian Pocket Annual

To better inform Canadians about Canada is the useful purpose of the pocket-size encyclopedia, Quick Canadian Facts, just out in its 19th annual edition. Do you want to check on how many men have served as Prime Minister? The answer is that the Rt. Hon. Lester Pearson is the 14th, and the fourth Ontario-born Prime Minister. Or which is the country's fastest-growing city? It is Calgary, Alta., 10th largest, which has nearly doubled its population in a decade. Or the number of time zones that cross Canada? There are seven, and the time difference between Newfoundland and the Yukon is five and one-half hours. Or the average income tax payment? It was $406 in the most recent year of record.

The new edition of this 144-page, 50-cent paperback concisely covers Canada's economy and government, geography and history, its population and noted persons, trade and industry, commerce and finance. The book is distributed through book stores and leading newsstands, and is published by Quick Canadian Facts Limited, 217 Bay Street, Toronto.

Eclipses – yesterday and in 1963

— By NANCY CLEAVER —

A total eclipse is one of the most dramatic and fascinating of events. The attention of the world will be focused on the Split-Lake area on the Churchill River, 500 miles northeast of Winnipeg, where scores of scientists and hundreds of amateur astronomers will watch on Saturday, July 20, at 3.04 p.m. Central Standard Time, the moon travel across the face of the sun and hide it completely for 82 seconds.

Ancient peoples were terrified by the sudden darkening of the sunshine during an eclipse. They explained it in various ways. For thousands of years the people of India beat their gongs and shot arrows into the air trying to kill the huge dragon with black jaws which was eating up their sun and the Chinese also did their best to frighten the sun-eating dragon. In Peru men whipped their dogs during an eclipse in the hope that the howling of the poor animals would scare away the evil spirits who had captured the sun. The ancient Greeks thought their God Zeus hung a curtain over the sun so that the other Gods on Mount Olympus could not watch his actions on the earth.

The outcome of a war has been influenced by an eclipse. Herodotus, the historian tells of the Medes and Lydeans, who had been fighting five years, when a solar eclipse occurred just as they were about to go into battle May 28, 585 B.C. They watched the sky and then laid down their arms and made peace.

In those early days there were all kinds of explanations of the night sky. The Greeks were outstanding philosophers and in the 6th Century B.C. Ananimander maintained the sun, moon and the stars were simply holes in the sky above, through which fires shone from above and that an eclipse appeared when the sun's hole was stopped up.

Another theory was that the sun and moon were like golden glider planes floating in the air and occasionally a dark body hid them from sight, causing an eclipse. Another Greek, Xenophanes, thought there was a new sun each morning, and an eclipse happened when one of the suns burned up completely before it got across the sky.

Heractitis had the idea that the sun and moon were bowls filled with fiery exhalations from the earth which gradually turned around and when the sun's bowl had turned around completely there was an eclipse.

Suddenly Anaxagoras, born about 500 B.C., came up with the true explanation. He said the moon is of an earthly nature deriving its light from the sun. An eclipse is caused when the moon comes directly between the sun and the earth and its shadow falls on a portion of the earth, wiping out the sun's rays.

What would you, living in the mid-20th century, which has suddenly awakened to great interest in the universe, add to this explanation of an eclipse ?

Those who are fortunate in seeing the total eclipse on July 20 will have the experience of a lifetime. The press and radio will carry reports of this event which is bound to stimulate an interest in star-gazing.

Why not visit your public library and borrow a book on amateur astronomy, such as The Golden Book of Astronomy, and read what it says about an eclipse.

Keep a record of your adventure in star watching. Plan to make a scrapbook of newspaper clippings describing the total eclipse and add your own quotations from star books.

Extending life of blooms for sale

Shipping daffodils to grace Eastern Canadian homes at Easter has become an important business for some British Columbia growers.

But, because Easter falls on widely varying dates and because of variable weather conditions, it is a risky business, says Dr. D. J. Ballantyne, of the federal experimental farm at Saanichton, B.C. When Easter is late, flowers must be stored for some weeks and on removal, rarely last more than three days.

However, the researcher reports that progress is being made on the bloom life of cut flowers.

At Saanichton, preliminary experiments indicate that three chemicals — Verdan or N6-benzylaminopurine, kinetin and naphthalene acetic acid — may prolong the bloom life of stored cut King Alfred daffodils if applied as flower dips.

However, says Dr. Ballantyne, further experiments will be necessary to determine the application of these results commercially.

Green salad, smorgasbord style, is an invitation to a cool meal. The big bowl of crisp greens, shown here, is circled (left to right) with curly pink shrimp, lobster meat, tuna, herring rollmops, salmon, and sardines. Guests make their own salads.

Summer Smorgasbord

An invitation to a cool meal is provided by a novel idea — a summer salad served smorgasbord style. Though novel, this idea is simple. It consists of bringing a big bowl of crisp, mixed greens, the dressing, and the "go-alongs" to the table in separate containers. The greens and the dressing are tossed at the table and served into individual bowls, then the guests help themselves to a selection of the other ingredients.

A nice point about this type of summer main course is that the hostess can expand or minimize it to suit the number of guests. Moreover, family and guests enjoy making their own salads. Fish is always a must at a smorgasbord and so among the foods offered there should be a selection of seafood items. Canned and marinated fishery products are a good choice because they are ready for instant use. Here are a few suggestions from the Consumer Branch of the Department of Fisheries of Canada.

Seafood Selections

Crab or Lobster: Drain the meat and break it into bite-sized chunks, removing any bits of cartilage which may be present. Serve nestled on watercress and garnished with tomato wedges.

Marinated Herring Rollmops: Drain and serve bordered with thinly cut orange slices. Garnish with crisp onion rings, cut paper thin.

Shrimp: Drain. Remove the dark sand vein if this has not been done. Rinse with cold water. Serve on crisp cucumber slices.

Sardines: Drain several cans of Canadian sardines packed in oil. Place in a shallow dish and cover with full strength vinegar. Chill for about half an hour. Drain well. Place on serving dish and surround with overlaping slices of hard-cooked egg. Garnish with green onions.

Meat eaters' shopping habits

Bacon is the most popular single meat item, according to the National Consumer Panel of the Market Research Corporation of America. Four out of five families buy bacon at least once every two weeks and serve it five times during that period of time. These facts were reported at the recent Super Market Institute's 26th annual convention held in Chicago.

About 20% of bacon is eaten as an ingredient or supplement to another dish. Approximately 75% is eaten at breakfast time.

Older families, those in the 35 years and over group, were larger purchasers of bacon than younger families.

Younger families, however, buy more ground beef. In a two week period, younger families eat ground beef an average of three to four times. Weiner consumption seems to vary with income. In general, the higher the income, the more weiners are consumed. Steaks are served in six out of ten homes at least once every two weeks.

Chicken still appears to be a Sunday favorite. Monday through Thursday is a good time for pork chops, luncheon meats, and hams.

Teatime Topics

Specially Written for The Lachute Watchman

By Patricia Rusak, Canadian Press Staff Writer

The festive atmosphere of an English country fair was created by members of the Glenhyrst Arts Council for their annual antiques sale and show held this spring in Brantford.

In addition to high tea each afternoon and fashion shows of period costumes dating from 1860, they planned gourmet dishes served from a flower decked marquee.

Included on the menu was sosatie (South African Kebab), onion tart and pigeons leete, none of which is difficult to make. But they do take time.

For the sosatie, cut the meat from one leg of lamb or mutton and two pounds of pork into bite size pieces into a china bowl and sprinkle with salt and pepper.

Cut two large onions into a saucepan, cover with water and boil for five minutes. Then drain off the water, add two tablespoons of dripping and brown the onions slightly. Add one cup of water and stew the onions until tender.

To the onions add one tablespoon curry powder, one tablespoon corn-flour, two tablespoons sugar, one teaspoon salt and two cups of mild vinegar, then boil for three minutes and leave to cool.

Stand for Days

Add a few crushed lemon leaves and ½ cup stewed dried apricots and when cold, cover the meat with sauce and let it stand for two or three days, stirring every day.

Before serving, string the meat on wooden or stainless steel skewers, alternating the lamb with the pork, and grill slowly over a glowing fire.

To make onion tart, line a tart ring or pie dish with the following pastry :

Sift two cups flour on to a pastry board and make a well in the centre. In the well, put two tablespoons of grated parmesan cheese, 1½ cups sweet butter broken into pieces, ½ teaspoon salt and ¼ cup of ice water. With the fingers, work the centre ingredients into a smooth paste, quickly work in the flour then knead the dough lightly and chill for an hour before using.

For the filling, heat three tablespoons of butter in a heavy saucepan, stir in 2½ pounds of white mild onions thinly sliced and cook over gentle heat, stirring constantly until onions are almost transparent. Remove from the heat and cool.

Stir in one cup of sour cream, four tablespoons of dry sherry, three well-beaten eggs; season with salt, pepper, and a dash of nutmeg, thyme and cloves, and then fill the pastry shell.

Top the pie with four slices of bacon cut into squares and bake at about 350-375 degrees Fahrenheit for about 30 minutes, until filling is firm. Serve the onion tart as hot as possible.

Pigeon Per Person

To make pigeons leete, stuff pigeons (allowing one per person) with stoned prunes and then brown with butter. To the butter left in the pan, add 2½ tablespoons of flour and some brown stock until the sauce has a good consistency. Pour the sauce over the pigeons, cover, place the dish in a pan of water and cook for four hours at 350 degrees. Added mushrooms and sultana give more flavor.

TORNADO TOPPLES UPPER LACHUTE BUILDINGS, TREES

Tornado twists machinery, demolishes building

The remains of an implement shed, constructed of good quality material, and located on the John Robertson Farm, Upper Lachute, following the tornado which dumped a portion of the roof in the nearby North River and tossed yet another section on the far riverbank. The machinery in and around the structure was seriously twisted. The hay rake at the left, see arrow, was moved some fifty feet and only came to a halt when the shafts were driven two feet into the ground. The top of a large pine tree, indicated by the arrow in the centre of the picture, was twisted off its trunk, located 17 feet away.

A black tornado, described by Upper Lachute residents as a whirling, advancing funnel under a dark cloud, caused approximately $15,000 damage on Thursday afternoon, July 18, as it skipped around a section of Upper Lachute, playing havoc with buildings, machinery and mature, stately pine trees.

The most extensive damage was caused to Henri Carriere's garage, which adjoined the restaurant on Route 41, where the tornado struck at 2.40 p.m. Here, the flat roof was torn from the building and a portion was found 425 feet away, the majority being just over 600 feet from the cement block building, which collapsed on the contents, including an automobile.

First evidence of the storm damage could be seen in close proximity to the Younkie Farm, where a tree was twisted to the ground. From here, the whirling wind picked up a machinery shed owned by Fred Pring, and dropped it a short distance away, demolishing the structure. Donald Leishman's property was next on the list and here a large Poplar tree was uprooted against the house, causing considerable damage and lifting the roof.

Henri Lebrun, who operates the chicken farm, was next in line for the hopping funnel of fury as it tore the roofing material from his main barn. From there, it crossed the highway to the Carriere garage. Mr. Carriere reported he had realized a storm was in the offing and had gone to the garage to close the large doors. "This I had to do by pushing against the doors with my back, using crow-bars on the cement floor to hold every inch I gained. When I had finally barred the door, I noticed daylight in an upper corner of the garage, and immediately left for the adjacent restaurant. All of a sudden, there was a rip and a crash and we could see daylight through the connecting doorway. It was only seconds after this that the walls collapsed and the hail started". Numerous residents of the district, as far west as Whisseltown, reported they had never seen a hail storm of such intensity and raining such large hail stones.

From the Carriere garage, the tornado headed towards the North River summer camp settlement, carrying a portion of the garage roof some 600 feet with it, and blazed its way through dense bush, uprooting and twisting the tops off mature trees in a hop, skip and a jump fashion, until it unfurled its wrath on James Robertson's property, adjacent to the residence of the Rev. and Mrs. Wilmer Rosborough. Here, in excess of 20 mature Pine trees were demolished, several narrowly missing the house and one crashing onto the car and near-by garage roof. The Rev. Rosborough reported the event as being "a bolt from the blue". "The severe damage of the storm was over in a matter of seconds. After that, the hail and wind caused considerable concern but no actual damage", he reported. Here, as in other sections of the community, power and telephone lines were down, but the restoration of services was reported before darkness had set in.

John Robertson's property was next in the roving path and here, a first quality implement shed measuring 24' x 46' was demolished, a portion of the structure being lifted more than 200 feet across the river; the machinery in the shed was seriously damaged. Countless pine trees were uprooted and the tops of several were twisted off, the trunks sticking 25 to 30 feet into the air.

Mr. Robertson was working in a field aided by Jackie Hadley and

Argenteuil Hospital opens doors to serve district population

First born in new hospital

Honor of having the first baby born in the recently opened Argenteuil Hospital goes to Mr. and Mrs. Toussaint Robertson, Meikle Street, Lachute. The baby, a daughter, was born at 3.34 a.m. Thursday, less than twelve hours after the official opening of the hospital. Dr. Marcel Sylvestre was the attending doctor and was assisted by Nurse Monique Giroux. Mr. Robertson is an employee of Ayers Limited and the couple have two other children.

A necessity for many years, and eleven years in the talking, planning and building stage, the Argenteuil Hospital on Wednesday last opened its doors for the first patient. It was at 4.15 p.m. that the transfer from the old Providence Hospital, on Princess Street, to the new structure on Providence Blvd., was completed; the moving got underway at 8 a.m.

Members of the Chamber of Commerce and a group of citizens assumed charge of the transfer which was directed by Guy Allard, director-general of the hospital, and Gabriel Valois, representing the Chamber of Commerce. The move was made without incident.

Dr. Marc Papineau, president of the Medical Bureau, assumed charge of shipping all the supplies while Dr. Roger Lavigne, medical director of the new hospital, supervised the receiving.

The transportation of patients, 14 in all, was carried out by the municipal emergency vehicle and ambulances operated by J. P. MacKimmie Reg'd., and Rolland Menard; the blood bank reserve was transferred by the municipal police, while a provincial police escort assured the safe arrival of narcotics and other medications.

Those concerned voiced appreciation at the devotion of a Gatineau Power employee, Real Lepine, for his assistance during the moving operations and being on constant duty from the beginning to the end of the moving operation.

Leopold Dufresne, director of the Social Service office was responsible for the excellent turn-out of volunteer helpers.

Vehicles for the moving were supplied by Boyd's Express; Desjardins Transport; L'Heureux Dry-Cleaners; Jacques Richer; L. St. Jacques Ltée; and Lucien Cyr. Other establishments were unable to answer the appeal for various reasons.

The Argenteuil Hospital is now in operation and at present the personnel comprises of forty-odd persons.

B'burg contract for sidewalks; dog law passed, a 'long battle'

(Our District Correspondent)

Brownsburg — With a steadily increasing need for the security of a larger police force in the community, the Brownsburg Council opened recently-called tenders for the position of constable, at the regular monthly session. Six individuals applied for the post, which will provide the town with police surveillance for more hours per day, and at the same time reduce the number of overtime hours that Chief Tom Williams has been serving almost as a routine. There is a limit to the number of hours a man can work and maintain his effectiveness. . . Seems like Council has realized this, and is now doing something about it.

Council also examined tenders from two firms for construction of some 12,000 feet of sidewalks in the community. One estimate for cement sidewalks with a special curb was set at $3.10 per running foot, while the cost of regular walks was set at $2.85 per foot by one firm and $2.60 by the other. The latter tender was accepted — in principle, at least, since the town is not prepared to make an immediate start on the project which would provide walks on Maple Avenue, Park Avenue, St. Joseph and on other streets.

A request from Mr. Gaston Lacasse for water and sewerage services for his building lot on St. Lawrence Street, met with a cool reception when Council was advised by the town's engineer that the cost of the project could run as high as $10 per foot. With a 200-foot run to Mr. Lacasse's lot, Council balked at investing the money, with the return being only that water tax levied on the one homeowner. It was suggested that the town could put the services in, then charge the lot-owners a flat rate until homes are built. Sounds simple enough, but the big stumbling-block, of course — where does the money come from to pay for the project originally? — A perennial problem, with no solution in sight.

While on the subject of water, Mayor Donaldson noted that recent tests had shown the local drinking water to be normal again after a high bacteria count a few months ago. Mr. Donaldson stated in passing that he had been told that the town water is much better than that of some nearby communities.

The final cost of the Woodbine Street-McVicar sewerage project was set at approximately $12,000; and strangely enough, Council seemed worried because the contractor (B. & P. Hall Bros.) had not been paid. All councillors felt that payment should be made immediately, but lack of money halted proceedings once more. The bonds issued by the town for the project had not yet been sold, and through a slip-up, a temporary bank loan had not been obtained to cover the situation. Application for a loan was to be made immediately, even though it was believed that the sale of bonds would take place in a short time.

Police Chief Tom Williams' report listed 21 speeding tickets issued, along with 9 for illegal parking, 8 for red-light infractions, and 2 for dangerous driving. In addition, two drivers were pulled up for driving under the influence of alcohol. Councillor Gerald Vowles voiced an unofficial opinion that the 8 red-light infractions could be listed as

Trial delayed in White Acres shooting, robbery

Trial in St. Jerome of Paul André, 19, of Cornwall, one of four men charged with attempted robbery with violence and breaking and entering, was adjourned recently until Friday, August 9.

André will undergo medical and psychiatric examination in the meantime.

Charles Allinnotte, 24, of Cornwall, who faces a further charge of discharging a gun with intent to cause bodily harm in connection with the June 28 shooting of Arthur White at Calumet, will also probably be tried on that date.

Two other men, Harold Ingram and Hilton Beauclair, both also of Cornwall, who pleaded guilty to charges of attempted robbery with violence and breaking and entering, will be sentenced at the time André and Allinnotte face trial.

The charges are connected with the attempted robbery at the White Acre Lodge tourist hotel near Calumet. The four men were also charged with breaking and entering a store in Grenville, where they stole four guns, and with breaking and entering a restaurant at nearby Kilmar.

Fire destroyed Round Lake Inn

The 40-room two-storey Round Lake Hotel in Weir, burnt to the ground Friday, July 19.

Only two guests were registered, and the proprietor, Edward Shippel, was alone in the hotel having breakfast when the blaze broke out between 6 and 7 a.m.

The hotel was built 60 years ago, and an addition was made in 1948.

Providence Hospital Sisters honored

A farewell gathering for three sisters of the Providence was held in Lachute's Providence Hospital on Thursday afternoon of last week. The guest of honor at the informal gathering was Sister Gabrielle, Sister Superior and Directress, a familiar figure at the institution since its opending close to 20 years ago, who was the recipient of a watch by the local Medical Association, and both a Key and a Freedom of the City award from the Town of Lachute. Seen above are Ald. Dr. Lyall Middleton, who represented Mayor Dave Campbell; Dr. Marc Papineau, president of the local Medical Bureau, shown presenting the watch to Sister Gabrielle; Sister Francoise, Night Supervisor and Sister Anne Josephine, Accountant, both of whom were the recipients of prayer books.

Lachute included in fluorine tests, Quebec Province

Health minister Dr. Alphonse Couturier last week announced that use of fluorine in the water of several Quebec municipalities, including Lachute, had cut dental cavities by 60 to 65 per cent and the number of children without any cavities at all had increased five to six times.

Dr. Couturier said his figures came from a preliminary report made by his department on conditions in Pointe Claire, Dorval, Ste. Anne de Bellevue, Pont Viau, Berthierville, Chomedey, Rock Island, Stanstead, Acton Vale, Joliette, Candiac, St. Joseph de St. Hyacinthe, Lachute, St. Lambert and Three Rivers, where water is fluoridated.

The health minister noted that apparatus for fluoridating water costs from $5,000 to $6,000 for equipment supplying 5,000,000 to 6,000,000 gallons a day. Cost is equivalent to 15 cents a person per year.

As is the case with many elements, the report states, fluorine is a poison in toxic quantities, but in fluoridated water it is safe at only about one part in 1,000,000 parts of water.

By BOB ATCHISON

A story passed on from a gent at Lake Hughes sure indicates poor sportsmanship. Out fishing this past week, his attention was drawn to a mother loon and her brood. They were swimming around what appeared to be a floating board uttering cries. His curiosity finally got the better of him and he rowed over to see just what all this noise was about. Getting closer he spotted a small loon that appeared to be caught in some wire attached to this board. Thinking the loon had become entangled, he started to try and free it, however on getting closer he was horrified to find the loon was caught by the mouth with a heavy cord. Finally catching this little creature, the butt part of a large hook could be seen protruding from the beak. The young loon finally had to be killed and when opened, a large hook baited with rotten meat was found. Naturally it had been swallowed by the little creature and had become caught. It had been set out, I would imagine, for just this purpose by some person who has not one scrap of feeling toward anything. It is hard to imagine a person so low that they have to inflict this kind of cruelty on a creature of God. Supposedly we are civilized, yet when one hears cases like this you begin to wonder just what kind of sadists we have on the loose

I think this story will end all stories, though. Gordon Bradley gave me a call one day this past week to tell me of his little female Corgi, which recently had given birth to two pups; however one of them died shortly after birth. Being the first litter this little dog had borne, it was upset to the point of whining, etc. Shortly after she was seen with two little squirrels in her bed along with the other pup. Yep, believe it or not, she had adopted them. Evidently the mother squirrel had met up with some mighty hunters. One of the squirrels died within a short time but the other one is coming along fine. This is the part that gets me however, this baby squirrel is suckling on the Corgi. Imagine anyone seeing a squirrel that barks like a dog.

We have been having exceptional fishing these past few weeks, the latest is in the North River. Northerns are naturally the fish in question; two I have heard of are good, one is a 15¼ pounder taken by Grant Whone, while trolling with a spoon and the other was caught by a gent from Lake Sir John; who was visiting this area for a week. This was a 22 pounder and was taken spinning with a Red Devil lure. A couple of fair Doré have also been caught around the Bull's Tongue, one of these I saw was five pounds. Now for the trout, Louise is getting better if that is possible. These Greys are not too big but they sure do make up for their lack of size in quantity. The occasional Brown, and from the description given me, a Land-locked Salmon, were all taken during this past hot spell, seemingly throwing away the idea that fish will not bite in hot weather. Silver Lake though is the tops, last Monday a 6½-pound Rainbow was taken by a policeman from Morin Heights while trolling. Lake McDonald has given up some good Bass, and believe me these are good. Even the creeks and small rivers have been producing; the West River has been the best and as far as I am concerned this body of water has certainly been good to me this year.

Our Moose seem to be having a Tourists existence these days, being sighted all over the County, along with numerous fawns and does. A young Panther has also been seen, not too sure of what it might be at first, my informant certainly had a good look at it from the description given me. The long tail and coloring on it finally did the trick. Ducks are also around in increasing numbers, but they won't be for long if the couple of jokers using shot guns on the river, near Colford Lodge have their way. With the young around, these mature ducks will take a terrible beating from guys like this.

I have heard a number of stories about Lake Sir John this past week, some of them make you wonder after you have had the misfortune to listen to the radio advertisement that states and I quote "WE LOVE CHILDREN". All the trouble seems to centre around the swimming and use of private beaches. I don't really know just what is happening and I suppose it is none of my business but a person does get curious. Especially after some of our local citizens have tried to be of some help under the most adverse conditions. This all seems to be forgotten though.

There is also the report that says the under-pass of the bridge will be closed to all boats not belonging to the lake. I really don't think anyone has to worry about this.

Crows are very much in voice these days. It appears some of the shooters have given up this sport for the time being, and this naturally will make for better shooting later on when they no doubt hope these crows will not be so scary. With the new crows, or I should say the ones born this year, there is a good chance for an excellent fall shoot, but by then they will have smartened up a lot, so maybe it will be just as well to take a crack at them right now. Hay and in some cases oats are being harvested so they are gathering in these areas in good numbers. One of the best shoots I have had this year was with papier maché decoys and an Owl. Believe me this was sport of the highest order. As a rule we know the crow is a pretty smart bird to bring in to guns, but with the Owl decoy they just throw all caution to the wind. Result one less killer.

The increase in Partridge is very marked this year. I have seen some very good coveys and even the Pheasants ar getting into the act. There are a few of them nesting along the river; where, you will have to find out for yourselves, but they are there. Doves are also back in large flocks, so along with everything else we would appear to be in on a good fall shoot.

Once again fire is in the news, we in this district have been fortunate so far, and let us hope we stay that way, but we have to work at being lucky, you know. Butts, matches, etc., all have a place to be placed and our forests are not that place. With the lack of rain right now, even a cigarette butt alongside a road can do a good deal of damage before it is stopped. So think a little before you throw anything out of your car window.

The latest dirt on detergents is as follows: The State of Maryland has adopted regulations forbidding industries and car-wash establishments to flush untreated detergents into septic tanks, streams, etc. This law will come into effect January of next year. Maryland certainly must have ample proof of the damage these chemicals do to everything they come in contact with, hence this law. No such action is being taken by any other state or in our case Province, but maybe some day this government of ours will bring in some laws dealing with this situation. I don't know just how many of you have ever been up as far as St. Jerome by boat. It's not easy I'll admit, but it can be done. Only try this if you have a strong stomach though. This is a perfect example of how to kill your waters; thick black scum floating and clinging to everything in sight. The usual results from detergents and lack of sewage disposal plants. To put it mildly a STINKING MESS.

Most of us think of water as being a never ending supply and fit for everything and anything. Most people don't realize that we are slowly but surely killing this golden goose, with all this stupidity about water. All of us have seen rivers, creeks, etc., that have slowly changed from money producing water to "loss" water. It won't be too long before we are confronted with the problem of having no fit water, then what do we do. I have noticed as I'm sure everyone else has, the apparent lack of concern on the part of "governments in general" to do anything worth while about this problem. It could be that "Big Business" is dictating the policy of the governments in this case, and that Water Boards are there in name only, with no action now being contemplated from them.

Garage roof carried 600 feet

The remains of the former MacLean Garage and restaurant, located on Route 41, Upper Lachute, and now owned by Henri Carriere, following the tornado of Thursday afternoon, July 18. The severely damaged car was surrounded with rubble and the cement block walls which caved in when the roof was ripped off. The adjacent restaurant was not severely damaged. Three garbage pails, see arrow, located in the front of the building and in the path of the tornado, were not touched.

Carl Napp, when the tornado struck. They jumped under the wagon and moments later, saw daylight above them as the plank flooring was torn off above their heads. A little closer to the house, Stan Horne, a visitor from Knowlton, saw the approaching storm and decided to run to shelter, and was severely peppered with hail stones which were described as being chunks of ice. Mr. Horne's car, parked at the foot of a tree, was demolished.

Mrs. Robertson reported her chicken house was moved six feet, and several chickens were killed. "A large apple tree was picked up and rolled through a field of 1,000 gladioli and 12 large shade trees in the field across the highway from the house were uprooted, as well as the three in front of the house", reported Mrs. Robertson, who witnessed the damage from a window.

The Willow's Farm was next to report any extensive damage and once again, it was stately trees which suffered. From here, the tornado headed through the woods towards Cote. St. Louis, however no damage of any consequence was in evidence in that area.

Damage of a minor nature to countless T.V. antennas and chimneys was reported, and other summer residents had trees or branches on roofs, missing boats on the river, damaged lawn chairs, land-scaping ruined and other complaints of a not too serious nature compared with property in the direct path of the storm. The most common comment from residents and townspeople who flocked to the area in droves, was the fact "it was a miracle no one was killed or even injured".

dangerous driving also. . . However, one might go farther and list all 40 offences as dangerous driving!

Councillor Germain Doth voiced the opinion that speeding had been reduced in town. His view was shared by one or two of the other councillors, although another one or two were silent on the issue — perhaps feeling, as this reporter does, "We've got an awfully long way to go before our town has a reputation of being hard on speeders."

While speaking of police affairs, Mayor Donaldson noted that the curfew did not seem to be as effective as it should be, since there were quite a number of children out after 9 p.m. Each such child under the age of 14 is subject to a $2 fine. — If the system doesn't work, perhaps it's time for a change; perhaps we don't need the system at all.

Latest news on the "dog by-law": It is official now — the by-law has been approved, and it is illegal for owners to allow their dogs to run loose. They must be confined to the owners' property unless they are being walked, during which they must be kept on a leash. In addition, all dogs must be confined within the owner's house from 10 p.m. to 8 a.m., and all owners are responsible for keeping their pets quiet . . .

James McPhee, auctioneer, killed as tractor topples

James McPhee, 30, widely known Vankleek Hill auctioneer, met death Wednesday afternoon of last week when trapped under his overturned tractor.

The young farmer was dead when found in one of his fields by a hired man sent to investigate when he failed to return home for supper. He had been plowing when the accident occurred on his farm.

Mr. McPhee had been seriously injured in another farm accident some five years ago when he lost his right arm in a forage harvester. He later went to the U.S. to take a course in auctioneering and had since conducted many sales in this area.

He had been associated with the Vankleek Hill Livestock Exchange and the Glengarry Commission Auction at Lancaster.

Word of his tragic death reached his father, Donald A. McPhee, in Saskatoon where he was attending the funeral of a sister, Mrs. Raymond Archibald.

The late James F. McPhee was born at Vankleek Hill, a son of Donald A. McPhee and his wife, the former Marjory Fraser, of Williamstown.

In addition to his parents he leaves his wife and two young daughters, Cathie, 3 and Jean Ann, two months. Three brothers also survive.

On Sunday, the motor boat was featured, and two former Brownsburg residents, Ron Cumbers, owner, and Bill Birch, driver, teamed-up to win the fastest boat on the lake award.

Montrealer wins soaring contest at Hawkesbury

Hawkesbury — Dave Webb, 33-year-old chief flying instructor for the Montreal Soaring Council, won the Canadian soaring championships on Wednesday, July 24, after poor flying conditions washed out a superb flight by Dick Schreder of Bryan, Ohio.

Webb was declared the winner because he compiled most points in the four events that were declared full contests during the 10-day gliding meet which was plagued by bad weather and lack of good updrafts.

Four contests are the minimum for an internationally sanctioned title.

Schreder, who finished third over-all, was the only one of 21 pilots to complete a 50-mile triangle race yesterday in what were described as "most difficult" soaring conditions.

Championship rules call for the event to be declared no contest if fewer than four gliders complete 35 miles of the course.

Webb, flying a British-made Slingsby Skylark 4, compiled 3,524 points for his first Canadian championship. He won one of the four completed events.

Adam Witek of the Kielce Aero club, Poland, the 1958 World's gliding champion was second with 3,471. He won two of the events, flying a Polish-built Foka-4.

Schreder, who won one event, had 2,972 points in a personally designed and built glider.

Martin Jurgeit and John Kelly of Brantford, Ont., who took turns flying a German-built KA-6-CR won the team championship.

Doctors recommend Seat Belts

SUMMER DRIVING and increased traffic once more brings to mind the near necessity of seat belts. The following article, appears in the current issue of Highway Safety News, and we feel should have wider coverage through this column :

Speaking to a packed auditorium at the Montreal General Hospital, Dr. H. Bruce Williams, assistant director of the hospital's outpatient trauma service, discussed a "special disease" which alone, in a 15-month period ending Dec. 31, 1962, had brought to the hospital for treatment 4,000 victims — an average of 10 per day. The disease was the motor vehicle accident. The best known protection against it, he said, was a device called seat belts.

The Montreal and the Lachine General Hospitals conducted a two-month survey, from Jan. 1 to Feb. 28, this year, during which 114 motor vehicle accident cases were treated. Positions in the cars in relation to seriousness of injuries were studies : At the top of the list were :

Drivers : 51 were treated, 10 admitted

Front seat occupants : 17 were treated, 11 were admitted.

Rear seat occupants : 17 were treated, two were admitted.

Of the seven wearing seat belts, two were admitted; but of the 107 not wearing belts, 21 were admitted.

It was also found most accidents occurred within a 10-mile radius of home.

It was agreed that a person could wear a seat belt for years without really needing it. "But then, in one split second, it could save your life."

Guest speaker John O. Moore, Ph.D., special consultant to the surgeon-general and the public health services of the United States, said :

"The problem is man in motion. Man must have motion to live and, when he moves, he must stop; therefore it is the stopping with which we must concern ourselves. Accidents do not in themselves cause injury — injury is a direct result of force hitting an object in slowing down. We can't however, stop the advantage of moving. Instead, we have to consider the question of packaging. If we can safely package spacemen in their vehicles, why can't we safely package drivers and passengers in automobiles ?"

Dr. Moore added "Although seat belts are important, they are only one club in the golf bag."

At a meeting of the seat belt committee of the Canadian Highway Safety Council in Halifax, members were told more doctors wore seat belts than any other group of people, and 25% of those checked wore them regularly. This unofficial survey was conducted by a spokesman of the Canadian Medical Association.

Dr. Walace Troup of Ottawa, chairman of the Council's medical advisory committee, told the meeting CMA urged its members to wear their seat belts every time they moved their cars and thus set an example to their patients and the public.

Management and labor

A CLOSED SHOP, when it is agreed to in a contract between management and a union, means that management has surrendered its rights. That is the opinion of Ivan H. McGowan, vice-president of Industrial Relations Counsellors, expressed in an address given to the Kiwanis Club of West Toronto — says the Fort Erie Letter-Review.

Mr. McGowan said that unions seek compulsory union membership when they bargain with management so that they can control all employees, but he held that granting this demand is a surrender of management's rights. "Money given away in an agreement can always be retrieved in the future," he said. "Surrendered rights cannot be regained."

If a union is doing a good job for its members, it should not need the support of the closed shop or the check-off of union dues. It should be able to persuade workers to join it and pay dues willingly. There has been a noticeable tendency among officials of some unions, once they have been given the rights of closed shop and the check-off, to become less interested in upholding the rights of their members than they are in maintaining themselves in office — concludes the Letter-Review.

Keeping a correct perspective

A REMARK by Carl A. Pollock, retiring president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, at the Association's annual meeting in Toronto, is well worth remembering. . .

"We hear a great deal about what must be done to 'reconcile' the supposedly conflicting interests of management and labor and, of course, industrial disputes of any kind always receive much prominence. You would never realize from this sort of thing that there are in force thousands of agreements, collectively bargained, which are honorably kept by both sides and which are frequently the basis of the good relations I have mentioned.

"In short, there is much more harmony than disharmony in our Canadian industry and this is something for us all to keep in mind when next we see a headline or hear a speaker apparently suggesting otherwise."

No easy answers

AS CANADIANS, it's a blow to our pride to learn that more than half the automobile, rubber, chemical, mining and smelting, and manufacturing industries are foreign-owned. To many of us it's a shock when we realize that in the case of rubber and autos the percentage of outside ownership is nearly 100 per cent.

More than our pride is involved, however. The fact is that these industries pay to foreign investors — mainly Americans — hundreds of millions of dollars in interest and dividends each year. And as foreign investment grows the amount of interest money leaving the country also grows.

It makes our efforts to balance the flow of wealth into and out of Canada all the more difficult. This year, for example, even though we may export more than we import, we'll still be stuck with a bill for more than $800,000,000 in payments to foreign investors.

The solution to this problem sounds simple. Just reduce foreign investment and get Canadians to take up the slack by increasing their own investment in home industry. But it's when you get into the question of how to do this that the complexity becomes evident.

There are ways of making it more attractive for Canadians to put risk capital into the development of the economy. But where is the money to come from ? A lot of our capital now goes into insurance, pension funds and personal savings. A great deal also goes into consumer spending. Taking the money from either place would raise new problems, particularly if the shift occurred during a relatively short period of time.

It's important to remember that Canada's greatest economic growth has been since the Second World War. Unlike similar periods of development in Britain and the United States, it came at a time when income taxes were already high. This made it difficult for individuals to hold on to money in amounts large enough to permit investment on a grand scale.

Having started with this disadvantage, we're not going to solve our problems overnight. During the last few years there have been modest government efforts to turn the tide, but it will take many years to regain some measure of economic independence and it will be necessary to do it gradually to avoid upsetting the sensitive balance of our economy. There's no room for impatience.

75 YEARS AGO

Friday, Aug. 3, 1888 —

A farewell social for Dr. McClure prior to his departure for China, was held in First Presbyterian Church.

Dr. A. D. Stewart, of Richmond, Que., passed through here on his way to visit his father at Arundel.

James Cushing, Esq., mayor of Chatham, and his family, passed through here on their way home from camp at Lake Louisa.

There was a slight disturbance in the West End, Saturday night, by several natives who had taken too many cigars and mineral waters. A few stones were thrown, but all went home uninjured.

Harrington — Mr. John Dobbie is introducing many innovations. He has built the first cedar fence, put up the first frame barn, and finished the first frame-and-brick house in this part of the country.

50 YEARS AGO

Friday, Aug. 1, 1913 —

The North Railway Co. are surveying from St. Remi d'Amherst and are now at McQuaig's corners in Harrington. The party will follow the valley of the West River to Lachute.

Eighty teachers took the summer course here. The school commissioners held a reception in the lecture hall of the Presbyterian Church.

Brownsburg — We very much regret to report that a basketball match was played in Brownsburg on Sunday last. Let us hope the Lord's Day will not be profaned in this manner again.

Mr. and Mrs. P. Chabot are guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. Tremblay for a few days.

Town Council — The secretary's salary was increased from $400 to $500 a year, to take effect January 1, 1914.

25 YEARS AGO

Thursday, July 28, 1938 —

The executive of the Argenteuil Historical Society is beginning to view the materialization of its efforts to establish a museum in this County.

St. Andrews East — Keith son of W. J. Pitcairn, and Irwin Smith (son of Dr. T. W. Smith of Hawkesbury and a second-year medical student at McGill) were among a party rescued after six hours in the cold waters of the St. Lawrence when a sailing yacht capsized near Pointe Claire. The night-time ordeal was a saga of near-disaster.

A new house in Chatham belonging to Cyprien Larocque, just west of Lachute, was burned by lightning.

At semi-annual L.O.L. meetings in Morin Heights, Stanley Holt was presented with his Past County Master's jewel.

The Rev. W. C. LeCras, president, was in the chair for the Lions Club meeting. Lion (Rev.) H. Cousens reported a good response to the boys' swimming instruction sessions at White's Bridge.

HUMAN RIGHTS

If you want to hire a man in Ontario and ask him beforehand where he was born, you are breaking the law, says The Financial Post. And you can't ask for that traditional character reference, a letter from his clergyman. Nor can you ask for a photograph before you hire him. These are all part of the province's broad human rights legislation, enforced by the Ontario Human Rights Commission. The Commission is looking back on its satisfying first year of operation — in which only one infraction resulted in a court case.

Animal Care

HELP PROTECT THE BIRDS

Several animal lovers have asked the CSPCA to give publicity to the problem of cats and the danger to young birds. Many people who own cats don't seem to consider that they need the same care and attention as dogs. Instead they are turned out of the house or apartment to wander around as freely and as long as they wish.

Too often cats are left out all night and frequently owners go away for two or three days at week-ends and, having shut their cat out, make no provision for him at all.

When cats are allowed to wander around like this they prey on birds and, at this time of the year, kill many of the young. If cats were kept on a lead — as some owners do — or exercised under strict control there would be no problem. However the next best thing is for owners to see that their animals have collars and bells so that when they are allowed out, birds get sufficient warning of their presence.

Bird-lovers can also help. When they put out food for birds they should wait around in the garden for a while until the birds have been and eaten it all.

CIVILIZATION AND PROGRESS

The other day, in Montreal, I was standing on a busy street corner waiting for a vacant space to go by — finally deciding that the only way to get to the other side of the street was to have been born there. While thus engaged, a man whom I had not seen for years approached me, and during our brief conversation he asked me what was my idea of civilization: I replied that it was a darn good idea, and that it was about time somebody started it! . .

I have a book at home entitled, "Life in Canada Fifty Years Ago", by Canniff Haight. It was published in 1890, and so the period referred to was 1840. In those days, if our ancestors missed the weekly bus from Bytown to York, they were contented to wait a week for the next one. Today's generation gets mad if they miss one section of a revolving door !

I can remember my mother going out with a market basket on her arm and a two-dollar bill in her purse, and bringing back the basket full of groceries. Then civilization set in, and we have Supermarkets. Today's housewife starts out with a basketfull of two-dollar bills and brings back a purse full of groceries. . . Still, it's wonderful what you can buy for a dollar today — if you have enough of them.

Then take roads, for instance. Just a few years ago, roads were so narrow that two cars could hardly pass without colliding. Now, thanks to progress and civilization, we have super-highways on which 18 or 20 cars can collide at the same time.

And look at razor blades. A famous old manufacturer used to guarantee 500 shaves for a dozen blades. Times have changed. Now you can get a dozen shaves from 500 blades.

More impressive still — look at the progress medical science has made during the last 50 years. There were no old-age pensions then, because there were so few cases of old age. Now that the scientists have upset the balance of Nature we are stuck with a lot of senile old-timers like me. Had I been born 30 years sooner, I'd have been buried around 1910, and then you wouldn't have to read this junk.

The more I see of Montreal, the more I like Argenteuil County. I can cross the road at Lost River any time I like !

Be seein' ya !

WHAT ABOUT SMALLTOWN, CANADA ?

"In Keosauqua, however, at the hour when night is on the river and the cultivators have stopped rumbling across the old iron bridge at the edge of town, sociological cool reasoning is hard doctrine to take in. There are reasons why people stay here. Somewhere on the river bank, the Caruso of all whippoorwills is making sounds that stand the hair on end. Looking from the bridge, past the old steamboat Gothic hotel — veteran of four floods — there are the lights of the quiet town. Sociologist, go home. This is the happy place, the blessed land."

So wrote editor Leslie Hanscom, in Newsweek Magazine, as the valedictory paragraph in an article grimly disconsolate about the future of Smalltown, U.S.A.

What about Smalltown, Canada?

On the prairies, at least, the larger small towns are growing; only the tiny villages are being absorbed. I think the town serving a wide trading area is going to grow larger. Not because the meadowlark sings so sweetly on the edge of town, which certainly it does, but because there is a limit to how large farms can get, and farmers will need these towns to serve them. Soon, too, industries will be moving more quickly to small towns, where they will find a welcome warmer than those that a sophisticated urbanism has provided.

Sociological cool reason goes all out for urbanism, claiming it offers the individual his best chance to reach his full potential. "Where the small town kept him prisoner," it says, "urbanism gives him freedom of choice — choice of education, choice of profession, choice of marriage. If the small town is passing, we can't bemoan it." To that I would say, with Hanscom, "Sociologist, go home !"

Small towners, in so many cases, have decided they are going to stay where they are; they have taken steps to improve their towns, to modernize their stores, to offer their youngsters encouragement to stay on. Where that is done, there will be growth. There will be some giving up, there will be a sorting of the men from the boys, but then you will see a resurgence of the small town that will prove the sociologists wrong. This will not be a new experience for them — they have been wrong before.

There is the matter of cycles. Right now, it appears that the cycle favors urbanism; but it will not last. There will be a return to the small town — the good small town. And it will come soon.

People's Church reports active year as Vacation Bible School concludes

The closing program of the People's Summer Bible School was presented Friday evening on the Church grounds, by the children who had attended the school for two weeks, and included a fine demonstration of the things the children had learned and made.

The Nursery Department, led by Mrs. C. W. Sorley and her daughter Edythe, presented the theme of "Loving and Pleasing Jesus" made real by the song, "Mr. Happy Shoes".

The Beginner Department, taught by Mrs. Elsie Stephens and Mrs. Bud Hardie, had the theme, "Learning God's way with Bible children" and closed their recital of verses and song with the popular "Rythm Band", always a favorite item.

The Primary, which was the largest Department with over 30 children in attendance daily, was supervised by Miss Audrey Morrison, ably assisted by Mrs. E. Young, and Mrs. A. Nixon. The theme was 'Bible Boats', and each child made a boat during the handicraft period.

The Junior Department, not the largest but perhaps the liveliest, was taught by Mrs. W. Morrison and Mrs. E. Rogers. These participants made attractive arrows with their house number on them. The theme was "The Christians walk and talk."

The Intermediate Department, led by Rev. C. W. Sorley, spent their time largely studying the Parables of the Lord Jesus, but had time each day for an exciting ball-game, and in their handicraft period made a "Keeper Kit" for odds and ends, an attractive item for any dresser.

The attendance at the School and closing program was the largest since the school started, with an average daily attendance of 77.4 and 150 at the closing event. The parents and friends gave liberally, so that enough funds were received to cover the cost of the school, which is approximately one dollar per person.

James Noble capably took care of the organ and Mrs. I. Evans, from Ohio, and Miss Sandra Baer, of Ottawa, were efficient secretaries. Those who were given special awards for work well done were as follows: Chris Bradford and Garth Thompson, Nursery Dept.; David Nixon and Pamela Pollock, Beginners Dept.; Wendy Wilmott, Chris Nixon and Terry Evans, Primary Dept.; Vicky Villeneuve and Donald Noble, Junior Dept.; and Carol Nixon, Intermediate Dept.

Thanks is expressed to the following merchants for their assistance: Mr. Wm. Dawson, of Dawson T.V. & Radio Service; Mr. Ed McFaul, of John McFaul & Son; Walker-Kingsbury; I.G.A. Super Market; Farmers' Supply Co., and Giles Publishing House Ltd., for material and publicity; also the parents who assisted so faithfully in bringing the children to the school. More persons assisted in the transportation this year than ever before and this was a great help due to this year's inclement weather.

Wed Saturday at Lachute Baptist Church

Cleary - Silverson

The marriage of Ruth Norma, daughter of Mrs. N. Silverson and the late Mr. Silverson, to Angus Cleary, son of Mr. Edward Cleary and the late Mrs. Cleary, took place Saturday in the Lachute Baptist Church, the Rev. W. L. Hisey officiating. Mrs. Robert Carruthers played the wedding music and Mr. Alex King, of Montreal, sang during the signing of the register. Standards of white lillies and shasta daisies decorated the church.

Given in marriage by her brother, Robert, the bride wore a silk organza gown appliqued with Alencon lace. The skirt fell in a chapel train and her shoulder length veil was held by a crown of pearls. She carried a bouquet of pink roses.

Miss Heather McKell as maid of honor and Mrs. Bryan Girling, as bridesmaid, wore matching aquamarine frocks of silk organza. Their hats were of the same shade and they carried bouquets of white mums. Little Miss Donna McOuat, as flower girl, wore a white organza dress with aquamarine sash and carried a basket of mixed flowers.

Mr. Robert Carruthers acted as best man, and the ushers were Mr. John Cleary and Mr. Willie Silverson.

Mrs. Silverson, the bride's mother was in a pink, silk, shantung dress with a lace bodice. Her matching picture hat was of silk organza and she wore a corsage of white roses.

Mrs. Cleary, step-mother of the groom, wore a flowered crepe dress and white picture hat with matching accessories. Her corsage was of red carnations.

Following the reception, Mr. and Mrs. Cleary left on a wedding trip to the Maritimes; the bride travelling in a gold-colored dress with matching duster and white accessories.

On their return the couple will reside in Lachute.

Church gathering honors minister prior to departure for Alberta

On Friday, July 19, a farewell party in honor of the Rev. and Mrs. W. E. J. Toller, was held in the Harrington School by the Avoca and Rivington Baptist congregations and other friends in the community.

Rev. McPhee, of Brownsburg Baptist church, was chairman of the short program, and brought greetings from his church. Mrs. C. L. Bennett read a message from Dr. Dixon Burns expressing regret that he could not be in attendance, stating the high regard that the Home Mission Board had for the work the Tollers have done, and wishing them Godspeed in their new field. The choir of Avoca Young People's sang and Rev. Voth, of the Pentecostal Church, brought greetings from his congregations and sang several solos. A series of slides was shown, depicting events which had taken place in the past eight years which Mr. Toller has spent in these fields.

Mrs. J. Meyer presented Mrs. Toller with a "Wedding Ring Quilt, made for her by the ladies of the community, and expressed regret that she was leaving as well as good wishes for the future. Mrs. George W. Bennett then expressed the appreciation of the community for Rev. and Mrs. Toller's work here and presented him with a wallet containing a gift of money.

The singing of "Blest be the Tie that Binds" was followed by refreshments and a social hour.

On July 24, Mrs. Toller was made a Life Member of the Ontario and Quebec Missionary Society by the Rivington Circle, which she has attended faithfully during her years here.

Rev. and Mrs. Toller and family leave for Clive, Alberta, at the end of the month and will be greatly missed not only by the Baptist Churces of Avoca, Rivington and Thurso, but also by the many friends they have made during their years of devoted service here.

Rev. R. Hayworth at St. Andrews Un.

The many friends of the Reverend J. B. Heyworth will have an opportunity of hearing him preach on Sunday, August 4, when he will conduct the morning service in the St. Andrews East United Church at 11.30 o'clock.

Mr. Heyworth, still the Minister in charge of a church in Chicago, has spent the last forty-two summers in St. Andrews and has often occupied the pulpit both there and in Lachute.

Mr. and Mrs. Heyworth, during their long sojourn among us, have endeared themselves to the townsfolk and the people of the surrounding countryside.

Always an inspirational speaker, Mr. Heyworth never fails to provide his listeners with a vital message. Friends in the vicinity are cordially invited to participate in the service on August 4.

On Wednesday, July 17, eighteen members of the Jerusalem-Bethany branch of the Women's Institute motored to Potsdam, N.Y., following an invitation to the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. Goodenough, of that city. After a delicious luncheon served by the hostess, herself a member of this branch, the members visited and afterwards toured the city, arriving home in the evening. All reporting an enjoyable day.

Recent wedding in Sutton, Que., of interest here

Arthurs-Miller

The marriage of Miss Mae Elizabeth Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Miller, of Sutton, Que., to Mr. Thomas Owen Arthurs, of Montreal, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wyman Arthurs, of Calumet, took place recently in the Grace Anglican Church, Sutton, the Rev. Brett officiating. Mrs. Denis Cowan was the organist. Mauve and yellow mums were used to decorate the church.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length white gown of organza over taffeta, trimmed with sequins and pearls, the bodice having long pointed sleeves. Her finger-tip veil was held in place by a matching crown. She carried a bouquet of red Sweetheart roses.

Miss Linda Miltimore, as maid of honor, wore an aqua street-length gown of peau-de-soie, with matching shoulder-length veil. Her bouquet was of yellow and white mums.

Miss Carol Reid and Miss Marjorie Arthurs, as bridesmaids, wore aqua street-length dresses of peau-de-soie, and shoulder-length veils. They carried bouquets of yellow and white mums.

Mr. Robert Murray acted as best man, and the ushers were Messrs. Raymond Miller and William Stringer.

The bride's mother was attired in a costume of blue flowered print, and a navy blue coat, with white accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations. The groom's mother wore a blue lace over silk sheath, with white accessories. Her corsage was of pink carnations.

Later the couple left for a trip to Niagara Falls, the bride wearing for travelling, a beige linen sheath with over jacket. Brown and white accessories completed the outfit.

Guests attended from Brownsburg, Calumet, Winchester, Montreal, Pointe aux Chene, Williamsburg, Grenville, Hawkesbury, Port Colbourne, Chomedey.

The Late William Burns

William Burns passed away suddenly on July 4, at the Smith Clinic, Hawkesbury. A son of the late Henry Burns and his wife Mary Cameron, he was born August 19, 1893, at Lake View.

Mr. Burns served in World War I, going overseas in 1915. He was wounded in 1918. His only brother, Richard, also a veteran of the first war, died of wounds in 1919. On his return to Canada, William went to Winnipeg where he had resided until recently.

He is mourned by three sisters, Mrs. Felix Champagne (Dolly); Mrs. Joe Loudin (Rose) and Mrs. Duncan MacTavish (Emily).

Colors and stripes

Warm colors and stripes are two fashion trends in cottons being prepared for next summer, both illustrated here in a casual dress of Tex-made satin sheen fabric. The colors are yellow, orange and green on white. The horizontal use of stripes accentuates the full skirt and square cut neckline.

MACHINE RE-USES WASHING WATER

An unusual coin-operated launderette is set to open in Stroud, Ont., reports Frank Oxley in The Financial Post; Used washing water is collected, cleaned and purified, then returned to the machines for use over and over again — together with the original detergent.

It is claimed to be the Canadian debut of a new concept of water reclamation and re-use. Spokesmen for companies in the water-conservation field say the principles involved will lead to: Homes without sewers or septic tanks. Car-wash and bottle-washing plants reducing water consumption by 80% or more. Lower capital outlays by municipal governments on sewerage systems and sewage disposal plants.

All this will make better and more careful use of North America's water resources, a growing business with colossal potential expenditures involved.

PARENTS AND TEEN AGE SEX STANDARDS

— By NANCY CLEAVER —

Have you discussed sex standards with the teen-ager in your family? If adolescence is a perplexing time for teen-agers, undergoing physical and emotional changes, it is also no easy period for fathers and mothers.

They do not want their child to be a prude, neither do they want a son or daughter to blunder along, torn by uncertainty and troubled by pressures to conform to what "everybody does". Many parents object to the idea that chastity has become "old-fashioned".

An English educator has compared the present confusion in sex standards for adolescents to a football game played at night without lights, confounded by the shrieks of whistles blown by half a dozen referees!

Dr. Kinsey, Pierre Berton and others are blowing loud blasts. Church leaders are blowing other blasts on an entirely different note. All too many parents, would prefer to worry in silence, hoping for the best.

Fair To Child

But is this fair to the son or the daughter to whom they have given the gift of life?

The first thing parents need to do is to take a critical look at the sex-ridden atmosphere in which boys and girls grow up. On TV, radio, in jazz music, movies, many books and magazines, the emphasis is on youth and sex.

Children today mature at an earlier age and are much more sophisticated than their parents were at the same age. They may not need to be told "the facts of life," but they do need to know what their parents believe about morals and sex.

Worth Waiting

They have a right to know why a parent believes that marriage is worth waiting for, and freedom brings responsibility. Sex is a delight but also a discipline.

Humans are not animals unable to control their passion. Intercourse, outside of marriage, which may result in the birth of a child, is irresponsible and far from being the best or happiest course of action.

Abstract ideas and ideals have new meaning when individuals are vitally concerned. A girl your daughter knows in her mid or late teens, must stop school, and either go away and have her baby and consent to its adoption or struggle to support herself and her child.

The other possibility is for the girl to marry the father of her child . . . he may be another adolescent, with his education uncompleted. He is hardly fitted to earn a living for himself, away from the home roof, much less begin to support three people!

Contributing Factors

Wholesale condemnation of two young people in this predicament gets nowhere. The sex-conscious society, the scorning of chaperones, the freedom teenagers have with the use of cars, and later hours at night may all have contributed.

But it is important that parents, while acknowledging the heartbreak to both the girl and the boy and their families, point out that sexual intercourse between two individuals who are expressing their love for each other, even if they are not married, is a very different thing from promiscuity.

Family Unit

The home is the most important unit in our society and promiscuity strikes at the roots of the family, and brings instability and mental turmoil, much worse than the frustration of single young people, in love, but waiting for marriage before they live together.

To the religious person, of any faith, sex is a gift from the Creator, not to be used just for selfish pleasure but for the benefit of both persons concerned. The sex act, by which they become "one flesh", in Bible terms, is created for the unity of marriage and for its fruitfulness.

With love and imagination and patience, let us who are parents, try to pass on to the next generation our thinking in this vital area of life and trust our children to work out their own sex standards, and do their best to live up to them.

Preserving summer fruits

The abnormally high price of sugar over the last few months has made consumers wonder how they can cut down on the amount used for preserving fruits this summer. Indications are that prices are dropping back but sugar will still be higher priced this summer than it has been for several years.

The home economists of the Consumer Section, Canada Department of Agriculture, have these suggestions to make for summer preserving.

Freeze fruits now without sugar for later use in jam or jelly making. Blueberries, red and black currants, gooseberries, rhubarb and saskatoons are the fruits which freeze best without sugar. Pack measured quantities in cartons or freeze fruit on trays before packing so that they can be accurately measured later.

Fruits may be canned without sugar. Keeping quality of canned fruit does not depend on the addition of sugar but rather on sufficient processing and the use of air-tight containers.

In sugarless canning, the fruit is prepared by the Solid Pack Method. The fruit is heated, crushed slightly and when it is packed in jars it is covered with its own juice. These fruits are best used for pies and puddings.

The following Consumer Section bulletins are available free of charge:— "Freezing Foods"; "Home Canning of Fruits and Vegetables"; "Jams, Jellies and Pickles". To obtain a copy write to the Information Division, Canada Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

A chilled dessert

A chilled dessert helps to waft cool breezes through the warmth of summer days. Here is a dessert idea as cool as an ice cube and just as refreshing. Peppermint Frost with Strawberry Sauce combines a delicate touch of mint with the sweet and tangy goodness of strawberries. Convenient instant pasteurized powdered skim milk gives the Frost its light texture and a generous supply of B vitamins, protein and minerals.

4½ cup marshmallow whip
½ cup hot water
2½ cups whipped instant pasteurized powdered skim milk*
1 cup fresh strawberries, crushed
2 tablespoons sugar

Combine peppermint candy, marshmallow whip and hot water. Stir until blended. Cool. Fold into whipped instant skim milk powder. Place in refrigerator tray. Freeze until firm (about 3 hours). Combine strawberries and sugar; mix well. Serve strawberry sauce over Frost.

*To whip instant pasteurized powdered skim milk: (Makes about 2½ cups).

1. Stir ½ cup instant skim milk powder into ½ cup ice water.
2. Whip until soft peaks form (3 to 4 minutes). Add 2 tablespoons lemon juice.
3. Continue whipping until stiff peaks form (3 to 4 minutes longer).

Specially Written for The Lachute Watchman

By Patricia Rusak, Canadian Press Staff Writer

Can you imagine yourself hopping a DC-3 and travelling for five days just to get some tomatoes?

Sounds fantastic but it's exactly what Mrs. Peter Scott did recently. She lives on Grise Fiord on the south shore of Ellesmere Island, 600 miles north of the Arctic circle.

Fresh fruits and vegetables are sheer luxuries for dwellers of the small town which receives supplies of food, clothing, toys and equipment only once a year.

The main staples brought to the island by the ice-breaker C. D. Howe are canned vegetables, butter, bacon and dehydrated milk. Frozen meat is brought in twice a year.

Every woman in the community makes her own bread, and the meat from seal, whale, walrus and polar bear is eaten when fresh.

Busy Life

Mrs. Scott, whose husband is the teacher of a year-old school for Eskimo children, says life at the bleak outpost is fun. Everyone is friendly and there's seldom a moment to spare.

Early every morning, the men of the town's 75 Eskimo families go hunting for polar bear in April and for seal in May and June.

During the dark period (the sun disappears around Nov. 11 and returns about Feb. 12) when hurricanes rip the land, the men make soap-stone carvings while the women make sealskin boots and parkas.

In the evenings, the villagers attend school to learn English and crafts and on Saturday nights, the entire village gathers for a whooping square dance.

Isolation is the biggest handicap for a person accustomed to the bustling life of the big city, said Mrs. Scott while in Toronto to spend a month with her parents.

There are no newspapers or magazines. Everyone has a transistor radio but stations in Britain, Russia and South America are the only points that can be picked up.

Camping Time

The last school gong hardly stops ringing when North American boys and girls are packing their duffel bags and getting ready to head for the woods, lakes and wild outdoors.

Reliving the experiences of our couriers-de-bois and early settlers is the customary summer holiday for children in this country where organized camps are springing up faster than mushrooms.

The Canadian Campers' Association lists nearly 400 camps from coast to coast which offer everything from all-round outdoor adventure to modern dancing and sculpture.

You can register children in camps where they can play tennis, swim, sail as well as study ballet, music, dramatics and art.

If a child is poor in French, he can be enrolled in a camp with a resident French tutor.

Several camps in the United States offer modelling courses for girls and one camp run by doctors on Cape Cod, even promises to reduce overweight girls by 20 pounds during a summer of physical exercise and a high protein, 900-calories-a-day diet.

CNIB urges caution in final disposal of eclipse lenses

"The dangers of the recent solar eclipse are not over yet", stated Mr. A. C. Zaplaski of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind.

"Literally thousands of Canadians secured several types of filters with which to better view the eclipse in safety, he continued. Such filters as photographic films, pieces of glass smoked in the flame of a candle and others, are now forgotten but still in the homes. Now that the eclipse is over everyone should dispose of these filters. Do not keep them around where children can reach them easily. They could gaze for prolonged periods at the sun and hurt their eyes", warned Mr. Zaplaski.

"The population at large was quite conscious of the possibility of eclipse blindness", he concluded. "Let us not forget that the prolonged use of filters is just as dangerous as was looking at the eclipse with the naked eye. For the sake of your children's and your own eyes, please dispose of your eclipse filters. Be wise — take care of your children's eyes."
