Campaign launched for winter job prospects; slogan, 'Keep Argenteuil workers employed'

A group of civic-minded residents and business men, attending a meeting to discuss employment prospects this coming winter, were informed by L. Savage, placement officer of the National Employment Service, that there are 314 men and 162 women on the unemployment list in this County. These figures compare with 430 men and 165 women at the same period in 1962.

The discussion, held at the NES offices here, was chaired by Mayor Dave Campbell of Lachute. Other mayors present were from the municipalities of Ayersville, Grenville, Brownsburg, St. Andrews, Calumet and St. Hermas.

It was calculated that projects of hundreds of thousands of dollars were on the blueprints for this winter, which would derive benefit from the governmen aid to municipalities (winter works program), and it was agreed to promote this seasonal work to the fullest extent, motivated by the slogan, "Keep Argenteuil workers employed".

Lucien Durocher of St. Andrews, as mayor of the oldest parish in the County, was named vice-president of the group.

In order to help promote the work campaign, the Lachute Chamber of Commerce is holding a supper meeting November 14 with a special speaker, André Racine, regional co-ordinator for winter employment. Mr. Racine will give special emphasis to the problem of older workers and to the encouragement of home-building in the off-season.

Next assembly of this group will be held December 3.

Mayors of surrounding municipalities, representatives of the National Employment Service, councillors and business men gathered recently to discuss job conditions and to promote the winter employment campaign in this region. St.-Jacques Ltée; Frank Knights, Mayor of Calumet; Mayor Dave Campbell of Lachute, chairman of the group; Gaston Plamondon, Mayor of Ayersville; and Jos. Navy man passed technical course

Two Quebecers are among the 17 naval technical apprentices of the Pacific Command's Fleet School at Esquimalt, B.C., to graduate last week with the rank of leading seamen.

Leading Seamen Allen B. Brown, of Lachute, and Robert J. Crepin, of Buckingham, successfully completed an extensive 39-month course.

The training course, which started with a class of 41 members, covers either engineering or the hull technician's field.

Annual banquet held by Argent'l Farm Forum

The annual banquet of the Argenteuil Farm Forum was held on Monday of last week in the Orange Hall, Lachute. President Gordon Smith acted as m.c.

A turkey dinner with all the trimmings was served by the ladies of the L.O.B.A., after which an evening of entertainment was taken care of by Mrs. Gordon Smith and Mrs. Alvin Heatlie.

First prizes were taken by Mrs. Mary Black and Mr. Howard McOuat.

The gathering proved most pleasant, and satisfactory, everyone looking forward to a progressive and prosperous year ahead.

"A Still Nobility"

The great response of Canada which resulted in more than 100,000 servicemen dying in defence of freedom is represented in this group of figures surging through the granite arch of the National War Memorial at Ottawa. Upon their bronze faces the eager expression of hope replaces the times of strife and death. When Canadians everywhere pay silent homage on Remembrance Day, it will be in tribute to those soldiers, sailors, airmen, and workers who make up the long list of Canada's war dead. — National Defence photo

Lachute prominent in District Lions auction for crippled children's camp

Lachute Lions Club was a going concern in the big TV venture last Saturday — the mammoth auction over CFCF Channel 12 — which was planned to establish a fund for the construction of a dining hall at the St. Alphonse de Joliette crippled children's camp. Total proceeds reached a gratifying sum exceeding $31,000.

Lachute contributed in manpower and gifts donated for auction. Thirteen members of the local club gave their services during the actual event, many of them attending three previous rehearsals or briefing sessions. In the TV interviews with crippled youngsters who have benefitted from the Quebec Crippled Children's Society camp, and from the appreciation expressed by Messrs. Gillam and Tony Shorgan, president of the Society and manager of the camp, the local participants felt well repaid.

This major undertaking was coordinated by Ed McLean, a big figure in Lionism, well known to Lachute members, and key characters at the microphone were Lions Ian Fraser and Al Carr. Leading members in Lachute's delegation were ex-Zone Chairman Dr. Eric Mongeon, Past Deputy District Governor Horace Lamarche, and President Keith Clarke — besides Roger E. Regimbal and others most effective in the procuring of local donations.

Following are the sales of a number of attractive items donated through Lachute branch of the Lions Club. (In addition to these local gifts, however, there were numerous items for which local bids were telephoned and the articles purchased by TV viewers from this area.) . .

Shetland Pony ($250) donated by Wesley B. Younkie, R.R. 3, Lachute — purchased by Mrs. Murray Lyster, R.R. 3, for $185.

L'Heureux Drycleaning ($35) cleaning service — purchased by Yves Lamarche, Lachute, for $26.

Chain Saw ($185) donated by Pioneer, Lachute — purchased by T. Gauley, R.R. 6, for $140.

Ayers Ski Centre Memberships ($125) — purchased by Mrs. J. W. Humphries, Brownsburg, for $115; and Jos. Dumais, Lachute, for $110.

Indian Rug ($300) donated by Hicks Oriental Rugs Ltd. — purchased by Mrs. Bersunan for $188.

Lachute Golf Club Membership for man and wife ($285) — purchased by Hubert Lalonde for $270.

Oil painting ($1100) donated by Stefanoff Art Centre — purchased by George R. McPhee, Town of Mount Royal, for $600.

Shooting and Anti-Fog Glasses ($35) donated by Dr. Bernard Massicotte, Lachute. . . Ammunition donated by C-I-L, etc., etc.

(Information on purchasers of other local gifts not yet available.)

Highly Organized

Wives of Lions Club members and other volunteers in Montreal staffed the switchboards and handled office work.

Information was relayed to all zones in the area and collections made by volunteers. Transportation included 150 private cars, nine ambulances of the Province of Quebec Society for Crippled Children, and 15 radio-equipped cars volunteered by the Chateauguay General Radio Club.

New book recalls Martinique quake; link with Lachute

The November issue of a well known magazine reviews a new book published by the same company, entitled, "Great Adventures with National Geographic". Among the epic incidents recorded is the Mount Pelée volcano which in 1902 engulfed the city of St. Pierre, Martinique, and snuffed out 30,000 lives.

"Perhaps no memory stands out so clearly as my encounter with a young Naval officer who called at our headquarters," wrote the Geographic's reporter of that disaster. "Standing at the ship's rail, engineer Charles Evans saw the mountain explode and St. Pierre burst into flame. A wall of hot ashes and superheated steam rolled at 100 miles an hour into the city."

Evans — shown on his vessel in a vivid picture painted for National Geographic at that time — rushed to the engine room and managed to start the engines, so his ship could put out to sea and safety.

A fact of greater interest is recalled here by an old-time resident, Mr. Harold G. Banford — that Charles Evans was a Lachute man, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Evans who (according to recollections of older residents) lived in a brick house just east of where Mr. Cottingham now resides.

Found dead near Lakefield

The body of John Balazs, of Montreal, was discovered in his car near Lakefield on Saturday, a victim of carbon monoxide poisoning. Q.P.P. officers indicated no inquest would be held, a verdict of suicide having been given by the coroner. The discovery was made by Dominique Nagy, of this community.

"Over Ninety" Birthday Club

Congratulations are in order this week to William J. Hale, who celebrated his 97th birthday on November 1. A hardy old veteran of the Canadian contingent in World War I, Mr. Hale (formerly of Dunany way) resides with his son in Montreal, and is frequently in Lachute renewing old friendships.

Three fire calls, minor incidents

Lachute Volunteer firemen answered three calls of a minor nature over the week-end, starting at 11.50 a.m. Saturday with a chimney fire at the old Clunie house, 210 Brownsburg Road.

At 11.55 a.m. Sunday, dense smoke from a chimney fire at the Barron residence, Main Street, indicated a major fire; however, everything was back to normal within several minutes.

At 9.25 a.m. Monday, a call was received from 114 Tessier Street, Ayersville, where a furnace in a garage operated by Roger Girard had overheated and caught fire. This outbreak was quickly extinguished.

Rotary visit to Lac St. Denis RCAF Station

The October 31 meeting of the Brownsburg-Lachute Rotary Club was held, instead, on Wednesday, October 30, at the RCAF Station at Lac St. Denis.

There was a fairly good turnout of Rotarians and guests, and this trip proved every bit as enjoyable as the outing the Club had to the Station a couple of years ago, although the activities of the Station have since been greatly curtailed. The majority of the equipment and work has been transferred to North Bay, Ont., and the only job remaining that is more of less manually operated at this base regarding aircraft in its zone, is Height Finding information; this is still being handled by the station at Lac St. Denis.

As previously experienced, the supper was outstanding. This was followed by a visit to the operations centre on top of the mountain.

The hospitality extended by the officers at the base was truly in Rotary fashion, and everyone found the evening most enjoyable.

Remembrance Day rites on Sunday

The cenotaph rites and community observance of Remembrance Day will be held next Sunday, 10th — which will allow a wider public participation than on a weekday. This Legion-sponsored observance follows the reunion of veterans at the annual Armistice supper, to be held the previous evening in the Legion Hall.

The Legion Branch 70 church parade will take place Sunday morning, the veterans assembling not later than 10:15 a.m. for their procession to the Margaret Rodger Memorial Presbyterian Church.

In the afternoon, Legionnaires and other patriotic groups will reassemble between 1 o'clock and 1.15 for the cenotaph parade, arriving in good time for ceremonies at the Memorial Park to commence at 2 p.m.

Among the units in this parade will be the Legion, Artillery Reserve, Army Cadets with their new drum and bugle band, Air Force Cadets, Scouts, Cubs, Guides and Brownies, and other possible participants.

Wreaths will be deposited in the traditional manner, and brief but fitting sentiments expressed by speakers.

Agent J. P. Dallaire, recently appointed officer-in-charge of the local Q.P.P. detachment, arrived at headquarters in Lachute early last week. He comes to Argenteuil with a wide experience, having served all over the province in various departments of the Provincial Police.

Local herd took top Jersey awards

Ottawa — It was a case of "a doctor in the house" at the Winter Fair's Jersey show last Wednesday.

Dr. G. R. McCall, of North River Farms, Lachute, walked out of the Collseum with the senior and grand championships for bulls and reserve senior and grand championships for cows.

"Kinghurst Beacon Castor" won honors in the bull division, while "North River Advancer's Carom" was coming through as a runner-up among the cows. North River Farms also picked up five prizes and the premier breeder's award.

Head-on crash, two dead, six hurt

Three ambulances remove casualties

A father and his 17-year-old daughter, both of St. Jerome, died in hospital following injuries received in a head-on car crash on Route 8, between St. Philippe and Whisselltown. Six other persons were treated for various injuries and detained in hospital.

The accident occurred on the curve at the Monalea Road, near Georges Quesnel's restaurant, at 5.35 Sunday afternoon. Rolland Rock, 46, of St. Jerome, was headed east and was accompanied by six passengers, (top picture), when he was involved in a head-on crash with a car driven by George Leesinsky, 42, of Kingston, Ont., (lower picture). All persons were rushed to hospital, in three ambulances from Lachute. Mr. Rock was later transferred to Notre Dame Hospital in Montreal, where he succumbed. His 17-year-old daughter, Jeanette, died several hours later at the Argenteuil Hospital.

Mme. Rock was transferred to the Hôtel Dieu at St. Jerome; Yves and Jo-Anne Rock, Michael Brunelle, 13, and Jean Pierre Lanthier, 14, all of St. Jerome, were treated in the local hospital for various injuries.

The accident was investigated by Traffic Officers Descoeurs and Landry. No date has been set for the inquest on the two victims.

Reception for physicians and their wives

By BOB ATCHISON

Seeing some of the deer that have been shot these past few weeks, is sure indication that many of the hunters coming into this area know nothing about keeping their meat good. In a number of cases, even the cleaning of the deer is a hit-or-miss affair, lungs, hearts and other organs being left in the carcass. In some cases they have not even been drained of blood; then these same people wonder why venison does not taste as they expect it. Having good meat suspended over an exhaust pipe, even perched on the hood of a car, does not help to preserve or sweeten it. Not much thought is given to covering this meat either, to protect it from flies. It's funny, but if they were handed meat like this from a butcher, every health officer in the country would be held to ridicule. But because they shot the animal themselves, no rules of sanitation seem to apply.

The number of human shootings is going up; with four already dead, it could be we will have a bumper crop this year. All of these incidents have been labelled accidental. I wonder when people are going to learn that firearms cannot kill of their own volition; it still takes the human element. I was up in the bush very early Sunday morning, and was almost scared out of a year's growth. Sitting down just before the sun came up, waiting for the squirrels to make their presence felt, I heard a lot of noise. Five fellows who had been celebrating all night were headed into the bush — falling all over, screaming and yelling, stopping every once in a while to blast off their guns. It was actually frightening for humans — but with such noise to be heard, I'll bet every deer in the district was having a laugh. Every animal within hearing was perfectly safe.

It appears one of the sports living in Brownsburg is using dogs in the running of deer. The Wardens know of this, so by the time this is printed he will probably have been caught. Another incident was reported by an observer, who saw a car stopped and guns taken out, LOADED. As far as he knows, no summons was given. If people haven't the brains to know this is a very dangerous practice, then they should be given a ticket. Ignorance of the law is also no excuse. Carrying guns like this is an effective way to get your friends killed . . . and another fatality listed as "accidental".

I heard of a blow-back on an old .303 army rifle — probably caused by excessive loading. A lot of this is going on. Guns proved for 160-grain bullets should not be used with 220's. Trying out this particular gun, the first couple of shots were o.k.; but on the third, powder blew back — and though no serious damage was done, there could have been. Powder burns can be nasty at any time, but in the eyes, they are pretty bad. I guess in this case the bolt-head was loose, allowing the powder to blow up and out. It's a wonder more of this does not occur. Seeing some of the guns and ammo being used today, gives you the creeps. Certainly these guns have been tested at some time or other, but this was some time ago, and with ammunition getting more powerful every year, users should stop and think.

Tonight I was informed of the moose still being around. This one was a cow, so I guess we still have a few of them in the County. The same applies to the lynx; a lady gave me information she had seen two of them together. I do not think too many of these animals have been shot so far; they don't as a rule go looking for trouble. Some of us had hoped the Department of Tourism would declare the part of Two Mountains bordering on Argenteuil closed to moose shooting; however, this does not seem to concern them too much. We are lucky in Argenteuil to have these great animals with us, when all they have to do is wander too close to the next County and be exterminated (under the guise of rabies!). Maybe by next year they will be safe in that area too.

Our black squirrels reproduced in a big way, this past summer. I watched eleven of them in one group; I did not think there could be that many in one spot. I also heard of a grey squirrel being seen in the district, as a matter of fact, right here in town. Chipmunks are also numerous; with their chirping and scurrying in the bush, you get the idea there are herds of them.

Last Sunday going through the bush I was pushing through some raspberry canes, and believe it or not, there was fruit on some of the vines — not as sweet as the summer type, of course, and certainly not as full and large. I also spotted some of the tiger lilies (maybe this is not the correct identification) — golden colored, with the black spots inside; a pretty sight at this time of year, swaying in the breeze amid the fallen leaves. In the midst of death, LIFE, as bright as can be.

Even the mosquitos and black flies were out in force. I belted a couple of horse flies too — just like old times. I was wondering just how badly we are going to be hit by the black flies this coming spring, with their ability to breed all this time; they will have millions of eggs all ready to hatch, come the first warm days of spring. Let's hope this is a wild guess; but the number around just now are very active.

Up to the present no word has been given out on the moose kill this past season. I wonder if this will show just how bad the situation is. With roads making the wilderness more accessible, this sport is an objective of almost every hunter. We know how badly the deer have suffered, so let's hope something is done, before we lose them all. You know, incidentally, that deer often give birth to twins, but with moose this is very rare.

The Great Blue heron is still around the river, and to appearances, making no plans for an early leave-taking. Even a bittern has been spotted; how long this will stay is a matter of speculation, and the Weather Man. Usually these water birds take off at the first signs of cold weather. Very few ducks have been in evidence, all Blacks, and until we get some real nasty weather, I don't think there will be much duck shooting for a while.

Curling news, Brownsburg Club

The curling season for members of the Brownsburg Club is about ready to open.

The men are starting the season off with a mixed bonspiel. The date for this is Monday, November 11, at 7 p.m.

The ladies open their season the following day, November 12, at 1.30 p.m. The match committee has arranged a doubles event for the first bonspiel.

Fishing-Hunting soiree Nov. 26

Members of the Argenteuil Fishing and Hunting Association are reminded of the weekly $10 award for the best deer specimen taken by hunters. Information on this contest is available from — LO 2-6492, LE 3-4596 or LE 3-4823.

The closing soiree will be held this year at the Windsor Hotel; the date is November 26 and tickets are now on sale.

Three pet dogs found poisoned at Morin Heights

Morin Heights — Three families of this community, including eight children, are concerned over the loss of their dogs. The three animals, domestic pets, belonging to these households in the centre of the village, were found dead on Allan Kirkpatrick's lawn on Saturday morning. They had been let out around 8 a.m. and all three were dead at 9.15, believed poisoned by garbage exposed in the vicinity. . . Mrs. Kirkpatrick, Mrs. Ratcliff and Mrs. Kari were the three ladies reporting this misfortune in their families.

Police Chief Ed Morin was called to investigate, also the Health Unit authorities at Lachute and the S.P.C.A. in Montreal were notified.

Denied appeal on bribery conviction

Ottawa — Raymond Bruneau, one-time Liberal MP for Glengarry-Prescott, lost his last chance Monday to escape serving a five-year prison sentence for accepting a $10,000 bribe seven years ago.

The Supreme Court rejected an application by Bruneau, 46, for leave to appeal to the court against an October 21 judgment of the Ontario Appeal Court.

Bruneau originally had been placed on probation for two years when he was convicted and sentenced last year by Judge Frank Costello in county court at Ottawa.

In the Ontario Court of Appeal the Ontario attorney-general appealed against the sentence and Bruneau appealed the conviction.

This court increased the sentence to five years on ground that departure by a member of Parliament from the necessarily rigorous standard of honesty should not be tolerated.

Bruneau's application for leave to appeal was based mainly on his contention that Judge Costello could find no evidence that he was acting in his official capacity as an MP when he accepted the bribe. The Supreme Court rejected Bruneau's application without calling on the Ontario attorney-general to oppose it.

MUSK OX

There are still large herds of musk-ox on Canada's Arctic Islands. They feed on grasses and dwarf willow, and in winter paw through the snow to reach the food.

4-H Club boys and girls at Ottawa Winter Fair

The Lachute 4-H Calf Club won top honors with their class of Ayrshire calves, winning both the Grand Champion Ayrshire Calf and Grand Champion Club group of three Ayrshire calves, at the 4-H Calf and Swine Club Championship Show in conjunction with the Ottawa Winter Fair. Arthur McElroy had the Champion Ayrshire Calf and Arthur McElroy, Robert Rodger and John Heatlie had the Champion Club group of three Ayrshire calves. They paraded with the champions from other breeds at the show last Friday night, to a capacity crowd in the Coliseum, Lansdowne Park.

Twelve boys and girls from the Lachute Club went to Ottawa with their calves. Following is a list of the prizes won:

In the class of Junior Holsteins, Richard Hadley was in Group "A" with Douglas Meyer and Andrew Clark in Group "B".

In the class of Senior Holstein Calves, Sheila Meyer and André St. Pierre were in Group "A" and Judy McElroy in Group "B". In the Group of Three Calves, they placed third.

With the class of Junior Ayrshire Calves, Richard Thompson, Donna Bradley and Mary Thompson all were placed in Group "A", and placed second with their group of three calves.

Mary Thompson won the Junior Ayrshire Reserve Champion Calf, and Lachute placed third in the Junior Ayrshire Champion Group of Three.

Arthur McElroy, Robert Rodger and John Heatlie all placed in Group "A" with their Senior Ayrshire calves, with Arthur McElroy winning the Senior Ayrshire Champion Calf, then going on to win the Grand Champion Ayrshire Calf, with Mary Thompson placing third.

The Group of Three placed first, then went on to win the Grand Champion Ayrshire Group competing with all the other Ayrshire Groups.

Robert Rodger placed sixth in the Champion Dairy Showmanship Class, competing with the champion showman from each county in Eastern Ontario and Western Quebec.

The Lachute 4-H Calf Club did very well as they had to compete with 575 calves, the best from each county of Eastern Ontario and Western Quebec. The boys and girls went to Ottawa last Thursday afternoon and returned Friday evening after the night show.

No hay for beef cows

Mature beef cows can be wintered satisfactorily on a ration containing no hay, providing they have an adequate amount of phosphorous and vitamin A — reports the Beaverlodge Experimental Station, Alberta Department of Agriculture.

One group of steers were fed a 1-1-1 ration of barley-oats-legume screenings, plus oat straw at the rate of 3 lbs. per head per day. Another group received roughage comprised of two parts oat straw to three parts mixed hay, fed at a level of 2 to 2½ lbs. for every 100 lbs. body weight. Both groups received water, minerals, and Vitamin A, although the vitamin A intake was doubled for the grain-straw group of steers.

The animals on the grain-straw ration did not appear to suffer any ill effects as long as they received enough phosphorous and Vitamin A. The only noticeable effect was that they took longer to lose their winter coats. Birth weights in early and late spring were all within the normal range of 65 to 70 lbs.

Many angles of study on complex for steel manufacture in Quebec Prov.

QUEBEC THIS WEEK
By Gerry McNeil,
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Quebec (CP) — Top civil servants have begun poring over a five-volume report on the feasibility of a steel complex for Quebec. The report was prepared for the Quebec Government by consulting engineers from Paris, Brussels and Montreal. Premier Jean Lesage expressed "great satisfaction" after skimming through it last week.

But he said the report won't be made public until the government makes a decision on whether to go ahead with the project.

This decision will be based on the recommendations of a committee of deputy ministers and government agency experts who will study the report for the next two months.

Though a model of the proposed complex — one that would take raw iron ore and turn it into finished products — was displayed during a press conference, few other details were given.

Apparently a lot of decisions have yet to be made — the location of such a complex, its financing, what it would produce, how, where it would sell.

The consultants were asked to base their report on a complex with a capacity of 600,000 tons annually, located between Quebec City and Montreal.

They said such a project would cost from $200,000,000 to $270,000,000, would eventually employ 2,000 men, and would require an initial 600 acres of land.

Premier Lesage said construction could begin within a year of a government decision on the project, and production could start within three years. He said he believed the government's decision in January will be "affirmative."

Studies of market possibilities and Quebec ore already have been favorable to the project — though none have been made public yet. One study indicated that for every man employed directly by the complex, 20 more would gain jobs in the secondary and other industries such a complex would supply.

Speculation is that such a complex would be built at Contrecoeur, northeast of Montreal on the south shore of the St. Lawrence River, or at Becancourt, another deep-water site near Trois-Rivières on the north shore of the St. Lawrence. Contrecoeur, most often mentioned, has good facilities for ore carriers and also has available natural gas — a probable necessity if certain new methods of steel-making are chosen.

BIRTH

DORION — Jimmy and Greta joyfully announce the birth of a son, Ross James, on Oct. 28, 1963, at the Smith Clinic, Hawkesbury. A brother for Lynn and Debbie.

IN MEMORIAM

CUNNINGHAM — In loving memory of our dear parents, John Cunningham and Charlotte McCullough, who passed away Nov. 2, 1953, and Nov. 5, 1957; also our dear brother, John Raymond (Jock), who died suddenly Nov. 20, 1946. — Always remembered by Beatrice, Hugh, Barbara and Gertie.

"Down the lane of memories
There is many a picture fair,
The happy days they gave to us
And fresh in memory there.
We miss their smiles, their wonderful ways,
With them we spent such happy days,
Till memory fades and life departs
They will live forever in our hearts."

HAMILTON (Gilbert) — In loving memory of a dear father and grandfather, who passed away Nov. 12, 1961. — Always remembered by his family.

"God took him home, it was His will,
But in our hearts we love him still.
His memory is as dear today
As in the hour he passed away.
We often sit and think of him
When we are all alone,
For memory is the only friend
That grief can call its own."

MacRAE — In loving memory of our dear father, Windsor, who left us four years ago, Oct. 26, 1959. — Always remembered, Eunice, Alex and family.

"Wonderful memories are all we have left
Of a dearly loved Father we will never forget."

WELDEN (Ann MacHardy) — who departed this life Nov. 14, 1961. — Remembered by her daughter, Hester.

"At night the stars look down upon
A grave not far from here,
Where sleeps the one we can't forget,
And always loved so dear,
God knows how much we miss you,
As ends the second sad year,
You left behind some broken hearts,
That loved you, Mother dear."

Supper and forestry program held at Arundel

(Our District Correspondent)

Arundel — Last Friday evening, under the joint convenership of the Students' Council and the Tree Farm Committee, a successful bean supper was held in the school auditorium, attended by a large gathering. At the conclusion of the supper, an interesting program had been arranged. The chairman was Wade Welden, replacing the Students' Council president, Ronnie Cooke, who is still confined to hospital.

The guest speakers were introduced by Principal Melvin Graham. The first speaker, Mr. William Perks, gave a detailed report on the ARDA survey of the Rouge Valley.

He was followed by Prof. Jones, who gave an illustrated lecture on his surveying trip to the Mackenzie River, where he sought for different species of birch, to be planted in the Arboretum to be known as the "Confederation Trail".

A miniature display of the work of replacing trees on a burnt-out woodlot, then the cutting of the grown trees and their transportation to the miniature mill, created keen interest.

A complete display of "Wood in Your Life" included synthetic fibres from wood. A mural prepared by students interested in Art, depicted wild life, and there was also a literary display of essays and poems.

Primary grades made up a collection of seeds gathered while on a recent trip to the Tree Farm.

A special trip was made by 40 students from Macdonald College to attend this event.

At the close of the program the speakers were thanked by Mr. Leslie Cooke, chairman of the school board.

Altogether this was a very interesting and educational evening, enjoyed by all who attended, and the co-committees are to be warmly congratulated.

Horse-shoe experts

Top-notchers in the art of horse-shoe pitching are René Deslauriers and Fernand Plouffe, above, who during the past summer pitched as a team in seven tournaments and won five — having tied with Hawkesbury and lost to St. Hyacinthe. These expert shoe-tossers also played in the Quebec-Ontario inter-provincial tournament and six different regional events. Former C-I-L man was authority on explosives

The late J. A. Dewar, A.R.C.S.

Funeral service, conducted by the Rev. W. LeCras, assisted by Rev. Cyrus Lang, was held at the J. P. MacKimmie Funeral Chapel, Lachute, for John Alexander Dewar, A.R.C.S., of 3425 Ridgewood Ave., Montreal, who died last week after a lengthy illness.

Born in Glasgow, Scotland, a son of Dr. Alexander Dewar and Mrs. Dewar, he was educated at Allen Glen School, Glasgow, and the Glasgow and West of Scotland Technical College. He was an associate of the Royal College of Science, London, England, from which he graduated. From 1909 to 1914 he was chief chemist at Eley's Ammunition Division, London, Eng.

During the First Great War he was chief chemist at Nobel's Explosive Co. Ltd., Waltham Abbey, Essex, from 1914 to 1921. He developed the Dewar 303 Zeppelin bullet with incendiary tube during that period; he also examined the first Zeppelin bomb which fell near Waltham Abbey, and was thanked by Lord Moulton, Minister of Munitions, for valuable information with regard to the explosive used. He spent five years in Australia.

In 1927 he came to Canada and was chief chemist and metallurgist at Canadian Industries Ltd., Brownsburg. In 1929 he visited Germany, and started up a new plant in 1930 making lead azide and lead styphnate. He retired in September 1944, due to ill health.

He is survived by his wife, the former Rhian Roberts, and three sisters.

Pall-bearers were — Messrs. J. P. Martin, Montreal, S. H. Stillwell, Brownsburg, J. E. Barker, Lachute, Joseph Fletcher, Omer Gagné and A. G. Talbot, Brownsburg.

Interment was in Lachute cemetery.

New minister at Lachute United

The minister-elect, the Rev. Harold W. Thompson, B.A., B.D., has arrived,with his family to take over the pastorate of Lachute United Church.

Mr. Thompson was born in Moose Jaw, Sask., and received his early education in that city. He received his B.A. from Dalhousie University, and his B.D. from Pine Hill Divinity Hall. Prior to coming to Lachute, he has served in three Maritime churches, Bass River, N.S., East Saint John, N.B., and Windsor, N.S.

During the war years 1942-1945 he served with the R.C.N. Fleet Air Arm, having received some of his flying training in nearby St. Eugene, and later was a chaplain in the R.C.N., 1955-1958.

The Rev. and Mrs. Thompson have a family of three children — Hugh, 9, Nancy, 8, and Carolyn, 5. . . Their first services will be held next Sunday morning in Lachute, and in the afternoon at East Settlement.

Meet Canadians Overseas

Among the many pleasantries experienced by Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Giles on their recent trip overseas, was that of meeting Mr. C. A. Hind of the Canadian Embassy in Paris, whose daughter is Mrs. Angus Strong, of this town.

In London Mr. and Mrs. Giles had a chat with the Hon. George Drew, Canadian High Commissioner in England, and noted the name of Mrs. A. Bothwell on the visitors' book in Canada House.

At Guildford the visitors were even more at home in enjoying a visit and dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Jamison and the latter's father, Mr. Jack Lavis. All are well, enjoying the temporary change of climate and environment, and sent best wishes to their friends in Lachute. A quick tour of the city revealed many fine buildings, among which is their beautiful cathedral, still under construction and not expected to be completed for several years.

Artillery dance pleasant function

The annual ball of the 131st Battery, 37th Field Regiment R.C.A., proved, as usual, a very pleasurable event. The dance, held in the Legion Hall last Saturday evening, was well attended. Present were the O/C of the regiment, Lt.-Col. T. E. McLean, and several officers from Montreal headquarters of the Artillery, accompanied by their wives.

Music for dancing was provided by a Montreal orchestra.

A pleasing sidelight was the announcement by Lt. Col. McLean of Capt. W. E. Butterfield's promotion to the rank of Major. Lt.-Col. McLean presented the emblematic crown and congratulated Major Butterfield on his good work with the local militia.

Postal service, Remembrance Day

G. Laferrière, postmaster at Lachute, gives information that on Remembrance Day, November 11, there will be mail delivery by letter carriers and rural route couriers in the regular manner.

Incoming and outgoing mails will be handled as usual, and the post-office lobby for box-holders will be opened at the regular hours.

However, the post-office wickets will be closed at noon, and there will be no money order or savings bank transactions.

Christmas Chorale rehearsals start

On Sunday afternoon at 2.45 o'clock, the first practice of the Argenteuil Choral Society will be held in Lachute United Church, under Lowell B. Hopkins, the director and organist.

All former members are reminded — and an invitation goes forth to all persons who like to sing Christmas music, whether they are Roman Catholic or Protestant — concerning these rehearsals for the annual Christmas Chorale, which has been held for several consecutive years.

Interested persons may have more particulars from Mrs. Mason Crosby in Brownsburg, from Mr. Hopkins or Mr. Bernard Hewitt, in Lachute.

C.W.L. meeting, Lachute group

Two letters of appreciation, from Miss Patricia Lafleur and Miss Betty Elkington, were read at the recent meeting of the Catholic Women's League, Ste. Anastasie Council. A letter from the council's "adopted son", the Rev. Brother MacDonald, O.M.I., in Peru, was read by Mrs. C. Lowe.

Special guest for the evening was Father Yvon Mailloux, Director of the C.W.L.

A report on the rummage sale under convenership of Mrs. L. Bedard, showed this effort was a financial success. Members were asked to assist in the making of Cancer dressings, and also to cater to a fashion show to be held in February. A Christmas party will be held on December 15 for members' children; Mrs. B. Lowe and Mrs. M. Malette will be conveners. A Christmas box is being made up for Eskimo children, consisting of candy, toys, children's books, mittens, etc. Members who have not already contributed to this gesture, may have articles picked up by phoning LO 2-6385.

WEATHER
as a Weapon of War and an Instrument of Peace
When will control be brought about, and how ?
(From the magazine, "Awake")

The Weather Weapon Not New

Long before man thought of weather as a weapon, God the Creator used the elements to wipe out a world. Jehovah God "a manly person of war," declared to Noah: "In just seven days more I am making it rain upon the earth forty days and forty nights, and I will wipe every existing thing that I have made off the surface of the ground." This he did by exercising perfect control over the weather. — Ex. 15:3; Gen. 7:4, 17-24.

Controlled Weather for Peaceful Uses

It is good also to know that Jehovah, who controls the weather in a perfect way, will use weather control to the blessing of mankind in the new world, even as he did in his typical theocracy Israel. Through his mouthpiece Moses, Jehovah told the Israelites: "If you continue walking in my statutes and keeping my commandments and you do carry them out, then I shall certainly give you showers of rain at their proper time and the land will indeed give its yield and the tree of the field will give its fruit. And your threshing will certainly reach to your grape gathering, and the grape gathering will reach to the sowing of seed, and you will indeed eat your bread to the full and dwell in security in your land." (Lev. 26:3-5). What a comfort these words must have been to the new nation of Israel ! No crop failures. No droughts, no hailstorms, floods or insect plagues to ruin their crops — if they remained obedient to Jehovah their God. Obedience to God was a prime requisite to national security.

After Armageddon in Jehovah's new world, the God who controls the weather will in a literal way fulfill the promise: "I will cause the pouring rain to descend in its time. Pouring rains of blessing there will prove to be. And the tree of the field must give its fruitage, and the land itself will give its yield, and they will actually prove to be on their soil in security." (Ezek. 34:26, 27) Obedience to God will bring weather control, and weather control will bring security and prosperity.

So our earth is due for some drastic weather changes. Not only by weather scientists will these changes come, however, but by God, who in Armageddon will use it as a weapon of war to destroy the wicked and in the righteous new world as an instrument of peace for the blessing of humankind obedient to his will.

So let's give praise to Jehovah, the great Creator of the heavens and the earth.

— Ps. 83 : 18

Advantages of fall plowing

Preparation and maintenance of arable land in good tilth call for a number of operations with various machines designed to move or stir the soil in one way or another. Nazaire Parent, of the Quebec Department of Agriculture and Colonization, points out that the first of these operations is plowing, to derive the greatest possible profit from the soil in the form of crops.

It is not enough to be simply a good plowman; it is also necessary to take into account the nature of the soil and subsoil, and to regulate the depth of plowing to suit the crop. Clay soils, more particularly, require deepening by a good autumn plowing. To break down the soil and also for a better distribution of the year's work, it is economically sound to do all the plowing during the slack season in the fall. This alteration of the structure of the soil before freeze-up permits greater absorption and retention of water, allows air to penetrate, and helps the destruction of the roots and stems of existing plants.

The final aim of plowing is the complete destruction of all the plants formerly growing in the soil, in order to prepare the ground for fresh sowing under the best possible conditions. On a family farm under a system of mixed farming, the aim is to grow a good crop of grain, followed by a good stand of forage plants suited to livestock. Depending on whether plowing is well done, so as to allow rapid draining of water from rain or melted snow — or, on the other hand, not well done — seeding will be possible earlier or it will be delayed. Good fall plowing facilitates tillage of the soil next spring, permits early sowing, and favors high yields.

EDITORIAL NOTES...

"In this Parliament are three Estates, the Lords Spiritual, the Lords Temporal and the Commons, but in the Reporters' Gallery yonder sits a Fourth Estate more important far than all."
— Edmund Burke

Suicide strip

SIMON'S CROSSING on the C.P.R. just west of town, where the highway traverses the railway track diagonally, is admittedly a dangerous spot. Almost since the automobile invaded this countryside, it has been notorious. Yet its notoriety, its long toll on life and property, have never fully registered on the consciousness of certain motorists, even those familiar with the spot. Checkerboard signs, an amber highway flasher, speed warnings and pavement markings, have all passed unheeded — until a regulation railway flasher was finally installed, to end all accidents.

What happens? . . . Just twice Saturday night a week ago, the sign on the west side was knocked down by motorists, and a few days later another idiot plowed into the heavy metal standard on the east side, and walloped it completely. In one case, a railway work crew, busy making repairs, only narrowly avoided being hit. One of them tripped into a ditch; he compared the passing auto as a "hell-driver show" let loose overhead. No fewer than 29 times have these crossing signs been hit in the past two years, he stated.

There are too many smart-aleck, immature drivers on the road today, too many drinkers, too many whose addled brains cannot grasp the significance of a danger sign!

Poppies for remembrance

POPPIES will bloom in millions of coat lapels all over Canada this week, as Remembrance Day approaches, November 11.

The poppies, together with the Cenotaphs that will be the scenes of memorial ceremonies, are evidence that we have not forgotten the sacrifice made by more than 100,000 service men and women who did not return from Canada's wars.

While the monuments pay perpetual tribute to our war dead, the poppies we wear and the poppy wreaths we display do an equal honor to their memory. These tokens show that we are keeping faith with the dead, by helping in their name the many who did return and who are now in need of help.

They are the veterans who bear the honorable scars of war in the form of disabled limbs, premature old age, or other consequences of modern warfare. Many of them need help, such as the aid the Poppy Fund brings them.

It should be remembered that all veterans of World War I are now advanced in years. Among them are many now-aged men who fought in the desperate Battle of Ypres in April 1915, when the Canadian lines stood firm against heavy odds and saved the free world of that day from sudden and stunning defeat.

Many World War II veterans are also reaching the higher age brackets, and need at times the kind of help the Poppy Fund offers. When the emergency of prolonged unemployment, sickness or other disaster strikes, the Poppy Fund can help a war veteran with essentials such as food, fuel and help with the rent.

Besides emergency relief, the Poppy Fund helps veterans in other directions. There are the Vetcraft Shops in Montreal and other centres, where disabled and aged veterans make the poppies and wreaths for the annual Poppy Day.

Emergency relief and other Poppy Fund services are freely given in the name of those who gave their lives in Canada's wars. These services can be given only if the public accords generous support to the Poppy Day appeal.

We're not perfect

THERE IS significance in the fact that for the first time a Negro has been elected to a legislature in Canada. But it shouldn't be cause for smugness.

Lawyer Leonard Braithwaite, a Liberal, won the new suburban Toronto riding of Etobicoke in the recent Ontario election. And since there are relatively few other Negroes in the constituency, it means that he was elected by white voters.

This is heartening in the light of the difficulties experienced by Negroes in the southern United States in their fight for equality. It means that the people of Etobicoke, a middle-class district, are open-minded enough to vote for the man and ignore the color of his skin. . . But it doesn't mean there is no racial discrimination either in Etobicoke or in other parts of Canada.

Oscar Peterson, the brilliant jazz pianist from Montreal, has said Canadians practice "polite segregation." What he means is that we don't force Negroes to take seats in the back of buses, or try to keep them from attending schools with whites.

But many Negroes have encountered discrimination when applying for better-than-average jobs or seeking to rent an apartment in a fashionable neighborhood. For example, surveys carried out in Montreal showed 18 per cent of landlords or rental agents openly admitted they discriminate against Negroes.

In Halifax, with one of the country's largest concentrations of Negroes, it's often difficult for them to find rental accommodation outside certain districts.

And when 1,500 landlords around the University of Toronto campus were asked to sign certificates pledging not to practise discrimination, 500 refused.

There are examples of racial harmony, of course, and these are to the credit of Canadians generally. But it's important to remember that Canada has a Negro population of only about 30,000. This number is so small that relatively few of us ever have any dealings with Negroes.

Under such conditions, it's easy to be tolerant. But as long as any Negro is confined to the status of a second-class citizen because of "polite segregation", Canadians generally must share the shame of it all.

Color complexes

LET'S CHANGE traffic lights so that red means go and green means stop. . . It sounds absurd, but wait a minute: Scientists who study the effects of colors have found that red exhilarates the human brain and that drivers often have overpowering, although unconscious psychological urges to run through red lights without stopping. (Some of them do.)

But green! Ah, the soft, lush green of summer foliage is soothing and refreshing. Theoretically at least, drivers should be happy to stop and gaze dreamily at a green light. (Some of them do.)

The colors of automobiles also produce peculiar effects on motorists, say the color specialists. For instance, most drivers cannot resist passing a red or bright yellow car, although they don't mind meekly following a car colored soft grey, green or blue.

The ever-probing psychologists also note that red encourages the appetite and that's why restaurant designers often use liberal amounts of red in their color schemes.

Women have special problems when it comes to car colors, we're told. Elderly ladies are warned by automobile manufacturers that if they drive a black car, their complexions will appear "somewhat muddy." The manufacturers are subtly training women to pay close attention to the colors of the cars they drive. Ideally, the manufacturers would like to see women cajoling their husbands to buy a fleet of little cars, all different colors, to fit the various moods of the much-maligned women drivers.

The publicity department of one car firm slyly points out: "A bright yellow will make an extremely dark complexion glow," and "reflected green light from the hood will intensify an olive skin tone."

Feeling blue this morning, lady? Just hop into car No. 6, the aquamarine one, and let everybody know what to expect.

SUGAR and SPICE

By Bill Smiley

Hunter, Hunter, hold your fire!
Do not explode that cartridge.
That's your neighbor, Mr. Dwyer.
It's not a plump hen partridge.

All right. You don't like that verse? How about this one?

Along the line of smoky hills
The crimson hunters stand,
A hundred thousand Bob's and Bill's,
Their muskets in their hand.
They're in the swamps and and valleys, too,
As thick as grease in skillet;
They have but one ambition, to See something move and kill it.

Yes, gentle, all-suffering reader, I'm afraid that one of the silliest of Canada's silly seasons is upon us. The above doggerel represents two of the attitudes about huntin' season which prevail. They might be labelled the Apprehensive and the Disapproving.

There are others. For example:

Why can't we hunters shoot from cars
And blast away on Sundays?
Each silly regulation mars
Our simple, joyous fun days.

This might be called the viewpoint of that small group of malformed individuals who give the rest of us the creeps. They enjoy killing for its own sake. They will shoot 20 ducks when the bag limit is eight. They will shoot an owl or a turtle or a cat, if nothing else is moving.

I find myself uneasy in their company. They could be termed The Killers. They are not hunters.

Quite opposed to these queer ones is another segment of our population. I came across a typical group of this species last Saturday when I dropped in at the pub for an ale. There they were, he-men all, in their red caps, red jackets and red faces, on about their eighth round of beers. After another couple of rounds, they'd be ready to fan out into the woods, and it would be every man for himself.

This type, and it is legion, seldom kills anything more dangerous than a crock or an old buddy. Just for the sake of euphony, let's call them The Swillers. Their credo might go thus:

Hunting is the sport for us;
We're a manly, merry crew,
So why the ruckus and the fuss
When we bag a cow or two?

Beset on one side by The Apprehensive and The Disapproving, on the other by The Killers and The Swillers, the real hunter has my sympathy. All he wants is to be allowed to follow his favorite sport in peace and with a modicum of safety, and it's getting tougher all the time. If he were not the simple, inarticulate type, he might say:

Give me a crisp November day
With a little skiff of snow,
And a deer run, and a good gun,
And you know where you can go.

I don't like slaughter. But I don't think every man who shoots an animal is a depraved monster, lusting for blood. Many a Saturday afternoon I myself have lined up my sights and fired with cool precision at a fence post or a No Trespassing sign.

And I'll never forget the day I bagged my biggest trophy—the black bear. I was out hunting partridge. The birds had me pretty rattled, jumping up behind me with a great whir and winging off, laughing over their shoulders.

Suddenly, out of the corner of my eye, I saw this huge, black, menacing shape crouched on a tree limb. Quick as a flash, I whirled, threw up my gun and fired. Down he tumbled at one shot. I felt both silly and a little sick when my 400-pound black bear turned out to be a 12-ounce black squirrel. But I ate him, in a stew.

How things have changed since Samuel Johnson wrote, a couple of hundred years ago, "Hunting was the labor of the savages of North America, but the amusement of the gentlemen of England." Or have they?

Saskatoon first for cobalt bomb

Saskatoon (CP) — The Ontario Electrical Museum may have to relabel its exhibit of the "world's original cobalt bomb."

Dr. V. Cormack of the University of Saskatchewan physics department said that a cobalt unit installed here Aug. 18, 1951, was believed the first of its type set up anywhere in the world.

The cobalt bomb was designed by H. E. Johns, then at the University of Saskatchewan, and was built here. The radioactive cobalt used in cancer treatment and research, was prepared by Atomic Energy of Canada Ltd. at its Chalk River, Ont., plant.

The Saskatoon-built unit is still in operation. Since 1951 more than 2,000 patients have been treated with cobalt by the Saskatchewan Cancer Commission.

Dief's Last Chance

By RAY ARGYLE

The way has been cleared for John Diefenbaker to stay on at the helm of the Conservative Party, and to lead it again in the next Federal election.

Ray Argyle

When the party's national executive met in Ottawa weekend before last, not a dissenting voice was heard to Mr. Diefenbaker's leadership. He delivered a rousing 90-minute pep talk, after which one high-ranking Tory commented, "never has the party been so united."

The fact is that the Conservative Party is indeed united — what's left of it, that is.

The national executive, controlled by pro-Diefenbaker men, will now set the stage for the Opposition leader to receive a rousing vote of confidence at the party's annual meeting in Ottawa next February.

Mr. Diefenbaker's loyal prairie faction, supported by old-line Conservatives in rural Eastern Canada, is all-powerful as a result of decimations and desertions in the big cities.

The performance of the Liberal Government since April has tremendously strengthened the old warrior's hold on his party. The budget backdown, pay boosts for MP's, labor trouble on the Great Lakes, continuing unemployment and rising prices all have given Mr. Diefenbaker sterling opportunities to rap the Pearson administration.

At times, in fact, it seems that Mr. Diefenbaker wasn't such a bad prime minister after all.

Now back in opposition, his slashing attacks on the Goverment are masterpieces of partisan invective. Where he once railed at Liberal obstruction he is now the obstructionist supreme. He has maneouvred himself on every issue to play the classic role of the people's champion — challenging, questing, casting doubt, demanding performance to match promises.

The politicians of this country, however, are going to have to learn that Canadians want more than partisanship.

It is extremely doubtful whether the Conservative Party can make a comeback from its island on the prairies. In view of the new wheat sales to China and Russia, it also is questionable whether prairie voters will continue to back the Diefenbaker party.

A Federal election might come as early as next spring. While the voting could be delayed, it is hardly likely the Pearson minority administration will hang on its full four years until 1968.

The lure of majority government will have an almost hypnotic effect on voters in the next election. No matter what the failings of the Liberals, they will be able to put the blame on their lack of a majority. Being the party closest to having a majority, it will be hard to deny the Liberals a clear mandate in parliament.

Regardless of the outcome, the next election will be Mr. Diefenbaker's last campaign. Either defeat or age will put an end to his career.

Because there are so few men of real national stature left in the Conservative bloc at Ottawa, the Tories will have to turn to provincial parties for a new national leader.

There will be at least three leading contenders to succeed Mr. Diefenbaker, all of them premiers who have shown competence both as vote-getters and administrators. Duff Roblin of Manitoba, John Robarts of Ontario and Robert Stanfield of Nova Scotia — any one would make an excellent Federal leader.

In the meantime, John Diefenbaker will act out the last chapter of his incredible political career with all the drama and showmanship that once swayed juries and won acquittals in courtrooms throughout the West.

First Lessons in Sewing

— By NANCY CLEAVER —

If there is a gift which delights a small girl more than a set of doll clothes, it is a garment for her doll which she has made herself.

Perhaps father or an older brother could make her an attractive sewing box in which she could keep her needles and pins, thread and thimble, measuring tape and scissors.

On the remnant table in the dress goods department you will find inexpensive fabric for doll's clothing. If possible let your daughter have the fun of shopping with you.

She will need patient teaching if she is to learn how to thread a needle, make a knot, baste and do simple running stitch, backstitch, overcast and hemming. Skill in sewing on buttons, snap hooks and eyes in the correct way will be useful on her own clothing repairs all her life.

A handbook to follow and consult is almost a must in learning any craft. A child's interest is likely to be more enduring if she feels mother is taking her hobby seriously. Often it is a good plan to gradually cover each chapter until a sewing book has been all read.

If she displays a real enthusiasm for sewing as a hobby why not plan to give her a valuable book as a birthday or Christmas gift? One which can be warmly recommended is Dolls' Dressmaking by Winnifred Butler, a new book published by Oxford University Press. It is an exceptionally fine book with hand sewing instructions, although the garments could be made on a machine, with the exception of embroidery. Even a child who had never sewn before and is eager to dress her doll could follow the simple, step-by-step instructions and drawings.

The sixty full-size patterns to fit 16 inch or 17 inch dolls and teddy bears are a real find. They can be traced and cut out. The author shows how they can be adapted to fit smaller or larger dolls.

Embroidery must, of course, be done by hand and it adds a distinctive touch to a doll's or a little child's dress. Dolls' Dressmaking shows the basic principles of smocking, patchwork, appliqué, cross-stitch and other popular stitches.

A doll is often sold in a box and this book describes how to use this box as the frame for the new doll's crib, by fitting the lid on the base of the box, re-inforcing the upper edges with wire, padding and then covering it. The making of sheets, pillows, pillowcases, and quilts completes the doll's sleeping equipment.

There are other less expensive books which also have their use such as The First Book of Sewing by Catherine Roberts (Franklin Watts) and Sewing by Jeanette Zarchy (Znopf).

In grandmother's room when she was a girl, there was likely a sampler she had sewn herself, perhaps with a motto in cross stich such as Home Is Where the Heart Is. Some modern girls graduate from doll clothes to making a sampler and in Catherine Roberts' First Book of Sewing she points out that a sampler is designed to show off the skill of a needlewoman. She suggests that a variety of stitches be used as well as care, precision, color and imagination.

Sewing by Jeanette Zarchy (Knopf), an activity book for a mother or small daughter, is a practical, easy-to-follow book. Its introduction points out that young people who sew always have something to do. This is a wonderful hobby to which they can turn at a moment's notice.

As a girl grows older, and has a set amount to spend on her own clothes, she soon discovers that if she is skillful in sewing she can save money. Her clothes will also have a different look, which can express her own taste. When she marries and has a daughter of her own she can say, "My mother gave me my first lessons in sewing when I learned to make my own doll clothes".

A Salmon Supper Square

Smoked or canned, salmon is certainly one of North America's top table fish. Ensuring accession to another rung in the ladder of popularity is this recipe for Salmon Strata Supper Square — calling for cornflakes, mashed potatoes and canned salmon. Salmon, egg, ketchup, crumbled cornflakes, salt, pepper and celery seed are blended together to top the mashed potatoes already in a baking dish. Cover this with more crumbled cornflakes, slip it into a preheated, moderate oven, and, Voila!

Salmon Strata Supper Square

3 Cups cornflakes, 1 envelope instant mashed potatoes (or 2 cups hot mashed potatoes, seasoned), 1 can (1-pound) salmon (approx. 2 cups), ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, ½ teaspoon celery seeds, 1 egg (slightly beaten), ¼ cup tomato ketchup, ¼ cup finely chopped parsley (optional), 4 tablespoons melted butter or margarine.

Grease an 8-inch square glass baking dish. Preheat oven to 350 degrees F. (moderate). If 8-inch square metal pan is used, preheat oven to 375 deg. F.

Between sheets of wax paper, crush cornflakes medium fine with rolling pin. Don't crush too finely.

Prepare instant mashed potatoes according to package directions. Or cook, mash and season enough potatoes to yield the required 2 cups.

Drain and flake salmon, reserving the liquid. Blend into the salmon, the salt, pepper, and celery seeds. Stir in all but half a cup of cornflake crumbs. Add egg, ketchup and reserved salmon liquid; mix well. With fork, stir parsley into prepared potatoes.

Lightly pack potatoes into baking dish. Spread salmon mixture on top. Sprinkle remaining half cup cornflake crumbs over salmon. Drizzle with melted butter or margarine. Bake in preheated moderate oven 30 to 35 minutes. Cut into six or nine pieces. Let stand about five minutes before removing from pan with pie server or broad spatula, then serve while still hot. Makes about 6 servings.

Honey recipes for a sweet tooth

Honey, the favorite sweet, is now in plentiful supply on our markets and this is a good time to stock up on it. The larger size containers are a more economical buy.

Did you know that you may select honey from several textures, colors and sizes? The Consumer Section, Canada Department of Agriculture, tell us that you may buy a "style" suited to your taste. Creamed honey is popular, and liquid and comb honeys are readily available. White, Golden, Amber and Dark are the fashionable shades of honey. Color does not affect the quality but you will find that the lighter the color, the milder the flavor.

Honey has an extensive size range from 5 ounces to 4 pounds and is packaged in glass jars, plastic or cardboard cartons, or in tins.

Honey is usually sold as No. 1 grade (the highest quality) although there are lower grades for it as well. The Consumer Section, Canada Department of Agriculture tell us that the word "Pasteurized"' on the label means that the honey has been heated to destroy yeasts which cause fermentation" — not to kill bacteria, which cannot normally survive in the high concentration of sugar in honey. Thus with the destruction of yeasts, pasteurized honey has a longer shelf life.

October 28 to November 2 was Honey Week in Canada. To mark this event the Consumer Section, Canada Department of Agriculture recommended a Jewish recipe for Honey Cake. This cake has a texture similar to gingerbread and has the goodness of honey. Serve it with fruit.

Honey Cake

2 Eggs, 1 cup sugar, 1 cup honey, 5 tablespoons oil, 1 cup strong tea (warm), 3 cups sifted pastry flour (or 2¾ cups sifted all-purpose flour), ½ teaspoon cinnamon, ½ teaspoon allspice, ½ to 1 teaspoon ground cloves, 1 teaspoon baking soda, ½ cup chopped nuts.

Beat the eggs well, add sugar gradually and continue beating until light. Stir in honey and oil Add dry ingredients alternately with warm tea. Add nuts and mix thoroughly. Pour into an 8 x 12-inch greased pan and bake in a moderate oven 350°F. until done, about 35 minutes.

For a honey of a dessert, try Honey Cheese Pie, as follows:

Sweet Pastry

1 Cup sifted all-purpose flour, 1 tablespoon sugar, ½ teaspoon salt, 6 tablespoons butter, 1 egg yolk, 3 to 4 teaspoons water.

Combine flour, sugar and salt. Add butter and rub in with finger tips until mixture resembles fine bread crumbs. Combine egg yolk and water, and stir into flour mixture to form a dough. Roll dough out to fit a 9-inch pie plate.

Honey Cheese Pie

Sweet pastry to line a deep 9-inch pie pan, 8 ounces cream cheese, 3 eggs, ½ cup liquid honey, ½ cup light cream, ½ cup milk, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind, 1 tablespoon lemon juice.

Prepare pastry and line pie pan. Bake in a hot oven 400°F. for 5 minutes.

Cream the cheese until soft. Beat eggs, add honey, cream, milk, salt and lemon rind. Add egg mixture to cheese gradually. Beat until smooth, then add lemon juice. Pour cheese mixture into the partly baked pie shell. Turn oven temperature to 350°F. and bake pie until filling is firm, 35 to 40 minutes. Chill thoroughly.

Just before serving top with glazed fresh or canned fruit such as blueberries, cherries or peaches.

Teatime Topics

Specially Written for The Lachute Watchman

By Patricia Rusak, Canadian Press Staff Writer

A little girl rocking her toy baby to sleep with a lullaby is almost as outdated as the turkey trot.

Today's youngsters send their dolls on fishing trips, swimming, sailing, skiing, riding, to dances, parties, shopping and even to church on Sunday.

Tammy, Barbie, Margie — these are a few of today's fashion dolls who play the role of older sister or even mother in the lives of little girls.

Initially these dolls, all about 12 inches high, are inexpensive, retailing at about three or four dollars. But outfitting them for their active fun-filled life can cost up to $70 and more.

Margie, for example, has at present 24 outfits which cost $1.98 or more each. Barbie's wedding gown costs $5 and some fashion dolls' outfits in the United States even include genuine mink coats.

Each manufacturer likes to claim his grown-up doll is a "wholesome teen-ager." But outfits for nearly all fashion dolls include brassieres, nylons, high heels and other symbols of being grown up.

Trend To Realism

Earle Pullen, who manufactures Margie, says today's fashion dolls are only one aspect of the trend to realism in the entire toy industry.

Besides wetting their diapers, infant dolls squirm in their sleep, pucker their lips for a kiss and squeal "I'm a good girl" and "Change my dress." Older walking dolls, some as tall or taller than their little owners, utter the timeless plea: "Tell me a story."

The bride doll, popular four or five years ago, is slowly disappearing and "you couldn't get rid of a Barbara Ann Scott doll — the rage at the height of the skater's career — today if you wanted to give it away," said Mr. Pullen, explaining that the life of most character dolls is short-lived.

In other toy lines, Teddy bears brush their teeth, chipmunks play harmonicas and dogs and other animals are often larger-than-life size.

More Play Value

Apart from the fact that manufacturers must always provide new and different things to stay in business, the trend to realism can be defended psychologically.

Life-like toys with which a child can identify and participate have more play value for a child, it is argued.

One mother says her two daughters, aged 10 and 12, often play whole afternoons with their fashion dolls, inventing activities and situations in which they would like to find themselves.

Young girls learn a great deal about building a wardrobe — styles, fabrics and color combinations — from playing with their fashion dolls, another mother said.

Things 'n Stuff

By Walter Henry Jackson

"THE MODEL-T"

During the years of popularity of the Model-T Ford, many jokes were written about this remarkable vehicle. The following is supposed to be no joke, but something that actually happened. But don't quote me. This is the way I hear'd it...

A farmer driving a Model-T Ford touring car ran out of gas on a busy highway. In vain he stood in the road waving his arms to try to get someone to stop and help him. Car after car passed by at full speed, ignoring the helpless farmer. After nearly an hour a big executive driving a brand-new Cadillac slowed down and stopped. After listening to the farmer's plight, he got out his tow-rope and offered to tow him to the nearest gas station, two miles farther on. They started off without incident, but the Cadillac owner had so many things on his mind that he completely forgot the car he was towing. He went right past the gas station at 60 miles an hour. A traffic cop saw him and gave chase. The Cadillac man stepped on the gas and soon lost the police officer, who pulled up at the nearest telephone booth and called the police station in the town just ahead and told the man in charge the following:

"There's a maniac in a Cadillac sedan headed your way, going between 70 and 80 miles an hour. I know you won't believe this, but there's a man in a Ford right behind him blowing his horn and trying to pass!"

Highly respected B'burg citizen mourned by many

Late William Heatlie Tomalty

Brownsburg — The sudden passing of another long-time resident of this community saddened the hearts of many friends, when news was received of the death of Mr. Wm. H. Tomalty on Thursday, October 31, at the Smith Clinic in Hawkesbury, Ont.

Mr. Tomalty was born at Mount Maple, on July 31, 1896, the son of the late Arthur Tomalty and Agnes Calder. He was the beloved husband of Gertrude Mary Tomalty, whom he married March 31, 1920.

Mr. Tomalty had been a faithful attendant at his church ever since his conversion some 40 years ago at the Torrey-Alexander meetings in this area. Of late, he had served as a board member of the Brownsburg Pentecostal Church.

The late Mr. Tomalty had been a respected employee of C-I-L in Brownsburg until his retirement two years ago. He was a friend to all, a favorite with children, and will be greatly missed in his home and in the community.

Left to mourn his passing are his wife, Gertrude Mary, his son, Linton, of Brownsburg, and daughter Elinor (Mrs. Earl McNutt) of Peterborough, Ont.; also four grandchildren, Julia, Lewis, Warren and Laird. He is survived also by his brothers, Carson, of Mount Maple, and Bert, of Cape Coral, Florida, and sisters, Mrs. Arthur (Miriam) Pollock, of Galt, Ont., Mrs. James (Anna) Warwick of Lachute, and Mrs. Robert (Elizabeth) Gibson, of Ottawa.

The funeral service was held Saturday in the Brownsburg Pentecostal Church, conducted by his pastor, the Rev. R. E. Solmes. At the request of the family Mr. Wm. Love sang "No Night There". The congregational hymns were favorites of the deceased, "Under His Wings" and "O That Will Be Glory For Me."

Six of his nephews acted as pallbearers — Messrs. Edwin Pollock, Donald Tomalty, Robert Creswell, Alvin Tomalty, Gerald Tomalty and James Tomalty. Honorary pall-bearers were two members of the church board, Mr. Kenneth Murdoch and Mr. Wm. Stansfield.

The many floral and memorial tributes, as well as the large attendance at the funeral, bore tribute to the esteem in which the late Mr. Tomalty was held.

Interment was in Louisa Cemetery, the Rev. C. W. Baugh conducting the committal service.

Mrs. E. MacLeod, of Pierrefonds, spent Saturday with her mother, Mrs. W. Townsend.

Mrs. C. Donaldson, of Ottawa, is spending this week as the guest of Mrs. J. A. Campbell.

Week-end guests at Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Petley's were Mrs. Wilson Bridge, of Falconbridge, Ont., Mr. Bruce Johnstone, Mr. Alexander Bridge, Mr. Wayne Petley and Miss Judy Petley, of Montreal.

Sunday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Stephens were Miss Claire Mudd, Miss Kathryn Stephens and Mr. Campbell Stephens, of Ottawa.

The Rev. R. C. Cunningham, of Springfield, Missouri, spent a few days last week visiting his sister and brother-in-law, the Rev. and Mrs. R. E. Solmes.

Mr. John Mason, of Ruskin, B.C., and Mr. Milton Mason, of Dartmouth, N.S., who spent the past week visiting with their father, have returned to their respective homes.

The Rev. R. E. Solmes and several members of his congregation attended the Pentecostal Fellowship North American convention, in Montreal.

Sincere sympathy of this community is extended to Mrs. W. H. Tomalty and family, and other relatives. Mr. Tomalty passed away at the Smith Clinic on Thursday, October 31.

GOOD SUPERVISION

Donnacona, Que. (CP) — Town council here agreed to amend a no-firearms by-law so that a newly organized pistol club could set up a practice range here. But the agreement was on condition that the club should find a responsible and competent instructor. The amendment went through when the club persuaded Police Chief Paul Lavallee to act as coach.

Poppy Days in Lachute:
November 7-8-9

LEGION NOTES

— by —

BRANCH 70 CORRESPONDENT

"ACTIVE SERVICE YESTERDAY COMMUNITY SERVICE TODAY"

This is the time of year that old sweats and young (?) vets look forward to with mixed emotions. A time of "remember whens", of chuckles over experiences shared or stories exchanged. Long discussions are the order of the day — on the merits of the best leave towns, the strength of vino versus calvados, mild and bitters, the NAAFI, the Spitfire, the corvette, the old contemptibles, the field guns and the trenches.

But on the other side of the ledger are the thoughts not too often spoken. . . The buddies who didn't make it back; the wonder and thankfulness that YOU did; and the hope and prayer that it was not all in vain.

Branch 70's Remembrance Day activities fall on November 9 and 10. The supper will be held at the Memorial Hall on Saturday, November 9, at 6.45 p.m. Tickets will be on sale at the hall, with the Ladies' Auxiliary doing the catering. Turn out for this, it is always a real good "do". The usual dance will be held from 9.30 until closing, and this is even better than the supper. . . Church parade will be to the Presbyterian Church. We move off from the hall at 10.30 a.m. Sunday for this. It is our intention to alternate these parades each year between the various denominations. All Legionnaires are requested to attend this very important function. The Cenotaph services will be the same afternoon. All vets and Legion members will move off from the hall at 1.25 p.m. We are hoping that the townsfolk will join with us at the park in goodly numbers for this brief ceremony of remembrance.

An important part of all our activities is, of course, the poppy sales. The door-to-door sales are under Doug Olgivie; the street sales have been organized by Cde. Geo. Leggett. The surrounding districts are being covered and Chairman Ernie Evans is hoping for another banner year. Anyone wishing to help in any way should contact any of the above-mentioned comrades.

Wear your poppy and turn out for all these very important functions!

Agriculture class largest in years

The largest class in recent years has enrolled at Macdonald College of McGill University for the two-year course in Agriculture.

According to Professor H. R. Murray, acting-director of the diploma course, 34 new students have been accepted — 26 from Quebec, three from Ontario, and one each from New York State, Basutoland, West Indies, Mexico and England.

Intended primarily for young men who plan to make farming their life work, the course gives practical instruction in the agricultural sciences, an approach to the solution of problems facing agriculture, and training for rural leadership.

College authorities are hopeful that this year's record enrolment is a sign of an increasing awareness of the opportunities for trained men in agriculture, and the great need for skilled leadership in the rural community.

Manitoba widow to represent Cdn. motherhood

Ottawa — A 74-year-old widow, who lost three sons in war, will represent Canadian motherhood at the National Remembrance Ceremony here on November 11. She is Mrs. Mary Stodgell of Winnipeg.

Mrs. Stodgell will place one of the official wreaths at the National War Memorial. Her wreath — on behalf of some 104,000 mothers who lost sons in war — will be placed immediately following that of His Excellency the Governor-General. Other official wreaths will be placed by the Prime Minister, Judge C. C. Sparling (Dominion President, Royal Canadian Legion), and the Chiefs of Staff.

Mrs. Stodgell had five sons in the services during the war. Two died in the Pacific and one in North-west Europe.

Stanley Stodgell was killed at Hong Kong on December 19, 1941, while serving with the Winnipeg Grenadiers. He was 21 years old. Garnett Stodgell was taken prisoner at Hong Kong. He died in captivity in 1943 while serving with the Winnipeg Grenadiers.

A third brother, Cyril, was killed in Belgium in 1944. He was a member of the Lake Superior Regiment.

Among the surviving brothers are Norman and Roy. Roy served at Hong Kong with the Winnipeg Grenadiers; Norman served in Europe with the Princess Pats.

While in Ottawa, Mrs. Stodgell will be the guest of the Royal Canadian Legion. It is expected that she will have tea with the Governor-General and will attend a luncheon in her honor given by the Chief of the General Staff.

BIG EVENT

An annual London-to-Brighton (England) race by antique cars is watched by more people than any other motoring event in the world, says Reader's Digest. Each year cars and owners come from all over the world to compete. To qualify, they must have been built before 1905.

AUTHORIZE RAMPS

Winnipeg (CP) — City council here has authorized construction of two experimental wheelchair ramps on a street in front of the new Manitoba Rehabilitation Hospital. Each ramp will cost $100 and will enable persons in wheelchairs to cross the street with ease and safety.

Quebec Farmers' annual conference held at Macdonald

At the annual conference of the Quebec Farmers' Association held at Macdonald College, Cyril Dahms, Dewittville, was re-elected president for the coming year. Mr. Dahms therefore continues to represent this organization in the parent body, the Canadian Federation of Agriculture.

In welcoming the delegates to Macdonald College, Dr. Dion, Dean of the Faculty of Agriculture, assured the Association of the College's continuing support, and offered the facilities of the College to all organizations dedicated to the improvement of Agriculture.

In his address to the Association, Mr. Dahms drew attention to the changes in the past year in Marketing legislation. He commented on the fact that no professional farmers had been appointed to the new Marketing Board.

David Kirk, representing the Canadian Federation of Agriculture, described the sale of wheat to Russia as a "fantastic deal". Providing the effect was not wiped out by shipping strikes, he believed that not only the western farmer, but the entire Canadian economy would be stimulated by the sale.

big car features and V8 performance...

770—4 Door Station Wagon

660—2 Door Sedan

(or something between the two...)

there's an exciting new 1964 Rambler Classic that will give you exactly what you want

What are you looking for in a car? Economy? Luxury? A little bit of both? Suit yourself—with a popular-sized, popular-priced 1964 Rambler Classic.

Let's suppose that you want a relatively inexpensive car. You want it in a family-size, with plenty of room and comfort. You want it to look good, operate economically, perform well, keep its value. The 1964 Series 550 Classic equipped with Rambler's famous-for-dependability 6-cylinder engine, is the perfect answer.

If, on the other hand you're thinking about luxurious interiors and leave-'em-behind performance . . . if you want such optional extras as reclining bucket seats with a center console or Rambler's new power-lift side window controls . . . then the '64 Series 770 Classic with the new 198 hp V8 is the car for you.

Many people, of course, will want a little of both: a combination of luxury and economy. With both a 6-cylinder engine and the powerful new V8, with a wide range of models and options, the 1964 Rambler Classic can become exactly the car you have in mind.

And no matter which 1964 Classic you choose, you get all of these famous Rambler features: the world's most complete rust-proofing, guaranteed Ceramic-Armoured muffler system, guaranteed battery and coolant, battery-saving alternator, 3-year or 33,000-mile lubrication, 2-year or 24,000-mile warranty on the entire car, self-adjusting Double-Safety brakes, and reclining seats.

See the entire line of 1964 Rambler Classics at your nearby Rambler Dealer's soon. He'll be glad to show you exactly what you have in mind.

FROM OUR COUNTY CORRESPONDENTS

Cushing

Mr. Mattock, formerly of Cushing riverfront and now of Lake Louisa, had lunch with Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Elliott on Sunday and also attended St. Mungo's Church.

Eleven members of St. Mungo's Church attended Grenville United Church afternoon tea and sale, and reported a very enjoyable afternoon.

The pre-fab houses being built in the meadow in front of the Graham house are speedily getting ready for occupancy.

Miss Marion Elliott, of Ottawa, and Miss Doris Elliott, of Macdonald College, spent the week-end with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Elliott.

Best wishes for a speedy return to perfect health are extended to Mrs. Donald Fuller, also to Mrs. Norman Dewar. Both ladies, at the time of reporting, are in the Montreal General Hospital for observation.

Hallowe'en passed fairly quietly in Cushing this year. At one point several fire crackers were set off, with no damage done; UNICEF boxes were carried by the children, and donations to the cause of the children of other nations were given gladly.

Mr. Gerald King Cushing was in residence here Sunday, and helped with the Sunday School at St. Mungo's.

Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Morrow, of the Monalea Road, were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Morrow, of Grenville, and Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Morrow, of Whisselltown.

The Misses Elaine Rhind and Florence Holmes, of Montreal, were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Bailey.

Grandpa Didn't Know

Grandpa took no vitamins,
His bread was not enriched,
He started out on starches and
He simply never switched.

Grandpa ate the things he liked,
His diet was all wrong —
Poor grandpa died at eighty-nine,
I hope I live as long!

Mr. and Mrs. Allan MacLeod leave this week to take up residence on the Pacific Coast. Their friends in this community wish them a pleasant journey.

Visitors at the home of Mrs. Howard Smith last week-end were Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Andrews, of Ottawa, and Mr. Eric Clarke, of Montreal, Allan Copeland, Fergus and Judy Lynn Smith, from Macdonald College.

Orange Annual Meeting

The L.O.B.A. held their annual meeting on Wednesday evening in the Orange Hall, when the election of officers took place. The members were assisted by members from the Harrington Lodge. Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

Mrs. Allan MacPhee, Mrs. Howard Smith and Mrs. George Kelly attended a tea in Grenville Saturday afternoon, served by the United Church Women.

Mrs. Jamie Harrison, of Montreal, spent last week with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Young.

Mr. Fred MacLeod is motoring to Vancouver this week with Mr. and Mrs. Allan MacLeod.

Mrs. Willie MacLean is spending a few weeks with her brother, Willie and Mrs. MacLeod.

The Avoca United Church Women held their meeting last Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Cecil Young.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Earl MacLeod, of Grenville, who celebrated their 17th wedding anniversary Saturday evening.

Those from this community who attended the turkey supper in Harrington last Saturday evening, sponsored by the L.O.B.A., were — Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Bates and Mark, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Kelly and family, Mrs. Willie Arthurs, Mrs. Clayton Burwash and Mr. Lorne MacTavish.

A letter from Port Colborne, Ont., received by Mrs. Percy Farrara, informs us that her brother Mr. Stanley MacLean has recovered sufficiently from his serious illness to return to work. His Avoca friends are pleased with his progress and wish him continuing good health.

Mr. and Mrs. Bunny Bates, and Mr. and Mrs. John Prophet, attended the wedding of Miss Margaret Carmichael and Mr. Billy Urquhart, in First Presbyterian Church, Montreal, last Saturday afternoon.

Guest speaker in the Avoca United Church on Sunday evening was Mr. Ronald Wallace, from Montreal Theological College, a friend of the student pastor, Mr. Glen Jackson.

Masquerade Dance

Quite a number of people from this community attended the masquerade dance in Bell Falls last Thursday evening in aid of the Rouge River Community Rink. The costumes, both original and funny, provided a difficult task for the judges, whose final decisions gave first prize to Mrs. Bernard Milway, second to Mrs. Harold MacCullouch, and third to Mrs. Charles Downing.

Mabel

Mr. Alex Black, of Foam Lake, Sask., also Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Rodger, of Lachute, visited Mr. and Mrs. John Black on Saturday.

Mr. David Black is in St. Jean, Que., where he has commenced training with the RCAF.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Clark and daughter, Jean, spent the week-end in Carleton Place, Ont., where they visited Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Creswell and Mr. and Mrs. Newton McKenzie.

Mr. Wayne Clark, of Macdonald College, spent the week-end at his home here.

Mr. and Mrs. Calvin McAndrew, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Wesley McAndrew and Miss Sandra McAndrew, motored to Cumberland, Md., for the week-end and attended the McAndrew-Barnes wedding.

Sympathy

This entire community was shocked at the sudden passing of Mr. Wm. Tomalty last Thursday. Sympathy is extended to his wife and family.

Andrew Clark was among the successful 4-H'ers who exhibited calves at the Ottawa Winter Fair on Friday last.

"AS I SAY"

AIDS ALCOHOLICS

Saskatoon (CP) — Research at the university hospital here has indicated that nicotine acid, a chemical used in treating schizophrenia, can help alcoholics. Dr. A. Hoffer, an official of the department of health, says the chemical has brought persons in an alcoholic state back to sobriety. The psychiatrist says research showed a relationship between schizophrenia and alcoholism.

Heated exchanges on aid to recreation, Richelieu request 'tabled' by Council

A request from the Richelieu Club for help in defraying the operation costs of its swimming pool this past season, provoked a heated discussion in Council. The city fathers, after full debate, refused this assistance.

The request coincided, unhappily, with a plea for $2,000 from the St. Julien Loisirs committee. Also with a brief from the recreation consultative committee, presented by Robert Church but unread at the Council sitting.

Argument in the Council chamber was precipitated unintentionally by Ald. Linton Armstrong, chairman on parks and playgrounds. Only anxious to help the cause, his proposal sparked some warm opposition, notably from Ald. Dr. R. A. Dumais.

Ald. Armstrong moved a "reimbursement" of $1,860 to the Richelieu Club for operating expenses in the form of chemicals for the pool, sand, mowing of hay on the playground, various purchases from local companies, and the electricity bill. This — said Ald. Armstrong, and Mayor Campbell agreed — could not be construed either as a donation or a grant.

Ald. Laurier Carrière was the first to raise objection. He said this gesture — the paying of operation costs — could set a dangerous precedent which might snowball to unreasonable and unforeseen demands.

Another newly-elected alderman, Dr. Dumais, while asserting he was all for recreation, violently opposed the principle of the municipality backing recreation enterprises.

Supported also by Dr. L. A. Middleton, he asserted it was not the Council which should underwrite recreation; that those who promote this effort should solicit from the public (alluding here to the St. Julien Loisirs, one of the applicants for aid). Pointing his finger to the large delegation present from this group, he added: "These are the people who will call us to account if we have to raise their taxes. We were elected to work for the general interests of the population. Let those who want recreation pay for it, or go to the public for their funds. . . And remember," he concluded, "I am not opposed to youth recreation."

Ald. François Charlebois put up a plea in the cause of recreation. "I am in favor of paying operation costs of the Richelieu pool, since it is not a grant but money from a committee formed for this purpose. If Council can find funds to promote all sorts of works, it should also be able to find money for recreation." Addressing himself directly to Dr. Dumais, he asked what Council would do about snowclearing next winter, in the event that it had no funds. "I'm sure we would find the money and remove the snow somehow," he said, in answer to his own question.

Ald. Pariseau asked if there was no way of getting money from the government towards recreation.

Touchy Situation

It may be noted that, at the outset of the meeting, Bob Church was denied the opportunity to read his brief from the "consultative committee". Mayor Dave Campbell claimed that the parks and playgrounds committee had not yet studied it, and it would be a waste of valuable time to present it and discuss it at the Council table. . . This doubtless paved the way for a contentious session on the subject.

Later, when the requests were presented from the Richelieu Club, and St. Julien, the mayor asked Ald. Armstrong if he was going to be led by all the groups which sent in petitions: "You are the chairman of this committee. Your job is to accept these briefs and requests, study them, and give your report and recommendations to Council. But, in the final analysis, the Council is boss and must make the decisions."

Four Against, Three in Favor

As recorded above, Ald. Armstrong moved that $1,860 be paid to the Richelieu Club for material expenses. Ald. Ed McFaul was seconder.

In amendment, Ald. Carrière, seconded by Dr. L. A. Middleton, moved that the request be "tabled for study".

Vote was then taken on the amendment. Aldermen Carrière, Middleton, Dumais and Pariseau voted for — Aldermen Armstrong, Charlebois and McFaul against — and thus the amendment was passed, 4 to 3.

Crippled children in spotlight at Lions Club

At the regular Lions Club meeting last week, the recent mammoth TV auction, and affairs of the Crippled Children's Camp at St. Alphonse de Joliette, were prominent topics. Lachute had given highly creditable aid in this big venture, and Dr. Eric Mongeon expressed appreciation to all members who had assisted. A sum exceeding $30,000 had been raised by the district Lions for a new dining hall at the Joliette camp.

In matters of a related nature, Lion Horace Lamarche reported that the club, through collaboration of the Easter Seals fund, had procured a wheelchair for the use of a young cripple at Calumet.

The program chairman, Jos. Dumais, announced Monsignor H. D. J. Brosseau, Canon at Montebello, as guest speaker for the club ladies' night, Tuesday, November 19, at La Lorraine Motel.

Jacques Bourgoing reported on preparations for skating at the Lions Rink, and Ian Gordon gave stimulus to the enrolment of promising new members, to promote the club's service work.

President Keith Clarke chaired this successful meeting.

Fernand Legault appointed Judge of Superior Court

Fernand Legault, QC, member of an old-established Lachute law firm, was honored last week with an appointment as Judge of the Superior Court for the judicial District of Montreal.

The appointment was announced by the Minister of Justice, the Hon. Lionel Chevrier. Mr. Legault's elevation to the judgeship, as a "Puisne" or Junior Judge, fills the last of eight positions in Superior Court created at the last session of parliament.

Judge Legault, son of Mrs. L. L. Legault and the late Mr. Legault, KC, took his classical studies at Loyola and Montreal University, where he earned his degree, then proceeding to England and Switzerland for post-graduate study in Civil Law, Social Sciences, and Political Economy. He joined his father and the family law firm in 1936 — his brother, Guy Legault, being also a member of that firm.

Fernand Legault has played a public-spirited role in many spheres — among others, as chairman of the Catholic School Board since 1946, past-president of the Lions Club, and batonnier of the Laurentian Bar Association. In 1951 he was made QC and later crown attorney for Terrebonne District. He has been consistently active in the ranks of the Liberal party, and served in various capacities.

(It is interesting to note that his late father was also president of the Catholic School Commission for 15 years.)

As ex-Mayor of Lachute Town Mr. Legault achieved a long-harbored objective, the construction of Lachute's filtration plant, devoting much time and study to his mayoral duties.

His many friends and fellow citizens congratulate Judge Legault on his well-deserved appointment.

Important by-law provides for Barron's Bridge approaches

By provisions of Article 430 of the Cities and Towns Act, the Council has passed a by-law to homologate and preserve for future needs an area of land (included in lot 907) in the area of Barron's Bridge. This move envisages an extension of Chatham Street and Brownsburg Road to meet Main Street across a future bridge (long projected and to materialize some day), to replace the present outdated structure. . . It means that the tract of land is plainly defined and reserved against future building or encroachment, for the purpose of foreseen improvements in the public interest.

The preliminary clauses of this by-law (907) state that: "Whereas this improvement is necessary — whereas this parcel of land is required for the general welfare of the town — and whereas it is not presently necessary to indicate other lanes, public places and streets to be homologated. . ."

The area is specifically described in the by-law as follows:

"A parcel of land of irregular form having the general appearance of a triangle being part of an original lot 907 of the Township of St. Jerusalem bounded north by the remainder of lot 907, south by Main Street, west by the North River; the summit of this triangle is located on the north side of Main Street at the separative line of the properties of the Lachute United Church and Gordon Dobbie. . .

"The south side follows Main Street for approximately 491 ft., that is, in front of the properties of Gordon Dobbie, of Geo. Albert Clermont and of the Barron property; the north side extending approximately 509 ft. across the property of Geo. Albt. Clermont and approximately 379 ft. across the Barron property; west, those two sides comprising approximately 163 ft. from the shoreline of the North River."

"The north side is composed of two straight lines joining upon the separation of the Clermont and Barron properties at a distance of 19.3 ft. from Main Street — a distance measured along the said line of the property."

"This parcel of land covers an area of some 31,150 sq. ft."

Three readings were given to this measure, also to the by-law reported elsewhere, on regulation of traffic entries. There is a concluding clause on the homologation by-law, however, which reads as follows:

"The present by-law shall come into force only after a judgment is rendered by a Judge of the Superior Court on a petition to that effect."

B'burg views feasibility of garbage incinerator

(Our District Correspondent)

The November session of Brownsburg Council got off to a slow start, only the mayor and three councillors being present, with the secretary. . . Councillor S. Vowles moved adoption of the minutes of the previous meeting but a seconder could not be found. Mayor Donaldson acknowledged that there might be reasons, but he would like to know what they were. Councillor Germain Doth stated that he wanted no connection with the subject of payment for asphalt. (The minutes had indicated that the majority of the councillors were in favor of paying for the "unauthorized" asphalt surface on Woodbine Ave. and McVicar St.) Councillor Georges Therrien said that he would second the motion to adopt the minutes if the word "unauthorized" were deleted, since he did not agree that the project had not been authorized. Apparently Councillor Vowles hadn't let this word bother his motion to adopt the minutes; however, he re-worded his original motion to conform with Mr. Therrien's suggestion — and the minutes were accepted.

Two more councillors had arrived by this time, and things were just settling down when the routine of the meeting was upset once again by the screech of the fire siren. Fire Chief Fern Brisson left in a hurry, but returned after a short absence to report that the fire call involved the wiring in an automobile on Main St. East.

After passing a motion to pay $2,282.50 to the County Council as part of the yearly obligation, the Council — and in particular, Mayor Donaldson — became involved in a heated discussion regarding the use of town equipment by local citizens. Rolph

Shot by youth when mistaken for a deer

Charles E. Robinson, a 42-year-old St. Eustache resident, had a close brush with death around 7.45 a.m. last Saturday, while walking alone in the bush near Hill Head. He informed investigating Q.P.P. Officer Sam Kille that he heard someone shout, "There it is!" — then a rifle shot, and a bullet severed the thumb of his right hand. The bullet passed through the front pockets of his pants without touching his body.

He was taken to the home of Norman Hammond, who rushed him to the Argenteuil Hospital; there he was attended by local doctors. Investigation into the incident revealed that the shot was fired by a 16-year-old resident of the area who "saw something that looked like a deer about 100 yards away, and fired". When he heard a man cry out, he became frightened and went home. . . No charge has been laid.

Sudden death

Jean Paul Legault, 2?, of Hawkesbury, died at his home around noon Sunday. It has been reported he was involved in a fight in a Grenville hotel, and the incident is under investigation by the local Provincial Police.

Remembrance Day rites held in Memorial Park

Crisp and clear was the weather last Sunday, for the Remembrance Day rites of the Canadian Legion, which drew a large public attendance at the Memorial Park.

Assembling at the Legion Hall, the lengthy parade moved into the park at 2 p.m. The procession was led by police escort and headed by the Kimar drum and pipe band. Next came the colors of the Legion and Auxiliary and other patriotic units — followed by the veterans wearing berets and medals, the R.C.A. Battery militia, Scouts, Cubs, C.G.I.T., Girl Guides, Brownies, Ayersville Air Cadets, the Army Cadets with their drum and bugle band, and gun crews from the R.C.A. 137th Field Regiment. Sgt. Bob St. Laurent marshalled the parade.

Comrade George Kirby, president of Legion Branch 70, m.c.'d the proceedings at the cenotaph, the Rev. Jas. Armour, of the Presbyterian Church, and the Rev. Yvon Mailloux, curé of Ayersville, leading the brief devotions in English and French, also performing the traditional scattering of the ashes. A bugler played Last Post and Reveille.

Comrade Doug Olgivie then called for the laying of the wreaths, and read out a lengthy list of firms, churches, clubs, organizations and private families whose emblems had already been deposited.

Altogether, this was a fitting tribute to the many who paid the supreme sacrifice in war — creditably organized by that efficient organization, the Canadian Legion, in memory of their past comrades.

Sunday morning, members of the branch paraded to the Margaret Rodger Memorial Presbyterian Church for divine service. The minister, the Rev. Jas. Armour, preached a sermon appropriate to the Remembrance theme.

Veterans attend Armistice dinner and service

The annual veterans' get-together took place at the Legion Hall on Saturday evening, where dinner was served to upwards of one hundred ex-servicemen. The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Branch provided a turkey meal which was enjoyed by everyone present, and they were fittingly thanked by Comrade Chas. Duncan.

During a two-minute silence, the names of district men who had paid the supreme sacrifice were read aloud, while all stood at attention and the Harrington Pipe Band softly played "The Lament".

President Comrade Geo. Kirby welcomed the gathering and expressed his appreciation of the large turnout, requesting also that there might be a greater attendance at the regular meetings.

Chairman of the program was Comrade A. O. Philipps, Branch secretary, and Comrade (Mayor) Dave Campbell brought greetings from the town and citizenry.

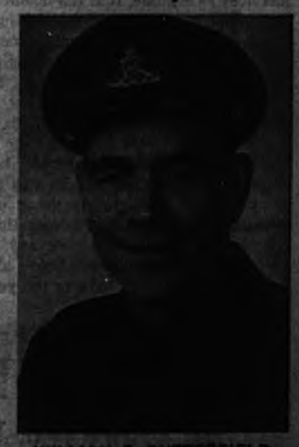

There was no special speaker for this occasion, as it was thought the veterans would enjoy themselves more in talking and reminiscing over old times.

A highlight of the evening was the honoring of Comrade Major George G. Mitchell, who that day had celebrated his 80th birthday and was made a member of the "Over-80 Club" of the Royal Canadian Legion, Branch 70. To mark this happy occasion he was presented with a key to the Hall, a gift, and a membership certificate entitling him to special club privileges. . . Major Mitchell, taken completely by surprise, expressed his appreciation of this kindly gesture.

Although results of the Poppy Campaign are not yet complete, it is expected that, despite the inclement weather, they will probably exceed last year's effort. To all supporters, Legion Branch 70 expresses sincere thanks.

On Sunday morning there was a well attended parade to the Presbyterian Church, where the Rev. Jas. Armour delivered an inspiring address.

Promoted Major in Artillery

has been promoted to the rank of Major in the Royal Canadian Artillery reserve — as announced by Lt. Col. T. E. McLean, O/C 137th Field Regt., at the local Battery's recent annual dance.

Born and educated in the "textile country", "Bill" Butterfield enlisted in the Second World War and served with the Royal Artillery in the British Isles. He came from England in 1956 to join the staff of Ayers Limited in the blanket and cloth division, later transferring to the tire division. He joined the militia here in 1957 under Capt. Gordon Higginson.

$563 in hand-outs for UNICEF

Sentiments and Sidelights

(Comments on the Local Scene)

The City of St. Jerome charged Lachute $1,005 for the assistance of its fire brigade in the recent Main Street emergency. Their fee is $200 for the first hour and $150 for each additional hour or fraction thereof. . . This compares with Lachute's schedule of $125 for the first hour and $100 per hour thereafter, on out-of-town fires. . . It is figured that this recent conflagration cost the town corporation between $4,000 to $5,000.

Assorted brevities at Council session

Opening the statutory Council sitting for this month, Mayor Dave Campbell congratulated the two newcomers, Ald. Dr. R. A. Dumais and Ald. Laurier Carrière, also extended congratulations to the re-elected councillors, Dr. L. A. Middleton and François Charlebois. Absent from this meeting were Ald. Nelson Lepage and Ald. J.-O. Desjardins.

A business man, Ovila Payer, requesting particulars on the business tax schedule, was referred to the secretary's office for information required.

The mayor read a list of committees (published elsewhere in this issue), and Ald. François Charlebois was appointed pro-mayor for the ensuing three-month period.

Regarding the installation of domestic water meters, Council was informed that it would be impossible to proceed this year, and the project is necessarily delayed. However, a survey of business establishments and industries will be made to ascertain the number of meters and pipe connections required.

Four grill licenses were renewed. The mayor and police commissioner were authorized to represent the town as signatories to a labor contract with the police force. Bills to a total of $35,284 were passed for payment.

Tenders were considered for the supplying of fuel oil, and for a quantity of required nuts and bolts.

Correspondence

Council took note of a written acknowledgment from the Red Cross, for use of the Auditorium for the recent blood donor clinic; also granted permission for the Junior Red Cross to sell peanuts, on the street and from door to door.

An invitation to the councillors — to attend a talk on winter employment, November 14 at the Legion Hall — was received from the Chamber of Commerce.

To an enquiry from the Public Utilities Commission on steps taken to curb pollution, the Corporation sent a reply that no preliminary work had yet been undertaken for various reasons, principally, the fact that certain sewer lines involve three municipalities jointly, Lachute, St. Jerusalem and Ayersville.

A complaint was received from Hugh Martin, that he had paid $15 for a building permit, whereas he had made only alterations to his property. The matter was referred to the appropriate authority.

Arrested at scene of recent fire

Donald Ross Woodill, 32, of Ottawa, was arrested recently and released on $800 bail, on pleading not guilty to a charge of breaking and entering.

Woodill was arrested in the ruins of the Georges Pariseau store following the recent fire, by municipal constables André Lebeau and Jean Pineault. He is scheduled to appear in St. Jerome court on December 20.

Offer made on servitude for water conduits

Town Council voted 5-2 in favor of a resolution to offer Mr. W. M. Cottingham $1,000 for servitude on his land at Hill Head, where pipes are laid to bring water from the filtration plant to the town system.

Aldermen Dr. Middleton, Dr. Dumais, Carrière, Armstrong and McFaul voted in favor of a recommendation from Fernand Legault, QC, legal counsel, to tender this offer to Mr. Cottingham — while Aldermen Charlebois and Pariseau opposed the motion. (Aldermen Desjardins and Lepage were absent.)

By BOB ATCHISON

At long last, something is going to be done about our parks and camping sites — at least, according to the Tourist Department. Only time will tell just how much of this will materialize. Plans call for the opening of 20 parks with at least half-a-million acres. Included in the plans are a botanical garden and numerous historical tourist attractions. Believe me, this is certainly something to look forward to. . . However, seeing all this completed in our lifetime, is just a little hard to swallow at present. Certainly changes have been made, and some of them very good. Seeing nothing was ever done by any other government in this province, it will naturally appear to be a rapid growth — but if these parks are going to take as long as the supposed good roads program in this province, then we will still have a long time to wait.

I have been reading more on sprays used for the control of insects. Following a grasshopper spraying that occurred from four to seven years ago, this poison killed fish in a roaring pond this year. Seepage and drainage was the probable cause. Duck nests in the Great Slave area showed traces of D.D.T.; the poison showed in the eggs, and also the young. Now, this is a startling fact: NO spraying had been undertaken within 500 miles of this breeding and nesting area. Now they are wondering just how the adult ducks became contaminated, and the thought is they got it either on the flyways or on the wintering grounds. This is certainly something to think about. When we stop and consider all the spraying being carried on in the U.S. and Canada, it seems we are lucky to have any waterfowl at all. As for the other birds, we know they nest and roost in trees of all descriptions, yet no thought is given to the havoc caused by this spraying. When we consider fish being killed with a chemical used seven years before at some distance from streams, what will happen to the birds? Not only NOW, but four or five generations later. . . Can you imagine a sky without birds — no song of a lark — or shrill cry of a hawk on the wing?

There is talk of the U.S. buying up some of our western wetlands for the use of waterfowl — at least, that is presumably what it is for. This is a frightening outlook for our future. Does it stop just with this acquisition? I somehow don't think it will. Will we have the right to dictate policy on these wetlands? I think not. I know these questions will be on every sportsman's mind. Why is it necessary for our government to sell anything belonging to us? Is it because they think we have no qualified men to run them ourselves? I am not so stupid as to think the selling of our natural resources will be for our benefit. Anything to be spent in Canada will not necessarily be for our own good. So if there is any question of buying our wetlands, I hope the private citizens will have their say.

I wrote last week of a couple of "sports" running deer with dogs. Two more calls this past week have given further information. Late Saturday a car was seen in the Lake Sir John district (thought to be a '55 or '56 Chev, blue and white) with two hound dogs and two men. Anyone seeing anything like this around, with dogs, is urged to contact the Wardens; they will be more than happy to follow up. Incidentally, names have been given, and I'm hoping it won't be too long before they are regretting their actions. With all the preaching on conservation of our wildlife, you would think saner minds would prevail. But with this type of operation, it appears that money is involved — which outrules all common sense.

Partridge are still being chased (notice I said chased, not shot). I admit a few of the boys have been getting them, but not I. With the present warfaring in the bush, there isn't too much opportunity of even seeing any. The woods are as busy as Trafalgar Square on V-J Day. Light snowfalls have helped to dampen down the leaves, but even this hasn't changed my luck. Right now I'm looking for a radar-controlled 20-ga. 50-shot artillery piece; that's about the only way I'll ever shoot some of these jets!

A few Mallards have been spotted on the North River. I hope, for the duck men's sake, they will be more numerous. Seeing some of these gents sitting in a blind, with not a bird in sight, chewing their nails right down to the elbow, makes you feel how much they are suffering. Even if they never get a duck, at least they have fired a shot at them. No excuses are given for missing them — but at times the speed (at least 150 m.h.p.) is mentioned by way of explanation.) Or, seeing the shot on the way, the bird ducked, or flew backwards. Or, "My fingers were so cold I couldn't shoot." Best one of all, is "I forgot to load it.". . I still like the story of the duck shooter who blew the front out of his boat on opening day. Sounds a little like me.

In one spot near town, there are at least 25 black squirrels. This land is all private, so they would appear to be nice and safe. Of course, there will be the odd trespasser getting into this bush, but I don't think they will be interested in squirrels, and certainly won't risk a shot for them. I watched two of these animals — without a doubt the largest I've ever seen, like black foxes on the wing. They were not a bit scared, either.

This is a story I have to tell. A hunter just called in from Montreal, wishing to rent a gun for a couple of days. He gave me the story with a shamefaced look; he forgot his gun! Everything else was fine — but no gun. I guess he was so excited at getting away during the week after deer, things just slipped his mind.

Also, a story concerning the moose hunting, and the class of guides operating in this business. I have always contended that a guide, on the job, should not be allowed to carry a gun for the purpose of hunting; and considering that he is charging for his services as a guide, it is his business to take care of his clients. Two groups of boys arranged everything through the mail for this type of hunt. Everything was fine as long as the hunters themselves were doing all the work. It seems this guide hired himself out as a guide ONLY, nothing else. This might have been O.K. if he had included the putting up of tents, cooking, etc. But it turned out the boys paid him just for the honor of his company. On closer enquiry they discovered he was a full-time pulp cutter, but wanted a holiday while getting paid for it. In some way he let it be known he was an expert in the hunting of moose; he was too, but only for himself. . . It is very evident that anyone going on a trip like this should contact a guide beforehand, get information on his previous customers, then check with them. I'm sure any good guide would not hesitate to refer you to his clients. Above all, do not take references from his own district; I don't have to tell you this. . . It may pay you to think about this for next year.

Current Notes From the Men's Curling Club

The curling season is off to a good start, and we have two excellent sheets of ice ready for your favorite pastime.

The semi-annual meeting of the men's club was held on Wednesday, November 6, with approximately 80 members sitting down to a hearty dinner, catered for by Mrs. Strong. President Keith Rutherford chaired the meeting and all business at hand was transacted in record time.

Stewart Jones was appointed official representative of the president, to participate in an Invitation Presidents' Bonspiel at La Lorraine Curling Club. Other members of the Lachute Team were Mrs. Stewart Jones and Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Pollock.

La Lorraine Club is a new one, situated in a new housing development known as La Lorraine, and located about 2½ miles east of Rosemere on Route 29. It is a beautiful rink with four brightly lighted sheets of ice. A large number of curlers and friends were on hand to honor Mr. Carl Ott, who was chosen as "Mr. Curler of 1963". Carl is very well known to friends in Lachute. He has been a curler of the Outremont Club for over 30 years and has been such an excellent promoter of the sport as to be recognized and honored this year as "Mr. Curler" of the year. Mr. Ott was presented with a very fine trophy, and was made a life member of the La Lorraine Club. Congratulations of the Lachute Club were conveyed to Mr. Ott by their representative, and Carl reported he had received a very thoughtful letter of congratulation from our president on behalf of the Club. . . The La Lorraine Club might be justly proud of this commendable gesture of good will, so capably undertaken.

The Mixed Open Bonspiel started on Friday, November 8 and play is continuing this week, with eight teams to qualify for the finals to be played on Saturday. Linton Armstrong, in charge, still needs a few more entries. The teams with the four highest scores by November 9 were skipped by Art Wilson, Vankleek Hill Club, 34½ pts.; Harold Hewitt, Brownsburg Club, 27 pts.; Don McFaul, Lachute Club, 26½ pts.; and Art Lobel, Brownsburg Club, 24½ pts. These scores might be high enough to qualify in the playdowns.

A big dinner to be served by our famous caterers, the ladies of our Lachute Ladies' Club, will be held on Saturday, November 16. An orchestra will be in attendance for dancing. Come and bring your friends. It means so much to visiting teams to see a large turnout of members of the host club. . .

Dates to remember —

Saturday, Nov. 16 — dinner, dance, finals of our Open Mixed Bonspiel.

Nov. 18 to 23 — Ladies' Open Bonspiel.

Dec. 13 — Big gala Saturday night party.

— Good curling!

Ladies' curling Invitation event

Play in the ladies' Invitation Bonspiel will start November 18 to 22 inclusive. Games are drawn for 9.30, 11.30, 1.30 and 3.30. Finals to be played on Friday, with the four highest-plus rinks participating. Distribution of prizes and the monthly tea will follow.

Tea will also be served each afternoon during this bonspiel, and all members are invited to take part.

Games for the Doubles Draw are now in progress, also the Mixed Invitation games, the latter being played at 6 and 8 p.m. Finals of the Mixed will be on Saturday, November 16. A buffet supper is being planned by the lady members for that evening.

FACT

Except for the Pacific coast, snowfall in Canada is lightest in the Arctic.

Once again, "that time of year" is quickly arriving for lovers of that greatest of sports, skiing, to start checking their equipment and seeing everything is ready for that first big day of the season. So many of us wait till the last minute and find their equipment requires a lot of work they planned to do all summer. "Why wait for spring, do it now!" Pull them out of the attic and repair those deep scratches in the base, tighten the screws in the edges, and replace those that are missing. Remember, it's a lot easier to replace a screw now than a whole edge later.

I would like to comment on a topic that usually crops up at this time of year, by the person who dreads the winter and all the snow that goes with it. If these people would pick up a winter sport such as skiing, they would then find a reason for the snow, and even regret to see an end to the season. Their outlook would change completely. As a well-known Lachute doctor told me last year, "I took up skiing to get my children interested in a winter activity. Now, I get out more often than they do, and it's a wonderful sensation. I feel better, both physically and mentally."

I assure you, there is nothing more exhilarating than skiing for a day in zero-degree temperatures, and then returning to the warmth of our fires with a hot cup of chow. It's a sensation that only skiers enjoy, and find hard to describe. To the south of us, there are literally thousands of people who spend millions of dollars a year travelling to ski centres all over the world to find snow; and 30,000 or so in New York City alone that travel three or four hundred miles to the New England States every week-end, in order to get in a couple of days' skiing in the fresh, healthful air.

I'm just trying to point out that these people would give their right arm to live and work as close to the snow conditions we have at our doorstep. Why not make up your mind to give it a try this year? Believe me, you won't regret it.

Surely a lot of you are probably saying, "That's fine, but it also costs money." Let me mention here, sports of any kind cost money to enter. But you don't have to buy the most expensive equipment to enjoy yourself. Besides, what is more important, your health or your pocket-book.

In articles to follow, I will be discussing pre-season exercises, equipment buying, cost of equipment, and other useful tips. If you have any points you would like me to cover, send me a note to Box 101, Lachute, or drop in at the Ski Centre. I would be happy to hear from you.

— See you at the Warren Miller Movie and Fashion Show, Saturday, November 23, 8 p.m., in the Lachute High School auditorium. This is a movie you won't want to miss, entitled, "The Many Moods of Skiing".

Hospital director guest speaker at Rotary Club

Guest speaker at the Brownsburg-Lachute Rotary Club last week was Guy Allard, director of the Argenteuil Hospital in Lachute.

Mr. Allard first outlined the purpose of the hospital, and said that it was designed for the treatment and convalescence of all patients, exclusive of chronic and invalid cases. He stressed the human factor, both patient and staff, and praised all for the wonderful collaboration which has been apparent in the first three months of the operation of this hospital.

The Administrative Council, comprised of 12 local men and women, and the Medical Board under the directorship of Dr. Roger Lavigne, also drew high praise from the Director.

Special mention was made of Miss Yolande Duquette, R.N., the nursing supervisor, who at present is taking a specialized course in nursing administration in Montreal.

All standards of this new hospital are those set by the Accreditation of Canadian Hospitals, the rules and regulations of the College of Physicians and Surgeons, as well as those of the Province of Quebec Pharmacists Association, and all must conform with the requirements of the Quebec Hospitals Act.

The staff, while yet incomplete, has been drawn from the surrounding areas of Lachute, Brownsburg, Ayersville, St. Hermas, St. Philippe, etc., and to date 95% of the employees are from the County of Argenteuil.

With this staff, the Director stated, from July 24 to October 15, 467 hospital patients were cared for and 649 cases were treated in the emergency clinic. In the month of October 500 X-rays were taken, and there is at the moment a waiting list of 20 cases for major surgery.

The present nursing staff of 20, which the Director feels should be increased to 25, are not all bilingual, but on every shift there are both French and English-speaking nurses.

Mr. Allard also explained the rules and regulations regarding visitors and requested that they be observed, but at the same time the administration of the hospital is seeking constructive criticism from patients and visitors alike.

The speaker was introduced by Rotarian Maurice Grondin, and thanked on behalf of the club by Rotarian Keith Smith.

By-law passed to control driveways over sidewalks

Council has established a by-law, duly moved and approved, to regulate the width of private driveways and to minimize the frequency of these interruptions in the sidewalks, which are laid primarily for pedestrians.

The preamble to this by-law (No. 242) gives recogntion to the above fact, also concedes that entrances over sidewalks to private property are necessary. It rules, however, that:

(1) No entrance or driveway over sidewalks shall exceed a width of over 18 feet and the Council is hereby authorized to reduce to a width not exceeding 18 feet any existing entrance exceeding such width — at the cost of the Town.

(2) No second entrance or driveway to private property shall be closer than 30 feet from the other driveway on such property, and the Council is hereby authorized to demolish any second entrance to a property that does not comply.

(3) Upon request, the Council is authorized to permit wider or more numerous entrances in cases of manufacturing, industrial or commercial establishments whose nature requires such additional facilities.

Brownsburg plant qualifies for safety prize

Brownsburg — A safety record of more than half-a-million manhours without a lost-time accident has won for the employees of the ammunition works of Canadian Industries Limited here, the General Manager's Prize in the company's no-accident record plan.

The record of 690,000 manhours was set at the end of the working day on November 10, 1963, and covers a period of 158 days since June 5, 1963. The prize carried with it individual awards which will be made to the 912 employees of the works at a special presentation, in the near future.

Nelson expressed his disappointment in the apparent lack of willingness to lend town equipment, in this particular instance, a gasoline-operated drill. He intimated that something other than normal lack of availability at the time was behind a refusal to fulfill his request. This phase of the question never did get out of the nebulous state, but Council subsequently passed a motion to rent the drill with the town operator for $5 an hour.

A local citizen raised the question of traffic regulations, by pointing out the need for a policeman on Main Street during the rush hours, i.e., 12 noon to 1 p.m., and 4 to 4.45 p.m. It was emphasized that traffic and parking control, at these times in particular, is badly needed; and that at a meeting held earlier in the year, Council had indicated that the problem was recognized and that it would be solved by the hiring of another constable. This had not materialized, obviously, but nothing had been done to cover the rush hours, although Council stated that in the last day or so Chief Williams had been instructed to stagger his hours on certain days of the week. It was pointed out to Council that the spare constable who fills in on Wednesday afternoons on Chief Williams' day off, usually showed up at Main and Bank Streets at rush hour. Councillors Therrien and Vowles stated that conditions would be improved immediately. (It's time for another look.)

Council also agreed (again) to remove the 20 m.p.h. speed limit sign at the northern limits of the town. After all this time, one councillor expressed surprise (we think) at the fact that the town really did own the sign.

In his monthly report, Chief Tom Williams listed the following items: speeding fines assessed, 13; parking fines, 2; red light infractions, 3.

Should grocery stores be allowed to remain open on Thursday evenings, or shouldn't they? Last month a local store owner appeared at a council session with a petition signed by what he claimed was a majority of storekeepers, asking that the grocery stores be allowed to remain open on Thursday evenings. Later in the month another petition was circulated, and signed by a majority, countering the first proposal. Strangely enough, three individuals had signed both petitions! Council chewed this one over for some time, before agreeing that those who want the by-law changed will have to present their petition with a proved majority.

Secretary Vincent Charbonneau took some pleasure in reading one of the letters in his correspondence file. That was an expression of sincere thanks from the Lachute Fire Department, for the immediate response to their request for help at the recent fire in Lachute.

Another letter, not so pleasing, was from the provincial health authorities stating that the town dump site has been condemned and the town must find another location. This problem is compounded by the fact that conditions concerning the proposed new dump site in Chatham Township have not been settled. If one listens to both sides of the story, separately, the only conclusion can be that the sooner the two Councils get together, the sooner the obstacles will be eliminated. There are obviously things to be ironed out, and this cannot be done, it appears, by just three or four people.

While on the subject of garbage disposal, Mayor Donaldson made it obvious that the town had not been sitting idle since his original meeting with the Chatham representatives. Based on his calculations, it appeared that a better move in the long run might be the purchase of an incinerator. Local people who had seen the units in use in various cities, spoke highly of them. Certainly if Mayor Donaldson's figures are accurate Council will have a closer look at this.

ACKNOWLEDGMENT

We wish to extend our thanks for gifts and household effects, and to all those who came to our assistance in the fire which destroyed our apartment.

Wayne Riddell and Tudor Singers coming Dec. 4

Having won acclaim in Montreal music circles, Wayne Riddell will be presenting his Tudor Singers in a recital shortly in his home town. The group will be heard in a concert December 4 in the auditorium of Lachute High School.

With his experience and enthusiasm as a choir leader, Wayne organized and directed this group in 1962, their aim being to bring to the attention of the public the great choral masterpieces of the 16th and 17th centuries, and to foster a love of this musical literature. The contemporary music of Canadian and other composers also has a place in their repertoire.

Receiving the highest mark in the Montreal Music Festival last spring, this choir was awarded one of the three grand scholarships. Their concerts in the Redpath Hall and on St. Helen's Island last year received first-rate reviews in the Montreal papers, particularly La Presse.

Tickets are in circulation for the coming entertainment, which is pleasurably anticipated by the many who have followed Wayne Riddell's successes in the metropolis. He is presently substituting for George Little as conductor of the famed Montreal Bach Choir.

APPRECIATION

I would like to express my sincere thanks to my friends and neighbors for their cards, letters, visits, flowers, gifts and treats, while I was a patient in the Smith Clinic, Hawkesbury, and all who made my stay a pleasant one.

Motorists warned to halt for school buses

Officer J. P. Dallaire, newly in charge of the Provincial Police here, notes a prevalent disregard for the law regarding school buses, as reported to him from various sources. It is the intention of patrolmen to press, and prosecute, for stricter observance of the law which forbids motorists from passing these vehicles while children are embarking or disembarking. Clauses of the Act are quoted as follows:

"When a motor vehicle overtakes or meets an autobus used in transporting school children, duly identified as such, which is stationary to take on or discharge school children, the driver of such vehicle shall not pass or drive beyond such autobus until it is again put in motion; nor shall he do so until the children have boarded the autobus, or have left it and reached the side of the road.

"Such autobus must be equipped with signals by means of which the person in charge shall give warning as long as the children are not in safety.

Morin Heights

Mrs. J. Wirz left here last week to spend several days in Montreal, before leaving Tuesday from Dorval to spend several months in Europe, visiting friends and relatives in Switzerland.

Bereavement

The deepest sympathy of this community is extended to the family of the late Mrs. Roy Campbell (formerly Ruby Campbell), who died recently in the Royal Victoria Hospital after a lengthy illness. Mrs. Campbell is survived by her mother, Mrs. Mary Campbell, two children, Mason and Dawn (Mrs. Gordon Nesbitt), also four sisters, Mrs. Jas. Voce (Eva), Mrs. Bert Edwards (Hannah), Mrs. Jimmy Ward (Maud), and Mrs. Clarence Stinson (Jean), and four brothers, Wm. John, Charlie, Raymond and George.

Mr. Wm. Nesbitt returned home recently after spending over eight months in the Jewish General Hospital in Montreal, and is now recuperating satisfactorily. Best wishes are extended for his speedy recovery.

Firemen's Ball

The Volunteer Fire Brigade held their annual ball at the Swiss Inn on Friday evening and everyone enjoyed the dinner and dancing afterwards.

The late J. Ralph Kirk

Sincere sympathy is extended to Mrs. W. B. Rosborough in the loss of her brother, J. Ralph Kirk, who passed away Wednesday, November 6, at Antigonish, N.S.

The late Mr. Kirk, 68 years of age, was Liberal member of parliament for Antigonish-Guysborough for 21 years, and also served as mayor of Antigonish from 1942 to 1943. An outstanding community benefactor, he contributed to many endeavors and aided many young people gain a university education. In business life he presided for many years over the development of two Antigonish clothing stores and a hardware store, and throughout his lifetime took a leading part in many local organizations.

Surviving him are his wife, the former Ethel Pope of Pictou; two sons, Duncan G., deputy-mayor of Antigonish, and Ralph, of Vancouver; two daughters, Ruth (Mrs. Lindsay Buck), of Montreal, and Jean (Mrs. Graham Cummings), San Jose, Calif.; two sisters, Edith (Mrs. Wilmer B. Rosborough), of Lachute, and Nita (Mrs. Ralph Murray), of London.

The Rev. W. B. Rosborough attended the funeral, held Saturday from St. James United Church, Antigonish.

Bride's father officiates in marriage at Shawinigan

Campbell - Williams

The marriage of Sheila Edna, daughter of the Rev. Canon and Mrs. S. W. Williams, of Shawinigan, Que., to James Kenneth Campbell, elder son of Mrs. J. K. Campbell and the late Mr. Campbell, of Lachute, took place Saturday, November 2, at St. John the Evangelist Church in Shawinigan.

Officiating clergyman was the bride's father, rector of the church, and white gladioli were used for decorating.

Given away by her brother, Mr. James L. Williams, of Toronto, the bride wore a classic gown of white poult-de-soie, having a round neckline, fitted bodice and three-quarter-length sleeves. Her full-length veil of tulle illusion, falling into a slight train, was held in place by a bandeau of Guipure lace. She carried white chrysanthemums.

Bridal couple and their attendants

The maid of honor, Miss Catherine Bowes, of Montreal, wore an emerald green satin sheath dress, with gathering in the back and finished with a bow. Bows of the same material were worn on the headdress and she carried white chrysanthemums. The bridesmaid, Miss Carman Curtis of Montreal, was similarly attired.

Flower-girls were Catherine Williams, niece of the bride, of Toronto, and Karen Ott, of Montreal. They wore sapphire blue velvet frocks with white piqué collars, and blue bandeaux on their heads. They carried white posies.

Pages were Evan and Timothy Ballantyne, nephews of the bride, of Montreal. They were winsomely dressed in blue velvet trousers and white shirts with ruffles.

The bride's mother wore a cerise brocade gown made on simple lines, with hat to match, trimmed with velvet leaves. Her corsage was a white gardenia. The mother of the groom was in a green and gold lamé gown with green hat and accessories.

Mr. William Ott, of Montreal, was groomsman, while Messrs. Gordon McGibbon, Stewart Gordon, Peter Blaikie, of Montreal, and Garth Boyd, of Lachute, acted as ushers.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Cascade Inn. The happy couple then left on their wedding trip to the Southern States, the bride travelling in a tweed suit with matching hat and black accessories.

Out-of-town guests included relatives and friends from Lachute, Quebec and Montreal.

Mr. and Mrs. Campbell are making their home in Lachute.

The girls were accompanied by their leaders, Misses Gloria Jackson and Margaret Brass.

Lachute girl was bride in recent United Ch. ceremony

Neil - Evans

The marriage of Joan Catherine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Merlyn Evans, of Lachute, to Kenneth Graeme Neil, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Neil of Montreal and Dunany, took place Saturday, October 12, in the Lachute United Church. The Rev. W. B. Rosborough, B.A., B.D., officiated at the double-ring ceremony. Mr. L. Hopkins played the wedding music and Mr. F. Steere, of Brownsburg, sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "A Wedding Prayer" during the ceremony. Standards of giant gold and bronze mums arranged with greenery were used to decorate the church.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gowned in a floor-length white taffeta gown with a fitted bodice having a jewel neckline, long fitted sleeves and an empire appliqué lace waistline, caught by a back bow. The A-line skirt in soft folds ended in a chapel train. Her bouffant veil of tulle illusion was held by a matching taffeta circlet. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses and ivy leaves.

Mrs. James Brass, as matron of honor, Miss Heather Neil, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Doreen Evans as bridesmaids, were dressed alike in full-skirted street-length dresses of brown and gold velvet. They wore matching slippers and headdresses of brown and gold maribou. The matron of honor was in brown, the bridesmaids in gold, and they carried cascade bouquets of gold and bronze mums.

Mr. Bruce Neil, brother of the bridegroom, acted as best man, and the ushers were Mr. Donavon Mahon and Mr. Robert Nicoll.

Mrs. Evans, mother of the bride, chose a sheath gown with jacket of turquoise brocade, with matching maribou feather hat and black accessories and wore a corsage of white carnations. Mrs. Neil, mother of the bridegroom, was attired in a brown velvet ensemble with fawn accessories and a pheasant-colored hat; she wore a corsage of yellow carnations.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church hall, where the head-table was centred with a three-tired wedding cake. Seasonal arrangements of maple leaves and fruits gave an autumn effect.

Later, the happy couple left for their wedding trip, the bride travelling in a red woollen suit with black accessories and a corsage of white carnations. They are residing in Montreal.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Graeme Neil, whose marriage took place recently in Lachute United Church. Mrs. Neil, formerly Miss Joan Catherine Evans, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Merlyn Evans, of Lachute. Mr. Neil is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Neil, of Montreal and Dunany, Que.

Wedding of local interest in Cooksville, Ont.

McRae - Wormald

White chrysanthemums, snapdragons and candles decorated St. Hilary's Anglican Church, Cooksville, recently for the wedding of Lynda Anne Wormald, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Boardman Wormald, of Cooksville, to Hadden Hector McRae, of Oakville, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hector McRae, also of Oakville. The Rev. Kenneth I. Cleator officiated and Mrs. M. Banning, of Cooksville, was organist.

Given in marriage by the father, the bride wore a floor-length gardenia-white gown of embossed taffeta, with a moulded Tudor bodice. Full tiered ruffles down the back of the skirt ended in a slight sweep. A pearl crown caught her full waist-length veil of white tulle illusion, and she carried a bouquet of pink roses and white stephanotis in cascade design.

Miss Elizabeth James, of Cooksville, was the maid-of-honor, with Beverley McRae, sister of the groom, and Miss Bernadette Auger, of Clarkson, as bridesmaids. They wore short emerald-green dresses of satin peau-de-soie with moulded bodices and full skirts detailed with leaf motifs. Their headdresses were matching petals with small veils, and they carried crescent-shaped bouquets of white Shasta mums with yellow centres.

Tom German was best man, with William McRae, brother of the groom, and Ted Waller as ushers.

During the reception at the Yellow Briar Inn, Brampton, the bride's mother, receiving, wore a beige brocade sheath dress with matching jacket, beige accessories and a mink-tone tulle hat. She wore a mauve orchid corsage. The bridegroom's mother was in turquoise blue brocade sheath with matching hat and accessories and a pink orchid corsage.

For the honeymoon to Northern Ontario, the bride chose a black and white herringbone tweed suit, a small red velvet hat, black accessories and a white orchid corsage. The newlyweds are residing in Oakville.

Out-of-town guests included Mrs. G. Cleland, of Dalesville, Que., Mr. and Mrs. William Curran, also of Dalesville, Mr. and Mrs. Robert McRae, Mr. and Mrs. Norman McRae, Mr. and Mrs. George McRae, of Lachute, and Mr. and Mrs. R. Forget, of Brownsburg.

THANKS

Special thanks and deep appreciation to our many friends who so kindly helped us in an hour of need, after our loss by fire on October 25, 1963.

Bishop gave revealing impressions on recent Anglican World Congress

On Tuesday, November 5, the Rt. Rev. R. K. Maguire, Bishop of Montreal, was guest speaker at a parish supper, put on by the Ladies' Guild in the hall of St. Simeon's Anglican Church, Lachute.

Bishop Maguire was still enthusiastic about the Anglican Congress held in Toronto last August, and made this the subject of his address.

The Church of England, under its various names throughout the world, is not a church only for English-speaking peoples, he declared. The delegates, numbering over 900, representing 18 regional churches and over 43 million members, were from 78 countries around the world. Native representatives from India, Africa and the Orient were almost as numerous as white representatives, and took their full part in the discussions.

The Bishop spoke on the official statement of the Congress entitled "Mutual Responsibility and Interdependence in the Body of Christ". The substance of this document and its implications are being studied by 300 delegates attending a Diocesan Congress in Montreal this week.

After the supper the Bishop remained for some time to meet and to talk with those present.

A most enjoyable evening was experienced by all who attended.

Jehovah's Witnesses

Death Will Be No More

Did you know that people living in our day will see the fulfillment of this wonderful promise? Not only this, the infallible Word of God assures us that this earth will become a paradise under the operation of God's kingdom. Start preparing yourself now to receive these blessings by reading the fully illustrated book FROM PARADISE LOST TO PARADISE REGAINED.

— So let's publish the name of the Great Creator of the heavens and the earth — and make his name known, as his name alone is Jehovah. (See Psalms 83: 18.)

Ask any one of Jehovah's Witnesses you may happen to meet. They will be glad to supply you with the above book.

Witnesses attend training program

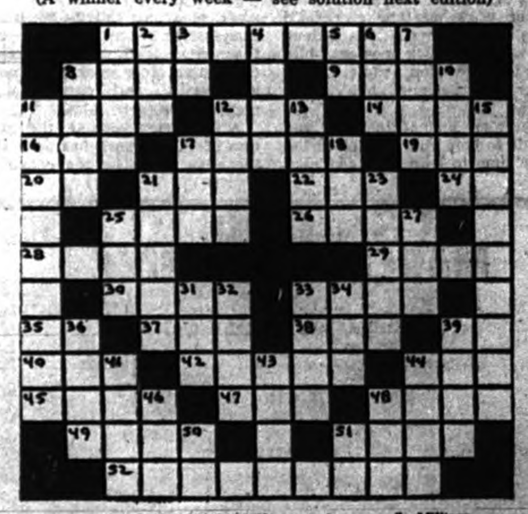

The Lachute North congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses has been invited to join with several other congregations in a three-day training program, to be held in Rosemount High School, Montreal, from November 15 to 17.

Bryce Miller, presiding minister of the Lachute North group, and one of the principal speakers at the seminar, stated that its purpose is "the increased efficiency in the preaching work by a better understanding of teaching principles."

"Jehovah's Witnesses feel a very real responsibility to encourage Bible study as a counterbalance to the whirlpool of deceptive materialism which exerts such a strong pull in our generation. This accounts for the theme of the assembly, 'Feed My Little Sheep', for there is a virtual famine in the land for the hearing of the Word," said Mr. Miller.

There will be a baptism Saturday morning, November 16, for qualified candidates. The three-day program will reach its climax at 3 p.m. on Sunday with a public discourse by the Quebec supervisor, Laurier Saumur, entitled "The Bible Triumphs in a Scientific World."

Appeal to District Residents

Lachute, P.Q., November, 1963

Dear Fellow Citizen:

Once again, in order to provide a healthy outlet for youth activity this winter, the Lions Club is operating its artificial ice rink, now in its fifth successive season. Skating is now in swing, and the season's program of hockey and skating, etc., should continue without interruption to the end of March, 1964.

The annual operating and improvement costs, make it necessary to solicit your support. Your past generosity has been invaluable, and we count on you once again for your co-operation.

We are offering season tickets at $5 per household or individual, plus $1 for each child in the family wishing to skate. (Maximum charge for any family, regardless of number, will not exceed $10.) Considering that the season extends over approximately five months, this rate is by no means excessive.

For those who have no family but who wish to help us in this project for youth recreation, we would suggest, and appreciate, a $5 "supporting membership". We receive many requests from less fortunate families, and it will be a pleasure to extend to them, in your name, the privileges of our rink.

Since we have to raise $5,000 in order to operate this venture, you will readily understand our concern. We thank you, in advance, for your kind assistance.

A note to former members who may have badges from last season. We would appreciate receiving the old badges along with this year's membership application so that a proper re-issue can be made. . . New badges may be procured at the skating rink.

WHY WAIT FOR SPRING? - DO IT NOW!

Ways and means to create slack-season employment

With the onset of winter, Canada again faces the problem of creating more seasonal employment. This year the battle will be fought on many fronts with more intensity than ever before.

Canadians in all walks of life — industry, business, labor, government at all levels, and the general public — are joining forces in a concerted effort to stimulate wintertime markets, which will create more jobs to the benefit of everyone.

Let us examine some of the ways and means being used to promote this important winter work campaign. As in the past several winters, the Dominion Department of Labor and the National Employment Service are conducting the "Why Wait for Spring — Do It Now" campaign at both the local and national level. Directed at the consumer of goods and services, whether in the home, factory or office, the campaign publicizes the advantages of arranging as much work as possible for the winter season.

Through the co-operation of business organizations, labor, and other interested associations, the winter work message is carried from coast to coast. This is done by way of truck posters, billboards, television, radio, newspapers, magazines, and other media.

There are many things that you can do to help yourself and at the same time to help your community. If all Canadians decided to have work done during the winter instead of putting it off until spring, you can well imagine the beneficial effect it would have in helping to put many seasonally unemployed workers back to work.

You, yourself, will gain in many ways by having work done in the winter. With men and materials more readily available during the cold months, you can usually get the job done at your convenience with prompt delivery of materials. In the spring and summer when skilled tradesmen are usually busy, and their services difficult to obtain, you may have to wait until they can fit your job into their crowded schedule.

We would suggest that you have the job done now when good workmen are looking for the smaller interior building jobs. It will pay you many times over.

You can also play an important part by assisting your local campaign — giving it your vocal or active support. You can spread the logic of the program among your friends and acquaintances. All such measures are helpful.

Businessmen can help to stimulate economic activity by using imagination in their efforts to sell their goods and services during the winter. More sales mean more employment, and more employment means more sales.

A significant factor in the creation of winter work has been the initiative taken by the construction and allied industries in Canada. This is a field that is very adversely affected in so far as winter work is concerned.

There was a time when the building trade would practically close up shop for three or four months. However, with the introduction of new techniques, and with careful planning by contractors, more and more building starts, both residential and industrial, have been made during the winter.

The public has discovered that houses built in the winter compare favorably with those constructed during the summer, with the added advantage of earlier occupancy.

Thus, everyone benefits, because the construction industry also reflects in the operation of subtrades and others dependent on a healthy winter construction economy.

Is there a job around your home or place of business that you've been planning to have done next Spring? If so, we suggest it will pay you to do it now when skilled tradesmen and materials are readily available. These men are able to serve you better when they are not so busy, and jobs are often done at a lower cost in the winter.

Labor anxious to play its part

"There are hundreds of Canadian homes where there is work to de done. It may be building cupboards, painting or remodelling that you have been thinking about. Some jobs are small, some are large, but they all provide employment at a time when it is needed; and that is right now. This is a situation which deserves support from all of us.

"We in organized labor are anxious to play our parts.

"Many hundreds of employers are giving their help. This very announcement is part of the Government's program, but all this can only be successful if individuals give their support too.

"Most of us have a habit of putting things off. This is no time to hesitate — Dot It Now."

Spring is for the birds!

Sure Spring is when the birds build. But is that any reason why we should do the same?

Winter's a far better time to have those renovating and redecorating jobs done around your home. Men and materials are more readily available for one thing. For another, you can often save money through off-season discounts. To help you do it now, Home Improvement Loans under the National Housing Act are available through your bank. You may be able to obtain up to $4,000 with up to ten years to repay. Your contractor or building supply dealer can offer other extended payment plans. Why wait for Spring? Spring is for the birds. Do It Now.

Inquire about low interest rate Farm Improvement Loans at your bank—up to $7,500 with up to ten years to repay.

Women's Inst. Speaker —

Dr. E. S. Giles on Education and Bill 60

The monthly meeting of the Lachute branch of the Women's Institute was held Tuesday of last week at Lachute High School. The speaker on this occasion, Dr. Elmer S. Giles, former Director of Protestant Education for the Province of Quebec, was introduced by Mrs. George Y. Deacon, who, as convener, welcomed Dr. Giles back to his home town after a distinguished career in the field of education.

In his opening remarks, Dr. Giles expressed his admiration for the work of the W.I. in the area of education, and said that he, himself, had enjoyed the privilege of reading many books available to the public, through the W.I. library at the High School.

Dr. Giles gave a very full account of the school system in this province, especially its development since World War II. In 1945 the Protestant school population was less than 65,000 pupils, and has now grown to some 123,000 pupils; yet only in a few cases have we had to resort to half-day classes, a common practice in many centres in the U.S.A. and in some Canadian provinces. The Roman Catholic school population (90% of the total) has grown even more rapidly, there being now some 1,300,000 pupils.

In 1937 the Government of Quebec began to substantially subsidize school boards, and by 1955-56 many boards were receiving grants as large as the revenue raised by the local taxpayer. The situation continues, as boards are called upon by law to provide free education to Grade XI, and to Grade XII where this grade is offered, as here in Lachute. One of the government's problems is to introduce technical and commercial education in small centres. Another problem is the educating of retarded children. School boards have hesitated to introduce these classes because of the high cost.

According to reports, Roman Catholic and Protestant school boards in our province have deficits over $50,000,000 (as of June, 1963) in spite of large and increased government grants.

Youth Minister Paul Gérin-Lajoie says that one of the most important tasks facing the government today is the creating of a Ministry of Education, to give our youth the means to conquer knowledge and culture. A moving power of authority, he says, is needed to concieve and realize such a program and make our system more democratic. We must make sure that our children have equal opportunity of education, without distinction of wealth, origin, or place of residence.

Bill 60 (the structure of which Dr. Giles explained) gives greater power to the Ministry of Education and Youth, and reduces the authority of both Roman Catholic and Protestant Committees, for the bill creates a single authority to co-ordinate the various activities at different levels. The aim of the new proposals is, of course, to draw Quebec's diverse and divided system into a co-ordinated whole. The problem facing the government has been to reshape the education system, so as to give the government authority that corresponds to its obligations. Education now takes $1 out of every $3 of the government's budget.

In conclusion, Dr. Giles said that it might be presumed that Bill 60 had the support of the majority of the population.

Mrs. Alex Clarke thanked the speaker for a most illuminating address.

Suspect caught in recent hold-up at Pte. Fortune

Hawkesbury — After a robbery perpetrated by two armed bandits at the Banque Canadienne Nationale in Pointe Fortune recently, one of the alleged bandits was apprehended at the Bridge Inn later that day, while the other escaped with $1,300 loot.

The pair broke the glass in the front door and entered the bank at 3.10 p.m., shortly after closing. Armed and masked, they demanded the manageress, Mme Suzanne Séguin, to hand over the contents of the vault. They then fled in an automobile parked nearby.

Mme Seguin called Quebec provincial police, and Hawkesbury police officers found their automobile abandoned outside a beer store. An intensive search was started, and on a tip from a taxi driver, one of the miscreants was found in the Bridge Inn. The suspect, Raymond Trudel, alias Roger Legault, of Montreal, was lodged in the municipal cells. The other made his get-away — with the money.

NEWSPAPERS BEST

In 1962, advertisers again spent more money in newspapers than in any other medium, and the newspaper remains overwhelmingly dominant as a local advertising medium.

OPENS SUNDAY —

Lise Gervais exhibition at Centre d'Art

The Centre d'Art d'Argenteuil, in Lachute, will hold its first of four major exhibitions this year, presenting the work of Lise Gervais, one of the most dynamic and conscientious artists and one of the most prominent women painters of Quebec.

The exhibition will start November 17 and continue until December 1. It will include recent works of Lise Gervais, together with an array of paintings and inks of various periods, showing the happy evolution of this rather young and yet most mature artist of today.

A graduate of l'Ecole des Beaux Arts in Montreal, Lise Gervais has been a teacher with this institution for the past eight years. She has also given instruction at the art centre in Sainte-Adèle. In 1961, she won the honors of the Salon de la Jeune Peinture, and received an honorary mention at the 78th Annual Spring Exhibition of the Montreal Museum of Fine Arts. Art lovers who visited the exhibition of Women Painters of Quebec, at the Centre d'Art last year, will remember two of her paintings among the most important works of the whole collection.

Since 1961, Miss Gervais has been presenting solo exhibitions yearly either in Montreal or Toronto. Her works have been displayed in group exhibitions in London, Buffalo, Kingston, Toronto, Philadelphia, Sarnia, Quebec and Montreal. Three of her paintings were included in the great Spoleto show in Italy last year.

The exhibition will open Sunday afternoon; it will be on view daily from 2 to 5, and on Sundays from 2 to 5, and from 7 to 9 p.m.

County Women's Inst. held semi-annual convention

The semi-annual convention of Argenteuil County Women's Institute was held recently in the music room of Lachute High School.

The County president, Mrs. C. L. Stephens, chaired the meeting, which was not as largely attended as usual, owing to death and serious illness in several branches.

The minutes of the Board meeting were read by the County secretary, Mrs. R. Warwick.

Mrs. Douglas Rodger, County treasurer, gave her report on W.I. finances, as well as a report on the Educational Fund, which is popular with students to assist them in furthering their education.

Mrs. Nelson Morrison was appointed to replace Mrs. Coulsen as Fair Work convener.

The Leadership Training course, given to W.I. members at Macdonald College in the spring, was discussed and the members were asked for suggestions on how to make it more attractive, as they would like to have a larger attendance.

An acknowledgment was read from the County Council regarding the resolution sent in from the June convention, as to dumping of garbage along our country highways. A penalty of $50 is to be levied on offenders and is already being enforced.

Members were advised to listen to the Farm Radio program on Monday, November 25, at 9 p.m., on "Women in Their Place".

Mrs. Geo. McGibbon gave an interesting report of the Griffith-McConnell Memorial Home, which she and Dr. Suzanne MacKimmie had visited recently.

Guest speaker for the convention was Miss Horsham, of Trinidad, who is at present attending Macdonald College. She gave a very informative talk of life in the West Indies, and spoke particularly of Trinidad, her home island. Mrs. Gordon Hay thanked the speaker for her very interesting address.

The meeting was brought to a close by singing the national anthem.

Mayor resigns at Vankleek Hill

Vankleek Hill — A surprise move was made on Tuesday when town clerk and treasurer C. E. Barton received a letter of resignation from Mayor Pat S. Denis.

In a letter addressed to the members of Council and Mr. Barton, Mayor St. Denis explained his resignation was "due to matters arising at certain meetings held this year".

FACT

Net operating loss of Ottawa's agricultural stabilization board was $72 million in the year ended March 31, 1963, compared to a loss of $22 million for the preceding year.

Doleful note to past month's fire report

The police department received 352 service calls in the month of October, and investigated 20 accidents, only one of which involved personal injury.

There were 33 arrests, $1,160 collected on traffic tickets, and total revenues of $1,397.05.

During the month there were two thefts of automobiles (both recovered); 17 thefts of bicycles (16 recovered); and various entries and robberies, most of which were traced and solved. There were also 148 court cases; and seven persons received shelter at police quarters.

The report, by Chief J.-L. Hebert, was tabled by the police and fire commissioner, Ald. L. W. Armstrong.

Fire Department

Recent incidents gave more than usual significance to the report of Fire Chief Don MacCulloch. The two serious fires of October 24-25, he reported, would boost this year's per capita fire loss higher than ever recorded in recent years. A rider to his mention of these fires, was Chief MacCulloch's regret that there is no provision for inspection of properties in order to uncover fire hazards.

The chief recommended the engagement of Jean-Louis Carrière as fireman to replace Jas. Campbell (resigned), also the purchase of accessories including a radio receiver for No. 1 fire truck, metal number and lettering stamps for new equipment, and other incidentals. He recommended also the remuneration of certain men who had assisted the firemen in the Main Street blaze October 25, namely, Jean-Paul Bell, Marcel Therien, Jean-Guy Lepage and Arthur Patry.

During this same meeting, the Council subsequently voted $3,500 for hoses and equipment, and purchase of oxygen supplies was authorized to the extent of $185.

There were eight calls received during the month, including two outbreaks beyond the town limits. As a result of the recent calls upon the co-operation of neighboring fire brigades, Chief MacCulloch urged that agreements should be made immediately — with Brownsburg, St. Andrews and Chatham particularly.

Special guest at Masonic meet

Argenteuil Masonic Lodge, No. 67, was honored Monday evening by a visit from Rt. Wor. Bro. C. W. Dean, District Deputy Grand Master of the Ottawa District, who was accompanied by a large delegation of former District Deputies and Grand Masters.

Wor. Bro. John Duncan occupied the chair, and with his officers exemplified the First Degree for the visitors. Congratulations were extended on the excellent work done, and the guests were entertained to refreshments at the close.

Delegations were present from Grenville, Shawville, Buckingham, Sutton, Vankleek Hill, Royal Arthur and Mount Monarch Lodges in Montreal, and Acacia Lodge, Hull.

The D.D.G.M. gave a short but inspiring address on Masonry to the large gathering.

Town committees re-organized

Following the recent Council shuffle on the expiry of aldermanic terms, it has been necessary for Mayor Dave Campbell to revise the committees in charge of nine different departments of administration. Following are the new committees — the first-named being, in each case, the chairman:

Roads, Waterworks, Sewers — Laurier Carrière and the entire Council.

Streetlighting and Sidewalks — Edmund McFaul, François Charlebois, and Linton Armstrong.

Health, Social Service — J.-O. Desjardins, P.-E. Pariseau, Dr. R. Dumais.

Waterworks & Filtration — Dr. L. A. Middleton, Nelson Lepage, Dr. R. Dumais.

Garage & Machinery — Nelson Lepage, Edmund McFaul, Dr. L. A. Middleton.

Buildings & Property — P.E. Pariseau, J.-O. Desjardins, F. Charlebois.

Police & Fire — Linton Armstrong, Nelson Lepage, Laurier Carrière.

Building Permits — Laurier Carrière, Dr. R. Dumais, L. Armstrong.

Receptions — Dr. R. Dumais and members of the Council.

A special committee concerned with Parks and Playgrounds will comprise Ald. Linton Armstrong, Ald. J.-O. Desjardins and representatives of various town organizations.

EDITORIAL NOTES...

"In this Parliament are three Estates, the Lords Spiritual, the Lords Temporal and the Commons, but in the Reporters' Gallery yonder sits a Fourth Estate more important far than all."
— Edmund Burke

Challenge of youth recreation

THERE ARE TWO schools of thought in regard to civic responsibility for recreation, and both have been forcibly expressed in the Lachute council chamber.

The sports committees and organizations feel it is their right to call upon the municipal exchequer for support, contending that youth recreation is as much a public service as police protection, sanitation and snow removal.

The other faction claims that recreation is promoted by clubs and groups of their own volition; that they have means of raising funds by public functions and appeals; and that this should not rightly be a burden on the civic treasury, which derives its income solely from taxes.

Both sides have a convincing argument. Our sympathy is divided between (1) the city fathers whom we have elected to provide our essential services, while keeping taxes down where they belong; and (2) those altruistic citizens who generously devote their time, effort and resources to youth welfare, and who feel the financial burden, at least, should be shared in a more equitable way.

This is not a matter for heated words, as were exchanged at the Council session last week. It is a question for sober and complete discussion, without undue delay. At the peak of this urgency is the Lions Club request for the "municipalization" of its skating rink. This proven community asset, which the club promoted and has successfully maintained for the past four seasons, is faced now with the necessity of removal to another site, and the Lions have an understandable desire to see a covered rink, in keeping with the need. This is beyond the resources of the loyal few, and there are two alternatives — either the rink must be taken over in a bigger way, or it must be abandoned.

Thus, a community arena may be the ultimate in this issue — the issue whether recreation is a municipal responsibility or not. Both schools of thought have rhyme and reason. Municipal sponsorship has worked in other centres. Whether the expansion of Lachute will produce revenues to undertake this task; whether it can be financed in other ways; and, in the meantime, whether the civic coffers should aid private effort for our youth — these are questions to be thought out, in no belligerent or demanding terms. To gauge opinions accurately might even require a public vote.

Previous mayors have faced the toughest problems, and this seems to have shaped up as another major challenge in Mayor Campbell's term. His great advantage — and an asset to the citizens — is his long and practical experience in sports promotion. He has shown a valuable knowledge of behind-the-scenes operation in sport ventures; he has shown keen interest in this aspect of his home town, and what's more, a willingness to tackle the situation. The matter becomes more pressing, and we trust that Mayor Campbell with his councillors and committees will come to grips with the problem and reach a practical conclusion.

The methodical ones

HAVE YOU done your Christmas shopping yet ?

This isn't a joke. Mid-November is none too early to get organized. For one thing, time's getting short for mailing gifts and cards overseas.

And it's a good time to go over your Christmas card list. The methodical person will have brought this up-to-date right after last Christmas, noting changes of address and adding names of those to whom no card was sent — but who sent one to you.

(Perhaps someone who sent you a card last Christmas, and didn't get one in return, has already crossed your name off his list. This could go on for years).

You may, or may not, be among those who already have a plentiful supply of Christmas cards ready to be addressed and mailed. These are the methodical persons who jammed the store counters on the first shopping day after Christmas last year, when huge stacks of brand-new Christmas card boxes were going half-price. More and more people every year are getting wise to this system.

Again, you could possibly have secured already about all the Christmas gifts you are going to send out. The methodical ones have acquired these during the year at various special sales and laid them aside with little tags: "Maybe for Aunt Mary ?"

Of course, if the mere thought of Christmas cards and gifts this early makes you shudder, you can always say you're the old-fashioned type who has to get into the true spirit of Christmas — the snow and the jingle bells, etc.

The methodical type's answer is, you could carry the idea to its logical conclusion, and stick to wood fires, get the water from the pump, chase your own turkey and decapitate it. The old-fashioned jolly Christmas celebrant has no frozen turkeys or automatic stoves.

Gift catalogues from the big stores are arriving, and any day now the Christmas commercials will be blasting forth on radio and television.

And if you run into the crusty character who says, "Christmas comes but once a year, thank goodness," don't be fooled. . . Everybody likes to receive cards and presents.

A man's worth

EVER WONDER how much you are worth? About $34.50, according to an estimate recently published.

A publication of the National Safety Council reports that this discomforting estimate (quoted recently in an editorial by C-I-L "Contact") is based on a price list for the present value of chemical compounds in our bodies — the bigger we are the more we're worth.

For example, one of the costliest elements in our body is potassium and a 150-pound man has four ounces of it — value just more than $6.00.

According to the report there is enough calcium (lime) in the average body "to whitewash a chicken coop, enough carbon for 9,000 pencils, phosphorous for 2,200 matches, iron for one very small nail and magnesium for a good stiff dose of salts."

Still there is one reassuring word: for all the cheapness of our construction, the body is still the world's best laboratory and can perform instant chemical feats. And it's controlled by the finest computer yet devised — the brain. . . All in all the body illustrates what can be done with a mere $34.50 of chemicals — if you know how.

Viewpoints and perspectives

LACKING LEADERS. — Illiteracy and ignorance, archaic social system, scarcity of scientists and technicians and, generally, of skilled leaders and workers — these are some of the obstacles to the necessary development in the needy lands.
— Altona (Man.) Red River Valley Echo

WOODBOXES have mostly disappeared now, along with high-button shoes, buffalo robes and bed warmers. We wouldn't return . . . but we wish that, along with all the wonders of modern scientific living, we could recapture the sense of security and family unity that prevailed in the days when woodboxes were a part of living.
— Campbellton (N.B.) Tribune

INCREASING scientific evidence points to existence of a series of "sixth senses" in man, reports Reader's Digest. One example is the nearness sense, which makes us aware of solid objects though we can neither see nor feel them. This and similar faculties may be vestiges from our primitive past, before man's conscious intelligence began to dull his instincts.

OVER THE YEARS With Lachute Watchman

75 YEARS AGO

Friday, Nov. 15, 1888 —

The teachers of Argenteuil County are respectfully requested to meet in Lachute Academy to elect officers, etc. A paper on Physiology will be given with illustrations from the Academy manikin. — J. W. McOuat, B.A., president.

Brownsburg — The Lachute Lumber Co. have a gang of men cutting timber on their limits, with Jno. L. Hutchins as foreman.

For Sale — My farm, 82 acres, situated on the limits of Lachute Town. — Mrs. G. Douglass. (Advt).

St. Andrews — Mouley is quoted at 1½ cents a pound, being too scarce to sell by the hundred.

The Italians were not pleased with the manners of their royal visitor, Emperor William of Germany. He has a brusque way of cutting his sentences, and he mounts his horse clumsily. Then again, he is not fond of macaroni.

50 YEARS AGO

Friday, Nov. 14, 1913 —

The death is recorded of Wm. John Christie. Born in West Gore in 1843, in his early manhood he bought land in Centreville, where he farmed for 37 years. For the past six years he had resided in Lachute.

Brownsburg — In order to cope with increasing business of the Dominion Cartridge Co., the C.P.R. have signified their intention to lay a siding right in to the factory, with spurs to the various storehouses.

Mr. Brunton is receiving congratulations on his appointment as branch bank manager in Ottawa South.

McFaul Bros., in the West End, were again visited by burglars last Friday evening.

Mr. Gavin J. Walker announces he is now ready to pay the premiums awarded at the Agricultural Society's Exhibition.

25 YEARS AGO

Thursday, Nov. 10, 1938 —

Morin Heights residents voted, by a majority of five, to repeal the prohibition law in that municipality.

A modern highway, with elimination of dangerous curves and 12 railway crossings, will enable motorists to make the trip between Quebec and Montreal in three hours, by next June.

Through a grant procured by Georges Héon, M.P., about 30 men are engaged today in resurfacing of the main street, from the C.P.R. crossing west to the town limits. The project is appreciated by the relief workers to whom this job has been allotted.

The former rector, the Rev. J. A. Lackey of Westboro, and his son, the Rev. Osborne Lackey of Rosemount, assisted at services in St. Simeon's and St. George's churches last Sunday.

A truckload of baled hay caught fire through contact with a power line along the Staynerville road. Traffic Officer Aibt. Legault halted the driver, who was unaware his load was on fire. The hay was dumped on the roadside, where it continued to burn well into the night.

PEARLS

Cultured and natural pearls look so nearly alike that only an expert can tell the difference. Yet natural pearls usually are five to ten times higher in price than the cultured variety. This gap widens when the pearls are strung in necklaces.

SUGAR and SPICE

By Bill Smiley

There's a new television series on the air that is giving me an inferiority complex about the size of a giant squid. Maybe you haven't seen it, but it's called Mr. Novak, and it holds me breathless, and makes me wretched for one hour every Sunday night.

It's a sort of Dr. Kildare with classroom and chalk-dust and psychology instead of surgery and blood and psychology.

Mr. Novak is a blond, handsome, young, idealistic teacher of English in a high school. That's enough to flatten a balding, homely, middle aged, realistic teacher of English such as I before the opening commercial.

But it isn't this sort of thing that is eating away my self-confidence. It's the excitement of Mr. Novak's life that makes me feel like something the caretaker forgot to sweep out on Friday afternoon.

Every week, he gets involved in the damdest situations, and emerges smelling of violets and looking like Joan of Arc. And every week I get involved in the damdest situations and emerge. Barely.

Mr. Novak saunters through the halls of his school in his well-cut gray suit, buttering up the principal and looking dedicated. Mr. Smiley scuttles through the halls of his school, avoiding the principal, and looking harassed.

Every week, Mr. Novak tangles fearlessly with some impossible problem, and solves it. Every week, Mr. Smiley tangles fearfully with eight impossible problems, and by the time he's finished, he has 16 impossible problems.

In the last few weeks, Mr. Novak has outdone himself. He has squelched an outbreak of racial prejudice. He has caught a colleague cheating and forgiven him. He has encouraged a colleague with an alcoholic wife. He has pulled the principal out of hot water.

In the last few weeks, Mr. Smiley has undone himself. He has barely lived through an outbreak of the 'flu. He has caught a colleague trying to make off with his rubbers. He has encouraged a colleague with an alcoholic mother. He has got the principal in hot water.

You can see why this program makes me feel pretty insignificant. Mr. Novak leaps joyously from one crisis to another. Mr. Smiley totters desperately from one anti-climax to the next.

Take this week, for example. I'll bet you that right now, that Novak is rehearsing an episode in which he defies the school board on a matter of principle, solves a hairy personal problem for one of his students, and pulls the principal out of a nasty situation.

Right now, I'm trying to write a column. My wife is downstairs, teaching a piano lesson. My son is across the hall, practising the piano. My daughter is in the bathroom, roaring out the lines of her oral composition, which is to be delivered tomorrow, and waiting to pounce on me and make me hear it.

Five moments ago the phone rang. It was a colleague, wanting me to tape an interview for the Air Cadets. Tonight I have to go to night school, German, and haven't my homework done. After that, I have to go out canvassing for the YMCA.

Tomorrow I have to help my students get the weekly newspaper column ready, give my son a driving lesson and get rid of the squirrels in the attic. Thursday I have a church board meeting. Friday there's a department meeting, followed by the Friday Afternoon Club meeting, followed by a blast from my wife for attending it.

Friday night, if I can shake off the 'flu by then, I have to go deer hunting for the week end. In the meantime, I have to arrange with MGM for a showing of the film Hamlet, and with O'Keefe Centre for a trip for 140 kids, four buses, to see My Fair Lady. Somewhere in there, I must mark 120 tests and eleventy-seven essays.

Gee, I wish I could just go around Sunday nights, looking dedicated, like Mr. Novak, instead of going around all the time looking desiccated, like Mr. Smiley.

Space Race Still On

By RAY ARGYLE

Is the Soviet Union really out of the race to the moon? Or have Western observers misinterpreted Premier Khrushchev's casual comment that Russia is no longer interested in competing with the U.S. to put a man on the moon?

Ray Argyle

Mr. Khrushchev has already charged the West with misinterpreting his statement. But even prior to the Khrushchev denial of the Western interpretation, there was a suspicion that it was wrong because of the latest Russian space spectacular.

Within days after Mr. Khrushchev making his startling admission to a group of newsmen in Moscow, the Russians had put up a highly sophisticated satellite capable of doing flips and turns in space.

The new satellite, christened "Flight No. 1", is important because it puts the Russians at least two years ahead of the American space timetable.

The new Russian satellite performs manoeuvres that are essential to the mastery of the space rendezvous technique. This is the technique whereby two satellites will link up in space to become a spaceship which will then blast off to the moon.

When Mr. Khrushchev broke the news of the new Soviet space coup, he boasted that "Man is now no longer a prisoner of his ship, but can make the ship obey his will."

It is now safe to make two generalizations about the Russian space program.

First, the Russians have been scrupulously honest —although highly secretive —in their announcements of space successes. Second, they have been extremely careful of human life and appear to have taken even fewer risks than have the Americans.

What Premier Khrushchev actually said was that "We do not want to compete . . . It is clear that any competition would not bring any good and, on the contrary, could cause harm, leading perhaps to the death of people."

Because the Soviets have decided they do not want to "compete" with the U.S. to put a man on the moon by 1970, just does not mean that Russia is out of the space race. It is entirely possible that what Premier Khrushchev meant was that the U.S.S.R. would proceed with its space program in its own good time, without regard to U.S. developments.

It is clearly evident that the American space program is still well behind Russia's, and that it would take a dramatic slowdown by the Soviets for the Americans to get into the lead.

It has now been revealed that 50 per cent. of the components produced for the U.S. Project Mercury (the first manned satellite flights) were defective and could not be used. Project Gemini, for two-man launchings and perfection of the space rendezvous technique, is 18 months behind schedule. Project Apollo, to put men on the moon at a cost of $20 billion, has little chance of being completed by 1970.

America's moon ardor, moreover, has been cooling noticeably — and the Russian premier's latest pronouncement has dampened it further. Congress is chipping away at the U.S. space budget, with further slashes coming.

But no one in his right mind will argue today that the New World was not worth the price of Christopher Columbus' voyage.

As President Kennedy has said, space is an ocean and the U.S. must sail on it. To do anything else, is to become a second-class power.

Cushing

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Canning returned home on Monday after spending several months at Myrtle Beach, S. Carolina. Mrs. George Drew, of Verdun, and Mrs. J. Fauvel, of Montreal, who had been with them in the States, accompanied them to Cushing and stayed overnight.

Mrs. A. H. Taylor was the guest of her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Weir, of Ste. Anne de Bellevue, for a few days during the week.

Party and Presentation

Cushing and Chatboro communities joined Saturday evening to honor Miss Linda Douglas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Douglas of Chatboro, on her approaching marriage to Mr. G. K. Knight, of Ottawa. A gift of money was presented by Mr. Alvin Heatlie of Chatboro, on behalf of interested relatives and friends who had gathered in St. Mungo's Church hall. . . Interesting games were played during the evening, and refreshments were served and enjoyed by all present, who had gathered from Chatboro, Lachute, Cushing, Hawkesbury and Ottawa, where the bride-to-be enjoys many friendships. Very best wishes are extended to this young couple for their future happiness. . . Miss Douglas has been residing in the capital for some time, and her fiancé is from the Ottawa district.

Women's Institute

Frontier Women's Institute meeting, held last Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. John Heatlie, Jr., was one of the most interesting and well attended gatherings this year. Mrs. Basil Clark gave the Current Events in her usual sprightly manner. Mrs. John Heatlie presented a small money gift to Mrs. J. Douglas for her daughter, a prospective bride. . . At this meeting, cotton pieces for the Cancer Clinic were presented as part of the roll-call. The other part was two health rules. At the close of the meeting Nurse Mignon gave a health talk, also showed health pictures. Mrs. A. Heatlie expressed the thanks of the members.

The next meeting will be the Christmas gathering, at the home of Mrs. H. V. Bailey, of Cushing, with the usual exchange of gifts. The County president is expected to be present at this meeting, and a full attendance of the members is requested in her honor.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Neafsey spent the week-end in Montreal; Mr. Neafsey was celebrating the Armistice services there with his old regiment. Before leaving for the city, Mr. Neafsey decorated St. Mungo's Church very fittingly with flags. The honor rolls holding the names of those who fought in the two wars, were set upon the altar in front of the church. The members of the congregation appreciate this kindly gesture.

A Christmas tree is being planned for December, with views shown for the children by Mr. M. R. Wilson. The ladies of the church are also planning for an afternoon tea and sale of work in December. (Watch for advertisement later.)

Mr. Gerald King Cushing was in residence here over the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bryerton, with Billy and Anne, paid a brief visit to friends in Cushing last Sunday.

Mr. Alan Hollingworth and children, of Montreal, visited Mrs. L. R. McGain for a few hours on Sunday. Mrs. McGain accompanied them to the city.

Mrs. J. A. Bradley, of St. Andrews East, was an overnight guest of Mrs. L. M. Gaston last Saturday.

The Hi-C Association will meet in St. Mungo's Church hall on Saturday evening of this week.

Week-end guests at their respective homes were — Miss Joanne Murdoch, Miss Judy Petley and Miss Sandra Steere, from Montreal, Miss Myrna Crosby, Miss Kathryn Stephens and Mr. Campbell Stephens, from Ottawa.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Lawlor, of Ottawa, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Mason MacAdam.

Despite the inclement weather, a good number of veterans, Scouts, Cubs, Brownies and citizens gathered at the cenotaph Monday morning, November 11, to honor those who gave their lives in the two World Wars.

Miss Willow Dixon-Smith and Mrs. Ross Craik, of Toronto, spent the week-end as guests of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Dixon-Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Campbell, and Mrs. C. L. Stephens, spent last Thursday visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Albert Morrow in Russell, Ont. Mr. Campbell also attended the Winter Fair in Ottawa recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Todd are in St. Lambert this week with the family of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Duguid, while Mr. and Mrs. Duguid are holidaying in Florida.

Mrs. Nelson Jones, of West Medway, Mass., Mrs. Rubie M. Edwards, of Springfield, Mass., Mrs. A. Pollock, of Galt, Ont., and Mrs. A. Dahl, of Boston, Mass., were in Brownsburg last week-end to attend the funeral of the late Wm. H. Tomalty. Mr. and Mrs. J. Anderson, and Mr. and Mrs. W. Quigley, of Peterborough, also attended.

Mrs. C. Donaldson, of Ottawa, was a recent guest of Mrs. J. A. Campbell.

Miss Margaret Hamilton, of Toronto, Mrs. J. Sugg and family, of Barrie, Ont., visited their mother, Mrs. J. Hamilton, for the week-end.

Miss Linda Murdoch spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. H. Murdoch.

Card Party Held

Under auspices of the Home and School Association, a military whist was held in Brownsburg High School last Friday. The following were prize winners:

First — Mr. and Mrs. D. Graham, Mrs. L. Hall, Mrs. L. Seary.

Second — Mrs. A. Kirby, Miss M. Seary, Mr. J. Kirby, Mrs. F. Touchette.

Novelty prizes — Mrs. E. Moncrieff and Mrs. F. Mann.

After the prizes had been presented, refreshments were served in the school cafeteria.

Mrs. J. Taylor, of Perth, Ont., visited relatives here this week.

Mrs. Juan Escala, of Ottawa, was the week-end guest of Mrs. Wesley Mason.

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Watson, of Ottawa, were week-end guests of Mrs. Maud Hazel.

Recent marriage ceremony at Arundel United Church

Toeppner - Graham

The marriage of Margaret Mae, youngest daughter of Mrs. Mae Graham and the late Mr. Alvin Graham, of Arundel, to Mr. Robert Ernest Toeppner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul G. Toeppner, of Dorval, Que., took place Saturday, October 5, at 4 o'clock in the United Church at Arundel.

The Rev. Wesley Ball, of Morin Heights, officiated, assisted by Mr. Edward McDonald of Arundel. Mrs. Melvin Graham played the wedding music. Baskets of yellow and bronze mums and white poms with autumn leaves, were used to decorate the church.

The bride, given in marriage by Mr. Gordon Barrie of Montreal, was in a floor-length faille gown, the fitted bodice being fashioned with a bateau neckline and long sleeves ending in points over the hands. Her train, which fell from the shoulders, was of Chantilly lace. Her shoulder-length veil was held in place by a matching pillbox. She carried a bouquet of red roses and white stephanotis.

Miss Beverley Graham, sister of the bride, and Miss Diane Toeppner, sister of the groom, acted as bridesmaids. They wore matching, street-length sheath dresses of gold peau-de-soie, styled with a back panel which fell from the waist and was fastened with a bow. Their headpieces matched their dresses, and they carried white and yellow Shasta daisies and fern.

Mr. Stanley Bates, of Notre Dame de Grace, was best man. The ushers were Mr. Clark Graham, of Ottawa, and Mr. Ralph Ley, of Lachine.

Mrs. Graham, mother of the bride, wore a gown of peacock blue ribbon lace with black accessories. Mrs. Toeppner, mother of the groom, chose a beige and bronze brocade gown and brown accessories.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at Otter Lake House, Huberdeau.

Later the couple left for a trip to Bermuda, the bride travelling in a forest green suit with a white hat and a corsage of white carnations. Upon their return, the couple took up residence in Dollard des Ormeaux, Que.

Out-of-town guests were from Belleville, Gatineau Mills, Ottawa, St. Lambert, Montreal, Pointe Claire, Ste. Rose Heights, and St. Eustache.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ernest Toeppner, photographed following their marriage in the United Church at Arundel, Que. Mrs. Toeppner was formerly Miss Margaret Mae Graham, youngest daughter of Mrs. Mae Graham and the late Mr. Alvin Graham, of Arundel, and Mr. Toeppner is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul G. Toeppner of Dorval, Que.

Avoca

Recent visitors at the home of Mrs. Howard Smith were Mr. and Mrs. Wm. E. Andrews, Mr. and Mrs. Keith Duncan and infant son, all of Ottawa; Mr. and Mrs. Robin Andrews, of Cardinal, Ont.; Messrs. Allan and Wayne Copeland, of Fergus, Ont.; Miss Judy Lynn Smith and a friend, from Macdonald College.

The Rev. A. Reid, of Montebello, was a caller at the home of Mrs. Allan McPhee last week.

Mrs. George Kelly and daughter, Mrs. Howard Smith, and Kelly, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. James Bates in Lachute last Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Bates spent Wednesday with their daughter, Margaret (Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Kelly) in Montreal.

Mrs. Allan McPhee visited Mrs. Neil McCallum, of Harrington, on Wednesday last.

Bereaved

Sincere sympathy is extended to Mrs. Ross Swail, daughter of the late Mrs. Lorne Marshall, also to Mrs. Swail's family, nieces and nephews.

Resident Mourned

This community has been saddened by the passing away of a loved and lifelong citizen, Mr. Sandy Bates, whose death occurred suddenly last Sunday.

A wise dog

Mrs. P. M. Steele, of Rural Route 7, tells of a pet dog which seems to have more than the usual intelligence. This animal has the habit of pulling off a bed covering to the floor and sleeping on it. This was thought by the family to be quite a smart trick; and the cover was always replaced by them. The other day Mrs. Steele's son told the dog to put it back — and he did so. . . A good lesson to some humans.

Here's our 1964 Rambler American— completely re-designed and still the lowest-priced Canadian-built car

Just look at the '64 Rambler American! It's the best thing that's happened to compact cars since we started the trend 13 years ago.

All new from roadway to roofline, the '64 American features Rambler's exclusive Uniside construction. The entire sides of the car have been stamped out of single sheets of steel. It means greater strength, longer life, doors that fit perfectly.

A longer wheel-base is another new feature of the 1964 Rambler American. Now there's plenty of room for six full-grown men, improved suspension for greater riding comfort, minimum exterior dimensions for handling and parking ease.

To top it off, the 1964 American has been re-designed from its extruded aluminum grill to its 22 cubic feet of trunk space. Lower overall height, curved glass windows, new interior fittings, and fresh-from-the-drawing-board styling makes the 1964 American one of the best-looking cars on the road.

And under that smart new hood is a 6-cylinder engine that's the talk of the industry. It's famous for dependability, wins economy runs with ease, has power enough to make highway driving fun. For extra performance, specify the 125 h.p. overhead valve engine. It's available on 330 models—standard on 440 models.

Add up the many famous Rambler features—the world's best rust-proofing, guaranteed Ceramic-Armoured muffler system, guaranteed battery and coolant, battery-saving alternator, self-adjusting Double-Safety-brakes, reclining seats, 3-year or 33,000-mile lubrication, and 2-year or 24,000-mile warranty on the entire car. One thing is clear: the 1964 Rambler American continues the well-known Rambler philosophy of "maximum usefulness to the user." Prove it to yourself with a test drive. Tomorrow?

Baked Fillets Creole

From New Orleans, the home of Creole cuisine, comes another casserole masterpiece — fillets à la Creole. Haddock, cod, ocean perch or sole are ideal for this dish. Canned tomatoes and diced green peppers provide the touch of authenticity and sprigs of parsley serve to dress it up. By the way, hot café au lait served throughout the meal can supply that something extra in taste.

Baked Fillets Creole

2 Pounds fish fillets (haddock, cod, ocean perch or sole), 1 medium onion (sliced), 3 tablespoons salad oil, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 20-ounce can tomatoes (approx. 2½ cups), ½ cup diced green pepper, 3 tablespoons finely chopped parsley, ½ cup sliced stuffed olives, few drops hot liquid pepper seasoning*, 1 teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon sugar, ½ teaspoon sugar, dash of pepper, 1 bay leaf, 2 whole cloves.

If fish is frozen, let thaw on refrigerator shelf until fillets can be easily separated. Sauté onion in large heavy saucepan until soft. Blend in flour; cook, stirring, until bubbly. Blend in tomatoes, continue to cook, stirring, until thickened and smooth. Add remaining ingredients. Cover; simmer about 15 minutes. Remove bay leaf and cloves. Arrange fillets in a greased, shallow baking dish. Pour sauce on top. Bake uncovered in preheated hot oven, 400 deg. F., about 15 minutes or until fish flakes easily when tested with a fork. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Fish Hints

Here's a flavor fillip for broiled fish fillets. Place fillets on aluminum foil on preheated, greased broiler pan. Sprinkle the fish with salt and a little lemon juice, then spread with chili sauce. Broil two to three inches from the source of heat without turning, allowing from five to ten minutes. Fish will be done when it flakes easily when tested with a fork. Allow about ten minutes broiling time per inch thickness of fresh or thawed, frozen fillets.

Green peppers are always popular when stuffed with a savory filling and baked. Try Salmon-Filled Peppers for a tasty luncheon or supper dish to serve four. Sauté ½ cup minced onion until soft in 2 tablespoons butter. Blend in 2 cups flaked canned salmon, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, a dash of Tabasco sauce, 1 teaspoon salt, 1½ cups cooked rice and one, 7½-ounce can tomato sauce. Heat mixture through. Meanwhile, cut a thin slice from stem end of 4 large green peppers. Remove seeds; simmer peppers 5 minutes in boiling salted water. Drain; fill with salmon mixture; sprinkle buttered dry bread crumbs on top. Bake about 20 minutes, covered, in preheated moderately hot oven, 375 degrees F., then uncovered another 10 minutes until topping is browned.

BREAD CRUMBS

When making soft crumbs from a loaf of crusty bread, it's handy to remember that a one-pound loaf yields three-quarters of a pound of crumbs after the crusts have been trimmed off.

Young Canada's Book Week

— By NANCY CLEAVER —

The theme of Young Canada's Book Week this year (November 15-22) is "Our French Canadian Heritage".

Last year Claude Aubry, chief librarian at the Ottawa Public Library, received the award of the Canadian Association of Children's Librarians for his French-language book The King of the Thousand Islands. This has been translated by Alice Kane (published by McClelland & Stewart). Why not mark Young Canada's Book Week, if your child enjoys fairy tales, by purchasing a copy and reading this charming tale aloud?

French is now taught in many lower grades of public school. There is a delightful small child's picture book in French, Un Voyage en Bateau, by Eleanor Cynara Reese (Ginn & Co.)

Another special book, of small size with Punch-like illustrations, There is a Dragon in My Bed by Lesyle Joslin (Longman's) has a line in French then below it a line showing how to pronounce the words and last of all the English translation. Your child will chuckle over its humor and you could try out the French words in the family.

If you wish a book list of children's books in French, which have been on display in the Boys and Girls sections of the Winnipeg Public Library, send your request to Mrs. Helen Robertson, director of Children's Services, 481 William Street, Winnipeg. Visit a library or a book store and examine for yourself some of these attractive books.

As Christmas approaches, parents are reminded that books should be included in their shopping plans. There are many old favorites which every child likes to have on his own bookshelf. There are also new books such as Sheila Burnford's captivating story, The Incredible Journey which is now available in a 50c paper back. The Story of Mulberry Bend by William Wise is a charming picture book (Clarke Irwin).

Do you wonder how to make reading more important in your child's eyes? Why not visit the public library regularly with him, if he is quite young? Take advantage of the Saturday morning story hour. In this friendly group he will soon find books he wants to take home to read — or to have read to him at bed time.

"Every parent should cultivate a love for reading on his own part as well as in his child. Books should be one of the necessary investments of every home", an outstanding speaker said recently in advocating positive ways to strengthen family life and prevent juvenile delinquency.

Mother and Dad can scarcely hope that Junior will like reading if they themselves rarely pick up a book. Children are influenced far more by example than any other way.

If you want to encourage your child's love of reading choose at least one attractive book gift for him regularly. Plan for a book under the Christmas tree for every member of the family. There is a new book, Golden Child by Paul Engle (Clarke, Irwin) which lends itself to being read aloud in eight parts. Here is a thrilling story of the courage of a little pioneer family in a broken-down covered wagon, lost in the gold rush of the forty-niners. Their safety is threatened by miners at the Fort. The climax comes on Christmas Eve when Martha, the mother, gives birth to a baby boy.

Boys and girls who are hungry for good outdoor stories will welcome Sterling North's boyhood memoirs of his playmate Rascal, the story of a young raccoon. This book is worthy of the distinction of being the 1963 winner of the Dutton Animal Book Award (Clarke, Irwin Co.). Jolin Schoenberr's illustrations are beautiful. Animal lovers of any age will enjoy this lovely book. Another Award book, Mine for Keeps by Jean Little, has a lovable pet dog, Susie.

There is little profit from a book which is read but not enjoyed. Montesquieu has said that "To love to read is to exchange hours of ennui for hours of delight". Books open the doors to far places, strange people, different customs. Parker wrote truly when he said "The books which help you most are those which make you think the most."

Canadians these days have been jolted into thinking about the Quebec threat to our national unity. Instead of just re-arranging prejudices, why not make some discoveries yourself, by reading books written on the theme for Young Canada's Book Week — "Our French Canadian Heritage"?

Teatime Topics

Specially Written for The Lachute Watchman

By Patricia Rusak, Canadian Press Staff Writer

A Toronto psychiatrist said there recently that members of his profession were puzzled by the frequent conferences held by women to examine their role in society.

Dr. John Rich, guest speaker at the type of conference he finds puzzling — one to determine whether modern woman is just "existing" or "living creatively" — said that "rarely is a conference held on the emotional needs of men."

"I don't know why this is, but women are always holding conferences to find out what is wrong with them."

Nevertheless, Dr. Rich is concerned with the role that today's women are playing.

He says North American women are in "a stage of transition." Like the Negro, "women are being educated as if they were equal and treated in so many ways as if they are not," said Dr. Rich.

Traditional Role

Today's inherited definition of a woman was summed up in a recent article by Mme Jeanne Sauvé, founder of la Federation des Mouvements de Jeunesse de Quebec.

"A woman was a well-behaved, reserved person, lovingly devoted to her husband, bound by her faith and by duties toward her husband to accept all the children that would result from their life together and overwhelmingly happy to become indispensable to her family."

"In exchange for self-sacrifice, her prestige in the home was immense and she was referred to as the angel or queen of her home."

Mme Sauvé's description of the role of women has become "almost obsolete," says Dr. Rich.

It doesn't even matter if a woman today can't cook, he says. "There is almost nothing that she does in the home that couldn't be more competently done by someone else."

As a result of her traditional chores losing their importance, modern woman tends to feel she doesn't matter. "She may feel her role is in the home, but what is she to do there."

Future Action

Dr. Rich urged women to become involved with persons and projects and not to be fooled into looking for an artificial equality on a competitive basis with men.

Social service in particular is a field in which women can become meaningfully involved, he said.

Mrs. Marietta Stephanyants, a visitor from Moscow attending the conference at which Dr. Rich was speaking, said women should have something to offer their community.

Mrs. Stephanyants, wife of a foreign affairs official and mother of an 11-month-old daughter, is a graduate in Oriental studies and now is working for her doctorate in philosophy.

She said much of the concern about their roles expressed by the Canadian women was felt by Russian women in the early days following the revolution.

But she said Russian women had solved their problems by providing baby care and nurseries which enable women to continue their education and careers in fields side by side with men.

STEW RECIPE

It's smart to make double quantities of your favorite stew recipe. The first day it can be served with fluffy dumplings, and the next day as a pie with a biscuit dough or herb biscuits on the side.

Dear Doris

Canadian social worker Doris Clark invites you to write her about your problem. Address your letter to Dear Doris, in care of this newspaper.

DEAR DORIS—I guess I'm what you'd call gossip prone. It started last year when I was accused of an accident which I was not guilty of.

This summer a boy asked me out who was seven years older than me and I refused because he was notorious for his morals. Immediately another bout of gossip about my moral standards (very high) started up.

Later a fellow started phoning me up asking for something I would not give: and I finally, literally, told him where to go. Ever since, dirty remarks have met me.

Doris, I feel awful about it all. It's just this one group of boys, but everyone believes them. What can I do?

WORRIED SICK

DEAR WORRIED — For some reason the boys resent you. Did you high hat them, or act too, too virtuous? Perhaps you've talked about them and they've heard about it.

If it's bad enough, a lawyer's letter could warn them. But if the whole thing is too juvenile for this, what about heaping a few coals of fire?

DEAR DORIS — I am 50. Used to do part time cleaning jobs and baby sitting. Now I have a bad back and wear a special support. I get Government assistance monthly.

However, I can sew and knit. I tried selling a baby dress, bonnet and bootie set in pink by putting them in a store window and they sat there all winter. So I took them back.

I also thought of putting a sign in my window, but was told I would be charged with having a business telephone. Any suggestions.

WANTS TO EARN

DEAR WANTS — An ad in the paper, a sign in your window, a sample in a store display—these are still good ways to get started. How about a church bazaar?

You won't be charged business telephone rates unless your telephone hums with orders. Then it'll be worth it.

DEAR DORIS — I went out with a boy several times. Then he went back to the city where he worked. Before he left he told me he loved me and asked me to write to him.

My problem is I answered his first and only letter and have not heard from him since. It is almost three weeks now. I feel lost and lonesome without him. I am 17 and he is 23. Please help me decide what to do.

IN LOVE

DEAR IN LOVE — It's a poor sort of love that can't wield a pen. Writing was his idea.

Don't waste another minute on him. At 17 you shouldn't be lost and lonesome long — unless you are high-hatting those nice boys your own age who'd like your company!

Points of interest in Halifax, N. S.

Contributed by Marjorie Barrow, Formerly of Weir, Que.

Visitors to Halifax can expect to find many sights of historic interest in this seaport city.

Citadel Hill, rising 225' above sea level, commands a full view of the city and harbor. The fort on the peak of this hill was established in 1749. Its purpose was to discourage the French, at their powerful fortress in Louisburg, from attacking Britain's colonies in New England. The Citadel has recently been renovated and is now open as a historical museum. The Tea Room, to your left as you enter the main gates, is sponsored by the I.O.D.E.

The Town Clock at the foot of Citadel Hill was erected by the garrison in 1803 on instructions received from the Duke of Kent, previous commander of the fortress. It is said that the Duke had this clock erected because of his mania for punctuality.

From atop Citadel Hill and looking towards the mouth of the harbour a large wooded island is visible. This is McNab's Island. The water to the left of this island is known as Eastern Passage. It is through this passage that one of the most daring escapes in shipping history was made, when Confederate Gunboat Tallahassee, under cover of darkness, slipped through the cordon of northern cruisers waiting to pounce on her at the entrance to the harbor.

The Grand Parade is situated between Barrington and Argyle Street, one block below the Town Clock. It was reserved from the beginning of the city as a public space for drill grounds, proclamations and state ceremonies. The City Hall stands at one end of the parade facing a Cenotaph for world war heroes at the other. On the hill directly behind this monument is the Oldest Building in Halifax, St. Paul's Anglican Church.

St. Paul's was erected in 1750 and is the oldest Protestant church in Canada. Twenty vaults underneath the church contain the remains of admirals, governors and other celebrities. A guide is present to show you through.

Province House, seat of the Nova Scotia Legislature and executive government offices, is located two blocks below the Grand Parade between Hollis and Granville Streets. It is said to be one of the finest examples of Georgian architecture on the continent. A guide will show you through the Chamber of the old Legislative Council, with full-length paintings of England's sovereigns alongside distinguished naval and military mights looking down on the long oaken table around which sat the Council of Cornwallis and subsequent Governors.

The Public Gardens of Halifax are composed of seventeen acres of unrivalled loveliness with its miniature lake for swans and ducks; its artistic flower beds and lawns; and its exotic shrubs and trees. A quantity of earth from the State of Alabama is mixed in the soil. Florida also sent one of her beautiful palm trees.

On the corner of Barrington Street and Spring Garden Road is situated St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church. It is said to have the tallest spire of granite in the world. Open in 1829, this was the first stone church to be erected in Halifax.

The Memorial Tower on the far west side of the North West Arm was commenced 1908. It stands as a reminder that Nova Scotia led the way in the development of the great heritage of complete self government later extended all over the British Empire. This historic tower is well worth a visit to inspect the memorial tablets, coats of arms and flags contributed by British dominions, provinces and cities. There is a wonderful view from the top floor.

Hog producing the modern way

By making use of modern aids, a British hog producer has eliminated the necessity of visiting his pens in bad weather and on cold nights.

According to A. J. Charnetski, of the Alberta Department of Agriculture, this British hog man has installed television cameras in two farrowing pens to give close-up pictures of his sows. In this way, their condition can be closely watched before, during and after farrowing.

From the comfort of his farm house he can see all that is happening on a monitor screen. Microphones have also been installed to enable him to hear as well as to see!

THEY SHALL NOT PASS

I have always been an admirer of Phineas T. Barnum, and have read his own autobiography as well as a biography written about him by M. R. Werner. By a strange coincidence, I was born on the very day that Mr. Barnum died. To the majority of people living today, Barnum is remembered only as one of the partners of the Barnum and Bailey Circus. But there was much more to him than that. He was a good-living, temperate Christian and one of the most amazing Americans that ever lived.

In the last biography mentioned, there is an account of how he was continually bothered by people who wanted admission to the circus for nothing. He was generous with passes to editors, clergymen and orphans. But for others he had cards printed that read as follows. . .

Free Passes

Search the Scriptures. In those days there were no passes. . .

"Thou shalt not pass." — Numbers XX, 18.

"Suffer not a man to pass." — Judges III, 28.

"The wicked shall no more pass." — Nahum I, 15

"None shall pass." — Isaiah XXXIV, 10

"This generation shall not pass." — Mark XIII, 30

"Beware that thou pass not." 2nd Kings VI, 9

"There shall no strangers pass." — Amos III, 17

"Neither any son of man pass." — Jeremiah LI, 43

"No man may pass through because of the beasts." — Ezekiel XIV, 15

"Though they roar, yet they cannot pass." — Jeremiah V, 32

Disease virus

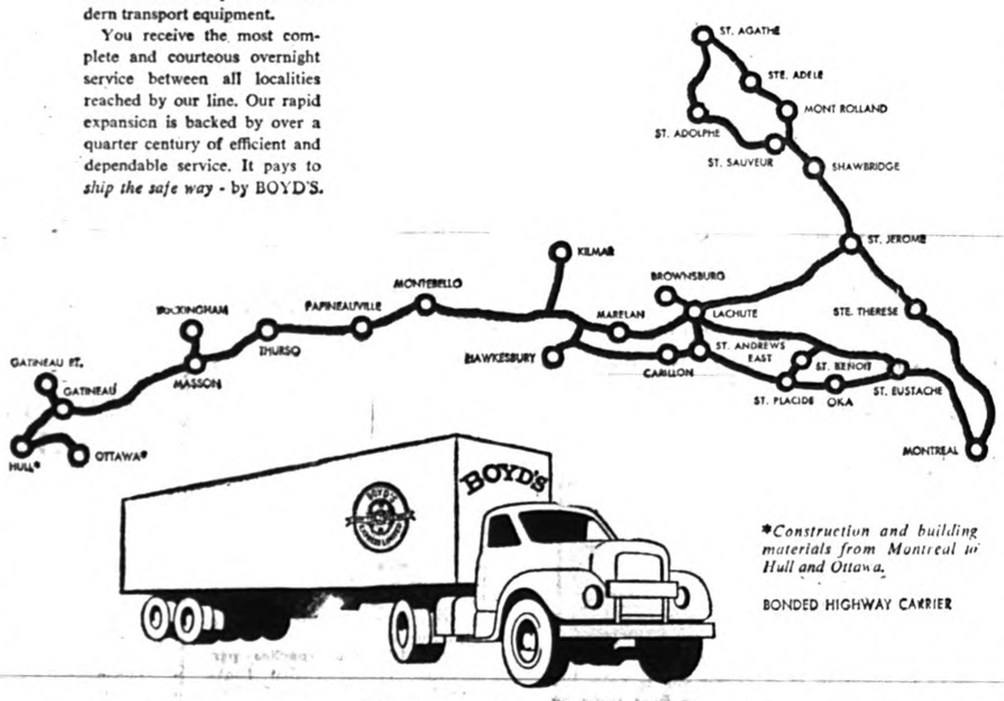

It has been found that the virus causing foot-and-mouth disease can be transmitted in bull semen before the infected bull shows any signs of having the disease himself. The U.S.D.A.'s Plum Island Animal Disease Laboratory reports that use of semen carrying the virus, for artificial insemination can also cause the disease in inseminated cows.

Five out of 20 heifers artificially inseminated with infected semen, contracted foot-and-mouth disease in a recent experiment. When bulls were experimentally infected with the virus, their semen was found to contain the virus as early as 12 hours after infection. Symptoms of the disease in cattle generally do not appear for at least 18-24 hours.

Animal Care

KEEPING TURTLES AND TORTOISES

If your children are anxious to have a turtle or tortoise as a pet it is a good idea to get advice before you buy one. Some of the smaller green turtles are tropical or semi-tropical animals and are difficult to keep healthy. Often they need water as warm as 80-85 degrees.

The native land turtle can be kept indoors although it is very unfair to expect it to live in cramped quarters.

One reader of this column wrote recently that her children had acquired a pair of turtles which were so active that they continually got out of their box and wandered all over the house. Now, the last member of the family to bed each night runs a small amount of water in the bath and leaves the turtles there until the next morning.

You can keep land turtles outdoors all year round providing that the ground is loosened to a depth of about two feet so that they can dig in when they want to hibernate.

During this time the turtle or tortoise will eat nothing. Normally you can feed him on chopped meat and fish in small quantities twice a week with a drop of cod liver oil added. The cod liver oil conditions the animals. They also like lettuce and dandelions.

If you do keep one of these small animals indoors for a while remember that he needs both light and air; don't hide him away in some dark corner. For living quarters you can use a big tank with earth and small stones in the bottom and a pan of water for drinking or swimming.

This is a weekly column from the Montreal CSPCA. If you have any questions on animal care, address them to CSPCA, 5125 Jean Talon W., Montreal.

Town plan for Hawkesbury

The first draft of an official plan of the Hawkesbury area was presented at a special meeting of the Hawkesbury Town Council last Tuesday night.

Town planner G. R. Bousfield said that, from the trend in the last few years, the population of Hawkesbury will rise from the present 9,000 mark to 13,000 by 1985.

BOUNDARY

The present Canada-United States boundary from the Atlantic to the Lake of the Woods, on the Ontario-Manitoba line, was mainly fixed by the Treaty of Paris, signed in 1763.

Of Many Things

ON THE BALL

One would have to be dull or extremely pessimistic not to realize that Canada is on the ball these days, and this country is moving ahead very fast.

Our transportation system has practically re-made itself in the past five years, and passenger service is the best in history at the lowest fares in history, on both our railways.

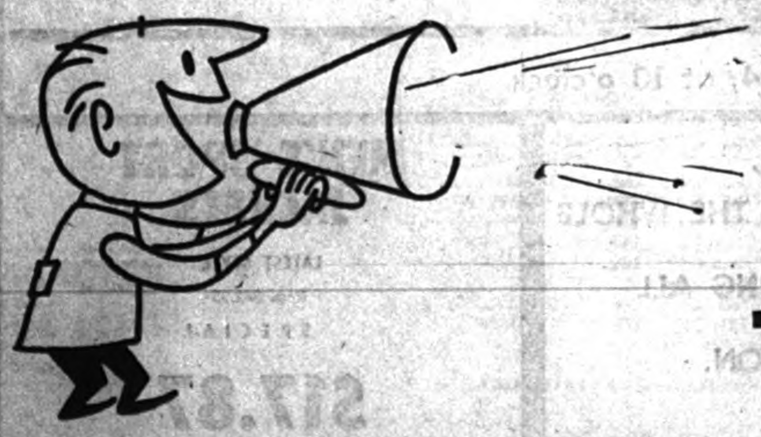

Our Canadian manufacturers have been forging a place for their products in world markets, despite all the handicaps of a small and scattered domestic market. A share of credit for this trade expansion must go to sensible Canadian labor unions, as well as to investors and management. Government, too, has attempted to give manufacturers encouragement, although it has moved far too slowly in this area. . . more talk than actual incentive.

Canadian farmers are on the ball. There have been changes in farm organization leadership that have been all to the good. We hear more about production methods these days, and not quite so much emphasis on what Ottawa will do. There was a time when altogether too much reliance was placed on the politicians. Farmers, like other industries, can only pray that governments won't hurt them; it is fruitless to hope for too much help from governments. Canadian farmers are the best in the world, together with their American neighbors, and the North American continent can continue to provide the best grain at the lowest prices for all the peoples of the world.

Where Canada falls behind, I think, is in the service trades. . . . but even here there is an improvement. A garage actually did a first-rate job of repairing my car the other day, and I didn't have to take it back to be done over again! This was a refreshing experience indeed.

In my opinion, much of the credit for Canadian go-ahead belongs to the teachers in our high schools. I believe they have succeeded, recently, in drilling into every student that we live in a world where you must be competent to survive. Sloppy work can't be tolerated in an age when men soar through space. The students are listening, and they're now "on the ball."

Students, parents from County schools heard speakers at Career conference

On Friday evening of last week, the Argenteuil County schools held a "Career Conference" in the auditorium of Lachute High School.

Between 400 and 450 students and parents from Arundel, Brownsburg, Grenville, Harrington, Lachute and Morin Heights gathered to hear Dr. Reginald Edwards, Chairman of Graduate Studies and Research in Education, McGill University, speak about "Planning For Your Future Career".

Following the opening address, 16 Career consultants representing 12 career fields spoke in three sessions of 40 minutes duration. The careers included Armed Services, Financial (Accounting and Banking), Forestry and Agriculture, Nursing, Apprenticeship, Trade and Technical Schools and Occupations, Engineering, Medicine, Teaching, Insurance, Physiotherapy and Occupational Therapy, Sales, and Secretarial.

The career talks were followed by a dance in the High School auditorium, featuring the Vibratones orchestra.

A special vote of thanks is due to — the Brownsburg - Lachute Rotary Club, for sponsoring the conference; Dr. Edwards of McGill University, for addressing the conference; Lt. Poirier, Mr. Dudley Boal, the Bank of Montreal, Mr. Mansiel Wilson, Miss Florence MacKenzie, Mr. Reg Bell, Mr. Louis Sontra, Mr. G. B. Noble, Mr. L. G. Desrochers, Mr. B. A. T. Watson, Dr. John C. MacKimmie, Mr. Richard Whitwell, Mr. Stewart Jones, Miss Field, Mr. John Hamilton, and Miss Barbara Lax — the consultants; also the teachers from Brownsburg, Grenville and Lachute High Schools who acted as chairmen of the sessions; and the Brownsburg and Lachute Home and School Associations for serving refreshments to the consultants and chairmen.

Year's activities reported by Arundel Tree Farm Committee

Arundel — The Tree Farm Committee and Student Council have presented their fourth annual report of activities, giving highlights of the year's operation from November 1, 1962, to November 1, 1963. Following is a digest of the report:

Reforestation

"Efforts to complete the tree planting program were continued; the total planting for three years has reached 30,000.

Improvement Cutting

"Saturday work parties accomplished some selective cutting in the Rouge River area. From this effort we managed $100 in pulp, $76.50 in logs and $27 in cedar rails and posts. The harvesting of defective and overcrowded stems along with mature trees will enhance the value of this area.

Sugar Bush

"A slightly better than average year for sugaring was experienced, with 102 gallons of syrup produced. The traditional sugar party was held and the financial returns were rewarding. Sale of syrup was made to such distant places as Vancouver, the prairies, England and Scotland. The demand exceeded the supply. A visiting Scout group was entertained, from Ste. Agathe.

"It was necessary to replace all the main lines in the bush by a new type of plastic. The replacement cost was carried by the Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing Company. Appreciation is due to the "Mapleflo" people for their generosity and continued interest in the school.

Teaching

"Efforts to use the Tree Farm as a field laboratory continued. Field trips were undertaken by Grades I to V. Classroom preparation preceded the trips. Mr. Jaap Salm, Superintendent of the C.I.P. Harrington Tree Farm, conducted the trips and assisted the teachers.

"During the winter months the students shared in the experimental television series, 'Focus on Forestry', with discussion periods at the conclusion of each topic.

"At the present time the school is engaged in developing a project known as 'The Arundel Story' in co-operation with the MacLennan Travelling library.

"As a result of our interest in the outdoors, it is expected that a meteorological station will be located at the school. Equipment will be provided by the Quebec Government. Grade VIII and IX students will be trained to read instruments and make reports.

Public Relations

"In co-operation with the Rouge Valley Association and the Ottawa Valley Fire Protection Association, the School Tree Farm played host to a group of visitors. A luncheon was tendered at the Golf Club by Terry Machinery Company. Unfortunate weather cancelled the fire fighting demonstration, but trees were planted in spite of the rain.

Conservation Centre

"A cheque for $3,000 was presented by the Department of Youth for the purpose of constructing a proposed Conservation Centre. With the Student funds and the grant, it was decided to call for tenders, but the prices quoted were too high for our limited budget. However, early in the summer the Rouge Valley Association and the engineers responsible for the A.R.D.A. survey in the Rouge Valley recommended that the idea of the Centre be expanded to include some type of instructional centre to be used by all schools in the Valley. . . It is believed a report was made to the provincial government, and the Committee is awaiting the results."

The report is signed by Melvin A. Graham, chairman of the Tree Farm Committee.

Sequel to Mt. Maple killing —

17-Year sentence on 'manslaughter' charge

After entering a plea of guilty to manslaughter, Malcolm Arnold MacGregor, held in the slaying of William "Bill" Gunn just two years ago, received a sentence on Monday to 17 years in prison.

MacGregor, a former commercial co-pilot, was originally charged with murder. The Crown, represented by Roger Lagarde, QC, of Lachute, accepted the plea to a lesser charge (manslaughter) on authority of the Attorney General's Department at Quebec.

The sentence of 17 years is effective from November 18; MacGregor has been held in jail since his arrest by Ontario police two years ago, after the tragic death of Bill Gunn of Lachute, while cutting wood at a bushlot in Mount Maple on November 20, 1961.

MacGregor had been living in a summer cottage near there for several days prior to the shooting. The death weapon was a .22 calibre rifle.

Although no known motive was established for the shooting, police reported that $10 was missing from the victim's pocket when his body was found.

On his arrest, MacGregor was held criminally responsible at a coroner's inquest here, after the hearing of several witnesses.

His first trial was abruptly halted last January — declared a mistrial. Again this year, before the Criminal Assizes at St. Jerome, he faced trial and a guilty verdict was confirmed by the jury. Justice Maurice Archambault, of the Superior Court, presided and Fred Kaufman of Montreal was the defending counsel.

The sole word MacGregor said during the proceedings was "Guilty," and he showed no emotion as the judge imposed the long term.

Hunter killed at Huberdeau

Roger Lavoie, a 30-year-old Montrealer, was instantly killed while hunting near Huberdeau, in the northern part of Argenteuil County, around four p.m. last Saturday.

The victim was standing near a car with a companion, André Martin, also of Montreal, when a third friend chased a deer out to the men. Martin raised his gun to fire at the animal and it discharged accidentally, the bullet hitting Lavoie in the chest.

No date for a coroner's inquest has been set.

(Comments on the Local Scene)

The term "puisne" judge applied to our newly-appointed Justice of the Superior Court, Fernand Legault, does not mean "junior", as implied in the report last week. (Our apologies to His Honor if this inferred any lesser prestige.) Following a little research, which time did not permit last week, we understand all judges of the Superior Court with exception of the Chief Justice are termed "puisne", for which there is no literal translation.

TOPIC, "SUBJECT PROMOTION" —

Educationist, formerly of Lachute, to moderate H & S panel discussion

Mr. Gordon L. Drysdale will be the mederator of a panel discussion on Subject Promotion, the theme of the next meeting of Lachute and District Home and School Association, to be held Wednesday, November 27, at 8.15 p.m. in the Music Room of Lachute High School.

Mr. Drysdale is well known and remembered by many people in Lachute. He was born here, received his elementary and secondary school education at Lachute Academy, and had his first teaching experience in Lachute.

After attending Macdonald College for teacher training, then teaching at Lachute, Mr. Drysdale moved to the Pointe Claire and Beaconsfield Board, and taught at Valois and Pointe Claire.

Mr. Drysdale joined the McGill C.O.T.C. in September 1939 and enlisted in September 1940. He was assigned to McGill as a training instructor, and in early 1942 went overseas. He became a member of the 14th Army Tank Battalion (Calgary Regiment) and was captured in the Dieppe Raid of August 19, 1942. He was a prisoner of war in Germany until the end of hostilities.

After his return to Canada he was employed in army personnel work and then re-entered Queen's University. Upon graduation in 1947 with a B.A., Mr. Drysdale was engaged by the Protestant School Board of Greater Montreal. He taught at William Dawson and West Hill High Schools until his appointment as vice-principal of Mount Royal High School in 1952. He became principal of this school in 1956.

An experiment in "Subject Promotion" went into effect at Mount Royal and Rosemount High Schools in September 1960. Mr. Drysdale has been an administrator in this system since its commencement in the Montreal area.

The panelists who will discuss the pros and cons of Subject Promotion will be — Mr. Fred Foyal, principal, and Mr. R. Bailly, mathematics teacher in the High School, and two parents of Grade XI pupils. This meeting should be of interest to all parents, as Subject Promotion will affect all students sooner or later.

'Do it now' campaigner is after-dinner speaker

In co-operation with the National Employment Service, the Lachute Chamber of Commerce held a supper last Thursday with a special speaker to promote employment in the winter season. The speaker was André Racine, co-ordinator of the employment campaign, and chairman was the Chamber president, Maurice Lussier. There were almost 100 citizens in attendance, members of the Chamber of Commerce, mayors from the County municipalities, employers and contractors of the district.

Tracing the need and origin of the campaign, Mr. Racine stated this was a matter of direct concern to manufacturers, contractors, property owners, dealers in materials — as well as municipal administrators.

"The government," he stated, "is doing its part by offering to defray a major part of the labor costs — 50 per cent by the federal and 40 per cent by the provincial government. Works eligible for this assistance must serve a prime purpose of creating employment; it does not apply to the building of schools, hospitals, subways and certain other exceptions. However, most municipalities which have works to be promoted, can take advantage of this aid."

The speaker also elaborated on the $500 federal grant for residential building undertaken in the winter months; and the NES program for placement of older workers, in conjunction with the Quebec Department of Municipal Affairs and the Department of Labor at Ottawa.

Mr. Racine was introduced by the National Employment manager here, Jos. Santini, and was thanked by Notary Simon Valois. Others at the head-table were Messrs. Bertrand L'Heureux, Clément Legault and J.-Roger Lamarche.

Modernist of note in exhibition at Centre d'Art

Lise Gervais, whose works are seen in the current exhibition at the Centre d'Art, 360 Main Street, is revealed as an impressive exponent of the modern style — the vividness of color, the expansive composition and bold technique which are synonymous with today's architectural and decorative trend.

She is a woman painter — despite the courage, the virile spirit of joy and adventure which pervade her work, and for these qualities she has won acclaim both at home and abroad.

Two of the canvases presently displayed were among the French-Canada exhibition in Italy last summer. Another received honorable mention at the Montreal Spring Exhibition at the Museum of Fine Arts in 1962. In two examples of gouache, Lise Gervais reveals the feminine touch; while in an example of portrait engraving, she shows that modern, abstract art demands a knowledgeable background.

The exhibition, by co-operation of the Galerie du Siècle (formerly the Denyse Delrue) opened on Sunday and will be on public view until December 1. Art lovers will appreciate this attraction presented at the Centre d'Art.

Week's Epigram

B'burg - Lachute has team in hockey league

Action in the Laurentian Intermediate "A" League for Lachute district will open tonight (Thursday) with an engagement between Ste. Therese and the (Lachute-Brownsburg) Molson Maroons, at Brownsburg Arena.

Clubs in this league besides these two teams are Pont Viau, Oka, Laval des Rapides, Crabtree Mills and Chomedey.

Officers of the local club are — "Buzz" MacRae, president; Jacques Brasseur, vice-president; Jacques Paul, manager; Bill Brown and Jeff Desjardins, directors; Peter Brewer and Mozart Desforges, coach and trainer.

Driver charged after leaving trail of damage

A young resident of the Dunany area was charged with hit-run Tuesday afternoon in St. Jerome court, following a series of accidents early Monday evening, investigated by Cst. Real Arcouette of the Lachute Police Department. Estimated $1,000 damages resulted from the mishaps.

The escapade started at 8.05 p.m. when the booth at Veteran's Taxi stand was struck, knocking taxi operator A. E. Blute off his chair. The car pulled across the street and, according to police, struck the building again, pulling up the lane to Berry Street, where it struck the fire hydrant and a truck owned by Lachute Tire Service. Pulling out onto Berry Street, and from there onto Bethany, the car did severe damage to the C.P.R. crossing signs. The auto then turned onto Lafleur Street, severed a telephone pole and, swerving out of control, came to a stop 142 feet off the street next to the cattle loading ramp on the C.P.R. property.

The occupants of the car were taken to the Argenteuil Hospital for treatment. They were picked up by municipal police on their release from hospital Tuesday morning, and following questioning, charges were laid against the driver of the vehicle.

Youth's approach to youth; 'Fellowship Week-end' held

With the blessing and approval of the local clergy, a youth group from Montreal visited the churches of three Protestant denominations here last week-end, holding rallies, preaching, and taking active part in the services.

In a gesture to share their enthusiasm with this community, an interdenominational group of 18 young Christians visited the United, Anglican and Presbyterian churches in Lachute and Brownsburg, at regular services, afternoon and evening gatherings. The group comprised university students in Theology, Arts and Sciences, a doctor and his wife, nurses, and young business folk. Mentor and organizer of the visit was the Rev. Ross Prendergast, a dynamic young Anglican clergyman whose duties include the chaplaincy of the Port of Montreal. His young charges imparted a down-to-earth doctrine, with special approach to youth and the indecision of adolescent years. Their enthusiasm was infectious, and many local families whom they visited entered into the spirit of their campaign and enjoyed participating.

The visitors were entertained at various homes, and before their departure for the city Sunday evening, enjoyed refreshments in the hall of St. Simeon's Anglican Church, prepared by ladies of the congregation.

Patrol car sandwiched at Barron's Bridge

An estimated $800 damage resulted to Lachute's police car over the week-end when it was struck by another vehicle on Barron's Bridge. The car was driven by Cst. Claude Descoeurs, who, seeing a car approaching at a high rate of speed, stopped the police vehicle in an attempt to avoid an accident. The oncoming car, driven by Terry Legg, of Montreal, left 57 feet of skid-marks before striking the guard rail, upon which it slid 37 feet, then careening 30 feet across the bridge into the parked police vehicle. This was pushed into the side of the bridge, damaging both sides of the car.

Q.P.P. Officer Gilles Lavigne, who was called to investigate the mishap, stated the police car had left a clearance of 12 feet for the other car to pass. No charges were laid in the mishap.

Accident verdict in death after hotel fracas

A five-man coroner's jury last Thursday evening ruled the death of Jean-Paul Legault, 21, of Hawkesbury, as accidental, following testimony of nine witnesses. Legault died at his home on Sunday afternoon, November 9, following a fight in a Grenville hotel.

The inquest, under the direction of joint district coroner Dr. J. C. MacKimmie, got underway at seven p.m., and nine of the 13 witnesses in attendance testified. The crown was represented by Roger Lagarde, Q.C.

The jury rendered the "accidental death" verdict after five minutes deliberation, and Ronald Mallette, 33, also of Hawkesbury, who had been held as a material witness, was released by Coroner Dr. MacKimmie.

The incident was investigated by Q.P.P. officer Sam Kille.

Clydesdales win successes at Toronto Royal

In the Clydesdale horse judging at Toronto Royal Winter Fair last week, several entries from local stables took high awards. The following are noted:

Glenburnie Laddie's Boy, a Clydesdale bred and raised by Irving Cleland of this community, won first prize in the year-old stallion class.

In the three-year and over Canadian purebred mare class, Diana Lee Surmont won fifth prize; this mare is also owned by Irving Cleland.

Junior Heatlie's foal placed second in the purebred foal class.

Two local boys, Bobby, 8, and John, 12, sons of Mr. and Mrs. John Heatlie, were among the winners in a new class at the Toronto Royal, the Junior Showmanship class.

Speaker heard at Rotary Club

At the last regular meeting of the Brownsburg - Lachute Rotary, the club was host to Mr. Jean Poupart, Director of St. Mary's Hospital, Montreal. The speaker's topic, "Making Bigness Human", was directed at many of the large government departments and big business establishments.

His "club", consisting of himself and his confrere, are attempting to solicit other members who feel that big business takes advantage of individuals. He cited the government Income Tax department, and the medical profession with their high fees — in which examples, because of their size, we would rather forget an incident instead of fighting for our rights. Mr. Poupart suggested a few rules using psychology to obtain effective results when dealing with these establishments. He summarized his address by pointing out that we are paying for Public Service and they should, therefore, serve the Public.

Mr. Poupart was thanked on behalf of the club by Reverend John Leggitt.

By BOB ATCHISON

Talking with a group of our "better" sportsmen the other night, we discussed the situation of our lessening game, and just what could be done about it. All agreed that something was imperative — but just what should be done? It's really a terrific problem. One point brought out was that the Wardens seem to have no authority to be very effective. It is funny, in my opinion, to have men working so hard at a dirty job, and when they make a case, then have it thrown out of court for some reason or other. I would like to be able to say there is no interference put in the way of the Wardens, but unfortunately this is not so.

One thing that gets most sportsmen hot under the collar, is to have some person from outside the County come in and break every game law in the book, and still be able to get away with it. In my opinion the fines levied for infractions are much too easy. Make them heavier so that they will hurt — give the Wardens a free hand — then wait and see what happens. This shouldn't take very long either.

From all appearances the deer kill in this County has been poor. There may be a lot of reasons for this, but the biggest one would seem to be their scarcity. We know the government stated there were plenty of deer around, and this included our County. Many of us are beginning to wonder. We have seen plenty of them on the tops of cars, but in most cases these were from outside the County, even though they may have been checked in these parts. This would naturally look good in the reports, but it is inaccurate, and most of us know it. With so many hunters hitting this area, we will be shot out in very short order. On top of this are the "meat hunters", and they are very evident in these parts. Some queer stories are floating around about some of these cases. The Arundel district appears to be infested with this type. In one case I was told of nine deer hides found in a ditch, all fresh. It was not a group of sportsmen who did this. I'll bet there is plenty of cut-up deer to be found in the area. The same thing applies in our own district too. The dogs that have been running the woods are not just strays — they are being run for the purpose of deer; and a couple of culprits, I understand, are in a tough spot right now.

Unless we as sportsmen realize that we can, and must, do something for our resources — and do that fast — we are going to be in a very bad way in the near future. Maybe a closed season will help; this would have to be determined, but it sounds like an excellent idea to me. One thing I would like to see, is a moratorium on killing of does and fawns. Of course, one could expect plenty of arguments from the governments on this — the old gag about threatened starvation, for example. This could be, but for a couple of years we could support unlimited deer in this area. To me the shooting of these does and fawns is tragic. Seeing some of our mighty hunters with these trophies, is a poor recommendation on our standard of civilization. Driving or stalking a DANGEROUS fawn of about 60 lbs. is not my idea of sportsmanship. What makes it worse, is these great hunters exhibiting their deer on the top of the car, and telling the great skill required to trap this killer!

We had another human shooting, as you doubtless read in the news. Fortunately there was no fatality. A youngster out after deer mistook a man's hand for the tail of a deer; he fired, and hit. It was no case of lack of education in the handling of firearms either, this I personally know. I think the facts are that a youngster is still a youngster, and no matter what is taught to him, sooner or later it's forgotten. It could have been tragic, according to the authorities, but I still disagree with the "accident" category. It seems the safety theme must be hammered in unceasingly, until it's not forgotten.

A moose was shot around the Silver Lake district last week-end. Information is scarce on this, but I learned through certain sources that our Wardens are not handling this case. It appears an officer, from St. Joseph du Lac is the big noise. Why this should be, I don't know. Does the Department think our Wardens are not competent, or is it another case of politics? Regardless of the reasons though, this happened in our County, so why not use our Wardens? Any answers?

A few ducks are showing up, to gladden the hearts of these hardy hunters. I don't think the shooting will be too good for a while though. With a great number of fields flooded, these water birds are just floating around in them; it looks just like spring. You don't have to worry too much about their being mown down; any hunter trying to sneak up on them is going to have a tough time — this also applies to putting out a blind. Just where do you put them, with fields and fields covered by water?.. Trying to guess just where the birds will come in, is not for me. This weather has given the ducks a real lift, not too many have been shot hereabouts, and this is all to the good. Even if we have a sudden cold snap they won't be harmed too much; the early birds have all gone, and those that remain are well able to look after themselves.

Maybe some of you saw the ad on tents last week — at a very low price. Advertised as a well known brand-name type, when I looked them over not one of this brand could be seen. These were all supposed to have been sold, and the remainder were in my opinion just junk. Asking how so many of these supposed brand-names could have been sold in such a short time (the sale had only been on for about half an hour when I got there) I was told some large company had bought up the whole works first thing. This could have been true, even if it sounds strange.

I think a good number of you know the saw mill up at Hill Foot. Some stupid people had a real shoot up there last week-end. There were a good dozen holes through the roof of the mill building itself, with others in the storage sheds and barns. A small hill overlooking this property allowed the shooters to stand up and try their hands at this target... Maybe they mistook it for a deer!

I guess the fishing is all over, until the ice sets in. I tried the North River last week-end, but nary a strike. (Guess I'll have to wait until next spring for that finny log I spotted!) At least I'll have something to dream of during the snow. I guess maybe next spring I should try dynamite, or even nets, if this fails. Not breaking the law, mind you — but just to protect you people from a MAN-EATING FISH. We have plenty of protectors for man-eating game, so why not the fish!.. But seriously, catching this specimen would about top everything. Of course, it will grow; with my imagination during the winter it could put on another 50 pounds.

You winter bird feeders had better start putting out feed for the spadgers. Very shortly they are going to need it, and if you start now, you will keep them around all winter... There are numberless chickadees around, I have noticed. Walking in the bush you seem to be followed by dozens of them; and sitting down to eat a sandwich, you are sure to have at least a half-dozen scroungers. The same applies to the downy woodpecker, only they are not nearly as friendly...

The many hawks floating around overhead, seem to have cleared the mice population out in a big way too. I remember last spring we seemed to be overrun with these pests, but now they are down to a respectable number (if any number can be classed acceptable). These same hawks seemed to have taken care of a great number of starlings too.

LACHUTE 1884 CURLING CLUB

Week's Highlights

The Mixed Open Bonspiel was successfully completed on Saturday night. A large tournout was on hand to watch the keen competition and to enjoy a good evening of fellowship. The members of the Ladies' Club catered for the well attended dinner, and as usual provided a well enjoyed meal.

This bonspiel was scored by points. Each of the eight finalist teams played two games; 10 points were given for winning a game, plus 2 points for each end won, and half the difference in the game score. A Vankleek Hill team won the cup and first prizes. Art Wilson (skip), Mrs. Wilson, Harold McMahon and Mrs. McMahon scored 48 points and were very popular winners. The rest of the teams finished as follows, all winning prizes:

Lachute — Stewart Jones' team — 45 points
Brownsburg — Art Lobel's team — 32 points
Lachute — Linton Armstrong's team — 30 points.
Brownsburg — Harold Hewitt's team — 32½ points
Brownsburg — Malcolm Cairns' team — 19 points
Montebello — David Campbell's team — 17 points
Alexandria — Paul Roy's team — 12 points.

Two teams competing in the St. Sauveur men's open bonspiel gave a good account of themselves on Saturday last. A rink composed of Bill Ott (skip), Dick MacLean, Lionel Rendell and Doug MacKimmie won the consolations, while another rink of Dee Graham (skip), Don McFaul, Fred Stein and Carl Rodger were runners-up in a consolation event. Good going, boys.

This week several mixed teams from Lachute will participate in the Hawkesbury mixed bonspiel. News of how they got along will be reported next week.

Play in the local Match Committee Bonspiel got under way Monday night. This is strictly a knock-out competition and a good number of teams will battle it out with great delight.

Art Lobel and his Match Committee have mailed each member a questionnaire on the types of bonspiels to be run this year and the regulations for substitutions. Any changes they decide to make which will improve the game, give us more games, and cut out some of the beefs re substitutes, will be a boon to the Club. Make sure your questionnaire is carefully answered and turned in for their consideration.

Dates to Remember

Sat. Nov. 23 — Buffet Dinner for both clubs and their friends; a dance and social evening.

Sat. Dec. 14 — Fun Night, to be organized by the special Saturday night entertainment committee.

Good curling!

Ladies' Curling

Two challenges were played by the lady curlers, and four rinks visited outside clubs last week.

Wilson Challenge — Mrs. Bradshaw, Mrs. Graves, Mrs. Pollock and Mrs. McIndoe defeated the holders, Mrs. Rutherford, Mrs. Drew, Mrs. Cairns and Mrs. Stein.

Broomstick Challenge — Mrs. Paul, Mrs. White, Mrs. Jeffrey and Mrs. Jones defeated the holders, Mrs. Boa, Mrs. McLean, Mrs. McFaul and Mrs. L. MacKimmie.

Dudley Kerr — This is a double rink competition for junior curlers, and was played at Chantecler. Mrs. Paul, Mrs. Bradshaw, Mrs. Thorpe and Mrs. Boa; Mrs. Booth, Mrs. Butterfield, Mrs. Gordon and Mrs. R. McFaul. These two rinks won their games with a combined score of 18 to 12. Their next match will be played at Rosemere.

Laurentian Trophy — Mrs. Paul, Mrs. H. McFaul, Miss F.-A. Carriere and Mrs. Fraser played in this competition at Rosemere.

"Friendly", St. Lambert — Mrs. Bradley, Mrs. Wyse, Mrs. Heggie and Mrs. York were visitors at St. Lambert on November 13.

A Reminder — Tea on Friday, November 22.

Members of the Ram Ski Club — Leon Tessier, Noel Racine, Jess Humphries, Bill Jones, Guy Leger, Syd Siversky — in the past week-end were looking forward to this forthcoming season with zest! They spent their week-end installing underground wires at Ayers Ski Centre to accommodate the electronic timing equipment used for the races during the season.

This brings me to the reason for writing this article... Men such as these mentioned above can donate hours of their valuable time, but money is required to buy equipment and run a club such as the Ram Ski Club, for the betterment of junior skiing.

What better way to support this club than going to the forthcoming Warren Miller Movie this Saturday night at the Lachute High School. This might well be one of the most pleasurable evenings for anyone, whether or not they are skiers. I have personally seen this movie and know you would find it an evening well spent...

Visit Courchevel, Murren, Stevens Pass, Chamonix, Whiteface, St. Christoph, Zurs, Timberline Lodge, Obersdorf, Mt. Snow, Davos, Boyne Mt., Lake Placid — all magic names when skiers are around; all of them are locales in the movie, "Many Moods of Skiing."

Miller, who has travelled more than one million miles in every conceivable type of conveyance, seeking out skiing subjects around the world for his highly entertaining films, provides on sound track an interesting and informative narration for the 90-minute film, which will be in full color and will feature a complete musical background.

Such ski greats as Stein Ericksen, Guy Perillat, Othmar Schneider, Francois Bonlieu, Christian Pravda, Emile Allais, Sigi Engle and Eric Sailer, are among the hundreds of snow-pounders who performed for Miller's battery of cameras. For the first time anywhere, you see avalanche busting with the French Ski Patrol; powder snow skiing in Chamonix with Perillat and Bonlieu; skiers jumping over 450 feet at Obersdorf.

I sincerely hope everyone will make a special effort to see this movie, not only for the enjoyment they will derive, but to help out the junior skiers to whom the proceeds will go.

In addition to the movie, a fashion show with all the latest trends will be held at intermission, and door prizes valued at over $200 will be given away to holders of the lucky numbers. A booth will also be set up for information or registration into the club.

All in all, I trust everyone will make this, our first real ski event of the season, a big success.

"Export sales? We work through our local bank"

Helping to move the goods that mean so much to so many Canadians is an every-day service of the chartered banks. Manufacturers, producers and shippers increasingly use the local bank—not only to help finance the movement of goods in and out of the country but for assistance in overcoming problems of distance, currency and regulation.

Today the chartered banks are able, through their network of branches across Canada and their foreign branches, agents and representatives, to provide traders and travellers with the facilities of one of the world's largest international banking systems. This world of service is available to customers of any branch in any town or city. It provides quick business communications, speeds delivery of goods, helps Canadian companies to compete in markets everywhere.

Late Sandy Bates lived 84 years in Avoca settlement

The death of Sandy Bates occurred suddenly November 10 at his late residence, Avoca, in his 85th year.

Born at Avoca on October 4, 1879, he was the youngest son of the late John Bates and his wife, Sarah Jane Mooney. He spent his entire life in this community, where he farmed except for a few years in his early married life, when he worked as operator at Table Falls power plant for the Ross Electric Company.

On October 20, 1953, he was presented with an honorary membership in L.O.L. No. 721, Avoca, in recognition of 50 years of faithful and devoted service.

Funeral services were held from the chapel of the New Grenville Funeral Home on Wednesday, November 13, with the Rev. H. W. Hill officiating. Acting pall-bearers were his grandsons, Mark Bates, Jack Bates, Kenneth Bates, Bob Dobbie, Bates Campbell and Evan Bates. Honorary pall-bearers were Messrs. Victor Johnson, Tom Kelly, Charlie Mitchell and Duncan Angus.

The late Mr. Bates is survived by his wife, the former Mary Arthurs; one sister, Mrs. Agnes Ross; three sons and four daughters — Fay (Mrs. John Dobbie), of Avoca, Hazel (Mrs. Ken MacLean), of Port Colborne, Ont., Ethel (Mrs. Hugh Bates), of Avoca, Maud (Mrs. Alvin Campbell), of Lachute, John, of Harrington, Alex, of Niagara Falls, Ont., and Charlie, of Avoca; also 35 grandchildren and 13 great-grandchildren.

Interment was made in the family plot at Avoca cemetery.

Former resident, related here, died in Port Arthur

The late Mrs. Thomas Nicoll

Afflicted with heart trouble for some years, Mrs. Thos. Nicoll, of Port Arthur, passed peacefully away on Thursday, November 14.

She was the former Annie Bertha Louisa Muir, a daughter of the late Richard and Annie Muir of Upper Lachute. Born January 29, 1890, she spent her early childhood here, and was married December 30, 1910, to Mr. Thos. Nicoll, also of Upper Lachute. They later moved to Port Arthur, where they have since resided.

Left to mourn her passing are her husband, two daughters, Eileen (Mrs. Norman Tollock) of Port Arthur, Jean (Mrs. W. Fisher), of Sudbury; two sisters, Jessie (Mrs. Geo. MacDonald), of Flint, Mich., Marion (Mrs. Allan MacLean), of Upper Lachute, and two brothers, Ross and George Muir, both of Lachute.

Mrs. Nicoll was an active member of the First Presbyterian Church and also belonged to the Rebecca Lodge, whose members conducted a special service.

The funeral was held at Port Arthur last Saturday, conducted by the Rev. J. Clarke Hood, assisted by the Rev. W. Cook, in the midst of many sorrowing relatives and friends. A profusion of flowers paid silent tribute of respect.

Regional meets hold interest of 'Witnesses'

Lachute residents were among the 521 attending final sessions of the Watchtower convention held last week-end at Rosemount High School. Among those from Lachute were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Purucker.

The high point of the assembly was Mr. Laurier Saumur's talk on "The Bible Triumphs in a Scientific World", on Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Saumur charged that "many people have condemned the Bible without a trial. They have rejected it as a book of mythology and contradictory error on the basis of rumor and hearsay, without having made even a rudimentary study of it."

Argued Mr. Saumur, "While the Bible does not conflict with scientific fact, it does conflict with unproved theory." In response to those who suggest that living cells created themselves through spontaneous generation, he noted, "For good reason it has been said 'the cell is as complicated as New York City'. Did New York City build itself?"

"The law of biogenesis states that life proceeds only from pre-existing life. This source of life is shown at Psalm 36:5, 9: 'O Jehovah . . . with you is the source of life!'"

Another feature of the assembly was a baptism talk, again given by Mr. Laurier Saumur, who showed that water baptism must be preceded by a thorough study of the Bible and a heartfelt dedication to serve the Creator. Nine candidates presented themselves for water immersion, held at the Kingdom Hall on Stuart Street.

Over one thousand meals were served to hungry delegates by a volunteer cafeteria staff using the school's fine facilities. Convention supervisor Edwin Shepherd expressed deep appreciation for all those who made it possible to enjoy these facilities, including members of the Montreal Protestant School Board.

Circuit Convention Here This Week-end

Local Witnesses await with anticipation their semi-annual circuit convention, which will be held at Lachute November 22-23-24. This convention will have delegates, not only from Lachute, but also from Hull, St. Jerome, Buckingham, Terrebonne and Montreal North. The Watch Tower Society has reserved the Masonic Temple, Brownsburg Road, for this gathering.

The coming convention will have as its theme "Feed My Little Sheep." Sessions during the three days will include Biblical discourses and demonstrations on teaching the Scriptures.

Approximately 300 persons will attend the public discourse to be delivered by Laurier Saumur, provincial director of Jehovah's Witnesses, on Sunday at 3 p.m.

Yule gifts for Cancer patients

Mrs. W. M. Cottingham, president of the Ladies Dressing Service, Canadian Cancer Society, presiding at the monthly meeting in the Court House on Tuesday, November 12, requested all members to have their Christmas gifts for the patients at the Court House on or before the next meeting, December 10. This will ensure distribution before Christmas, which is important.

Two new patients were reported in the district.

Members accepted with regret the resignation of Dr. Suzanne MacKimmie as chairman of the Educational committee. Dr. MacKimmie's assistance to the Society in this capacity will be greatly missed.

An invitation was extended to the annual meeting of the Quebec Division, Canadian Cancer Society, to be held in Quebec City on November 22-23.

Death removes veteran officer of two world wars

Late Lt.-Col. Henry H. White

Death from a heart seizure came suddenly to Lt.-Col. Henry H. White, a well-known military man and citizen of this locality, while hunting last Saturday morning with a group of friends.

Mr. White was born in 1896, at Westboro, Ont., son of the late Geo. H. White and Rose Bradshaw, moving to St. Faustin and later to Calumet.

During World War I, he served overseas with the Canadian Forestry Corps from 1916 to 1918, and in 1919 was married to Miss Martha Ditchfield.

Skilled as a lumberman, Mr. White was employed by a number of important companies in Tadoussac, Calumet, Pembroke and Ottawa, where he was also connected with the Federal Department of Labor.

During the second World War, the late Mr. White served from 1940 to 1945 as Commanding Officer of the Canadian Forestry Corps in Canada, with the rank of lieutenant-colonel.

Following demobilization he and his three sons, who had also served in the Canadian forces, formed White Enterprises, which built "Whiteacres", a lodge and summer cottage resort on Lake McLeod, Harrington Township. He remained active in this business until his death.

Keenly interested in conservation, he helped found the Grenville-Harrington Fish and Game Protective Association, serving as its president for many years. . . Prior to his passing, Mr. White had always enjoyed the best of health.

He is survived by his wife, Martha Ditchfield; three sons, John, of Kilmar, Robert, of St. Lambert, and Arthur, of "Whiteacres", Calumet; three sisters, Margaret (Mrs. Stephen Arnold), of Kingston, Ont., Hazel (Mrs. Larry Jorgensen), of Three Rivers, Que., Eleanor (Mrs. Robert Whinfield), of Calumet; also nine grandchildren.

Service was conducted on Monday by the Rev. Harold Thompson, in the Desforges Funeral Home at Grenville. Interment was made in the family plot at Merivale Cemetery, Ottawa, where the graveside ceremony was taken by the Rev. George Clifford.

Pall-bearers were — Messrs. Michael White, Jerry Murphy, Thomas Fox, John Young, Irvine Pearson and Murray MacCullough.

BIRTH

DEATHS

NICOLL — At Port Arthur, Ont., on Thursday, Nov. 14, Mrs. Thomas Nicoll (Annie Muir), aged 73 years.

WHITE — Suddenly on Saturday, Nov. 16, at "Whiteacres", Calumet, Lt.-Col. Henry H. White, aged 67, beloved husband of Martha Ditchfield and father of John, Robert and Arthur. Service held Monday, Nov. 18, at the Desforges Funeral Home, Grenville; interment in Merivale Cemetery, Ottawa.

IN MEMORIAM

ANDREWS, Charlotte (née Moore), who passed away Nov. 24, 1959. — Always remembered by Stanley and Queen.

DOWNING (George) — In loving memory of a dear husband and father, who passed away on Nov. 18, 1956. Always remembered by his wife and family.

"The years are quickly passing
Though still we cannot forget,
For in the hearts that loved him,
His memory lingers yet."

GUNN (Bill) — In loving memory of a dear husband, who passed away Nov. 20, 1961. — Always remembered by his wife, Lorette.

"When days are dark and lonely
And everything goes wrong,
I seem to hear you whisper,
'Cheer up and carry on.'
Each time I look at your picture
You seem to smile and say,
'Don't grieve, I'm only sleeping,
We'll meet again some day.'
To some you may be forgotten
To others part of the past,
To us who loved and lost you
Your memory will always last."

GUNN — In remembrance of Bill, our dear stepfather, who left us suddenly Nov. 20, 1961. — Sadly missed by Ronnie and Fraser.

"He was taken without any warning,
His going left our hearts filled with pain,
And though he is gone from among us,
In our hearts he will always remain."

GUNN — In loving memory of a dear stepfather, Bill, who passed away Nov. 20, 1961. — Always remembered by Shirley, Earl, Ronnie and Eddie.

"We lost not only a father,
But a pal who was good and true,
One we could go to in trouble,
One we could talk to when blue;
And we who dearly loved him
Whose passing has brought many tears,
We'll cherish his memory always
To brighten the passing years."

GUNN (William) — In loving memory of our dear son and brother, who was taken Nov. 20, 1961. — Always remembered by Mother, Dad, brothers and sisters.

"We are thinking about you today, Bill,
But that is nothing new,
We thought about you yesterday
And the day before that, too;
To some you may be forgotten,
To others a part of the past,
But to us who loved and miss you,
Your memory forever will last. . .
The tears in our eyes will wipe away,
But the ache in our hearts will always stay."

GUNN — In fond and loving memory of a dear stepfather, "Bill", who was taken away Nov. 20, 1961. — Lovingly remembered by Doreen, Allan and children.

"Little we thought, when we woke that morning,
What sorrow the day would bring;
The shock was sudden, the blow severe,
To part with one we loved so dear;
Only those that have lost can tell —
The pain of parting without farewell."

GUNN — In fond memory of a dear brother, William "Bill" Gunn, who passed away Nov. 20, 1961. — Ever remembered by Clarence, Tiny and family.

HOLLOWAY (Morrison) — In loving memory of Jean, who passed away Nov. 21, 1954. — Always remembered by her family.

KILPATRICK — In loving memory of my dear brother, Garnet, who passed away Nov. 15, 1958. — Always remembered by Aldyth and family.

"God took him home, it was His will,
But in our hearts we miss him still."

IN MEMORIAM

MacRAE — In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Malcolm R. MacRae, who passed away Nov. 11, 1948. — Always remembered by his loving wife, Catherine, Dorothy, Russel and grandson, Reid.

"A little prayer keeps us in touch
With one we loved and miss so much."

NOBLE — In loving memory of John Noble, who died Nov. 19, 1962. — Ever remembered by the family.

"All is right that seems most wrong
If it be His sweet will."

NOBLE — In fond and loving memory of a dear father and grandfather, John Noble, who passed away Nov. 19, 1962. — Albert and Lena, Ray and Virginia.

"No length of time can take away
Our thoughts of you from day to day."

MARTIN (Charlotte) — In loving memory of a dear sister, who died Nov. 18, 1950. — Always remembered by her sisters.

"We keep in our memory a love of the past,
Deep in our hearts it was planted to last;
Down memory's lane, we walk side by side
And know in our hearts death cannot divide."

SILVERSON (William) — In loving memory of my husband, who died one year ago today, Nov. 22, 1962.

"God called him home before I knew,
I couldn't say Good-bye."

SILVERSON — In loving memory of a dear father, Wm. Silverson, who passed away Nov. 22, 1962. — Ever remembered, Edgar and Viola.

"In memory, a daily thought,
In heart, a silent sorrow."

SILVERSON — In fond and loving memory of a dear father and grandfather, Wm. Silverson, who passed away Nov. 22, 1962. — Lena and Albert, Ray and Virginia.

"Softly the leaves of memory fall, Gently we gather and treasure them all."

YOUNG — In loving memory of a dear husband and father, who left us Nov. 24, 1962. — Always remembered by his wife, Isabel, Winona and Stanley Dewar.

"There's an open gate at the end of the road
Through which each must go alone,
And there is a light we cannot see,
Our Father claims His own.
Beyond the gate our loved one
Finds happiness and rest.
And there is comfort in the thought
That a loving God knows best."

YOUNG — In loving memory of a dear father and grandfather, Isaac W. Young, who passed away Nov. 24, 1962. — Always remembered by his son, Coral, daughter-in-law, Elsie, and grandson, Grant and Gilbert.

"From hospital bed to heavenly rest,
God took you home to be His guest;
We lived in hope and prayed in vain
That you would soon be well again;
But God decided we must part,
He eased your pain, but broke our hearts;
And while you sleep a peaceful sleep
Your memory we shall always keep."

YOUNG — In loving memory of a dear father, father-in-law, and grandfather, Isaac Young, who was called home Nov. 24, 1962. — Sadly missed by Roland, Bessie, Allan, Ronnie and Blair.

"One sad and lonely year has passed
Since our great sorrow fell;
The shock that we received that day
No one can ever tell.
God gave us strength to meet it,
And courage to bear the blow,
But what it meant to lose our dear father
— Only we can know."

YOUNG — In loving memory of Dad and Grandad, Isaac Young, whom God called home Nov. 24, 1962. — Lovingly remembered by Gwen, Don and girls, Gladys, Mamie, Leonard and family.

"He wished none a fond farewell,
Nor even said Goodbye,
He was gone before we knew it
And only God knew why.
The golden gates were opened,
God knew he needed rest,
And so He bade him enter
Where He only takes the best."

YOUNG — In loving memory of Isaac Young, whom God called home Nov. 24, 1962. — Lovingly remembered by his grandchildren, Janice and John, Mavis and Fred, Velma and Harve, Alvin and Karen; also great-grandchildren, Mark, Jennifer and Cindy.

"If we could have the whole world,
We would give it all, and more,
To see the face of the one we loved,
Come smiling through the door."

ACKNOWLEDGMENT

BATES — We wish to extend sincere thanks to kind neighbors and friends who assisted us in our sad bereavement. We would also wish to express our thanks to those who placed beautiful floral tributes and Gideon Bibles, to the pall-bearers, those who loaned cars, the soloist and pianist, and the New Grenville Funeral Home. A special thank-you is extended to the Rev. H. W. Hill.

Church Choral Program

A "festival of gospel praise" held in the Maple Avenue Baptist Church on Saturday, November 16, was presented by the church choirs — junior and senior — under the leadership of Mr. Keith Graham. A varied program, the result of weeks of practice and training, was heard by a large and appreciative audience. Mr. Graham expressed the hope that this may be the precursor of similar festivals in the community, maybe on an inter-church or united choir basis. The undoubted success of the evening, and the measure of enjoyment and blessing it produced, give rise to the hope that the next such occasion may not be too far in the future.

Glen of Harrington

Mrs. John Lawton, accompanied by her two young sons, left by train for Vancouver, B.C., where they will make their future home. Mr. Lawton will join his family early in the New Year. They will be greatly missed by family and friends.

School Remembrance Service

The annual Armistice Day services were held by the Arundel school on Monday afternoon, November 11, with a large attendance of friends and parents. The service was opened by Donald McMahon (acting president of the Students' Council), who gave the "Call to Worship", followed by a prayer. "O Canada" was sung, and a responsive reading was led by Noel Lauren. A reading was given by Beth Owen, and a poem by Isabelle Labelle. Principal M. Graham then read the Honor Roll and a two-minute silence was observed. The school choir sang the hymn, "Judge Eternal, throned in Splendor." The address was read by Mary Bell Swail and the meeting was brought to a close with the hymn, "Rejoice, the Lord is King". . . Mrs. Melvin Graham was the pianist for the service.

The Sunday School children of the United Church are holding an afternoon tea on Saturday, November 23. All interested are cordially invited to attend.

Sudden Passing

The funeral of the late Hugh Simon was held in Montreal on Friday last. The interment took place in Arundel. It was with deep regret friends heard of this sudden death of one of our local residents, and sincere sympathy is extended to the bereaved family.

Churchwomen's Group

The U.C.W. of Arundel United Church met last Tuesday evening, Mrs. Davis presiding. The devotional exercises were taken by Mrs. Walter McMahon. It was decided to hold the next month's meeting in the afternoon, starting with a "dessert and coffee break", after which the annual reports will be read. The program was in the hands of Mrs. Melvin Graham and Mrs. Gibbons. Refreshments brought the meeting to a close, the hostesses being Mrs. Alvin Graham and Mrs. Norman Graham.

Legion Branch

The Legion attended mass in Huberdeau on Armistice Sunday. The bingo games which take place nearly every Friday evening in the Legion hall are proving very popular.

APPRECIATION

Wayne Riddell and Tudor Singers coming Dec. 4

Having won acclaim in Montreal music circles, Wayne Riddell will be presenting his Tudor Singers in a recital shortly in his home town. The group will be heard in a concert December 4 in the auditorium of Lachute High School.

With his experience and enthusiasm as a choir leader, Wayne organized and directed this group in 1962, their aim being to bring to the attention of the public the great choral masterpieces of the 16th and 17th centuries, and to foster a love of this musical literature. The contemporary music of Canadian and other composers also has a place in their repertoire.

Receiving the highest mark in the Montreal Music Festival last spring, this choir was awarded one of the three grand scholarships. Their concerts in the Redpath Hall and on St. Helen's Island last year received first-rate reviews in the Montreal papers.

Tickets are in circulation for the coming entertainment, which is pleasurably anticipated by the many who have followed Wayne Riddell's successes in the metropolis. He is presently substituting for George Little as conductor of the famed Montreal Bach Choir.

Stamp collectors to resume monthly conflabs

With the return of cooler weather the Argenteuil Stamp Club has resumed activities, meeting in the Library of the Lachute High School on the first Monday of each month. The next meeting will be Monday, December 2, at 8 p.m.

It is felt there are many interested in the hobby of Philately (stamp collecting), and the group would welcome all those who would like to join with a view to a friendly evening out, swapping and talking stamps.

Social and Personal

Miss Jean MacKimmie, of Lennoxville, accompanied by Miss Joan Savage, spent the week-end as the guest of her mother, Mrs. John MacKimmie.

Mrs. Allan MacLean, also Messrs. Ross and George Muir, were in Port Arthur last week-end attending the funeral of their sister, the late Mrs. Thos. Nicoll, which was held on Saturday, November 16.

Bereavement

Sympathy is extended to Mrs. Harold Deacon and relatives, in the loss of her brother, Gordon W. Ross, 31 years of age, whose death occurred last Friday in Montreal after a short illness.

Miss Bernice Roberts, with Mrs. A. F. Lyttleton from the Town of Mt. Royal, left by plane for New York last Monday, later proceeding to Bermuda for two weeks' vacation.

Fellowship Week-end

A group of "youth crusaders", 18 in number, were guests in the homes of Lachute and Brownsburg churchfolk last week-end — taking an active part in Sunday services and holding special youth rallies in various Protestant churches.

Master John Tilsley has returned home after spending six weeks in the Montreal Children's Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Foster Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Kennedy, and Mr. and Mrs. Grant Kennedy motored to Niagara Falls for the week-end, and attended the wedding of their niece, Miss Gloria MacRae, to Mr. Bruce Lenson.

L.O.B.A. Card Party

The military whist for November under auspices of the L.O.B.A., took place in the Orange Hall last Tuesday evening. The following were prize-winners:

First, Mr. and Mrs. S. Dewar, Mr. and Mrs. D. Dupuis.

Second, Mrs. R. Copeland, Mrs. J. MacDonald, Mrs. M. Couvrette, Mrs. W. Gain.

Novelty prize — Mrs. H. Stewart.

85th Milestone

Congratulations are extended to Mrs. William Cooke, who will celebrate her 85th birthday on Monday, November 25.

Misses Edith and Elizabeth Gotto, and Mrs. and Mrs. Maxwell Scott, of Sutton, Que., were recent guests of Miss F. M. Douglas at Cushing.

Christening Ceremony

The infant son of Cst. and Mrs. Thos. Jamieson, of Ottawa, was christened Stephen Donald at a private ceremony in the United Church last Sunday afternoon, the Rev. Harold Thompson officiating. Immediate relatives and friends were entertained afterwards at the home of Cst. Jamieson's mother, Mrs. Phil Roy and Mr. Roy.

October marriage at St. Simeon's Anglican Church

Wrong - McDonald

St. Simeon's Anglican Church in Lachute was decorated with floor standards of white mums mixed with yellow pom-poms, with white ribbons on the guest pews, for the wedding of Beverley Jean McDonald to Leonard Brian Wrong, on Saturday, October 5. The Rev. Norman Petersen, of Montreal, officiated, with the Rev. Cyrus Lang assisting.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert J. McDonald, of Lakefield, was given in marriage by her father. She wore a long-sleeved pagoda jacket of Guipure lace over a strapless floor-length gown of ivory peau-de-soie, fashioned in an "A" line. A tiara of matching lace held her shoulder-length veil of French tulle illusion, and she carried a semi-cascade bouquet of coral roses.

As matron of honor, Mrs. John Allen, the bride's sister, wore a cocktail-length dress of apricot haze poult-de-soie. She wore an open pillbox hat covered with net of matching colors, and carried a bouquet of roses... Mrs. James Walker, Miss Myrna McDonald and Miss Julie Wrong, sister of the bridegroom, as attendants, wore similar dresses and carried semi-cascade bouquets of bronze mums and white nuggets.

Mrs. McDonald, mother of the bride, was in a gown of periwinkle blue silk and wool crepe with matching hat and black accessories, and a corsage of pink roses. Mrs. Wrong, mother of the groom, chose a teal blue matelasse gown with matching hat and black accessories, and a corsage of yellow roses.

Mr. John Allen was best man. The ushers were Mr. Michael Douglas, Mr. Peter Fraelich, Town of Mount Royal, and Mr. James Walker, of Lakefield.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at Lachute Golf and Country Club. Later the couple left for a trip to the Pocono Mountains in Pennsylvania, the bride travelling in a charcoal green three-piece wool bouclé suit with matching hat and gold accessories, and a corsage of yellow roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Wrong have taken up residence in Montreal.

The Whole World is Lying in the Power of the Wicked One
— I John, 5: 19

What will you do when you are shown from the Scriptures that many popular creeds and teachings of Christendom are false? How will you react when you learn that the human soul is not immortal, that hell is not a place of fire, and that the Bible does not teach a trinity? Will you prefer to go along with the popular misconceptions, or will you stand alone for what you know to be right? Your decision involves your life.

Bible Society annual meeting —

A call to Christian responsibility

This coming Sunday evening, November 24, the annual meeting of the Lachute Branch of the Canadian Bible Society will be held in the Lachute Baptist Church, at 7.30 p.m.

The Rev. T. Dale Jones, District Secretary of the Society, will speak on this important and vital work, its accomplishments and its needs.

Two films being used for this year are "Yohan Pogum", which tells the story of a copy of the Gospel of John as it travels about in the hands of a colporteur and how it leads a family into the Christian faith... Also the film, "Crowded Ways", will be shown describing the Bible Society at work in Hong Kong and in Taiwan (Formosa) as the Holy Scriptures are taken to the teeming multitudes in these areas.

— Let us pause to think what it would mean to us, Christian friends, if there were no open Bible, and if this inspired Word of God had never been proclaimed in our land, bringing to us the knowledge of God's love and grace as revealed in the record of His Son, Jesus Christ.

Let us also remember that the blessings and advantages of our western civilization — such as education, charitable institutions, medical science, hospitals, relief of suffering and numerous other such benefits which are ours — are unknown where the Word of God has never been made known. We are also reminded by no other than our Lord Jesus Christ himself, that it is our duty to "Go into the world and preach the Gospel to every creature."

Here is one way in which we can all have a part in sending the message of the Gospel to the ends of the earth, namely, by giving the Bible Societies our support by prayers, gifts, and our presence at every meeting convened for the furthering of this great ministry, of sending the Word of God to the great peoples of all the earth in their own languages. History gives abundant proof that for millions this great Light has dispelled the darkness and they have come to know "The Light of the knowledge of the glory of God in the person of Jesus Christ" as Saviour and Lord... How truly it is written, "The entrance of Thy words giveth light."

LONG DISTANCE GIFT SERVICE

Ever think about a gift of long distance service for son John in Montreal so he could call more often, or so he could keep in closer touch with other members of the family? Well, a number of customers have not only thought about this but have come right out and asked us about it; and so, as a direct result, the Bell is starting something brand new: Long Distance Gift Service.

For no additional charge, the Company will provide a card to be sent to son John anywhere in Canada or the United States to tell him a gift amount is being credited to his telephone account for long distance service. Customers need only call our Business Office, tell us the amount of the gift they wish to make (minimum: $2.00) along with the name, address and telephone number of the recipient, and we'll handle all the details.

The new Long Distance Gift Service is expected to be especially popular for occasions such as Christmas, birthdays, anniversaries, etc., when our far-flung families want to be together but can't always make it.

ADD CONVENIENCE AND SECURITY

Almost anywhere in the house, an extension telephone is a good investment in convenience and security. In the bedroom, it can summon aid quickly during illness or other emergencies. In the kitchen or workshop, it's a great step-saver. In the den, it adds privacy to calls. When you start to mull over your Christmas list, you might give a thought to an extension telephone for someone you want to please all year round. It would be a constant reminder of you.

TELEPHONITUS

If you've got teenagers around the house, you're most likely familiar with "telephonitus" a common teen-age malady stemming from a strong desire to be sociable. We heard of another case recently. Typically, Mom or Dad almost always found the line busy with 14-year-old daughter's chatter. Deciding enough was enough, Mom took action. She placed beside the phone a pencilled sign reading, "Is this call necessary?", and hoped the message would strike home. But the next day Mom found a pencilled note beneath her message: "How can I tell until I've made it?"

Public Notice

Province of Quebec, School Municipality of the Town of Lachute for Protestants Only

PUBLIC NOTICE is hereby given to all proprietors of real estate of this municipality that the collection roll of school taxes, as established by the school commissioners of this municipality, has been made and completed, and that it is now and will remain in my possession for inspection by parties interested, during fifteen days from this notice. During such time it may be amended; any ratepayer may, during the said delay, complain of such roll, which will be taken into consideration and homologated, with or without amendment, at the meeting of the commissioners to take place on the tenth day of December, 1963, in the Lachute High School, 455 Court Street, Lachute, Que., at the hour of eight o'clock in the evening.

From such day, the collection roll will be in force and every ratepayer shall pay the amount of his taxes to the undersigned, at the office of the school board in Lachute High School; at the Bank of Nova Scotia, Lachute; or at the Bank of Montreal, Lachute, without further notice, within the twenty days following the homologation of the collection roll.

Given at Lachute, Que., this 20th day of November, 1963.

Argenteuil Hospital – the seed and fruition

TWO PAGES in this issue are devoted to the new Argenteuil Hospital. Readers who have visited this institution, and others who have not been thus privileged, will find much of interest in this illustrated story — for it is virtually the story of a community enterprise. As the director-general, Mr. Guy Allard, reminds us, it is OUR hospital, and all are seriously concerned in its future and its success.

There are many to whom the community owes special thanks for their initiative. We know them well — those without whom this project might not have materialized, perhaps for another decade, or another generation. To them, a fitting tribute is paid by Roger Lagarde, QC, chairman of the administrative board, in his contribution to these pages. But there are others still, whose campaigning pressed the need, and planted the seed, for a district hospital. That the seed lay dormant for many years, is no discredit to the energies of these predecessors.

By coincidence this week the following item turned up, in our perusal of The Watchman files of 1938. It is timely to repeat this news report, lest it be forgotten that other doctors of the past (some of them indeed still with us, and at least one active in the present organization) dreamed and agitated, in their day, for what is now the Argenteuil Hospital. Following is the extract. . .

25 Years Ago

Nov. 10, 1938 — About two years ago Dr. J. H. Mason, of Lachute, stated the case for a community hospital before an assembly of the County Council, but the idea was not looked upon with favor.

Dr. Mason visualized a County hospital, a fireproof building to accommodate 40 or 50 beds, and staff quarters, at an estimated cost of $75,000. The undertaking appeared too venturesome and the matter was dropped. . .

Physicians of this County held a meeting at Lachute Town Hall last week for further discussion of this project. . . It was felt inopportune to pursue the matter further at this time; however, the practitioners formed themselves into an organization to be known as the Argenteuil Medical Society.

Present at the meeting were Drs. A. Rodrigue, J. H. Mason, E. Christie, A. R. Côté, W. F. McMartin, F. W. FitzGerald and J. Lafleur.

A concerted "Do it now!"

THIS IS the time of year when we all begin to think of Christmas and the winter months which lie ahead. For most of us it is a period of planning — planning our Christmas presents and planning social events and other affairs which traditionally take place during the festive season — but there is another type of planning which it would be well worth while for us all to consider at this time of year.

For many years our severe winter climate has adversely affected Canada's employment situation. It has been traditional for activity to slow down and for projects to be delayed until spring. However, during the last few years it has been realized that repairs, maintenance and renovation to homes and places of business can be more conveniently done during the winter months, when men and materials are more readily available than they can be in the busy spring and summer season. But, to bring about such work and projects requires careful planning — and this is the type of planning that all Canadians can profitably consider at this time.

All across Canada, in communities large and small, active campaigns are now underway to promote employment and generally to increase economic activity during the winter months. Similar campaigns have been conducted for the past three winters. They have achieved some success — sufficient to conclusively show everyone concerned that the promotion of winter employment is worthy of the support of all Canadians.

This year efforts have been made at the national level and at the local level to extend the scope of the campaigns and intensify their activities. Chartered banks, national advertisers, national associations, provincial and municipal governments, and many business firms from coast to coast, are co-operating in every way possible to make this winter's campaign a success.

Most of us realize that seasonal unemployment has long been a costly feature of our growing and vigorous Canadian economy. The causes for this are deep-rooted, springing in part from the harshness of our climate, but also based to a considerable extent on long-standing habits or customs. The effects of unemployment in the winter are felt by almost everyone in every community, because an unemployed man or woman is usually a poor prospect for the sale of goods and services. Therefore it is to the advantage of every Canadian to participate in efforts to correct the situation.

The Federal Government has become more active in this field in recent years and there are several reasons why.

In the first place, studies carried out a few years ago in the Department of Labor revealed more clearly than perhaps was hitherto known the nature and extent of seasonal unemployment, its consequences, and the types of action which might be taken to deal with it.

Secondly, various successful attempts were made through the National Employment Service to place more people in jobs during the winter months and this opened our eyes, as it were, to the possibilities of co-ordinated action across the country.

Lastly, there was an increasing recognition of the seriousness of winter unemployment, and a conviction that something could be done about it with careful advance planning and timing of effort. Serious attempts are being made to do something about it.

One part of this program has been an effort to assist in the development of practical action within the federal government which would reduce seasonal employment swings. Another part has been an attempt to help and encourage other groups to appraise critically the seasonal unemployment problem in their own industry or community and where possible to take appropriate action to alleviate the situation.

Action within the federal government has taken a number of forms. Federal government departments have succeeded in shifting more construction work and procurement activities to the winter months. They are also planning as much interior maintenance, renovating and decorating as possible on government buildings in the winter.

However, in order that a truly national effort can be carried out this winter, the co-operation of all segments of Canada's society is necessary.

Walk it off!

FEELING TENSE and jittery? Is the job getting you down? Are the children getting on your nerves? Are you losing your zest for living? . . The Health League of Canada suggests that one simple solution to tension is to "walk it off".

In a survey conducted among 826 San Francisco physicians, the majority of doctors agreed that walking was the medicine most prescribed as a tension easer for themselves or their patients.

Of those questioned, 53 percent replied. Ninety-two percent of them recommended walking, swimming, golf or bowling, in that order. Nearly all said they had prescribed one or more of the activities for their patients. Other less-favored methods of seeking relaxation were tennis, calisthenics, and gardening.

LONG DAY'S JOURNEY INTO NIGHT

"Diary of a Vagabond"

By Dorothy Barker

SPECTACLE OF STEEL

It was a misty, foggy morning in Sydney, Nova Scotia, the day I had an appointment with L. J. Doucet, Public Relations Officer for Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation Limited, or, as known familiarly throughout the land, DOSCO. For five years my personal folk song has been the rhythmic "clickety-click" a train makes as it travels over miles of track. This dreary morning I was to learn how rails are rolled and see the spectacular process of pouring molten steel into jacks, or moulds.

Before I was to witness this fireworks-like display of sparks, billows of smoke and a vision like all hell had broken loose, Mr. Doucet briefed me on the company's operations and the processes that take place before steel becomes rails, nails or other items manufactured by this company.

I think Larry Doucet's simplification of the process of making steel is a good one for the average person. Just as any housewife cannot make a successful cake without the proper supplies, so steel that is worthy of the company's trademark cannot be brewed without the right ingredients. These are essentially iron ore, limestone, coal and consummate skill with a few bundles of old newspapers thrown in as the mixture leaves the open hearth in a red hot stream into the pouring ladle.

But I am away ahead of myself. My first visit was to the coke ovens. Just as we arrived a bell rang and one of the ovens opened spewing its load into a contraption that carried it along to an enclosure where water in great quantities was poured over the red hot mass, billowing smoke and steam skyward. I tried to listen to all the professional terms Mr. Doucet was patiently using in explaining to me this important part of steel making but my eyes were fascinated by the reflection on the lowering sky and puffs of steam. It was an animated bluish pink and one of the most beautiful sights I have ever seen.

My tour of the plant was not entirely in the sequence of steel manufacture. Afterwards I learned why. For ten minutes in the blooming mill I watched in fascination while two sturdy workmen mechanically bounced around tons of red, hot ingots (2000 degrees F.) until they were reduced and ready to be rolled into rails. The noise was dinning on the eardrums but I counted myself fortunate to be experiencing these processes first hand which have been called, "a pace setter in the development of the development of modern technologies that befits Dosco's history as the country's first maker of steel".

While Mr. Doucet made a few telephone calls in his office and I was boning up on Dosco's history and noting that the story of this company is the "marriage of Canadian materials and Canadian ingenuity to create Canadian products of unsurpassed quality" the master steel maker notified Mr. Doucet that they were about to pour. I didn't realize until after the exciting operation was all over that I was a particularly lucky person. Though there are regular tours of the plant, few see this happen because only the steel master knows when he is going to allow a long iron rod to tap an oven.

Ingenious Inventor

For generations, producers of rails the world over worried about quality because of difficulty in cooling them properly. Then one dramatic day Dosco's chief metallurgist, I. C. Mackie, announced the details of a new cooling process that relieves the rails of internal stress while cooling. An elderly gentleman now, he has the reward of realizing railmakers everywhere on this continent use the Sydney-developed Mackie Retarded Cooling Process, which spells safety for travellers and freight alike — clickety-click, clickety-click.

SUGAR and SPICE

By Bill Smiley

I think you'll agree that we all have problems. If you don't you're either dead or rich, and in either case have no business reading this column.

Wouldn't it be grand if we voters could solve our problems as easily as the government does?

When an ordinary person has a problem—too many bills, Mother hitting the bottle, children getting lippy, storm windows not on yet—he has to do something about it, either positively or negatively.

That is, he finds a solution to the problem or he doesn't. He stops paying his bills, tries to get Mom off the bottle and onto the bingo games, gives the kids a belt on the ear, and talks his neighbor into helping him put on the storms.

Or, if he's another type, he pulls his head into his shoulders and hopes. He hopes that he'll win a sweepstake, that Mother will join AA, that the kids will stop bullying him, and that it'll be a mild winter.

Either way, he has to make a decision—whether to act or hope. Not so the government. Municipal, provincial or federal, it has a much neater way out of dilemmas. It appoints a body to look into the matter. And in this case, body and corpse are often synonymous.

Ask a municipal council for new street lights, adequate sewage disposal, or patches for the potholes. It listens politely, and promises to "refer the matter to the proper committee". Six months later, when your fine fire of indignation has fizzled out, the council announces that the request would cost too much.

Ask a provincial government for more booze outlets, for bigger highways and smaller schools, and it immediately appoints a commission. After studying the matter for two years, the commission announces that, having weighed all the factors, it has decided that the best solution is an increase in the sales tax.

Ask a federal government to do something about unemployment, segregation or culture and it appoints a Royal Commission. This sounds more imposing than the town council's "committee," but serves the same function.

After four years of intensive study by the top men in the land, the commission states, in a 784-page brief, that unemployment is bad, or that segregation is silly, or that culture is good.

You think I'm exaggerating? Tell me, then, why the Government recently appointed the Royal Commission on Bilingualism and Biculturalism. Because it didn't know what to do about all the fuss the people of Quebec have been making? You're right.

I wish the commission nothing but the best. But I am certain that its public hearings will do more to increase French-English irritations than lessen them. And I am equally certain that its findings will be as stimulating as a tapioca pudding.

After all, everyone agrees that Canada has no culture at all. And here we have a commission to investigate two cultures!

And anyone in his right mind knows this country is not bilingual, despite all the night school classes filled with people madly "taking" conversational French. But never mind, we have a commission to look into the matter, so all is in safe hands.

However, all this is none of my business. I'd love to be bilingual and bicultural, but I aint neither. And I daresay you aint neither, neither.

All I wanted to say here was that I find this commission idea fascinating. It's the solution to every problem that promises to be awkward.

Jack, next time your wife says she simply must have new drapes to match the new rug that she had to buy to match the new chesterfield, just cool her with, "I've appointed a commission to look into it."

Can Canada Survive?

By RAY ARGYLE

There is now serious doubt whether there is any longer any real justification for Canada's existence as a nation.

R. Argyle

The sores already laid bare by the Royal Commission on Bilingualism and Biculturalism, if allowed to fester any further, could pollute Canada's body politic beyond hope of recovery.

In the submissions made so far to the Dunton-Laurendeau commission, not a single brief has faced up to the essential problem that this country must ultimately face — national survival.

Quebec's St. Jean Baptiste Society, for example, threatened to boycott the commission if it dealt with the broad question of relations between all of Canada's ethnic groups. Keep the inquiry to the single issue of French English relations, the society warned.

Minority ethnic groups, ranging from native Indian to Jewish and Ukrainian, rose to warn they would claim their rights in a multi-cultural society. The phrase "two founding nations" brought special ire from these blocs.

Nowhere was there a voice calling for the strengthening of Canada as a national entity—except on terms designed to promote each ethnic group's own interests.

Eight million of Canada's people are of British origin. Six million have French origins, while the other five million have origins neither British nor French.

French Canadians can be forgiven, to an extent, for their insistence on a new deal in this country because it is obvious that English Canada has historically short-changed its partner in Confederation.

It must be realized that Canada came into being as a result of a solemn pact between English and French-speaking elements that both cultures and languages would have equality in the nation.

This did not mean that every individual Canadian would be bilingual. It meant, instead, that every Canadian would have the opportunity to achieve a full life in either of the two cultures.

This has simply not worked out for the French-Canadian. Partly due to the backwardness of his own society (as most French-Canadians now realize) but also due to the resistence of English Canada, the French half of the nation has been subjugated by the other.

Now that Canada's French community has broken out of its barrier of silence, the country's minority ethnic groups have been led to question the sanctity of the English-French relationship.

Motivated perhaps by fear of being overwhelmed in a two-culture society, they seem to be saying: "If the French can demand equality, then we should, too."

What the ethnic groups overlook is that French and English have these special rights only because of their partnership in the founding of Canada.

When they grasp this, the ethnic minorities will then realize that French Canada is actually fighting their battle, too—a battle for equal treatment for all, regardless of national background.

In the United States, which is basically a one-culture society, all immigrant groups have merged through the melting pot process into an American society. This is a historical process which is unique in the world.

Canada has resisted the melting pot process. Faced with the inescapable fact of a two-culture origin, the melting pot is obviously not acceptable here.

Whatever other formula is to be worked out, however, will have to recognize that national survival must come first. Without this, the country will not survive and will indeed have no right to survive.

Argenteuil Hospital

Message from Director-General

The first objective of the Argenteuil Hospital is to provide the best possible care for sick people — exclusive of chronic and convalescent cases. Whether rich or poor, Protestant or Catholic, French or English speaking, every human being suffering temporary physical impairment or illness, is considered, in fact and principle, a guest of the hospital.

On admittance of the patient, the physician, the trained nurse, the nurse's aid, the baby-nurse, the orderly, the floor-maid, the technician, the cook, the laundryman, the janitor and the office assistants, all must essentially function for the welfare of this patient, with the aim that he shall resume, with the least delay and in fit condition, his normal place in society.

This definition of purpose sets us apart from the average enterprises of our community. Our product is not a material manufacture; our product is a human being with a body and soul, created by God in His own image. In our hospital, the human factor prevails. Our staff is human — let neither the staff nor the patient forget it. From this fact develops that atmosphere of understanding, collaboration and co-operation which must motivate each and every one within this hospital, every minute of the day or night.

It is a serious undertaking. Happily, our Administrative Council comprises a dozen devotees who — with the personal qualities of their business or profession, and with zeal for the task entrusted to them — give freely of their time and knowledge for this big community adventure. Truly, I know many hospitals whose Director-General would be proud to have the backing of such a civic-spirited group.

Likewise the Medical Board of this hospital. . . In their everyday procedures, and in their regular semi-monthly assemblies, their collective skill and knowledge centres on the good repute of this hospital. And their efforts are bringing this institution, slowly but surely, to the highest realization of our official accreditation.

In order to establish an effective liaison between the Director-General and the Medical Board, this body recommended to the Administrative Council that Dr. Roger Lavigne be appointed medical director of the Argenteuil Hospital.

The function of the medical director is to plan, organize, direct, co-ordinate and control all medical aspects of the institution according to objectives laid down by the Administrative Council and the Medical Board. In fulfilling these objectives he applies standards set by the Accreditation of Canadian Hospitals, rules and regulations of the College of Physicians and Surgeons, and of the Province of Quebec Pharmacists, and must also conform with the requirements of the Quebec Hospitals Act.

Aided by the medical director, Dr. Lavigne, the Director-General also has the valuable co-operation of the nursing supervisor, Yolande Duquette, R.N., who, at the time of writing, is taking a specialized course in nursing administration. All her nursing staff has specific directives on new techniques and psychological attitudes in relation to our patients. The training of our nursing staff is proceeding, in such manner that we expect to attain enviable standards before long.

Our accountant, Jacques Poitras, with young ladies on his office staff, is collaborating efficiently with the Director-General of the hospital.

The chief maintenance engineer, Romeo Desormiers, who had an active part in the building of the hospital, has a keen eye to cleanliness and sanitation, and sees to the perfect functioning of our mechanical services, which are extremely complex, I may say.

Another important operative is our chef, Gaston Elcus, who personally supervises the providing of meals for our patients, with consideration for their tastes, their appetites, and medical orders.

Chief laundryman is Jean-Claude Gauthier, while Jacques Brodeur has charge of stores and Maurice Grondin is our pharmacist. Our laboratory and X-ray department have their own technicians.

With this staff, from July 24 until October 15 we cared for 467 hospital patents and treated 649 cases in our emergency clinic. . . I take occasion to express my satisfaction and gratitude for the devotion they have shown thus far.

I would also take this opportunity to request all visitors — a source of pleasure and comfort to our patients — to observe the rules as regards visiting hours; the non-admittance of children under 12 to patients' rooms; that two visitors at a time are sufficient for the patient; and that smoking is discouraged in proximity of the patients.

The foregoing is a brief glimpse at our institution — YOUR institution. We are correcting, adjusting, moving steadily towards perfection. With their understanding and co-operation, both patients and visitors can help us considerably by their constructive criticism.

We are advancing with caution, care and full consideration, so that the first to be proud of the Argenteuil Hospital may be YOU, who read these lines.

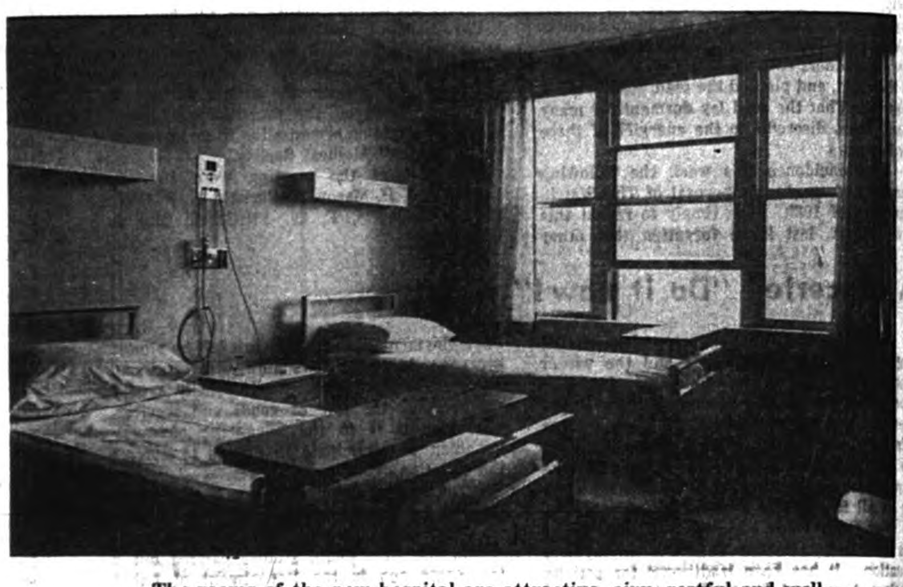

Sincerely, GUY ALLARD
Director-General,
Argenteuil Hospital

Like all other departments of the Argenteuil Hospital, the X-ray laboratory is equipped with the most modern instruments, in charge of expert operators. Above, Miss Leona Mignon, certified radiologist, adjusts an X-ray machine over a patient.

The rooms of the new hospital are attractive, airy, restful and well lighted. All the patient accommodation is now fully furnished with new equipment adapted to hospital needs. The above view shows a semi-private (two-bed) room.

Maurice Grondin, of Brownsburg, a graduate druggist, is in charge of the hospital pharmacy. Here, too, the spacious quarters are adapted to most modern conceptions.

TEMPLE OF MEDICAL SCIENCE

"Providence Hospital, Lachute, closes its doors.". . . "New Argenteuil Hospital officially opened.". .

Two brief but momentous announcements have given cause for meditation on the past, and high hopes for the future, in this district and community.

The Providence Hospital gave invaluable service to our population. This service was possible only through the devotion of its staff, both religious and lay personnel, and their understanding of the sick. The founders and benefactors of that hospital deserve our lasting gratitude.

Today we have a thoroughly modern institution, the Argenteuil Hospital. And I would like to visualize this hospital as a fitting memorial to all the district doctors who have preceded us. It is not necessary to name them; their knowledge, their devotion, their generosity make them unforgettable.

We, the physicians of today, can pay our highest homage to them by building a hospital worthy of their memory.

To build a hospital — not meaning in terms of walls and structures — this is a continuous task. Medical science is on the move, while patients have new and changing problems. A hospital must therefore be in a state of constant evolution.

It is the duty of the Medical Director to direct this constant process. To succeed, he needs the co-operation of all concerned. He must act as liaison between the management and the medical body, he must foster and maintain unity, harmony and a co-operative spirit among all participants, both medical and non-medical. He must aim for constant improvement in medical and hospital care in conformity with highest standards.

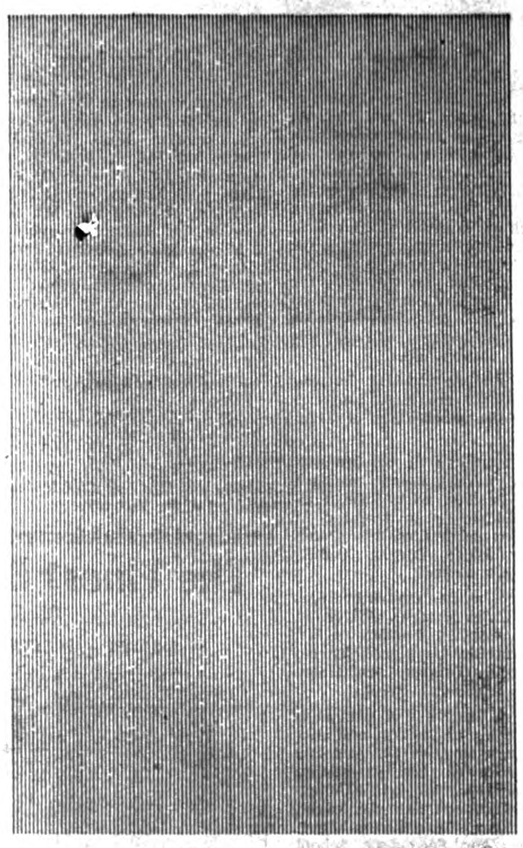

Medicine is now so complex — its advancement in the past few years has been so staggering — that curing of the sick today is a team job requiring the best surroundings.

— Those surroundings we now have, and we must thank the local promoters and provincial authorities, who have neglected nothing to provide us with the best. Many big hospitals may well envy our facilities and equipment.

— As for the team, they are here, heart and soul: the general practitioners dedicated to their task and aiming for perfection, surrounded by qualified specialists in surgery, pharmacy, pathology, radiology and laboratory practice — a team to combat disease, to meet emergency, to save lives.

With this experience and dedication, we will endeavor to attain the highest possible medical standards, applying all the experience of the profession with the latest proven discoveries. Thus, we hope to maintain our Argenteuil Hospital as a temple of Medical Science — a living temple, of doctors, supervisors, nurses, staff, all pledged in the name of Charity to combat human suffering and distress.

— ROGER LAVIGNE, M.D.
Medical Director, Argenteuil Hospital

PIONEERS OF THE HOSPITAL

Before appraising the new Argenteuil Hospital, it is fitting to review the efforts of certain hospital "pioneers" in our community.

It is a little over 20 years since the venerable Curé Eugène Cloutier backed by Mrs. Harry Ayers, Mrs. Laurence Ayers, Notary and Mrs. Gaetan Valois, founded what has since been known as the Providence Hospital, Lachute. Its management and operation was entrusted to the Sisters of Providence under the very devoted guidance of Sister Gabrielle, known and loved for her fine qualities. The doctors of that time — most of them still with us — lavished their care by the grace of God under pitiable conditions. The practice of their profession sometimes demanded high courage. The medical and administrative staff, the hospital chaplain, one and all devoted their efforts under exacting circumstances and with minimal resources, to the welfare of the patients. For many of our younger generation, this institution on Princess Street was the first roof over their heads. . . Truly, the population of Lachute and Ayersville owe a debt of recognition to those who founded the Providence Hospital — now only a memory, but a lasting one.

Over 10 years ago, the need became insistent for a larger and better-equipped hospital, and on December 19, 1951, a new provincial charter was secured in name of Gilbert E. Ayers, the Rev. Léo Clement and Roger E. Regimbal, and the "Argenteuil Hospital" was incorporated. It existed then only in the blueprints of imagination; today it is an admirable reality. . . And it is fitting here to commend Mr. Gilbert Ayers and to thank him for his initiative — for he was the actual founder, promoter and first president of the new hospital. But for him, our patients might still be ill-confined and lack adequate facilities for their treatment. . . Included also in our appreciation are the provincial authorities, past and present, who have contributed grants, and the public who have generously subscribed, towards the realization of this modern institution situated in the limits of Ayersville, our adjoining municipality.

It is of public interest to record that the Quebec Government subsequently took over this edifice and leased it to the Argenteuil Hospital Corporation, for a rental value equivalent to 40% of revenue from the private and semi-private rooms. The Department of Health provided the furnishings and equipment, in return for which the Hospital pays an additional rent based on depreciation set by standards of the Provincial Hospitalization Plan and the Canadian Association of Hospitals.

The first administrative board consisted of seven directors, namely Gilbert E. Ayers, president; Donald M. Hay, treasurer; Notary Simon Valois, secretary; and Roger Regimbal, Armand Desrosiers, Leopold Carrière and Herb Graves, executive members.

The present administrative board includes 12 directors, as follows — Roger Lagarde, Q.C., president, Kenneth McGibbon (manager, C-I-L) vice-president; Donald M. Hay (manager, Bank of Montreal), treasurer; Notary Simon Valois, secretary; Mrs. Leonard (Laurence) Ayers, Bernard Gosselin (chemist), Armand Desrosiers (businessman), Ian Gordon (manager, J. C. Wilson Ltd.), Herb Graves (businessman), Dr. René Côté (representing the medical board), Lévis Clément (accountant), and Bertrand L'Heureux (businessman), executive. Mr. L'Heureux has replaced Horace Lamarche, who resigned from the board.

This administrative board has complete responsibility for the Hospital, both towards the Government and towards the patients. It must operate on a budget submitted for approval of the Health Department. From February until July of this year (date of opening) the directors met once every week — among other details they adopted by-laws; they appointed a director-general (Guy Allard), a medical director (Dr. Roger Lavigne) on recommendation of the medical board, a nursing supervisor (Nurse Yolande Duquette), a maintenance engineer (Roméo Desormiers), an accountant (Jacques Poitras), a part-time pharmacist (Maurice Grondin), two surgeons (Dr. Jean-Guy Vallée and Dr. A. Lyall Middleton) also on recommendation of the medical board, a chef (Gaston Elcus), a chaplain (Rev. Gustave Bellemare, O.F.M.), a licensed auditor (Roland Morin), etc. . . Since the actual opening of the Hospital, the 12 directors have held at least one regular meeting, plus an additional executive session, every month.

As customary in such an institution, the medical affairs of this hospital are governed by the "medical board", which is under the chairmanship of Dr. Marc Papineau. We must mention, and duly appreciate, the fine co-operative spirit which prevails, and which must continually pervade, these two distinct bodies.

To pay particular attention to the comfort and satisfaction of our patients, a Ladies' Auxiliary was formed. Mrs. Armand Desrosiers, the president of this group, is aided by the wives of the directors, who will later be joined by wives of the doctors and other interested lady residents.

Finally — even though they are not so numerous as before (the Sister Superior General having few members to spare) — it is comforting to know there are three newly-vowed Sisters of Providence in attendance, one a qualified nurse and the others in charge of the chapel, sewing and linen.

On behalf of the administrative board, over which I have the pleasure and the honor to preside, I wish to assure the hospital personnel, and the interested public, that our most ardent objective is to provide the best hospital and medical service possible, in an atmosphere of good will and confidence. In this aim, our first guiding principle is to apply, insofar as possible, the established standards of the Canadian Council of Hospital Accreditation.

— ROGER LAGARDE,
President, Administrative Board of the Argenteuil Hospital

Healthy Feet for Junior

— By NANCY CLEAVER —

"Children's shoes are so expensive! They outgrow them so quickly. Almost every month one of our youngsters needs a new pair," Mrs. Brown confided in her friend.

"But healthy feet are important and comfortable shoes are essential for happiness," her friend replied. "So why worry? You can't economize by making a child wear shoes which he has outgrown — or insisting he wear another child's cast-offs, because they won't fit well."

Healthy feet for Junior start with proper foot care when he is a baby. The twenty-six bones of the foot begin as cartilage, gradually hardening into the bones of the older adolescent. The soft tissue of a baby's foot is sensitive to pressure. Some foot specialists advise mothers not to tuck their baby's sheet in his crib or carriage so tightly that his feet will be restricted. They need freedom and it is natural and necessary for growth that baby should be able to wiggle his toes.

In warmer weather baby wants little covering and it should be loose; in colder weather sleepers are a boon, but they should be roomy and long enough in the legs. Baby does not need fabric shoes for protection. The bottom of his foot is a thick padding of tissue, concealing his arch which Nature has provided.

An infant tries to wiggle and exercise his prehensile, finger-like toes. Don't restrict his activity with snug socks or bootees and don't worry about footwear until he is starting to walk.

A baby will walk when he is ready and the readiness of children varies widely. Some light, active youngsters walk before they are a year old but the majority take their first steps unassisted between the twelfth and the eighteenth months.

The sole of baby's walking shoes should be thin and pliant and the upper material of soft leather. Low shoes, unless the doctor recommends otherwise, are preferable. He needs foot freedom and thus the toe of the shoe should be broad, hard and raised so it will not press down. If there is a heel it should be very low and the shoe should be examined when he is standing to make sure the end of the big toe has one to three quarters of an inch room before it would touch the inside of the shoe.

As children grow older their feet demand continued care. Both shoes and stockings must give their feet room for growth and freedom. They must be carefully fitted to new shoes and as a rule the child's feet outgrow his shoes before the shoes are worn out.

There is a place for rubber soled footwear with canvas uppers and for moccasins or house slippers for occasional use for children, but they should not be worn continuously. They have the advantage of being light, pliant and flexible if proper sizes are chosen.

Boys and girls must learn to help avoid athlete's foot by carefully drying their feet, especially between their toes after a bath. They should also be taught to take care of their shoes and take pride in their appearance. It is a good plan to change out of school shoes into play shoes after four o'clock.

If shoes are damp they should be dried at room temperature, not near a radiator or stove. Shoe trees inserted help them keep their shape and a rub with lubricating oil is useful after the shoes have dried. The new shoe polishes sold today have convenient applicators that a younger school age child can use without making a mess — but he should do his shoe shining once a week, working on a newspaper spread on a table.

Fashionable, very pointed toes and very high heels on women's shoes cause untold discomfort and damage to health, and young teen age girls are eager for smart shoes. As long as possible, see to it that their shoes are suitable. Girls have far more foot trouble than boys because of fashion's dictates. Women should be a little more vocal to shoe dealers and to the Canadian Consumers' Association about their ideas on smart shoe designs which are also comfortable.

Feel better by eating right food

Science has proved that you can get more out of life, feel better and work better, if you eat the right food.

The Health League of Canada suggests that you follow Canada's food guide in preparing or consuming your daily meals.

Each day's menu should include citrus and another fruit or tomatoes, or ... or two yellow or green vege...es, whole grain cereal, four ...ices of bread, meat, fish, egg, dried beans or cheese and two glasses of milk for adults.

This diet is heathful, invigorating and can be non-fattening if used correctly.

Of 'currant' interest

Processing, storing and packing methods have undergone considerable change over the thirty-odd centuries since the Egyptians accidentally discovered a way of drying fruits. The improved techniques bring to our kitchens clean fruits which, though "dried", paradoxically enough, are moist and juicy.

At one time, for example, currants were hard, crinkly and often gritty. Now we enjoy succulent, sweet little morsels.

Attesting to their popularity in all sorts of enticing baked goods is the fact that more than four and a half million pounds of currants were imported into Canada in 1962. More than 95 percent of the supply comes from Australia.

Currant bread is in as much demand in coffee shops in the "Land Down Under" as are doughnuts or Danish pastry here. In the Australian tradition, we offer this recipe for Glazed Currant Loaf. It has a light texture with a tender crust. It's delicately spiced and generously flecked with the soft fruit.

Your family will enjoy it as a companion to fruit desserts and for between-meal snacks. Toasted, it's a delightful change of pace at breakfast.

And keep these spicy loaves in mind when you're drawing up the Christmas gift list. "Something you make yourself" is appreciated a hundredfold. Be sure to cover it completely with plastic film so the bread stays fresh and its home-baked beauty shows through. Aluminum foil is also a good protective wrap and makes a glittering gift.

Glazed Currant Loaf

1 Cup milk, ½ cup granulated sugar, 2 teaspoons salt, ½ cup butter or margarine, ½ cup lukewarm water, 2 teaspoons granulated sugar, 2 envelopes fast-rising active dry yeast, 2 eggs (well beaten), 1 teaspoon cinnamon, ½ teaspoon mace, ½ teaspoon powdered cloves, ½ teaspoon powdered ginger, ½ teaspoon nutmeg, 5½ cups (about) pre-sifted all-purpose flour, 1½ cups currants (washed and dried), soft butter or margarine.

Scald milk; stir in the ½ cup sugar, ½ cup butter or margarine and salt. Cool to lukewarm.

Meantime, measure lukewarm water into a large mixing bowl; stir in the 2 teaspoons sugar. Sprinkle yeast on top. Let stand ten minutes, then stir well.

Stir in lukewarm milk mixture, eggs, spices and 3 cups of the flour. Beat until smooth. Mix in currants. Work in sufficient additional flour to make a soft dough — about 2½ cups more.

Turn out on lightly floured board or canvas; knead until smooth and elastic. Place in lightly greased bowl. Grease top with soft butter or margarine. Cover. Let rise in a warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1½ hours.

Punch down dough. Turn out on floured board. Cut in half, shape each portion into a loaf and place in a greased loaf pan (8½ x 4½ inches, top inside measure). Grease tops with soft butter or margarine. Cover. Let rise in a warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour.

Bake in preheated moderate oven, 350 deg. F., for 40 to 45 minutes, until nicely browned. (Reduce oven temperature by 25 deg. for glass ovenware pans). Remove from pans to cooling racks. If desired, decorate, while still warm, with Confectioners' Glaze.

Confectioners' Glaze

Blend together 1 cup sifted icing sugar, a pinch of salt, about 2 tablespoons milk or cream and ½ teaspoon vanilla. (Use just enough liquid to make a thick paste). Spread over warm loaves letting mixture drip down sides.

Specially Written for The Lachute Watchman By Patricia Rusak, Canadian Press Staff Writer

More than 16,000 deaths were caused by accidental poisoning in Canada last year, an article in Health, the monthly publication of the Health League of Canada, reports.

The leading killer in accidental poisonings has been acetylsalicylic acid used in making headache tablets, the article says.

Dr. Robert Imrie, director of poison control at the Hospital For Sick Children in Toronto, says major reasons for accidental poisoning are :

1. Ignorance on the part of parents that a substance is toxic.
2. Inadequate labelling of containers.
3. Transfer of dangerous substances from the original containers to pop bottles, jars or other containers.
4. Carelessness in leaving drugs or cleaning agents in easily accessible places.
5. Color and flavoring in medicines that help parents trick children into believing the medicines are candy.
6. Similarity of containers or labels to those containing harmless products.
7. Environmental conditions such as crowded housing that make it difficult to store toxic substances safely.

Dr. Imrie said 45 per cent of accidental poisonings occur in the kitchen, 30 per cent in the bedroom and 25 per cent in the bathroom.

To help parents, the Canadian Pharmaceutical Association issues antidote charts which can be pasted inside the doors of medicine cabinets.

If a person does take a poison, a doctor, a hospital poison control centre or a pharmacist should be called at once.

Mrs. Albert Selmes' daughters, eight-year-old Debbie and her sister Connie, both have muscular dystrophy. They spend most of their waking hours in wheelchairs. Connie's in bed because she recently broke her leg, but even with this added burden of care, Mrs. Selmes pluckily carries on. — Photo, Lulz Dille

Story of Alice Selmes and her two daughters

"Nothing can really help us."

These words were spoken a few days ago by an attractive auburn-haired Toronto housewife of 31.

Her name is Alice Selmes. She lives in a good neighborhood. Her husband earns a steady income. They have three pretty daughters.

Why should she utter this cry of despair?

The Alice Selmes story began happily enough. She grew up in Toronto, a cheerful active girl who enjoyed outdoor sports. In 1949 she met and married a handsome young ex-paratrooper. Two years later they had a baby girl called Bonnie, who is 12 now and growing up much as her mother did.

That is Part One of the Alice Selmes story — the happy part.

Part Two began eight years ago when the Selmes had their second baby, Deborah. At six months, Debbie was already causing her mother concern.

"When other babies crawled, Debbie sat. She never kicked her covers off the bed. When I laid her on her stomach, she didn't even try to turn over."

Thus Alice Selmes described the symptoms of a disease she had never heard about before.

She waited three hours at the Hospital of Sick Children before doctors brought her the news.

"They told me point blank 'your child has muscular dystrophy'."

"Then they told me what this would mean to my baby and me."

"They said Debbie's muscles were gradually being destroyed. The child would become increasingly helpless and paralyzed, while remaining mentally alert. They said Debbie would probably not live beyond her teens. And they said nothing at all could be done about it."

"It was impossible to imagine then the things they were telling me", says Alice Selmes.

But she has since learned only too well about the constant care a dystrophic child requires, and about the heartache its mother must constantly hide.

Alice Selmes also learned that MD seems to be hereditary sometimes and that, if she had another child, it too might have muscular dystrophy. But her oldest daughter was healthy, a third child could also be healthy, and she and her husband wanted a third. So they gambled — and they lost.

Today Alice Selmes has three daughters. Two of them — Debbie and her baby sister Connie — live in wheelchairs. They cannot be left alone for a single moment. Each day they grow more and more helpless.

And each day their mother watches, powerless to help them, returning their smiles with smiles, fighting back tears.

"People tell me I'm cheerful, considering everything," says Alice Selmes. "But they don't know."

"They say they can understand. But no one can really understand until it happens to them."

Fate, chance, statistics — call it what one will — has dealt a poor hand to Alice Selmes, and to the thousands of other Canadian mothers with dystrophic children.

Yet Alice Selmes is wrong when she says nothing can help them. Science can help them.

And there are 20,000 Canadians who have a pretty good idea what she's up against. They call themselves The Muscular Dystrophy Association of Canada.

They're working day and night to write a happy ending to the Alice Selmes story by finding a cure for the disease which is destroying her children and draining the joy from her life.

Death of noted TV and radio sports broadcaster removes popular figure

The dean of French-speaking sports commentators in Canada, Michel Normandin, died suddenly in Montreal on November 12. He was 50 years old.

Born in Montreal, Mr. Normandin's career as sports commentator was launched in 1937 when he handled the description of a series of Provincial Hockey League games for CHLP. From then on, he broadcast practically every sport played in North America, from hockey, football, baseball, wrestling, bowling and boxing to six-day bicycle races, tennis, badminton, horse races, croquet, soccer, swimming and water-skiing.

For 12 years he handled the radio description of the Montreal Canadiens' hockey games. He was the first commentator to do the description on French radio and TV of Canadian professional football games, and the existence of a French glossary on modern football is largely due to his efforts. Mr. Normandin was also associated with wrestling for many years as TV commentator of matches staged at the Montreal Forum.

The late Michel Normandin

During World War II, Michel Normandin presented two weekly sportscasts for French-Canadian troops overseas. These were broadcast to the troops via short-wave. He was awarded the Order of the British Empire in 1945 in recognition of this special service.

From 1944 to 1950, he was a member of the Municipal Council of the City of Montreal.

Respect the daredevil!

When you see a car coming toward you at a high speed and passing another on a two-lane highway, it may give you the shivers. Slow down and edge to the right; this is the only way of keeping out of trouble — is the advice of "Prudentia". In case of accident due to miscalculation on the part of the speeder, you will not be involved. If your rear-view mirror reveals a hazardous attempt to pass you, and you see he hasn't enough distance to make it, you should warn the other driver by blowing your horn or blinking your headlights. If your signal is not heeded, pull right as far as possible.

Public referendum on civic grants

A public referendum (forecast as a possibility by this newspaper two weeks ago) is to be taken December 13-14, to ascertain the taxpayers' wishes in the matter of civic grants to local organizations.

There has been so much criticism on this subject that the Council has decided to throw the question in the lap of the ratepayers, those who "pay the piper".

The question in brief will be, "What percentage of the municipal budget do you favor for grants?"; and the ballot will show blanks to signify Nil —; 1% —, etc. — right up to 3 per cent of the civic budget.

It is recalled that at the beginning of the year the Council voted 1 per cent of the budget for this purpose, or $4,230. A number of clubs and organizations which had petitioned the authorities for financial aid, expressed dissatisfaction at the amount they received. Certain taxpayers, on the other hand, protested that the Council was too liberal with the public funds in this matter.

Speaking of the planned referendum, Mayor Campbell said this week: "Since this involves the taxpayers' money, it seems logical to ask them what they think about it. This will give the Council a reliable indication, and will relieve the aldermen of blame, since the decision will hinge upon those immediately concerned."

The referendum will be announced in greater detail next issue.

At Lions Club ladies' night —

Cleric speaks with authority on 'How to grow old and like it'

Monsignor H. D. J. Brosseau — one-time parish priest of Grenville and of Montebello, a canon of the Catholic church now retired from active ministry — was guest speaker at a pleasant event in the Lions' program this season, a ladies' night held last week at La Lorraine Motel.

President Keith Clarke introduced the head-table, extending special greetings and congratulations to Lion Fernand Legault, Q.C., a newly appointed judge of the Superior Court. A message of greeting to the club, and to Mgr. Brosseau, was read from another clubman, Léopold Carrière, who is presently in hospital.

Music was provided by Jos. Succhar, accordion virtuoso, while community singing was led by Hal Joyce and Horace Lamarche. The ladies in the gathering received corsages, by courtesy of Lion Bernard Tessier, of "Tessier Florists".

Monsignor H. D. J. Brosseau

The speaker was very ably introduced by Roger Regimbal. Canon Brosseau, whose personality radiates joy and confidence in the mastery of human frailties, spoke on a topic for which he is most obviously qualified, in effect, "How to Grow Old and Like It". Following are recommendations culled from his talk:

To enjoy old age, it is essential to prepare for it. There is sadness in growing old when one is not prepared.

Arrange to be financially independent, so as not to "be a burden". If one has money of one's own, the ageing person is more likely to be welcome.

If you have a sense of humor, take care not to lose it. Don't take yourself too seriously; no one else does. Be able to laugh at yourself, and others will laugh with you.

Keep up your interest in the past, the present and the future. Be interested in children, in young people, and in all that goes on around you.

Pay attention to your religion now, in preparation for your old age. Faith is a great comfort as you grow old. . . Don't be afraid to die. For all we know we are preparing for the hereafter, on this earth, and great things lie ahead.

— And for the still-young and vigorous, be good to old people; not because they deserve it, but so that you may deserve to be well treated by young people when you too grow old.

Canon Brosseau is presently writing a book, "The Art of Being Happy". He himself has a library of 3,400 volumes. He has carefully trained his memory, because everyone insists that memory fails as one grows old. He doesn't believe this is at all necessary. He keeps busy at all times, reading and studying; possessed of an avid curiosity all his life, he now feels he has time to satisfy it. With these pursuits, he can never be lonely or bored; he always has more work on his program than he has time to accomplish.

Judge Fernand Legault extended thanks on behalf of his listeners, and at conclusion of the meeting Canon Brosseau was the celebrity of a one-man receiving line, as one and all flocked to meet and thank him personally.

Heads Catholic School Board

medical director of the Argenteuil Hospital and a school commissioner for the past 15-odd years, has been elected chairman of the Lachute Catholic School Commission, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Fernand Legault on his appointment to the judiciary. The full complement of the school commission is completed with the addition of L.-Joseph Dumais, well known local businessman.

Law office now under name of Legault - Paquin

Since the appointment of Mr. Fernand Legault as a Superior Court judge, the well known law firm of Legault & Legault is now operating under the name of Legault & Paquin. Justice Fernand Legault has chosen a St. Jerome advocate, Jean-Claude Paquin, to take over his office here.

Jean-Claude Paquin

Jean-Claude Paquin was born at Wilson Falls, a few miles from St. Jerome. A member of a family of nine children, his father was the owner of a prosperous dairy and farming industry in the St. Jerome area.

Mr. Paquin is a graduate of McGill and Montreal University. He obtained his B.A. degree at St. Laurent College under direction of the Holy Cross Fathers.

He worked as a student in the law firm of Martineau, Walker, Allison, Beaulieu & Tetley, of Montreal, and since his admission to the bar several years ago, he has been a senior partner in the law office of Guérin, Cliche & Paquin, St. Jerome.

St. Hermas parents face charge of child neglect

At preliminary hearing in court at St. Jerome last week, André St. Pierre, 41, and his wife, of St. Hermas, were committed for voluntary statement December 2 on a charge of child neglect.

Social welfare officers and neighbors of the St. Pierres testified they had often seen Gaetan St. Pierre, 3½, tied up and left in the stable while his parents went about their farm chores. The boy has had epileptic attacks since March, 1962.

Judge Camille-L. de Martigny said he felt sufficient proof had been offered to send the couple to voluntary statement, a stage in Quebec legal proceedings at which the defence may present its case.

Claude Lavallee and Luc Prevost, provincial police constables, testified they had seen the boy left in the stable in a "lamentable" state. The temperature there was between 50 and 55 degrees, they said.

The boy is being kept in a children's home pending the hearing of the case.

Charles-H. Cliche is the prosecuting attorney.

Vincent Drouin, counsel for the defendants, asked for dismissal of the case, which was turned down by the judge. Mr. Drouin contended the police visits had been made at milking time, that the boy was only tied up while the parents worked in the stable, and at other times, he was in the farmhouse. The parish priest, Rev. J.-P. Maisonneuve, testified that on a parochial visit in September he had seen the child tied to his father, in the house.

Two gun mishaps said unreported to the police

County Game Warden Adelard Gagné, of Whisselltown, has confirmed hearing of two hunting accidents, neither of which have been officially reported to authorities.

Few details are available on these accidents, neither of which was considered serious. On Sunday, November 17, Guy Forrest, of Montreal, was treated in a Hawkesbury hospital for a bullet wound in the arm; and on Wednesday, November 20, Maurice Guindon, of Rigaud, was wounded in the foot. He was under treatment in the Montreal General Hospital.

Both incidents are under investigation, as all wounds from firearms have to be reported to the proper authorities.

Power breaks caused by high winds

High winds last Saturday spread havoc over the Gatineau Power circuits, causing interruptions in the service varying in duration from 20-odd minutes to over three hours.

Manager Rod Carreau at the Lachute office reports 16 broken poles in this division. Lachute was without power just before noon, lasting for 24 minutes. Brownsburg suffered for a longer time, three hours and 14 minutes, with four poles broken in inaccessible spots well off the road, where crewmen had to carry materials and props through muddy fields to make temporary repairs. Work was proceeding Monday to re-string the lines on permanent poles. Most of the damage was caused by falling trees.

Lakefield, Grenville, St. Andrews, also St. Columban and points northeast of town, were affected for varying periods. High-voltage (26,000 v.) feeder lines were torn down and five main conductors broken — these replacements representing a time-consuming job and requiring all available linemen.

An overtime shift at C-I-L Brownsburg plant was immobilized for over three hours during the power break, and at the curling club a company bonspiel was completely disorganized, with the rink in darkness and water formed on the ice.

IN MEMORIAM

From the nations to the small communities, his example is an inspiration to all who serve. . . This newspaper — representative of the smaller centres, where peace, accord and good government count equally in the lives of men — pays tribute to the late President John F. Kennedy of the United States. Slain by the hand of an assassin, and interred with his country's heroes, his memory is revered forever in the hearts of freedom-loving people.

4-3 Council vote grants aid to Richelieu pool expenses

A special sitting of Town Council on Monday evening was chaired by Mayor Dave Campbell. Ald. J.-O. Desjardins, absent due to sickness, was the only member missing from the board.

Council considered the purchase of an additional patrol car, in order to cover the wider territory involved in the St. Jerusalem annexation. The purchase is only in the "tenders" stage, and the annexation, incidentally, awaits government ratification. If and when — this will also necessitate additional equipment and additional police personnel. (The staff is presently depleted, due to illness.)

On the departure of Fernand (Judge) Legault from his law office, the Council voted to retain the services of his successor and the firm of Legault & Paquin in the litigation with Mr. Cottingham, M.P.P.

Night parking on the streets from midnight to 7 a.m. will be prohibited from December 1 to March 31 next, following the customary regulation to facilitate snowclearing.

Council decided to present an earnest brief (with all the "whereas" clauses in preamble) to the Department of Public Works for the replacement of Barron's Bridge.

The purchase of office furniture, also of a punch-clock and a furnace for the municipal garage, was authorized by Council.

As regards the use of loudspeakers in the town streets, the police department was instructed to limit such permits only to the advertising of charity ventures.

On motion of Aldermen Ed McFaul and Linton Armstrong, Hector Charlebois was given an order for fuel oil for the heating of city hall, and B-A Company for oil supplied to the filtration plant and the municipal garage.

Following a recommendation from the Parks and Playgrounds committee at last Council meeting, Ald. François Charlebois moved that the municipality pay a sum of $1,860 to the Richelieu Club for material costs incurred in the operation of its pool and playground this past season. Aldermen Charlebois, Armstrong, Pariseau and McFaul were in favor; Aldermen Dr. L. Middleton, Dr. R. Dumais and Carriere registered their vote against the motion.

B'burg votes strongly against $595,130 loan for sewage plant

Brownsburg taxpayers last week rejected the proposal to borrow $595,130 for construction of a sewage disposal plant. Put to a referendum, the measure was voted down by a decisive majority.

It may be noted that only 182 electors cast their vote in the two-day referendum, out of 673 eligible.

For a referendum to be adopted the law requires a majority in the number of voters, also in the property valuation represented by those voters. The results in this case were as follows:

	Voters	Valuation
For	33	$118,100
Against	148	$580,100

Thus the proposal to float a loan of over half-a-million dollars was decisively rejected.

It is known that the Quebec Anti-Pollution Board is exerting strong influence on the municipalities to install sewage treatment plants. Brownsburg had complied to the extent of having plans and estimates prepared by a firm of qualified engineers.

Drouin, M. P., in abortive attempt to bar 'frivolous' election candidates

OTTAWA — Candidates at the next Federal election came close to having their ante raised to $500 from $200 in a move last week before the Commons elections committee at Ottawa vigorously supported by Vincent Drouin, M.P. for this constituency.

The committee first accepted a proposal which would require candidates to post a $500 deposit instead of the present $200. . . Then, after a variety of procedural wrangles and points of order, the committee on a recorded vote rejected the increase.

Losing candidates get their deposit back if they poll half the number of votes cast for the winning candidate, who also gets his $200 back.

The effort to increase the deposit was launched by Jean Chretien (L — St. Maurice-Lafleche) with the support of Mr. Drouin. They said it would eliminate "frivolous" candidates who run at elections for self-advertisement or other reasons. A lengthy debate then ensued before the proposal was approved 10 to nine on a show-of-hands.

A procedural wrangle followed which was resolved by the committee voting 10 to nine in favor of a motion by Ken More (PC—Regina) and Richard Cashin (L—St. John's West) for a recorded vote, a rarity in Commons committees.

10-10 Tie

When the members were polled, the result was a 10-10 tie due to Heath Macquarrie (PC—Queens) voting in the recorded ballot after abstaining during the show-of-hands.

Chairman Alexis Caron (L—Hull) broke the tie by casting the deciding vote against increasing the deposit.

The committee then got involved in another procedural hassle over an attempt by Mr. Drouin, seconded by Pauline Jewett (L—Northumberland) to increase electors required to sign a candidate's nomination papers. The present requirement is 25.

Mr. Caron first ruled the Drouin motion in order, then reversed himself after a strong protest from Mr. More that Mr. Caron was violating the procedural agreement established at the opening of hearings. The committee upheld Mr. Caron's reversal 12 to three.

Three calls on fire brigade

Friday morning, fire caused considerable damage to the home of Jos. Kingsbury, 429 Sydney Street — Mr. Kingsbury managing to escape from the burning building with a few possessions.

Firemen were called to the scene at 5.40 a.m., and were confronted by an inferno raging from the front door. This was quickly extinguished, and damage to the building was not too extensive. A portion of the downstairs was charred, especially a cupboard section under the stairway, where the fire started. Smoke damage to the upstairs was also reported. Firemen were on the scene for about an hour.

On Saturday afternoon, an overheated dryer at the King Koin Laundry ignited nearby woodwork; this was quickly extinguished. Little damage was reported.

At 6.55 p.m. Saturday, a call was received for an overheated space heater at the home of Wilfrid Caron, 480 Robert Street. There was no damage reported in this instance.

Liberal Women hold annual meet

Mme Francoise Ladouceur, of St. Andrews, was elected to replace Mme Noella Durocher as president of the Liberal Women's Association at the annual meeting held last Thursday evening in Lachute Auditorium.

Mrs. Annie Goldup is reappointed secretary. Treasurer is Mme Simone Gagné, and publicist Mme Claire Gosselin.

Vice-president for the English-speaking membersip is Mrs. Ethel McGibbon, and vice-president for the junior affiliation is Mlle Jacqueline Proulx.

Present were Mme Thivierge and Mme Taschereau from Quebec, representing the Federation of Liberal Women of the Province of Quebec, who jointly chaired the meeting and election.

Cattle entries score at 'Royal'

Ayrshires

Erskine W. Rodger's Woodlea herd was represented in the Ayrshire entries at Toronto Royal Winter Fair, with six head of young stock, in charge of Ross Rodger.

In Junior Bull Calf the Woodlea entry came 3rd, in a class of seven.

Senior Heifer Calf and Junior Year-old Heifer ranked 14th and 13th; and two Senior Year-old Heifers ranked 9th and 12th, in a large class of 29 exhibits.

Woodlea took 7th place in Junior Get of Sire.

Other Winners

Senior and Grand Champion Bull was Lessnessock Angus, an imported animal owned by Roland Pigeon, of Vercheres. The champion was awarded the J. H. Black Memorial Trophy (see picture, page 6).

Senior and Grand Champion Female was shown by Donald McIntyre, of Finch. This cow won out against her dam who had taken the championship for five successive years, and on this occasion stepped down to Reserve Grand Championship.

There were 285 entries in the Ayrshire breed.

Jerseys

The heifer has won first at many fairs, never having been beaten till this stage. She was sold with the 'Stars' for $1,200 to Mrs. Diana Ryan, of Newport, R. L., and will be entered for competition next week in the International Dairy Show at Chicago.

Shorthorn Triumph

A County-bred Shorthorn bull was junior champion at the Royal, in strong competition. This was the white spring yearling, Tutira Paragon, bred by Mrs. T. C. Stuart, Arundel, and sold at an early age (and a long figure) to Louada Manor Farms, Peterborough, Ont.

"Paragon", is a son of the Stuart cow, Tolquhon Princess Helen, type classified AAA.

High-price stock bought for herds in this district

Toronto (CP) — "Spruce Carom Jess", a three-year-old Jersey heifer owned by R. T. Sayles & Sons of Paris, Ont., was purchased for $4,500 by John H. Molson of St. Sauveur des Monts, Que. This was the top price paid for 29 Jerseys auctioned during the Royal Agricultural Winter Fair "Sale of Stars".

Also selling for better than average price was "Brampton Enough Carom Acme", owned by B. H. Bull & Son of Brampton, Ont., sold for $1,250 to Dr. G. R. McCall, of Lachute.

By BOB ATCHISON

A number of cases of rabies have been reported recently — an outbreak which appears to be quite serious. Newspapers right up into Ontario have carried stories of this. We recall the serious outbreak we had of this dread disease a few years ago, one that apparently never did get wiped out; it did great damage to the fox population and for a number of years these animals were very scarce in the area. They seem to have come back, but once again we have the rabies. I do know a number of foxes were released in this district by a gentleman, but these were immunized against rabies, so that would appear to let them out. Skunks are being hit pretty badly; even last spring they were picking up this disease with regularity — many of them were killed by cars, but some of them got away and spread the disease. In some cases this would take a long time to develop, up to two years; so you can see just how hard it will be to stamp it out entirely. A word of warning to parents. Teach your youngsters to leave all animals alone at this time, especially wild animals that appear to be very friendly.

Owners of .22's have enquired just what they can be used for during the winter months. As you know, this was covered at some length when the law was lifted on this rifle; but here it is again: The .22s CAN be used in the bush for rabbits, etc., but NO BIG GAME. With the deer season now over, it hardly seems necessary to write this; but just in case you think you can get away with it, DON'T. The hubbub raised last year when this rifle was made a game rifle of the deer class, seems to have impressed the government that sportsmen in our province were just a little better equipped to judge the killing powers of the .22 than they were; hence the removal. In my own opinion this is the only way to hunt rabbits, unless you have dogs; but as most of us don't then the .22 is tops.

There are still a few hardy souls fishing the Ottawa River. In most cases excellent catches have been taken. I saw 26 perch caught last week-end, the largest I have seen in a good long time. Certainly I have never seen so many that all appeared around the same weight. A couple of pike were also taken; these were also in good shape, a real nice meal if they were baked. I guess I'll just have to go out again for a feed! — Not for the log either; that's too big!

I received a call the other day on a woodchuck. It had not hibernated as yet, and from the description it was so fat it could hardly walk. This I can well believe. This species can put on fat so fast it isn't funny. The few I have eaten this fall have been very fatty, real butter-balls, and difficult to skin. When you consider that in the spring they will weigh about 5 lbs., and in the fall they will have more than doubled this weight — you realize that, like some humans, they have a weight problem.

Some of the rabbits are changing color, the whites are very easy to spot right now, while the browns and greys are hard to see. Come the first real snowfall, we will be right back looking but not finding them. One thing I have noticed, these animals are certainly very selective in their feeding. Some of the areas I covered looking for them, had all kinds of good food around but no rabbits; others were almost bare of feed, yet it was overrun by them. Why this should be, I don't know; there must be a reason for it. Maybe the well-stocked areas will be popular when the feeding becomes very scarce.

Not too many lynx seem to be in evidence; the odd track is spotted, but never a look at the animals themselves. Of course, you could look all day and never spot one, though it would only be a matter of yards from you. They are masters at the art of concealment.

Two large flocks of geese were spotted November 14 — the first contained about 200, while the other following about half an hour behind, would appear to have about 400. They flew over very low, allowing a good view; and none of them dropped out for a rest either, so I would imagine they have not been bothered too much with high winds. Most people do not understand that these great birds do sometimes fly all the way to the wintering grounds without any rest whatever. This does not happen too often, I've heard, but even once in a life time, would be some undertaking! I wonder just how many wing-beats that would represent. It is well known that for stamina there is no flying creature that can beat them.

This is for the hunters who have put their guns away once more. Did you clean them up before, or have they just been put away with good intentions? Better take a look, and finish the job of cleaning them. Some may have leaded barrels; in this case, try putting some gun solvent in the barrel, then use a wire brush to clean out any that has loosened up. You will probably have to do this a couple of times to get them clean. Another good tip is hot water. Plug up one end of the barrel and pour scalding hot water down into the barrel; let it stay for a short while, dry thoroughly, and oil. Make sure it is thoroughly dry though, otherwise you will have wasted your time. Clean surplus oil off all parts, this only collects dust and dirt. Wipe the stock and polish it with brown paper; you can also put on a coat of linseed oil, not too much. Any parts that need renewing — in the words of a current slogan, DO IT NOW; waiting till later only makes it that much harder.

Your leather should be washed in saddle soap, allowed to dry, then polished with the same kind of soap. If you have neet's foot oil, then you can soften and preserve it this way. Anything you do of this nature will only help to make your sporting arms that much better for next year. This also applies to leather boots, most of you only use them for the hunting period and then forget about them. Clean them off, oil, and jam wadded paper into the boot itself. This will help to hold the shape until you use them again. Of course, if you buy new ones every time you go out — then forget about this.

For you who go snowshoeing — the snow will come one of these days, then you'll have a chance to use them. However, have you looked at them since you put them away last spring? The leather will be pretty hard by now, and you will have to soften it. Use the same soap or neet's foot oil on them. Soaking the leather will help to soften it, but it will take some work with your hands too. Knead them softly, otherwise you will break them.

Upland shooters have had a very good season this year — better for partridge than it has ever been, according to some. Mourning Doves were plentiful early on in the season, but they just flew the coop... Very few of them can be seen now, even looking for them when they are roosting. This could have been due to the wet weather; whatever the cause, they just aren't around. I have seen a couple of pheasants that have been shot, and there seems to be a fair number of these. I think that possibly, if we have a kind winter, they will manage to hang on. Also something that should have all hunters out — the turkeys I talked about some time ago have been spotted; three of them were seen near Louisa. My informant was out after deer, and had only a high-powered rifle; on top of that, he was not sure the birds were wild. After they had gone, however, he figured that no tame turkeys would be in the bush that far from habitation. Was he mad when it dawned on him! . . . Nor did he catch a deer. Such is the hunter's lot; I'll bet if he had been carrying a shotgun, he would have spotted a deer 100 yards away!

Postscript on geese: This morning, November 23, I saw a flock of 12 feeding and resting in the field right near Lake Emily. Their whistle could be heard on the road down from the bridge. . . Maybe it's spring!

Curling Club at Brownsburg

The mixed bonspiel with which the men opened their season at the Brownsburg Curling Club, was completed last Tuesday evening. Winners of this event were — Jack Golphin (skip), Mrs. Grant Tomalty, Bernie Golphin, Miss Flora McNeil.

The Mixed Open Bonspiel starts December 8, and will continue till the 14th. A buffet supper is to be served on both the above dates.

Ladies' Curling

The doubles are now in play, with finals on Tuesday.

The "Laurentian" was played at this club last Wednesday.

The regular Wednesday afternoon curling is now under way. All active and social members are welcome to take part in friendly curling, cards or chatting; tea is served.

Teams have gone out of town to a friendly game in Ste. Anne's; the Laurentian in St. Jerome; the ladies played in Lachute, and the juniors at Chantecler.

LACHUTE 1884 CURLING CLUB

Week's Highlights

The Match Committee Bonspiel (prizes purchased by the members of the Match Committee) will be completed on Monday night, November 25. Two teams are left and will meet in the finals — Don Bradley (skip), Jack MacKimmie, Ken Riley and Allan Hay will fight it out against Syd Drew (skip), Dr. John MacKimmie, Simon Wilson and George Deacon. This should prove to be a good game to see.

On Friday afternoon between 4 and 5 o'clock, the president and directors of the men's club entertained the ladies' club and visitors who had been playing in the Ladies' Open Bonspiel, to a cocktail hour. This is a small goodwill gesture to show the appreciation of the men's club to the ladies for their kindly co-operation during the year.

Nine mixed teams entered the Hawkesbury open mixed bonspiel which wound up with finals on Sunday. We are happy to report that a Lachute rink skipped by Art Lobel, with Mrs. Don McFaul (third), Don McFaul (second), and Miss Mary Preece (lead), won the bonspiel and will be the holders of the Hawkesbury Open Mixed Bonspiel cup until next year's contest. . . Hearty congratulations from all your fellow curlers!

On Saturday night over 80 members and friends enjoyed an excellent buffet dinner catered by the ladies of the Lachute club. Old friendships were renewed and new ones formed. An orchestra was on hand to provide lively music for a full evening's entertainment.

The next Saturday night function will be held on December 14. More news about this big night of fun will be given during the next two weeks.

Good curling!

Ladies' curling

In the finals of the invitation Bonspiel last Friday, Montreal West defeated Lachute in the main event. In the Consolation, the Club de Granite defeated Rosemere.

In out-of-town play, the following teams have participated recently:

Laurentian Trophy — Mrs. Clarke, Mrs. R. McFaul, Mrs. T. Milnes and Mrs. Heggie played at St. Sauveur.

Friendly at Mount Bruno — Mrs. Haldimand, Mrs. Graves, Mrs. Cottingham and Mrs. L. Ayers.

Friendly at Greystone — Mrs. McMahon, Mrs. Gordon, Mrs. H. McOuat and Mrs. A. McFaul.

The monthly meeting will be held on Monday next.

On the Saturday just past, the Ram Ski Club held its second ski movie presented by Warren Miller,, one of the world's leading cinematographers. The turnout this year surpassed last year's admission, despite the many other attractions being held in Lachute the same night. The committee was satisfied, and have voted to make this an annual event, to be held at approximately this same date. Because of the large demand for these films, the showing must be reserved one year in advance, making it almost impossible to change dates if there are other conflicting attractions in Lachute.

In addition to the movie this year, booths were set up by the Canadian Ski Patrol, which renders a volunteer service at our area; by the Ram Ski Club, which were on hand to answer any questions on membership, etc.; and one set up showing the latest in ski equipment. Ski instructors were available and provided answers to many varied and interesting questions.

At intermission a fashion show put on by Crystal Ski Shop at Ayers Ski Centre, showed the latest in fashions. The amateur models, who did a most professional job, were — Leon Tessier, an instructor at Ayers Ski School; Mrs. Germaine Tessier and her daughter, Danielle; Evelyne Ayers; and Nicole Leny. An exceptionally fine job was done by Mrs. Reine-Marie Graham, who did the English-French commentary on the fashions.

Conditioning

Now that the skiing season is just around the bend, I feel most of you skiers should be in fairly good shape. Of course, the best way to maintain good condition is not to do it all at once, but to keep a good program of general fitness throughout the summer months. I'm sure most of you are saying right now, "I'm in good condition, I don't have to do any exercises". But I'd like to ask you just one question: How many times have you taken an elevator up a couple of floors when the stairs were handy? Or even worse, how many times have you gone down the stairs? Also, how many times have you taken the car to go to the corner drugstore for a package of cigarettes? I'm sure quite a few. . . These are but a couple of normal everyday exercises that will keep your leg muscles from getting soft.

For those of you who are really interested in conditioning yourself for skiing this year, here are a few very good exercises I would strongly recommend:

1 For a balance builder extend left leg then hop across the room on the right leg. Repeat, using alternate leg. You may lose your balance at first.

2 Simply walk up and down stairs whenever possible. However, when descending stairs, walk backwards. This helps to develop your leg tendons.

3 Assume a sitting position with arms touching the floor behind your derrière. Do fast leg lifting, up and down, without touching the floor with your heels.

4 Deep knee bends, I would say, is one of the best exercises for skiing. Place hands on hips. Now squat, flat-footed, going down low, then up, then down, increasing the tempo. After you feel good at this, try doing this exercise on one leg. If you can master this, I would say you are in very good shape for skiing. Another variation of this is to place your back against a wall, and maintain a sitting position as you would in a chair, with your feet flat on the floor and your upper and lower legs at right-angles. If you can maintain this position for 2½ minutes, I would like to personally meet you and shake your hand! . . Last year I had the pleasure to shake the hand of only one person. I hope more people take the effort this year to prepare themselves for skiing.

Animal Care

OBEDIENCE FROM YOUR DOG

One of the interesting things about a young dog is to see how well you can train him. There are certain obvious things you will teach him from puppy days such as not to jump over the furniture, or scratch the table legs. But there are more positive aspects of training which any dog should be capable of understanding.

The three basic commands in obedience training are "heel", "sit" and "down". Start with the young dog on a lead and walk in a straight line. At first he will tend to wander, but constant commands will make him understand. You can then change direction and, using the leash, make sure he follows.

Where you are able to let your dog off the leash, practice keeping him to heel. It is good discipline, particularly if there are other animals in the vicinity and he wants to run after them.

The first time you use the command "sit" he will probably look up and wag his tail. Giving the command again, you gently push his hindquarters down. Doing this several times will give him the right idea. Then you have to show great patience in training him to sit for longer and longer periods.

Unless he is tired a dog is naturally quite restless. But in some obedience trials there are tests in which an owner commands his dog to sit, goes out of sight for ten minutes and expects his pet to be in exactly the same position when he returns.

Another good test for a dog is to have him sit down, then walk away for a considerable distance. He should not move until you call him.

Finally, a real test is to throw a stick but to train your pet not to go for it until given the word "go".

LHS teams in basketball tilts last week-end

On Saturday, November 16, Lachute High School was the scene of the opening of another O.V.S.A.A. basketball season.

Two games were played by the Senior teams of Lachute and Brownsburg High Schools. The Lachute senior girls came out on top with a score of 39-10. Scoring for Lachute were Nancy Hay with 22, Susan Evans 5, Mary Beth Painter and Barbara Underhill 4, Linda McCaskill and Doreen Duncan 2.

The final score of the boys' game was 47-22 for Brownsburg. Scoring for Lachute were Robert MacKay with 8, Herbie Underhill 7, Dick Evans 4, and Herbie Sioui 3.

Last Friday night in Senior basketball, Chomedey High School and Lachute divided the honors.

In the beginning of the girls' game both teams put up a terrific fight, but the Chomedey girls weakened and the Lachute "Boomers" overran them by a score of 52-9. Scoring for Lachute were Nancy Hay with 21, Linda McCaskill 10, Mary Beth Painter 9, Barbara Underhill and Kathleen Berry 5, Doreen Duncan 2.

Chomedey squeaked out a 33-32 victory over Lachute Senior boys. (Last season Lachute was defeated by the same team 29-27.) It was a close game throughout, Lachute taking the lead in the beginning, then Chomedey led by a few points throughout the rest of the game. Scorers for Lachute were Herbie Underhill with 14, Dick Evans 9, Robert MacKay 4, John Hay 3, Jamie Menzies 2.

L.H.S. Basketball vs Buckingham

On Saturday afternoon, Buckingham High School brought their two senior teams to play exhibition basketball. The girls, playing first, starting off with great speed, completely scaring the opponents by a score of 47-18. The game, rough but clean, brought a black eye and sprained ankle to the L.H.S. team. Top scorer of the game was Nancy Hay with 21, followed by Mary Beth Painter 10, Susan Evans 7, Barbara Underhill and Doreen Duncan 4, Linda McCaskill 3.

The boys' game was the most exciting of the week-end. A close, fast-playing and rough game brought the final score to a tie 38-38 — fast scoring and rebounding on both sides leaving neither teams defeated. Points were scored for Lachute by Herbie Underhill 16, Dick Evans 10, Robert MacKay 9, John Hay 2, Jamie Menzies 1.

There will be no L.H.S. basketball this week-end.

Beat Buckingham at basketball

The Lachute "Stars", fastest-rising new team in the Lachute area, soundly defeated the Buckingham Town basketball team by a score of 113-87 last Wednesday night. The game was played in the High School at Buckingham.

The local "Stars" were paced by the offensive play of Ron MacKenzie, Bob McLeod and Ricky Chartrand, complemented by the superlative defensive of Don Cowan and Sigmund Hintze.

Big guns for Buckingham were Art Gauley, a Lachute boy, and Cylde MacTavish.

This was the first game of the season for the Lachute "Stars", and they look forward to many more wins in their very tight schedule. This Saturday at 10.30 a.m. the "Stars" play the Lachute High School senior boys team.

Weekly newspapers participated in recent Ontario-Quebec discussion on Tourism

The weekly press co-operated in the first Ontario-Quebec conference on increasing the flow of tourists both ways over the Ontario-Quebec border. Meeting in Quebec City, the three-day conference sponsored by the Ontario Department of Travel and Publicity delved into a crowded agenda and came up with a number of suggestions that the ministers of both provinces will turn over to their departments for study.

Tourism represents $600,000,000 a year to Ontario, the Hon. James Auld, Minister of Travel and Publicity, told the group of weekly and daily editors and representatives of national magazines, radio and television.

This represents ten cents in every dollar of the pay envelope of Ontario citizens and means jobs for 300,000 people, five per cent of the province's population. Robert Prevost, of the Department of Tourism, Fish and Game for Quebec, said Ontario tourists were coming over the border in tremendously increasing numbers, accounting for 583,000 cars of the 600,000 counted last summer entering Quebec at the 15 border points. Mr. Prevost stated the tourist industry meant just as much financially to Quebec as it did to her sister province.

The group combed tourist literature from both provinces and brought up suggestions for improving the invitation to the tourist. They discussed tourist accommodations, the potential of travel between the two provinces, recreational facilities, the "differences" which attract tourists to the two provinces.

Mr. Auld told the meeting that some of Ontario's tourist booklets in Quebec will be in French this year, and serious consideration is being given to a bi-lingual printing for the following year. Upper Canada Village billboards in Quebec will be in French, he said. As well, he told the group, some booklets will be in other languages for New Canadians.

Mr. Prevost said the Quebec government will shortly release a 30-minute color film, "Land of Good Neighbors", in which Quebec communities will be twinned with those in Ontario and other provinces.

William H. Cranston, Midland, Ont., chairman of the Tourist Industry Committee, Department of Economics and Development, was chairman of the sessions, held at the Chateau Frontenac.

Representing the weeklies were: Ontario, Lynn Lashbrook, Rodney Mercury, president of the CWNA; J. A. Morris, Prescott Journal; Robert Boyer, MPP, Bracebridge Herald Gazette; G. A. Scott, Gananoque Reporter; Quebec, Roger Alarie, The Guardian, Verdun, president QWNA; Robert Giles Jr., Lachute Watchman, and Fernand Berthiaume, L'Argenteuil, Lachute.

Townslady was old resident, well known

The late Miss Lillie Stalker

A well known lady of Lachute Town, Miss Lillie Stalker, passed away on Monday at the Montreal General Hospital. She was in her 85th year, and until recently had been quite active.

Miss Stalker was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. David Stalker, who some 50 years ago took up residence in Lachute, and since her retirement from teaching had lived with her parents in the East Ward.

Deceased lady was a member of Lachute United Church, and a life member of the Women's Missionary Society. A beautiful stained glass window now graces the church, donated by her in loving memory of her parents.

Miss Stalker is the last of this generation of the immediate family, and leaves to mourn her passing two first cousins, Mrs. Albert Copeland and Mr. Gordon Pollock, both of Lachute, together with distant relatives and many friends.

The funeral was held Wednesday afternoon in the United Church, conducted by the Rev. Harold Thompson, with the Rev. Roy Stafford of Montreal and the Rev. W. B. Rosborough assisting.

Late nonagenarian was native of Avoca settlement

The late Mrs. Agnes Ross

Avoca — The death of Mrs. Agnes Ross occurred at her late residence in Montreal on Sunday, November 17, in her 93rd year.

Born at Avoca in 1869, she was the daughter of the late John Bates and his wife, Sarah Jane Mooney. She was the last member of a family of eight children; her brother Sandy predeceased her by one week.

She was married to the late John Ross, one of the founders of the Bell Falls Power Plant. She leaves to mourn her passing, one daughter, Miss Agnes Ross, of Montreal, and one son, Tom, of Three Rivers.

Funeral services for the late Mrs. Ross were held from the Tees Funeral Home, Montreal, on Wednesday, November 20. Interment was made in Hawkesbury.

On agric. staff at Macdonald

Macdonald College of McGill University has announced the appointment of John Ogilvie as assistant professor in the Department of Agricultural Engineering. As specialist in farm structures and handling of agricultural materials, Mr. Ogilvie will be engaged in teaching, research, and extension.

With the exception of one year in private industry, Mr. Ogilvie has been employed since graduation with the Agricultural Engineering Extension Service of the Ontario Department of Agriculture. He is in close touch with engineering problems on the farm.

A native of Cyrville, in the Ottawa Valley, he graduated from Macdonald in 1954 and received his master's degree from Ontario Agricultural College in 1960.

THIS WEEK AND NEXT

Power vs. Principles

By RAY ARGYLE

The New Democratic Party is growing desperate for success on the national political scene. It has gone through two Federal and eight provincial elections since its reorganization in 1961 but its total strength today still is well short of the high water mark reached just after the war by the CCF.

R. Argyle

As a consequence, the NDP is engaged this week in another round of soul-searching. It is asking itself:

- Was it a mistake to water down its socialist platform?
- Why won't union members support a union-endorsed party?
- How can the CCF's traditional farm support be transferred to the NDP?

Dissatisfied with the party's record at the polls, a top-ranking Ontario NDP'er, Val Scott, wrote last week to federal leader Tommy Douglas to urge that the NDP re-study its image and structure.

Mr. Scott suggested that the party's tie-up with trade unions was hurting its electoral chances. Trade union financial support, he suggested, wasn't worth the price of losing favor with non-union voters who see the tie-up as linking the NDP with "Big Labor" and, in some cases, corrupt labor.

The Scott line has by now pretty well been rejected by the party leadership, both in Ontario and the west.

In Saskatchewan especially, where the party still puts its CCF identification first, the Scott criticisms were quickly brushed aside.

Merv Johnson of Regina, NDP national president, said "Our strength now rests with the liberally-minded people in the labor movement." He added that in Saskatchewan, at least, the party still had strong farm support.

It is not surprising in view of the NDP's disappointing showing in recent elections, that voices are now being raised for another overhaul of the socialist political movement in Canada.

Left-wing political workers, no less than those allied to other parties, hunger for the sweet satisfactions of power.

In the case of CCF-NDP faithful, who have worked selflessly to better the general welfare of the Canadian nation, the hunger may be all the greater.

It was the CCF, in the cold, hungry days of the 1930s that pointed the way toward the prosperous welfare state that Canadians enjoy today. Under the inspired leadership of that saint of Canadian politics, Joseph Woodsworth, the CCF blueprinted every social improvement that we enjoy today.

The honor list is long and noble . . . unemployment insurance, medical and health protection, farm assistance, re-training of the unemployed, family allowances and improved pensions. The CCF advocated these and many other social advances, forcing the old-line parties to implement them or risk defeat at the hands of the new party.

Now, all these hard-fought advances have been won. Others remain to be secured, and it is understandable that the NDP must wonder why it cannot win a mandate for policies which will sooner or later be implemented by other parties.

And it is this, one must suspect, which causes the greatest chagrin among the NDP faithful. To see your party's planks lifted, one by one, by every other party in the land, while your own continues to suffer rejection by the voters, must be a dispiriting experience.

Even though the NDP has never won federal power, and perhaps never will, leaders must not desert the principles which have contributed so greatly to a better Canada. To desert principles now in pursuit of power would bankrupt both the party and Canadian political life.

A SPECIAL MESSAGE TO CUSTOMERS OF THE B OF M

How your Savings Dollars went to work in 1963

Donald Hay, Manager
Lachute Branch
Bank of Montreal

This is my personal report to the customers of my branch on the use the Bank of Montreal made of the money you entrusted to us in 1963.

Nearly one-half of the total deposits of $3,961,675,039 at the Bank's year-end on October 31st, 1963, were the personal savings of our customers. From this total deposit figure—highest in our 146 years of operation—loans totaling $2,419,627,136 were reported.

Much of the money you deposited at the B of M went to assist people in financing the purchase of things that materially improved their way of life—cars, home improvements, household goods of all kinds. A substantial amount was also invested in loans to small and large businesses encouraging them to expand and employ more people.

Your money helped create new industries and new jobs...assisted farmers in improving their farms...built new schools and brought higher education within the reach of students...constructed new roads and supported all kinds of community projects.

Virtually every community throughout Canada was aided directly or indirectly by the money you put into your Bank of Montreal account.

Your savings dollars did a man-sized job for many people in 1963. And, accumulating at interest, they are growing steadily as a sound investment in a better future for you.

For the Bank of Montreal and for myself, may I say "thank you" for your trust and for the assist you are giving us in helping to build a more prosperous Canada.

ANDREWS (George) — In loving memory of a beloved husband, dear father, grandfather and father-in-law, who passed away one year ago, Nov. 27, 1962. — Ever remembered by his wife, Dolly, family and grandchildren.

"It's lonesome without you, dear Dad,
There is such a vacant space,
For we never hear your footsteps,
Nor see your smiling face.
Though not a day do we forget you,
In our hearts you are always near,
We who loved you, sadly miss you
Every day throughout the year."

ANDREWS — In fond and loving memory of a dear brother and uncle, George, who passed away Nov. 27, 1962. — Sadly missed by Edith, Jessie, Claude and Gloria.

"Peacefully sleeping, resting at last,
The world's misery, trials and troubles are past.
In silence he suffered, in patience he bore,
Till God called him home to suffer no more."

CUMBERS (Ann) — In loving memory of Mother, who passed away May 25, 1950. — Always remembered by her son, Joe, and daughter-in-law, Elizabeth.

"Deep in our hearts your memory is kept,
We loved you too dearly to ever forget."

WAITE — In fond and loving memory of a dear sister and aunt, Margaret, who passed away Dec. 4, 1962, also a brother-in-law and uncle, Jim, who passed away Nov. 22, 1961. Always remembered by Eddie, Jessie, Claude and Gloria.

"On a road that's calm and peaceful,
Guided by God's loving hand
They have gone upon a journey,
To a fairer, brighter land.
Not a day do we forget them,
In our hearts they are always near,
God alone knows how much we miss them
As it ends another year."

ACKNOWLEDGMENT

KEATLEY — Mrs. L. Keatley and family wish to express their sincere thanks and appreciation to all who sent cards and telegrams; to all who expressed their sympathy in gifts of money, floral and Bible memorial tributes; to neighbors, relatives and the management of C-I-L, Brownsburg, for their thoughtful expressions of kindness; to the pastor and members of the Brownsburg Pentecostal Church for their many prayers and expressions of Christian love; and especially to the doctors and staff of Smith Clinic, Hawkesbury — at the time of their recent bereavement occasioned by the death of a beloved husband and father.

The Bible Today

The maiden voyage of the "Light of the Amazon" was in December, 1962, to the little town of Abaetetuba on the banks of the Para river. Although small, Abaetetuba is the commercial centre for the whole district. Market day, which is on Saturdays, sees a great fleet of canoes and small boats converging on the town.

One Saturday morning in particular the scene was slightly different because the Bible Societies were back in action with their new Scripture boat "Light on the Amazon." There it was right in front of the market place with an attractive stall displaying brightly-colored Scriptures. What a contrast between the solid comfort of the Word of God and the innumerable small booths in the market selling weird articles of witchcraft and primitive superstition.

Not only were the people in the market drawn to the Scripture stall, but local colporteurs went round the visiting boats as well as the market stalls with books from the cargo of the Bible Society ship.

The precious seed of the Word has been scattered in the market place where it would travel with the people along the waterways; in many a dark hut the Gospel of Jesus Christ would shine out with brilliance hitherto impossible because the "Light on the Amazon" had sailed that way.

QUICK TRIP

Diamond City, Alta. (CP) — Harry Lenz of this community 10 miles north of Lethbridge set out to spend a pleasant October day pheasant hunting. He started beating the bush and a covey of five darted upward. He shot once and dropped three birds — his limit — and was on his way home in less than 20 minutes.

Singing unaccompanied, their repertoire includes also contemporary music of Canadian and other composers. Wayne Riddell, a Lachute boy and former choir director here, organized and directs the group, which scored highest rating in the Montreal Music Festival last spring, winning the Montreal Bach Choir trophy and a scholarship. . . The Tudor Singers will present a concert Wednesday, December 4, in the auditorium of Lachute High School.

Witnesses heard stirring address

Jehovah's Witnesses returned from their convention held in Lachute last week-end stimulated for increased activity in the community, said Mr. Blair Shearer, presiding minister of the local group.

In his public discourse entitled "The Bible Triumphs in a Scientific World", Laurier Saumur, provincial representative, declared, "From the fact of the fossil record, the relation of the races, man's language and his records, science once again has confirmed the Bible record to be completely accurate. . . The Bible supplies the truth on the origin of man, the solution to life's problems, and what the future holds for man. It promises everlasting life in a paradise new world with loving control over all lower forms of living things, peace and harmony with our fellow-man and with God, and eternity to study the work of the Great Scientist and to progress from one wonderful peak of scientific knowledge to another."

He concluded his discourse on an optimistic note: "What a tremendous triumph for the Bible it will be when the Great Scientist, Jehovah, fulfills the promises recorded therein and pours out a continuous stream of blessings on all obedient men throughout eternity!"

Tobacco crop Indian asset

Walkerton, Ont. (CP) — Tobacco now is grown on the Chippawa Hill Indian Reserve near this town 60 miles north of Guelph. The descendants of the Ojibways earn a modest income through sale of the crop.

But the operation today is a great change from the historic times when the Indians grew tobacco for themselves — and smoked it only on ceremonial occasions. Early explorers told how the Indians warned them that the Great White Spirit would disapprove of white man's improper use of tobacco, a curious fact of history in view of today's findings linking cigarette smoking with incidence of lung cancer.

Among the Indians who in the past smoked tobacco only for ceremonial purposes were the Petuns, or Tobacco Nation, in the present Bruce and Grey counties. Indian pipes carved from stone have been found among relics, some perhaps more than 2,000 years old.

About 1940 the peaceful Petuns were attacked by the Iroquois, who smoked the peace pipe with the Ojibways, but the pact lasted only a few years. The Ojibways were attacked as they returned from trading posts at Montreal.

The spring following this attack, the Ojibways with aid from west of Lake Erie defeated the Iroquois and drove them out of Bruce County. The Ojibways settled in their place, and those who grow tobacco in the county today are their descendants.

'Millions feel they have lost a friend'

THE TRAGIC NEWS from Dallas, Texas, reverberated around the world like a clap of thunder. The young, vigorous president of the United States was dead at the hands of an assassin, and everywhere the great and the lesser mourned John F. Kennedy's passing.

"Ask not what your country will do for you — ask what you can do for your country," he had said in his presidential inaugural speech on January 20, 1961.

Kennedy died at 1 p.m. last Friday, a half-hour after the assassin's bullets had struck him as he was riding in the presidential car in Dallas during a quick tour of Texas.

"We have suffered a loss that cannot be weighed," said Lyndon B. Johnson, suddenly the new president of the United States. Johnson was in the car behind Kennedy's when the three bullets from the sniper ripped into the open presidential car.

Kennedy's assassination stunned the world. Canadians from coast to coast mourned for him as though he were one of their own. They stood dazed before radios and television sets. Tears were shed in stores and on buses.

Prime Minister Pearson, obviously shaken, said on a national radio and television hookup Friday night that, for Canadians, this was something more than one of the great tragedies of history. It was "a great, heartbreaking personal tragedy. Millions of people feel they have lost a friend."

Coming up — "Safe Driving Week"

"IF THERE'S any reason why a single person should die in traffic between December 1 and 7, we would like to know what it is," said W. Arch Bryce, executive director of the Canadian Highway Safety Council. December 1 to 7 will be Safe-Driving Week in Canada, sponsored by the Council with the assistance of provincial and municipal safety organizations, the news media, police, clergy, magistrates' judges, women's and youth groups, service clubs and many others.

In 1962, 70 persons died on the roads and streets of Canada between those dates. In 1961, 55 died during Safe-Driving Week. Unless motorists and pedestrians have come to realize the futility and peril of inattention, carelessness and stupidity in traffic, CHSC fears the nation's road toll between December 1 and 7 this year will reach 56. That includes six in British Columbia, nine in the prairies, 21 in Ontario, 13 in Quebec and seven in the Atlantic provinces.

"The simple solution," said Mr. Bryce, "is 'drive and walk safely'. But unless every individual driver and walker forces himself to know the dangers of modern-day traffic, such a simple slogan is of no help at all."

Christmas gifts for mentally ill

THE CANADIAN Mental Health Association follows its tradition in requesting all people of the province to give special attention to the mentally ill at Christmas. The committee has established as its objective the collection of 20,000 gifts in order to meet the requests of the psychiatric institutions of the province.

Eight cities have formed branches of the Association, and as a result, several urban centres have taken the initiative in organizing Christmas Gift Campaigns in their own areas; among these are Hull, Quebec, Joliette, Trois-Rivieres, St. Jerome, St. Jean, Granby, Amos, Val d'Or and Shawinigan.

The Association wishes to alert all the province to mental illness, and to produce a greater awareness of the multiple problems involved.

By the thoughtful gesture of sending a Christmas gift, an individual shows his interest in the problems of mental illness, contributes to the gradual elimination of the prejudices which still persist against psychiatric patients, helps to create a feeling of confidence in the patient himself and, finally, facilitates the establishment of contact between the mental hospital and the community which has been non-existent for far too long.

The Christmas Gift Campaign encourages the development of this interest whereby all persons form a common front for a positive attitude to the treatment of the psychiatrically ill. Left to themselves the professionals cannot do this, it is necessary to have the co-operation of all persons. A Christmas gift, simple in itself, is a concrete gesture which, when multiplied many times, becomes a means to create greater understanding of mental illness.

Gifts can be sent to the Canadian Mental Health Association at 5757 Decelles, Montreal, or to one of the local branches.

Education and the labor market

TO TODAY'S teenagers, 45 may seem many long years off in the future. Anyone middle-aged and older knows it's not really that long.

Boys and girls should take serious note of the advantages of an education, evidenced by a current campaign in Ottawa — an experimental program to put older unemployed workers back on the job.

In announcing the $5,000,000 plan, Labor Minister MacEachen appealed to employers to create as many job openings as possible for unskilled workers aged 45 or more. The federal government will pay a bonus of up to $75 a month for a full year, to be paid employers for all approved older workers given jobs and training under the program.

The older worker for whom claims may be made, is defined as an unemployed man or woman, 45 or older, ineligible for regular unemployment insurance, who has been jobless for at least six of the previous nine months.

The employer must provide approved-on-the-job training, or assist the worker to continue in gainful employment.

The main idea is to help such unemployed to regain jobs and to secure new skills.

The key word in that program, of course, is "unskilled." To get a decent job today, with prospects of training by experience, a good education is necessary. The youngster who finds school examinations too difficult is likely the one who finds it hard to learn anything, and there comes a time when he, or she, simply cannot find a place on the labor market.

The key age for the government program, 45 years, was fixed after studies of the unemployment situation from many angles.

At 45, it is still impossible for a man or woman to learn new skills, to be trained for new types of work.

But any of the older group will tell you that it's easier for a youngster to learn. All that's needed is the will to study. Getting good school grades in youth can be easier than trying to find employment when you reach middle age without any skills or qualifications.

Viewpoints and perspectives

THE YOUTH CENTRE. — We'll say this about the proposed Youth Centre — not too many people seem to be lukewarm about the proposal. They're either violently in favor or violently opposed. . . The municipality has enough headaches as it is without acquiring a new one costing uthe ratepayers $3,000 to $4,000 a year. What's wrong with providing us older people with an Adult Centre?

— Atikokan (Ont.) Progress

ACCORDING TO "Accidentals Anonymous", a voluntary group of reformed risk-takers, the first sign a young man shows of his potentiality for "accidents" is when he touches his finger to wet paint to see if it's really wet.

The man who gives in to this sort of impulse, they say, will soon find himself sticking his finger into fans to see if the blades are really turning.

Laurel — There was a large quilting here last week, which ended with an Irish dance. . . All the young men are going off to the shanties. . . A. Newton's grist and saw mill here is in full operation.

16 Island Lake — Mr. R. Barron, while passing Victoria Island in his boat "Flying Cloud", spied a deer taking a swim. His repeater was brought into action and the buck soon fell.

Numerous deaths are reported, of people walking on the railway tracks. . . There is no town of its size where this is so prevalent as in Lachute. Before our new sidewalks were laid there was some reason for it because the streets were bad and the track was a direct road to the station. Foundry Street now has a good sidewalk.

THIS WEEK AND NEXT

BY RAY ARGYLE

AN AMERICAN TRAGEDY

At a time when the political and social order of much of the world is undergoing far-reaching changes, the consequences of which cannot yet be calculated, a single diabolical act of unparalleled monstrosity has robbed humanity of the priceless treasure of a great leader.

For Canadians as much as for Americans — indeed, for all of the globe's humanity that was aware of John Fitzgerald Kennedy's presence on the stage of history — the days of this week have brought a sorrowful journey of personal tragedy and grief.

The still-unbelievable act which brought death in Dallas to President Kennedy on November 22, 1963, cannot yet be assessed in its true perspective. Nor can the late president's greatness be truly adjudged beyond the obvious determination that his premature death robbed him of time in which he could have chiseled out more firmly his niche in history.

As the shock of his death penetrated the consciousness of the world, there came puzzlement as to how this heinous act could have been perpetrated in a mature, civilized society.

If, as police charge, the assassin was the deluded, twisted Lee H. Oswald, Marine-trained sharpshooter and self-admitted pro-Castro Marxist, the U.S. and the world faces trying days.

The American people will have to exercise great maturity to save their country from a new Red scare, and a worsening of Soviet-American relations.

President Kennedy possessed many noble qualities, but he was above all an intellectual president, with a deep sense of history and an acute awareness of the great changes which are sweeping human society toward a new destiny in the last half of the 20th century.

His presidency represented a break with the post-war world, and with it came a turning point in relations between East and West.

John F. Kennedy shaped that turning point — and secured his own place in history — by steering the world safely through its first all-out nuclear confrontation. That the world was able to escape incineration over the Cuban crisis of last fall, was due to his innate understanding that while an accommodation could be reached with the adversary, a complete humiliation for the Soviets would have brought war.

That America has been able to make an orderly change-over to a new leader without a breakdown of the country's governmental system is again a tribute to the enduring strength of democracy.

Lyndon B. Johnson, the warm, friendly Texan who is the first Southerner to occupy the White House, possesses all the traits of an individual who can make a competent president.

U.S. political parties do not choose their vice-presidential candidates on the premise that they might some day become president. They are usually compromise choices, picked as a sop to appease elements opposed to the presidential nominee, the decision being dictated by purely political considerations.

Considering this, the U.S. then is fortunate in the Democratic party's choice three years ago of a running-mate for Mr. Kennedy. In the future, U.S. political parties are going to have to ponder much more carefully their choice of vice-presidential candidates.

President Johnson, after a long and distinguished career in the Senate culminating in his selection as Senate Majority Leader, has worked faithfully in support of the late president's programs.

He has been especially active in foreign affairs and in the U.S. space program. He also worked hard to promote the Kennedy civil rights bill, although he is regarded as somewhat to the right of the late president in political sentiment.

Mr. Kennedy's assassination of course throws the entire political picture into confusion to his strong civil rights stand. The South was growing increasingly bitter toward the Kennedys and right-wing Republicans, clustering around Sen. Barry Goldwater, were beginning to scent the sweet smell of victory in the possibility that they could take the South and hold the conservative mid-West in 1964.

The Democratic party will now doubtless move somewhat to the right, temper its stand on the race issue, and probably win back some Southern support under Johnson.

President Johnson, still relatively young, in good health despite a heart attack some years ago, will have the immense prestige of the White House behind him if he seeks the Democratic nomination next summer. It is too early to even consider the possible political future of the late president's brother, attorney-general Robert Kennedy.

For the Republicans, the removal of the Kennedy magic will doubtless heighten the pace of GOP nomination seekers. But an important consequence may be that the party will seek a course of moderation, which would ultimately benefit the comeback prospects of Richard Nixon.

In one of the late president's last and most stirring pronouncements, he faced his country's racial issue squarely by asserting, "Now the time has come for this nation to fulfill its promise."

But he also sought for all the world an opportunity for all people to fulfill their promise. His goal was a world of peace, freed of the bonds of hunger, poverty and disease.

His presence has been removed from us after a brief two years, 10 months and two days in the presidency.

The search goes on.

SUGAR and SPICE

By Bill Smiley

For the first couple of years, my old friends in the newspaper business were confident. They knew I'd return to the fold when I recovered from this teaching aberration.

I used to hear their thought waves. "How in the hell," they'd think, "can old Smiley stand it? How can the Board put up with him? He was never cut out to be a teacher."

At first, I answered their query with what I hoped was an eloquent shrug and a typical Canadian taciturnity.

"Howja like teaching?" they'd ask.

"Not bad," I'd answer.

After three years in the teaching game (huh! some game!) I can state flatly that teaching is probably the most fascinating and frustrating job in the world.

I can state flatly that teaching is three times as tough and teachers three times as good as when you and I were young, Maggie.

Why is it fascinating? I hesitate to say. Teaching is a thing that seems to attract the cliche. "The blossoming (or even worse, the flowering) of young minds." The "thrill of kindling a spark of knowledge." The "molding of malleable metals in our youth." And a lot of jazz like that.

That's not why it's fascinating. The real reason is that you can act as the old fencing-master. Letting the kids try their points against yours. Showing them tricky ripostes and clever footwork. Teaching them, by example, the morals and manners that must go with the skill. And then seeing them go out and enter the lists, quivering but confident, afraid but fearless.

Why is it frustrating? Oh, it is a grinding wrenching, tearing thing that eats your strength. It is a paper jungle. It is a despair of bright minds in broken homes and dull minds in happy homes. It is a rage at the democratic, tax-paid obstacles between what you could do and what you can do.

I said teaching is three times as tough today. It is. There are more machines, bigger classes, higher standards, tougher examinations. There is also psychology, at home and at school.

I said teachers were three times as good as they used to be. It's true. With a few exceptions, my teachers—and yours, old friend—were nice. Frightened, naive, poor, apologetic, they were fair game for school boards, home and school clubs, parents and students.

Today they're less timid, more sophisticated, less shabby, less intolerant, more interesting, and just as interested.

Teaching is this: five days a week, eight or nine times a day, facing a battery of about 35 pairs of eyes — cold, hot, curious, indifferent, wondering, cynical, adoring, rebellious, sparkling, dull—and doing something about it.

For Parents Only ...

A Weekly Feature of Helpful Hints on Child Training.

Every home should have a pet

— By NANCY CLEAVER —

"Almost every child sooner or later wants a household pet — and should have one if at all possible," states Marianne Booser in her recent book, Growing Up With Science (McGraw Hill).

Parents, especially those in city homes, are often puzzled to know what to answer to their child's urgent request, "Can I have a pet?" Mothers think of all the nuisance of house-breaking a dog or cat and fathers hesitate about the added cost of a pet.

They realize that a small child is not old enough to be left with a puppy or a kitten. A youngster may squeeze an animal so hard in his efforts to hug him that he really hurts his pet! In self-protection, a cat often scratches or a dog growls and may bite his young master — and who can blame the pet?

Some mothers are busy with a new baby or other duties and they cannot constantly supervise a little child's play. If this is the case, acquiring a pet might well be postponed until the child is of school age.

In choosing a pet, parents must think not just of the initial cash outlay and the child's preference, but also of the cost of upkeep. Approximately what will the pet's food amount to each month? A child's pet must be in a healthy condition, but if it falls ill, is there money enough to seek a veterinary's advice? During the holiday season, what satisfactory provision can be planned for the pet?

Dogs and cats are the most popular child's pets. Many parents consider a cat less trouble than a dog in an apartment. Any animals needs exercise, and thus it is best not to choose a large dog for a city home.

As well as knowing the cost of the dog tax, prospective owners should find out what are the city or town regulations about a dog being tied up during the spring, summer and autumn months. No matter what pet is chosen, a clean warm bed, dishes for food and water, and a "corner of his own" is his right.

Anyone who has loved a pet will not laugh at the phrase "new addition to the family", because that is just what a pet becomes. If it is going to be a continual source of irritation to a member of the household, especially an older person, such as a grandparent, a mother hesitates to add to family friction. If one person in the family is subject to hay fever or known to possess allergies, do make sure before purchasing a cat or a dog, that the new pet will not be a health hazard.

In recent years, among the pet animals in a cage, hamsters have been competing successfully with rabbits, white mice, and guinea pigs. Some children become interested in fish as a hobby and with very little assistance they assemble the necessary things for a balanced aquarium for gold or other kinds of tropical fish. A small turtle does not take up much space and if kept healthy can be a source of much interest.

Canaries, because of their sweet song, have long been very much sought after, but the small "budgie" birds, belonging to the parrot family, who can learn to talk, have had a tremendous sale during the last few years. Pigeons, especially carrier pigeons, are the choice of quite a number of boys, living in rural areas.

There is not a toy or plaything which can ever mean as much to a child as a living, loving pet of his own. Boys and girls on a farm who own a number of pets, and who live where there is room for a dog to run around, and where a cat who is a good "mouser" in the barn is a real asset, have a distinct advantage over most city and town children.

Before purchasing a pet, a parent should discuss with the child where the pet is going to sleep and what division of responsibility there will be in training and caring for the new member of the family. This investment demands time and energy and patience. It can pay big dividends in happiness. Children learn a great deal about nature from observing and caring for pets. Pets and children go together and a home is incomplete without both of them.

How's your chairmanship?

Can an "amendment to the amendment" reverse the intention of the amendment? May the chairman vote in favor of a motion on a tie vote? Is the treasurer permitted to make his own report? These are typical stumpers faced by the chairmen of thousands of meetings every year in Canada — and are some of the questions discussed in a new booklet, "How to Conduct a Meeting".

Issued by the Tea Council of Canada, the 12-page booklet is based on extensive research into parliamentary procedure and draws upon such internationally accepted authorities as Bourinot, Robert, Frisby and Stanford. Inquiry previous to preparation of the text showed that a surprisingly small number of people involved in meetings were fully aware of the accepted rules of procedure and debate.

Sections of the book deal with such topics as duties of the chairman, vice-chairman, secretary and treasurer; setting up an agenda, motions and voting procedures, notice of motion, privilege, appeal, minutes, and formality. The duties of the chairman is the most extensive section, as it is felt that a good chairman is the key to a good meeting.

"The chairman," it says in part, "must maintain his (or her) good humor . . . must demonstrate charity, humanity, amiability, friendship, consideration and tact. The chairman is the guide only . . . He is not the big wheel, but the oil for the entire machinery."

The booklet, it states in the prefatory note, is aimed at associations, clubs, women's organizations, students' councils and similar organizations, and is available without charge by writing to the Tea Council of Canada, 42 Charles St. East, Toronto 5, Ont.

POACHED SALMON STEAKS WITH "CHILI" CUPS

Poaching pays off!

Main dishes which can be served either hot or cold are welcome. The food can be served hot one day, chilled the next — or, it can be stored in the refrigerator ready for a few last minute touches at dinner time.

Salmon steaks, properly prepared and carefully stored, are a perfect choice for such menu-making. They retain their rich, appealing color particularly well if poached. And, when cooked this way, they're especially moist and full of flavor. If you plan to cook them ahead of time, wrap the drained fish in foil or plastic wrap and keep well chilled in the refrigerator. Colorful cups made from scooped-out lemon or lime halves filled with chili sauce play the double role of garnish and flavor-accenters. Thick slices of raw sweet onions topped with green pepper rings are crisp accompaniments that compliment the flaky fish. Today we feature a slightly "off-beat" method for Poached Salmon Steaks with "Chili Cups".

Poached Salmon Steaks

Allow at least one salmon steak per serving, unless they are very large steaks. Place the salmon steaks on a heatproof or disposable aluminum pie plate; then place plate on a large square of cheesecloth. Bring up corners of cheese cloth and tie securely. In bottom of frying pan or kettle, with lid, which is large enough to hold prepared fish, add water to depth of about half an inch. Add ½ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon pickling spice and one thin slice of lemon. Bring water to boil, then turn heat down to simmering point. Add prepared salmon steaks, cover; let simmer 10 minutes or until salmon will just flake easily when tested with a fork. Remove fish; drain. Serve immediately or wrap well in aluminum foil or plastic film and chill thoroughly. Serve hot or cold steaks with "chili cups" made by cutting lemon or limes in half, then scooping out part of each half and filling this "shell" with chili sauce.

Appealing ways with onions

(Consumer Section)

The Consumer Section of the Canada Department of Agriculture suggests these three ways of serving onions which will bring variety to your table and will surely please the family.

Try them now as a starter to forming the habit of including onions on the dinner plate many times and in many ways during the winter months.

Onions and Apples

1½ Pounds yellow cooking onions (about 6 medium), 2 tablespoons butter, ¾ teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons brown sugar, 2 cups sliced, unpeeled red apples, 1 tablespoon butter, 1½ cups shredded cheddar cheese.

Peel onions, cut lengthwise in half, then crosswise in ¼-inch slices (makes 4 to 4½ cups sliced). Melt the 2 tablespoons butter in a frying pan. Add onions and sauté over medium heat for 5 minutes, turning frequently. Combine salt and brown sugar, add half the mixture to the onions and stir to mix. Arrange apple slices on top of onions, sprinkle with remaining salt and sugar mixture and dot with remaining butter. Reduce heat, cover and continue cooking until onions and apples are tender, about 5 minutes. Sprinkle cheese over apples, cover and cook until cheese has melted, about 3 minutes. 6 servings.

Note: The cheese topping may be omitted.

Creamed Fried Onions

1½ Pounds yellow cooking onions (about 6 medium), 3 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons flour, ¾ teaspoons salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 1 cup milk.

Peel onions, cut lengthwise in half, then crosswise in ¼-inch slices (makes 4 to 4½ cups sliced). Melt butter in a frying pan. Add onions and sauté over medium heat, turning frequently until almost tender, 8 to 10 minutes. Add flour, salt and pepper and mix well. Gradually add milk and cook, stirring constantly until thickened, about 5 minutes. 6 servings.

Baked Onions with Tomato Juice

1½ Pounds yellow cooking onions (about 12 small), ¼ cup tomato juice, ¾ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon paprika, 2 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons finely chopped parsley.

Peel onions and leave whole. Arrange one layer deep in a greased, shallow baking dish. Combine tomato juice, salt and paprika and spoon over onions. Dot with butter. Cover and bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) for 30 minutes. Turn onions over, spoon sauce over them, cover and bake about 30 minutes longer or until tender. 6 servings.

How many calories are there in a fresh apple as compared to a piece of apple pie? Is it safe to refrigerate an open can of salmon overnight? What is the most economical vitamin C breakfast juice?

Next time Toronto housewives want the answers to these and similar questions, all they have to do is dial a number and the next day, a dietitian will call back with the answer.

The new service is called "dial-a-dietitian" and is sponsored by the Ontario Dietetic Association.

More than 80 of the association's members living in the Metropolitan Toronto area will take turns answering the questions phoned in.

Information on meal planning, purchasing, storage, labelling, grading, marketing and preparation of foods, facts about food additives and current diet crazes will be given out.

But the dietitians will not recommend special diets for treatment of diseases. Such diets must be prescribed by a doctor.

Inspiration for the Toronto service came from the nutrition foundation of New York which operates a dial-a-dietitian service in 18 American cities.

Horses Shunned

Ironically, the wife of Lord Westbury, who was in Toronto recently to judge hunter classes at the Royal Winter Fair, is terrified of horses.

Lady Westbury says she finds her husband's hunt meetings interesting only because "the other halves of all his hunting people are my friends in the Women's Institute."

She was delighted to find there would be a Women's Institute booth at the Toronto Royal.

She is vice-chairman of the Yorkshire Federation of the W.I. in England, where she has also served on the national board.

One of the projects of her federation's 630 branches is the support of displaced persons in Germany, she said. The project began about four years ago and more than 200 persons who had been in a camp near Hamburg are supported. Most are elderly or handicapped, and have no relatives.

With her three children, Richard, 13, James, 11, and Mary, 8 — at school, Lady Westbury also finds time for another project of her own. She and her cousin opened a small clothing shop for children up to 12 years of age, and she travels all over England in search of different but reasonably cheap items.

"I'm sorry that everyone is buying synthetics, because the wools for babies look so much nicer."

School For Wives

Elsie Gregory MacGill, president of the Canadian Federation of Business and Professional Women, said Canada needs a more flexible educational system which would make room for young married women.

She said that girls who marry young are not encouraged to continue their education, as boys are.

"All her life she will pay for that handicap over and over again."

Christmas, something Dickensian; making of cakes, sending of cards

"Exile from Sunnyacres"

By Margaret Cook

Yes, it is THAT time of year again, when we regretfully leave Sunnyacres except for the occasional day trip, and resume the pleasures and frustrations of life in Suburbia. . .

Sometimes, after a hot summer's day in the Laurentians, I think longingly, if fleetingly, of the delights of a long, white bathtub brimming with chlorinated sewage — but give me a few weeks with the said tub, said liquid, the oil furnace, the washing-machine, the polisher, and I would chuck them all in the nearby Ottawa for a chance to sit by the big fireplace at Sunnyacres, and drink tea made with water from the well. We have just had a day with the oil-burner. This time, the motor had come loose and was, to quote the workman, "Damn near floating in the air". It is now securely anchored, but its life expectancy is anybody's guess.

When not wrestling with such household problems, we go in and out to the city, where we immure ourselves along with various other females and try to keep a large church organization running smoothly. Did you ever try to arrive at a decision along with twenty other females? It's an experience. Margaret Cook takes the notes, and she is lucky if she gets one decision per half-hour to record. Then hot, tired and frustrated, we wend our way back, often under the guidance of a disgruntled bus driver. But they are not all nasty fellows; this week, upon handing my ticket to a driver, I admonished him not to take the money clutched in the same hand, "Money!" he said, "I don't need money; when I see money, I spit on it." Bless him, such heavy irony did not accord with his smiling face.

Then there is Christmas — we have just made our cakes, and very nice they look. They smell even better, due to the fruit having been soaked in rum all night before being made up. There is something Dickensian about making and storing Christmas cakes. Some time, I shall have to write an article on Christmas as Dickens understood it. In the meantime, there are the cards to address and get off. Those to Australia are already on their way; I figure they are right now about mid-Pacific. The English ones will go next, about the second week in December. Nothing is more irritating than to get a card from Cousin Ada about November 30; obviously she thinks we live in an inaccessible igloo. You know, in a few things, the world is improving. One of the things is Christmas cards. The paper and the greetings are improved, and no longer are "religious" cards a novelty. Slowly we are beginning to understand what the festival is all about.

The head of the house also has his adventures. Driving back from work on a rainy afternoon this month, he was alarmed to see the car directly ahead burst into flames. The driver escaped, and so did all the others, although there were some uneasy moments while gasoline spilled over the roadway, and the car became a flaming mass. No one could back out of danger because it was near the rush hour, and more cars kept drawing up behind. . . New approaches are being made to a bridge in our town, and the resulting confusion and noise is indescribable. The woman who helps keep things clean here, reports that her Boston bulldog shakes with fright from eight in the morning till five at night. The workmen are just behind the house, and there is no way to explain to the dog what this is all about.

— Thus life in Suburbia. We hear that life in the Laurentians is fairly quiet; with the hunting season over, everybody can relax until sugaring time. That seems a long time off, since, on November 13, lupins were still blooming at Sunnyacres. This may sound incredible, but if you do not care to believe me, I have two other credible witnesses. Earlier in the month, there were two pink ones, and a navy blue (lupins, not witnesses). Love those lupins, so delicate as to hue, so sturdy as to make-up. The little rock violets were also about, but that is usual. They turn their blue and mauve faces up to us, until the snow covers them for their long winter sleep. We never did get those bulbs separated, but they will bloom no less bravely next spring. Bulbs are so satisfactory; about the only thing that discourages them is being planted upside down. This, the head of the house did to some bright little yellow creatures, and nothing has been heard of them since! To make amends, so to speak, he bought more of the same kind this autumn, and is forcing them for winter blooms. Right now, they look like hair standing up on some one's head. It was white hair when we brought them up from the dark room; now it is green hair. The Christmas cactus is in bloom, its sex life being obviously mixed up. Last year, it bloomed in November and in February, missing the holiday season altogether.

The concert season has begun, skating is about to begin, weekly the giants battle in the mud, and the hockey players dart about on the TV screen. Perry Mason enters our homes, and Citizen James, wearing Ross Muir's cap, entertains us. We can never make up our alleged mind whether TV is a blessing or a curse. One of our zanier lady-entertainers recently had a line on her show. "What did you do before you had TV?" queried the lad. Well, what did we? I cannot be sure. Never a mother to help with homework, I cannot use that as a virtuous example. Neither was I a "joiner", so that the time was not spent at meetings. We went to the occasional movie, and still do. I know! We played the piano, and we sometimes sang. Dreadful! As a teacher, the evenings were filled with homework, or social functions; and before that, years of adolescent homework; and further back still? Well, we played Old Maid with Papa, or ball with the cat of the period, or walked a quarter of a mile for the mail. And yes, we popped corn; or rather Papa did, and I watched. Somehow, the time was pleasantly filled. We were more innocent, and more ignorant than now. TV has certainly widened our horizons. Think of the words we mouth familiarly — Thailand, Vietnam, Saigon, etc., and in saying them, know where they are geographically. Our neighbors on the street have gone to Nigeria for eighteen months, taking three sons and one maid. No one is excited, or even greatly interested. We hear that one boy and the maid are frightfully homesick. We shrug it off, knowing that by a little turn of the wheel of fortune, we, too, may end up in Timbuctoo. We live, indeed, in interesting times. . . Excuse me now while I go to watch "Son of A Hundred Kings", which I enjoy mostly for its glimpses of life in a village not unlike the one in which I grew up.

The congregations of Kilmar, Harrington and Avoca United Churches held a joint communion and baptismal service in the Harrington church Sunday morning, with the Rev. MacMillan, from the Mission Board in Montreal, officiating, assisted by the student pastor, Mr. Lew Jackson.

Mr. and Mrs. John Dobbie attended the baptismal ceremony of their little granddaughter, Stephanie Joan Dobbie, in the Harrington United Church. Others who attended and who were entertained at a luncheon afterwards by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Dobbie, were Mrs. Maud Bothwell and Mr. Gordon, Dobbie, of Lachute, Mr. and Mrs. George Bennett and little daughter, Robbie, from Harrington, and Mrs. John Prophet and Greg, from Calumet.

Week-end visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Andrews were Mr. and Mrs. Noel Cormier, of Montreal, Mr. Wm. Provencal, of Grenville, Mr. Claude Andrews, of Montreal, Mrs. Stewart, of Lachute, Mrs. Everett Young and family, of Avoca.

Miss Gloria Andrews spent the past week with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Andrews.

TURN AWAY PLANT

Grand'mere, Que. (CP) — City council turned away a potential new industry, Cascade Charcoal Company, which has proposed to build a $150,000 plant employing 30 workers, on the grounds that the plant would be too smoky. The company later announced it would build at Herouxville, five miles away.

Diary of a Vagabond

SELLING CANADA ABROAD

Unless they are as lucky as I have been during these past months in being privileged to visit both the United States and Europe, many Canadians are not aware of the remarkable job the Federal Government is doing in promoting Canada abroad through establishing travel bureaus.

In London, England, I met R. Douglas Palmer, manager of the Canadian Government Travel Bureau, whose offices are situated in the CN building on Cockspur Street.

Doug Palmer is a native Ottawan who considers himself fortunate in having been chosen to head the bureau, the first outside the North American continent and, since 1962, to have had the interesting if at times arduous task, of developing tourist travel to Canada.

"We work closely with all transportation agencies and in England it is neeessary to work closely also with travel agents. They play an extremely important part in trans-Atlantic travel," he remarked while collecting from various drawers and shelves a sheaf of colorful and informative brochures for my perusal.

In 1962, more than two and a half million pieces of travel literature were distributed and some 49,800 travel inquiries answered through the facilities of this bureau. I brought some brochures home with me for my files. Not so much because I need to be informed about Canada, but because I felt they were important as a source of inspiration regarding overseas promotion and the effective means employed.

There are four Canadians on the staff of the London Bureau and three engaged locally, all of whom have been to Canada on educational tours to familiarize them with travel in Canada.

Just after the bureau was opened an advertising campaign was launched in national newspapers, provincial papers, magazines and the trade press. This campaign drew 25,000 inquiries and the bureau head was pretty proud he could boast that he and his staff were able to give 48-hour service in their replies.

"The transportation companies co-operated by following up these inquiries. Our close liaison with Canadian carriers proved most effective in this campaign. We also engaged the service of local publicity and consultant agencies to our benefit.

"We have two booklets for the British market, 'So You Are Going to Canada' and 'Package Tours to Canada'. Over 100,000 copies of these have been given to travel agents for distribution."

This busy fellow is also the editor of "Canadian Holiday". He also produces articles for it. This newsy little paper is distributed among 2,000 travel agents in the United Kingdom, which natives like to hear called "Great Britain".

No Complaints

"People come to the bureau, not to purchase their tickets, we are not in the transportation business, but to learn about our country. If they are going to spend all that money on their trip they are curious about weather, money, distances and, of course, the Canadian people. We have never had a single complaint from those who have returned to Britain. Mostly praise for the warmth of Canadians on the whole. You'd be surprised how many return to us ready to make plans for their next trip to Canada. Many travel overseas by air, but use the railways extensively on arrival." Doug Palmer was effusive in his comments, especially when he remarked with a chuckle, "British tourists are particularly impressed with our trains. To them they are like an hotel on wheels."

EXPENSES

Last month I said, "Next month
I'll save some money.
My bills are settled, all right up to date.
The future now is very bright and sunny
With no collectors hanging around my gate."

November came with weather dark and gloomy
'Twas raining as I left my snug abode.
I whistled as if that meant nothing to me
And saw a stranger coming down
the road.

He grabbed my shoulders quickly
as I passed him,
And hollered, "Hey, you, where's my twenty bucks?"
"What do you mean? Who are you, sir?" I asked him.
Then recognized him, paid him,
and said, "Shucks!"

His debt was just. But I had clean forgotten
A job he'd done for me eight months before.
So I turned homeward feeling somewhat rotten
And met the postman knocking at my door.

The mail contained a big electric light bill
(They hadn't sent one since the last of June),
I looked to see if they had sent the right bill —
They had, and said I'd better pay it soon.

Another payment on the vacuum cleaner
And storage charges on my old coon coat.
Each one I opened made my bankroll leaner —
And then the fuel bill, that's what got my goat!

Some people find it hard to meet
expenses,
But somehow I have never found it so.
I'm always faced with costly consequences —
I meet expenses everywhere I go!

Be seein' ya!

— Uncle Walt

UNUSUAL SHIPMENT

Montreal — A bull bison — or is it a bison bull — and two Canadian porcupines were delivered to the Cunard freighter Dalbek here just recently for shipment to Whipsnade Zoo, England.

The bison and the porcupines were from Assiniboine Park Zoo, Winnipeg. Freight rates for porcupines are standard but shipment of the bison may require a special "buffalo bill".

Bright ideas for Christmas

Christmas is a wonderful time for people with originality to be creative. There are so many gifts that can be made which not only mean more to the recipients but also can cut down the usual December expenses.

Inexpensive fabric can be the magic ingredient that gives a distinctive look to your gifts.

Gay checked cotton gingham, for instance, makes an unusual frame for a group of pictures. Use simple floral prints clipped from a magazine for your pictures. Then take pieces of hardboard or plywood about four to six inches larger than each picture, and cover with gingham in a color that harmonizes or contrasts pleasingly with the main colors in the picture.

The fabric can be glued to the board or stapled on the wrong side. Glue your picture in the centre of the board.

As throw pillows have come back in favor recently, anyone handy with a needle could easily make an interesting selection of these. Made in cotton, it is higly recommended that you slip-cover them — this way they can easily be laundered.

RUSSIA — A FAVORED CUSTOMER?

Canadians are generally delighted that Russia has bought so much of our wheat. On the prairies there is natural rejoicing.

It would be well, however, to ask ourselves why Russia made this purchase. Did she do it because she loves us? Did she buy our wheat to open trade doors here?

The answer is clear. She bought grain from us because bad weather ruined the Russian crops. Bad weather, plus a farm economy that is not as efficient as ours, but may become so, as soon as Russia continues to learn from us and the U.S.A.

We should welcome this sale. We should, at the same time, be sure that we get good terms, that we do not neglect other customers more likely to continue buying from us in the years ahead.

In short, we should be realistic. To believe that we gain sales to Russia by giving her easy terms and an open door to our domestic markets is to think irrationally.

For some reason, emotions and prejudices come into play more often in the handling of grain than in any other enterprise. Perhaps because it is the very staff of life. Few persons objec- Canada are able to think objectively about it.

The West Germans are more hard-headed. When Agriculture Minister Schwartz of West Germany visited Winnipeg, he was asked point blank whether Germany intended to buy more wheat from Canada. He answered with equal bluntness: "The amount of wheat that Germany imports will always depend on the size or quantity of the German crop." He didn't add any fuzzy ifs or buts. He gave the answer, the whole answer, in that single sentence.

Canadians would do well to think about wheat in that same hard-headed way. We will be able to sell wheat when it is needed by other countries, at a price competitive with that of other suppliers. Nothing else in this old world will move the stuff from our bins. To sacrifice Canadian markets and Canadian jobs in vague hopes of generating more wheat sales is national suicide.

Tri-level railway cars leave the Rambler plant at Brampton, Ontario

October was quite a month

For the 26th consecutive month Rambler sales increased—October up 58% over last year

The reason for Rambler's growing popularity is very important. It's the way we build our cars. It's our policy of providing "maximum usefulness to the user". We use this phrase to describe the many exclusive Rambler features that make our cars more practical and economical.

We could have put our emphasis on styling alone. But beauty contestants, with little else to offer, make a brief impression. The fact that we've been increasing our sales for 26 consecutive months proves that styling is not enough. Attention to detail quality is now demanded by more and more Canadian motorists.

Before you put your money down on any car, see what we've been doing to impress our customers. Visit your Rambler dealer soon. Join the trend to Rambler.

On being a Canadian

By Ambrose Hills ("Of Many Things")

I have listened to many wordsmiths on the subject of being a Canadian. Last month, I attended the Symposium at Winnipeg, held under the auspices of the Canadian Centenary Council, which discussed "Awareness of Canada." While I disagreed with a number of things that were said, I believe the meeting was a useful one, because it made us all do some hard thinking about our country.

The difficulty with symposiums is that they attract men and women who love words, and when the talk begins to roll there is a tendency to forget the real things, and even to miss out on the spirit that pervades this land. Intellectuals, strangely enough, appear to concentrate entirely on problems and are sublimely unaware, when the speeches end, that they've ground their mental gears on fluff and failed to mention the big, important things at all.

How can one be truly aware of Canada without recognizing the job our industries did in war time, and are doing today, in one of the toughest competitive markets in history? Yet at this symposium, industry was rarely mentioned. Canadian awareness is mighty skimpy if it does not include and understanding of the fabulous job Canadian farmers have been doing, yet agriculture was hardly mentioned. Railroads — you wouldn't have known they existed, in spite of the fact that they are in the throes of a mighty struggle under management more bold and imaginative than ever before. These job-makers on whom so much of our culture depends must have been somewhere off in the wings, like Broadway angels, but the wordsmiths were oblivious to them.

I would like to see another symposium, conducted with the same skill, but featuring on the panels some of the men and women of Canada who are the doers, and on whom our destiny depends. A Western rancher, a Nova Scotia apple farmer, a railroad president, a banker, an industrialist and storekeeper. They may not be quite as articulate as the men who spoke at Winnipeg, but there'd be excitement inherent in the things they would talk about.

The Canadian Centenary Council conducted its symposium with commendable skill. But its panelists were disappointing. Let's have another one, equally well organized, but with a set of panelists drawn from those who really make the news and set the pace in Canada.

Young miscreants endanger lives

Montreal police and railway authorities have appealed to parents in an effort to halt depradations of juveniles involving railway property which have been causing damage and endangering life along the Lakeshore. Recently there have been an alarming number of incidents in which juveniles have placed obstructions on railway tracks and tampered with signalling systems controlling the movement of trains.

Trespassing on railway tracks is an offence under the Railway Act, while the placing of obstructions on the tracks or otherwise interfering with railway operation are offences under the Criminal Code.

Parents who can convince their own and other youngsters of the dangers of playing on railway tracks will be making a great contribution to the cause of safety and keep their own children alive.

Additives in poultry feed

(Macdonald College)

Nearly one-half of the commercial poultry feeds sold in Canada are registered as "medicated"... It is natural that questions should be asked about the safety of any material added to the rations of chickens and turkeys.

Dr. N. Nikolaiczuk of Macdonald College points out that the law requires that all feeds sold commercially in Canada must be registered. Each additive is rigidly screened, and its effect carefully examined before it is permitted to be included in a formula. The consumer, then, can feel confident that these extra ingredients, so necessary for economical, efficient production, are not in any way a health hazard.

Technically, an additive is any ingredient which is not a feed nutrient, but enables the bird to make better use of its ration. It may be included for one of four reasons — to make the feed more palatable, to prevent spoilage, to promote growth, or to keep disease under control.

High records in 16th annual B of M review

New high levels in practically every phase of its operations here, throughout Canada and in six countries abroad are reported by the Bank of Montreal in its 146th annual statement. The figures were provided by Donald Hay, manager of the Lachute branch.

Commenting on the statement for the year ended October 31, he said B of M assets rose by more than $260 million to a record $4,275 million. At the same time, loans of all kinds, to individuals, businesses and municipalities, totalled $2,419 million.

Total deposits at $3,961 million, included Canadians' personal savings of some $1,937 million, which showed an increase of $103 million in the year.

Record Earnings

Earnings of more than 940 offices at home and abroad, also reached a new peak at $16,747,028, the manager reported. The figure is $733,516 more than in 1962. Provision for taxes is $18,204,530.

The bank's more than 22,500 shareholders are receiving dividens of $2.15 per share, or a total of $13,061,250.

The manager said that "quick" assets amounted to $1,966 million, representing 48.4 per cent of the bank's liabilities to the public, against 47.8 per cent last year. This reflects the bank's traditionally strong liquid position, he added.

The valuation of bank premises is shown at $69,091,403, compared with $65,878,133 in 1962, an indication of the bank's continuing program of branch modernization and extension in this province and elsewhere.

Construction man in fatal fall

A 30-year-old man was killed last Wednesday when he fell five storeys while working at a construction site in St. Vincent-de-Paul.

Police said the victim, Laurent Theoret, an employee of Paul Dubé Construction Company, of St. Augustin, County of Two Mountains, slipped from a beam.
